Spring Tour Announced

Members of The Anchor Brothers Band, headquartered in Sudan, have announced plans for "Spring Tour 1988/Celebration in Song," to begin in Muleshoe on Sunday, April 10, and end on the Fourth of July weekend in Dallas/Ft. Worth.

This is definitely our most extensive tour since our beginning ten years ago," said Reydon Stanford, vocalist and keyboard player for the band.

"We plan to release a national record in August, through the Eddie Crook Co., on the Wren Records label, and this tour is a way for us to travel Texas and New Mexico and see all of our friends again before we start our Music Ministry on a 'National' basis," Stanford stated.

Russian Wheat Aphids Making Presence Known In This Area

The return of warm weather is bringing with it the return of the Russian wheat aphid, and farmers across the High Plains need to keep close watch on their fields, cautions an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"This pest has survived the winter and its populations are now beginning to increase on the South Plains," said Dr. Pat Morrison, the Extension entomologist.

The Russian wheat aphid first appeared in the U. S. in March 1986 near Muleshoe. Since then it has spread into 14 western states of the Great Plains. Its economic impact on farmers in this area has been estimated at some $50 million.

"Research plots monitored at Lubbock by Dr. Tom Archer, research entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, showed the Russian wheat aphid numbers declined Farmers Cooperative Elevators of Muleshoe, has kicked off the first ever food grade corn program in area cooperative history, starting with the harvest of 1987.

In business here since 1957, Farmers Co-op is already the local leader for storage and merchandising of wheat, feed corn, grain sorghum and soybeans, says Robert M. Johnson, general manager.

"It was time for us to begin expansion into the most promising future money crop for

Lazbuddie FFA First In Judging

It was a productive weekend for members of the Lazbuddie FFA judging team who went to Clarendon last Saturday.

In competition with some 40 teams from the Panhandle area, the Lazbuddie FFA judging team came home with the first place overall trophy.

Vo-Ag instructor Rick Copp was justifiably proud of his young judging students, who won several good honors.

SHEEP

Steve Bradshaw, second high individual; Sheldon Mason was third high individual and Casey Bradshaw was fourth high individual. The team took first in the sheep division.

SWINE

Sheldon Mason was first high individual; Steve Bradshaw was eighth high individual and Casey Bradshaw was 10th high individual. The team took second high in the event.

They were to compete in a judging show on Tuesday morning at Abilene.

irrigated counties of the Panhandle," he said.

The entry of a cooperative supplier brings certain changes to the old ways of food grade corn merchandising. Rather than selling grain under a forward contract, which has many disadvantages for both buyer and seller, any farmer can turn his grain over to a cooperative under a marketing agreement in which he agrees to accept at some future time an average -- rather than specific -- sales price for his production.

The advantage to the consumer is that stocks never run out because shipments are timed by the co-op and the market, rather than by the time of sale by farmers. This system of merchandising has been available to grain cooperatives for several years, but this is the first time a cooperative has been able to provide the storage and cleaning facilities.

Farmers Cooperatives currently segregates Pioneer 3192 from other yellow varieties. A blend of locally grown white corn varieties is also available, said Johnson.

He added that next year, additional facilities will provide over two million bushels of food grade corn storage making possible the segregated binning of almost any corn -- variety -- including blue corn -- by advance request of either farmers or buyers.

Speedy, efficient truck loading facilities supplement Santa Fe rail service, added Johnson, making dry bulk available to re-sellers and re-cleaners at harvest and throughout the year.

He said customers who require food grade corn dried, cleaned and ready for cooking, palletized bagged material is also available in addition to bulk shipments by rail or pneumatic road equipment. Only locally grown corn is supplied unless otherwise specified.

For further information, you may contact Howard Pennington, merchandising manager.

THE EASTER BUNNY ARRIVES IN MULESHOE--Each year, the Easter Bunny makes an arrival in Muleshoe in a slightly different manner. This year, the Easter Bunny showed up at the Jennyslipper Easter Egg Hunt as a passenger in a side car on a motorcycle. She greeted the several hundred toddlers through fifth graders who showed up to hunt more than 5,000 candy Easter Eggs, and collect prizes for many of the eggs. [Journal Photo]

'Bear-y Special Readers' Participate In Program

Dillman Elementary School has some "Bear-y Special Readers" who are participating in a reading program during the next four weeks.

