Young Scot Game For Fights

BY ALAN J. GOULD

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press).

NEW YORK, June 6. — Tommy Armour was just a lanky Scotch youth of 19, a student and fine golfing prospect at Edinburgh university, when he went to war with the famous Black Watch regiment of Highlanders in 1914.

ARMOUR

He saw some of the bitterest fighting of the conflict with the British tank corps and came home with shrapnel wounds in his leg and arm, the sight of his left eye impaired.

Wasn't Through

They said it was too bad, but Tommy's golfing days were over. Whereupon, with a Scot's determination, he came to the United States in 1920, developed one of the finest swings in the game, despite his physical handicaps, and achieved international fame.

Finding his left arm weak, Armour developed the use of his right to an extraordinary degree. By keeping it unusually close to his body, to guide the club, Tommy regained accuracy.

Laughs At Nerves

"Weren't you nervous, Tommy, when you faced that long putt for a tie with Harry Cooper?" A friend asked Armour after he had holed a 12-foot putt on the home green to tie for the 1927 American open championship at Oakmont.

"Why should I be?" Tommy replied. "I've been in plenty of tough spots. I've faced a flock of bullets and been plenty scared. Why should a little thing like a golf ball make me nervous?"

Two Factions Are Lined On Parking Laws

Controversy Looms As Commission Prepares To Make Its Decision On Two-Hour Law Now In Force Here

Petitions Signed

Twenty-Eight Firms Line Up Against Removal Of Limit While 22 Others Favor Such Action By Commission

A CONTROVERSY loomed last night over the removal of the time parking limit on streets in the business district east of Texas avenue.

The city commission last week voted to remove the two-hour parking restrictions provided merchants in the affected district desired such change. Action was taken on the matter by the commission following the presentation of a petition, bearing 60 names, asking that the parking restrictions be removed.

28 Are Opposed

Twenty-eight business establishments in the affected zone, on Texas avenue, Avenue H and facing the square, last night had indicated they were opposed to the removal of the two-hour limit for parking.

Twenty-two establishments asked that the restrictions be removed.

Petition Circulated

The petition was circulated among the merchants east of Texas avenue following the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, held here May 14, 15 and 16. It was then alleged in the petition that the east part of the business district was descriminated against in the

"Scarface Al" Now Free Under Bond Of $50,000

Head Man Of Chicago's Underworld Gives Self Up To Police After Indictment

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 5. —"Scarface Al" Capone, the head man of Chicago's underworld, was indicted by a federal grand jury today for evading the taxes on a six-year income of $1,038,654.84. Three hours later he surrendered, posted $50,000 bond and was released. As on his other recent appearances in public, the heavy set gangster was besieged by hundreds of curious persons. He slipped into the federal building and into the district court clerk's office almost unnoticed, but when he left after having his bond approved by Federal Judge John Barnes, Capone had to run a gauntlet of photographers and elude a crowd of reporters.

Since Capone surrendered on a bench warrant no date was set for his arraignment. It will be set by the court. No intimation of the probable date was given.

The charges against the notorious gang leader included two indictments and 23 counts. They were the result of a two-year investigation that led to the far corners of the country, the climax of the drive against gangster tax-dodgers captained by U. S. District Attorney George E. W. Johnson.

The indictments establish a government claim of $215,080.48 against Capone. They include six felony counts and two misdemeanors which, if successfully prosecuted, could mean a maxi-

Former State Comptroller Is Made Defendant With Others In $27,955.10 Suit Favoring State Of Texas

Echoes Forgeries

One Man Has Committed Suicide While Another Is Indicted On Nine Counts; To Make A Test Case

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 5.—James V. Allred, attorney general, late today filed suit on behalf of the State of Texas against S. H. Terrell, former comptroller, the American Surety company of New York, the surety on Terrell's bond, John W. Bowen of Dallas and Mrs. Helen Barnes of Dallas, heir to the estate of the late E. Porter Barnes, for $27,955.10 and interest.

The suit was an outgrowth of alleged witness fee certificate forgeries. Barnes committed suicide and Bowen was indicted on nine counts of forgery.

Approved Certificates

Terrell and his bondsmen were made defendants on the grounds that Terrell, as comptroller, approved the certificates and drew warrants on the state treasury in payment of them without requiring or receiving from the clerk of criminal district court number 2 of Dallas county certified copies of the minutes of that court.

Terrell therefore could not have carefully examined the certificates the petition alleged.

Suit Is Regretted

Son Of Senator Fined In Court

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 5.—Lowell Fess, 35, son of United States Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio chairman of the Republican national committee and leader of the Anti-Saloon League, today was fined $10 by a magistrate for disorderly conduct.

He was held a prisoner eight hours after being taken into custody in East 52nd street last night. Fess gave Patrolman Broderick a battle before submitting, the officer charged.

More Than 100 Grain Dealers Here For Meet

Problems Of Farmers In Lubbock And Surrounding Territories Are Discussed At All Day Session

Means of combatting foot-rot and smut in grain fields of north Lubbock county and parts of surrounding counties were discussed yesterday by H. J. Bower, professor of agronomy at Texas Technological college, at the annual grain school sponsored by the Lubbock Grain exchange.

More than 100 grain men attended the conference here, representing a territory extending from Hamlin to Plainview and from Crowell to Melrose, N. M.

Cures Are Given

Mr. Bowers indicated that foot rot might be eliminated by importing grain seed free of the disease and by planting after November 15. Some of the grain planted late in territory affected by the disease is reported to be doing well, he said.

S. E. Cone, secretary-treasurer of the Lubbock Grain exchange, discussed the importance of planting better seed in this territory.

Visitors Talk

Talks were made on their individual problems by a large number of the visiting grain men.

Actual instruction in grading grain for shipment was given at the morning session by E. L. Morris, division supervisor of federal grain inspectors in the southwestern states, of Kansas City; C. W. Griffin, federal supervisor of Texas points, of Fort Worth; R. R. Stuard federal inspector here, and J. B. Wallace, inspector at Plainview.

Lydia Nitto Describes Party Which She Attended In San Diego After Promise That She Would Get $15

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, June 5.—Lydia Nitto, the state's star witness, in the girl market case, was led by gentle cross examination late today to an admission that last year she signed an affidavit to the effect she was born in New York, July 4, 1908.

The admission struck at the roots of the complaint on which Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire showman, Jesse H. Shreve, business man, and Olive Clark Day and William Jobelmann are being tried.

Conspiracy Alleged

The state alleged the defendants conspired and did bring Miss Nitto, a minor, just 17 years old, to a hotel party here last October and that at the party they committed moral offenses against her constituting violations of the juvenile court law.

"If Miss Nitto was born in 1908 as she attested in the affidavit, when applying for work as a "taxi dancer" in Los Angeles, she was 22 years old at the time of the party here and would not come within the jurisdiction of the juvenile law, defense

Pretty Young Society Woman Bosses Town's Police Force

Officials Wrought Up At Announcement Of Appointment Of Woman Commissioner But They Are Cooling Off

By NEA Service

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 5. — Mrs. Cornelia Woolley Hopkins is just a pretty young society woman with a summer home and a lot of friends in Long Branch. She never pretended to know anything about law enforcement.

So when this town woke up the other morning to find that it had a woman police commissioner — that woman Mrs. Hopkins—officials were considerably wrought up about it.

Two Confident

All the officials, that is, except Commissioner of Public Safety Charles E. Brown, who appointed her without the knowledge of Mayor J. William Jones and the other commissioners, and Police Judge Joseph M. Rosen, who administered the oath. They thought it entirely fitting and proper that a 33-year-old woman, even if she never had been inside a police station, should be the nominal head of the town's uniformed force.

And she certainly has all the social graces of Grover Whalen, who served New York City with such distinction.

Little Inexperienced

What mattered it that Mrs. Hopkins didn't know a police blotter from the ordinary desk variety? Commissioner Brown and Judge Rosen assured the irate officials that the appointment really was an honorary one Long Branch never has had a police commissioner before. It doesn't need one now. This was just one of the little courtesies

Alcohol Given As Cause Of Negro's Death In Servant House On Friday

ROBERT AUSTIN, 38-year-old negro who was found dead in a servants' house at 2601 Nineteenth street yesterday morning, died of acute alcholism, possibly brought on by poisonous liquor, Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter ruled yesterday afternoon.

