How's that? College Heights

Q. Why isn't the policy of allowing College Heights first-graders to leave at 11:15 a.m. the first week of school extended to all the elementary schools?

A. Superintendent Lynn Hise said the program is not district policy but is left up to the individual principals. The principals usually discuss with the teachers whether early dismissal is needed on their campus, Hise said.

Soviets criticize 'Star Wars' test

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced it will "consider itself free" to place anti-satellite systems in space if the United States goes ahead with plans to test an anti-satellite weapon.

The official news agency Tass made the announcement Wednesday in a statement thought to have the authorization of top Kremlin leaders. U.S. officials responded that the statement had "little practical meaning" because the Soviets already have an anti-satellite system.

U.S. sources in Washington said the U.S. Air Force had planned to carry out the first test of its anti-satellite weapon Wednesday but the Pentagon postponed it to ensure compliance with requirements that Congress be notified.

The Tass announcement, which appeared to be timed to coincide with the planned test, accused the United States of "taking yet another step to escalate the arms race and spread it to space."

Only the Communist Party daily Pravda and the government daily Izvestia today carried the text of the Tass statement, which was distributed too late for many of the mass circulation dailies to print.

However, the Defense Ministry newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda ran an article referring to the planned U.S. test.

"The practical deployment of ASAT (the anti-satellite system) ... would be a dangerous destabilizing factor in the international situation because it would pose a direct threat to Soviet satellites," the paper wrote.

It linked testing of an anti-satellite weapon with the U.S.

research program for space-based missile defenses, and noted that Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev has said the Soviet Union will not allow the United States to achieve military superiority.

Tass said if the U.S. test is conducted, the Soviet Union will feel free to lift a Soviet moratorium on anti-satellite weapons announced in August 1983.

"Tass is authorized to state that if the United States holds tests of anti-satellite weapons against a target in outer space, the Soviet Union will consider itself free of its unilateral commitment not to place anti-satellite systems in space," the statement said. "The entire responsibility for the further development of events will rest entirely on the American side."

Tass said the U.S. test is "an action directly leading to the commencement of the deployment of a new class of dangerous armaments — strike space weapons."

The U.S. statement said the American testing program was important "to re-establishing the balance in this area."

Building costs top $1 million

The city of Big Spring issued 27 building permits in August for construction estimated to total $1.04 million, more than double the estimated cost for construction in August 1984.

In August 1984, the city issued 32 permits and collected $983 in permit fees for construction estimated to cost $429,300. This August the city collected $1,542 in fees, according to city records.

The largest single item in the August permits is a transmission and distribution center for Texas Electric Services Co. at 1700 W. Interstate 20. The building will cost $896,280 to construct.

Architect for the project is Gary and Co., and general contractor is Lee George Construction Co.

In addition, the city granted permits for additions and alterations to Malone and Hogan Clinic at 1601 W. FM 700, with $45,000 estimated cost; and to Building 239 at the Big Spring Airpark, owned by the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, $25,000 estimated cost.

Also, the city approved $8,500 in alterations at the Highland Shopping Center, owned by Strathnaver Properties of Fort Worth. A bathroom will be added and partitions replaced. Johnston Construction will be the contractor.

David Mills received a permit for alteration of a store space at the Big Spring Mall at 1801 E. FM 700. Mills will operate Robelin Studios there. Work is estimated to cost $200.

The city also granted permits for 11 additions and alterations to current structures, estimated to cost $35,000.

Permits were granted to Arthur Dean of 1602 Main for a bathroom addition, $4,300; Robert Munoz of 108 N.E. 10th for additional overhead doors to the carport and storage area and for reroofing, $5,000; Joe M. Yanez of 820 W. Ninth for a 10-by-24 square-foot addition to the back of his house, $1,500; and Frank Martinez of 704 W. 15th for a bedroom addition, $6,500.

Big Spring schools show 4,562 students enrolled

By SPENCER SANDOW Staff Writer

Enrollment in the Big Spring Independent School District was 4,562 Wednesday, compared to 4,407 enrolled on the second day of classes last year, said Superintendent Lynn Hise.

The increase of 217 students over the second day of school last year was unexpected, Hise said.

Total elementary enrollment was 2,132, up from 2,045 last year, according to figures provided by Hise. Secondary school enrollment was 2,405, up from 2,330 last year. Marcy Elementary School had the highest number of students, with 611 enrolled. Other elementary figures were Kentwood, 278; Lakeview, 133; Bauer, 307; Washington, 294; Moss, 214 students; and College Heights, 295.

Goliad Junior High's enrollment was 692, and Runnels Junior High had 365 students enrolled. Big Spring High School had 1,348 students enrolled.

Twenty-five students were enrolled in the district's special education programs.

"We are a little overloaded," said Marcy Principal Royce Cox. "We have more (students) than we expected. We have to do whatever the state tells us (to comply with the law)."

Hise said the overload problem could easily be dealt with.

"We will consider transfer requests that will speak to that, or reassign some teachers within the district. We anticipated a large enrollment at Marcy and had added a first-grade teacher," he said.

Assistant Superintendent for Personnel Bill McQuary said the district may have to add some teachers if school enrollment continued to increase. Some students

Howard College enrollment is up

Howard College enrollment reached 954 Tuesday, about 3 percent more students than last year, said President Bob Riley.

"We were hoping for a little better than that," he said. "Our goal was over 1,200."

Riley said he hopes to add more students during late registration, which continues through Sept. 9 in the administration office from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

"At the current pace, we might make (our goal)," Riley said. "We are optimistic. We recruited pretty well, and it's paying off for us."

Riley cited the new cosmetology program and the agricultural program as reasons for the increase.

Hearing on taxes set Friday

A public hearing on the proposed property tax increase by the city is scheduled for 6:15 p.m. Friday in the city council chambers.

City councilmen have proposed that the city raise its tax rate by 15.74 percent to 73 cents per $100 valuation as part of the 1985-86 budget.

That rate is 5 cents higher than the 68 cents per $100 valuation set for the current year, and 10 cents higher than the 63-cent per $100 valuation effective tax rate for the upcoming year.

The effective tax rate is the tax rate needed to bring in the same amount of revenue as the year before. The effective rate for the upcoming year is lower than the tax rate for the regular year because of an increase in total property values inside the city.

Because the council is proposing an increase of more than 8 percent over the tax rate, the rate would be subject to a rollback election if approved by the council.

Search continues for pilot

By SCOTT FITZGERALD Staff Writer

Texas Department of Public Safety troopers and Mitchell County sheriff's deputies continue to search for a pilot who crashed a single engine aircraft in Mitchell County on Tuesday.

The Civil Air Patrol of Midland located the aircraft about noon Wednesday, said Rusty Amenn, a public affairs officer with the CAP there.

Aircraft wreckage was found 25 miles northeast of Big Spring in a field located about 8 miles east of Vincent, Amenn said.

He said the Midland CAP escorted the DPS to the wreckage site.

A DPS report from Abilene said the wreckage displayed "severe structural damage, but it was still intact."

Amenn said Big Spring police told him the pilot had called after wrecking the plane.

"He said he was hurt and crashed, but didn't know where he was. He then either fainted or hung up," Amenn said.

According to a DPS report released from its regional office in Midland, the pilot was identified as Wayne Sample of Big Spring.

However, Air Safety investigator Tommy McFall of the National Transportation Safety Board in Fort Worth, said the pilot gave a Dallas home address to Economy Aviation Rentals Inc. of McKinney when he made arrangements to lease the plane on Monday evening.

McFall said he would not release the name of the pilot until he found out what condition the man was in.

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal LUBBOCK (AP) — Dressed in pink, Dr. Ann Word is minus the physician's white smock that normally would distinguish her from the secretaries who fill the corridor along the obstetrics and gynecology office suites.

But she does not worry about defending her station as a female physician. Those days are past.

"I really didn't see any hostile attitudes toward women in medical school. Most of that was before my time," she said. "I never had to apologize for my X chromosome."

Although Mrs. Word entered medical school when the percentage of women studying medicine began its upward climb in the mid '70s, she and her husband, Dr. Larry Word, are in some respects pioneers among a growing group of doctors who have married doctors.

Since 1975, the number of women in medical school has skyrocketed, from about 15 percent a decade ago to almost 40 percent today, according to the American Association of Medical Colleges.

Although figures on the number of those students who have chosen nuptial office partners in medicine and research fields are unavailable, some feel the number has risen somewhat proportionally to the number of women in medical schools. Also, women who have forged through years of apprenticeship now are making their mark in the research field.

"It takes that long for anyone to become an established researcher, so we're just now seeing a large crop of top-flight women researchers coming out of that group," said Dr. Neil Kurtzman, chairman of the Texas Tech. University School of Medicine's department of internal medicine. Kurtzman's wife, Dr. Sandra Sabitini, is a noted authority in kidney research.

He remains in county jail with no bond set for his release.

Deputies arrested Terry Darden, 33, of Ponderosa Apartments for a driving while intoxicated judgment. He will serve 10 days in jail.

Deputies arrested Kenny Loy Court, 38, of 1400 E. Sixth on a revocation of probation charge for DWI. He remains in county jail with no bond authorized by the district judge for his release.

Deputies arrested Marie Dolores Leos, 29, of 501 N.E. 10th on suspicion of criminal mischief. She was released on $200 bond.

Deputies released Herman Orosco III, 23, of 1011 Bell from county jail. He had been arrested on Aug. 26 and was released from jail on modified orders of probation set by Gregg.

Police Beat

Money taken from business

More than $300 was reported missing from the Kent Lubrication Center at 400 Goliad, according to police reports.

Terry Adkisson of Midland told Big Spring police that the manager quit Saturday, the day the money turned up missing.

Police arrested a 54-year-old man Wednesday evening on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, driving while license suspended and second offense of failure to maintain liability insurance.

Arrested in the 1000 block of Lamesa Highway was James Willie Mathews, 54, of 1311 W. Second. According to the police report, Mathews' license had been suspended because of two prior DWIs.

Police early today also arrested James Puentes, 19, of 1805 Hamilton in the 500 block of Tulane on suspicion of DWI.

Charles Noble of 3716 Hatch told police Wednesday evening someone stole three engine heads between June 20 and July 8 from the west side of his house. The engine heads are valued at $2,400.

Police arrested two male juveniles for burglary of a motor vehicle Wednesday afternoon at 310 E. Ninth, reports show.

According to the police report, Larry Miller of 2606 Carol told police someone had broken into a vehicle owned by Irene Bustamante of 209 N.E. Ninth between 3:30 and 4 p.m. Wednesday in the 800 block of Nolan.

Janie Arispe of 304 E. 13th told police someone broke into her blue 1980 Ford between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday. Taken was a graphic equalizer valued at $100.

