Warden Felled When Inmates Of Prison Riot

Entire Prison Population of 1,500 'Long Timers' Ruin Inside of Penitentiary.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27. (AP)—Flaming riot set off by revolt against punishment for bitter convict fights swept eastern penitentiary last night, throwing the prison into one of the worst turmoils in its century of history.

While smoke and flames from burning mattresses arose in cells and corridors, practically the entire prison population of about 1,500 "long timers" for more than three hours kept the institution in disorder, screaming and smashing their cell furnishings.

Warden Herbert J. (Hard-Boiled) Smith, groping through the smoke in an attempt to quell the riot, was almost felled by two blows on the head by a piece of steel cot wielded through cell bars by an enraged convict. Fifteen stitches were taken in his wounds.

More than 300 city police, state troopers who dashed here from the Reading and other barracks and three fire companies finally brought the riot under control by half-drowning some convicts with streams of water from high pressure hose, clubbing those who persisted.

Warden Smith, a veteran of many fierce battles in his former service with the state police, said about twenty convicts were beaten, ten requiring hospital care.

During the height of the riot an electric cable was either cut by a convict or burned by flames. Part of the interior was thrown into darkness.

Inside and out, the great, gray stone pile became an armed camp before the rioters were subdued.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY By O.E.H.

TWINKLES

NRA pledge for today: As an American citizen I promise to remember that we were all demanding action—and that finally we got it.

Seen: Many cotton trucks moving toward this section to pick cotton; none moving from this vicinity to the cotton patches.

Railroad men are fine fellows, but they have no imagination. Halted for four hours by a derailment, we were not allowed to go within miles of the wreck until our passenger train was able to move over the rails at Snyder Sunday. Four hours are dull in most small towns, while a wreck is amusement for the spectators.

As we hear it, when all is made fair for fight fans, and fighters, nothing is left for the promoters. Fairness seems to be detrimental to many sports based on skill and chance.

We fully expect the time to come when football will be regulated as to the health and fitness of players, the cost to the fans, and the remuneration of the players. Even more than professional sports should school athletics be fair to the participant, who may need protection from his own enthusiasm.

The legislature persists in stirring up politics with politics. And politics, as usual, is the "other fellow's way of doing things."

The way to have less politics is to ask less of the government, but right now everybody seems to be leaning on politics for doles of one kind or another.

Many small towns, we often hear, are doomed and one-street roadside villages on the main thoroughfares will replace many of them. The formerly seldom-satisfied thirst for bigness as an end is in disrepute.

OPENING SOME MAIL

Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, writes that "Texas lost over 800 of its children last year from one preventable disease. The disease responsible was diphtheria. Diphtheria could be practically eliminated if parents would take their children to their family physician and have them immunized as soon after they reach six months of age as possible." . . . Such immunization is under way in Pampa.

SAVING JOBS

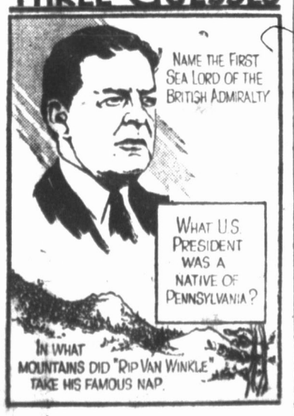

How the state highway commission, with its current revenues exhausted, saved the jobs of 10,000 workers this summer by pouring the bulk of its reserve cash into the breach is revealed by the Texas Good Roads association from figures for the fiscal year ending August 31. In other words, we read the commission spent eight millions more than it took in, without going in debt. One million came from old license fees which had been in litigation. Other money came from old surpluses and from federal aid tardily paid on contracts completed after the first of the year. Uncle Sam does not pay until the roads are approved . . . There's one hitch—the highway funds are now depleted and a continuation of the policy is impossible.

Lions Will Have Zone Session In City on Friday

Pampa Lions will be hosts to clubmen from Miami, McLean, Clarendon, Childress, and Estelline when a zone meeting is held here at noon on Friday.

The regular Thursday luncheon will be omitted this week.

Lion W. H. Curry will have charge of the luncheon program. A business meeting of the zone will follow.

Fifty Thousand Drown in Yellow River in China

NANKING, China, Sept. 27. (AP)—Floods of the swollen Yellow river in July and August caused the deaths of 50,000 Chinese and reduced 1,000,000 others to starvation.

These estimates were made today after a survey by aviators and officials of a relief commission, which now is trying to rush supplies to the stricken peasantry.

Part of the blame for the disaster was attributed to brigands and troops who broke dikes for defensive purposes when the Yellow was rising rapidly and threatening to inundate a large area in three Northern Chinese provinces.

The inspectors reported that parents are giving away their children, hoping in that way to save their lives during the coming winter, which promises to be one of misery.

Added to the terrors of the floods have been scourges of rats, heat, cholera and locusts.

GIRL HOGS PIG PRIZES

AMARILLO, Sept. 27. (AP)—A 12-year-old Oldham county farm girl, Anna Lea Poe of Vega, has taught the 4-H club boys and girls of the Panhandle a few things about raising pigs. Anna Lea exhibited the grand champion pig, the reserve champion, and the grand champion litter, after wining four firsts in the six class events at the Tri-State fair here. Four was all she could enter.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shaw left today on a trip during which they will visit the Century of Progress at Chicago, and points in Canada. They will be gone several weeks.

I HEARD—

A number of Pampa nimrods really "cussing" as they watched a couple of flights of ducks pass over the city this morning. In the front row were Roy Sewell, Frank Hunt, P. O. Sanders, S. F. Thornton, and Archie Cole. The duck season in Texas does not open until November 1, which is an even month too late in the opinion of hunters.

A real celebration in Fatheree Drug No. 4 this morning as Jimmie Wheeler got stuck for the drinks for the first time in 57 attempts of all comers.

SAN ANTONIO'S ADMINISTRATOR TELLS SALARY

HOPKINS CALLS TEXAS SCRAP FIGHT AGAINST JIM FERGUSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, said at a press conference today he was satisfied with the way in which relief was being administered in Texas and did not intend to appoint a new relief director.

"I am not going to get into any factional fight and anyone knows that this is a Ferguson and anti-Ferguson fight," he said. "The legislature has a perfect right to do what it pleases. We have the right to say whether we are going to cooperate."

AUSTIN, Sept. 27. (AP)—Tex Alsbury of San Antonio, Bexar county relief administrator, was the first witness today as the senate pursued its quiry into the distribution of funds to the needy by the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission.

Cotton Farmers Receive $22,901 In Federal Money

One hundred and four Gray county farmers today had more money to spend than they had seen for some time. They had received a total of $22,901 in checks for their part in reducing the cotton crop of this year.

County Agent Ralph Thomas passed out the checks. A total of 216 farmers will be paid under the cotton plan.

The money is being spent for a multitude of purposes. In some cases, the landlords get one fourth of it. Many old debts are being paid, including some government loans. The list of things being purchased includes nearly all household articles.

The cotton money is expected to be of much relief to the growers and their creditors.

Amarillo Man Named on River Basin Committee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Secretary Ickes today appointed seven members of the Arakansas river basin committee to study proposed projects in that area and four members of the Red river committee for a similar study of public works proposals in that basin.

The personnel of the Arkansas basin committee is N. R. Graham, Tulsa, Okla., Chairman Henry Tucker, Little Rock; E. P. Bradley, Hutchinson, Kansas; Peter E. Burrus, Joplin, Mo.; Arch Hurley, Tucumcari, N. M.; Henry C. Vidal, Denver, Colo., and A. S. Stinnett, Amarillo, Texas.

The committee's purpose is to examine flood control, power, navigation, reforestation, and soil erosion necessities of the Arkansas basin to coordinate them with the board of Mississippi river program.