Each student has received a chart and a letter to parents explaining the plan. The students have been asked to read with another person for the program—with a parent, another adult, a friend or a teacher. The child can read or the adult can read to the child.

This program is designed to help children understand that reading is a lifetime activity and can be entertaining.

The students have been asked to keep a list of books read for fun during this program and each list will be turned in at the end of the program.

Each child who participates will receive a certificate naming them as a "Bear-y Special Reader" and a pin to wear that will remind them that "Books are Bear-y Special."

This reading program is being conducted to celebrate National Library Week, April 17-23. Each staff member in the school is encouraging children to read during this time.

If you know a student at Dillman Elementary, encourage them to read by listening as they read to you or read a book to them and enjoy the "Bear-y Special Books" that are available to children.

The program for the day was a book review on the "Lonesome Dove" by Mrs. Lewis. This book was written by Larry McMurtry and was about three retired Texas Rangers. The setting was around a town named "Lonesome Dove". This town had a barber shop, hardware store, a Doctors mercantile, a livery, a cattle office, and a hotel. Mrs. Carpenter reported that the story had a humor about it and was enjoyed by everyone.

The next club meeting will be on April 14 in the home of Mrs.

TO PETITION POSTAL SERVICE FOR HOME DELIVERY OF MAIL-FOLLOWING SURVEY
Members of the Muleshoe Civic Clubs will make a house to house survey this week to determine the wishes of local people concerning possible home delivery of mail.

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the survey and will present a petition to the Post Office Department, asking that home delivery be instituted from the local office.

The Chamber last week circulated a bulletin, outlining the service possibility. According to the bulletin, mail would leave the post office by carrier at 11 a.m. daily. All houses to be served must be numbered, and sidewalks from the street to the door must be in place.

Every home receiving the service would be required to have an approved mail box up by the time the service begins.

The bulletin also points out the disadvantages of the proposed service, such as if the morning train was late, the mail would not be delivered until the next day. Only one delivery a day would be made to the residential section, and two a day in the business section of town.

Senior Spotlight

Cindy Gayle Roberts is featured in this week's Senior Spotlight at Sudan High School.

"If you asked Cindy what she wants to do with her life, she would probably answer that she would like to be someone her dad would have been proud of," said Donice Holley. "Cindy's family are the people who have had the most impact on her life, but her mom and her grandparents top the list as having the most. Cindy said the reason they have the most impact on her life is because, 'They have always been there for me and have done so much to get me where I am.'"

"Since Cindy's mother has also had so much influence on her life, Cindy is sure to remember her mother's best advice, 'If you have to stop and ask yourself if you should, Don't!'"

"Like all of us, Cindy has good and bad habits. She says her worst habit is putting things off, except when it comes to washing her pick up.

"When she isn't with her family, you can probably find her with one of her best friends, Sammi, Kelly, Donice, Jeffrey, Justin or Chad. Or you might find her at McDonald's getting some french fries.

"Cindy celebrated her 18th birthday on October 13 with her mother, Sharon, and her brother, Britton.

"On Sunday's Cindy attends the Church of Christ in Sudan. Usually following church is lunch with her grandparents.