Isidro Gonzales of 900 E. 13th told police someone slashed two tires on his beige 1985 Ford Tempo between 8 p.m. Tuesday and 8:30 a.m. Wednesday in his carport. Damage is estimated at $160.

Police early Wednesday morning arrested Gary Don Capps, 21, of Clovis, N.M., at Highland Pontiac at 502 E. FM 700 on suspicion of burglary of a motor vehicle.

Darrell Bruce Thomas of P.O. Box 2503 told police at 12:30 a.m. Wednesday that he saw a man trying to take an FM-AM stereo from a primer red 1965 Chevrolet in the parking lot of the car dealership.

The suspect fled on foot, but police arrested a man later at the car.

Kari Teichman of 120 Airbase told police someone stole a muffler that fell off her car at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the 1100 block of E. Third. She told police the muffler was gone when she came to retrieve it. The muffler is valued at $20.

Two men get probated terms

Two men were given probated prison terms by Judge James Gregg Wednesday after they entered guilty pleas in 118th District Court.

Joseph Morales, 36, of Oklahoma was given a five-year probated sentence for a second driving while intoxicated offense that occurred on Nov. 5, 1983. He was indicted by the grand jury on Jan. 19, 1984.

Gary Gamble, 28, of Gail Route received a 10-year probated sentence for a forgery charge.

Truck driver hurt in wreck

Three men were hurt in two separate accidents Wednesday and Thursday, according to accident reports.

A truck driver who was hauling a rig west on Snyder Highway just east of the city limits was being treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital this morning, a spokesman said.

The Department of Public Safety officers working the accident said he could not release the driver's name until the report was completed.

Witnesses at the scene said the driver had an injured arm but did not appear to be badly hurt.

The driver, who was hauling two "pup" trailers, collided with a truck towing a flatbed trailer on Highway 350 in front of Don's Machine Shop. The accident occurred at 9 a.m.

The driver of the smaller 1974 truck and flatbed, John Dekeyser of Big Spring, was backing his truck and trailer onto the highway when he saw the larger truck and trailer round the curve "a little too fast," he said.

Dekeyser said he had backed all the way onto the road and had started to pull off to the side of the road to let the larger trailer by.

Fred Birmelin of the Permian Service Co. was sitting in the back seat of a pickup truck when he saw the truck and trailer round the bend. "I saw a big 10-wheeler going real fast. I knew it was going to crash when I saw it. By the time it reached the second pole, I knew it had no way to get by."

Two men were injured slightly in a one-car accident Wednesday afternoon on FM 700 near the rear entrance of Malone-Hogan Hospital.

The driver, Mark Anthony Molina, 20, of 502 11th Place was treated and released Thursday from Malone-Hogan Hospital, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Molina's passenger, Kenneth Gordon Marlow, 17, of El Indio was treated at Malone and Hogan Clinic, the spokeswoman said.

The accident occurred in the 1400 block of W. FM 700 about 615 feet east of the hospital's rear entrance, the accident report stated.

Molina, who was driving a 1978 white and red Ford Mustang, was traveling northwest on W. FM 700 when he lost control of the car and failed to negotiate a curve, the report stated.

The car skidded off the north side of the road and overturned 2 1/2 times before it ended up facing south in the pasture, the report stated.

Permits

Permits also were granted to Dee and Pat Highley of 2106 Grace to enclose a carport for a den and bedroom, estimated cost $6,000; Steve Anglin of 900 Goliad for remodeling, $3,000; Elsie Billings of 1012 Bluebonnet for a new roof, estimated cost $1,000; E.R. Brown of 1301 Nolan, alteration, $700; Marcellous Weaver of 405 Goliad for a covered porch, $1,000; Lee Freeze of 2721 Cindy for extension of a roof and porch, $2,000; and Albert Rodriguez of 201 E. Second for a covered porch, $1,900.

The city granted permits for five residential carports and garages. They were to Jimmy Rodriguez of 1800 E. Fifth for a carport, $1,000; J.C. Statham of 1609 W. Second for a garage, $7,000; Teresa Roche of 607 N.W. Eighth for a garage, $200; Raymond Stukel of 2604 Clanton for a new garage, $14,800; and Venzelado Gonzales of 910 E. 15th for a carport, $2,000.

Enrollment

Kentwood, for example, has 25 first-graders, 30 second-graders and three teachers for them," Hise said, so at least three first-graders and seven second-graders must be moved to a different teacher to comply with the law.

The decision on which students will be placed in a combined class is "usually based on the student being an independent worker who will progress pretty fast, and with first-graders, (being) well-prepared and fairly mature," Hise said.

The district probably will combine some first- and second-grade classes where necessary, a common practice in other parts of the country, he said.

DPS reports from the Abilene office said there were indications that the pilot received injuries in the crash.

McFall said the pilot took off from McKinney's Aero Country Airport at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday and said he would return about noon. To rent an aircraft, a person has to present a Federal Aviation Administration license and proper pilot certification, McFall said.

The pilot met those conditions, he said. The CAP office in McKinney said the pilot did not file a flight plan before he took off and is not required by law to do so.

According to a DPS report released from the Abilene office, "the plane appears to attempted to have landed in the fields. It appears there were injuries, but the pilot is still missing."

The FAA's flight standards office in Lubbock will conduct an investigation into whether the pilot violated FAA standards and procedures once the pilot has been found, said an office spokesman.

'Golden Fleece' given

WASHINGTON — Sen. William Proxmire today gave his monthly "Golden Fleece" award to a federal study of an unexplained phenomenon in which martial arts experts seemingly debilitate opponents by inscribing X's in the air.

Proxmire, D-Wis., gave his September fleece award to the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke, part of the National Institutes of Health.

Proxmire said the institute was "tossing away $160,000 to study in part whether someone can 'hex' an opponent."

Property loss suffered

PASCAGOULA, Miss. — Food, shelter and water remained scarce today as authorities estimate that more than 25,000 families in Mississippi, Florida and Alabama suffered property losses when Hurricane Elena slammed into the coast.

"These figures may increase as we get in and do more on-the-spot surveys," Terry Gautier, a spokesman for the Red Cross in Mobile, Ala., said Wednesday. "The figures definitely won't decrease."

Titanic photographed

WOODS HOLE, Mass. — A remote camera took about 12,000 color photographs of the Titanic during the night, including closeups of the bridge, the chief scientist on the expedition that found the wreck said today.

Dr. Robert Ballard, a geologist, said he found particularly moving "the images on the promenade up on the boat deck, certainly around the bridge and particularly the empty lifeboat davits." He was interviewed by telephone from the Navy vessel Knorr for ABC's "Good Morning America."

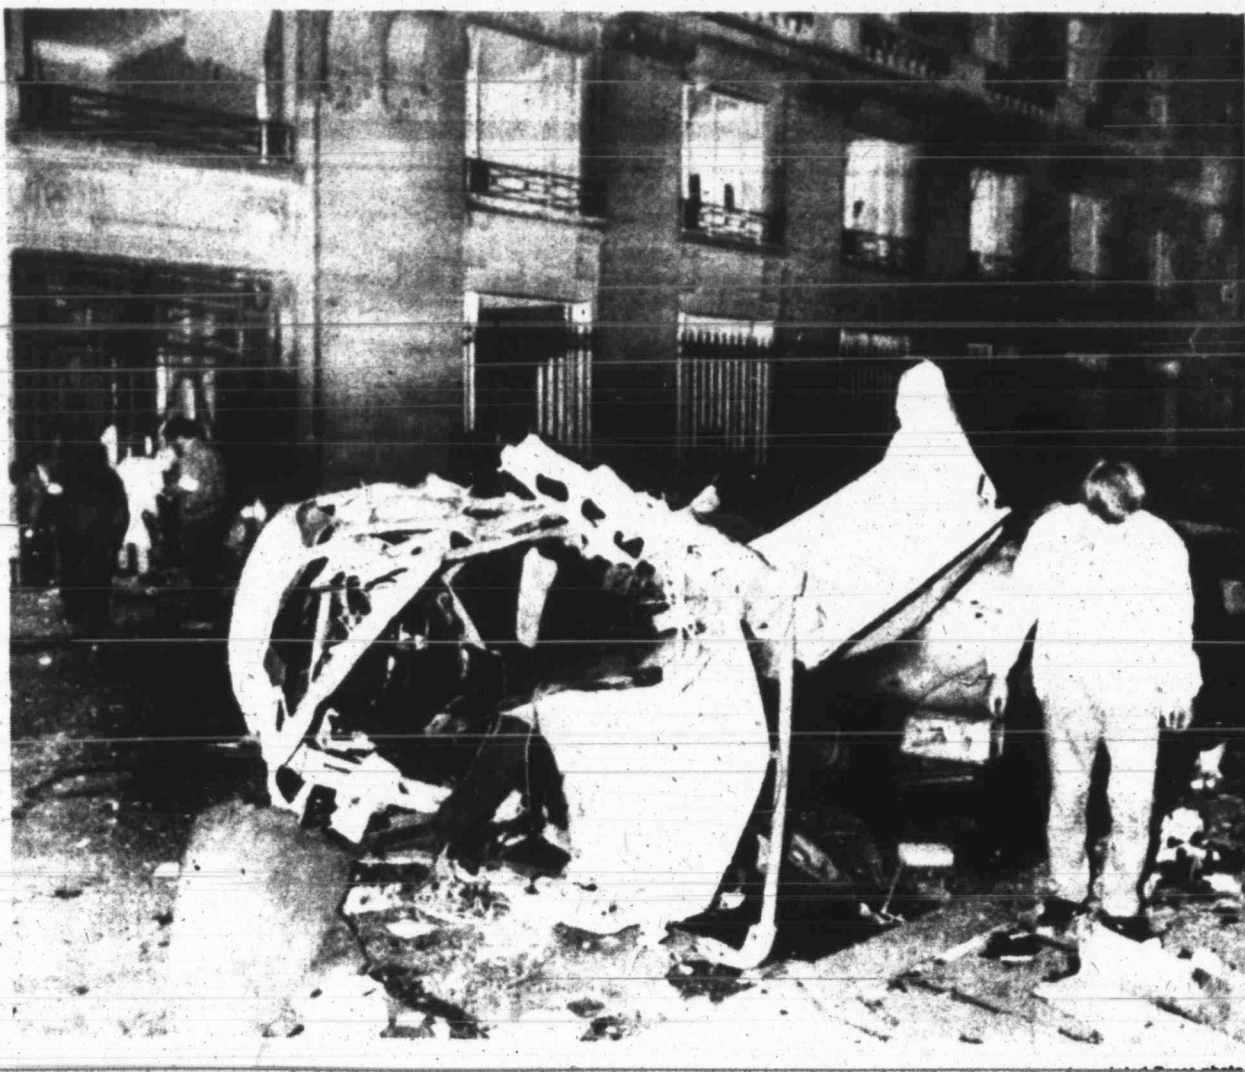

Researchers ended their expedition today and headed home. The Knorr, the American half of the joint expedition with a French vessel, was scheduled to arrive here Monday.