Scout Ranks Will Be Boosted Under Intensive Drive

An intensive drive for new Boy Scouts will be made in the Adobe Walls council during the remainder of this year, it was stated by Executive C. A. Clark today.

The quota of the council for the year is 400 new Scouts from the ranks of boys reaching the age of 12 years. So far, the council has enlisted 146 such boys. All scoutmasters and troop committeemen are being advised that Pampa has a large proportion of the eligible boys.

Tomorrow evening, Borger will have an outdoor court of honor which Executive Clark will attend.

All men of this vicinity who would be interested in having an adult leaders training course starting in October are resquested to notfy Mr. Clark at once.

Fred Park of Wichita, Kan., is here on business.

Sets Record

Dipping down unheralded on the Frederick, Md., landing field, Richard C. du Pont, 22, above, of Wilmington, Del., set a new American gliding record of 122½ miles, in a flight from Waynesboro, Va. The previous American mark was 66.9 miles, established in 1932. Fog prevented the young sailplane devotee from making a longer flight.

COUNTY FARMER PLACES 6TH IN FARM CONTEST

Hale Man Given First Prize; Farmer of Lamb, Second

AMARILLO, Sept. 27. (AP)—C. H. Day, Hale county farmer who majors in registered hogs, today was announced as winner of the 1933 News-Globe balanced farm contest.

R. L. May, Lamb county, majoring in dairy cattle, placed second, and Herbert Green, who resides in Sherman county in the heart of the area so hard hit by the drouth this year, won third. He majored in beef cattle. May placed third in last year's contest.

Day was presented a gold medal in addition to the first cash award of $150. May received $125, Green $100, and both were given silver medals. They scored 936, 930, and 927 points respectively out of a possible 1,000. Other contestants

FEAR DISEASE MIGHT SWEEP OVER TAMPICO

POORER SECTIONS OF CITY WITHOUT WATER

TAMPICO, Mexico, Sept. 27. (AP)—Compulsory vaccination of residents of the ruined suburbs of Tampico was resorted to today by the authorities as a precaution against grave danger of an epidemic resulting from Sunday's hurricane.

The water situation was acute. In the poorer sections no water was available for drinking and throughout the city none could be spared for any other purposes.

Train service with Monterrey was renewed, however, and this brought a promise of quick relief. A work train and a sanitary train were reported proceedings slowly from San Luis Potosi, with soldiers repairing the tracks as they traveled.

The restoration of train service was expected to remove the danger of food shortage.

The electrical light and power services were back in operation in part of the city.

Relief work was hampered during the night by a heavy rainstorm.

Resignation of Committeewoman Is Not Accepted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (AP)—Mrs. Hal Sevier, democratic national committeewoman from Texas, has offered her resignation but action on it has been deferred.

She offered the resignation because her husband has been appointed ambassador to Chile, which will necessitate her absence from this country.

It was learned today that Postmaster General Farley had requested Mrs. Sevier to hold the matter in abeyance at least until the next meeting of the whole committee. Farley, as national democratic chairman, followed the same procedure several months ago when Jed Adams offered his resignation as Texas committeeman after his appointment to the board of tax appeals.

Farley's desire in both instances was to keep together at least for the time being the same organization which went through the 1932 campaign. Thus, Mrs. Sevier will continue indefinitely as national committeewoman.

The Seviers are from Corpus Christi, Texas.

C. P. Buckler made a trip to Clarendon this morning.

SANTA DAY DECEMBER 6 TO BE UNUSUAL IN MANY PARTICULARS

Unusual features which will make this year's Santa Day different from the days in the last two years were planned last night by the Junior chamber of commerce committee headed by H. L. Polley, general chairman.

Mr. Polley's steering committee also includes E. M. Conley and Frank Carter. Other committees, with personnel yet to be named, include: Finance, Marvin Lewis; lights, J. M. Collins; decorations, John Osborne; publicity, Olin E. Hinkle, J. W. Pyland, Tom Blair; parade, Elmer Fite; floats and windows, G. E. McTaggaret; fireworks, R. L. Bowden; judges and prizes, Gilmore N. Nunn.

A tentative date of December 6, Wednesday, was set by the committee chairmen. The streets will be gaily lighted by that date to inaugurate the Christmas season. Stores will have windows dressed to carry out the holiday spirit. There will be prizes for best floats and windows. Santa Claus will be greeted by a children's guard of honor, with representatives of various communities assisting him.

Special stunts for the occasion, including a huge fireworks exhibition, are being arranged.

Grill Gangster

CHICAGO police are grilling Gus Winkler, above, gangster high on the roll of the city's public enemies, regarding the holdup in which Federal Reserve mail pouches were stolen and Policeman Miles Cunningham was slain. Winkler and his wife were surprised and captured when detectives crashed into their exclusive apartment as a grocery boy entered.

Solution of Row at Austin Hoped By Citizens

WHILE the Texas legislature hears charges and counter-charges concerning distribution of relief money in this state, only the most needy families can be given direct and work-relief in Gray county.

However, since September is usually the lightest month of the year from the standpoint of relief demands, the local situation is not as acute as it would be in other months. About 80 men can be used daily on the grading of highway 33 through South Pampa, for which $18,000 in emergency relief money has been set aside. The length of time each man works is scaled according to his relief needs, number of dependents, and other factors on which the state board has ruled.

Meanwhile, registration of unemployed men is continuing. About 350 men have been registered to date, but there is a constant waiting list. Federally required information blanks necessitate lengthy interviews with each man. In fact, the "red tape" required is largely responsible for the cost of administration. Twenty-five men were registered yesterday at Alanreed. Cotton picking has eased the situation at McLean, where registration will be taken soon.

BRALY FUNERAL TO BE HELD IN CITY TOMORROW

Burial Will Be Made In Cemetery At Dalhart

THE body of Judge Clifford Braly, 52, will be taken overland to Dalhart for burial following services in the First Presbyterian church here at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. The G. C. Malone Funeral home will be in charge.

Services here will be preached by the Rev. A. A. Hyde, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. W. A. Irwin, pastor of the Presbyterian church at McLean. The Dalhart Masonic lodge will have charge of services at the grave.

Judge Braly died early yesterday morning following an illness of nearly two years. Judge Braly was one of the most popular men in the Panhandle. He was legislator, district attorney, and district judge during his lifetime. Calls were received at the family home and by friends all day yesterday, asking when the funeral was to be held.

Judge Braly is survived by his wife and two sons, Clifford of Texas university and Tom of the University of Oklahoma; also his mother and three brothers.

Pallbearers will be Mayor W. A. Bratton, T. F. Smalling, M. K. Brown, B. E. Finley, Siler Faulkner, and C. P. Buckler. Honorary pallbearers will be members of the bar.

CLEMENCY FOR SEVEN

AUSTIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today issued clemencies to seven state convicts. Full pardons were given to four, all of whom were serving sentences for violations of the liquor laws.

NEITHER BATES NOR BAILEY TO MAKE DEFENSE

$73,250 IS FOUND ON COLEMAN FARM IN A JUG

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27 (AP)—Albert L. Bates, accused as one of the actual kidnapers of Charles F. Urschel, and Harvey Bailey, notorious southwestern outlaw, two of the ten persons now on trial for the kidnaping, put their fates in the hands of the jury today without offering a word of defense.

With unexpected suddenness, attorneys for the two heavily guarded defendants rested their cases shortly before noon immediately after Armon Shannon's testimony had concluded the defense of himself, his father, R. G. Shannon and his stepmother, Mrs. Ora Shannon.

These developments left only the defense of the five remaining Twin Cities defendants to be presented before Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught instructs the jury and attorneys make their final arguments.

The Twin Cities men—Sam Kozberg, Sam Kronick, Isadore Blumenfeld, Barney Berman, and Cliff Skelly—are accused as "money changers," a small part of the ransom money having been recovered with their arrests.