An investigation was conducted by County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson and Justice Porter. No marks of violence were found on the negro's body, Mr. Porter said.

Austin, an employe of Hotel Lubbock, was found dead by a policeman who had been informed that there was a drunken negro in the servants' house.

Cora Belle Cavitt, a negro woman living in the servants' quarters in rear of 2601 Nineteenth street, said Austin entered her house at 1 or 2 o'clock yesterday morning and went to sleep fully dressed. Unable to arouse him at 8 o'clock, she called Ernest Carter, another negro. When she could not arouse Austin, police were called.

Carter testified that he and Austin drank a large quantity of liquor, both whisky and beer, Thursday night at a dance. The woman said she had also been at the dance.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THERE'S a familiar story about the postman who spends his holidays going on a long walk. We spend our off hours looking at other papers. Sunday was devoted to the usual thing and I noticed that other society editors are writing about June, the month of weddings.

Our columns concern graduates and other events, omitting much concerning the brides, for the very obvious reason that we usually have few June weddings. In fact, Lubbock has no month for brides.

There are usually weddings at Christmastide and there are usually a few weddings immediately following the close of schools. But we have no time of the year when brides hold the attention of people for any considerable period.

Whether or not the Lubbock girls care less for the pomp of weddings than other girls and are ready to go into matrimony with the little formality that is required in New Mexico, I can't say. But the fact remains that in the course of a year we have few of these weddings where someone sings "At Dawning" and someone else plays the tum-tum-te-tum of the traditional nuptial ceremony.

It may not be the fault of the girls at all. Men may be responsible.

This dissertation isn't a complaint. Perhaps it is better to have our weddings scattered through the year than to concentrate them all in June, even though it would be a lot easier for us to find lead stories for Sunday papers.

It would sound well, you know, to start off with something about June the month of roses and brides and predict that engagements would be told every week during the month. But, in view of the dearth of engagements which we are expecting to have romantic culminations with brides and bridesmaids tripping down the aisle, it might be a bit farfetched.

However, if some Lubbock young people want to have weddings, we'll be willing to oblige with the stories.

THE WHITE SUMMER

YOU can't go wrong wearing white this summer. White, alone or with accents of vivid color, is good for day or evening, we are told repeatedly by style experts. Blue—navy to baby—is probably favored next with the light, bright colors known as fruit shades, coming next in popularity.

COTTON WEEK

THIS is national cotton week and it is one in which every woman can easily have a part. To be sensible in hot weather, we wear much that is cotton; this year it is one of the most popular of fabrics; as Southerners, we have a patriotic duty in wearing cotton at this time.

ALWAYS A SHOWMAN

THERE'S this about it, a good showman never fails to put on a show. Texas Guinan has been in the spotlight of publicity recently over her proposed invasion of Paris with her "gang" of girls. Whether or not she gets there, she has received the desired publicity through the refusal.

NECESSARY and desirable as divorce appears in many instances the Reno, Nev., record is about as disgusting as anything that has happened recently.

We are making an evil of divorce and holding up the sacredness of wedlock to ridicule when the granting of divorces become a wanton and wholesale thing.

When divorces are granted at the rate of 200 monthly, as it is predicted for Reno, there is an indication that many people are rushing into marriage without giving it much serious consideration. It means, surely, that the "death do us part" phrase has lost its meaning for many.

This prediction of 200 divorces monthly was made at the end of a month of the new six week's residence law, during which 331 divorces had been granted and 517 suits filed.

SOUNDS SENSIBLE

WHAT I know about politics could be prolifically stated in about ten seconds, but it seems to me that Cone Johnson's declaration that the Democratic party should avoid the prohibition issue in 1932 is as sensible as any suggestion that has been made.

Pair Indicted At Fort Worth

Attorney And Geologist Must Face Federal Court Charges Of Conspiracy To Obstruct Justice In Trials

FORT WORTH, June 5. (AP)—J. Forest McCutcheon, Fort Worth attorney and former assistant United States district attorney here, and D. I. (Ike) McNabb, geologist, were indicted by a grand jury in federal court today on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice, to defraud the United States and to extort money under color of office.

Three indictments charged McCutcheon and McNabb jointly and a fourth indictment, charging conspiracy to obstruct justice, named McCutcheon as the sole defendant.

Bonds for McCutcheon were set at $5,000 on each of the four indictments and bonds for McNabb were set at $1,000 on each of the three indictments in which he is named. The bonds were not posted immediately.

The indictments in which McCutcheon and McNabb were named jointly charged that the pair obtained money from oil promoters on promises of immunity from prosecution. The oil promoters included those against whom cases were pending, those being investigated by postoffice inspectors or by the grand jury.

EXPERIENCED COOKS PUT UP FRUIT IN SMALL QUANTITIES

Hills Bros. Follow Similar Rule by Roasting Coffee a Little at a Time

By adding the halves of fruit to the hot syrup a few at a time, the boiling temperature is maintained and the fruit cooks to firm, tender goodness.

This principle is apparent in Hill Bros.' process of roasting coffee and the result is a uniform, delicious flavor no other coffee has. A constant stream of expertly blended green coffee is introduced into the roaster in automatically measured lots of about three pounds. As it passes through, uniform heat roasts it a little at a time. When the operation is over, every berry is roasted to an even degree that could never be secured by any bulk-method of roasting coffee.

This process is fittingly called Controlled Roasting. It was originated and patented by Hills Bros. and develops a savory, delicious flavor that no other process can equal.

Because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum, it is always fresh. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out of the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Prison Prospect For Crops Good

CORSICANA, June 5. (AP) — Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas penitentiary system, said here today prospects for good crops on the state farms were exceptionally bright.

Large food and feed crops already have been made and cotton, planted to 20,000 acres, was doing well, Simmons said.

"We are going to live at home this year, as we have been doing the past five months," Simmons said.

He said there were approximately 5,500 prisoners in the system and that their "morale was never better." He said the prisoners were kept busy, with "little idle time on their hands."

"They all work at something," he said.

Belt Lends Flair

YOU'VE ALL heard about the costume which is "made" by a single intriguingly placed flower or splash of color, unusual ornament or whatnot.

Well, here's a frock that is "made" by its belt which is turquoise. The frock itself is one of those filmy things with simple lines and gracefully full skirt that swirls about the feet. Dimpled June Collyer, screenland player, sets it off to perfection.

Armour Replaces Bobby Jones As British Open Champ

Babe Ruth Homers For Yank Win; Cards Defeat Giants

Jurado, South American, One Stroke Behind

British Title Returns To U. S. Tenth Time In Eleven Years; "Black Scot" Does Fancy Shooting To Triumph

By FRANK H. KING

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 5. (AP)—A North American and a South American fought it out today in this cradle of golf for the British open championship and Tommy Armour, Detroit, won, shading Jose Jurado, Buenos Aires, by one stroke.

Armour, who learned his golf on the blustery links of Scotland, posted 296 for the 72 holes, with successive rounds of 73, 75, 77 and 71. He takes back to the United States the cup Bobby Jones won last year and which has been held by Americans 10 of the last 11 years.

In a great international finish which saw the leading niblick wielders of five nations in the thick of things up to almost the last putt, Tommy captured the cup it seemed certain Jurado would win. The little Argentine led the field at the end of the third round with 220, three strokes better than MacDonald Smith and Arthur Havers, the closest competitors and five strokes better than Armour.

Jurado led until the last two holes, two of the sternest test of golf in the world, through whose fairways coils and twists the rushing Barry Burn.

Prince Of Wales Looks On

With the Prince of Wales rooting for him and some 20,000 Scotsmen looking on, Jurado faltered at this graveyard of golfing hopes, sent his teeshot at the seventeenth into the babbling brook, took a six and then could get only a par five at the home hole while needing a birdie four to tie the flying Scotsman. His four rounds were 75, 71, 73 and 77.

Those two holes, the turning point for many fine golfers held no terrors for the "Black Scot" of the motor city.

Twice he made them submit to the magic of his strokes. Each time he played them in exact par—four and five—a par that was seldom reached during the four days of play.

