What appears to be Oklahoma's answer to the tractor pull has been scheduled for July 27-29 at Enid, according to an announcement which just arrived this week. It is the 19th Annual Oklahoma Steam Threshing Bee, which indicates that it is older than the tractor pull and also it apparently is more of a demonstration, or exhibition, than a contest such as the tractor pull which was introduced here July 4.

It is a show featuring giant machines which were used to thresh grain around the turn of the century and they use steam power rather than gasoline, diesel or liquefied petroleum gas. Of course it required considerable labor to keep one of these machines going. The Oklahoma Steam Threshing Association, which sponsors the event, notes that men must shovel more than a ton of coal per work day into the engines to keep up the steam pressure to power the equipment. And the old-fashioned machines are not so versatile as the modern ones. Cutting and threshing cannot be done by one machine.

Despite the energy shortage, however, there does not appear to be any movement to bring back the steam-powered farm machines. The ecologists would take a dim view of the clouds of black coal smoke that billow from the engines.

We have had some inquiries about schedules of tours, or visiting hours on the LBJ Ranch, which, incidentally is proving to be one of the most popular tourist attractions in the state.

The National Park Service and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. have inaugurated guided bus tours, according to the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Dept. On Tuesday through Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., buses take visitors by the LBJ Ranch House. From 3 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and all day Sunday the buses make ranch lands tours through the fields and pastures of the ranch. Both tours include stops at the Junction School, the LBJ birthplace, the family cemetery and the LBJ show barn. If you make one of these tours, you are permitted to leave your bus to tour these places and then return to the starting point by another bus. The tours are offered free on a first-come, first-served basis and buses leave at 15-minute intervals from the visitor center of the LBJ State Park near Stonewall.

Officials of the Scurry County Rodeo Association have gone back through their records and determined that the 1973 show, set for July 18-21, definitely will be the 38th to be sponsored by the association. There had been some confusion in recent years about the date of origin. Since the 1973 Scurry County Rodeo has adopted a historical theme, it was an appropriate time to dig up the records. So, next week, if you go to the Rodeo grounds on any evening from Wednesday through Saturday you will see the 38th Annual Scurry County Rodeo. — WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 11, the 192nd day of 1973. There are 173 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1804, Vice President Aaron Burr mortally wounded the American statesman, Alexander Hamilton, in a pistol duel at Weehawken, N.J.

On this date:

In 1533, Pope Clement VII excommunicated King Henry VIII of England from the Roman Catholic Church.

In 1767, the sixth American president, John Quincy Adams, was born in Braintree, Mass.

In 1814, a British fleet captured the town of Eastport, Maine.

In 1952, a Republican National Convention in Chicago nominated Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president.

In 1955, the new Air Force Academy was dedicated at Lowry Air Base in Colorado.

Ten years ago: The army in Ecuador ousted President Carlos Julio Arosemena, charging that he was a heavy drinker and Communist sympathizer.

Five years ago: Nine Roman Catholics were elected for the first time to full membership on a commission of the World Council of Churches.

One year ago: In South Vietnam, enemy guns brought down three U.S. Marine helicopters carrying South Vietnamese troops to battle aroung Quang Tri City.

House Approves Subsidy Limit

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has accepted an amendment to the massive farm bill that supporters say will put a tight annual limit of $20,000 on subsidy payments to farmers growing wheat, cotton and feed grain.

The amendment by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., won by 246 to 163 Tuesday. Findley said the rider would set "a reasonable and effective limit on how deep into the U.S. Treasury a wealthy farmer can reach—surely $20,000 is deep enough."

Findley's amendment plowed under an earlier one by Rep. Bob Bergland, D-Minn., which the House had approved by 313 to 89.

Bergland's amendment would have cut off subsidies at $20,000 per crop instead of the $37,500 per crop level recommended by the House Agriculture Committee. Current law sets it at $55,000 per crop but critics claim this is loaded with loopholes.

A Senate-passed version of the farm bill cut the level to $20,000 per farmer but under terms that are not as tight as those in the Findley amendment.

Findley's provision would put various payments under the limit, including so-called resource adjustment payments for not growing crops. Under the original version of the House bill and under the Senate-passed bill, payments for resource adjustment would be excluded from the limit.

Meanwhile, as the House worked its way into the first parts of the comprehensive farm bill, it voted 164 to 139 against an amendment by Rep. Steven S. Symms, R-Idaho, that would have blocked use of federal funds to finance the sale of wheat or feed grain to the Soviet Union or mainland China.

Earlier, with women spectators protesting milk prices, the House began its work amid word that the Nixon administration would accept a compromise on a key provision.

Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Agriculture Committee Chairman W.R. Poage, D-Tex., said they understood the administration would go along with the committee's suggested target prices for cotton, wheat and feed grain such as corn if an escalator clause is deleted.

Gathering Set July 18 By Ranch Headquarters

A Pioneers' Promenade, a baking contest, and a membership barbecue will highlight a gathering planned by the Snyder unit of Ranch Headquarters Association on July 18.

Old timers of the area, members of the Association and their friends are invited to meet in the barn in Towle Memorial Park from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Light refreshments will be served and tables and chairs will be set up for the convenience of those who come to visit.

A cash prize of $100 will be awarded the couple or individual judged outstanding in the Pioneers' Promenade scheduled to begin at 5 o'clock. Early settlers and their families who wish to enter the promenade are urged to wear costumes recalling the history of the Snyder area.

Tickets for the barbecue will be given those who pay or renew membership in Ranch Headquarters Association. The menu will feature barbecued beef donated by members of the association, along with beans and salad.

Six cash prizes will be given for the best homemade cakes and bread brought to the barn between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. The cakes and bread will be served at the barbecue. First prize in each category will be $35, with $25 for second prize and $15 for third prize.

All area residents are welcome to enter the baking contest as long as they are not professional bakers. Each entry is to be accompanied by a copy of the recipe used.

Advance tickets for the barbecue may be secured by sending membership fees of $5 per person or $12.50 per family to Ranch Headquarters Association in Snyder. The get-together and barbecue will replace the annual Ranch Day held by the Snyder unit in the fall since 1969. Directors of the Association felt that with the Scurry County Fair scheduled in September and the Billionth Barrel of Oil Celebration scheduled in October there would be difficulty in scheduling a Ranch Day during the Fall.

Brazilian Airplane Crashes, 121 Killed

PARIS (AP) — A Brazilian jetliner carrying 134 persons crashed in an onion field and caught fire today as the pilot approached Orly airport for an emergency landing.

A French government spokesman said 121 of the 134 were killed. The French national police earlier reported 129 perished and five survived.

The pilot had radioed the Orly tower that he was having engine trouble aboard his Varig Airline Boeing 707 flying into Paris from Sao Paulo, Brazil. The main Paris airport had been cleared to give him priority landing rights.

But the four-jet airliner plummeted into a field about three miles south of Orly, sending up what witnesses described as a huge sheet of flame. The plane's wingtips were ripped off but the fuselage remained intact.

The fire hampered rescue efforts by farm hands who were the first to arrive at the crash near the suburban village of Saulx-les-Chartreux.

"At first I thought it was a sonic boom but then I saw the smoke billowing up from the fields and I ran," said Pierre Xavier, who lives in the village. "By the time I got to the plane, the heat was so intense I couldn't get closer than 200 yards."

Authorities said five survivors were taken from the wreckage by rescuers, some using electric saws to cut through the twisted metal. The national police said the plane carried 16 crew members and 118 passengers.

There were no immediate reports of anybody being killed on the ground at the crash site.

It was the second major crash in the Paris area in six weeks. A Soviet TU144 supersonic jetliner crashed and killed 13 June 3 during a demonstration flight for spectators at the Paris air show.

