Lions Club Picnic

No Meeting Next Tuesday But Picnic Friday Will Count On Attendance Record

There will be no Tuesday luncheon of the Lions club next week, according to announcement made today by Lion President W. L. McDivitt, however attendance records can be maintained by being present at the clubs picnic, to be held at Jines Springs on Friday evening, September 18.

The entire faculty of the Perryton schools has been invited to the picnic, and all members as well as their families are urged to attend. The program for the evening will be furnished by the visiting faculty members. The picnic supper will be spread at 6:00 o'clock and everyone is urged to be there before that time.

At the regular noonday luncheon held this week, Judge E. J. Fickens gave the principal address, speaking on his favorite subject, "Boys and Girls". Judge Pickens' talk was enjoyed by all present, who were impressed by his sincerity and with the ideas forwarded.

HEALTH ROUND-UP LAST WEEK

SEVEN CHILDREN WIN BLUE RIBBONS AS RESULT OF PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS GIVEN

Mrs. R. C. Allen, registered nurse in charge of the Spring and Fall round-ups of the Parent-Teachers association, reports as follows concerning the physical examinations which were given to twenty-three children at the Methodist church last Friday.

In the spring round-up a total of forty-five children were examined from the following schools:

Lakeview	1
Lone Tree	2
McMillen	4
Huntoon	4
Farnsworth	3
Waka	2
Black	1
Blodgett	5
Perryton	23

Of those examined last spring only two were graded one hundred per cent, the remaining forty-three having physical defects of some nature. The main purpose of the round-ups are to find the physical short-comings and have them corrected. Only eighteen of those examined in the spring returned for examination Friday and only a small percentage of them were found to be perfect. Puptls Friday were from the following schools:

Lone Tree	1
McMillen	3
Perryton	14
Fall examination only	5

As a result of these tests, four children in the Perryton schools will be awarded blue ribbons; two preschool children; and one child from the Lone Tree school. The McMillen school will receive a bue ribbon for having the most pupils at both the spring and fall round-ups. Perryton school could not enter for this honor. The McMillen award will be made at the next meeting of the County Council of the Parent-Teachers Associations. The ribbons to the seven children will be presented at the meeting of the Perryton association to be held on September 28.

Only three of the children examined had defects corrected. Mrs. Allen states that she will be glad to assist any Parent-Teacher Association in Ochiltree county, that has received blanks for Pre-School Health Round-Up. These blanks must be properly filled out by November 1, if they receive credit for the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hartman announce the arrival of a son, born Wednesday, September 9. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Wooten left Sunday for Granite, Okla., where they were called to be with Mrs. Wooten's father, J. D. Parten, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Buchanan and children left Friday for Albany, where Mrs. Buchanan and children will spend a month visiting with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. ... Underwood. Mr. Buchanan returned home Sunday.

Panhandle Is Still In Big White Spot

This map represents business conditions in every state in the Union as set forth in the September number of Nation's Business, official publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Washington, August 30—Trade and industry marked time in July as the country sweltered under the combined attack of heat and humidity, says Frank Greene in his monthly business review in Nation's Business, published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The review points out that new low price levels were recorded for cereals, cotton, rubber, copper and some other raw materials. The general price index numbers, Mr. Greene observes, however were supported by better prices for live stock, provisions, leather and hides, the latter two commodities reflecting marked activity in manufacture of shoes at nearly all centers.

"Woolen goods," the review continues, "also made a good showing as compared with a year ago and mills were active. Cotton mills were busier than a year ago. Deliveries of raw silk to mills showed continued enlargement despite strike troubles. In silk, overproduction and unprofitable prices were cited as an offset to the statistics showing increased in takings of raw materials by manufacturers.

"In the iron and steel industries, after a decline in output to 30 per cent of capacity, a short-lived fractional gain to 32 per cent seemed to fade in early August. July pig-iron output was the smallest in a decade. In the automobile trade such activity as ruled seemed confined to the smaller or lower-priced makes. Indeed, demand for structural steel for public works seemed to show the most resiliency in the industry.

"All in all, most activity in production or sale seemed to center in the lighter trades, with heavy industries marking time in a season of more than mid-summer quiet.

"Strikes have multiplied. They are traditionally numerous in hot weather and accounts thereof fill a good deal of space in the newspapers. Coal miners were out in western Pennsylvania, southeastern Ohio and parts of West Virginia. In Colorado lower wages were announced by large coal companies. A number of woolen mill strikes against reductions began and failed in July or in early August in New England. In the third week of July a strike began of silk workers in Paterson which grew until 5,000 were reported idle; this strike was for an eight-hour day, a five-day week and higher wages. A clothing strike of 30,000 workers in New York City against sweat-shop conditions lasted only a day or so when a new contract was agreed upon. There were also some strikes in New England shoe factories. Despite all these troubles the industrial sky, from a strike standpoint, is clearer than has ever been known in a time of similar depression.

"The really encouraging feature of the price index showing is that of hte price index showing is that there have been three small advances in seven months, and while the index is not as high as in the early part of the year there has been a disposition to steady up in prices as a whole in recent months. Compared with a year ago the decrease is 16 per cent and the average for the year to date makes this year so far the lowest in the price index since 1914. Indeed the August 1, 1931, index is only one per cent above the index number on August 1, 1914.

"Measures of July and seven-months movements reveal decreases of 250 per cent in July bank clearings from a year ago and 42 per cent from two years ago, with the country outside New York contributing a 24.4 per cent falling off from last year. Bank debits fell 25 per cent from July, 1930, and outside of New York they fell 21.3 per cent. For the seven months the decline in clearnigs from last year was 22.9 per cent and in debits 26.8 per cent. The smallest decreases in clearings for July were in New Enginad, the Pacific Coast and the South."

RANGER FOOT-BALL SCHEDULE

THIRTY-FIVE BOYS TRYING OUT FOR PLACE ON 1931 SQUAD; TEN ARE LETTER MEN

Thirty-five boys have been reporting for Ranger football practice this week, according to Coach E. E. Shupe, with a possibility of several more coming out next week. Ten of this number are letter men from last season.

Very little new material has been added to the squad, the big majority of those trying out being from last years squad. Indications point to a light team this season.

The schedule for the grid season has not been completed as yet but will include the following games:

Sept. 25—Pampa here.
Oct. 9—At Canadian.
Oct. 16—Speraman here.
Oct. 23—Follett here.
Oct. 30—At Shattuck.

A tentative date has been arranged for September 18 with Gage, Okla., here. If this arrangement is completed it will be announced definitely next week. A game with Panhandle will probably be scheduled for October 2 and arrangements are being made with Woodward, Okla., for a game some time in November.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Kelley were dinner guests Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shupe.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Barbour drove to Canadian Sunday to meet ... Tabor Cooper, Canadian, Okla., who will teach in the Perryton schools again this winter.

MASONIC BLUE LODGE CALL MEETING SAT.

A call meeting of the Blue lodge will be held Saturday evening, at which time a Master's degree will be conferred. All members are urged to be present.

GOLDEN WED. IS BIG DAY HERE

NEXT MONTHLY TRADES DAY TO BE OCTOBER 14; TO OFFER MANY BIG FEATURES

Wednesday, September 9, marked the opening of Perryton's Fall trade expansion campaign with the first of the monthly Golden Wednesday events, which went over in a very satisfactory manner. Practically every business firm in Perryton is cooperating in the staging of this city-wide event.

Hundreds of cars brought shoppers to Perryton to take advantage of the specials offered by the local merchants for the day, some of them coming a distance of forty miles.

The next Golden Wednesday event will be held on October 14 at which time many special features of the campaign will be announced. Watch for the next publication of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, the organization sponsoring the campaign.