PARAGUAY WILL IMPORT 10,000 COSSACKS; MANY MENNONITES AND DOUKHOBORS TO HOLD THE CHACO

To Build 250 Miles Of Railroads To Jungle

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 27. (AP)—Ten thousand Cossacks, noted fighting folk from Russia, may be imported to help hold the Gran Chaco for Paraguay if a plan afoot in that country carries through.

Paraguay, it was authoritatively learned today, is organizing a comprehensive project for defending the vast borderland of swampy forsts and plains over which she has been in dispute with Bolivia for years.

Besides the proposed immigration of the Cossacks, the plan includes the construction of 250 miles of railroads and building of strategic highways.

A "distinguished Parisian" has agreed to finance the Cossack migration, it was said.

The Paraguayan war ministry will assign several regimenst of engineers to assist in constructing the railways, designed to enable the uninterrupted provisoning of troops in the most remote sectors.

All civil engineers in Paraguay will be mobilized for building the roads, along with an entire military division of engineers.

General Ivan Belaieff, who came to Paraguay from Russia after the world war, was made an honorary general in the Paraguayan army for his services in the Chaco, will be sent to Europe to arrange the Cossack movement.

He expects to conclude a Chaco colonization contract which Paraguay has been negotiating for months with the Cossack group as the initial step of President Ayala's scheme to bring 100,000 colonists, including Mennonites and Doukhobors from Canada and Mexico, within a decade to join the 10,000 Mennonites settled on 75,000 Chaco acres since 1927.

The Associated Press learned that Paraguayan plans for an indefinite "war of resistance" were completed at a meeting in President Ayala's home in Asuncion last week.

LATE NEWS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The relief administration reported today that there had been a decrease in the number of families in Texas receiving unemployment relief from all public funds in August but an increase in total money of the obligations incurred was noted. Mayor Vetoes Taxing Bills

Stock Exchange Not To Be Moved—Seabury and McKee Scare Tammany.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Tammany administration, whipped by stockbrokers in what some observers called a game of bluff and others called deadly earnest, faced two new menaces today.

One arrived in the form of a payroll crisis and the other in the shape of a man named Samuel Seabury.

Friday is payday for city workers—backbone of the Tammany machine. The city needs a $25,000,000 loan to fill the envelopes. So far its bankers have not agreed to advance the sum.

Seabury, whose investigation led to the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker, arrived from Europe last night, refreshed and eager to campaign for Fiorello H. La Guardia, Fusion's mayoral aspirant. Thus the city will see an anti-Tammany democrat helping an independent republican try to smash the regular democratic machine.

Seabury did not comment on the fight between Mayor John P. O'Brien's administration and the stock exchange. That fight ended last night when O'Brien, reversing his position, vetoed two city bills that would have taxed stock transfers and the incomes of security dealers. The exchange thereupon dropped its plan to move to Newark, N. J.

Brokers expressed jubilation over the success of what they called a "modern Boston tea party." They insisted they would have gone thru with their threat to establish the New Jersey Stock Exchange in a Newark market building, if the taxes had not been vetoed. The Daily News expressed the view that the move was a "bluff" and the exchange would have stayed here anyway.

Newark, a somewhat saddened city, found itself with a $5,000,000 market building on its hands, tenantless. A garage concern occupying the building had been evicted.

Both sides in the mayoral campaign watched Joseph V. McKee, former acting mayor who broke with Tammany some months ago. The Herald-Tribune was informed he would announce his candidacy before the end of the week.

New Supply Of Eagles Arrive

Postmaster D. E. Cecil announced this morning that he has received another large shipment of NRA Blue Eagle posters and stickers. They will be available to persons and firms who have not received any but who have signed and complied.

The postmaster hopes that the posters and stickers will be called for immediately. There may be enough available for those who are short on insignia.

Rev. and Mrs. Newton C. Smith of Amarillo, former Pampans, are visiting friends in Pampa for a few days.

"THE LITTLE FELLOW" DOES HIS PART

One of the things the National Recovery Act seems destined to do is to make a straight-out test of the comparative degrees of social responsibility and public spirit possessed by small industries and large ones.

So far, it must be admitted that most of the palms have been won by the little fellows.

Speaking generally, it is the little fellow who has shown the greater readiness to sign up under the blue eagle. Drive down any business street you like, in big city or in small town, and you will see that heartening banner prominently displayed in the windows of small shops, little restaurants, tiny garages and small-scale manufacturing establishments. The little business man has come forward with a gratifying promptness—and, for the most part, he has been scrupulous in living up to the terms of his agreement.

* * * *

Unfortunately, not quite as much can be said for the big fellow.

This is not said to take anything away from those giant concerns which have already got into line with NRA policies. Many have done so, and their action has been in the highest degree praiseworthy. But many of them, unfortunately, have not; and the headaches suffered by NRA officials at Washington have arisen chiefly because some of the biggest industries in the land have shown themselves surprisingly stiffnecked about it.

Now it hasn't been an easy thing for the little fellow to get his blue eagle. In many cases it is more of a sacrifice for him to raise wages and shorten working hours than it is for the big fellow, for the simple reason that labor costs are proportionately larger on his budget than they are on the big fellow's.

The chap who runs, for instance, a corner shoe repair shop, and boosts the number of his workers from two to three under the NRA code, is quite likely to have to operate at a loss for a time; and if he does the money must come right out of his own pocket, and not out of a pile of cash reserves tucked away in some bank.

* * * *

Yet it is the little fellow who seems to be leading the way right now. He hasn't talked indignantly about constitutional limitations, or his time-honored open shop policies, or his duty to his stockholders. He has rolled up his sleeves and gone in there to pitch, and he has done it without much coaxing.

If large-scale industry wants to justify its dominant position in America, it must demonstrate that it possesses social conscience in the same measure as the little fellow possesses it.

Markets

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Stocks wavered today in the face of inflationary uncertainties, although a moderate last-hour rally, due largely to a late recovery in grains, enabled leading equities to shade early losses of 1 to 4 or more points. Trading activity slowed down on the mild upturn, however, and the close was rather heavy. Transfers approximated 2,250,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Despite uncertainty shown much of the time today over Washington financial and industrial developments, wheat values rallied sharply at the last.

Houses with eastern connections became active buyers, and were able to more than overcome earlier losses. Corn and oats were also accorded strong support, with some uneasiness shown as to likelihood of reduced estimates of 1933 corn yields.

Wheat closed firm at nearly the day's top level ¾-1⅜ above yesterday's finish, corn ¼-½ up, oats ⅜-½ advanced, and provisions 2 cents to 50 cents down.

—RELIEF

It is noted that many men take only work, refusing groceries even when they are known to be in need. This fact makes welfare workers impatient as highway construction projects continue to be delayed. About 750 men will be registered in the county, it is believed, but the figure may go higher.

Senator Clint C. Small, author of a measure which would abolish the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission and set up a system whereby county commissioners would guide relief distribution, has written that he would make the counties bear the cost of administration. Such a plan, he believes, would tend toward economy. The outcome of the bitter fight over relief in Austin is very much in doubt. A satisfactory solution is held imperative because of the possibility that the federal government would withdraw its aid should it be displeased.

To Register at LeFors.

The headquarters of the Gray county board of relief and employment will be used by Mrs. W. H. Davis, county administrator, to register unemployed in the LeFors area tomorrow. She visited Alanreed yesterday morning and registration was completed at noon.

Starting of registration in McLean was made yesterday afternoon but few appeared. S. M. Hodges, McLean representative of the board, will continue registration and every unemployed man in that section is urged to call and register early.

Nearly 300 persons have registered in Pampa and more are appearing daily. Everyone who expects to secure work on highway projects should register immediately.

