

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

YOUNG FELLOWS who are wasting about for a profitable occupation would probably do well to consider an idea that County agent J. M. Cooper has suggested. That's to get yourself some of Eastland County's sandy land and become a farmer.

Due partly to the drought, no new orchards have been planted in the county during the past few years. This county's sandy land, properly managed, will grow anything and in abundance. Commercial orchards are pretty valuable properties.

On February 19, the County agent has organized an Orchard Field Day — details of which may be found elsewhere in today's Press. The agent has issued a special invitation to young fellows interested in this sort of thing to attend, listen and ask questions.

MRS. LEWIS STARR, chairman of the March of Dimes drive in the Cisco area, tells us that they're picking up the miniature iron lungs over town to complete the project. The total amount of money on hand from the campaign here amounted to $2,168.08. And there was more to be counted. Mrs. Starr hoped the total would reach $2,500 for Cisco when all the counting has been completed.

If you know of any of the miniature iron lungs that have not been picked up, give Mrs. Starr a telephone call. Also, if you have been missed in the drive and want to make a donation, you can leave your check with Treasurer Robert O. White at the First National Bank.

THERE ARE FOUR of the most attractive puppies out at the Sutton Crofts house that you ever saw. They were born on Christmas Day, and they were named Dasher, Dancer, Donner and Blitzen — after Santa's reindeer. Now, the puppies are ready for homes. And Mrs. Crofts tells us that the puppies will be given to the first four people who call after 5 p. m. at their house. Free of charge, she adds.

SEE BY THE papers that Mr. Pete Shotwell, who is retiring as head football coach over at Abilene High School, got his start in Cisco back in 1916. Some of the local fellows tell us that he was here only a year or two and that was the beginning of top quality football teams in our town. Mr. Shotwell has had a long and distinguished career.