The world's worst air disasters involving single planes occurred in the Soviet Union last Oct. 13 and in Nigeria last Jan. 22. Each crash killed 176 persons.

French Tests Said Imminent

PARIS (AP) — The start of the controversial French nuclear weapon tests in the South Pacific was considered imminent today as a government ban on flights and shipping in the test zone went into effect.

The first blast, expected to be of a one-megaton weapon, could come as soon as Friday.

There was speculation that there might be as many as six explosions, combining next year's test program with this year's.

Defying a World Court injunction, widespread foreign protests that fallout from the tests will endanger human life and plans by a New Zealand navy frigate and a group of private protest yachts to invade the test area, the French government made clear it would not cancel the tests.

It considers them necessary for development of the nuclear strike force that the late President Charles de Gaulle sponsored to enhance France's voice in world affairs.

There may never be an official announcement that the tests have been held or have finished. This was the procedure last year, when the only official French word was an announcement after the last explosion that the area around Mururoa Atoll was no longer closed.

Mururoa, the center of the test zone, is 900 miles southeast of Tahiti.

School Bus Bid Accepted

Snyder School Trustees last night accepted the bid of Searcy Bus Sales, Inc., of Austin for the purchase of two 66-passenger school buses.

The Austin firm's bid, which was the lower of two proposals received, was $8,676 per bus, with $1,200 trade-in allowance for two 1964 buses, resulting in a net bid of $7,476 per bus.

The school had originally planned to purchase three buses this year, but only two will be bought at this time since funds budgeted for that purpose are not sufficient to cover cost of the third bus. Thus, a 1966 bus which had been scheduled for trade-in will be kept for another year.

The bus bid decision was the only action item on the agenda for the brief session.

Pat Falls, assistant superintendent, reported to the board that the school is encountering difficulty in filling bus driving positions for the 1973-74 school year. However, he said some of the bus routes formerly driven by men may be assigned to women drivers if qualified applicants are available.

Mitchell Defends Himself, Nixon

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — John N. Mitchell said today President Nixon ultimately will defend his own good name in the Watergate scandal, and a ranking Republican suggested anew that the President discuss the case personally with investigating senators.

Mitchell, the former attorney general and campaign director, defended himself and the President in a second day of televised testimony before the Watergate committee.

Nixon has said he will not appear before the panel.

"I think the good name of the President is going to be protected by the facts and by the President himself ..," Mitchell said.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., asked Mitchell how the panel can get Nixon's response to Watergate testimony. "How do we get to complete the record in some respects?" he asked.

"I would believe and hope that after your hearings are over, the President will respond to the salient points of your hearing," Mitchell said.

"You think he should?" Baker asked.

"I believe that he will," Mitchell said.

Baker said he knows of no way the committee can compel Nixon to testify. But he noted that in 1919, President Woodrow Wilson, in connection with ratification of the Treaty of Versailles, invited the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to a meeting at the White House, where he underwent questioning.

"Would you comment on that as an alternative?" Baker asked.

"I hope you are all invited down to the White House, hopefully under the circumstances you desire," Mitchell said.

Nixon has rejected suggestions that he testify about Watergate under oath.

Nixon also refused to supply the panel with documents it seeks. The committee had been scheduled today to discuss whether to issue a subpoena for the sought-after papers, but at the last minute put off the meeting until Thursday.

Baker's office said the reason for the postponement was that Baker had promised to give a news interview at the time scheduled for the session. But there was immediate speculation that the delay was really intended to give the White House another day to turn over the papers voluntarily and avoid a looming constitutional confrontation.

Baker — who has said he communicates with the White House through his televised remarks — asked Mitchell if he had any thoughts on how the committee could obtain the evidence it seeks "without an institutional confrontation?"

CLEBURNE BLAST KILLS 4

Experts Pick Up Sensitive Fuses

By JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writer

CLEBURNE, Tex. (AP) — "Like cats with sore paws," according to one deputy sheriff, Army munitions experts began picking up hand grenade fuses here today, scattered over the scene of an explosion which killed four women and injured some 30 other persons.

"They (fuses) are quite sensitive if handled roughly. But it's not too bad if treated prudently," said 1st. Tom Glade, a spokesman for the Ft. Hood munitions team.

The still of this North Texas community was jolted at 11:32 Tuesday morning when a sharp blast gutted the Gearhart-Owens Industries Inc. plant. Some 130 persons, 80 per cent of them women, were employed in the assembly of hand grenades.

The back-wrenching explosion was followed by two sudden secondary blasts which turned the metal building into a shambles of twisted steel and splintered cement.

"It blew me clean out of my pan," said Bobbie Jo Lemmon of Fort Worth. The special bunker where she worked is called a "pan."

"I crawled my way out. I couldn't see anything," she added.

Others were not so fortunate.

The dead were identified as Sue Grisham, 22, of Granbury; Dorothy Cole, 51, hometown unknown; Debbie Spruell, 19, of Joshua and Doris Brown, 19, of Fort Worth.

Johnson County Memorial Hospital officials said 10 others were hospitalized, three in serious condition, while 20 to 25 others received treatment for minor injuries and were released.

"Most of them in there (the hospital) were either cut or burned. I don't know exactly what happened, but it looked like it just kind of splattered everybody," said an ambulance driver.

Marvin Gearhart, co-founder of the company, said he thinks the explosion was caused by a crimping machine which seals the grenade fuses. He placed damage at $75,000 and said the plant will be down for at least 30 days.

Tuesday's blast was not the first for the plant, located three miles north of Cleburne's downtown section. An explosion 18 months ago injured one man and there was another incident after the plant opened in 1969.

Police Chief Claude Zachary said FBI and Treasury Dept. agents were in on the investigation of Tuesday's explosion.

The plant consists of a large building, situated on 10 acres, connected to a series of underground bunkers where a large cache of gunpowder is stored.

Fire Chief Lloyd McVicker said several small fires which gnawed at debris hours later were kept from the gunpowder supply by three eight-foot walls.

Moyer Denies Stamps Theft

AUSTIN (AP)—Former Rep. Hudson Moyer flatly denied today that he stole $5,040 worth of state postage stamps in 1970.

"Mr. Moyer, did you steal stamps on Oct. 16, 1970?" asked defense lawyer Charles Burton.

"No, sir, not stamps or anything else... I believe then and I believe now that that's what the resolution says, that I was entitled to reimbursement," Moyer, a sad-faced man replied in a soft voice.

Moyer referred to a 1969 legislative resolution that established an $875 a month contingent expense fund for House members.

He said he paid himself back with stamps withdrawn in 1970 for personal stamps used in legislative mailings in 1969.

The reason he used his own stamps in 1969, Moyer said, was that "there just was not any money in my contingent expense account to make this mailing."

Actually, Moyer testified about four mailings that would have required more than 100,000 six-cent stamps.

Moyer's wife gave substantially the same testimony Tuesday.

Man who shot at dog is no good neighbor

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I reported a neighbor to the sheriff's office when I saw him shooting at a dog in his yard with a .22 rifle. I probably should have complained directly to the man, because he is reasonable and a good neighbor. But I was so angry I called the sheriff instead.

The neighbor hates dogs in his yard because he takes pride in his beautiful yard, and works on it constantly.

Now this neighbor is angry at me and my husband, which is my problem. He and my husband used to be good friends, but he hasn't even spoken to my husband since I reported him four months ago.

I feel terrible about ruining their relationship because my husband really liked him.

I wish this had never happened, but it did. What can I do to bridge the gap? IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your neighbor is both unjust and childish to bear a grudge against your husband for something you did. Perhaps if you were to let him know that you and you alone reported him it might help. [P. S. He may be a good neighbor, but no "reasonable" man turns a .22 on a dog.]