Mrs. J. M. Wood, who has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Allen, left Friday with the Buchanan family to return to her home at Albany.

FLOWERS REVIVAL CLOSES SUN.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND MANY SPECIAL MEETINGS DURING TWO WEEKS METHODIST REVIVAL

The Flowers revival now well into the second week has attracted large crowds from the beginning. The meetings this week have been characterized by special groups coming each evening. The largest crowd of the week was young folks night when they packed the Methodist church to its capacity.

Sunday morning at an early hour the young folks of Perryton will have an early morning meeting for the young folks of the town. At eleven o'clock at the Methodist church only married people and school teachers will be admitted to the morning service. Sunday night the meeting will close.

Large groups of ladies and special groups of young ladies have been in special meetings with Mrs. Flowers this week.

The Flowers go to their home in Georgetown next week for three weeks of rest. They have not been home since the middle of May. During this time they have been continually in meetings. Their next meeting will be in Nebraska and from there they will go to New York state for two campaigns before the holidays.

The Flowers meetings have proved very popular and have been different from the average revival because of the many special services held.

Ray Singer returned Monday from a two weeks visit in Enid, Okla.

Lew Ewing Car Wrecked

Bright Lights and Three Automobiles Figure in Wreck of Car Near Range

Hardesty, Sept. 2.—Coming over the Trunk Line Highway at a point about two and one-half miles east of Range, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Ewing had an experience they hope never to participate in again. As they were driving down a hill and undertaking to pass a car and at the same time meeting a car with glaring head lights, Mr. Ewing who was driving became so blinded that he could not see his way clearly and as a result his model A Ford took the ditch and turned upside down. He and Mrs. Ewing were considerably shaken up and received minor injuries. A window was broken, fenders crushed and a blown out tire was the damage to the machine. Just at that time if happened several cars come up and gave aid to the injured and righted the car after which Mr. Ewing was able to drive it to his home on its own power.

The car was the same one that Mrs. Ewing was driving some three or four years ago when she and Mrs. H. L. Shorb, Mrs. Wernlei Shorb and daughter were enroute to Liberal to attend a Billy Sunday meeting when they were run into and the car almost completely demolished and the occupants injured to the extent that they were carried to a hospital where they remained for some time.—Liberal News.

IS PASTOR FOR WAKA BRETHREN

REV. O. H. FEILER TO LIVE IN PERRYTON; WILL FILL PULPIT AT BOOKER; FROM MISSOURI

Rev. O. H. Feiler and family have recently moved from Richmond, Mo., to Perryton. Rev. Feiler has accepted the pastorate of the Waka Brethren church and he will also preach at Booker, Texas, one Sunday out of each month. Bob Lyons, editor of the Richmond Conservator, one of the leading papers of Northwest Missouri, who happens to be a friend of many years standing of the Herald editor's father, pays the following tribute to Rev. Feiler:

"Rev. O. H. Feiler, for the past five years pastor of the Rockingham and Wakenda churches, has resigned and will complete his work Sunday with services at the Rockingham church. He and his family will go to Perryton, Texas, where he has accepted a charge. Special services appropriate for the event will be held Sunday at Rockingham.

"Rev. Feiler has been a valuable citizen in our county. He has been in the forefront of religious activity in the county and could always be depended on to come with his abundant energy and enthusiasm for any project that had for its ultimate objest the bettering of men's lives.

"During his service at Rockingham he secured a hold on the young people that was splendid. He had the faculty of interesting them in religious work and led them in a splendid manner. Under his guidance they took a part in the services and his group of young people he trained made tours to different sections and created a most favorable impression on all who heard them.

"Rev. Feiler was strong in his personal friendships. He will be missed by many who appreciated his warm Christian love and friendship and support at all times. He was our friend and we regret his decision to leave the county. To our opinion he had the proper convictions as to the perpetuity of the church, in that he took the training of the young people in hand and got them interested in the church and to taking a part in the exercises. To the young people the churches must look and Rev. Feiler is an advance agent for this great task that must be brought about. We wish we had more like him, men who know how to handle and lead and interest the young folks. We wish him well in his new location and can cheerfully recommend him as a man who practices what he preaches, every day in the year."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Records and children, Canadian, were in Perryton Sunday attending the funeral services of her brother, M. Q. McLelland, and visiting with her mother.

JONES SPEAKS LEGIONNAIRES

CONGRESSMAN MARVIN JONES MAKES STIRRING ADDRESS AT EL PASO AMERICAN LEGION MEETING

One of the high points of the El Paso state convention was the address which Legionnaire Marvin Jones, our own 18th district congressman, made on the afternoon of August 24, 1931. Following are some of the salient facts which Jones brought out in his speech:

This is crucial time in our country's history. We are at the cross roads

There is an age old struggle in the world. It is a contest between control of governments by a few in the interest of a few and the control by the many in the interest of all.

Five great principles are written into our constitution. Freedom of the press, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of religion and equality of opportunity.

Today a giant has risen in the old world that challenges all these principles. Russia takes issue with both our principles and our institutions.

Again this is not a new struggle. Greece had the world's first democracy where the happiest of the individual was supreme.

Just to the south of Athens in the land of Sparta was the world's first communistic government. There the individual existed for the state. Men and women were the pawns of the state. Children belonged to the state.

The Russians may feel that they have found something new, but the Spartans beat them to it three thousands years.

America must meet this challenge from the Old World.

This is a contest that will test her metal and she must clean the barnacles off the old Ship of State.

During our flourishing periods we were so busy chasing the dollar that a few selfish groups have undertaken to saddle an economic feudalism on this country.

We have had too much of the philosophy of Andrew Mellon. He is a smart man, and when his interests do not conflict with the interests of the government he may be efficient, but when they do, it is too bad for the government, as he looks after Mr. Mellon.

The trouble is that he is interested in so many lines of endeavor.

He and his co-workers have reduced the amount of money in circulation until this policy has made hard times much worse.

In 1920 the per capita circulation was $53.01. According to the last Treasury Report it is now $37.69. This is a reduction of nearly one-third.

It is hard to pay debts created during a period of liberal circulation with money that must be earned when the currency has been contracted until it has driven property value very low.

Money is the life's blood of the nation. If a human being had one-third of his blood removed, he would grow anemic, listless and his body would be very much weakened. The same is true of the nation's body.

The restoration of the circulating medium would do more than any other one thing to restore normal conditions in this country.

Again this group has encouraged merger upon merger, the piling of holding company upon holding company, the organization of subsidiary corporations and the issuance of excessive stocks and bonds until business has gotten on economic stilts so that if returns are to be had on these watered investments the prices are made too high.

A few people have too much of the wealth of the nation.

There are many discriminations in our freight rate structure, especially against the agricultural sections.

We must meet the Russian system face to face. If we are to do so successfully these discriminations must be removed. The people must take an interest and see that their rights are protected.

I have every faith that this will be done. Americans have met every emergency and will meet this one.

AIN'T IT SO TRUE

Amarillo, Texas,
August 29, 1931.

Dear Van:

I note in the current Herald that you too have come in for criticism etc., at the same time our dear old Tack ran into business over here.

Never in my long life have I experienced the crankiness, pessimism and hard-to-get-along-with attitude of the mill run of humanity. You will be damned if you do . . . and the same dose if you don't. During the past few months I am bothered terribly with the same form of carping and pecking . . . it comes for no particular reason . . . just comes . . . mostly about trivialities which would not be noticed nor mentioned when the public mind was not worried as it is today.

A large majority of those who are howling the longest and loudest are those who had nothing when times were better . . . and they have the same now . . . and always will have it. Nothing from nothing leaves nothing . . . therefore, when such people howl it should mean nothing . . . but folks think it serious because of the noise. Any man who puts his head under the sand and feet in the air crying for help these days . . . was not doing any good in the days called prosperous . . . the difference is he has just found it out and it hurts.

