BUM FARMING, COTTON, PIPES AT TECH CLUB

Welty, Greer and Worden Discuss Topics At Last Meeting

NEED NEW METHODS

Irrigation Engineer Raps "Feudal System" Once Existing in State

"The general system of farm land tenantry in Texas is an antiquated relic of feudal barbarism and some method of financing farm purchases must be devised if Texas farms are to be popular with the best class of farmers."
—F. A. WELTY.

"Texas farmers are overlooking one of their biggest bets in not putting 50 per cent of their acreage in alfalfa."
—JAMES D. GREER.

"Three counties in northern California comprise the only area in the world where redwood trees are found. Searches the globe over has failed to reveal a redwood tree in any other spot. I believe northern California is a territory belonging to a different geologic age than the one in which the rest of the United States belongs."
—H. B. WORDEN.

These were three interesting facts developed Tuesday night by three different speakers at the Technical club banquet, the last regular meeting of the summer and which was devoted to a series of widely varied topics expounded by speakers well qualified to handle them.

Of most interest, perhaps, was the address of P. A. Welty, chief engineer of the irrigation project, who discussed at some length "The Proper Subdivision of Land Under Irrigation" and "Tenantry."

Broad Indictment.

Mr. Welty's indictment of the average farming system as practiced in Texas was broad and inclusive. He made it plain that he intended no criticism of any particular section of the state or any specific irrigation project. He asserted emphatcally that the Wichita project boasted some farmers of exceptionally high type.

The engineer explained, however, that the average tenant farmer's interest in his land was limited to immediate results and that the serious menaces of water-logging and other irrigation evils did not bother them at all. "Get a crop this year at any cost," might have been a summary of the average tenant's attitude as Mr. Welty presented it.

To remedy this condition, he said, some system of financing should be developed whereby farmers of the highest type could be obtained to settle and work the land. Then, he declared, that development that all Texas wants to see would rapidly come. Fertile land must be made availabe for these men at low initial cost and long term easy payments, he said.

Room For Towns.

After saying that there was room for three or four more small towns in the irrigation districts, Mr. Welty discussed at some length the need of proper subdividing land under irrigation. He cited as an example of poor subdividing some plats of land on the Iowa Park road where tracts 250 by 1,600 feet had been disposed of and none of which could ever be irrigated with a drop of water without the owner first obtaining rights-of-way for laterals through land owned by others.

Another tract in another section, Mr. Welty illustrated, had been laid out with a proper regard for the topog-

KILLED BY MULE.

HENDERSON, Texas, June 16.—William Miner, 14, son of Neal Miner, farmer living in the Oak Hill community north of Henderson, was instantly killed today when kicked by a mule while working in a field. The boy had stopped ploughing to knock a fly off the animal when it kicked him in the chest.

HEAT DOESN'T HURT

Hundreds Have Big Day at Picnic

A SIZZLING sun and dusty, heat-parched roads meant nothing yesterday to 500 or more Wichitans—some of them young and some not so young—who flocked to Scotland park as guests of the Salvation Army at its annual summer picnic. The expected attendance mark of 800 was not reached, but there were enough noisy youngsters and interested grown-ups on hand to stamp the venture an unqualified success.

It was an eagerly expectant throng that swarmed around the army citadel on Seventh street Tuesday morning. Some of them were there as early as 7 o'clock, although the parade through the business district was not scheduled to start until 9. They came from all parts of town, but the river banks, the far eastern side—those sections bordering the very edge where rents are cheap and any shelter serves as home—it was from those districts a lot of them came.

Clothing Well, some of it was well enough, but it was a varied array of styles that appeared. Bare feet and dusty, tanned bare legs was the prevailing mode for the kids. Shoes out at the toe and down at the heel—cast offs found at rummage sales or resurrected from waste boxes in the alleys were also found. One girl of 7 years or less wore a pair of tattered brown stockings and no shoes at all.

Anyhow, clothes didn't cut any ice at all. They turned out for a good time—and that is just what they got.

Commandant Johnson, the genial, long-suffering and tireless executive of the army, marshalled his flock with difficulty as it surged around the citadel. Then he piled it into cars supplied by the Lions club and after a short parade through the business district led it to the park where the rest of the day was spent.

Suffice to say that once there, plenty was found to do. A series of races of all kinds—potato races, fat ladies and lean ladies' races, sack races and just common, ordinary toe-the-mark and run like thunder races furnished diversion for the morning and afternoon hours. The playground apparatus, too, came in for one of the busiest days on record.

Those were merely diversions. The big kick came at noon when

LYRICS OF LIFE
By Douglas Malloch
Old Friends.

IT'S fine to have a lot of friends, to have from day to day
Some very influential friends to help you on your way,
It's fun to have some merry friends to cheer you with a song,
It's sweet to have some gentle friends when things are going wrong,
It's good to have some honest friends to tell a man the truth,
But best of all among your friends some friends you knew in youth!

It's fine to have a lot of friends, all sorts of friends to know;
Thank God you have them rich and poor, you have them high and low,
The rich will help you in your need, the poor a word will say
To make you rich as any man when you're as poor as they.
The high will tell you where to aim, the low will tell you how—
But you may have some friends of youth, old friends who know you now.

It's fine to have a lot of friends, but, oh, for just a few
To link us to the days of youth, the old among the new,
It's fine to have some merry friends, and yet I hope I know
A few who know me as I am, who knew me long ago,
A stranger longs in alien lande to hear his native tongue—
A fellow needs in alien years old friends to keep him young!

ROTARY WHEEL GATHERS SPEED AT CLEVELAND

Convention Gets Under Way in Earnest Tuesday

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 16.—(AP)—The great fraternal wheel of International Rotary began turning here today as the initial business session of the sixteenth annual convention got under way in public hall, cheered on by telegrams and cablegrams from virtually every capital in the civilized world.

Message From Italy

From King Victor Emmanuel of Italy came a message of greetings and God speed; from Gerardo Machado, president of the republic of Cuba, came another and from diplomats high in service of two dozen nations came others, all lauding Rotarians.

The morning session opened with a prayer by Rev. Herman L. Turner, Sheffield, Ala., then a brief but inspiring message commending the fraternity for its work during the last two decades and urging it on toward greater achievements was read. It was from Paul J. Harris, Chicago, now president emeritus, who with a handful of associates organized the first Rotary club twenty years ago.

Other officers elected were: C. W. Carson, Jr., cashier of the First National bank, Spearman; first vice-president, F. M. Butler, vice-president of the First National bank, Plainview; second vice-president, O. T. Nicholson, cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' State bank, Shamrock, treasurer. The executive board is composed of the newly elected officers and the retiring president, S. E. Fuqua.

To Make Ready For Paving On Holiday

The city water department plans to start the latter part of this week on lowering mains on Holiday street preparatory to paving of that thoroughfare. Contracts for the work have been let by both the city and the county, who are to do the work jointly. Actual grading and paving operations must be held up until all pipes and mains on the street are lowered. This work is now being done.

The Holiday street paving is a part of the project that, eventually, will give a new paved road through the city's new south side park and golf club.

THERMOMETER REACHES 101

City Gasps As Heat Wave Sends Mercury Soaring Tuesday.

Wichita Falls continued to gasp Tuesday as the thermometer continuing its soaring ways, mounted to 101 degrees for the third time this summer. This was the maximum temperature recorded b ythe Wichita Falls Electric company observation station.

About a month ago the mercury climbed to 101 degrees for a few minutes, and it hit the same tune Monday afternoon.

No immediate relief is in sight, weather reports indicated yesterday. Continued fair and warm was the prediction for Wednesday.

CHICAGO GANG CARRIES FIGHT TO CITY HALL

Gunman Fires at Officer In Police Station But Misses

ROUND-UP STARTED

War ot Hilt Declared Between Police And Thugs

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—Warfare between Chicago gangsters and Chicago policemen which started last men tonight was carried into the week with the shooting of five policecity hall when an unidentifed man appeared at the office of Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, and fired point blank at Sergeant Elbert Curran, attached to the state's attorney's staff.

Curran was not hit and the man escaped after Curran had fired several shots at him as he fled down a corridor. A few minutes after the shooting every door to the county building was guarded and for an hour gun squads ransacked the building in the belief that the gunman had been cornered.

Gets a Call.

Yesterday Sergeant Curran received a telephone call from a man who in broken English said that Sergeant William Sweeney, the policeman who shot and killed Michael Genna, notorious gangster, last Saturday after Genna's gang had shot two policemen and wounded a third, would be killed tomorrow.

Curran said the man who fired at him resembled a man who appeared at the county building yesterday evening and asked to see the state's attorney, explaining that his brother was in trouble and intimating his relative had been seized when more than 200 alleged gangsters had been rounded up after last week's shootings.

Crowe Takes Charge.

Shortly after the attack, Mr. Crowe, who had not been in his office at the time appeared at the county building and assumed personal charge of the investigation while tonight hundreds of policement were combing the city for the black haired, swarthy complexioned man who fired at Curran.

Eighty-nine men rounded up in the drive against gangsters and beer runtrict court today on charges of violatners were arraigned in federal dising the Volstead act. All entered pleas of guilty and were released in blanket bail of $1,000 each. In the criminal court, John Scalice and Albert Anselino, wounded gunman of the defiant Genna gang who were indicted yesterday for the murder of two patrolmen in Saturday's savage pistol battle with the police were arraigned and granted continuances until Friday to enter pleas.

Death Toll In N. J. Wreck 36; Others Will Die

Wreck Survivors Leave For Visit To Foreign Lands

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Eager to see their homeland again, but shaken and saddened by the train wreck which claimed 57 of their companions in dead and injured, 125 Germans from the west sailed today on the United States liner Republic from Hoboken.

Rescued from the horror which ensued when their special train from Chicago was wrecked before dawn near Rockport, N. J., survivors of the homeward bound party were rushed to Hoboken in another special.

All had graphic tales to tell of their experiences while the liner waited for possible late additions to the fortunate saved. Running through each story was a golden thread, tracing the heroism of the farmer residents near the wreck and of the sacrificing efforts of some of the passengers to alleviate the suffering of the injured.

MAN DROWNED IN TANK NEAR BURKBURNETT

L. F. Wilson, 21, Victim Of Cramps While In Swimming

BURKBURNETT, June 16.—L. F. Wilson, a 21-year-old employe of the Humble company here, was drowned about 9:30 tonight when he was seized with cramps while in swimming at the old Burkburnett reservoir three miles north of the city.

Wilson with several companions had gone to the tank early in the evening to seek relief from the severe heat. He had been in the water for but a short time when cramps caught him and he went down before aid could be obtained. More than two hours were spent in searching for the body, and when found a pullmotor was used without effect.

The remains were taken to the Owen Undertaking rooms and are being held there pending funeral arrangements. No relatives of the dead man live here, but he is understood to have kinsmen in St. Louis.

To Bury Body Held Since Feb. 8, 1923

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 16.—The body of Mrs. F. H. Leeds, which has been held here since February 8, 1923, pending return of her husband who disappeared after ordering it prepared for burial, will be buried here Saturday, it was said today. After Mrs. Leeds died from an attack of influenza her husband told undertakers he was going to Mississippi and not to hold sevices until he returned. Numerous attempts have been made to locate him.

Efforts also to find two sisters of Mrs. Leeds, believed to have lived in Georgetown, were futile.

The body is declared to be in an excellent state of preservation.

Victims of Disaster On Lackawanna Road Meet Agonized Death

EASTON, Pa., June 16.—(A-P)—With the deaths tonight of Rudolph Troike, Cicero, Illinois, and Robert Brunner, six years old, Chicago, the death list in today's wreck at Rockport Sag, N. J., was increased to 36. Troike's wife died shortly after the accident, while the Brunner boy's father, Edwin Brunner, and a brother, Edwin, Jr., died this afternoon.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J. June 16.—(AP)—Thirty-two are dead, 36 are in a critical condition and at least 35 more are suffering from injuries received early today when four cars and the engine of a seven-car special train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad were derailed and piled upon one another at Rockport, N. J., two miles west of here.

One hundred and eighty-two passengers, emigrants of a former day, who had become prosperous in the great corn belt and were on their way to visit home lands across the sea were hurled int othe malestrom of death and injury as coach pounded upon coach and scalding steam from the bursting engine tortured the victims.

Leaves Buffalo.

The train left Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday at 6 p. m. The train's entry to New Jersey was heralded by a violent thunderstorm, a storm that washed gravel over the tracks at the Rockport crossing, into which the train plunged as it gained momentum for the rise ahead.

The engine plowed over ties for 150 yards before it struck a switch and left the tracks.

Two day coaches and a pullman were piled on top the engine as it toppled over. One other Pullman car was derailed and three remained upright.

By automobile special train and ambulance, the injured were taken to Easton, Pa., general hospital; the Warren county hospital at Phillipsburg, Morristown memorial hospital at Morristown and Dover general hospital at Dover.

Eighteen of those taken to Easton are dead. Morristown reported two deaths, Dover five and seven bodies are in the morgue at Hackettstown.

TWO INVESTIGATIONS START INTO WRECK.

EASON, Pa., June 16.—Latest information available here places the death toll in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western wreck near Hackettstown, N. J., early today, at 34.

