

Youths Try To Storm Red Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police brandishing night sticks rolled back hundreds of West zone youths who tried to storm the Communist-built border barrier Monday night with cries that "the wall must go."

East Berlin police also opened up on the angry demonstrators with water cannon and tear gas grenades and drew tear gas fire in reply from the West Berlin police. Authorities estimated that about 200 grenades sailed over the wall during the exchange.

The demonstrations marked the 10th day since East Germany started erecting the wall which virtually sealed off the main escape route for East German residents fleeing the Communist regime.

There were reports of serious injuries, but many were drenched by cold blasts from the Communists' water gun.

The flareup came as East Berlin labor forces struggled feverishly to strengthen the 2.5-mile wall into a concrete and steel tank trap. The work got under way Sunday and prompted speculation that the Communists were preparing for a complete shutdown of the East-West border.

The youths' charge on the wall followed a torchlight procession in which an estimated 20,000 marched five miles through downtown West Berlin in an anniversary observance led by Ernst Lemmer, West German cabinet minister, and Otto Bach, speaker of the West Berlin City Parliament.

Before the thousands who gathered at the eternal flame in the Reichskanzlerplatz — which is supposed to burn until Germany is reunited—a student leader condemned what he called the criminal actions of East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht.

"Away with the Communist criminals—away with Ulbricht," shouted Juergen Wolbrake, chairman of the West Berlin Student Federation.

The crowd replied with thunderous applause. "Hang them," some shouted as the rally wound up with the singing of the national anthem.

Then a cry of "to the wall" swelled through one group which broke off and headed down the Kaiserdamm towards the historic Brandenburg Gate, where the Communists have erected a second concrete wall.

Reinforced police heeded most into side streets but about 1,000 of the demonstrators surged past the Soviet war memorial and down the street of 17 June—which commemorates the 1953 East German anti-Communist uprising—toward the Brandenburg Gate.

A solid line of 130 police blocked their advance and the youngsters sat down in the roadway. Police then drew night sticks and dispersed the crowd.

About 400 others, chanting "the wall must go," marched within hearing distance of the wall at Wilhelmstrasse where Red labor forces could be seen tanning steel bars into concrete tank traps.

When the group refused to heed a Communist loudspeaker's orders to disperse, East Berlin police opened fire with a water cannon and hurled tear gas grenades while West Berlin police fired back with grenades of their own.

Search Still On For Michael Rockefeller

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP)—A land, sea and air rescue force combed a savage coastal area of southwestern New Guinea today for Michael Rockefeller, a Dutch official, steadfastly held out hope that he would be found safe.

Four rescue parties set out through jungle swamps while a score of ships and P-4U aircraft, Dutch navy Neptune planes and a Beaver of the Dutch New Guinea Airlines searched from sea and air for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's 23-year-old son, who disappeared Sunday after a boating mishap while on a scientific expedition.

Naval units plucked a Dutch companion of the youth, Dr. R. W. Wassing, 44, out of the sea Monday. Wassing said he last saw Michael—whom he described as a strong swimmer—about 14 miles offshore attempting to reach land with the help of a makeshift float of empty gasoline cans.

Wassing told rescuers that the misadventure started last Thursday while he and Rockefeller toured the mouth of the Eilanden River in a small native boat. They were collecting primitive art and sculpture for the New York Museum of Primitive Art and for a museum to be built in Hollandia.

He said they lost their outboard motor and that the river current carried them into Flamingo Bay where heavy seas overturned the craft. Two tribesmen with them swam ashore and alerted Dutch authorities.

A Dutch plane sighted Wassing clinging to the overturned boat Sunday and guided rescue vessels to the area with flares. Officers of the patrol ship Tassan, which took Wassing aboard, said his condition was satisfactory despite three days of exposure to the sun and sea.

American missionaries stationed on the south coast joined in the hunt for Rockefeller. They included Catholic brothers using canoes propelled by outboard motors and a doctor from the Protestant mission at Pirimapan.

Wassing rested today at Pirimapan with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other U.S. officials at the State Department.

Kennedy and Adenauer were reported to be making steady progress toward agreement on policies the Western powers may follow in prospective negotiations with Russia for a Berlin settlement.

In a lengthy private discussion at the White House Monday they are said to have reached an understanding that any decisions they work out must be subject to further discussion with British and French leaders. Their aim is four-power agreement on a working range of Berlin and German issues.

The West German chancellor and the President scheduled an intensive round of conferences today.

Their final talk is expected to be held Wednesday with a communique to follow. The prospects are that the communique will call for removal of the Communist-built wall separating East Berlin from West Berlin, and will stress eventual reunification of East and West Germany as an objective of Allied policy. It is also expected to emphasize the determination of Kennedy and Adenauer to protect West Berlin from Soviet and East German pressures.

Kennedy and Adenauer met alone with their interpreters at the White House late Monday for an hour and 45 minutes. They joined their principal advisers for dinner at the White House.