Sarazen Follows Jurado

After Armour and Jurado came Gene Sarazen, the first of the American homebreds, and Percy Alliss, British-bred pro of a Berlin club. Each had 298. Tied for fifth place were Johnny Farrell and MacDonald Smith, of the United States, with 299. Then came the first of the British professionals, the Ryder Cupper, W. H. Davies, sharing seventh place with the Argentine youngster Marco Churio, with 300.

Henry Cotton, the hope of England and leader for two rounds, putted his way right out of the championship picture. He wound up in a tie with Arthur Havers for tenth place. Havers is the only Englishman to win a British open since 1921, when the string of American victories began. Horton Smith, Willie Hunter and Joe Kirkwood, were the last of the Americans, finishing with scores of 303, 304 and 308.

BEAUMONT, June 5.—White's triple, scoring Schuble followed by Pound 'Em Paul Easterling's line drive homer over deep left field fence in the fifth moved the Exporters one and one half games in front today at the expense of Dizzy Dean and the Houston Buffs. Tom Vaughn turned in his eighth victory and save for a bad hopper in the second and a pair of fluke singles in the seventh would have had a shutout. A crowd of 3,000 was present.

Two Dallas Golfers In Title Bout

Gus Moreland Meets Reynolds Smith In Texas Go

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BROOK HOLLOW COUNTRY CLUB, DALLAS, June 5.—The Texas Golf association will celebrate the crowning of a new champion sometime tomorrow afternoon, and the new ruler of Texas links will be either Gus Moreland, Cedar Crest Country club, or Reynolds Smith, Lakewood Country club, both of Dallas. These two 18-year-old youngsters played their way into the 36-hole grind tomorrow by triumphing in their quarter-final and semi-final matches today under ideal golf conditions. A new champion was assured because Willie Cutter Hunt, 1930 winner and Houston stylist, faded in the semi-final round this afternoon to Reynolds Smith, 3 and 2.

In morning matches, Hunt played splendid golf to beat Jack Munger Dallas, two up. Smith eliminated Louis Jacoby, Dallas, one up, in the quarter-finals.

In the morning Gus Moreland erased Bud McKinney, Del Rio, from the tournament with a parade of birdies on the 8th, 9th and 10th holes, winning 4 and 3.

Aggie Is Eliminated

Moreland eliminated Bernard Schriever, Bryan, in the afternoon round with near par golf, 5 and 3. Moreland made the turn three up, and his 34 was one under par. He was one over par for the 15 played holes.

When Moreland and Smith meet tomorrow for the championship, it will be their third tournament clash. Last February they met in the second round of the Houston Country club invitation where Moreland won 7 and 5. Last June they met in the finals of the Fort Worth River Crest invitation, and Moreland won 8 and 7, although Smith was five under par. In this match, Smith never won a hole.

Tomorrow, they will play 18 holes in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

Utilities Team Wins City Tilt

W. K. Cooper, Tech student, hurled his final City League game for the Wholesalers team yesterday and did a neat job of it, allowing three scattered hits in the six inning contest but the Texas Utilities team won the game, 2 to 1. Besides hurling a good game, striking out twelve batsmen, Cooper slashed out two-baggers in the last inning.

The scheduled five-inning game was tied in the first and Marshal's single in the sixth scored Galey to win the tilt. Galey, hurling for the winners, gave up five hits but kept them well scattered.

Southern California Sees Twelve Men In College Go

STAGG FIELD, CHICAGO, June 5. (AP)—Southern California lived up to advance notices in the qualifying tests of the tenth annual National Collegiate association track and field championships, placing 12 men for the finals tomorrow.

Wisconsin, Big Ten champion, and Iowa, each placed seven men, while Ohio State had six, and Nebraska and Indiana, five each.

No qualifying rounds will be played in the California state championship golf tournament at Del Monte in September.

Erickson, Whelan. Base on balls: Erickson 1, Collard 1. Struck out, by Erickson 3, Collard 3. Double plays: Fowler to Yaryan to Brown, Fowler to Brown, Erickson to Mueller to Whelan. Stolen bases: Geygan, McClanahan 2. Time 1:50. Umpires: Basil and Barr.

Progress Made In Efforts To Establish Pro Ball Club Here

League Officials Called To Meeting In Amarillo Next Wednesday; Alvin Gardner To Be Present

More progress was made yesterday toward the establishing of a professional baseball club here as a member of the Panhandle Professional Baseball league, according to Harry Wanderling, holder of the franchise and named manager of the club. Wanderling stated that Lubbock has until Wednesday at noon to raise sufficient funds for league membership and operating expenses to begin.

A telegram from J. Alvin Gardner, president of the league and president of the Texas League, informed Wanderling yesterday that a meeting of league officials would be called in Amarillo next Wednesday, at which time definite reports from all the four clubs in the league must be made. Amarillo, Pampa and Clovis have already been assured teams through the efforts of leading business men in those cities.

Wanderling stated to the Avalanche yesterday that it was not his intention to hold the franchise here, but to turn it over to a local man or group of men who shall handle all finances, himself working on a straight salary, paid by the league, as manager of the club.

Clara Bow To Take Vacation

Red-Headed Actress Declares She Will Seek New Vigor At Her Nevada Ranch; Plans To Return To Movies

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 5. (AP) Clara Bow's rest from the trials and tribulations of film life and the exciting experiences of other adventures into which it has led her is going to be completed on her ranch in Nevada.

Friends said last night she had left a sanitarium which she entered some weeks ago on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and soon would go to the desert to complete the search for new vim, vigor and vitality for return to film work.

"I feel a little better," she told friends, "and will leave for my Nevada ranch at the end of next week with my nurse for an indefinite rest." The ranch is near Las Vegas.

And that journey is going to take place, picture contract or not. She did not discuss the question of her contract with Paramount studio or the recent statements by B. P. Schulzberg, general manager, that she had asked to be released and probably would be.

She added quickly, however, that if she were released it would not mean the end of her film career. When health returns, she said, she will come back to Hollywood and more pictures.

Resignation Of Guy Considered

The resignation of Charles A. Guy as chairman of the newly organized city plan commission will be submitted to the city commission for action at its next meeting, city officials announced yesterday.

Mr. Guy requested that his resignation become effective immediately. Press of business matters makes it impossible for him to serve on the board, Mr. Guy said in his letter to the mayor and city commission.

Mr. Guy, who is editor and publisher of the Avalanche and Journal, was named chairman of the plan commission on April 1.

Dean Defended In School Row

University Of Kansas Officials Declare That Dean Werner Is Efficient; Attorney Also Has Praise

OLATHE, Kas., June 5. (AP)—University of Kansas officials and law enforcement heads at Lawrence, site of the school, today defended Henry Werner, dean of men, accused by a district judge of not safeguarding students from temptation to violate liquor laws.

Judge G. A Roberds, in sentencing E. E. Tate and George Tooley, Kansas City students at the university to six months each in the county jail here yesterday, declared Dean Werner was at fault.

Tate and Tooley also were fined $300 each. They were arrested last February in an automobile with several quarts of liquor in their possession and said they were taking the contraband to Lawrence for a fraternity party.

Chancellor E. H. Lindley of the university, praised Dean Werner as "most efficient."

County Attorney Frazier said "I have not always received the cooperation of all students at K. U., but Werner always has been ready to aid me officially and has done so on many an occasion."

Details Of Program Given Consideration At Meeting

Details of the program for the annual 4-H club rally, to be held at Shallowater, June 12, were discussed last night at a conference between D. F. Eaton, county agent, and 4-H club leaders.

The meeting next week will be in connection with the county farm bureau conference to be held in the community house at Shallowater.

Cuba Election Returns Wrong

Failure Of 105 Inspectors To Report Returns Brings An Investigation; Secretary Heading Probe

MANILA, June 5. (AP)—Failure of 105 election inspectors to report returns promptly and the appearance of an error in the tabulations of a newspaper on results of Tuesday's elections caused the secretary of the interior, Honorio Ventura, to start an investigation.

Alfonso Mendoza, a radical party candidate, asked the investigation when the Manila Tribune announced he had been elected representative from the south district of the city. Official returns at the time showed 37 precincts had not reported in accordance with the law and that Prudencio Remigion, Nacionalista candidate, was leading Mendoza.