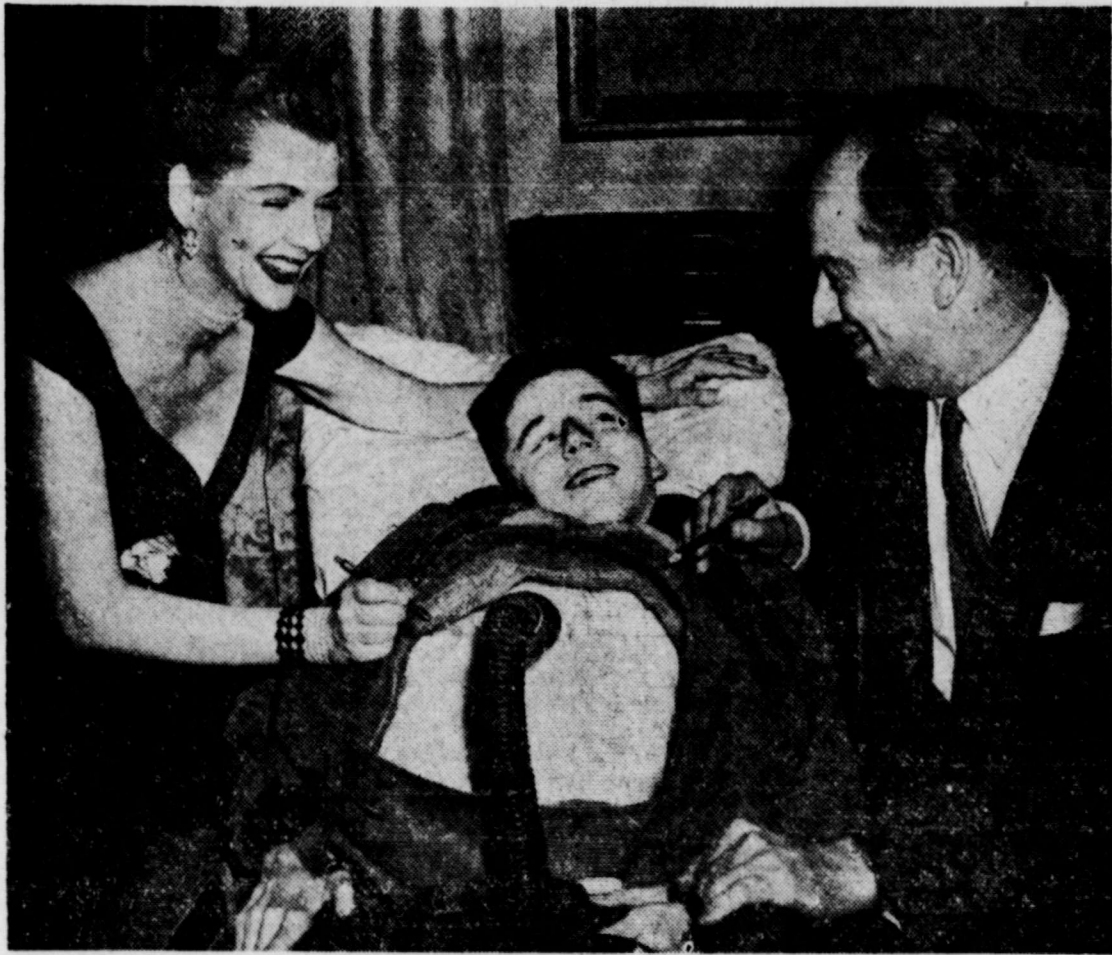

MANAGER CARL Irby of the Cisco Locker Plant tells us that they've decided that people in this section want a locker plant, judging from the way things have been going since the plant re-opened last December. Yesterday was their biggest day, he reports, with ten hogs and two calves coming in from throughout the area. The locker has four people on the job now.

HERE'S AN ITEM in Editor Roy Killingsworth's Lions Club newspaper: "If a man runs after money, he's money mad. If he saves it, he's a capitalist. If he married it, he's a fortune hunter. If he spends it, he's a play boy. If he doesn't make it, he's a ne'er-do-well. If he doesn't try to make it, he lacks ambition. If he gets it without working, he's a parasite. If he acquires it after a long hard life of hard labor, he's been a fool who obtained nothing from life."

With or without money, you can't win, huh Roy?

THE TALLEST television antenna in town probably belongs to the Charles S. Sanders. They've put one up that towers 120 feet above the ground. Haven't received a report yet on the reception. One TV set owner tells us that his friends claim they're getting 75% reception on their sets. And that, he figures, accounts for the 25% he gets.

THE BOYS OUT at the Lake Cisco Skating Rink tell us that business is picking up. Tuesday nights are now known as "Ladies Night" at the rink. Ladies who own skates are admitted free. Otherwise, they get in at half price. Several big parties have come to town for skating sessions in recent days.

FOR A POLIO VICTIM—Sixteen-year-old polio patient Bob Daly of Brooklyn enjoyed a visit with the stars of the Broadway hit, "Time Out For Ginger," Melvyn Douglas, right, and Polly Rowles. The actor and actress used grease pencils to autograph Bob's chest respirator, a plastic breathing device he now uses after two years in an iron lung.

ORCHARD FIELD DAY IS PLANNED FOR COUNTY ON FEBRUARY 19th

The annual Eastland County Orchard Field Day will be held on Thursday, February 19, on the J. D. Inabnet farm in the Pioneer Community, according to a recent announcement from the County Agent's office.

Topics to be discussed during the all day orchard meeting include: The need for new cash crops on the sandy farms in the West Cross Timbers area, new peach varieties, fertilization, pruning, control of insects and diseases, cost factors in fruit production, marketing and round table discussion of orchard problems.

Houston Names Former Ciscoan 'Fireman of Year'

A 26 year old former Cisco man was named "Fireman of the Year" of the Houston Fire Department, by the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting honoring firemen held Monday, February 2.

Arnold Gwen Wooten, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Wooten of Cisco, was given the honor for action described as "far" above his ordinary duties.

The award came as a complete surprise to Wooten, who had been ordered to act as an usher at the program honoring the Houston Fire Department.

He had been selected for the honor by action in saving two Houston people from a burning home last November, but the selection was kept secret until midway in the program.

