TWENTY-FOURTH YEAR

TALCO, TITUS COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1960

NUMBER 23

Austin. — Things are rather quiet around the State Capitol these days. For one thing, it's the "off season," the hiatus that regularly occurs between state elections and the convening of a new Legislature. For another, it's vacation time with a part of almost every agency staff off to forget it all for a time.

But mostly, for the week, the Austin lull stems from most people's suspensful interest in the activity of Texans in Los Angeles. Gov. Price Daniel, vice chairman of the Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention, and numerous others have been away for several weeks working in behalf of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's nomination for the presidency.

Despite these distractions, state government goes on. Studies are under way on many subjects, on budgets, tax plans and other future legislation. It's important work, but quiet, during this digging and analyzing stage. It'll break into the news next fall as reports are made and trial balloons are run up on bills to be introduced in January.

Surest indication that state government is still on the job is that even now it's hard to find a parking place near the Capitol or the adjoining state office buildings.

During the summer a dozen or so parking slots by the Capitol's east entrance are set aside for tourists. As a rule, tourists don't keep them filled, and Capitol guards are regularly beset by the persuasiveness of local people who need a place "just for a minute."

NO TURNING BACK— Child adoption procedures, under Texas law, are about as final as a thing can be—more so than marriage or divorce.

Texas Supreme Court underlined this in a recent decision that denied the right to change her mind to a mother who had given written permission for her children to be adopted.

In the case at issue, the mother, a widow, gave written permission for her two children to be adopted. Two months later, having remarried, she sought to regain the children.

Lower courts held in favor of the natural mother, but the Supreme Court ruled that only fraud could be a basis for revoking of adoption consent.

Said the court opinion of the adoption laws: "The Legislature had the safety, education, care and protection of the children uppermost in mind and not primarily the contentment or welfare of either the natural or adoptive parents."

NO MISUNDERSTANDING— In another ruling involving adoption, the Supreme Court held that an adopted child could not inherit a trust set up for a direct descendant. As a result, a four-year-old boy lost the chance to claim $850,000.

In the case originating in Dallas, lower courts had upheld the child's claim to the money from his late grandfather's estate.

In his will, the grandfather had instructed that the $830,000 trust be set up if "any child of my son is born after my death." High court ruled that this made it highly unlikely that the maker of the will intended the money to go to a child born to persons other than his son and daughter-in-law.

ROAD CLOSED— If Texas' truck licensing law had a loophole you could drive a truck through the State Supreme Court has, in effect, halted the traffic.

High court ruled that a motor freight line cannot register and pay license fees on its trucks in Texas and use Mississippi licenses on its trailers. Texas' fee for a truck trailer is $226, compared to $10 in Mississippi.

High court ruled that if the truck line is resident in Texas, it must pay the Texas fee for the trailers, even if it pays in Mississippi, too. Result: $20,000 more taxes owed by the line in license fees to the State Highway Department.

OIL ON THE HIGHWAYS?— On the heels of a U. S. Supreme Court decision that Texas owns its tidelands 10½ miles out comes a ruling that the state also owns the right-of-way along public roads.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the state, not the county, owns the road right-of-way and that the counties cannot lease the land for mineral development.

Whether the state should exercise its right and lease right-of-way lands for oil and gas exploration probably will not be decided until the Legislature sets a policy. Involved is some 1-200,000 acres of land on 228,000 miles of public roads, some of it

Dairy Barn Burns West Hagansport

Bogata firemen were called about mid-morning Wednesday when a dairy barn five miles west of Hagansport caught fire, supposedly from a hot water heater.

The building, property of J. W. Aiken Jr. on Rt. 1, Sulphur Bluff, was burned but firemen arrived in time to save a shed near the barn. It was an eight stanchion barn and sheltered a tank cooler.

across areas with oil-bearing strata.

