JUST A BIKIN' IN THE RAIN

Eighteen junior high students from Colorado biked through Rockport and Fulton Monday morning as part of an outside project of their school, Ken Caryl junior high school at Littleton, just outside Denver. Three teachers rode with the group, which came by car to a starting point near Freeport after leaving Colorado January 21. Monday was their last day of riding, as they again put their bikes back on three station wagons and continued their journey in Corpus Christi, San Antonio and back home. Roger Pool, Rich Miller and Jim Lesko, all teachers at the school, and assistant principal Chuck Shom, supervised the trip. The school is on a year-round basis, and vacations are taken at different times of the year, under a "Concept Six" program. Teachers do eight days of bonus learning, and almost any kind of outside project can be undertaken. The group camped out Sunday night at Goose Island, and on less favorable days stay in community halls, recreational buildings and church halls. Monday's rainy weather did little to dampen their enthusiasm, however, as they considered the weather conditions back home in Colorado.

New Harbor Planned North Of Cove Harbor

The Aransas County Navigation District No. 1, Rockport, has filed permit application 13348 with the Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, for dredging a harbor and channel at a location three miles south of Rockport, just north of the present Cove Harbor.

The project is along the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway.

Proposed is dredging a harbor and channel, relocation and lowering of existing pipelines, construction of a bulkhead, and filling the area behind the bulkhead.

The harbor and channel will be dredged by hydraulic dredge and clamshell to 15 feet below mean sea level, with excavation of approximately 647,000 cubic yards of sandy clay. The material will be placed behind levees at the site and behind the proposed bulkhead as backfill.

Two six-inch pipelines will be lowered to 25 feet below mean sea level, with the excavated material from the pipeline trench to be temporarily placed on high ground and later used to backfill the pipelines.

An existing six-inch water line will be relocated outside the harbor area. Approximately 5,390 feet of steel bulkhead will be constructed around the harbor and approximately 132,000 cubic yards of the dredged material will be used to fill the area behind the bulkhead.

Plans of the proposed work may be seen at the office of the District Engineer in Galveston, or at the Corpus Christi area office.

A preliminary review of this application indicates that an Environmental Impact Statement is not required. Since permit assessment is a continuing process, this preliminary determination of EIS requirements will be changed if data or information brought forth in the coordination process is of a significant nature.

Evaluation of the probable impacts involving deposits or discharge of dredged material into navigable waterways will include the application of guidelines established by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. No known endangered species or their critical habitat will be affected by the proposed work.

The decision whether to issue a permit will be based on an evaluation of the probable impact of the proposed activity on the public interest.

The application will be processed according to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act and the River and Harbor Act. Any person may request a public hearing. The request must be submitted in writing to the District Engineer on or before February 16 and must clearly set forth with particularity the reasons for holding a public hearing.

Tax Aid Continues In County

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) service is sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service and the American Association of Retired Persons and is a community service for low income, the elderly, and non-English speaking taxpayers.

Qualified tax counselors will be available to assist with tax problems beginning February 1 through April 15, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Rockport Public Library on Church Street.

Mrs. Velma Ramsey, local Tax Aid Coordinator, states they will have on hand or can procure almost any forms required in preparing your returns. This is a free service.

At this time, we wish to thank United Savings Association of Texas for the use of The Statesman's Club for training the tax counselors in our Tax Aid Program. Your generosity and courtesy is greatly appreciated by all concerned.

Retail Seafood Workshop

A one day workshop for retail seafood dealers is scheduled for February 19 at the Marriott Astrodome in Houston, said Jeff Messinger, Aransas County Extension Marine Agent.

Topics to be discussed include sales techniques, marketing, buying, quality control, product display and merchandising. The program will feature specialists from the TAMU Sea Grant College.

A registration fee of $5.00 includes lunch, a seafood retailing manual and a packet of promotional materials.

For further information, contact Jeff Messinger at 729-1211 in Rockport.

No Street Work In Fulton Until Officials Elected

FULTON—Residents of this community are faced with a dilemma: there will be no legally sanctioned work on streets within the corporate boundaries of the city until an agreement can be worked out with city officials and Aransas County.

The problem is, there are no elected officials to make any such agreement, and will be none until an election can be held naming them.

It was learned this week that District Court Judge Ronald Yeager has dismissed the summary judgement sought against incorporaters of Fulton, as asked by those opposing the incorporation.

It appears that unless further court action is undertaken, the election in Fulton will be called in the next few days, and voters within the designated area asked to nominate and name their mayor and councilmen.

According to state law (1948, V-484) "A commissioners court may not legally expend funds from the road and bridge fund of a county in the improvement of city streets within a city, which do not form a part of the county road system or connecting links in a county road."

So, no services can be provided in the area until the election is held and an agreement made between Fulton and Aransas County.

Proponents of the incorporation are apparently anxious to get started on this next phase of Fulton's city business, due to many streets in the area needing work that has not been done since the incorporation election August 12.

Any further efforts to block such an election appear to have the potential effect of further delaying the possibility of working out an agreement with the county, which is legal as long as Fulton and Aransas County set forth a policy whereby the county can eventually be paid for such work.

Scout Cookie Sale Begins This Friday

The annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale begins Friday, February 2, at 4 p.m. and continues through February 18.

This year there is a new cookie—Country Oat and Nut Crisp—made with whole grains, brown sugar, almonds, dates, honey and spices but no artificial flavors, color or preservatives. Other varieties include chocolate and vanilla cremes, Savannahs with peanut-cream centers, mint, Scot-tea, chocolate chips and cheese crackers. Each package sells for $1.25.

The local troops receive 15 cents per package sold by troop members. In addition each scout can earn fees for Camp Green Hill or other scouting activities. A scout selling 204 packages of cookies wins a week at Camp Green Hill.

Valentine Dance Is ACMSI Benefit

A big Valentine Dance is planned for February 10, with ticket sales now underway. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the Aransas County Medical Services program.

Those who don't want to miss this event, to be held at the Paws and Taws Building, are urged to stop in at the Rockport Chamber of Commerce office and donate $15 per person, which will include admittance to the dance and access to the free bar which will be set up at the dance.

The Edie Crockett Quartet will provide some smooth dance music for the event, which is an annual affair repeated by popular demand.

Last year many local residents enjoyed the dance, and are urging their friends to join in for this year's event.

The cost is a donation to the Aransas County Medical Services, one of this area's more worthwhile causes. For further information on tickets, contact the Chamber of Commerce office in Rockport, or call Reba Rast at 729-2689.

Illinois Man Died In Early Morning Crash

An Illinois man was pronounced dead at the scene of a two-car accident Sunday, January 28, at 12:30 a.m. The collision happened .8 of a mile north of the Aransas Pass city limits on Highway 35.

Steven A. Sowers, 30, of Murrayville, Illinois, was southbound on Highway 35 and crossed the centerline just as his car met one driven by Albert Mark Rocha, Refugio. According to State Trooper Steve Miller, the cars struck left headlight to radiator on both vehicles, spinning them around in the roadway and ending up off the traveled portion of the highway.

Sowers was pronounced dead at the scene by Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace Bonnie McCarty, despite efforts at resuscitation by one of the passengers in the Rocha car, Joseph Albert Brown, Rockport. Brown and Rocha suffered minor lacerations. A third man in the Rocha car, Robert Jerome Ballinger, Aransas Pass, escaped injury.

Three cars were involved in a collision Sunday, January 28, at 1:30 p.m. south of Rockport. No injuries were reported by the investigating officer, State Trooper Oscar Rivera.

All vehicles were northbound. A car driven by Thelma Wheeler had stopped to make a left turn onto 12th Street, when her car was struck in the rear by one driven by Francisco Benavidez of Corpus Christi. A third vehicle driven by Steven Huth of San Antonio ran into the rear of the Benavidez car.

Both Benavidez and Huth were charged with failure to have control.

Five accident reports have been filed by Rockport city police officers since last Thursday, with one accident recorded on Saturday, but the investigation not

Services Need Bill Payments

For the convenience of all the people in this area who owe (or may owe in the future) for emergency ambulance service, a new, more accessible place to pay bills is announced.

The paramedic crew and Emergency Ambulance Service in Aransas County has been outstanding, but the collection of fees for the service has been somewhat lax.

Notable Notes

Nebraska Picnic

A picnic for Winter Texans from Nebraska will be held Friday, February 16, starting at noon, at the Paws and Taws Building on Fulton Beach Road. Those attending should bring a covered dish, their own table service and their own coffee or tea.

Iowa Reunion

The Iowa Reunion will be held at the Paws and Taws Building on Fulton Beach Road on Wednesday, February 7, starting at noon. A program is planned. Everyone from Iowa is invited to attend the potluck dinner and should bring a covered dish, table service and their own coffee or tea.

February Is Heart Month

Over half of the persons who will die in America this year will die of heart attack, stroke or some other form of cardiovascular disease. Aransas County figures are used to arrive at this conclusion. The recently published annual report of the Aransas County Emergency Medical Services showed that 25 percent of the ambulance calls were due to these two diseases.

The American Heart Association is the only national voluntary health agency with research, education and community service programs designed to combat the devastation. To accomplish these objectives requires money. Last year 83 per cent of the funds received was spent accomplishing the three functions mentioned above.

In order that these functions can be continued and expanded, the month of February is designated as "Heart Month." Volunteers will be calling on businesses and individuals for a tax deductible donation during the days ahead. Please be generous and have your check payable to the American Heart Association ready when the volunteer knocks on your door. Should a volunteer fail to call, a donation can still be made by sending your check to: Roy W. Olbrich, 2011 Cochran, Rockport, Texas 78382.

Remember this year's slogan—Give, it will do your heart good.

Child Abuse In Texas

HUNTSVILLE, TEXAS—No less than 283,000 children in Texas aged 14 and under are likely to be the victim of child abuse during 1979. The figure may be as high as 400,000.

The finding is the result of a survey conducted by the Survey Research Program of the Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University for the Texas Council of Child Welfare Boards.

A scientifically selected sample of 1339 Texans participated in the study which was designed to measure the extent of child abuse and neglect in Texas, as well as what the people of Texas would like to see done about the problem of child abuse and neglect. The study was conducted by Allen Sapp and David Carter, research associates at the Criminal Justice Center.

A total of 14.3% of the respondents reported that they were abused or neglected as children. Also, 8.5% reported that their children have been abused or neglected, 15% reported that children of their close friends have been abused or neglected, and 16.7% reported abuse or neglect of neighbors' children. Regarding the reported cases of child abuse, it was found that 67% had experienced emotional abuse, 54% physical abuse, 37% sexual abuse, and 26% had experienced neglect. Moreover, 98% of the physical abuse cases and 93% of the sexual abuse cases were accompanied by some type of emotional abuse.