Police immediately began a search for the 105 inspectors in charge of the missing precincts and by this afternoon had rounded up all but a few.

Some inspectors said they were ignorant of the law and had delivered the returns to the wrong authorities. Others said they had gone home, intending to report the returns later.

The Tribune said its statement that Mendoza had won was due to an error in tabulation.

Two Are Released By County Court

Myrtle Thompson, negro, was acquitted of a charge of theft yesterday by a county court jury.

The woman was arrested Thursday by the sheriff's department after a complaint had been filed against her by a medicine and cosmetic salesman. The complaining witness said the negro woman stole the money off of him while he was trying to sell her some medicinal preparations.

Guy Watkins, charged with vagrancy, also was acquitted in county court yesterday. Watkins appealed a $40 fine assessed against him recently in corporation court. He was freed upon an instructed verdict.

Yesterday's cases ended the criminal docket in Judge E. L. Pitts' court for the week.

An Opportunity For Spur

ANNOUNCEMENT that the management of Spur Inn, long one of the famous hostelries of the cattle country, will pass from the hands of the Swenson interests to A. C. Cooper, of Stamford, again calls attention to the fact that in Spur Inn Dickens county has a potential resort hotel.

One of the beauty spots of this section and steeped in the lore of the early days, Spur Inn appeals to the imagination as a place where people should like to go for rest and recreation. Add to its direct appeal some tennis courts, a few saddle horses and a large swimming pool and the Inn would doubtless beckon to hundreds seeking surcease from the trials of the work-a-day world. A good golf course is already in Spur.

Tucked away at the edge of the Caprock, Spur itself is an alluring, beckoning little city. Rolling hills and a fair sprinkling of trees and shrubs add to its fascination, leaving only man's innovations to make of it a resort center.

As The Avalanche sees it, this country needs a resort of the type that can be easily and inexpensively built up in Spur and about Spur Inn. It would be fine should citizens of the Dickens county capital decide to try the plan.

STATE HEALTH CRUSADES

Under the direction of experienced nurses, a public health campaign will be waged in Lubbock, Hockley, Lamb and Parmer counties over the period of the next eight to fourteen months. The State Department of Public Health announces that every effort will be made to safeguard the health of the citizenship, especial attention to be made to school children.

Whatever be its faults along other lines, the state organization is planning a practcial move in campaigning for health. Without health, life is scarcely worth living; without health the individual cannot accomplish a great deal—either for himself or for his fellow man.

Beginning the crusade with the children is likewise a logical move. Many slight ailments can be corrected in youth and if they are not corrected may grow to the gravest kind of infirmities in old age.

The Morning Avalanche is glad to see a portion of the state's money spent in such laudable work. If only one person, out of the hundreds to be seen is benefitted it will be worth the cost.

A BETTER ETHICAL TONE

Two decades ago the business interests of the country undertook searching self-regulation to enforce by publicity persuasion and other constructive means observance of the fair-play principle in merchandising and advertising. This movement since known as the National Business Bureau, lately has received the additional support and reinforcement from a national committee composed of 37 representative business and industrial executives.

There is profound wisdom in this attempt of business to right its methods from within and by force of its own good sense and higher motives. The whole system of advertising, whereby one offering goods or services to the public sets forth himself the merits of his wares, lends itself to exaggeration and unwarranted pretensions. The damage of such untruthfulness usually affects only the advertiser, yet in certain cases public health and the general welfare of society may be involved.

It is encouraging that modesty, good judgment and wholesome restraint is prevailing among the best business elements and the desire to suppress flagrant abuses is achieving a degree of success. In the long run, experience has proved that the most powerful advertising sticks to demonstrable truth. The advertising that brings satisfactory returns must confine its aims to educating and informing the public in matters of business which return to the public a full dollar of value for every dollar induced to be spent.

Trying to get even usually makes a man look odd.

The man who hates to be told how to run his car is often grateful for driving lessons at the golf links.

God made the country, picnic parties messed it up that way.

Practical Health Problems

POISON FROM PLANTS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Everyone knows that some varieties of mushrooms are poisonous, but few people realize that many other plants are dangerous to eat or dangerous to contact.

According to Dr. E. O. Jordan, there are several thousand poisonous plants in the world and one authority in Michigan lists 156 poisonous plants growing in that state. Poison ivy is much more dangerous to some people than to others, because there is apparently a special sensitivity to it. Domestic animals eat poison ivy apparently without harm.

A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture listed 30 important poisonous plants growing in the United States. He mentions the leaves of the false hellebore, from which a drug is made. The fruit pulp of the Kentucky coffee tree has been mistaken for that of the honey locust. Daffodil bulbs taken as a food are poisonous. The monkshood root has been taken by mistake for horseradish. From the monkshood root is made one of the most powerful drugs and poisons known.

Children have been reported as eating the shoots of mountain laurel, mistaking it for wintergreen. Black henbane seeds or the berries of the deadly nightshade are also sources of serious poisons.

The castor oil bean contains ricin, one of the most powerful poisons known, and the eating of these beans has caused the death of children. A single castor bean has caused dangerous symptoms within five minutes in an adult; three beans have caused serious illness, and a case is on record in which five beans when eaten caused death. The dangerous poison of the castor oil bean, which is ricin, is not, of course, the same as the purgative substance present in castor oil.

A case is cited in which 32 boys from a Brooklyn orphan asylum ate bark stripped from black locust posts that were being used in putting up a fence. All of the boys vomited, had high fever and dilated pupils, but fortunately none of them died. The hemlock is known as a poison since the time when the famous philosopher drank of it and since the time when the Greeks used it to put criminals to death.

Sour-grass is rich in oxalic acid, and the substance appears also in coca powder, pepper, spinach and rhubarb. There are cases in which the eating of rhubarb has caused oxalic-acid poisoning. It results particularly when the rhubarb leaves happen to be used as greens. Several deaths are reported from this cause. There are also cases of serious illness from eating the leaf stalks.

Potatoes prematurely harvested, soft potatoes or those that turn green on exposure to light contain a toxic substance which is also present in the deadly nightshade and which can produce serious illness as well as death. Fortunately the number of deaths from all of these causes is small.

Wealth Said Danger

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Concentration of wealth about which we hear so much!

When all the wealth is concentrated—then what?

Senator Gerald P. Nye

"We may well ask ourselves that question," says Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota.

"We are in the habit," he continued, "of thinking of agriculture as in the farmers' hands; of the industries as in the hands of the manufacturers and utility managements.

"The fact is that these folk are mere agents for the great bankers who finance our whole system of production and distribution.

"The entire country works, for the bankers to squeeze out the profits."

"IN RECENT years," said the senator, "the profits have been squeezed out so fast and so thoroughly, for the bankers' benefit, that at last the country is unable to produce them at a rate to keep up with the squeezing out process.

"This threatens disaster to the bankers themselves.

"It threatens them with disaster because they need an active, industrious public, seething with enterprises for them to put their money into, in order to make it yield further profits—to be squeezed out in turn, and reinvested. The country already is so utterly squeezed out, however, that there is no activity left in it. Hence most of their wealth remains on the bankers' hands—in the form of "frozen assets."

"Frozen assets are almost as troublesome in banking as insufficient assets to meet liabilities.

"THE BANKERS," complained the North Dakotan "not only have squeezed all the profits out of agriculture; they are squeezing the original capital out of it, and appropriating that also.

"To say nothing of getting ahead, the average farmer is unable even to make a living. In trying to live at all, he runs into debt. Unavoidably falling farther and farther behind, finally he loses his property. The mortgagee forecloses on it. But what is the mortgagee going to do with it? No other farmer is in a position to take it. As an asset, it is frozen solid."

The remedy?

"For farmers who are not yet dispossessed," answered the senator, "the most effective immediate relief can be afforded by government loans at very low rates, permitting them to cancel the private obligations incurred upon terms under which they inevitably will forfeit their homes soon, in the grip of present economic conditions.

"Ultimately a radical readjustment of national wealth will be necessary."

"THE INDUSTRIES," said the Dakota solon, "present a different but just as serious a problem.

"The dire distress of the railroads illustrates it.