READING, 'RITING AND DRIVING— State Board of Education took a jaundiced view of a proposal of state-supported driver education in public schools. Plea for driver education, one of the main planks in Governor Daniel's program for increased traffic safety, was presented by Brad Smith, director of the governor's Highway Safety Commission.

"Driver education in the schools is the only way to reduce the flow of uneducated drivers into the stream of traffic," Smith declared. A statewide driver training program has been the goal of the huge Texas Federation of Women's Clubs for some years.

Board members said they felt the matter did not properly belong in a school curriculum. They declined to make a recommendation to the Legislature.

LEGAL TEST PROBABLE— Board of Education decided to consider again in September the dilemma of school districts which stand to lose their state aid money under terms of a 1957 law governing school integration.

Under this law, districts which integrate without approval in a local election automatically lose state aid.

Dallas and Houston schools are under federal court order to integrate this fall. Houston voters turned down integration. Dallas' election is set for Aug. 6.

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said he had written Houston and Dallas school authorities telling them their state aid would have to be cut off if they integrated without a voter mandate.

Board discussed seeking an attorney general's opinion on the problem, probably in September after the Dallas election.

Tuesday night proved to be a hard won victory of 7-6 over the Builders in Mt. Pleasant. Mike McAfee was pitcher and Gary Howard behind the plate for the Red Sox.

The score was tied 3-3 until a double hit and score by McAfee in bottom of the third put Talco in the lead. Three more runs in the bottom of the fifth gave Talco a greater lead, but the Builders scored three runs in top of the sixth to tie up the game again. Otis Hall, rightfielder, made his second score of the evening in bottom of the sixth for the win.

Traffic Fatalities Down This Area

Captain Glen Warner, Texas Highway Patrol, stated that eight people were killed in rural traffic accidents in the northeast Texas Highway Patrol district during the month of June. The Highway Patrol investigated a total of 215 accidents during the month—146 of these were property damage, 64 personal injury and 5 fatal. The property damage was $112,086 and 118 persons were injured. There have been forty-six people killed in rural accidents in the district during the first six months of 1960, as compared to sixty-five for the first six months of 1959.

Captain Warner stated that the Highway Patrol was very proud of this decrease and that the driving public as a whole deserved a well earned pat on the back. He stated the Highway Patrol was very proud of the nineteen lives saved this year as compared with the same period last year and that it could not have been accomplished except through better cooperation from the driving public.

Hunting Season Will Be Set By Game Body

Austin.—Setting up hunting regulations in counties under regulatory authority will occupy most of the time of the members of the Game and Fish Commission in their mid-summer quarterly meeting here July 15.

Biologists of the Commission will meet in Austin three days in advance tabulating recommendations following public hearings held in nearly 100 Texas counties during the past two weeks.

Generally, hunting and fishing regulations in those counties will be changed very little, according to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary.

"Biologists are recommending amending the regulations in a number of counties which will make the killing of spike bucks legal," Dodgen said. Antlerless deer will include the killing of spike bucks as well as doe under the proposal. However, this will be just a recommendation of the field men and the actual administration must be done by the Commission.

Another important question will be liberalizing the dove season because of the increased number of birds apparent this year, he said.

It is possible hunters may get another 10 days of hunting in each zone, or an increase in the daily bag limit.

At a conference in Washington recently it was indicated there is a heavy crop of doves in practically ever state. As a result, it was felt the law governing the killing of this migratory bird could be liberalized to permit extension of the season or increase in the daily bag or possession limit.

It also is expected the white-winged dove season will be set for three days in mid-September. Whether the hunt will be held on consecutive days or alternate days is still under discussion.

For the past three years shooting has been on alternate days, with a bag limit of 10 doves, either of mourners or whitenings, or a combination of both.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith, Remona, Don and Jon left Monday for Prairie Hill, Ok., where he will be engaged this week in a meeting at the Church of Christ. Mrs. Smith and children will visit relatives.