Of the respondents who reported that they had been abused as a child, 54% reported physical abuse, 37% sexual abuse, 67% emotional abuse, and 26% neglect. Many of these respondents reported that three or more types of abuse occurred. However, only one-fourth reported the abuse to anyone. The primary reasons for not reporting were fear of retribution, did not know who to report to, or a belief that other children were treated the same way.

Of the respondents who indicated that their own child had been abused, 47% reported physical abuse, 13% reported sexual abuse, 67% reported emotional abuse, 23% reported neglect. Over one-half (54%) of the abuse cases took place in the home, 21% occurred in the outdoors, 21% in an automobile, 17% at a relative's home, and 5% in a movie or public place. Only one-fifth indicated that alcohol was even a factor in this type of abuse activity.

The findings also revealed that less than one-half of the abuse or neglect cases involving the children of close friends or neighbors are reported. With regard to close friends, about one-third of the cases were reported to someone in authority and four out of every ten cases involving a neighbor's child were reported. Reasons for not reporting included ignorance of where to report the abuse, a belief that others would control the situation, and fear of lawsuits or reprisals.

Approximately one-third (35%) of the respondents expressed the belief that abusing adults should be handled by the criminal justice system (police and the courts) and 31% indicated that abusing adults should be handled by a counseling or treatment agency (mental health/mental retardation, psychiatrist, psychologist). Another 13% indicated that this problem should be handled by a minister. Other responses included the family physician and the county welfare board. Regardless of who the respondents felt should be responsible for the abusing adult, the study did reveal a strong concern that not enough is being done with this type of person.

According to Sapp and Carter, the most revealing finding was that three-fourths of the respondents believe that state tax money should be used for the care of abused and neglected children. Also, over two-thirds believe that state tax money should be used for treatment of adults who abuse children.

Only 54% would like to see federal tax money used for treatment of these children, 49% would approve of county tax money being used, and 36% would approve of city tax money being used. A similar pattern was found regarding treatment of the abusing adult. Only 49% would like to see federal tax money used for this purpose, 37% would approve of county tax money being used, and 26% would approve of city tax money being used.

Respondents could, of course, indicate approval of more than one source of tax money being used for these purposes; however, it is noteworthy that in this day of dependency on federal funds, Texans would prefer to see state monies used for care of both the abused child and the child abuser.

Dr. Raymond Teske Jr., Director of the Survey Research Program at the Criminal Justice Center, confirmed that this is the first comprehensive survey of the people of Texas regarding the problem of child abuse and neglect. Also, he indicated that the sample of 1339 Texans representing 178 different counties is statistically representative of the Texas adult population.

Mrs. Eleanor Tinsley of Houston, president of the Texas Council of Child Welfare Boards, acknowledged that "this carefully and scientifically researched document can lead the adults of Texas to recognize the extent of the serious problem of child abuse and neglect and demand responsible solutions."

Austin at Wharf

IT'S ONE OF THE NICER ASPECTS OF LIVING IN A democracy. You can go so far, and only so far, in stereotyping individuals. You and I can both be tennis nuts, but you prefer chocolate ice cream. I'm for vanilla, and so on. Of this I am aware, when I write of four categories of people in Aransas County. One, the business community in which merchants seek to increase their prosperity through growth of the tourist and winter visitor industry. Second, business people who look toward industrial development, and so favor building things like Deeport; they have no concern that the type of people in the area will change, no fear that the bay, the marshes, the air they breathe will become polluted.

Third, and fourth, yet different except that both may be called mossbacks. Number three first. He has spent his life here and longs for an impossible dream, the return of the days when this was a peaceful, quaint fishing village. The fourth type shares his view, but he is a newcomer, a newcomer who wishes that he might be the last newcomer. As for myself, I am sympathetic toward people who belong to the first category mentioned and belong to the fourth, which is, of course, unrealistic, as is the third.

ALL OF THE FOREGOING RELATES TO THE permit sought by the Rockport Sailing Club to build a sailboat harbor at the end of Rockport Beach. The project should become an asset to the community for so long as the present tourist-recreation orientation of the community remains. More, and in truth, Rockport is almost if not the only community on the Gulf Coast without such a facility.

In May of last year officials of the club approached commissioners of the Aransas County Navigation District and asked for a lease on the area, promising that the harbor would be dredged, docks built and the area landscaped, all in a manner aesthetically in harmony with surroundings and always subject to approval of the ACND.

A lease was granted. It involved no expense to the district and in turn the taxpayer. The small, slowly silting harbor has long been a "headache" to the district which cannot legally maintain it for swimming. Something over a year ago it was offered to the City of Rockport at a $1 per year lease. The offer was rejected because of practical considerations. Sundry individuals have at one time and another sought to lease the area for commercial development, none of which navigation district officials considered appropriate. Meanwhile they have been constantly concerned because that portion of the beach has become a hangout for narcotics users. Terms of the lease, financially and otherwise, are in keeping with terms of other leases granted by the commissioners elsewhere in the county.

IN GRANTING THE LEASE THE ACND TOOK INTO consideration the fact that there is a waiting list of over 100 people seeking dock space for boats, commercial and private, at Rockport and Fulton.

UNFORTUNATELY FOR THE SAILING CLUB AND other citizens concerned with orderly development, vast amounts of information, nearly all totally false, began to circulate. It still does. Even information provided by the Corps of Engineers provided to The Pilot for its January 21 edition was at least technically incorrect in that there is a difference between a marina and a sailboat harbor. To most people the former implies a commercial facility, fuel docks, cafes, supply houses, etc. None of those things is intended nor needed. However, rumors of this sort were circulated last summer, and at the same time a sharply contrasting rumor to the effect that the club intended a "fancy clubhouse" with a posh bar and dining facilities. Not an iota of truth to either rumor.

MORE, AND SCARCELY IN KEEPING WITH A spirit of building community harmony, the claim was made that most RSC members live on Key Allegro, presumably a sort of social stigma. Even that was and even now is untrue, as examination of the club roster will evidence. Les than one-third of the members live in that part of the county.

Here I must sympathize with reaction from people whose ire was justly roused when a letter to the editor contended that the club intended to build a 10-foot high fence topped with barbed wire around the leased area. Enough to anger anyone. Yet the claim was and remains totally unfounded.

THE CONCEPT OF RSC DESERVES TO BE explained. It was organized some 10 years ago to promote the sport of sailing. RSC is not a social club and there is every reason for everyone interested in sailing to become a member; there is equally no reason for anyone not interested in the sport to become one. The club is family oriented and at the end of 1978 there were 92 members, or counting men, women and children participating in Sunfish activities, bay races and cruising, nearly 400 people. The members come from virtually all walks of life. To join requires an initiation fee of $5. In addition, annual dues of $20 per family are used to defray the cost of trophies, refreshments and rental of facilities where occasional covered dish suppers are held, usually after the monthly bay races.

Now, as you must know or suspect, I am a member of the RSC and as such I sincerely extend an invitation to anyone to visit our monthly meetings, become a member if your interests are those I have outlined. I think you'll encounter some of the nicest people you will ever meet—and no one will be concerned with the thickness of your wallet.

ONE BRIEF ADDITION TO THIS SLIGHTLY longer than usual column. The club has agreed to comply with stipulations of the Texas Parks and Wildlife and the U.S. Department of Fisheries and Wildlife with respect to dock locations and dredging. That should allay fears of conservationists and environmentalists, categories to which virtually all sailors, "rag sailors" belong—in Rockport and elsewhere for that matter.—ahab

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Even though housing costs and interest rates are shockingly high, to many folks' way of thinking, the demand for single-family residences is still great in Texas.

And, while a home is the largest investment you will likely make during your lifetime, it remains the best one, too, for most of us.

But there's more than the initial high price to consider before you buy. Unless you are aware of some of the hidden costs of home-owning, you might get in over your head, attorneys in my Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division note.

Upkeep and taxes on houses have skyrocketed in many sections of the State. For most homeowners, heating and cooling bills, home insurance, water, taxes--all have gone up significantly in the past few years.

So, before deciding on how big a house payment you can take on, don't forget to make allowance for all of the bills that being a homeowner can mean.

Many real estate experts suggest that you list all the things you will require in a house, such as number of bedrooms and baths, location, and so on. Then list features you would like to have, but which aren't mandatory. And, finally, list those that would be nice to have but which are strictly optional. Take the list with you when you house-hunt.

When you select a location, remember that gasoline costs are likely to continue to rise. You might want to check on whether bus service is handy, and whether schools, parks, shopping centers, libraries, and other services are nearby. Check on how the neighborhood is zoned, and read newspaper ads to learn prices of homes in the same area. All of these will help you determine property values.

There's a knack to examining a house, too. How is the roof? Are there any signs of leaks in the attic? Look critically at the exterior to see if paint, brick, rock, stucco, shingles, or siding are in good condition, or whether they will take much repair and upkeep.

Test all plumbing by flushing commodes, turning faucets on, and trying showers at the same time to check for water pressure and leaks. Take a look at the water heater, too. How old is it and what's the capacity?

Is the wiring adequate for large electric appliances? And are there enough electric outlets in all rooms?

If there's a cellar or basement, check there for dampness, and there and wherever wooden beams are exposed for possible termite damage. Be sure that a professional termite inspection is made before you decide to buy. Structural damage can be very costly to repair.

Then you should examine windows, doors, and attic with an eye to energy costs. Are all openings tight, with good caulking or weatherstripping? Is there adequate insulation in the attic? If you're buying an older home, it likely won't be, and you should consider the added cost of properly insulating the house.

Before making a final decision, ask to see previous gas, electric, and tax bills. You may find that your heating and cooling bills alone will run nearly as much as your house payment. If you're buying a new home, you might ask neighbors for an idea of what costs to expect.

If you house-hunt wisely, you may avoid later disappointments and possible consumer problems. If problems do arise, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Lubbock, or McAllen.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen
Watching Washington

A disturbing force is abroad in the land: single-issue politics. It is corrosive, divisive, disrupting the unity of the United States.

Thirty years ago there were less than 2,000 lobbyists in Washington. Last year 15,000 lobbyists spent $2 billion pushing their single issues.

There are 109 labor lobbies, 500 corporate lobbies, 53 lobbies for minority groups, 34 for social-welfare agencies, 33 for women, 31 for environmental issues, 21 for religions, 15 for the aging and six for population control.

Thanks to sophisticated direct mail fund-raising techniques single-issue special interest groups are sustained by millions of dollars in contributions every year.

A given group can flood the offices of an elected official with thousands of computerized postcards—demanding support for its issue—within a few days.

The rise of single-issue politics prompted Time Magazine, in a recent issue, to label the 70s the "Me Decade." Its private philosophy says Time is: "Do-it-my-way-or-not-at-all."

One of the most disturbing results of this new wave is that fewer Americans are defining themselves in broad and traditional categories.

Not so many people these days see themselves as Republicans or Democrats, liberals or conservatives, internationalists or isolationists.

