General Seeking Increase In Phone Rate

AUSTIN----- General Telephone Company of the Southwest Monday (February 25) filed its first statewide request for new revenues with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), seeking $58.3 million, which the company would receive $29.7 million after taxes.

General Telephone, the largest independent (non-Bell) telephone company in Texas, serves over 1.2 million telephones in 291 exchanges across the state. Major cities served include Garland, Irving and Plano in the Dallas/Fort Worth area, Baytown and Dickinson in the Houston area, Texarkana, San Angelo, and Bryan-College Station.

F. E. Hightower, vice president-revenue requirements in the company's four-state headquarters in San Angelo, said: "Continued erosion of earnings through customer growth and requirements for services, rapidly changing technology, the need to improve and expand service and services, and unprecedented high levels of inflation make our request necessary."

"We have been able to defer a request for new revenues through programs to improve efficiency, to reduce expenses, and intensified marketing efforts," he said.

"Rates now in effect were established on a city-by-city basis prior to the establishment of the PUC in September 1976. As a result, rates vary greatly. Our filing seeks to make rates for service and 'bands' uniform."

The filing seeks to equalize local monthly basic service rates by grouping cities by bands based on the number of primary telephones that can be called without a long distance charge, and to apply charges for all services more nearly relating to the cost of providing those services, according to Hightower.

Hightower said the company proposes 10 rate bands similar to those already approved by the commission for other telephone companies. Rates would increase from band to band in proportion to the increase in primary telephones which can be called in each band. "While the proposed rates are uniform within the respective bands, present rates vary so widely that it is impossible to project a meaningful average percent change," he explained.

Abernathy's Luck Runs Out On Rates

Compared with other towns served by General Telephone Company of the Southwest, Abernathy has had very favorable telephone rates for a long time. But, our luck is about to run out. General is going to the Texas Public Utility Commission to seek rate increases. Here's a comparison of existing rates for Abernathy and other towns: residential one-party listed first then business one-party: Abernathy, $5.35, $10.95; Clarendon, $8.85, $18.75; Claude, $6.45, $14.75; Crosbyton, $7.00, $16.30; Dickens, $8.90, $19.25.

General seeking increased rates that will apply to all of the towns listed above. The rates for residential one-party all will be $9.21, and for business one-party all will be $21.37.

Also going to the Texas Public Utility Commission for increases in rates are Pioneer Natural Gas Company and Southwestern Public Service Company.

The City of Abernathy has increased rates beginning with the March 1st billing. New water rates: residential, minimum $6.00 for the first 3,000 gallons, and $1.25 per 1,000 gallons thereafter. Sewer rates increased from $2.50 to $3.50.

SPS Seeks Rate Increase

Southwestern Public Service Company today filed a request with the cities it serves in Texas for an increase in its retail rates. The request, if approved, would increase Southwestern's revenues by 14.78 percent.

Information outlining SPS's needs was presented to city officials on January 28. Bert Hallenbee, executive vice president for SPS, said the increase is needed for three primary reasons: inflation, the high cost of money and the cost of switching from gas to coal-fired power plants.

SPS also filed a similar request with the Texas Public Utility Commission for an increase in rates for the company's rural customers in Texas.

Abernathy Public Library Offers Inter-Library Loan Service

Need a special book but don't want to drive to Lubbock to get it? You don't have to anymore. The Abernathy Public Library offers as a service to the community the Inter-Library Loan Service. What does Inter-Library Loan really mean? Very simply, it is the loaning of books and materials among libraries to give you access to the resources of all major libraries in Texas. In order to acquire a special book, magazine, article or government document, simply visit the Public Library and make your request to the librarian. If the library doesn't have what you need, it will be found for you. When your request arrives, it may be picked up at the library and must be returned there.

Some people are hesitant about asking their librarians "to go to all that trouble" just to find a book they'd like to read. Librarians are trained to do just that--find materials for people. They are eager for your requests and will try every possible means to find the materials you need.

Through the services of ILL, one can find all the books and materials ever needed on any subject.

Visit your local library. It is waiting to serve you! LIBRARY HOURS: Monday, Wednesday and Friday 12:30-5:00 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday 8:30-12:00.

Fans Going To Games In Austin

A large number of AHS Antelope fans will be in Austin to root for the home team in the game with Coleman at 2 p.m. Thursday. It will be the first round of AA games in the Texas State Championship Tournament. The Championship game will be at 11 a.m. Saturday. (...rooting in that game, too.)

