Churchill Unseated As Labor Takes Over Reins In Britain

Attlee Named New Premier

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 26—Britain's Labor party, advocating a socialist program for national reconstruction, stunningly defeated Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative regime today, and King George VI tonight commissioned Labor Leader Clement R. Attlee to form a new government.

Churchill, doughty war leader from Britain's darkest hour to final victory in Europe, had presented his resignation to the king at Buckingham Palace just a few minutes earlier.

Attlee told a cheering, tumultous mass meeting of his followers tonight that "the first thing we have to do is to finish the war with Japan."

On Great Adventure

"We are embarked," he cried, "on a great adventure of democracy, freedom and social justice."

Simultaneously the outgoing Churchill, in a farewell statement to the nation as premier, declared that victory over Japan may come "much quicker than we have hitherto been entitled to expect."

"The decision of the British people has been recorded in the votes counted today," he said. "I have therefore laid down the charge which was placed upon me in darker times.

"I regret that I have not been permitted to finish the work against Japan. For this, however, all plans and preparations have been made, and the results may come much quicker than we have hitherto been entitled to expect.

Profound Gratitude

"It only remains," he concluded, "for me to express to the British people, for whom I have acted in these perilous years, my profound gratitude for the unflinching, unswerving support which they have given me during my task, and for the many expressions of kindness which they have shown towards their servants."

Prof. Harold Laski, chairman of the Labor party's executive committee, declared the Labor party victory would make possible "full friendship with the Soviet Union."

Churchill's conservative national government was swept out of pow-

Long-Standing Plan Of Petain Recounted

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, July 26.—A surprise witness at the treason trial of Marshal Petain testified today that the old soldier was formulating plans as early as 1939 to become head of the French government.

The witness, Armand Gazel, had been counsellor of the French embassy in Spain while Petain was there as ambassador.

He appeared briefly at the end of the fourth day of the marshal's trial in which two parliamentary leaders, Jules Jeanneney and Louis Marin, explained how Petain gained dictatorial power. They charged Petain and all those who demanded an armistice with moral guilt.

Hooked With Laval

Jeanneney said that Petain and Pierre Laval, now in Spanish detention," made common cause" and that it was the plotting of the white-tied Laval which actually brought Petain to power. This was done by abolishing the two houses of the national assembly by decree and reassembling them in extraordinary session, after Laval had mustered sufficient voting strength to make a dictator of the marshal.

Marin, shouting much of his testimony, said that Petain's refusal to leave France made the armistice possible.

Petain, he said, obstinately refused to leave France for either England or America and influenced others to remain.

But it was from Gazel that the most startling evidence came.

The five witnesses who preceded him were all highly placed members of former governments. Gazel was and is a diplomat—tall, thin and bearing himself in a suave professional manner.

Before October 1939, Gazel testified, Petain already had drawn up lists of men he was considering as ministers in his prospective government.

Daladier was then prime minister. There was no question in those days of the "phoney war" or a change in the French government. The prosecution alleges that Petain, while still in Spain, made a statement that "next May, they are going to have need of me."

Gazel said nothing of that remark, but testified that on two occasions Petain showed him lists of men he said would become his ministers. Laval's name ap-

Terms Lauded As 7,000,000 Men Readied

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Senators tonight hailed the Potsdam "surrender-or-be-destroyed" ultimatum as likely to shorten the war with Japan.

The Truman-Churchill-Chiang Kai Shek statement served also to underscore Army plans to deploy 7,000,000 soldiers for one gigantic knockout punch unless the Nipponese enemy heeds the call to quit without quibbling.

Legislators who had been most outspoken in their demands for a specific definition of "unconditional surrender" were prompt with approval of the formula of Potsdam.

Wherry Enthusiastic

Said Senator Wherry (R-Neb) who only this week had demanded a blueprint of what this country would accept from Japan:

"I want to compliment the President of the United States for defining the terms of unconditional surrender. I believe it is a step in the right direction and that something will come of it."

Wherry asked permission to put the ultimatum in the Congressional record.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the foreign relations committee, shown a copy of the terms, told a reporter:

"I thoroughly approve the joint statement. Unless the Japanese intend to commit national harakiri they will surrender and save millions of lives of their people and their national existence. Unless they are determined to be engulfed in ruin, they will accept the terms."

7,000,000-Man Assault

Gen. Jacob L. Devers, new chief of Army ground forces, told a news conference that he hoped to get 7,000,000 men "redeployed against the Japanese in a single blow."

The 7,000,000 total will be the approximate size of the Army after partial demobilization. Devers explained that he did not mean the whole 7,000,000 will actually be on the firing line.

Even before the Potsdam proclamation was made public Japan's radio feeler for a "soft peace" had been sharply brushed aside here, both by State department and leading legislators.

Joseph C. Grew, acting secretary of state, declined even to dignify the enemy's newest feeler with a formal statement.

No Direct Reply

Asked for comment on last night's broadcast which in effect pleaded for modification of Allied demands, Grew sent out word through the department's press section that there would be no direct reply from this government.

But his July 10 statement still stands, he said.

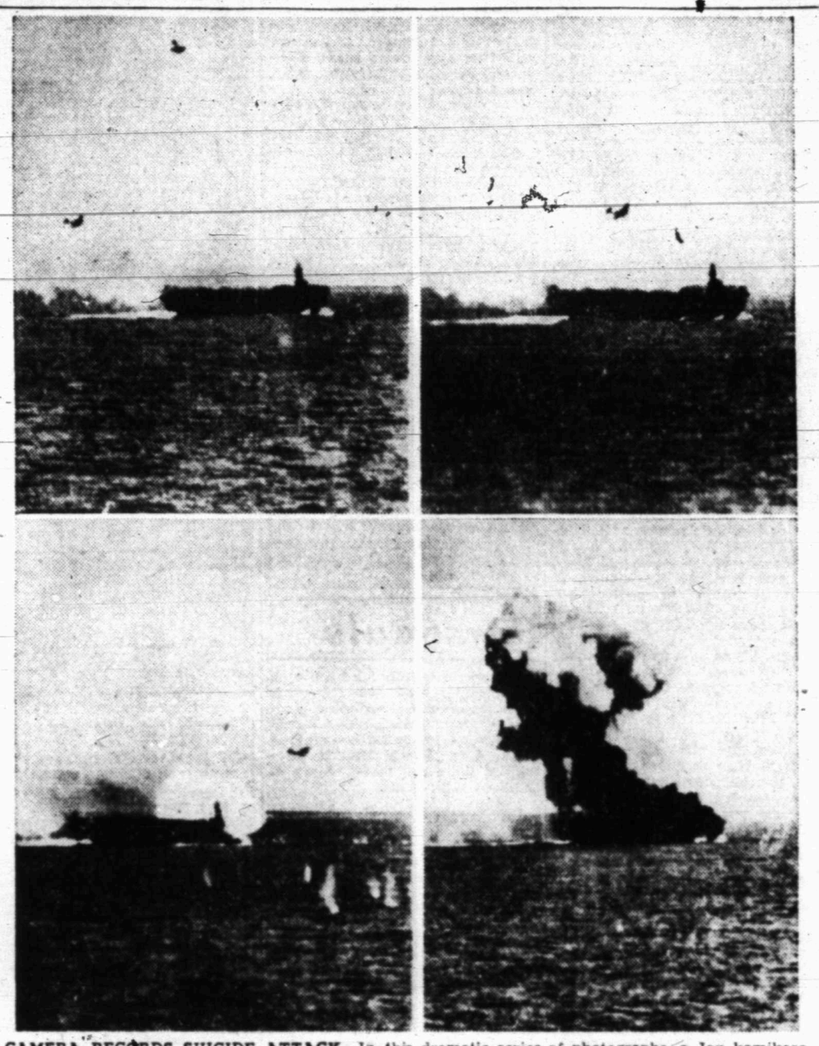

That statement was basically a repetition of previous warnings against what Grew called "a compromise peace with Japan, no matter how alluring such a peace may be or how desirous we may become of ending this terrible conflict." It added:

"Japanese militarism must and will be crushed. The policy of this government has been, is, and will continue to be unconditional surrender.

Reaction Summed Up

Senator Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the foreign relations committee, summed up the most common reaction in Congress:

"The fantastic suicide policy of Japanese airmen seems about to be adopted by the Japanese nation as a whole. Japanese unconditional surrender does not mean the annihilation of Japan. However, continued and futile resistance will mean the ruin of Japan."

Nips Told To Quit Or Face Destruction

By EDWARD D. BALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

POTSDAM, July 26.—The United States, Britain and China tonight demanded in an ultimatum stating "our terms" that Japan immediately surrender unconditionally or undergo "prompt and utter destruction."

Asked if Premier Stalin were aware of the ultimatum, Presidential Press Secretary Charles Ross said "Mr. Stalin's government is not at war with Japan."

Opportunity To Quit

President Truman, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and retiring Prime Minister Churchill asserted they "have conferred and agreed that Japan shall be given the opportunity to end this war."

Truman and Churchill drew up the document, and Chiang quickly concurred when it was submitted to him.

Their historic proclamation offered the Japanese people the hope of peaceful, productive lives if they submit now. It declared "points in Japanese territory" would be occupied.

Clearly stipulating "our terms" under such surrender, the ultimatum declared "we shall not deviate from them: There are no alternatives: We shall brook no delay."

Must Show Good Faith

"We call upon the government of Japan to proclaim now the unconditional surrender of all Japanese armed forces, and to provide proper and adequate assurances of their good faith in such action. The alternative for Japan is prompt and utter destruction," the ultimatum asserted.

Greater and more terrible Allied armed might than conquered Germany now is "poised to strike the final blows at Japan," it asserted.

The document will be broadcast to the Japanese people in every way possible by the OWI, Press Secretary Ross said.

The warning to Japan was phased thus:

"The prodigious land, sea, and air forces of the United States, the British Empire, and of China, many times reinforced by their armies and air fleets from the west, are poised to strike the final blows upon Japan.

Allied Determination

"This military power is sustained and inspired by the determination of all the Allied nations to prosecute the war against Japan until she ceases to resist.

"The result of the futile and senseless German resistance to the might of the aroused free peoples of the world stands forth in awful clarity as an example to the people of Japan.

"The might that now converges on Japan is immeasurably greater than that which, when applied to the resisting Nazis, necessarily laid waste to the lands, the industry, and the method of life of the whole German people."

City Orders Cost Estimate On Jail Building Expansion

After studying tentative plans for enlarging the City Jail building to more than twice its present size, the city commissioners at their regular meeting yesterday authorized the city manager to ask the architects to prepare an estimate of the project's cost.

The commissioners had previously authorized Haynes and Strange, local architects, to draft plans for the proposed structure, described by the commissioners as an "emergency" undertaking. The proposed plan provides for a four-lane pistol range in the basement where four officers may engage in target practice simultaneously.

Recreation Room Also

The basement will also house a recreation room, a wash room, space for the air-conditioner equipment, and a locker room.

On the first floor space will be provided for three new cell-blocks. The jury room will be left in its present location while the "dark room" will be converted into a storage room for police supplies, and will also be used to store the property of prisoners.

Action of the commissioners in recently ordering enlargement of the police force personnel by authorizing an 8-hour shift, and the need of larger prisoner accommodations are two of the conditions making the additional room necessary. Present quarters have become inadequate, officials explained, as the city has grown in size.

Widening Of 34th

The commissioners decided to investigate the possible purchase of properties that may have to be condemned to obtain right-of-way needed for the widening of Thirty-fourth St.—a project intended to relieve the growing congestion on Nineteenth.

They also discussed plans for removing "kinks" from Twenty-third, Twenty-fifth and other streets, which may be widened by condemnation proceedings and made to serve as through-city highways.

City Engineer Arch King told the commissioners that in his opinion "Twenty-third is a good street to put traffic on, because it does not hit a single school and only one park."

It was the consensus of the board to investigate and see if the city could purchase at a fair price certain properties in the path of the proposed extensions and widening projects. King advised the commissioners that the area south of Nineteenth is developing rapidly and that more through streets are badly needed. The widening projects proposed would necessitate the cutting of ten feet or more from several lots, it was disclosed.

Two Zoning Ordinances

Two zoning ordinances, Nos. 719 and 720 were passed on their first reading. No. 719 was an ordinance, drawn by City Atty. Vaughn Wilson, amending zoning ordinance No. 661 and removing certain property on Ave. J, between Nineteenth and Twenty-sixth, from C, D, and J districts and placing it in K zone Ordinance No. 720 established a building line on Ave. J from Nineteenth to Twenty-sixth. Property owners in this district will be given "not more than five years" in which to comply with the set-back line established by the new ordinance.

A hearing on changes, recommended by the City Zoning Commission for zoning in the Phillips addition, and the zoning of property recently taken into the city limits in the Wheelock Second addition and the re-zoning of the L district immediately south of East Twenty-sixth from East Ave. A to the Santa Fe property was set for the second meeting in August. The proposed re-zoning of Nineteenth will be taken up at the same time.

Two Carloads Of Sugar Due Here

(By The Associated Press)

The latest shipment of offshore sugars to Texas and Oklahoma—more than 5,000,000 pounds from Puerto Rica already docked at Houston—is destined for 33 Texas and four Oklahoma cities.

When such off shore sugars come in domestic refiners make efforts to step up distribution in communities which do not receive the off shore shipments, B. E. Trigg, regional OPA food ration officer at Dallas, explained.

The communities, and the number of carloads (each carload contains about 80,000 pounds) they are listed to receive include Austin, Corpus Christi, Tyler, Lubbock, Abilene, Wichita Falls, two each; Temple, Waco, San Angelo, Harlingen, El Paso, Amarillo, one each.

The OPA plans to bring in to Texas another shipment of Cuban sugar amounting to about 65,000 hundred-pound bags in August, supplementing 150,000 hundred-pound bags already brought in since June 15, Rep. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) said.

Offshore sugars are those refined outside the United States. Trigg said that domestic refiners are contacted by the Washington OPA office and spots which appear to have the most critical shortages are designated for offshore allotments.

Second Case Of Polio Diagnosed

The second case of poliomyelitis diagnosed in Lubbock this year—probably the first to have been contracted here — was reported Thursday afternoon to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

Dr. Rollo said an Abilene girl, 16-year-old Joyce Page, was the victim.

She had come to Lubbock approximately two months ago to visit with a Hill family at 605 Hub Homes and, almost two weeks ago, had gone to New Mexico on a visit.

Been Ill For Week

At Lubbock General hospital, where the diagnosis was made, a physician was told that the girl became ill a week ago. She had sore throat, headache, fever, soreness in the back, neck and muscular areas. She and friends concluded she was suffering effects of a sore throat.

Then, Wednesday night, her right arm became partially paralyzed.

The girl's physician diagnosed the case as a "slight involvement" as of the moment.

The first case of polio diagnosed here was that of Miss Joan Prouty, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker F. Prouty, of 3019 Twenty-first. Thursday she was reported "doing

Silence And Fog Cloak Fleet As Jittery Japs Warned Of Impending New Blows

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Friday, July 27—Radio silence cloaked the activities and whereabouts of Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet today as Allied strikes against the Japanese empire were confined to land-based aerial actions.

The last report on the great American and British force which smashed at the Japanese fleet remnants Tuesday and against bases on the inland sea Wednesday was contained in yesterday's communique, which said Wednesday's action was limited to hitting small vessels and damaging ground installations because of extremely bad weather.

Fleet Not Mentioned

Admiral Nimitz' communique today made no mention of Halsey's fleet.

Twenty-four of Japan's warships, including 14 carriers, battleships and cruisers, were damaged within a week—20 of them Tuesday.

Only the fog that rolled in Wednesday saved the Japanese from another crushing blow by the more than 1,250 U. S. and British carrier planes which wrought Tuesday's devastation.

While there was no new word from Halsey, Japanese broadcasts said they expected a return of the fleet and cautioned the empire to be vigilant.

The Japanese, also invasion jittery, began broadcasting advice to their citizens on the weapons the Allies were expected to use. The predicted flame-throwing tanks would lead the invasion forces on the beaches, but said there was no need to fear these monsters too much.

They also said Japan was turning to construction of wooden planes and expected transfer of one-third of the homeland's shipyard employes to manufacturing wooden aircraft.

In 15 days of relentless slugging, Admiral Nimitz' naval forces through Tuesday had sunk or damaged 620 Japanese ships—warships and merchant vessels—and destroyed or damaged 778 planes.

Results of Wednesday's interrupted raids have yet to be assessed except for a preliminary report that 39 enemy aircraft were knocked out.

Altogether, American and British planes sank or damaged 20 warships crowded in the waters of Japan's inland sea Tuesday, which, coupled with the July 18 raid on Yokosuka naval base in Tokyo bay, made a total of 24 warships put out of action within a week.

