Aerial Might On Display

Flu, Cancer Complicate His Condition

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles is reportedly growing weaker.

The 71-year-old former secretary of state contracted pneumonia a week ago after weeks of treatment for cancer that has spread in his body. He has been a patient at Walter Reed Army Hospital here since Feb. 12, except for a brief rest in Florida.

The State Department, which Friday reported a further decline in his condition, said Saturday there was no further change. The department said medical bulletins will be issued only if Dulles' condition changes.

Three members of the family who live elsewhere were reported in the city Saturday. They are a son, John Dulles, an engineer in Mexico City; a daughter, Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, New York City; and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Edwards, Rye, N. Y.

Other members of the family in addition to Mrs. Dulles are another son, Avery, a Jesuit priest; Dulles' brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency; and his sister, Eleanor, a State Department specialist on Germany.

Dulles' cancer condition dates back to 1956, when he underwent surgery for a malignant growth in the colon. Last February Army doctors found the cancer had recurred when they operated on him for a hernia.

In the following weeks the secretary was given massive radiation treatments with a giant X-ray machine and by injections of radioactive gold.

He left the hospital early in April for Florida. The sojourn was cut short and he returned to the hospital April 12.

SPECIAL MARKET STUDY—NO. 1

Newspaper Reading In Big Spring Is Practically A Universal Habit

Among families with annual incomes of $5,000 or more in Big Spring — the families with greatest buying power — newspaper reading is a nearly-universal habit. This is one of the findings of a city-wide survey just completed, which reveals that 98 per cent of all such households receive a daily newspaper.

Even among families with incomes of less than $5,000 per year, 89 per cent receive a daily. For the city as a whole, the study shows that in 93 per cent of all families, someone reads a daily newspaper at home.

Part of a continuing research project sponsored by the Big Spring Daily Herald in cooperation with the Texas Daily Newspaper Association, this is the third annual study made here to provide advertisers with current, reliable data on the nature of newspaper readers, the characteristics of the market, and the preferences and demands for various consumer articles. The studies are conducted in sixteen cities by an independent marketing research firm, Belden Associates of Dallas.

The great majority of newspaper readers, the survey also shows, are adults, the family members who control the purse strings. In Big Spring 77 per cent of all week-day readers are adults, and 23 per cent are children between the ages of 6 and 17.

The high saturation by the daily newspaper of all types of families is illustrated by these percentages of households reached:

95 per cent of families that own their homes.

90 per cent of families that rent.

92 per cent of older families (head of household 45 or older).

94 per cent of younger families (head of households under 45).

89 per cent of larger families (five or more members).

95 per cent of smaller families (less than five members).

98 per cent of upper income levels ($5,000 per year or more).

89 per cent of lower income levels (less than $5,000 per year).

Newspaper reading is such a well-established habit, the survey indicates, that very few families that receive a paper fail to read it, day in and day out. This is unlike other advertising media which may exist in many homes, but to which no one in large numbers of families may expose himself on a given day.

The measurements in the Big Spring survey are based on personal interviews made in a representative cross section of 723 homes. In each of these homes, an interviewer asked a series of questions to determine what members of the family had read anything in a daily newspaper on the previous day. This technique of asking the respondents to recall only very recent experiences of the day before was adopted by the researchers to secure only the most reliable information possible.

The detailed findings of the survey, including consumer use and brand preferences on more than 50 products and other significant market information, have been published in a report being distributed to advertisers by the Big Spring Daily Herald.

ATOM SMASHERS

Call Goes Up For U.S. Science Aid

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A call went up Saturday for the government to increase vastly its support and development of giant atom-smashing machines holding promise of yielding "numerous and fantastic" results.

By 1963, it was stated, the government should more than double its present support of research with such devices. These are used to explore the subatomic world as a part of research which already has "had profound effects upon our technology, our national security, and even our daily living."

The urgent call, and reasons for it, came from a group of scientists representing two of the nation's most powerful science advisory committees.

Their recommendations would mean upping from 59 million dollars to 135 million the nation's present annual outlay for atom-smashers, also known as particle accelerators.

These machines are science's heavy artillery for exploring the basic nature of matter of which the whole universe is composed.

Calling for at least two larger machines than the nation now has —including one that would be two miles long—the group declared:

"The practical results that must derive from continued exploration with larger accelerators can not be guessed. If the past is a guide they will be numerous and fantastic. The one thing we have learned to expect from nature is to be surprised."

The proposal was made by a special panel appointed by President Eisenhower's Science Advisory Committee and the General Advisory Committee to the Atomic Energy Commission.

The release by the White House of two 4,000-word reports by the group came two days after President Eisenhower in a New York speech strongly backed one of the detailed proposals contained in the report.

This recommendation was that the United States foot the bill for a project proposed by Stanford University—the building of a 100-million-dollar, two-mile-long linear accelerator. This device would be the world's most powerful version of this particular type of atom-smasher, with an ultimate designed atom-smashing capability of 45-billion electron volts.

Atom-smashing machines speed up atomic and subatomic particles or "bullets" to energies of millions and billions of volts—and send them smashing against targets made up of various chemicals. The powerful bullets invade the nuclei, or hearts of atoms, breaking them into even smaller fragments.

Some atom-smashers accelerate particles in circles—and these are of the cyclotron type. Others, called linear accelerators, accelerate the projectiles in a straight line.

From such research scientists are steadily adding to their knowledge of the innermost secrets of matter, including the titanic forces that hold the atom together, and the "elementary particles" contained in the nucleus.

So far, in the development of atomic energy, only a fraction of the tremendous energy contained in the nucleus is released.

Thus, one of the main interests in atom-smasher research is to find out more and more about the structure and composition of the atomic nucleus—an understanding which might, in turn, lead to means of further unlocking the energy it contains.

And this could mean improved applications wherever and however atomic energy is used—whether for peaceful pursuits, such as a cheaper means of atomic power, or for military aims, such as nuclear bombs with more energy for a given amount of material.

The advisory group making the report made no such specific references to the future potentialities of atom-smasher research, but other scientists have done so in the past.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

It was a short summer. The week brought a couple of showers, the latter on the edge of a cold front that tumbled temperatures into the low 50's. What fields had been planted may be held back, but in the long run the added moisture will be worth the wait.

* * *

Tragedy touched our area with a drowning at Lake J. B. Thomas a week ago. Airman Wm. J. Maybee, 20, apparently suffered cramps while swimming not far off shore and was lost before aid could reach him.

* * *

The folks at Webb AFB may be tempted to get up a petition to Congress to change the date for Armed Forces Day. Saturday made the third consecutive one where weather has dampened the observance. Or maybe farmers might petition to have it set forward in order to get earlier moisture.

* * *

After the House had approved $2,168,000 in appropriations for Webb AFB, the Senate Armed Services Committee added $750,000 to the total. Of course, this final figure must be approved by the Senate, then the House-

Oilmen Take First Steps For 'Mohole'

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Seafaring oilmen have taken the first technical steps toward digging the fabulous "mohole."

"Mohole" would be a hole dug clean through the earth's crust into the mysterious area or mantle lying underneath.

It has to be dug at sea where the earth's crust is thinnest. Drills and pipes first must reach down through perhaps three miles of water from ship to sea bottom. Then the actual drilling must go three to six miles deeper through the ocean bottom and rock to pierce the earth's crust.

Naturally, this would be a spectacular feat. But scientists are seriously proposing it, and even hunting for likely spots in the ocean.

One reward would be learning what the earth is made of under its skin or crust on which humans live. Secondly, foot by foot the drilling could bring up fossil deposits and rocks to learn the history of life and geological changes ever since the earth was a baby.

Digging that deep under water may sound like a Jules Verne fantasy.

But oil wells already are being dug from barges riding anchored in the water, as well as from permanent Texas towers or oil-drilling platforms whose feet are stuck through shallow water into the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico.

Drilling from a floating derrick barge already is being done by the Global Marine Exploration Co., Los Angeles, a subsidiary of Union Oil Co. of California.

This firm is making studies of the feasibility that a mohole could actually be dug, said Tom W. Redin, company engineer.

Present techniques seem readily adaptable for the mohole challenge, he said in an interview at Global's exhibit at the International Petroleum Exposition.

Mohole gets its name from Moho —an abbreviation for Mohorovicic discontinuity. This means the boundary between the earth's crust and the mantle of uncertain composition underneath.

Global Marine has dug some 40 holes under water from a special floating barge, mostly at water depths of 45 to 350 feet. But experiments have been made successfully in water up to 1,500 feet deep, Redin said.

This involved special methods for sinking pipe, holding it steady, relocating the hole and pipe (necesary after storms) and solving other problems which would be involved and intensified in the scientists' dream of digging through the earths crust in a mohole.

Defense Dept. Denies Ike Okay Asked For Atom Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department Saturday disputed an Air Force general's statement that the Pentagon has asked President Eisenhower for permission to push development of an atomic-powered airplane.

A department public information spokesman, in reply to reporters' questions, said no decision to expedite development of the plane has been made and the matter is still under study. No recommendation has gone to the White House, he said.

This conflicted with a statement Friday by Lt. Gen. Roscoe Wilson, Air Force deputy chief of staff for development, before a meeting of aviation writers. He said the last decision of the late Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles was that "the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission would appeal to the President for the power to expedite nuclear aircraft development." Quarles died eight days ago.

After his speech, Wilson told a reporter the matter was on Eisenhower's desk awaiting his decision. The general was not available for comment Saturday.

He did not say when a prototype, or experimental model, of the first nuclear plane would be built and ready for testing.

However, a decision to step up development of the plane would reverse an earlier stand by the Pentagon and the AEC.

The Defense Department has been following the policy outlined by Eisenhower with military backing. This is that an atomic plane should have useful military capability and not be just a flying test platform to show that an airplane can be run by nuclear power.

Amarillo Judge First On Trial For Conspiracy At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Judge Roy Joe Stevens of Amarillo will be the first of five men to face trial for bribe conspiracy this week in Wichita Falls.

The hollow-cheecked young Randall County judge faces almost certain loss of his law license and judgeship if he is convicted on the felony indictment.

When the Potter County grand jury linked him to an attempt last fall to bribe a juror in a murder case he was defending, Stevens was a contender for for recognition as Amarillo's leading criminal lawyer.

Dist. Atty. Wayne Bagley has indicated the state may allege it was desire for greater prestige that led Stevens to take part in the bribe attempt.

Amarillo's astride the Randall-Potter County line enabled the 35-year-old father of five to operate as a public official in one county and private attorney in the other. Voters returned him to a second four-year term last November.

The trial was ordered shifted to Wichita Falls by Dist. Judge Gene Jordan. He believed the wide interest of the case erased chances of getting a jury in Amarillo.

Judge Stevens agreed to go to trial first. The other defendants, in the order they agreed to be tried, are:

Joe Billy Brock, 35, an attorney associated with Stevens in law practice here who is similarly threatened with disbarment, if convicted.

Ray Reginald Tucker, 40, owner of three Amarillo bars, who is threatened with loss of his retail beer license, if convicted.

Edwin Dale West, 33, manager of the Tucker - owned bars, who faces return to Kansas state prison as a parole violator regardless of the outcome of his conspiracy trial.

Harold Emil Erlandsor., 50, bail bondsman and ex-convict, who stands indicted separately on conspiracy to bribe a juror, with enchancement as an habitual criminal. Two prior convictions are alleged.

One of the ironies of the case is that Judge Stevens is being defended by a rival for prominence in Panhandle criminal law, George S. McCarthy, and prosecuted by a man who was once one of his close friends, Bagley.

The events which culminate in next week's trial had their origin a year ago.

On May 24, 1958, a railroad laborer, Nick Bargas, 38, shot and killed an insurance salesman, Louis H. Macias, 27, in a park in east Amarillo. Bargas said Macias attempted to collect money from him. Bargas said he really owed the money to the widow of his brother. Bargas resented Macias' friendship with the widow.

Judge Stevens was retained as defense counsel. Trial was set for Oct. 27.

When court opened that morning, two young brothers testified to an attempt made through one to bribe the other. Hubert Carlton Heard, 21, said West offered money two days earlier if he would ask his brother to help Bargas by serving as a juror.

Donald Earl Heard, 25, was 24th on the list of 203 special veniremen. His contact with West, he testified, came in a telephone call.

Judge Jordan ordered the case continued. West was arrested.

In early November, a grand jury investigation began. Four state intelligence agents assisted the district attorney's office. More than 30 persons were questioned.

On the night of Jan. 15, bribe conspiracy indictments were returned against the five defendants. The next night, the grand jury indicted four men, including Stevens, Erlandson and attorney McCarthy, for conspiracy to murder one of the intellegence agents in an incident during the investigation. The indictment was dismissed later on Bagley's motion.

Will Sign Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—The firemen and policemen's maximum hours bill will become law, Gov. Price Daniel indicated Saturday.

Ackerly Votes To Incorporate

ACKERLY — Ackerly is to become an incorporated town.

Voters Saturday stamped their approval of a plan to incorporate. The vote was 33 for and 25 against the incorporation.

The vote was extremely light. However, it was said that all needed to put the program into effect was a simple majority.

The next step, it was believed, will be to select a slate of city officials. When this will be undertaken is not definitely known.

Ackerly has an estimated population of around 300. It is located astride the Martin and Dawson county lines and about half of the community is located in each county. It is about a mile and a half from the Howard County line.

Sponsors of the incorporation plan have retained the services of a Lamesa attorney to prepare all papers and comply with any legal requirements necessary to changing the village into a town.

Plastic Surgery May Help C-City Coed, Acid Victim

DENTON (AP)—A doctor held out hope Saturday that the disfigured face of a coed splashed with searing silver nitrate can be repaired with plastic surgery.

But he said the condition of her burned eyes still is undetermined.

Seared when a male student threw the chemical on her in what the youth called "a joke that backfired" is Shelia Rene Nelms, 20, a junior at North Texas State College from Colorado City.

Slender Tommy Ray Lester, 19, of Corsicana is charged with aggravated assault on the coed and is free on $1,500 bond. Maximum penalty on the misdemeanor charge is a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Dr. Bert Davis said Miss Nelms showed improvement Saturday:

"She probably will be able to see fairly good with the left eye, but the right eye still is in question. Only time will tell how badly she is hurt."

County Atty. Robert Caldwell said he will await the extent of Miss Nelms' recovery before deciding on filing a charge of maiming. A felony charge of maiming carries a 2 to 10 year prison term upon conviction.

The doctor refused to permit newsmen to question Miss Nelms.

"She doesn't want to talk about it," he said.

The searing chemical was thrown on her as she left a party Thursday night at the apartment of a student at the college.

It burned her eyes, face, neck and breasts.

"Silver nitrate in that high concentrate just cooks flesh," Dr. Davis said.

"She was leaving and I just kind of sloshed the stuff at her," Lester said. "I didn't think it would hurt her. It was just a joke that backfired. I didn't have any idea the stuff was so strong. We didn't know anything was wrong until we heard her crying outside."

He said he obtained the chemical from a biology laboratory. It was intended as a rat poison. He said students sometimes used it as a prank to discolor the skin of fellow students.

"I'd give anything if it was me instead of her," Lester told newsmen.

North Texas State authorities expelled Lester Friday. Sheriff Wylie H. Barnes released him to custody of his parents.

The nitrate tossing happened on the lawn outside the apartment of another male student. Lester lived next door.

The co-ed, about 5 feet 6 inches tall, is brown - haired and stout. Lester stands 5-9 and said he weighs 145. He wears heavy horn rim spectacles.

He said his student neighbor brought silver nitrate crystals from a college laboratory and dissolved them for use as rat poison.

"We didn't know anything was wrong until we heard her crying outside, and I went back out the door," Lester said.

He saw a young married couple living next door drive away with Miss Nelms in their car, bound for a hospital.

"It wasn't really a drinking party," Lester added. "We had some beer. Nobody had more than three cans, and there wasn't anybody drunk."

Accompanied by his parents, Lester tried to visit Miss Nelms after his release from jail. On doctor's orders, a nurse turned them back along with other callers at the door to her hospital room.

At the hospital Lester talked with Mrs. Hayne Nelms, Colorado City, mother of the co-ed.

"It was not intended, I know," Mrs. Nelms said later. "The boy said it was a joke."

She concluded grimly: "Some joke."

Fliers Cap Exciting Armed Forces Show

Webb's Armed Forces Day celebration, threatened at the start by a low ceiling of soggy clouds, got off the ground when the sun arrived and allowed the fliers to cap the static displays with an exciting show in the air. Some 5,000 West Texans were on hand.

For several hours early Saturday the gloomy overcast promised a repeat of the rainstorms which blanked out last year's performance even as it got under way; then sunshine broke through and gave the jet pilots room to weave their flashing, complicated patterns through the skies.

Maj. Edward J. Hershock led a polished precision team composed of 1st Lts. Douglas W. Wingate, James M. Chestnut, and George P. Bracke. With only a few days of practice behind them, the quartet put their T-33s through the routine with snap and sureness which would have done credit to a professional exhibition group.

Capt. Robert L. Reed and 1st Lt. Leonard W. Cramer laced the other acts together with lightning single-ship passes across the field.

A 16-ship formation of jets was inspected on the ramp by Col. Kyle L. Riddle, base commander, and then took off for several flybys in beautifully patterned ranks. In the formation leadship were Col. Riddle and Maj. Russell J. Gradel.

Three F-86Ls of the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron leaped off in a simulated scramble, demonstrating the speed with which the men who maintain a 'round-the-clock watch against aerial invaders can get airborne to meet an emergency. Flying these Sabrejets were Capt. John C. Darby Jr., 1st Lt. Earl M. Drew, and 1st Lt. Carl N. Schaffhauser. Returning from their scramble, the trio swept low across the runways at just under the speed of sound, pulled up, and rolled flashing out of sight — returning seconds later to pitch-out and land.

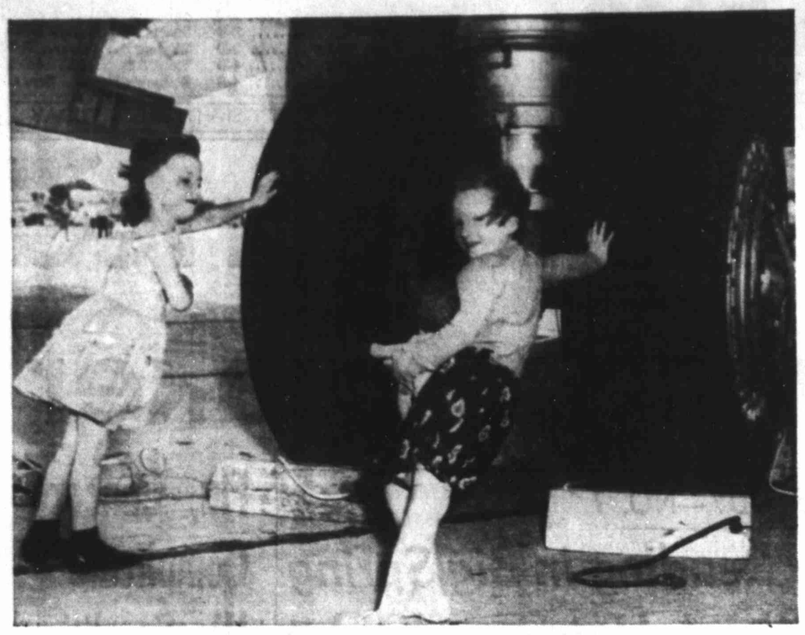

Two other "single" acts enlivened the program: A T-33 piloted by Maj. Sherrod H. Osborne and 1st Lt. Lee Webb was blasted into flight by JATO (Jet-Assisted Take-Off) power, and 1st Lt. Herbert G. Wells flew one of the big "bent-pickle" H-21 helicopters in a display of delicate maneuvering which made piloting the traditionally hard to fly 'copter look easy.

Capt. Robert W. Mulledy, of Pilot Training Group, narrated the show from Webb's MARS Radio truck, providing welcome explanation of events and enlivening the short periods between acts.

Actually, the threatening weather served to allow the crowd time to reach the flight line and inspect the static-exhibit aircraft and hangar displays of aircraft, material, and missile models before the air show. In charge of static exhibits was Lt. Col. Leonard Einstein, of Maintenance and Supply Group. Lt. Col. Donald W. Pendergrast, Wing Operations Officer, headed the entire activities of the day as Armed Forces Day Project Officer.

Several live exhibitions were given; a demonstration by Webb's World Championship Engine Change Team, a fire-fighting demonstration using a wrecked aircraft, and ejection seat firing of student pilots proved to be real crowd collectors.

Before the cloudy overcast dispersed, several of the scheduled fly-bys of aircraft from other bases were cancelled, but those which arrived after the ceiling broke flew low across the area as planned. Most spectacular was the huge Boeing K-135 jet tanker, which made two passes in front of the crowded bleachers and flight line.

Big Day For The Little People

Patty Ward, left, and Joy Fowler were among the hundreds of children who joined their parents and others to inspect the airplanes and other Air Force equipment during Armed Forces Day. Patty and Joy are dwarfed by the big tires of a B-47, above. A model of the Atlas missile, below, helped draw crowds to the big hangar filled with static displays.

Sun Drives Clouds Out Of City Area

Summer resort weather, with perhaps just a touch too much cool for real comfort, made summer seem even more remote to Big Springers on Friday, Friday night and for part of Saturday.

Grady Randel, U. S. Experiment Station, pointed out that the "hottest" moment of the 24-hour interval from 6 a.m. Friday to the same hour Saturday was at 6 yesterday morning. The temperature at that time (which normally would have been recorded as the minimum) was 64 degrees — the highest of the 24 hour period.

Friday itself never warmed up above 58 degrees. There was a constant threat of rain which never quite got itself going. Friday night continued the same and Saturday — Armed Forces Day — dawned dreary and unpromising.

However, the clouds bean to break up as the day advanced and the sun peeped out from time to time. The temperature moved upward to the point where jackets, which had been in high favor, were being laid aside later in the afternoon.

No additional moisture was reported from any part of the county.

Fisher County Test Logged As Dry Hole

LaGorce Oil Co. and others No. 1 I. M. Newman is a 4,000-foot wildcat failure in Fisher County, two miles southeast of Longworth.

Drillsite was 330 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 10, block 1, HT&B survey, nine miles southeast of Roby.

Bruce Baby's Rites Held At Loraine

COLORADO CITY—Brad Allan Bruce, two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bruce of Fort Worth, died Friday at his home. The child was born March 19, 1959 in Fort Worth, where his father is an accountant.

Funeral services were held Saturday in the First Methodist Church in Loraine with burial in the Loraine Cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Debra and Charla, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jean and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Bruce of Loraine.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A contract covering 3,200 General Tire & Rubber Co. workers in Waco and Akron has been signed by the company and the United Rubber Workers.

Registration For Summer Program To Open Saturday

Registration for the city-wide summer recreation program will open next Saturday, Bobo Hardy of the YMCA announced Saturday. The YMCA is coordinator of the program.

Grade school youngsters who wish to participate are asked to gather in the Ritz Theatre at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. They must be accompanied by their parents.

Hardy will introduce the summer staff and outline the activities that are planned, illustrating some with color slides. Registration cards will be distributed to parents who then will go to the YMCA to register their youngsters while the children watch a movie, "Francis Joins the Navy."

Registration will be open all day Saturday and throughout the following week, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, or until sections are filled.

Indian Day Camp registration, for all three sessions, also will open Saturday, along with enrollment for the teen-age program. Swimming pupils are to be signed up for the first period of instruction, to be conducted from June 8 to June 19.

Mrs. Mansell, 79, Is Taken By Death

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Eliza Smith Mansell, 79, died at the home of a daughter Friday after a long illness. Mrs. Mansell had been in Colorado City since November of last year.

She is survived by four daughters, including Mrs. Leon Neely of Colorado City, Mrs. Gilbert Wesberry of Midland, Mrs. A. N. Wright of Crane, and Mrs. Susie Watkins of Walters, Okla.; four sons, Tom Mansell of Raton, N. M.; Roy Mansell of Glendora, Calif.; Ernest Mansell of Crane and B. H. Mansell of Midland.

Her body was transferred to Walters, Okla., Friday afternoon for funeral services and burial.

Plenty For Everyone, Boys

Art Blassingame needs more hands if he's to pass out the ice cream as rapidly as Big Spring's Soap Box Derby boys can consume it. Herald Photographer Keith McMillin caught this scene at the ice cream party for Derby contestants at Tidwell Chevrolet Co. Friday night. Nearly all of the 66 local Derby entrants were on hand for the party and to receive instructions for finishing up their racers for the June 25 Soap Box Derby.