Police probe cases

LOS ANGELES — Police here and in San Francisco are reviewing dozens of unsolved homicides, burglaries, kidnappings and molestations in an effort to determine if any were tied to the "Night Stalker" serial killings.

Fingerprints found in the apartment of a Los Angeles woman slain 15 months ago match those of Richard Ramirez, 25, the man accused of being the Night Stalker, Los Angeles Police Chief Daryl Gates said Wednesday.

Investigators are "looking back on all of our homicides that had strange circumstances," Gates said. The review of unsolved cases, which also included burglaries, abductions and molestations, would go back to 1981, he said.

A plainclothes policeman searches for clues near a destroyed car in front of the Aluminum-Pechiney company building after a bomb explosion Thursday. The French terrorist group Direct Action claimed the responsibility for the attempt.

Terrorist bombs

Four firms hit in Paris

PARIS (AP) — Bombs exploded today at four businesses apparently targeted for doing business with South Africa, police said. Three people were slightly injured.

An anonymous caller to the French news agency Agence France Presse claimed responsibility for the attacks on behalf of leftist terror group Direct Action, saying the companies oppress blacks by operating in South Africa.

Direct Action has claimed responsibility for 11 other attacks in France this year.

The businesses hit today included a coal-importing company, an aluminum firm, the automaker Renault, and a construction firm.

Bombs appeared to have been planted in front doorways and the damage was said to be serious.

A man living in the building in front of the coal-importing company was slightly injured in the blast, police said. Two other men were injured in the explosion at the construction company, where the heaviest damage occurred.

An anonymous caller telephoned the French news agency to claim responsibility for the clandestine leftist terrorist group. There was no way to verify the caller's claim.

"The French and South African states are ready to do anything to assure their domination of the people they exploit," the caller said. "It is in the Paris ministries that begins the death (of) the blacks which is completed in the ghettos of Pretoria."

Interior Minister Pierre Joxe, Police Chief Guy Fougier of Paris and Robert Broussard, France's top anti-terrorist official, visited the scene of the bombings.

Direct Action, which had been all but broken up by police, reappeared in the last year and apparently has linked up with West German and Belgian terrorists.

Among the terrorist activities it has laid claim to was an Aug. 8 attack a U.S. Air Force base near Frankfurt, West Germany, in which two people died. Direct Action claimed joint responsibility with the West German Red Army Faction for that blast.

3 die in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile — President Augusto Pinochet threatened to "tighten the grip" of military rule to control anti-government protests by thousands of people in which three died and more than 300 were arrested.

The protests and a strike on Wednesday by transport workers paralyzed parts of Santiago, Concepcion and Valparaiso, Chile's largest cities.

Police said two people were shot to death overnight in unexplained incidents in Santiago slums, and that a 16-year-old boy was shot as 100 demonstrators attacked a community center in another slum district.

Sixteen bombs exploded before dawn in Santiago and at least eight commuters were injured as gangs tried to shut down the bus system with rocks and firebombs, police said. Other explosions blacked out neighborhoods of Valparaiso.

German concern

WASHINGTON — A West German delegation headed by Horst Teltchik, chief security adviser to Chancellor Helmut Kohl, is registering its concerns over the "Star Wars" program in talks with Reagan administration officials.

The Kohl government, along with the other West European allies, gave its reluctant approval to anti-missile research earlier this year but raised questions about the potential impact on Western defense and U.S.-Soviet relations.

Also, Defense Minister Manfred Woerner served notice that West Germany was prepared to do research for Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative if the Bonn government was not left out of political and other key decisions down the road.

Rebels pounded

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — A Soviet-Afghan task force backed by air strikes and artillery is pounding rebel positions near the Pakistani border in a bid to crush the Islamic insurgency in Afghanistan.

Guerrilla commanders said their men were holding many of their positions Wednesday in eastern Afghanistan's Paktia province, although their firepower is limited.

Both sides were reported to be suffering heavy losses.

Car bomb kills 14

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Israeli warplanes attacked a Palestinian guerrilla base southwest of Zahle, the only major Christian center in the Syrian-controlled Bekaa Valley, hours after a car bomb exploded at a vegetable market in the city.

Fourteen people were killed and 46 were wounded in the car bombing Wednesday, police said. However, there were no casualty reports from the air raid, the 11th strike this year by Israeli jets against bases in Lebanon.

America takes to the tracks

A funny thing is happening in America. People are beginning to ride trains again. Many long-distance trains have been running at or near capacity this summer with vacationers and their families. Ironically, they do so at the same time that Congress is preparing to consider cutbacks of as much as 15 percent in the system's annual operating subsidy and the Reagan administration is pushing elimination of the subsidy.

The president and Congress should take a closer look at the situation before deciding to drop the budget ax on the nation's railroad passenger system, crippling or eliminating intercity passenger trains in the United States.

Ridership on Amtrak's overnight trains usually peaks during the summer months, but in July it was up an estimated 7 percent over a year ago, and advance bookings since June have been running 15 to 20 percent ahead of a year ago. In fact, business has been so good that, according to Amtrak's preliminary estimates, passenger-related revenue topped out at $61.8 million in July, the highest total for any July since the company was created in 1971. When Amtrak was created, after private railroads had allowed their passenger transport facilities to deteriorate, the system was in shambles. Now the government's investment in maintenance facilities, computer systems, and other major improvements is beginning to pay off. For the Reagan administration to eliminate the government subsidy now, or for Congress to sharply reduce it, would be a foolish move against transportation progress.

Amtrak is projecting that it will carry about 20.7 million passengers this year, an increase of 4.5 percent over last year. And its passenger-related revenue last year was about $758 million. That hardly sounds like a system that deserves to die.

TV shows distort kids' views of life

(Whilst Art Buchwald is on vacation we reprint some columns from the past.)

Dr. Heinrich Applebaum recently completed a study on the effects of television on children. In his case, though, he wasn't concerned with violence, but how television gives children a false sense of reality.

Dr. Applebaum told me, "The greatest danger of television is that it presents a world to children that doesn't exist and raises expectations that can never be fulfilled."

"I don't understand, doctor," I said.

"Well, let me cite one example. Have you ever seen a television show where a person in an automobile doesn't immediately find a parking place on the very first try?"

"Come to think of it," I said, "I haven't."

"Not only is there always a parking spot available but the driver doesn't even have to back into it. There are two parking spaces available whenever someone in a TV show needs one. Children are being led to believe that when they grow up they will always be able to find a parking place when and where they want it. Can you imagine the trauma when they discover that in real life you can drive around a block for three hours and still not find a place to put your car?"

"I never thought of it but it's true. What else do they show on television which gives a distorted picture of the real world?"

"Have you noticed that whenever a character walks out of a restaurant or office building or apartment and says to the doorman, 'Get me a taxi,' the taxi immediately arrives? Millions of children are under the impression that all a doorman has to do is blow his whistle and a taxi will be there. I have never seen a show where the doorman has said, 'I'm sorry, I can't get you a taxi. You better take the bus.'"

"Of course," I said, "I never knew before what bothered me about those TV action programs, but now I do. There is always a yellow taxi waiting offscreen."

"What else have you discovered?"

"Kids have a perverted sense of what emergency wards of hospitals are really like. On TV shows they take a kid to an emergency room and four doctors come rushing down to bandage his leg. In a real-life situation the kid would be sitting on the bench for two hours before he even saw an intern. On TV there always happens to be a hospital bed available when a kid needs it. What the kids in this country don't know is that sometimes you have to wait three days to get a hospital bed, and then you have to put a cash deposit of $700 down before they give it to you."

Applebaum said the cruelest hoax of all is when TV shows a lawyer defending someone innocent of a crime.

"On the screen the lawyer spends day and night digging up the evidence to clear his client. In real life the lawyer says to the defendant, 'Look, I've got 20 minutes. Tell me your story and then I'll plead you guilty and make a deal with the D.A.' In real life the defendant might say, 'But I'm innocent.' The lawyer would say, 'So what? I can't afford to find that out. I'm not Perry Mason.'"

"Then what you're saying, Dr. Applebaum, is that it isn't the violence on TV but the fantasy that is doing harm to the children."

"Exactly. Even the commercials are taking their toll. Children are led to believe that when they grow up, if they use a certain mouthwash, they'll find the mate of their dreams. When they don't find him or her after gargling all night, they go into a tailspin, and many of them never come out of it."

"What do you think is the biggest fear little girls have?"

"I have no idea."

"That someday when they get marrie", their husbands will have ring around the collar."

"What about boys?"

"Boys worry that they'll only go around once in life, and they won't have the gusto out of their beer that they deserve."

Shiite terrorists expected to attack again any day

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR
WASHINGTON — Terrorism experts in the State Department are expecting another attack on Americans by Shiite Moslems any day. Worse, they tell us that the U.S. government is no better prepared to respond than it's been in the past.

No one has been punished for repeated attacks on the lives and property of Americans.

The foreboding of yet another disaster is based on threats from Shiite leaders, secret intelligence reports — and the calendar.

Since April 1983, there have been roughly 20 attacks directed by the fundamentalist Moslem terrorists against Americans. The average timing of these incidents is one every 50 days — and the last one occurred on July 22, when the Northwest Airline office in Copenhagen was bombed. That was 38 days ago.

In the wake of that attack, a spokesman for the Islamic Jihad claimed responsibility for the bombing and warned: "They are about to know that we can reach the heart of the U.S. White House, the Elysee Palace, 10 Downing Street, Jerusalem and the headquarters of any Arab foreign leader who cooperates with reactionary forces ..."

This threat might be dismissed as pure bombast — except for the unpleasant fact that the Shiites have made good on their previous boasts. The record is undeniable, written in human blood and the dust of ruined buildings.

Intelligence reports reaching Washington repeatedly warn that the Islamic Jihad is still determined to strike at American targets. Their resolve has been buttressed by a growing confidence that they have nothing to fear in the way of retaliation by the United States.

Frustrated State Department sources told our associate Lucette Lagnado that little has been done to counteract the Shiite threat, beyond numerous planning sessions, strategy meetings, and the inevitable shuffling of memos back and forth. This bureaucratic routine has led to no concrete action.

Yet insiders insist that not only are the individuals who planned and executed the anti-American attacks known to the U.S. government, but their hideouts have been pinpointed as well. The Lebanese government has said it knows the identity of the two hijackers who first seized the TWA plane flying out of Athens two months ago and murdered one of the American passengers. But there has been no move to arrest them and bring them to trial. Nor has there been any American undercover attempt to find and punish them.

Adding to the State Department experts' fears of another imminent terrorist attack is the fact that Israel has not made good on Syrian President Hafez Assad's promise to the Shiites that their associates in Israeli hands would be released in return for the freeing of the American hostages.