Thomas measure. He finds that 96 per cent of the members of the house who replied and more than 75 per cent of the senators heard from were for inflation. Senator Thomas says that "an issue of non-interest bearing treasury notes is the simplest and most direct process of inflation. Such notes can be withdrawn by long-term bond issues any time it is desired to check inflation." He thinks the president should listen to the congressmen. He adds that "there is no patriotism in silence—a cross-section of national opinion is needed for executive guidance."

FREE GRUB-STAKES

The Committee for the Nation writes its approval of a plan under which the government would grub-stake gold placer miners and prospectors. In Canada and most of the British possessions, the prospector and placer miner, we are told, are grub-staked by the government. Men, women, and children are averaging about a dollar a day in gold recovered. Such grub-staking, we learn, would add to the wealth of the nation without interfering with other labor. Gold mining, when successful, is more logical than reforestation.

THE LONG LOOK

The weekly letter from the Guaranty Trust company of New York says that "while the recession in business levels is disappointing to those who hoped for a quick transformation in the economic situation under the influence of governmental intervention, informed opinion inclines to the view that it may very well prove to have been a wholesome development from the long-term point of view.

"Neither the recent reaction in business nor the practical difficulties of the NRA program necessarily indicated that progress toward recovery is not being made. On the contrary, setbacks and controversies were recognized from the beginning as inevitable; and the contrast between present conditions and those that existed six months ago leaves little room for doubt that a genuine upward thrust has occurred. If impatience can be curbed and dangerous political influence held in check, the outlook may be regarded as definitely favorable."

CHUDEJ TELLS OF HANDLING MYSTERY SUM

WHERE $22,100 CAME FROM INTERESTS SENATE

AUSTIN, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Texas senate, sitting as a committee to investigate doings of the state rehabilitation and relief commission, had before it today testimony of Frank W. Chudej, former business associate of James E. Ferguson, bearing on the banking of $22,100 in currency over a period of eight months.

Chudej told the senate that the money had been handed to him by Ferguson in curency of various denominations, there being, at different times, $1,000 bills, some of $500, many of $100 and $50. He read from what he said was a photostatic copy of a duplicate ledger sheet showing the deposits were made in the American National bank at intervals of every few days from January 4 to August 17, this year. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, wife of James E. Ferguson, was inaugurated governor of Texas on January 17. Her husband has served as her advisor since she has been in office.

Chudep said he deposited the money, on instructions from Ferguson, in the accounts of Bosque creamery and Ferguson Forum, and several hundred dollars in an "C. C. McDonald anti-prohobition account." he testified that $17,905, all in currency, was deposited at odd times to the Bosque creamery account and $3,795 to the Ferguson Forum account.

Chudej said he severed his relations with Ferguson on August 19 last, after the governor had refused to appoint him to a vacancy on the board of control. He had been president of the Ferguson Forum, which is edited by James E. Ferguson, and he also was connected with other Fergus n industries. He said Mrs. Ferguson maintained "a separate estate."

The witness said he had also drawn checks for incidental expenses against the accounts. He said about $400 or $500 monthly was usually checked from one of the accounts to the Mrs. Ferguson separate estate" account.

Under cross examination by Senator Will Martin of Hillsboro, Chudej said he had revealed the information he had just given the senate to Roy I. Tennant, former member of the board of control, who, also, was an applicant for appoint recently. The governor appointed Henry C. Meyer of Rockdale to the place sought by Chudej and Tennant.

"Isn't it a fact that you and Tennant were sore because you did not get appointed and one, or both of you, set out to slander the good name of some one?" Martin asked.

"It might be true that I was disappointed at not being named to the board of control but I did not set my head to get any one," was Chudej's answer.

Senator Roy Sanderford of Belton wanted to know of Chudej "When did you decide to double-cross 'Governor Jim'?"

"He double-crossed me first," answered Chudej.

Plain Dealer's Founder Is Dead

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27 (AP)—Elbert Hall Baker, who, in his own words, liked "to see a paper striving to improve the community in which it is located," died last night at the age of 79, after 35 years of planning and building for the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the city itself.

He was chairman of the board of the Plain Dealer publishing company, and as a leader in the newspaper field throughout the country, had served as a director of the Associated Press since 1916, as director of the American Newspaper Publishers association from 1907 to 1924, and as president of the association from 1912 to 1914.

From the time he and Charles E. Kennedy leased the Plain Dealer from L. E. Holden in 1898 to operate it on a profit sharing basis as a "sporting proposition"—to see if they could "bring the animal to life"—Baker poured all his efforts into making the paper successful and to gain for the city as many public improvements as possible.

BURSTING wheat bins pictured above indicate how the carryover of wheat in the United States has increased since 1928. From 1920 to 1928 the carryover was about normal and a bin or grain elevator capacity of slightly more than 100 million bushels was sufficient for supplies from year to year. Since 1928 the carryover in the United States has increased rapidly. In 1929 it was nearly 250 million bushels, in 1930 it was nearly 300 million bushels, it was over 300 million bushels in 1931 and in 1932 it reached a new peak of more than 360 million bushels. Secretary Wallace has estimated that even with our short crop this year, the carryover will still be above normal a year from now because of the present large carryover, the lack of export demand and reduced feeding and, unless something is done to check it, the carryover is likely to jump again to around 350 million bushels in 1935.

Outrageous Fortune

—By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: A man has been picked up on the sea shore from the wreck of the Alice Arden. At Elston hospital he mumbles something about Jimmy Riddell and like a child's green beads, and about emeralds. Nesta Riddell goes in response to a broadcast inquiry, and hears him talking. She declares he is her husband, and removes him to her brother's house in Ledlington. Caroline Leigh reaches the hospital after the man has been taken away; she hoped he might be her cousin, Jim Randal. She cannot imagine why Nesta would identify the wrong husband, but determines to trace the matter down when the nurse tells her a scrap of paper with "Caroline" on it was in the man's pocket. The man wakes, and talks with Nesta.

Chapter Seven

"MY WIFE—NO!"

For a moment it was the fog which was pressing against his eyes—the fog; not his own hand. And behind the fog things moved—vague horrible things. He jerked himself out of the fog and flung out his hand.

"No—I can't remember."

"What—nothing?"

"No—no—"

"Not your own home?"

"I don't—know—"

"Your name's Jim Riddell," said Nesta sharply.

The name came back to him like a faint echo from somewhere in his mind. It was as if someone had spoken from behind that deadening fog. She said, "your name is Jim Riddell," and something in his own mind answered her.

He said the name aloud:—"Jim," then with more confidence. "Yes—Jim."

"Jim Riddell," said Nesta firmly.

He preferred Jim to Jimmy any day of the week. Jim Riddell . . . He left the name and began to go over what she had said. He took the easiest part first.

"You brought me here yesterday? I can't remember anything about it."

"You needn't worry about that. They gave you some kind of a sleeping-draught to take you over the move, and when we got here you had a good drink of hot milk and off you went again like a baby."

"Why did you bring me here?" His voice was quiet and direct.

Nesta's eyebrows rose.

"That's a funny thing to ask. Where else should I take you? We'd agreed to give London a miss, hadn't we?"

He groped for memories of London.

"London?"

"You're not going to say you've forgotten London?"

"I've forgotten everything. I—" His hand closed upon the edge of the bed. He shut his eyes for a moment, giddy with the sense of empty space all round him. There were no landmarks, nothing to steer by, no horizon line, no faintest, farthest star.

The woman who sat on the end of the bed looking at him was also actual, but somehow not so reassuring. He didn't like her very much. He didn't like the way she was dressed, or the way she did her hair, or those near-set eyes of hers. He supposed she was handsome, but he didn't like her. She had a black dress with little magneta and yellow squiggles on it. The pattern hurt his eyes.

Her voice cut sharply across his thought—a bright voice with an edge to it.

"You're not going to tell me you have forgotten me, Jimmy?"