Houston Mayor Roy Hofheinz told of the achievements which resulted in the award as he made the presentation of a plaque and a certificate to Fireman Wooten. It was the first presentation of the award, which will be made annually by the Jaycees.

On November 26 Wooten's company answered a call to the blazing home of Donald W. Yeager of Houston. The Cisco man, a member of the pipe and ladder unit, crawled into the smoke-filled second story bedroom and discovered seven year old Ricky Yeager unconscious in a closet.

He carried the boy to fellow firemen and returned into the blazing house to find Mrs. Yeager, and carried her down the ladder to safety. Despite the rescue, Mrs. Yeager and her son died a few hours later in a hospital there.

Fireman Wooten's actions were described by Mayor Hofheinz as "Far above his ordinary duties." In addition to the plaque and certificate Mr. and Mrs. Wooten were presented hundreds of dollars worth of merchandise as gifts from Houston merchants.

are R. G. Burwell, district extension agent, Stephenville; John Hutchinson, horticulturist of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service; J. W. Foster, Jr., fruit grower and T. E. Denman, horticulturist, Agriculture Experiment Station, Stephenville.

A tour of the Inabnet Orchards will be taken at the conclusion of the meeting scheduled to start promptly at 10 o'clock and run until mid-afternoon with time out for a picnic lunch at noon.

All orchard men of the county are invited to attend. Young men who may be potential fruit growers are especially invited to attend, it was said. Some of the large commercial orchards in the county are beginning to "play out." Most of the orchard owners in the county are men of middle age or older with very few young men in the business.

No new commercial orchards in the county have been set out in the past several years, it was explained, and many of the old trees due to the extremely low temperature in November of 1950 and the 1951 and 1952 droughts, have either died or have been damaged to the extent that they are going to die, it was explained.

Those attending are asked to bring along a picnic lunch. Free coffee will be available on the grounds.

Bobby Ray Tatom Discharged After Korean War Duty

Sgt. Bobby Ray Tatom, who entered the service on January 26, 1951, received his discharge January 30, 1953, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. During his two years of duty, Sgt. Tatom served a year in the states and a year in Korea. He was assigned to the 3rd Infantry Division with the combat engineers.

Sgt. Tatom was guest of honor at a Sunday dinner and family reunion at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mabry Tatom of Putnam.

Attending the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Junior Tatom and Kenney of Abilene; Mrs. Ben Payne and Elva Payne of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Tatom of Cross Plains; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burman, Retha and Gayle, of Putnam; Miss Alyce Everett of Cisco; and the honoree and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Mabry Tatom, and Emmettene and Lynn of Putnam.

Those visiting Sunday afternoon included Mr. and Mrs. Alton Tatom of Cross Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Blain Odom and Mike and Marion of Rowden, Cpl. Robert Whisenant of Merkel, and Mrs. Marvin Eubanks and Mrs. Walter Francisco of Putnam.

Post Offices To Aid Heart Drive

The Post Office Department is cooperating with the Texas Heart Association and its affiliates throughout the state by accepting contributions to the 1953 Heart Fund campaign addressed to "HEART, care of local post office."

Contributions received in post offices anywhere in the state for the $408,000 drive will be channeled by local postmasters to a central accounting office, which will then remit them to authorized representatives of the Texas Heart Association.

This is the third successive year that the Post Office Department has cooperated in this way with the Heart Fund, which makes possible the research, education and community service programs of the Heart Associations.

"On the Track," a motion picture tracing the growth and importance of the American railroads during the past century, was shown Wednesday as the program feature at the weekly meeting of the Cisco Lions Club at the Victor Hotel Dining Room.

Lion Bill Bragg was in charge of the program. The picture was filmed by the Association of American Railroads.

Guests at the luncheon included C. E. Williams of Annapolis, Md., R. J. Stevenson of Cisco, B. A. Butler of Cisco, Lloyd Snyder of Dallas, and Clell Reed of Cisco.

Bob Hammett of the First National Bank and Bill Kendall of Kendall Refrigeration Service were introduced as new members.