It was to obtain the release of the 735 Shiites held prisoner by Israel that the TWA plane was hijacked in the first place. Although Israel did release most of the Shiite prisoners, between 200 and 300 of them are still being held.

And even though Israel was not a direct participant in the negotiations that led to the understanding, this renege gives the Islamic Jihad all the justification it needs for another strike at America, which is perceived by the Arab world as able to dictate to Israel on matters large and small. And the Syrian president may well be reluctant to intercede again.

The Shiite prisoners also are a factor in the early timing of another attack. As the State Department experts explain it, the terrorists will want to strike before Israel releases the remaining prisoners — while they still constitute a pretext for an attack.

DIPLOMATIC DIGEST: Reagan administration officials' antipathy toward the Marxist government of Nicaragua extends even to minor fault-finding. One State Department official recently back from Managua reported with disdain that there's actually a shortage of bananas — an abundant resource throughout Central America. Others report that the streets of the Nicaraguan capital are dead and silent, devoid of nightclubs and other tourist attractions. One diplomat described Nicaragua as "Poland with palm trees."

UNDER THE DOME: For reasons not readily apparent, the Senate is being stubborn about giving congressional recognition to that peculiarly American hybrid, the mule. The House has passed legislation making Oct. 26 Mule Appreciation Day, but so far only three senators have signed up as sponsors of a companion bill. Maybe it will take the traditional clout upside the head with a 2-by-4 to get the Senate's attention. The date, incidentally, is the 200th anniversary of Spanish King Charles III's gift of two full-blooded jackasses to President George Washington for breeding with his mares at Mount Vernon.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Journalists are generally well-intentioned professionals who try to do a decent job against tough odds. For that, we get sued by scoundrels, criminals, cheats, phonies and other predators who would like to stop investigative reporting. Now another group of well-intentioned professionals who battle equally tough odds has been laid low by the courts. The National Weather Service has been ordered to pay $1.25 million to the families of three lobstermen who died in an unpredicted storm.

Reagan 'rarin' to go': Is he or isn't he?

By W. DALE NELSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — It may not be fair, but President Reagan is finding himself judged as much by the color in his cheeks as by the wisdom of his policies as he comes back from a cancer operation to cope with taxes, trade and terrorism.

Whether he was vacationing at his ranch in the Santa Ynez Mountains, raising money for California Republicans in Los Angeles or plumping for tax revision in Missouri, the big question about the president has been: how's he feeling?

He says he feels fine and is "rarin' to go," but his aides are aware that his recuperation from his surgery July 13 for a malignancy in his colon will continue to take at least a share of the attention away from the programs he advocates.

From his operation at Bethesda Naval Hospital to his return to Washington this week following a 22-day California vacation, the White House has taken pains to preserve Reagan's image as a man of ruddy good health, good cheer and resilience.

"I can assure you that the president is in top-notch spirits," spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters a few hours before Reagan went into the operating room.

66 He's back in the old form. 99
White House spokesman Larry Speakes.

"He's back in the old form," Speakes told reporters on Air Force One as Reagan flew back from his mountaintop ranch on Monday. The president gives all this image-making considerable help himself, waving, smiling, cracking jokes, pumping hands and kissing women on the cheek at his increasingly frequent public appearances.

On the return trip from California, Reagan stopped in Independence, Mo., to resume his campaign for tax reform. The White House says he will be making similar speaking trips about once a week through October.

Still, Reagan is not quite his old self. He didn't do as much outdoor work and horseback riding on his vacation this year as he has in the past, partly because he was recuperating from the operation and partly because he also had a patch of skin cancer removed from his nose. The skin cancer wasn't serious, but doctors advised him to limit his time in the sun.

Reagan was riding horseback and cutting brush again by the time the vacation ended, but his complexion did not have its usual cheerful glow.

That doesn't necessarily mean he isn't recovering just fine. But it does mean he doesn't look as strikingly younger than his 74 years as he used to.

When Speakes was asked this week whether the president was fully recovered, as his doctors said he should be six to eight weeks after the operation, the spokesman replied:

"He seems to me to be, but that would be a medical call."

Later, Speakes said the president would have follow-up X-rays and blood tests, but he didn't know when. He said the White House would announce the results of the examinations when they are made.

But there has been no word from the doctors yet, and none is expected until then.

W. Dale Nelson, a Washington-based reporter for The Associated Press, covered Reagan's surgery and convalescence.

Billy Graham

After fall, man must toil

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I hate my job, and I have to make myself go to work every morning. Does the Bible say anything about work? Somewhere I recall the Bible says work is a curse God gave man. — E.W.

DEAR E.W.: In the Garden of Eden, Adam was "to work it and take care of it" (Genesis 2:15). Work then was not a burden but a joy because he was fulfilling God's will — and this can still be true when we follow Christ. After Adam sinned, however, he was told, "through painful toil you will eat ... all the days of your life" (Genesis 3:17). Only in heaven will we no longer have to toil. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord ... they will rest from their labor" (Revelation 14:13).

But there is another important truth that may help you keep things in perspective: There is also dignity and honor in work because God gives it to us, and when we work as we should, we are, in a sense, working as partners with God. Don't forget that Jesus was a carpenter for most of his life, showing that work is important in God's eyes. Although you may not have thought of it this way, your work is one means God uses to make this world a better place. And so the Bible constantly urges us to work honestly and diligently. The Apostle Paul told those who were Roman slaves to work hard, not only when others were looking "but with sincerity of heart and reverence for the Lord. Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men" (Colossians 3:22-23).

Seek God's will about your job; perhaps it is His will for you to find a different job. God has given you certain abilities, and you need to know what they are and to use them to the fullest of His glory. But if you stay on your present job, commit your work — as well as all your life — to Christ and seek to honor Him and witness for Him in the way you work.

Billy Graham's religious column is distributed by Tribune Media Services.

Japanese man teaches himself English, becomes university's oldest freshman

IRVING (AP) — When Hideo Takeuchi reached the youthful age of 62, he took up the study of spoken English. Now 84, he has become the oldest student at the University of Dallas.

He won a year-long scholarship to the small private school by winning an English oratory contest at the Tennoji English Academy in Osaka, Japan, his native country.

"It was held in Aspire Hall," he said. "Quite appropriate."

The title of his speech was "It's Never Too Late To Learn." "I studied only by myself," he said. "By reading and memorizing many words, phrases and fundamental expressions or watching TV or listening to radio. I have no foreign friends and my business has nothing to do with English."

His first day on campus last week went at a breakneck pace that Takeuchi seemed to find completely agreeable.

He was interviewed by reporters. He posed for pictures in the campus bookstore, chatting with fellow students all the while. He registered for classes. And he dropped in at one of the many area malls, engaging shoppers in animated conversation.

His escort is 60 years his junior. But Taito Nakagawa, a native of Osaka and a senior at the university, said he couldn't keep up with the man he calls "Pops."

"He doesn't need me," Nakagawa said. "He just needs my car."

Takeuchi said it was difficult to leave his hometown of Kakogawa, a city west of Osaka, for a year-long stay Dallas. His family was reluctant for him to undertake the journey at his age.

"They asked me not to go so far. But my desire was very severe. So they allowed me to come here," he said.

He smiled and smoothed his tie with a slender hand.

"I am an unkind husband. I left my wife alone at home."

Aside from a 40-day tour of Europe, this is Takeuchi's first trip abroad. He hopes to refine what he calls his "practical" English and plans to audit courses rather than taking them for credit.

Takeuchi said his studies keep his mind limber.

Some elderly Japanese while their hours away at mah-jongg, he said. ("They play all through the night.") But Takeuchi was intrigued by learning to speak English.

He sat for numerous English language examinations, savoring the challenge.

"I think we can get healthy when we study, when we have some object to pursue," said Takeuchi, a professional nutritionist.

He laughs, then quotes the title of his prize-winning speech: "It's never too late to learn!"

Takeuchi said he used to study English while commuting by train from Kakogawa to Kobe every day.

HIDEO TAKEUCHI, 84, of Osaka, Japan, tips a hat in the University of Dallas bookstore during his first day on campus in Irving.

Stenholm's son says he volunteered for fraternity ritual

LUBBOCK (AP) — A congressman's son who spent four days in the hospital after fraternity "hell week" at Texas Tech University says he volunteered for the initiation rites.

But Tech officials say they are investigating hazing allegations in connection with the incident.

Cary Stenholm, 19, was hospitalized Aug. 24 when he collapsed after doing sit-ups and push-ups as a Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity pledge, authorities said. He is the son of U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford.

"I don't consider what happened hazing. But everybody else does," Stenholm's son told The Associated Press Wednesday. "I was willing to do it. I love SAE. I want to be one."

The Tech dean of students, Larry Ludewig, said the investigation began last week after an anonymous telephone call to his office.

"We have an investigating officer looking into it right now," he said Wednesday. "It's an alleged act of hazing. We're trying to determine whether there were individuals involved or if the activity was group-sanctioned."

Stenholm said he is concerned that the probe will damage the SAE chapter at Tech.

"What I went through would be the same as a football practice where the coaches sit there and make you do calisthenics," he said.

"When I went into hell week, I had not worked out for three months. I was ready to get back in shape." Stenholm said there was nothing unusual about his initiation, which he described as a two-day series of activities that included "some fun stuff" and "some bad stuff."

"I think I'm getting this extra publicity because of my dad," he said. "I went in there with my pledge brothers. It was part of hell week. Everybody goes through it." Sigma Alpha Epsilon president David Alderson told the campus newspaper that Stenholm was not hazed.

"We took him to the hospital and we took care of everything," Alderson said of Stenholm's collapse.

Ludewig said hazing is a violation of Texas Education Agency regulation and the Tech student code of conduct.

"We don't condone any form, any type of hazing, no matter how insignificant it may be," Ludewig said.

A person can be punished for hazing by sanctions ranging from a reprimand to suspension, he said.

A fraternity guilty of hazing stands to lose its university registration, which allows it to meet on campus and use university facilities, he said.

Ludewig said the investigation would take several weeks.

He said his office confirmed about 15 hazing incidents last year. All resulted in some sort of disciplinary action, he said, but none involved serious physical injury.

Ludewig said about 17 percent of the 24,000 students at Tech belong to a fraternity or sorority.

School reforms mean more testing

AUSTIN (AP) — Students, teachers and schools themselves will be tested as Texas public education reforms enter their second year this fall.

While the results of some tests may prove embarrassing, reform backers say tougher standards and full disclosure of a school's shortcomings will force higher achievement in the future.

"If you don't make demands on people, nothing is going to happen," says Dr. William Kirby, the state commissioner of education.

Beginning this year, 11th graders must pass a basic skills test to get a high school diploma. Teachers must show they can read and write. And every school campus will file reports in November that will allow the parents and taxpayers to compare the academic and fiscal performance of each.