Rising Prosperity May Balance Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising prosperity may balance President Eisenhower's 77 - billion-dollar budget even if Congress doesn't vote the extra revenue he wants.

A record 50-billion-dollar total of corporation profits is in sight this year, government economists said Saturday. That is three billion dollars more than the budget-makers estimated in January.

The Treasury will take about half the gain, at the 52 per cent tax rate on corporate earnings. This would add 1½ billion dollars to revenues in the fiscal year starting July 1, substantially more than Eisenhower asked in higher taxes, postal rates, and fees.

Congress could easily tip the scales into a deficit. But its Democratic leaders seem increasingly anxious to repudiate the "spender" label, and Eisenhower's aides have become correspondingly more hopeful.

One administration economist believes 1960 profits may reach 50 to 51 billion dollars, about 5 billion above any previous year.

"The budget prospects look very good right now," the economist recently told a reporter.

The striking improvement in jobs in March and April suggests that wage earners, as well as business managers, may pay more taxes than the Treasury expected of them.

The budget anticipated about 34¾ billion dollars in personal income tax collections in the fiscal year starting July 1. This was based on the estimated 374 billion dollars of personal income in this calendar year.

Many critics in January called that an unrealistic guess because the income rate then was only about 360 billion and joblessness had stayed disturbingly high despite the otherwise notable recovery of business activity.

Then April brought a drop in unemployment and a rise in employment about twice the normal size for the season. In March and April alone employment gained 2¼ million, and unemployment dropped by 1,100,000.

Since every billion dollars of income adds about 150 million dollars to income tax collections, the Treasury could benefit appreciably by these lengthening pay-rolls and fattening paychecks, although less handsomely than from the spectacular climb of corporate profits.

Officially the administration has not changed its January budget estimates—77 billion dollars of spending, with receipts matching that total and leaving a scant 70 million dollar surplus.

The Treasury and Budget Bureau are not expected to revise the estimates until they issue the midyear budget review in September. By then Congress presumably will have stopped appropriating, gone home, and won't be around to spend any extra revenues that turn up.

But Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson has hinted that he expects improvement. In his April 30 speech to the annual meeting of The Associated Press, he said: "Today I believe there is even more evidence to support this (77 billion dollar revenue) estimate than there was last January."

This clashed with an earlier estimate of the House Ways and Means Committee staff that revenues would fall more than a billion dollars short of Eisenhower's goal.

Millionaire's Town Is Park Settled Amid Bigger Cities

By LEONARD MILLIMAN

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP)—The only thing you can buy in Hillsborough is a telephone call. You can do that in only two places.

Aside from these two rarely used phone booths, you can't spend a dime in this town, incorporated in 1910 to preserve its rolling hills and wooded ravines as a playground for San Francisco millionaires.

The polo grounds and the fox hunting are gone. A few inexpensive $25,000 homes have crept in. But the Town Council is still a gold-plated, hand-picked group of prominent San Franciscans. The police chief is kept busy denying reports he's a millionaire.

Hillsborough remains as close to the 1910 country club ideals of the founding fathers as progress will permit.

This town of 7,128 has two country clubs but no hospitals and no churches.

If you want a pack of cigarettes, a newspaper, a cup of coffee—anything that costs money except a phone call or landed property—you'll have to go to the neighboring cities of San Mateo or Burlingame.

Hillsborough did have a "business district" once, but only because state law required it. The town fathers designated the H. E. Casey quarry as a commercial zone. Then they proceeded to get the law changed.

In 1915 the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. got permission to erect a building on the edge of Hillsborough. Henry T. Scott, one of the town's founders, was president of the phone company. Since 1926 that building has been the town hall.

Winding streets still follow the meandering course of 1915 carriage routes. As a concession to progress, new street developments will have gutters, but not sidewalks.

With all of its two-car garages—that's a minimum requirement of the building code—Hillsborough has an 11-year record of no pedestrian deaths.

A stranger walking in town wouldn't get very far before a police car pulled up and made polite inquiries about his business.

With the aid of phone calls from domestics and gardeners—everyone has a t least a part-time gardener and the bit estates have crews of them—police also keep close tab on strange automobiles.

"We don't want the townsfolk disturbed by peddlers or burglars," Police Chief W. S. Wisnom explains.

Homes range from a 96-room French chateau, where Contessa Lillian Remilard Dandini lives to stage opera performances for her friends; through estate mansions, down to ranch - type suburban homes largely in the $40,000 to $80,000 range.

Hillsborough has only 1¼ acres of parks. They were unwanted gifts and are conspicuously unused. Everyone has his own park, usually complete with swimming pool.

Social life centers around the Burlingame Country Club.

"There are no climbers in the club," says Manager J. W. Kruger. "All the members have arrived."

The blue ribbon Town Council has kept taxes down to 90 cents per $100 valuation, held street lights to 112, and kept the town looking like a huge park set between neighboring cities of commuters.

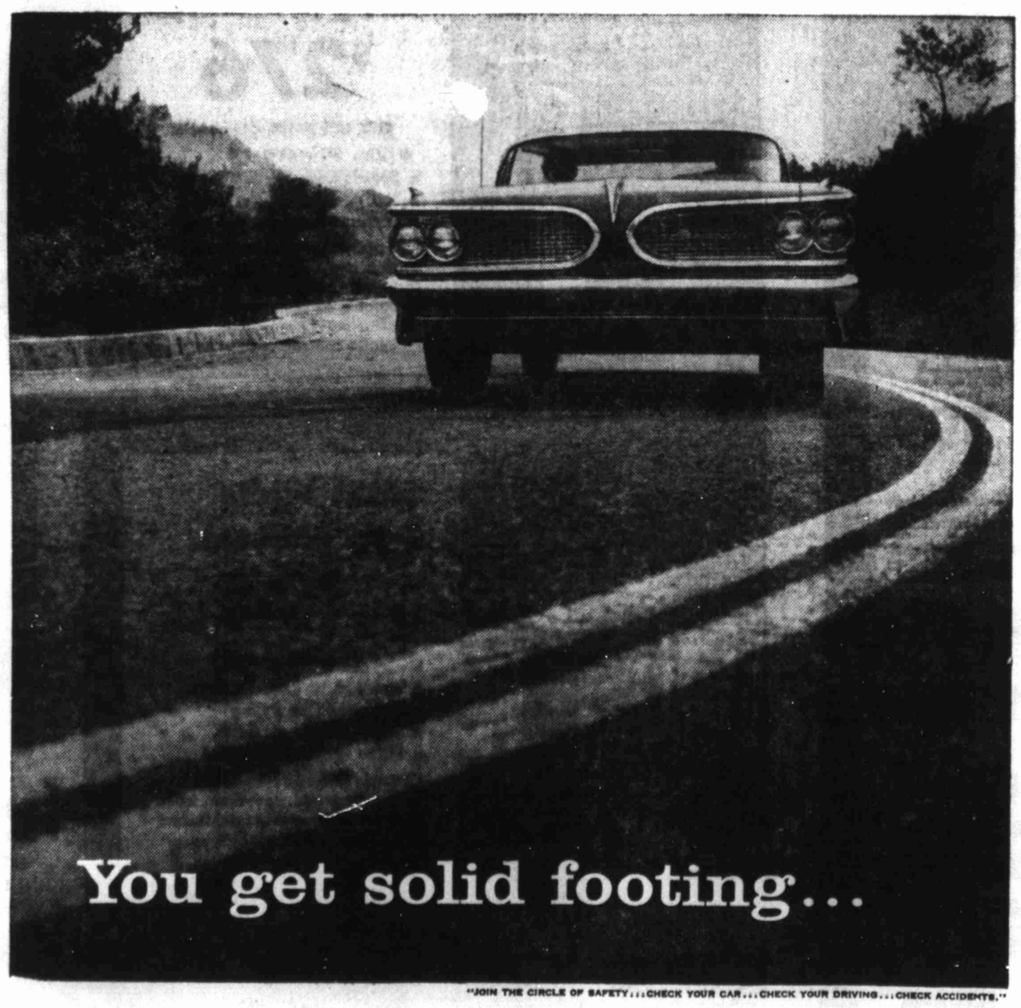

Politics is non-existent in the heavily Republican community.

"The only elections held in Hillsborough are for the re-election of incumbents," says Councilman William H. Dennick Jr., a principal of McKinsey and Co., international business management firm.

"Most people want to live here if they can afford it," says J. P. Wilkins, assistant city manager.

Officer Peter Fena, whose father was a gardener of one of the estates before it was subdivided, says, "I like to think of Hillsborough as a Shangri-la. It's a little world of its own with a golden curtain around it."

...in a road-hugging Wide-Track Pontiac!

You control this car with a vivid sense of security, a new sense of balance. It has a steadier stance because it has a wider track. Its wheels are five inches farther apart. You cling to curves and corners with much less lean and sway. You drive with a feeling of confidence, security, complete control. This is without a doubt the easiest handling automobile you could possibly choose. Wide-Track design does not widen the car—only the stance. It's the big reason Pontiac is now first in sales in its price class.

Time Is Factor As Cancer Cure Nears

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How close are we to a cure for cancer?

Some scientists believe we are on the brink of discoveries that will defeat the disease. Others disagree.

But among most, the feeling is that the first cures for cancer can't be too far away.

In any case, time is a grim question for the three-quarters of a million Americans suffering from cancer today. It is crucial, too, for the 40 million Americans alive today who will harbor cancer before they die.

Some specialists point out that more is known about the disease than about most others. They feel close to an understanding of cancer—an understanding close to the secret of life itself.

This understanding is being molded now in the cancer laboratories of the world. Here viruses are pitted against bacteria, human cells are grown wildly on small glass plates and tailor-made vaccines are prepared from a cancer patient's tumor.

Bit by bit, the secrets are being revealed.

But this is only one road of cancer research.

In hospitals and clinics, doctors are fighting the malignant tumors with the surgeon's knife, X-rays and chemicals.

With today's weapons and practices, one in three cancer patients is saved. If ignorance and fear didn't stop people from reporting their cancer suspicions early, one in two could be saved.

Vital new weapons are being forged to fight cancers still more effectively.

A huge search is under way for poisons against cancer.

Scientists are poring over some 40,000 chemical compounds a year. Among them, doctors hope to find a handful that will work.

There are some 75 of such drugs now being tried on cancers in human patients. They have already been tried on thousands of laboratory animals.

Doctors have about a dozen chemicals to fight cancer now. But the trouble with such chemical agents is that they frequently are poisons against normal life as well.

Powerful chemical poisons are used to kill cancer cells that lurk in the operating area after a tumor is removed. These cells act like the seeds of new cancers if left in the body.

Other chemicals are injected into patients after the main tumor is removed. The most useful of these is nitrogen mustard, a cousin to the deadly mustard gas of World War I.

This chemical has apparently cut cancer recurrence and deaths in half after operation for breast cancer, according to a three-year study by Dr. Warren Cole of the University of Chicago.

The usefulness of this sort of drug is limited, however. You have to approach doses that are poisonous to the patient if you want to poison cancer cells.

Dr. Oscar Creech of Tulane University has found a way to get around the problem in fighting some cancers.

If the tumor is in the arm or the leg, the limb is shut off from the body's blood flow by tourniquet. It is hooked up to an artificial heart-lung machine which supplies it fresh blood.

Then powerful doses of cancer poisons like nitrogen mustard can be injected without fear of poisoning the entire body. The technique can be used on some other parts of the body by ingenious internal tourniquets.

These dramatic, immediate methods fight cancer now. But the desperately needed cures and preventions must still come from the laboratory.

Forsan Seniors Receive Awards At Graduation

FORSAN — Citizenship awards to Forsan's outstanding seniors were presented at the conclusion of graduation ceremonies to Lorita Overton and Charles Skeen. They were the valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively.

D. M. Bardwell president of the Forsan Service Club made the presentation.

C. V. Wash, president of the Forsan School Board, presented diplomas to the seniors.

Forsan Study Club's annual award went to Sherrie Fletcher. Joe Holladay, superintendent of the schools, made the presentation. He also awarded the 4-H Club awards to Janet Gooch and Harry King.

Recognition was also accorded Gaye Huestis and Raymond Martin, who were runners-up in the class for highest academic ratings.

Linda Camp, previously designated to receive a five week training in science, was presented with this certificate. She will devote July 13 through Aug. 7 to this special assignment. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Camp.

Grady Randel Wins Citation And Bonus

Dr. C. H. Wadleigh, Director of Soil and Water Conservation Research Division, United States Department of Agriculture, has transmitted a special Certificate of Merit to Grady L. Randel, Big Spring, for outstanding performance.

Dr. Earl Burnett, superintendent of the U. S. Experiment Station here where Randel is a staff member, recommended the citation.

In addition to the award, Randel received a cash bonus. The certificate relates that he is being recognized for performance exceeding the requirements of his position.

Hijacker Tentatively Identified, Pickup Order Out To All Sections

An all - points pickup order for a Negro male, identified as A. C. Anderson, about 30 years old, has been sounded by the Big Spring Police Department.

Police say he is the man wanted here for slugging R. E. McClure, operator of the McClure Texaco Service Station on W. 4th, last Wednesday night. McClure was robbed of over $250 by the bandit who beat him down with a sack filled with empty cartridge shells.

Leo Hull, city detective, said that he is convinced Anderson is the man who pulled the holdup and that he is also responsible for a series of five burglaries committed in Big Spring in the past 10 days.

He believes that Anderson is the Negro who was jumped as he left a T&P freight train in the Fort Worth railroad yards on Thursday. This man engaged A. G. Mitchell, T&P special agent, in a gunfight. Mitchell thinks he wounded the fugitive, who escaped from the trap into the rough country of the Trinity River bottoms. No trace of him has been found since that time.

Anderson is about 5 feet 7 inches tall, around 30 years of age, and weighs from 155 to 160 pounds. He was last seen wearing khaki pants and a grey jacket. If the man Mitchell encountered in Fort Worth and the suspect are the same, he is armed and officers have been warned to be cautious in approaching him.

Description and tentative identification of the man came from William Belton and Jesse Young, two Negroes arrested in Monahans, in possession of merchandise stolen from Ray's Grocery late on the night of May 12. They told officers here they had a companion in the burglary and described him. They also told police that while Anderson, as he said his name was, did not show a gun in their presence, they were convinced he had one. He abandoned them in Monahans, they said, a short time before they were picked up by police in that city.

Hull believes that Anderson has been implicated in three separate burglaries since May 9 of Ray's Grocery, in the burglaries of the Davis Feed and Seed Store and the Big Spring Grain and Commission Co.

Belton and Young likewise told how Anderson, en route from Big Spring to Monahans on a freight train, took advantage of a momentary halt by the train to steal a quantity of clothing from a car parked in front of a house near the railroad in Stanton right-of-way. Hull said that some of the loot from that car was in the articles recovered with the arrest of the two men in Monahans.

Hull recited the Anderson saga of misdeeds, if the police theory is sound, as follows:

May 8—Ray's Grocery, 602 NE Third, burglarized of 64 cartons of cigarettes, five or six cigarette lighters, $14.12 in change and a stamp machine containing $15 in in stamps.

Later that same day Hull said, Anderson was in Fort Worth selling 4 - cent stamps at 2 - cents apiece. He said that it was in Fort Worth, Anderson encountered Belton and Young. He urged them to accompany him to Big Spring, they told officers, where he said there was a grocery store that was a "set up" for a burglary. They came with him to Big Spring.

May 11—Ray's Grocery burglarized of $30 in silver; 64 cartons of assorted cigarettes; 24 men's sports shirts. That same night, Davis Feed & Seed Store was burglarized of 50 cents in pennies and a money sack. This money sack was later found in possession of Belton and Young.

The two Negroes held here said the trio went to Monahans. There they sold some of the sport shirts and some of the cigarettes. They complained that Anderson sold the cigarettes and refused to give them any of the money. They were afraid to "jump" him, they told Hull and other officers, because they were convinced he had a gun. He left them and they do not know where he went.

They decided to go to California and were en route to the bus station when they were stopped by Monahans police. A search disclosed the cigarettes, sports shirts and other merchandise and led to their return to Big Spring.

May 13—Hull and the police believe that when Anderson parted from his two companions he immediately returned to Big

That night, he allegedly burglarized the Grocery for the third time—taking 50 cartons of cigarettes and 12 pair of men's underwear.

They also think he burglarized the Big Spring Grain and Commission Co., taking $8 from the cold drink vending machine.

They believe he then caught an early morning freight for Fort Worth. There he was encountered by Mitchell, who had been advised to keep an eye out for him. That's the last officers have heard of the fugitive.

Before he fled for Fort Worth, he is believed to have made his attack on McClure where he added $250 to his loot and left the station owner groggy on the grease room floor.

Hull said that so far, $40.37 in cash has been recovered, plus $25 in cash which officers forced the buyer of the hot cigarettes in Monahans to refund plus 27 cartons of cigarettes he had bought. Twenty of the stolen sport shirts, a ladies' blouse and a money bag have also been recovered.

Airmen Suffer Broken Legs

Two airmen received broken legs in an accident here Thursday. Both were riding a motorcycle which collided with a parked car.

Hospitalized at the base are A.1.C. Billy Burford and A.1.C. Daniel Robinson. Both sustained fractures in the lower part of their left legs, according to Webb officials, and both will be hospitalized about six weeks.

According to the police, Robinson was operating the motorcycle which went out of control. The cycle hit a parked car belonging to H. W. Hambrick, 509 Abrams. The accident occurred in the 1500 block of Gregg.

Burglary Suspect's Bond Set At $2,000

Bond has been set at $2,000 in the case of J. C. Nelson, accused of burglary.

Nelson was returned to Howard County last week from Los Angeles, Calif. He fought extradition in the California courts but was ordered into the custody of Sheriff Miller Harris, who had gone to the west coast to get the prisoner.

Nelson is alleged to have burglarized the Big Spring Hardware Co. some months ago.

$5,000 Bond Set In Marijuana Case

Bond in the case of Jose Francisco Florez, 20, accused of possession of marijuana, has been set at $5,000. He has not posted bail and was still in the Howard County jail on Saturday.

Florez was arrested when officers found four cigarettes, alleged to be marijuana, concealed in the waistband of a pair of trousers which Florez sought to deliver to Andres Marquez.

Marquez, who will be 17 years old on Tuesday, is in the county jail waiting appearance before the grand jury, after he has reached 17 years of age, for murder with malice.

Daniel's Prestige At Stake Monday

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel stakes his prestige Monday on a second-time-around tax program which the Legislature beat down.

He faces the toughest fight of his administration.

At 11 a.m. the legislators get back in harness in an effort to do in 30 days what they did not do in 120: Erase the deficit and find enough money to meet spiralling state costs.

Daniel continues his jut-jawed stand against a general sales tax or income tax. He is optimistic that the Legislature will come up with about 210 million dollars in new revenue to handle the crisis.

Asked why he thought his program would find smoother sailing now than during the regular session, the governor replied that by restricting the call the Legislature will not become embroiled in side issues.

"My program got bogged down in the regular session because the gas lobbyists were willing to do whatever they could to block action on the deficit...The plan of the lobbyists was for big spending so that the only way to take care of it (taxes) was with a general sales tax," Daniel said.

"I think the spirit of cooperation will be a little different."

The governor said he wants a showdown early — if one is coming — on a sales tax so that the entire session is not unduly delayed.

His "first things first" approach calls for retirement of the $65,889,592 deficit predicted Saturday by State Comptroller Robert Calvert. Next is passage of a tax bill to cover the $2,400,000,000 appropriations bill.

Calvert's new figures, which cut the estimated available revenue by three million dollars from his earlier forecast, also show $77,200,000 a year must be raised to balance the budget if the House version of the appropriations bill passes.

This is his general program—the same program he claimed "overwhelmingly favorable reaction" to from the Legislature Jan. 24:

1. To take care of the deficit: A bookkeeping transfer bill, a 1-year increase in the franchise tax and a revised abandoned property of escheat bill.

2. To raise new taxes: A "severance" tax on gas, an increase in the motor vehicle sales and liquor taxes and an adjustment upwards in cigar and other tobacco products to the same level as cigarettes.

In addition his program will include another 28 million dollars from sources other than new or increased taxes. Fifteen million would come from a change in the corporation franchise tax formula for interstate corporations.

Another change would bring in $4,340,000 a year from elimination of the present tax exemption on cigarettes and beer sold on military reservations.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson held that a bill to this effect is unconstitutional but Daniel said he still believed a bill could be written to make a collection, perhaps from the distributor or wholesaler.

The transfer bill, passed by the House and left hanging in the Senate, enables the comptroller to count August Revenues in the current fiscal year instead of the next year. This will cut the deficit by 18 to 28 million dollars, depending on the final form.

Representatives passed his proposals increasing the franchise tax from $2.25 to $2.85 and transferring to the state abandoned funds in banks. No action was taken on the franchise interstate formula.

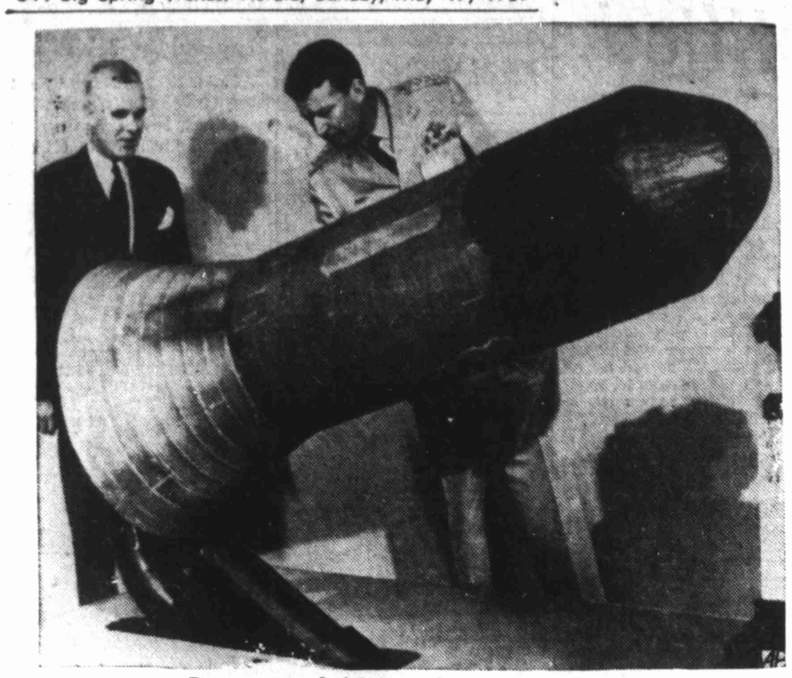

On his new tax program, House members sidestepped his proposal to slap a natural gas tax on the person or corporation for whom the gas is produced, whether interstate or within the state. Instead the production tax on gas was increased from seven to eight per cent.

Representatives compromised his plan to increase the motor vehicles sales tax from 1.1 per cent to 1.8 per cent by settling for 1.5 per cent.

On his recommendation of an increase from $1.408 a gallon on whisky to $2.50, the House raised it to $1.508 and doubled the wine tax.

On his tobacco tax program, the House agreed on a one cent a package increase in the cigarette tax as a substitute.

In all the House wound up with a bill which would raise 77 million dollars in two years, far short of the state's needs.

Khrushy Sees 'Merit' In U.S. Reich Plan, But 'No Peace'

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said Saturday the Western plan for Germany laid down at Geneva "contains some matters which are worthy of examination and which we shall not oppose."

But in a Kremlin speech accepting the Lenin Peace Prize, he called the Western proposal a "so-called peace plan" because there was no peace behind it. He accused the West at Geneva of trying to provoke the Soviet Union into sharp criticism.

"This is done in order to make us shoulder the responsibility, to accuse us of being obdurate," Khrushchev said.

"But we shall not give our partners this pleasure. We shall not follow this course but will on the contrary explain that by this means it is impossible to achieve the liquidation of the cold war.

"The proposal of the Western Powers contains some matters which are worthy of examination and which we shall not oppose. On the contrary, we shall be prepared to seek solutions at the round table.

"But questions must be taken separately and not tied together, as is being done by the Western Powers, into one big knot which cannot be untied.

"It is primarily necessary to separate the question of the conclusion of a peace treaty with the two German states and on this basis solve the Berlin question by turning Berlin into a free city."

Thus Khrushchev returned to the Soviet position of separate peace treaties with East and West Germany, an idea rejected by the West. The West wants a single treaty with a reunited Germany and would unite East and West Berlin as the capital.