Only Skeleton Remains

Now should Japan, once the world's third greatest naval power, propose to put her fleet to sea its mauled remnants would be no match for a single task force out of Admiral Halsey's U. S. Third Fleet.

Best estimates are that Japan has at present in seaworthy condition and untouched by July's raids one battleship, an aircraft carrier, a few cruisers and perhaps 25 or so destroyers.

Some of her capital ships hit Tuesday were listed as only slightly damaged and could get into action quickly, but at least half of the ships will take some time for refitting and repair—if repair actually is possible under the repeated attacks which Halsey plans to deliver.

The American and British carrier planes roared out over 390 miles of the inland sea and the southern coast of Honshu Tuesday, seeking out the Japanese fleet which lay camouflaged and at anchor.

The fleet was known to be in hiding there since its heavy pounding last March.

Few Japanese planes rose to meet the challenge and 19 of them were shot out of the air.

B-29s Bash Three Cities; Doolittle Says Nips Will Be Nation Of Cityless Nomads

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Friday, July 27—More than 350 American B-29s firebombed three Japanese cities today in the third raid in four days of a blazing campaign which Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle declared would turn Nippon into a nation of cityless nomads.

The medium-sized force of Superforts struck before dawn, raining more than 2,200 tons of incendiaries on the industrial centers of Omuta, Matsuyama and Tokuyama, all in southwestern Japan.

Second For Omuta

It was the second fire raid on Omuta, important chemical center and coal port of 177,000 population on Kyushu island. The city previously was hit June 18.

Matsuyama and Tokuyama got their first baptism of American fire. They were hit previously with demolition bombs. The former city of 122,000 people, on the western coast of Shikoku island, is a factory community which produced cotton fabrics before the war. Tokuyama, at the southwestern end of Honshu island, has large chemical plants and an oil refinery and fuel tanks farms. Its population is 40,000.

The before-dawn attack by the Marianas-based Superforts of the 20th Air force followed a raid by 100 of the big bombers Wednesday midnight on oil plants near Tokyo and the record 625-plane mission Tuesday against the Osaka-Nagoya area.

Reach Full Strength

Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay disclosed here that the 20th Air force has now reached full operational strength, with five B-29 wings based on Guam, Tinian and Saipan.

He also reported, prior to today's raid, that reconnaissance had disclosed that devastation in Japan's urban industrial areas had reached 143 square miles in 39 cities.

Doolittle said in an interview with Associated Press Correspondent Richard Cushing on Okinawa that the B-29s of his Eighth Air force, redeployed from Europe, would be striking Japan in force by the end of next month.

Several days ago Doolittle as-

Japs Broadcast Only Brief Announcement

NEW YORK, Friday, July 27. (AP) — A Japanese news agency Domei broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, reported the British-American-Chinese ultimatum to Japan today in these words:

"A proclamation was issued in Potsdam yesterday (Thursday) in the name of Churchill, Truman and Chiang Kai-Shek calling upon the Japanese to announce unconditional surrender or see their homeland destroyed, Reuters reports from Potsdam. Stalin's name was conspicuous by its absence in the proclamation."

Allied Leaders Outline Surrender Terms For Japs

(By The Associated Press)

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, President Chiang Kai-Shek of China and retiring Prime Minister Churchill issued a joint proclamation today calling upon Japan to cease resistance or be destroyed.

Chiang, it was disclosed, had conferred with Truman and Churchill.

The joint proclamation, as broadcast by BBC from Potsdam, said:

"1. We, the President of the United States, the President of the National government of the Republic of China and the Prime Minister of Great Britain, representing the hundreds of millions of our countrymen, have conferred and agreed that Japan shall be given the opportunity to end this war.

"2. The prodigious land, sea and air forces of the United States, the British Empire and China, many times reinforced by their armies and air fleets from the west, are poised to strike the final blow at Japan. This military power is sustained and inspired by the determination of all Allied nations to prosecute the war against Japan until she ceases to resist.

"3. The result of futile and senseless German resistance to the might of aroused free people of the world is known.

"The might that now is converged on Japan is immeasurably greater than that which, when applied to the resisting Nazis, necessarily laid waste to its men, its industry and the method of life of the whole German people.

"The full application of our military power will mean the inevitable and complete destruction of the Japanese armed forces and the utter destruction of the Japanese homeland.

"4. The time has come that Japan must decide whether she will continue to be controlled by those self-willed military clique of traitors, whose unintelligent calculations have brought the empire of Japan to the threshold of annihilation, or whether she will follow the path of reason.

"5. The following are our terms. We will not deviate from them: There are no alternatives; we shall not accept delay.

"6. There must be eliminated for all times the authority and influence of those who have deceived and misled the people of Japan into embarking on world conquest, for we insist that a new order of peace, security and justice will be impossible until irresponsible militarism is driven from the world.

"7. Until such a new order is established and until there is convincing proof that Japan's war making power is destroyed, Japanese territory to be designated by the Allies shall be occupied to secure the achievement of the basic objective we are here setting forth:

"8. The terms of the Cairo declaration shall be carried out and Japanese sovereignty shall be limited to the islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu, Shikoku and such minon islands as we determine.

"9. Japanese military forces after being completely disarmed shall be permitted to return to their homes with the opportunity to lead peaceful and productive lives.

"10. We do not intend that the Japanese shall be enslaved as a race or destroyed as a nation, but stern justice shall be meted out to all war criminals including those who have visited cruelties upon our prisoners.

"The Japanese government shall remove all obstacles to the revival of democratic tendencies among the Japanese people. Freedom of speech and religion and of thought, as well as respect for fundamental human life shall be established.

"11. Japan shall be permitted to maintain such industries as will sustain her economy and permit the payment of just reparation in kind, but not those industries which will enable her to rearm for war.

"To this end access to, as distinguished from control of, raw materials shall be permitted. Eventual Japanese participation in world trade relations shall be permitted."

The Woman's Angle

By JAMIE HYATT
(Pinchhitting today for Margaret Turner, who is Now On Vacation)

IF you haven't already been past South Plains Army Air field and seen the hundreds upon hundreds of B-17 Flying Fortresses that are stored out there, you should take the bus to work for a couple of days and drive out on the gasoline you save. Be sure and take the kids—it's a treat no self-respecting parent should deny his child. . . . Remember when your dad took you out to see your first plane back around 1920? With the sophistocation of the modern child, the sight of approximately a third of the Eighth Air force, back from combat, will put him about as high as you were when you saw your first barn-stormer.

We were out at SPAAF the other day and were allowed to take a little walk around a section of the field where the big bombers were parked. We came to a definite and world-shaking conclusion, to wit: there isn't anything as American as an American boy, and the evidence is right there on the planes—all over them, in fact.

On practically every plane, the gunners have painted the name of their particular gun. For example, a plane will have the waist-gun position named Betty, the top turret gun named Josephine, the tail-turret gun named Agnes, and so on. One plane, the "Doodit," which flew 76 missions, has a girl's face painted on the end of the tail-turret position. As the plane would pull away from the Jerries, they would be smiled at, supposing they were in a condition to see, by a voluptuous girl. On the sides of the tail-turret were painted the names of such friends of the tail-gunner as Joan, Everett, Bessie, Ruby, Harold, Olive, Genny and Patsy. Going even farther in being clever, the missions of the "Doodit" are marked with pictures of Hitler's face with bombs where his bangs are supposed to be. (Pun unintentional.)

A LARGE number of the B-17s have been on 100 or more missions. Flak patches are numerous on the big planes, adding rather than detracting from their glamor. These are the babies that really flew bombing missions—they weren't playing, even if they are taking a rest here until they are needed somewhere else. The original two planes that landed at SPAAF after the Air Tactical command reactivated the field, flew straight to the field from Tunisia with their original crews. Now the combat crew flies them, with combat returnees as passengers, to the East Coast, then they are turned over to the ATC for their trip to Lubbock.

When a gunner got credit for shooting down a Messerschmitt, he put the sign of the Nazi swastika on his gun position, along with the names of his girl friend and assorted other people. Never let it be said that the commissioned officers who fly in combat do all the good. Guess who played rough with the fighter planes that tried to intercept the heavy bombers? If you still haven't caught on, it was the aerial gunners, of whom there are quite some few now stationed at SPAAF.

One of the Fortresses on the field, nameless but bearing the same shark's head as Gen. Clair Chenault's famous fighters, bears a goodly collection of battle-scars that show up only in shiny patches. The plane flew 85 missions before flying to South Plains. Some of the other bombers that we, in our excitable way of dreaming something up, had chosen as burned ones, are the older B-17s with camouflage paint on them.

TO prove that the men flying the planes had a pretty vivid imagination in choosing the names for their ships, here are a few we particularly noticed. Most of them are parked beside the road where you can see them, too. In the tongue-in-cheek class are Not Today, Cleo; Rain Check; Not Yet; Here 'Tis; Sweet Dreams; and You Can't Lose. For the slightly ribald type there is Epsom Salts—Just Passing Thru; Awful Offal; Splurgin' Virgin; Heil Hell; and Maguire's Chop House of Richards, Klatt and Nelson, Inc., which has a Chick Sale for decoration beside the name.

In a general classification is included such titles as Hell's Angel, D-Day Doll, Brooklyn Babe, Jackson Pirate, Bold Eagle, Buzz Boy, Southern Comfort, Bouncing Betty, 3rd and Pretty Baby. But for numbers, there isn't any classification that competes with the names of girls—mostly wives and sweethearts. South Plains Army Air field is just covered with Flying Forts named Evelyn, Betty, Joan, Jeanne, ad infinitum.

Party Series Is For Miss Keller

Miss Evelyn Keller, bride-elect of Sgt. Merlin Cooper, stationed at Tacoma, Wash., is being honored with a party series this week. She will be married Monday night at 8:30 o'clock at First Methodist church.

Shower Given Monday Night

The bride elect was presented with a china coffee set at a gift shower given Monday night at Hotel Lubbock. A mirror bearing a miniature bride and bride groom, surrounded by roses and white candles in crystal holders, centered the service table.

Those present were Mesdames Pauline Blevins, Dorothy Tanner, Virgie Wright, Beatrice Boling, Nelly Walls, Gentry Gallimore, Wilma Collins and Ada Austin; Misses Ellen O'Hair, Lenora Averstock, Kitty Bonds, Frances Gilbreath, LaVerne Duke, Ethel Young, Raydean Scott, Asalaine Wall, Betty Lee Pierce and Velma Keller.

Breakfast This Morning

The T. A. Hilins home at 1622 Thirteenth was the scene for a breakfast and crystal shower given Thursday morning, honoring the bride elect.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wayne Warren and Mrs. Lloyd Price.

An arrangement of yellow carnations and bluebells centered the table. Plate favors were tiny corsages of yellow gladioli and bluebells.

Other guests were Velma Keller, sister of the bride-elect, Mrs. Walker Moreau, Mrs. Carl Kight, Mrs. Joe Crotola, and Mrs. Paul Warren.

Miss M. Street Is Honored At Coffee

Miss Eleanor Jackson entertained Thursday morning with a coffee in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jackson, at 2113 Sixteenth to honor her house guest, Miss Marjorie Street, of Graham. Miss Street is a 1945 graduate of Texas Technological college where she was a member of DFD social club.

The tea table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and decorated with phlox and sweetpeas. In the living room were arrangements of the same flowers. Miss Barbara Jackson, sister of the hostess, poured. Miss Betty Ann Norman presided at the guest book.

Thirty guests called.

Jimmy Burnam Feted On Third Birthday

Jimmy Burnam, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Burnam of 2318 Seventh, was honored with a birthday party given Wednesday afternoon at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. W. V. Lewis of 1318 Twenty-eighth.

Hostesses were Mrs. Burnam, Mrs. Clovis Eastland, Miss Billie Lewis, Mrs. Ed Wilson, Mrs. Glenn Harris, Mrs. Jeff Graham and Mrs. E. Pierce.

Guests were Linda Kay Harris, Billy Lou Osburn, Kara Evans, Pat and Barbara Hays, Sue Slack, Ann Price, Kay Eudy, Bill Graham, Mary Jean and Jane Wilson, Pricilla Price, Glenda Kay and Robert Bill Harris, Darlene Fowler and Claudine Burnam.

Jimmy's great-grandfather, W. J. Mansel of Hollywood, Calif., who is visiting in the Burnam home, was also present.

1941 Needle Club Has Theater Party

A theater party was given for 1941 Needle club Thursday afternoon and members went to a drug store for refreshments.

Attending were Mesdames W. A. Pettey, A. E. Dietering, Meritt Clark and son, Olen Perryman, J. O. Pope and C. F. Henry and son.

The club will meet Aug. 9 at 3:30 p. m. with Mrs. Wesley B. Smith, 1309 Twenty-fourth.

Wedding Of Miss Bynum, A-C Williamson Is Announced; Ceremony Read In Amarillo

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bynum of Levelland are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Doris, to A/C Warren Joe Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Williamson of Amarillo, which took place July 14 in the parlor of the Amarillo Polk Street Methodist church.

MRS. W. J. WILLIAMSON

Wedding music, "I Love You Truly" and "Always," was presented by Miss Betty Blair, pianist, and Miss Nola Margaret Jolly, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white crepe dress with navy accessories. She had a white halo hat and an orchid corsage.

Attendants Named

Miss Margy Bynum of Odessa and cousin of the bride was maid of honor. Miss Veda Hodges of Amarillo was bridesmaid. Both wore dresses of navy blue, white accessories and white carnation corsages

Conrad Lohoeffer served as best man.

A reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's parents following the ceremony. Baskets of garden flowers and tapers were used to decorate. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and military bridegroom.

Among out of town wedding guests was Mrs. E. G. Abbott of Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Technological college where she majored in speech. For the past several months she has been employed in Amarillo.

Remarkable Medical Record Made On Okinawa Despite Many Hazards

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

OKINAWA—Okinawa presented American armies with the blackest battlefield conditions of World war 2, from a medical view, but thanks to the planning and genius of American medical men, the non-battle casualty rate may turn out to be the lowest in military history.

The battle wounded were 29,598 out of 125,000 fighting men. The non-battle casualties were far fewer, with a total of 21,716. The non-battle casualties include battle exhaustion cases and psychoneurosis.

Chief Surgeon Reticent

With professional reticence Col. Frederic B. Westervelt, Tenth Army chief suregon, said he had been unable to find any instance in military history, prior to the Okinawa campaign, where fewer men were disabled by non-battle causes than by battle injuries; nevertheless he is unwilling to make any claim for establishing a record.

The American success was accomplished, said Westervelt, through a combination of excellent planning and execution and good luck.

Long before the Okinawa campaign ever was decided upon Tenth Army doctors had started studying Pacific disease conditions.

Many Inoculations

American soldiers were given inoculations for every Okinawa disease it was possible to inoculate against — typhus, cholera, bubonic plague.

"Studying the statistics of this campaign, the results are too good to be true," said Westervelt. "There must be a joker some place, but I've been unable to find it."

For one thing, the Americans landed in cool weather. It was planned that way, so mosquitoes would be dormant and snakes hibernating.

Contact With Natives

It was feared that contact with natives would infect soldiers but the natives moved out ahead of the fighting and there was little contact.

The late Lt. Gen. Simon B. Buckner, jr., 10th Army commander, gave orders that every village his troops had to occupy should be burned to the ground, to eliminate such disease as typhus.

Three days after invasion day U. S. planes were spraying the island with the powerful insecticide, DDT. Snakes were captured and their venom was flown to the United States, to be made into serum.

Plainview Flier And Pals Execute Squeeze Play Against Japs

OKINAWA (Delayed) — Football's squeeze play, as applied to sky-fighting, paid dividends during an air battle between four Marine fighter pilots and 12 enemy airmen.

The Marine fliers intercepted the Japs five miles north of Tokuno Shima in the Amami-O Shima group and shot down four of them.

Flying new F4U Corsair fighter-bombers, the division was lead by 1st Lt. Martin T. Tiernan of Essex Falls, N. J. with 2nd Lt. Roy A. McAllister of Plainview, Tex., leading the second section of the flight.

The Leathernecks attacked from an altitude of 10,000 feet. The enemy flight leader, from his position 2,000 feet below, saw the Marine planes coming and led his formation into a cloud bank. That was when the Marines executed a perfect squeeze play.

Half of the Marine planes climbed above the cloud bank, McAllister's half dove under it. The Japs played right into the hands of the waiting Marines. They split formation and Tiernan and his wingman each got on the tail of a Tojo fighter and, with one blast, sent them crashing into the ocean. The surviving four fled at high speed.