With the governor were Michael's twin sister, Mary Strawbridge, and Dr. Robert C. Gardner of Harvard's Peabody Museum. Gardner last spring led an anthropological expedition which Michael joined—in the remote Ballen Valley of New Guinea in search for primitive artifacts. Michael remained in New Guinea after the party broke up.

Gardner said Michael's chances of survival were good if he reached shore.

Dutch officials report the native in the area are relatively civilized but explorers say that fierce tribes—barely a step above the head-hunting level—roam the interior.

The U.S. government is "ready to make one more attempt at agreement on a nuclear test ban" having in view that the three powers, participants of these negotiations, have proclaimed that their general aim is for general and complete disarmament.

Previously, in the current session of the U.N. General Assembly in New York, Soviet delegates had rejected calls for nuclear test negotiations unless they were part of general disarmament talks.

The U.S. proposals declared all-armed action and accessionist activities opposing the central government. They would empower U. Thant to neutralize any planes illegally in the Congo. They would also authorize the acting U.N. chief to help reorganize and retrain rebellious units of the Congo army with a view to having it eventually take over from the U.N. forces.

The U.S. amendments also urge U. Thant to try all avenues of negotiation and conciliation in trying to restore unity to the divided African state. The United States has long urged stress on peaceful means of dealing with the explosive Congo situation.

A U.S. source said the amendments were designed partly to see that the three-nation resolution "is broad enough so that when another crisis arises, we won't have to go back to the Security Council again."

Progress Noted In White House Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer went to the White House today for his second conference with President Kennedy on grave issues of the times.

The German ambassador, Wilhelm Grewe, told reporters that Adenauer's visit is better. Because of his cold, Adenauer did not attend a "working dinner" last night of U.S. and West German officials.

Grewe and two German ministers, Foreign Minister Richard Schlegel and Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss, preceded Adenauer by a few minutes at the White House.

They had held an earlier meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other U.S. officials at the State Department.

The adviser group also held a "working dinner" Monday night with Rusk at host. Adenauer did not attend. Aides said he was suffering from a slight cold.

First Lady Of Africa Doing Fine

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — If you've been worrying about the women of Africa being downtrodden, you can probably forget it as far as Western Nigeria is concerned.

"The well-to-do people of Nigeria are the women," says the First Lady, Emily Akintola, here on an unofficial visit with her husband.

"Nigerian women have all the money," she goes on in good English, using a phrase that has a familiar ring in this country.

"Men give us the freedom to do what we want. They never mind if we're in business."

The tall, dignified wife of Chief Samuel Ladoke Akintola, premier of the western region of Africa's largest Negro nation, is one of her country's successful businesswomen. She imports cement and other materials from Germany, keeps a knowing eye on the New York and London stock exchanges.

She's been a trader since she was 13. Her father, chief of the forest rangers, gave her the first money to set up a little shop to sell hats and materials in front of her home in Lagos. She attended a Baptist girls' school run by Americans.

Buying and selling of goods has been the traditional role of women throughout West Africa, and Mrs. Akintola inherited a sharp trader's sense from her mother. She shakes her head over her two daughters, aged 20 and 25, the oldest of her five children. The elder girl is married, the younger is studying medicine in Dublin, and neither has the slightest interest in trading.

She thinks women are better at business than men, and that they should help out with the family income if their work doesn't disrupt home life.

The Akintolas, who have been married 26 years, live in a government-built, two-story, four-bedroom house in the suburbs of the capital, Ibadan. She does a lot of her own housework and practically all cooking, in spite of having domestic help.

Although she is a graduate of the Paris Dress Design Academy in London, which she attended while her husband was studying law, Mrs. Akintola wears only Nigerian dress: loose blouse, wrap-around skirt and turban. Ornaments include bracelets, earrings and a U.S. $10 gold piece on a chain around her neck.

Besides all the entertaining the job entails, how does she like being a premier's wife?

She shrugs. "My husband is an easy man to get along with. He doesn't worry me and I don't worry him. We're used to each other."

Stepin Tunic Replaces The Old Zipper

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At least one designer does not underestimate the fury of a woman who cannot, despite her contortions, unzip the back of her dress.

That's just what Jean Louis, a Frenchman from Hollywood, who brought a bevy of beautiful models and boxes of new fashion ideas for the debut of his spring collection here today.

One single piece was the "step-in" tunic dress with a pair of buttons marching down the front first, eliminating the need for zippers.

Jean Louis' coat-dress is another zipperless style which not only preserves sacroiliacs. It is guaranteed not to deflate those bouffant hairdos which Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy did so much to make popular.

Although it buttons down the front like a coat, the style resemblance ends there. Like other so-called coat dresses introduced at this spring market, the West Coast couturiers are too fitted and helmed to be anything else but a dress.