NATIONAL GUARD UNIT IS GIVEN OFFICIAL FEDERAL INSPECTION

Major R. E. Roy, Fort Army Inspector from Fort Sam Houston, and a party of 49th Armored Division officials from San Angelo gave Battery A, 648th Armored Field Artillery Battalion, the annual federal inspection here Wednesday afternoon and night.

Major Roy and party inspected the armory building and grounds and equipment during the afternoon and reviewed the men at the night meeting. Captain Frank N. Sayre, commanding officer of the Cisco unit, reported that all of his men were present for the inspection.

The inspection party was complimentary of the condition of the building, equipment and men for the event. The visiting officials and leaders of the Cisco guard unit were

Wranglers Tangle With Henderson At Gym Tonight

The Cisco Junior College basketball team meets the Henderson County Junior College team in a TJCAC game at Community Gym Thursday (tonight) at 8 o'clock.

The Cisco team defeated the Henderson club, 78-74, in an overtime game at Athens on Jan. 23.

The Wranglers returned Wednesday morning from a trip that took them to Brenham Monday night for a game with Blinn, and to Bryan Tuesday night for a contest with Allen Academy.

The Wranglers defeated Blinn, 82-80, and lost to the Academy, 78-64.

Saturday night, CJC teams play a doubleheader at Community Gym. The Wranglers play San Angelo Junior College of the Pioneer Conference and the Wranglers play the Airmails of Dallas.

An Investment In The Future (An Editorial)

Organization of the Cisco Foundation, chartered by the State of Texas to encourage new industry and payrolls, has produced investments by business and civic leaders of approximately $65,000 in about a month of work on the proposition. The immediate goal is to obtain subscriptions in the amount of $100,000 and leaders of the Foundation are confident that the goal will be reached shortly.

Since the Foundation's charter sets out that the money can only be used to buy sites and erect buildings for sale or rent to suitable payroll industries, there is no way for an investor to lose money through an investment. If the Foundation's funds are not used within a specified time, the money will be refunded to the investors.

If the Foundation finds ways to invest its money for payroll industries, the investors will be rewarded twofold — the money will eventually return to the Foundation in the form of rent and the business activity that always follows in the wake of new industry will materially benefit every business firm and property owner. Another important benefit would be the creation of new jobs for our people.

An exhaustive study and examination of the Foundation's purpose and potential will convince anyone that there is nothing but opportunity for gain in the program. An investment in the Foundation offers each of us a chance to contribute to our future security — the building of Cisco.

The success of similar foundations has demonstrated many times in a number of Texas cities that the idea is sound. Leaders of the movement in Cisco have used good judgment in their planning and diligence in their determined efforts for success. Our civic leaders deserve a vote of confidence from us all for the splendid work they are doing.

Those of you who have not been given an opportunity to have a part in the Foundation program have been invited to contact President James McCracken or Cashier Dick Lauderdale of the First National Bank to discuss the matter. They are prepared to answer any questions and provide details of the proposition.

Through the Foundation, Cisco residents have an opportunity to contribute to their own progress, secure in the knowledge that their investments can produce results or the money will be refunded. Let's put this project over the top in short order.

JUDGES ARE NAMED FOR ANNUAL EASTLAND COUNTY STOCK SHOW

The judges for the different divisions at the annual Eastland County Livestock Show on March 27 and 28 have been named. C. M. McCain, general superintendent, said recently.

The two day show will be held at the old Eastland airport one mile northeast of that city.

James A. Gray, extension animal husbandman, San Angelo, will judge the breeding classes of beef cattle, hogs, sheep and goats. Gray has judged many county shows in the southwest part of the state for the past several years, it was said.

The dairy cattle will be judged by J. R. Shelton, Jr., Brownwood. Shelton, prominent breeder of registered Jersey cattle, served in the same capacity at the 1952 show.

Walter Rice, Fort Worth, an official of the stockyards company of that city will place the boys and girls fat steers and fat barrows. Rice will also bring along a judge for the boys and girls fat lamb classes from one of the commission companies operating on the Fort Worth yards.