Below the clouds, the scene was repeated. McAllister and his wingman jumped two enemy fighters who dared to come out of the clouds and with perfectly placed bursts, shot them down.

Lt. McAllister is the son of Roy A. McAllister, sr., of Plainview.

Nino Martini Visits His Family In Italy While On USO Tour

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK, July 26 — From Nurnberg on the Pegnitz, where Metropolitan Opera Tenor and Film Star Nino Martini was singing for the USO, to Verona on the Adige, home of the family he hadn't seen since 1938, is about 250 miles.

"How far away is Verona, anyway?" the handsome Nino asked a colonel who had a flock of planes at his disposal.

"Just over the Alps. Why?"

"Well . . . I was wondering. My family is there, and I haven't seen them for seven years."

"What are you doing tomorrow?" the colonel asked.

"My day off."

So with official permission, and taking along an American general as hitchhiker, they flew across the Alps, from Nurnberg to Verona in an hour and a quarter.

"My people were very skinny," Martini reported this week when he came back to New York for a few days.

He has three sisters, six nephews and two brothers-in-law, one of whom is believed to be a prisoner of the Russians. He owns the house in which they live, but he never before had seen it.

Martini gave one USO program in his native country, the first time he had sung there since he won fame in this country. (He came to the U. S. in 1929 and is now a citizen.) As guest of the mayor and the military governor, he also attended a civilian symphony concert. His family was invited, too, and it took four Army cars to get them all there.

His family also was invited to an Army dinner. Col. M. A. Lazar of Chicago was host. It was the first time the sisters and nephews had seen white bread in some four years.

Martini wants to tour again. He would like to sing "Butterly" in Tokyo.

Pfc. Fite Marvels Over Peculiar Luck

EL PASO (Special)—Still marvelling over his peculiar luck with a German shell last winter is Pfc. Horace Fite who was wounded while serving as a radio infantryman. His Lubbock residence is at 2301 Tenth.

He had just snapped the headphones of his radio over his head when a German mortar shell exploded near by, blowing the radio to bits. The shell ripped the radio from the headphones. Pfc. Fite was left uninjured with the soundless headphones over his head.

He was in action with the 94th Infantry Division in France and Germany. On January 18, he was wounded in the right hand by shrapnel from a German artillery shell.

Pfc. Fite was evacuated to the States for treatment at William Beaumont General hospital here where he arrived July 3. His wife, the former Sallie Ann Taylor of Crosbyton lives in Lubbock.

Pfc. Fite, a former student at Texas Tech, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fite of Childress.

MORE BEES IN STATE

AUSTIN, July 26 (U.P.)—Without a forecast of the amount of Texas honey production for the year, the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Statistics, reported here today that there are more bee colonies in the state this year, than last year. The number of colonies on July 1 was placed at 231,000, or nine per cent more than the 212,000 colonies of a year earlier.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that among the more than 6,500,000 farms in the country, one in 37 had a disastrous experience with fires between 1936 and 1940.

Destruction Of Jap Fleet Clears Way For Realignment Of Strength

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Analyst

The disappearance, to all practical purposes, of the Japanese fleet clears the way for a new alignment of world naval strength which sees the United States, with its 1,322 fighting ships built in five war years, definitely installed as master of the seas with its two-ocean Navy.

The French fleet, sunk at Mers El Kebir or scuttled at Toulon, is only a memory. The Richelieu, a comparatively new 35,000-ton battleship, is its only major unit. It has no carriers and too few cruisers.

German Fleet Gone

What was left of the German fleet was very little and it is entirely in the hands of the United Nations.

Much of the Italian fleet survived by the simple process of remaining coy and hidden and refusing battle. Italy's fleet is today perhaps the third strongest in the world.

The terms of the Italian armistice are said to oblige Italy to surrender 15 units of her fleet to Russia. Numerous small units, particularly submarines have been "lent" to the Allies and are in action in the Far East against the common enemy, Japan. Italy hopes the basis of her present participation in the fight against Japan to be able to keep her fleet at the final peace conference.

France and Italy were once naval rivals in the Mediterranean Now the very small Spanish fleet rivals the French fleet in strength.

Reds To Strengthen Fleet

It is historically interesting that at the same time our naval guns and our carrier and land-based planes are destroying almost completely the Japanese fleet, Russia has announced her intention of establishing a stronger Red fleet in the Pacific. It is 41 years ago that Russia disappeared as a world naval power by the destruction of her fleet by the Togo-led Japanese Navy in those same eastern waters.

Now, as the Jap fleet goes down under American blows Russia rises as a naval power again. If Generalissimo Stalin's statement is followed by action, Russia may be the second strongest Pacific naval power when war ends.

Stalin's Statement

Stalin said last Saturday, during the Soviet observance of Red Navy day, that the Russian people want a "still stronger and mightier Navy and will create new fighting ships and new bases for it." Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said yesterday in a dispatch from Vladivostok that "an undisclosed number" of warships had already been added to the Red Far Eastern fleet.

A British agency dispatch from Zurich which announced that six Italian destroyers, and torpedo boats had already left Italian ports manned by Russian crews and flying the Red flag. However, this dispatch was denied by the Italian government.

Regardless of the shifting of Russian strength to the Far East, no foreign navy in any of the five oceans can ever touch the American Navy for strength or numbers, at least until we cease naval building and voluntarily lay up our ships.

1,500 U. S. Warships

Washington announced last week that the U. S. Navy now has 1,500 warships of all types and about 100,000 auxiliary vessels. More than 200 more major warships will join the fleet by the end of 1946 because 223 major ships are in process of building. Our fighting Navy's tonnage has increased from 1,313,390 tons as of July 1, 1940, to more than 4,454,000 tons as of July 1, 1945, plus 9,000,000 tons of auxiliary vessels.

Still being built are two line battleships, 3 aircraft carriers of the 45,000-ton class, 9 carriers of the 27,100-ton class, two 14,500-ton carriers and 26 escort carriers or "baby flat-tops, 42 cruisers of all categories, 87 destroyers, 16 destroyer-escorts and 36 subs—a sizeable navy in itself, equal in size to any navy now afloat with the except of the British fleet.

Childress Water Said Not Contaminated

CHILDRESS, July 25. (U.P.)—Recent arguments over the sanitation of the Childress water supply system were apparently settled today, following receipt by Mayor C. V. Jones of a letter from Lt. Col. Edward P. Leeper, surgeon at the Childress Army Air field station hospital.

Mayor Jones said that tests taken by Dr. Leeper in four sections of the city had failed to show an excessive growth of bacteria and no evidence of contamination.

Problems Involving Returning Veterans Cited At Club Lunch

Elmer East, Lubbock National bank vice president; W. P. Clement, Texas Tech registrar; W. C. O'Mara, Sears-Roebuck manager; Jack Hall, county service officer; and Rev. John A. Winslow of the St. Paul Episcopal church cited problems facing the community with the return of war veterans at the Lubbock Kiwanis Thursday luncheon program in the Lubbock hotel. Grady West was program chairman.

Each speaker covered a phase of returning veterans' problems, East explaining various portions of the G. I. Bill of Rights concerning loans; Clement giving facts on the educational provisions; O'Mara, citing the employers' responsibility; Hall telling of the work done by the service office and Winslow stressing the spiritual side of the problem.

Veterans Need Housing

"We're going to have as many veterans as we can take care of," Clement said in his talk, pointing out that "veterans are walking the streets today, hunting apartments and places in which to live so that they may attend school this fall." He declared housing for the veterans, many of whom are married, presents the greatest problem at the present time.

East and O'Mara both advised individual analysis of each veteran's case in solving their financial and employment problems, East pointing out that it was necessary to council with veterans regarding their financial problems due to the fact that they have been out of contact with the business world for several years and conditions have changed greatly during that time.

Rev. Winslow declared it was up to the community to see that "the church was no ladies aid society" for the returning veteran. "These men have been living in a man's world these past several years and when they return they'll want a man's church waiting for them."

Out-of-town visitors at the luncheon included: Cong. Geo. Mahon, Chas. C Thompson of Colorado City, Russell Redding of Newton, N. C., W. A. King of Fort Worth, Capt. Chas. E. Maedgen, jr., and John W. Taylor of Ardmore, Pa.

Housing Is Sought For Students At Dallas

DALLAS, July 26. (U.P.)—More than 200 students at Southern Methodist university are seeking housing accommodations, as university officials issued an emergency call for all available rooms within a reasonable distance of the campus.

"We are in desperate straits," Laurence H. Fleck, assistant to the president and superintendent of housing, said. He attributed the housing shortage to increased enrollment from out-of-town and of returning servicemen.

Second Division Back Home; Due For Pacific

SAN ANTONIO, July 26. (U.P.)—The famous Second division reached home here yesterday. After serving overseas, the 1,000 strong outfit reached Fort Sam Houston, the home of the veterans since the end of World war I. They will be given 30-day furloughs before beginning their re-deployment training for transfer to the Pacific theater of war.

Only a few of the old-timers were reported left in the Second division. They will take their training at Camp Swift, Tex.

ADVANCE PARTIES ARRIVE

BASTROP, July 26. (U.P.)—Advanced parties from the Second (Indian Head) division have arrived at Camp Swift near here, where the division will reecive redeployment training for the Pacific.

Return was a year to the day after the division launched the Allies' break-through at Saint Lo.

Airport Construction Is Planned In Dallas

DALLAS, July 26. (U.P.) — City councilmen today had ordered bids for $1,500,000 in public improvement bonds for Aug. 8, to keep preliminary work for the master plan in progress for post-war construction.

The bonds are ones authorized by voters in elections.

Airport work, including expansion of Love field and possible construction of Redbird airport southwest of Oak Cliff for private flying, was to receive some $1,000,000 of the issue.

Serve your family Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to improve diet 5 different ways!

Start reinforcing your family's menus today with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and its protective food elements! Just see how much nutrition you get in 1 ounce!

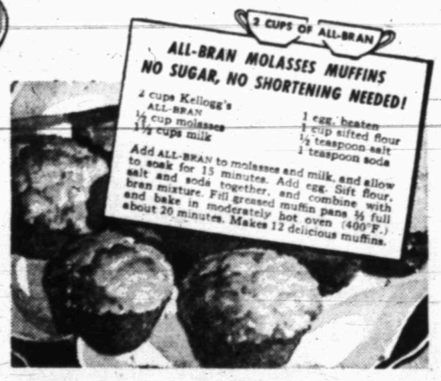

IRON. One ounce of ALL-BRAN provides more than ⅓ of your daily minimum need for iron!

OTHER MINERALS. Weight for weight, 4 times as much phosphorus, nearly 3 times as much calcium, as whole wheat!

VITAMINS. Twice as much riboflavin, 3 times as much niacin, and just as much thiamin, as whole wheat.

PROTEIN. ALL-BRAN served with milk gives you a good amount of excellent-quality protein.

GENTLE LAXATION. A grand aid when elimination is faulty owing to lack of bulk in the diet. And it doesn't interfere with normal digestion, either!

A cereal made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat!

ALL-BRAN is made from the vital outer layers of wheat, in which are concentrated important protective nutrients found in the whole, ripe grain. It's carefully toasted—milled extra fine for golden softness. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's today! Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Points For Nearly All Beef Cuts Reduced; Order Effective Sunday

By HELENE MONBERG
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 26—Reductions of one to two red points a pound for nearly all cuts of beef, lamb and veal were announced today by the Ofice of Price Administration for the ration period beginning Sunday.

The biggest cut will be on boneless beef rump roasts, which go down three points a pound. Hamburger, nearly all steaks, lamb loin and rib chops and veal leg and shoulder roasts were reduced two points for the August period.

Other Values Unchanged

The present point values of all cuts of pork, canned fish, fats and oil and dairy products will remain unchanged in August. Creamery butter continued at 16 points a pound.

Point values for many kosher beef, veal and lamb cuts also will be reduced from one to two points a pound during the new rationing period.

"The Department of Agriculture reports some improvement in meat supplies for civilians, chiefly as the result of lower military purchases. This, along with butter distribution, permitted OPA to make the reductions," Price Administration Chester Bowles said. He estimated that the civilian meat supply would be 11 per cent greater in August than in July.

To Ease Present Strain

The reduced point values of beef, lamb and veal and the recent reduction of creamery butter, Bowles said, will ease the present "strain on red point budgets."

The most recent cut in military buying of meat came yesterday when the armed forces lowered their demand on better grades of beef from 25 to 20 per cent for August and on the lower grades from 65 to 55 per cent.

To Get Extra Poundage

The reduction in percentages, however, does not mean fewer pounds of beef for the services because total production is expected to be higher. It does mean that civilians will get the extra poundage produced.

Food officials said the armed forces would have had a surplus if they had continued to claim the same percentage. Civilians, who have been getting less than the 125 pounds of meat theoretically coming to them each year, now should be able to buy more nearly their full share.

The civilian meat picture also has improved somewhat as result of the government's recent action in halting the set-aside of lamb and reducing the share of pork and veal earmarked for government agencies. These cuts were made possible in part by suspension of lend-lease shipments of meat.

Seminole Soldier Had Part In Successful Scout Patrol Mission

44TH CAVALRY RECONNAISANCE TROOP — Sgt. Selman C. Cooke of Seminole, Tex., his lieutenant and another man, undertook the mission of finding out the enemy's strength and positions prior to the final assault which took the 44th division across Germany through the vaunted Nazi "redoubt of Bavaria and into the Tyrolean Alps to crush the Nazi 19th army. The Cavalrymen were given orders to "find out if the two ridges ahead of our Infantry are occupied and if so, how."

Sgt. Cooke, leading the way, probed every advance inch of ground for land mines by bayonet point before moving up. Surrounded by the ominous stillness of the night, tiny noises of raincoats being drawn tighter or scraping of boots were quickly picked up by the Cavalrymen, fearing that they came from hidden enemy gunners in every bush.

As the trio reached the first ridge, an enemy flare lighted up the field in a harsh glare. Hitting the dirt, they lay motionless for what seemed hours, waiting or the inevitable rain of steel. To their amazement, no shot was fired, and as the flarelight died down, they inched their way back through Nazi machinegun nests to their command post, apparently undetected by the enemy. Back in their own lines, the reports on enemy forces were given and in a matter of minutes, American artillery and mortars crashed down on the sleeping Germans.

Water Pumpage Here Sets Record In June

A new all-time high of 277,411,000 gallons of water pumped by the city pumping station during June has been set, according to the city engineer's office report.

The previous high record was September, 1943, when 255,200,000 gallons were used here. The amount used during the past month represented a 8.7 per cent increase over the previous high month.

In May this year, 238,670,000 gallons were pumped. The increase in the amount pumped in June over May's total was 20.1 per cent. Despite this increase in water pumped, the city wells showed small reduction in capacity, according to the engineer's statistics.

The largest amount of water pumped here in a single day during June was on the 27th, when 10,960,000 gallons were pumped June's daily average was 9,247,000 gallons.

Blind War Worker Is Charged In Bomb Case

BEAUMONT, July 26 (U.P.)—U. S. District Attorney Steve M. King said today that Maurice Knapp, 34-year-old blind Ohio war worker who allegedly mailed a homemade bomb to a young Beaumont woman, has been released on $10,000 bond at Hattiesburg, Miss.

The case will be acted upon during the fall term of federal court here, King said.

Knapp was arrested in Hattiesburg by federal officers several days after the bomb — charged with shotgun shells and set to detonate upon opening—was delivered through the mails to Miss Doris Peveto, 19, who was rumored to have spurned the blind war worker.

Make Velva Fruit Ices

Like fruit ices? Then use your naturally sweetened fruit supplies — berries, peaches, grapes, any fruit that's fully ripe. Mash, sweeten, add gelatin and freeze. It's a wonderful dessert.

Working jointly with the Western Regional Laboratory of the Bureau of Agricultural and Industrial Chemistry the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics has adopted the commercial method to home use. Directions are given here for making the fruit puree from fresh fruit in summer.

Velva Fruit Recipe
(Approximately 1 gallon)

Six cups fruit puree, 1½ to 2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice (omit for acid fruits), ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin, ½ cup water.

Mix fruit puree, sugar, lemon juice if used, and salt. Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes to soften, then dissolve by heating over boiling water 10 minutes.

Fruit puree should be cool (70 degrees F.) when added to gelatin. If it is too cold, the gelatin will congeal; if too warm, the mixture will expand too much when whipped in the freezer.

Add puree mixture slowly to the gelatin, stirring continuously. Pour into ice-cream freezer. Using a mixture of 8 parts ice to 1 part salt, freeze 20 minutes or until the crank turns hard and the mixture is firm and clings to dasher. Remove dasher. Velva Fruit may be served soft-frozen or after hardening several hours.

To harden Velva Fruit, cover container closely, drain water from freezer, pack with more ice, using 3 parts ice to 1 part salt.