As the show hurried on, the wardrobe progressed from manish suits with bowler hats; to coats narrow at the shoulder and flared wide from the fitted bosom to floral pastel costume suits; to sultry black crepe cocktail dresses draped in back; and finally to chiffon and beaded formalwear.

Except for those step-in dresses, most of Louis' styling was in retreat. The West Coast couturier obviously appreciates a tanned back, for some backs are scooped so low and wide they nearly eliminate the back bodice of the dress altogether.

Another Franco-American from the East Coast, Jacques Tiffou, introduced the "ohi siffouette" Thursday during the Monte-Carlo spring show. Being much closer to the Orient geographically, it was only fitting that Jean Louis should go one better with the Kabuki costume.

Those loose, slit sleeves of the Japanese kimono are in Louis' daytime dresses, theater suits, floating chiffon, ruffling, satin and even sober black floor-length dinner gowns.

Although other American designers seem to have deserted ostrich feathers as well as clinking crystals, blinding beads, shimmering sequins, Jean Louis with a Hollywood following could hardly eliminate the showy costumes. And to prove how well Jean

"The Government of Japan"—Ardath W. Burks. "The Government of France"—E. Drexel Goffrey, Jr. "The Government of Germany"—Arnold J. Heidenheimer. "The Government of Great Britain"—Graeme C. Moodie. "The Government of the Soviet Union"—Frederick L. Schuman, all edited by Arnold A. Rogow; will be published on November 27.

This series is designed to present concise, comprehensive analyses of the structure and politics of representative national governments through the world today.

Each up-to-date volume has been written by an authority in the field. Bare facts are supplemented by carefully reasoned explanations and evaluations. The books in this series go far beyond giving merely an account of the form of government. They deal with the dynamics of the functioning of the complete society in the ever-tightening world of the twentieth century.

Child Welfare Survey Is Launched

The survey of Scurry County's need for child welfare services which was authorized by the Commissioner's Court two weeks ago was launched yesterday by the appointment of an advisory board. Appointed to this advisory board by the Scurry County Welfare Board were Fred Davis, Mrs. H. Johnson Jr., and Harold Lick.

The survey is expected to take about three months. Conducting the survey will be Sam Granato, the Supervisor of Direct Services, Child Welfare Division of the Texas State Department of Public Welfare. No cost to the county is involved.

During the survey Granato will be working with representatives of the city and county health, welfare, and recreation services, and in some cases with people actually in need of the services.

The main area with which the Child Welfare Division concerns itself is protection against neglect, abuse, and abandonment of children. At the present time several city and county agencies are involved in different ways with the problem. Because of this division of authority it is felt that perhaps some phases of child welfare are being neglected. The survey may show that better coordination is all that is needed, or it may show that a full time worker should be retained. In any case the needs and suggested solutions will be included in a report when the survey is finished.

Big Job For AFB Cooks

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—If the job of preparing Thanksgiving dinner at your house seems pretty tremendous, consider what the cooks have to do at Kelly Air Force Base.

The menu calls for 336 pounds of shrimp cocktail, 2,500 pounds of turkey, 280 pounds of ham, 80 gallons of giblet gravy, 600 pounds of cornbread dressing, 630 pounds of mashed potatoes, 560 pounds of candied sweet potatoes, 210 pounds of buttered peas, 210 pounds of buttered sweetstarch, 100 pounds of celery, 30 pounds of radishes, 5,600 rolls, 280 cans of jellied cranberry sauce, 84 quarts of assorted pickles, 28 gallons of mixed pickles, 84 gallons of coffee, 100 gallons of milk and 560 pounds of fruit.

The cooks expect the meal to be ample for men and their families.

Everyone has learned to expect "it" to be wash-and-use. So, whether it's part of a personal or a household wardrobe, Americans want to be able to launder it, give it a few minutes to dry, and put it right back into use!

SWEATER WITHOUT A TOP OR BOTTOM. You shape it into chinwarmer or hood for cold days

Knit It Now For Cold Chins

AP Newsfeatures

A stiff upper lip in the winter time is not necessarily a sign of bravery. It could be frozen.

But a stitch-in-time precaution is an easy - to - make chinwarmer.

Knit on the bias in the shape of a stove pipe, it opens at both top and bottom to slip over your head. Although called a chinwarmer, you can actually nuzzle your whole face in it, stiff lip, cold nose and all.

Doubled over and pouffed outward the piece takes on a guise of a wide-away turtle neck. Puffed high over the head and low on the bosom, it becomes a hood, protecting hairdos and keeping ears warm.

Chinwarmers make good Christmas gifts for the hot blooded and cold, young and old because one size fits all.

Free instructions are available by sending a self-addressed envelope to the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, Room 1806, 15 East 28th Street, New York City.

New Sea Foods Added To Menus

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME, (AP)—Did you ever try the little white waters like cigarette paper, dipped in sauce? You may have been eating sea weed.

Did you enjoy those little black mushrooms on rice at your favorite Chinese restaurant? Those "mushrooms" probably were made of algae.