The horse show will not be held in connection with the livestock show this year, according to Sutton Crofts, Cisco, president of the Eastland County Livestock Raisers' Association, sponsors of the show. It is expected that the annual horse show will be held later on in the spring.

Blood Is Needed For Resident Of Putnam

Sixteen pints of blood are needed to repay a blood bank for transfusions given Mrs. Loren Everett of Putnam, it was reported today. Any type of blood will be acceptable to the blood bank to replace the blood given Mrs. Everett.

Anyone who will volunteer blood was asked to contact M. D. Conger or Jack Everett at Cisco High School. The blood will be taken at the offices of Dr. E. E. Addy and forwarded to the bank. Mrs. Everett has been ill for several weeks. Her husband is a brother of Jack Everett of Cisco.

Public Meeting Is Called To Study New School Bill

All officers of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce have been re-elected and a new work program is now being prepared, according to an announcement today. Officers re-elected were E. L. Jackson, president; Anton White, vice-president; W. B. Wright, finance officer; B. A. Butler, secretary, and Mrs. Peggy Gallagher, office secretary.

The new board of directors, naming the officers at its initial organization meeting this week, decided to sponsor a public meeting for 7:30 p. m. Monday at the First National Bank for the purpose of acquainting interested citizens with a bill now before the Texas Legislature that would increase the amount of money each individual school district would contribute to the state's school fund.

Supt. Arlin Bint of the City School System appeared before the directorate to explain the bill, and the board voted to sponsor the public meeting for the benefit of area residents. It was noted that any increase in the amount of money the schools pay the state would have to be obtained through taxation.

"Anything that would raise our taxes should be considered by all the people," a spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce said. "And for this reason, we are calling the public meeting to give anyone interested an opportunity to learn the facts about the matter."

The board reviewed the work of the past year and discussed a number of industrial matters. Work of civic leaders in organizing the Cisco Foundation to aid industrialization was complimented and the board pledged its support in any way possible.

Pastor's Mother Injured In Mishap

The Rev. Sidney Spain, pastor of the First Christian Church, was in Petersburg, Virginia, this week at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. T. J. Spain, who was in a serious condition from injuries received when she was struck by a car Friday.

Reports from the Petersburg Hospital were that her condition was serious but that she was expected to recover. Details of the accident were meager here, but it was reported that she was struck by a car while she was walking along a sidewalk there. It was reported that the car jumped the curb before striking Mrs. Spain.

Mrs. Spain did not accompany her husband to Virginia. She is staying in Rule with her parents while Rev. Spain is away.

REV. J. C. HOLMAN

The Church of the Nazarene. The three day meeting begins Friday and ends Sunday.

Services will be held at 7:30 p. m. each day and the young people of the church will have a big hand in conducting the services.

Mrs. Holman will accompany her husband to Cisco for the services, and will join him in conducting the singing and music for the meeting.

The program for Thursday night will include a visitation campaign and a fellowship hour with the young people of the Eastland church in Eastland.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

Modern homemakers are learning how color wisely used and furniture well placed can improve the looks of a room and actually make the people who use it happier. If surroundings mean so much to the healthy, how much more important they are to the sick.

The sickroom should be light, cheerful, and well ventilated. It should contain only a few pieces of furniture, and if possible, articles in it should be of material easily cleaned.

The ideal temperature of the sickroom is about 70 degrees Fahrenheit. Cross ventilation is good as long as a draft is not directly on the patient. If there is only one window, it can be opened at the top and bottom to maintain good circulation. Sometimes a wind deflector can be attached to a window near the patient's bed, allowing it to be open without causing a draft.

Glare in the patient's eyes should be avoided. For a night light, a lamp can be placed on or near the floor. If a light at the patient's eye level must remain on, it should be shielded with a covering which will not catch on fire.

If the patient is confined to bed for a long period and a hospital bed can't be rented or bought, an ordinary bed can be raised on blocks to make care easier for the home nurse. Since the patient will spend most, if not all, of his time in bed, a firm mattress without lumps is almost essential.