"In the course of years our transportation lines, in addition to all their profits, have had their actual values squeezed out of them again and again, until the nominal value of their repeatedly watered stocks bears no relation to the sums really invested.

"It is the aggregate of more than three generations of these successive dilutions that the public of today is asked to accept as the basis for a stiff increase in railroad rates—that dividends and interest may be paid upon billions of securities representing, in great part, nothing whatever."

"OF COURSE," said the senator, "I oppose the increase.

"If it is refused, the impression we are giving is that railroad stock dividends will begin to be passed; that shares will slump; that an avalanche of selling will ensue, with complete market disorganization; next that bonds may be defaulted, causing receiverships; ultimately that the roads will be dumped, frozen, upon the bankers' doorsteps.

"The bankers' idea is that a rate increase will avert this calamity. A normal measure of profit squeezing having proved inadequate in such hard times, they want the public squeezed harder yet."

"THE PUBLIC cannot stand it, for one thing," declared Senator Nye, "and the plan would fail, in any event. Profits practically are all squeezed out for the present, and no amount of squeezing will squeeze out more of what does not exist.

"Possibly there is truth in predictions concerning what will happen if the railroads are denied a rate increase.

"The same prediction might be made concerning other industries. Quite generally they are about wrung dry. They cannot be saved by more energetic wringing. Let that method be followed, and when the bankers have squeezed out the last drop, the whole system will crash."

"THE HELP which agriculture needs," said the Dakotan, "will not fit the industries, which imperatively require a larger, more widely-diffused purchasing power.

"Personally, I favor a public improvement program sufficient to put in circulation up to five or six billions of dollars, to be raised by a tax upon swollen fortunes. It will be described as confiscation, no doubt. Very well, call it that.

"Parenthetically, I may say that Colonel Arthur Woods, until recently President Hoover's director of unemployment, is said to have broken with the president because of his advocacy of such a plan as I mention, but limited to two billions, which Mr. Hoover would not indorse. My own criticism of it is simply that two billions is not nearly enough.

"Our salvation, in my opinion, depends upon the taking of a vast amount of wealth from the few hands in which it has become concentrated, and redistributing it."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE CITY OF LONDON DOES NOT HAVE A MOVIE HOUSE.—The City of London with its 675 acres of area, and less than 100,000 inhabitants, is only one of the 28 boroughs of the capital of Great Britain. The true name of the English metropolis, with its teeming millions of inhabitants, is the Administrative County of London. There are hundreds of cinemas located in the metropolis but not a single one within the limits of the City of London.

EVERY INSECT HAS ONLY THREE PAIRS OF LEGS.—The class Insecta of Linnaeus (1758) was coextensive with the Arthropoda of modern zoologists. The general practice for many years past among naturalists has been to restrict the terms "Insecta" and "insect" to the class of Arthropods with three pairs of legs in the adult condition. Bees, flies, moths, bugs, grasshoppers and springtails are insects, but not spiders, centipedes nor crabs, far less earthworms, and still less slugs, starfishes or coral polyps. BEGIN HERE TODAY

BERYL BORDEN, secretly in love with TOMMY WILSON, discovers that he is planning to elope with her half-sister, IRENE EVERETT.

Beryl and her "gang" kidnap Tommy and take him into the country where she urges him to continue in college and not break the heart of his aunt, MRS HOFFMAN, who is financing him. Failing to convince him, Beryl lets Tommy return to her sister. Irene, enraged at the long wait, refuses to listen to his explanation and postpones the elopement.

Next day Tommy goes fishing with his uncle and finds Beryl and her gang on the Beach. One of teh boys, ANGIE, slips away from the crowd and is carried out by the tide. Tommy and Beryl rescue him and she is arrested while speeding for a doctor. However, when the officer understands he helps get the doctor and soon Angie is out of danger. Tommy scolds Beryl and she resents it.

NO WGO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VI

Beryl was about to drive away when she called back over her shoulder to Tommy: "You'd better come along as far as the garage and bring your uncle's car back."

Tommy had glanced out at the boat where he knew his uncle must be fuming and in some difficulty. "Maybe I had," he agreed. "You could send it out but he'd be sore if a stranger drove it and I guess he's had about enough fishing for today anyway."

"I'm sorry your day is spoiled," Beryl apologized as he climbed in with the boys in the back seat. She was glad the mechanic who had brought her car was in the front seat with her—she could at least pretend that Tommy would have sat there if there'd been room for him. "I'm just that big a fool," she thought, "although I know he wouldn't."

The mechanic got out with Tommy when they reached the garage at the cross-roads, it being the place where he was employed. Beryl was infinitely relieved to learn of this fact. It made settling her bill for the new tire much easier. The garage owner knew Mr. Hoffman well and accepted without question Beryl's promise to send him the money.

"See that you go straight home and don't get into any more trouble on the way," Tommy said to her in parting.

"You needn't blame me for everything that happens," Beryl snapped back at him.

"No?" he replied, and his inflection said he did. He was thinking that if she'd minded her own business this would be his wedding day. But say, it was Sunday. Guess they couldn't have got a license on Sunday. Funny nobody'd thought about that. Oh, well, they could have spent the day with Irene's friends and planned the ceremony in peace. It didn't take so much planning, though. All you had to do was go somewhere and get a license—yet Aunt Em and Beryl tried to make a big thing out of it. Of course—but it was a gamble anyway, so most people said. That was a funny thing, too. They'd admit that, and then they'd tell you to wait until you were sure you knew what you were doing.

Tommy wished he could make Irene feel as sure as he felt. But he supposed it was natural for a girl to be more reluctant to take the final step. Poor Irene, she probably was thinking he didn't love her.

"Say, watch your step," the mechanic yelled at him as he was about to back his uncle's car into a big sedan, and Tommy was compelled to take his mind off Irene until he got on the open road.

The thought that she might be disappointed at his non-appearance during the day stuck with him, even to the point of making him impervious to his uncle's verbal assaults when at last he joined him on the fishing boat.

Tommy stood dripping from his swim out, and listened with a vacant, dreamy expression that exasperated his uncle almost beyond worlds—almost, but not quite. It could have been quite for all the attention Tommy vouchsafed him.

It ended with Mr. Hoffman giving up thought of further fishing on that day and they went home.

Tommy hurried into his best suit and over to Irene's house. But he did not find her at home. Mrs. Everett told him she was at the Reeds.

"She's got some wonderful news," she added importantly. "Miss Spangle telephoned this morning —but there, I'm sure she'd want to tell you about it herself. Anyway she had to rush right over to practice with Mrs. Reed. She's Irene's accompanist, you know," she explained, quite unnecessarily, for Tommy knew it as well as she. But she liked the word; it made Irene seem so much more a singer to have an accompanist.

A strange feeling of uneasiness welled up in Tommy. If Irene was at the Reeds' house she would hear about his part in the rescue of Angie before he himself could tell her of it. She wouldn't like the way Beryl was mixed up in it. And he couldn't blame her, either, because she seemed forever to be getting mixed up in things with Beryl.

"Guess I'll go over there," he said to Mrs. Everett and hurried away before she could tell him he mustn't interfere with the vocal-

DULL HEADACHE, BILIOUS FEELING

Dizzy and Nauseated In The Morning — Relieved After Taking Black-Draught.

"Two years ago, I began to suffer with a dull, sick headache," writes Mrs. John Dodd, of 719 ... Street, Charleston, W. Va. "... bilious and would get up in the morning feeling dizzy and ... seated.

"My color was pale and my complexion was bad. I felt that all trouble was caused from constipation.

"I told a friend how bad I felt and she told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught. I began taking it on her recommendation. I soon found it was helping me very much. I began to feel like I had more energy. It relieved constipation, and after that I had no more trouble. When I need a medicine for constipation, I take Black-Draught."

"I found that Black-Draught was good for biliousness and constipation," writes Mrs. E. F. Caughy, of 706 S. Elm Street, Sherman, Texas. "It is as good a home remedy as one can find. I prefer it because it is a vegetable medicine which helps to rid the system of poison and keep the body in good order."

re was quite a lot of commo- at the Reed house. Angie was nly child and the thought that ad nearly lost him drove his er close to hysteria.

yl had tried to quiet her but made that impossible, being oked to an outburst of temper he interruption of her voice you could only realize that in this day and age a girl has ght to act like a wild Indian. would spare your friends and family a lot of trouble and hu- tion," she declared hotly.

yl did not answer. She was g Mrs. Reed what they must or Angie.

ook at you!" Irene went on. ving all over Long Island in a ing suit. It's a wonder you t get arrested."

w say," Angie put in, "who'd t Miss Beryl? Besides we didn't any cops on the way home."