Two separate investigations were under way tonight. Coroner William Fisher of Phillipsburg, who went to the scene of the accident, empanelled a jury and immediately started holding an inquest while the second investigation was started by Prosecutor S. C. Smith, Jr., of Phillipsburg. Mr. Smith said he would await the report of his investigators and that be taken through his office.

Jury Selection Is Difficult In Waurika

WAURIKA, Okla., June 16.—In the Harry Sledge case which is being tried here, difficulty is being experienced in the selection of a jury. Court recessed at 4 o'clock this afternoon to open at 8 o'clock in the morning. A jury of 84 names has been empaneled and tonight a special venire of 30 more names have been called and the case is expected to move rapidly after the jury has been selected.

BROKEN WILL NEXT MOVE IN STATE FIGHT ON SHEPHERD

Billy McClintock's Fiance Admits Efforts To Change It

SHE TAKES STAND

Testimony Comes as a Bombshell in Crowded Chicago Court

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—William Darling Shepherd's trial for the murder of William Nelson McClintock, whom he is accused of having fed typhoid germs is the precursor of a suit to break the youth's will which made Shepherd a millionaire, Miss Isabelle Pope, who was affianced to the "orphan millionaire" admitted upon cross-examination today.

The slender young brunette who waited with a marriage license while Billy died testified that she had agreed with Iowa cousins of the boy's mother to divide the estate "fifty-fifty" in the event the will was broken.

"Not Implicated."

Mrs. Julie Shepherd, for 16 years young McClintock's foster mother, was considered in the agreement, Miss Pope naively admitted, because it was not believed that she was "implicated in this."

The portion which would be set aside for the woman who mothered the boy and was not mentioned in his will would be a tenth, or $100,000.

Except for an $8,000 annunity to Miss Pope, the entire estate was willed to Shepherd.

Completing her direct testimony, hailed in advance as an important link in the chain of circumstantial evidence the state has set out to weld about Shepherd, Miss Pope talked again of the change in the Shepherd's attitude towards her after they learned of her engagement to be married to Billy, told of Shepherd having informed her he had studied about "typhoid germs," and testified that others were in the party at which young McClintock is held by the defense to have eaten typhoid carrying oysters, but had not felt ill effects.

Upon cross-examination the young woman identified passages in numerous letters she had written to Billy while he was attending Dartmouth college at Hanover, N. H., in which she said she was enjoying visits with the Shepherds and that they were "darling to her."

Later Miss Pope admitted that the Shepherds had remarked that upon her marriage to Billy they would gain a daughter, and not lose a son, and that Mrs. Shepherd had telephoned her an acknowledgement of the announcement of the engagement and again had been "darling."

Ignores Germs.

William Scott Stewart, chief of defense counsel, sought to show that in her testimony before the coroner's jury Miss Pope had mentioned only that Shepherd had talked of his study of typhoid, made no mention of "germs" and that his interest in typhoid had been aroused by the participation of his brother, a physician, in the typhoid epidemic during the Spanish-American war.

The testimony regarding the three-way division of the McClintock estate was adduced quietly and calmly, but it was likened to the explosion of a bombshell in the court room, where the 275 spectators had hung with intense eagerness upon the barely audible phrases of the young woman's testimony.

A representative of the Northern Trust company, which still is the custodian of the estate pending its final disposall by the probate court, testified by the probate court's testimony it came into the company's keeping, and that upon young McClintock becoming 21 years of age it was turned over to him personally. The youth then signed an order for the company to continue in custody of the estate, it was testified.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS THICKEN

Court's Rule on Taxation Complicate Matters More.

AUSTIN, June 16.—(AP)—New problems for Texas schools have arisen over the recent opinion of the civil court of appeals, third district which reversed the rulings of forty years, when the court ruled that E. R. Huck, a non-resident of Austin, can send his children to the Austin public schools without paying a tuition fee, S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of schools, declared today.

PARDONS FOR NEGRO MEN

Ma to Help Celebrate "Juneteenth" By Giving Them Freedom.

AUSTIN, June 16.—(AP)—Probably thirty pardons will be granted negro convicts in the state penitentiary on account of "Juneteenth," the first 14 to receive their pardons Wednesday, it was announced today by R. E. Franklow, assistant secretary to the governor. The negroes are being given pardons without outside aid and in conjunction with "Emancipation Day," June 19th.

Temple Has Eggs That Hatched When Sun Hits Them.

TEMPLE, Texas, June 16. — Temple steps out in front with the banner 1925 heat story. A farmer bought eggs to a cold storage plant Saturday of which a dozen were culled. He did not carry them off. When the place closed Saturday it did not reopen until Monday. A cheeping noise attracted attention in the direction of the culled dozen. The counts showed ten culls and two live chickens. The judgment of the sorter had been handsomely vindicated.

"You Lose In Cash If You Neglect Safety," Bright Tells Council

An actual realization in dollars and cents of the monetary loss to North Texas industry brought about by a lack of application of safety first principles in plants was forecast for the near future by J. D. Bright, at last night's meeting of the safety council.

As pointed out by Mr. Bright the insurance companies handling group compensation insurance this last year lost money. The beauty of the group plan of insurance has been the cheapness of the rates and the efficient protection it affords. The fact that these companies lost money last year and are faced with even greater losses this year makes an increase in their rates almost inevitable, Mr. Bright said. This makes the thing more expensive for the companies and will eventually lead to a much greater expense to get the same thing accomplished.

It was suggested at the meeting of the safety council that an investigation into the safety condiions at the various swimming pools around the city be investigated, and steps were taken toward this end.

The meeting, held at the offices of the Wichita Electric company, was well attended despite the hot weather There was considerable discussion of plans for further summer activity of the council

City Different Than In The Days When Waggoner And Burnett Sold Cattle

Back in the days when Burk Burnett and Tom Waggoner shipped thousands of head of cattle from their ranches around here, H. B. Worden, a traveling freight agent for the old St. Louis-Southwestern railroad made periodic trips to Wichita Falls to "get their business" for his road. That was as far back as 1888—and his last trip to this city was 1894.

Tuesday Mr. Worden dropped in again on business, and has not yet quite recovered from the shock.

He is now general manager of the Redwood Manufacturing company of San Francisco, the largest manufacturer of redwood products in the world—a concern operating its own fleet of a dozen or more ocean steamers which owns thousands of acres of valuable redwood timber lands and which is one of the big industries of the country.

"When I came here before," Mr. Worden said, "Wichita Falls wasn't much more than a wide place in the road. Six shooters and knives were standard equipment," and Mr. Worden himself could tell of at least one or two exciting scraps in which he felt the sting of hot lead and the slice of a knife.

"I never saw such a development in any city anywhere," he said, and then he went on to explain that, coming down on the Denver, a number of towns through which he passed did not appear from the train to have changed greatly from the old days. But Wichita Falls—wow! Let him tell it.

Near Three-Quarter Mile Extension to Waite Phillips Pool

LOOKS LIKE WELL

Sand at 1,713-14 1-2 Feet May Yield Nice Producer

What looks like a definite extension of nearly three-quarters of a mile westward and a bit south of the Waite Phillips Mankins pool is seen in Kentucky Oil corporation's No. 1, Tad Wilson, in the northeast corner of the north 20 acres of the south 40 acres of the west 100 acres of the east 700 acres of the south half of the Benjamen Howard survey, northwest Archer county.

The well was reported yesterday afternoon to have a hole partially filled with oil from about a foot and one-half of sand topped at a depth of 1,713 feet. It was estimated variously at anywhere from 35 to 75 barrels a day.

Independent Will Move Office to Tulsa

E. H. Moore, president of the Independent Oil and Gas company of Okmulgee, announces that the Independent will remove to Tulsa on June 27 and 28 and be open for business here on Monday, June 29.

Superior Crude Brings Premium

The Superior Oil corporation, which has been storing its Cromwell oil production, and had 204,000 barrels of it, has made a deal with the Kansas City Refining company by which the Kansas City, Kan., plant will take this oil for 15 cents a berrel premium over the Prairie's posted market price. The Kansas City Refining company is also entering the Wetumka district with offers of 15 cents a barrel for such stored oil as it can purchase.

GALVESTON ATTORNEY DIES

Prominent Lawyer Succumbs in Hospital at Houston.

HOUSTON, June 16.—Ed McCarty, Jr., prominent attorney of Galveston and Housotn died early today at a hospital. He is survived by his wife, and his father and mother of Galveston. Funeral services will be held Wednesday in Galveston.

Farmers Sand May Be Wilcox After All Say Oil Men

While most Oklahoma-Kansas oil men are inclined to accept the name "Farmers' Sand" for the new producing horizon in the K-D Oil company's No. 1, White, in the NW of the SE of 1-22-2w, north and west of Perry, in Noble county, others are prone to call it the Wilcox sand.

A number of competent geologists visiting the well Saturday are convinced that the producing formation is Wilcox after all. They declare that sand samples as secured in the well are the most perfect of any Wilcox sand test drilled in northern Oklahoma. The cross-section also is the most complete in what it reveals of the Mississippian and the Pennsylvania formations. The white limes, the Chatanooga shales and the Cherokee shales are also clearly revealed.

Apparently the K-D well is southeast of a granite ridge on which the old Mid-Co Petroleum company No. 1, Hoover, in 20-23-2w in the Billings pool went to 5,030 feet and was abandoned in the silicious lime.

The Wilcox sand adherents declare that the Wilcox may have taken a drop there. That is their explanation for the great difference in elevation compared with the Wilcox sand at Tonkawa, at Billings, and at Garber and elsewhere in central and northern Oklahoma. By reasoning the Wilcox should have been found by the K. D. Oil company around 4,250 to 4,300 feet.

Saturday the well was flowing at the rate of 7½ barrels an hour, at intervals of two hours. The steel line measurement of the hole was reported at 5,145 feet with 1,255 feet of open hole. It is said that the operators will try to float the lower string in connecting it, such as is done in California deep holes.

The K. D. well is the talk of oil men, and all are agreed that it is the biggest upset to the known dope that has taken place in recent years. While the present well may not be a profitable one, it proves that there are stratas that contain oil and gas below the known horizons and that when oil well supply manufacturers can perfect drilling tools and casing and rigs that can stand the stresses of a deep hole that 6,000, 7,000 and deeper holes are possible in Oklahoma in the years to come.

HUMBLE GETS A GOOD WELL NEAR OLNEY

Second Well in Murchison-Fail Pool Reported Flowing by Heads

What in effect amounts to the discovery of another major pool for the Olney area is the semi-completion registered yesterday in Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1, Mercer, in the northwest corner of the Mercer farm, J. Poitevent survey, abstract 226, just north of Olney, north Young county.

Late reports last night credited the well with flowing by heads at a rate estimated anywhere from 300 barrels a day to 500 barrels with more than four feet of sand topped at 1,058 feet drilled.

The well was bailed Monday night and was reckoned then a 200 barrel well from just four feet of sand. Further drilling started the flow. The well is an east offset to the Murchison-Fain No. 1, Wilson, first well in the pool, albeit a small producer. Until yesterday's show in the Humble well the pool was regarded as a small quantity. Estimates have been revised now and it is regarded as the opener for a pool not unlike the Carey or Ragle areas just north and east.

BANDIT "MUTT" ESCAPES

Well Known San Antonio Crook Believed to be in Western State.

SAN ANTONIO, June 16.—"Mutt", ring leader of Mutt and Jeff bandit gang whose operations covering more than two years were detailed in a confession made to county officers investigating recent holdups near San Antonio, has made good his escape. He is now believed to be in a western state.

This information was given officers when they went to Kennedy, Texas, Tuesday afternoon, armed with a warrant for his arrest.

DALLAS FIRE LOSS HEAVY

Fireman is Also Injured in Boarding House Blaze.

DALLAS, June 16.—Property loss estimated at $30,000 and one city fireman injured, resulted from fire early today in a boarding house operated by W. C. Yarbrough at 1412 south Akard street. The blaze spread to a nearby apartment house.

Occupants of both buildings saved little of their clothing. H. A. Hodge, captain of an engine company of fire department was hurt when a piece of metal from a roof fell on him.

CHILD BITTEN BY SQUIRREL

Test to be Made to Find if Animal Had Rabies.

DALLAS, June 16.—A six-year-old child was bitten by a squirrel yesterday in Forest park here, which acted as if it might be mad, according to a man who killed the squirrel while it was attacking the child. Laboratory test will be made to determine whether the squirrel had rabies.

News of the Fields

Douglas, Smith

Douglas and associates were expecting to spud yesterday on their No. 1, Smith, in the northeast corner of TE&LCO survey, block 82, between three and four miles south of the Harmel area, northwest Young county.

Anderson-Jeffers, Wolf

Anderson and Jeffers were drilling again yesterday on their No. 1, Wolf, Wm. Hutton survey, abstract 1283, just east of the Waite Phillips-Wolf producer, southwest Archer county, after passing up a stray sand found at a depth of about 1,086 feet.

Mooers et al, Ickert

Mooers-Douglas et al were reported down below 1,150 feet early yesterday and expecting to top the 1,200-foot pay found in other Ieckert wells sometime last night in their No. 3, Ieckert, third location east from the southwest corner of block 17, Crawford pasture sub-division, Young-Archer line.