"The plans of the West cannot be accepted even by themselves," Khrushchev told his Kremlin audience. "No one of them wants the reunification of Germany.

"The real author of these plans is not in Geneva. The shadow of Adenauer is there."

This was a reference to the Soviet charge that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany is blocking the way to a German settlement.

Khrushchev described the ending of the cold war as the most urgent problem facing the world and said a halt of nuclear tests was an important first step.

He said the Soviet Union, Japan and the European powers know what war is like from experience on their own soil.

"The American people are not aware of what war is," the Premier said. "They know it only from newspapers and films, but now the American people are joining together to avert the threat of a nuclear war. They know it can happen on their own territory, and they can't hide from it."

Throughout his speech Khrushchev differentiated between the ordinary people of the United States and U.S. "warmongers."

Khrushchev brought up cold war problems near the end of an hour's speech after accepting the diploma and Gold Medal Peace Prize from Academician Dmitry Skobeltsyn, chairman of the International Lenin Prize Committee.

Three Hospitalized As Result Of Fight

A quarrel between a man and his wife led to the hospitalization of three other persons Friday night.

Capt. Lindy Oldfield, city police, said only one of those knifed as aftermath to the domestic difficulty was sufficiently injured to be kept overnight in the Big Spring Hospital. The other two were given first aid treatment and dismissed from the hospital.

Oldfield said the station received a call to go to 1204 W. 3rd at 7:35 p.m. A man and his wife were quarreling, the report related.

When he arrived at the scene, he found no quarrel between a married couple. Instead, he found three men nursing knife wounds and a fourth man belligerently standing his ground.

Joseph Barrington, who lives at the address, told Oldfield that after he and his wife, Bobby Jo, had argued, he came out in the yard of his home.

Frank Ruiz and Ysidro Ruiz, who live at 1206 W. 3rd, and Donald Carpenter, Coleman Courts, said something to Barrington. Barrington said one of the trio threw a rock at him, striking him in the back. Then, he said, the three men attacked him. He whipped out his knife and started slashing, he told Oldfield.

Frank Ruiz received stab wounds in the side, the neck and the left shoulder. He was held overnight for observation at the Big Spring Hospital.

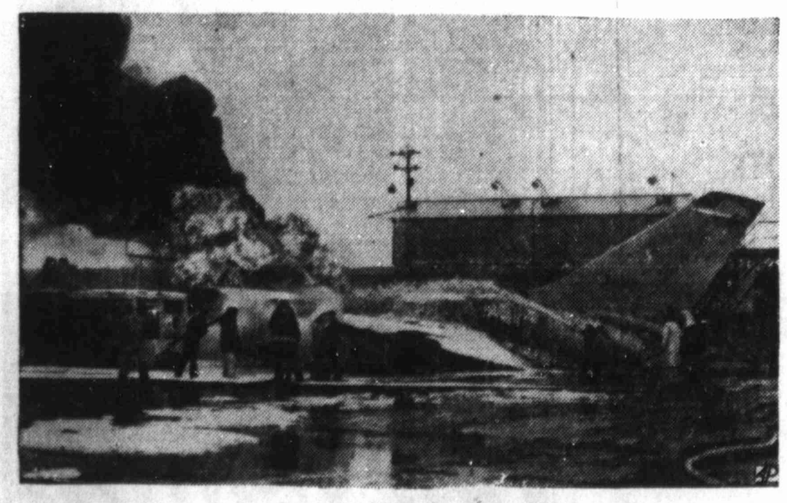

Ysidro Ruiz had a cut on the left side of the head and on the left shoulder. Carpenter was cut on the right arm. Their injuries were superficial.

Mrs. Barrington, Oldfield reported, substantiated the version of the story told by her husband.

The Ruizes and Carpenter claimed that they were attacked by Barrington and contended the fight took place on their property, Oldfield said. The officer added that he carefully studied the scene and to all appearances, the fight was on Barrington's lot.

He said he is continuing his investigation. Barrington was not arrested. Monday he plans to have the three victims, Barrington and his wife go to to the office of the district attorney where statements will be taken.

What further action will develop in the case, be said, will depend on outcome of this hearing.

B-58 Explosion Kills One

One man was killed and 13 others injured when this supersonic B-58 jet bomber exploded and burned on the parking ramp at the Convair plant in Fort Worth. A spark was believed to have ignited the plane's fuel supply.

THE WEEK

Senate conferees and finally the President.

Howard County commissioners named a supervisory committee last week for the new county airport. The five men named will be changed with setting up operation rules, etc. and seeing that the new facility is properly administered. All of which points up the nearness of completion for the port.

* * *

Monday should be a big day for the Capehart housing project. The first families are due to move into the new 460-unit (now 458, thanks to a fire which all but destroyed one duplex) development.

* * *

A new lateral road was suggested to the commissioners court — one that would begin on the west side of Cosden and then proceed in an easterly direction along its north side, then turning north to the Snyder highway. Among other things, this might provide Cosden with a more direct connection with the Snyder highway and the new airport, for that matter.

* * *

The city commission elected to include more territory in its aerial mapping contract. As a result the 42 section contract was awarded to International Aerial Mapping Company of San Antonio on a figure of $16,128, or about $1,000 less than for the previous apparent low bidder on a lesser amount of mapping.

* * *

Registration for the citywide summer recreation program will begin Saturday. Parents are asked to bring their children up to the Ritz theatre for a show while they sign up for the youngsters. There will be activities for every grade school child, and there will be day camps and swimming, too, as well as special activities for teen-agers.

* * *

Continuing our parade of conventions, the Moose lodges of Texas are meeting here. Around 200 delegates are expected to take part in the gathering for their fast-growing organization which has almost trebled in four years.

* * *

Petitions asking for inclusion in the proposed 150-block assessment paving program will be started soon. The city commission gave the green light to Thompson, Benson and Nash, who are handling the preliminaries and engineering work. With a backlog of some 85 blocks on file, this is apt to get to be a first-come-first served proposition.

* * *

City commissioners also pegged July 11 as the date for a city-wide referendum on a proposal for seeking public housing units. The Civic Improvement League first made a request several months ago for establishment of a housing authority, and the July vote is for the purpose of determining community opinion.

* * *

Don Hill, district director for the National Safety Council, told a group of civic leaders here Tuesday that the city is equipped to move ahead with a revitalized Citizens Traffic Commission. However, a sort of public officials safety committee is needed to match strides to make a safety program effective he said.

Williamson & Barnes No. 1 King loomed as a Fusselman producer northeast of here, making more than 150 barrels of oil and about 10 per cent water. Whether this is an extender to the Big Spring Fusselman field or a new discovery will have to await developments.

Car Hops Ledge, Driver Not Injured

William Gordon Fuller, 36, of Big Spring, was apparently uninjured when his 1952 Pontiac overturned on W. 5th Saturday evening.

The accident occurred about 7:45 p.m. His vehicle, proceeding west on the dirt road, topped a small rise and careened over a five-foot ledge, landing upside down within ten feet of a residence.

Inside were Mrs. M. W. Weatherman with her small children who witnessed the accident from the living room in her 1511 W. 5th home.

The road comes to a dead end at the residence.

Fuller was placed in the city jail overnight.

Quartet Fined For Spotlight Hunting

GARDEN CITY — Four Midlanders, ranging in age from 15 to 29, were fined $20.50 each in Justice of the Peace W. C. Underwood's court Friday night.

They pleaded guilty to charges that they had been hunting with a spotlight.

Sheriff Buster Cox and Deputy Royce Pruitt arrested the quartet about 10:20 p.m. Cox said they were shooting a high-powered rifle from the highway. Two had hunting licenses, he said.

Crippled Workers Turn Out Goods In Dallas Workshop

DALLAS (AP) — A former banker runs a metal stamping machine with his one good hand and foot.

A graduate school teacher whose right side is twisted by cerebral palsy sharpens drills.

A former Marine whose feet were shattered in a parachute jump salvages transistor headers.

These are among some of the 60 handicapped who largely are self supporting as employes in workshop of the United Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Dallas County.

Most are cruelly crippled. Some have speech defects.

The workshop is the only one of this kind in the Southwest.

Work sub - contracted by Dallas firms has made the shop nearly self supporting, says energetic Mrs. Juliette McIntosh Gratke, executive director of the association.

The one-time banker at Hamilton, Tex., Elmo Waldrop, 49, was a state insurance inspector until a car crash left him partially paralyzed. Miss Janice Ogle, 31, was unable to find a school position after graduating from Texas Tech in 1954.

The former paratrooper—Leroy (Chief) Lookinglass, an Indian from Lawton, Okla.—supports a wife and four small children on his shop pay which augments his service compensation.

The work which Dallas firms farm out to the shop includes mimeographing, packaging, transistor salvage, painting, stamping and inspection.

For instance, the shop has reclaimed more than five million transistor headers for Texas Instruments, Inc. These devices, which have replaced many vacuum tubes in radios and electronic devices, are cleaned, straightened and inspected in the shop.

"We've had absolutely no trouble on volume work they've done for us, says Marvin Lane, manufacturing engineer of Texas Instruments.

Adds Jack Melton, general foreman, Temco Aircraft Corp., "Our standards are extremely rigid in drill grinding, and their work has to be, and is, superior to meet those standards."

The workers are recommended by organizations which help the handicapped. They then must pass a medical examination.

Wages at the shop presently average from 35 cents to $1.50 hourly, depending on the skill of the worker.

Early Lamesa Resident Dies

LAMESA — Funeral rites for Mrs. B. F. Painter, 79, for half a century a resident of Lamesa and for 62 years an active member of the Primitive Baptist Church, will be at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Services will be in First Baptist Church in Lamesa with the Rev. Jack West, DeLeon, and the Rev. Glenn Williams, Muleshoe, officiating. Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park with Higginbotham Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Painter died at her Lamesa home at 1 a.m. Saturday following a prolonged illness.

She was born May 29, 1879, in Coryell County, coming to Dawson County in 1909.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. I. M. Stafford, Mrs. S. C. McDougal, and Mrs. L. F. Jameson, and one son, C. G. Painter, all of Lamesa; two sisters Mrs. Lossie Williams and Mrs. L. F. Jameson, both of Gatesville; one brother, T. S. Reeves of Igora, two half-brothers, seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Lamesa Students Score In Latin

LAMESA — Nineteen Latin students at Lamesa High School have been ranked in high percentile brackets in the annual nation-wide Latin examinations given 24,000 students in 500 high schools.

Awards were made on two levels for first and second year students.

Sandra Jordan, a second year Latin student, received a special citation for scoring in the 98-99 percentile bracket. In 1958 three students received awards on this level. They were Klata Woodul, Donald Wilton and Carol Lee.

Second year students in the 90-98 percentile group were Marcia Petty, Lynda Gorman, Bill Petteway, Ruby Barron, Jimmy Peterson, Georgia Grissom and Mike Miller. First year students in this group were Don Garner, Joy Lawler, Konnie Clearman, Maurice Davis, Wanda Kile and Danny Richardson.

Five students ranked in the 87-90 percentile group. They were Ruth Ann Scott, Charlotte Simmons, Janice Lippard, Peggy Nutt and Mike Jenkins.

Moose Gathering For Big Convention

Delegates from Moose lodges all over Texas were arriving in Big Spring Saturday. They will be here through today — attending the first convention of the Texas Assn. of the Loyal Order of the Moose. One hundred had registered Saturday.

Early registrants included members from lodges in Fort Worth, Houston, Pampa, El Paso, Dallas, Amarillo, Albuquerque, N.M., Ohio, Borger, Mission, San Antonio and Abilene.

By the time registration closes, the local lodge anticipates no less than 200 persons will be on hand for the convention. Twenty-eight lodges in Texas have signified they will send delegations and the local committee said Saturday they anticipated all will be on hand by early today.

Friday night's activities, which opened the convention, included the initiation of a class of new members at the Moose Lodge Hall. The ritual team from Odessa was on hand to conduct the initiation.

Dick Hall, Mission, deputy supreme governor of the Texas association, was speaker at the Friday evening meeting. He is presiding over sessions of the lodge being held at the Settles Hotel, which is headquarters for the convention.

H. T. Murphy, Amarillo, regional director of the Moose Order, is to be featured speaker for the convention. He is director of the lodges in Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Arrangements for the convention have been handled by R. H. (Smoky) Miller, district director for West Texas, and Frank Gibson, governor of the Big Spring lodge. Both Miller and Gibson live in Big Spring.

A big ball was the major event of Saturday night. It was in the Moose Lodge rooms and Clark Wynn and his Melody Men supplied the music.

A business session was conducted at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Belgian King Pays A Visit To Dallas

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

DALLAS (AP) — King Baudouin of the Belgians arrived here Saturday and had a field day with newsmen's photographic and tape equipment.

A scheduled 5 - minute press conference stretched to 40 minutes as the 28-year-old bachelor king quipped with reporters and photographers and examined their equipment.

The king, in an obviously happy frame of mind, teased the Texans present.

"I'm sorry I didn't get to visit Texas while it still was the biggest state," he said, referring to the admission of Alaska as a state.

Asked if he planned to play golf tomorrow with champion linksman Ben Hogan as expected, the king said, "Well, I don't know. But I'd like to very much." Plans for the golf match have not jelled, or if they have, the location is being kept secret.

Asked how well he played golf, the monarch quipped, "I'll tell you that tomorrow after I play Hogan."

The king kept the press conference on a light level. One newsman sought to ask a question about politics. The king simply looked at the reporter and did not reply. A United States protocol officer stopped that line of questioning.

The king flew here from Chicago for a formal dinner tonight.

He was met by George McGhee of Dallas, former U. S. Ambassador to Turkey.

The slender king wore a tan double-breasted suit, and brown shoes.

His speech at a $12.50 a plate dinner was sponsored by the Dallas Council on World Affairs, of which McGhee is president.

The monarch expressed a desire for a full day of privacy Sunday before flying on to El Paso Monday.

Sex Motive Established In Slaying Of 6-Year-Old

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Police said Saturday a sex motive definitely had been established in the kidnap-slaying of 6-year-old Ben Wagner.

They said the admitted slayer, 28-year-old Harold E. McLaughlin had for the first time acknowledged that he molested the child sexually before stabbing him to death April 4 on a lonely road in neighboring Ozaukee County.

McLaughlin, a convicted sex offender, who has been adjudged feeble-minded, has been placed in a state mental hospital pending his release for trial on first-degree murder charges. He is confined to a maximum security unit because he feared other inmates "might be rough" on him.

Detectives Chester Nowakowski and Charles Gilbert were in the car with McLaughlin when he was taken back to the Central State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Waupun where, on Wednesday, he admitted the Wagner slaying. McLaughlin had been committed to the institution after his arrest on a disorderly conduct charge involving another young boy.

The detectives said that minutes before arrival at the hospital, McLaughlin broke down under questioning and related that his motive in picking up the Wagner boy was to molest him.

Ben was abducted from an alley less than a block from his home while on his way to a store to buy ice cream. His stabbed and bruised body was found the next morning in a ditch along the lake shore road, five miles south of Port Washington in Ozaukee County.

Rare Public Appearance

Italian film director Roberto Rossellini and his girl friend, Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta of India, make one of their rare appearances in public together at the film festival in Cannes, France. Mrs. Das Gupta has been living in seclusion in France for some time. Rossellini, whose separation from actress Ingrid Bergman has never been finally approved by Italian courts, has avoided questions about whether he and Mrs. Das Gupta intend to marry.

Ike Honorary Classmate Of Air Cadets

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — President Eisenhower, on a weekend visit to Colorado, Saturday became an honorary member of the new Air Force Academy's first graduating class.

At the academy, situated north of Colorado Springs and 55 miles south of Denver, the smiling President also received an honorary bachelor of science degree.

Eisenhower accepted the degree from Cadet Col. Herbert A. Adamson of Brigham City, Utah, the cadet wing commander. The academy's commencement is June 3.

The President flew in from Washington for the colorful ceremony in the dining hall on the 17,800 - acre academy grounds tucked at the edge of the rampart range of the snowcapped Rocky Mountains.

Immediately after touring the academy, Eisenhower flew on to Denver with his four small grandchildren and their father and mother, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, for a stay until Sunday morning before returning to Washington.

Here in Denver, the President joined his wife, who arrived by train earlier this week to visit her ailing mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, who was 81 last Wednesday.

After getting his honorary degree, the President told the cadets standing in hushed silence in the dining hall that "to receive this honorary membership in the class of '59 is an honor I'll never forget."

The President remained at the academy a little more than two hours, then was driven back to his plane.

This is his third visit to Colorado since his famous heart attack in September 1955. He arranged to spend Saturday night at the Brown Palace Hotel and he and the First Lady, with their family, will leave for Washington about 11 a. m., MST, Sunday.

Muny Pool To Be Opened For Two Days Of Early Swimming

Due to early warm weather, the public will be able to get in a couple of days early swimming this year before formal opening date.

Dan Lewis, in charge of the three city pools, and R. V. Foresyth, City Street Department superintendent, have announced May 29 as regular first day of the summer swim season.

But the public will be able to hit the water on two days before then, May 23-24, when the Municipal pool is open between two special events. On May 22 the Runnels Junior High will have the pool for a party. On the 23 and 24, Saturday and Sunday, the public have it.

"It's because we've been having such early hot weather and because we've had so many telephone calls wanting the pool open," said Foresyth. "We figured we could give the people a couple of early days."

The pool is to be closed May 25-26-27, during the last school week, and on the 28th the Big Spring High School seniors have it reserved for a party.

Unless school plans are made, May 29 will be first day for Lakeview and Latin American pools.

The swimming premises will be open daily from May 29 until Labor Day or the first day of school in September.

Regular pool hours are from 1 until 8 p.m. But in the mornings, said Lewis, such organizations as the YMCA, Baptist encampment and Boy Scouts will have swimming classes.

Lewis and Chop Van Pelt, his assistant, have attended special clinics and have received swimming pool operators licenses. The two, coaches in the Big Spring school system, have never had a serious accident under their operation. There have been, however, injuries such as foot cuts.

Van Pelt and his three lifeguard assistants, Buddy Barnes, Don Anderson, and Brandt Baize, are experienced hands. All have passed Red Cross life saving training course, and Baize, for example, has directed pools in Abilene.

They also vacuum clean the pool before daily use and keep the entire premises sanitary.

Foresyth already has had his crews out to the three pools—Municipal at City Park, Lakeview near the Negro high school on NW 8th, and the Latin-American pool on NE 8th—and said all three are ready for use.

Fresh coats of paint have been applied and the pre-opening clean-up campaign is about finished.

Moree Sawtelle, director of the Red Cross for Howard and Glasscock counties, urges swimmers to help maintain Big Spring's good safety record.

Fortunately, Mrs. Sawtelle says, there were no serious accidents in the pools last summer.

"The Red Cross gave no official award for life-saving either," she said, "in fact, I can't recall even a recommendation for one to an individual."

It may be because many swimmers have had life saving training and have urged others to have precaution while swimming. Last summer the Red Cross awarded some 70 life saving training certificates.

Three schools, one in each summer month, will also be held this year. The 15-hour course will be given over a 10-day period, probably at night.

Besides teaching valuable training that may save someone's life, the course awards a certificate that entitles one to additional training to become an instructor. With Red Cross training a person can become a lifeguard.

Instructors of life saving training are Phil Puckett, Kirk Faulkner, Nancy Smith, James Paul Miller, James Mason and George Clark.

Each has had Red Cross Aquatic School training at either Palestine or Ardmore, Okla., said Mrs. Sawtelle.

There is no charge for the summer courses, and junior and senior divisions are made in the program for above and below the 16-year-old age level.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning in the Kiker and Son Chapel, with Father Thomas Quinlivan officiating. Burial was in the Colorado City Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, two brothers, Frank Eisha of Lansing, Ill., and Frank of Worth, Ill.; three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Susnjara of Chicago, Mrs. Anna Krueger of Worth, Ill., and Mrs. Josephine Morowski of Chicago.

Good Training Evident In School Band Concert

As far as band music is concerned, we have an excellent set-up here in Big Spring.

One band director catches the kids young, gives them thorough basic training, and sends them onward to the second band director, who polishes the young musicians and furthers their fundamental love and knowledge of music.

It is a system we would be wise to keep, and not sit back and wait for the directors, who are only human, to be offered better positions elsewhere.

These thoughts, among others, ran through this critic's mind during the Friday evening annual spring concert of the Big Spring High School band, and the Goliad and Runnels Junior High School bands.

The main purpose of a school band is not to add to the noise level at Friday night football games. Only a handful of people pay much attention at halftime anyway. That main purpose is to further the education in, and the love of, music on the part of the school children. And as far as the public is concerned, it is in concerts like that of Friday evening that a school band fulfills its civic function.

It was in the Friday concert that the dedication of our two directors was evident, for how a band plays is 90 per cent up to the director. The two to whom laurels are given are Douglas Wiehe, director of the high school band, and Tommy Frye, junior high school director.

A nearly-filled city auditorium greeted the musicians, and the audience gave them good applause. The audience in turn was treated to that rare event in any high school band concert — excellent sound, with little or no fluttering that comes from inexperienced lips.

The bandsmens' posture was good and their instrument movements were nearly all in unison—both signs of good training. The many difficult passages were well executed, and there was little of the more simple type of composition on the program.

Especially notable, at least to an old bass player, was the fact that the bass section actually was obtaining the bass viola sound—and that takes tender care on the part of the player.

There was a bit too much noise in the rear of the auditorium, as one expects with such a preponderance of children, but the musicians weren't fazed. Their sound level was high enough to overcome the competition, and there was no indication whatever of the soft-keyed bashfulness that so often afflicts a school band in public concert.

A high point of the program was the trumpet solo by John Haynie, guest soloist from North Texas State College. His interpretation of the Haydn "Concerto for Trumpet" was highly pleasing, and his accompaniment by the high school band was always at the correct level—never enough to drown him out, never so little as to leave him dangling there.

There were two other "guests." Mrs. Wiehe played oboe for the high school band, and Mrs. Haynie helped fill in the flute section.

Another highlight was the premiere of a composition by Frye, titled "Chorale and March."

Haynie Saturday closed out his Big Spring weekend with a clinic and recital in HCJC Auditorium.

HCJC Stages Season's Final Big Musical Program Today

The season's last major musical program at HCJC will be staged at 4 p.m. today in the college auditorium.

Featured will be the brass ensemble and choir. The program will be the first concert appearance of the ensemble, directed by Douglas Wiehe, high school band director who is working with the college in an attempt to form a Jayhawk band.

The brass ensemble will play two selections — "Sarabande and Carillon" by Couperin, and "Fugue for Four Brasses" by Tuthill. Members of the ensemble are Jerry Buie and Alan Glaser, cornet; and Leon Byrd, Phil Oliphant and Al Speary, trombone.

The main portion of the concert will be given over to the performance of Schubert's "Mass No. 4 in C" by the choir. It will be the first time this work has been performed in Big Spring, and possibly in the Southwest.

Schubert wrote several concert masses, some of great length and others considerably shorter. The "Mass No. 4 in C" is one of the shorter ones. It is divided into six divisions, and the printed program will contain the complete Latin words and their English translations.

Schubert was known for his beautiful melodies. Alternating with choral passages of great depth and beauty are solo passages for vocal quartet. These soloists will include Joyce Howard and Marilyn Newsom, sopranos; Ruth Ann Stephenson, mezzo-soprano; Robert Clinton, tenor; and Hubert Murphy, bass.

The three women soloists are not members of the choir, but will appear as guest soloists for the performance, as will Clinton, director of choral music at Snyder High School. Murphy is a regular member of the choir and is a music major at HCJC.

The choir is under the direction of Ira Schantz, director of choral music and vocal instructor at HCJC. Schantz has been thoroughly active in nearly every musical field in Big Spring and surrounding communities, and has worked his choir into unprecedented prominence.

Jack Hendrix, who will be pianist for the Schubert number, is head of the music department at HCJC and teaches piano, organ and music theory. Miss Howard, music teacher in the public schools, is active in area musical programs, and sings for a great number of religious, cultural and civic functions. She and Schantz were members of the All-America Chorus that toured Europe last year.

Mrs. Newsom is one of the best known sopranos in West Texas, and often appears in concerts of all types in surrounding cities. She is also active locally, as is Mrs. Stephenson.

The concert is open to the public, and no admission fee will be charged.