DEAR ABBY: I have a gentleman friend who is 15 years my senior. [I am a widow.] My girl friend [another widow] and I were seeing him off at the airport after he had visited me.

Just before he left he kissed me goodbye, then he took $20 out of his wallet and handed it to me, saying, "I didn't know what to buy you. Get yourself something."

I became very angry and said, "That's an insult. I don't charge for my kisses!"

He became angry and departed on that note.

My girl friend said I was wrong to have acted that way because he didn't really mean to insult me by offering me money. I can't imagine any gentleman thinking it would be all right to offer money to a lady.

Was I wrong? Or should he be excused because he was raised in Italy? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: He should have been excused not because he was raised in Italy, but because he probably meant well. You should have accepted his somewhat clumsy gesture with grace.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old divorced woman. No children. I have some vacation time coming and want to go to Europe with a friend of mine. He is a very nice person. We are just good friends, with no romantic involvement. In fact, he has no interest in women. He and his roommate [another fellow] just broke up after a two-year relationship.

This fellow would pay his own way and I would pay mine. We both like museums and art galleries, and I am sure we would have a great time together.

If either one of us met someone attractive on the trip, the other would understand, and we could go our separate ways of an evening.

My mother thinks I am out of my mind, Abby. She says for me to go on a trip with this fellow would be bad for my reputation, and it would "disgrace" her.

How do you feel about it? ONLY A FRIEND

DEAR ONLY: What's "disgraceful" about good friends vacationing together? You're an adult. Do as you please.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. P. N. [or "Still Clean"] IN NEW CANAAN, CONN. You are beautiful. I knew you could do it!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Man Is Charged In Murder

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Norman Runyan said Tuesday night that John Waynee Lee, 31, who gave a Ft. Bragg, N.C., address, was charged with armed robbery and murder in the death of an elderly Glenrio, N.M., woman.

Runyan said Lee had waived extradition from Texas, where he was arrested near Vega Tuesday afternoon. Vega is about 40 miles east of Glenrio.

Lee was arraigned before Magistrate Jess Goldston of Tucumcari, who set bond at $25,000 on the murder charge and $25,000 on the armed robbery charge, Runyan said.

Runyan said Lee was brought from Vega to Tucumcari by state policeman Joe Wages and Quay County Sheriff Francis Isler of Tucumcari.

Lee was held in the Quay County jail in lieu of bond, Runyan said.

Oldham County sheriff's Deputy Jack Walker of Vega said Lee was arrested near there by sheriff's and Texas Department of Public Safety officers.

The Potter County sheriff's office in Amarillo said Lee was taken there for questioning and then back to Vega.

New Mexico state police said Dessie Leach, believed to be in her late 60s, was stabbed to death Tuesday during an apparent robbery in Glenrio, a small community east of Tucumcari on U.S. 66 and near the Texas line.

She and her husband owned the Longhorn Bar, where the slaying occurred.

State police said Mrs. Leach was stabbed four times.

Walker said he, Oldham County Sheriff Bill Olsen and Texas Department of Public Safety officers stopped Lee about 4½ miles west of Vega on Interstate 40.

Lee offered no resistance and officers found a .38 caliber pistol, a pellet gun and "more than one knife" in his possession, Walker said.

Stansell Is Acquitted

A Scurry County jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty in the trial of C.W. Stansell on a charge of theft over $50.

The jury deliberated for 30 minutes yesterday afternoon before bringing in its verdict. Trial began Monday in 132nd Dictrict Court. The defendant was represented by Dell Barber, attorney from Colorado City.

Phase 4 To Be Detailed So Soon

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Details of the administration's Phase 4 anti-inflation program probably will be announced by this weekend, an informed Treasury Department source said today.

The earliest an announcement would be made is Thursday, the source said. Phase 4 will succeed the current 60-day price freeze, imposed by President Nixon June 13.

Nixon scheduled a Cabinet meeting today and the economic program was certain to be discussed, according to one source.

A surprise call for an end to all wage and price controls this year was made Tuesday by the administration's prestigious Labor-Management Advisory Committee, which includes top corporate and union leaders.

The committee said it was "deeply concerned that there are tendencies for wage and price controls to be regarded as the solution to the problem of inflation."

It held that the only way to extricate the country from wage and price controls is firm resolution to phase them out. "We believe all wage and price controls should be eliminated as soon as possible this year ...," the committee added.

The statement was said to have received unanimous support of the committee, whose members include George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers; James M. Roche, a director of General Motors Corp., and Walter B. Wriston, chairman of First National City Bank of New York.

Cost of Living Council officials have hinted final Phase 4 decisions may include.

—A carryover of the 5.5 per cent Phase 3 wage increase guidelines.

—Tighter price controls, including limitations on the amount of increased costs that businesses can pass on to consumers in the form of higher prices.

—Provision for price increases to some businesses if they agree to expand their productive capacity. This would apply to industries not operating at full capacity.

—A more elaborate price control exemptions procedure for businesses with special problems.

Meanwhile, the chief regulator of the nation's savings and loan associations said interest rates on home mortgages will accelerate because the government has raised rate ceilings on savings accounts.

Thomas R. Bomar, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, said the amount of the increases "could be significant" but declined to predict the extent of the jump.

Fire Put Out

City Firemen extinguished a grass fire on the west side of Lamar Junior High School at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday.

New Trial Is Asked For Hurd

Dan Barber, attorney for James Robert Hurd, convicted of murder, has filed a motion for a new trial in 132nd District Court.

In his motion, Barber asked the court to set aside the verdict and judgment entered June 29. At that time, a Scurry County jury returned a verdict of guilty in the murder of Elizabeth Goodlett on the night of March 10, 1973, and assessed a life prison term.

Barber listed two reasons why he said Hurd should be granted a new trial. He stated, "Because the court in its charges to the jury misdirected the jury as to the law."

And, the other reason was, "Because the court committed material errors calculated to injure the rights of the defendant..."

Wayland Holt, presiding judge of the 132nd District Court, probably will set a date for a hearing on the motion.

Meanwhile, Hurd is suppose to appear in court Friday for formal sentencing.

WILL WASHINGTON?

Board To OK Rate Reduction

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The State Insurance Board says it will approve a $25 million car insurance rate reduction that will benefit most Texans. But there may be a hitch in Washington.

Board chairman Joe Christie said Tuesday the three-man panel generally accepts the rate changes recommended by the board staff, which average 4.3 per cent statewide.

Christie said 90 per cent of all Texas policyholders should get reductions.

Formal approval of the rate changes, effective Aug. 27, will come in about a week, he told a news conference following the board's annual auto insurance hearing.

"All of our decisions are made under the cloud of uncertainty caused by President Nixon's price freeze of June 8 and the absence of any Phase IV guidelines," Christie said.

The problem is that while rates, on the average, will go down, some will increase. Actual rates depend on a driver's age, where he lives, what kind of car he drives and for what he uses. The typical driver, who uses his car to get to work, will get a $22 rate reduction on a basic policy (minimum liability, $100-deductible collision and full comprehensive) if he lives in El Paso but a $12 increase in Rockwall and Wise Counties.

"I intend to take appropriate action to assure that these rate reductions for the vast majority of automobile insurance policyholders are not denied or delayed by the administration because of a few rate increases," Christie said.

He said he was contacting the local Internal Revenue Service office as the first step in seeking approval of the rates by the U.S. Cost of Living Council.

For the first time, the board is making a distinction between cars driven to work and those used only for pleasure and errands in setting collision insurance rates. The reult is a 7 per cent increase for cars used to get to work and a 13 per cent cut for pleasure cars.

Proposed rates do not reflect loss increases predicted by the industry because of new laws allowing injured passengers to sue drivers and permitting juries to award money damages to motorists who helped cause accidents in which they were injured.