Some Antelopes fans may have to wait until late Friday and leave in time to see the Championship games.

My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed: I will sing and give praise. (Ps. 57:7) of the tournament Saturday. It can be a good weekend for those going at any time to attend the tourney. Attractions in Austin and San Antonio draw tourists from many states. In fact, San Antonio draws more out-of-state tourists than any other city in Texas.

Reservations in Austin will be hard to come by this weekend. Some of the Abernathy fans have motel/hotel rooms in Georgetown some 25 miles from Austin.

Be glad in the LORD, and rejoice, ye righteous, and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart. (Ps. 32:11)

For do-it-yourself remodelers a realistic timetable is a "must".

It helps get jobs done in proper sequence, and it aids in lining up workers and materials on schedule, says Dr. Jane Berry, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

All of this makes any project move along faster, more smoothly and more economically, she adds.

Do you and your spouse have separate credit histories?

General Telephone Files For First Statewide Rate Changes Since 1976; New Rates Should Be More Equitable

For the first time since the Public Utility Commission of Texas began regulation of Texas telephone companies, General Telephone Company is asking for rate changes designed to produce about $58 million in additional annual local revenues. Because this case is being filed on a statewide basis, adhering to statewide rate making principles, there is no "average" increase we can quote for an "average" customer. Increases will vary from community to community. Rates for all General Telephone customers in Texas will be affected, but there will be no changes in long distance rates. Here is our case:

Phone service is a good buy

You don't need us to tell you prices have gone up. But the price for phone service hasn't gone up as much as you may think. In fact, you may easily spend more on coffee for coffee breaks than you do for a month of basic local service. Contrast that with the prices you pay for shoes and sugar or gasoline and hamburger. Or contrast it with what we pay for poles, wires, cables, etc. We can't sell 1980 service at 1976 prices, and stay in business.

We're facing facts

America's investor-owned utilities are fighting to stay financially sound and we're in the middle of that fight. As part of on-going good management, we constantly work to improve the efficiency of our operations. We've even gone to the length of redesigning truck bodies ourselves because we needed a less expensive, lighter weight, more fuel efficient model and automotive engineers weren't interested in the small (to them) number we'd purchase. We've managed to avoid the rate increase arena for nearly four years through efforts like these but they aren't enough any more. We don't intend to become a financial burden to anyone...and we can face facts. So, let's face this one: it's either a rate increase or some other alternative.

What alternatives?

1. Downgrade customer service.
2. Defer plant and equipment additions.
3. Let our shareowners' investment deteriorate.
4. Ask our employees to give up justified wage increases.

Alternative 1: Downgrade customer service

You expect phones to work as close to 100 percent of the time as is possible and when phone service is out, you want it fixed fast. We agree. And you don't want to wait to get service to begin with, no matter how fast Texas grows. We also agree. Therefore, we can't let service deteriorate simply because costs of providing it increase. In fact, from our point of view, service in some spots could stand improving...and we ought to know: we've been in this business a long time. But improvements cost money.

Alternative 2: Defer plant and equipment additions

We've already done that, or as much as we possibly could. Texas has been experiencing unprecedented growth and that's nice, because growth is healthy. The trouble is we have had to spend (and borrow) unprecedented amounts of money (at unprecedented interest rates) to provide the facilities to meet that growth. And the dollars we spent in 1979 and will spend in 1980 don't buy as much as they used to. They don't even buy as much as they did the last time we had increases in rates - 1976. We've had customers tell us, "Look, my service is fine. Let it stay the same until 1995, just leave the rates alone." Sounds great, but it's not that simple. Even if it were possible, we'd still be spending millions each year just to maintain what's out there now. Practically speaking, however, we can't stand still. The rules under which we operate say we must meet all reasonable service requests in a timely manner. Telephone equipment is complex and it can't be put in overnight. With the way Texas has been growing and the way inflation is rampaging, some days it seems as though it will take all the running we can do and all the dollars we have just to stay in the same place. The engineering and construction work we do (and pay for) today determines the quality and quantity of service tomorrow.

Alternative 3: Let our shareowners' investment deteriorate

Everyone loves this answer...except the shareowners...and they may be you directly, or indirectly, if you have a pension plan, life insurance or own mutual fund shares. Realistically, however, shareowners have to earn a reasonable return on their investment. Otherwise, they don't invest. Would you? It was yesterday's investment money which bought the equipment serving you today and today's investment money is needed to buy the equipment to serve you tomorrow.