There are groups whose litmus test is nitrite. Some insist that nitrite be banned as a food preservative because it may cause cancer. Others argue with equal force that banning nitrite would lead to an increase in the potentially deadly food-poisoning called botulism.

Some groups favor the 55 mile an hour speed limit as a way to save energy and lives, others oppose it as a meaningless gesture that will do nothing but drive independent truckers out of business.

"Right to Life" groups are locked in seemingly unresolvable conflict with "Freedom of Choice" backers over the issue of abortion.

People tell elected officials "we don't care about your overall voting record, the only thing that counts is how you vote on this one issue."

We seem to be approaching a time when environmentalists will speak only to environmentalists, businessmen only to businessmen, blacks only to blacks, women only to women.

The mood, the trend are very troubling to me.

We are citizens, after all, not of a single issue but of a nation of many issues.

Historically, our country has been at pains to insure that, while the majority rules, it does not do so at the price of denying basic rights to smaller groups.

In recent years, though, the atmosphere of public debate has become so fragmented that it is more and more difficult to determine the will of the majority.

Indeed, there is alarming evidence that the growing chorus of special interests is weakening the bonds that hold us together as a nation. The broad center, the middle—the consensus that governs this country—is speaking not with the one voice but many.

This is not the first time our country has seen sharp disagreements over single issues.

But we should not forget, during this current period of conflict and confrontation, another single-issue that had far more serious consequences. The issue was abolition versus slavery. It tore our country apart and plunged us into our worst war.

We must strive for less conflict and more conciliation, less confrontation and more consensus.

Firemen's Auxiliary Held Monthly Social

The Rockport Firemen's Auxiliary met January 23 for their monthly social with one guest present, Mrs. Owen Lohman.

Joan Truelove, president, called the meeting to order for necessary business. She announced that Terry Roberts would be the benefit dance chairman, Carolyn Cox would be the fire poster contest chairman and Janet Truelove would be the telephone committee chairman. Cakes were furnished by the following for the January Firemen's business meeting: Mona McNutt, Cleo Truelove and Janet Truelove. Cakes will be furnished in February by Evalon Redden, Elizabeth Schindler and Terry Roberts. The president then turned the meeting over to Terry Roberts, program chairman.

Terry had many fun games scheduled for the ladies to play for Frances Redden's baby shower. They consisted of the Clothes Pin game which was won by Ivalea Hinze. Terry then had a game which was called Name the Baby Item Game which was won by Teet Mullinax. The final game was The Cotton Ball Game, which was won by Ivalea Hinze. After the games were played, Frances opened her gifts and everybody enjoyed refreshments prepared by Carolyn Cox, refreshment chairman.

The members that were present were: Joan Truelove, Gwyne Howland, Joy Crawford, Teet Mullinax, Cleo Truelove, Peggy McLester, Carolyn Cox, Evalon Redden, Beth McNutt, Mona McNutt, Ivalea Hinze, Terry Roberts and Janet Truelove.

The treasure chest was won by Joy Crawford. She won a box of Holly Hobbie stationery.

Presbyterian Women Host Lady Tourists

The Women of the Presbyterian Church entertained the lady tourists with a card party Friday afternoon, January 26, in the recreational room of the church. Mrs. Janet Langham was in charge of the arrangements and was assisted by several of the Presbyterian Women. Coffee and cookies were on hand during the afternoon.

There were several tables of bridge, one of canasta and one playing dominoes. Beautiful handmade silk roses (made by Mrs. Bennie Long) were given as prizes.

First in bridge went to Mrs. Ruth Ong of Monroe, Michigan. Second was a tie between Neva Jackson and Jo Ison of Rockport.

In canasta, Becky Bigalk of Harmony, Michigan, was high with Mollie Powell of Oklahoma City getting second.

In dominoes, Janet Langham was the winner.

Twenty-two women attended. Another party is planned for the end of February. It is a nice way to get better acquainted and it is hoped more tourists will attend next time.

Aransas County Women's Club Results Told

The Woman's Club of Aransas County held their weekly card party Monday, January 29. The main table centerpiece featured dried flowers and baskets of shells.

Hostesses were Mrs. Thelma Ransom, Mrs. Irene Williams of Little America, Illinois; Mrs. Dorothy Keller, Humboldt, Iowa; Mrs. Lila Carter, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Mrs. Marty Day, California, Missouri; and Mrs. Rita Beason, Chadron, Nebraska.

Serving at the tea and coffee service were Mrs. Day and Mrs. Beason.

First and second place winners in bridge were Mrs. Win Smith and Mrs. LeeOna Kellum, Canada. Canasta winners were Mrs. Irene Golz, Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Mrs. Ester Williams, Des Moines, Iowa. Bingo winners were Mrs. Elnora Stewart, Loveland, Colorado.

Shower Honors New Bride

Mrs. Patrick Barnett, the former Virginia Gerdine of Rockport, was honored at a miscellaneous shower January 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray McMillan.

Hostesses were Mrs. C.M. Henkel, Mrs. Don Wren, Mrs. Robert Brownell, Mrs. Jimmy Little and Mrs. McMillan.

A beige and grey swan holding a cascade of Irish ivy and orange blossoms centered the octagonal glass top table from which refreshments were served. The arrangement was presented to the recent bride following the shower.

The bride, her mother, Mrs. Park Gerdine, and the mother of the groom, Mrs. James Barnett, were presented with corsages of bronze mums.

In addition to a number of Rockport and area guests, those attending from out-of-town included Mrs. James Barnett, Mrs. Joe Barrera, Miss Sue Driver, Mrs. Anthony Powell and Miss Elaine Gerdine from Corpus Christi; Mrs. Ronnie Hickman of Taft, Miss Sherry Stephens of Ingleside and Miss Debbie Brasher of Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Barnett were married at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Park Gerdine, in Rockport December 30, 1978. The couple will be at home in Houston.

Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition

By Jean Glowka

Q. Will you please print again Adelle Davis' "Pep-up" recipe?

A. I'll be glad to! As I've said before, I have been drinking "Pep-up" for almost six years and feel that it's one of the greatest things one can do for their health, appearance and general well-being.

"Pep-Up"

1 quart skim or whole milk (depends on whether you are watching your weight or not)

1 teaspoon to ½ cup brewer's yeast (if you have never used brewer's yeast—or other nutritional food yeast—begin with 1 teaspoon the first day and increase by 1 teaspoon daily until you are taking ¼ to ½ cup a day—this is very important.)

¼ to ½ cup non-instant powdered milk

1 tablespoon soy, peanut or safflower oil or mixed vegetable oils (cold processed, please)

1 tablespoon granular lecithin

2 eggs

½ teaspoon magnesium oxide

1 teaspoon calcium lactate (calcium-magnesium tablets in a 2:1 ratio may be taken in place of the two above ingredients, since powdered calcium and magnesium can make the drink really unpalatable)

½ cup frozen, undiluted orange juice or take a vitamin C tablet

¼ cup yogurt or take acidophilus tablets

For flavor improvement, I add:

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

1 tablespoon honey or blackstrap molasses

1 tablespoon papaya juice concentrate

Good luck! You're going to feel terrific!

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world! Please send questions to: Jean Glowka, 412 S. Austin, Rockport, Texas 78382.

Keeping Marriage Strong Is Rewarding

COLLEGE STATION — Though a happy marriage is still one of the most richly rewarding of all human experiences, it requires tolerance, understanding, faith, sharing and careful handling.

Although more than a million Americans sign a divorce decree each year—marriages are worth saving, a family life education specialist, Jenny Reinhardt, says.

While some separations are sensible and some divorces inevitable, a greater number of marriages could be revitalized, she continues.

Just as an adequate knowledge of physical "first aid" can save a victim from drowning, some knowledge of psychological "first aid" can often rescue an ailing marriage, the specialist adds.

Some suggestions for keeping a marriage strong include:

—Decide to make the marriage work. Those who enter marriage thinking they can get a divorce if things don't work out will probably get a divorce. Devote energies to repairing the marriage instead of replacing the marriage partner.

—Establish a dialogue. A couple must discuss ideas, concerns, problems, hopes, pleasures and plans to maintain a relationship. When the lines of communication between a husband and wife become disconnected, they no longer send or receive important messages. Couples must find methods that work for them and set aside time to communicate.

Some ideas are:

—leisurely walks to discuss events of the day.

—regular chats to make decisions and to discuss issues.

—weekend leisure time for communication.

—commitment and willingness to share thoughts and feelings.

—Avoid "gunny sacking." Deal with emotions as they occur—storing up in a "sack" is non-productive for the individual and the couple.

Sooner or later the hurt, frustration, disappointment or sadness will come out into the open, and it is harder for a couple to work through large amounts than small amounts of emotion.

—Become aware of what one mate does that can influence the behavior of the other. One mate's behavior can and does influence that of the other mate. For instance, does one mate provide attention only when the other is sick, thereby reinforcing the positive reason for being sick?

The lesson is that during times of marital trouble, couples must take a long hard look at themselves. They must ask themselves this question: "What am I doing (consciously or unconsciously) to contribute to my partner's depressions, moods or ailments?"

—Allow for separateness in the marriage. Let the individuals and marriage breathe. A marriage needs enough separateness so the partners do not lose their true identity or individuality. An effective, happy marriage has two whole people who are interacting. Both have their own interests. They are not resentful or unhappy and enjoy being together as well as times of separateness.

One of your biggest reasons for saving might be your smallest.

There's nothing quite so good for peace of mind as having a nice little savings account growing to take care of your growing kids. Or your kids' kids. Whether it's funds for their education, emergencies, starting in business or in married life, savings for your children really pay off in happiness. It's well worth your interest here at First.

Cuckoos Aren't Crazy, Just Ingenious

The word "cuckoo" may be synonymous with "crazy" in American slang, but the European bird known as the cuckoo is far from crazy, according to Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine.

In fact, the cuckoo is so clever that it tricks other birds into raising its young, the National Wildlife Federation monthly reports in its current issue. Apparently convinced that parenthood is for the birds -- other birds -- the mother cuckoo lays her eggs in other birds' nests, then flies away forever.

That way, the cuckoos avoid the work of building nests and also the responsibilities of parenthood--such as feeding their young. It's a lazy, parasitic life, by human standards, but it seems to agree with the bird that is famous for its monotonous call and its appearance in Swiss wall clocks.

The European cuckoo is so clever, according to the Ranger Rick report, that it doesn't pick just any bird to raise its offspring.

While different varieties of European cuckoos lay eggs of different colors, each cuckoo lays her eggs only in the nests of birds whose eggs most nearly resemble her own. A cuckoo that lays bluish eggs lays them in nests of a warbler that lays bluish eggs. One whose eggs are speckled deposits them only in the nest of another bird who lays speckled eggs.

If there is another egg in the chosen nest, the female cuckoo carries it away or swallows it, explains Ranger Rick. So although she won't be around when her egg is hatched, the mother cuckoo plans for her offspring's future by making sure it won't need to compete for food.