Members of the choir are:

Sopranos — Mary Ruth Asbill, Janice Dixon, Sherley Nowlin and Patsy Potter; contraltos — Janet Carpenter, Peggy Francis, Avanel Greenwood, Evelyn Hardin, Marilyn Lampson, Ritchie Lawrence, Glendene Philley and June Vaughn; tenors — Frank Hardesty Jr. and Ronnie Phillips; basses — Haley Haynes, Hubert Murphy, Harlen Thornton, Dean Threadgill and Fred White.

Because of the sacred nature of the Schubert composition, program directors have requested that no applause follow the performance.

Home Building Ahead In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas home building has kept ahead of the national average and at a rate higher than in 1958, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Residential building authorizations are 31 per cent above the comparable 1958 total and "considerably in excess of the national showing."

Urban building construction in April amounted to $113,857,000 compared to March's $114,290,000.

An estimated $72,534,000 in new residential building was authorized in April, an amount one per cent greater than authorized in March and considerably higher after seasonal adjustments are made.

"The improvement from the preceding March is strong evidence that the declining trend of the index in recent months signified no serious fall-off in residential building in Texas," the report said.

"Housing starts nationally are exceeding last year's and there is no apparent reason to believe that activity in Texas will show less strength than U. S. homebuilding," it continued.

Bid Deadline Plan Adopted

Adoption of the four-hour bid deadline program has been approved by 75 contractors in West Texas, including several from Big Spring.

The plan is designed to eliminate the last minute bid changes generally practiced which do not allow the contractor ample time to adequately prepare his final estimate to be submitted to the owner.

The contractors who have agreed to abide by this plan include those from Wichita Falls, Big Spring, Lubbock, Midland, San Angelo and Abilene. The plan goes into effect on June 1.

There are five basic points in the bid deadline plan but it is essentially built on an agreement that no bids for material or labor will be accepted later than four hours prior to bid opening time.

TB Board To Meet

The board of the Howard County Tuberculosis Assn. will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (SC) — Howard County Junior College of Big Spring was granted the privilege of hosting the 1960 National Junior College Track and Field Meet, it was announced here Saturday night.

The meet will be staged May 20-21 and will be co-sponsored by the American Business Club of Big Spring. L. L. (Red) Lewis, HCJC track mentor, and Harold Davis, the school's basketball coach, were the two who bid successfully for the meet on behalf of Big Spring.

The giant show has been staged in Hutchinson for many years. ABC spokesmen said they would make an effort to get California schools to compete in the meet. West Coast schools have not sent teams to Hutchinson for the past several seasons.

Hutchinson JC won team honors in this year's meet, which terminated Saturday night, scoring 55 points.

Three Texas schools finished behind Hutchinson. Arlington State was second, with 46 points; followed by Tarleton of Stephenville, with 35; and HCJC of Big Spring, 34½.

Then came Coffeyville, Kan., 24½, in fifth; Grand Rapids, Mich.; and New York JC, tied for sixth, with 24 each; Phoenix, Ariz., eighth, 22; Rix, Idaho, ninth, 21; and McCook, Neb., tenth, with 19.

11 Under 80 In City Meet

The number of entries in the City Golf Tournament came to 73 as several qualifiers posted scores in Saturday's extra-day grace. Qualifying was to have ended Friday.

Golfers have been assigned flights — there are four 16-man flights and one nine-man bracket — but pairings were still to be made as Shorty Gideon, Muny Course manager, worked late last night.

Action in the match play begins Thursday and golfers have four days to play first rounds. Medalist, flight winners and consolation winners will receive prizes in the tournament.

Only one linkster, Jim Newsom, has broken the 70's, his a 69. Jack Starnes had also recorded a four-under-par 69 but his score was later corrected to 71.

Snead Fires 59 In Own Festival

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP)—Sam Snead, in the twilight of one of golf's greatest careers, shot his best competitive round and one of the best ever in the United States Saturday — a fantastic 59—in the third round of the Sam Snead Festival.

Snead, who will be 47 on May 27, was 11 strokes under par on the 6,317-yard course where he has been pro for more than a quarter of a century. Only one other competitive 59 for 18 holes has been recorded, by Earl Fry of Alameda in a northern California tournament on a municipal course.

The Professional Golfers Assn. tournament record low is 60. It has been carded by seven golfers, the most recent being Snead himself in winning the 1957 Dallas Open.

The barrage of 9 birdies and an eagle left Snead with a 54-hole total of 196—14 under par—going into the final round of the $10,000 affair Sunday.

Snead's score does not count as a PGA competitive record because the tournament here is not PGA-sponsored.

"This is my highlight, I always wanted to break 60 in a tournament one time," drawled the lanky mountaineer.

Snead, who has won 4 of the past 11 tournaments on his home grounds, for once putted like a demon. His eagle 3 on the 483-yard 15th hole was scored on a 35-foot putt.

He has an 8-stroke lead over runner-up Dutch Harrison of St. Louis, who started the day leading Snead by a stroke with a 36-hole of 136. Harrison carded his third straight 68 for a 54-hole total of 204.

Husky Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., fired a 66 to move into third place at 205 followed by Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver at 206. Oliver also had a 66 Saturday.

Braves Blank Dodgers, 6-0

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves supported Bob Buhl's superb four-hit iptching with an explosion of three homers in the third inning and blanked Los Angeles 6-0 Saturday night before a whopping crowd of 59,389.

Hank Aaron slammed one of the third inning homers, extending his hitting streak to 20 games, and added another homer in the ninth. He now has 19 for the season.

The loss dropped Los Angeles into third place, three percentage points back of San Francisco. Milwaukee leads both the Giants and Dodgers by 2½ games.

Littler Leads At H. Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Steady Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., made his move Saturday in the Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament and annexed the 54-hole lead with an even 200 total.

Littler showed totals of 67-69-64 for the three rounds.

Big George Bayer, the second round leader, slipped to a 1-under-par 71 Saturday and dropped into second place at 202. Bayer took a 5-stroke edge into the third round after firing a course record-tying 63 Friday.

Littler was the third leader the tournament has had in three days. Masters champion Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., jumped out in front with a 63 on opening day.

Doug Ford of Paradise, Fla., and Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla., shared third place with 206s.

Tigers Host Carlsbad Club In 3 O'Clock Game Today

The Big Spring Tigers will seek to improve upon a 4-0 won-lost baseball record in a 3 p.m. contest with the Carlsbad Lions at Steer Park.

Admission fee is 50 cents for adults but only half that for service men and children.

Carlsbad brings a solid, tough lineup to town and one sure to give the Tigers a lot of trouble. Joe Cadenhead, a young right-hander, will probably take the mound for the Bengals. Danny Valdes and Augustin Fierro will be available for relief mound chores.

Other starters for the locals, and their positions, include:

Jennings and Tredaway are new to the club. Jennings at one time performed for Big Spring High School while Tredaway played for the Midland Bulldogs.

The Tigers own two victories over Lamesa and Merkel.

Scot Breaks Racing Mark

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —Johnny Thomson, a tough little Scotsman from Boyertown, Pa., drove a radically different race car to an Indianapolis Motor Speedway one-lap record Saturday and earned the pole position for the 43rd 500-mile auto race May 30.

A crowd estimated at 90,000 saw Thomson, veteran of six 500s and 21 years of top level auto racing, push the record to 146.552 miles an hour. The old one-lap mark for the 49-year-old track was 146.508 set last year by Ed Elisian of Oakland, Calif.

Thomson's average for the 10-mile trial, 145.908, was a shade under the 145.974 record set last year by Dick Rathmann of San Gabriel, Calif., who did 144.248 in Saturday's trials.

The bright pink Thomson racer, built by Lujie Lesovsky of Inglewood, Calif., has the engine installed on its side with the drive shaft running down the right side of the car. The normal engine installation in speedway cars, either flat or tilted, puts the driveshaft on the left side.

The Pennsylvania veteran will share the front row on Memorial Day with Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., who qualified at 145.452 in a new Kuzma owned by Pete Schmidt of St. Louis, and Jim Rathmann, Dick's brother.

Jim Rathmann did 144.433 Saturday in the Hopkins Special in which he set a world's race record of 170.262 on the higher banked Daytona Beach track last month.

Ten Speedway veterans and two hot rookies made qualifying runs. Bobby Grim of Indianapolis, king of the country's dirt tracks, turned in the fifth best speed of 144.225 in his first shot at the 500-mile lineup.

Other qualifiers were Rodger Ward, Los Angeles; Bob Veith, Oakland, Calif.; Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Gene Hartley, Indianapolis; Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; rookie Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., and Duane Carter, Indianapolis.

Trials to cut the 61 entrants to 33 starters will continue Sunday and next weekend.

Texas A&M Wins

WACO (AP)—Pitcher Percy Sanderson gave up three scattered singles and drove in two runs today as he led Texas A&M to the undisputed Southwest Conference baseball championship with a 3-1 victory over Baylor.

Both teams played errorless ball.

Tribe Blasts Boston Sox, 12-6, Behind Herb Score

BOSTON (AP)—Cleveland kept its grip on the American League lead Saturday by defeating Boston 12-6 as Rocky Colavito contributed his 10th and 11th homers and southpaw Herb Score an unusual 6-hitter.

Colavito moved more than a quarter of the way to his 1958 total of 41 home runs and raised his batting average 13 points to .346.

The 25-year-old Bronx, N.Y., native capped a 4-run first inning Indians' assault on loser Frank Baumann with a towering 3-run fly into the left field screen. He hit a solo drive in the fifth and singled in the ninth.

Score, who had a no-hitter until Dick Gernert clubbed a 2-run homer with none out in the fifth, gave up the other Red Sox tallies in the sixth when Boston batted around.

He was the victim of 3 singles, 3 walks and Gernert's sacrifice fly in that span but held on to complete his third triumph of the season. Score fanned 9.

Billy Martin, Vic Power and George Strickland drove in two runs apiece for Cleveland while Jim Piersall and Russ Nixon added one each.

R. L. LASATER LOOKS FOR RUNNING ROOM

Golds Defeat Whites, 22-0

The Golds, benefitting from fine outside running of R. L. Lasater, mauled the Whites, 22-0, in the Big Spring High School intrasquad game ending spring training Friday afternoon.

The Whites had a couple of good opportunities to score but couldn't quite make it. The Gold line, with big Mack Alexander standing out like a sore thumb, was double tough when the going was toughest.

Lasater scored two touchdowns and two extra points on a plunge through the middle. Both the TD's came in the fourth quarter, once on a "counter" play and the other time on a pitch. He traveled to pay dirt about 20 yards on each occasions. Mike Hughes blocked well on the runs.

Ronnie Clanton raced 35 yards for the Golds' first tally on a "belly" play in the second period. Clanton also added the two extra points on a pass.

Quarterbacks Tommy Whatley, Jerry Tucker and Dexter Pate all showed to advantage for the teams. Whatley stood out on defense for the Golds and blocked well.

Pate, who'll be a sophomore next fall, occasionally threw the ball behind his intended receiver but he appeared cool and collected, very much so for a freshman.

Mike Gilbert, another soph-to-be, glistened the Gold backfield. Jack Irons and David Maberry are other sophs-to-be who will be heard from next fall.

Coaches remarked following the game that they thought this had been their best spring training since Al Milch took over as head mentor three springs ago.

The Whites got in close in the first quarter but missed on a pass in the left flat that would have meant a score. In the fourth, they moved very close but desperation passing again went for nil and the Golds took over.

Gene Salazar and Alf Cobb both showed to advantage on defense for the Whites.

All in all, the downfield blocking sparkled for both teams.

The game was played in near perfect weather — for football, that is. It was cloudy and cool, just right for the players.

Miears gave up only one hit, a third inning single to James Parker, and hit home runs in the first to account for six runs. Freddie fanned 12, walked seven and hit a batter.

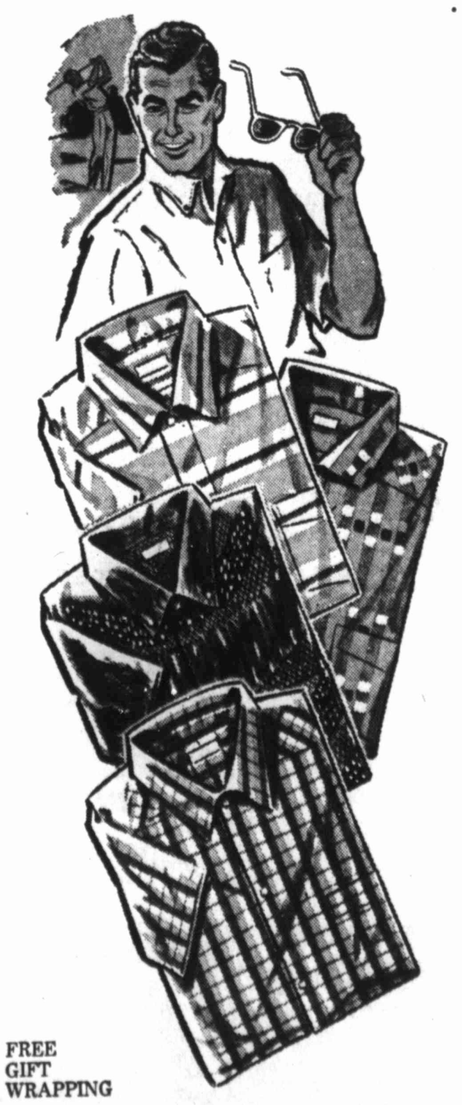

Victor Reid, the losing hurler, fanned five and walked four.

The Jets had beaten the Pigs, 21-17, in a suspended game earlier in the evening, needing only one run to turn the trick. Johnny Hughes hit a two-run homer in the extra inning to decide that one.

Baxter Moore was the winning pitcher, Bud Bartlett the loser.

LARY IS VICTIM

Baltimore Romps On Tigers, 6-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore broke up a tight pitching duel in the sixth inning by jumping on Frank Lary for 4 big runs on only 2 hits and the help of a costly error to defeat Detroit 6-1 Saturday.

Bob Nieman started the big frame by beating out a slow infield roller for a single. Gus Triandos, sacrificing Nieman to second, made first safely when Lary bobbled the dumped ball.

After Billy Klaus sacrificed the pair along and Chico Carrasquel took a third strike, the Tigers walked Billy Gardner intentionally. The Oriole pitcher, Hoyt Wilhelm, got a very unintentional walk, then Willie Tasy, the rookie sensation, unloaded a triple over Al Kaline's head, clearing the bases.

The Tigers got nine hits off Wilhelm's dancing knuckle ball but were unable to bunch them for any serious threat. Baltimore had only eight hits.

Soph League Has An Ample Supply Of Bat Wielders

By The Associated Press

One thing about the Sophomore League—it doesn't lack for hitters. Heavy hitters, too.

Averages show 27 players batting above .300 with 6 over the .400 mark. The biggest clouter is Chico Telleria of San Angelo, who is doing .455 with 20 hits in 44 times at bat.

The guy with the most hits is Ken Wood of Hobbs, with 21.

Hank Wainwright of Midland has the most mileage from hits. He has four home runs to tie Bob Stotsky and Larry Vincent of Alpine, Chris Krug of Hobbs and Bob Carothers of Plainview for the lead in this department and he has batted in 21 runs to top these.

Gary Westergren of Alpine leads in doubles with six; John Mason and Bill Holt of San Angelo and John Van Ornum of Odessa are tied for the lead in triples with three apiece, and Jesse White of Carlsbad has the most runs, 21. Carothers leads in total bases with 36.

Bob Funge of Hobbs has a sensational .64 earned run average to lead pitchers. The heaviest winners are Howard Hughie of Hobbs and Don Schwall of Alpine, who have three decisions each. Jack Hanes of Plainview tops in strikeouts with 43.

San Angelo leads in club batting with .299 and Artesia in club fielding with .957.

Big Ten May Soon Kill Bowl Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten athletic elders meet in Ann Arbor, Mich., next week, apparently to bury the Rose Bowl football pact.

The burial will take place at the conference's spring meeting, held in connection with the 59th Big Ten outdoor track meet at the University of Michigan Friday and Saturday.

The league's 10 members already have established a 5-5 split on renewal of the Rose Bowl contract with the Big Four offshoot of the Pacific Coast Conference which disbands June 30. A 5-5 stalemate automatically kills any proposed Big Ten legislation.

Braves Go High For Bear Star

WACO (AP)—How to get $40,000 to play baseball: Be on the Baylor University team.

In three seasons Baylor has had three boys sign contracts for that amount.

The latest is Garnet Steubing, Baylor freshman pitcher from San Antonio. He signed over the weekend with Milwaukee for a $40,000 bond contract.

Two Teams in Tie For Bowling Lead

Boatler gained a 2-2 tie with the Don't Know team and thus stayed in a first place deadlock in the Metropolitan Couples league last week.

Nabor's ripped the No Names, 4-0, and the Kadnaps strapped Poncho, 3-1.

Nabor's had the high game and series, 830-2269. Don Hale had a 265-661 single game and series. On the women's side of the ledger, Nadene Cortez led with 188-446.

Splits converted were Jean Carter's 4-5-7 and Grover Cunningham's 2-7.

One week is left to decide the title holder.

Fireball brought in the high team series, 2736, and Jack's racked up a 993 high game. Don Fisher, Fireball, had high 563 single series with Otis Watson's 532 for Jack's in the running.

High individual game honors were split between G. D. Johnston, Sinclair, and Watson, each with 204.

The Commercial league also recently elected officers for next year. Presiding officer chosen was Harry Combs; vice president, P. W. Shepherd; secretary-treasurer, A. L. Burzynski; publicity, T. K. Price; and rules committeemen, J. B. Gibson, Don Fisher and Keith Henderson.

6-To-1 Shot Wins Preak

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Royal Orbit zoomed from outer space around the middle of the track on the final turn in the $190,300 Preakness Stakes Saturday and drew away to a four-length victory over Sword Dancer.

First Landing, the surprise slight favorite ridden by Eddie Arcaro, wound up ninth in the 83rd running of the classic.

It was the second major triumph in a row for horses raced in the golden state of California in the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown.

Tomy Lee, from the Pacific slopes, snatched the roses by a nose over Sword Dancer in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, but elected to skip Maryland's famous three-year-old contest.

Marauder got into heaps of trouble when he made his late move in the derby behind tiring horses, and wound up fourth in a field of 17.

But Willie Harmatz, riding in a Preakness for the first time, gave a Pimlico crowd of 31,506 plenty to cheer about as the well-liked Sword Dancer was just another runner-up in the field of 11 starters.

The Claiborne Farm's Dunce, a disappointing seventh in the derby, came in third three lengths behind Sword Dancer and 2½ lengths ahead of L. G. Robinson's Marauder, the early pace setter.

Royal Orbit is owned by Helina Braunstein, a chic former New York actress and TV performer who lives in Beverly Hills, Calif. Her husband, Jacques Braunstein, died a few months ago.

She thinks Royal Orbit is the greatest race horse in the world, and was here to accept the record winner's check of $136,200. The largest net jackpot for a previous Preakness winner was the $98,005 hauled down by Calumet Farm's Faultless in 1947.

Royal Orbit, third choice in the mutuels, returned $15.20, $5.80 and $4.20 for $2.

Royal Orbit was clocked in 1:57 flat for the mile and 3-16ths on a fast track and under sunny skies in cool weather. This compared with the track record of 1:54 3-5 set by Nashua in winning the 1955 Preakness.

Winslow And Hall Head Stanton LL

STANTON — Yuell Winslow and Ed Hall were elected cochairmen of the Little League at a meeting of Stanton Jaycees recently at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Plans were made for Little League play to get under way the first of June. Four teams, the Reds, Blues, Greens and Golds, are to take part in the league.

O. L. Snodgrass was selected to serve as secretary-treasurer of the Little League. He is to also be in charge of the concession stand.

Pigs Decisioned By Cubs, 10-1

The Cubs won their first game of the American Little League season here Friday night, turning back the Pigs, 10-1.

Gary Miears pitched the win, limiting the Pigs to four hits, all singles. He fanned ten and walked only three.

Danny Maberry clubbed a double and a single for the winners while Bruce Bellamy drove out a three-run homer in the first.

Wayne Griffith had two singles for the losers.

Bruins Slide By Pirates

CHICAGO (AP)—An unearned run in the ninth inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday battle of homers.

Bobby Thomson and Walt Moryn a game which otherwise was a yr. hit homers for an early 2-0 Cub lead, but Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski and Dick Groat also homered to tie it at 2-2. Groat's homer off Cub reliefer Don Elston led off the Pirates ninth.

In the bottom of the ninth, catcher Hank Foiles dropped pitcher Harvey Haddix' called third strike on Alvin Dark.

After Dark reached first on the error, Ernie Banks singled, Moryn beat out a perfect bunt to fill the bases, and Thomson smashed a single off third baseman Don Hoak's glove to score pinch runner Chick King.

Mantle Error Ruins Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Ennis' 11t inning single gave the Chicago White Sox their eighth straight victory Saturday 4-3 over the New York Yankees after a costly 3-base error by Mickey Mantle in the ninth cost Bob Turley the triumph.

Nellie Fox walked and moved to second on Jim Landis' sacrifice to open the eleventh against Art Ditmar, third Yankee pitcher. After Sherm Lollar was walked intentionally, Ennis singled, scoring Fox.

Turley was within one out of a 3-2 victory in the ninth when Mantle misjudged Fox's fly ball and dropped it for a 3-base error. Turley walked Landis on a 3-2 pitch and Lollar singled past shortstop, driving in Landis with the tying run.

Chicago scored in the third on singles by Luis Aparicio and Fox and Landis' sacrifice fly. The White Sox stretched the lead to 2-0 in the fourth.

The Yanks got to Ray Moore for a run in the fourth and added two more in the seventh.

U. S. WALKER CUP TEAM TRIUMPHANT

By STERLING SLAPPEY

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — A trio of college boys new to international competition — Ward Wettlaufer, Jackie Nicklaus and Deane Beman — paced U.S. amateur golfers to a sweeping 9-3 Walker Cup victory over the British Saturday.

Wettlaufer, 23, and Nicklaus, just 19, played superb sub-par golf for crushing one-sided victories and young Beman, idle in Friday's team matches, came from behind to win a decision on the final green.

Two hardened veterans of Walker Cup play, Harvie Ward of San Francisco and Bill Hyndman III of Abington, Pa., contributed two other points in America's 16th Cup triumph, with only one defeat, in 37 years.

The British, shut out 4-0 in Friday's foursomes, salvaged some slight consolation in the final individual duels. They beat two of America's most celebrated amateur golf stars and added a third point with a comeback victory over the fourth member of the college group, Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga.

In the day's blue-ribbon match, Joe Carr, the British amateur champion from Ireland, snuffed out two strong rallies and whipped the team captain and reigning U. S. titlist Charlie Coe, 2 and 1. Reid Jack, the tough Scotsman from Glasgow, smashed the colorful Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., 5 and 3.

Aaron, 21-year-old Gainesville, Ga., collegian, lost a nightmarish 2 and 1 decision to Alex Shepperson.

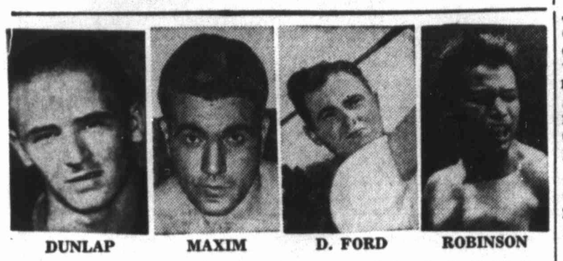

Wettlaufer, Hamilton College senior from Buffalo, N.Y., smashed Michael Lunt, 6 and 5. Nicklaus, from Columbus, Ohio, turned back Dick Smith, a Scotsman 22 years his senior, 5 and 4. Beman, 21, from Silver Spring, Md., battled back from 2-down at the end of the morning round to edge Michael Bonallack, 2 up.