"If there's anything that's going to create pressure and stress for educators, it's those kind of comparisons," Kirby said of the individual school reports.

"We're the only organization that blames failure on the product (students)," Kirby said. But he said those days are over.

Last year, under the reform law passed by a special legislative session, passing standards were raised to a grade of 70. This spring, students were required to pass all courses to participate in extracurricular activities.

That controversial "no-pass, no-play" rule could seem tame compared with the exit test required of all students before graduation, experts say.

"We have not seen havoc yet until we have parents with students who do not graduate" because they failed the test, said Sue McGarvey, president of the Association of Texas Professional Educators.

The first test is scheduled for October. Officials already are predicting 25 percent of 11th graders will fail, the Austin American-Statesman reported. Higher failure rates are expected for blacks and Hispanics, the newspaper said.

Students who fail can take the test three more times during their junior and senior years.

The difficulty of the state's first basic skills test is not questioned.

"It's an easy test. I don't deny that," said Jon Brumley, chairman of the State Board of Education. "The statistics tell us 25 percent of the children are going to fail an easy test, but we have to start somewhere."

Grading standards will stiffen during the next two years, but Brumley said the state board felt compassion for the students taking the test first.

"To expect instant reform is not fair to children caught up in it. You've got to ask yourself, 'If half the children fail, is that the children's fault or the state's fault?'"

Field tests indicate 84 percent of white students, 48 percent of blacks, and 66 percent of Hispanics will pass the math test in October. The language arts portion is expected to be passed by 84 percent of whites, 55 percent of blacks, and 64 percent of Hispanics, according to projections.

Kirby predicts a significant turnaround in the failure rate by May because of remedial work by the schools. Brumley said the pressure will be on the individual schools to raise their passing rates.

"In a city like Fort Worth, people believe a public education is a public education. That's not true," said Brumley, a Fort Worth resident. "Some schools are better than others, and I think the schools, in effect, are taking the tests."

Teachers and administrators also must take a competency test, and that is being challenged in court. Some teachers see the test as an insult and an infringement on their lifetime teaching certificates.

Kirby acknowledges that educator morale is at an all-time low, but said, "I have trouble understanding it."

He noted that the Legislature this year gave teachers duty-free lunch and a 45-minute planning period in addition to last year's pay raises and career ladder bonuses.

"Working conditions have improved," said Kirby, although the teacher test and a paperwork burden remain the top complaints of educators.

Fire at explosives plant forces evacuation of town

ZEPHYR (AP) — A fire at an explosives manufacturing plant forced the temporary evacuation of this small West Texas town today while firefighters worked to keep the blaze away from plant explosives.

About 200 residents of Zephyr were evacuated when a fire at Alamo Explosives was discovered about 3 a.m., said Glen Smith, Brown County chief sheriff's deputy.

The plant is located about 14 miles southeast of Brownwood just outside Zephyr, Smith said.

The fire was under control and residents allowed to return between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m., Smith said. "There were some dangerous and highly explosive materials on the property. We just thought better safe than sorry" and evacuated the residents, he said.

The fire, spotted by an Early police officer, burned in two 35-foot-long trailers used for storage at the plant. The trailers contained about 15,000 pounds of a powder used to manufacture shotgun shells, he said.

A small grass fire also was extinguished, Smith said.

No one was at the plant, which manufactures and distributes explosives for industrial uses. The fire was contained to the trailers, and there were no major explosions, Smith said.

The cause of the fire is under investigation, he said. Damage was estimated at about $250,000.

Dear Abby

Loser in love longs for blissful ignorance

DEAR ABBY: Who wrote, "Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all?" Speaking for myself, I would rather not know what I'm missing. I would be interested in knowing how you feel about it.

THREE-TIME LOSER

DEAR T.T.L.: Alfred Lord Tennyson wrote those words, and I agree with him.

The opposing philosophy, "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise," was expressed by Thomas Gray.

That is not to say that ignorance is always bliss, for in some cases, what you don't know can hurt you.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for recently including in your column letters dealing with quiet people. It's time for us quiet ones to be heard.

I am one of those quiet types, but contrary to what you and others may think, I am not quiet because I am shy. I am quiet because I am secure; I don't have to sell myself or prove anything.

Abby, why do you assume that all quiet people are shy?

DEAR ABBY: I do not assume that all quiet people are shy; I believe that most quiet people are shy because my mail tells me so. But then, all generalizations are dangerous, including this one.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Embarrassed Mother," who took it upon herself to send written apologies plus thanks for all her daughter's wedding gifts because six months had passed and the gifts had not been acknowledged.

That mother had her nerve for butting in: When I was married, I was three months' pregnant and feeling lousy. I had all I could do to drag myself out of bed every morning to go to work, but I had to, because my husband was laid off and we needed the money.

I managed to write about half my thank-you notes, but I was too embarrassed to send them because so much time had already gone by, so I didn't send any.

Whenever I ran into people who asked if I got their wedding gift I would explain what happened and thank them for the gift. Most people were very understanding and said, "That's OK. I just wondered if you got it."

MY SIDE OF IT

DEAR MY SIDE: I still say, better late than never. Read on for a letter from another embarrassed mother, and how she handled it.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law was another one who took forever to get her thank-you notes off after the wedding.

Six or seven months later, if someone asked me if my daughter-in-law had ever received their wedding present, I'd say, "I'll give you her telephone number; why don't you call and ask her?"

Of course I was embarrassed, but I refused to let someone lay a guilt trip on me.

NOT MY FAULT

Dr. Donohue

Some questions on antabuse

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Are there side effects to Antabuse other than those that occur when you drink alcohol? If you have a mild Antabuse reaction are there any long-term effects? And finally, exactly how long does it take for Antabuse to leave the system? — D.P.S.

For readers unfamiliar with this drug, it blocks complete breakdown of alcohol in the body. It's this partially-metabolized alcohol that causes the unpleasant reactions — headache, flushing, nausea and vomiting. They may linger for a half hour to several hours. It's used, therefore, to help an alcoholic overcome his addiction; the fear of the reaction is the stimulus to abstinence.

Now to your questions: Nerve inflammation, drowsiness and rashes are among some of the other reported side effects. There is almost never any long-term effect from a mild Antabuse reaction. It takes quite long for the drug to leave the system completely. No one taking it should drink any alcohol for at least a week, and perhaps, to be safe, for two weeks after taking the last tablet. Of course, it's hoped that the alcoholic using this method will never take another drink as long as he lives.

An additional word: Antabuse is a powerful drug and should never be used frivolously. Alcohol is found in unsuspected sources, like cough medicines. Even that can lead to a reaction. A severe Antabuse reaction can be life-threatening — for example, the kind that can occur if a person is foolish enough to consume a large quantity of alcohol while using it.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have read where you can tell if a person has emphysema if the nails are blue. True? — D.L.

It won't always happen, but if the emphysema is serious enough to compromise blood oxygenation then a duskiness of the nails and lips might appear. Your other questions are covered in the booklet "Emphysema-Bronchitis: The Twin Problems." I'm sending a copy. Other readers can obtain a copy by writing me, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00 for printing and handling.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Will you give me a brief rundown on Huntington's disease? — J.L.

Sure. It's an inherited illness causing bizarre involuntary movements. That's why it's also called Huntington's chorea, chorea being the Greek word for dance. Speech is often impaired along with intellectual function. Symptoms don't appear until ages 35-44. It's a tragic illness, but much work is going on to nail down the genetic basis and to help patients with it.

I don't know why you asked this question but may I take the liberty to refer you to people who know far more about this subject than myself. Write to the National Huntington's Disease Association, 1182 Broadway, Suite 402, New York, N.Y. 10001. They'll supply you with all the facts. Tell them I sent you.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Consultant performs color analysis

Karla Cockrell presented the program at the August meeting of the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

The meeting was held Aug. 19 at Golden Corral.

A beauty consultant, Cockrell demonstrated her products and performed a color analysis on Loretta Burns.

She told of the four steps to good skin: cleanse, a masque to open pores, skin toner to close pores and moisturizer, then apply makeup. Venita Blassingame was the vocational speaker. She is an administrative manager with Fina.

The Fall Enrollment Tea will be held in conjunction with the regular meeting in September. Lorretta Burns is chairperson for the event.

A garage sale will be Friday and Saturday at 607 W. 18th. All proceeds will go into the scholarship fund.

The next meeting will be Sept. 16.

All states allow women to keep name

Women who marry today can adopt their husband's name, hyphenate it or ignore it.

A married woman is not required by law to adopt her husband's surname, according to an article in a recent issue of Cosmopolitan, which cites Virginia attorney Bessida White as stating all states now permit a wife the option of retaining her birth name or adopting a new one.

That leaves the bride-to-be with several choices. She can be romantic and traditional by adopting her husband's name. She can retain her own for practical, professional or psychological reasons. Or, she can resolve the conflict by combining her maiden and husband's name with a hyphen, which is legal in every state, although the bureaucrats don't always know it. Rarely, a feminist bridegroom will share his wife's maiden name.

Name-sharing and hyphenating were hot in the feminist 1970s, but most brides still assume their husband's name. Adopting husband's names may even be on the increase.

"Many of these couples plan on having children," said New York City matrimonial lawyer Rita Warner, "and it's simpler for a family to have one name."

Joanne Ambrose, creative director of a New York sales promotion agency, had other reasons.

"It took me long enough to find a good guy," she said. "The least I can do is take on his name."

Thursday Notes

By Steve Belvin

Any fifth or sixth grade boy who hasn't signed up for the Big Spring Youth Football League, has until the end of this week to do so.

Sign-ups are going on at the Highland Mall from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. A parent or guardian must be present and the youngster must have his birth certificate.

Although there is not enough equipment to go around, some equipment will be available on a limited basis.

The Big Spring Camp Jaycees will be sponsoring a men's slow-pitch softball tournament September 26-29 at Johnny Stone Memorial Park.

Entry fee is $100 per team and the tourney will be played under A.S.A. rules. Teams will provide their own blue dot balls.

To enter contact Ed Lawson at 267-6435.

While on the subject of softball, two local slow-pitch teams competed in prestigious tournaments this past weekend.

L.G. Nix competed in the A.S.A. Class C State tournament in Houston. The locals found the going rough as they played three games with 30 minutes rest in between each contest.

L.G. Nix won its first game by taking a 4-3 win over a San Antonio team. The local team fell in the second contest to a Pasadena team, 9-7. L.G. Nix was eliminated 7-1 by a team from Houston.

The short rest period and the humid weather finally took its toll on the team, said coach Bill Battle.

Meanwhile in Abilene at the LULAC tournament, the Kings fared better, finishing fourth.