Industry spokesmen estimated a 5 per cent increase in bodily injury liability rates was in order, but Christie said the board has not received "any convincing or conclusive statistical data on which to base a decision."

Showers In Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Damp and sometimes stormy weather extended its stay across a wide swath of Texas today.

Continuing showers and thunderstorms were credited to a trough of low pressure stretching from the northeast part of the state past San Angelo.

One line of thunderstorms linking Vernon, Electra and Wichita Falls caused residents of Wichita, Wilbarger and Clay counties to go under a severe weather warning for several hours.

Warnings against flash flooding in low areas went out as locally heavy showers soaked the countryside from around San Angelo to Fort Stockton.

Most of the rainfall occurred through Central and West Texas, and showers also dipped into parts of East Texas.

Other points on the moisture map included Alpine, Van Horn, Fort Davis, Langtry, Junction, Midland, Abilene, Brownwood, Stephenville, Mineral Wells, Fort Worth, Dallas, Waxahachie, Corsicana, Cleburne, Palestine and Kilgore, plus intermediate areas.

Forecasts called for still more showery weather in North and West Texas.

CHOSEN TO "DIG" IN WYOMING — Girl Scout Karen Stewart was one of seventy two girls chosen throughout the United States to participate in an archaeological project in Ten Sleep, Wyoming to help uncover stories of our past in fossils and strata formations. Karen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart of 2900 Thirty-second Street, is a member of Senior Scout Troop 83 and her leader is Mrs. Franklin Pruitt.

Girl Scout To 'Dig' History

Karen Stewart, Snyder, is one of four Texas Scouts selected for participation in this summer's sociological-archaeology project at Ten Sleep, Wyoming. The event will be held June 24-July 23 as a National Wider Opportunity for Girl Scouts.

The purpose of "Dig" Mankind is to give 72 girls with an interest in archaeology and anthropology an opportunity to learn and to practice dig techniques; to use "finds" to decipher a long ago way of life; and to assist in completing a total geological survey of 15,000 acres of plateaus, vee, and canyons at National Center West.

Karen, a Junior at Snyder High School is a member of Senior Scout Troop 83, leader Mrs. Franklin Pruitt. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Stewart, 2900 Thirty-second, Snyder.

Karen will attend the July 9th thru 23rd session of "Dig" Mankind. Eight years of Scouting, many camping trips with family and troop, plus five summers of established camping at Camp Boothe Oaks have conditioned Karen for the exacting explorations she will make in the rugged Wyoming terrain and climate. In June, she attended the Counselor-In-Training course at Boothe Oaks to further develop her stamina.

Karen was reading and studying such resource books as James Dietz, Invitation to Archaeology; F. Clark Howell, Early Man; Bjorn Kjellstrom, Be Expert with Map and Compass; Oliver LaFarge, A Pictorial History of the American Indian.

Much time was being spent in gathering camping gear, personal items and clothing, and in marking all possessions with her name. Since Karen is an art enthusiast, her paints and drawing tablets will be included in her gear.

Karen is financially energetic, saving her baby-sitting money and holding garage sales of her "junk" and handcrafted art objects. By selling 233 boxes of Girl Scout cookies during the 1973 Cookie Sale, she earned three-fourths of her camp fee to Boothe Oaks. The West Texas Council will pay her fee for the "Dig" Mankind event, plus part of her transportation expenses. Cookie Sale profits are used for such national and international opportunities for girls and adults.

Karen is excited about the chance she will have to study tipi rings, cliff caves, pictographs, petroglyphs, and one hundred sites where Indian hunters made their tools. She is hoping to turn up hidden artifacts as she and other girls probe sites along ancient migration routes.

Quoting the words of Caroline Adams who will direct "Dig" Mankind, Karen says, "Happiness IS knowing that the summer ahead will have a PINNACLE of excitement, a MESA of fun, a TRAIL of finds, a CANYON of challenge, and a whole TROOP of new friends."

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Have some nasturtium for supper tonight. They're good to eat. You can eat the stems, leaves, flowers and seeds, and John A. Wott, Purdue University home environment horticulturist, says they're delicious.

Try the leaves for sandwiches and salads. The flavor is similar to garden cress.

Or snap off the spur of a flower and nibble. The combination is sweet nectar and mildly pungent. The pea-like seeds make a good snack. Clean them and store in a sealed bottle with freshly boiled vinegar until you are ready to eat.

There are dwarf nasturtiums and the kind that climb trellises. They enjoy a sunny spot and soil not too rich. The flowers are yellow, orange or red and, while hummingbirds like them, few pests disturb them.

Flowers for the Prom

The old fashioned nosegay of flowers for the prom was reported really "in" this year, accenting the feminine look, dainty in a wide variety of blooms in small, plump, circular style. Lace, streamers and bows added variety and color.

Wrist corsages were most popular, according to a poll. They permit flexibility while dancing and remain visible. Also popular were the standard pin-on corsage — a single flower or combination of blooms, colors, shapes and sizes.

More unusual is the floral choker, a special accessory to the dress or throat. Some are made of daisies, pompons or cornflowers glued to a velvet ribbon.

And finally, there is the flower ring, a flower mounted on a metal ring.

Sweet corn

If you do not refrigerate your freshly picked sweet corn within 12 hours you lose about 50 per cent of the flavor. The aim in serving sweet corn is freshness.

Sweet corn begins to convert its sugar content to starch the moment it is picked.

Grow your own corn, if you have enough space. Sweet corn wants full sunlight and fertile soil. We always bought a variety packet, including small amounts of seeds that produced early, middle-season and late corn.

Because corn is wind-pollinated, plant three or more rows side by side, or in a square formation to insure proper pollination and ear development. Long narrow rows aren't very productive.

Peony Problem

Peony flowers that turn brown, droop or become a mass of rotted petals, and leaves with round or triangular light and dark brown spots indicate botrytis blight. This also is known as gray mold, a common disease of garden peonies. It is caused by a fungus that survives winter in the form of a small, dark-colored seed-like body. Early in spring the fungus attacks the new shoots, causing rot near the soil line. The fungus also hits the plant at later stages, infecting leaves, buds or flowers.

Remove Mulch

A precaution is to remove winter mulch to help the soil dry. Don't plant in wet areas and don't mount soil around the plant.

Remove and destroy all rotted or wilting shoots, leaves and buds promptly. A preventative is early fall cutting of leaves and stalks below the soil line as soon as tops have died. Destroy debris; do not use it in a compost pile, where the fungus will survive the winter.

Zineb and captan are recommended pesticides, used as a spray at two week intervals from the time the new shoots emerge.

Glamor Kitty Is Crowned

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — A $500 jeweled crown and mink cape were among the adornments bestowed on Shyanara, the nation's No. 1 Glamor Kitty. The cat, one of some 30 million in the U.S. and among more than 20,000 to compete for the national honors, was crowned recently at the Eighth Annual Glamor Kitty Contest here.

Strawberry Cream Cake

STRAWBERRY CREAM CAKE

Refreshing and not too sweet.

Sponge Cake, baked in a 10-inch tube pan
3 pints strawberries
Sugar
1 pint heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cut the cake into 3 crosswise layers. Wash, drain and hull strawberries. Reserve 14 of the berries for garnish. Slice the remaining berries — large ones in quarters, medium and small berries in half; mix with 3 tablespoons sugar. Whip the cream until stiff, gradually adding ¼ cup sugar and the vanilla toward the end of the beating; reserve ¼ of the cream. To the remaining cream fold in the berries, but dribble any berry juice over cake layers. Put the cake layers together with the berry cream mixture including spreading it over the top. Now spread the reserved plain whipped cream over the strawberry cream mixture on top; garnish with whole strawberries. Chill.