In keeping with its mother's plan, a newly hatched cuckoo pushes any remaining eggs or other young birds out of the nest. It edges anything in the nest onto its back, and then rises up until the egg or young bird tumbles over the edge of the nest.

This ejection of all rivals is important to the young cuckoo, for it often grows to be much larger than its foster parents and needs all the food they would normally bring to their own brood of four or five.

What about the European cuckoo's American cousins? "American cuckoos, at least, have better manners," says Ranger Rick. They build their own rather flimsy nest of twigs in which they lay their own eggs. And they raise their own young. They also perform a valuable service because they feed on destructive tent caterpillars.

Like their European counterparts, they aren't cuckoo.

NOT DUMB

This young European cuckoo is so big that its foster parent, a hedge sparrow, must stand on its back to feed it.

Non-Credit Courses Offered At Houston Victoria Campus

VICTORIA—The spring session of the continuing education program at the University of Houston Victoria Campus will begin on February 17, with non-credit classes for some 39 courses, according to Claude F. Gilson, director of the program.

The short courses are scheduled for days, evenings, and Saturdays through April 27, with a varying number of class sessions. Ten more courses are offered this semester than in the initial program last fall, in which more than 325 persons participated.

Subjects will include preparing your own income tax returns, gourmet cooking classes, backpacking, and knowing your teenager.

Complete schedules with times, dates, and descriptions of courses are available in the office of admissions and records or by calling 578-5211. No transcripts or college hours are required to take the courses, Gilson noted.

Several courses are being repeated because they were filled quickly during the fall session, Gilson said. Hot air ballooning, beginning and intermediate bridge, basic photography, and floral design are some of those courses.

Outdoor hobby courses will include archery and skills of bowhunting, and the backpacking course will include a trip after four class meetings.

Courses related to business will be preparing personal income tax returns, investment income property analysis, business insurance, and advertising and public relations for the crossroads business.

A wide choice of courses will be taught for women at night or on Saturdays in fundamentals of indoor gardening, intermediate crochet, creative art with bread dough, cake decorating, yoga, and microwave cooking.

For those wishing to become better informed about the Victoria area, courses will be offered in local history and in local government. A three-session course will teach students about the metric system, and a class also will be taught on solar energy and how it can be used. The ABC's of pet care will cover the overall health and care of dogs and cats.

Parent-child relationships will be discussed in a course for the parents of gifted-talented children, and a class is scheduled for parents who want to understand their teenagers.

Three courses will be conducted in gourmet cooking in five-hour sessions. Classes in international cooking, French, and Chinese cooking will be held in the homes of the instructors.

For those interested in developing a stamp collection a course will be offered which will include a historical background of the postal systems of the world. The contemporary woman will be the topic of a course for those who want to learn to cooperate, negotiate and communicate effectively with others.

Beginning guitar will be taught in nine one-hour classes.

How to make ethical decisions will be the subject of a course offered in five one-and-a-half hour sessions. A seminar approach will be used to discuss specifics such as war, abortion, marriage and sex.

Non-painters will learn how to look at art more objectively and make judgments with the background learned in a course in visual experience in art. It will include field trips to art museums in San Antonio and Houston.

Holistic health techniques will be taught again this session to acquaint people with future directions of health care and their role in maintaining good health.

Instructors include Victorians active in special fields of art, crafts, banking, insurance, advertising, business, and ministry as well as faculty members of Victoria College and the University of Houston Victoria Campus.

For travelers the program offers a class in Spanish as well as photography especially for tourists. An introduction to the Russian language will acquaint students with the cyrillic alphabet and enable them to speak and write simple phrases.

FAST SALE

Belton, Texas, was established in a hurry in 1850. It is said that before any stores were built, the first merchant sold goods from his wagon, and the first saloon was a barrel of whiskey and a tin cup under a shade tree.

Cemetery Group Elected Officers

The Rockport Cemetery Association held a regular meeting at the Aransas County courthouse on Monday, January 22.

An election of officers was held and the following were elected to serve in 1979:

Mrs. Myrt Russell, president; Mrs. Jack Acton, first vice-president; Walter Falk, second vice-president; John Wendell, third vice-president; Robert Tillison, fourth vice-president; Miss Evelyn Townsend, secretary; Mrs. Ettoil Eller, treasurer; Emory Spencer, legal advisor.

The president appointed committee chairmen for the coming year: Miss Veronica Klaeser, auditor; Mrs. W.L. Patrick, ways and means; Mrs. Arley Shivers, membership; Mrs. Elena Jones, memorial, and Mrs. Judy Collier, reporter.

The financial report was given by Miss Veronica Klaeser. The report was studied and approved.

Dues for 1979 are $12 and may be paid to Mrs. Arley Shivers, 717 N. Magnolia, Rockport, Texas 78382.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, April 23, at the Aransas County courthouse.

Special Group Performs Wednesday In Fulton

FULTON—A special performance by the group "Sweet Communion" will be held at the Fulton Baptist Church Wednesday, January 31.

All area residents are invited to attend the performance, which starts at 7:30 p.m. at the church, located at Third and Chaparral streets.

Composed of six members, the group is used as an avenue of presenting God's people with new understanding of the worship of the Lord, and has traveled extensively throughout the United States, also appearing on the nationally televised 700 Club.

BILLS

In order to make it more convenient to pay for the services, the Chamber of Commerce will now accept all ambulance fees.

It was pointed out by those in charge of the service that "It is always unfortunate when anyone needs the ambulance, but it is certainly comforting to know it is there when needed. It does cost to operate and it is essential that all users or their families pay for the service as soon as possible after it is used."

Many citizens and businesses worked hard to purchase the emergency units now in operation and the same people are doing much to keep them operating, but the individual trip expense must be paid by the users.

Some users in the past may have felt that this was a free service. It was not, and is not now, free. The normal cost of operating and maintaining the vehicles, buying insurance, paying part of the salaries of some of the personnel, must be paid by the users.

Volunteers (unpaid) do a great deal to keep over-all costs down, but there are still many expenses noted in operation.

Those who owe a bill at the present time are urged to call or stop at the Chamber of Commerce office and settle the bill. If in the future an individual or a member of his family uses the emergency services, they are urged to pay the bill as soon as possible. If there is insurance for such services, those so covered are asked to take the necessary information to the Chamber of Commerce office in order to get the bill settled.

It was pointed out this week that "No one who has had to use the service in the past ever thought they would, and no one knows who will be next," and are urged to think about the value of the service offered.

4-H News

The Aransas County 4-H Club thanks The Pilot for all the publicity for their group. They also thanked Edward Silkemsted of RYSCO for purchasing a steer from the sale of all market animals and Ocean Reef Incorporated for buying a steer following the Agricultural and Homemaking Show in Sinton last weekend.

The local youth turnout at the show was good. Alan Knox won grand champion honors with his rabbits. Teri Shirley, showing chickens, and Les Miller, showing pigs, both made the sale. Tami Wendland and Teri Shirley won second place with their cakes. Lisa Shirley got a II grade on her cake.

Explorer Post News

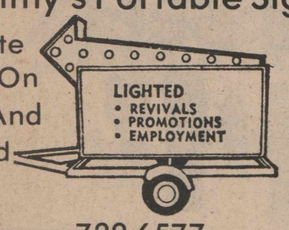

Explorer Post 49 met on Wednesday night, January 24, to decide on what the post was to do, due to cancellation of the trip to see the San Antonio Spurs play on January 26.

The post voted to have a party on February 24. Post members also decided to take a trip to go skating in Corpus Christi. The party is for guests and members of Explorer Post 49.

Danny Benavidez was elected to the reporter position for the post for the following year.

Pirates Nail Wildcats, 68-41

After three quarters of slow-down basketball, the Rockport-Fulton Pirates broke loose for 28 points in the final period to pin a 68-41 loss on the Calallen Wildcats in Calallen, January 26. The win was the 21st of the season for the Pirates, and gives them a 2-0 record in the second half race for the district crown.

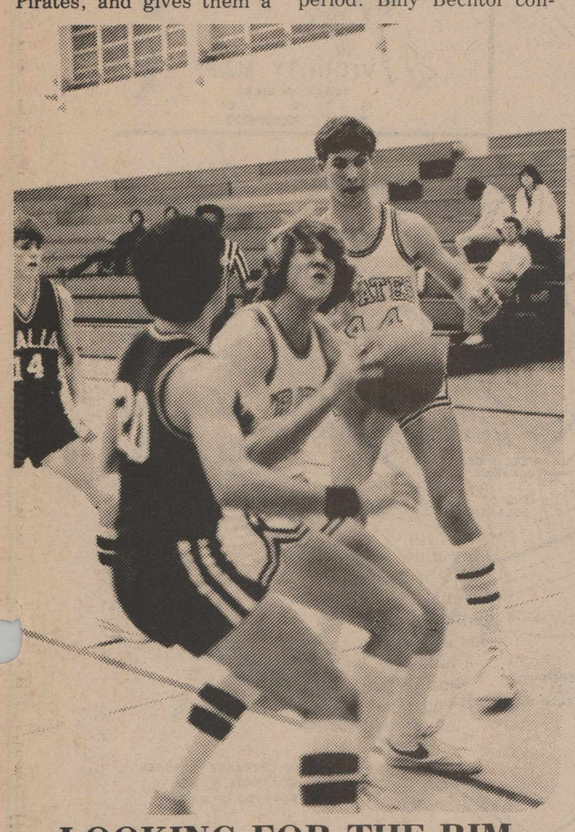

After the score was tied at 2-2, the Pirates erupted for 12 straight points before the Wildcats could answer, and the Pirates took a 14-4 lead at the end of the first period. Billy Bechtol continued his hot shooting by hitting for eight points in the first eight minutes of play.

In the second period Joe Brooks took control and finished the first half with 11 of his 27 points scored in the game. By halftime the Pirates had jumped 12 points ahead, 30-18.

Calallen managed to get to the free throw line on a number of occasions, and the Pirates were suddenly being lulled asleep with the Wildcat's slow brand of ball. The big lead of the Pirates dropped to seven points in the third period, but as the buzzer sounded, Kevin Morgan bagged a 17-footer, and the Pirates closed out the period with a 40-30 lead.

Rockport opened up the game in the fourth period, scoring 28 points in that final eight minutes. Brooks scored the remainder of his 27 total points and grabbed nine big rebounds in the second half. The Pirates' subs came off the bench to add their bit, with Kenny Matlock getting the last two of the evening, Matlock's first score of the year.

Rockport will now enter the hardest portion of their schedule with games against Gregory-Portland, West Oso, Flour Bluff, Sinton and Tuloso-Midway. Friday night, February 2, the Pirates will be in Flour Bluff to play the Hornets at 8:00 p.m. Then on Tuesday, February 6, the big game will be at Rockport when the Bears of West Oso come in, and the title might well be on the line. The Pirates will play the Bears at 6:30 p.m. On Friday, February 9, following the game with the Bears, the Pirates will go to Sinton, and then finish out the regular season at home against the Tuloso-Midway Warriors on the following Tuesday, February 13.

