New Police Chief Hired Monday

An emergency meeting of the city council was held Monday evening to employ a police chief for the protection of Olton citizens after area newspapers last weekend had announced the city was without law enforcement protection.

Resignation of former city chief of police Don Hatley was accepted. His letter of resignation was handed to Councilman Kenneth Williams last Thursday, effective Friday.

Applications from seven persons were studied by the council with one person, Travis Gail Morgan of Littlefield, asking only weekend employment. He is a barber at Earth and did not seek full time employment.

Council members considered each applicant's request and spoke with four who had come to the meeting for personal interviews. Certification as a law enforcement officer was a prime factor.

Charles Feagley of Sudan, certified officer and former police chief in Sudan, received the approval of council members Billie Norfleet, Kenneth Williams, Vernon Nixon and Joe Hall. Councilman Tom Sluder was not present, being out of state because of illness of a relative.

Feagley's salary was set at $850 per month. He will assume duties next week. Selection of a night officer will be announced by the new chief.

Serving as temporary night patrolman is Bill Green, certified law enforcement officer, who is serving as pastor of Victory Baptist Church.

Also attending Monday's meeting were City Attorney Andrew Stroebel, Mayor K.Y. Givens, City Secretary Awa Robertson and Mozelle Trotter, representative from the Enterprise.

Mayor, Councilman Resign Posts

Before a crowd of approximately 100 people who attended the Tuesday night meeting of the city council, resignations of Mayor K.Y. Givens and councilman Joe Hall were read, bringing to an end a month long battle between the former chief of police Don Hatley and the two city officials.

Vernon Nixon presided over the meeting in the absence of Mayor Pro-Tem Tom Sluder, who was out of town. Councilman Kenneth Williams, council woman, Billie Norfleet, city secretary, Awa Robertson and City attorney Andrew Stroebel were also present.

Resignations of the two men were accepted unanimously by the council. Nixon announced that a special election would be called as soon as possible to name the two persons to fill their posts.

Archie Sorley and Bill LaFont appeared before the council seeking a resolution to annex the Sorley Addition to the city proper. The addition is located just north of the Hillcrest addition in the west part of the city.

Nixon then asked those present if anyone wanted to speak. Dick Watson rose and stated that he was proud to live in a community where people are as concerned as these people are about drugs. "Let's pull together and support Charles Feagley, our new chief. Don Hatley tells me he is a good man. I'd like to see a fund begun for the purpose of trying to rid our community of drugs. If there is someone who would take the responsibility of the money for this, I'd donate some to it."

Jamie Baldwin stated that he felt that the authority to use any money donated to that cause should be given to the chief of police. Don Lawson was appointed to receive donations which will be put in a special fund for use in combating the drug problems.

A question about a night patrolman raised by Dub Ratliff concerned the pay of the night man. Nixon told him that the night patrolman, which would be hired by the new chief, would be employed for $750 per month.

Another question was raised about the old police car. The crowd was told that bids would be accepted on the car and would be opened the next regularly scheduled meeting.

Meeting adjourned.

For School Teacher

Long Career Ends

When school bells rang out for the last day of school May 25, they signaled a three month holiday for boys and girls in H.P. Webb Elementary School. But for fourth grade teacher, Lea Belle Hooper, they marked the close of a career that began in 1932 when, with one year of college to her credit, she began teaching in a three-teacher school in Quay County, N.M.

"Back then, you could teach with just one year of college," she recalls. "I still have my contract for that first year of teaching. I made $585 for the whole year."

As Miss LeaBelle Hancock, she taught five years in New Mexico. When she was offered a teaching job in a small four-teacher school west of Hereford, she declined the offer by saying she'd like to teach in a larger school.

The job-offering principal, Speck Dodson, suggested she might apply for a job at Olton where his father, B.A. Dodson, was a member of the school board.

"A friend and I came here to apply. She borrowed her sister's car for us to get here and each of us was sure the other would get the only opening there was."

"We met with Mr. Webb and the school board in the lunchroom of the old red brick building. I got the job and I'm the last of the teachers at Olton who were hired by Mr. Webb."

Smiling over memories of those first days in Olton, Lea Belle says she thought her new home town was really "western" with its board side walks which did not disappear completely until the early 40's.