's a good thing you didn't," insisted, "or we'd be thor- ly disgraced by now."

e must get Angie to bed," said to Mrs. Reed.

gie developed a sudden trucu- e. "I don't want a lot of women n' over me," he protested. "I t my Daddy."

h, where is Charlie?" Mrs. d wailed, her thought, like her , leaping to the man of the ly. "Someone must find him!" d then the telephone rang. The ilies of the other boys in the y were beginning to call in to about Angie. Even Beryl was cely equal to this situation. when Tommy walked into it turned to him in obvious relief. 'm glad you've come," she said h unaffected sincerity. "We t do a thing with Angie!"

ommy looked beyond her at e who sat at the piano, picking song melodies.

rene glanced at him over her lder. "Oh, now that you've t," she said, with a sneering ac- on the pronoun, "everything be lovely. You and Beryl . . ." voice trailed away in a mean- that was not lost on Tommy.

I came over for you," he said de- sively.

But you will remain to help ryl get herself out of this latest as," she tossed back with a false ile.

Beryl saw herself being left high d dry in time of need. "Please, mmy," she said boldly, "just go and tell Angie you'll find his her for him. Mrs. Reed is only citing him more every minute. 'll listen to you—you're a hero to n since you saved his life."

Tommy felt the responsibility. 'Will you wait for me?" he asked ne. "I've got something to talk you about."

"Yes?" Irene mocked, then sur- ed him by adding: "Don't be long. I've something to tell you ."

Tommy started up the stairs. ich were in the living room and ryl was about to follow when she ught an expression on Irene's ce that halted her. It accused her plain as words of running after mmy. She thought for a second two of turning back, then she ent on, hurrying, and caught up th Tommy as he reached the door Angie's room.

"I'll get his mother out," she said ftly, "and you will find his fa- her, won't you?"

Tommy walked over to the bed ithout answering. "I'll look after ngie," he said to Mrs. Reed. You'd better go with Beryl and lie own."

The way her son greeted Tommy eassured his mother. She got up om the side of the bed, but seem- d reluctant to go. "You'll rub his gs and back good?" she asked oubtfully.

Tommy nodded and Beryl led her o her own room. There she real- ed that some of the charges rene had brought against her in rs. Reed's hearing had taken per- anent lodging in the latter's ind. "I'm afraid Charlie will blame e for letting Angie go to the beach thout one of us going," she said. Beryl felt the wound of the un- spoken accusation—that she had ailed in her charge. That is what Irene had said, in other words. It was not the first time Irene had in- imated to the parents of her gang that she was a risk, but there'd never been anything to bear her out before this. Suppose they agreed with Irene—and broke up her gang! Beryl turned hurriedly away from the thought. Why! those kids were the biggest thing in her life . . . except . . . there was a queer, warm feeling at her heart as her mind pictured Tommy in the near- by room ministering to Angie. Tom- my would make a nice father.

Mrs. Reed looker at her, startled as she laughed aloud, a laugh ab- ruptly stilled, as though it had sur- prised Beryl herself.

"I don't see—" Mrs. Reed was about to say that she didn't see anything amusing in a husband's displeasure when a call from below came up to them. It was Irene.

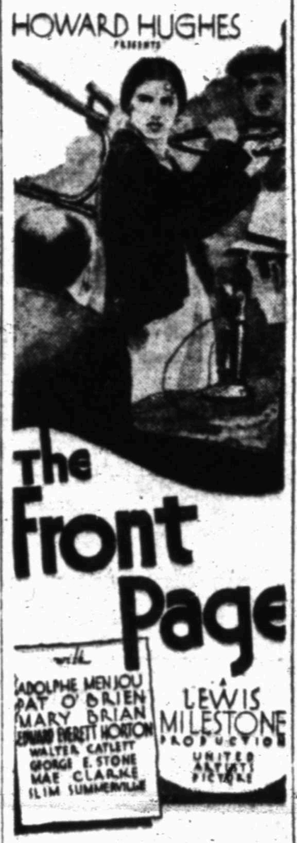

"Tommy, I'm leaving," she shout- ed. Then, "I have to go, Mrs. Reed. Maybe Mother can come over and help you."

Beryl's eyes flashed angrily, but Mrs. Reed found an excuse for Irene's selfishness. "She must be anxious to tell Tommy her good news," she said meekly.

Cotton Cotton Market Erratic Friday — Livestock Active Demand Made For Hogs — Grain Prices Up With Dry Prospects

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 5. (AP)—The cotton market was erratic today fluctuating nervously and apparently following the course of stocks. The market closed steady at net loses of 21 to 23 points.

Liverpool came in 6 to 8 penny points worse than due and private cables reported that shorts covered and the market was held in check by favorable weather in the south. Manchester cabled that there was an improved cloth inquiry from India, Egypt and Africa.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 5. (AP)—Cotton prices moved in a very feverish manner today, closing barely steady with prices at the low of the day at net losses of 18 to 22 points.

The buying proved less aggressive than on Wednesday or Thursday, however, and when the stock market reacted in the afternoon, prices gave way rapidly, July sinking to 8.34 and October to 8.96.

The absence of response in the textile markets to the recent advance in the raw material, was a disappointment to the trade, although continued favorable comments were heard relative to the export movement and houses with international connections declared that at present price differences, American cotton has a much better chance of competing with cotton of foreign growthr than with the case of last season. In fact it was said some foreign spinners which had used India cotton last year are showing a preference to American grades.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock; Dairy Products—Ball Ice Cream company and Mistletoe Creameries; Grain—Cone Grain and Seed company following prices being asked by Lubbock grain dealers Cotton — Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

from behind to beat Cooper in the playoff. It was conspicuous in his par-cracking last round at Carnoustie today to win the British open golf championship.

Tommy likes to gamble for high stakes in golf. He is a great "money player." He has a keen "poker face" and plays a fine hand of bridge. He usually crowns his black thatch with a straw on the links. They call him the "Black Scot." He is 36 years old, blunt and plain-spoken.

The new British champion came here as an amateur in 1920. He turned pro six years ago because he needed a job. He accepted his first prize money in the Texas open in the winter of 1924-25 and then won the Florida West Coast open from a star field. He is the only professional star who has won all four of the major national events available to them—The American open and P. G. A. tournaments, the British open and Canadian open.

Tests of waters that flow from springs in Stone Mountain, Ga., have shown that they contain almost twice the radio active properties of Germany's most famous radium-fed springs.

Financial Circles Continue Holding Better Spirits; Rails Lead Upward

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 5. (AP) — Financial markets generally succeeded in holding their better spirits today.

Stocks had little trouble in holding off a decline on profit-taking, although there was enough of a reaction just at the close to make final prices moderately lower in most instances. Bonds worked upward, led by the rails and many foreigns. Gloomy crop reports from the Canadian northwest boosted wheat in Chicago where the volume was the largest since last November.

Trading in shares was considerably calmer, for realizing went forward in some volume and there was also selling by professionals who thought the rally was approaching a climax. But the market was not so easily discouraged, and rails led a lively afternoon rally.

character of the stories Lincoln told.

Were They Obscene?

Were they obscene? Dr. Brill is right in saying that at the worst they were extremely tame in comparison to what we hear nowadays on the stage and in the drawing rooms. His stories undoubtedly were the type told in his time in the primitive and rather gross society from which he sprang. That should be expected. Probably they changed little throughout his life, for Lincoln was never really at home in a society which had been subjected to the restraints and refinements imposed by what we call cultivation. He was too natural and honest a human being easily to curb his tongue or change his ways.

It should be remembered, too, that, in the Civil war, it was the habit to tack his name on to all kinds of jokes and stories, even to publish collections gathered from right and left under the name of "Old Abe."