Rockport-Fulton Tracksters Enter Texas A&I Invitational

KINGSVILLE — Twenty-seven teams have entered the Texas A&I invitational high school boys and girls track and field meet, set for March 23-24 in Javelina Stadium.

There will be two divisions in the boys and girls competition. The Class AAAA and AAA schools will compete in Division A and the Class AA, A and B schools will be entered in Division B.

Entries thus far in the boys Division A are Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, Rockport-Fulton, Mission, Tuloso-Midway, Robstown, Corpus Christi King, Weslaco and Sinton. Entered in the boys Division B are Poth, Bishop, Lyford, Ben Bolt, Rio Hondo, San Isidro and Mathis.

Early entries in the girls Division A and PSJA, Edinburg, Rockport-Fulton, Robstown and Sinton. And entered in the girls Division B are Odem, Bishop, Ben Bolt, Rio Hondo, Freer, San Isidro and Mathis.

Pat Aguilar, A&I men's track coach, and Nita Fisher, Javelina women's track coach, say they expect this year's field to be larger than last season's when 60 schools participated.

Permit Applications

Permit application 9176 has been submitted to the Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, for an extension of time by Atlantic Richfield Company of Houston, to erect and maintain structures and perform work for drilling wells and for producing oil or gas in Aransas Bay, State Tract 121, central to a point approximately 4½ miles north of Rockport. Comments on this application must be submitted to the District Engineer on or before February 20.

L.V. Shaver of Rockport has submitted permit application 13328 to the Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, for work on Copano Bay, in the Copano Ridge subdivision, Copano Ridge Road, lots 5 and 6. The application proposes to erect a 120-foot long concrete bulkhead, with about 100 cubic yards of sand placed behind as backfill. Comments on this application must be submitted to the District Engineer, P.O. Box 1229, Galveston, Texas 77553, on or before February 20.

BOOK MARKS

Red Wolf Nearly Extinct

The red wolf, which once roamed across the eastern half of Texas and much of the southeastern United States, now is virtually extinct as a wild species, according to state and federal wildlife biologists.

The last remaining individuals—perhaps 50 or even fewer—are found in a marshland area in Jefferson County in Texas far southwest corner.

The wolves have suffered from loss of habitat, disease and predator control during their decline in the past half-century. And more recently they have been threatened perhaps more by hybridization with coyotes which have encroached on their remaining territory.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has cooperated with landowners and other government agencies through the years, both to protect the remaining wolves and establish a captive population for possible reestablishment in some other location.

However, recent information turned up by U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service teams live-trapping red wolves prompted FWS officials to predict that the species will be extinct in the wild within two years. This disclosure caused the FWS to concentrate more fully on attempting to live-trap as many of the remaining "pure" red wolves as possible in hopes the species can be preserved.

There now are 27 adult red wolves and seven pups at the Point Defiance Zoo in Tacoma, Washington, where the captive breeding program is centered.

Curtis Carley, a FWS biologist specializing in endangered species, said the trapping program in Texas will be phased out with the closing of its wolf recovery office in Beaumont by late 1980. "The next step is to get the wolves to breed in captivity and continue our translocation experiments," Carley said.

"The last step in our program will be to reestablish the red wolf in its historic range somewhere in the Southeast," explained Carley. "The FWS completed a successful translocation experiment last fall.

The red wolf (Canis rufus) is larger than a coyote, attaining a weight of up to 75 pounds. It is smaller than the gray or timber wolf which once ranged over approximately the western two-thirds of Texas, but which now is considered extinct in the state.

Don't Quit Fishing Just Because It's Cold

AUSTIN—When the northers blow in, don't put your fishing tackle in mothballs.

Fishing is a year-round activity for those Texans who adapt to the changing weather conditions of winter, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Some of the best fishing of the year, in fact, is during the coldest months, both for fresh and saltwater angling.

In freshwater lakes, the ever-popular largemouth bass head for the deeper areas and may not be tricked by fishing methods that worked earlier in the year. But bass fishing experts have found that artificial worms or jig-and-eel combinations fished deeply and slowly will work at times through the winter.

Bass tournament statistics compiled by the department indicate that a high percentage of trophy-sized bass are caught during February and March—months which most fishermen would consider more winter than spring, weatherwise.

After a cold spell, a couple of warm, sunny days also can put bass in a feeding mood, and they will cruise shallower vegetated areas as the water warms a few degrees.

Keeping an eye on cold fronts is important to the winter angler, according to Bob Bounds, inland fisheries management coordinator. "Just after a front passes usually is a bad time to go fishing because the pressure changes causes fish to slow down their feeding activities," he said. "An east wind also is another discouraging factor in Texas for some reason."

Bounds said there are other freshwater fish species which can be caught in the winter, but they also may be in the deeper water. "Sunfish are easily caught in the winter although they are usually not as concentrated as they are in the spring and summer around spawning areas," he noted. "Once located, they can be caught on warm days even with surface baits as well as on the usual methods such as live bait or sinking flies."

"Catfish also will bite in surprisingly cold weather, but you have to have patience and fish near the bottom in deeper areas.

"Another great wintertime fish is the striped bass, which is a genuine cold-water fish," Bounds continued. "Stripers behave opposite to most native fish in Texas in that they stay deep in the summer and come to the surface in schools during the winter, especially at night."

The wintertime fisherman also should try the warm-water discharge areas at powerplant lakes. Bait fish often will congregate in the warmer water, especially if there are artificial lights in the area, and white bass, catfish and stripers often can be caught under these conditions even during the nastiest winter weather.

Coastal fishing also can be great in wintertime, according to Ernest Simmons, the department inland fisheries director who spent many years on the coast as coastal fisheries regional director. "Even the windy days are good if you want to catch some large black drum off the piers and jetties in wintertime," Simmons said. "You also can catch trout and reds in the surf during the winter, both on live bait and lures."

Simmons added that croakers also can provide good winter sport, although most fishermen consider croaker "runs" to be mainly an autumn phenomenon. "Croaker fishing is often good in channels, and bank fishing along a channel can be more comfortable than being out on the bay in a boat," he said.

Fishermen may overlook flounders in the winter, figuring that they have left the bays. "Flounders can be found in the deeper areas of bays throughout the winter months, and they can be caught on worm jigs, squid or dead shrimp bounced along the bottom," Simmons advised.

"The fact is that if you fish the right areas you stand a chance of catching larger fish in wintertime than in hot weather, and you aren't bothered as much by smaller fish like pinfish and hardheads stealing your bait."

yet completed.

Thursday, January 25, at 4:20 p.m. a collision was investigated at the intersection of Highway 35 and FM 881. Cars driven by Leonard Emil Bruehwiler of Pinellas Park, Florida, and Gregario Villarreal of Rockport collided. Bruehwiler was charged with failure to yield, by investigating officer, Joaquin Martinez.

Friday, January 26, at 2:39 p.m. two cars collided in the 300 block of East Market Street. They were driven by Gerald Hutton of Livonia, Michigan, and Joann Bush Shedden of Rockport. Shedden was charged with running a red light by the investigating officer, Sgt. James Jacoby of the Rockport Police Department.