Except for cheese and peanut butter, most sandwich fillings are perishable at room temperature. So keep hot ones hot and cold ones cold, emphasizes Judy Grubbs, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Most Executives Mum On Controversial Issues

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Seldom do corporate executives volunteer their views of controversial issues in bald, unqualified statements. An unhedged opinion permits no retraction. It needlessly involves a company's image and maybe its stock price.

And so, although it might appear that corporations are always forcing their views on the populace, they seldom do it so overtly as to provoke reactions from those who can make trouble for them.

Potentially the most ubiquitous troublemaker of all, it seems, is the U.S. government — or the administration in power — and criticism therefore is generally restrained. Only unusual circumstances would elicit a statement such as this:

"Under existing laws, a large part of the money raised from the business community for political purposes is given in fear of what would happen if it were not given."

The words are those of George Spater, American Airlines chairman, disclosing that the airline contributed $55,000 to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Spater may have spoken of necessity. The unusual circumstance was that special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox was looking into campaign contributions and might have uncovered damning evidence.

But as a result, Spater issued a statement that clearly reflects the views of many corporate executives, and not merely on the matter of financing a political campaign.

Fear has become an effective neutralizer of constructive criticism of regulatory agencies, for example. The not-for-quotation response to a request for comment is likely to be: "Look, I'm regulated by those fellows."

This isn't to say that business does not work its influence into regulatory agencies by more subtle techniques. They do. Sometimes a business representative may actually write a congressman's speeches.

But while influencing legislation and regulation are the unseen techniques, public criticism and public dialogue are effectively muted, which often means that the will of the people is thwarted.

Corporations are in the position of seeking ways to disguise profits, and small businesses are devising techniques for hiding higher prices, in order to avoid the consequences of regulation.

So pervasive is government involvement in the economy that fear, either of the legitimate consequences or of the illicit use of government power, has subdued the dialogue that once was used to clear the air.

Pablito Dies A Suicide

CANNES, France (AP) — Pablo Picasso's 24-year-old grandson Pablito died a suicide early today, authorities said.

Hospital authorities said the young man had drunk bleaching fluid on April 12, four days after the famed artist died at his villa on the Riviera. He was reported in despair because he, his mother and his sister had been refused admittance to the villa after Picasso's death.

Pablito had been in critical condition ever since at a hospital in Antibes. His stomach was eaten away and he was fed intravenously.

A postal worker, Pablito was the son of the artist's legitimate son, Paul. He lived with his mother, who is separated from his father, but it has not been made clear who turned them away from the villa.

Picasso also had two illegitimate children by Francoise Gilot, a son, Claude, and a daughter, Paloma. The artist acknowledged that they were his children but refused to legitimize them.

Indian Red Tape Tangled

By WILLIAM C. MANN
Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian red tape is as tangled as the human web that administers it. On that stifling afternoon in the police station, it was up to its usual mischief.

The old car had wheezed dead beside the U.S. Embassy, and the police towed it in. Diplomats don't like eyesores cluttering their streets.

"All you have to do is to go to the magistrates and get a release order," the police lieutenant said. "You will have your car in 30 minutes."

No chance.

Magistrate Balbir Singh, his head tightly swathed in a yellow turban, glanced over the petition for release and said: "Get a report from the police. I can't release the car unless I know all about it."

The report—four handwritten lines on the bottom of the petition—required only 45 minutes.

Back to the magistrate, who threw the petition in the direction of his typist for the release order, which was dutifully typed on the back and initialled by Singh.

Then back to the police station.

"But you don't have the receipt for the crane charge," another lieutenant said.

The receipt, it was said, must come from the police barracks, where there was another half-hour wait while a man took the 30 rupees—$4—somewhere for the duly signed receipt.

Back to the police station.

The paperwork seemed in order, said the ranking policeman on duty, but "Have they checked the motor number and the chassis number?" he asked. A 15-minute search failed to locate the chassis number, but the temperature was 103 degrees Fahrenheit and the officer said, "I guess it's right."

Then came the final crisis: Balbir Singh, the fill-in judge, had signed the document instead of Jacob Ali, the usual magistrate for that station. It was decided that the stationhouse officer—the station's top man—must pass on the validity of the unknown initials.

A grilling by the stationhouse officer followed. Appeased, the officer surrendered the car—after the petitioner wrote himself permission to take custody of the vehicle, which was registered in his company's name.

The term "red tape" was born in British India, when documents of interest to the crown were wrapped in red ribbon, or tape. The tradition of bureaucratic obfuscation that went with the empire survives, embellished, in free India.

Junior Editors' Quiz on KANGAROO RATS

QUESTION: What is a kangaroo rat?

* * *

ANSWER: The kangaroo rat is an unusual rodent of the southwestern United States and Mexico. It is related to the Jerboa, a small jumping rodent found in the sandy plains of Africa, Russia and south Asia.

Kangaroo rats have long, overdeveloped hind legs and shorter, less developed front legs. It uses its long tail and hind legs to leap. A single leap may cover 6 feet. This action makes it appear like a miniature kangaroo.

Kangaroo rats have large heads and large eyes. The fur is long and silky and the tail is long and tufted. There are white flank stripes, and the underpart is white. The rat has cheek pouches in which it carries seeds to store in its nest. This animal is frequently called a pocket rat because of these cheek pouches. It inhabits dry regions and lives in underground burrows. It is nocturnal in habits and feeds on seeds and dry vegetation. It can get along with little water and therefore can live comfortably in desert areas. Its natural enemies are owls and snakes. It produces two to four young during spring or summer.

Lynn Dickey Has Trouble Running

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Houston Oiler quarterback Lynn Dickey says that when he runs it feels like he's carrying a bowling ball on his left hip.

That's the result of a dislocated hip Dickey suffered last Aug. 24 in a National Football League exhibition game for the Houston Oilers against the St. Louis Cardinals. It ended the season for Dickey in the midst of his duel for the starting job with Dan Pastorini.

After almost one year of rehabilitation, Dickey appears to be progressing satisfactorily. But he still remembers.

"I try to run naturally," the former Kansas State star said. "But the left leg must not be strong enough yet. It's like carrying a bowling ball."

The Oilers conducted two off-season camps and Dickey said he could feel improvement in the injured hip after the second camp.

But foot numbness, which set in one week after surgery to repair the injury, still is there.

Oiler Coach Bill Peterson said he would not pamper Dickey.

"We're going to treat him just like nothing ever happened to Lynn," Peterson said. "The thing we're going to be watching for is whether he can move if he gets into a little trouble. We're optimistic."

The Los Angeles Rams opened two-a-day workouts Tuesday, with the morning session concentrating on the running game, and the afternoon practice centering on the passing game under rookie head coach Chuck Knox. As in most other camps, only a few veterans participated in the drills, with the bulk of the team reporting Sunday.

Philadelphia's new head coach Mike McCormack, saying he had "the butterflies of a rookie," presided over the Eagles' opening practice. McCormack emphasized team play with the goal of building a community spirit.

Quarterback Bob Davis, picked up in an off-season trade with the New York Jets, signed his contract with the New Orleans Saints. Davis, entering his seventh year in professional football, had been the backup quarterback to Joe Namath for the past two seasons.

Jets' coach Weeb Ewbank and his staff looked on as 105 hopeful free agents competed for two hours in 90-degree heat for a chance to earn a spot with the varsity. Ewbank invited five prospects—two safeties, two wide receivers and a quarterback—to stay on for a longer tryout.

The Baltimore Colts staged their first contact drills of the training season, with defensive tackle Joe Ehrmann and running back Lydell Mitchell being singled out for praise by coach Howard Schnellenberger.

The College All-Stars worked on their passing game in preparation for the opening game of the exhibition season, against the NFL champion Miami Dolphins in Chicago on July 27.