For man at last has begun to learn how to find some other food in the sea beside fish.

Experts of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) say that whereas much already has been done to make foods out of sea weed, the great challenge—so far unmet—is how to feed men on vitamin and mineral rich plankton.

Plankton, FAO experts explain, is the "soup of the sea," microscopic plant and animal life floating in most of the warm water oceans, in vast quantity and wide dispersal. Sardines, herring and anchovies live on it. It furnishes a major diet even for huge whales, shark, and tuna.

The trouble so far has been scattered and so small that sufficient quantities cannot be harvested economically.

FAO experts said laboratories in Japan, the United States, the United Kingdom and Germany have been trying to work out some system of cultivating plankton in concentrated, controlled pools. So far it has not worked.

Sea weed so far has shown more practical results, and already has been used as human food and feed for livestock. The sea weed of marine algae differs from the plankton in that it grows larger and is attached to the sea bottom or rocks.

As an additive for livestock feed, it is produced in Canada, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Holland, Ireland and Norway, and largely imported by West Germany. Production is well over 50,000 tons a year.

As human food it is widely used in Japan, China, and other countries of the Far East. Some sources estimate that seaweed now constitutes 25 per cent of the daily diet in parts of Japan.

TOP TV TONIGHT

By BUD EVANS

8:00 CBS "Red Skelton" and guest star Ek Wynn team up as two famed hoboes, Freddie the Freeloader and his pal Muggsy, who go out in search of a Thanksgiving Day dinner. After arriving at a mission where they are too late for food, the two head for a turkey farm where they end up with a turkey egg and decide to wait until it hatches.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

6:30 NBC "Laramie" For sheltering a young renegade Indian, Jess Harper and Slim Sherman face prosecution by the Army and, in the face of this threat, continue to help in obtaining a peace treaty. Robert Blake is guest star as the "Wolf Cub."

7:00 CBS "Dick Van Dyke" explodes his wife's plans for a three-day vacation in Connecticut. By agreeing to babysit a dog for the long weekend, it is believed their son will enjoy romping with the dog but, instead, is scared to death because he thinks the dog is a wolf.

7:30 NBC "Alfred Hitchcock" A housewife's only clue to a masked man who beat her is that he wore a torn glove when he fled, later she identifies the man in a police lineup as the assailant but the glove leads to an unexpected climax. Carolyn Kearney and Dick York are starred in "You Can't Be a Little Girl All Your Life."

7:30 CBS "Dobie Gillis" and his college class are asked to contribute items representative of their society to be placed in a time capsule. Jay Meynard assists in the work of this historic civilization.

8:15 ABC "The New Breed" A husband mysteriously falls to his death at a rest home which had been under investigation for fraudulent operation. Dennis King is guest star in "Wave Goodbye to Grandpa."

8:30 CBS "Ichabod and Me" Editor Bob Major unknowingly hires a printer with a drinking problem. When Major learns that the printer is a tippler, he sets out to reform him, in spite of Ichabod's pessimism.

9:00 NBC "Cain's Hundred" The gang-style beating of a dock worker spurs Nick Cain's crime-busting efforts against waterfront exploiters. Harold Stone, Charles Bronson also appears in "Dead Lead."

Soviet Goals Cited By Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the Soviet Union hopes to defeat this country by forcing us to spend ourselves into bankruptcy "not by military power, but by that reason, 'we must either demand one dollar more than is necessary for adequate military strength,' he told an estimated 6,000 persons attending a meeting Monday night of the Central Savannah River Area, chapter of the Association of the U.S. 2000.

It was Eisenhower's first public address in Augusta where he spent many golfing vacations as president.

He said he does not believe the United States is on the brink of global war because "there is no one in the world who would dare challenge us with any hope of winning."

The Great Plains has suffered often from grasshoppers. The most spectacular invasion occurred in the 1870s. Successive waves of grasshoppers ate grass, vegetables, tree leaves and weeds. When greenery was gone the voracious insects nibbled clothing, harness and pitching hoods.

A GREAT SENSE OF HUMOR

Plenty Opportunity Exists For Third Political Party

By INEZ ROBB

About a decade ago I suggested the formation of a new political party to be called the Conservative Anarchists. The object was not to toss bombs, perish forbid, but to toss out the neogoodniks who insist on the body politic.

My party would accommodate all 'us citizens who grow weary with the shenanigans of both major parties, the Democratic and the Republican, to name names.

The chief plank in the platform of the Conservative Anarchists was and is to inject a little common honesty into political dealing and to get rid of so-called public servants in both parties when they become more unbearable than usual.

We in New York have just lived through two nauseating exercises in political cynicism, one sponsored by the Democrats and the other compounded by the G.O.P.

In the first instance, we have had the so-called reform element in the Democratic party support and foist upon this city for another four years the most inept, incompetent and fatuous mayor in a generation.