He looked at her with something very grim in his expression.

"Will you kindly tell me who you are?"

The color rose in her cheeks. She looked away from him. "I'm Nesta."

"Nesta Riddell." She risked a sideways glance. That three days' beard gave him a savage look . . . It wasn't only the beard—she stayed where she was, but it needed an effort not to jump up and get nearer the door.

"And still that tells me nothing yet," he said in a carefully controlled voice.

Nesta sprang to her feet and flung out her hands.

"I'm your wife, Jimmy—you can not have forgotten me!"

He had known what she was going to say; before she said it he had braced himself to take the shock. When it came, it actually steadied him. He felt as cold as ice and as quiet as if he were dead. He said just above his breath:

"My wife—no—"

She burst into angry tears. Take it whatever way you like, it was a slap in the face. Nesta did not take kindly to being slapped. She felt no impulse to turn the other cheek.

"Yes—your wife! What else did you think? How dare you think anything else—and in my own brother's house!"

"I beg your pardon—you misunderstand me. I simply have no recollection of you at all." He should have left it at that, but he went on, his calm broken a little. "I can't—I can't believe—"

"You can't believe, and you can't remember? Well, how much can you remember? How did you come here, if you're not my suhband? Why, Tom and I went to the hospital and fetched you away!"

She dashed the angry tears from her eyes with the back of her hand. It was the gesture of a furious child.

KELLY CLAIMS HE'LL BE OUT OF JAIL SOON

KATHRYN SAYS SHE IS 'THROUGH' WITH HUSBAND

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 27 (AP)—George "Machine Gun" Kelly, raging "bad man" trapped through a young girl's tip, glowered in an all-steel cage today and muttered defiance to authority.

The outlaw from the Southwest vowed to fight extradition to Oklahoma City to stand trial for the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man.

Kelly and his auburn-haired wife, Kathryn, captured in a bungalow hideout yesterday, were hurriedly arraigned last night and charged with the Urschel kidnaping. United States Commissioner Brenner set their bond at $100,000 each.

"Not guilty," snarled Kelly when the warrant was read. His wife also denied the charges.

Kelly sat in his cell peering into the muzzles of machine guns and various other armaments surrounding his all-steel cage. He told a guard to "tell the world that I will be out of this jail before long." He added as an afterthought "they got me; but keeping me is another matter."

A 12-year-old girl who had been accompanying Kelly and his wife and posing as their daughter gave officers the tip which led to the arrest.

The girl arrived in Oklahoma City Monday from Memphis and gave officers the Memphis address of the Kellys.

William A. Roper, department of justice operative of Birmingham, who came here by plane to effect the capture, was given credit for the arrests. Roper revealed that federal agents had been on Kelly's trail for several days.

Adding to the woes of Kelly was the statement of his wife that she was "through" with him and that she was sorry in the first place that she had married him.

"I came here to tell Mr. Kelly of my decision to give up," Mrs. Kelly said. "When I told him, well—he said he would kill me if I did."

Mrs. Kelly was careful to explain that she did not turn her husband up to the law. "For one thing," she explained, "I wouldn't have lived ten minutes after it happened.

"I hope Mr. Kelly is sent to the penitentiary—only long enough to make him realize his mistakes," she said.

"My people are innocent of any crime and I was going to Oklahoma City to prove it," Mrs. Kelly said.

"He (Shannon) is my stepfather, but he's a dear. My own father, divorced from my mother, lived with me in Fort Worth until all this came up."

Mrs. Kelly said her wn father was an invalid and that "I'd rather not tell you his name."

Dix and Coe 'Part Best of Friends'

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27 (AP)—The film colony had another friendly divorce to talk about today in that of Richard Dix, screen star, and the former Winifred Coe, San Francisco society girl.

Mrs. Dix's attorney disclosed she had obtain a decree at Juarez, Mexico, on the grounds of cruelty last June 29. Like most recent Hollywood separations, she and her husband issued a joint statement in which they said they were parting "the best of friends."

USED GOODYEAR ON PEAK

When Al Miller established a new record in the Pike's Peak climb for stock cars on Labor day, he negotiated the distance in 19 minutes, 55.2 seconds with a Goodyear Air-wheel-equipped car, according to Jack Baker, local Goodyear dealer. The Pike's Peak course is a rough gravel trail that ascends from an altitude of 9,150 feet to 14,109 feet with 160 treacherous curves en route. "Miller broke the existing stock car record by one minute, 25.7 seconds.

School Days are Here Again-- And so are Big Wash Days!

It takes a lot of clean clothes to send children to school neat and tidy. Their things must be fresh and white—and that means hard labor for the laundress unless she has a modern Electric Washer to make the task an easy one!

An Electric Washer does a better job as well as a quicker one. It can stand hotter water, wash more thoroughly, and yet be just as gentle with clothes as any woman could be. It saves stress and strain on the laundry and the laundress alike. Yet the cost of operating an Electric Washer rarely exceeds a penny an hour. At such a figure can you afford to be without this modern, efficient servant? See the new Washers now on display at your electrical, hardware or furniture dealer's store.

EACH OF NEW PRESIDENTS IS HEARD IN TALK

SEASON IS OPENED FOR THREE CLUBS AT PROGRAM

"A CENTURY of Progress" was the theme of the annual presidents' breakfast which yesterday opened the season for the Twentieth Century, Twentieth Century Culture, and Junior Twentieth Century clubs.

Buildings at the Chicago Century the Progress exposition were pictured o the hand-made place cards. Down the center of the table went a procession that started with covered wagons and buggies and ended with modern motor coaches and airplanes.

Club Flowers Used.

Softening the decorative scheme, flowers of the three clubs were arranged on the table and in the city club room where the breakfast was given—chrysanthemums for the junior club, American beauties for the Twentieth Century, and sweet peas for the culture club.

Retiring presidents and members of the three groups were hostesses honoring new presidents. Mrs. T. F. Morton acted as toastmistress and opened the program with "Greetings of the Century."

Mrs. R. F. Dirksen gave the invocation, and a song by Mesdames W. A. Bratton, Chafin, A. H. Douceete, Raymond Harrah, Tom Rose, and Lynn Boyd followed.

Presidents Introduced.

Each president made an address after introduction by her predecessor. Mrs. Harrah introduced Mrs. W. R. Campbell, president of the Twentieth Century club, whose talk was on "Progress of Federated Clubs in Education."

Miss Margaret Buckler, president of the junior club, was introduced by Mrs. A. B. Goldston and had as her subject, "Progress of Federated Clubs in Civic Work."

Mrs. Carl Boston, new president of the culture club, spoke on "Progress of Federated Clubs in Sponsoring Better Homes," after an introduction by Mrs. F. E. Leech.

Mrs. Frank M. Perry played a piano solo, and the entire group joined in "Texas, Our Texas," to close the program.

Each of the clubs will begin its regular study course of the year on October 10, in afternoon meetings.

"The Happy Kitchen!"

That's just what the Pampa Daily NEWS will show hundreds of housewives in Pampa on October 5, 6, and 7 in the city hall.

The modern kitchen as not one of drudgery—never! There's life, variey, color, and the spice of tangy foods steaming in pots and pans.

"Where there used to be just a succession of work-a-day cares, there's now romance and the adventure of discovery—or there should be," declares Miss Beulah Mackey Yates, famed for her knowledge of ccokery and her exposition of the ever-changing styles in foods.

Miss Yates comes here to conduct the biggest and greatest cooking school The NEWS has yet sponsored.

And remember—it's all absolutely free and there's not a thing to be sold. This newspaper considers itself fortunate in securing Miss Yates for this great women's event.

Everywhere the noted home economist has presented her cooking school demonstrations she declares she found an ever-increasing interest in the problem of cookery and in the constant delving for "what's new in the kitchen."