Alternative 4: Ask our employees to give up justified wage increases

Our employees are skilled and dedicated and we need them. To cut costs by denying them justified increases would be counterproductive. We must pay competitive wages and benefits to attract and hold employees with the skills and productivity we need. As Texas grows, we'll need even more. If we lose or can't find quality employees, your service could suffer.

So what's left?

That's pretty obvious: a rate increase. But it won't happen right away. It's not that simple and it isn't automatic. Most businesses, if their costs go up, simply raise their prices or drop the service. We are a regulated utility and even when we aren't receiving enough money for service, we must continue providing it and keep on doing so until we can prove to the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) that we're in financial need. Only then can we plead our case for a rate increase. What's more, it takes time before we receive authority to increase rates. By then, inflation may have lowered the buying power of the dollar enough so we're right back where we started or worse.

The tax collector wins

We're asking for about $58 million in additional annual local revenues, half of which will go to increased taxes. Just about half of any increase we ever get goes to increased taxes.

About those varied increases

We can't give you an "average" increase for an "average" customer. Increases are going to vary, literally, all over the map of Texas. The chief reason is a shift from city-by-city rate-making to statewide rate-making. When this shift is completed, you will be paying rates based on the number of telephone numbers you can call without a long distance charge. We think you'll find this system fairer to all.

No increase is popular

We know you aren't going to like an increase in phone rates. In today's economic climate, we don't blame you. We don't like it, either. We also didn't like the astounding increases in electricity, gasoline, telephone equipment, taxes, interest rates, etc., we've faced over the last few years...but we had to pay them.

We're consumers ourselves

We're trying to be as open and aboveboard as we can. There's nothing hidden about our operations and we aren't some giant out to gouge the consumer. We're consumers ourselves and we're doing our best to protect you and your phone service...and to keep the rates for it within everyone's reach.

We'll talk and listen

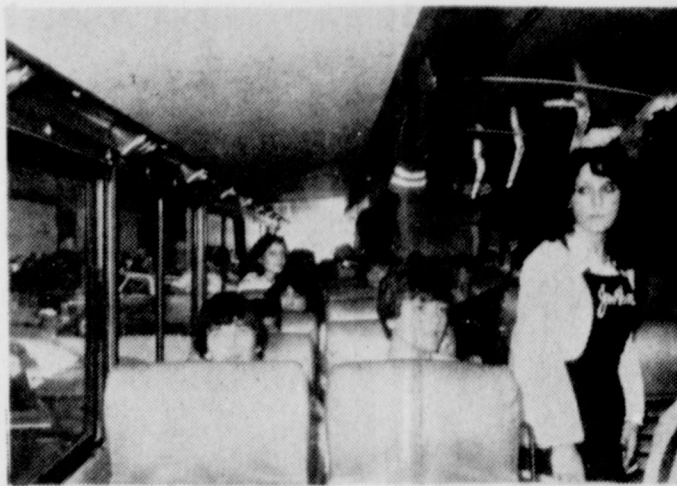

So, there it is. We've got to earn more money and raising rates is our only choice. If you have questions about your individual service rate, call your local business office or your division manager. Division managers are listed in the front of your phone book. They'll even help arrange speakers for your club or organization. We're all people you can talk to...and we want to keep you talking.

LIMITED FUNDS FOR LABOR-SAVING TECHNOLOGY-----Limiting federal research funds for discovering labor-saving technology (as proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Bergland) would cause agricultural production to suffer, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. U.S. farmers and consumers would be the major losers from such a policy change. Agricultural research and extension programs have been the major factor releasing farm labor to produce other goods and services enjoyed by all Americans.

ACCIDENT CONTROL-----Vehicles are the major cause of the off-the-job injuries. But vehicle accidents also occur on the job, notes the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Accidents involving both industrial and farm vehicles usually result from (1) operation by an untrained or unauthorized operator, (2) restricted vision or (3) operation too fast for conditions.

AHS Students Chosen For Texas Baptist All-State Band

Word was received last week that two youths from the First Baptist Church of Abemathy were named to the 1980 Texas Baptist All-State Band. The students are Dee Ann Attebury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Attebury, and Jon Mark Fulton, son of Mrs. Ruth Adams. Both are sophomores at Abemathy High School and play in the Antelope Band. Dee Ann is flute section leader and Jon Mark is baritone section leader.