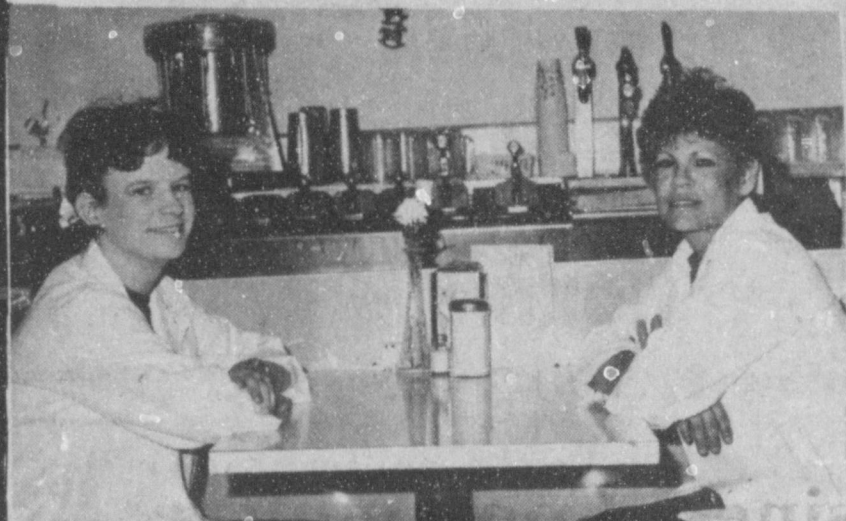

"At school, Cindy keeps busy with FHA, Band, Tennis and NHS. Honor: she has been given during high school are Class Favorite and Vice-president of FHA her freshman year; and Class Secretary, Friendliest, Honorable Mention all district basketball her sophomore year. That probably explains why her sophomore year is listed as the best time of her life.

San Antonio Speaker Entertains Rotarians

Tuesday at noon, special guest speaker, Carolyn Smith of Sierra Royale Guest House of San Antonio, was introduced by Rotarian Jeff Smith to the Muleshoe Rotary Club.

Ms. Smith, an employee of Sierra Royale, said this is the "Year of Emergence" for San Antonio, with a new River City Mall, which has just opened; Seaworld of Texas, scheduled to open in San Antonio on April 15; and the new 1,000 room Marriott Hotel, scheduled to open soon in San Antonio.

"We are very excited that the new ventures will be employing 4,000 local people," she said.

According to the speaker, the Seaworld of Texas becomes the fourth Seaworld and is the largest marine life park in the world.

It will be located on 250 acres of land, and will be open from 9 a.m.-7 p.m., each and every day of the year, including Christmas Day.

She said tickets for Seaworld will cost $18.95 for adults; $15.95 for children; and those under the age of 12 will be admitted free.

Included will be Shamu, the killer whale, penguins, walrus, sea lions and otters.

She said there will also be sharks and many other colorful fish.

Water skiers will perform on the 12-acre lake in the park and there will be a lot of gardens.

Mrs. Smith explained that all whales are named Shamu, for the first whale that was born into captivity.

In an interesting side talk, she said whales are transported, one at a time in a fiberglass tank, with only one tank being loaded aboard a 747 for shipment.

San Diego has the oldest Sea Aphids...

Con't. From Page 1 young and therefore have the ability to increase rather rapidly," Morrison noted.

Last year, the aphid had a tremendous rate of increase in April, he said. The aphids appear to more heavily infest stressed wheat and are often worse in dryland wheat, he added.

Morrison urged wheat growers to begin scouting their wheat carefully now for these aphids as populations begin to surge.

As the aphids feed on the wheat leaves, they cause the leaves to turn purplish in color, often with longitudinal white streaks, the entomologist said. This results from a powerful toxin injected into the leaves while the pest feeds. "Infested leaves also will curl up, much like a soda straw," Morrison continued.

Economic thresholds, or treatment levels, haven't yet been determined for wheat grown in the U. S., Morrison said. He also said a general guideline is to consider treatment when 10 percent of the plants are infested at the growth stage when the first nodes of the stem are visible.

"Research in South Africa has shown that most damage is done between the time the flag leaf first appears and the head is first visible," according to Dr. Morrison.

"Making control decisions on tillering wheat, is difficult," added Morrison, "because we have only limited research at this time."

Several registered systemic insecticides are effective in controlling the pest. Morrison concluded, commenting, "Systemic insecticides are needed because the aphids are inside the curled leaves and protected from contact insecticides. Growers are urged to consult the insecticide label for small grain restrictions in that grazing and pre-harvest intervals vary for each product."

Texas A&M researchers develop technology to boost shrimp production

PORT ARANSAS — As the demand for shrimp races ahead every year and the rate of shrimp imports races upward, a new raceway technology developed by researchers at Texas A&M University has boosted experimental shrimp production in South Texas from one crop a year to two.

Two shrimp crops a year, although a reality only in the laboratory now, could begin to make American shrimp farmers more competitive with those in South America, said Dr. Addison Lawrence, a researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Texas A&M.

The raceway technology offers the potential of raising lots of shrimp with small amounts of water, said Lawrence, whose researchers have spawned six species of shrimp in captivity, some of which were the first to be successfully spawned in North America.