"As for women losing interest in their homes—bosh!" Miss Yates writes. And just to fill that demand for ideas new and different, The NEWS is bringing you the "Happy Kitchen."

Epicureans for ages back—ever since Friend Husband stopped tearing his dinner from the bones of a Ploistocene bear and eating it raw—have hailed the mistress of the kitchen and the happiness a fine-cooked and fine-served dinner can bring.

--STORY

The tears were real, and so was the choke in her voice as she flung open the door and called.

"Min! Min! Min! Come here!"

She stood aside as the girl in the blue smock ran in. Min came to a standstill about a yard inside the door, looking timidly from Nesta to the bed.

"Perhaps you'll believe Min, if you won't believe me." Nesta wasn't crying now, but her color was high and her eyes were bright.

"What is it?" said Min in a bewildered voice.

"Tell him who he is," said Nesta sharply.

"Jimmy? Why Jimmy Riddell."

"Tell him who I am."

Min began to look frightened.

"Why, Nesta."

"Nesta what?"

"Nesta Riddell." She took a step towards the bed. "What's the matter? Don't you remember?" She spoke sweetly and pitifully.

He shook his head, watching them both, holding himself in.

"Oh dear! Don't you know Nesta? Oh dear!"

He spoke then, quite quietly.

"I've lost my memory. I don't know either of you. You say I'm Jim Riddell?"

"Oh yes."

"And that is Nesta Riddell?"

"Oh dear, yes?"

"What is she to me?"

"Oh, she's your wife," said Min, and burst out crying.

NEW ORLEANS PELICANS BEAT MISSIONS FOR SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION FLAG

GALEHOUSE IN 2-0 SHUTOUT OVER TEXANS

DIXIE SERIES GOES TO NEW ORLEANS FOR FIRST TIME

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27. (AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans today hoisted the all-south baseball pennant over Heinemann park to keep company with the Southern Association flag for 1933 while the San Antonio Missions, Texas league title holders, went back home to the Alamo, game losers of the annual Dixie series.

Following three unsuccessful shots at the all-south championship over a ten-year period, Larry Gilbert's men grbabed their first Dixie series on a game-count of 4 to 2, chalking up the final decision yesterday afternoon when Dennis Galehouse climaxed a series of sensational pitching performances to hurl the Pels to a 2-0 shutout over the Missions. That made it three straight for the games at Heinemann park, and kept the title in Southern Association territory for the third straight year. Chattanooga won it last year and Birmingham the year before.

A sporting success, the 1933 series was nevertheless a financial flop. Total attendance for the six games played was only around 26,000 and total gate receipts not in excess of $30,000. Only 2,114 paid $2,365 to see yesterday's stirring finale. With players participating only in the first four days' receipts and with various league and club splits figured, the winning Pels will only get about $218 each out of their victory, and the losing Missions slightly less. These are the smallest purses in the history of the inter league rivalry.

President John D. Martin of the Southern, here for the series, said however, that the brand of ball seen here and in Texas during the past week "was another example to build up public faith in baseball," and President Alvin Gardner of the Texas league echoed the sentiment.

The win was a good deal of a personal victory for Manager Gilbert who tried last year to retire to the relative inactivity of "business manager" for the Pels. It didn't work and he came back in 1933 as field boss to pull the Pels out from away down in the averages and win the second half. Afterwards the Pels took the year's pennant in a playoff with Memphis, first half winners, winning the right to meet the Texas league toppers.

San Antonio, a fourth place team at the end of the regular season, forged to the top of the Texas heap with their player-managre, Catcher Hank Severeid, in a Shaughnessy plan play-off in which Houston, Dallas and Galveston were eliminated.

Miller Hit Freely

It was San Antonio's first bid for the Dixie title but New Orleans had had a try at it three times before. Gilbert's men lost to Fort Worth in 1923, to Dallas in 1926, and to Wichita Falls in 1927.

The Missions had plenty of steam to start with, twice forging into a one-game lead with wins in the first and third night contests in Texas and the Pels came home Sunday trailing two games to one. Daylight made a difference with the Pelicans, and it was three straight on the home lot.

Dennis Galehouse, who won two of the playoff games with Memphis, including the deciding one, and who pitched New Orleans' only win in Texas and then saved Sunday's game after relieving Fred Johnson, faced the Missions for the third time in six days yesterday and made it a shutout, allowing only five hits. It was his 21st win for New Orleans this year.

Abe "Payday" Miller pitched steady ball for San Antonio but the Pels reached him for nine bingles and brought in a run in the second and fifth innings, plenty enough to win on. It was a fast game, with six double plays, played in one hour and 17 minutes.

Donkeys Carry Pampans To 2-0 Win at Amarillo

Dignified Pampa business men rode their jackasses to victory over Amarillo in a "donkey baseball" game last night at the Tri-State Fair by a score of 2 to 1. Joe Berry and Crawford Atkinson pushed their mounts across the plate for Pampa, after much bucking and pitching.

The lone Amarillo counter was made by a "ringer" who was none other than the donkey trainer himself and he knew how to make his animal run and touch all the sacks. Captain John Studer of the Pampa Marons reported to his office this morning so sore that he believes all 11 mules kicked him. John did some great hitting but his mount failed to respond to all kinds of urging and once left him far behind.

Ed Mazey and all his averdupois couldn't make his donkey perform. His mount started for third base instead of first on a ball that should have gone for a home run. Howard Buckingham, Pampa catcher, played a great game and hit hard but his mount also bucked and stalled, once a foot in front of the plate. Howard got off and with tears in his eyes begged his mount to touch the plate but it refused and the Amarillo catcher made the putout.

Atkinson crossed the plate in the second inning on a fine two-base hit. He stole third and scored on a nice hit by Cross. Berry added the winning run later in the same inning on a hit, a sacrifice and a hit by P. O. Sanders, who came through in the pinches.

Such Amarillo notables as County Attorney Howard Anderson, A. D. Lidia, Amarillo banker, Macon Carter, Max O'Brien, and Rollo V. Cartwright, captain, were the shining lights of the Amarillo team.

Of those pleading guilty, one was given a five cents fine, four were given ten cent fines and two were sentenced to three hours in jail.

All of the defendants, however, had served time in jail.

M'LEAN'S TEAM IN POULTRY JUDGING WINS CUP AT FAIR BY WINNING FOR THIRD TIME

M'LEAN, Sept. 27.—McLean vocational agriculture students made a clean sweep of the Tri-State fair poultry judging contest Monday by making 782 points out of a possible 900, beating their nearest rival, Guymon, Okla., 100 points. This gives the cup to McLean for "keeps", since the team won it three times in the five years competition.

A. R. Ledbetter was high scorer with 265 points, Chas. Finley second with 263 points, and Cecil Jones third with 252 points. All three boys were on the McLean team. Wilburn Lynch, an alternate who judged for practice, made the highest score with 286 points.

McLean also had the three highest scorers in exams on the 50 questions on the standard of perfection. Cecil Jones made 144 points Chas. Finley 141 points, and A. R. Ledbetter 138. The highest score possible was 150 for each boy. This was also the fourth year McLean had the high scorer of the contest.

It is recognized to be quite an achievement for a team to win by such scores when it is remembered that they competed against some of the strongest teams in Oklahoma and Texas.

The McLean dairy team, having had no previous experience, placed third in the dairy contest with Sim Rhodes second high scorer with 358 points. John Mertel and Elton Cneal also showed up well. The alternate also made a very good showing for McLean's future judges. In poultry judging, the alternates were W. Lynch, James Lee Rice, James Cooke and Peb Everett. In dairy work Chas. Ivy, J. C. Breeding and G. Cadra were good.