It was a tiring tournament for the defending champions as they had to play seven games with a roster of only 10 players. They were defeated 8-7 in the third place game by Little Mexico, a team from Abilene. The Kings other loss came at the hands of Plainview by a score of 7-6.

The Kings defeated the Dallas Coyotes 9-4; Snyder Pros 13-3; Big Spring Quest, 13-6; Pettis Construction of Wichita Falls 8-3 and the Coyotes 7-5.

Buena Suerte of Midland won the title while Plainview finished second and Little Mexico placed third.

The Kings placed third baseman Lupe Lara and shortstop John Morelison on the All-Tournament team. They were also awarded the Team Sportsmanship trophy.

A job well done guys.

There will be a Hunter's Safety course offered at Howard College this Fall Sept. 9 through Sept. 13.

The classes will be from 7 until 10 p.m. Entry fee is $23 plus $1 for the book.

Anyone wishing to enroll should go by the Howard College Continuing Education Department between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

There will be a Big Spring Tennis Association meeting this Sunday at 2 p.m. at Figure 7 Tennis Center. Challenge Ladder play is scheduled to begin.

Anyone interested should contact Ed or Charleen Sparling at 267-7777.

Registration for the Coahoma teams of the YMCA Soccer League will be held this Saturday at the Coahoma State Bank from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Boys and girls ages 4 to 19 are eligible to play.

For further information contact Ben Herrera at 394-4564 or Eddie Read at 394-4386.

The Harris Ratings came out this week and District 4-5A teams Odessa Permian, Midland Lee and San Angelo Central are ranked one and two and three in the state.

Abilene High is ranked 19th. No other district can boast about having four teams in the state's top 20.

Harris has Odessa High ranked 52nd, Midland High 59th, Abilene Cooper 68th and Big Spring 186th.

Harris does have the Steers rated as an eight-point favorite over Snyder.

Local civic clubs will be having a "Fill the Stadium Night" for the season opening football game this Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

The clubs are encouraging everyone to come out and support the Steers in their opener against Snyder. Tickets are $5 and can be purchased from any civic club member.

Dianne Posey and Martha Saunders were the first place winners at the Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association Playday Tuesday. The duo's score was 38.

Tied for second with a 39 were the teams of Harriet Richardson and Bobbie Patterson and Betty Ray Coffee and Annette Kestermeier.

McEnroe cruises over Nystrom

NEW YORK (AP) — The match that was not supposed to be at all turned out to be no match at all.

John McEnroe's 6-1, 6-0, 7-5 quarterfinal against Joakim Nystrom Wednesday night wasn't so much a match as a mismatch. By the time the 10th-seeded Swede got into it, he was out of it.

And one had to wonder how Boris Becker might have fared.

McEnroe was supposed to play the wunderkind who won Wimbledon. But Nystrom, one of the army of five Swedes seeded at the start of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, burst that bubble by beating the 17-year-old West German in the fourth round.

So it was Nystrom who wound up drawing McEnroe in the quarters — and being drawn and quartered by the top seed and two-time defending champion.

In Saturday's semis, McEnroe will meet No. 3-seed Mats Wilander, who advanced when fellow Swede Anders Jarryd withdrew from their quarter, complaining of dizziness and chills. Also Wednesday, Martina Navratilova and 16-year-old West German Steffi Graf won in women's quarterfinals.

Today, No. 2 men's seed Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia plays No. 7 Yannick Noah. Tonight, Jimmy Connors, the No. 4 seed, plays unseeded Heinz Gunhardt of Switzerland to complete the men's quarters.

McEnroe led Nystrom 2-0 in the third when the spell was broken.

"It only takes a little bit of momentum to swing it around," he said. "He got a little confident, came up with a couple of good returns, suddenly it's 2-1. I let down a little bit, the next thing you know it's 5-2 and I was thinking about the next set. Luckily, I was playing real well so I was able to get back on track fast."

The man holding the courtside mike and aiming it "like a sword in my direction" was McEnroe's main target. "I don't need a guy out there who goes out of his way to do something like that," he said.

"I'd asked to have the guy changed and they did it (in the first set) and suddenly I see the guy back on the court in the third set. I said, 'What's happening here?' and suddenly it's, 'He's part of the system. We can't have him changed,' like the stands would crumble if he was removed."

That microphone picked up McEnroe snapping, "It's amazing how bonehead umpiring can make a difference."

PAM SHRIVER screams in frustration during the final set of her upset loss to STEFFI GRAFF in the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships in New York Wednesday. SHRIVER lost to GRAFF 7-6, 6-7, 7-6.

It was a reference to umpire Steve Winyard. But as McEnroe said later, "It was directed at anyone who cared to listen. I heard Vitas (Gerasimatis) say it actually. He's got to get credit for it. He said it a couple of matches back, something I hadn't heard. It stuck in my mind. I haven't said that in 26 years." He smiled impishly. "I figured he didn't get fined for it so I won't get fined for it."

During the afternoon, when the temperature outside the National Tennis Center hovered in the high 90s and surely exceeded 100 on the courts, Graf and No. 4-seed Pam Shriver set an endurance record while Jarryd was unable to endure against Wilander.

Graf, the No. 11 seed, outlasted Shriver 7-6, 6-7, 7-6, the first time all three sets have gone to the limit since the beginning of the tie-breaker era in 1970. Each tie-break was decided 7-4.

That sent Graf into the women's semifinals against Navratilova, Shriver's doubles partner and the two-time defending women's singles champion. "Maybe if she breaks a leg or something ..." Graf mused.

On the stadium court, Jarryd, seeded sixth, succumbed not so much to Wilander as to the heat. He retired in the third set, the first time that has happened in a U.S. Open quarterfinal since Eddie Dibbs bowed out in the first set of a 1979 match against McEnroe.

Before Wilander's abbreviated victory on the stadium court, Navratilova, the No. 2 seed, took apart sixth-seeded Zina Garrison 6-2, 6-3. "Before I knew it I was on the court and then the match was over," the dismayed but not surprised Garrison said.

Graf had Shriver talking to herself through much of the 2-hour, 46-minute match — scolding herself, her racquet, the ball, the net. When it finally ended, Graf charged the net, her arms upraised. And then, while she enveloped herself in the adulation of the crowd, Shriver sat disconsolately, her face buried in a towel.

Shriver called it "one of the most unbelievable matches that I've ever been a part of. ... I don't think I've ever put in such an effort and lost in my life. That's the upsetting thing. You know, I just came one or two points short. But I'll be happy if I can try that hard in every match until I retire. I'll figure, 'That's it; Shriver did her best.'"

The Navratilova-Graf match will be a first. "I haven't even played doubles against her," Navratilova said. "I've watched her play. She's a baseliner so I would do pretty much the same as I did against Zina." If she does, it'll be a quickie. Garrison was gone in just 56 minutes.

Steers looking for 5th time charm

By CHARLIE ALCORN
Sports Writer

During the '80's the Big Spring Steers have had the Snyder Tigers' number. The Steers have defeated the Tigers four years in a row. Head coach Quinn Eudy would like nothing better than make it five when the two teams clash again tomorrow night in Memorial Stadium.

"It's one of those down-the-road rivalries that's been going on for a long time," commented Eudy. "You can always count on Snyder to be fired up and playing with a lot of emotion, so we're going to have to play good early or we may be in for a long night."

The Steers will be trying to harness the offensive firepower that was much in evidence during the first half of the Steers scrimmage against Sweetwater. Directing the attack for the Steers will be senior quarterback Carl Speck, who looked particularly impressive against Sweetwater.

Eudy expects to run the ball about 70 percent of the time against the Tigers, but won't hesitate putting the ball in the air once the ground game is established. "Why use a BB gun when you've got a cannon in the backfield," quipped the head coach, referring to Speck's improved throwing ability.

"We won't be afraid to throw the ball with Carl in there."

The Steers ground game will be in the experienced hands of senior fullback Colin Carrol and sophomore flash Danny Williams. Eudy also expects senior tailback Brad Hanlon and sophomore speedster Philip Matthews to see plenty action since being promoted from the junior varsity. "This is the most speed and depth we've ever had in the backfield since I've been here."

One positive constant for the Steers has been the aggressive

play of the offensive line which sports four seniors. Guards Luis Puga and Paul Sotelo, center Charley Ogle, tackle Timmy Green and junior tackle Jay Burcham make up the interior while another senior, David Shortes will line up at tight end. "Our line has the ability to blow people off the ball. We've been very pleased with their work during the preseason," said Eudy of his trenchmen.

Defensively, the Steers did not look in game condition against Sweetwater. But Eudy explained that the poor showing had more to do with lack of preparation than being whipped. "We just didn't have the defense in the proper alignment against Sweetwater, we've been taking extra time this week in practice working on the mental part of the defense; so come Friday they will be reacting instead thinking."

Injuries could be a factor in the Steers defensive game plan. Starting nose guard Todd Coker and linebacker Mike Cahill sustained injuries against Sweetwater and are listed as probable for the game.

Defensive end/fullback Charles White is questionable with a bruiseed hip. Big Spring's defense will have their hands full trying to contain Snyder's blue chip running back Justin Webb. The 5-8 185 pounder rolled for over 700 yards last year despite missing three games with a broken hand. Eudy says that the key to stopping the Tigers offense is tackling Webb. "He (Webb) is a real tough runner. We looked at the films from '84 and he nearly busted a couple of long runs on us because people were not finishing him off."

Snyder head coach Dennis Tomlin also feels that Webb will carry the offensive load for the Tigers. "I couldn't tell you how many times he's going to carry the ball, but people will know his name by the end of the game."

Snyder runs a Wing-T offense, a formation that puts a premium on execution and deception in the backfield. Senior Mike McWilliams will be directing at quarterback with juniors Mike Long, Toby Ubando and Webb rounding out the backfield.

The Tigers have a big, but inexperienced line that has looked good in the Snyder's two scrimmages, a 3-1 victory over Colorado City and a 2-2 tie with Vernon. "We've got our starters set," commented Tomlin. "But the real test will come this Friday. Big Spring has one of the best lines we'll face all year."

A flu bug has taken its toll on Snyder's defense, sidelining two starters, tackles Juan Benitez and Dwayne Murdoch. Another starter, linebacker Steve Parker was injured in the Vernon scrimmage and will miss six weeks with torn knee ligaments.

Defensive end Robert Patterson has been a bright spot on the Tiger's decimated line during preseason, but the best efforts have come from the Tigers secondary, which had six interceptions in the two scrimmages.

When asked what to expect from Big Spring, coach Tomlin had nothing but praise. "We know they are improved at every position and 4-5A is the toughest district around. We hope to stay on the field with them but its going to be a battle. The key for us is execution."

The key for Big Spring is the number five. But the Steers won't walk away with the fifth win in a row over the Snyder Tigers. They will have to earn it.