This so-called self-christened reform group took the man who had been Tammany Hall's invention and creature for most of his eight years in office, dusted him off and with cynical ploy, presented him, Robert F. Wagner, as a "reform" candidate.

The continuous scandals of the Wagner administration, the shocking condition of the public schools, the physical filth of the city and of its air, the housing scandals, and the shocking fact that the street and the parks are safe neither day nor night and the equally hard fact that Wagner had proved unequal to these challenges, counted for nothing with the reformers.

Instead of presenting the voters with a new and competent candidate, the "reform" group, headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, lent their names and prestige to a man thoroughly discredited in the eyes of the best elements in his own party.

So now this group, plus Wagner, stands to inherit Tammany Hall in the name of "reform." It is also to be richly rewarded. The President, who has been withholding all patronage from New York State, will now graciously allow Wagner to dispense it!

Indonesia Provided More Rice By U. S.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The United States has provided Indonesia with an additional 50,000 tons of rice under the U.S. "Food for Peace" program.

Indonesia will pay $134 million in rupaiah for the rice. The United States will return more than $10 million for Indonesian economic development.

Since 1956 Indonesia has bought $188.8 million worth of U.S. agricultural surpluses. Of the rupaiah paid, nearly $131 million worth have been returned for economic development.

Ancient Roman circus crowds rated the rhinoceros high on their list of favorite animals. To satisfy the Romans' demand for thrilling circuses, imperial expeditions sought the animal in the Sudan and Ethiopia.

Columnist Jumps To Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions.

Every clever victim ought to get a hike in pay. He probably got the clever from worrying about his job — or from listening to a nagging wife's demands as to why he doesn't make more money. In either case, he needs compensation.

Red-haired girls have the most faithful husbands. I never knew a girl who ever deserted her red-haired husband.

The average wife can usually tell when her husband is lying to her. Her big trouble is that she is never quite sure when he is telling her the truth.

Many girls buy their boyfriends expensive and unusual gifts for Christmas. But the quickest way to ruin a gift is to present it in a pair of shoes. Nothing pleases him more than to be given a pair of shoes that fit.

The best companion is a man who laughs when it's raining and does all his griping on sunny days. You may think him mad, but he'll keep you entertained.

If bigamy were legal, it wouldn't appeal to more than one man in five. Monogamy is so widespread because it fits the true nature of the average man. He is simply too lazy to try to defend himself to more than one woman at a time.

There has been much public tear-shedding over the plight of healthy, vigorous men forced by corporation policy to quit their jobs at 65. But we have met many more strong vigorous men who complain about soulless corporations that insist they keep on working after the age of 30.

A rugged individualist is a fellow who repeatedly interrupts his "jokes" with "I already heard that." And sometimes it's just a short step from being ragged to being ragged.

It isn't love that makes the modern world go round. It's salesmanship. Anyone who looks down his nose at the art of salesmanship is kidding himself. No other skill in life is more essential — whether a man is a dog catcher or lawyer, a businessman or minister.

Every married man, no matter how modeste-like, is secretly certain he knows at least one haterack girl he could make time with — if he really chose to.

We all envy each other for different reasons. The man you envy for his money may envy you for your ability to eat red cabbage without paying a penalty.

Suit Filed Against Chinese Freighter

HOUSTON (AP) — The United States filed suit against the Chinese freighter Union Reliance and its cargo.

The ship collided with the Norwegian tanker Beran in the Houston Ship Channel Nov. 17. Eleven men in Chinese crewmen and a Port Houston pilot died and the Union Reliance burned for days.

The suit, filed Monday, said the government has spent $16,182 on the Union Reliance and said expenses are mounting at $1,300 a day.

The suit asked for permission to auction the ship.

Agents for the Union Reliance could not be reached for comment.

Junior Editors Quiz on GAMES

QUESTION: When and where did the name Jacks originate?

ANSWER: Stones and sticks were probably the earliest playthings known to mankind. Round stones have been found with other relics of the cave men and are thought to have originated the game of marbles. Very ancient boys and girls also liked to play with little square knucklebones, especially those from sheep. These bones instead of rolling like stones would stay in place when you threw them. It was from these that the game Jacks originated. Probably some ancient boy or girl threw a stick up, scooped up several knucklebones and tried to catch the stone as it was coming down. Exactly where Jacks originated is hard to say but it is thought it first came from Japan or China and was taken up as a game by Roman soldiers who spread it throughout the Roman empire. The word Jacks comes from England and Scotland. A Jack meant something ordinary like an average man and, since knucklebones were so common and used by the ordinary people, the game came to be called Jackstones.

FOR YOU TO DO: Our modern Jack is a clever shape which stops it from rolling just like the ancient knuckle bone. Jacks are real fun. If you haven't got a set get some and go to it.

Big Variety Of Foods In Markets

By The Associated Press
U. S. farmers are such prolific growers that heavy holiday buying hardly made a dent in the abundance and variety of foods still available at Texas markets, the Agricultural Marketing Service says.