Ward trounced Guy Wolstenholme, the English titleholder, 9 and 8. Hyndman, from Abington, Pa., had an easy time beating Doug Sewell, 4 and 3.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

DUNLAP MAXIM D. FORD ROBINSON

This writer was invited to the local football field the past week and was huddled with the Big Spring High School football team, where spokesmen asked that I let it be known to all interested that the players (1) endorsed the present coaching staff, (2) appreciated the type of football they were being taught, and (3) wanted to play out their high school eligibility under the present regime . . . Their actions, of course, were motivated by the news which came out of the school board meeting earlier in the week in which it was announced that the trustees had decided at this time not to extend the contract of Al Milch, the head mentor and athletic director . . . No matter how you, the reader, might stand on the issue, you must admire the boys for taking a positive stand and backing the staff to the hilt . . . As was stated in the story of the board meeting, the decision of the board was not final . . . Milch has a contract that extends through the 1959-60 school year and the board could alter its position at any time . . . Al says the board's refusal to act upon the matter did not surprise him very much but he felt it was time for the Board to publicly commit itself on him one way or another . . . Even though the extension wasn't forthcoming, he says he has no intention of quitting the post . . . There have been a few casualties in the Steer camp the past week . . . Back Jerry Dunlap broke one of his fingers for the second time since practice began while back Dean Lee had three front teeth knocked out while blocking for a ball carrier . . . Whereas it appeared six weeks ago Wayne Fields, the Steer all-state tailback, would go to the University of Houston, the situation has changed . . . At this writing, there's no telling where he will wind up . . . He may not make up his mind until the All-Star game in August . . . Rock Johnson, the local tackle, has been trying out with the San Angelo College football team, which is in spring training.

Some Bowling Operators Faring Poorly

The bowling trade is not the best business to be in, despite all you might have heard . . . Too many kegling alleys might be opening up . . . Operators of lanes in both Midland and Odessa have been experiencing an abundance of financial trouble . . . One has been closed and the other is on the verge of being shuttered . . . Webb AFB will again serve as the site of the Air Training Command's Southern District Softball tournament this year. . . . Officials of the Big Spring Tiger baseball club can't understand why they're not better supported at the gate . . . They play an entertaining brand of ball and their prices are within the reach of every fan . . . Harry Grayson, the veteran writer, really lowers the boom on Ford Frick, the baseball commissioner, in a recent article . . . The nicest thing Grayson said about the baseball czar was that he was "feeble" . . . Casey Stengel, the New York Yankee manager, says there'll never be a foot race between Mickey Mantle and Washington's Pedro Ramos, as long as he masterminds the Yanks . . . Ramos had proposed such a sprint . . . Casey says there's too much chance of his boy getting hurt . . . TCU athletes have won but six gold medals (symbolic of first place) in the Southwest Conference track meet in the last 34 years . . . Jerry Seay of DeKalb, Texas, will probably be the lone Texan in Army's starting lineup next fall . . . Jimmy Ray Smith, employed at Webb AFB here, passed up a chance to become head coach at New Home recently . . . Smith formerly was the junior high mentor at Coahoma . . . Doug Ford, the golf pro, refers to the last three holes of the Winged Foot golf course in New York, scene of this year's National Open, as "the valley of death" . . . They're lined with gold, however . . . Dudley Haas, the Corpus Christi athlete, may be the boy who eventually breaks Jesse Owens' broad jump record . . . Haas cleared 25 feet 1¾ inches in the State Meet, although declining his last three jumps . . . He's the son of Charlie Haas, the one-time University of Texas athlete, by the way.

Football Interest High In Arkansas

One critic of spring football training in Texas high schools insisted that a big school within the state once spent $30,000 for the spring endeavor but Al Milch, the local mentor, insists the cost of the local drills rarely, if ever, run more than $250 . . . San Angelo's Central High School reportedly was the only 2-AAAA school to vote for the abolishment of spring football and that certainly wasn't the idea of Bob Harrell, the head mentor . . . There's a move afoot in Class AAA schools now to restore spring football at that level. . . . Tom Marks, who is connected with the Goodyear store here, coached a Gerald Springer in Little League baseball at one time and he thinks the Gerald Springer who performed for the Rice Institute baseball team this spring is the same boy . . . Thirteen of the 15 boys who finished the baseball season for the San Angelo Bobcats will be eligible again in 1960 . . . Jack Wilkinson reportedly will not be around to coach them, however . . . Officials there reportedly want a man with some professional baseball experience . . . Wilkinson, in the opinion of most observers, gets 100 per cent out of his material and is an A-1 individual, in addition . . . Lee Galloway, who used to coach basketball at Sul Ross College but more recently has been at Reedley, California, College, recently was named head basketball and baseball mentor at Carroll College in Waukesha, Wisconsin . . . He's a graduate of Oklahoma State University . . . Football interest is high at the University of Arkansas. . . . The spring game there recently netted $15,000 . . . Joey Maxim, the former boxing champion, says Carmen Basilio should not be allowed to fight Sugar Ray Robinson again . . . Robinson knows well that Basilio is the only man in the Middleweight ranks he can beat and Basilio knows well that it will mean a big payday for him . . . He'll gamble on winding up on Easy Street even if it means detouring by way of Queer Street.

NEW GRANDSTAND AT RUIDOSO

OPENING DAY NEARING AT RUIDOSO TRACK

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — Ruidoso Downs will open its 13th season on Friday, May 29. The meet consists of 49-days — with racing every Friday, Saturday, Sunday and holidays — through the middle of September.

This year the 'Downs' will again offer another new look to the racing public. The grandstand, which was the last remnant of the old original track, has been replaced by a new and larger modern concrete and steel structure. The new stand was designed by Gene Hensley and offers the racing public more freedom of movement than any other stand in the Southwest.

The old concession stands were also thrown in the trash pile and these have been replaced by new ones with double their former capacity.

Along with the new physical structure, a new method of wagering has been added in the 12th race called the "Quiniela". This is very similar to the Daily Double — only the bettor tries to pick the horses that run 1-2.

43-Day Racing Campaign At Raton Opens May 23

RATON, N. M. (SC) — Owners will be shooting for the richest purse program in the history of the La Mesa Park race track here this season.

The inaugural show is scheduled for Saturday, May 23. In all, the program embraces 43 days of racing. The last day of racing is scheduled for Sept. 19.

The La Mesa Racing Association is offering at least one purse of $1,000 each Sunday.

Purses for the Raton Futurity and the Raton Derby will have an added money value of $4,000 each. Total purses for each of the feature attractions is expected to amount to $12,000.

The minimum purse will be $250 and to all purses will be added five per cent of the mutuel handle on that particular race.

A rotating electric odds board is being installed here by Jim Sullivan, supervisor for American Totalisator Company.

Stall problems are such a problem at the track that some of the horses running here will have to be stabled at the Los Animas Fair Grounds in Trinidad, Colo. Racing secretary Dennie Smith has received over 1,400 applications for stalls. Of the 718 stalls available at La Mesa, 582 are now occupied. The remaining 136 have been reserved for late arrivals now racing at Fonner Park, Grand Island, Nebraska. The Fonner Park meeting closed May 13.

There'll be four race dates in May, eight in June, nine in July, 14 in August and eight in September.

Cepeda Leads Giants To Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — First baseman Orlando Cepeda, benched three games for weak hitting, returned Saturday and drove in four runs with a single and a homer as San Francisco whipped Cincinnati 9-2.

Left-hander Johnny Antonelli, after giving up two runs in the first inning, settled down to register his fifth victory against two losses. He held the Reds to six hits.

Cincinnati starter Brooks Lawrence ran into a batting barrage in the fourth as the Giants scored six runs on as many hits. Cepeda singled home two runs that frame and smashed a 370-foot homer into the left field pavilion to score Leon Wagner ahead of him in the sixth.

Manager Bill Rigney had benched the big Puerto Rican youngster after he collected only 2 hits in 19 trips to the plate.

Oil Operators Searching For Time, Money Savers

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Cost conscious oilmen were easy to find at the 14th International Oil Exposition.

Operators are searching for time and money saving items.

Hundreds of exhibitors at the exposition showed new or modified equipment designed for economy as well as efficiency.

The recent recession set off an economy wave within the oil industry.

Crude production and products demand are increasing but the oilman continues to emphasize his cost reduction efforts. The improved conditions offer little hope for crude or products price increases.

A survey emphasizing spiraling costs was released to the industry last week.

The cost survey committee of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America estimates the costs of such major items as labor and equipment have increased more than 57 per cent since 1947-1949. Some of the increase has been offset by improved efficiency but prices have increased only 4 per cent.

A survey soon to be released will emphasize drilling costs. It is the second such study to be made jointly by IPAA, the American Petroleum Institute, and the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas. Assn.

The high cost of dry holes will be among the points to draw emphasis in the joint survey.

An average of 145 wells are expected to be completed by the domestic industry every 24 hours in 1959. Included will be 87 oil or gas producers and 58 dry holes. Each day's operations are expected to require over 111 miles of drill pipe costing over $65,100 a mile.

Cost saving items displayed here ranged from devices for rapid duplication of office records to portable drilling rigs that can be moved by helicopter.

Nearly a dozen chemical companies are emphasizing the latest processes for combating corrosion. In the past five years the industry has developed extensive programs to combat this high cost enemy.

General Electric Co. has a vehicle wheel that reduces maintenance by elimination of transmissions, axles and gearshifts.

The wheels utilize power from a single direct current generator. Four or more can be bolted to heavy equipment haulers.

Equipment for simultaneous recording of a complete log for wells was displayed by Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp.

Caterpillar Tractor Co. demonstrated to oilfield and pipeline contractors a tractor with special blade that reduces the time required to knock down and shear off trees from 1.71 hours per acre to 1.45 hours.

U.S. Steel has a new oil storage tank designed to reduce fabrication, freight and erection costs. The use of constructional alloy steel for the shell is estimated to save up to $14,000 per tank.

Cosden Promotes Veteran Employe

Cosden Petroleum Corp. has named Lowell Baird to serve as manager of lubrication sales.

The appointment, according to R. M. Johnson, vice president in charge of sales, fills a vacancy created by the recent retirement of former lubrication sales manager Dave Evans.

Baird has been with Cosden since Feb. 17, 1930. He was laboratory foreman until 1939. When the company opened its first products terminal at Sweetwater, Baird was overseer during its installation and first two years of operation. He had similar duties in the opening of two of Cosden's present terminals at Abilene and Arlington.

Beginning in 1949, he helped initiate Cosden's asphalt division. For the past three years, he has been in the lubrication department. In his new position he will supervise the marketing of Cosden's complete line of automotive and industrial lubricants, oils, and greases.

LOWELL BAIRD

Baird and his wife, Allene, make their home in Big Spring.

Interstate Oil Compact Back Before Congress For Renewal

WASHINGTON (AP) — In February, 1935, in the era of rich oil strikes in Texas and Oklahoma, representatives of several states met in Dallas, to seek a united front against waste of the nation's oil and gas resources.

Out of that meeting came the draft of an interstate oil compact for conservation of oil and gas. Legislatures of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Illinois, Colorado and Kansas ratified the compact in short order and in August of the same year Congress approved.

The compact now is back before Congress, for its eighth renewal, and there seems little doubt of a new extension for it.

A House Commerce subcommittee readily approved, after hearing the compact praised as a substantial success.

The compact, which now has 30 oil states as members, would be extended under the pending legislation, for four years from Sept. 1, 1959, when its present life expires.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House Commerce Committee wrote the extending legislation approved by the subcommittee after a brief hearing. The legislation will go before the full committee soon.

Harris and Navy Capt. M.V. Carson Jr., director of the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas, supported the extension at the hearing.

Carson recalled that in the 1920s and 1930s, when lush oil fields were being discovered in Texas and Oklahoma, there were no adequate conservation measures.

Then some oil men and state officials, he said, saw the need for conservation and that led to drafting of the compact.

The meeting at Dallas followed a conference of oil state representatives called by Gov.-elect E.W. Marland in Ponca City, Okla. in December 1934.

Carson said the primary purpose of the compact is to prevent the physical waste of oil and gas.

The compact is administered by a commission from headquarters in Oklahoma City. The commission operates through various committees whose overall job is to improve conservation practices. Recommendations resulting from these studies are made to the participating states.

Two Boys In Same Fix

Broken necks and toy handcuffs unite Douglas Helton, 7, below, and Steven W. Miller, 6, at a Dallas hospital. The boys were admitted within hours of each other after being injured in separate accidents while playing with young companions. Doctors say the outlook for both boys is good and they should be able to leave the hospital before too long.

Citizens Of Geneva Unexcited By Talks

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — For a week the citizens of Geneva have all but ignored an event of world-wide interest taking place beneath their noses.

That event is the East-West foreign ministers' conference.

The names of some stars of the conference come close to being household words in many countries. In many cities their presence would generate crowds. In some cities the autograph-seekers would mob them.

But not in blase Geneva. Heads hardly turn when the big names go by, and the people who ask for autographs are mostly foreigners. No cheering crowds stand in front of the Palace of Nations to watch the ministers come and go.

Twelve men and women and one small boy witnessed the inaugural session from the sidewalk outside the palace. An excavation on the Rue du Rhone drew hundreds.

"Ah," said fruit seller Felix Clemenz, "these conferences are like a bad winter. There is little you can do about them, but they must be suffered. And summer will come again."

But don't conferences bring him business?

"A little, but when I go home at night my wife is in a bad humor because some swine of a chauffeur attached to one of these delegations has brushed her bicycle."

Geneva's newspapers give plenty of space to the conference, but this builds up no steam of conference interest.

The Tribune de Geneve reprinted a cartoon from a Danish paper showing some Genevans fishing in the Rhone River outside the plush Hotel du Rhone.

The hotel is where most of the delegates of the American delegation live. When the delegates left their headquarters, none of the fishermen in the cartoon even looked up.

"These people," commented one delegate, "are blase."

Mental Tests Set For Girl In Mom's Death

HOUSTON (AP) — Psychiatric tests are scheduled Monday for Darlene Rainer, 14, the schoolgirl who killed her mother.

The pretty, raven-haired teenager slept fitfully during the night in the county juvenile detention ward.

No member of her family or friends came to see her after she was put in the ward about 6 p.m. Friday.

Earlier at the police station her father held her in a tearful embrace.

Mrs. Sarah Holden, a ward supervisor, said:

"We're trying to calm her for the psychiatric tests Monday."

Darlene took a shotgun from a closet Friday morning and fired the shot that shattered a "close-knit," church-going family.

Later, she said:

"A voice told me to do it."

She killed, she said, because she had been scolded for a telephone chat with a Latin-American boy.

She had never dated the boy, Felix Calderon, 16, a student in her 8th grade class, she said.

"She was my friend, not a sweetheart," the boy said. "I liked her. Everybody liked Darlene."

Her mother, Lena, 38, kept her from school yesterday and threatened to beat her, the girl said.

The mother was feeding her 11-month-old son, Ronald, when the shotgun blast tore into her back. The baby was not hurt.

Darlene's father is George Rainer, 42, a mechanic.

Khrushy Opens Up Further Prospects

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opened up Saturday a prospect of serious negotiations between the Soviet Union and the Western powers at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

In a speech in Moscow, Khrushchev rebuffed the Western package plan approach to a German peace settlement and the problem of European security and disarmament.

But he added: "The proposals of the Western Powers contain some matters which are worthy of examination and which we shall not oppose. On the contrary, we shall be prepared to seek solutions at the round table."

The statement came as Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was reported planning to propose secret diplomacy for the next phase of the talks here. Herter has decided that is the best way to probe real Soviet aims here and find out whether it is possible to make enough progress toward agreement to justify a summit conference.

Khrushchev said the Western peace plan "is put forward only for one purpose, to put the blame on us. They won't have that pleasure."

The Soviet leader declared that the real author of the Western proposals is not in Geneva. Referring to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, he said: "The shadow of Adenauer is there."

Herter made known his views to close associates after watching initial sessions of the conference which opened here Monday. He considers the sessions much too big and formal, with ministers making speeches at each other instead of negotiating.

The work of the conference, moreover, is approaching the point for what diplomats call private discussions. That means resort to a limited secret diplomacy with a sharp reduction of public disclosure about what is being discussed.

The basic proposals of the West and the Soviet Union for a German peace settlement have been presented to the parley by Herter and Gromyko and are under study. They could hardly be more opposed. The result is deadlock.

To come to grips with such matters as this, Herter probably will propose in midweek that the talks be made much more informal, conducted with greater secrecy, and attended by about a dozen ministers and top advisers instead of the present total of about 100. German advisers would not be present.

Before that, however, U.S. officials said there will have to be further debate on the contradictory Western and Soviet proposals put forward Thursday and Friday.

The conference is in recess until Monday. Herter made a flying good-will visit to Rome, and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville spent the weekend in Paris for talks with Prend in Pars for talks wth President Charles de Gaulle and other offcials. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd worked here.

Lloyd and Couve de Murville were reported to favor the secret diplomacy technique, which has been employed in other such meetings of the last 14 years of postwar negotiation. Gromyko may make an issue about excluding the East and West German delegations, since one of his immediate objectives here is to build up the East German Communist regime.

In fact, much of what was said in the conference during the first week bore little relationship to what the conference is actually about. The U.S.-British-French package plan was put in for the record and as a basis for propaganda. U.S. officials feel—more strongly than the British and French—that German unity is essential to European peace, but they knew long before coming to Geneva that it could not be attained in the predictable future.

Now Even Squares Dig Jive; That Dictionary's Cool, Man

By JOHN GALE

LONDON (AP) — The cat that bent her roll-on getting hep in the espresso has at last gained official recognition in Britain.

Cat, hep, roll-on (a two-way stretch) and espresso are all included in the latest supplement put out by the authoritative Chambers British Dictionary.

Ten years ago these words would have meant little to people who rely on the dictionary for their English. Had they described the cat's dilemma with the words then at their command, they likely would have said:

"A young lady with an addiction for jazz music suffered a disarrangement of her clothing while performing a vigorous dance in a coffee house used by the younger set."

This is a measure of what is happening to the English language, but as a spokesman for Chambers said, "We must keep up the times."

Chambers — despite its international distribution — is printed and published only in Britain. For 58 years, its tomes have been hauled down from bookshelves over the world to throw light wherever English is spoken.

Not until now, however, has the reader been able to get the definitive view on words like stereophonic, bebop, jive, cha cha, square and sweater girl.

70 Attend Kiwanis Club's Barbecue

Big Spring Kiwanians and their wives braved chilly weather to take part in the ladies night barbecue dinner on Friday night. Approximately 70 were in attendance, including several guests from clubs in other cities.

The dinner was served in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. Door prizes were awarded.

Arnold Marshall was presented in vocal selections with Jack Hendrix as accompanist.

A barbecue dinner, topped off with homemade ice cream, was served. After the meal, the Kiwanians and their guests played games and "visited."

Crosby Son Stuck For Child Payment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dennis Crosby must pay $350 a month for a child he denies is his, pending trial of a paternity suit.

Marilyn Scott, 27, a divorcee, said Bing Crosby's son fathered her 18-month-old daughter, Denise. She asked the court for $460 a month temporary support, saying she had only 80 cents.

WOMEN'S NEWS

The

Big Spring Herald

SECTION C

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MAY 17, 1959

All-New Village

Talk about a dream house!

There's a village of just such houses in the southwestern section of Big Spring about ready to be occupied by families of Air Force personnel, and a tour of the units would leave a homemaker green with jealousy.

That's the Capehart Housing which will be opened this week for some of the occupants. Other units are so near completion that a steady flow of residents will probably be the order of the day soon.

Streets, laid out in alphabetical sequence, are named after various air bases. A boulevard separates the two sections and landscaping of the island is underway as is the beautification of the yards of the homes.

Further improvement of the yards is to be accomplished as homes are occupied. This will be done from a nursery on the base, which was begun at the time the housing was planned. Various local gardeners and garden club members donated from their stock of shrubs, flowers and bulbs; these were planted in a central location and will now be distributed to occupants of the houses for planting in their yards.

Three types of homes have been built in the grouping. There is a single unit home, which will be occupied by the colonels, lieutenant colonels and majors and their families. A duplex, with all the advantages of a single unit is the house which has a double carport and two service areas between the two living areas.

Another type is the duplex with a double, soundproof party wall between the two units. Each of the homes has ample storage space in an outside closet which leads off a sheltered patio. Space will also be utilized in the partitions on the carports, both closets being spacious and well-lighted.

Floor plans may differ a bit, but there is practically the same amount of space in each of the units, which are all equipped with identical ranges, refrigerators, dishwashers, disposals, washers and dryers.

All the homes have the same kind of heating and cooling systems, with an added ele-

GOOD NEWS was the word that the ffrst units of Webb's $6,500,-000 Capehart Housing Area will soon be ready for occupancy. In picture above, T-Sgt. and Mrs. Jack McVittie and sons, Pat, Mike and Mark, prepare to inspect one of the quarters which will be occupied by non-commissioned officers and their families. This is an example of the double unit, with each apartment having its own fenced-in service yard and carport. Various shrubs and honeysuckle plants are growing in the yards; other plants will be given to families as they occupy the houses.

LANDSCAPING of the Capehart homes is already under way —and a good start it has. An idea of the spacious back yards can be gained from the picture above, which shows the McVittie family inspecting a young tree. Width of the wall separating the double units is evident from the brick section of the house. Service areas are complete with two garbage cans, which are inside a wall, such as the one at left, and the always-needed clotheslines.

A ROOM WITH A VIEW of some interesting spot will describe at least one location in each of the housing units, since homes are at various levels and the countryside can be seen from several angles. Seems that the sight from the living room is of interest to the McVitties, shown in picture. The spacious area is for living and dining, if desired; there is room in each of the kitchens for a table and chairs, an arrangement which some of the occupants may prefer. Wall plugs are generously provided; the gadgets on the wall to the left are temperature and humidity controls. Door in the background leads to the bedrooms.

WHAT A PLEASURE cooking will be in the very convenient kitchens in the new homes of the Capehart area. Mrs. McVittie takes a peep into the large oven of the stove; behind her is the washer, with a dryer close by. All kitchens have dishwashers and disposal units, as well as a generous-sized refrigerator. Couples having their own equipment may put it in storage for use at a later date.

HOW WONDERFUL! says Mrs. McVittie of the walk-in closet in a bedroom of the Capehart unit. Closets are an important part of the homes, and there is no space wasted. Some of the halls hold two closets, while outside storage space will be found as part of the carports and just off the sheltered patios. Master bedrooms have twin walk-in closets.

LIKE OLD MOTHER HUBBARD'S CUPBOARD, the refrigerator is bare, but young Pat McVittie seems hopeful that his parents might discover something stashed away in the large box. A work cabinet is placed between the range and the refrigerator, with space for a breakfast table and chairs provided in front of the window, shown at right. Cabinets and work tables are of steel with formica tops in various lovely colors.

New NSA Officers

Chatting here about plans for next year are newly elected officers in Big Spring's chapter of National Secretaries Association. They are, left to right, Mrs. Dalton Conway, president; Mrs. Johnny Dismuke, treasurer; and Marguerite Cooper, secretary. Unable to be present was Mrs. J. R. Asbury, vice president.

The Woman's Forum Hears Of Heart Surgery Development

One of the developments of modern medicine, the mending of "broken" hearts, was discussed for The Woman's Forum by Mrs. E. P. Driver Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. G. Lewis. Mrs. Buel Fox was cohostess.

Mrs. Driver gave a history of surgery done on hearts, telling the group that it began with an operation in 1948, performed without the heart being seen. In 1952, she stated, the first surgery was performed with the heart in sight.

The third step, Mrs. Driver said, was an operation done with the aid of a dog's lung; today, the mechanical heart is a factor in surgery. Such surgery will take at least 15 pints of blood, she explained, and this must come from walking donors, not from a blood bank.

Members were told that heart surgery of this kind is now performed in Dallas and Houston hospitals.

BUSINESS SESSION

During a business session, Mrs. Neil Norred reported on the recent meeting of the city federated clubs, telling of the Master Plan for Big Spring as it was explained at the gathering.

Mrs. Driver told of the work done in the Fashion Shop at the state hospital during the past year, when from 35 to 40 patients were waited on by four club members each week.

She offered the opinion that the open door policy, which the group has adopted, has increased the patronage of the shop. Possibility of keeping the shop open each day was discussed.

The club's pressbook, which won second place at the state convention in Lubbock recently, was examined. An auditing committee was appointed with Mrs. Carl Benson, Mrs. Clyde Johnston and Mrs. Jarrel Jones as members.

Mrs. Lucian Jones, using a candlelighting ceremony, installed Mrs. Neil Norred as president; Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., vice president; Mrs. Charles Harwell, recording secretary; Mrs. Merrill Creighton, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Lewis, treasurer.

APPOINTEES

Appointive officers will include Mrs. Escol Compton, federation counselor; Mrs. Elvis McCrary, parliamentarian; Mrs. Benson, historian, Mrs. Lucian Jones, reporter.

Committees were also announced by Mrs. Norred. Mrs. Thomas will head the program committee, with members, Mrs. Clarence Percy Jr., and Mrs. Fox. The hospitality committee is composed of Mrs. J. D. Elliott, Mrs. Jarrel Jones, Mrs. Joe Pickle and Mrs. Driver.