Accept my congratulations on behalf of the good wife for her success at El Paso.

With very personal regards, I am,

Your friend,
Claude Wolcott.

Raise Grapes at Home

Goodwell Horticulturist Reports That Plenty of Grapes Can Be Raised at Home

GOODWELL, Okla., Sept. 1.—Fred P. Eshbaugh, Horticulturist at the Panhandle Station, says it should not be necessary to drive trucks to Arkansas to get fresh grapes. In a test of 20 varieties, which is being conducted at Goodwell by Eshbaugh in cooperation with the U. S. department of Agriculture, some very satisfactory yields of high quality grapes have just been picked. These results are especially promising he thinks in view of the fact that these vines are in their first year of bearing and the late freezes last spring were more severe than usual.

Use of Wheat For Food

Goodwell Experiment Station Has Prepared Bulletin of Tested Whole Wheat Dishes

GOODWELL, Okla., Sept. 1—Although the Panhandle Agricultural Experiment Station maintains no department of human foods research an investigation has just been completed of methods of preparing and using whole wheat grain in the kitchen.

"Those who remember and hanker for 'the good old days'," said H. H. Finnell, director of the station, "when the family grocery bill was paid up once a year and did not amount to more than ten to twenty-five dollars, may have their inning yet."

Feeding the family a week on a quarter's worth of wheat plus a few trimmings to break the monotony would be quite possible though of doubtful desirability.

At the same time it would surprise many housewives to know the number and variety of nourishing and delicious dishes which can be cooked using home prepared wheat as a basis. From a large number of experimental recipes recently tested out under the supervision of the experiment station, the most successful ones have been selected and published in an article contained in Panhandle Bulletin No. 30 which will be ready for distribution September 1. A copy may be obtained by addressing requests to the Experiment Station, Goodwell, Okla.

LACK OF WATER FOR HENS COSTS OWNER MONEY

La Grange—Failure to provide a sufficient amount of drinking water for his hens cost Housman, poultry demonstrator of Fayette county, $22 in one month. As reported by county farm agent W. H. DuPuy, when Mr. Housman went to the hospital for a minor operation, average production of his flock dropped from 13 eggs per hen down to only 11 eggs. A careful check-up showed that there was an abundance of green feed, that the poultry houses were clean, that the mash hoppers were full of mash, but that the water fountains were not kept full of water. As 85 per cent of every egg is water it was easy for the county agent to diagnose the reason for the loss of production.

CHEAP WHEAT BEING FED TO HOGS

Wheeler — Wheat farmers of Wheeler county are bringing in feeder hogs to be used as a market for their grain, according to the report of Jake Tarter, farm agent in that county. Ernest Lee of Wheeler and A. I. Baird of Mobeetie are going to feed out 800 and 600 head respectively as demonstrations, using 30 cent wheat for grain and tankage and cotton seed meal for protein. The county agent will cooperate with them in watching the development of the demonstrations and the keeping of records of them. In this way it is planned to show the value of livestock as a grain market in Wheeler county.

FAMILY IS LIVING AT HOME

Floydada—Last year Mrs. Ed Holmes of the San Hill community in Floyd county had a garden 75 by 90 feet. On this she raised 30 varieties of vegetables. Three hundred quarts were canned of which 63 were tomatoes and tomato juice. According to a report made to Miss Martha Faulkner, county home agent, her expenses for planting, caring for the garden, and canning the products amounted to $23.70 and her profit on this investment was $95.

This year Mrs. Holmes has enlarged her garden plot to 75x60 feet. She has grown spinach, three varieties of beans, mustard, cabbage, beets, squash, black-eyed peas, English peas, butter beans, tomatoes, carrots, corn, okra, cucumbers, onions and two perennials, asparagus and rhubarb.

Watermelons are being grown for use in preparing watermelon products as well as for present enjoyment and about 50 strawberry and dewberry plants supply the table well and a few over to can.

"We have fresh vegetables from May to frost every year. We expect to have a good fall garden. We have never gone in debt for any groceries," Mrs. Holmes said.

The first canning this year was English peas on June 5th, since then Mrs. Holmes has canned 45 No. 2 cans of beans; 8 cans English peas; 15 cans of beets; 15 can spinach; and 7 cans of okra.

Mrs. Holmes has a new plot of ground for her garden and fertilizes about every other year with barnyard manure. The garden is irrigated by water from a near-by well.

The Holmes family have 14 cows and a number of the finest stock registered hogs. They canned 175 cans of beef and pork for last winter's use.

ON TEXAS FARMS
By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

From 30 acres of volunteer garlic H. A. Finch Jr. of McKinney has gathered 95,000 pounds of garlic which will be sold to northern buyers and meat packing plants all over the country. Prices in former years have been about four cents per pound, but the harvesting, storing, grading and curing expenses are high, he says.

Kangaroo or sand rats were killed "by the sackful" on the Beck Ranch west of Channing, Hartley county, when 70 pounds of poisoned milo obtained through the county agent was distributed in and around a 400-acre field.

The first trench silo ever dug in Guadalupe county has been completed by Paul Willmann of San Geronimo Community to enable him to keep his dairy herd producing uniformly throughout the year. This silo is 11 feet wide, 6 to 7 feet deep, and 45 feet long and is already half full with 25 tons of corn ensilage. It will be finished out with hegari.

In Valley View Community in Coke county three out of every four farms are terraced, all or in part, and the county agent says the job will be complete before another crop season.

By buying cattle worth the money, using no expensive feeds, and getting his early gains cheaply by pasturing his fields, G. C. Hughes of Hockley county is one of the few men who "about broke even" on his cattle feeding operations last year, the county agent says.

MIDSUMMER PARASITES

Parasites trouble livestock greatly in midsummer. If your animals aren't doing well, suspect parasites. The best protection against most parasitic ailments of young stock combines cleanliness and sanitation—raising animals on clean areas or in clean buildings away from older stock—and good feeding. Young stock are particularly susceptible to parasites; however, good vitality helps to protect them against the ravages of these pests. A husky cough in sheep, calves, or pigs may mean lungworm infestation. Pale linings of the dog's mouth and eyelids usually indicate the presence of hookworms, and this infestation calls for treatment by a veterinarian. Mites, worms, and lice may infest the poultry flock in midsummer. Along the Gulf and Pacific coasts and adjoining basins, sheep and calves may be infested with liver flukes for which a veterinarian should give carbon tetrachloride. Southern cattle may have ox warbles in their backs. The grubs may be squeezed out and destroyed, or killed by Derris powder, pyrethrum ointment, an injection of benzol, carbon tetrachloride, or fine tobacco powder or nicotine dust. Derris powder will destroy fleas on dogs or cats. This is also a good time to dip sheep for ticks.

HOME HINTS

A little kerosene in clear water helps in window washing.

French toast is as appetizing way to use of stale bread and provide a main dish for breakfast, lunch, or supper. Allow one-half to one-fourth cup of milk to two eggs. Beat the mixture, salt lightly, and dip slices of bread into it until well soaked. Fry in butter or well-seasoned fat in a heavy smooth skillet. Use moderate heat and let the toast become golden brown on one side before turning.

Spiced cherries, preserved with vinegar, make a good relish. Here's a recipe. Wash and pit large, sour, red cherries. Add three-fourths of their weight or measure of sugar. Sprinkle the sugar over the fruit in layers and let it stand overnight. In the morning stir until the sugar is dissolved and then press the juice well from the cherries. Tie a small quantity of whole spices in a loose cheesecloth bag, drop this into the juice, and boil it down until it is three-fourths of the original quantity. Pour hot over the drained cherries and add two tablespoons of vinegar to each pint. Seal and keep two weeks before using.