Bazette District

Reports from Bazette late last night had it that Gilbert Johnson had topped the chalk at 2,000 feet in his No. 1, Greer, Rushing survey, Navarro county, too high to do any good.

Bert Prince should have been about 1,500 feet and drilling, according to the reports.

Levy, Waggoner

Levy et al No. 1, Waggoner, in the northeast corner of the south half of the southwest quarter of section 58, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, was reported drilling yesterday past a last reported depth of 1,285 feet. The well is located north of the Noble well, eastern Wilbarger county.

Texhoma, Portwood

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has abandoned its No. 2, Portwood, in the northeast corner of the TE&LCO survey, block 3140, southeast Baylor county, at a total depth of 1,500 feet.

White, McCarty

White Brothers have spudded and are drilling on their No. 1, McCarty, in the southwest corner of their lease offsetting to the north the Hammond McCarty lease, in the Bend of the Beaver Creek just before it joins with the river, southwest Wchita county.

Marland, Krupka

Marland Oil company and associates yesterday morning were drilling at a depth of 023 feet on their No. 1, Mrs. F. Krupka, located approximately in the center of the north half of the J. Scott survey, abstract 374, two miles due east of Swastika southwest Archer county.

Magnolia, Waggoner

The Magnolia Petroleum company were underreaming casing yesterday to shut off a water sand topped at 2,460 feet which filled up the hole with water in their No. 1, More-Waggoner, in the northwest corner of the south half of the southeast quarter of section 59, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, Wilbarger county.

Harris, Coleman

Jack Harris et al cored sand showing some oil yesterday afternoon at a depth of 1,036 feet in their No. 1, Coleman, in the northwest corner of the south forty acres of the Coleman 89 acre tract, TE&LCO survey, block 233, southwest of the Litchfield pool, east of Olney, and were reported drilling on to 1,100 feet.

Burns-Maxson, Wilson

Burns and Marson are starting up on their No. 3, Wilson, in the southwest corner of the east forty-nine acres of lot 1, section 75, north of Archer City, ATNCL, due south of the producer. No. 2 has been completed and placed on the pump for a small well from the sand around 1,480 feet.

In the northwest corner of lot 2, section 75, Sun Oil company's No. 1, Wilson, is dry and abandoned at a total depth of 1,596 feet.

Still further east Consolidated Oil company and Larkin and White are down about 1,000 feet in their No. 1, Wilson, in block 76, ATNCL.

Cranfill Pool

Cranfill Brothers Oil company was rigging up yesterday and should have been spudded on No. 4. Mills, well located 450 feet west and 150 feet south of the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of TE&LCO survey, block 2413, a location west of the old No. 1, and northwest of the single producer, No. 2.

The No. 3 has been abandoned at a total depth of 1,428 feet, well located just 600 feet west of the No. 2.

Activity to the north in the vicinity of the Richards well is a drilling proposition for a few days now until one of the five or six drilling tests get down to the sand level below 1,400 feet.

Oil Gossip

"Some party" was the characterization yesterday by oil scouts attending the national convention at Fort Worth regarding the entertainment provided them yesterday afternoon at the Foster Kennels near Stop-Haines. Just what they meant is open to conjecture. Mel Richardson and James C. Fanford were the hosts to something like 200 of the scouts.

Truett Cranfill was a Wichita Falls visitor yesterday; he drove up from Dallas in four hours and forty-five minutes.

Phillips Petroleum company is moving its Texas offices from Dallas to Fort Worth, according to announcement made in Fort Worth yesterday. Phillips has within the past year spent more than $8,000,000 on leases and production and casing head plants in north Texas alone.

Decision as to the next meeting place for the oil scouts convention is left to the board of directors of the association. Wichita Fals made a strenuous bid for this meeting for 1926, but reports from Fort Worth last night were that Tulsa or possibly another Oklahoma town would be favored in preference to a Texas city.

Tourists returning from the Artesia, New Mexico, oil fields, report roads fair and good over most of the route. The roads are reported rougher in and about the fields in New Mexico and southwest Texas than in any other part of the country traversed.

Panhandle Refining company is putting in an extensive expansive program at its boiler and tank department plant at the refinery north of the city. Some $10,000 or $12,000 is being expended for actual improvement.

In addition the department is being extended to include the manufacture of structural steel and a large stock of this commodity is being acquired. The department has lately worked up quite a business at Artesa, New Mexico, and has established a branch warehouse and store there for the tanks. The department is in charge of John Tancred.

IF SICK, BILIOUS! START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee!

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a does of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.—Adv.

WICHITA MUST ADVERTISE, AD CLUB IS TOLD

S. E. Tracy Says That Advertising Will Help Growth

An urgent plea which stressed the need of a consistent and scientifically planned advertising campaign if Wichita Falls was to grow and expand as it should, was voiced Tuesday noon by Shelly E. Tracy, president of the Southwestern Advertising company, in an address to the Advertising club and publicity committee of the chamber of commerce. The address was given at a noon day luncheon.

Mr. Tracy cited numerous examples of what community advertising had accomplished in other cities, notably Los Angeles, Miami and Denver. He said that the irrigation project constituted a valuable asset on which proper publicity would bring huge rewards.

His address, in part, was as follows:

The people of Wichita Falls and Wichita county and those interested in this section of the state have made a capital investment of 4,500,000 in the Wichita irrigation project.

This investment has already made possible the irrigation of more farm lands and will ultimately extend the irrigation area to 10, 20 and 30 times that total.

This is a vast project and holds possibilities of much benefit to this section of Texas. Especially should it benefit Wichita Falls. However, the investment will go for naught—the benefits will be negligible without one important essential, viz the right type of farmers. Water alone for irrigation is nothing; the way that water is used is everything.

What, then, has been done to protect this large investment? What has been done to assure a return on the capital invested?

If a corporation with a capital of $4,500,000 should tie up every cent of that money in buildings, machinery and equipment and should reserve nothing on which to operate, nothing with which to finance its sales development or to market its product, you would know that it would be only a matter of time until that enterprise would be a failure.

Must Be Active.

While it is true that the same degree of failure will not attend the Wichita irrigation project without adequately financed and planned development, it is also true that the full measure of benefit cannot hope to be attained without such activity.

It is also quite obvious to those who have studied community development that the present rate of growth of Wichita Falls cannot continue without a systematic development of agriculture in this section and a material increase in the agricultural population.

Wichita Falls has made a truly remarkable record during the last 20 years. Possibly many of those present here do not know that in terms of percentage your growth has been far more rapid than any of the other larger cities of the state. From 1900 to 1910 you gained 177 per cent in population and from 1910 to 1920, 353 per cent. No other large city in the state is within a hundred per cent of your record of growth. You may look at those figures with pride and properly so. But at the same time you should consider another phase of those government records. All of the growth of Wichita county during the 20 year period has been in Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Iowa Park and Electra. You have actually lost population in the agricultural districts and today there are approximately 9 per cent less farmers living in Wichita county than there were in 1900.

Stop for a minute and reflect on that statement and you will see that to a very large degree your growth has been the direct result of your industrial development, your railroads, your oil and your increasing prominence as a distributing point. You have not gained materially as an agricultural community.

All of the great agricultural district in the trade radius of Wichita Falls needs more farmers of the right type. There is room for thousands and tens of thousands of them in this area. Your rich bottom and valley farms not only offer great possibilities for the profitable growing of wheat and cotton, but are ideal for truck growing as well. Within a few short hours of this area there now lives a metropolitan population of more than a half million and in 20 years this population will probably be double that figure. There is ample market, quick market for abundance of produce. Irrigation makes for intensification of cultivation. Thousands of farmers in southern California are making more money out of intensive cultivation of five acres than many Texas farmers are now making out of a quarter section through irrigation and intensive farming, and on a far less productive soil than that of your fertile valley lands.

But I think that you will admit that your most important present need is more farmers of the right type and kind.

Follow Their Trail.

To accomplish this purpose you don't have to make your own trail. The path of accomplishment of other communities is available for you. The knowledge gained through their mistakes and their successes is at your disposal. Will you use this knowledge and provide a permanent financing plan that will make possible the planned and consistent use of the modern force known as advertising with the same success as has attended the effort of Canada, California, Florida and Colorado?

Second only to her need of agricultural development Wichita Falls needs more industries. Many of the basic elements are most favorable here to industrial development. There is at work now a decentralization of industries and Wichita Falls should and can take advantage of this tendency. Planned advertising for Wicnita Falls then should have as its secondary important objective the attracting of industries, manufacturing plants, factories, the increasing of your growing payrolls.

The first advertising fund developed in 1921 was $28,000. Its expenditure marked the first constructive step in a consistent and persistent effort to carry to the world a constructive Utah message and to dispel derogatory comment. In 1922 the fund increased to $50,000. In 1923 the fund was $51,846.42 and the budget for 1924 was $75,000, to which was added more than six thousands of dollars of the unexpended portion of the 1923 fund. The report at the end of 1923 reads: "We've got 'em coming—375,000 visitors were here this year—10,014 mail inquiries were the result of the 1923 advertising—now, let's keep 'em coming."

The All-Year club began its advertising campaign on behalf of southern California in July 1920. Since that time it has spend for advertising space in magazines, newspapers and for booklets approximately $500,000. The whole burden of the campaign has been to increase the volume of visitors to southern California, especially during the summer months.

Denver, Colo., has been doing a consisten job of advertising, with special reference to Rocky Mountain National park. In one year the number of visitors to that park had increased 31,000 to 51,000 and the average stay was eight hours instead of four hours.

I have the facts here to go on indefinitely with similar instances. These bona fide and unquestionable records are available to anyone who will take the time to consider them. In the face of such records and with a knowledge of Wichita Falls needs can there be anyone who would not favor a consisten, constructive, planned advertising program for this city. As further proof of the desirability which is supported by a most searching and thorough inquiry. No American city or community that has carried out a planned campaign, conducted by specialists and based her plans for such compaign on a minimum period of three years has failed to get tremendous returns on the inevtsment. No city planning such a campaign has failed to increase her advertising investment.

There is a growing realization that the best way to secure advertising is through public taxation in whole or in part.

Fully 50 per cent of the appropriations used last year were made available from taxation. The proportion is growing all the time.

At the start, there is bound to be more or less stubborn opposition to the plan of having the general taxpayer share the expense incident to community advertising. But when it is remembered that these same people always oppose any form of taxation for all sorts of schools, parks, pavements, sewers and everything which has helped improve and develop communities, we should not be discourabed in the least. A uniform publicity tax conscripts civic slackers and makes them work for the common good or move elsewhere.

No Money Wasted.

The advertising tax puts every dollar at work. There is no money wasted on drives or the follow-up to collect the pledges. This tax makes it possible to treat all taxpayers alike for each has paid according to their means. When some interest, to maintain an advertising program, pays a large sum for the work, it becomes a favorite even if no favors are asked for. The advertising tax works no hardship on anyone.

North Carolina is now making its plans for $750,000 advertising program.

Two states, Oregon and Washington, and the Provinve of British Columbia, by legislative act, have authorized the expenditure of $150,000 to be used to advertising jointly the resources and tourist advantages of the Pacific International Northwest country.

The Miami chamber of commerce has invested in advertising of various kinds during the last seven years a little more than three-quarters of a millon dollars.

Experience of other communities indicate that the firmest foundation for successful advertising of Wichita Falls can be provided through the application of the millage tax plan. It is the opinion of good legal talent that under the present state law the city can authorize such a tax by an amendment to the city charter.

If you favor consistent planned advertising for Wichita Falls and you approve of the millage plan of raising an adequate fund for the work you will then be interested in knowing that the money will be spent intelligently, effectively and honestly. You will also be interested in the experience of other communities in the things that must go along with your advertising to bring maximum returns. In the brief time remaining for me I will attempt to present to you the fundamentals of these questions which must now be in your minds.

Advertising a city has many of the same basic qualifications as marketing a product. No product should be advertised until the house is in order, until the organization is in shape to tage full advantage of the advertising campaign. When this is done, thought and attention is given to the advantages which the product possesses. A careful and complete study is made of the market—to know where the product can be sold to advantage and where it is uneconomic to attempt to sell it.

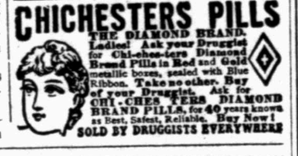

In the planning of advertising campaigns keen competition is gradually forcing out methods not economically sound. Rlue of thumb methods—hunches—are giving way to scientific practices and rules of experience. The advertiser of today has at his command highly specialized advertising organizations which can eliminate waste and guess-work.

You know the possibilities of real estate development from the combined influence of tourists, recreationists, further port development and sound industrial development. When Carl J. Fisher became interested in Miami Beach its assessed valuation was $244,000. Today its assessed valuation, improved assessment at 1-4 and unimproved assessed at 1-10 is $8,222,485. Settlement of lands in Canada is going forward with unabated energy following the action of the Canadian parliament in appropriating $500,000 for an advertising campaign that is world wide in its scope. There is ample room in Wichita Falls for the same sort of development that is now in progress at Miami Beach, the cost of the same sort of improvements will be far less and the possibilities of beautifying and adding to real estate values proportionately great.