LeaBelle salary when she came to Olton was a magnificent $100 per month. "But I had an increase every year. I guess I've taught longer in Olton schools than any other teacher - 37 years. And I've taught under 10 superintendents since I began with Mr. Webb."

Remembering how she met her husband, a young farmer who had graduated from Olton High School, Lea Belle laughs at her boast, "I wouldn't go with a farmer!"

She and two other teachers, Arlena Bandy and Flo Dickenson, were sharing a small house. "Mardema Ogletree told us she had someone she wanted one of us to go with. That's when I made my boast of what I wouldn't do -- and when I learned not to say, 'I won't do' something. I think it was the next day when I met Carl."

When she came to Olton, the present junior high building was the new grammar school building. LeaBelle's second grade students occupied the southern most room on the second floor.

In 1949, space had been outgrown. The old red building was no longer used just for the lunchroom. "We cleaned up the first floor and it was really a job. We scrubbed those old wooden floors with their splinters and had the first three grades there. I was even elementary principal in 1949

Reports were made by Robert Sivley, principal of OHS filling in for Superintendent Joe Turner who is recovering from a heart attack. Attendance was down from last year. Sivley reported that 15 students were employed with the summer maintenance program. The students will paint the bleachers, teachers' homes outside, music room in elementary, the rooms on the west end of elementary and also room 19.

Money from Hale County land in the amount of $1,179.06 was reported to have been received by the school.

Baby Ducks

'Think I'm Their Mama'

"They think I'm their mama," says Mrs. John Wayne Hair, with an affectionate look at the two six-weeks-old ducks who swim about her bath tub and follow her through the Hair home.

The two ducklings, wild by nature but not by birth, might easily be material for a Ripley's "Believe It or Not" story.

While plowing, Hair discovered a nest with eight eggs. He carefully moved the nest and its precious contents out of the path of his tractor, into a sunny site that he thought to be just the right spot. At home that night, he told wife, Lynn, and little daughter, Monica, of his deed.

Lynn assured him that Mrs. Duck would most probably forsake the moved nest so the Hairs decided to check into matters. Hair found the nest with the eggs cooled, proof that the mama-to-be had refused the re-located home.

A cardboard box filled with small foam packing pellets and a plushy commode lid became the new "nest". A heating pad turned to "low" was placed over the eggs and the wait-and-see period began.

"I came in one afternoon two weeks later after being in Lubbock all day. I sat down to rest and cool off and heard a 'chirp'. I lifted the heating pad and George had hatched. I sort of panicked for a little bit."

"They have to be tough little things to have even hatched. The eggs had cooled and it was several days before I knew they should be turned regularly. And I learned, after they'd hatched, that the eggs should have been dampened regularly, a mother duck does that."

To Lynn's "maternal" eyes, it is simple now to distinguish George from Pedro, the second duck to hatch. "George's head is a little larger and he has these tiny feathers where Pedro still has downy fuzz," she says pointing to the base of the ducklings' heads.

"Of course, they may not be boys -- how can you tell at this age?" Lynn laughs "We'll just have to wait until they get old enough to develop color. That'll be next spring. Girls are drab and boys are colorful."

The little feathered members of the Hair household were three or four days old before they ate and by that time Lynn had discovered a bit more about ducks. She fed the tiny fowl chick starter and it seemed to be just what the little ducks liked.