THE CONCRETE MIX

The quantity of water in the mix affects the strength of concrete. Too much water weakens the concrete and too little prevents thorough mixing. Tests show that concrete, to be strong, should be mixed considerably drier than is customary. A rough estimate of the quantity of water required for general work is four to five gallons to each sack of cement. The Bureau of Agriculture Engineering recommends a fairly wet mixture—one that can not be piled up and yet does not flow readily—for thin sections when reinforcement is closely placed. Use a dry mixture—one about like damp earth—when the forms are to be removed immediately; and a medium mixture—one between the wet and dry mixes—for general work.

ALL-DAY "SUNSETS"

Most of us think of Antarctic "scenery" as barren and colorless, but W. C. Haines of the United States Weather Bureau, who was meteorologist with the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, says that georgeous colors and queer figures appear in the Antarctic sky. When the sun skirts the horizon before disappearing for the long polar night there are brilliant "sunsets" lasting all day. The colors most often seen are red, orange, yellow, violet, and green. The Aurora Australis, southern counterpart of the northern lights, makes bands of varicolored lights running from the horizon up to the zenith. Different kinds of rings are formed by tiny ice particles in the air breaking up the sunlight and moonlight. There may be a circle around the sun or moon, or a cross, or a cross within a circle. Sometimes the geometric figures are more complicated and on the rims of the circle are parts of other circles, with streaks of light called sun dogs on each side of the sun. These designs vary, says Mr. Haines, because of the way the crystals of ice in the air are turned toward the light.

2 TRY A NEW DE LAVAL FOR A WEEK
Is your present separator skimming clean? If it isn't you are losing valuable butter-fat.
There are two easy ways to satisfy yourself, and it won't cost you a cent to do so.
(1) Run the skimmilk from your old separator through a new De Laval. If your old machine is losing butter-fat, the new De Laval, with the wonderful "floating" bowl, will recover it. Have any such cream weighed and tested. Then you will know exactly what a new De Laval will do for you.
(2) Try a new De Laval for a week. Separate half your milk with it and half with your old separator. Keep the cream in separate cans and at the end of a week see which can will bring you the most in dollars and cents.
We will gladly provide a new De Laval for such a test.

Perryton Parent-Teachers Honor Faculty Members

A most enjoyable time was had by all who attended the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association, which was held at the high school auditorium Monday evening, September 7.

Community singing of "America The Beautiful" and "He Leadeth Me" was directed by Oliver Bush with Mrs. J. W. Wilson at the piano. The invocation was given by G. I. Horne. Mrs. C. W. Callaway in her "Address of Welcome" dwelt on the changes in the community spirit brought about by the opening of school. The city seems to take on new life with the arrival of the teachers.

In the response made by Superintendent W. B. Irvin, he stated that the teachers were here to work and make life as pleasant as they could for the children and parents. He complimented the faculty members on their good looks and hoped their grade of work would compare in quality. Mr. Irvin said: "Let us go hand in hand to build and to progress to those higher ideals of life."

It would possible be of interest to some who were not present to know that the treasurer reported on the eighth district convention which was held in Perryton in April. The expenses amounted to $316.28. This leaves the association a balance of $65.00. The chairmen of each standing committee made reports.

Other program numbers were vocal solo, "School Time". Miss Elizabeth Caldwell accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Wilson; Reading, Edgar A. Guest's "Building a Home", Miss Kathleen Kelly; Vocal trio, "Rockin' Time", Mrs. Jack O. Lusher, Mrs. Chas. E. Whippo and Mrs. W. J. Brewer with Mrs. T. D. Moss at the piano.

After the program, the teachers formed a receiving line and a hearty welcome and hand shake was extended by all. Dainty refreshments were served by the social chairman, Mrs. Jas. E. Barbour, and her assistants to over seventy guests.

The next meeting will be Monday afternoon, September 28, at the school building.

Dinner Honors Charles Fike

Mr. C. E. Whippo was the gracious hostess Saturday evening at a three course dinner given in honor of Charles Fike, who will attend Amarillo Junior college this winter. Three other guests present will leave soon for college and they joined in receiving the honors. They are Miss Lola Sewell, Follett, and Miss Rosamond Jarvis, who will be students at Baylor University, and Giltner LaMaster, who is to be a roomate with Charles. Others enjoying the delightful dinner were Miss Ruby Neufeld and Charles Whippo Jr.

The table was beautiful with a centerpiece of orchid and white asters, while many soft lights glistened on other beautiful baskets of asters placed at advantageous places about the rooms. Placecards and favors were dainty little orchid "going-away" satchels.

After dinner several interesting games of bunco were enjoyed and the remainder of the evening spent at the Ellis Theatre.

Sorosis Club

The Fine Arts department of the Sorosis club met for the first time since spring on Wednesday afternoon, September 2, at the beautiful home of Mrs. D. D. Shanks, 615 Southwest Fifth Street, with Mrs. A. C. Witt and Mrs. L. L. Lance sharing with the hostess duties.

The lesson topic was on "Southern Artists" and roll call was answered by naming a Master Landscape Painting. Mrs. H. I. Hudson, Mrs. A. H. Nichols and Mrs. T. D. Moss gave interesting reports on a number of the noted southern artists and sculptors.

The Shanks home was decorated with lovely baskets and bowles of fragrant cut flowers. The hostesses served a delicious two course menu during the social hour. Novelty china favors were on each plate. A large number of members and the following guests enjoyed the afternoon: Mrs. J. H. Just, Reedley, Calif., Mrs. J. H. Neufeld, Mrs. Jas. E. Barbour, Mrs. Sam Hergert, Mrs. Harry E. Nickel, Mrs. W. C. Herndon and Mrs. Herring Lance.

Church Picnic

The beautiful grove of Harold Gibson on the Palo Duro creek, northwest of Perryton, was the scene of a very delightful picnic Sunday. About three hundred fifty people from the Perryton and Liberal Christian churches met together for a program under the trees. A table one hundred feet long, was spread with the best things imaginable to eat.

The afternoon was spent in visiting, wading, horse shoe pitching and in two games of "Pumpkin" ball with the Liberal married men carrying off the honors. Last came the eating of fifty watermelons. Oh, boy!

No one can appreciate the courtesy of Mr. Gibson more than the people of these two Sunday Schools do.

Slumber Party

Miss Besse Crum entertained with a slumber party at her country home on last Friday evening honoring Miss Elonia Sanders, who left on Saturday to make her home at Paris, Texas.

Guests for the evening were Miss Louise Brillhart, Miss LaFerne Wooten Miss Bedia Crum and the honorees. At [illegible] o'clock refreshments were served and night was spent in deep slumber.

In the afternoon, watermelons were added to the days feasting.

MORAN Q. McLELLAND

Moran Q. McLelland, age forty-three years, ten months, and fifteen days, son of Mrs. Susan McLelland of this city, died September 3, 1931, in the United States Veteran Hospital at Hines, Ill. The deceased was born at Purvis, Miss., October 8, 1887. Mr. McLelland had been seriously ill for many years, in fact his sickness dated from the time of the World War, when he served his country in the American army. He had been in and out of government hospitals ever since the close of the war.

Funeral services were conducted by the local American Legion, he being a member of the Perryton Post. The services were held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, Rev. C. E. Fike officiating, assisted by Rev. W. C. Bryan. The body was laid to rest in military form by his fellow Legionnaires at the Ochiltree cemetery. The casket was draped in a beautiful American flag, which was presented to the mother after the ceremony. Many flowers surrounded the casket as a token of the high esteem in which he was held in this community by his fellow men and neighbors.