In conclusion let me repeat: Cities must draw people. Communities mus tdraw people. People are not drawn to cities and communities by accident. Experience of 85 American cities has proved beyond a question of doubt that planned advertising consistently carried out will enable a community to capitalize its advantages and profit accordingly. Common sense dictates that the logical and sensible way to obtain the funds for such activity is through a reasonable, equitable millage tax.

$500,000 School Issue to Be Submitted for Second Time

Every effort is being made to interest Wichitans in the new $500,000 school bond election to be held here Saturday morning, according to superintendent of schools, J. W. Cantwell.

The election has been called following a decision by the attorney general that the election two months ago, in which the bonds passed by two to one majority out of a total 400 votes cast, would not hold owing to an inserted clause.

If passed the bond issue will be used to erect a new school building in this city. The bonds have already been contracted for at what Doctor Cantwell terms one of the most liberal offers ever made in Texas for school bonds.

Piggly Wiggly Plans Athletic Program At Lake Wichita

Boxing, wrestling, baseball and swimming are all planned as features of the Piggly Wiggly's first annual outing scheduled for Lake Wichita next Wednesday.

A baseball game is to be played between two teams selected from employes of the various Piggly Wiggly stores in Wichita Falls. There are to be a series of swimming races. Both the game and the races will be staged during the afternoon.

That night a boxing and wrestling program is to be held in the Lake arena. Miles Wigley and W. L. Dilion, heavyweights are to perform in a four-round main event. The semi-final calls for a five-round tussle between Mitcham and Micham. Rouch and Riddle hook up in another five-rounder. Johndrow takes on Moody in a wrestling match, and Oran Hollingshead grapples with Reries Herrings. All the boys are from Wichita Falls. The program is to be free of charge. However, ringside is to be reserved for Piggly Wiggly.

"One day while working in the fields, it dawned upon me that if I was ever to get ahead I must PUT MONEY TO WORK."—John D. Rockefeller

WHAT did Rockefeller mean by "PUT MONEY TO WORK" (which was what he learned he must do to "get ahead")?

Just this—he discovered that by INVESTING $50 it would earn as much money each year as he himself could get for a week's work. That's the way to put money to work—INVEST it.

The dictionary says "investing" means "to place money so that it will be safe and yield more money."

And that's just what hundreds of customers of the lighting company and other local people are doing. They have "placed money" in Southwestern Power & Light Co. There it is "safe and yields more money" every three months. They own shares of Southwestern Power & Light Company's stock—PREFERRED stock, which yields them 7% on each dollar they invested.

You would be entitled to receive $70.00 a year from Southwestern Power & Light Co. if you owned only 10 shares of this Preferred Stock. $70.00 a year is almost $6.00 a month and you would have increased your earnings by just that much and—consider this carefully—it would be money you would not have to do a tap of work for.

Your SAVINGS, the money you INVESTED, would have done the work and turned the wages earned over to you.

It PAYS to "put money to work"

DARROW IN A NEW ROLE.

In his trial for having taught evolution in the schools, contrary to Tennessee's new law, John T. Scopes is to be given the powerful assistance of Bainbridge Colby and Clarence Darrow, according to arrangements made by the American Civil Liberties union which is preparing the defense program. Colby, in point of political prestige, is expected to match William Jennings Bryan, for he, too, was secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson. Darrow's peculiar legal talents will be called into service when needed. But it seems his reputation will not be capitalized, as it is feared that his sympathy for criminals and his liberal views on crime and punishment might produce just the wrong effect upon a public which is to be persuaded that the whole gist of the matter in Tennessee is an attack by the demon of intolerance upon freedom of thought in the United States.

Darrow is to be used sparingly in the dramatics of the Scopes' case. It appears that he is to display his abilities under the direction of some one else. Forrest Bailey, spokesman for the American Civil Liberties union, has stated that Dr. John R. Neal, counsel for Scopes, will retain his position as senior counsel. Darrow will thus serve as one among many senior counsellors. Of his actual part in the trial, Bailey said: "Darrow is interested primarily in educating the public. He hopes to make this issue of such magnitude as to make the public think about religion and its relation to the theory of evolution and education." Darrow may well make the public think, but that he will make it think about the relation between religion and evolution, or religion and education, with which evolution is here identified, is extremely doubtful.

The entrance of Darrow into the high realm of abstract philosophy in an attempt to reconcile religion and science should prove decidedly amusing. He has shown himself hostile to two great fundamental propositions of religion; the over-ruling providence of God and the freedom and responsibility of man. It is hardly to be thought that he is more friendly to the spirit of modern science, except as it is found in opposition to that of religion. He developed his own theory of criminal justice before science got into the court room. He has since made use of it wherever it was likely to serve his purpose.

Nevertheless Mr. Darrow will have an appeal for a certain part of the public. To this special audience he will be the star performer "educating the public" in both religion and science. It will be a strictly controlled "education of the public." A section of the public will be given what is supposed to be good for it and that by a teacher who, while he professes to speak for freedom of thought, will be directed, restrained and regulated with a special object in view.

WARREN S. STONE.

Warren S. Stone died at the very height of his career while in his mental prime. Having attained the age of 65, he was stricken by one of the insidious "degenerative diseases" which account for the deaths of so many prominent men. As in other cases, increasing duties and burdens undoubtedly operated as contributing factors. Elected last June to preside over all the business enterprises of the powerful Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Stone had enjoyed his new dignity only a year when he was stricken.

Stone well deserved the honors which he received. He was for many years a constructive force in the wealthiest and most influential of our labor organizations. Before he was given the title of president of all the locomotive brotherhood's enterprises he had directed the brotherhood's labor department with the title of grand chief engineer. He took the initiative in launching the brotherhood on its great business career. Under his able leadership it became a builder, a banker, an investment broker. Its assets are now estimated at $150,000,000. With such large interests it needed a general director and this post was given to Stone by general consent.

In constructing and directing the brotherhood's enterprises, Stone showed himself a master of business and finance. Other great figures in the business world disagreed with his politics, but all admitted his business methods were sound. He was at once a great leader of workers and a captain of industry, a unique figure in labor history, whose like may be seen in the future as a result of his own pioneering, but certainly has not been seen in the past.

SECRETARY KELLOGG'S STATEMENT.

The surprising statement of Secretary Kellogg on American-Mexican relations breathes a spirit of long suffering on the part of the United States government, which now breakes forth more in self-justification than in accusal or warning. It is addressed to the American public although it deals with the affairs of Mexico. This is significant in the fact that in the formal pronouncement made by the secretary of state, the American administration is seeking rather to explain its past performance than to declare any new policy. Conscious that it has assumed responsibility for the stability of Mexico's present government, the administration is grieved to find that it is confronted by a prospect of more trouble below the Rio Grande.

With all due willingness to discharge its duties, the Mexican government is unaccountably halting in the task of providing justice for foreigners. With practically no progress made toward the adjustment of long standing grievances, there are now ominous rumors of coming conflict between armed factions. Such a situation forces the American administration to break its friendly silence and utter a protest.

BEST AND THE POOREST.

According to a well known cotton expert the Texas condition in a division of the state in the closing days of May was as follows: North Texas 84, Central Texas 72 and the southern section only 54. He added that the best and poorest portions of the entire American cotton belt would be found within the confines of Texas. Why not. In area Texas is a magnificent empire.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Going Through the Motions.

I know an executive in business who is regarded as a lax disciplinarian, and who at the same time gets more and better work out of his subordinates than most men in the same line of business.

At a first glace at the establishment over which he presides one would think there was little system in it.

Each department head seems to have a different method of discharging his duties.

Yet all of them keep busy, maintain close touch with each other, and get their work out, which of course is the thing most to be desired.

"You can teach almost any fairly intelligent man to go through the motions of this business," he said to me one day, "but I have found that sometimes by insisting that they each go through exactly the same motions you make machines out of them.

Discipline is beautiful, but it is army like, and this is an institution of peace.

"I noticed one time long ago, when I played golf a good deal, that many very good players had entirely different methods of making their shots.

"As long as they got good scores that didn't matter so much.

"It would, of course, given the course a better appearance if each player had had exactly the same swing, but if you had tried to make the players acquire a single style you would have ruined the games of most of them—even if it were possible to be successful in such an effort.

"Before that I had believed that all the men under me ought to do their work the same way I did mine, using exactly the same methods.

"But after I had thought over the golf business awhile, I decided that individuality was perhaps just as effective as uniformity.

"I began by letting my department heads do their work in their own way, as long as they got the results that I wanted.

"I didn't criticise an executive for writing a business letter in a style entirely different from mine, until I found that he wasn't getting anywhere with his correspondence.

"I didn't insist that they handle their men as I handled the men immediately under me.

"I let them follow their own systems. Making them follow mine cramped their style.

"The result is that I have an organization of men which does not merely go through the motions, but does the work.

"They have plenty of time to think about what they are doing, without putting so much energy into the manner of doing it.

"In this way I have built up a staff which I believe is the best in the kind in the country. I know that most of my competitors are trying to get them away from me all the time, and that is a compliment to them and to me."

It is comparatively easy to learn to go through the motions of any job, and to appear to be doing it ably.

Quite different it is to really do the job, to put brains into the important things, and let the minor ones take care of themselves.

This executive is the head of a great and a growing business. He picks good men and then lets them alone. And they do more than go through the motions.

A SIGNIFICANT DISCREPANCY.

The federal department of commerce's figures on the cost of government, property valuations and taxes in the several states reveal a significant discrepancy in the case of Texas. Comparison shows that Texas has a lower per capita cost of government than the average for the 48 states, proportionately a higher property valuation, and, strangely enough, a higher per capita tax levy. The cost of government for all the states in 1923, the last year for which complete data are available, was $1,310,332,793. Texas' outlay for the same period totaled only $48,451,602. On a per capita basis the average state spent $11.95, and Texas only $9.86.

This record is gratifying until we pass from government expenses to property valuations and taxes. Then, we begin to realize that something is wrong. The assessed valuation of all the states was $108,675,661,403 in 1923, that of Texas was $3,469,986,643. But Texas per capita tax levy was $5.30 to the average state's $5.13. Thus it would seem that we pay a tax higher by 17 cents than that of the average state although we have about one-third more property and 20 per cent lower gopernment expense. One the one hand we are 50 per cent better off, and on the other about 3 per cent worse off than the people of the average state.

Such a difference is so tremendous as to be quite incomprehensible except upon the assumption that Texas is bearing with all her taxing power upon real and tangible property and is neglecting to levy as she should upon various forms of commercial wealth. Her tangible property is of much higher value than that of the average state. Her tax levy also is higher. Yet her governmental expenses are less. Quite evidently, a tremendous amount of wealth in Texas is escaping its just burden of taxation.

AND THEY WERE NEWS BOYS.

All the reading world is familiar with the humble beginning of the Van Sweringens who made the Nickle plate rail merger. They began in a rural village of Ohio as news merchants.

Now O. P. Van Sweringen under oath has testified that the profits of this one merger accruing to himself and brother would be something over sixteen million dollars and a New York financier says that the brothers will make that much off each railroad merger that they have made.

Going some for two men who were selling newspapers not many years ago.

SOVIET RUSSIA A LARGE BUYER.

Soviet Russian agents purchased ten million dollars worth of farm machinery in the United States this year and these agents say they expect that soviet Russians will invest $100,000,000 in the United States for farm and textile machinery in the next twelve months. Business is business. We black list the soviet Russians, we make an outlaw of their country but we take their money.

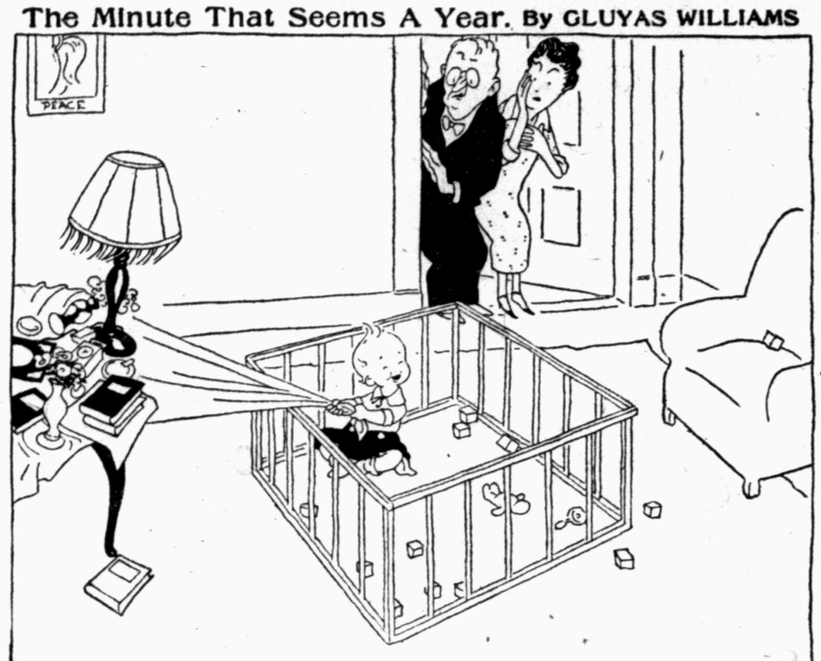

AMERICA FIRST.