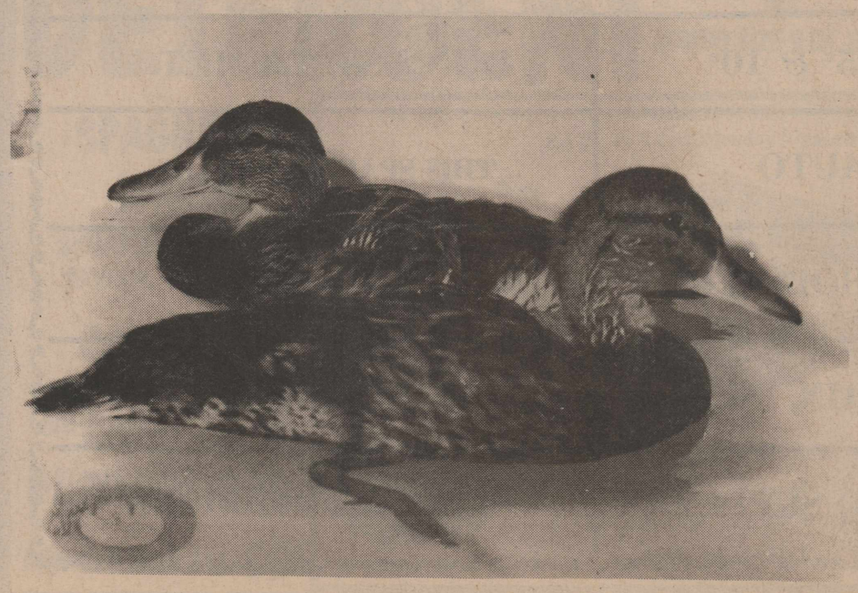

Lynn says the small ducks will not eat unless she is beside them and, if she walks away after putting out their food, they'll trail along behind her.

They have learned to fly from their box home and walk about the house wherever Lynn goes. They traipse to the bathroom and look coaxingly for "Mama" to turn the white porcelain fixture into their own personal pool.

Very quickly they "took to water like a duck." When they first get into the water they swim quickly up and down the length of the tub, darting underneath the surface and swimming for a time submerged. They also like dipping their heads beneath the water, kicking wildly and spattering water all over the room.

Right now they playfully

Long Career

LeaBelle of course, continued with her college work. "I thought I'd never get out of college and when I did, the years passed quicker than any of those when I was going to school!"

After the arrival of Burney and Eddie, the Hoopers' sons, LeaBelle was "in and out of school from 1948 until 1954."

"Eddie was nearly four when I decided maybe I'd go back to teaching. I'd been to visit my mother," she remembers. "I told her that I thought I'd like to go back to teaching if I could teach the fourth grade. I came home that evening and when I got out of the car, Mr. Macon started walking towards our house from their yard. He came up and spoke to me and then said, 'Mrs. Hooper, how would you like to start teaching again? I need a fourth grade teacher'."

"One of the greatest things about my teaching is seeing kids go on for further schooling and to hope, for some of them, I've had just a part in inspiring them to do what they've wanted to do."

It's been a pleasure, too, she says to work with teachers who were once her students or perhaps the wives of some of her "kids".

Laughing, she says she confided some time back to fellow teacher, Janet (Mrs. Jerry) LaFrance, that she believed sometimes her young charges felt she was "awfully mean".

"Janet told me 'Don't you worry,' Jerry says you were real strict but you were a very good teacher. These kids will think so too."

LeaBelle feels there has been a continuing change in discipline training in her young charges through the years.

"Children today are not as disciplined as those were that I started out teaching. Parents are more permissive now than they used to be."

The passing years have built a storehouse of memories for LeaBelle to recall in her retirement time. They have also brought an accumulation of keepsakes which she now plans to compile into scrapbooks.

"You're rewarded," she says, "by their letters -- little letters written at the end of school and others that follow in succeeding years."

One particular bundle of letters she's saved were the 1975 graduates' fourth grade assignment of writing what they liked or disliked about school.

"What I disliked about school was having to do morden math," one wrote. Another explained, "What I disliked was language. Oh, don't get the wrong idea, it wasn't the way you taught it though. You did a very nice job teaching it. I just plain don't like it."

"Dear Mrs. Hooper," another wrote. "What I liked best of school is PE and spelling. PE is fun and gives you strecth. Spelling is easy, fun and exciting. I like the spelling games the most. I don't like arithmetic and language. Math is hard and sometime easy. Language is no fun at all."

LeaBelle has quite an accumulation of poems, including many originals, that were written for her by students. "I've told them that someday I was going to publish my own book of poetry and that's one of the things I'm going to do now, compile those poems in a book."

As a teacher, LeaBelle was a member at two separate times, of Delta Kappa Gamma but dropped out so that she could spend more time with her family. She was president a number of years ago when a Lamb County teachers' organization, Kappa Kappa Iota, was begun.

Currently she is a member of Texas State Teachers Association, Classroom Teachers Association, National Education Agency and Lamb County Teachers Association. She is a past member of Olton Study Club and thinks she may get actively involved again with more time now. She has been honored with a Life Membership in PTA.

"And last week I joined the retired teachers club," she says.

Retirement will bring more opportunities to visit with children and grandchildren.