Surviving relatives are the mother, Mrs. Susan McLelland, Perryton; two brothers, S. B. McLelland, Beaver, Okla., and C. R. McLelland, Independence, Mo.; three sisters, Mrs. Mamie Tucker, Oklahoma City, Okla., Mrs. Rosa Anderson, Perryton, and Mrs. Mae Records, Canadian, Texas. He was preceded in death by his father, M. Q. McLelland, and two brothers, W. R. and D. S., beside whose bodies he was laid to rest.

Mrs. Fred Butler underwent an operation at the Plaza hospital Wednesday. Though her condition is still critical, she is doing as well as could be expected.

Claud Baber came in Friday from Albequerque, New Mexico, and is visiting this week with his wife and little son, Jackie. His brother, Bob, drove through with him, returning Saturday.

FEEDING WHEAT TO LIVE STOCK IS PROFITABLE

The question of whether wheat can be profitably used for feeding livestock, raised by the low price of the breadstuff as compared with other feeds usually used for fattening cattle and hogs, appears to have been answered definitely in the affirmative by the result of experiments conducted at the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, at Stillwater. Prof. W. L. Blizzard, head of the department of animal husbandry at the institution, last November began a feeding experiment on 60 calves, of the same weight and condition, divided into 10 lots, each fed a different ration. The feeding period was 164 days. Five of the six lots were fed ground shelled corn—as much as they would eat; in the sixth lot wheat was substituted for corn. All of the six lots were fed prairie hay; five of the six, including the wheat-fed five, received cottonseed meal to build up the protein factor of diet.

At the end of the period weights and costs of feeding were determined. The lowest cost per 100 pounds gained in weight, $5.84, was recorded for the wheat fed group. The four next lowest figures were $6.83, $6.88, $6.91 and $6.98. The remaining lot, whose feed was corn and hay without cottonseed meal, cost $8.90 per hundred pounds. It will be seen,therefore, that the cost per hundred pounds of the cheapest lot of corn fed animals was 17 per cent higher than the cost incurred by feeding wheat.

The wheat and corn were each purchased for 60 cents a bushel. This affords a basis for computing how much more the feeder could have paid for wheat and still feed as cheaply as if he had fed corn. A simple calculation shows that 87-cent wheat would have given the same cost as 60-cent corn. The total cost of the grain fed to the calves which received wheat was $11.63; the cost of the corn fed to the lot which most nearly approached the wheat-fed calves in economy of adding weight by feeding was $16.88.

The conservatism of the farmer is proverbial, and it is a good quality. It is that which keeps the farmer planting and planting whether the harvest comes or not, or whether the year brings profit or loss. American farmers have shown a more progressive spirit in the use of implements and the modification of methods and practices than the farmers of any other country. The practicability of using wheat for feeding livestock, in years of surplus wheat crop and insufficient yield of other crops, should appeal to the common sense of the American farmer.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

DIPPING VAT IS HEATED BY WATER FROM GEYSER

Harnessing a geyser in the eradication of the parastic disease, cattle scabies, has been successfully accomplished by a construction company in Nevada cooperating with L. C. Butterfield, inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture.

The customary dipping vat equipment involves a straight trough, the contents of which are heated by a steam boiler. As the animals swim through the vat the crew "ducks" each one to insure thorough application of the dipping solution.

In the new style of vat all these operations are practically automatic. Water from the extinct geyser, or warm spring, flows from its crater at a temperature of 128 degress F. and is conducted through coils of 2-inch pipes which maintain the vat solution during the dipping operations at the desired uniform temperature of 102 degrees F. Instead of being straight, the new vat is octagonal and the animals are forced to make a trip around the vat one or more times as their condition with respect to scab mites may require. The vat is also equipped with a submerged ledge from which each animal slides to duck itself.

The vat holds 8 mature cattle or 10 yearlings. It is 64 feet in circumference and holds approximately 5,000 gallons of dipping fluid. The compact nature of this form of dipping equipment has several advantages including control of the time cattle are in the fluid and the smaller quantity of dip required for a given number of animals. The rate of dipping is also highly satisfactory being about 180 cattle an hour, for a 2-minute dip. Even without the unusual feature of using geyser heat, the new form of vat has so appealed to local cattlemen that several others of the same type are projected for immediate construction.

INFANT SON DIES

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Parsons at Perryton, in her mothers home, Mrs. A. L. Collingsworth, on September 1, 1931, a baby boy. It only lived one day, just long enough to cast its golden ray. Only a tiny rose bud plucked on earth to bloom in heaven.

On September 2, the little fellow was laid away in the Hardesty cemetery by friends and relatives. We can only say that God knows best although our hearts are so distressed and with eyes tear stained we must still trust and look to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons many friends of Perryton extend heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour.

QUANTITY, NOT PRICE, DETERMINES EGG PROFITS

College Station, Tex., July 27.—Pointing out that the number of eggs to the hen produced influences profits more than the price received, Paul A. Cunyus, assistant poultry husbandman, Extension Service, stressed the importance of proper management and correct methods of feeding for egg production in his talk on poultry demonstration records before the farmers and ranchers section at the Farmers Short Course at the Texas A. & M. College Monday. By the use of charts presenting mass evidence from 125,000 chickens upon 600 Texas farms, he portrayed the relative effects of these factors and showed that production, cost a dozen, and profit a hen follow each other very closely.

"Although the average Texas hen made a profit of 13.8 cents in December, 1929, with eggs selling at 45.2 cents a dozen, she doubled her profit with eggs at 24.5 cents in March, 1930, by netting 25.1 cents This was largely due to the 30 per cent increase in production over the average of 6.1 eggs laid in December. Lower feed prices probably had a slight effect also.

"Profits during the past few months have not been entirely wiped out in spite of the lowest prices for eggs since 1910, as low as five cents a dozen in certain localities," Mr. Cunyus said. "Three hundred and thirty-eight out of 400 demonstrators reported some profit above feed cost in February, 1931. The necessity for reduction in feed cost has resulted in a widespread interest in the use of home grown feeds. Many examples were cited where milk has served as the sole supplement for home grown grains and cut the feed cost from 10c to 12c a dozen to 5c to 6c. Poultrymen who have utilized their own feeds have invariably marketed them at considerably above market value through their chickens.

LOTTERY BRAODCASTING

This is newspaper shop talk but it might be of general interest anyway. It's about a discussion that is taking space in the newspaper trade publications relative to the lottery laws.

It is well known to postmasters, newspaper men and most advertisers that the postal laws are exceedingly strict in forbidding publication of news or advertisements pertaining to raffles, games of chance, guessing contests or any other scheme that Uncle Sam has always regarded as falling under the general heading of lotteries. Such schemes are declared by the post office department as "inimical to the public interest" No newspaper is permitted to go through the mails if it contains either news or advertisements pertaining to any of the above.

Recently the attorney general of Iowa, has issued orders to all county attorneys that merchants in any town, for instance, dare not give away prizes such as automobiles to the persons holding what is known as "the lucky number." And it is just too bad for any newspaper that should attempt to boost such a gift giving enterprise through its columns.

But does Uncle Sam take similar steps to put a quietus to lottery advertising via the radio? Verily, he does not! Anq radio listener-in knows that local lotteries are being advertised over the air in increasing quantity. Not only that but fake mediums, numberologists, fortune tellers, chairvoyants and grafters are working overtime, through broadcasting stations on programs "sponsored" by this or that concern. No reputable newspaper would be permitted to carry fake advertisements of this sort even if it should desire to do so.

Manifestly, there is an injustice here. A bill which was introduced in congress recently reads as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the last sentence of Section 29 of the Radio Act of 1927, as amended, is amended to read as follows: "No person within the jurisdiction of the United States shall, by means of radio communciation, (a) utter any obscence, indecent or profane language, or (b) announce, advertise or conduct a lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme, offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance or announce or advertise any list of prizes drawn or awarded by means of any lottery, gift enterprise, or similar scheme."