The students were chosen for this honor by participating in a tape recorded try-out earlier this spring. A tape recording of their playing was sent to a central location and placed in competition with other young Baptist musicians throughout the State of Texas. Dee Ann and Jon Mark will participate this summer in a very busy and exciting schedule of activities as members of this musical group.

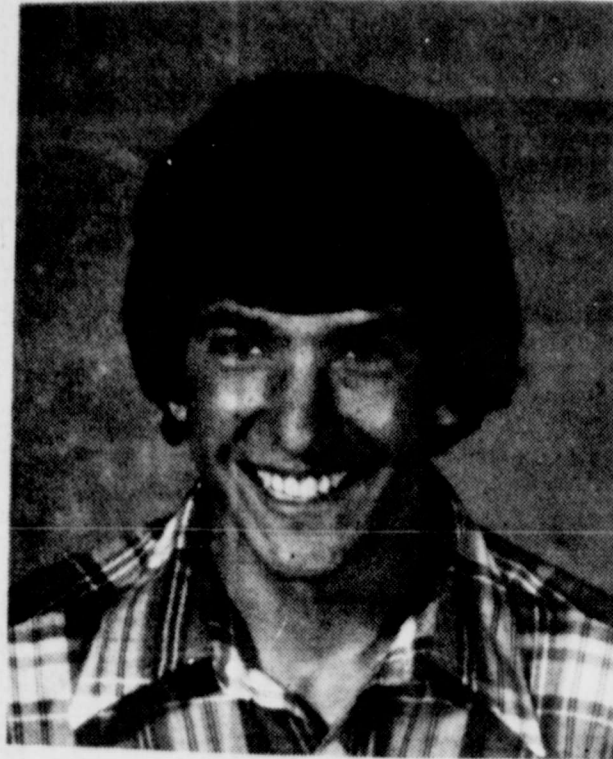

The Texas Baptist All-State Band will perform with another group, the Texas Baptist All-State Choir. A busy schedule has been set up for this entourage beginning on July 5th when members of both groups will meet with their directors at Dallas Baptist College for rehearsal and important meetings. On July 6, all students will be flown to Toronto, Canada to attend and perform at the Baptist World Alliance. They will rehearse for their first performance as the featured musical group at the Alliance on Wednesday, July 9. On July 10 and 11, they will perform for a giant music festival in and around the Toronto area. On Saturday evening, July 12, they will join with the other All-State groups for a massed performance for the entire Baptist World Alliance. They will return home on July 13.

The Band and Choir are directed by several Baptist music educators throughout the state. Included as one of the band directors is Greg Berry, Director of the Wayland College Band of Plainview.

Need a Guardian Angel?

All of his life, Marty Potts had heard people refer to the Bible as their "sword and shield," but those words never took on their true meaning in his life until a few weeks ago when he found real protection in God's Word.

"One night at the service station where I work, three guys came in with guns and started pushing me around," he explains. "They took my wallet and all the money I had in the station, but they didn't get but about $300 and thought I was holding back more money."

"I'd already been praying in my own mind, and I knew that if God didn't come in I'd be up there with Him before long, so I said, 'God, I'm your son and I'm looking for you to take care of me right now.'

"When I said that, they just dropped everything and ran to their cars."

"God is more than enough for anything," he says. "He's more than enough for any financial or physical need. He's your healer, your deliverer, your everything."

Philip Craig Rites Are Held

Former Abernathian Lavern Cope of Sandy, Utah, visited The Review people briefly Monday afternoon. Earlier that day, he stopped in Santa Rosa, N.M., and asked about two other former Abernathians, Philip Craig and Floyd Shaw. He was told that funeral rites were held Saturday for Philip Craig.

Death was due to an apparent heart attack, his informant said. No other details were available.

Shaw and Craig went to Santa Rosa in the 1930's and entered the restaurant business. Later they bought ranches in the area. Craig was at the ranch when he died.

Cope said that his informant added that Philip Craig was one of the most respected men in Santa Rosa.

Cope was enroute from Sandy to Oklahoma City for a school on a new type of equipment for air traffic control towers. Stationed at Salt Lake City Airport, Cope is a radar computer technician. He visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Cope in Ralls before proceeding to Oklahoma City.