McLean F. F. A. members have a combination booth which features crop exhibits and an instructional feature, "Treating Milk Fever," which is very attractive. The booth is outstanding in that it has displayed the insignia of "relief" in the center. After putting up the booth and entering many crop exhibits the F. F. A. delegation numbering 25 went to MacSpadden lake to camp over night.

In this party was the famous McLean F. F. A. string band which furnished a long program of old time tunes in the home of Frank R. Phillips, professor of agricultural education of West Texas Teachers college at Canyon.

Have you ever taken a cross-country flight in one of the huge planes which now carry passengers from New York to Los Angeles less than two days?

If you haven't, you can do the next best thing by seeing the Columbia picture, "Air Hostess," today or Thursday at the Rex theater, with Evalyn Knapp, James Murray, Thelma Todd and Arthur Pierson, for it is a story of the wonder and romance of today's commercial aviation. In this respect, it differs from all the other air pictures, such as "Wing," "Hell's Angels" and "Flight" which dealt with war flying.

In "Air Hostess" there are shown not only all the types of modern planes used in passenger flying, but also the methods of radio communication used to keep a constant contact with the ground, the regulation of night flying, the transmission of accurate weather reports and other modern facts about air transportation unknown to the average landsman.

Did you know, for instance, that Department of Commerce regulations require a complete change of crew on passenger planes every six hours? The object of this, you will learn from 'Air Hostess," is to assure fresh, alert minds on duty at all times.

There is an incident in the picture where a passenger, eager to reach his destination in time for an important engagement, complains "We are going so slow!" only to express amazement when he is shown that the giant plane is traveling at a speed of 175 miles an hour.

How do planes manage to keep their course at night, or in fogs? Besides their two compasses and a rotary beacon situated at ten or fifteen mile intervals, each big passenger ship has a course indicator which reveals if the planes is to the right or left of its direct flying line.

BARTON WILL LEAD SOONER GRID CHAMPS

HARVESTERS TO FACE VETERAN STARS ON FRIDAY

Coach Odus Mitchell's boys went through a long, hard practice session yesterday afternoon at Harvester park. A new offense, blocking, tackling, and line defense came in for most of the work. This afternoon, the A and B squads were to have one of the toughest scrimmages of the year.

The Harvesters will meet what should be their toughest opposition of the year Friday afternoon when the Capitol Hill Indians of Oklahoma City invade Pampa. The Indians have eight veteran lettermen and four squadmen besides several promising newcomers. The team last year won the state title by defeating Shawnee after two games. The Harvesters will meet Shawnee next month.

Harold "Crusty" Barton is being touted as the big chief of the Indian attack. He is a veteran but did not play against Pampa last year because of injuries. Barton led the Indian attack against Central Teachers college last week, the high school winning 6 to 0. Barton reeled off gains of 10, 20, 30, and 40 yards. His best play of the game was a fake punt in which he ran 55 yards from his own 8-yard line.

Claude Pulliam is quarterback and blocker de luxe. He is heady and plays a steady defensive game. Andy Stover and Larkin Lamb are the ball carrying halfbacks. They have accounted for large gains by their tricky running and hard hitting this season.

Veteran linemen with the team will be led by Captain Slats Wyrick, 200-pound end, and one of the best pass receivers in the state. Alden McFarland is a big guard and Bruce Long is the center. Ralph Beaver plays a tackle and Olaude Pepper is the other end. Fred Ball is a squadman guard and big Bill Reynolds, another squadman, will play the other tackle position.

Coach Jim Ipokabaugh has a world of reserves who have been making things hard for the regulars throughout the season. The team is big and fast and knows the tricks of the game.

One or two changes may be necessary in the Harvester lineup Friday. Sartin will probably be out of the game but his successor has not been named. Either Bill Dunaway or Harold Gregory will be selected to fill Sartin's shoes. Big Miles Marbaugh may not be able to play much of the game because of an injured shoulder. In that case the burden would be on the shoulders of Orville Heiskell and Chubby Stewart.

A change may be made in the line because of the great work being done by a substitute or two. It will take the strongest team possible to hold the big Indians.

Four Passengers On Boat Injured

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—Four passengers of the Hudson river night line boat Rensselaer were injured and 127 endangered when a Swedish freighter, the Roxena collided with the passenger boat in a fog about 2 a. m. today. None was seriously hurt.

With water pouring into her hull from a large hole in her hull below the water line, the Rensselaer warped up to a stone barge. The passengers, some of them heavy eyed with sleep, others hysterical, were unloaded. After the freight in the night boat had been shifted and the damaged section of hull above the water raised the vessel resumed her trip to New York.

WITH THE— HARVESTERS

By HARRY E. HOARE

If mean looks could win football games, the Harvesters would be the "beatenest" team that ever won a game. The boys had their pictures taken yesterday and the camera groaned and creaked during the procedure. All I want to see is some of those mean looks developed into actions and the boys will go places.

Loafing has no place on a football team. A couple of the boys did just that thing last Friday, due to the heat maybe, but it is bad business and cannot be tolerated. Don't think the coaches on the sidelines and the fans in the grandstand can't tell when a player is loafing. It shines out like a sore thumb.