SMU lands hoops star

DALLAS (AP) — Carlton McKinney, a 6-foot-5 guard-forward, enrolled at Southern Methodist University on Wednesday after transferring from the University of Tulsa where he played the past two seasons.

McKinney, of Nixon, Texas, must sit out this season but will be able to practice with the Mustangs. He will have two seasons of eligibility remaining beginning with the 1986-87 basketball season.

As an all-state player his senior year at Nixon, McKinney was hailed by Tulsa officials as one of the Hurricane's best basketball recruits from the state of Texas. He became disenchanted with the Oklahoma school after head Coach Nolan Richardson left earlier this year to become coach at Arkansas.

Lowly Indians shock Blue Jays 5-4

By The Associated Press
The game was on the line. Unfortunately for the Toronto Blue Jays, so was Cleveland first baseman Mike Hargrove.

And when pinch-hitter Garth Iorg, a right-handed batter, ripped a smash down the first-base line, instead of a game-winning hit, it became a double play. And when George Bell grounded out with runners at second and third, the Blue Jays had lost a shocker to the Cleveland Indians 5-4.

"I can't believe it," said Toronto Manager Bobby Cox. "He was standing right on the line. Iorg hit the ball right on the nose. I just don't know why he was standing on the line. We did everything right in the game — everything." Meanwhile, the Seattle Mariners also mounted a ninth-inning rally that fell a run short and lost to New York 4-3, enabling the Yankees to slice Toronto's lead in the American League East to 2½ games, the closest they have been since July 22.

AL Roundup

Yankees 4, Mariners 3
Surprise starter Rich Bordi hurled 6 2-3 innings and Don Mattingly and Andre Robertson each drove in two runs as the Yankees recorded their fifth consecutive triumph. Bordi, pressed into service after Marty Bystrom developed tenderness in his shoulder and making his first start after 42 relief appearances, allowed one run and six hits before needing help from Neil Allen and Bob Shirley, who got Alvin Davis to hit into a game-ending double play following Phil Bradley's two-run single. It was Shirley's first save since 1981.

Angels 5, Tigers 2
Brian Downing belted a two-run homer to back the seven-hit pitching of John Candelaria and Donnie Moore. Candelaria, 4-1 since the Angels acquired him from Pittsburgh on Aug. 2, allowed one run and five hits in six innings. Loser Jack Morris gave up just three hits but four runs in seven innings.

Rod Carew worked Morris for a two-out walk in the California sixth and rode home on Downing's 18th home run for a 2-1 California lead. Bob Boone's sacrifice fly in the seventh made it 3-1 and, after Larry Herndon homered in the Detroit seventh, the Angels got two insurance runs in the eighth on Bobby Grich's RBI double and Gary Pettis' single.

Royals 6, White Sox 5
Chicago left fielder Luis Salazar misjudged Pat Sheridan's two-out fly ball in the 10th inning and Darryl Motley scored from third base. "As an outfielder, I know he feels terrible right now," Motley said of Salazar's miscue. "It was a routine play and he knows he should have caught the ball. Those are things you never wish on anybody. I'm just glad it happened to him instead of me."

Motley, whose great running catch in left field with two out in the top of the 10th kept the White Sox from scoring, doubled leading off the Royals' half against Chicago relief ace Bob James. He remained at second as Steve Balboni grounded out and Buddy Biancalana walked.

Orioles 6, A's 1
Storm Davis pitched a five-hitter and Cal Ripken, Floyd Rayford and Mike Young hit solo home runs. Davis came within two outs of his second straight shutout but Oakland's Bruce Bochte hit his 11th home run with one out in the ninth. Loser Don Sutton failed in his bid for his 294th career triumph.

Brewers 11, Twins 10
Rick Manning drove in four runs, three with his second homer of the season, and Cecil Cooper collected his 1,000th career RBI with a two-run shot. The Twins led 7-6 in the sixth inning when the Brewers scored five runs. Ted Simmons singled home the tying and lead runs before Manning blasted a 412-foot drive into the upper deck in right field for an 11-7 lead. Minnesota scored three times in the bottom of the sixth on a ground-rule RBI double by Mark Funderburk and a two-run single by Kent Hrbek.

Carter clubs two more HR's

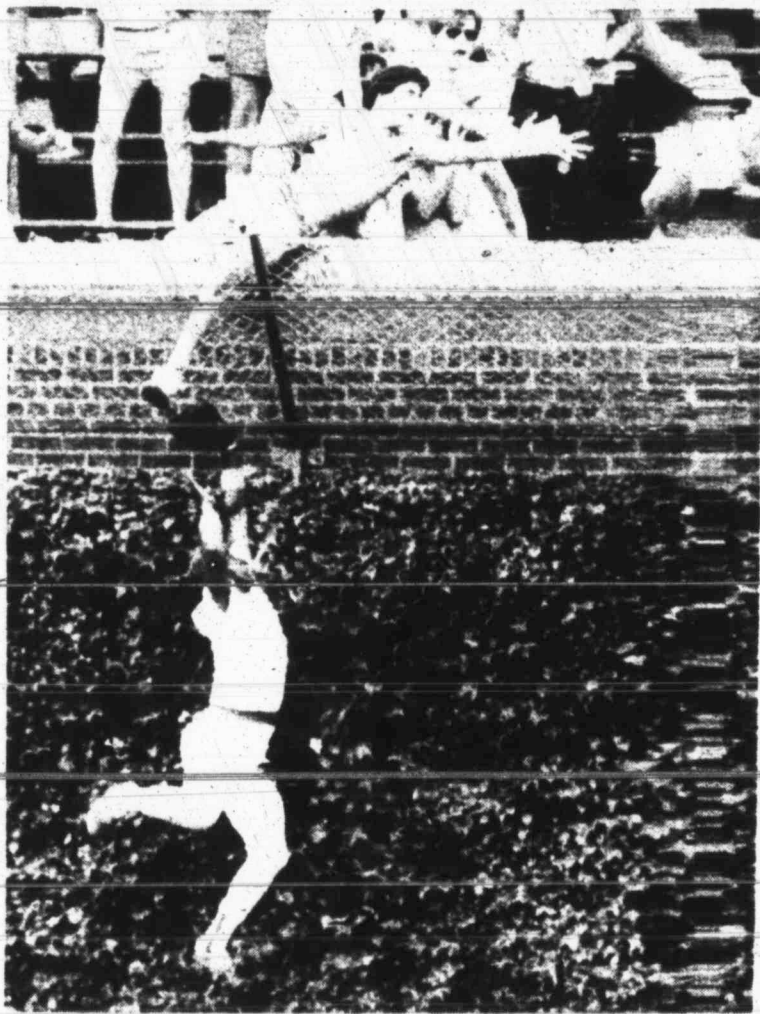

By The Associated Press
Gary Carter has the stance, the vision and the swing. Because of those three factors, he also has five home runs in two games.

Carter added a pair of homers Wednesday night in a 9-2 rout of the San Diego Padres to the three he hit for the New York Mets on Tuesday night. He tied the major-league mark for most homers in two consecutive games, held by 12 other players, and has hit eight home runs in the last six contests.

The Cardinals won a thriller to maintain their lead, rallying in the bottom of the ninth for a 4-3 decision over Cincinnati. Elsewhere, it was Los Angeles 4, Montreal 2; Pittsburgh 2, Atlanta 0; Houston 11, Chicago 6; and San Francisco 4, Philadelphia 3.

Carter homered leading off the second inning off Roy Lee Jackson. The Mets went ahead 2-0 in the third on Wally Backman's run-scoring single, and added two runs in the fourth on Howard Johnson's triple and Jackson's balk. Carter delivered a run-scoring single in the fifth off reliever Greg Booker. His second home run was hit off Ed Wojna in the seventh inning and gave him 10 RBIs in the series.

Ron Darling, 14-5, picked up the victory.

hitter for his fifth straight complete game and first shutout of the season and first in six years. He walked one and struck out six in his first start since signing a new three-year contract Tuesday. The 36-year-old Reuschel, 11-7, has the only winning record on the Pittsburgh staff.

R.J. Reynolds, playing in his second game for Pittsburgh since being acquired from the Dodgers, tripled to right off Dave Schuler in the fifth inning to score Joe Orsulak, who walked against starter Pascual Perez, 1-9. Perez has not won since July 14.

The hosts added a run in the seventh against Rick Camp on Johnny Ray's RBI single.

Astros 11, Cubs 6
Thanks to eight RBIs from the bench, the Astros swept the Cubs at Wrigley Field for the first time since 1973. Tim Tolman pinch hit a three-run homer, Jerry Mumphy came on in the sixth inning to double in two runs and then belted a three-run homer for Houston.

Giants 4, Phillies 3
Rob Deer pinch hit a three-run homer off reliever Fred Tolver in the bottom of the ninth to lift the hosts to victory, snapping the Phillies' six-game winning streak. Mike Schmidt's two-run homer, the 450th of his career, had given Philadelphia a 3-1 edge.

Cardinals 4, Reds 3
Mike Jorgensen won't make the St. Louis fans forget slugger Jack Clark but he has eased the pain of Clark's loss.

In his 10th start as a fill-in for Clark — who is out with injured ribs — the 37-year-old Jorgensen delivered the game-winning hit in the bottom of the ninth as the Cardinals stayed ahead of the Mets. An error by Cincinnati shortstop Dave Concepcion, who booted Terry Pendleton's high hopper following Andy Van Slyke's leadoff double, allowed the Cardinals to tie the game.

The Reds had gone on top in the eighth inning, sparked by player-manager Pete Rose's single, which lifted him within four hits of Ty Cobb's all-time record of 4,191.

Dodgers 4, Expos 2
Slump-ridden Greg Brock equalized his RBI total for the month of August, knocking in a pair. Brock hit a solo homer and added an RBI single at Los Angeles. His first homer since July 26 tied the score 1-1 in the second, and the Dodgers added three runs in the third on Mike Marshall's RBI double, a run-scoring single by Mike Scioscia and Brock's single.

Rose taking day off from chase

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pete Rose is taking a day off from The Chase. Now five away from breaking the hallowed mark of 4,191 lifetime hits by Ty Cobb, Rose says he's going to spend an off-day today sitting around watching television.

"I'm not going to do anything tomorrow," the Cincinnati player-manager said after going 1-for-3 with a walk in a 4-3 loss at St. Louis Wednesday night. "I'm going to watch the Cubs on TV."

The Reds finished a three-game series in St. Louis Wednesday night, during which Rose had only one hit. After a day off today, Cincinnati begins a three-game series in Chicago. The Reds return home Monday to open a 10-game homestand.

Rose, who has been starting only against right-handers, intends to play in the first two games of the series with the Cubs pitching Derek Bothelo and Dennis Eckersley. He plans to sit out the Sunday game when the Cubs throw left-hander Steve Trout.

Eckersley was a late change from the Cubs' original probable starter, Jay Baller, also a right-hander.