I have never been able to trace to him with evidence worth accepting a story I could not repeat—to a decent-minded listener. I think it quite possible that when Dr. Holland said that the whole west was full of his gross stories he was really saying that every ancient and obscene yarn re-told was begun, to give it freshness,—"Here is a new Lincoln story" — it is a common enough habit.

I have sometimes suspected, too, that those who insisted on his grossness might have been finding what they looked for—and enjoyed—that it was rather their obscenity than his that was behind the story.

There is another bit of evidence which Dr. Brill uses which needs qualification. In talking of Lincoln's father Tom, he overlooks as did Senator Beveridge, his chief authority, the rather extensive documentary evidence collected and published by Dr. Louis Warren proving that Tom Lincoln was neither as illiterate nor shiftless as most of his biographers would like to have us believe — a literary device to throw his son's greatness into still higher light, making him more of a "mystery."

However, Dr. Brill has written a careful and interesting paper and best of all provocative.

gaining consciousness.

The gun, a .22 calibre rifle, was kept in a corner of the room, Mrs. Hurst said. It had not been disturbed when she left for the kitchen, she told investigators.

The boy is survived by his parents, two sisters, Miss Mary Hurst, Fort Worth, and Miss Joan Hurst, Lamesa, and a brother, Jack Hurst, editor of a newspaper at Hale Center. The youth's father is connected with a newspaper at Abernathy. He formerly owned the Dawson County Journal printing establishment here.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight, but it is thought that the services will be held at the home Saturday.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, June 5. (AP)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by an active demand for hogs with prices firm to mostly 10-20 higher. Although there was some improvement in the outlet for fresh pork cuts the chief strengthening factor in the live market was light receipts. Total offerings were around 62,000 against 56,441 a week ago.

Killing classes of sheep continued to meet a slow outlet at prices unevenly to 25 lower. Supplies approximated 32,500 an increase of 3,000 over last Friday.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, June 5. (AP)—Hogs—700; truck hogs steady to 5 higher; truck top 6.35 to small killers; bulk better grades 270-230 lb. truck hogs 6.15@6.25; few 309 lb. butchers 5.75; packing sows 4.50@4.75, or steady.

Cattle: 1,500; most classes cattle about steady; packer demand rather quiet, steer sales 4.25@6.15; good cows at latter price; strong weight fed steers around 5.35 @5.50; good fat cows up to 4.00; trade in bulls and stock mostly nominal; slaughter calves and vealers steady; good strong weight fat calves 6.50; other weighty averages around 5.00 and less, few lots good to choice vealers 7.50@8.25.

mum sentence of 32 years and fine of $80,000.

The income received by Capone from his liquor, vice and gambling interests was much larger than the indictments indicate, Johnson's assistants said, the figures showing only what the government is prepared to prove.

Capone is the last of the leaders of his big syndicate to face the government's income tax charges. His brother, Ralph, has been sentenced to three years and has an appeal now pending. Sam Guzik, brother of Jack and another Capone aide, surrendered today to start serving one year and a day. Frank Nitti, treasurer of the gang, is serving an 18 months sentence at Leavenworth.

that may be shown to valued citizens.

But there were a lot of old meanies who were quick to raise objections. Solicitor Edwards, called on for expert opinion, declared the appointment was illegal, since Brown had delegated the duties of his own office, an elective one, to Mrs. Hopkins.

The town commission, most of it, anyway, promised to do something to bring an early end to her rule. Why, there was even a rumor that she intended issuing an order against any sort of censorship of bathing suits on the beach!

As for Mrs. Hopkins herself, she had little to say. Her new job offered no interference with her routine of bridge and motoring and golf. The police department went right on functioning in its usual efficient fashion, and the few officers who knew her drew themselves up in smart salute whenever her car went by.

treated at the West Texas hospital.

Boy Will Recover

Although described as serious, hospital attendants said that McCoy should recover.

Williams and the members of his troop were injured when their automobile, said to have been driven by the scoutmaster, collided with an oil truck at Fifth street and Avenue Q. The collision occurred during a wind storm at about 9 o'clock last night.

The automobile in which the scouts were riding did not turn over, but some of the occupents were thrown from the machine, some of the scouts said.

STATEMENT ISSUED

AUSTIN, June 5. (AP)—Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, today issued a statement showing the net balance in the general revenue fund at the close of business yesterday was $385,889.68. The balance in the treasury was $770,736.35 with outstanding warrants $484,846.67, Lockhart said.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 5. (AP)—Reports that tremendous moisture shortage had brought Canadian crops face to face with disaster made wheat prices jump today. The Canadian growers' pool estimated the condition of Canadian wheat at only 75 per cent normal compared with 90 a year ago and 96 in 1929. It was announced that 18,000,000 acres, four fifths of all the wheat land of the prairie provinces, were affected and that only adequate rains within ten days could save the crop.

Wheat closed nervous, at 3-4 to 1 3-8 cents gain, corn 3-4 off to 1-8 up, oats 1-8 to 1-4 advanced, and provisions showing 17 to 37 cents gain.

Sam Spikes

kum county, whose grandfather and Fred Spikes' grandfather were the same person, making him a second cousin of the plaintiff; J. W. Elliott of Tucumcari, a resident of Floyd county in the 90's and who lived 25 miles from the Spikes boys in New Mexico 29 years ago, and Knox Patterson, a lawyer and state senator of Grant county, Utah, a cowboy near Mesa Redonda 30 years ago.

Tell of Residence

Sam Spikes testified as to the facts of the residence of himself and brothers in Crosby county from 1890 until the time they went over into New Mexico. He said he was not present at the killing of his brothers, being at home. "I left New Mexico in 1903, I do not remember the month," he stated in his deposition, adding he did not recall how his brothers left after the killing, or when. "All cattle" of the brothers were together, he testified, adding, "We all worked together." Each brother worked his own cattle. The several brands of the brothers were detailed, Jeff and John having two brands and the others one. John Spikes married, lived with his family; Dick, Ernest and himself lived together and Jeff and Fred lived together. "We all worked together — there were no partnerships," he stated. They had around 800 cows and traded mostly at Hereford. Some of the boys carried guns, sometimes all carried guns and sometimes they carried Winchesters. He denied the implication that he was "afraid" of John. He saw Henry Hawkins a few times but to his knowledge his brothers did not associate with Hawkins.

He knew the general reputation of John Spikes was "good," and never heard of his being a cow thief.

No Spikes "Gang"

"Do you claim to be one of the Spikes brothers mentioned?" he was asked on cross-examination. "I do," he replied. "There was no Spikes gang," he declared.

J. E. Wayne testified he and his father and brother bought the cattle of John and Dick Spikes from the widow of John Spikes and of Jeff Spikes. "There were about 1,400," he explained and they "bought them on range delivery without counting them." They were left on the range for three years; some were there for as long as 15 years and he never found evidence of any being stolen or of any one claiming them. Also there were no burned brands.

Rustling Was Common

Wayne said he went to school with Dick and Sam and was a casual acquaintance of the others. He was in sympathy with the boys.

On cross examination by defendant he admitted rustling was common and all cattle rustlers were in sympathy with each other and those opposed with each other. John and Dick lived in a rock house with windows high in the top.

In Crosby county Wayne testified, he knew "John Spikes was not allowed at the wagons of the St. Louis Cattle company at roundups." After the killings he said at the house of Jeff Spikes he found two cheap watches, five cheap rings and $54 in silver.

Knew Brothers

Tom Harling said he helped organize Lubbock county and knew John, Dick, Jeff, Fred, Ernest and Sam; personally knew John and Jeff and they all had good reputations as upright citizens. They were not "dangerous" he said.

"Then did not have a bad reputation while I knew them," witness said in refering to Jeff and John. He worked with them on the range, he said.

Mrs. Felix Franklin lived in Crosby county near Emma from 1887 to 1895 and knew all six of the boys. Their general reputation was good and "I never heard their reputation questioned," she testified. She had been at their home, she added. On cross-examination by defendant Mrs. Franklin said she was related by marriage, her second cousin having married Jeff Spikes. She admitted when she first met the boys over 35 years ago they were young.