A table or chair should be provided for the patient's personal belongings (toilet articles, books, cigarettes, etc.) near the bedside and an extra chair for a visitor placed far enough from the bed to avoid infection, yet at a place where conversation will be easy for the patient.

The sickroom should be cleaned in a manner to avoid raising dust. If available, a vacuum cleaner is ideal, provided its noise doesn't disturb the patient too much. However, cleaning with soap and water or an oiled mop or dustcloth are entirely satisfactory. Small rugs should be removed from the sickroom to be cleaned.

New Alfalfas Promising for Dryland Pastures

Spreading type alfalfa plant showing root which may extend 12 to 15 feet. From 25-year-old field, Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Are the new "dryland grazing" alfalfas true grazing types which will withstand severe drought and can be grazed without injury? This question is asked by Dr. O. S. Aamodt, forage specialist, in CROPS & SOILS and similar questions are being asked in many sections of the country.

Although there are about 18 million acres of alfalfa in the United States today, it is evident that farmers would like to grow even more if suitable varieties can be found for those areas where present varieties are not well adapted.

A legume capable of persisting under the climatic and grazing conditions in the Great Plains would be a major contribution to forage production in that region. Nitrogen deficiencies, which now limit the production of grasses in this area, could be corrected by an associated legume. Furthermore, the grasses are usually low in protein during summer, fall and winter. A legume would add to the nutritive value, particularly protein content of the forage.

The search by agronomists and seedsmen for native introduced legumes offered little encouragement until the new dryland grazing alfalfas began to show promise. These alfalfas have grown in various parts of the world for centuries without attracting great attention.

With the drought in the 1930's, people recognized the need for grasses and legumes for soil improvement and forage production. Interest in such earlier grass introductions, as crested wheatgrass and smooth bromegrass was revived and developed in the new soil improvement and conservation programs. For some reason, the revival of alfalfas adapted to Western soil conditions was further overlooked until the 1940's, when it became increasingly obvious that a legume was needed to keep the grasses vigorous and the soil productive.

Seed of one of the creeping alfalfas was received by a farmer in Idaho and planted with other alfalfas. A local composite variety adapted to the 10-inch rainfall of the region, was produced by hybridization and given the name of Sevelra.

Another variety produced probably in much the same way as Sevelra was found near Klamath Falls, Oregon. The farmer-owner called it a weed and wished to know how to eradicate it until he found out its real identity and value.

Some of the most promising plants from this stand had a spread, with underground roots, of approximately 12 to 15 feet. This variety has now been officially named "Nomad". A foundation field has been established, the variety is being certified, and limited amounts of seed are being distributed commercially over the region where earlier experiments indicate that it may be adapted.

A properly drawn will can be the means of short-cutting many legal formalities, and saving a great deal of time in distributing the estate of a decedent among his rightful heirs. It may also serve to save many dollars in legal fees and court costs.

As an example, whenever a person dies without a will and it is necessary for the probate court to appoint an administrator of his estate, the person so appointed is required to post a bond. This bond is for the purpose of insuring the faithful performance of his duties. When signed by individuals, the amount thereof must be double the estimated value of the personal property of the estate plus a reasonable amount to cover prospective rents and other income from real estate involved.

When issued by a bonding company, the estimated value of the personal property need not be doubled. The administrator's bond must be kept in force until the estate is finally closed and he is discharged from his obligation by the court.

The same rule applies to an executor under a will, unless the testator has specified that no bond shall be required. This provision may be inserted or left out of the will at the option of the maker. Needless to say, there are situations in which the bond serves a real purpose. But when not needed, the statutory requirement may prove a distinct annoyance to the executor and a burden upon the estate in the form of annual premium payments.

Another example: A court appointed administrator may not sell any property of an estate without an order of the court authorizing him to do so. He must make application to the court for approval of each sale. The court must be advised of and approve the sales price and the manner in which the same is to be collected. Similar provisions apply to the making of mineral leases and other transactions.