As June was ushered in and while the mercury stood at ninety in New York City the people of Wyoming were enjoying a snow storm. On the sixth day of June 200 deaths by sun stroke had taken place in the middle west and in the North Atlantic states while away down here in Texas Old Sol had not made his appearance—that is not to any torrid extent.

Ring Approves of Cop's College Course Technique of Insulting Studes As Well As How to Tell Which Guy to Arrest—Many Tricks to the Trade —By Ring Lardner

To the editor:

A man like I that has got a house full of children or kiddies as the case may be can't help from giving a whole lot of thought to the school question and where to send them to school and etc. and the Mrs. keeps after me to put what some call my mind on the subject and come to some decision and we was talking it over the other night and I said you know it will cost hundreds of dollars to send them anywheres and she says yes but we have got to send them somewheres if only to relieve the congestion at home and if you don't send them nowheres it will cost hundreds of dollars just the same because we will half to hire 8 or 10 policements to regulate traffic right here in the house because the way it is now you can't walk from one room to another without indulging in football tactics and we could send them to school for the same amt. of money which we would otherwise half to pay out for salary for traffic policemens because traffic policemens and in fact policemens of all kinds is a high salary profession.

Well a little wile after this I was talking to one of the kiddies themselfs and I asked him what he wanted to be when he growed up and he said he would like to be a policeman and all of a sudden I had a iddear namely that if policemens is such a high salary profession and if the boy wanted to be one of them why not send him to the N. Y. school for policements which I had read about same in the papers and this way you would be killing several birds with one and the same stone, namely get him out of the house, send him to school an learn him a profession which was not only his favorite profession but a profession which the rewards of which is wealth and undying notoriety.

Mustache Privilege.

But come to find out the school referred to don't take in nobody as young as my little sons and in fact it ain't got no kindergarten or primary grades but was organized by Commissioner Ebright of the N. Y. police force to train men that is already policemens which I had ead about learn common patrolmens to be sergeants, lieutenants and finely captains of police.

It seems they's a lot more to advancing in the police profession than just serving a certain number of yrs. in this or that capacity and unless you show ability and get the right kind of education you will be a patrolman all your life and never a officer. The people that runs the school makes a effort to find out which is the most likeliest pupils and then they give them special training to fit them for officers like the officers training schools in the army.

I was not able to get much information in regards to the courses of study but I presume that one of the first things they try to learn them is to not arrest the wrong man though in greater N. Y. you can't hardly make a mistake and a specially in Brooklyn where pretty near anybody can be arrested with reason and they say that when a policemen, or a pillow of the law as some calls them starts dashing down the street in Brooklyn like as if he was after somebody they ain't a man, woman or child that don't skurry to the nearest hiding place.

But once in a wile in the more genteel precincts of the metropolis a dumb blue coat gets into their head to pinch say a total stranger for beating a woman and find out later that it was his wife and he knowed what he was doing and besides that she liked it, so the city gets sewed for false arrest all because the policemen was too dumb to tell the difference between work and play. The school probably learns you how to distinguish between wifes and women, husbands and friends, petty thiefs and bank messengers and etc. and when the pupil gets so as he can make these distinctions at a glance he is promoted to a sergeant with permission to grow a mustache.

An Embryo Police Captain.

Part of the curriculum is no doubt made up of what is known as hypothetical questions like as follows:

"If you was walking on your beat and a little ways off from you they was a beautiful woman strolling along and danglinf a purse in her hand and all of a sudden a tough egg jumped out of the alley and grabbed the purse and run as fast as he could run (1) would you diagnose it as justifiable embezzlement or a mild flirtation and (2) which of the 2 would you chase he or she?"

Or

"Suppose you was standing on Riverside drive an dthey was a woman and a baby in arms and the woman handed you the baby and asked you would you promise to hold it a wile and you promised and then the woman throwed herself in the river and was drowning, would you break your promise and drop the baby and jump in and save the woman or would try to sell the baby a ticket to the policemen's field day at Jamaica."

But of course the most important courses at the policemen's school would half to be language and elocution with gestures. A policeman won't never getn owheres if he can't insultp rivate citizens and insult them so loud and in such novel terms that a big crowd will gather round to cheer. When you can talk rough enough so that you can make a old lady cry with one sentence you are ready for promotion to lieutenant at least.

One of the other main duties of a policemtn in N. Y. now days is to know by instinct just the instant that the public has mastered the latest traffic rules so that he can report to headquarters and get them changed.

These and many other tricks of the trade is learned to pupils in the new school and I only wished they would of left my little boy matriculate as he takes after his mamma and would make a great captain of police.

I asked him what he wanted to b e when he growed up.

Would you break your promise and drop the baby and jump in and save the woman?

Irrigation

The Irrigation Manager.

On many irrigation projects there is a certain individual known variously as irrigation manager, chief water master or irrigation superintendent.

His is probably one of the most unenviable jobs known to man. Over him is the general manager or the manager as the case may be and under him are a small army of ditch riders, laborerers, etc.

When there is a drouth in a farming district which depends upon rainfall, the farmers hold a prayer meeting, hire a rain maker, or just wait and hope according to their several beliefs and temperaments.

On an irrigation project when a farmer fails to get his water just as, and when, he wants it he lays aside all pious thoughts and never resigns himself to just waiting and hoping. Not so. He immediately takes the matter up with headquarters.

If he hits the manager first he is generally promptly referred to the irrigation manager as being the man who can adjust matters and make a farmer's life worth living. There is always some one to blame on an irrigation project and it is the irrigation manager.

If a farmer has a row with a ditch rider he is referred to the irrigation manager as the man who gives orders. It is always the irrigation manager.

To be a good irrigation manager a man should be a thoroughly trained hydraulic engineer with long experience in irrigation, a practical irrigation farmer, a plant pathologist, agronomist and a master diplomat. He must be all this and more.

There are such men. They are few. We have one here.

Seek ye first a correct diagnosis: Physical faults are often hard to find but, when found, are usually easily corrected.

More Truth Than Poetry

A TERRIBLE LIFE

How soon will the scoundrels who hope to gain wealth
By wiles and by craft and by sinister stealth,
By holding for ransome some beautous queen—
Not the sort with a crown—zut a queen of the screen,
Discover that all of their guile and their arts,
And all of the blackness that dwells in their hearts
Is doomed to defeat, and they'll never succeed
In getting the coin which so sorely they need.

Did the Shiek of the desert who set out one day
To carry a beautiful actress away
Get even as far on his ill omened road
As the costly hotel where the lady abode?
Did he ever set eyes on the star that he meant
To hold for reward in his desert-pitched tent,
Did he make a red cent from his rascally plot?
We speak but the truth when we say he did not.

We often have fears for the stars of the fillum,
Lest murderous scoundrels may kidnay and kill 'em.
We say, while our eyes with compassion grow dim,
"We hope they spare her!" or "We trust they spare him!"
Yet fate keeps a watch o'er the cinema stars;
Fiends poison their whiskey and drug their cigars,
Till their health is destroyed and their nerves are upset,
But never a villain has stolen one yet.

Yet in spite of the pay that the great people draw,
The diamond success has its terrible flaw,
For always they live in the harrowing fear
That a cold blooded rascal is hovering near
To grab them and hide them, till rescuers flash
A roll built of millions and millions—in cash.
Still calmly and smiling they go through their parts
And one never would guess how black dread gnaws their hearts

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

BAYS LIKE BEST THE AVERAGE GIRL WHO IS NOT TOO PRETTY OR TOO WELL DRESSED AND WHO DOESN'T OUTSHINE THEM IN ATHLETICS OR BRAINS

A club of young rils asks:

"What sort o a girl do boys like?"

That depends upon the boy. There are many men of many minds and every man has a different mind about women.

Some men like 'em tall, some like 'em short. Some are crazy about baby dolls, and others adore the goddess type. Some men like chatterboxes while others prefer girls who are gifted listeners. Some men like girls with brains, while others are only attracted by beautiful morons. Flappers make a hit with some men, while others only fall for the old-fashioned girl.

It is all a matter of taste, as you san see by looking about you and observing that no one particular type of femininity has a monopoly on masculine attention, or has cornered the matrimonial market. In fact, homely women and living pictures, blondes and brunettes, short-haired and long haired, clever and dull girls capture husbands in about equal proportion.

Generally speaking, however, the average young man is attracted by what you might call the average girl—that is, the girl who is not ultra in any way—not too-too much anything, if you get what I mean.

For instance, he likes a girl who is pretty rather than beautiful. He likes her to be easy on the eyes, but not pulchritudinous enough to stop traffic. It is significant that the best looking girl in any circle is rarely the most popular or the one who has the most attentions from men. And she seldom makes the best match.

Theoretically, men are the slaves of beauty, but they are content to worship it from afar, and when it comes to marrying they are far more likely to pick out a chromo to hang on their walls than they are a living picture.

Similarly, they like the girl who is intelligent, but not too intelligent. They pass up the girl who is beautiful but dumb, but they flee from the high brow as from the plague. They like the girl who has a good, peppy line of conversation and who doesn't force a chap to work like a coal heaver to entertain her; but wild horses couldn't drag them a second time to see a girl who discoursed on intellectual topics and was one of our really serious thinkers.

Also they like a girl who dresses well, but not extravagantly. They like to be seen out with a girl who looks smart, and well groomed, and up to the minute, and who knows how to wear her hair, and fix her complexion, and pick out a hat. No human rag bags or last year's bird's nests for them.

But nothing scares a man off quicker than for a girl to dress like a daily hint from Paris. He begins figuring on the cost of all of that glaid raiment, and it gives him cold feet. He isn't looking for a wife whose shoe bill would be more than twice what he earns a month.

A boy likes a girl who does things, provided she doesn't do them too well. No man is looking out for a clinging vine in these days. Neither is he seeking a female to substitute for him as the sturdy oak.

He wants a girl to be athletic, but he does not want one who is stronger than he is and who can outwalk him or outswim him. He likes a girl to be able to play a good game of tennis and golf, but he doesn't want one who can give him a handicap and then beat him at it. The popular girls are those who are content just to string along and play second fiddle to men.

Standardization Report To Be Ready At Next Oil Meet

DALLAS, June 16.—Splendid progress toward adoption of a uniform schedule of methods and equipment for oil production is being made at the conference of the standardization committees of the American Petroleum Institute meeting her, it was declared today by A. C. Young, secretary of the standardization division, at the close of the second day of committee conferences. He predicted that a report would be prepared for submission to th general convention of the American Petroleum Institute to be held at Los Angeles next January.

At a general conference of all committees tomorrow, reports from each of the chairmen will be presented for adoption of the entire group. A special bulletin on standardization will be issued tomorrow, it was announced, covering the results of the Dallas conference.

Work of the ten special committees is proceeding along the lines suggested by J. Edgar Pew, Dallas, chairman of the standardization division of the institute, in his opening address yesterday, it was stated.

In an address today by Major Earle Buckingham of Hartford, Conn., it was declared that even small variations in pipe threads had cost the oil industry hundreds of thousands of dollars and that standardization was one of the greatest problems of the industry.

The pipe section today voted to insert in specifications a clause allowing for accumulative error in pipe threads.

Panhandle Gas Fire Finally Extinguished

AMARILLO, Texas, June 16.—The blazing gas fire at the Prairie Oil and Gas company's No. 1 well in Hutchinson county was extinguished about 4 o'clock this morning with additional discharges of nitroglycerine following unsuccessful attempts to blast the flames out Sunday.

The blazing gasser, which caught fire last Thursday night when struck by lightning, had attracted hundreds from all parts of the Panhandle.

AVARD BANK IS ROBBED

Bandits Escape With $500 After Exchanging Shots.

AVARD, Okla., June 16.—The Avard State bank was robbed of approximately $500 today by five bandits who escaped after exchanging a fusillade with citizens. No one was injured.

All the robbers were unmasked. After threatening Ed Roberts, president of the bank, and his wife when they were informed that the safe had a time lock and could not be opened, the robbers scooped up all the cash in sight and left.

Methodist Pageant To Be Staged At Arena Thurs. P. M.

"At the Feast of the Cherry Blossoms," a pageant representing the conversion of the Japanese in two scenes will be presented by the Intermediate-Senior departments of the First Methodist church Sunday school on the open air stage next to the church Thursday evening. The pageant is free to the public and precedes old fashioned box supper for the entire Sunday school.

The cast represents more than forty of the children of the church who have been in attendance to the vacation Bible school conducted at the church during this month. Miss Marguerite Fisher is directing the pageant.

Elaborate Japanese stage settings will be used and the church lawn will be decorated in Japanese fashion. The children will all be garbed in the provincial Niponesse.

Raybon W. Porter, educational director of the church announced that the public was cordially invited to witness the pageant and take part in the old fashioned box supper that will follow the pageant. Every girl and woman will be expected to bring a box and the gentlemen will buy them.

How Old Is Your Car?

It is not how old your car is, but how well it runs that counts.