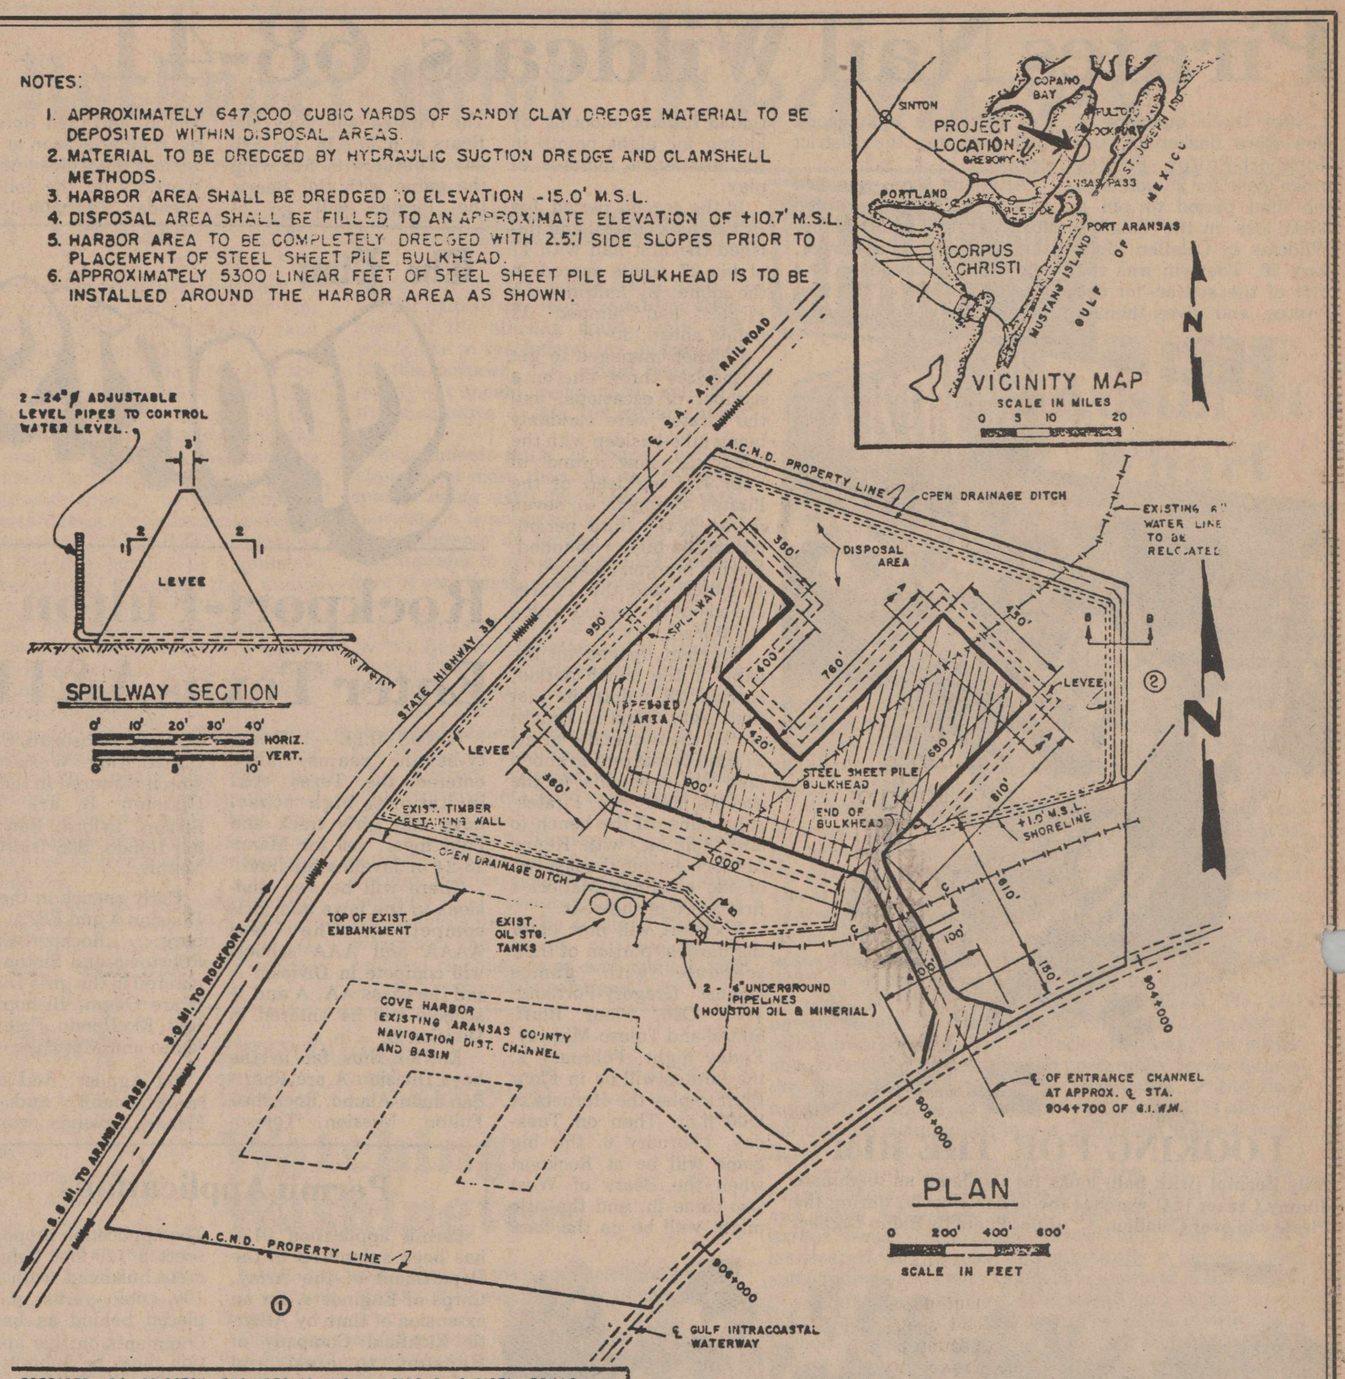

Monday, January 29, at 12:10 a.m., three persons were injured in a single vehicle accident which occurred when a car driven by Ronald Lee McNeely of Rockport hit a steel light pole in the Super D parking lot. He was charged with failure to control speed and cutting across a parking lot, by investigating Rockport police officer Joaquin Martinez. Injured were McNeely and two passengers, Jimmy Bullington and Floyd Smallwood, both of Rockport.

Saturday, January 27, at 5:17 p.m., Donald C. King was injured when he was walking in the Rockport Cemetery and was hit by a car. He was taken to an Aransas Pass hospital by Emergency Service personnel, suffering from various injuries. The investigation in that accident continues.

Saturday, January 27, at 2:35 p.m. a collision of two vehicles at the intersection of Highway 35 and FM 881 was investigated, but a third vehicle is being sought in the case and the investigation into the accident is incomplete.

Nursing Home News

The Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center had another very nice week of social activities as well as a lot of volunteer visitors and resident families.

We are always happy to have families visit their loved ones and we look forward to our great volunteers who come and do the work they do so well.

Monday afternoon was Blue Grass music time with John Blair, Altie Albers, Fannie Branson and Bill Cooper over from Rockport, bringing a program.

Tuesday we began our Reality Orientation and exercise class which we continued through Friday. Also Tuesday morning, Dottie McCullough was out to visit on a one-to-one basis with our residents. She also was here Wednesday morning.

Wednesday afternoon the Friendship Club of the Mobile Inn Trailer Park of Fulton came over in great numbers to play bingo for fruit with our guests. Also, they brought us some more nice lap robes which they had made. Some of the ladies brought some clothing, too. This group really is appreciated.

Activities at the Aransas Pass Nursing Home and Convalescent Center for the week of January 22-28 were fewer than usual due to some illnesses and cancellations of programs.

Tuesday morning we began our R.O. and exercise classes and continued them each morning through Friday. Our class is really growing and all who do attend really do seem to get a lot out of the program.

Each morning and afternoon we have a coffee and social hour, where each resident and family member or friends get together to visit and some even play dominoes.

Tuesday morning Dottie McCullough, a very sincere lady and a wonderful volunteer, was out to visit with our residents.

Wednesday morning, our two faithful and most welcome volunteers, Bea Shelton and Cindy Spriegel, were over from Fulton to visit and bring smiles to our people. Cindy is blind, but is a most talented person, and by Bea's love for Cindy and our residents, she brings her over to visit, play checkers, and entertain our residents by playing the piano at lunchtime for them.

We here at our home feel very fortunate to have the wonderful individuals and groups who give of their time and talents, so that our people's lives may be enriched and made happy with their presence. We love and appreciate each and every one of you.

Thursday morning, Dot McCullough was out again to do her volunteer visiting. Mrs. Fred Allen brought us a nice bunch of clothing which we could use very well.

Friday morning, Annie Stacey was out to do her weekly visiting and giving candy to all that can have it, and bringing other kinds of things to those she feels may need them. Annie has been doing volunteer work at our home almost four years, and we love her very much.

Friday afternoon, Catholic Mass was celebrated with Father James Hamilton and members of the St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic Church of Aransas Pass. During this Mass, Father Hamilton conducted a memorial service for Mrs. Blanche Archey, who had been a resident of our home. A very nice group was in attendance for this service. A big thanks to Mildred and Jack DuBose for giving us some beautiful metal vases and roses. We will use them and enjoy them very much.

Saturday morning, the members of the Aransas Pass Church of Christ were out to do their visiting, and bringing things to our residents.

Saturday night was our big country and western dance with Mary Frances Fahrenthold, Robert Mize and Terry Holden bringing us some good singing and playing. The members of the Altar Society of St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic Church served punch and cake. We had a lot of families and friends present and everyone seemed to have a good time.

I want to thank our staff for getting our residents out and to our custodians for getting everything ready for the dance. Without all of these people, I could not accomplish anything.

Sunday morning church services were led by our own Rev. Al Bankert. Sunday afternoon, the First Christian Church of Ingleside was over for their monthly "sing-in." This group of people are also very much appreciated and have been coming over for four years or more.

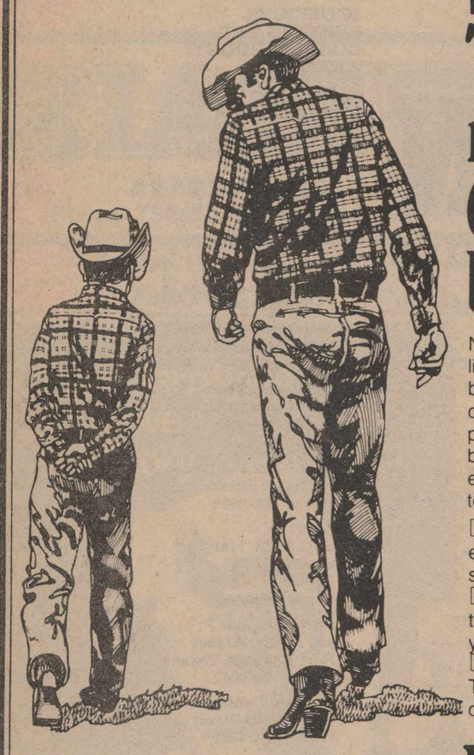

We had a very nice week and look forward to seeing a lot of you out to visit us at your nearest convenience. You are always welcome.

"No one should be without a Tax-deferred retirement plan. Ours is at United Savings."

No matter what your age is, or your income level, or your lifestyle . . . you should have a retirement plan. And it should be "tax-deferred." That means you don't pay income tax on the money you set aside until you use it. By then, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket than you are now. You benefit by 1) saving pre-tax dollars, and 2) earning considerable tax deferred dividends on your savings. It all adds up to a better future for you!

A CARD OF THANKS

In behalf of our beloved departed wife, Mother, and daughter,

CHARLOTTE ANNE RAY WALSTON,

we would like to extend our thanks and sincere gratitude to our many friends for your expression of kindness and sympathy, for the prayers, flowers, cards, food, and numerous donations to the Cancer Society, Aransas County Medical Service, and Public Library Book Fund, that were made to help us bear our burden of sorrow. We shall always remember and treasure each expression of love you have shown us. May God bless all of you.

Legal Notice

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: EVA MORGAN and any and all persons claiming an interest in and to the net proceeds of the sale of certain properties including that real property situated at 139 Cenizo Street, Rockport, Aransas County, Texas, also known as Lot 20, Block 10, Peninsula Oaks Subdivision, Unit 1, Aransas County, Texas, as hown by the map or plat thereof recorded in Volume 3, Page 14, Plat Records, Aransas County, Texas, Defendant, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court 36th Judicial District of Aransas County at the Court House thereof, in Rockport, Aransas County, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 12th day of March A.D. 1979, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 10th day of May A.D. 1978, in this cause, numbered 5961 on the docket of said court and styled In the Matter of the Marriage of Judith Diane Wilkerson and Allen Ray Wilkerson, Plaintiff, vs. Claude Wilkerson and Margaret Wilkerson Defendant, and In the Interest of Denise Ray Wilkerson and Ray Allen Wilkerson, Children.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

Said Agreed Decree of Divorce in Cause No. 5362 ordered that Claude Wilkerson, Trustee, sell said property at 139 Cenizo, Rockport, Texas, and thereafter directed said Trustee, Claude Wilkerson, to pay 15 groups of indebtednesses out of the net proceeds of said sale, number 5 therein being to EVA MORGAN in the sum of $500.00, and number 12 therein being for 2 house payments. Said Movant will show that certain expenditures were necessary in order to sell said property, including repairs to said premises, more than two payments, and certain closing costs, and that but for Claude Wilkerson's expenditures which he asks for full reimbursement for, said property would have probably been foreclosed upon for default on said loan indebtedness against same and no net proceeds would have been available to distribute at all. Movant further requests for a pro rata distribution of the remaining portion, if any, of said net proceeds, after that protion due Movant has been deducted, as the Decree of Divorce sets no priority of payments, no order for payments, and no plan such as payments directly related to the proportionate share of the total indebtedness. Said Decree of Divorce also makes no provision for the changing circumstances requiring extra house payments nor for the repairs necessary in order to sell said house. All of said parties, Master Charge, Texaco, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, First National Bank, Rockport, Texas, Armstrong & McCall, Central Power & Light Company, Roaten Drug Store, Wagley Lumber Company, Inc., Eugene B. Woods, Internal Revenue Service, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, Gulf Oil Company, Community Hospital, Diagnostic Clinic, Anesthesiology Associates, Arnold Walker, A.A. Jacobsen, Radiology Associates, Dan M. Queen, Alamo Bone & Joint, H.J. Borcherding, Aransas Hospital, Lola L. Bonner, and Tom Stolhandske, have been served, have filed Waivers of Service, have filed Answers before the said Court, or have been otherwise disposed of, except for EVA MORGAN, whose whereabouts remain unknown after a diligent search was made. Movant requests that the funds being held from the sale of said property being held by Stewart Title Company, $4,546.46, be ordered deposited into the registry of the Court for further Order and such relief to which Movant may be entitled.