Mrs. Cecil McDonald is the head of the project committee; helping her will be Mrs. Jack Johnson, Mrs. Gil Jones and Mrs. W. H. Bain.

Telephoning will be done by Mrs. Charles Sweeney, Mrs. Omar Jones, Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, Mrs. Clyde Johnston and Mrs. J. D. Jones. Safety activities will be under the direction of Mrs. D. D. Dyer.

Friday's gathering marked the final session of the 1958-59 club year for the group.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jo Jackson, South America. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William Bostick of Midland, former Big Springers.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. R. B. Murray, pastor of Northside Baptist Church, before a grouping of candelabra and baskets of white gladioli. Prenuptial music was by Patsy Scott, pianist, who accompanied Mrs. Tonn as she sang Because and The Wedding Prayer.

Mrs. Bostick is soon to graduate from the Betty B. School of Beauty in Midland. The bridegroom, who will receive his diploma this month from Midland High School, is employed by Margoette's Shoe Store.

ment to control the humidity in the house. Water softeners and, of course, water heaters are installed and just waiting to be enjoyed.

Floors are beautifully finished in a parquet pattern of oak blocks, with kitchen floors covered to harmonize with the cabinets and walls, some of which are painted in soft greens, blues, yellows or a pleasing gray.

Muted shades, which will blend with a wide variety of furnishings, were selected for walls of the living rooms and bedrooms.

It is evident that a woman's ideas were incorporated into the homes, since every available spot for a closet is utilized. Electric outlets are sprinkled generously in the rooms, too, with a plug especially for a television set. This will work in conjunction with a master aerial, making the use of individual aerials unnecessary.

Stored in one of the old hangars at the base is the furniture which will be provided those families desiring it. Of limed oak, the pieces are made along simple lines which will be at home with many kinds of accessories.

Available is a double dresser with an excellent mirror—and there is a full-length wall mirror, too; a hutch of limed oak and a buffet may be used in a variety of ways. Formica covers the tops of the flat pieces as well as the dining table.

A sectional divan and two chairs will have cushions of leatherette in shades of citron, coral, parchment, cinnamon and olive. Panel headboards on the beds will hold innerspring mattresses.

The youngsters were not forgotten in the planning of the layout, since there will be a youth center close to the housing area, and a baseball diamond is now almost ready.

Spotted at various locations in the grounds will be playgrounds for the children with swings, seesaws and other fun devices to keep them happy and close to their homes.

MRS. RAY PINER JR.

Miss Davis, Ray Piner Jr. Take Wedding Vows In Snyder Church

A mid-afternoon wedding ceremony Saturday united in marriage Fayrene Davis and Ray Piner Jr. in the First Methodist Church in Snyder.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Davis of Anson; parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Piner of Ozona.

Vows were taken before the Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the church, as the bridal party stood before an altar enhanced with baskets of white gladioli.

Traditional nuptial music was provided by the organist of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Lowell B. Baird of Big Spring, was attired in a gown of white brocade fashioned with a full skirt and fitted bodice. The neckline was bateau type, and brief sleeves were complemented with short white gloves.

From a half-hat floated a circular veil, and the bride carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Jerry Lynn Stephenson of Big Spring, who attended as maid of honor, chose a street length dress of orchid, to which she secured a corsage of white carnations.

James Davis, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as his best man.

Assisting the couple in receiving guests at a reception following the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Baird and the parents of the bridegroom.

White gladioli decorated the tea table, where a three-tiered cake held a bridal couple under an arch.

Mrs. James Davis was at the register, and members of the house party were Mrs. Arch Ratliff, Mrs. Sam Thurman and Mrs. Jo Gregory, all of Big Spring.

For a trip to San Antonio, the bride donned a two-piece frock of pastel hues, variegated, with fitted over-blouse and straight skirt.

Upon the return, the couple will make a home in Albuquerque, N. M., where the bridegroom is an employe of Cosden Petroleum Corp. He is a graduate of Ozona High School and attended North Texas State College.

The new Mrs. Piner is a graduate of Anson High School and Chriss Business College in Anaheim, Calif. A member of the Desk and Derrick Club, she was also employed by Cosden.

Uses Beauty Methods

Jan Sterling believes that if women want to be beautiful they can by taking advantage of modern beauty methods.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Exercise And Massage Should Go With Diet

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—When you see a beautiful woman you may envy her and feel she is lucky. But she may not have been born with this loveliness that you admire. It may not have been a gift at all but something of her own creating.

Certainly this would be applicable to Jan Sterling. I remember after her nose bob how courageously she appeared on TV and encouraged other women to take advantage of plastic surgery to make their dream of beauty come true.

"If you want to be beautiful you can," Jan said, studying the menu in a little restaurant across from CBS. "I happen to have been blessed with good teeth, but those who aren't can take advantage of the wonderful things the dentists do today.

"There is a correct way of brushing your teeth that will keep them clean and healthy. I neglected to brush mine away from the gums and they began to bleed. My dentist believes that the choice of a tooth brush is important because bristles which are too abrasive damage the gums. And he recommends varying your dentifrice because you can build up an immunity by using the same formula too long.

"When I was in high school," Jan said, returning to her original theme, "I was invited to a hop at Annapolis. But I didn't have a good time because I felt my younger sister was prettier than I. And I think because of this I developed a complex.

"Then I decided to become an actress and I directed my energy toward learning to act. Although I wasn't greatly encouraged I never gave up. If you really want to do something you can if you're willing to work. But you must be objective with yourself and find your motive. You have to love what you are doing to succeed. Make sure that it is the work and not the gain that appeals to you, because you are sure to fail if your reach exceeds your grasp."

Jan ordered scrambled eggs and stewed tomatoes, and as our conversation turned to food and diets she said:

"I can lose five pounds in two days, and I always try to before a show because I look heavier on the screen.

"There are many ways of keeping trim, and one of my favorites is by massage. I get a massage four or five times a week and love it. If you have a masseuse who is properly trained to bring up the circulation, you can keep your muscles firm. So many women make the mistake of dieting without exercise or massage. And no matter how thin they get, they can't be attractive if they're flabby.

"If you don't take pride in your appearance you are letting down your responsibility to other people," Jan exclaimed. "Some women get so wrapped up in their children and household they forget how they looked when their husbands married them. Don't you think these women deserve the shock they get when their marriages are threatened — perhaps by other women who haven't let themselves go?" Jan asked.

"It may be a bit disillusioning, but appearance means more to a man than it does to a woman. And every man wants to be proud of his wife.

"In the average family men have the greater responsibility. They work hard. They die younger. So a wife should try as hard as possible to make his home a pleasant place. She should make herself attractive for him so that he'll look forward to seeing her every night. Some think the Oriental woman goes too far, but something can be learned from her attitude.

When it was time for Jan to go back to the rehearsal hall, we walked over to CBS. Jan said: "I used to be painfully shy and I remember Paul (her husband, Paul Douglas) said to me, 'Try to make the first effort because maybe the other person is twice as scared as you.' And you know," Jan confided, "after that I found it much easier to face strangers."

NO STARCH DIET

This easy-to-follow diet is recommended for anyone who wants to reduce quickly without loss of energy. If you stick to the plan on Leaflet M-75, "Abbe Lane's No Starch Diet," you will be able to lose five pounds in four days. This semi-liquid diet gave Abbe Lane such good results that many Hollywood actresses have borrowed it when they want to lose a few pounds quickly. For your copy of Leaflet M-75, send only 10 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for Leaflet M-75.

May Day Banquet Entertains GA's At Baptist Church

Multi-colored ribbons streaming from a large maypole formed a canopy over tables at the May Day banquet for the McCullough Girls Auxiliary, Friday night at East Fourth Baptist Church. Spring flowers and fern decorated the white cloths bordered in green.

Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale, counselor, worded the invocation. Mistress of ceremonies was Letress Hall. James Kinman gave special music, and Phil and Phyllis Hall led in group singing accompanied by Mrs. Keats Watts.

A chalk talk was the presentation of Barry Clayton. Thomas Williams brought the devotion and said the benediction for the 35.

Vase Choice

Choose vases of three types so that you may have suitable ones for all types of flowers. Tall vases with wide tops should be used for roses, delphiniums and other such flowers; low spreading vases for pansies and nasturtiums and larger ones with wide top and broad base for peonies, gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Midland Home Is Setting For Scott-Hodges Rite

Sara Beth Scott, daughter of Mrs. E. T. Scott, 314 NE Twelfth, and the late Mr. Scott, became the bride of A.2.C. Bobby Hodges in a double ring ceremony Friday evening in Midland.

The wedding service, read by the Rev. R. B. Murray, pastor of Northside Baptist Church, took place in the home of the bride's brother, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Scott. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the setting.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hodges, Route 1, Henrietta, Texas.

Given in marriage by her brother, the bride wore a short dress of white cotton lace with satin trim. Its fitted bodice, shaped with rounded neckline and cape sleeves, joined a full skirt. With the new gown she had a blue garter, an old penny in her shoe, and carried orchids on a white Bible borrowed from Mrs. Kenneth Scott.

Karen McKee, maid of honor, chose a navy blue suit with white accessories. Her flowers were pink carnations in corsage.

A.2.C. Wayne Hilderman served as best man.

After the ceremony, guests were greeted by the couple, Mrs. Scott and Miss McKee. They were served from a table done in white lace over blue and accentuated with white candles; appointments were of silver and crystal. The three-tiered cake held a tiny bridal pair.

Mrs. Marvin Hanson sat at the register; Mrs. Vancil Scott and Pat Voyles were others in the houseparty.

When the newlyweds left for a trip to Fort Worth and Henrietta, Mrs. Hodges was dressed in a gray and blue checked frock with white accessories.

Upon their return, the pair will make their home at 2107 Main. Mrs. Hodges, a graduate of BSHS, was recently employed as secretary at Big Spring Hardware. Her husband, who is an alumnus of Fort Worth High School, is stationed at Webb AFB.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Well, I guess this weekend weather will teach you neat and johnny-on-the-spot housekeepers not to be so hasty with putting away those winter clothes . . . and bedding and turning off the furnaces and all those other things that keep people warm. Mamas and papas out Friday afternoon to see the last intersquad game of the Steers, got a preview of how cool the nights will be next October and November. Some of these super-cool temperatures would come in handy in July. However, with the thermometer shooting high one day and staying way down in the covers the next, July may have a few cold spots.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ALDEN RYAN had many misgivings Friday evening when they entertained the drilling crew that brought in wells on their place near Luther. Of course they included enough friends and relatives to swell the crowd to around 300 and then the rains came and, with the moisture, a cold snap. While they had worried early Thursday about their guests eating where the heat would not be so terrific, they worried Friday about what they would do with them in case it rained, then were concerned about how cold people could get before they couldn't chew any more. But none of the vicissitudes of the weather hampered the good time had by all the friends and neighbors.

* * *

MRS. GENE KELLY planned to leave this weekend for her home in Biloxi, Miss., after spending several weeks here with her mother, MRS. W. C. WAGY, who is recovering from major surgery.

* * *

MRS. A. J. RYAN has returned from Marshall where she visited relatives. She and her sisters went together to the Hodges Gardens in Many, La., and spent the day touring the estate that has been kept in its natural state wherever possible. Some wild game roves over the 4,200 acres and the many springs are still flowing. The Hodges home sits in the center of an island and is a picturesque part of the scene. Mrs. Ryan was particularly interested in the variety of roses displayed in the rose gardens.

* * *

MRS. JACK Y. SMITH is in Henderson today to attend a tea given by the mother of Louis McKnight, fiance of Jacquelyn Smith, to present her future daughter-in-law to friends in Henderson. Miss Smith and Mr. McKnight plan to marry in August.

* * *

MRS. A. C. BASS returned here yesterday from St. Louis, Mo., where she attended the National Council of State Garden Clubs. About 1,600 registered for the meeting. Mrs. Bass enjoyed the numerous good programs and tours of the city.

* * *

Speaking of garden clubs reminds me of the pretty rock known as the Desert Rose which I learn is peculiar to West Texas and about which I had not heard until Friday. EDITH GAY of the Chamber of Commerce had an inquiry from a garden club woman in some New Jersey city who was to make an arrangement or display using rock accessories. She wrote the C of C for information concerning it. Miss Gay did some hasty checking and found that such a rock does exist and is on sale at a local rock shop. The formation is a natural one that resembles a flower about 1½ inches in diameter. I don't know if they all are like the one I saw but the petal-like ridges were almost as perfect on one side as the other. I understand they are to be found in the western part of Texas, but I don't think BS is far enough west. I've never seen one around here, but then I've never been on a specific rock hunt.

JOHN WESTBROOK and TOMMY PICKLE are to return today from Albuquerque, N. M., where they have attended the Fiesta Days celebration at the University of New Mexico.

Mr and Mrs. E. H. Nichols, 1217 East 16th, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Linda and Jack Culpepper, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Culpepper of Monahans. Knott Club Meets With Mrs. Dick Clay

Knott HD Club members, meeting recently with Mrs. Dick Clay, answered roll call with ideas for jiffy refreshments. Thought for the day was: "A busy person is a happy person; idleness breeds contempt."

Mrs. Jimmie Dee Jones, HD Agent, gave instructions for the selection and fitting of patterns. She stressed the importance of measuring for true pattern size, and of considering the styles best suited to one's type figure.

The council report was brought by Mrs. P. P. Coker. Mrs. A. H. Shroyer Jr. presided at the session and announced that she will be hostess to the group for a Lake J. B. Thomas outing in June.

Guests were Mrs. Luda Gaskins, Mrs. Billie Gaskins and Mrs. J. L. Metcalf.

Virgil Piccolo Weds Vesta Mae Chandler

STANTON — Nuptial vows of Vesta Mae Chandler and Virgil Piccolo were solemnized Saturday evening in the chapel of First Baptist Church, Midland. Dr. L. L. Morriss, pastor, read the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Chandler, Stanton. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piccolo, McAlester, Okla., are parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Joseph Mims, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Robert Goff, soloist.

An imported French Chantilly lace overskirt enhanced the full length bridal gown of white satin. The bodice had long tapering sleeves and a scalloped neckline created from the lace accentuated with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her veil of illusion descended from a band of white orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids. Chandler gave his daughter in marriage.

Marie Thompson and Nancy Bowman attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaid. Best man was Harold Haynes, Oklahoma City. Dave Maxwell of Roswell, N. M. and Bill Smith, Stanton, seated the guests.

The banquet hall of the church was the setting for the reception after the ceremony.

The newlyweds are making a home in Midland.

Easy Treat

Want to please the youngsters? Then try making them some biscuit scones. To do this just roll refrigerated biscuits into thin rounds. Spread each with soft butter, then sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Roll up and place on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about ten minutes. Serve with milk or hot cocoa.

THE NEWSPAPER... ALL THINGS TO ALL MEN... AND BY ALL TAKEN FOR GRANTED

FANCY DOING BUSINESS WITHOUT NEWSPAPERS

History is the biography of the human race. The newspaper is its diary. Each day's newspaper is another installment in the continuing conduct of the affairs of man – recording the stuff that makes his life... the changes that shape his economy.

All things to all men... the newspaper supplies specific help to particular men ... to professional men... to business men... to workers and farmers everywhere ... even to those who are out of work and are looking for it.

Are you a professional man? The latest news of all professions is in your newspaper. Are you a manufacturer, a merchant? The day's final quotations on raw materials, the latest index on the public's buying is at your fintertips. Are you a union worker? Up-to-the-minute facts about what unions are doing, how the trends of pay and living costs are moving... all these are here. Are you a farmer? Your newspaper brings you the weather reports, the fluctuating market prices, the Washington and local bulletins that you must have immediately.

So, whether you are a man with a million, or a man with a job, chances are you'll find timely information to help you in today's newspaper.

And the reason why is obvious. Your newspaper not only brings you more news and usable information than any other daily medium, but it pours it all into printed words... giving you a record, not a recollection... information that registers when you read it, remains for reference when you need it.

Diary of the world... bookkeeper of its business... defender of its human liberties... your taken-for-granted newspaper is self-evidently all things to all men.

AND HERE'S A REVEALING FOOTNOTE... The U.S. business world's virtual admission that it can't do business without newspapers eloquently speaks in this significant summation: Advertising, the mouthpiece of the American economy, spends more money annually in newspapers than in any other medium.

Rose Preview—1960 Winners

A preview of the roses which will be found in the gardens of 1960 is presented with the naming of the three winners of the All-America Rose Award. At left is Fire King, a brilliant vermillion Floribunda and an exceptionally strong grower, which will be especially good for landscaping effects. The well-formed flowers will measure from two to three inches across and are borne in heavy clusters. At center is Garden Party, a Hybrid Tea, developed from the crossing of Peace and Charlotte Armstrong roses. Its cream and ivory petals are tinted softly with pink, and the blossoms are usually borne on long stems, making them suitable for arrangements. At right is the third winner, Sarabande, a Floribunda in scarlet orange with large blossoms. Its low, compact growth makes it a favorite for hedges and borders.

Three 1960 Winners Are Named By Rose Society

Two floribundas and a hybrid tea have won All-America Rose Awards for 1960, according to an announcement by All-America Rose Selections, Inc., the country's leading association of rose growers and introducers.

The new winners are Garden Party, a white and pink Hybrid Tea; Fire King, a vermillion Floribunda, and Sarabande, a scarlet-orange Floribunda.

The AARS award is the highest honor the flower world can bestow. Candidates for the honor include the finest new rose varieties developed by the world's leading hybridizers, and winners must prove their superiority under actual test conditions.

Development of a prize-winning rose takes from eight to ten years. First, the hybridizer chooses two parents and crosses them by pollination. He usually repeats this operation with many sets of parents. When the thousands of resulting seedlings bloom over the next several years, he may select a few for further testing over a three to four year period.

At the end of this time, he may decide that one of these roses is good enough to compete in the all-America trials which require another two years of testing against top-flight competition.

The tests are conducted in special gardens located throughout the United States so as to provide every possible variation of soil and climate. The judges are impartial experts who score the plants and flowers on 18 different counts according to a uniform score sheet. Final scores and comments are compiled by the National Rose Jury, and selection of the winners is based on their data.

The new rose title winners join 50 famous varieties which have been selected for the All-America award since its founding in 1938. They represent the ultimate in development in their respective classes and will take their places in American gardens along with such famous award winners as Charlotte Armstrong, Peace, Fashion, Queen Elizabeth and others.

Garden Party, was developed from the crossing of Charlotte Armstrong and Peace, both All-America winners, and both among the all-time rose favorites in the Hybrid Tea class. Its cream and ivory petals are delicately tinted with soft pink. The giant, fully double blooms often measure as much as seven inches across and are supported on long, sturdy stems. Garden Party is a vigorous grower.

Fire King, is a tall-growing Floribunda which will be particularly useful for landscaping and general garden use. Its brilliant vermillion flowers of 45 to 50 petals are perfectly formed and measure from 2 to 3 inches across. In the bud stage, Fire King is a deep red, and the brighter open blooms form heavy clusters which will mass dramatic color at any point in the garden. It is a strong grower and its dark green foliage fills out the plant to give it a well-rounded, compact appearance. The variety was originated by the late Francis Meilland, famous French hybridizer.

Sarabande, the second prize-winning Floribunda, is a semi-double rose with blooms bearing from 12 to 15 petals. The color is a unique scarlet orange, and the blooms are somewhat larger than most floribundas. Its low growth habit and compact form, make it particularly suitable for hedges and border edgings. The new winner comes into early bloom and flowers continuously throughout the season. Sarabande was also originated by Meilland.

Garden Party, Fire King, and Sarabande will be available to the public in time for the planting season.

Moon, June Overrated Say Yale Sociologists

NEW HAVEN Conn. (AP) — The idea, long nurtured in song and story, that love and love alone leads to wedded bliss is being debunked by Yale sociologists.

There's a lot more to the selection of a marriage partner than love, says August B. Hollingshead, chairman of Yale's Department of Sociology, which has been gathering data from the New Haven area.

"Throughout history," he says, "there has been a romantic theory of mate selection supported by poets, dramatists and the public at large. Social scientists, however, have little faith in this pleasant myth as an explanation for the selection of marriage mates."

While not vetoing completely the theory that love makes the world go round, Hollingshead and his researchers hav found that race and religion — in that order —are the prime factors in limiting marital choices.

Their interviews in the New Haven area show interracial marriages are extremely rare and only 9 per cent of the married couples questioned were of different religions. They found no significant proportionate increase in mixed marriages within the past generation.

National origin also plays a prominent role, Hollingshead says. While ethnic lines are crossed more frequently now than a generation ago, nationality remains a potent factor in influencing mate selection, he says.

Hollingshead's study of marriage and social stratification bears NO similarity to the Kinsey Survey.

"We asked NO embarrassing questions," he says, adding that the primary task was to find an answer to "Who is marrying whom?" It was Hollingshead's contention that class distinctions — created by social economic, cultural and religious factors — play an important part in determining who a person marries.

The researchers found that, of the marriages studied, 58.24 per cent were couples from the same class or residential area. Hollingshead says marriages between persons from different classes tend to be less stable because of family pressures and added difficulties of adjustment.

Evidence from the survey indicates that America is far from becoming a classless society.

"Trying to get ahead is an important value in America," Hollingshead says. "Our form of society is based on this drive for higher status and prestige."

Arctic Exploration Stamp Is On Sale

Newest commemorative postage stamp to go on sale at the Big Spring Post Office is the Arctic explorations 4-cent issue.

Air Force Asks Closing Of Road For Webb Expansion

Howard County Commissioners have been asked to close a mile of county road located at the west end of what was the limit of the Webb Air Force Base property.

The base has now acquired acreage extending westward beyond the road. It has asked that the road be abandoned.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, said he would lay the request before the commissioners on Monday. He said he thought the abandonment would be ordered. The road, he added, is not a paved highway. What traffic it handles can be shifted to adjacent roads and the closing will impose no handicap of serious nature on any residents in the area.

Judge Carpenter said he knew of no other important business to come before the court at its Monday session. He will be in county court, presiding at a county court criminal jury docket.

On Tuesday, he said the commissioners will be in session to receive the report of the special appraisers committee on avigation damages on land adjacent to the Howard County airport.

Air Defense Film Shown To ABClub

A documentary film, "The New Sound of Freedom," was screened for members of the American Business Club at their regular luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

The color movie, which was in sound, was authorized and filmed under the direction of the Continental Air Defense Command.

Appointment of workers for the upcoming Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion was made. The ABClub is commissioned to handle the concessions at the annual rodeo.

Odell (Red) Womack and George Elliott were introduced as new members of the club.

A Personal Message To All With A Hearing Problem . . .

TIRED OF CUPPING YOUR EARS?

. . . or of wearing a hearing aid with uncomfortable wires, unsightly hair bands or blobs in or behind your ears? Then see me. All I'll take from you is 10 to 15 minutes of your time, during which I'll prove that you need not suffer the misery, anguish and social discomforts of the partially deaf. Without any charge to you . . . without any future obligation on your part . . . I'll show you how you can enter a new world of sound virtually free from the disturbing "background" noises, usually associated with ordinary hearing aids. And I'll do this without putting any "antennas" in your hair, microphones in your clothes or wires on your neck. A tiny, almost invisible tube leads to the ear. Your key to this new world of sound is the Otarion Listener,—a miraculous electronic development which features exclusive "Target Hearing"—the closest discovery to natural hearing. Through Target Hearing you get wanted sounds with amazing clarity, while the unwanted clitter-clatter of background sounds which usually disturb the wearer of an ordinary hearing aid are greatly subdued. The Otarion Listener's "Target Hearing" principle is so revolutionary that it has been granted the first U.S. Patent on an eyeglass hearing aid with hearing completely at ear level. Otarion Listener "Target Hearing" is used and acclaimed by such prominent Americans as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Perry Mason's creator, Erle Stanley Gardner.

Why continue cupping your ears or wearing an unsightly, outmoded hearing aid, when wonderful "Target Hearing" can open up a new world of sound for you? Stop in for a free audiometric measurement and let me introduce you to this new world of sound. You will not be charged for your visit and you will be under absolutely no obligation.

THE D&W TOWN AND COUNTRY STORE
Formerly operated here by Lloyd Brooks

Formal Opening Of Two New D&W Stores Set For Monday

Formal opening of the D. & W. Furniture and Appliance store at 205 Runnels was announced Saturday by Gaylon Head, who will be in charge of operations here.