How well it runs is another way of saying:

HOW WELL IT WAS LUBRICATED, for after all, the life of a car depends on its lubrication.

If a car is well lubricated (oiled and greased, kept clean so the grit won't cut) the period of usefulness of a car is almost indefinite.

"Master Mind" of Dope Smuggling Ring Said To Be Held In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, June 16.—The chief of drug and rum runners was taken here Tuesday by federal authorities and city detectives as he stepped from a train from Mexico City.

He is the "Master Mind," say the officers, of the dope and liquor smugglers broken up here last week in the biggest capture of prisoners and seizure of contraband ever made in San Antonio.

At that time six persons were arrested, $15,000 of drugs was seized together with $600, worth of liquor and two costly automobiles.

He was taken Tuesday on a warrant charging possession and sale of narcotices and liquor.

The arresting party drove to Devine in automobiles early Monday to meet the Mexico City train as it pulled through that town.

Underground information had it that the "master mind" would be aboard with another big supply of "dope" and tequilla and aguar diente.

He was aboard his car as expected but he had no "stuff" with him, the officers soon found.

He was captured just as he stepped from the train here and attempted flight.

Questioning is said to have gained from him the admission that he had been sent telegrams while in Mexico City warning him to remain there, that he was wanted here.

The officers are virtually certain that these warnings also told him to forego running any more drugs or rum for the time being.

The man denied all connection with smuggling activities.

He is said, however, to have complained bitterly that "his friends" here betrayed him, "when he got into a jam."

PANHANDLE TO PUT OUT SOFT WATER MACHINE

Refining Company Goes Into Manufacturing Game Here

Manufacture in Wichita Falls of a water softening apparatus for domestic and semi-industrial use is the aim of the Panhandle Refining company for the near future, according to announcement from the offices of the company yesterday. The factory for the softener will be installed in connection with the tank and boiler works of the plant north of Wichita Falls. The extent of the manufacture will depend, besides the market for the product, on the quantity of mineral necessary to act on the water that may be secured.

Use a Chemical.

The softener, as described by Panhandle officials, will take advantage of the softening qualities of a certain patented chemical through which the water intended for consumption is to be run. Upkeep of the softener consists only in reconditioning the mineral through the application of a salt to the softener occasionally. Both the initial cost and the upkeep are comparatively low, it is understood.

Due to a peculiar hardness of Wichita Falls water a large market for the finished product is contemplated in this territory alone by the Panhandle. Although others, more or less similar in construction, have been offered for sale in Wichita Falls this is the first of home manufacture.

Engineer Coming.

E. A. Russell, an eastern water engineer, is expected in Wichita Falls on June 29 to confer with Panhandle officials with reference to their new product.

A large softener for use in a local office building is being figured on by the company already, it is said.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

"Well, out with it. Where's the shorn lamb going to hide herself?"

Briscoe hesitated, then he answered: "She's planning to go to her father's inn on the marshes. God knows the child had a rough enough time there, but it seems to call her, someway—"

"Meaning that she's had a still rougher time since she left it, and tried to find her unfledged wings among you birds of paradise? Or I ought more aptly to say — birds of prey?" And Lydia laughed again, shrilly.

"The old place seems to call her."

His companion tilted up her pert fact to his.

"I dare say it calls you, too, does it? Confess!"

Perfectly comprehending, they regarded each other in silence. The same plan was simmering in their minds.

CHAPTER 68
Landis Sees Red.

It was on the day following the inquest of the unfortunate dancing girl that young Mrs. Landis Ridgeway, accompanied only by an old servant, set off for the inn upon the marshes in her small two-seated car.

She drove herself. The prying eyes, the gossiping tongue of a chauffeur were not desirable.

She wanted scolitude. She wanted—desperately—a complete break with this new, puzzling, painful life that fate had flung her into.

The urge to return to the scene of her childhood was a natural one. A few days' sojourn in the complete peace and quiet of the marshlands would give her time to think, to see things in their right perspective, far from the disturbing influences of Landis and his set.

The old servant was almost deaf, and nearly always silent. She had worked at the inn in her earlier days, and known Rosilyn from babyhood. She was trustworthy, and in her quaint tactiurn way, understood a good deal more of the present 'impasse' than would seem apparent.

Rosilyn had slipped off quietly when her mother-in-law had gone to New York for a couple of days at the town house. She had written her there, before leaving, saying that she was taking a short holiday on her own, and had old Annie with her, and would write again, giving an address.

Landis had been in New York on the distressing matter of the inquest. The time, then was fortunitous.

Rupert Briscoe had encouraged the girl to take this trip.

"I'd have a few quiet days at the old home, if I were you! That will wipe out a good deal that has happened lately, from your mind. Nothing like change of scene—"

Rosilyn had not told him definitely of her destination.

But he understood her feeling, and he knew she would be there.

Rosilyn, meantime, on the way to her old home, had engine trouble with the car, and the machine had to be garaged, and attended to.

She and her maid were forced to spend a night at a country hotel en route.

And it was rather late on the afternoon of the second day before the car was ready and they were able to continue their journey.

A long road lay before them. Rosilyn did not fancy a second night at a strange hotel, and 'speeded.' But darkness was already on the world when the familiar land-posts were gained.

She had only learnt to drive in the last few weeks, and now she felt amazingly tired. About four miles from the marshland inn, something went wrong with the lights, and they went out.

The night was really very dark, and Rosilyn felt nervous. She wished that she had brought a chauffeur. The long strain of driving had told on her.

She contrived to get one of the front lamps going.

Then she lost her way.

Old Annie kept dozing off, as tired as Rosilyn.

At length the girl felt that they were on the right track. Unlucky if the country police should happen to find her driving with but one light! But the chances of an encounter in this out-of-the-way spot were unlikely, and Rosilyn pressed her foot on the accelerator, and the car sprang forward through the darkness of the night.

She thought she knew every turn and twist of this road so well that no miscalculation could be made—

Alas! swift tragedy overtook her at a certain bend that had a high, grassy bank on one side, and a deep ditch on the other. Rosilyn took the corner just a shade too late, for the fitful light of her one front-lamp had utterly misled her. The left wheels ran up the bank, and with a crash the car over-turned, hurling its two occupants through the darkness to the roadway!

"I've had a letter from Rosilyn saying that she has left Royal Cliff, and gone to some unknown destination," announced Landis' mother to her son in the smart little house in East Eighty-fifth street that had been so beautifully decorated and "done up" with Rosilyn's money.

"Gone off?" he repeated blankly. "Why? Where? What has happened?"

"Don't pretend to be stupid. For whatever you are, you aren't dull!" rapped out his mother, with asperity. "Goodness knows you've given the poor child cause enough to leave you! This inquest business coming on the top of the scandalous affair of Lydia Harbrook—well, it's more than enough to make any selfrespecting wife clear out! I'm too disgusted!"

The young fellow reddened. He hesitated, then he said:

"One of the papers gave the coroner's report in full. If you read it, you'll see where the real blame lay. Marietta Fernandez left a letter which was placed before the jury. Most of the reporters were pledged to secrecy, but in one journal it leaked out. And I've a feeling that the swine who played fast-and-loose with the poor soul who is dead is at the bottom of Rosilyn's going off like this. He's been trying to make headway with the child for weeks, and—"

"Do you mean Rupert Briscoe, by any chance?"

"I didn't intend to give you any names."

"Nonsense, Landis! It's up to you to clear yourself! I must say I was thankful I couldn't find any detailed report of the inquest in the press—I was terrified, for you—but you say that in one paper the coroner spoke out?"

POLICE ROUNDING UP VAGS

Busy Session In City Court Comes As Result of Campaign.

The campaign of the city police department against vagrants and loafers was reflected Tuesday morning by a police court docket of 25 cases. Most of them were for vagrancy, drunkenness and similar charges, arising from raids made during the night by Chief of Police Hodgins and a large force of officers.

Included in the cases called was one against a youth, arrested Monday night following a hilarious disturbance in an Indiana avenue cafe when a party of Jelly-beans and flappers, taking on refreshment after a dance, caused too much trouble.

RESTRAIN BOOZE SALES

Writ of Injunction Granted State By Judge Rogers.

A temporary writ of injunction was granted Tuesday morning by Judge Guy Rogers of the 78th district court when application was made by District Attorney Allred for an order restraining L. Heiniman and C. B. Archer from dealing in intoxicating liquors at their place of business on Ohio avenue. The petition alleged that liquor was kept and sold there in violation of the state laws.

The men were arrested late last week by members of the city police department and are now facing state charges for violation of the prohibition laws.

SPUDDERS WOP BERNSEN CREW FOR 12-5 WIN

Bodie and Distel Continue To Break Out With Base Hits

IT'S RIPPER'S GAME

Wheeler Has Small Worry After First Three Innings

" By BLONDY CROSS.

Pete Turgeon, the bombastic mite of the Spudder inner works, continued the vociferous walloping spree Tuesday afternon at the plant that he slammed loose on Sunday when edged into the lineup after fraternizing with the Spud casualty list over a lengthy period.

The mauling midget belted two home runs, bringing his collection of non-stop clouts to a total of four for his three-day return, and clipped a three-cushioner just by way of displaying his versatility with the willow.

Captain George Distel, the only bald headed athlete, by the way, with the Tanner outfit, kept his cap on most of the time and cut away for a trio of bingles out of five attempts.

Franklin Ping Bodie, the globular shaped Spudder outer gardner who is getting too old to play ball, somehow or other rifted a pair of bullet singles and an explosive double. On his last appearance, the veteran who seems headed to either to the old soldiers home or the league lead in pecking out base wallops, punched a dynamite liner at short that nearly carried Metz to the left field fence.

Fitz hit a double and single, and Dorman popped a pair of bingles. In fact, the entire Spudder lot poked at least one to virgin territory with exception of Bubber Jonnard, and Bubber, for once, just wasn't right.

And, oh yes, Wichita Falls defeated the dungeon dwellers behind Rip Wheeler. That was to be expected. The Beaumonters flattened out under the burden of a 12-5 loss.

Ormand Homers.

Ormand opened hostilities with a gigantic hoist over the port barrier. The gang got a run in the same round, but an error and wallops by Taylor and Metz let the Exporters in for two in the second. It began to look like the cellar habitues were going to be pretty tough pickin's, after all. However, Dorman combed a single to center in the last half of the second, and Pete scored him a few seconds later with his initial round-trip smack. The sphere cleared the left field wall with margin to spare. That tied her up again. Then in the third, Beaumont scored another on a pop single by Taylor and bad-hop double to right by Devireros. The Domestics forged a run to the front in the same round, Bodie, Fitz, and Dorman leading out with safety swats. Ping's clout was a meteoric bust right at Devireros, so fast that the Beaumont infielder couldn't get out of the way. But it didn't matter, for the torrid pill streaked on through and couldn't be corraled until and the rotund one had drawn up safely at the keystone.

Rip Right; O'Neal Wrong.

From there on out Ripper held the situation well in hand. They got away with nothing other than a run in the seventh when both McNeil and Ormand doubled.

The home talent rose up in the fourth and rousted O'Neal, right hander who started in on the hill for Manager Bernsen. An error, double by Tanner, and another single by Bodie sent two runs into the Spud scoring column. McNeal, another right hander, was shoved into the affray and stemmed the rush until the sixth couplet when the gang counted another on double by Wheeler infield single by Distel and a crack by Tanner. The throw was made to the plate after Rip, but everybody was safe. Distel caught McNeal slumbering, and galloped to third. Buddy watched the play at the hot corner, and then absconded with second, completing what might be termed a delayed steal. But the bunch didn't get any more runs for that round.

Turge whopped a long one to left center in the seventh, apparently a two-bagger. He didn't hesitate at second, but kept on loping until he arrived at third standing up. Jonnard walked, and Pete tabulated on sacrifice fly to center by Wheeler. Distel singled between third and short, scoring Jonnard.

Golvin doubled in the eighth and Pete chased Lim in with his other homer, a fusty swish high and far over the left boundary.

That's about all. Wheeler struck out six, and didn't walk a man. He gave up nine hits, several of which had the mange. Beaumonters counted four earned runs.

FORT WORTH 6; HOUSTON 3

FORT WORTH, June. 16. — (AP)— Young Jimmy Walkup, rushing into the game wth a cold arm, halted the Houston Buffaloes here today in the first of a four-game series this afternoon, holding them runless for eight and two-thirds innings, while his mates had two 3-run rallies to annex the first decision, 6 to 3. Paul Wachtel, started for Fort Worth, but was bumped for three runs before he could retire the side in the first frame. Walkup halted the Buff attack and held them well in check, thereafter Fort Worth tied the score in the second, on a homer by Konetchy. Palmer's single and Edington's long drive over the right field wall. Palmers' triple, following singles by Davis, Mullen and Sears scored three runs in the seventh to win the game. Devinery, Burns and Barnes were all batted hard by the Cats. The score:

YOU KNOW ME AL

—By Ring Lardner

Friend Al:

Well Al we finely got out in the Country and for 2 years Edna has been squaking about getting up in the wide open spaces and the place we got is so wide open that I half to go out doors to take off my coat. The joint is right up near Woodlawn about 45 minutes from Broadway and the missus says how do you like it and I says its I deal because it borders on a cemetary. I says if anything happens to me you would not half to go far and she says that is what I was figureing when I picked it out. That is womeп Al.