Or pack frozen Velva Fruit at once into moisture-vapor-resistant cartons. Place at once in freezer cabinet so dessert won't soften and later form coarse ice crystals.

Or turn frozen fruit into trays of mechanical refrigerator for a few hours to harden before serving. Set temperature control at lowest point.

To make Velva Fruit in a mechanical refrigerator: While many people enjoy the fruity flavor of Velva Fruit made in a mechanical refrigerator, it will not be as velvety nor increase so much in volume as when frozen in an ice-cream freezer. Place fruit mixture in trays, turn temperature control to lowest point, and freeze until firm. Turn into a chilled bowl, and beat with a wooden spoon or electric mixture until mixture lightens in color, increases in volume, and has a smooth texture. Work quickly so mixture does not completely melt. Return Velva Fruit to refrigerator trays a few hours to harden.

RECIPE FROM FRANCE
Ragout de Boeuf
Boiled New Potatoes
Toasted French Bread
Minced Pineapple
(Recipes serve four)

Ragout de Boeuf

3 medium-sized carrots	cut in cubes
3 onions	1 bay leaf
3 tomatoes	2 cloves
3 tablespoons butter or margarine	¼ teaspoon marjoram
1½ lbs. top round	1 teaspoon salt
	¼ teaspoon pepper
	Water

Slice carrots, onions and tomatoes; Melt two tablespoons of the butter or margarine in an earthenware casserole or a kettle and saute the vegetables about three minutes. Meanwhile brown the meat in the remaining butter or margarine in a saucepan or skillet. When meal is nicely browned all over add it to the vegetables with two cups of water, salt and pepper, bay leaf, cloves and marjoram. Simmer gently for three hours covered. Add water if necessary.

CANNED STRAWBERRIES
(Will Not Float)

½ pound sugar
2 pounds strawberries
1 cup strawberry juice

Boil together sugar and strawberry juice in a porcelain enameled saucepan. Cool and add the whole strawberries, then boil 5 minutes. Cover the pan and set aside overnight or at least four hours. Pack into clean, sterile jars, filling to within 1-2 inch of the top. Adjust the cover according to manufacturer's instructions and process in a boiling water bath canner for 15 minutes.

To get the most out of your sweet peppers, pick them red instead of green as they increase in carotene and ascorbic acid as they turn red.

Directions Given On Preparation Of Garden Produce For Lockers

You may not have acquired a deep-freeze unit for your own home. However, after the war is over and production starts, you will very likely want one, especially if you have your own fruit and vegetable garden.

There are thousands of community deep-freeze lockers throughout the country. If one of these is available to you, you will want to know how to prepare your garden produce for freezing.

If they are prepared, frozen and stored properly, vegetables particularly are as near to the just-from-the-vine state as you'll ever get them out of season. Nutritionally, they're frequently better than so-called "fresh" foods bought in the market.

Learning how to prepare fruits and vegetables properly for quick-freezing is not difficult, but warning should be given. Every step in the preparation is important. You will have waste and spoilage if you don't do it right.

Here are some important things to remember, as set down by one of the big companies which will be ready to sell you a home deep-freezer after the war.

1. Freezing will not make good food out of bad. Always select and freeze foods of good quality.

2. If you grow your own fruits and vegetables for freezing, your State Department of Agriculture can tell you which varieties freeze best. This varies in different localities.

3. Speed in handling from harvesting to freezing is of utmost importance whether you use a community locker or a home freezer.

4. Frozen foods will dry out if not properly wrapped and packaged in suitable moisture-vapor-proof material.

5. When placing liquid or semi-liquid food in containers, never fill more than 9/10ths full to allow for expansion during freezing.

6. When the storage compartment is held at zero degrees Fahrenheit, most foods properly prepared will keep for approximately a year.

Always label any package of food you prepare for quick-freezing with the contents and date frozen, so that you can keep track of the length of time foods have

Blanching

Blanching vegetables (not necessary for most fruits) helps maintain original taste and quality. Prepare vegetables the way you do for cooking. For blanching process be sure that utensils and water are clean and pure. The boiling water method of blanching is the simplest for home preparation. Here are the necessary steps:

1. Bring an ample quantity of water to the boil (6-10 quarts for blanching a pound of vegetables).

2. Place vegetables in wire

BLANCH with boiling water.

basket or strainer and immerse completely in boiling water.

3. Count blanching time from the moment the water begins to boil again. Time varies for different vegetables and different sizes of the same vegetables.

4. As soon as the blanching is completed cool the vegetables as rapidly as possible, by placing them in ice water or cold running tap water. Drain.

Be sure to have moisture, vapor-proof packaging ready and

COOL with ice water.

package the vegetables immediately. Care must be taken to force as nearly as possible all the air from the package before it is sealed with heat—which can be done with a curling iron or a hot flat iron. The usual inner package is a celophane bag, which is then put into a cardboard box for freezing.

Prepare only a few vegetables at a time—say, enough for three or four boxes. Store each in the refrigerator as its preparation is completed if you are taking them to a community locker later.

Economical Baking For Fluffy Cake

Cake is news when you can bake one with half the ration points, and less cost for shortening, in addition to saving time and energy in its preparation.

Now, especially, a method like this is real good fortune, a delicious proof for your family that hot days and the slim times of war rationing only stimulate your imagination and ingenuity in maintaining even surpassing—the usual quality of your meals with a delicious cake for dessert.

Everyone wants to bake a cake that is richer, tendered, lighter and finer in texture, and one that stays fresh longer.

Here's a recipe so simple that you will never want to use any other method:

Chocolate Cake

1½ cups cake flour (sifted before measuring)
1 1-4 cups sugar
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
2 squares melted bitter chocolate
½ cup milk

Stir in vigorously by hand or with mixer (medium speed) 2 minutes. Now stir in (yes, all by itself): 3-4 teaspoon baking powder.

To this mixture add:
½ cup milk
2 eggs (unbeaten)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend by hand or in mixer (medium speed) two minutes. The batter will be smooth and thin. Pour into pans rubbed with shortening and lined with waxed paper. Bake in preheated oven or the required time, and frost with your favorite frosting.

Bake in two 9-inch layers (1½ inch deep) oblong pan (8"x12") or as cup cakes. Baking temperature: 350 degrees F. Baking time: 25-30 minutes for layer cake; 30-35 minutes for oblong; and 15-20 minutes for cup cakes.

If white shoes are cleaned with a liquid dressing be sure to clean them off your feet and let them dry thoroughly before wearing. If worn moist from cleaning they may stretch out of shape.

To store cantaloupe melons, cut them in two, remove the seeds and turn the halves upside down in a shallow, covered container.

Full Run Of Field Planned When LAAF Holds Open House August 1

Lubbock Army Air field throws open its gates to the public next Wednesday with the most impressive "open house" in the history of the big west base as the field's part in the national observance of Air Force Day marking the 38th anniversary of the AAF.

Thousands of Lubbock and South Plains residents are expected to swarm to the big AAF Instructors school for an inspection of the field which will give them the best opportunity since the war started to see just how an AAF installation operates.

Gates Open At Nine

Nothing will be staged and the business of training combat veterans in the latest methods of "all weather" instrument flying will continue throughout the day, Col. Howell M Estes, jr., commanding officer, announced. However, various demonstrations, displays, films and other events will be placed at points of vantage with trained personnel to explain their importance to the training of AAF personnel and how those various things are speeding victory over the Japs.

The gates to the field will be thrown open at 9 o'clock and will remain open for visitors throughout the day with a continuous program with something happening every minute.

Among the various displays and demonstrations which will be on the program during the day will be a parachute demonstration at 10 and ? o'clock; a demonstration of combat field sanitation unit; fire rescue and control demonstration in which the most modern methods of combatting the hazards of high octane fuels will be shown; the convalescent training unit of the post hospital, the Wac Barracks the ground school in which films, actual mockups of instruments in ground school instruction and radio instruments will be on display, the Link Trainer unit which will be open throughout the day, the personal equipment display, the chemical warfare unit with some of the same types of bombs now being dropped on the Japanese homeland on display, special showings of films on Japan, lectures and visits to the student officers mess.

And, of course, one of the highlights of the open house, will be a demonstration and display on the flight line where B-17s, B-25s, AT-6s and other types of planes will be on display with trained personnel to answer questions. At this point, visitors will be permitted to listen in on the tower and plane radio conversations as actual training continues.

A special Memorial Service honoring the AAF heroes who have given their lives in the battle of Europe and in the Pacific will be conducted in the post chapel at 12 o'clock And a retreat ceremony is set for late afternoon. A dance for enlisted personnel of the post will close out the ceremonies for the day.

USS Navarro Gets Early Baptism Of Fire At Okinawa

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Four months after her commissioning the USS Navarro, an attack transport named for Navarro county, Tex., participated in the toughest and largest amphibious operation of the Pacific war, the assault on Okinawa.

The Navy told the story today. Designed as a motor cargo vessel, built by Kaiser Cargo Co., Inc., Richmond, Calif., the Navarro was commissioned Nov. 15 last year.

She discharged more than 1,000 Marine and Navy personnel on Blue Beach, Okinawa, completed her assignment and emerged undamaged.

One Man Injured

One man aboard was injured by a shell fragment. The ship unloaded in addition to personnel 28 landing craft, many vehicles and hundreds of tons of ammunition, supplies, rations, medical equipment, and other gear.

The ship also brought to the beachhead a platoon of Marine corps war dogs.

When the ship was commissioned, 75 per cent of her enlisted men had never seen a sea-going vessel before reporting for duty. Few of her officers had been in an amphibious operation. But the commanding officer, Commander Fred E. Engrick, N.S.N.R., of San Francisco, Calif., reported that the performance of the ship and the ship's company was excellent.

The Navarro experienced a period of intense amphibious training in the San Diego, Calif., area. In February this year the ship proceeded to a staging area in the Solomons where troops and supplies were combat loaded.

Each day off Okinawa brought several air alerts, but only once did a plane single out the Navarro for attack. That one was deflected off its course by antiaircraft and flamed into the sea. So effective were screening and air cover that the gun crews of the Navarro were required to fire at enemy craft only on three occasions.

When personnel and equipment were unloaded, medical officers and corpsmen rigged the Navarro's wardroom as an emergency casualty station. Later, landing craft brought the wounded out.

The Navarro remained a week in the transport area.

Defeat Of Churchill Means That Domestic Policies Are Paramount

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Frank H. King, Texas bureau chief of the Associated Press, formerly served the organization as head of the AP in London, where he covered the last general election in Great Britain).

By FRANK H. KING
Texas Bureau Chief, Associated Press

The overwhelming defeat of Winston Churchill's government and the British labor party's advent to power may seem incomprehensible in far away Texas.

But in the quiet villages of England, in the blitzed areas of Bristol and Coventry, the Thames valley towns and the industrial midlands; from Somerset, Devon and Cornwall to the top of Scotland, the upheaval means but one thing.

Domestic Problems Foremost

Domestic problems, such as housing, local rehabilitation, jobs for soldiers and home affairs generally dominated the minds and thought of the people. Without reflection or criticism of the magnificent results of Churchill's war leadership, they accepted in their home constituencies the programs and the promises of Labor party leaders.

Churchill wasn't the dominant issue. His great war work was done. In an English election your little ballot, about three inches square, lists names of your local Liberal, Conservative and Labor candidate for the House of Commons. You mark the one you want. That's all there is to it. Churchill's name would be on the ballot only in his own constituency.

Imponderables Revealed

Even on election eve the predictions were that Churchill's party would win, but all the imponderables are now revealed to have favored the aggressive opposition, which was especially well-organized throughout the country.

Some of the imponderables were whether the voters would consider themselves "ungrateful" to vote against Churchil, whether world affairs and unsolved international problems should be taken into consideration. Great war time shifts of population and the soldier vote by mail were unknown and unpredictable.

Like Biscuits In Texas

Churchill's conservative party made every possible effort to center the campaign around his real achievements and his personality. A triumphant tour featured his campaign, and he was cheered everywhere.

He drank a big mug of bitter beer before a radio mike and smacked his lips. Bitter beer is like biscuits in Texas.

He lunched at the roadside on a small sandwich and a double Scotch. He admired prize bulls at country fairs, and shook hands with bewhiskered ancients who had shaken hands with Mr. Gladstone. He sampled last year's cider and commented on the new hay crop.

Throwing everything he had in personal magnetism and personality into the campaign he tried to save his Tory colleagues but now that it is over and he has resigned as the king's first minister, it is clear that even his great resources of personal leadership were not enough to turn the labor tide. His team wasn't strong enough.

Process Relatively Simple

A short term program or socialistic planning apparently appealed to the British electorate.

They have had Labor governments before—and have thrown them out.

The throwing-out process is relatively simple, as compared with a changeover of national administration in the United States. Failure on a vote of confidence in the House of Commons, and out you go, any day.

Ramsay MacDonald's first Labor cabinet toppled quickly when its promises failed.

Laborite Clement Attlee, who will succeed Churchill as prime minister, doubtless has his plans and specification for post-war England in better shape than Macdonald had. If not, he is in for trouble. Britain's first Labor government staked much on the great intellect of the famed economist and social thinker, Sidney Webb, who in due process of British change became a member of the House of Lords. But not for solving Britain's unemployment problems. Webb had many theories, but no portfolio or specific plans and projects, and as a practical politician he was far from successful.

Beveridge Is Defeated

A sidelight on today's results in England is that Sir William Beveridge, apostle of a comprehensive plan of "cradle to the grave" social security in England, was defeated for commons. The Beveridge plan is in the forefront of social planning in England, but the defeat of its author will not affect his role or influence as a social philosopher.

It is evident from the election results that world problems and foreign affairs didn't figure much in the expression of the will of the British people in this first general election in ten years. The military victory of World war II was assured and the United Nations and the world charter are practical realities.

"Give 'Em A Rest"

Such being the case, reasoned the British working man, how about a decent house to live in, with plumbing, electricity and perhaps a new family bicycle, if the dream of a miniature automobile is too much for realization now.

A cheer and a hip, hip, hip, for good old Winnie, but throw out the Tories and give 'im a rest.

And the landslide cleared many war time figures from Commons. Brenden Bracken, Churchill's protege and confidant, lost out; able Harold MacMillan also was beaten, and Capt. Randolph Churchill, son of Winston, again met political disappointment.

Lady Astor Is Gone

Gone too ifom Commons will be the chatter of American Born Lady Astor. She didn't choose to run and a Laborite represents Plymouth.

Debonair Anthony Eden is safe in his seat, and Churchill too was re-elected in his own constituency.

During the tragic inter-war years Churchill on occasion was booed and scored as he spoke his mind in Commons, and as long as his tough legs and stout old heart will carry him to the benches he will be in there fighting with any weapon he can lay his hands on.

Average Briton Glad Labor Party Won But Regreats Winnie's Loss

By GLENN WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 26.—The general reaction of London's man-in-the-pub to the election returns today was approval of the Labor victory, but regret at the blow to Prime Minister Churchill.

"Well, old Winnie is out and that's a shame that is," summed up the expressions of many. "But we'll get along all right."

A tall man in a black derby said Churchill, whose oratory and two-fingered "V" sign were a whip-lash and symbol of the British war effort, "should have just put on his hat and walked out on V-E day."

"He'd done his job well and could have gotten out gracefully," the tall man commented.

A pale barmaid came up to draw another pint of bitter for a fat man on the other side of the room who was loudly celebrating the labor party victory.

"We showed the blasted Tories," he said.

"Yes, you showed them," retorted the barmaid. "After poor Mr. Churchill took us all through the war, you showed him, too."

Another worker added: "Poor old Winnie. I bet he could stand a double Scotch right now."

Farmers Hit By Floods Eligible For FSA Loans

COLLEGE STATION, July 26. (AP)—Flood-stricken farmers in 25 Texas counties are eligible for loans from the Farm Security administration, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has informed the Texas A. and M. college extension service.

Farmers may make application to the FSA if they need financial aid to keep their land in agricultural production this season and if they are unable to meet their credit needs from other sources. The FSA will supervise the program, the extension service said.

Farms must be in Bowie, Camp, Cass, Franklin, Harrison, Marion, Morris, Red River, Titus, Upshur, Cherokee, Gregg, Henderson, Panola, Rains, Rusk, Shelby, Smith, Van Zandt, Wood, Polk, San Jacinto, Nacogdoches, Trinity or Montgomery counties.

Seabees Cleaning Up Shorelines Of Iwo; Wreckage Is Used

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

IWO JIMA—The blood-hallowed black ash of Iwo's beaches is still haunted by the rusting ghosts of invasion wreckage, but omnipresent Seabees are giving the spectres no rest. They and their giant mechanical gadgets are accomplishing a dual job: cleaning the shoreline and salvaging the wrecks to make them serve again.