Newspapers are on the whole in favor of the passage of that act. Or, they desire permission to carry the same brand of advertisements thru their columns that now goes over the air.

Newspaper men cannot see why, if Uncle Sam permits this sort of acvertising to clutter up air currents, he cannot permit the merchants of their own towns to compete with these big concerns thru guessing contests, raffles or similar gift enterprises.

We believe the public sees the injustice of the present situation both to the newspapers of the country and to the local business houses who are the goats in the long run.—Register, Storm Lake, Iowa.

GIVE BABY SUNBATHS BUT AVOID EXCESSIVE TANNING

Why does modern child care include, among other things, so much attention to sunbaths both for babies and older children? The Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture explains:

Normal growth of bones depends not only on the mineral content of the food the child eats, but also upon the presence of vitamin D. Vitamin D found in codliver oil and in certain foods may be supplied to the body by exposure to the direct rays of sunlight. When bones do not form or grow normally, the condition is known as rickets.

Mothers should begin very early, especially in climates where children are indoors so much, to take precautions against rickets, by providing diets with adequate mineral content, supplemented with codliver oil during the winter months and sunbaths the year around.

Only a part of the sunlight is effective—the ultra-violet rays. Less of these are present in the winter sunlight. These rays do not pass through ordinary window glass nor through heavy clothing, so it is necessary to put babies frequently where the direct sunlight will fall on the skin. In the spring a baby can be placed out of doors in his carriage every sunny day if protected from wind. An older child can be dressed in a sun suit, such as those described in some of the leaflets prepared by the Bureau of Home Economics. All sunning must be done very gradually, especially with a very small baby.

Arrange the hood of the baby carriage so that the baby faces it, and place the carriage so that the sun shines on the baby's cheeks but not in his eyes. The sun should never shine directly on the eyes, whether they are open or closed. The moment the child opens his eyes, he gets the full effect of the glare, causing a shock which the child's processes are not organized to handle. Repeated shocks of this kind may cause permanent injury. Turn the baby first on one side, and then on the other. Expose the hands, too, for a few minutes each day. Take care not to burn his tender skin.

A slight reddening of the skin each day will gradually bring about tanning. Get the baby accustomed to sunlight by degrees. Every few days the amount of body surface exposed should be increased, more rapidly as the days grow warmer. By the early part of June, depending on the climate and the weather, sunbaths may be given the whole body. In farmer months the length of time is increased considerably, but the sunning should be given before 11 a. m. or after 3 p. m., to avoid the very hot part of the day.

Excessive tanning should be avoided because it prevents the ultra-violet rays from penetrating the skin, and therefore makes the sun bath less effective.

BY THE LIGHT OF MUSHROOM

Reading by the light of mushrooms is a novel experience. A striking phenoinenon shown by certain fungi is luminosity or phosphorescence, according to Vera K. Charles, pathologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, and an Australian species of mushrooms is said to give out such a clear, emerald-green light that is is possible to read by it. The phosphorescence sometimes noticed in dead wood is caused by the underground or vegetative part of the mushrooms, which often gives off a bright glow that may be seen from some distance. Phosphorescence is also sometimes shown by the mushroom itself, as in the cases of Clitocybe illudens, commonly known as pack-o'-lantern, and Panus stypticus, a very common species. Phosphorescence in mushrooms has been the basis in some countries for fairy stories and superstitions about ghosts.

CHAPTER XLVI

The demands for American divisions were pressing. The First, Second and Third had already become actively engaged, the First being slated to go to the reserve near the Chateau Thierry salient when relieved from Cantigny. The second was still in line at Belleau Wood, and the Third south of the Marne.

General Foch had asked for fvie of the divisions recently arrived that were training with the British. Of these the Fourth and Twenty-eighth, while en route to the quiet Vosges sector to relieve French divisions, had been diverted to the reserve near the western face of the Marne salient.

The Thirty-fifth had moved to the vicinity of Epinal and the Seventy-seventh was about to enter the trenches in the Baccarat sector to replace the Forty-second, which was to reinforce Gouaud's army east of Rheims. The Eighty-second had started for the Toul sector to relieve the Twenty-sixth, which in turn was soon to relieve the Second.

Thus there were three American divisions in quiet sectors and seven either in the battle line or held in readiness to meet any eventuality which might result from further activity of the Germans in the great wedge they had driven toward Paris.

British Displeased.

The British were displeased at the transfer of our divisions from their area, claiming priority to retain them by reason of having brought them over. When General Foch inquired of the conditions under which these troops were serving with the British, my reply made it clear that he had entire authority to direct where they should go in the emergency, as without it the theory of supreme command would fail.

The rapid succession of German offensive had seriously crippled the allies, and not only materially reduced their powers of resistance but had depressed their morale and caused the darkest misgivings among them. They grew more and more fearful lest the enemy might still have untold reserves ready to swell his forces. That the morale of the allies was low was shown by the conclusions of many of their soldiers returning from the front to the rest areas.

Reports from the British front were no better. Their troops continuously told our men who were with them for training that we had come too late and that our entry into the battle would only postpone allied defeat. This attitude seemed so alarming that I took steps to prevent such a spirit from affecting our army by promptly reporting the facts to allied authorities. The presence of such sentiments was another important reason for opposing any form of amalgamation.

Vastness of Request Unrealized.

Far short had we fallen of the expectations of the preceding November, when Foch, General Robertson of the British, and I had joined in an urgent appeal for twenty-four trained American divisions by the following June. It is small wonder that the allies were now so insistent in urging increased and continuous shipments of men, trained and untrained.

So serious was the situation regarded that it was no longer a demand for twenty-four divisions but for 100. It is probable that the vastness of this request was not fully realized, or else the allies had greatly exaggerated ideas of our power of accomplishment, surprising as actually proved to be.

A brief calculation of these demands of the prime ministers showed that they were asking more than 2,500,000 combatant troops by the folowing spring, which augmented by those required for the services of supply, conservatively calculated for a well-balanced force situated in a foreign country under the circumstances that surrounded us, would amount at least to 4,000,000 men.

The American combatant force would thus have equaled 20 divisions of the allies, and their apprehension may be imagined when we realize that this was greater by one-fourth than the combined allied armies of 162 divisions then on the western front.

Saw 3,000,000 as limit

Although no such number as this could have been considered feasible, as it is unlikely that it could have been either transported, equipped or supplied, it was necessary, in view of the situation, to lay plans for bringing over all we could. After giving the question careful study, it seemed to me that 3,000,000 men men would be the limit we could hope to reach by the spring of 1919.