Although pre-holiday Thanksgiving sales of turkeys set a record, stocks remain the largest ever offered at this season. Broiler-fryers rate bargain tags. Fresh pork supplies continue to increase as hog marketings move toward the year's peak. Strong competition from poultry and pork has resulted in a 10 percent discount on beef.

Apples lead the fruit parade, but Texas ruby red grapefruit and Texas oranges are in life. Grapes from California are a good buy. Cranberries are in heavy supply. Many specialty fruits are showing up in better supply — langes, Tangelos, persimmons and fresh pineapple.

The three C's take the vegetable bargain spotlight — Cabbage, carrots and celery. There are generous supplies of turnip greens, green and yellow onions, sweet potatoes and turnips. More pecans, almonds, filberts, peanuts and dates are moving to Texas markets. The first commercial shipments of Christmas trees are showing up.

Students Return From Hectic Trip

OXFORD, England (AP)—Two Oxford students and a photographer who set out to follow Marco Polo's route to China failed to get there — but they returned with tales almost as intriguing as those of the 13th Century Venetian traveler.

They started out on two motorcycles and came back with one, the other in Iran. They also brought back a fund of stories of arrests, a kidnapping and a camel trek.

They came home early this month, late for the fall school term, after having in abundance their plan to follow Marco Polo's course to Peiping.

When they arrived at the Afghan-Chinese border they were refused entry to Red China on a route rarely traveled since the Communist revolution.

The students were Stanley Johnson of Exeter College and Giles Watkins of Keeble College, both 20. With them was photographer Michel de Larrabetti, 28.

They left Oxford June 21 for Venice to start a planned trip of 10,000 miles.

The real aim of our journey was to demonstrate that there is still room in the world for mad enterprises and still people who are willing to carry them out," said Johnson.

They flew across the English Channel in a cargo plane and traveled uneventfully across Europe to Venice. There, police stopped them from driving into St. Mark's Square where vehicular traffic isn't allowed.

They went to Yugoslavia and Bulgaria to Istanbul, where they spent a week in a gypsy camp.

Their first trouble came in Iran. Watkins hurt his foot and was left in Tehran, rejoining the expedition later after a long trek through mountains on camels.

It was on the way to Larrabetti reached the tiny Iranian village of Aveh, which Marco Polo thought was the home of the Three Wise Men.

"We spent the night there, gazed up at the stars and decided it was so beautiful that one of the Wise Men probably did come from there," Johnson recounted.

"Next day we started filming the place. Police objected. They found we had no passports on us, having been relieved of them by other officials earlier and threw us into jail. The village guard eventually decided to report us to a higher authority and commander the only transport — our remaining motor bike. They ordered me to ride it and sent me off across the desert with an armed escort.

"I lost the escort by leaving the bike over on his foot and left him there for a passing camel train to pick up. I shipped back to collect our passports and we got away.

Their lights failed, but they crossed a high, windy pass at night and arrived in Afghanistan. The evening before they were to go on their way again — having outstayed their visas by eight days — Johnson was kidnapped.

"I was sitting in a cafe writing," he explained. "An Afghan came in and I started to talk to him. He said 'whiskey' which sounded like a good idea to me and we went into his large, chauffeur-driven car.

"Then I found myself whisked away into the mountains at high speed and was eventually reduced to hitting him. When I got away I had to walk the 15 miles back to town along a dark mountain road at 2 a. m."

The adventures — by now three again — crossed the Khyber Pass and set off through India, sitting one behind the other on the surviving motor bike — the other having been left behind in Tehran. But they didn't get to China.

The reason, they said, there was no trace of a road to be found.

Protection For Soldiers Gets Test

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian army is testing a modern-day chain mail designed to protect soldiers against the heat of a nuclear blast.

Soldiers are wearing the fishnet-like material over regular uniforms to see how cumbersome or awkward it might prove under battlefield conditions.

The material was developed by scientists of the Defense Research Chemical Laboratories at nearby Shirley Bay. Without the protection of the material, the heat would burn a hole through the khaki and incinerate the wearer.

The material produces a puff of smoke within a fraction of a second when subjected to a heat of 30 calories a square centimeter. This is the intensity of heat which would be expected from a nuclear detonation at a distance at which radiation would not be lethal.

A first-degree burn on the body is produced by two calories a square centimeter, a third-degree burn by five.

The material developed by the Defense Research Board could be draped over weapons and equipment as well as personnel to protect against heat.

New Method Can Detect Oral Cancer

DETROIT (AP)—A new method of detecting oral cancer was announced Monday at the Detroit District Dental Society's 20th annual dental review.

Dr. Donald B. Smith, chief of oral surgery at Veterans Hospital in Dearborn, Mich., said a painless scraping of a suspected oral cancer and a quick study of the cells can determine rapidly the presence of cancer in the mouth.