The landing craft now shell-twisted and half buried in black sand, the half-submerged pontoons of battered invasion causeways, the bent and smothered amphtracks and misshapen, abandoned "ducks" will never serve another D-day. The Seabees in time, however, will make them serve the ways of peaceful Iwo and the comforts of its fighting men.

Winning With Ease

This particular day, Seabees—and engines—are tussling with partly sunken pontoons, metal cubes about six feet square which linked together in numbers from quick docks for unloading supplies. They're heavy and cumbersome but the 'Bees and their mountain-lifters are winning the scrap with ease.

"They're to be used for shower tanks for the fighter pilots up there," said big, red-haired Frank Toole, a shipfitter first class from Minooka, Ill., bossing the job. "Them fellows need their showers—in the air eight to nine hours in that one seat—and they can't get water for 'em until they get their tanks."

Use Iron for Repairs

Cy O'Fallon, shipfitter first class from Hutchinson, Minn., nodded agreement.

"They asked us to come down here and bring back about 60 of these pontoons," said Toole, "so we bring 'em 61 this morning and then the orders are to keep on getting 'em. It we don't use 'em for shower tanks we'll use the iron for repairs, anyway."

News Briefs

Lubbock County Selective Service boards one and two will be closed at noon every Saturday in order to comply with the new 44-hour work week for federal employes. The boards will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a. m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

A proposal to raise the Shallowater school tax rate from $1.00 to $1.50 carried 80 to 23 in a recent election held in the community, Roy Boyd, Lubbock county superintendent, said Thursday. Under the Texas law, the tax raise can not be used in rural aid schools for pay raises but must be confined to school improvements. In the case of Shallowater, the extra money will be used to pay off bus indebtedness and for repairs on the school building. Property valuation can not be changed, under the law, but the tax rate can be raised.

A Nazi battle flag, sent to A. H. Maas, 1918 Thirtieth, by T/Sgt. Henry J. Huntley, with a fighter squadron in the European theater of operations, has been presented to the West Texas Museum society. It differs from the German national flag in that it has a large black swastika in the center and a small maltese cross in one corner. The flag, six feet wide and 12 feet long, is made of a fine quality linen-finish material, and was evidently for use on public buildings or as decoration for a speaker's platform.

July 30 is the last day applications for scholastic transfers will be accepted by the Lubbock county school board, Roy Boyd, county superintendent, announced. The board will meet Aug. 3 at 3:30 p. m. in the county superintendent's office, county court house, to pass on all transfer applications. Boyd said up to date there had been less applications than last year.

Texas Fighter Pilot Killed In Germany

MARSHALL, July 26. (U.P.)—A Texas fighter pilot who accounted for six German Messerschmitt-109's in 15 minutes during his first encounter with the enemy, Capt. John W. Wainwright, was killed in a plane crash over Germany July 7, his parents were informed today.

Capt. Wainwright, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wainwright of Marshall, met the Nazi for the first time in a flight over Arnheim, Holland. At that time, he downed two Messerschmitt fighters, and four others who tried to catch him subsequently collided and crashed.

The Texan had held the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Purple Heart, the Air Medal with 21 clusters, and the Presidential Unit citation. Wainwright had served in England, France, Belgium and Germany.

Small Texas Towns To Get Piece Goods Soon

DALLAS, July 26. (U.P.)—Limited amounts of cotton piece goods will be available soon to housewives in small Texas towns.

The War Production board today announced that 15,000,000 yards of the material is available to wholesalers and retailers who buy directly from textile mills.

Towns of 25,000 population, which have been hardest hit by the textile shortage, will be given priorities.

E. H. Hiett of WPB said the piece goods available include sheeting, percale, crinkled crepe, outing flannel, ginghams and seersucker.

NAMED NATIONAL PRESIDENT

DALLAS, July 26. (U.P.)—Dr. G. Nelson Williams, editor of the Unity Christian Ambassador and minister of the Unity Spiritual Science church, has been named national president of the mother church at the 136th annual board of directors meeting in Chicago. Dr. Williams will head more than 6,000 churches in the United States and Canada with a combined membership of more than 2,200,000.

Morgenthau, Unhappy And Bitter, Resigned Despite Other Reports

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 26. — The story of the resignation of Henry Morgenthau, jr., from the cabinet appears today to have been confused somewhat in the telling. The inside story has been floating around here for some little time.

The facts as Washington reporters know them are that the former secretary of the Treasury left the cabinet displeased, unhappy and even bitter because President Truman would not assure him he wanted him to stay on.

Remarks Are Different

On announcement of the resignation, July 5, the exchange of letters between the President and the secretary contained the customary polite and misleading implications that it was just a jolly good bye, all in the best of spirit.

Then in New York this Tuesday Morgenthau said after a speech before a small group that his resignation "was not of my own choosing."

That is the way the reporters caught his remarks when they questioned him after the address, in which he said he had expected to remain on the job until V-J day. Coming away the newsmen were agreed among themselves that the secretary had said he would have liked to have kept the cabinet job.

Denial From Morgenthau

Publication of that report obtained from Morgenthau a denial that his resignation was "involuntary." Involuntary or not, the events leading up to the secretary's resignation largely took place during June when Mr. Truman was visiting the West Coast.

There was no Secretary of State during part of that time. Morgenthau has told intimates that he conceived of himself in that period as "acting president" which was a great burden. Adding to his difficulties were what he regarded as "wild rumors" that his place in the cabinet was not secure. He felt these were gaining strength daily and there had been no word from the President to calm his fears that he would not be around much longer.

Got On His Nerves

So when Mr. Truman returned from his West coast trip, Morgenthau was on the air field to greet him—the only cabinet member present. Two weeks earlier he had been the only one there to wave good bye. The President did not then take the opportunity to tell the secretary he wanted him to remain. This lack of assurance got on Morgenthau's nerves. During the early morning of July 5 he sweated it out with himself in his Connecticut Avenue apartment. Some of his associates say the secretary consumed considerable coffee and a lot of cigarets in the early hours of that day.

At 7:30 a. m., he telephoned Daniel W. Bell, undersecretary of Treasury, urging him to hurry to the Morganthau apartment. Bell arrived to be confronted with this question:

"Danny, what would you do?"

Decided On Showdown

The undersecretary had no ready answer to the tale of woe and uncertainty the secretary poured out to him. At the conclusion of his own story, the United Press is informed, Morgenthau decided he would seek an immediate showdown—as soon as the White House executive offices opened.

Facing Mr. Truman that Thursday morning, Morgenthau demanded to know where he stood. It appeared that Mr. Truman was surprised. But he apparently had no answer to Morgenthau's desire for assurance that the Treasury would continue under his direction. The secretary thereupon gave the President a verbal resignation, stating that he would put it in writing later in the day.

Truman Accepted It

Morgenthau sent the letter of resignation over to the White House an hour or so later and Mr. Truman accepted it with instant finality.

During their conference, Morgenthau is understood to have told Mr. Truman he did not want to go on trial as a cabinet officer and that he did not feel he had to go on trial. Mr. Truman evidently did not say much of anything.

Involuntary or not, that is the way it was.

TRIPS ACCOUNTED FOR

DALLAS, July 26. (U.P.) — The filling, emptying and refilling of more than 23,000 Army hospital beds in the ten general hospitals of the 5,000-bed convalescent center at Brooke Hospital center, Fort Sam Houston, has accounted for a considerable percentage of the more than a million railroad trips made by wounded or sick soldiers in the past two years, Col. Raymond C. Stone reported today. The War department disclosed that 510,000 wounded or sick military personnel made trips between Nov. 1942 and July 1945.

Original Lawrence Manuscript Given To Museum At Tech

The original manuscript of D. H. Lawrence's last, and uncompleted, piece of fiction has been presented to Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the West Texas Museum society by the renowned English writer's wife, whose home is in Taos, N. M.

The manuscript, written after Lawrence became ill, is partly in the handwriting of his wife, to whom he dictated, and partly in his own hand. It is a short story titled "The Flying Fish," and has a unique collector's value, Holden said. Lawrence, recognized as one of the most outstanding English novelists of modern times, is the author of "Sons and Lovers," "The Lady Who Rode Away" and "The First Lady Chatterly."

The novelist and his wife had made Taos heir home for the last four or five years of his life. His death occurred in a little town on the French Rivera, and he was buried there. Later the body was exhumed and cremated. The ashes now rest in a shrine on Lobo mountain on the Lawrence mountain ranch near Taos.

The portfolio in which the manuscript was kept during its writing was also presented to the Museum society. It was used previously for the first part of "The Escaped Cock" and for corrected typescripts of "Rowden's Roof," included in "The Lovely Lady." The phoenix bird symbol, adopted by the writer as a crest, is on the outside of the portfolio, and also is repeated on the shrine where his ashes reside.

Gold was first discovered in Colorado along a small stream that flowed into Cherry Creek, near the present side of Denver.

Lubbock Wins Legion Title By Trouncing San Angelo

Lubbock's American Legion junior baseball team was crowned champions of all West Texas here Thursday afternoon after turning loose a barrage of base knocks that completely smothered the San Angelo juniors in the second game of the final twin bill of the tournament.

George Miller pitched San Angelo to a 4 to 3 victory over Wichita Falls in the opener, but was unable to spike the guns of the Lubbock nine when he came back for his iron man attempt. Lubbock blasted Miller from the mound with 14 runs in 4 1-3 innings, and went on to win the finale 18 to 8.

PLAYOFF SET SATURDAY

HOUSTON, July 26 (AP)—Houston's Mustangs and the Laredo All-Stars will open their Division No. 4 American Legion junior baseball series Saturday afternoon at Laredo.

The two teams will play a double-header Saturday at 2 p. m. If a third game is necessary, it will be played Sunday afternoon. The winner will compete in the four-team state tournament at Austin August 2-5.

The victory gave Lubbock the right to enter the state tournament at Austin, scheduled for Aug. 2-5. It will be the second year in a row for the Lubbock team to go to the state tournament.

The opening ball game yesterday was the best game of the tournament, and developed into a top notch pitching duel that gave the fans plenty for their money.

Miller limited the Wichita Falls nine to four hits, and kept them well scattered. Facing him was Lefty Dover, a youthful southpaw, who turned in a great ball game, but had one bad inning. This one inning brought his downfall.

Pitching In Pinches

Both pitchers were in the hole often, but most of the time they came out. Dover drew the applause of the fans when he filled the bases with one out in the fourth, then fanned two men to come out of the hole. In the same frame, Miller filled the bases with none out, and fanned two and forced another to pop out for another applause catcher.

Wichita Falls took a two-run lead in the fifth, Ford's triple started the fireworks and was followed by two errors. Martin's single drove in a run for San Angelo in their half of the same inning.

Dover ran into trouble in the sixth when San Angelo bunched three hits, two of them consecutive triples by Reynolds and Miller, along with a single, two errors and a wild pitch to produce the three winning runs.

Lubbock Starts Early

Miller got the first man out in the second game, then Arrington and Wall singled, both advanced on a wild pitch, and Galey drove them home with a single.

Two errors and Arrington's infield hit scored another in the second. Galey opened the third with a double. Jones and Vaughn walked, and Galey scored on interference by the catcher. Presley then smashed out a single to score Jones and Vaughn.

A single by Wall, a hit batsman, then singles by Vaughn and Petree scored three more runs in the fourth.

Jack Vaughn started on the hill for Lubbock, and hurled three hitless innings before being touched for two hits and one run in the fourth.

Lubbock turned loose in the fifth inning with a batting spree that scored nine runs and iced away the ball game. At this point Vaughn turned the pitching over to Denny Davidson. Davidson was nicked for six runs in the next two innings, and Walter Higginbotham hurled the seventh to give up one run and two hits.

The Lubbock fans gave Miller a big ovation when he left the ball game in the big fifth inning, and took over at third base. The big blonde had turned in some great pitching performances during the day.

Cubs Beat Reds Ninth Straight

CHICAGO, July 26. (AP) — Henry Wyse, top-drawer pitcher of the league leading Cubs, resisted a persistent challenge by the Cincinnati Reds today to turn in his season's 14th victory, 2 to 1. The Chicagoans thus maintained their distinction of winning every game they've played with Cincinnati this year, the only such sweep in the majors. It was the ninth meeting of the teams.

The moon-faced Wyse, who won seven straight games before being the victim of the Philadelphia Phillies' ten-run inning Sunday, yielded eight hits, four of them doubles, and spoiled a streak of 37⅓ innings in which he didn't issue a pass by walking two Reds in the last innings. But with brilliant support, especially from third baseman Stan Hack, he stranded the tying run in scoring position our times.

Hack singled in what proved to be the winning run in the second inning with the first of his three hits, one a double. He started an unusual double play in the fourth inning when he picked up Eddie Miller's grounder, tagged Frank McCormick, who had moved to third on the previous play after opening the inning with a double, and then pegged to first. With the tying run on base, Hack ended the game with a fine leaping catch of Gerry Walker's pinch liner. In all, Hack handled eight chances.

Nelson Takes Lead Over Lt. Ben Hogan

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Byron Nelson, the golfer who usually saves his Sunday punch for the final round, spanked a brilliant, six-under-par 66 to pace the field in today's opening 18-hole session of the $60,000 All-American open tournament.

Nelson, striving to swell his year's war bond winnings to $45,200, almost as much as he won in all of 1944, provided most of the first-day thunder in the spectacular, three-ring show at Tam O'Shanter course with a closing 30 after getting the range with a par 36.

That put Lord Byron a stroke ahead of Lt. Ben Hogan of the Army Air Force, who opened boldly with a three-under-par 33, but lagged over the back nine with 34 for a 67.

Four strokes off the pace with 70's were two veteran campaigners, Denny Shute, of Akron, O., and perennial Gene Sarazen, of New York City.

Blue Bonnet Defeats SPAAF Softball Club

Blue Bonnet's men's softball ten rallied with the score tied in the seventh inning Thursday afternoon to hand the South Plains Army Air field team its first defeat of the season, 4-1.

The Laundrymen scored first in the second frame. SPAAF pushed a tally across in the fifth to bring the count to one-all. Blue Bonnet moundsman Hall had pitched a no-hit game up until the fifth inning with two out. Oleksiak, SPAAF pitcher, and a one-hit game to his credit until the Laundrymen rallied. In the seventh, Blue Bonnet touched SPAAF for four hits and three runs for the win.

SPAAF won over the Blue Bonnet ten in their only other encounter by the same score. A third game between the two is to be scheduled soon.

Henderson pitched for Blue Bonnet, Hilliard caught. Battery for SPAAF was Oleksiak and Greenwald.

Womens Tourney Reaches Finals

Mrs. George Soash and Mrs. Charles Akey, who matched each other stroke for stroke for medalists honors, rolled into the finals of the Lubbock Country Club Women's Open golf tournament Thursday afternoon. The match between the favorites for the title will be played today.

Mrs. Soash defeated Mrs. M. E. Wagenfeuhr while Mrs. Akey won from Mrs. A. A. Foster, both by the same 5 and 4 margins.

The best round of golf for the tournament was registered in the consolation finals as Mrs. Fenner Tubbs blazed an 88 over the course to eliminate Mrs. J. H. Stiles, 4 and 3. Mrs. Morley Jennings nosed out Mrs. F. L. McRee, 2 up, to reach the consolation finals.

In the first flight, Mrs. W. F. Helwig nosed out Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg, 2 up, and Mrs. Roy Autry won over Mrs. Charlie Young, 2 and 1, to enter the finals.

In the nine-hole bracket, the first major upset of the tournament came Thursday when Mrs. F. M. Curtis eliminated Mrs. P. E. Hallman, medalist and favorite, one up. Mrs. J. F. Pattok beat Mrs. H. W. Schroeder, 2 and 1, to become the other finalist.

In the consolation bracket, Mrs. J. C. Young moved into the finals by default from Mrs. J. B. McCauley, and will play Mrs. R. M. Jenkins, who defeated Mrs. Lewis Kerr, 4 and 3.

Skeeters, Neimeyer Lead In First Round

FORT WORTH, July 26 (AP) — Bill Skeeters of Dallas and 17 year old Frank Neimeyer of Hot Springs, Ark., burned up the Glen Garden course here today firing a one under par 70 to tie for medalist honors in the first day's play of the club's annual tournament.

One hundred and fifty contestants teed off in the qualifying round to tie the record entry mark set in 1944. Match play will get underway Friday at 7 a. m. and continue throughout the day. Finals will be staged in all flights Sunday.

So close was the competition that three players who shot a 76 were eliminated from the championship flight in a drawing held at the end of the day's play. Officials agreed that the field was the best in the history of the tournament.