Miss Helen Hearron of Dallas, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hearron, SpC4 Rodney Hearron of LaCanada, Calif., is on 30 day leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hearron and family and other relatives in Talco.

HAVE YOU ever noticed how much can be accomplished in a town or community when everyone cooperates 100 per cent? A handful of people can meet week after week, month after month and talk and plan big things, but somehow it takes the cooperation of the entire community to really put it over. Our Chamber of Commerce meets with a handful of members in attendance. This is commendable for these loyal men to take time out from their work to keep the Chamber of Commerce in operation. But everyone should make a special effort to attend every meeting. Your presence is needed and it is a great incentive for bigger and better things for a growing and prosperous community. It will pay dividends in many ways.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

BURT LOCKHART
in Pittsburg Gazette

People who go to sleep on their job never wake up famous.

Congress has many sins to answer for, pork barrel tactics being the most disgraceful.

Castro is worried now because he does not have enough oil to pour on his troubled waters.

It is all right to aim at the moon, but there are many more objectives that you can hit.

Evidently, some of the nations want freedom provided they can buy it with United States money.

Remember when Teddy Roosevelt went to Cuba to straighten things out? Teddy could be used again.

Remember way back when a popular pastime on Sunday was to go to the railroad station to see the passenger trains come in.

Those Democrats who hurl brickbats at Eisenhower should remember that Khrushchev is condemned for doing the same thing. Fulbright and company should not sell their country short.

Although the world is in a mess, we still pen our faith to Grand Old Texas. She is big enough to solve her own problems without diplomatic and military aid. And she might also furnish a president who could handle the diplomatic reigns.

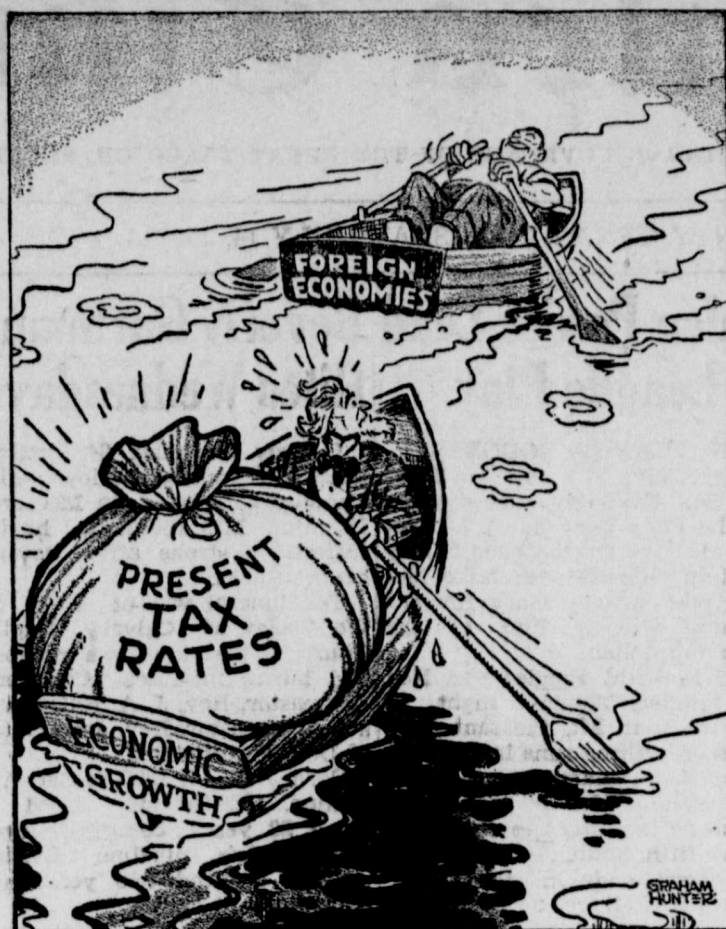

Castro threatens to take over American sugar interests in Cuba if the U. S. sugar quota is cut. Since he has taken over everything else American it might not make much difference. Sugar is a sweet morsel under Castro's tongue and he doesn't want it removed.