WHEREFORE, premises considered, Movant prays judgment of the court that said EVA MORGAN and any and all persons claiming an interest in and to the net sales proceeds of 139 Cenizo Street, Rockport, Texas, be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that Movant have judgment for full recovery of all costs and expenses incurred by him in said matters and costs of suit herein, and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that he may be justly entitled to, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Rockport, Aransas County, Texas this the 22nd day of January, A.D. 1979.

Attest:
Agnes A. Harden Clerk,
District Court, Aransas
County, Texas
by Dorothea Montgomery, Deputy.

Collecting Ban Preserves Enchanted Rock

Sorry, rockhounds, but the Enchanted Rock area near Fredericksburg is off-limits for the collection of rocks as well as plants or archeological artifacts.

In March 1978, 1,640.5 acres of the unique Enchanted Rock site passed into state ownership after being operated as a private park for 25 years.

A recent article in a Texas-based "rockhound" publication told of past finds by collectors on the site, and the article gave the general impression that the activity still was allowed, department officials said. An editor's note at the end of the article stated the publication had learned of the state's acquisition of the property just before press time, so the article was unchanged.

Enchanted Rock is an outstanding landmark that has both regional and national importance because of its unique geological, biological and archeological features. When it became necessary for the private owners to sell and there were fears of eventual subdivision, the nonprofit Nature Conservancy and Texas and federal governments combined efforts to obtain the acreage encompassing the principal features for the state park system. The move was hailed by nature lovers, conservationists and tourists alike.

During the transition and development of a master plan the park has remained open to the public on a limited basis. For a short time camping was suspended for practical reasons but primitive camping now is again allowed in one designated area. Also available are 20 picnic sites with grills, portable toilet facilities and a temporary headquarters building.

Entrance and day-use fee is $2 per car.

TRY A LITTLE TENDERNESS!

Serve H.E.B. U.S.D.A. Choice Steakhouse Beef

What makes Steakhouse Beef Steaks so tender? There's no big secret, why, it just takes skill! One of the things that makes a Steak is the angle of the cut. That first cut is made by an expert at the H.E.B. Meat Plant. Then the rest of the slices keep that same angle. It's Quality Control! That's why the H.E.B. People have their own meat plant. The H.E.B. Meat Tenders do it themselves, so they know it's right ... Steak after Steak after Steak.

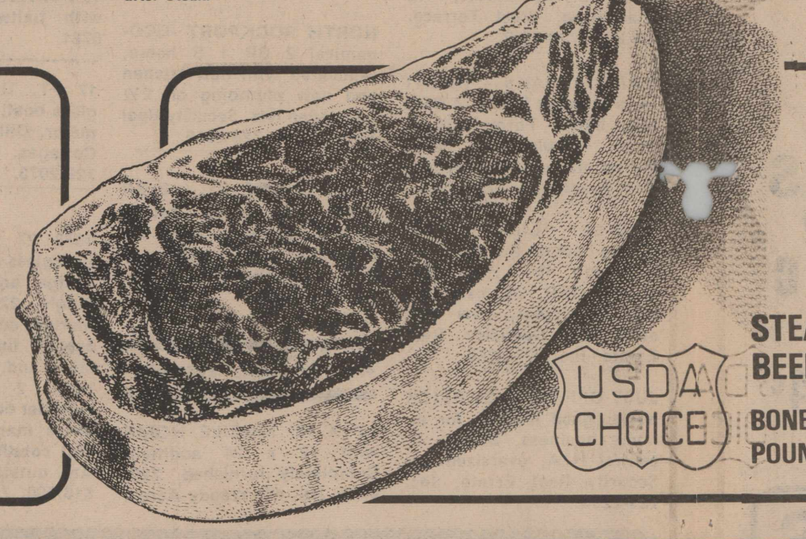

SIRLOIN STEAK

STEAKHOUSE BEEF

Sirloin Steak — sizzlin' steak supreme! Broiled or grilled — a big thick, juicy sirloin is always an exciting treat! A special big thrill when Dad is the chef! Surprise the family and take home a H.E.B. fancy sirloin for tonight. They'll love it. If it isn't absolutely delicious in every way, bring it back! Steakhouse Beef steaks are guaranteed to please!!

Sheriff's Report

Losses totaling more than $2,000 were reported to the Aransas County Sheriff's office during the past week, in two cases involving theft and burglary.

The Otis Company of Victoria, Earl Brown, district manager, reported that tires and wheels were reported taken from a pickup owned by the company. The theft was reported on January 22, and the loss valued at $150. Chief Deputy Steve Coltharp is continuing the investigation.

J.M. Monk of Rockport reported the theft of several items from a residence in Key Allegro, that apparently occurred between January 13 and 27. Missing in the apparent burglary was a color television valued at $600, assorted change totaling $150, and an antique slot machine valued at $1,300. Deputy Steve Ricker investigated the incident, which is still under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Black Spots On Cans Mean Sulphur, Not Harm

COLLEGE STATION — Black spots on the inside of cans means sulfur is present, but the food is still safe, Mary K. Sweeten reports.

Certain foods do liberate sulfur, and that causes brown, black or blue spots on cans. Tomato sauce is one example.

However, this condition is not harmful to the contents of the can, she says. Mrs. Sweeten is a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Although the discoloration may occur in sealed cans during processing, a federal regulation prohibits the use of possibly dangerous food containers.

Use of any food container that would transfer a harmful substance to the food in the can would be a violation of the Food Additives Amendment of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, Mrs. Sweeten explains.

Bond Sales

November sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Aransas County were reported this week by County Bond Chairman Fred Bracht. Sales for the eleventh-month period totaled $[illegible]08 with sales for the first 11 months of 1978 totaling $72,507 or 60 percent of the 1978 sales goal of $120,000.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $24,401,702, while sales for the first 11 months of the year totaled $280,318,626 with 91 percent of the yearly sales goal of $306.6 milion achieved.

Time To Review Business Policy

COLLEGE STATION — Company policies can become obsolete or ineffective quickly in today's fast-changing economic climate. Therefore, all policies should be reviewed annually, and January is the right time.

"Policy evaluation should be the subject of a special board of directors meeting in corporate or cooperative organizations," says Kenneth Wolf. "The management team should conduct a special meeting in other legal forms of business organization."

Answers to these questions will provide a good analysis of each company policy:

1. Is the policy in writing?
2. Is it compatible with other policies?
3. Does the policy allow sufficient freedom for the manager to exercise discretion?
4. Is the policy still needed?
5. Is the policy being followed?
6. Is it up-to-date?
7. Has the policy been given enough time to work?
8. What do employees think about it?
9. What do customers think of the policy?

"An organization that regularly evaluates its policies will be inclined to evaluate its entire operations on a scheduled basis," believes Wolf. "Policy evaluation makes procedure evaluation the next logical step in effecting improvements in a firm's operations.

"With operating costs rising continually, no business firm can afford to take chances.

Tourist Association News

We had a capacity crowd of nearly 300 at our covered dish supper on Wednesday, January 24. Our apologies to all the people who we could not accommodate because of lack of space. Following the meal of baked ham we were entertained by a Womanless Wedding and the famous Belly Whistlers.

Many thanks to the "Bridal Party" which consisted of Bill Janacek, Radio Shack; Bill Turpin, Timberlane Trailer Park; Virginia and Peter Lazidis, Yacht Basin Motel; Dudley Prophet, Rockcrete Products; Commissioner Raymond Owens; Jim Fowler, CPL; Ralph and Ada Ford, Missouri; Carl Frech, Enid, Oklahoma and Mobile Inn; Merle Green representing Anthony's Hair Salon; and Walter Suhre, our beautiful bride. As usual, our Belly Whistlers, J.C. Gurley and Bobby Landrum, provided an amusing finale to our evening.

On Wednesday, January 31, following our covered dish supper, we will be entertained by the magic of Del Edwards and the singing of Reeder Lyons. The Tourist Association will be providing salisbury steaks so bring a covered dish to accompany that basic menu. Meals start at 6:30 and the doors open at 5:30.

Tickets are available from members of the Tourist Association.

As of this writing, there are still some tickets available for our bus trip to Austin on February 2; cost is $14 per ticket. The Houston trip on February 16 is completely sold out but there are still a few tickets left for the Laredo trip on February 23, cost is $12.50 per ticket. On March 2 we have a half day trip arranged to the missions of Goliad and onto the Texas Zoo in Victoria. The Texas Zoo houses only animals and birds that are native to the State of Texas and while at the zoo we will receive a guided tour and slide show. This should make for a very enjoyable afternoon and the cost of each ticket is $7. All bus tickets are available Monday through Thursday, 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the Recreation Building by the Airport and on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays from Bay Shore Court Motel on Fulton Beach Road opposite Fulton Harbor.

Each Monday evening we have a Game Night. The doors open at 6:30 and the first game is called at 7:30 p.m. Come early to select your favorite cards.

For comments, suggestions or inquiries, please contact Anne Murphy, 729-2388, during the afternoon.

First National Bank Directors Reelected

All directors of First National Bank of Rockport were reelected at the annual meeting of shareholders Thursday, January 25.

They are Lola L. Bonner, Fred A. Bracht Sr., Fred A. Bracht Jr., L.E. Casterline, Leon M. Eschberger, F.W. Heldenfels Jr., F.W. Heldenfels III, H.C. Heldenfels, H.C. Heldenfels Jr., John O. Heldenfels, Russell W. Itschner, Charles LaBounty, John P. Mitchell Jr., R.D. Mosier Jr., Roy V. Rogero Sr., Thomas N. Smith III, James H. Sorenson Jr. and George K. Taggart III.

Following the meeting of shareholders, the newly elected members of the board of directors met and elected the following officers for 1979:

Sorenson, president; LaBounty, executive vice president; Mosier, executive vice president and comptroller; Thomas Ratliff, vice president; Margaret Touchstone, vice president and cashier; Fred A. Bracht Sr., honorary vice president; Joyce Hill, assistant vice president; Forrest C. Porter Jr. and Dianne Eckert, assistant comptrollers, and Robbie W. Andrew, Pat Blackwell and Elsie Hawes, assistant cashiers.