D. & W., which has the largest single appliance and furniture store in West Texas in its main Abilene store, has acquired the interest of Lloyd Brooks in the Town & Country Store here.

Two outlets will be operated here—the one on Runnels and the other at Second and Nolan.

Brooks will remain on the staff, working with Head in direction of sales.

Complete lines in furniture and appliances in all price ranges will be maintained here. D. & W. also will have an unlimited line of pianos and organs.

Open house will be observed from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Monday at both stores, and visitors are urged to register at each point. Some $2,350 of prizes—including a Thomas electric organ—will be given away during the day. There will be separate sets of prizes at both stores.

D. & W. has had a quarter of a century of experience in its field, starting out as a service station which handled tires. In 1950 the present owners, Curtis Head, Henry Grubbs and Gene Williams, acquired the firm and have expanded it continuously. There are three stores operated in Abilene.

Gaylon Head was reared in the Abilene area and has been in the appliance and furniture business for the past eight years. He has been with the C. & H. Appliance Co. in Midland for the past three years. He and Mrs. Head have one son, Curtis, 9.

Lloyd Brooks came to Big Spring in December of 1925 to work for Magnolia Oil Co., later joining the staff of Big Spring Hardware. After eight years, he took over the appliance division for Empire Southern Gas, and in three years he went with B. Sherrod here and spent a similar length of time. After working for civil service, he established his own business in 1944

His garage at home was his storeroom, and the living room was his office—operated then as now by his wife, Blanche. Later Brooks expanded his operations and ultimately took over Town & Country Store here. The Brookses have one son, Jerry, who is a senior in high school. They are active members of the First Christian Church and he is a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Local Students Win Citations At SMU

Two Big Spring freshmen have been cited for outstanding scholarship in the field of engineering at Southern Methodist University.

George Stephen Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Baird, 109 Dixie, and Robertson K. Leach, son of Mrs. H. L. Cason, 911 Abram, earned the distinction during the past school year, according to Dean E. H. Flath of the SMU School of Engineering. Both were in the upper 10 per cent of the freshman class.

Riding Stables Open

Billy Babb has opened the Big Spring Riding Stables on a 640-acre tract across from the Sahara Drive-In Theatre on West U. S. 80. Babb said he has 10 mounts.

Jury Trials To Open Monday In County Court

Thirty jurors are to report to the Howard County Court for duty at 10 a.m. Monday. They are to serve in the trial of a criminal docket called for hearing this week.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, said that he has been informed several of the defendants slated for trial this week will enter guilty pleas when their cases are called. However, he said there are enough cases which will be announced ready for trial to keep the court in operation throughout the week.

Court will open at 10 a.m. on Monday but at 9 a.m. on each of the remaining days it is in session, Judge Ed Carpenter said.

Burns said he has scheduled the following cases for trial:

Damas Galindo Barrera, carrying arms; Milford N. Nunn, DWI; Lloyd D. Graves, DWI; Loydean Paul Hodde, DWI; Scott Cline Batterson, DWI; Melvin Smithhart, DWI; Elvin E. DEAR ABBY

RESPECT IN CHURCH

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: At my church some of the young people meet on the outside and pair off and go in for the services only for a petting party it seems. Some hold hands, write notes, and one couple had their feet so tangled up you could hardly tell which they belonged to and, Abby, if the church had caught on fire they would probably have burned up before they could have got untangled. I have been raised that a Church is God's house, and the young people should go there to worship the Lord in a respectful manner and keep their hands off each other. Has respect for the Lord's house gone out of style? Please, Abby, set me straight.

OLD-FASHIONED

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: Respect for the Lord's house has NOT gone out of style. All the world loves a lover—but not in church.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our 8-year-old son came home from school sobbing his little heart out. His teacher told him that they were going to sing in assembly (the whole class) and then she said, "Will Billy and Donald please not sing—just move your lips?" We know that our Donald cannot hold a tune, but we think it is terrible for a teacher to hurt a child by announcing it before the class. Should I go to school and say something to her or should I forget about it?

DONALD'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If Donald "sobbed his little heart out" perhaps you'd better go to school and have a talk with his teacher. Humiliation is hard for 8-year-olds to bear.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago you printed a letter from "A Mother" asking when a girl could be her own boss. I clipped it and carried it with me. I lost my purse, and the article with it. Would you please do me a favor and reprint that letter again? It might help a lot of people who missed it the first time.

MRS. G. S.

DEAR MRS. G.S.: With pleasure. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: We have two daughters, 15 and 17, and all we hear from them is that when they reach the age of 18 they will be their own boss. I think a girl is not her own boss until she reaches the age of 21. I would be grateful to you, Abby, if you would settle this matter of when a girl is her own "boss."

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: In order to be one's own boss (in my opinion) a girl has to be able to leave her parents' home, pay her own bed-and-board, buy her own clothes, pay for her own entertainment, insurance and medical care, and pay for the continuance of her own education. THEN, she has the privilege of choosing her own company, making her own decisions and being her own "boss."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: There is a rather attractive (and not old) unmarried lady in town who never takes off her coat. When she goes to a party she will sit in her coat all evening, no matter how warm it is. When she eats in a restaurant, she keeps her coat on. I am a good friend of hers, and I asked her why she did this and she says she thinks it is "immodest" to remove her coat. She wears dresses just like everybody else and she has a nice figure. Is there any way we can convince her to give up this childish habit?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Tell her that clothes are like a barbed wire fence. They should protect the property without obstructing the view.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO TELEPHONE SWEETHEART: He sounds like he would make a perfect stranger. Keep it that way!

* * *

Texan Will Head Neighbor Council

TAMPICO, Mexico (AP)— Neville Penrose of Fort Worth, popular in both Texas and Mexico, was elected president of the International Good Neighbor Council here Friday.

He succeeds Jose Muguerza of Monterrey, who resigned because of ill health.

Livestock Survey Will Open May 21

Statistics on the 1959 crop of calves, what the 1959 spring pig crop actually was and an estimate on farrowing intentions planned for the fall, will be gathered in Howard County starting on May 21.

Ervin Daniel, mail carrier on Route 1, will begin leaving U. S. Agriculture Department mid-year livestock survey cards in the 300 mail boxes on his route starting next Thursday.

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, said the post office is asked to assist in these livestock surveys each six months.

The cards which farmers and stockmen are asked to fill out and mail to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin are essential in evaluating production and market possibilities, it was said.

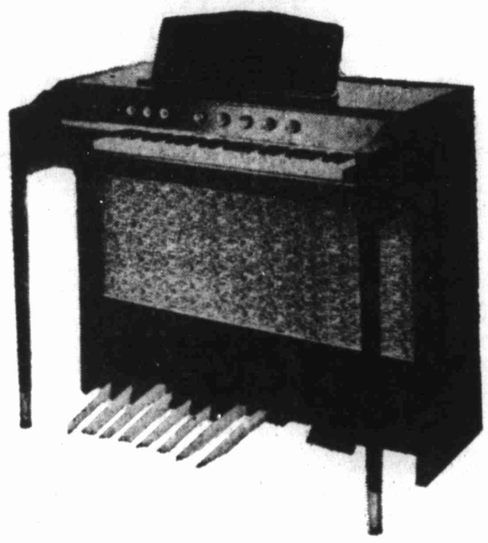

In addition to the information on calves and pigs, poultrymen are asked to list the number of chickens raised this spring. These will provide the laying stock on the poultry farms this fall and winter.

Boatler asked that all rural residents who receive the cards cooperate in the survey.

A Devotional For Today

Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. (Proverbs 22:6.)

PRAYER: Our Father, help us today to testify and put into practice our Christian beliefs. Thus may they have their dwelling place not only in our homes, but outside. May they be seen and we be used as means to encourage others. We ask this in the name of Christ. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

And Now To Spell It Out—

The Howard County Commissioners Court has named five men—Jack Gulley, Leroy Tidwell, Milton Talbot, Clyde McMahon and J. D. Carter—to a supervisory committee for the new Howard County airport.

Although the functions have been laid down only in general terms, the idea is that such a committee could direct, through proper administrative channels and employes, the operation and maintenance of the airport. The court, concerned with matters of broader policy and the operation of all the county's affairs, would thus not be involved constantly in minute operational details.

The plan, proposed by the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, is sound in theory.

We suppose that the next step will be the adoption of definite policy proposals by the committee for the court's consideration. No complete set can be conjured at one sitting, but in due season the committee ought to be able to come up with a framework of sufficient breadth and depth to permit early functioning.

Naturally this will be subject to the blessing of the court, and that is proper. The court, after all, is responsible to the taxpaying citizens who are providing the funds out of which the new facility has been constructed. Having satisfied itself that the proposed operational policies and plans are sound, the court then can stand back and turn the actual spadework over to the committee.

The main point now is to crystalize thinking as promptly as possible. A clear delineation now will save confusion and misunderstanding and will promote efficiency and harmony.

Sportsmen Please Be Sports

A few years ago the recreational aspects of our lakes constituted no great problem. What few boats were in use were, for the most part, mildly powered.

In the intervening years power has increased, aquatic sports have taken a tremendous boom, racing and water skiing have come into the picture, and the population has increased so that there are several more people per acre of water than before.

Out of this we are getting a conflict of interest. The fishermen want it nice and quiet. The boaters want unlimited range. The skiiers want other boats to refrain from cutting across their path or from risking collision. The swimmers want areas undisturbed by boats and unspoiled by hooks.

In larger bodies, such as Lake J. B. Thomas, the area is so great that most of the problems can be worked out because of the space. Too, the volume of its recreational fees provide for more adequate patrol.

The smaller bodies, such as Moss Creek Lake, face a thornier solution of their problem.

The fishermen complain that the boaters are driving them away. The boaters complain that the skiiers are restricting their operations, etc.

Perhaps stringent ordinances stringently enforced could reduce the confusion, but it would be so much better if sportsmen would simply solve it by being good sports. One word—consideration—could work wonders. Thus, we appeal to fishermen, boaters, skiiers and others to recognize the rights of each other and practice the Golden Rule.

Need Ultimatum On Summit Parley

GENEVA —There is an obvious weakness in the American strategy at the four-power conference here, and only President Eisenhower can remove it.

The Soviets have been repeatedly told by the press of the world that, no matter what happens at the Geneva conference, there will be a "summit" conference anyhow. Under such circumstances, the Soviets are saying to themselves, "What difference does it make if we turn down the 'package' plan and everything else?"

Here are four governments represented by their highest officials vested with the responsibility of conducting diplomatic relations with other countries, and yet, in effect, the world is being told that these men are mere figureheads and that what they do or say here doesn't make the slightest difference to the heads of their respective governments, for those four chief personalities must gather here later this summer anyway.

Why should the President of the United States permit such a farce to go on? If the United States means what it says—and certainly the television speech last week by Secretary of State Herter, approved by the President, expressed courageously the American viewpoint—why should there not be serious negotiations here and agreements reached that could be formally ratified later by the heads of state?

But the way matters look now, this "conference" is to be a perfunctory affair, with a good deal of wrangling on details and with a final communique confessing to the world that the four foreign ministers have failed in their duty. Presumably then only the four heads of state can straighten it all out. This may be the Communist conception of the whole "negotiation," but it hardly seems plausible that the Western governments would be parties to such a brazen artifice.

It is true that President Eisenhower has said several times that there would be a "summit" conference only if the results at the foreign ministers conference here "justify" it. But newspaper writers generally and, indeed, the diplomats in London have discounted that statement to such an extent that the feeling is rather widespread about the certainty of a "summit" meeting no matter whether anything substantial is achieved at the current conference.

The tragic fact is that the diabolical hand of domestic politics has something to do with it all. In Britain, for instance, the two major parties are at each other's throats all the time. Prime Minister Macmillan has postponed the election that is in the offing because he says he doesn't want the critical situation in the world to be a matter of political combat. But he added that he thought the chances of his party would be better a little later on anyhow, though he didn't say whether he meant after a successful "summit" conference.

It ought to be clear to everybody that a "summit" conference can hardly be a long-drawn-out affair and that a week devoted to such an occasion would be a lot of time for the President to be away from the United States. It would be impracticable to undertake any lengthy negotiations at a "summit" conference. So, unless the major part of the agreements to be reached are completed here, it would appear to be futile for the President to go to any conference.

If Mr. Eisenhower announced now that he has not made up his mind to go to a "summit" conference unless a specific solution is reached on the Berlin problem, for example, it would serve notice on the foreign ministers here that they must accomplish something tangible, and it would put an end to the trivialities which are using up valuable time. Certainly the Soviets knew in advance that the four-power conference was to be participated in by the representatives of the four governments only and that there was no intention to admit any other governmental representatives, even though it was recognized that various advisers from other countries might come here to give their views informally to any of the four foreign ministers. But for the Soviet envoy to try to crash the gate at this late date and get East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia into the conference is to introduce frivolity and irresponsibility into the whole affair.

The representatives of Britain, France and the United States did not come here to engage in a propaganda debate or to wrangle over procedural details. They came with the sincere purpose of reaching agreement on fundamental issues. Unless President Eisenhower takes a hand and quietly but firmly lets it be known that he will not go to a "summit" conference unless specific problems are disposed of, there will be more and more delay and less and less chance of anything being accomplished by the four foreign ministers.

The "package" plan, of course, will be presented in a day or so by the West, after which an announcement by the President that he will go to a "summit" conference only if there is a solution reached here on the West Berlin issue could have a salutary effect on the whole situation and perhaps salvage something out of what seems to date to be only an adventure in Soviet propaganda.

Chickens Under Plastic

QUICKSAND, Ky. (AP)—A plastic house here is strictly for the birds.

The Robinson Substation built the house for chickens to determine its effect on poultry and egg production.

If the experiment is successful, the economical construction will allow more people to enter the poultry business, the substation reported.

Unsafe Passenger

MILWAUKEE (AP)—There are plenty of good reasons for driving carefully, but cab driver Buford Morgan had one of the best.

A passenger, he said, held a pistol to his head and threatened: "If you don't drive carefully, I'm going to kill you."

Recovery Only A Year Old — What's Ahead?

Then turn not pale, beloved snail, but come and join the dance.
Will you, won't you, will you, won't you, will you join the dance?
Will you, won't you, will you, won't you, won't you join the dance?

• • •

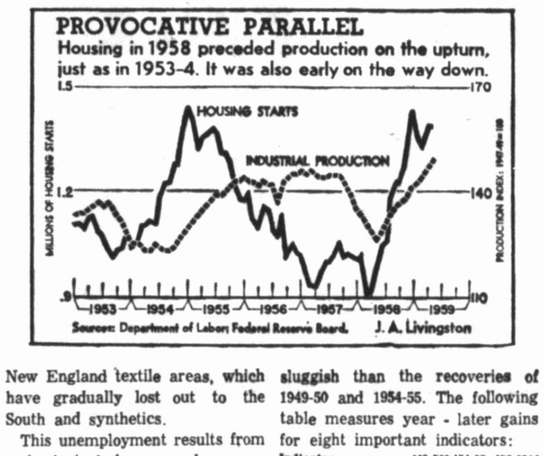

A year ago, the proposals, panaceas, and pleas to President Eisenhower were loudest: Do something to stop the recession. Suspend the withholding tax. Reduce the income tax. Do away with the automobile excise tax. Spend money on public works. Do something.

Today, as we look back, we can say that the clamor was loudest when the recession had already ended. The latest economic returns—the April statistics—indicate that the 1958-59 recovery has assumed classical dimensions. President Eisenhower and his advisors now look very good for resisting the clamor.

First, housing improved (see chart). Then production and retail sales. Personal income hardly dropped at all. The snail was employment stayed stubbornly high, and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, accused the administration of indifference. Only last month, spurred by Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, the AFL-CIO held an unemployment rally in Washington. In that very month, the snail joined the advance.

The 1,200,000 March-to-April increase in jobholders (to a total of 65,000,000) makes Reuther's unemployment rally as anticlimactic and ill-timed as the do-something demands 12 months ago. More persons were at work last month than in any April in history. Unemployment dropped by 735,000, to 3,600,000, and is now at the lowest level since December, 1957. A year ago, 75 out of every thousand workers were out of jobs. That proportion is now down to 53 per thousand.

The unemployment problem though alleviated, isn't solved. From 1955 to 1957, only 43 workers out of every thousand were jobseekers. We have pockets of distress in Detroit and other auto centers, where the upturn in auto output has not absorbed all available workers; in coalmining areas, which suffer from a long-term decline in demand; in some New England textile areas, which have gradually lost out to the South and synthetics.

This unemployment results from technological changes and economic shifts. It doesn't respond readily to a classical business upturn. Remedies must be specific—either to bring industry to where unemployment is or to persuade the unemployed to move away to where jobs are.

The present recovery is now a year old. The Federal Reserve Board's industrial production index, the most sensitive overall indicator of business, has advanced for 12 consecutive months. In April, it rose two points to an all-time high at 149. It's 18 per cent above a year ago.

Yet, except for autos and housing, this recovery has been more sluggish than the recoveries of 1949-50 and 1954-55. The following table measures year - later gains for eight important indicators:

Indicator	'49-50*	'54-55	'58-59
Production	29%	14%	18%
Employment	5	5	3
Mfg. Employ.	15	6	5
Unemployment	-47	-31	-29
Personal Inc.	16	6	6
Retail Sales	10	11	9
Housing Starts	N11	7	41
Auto Output	22%	60%	80%

*October-to-October
August-to-August
April-to-April

The advance in business has been duly celebrated in Wall Street. The stock market average has again pushed to a new all-time high. Yet, about as many stocks hit new lows as hit new highs. This is a bull market with reservations.

The reason for the reservations is the droop, droop, droop in government bond prices. Today, Secretary Anderson couldn't sell a long - term government bond issue if he wanted to. Long-term Treasuries sell to yield more than the 4½ per cent coupon Congres has authorized.

This affects all bonds—all borrowers. The comptroller of New York State turned down bids for thruway bonds. The 4.3 per cent interest cost was too high. Will other states and municipalities defer financing—and spending? Will a mortgage-money shortage hit the housing market?

New dwelling units started during April were at a near-record aannual rate of 1,390,000 (see chart). Such a level requires lots of mortgage money. Will insurance companies and savings institutions decide they can do better in bonds than in mortgages?

This is still a young recovery—12 months. The average recovery during the last 100 years has been 30 months. Will the present expansion be aborted by "money market conditions"? The government bond market has become a significant business indicator. Watch it.

They're Desperate Enough For Anything

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Abe Pressman, an engineer with Radio Corp. of America, has just had a scientific book published. The title: Design of Transistorized Circuits For Digital Computers.

The event brought a pleasant flurry of fan mail and telephone calls.

His son, Norman, 10, answered the telephone the other day. The operator said it was a long distance call. Norman thus: "Mommy, mommy, there's a call for daddy from California. Maybe they want to make a movie out of his book!"

Bible Words for Today

I CORINTHIANS 15:10 "By the grace of God I am what I am," (KJV)

* * *

Without the "grace of God"—His underserved favor—no one could stand. Whatever of worth, whatever of love, whatever of endurance that comes into our lives, flows from His gracious thought of us.

In Paul's life the working of God's grace was plain to see: he had been "saved by grace" from fighting against God, became an amazingly successful missionary by "the grace of God which was with me," and a steadfast servant of God despite all discouragements because he had learned that in all situations "my grace is sufficient for thee."

"God's grace is a lifting, strengthening power for every life. Jesus said: "He maketh his sun to rise on the evil and the good and sendeth rain on the just and the unjust." Think on your own life and see how the "grace of God"—his un-merited goodness—is flooding you with countless blessings, and be ye thankful.

Too Much Typing For Movie Stars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Joan Collins, no slouch in the sex appeal department, says it's lucky Brigitte Bardot started in France instead of Hollywood.

"I must say," comments the British beauty, "that it would have been more difficult for her here.

"She could never have gotten onto a sound stage with that wild hairdo, yet it's part of her individual personality."

Joan believes European producers want more individuality among their stars than do most American moviemakers.

"Here a studio signs a girl because she stands out from the crowd. Then the minute the ink is dry, a producer gets a Pygmalion complex and wants to remake her by assembly-line processes so that she conforms more to the crowd. It's crazy."

Lucky Reminder

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Harold Orbach was reading a newspaper when an item caught his eye. It said he was guest soloist that afternoon at a chorale. He had forgotten the engagement, but made it in time.

Around The Rim

Cowards Ought To Stay At Home

Innate cowards, like yours truly, ought never to get out of the house.

It's true that many accidents happen in the home, but some of these can be taken in stride, whereas those involving fast-moving traffic become too dreadful to contemplate.

No, sir a fellow without some degree of intestinal fortitude had better leave off the flying and the driving and get himself a horse and buggy, and then keep to the isolated country lanes, if there are any left.

We liver-lilies can get in an airplane, and within a matter of minutes can work ourselves into a case of raw nerves, just sitting there wondering if (a) a wing is going to fall off; (b) the pilot knows whether he's got enough gas; (c) that cloud out yonder is going to turn into a tornado; or (d) the whole principle of aerodynamics will go up in a burst of smoke.

Oh, well, the statistics say that you have very, very long odds flying around in an airplane, and so far my apprehensions have been groundless, if you follow me.

It's gotten to the point where the same degree of daring is required to get into your automobile and strike out for a distant destination. The chances are very good that you will (a) encounter a road-construction stretch at the same time three other oncoming cars do; (b) get pushed off into the ditch by somebody who chose to play chicken and makes you "it"; (c) be blinded either by slanting sun rays, a sudden shower, or simply a drenching from a passing truck; (d) have somebody come over the hill at you on the wrong side of the road; or (e) make a left turn in front of you while gazing off in other direction.

All these things can happen, and do, every day. A report on highway fatalities, put into booklet form and called the "Luckless Legion" details what all can occur to contribute to your untimely demise.

As you know, speed is the biggest killer, and while we're on the subject, I may as well confess that I now am a member of the radar club. Here were these Highway Patrolmen, serenely esconced under the brow of a hill, with that fiendish little black box absolutely invisible until a tenth of a second too late. By that time, the Patrolman further down the road had appeared to call a halt.

The guy was so nice about writing out a ticket that there was no comeback, even if a fellow had any nerve. The time to cuss radar, of course, is after the encounter with the patrolmen is over, you have pulled back into the highway and are cruising at a safe 59 m.p.h. Then even us chickens can berate the system that ever brought about such speed traps.

Regardless of how irate they make you, the patrolmen and their radar have a very sobering effect. This trip I'm telling you about was concluded — all the rest of the way — at a very modest speed and very alert driving. 'S' funny how, after one of these experiences, every car you see down the road or in your rear view mirror looks significantly like a patrol car.

Well, from then on, the trip was just as an innate coward would drive it. Observe the speed limit, watch all signs, make all signals, stay in your own lane, don't pass on hills, stay awake, be courteous.

And just about that time you get smacked from behind.

Getting The Most Out Of Your Life

That great historian James Truslow Adams once made a suggestion that is worth consideration. "Perhaps it would be a good idea, fantastic as it sounds, to muffle every telephone, stop every motor, and halt all activity for an hour some day to give people a chance to ponder for a few minutes on what it is all about, why they are living, and what they really want."

I think this is an interesting suggestion and, even if you can't muffle your telephone or turn off the motors all around you, it's very well worth following. It is a sad fact that all too few of us know what it is all about, why we are living and what we really want—where we want to go and where we are headed. To make it even sadder, many of us who think we know these answers may have the wrong answers.

If you really want to get the most out of life, it is important to know something about the basic truths of life. The Bible tells us one vital truth which it would be well to stress: "No good thing will He (the Lord) withhold from them that walk uprightly."

How does that truth work out in life in a practical sense? Well, let me tell you about a man who came to see me about getting a job. He sat down and told me at length about his abilities and how good he was. And I listened and thought, "If he has all this ability and is this good, why does he come to see me asking my help?"

Then he told me about all the influential people he knew. And again I thought, "If he knows all these people, why does he need me?"

But, as he talked, the reason for his failure became obvious. He wasn't telling me all there was to tell about himself. He was dealing in vague half-truths. So I stopped him and told him just that. "You will never get to first base until you begin to be honest with yourself and with other people," I said. I rather laid it on the line and with considerably humbled attitude, he said, "O.K. what can I do about it?" I wrote out the following five-point program for him. "This will help you to walk uprightly like a man with something on the ball," I said.

1. I will be honest with myself.
2. I will be honest with other people.
3. I will say nothing derogatory about anyone.
4. I will be morally straight and eliminate all double talk and double dealing.
5. I will visualize my goal, pray for guidance and really go to work.