KING OF WICHITA FALLS TIED FOR TOP HONORS AT SINGLES AND DOUBLES IN TITLE SHOOT

North Texan Breaks 100 Straight Tin Bird Singles—Fosgard of Waco Even—Stephen

FORT WORTH, June 16.—(AP) E. F. Fosgard of Waco, five times Texas State champion, and S. R. A. King, Wichita Falls, former national doubles champion, are tied for the lead in the 100 bird singles event for the trapshooting championship of Texas. Each broke 100 straight Tuesday in the tourney being held at the traps at Lake Worth, under the auspices of the local association.

W. M. Lambert of Oklahoma City, Okla., also has 100 straight but is ineligible for the title, which is for Texans only.

King also is tied for the leadership in the doubles event with a score of 49—out of 50 birds. Phil Miller made the same score, leading the Dallas delegation's hopes for a championship.

Houston looms as the favorite to win the 1926 tourney, according to the sentiment of many of the leaders of the shoot. However, Temple is working hard for it and has a chance to win. The better equipped traps and clubhouse at the Bayou City is winning favor among the shooters, despite its extreme Southern location.

Both championships will be decided tomorrow, when 100 more singles and 50 more doubles will be run off. With several 99's and 98's in singles and two 48's in the doubles, the championship will not be decided until the final bird is cracked, and interest will be at its greatest height tomorrow.

In addition to the championship events, a 50 bird singles event, known as the Cotton Dealers Derby, was run off today as the first half of that event. The second half will be reeled off tomorrow. E. F. Fosgard, tied for the lead in the title singles, is also in a tie for the lead in this with a perfect 50, making a straight 150 for the day Tuesday.

Phil Miller is also in the eight way tie for first in the derby.

Britons Split In Singles With U. S.

EASTBOURN, England, June 16.—(AP) Great Britain and America each scored a victory in the singles matches this afternoon which opened the three day's play between tennis teams representing the two countries.

Ray Casey of San Francisco, crushed J. B. Wheatley, former British Davis cup player in the first match 6-0, 6-1, 6-3, but Indiana's rising young star, John Hennessy of Indianapolis, was off his game and fell a victim to the steady sound shots from the racquet of another former British cup competitor, J. B. Gilbert, who won 6-2, 6-3, 7-5.

AUSTIN, June 16.—(AP)—Charter of the Red Ball Stage Lines of Greenville was ordered forfeited and the capital stock, valued at $25,000 was ordered cancelled here today in an agreed judgment entered in the suit of the state of Texas against the company. The assets of the company were transferred to J. M. Griffin and R. J. Spann, owners of the stock, for liquidation.

WICHITA FALLS POLOISTS WIN OVER SAM HOUSTON QUARTET AT EL RENO WITH 6-4 SCORE

White Plays Entire Game Handicapped By Injuries—Robbins Leads Attack With Three Goals

EL RENO, Okla., June 16.—The Wichita Falls polo quartet won over the Fort Sam Houston team, 6 to 4, here this morning. The army outfit spotted the Texans a one-goal handicap. Robbins connected for three goals, Featherstone one, and Fletcher one.

Colonel Thompson of the Sam Houston team was injured early in the contest when his horse fell, but he came back in the second period and played brilliantly the rest of the way.

Dave White of Wichita Falls went the route although seriously hampered by bad injuries received in previous playing.

Wichita Falls is scheduled to play Omaha next in the semi-finals. The outlook for a Texas victory is not so good because the Wichita Falls team is using a number of poor conditioned grass fed ponies.

The lineups of the morning game:

Wichita Falls	Sam Houston
Featherstone	Bridges
	No. 1.
Fletcher	Thompson
	No. 2.
Robbins	Swift
	No. 3.

Golf

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Many average players strive for distance in getting out of bunkers and traps. Is this a good or a bad practice?

By Bill Strachan, Wichita Falls Country club golf professional.

I believe that the attempt to get distance out of traps and bunkers is an unwise thing for the average golfer to do. Play for position when trapped: play safe. Usually the one stroke which will be used in playing a safe shot out of a trap will have two or three others which must often be used when the average player attempts to get distance from a difficult lie. Of course, if the match depends on a difficult shot from the trap, take every chance to make that shot, but in the ordinary round of play remember the old golfing motto about shots from traps, "Better safe than sorry."

Montedonico Wins Medal Honors In Southern Golf Play

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 16.—With a sensational birdie three on the 18th hole, Louis Montedonico, Memphis, scored 72 and won the medalist honors in the southern golf tournament here today. Montedonico, one of the last to finish had a par four to tie his fellow townsman, Chasteen Harris and a birdie three to win. He placed his approach within four feet of the cup and ran the putt down to lead the big field.

Behind Montedonico and Harris were Fred Lamprecht, New Orleans, and Allan Brown, Clarksville, Tenn., who had 74 each.

The Colonial Country club(Memphis won the team trophy for low aggregate score with 308, followed by the Atlanta Athletic club with 314.

Memphis Country club and Aubudon club, New Orleans, was tied for third with 316.

Lee Courtney returned to his old style form Tuesday afternoon in a five-inning game with Ludlam and Riggs. The big banker heaver shut the Clothiers out, 4 to 0. Only three hits were garnered from his delivery. One came in the first and two in the second. For the last three innings Lee held them hitless. He also added to his cause with a sacrifice bunt and a long triple. Jimmy Parker, Sunday School league strike out king, saved the shutout in the fifth when he turned Highfill's line drive to right, that was labeled two bases, into a double play after a nice running catch. The Bankers were a lively bunch and made the field peppy and fast. Montgomery and Harris starred on the defense. Gabe Harris led the hitters with a single and a triple in two times up.

The Bankers broke into the run column in the second inning when they scored one tally. Montgomery led off with a sharp single to right. Courtney bunted down the first base line and Smith threw him out with a toss to Highfill, who covered first. Montgomery took second on the play. Gabe Harris smashed a single through the box, scoring Montgomery.

Homer Doke circled the bases in the third when Shipley spilled his fly.

The final pair came in the fourth. Courtney led off with a long triple to left. The big pitcher deserves a home run but he failed to touch third and went back to check up. Harris followed with another three-base blow to right. Courtney scored. Patterson hit to Herb Brown who tried for Harris at the plate and heaved wild. Harris scored.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, June 16.—Boston broke Chicago's winning streak today by going on a batting rampage in the 13th inning and taking the final game of the series here, 7 to 4. The locals had won five in a row. The game was a see-saw affair with good pitching on both sides nad sensational fielding by Griffith, Pittenger, Felix and Kibbie. Manager Bancroft started the rally which tied the count in the eighth when he batted for Ryan. Bush, who replaced Cooper weakened in the 13th inning after two were out and the visitors scored three times. The score:

ST. LOUIS 6; PHILADELPHIA 4

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The St. Louis Cardinals made a clean sweep of their series with the Phillies, winning the fifth and final game today, 6 to 4. The game was marked by much argument with the umpires. In the sixth inning Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cards took a couple of punches at Art Fletcher leader of the Phillies and both pilots were chased by the arbiters. The score:

DETROIT 5; NEW YORK 3

NEW YORK, June 16.—Loose playing by the Yankees enabled Detroit to win today, 5 to 3. It was the ninth time this season that the New York club failed to extend a two-game winning streak. Babe Ruth hit his third home run of the year and also got a double. Fred Merkle, late of the Rochester International league club joined the Hugmen today and supplanted Wiltze as coach at the third base line. The score:

BOSTON 2; CHICAGO 1

BOSTON, June 16. — Robertson and Ehmke hooked up in a pitchers' battle which the Red Sox won from Chicago, 2 to 1 today, only after the wind had played a decided part in the game. In the fifth inning an error by Davis placed a man on base and Flagstead's fly was carried away from the fielders by the wind and dropped safely for two bases, scoring the winning run. This was Ehmke's fourth straight win in the present Red Sox home stay. Fielding plays by Kamm and Flagstead were features. The score:

FORT WORTH PARTY COMING

Between 35 and 40 business men from Fort Worth and Tarrant county are to be in Wichita Falls some time next week to inspect the Wichita county irrigation project, K. Roby, a representative of the Tarrant County Water Improvement District, said Tuesday during a visit to this city. He is here compiling data and information on the big Wichita Falls project.

The Fort Worth men will make a tour of inspection of the valley and will be entertained at luncheon by the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP) — Stock prices swung upward today under the leadership of the railroad shares. Trading continued under the domination of professionals whose operations were aided by cheap money rates. Business was in slightly reduced volume, the day's sales aggregating about one million shares.

Establishment of a new 1925 freight traffic record in the week ended June 6, stimulated the demand for the rails with special strength being shown by the northwestern carriers on more favorable weather news. "Soo" preferred jumped four points to 52, the common advancedd 3 to 37 and Chicago and Northwestern moved up 2½ to 57½ while net gains of a point or more were recorded by Atlantic Coast Line, Great Northern preferred, Norfolk and Western, Northern Pacific, Chicago Great Western preferred, Western Pacific and the Wheeling and Lake Eric issues.

Motors also presented several points of strength. Moon Motors crossed 34 to a new top in anticipation of increased earnings through the sale of the new car to be put on the market this week. Pierce Arrow common and preferred also attained new top prices at 24⅝ and 77⅝, respectively. Mack Trucks advanced more than 3 points to 180⅞ and then yielded slightly to profit taking.

Reactionary tendencies again predominated in the oil group, although special buying took place in independent oil and gas which jumped over 3 points to a new maximum figure at 40½ on reports that the company had received an offer of $4,000,000 for a 50 per cent interest in its holdings in Lincoln county, Oklahoma.

A temporary burst of strength in United States Steel common sent that stock up to 117 as against a previous close of 115¾ but it cancelled nearly all of its gain in the later trading. Other pivotal industrials were well supported, American Can and Baldwin each showing net gains of more than 1 point at 187⅝ and 113⅝, respectively. Dupont was run up nearly 7 points to 176⅞.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—The cotton market today was fairly active and the trend of prices was upward, although a temporary reaction followed the census bureau report showing slightly smaller May consumption totals by domestic mills than expected. At the start prices were 1 point down on July, but 8 points up on October. The market soon strengthened owing to the failure of rain in the west, and prices advanced to 24.13 for July and 22.94 for October, or 17 to 22 points respectively net higher.

When the census bureau reported consumption by American mills for May at 531,471 bales of lint cotton against 413,-?67 last year the market eased off owing to some disappointment at the total given as it was smaller than had been looked for. July traded down to 23.90 and October to 22.74.

The market turned firm after mid-session owing to noon reports of extremely dry weather in Texas and no rain, the thermometer registering 106 at one station and 100 and above at numerous stations. Prices for all active months made new highs for the day on this bulge which persisted well into the afternoon. October traded up to 23.24 and December to 23.33. The market eased off slightly in the late trading on realizing but the close, nevertheless showed net gains for the day of 16 points on July and 40 to 42 points on new crop months.

A private bureau report made the condition 74.7 against its own average of 77.1 two weeks ago. This estimate helped the early morning advance.

Exports today, 40,687 bales, of which Galveston contributed 19,638 and Houston 17,201.

raphy and hence all of it could be properly irrigated and drained with a minimum of expense. He advised that purchasers of land for irrigation obtain assurance that the subdivisions were laid out according to the topography, or else have a competent engineer make a survey to see that irrigation was possible.

In his talk on cotton, James D. Greer, cotton growing expert who has accomplished remarkable results in the irrigated valley, recommended that Texas farmers feed more cotton seed to their cattle. He said the seed had a high nutritive value.

Speaking of alfalfa, Mr. Greer said that half the area of farms should be sown in this highly valuable crop. He explained that it was not only a product offering a large return at all times, but was one which greatly enriched the fertility of soil. Mr. Greer asserted that by proper cultivation of alfalfa, its enriching of the land would result in the obtaining of as much cotton from half the acreage as is now grown on land not aided by alfalfa culture.

H. B. Worden, general manager of the Redwood Manufacturing company of San Francisco, the largest factory in the world producing wood pipe, was the third speaker of the evening. He went into considerable detail on the economy of wood pipe and said, among other things, that pipes made of wood were the first ever to be devised by man. He said the city of Constantinople has been supplied with water through wooden pipes for over 200 years; that the city of Boston is still using wooden pipes laid before the Revolutionary war and that about five years ago Philadelphia dug up and found in good condition wooden pipes put down before the great war between England and the colonies.

Other Cities Cited.

Denver and Ogden, Utah, were cited as other cities using wooden pipe. He explained that redwood and cypress were the only woods at all suitable for pipes, and in this connection made the assertion that three counties in northern California were the only places in the world where the giant redwood trees are found. He said that redwood never decays and will not burn, remarking that forest fires are never experienced in redwood forests.

It was here Mr. Worden expressed belief that northern California, which was the last portion of North America to rise from the sea, belonged to another geological era.