Painless and easy to do, the scraping will detect mouth cancers in the very early stages, when the cure rate can run between 75 and 100 per cent, Dr. Smith said.

Food Money Goes In Many Pockets

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in a series of articles in connection with observance of National Farm-City Week, by Bernhard Bartels, chairman of the Kiwanis Club Agriculture and Conservation Committee.

In considering the cost of living, many consumers think about food or clothing and blame the farmer for an increase since these raw products originally came from the farm. They forget that most of the increases go to others. It is a fact that the prices paid for these items by the consumer has very little relation to what the farmer got for the raw product when it left the farm.

There is no other nation in the world where there is so much spread between the price which farmers receive and the price paid for food products by the housewife. A very large part of the grocery bill paid by the housewife is not for the farm price of food products but for the wages and profits, as well as other costs, that go into the processing, packaging, and having it available in the form and place that she wants it.

There is no other nation in the world where such a small percentage of the wage earner's pay goes to food. Only 26 cents out of each dollar of take-home pay goes for food. Forty years ago it was nearly 50 cents out of each dollar.

The two columns below compare what one hour's factory work would buy in 1930 and 1960:

1930	2	pounds of steak	2.00
	1.2	loaves of bread	11.0
	7.8	pints of milk	16.8
	1.0	pounds of butter	2.9
	1.3	pounds of bacon	2.7
	1.1	dozen eggs	3.5
	1.2	dozen oranges	2.8

During the last ten years the retail price of cereals, bread, and other bakery goods has gone up 30 per cent while the farm price of wheat has gone down. The farmer gets only three cents out of each loaf of bread.

It is the consumers rather than the farmers who have received almost all of the benefit from increased production in agriculture. Contrast this with the fact that productivity of industrial workers has not gone up as fast as the wages they have received.

REV. J. F. EADS

Rev. Eads New Pastor

The Rev. J. F. Eads has accepted the pastorate of the Northside Assembly of God Church here.

Rev. Eads has served as pastor of churches in New Mexico, West Texas and North Texas Districts, and also has served as an evangelist. He came to the Snyder Church from Paducah.

The Northside Assembly of God Church is located at 1000 Thirteenth Street, and the church now has a revival series in progress, with Evangelists Betty Martin and Vera Wells of Southern California.

Regular services of the church include Sunday School at 9:45 a. m., on Sundays, worship services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Sundays, and at 7:30 p. m. on Thursdays.

Deadline Is Ignored By Communists

By LOUIS G. PANOS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist party has failed to meet the deadline for registering under the Internal Security Act.

The Justice Department with held action today, waiting to see if the party's officers would sign up within their later time limit.

The party, as an organization, had until midnight Monday night to register but the Justice Department said no representative showed up. The officers now have until Nov. 30. If the officers do not heed the deadline, individual party members must register within 20 days—Dec. 20.

A spokesman said the Justice Department plans to wait at least until after the time has expired for the officers to register before taking action. Then, officials said, the first move will likely be directed against the party itself.

Under the Internal Security Act, embattled in the courts since 1950 until the Supreme Court upheld its provisions last June—the party was to have registered as an arm of the Soviet government, listing its officers, finances and other details.

In view of the party's formal notice last week that it would not comply with the registration requirement, department officials said it was unlikely that registration had been mailed. The party refused on grounds registration might incriminate its officers.

The act carries a penalty of up to $10,000 for each day a Communist-action or Communist-front organization fails to register.

Individuals violating the registration requirement could receive the same penalty, plus a five-year prison term for each day of non-compliance.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTERITH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "false odor" breath. Get PASTERITH at drug counters everywhere.

Balloonist Sets Endurance Mark

By BOB HARRING

OKEMAH, Okla. (AP)—A woman who calls herself a dedicated capitalist spent 40 cold, sleepless hours in a balloon because "I got sick of the Russians holding all the records."

Constance Wolf, 56, of Philadelphia landed in an east central Oklahoma field 12 miles west of here at 4:55 p. m. Monday.

She had spent 40 hours—8 minutes aloft in a 5-foot square wicker basket hitched to a 65-foot rubberized balloon. That bettered a mark of 34 hours, 21 minutes, 31 seconds claimed by a Russian woman.

"I'm nearly dead," were her first words when she reached the sheriff's office here. "I've been in that miserable balloon —"

Mrs. Wolf didn't know how long she had been up. She left Big Spring in southwestern Texas at 12:47 a. m. Sunday but forgot to note the time. She was in over-cast skies most of the time and couldn't communicate with the ground.

"I was afraid to come down. I was afraid I had not beaten the (Russian) record," said Mrs. Wolf.

She wore an Air Force flying suit but still got cold. Her silver hair was held in a net and she wore blue canvas sneakers.

"My feet are still frozen," she told newsmen.

She soared at altitudes up to 20,000 feet, much of the time in rain, fog and 30-degree temperatures.