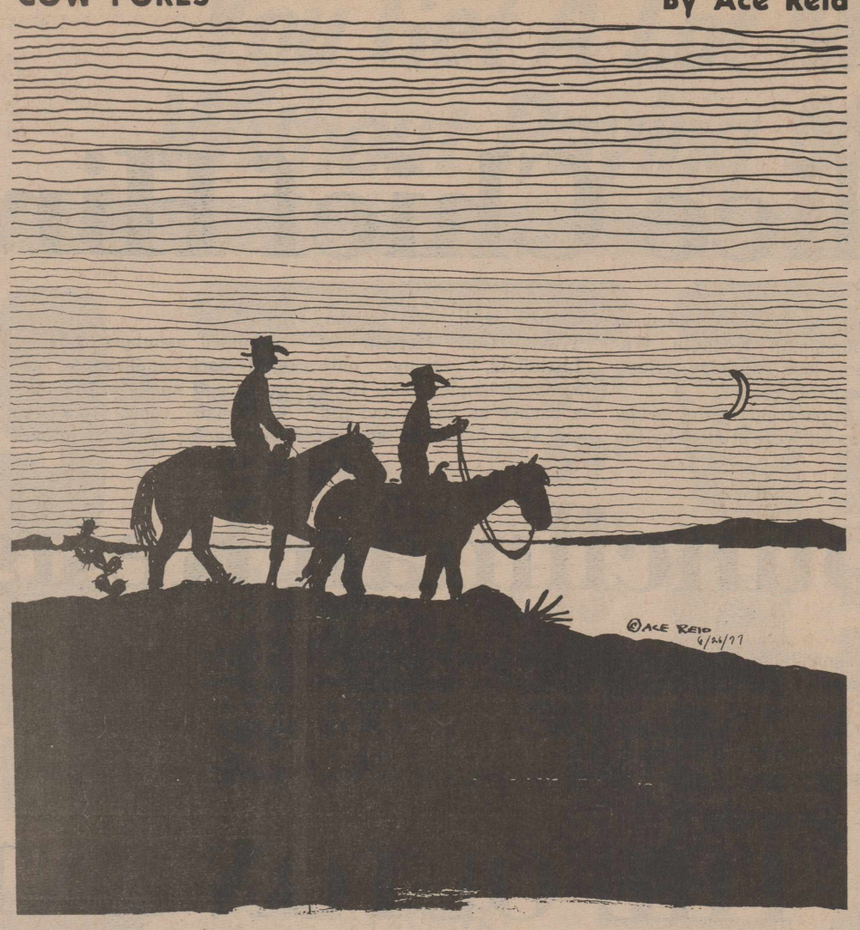

Both sons became teachers - "Something I never dreamed would happen," LeaBelle says.

Burney and his family live in Avalon where he is a science teacher. Their little daughter, Carrie, will start to school this fall.

Eddie has been an assistant coach and health teacher in Littlefield schools. He and his wife, Carol, are parents of a three-year-old son, Troy.

"I've no regrets," Lea Belle says of reaching retirement. "And no fear of the future. I'll work on my scrap book and my poem book. Carl and I will have time to travel - for fishing - and for living in good old Olton, it's been wonderful to me and my family."

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

Gee, it must be fun to serve on the committee or board or whatever "They" call themselves. I mean the persons who are proclaimers of National Weeks - you know, "National Sour Pickle Week" or "National Pet A Puppy Week."

Did you ever wonder who determines such observations or celebrations? I have! And did you know that there is some sort of special designation for every week and every day!

Bet you'd never heard that next week is "National Hollerin' Week" had you? It is, I heard about it on the wireless!

That's one we can really sink our teeth into ---we do enjoy hollering don't we?

Guess I've always been "loud mouthed". Mother and Daddy probably wanted their first born to be a "little lady" but my earliest memories bring back quite a few "Shhhhh's" and "Hush!" and "Don't talk so loud's".

Growing up in a wide open pasture in an era when you didn't have to be entertained, I guess it wasn't really my fault that I never learned to speak softly. After all, with the great outdoors to talk to and the West Texas winds answering, I never felt the necessity of practicing lower volume.

At least not until one of the Big People stilled me with one of the aforementioned warnings. I heeded, too, for a few minutes, or maybe moments. And again I felt the warning frown which always accompanied the "be quiet" commands.

'Tis a shame I never was entered in a hollerin' contest. That's something I could probably have won!

Olton Garden Club Holds Regular Meeting

Olton Garden Club met in regular session June 9 at the Woman's Club House.