"I would like to marry your daughter."
"Well, sir, you can leave your name and address and if nothing better turns up, we can notify you."

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

The old lady approached the soda fountain, peered at the youth behind it close-sightedly, and asked, "Are you the doctor?"
"No," he replied, "the fizician."

THE HANDICAP

How to Slow Progress

West Germany has an odd problem, from the American point of view. Too much economic growth. There are more jobs than there are people to fill them, even though the Germans have been importing labor from Italy and putting East German refugees to work before they've had time to unpack.

There is too much investment, too, the German government feels. More new factories will contribute to the already acute labor shortage.

So the West Germans—who had successfully promoted growth by cutting taxes to free money for job-making investment and to make investment profitable—have decided to raise taxes. They know this will effectively slow down economic growth.

Our own situation is sadly different. We still have about 5 per cent unemployment, and everyone is worried because America's economy isn't growing fast enough.

The obvious remedy is to reform the income tax system to free money for new investment, and to provide incentive to investors. A bill to do this, the Herlong-Baker measure, has been pending for some time in the House Ways and Means Committee.

Now that the Government is in the black again, the time has come to act on tax reform.

WHAT'D HE SAY?

"Your wife is a very systematic woman, isn't she?" asked Robinson.

"Yes, very," replied Smith. "She works on the theory that you can find whatever you want when you don't want it by looking where it wouldn't be if you did want it."

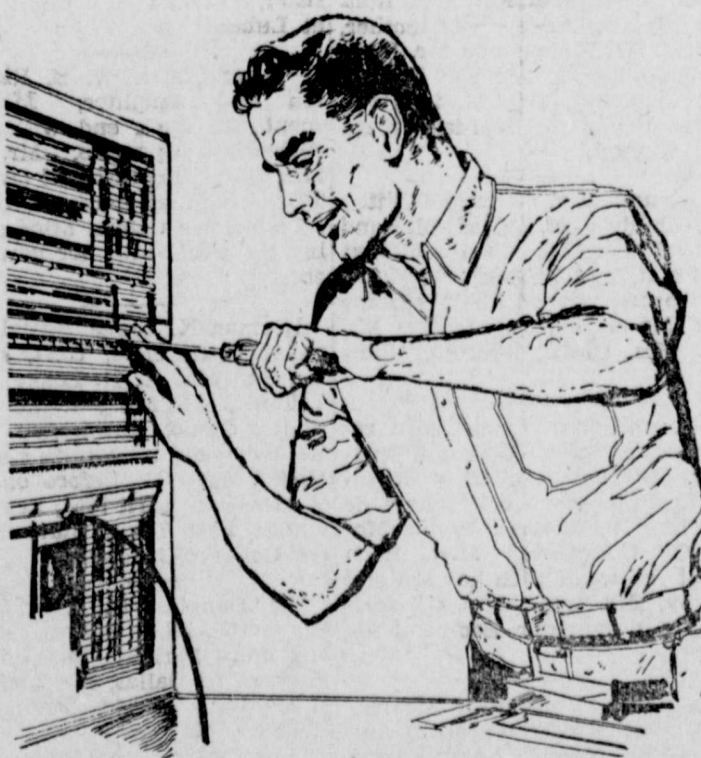

After hating our enemies six days in the week, we find it so much easier to forgive them on Sunday.

NAILED

"Could you be happy with me?" the aging bachelor asked the sophisticated city siren. "I mean, our village is sort of dull..."

"Oh, yes," whispered the c.s., "I love quiet things—like, the rustle of a mink stole, the glint of a diamond ring, the soft whisper of folding money."

A puppy and a boy soon form a Mutual Admiration Society.

Control Ants With Insecticides

College Station. — Ants can be a real household nuisance but applications of the right insecticides will bring them under control in a hurry. Entomologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service say that chlordane or dieldrin, sold in many stores as roach and ant sprays, are very effective against ants.