Judge Refuses To Block Padre Sale

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A judge has refused a request by the city of San Diego to block the San Diego Padres' sale to a Washington, D.C., group.

However, Superior Court Judge Eli Levenson Tuesday extended a temporary restraining order 10 days so the city can appeal his denial of a preliminary injunction against the sale.

City officials contended in the suit that the Padres should not be allowed to move because the baseball team still has 15 years to go on its 20-year lease of San Diego Stadium from the city. But Levenson said monetary damages were the only remedy for any breach of contract.

Padres owner C. Arnholt Smith has agreed to sell his financially troubled team to a Washington group for $12 million, but the National League isn't expected to approve the sale until the lease is settled.

Windard Passage Has Slim Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defending champion Windward Passage has sailed past the halfway point in the Transpac yacht race, still holding a slight lead over the rest of the fleet.

The 73-foot ketch was reported 1,128 miles from the Diamond Head finish line at Tuesday's roll call with the 62-foot sloop Ragtime 21 miles back. Blackfin was third 28 miles behind Windward Passage with Ondine fourth and Minsette fifth.

The race started last Wednesday from Los Angeles and officials estimate it will probably take at least 10 days for the leaders to reach Honolulu. Windward Passage, representing yacht clubs in Hawaii and New York, holds the crossing

Matlack Nearly Gets No-Hitter

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Hress Sports Writer

"It was eight inches fair ... what can you do?" Jon Matlack sighed.

What Matlack did was bear down, get Skip Jutze on a grounder, then strike out opposing pitcher Jerry Reuss and former teammate Tommie Agee.

That left Tommy Helms standing on second base—an unusual place for a Houston Astro to be Tuesday night in the New York Mets' 1-0 victory and Matlack's one-hitter.

In fact, Helms was the only Astro to get that far against Matlack. And if he hadn't, Matlack would be in that relatively exclusive club today, the one whose membership in baseball's record book can be found under the heading "No-Hitters."

Helms, you see, was the first Astro to reach base against Matlack, leading off the sixth inning with a vicious line-drive double that eluded the glove of diving third baseman Wayne Garrett and landed barely inside the left field foul line.

In the rest of the National League, Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 4-2, Cincinnati beat Montreal 6-2, the Chicago Cubs turned back San Francisco 4-2, Pittsburgh edged San Diego 4-3 and St. Louis nipped Los Angeles 5-4.

Darrell Evans of Atlanta hit his 24th and 25th homers of the season to take the major league—for about an hour. Then, in San Francisco, Bobby Bonds hit his 25th for the Giants.

"I hope I'm on a hot streak now," Evans said after leading the Braves past the Phillies.

Ross Grimsley did some pretty good pitching in the Reds, victory over Montreal, a game twice halted by rain. He scattered five hits in the seven innings he worked—but for the first four of them, he had Montreal hitless. Then came the second shower.

"That second delay hurt me," he said. "My arm got stiff and it took a lot out of me to warm up another time."

The Cubs, remaining 4½ games ahead of the St. Louis in the East Division, got a two-run-double from Carmen Fanzone to cap a four-run rally in the sixth inning in their victory over the Giants.

Bonds' homer was the 27th leadoff blast of his career, extending his National League record in that department. It was his 10th leadoff shot of the season.

Willie Stargell, now No. 2 in the home run department with 24, didn't hit a round-tripper for the Pirates this time around—but his seventh-inning double was enough to snap a tie and cap a three-run rally against the Padres.

The Cards also had a three-run rally, theirs coming in the seventh inning to beat Los Angeles and trim the Dodgers' West Division lead over the East to 4½ games. The big hit was an accident—Lou Brock's high fly ball. Outfielders Willie Davis and Billy Buckner played Alphonse-Gaston and the ball fell untouched for a tie-breaking double.

American General Managers Happy

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somewhere out in baseball land there are six laughing American League general managers.

Not only did their teams score more runs than the other guys Tuesday night, always cause for a grin.

But the real side-splitter is that players they picked up from other teams were instrumental in those victories.

—Boston's Luis Tiant, who was unconditionally released by Minnesota two years ago, two-hit the Twins for a 2-1 victory.

—Chicago's Stan Bahnsen, a former Yankee, beat New York 2-1.

—Cleveland's Rusty Torres, another ex-Yankee, hit a three-run homer in the ninth, rallying the Indians over Oakland 7-5.

—California's Lee Stanton, a refugee from the New York Mets, belted three home runs in the Angels' 10-inning 10-8 decision over Baltimore.

—Detroit's Dick Sharon, former property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, slammed two homers in the Tigers' 5-4 victory over the Texas Rangers.

—Kansas City's Lou Piniella, who used to call Cleveland home, drove in three runs to help the Royals defeat Milwaukee 5-3.

In player-transaction talk, that's called the last laugh.

"Tiant looks super good," said Twins' designated hitter Tony Oliva, who joined seven other Twins with zeroes after their name. The only two hits were Joe Lis' double in the second and Rod Carew's single in the ninth.

Tiant pitched Boston into first place in the American League East, three percentage points ahead of the Yankees, by besting Jim Kaat's five-hitter.

"It's always great beating your former teammates" Bahnsen said after doing just that and knocking the Yanks down to second place.

White Sox player, Buddy Bradford, whose major league stops include Cleveland and Cincinnati, scored the tying run and batted in the winning run while running his hitting streak to 11 games.

Sharon, who started out the season on Pittsburgh's roster, didn't expect to be in a major league city, much less go four-for-four with two home runs in a Detroit victory.

"I never did that even in the minors," Sharon said. "My best was four-for-five."

Stanton belted three home runs, including a two-run game-winner in the 10th for the decision over Baltimore.

His first two homers came off Jim Palmer fastballs. "I'm always looking for a fastball from that guy," Stanton said.

Piniella, whose three RBI came on a two-run homer and a single, provided Steve Busby with the margin of victory. Busby did the rest himself, striking out 13 Brewers to set a Kansas City record.

Tom Weiskopf Hates Troon Golf Course

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Tom Weiskopf, the "third man" of the $125,000 British Open Golf Championship, set out today in a bid to beat the course he has come to hate.

"I don't like this course at all," said the tall youngster from the United States, before he took on the 7,064-yard, par 72 Troon layout on Scotland's blustery west coast.

Weiskopf was third in the U.S. Open last month, he's third in the list of top money winners on the U.S. circuit, and he's the third favorite in the betting for the British Open.

Head Misses No Hitter

Jim Noble, lead-off hitter, got a single for AM's only hit Tuesday night to deprive Don Head of a no-hitter as Wadleigh Star Builders shut out AM 11-0.

Corky Fox homered, Freddie Benitez tripled, and Head doubled to lead the Wadleigh attack. The victory gave Wadleigh a 4-0 record for second half play and leaves them as the only undefeated team in second half play.

In other action, improved AM gang defeated McBeth in nine innings 10-8. In the top of the 9th, McBeth scored two runs to go ahead 8-6, but AM Gang opened the bottom of the 9th as leadoff hitter Frank (Pancho) Woner homered to make the score 8-7. Back to back singles by Butch White and Ricky Hopper, a walk to Bobby White and a single by Lee Hopper provided the margin of victory. John Gardner was winning pitcher while Dub Myers was tagged with the loss. Alton Patterson and Mike Fisher each had two hits for the losers. Next action will be Thursday night.

John is the English equivalent of the Italian name Giovanni.

Farm Loop All Stars To Play

The Blue All-Stars will meet the Red All-Stars at 7 p.m. Thursday in a Farm League playoff game in Towle Park.

Coaches of the Blue team are Derwin Thompson and V. A. Stone. Coaches of the Red team are Joe Igo and Ken Slaughter. The Cubs, Yanks, Giants and White Sox ended in a four way tie for the Farm League championship.