K. Haley came in with a 71, only one shot behind the medalists. L. D. Harding of Fort Worth finished the first nine with a three under par but had one bad hole on the back nine and finished with a 72.

Lt. Bill Smith of Dallas, national left handed champion, shot a 72 as did Jack Laxson of San Angelo. J. T. Hammett of Abilene winner of the recent Abilene tournament, shot a 75.

From the outbreak of World War II to the end of 1944, wholesale prices rose 38.7 per cent, as compared with a rise of 114.7 per cent in a similar period after the outbreak of World War I.

Ruffing Is Winner In Comeback Trial

NEW YORK, July 26. (AP) — Red Ruffing made his first major league pitching start since the 1942 World Series today and earned a 13-4 victory for New York over the Philadelphia A's although the former Army Air Force sergeant tired in the seventh and gave way to rookie at Gettel.

Oppressive heat and periodic rainfall that forced two interruptions, once for almost an hour, forced Ruffing from the box after a walk and two singles had broken his shutout in the seventh. But the 40-year-old discharged veteran had a comfortable 8-1 lead at the time and later said he was completely satisfied with his comeback start. He struck out five and had allowed only four hits and smashed a triple.

Luther Knerr took up the burden for the A's when play was resumed and yielded another tally in the fifth and one each in the sixth and seventh and four in the eighth on Bud Metheney's two-run homer and Tuck Stainback's double.

Japanese Offer To Withdraw From Manchuria Said Before Big Three

NEW YORK, July 26 (U.P.) —Newsweek magazine reports that Premier Stalin carried to the Big Three conference at Potsdam a Japanese offer to withdraw from Manchuria and submit to United States occupation of Korea and Formosa — provided Russia remains at peace with Japan—and that the Japanese home islands are not invaded and occupied by the Americans.

The magazine said the Japanese, in return for assurance of Russian non-intervention, offered to withdraw from Manchuria in favor of Moscow, "recognize the principle of independence" of Indo-China, Burma and the Philippines, and to yield Korea and Formosa to the Americans.

Russians Have Choice

Newsweek said "it will be up to President Truman and to his closest advisers now in Potsdam to decide whether the Japanese offer to Russia falls within the American interpretation of "unconditional surrender." If it does not, the Russians have a choice between two alternatives:

"1. To enter the war, risk casualties, but assure the flow of American lend-lease and badly needed reconstruction credits.

"2. To stay out of the war, risk joepardizing American and British good will and economic aid from the United States, but save the lives of Russian soldiers."

The magazine said that despite State department denials, Stalin had been in communication with the Japanese. "Feverish diplomatic activity, involving Japanese Premier Kanturo Suzuki, (Russian) Foreign Commissar Molotoff, the Japanese ambassador in Moscow Naotake Sato and his Russian colleague in Tokyo, Yacob Malik, preceded the Big Three talks."

Trial Of Petain

peared on both lists, Gazel testified.

The diplomat said Petain expected to gain power through legal means. He quoted the marshal as saying "when I become head of the government, it will not be the result of a coup d'etat."

One part of the Petain indictment contends that the marshal planned to overthrow the government and that he needed the military defeat of France to realize the project.

Though he was a state witness, Gazel cut some of the ground from under the accusation that Petain was on friendly relations with Franco and with the Germans, while in Spain.

Only "cold politeness" existed between Petain and Franco, Gazel said. He described their first meeting at Burgos and declared that Franco hardly spoke.

City Commission

signed by 95 property owners, asking the removal of the Western Wrecking company's automobile body wrecking yards from the 1300 block on Twenty-eighth, the commissioners decided to refer the complaint to City Health Officer Dr. J. W. Rollo so that he may investigate whether the wreckage constitutes a health menace. This complaint, based on the assertion that the wrecking place harbors rats will be left with the health officer for decision, City Manager Smith indicated.

Two ordinances, No. 716, closing and east-and-west alley in Block 126, and No. 717, extending the parking meter zone, were given their second reading at the meeting. Ordinance No. 718, closing the alley in blocks two and seven of Richmond Second addition, with easement reserved for utilities, was passed on first reading.

Commissioner W. B. Price presided as chairman in the absence of Mayor O. W. Ribble. The other commissioners participating in the meeting were F. H. Childress and J. Ray Dickey.

Churchill Unseated

er by a more than 2-to-1 vote. The Laborites won a clear-cut majority of the new 640-member House of Commons.

Ballots cast in the July 5 general election and counted today gave Laborites the right to form the first one-party government since 1931.

Capture 417 Seats

With votes in 627 of Britain's 640 constituencies counted, the Laborites and allied parties had captured 417 seats, against 210 for the Conservatives and their allies. Labor candidates had won 390 contests, conservatives only 195. Results of the remaining 13 contests will not be made known until early in August.

Churchill, his face grave, drove to Buckingham Palace tonight and presented his resignation to King George VI, who immediately accepted it. He summoned a brief smile for the crowd which greeted him outside the palace gates, and gave to them his last V-sign as their premier.

To the world at large, this election meant no change in Britain's policies for carrying through the war against Japan and building the peace of Europe. These were not at issue.

But it did swing Britain definitely left domestically, and it swept from the world stage and from the councils of the Big Three the ebullient Churchill — Britain's great leader during the European war.

Escapes Personal Defeat

Into his place stepped small, bald, soft-spoken Attlee, leader of the Labor party and the apparent premier-designate.

Churchill escaped personal defeat, being returned from his constituency of Woodford to a Commons seat from which he will lead the opposition when the new Parliament convenes Aug. 8. His foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, No. 2 man in the Conservative party, also survived, winning in Warwick and Leamington.

But there were numerous casualties among Churchill interim "caretaker" government. Down to defeat went cabinet ministers Brendan Bracken, L. S. Amery, Sir James Grigg, Duncan Sandys, Sir Donald Somervell, Leslie Hore-Belisha and Richard Law.

Back into their seats—and likely into the new cabinet—swept the parade of Labor's top men headed by Attlee, Ernest Bevin, Herbert Morrison, Hugh Dalton, Sir Stafford Cripps and A. V. Alexander. They were trailed by a host of lesser lights and newcomers.

Amazing Day For Labor

It was nearly all Labor this amazing day, with the expected show of strength in the industrial areas plus deep inroads in the traditionally conservative country districts.

There was no sign of any Liberal revival despite their 306 candidates. Liberals who had hoped to gain the balance of power in case of a close contest between the Conservatives and Laborites, actually saw such of their stars as Sir Archibald Sinclair, Sir William Beveridge, Sir Percy Harris and Lady Violet Bonham Carter go down in the landslide.

The first statement from Labor's standard-bearer was this exultant pledge from Attlee: "This is the first time in the history of this country that Labor ever had a clear-cut majority. It will enable us to implement the policy of the socialist party."

Attlee and Potsdam

It was assumed that Attlee would return to Potsdam to take up the deliberations where he and his opposition colleagues left off. He likely will be accompanied by Bevin, who is expected to be foreign secretary in the new cabinet, but whether Churchill—the voice of Britain in the past Big Three parleys—and Eden would accompany Attlee was uncertain.

A dispatch from Potsdam said the impression prevailed there that Churchill would decline to return.

Britain's "man-in-the-pub" — however he may have voted—hoisted a beer and shed a sentimental tear at the departure from power of "Good Old Winnie," but added confidently that "we'll get along all right."

Not War Reputation

Most observers agreed that Churchill was not repudiated as a war leader, but was rejected as a politician and the head of the Conservative party. What the British voted for was the Labor party, which was pledged to take a strong and quick hand in national reconstruction and institute a program of nationalization of the country's heavy industry, inland transport, and the Bank of England.

During the three weeks hiatus between the election and the vote count, the people had given ample and vivid demonstration that they wanted action—definite and fast—on such urgent matters as housing, the repair of war damage, plans for orderly demobilization of such armed forces as can be spared from the war against Japan and European occupational chores.

Effective Date On New Freight Rates Postponed By ICC

WASHINGTON, July 26. (U.P.)—The Interstate Commerce commission today postponed from Aug. 30 to Nov. 30 the effective date of its order calling on railroads to equalize freight rates throughout most of the country.

The order, issued May 15, requires a 10 per cent increase in rates on so-called "class" freight in the Northeast and a 10 per cent decrease in such rates in the South and the West as far as the Rocky Mountains. It was issued after a long fight by Southern interests against what they termed unjust freight rate differentials.

The railroads had asked the commission to postpone the effective date of the order until April 1, 1946. They must file new rate schedules with the ICC 30 days before the order's effective date, and they contended the physical task of preparing the schedules would take several months.

Woman Admits Theft Of Checks

Wife of a soldier formerly stationed at Lubbock Army Air field has admitted to Pensacola, Fla., officials that she stole in Lubbock $1,150 worth of U. S. Treasury checks over a period of approximately a year, it was learned Thursday night.

The woman, corroborating findings of a U. S. Secret service investigator and local police, reportedly followed postmen on days when allotment checks for servicemen's dependents were due, and took the government envelopes from mail boxes.

Husband May Be Involved

Her husband may also be charged in the case. He at present is stationed in the Pensacola vicinity.

Court machinery is in order for her return to Lubbock, where she will be tried. She is said to have formerly lived in Spur.

She is suspected of stealing and forging other Treasury checks, including those for mustering out pay. Most of the checks apparently were cashed in other cities.

Easing Of Controls On Wages Proposed

WASHINGTON, July 26. (AP) — Public members of the War Labor tentatively proposed today to ease just a little the rigid wage controls which have stood for most of the war.

The members of the board who wield the balance of power between an equal number of labor and industry representatives, and thus generally control board policy, will have a formal plan ready for Economic Stabilization Director William H. Davis by early next week.

A rough outline of the proposal to permit without board approval pay increases which are agreed upon through collective bargaining or otherwise by employers and employes but which do not necessitate price increases, already has gone to Davis. He left on a two-week Maine vacation with this proposition.

Crosby County Child Dies Here Thursday

Peggie Fern Craze, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Craze of Wake, Crosby county, died late Thursday afternoon in Lubbock General hospital.

The child had received treatment at Wichita Falls, and was brought to the Lubbock hospital only a few hours before her death. Doctors said she apparently was suffering from a ruptured appendix.

Burial will be in Crosbyton, but funeral arrangements are still incomplete, Rix Funeral reported.

Survivors include five brothers and sisters.

C. C. Sandige Dies At Home Of Brother

C. C. Sandidge, 71, a resident of the South Plains for the last 7 years, died at noon Thursday at the home of a brother, W. H. Sandidge, northeast of Abernathy in Hale county.

Sandidge died suddenly, apparently as a result of a heart attack.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed late last night, Rix Funeral home reported.

Feeding Short Course Closes

Texas Technological college's fifth livestock feeding short course was closed at noon Thursday by Presiding Chairman W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry, and the approximate 100 farmers, ranchers, county agents, vocational agriculture teachers and others attending were adjourned after a three and a half-day course, which began Monday.

R. C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, announced L. M. Hargrave Wolfforth vocational agriculture teacher, as the winner of the judging contests held the three afternoons of the short course.

Stangel closed the meeting with his expression of appreciation to those attending and participating on the program.

Williams Gives Lecture

O. T. Williams, Lubbock district soil conservationist, opened the final morning's work in the Agriculture building auditorium with a lecture on "How to Keep the Soil Productive in West Texas."

The soil expert said that erosion in the United States of soil and indirectly its by-products cost the country three and eight-tenths billions of dollars.

He said that the average depth of top soil when the white man came to this country was eight inches, which has been reduced to a bare four at the present time. There are enough elements in virgin soil to produce four or five crops, Williams said, but man takes away many of these natural substances and fails to replace any of them through a suitable substitute.

"Two Generation" Land

Williams said that land in Texas is "two generation" land, directing this remark toward the farming methods which wear it down rapidly. He based his address on sound land use through good farm management, the right combination of conservation practices, the maintenance of soil productivity and economically sound conservation farming. He touched also on irrigation as a means of improving the productivity of the soil.

"Cotton Production in West Texas" was the subject of the second lecture of the day by Don Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock Experiment station. Jones forecast a very low production here this year and then went into detail on the cost of production, how it needs to be lowered, and some of the methods that could be developed toward this end.

He said that very little difference in grading was met in hand picked or hand snapped cotton, and said that most of the trash comes from the brack. Jones said that the elimination of this trouble would raise the grade of cotton.

Looks To Future

Jones looked to the future when a surplus of labor may come, lowering the cost of production greatly and said he thought it possible to grow good cotton and still increase the oil production. This he said, would be another boon to the industry.

R. E. Karper, in charge of grain sorghum investigation of the Texas experiment station in Lubbock, gave the final address of the course on "The Grain Sorghums."

He spoke of the critical shortage that is to develop this year, and followed this with technicalities of planting, figuring the time element of various types of grains. He said that no assurance of a crop could be given when planting came after July 10. He noted the combined varieties that are coming into prominence.

President Truman Visits Yank Troops

FRANKFURT-ON-MAIN, July 26, (AP) — President Truman put aside the momentous duties of the Big Three conference in Potsdam temporarily today and visited thousands of American troops in a swing through the Rhine valley to get a first hand view of the American occupation zone.

In brief impromptu talks the President promised to help the troops find the United States "as you like it and want it to be" when they return home and expressed the determination to implement the ideas of his "great predecessor," Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In less serious vein, he shook hands with hundreds of GI's, scores of them from his native Missouri, climbed in and out of his touring car dozens of times for reviews and informal chats, and played the piano in jazzy style.

Looking fresh and happy despite the 97 degree heat which wilted some others in his entourage, the President covered a 49-mile route after a 90-minute flight from Potsdam in the plane, "Sacred Cow."

Trio Charged In 'Witness' Case

Subpoenas for five more witnesses in the forthcoming trial of Weldon Webb for burglary were issued Thursday afternoon after District Attorney Burton S. Burks had filed a blanket charge of robbery by assault against two men and a woman in connection with an alleged offense which followed the disappearance of a 17-year-old state witness in the Webb case.

Named in the complaint were L. T. Crawford, 19, and Frank Trimm, 26, both of Lubbock, and Rita Foraker, 18, of Hale Center. The charge purported that the trio had made an assault on Buster Millman of Tahoka and taken a case of whisky from him.

Held In $15,000 Bond

All were in jail last night in lieu of $15,000 bond each, set by Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson. Eleene Mayfield of Hereford, the state witness who left a residence here Monday night under mysterious circumstances, was held in the juvenile ward of the county jail on a writ of attachment issued by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue. The Webb case was called for trial Tuesday. It has been re-set for August 7.

Miss Foraker's statement said she and Trimm and Crawford and Miss Mayfield were taken in a travel bureau car in which were two other men, to Big Spring, where they spent Monday night.

Arrested Thursday

The four were taken into custody here early Thursday after they had hitchhiked a return ride from Big Spring to Lubbock with Millman and a woman friend, Earline Landers, 22, of Big Spring.

Millman charged he was roughed up by at least one of the men charged, and that Trimm, saying he was "taking over from here on," shifted over to the driver's seat of the Millman automobile and that three tires were blown out en route here. Two of them were not repaired, Miss Foraker said.

Whisky Sold

The Foraker girl said the whisky was sold to a man here for $45, and that the money was divided among the four persons, including Miss Mayfield.

Miss Foraker's statement charges that financial assistance had been given the three from the outside, and was filled with connotations that a conspiracy had existed to remove persons from jurisdiction of the court so that they could not be used as witnesses against Webb.

District Attorney Burks probably will file other charges, court officials indicated.

News Briefs

A 35-year-old gypsy woman said in a signed statement to officials here Thursday that she swindled $800 from a Houston woman with the old confidence dodge of "blessing the money." Police and county officers arrested her and another gypsy woman at a tourist camp. She was picked up on a warrant issued at Houston several weeks ago. She was turned over to Texas Rangers for delivery to Houston. Police named the victim as Mrs. Marion Brooks of Houston.

Charged with theft, Mary Lucille Ganderson of Hobbs, N. M., was fined $100 and assessed a two-day term in jail Thursday afternoon in county court.

A one-room shack at 2502 East Ave. F was destroyed in a blaze about 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon, presumably as a result of malfunctioning of an oil stove. The contents of the house, with the exception of a woman's purse containing $170, were completely destroyed. Approximately 30 minutes later firemen answered a call to a conflagration at 2201 East Ave. C, where another shack and its contents were totally consumed.

Britain Changes Horses

But World Will Still Go 'Round

NEWS that Prime Minister Winston Churchill and his Conservative party have gone down to defeat in the British election came as a distinct shock to millions of Americans. For Churchill has long been a favorite in America, and even more popular here than he was in England, where his war-time restrictions often left a bitter taste in the mouth of the citizenry.