I guess I must have shocked him into being honest by my bluntness because he took my program and actually tried it. He got a job and he's doing quite well in it. He learned the Bible's lesson that no good thing will be withheld from the man who walks uprightly.

If that word "uprightly" bothers you, don't let it. What do you mean uprightly? It means, of course, to walk in right ways. But more than that it means to walk strong, the way God intended us to walk when He made us in His image. It means to stand up to problems like a man and not crawl through life on your hands and knees letting everything lick you. It is only by upright strength that we can be sure of getting what we want out of life.

Drama Of The Two Germanys

GENEVA—There are times when this conference takes on the quality of a game made up by children with a wild sense of the absurd.

A call came from the United Nations informing the Western delegations that the East Germans were going to put 10 chairs in place at their special table. No, no, no, a thousand times no, said the West. Six chairs for the East Germans, six chairs for the West Germans and no more. Only the four powers may have 10 chairs.

While this sounds like kindergarten play it has a deadly serious undertone. The Communist objective, which becomes more and more evident as the conference of foreign ministers goes on, is to force the recognition of East Germany as an independent state, permanently separated from the Federal Republic of West Germany. If the East Germans could by whatever stratagem get the same number of chairs as the four participants they would have taken one small step toward their goal.

The drama of the two Germans is the heart of the struggle going on here. The gnawing fear of the West Germans, compounded by a sense of guilt as they contrast their own high prosperity and outward freedom with the harsh repressions of their brothers in the East, is that as the years go by the two peoples will have a separate and different identity and reunion will be forever impossible.

The East Germans are carrying the propaganda war to the West by way of Geneva. More than 200 of them came on a special train with handsomely printed propaganda booklets showing that West Berlin is a center of espionage while East Berlin is a happy workers' paradise and the fitting capital of a flourishing workers' state. They are equipped with smiles, handshakes and the stock arguments.

But what gives away the whole show is the fact that the East German foreign minister, Lothar Bolz, and two of his subordinates are—or were—Russian citizens. As German Communists they took refuge from the Nazis in 1933, settled down in Moscow and acquired Russian wives. Then when the time came to set up a puppet regime in East Berlin they were taken off the Communist waiting list.

The facade is so thin that it cannot conceal the almost-total lack of popular support in East Germany for the regime imposed by Moscow. In free elections held today the Communists would get only a negligible share of the vote.

Since this is obviously true it is puzzling to find the West Germans so deeply concerned over the challenge from the East. But there are good reasons why this should be true and why the Federal Republic, with a large representation here, is also making its own propaganda drive.

As the years of separation lengthen into decades the Germans in the East under a constant propaganda barrage are bound to have a different outlook. This has become a greater threat since the Communist regime two years ago tightened all the exits, making it difficult, if not impossible, for an East German citizen to visit in the West and then return to his family. Today he must flee with no hope of return, and this is producing in those who stay behind a sense of isolation and abandonment.

What the West Germans want passionately to believe is that reunification can be postponed indefinitely—they know it is impossible in the foreseeable future—and yet be sure that the door is not forever closed. To close the door, to acknowledge the permanence of two separate German states, is almost to guarantee future conflict and the unending politics of revision and revenge as between the two German camps.

The German people have been torn in their loyalties between East and West and obsessed by the thrust of ambition and the thirst for power. Geneva is a new act in a new setting as the Germans of the two halves studiously avoid looking at one another while they conduct a continuous propaganda battle.

The current conference with its very limited authority can scarcely make an approach to the tragedy of the two Germanys. Perhaps the summit that is to follow can do little more. But until somehow it is resolved it will remain a grave and continuing threat to the peace.

Schantz, Hensley Will Join Chorus For Tour

By BOBBY HORTON

Ira Schantz, vocal instructor in the HCJC music department, will tour Europe again this summer with the All-American Chorus.

The troupe, which displays American culture and music to the foreign nations, will go through such countries as England, France, Italy, Switzerland, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, Monaco, Austria and Luxembourg. Stopovers and performances may be made in the cities of Stratford, Brussels, Solsberg, Munich, London, Paris, Geneva, Rome, Vienna and Florence.

Dr. James Allen Dash, organizer and director of the chorus, has offered attractive inducements to Schantz to accompany them again (he went last summer, too). Also to make the tour are Bill Hensley, a senior from Big Spring High School who plans to attend HCJC next year, and George Larsen, a local geologist.

Schantz, who was very excited over being able to make this year's more intensive trip, said the group leaves Montreal, Canada, June 28 and will be back in late August.

Hensley is making plans for schooling by correspondence while overseas.

HI TALK

Emotions Mixed As Another School Year Draws To Close

By PAT ROGERS

BSHS'ers experienced an anti-climax of school activities this week as the honor assembly, senior banquet, and prom became a thing of the past.

Slowly, but surely, the school year is coming to an end. The once noisy and busy halls will soon become vacant and silent. As the end of school nears, the seniors begin remembering the fun, laughter, sorrow and tears they have shared together in their life in BSHS. The juniors, filled with excitement and expectation, look forward to the next year, the year of their glory as seniors.

To a few students, school is only a drudgery, but to a majority of students, school, especially, is something more wonderful than explainable in words. Indeed it is a blessing sent from above to have the privilege of attending a public school, making friends and being a citizen of a free nation.

Congratulations are extended to the many, many students who were honored at the traditional Honors Assembly last Wednesday. Approximately 75 per cent of the student body was honored for one activity and some were honcred for several. A few parents attended the assembly, and they received honor indirectly when their sons or daughters were honored.

Speaking of honors, Mike Jarrett was honored in a rather unusual way. When the Honor Assembly first started, Dr. Roy D. Worley, principal, read a letter scknowledging a scholarship for Mike to Washington University. Mike has also been offered a s arship to SMU.

Monday night at the usual Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y, something unusual took place among the senior members. Since this was the last meeting of the year for the seniors, they had a party. Dressed in bermuda shorts with Cokes in their hands, the senior members of both boys' and girls' clubs talked over old times. Favors were given which had inscribed upon them, "Have a 'cool' summer."

"No rest for the weary" was the motto used by juniors this past week as frantic preparations were made for the prom. Their thanks are extended to the teachers who understood what trials and tribulations they were experiencing the week before prom night. Many of the more industrious juniors were planning to start work at 6 a.m., but whether they did is another story.

The scene: The old field house. The equipment: Mops and white wash. The costume: Blue jeans, sloppy shirts and muddy boots. The task: Painting "Seniors of '58-'59." The result: Success. Thursday was the night of rain and mud that several seniors, names unknown, set out to let the citizens of Big Spring know that there is a senior class.

Looking dignified, beautiful and handsome, the seniors filed into the Officers Club at Webb Air Force Base for their banquet. The girls were dressed in formals and the boys in their tuxedos. As they entered the room, an air of familiarity filled the room. The theme of the banquet was the same theme the seniors, when they were juniors, had used for the prom which was last year. Once again in an atmosphere of Japanese accent, the seniors bade their fellow classmates "Sayonara," or Japanese good-bye.

In the following few paragraphs you will find a description of the theme for the party and prom as prepared by Teresa Smith:

"The red carpet was rolled out for the royal seniors at the Junior-Senior Prom, May 16 at the Student Union Building. By tradition the theme "Ball Hai," was kept secret until the time for the prom. Bill Engle, junior class president, announced the couples as they entered, and Jane Cowper and Sherry Lurting placed leis, the sign of welcome, on each person. A different attraction this year was the smorgasborg which was in the patio.

"Decorations for the prom depicted a tropical island. Candlelight lent a mysterious and enchanting atmosphere to the gala affair."

After the prom and party activities came to an end, many attended the midnight show, and then went to the Senior Breakfast at Coker's Restaurant. Early this morning, several couples took a trip out of town to bring the festivities to a wonderful climax.

RUNNELS

Yearbooks Distributed

By DIANE BAKER

Tuesday the yearbooks came out. El Palomar is covered in red with a picture of a yearling. Katherine Hepner is the editor. This year 475 of the annuals were published.

All through the halls and on the campus, everyone was busy signing and having their books signed.

Tuesday afternoon at Runnels, there was a school-sponsored annual signing party and about 300 attended.

Then Katherine Hepner had an annual signing party at her home Wednesday evening. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

The American Legion award candidates were voted on Friday. These student nominees were selected by a committee of faculty members and then were voted upon by every student. The winners, one boy and one girl, will be selected on the basis of leadership, honor, courage, scholarship, and loyalty.

Nominees were Leahmon Bryant, Skipper Driver, Jack Ed Irons, David Maberry, Bowman Roberts, Chap Smith, Alice Bedwell, Katherine Hepner, Kathy Johnson, LaJuana McPherson, Rachael Phelan, Gail Potter.

Friday evening the Runnels band joined with Goliad and Senior High in a concert at the city auditorium. Selections by Runnels and Goliad included "Joy Riders", a march; "Story of Jupiter," a modern overture; "Carnival for "Trombones," a novelty; and highlights from the "King and I." The band is under the direction of Mr. Tommy Fry.

The Future Homemakers of America had their last class meeting on Friday. Chapter mothers were made honorary members of FHA and were presented with roses. Those who received the honorary memberships were Mrs. Steve Baker, Mrs. James L. Johnson Jr., Mrs. Jim Grant, Mrs. W. C. Bell, Mrs. Wayne Pate and Mrs. L. J. McPherson.

The FHA members earning the junior degree were Judy Pate, Margaret York, Joetta Barnes, Linda Sudberry, Kathy Johnson, Alice Bedwell, Marianne Bell, Dawn Fields.

The ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y had a swimming party Saturday at the Silver Saddle and a picnic. This was their last meeting of the year.

Coming up next week is the awards assembly on Thursday and the freshman picnic on Friday. Don't forget that only two weeks and one half day of school remain!

GOLIAD NEWS

Annual Signing Party Is Staged

By PAT ARMSTRONG

The annual staff presented an assembly Tuesday to dedicate the 1959 Maverick to Miss Agnes Currie. The program was a series of scenes on important days of Miss Currie's life. Sharon Gary was master of ceremonies.

Participating in the program were Betty McWhorter, Karon Koger, Winnie Greenlees, Gayle Bratcher, Sena Goodlett, Pat Armstrong, Vickie Deel, Zetta Long, Curtis Beaird, and Peter Mack. Mr. Bill Dawes led the students in singing Happy Birthday to Mrs. T. S. Currie, who was a special guest.

Annuals were presented to Miss Currie, the administrative staff, and the school board. The students then went to their homerooms where annuals were given out. In an announcement Mr. S. A. Walker complimented the annual staff and sponsor, Mrs. Bill Quimby, on the fine work they did on Goliad's first edition of the Maverick.

Appraisers To File Report On Airport Studies

Special appraisers committee appointed by the County Court to fix damages to property adjacent to the Howard County airport will submit its report to the Commissioners Court on Tuesday.

The appraisers are George O'Brien, George Elliott and Harold Talbot. Their assignment is to fix the damages that avigation requirements will impose on property in the area of the county airport.

They will make a report, setting the dollar damages they feel should be paid to each property owner. When this report is filed with the commissioners, the way is cleared for the commissioners to enforce restrictions established by the Civil Aeronautics Authority relative to height of structures on the lands involved.

The property owner, if he feels the amount is inadequate, has the right to appeal the findings to a jury in the county court. The county, by the same law, has the right to appeal from the appraisers' findings to the same court.

The action of the appraisers, however, in laying their report before the court clears the way for the county and the CAA to to enforce the restrictions set up. Any further litigation over the issue is strictly a matter of the dollars involved in the situation.

Meek Interest In Fairview Gin Sold To J. O. McCrary

Mr. and Mrs. O. Meek have sold their interest in the Fairview Gin to J. O. McCrary.

They have no plans for the present except to catch up on their fishing and visiting, and then they will consider re-entering business.

For 21 years the Meeks have been in the ginning trade at Fairview, coming there in 1938 when they acquired interests from Earl Phillips and L. F. Kiesling. For 14 years they lived in a house on the gin yard before they moved into Big Spring. More recently they were associated with J. R. Dillard.

Their son, Dan, who now is in college, helped them with the operation for several years. The gin, an independent one, has long been a popular plant and last year it peaked at almost 6,000 bales.

Sanitarian Waging War On Outhouses

Call it a privy, an outhouse, Chick Sale, a Johnnie.

Call it what you like, but it is still in use in Big Spring.

Not in as great numbers as in the past naturally, but still prevalent spreading disease and filth among the citizenry.

Lige Fox, city sanitarian, said that the outhouse population as of this week was 40, but two months ago, it was nearer 50. Fox said that seven had been eliminated within that two-month period.

More are expected to disappear during the next few days, too.

Most but not all of the privies are located on the North Side; Fox said there were some on W. 2nd.

Out of the 40 now in use, about one-third serve residences that could tie onto city sewer service without the city laying additional lateral lines. The remaining two-thirds are not in areas served by city sewers, however.

The one-third group is not going unnoticed. Fox said that warning notices are being sent to all of these owners asking that the residences be tied into the city's sewer. The warning notices are not all the city will do in an attempt to rid the city of the disease traps; court action could result.

Most of the residences are rental units where property owners are deriving profit from them. Thus, Fox feels, there is no reason why they should not be eliminated.

The total number of outhouses has fallen considerably since Fox came to Big Spring in 1952 as sanitarian. At that time, there were 77 "telephone booths" in use.

The amount of disease that can be spread from outhouses is unlimited, Fox said. Such diseases as can be carried by flies—typhoid, dysentery, hepatitis, diarrhea — can be spread from outhouse refuse.

There is one consolation—if it can be termed such—and that is there are only three or four open toilets here, the rest pit-types, said the sanitarian. When properly enclosed and screened, Fox said the pit-type privies don't pose too great a fly problem. But still much greater than indoor facilities which is the city's aim for the 40 houses.

Boxes Necessary For Postal Service

Mail service to the 50 or more families who make their home in the new Douglass Addition south and west of town will start just as quickly as the residents have their mail boxes in place, Elmer Boatler, postmaster, reiterated Saturday.

He said that numerous residents in the area have been calling on the phone asking when the service will be initiated. Until the boxes are in place and available to the mail carrier, the service cannot begin, Boatler explained. He added that when a majority of the boxes are established, he will immediately initiate the service.

Tax Collections Up By $1,200 In April, City Reports

City tax department revenue was up some $1,200 during April over the same time last year.

The tax assessor, Perry Johnson, reported that the city collected $5,688.06 in taxes during April, $1,207.79 more than came in during April of 1958.

Current tax collections provided the cushion. The current taxes were up $2,300.65 over April of 1958 for a total of $3,196.08. Delinquent taxes last month amounted to only $1,564.70, down $1,020.52 from the same month of '58.

Occupation taxes brought in $247, and dog taxes contributed $35.25. Another $30 came from tax certificates, and $24.31 came from the bus franchise. The taxi franchise revenue totaled $89.59.

Laugh-Loaded Comedies, Stark Drama Head List

SOME LIKE IT HOT, starring Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon. Produced and directed by Billy Wilder. Written by Wilder and I. A. L. Diamond. Tuesday through Saturday at the Ritz.

The idea was stolen from "Charley's Aunt," and the thief had double vision.

"Some Like It Hot" is not the funniest film ever, but it is among the year's funniest. Its humor is wide-ranging and sexy.

The title may be a puzzle until one sees Marilyn Monroe in some of the provocative poses she assumes during the comedy. Co-starred with her are Jack Lemmon, Tony Curtis, Joe E. Brown, George Raft and a host of others.

It is primarily a sex farce, but the humor includes all types from wide-eyed innocence to the macabre.

The story catches Lemmon and Curtis inadvertently witnessing the infamous St. Valentine's Day massacre in Chicago. Stricken with fear (dead witnesses don't testify, you know), the two take it on the lam, dressing up as girls and joining an all-girl orchestra, whilst villain Raft and his minions look high and low for them.

MARILYN MONROE & TONY CURTIS
An ersatz girl and a real one

The train ends at Miami Beach, after some trying moments for the "girls" in the Pullman. There, old-time comic Joe E. Brown (where's he been?) shows up as an eccentric millionaire, and as he falls for Lemmon, one of the funniest sequences begins. Meanwhile, Curtis drops his disguise, dresses up as a millionaire, and Miss Monroe falls for him.

But Raft and his mobsters also turn up in Miami Beach, and the film ends with a bang-up finish.

Lots of the laughs are lost — what in theatre are known as throwaway lines. Meaning they are lost in the audience's laughter. Screen players have the disadvantage of not being able to pause to let the lines get through.

You may have to see it twice to laugh twice as much.

The notorious outlaw has been painted as everything from a vicious killer to a 19th Century Robin Hood. There has often been comic relief in otherwise heavy dramas. And in no case has the portrait been wholly accurate.

But Bob Hope changes all this. 'Alias Jesse James" is the most accurate and certainly the most humorous version of the bandit's career. The fictionizing of his story centers on Hope rather than Jesse himself, and Wendell Corey is left to enact his straight man role.

Hope is seen as an insurance agent who has sold a policy to the outlaw, only to discover the real identity of his customer. His attempts to recover the policy make for some of the best and most Hopeful comedy yet.

HOPE & COREY
He got sold short

MICKEY ROONEY
A portrait in viciousness

Rhonda Fleming provides an interesting romantic angle.

* * *

"The Last Mile" is Mickey Rooney's greatest adult performance. In fact, it may be the critical factor of the former child star's comeback.

Rooney is starred as Killer John Mears, a cold-blooded, debased, murderous criminal awaiting execution. He accomplishes a portrait in viciousness that has seldom been equalled.

The story of Killer Mears, based on an actual incident, has been portrayed before. On the stage, it brought fame to Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy. Later, the screen version helped the career of Preston Foster.

The first portion of the film is moody. The scene is Death Row, and the characters are those of men about to die. They are in a misery of remorse, and the supporting cast is superb in this portrayal.

But Mears is not remorseful. He sets off a revolt designed to free himself and the other condemned men, and the cap is blown off as the story gets bloodier and messier and more merciless.

The story does get a bit overly melodramatic at times, which causes some in the audience to laugh. But it is a powerful dose of drama for all that, most particularly in light of Rooney's characterization.

* * *

"Gideon's Day" is an American approach to a day in the life of a Scotland Yard inspector. As a result it lacks the quiet efficiency of the British product; the situations are overemphasized and the actors are made to overplay their parts.

This is unfortunate on two counts: the director is that finely talented genius, John Ford, and the star of the show is personable Jack Hawkins. These two names should draw an audience, and most people won't mind the wide-eyed and innocent approach to the realities of the Yard.

Marjorie Rhodes, a bit player, makes up for the film's other faults with her dignified portrayal of a murdered girl's mother.

* * *

Returning and recommended:

"Francis Joins the Navy." Saturday kid show. Tale of a talking mule, and the fuss he kicks up aboard ship. One of the classics in film humor.

"The Delicate Delinquent." Jerry Lewis in the first of his new-look comedies. He takes on a Chaplinesque quality and gives forth with less of the St. Vitus Dance type of wit.

"I Want to Live!" The role that earned an Academy Award for Susan Hayward. The story delineates the life and eventual execution of a convicted murderess, and stirs controversy by lighting up a few dark corners that should have been well lighted at her trial. It's heavy drama throughout.

* * *

The Hollywood pipeline:

Burl Ives has taken the role of Leeteg, one of James A. Michener's more repulsive characters in his "Rascals in Paradise". . . Woody Woodpecker, Mister Magoo and Bugs Bunny are the only cartoon characters still making money for their creators. . .

Disney's latest project is "Kidnapped," by Robert Louis Stevenson. . .director is Robert Stevenson, but not the same one—just a distant relative. . .

Castro is still bartering with movie folk over movie rights, with Cameron Mitchell the latest . . . it's Natalie Wood and James Garner for "Cash McCall.". . .

H. G. Wells' "Time Machine" will be filmed by George Pal, who did so well with "Destination Moon" and "War of the Worlds" . . .with Pal's help, Hollywood may yet rise above the sickening horror pulp which it disguises as science fiction. . .

Women are returning to the movie houses. . .experts cite two major factors; the crowding of TV screens with action stories, and the increased Hollywood output of "women's" films. . .

Soviet Union Likes Cultural Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov says his government wants to talk about extending the Soviet-American cultural exchange agreement for another couple of years.

Menshikov told this to newsmen at the State Department after calling on U.S. Special Ambassador William Lacy to arrange negotiations for renewing the agreement.

"I can say it certainly is going on successfully and it certainly is useful," Menshikov said.

4 Girls Caught Smearing Art Works

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — "We got a kick out of it," one of the four young girls accused of smearing clay over valuable paintings and statues at the Detroit Art Institute explained.

The girls, three of them 11 and the other 13, were grabbed by a museum guard last week after they had spread modeling clay over the works of art.

CRITIQUE
Of The Local Entertainment Scene

By Bob Smith

Rehearsals for "The Seven-Year Itch" are going forward.

The backroom of the Prairie Playhouse has been cleared out, and various odd articles are substituting for the stage furniture until the cast and crew move over to the college. A huge, overturned cabinet, for example, sits atop an old gas burner and now serves as a prop piano.

The real piano, along with all other stage equipment, will be ready on opening night.

On the 29th of this month, immediately following the last scheduled usage of HCJC Auditorium, crew members will move in to set up the stage for the following Thursday, opening night. Work is progressing on props, costumes and lights, but there's not much more that can be done until the college stage is available.

Right now, the backroom of the Playhouse serves adequately. It is approximately the same size as the college stage, and the players need room for blocking.

* * *

At first, in most any play, some of the lines seem to have no meaning. Actors argue over what the author had in mind. Then, after lines are memorized and the director begins blocking out stage action, the lines take on meaning. That is because, often, the action motivates the line.

This combination of spoken word with action is, of course, one of the advantages of theatre over other mediums of expression.

Doug Wiehe's brass ensemble and Ira Schantz' college choir are both well conducted, and their concerts are always pleasing, if not more.

The major work of the evening will be Schubert's "Mass No. 4 in C." It will be the first performance of this work in Big Spring, and possibly in the Southwest.

Schubert's melodies have properly become classics, and those of the "C" mass are no exception. In this work, passages by the choir alternate with solo passages for vocal quartet.

The event will take place at 4 p.m., in HCJC Auditorium.

Fallacies Of Film Awards Continue To Be Ignored

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The awards season has come and gone, sprinkling gold statuettes all over the horizon.

The winners can exult over their gleaming hardware. The losers can sigh and mutter "next year." And we reporters can carp and caution, but our comments will be ignored, as usual.

It's useless to point out the fallacies of the awards system. The most pointed remarks were once made by Humphrey Bogart, himself an Oscar winner. He realized the folly of trying to pick a winner from performances given in widely divergent vehicles under differing conditions.

The Bogart formula for foolproof awarding: let each actor have a try at the same role, say Hamlet, in a single year.

Impossible? Of course. But no sillier than some of the awards that are given. Can you compare a great musical with a great drama? They are made under different conditions and appeal to different emotions. Yet they must compete against each other.

At least with the Oscars you are considering the same medium: motion pictures. Logic goes out the window with the Emmies. There you've got live shows, which are done like stage plays, competing with filmed shows, which are made like movies. Then you've got shows that are partly live and partly filmed (or taped). Example: the big winner, "An Evening with Fred Astaire."

Astaire's award as best actor in a single performance has evoked much comment, and his own offer to return the Emmy. He was playing himself, a role as he has perfected in six decades. Is it fair for him to be pitted against actors like Paul Muni, Rod Steiger and Mickey Rooney, who had to create new roles for their nominations?

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR CHILDREN!

Polio isn't licked yet! In fact, among children not vaccinated, paralytic polio cases actually increased in 1958 over 1957. More one-year-olds were stricken than any other age group.

If your youngsters are still not protected against this feared disease, insist that they start and complete the full series of polio shots NOW.

The 1959 polio season is almost here. The sooner your children are polio-protected, the safer their futures will be. And since polio strikes all ages—be sure to get your shots too. See your doctor or health department NOW.

Americans Win Award At Cannes

CANNES, France (AP)—Bradford Dillman, Dean Stockwell and Orson Welles have split the award for best actor at the annual Cannes Film Festival.

The American acting trio was honored for work in "Compulsion," the film of the novel based on Chicago's Loeb-Leopold case. Dillman and Stockwell played the two rich young men charged with the thrill murder of the 1920s. Welles played their attorney, modeled on the famed criminal lawyer, Clarence Darrow.

"Orfeu Negro," a French film produced in Brazil on a shoestring budget, won the grand prize, the Golden Palm.