Mrs. Doyle Pinson was in charge of meditation and gave a devotional entitled "His Banner."

She recited some quotes from several famous people. Henry Alford Porter said, "If you want to live more, you must master the art of appreciating the little everyday blessings of life."

Charles Dickens was credited with "Nature gives to every time and season some beauties of its own and from morning to night, as from the cradle to the grave, is but a succession of change so gentle and easy that we can scarcely mark their progress."

A poem was recited by Mrs. Pinson which reflected the attitudes which each individual, by virtue of God-given right of free will has the choice of assuming.

Mrs. Juanita Adams gave the program entitled, "Native Plants of Texas."

She led the members in a quiz, placing plants for beauty and plants for fruitage, and everygreen and flowering plants each in their own category.

Another quiz was given members concerning flowers. She left the members with the thought that "life is not monotonous to those who can accent their daily living by passing a word of praise, little nameless deeds of love and mercy, little tender acts of self denial, little triumphs over wrong, and little victories over self. Life is not monotonous to those who have a sense of appreciation for all of God's good gifts." She concluded with a prayer.

The arrangement of the day was made by Mrs. Lester Kennedy. Roll call was answering, "A wild flower I picked as a child."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. May Silcott, Mrs. Preston Sampler, Mrs. Jack Snider and Mrs. Rufus DeBerry.

A short business session was held. Minutes were read and treasurer's report read and approved. Mrs. Jack Allcorn reporter that pro ject "Plant Olton" was progressing with the purchase of 15 roses to be planted in the cemetery.

Members voted to ask Mrs. Harry Williams of Levelland to be their guest speaker at the November meeting at which time she will present Christmas workshop. Ideas were exchanged concerning the year book. July 14 was designated at family and guest night with a salad supper to be served.

Farm Problems Told To Lions

Gary Fletcher, member of the agricultural education division of Plainview's Chamber of Commerce, was guest program director at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of Olton Lions Club.

Employed with a Plainview bank, Fletcher grew up on a farm and still farms. He spoke briefly before and after showing a film made by Missouri Senator, the late Jerry Litton.

"Although this film was made four years ago, the facts it presents are still pertinent. For instance, in 1972 I sold wheat for $1.83 and wheat, today, is selling for $1.85. So you see, that's still pretty relevant," Fletcher said.

In the film, Litton pointed out the comparisons of Americans expenditures for food as compared to other countries. "At the height of the boycott (meat), Americans were spending 15.5 percent of their disposable income for food, the smallest percentage ever spent in history."

"Food is too high," he said, "too high as compared to what? Compared to the cost of producing that food? Compared to the costs in other countries?"

"Farmers can't continue operating unless they can have a reasonable price and profit for what they produce. Let the American farmer have that and he can produce more than America can eat or store."

Litton was the underdog candidate, Fletcher said, in last year's senatorial race for his party's nomination because of coming from a rural area. "But against five candidates, he won the nomination. He was killed in a plane crash on election eve."

Agriculture, he said, lost one of its leading advocates with the death of Litton.

Nine other guests were present at Tuesday's meeting.

Lion Boss Gary Turner announced that Olton Lions won the attendance contest at last week's county-wide dinner meeting and installation service held in the community center in Littlefield.

Monies left over after paying the expenses of the dinner were contributed to the club with the most representation. Its stipulated use to be a charitable cause. Olton Lions received approximately $150.

Mr. Bell-Miss Thomas Wed Saturday In Plainview

Miss Margaret Ann Thomas and Ralph Edward Bell pledged double ring wedding vows Saturday evening in St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Plainview.

Officiating was the Rev. James W. Ristredt of Littlefield.

Brass candelabras, entwined with tropical greenery and accented with blue satin bows, flanked an arrangement at the altar of mixed white flowers with touches of yellow. White cathedral tapers were held by the candelabras. Garlands of gypsophila decorated the chancel rails. The bridal aisle was marked with white daisies, lemon leaves and blue satin bows. Sanctuary windows were lighted with blue tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs Juanita Thomas and Harry Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. William D. Bell of Hart are parents of the bridegroom.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Thomas and the late Mr. and Mrs. I.V. Fent, C.P. Drake of Albuquerque, N.M. is grandfather of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight sheer organza designed with moulded bodice or re-embroidered chantilly lace. It featured a scalloped portrait neckline highlighted with tiny seed pearls and long fitted lace sleeves accentuated with an overlay of sheer bishop sleeves.