In a similar way, the late President Roosevelt enjoyed greater over-all popularity in the British Isles than he did in the United States, and the people of Britain were unable to understand the opposition expressed to his leadership in our national election last November.

While Churchill himself won his seat in the House of Commons from the Woodford division with ease, piling up more than 10,000 votes over his independent opponent, Alexander Hancock, he had stated previously that he would not remain in office unless his majority in Commons proved to be a substantial one. And the Conservative majority was not forthcoming in the election. Under the British custom, Churchill will resign and a new cabinet will be formed, headed by the Labor Party leader, Maj. Clement Attlee.

Difficult as it is for the average newspaper reader in the United States to understand this decisive defeat of the Churchill government, we can all realize that the British elector is nearer to the picture than we are and that he must have good reason for voting as he did. It is also obvious that war-time controls, often as annoying to the average Britisher as the bureaucratic regulations in this country have been to Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, have played an important role in causing the English people to turn their backs on the man who led them so ably through that trying period of "blood and sweat and tears."

In rejecting continuation of the Churchill government, the British people have not repudiated him as a great leader, whose name shall shine forever in the world's history. Winston Churchill will continue to hold a bright place in the hearts of his countrymen.

And "there will always be an England"—an England that will carry on despite a change in leadership. The world continued to revolve on its axis after the passing of Franklin Roosevelt, and it will not stop with the end of Churchill's control in Britain. The United States has re-discovered the virtue of having "an average man" as President. Britain may benefit from a rule under the Attlee government. A change is often good.

The Past Discloses Secrets

EXHIBITING the same bad judgment in his own defense that he showed in behalf of France in 1940 when he became a willing tool of Hitler, Henri Philippe Petain, now 89, broken physically and perhaps mentally, has stolidly refused to answer questions at his trial for treason.

In refusing to speak out in his own defense, the one-time Marshal of France and the hero of Verdun has betrayed an ignorance of human nature that may be fatal in his case. For this mistake he may pay with his life.

While the French people have a sentimental weakness for their national heroes, even their tarnished ones, they have little sympathy for a man who refuses to talk. There were angry murmurs from the spectators and the 24 jurors when the aged Petain declined to answer questions.

Once the commander-in-chief of the French armies for a time during World war I, the aged marshal might have been able to talk himself out of his present dilemma if he had the clever fluency that the French admire. But apparently Petain is too old and tired to care, or too senile to offer any real defense. Perhaps, few persons inside or outside of France desire the death of the aged man, either for revenge or justice. His conviction and punishment are apparently desired as a damper to discourage future activities of an anti-democratic nature.

Although the trial is just beginning, several astonishing revelations have already been made. One amazing assertion was the testimony of former French Premier Paul Renaud that in May 1940 France and Britain considered buying off Mussolini's entry into the war by giving Italy territorial rights in Africa.

Another interesting disclosure was that Adm. Jean Darlan, long regarded by the English as a traitor to the Allied cause, had told Reynaud that he would sink the French fleet rather than permit it to fall into the hands of the Germans. Thus Darlan, who was assassinated following his collaboration with the Americans in the African invasion, is portrayed as a true hero.

The trial promises to be a behind-the-scenes expose of history in the making. What happens to the aged Petain is of less importance than the historic revelations regarding the Fall of France.

This is a true story of the men who fly the "hump" — carrying passengers and cargo over the high Himalayas between India and China. Pilots call it the toughest airline route in the world.

VII

It always seemed strange to me that the Army, with its superhigh standards for the Air Corps and the rigorous training it puts its pilots through, should at the same time leave so little responsibility to the pilots in the matter of when they should fly and when they shouldn't. We boys in the C. N. A. C. flew thousands of tons of material across the Himalayas during 10-day and sometimes even two-week periods when not a single Army plane was allowed to get off the ground.

If that would seem to reflect more courage and daring on the part of C. N. A. C. civilian pilots than upon Air Force personnel, it should not. The Army pilots themselves would have flown in any kind of weather, and as the Army Ferry Command developed alongside the C. N. A. C. on the route between Kunming and Dinjan, the red tape began to thin out a little and the pilots were given more leeway. But for many months during the time I worked for C. N. A. C. our boys would be flying regular schedules across the mountains while Army regulations were keeping scores of planes—loaded and ready—standing on the fog-shrouded fields.

Tony Mercede took up a spirited defense of the Army every time Gingiss or I or others in the C. N. A. C. started to criticize it for its panty-waist flying regulations.

"Listen, jerks," he said one day. "You guys are getting paid big dough for doing your job; these kids in the Army are getting regular Army flier's pay. You can quit your jobs, these kids can't. The Army has a lot more authority over its boys than C.N.A.C. has over you — but it has a bigger obligation, too."

To some extent Tony was right; but he was all wrong on that matter of the money we were making. He was not the first and by no means the last to accuse C. N. A. C. pilots and even the men in the A. T. A. in England of being mercenaries, but neither he nor others of his viewpoint considered our side of it. Virtually all of us "mercenaries" had paid for our flying education out of our own pockets—and almost 100 per cent of the Army pilots had been given their training at government expense. We had investments in our flying ability; they did not. But I didn't want to go into all that again. Instead I said: "Wait a minute, Tony. Do you remember back in 1933 when the Army took over the airmail routes in the States? Remember how many planes and pilots were lost in that little misadventure? And do you know why? It was because the Army didn't know a third as much about blind flying as the commercial pilots did . . . And it's the same thing over here right now. There are a lot of stuffed shirts in the Army—even in the Air Force—and they're so cocky about their rank and their military dignity that they think they know everything worth knowing about flying. . . ."

And then I told Toney and Gingiss and Skippy and a couple of the other boys gathered around about a little incident I had played a part in a short time before.

When I left Dinjan one morning with a planeload of Chinese money—baled in big tin containers and amounting to over a million dollars Chinese—there were eight American and British Army officers at the field. Four of them had names that regularly made the headlines in American newspapers; the other four were top-ranking colonels and brigadier generals. They had come in from Calcutta in a big Flying Fortress piloted by an extremely self-satisfied and cocky little colonel.

C. N. A. C.'s field office was alongside the west runway at Dinjan, and while I was waiting for one of our usual weather reports ("Ceiling unknown; visibility limited") I saw the Little Colonel standing out in front of his B-17 with a map in his hands.

"Morning, Colonel," I said. "Where you bound — over the Hump or back west?"

"Eh?" the fellow said, looking up rather foggily. "Why, ah — we're going to Kunming. The ship's being refueled."

"It's been pretty rough on the north route the last few days," I offered. "The ice is bad. South route's not bad for weather, but the Zeros have been thick as flies the last week."

The Little Colonel looked at me as if to say he hadn't asked for a speech, so I started to move away. But then I remembered those bigwigs I had seen come in with him on the B-17. So I went back to him and said, "I'm going over myself in a few minutes. I'll wait if you like and lead the way. I know the routes pretty well."

The Little Colonel's eyebrows popped up until they almost disappeared under his cap. If I had been a junior officer in the Army I think he would have organized a court martial right on the spot. He waited until his blood pressure subsided a little, then smiled indulgently and said, "Thank you, son, but I daresay I'll get along all right." Then he turned and strode off.

My plane was ready a little while later, and I lit out for Kunming with a million-dollar payroll for the Chinese Army. The Little Colonel was still puzzling over his map as my C-53 thundered down the runway.

SAILOR'S BODY FOUND

HOUSTON, July 26 (AP) — The body of Robert Hanna, 32, tugboat sailor from Minden, La., was found floating in the channel between Seabrook and La Porte last night.

Hanna was on one of three barges that was being tugged between Seabrook and La Porte when he became entangled in a line and fell overboard, a funeral home spokesman said.

The body will be sent to Minden for burial.

Boiled pork and beer was a favorite breakfast of Anne Boleyn, one of the wives of Henry VIII.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

LESS than ten minutes ago I got a very nice but very emphatic brushoff from Margaret Sullavan who did such an admirable job of acting in "The Voice of the Turtle" and in many other plays.

BRANDEIS

Miss Sullavan (who in private life is Mrs. Leland Hayward, wife of the playwright) has just bought a large farm a couple of miles from where I live, and I called her on the telephone.

"Miss Sullavan," I said, "I want to do a story about you."

"My syndicate wants me to write about Margaret Sullavan, the farmer. They want pictures of you and the kids and they want to know why you bought the farm and why you left the stage and all about you."

Back came the answer, in her melodious voice and that perfect diction of hers:

"Thank you very much but I don't want a story.

"I don't want any publicity.

"I came out here to get away from all that and not to be Margaret Sullavan but Mrs. Leland Hayward.

"If you want to know, I am crazy about it. I love this life and the privacy and to be completely myself."

And, hoping that we would come over sometime to visit her, she hung up.

When I was in New York last week I visited several night clubs where celebrities "hang out."

Like most newspapermen, I know quite a few of them and I usually chat with them a few moments and pass the time of day (or rather of night).

And I always come away with great sympathy for these people.

There they are, always playing their little act, always in the limelight, always on the alert lest they lose their fame, and with it their livelihood.

I always think of tightrope walkers when I see them in public.

And then I talk to stenographers and clerks and debutantes, and hear how they envy the famous, and I see the thousands of youngsters coming to New York or going to Hollywood every day to seek fame at the end of the rainbow, and I feel sorry for them.

MARGARET SULLAVAN has had fame and adulation.

She knows how ephemeral it all is and how phoney and how unimportant.

So I shall respect her desire to "get away from it all" and let her be just a farmer, just a wife and just a mother.

But, so I am told, the bug of fame is an insidious bug.

Once in your system it is hard to kill.

I shall keep an eye on Margaret Sullavan.

When the bug bites again I shall let you know.

Or better yet—when it does, just read your newspaper.

When you see in black-face type, "Margaret Sullavan in . . .," you'll know there has been a relapse.

Germany Must Be Held Down

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE AMERICAN layman felt some skepticism over the Kilgore report declaring that Germany had emerged from the recent conflict with a more dangerous war-making potentiality than she enjoyed after her '918 defeat. Even his colleagues took issue with the industrious senator from West Virginia, in view of the contrast in the destruction wreaked on the Reich in the two struggles.

But the seemingly far-fetched conclusion presents no surprise to the scientists and military men who have poked through Nazi laboratories, industrial experiment stations and research institutes. Hitler's experts had made such advances in the applied sciences that, had it not been for his own blunders and lucky Allied breaks, he might have been the victor.

TUCKER

Almost every new death-dealing or defensive device — radar, the V-2 bomb, rocket explosives, synthetic fuels, rubber and food concentrates, naval and aerial designs — were first invented and developed by our European foe. It is true that American and British scientists had been working on similar projects, but we lagged behind the Teutons.

In the early days of the war neither the British nor ourselves had anything to match the Bismarck or Hitler's pocket battleships. Until American manufacturers, using the Rolls-Royce engine instead of the Allison air-cooled motor, improved the Mustang, his Focke-Wulfes and Messerschmitts were the finest and fastest planes in the skies. In artillery, tanks and rocket bombs he was a pioneer and pre-eminent.

Indeed, our eventual superiority resulted to a large extent from improvements which we made on arms captured from our continental foe. Once we mastered his models, our industrial capacity and belated exercise of inventiveness enabled us to overwhelm him.

WEAPONS: Der Fuehrer's geniuses of death were engaged in research for breaking the atom in the closing days of the war, as were their opposites among the United Nations forces. But his experts were closer to the secret than ours, and it is suspected that this was the "secret weapon" to which he referred so frequently even in the dark hours of doom.

Two events, in the opinion of our investigators, prevented Hitler from a full and possibly victorious capitalization of his superiority in this field. His impatience led him to precipitate global warfare with his Polish invasion before these strange and irresistible weapons had been perfected.

The other obstacle was our June 1944 descent on Normandy, which was made at least six months before he expected it. Had that assault been delayed until the same month in 1945, he might have been able to repel it and regain the offensive in a big way.

Our experts, as did the Kilgore report between the lines, note that the Germans still have the same resources, the same technique and the same inventive genius.

Unless checked permanently, there is no reason why they cannot again surprise the world with an armory of weapons even more amazing than those they hurled at the Allies from 1939 to 1945. The only difference will be that the V-2 rocket, instead of having a range of 40 miles, will become a transoceanic missile of destruction.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

WITH the Japanese war fully discussed by the Big Big Three it is natural that a new flood of rumors should engulf the press regarding modified "unconditional surrender" terms.

Advocates of smoking the pipe of peace at this stage of the conflict argue with great earnestness that the war must be shortened to save American lives.

Officials of some of the great foreign policy associations in New York caution that such an emotional appeal may prove deceptive.

They maintain that everyone wants to stop needless sacrifice. But the farsighted also are determined to make Japan harmless for keeps; otherwise the fruits of victory will be booted away as they were after World War I.

LEMAN

These men contend that this generation will be serverely criticized if within a decade or two our Pacific communities must live in fear of surprise V-bomb attacks from a revived, revengeful Japan and today's veterans and their children have to do the job all over again.

Realists agree that it may be advisable to give the Japanese people some opportunity to save face and to retain a measure of self respect so that liberal elements can oust the militarists and the Zaibatsus. Otherwise we should have to rule Nippon as a ward of Uncle Sam for countless years.

But some of those who favor compelling Tokyo to disgorge its stolen territories are willing to waive actual occupation of the homeland and rely on a military commission to pull the dragon's teeth.

VERSAILLES: This is exactly what we did with Germany in 1918.

A former United States ambassador to one of the European powers at that period and a close adviser of Woodrow Wilson told the writer, "General Bliss suggested after the German debacle in the Argonne that Hindenburg's men should drop their arms on the spot and go home bare-handed. But our Allies insisted that we should stay on this side of the frontiers in order 'to save lives.'

"Foch informed Haig and the word was passed on to Pershing, 'The French will not fight another minute after the armistice is announced, regardless of what the enemy may do.'"

Allied generals and statesmen at the time did not foresee a rehabilitated German military machine within a quarter of a century. They honestly thought that the demobilization of the enemy armies and the melting of its cannon would render the junkers helpless without the expenditure of blood which invasion and occupation might entail.

They just guessed wrong. They failed to realize that modern war leaves a shambles of wrecked munitions factories, modern industry can quickly get going again provided that the war spirit still flourishes in a nation's heart.

DISPUTE: The Versailles Treaty provisions for the disarmament of Germany were as sweeping as any since the days of Genghis Khan, much stiffer than those the ruthless Napoleon imposed on Prussia. Berlin promised to surrender within two months all arms, munitions and war materiel and to dismantle munitions plants — except for a few supplies for a supposedly token Reichswehr.

Allied Control officers sat back contentedly to watch German workmen destroy the accumulations. Soon some of our more suspicious inspectors discovered that the chastened laborers were stealing small arms and rifles. Large weapons disappeared in transit.

Finally we learned that factory magnates were losing huge artillery pieces which eventually were found behind secret walls.

DUPED: The true picture of Allied ignorance has never been told. The dupes kept mum and the world was in no mood to suspect the good, democratic, kaiser-hating Germans.

An army of complete occupation and our own workmen could have utterly destroyed these arms and could have controlled the armament plants. But we allowed the Germans to save face and we managed affairs by remote control — until the Allies ceased being Allies.

The Japs have a longer history of militarism than the Prussians and they have proved past masters in trickery and broken promises. Such a secretive race might hide many things and concoct new terrors if they were merely policed by a few inspectors.

Oldfashioned Demos Ride Again!

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — It's hard to beat these Democrats, that is, the old-fashioned kind.

The reference here is not to elections. The old-fashioned kind, when the party is comprised wholly of them, never win elections. The reference here is to putting on a show. You can't beat them at that. My, how they love a show and a parade!

First, it might be explained that the old-fashioned Democrat is a composite character, strictly political in context and contour. He is compounded of part Southern courtliness, dignity and long-windedness, with a dash of provincial humor, and part of the wit, geniality and gusto and the practical political acumen of the Big City boss.

STOKES

This compound forms the basis of the Democratic party normally —when it's out of office. It's only when the country gets tired of Republicans — solid, respectable folks—or when any change looks good that the Democratic party streaks off on a rampage of reform and attracts the support of all sorts of people.

Southerners In Parlor Again

The old-fashioned Democrat is coming back into his own around here again in this Truman administration. The Southern accent is heard again in the parlor. In the parlor, too, you may see once more the boys who spent such a long time in the back room. Bob Hannegan, running politics as usual, is re-introducing them to society.

It all makes for something between a camp meeting and a vaudeville show.