These provisions apply equally to the executor of a will, unless the testator has freed him from such requirements. A single short paragraph inserted in a will designating him as an independent executor in appropriate phraseology may serve this purpose. Then he will have a free hand to dispose of property upon short notice whenever a favorable opportunity arises, with a minimum of legal formality.

Since every application or other paper filed with the probate court and every order obtained from the court involves the expenditure of attorney fees for its preparation and court costs for its handling by the clerk, in proper cases many dollars may be saved for the heirs by adequate provisions of a will.

A free pamphlet containing useful information on wills and related matters is under preparation. To reserve your copy, merely print your name and address on a postcard and mail to State Bar of Texas, Austin 15, Texas.

Vets Questions And Answers

Q — I've just been released from the Army and I need treatment right away for a bad leg injury I suffered in Korea. What must I do to get this treatment from VA without delay?

A — Go to any VA hospital or regional office with your discharge papers and with any other evidence you may have showing that you suffered your disability in Service. As a Korean veteran, you may be entitled to emergency outpatient treatment.

Q — I am a blinded veteran, and I understand I am entitled to a seeing-eye dog at Government expense. But I can't afford the expenses of going to the place where I'm supposed to learn how to adjust to the use of the dog. Is it possible for VA to pay these expenses?

A — Yes. VA may pay necessary travel expenses to and from the point where readjustment is available, as well as your meals and lodging during the period of readjustment.

Q — I am considered totally disabled for insurance purposes, and yet I only receive a 20 percent disability compensation. Can my compensation be increased?

A — Only if the service-connected disability is shown to have become more severe. For insurance purposes, there may have been other non-service-connected disabilities which, when combined with your service-connected ailment, produced total disability. Also, the criteria for determining total disability are different in insurance from those for compensation matters.

Ross Kemp of the Texas Department of Public Safety in its Abilene office, presented the program at the regular weekly meeting of the Moran Luncheon Club Wednesday. The program was a 30 minute film stressing driver courtesy.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN—No husband is legally permitted to be present when his wife is signing a legal document. The theory is that he might unduly influence her. Some theory! Anyhow it's the law. But women who take an interest in legislative matters are trying to bring about its repeal. This is one of the dozen projects that attract the interest of women, who have come a long way in establishing themselves around the capital in the last 30 years.

Take it from Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, who was secretary of state from 1927 to 1933—things were a lot different 30 years ago. Then the women were trying to get the right to vote, but the "suffragettes" were subject to more ridicule than serious consideration from the male lawmakers. The women were determined, however, and in 1918 Texas became the first Southern state to grant primary suffrage to women.

The difference today is like that between the daguerreotype and television.

Today there are more women than men around the legislative halls.

There are some 200 of them who attend to the members' typing, filing, and other secretarial chores. Not only that, but there also are four feminine lawmakers.

Two women are serving their second terms in the House. They are Mrs. Dorothy Gillis Gurley of Del Rio and Miss Virginia Duff of Ferris.

Miss Duff is thought to be the smallest person ever to serve in the legislature. She is just under five feet tall and weighs 91 pounds. During last summer's campaign her weight went down to 86. Miss Duff says she is "Little but loud."

A freshman member of the House is Miss Anita Blair of El Paso, who lost her sight in an automobile accident in 1936.

Miss Blair has been informed by the American Foundation for the Blind that she is the first blind woman ever to be elected to public office.

Fawn, a 14-year-old seeing-eye dog, accompanies Miss Blair around the capital.

The legislature's present four women members were antedated by Miss Margie E. Neal of Carthage, who was Texas' first woman senator. She was elected in 1927 and served until 1935.

Also by Mrs. Edith Wilmons of Dallas, first Texas woman legislator. She was elected to the House and served in the 38th Legislature.

Some of the measures in which women are interested at this session are those that would:

1. Permit women to serve on juries. A resolution for this purpose has the support of Representative Horace B. Houston Jr. of Dallas and Lamar Zively of Temple. The resolution, if passed would result in a vote of the people on a constitutional amendment.