Probable starters for the Blues are Mitch Stone ss, Jeff Kincaid 3b, Ronny Myers 2b, Hector Barbosa 1b, Vaughnie Voss c, Jimmy Chaidez cf, Feliciano Corrales rf, Raymond Pesina lf, and Ralph Hernandez p. Other members of the team are Rodney Babcock, Kip Smith, John Donaldson, Malcom Rainwater, Richard Romo and Bill Shoemake.

Probable starters for the Reds include John Igo p, Robert Dupuy c, Mike Wimmer 1b, Tony Slaughter 2b, Dee Dow 3b, David Rios ss, Chuck Bane lf, Jeffery Pylant cf, and Tommy Holder rf. Other members of the team are James Day, Jon Goodwin, Leonard Gallegos, Gordon Gonzalez, George Alvarez, and Perry Echols.

Richey Says Fine Taylor

HOUSTON (AP) — Outspoken tennis star Cliff Richey says some of the pro tennis players who ignored the recent boycott of the Wimbledon Championships should be fined $5,000.

Richey referred specifically to England's Roger Taylor who played in the tournament despite a boycott by the Association of Tennis Players, which includes many of the top tennis players in the world.

SOUND ADVICE
A New Concept In Helping The Hard-Of-Hearing

By HOMER SCOTT

Up until the past few years, a lot of hearing aid dealers sold only one brand of hearing aids.
Not that it mattered.
The differences between brands were small, the technology was relatively unsophisticated, and the aid you bought was probably as good as any.

Today, this has changed. We are specially trained and qualified hearing aid specialists—not just dealers. We carry a wide variety of hearing aids from different manufacturers. And more importantly, we don't rest until we fit you with an aid that answers your problem.

If you hear sounds but can't always understand the words—a classic symptom of nerve deafness, you owe it to yourself and those most dear to you to come in for a free hearing test to see if we can help you. I will hold my regular monthly center at:
Pal-O-Mar Motel, Snyder,
Thursday July 12th,
9:00-10 a.m.

Perhaps I can help you HEAR YOUNG AGAIN. No obligation whatever.

Dollar Moving Upward

LONDON (AP) — The U. S. dollar moved upward again today on the world's major money markets as Washington added its voice to the psychological war of words being waged to bolster confidence in the American currency.

The dollar opened in Zurich at 2.8950-2.9050 Swiss francs, a strong spurt from the closing 2.8125 Tuesday. The dollar has now risen more than 10 per cent this week on the Swiss market.

The opening quotation in Frankfurt was 2.4250 marks, a sizable gain on Tuesday's closing 2.39590. The price dropped back to 2.40 within minutes of the opening, then rose to 2.4160.

"Basically, the dollar appears to be much firmer today," one Frankfurt dealer commented.

Demand for dollars has been minimal in Europe through most of the current crisis, but in Tokyo today it outstripped the supply, sending the price up further. The Bank of Japan had to supply about $5 million.

After falling to record lows last week, the dollar moved back up again Monday and Tuesday.

Dealers attributed the rally to the psychological effect of a brief statement Sunday night by Europe's central bankers suggesting that their governments were contemplating intervention in the market to reverse the dollar's downward trend.

The U. S. Federal Reserve Board on Tuesday expanded on Sunday's announcement. It said nine major central banks have agreed to add $6.25 billion to a special short-term "swap fund" available to the U. S. government to support the dollar.

The swap fund already totaled nearly $12 billion, but nothing had been said about it previously because the Nixon Administration was maintaining a policy of not intervening in the market.

The official statements and the upward trend of the dollar sent prices into a sharp climb on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 11.06 to 888.32, and advances topped declines by more than 3 to 1 in moderately active trading.

"All the market needed was a spark of good news to send it up," said an analyst for one leading brokerage house.

Food Crisis Is Growing Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — An expanding world food crisis is a growing threat, with population increases and the new affluence of some nations cited as factors, according to a report soon to be published here.

The analysis by the Overseas Development Council, a Washington-based research organization on international economic trends, warns of sharply increased competition among nations for food.

Among its proposals, the ODC endorses the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization plan for a world food bank to prevent localized food shortages.

It also urges international cooperation to manage the world's fishing resources, including development of aquaculture—or fish farming—and efforts to expand agricultural production in underdeveloped countries, which it says offer some of the greatest potential sources of food.

"International competition for available food supplies could become much more intense than any previously experienced," said the report.

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I would like to know how I can sell old Johann Strauss records and old sheet music. -- J.K., Independence, Mo.

If you can't get the price you want from the normal antique store or nostalgia shop channels, you can try the collector's publications I still have a few copies of a resource sheet of these publications with their addresses. If you want a copy, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for "Collector's Publications."

• • •

Dear Joyce: I have been painting for several years and think I'm ready to start selling my pictures. What's the best way to go about this? -- T.Y., Norfolk, Va.

In addition to past tips and books I've mentioned on this subject, read a helpful book called "How To Make A Living As A Painter" by Kenneth Harris (Watson-Guptill Publications, 1515 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10036), $5.95.

• • •

Dear Joyce: I make a unique item I would like to sell through mail order companies. How can I find out where to write them? -- F.J., Santa Ana, Calif.

The "Mail Order Business Directory" published by B. Klein & Co. (11 Third St., Rye, N.Y. 10580) lists by state and city some 4,000 firms that conduct business by mail, including types of products handled and buyers' names. It's available in some libraries; if not in yours, it costs $25.

• • •

Dear Joyce: I am interested in making handmade wallets or anything that can be made of leather. I learned leathercraft in high school. My problem is I've never seen any such operation here and would like to know where to get the tools and leather. -- H.M.J., Chicago, Ill.

Why not ask your high school crafts teacher for advice? Look in the yellow pages under "leather" where you may find various categories including wholesale suppliers. Check handicraft stores for tools. For readers in small communities which may not have appropriate suppliers, you can get a big-city yellow pages directory free by calling your phone company. If you cannot find what you're looking for in the front-of-the-book index (unfortunately not all directories have such an index), you can always call the manager of the yellow pages division at your local phone company and ask what headings to look under. It's good public relations for the manager to see that you get help in finding what you seek.

• • •

Dear Joyce: An idea I got from a friend that I want to see about is opening a shop that would sell crafts made by American Indians. How can I locate products? -- S.W., Camden, N.J.

The Indian Arts and Crafts Board, U.S. Department of Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240 has a free list of tribal sources of crafts. Ask for "Source Directory I."

• • •

Dear Joyce: Would appreciate your opinion on welding and repairing boat propellers. Have some know-how along this line but we're wondering about the investment return. What are the chances of two men making a go of it? business is established as of now. -- H.S., Chicago, Ill.

Sounds like you're having second thoughts. If your business is disappointing, you might ask for a SCORE counselor (free) from the U.S. Small Business Administration. You also can write for advice to: National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, 537 Steamboat Road, Greenwich, Conn. 06830.

$15 Rate Cut In Scurry County

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Auto insurance rate changes recommended Tuesday by the State Insurance Board staff would affect different parts of Texas in different ways.

The largest category of drivers, accounting for 45 per cent of all private autos, is 1B. They use their cars to get to and from work.

Here are the rate changes, by territory, for 1B motorists who drive new medium-priced Fords, Chevrolets or Plymouths, for policies consisting of minimum liability, $100-deductible collision and full comprehensive:

Harris County, down $2; Dallas County, down $4; Bexar, no change; Tarrant County, down $9; El Paso County, down $22; Orange County, down $2; Nueces County, down $13; Bowie County, down $17; East Texas Oil Field (Gregg, Harrison, Rusk, Smith and Upshur Counties), up $4; Lubbock County, down $21; and Taylor County, down $9.