The entomologists point out that several species of ants can become pests in the home. Some may nest in the house, but most build their nests outside and find their way inside through openings. Once they find a food supply they set up a regular route between the food and their nest.

The common species found in Texas are the Pharaoh, thief, black crazy, fire and Argentine ants. They range in size from the tiny Pharaohs to the much larger fire ants. They feed on any kind of food material in the home including sweets and greasy foods. The thief ant prefers greasy foods.

For inside the home applications, the entomologists recommend a two or three per cent chlordane or a five-tenths (.5) per cent dieldrin household spray. Special attention should be given to drainboards, window sills, door openings and pantry shelves.

For outdoor applications, the entomologists recommend a 10 per cent chlordane, 2 per cent dieldrin or 5 per cent heptachlor dust. If an emulsion spray is used, they strongly urge that label directions be followed. They suggest that a band of insecticidal dust or spray be applied around the foundation wall and that all ant nests in the yard be treated.

They point out that repeated applications of the insecticides may be needed to give complete control of ants. They suggest that a copy of L-311, "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects" be obtained from the local county extension agent. The Guide lists control measures for the more commonly found household insects including those attacking fabrics, foods, structures and humans.

LOOKING AHEAD

"We're coming to a tunnel," the young man said to his seat companion in the train coach. "Are you afraid?"

"No," the girl replied, "not if you'll take that cigar out of your mouth."

A PREFERENCE

Joker: "Waiter, bring me a slab of political pie."

Waiter: "Yes sir. Do you prefer the applesauce or the plum filling?"

ALCORN SAYS TWO CHANGES ARE NEEDED BEFORE SUMMIT MEET

Editor's note: Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur, goes international this week, in a provincial sort of way.

Dear Editor: Earlier this week while I was sitting around waiting for the Democratic National Convention to warm up on television—I had some work to do but I figured national affairs come first, especially if you can attend to them while sitting in a soft chair inside your house—I got to thinking not only about national affairs but international affairs too. A man who can't do two things at the same time hasn't got a chance in this modern fast-moving world.

As I understand it, Mr. Khrushchev over in Russia is keeping a close tab on the Presidential election in the United States this year, as he has said he's not interested in holding another summit meeting until there's a change of administration over here.

Naturally I don't know who the next President will be, only the public poll takers know that and half the time the man they know is going to get elected never takes office. I guess because not enough voters believed the polls, but at any rate, whoever he is, I have a proposal for him.

What he ought to do is inform the Russian people he'd like to hold a summit meeting but he believes he'll wait till there's a change of administration in Russia. Attending a summit meeting with Mr. Khrushchev is like playing baseball with a crooked umpire, who lets one side walk on three balls and calls the other side out on two strikes, and if that doesn't win the game, has his side pick up their gear and walk off the diamond.

Now I can't tell the next President when the next change in Administration in Russia will occur, but it will occur.

Despite all their scientific achievements, the Russians have never gotten around to postponing the life of a dictator indefinitely: If his best friend doesn't get him, old age will.

It's entirely possible the United States can get along without a Russian summit conference and Cuban sugar for a good while.

Yours faithfully, A. A.

SHOWING THE BOSS

The henpecked husband eventually tired of his lot and sought out a psychiatrist for advice. The doctor told him, "Don't let your wife continue to bully you. Go home right now and show her who's the boss."

Encouraged, the timid fellow went home, slammed the door and seized his wife. He snarled, "From now on, you're taking orders from me, see? You'll make my supper this minute and then you'll lay out my clothes, understand? I'm going out on the town tonight, alone, and do you know who will dress me in my Tuxedo?"

"You bet I do," she retorted—"the undertaker!"

I see by the papers where a woman filed suit for divorce because her husband was careless about his appearance. He hadn't shown up in nearly two years.