In the last two years, these researchers have been able to develop technology to produce 10 to 20 tons of juvenile shrimp four to eight tons per acre in four to six weeks, he said. This has been done without increasing the cost pro-

PROPERTY TAX RENDITIONS

HELP YOU PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS AS A TAXPAYER

is a report to the appraisal district that lists all the taxable property you own or control on January 1, 1988. You may also give your opinion of the property's value, if you wish.

You must file a rendition if you own tangible personal property used to produce income such as the machinery and equipment used by a business.

The appraisal district may require any taxpayer to file a rendition by sending the taxpayer a written notice and a rendition form.

You may want to file a rendition, even if you aren't required to file, to preserve some of your rights as a taxpayer:

- You put your correct mailing address on record so your tax bills will go to the right address. Even if your bill goes to the wrong address, the law still holds you responsible for paying your taxes on time or else paying extra charges for late payments.
- You can put your own opinion of your property's value on record. If the appraisal district then places a higher value on your property, it must notify you in writing of the higher value and explain how you can protest that value to the appraisal review board.

• By filing a special type of rendition called a report of decreased value, you can notify the appraisal district of significant damage to your property that occurred in 1987. The district will send someone to verify the damage and take it into account when assigning a 1988 value to your property.

File renditions

with your local appraisal district at the address shown below. Forms are available at this office.

The new deadline for 1988 renditions is March 31. You can get an extra 30 days if you ask for it in writing before the March 31 deadline.

For more information, get a free copy of the pamphlet, Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities, at your appraisal district office or from the State Property Tax Board in Austin.

Creative Writing Class Does Characterization

Students in the creative writing class experience a wide variety of writing assignments. They recently completed a characterization. One student, Elizabeth Posadas, chose to write her characterization in the form of a letter to the person about whom she was writing. Martha Anthis is currently the band director for the junior high band and is the assistant director for the Mighty "M" high school band.

Dear Ms. Anthis,

As I think back to my early years of junior high, I recall how you became an important figure in my life. Although at first our relationship was like that of any other student and teacher, it soon came to be more. Perhaps at first I was simply ignorant of the fact that a teacher could also be a friend.

As a student in your band, my respect for you grew rapidly. To me you were the best. I idolized your playing capabilities and was determined to some day be as good as you were. I guess it could be said that you were and still are my inspiration. As a teacher, I thought you were very good. You not only taught with great qualities, but you also taught with care. Because of your authoritative appearance, you always maintained discipline within the band. Perhaps that is what made it enjoyable. In the two years of junior high band, I felt that we had established the best student-teacher relationship possible. Little did I know that our relationship could grow into true friendship.

I wonder if you remember my hectic freshman year when many things seemed to be going wrong for me. During the year and the years following, you became much more than just my instructor. With your kind words and support you helped me to get through some very difficult times.

Do you remember all those times when I came to you with eyes full of tears? You would always greet me with a response of "Now Elizabeth, it can't be that bad." Sure enough, once I had talked it over with you, my problem didn't seem as bad after all.

It was during times when I felt the whole world was crashing in on me, I could always count on you to help me fight back.

In addition to your help with band, you guided me through other school crisis. Whenever I felt I couldn't do another Algebra problem or diagram another English sentence, you were always ready to cheer me on by saying, "Come on Elizabeth, I know you can do it." You not only gave me the courage to keep trying, but you actually helped me see the significance of each exponent and dangling participle. I can still recall times when I would think, "I'll ask Ms. Anthis how it's done." You never disappointed my great expectations - you were a great all-around teacher.

As a freshman I realized that you were not only interested in my academic abilities but you were also interested in me, Elizabeth the person. As any typical teenage girl, I was faced with personal crisis. High school presented new and exciting activities; however, it also opened the door to different relationships. As most teenagers, I was faced with difficult decisions about dating and guys. In making these decisions I was confused with what I believed should be done and what I was being asked to do. It was then that I found it extremely difficult to turn to my mother or any other relative. I knew I needed someone to talk to, but I didn't know who to turn to. Even though I was hesitant at first to even tell anyone, I knew because of your past help that I could confide in you. Once again, you didn't fail my expectations in you. I feel like I owe you for much of my personal success.