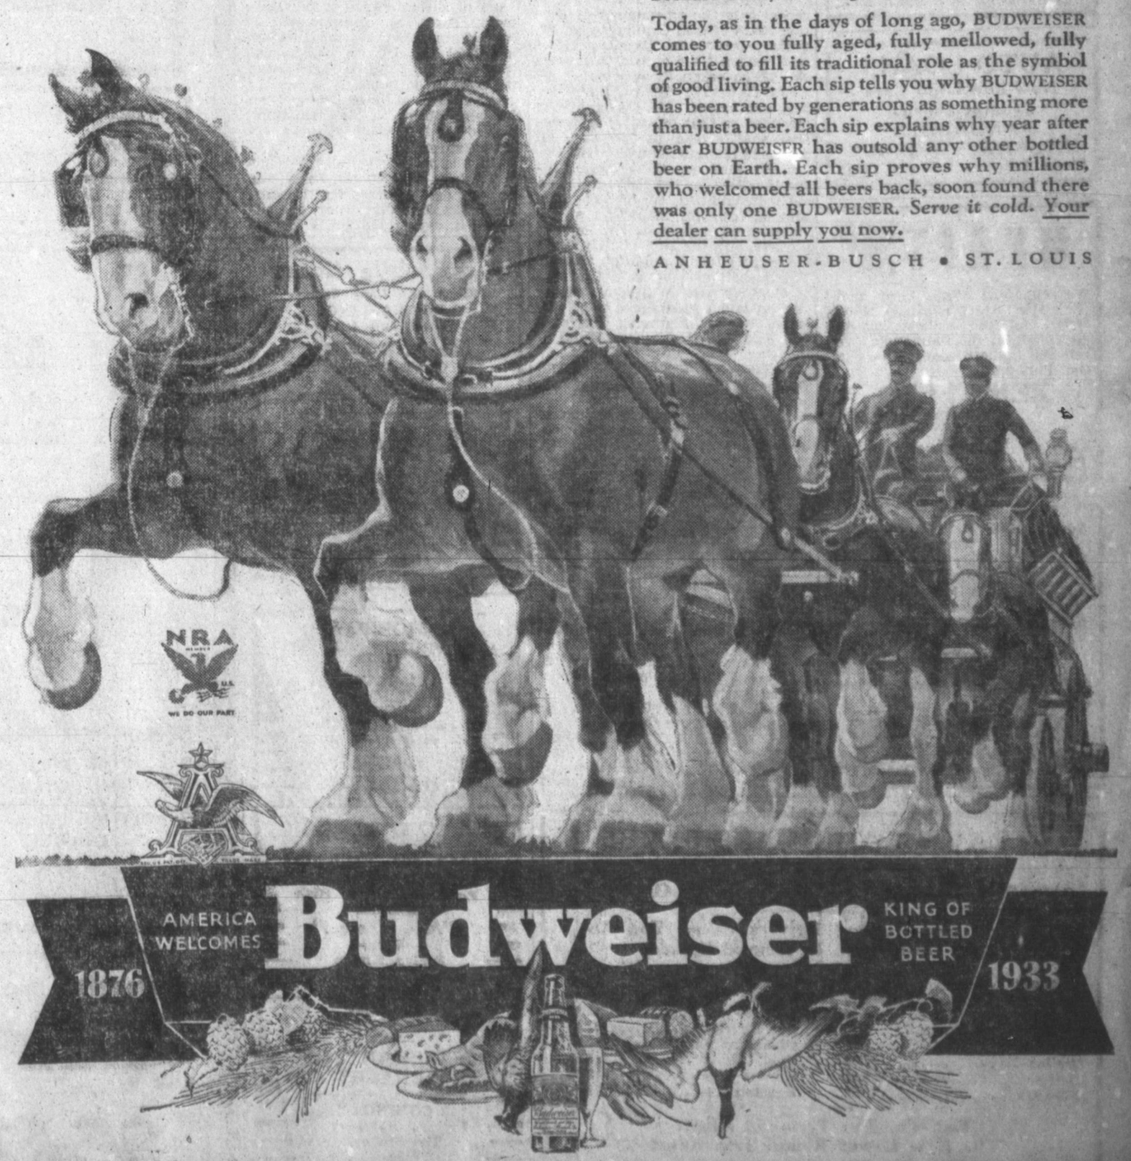

I don't have an personal scout to send out and see the various teams in the district in action, but I do have some former Pampans in each of the cities who still love the "ole home town" and they are keeping me pretty well supplied with information. For instance, from an Amarillo friends comes the word to look out for Corbitt and Mahuron and also for Bufkin, cousin of the famous Burl Bufkin of Army. They are the most dangerous men on the team.

Down in Lubbock Rufus Hale is a triple threat man although he is much stronger in passing and ball carrying than punting. In fact, Lubbock does not have a real punter to date. Big "Smiling" Mabry, Johnson, and Lowry are the poison trio with Plainview. Up at Borger, Kendrick and Price look like the most dangerous material on the Bulldog squad.

The most dangerous players on the Pampa team are still unknown. I have my own opinion of the dynamite on the squad but it is not yet ready for publication. Some of the poison is yet to be developed, and it sure looks promising. It is still green but learning fast.

FAMINE, DISEASE THREATEN TO ADD TO TAMPICO'S SUFFERING

MUCH OF CITY LIES IN RUINS AFTER STORM

NUMBER INJURED MAY TOTAL WELL OVER 1,500

BY CLARK G. LEE.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Sept. 27 (AP)—Disease, hunger, and thirst threatened to add their terrors today to those of floods and storms which four days ago brought death and destruction here.

An official estimate placed the dead at 54 and the injured at more than 850. It was feared many more bodies were buried in the city-wide ruins and that the number hurt may total well over 1,500.

The store of wheat is sufficient to last only three days more. Other food supplies are nearly gone. Medical and food articles have been sent from Mexico, D. F., but their arrival is problematical because of disturbed rail service.

Much of the city lies in ruins; the harbor, filled with mud and debris, can not be used; residents have to take water from small private wells for fear broken public water systems may be contaminated.

From Panuco, to the southwest, has come wrd that 5,000 there are homeless and desperately in need of food.

Hospitals are crowded with injured.

This correspondent, during a flight over the city, saw several hundred persons clustered on a railroad track at one point, signalling for aid. From the air the city, an important oil port, appeared to be a mass of wreckage, with houses unroofed, trees uprooted and streets filled with debris. Water, in places four feet deep, was on three sides of Tampico.

When the storm was at its height Sunday night prisoners in the municipal jail staged a concerted break, and 15 escaped. Two were killed by guards.

Most of the deaths and injuries occurred in the poorer sections where residents, reluctant to leave their possessions, delayed their flight too long.

A 7 o'clock curfew has been established, with violators warned they will be shot on sight.

In a tour of the devastated area the correspondent saw large sections in which no building remained intact. A number of ships at harbor, although they had been warned, suffered in the storm.

Mayor Jose Tarrega estimated the damage at between $2,800,000 and $3,360,000. He said the storm blew furiously for 12 hours.

Coleman Arrested.

While Armon was testifying, department of Justice agents announced recovery of $73,250 of the $200,000 Urschel ransom and arrest of Cass Coleman, uncle of Kathryn Kelly. The money was found on the Coleman farm near Coleman, Texas.

Believed to be George "Machine Gun" Kelly's share of the ransom loot, the money was dug up in a cotton patch on the farm. Coleman, under arrest, led department of justice agents to the buried fortune, it was reported.

Meanwhile, John M. Keith, a special agent of the department of justice, announced that Langford Ramsey, attorney and former brother-in-law of George "Machine Gun" Kelly, confessed today that Kelly sent him to Coleman, Texas, to get part of the Charles F. Urschel ransom money, $73,250 of which was recovered near Coleman today.

"Kelly got $75,000 of the $200,000 Urschel ransom money and Harvey Bailey got another $75," Keith said.

"The other money was divided among lesser participants," Keith added. "Kelly was broke when he got to Memphis. Every effort he made to get the buried money near Coleman was thwarted. He attempted time and again to get it."

The money, all in $20 bills except one $10 bill, was found stuffed in thermos jugs. It brought to $79,650

Alsbury testified that salaries of six department heads in the county organization were reduced on September 23. He said he decided that the former salaries were excessive. Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman brought out that this action was taken after the senate started its investigation into administrative costs.

Asked why he hadn't reduced his salary of $300 monthly, Alsbury said that his salary was fixed by the state rehabilitation and relief commission and stated further that he would not handle the work for "anything less."

Woman Gets $250

Questioned concerning the salaries of various employes, Alsbury stated that Mrs. Kolling, a social service worker, received $250 a month. He said that Mrs. Kolling was from Iowa.

Alsbury said that the audit showed the administrative expense for August to be $18,085. He testified, however, that the correct expense of administering the Bexar county relief for that month was "approximately four thousand odd dollars."

Alsbury testified that there were 664 persons on the Bexar county pgyroll on September 1. He said the aggregate salaries totaled $6,664.71. He said there were 24 employes members of the headquarters staff, receiving a total of $3,020.

Rev. Edmund H. Gibson of Galveston, who was chairman of the Galveston county relief committee prior to last month, told of out-of-town and out-of-state persons being appointed recently to help carry on the work in that county.

He expressed the belief that the ordinary community "feels a resentment against outside people coming into direst relief work."

Consideration of a bill to exempt industries operating under NRA codes from state anti-trust prosecution was sidetracked in the house today while the house debated controversial resolutions.

The anti-trust exemption bill was first on the calendar after the resolutions have been disposed of and likely will be reached later today.

Childress Man Has Bill

Included in the resolutions was one directing the state superintendent of public instruction to accept who won cash prizes, listed in the rural high school classifications as made by county boards of education. It was referred, after lengthy discussion, to the education committee.

Representative Bob Alexander of Childress, its sponsor, said he had been informed the state department of education was attempting to enforce an arbitary classification on rural schools and had threatened to withdraw rural aid next year unless the counties accepted the classification.

The resolution would interpret the rural aid law as giving county boards supreme authority in classifying schools.

order of placing were: W. H. Williams, Oldham county; Frank Weil, Hale county; C. L. Carruth, Gray; G. Z. Thomas, Hemphill; J. E. Venerable, Hemphill; Fred Weil, Hale; Ernest Guilloud, Hartley; Curtis Roach, Ochiltree, and Lester Galley, Deaf Smith.

About 30 contestants finished in spite of the drouth and general low prices for farm products. The contest is open to 27 counties of the Panhandle, and is promoted to encourage balanced faming.