No more regular meetings of the Tech club will be held this summer, but in their stead will be the educational picnics that have proven popular in years past. Four will probably be held. It was suggested that the American Refining company, the Wichita Mill and Elevator, Ball Brothers Fruit Jar factory and the experimental farm near Iowa Park be visited by the club.

W. M. Priddy, president of the club, presided at the meeting.

OIL TRAIN BURNS UP

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 16—(AP)—A Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad freight train of 28 cars of gasoline and oil cought fire today north of Glendo. Several explosions occurred and loss of the entire train was reported.

Communication between Cheyenne and Casper on the railroad was temporarily disabled by the fire and explosions. No loss of life resulted.

"Miss Marmon," Is Fritz' Entry In Bathing Girl Revue Here This Week

The Fritz Motor Company will present 'Miss Marmon' as their entry in the Merchant's Bathing Girl Contest to be held at the Olympic Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. They claim to have a young lady whom any model Marmon would be proud to carry and as every one knows the beauty of this car it is safe to say that 'Miss Marmo' will run somebody a close race.

The Art Jewelry Company has named their model 'The QQueen of Jewels' and as such she will be costumed. In plain bathing suit trimmed and decorated with thousands of dollars worth of jewels of all kinds she will make her appearance each evening. Mr. Rielly of the Art Jewelry Company says he has a double for Aileen Pringle, the famous screen beauty as his model. (Mack Sennett is likely to be engaging Mr. Rielly for a scout if such be the case.)

The Charles E. Watson Paint Company will present 'The Wallpaper Girl,' a charming little lady whose bathing suit will be trimmed in various patterns of wallpaper. (Charley doesn't advise getting too near the water with this kind of a suit.)

Landon-Hill Sporting Goods Company will present the outdoor girl, dressed in a bright colored athletic swimming suit, appearing all ready for a canoe ride or an afternoon's fishing.

Ludlam and Riggs' entrant will wear a novelty bathing costume which she claims to have made all by herself. If it is as good looking as the young lady herself we can vouch for its being well worth seeing.

Permanent Visitor In Federal Court Draws Hot Rebukes

GALVESTON, June 16.—With a few remarks about "persistence in violating the law," and warning that if he comes before the federal court again on a similar offense "I will have to make Leavenworth your permanent home," United States District Judge J. C. Hutchinson, Jr., today resentenced John L. (Johnny Jack) Nounes to pay a fine of $5,000 and serve two years in the Leavenworth penitentiary for importation of liquor.

A few moments later, without comment, Joe Varnell, who was tried and convicted in the same case with Nounes nearly a year ago, was also resentenced to a fine of $5,000 and six months in the Galveston county jail, effective today.

Three of New York Night Clubs Raided

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Three gay night clubs were raided by prohibition agents early today. Four men were arrested and quantities of liquor seized.

At the Silver Slipper in the "roaring forties" merry dancers and diners greeted the agents with booes and hisses. The bartender and two attendants were arrested. A pitcher of gin was seized.

Beer, whisky and gin were taken from the Club Durant on West 58th street and the Club Bamboo on Upper Park avenue.

The manager of the Durant was arrested.

HEAT

hundreds of big ham sandwiches, candy, fruit, pickles and soda water was handed out to all and sundry. The middle of the morning brought an ice cream cone for every one and three or four barrels—not kegs but barrels of ice water and lemonade were scattered around at vantage points.

Not until late in the afternoon did the allurements of the festive occasion begin to pale. Then, tired and dirty, but happy withal, they filtered out of the park for home.

Commandant Johnson last night was gleeful over the results of the affair and was warm in his praise of the generosity of those Wichita Falls business men and merchants whose liberal donations of foodstuffs and merchandise made it possible. All the "eats" of the day were supplied gratis by the merchants of the city, who also provided prizes for winners in the various contests.

Widow of Former Austin Mayor Dies

AUSTIN, June 16.—Mrs. Joseph Nalle, 83, widow of the late mayor of Austin, and one of the second line of settlers here, died today at 11:20 o'clock. Survivors include Mrs. T. W. Gregory, Houston, and Mrs. Walter Cocke of Waco, daughters.

The flag of the state capitol was placed at half mast at noon, following the death of Mrs. Nalle. The pioneer Austin woman was a great grand mother of Young Earnest Nalle, grandson and favorite of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Sharks Take Toll In Maui When Sampan Returns In Water

LEHAINA, Island of Maui, T. H., June 16—(AP)—A sampan overturned in the swift current off Molokai island yesterdal. Fifteen of the 16 occupants of the craft clung to the capsized shell while their extremities dangled in the shark-infested waters.

The 16th member of the party, Eugene Dauvaucrelle, 40, made a daring swim of five miles to a lonely spot on Molokai island, ran overland for several miles, organized a relief party, cruised to the rescue and saved ten of his companions. The shark-torn bodies of members of the party, one a woman, were recovered. Five persons were drowned in the accident.

NEW FIGHTER BEATS VARNER IN LAKE BOUT

Paul Parish of Oklahoma Takes Decision From Local Fighter

A new fighter was introduced to Wichita Falls fandom last night when Paul Parrish of Oklahoma City, 166 pounds actual weight, decisively outpointed Walter Varner, local mit favorite, weight 155 pounds, in the final ten round go at the Lake Wichita arena.

Rights Bother Varner.

After drawing the first three rounds Varner took the fourth by a shade through several sharp jabs to the face that caught the Oklahoman unawares. Parish evened matters up in the fifth with three hard right cuts to the heart that left Varner in a dazed mind when he bell rung. The sixth was the same way. The local pugilist seemed unable to solve the hard rights that kept jarring him in the heart. Parish took the round with ease and in the seventh everything looked black for Varner with more rights and some lefts continually slamming him fin the heart and nose.

In the eighth, though, Varner showed what he was made of by returning to the affray and snapping Parish's head back three times in the first half minute that made the Oklahoman hang on to save himself. Carelessness hpwever cost him the round for Parish managed to get over two more to the heart that helped to wear down the outweighed fighter. The Tenth was clearly Parish. A volley of rights and left to the abdomen and heart left Varner all but down when the bell rang. The decision was popular, though Varner's game fight against an eleven pound handicap won him plenty of friends.

A new innovation in ring weighing was started when scales were brought to the ring and the actual weights of the fighters announced.

Granite Ko's Denton.

Kid Granite of Oklahoma City, and stable mate of Parish, knocked out Jack Denton in the seventh round of a scheduled eight round semi-final. This bout produced some of the hardest and best fighting seen in a local ring in some time. Jack started out like he meant business and had Granite covering up to escape the hard body pummeling at the end of the second round. In the third, though, Denton got in the way of a hard left hook that gave the Kid an advantage he did not overlook. The fourth and fifth stanzas were also even, with both fighters trying to wear down the other with hard body punches. Denton was doing most of the work though and tired rapidly in the last two rounds, Granite taking the sixth by a clear margin and dropping Denton with a clean right to the chin as the bell sounded. The sponge was thrown in and several minutes were necessary to recall Denton to earth. Granite weighed at 141 pounds and Denton 138.

Olan Hearn of Wichita Falls made his ring debut by gaining a well deserved decision over Tuffy Robertson of Fort Worth in a four-round preliminary. Hearn showed a willingness to give and take that should get him other bouts here. He weighed 141 pounds and Tuffy 131.

Newsboys offered a four-round minus weight preliminary and a battle royal that took the full four rounds to decide the winner.

LIQUOR CASE TO JURY

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 16.—(AP)—The case of 12 men charged with conspiracy to smuggle liquor into Weehawken from rum row went to the jury late today. Acquittal of two of the defendants had been previously directed by Judge Egan because of lack of evidence.

SPORTING VENUS IS HERE

Story Filmed In Scotland; Features Blanche Sweet

Scene from "THE SPORTING VENUS" A Marshall Neilan production

The real atmosphere of Scotland, London, Deauville and Paris is contained in Marshall Neilan's picturization of "The Sporting Venus," which comes to the Strand theatre today.

At least it is as real as Neilan could make it, for he packed up his company, cameramen, actors and all, and went to those very spots to film the scenes for his production.

A real castle in Scotland—Craigloch, by name—the race as Epsom Downs, the smart resort of Deauville, and various street scenes in London and Paris were transferred to celluloid on Neilan's "longest location trip."

Neilan and the executives of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer decided to take advantage of the fact that the director was forced to go to London for an operation by a noted surgeon there and so was able to film the exteriors for his picture right on the spot.

So accompanying him on the trip were his wife, Blanche Sweet, who plays the titular character of the "sporting venus"; Lew Cody, who plays a serio-comic "heavy," several other players, and Neilan's own cameraman.

The story of "The Sporting Venus" is an odd mixture of light comedy and melodrama, written by Gerald Beaumont, and adapted by Tom Geraghty. Ronald Coleman plays opposite Miss Sweet, and the supporting cast includes Kate Price, Josephine Crowell, Edward Martindel, Hank Mann and others.

CALDWELL IS NAMED MASTER FAITH LODGE

Curd Re-elected Sec'y; Grand Commander Bell Speaks

Walter H. Caldwell was elected worshipful master of Faith Lodge No. 1158, A. F. & A. M. at the annual election of officers held Tuesday night after the regular meeting. He succeeds Thomas Wynne. Other officers elected for a year were W. B. Baldwin, senior warden; Jacob B. Price, junior warden; Pat H. Simmons, treasurer; G. W. Curd, secretary; and G. W. L. Spencer, tiler. Mr. Baldwin became senior warden after serving the past year as junior warden; while Messrs. Simmons, Curd and Spencer were re-elected.

Appointive officers of the lodge will be announced later.

Hon. William G. Bell of Austin, grand commander of the grand commandry of Knights Templar in Texas attended the meeting. He is to make an inspection of the local commandry Thursday evening when the Knights Templar degree is to be conferred on four candidates.

Grand Commander Bell, 33rd, is one of the best known and most active Masons in Texas. He has held and filled all stations in his lodge, chapter and commandery in his home city of Austin and has attained records of Masonic proficiency seldom equalled. He has devoted much of his time to the development of Scottish Rite Masonry in Texas.

WICHITAN IS SPEAKER

DALLAS, June 16. — Austin and Abilene are expected to be contenders Wednesday for the 1926 convention of the Mutual Insurance association of Texas, it was indicated here late today by rival delegations at the meeting of the organization here.

Election of officers also will be held. Wednesday's speakers include L. A. Wall, Abilene; T. W. Mitchell, W. D. Dilbeck, Dallas; W. C. Francis, Paris, and Edgar P. Haney, Wichita Falls, president of the organization.

The Old Home Town

R. O. Kenley of Kenley, Dawson, and Holliday law firm, left yesterday for south Texas on business. He will be gone several days.

Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, has gone to Mineola to conduct a 10-day revival service there. He will be back here by June 28.

Four new automobile casings were discovered yesterday morning by the sheriff's department buried in a pasture three miles south of the city. The sheriff is holding the casings pending identification.

Permit for a new $30,000 brick apartment house to be erected at the corner of Grace and Eleventh streets was taken out yesterday morning by J. T. Young and H. D. Cowden. Plans call for work to start immediately.

Three officials of Wichita Falls, Mayor R. E. Shepherd, Police Commissioner Frank Queisser and Chief of Police George Hodgins will attend the 27th annual convention of the Chiefs of Police and City Marshal's association of Texas to be held in Dallas July 15, 16 and 17.

A man believed to be wanted here for mysterious dealings with automobiles is held at Bowie, according to word received here, pending the arrival of local officers. The man is said to have appeared at the Dixon Motor company last week to trade in a new Ford coupe for a second hand Buick. Thirty minutes after the sale he is said to have sold the Buick for a lower price than he could have received for the Ford. The man escaped officers here.

COLLEGE DEAN IS DEAD

MCKENZIE, Tenn., June 16.—The Rev. P. F. Johnson, 73, dean of the theological department of Bethel college here and former moderator of the Cumberland Presbyterian general assembly died unexpectedly Monday night at Graybridge, Mo., according to news received here today by his family.

CAPITOL IS WORRIED OVER CHINESE WARS

Washington Uneasy But Is Taking no Action For Present

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—Continued uneasiness over the security of foreigners in China was manifest in the summary of official advices made public at the state department today, but as no case of an attack on American citizen has yet been reported, no action by the Washington authorities was required.

On the contrary, a report from Charge Mayer at Peking, that representatives of the Chinese student group concerned in the Shaighai incidents had requested American assistance in seeing that justice was done in that case, inclined officials to increased hopefulness that the anti-foreign outbreak would not develop into a movement which threatened American lives.

There was no word available either at the White House or state department to show that the Chinese situation had engaged the attention of the cabinet extensively at its meeting to day.

DENVER HEADS ELECTED.

DALLAS, June 16.—Representatives of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad on the board of directors of the Dallas Union Terminal company were named today at a meeting of the board as follows: F. E. Clarity, Fort Worth, vice president and general manager of the Denve. and G. C. Burnham, executive vice president of the Burlington system. The announcement was made by J. L. Lancaster, president of the Terminal company.

MUST GIVE VIEWS.

ALEXANDRIA, Tenn., June 16.—The DeKalb county board of education will sign no contract with any teacher until first obtaining the applicant's views on evolution, says a resolution adopted by the board and made public today.