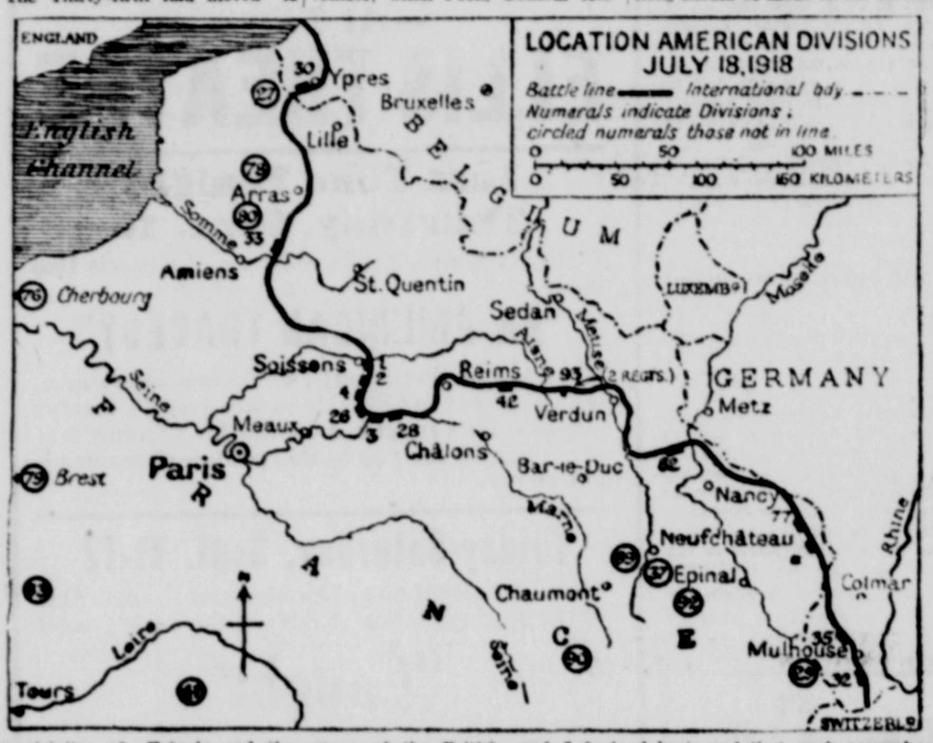

This, roughly, would provide at least sixty-six or possibly over seventy combatant divisions, the rest being necessary for the non-combatant service. As we had hitherto made estimates based upon a total force of 2,000,000 men, it was quite imperative that calculations should be made on the increased basis and that work everywhere in the A. E. F. should now have that end in view.

A cable I sent June 21 set forth the reasons for fixing the program for the future definitely at 3,000,000 men as a minimum, and urged upon the War department the utmost requirements for the expansion of port facilities and railroads. A detailed study of the troop shipments and tonnage required was included:

"There is nothing so dreadfully important as winning this war, and every possible resource should be made immediately available. Mr. Secretary, the question is so vital to our country and the necesity of winning the war is so great that there is no limit to which we should not go to carry out the plan I have outlined for the next ten months, and we must be prepared to carry it on still further after that at the same rate or maybe faster."

CHAPTER XLVII

The Thirty-second, Thirty-fifth, Forty-second and Seventy-seventh divisions were now in training under the recently organized Third corps. Especial effort was being made to hasten their preparation in both staff and line in anticipation of an early call for more serious service.

I inspected these troops June 19-22, 1918, and my impressions were favorable, although a number of officers were found unfamiliar with the principles of tactical leadership. In such hastily trained units this was hardly surprising, especially in view of the known defects of the instruction at home.

Many were found with but slight appreciation of the natural defensive possibilities of a given position. Some battalion and even regimental commanders had not thought to ascertain the exact location of their front lines, and of course had failed to work out the details of preparation against a posible attack.

My predilection for detailed instructions in minor tactics, growing out of my previous personal supervision of training in both small and large units, led me quickly to discover deficiencies.

My diary notes the establishment of the military board of allied supply at this time, June 22, 1918. It was expected to study questions of supply and adopt proper measures for the co-ordination of allied resources and utilities.

Col. Charles G. Dawes, who had charge of a more limited sphere of the co-ordination of our own supply departments, was detailed as the American member of the board.

Lauds Courage of Negro Troops.

Cables from hte War department June 22 stated that the colored people at home were being told that negro soldiers in France were always placed in the most dangerous positions, were being sacrificed to save white troops, and were often left on the field to die without medical attention. t was not difficult to guess the origin of this sort of propaganda. As a matter of wact, none of these troops had been in line except in quiet sectors. Those I had recently seen were in fine spirits and seemed keen for active service.

The only colored combat troops in France were those of the Ninety-second division, then in a quiet sector in she Vosges, and the four infantry regiments of the Ninety-third, each attached to a French division. Several individuals serving with the French had already received the Croix de Guerre for conduct in raids.

Clemenceau at Chaumont.

Prime Minister Clemenceau, General Foch and M. Andre Tardieu, with Generals Weygand and Mordacq, came to Chaumont June 23, 1918, for a conference on the increase of American man power.

M. Clemenceau's popularity in France was probably at its height. As this was his first visit to Chaumont the people turned out en masse, crowded into the plaza and reception within the Hotel de Ville by the officials, civil and military, gave him a rousing welcome. His was marked by eloquent speeches. In his remarks M. Clemenceau gave the people every encouragement, deadfedig ,jas,aldofakm making special reference to the increasing forces the Americans were sending over.

As we were leaving the widowed mother of a missing soldier, her only son, came up in great distress and told M. Clemenceau of her sorrow. He spoke tenderly of her patriotic sacrifice, put his arm gently around her and kissed her cheeks, mingling his tears with hers. The pathos of this touched every heart.

As General Foch and the others were not arriving until later, M. Clemenceau and I, driving together, accompanied by Generals Wirbel and Ragueneau in a separate automobile, went to the headquarters of the Eighty-third division, Major General Glenn commanding, which was billeted at Montigny, not far from Chaumont. We fell to discussing the probable situation of the various allied countries and their relative standing after the war. M. Clemenceau went to some length in his conjectures.

Thought Britain Finished

"Great Britain is finished and in my opinion she has seen the zenith of her glory," he said.

"What makes you think so, Mr. Prime Minister?" I asked.

"First of all", he replied, "the immense drain of the war will make it impossible for her to retain commercial supremacy, and, second, the experience of her colonial troops in this war will make their people more independent and she will lose her control over them."

I could not agree with Mr. Clemenceau's view and said: "Mr. Prime Minister, I think you are mistaken about the British, and I believe we shall see them fullly recover from the effects of the war."

Continuing, I asked: "What about France's future?"

"Ah! She will once more be the dominant power in Europe," he replied.

In the next installment General Pershing writes of hospitalization and of Yanks in Gouraud's army.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The lesson-sermon subject was "Man" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sundya, September 6.

"Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright," was the golden text, taken from Ecclesiastes 7:29.

The service included the following passages from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them"—Genesis 1:26-27.

These citations from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were also read (pp. 475, 515, 288):

"The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the ness of God. Man name for all ideas daughters of God. the glorious possibi tal man, forever u mortal senses."

Congressman Jones Announces Free Portrait of George Washington for Each School

Announcement was made today by Congresaman Marvin Jones that every schoolroom of every school in his district will, within a few weeks after the opening of the new school term, receive a beautiful portrait-poster of George Washington, executed in colors.

The portrait to be used in these posters is a reproduction of the famous Gilbert Stuart painting and will be 22 inches by 28 inches in size. This poster was selected after a good deal of study, and is considered the finest example of poster making available.

The poster-pictures featuring George Washington are being distributed by Congressman Jones in cooperation with the United States George Washington Bicentenial Commission of Washington, D. C., in order to stimulate interest among the thousands of school children of the district in the coming nine-months celebration of the Two-Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of the Father of Our Country.

Mr. Jones is in constant touch with the activities of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission which was created by Congress to formulate and execute plans for the great celebration in 1932.

The United States Commission is placing a good deal of emphasis on the cooperation of the school children of America in this historic event. This poster-picture is just one feature of its work.

Congressman Jones announced that he will see to it that the schools, clubs, churches and fraternal and patriotic organizations in his district will be adequately supplied with literature to be issued by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The George Washington Bicentennial Celebration will begin on February 22, 1932, and last until the following Thanksgiving Day.

Spring Grain Crops

Goodwell Experiment Station Issues Bulletin on Substitute Crops on Wheat Acres

GOODWELL, OKLA., September 1—The general movement to reduce wheat acreage has created a lively interest in substitute crops, according to H. H. Finnell, director of the experiment station here. Particularly numerous have been inquiries coming into his office about the varieties and sources of seed of oats and barley. The September number of the Panhandle Bulletin contain a report of the production of 19 varities of spring grain at Goodwell, Oklahoma during the past 8 years.

Although winter barley produced about two bushels per acre more than the best spring variety there were two years out of eight when the spring barley out-yielded the winter. The experiences described in this bulletin indicate that it is somewhat easier to avoid failures with spring grain than with winter grain. Spring barley has once produced a crop when oats were a failure and three times out of eight years when spring wheat was a failure. This crop has been successful every year that winter wheat produced a harvest and has averaged about the same yield pound for pound as winter wheat.

This Is A Mongrel Dog

It's breed is mixed, its ancestors unknown. And because it is a mongrel dog, it is not as valuable as a thoroughbred. It is a product of chance and not the result of scientific breeding. Its family never runs true to form in color, weight, size and disposition. Because it is a mongrel dog.

Mongrel tires fall into the same class as mongrel dogs. They are tires made by a manufacturer unknown to you. Who makes mail-order tires? You don't know. Therefore you can have no confidence in them or in the store that sells them. Would you buy an automobile of unknown make, even though you were acquainted with the agency selling it? Of course not! You would want to know who made the car before you invested your money in it. Mail-order tires are mongrel tires, and run true to mongrel traditions.

The sponsors of this advertisement have no quarrel to pick with the mail-order houses when they hold their own conduct in the retail tire business on a plane of competitive decency. But when mail-order competition sinks to tactics that are apparently unfair, then we construe it as our duty to defend our interests and to inform the public of Perryton as to the conditions that actually exist.

Naturally, the most important question in the minds of the tire buyer is price. Mail-order prices are not lower than the prices of nationally-known tires sold in Perryton. Size for size, tread for tread, casing for casing, the tire you buy in Perryton is just as good if not better, than the mail-order tire. Mail-order tires have no monopoly on quality. Standard, nationally-advertised tires, sold by local Perryton dealers, have stood the test of years, and have won for themselves reputations that really mean something to you.

Are mail-order prices lower than our prices? Not by a long shot. Compare their prices with ours. In practically every instance you will find that we give you a guaranteed tire against their tires, at prices that compare favorably with theirs. The companies who make the tires we sell are in a position to meet and even undersell the prices of mail-order concerns. Dismiss the price argument from your mind. Perryton dealers can and do meet mail order price competition.

Mail-order houses have been quoted as saying that it costs more to sell tires to independent dealers, therefore they must charge higher prices. Nothing is further from the truth. It is generally known that no maker of tires distributes his products through both his own warehouse and the jobber. He uses either one or the other, and no tax is placed on the purchaser. Don't let anyone tell you that it costs more to do business with your local dealer. If anything, it costs less.

One thing that mail-order houses don't boast about is service. They can't talk about something they are in no position to give. The independent tire dealer gives you a degree of service which the mail-order house does not render and does not attempt to perform. Your Perryton dealer sees the same customers often. He has to give them good service because it is the only thing he can do if he intends to remain in business.

Even the best tires sometimes go wrong, and when they do, you'll find your Perryton dealer ready and anxious to make good. He is right here when you want him, when you need him. The independent dealer offers you more tire value than any mail-order house ever thought of giving you. Compare what you get from both of them, your own good sense will tell you that the Perryton dealer is your best bet.

Candidates Taken Into Grange Organization; Discuss Important Civic Matters

At the regular meeting of Lone Star Grange, held Tuesday evening, a class of candidates were conferred the first and second degrees while another group was given the third and fourth degrees.

During the lecturer's hour, readings were given by Carolyn and Harold Chase, also by Mrs. Merton Smith. A discussion was held on the matter of providing a public dump ground, in an effort to keep the highways clear of trash and rubbish. A civic improvement committee was appointed to handle this question.

EASY TO HANDLE THE BEE STRING IF YOU KNOW HOW

The sting of the honey bee is painful, but interesting. If the victim understands the structure and operation of the bee's defense weapon, he can prevent much of the pain and swelling. J. I. Hambleton, in charge of the bee culture laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture, gives this cheering information.

When a bee prods its victim it tears itself from its sting, a sacrifice which costs the insect its life. But the sting left in the skin has just started on its way, for it and the poison sacks attached are equipped with muscles which send it deeper and deeper.

The sting is composed of two lancets, each provided with a series of sharp barbs pointing backward similar to a harpoon. The reflex action of the muscles attached to the sting mechanism is such that first one lancet is driven into the flesh, where it anchors, then the other, and so on, each lancet going a little deeper and becoming more firmly lodged. During this time the muscles are also squeezing the poison sacks in such a manner that poison is constantly being pumped into the wound.

Most persons make the mistake of trying to pull out the sting. When this is done the pressure of the fingers empties the poison sack into the flesh. The sting should be immediately scraped or scratched out and since no time is to be lost looking for a knife or even in opening one, the fingernail is the best thing to use in the emergency, says Mr. Hamilton, who has the demonstrating visitors at the bee [illegible]

LUTHERAN MISSION FESTIVAL

HUNDREDS OF LUTHERANS IN BIG MEETING HERE LAST SUNDAY; GUYMON HAD CHURCH BAND HERE

From far and near hundreds of Lutherans and their friends flocked to Perryton last Sunday to join the local Lutherans in celebrating their annual mission festival. Large delegations came from Hooker, Guymon, Texhoma, Optima, Turpin, Booker, Follett and intermediate points. Several cars bearing Kansas licenses were also noticed in the crowd. Although the local church had arranged for double its usual seating capacity, space was at a premium, scores being unable to get inside the church building. However, additional seats were placed under the open windows around the building, and thus all were able to participate.

The Rev. Paul Kaiser, Iowa Park, Texas, preached two masterful sermons portraying the blessed missionary work being carried on by the Lutheran Church and encouraging every Christian to be a personal missionary for Christ. His topic in the morning was, "Serve the Lord With Gladness" and in the afternoon he spoke on "The Purpose of the Christian's Existence on Earth." Music played an important part in the celebration. The congregational singing of the vast assembly was truly inspiring. Choirs from Hooker and Guymon as well as the local choir and a group of Sunday School children sang mission anthems. The Guymon delegation had brought its church band along and played a number of selections during the noon hour.

The good ladies of the local church deserve to be highly complimented on the excellent meals they prepared and served to about 500 hungry folks. The tables fairly groaned under the weight of the many delicious foods which tempted the appetites of all present. There was no sign of "depression" anywhere, not even in the splendid offering which was raised for missionary expansion purposes.

Many new friendships were formed; old acquaintances were renewed. All in all, it was the biggest and best gathering of its kind ever held in this vicinity.

CAR OWNERS DEMAND VALUE —not Claims!

Motorists are finding the Greatest Values in Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Ever since Firestone and Firestone Dealers began advertising the true facts about tire quality and construction and actually demonstrating the Extra Values in Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, distributors of special-brand mail-order tires have grown bolder and bolder with misleading claims and comparisons in the desperate effort to interest car-owners.

Car owners bought more Firestone Tires in May, June and July, this period in history. This clearly shows that car owners are interested in Firestone Values and are not interested in comparisons based on an almost obsolete confusing laboratory analyses—meaningless definitions—impractical challenges—unfair claims of twenty-five per-cent savings—and deceiving price comparisons.

Why risk a tire of unknown manufacture when you can get the Extra Strength, and Extra Safety of the special patented construction of Firestone Tires—Gum-Dipping, and Two Extra Cord Plies under the Tread.

You get these Extra Values—plus our Service and the DOUBLE GUARANTY of Firestone and ourselves—at no more cost!

Drive in today.—We have sections cut from Firestone Tires, special-brand and mail-order tires and others.—See the evidence.—Take nothing for granted.—Judge for yourself.