Reputations Good

A. E. Hume, who with his partner R. L. Stringfellow had one of the first mercantile establishments on the plains, lived at Estacado and Emma, leaving there in 1895. "I knew all of the Spikes boys intimately they did business with us," he testified, adding they had a good reputation. On cross-examination he said he did not know much about their general reputation, especially in Eastern New Mexico.

J. W. "Wes" Dalton, lived in Crosby county from 1887 to 1892 and in Lubbock county from 1892 to 1924 and knew the boys personally, having lived 10 or 12 miles from them. Once he lived two miles from John Spikes. He ran cattle and knew their general reputation as being "good." Bud Lee and Sam Gholson he also knew and they had good reputations. Mrs. Dalton gave almost the same testimony.

Grew Up With Boys

Mrs. Annie Adams lived in Crosby county from 1890 to 1893 and "grew up" with some of the boys. She visited in their home and did not consider them a "ang." In eastern New Mexico, where she lived near Mesa Redonda for two years, their reputation was considered "good."

On cross-examination she said they were fellow students and schoolmates. She had talked to them since. D. R. Cusenaux was her brother.

Eva Dudley lived in Crosby county from 1891 to 1899, knew John, Dick and Fred, "knew them all the time I was there" and their reputation was "good."

J. D. Franklin, of Plains, lived in Crosby county in 1891 to 1893, then went to Oklahoma for a "run" and back to Crosby for three years, following with two years in Lubbock county. He then moved back and forth between New Mexico and Texas. In Crosby county their reputation was good and "for 41 years since I first met Fred Spikes," his reputation was good. The same was true of Jeff. He once lived near Mesa Redonda, in 1905 and talked with old timers there. The grandfather of the plaintiff and his grandfather were the "same man," he said. On cross examination Franklin said Jeff Spikes married my cousin," and Fred and John married my step-cousin. "They had a good reputation with a majority of the people." He knew Sam Gholson and Bud Lee and their reputations were good, in Texas.

J. W. Elliott, went to New Mexico in 1899 from Floyd county where he had lived seven years. He lived 25 miles west of Mesa Redonda, was a stockman and said the small and large outfits had trouble. He did not know Sam personally in New Mexico, did not see Jeff but knew the other brothers and their reputation was good and they did not have the name of being "outlaws." He named his family and said they had associated with the Spikes boys, attended dances and parties in their home. He knew Hawkins. Under Cross questioning he admitted never having seen Sam Spikes until after the shooting; he had talked with Fred Spikes and John Whitmore and his family about the case; heard of the killing 30 days after it happened.

Knox Patterson, now a Utah lawyer, lived in Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas before going to Utah in 1906. He was at Mesa Redonda in 1900 to 1904, lived seven or eight miles from the Mesa, worked with cattle, horses and sheep and knew the three Spikes boys, John, Dick, and Fred but not the others. He heard of the others and the three he knew had good reputations. He associated with them some, "working the range with some." There was never any evidence of cattle theft that he saw at their place; he knew Henry Hawkins "on the range" but never saw Hawkins and the trio together; never heard of Hawkins being connected with the boys and "John, Dick and Fred could have been arrested any day that may have been desired. On cross examination he admitted seeing John, Dick and Fred only five or six times.

The defense closed its side Friday morning with J. Evetts Haley, one of the defendants, on the stand. Charles Bohannan, who claimed to have been a member of the posse that shot the two boys, testified by depostion and corroborated most of previous testimony of that kind. C. Apadoca a Mexican sheepherder who claimed he saw the fight, declared the Spikes boys did not reply to the shots of the posse.

stressed the value of properly classifying grains at some point near the origin of the shipment. This practice, they said, would enable the country buyers to know what prices to expect when the grain reached the market and would furnish basis for claims for damages incurred during transit.

Mr. Cone last night said that the grain meeting here yesterday was one of the most successful ever held in the Panhandle.

"The federal inspectors said that the dealers assembled here showed more enthusiasms and were more attentive than any similar group that they had addressed.

of this kind," Allred said, "but, in my judgment, a bond for the faithful performance of all duties imposed by law upon a public officer means what it says, and I am going to recover every dollar I can for the State of Texas."

Elbert Hooper, assistant attorney general, and Henry Brooks, district attorney, joined Allred in the suit, which was filed in the district court of Judge C. A. Wheeler.

Make Test Case

Allred said he expected to make this a test case on the liability of public officers on their bonds. He did not say whether or not other suits would be filed in the near future.

Hooper estimated the state had been defrauded out of at least half a million dollars during the last ten years in forged witness fee certificates. Three separate cases of alleged forgery had been uncovered in the incomplete investigation, two men having been indicted and two having committed suicide.

Barnes was a former deputy district clerk at Dallas. Bowen is in the loan business there. In its petition, the state went into details of the alleged transactions.

The petition alleged the forgeries in Dallas county covered a period of about ten years, and that $209,000 was obtained from the state in payment of the forged certificates.

The petition contained a claimed list of the cases, together with the names of the purported defendants and witnesses and the amounts paid thereunder by the comptroller to Bowen from January 25, 1929 to February 27, 1930. The petition said the payments during that period amounted to $27,965.10.

Allred said a peculiar feature of the alleged false certificates was that the first initial or given name of the purported defendants began with "J" in approxomately 95 per cent of the cases. "Jim", "Joe", and "John," were the names most commonly used.

staging of parades.

Some of the merchants, who expressed themselves as favoring the continuation of the law in the courthouse business district, said it would be folly to allow all-day parking in one section of the city, while the two-hour limit was enforced in other parts of the city.

Objections Given

"If we should remove the restrictions east of Texas avenue, we would soon find customers of stores west of Texas avenue parking their automobiles in front of our stores and trading in the other part of town," said Mrs. Morgan Dickinson of the Postoffice Drum company. "There probably would be no parking spaces east of Texas avenue after 9 o'clock in the morning. The removal of the limit also would make it convenient for owners and employes of the other stores to find all-day parking spaces.

Those opposing the removal of the parking limit, according to city officials, are:

Sobs Out Story

The girl sobbed out her story and then fell in a faint as she attempted to walk from the courtroom during the morning recess. The jurors were filing out and several of them stopped to assist prosecutors in lifting the limp girl into a chair. She was revived in a few moments.

Fifteen minutes later she returned unassisted, pale and nervous, to the stand. As cross examination began she denied she had been ill earlier in the day and assured attorneys she felt equal to continuing.

Parties Admitted

Her lips quivering, Miss Nitto admitted she had attended such parties with other men, and that she had refused to come to San Diego until she found she would be paid $15.

"Was that your only interest in the party?" Jerry Geisler, attorney for Pantages, asked.

"Yes."

"The fact that you were to meet Alexander Pantages had nothing to do with your coming?"

"No."

Miss Nitto, the state charged, was brought here from Hollywood by William Jobelmann and Olive Clark Day, alleged operators of a "girl market" there as a result of a conspiracy entered into by the mart operators with John P. Mills, real estate dealer, Jesse H. Shrive, business man, and Pantages.

Miss Nitto described the party at the hotel and broke into tears when she told what happened when she and Pantages were together. She said Pantages gave her $10 and asked her not to tell the others, adding she was "too young to be here."

Needless Exploitation Of East Texas Field Rapped

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—Responsibility for the depressed condition of the mid-continent oil industry was placed by Secretary Wilbur today upon the "rapid and heedless exploitation" of the East Texas field.

The statement, issued by the secretary as chairman of the federal oil conservation board, generally was interpreted here by oil observers as a move to hasten the calling of a special session of the Texas legislature to enact laws strengthening the proration powers of the state.

Nathan Adams Declares That Government Will Continue Its Relief Work In Texas Until Next January

DALLAS, June 5. (AP) — Nathan Adams, chairman of the Texas committee in charge of federal "farm rehabilitation' activities, said today the government would continue its loan facilities in Texas until January 1, 1932 and possibly longer.

Although it was reported three weeks ago that the office here would close June 15, this order has been rescinded. In future the work will be carried on under supervision of the federal intermediate credit bank at Houston; instead of from Washington.

W. B. Farrar, executive secretary of the Texas committee, was in Sonora today investigating the application from that community for a federal loan.

Approval had been given a $100,000 loan for a credit corporation formed at Del Rio. Inspections recently were made at Childress and Sweetwater and other applications have been received from counties in the designated drouth areas.