She controlled her altitude by releasing hydrogen from the gas bag or dropping ballast, but could not control her drift.

"The balloon wanted to come here," she said, "so I came."

It is 300 air miles from Big Spring to Okemah.

She carried a toothbrush aloft, but no food. She also carried two pencils, but didn't take any notes because "I was too busy with other things."

"Never take up ballooning," she muttered after leaving the basket. "It's a ghastly sport."

This was Mrs. Wolf's first attempt at a record, although she has been a balloonist for 10 years and an airplane pilot for 35. "I never cared for records," she explained, "but somebody had to show those Russians they don't know it all."

Her husband is a lawyer and she said, "just call me a dedicated capitalist." The couple has no children.

Presume 11 Airmen Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eleven airmen missing since their C-130 turbo-prop transport plane was shot down over Russian Armenia more than three years ago were officially listed Monday by the Air Force as "presumed dead."

Included in the list was 1st Lt. Ricardo Villarreal, 24, of Laredo, Tex.

There were 17 men aboard the C-130 when it strayed over the Soviet-Turkish border and was downed by three Russian jet fighters on Sept. 2, 1958.

Three weeks after the incident, the Russians handed over to U.S. authorities the bodies of six of the victims. The remains of two could not be identified and they were buried at Arlington National Cemetery. The Russians had denied any knowledge of the other eleven, listed until now as missing.

H-SU Slates Integration

ABILENE (AP) — The first Negro students to attend Hardin-Summons University may be admitted next year.

Although there has been no official policy restricting admission to white students only, the Baptist school has followed tradition in admitting no Negroes.

Hardin-Summons President Evan A. Reiff said the move was not prompted by any pressure group, or by the application for admission by a Negro student.

"This has been developing unpressured for a long time," he said.

The school's board of trustees meeting in Abilene last week approved without dissent a motion authorizing the administration to consider applications from all races. The university is one of nine schools owned by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Two others, Wayland Baptist College in Plainview and the University of Corpus Christi, are desegregated.

Other schools owned by Texas Baptists include the denomination's largest in the world, Baylor University in Waco, and East Texas Baptist College at Marshall.

Howard Payne University at Brownwood, Decatur Baptist College at Decatur, Mary Hardin Baylor College at Belton, and San Marcos Baptist Academy at San Marcos.

Healthy Pelicans Scare In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Pelican State is having trouble finding two healthy pelicans to send to the Greek island of Mykonos.

The island had asked Gov. Jimmie R. Davis to send a mate for its sole pelican. The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission said it had selected two birds; but later a commission spokesman said the birds were too sick to travel and that there is "a lot of disease" among Louisiana pelicans.

He said a new attempt would be made to find two healthy birds.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW

by Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"O my Son Absalom, my son, my Absalom! Would I had died instead of you, O Absalom, my son, my son!"

II Samuel 18:33 (Read verses 5-33)

Absalom, King David's son, had committed a great sin against his father. He had tried to take the kingship away from David and had almost done it, when he met with misfortune in the forest and was killed. Yet, even though this great and tragic sin had been committed by Absalom, David mourned over his son's death.

"This is the same kind of love that God has for us. We continually sin against God; try to take His place. But God still loves us and wants us to return to Him. The sin we do only ends in our death, but God wants to give us life. David said that he wished he could have died in Absalom's place. God, in Jesus, did just that — He died in our place, took our sin on His shoulders, and thereby returned us to our rightful place in the family of God.

Mr. Sam's Secretary Planning To Retire

DALLAS (AP) — Miss Alla Clary, who for 42 years was secretary to Sam Rayburn, said here Monday she plans to retire.

"He said he was not going to retire before I did. I said I was not going to retire until he did. Now that's taken out of our hands," Miss Clary said. She is 72.

Rayburn, longtime speaker of the House of Representatives, died of cancer in Bonham Thursday at 75.

"Now, of course, I will retire. I could have 10 years ago. One day I said to Mr. Rayburn, I don't know why I don't retire. Yes, I do, it's because I work for you. He was the most considerate man," she said.

She said she will continue to make her home at Falls Church, Va.

Daily Crude Flow Rises

TULSA (AP)—U.S. oil production rose 38,250 barrels per day last week, the fourth straight week for a gain, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Average output last week was 7,399,560 barrels a day, compared to 7,115,000 for the week ended Oct. 21.

Oklahoma led the gain at 815,000 barrels, up 18,100.

Texas averaged 2,823,800 barrels a day this month, compared to 2,497,000 last month, the Journal said. Louisiana's average is 1,210,750 this month compared with 1,184,000. New Mexico's average is 319,000, compared with 315,500.

He Believes In Planning Ahead

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Kenneth Aht, public works commissioner for this city, believes in planning ahead.

Last August, Aht ordered 60 tons of rock salt for use in snow removal and asked for delivery on Nov. 20. It arrived Monday. Good thing, too. The city had its first snowfall of the year—3 1/2 inches.