WORD OF GOD
Master, which is the great commandment in the law?
Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.
This is the first and great commandment.
And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.
On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

Customs-Culture-Conversational Spanish THE SPANISH TEACHER Julius Sadowsky, Jr.

"Mexican polka music is just like ours." This is what so many people say when they hear the polkas of Northern Mexico. And they are right. The polkas of Mexico are just like the polkas of Texas and the Southwest. They are alike because originally they all came from Europe.

During the late 1800's many European men came to the United States through Mexico. They landed on the Mexican coast and came to northern Mexico hoping to find a way into the United States. Some of these men found their promised land instead in the states of Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, Coahuila, Chihuahua and Sonora. You will find the influence of their culture throughout the land. Their polka music is just a part of it. Practice the names of these states.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A father was taking his boy on a tour of the zoo and they stopped in front of a den of lions.

"Daddy," asked the boy, "if the lions get out and eat you up, how do I get home?"

One day our Lord was talking to some young men about our heavenly home. One asked, "How can we know the way?"

Our Lord answered, "I am the way."

Recently I was in a strange city and I asked a policeman for directions. He said, "Go to the red light, take a first turn to the left, cross the tracks, go to the fifth road--no, that's wrong." He paused and said, "Come, I will take you there."

In that case, the policeman to me was the way, and I did not miss it.

This is what the Lord does for us. He not only gives us advice, counsel and directions, He takes us by the hand and comes with us. He directs us personally. He strengthens us physically and He blesses us spiritually.

You are going somewhere, make it heaven. You are on a way, make it the way by trusting the Lord.

NEWS FROM THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

(By June Lambert)

The attendance was down some Sunday, but was expected since many of the teenagers were enjoying a ski trip in New Mexico. This has become an annual affair for many years and one that each group looks forward to with anticipation. We are especially proud of the young people and in this regard special congratulations were given to the boys basketball team in their regional win.

Frances Overstreet underwent open heart surgery last week in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock. It is reported that she may get to come home later this week.

Sally Myatt is a patient in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock.

Ray Ortiz is a patient in St. Mary's Hospital, Lubbock. There were about twenty-six men attending the breakfast last Monday at the church.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Texans have always been proud to be Americans, and yet we treasure our unique state heritage — a legacy of independent will, pride and high principles.

Many of the cherished traditions which are a major source of strength today took shape during the brief nine years of the Republic of Texas. The Declaration of Independence which founded the Republic March 2, 1836, sets forth many of the values that have helped shape the Texas character.

When our Texas forebears spoke of tyranny from a "far distant seat of government," Mexico City was their target, not Washington, D.C. But while we today are not plagued by "the merciless savage, with the tomahawk and the scapling knife," some of the Texas freedom fighters' concerns have as much meaning today in the interminable conflict with a "savage" bureaucracy whose "weapons" are the regulation and impenetrable organization.

The authors of the independence document declared "the whole nature of their government has been forcibly changed without their consent." "...Moderation is at length so far lost by those in power that even the semblance of freedom is removed," the signers contended. Those words seem uncomfortably applicable to us today. Sometimes it even seems that we, too, are confronted by "a hostile majority in an unknown tongue" to the "point at which forbearance ceases to be a virtue."

Certainly, the brave citizens of the Texas Republic faced tyrannies unknown to us. We have not been militarily invaded. Our Legislature has not been dissolved. We still are blessed with the freedom and the means to seek the values underscored in the Texas Declaration of Independence — a strong defense, a strong public education system, protections for civil liberties, and freedom of religion.

And we have something else — the same indomitable spirit of our forefathers, as best exemplified in a letter, written by the young commandant of the Alamo, and an inspiration to all Texans then and now. Writing to "the People of Texas and all Americans in the world," Col. William Barret Travis said:

"I am besieged, by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna — I have sustained continual Bombardment & cannonade for 24 hours & have not lost a man — The enemy has demanded a surrender at discretion, otherwise, the garrison are to be put to the sword, if the fort is taken — I have answered the demand with a cannon shot, & our flag still waves proudly from the walls — I shall never surrender or retreat. Then, I call on you in the name of Liberty, of patriotism & everything dear to the American character, to come to our aid, with all despatch — The enemy is receiving reinforcements daily & will no doubt increase to three or four thousand in four or five days. If this call is neglected, I am determined to sustain myself as long as possible & die like a soldier who never forgets what is due to his own honor & that of his country — Victory or Death.