At the stockholders' meeting the number of directors was set at 18 for 1979. The bank's articles of association also permit the board of directors by a majority vote to add not more than two directors to the board in any one year between annual meetings of shareholders without a vote of shareholders.

Of the bank's 100,000 shares outstanding, 94,812 or 94.8 percent were represented in person or by proxy at the annual meeting.

After the presentation of the annual report, Mr. Sorenson's remarks to the shareholders were, "We are pleased and proud to present this annual report on the most successful year in the 88-year history of the First National Bank. Your continued loyal support has helped make this year's profit and growth possible.

"Net income for the year increased 44 percent over 1977, and undivided profits at December 31, 1978 were 23 percent higher than the previous year end. The cash dividend you received on your stock was 66 percent higher in 1978 over 1977.

"We face the future with confidence and enthusiasm. We believe the skills of our staff, together with the support of loyal customers and friends, will help us continue the progress of the past."

AARP News

The winners of Game Afternoon on Thursday, January 25, were Hilda Rahmeier and Grace Barstow in bridge; Marty Day, Ellen Richardson in canasta. The Finale was won by La Homa Fitter. There were 13 tables of bridge and eight tables of canasta.

The next Game Afternoon is Thursday, February 1, at 1:00 p.m., Paws and Taws Building, Fulton Beach Road.

The next business meeting of the AARP Chapter 1536 is Wednesday, February 14, at 9:30 a.m., Paws and Taws Building. A coffee at 9:30 a.m. will be followed by the meeting at 10:00 a.m. After the meeting, Keith Gerald, the AARP insurance representative from Dallas, will be the guest speaker. This should be interesting as well as informative to all members.

The first AARP dance in February will be Wednesday, February 7, at 7:00 p.m., Paws and Taws Building. Gene Rickles will furnish the music.

The birthday and anniversary persons are asked to furnish cookies for the coffee preceding the business meeting each month. They will be asked to sit at a table decorated in honor of their special month.

The second meeting of the Future Financial Forum was Tuesday, January 30, Paws and Taws Building. The third meeting of the Future Financial Forum will be Tuesday, February 6.

A pancake brunch is planned by AARP Chapter 1536 for Sunday, February 18, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at Paws and Taws Building. The donation is $2.00 per person and the proceeds are for the benefit of the Aransas County Public Library.

The Speaker Reports

By Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—The Texas Good Neighbor Commission has been in existence since 1943. During its early days, the commission dealt with cases involving discrimination of citizens and visitors of Latin American extraction, such as segregation in schools, refusal of service in hotels and restaurants, and denial of entrance to public parks and pools. While these problems fortunately no longer exist, other important issues face us which must be dealt with.

The state of the relationship between the United States and Mexico is in a period of tremendous change. The growth of mass unemployment in Mexico, the immense expansion of Mexico's energy resources and the education of alien children in Texas schools are but a few of the issues that face us as Americans and as Texans. At this crucial time, continuing the existence of the Good Neighbor Commission is of importance to Texas. Never before have we needed so much to build the best relations possible with our neighbors to the south.

I have asked various selected citizens throughout the State for advice and guidance with respect to the purposes, goals and functions of the Good Neighbor Commission. I am very pleased with the response I have received. All agree that continuing the Good Neighbor Commission would be beneficial to the State.

I believe that if the Good Neighbor Commission focuses its efforts on its inter-american functions, especially in improving and maintaining good relations with Mexico, it can go a long way in benefitting the State of Texas. I am hopeful that the 66th Session of the Legislature will provide the Good Neighbor Commission with more direction and guidance so that it may better serve the people.

CONGRESSMAN TAKES OATH

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend
Council of Governments

How much progress the Coastal Bend can make in the coming year in meeting its housing problems depends to a great extent on approval of a Housing Opportunity Plan. The plan has been submitted for approval of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Its adoption would provide additional housing funds for cities which now have Community Development Programs, Kingsville, Beeville, Sinton, Aransas Pass, Alice and Corpus Christi. It could give them sufficient points to be eligible for new programs. And it can provide the first housing assistance for smaller cities of the region.

Housing workshops have been held across the region in recent weeks, getting ready for what is hoped will be stepped up activity. They have been conducted by Mrs. Nick Marchyn, a COG consultant and an authority on housing, recognized nationwide. At the workshops, representatives of Texas Department of Community Affairs, Farmers Home Administration, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development have all provided information.

Direct grants are limited, but funds available for low interest loans and loan guarantees have increased. In nearly all programs, funds are made available through local financial institutions with the guarantee from the government. There is money just to eliminate health and safety hazards. For those who can afford slightly more, loans can be made to bring buildings up to the standards that city sets out in its codes. There are other programs, for repairing or for building homes, technical assistance for self-help, special programs to provide homes for farm labor.

It is almost impossible for a family to know and judge the program best suited to their needs. Duval County has housing directors who have been trained by the Texas Department of Community Affairs and go door to door. They help families determine how the greatest number of their needs can be met within their ability to repay loans. Now more funds are being made available to local governments and agencies which have good track records in counseling. With these funds, they can assist a family in making prudent pre-purchase plans, or try to help a family resolve problems later if they have missed payments.

Inflation is magnifying housing problems for both medium and low income families. The Department of Housing and Urban Development recognized this recently in revising the square foot cost of construction in Sinton, allowing about $22 a square foot for replacement housing in a redevelopment area. Prime interest rates are now higher than the law allows in Texas.

The elderly are eligible for these programs, if they qualify in respects other than age, despite the fact that they cannot expect to live to see the loan paid off. The property itself is collateral for the loan, not the person who borrows the money. It is not impossible for an 80 year old man or woman to receive a 30 year loan.

When families move up from substandard to standard housing, through well advised transactions that are within their means, there are demonstrated side effects. There are lower costs in social services. Children are willing to bring friends home for the first time. New confidence is developed that, through resourcefulness, they may be able to improve their standard of living. Frustration is offset.

There have been poorly planned housing projects and poorly thought out housing programs in this country. But directors of Community Development programs in the Coastal Bend believe the conspicuous failure can now be and are being avoided. The importance of family counseling has gained wider acceptance. People who work day in and day out with housing say it is untrue that those who move into standard housing fail to maintain it as such. Their experience has been that the families take pride in their improved homes and maintain both the house and yard. They say the few exceptions are no greater percentage of the whole than is the percentage of higher income families who allow children to destroy property and do not carry out routine maintenance jobs.

Prosperity Seminar At Unity

Area residents are invited to attend a seminar on prosperity, conducted by Rev. Marie Conine, Sunday, February 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Unity Center in Rockport.

There is no charge for the seminar, although a love offering may be made. The center is located at 802 Market Street, across from the Rockport Post Office. Refreshments will be served at intermission. For more information call Edwina Stranahan at 729-0009.

ROCKY

The blockbuster hit movie 'Rocky,' winner of three Academy Awards, including one as best picture and starring Sylvester Stallone (pictured left), will premiere on television, Sunday, Feb. 4 on CBS-TV.

Talia Shire (right), Burt Young, Carl Weathers and Burgess Meredith also star.

The movie tells the uplifting story of the efforts of a small-time boxer and street punk in Philadelphia, Rocky Balboa (Stallone), who battles against overwhelming odds to make something of himself.

Rocky's life appears to be headed nowhere. He's had a few minor fights, but no one has much respect for him. His life changes when he gets an opportunity to meet Apollo Creed (Weathers), the World Heavyweight champion, in the ring. It's a Bicentennial fight supposedly meant to give an unknown a chance at glory, but actually a showcase for the champ's showy style. Rocky realizes that this is an opportunity to escape the nothingness of his life.

BACKSTAIRS AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Book Two of the nine-hour fact-based miniseries 'Backstairs at the White House,' will air on 'NBC Monday Night at the Movies,' Feb. 5.

Starring are Olivia Cole, Leslie Uggams, George Kennedy, Ed Flanders, Lee Grant (pictured), Larry Gates, Jan Sterling, Louis Gossett Jr., Cloris Leachman, Leslie Neilsen and Robert Hooks.

'Backstairs at the White House' recounts the experiences of Maggie Rogers and her daughter, Lillian Rogers Parks. Maggie (Cole) and Lillian (Uggams) are caught in the whirlwind of history as White House maids. The death of President Harding ends the years of scandal and gossip, and the quiet dignity of President and Mrs. Coolidge is a welcome relief. But the calm is followed by the stern Herbert Hoover—and the Great Depression.

FLATBED ANNIE AND SWEETIEPIE

Two young women join forces to save an expensive trucking rig from the repossessor and keep it out of the clutches of hijackers, in 'Flatbed Annie & Sweetiepie: Lady Truckers,' a new motion-picture for television, starring Annie Potts (pictured right), Harry Dean Stanton, and special guest star Kim Darby (left), to be broadcast on 'The CBS Saturday Night Movies,' Feb. 10.

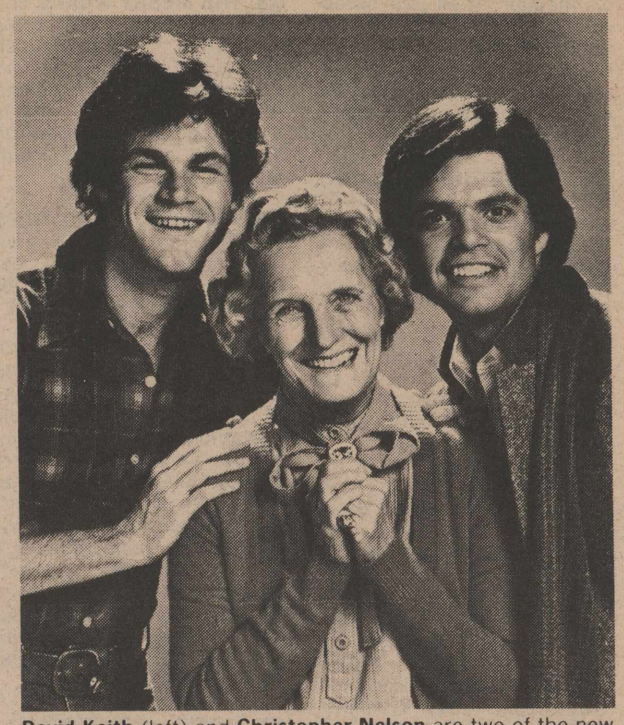

Arthur Godfrey, Fred Willard, Avery Schreiber, Rory Calhoun and Billy Carter, in his drama debut, also star in this rousing action-adventure film.

With a stack of unpaid bills, creditors outside her door, and her truck-driver husband, Jack LaRosa (Willard), put in the hospital by desperate hijackers, Ginny LaRosa (Miss Darby) decides to leave her low-paying job and steps into the big rig. She teams up with rough-and-tumble 'Flatbed Annie' (Miss Potts), who can "push any rig" on the road.

Flatbed Annie tries to teach Ginny how to maneuver the huge hauler, all the while running into hair-raising close-calls along the road.