LIKE most Democratic National conventions, for example, when the Southern-Big City boss combination is predominant through sheer animal spirits, and when everybody can have so much fun, even getting mad at each other. Only in Democratic conventions, for instance, would you witness such a scene as that mad procession about the hall in Chicago back in 1932 led by the late Will Rogers and a mule at 3 o'clock in the morning. Republicans never let animals into their conventions, nor even rowdy, hilarious folks. The closest any animals ever got to a Republican convention was that procesion of 15 elephants which celebrated the candidacy of Frank Gannett at Philadelphia in 1940. But they were not admitted to the hall.

The festive, old-fashioned Democratic spirit is spilling over here in a new sort of event, a different kind of coming-out party.

Hooray For Fun!

The occasion is the swearing-in of new officials of the Truman administration, including cabinet officers, and you may see from the number of changes that this permits a practically continuous performance.

Formerly, a new official would be taken over in a corner somewhere with his family and a few of his friends, given the oath, congratulated, and that would be that. But not now.

A SPLENDID example of the new fashion was the swearing-in of Fred M. Vinson, that general utility man who now has reached the elevated station of Secretary of Treasury. The function was held in the rather gaudy Ways and Means committee room of the House, a spacious room. It was full to overflowing, signifying Mr Vinson's popularity.

He and retiring Secretary Morgenthau and ranking members of the Senate Finance committee and House Ways and Means committee sat on the dais, among the lights and baskets of flowers, with the rich curtain behind, looking like the Supreme court as Hollywood might do it.

Giving of the oath was only a start. Then the oratory flowed and flowed and flowed. The cameras clicked. For an hour Mr. Vinson was "the man who—" Senator Barkley (Ky.), the Democratic floor leader, talked, and so did Senators George, (D., Ga.), chairman of the Senate Finance committee, and White (R., Me.), Republican leader, and LaFollette (Prog., Wis.), and Representative Cooper (D., Tenn.), ranking majority member of Ways and Means. You would have thought they were nominating good old Fred for President.

And then someone did—and it was a Republican, Representative Gearhart (Calif.). He succumbed to the good fellowship and the persuasive oratory of his predecessors, and said he thought Mr. Vinson might aspire even higher yet.

You can never tell what may happen when these Democrats put on a show.

Braniff's Downtown Office Opens Today

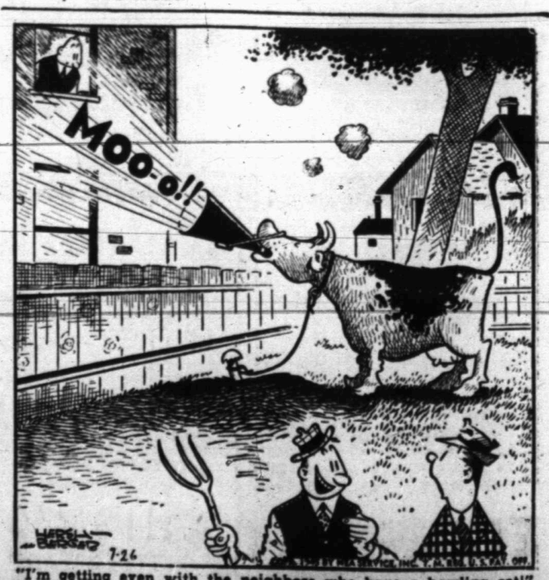

Braniff Airways will open offices in the Hilton hotel lobby Friday with Misses Betty Gilbert and Mary Paul Long in charge, it has been announced by Miss Connie Underwood of Amarillo, on temporary duty here.

Reservations on any Braniff flights or reservations on airlines to any point in the nation may be made at the office. Hours will be from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Since July 1, when Braniff started flights here, the office has been maintained in the operations office at Municipal airport, where passengers may also continue to make reservations.

Every piece of equipment that moves on the B-29, with the exception of the hydraulic braking system, is activated either by an electric motor or cable.

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Forgery Suspects Are Taken Here

A Crosbyton pair that has been described in Texas Department of Public Safety bulletins as wanted in numerous Texas counties for forgery since Oct. 7, 1944, was arrested early Thursday afternoon after they had checked out of a tourist camp and were leaving Lubbock.

Capt. Maney Gault, commanding officer of district ranger headquarters, and Elmer Reed, U. S. probation officer, arrested Ted Alton Davis, 39, and his 33-year-old wife, at 2:50 o'clock at Broadway and Ave. G.

Spotted By Reed

Reed, who knew Mr. and Mrs. Davis from days when he was Crosby county sheriff, and Capt. Gault were cruising in search of a felony suspect. Reed saw the Davises, accompanied by a 12-year-old son, driving into the intersection from South Ave. G. Davis drove up behind the officers and gave no resistance. He admitted his identity and offered to "plead guility to those charges."

"Those charges" referred, according to the Department of Public Safety bulletin, to 49 checks given in numerous Texas towns. Many of the counties involved have formal charges, the bulletin further said.

Officials sought to determine whether the pair had given any checks in Lubbock, and a check was underway in North Texas, where the man and woman had spent Tuesday night en route to Lubbock from Houston.

FBI and Public Safety records show Davis also is known as T. A. Davis, Alton Allen Davis and by other names; and the department lists Mrs. Davis also as Mrs. T. A. Davis.

17 Draftees Sent By Two Lubbock Boards

Seventeen registrants of Lubbock County Selective Service boards one and two left this week for Fort Bliss where they were to be inducted into the armed forces.

Board No. two sent J. T. Lamm for induction. Those going from Board No. one were G. C. Barrier, jr., William Henry Watson, jr., Max Sied, James G. Burdett, jr., Calvin L. Roberts, William Earl Vales, L. Alden Smith, L. Jefferson Samples, H. A. Cooper, jr., Roland H. Havens, James R. Glasgo, jr., Alfred M. Carson, James L. Smith, Mack Belton Walls, jr., B. STOCKS ON DOWNGRADE

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Bearish interpretations placed on the sharp swing to the left in the British elections and substantial defeat of the Churchill government today put the stock market generally on the downgrade with loses ranging from one to more than three points.

Transfers of 1,440,000 shares compared with 620,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-tock average dropped 1.3 point to 63.6 where it was back to its low of mid-April.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem lost 1¾ points each and, after the close, the latter voted the usual $1.50 dividend.

Prominent caualties included Santa Fe, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Internatoinal Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Standard Oil (NJ), Du Pont and Johns-Manville.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Cotton futures broke 75 cents a bale in late trading today on heav liquidation unsettlement in securities, over the British election reult.

Selling wa credited principally to commiion houe and New Orlean operators although some hedging was also in evidence. Final prices were 60 to 70 cents a bale lower.

Most traders reasoned that the Labor government in Britain might oppose a return of private trading in the export field and will favor government control over commodities.

Futures closed 60 to 75 cents a bale lower.

Three Sets Of Twins Confuse Navy Station

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 26 (AP)—To the constant distraction of their mates, three sets of identical twins, all of the same age, have been assigned to Company 180 at the Naval training center here, and mastering the ways of the Navy is an easy task compared to the problems of determining which brother should answer to which name.

The three sets of duplicates are the Moore twins, Lloyd and Floyd—names easily confused. Add the Owen twins, Hugh and Bert, and the Chinn twins, Hubert Wah and Ebert Mai, offspring of Chinese parents, and you have the ingredients for plenty of mix-ups.

The Moore twins are from Marshall, Tex., the Chinns from Los Angeles, and the Owens from Jacksonville, Tex.

Committee Named To Probe Institutions

AUSTIN, July 26 (UP) — House Speaker Claude Gilmer today appointed a committee of the Texas House of Representatives to investigate conditions at state eleemosynary institutions.

The committee consists of Reps. Jewell Helpinstill of Nacogdoches, chairman; C. S. McClellan of Eagle Lake and Mrs. Neveille H. Colson of Navasota.

The committee was authorized at the last session of the legislature.

Virginia has a town called Cuckoo, situated in Louisa County.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Wheat futures trading was an up and down affair today, prices opening lower, rallying quickly, and then falling again to fractions below the previous close.

Wheat dropped largely due to weak New York stocks. The rally was featured by buying by a commission house with southwestern connections. Mexico was reported to have purchased as much as 4,000,000 bushels of U. S. wheat, and traders believed the buying was lifting on hedges on cash sales in the southwest.

Wheat cloed ⅝ to 1 cent lower than the previous finish, September $1.63 ½-⅝, corn was unchanged, September $1.18 ½, oats were down ⅞ to 1 ⅜ cent, September 63 ¼-63, rye was ⅝ to 1 ⅜ cent off, September $1.43 ¾-$1.44, and barley was down ⅜, September $1.12 ¼.

Churchill's Fall May Intensify British Phase Of Jap Assaults

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

The political crash in Britain which ended Winston Churchill's regime as prime minister and elevated his one time deputy, Clement R. Attlee, to that post by an overwhelming Labor party victory may intensify the assault on Japan if the change affects at all the war in Asia.

It could serve to clinch Russia's attitude toward that conflict if that has not already been determined in the Big Three conference in Potsdam interrupted because of the political situation in Britain. There is much to indicate that may be the case, including the fact that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commanding the Allied but primarily British Southeastern Asia war zone, conferred at Potsdam with Mr. Churchill, Generalissimo Stalin and President Truman as well as with the British-American combined chiefs of staff.

SIMPSON

Only War Could Do It

Only the Japanese war could have led to Mountbatten's visit to Potsdam. It followed his recent conference with General MacArthur in the Philippines and recurrent reports that he is destined to take over the mopping-up campaign in the South Pacific as well as in Malaya, the Dutch Indies and Burma and Thailand, releasing the American ground commander for complete concentration on the "on to Tokyo" drive in the north.

The greatest significance in the official announcement from No. 10 Downing street of Mountbatten's presence in Potsdam was its inclusion of the statement that he had been in session not only with the Allied military high command there but with the Big Three group itself.

War Trend Not Affected

For that reason, and also because Mr. Attlee as successor to Mr. Churchill, participated in the Potsdam conference, there is every reason to assume that Churchill's fall will have no effect upon war measures against Japan projected there or elsewhere. It is a fair assumption that the rigid silence as to specific progress made in any direction of the Potsdam meetings enforced by all three governments will soon be broke, probably on Attlee's return there to take up the task to which he has fallen heir by British popular will. That was indicated in publication of the Churchill-Chiang Kai-Shek-Truman surrender ultimatum to Japan.

The Attlee ministry can count on lop-sided majorities to support its policies particularly relating to the prosecution of the war against Japan. That was not at issue in the election.

Powder River Division Due At Camp Howze

CAMP HOWZE, July 26. (AP)—Col. Russell J. Potts, Camp Howze commander, has received notice that the 91st division is scheduled tentatively to be stationed at Camp Howze, near Gainesville, Tex., for redeployment.

An announcement Tuesday had said the camp's infantry advanced replacement training center would be closed about Aug. 11.

The 91st, known as the Powder River division, has had more than a year's combat in Italy. The War department has announced that it is scheduled for return to the U. S. in September. It was formed originally by officers and men from the Northwest; gets its name from the Powder River in Oregon.

Condition of W. O. DeWitt of Fort Worth, father of Mrs. R. C. Harvey of 2602 Twenty-second, who has been ill in a Fort Worth hospital for several days, is still serious, it was reported here Thursday night. Mrs. Harvey went to Fort Worth Friday to be at her father's bedside. DeWitt has visited in Lubbock numerous times, it was said.

Class Finishes At LAAF Today

Two former Lubbock Army Air field graduates, one man from this area and thirteen other Texas combat veterans are in the latest class of student officers to complete the intensive six week's "post graduate" course of "all weather" instrument flying at the big west base today as plans are made for the arrival Saturday and Sunday of the tenth group of ribboned fighter and bomber pilots.

The group of veterans who arrive on the field over the weekend will be the second such class of ATC—Air Transport Command—men, veterans of the aerial war against the Nazis and Japs who upon their graduation at LAAF will fly the men and material in the Army's plan of redeployment to speed the war against Japan.

Sundown Man In Class

LAAF has been training instructors for the past several months for duty in the nationwide AAF Training Command to train other fliers in the latest methods of "all weather" instrument flying, but with the arrival of the last class three weeks ago the mission of the field was stepped up to train ATC veterans.

Upon their graduation at the field today, the big class of veterans will start the return trips to their base stations over the country to train other fliers in instrument flying.

1st Lt. Hunter H. Brannon, jr., son of Mr and Mrs. H. H. Brannon of Sundown, Texas, is the South Plains veteran in the graduating class. Lt. Brannon was on duty with the 13th Air Force in the Southwest Pacific and flew as a P-39 pilot against the Japs. He has the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters and the theater ribbon and three stars. Lt. Brannon was on duty in the Asiatic-Pacific area for more than 17 months and flew 124 missions against the enemy.

He was a student at Texas Tech from 1938 until 1940.

Schwellenbach To Graduate

Also among the graduates is Capt. Thomas W. Schwellenbach, son of Secretary of Labor L. B. Schwellenbach.

The two former LAAF grads who received their wings at LAAF and since have played prominent roles in the defeat of the Luftwaffe and the blasting of the Japs are 1st Lt. Jordan J. Lee of Stillwater, Okla., a graduate of Class 43-A and a veteran of the SW Pacific, and 1st Lt. John D. McClurkin of Clay Center, Kans., a veteran of the European area, a graduate of Class 43-I.

Lt. Lee was a veteran C-46 cargo plane pilot in the SW Pacific and flew 320 missions supplying MacArthur's forces steadily blasting the Japs back toward their own doorsteps. Lt. McClurkin was a B-26 pilot in the ETO and was on duty with the Ninth Air force. He flew 67 missions against the enemy.

The other Texans in the class include 1st Lt. Neil E. Lloyd of Houston; Capt. James H. Wilson of Edinburg; 1st Lt. William R. Cook and 1st Lt. Robert W. Crittenden of Fort Worth; 1st Lt. Gerard B. Piland of Port Arthur; Capt. William A. McLaughlin of Mineral Wells; Capt. Ervin J. Ludwig of Brenham; 1st Lt. Willie H. Pope of Luling; Capt. T. L. Carter of Denton; 1st Lt. Boyd A. Smith of Odem; 1st Lt. Lubie M. Roberson of Beaumont; 1st Lt. Willie P. Martens of Hockley, and Capt. Clarence M. Lambright of Houston.

U. S. Bombers Will Level Jap Cities, Doolittle Declares

OKINAWA, July 26. (AP)—American bombers will level Japanese cities and transform the country into a nation of nomads, Lieutenant General Doolittle predicted today.

The stocky general who led the first air raid on Tokyo three years ago personally raised the flag over his newly established Eight Air Force headquarters here and predicted his Superforts would be striking at Japan by late next month. They will use six or seven Okinawa airdromes, augmenting the 20th Bomber command B-29s operating from Marianas island bases.

Nippon will be plastered nightly from the air by 5,000 planes in one day, he told newsmen, until their industries and air force are wiped out.

"The actual tonnage dropped on Japan will be about twice that which was dropped on Germany from England," he said.

Doolittle echoed comments of other air generals that Japan undoubtedly has a considerable number of planes but is saving them to repel the feared invasion. "Germany did the same thing," he observed.

From the highest peak of the 30 by 12 mile Isle of Man five kingdoms can be seen—Ireland, Scotland, Man, Wales and England.

ACUTE GAS PAINS STOMACH DISTRESS?

Try Hot Water To Which A Little Neutracid Has Been Added

At the first sign of distress smart men and women now know just what to do. They put a teaspoonful of Neutracid in half a glass of real hot water and drink it after meals, that's all. Neutracid is new — it's made especially for the symptomatic relief of gastric hyperacidity. Nothing quite like Neutracid to bring fast, quick relief to the sufferer of stomach distress, acid indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, and other conditions when caused by excessive stomach acidity.

Battle Record Of Cruiser Recounted

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—A 221-000-mile frontline tour — the war's longest for any major naval unit—put the light cruiser Santa Fe through 42 air strikes, 12 shore bombardments and four surface actions.

And during those 25 months, the Santa Fe sank seven Japanese ships and downed as many enemy planes.

Telling the story today of her record tour of active duty without a major overhaul, the Navy said the Santa Fe did not lose a man or suffer any serious battle damage.

Injured Crewmen Of Superfort Identified

HARVARD, Neb., July 26 (AP)—Col. William Lewis, jr., commanding officer of the Harvard Army Air field, today identified Sgt. Oscar A. Meinhardt of St. Marys, Kans., and Pfc. Owen B. Rumble of Denison, Ia., as the gunners who were seriously injured in the crash of their B-29 15 miles southwest of Amarillo, Tex., last night.

Sgt. Primo Angeletti of New Haven, Conn., received minor injuries; while other members of the crew suffered only slight injuries, he added. No one was killed.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. ADV.