2. Permit women to sell separate property without the consent of their husbands, if the property belonged to the woman before her marriage or was acquired by her through inheritance. Women have long sought this privilege.

3. Abolish the separate acknowledgement requirement for wives. This is the one that chases the husband out of the room while the wife is signing a legal document. Representative D. H. Buchanan of Longview is a supporter of this one.

4. Extend homestead tax exemptions to single persons. Many single women, as well as men, support relatives and should have the exemption the same as married couples, say adherents of this proposal.

5. Keep the motor vehicle inspection law. Officials of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers are behind this proposition. Some changes might be required, the board of managers agreed, to make the law workable. But the P-TA group thought the law ought to be retained.

6. Increase the basic teaching salary to $3,000 per year and give raises to principals and supervisors. This is another goal of the P-TA.

Approved by a house committee was a proposed constitutional amendment that would increase the salaries of legislators from $10 to $25 per day during the first 120 days of the session.

Members would get $5 per day after the first 120 days, the same as at present.

Two bills were aimed at reducing traffic accidents. Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano introduced one that would impose a minimum five-day jail sentence on drunken drivers.

Representative Thomas R. Joseph Jr. of Waco advocates increasing drivers' license fees and spending the money to hire more highway patrolmen.

Governor Allan Shivers, who owns two newspapers, became a reporter to advocate raising salaries for teachers. Last week many Texas newspapers printed the first of a series of articles, under the Governor's by-line, advocating the increase.

The Texas Prison Board assures the legislature that disaster may result unless $3.5 million are spent for a new prison building at Eastham Farm.

The present farm facilities are "intolerable and indecent," the board's report said, and 1,200 prisoners could easily break out of the Brazoria County enclosure and cover the state in 24 hours.

Eventually, the state prison system is expected to become self-supporting.

The governing board reported that the average daily cost of keeping prisoners has decreased from 99 cents to 49 cents in the past five years.

Bronson Morgan of Jasper, a member of the board, said the system will maintain itself as soon as the farm and industrial programs reach maturity.

The state pays out a lot of money every month to rent office space in private buildings around the capital.

Representative Bill Daniel of Liberty wants the state to put up its own office buildings on land near the capital, now owned by the state.

If authorized by the legislature, the state would issue $6 million in bonds to construct the buildings.

Daniel says the state's rent bill in Austin now amounts to $250,000 per year.

Plans to rent the land have been temporarily sidetracked. Representative Thomas R. Joseph of Waco and Curtis Ford Jr. of Corpus Christi offered a resolution to give Missouri to the national military establishment, "for such use as they see fit, if any use can be found."

The idea was to get back at Former-President Truman for giving away Texas' tidelands.

The whole thing was a joke, but Speaker Reuben Stenterfitt solemnly declared that the resolution concerned broad legislative policy.

Polio Vaccines Still Undergoing Tests, Cox Says

AUSTIN, Feb. 5. — Reports of a vaccine capable of preventing polio and the use of gamma globulin for minimizing the effects of the disease are heralded as major achievements in the research against this greatcrippler and killer of children. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns that both are still in the experimental stage. While they hold great promise much study will yet have to be done before being available to the general public.

In the meantime, Dr. Cox advises that everyone observe the known rules of sanitation. These practices have proven their value not alone in the prevention of polio, but of other diseases such as typhoid fever, dysentery and malaria. Even when a definite preventive of polio is available to the public they should not discontinue their efforts toward maintaining sanitary surroundings.

Sanitation efforts should be carried out every month and every day in the year. Householders, business houses and industry are responsible for keeping their property in a sanitary condition. Cities must furnish an uncontaminated water supply, maintain an efficient sewage disposal system and proper garbage collection and disposal.

Dr. Cox placed the responsibility on the individual when he said, "Nonsanitary places do not make the person but the person makes the places." If you have been lax in maintaining cleanliness of your surroundings during the past few months, now is a good time to start an intensive clean up. Texans can help prevent disease and assure themselves of better health by maintaining a high standard of sanitation.