"I've had my rips against Eckersley," Rose said. "It's like hitting against (LaMarr) Hoyt. He doesn't walk anybody, so you know you're going to get a strike to swing at."

Rose has been struggling through a mini-slump of late. In his last 12 games, he is 9-for-41 for a .220 average over that period. During that slump, his season average has dropped from .273 to .266.

Although he is averaging 0.9 hits in each game he has played this season, the average has been only .75 hits a game over the last 12 games. That puts him on a pace to break the record about a week from today.

"I've probably had a lot of walks during that time, though," Rose said of the slump. "And it seems like every hit I get is an important hit. It either sets up a run or drives in a run. I've been able to maintain my on-base percentage."

Wednesday night, Rose's 4,187th career hit came on a hit-and-run play during Cincinnati's two-run eighth, giving the Reds a shortlived 3-2 lead. The Cards won the game with two runs in the ninth.

In the first inning, Rose, batting third in the order ahead of Dave Parker, struck out swinging at a high, 1-2 fastball from right-hander Kurt Kephire. It was only the 27th time Rose had struck out in 338 at-bats this season.

Rose flied to left field in the fourth inning, then walked on four pitches from Kephire in the sixth. He came up with one out, Gary Redus at first and the Reds trailing 2-1 in the eighth. The count went to 1-1 against left-hander Ken Dayley, and Redus was running. Rose poked the ball down the right-field line for a single that sent Redus to third base.

Area Game of the Week

Experienced Bulldogs ready for Indians

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

NOTE: In addition to spotlighting the Big Spring Steers each week, the Herald sports department will also spotlight a matchup concerning one of the other teams in the Crossroads Country. This week's first headline pits 7-3A team Coahoma against District 3-3A foe Seminole.

The Coahoma Bulldogs, armed with an abundance of lettermen, will get a chance to prove themselves when they host the Seminole Indians Friday night at Bulldog Stadium at 8 p.m.

Coach Bruce Mitchell's Bulldogs will have 18 senior leaders when they hit the field against their District 3-3A foe.

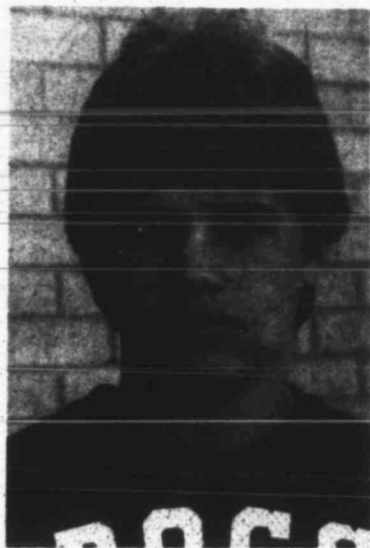

Coach Mitchell hopes to have his squad healthy when they take the field Friday. In their previous two scrimmages, against McCamey and Lamesa, they were hampered by a few nagging injuries.

The Bulldogs defense got a good workout in both scrimmages as it faced two of the top running backs in the area. McCamey's Rodney Terry and Kenneth Williams of Lamesa are two All-State possibilities.

"Overall, we didn't play that well in the scrimmages," said Mitchell. "But we were faced two good offenses with two excellent running backs. We really don't put too much emphasis on scrimmages,

DEE JON DOUGLASS
...steady linebacker

DALE HODNETT
...will see limited action

they are bigger than we are. Hopefully our quickness will pay off."

Seminole does return seven starters from last year's 5-5 team. They had decent showings in both scrimmages. They outscored Class we've really been preparing for Seminole.

Mitchell figures the task will be a hard one although Seminole lost 16 lettermen last season. "Although they lost a lot of people, I feel they are a better team than last season," Mitchell said. "They have a better team concept this year and AA Ralls and tied Class AAA Idalou.

Wide receiver-turned-quarterback David Quintanilla (150) will direct the Straight-T offense. Junior Ty Bryson (190) will play fullback. The running backs will be a pair of 150-pounders; Freddie Diaz and Sidney Lopez.

The Indians offensive line will average about 205-pounds per man. Tackle Kurt Wisdom (6-0, 215) is their top lineman, both offensively and defensively.

Top players on defense include Bryson at middle linebacker and cornerbacks Diaz and Lopez. End Rodney Foy (180) is another top player.

Seminole coach Bill Burling said he was impressed with Coahoma's play against Class 4A school Lamesa. "They looked pretty good against Lamesa," he said. "It's going to help them to have all those returning lettermen."

Coahoma will have Brian Calaway calling the signals in the Wing-T offense. Fullback will be Luke Yarbar, tailback duties will be shared by Craig Wallace and Dale Hodnett. Hodnett is coming off an ankle injury, but will see lots of action, according to Mitchell.

Defensively the Bulldogs will be led by linemen Barry Stafford and Tommy Soto; along with linebackers Yarbar and Dee Jon Douglass. Calaway will head the secondary from his safety position.

Both coaches see the game as a hard-fought one.

"No doubt it will be a tough game," said Burling. "It's going to be a battle. They are probably the best team we've faced so far."

Coach Mitchell doesn't think there will be many points scored. "Neither team has a lot raw speed," he said. "So we'll both have to grind it out. We'll do good if we're consistent on offense and play aggressive defense."

Jones survives Cowboys cut again

DALLAS (AP) — James Jones said if he had been a gambling man he would have probably bet against himself making the Dallas Cowboys for a fifth season.

"If I had been on the outside watching, I'd have written myself off," said Jones.

While Jones may have become discouraged, he never yielded to the temptation to quit after three operations in less than three years. He went from crutches, to a walking cane, to running again as a member of the National Football League team's running back corps.

Jones missed a big cut this week as Coach Tom Landry trimmed his team to 45. Jones stayed. Veteran Ron Springs is gone.

"I was nervous about it," said Jones. "In this business, you don't take anything for granted."

Jones was a third-round draft pick out of Mississippi in 1980. He was hampered by bone spurs and carried only 41 times for 135 yards.

In 1981, he carried 34 times for 183 yards and scored a touchdown.

His first operation came in the spring of 1983.

"I was on crutches for three months then a walking cane for a month and a half," said Jones.

Later came some more bad news. Doctors discovered Jones had a nerve and bone disease problem in his left knee. The solution was another operation.

"Then I had another operation in the spring of 1984 because they had to shave out some more bone spurs," said Jones. "I think the doctors thought I would never play again although they wouldn't say that."

In 1984, he carried only 8 times for 13 yards.

"It got discouraging but I kept thinking I would play," he said.

Jones is not 100 per cent again but he'll be returning punts and kickoffs in Monday night's National Football League opener against the Washington Redskins in Texas Stadium.

He'll also be a backup tailback and a backup fullback.

"You know it's hard to remember how I was when I was 100 per cent in college," Jones said. "But it sure feels good to make this team."

"I knew I was in a fight to make it and I did. I guess they kept me instead of Ron Springs. I feel bad for Ron."

But as a Cowboys' official said this week, "You have to feel great for James Jones. He fought all the way back. He's a class act."

Soviets dominate University Games

KOBE, Japan (AP) — Although the young American team chalked up its biggest medal count ever in the 1985 World University Games, a veteran team from the Soviet Union ran off with even more gold and then capped the competition with a world-record high jump.

When the World University Games' flame flickered out Wednesday night — a little bit late because of Igor Paklin's record high jump — the Soviet team had 84 medals, including 44 of the 122 gold medals awarded.

The United States finished with 22 golds among their total of 66 medals, which surpassed the previous American high of 59 in the Tokyo games of 1967.

"For a young team, we're very pleased," said Dr. Theo Heap, president of the U.S. Collegiate Sports Council.

Oilers resign

quarterback

HOUSTON (A) — Brian Ransom spent two seasons on the Houston Oilers roster as a third string quarterback and never played a down in a regular season National Football League game.

It was only after Ransom was waived last week that the Oilers suddenly discovered they needed the former Tennessee State star.

The Oilers resigned Ransom Wednesday to fill in for backup Oliver Luck, who suffered a broken ankle in the final preseason game and will be out for a minimum of four weeks.

Starting quarterback Warren Moon suffered a torn thumbnail in the same game but will start against the Miami Dolphins in Sunday's regular season opener in the Astrodome.

"Mentally, I think I'm better," Ransom said of his week of inactivity. "I'm concentrating on getting ready to play again."

"I was scheduled to leave Monday and I got a call from the Oilers Sunday. I have an opportunity here to play if Warren gets hurt. Otherwise, it might have been to my benefit to be somewhere else."

Ransom, who sweated side by side with Moon and Luck throughout last season, said he's been able to overcome the frustration of not getting a chance to play. "I'm not bitter toward anyone, just frustrated," he said.

We've got the Sesquicentennial covered
If you would agree that Ma Ferguson was a famous Texan or that Jose Antonio Navarro brought in the first Texas oil well, you may need a Lone Star history refresher course. We will have many opportunities to review our state's proud past during 1986, when we celebrate the 150-year birthday, or sesquicentennial, of Texas.

Statewide contest winner announced
And the winner is... Bill Hall of Arlington. Hall's colorful montage displays the rich texture of Texas. After much head-scratching, the six judges selected Hall's work as the best of many excellent entries.

New toll-free service aids Hispanics
Southwestern Bell Telephone recently inaugurated a trial of an important new service for our Spanish-speaking customers throughout the state. It is a toll-free number to give customers an opportunity to obtain general information and assistance from Spanish-speaking employees. If a customer needs specific information about an account, a bureau employee will call the customer's business office — with the customer on the line — and serve as an interpreter, if necessary.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, SEPT. 6, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a strange start in the early morning, you will find this day brings you all kinds of opportunities to have sudden and unusual chances to utilize your talents to the utmost.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handle the most important business matters and then be off for a good time with congenials. Some personal de'res can be gained.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can easily charm an influential person if you desire backing for some project that can also be profitable to him or her.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Become cognizant of varying conditions around you that can help you to expand your interests and activities.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Although very conventional, it is important you now get into the modern stream that can bring you greater success.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Stop being so full of pride and permit interesting personalities to come into your life and feel happier. Show you have wisdom and charm.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You need more modern methods and tools, mechanisms if you want to make your routines work more efficiently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Step out of that rut and study into new interests and pleasures you have not known before this for success and happiness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show more thought for those who live with you and make life at home far more pleasant, and gain more benefits.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put more pizzazz into your relationships with others and the future becomes far brighter for all concerned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Even though you are conservative in business, if you use more modern methods now, you can have greater success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you are more dramatic today, you can please others and be happier yourself. Stop being so self-sacrificing.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) See advisers who can help you to be more modern in business and forget antiquated methods that do little for you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the ability to make life very interesting, though tiring, for you as adoring parents since there will be so much energy here that has to be channeled in right directions. Provide religious training early in life.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