The greatest lesson you have helped me learn is that I must be myself. You gave me the courage to stand up for what I believe in, no matter what anyone else thinks. My self confidence grew because you saw my good qualities and helped me to see them also. I will forever be grateful to you, and I hope that someday I will be able to repay you for your never-ending care.

SCAC Named Bob Stovall As 'Citizen'

The Student Community Action Club met Thursday, March 17th, at 7:30 p.m. at the El Huasteco Cafe. President Armando Del Toro called the meeting to order. Elizabeth Posadas lead the prayer and Jennifer Green read the minutes of the previous meeting. The speaker of the night was Mr. Bob Stovall who gave a speech on what community service is and how teens help. The Easter Bunny came early this year for some students at Muleshoe High School. These students are the students who were chosen for "Student of the Day" and "Student of the Week".

The week of March 15-19 held Jo Ann Gutierrez, Angel Vega, Stacy Cisneros, Brenna Roberson, and Darron Lopez as the "Students of the Day". Breana Roberson was chosen the "Student of the Week".

The "Students of the Day" for March 21-25 are Lilly Garza, Norma Jean Del Toro, Damon Parker, Lisa Silguero, and Jenifer Hayes. Jenifer Hayes is the "Student of the Week."

Three Way Students To Go To Science Seminar

Planning for Los Alamos National Laboratory's 30th Science Youth Days is under way. This year's event is scheduled for April 7 and 8, and April 14 and 15.

Students attending from this area: Three Way Independent High School, Maple, Texas.

Each year in April, high school science students from a five-state area visit the Laboratory for briefings and tours. Last year over 500 young people from 44 schools each spent one day talking with scientists and technicians and visiting some of the nation's top research facilities.

Stanley Hipwood, coordinator of this year's effort, says, "As a ABOUT YOUR HOME former teacher, I always look forward to Science Youth Days. It's exciting to watch young people get turned on by what is happening in the laboratories. This is real, not something in a textbook or a film."

This year's plans call for each student to visit three laboratories and the Bradbury Science Museum. Sites to be visited include the Omega West reactor and the Los Alamos Meson Physics Facility, a half-mile long proton accelerator.

The Lab's space program, isotopic medicine and tumor imaging, environmental protection programs and various laser projects are being offered dur-

Science Youth Days is sponsored by the laboratory's Community Relations Office as part of its Outreach Program. The event honors Thomas A. Edison.

Abad Sandoval, Community Relations Officer for the Laboratory and head of the Outreach Programs, says, "This is the biggest single event we plan, and perhaps the most far-reaching. We have had students from Los Angeles High School in California, from all of the states surrounding New Mexico, and one year we even had a school from Mexico."

Science instructors and school administrators interested in having their senior students attend Science Youth Days next year may contact Sandoval's office at: Community Relations Office, MS-P278, Los Alamos National Laboratory, Los Alamos, NM 87545. Tele: (505) 667-1919.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

CAN LOWER THE PROPERTY TAXES ON YOUR HOME
A homestead exemption lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering its taxable value. For example, if your home is valued at $50,000 and you receive a $5,000 homestead exemption, your home will be taxed as if it were worth only $45,000.
You qualify for a homestead exemption if you owned your home on January 1 and used it as your primary residence on January 1. It doesn't matter whether your home is a house, a condominium or a mobile home.
Exemptions are available to all homeowners on their school taxes. Additional exemptions are available to homeowners who are disabled or age 65 and over. Other exemptions may be offered to homeowners by school districts, counties, cities, and special districts. All taxing units offer exemptions to disabled veterans.
Apply to your local appraisal district office at the address shown below for all exemptions you may qualify for. Application forms are available at this office.
If you received a homestead exemption on your present home in 1987, you won't need to apply again for 1988 unless the chief appraiser requires you to reapply.
However, if you passed your 65th birthday or became disabled before January 1, file a new application to receive the additional exemptions.
If you haven't received an exemption on your present home, or if you've moved to a new home, make a new application for 1988.
The deadline for applications is April 30, 1988. Contact your appraisal district before then if you need more time.
For more information, get a free copy of the pamphlet, Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities, at your appraisal district office or from the State Property Tax Board in Austin.