Webb County, down $4; Grayson County, down $1; Potter and Randall Counties, down $13; Rio Grande Valley (Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy Counties), down $13; Tom Green County, down $21; Coastal Counties (Aransas, Bee, Brooks, Calhoun, Goliad, Hardin, Jackson, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, Matagorda, Refugio, San Patricio, Victoria, Wharton), down $13; and Northeastern Territory, down $1.

Southeastern Territory, up $1; Wichita County, down $16; Jefferson County, down $3; Galveston County, down $6; Travis County, up $9; McLennan County, down $6; Ector, Howard, Midland and Scurry Counties, down $15.

Eighty-nine West Texas counties, down $20; Denton County, down $8; Collin County, down $7; Rockwall County, up $12; Kaufman County, up $3; Ellis County, down $8; Wise County, up $12; Parker County, down $2; Johnson County, down $7; Liberty County, down $1; Chambers County, down $1; Brazoria County, down $6; Fort Bend County, down $6; Waller County, up $8 and Montgomery County, up $8.

Infant Drowns While Bathing

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — An Edinburg infant drowned and his twin brother was hospitalized Tuesday after an accident while a maid was bathing them.

Police Chief A. C. Gonzalez said the babies were the nine-month-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Adan Gonzalez.

He said a 16-year-old girl from Reynosa, Mexico, was bathing the infants. She had started working for the Gonzalez family Tuesday.

Gonzalez said the maid told officers she walked away from the bath tub to put away some toys, returned and found the infants under water.

In 1888 all slaves were declared free in Brazil.

AF Delays Report To Bentsen

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Three and one-half weeks elapsed before the Air Force replied to an inquiry by U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., about delays in servicing here of C5 aircraft, the San Antonio Express says.

The Express said in its Tuesday editions Air Force spokesmen at Kelly Air Force Base denied June 14 there were any delays in C5 work, although the huge aircraft were stacked up at Kelly.

The next day, Bentsen asked about the possibility of delays and it wasn't until Monday that the Air Force in Washington replied to Bentsen, the newspaper said in a story from its Washington bureau.

The delays which the Air Force now concedes were caused by the highly technical nature of the work and some parts and tooling shortages but added, "No major scheduling impacts have resulted from the shortages."

In a report to Bentsen, the Air Force said the Kelly programs included maintanence and modification work and installation of a prototype fire protection system in two aircraft.

The Air Force said in part that "some delay has resulted from inspections which revealed the need for a greater amount of work than originally planned."

Miller Makes Comeback

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Ann Miller, launching a comeback on the stage after suffering a head injury nearly a year ago, says she owes it partly to former astronaut John H. Glenn.

"Glenn called me and told me not to worry, that I would walk again," recalls the 50-year-old actress who suffered a concussion of the inner ear in an accident last August. A heavy stage curtain struck her during a performance in St. Louis of "Anything Goes."

Glenn suffered a similar injury in a bathtub fall several years ago.

In "Blithe Spirit," currently at San Diego's off-Broadway theater, the veteran of Hollywood dancing shows floats lazily as a spirit but does no dancing. "I'm back on my feet, anyway," she said in an interview Tuesday. "I still have these dizzy spells, but I'm looking forward to dancing up a storm someday, like a woman of 30."

Body Recovered

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The Coast Guard said Tuesday it had recovered the body of a Houston man drowned Sunday night at Clear Creek.

The Coast Guard said the body of Richard Lee Jenkins, 41, was found floating Tuesday in Galveston Bay.

17 Per Cent More Court Cases Filed

AUSTIN — The number of cases filed in district court in Scurry County during 1972 was 17 per cent more than the number filed during 1971, according to statistics released by the Texas Civil Judicial Council.

Cases filed during the last calendar year totaled 366, including 80 criminal and 286 civil.

Judge Wayland Holt of the 132nd District Court has jurisdiction in Scurry County. He also serves Borden County.

The local district court disposed of 352 cases during 1972, 62 per cent of the cases filed during the year or carried over from 1971. At the end of the year, 214 cases were pending on the docket.

Statewide, the 245 district, domestic relations and special juvenile courts experienced less than a 1 per cent increase in filings during 1972 — to 280,971 cases from 278,338 in 1971. Twenty-seven per cent of these were criminal cases.

These state courts disposed of 51 per cent of the total cases filed in 1972 or carried over from 1971. The defendant entered a guilty plea in 47 per cent of the criminal cases disposed of. In the cases disposed of by a jury verdict, 74 per cent of the defendants were found guilty and 26 per cent acquitted.

Of the 276,979 cases pending throughout the state at the end of 1972, 19 per cent had been on the docket 12 to 24 months and 28 per cent had been pending over two years.

For the last 40 years the Texas Civil Judicial Council has been collecting information concerning caseloads for the district and appellate courts. Beginning in 1973, the Council will expand its data collection activities by gathering and publishing statistics on caseloads of county, municipal and justice of the peace courts. These statistics are essential for study and evaluation of the judicial system and its effects on the people of the state.

Army And Navy Fall Short Of Quota Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials, citing poor recruiting results for the Army and Navy in June, are concerned the two services may not be able to attract enough volunteers to maintain their strength now that the draft is dead.

In the first month of what was called a critical summer recruiting drive, the Navy fell more than 40 per cent short of its goal and the Army, which has failed consistently to meet its enlistment objectives, missed its mark by 9 per cent last month.

The Air Force and the Marines, which have met their quotas in recent months, both went over 100 per cent again.

Pentagon officials have been counting on a summer surge of enlistments by high school graduates. There was an increase in June, but it was not big enough for the Navy and Army.

The Navy results were a particular disappointment to Pentagon officials. The Navy has led the services in relaxing dress and hair restrictions and otherwise moving to make service life more desirable.

But the preliminary results for June show the Navy gained only 8,357 volunteers, or 59 per cent of its 14,200-man goal for the month.

A Navy Recruiting Command spokesman said "the Navy is being very selective in maintaining our high quality and we sacrificed numbers to get quality."

However, the other services also claim they are concentrating on quality in their recruits.

The Army enlisted 15,019 new men in June, about 1,500 fewer than its goal.

And once again a special $2,500 enlistment bonus failed to lure enough young men into the Army's combat arms—the infantry, artillery and armor. A total of 2,310 men signed up for the bonus in return for a four-year enlistment in combat jobs. This was nearly 700 below the quota.

The combat arms have been the Army's most difficult problem in moving into an all-volunteer force.

The Pentagon ran out of authority to offer special combat arms bonuses at the end of June and has asked Congress to renew that authority. But it is likely that recruiters will be without the bonus as an enticement for most of these important summer months.

The Air Force and Marine Corps did what was expected of them in June. The Air Force enrolled 8,038 new men, or 101 per cent of its objective. The Marine Corps enlisted 5,840, or 103 per cent of its target figure.

Mills Plans To Enter Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, plans to enter Bethesda Naval Hospital within a few days for a thorough examination.

Mills, one of the most powerful men in Congress, said recently he will not seek re-election next year unless he finds relief for pain in his back caused by a degenerated spinal disc.

The Arkansas Democrat said Tuesday if extensive treatment is necessary he may transfer to another hospital in the Washington area.

THE SNYDER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SAYS... THANK YOU

SPECIAL THANKS TO JIMMY DYESS AND SCURRY COUNTY PARK DEPARTMENT ...FOR SERVICE BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY WITH A SMILE!

To the people of Snyder and the Scurry County Area . Your continued support in the annual July 4th celebration helped to make this year's event the biggest and best in the history of the celebration. Special thanks go to all the merchants who donated prizes and cash for Drawing and Tractor Pull.

The officers and directors of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce wish to pay special recognition to the following committees and committee chairmen for a job well done:
