Subsidies said wasteful

Energy tax foes work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the $40 billion, eight-year package of energy tax breaks recommended by the Senate Finance Committee are getting a chance to rewrite the bill to their liking.

A group of senators led by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., wants the Senate to drop many of the tax breaks for businesses, as well as a proposed tax credit of up to $400 for individuals insulating their homes.

A vote on the first of Kennedy's amendments was possible today. The result would provide the first indication of whether the full Senate will accept the finance committee's approach to energy, which rewards conservation and production with tax cuts, instead of President Carter's plan to force fuel savings through higher taxes. As the Senate began debate on the finance committee's bill Tuesday, Kennedy described it as a "bloated... grab-bag of wasteful tax subsidies."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee, compared it to a Christmas tree, with something for everybody.

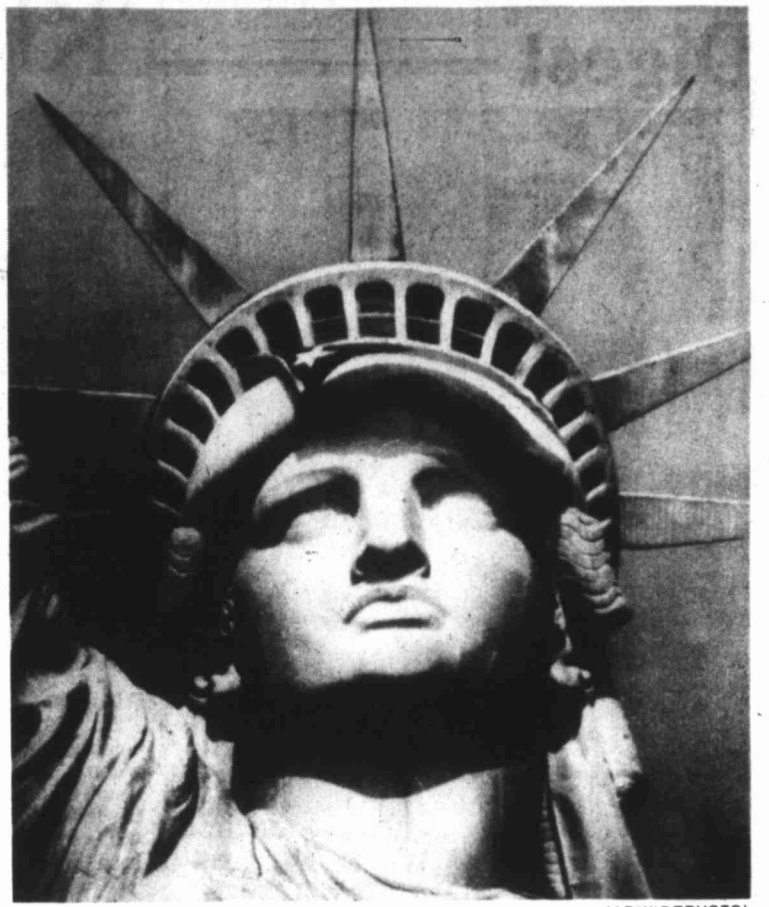

And the chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said the bill spends so much money that it would jeopardize national goals of full employment and a balanced budget.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., meanwhile, is pushing an amendment that would restore a form of Carter's tax on inefficient cars. Under his proposal, by 1985 buyers of cars rated at 21 to 26 miles per gallon would pay a tax of $200 to $1,200.

On Tuesday, the Senate-House conference committee, which is studying non-tax parts of the energy package while waiting for the Senate to finish work on the tax bill, refused 23-1 to accept a plan already passed by the Senate banning the manufacture of the most inefficient autos.

Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., predicted that Senate conferees will never accept the plan offered by Carter and approved by the House, which would impose a stiff tax on cars that don't meet prescribed mileage standards. But Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., the conference committee chairman, said a compromise was still possible.

A NEW WRINKLE ON MISS LIBERTY'S BROW — The flag of Puerto Rico is draped across the brow of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor Tuesday after some two dozen demonstrators seized the edifice. The group of Puerto Rican nationalists held the statue for nine hours before submitting peacefully to arrest. They were seeking independence for Puerto Rico and the release of four Puerto Rican terrorists now serving terms for the 1954 shooting of five Congressmen.

Gavrel testimony attacked

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A former ambulance attendant testified today Gus "Bubba" Gavrel told him he could not identify the "man in black" who gunned him down outside Cullen Davis' Fort Worth mansion. And he said the gravely wounded shooting victim pulled two bags of marijuana from inside his pants and asked him to "get rid of them."

"I looked at it a second and decided to throw it out the window," Paul Goheen told the jury in Davis' capital murder trial.

Goheen said he first saw Gavrel sprawled on the breakfast room floor. He said he leaned down and asked him where he had been shot.

"I don't know where I've been shot. Just get me out of here... he's going to come back and get me," Goheen quoted Gavrel as saying.

Goheen said he asked Gavrel who was going to get him and he said the young man replied:

"I don't know who. Just get me out of here. He's going to come back and shoot me."

Goheen said he and his associate loaded Gavrel into the ambulance and headed toward a Fort Worth hospital. He said he was attempting to remove Gavrel's clothes to examine his bullet wound when Gavrel "reached down into his pants and pulled out two plastic bags."

"Have you ever seen a substance like that before?" defense attorney Phil Burleson asked.

"Yes sir, I have," Goheen responded.

"Do you know of your own knowledge what it was?"

"It was marijuana."

Goheen also testified he talked to Gavrel's date that night, Beverly Bass, 19, outside the mansion and that he had an occasion to see her eyes.

"They were dilated and glassed over," he said.

"Is that consistent with a person who had taken drugs?" Burleson asked.

"Very consistent," the witness replied.

Goheen also told of spotting a black plastic trash sack lying in the grass under a street light off the road near the mansion.

Burleson held up a plastic garbage sack recovered from within the mansion and asked Goheen if the bag he saw that night was similar to the one in evidence.

He said it was.

Goheen said he notified officers on his radio of his discovery of the plastic sack and he said they came to the location and searched for a weapon.

Liberty liberated by police

NEW YORK (AP) — The Statue of Liberty again beckons the "huddled masses yearning to breathe free" — along with visitors to her New York harbor island — after a nine-hour occupation by 30 Puerto Rican nationalists.

The demonstrators, members of the New York Committee to Free the Puerto Rican Nationalist Prisoners, were to be arraigned today in U.S. District Court in Manhattan on charges of criminal trespass, U.S. Atty. Robert Fiske said.

U.S. Park Police broke through a glass door in the statue's base at 6 p.m. Tuesday and captured the unarmed demonstrators, who were chanting, "Free Puerto Rico."

The occupation started shortly after 9 a.m. when the demonstrators arrived on Liberty Island on a sightseeing boat. They chased tourists and 90 school children from the statue and draped a large Puerto Rican flag across the front of the statue's crown.

During a day of negotiations, the demonstrators rejected seven offers from federal negotiators.

The leader of that attack, Andres Figueroa Cordero, was granted clemency several weeks ago and returned to Puerto Rico because he is suffering from cancer.

Trans Regional's plane located, man arrested

After nine hours of surveillance, Mississippi state agents swooped down on the missing Trans Regional airplane as it sat concealed on a remote airstrip near Greenwood, Miss. at 9 a.m. today.

According to Sheriff A. N. Standard, agents from the Mississippi Bureau of Alcohol, Tax, and Firearms informed the sheriff at 12:30 a.m. today that they had located the plane. Standard requested surveillance at that time.

When they pounced, Mississippi officials nabbed a 50-year-old Greenwood man with a lengthy prison record. The man is being questioned by state and FBI agents.

Standard said that he felt the man in custody was probably not the cat-footed thief who drove off the $180,000 bird from its nest in the Trans Regional hangar at the Howard County Airport in the early morning hours of Sept. 16.

The plane was reported missing to the sheriff's department at 8:20 a.m. on that Friday. R.E. McClure, manager of the airline, reported hearing a prop noise at 4 a.m. The plane was later reported as touching down in Beaumont, where attendants have been working with law enforcement officials to identify a composite drawing of the man who was flying the plane.

El Paso alderman says

Ambulance firm 'inadequate'

By JAMES WERRELL
EL PASO — Asked about the performance of El Paso Ambulance and Rescue Service, a police alderman here labelled the firm inadequate in emergency situations.

However, Wesley Martin, part owner of the ambulance firm says that the charges stem from a disagreement between the City of El Paso and the ambulance firm.

The ambulance service is presently under contract with the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, and has requested a contract with the city of Big Spring and Howard County.

Alderman Dr. J.B. Jones, a veterinarian, said El Paso Ambulance Service "has been less than adequate in responding to emergencies." Dr. Jones said he had no complaints about "non-emergency" runs, but added that the firm which has contracts with the City of El Paso and El Paso County "has failed to live up to contracts in several respects."

Asked to elaborate, Dr. Jones said that "they let their insurance run behind" and failed to locate a sub-station in the city as specified in the contract.

"The response time is too slow on emergencies," Dr. Jones added.

The Herald attempted to contact other El Paso officials, but were unable to obtain a comment.

Wesley Martin, legal counsel and part owner of El Paso Ambulance Service, claims that Jones "has a bone to pick" with the firm.

"The problems began when members of the city council (of El Paso) decided that ambulance services in the city should be handled by one entity. They chose a service, and wanted to grant it an exclusive franchise," said Martin. "We felt this was unfair, and we fought it. And we made enemies on the council," he added.

According to Martin, excess insurance coverage did lapse for between three and four weeks in 1977, but was renewed as soon as the firm was notified. The attorney stressed that only excess coverage was allowed to lapse, and basic coverage for the service was always intact.

Martin also explained that El Paso Ambulance operates out of one main location and three sub-stations, covering the four compass points for the city.

"Jones felt that our westside station was not far enough west to cover that part of town. We were instructed to relocate the station in 20 days, and eventually, maybe 45 days later, we relocated," said Martin. "This is nitpicking," he added, referring to the charge of failure to live up to contract agreements.

Colorado City council grants 8.33% hike

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City councilmen granted Texas Electric Service Company a rate increase of 8.33 per cent during their regular meeting Tuesday night.

The utility firm had sought a 23.6 boost in rates. The lower figure, however, was recommended by City Manager James Campbell.

The Austin firm of Touche and Ross had been retained by the Colorado City council to evaluate TESCO's request and to recommend an equitable rate, Campbell said. The firm recommended that Colorado City not go any higher.

Campbell said he thought the increase granted was "fair," then added:

"Regardless of what you might do here, the Public Utility Commission will have the final say."

B.B. Hardee, local TESCO office manager, said the company is preparing an appeal to the PUC for an increase above that granted by the city council.

Martin brushed off accusations of slow emergency response as misunderstanding and "just part" of the ambulance business.

He said that El Paso Ambulance had contracted to provide an emergency transportation service, and some members of the city council construed this as a contract for an Emergency Medical Service.

EMS requires more sophisticated equipment and more highly trained personnel than an emergency transportation service. EMS also requires certification by the state.

"We respond to the majority of emergencies in the city. But we have been in the business for seven years, and there are sometimes problems. I would say, with a few exceptions, we have a good rapport with the city and the county," Martin concluded.

Reed charged in bat death

William A. Reed, 22, 1510 Hilltop, was charged with voluntary manslaughter in the death of Thomas Donahue, 37, who died Tuesday at 12:20 a.m. after being hit in the head by a baseball bat.

Reed is the son-in-law of Lafert Pierce, 1510 Hilltop. Donahue's death came after an argument which flared around remarks concerning Mrs. Pierce's deceased husband, according to statements taken by Howard County deputies.

Reed was treated for a knife cut reportedly inflicted by Donahue before his death.

Hitchhiker 'pays' for short ride

STANTON — Lady Luck wasn't riding with a 29-year-old hitchhiker at 9 p.m. Tuesday night. He caught a ride from White Castle to Stanton, but one mile west of town he paid $35 for the short trip.

Terry Traylor, Branchin, La., was headed for Big Lake from his home state. He caught a ride in a 1973 Buick or Pontiac with three long-haired Mexican males, who politely drove him to one mile west of Stanton, then pulled a knife and relieved him of his wallet.

In the true Robin Hood tradition, they did not harm the hapless victim in any way, save making him walk back to town. According to the Martin County Sheriff's office, the bandits thus gained a three-hour head start.

And Traylor, after reporting the incident, walked back out to I-20, stuck out his thumb, and hitched another ride.

FORMAL OPENING FOR FIRM AT WEBB — Ribbon-cutting ceremonies for one of Big Spring's newest industries were held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at Webb Hangar 1103, where Lubbock Manufacturing Company is opening a tank-assembly plant. A welding torch is being used by Bob Rogers, vice president of the firm. From the

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: It's legal here

Q. Scene on decals, aluminum or other material cannot legally be placed in the window of any motor vehicle, according to New Mexico law. Does Texas have a similar law?

A. According to Jim McCain of the Big Spring Police Department, it doesn't. If the window decorations can be seen through, they're not illegal. Anything that obstructs the view, of course, is not acceptable.

Offbeat: Slithering into limelight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Dog show addicts, cat fanciers and equestrians take note, a new kind of animal is slithering into the limelight — snakes.

And what's more, snake fanciers are perfectly serious about it. "We're trying hard to keep from looking like carnival people," said Mary Hart of Canby, whose 13-foot spotted Burmese Python took grand champion honors during the weekend at the Northeast Reptile Association's second annual snake, lizard and turtle show.

Although you can't very well put a snake through its paces like a horse, or "stack" one like a dog, there are judging criteria.

Judges Frank Slavens, a reptile keeper at the Woodland Park Zoo in Seattle, and Richard Werner, a Portland veterinarian, ranked the coiling critters on disposition, general appearance, markings and showmanship of their owners.

Grand Champion Moria, now a 4-year-old, is expected to reach about 25 feet at maturity. Miss Hart, 27, says the snake is easy to care for — it eats nine rats a month.

"What's more, you can go away and leave them for a couple of weeks at a time and not worry."

Comedienne's operation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Totie Fields, whose comedy routine frequently pokes fun at her health problems, had a cancerous breast removed only 18 months after her left leg was amputated and five months after eye surgery.

The discovery of cancer in the 46-year-old comedienne's right breast came Monday during testing at Los Angeles' New Hospital. She had been admitted over the weekend suffering from exhaustion. Doctors decided to proceed immediately with surgery, a modified radical mastectomy.

Miss Fields was hospitalized eight months in all with the amputation and eye surgery. Afterward, she said she was determined to make up for lost time and embarked on a strenuous tour to play all the engagements she had missed.

"She was extremely exhausted after working 15 weeks straight," her agent, Howard Hinderstein, said Tuesday.

Hospital spokeswoman Susan Weight said the comedienne was "doing great" and was expected to be released in about five days.

Miss Fields' leg was amputated when she developed phlebitis while hospitalized in April 1976. After months of recuperation, she was fitted with an artificial limb and resumed her performing schedule.

In May 1977, she underwent an operation to remove the vitreous fluid in her left eye. The fluid had become clouded because of her diabetes, a spokesman explained.

Miss Fields said her loyal friends and their good humor helped her through her illness.

"My friends came to see me in the hospital four or five times a week. They never gave me an ounce of sympathy, and so I never started feeling sorry for myself," she quipped.

Divorce suit withdrawn

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former Texas speaker Price Daniel Jr. was sued for divorce by his second wife on Monday but the suit has been withdrawn, his campaign headquarters said Wednesday.

"The suit has been withdrawn. There is no problem," a spokesman for Daniel said.

The suit was filed Monday in Liberty County by Mrs. Daniel, the former Vickie Moore of Liberty.

Daniel, who is a Democratic candidate for attorney general, previously was married to the former Diane Ford Wommack of Austin. They have two children.

Daniel was married the second time in November, 1976.

Daniel was reported campaigning in Houston Wednesday.

Ex-Governor's lament

SEATTLE (AP) — Being governor is worth 33 yards at college football games, says former Gov. Dan Evans.

"I used to sit on the 50-yard line at University of Washington football games," he said in a recent interview. "Now I sit on the 17."

Evans, the state's Republican governor for 12 years, is now president of Evergreen State College. Evans, who did not seek re-election, was succeeded in January by Dixy Lee Ray, a Democrat.

'Klan Border Watch' under way

DULZURA, Calif. (AP) — The national director of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan says private patrols have begun along the 2,000-mile Mexican border, but very few Klansmen were in sight the first night of the operation.

In a news conference held in the darkness of the rugged hills just north of the border, David Duke, Grand Dragon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Tuesday announced the official beginning of the "Klan Border Watch."

"We will be here as long as it takes to meet the response" of the illegal alien problem, said the 27-year-old leader of the white supremacist group.

Duke said about 230 Klan members will patrol the border in Southern California, with another 150 in Texas, 60 to 75 in New Mexico, and almost none in Arizona.

However, U.S. Border Patrol officials said they saw no Klansmen on the first night of the program.

Observers reported sighting at least 10 Klan members, along with six Klan vehicles. The cars and pickup trucks had "Klan Border Watch" signs taped to the sides.

Duke said Klansmen would refrain from direct contact with illegal aliens. If any are found, he said, Klansmen would not talk to them or contact them.

"But if any illegal crossings are seen, they're going to use CB radios to relay the information to the border patrol," Duke said.

Duke, of Metairie, La., claimed the Klan "has the support of the American people" in helping the border patrol stem the influx of illegal aliens into this country. He claimed the illegal aliens take jobs away from U.S. citizens. Meanwhile, Border Patrol officials, other local officials and Mexican-American and minority groups denounced the Klan program.

In San Ysidro on the border south of San Diego, 40 people met at the port of entry to protest the Klan patrols and what demonstrators claimed was the Immigration and Naturalization Service's "support of racist activities."

In San Diego, Herman Baca, chairman of a coalition of religious and minority groups, said 40 anti-Klan organizations would demonstrate at San Ysidro Saturday. The coalition also is working out its own plans for non-violent patrols to counter Klan movements along the border, Baca said.

In Mexico City, Mexican Foreign Secretary Santiago Roel said he is watching the situation carefully, adding his government "will protest if there is any case of aggression" against Mexican citizens.

Patrick Lucey, U.S. Ambassador to Mexico, said last week that under no circumstances would the Klan be allowed to patrol the border. However, Klansmen last night said they had been patrolling unofficially for a week and had little contact with federal agents.

Duke also claimed he has met with Justice Department officials and other federal agencies. But Allen Gerhardt, chief agent for the Border Patrol in the San Diego area, said "We are not cooperating with the Klan."

Border Patrol officers reiterated their opposition to any interference or "assistance" from the KKK.

Two charged with rape

Jesus Olivarez, 24, Crystal City, and Jose Hernandez, 27, Ackerly, were formally charged Tuesday with the rape of a Big Spring State Hospital patient.

The complaints were filed in Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena's office.

The pair have been in custody since Sunday night, when Dawson County deputies answered a call involving a 31-year-old woman who had left the state hospital Saturday.

Also in custody in Ackerly is Carlos Munos, 20. He has been charged in Dawson by County Justice of the Peace Richard Nelson. Bond on the three has been set at $25,000 each by Nelson. Olivarez and Hernandez are in custody at the Howard County jail.

Rodeo stars

Jackie Buchanan, Big Spring, teamed with Buddy Moore, South Plains College's dean of men, to win second place in ribbon roping in the Cat Daddy Rodeo held last week in Levelland.

First place was claimed by the tandem of Earl Gerstenberger, SPC dean of students, and Shorty McIlwain of Hamlin.

Tommy Southall of Lamesa was fourth in bareback bronc riding.

The rodeo was sponsored by the SPC Aggie Rodeo Club.

Klondike homecoming

KLONDIKE — The Klondike Junior Class will sponsor a Mexican supper from 5 to 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, one of the highlights of a Homecoming program Friday.

Adult plates will sell for $2.50 while children will be admitted for $1.75.

Tickets can be purchased from any VICA or OEA member. Funds from the meal will be used for trips, projects, banquets and other club expenses.

All exes in the Klondike, Sparenburg, Flower Grove and Union Terry areas have a special invitation to attend the Homecoming activities, which will be highlighted by a Friday night football game.

Deaths

Irene Dyess — LAMESA — Services for Mrs. Irene Dyess, 83, of Lamesa, will be at 4 p.m. today in Key Baptist Church with the Rev. E.R. Holder, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of Branon Funeral Home.

Mrs. Dyess died in Medical Arts Hospital here at 8:20 a.m. Tuesday following a brief illness.

The Paris native had farmed in Dawson County with her husband E.S. Dyess, whom she married June 24, 1911 in Anson, from 1916 until his death November 1949. She was a lifelong member of the Baptist church.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Bonnie Marie McNutt of Lamesa; two sons, Ira Royce Dyess, and Billy Joe Dyess, both of Lamesa; two sisters, Mrs. Bernice Collett and Mrs. Opal Riley, both of Carlsbad, N.M.; a brother, E.A. Truitt of Lamesa; and four grandchildren.

Lee Jones

LAMESA — Funeral for Mrs. Dick (Lee) Jones, 69, of the Gail area, will be at 2 p.m. today in First Christian Church at Lamesa with the Rev. Dudley Strain, pastor emeritus of the First Christian Church in Lubbock, officiating.

Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of Branon Funeral Home.

Mrs. Jones died about 7:30 p.m. Monday in Medical Arts Hospital after suffering an apparent heart attack.

The Old Emma native married Dick Jones May 1928 in Plainview. They had been ranching and farming in Borden County 35 years.

Christmas carols cleared

BAYTOWN, Texas (AP) — Due to popular demand, Christmas—"Silent Night," Santa Claus and all the rest—will be held after this year in the Goose Creek School District, Superintendent Johnny Clark has decided.

A religious discrimination suit by a Jewish mother had prompted Clark last week to prohibit the observation of any Christmas programs dealing with religious themes.

Clark withdrew his prohibition after about 3,000 residents of this Southeast Texas city crowded into an emotional school board Monday night that stretched until 3 a.m. Tuesday.

The board voted unanimously to push aside the ruling. Clark said he issued the original directive on the advice of the district's lawyer, Richard Peebles, in connection with an eight-month-old lawsuit filed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) on behalf of Ruth Johnson.

The woman claims Christian activities in Baytown public schools violate her parental right to determine her children's religious training.

"The legal position taken by me and the district's attorney was not based on emotion," Clark said, adding that he favors the board's decision.

Peebles said he considered one portion of the suit dangerous as it affects the action taken by the board.

The suit alleges that by allowing religious activities in the public schools, the individual board members have violated the plaintiffs' civil rights. Peebles said the trustees could be held financially responsible.

Last year, before the suit was filed, Clark prohibited Bible reading and prayers during school hours. The district's choral director issued instructions, last week, to all principals forbidding reference to Christ in Christmas programs.

Attorney Patrick Wiseman, who helped prepare the brief for the ACLU, said, "The issue of taking Christ out of Christmas was raised by the defendant's lawyer, not us."

The suit is set for trial next May. The U.S. Supreme Court banned compulsory prayer in public schools in 1963 in a suit filed by Madalyn Murray O'Hair, now of Austin.

Clark said the Goose Creek board established guidelines in 1976 to ensure religious liberty for all without discrimination of any kind. The guidelines did not include extra-curricular activities such as special assemblies.

Monday night's board meeting started with a prayer.

Childress cotton broker's checks eyed

SEYMOUR, Texas (AP) — Testimony in the trial of former Childress cotton broker Vaughan B. Nowlin Tuesday focused first on alleged worthless checks his company gave a cotton farmer and developed into an in-depth look at his financial dealings.

Nowlin is being tried in 50th District Court here on charges he issued a check for $43,002.49 to Cottle County farmer Prentiss Fields to pay for 187 bales of cotton though he did not have sufficient funds on deposit at the time.

Nowlin faces several civil suits in 118th District Court in Big Spring over alleged worthless checks used to buy cotton.

A parade of witnesses testified before the 7-man, 5-woman jury on extension of bank credit to Nowlin, return of drafts issued by the Nowlin Company on two cotton firm accounts, returned checks issued to farmers, "missing" cotton warehouse receipts and reported "exchange" of some 577 Paducah receipts for other receipts as collateral on a bank draft.

Fields testified he sold his cotton to Mrs. Elva Currey, buyer and commission agent for Nowlin on March 5, 1976. He said three checks, including the one for $43,002.49 from the Nowlin Company, were returned.

Nowlin, 34, who now lives at Durango, Colo., could face a 2 to 20-year prison term and a fine of up to $10,000 if convicted on a charge of felony theft by check.

McDonald's sues health director

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — McDonald's Corporation has filed suit against El Paso city-county health director Dr. Bernard Rosenblum alleging he slandered the hamburger chain when he said Riverside High School students were served contaminated food at one of its restaurants.

The suit, filed Tuesday, also names the city and county as defendants, seeks actual damages to McDonald's name and reputation and reimbursement for loss of profits in excess of $10,000. The suit also seeks unspecified punitive damages and court costs.

Rosenblum held a news conference Oct. 3 and said test results indicated that a Sept. 16 illness that struck 132 students could be traced to Bacillus cereus bacteria.

The students had eaten at a McDonald's restaurant in Alamogordo, N.M., and Rosenblum said "these hamburgers were contaminated with Bacillus cereus."

McDonald's alleges, however, that no identification of the bacteria was made in the laboratory tests and that even after being notified that no identification of bacteria was made, he "continued to republish his statement when he knew such statements were erroneous."

McDonald's claims its reputation for "quality food products" served in a "wholesome, clean environment" has been damaged by the "false and defamatory" statements by Rosenblum.

McDonald's officials have accused Rosenblum of "reckless and irresponsible" conduct and "misuse of his position as a public official" during the investigation of the episode.

A spokesman for the firm said Tuesday the company felt it had exhausted all other available avenues to urge Rosenblum to reconsider his diagnosis before filing the suit.

Rosenblum would not comment, referring all inquiries to City Attorney John Ross. Ross also declined to comment.

Police beat teen's forehead

A 15-year-old boy narrowly missed serious injury Tuesday afternoon. According to reports, Jessie P. Silva, Colorado City, was cleaning a .22 caliber pistol in his sister's back yard, 505 Johnson, when the gun discharged. The bullet apparently grazed Silva's forehead.

He was taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital by his brother and a friend where he was treated and released.

A mistake that could happen to anyone cost Mobeley's Restaurant, 211 E. 2nd, $100.45 Tuesday.

According to reports, Sara Lou Lewis, part-owner of the restaurant, was carrying the day's receipts to the bank when she stopped at Ideal Cleaners, 401 Rannels, to pick up some clothes. When she got back into the car, she left the envelope with the cash inside lying on the top of the auto.

She drove several blocks before she remembered where she had left the envelope, and when she retraced her route, she was unable to find it.

A vandal entered the Head Hunters Beauty Salon, 1310 Austin, sometime Monday night, and turned on the water tap. Water overflowed onto the floor of the salon until it was discovered by a cleaning lady that night.

Extent of damage has not been estimated.

Two mishaps were reported Tuesday. Vehicles driven by Katie A. McAdams, Route 1, and Weldon K. McAdams, Route 1, collided on the 600 block of Manor.

A vehicle driven by Mark W. Froman, Sixth and Gregg, struck a pole at the intersection of FM 700 and Goliad, 2a.m.

Special meet

STANTON — A special meeting of the Stanton school board has been scheduled for 8 p.m., Thursday, during which time state legislation pertinent to schools will be discussed.

In addition, the trustees will approve a tax appraisal contract with the firm of Prichard and Abbott.

American Petrofina profits

DALLAS — American Petrofina Inc., has announced that net income for the third quarter of 1977 amounted to $9,378,000 compared to $9,644,000 in the same period last year. Net income for the third quarter of 1977 is equal to 88 cents per share against 90 cents per share in the third quarter of 1976.

Depressed by inadequate returns on refining and marketing activities although increases in income were realized from the production of oil and gas. Earnings from the petrochemicals and plastics division were reduced by slack demand and depressed prices.

Cosden, which maintains a refinery and petrochemical complex in Big Spring, is a subsidiary of American Petrofina.

Commenting on the results of the third quarter, R.I. Galland, chairman of the board, said that earnings of the energy division were

Kneecappings hint IRA losing

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British security authorities believe the Irish Republican Army is losing support among Roman Catholics weary of more than eight years of bloody guerrilla war in Northern Ireland in which nearly 1,800 persons have died. Security chiefs cite as evidence sharp increases in the number of persons who have been "kneecapped" — shot in the knees by the guerrillas of the IRA's Provisional wing as punishment for disobeying them. Police report more than 200 kneecappings this year, more than double the number reported last year. They say most of the victims were Catholics, members of the minority community on which the IRA is dependent for members, hideouts and information.

Some of the victims were young Provos, as the IRA Provisionals are generally known. Security chiefs believe this confirms reports of a split within the organization over how the campaign to end British rule of Northern Ireland should be waged.

Five years ago the Provisionals could mobilize up to 700 armed men in Belfast alone. British intelligence now estimates guerrilla strength in all Northern Ireland at 200. There are more than 6,200 Provisionals in prison. More than 900 suspected terrorists have been arrested this year. Reliable sources say many of the arrests resulted from tipoffs from Catholics.

The Provos are reported to be short of explosives because of tightened security, especially along the 260-mile border with the Irish Republic. They have been noticeably sparing in their use of explosives in recent months.

Stronger security has also curbed the guerrillas' mobility outside their stronghold Catholic districts. There have been no big car bombs in Belfast for nearly a year although devastating fire-bomb attacks continue.

Mitchell attracts wildcats

Mitchell County drew locations for two wildcats and a Martin County project was rescheduled as a wildcat. An extender was assured in Sterling County and tests continued at a Glasscock project. Supron Energy Corp., Dallas, will drill two 7,800-foot Ellenburger wildcats. The No. 1 Thompson, four miles southwest of Colorado City, is nine miles southwest of the depleted Turlock (Strawn oil) field four miles north-northwest of the Champion Lake (Yates gas) field and nine miles east of the Dockery (Clearfork) field.

Location is 990 feet from the south and east lines of 62-27-T&P.

The No. 2 Thompson, 1 1/2 miles to the southwest, is 1 1/4 miles northwest of a 7,660 foot failure and 1 1/4 miles east of a 7,715-foot failure. Location is 450 feet from the north and 890 feet from the east lines of 75-27-T&P.

The 7,715-foot failure, Scurlock Oil Co. No. 1 Powell, was abandoned Sept. 28, 1952; the 7,630-foot failure, Seaboard Oil Co. No. 1 Thompson, abandoned Nov. 26, 1948, topped the Ellenburger at 7,630 feet on elevation of 2,062 feet.

IN MARTIN COUNTY, BTA Oil Producers, Midland, has rescheduled as a 13,500-foot Ellenburger wildcat its No. 7-C 7412 JV-S Mustard, former location southwest stepout to Devonian production in the Lacuff multipay field, 2 1/2 miles north-northeast of the Ellenburger opener and lone producer from that pay in the Block 7 multipay field, and 20 miles northwest of Lenorah.

The project, slated for 12,200 feet, drilled to 12,284 feet and ran loss.

Location is 2,173 feet from the south and 900 feet from the east lines of 2-7-University Lands.

The Ellenburger opener, Texas Co., No. 1-X State, was finished Sept. 10, 1950 to pump 14 barrels of 48 gravity oil and 308 barrels of water, through perforations at 13,275-300 feet. It was dually completed from the Devonian Dec. 23, 1950 for 390.29 barrels of 45 gravity oil, through a 10-64-inch choke and perforations at 12,280-95 feet. It shows not to be producing at this time.

IN STERLING COUNTY, a 1/4 mile south and a 1/2 mile west extension to Canyon oil production was assured on the south side of the Big Salute (Canyon, Leonard and Leonard "A") field with the flowing of 128 barrels of oil, along with 269 barrels of load water, in 24 hours at Texaco Inc. No. 3-K Sterling Fee, in 29-31-5s-T&P, 14 miles southwest of Sterling City.

Flow was through a 24-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,566-953 feet, which had been acidized with 1,850 gallons and fractured with 50,000 gallons and 50,000 pounds of sand. Testing continued.

IN GLASSCOCK COUNTY, Adobe Oil Co., Midland, No. 1-A Currie, in 30-32-4s-T&P, unidentified prospect, probably Wolfecamp, 3/4 mile west and slightly north of the second producer and a four-mile south-southeast extension to the Apple Creek (Wolfecamp oil) field, 1 1/4 miles southeast of a three-mile southwest extension to Strawn production in the Garden City multipay field and seven miles east of Garden City, swabbed 15 barrels of fluid, 45 per cent oil in four hours.

Testing continued through perforations at 7,374-575 feet.

TS&M Department at Fina consolidated

DALLAS — Realignment and consolidation within the Transportation, Supply, and Marketing Department of American Petrofina, Inc., has been announced here by Robert C. Low, group vice president, TS&M Department.

Ben G. Crocker, president of Fina's crude oil and product pipeline companies, assumes additional duties as general manager of the consolidated Transportation Department, composed of Fina's Trucking and Traffic departments as well as the pipelines. The realignment centralizes under Crocker the truck and rail movements as well as the pipeline functions.

Charles D. Emel assumes Crocker's previous responsibility for Raw Material Supply in a separate department in Fina's TS&M group.

Crocker, a native of Mansfield, La., joined Fina in 1966 as manager of Crude Oil Supply with the company's wholly-owned subsidiary, Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. In 1969, he was made general manager of Raw Materials Supply for American Petrofina and one year later became president of the Pipeline Department.

Crocker received his bachelor of science degree from Northwestern State College in 1949 and a master of business administration from Tulane University in 1960. He is married to the former Oma McBride and the couple have two sons.

Emel joined Fina as assistant manager of Crude Oil Supply in 1973, was promoted to acting manager a few months later and named manager of the department in January, 1974.

A native of Goodland, Kan., he attended schools in Brewster, Kansas and Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kansas. Emel is married to the former Sara Bayless and the couple have one son.

Weather

Fog in Houston should burn away

Dense fog covered the Houston area and a vast section of Southeast Texas including most of the upper Texas coast early today.

Forecasters said the fog should burn away by mid-morning, but motorists were warned to use caution while driving in the area because the fog reduced visibility to near zero at many points.

Elsewhere, skies were clear and forecasters predicted fair weather with highs expected to reach the 80s statewide.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 60s in the eastern half of the state to the 50s in West Texas and into the lower 40s in portions of the Panhandle and South-west Texas.

Some early morning readings included 47 at Amarillo, 54 at Wichita Falls, 57 at Texarkana, 58 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 61 at Austin, 57 at Lufkin, 56 at Houston, 63 at Corpus Christi, 67 at McAllen, 60 at Del Rio, 58 at San Angelo, 48 at El Paso and 51 at Lubbock.

Congress displays fortitude

The future of oil prices and exploration is an issue most important to Big Spring.

This resource-rich Permian Basin area still has much potential to supply petroleum to an energy-hungry nation if the climate for doing so can remain favorable.

Likewise, the supply of energy for the United States is one of the issues most essential to the well-being of our country.

The health of the oil business in Big Spring and the health of the nation are tied together, and they are being decided this week in Washington.

The Senate and House of Representatives have both passed energy bills. The measure which squeaked by the House was fairly close to the one President Carter had proposed. This bill would continue to regulate natural gas prices, provide no incentives for new exploration, and do lots of other generally bad things.

The Senate, however, decided to go its own way, and it passed a much different energy bill which would provide for deregulation of natural gas prices.

NOW THE question is in conference committee between the two bodies, and a new energy plan will emerge. Because the vote on deregulation was very close in the House and passed in the Senate, it appears likely that the energy bill will include deregulation.

Even President Carter seems willing to compromise, indicating that he might accept deregulation if the market can be allowed to seek its own level slowly by removing the regulations over a period of years.

This is amazing in the light of the president's previous polemics about the giant oil companies ripping off the American consumer and such.

The most remarkable thing about these recent developments is that it was Congress, and not the executive branch, which has appeared willing to bite the bullet and take hard but important steps toward solving the energy crisis.

Normally, the president is expected to provide the brave leadership on the really tough issues.

But not this time. Congress could see the folly of trying to convert the nation to use more coal, while at the same time letting the price of coal run free and holding natural gas prices to bargain lows.

So far, Congress has shown all the fortitude, and the president has displayed very little vision on the energy issue. Perhaps he should surround himself with eggheads and acquire some advisers with a working background in energy.

THE COMPROMISE conference bill is unlikely to be everything it should be. There are certain to be many flaws in it that are political compromises. There will still be the element of regional economic warfare.

The bill should: — Deregulate petroleum prices quickly, and build in incentives for new exploration.

— Provide tax credits to firms who reinvest profits in energy research or development.

This is the only way the energy problem can be solved. Certainly it cannot be solved by a new tax bill, as the president had originally proposed.

The president and Congress feel they must have an energy bill passed this session, so each seems willing to compromise.

The surprise may be that the bill may turn out to be a better one than the president proposed, or that anyone in West Texas might have thought had a chance to pass.

—J. TOM GRAHAM

Going to wire

William F. Buckley, Jr.

As the arguments in the Bakke case flow on before a Supreme Court clearly in pain at the prospect of having to handle a question so charged with emotion, one reflects on several matters that have received insufficient attention, among them the awful disadvantage of being a formal part of a state organization.

In an ideal world, the public school would exercise rights to self-governance no less than those of a private school. The only difference would be the source of funds. But instantly there are objections. The atheist mother, who objects to her child being conscripted into a session of common prayer. That mother made it all the way to the Supreme Court not long ago and the result was to outlaw the Bible in the public school, even as we were making way for Hustler on the newsstands.

TEN YEARS earlier, the Courts were using the argument to press their own way against Jim Crow, back before the legislature acted, in the various civil rights acts, to proscribe it. The argument went roughly as follows: If you own and operate a saloon, then you do so by sufferance of the state, which grants you a liquor license.

But the moment you accept that liquor license, you become, in a way, an agent of the state. Therefore, in refusing to serve liquor to that man because he is black, or that person because she is female, you are not exercising your own right to pick your own clients. You are co-opting into an active collusion in your bias, the machinery of the state.

The Bakke case brings on the disadvantages of the doctrine of State involvement. A generation ago efforts were made, for the most part successfully, by state legislatures to establish "Fair Educational Practices Acts." At the University I attended, the administration was adamantly opposed to the passage of such legislation, dispatching expert witnesses to argue that in fact the University was not guilty of exercising discrimination on account of race or religion. But it was implicit in its position that should the University choose to exercise discrimination, it ought to be free to do so.

The great weapon of the state, like the weapon of the liquor license in the saloon, was the matter of tax exemption. If the state denied tax exemption to a college, the state would in effect close the college's doors. Eventually, the private schools and universities gave up, and in due course there was federal legislation preempting the role of the states. By that time, federal money had barrowed its way into virtually every curriculum in the country, and the fight was lost.

Mr. Archibald Cox, who is arguing the case for the Regents of the State of California against Bakke, is a very bright man who in 1975, well before he was selected to superintend the arguments in favor of the right of affirmative action, wrote a little book—a collection of lectures—in which he discussed some of his apprehensions about the intrusion of the courts in matters best left to political and social transaction. In chapter 3 of that book, Cox looked right down the throat of the DeFunis case, which preceded Bakke, and wondered whether the court was competent to determine admission standards.

Rubella outbreak

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a 12-year-old boy who was born during the 1964-65 rubella outbreak. He is hard of hearing, had a cataract removed from one eye, and has a heart defect. He leads a relatively normal life, takes no medication, and is not restricted in any activities. The reason I am writing is because of his weight. He weighs only 62 pounds and is 4 feet, 7 inches tall. I've had him to a number of doctors, and no one seems to know why he is so thin and short. Is it possible that the German measles (rubella) had anything to do with his retarded growth? Has there been any follow-up on those rubella babies as to how they are doing 12 years later? — C.C.

This child has had several strikes against him from the beginning. It takes a special kind of parent to deal with these very special children, and from your letter you appear to be one of them.

As for his height, you must consider your own and his father's height. If neither is tall, he may not be tall. For his age and height he is about 10 pounds under average weight. He still has a lot of potential growth left in his adolescent years, so it's too early to judge. An endocrinologist might be able to predict by examining the state of the ends of his long bones.

It is possible that rubella affected his pituitary, where the growth hormone originates. This would be pure speculation, however. Just feed him well, and bide your time. Much can happen in the next few years. Meanwhile, don't betray your concern about his height since this could make matters worse for him.

You raise an important point about these periodic tragedies affecting so many youngsters. A physician who is in charge of a program training special-education teachers talked to me about it several years ago. Even then, such programs were being speeded up to handle the predictable needs following that outbreak. I trust enough were trained at that time and are now in the special-education classrooms caring for the needs of these youngsters who are now in such a sensitive stage of life.

The second important point in your letter can be read between the lines. It is important for the young woman to be protected against rubella before she reaches childbearing years! As you know, rubella's effects begin in the womb of the pregnant woman.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Despite good health I am getting wrinkles. I read once of someone who uses ice water on the face to tighten the skin. Will this work? What about facial exercises? — K.H.T.

I doubt ice water will help, but any facial exercise will help tone up muscles, in the face or anywhere.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Eight years ago I had a hysterectomy, including removal of both ovaries and tubes. I had a very bad case of endometriosis. Just eight weeks ago I had a spotting of blood, and have spotted twice since. I am 50. Should I have cause for concern? — Mrs. d.

Enough to have it investigated. With the uterus and ovaries removed the spotting cannot be attributed to menstrual flow. It could mean an infection. Bleeding always demands investigation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband pours salt over his food, nearly covering everything with it. I tell him this is unhealthy. He says it's only unhealthy for people with high blood pressure. He won't listen to anyone. Maybe he will to you? Can you explain why it's unhealthy for him? — L.K.

And how does your husband think all those people with high blood pressure got that way to begin with?

Some experts are convinced that salt (sodium) in the diet, beginning at infancy, results in high blood pressure. If that is not convincing, tell your husband that high blood pressure is also the cause of many other ailments, those of the kidneys, for example.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. Write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have an embarrassing question. Is female masturbation harmful in the early stages of pregnancy? Thanks for allowing us to be frank and ask questions we cannot ask our parents or physicians. — J.B.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I discovered a lump on the side of my neck, and since my family has a history of cancer, I went to my doctor to have it checked out. He said he didn't know what it was, but not to worry about it unless it started to hurt. Should I ignore the lump or have it checked? — T.D.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I recently became a Christian. My personal life has been rather messed up. I am married, but I don't really love my husband. I would like to leave him and return to my previous husband, whom I think I really love. Do you think God would want me to do this? — Mrs. P.B.

DEAR MRS. B.: No, I don't. Your present situation is tangled because of your past actions, but you cannot undo the effects of those things you have done in the past. God has forgiven you for all those things, and you have a husband now to whom you bear a responsibility. You must keep the vow you made when you married him. As Paul said about such a situation: "Each one should remain in the situation which he was in when God called him...I think that it is good for you to remain as you are. Are you married? Do not seek a divorce" (1 Corinthians 7:20, 26-27).

Instead of wishing for a different situation, I urge you to take your responsibility as a wife and mother seriously. Your husband is apparently not a believer. Are you seeking to win him to Christ? Are you praying for him? Are you praying that God would make you a better, more loving, more thoughtful wife? I have seen many marriages like yours come alive when Christ became the center of the marriage. Study what the Bible says about true love (such as your own happiness, "seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matthew 6:33).

Fighting insomnia

Around the rim

Bill Werrell

Most of us have experienced trouble getting to sleep some of the time and a lot of us have trouble sleeping most of the time.

Insomnia is a widespread problem, but, according to Consumer Reports Magazine, some of the solutions are worse than the problem.

Many people who complain about insomnia actually sleep more than they think they do. Scientists claim that at least one third of the people who claim to have insomnia get as much sleep as people who consider themselves normal sleepers.

The body's need for sleep varies from person to person ranging from as little as four hours for some to as much as ten hours for others. However, even missing a night or two of sleep has no known serious effects; except for the worry about not having slept.

QUALITY AND quantity of sleep changes with age. Older people spend more of the night in light sleep and less time sleeping deeply and dreaming. Their sleep is often fitful and punctuated by frequent awakenings.

So a lot of the worry over insomnia is often caused by the normal change in sleep patterns which occurs with age.

Not all insomnia is illusion, of course, and at some time or another most of us suffer from temporary periods of sleeplessness resulting from grief, worry, tension or stress.

Caffeine, a stimulant found in coffee, tea and cola, has stimulating action which is most pronounced two to four hours after ingestion, but some people are so sensitive that the effect of the drug may stay with them for 6 hours or more.

Whatever the cause of insomnia many people turn to pills to get a good night's sleep. If they go to a doctor for a prescription they may find themselves taking such common barbiturate drugs as phenobarbital or secobarbital, dalmane, Noctec and Quaaludes.

Student loan crackdown

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The government is cracking down on 680,000 Americans who have failed to pay back their student loans. Ironically, thousands of these deadbeats have used their government-financed education to land jobs with federal bureaucracies.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano is considering whether to hire debt collection agencies to recoup the more than $900 million in outstanding loan payments. This is the first concerted effort by the government to collect the taxpayers' money on these bad loans.

Califano doesn't like the idea of hiring private debt collectors, but he thinks it is better than creating another government bureaucracy to pursue the delinquents.

WITHIN A FEW days, Califano will feed the names of the debtors, including those who work for Uncle Sam, into a HEW computer. He will send them collection letters as the first step. Already, the HEW chief has discovered over 300 workers in his own department who have defaulted on their student loans.

For years, no one has bothered to pursue the 680,000 debt-skipper. The lending institutions failed to vigorously chase them down because the loans were guaranteed by the government. And the bureaucrats were content to issue an occasional press release bemoaning the lack of repayment.

Footnote: HEW once launched a probe into fraudulent schools that were pocketing money from students who never went to class, but it petered out after a few token cases were prosecuted.

PROLIFERATION POLITICS: President Carter came into the White House as an apostle of nuclear non-proliferation. He has startled some of his friends on Capitol Hill, therefore, by maneuvering behind the scenes to water down legislation that would curtail the spread of nuclear arms.

For years, the United States has sought to export its nuclear technology for peaceful purposes without, at the same time, giving foreign lands the ingredients for a nuclear arsenal. At last, a formula was worked out earlier this year by Sens. John Glenn, D-Ohio, Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Abraham Ribicoff, R-Conn., with Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y.

THEY PIECED together legislation that would set up guidelines, some immediately, others effective in 18 months, which would cut off U.S. nuclear exports to nations developing nuclear weapons. The bill would make it mandatory to halt nuclear shipments to any country that diverted nuclear material to weapons, conducted nuclear weapons tests, failed to provide adequate security for U.S.-supplied material or disregarded other safeguards.

Carter called for many of these same measures during his presidential campaign. The bill's backers, therefore, expected to have These drugs normally provide temporary relief, but, most of them according to doctors, lose their effectiveness after a few weeks use. Some long-term users have been shown to have as much trouble sleeping and sometimes more, than the non-user insomniac.

Non-prescription drugs such as Somnax, Nytil, and Sleep-Eze contain antihistamines developed for the treatment of allergies.

ACCORDING TO a panel set up by the Food and Drug Administration the drugs used as a base for these medications; methapyriene and scopolamine, are neither safe nor effective at normal dosages.

SOME INSOMNIACS prefer alcohol to lull themselves to sleep. Alcohol does make many people relaxed and sleepy, but like most prescription sleeping pills, its effectiveness is short lived.

Drinking a glass of milk at bed time is another popular way of trying to beat mild insomnia. According to "Consumer's Reports," recent research suggest it just might work.

Milk, meat, and a few other foods contain the amino acid L-tryptophan. Preliminary studies have shown that in normal sleepers and in mild insomniacs L-tryptophan taken as a drug reduces the time it takes to fall asleep and lengthens total sleep time.

Experts offer a number of general suggestions to help you fall asleep and sleep better:

Avoid daytime napping, particularly after dinner snoozes; don't drink caffeine-containing beverages after mid-afternoon; exercise every day; establish a regular schedule, including a regular time to go to bed, and to wake up; establish a regular pre-bed time schedule, such as reading, or hot bath; and if you are not sleepy, get out of bed. Tossing and turning and worrying about falling asleep can only make your insomnia worse.

his support. But they didn't reckon with Energy Secretary James Schlesinger, who persuaded the president to offer his own legislation.

Schlesinger came out of the old Atomis Energy commission where he developed into an advocate and apologist for nuclear energy. Parts of the measure he pushed upon the president, indeed, might well have been written by the nuclear industry, which stands to make billions from U.S. export of nuclear technology and materials.

The Schlesinger bill, which was quietly drafted by his staff, would substitute vague "goals" in place of mandatory controls. Both Schlesinger and the State Department dispatched lobbyists to Capitol Hill to push the watered-down measure and to kill the stronger legislation.

The lobbyists included such big guns as Joseph Nye, Louis Nosenzo and Gerard Smoth. One referred contemptuously to the tough bill with its 18-month cut-off provision, as the "18-month guillotine." After one grimly polite session with Senate staff members, the lobbyists also implied that the president might veto any legislation that went too far to suit him.

The White House persuaders were joined by lobbyists from Westinghouse, General Electric and the American Nuclear Energy Council, an industrial trade group. Westinghouse alone fielded a full team of lobbyists on Capitol Hill.

WITH THE White House and nuclear industry working in tandem, members of the key Senate committees began to buckle. Sens. James McClure, R-Idaho, Pete Domenici, R-N.M., Cliff Hansen, R-Wyo., and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., quickly sided with the industry. But Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Richard Stone, D-Fla., also joined the conservative Republicans to weaken the bill.

Now the lattered bill, which passed the House in a stronger version, is on its way to the full Senate.

MICROWAVE MADNESS: For more than seven years, we have been warning of the microwave threat from ovens, radar and the like. The microwave industry and Defense Department have steadily and harshly criticized us for the stories.

Now, however, Paul Brodeur, in a soon-to-be published brilliant book called "The Zapping of America," has confirmed our findings chapter and verse. Not only did he find microwaves can cause cataracts and the other diseases we chronicled, but he discovered data suggesting a "Genetic Time Bomb."

Animal experiments show excessive microwaves can cause hernias of the brain, he found. And suppressed Pentagon studies, cited in the book, indicate that cleft palates, clubfoot, genital damages and heart defects may be caused by too much microwave exposure.

Ray did not receive fair trial?

WARTBURG, Tenn. (AP) — A lawyer who co-authored a book on the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr. will defend King's convicted killer, James Earl Ray, at his trial for a June 10 escape from a rural Tennessee prison.

Shortly after being given court permission Tuesday to represent Ray, Mark Lane said he would defend his client on grounds of wrongful imprisonment in the King assassination.

The contention is that Ray did not receive a fair murder trial and should never have gone to jail. Lane hopes that a victory on that basis could lead to a new trial in the King murder.

"The heart of our approach is to win a new trial on the murder charge for Ray," Lane said. "The American people are entitled to a trial in which all of the evidence on the King assassination is presented in open court." He said he hopes to show when the trial starts Thursday that Ray "was both tortured and coerced by Memphis authorities and threatened and coerced by the FBI into pleading guilty."

Ray, 49, is serving a 99-year term in the central Tennessee's Brushy Mountain Penitentiary near Wartburg on his 1969 guilty plea to killing the civil rights leader in Memphis on April 4, 1968.

He unsuccessfully attempted to withdraw his plea in the King murder within a week after entering it and has been trying to win a new trial ever since. Ray could be sentenced to an additional five years if convicted on the escape charge. He is eligible for parole on the murder charge in 2001.

Morgan County Criminal Court Judge Lee Asbury approved Ray's motion to hire Lane and dismiss Jack Kershaw of Nashville, who had represented Ray the past 10 months.

Lane, 50, says Ray believes the dismissed attorney made as much as $20,000 from a September interview of Ray that was published in Playboy magazine.

Ray contends that some of the quotes attributed to him were not his. In the interview, Ray is quoted as saying that he alone planned the June 10 breakout in which six other prisoners scaled a wall. All seven men were back in custody within days. The other six have pleaded guilty.

Kershaw was not in court Tuesday, but he said on Monday that any funds he received from Playboy went towards Ray's case.

Lane and comedian Dick Gregory wrote a book on the King murder titled "Code Name 'Zorro,'" which was published last May.

Delinquent taxes eyed

In a light afternoon session, the county commissioner's court signed the delinquent tax rolls, discussed personnel with County Tax Assessor-Collector Zerah Bednar, and approved the jailer and cook position for the county jail.

Mrs. Bednar told the court that $210,000 in delinquent taxes were owed the county, state and junior college. She said that the county's tax firm of McCreary and Huey would send out delinquent notices to each of the present owners of delinquent lots.

Mrs. Bednar said that the job of computing the taxes had been made much easier by the use of the computer, which printed out the offenders quickly and accurately.

Mrs. Bednar said that the debts were based on 15,585 line items which totalled out to $110,751 owed to the county. She said that collections over the past five years have averaged at $35,689.44.

Demo committeeman

Seymour chiropractor replaces Stenholm

SEYMOUR — A local chiropractor, Calvin Gambill, was named to replace Charles Stenholm as the Democratic executive committeeman from the 30th Senatorial District during a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee Saturday in Amarillo.

Gambill, who was nominated to the position in early August, has been chairman of the Baylor County Democratic Committee since 1972. He will succeed Stenholm who resigned his seat on the executive committee to serve on the Texas Committee of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Stenholm, who has since resigned that position also, is a candidate for congress from the 17th district.

Gambill defeated Larry Lambert of Wichita County in August to gain the nomination to the executive committee.

Stanton FFA first in grass judging

STANTON — A Stanton FFA team placed first in grass judging at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas. The FFA sent two senior teams and one junior team to participate. On the winning team were Wayne Atchison, Danny Ireton, Mitch Elmore and Tressa Hull with N.O. Parker as their coach.

The second senior team placed third and the junior team emerged in second place.

Among individual high scores, Atchison also took honors. Atchison and Hull were first and second. John Parker was sixth high.

In the junior division, Richard Parker was second, Victor Gonzalez, third and Keith Hull, fifth.

Market activity continues slow

ABILENE — Local market activity continues slow, according to B.B. Manly of the USDA Cotton Classing Office. Mixed lots continued to sell for 42 to 45.75 cents per pound. Cottonseed brought 60 to 70 dollars per ton.

Ginning activity averaged around 10,000 bales per day. Harvesting is very near complete in Tom Green and Runnels Counties, and starting in Mitchell and Dickens Counties. Fifty-five thousand samples were processed this week, which brought our season total to 167,000. At this time last year only 3,000 samples had been processed.

Qualities of grades changed some, mainly reflecting new areas of harvest. Seventy per cent was White, and grade 31 was predominant with 37 per cent. Grade 41 was 20 per cent and grade 32 was 22 per cent. Grades 21, 40, 50, 51, 22 and 42 were from 2 per cent to 7 per cent each. The predominant staple length was 31 with 55 per cent. Staple 32 was 28 per cent and staple 30 was 14 per cent.

Micronaire readings were unchanged with 87 per cent in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9.

Illegal semen smuggled into U. S.

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Fearing the possible spread of hoof-and-mouth disease, federal grand jury will resume its probe Nov. 1 into the smuggling of bull semen from South America and Mexico into the United States, a federal prosecutor has announced.

Authorities say smugglers have been transporting the valuable Red Brahma semen because federal laws prohibit its importation as a safeguard against hoof-and-mouth disease.

"There are only a few Brahma bloodlines in the U.S.," said Assistant U.S. Atty. Larry Wells. "Since any breeder of show cattle wants to expand his stock, the semen is extremely valuable."

"The grand jury... is looking into the allegations of illegal importation of bull semen from the south about March 1977," he added.

Dr. Frank Hamilton of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Austin says USDA tests show hoof-and-mouth disease can be transmitted through semen.

Meanwhile, U.S. Customs agents seized a twin-engine plane, thought to be connected with the smuggling, at an airport in Tyler last Friday. Authorities said it was not carrying any semen at the time.

But customs officials, who would say only that the seizure of the plane relates to a civil charge, flew the plane to Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio.

"We have not received any file reports on that seizure," said Wells.

Where are the clowns?

with Marj Carpenter

This particular clown shown here was a clown in the Coahoma Homecoming Parade.

I got to looking at this picture and thinking about the nostalgic "Where Are The Clowns?" which Frank Sinatra sang on television Sunday night as Orson Wells reviewed 50 years of entertainment.

It showed excerpts of Red Skelton, Danny Kaye, Jimmy Durante, Edd Wynn, Jackie Gleason, Jonathan Winters, Skip Wilson, Abbott and Costello, Bob Hope, and many others.

I really got nostalgic. Not just for the old comedians but the old America that would allow comedians.

We used to make jokes about everybody and nobody got uptight. Nowadays, the Aggies take a beating all by themselves and seem to be the only ones left around who can take a joke.

If you make a joke about any race — Irish, Poles, Jews, Chicanos, blacks, French or Bohemian — somebody screams in great indignation.

I think one of the funniest things I've read lately is a minority group suing the schools that gave IQ tests because it showed their children to be retarded. My gosh, I would have shut up and done the best I could. I sure wouldn't have blamed the tests.

If you make a joke about your mother-in-law, the women libbers scream. I know in one of my columns about five years ago, I included a take-off on an Italian accent.

I then got a letter from a Mexican-American saying I was making fun of them. I guess my Italian accent was lousy.

And I told another story one time where one person pounced upon me for making fun of a race. It was a true story and I wasn't making fun of anybody. I think I'll just tell it again.

I taught in Shelton School in Odem in the late 40s. All of the students were Chicanos. I loved them and some of them loved me. I still hear from some of them. They are wonderful people.

In a music class one day, a student ask to sing the song about Jose. I raked my brain and I said, "Old Black Joe" which was one of the spirituals we had been singing.

"No, no," he answered. "The one about Jose can you see." Now if telling that joke, which really happened, means I'm making fun of Latin Americans, I say "that's ridiculous."

There's a well-known Presbyterian minister in Dallas. His name is Flynn V. Long. His father was a minister and had the same name. Down in Harlingen, when he was a small boy, his Sunday School teacher found out that the song he was singing was his own version of Jesus Loves Me. He was singing "Little ones to Flynn V. Long, they are weak, but He is strong."

I know my Grandmother was in shock when she found out I was singing "Bringing In the Sheaves" as I folded the sheets on the clotheslines.

Why have we lost the ability to laugh? The only jokes I feel really safe in telling are ones on myself.

Well I do have one friend that didn't get freaked out when I told a funny tale on him, so I'll tell that once again.

Mike Burkholder, once president of the chamber over in Pecos had a friend in Dallas that was always asking him to send him cantaloupes. Mike sent him a crate every year and his friend always wrote back and said, "Well, those were nice but there sure weren't many of them."

Mike finally got enough of that and drove a pickup with sideboards, filled with cantaloupe culls, all the way to Dallas.

He went in the night. He stacked the whole bunch of friend's front yard. He posted a sign which he had brought along.

"Help pay for our new bathroom. Pecos cantaloupes, cheap." At dawn, people began to ring the doorbell and his friend never again asked for more cantaloupes.

Instead he invited Mike to the next Cottonbowl game. Mike was a little suspicious, but he went. Right before time to leave for the game, his friend said, "Oh here are your tickets. They're on the 50-yard line." Mike beamed and thought about what a good sport his friend was. Then the friend handed him the tickets — inside a small cafe that was a child's bank which was locked and drove off and left him.

Well, that's a funny tale. And they could laugh at each other. But so few people can anymore. Everybody is standing around waiting to pounce.

Even the clowns at circuses say nothing. They just throw out sawdust, fall down, kick each other and hope somebody comes up laughing.

Where are the clowns? And where are the Americans who loved laughing at themselves — out where I ride fence.

DA initiated sex act

PALESTINE, Texas (AP) — A University of Texas graduate student has testified by deposition that 3rd Judicial District Attorney Bill Green initiated a homosexual act that led to the arrest of both men last January in an Austin adult bookstore.

Attorneys read parts of a sealed deposition Tuesday by Mark Edmond Webb to jurors hearing a disbarment suit against Green by the District 2C Grievance Committee of the State Bar of Texas.

Testimony continues today.

Green and Webb were arrested in a peep show booth. Green was convicted earlier this year of public lewdness in connection with the incident.

Webb, who said he has been a homosexual for five years, claimed he did not go to the bookstore with the intention of meeting anyone. He added that he did not invite Green into the booth where he was watching a movie, "but I did not reject him."

An Austin policeman testified earlier Tuesday that Green's arrest was not "planned."

"An arrest can't be planned," said Sgt. James Belvin, one of several officers who raided the Mr. Peepers' shop late on the night of Jan. 17. "You can go to a place to see if there is a violation, but you can't make anybody violate the law."

Presiding Judge Donald Carroll Jr., who on Monday said he hoped for a speedy trial, admonished attorneys outside the presence of the jury to pick up the tempo of the proceedings.

He objected to time-consuming questioning of witnesses on such items as price comparison of sex-related objects in various Austin stores.

"We are not on a shopping trip," the judge told the lawyers.

Belvin testified he did not actually view Green engage in oral sex with another man.

Under cross examination, Belvin testified the pair's arrest was the first to his knowledge made in Austin since the law on public lewdness was passed in 1974.

Fems mash Mojo

By MARJ CARPENTER
The Big Spring girls volleyball team swept the Mojo plumb out of the gym Tuesday night with two varsity victories. Two junior varsity victories and a shot at the 5-AAAA crown this season.

The Permian High team came to town with their first half victory under their belt. The only game Big Spring lost in the first half was to the Mojo in Mojoland.

TV shuffle

unsuccessful

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — ABC has unsuccessfully tried to shift the nationally-televised Dec. 3 game between Texas A&M and Houston to an A&M-Texas matchup Thanksgiving Day, says A&M Coach Emory Bellard. Bellard said Tuesday that the network pulled the offer back because it wouldn't meet certain stipulations. ABC-TV was told, he said, that it would have to satisfy the University of Houston and that he didn't wish to switch the game with Texas from Saturday to the preceding Thursday. He said ABC-TV couldn't go for the Horn-Aggie game scheduled Nov. 26 on a Saturday. ABC-TV passed this Saturday's game between No. 1-ranked Texas and No. 14-ranked Texas Tech in Austin.

the Permian Pantherettes. The Big Spring girls won the opener 15-7 with apparent ease compared to the second contest. But even the first game got pretty hairy in spots.

Big Spring jumped out front on three serves by Karen Tibbs backed up by the front line of Becky Ragan, Rose Magers and Kathy Birdwell who kept popping them down the Permian girls' throats. Sherry Kelly and Casie Green were setting them up beautifully.

Then suddenly Permian took over and a couple of close line calls followed, and before you knew it they were tied 3 up.

Big Spring pulled ahead 5-4 and for the first time, the Permian girls seemed a little shook. They haven't been behind much this season.

Big Spring got their momentum going and got Karen Tibbs back on the serving line and helped her make seven points to make it game point and 14-5.

Permian jumped in, got the ball back and scored two more before Sherry Kelly scored the winning point in the 15-7 game.

Pandemonium broke loose in the large crowd in the gym. Permian came back on court with their old swagger going into the second game, looking as though they intended to put a stop to such foolishness as a Mojo defeat.

The game rocked along with both teams making more mistakes than they did the first time. Tibbs had collected four points when the game was 6-7 in favor of the Mojo. Kathy Birdwell scored five in the second game, Rose, two; and Casie Green three. Rose also made the last two that won the game in an overtime after time ran out on a 14-14 tie.

Big Spring had just scored what they thought was the 15th point, but following a substitution, one girl was playing out of position.

Woodard rumor surfaces again

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — A strained leg muscle might keep Texas A&M's massive fullback George Woodard out of Saturday's Southwest Conference game against Southern Methodist, say Aggie officials. "I know this work will be limited this week," A&M Coach Emory Bellard said of his 270-pounder who was injured in practice Monday. "If he can't play then we'll go with Eddie Hardin at fullback."

So the ball went to Permian in the overtime, much to the horror of the Big Spring fans. Permian got excited and served it right into the net and the ball went back to Big Spring.

All-state Rose Magers served the two winning points, with Ragan snipping the final return right down the throats of the Mojo.

Suzanne Johnson and Shanna Farmer also saw action in the game, in addition to the six starters.

The Junior Varsity team won their two games in hard fought 15-11 and 15-10 contests with Penny Ray scoring a total of 15 points in the two games for Big Spring. The JV's set the pace for a winning evening for Big Spring. The girls still face four district contests this half before they're out of the woods and everybody will now be lying in wait for the Big Spring volleyball team, sitting at the top of the heap.

By Danny Reagan

Maybe it will rub off

What's sweeter than an ice cream sandwich, dipped in honey, covered with sugar and rolled in Vermont syrup? No, not a Texas Tech victory over number one Texas, but close. A Big Spring victory over Permian in anything, that's what!

Tuesday night, in Steer Gym, the exciting Big Spring volleyball team did just that, and before a packed house too. Imagine Curt Gowdy screaming "The thrill of victory" at the top of his lungs, as 100,000 crazed TCU fans mob their team that has just beaten Texas, and you have the picture of what it was like.

Coach Nancy Deason and her staff deserve a lot of credit for molding together a team that can warm the blood of the Big Spring sports fan that has sat out in the freezing cold for more than half a dozen years.

Fans are the same everywhere. Our interest quickens when our favorite team is winning, and thickens to sludge when the wins are very few and very far between. (That's non-ferrous fans of course.)

But last night, any casual observer would have thought that the locals had just won the state championship, shoot, the world's championship. But all they did was beat Permian. All? Is that all? Jack, that's better than anyone else has done this year!

Permian is the second largest school in the Little Southwest Conference. Big Spring, as we all know, is the smallest... by a goodly margin. But Finley's law was proven Tuesday: "Even a small school can compete with a much larger one, and even win, if the players on each team are equal in number."

There were a number of Steer football players at the roof-looker last night, and they acted just as proud of the girls as anyone there. They enjoy winning just as much as anyone else. That "thrill of victory" was electric... and catching.

Friday night, the Steer gridmen host Abilene Cooper in a Homecoming bout between two teams that have nothing to lose and more than a small amount of pride to win.

If the Steers can just recall the feeling that pervaded Steer Gym Tuesday night, and see only that one opposing player across the line and not his bigger school, then they will experience something unknown to their predecessors for 1,093 days... a win in District 5-4A.

Nothing could be sweeter.

'Conditioning best' -- Landry

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys have outscored their six National Football League victims 76-21 in the second half and Tom Landry calls it the best conditioned team he has coached in his 17-year career.

"Our conditioning is the best it has ever been," said Landry. "That's definitely a factor in the fourth quarter."

Dallas has blitzed Minnesota, the New York Giants, Tampa Bay, St. Louis, Washington and Philadelphia 52-6 in the fourth quarter.

"The enthusiasm of the young players gives the older players incentive and this leads to a confident team," said Landry, who put the team through a rugged training camp after extensive off-season conditioning.

Landry said his team hasn't been playing well but makes the big play when it has to like the blocked punt which led to Sunday's 16-10 victory over Philadelphia.

some of our emotion," said Landry. "We played two very emotional games against St. Louis and Washington. We were emotionally drained against Philadelphia."

Landry was heartened by a medical report which said cornerback Aaron Kyle could play with a cast on his broken wrist.

"Kyle can play if we want to use him and he's a possible starter," said Landry.

The Cowboy coach praised defensive lineman Randy White, who Landry called a "one man team on defense" against Philadelphia.

"Randy performed just about as good as you can," said Landry of the Outland Trophy winner from Maryland, a former No. 1 draft choice who started out the year as a linebacker.

"Randy is in the right place," said Landry.

Detroit comes to Dallas Stadium Sunday and Texas can register its best start in the club's history with a seventh consecutive victory.

TIM CHILDERS Coahoma Bulldog WADE COBB Big Spring Steer RANDY CREGAR Fersan Buffalo MIKE SWINSON Stanton Buffalo

'Above the Call' repeaters named

Two more area players joined the ranks of repeaters in the Herald's weekly "Above the Call" awards.

RANDY CREGAR, talented running back for the Fersan Buffaloes, joined teammates Alan Hollands-worth and Gary Martin as two-time winner of the weekly honor.

Cregar scored four times in the 53-6 rout of Garden City last week. He scampered 81 yards on the very first offensive play of the game for the Buffs and rambled the ball over from the 42 and five-yards lines. He also returned a punt 65 yards to the double stripe, executed the reverse strip, punted the ball and excelled at his safety position on defense.

MIKE SWINSON, spunky little linebacker for the Stanton Buffaloes, became that team's first repeater of the year.

Swinson was in on 20 tackles, led the defense from his linebacking position, and graded out extremely high at his offensive guard slot.

WADE COBB, 165-pound senior linebacker for the Big Spring Steers, garnered 52 points in his first time as starter from that position.

"He was the mainstay on our defense," said Steer Coach Don Robbins. Cobb had a number of solo tackles and recovered an unofficial school record four enemy fumbles in one game.

JESSE YBARRA, 130-pound sophomore flanker and defensive safety for the Sands Mustangs, "really turned on for us," according to Coach Travis Mulanax.

The scrappy little "Stang came out late for football this season, (the reason for no mug shot), and has produced in game after game, despite the bad fortunes of the Pony club this season.

TIM CHILDERS, 130-pound junior halfback for the Coahoma Bulldogs, gained praise from his coach for "fine runs and catches all night long" against Ballinger last Friday.

Childers also excelled in his downfield blocking, and his quickness complimented the bruising power of the Coahoma offense.

Three weeks remain in the "Above the Call" nominations. From all the weekly honorees, one local or area football player will be chosen to receive the first "Brad Stevens" award, a traveling presentation to be given to the one player in the five-city area who best exemplified the spirit and courage suggestive of the late Foran star.

That award will be announced in late November or early December by the Herald Sports Department.

Allison still shaky

By the Associated Press
Texas Tech Coach Steve Sloan says injured star quarterback Rodney Allison is still doubtful for Saturday's crucial Southwest Conference clash with No. 1-ranked Texas, but is improving.

"He was certainly better today than he was Monday," Sloan said after Allison worked with the team Tuesday in a two-hour drill. "He still has quite a bit to go before he could play, though."

Allison suffered a broken leg on Sept. 16 during Tech's 33-17 loss to Texas A&M.

Meanwhile, both of Texas' starting defensive ends, Henry Williams and Dwight Jefferson, missed practice Tuesday with injuries suffered in last week's 30-14 thrashing of Southern Methodist.

Williams has an ankle sprain and Jefferson is bothered with rib injuries. Texas Coach Fred Akers said Jefferson might not be ready to play against the Red Raiders.

Tim Campbell and Ron Bones replaced Akers and Jefferson in Tuesday's practice.

Lyle wins Cy Young

NEW YORK (AP) — After shutting a lot of doors during the 1977 baseball season, Sparky Lyle has opened a new one for relief pitchers. "Maybe now they (relief pitchers) will start to be recognized after sweating blood out there in the bullpen day after day," says the New York Yankees pitcher. "I think that now people will stop and think about all the short-inning men who have worked so hard in this game."

Lyle was equally proud of his achievement of winning the American League Cy Young Award Tuesday as he was of bringing a new status to his breed.

"That's the best part of it — I'm happy not only for myself but for what it does for relief pitchers," said Lyle after becoming the first reliever in the American League to win the prestigious award.

"By me winning it does a lot of good for all relief pitchers. It gives them more recognition and it means people are beginning to realize the importance of relief pitchers. That's what this award means to me."

The only previous reliever to win the Cy Young award as best pitcher in his league was Mike Marshall of the National League's Los Angeles Dodgers in 1974.

Lyle, who had 26 saves to go with a 13-5 record, finished with 56½ points to edge Baltimore's Jim Palmer, a three-time winner who received 48 points in the voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Strikeout king Nolan Ryan of the California Angels was third with 46 points.

Lyle collected nine first-place votes, three for second and 2½ for third place from 28 BBWAA writers, two in each American League city. The point system awards five for first, three for second and one for third.

Other AL pitchers receiving votes included, Kansas City's Dennis Leonard, 45; Boston's Bill Campbell, 25½; Minnesota's Dave Goltz, 19; New York's Ron Guidry, 5, and Dave Rozema of Detroit, 4.

TOM LASORDA ...NL Manager of Year

Lasorda is tops in NL

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Lasorda, head cheerleader of baseball's "Sunshine Boys," the Los Angeles Dodgers, was named the National League's Manager of the Year today.

The vibrant Lasorda won the award as easily as his team took the National League pennant this past season — scoring a landslide victory over seven competitors.

Lasorda, who preached "love and togetherness" while leading the Dodgers to the National League pennant in his rookie year, collected 338 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters polled by The Associated Press.

Herman Franks of the Chicago Cubs, Lasorda's closest competitor, wasn't even in the same ballpark with 39 votes.

Danny Ozark, whose Philadelphia Phillies won the East title before losing to the Dodgers in the NL playoffs, finished third in the voting with 32.

Houston's Bill Virdon was fourth with 8 votes, followed by Vern Rapp of the St. Louis Cardinals, 2; Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds, 2, and San Diego's Alvin Dark and Pittsburgh's Chuck Tanner, 1 each.

Lasorda, a longtime loyal organization man who "bleeds Dodger Blue," inherited the manager's job upon the retirement of the venerable Walter Alston last year.

The change was noticeably dramatic, both in terms of managerial personality and artistic accomplishment. A flamboyant, free-wheeling character with a repertoire of one-line jokes, Lasorda was a distinct contrast to Alston's quiet, meditative ways.

Lasorda's reaction to getting the job on Sept. 29, 1976, was typical of things to come.

"I've got this terrible weight problem," he said. "I can't weight' to get started."

Lasorda continued to bombard his Dodgers and newsmen alike with similar stuff all through the 1977 season. At one point during the year when he truly had a weight problem, the whimsical Lasorda quipped: "I'm on a seafood diet. I eat everything I see."

"I told our players that we were going to win the pennant," Lasorda said. "I said it because I believed it and I wanted the players to believe it."

Weaver takes AL manager honors

BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl Weaver, backed with the security of a three-year contract and confident of his team's ability, is eagerly awaiting the start of a new baseball season.

"Our personnel is as good as anybody's in baseball," Weaver said of the Baltimore Orioles — a team he led to a surprising second-place Eastern Division tie in 1977, just 2½ games behind the World Champion New York Yankees.

That finish, by a team thought to have been stripped of too much talent in the reentry draft, earned American League Manager of the Year honors for Weaver by a landslide vote.

Weaver received 248 votes in a nationwide poll of writers and broadcasters conducted by The Associated Press. Whitey Herzog of Kansas City edged Bob Lemon of Chicago 54-52 for second place and New York's Billy Martin polled 38 votes.

Billy Hunter, who ended a long association with the Orioles and took over in July as the fourth manager of the year for the Texas Rangers, was named on 12 ballots. Don Zimmer of the Boston Red Sox received seven votes and five went to Gene Mauch of the Minnesota Twins.

A perennial optimist with imposing career won-lost records to support his lofty goals, Weaver never gave up on the Orioles even after they lost slugger Reggie Jackson, Gold Glove second baseman Bobby Grich and 20-game winner Wayne Garland.

Although he had to use 10 players with less than one year's major league experience, Weaver directed the Orioles to 97 victories. They weren't eliminated until three days before the end of the season.

"We'll be looking to trade

if we can help ourselves," Weaver said before leaving his suburban Baltimore home for a month's vacation in South Carolina and Florida. "But we can give anybody a fit, the way we are."

"We're lacking nowhere. We have the type of team that can win as many as anybody in baseball. Of course, they'll still have to go out and prove that statement."

In a boastful moment while serving as an analyst for a local television station after the Yankees had won the World Series, Weaver said he was "glad that all the Yanks would be back" next year.

"Then, if we beat them," he said, "it would be much more satisfying. They won't have any excuses."

NEW YORK — Mel Morgan, defensive back for the Cincinnati Bengals, has been suspended for one game "for a flagrant foul" during the Oct. 17 National Football League game against the Pittsburgh Steelers, Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced.

At the same time, Mel Blount, defensive back for the Steelers was cleared of any wrongdoing during a separate incident during the same game.

Players give Akers and staff credit for ranking

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Not since Notre Dame crumbled Texas' 30-game winning streak in the 1971 Cotton Bowl has Texas climbed to the No. 1 spot in college football.

But the Longhorns are perched atop the polls this week, and guard Rick Ingraham passes the credit onto a young coaching staff that Ingraham says is interested in the players' personal lives — as well as football.

Most of the Longhorn players were subdued when questioned about the top ranking, noting they have five more Southwest Conference games — including matches with four teams that beat Texas last year.

What is the difference in Texas' 5-5-1 record last year — the worst in 20 years — and the 6-0 start this year? "It has to be Coach Akers and his staff," said Ingraham. "They have tremendous coaching abilities and enthusiasm, not only in football but in non-football things. They've become part of the players' lives, on and off the field, and I think it has carried over into our play."

Akers, 38, was hired after Darrell Royal, the winningest coach in SWC history, quit after 20 years.

Of the No. 1 ranking, Ingraham said, "I'll feel a lot better about it on January 2nd (after the Cotton Bowl). Right now I don't think everyone is convinced we're the best, but we are the only major team still unbeaten. If we go 12-0 against the teams we play, I don't see how we could not be Number One."

Said running back Earl Campbell: "It's where we stand at the end of the season that really counts."

"It's great to have a high ranking in the middle of the season, but the trick is to maintain it," said linebacker Morgan Copeland.

"It's pretty exciting, and it's hard not to get carried away thinking about it," said linebacker Lance Taylor. "Being Number One has been everyone's goal all along, but the season is still only half over. I think everyone has a good attitude, and I don't think we have any big heads."

"HOWDY... HAVE YOU GOT A PICTURE OF THAT TOTEM POLE YOU'RE LOW MAN ON?"

JUMBLE THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME

Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

LAHCK
 ALVASS

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon.

Answer here:

Yesterday's Jumbles: AFTER NAIVE OMELET MODEST
 Answer: With all that activity going on, the jailhouse was really this! — "A-STIR"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Strange conditions where financial matters are in effect can occur early in the day but these change to your advantage later in the day. Consult professional persons if in doubt.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handle a monetary problem you have in the afternoon for best results. Study all factors of a new project you have in mind.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Not a good day to engage in group affairs. Be sure to go to the right sources for the data you need. Don't forget to pay your bills.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Cooperate more with an associate today and get excellent results. Show more concern for the one you love.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Use more tact with friends and improve the relationship. Day hours are fine for getting ahead in career matters.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure not to jeopardize your fine reputation by some foolish act today. Improve your credit rating and feel more secure.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study those changes you want to make that could help you advance in your line of endeavor. Avoid one who has strange ideas.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be sure to keep a promise you have made to a higher-up. Show your mate that you are loyal and thoughtful. Be logical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Instead of picking on a partner, try to cooperate more and get excellent results. Strive for more harmony with kin.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Co-workers are likely to be difficult today, but keep silent and all works out fine. Do more constructive thinking.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You may desire to make a radical change early in the day, but evening is best for such after proper study.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Morning could be rather tense at home but it all clears up very quickly. It is not wise to make any changes today.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget any sarcasm that is in your mind or you could turn a friend into a foe. Use extreme care in motion and avoid possible accident.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be inclined to make many changes and would accomplish little in life if not taught to complete whatever has once been started. Once this is taught the best profession to follow is one where frequent changes is the norm.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Make Halloween a safer and happier holiday

LONG GROVE, Illinois — Halloween is supposed to be a little scary — but not horrifying. With millions of hobgoblins and witches out and about on Oct. 31, the Kemper Insurance Companies recommend that a little foresight in costume preparation accompanied by parental attention to safety can go a long way towards making Halloween a safe, fun time.

Parents should accompany their children on the neighborhood rounds. If a parent cannot go along, a responsible teenager should stick to your own neighborhood, or to the homes of people you know.

Avoid darkened houses. Homeowners who anticipate and welcome "trick-or-treaters" usually keep the outside of their homes well lit.

No matter who accompanies children, they should be home before nightfall.

Parents should examine all "trick-or-treat" gifts closely before allowing their children to eat them.

Make sure your child's costume is of a light, visible color that fits properly. It should also be flame retardant.

Reflective tape on all sides of a costume helps alert drivers to the presence of children.

If possible, use makeup instead of a mask when designing an outfit. Many masks severely limit visibility.

Don't let your children carry swords, knives, broomsticks or even metal or wood "magic wands". A slip and fall onto one of these costume accessories could cause a serious injury. Card-board versions are effective and less hazardous.

Provide children with flashlights in lieu of candles or lanterns. A neighborhood, community or church organized Halloween party, instead of trick or treating, is probably the safest way to celebrate the occasion. It can also be a lot more fun.

Brooks announce baby's birth

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brooks, Garden City Rt., Box 210-B, are proud to announce the birth of a daughter, Jody Lynne, at 2:55 a.m. Oct. 15 weighing 9 pounds, 3 1/2 ounces, and measuring 21 inches long.

She was welcomed home by her big sister, Lisa, 11 years old.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Perry of Lomax, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Brooks of Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Turnbow of Weinert and Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Perry of Haskell are the maternal great-grandparents, and Mrs. Maggie Sikes of Fort Worth is the paternal great-grandmother.

Boosters necessary according to booklet

Now that the kids have all had their shots and are back in the schoolroom again, most parents can heave a sigh of relief, knowing that they are protected against the most serious infectious diseases. For awhile, anyway.

But wait a minute. Immunization isn't just kid stuff. According to a brochure put out by the Texas Department of Health, now available in the offices of the city's elementary school nurses, courtesy of Malone Hogan Hospital, there's a good deal more to it than the child's first shots.

Take for instance, the plain old "red" measles, sometimes known as the "old-fashioned" kind. Caused by a virus that enters through the nose or mouth, red measles is a very contagious disease.

Symptoms are general tiredness, fever and chills, and coughing. Eyes water, and are sensitive to bright light. Tiny red spots break out on the face and body, and the disease usually lasts for seven to 10 days.

Not always. Results of this common measles can lead to other health problems, including pneumonia, bronchitis, deafness and brain damage. Sometimes, measles even cause death.

Yet, the picture for youngsters nowadays is brightened considerably. Measles such as these can be prevented by one shot at age 15 months or older. A booster shot is necessary for children who got a red measles shot before they were one year old.

The attractive brochure outlines causes, symptoms, results, and prevention of rubella (German or 3-day measles), tetanus, whooping cough, diphtheria, and polio. It contains lifetime schedules for needed shots and boosters in both English and Spanish.

The brochures are available free also at Malone Hogan Hospital's office of Public Relations and at the Volunteer Information Desk weekdays.

Diaper bag presented to honoree of shower

A diaper bag filled with baby accessories was presented to Becky Bettis at a baby shower in her honor Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Bettis is expecting her baby in December. The shower was at the home of Tom Jo Medley, 2811 MacAusland, and other hostesses were Kay Ferrell, Paeca Williams and Cindy Brooks.

The theme of the shower was "Winkyn, Blinky and Nod," and the white cake was decorated with pink and blue baby booties.

Appointments of crystal and pewter were on the table, which also held a fruit bowl and candy dish.

The honoree's mother, Mrs. Bogas, was present, along with her sister-in-law and great aunt.

About 15 guests were present.

Club welcomes Ms. Colbert

Marianne Colbert was welcomed into the International Women's Club in its monthly meeting at the home of Joanna Colbert.

Ms. Colbert is from Germany.

Tentative plans were made at the meeting for the annual Christmas party.

The next meeting will be in the home of Dori Mitchell, 4004 Vicky.

All women of foreign origin are welcome to attend. If interested, contact Mireille Sharp, 394-4373, or any member.

Perkins and Howard speak

Various arts and crafts were worked on and discussed in preparation for the annual Christmas Bazaar at the meeting Monday of Texas Beta Omicron, Beta Sigma Phi in the Barcelona Apartments Clubhouse.

The bazaar will be Dec. 3 at Highland Park Mall.

Stephanie Roll, president, introduced Ray Perkins and Darrell Howard, with the United Blood Services, as guest speakers.

Members of Beta Omicron will be calling donors for the community Blood Bank as a community service.

The evening's program on "Careers" was presented by Lauretta Glass.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Glass and Beverly Knous.

Halloween was used as the theme for the evening's social. A ceramic scarecrow and bow-tie patchwork tablecloth decorated the refreshment table.

Judy Hagle was presented a Mizpah disc, and a farewell ritual was conducted by Mrs. Glass, vice president, Oct. 20 at the Barcelona Apartments Clubhouse.

The next meeting will be Nov. 14, with Rose Stukel, 2604 Clanton, as hostess.

AFL-CIO to punish few Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO, in a major shift of political tactics for the 1978 congressional elections, is planning to punish a number of onetime Democratic friends who voted against key labor issues this year.

"Why should we help someone who's going to put a knife in our members' backs," said an official of the Committee on Political Education, the AFL-CIO's political arm.

Officials of the committee, known as COPE, say there are several tactics that may be used against their "former friends," including withholding support, running some one else in the primaries or endorsing acceptable Republicans.

COPE contributed about $3 million to House and Senate campaigns last year, most of it to Democrats. Of 28 candidates COPE endorsed for the Senate, 19 won. In the House, it endorsed 362 candidates; 256 won.

The committee in the past has lent its support to candidates who shared the labor federation's general economic and social objectives.

Next year, it will focus more on specific labor issues and be more selective about the Democratic candidates it backs, according to one official.

But a top union political strategist said the new policy "shouldn't be a threat at all."

"We're in the business of politics because we expect protection and help, and when they don't give it, that's not the kind of guy we need in Congress," he said.

No specific names have been mentioned — "we don't have an official hit list," said one labor strategist — but officials say there are 30 to 40 congressmen the AFL-CIO helped last year who voted against issues that had labor's top priority.

These included legislation to overhaul the nation's labor laws to make it easier for unions to organize plus bills to increase the minimum wage, broaden picketing rights at construction sites, require that more foreign petroleum be carried aboard U.S.-flag ships and allow federal employees to participate in partisan politics.

The labor law bill passed the House after a bitter fight and the minimum wage measure passed both the House and Senate, but the picketing and cargo preference bills were defeated.

Controversy continues in Wichita County

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Wichita County commissioners and County Treasurer Helen Kollman will try again next week to reach an agreement over her refusal to authorize payment of a refund to a state agency.

A meeting on the matter Tuesday failed to solve the controversy. It is on the agenda for the commissioners' regular meeting next Monday.

The Texas Criminal Justice Division claims it is owed $48,925 as a refund on a grant but Mrs. Kollman says the money was misused by the county's Family Court Services division.

County officials other than Mrs. Kollman say the money should be sent to the agency.

Mrs. Kollman maintains, however, that the department that allegedly misused the funds should repay the state agency rather than use money from the general taxpayer funds.

Howard Large, administrator of the family court services, has denied misuse of the funds.

"All we did this morning was muddy the waters," Commissioner E.E. Voyels said midway through the Tuesday meeting.

Mrs. Kollman appeared with her attorney, R. M. Helton, who read a prepared statement that claimed repayment of the funds would be illegal.

Helton also represents former county auditor, Joe Gowdy, who began the battle against repayment last year. Gowdy retired in May.

"This is the first time that anything like this has ever happened and I'm sorry to be in the middle," Mrs. Kollman said during the meeting.

Parolee faces assault count

Charles Crawley, who is on parole for a 15-year sentence handed down in 1971 for murder, is in custody of the Big Spring police department on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

The charges were filed Monday in Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena's office by Detective John Burson, alleging that Crawley tried Sunday to cause serious bodily injury to Derrill Pope by hitting him with an automobile. The arrested man also threatened to kill Pope if he was ever in the company of a certain woman, the charge alleges.

Abilene pilot crash victim

ALBANY, Tex. (AP) — A crash near this West Texas city has claimed the life of an Abilene pilot and resulted in severe burns to an Albany rancher.

The victim was identified as Robert Keith Utter, 38, of Abilene who died when the small plane, an experimental two-man Steen Skybolt, crashed Monday just short of an airstrip on a private ranch.

Police said Watt Matthews, 28, was injured in the crash. He was reported in guarded condition today at Parkland Hospital in Dallas with burns over 85 per cent of his body.