The full bouffant skirt, with chapel train, fell from a crescent waistline. A ruffled flounce, topped with chantilly lace, encircled the hemline. Her waist length veil of imported silk illusion was edged with tiny seed pearls and held by a camelot cap covered with re-embroidered alencon lace.

She carried a cascade arrangement of white daisies and yellow sweetheart roses accented with gypsophila atop a white Bible. Keeping traditions for "something old," she carried a Swiss linen handkerchief which had belonged to her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Margaret Nafzger. "Something new" was a strand of pearls. She "borrowed" pennies, coined in the years of her own and the bridegroom's births, and carried them in her shoes. She wore the traditional blue garter.

MRS. RALPH EDWARD BELL

Connie Thomas of Stephenville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs Duane Clevenger was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Dee Lynne Miller of Iowa Park, cousin of the bride.

They wore formal gowns of flocked blue sheer styled with fitted bodices with low round necklines and long full sleeves caught in ruffles at the wrists. Their full skirts were encircled with a deep ruffle at the hemline. They wore matching blue hats and carried white baskets filled with white daisies and blue gypsophila.

William R. Bell of Canyon was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Charles Alford of Lubbock and Steve Brown of Denton. Guests were seated by Harry Max Thomas, Larry Nafzger, cousin of the bride, and Duane Clevenger.

Donna Dunagan and Megaan O'Keefe registered guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thomas wore a formal length gown of deep sky blue crepe. The bridegroom's mother chose a formal gown of aqua crepe. Both wore corsages of white and yellow daisies and yellow sweetheart roses.

A reception was held in parish hall. The bride's table was covered with a floor length cloth of white lace over blue and was flanked on either side by white wrought iron garden carts filled with African violets.

The three-tiered wedding cake was designed with three round layers at the base and decorated with yellow roses and white daisies. It was topped with white satin bells trimmed in pearls. Yellow fruit punch was served from a crystal bowl accented with daisies. The bride's bouquet and attendants' baskets were placed at the center of the table.

Presiding at the bride's table were Mrs. Bill Threlfall of Turkey, Mrs. Mike Schmidt of Amarillo and Mrs. William R. Bell of Canyon.

Other members of the houseparty were Mmes. Stanford Sjogren, Harold Obenhaus, Don Nafzger, J.P. Nazger and Henry Hooper. Misses Pam Nafzger and Rhonda Obenhaus also assisted.

Rice bags were distributed by Miss Jana Nafzger.

For a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colo., the bride wore a three-piece sea green tailored pantsuit with bone colored asseccories and a corsage of white daisies and yellow sweetheart roses.

The newlyweds will be at home in Plainview.

A graduate of Olton High School and West Texas State University, the bride is employed as speech and hearing therapist at Hart Schools.

Serving As 'Chief Cook'

Whether the surface be water or snow, Donice Quigley loves skiing. Swimming is also one of her favorite pastimes and she admits there's never enough opportunity for those pleasures.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Quigley, Donice was junior varsity cheerleader as a freshman and varsity cheerleader the past two years. She will be a senior at OHS during the 1977-78 school year.

An ardent sports fan, she likes to watch football. She likes tennis but particularly enjoys basketball, having played the past three years.

Donice has been in Pep Squad throughout high school and plays the clarinet in the Mustang Band. She has been a member of Future Homemakers since her freshman year and will be serving her second year as secretary of the Student Council.

She has an older sister, Sharon, who is a junior at Texas Tech. Judy, her younger sister, will be a sophomore. She has a brother, Darryl, who is entering high school.

This summer, Donice and Judy are helping farm, presiding as "Chief Cooks" when their mother is busy with her "farmer's wife" tasks and helping fix up the home basement.

Hesitant to speak about the field of study she'd like to pursue at college, Donice says she is interested in architecture. She will probably attend Tech.

Donice and her family are members of First United Methodist Church.

Allied Chemical's revolutionary foliar fertilizer for soybeans.

We have been selected as a FOLIAN™ dealer. It gives us a brand new way to make your soybean acres more productive.

With a good stand, proper management and FOLIAN, you can get 10-20% better yields. Latest field tests just completed in Brazil showed a 22% yield increase. Five seasons of testing have proven FOLIAN can return $2 for every $1 invested.

FOLIAN works by getting enough extra nutrients into soybeans during pod filling to enable more beans to fill to harvestable size.

Nothing else has proven so effective or practical. A single aerial or ground application from early to mid pod is all it takes.

Talk to us now to see if your soybeans are candidates for FOLIAN. It's too good of an opportunity to let it pass by.

Camping Equipment Gift Provides Fun For Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 220 was reorganized last September and has brought a renewal of the Scouting program in Olton. Scoutmaster David Britton is assisted by Bill Nelson and Dee Mynatt.

There was no camping equipment for the use of the Scouts when they reorganized but the troop has been enjoying camping experiences and earning merit and skill awards through their experiences since February.

Camping opportunities for the local troop were made possible through the contribution of tents purchased for Troop 220 by Olton Grain Coop.

The Scouts, leaders and Troop Committee chairman, Melvin Rape, express their appreciation to Olton Grain Coop for this generous gift.

Father Of Year Winning Letter

In selecting "Father of the Year", if adopted fathers (not legally) are eligible, then Mr. G.A. (George) Bodkin should surely be near the top.

The Bodkins were neighbors to my parents when I was born, living "just across the creek" from us in Oklahoma. In 1928, we moved to Olton along with the Bodkins. Six months later, my father died, leaving Mama and we children to carry on. Mr. Bodkin became our Advisor, an example which will always live in my mind.

The next years (during the depression) were trying times for our family. Mama, inexperienced in carrying on the farming, called on George so many times. He was never too occupied to give his time and efforts to help us out.

After my graduation in 1936, George gave me employment in the implement business which he operated. Other than my college and Armed forces years, I worked with him until his retirement.

Of all those years, a Boss and employee relationship could never have been more congenial. Later, I was privileged to become a partner and this relationship never faltered.

George was never one to give orders. His greatest ability of leadership was by example. No one was ever asked to do what George wouldn't do himself. No customer ever left our store feeling he had been taken advantage of.

Morally, George was an example of what most of us would like to teach.

Thru the years, many people have assumed we were related. I doubt if I could have felt any closer or had any greater respect for my father had he lived than I have for Mr. Bodkin who has truly been as a Father to me.

Vernon Nixon

"I doubt if I could have felt any closer or had any greater respect for my father had he lived than I have for Mr. Bodkin, who has truly been as a father to me," wrote Vernon Nixon in his letter nominating G.A. "George" Bodkin as Olton's 1977 Father of the Year.

Out of town judges who read the letters of nomination made the selection. In so doing, they stated that the decision making task was more difficult than the work which is their employment.

Bodkin, who came to Olton in 1928, became the "father-advisor" to the man who nominated him for the title which also brings valuable prizes from local merchants who co-sponsored the contests.

The entire letter is printed elsewhere in this issue.

Bodkin will receive $5 gift certificate, Duncan's 5 & 10; $15 groceries, Don's Venture Foods; $5 gas, Givens Texaco; wash and lube job, Turner Oil; $5 gift certificate, High Plains Incorporated; $10 gift certificate, Thompson Chevrolet; dinner, Circle K Restaurant; $10 gift certificate, J Bar S; $10 gift certificate, Country Lad in Mini Mall Plus; sockets, Thompson Implement; $10 savings, Olton State Bank; 10 gallons gas, Walker Texaco; set points and plugs, Raymond's Auto and Rube and Son Garage and 11x14 living color family portrait, Enterprise Studio.

What you pay to lease a Zimmatic® depends on the price of corn.

Here's another first from Lindsay . . . the Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease. Instead of a fixed lease payment, you pay for your Zimmatic based on the price of corn. If corn prices plunge, so does your lease payment.

By offering this new lease, Lindsay is sharing some of the same risks that you face every year. Corn prices fluctuate, which affects your profit picture. That's why Lindsay developed the exclusive Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease . . . a revolutionary program that tailors your lease payments to the changing price of corn, from one year to the next.

The Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease is designed so you can lease a Zimmatic without using your normal operating credit sources . . . your Zimmatic pays its own way by turning on your production.

The number of Zimmatics available under this program and the time period of this offer are limited so come in soon and get all the details on the Corn Crop Lease and other exclusive leasing programs available only through Lindsay Credit Corp.

Take advantage of a program that has never been offered in the industry before . . . it's the lease we can do for you.
