Teen shoots two brothers; violent music is only motive

LOVINGTON, N.M. (AP) — A teen-ager who shot his two sleeping brothers in the head in their remote ranchhouse was an avid listener of rap music that advocated violence, authorities said Friday.

"Even the titles themselves were explicit. They spoke of killing and things of this nature," Lea County Sheriff Bill Lane said.

Andy Lopez, 13, was being held in the Lea County Detention Center after the shootings early Friday at the house on Lea County Road 103 about 3 miles north of Lovington, authorities said.

The teen-ager was being held on two counts of attempted murder, the sheriff said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Jackson returned to a Thailand stage Friday while his attorney half a world away said an extortion attempt against the singer came from the father of the boy who made molestation allegations.

Howard Weitzman, Jackson's lawyer, said the 13-year-old's father tried to strike a deal with Jackson to start a film production and financing company, and indicated the abuse allegations could be reported if Jackson refused.

U.N. ceases oil embargo against Haiti

■ Security Council to reimpose sanctions if parties to political settlement don't keep promises.

Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS — The U.N. Security Council suspended a crippling, 2½-month-old oil embargo and other economic sanctions against Haiti on Friday as a democratic government prepared to take office there.

The suspension was effective immediately. Oil shipments were expected to begin arriving within a week in the fuel-starved nation, the poorest in the Americas. In Washington, the Organization of American States also suspended sanctions it imposed on Haiti nearly two years ago.

The 15-member council unanimously adopted a resolution saying, "The (sanctions) measures set out in ... Resolution 841 are suspended with immediate effect." The sanctions include an oil embargo, a ban on all military purchases and freezing of foreign assets linked to the Haitian military.

The action came after Prime Minister-designate Robert Malval was ratified by the Haitian Parliament. Malval, the choice of ousted President Jean-Bertrand Aristide, is to be sworn in Monday in Washington, where Aristide now lives.

Security Council President Madeleine K. Albright of the United States said in a speech Friday, "Sanctions alone could not solve Haiti's suffering. But we knew that imposing sanctions would send a clear and unequivocal message to those would extinguish the democratic flame and in so doing allow their own nation to collapse."

The session later adjourned.

Student's slaying threatens idealism of peace in land full of racial barriers

By Sahm Venter
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Like dozens of other Americans each year, Amy Elizabeth Biehl came to South Africa determined to break down racial barriers.

Her death Wednesday at the hands of the people she wanted to know showed that to many angry young blacks, good deeds can't overcome a white skin.

Her young assailants didn't ask whose side she was on when they smashed a brick into her face. They didn't heed the bumper sticker on the battered car reading "Our Land Needs Peace" when they stabbed her to death.

King's wedding anniversary to unite royals, could spark regal romances

By Doug Mellgren
Associated Press writer

OSLO, Norway — Paparazzi, take note. Newspapers, save those pages. Cupid, get to work.

Most of Europe's unmarried princes and princesses will meet up next week for a royal cruise on Norway's fjords.

A Dutch newspaper has dubbed the excursion a royal "Love Boat."

The unwed bluebloods are attending 25th wedding anniversary celebrations for King Harald V and Queen Sonja on Sunday. Most will accompany their parents, the kings and queens of six monarchies.

But Norwegians, Britons, Dutch, Swedes and Danes will be keeping their eye on two related events: royal parties in Oslo this weekend and a three-day shipboard tour of the western fjords that starts Monday.

The tour will take place in two boats, the Norwegian king's yacht, Norge, and Denmark's royal Dannebrog.

"It's like it was made for royal romances," gushed the Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet.

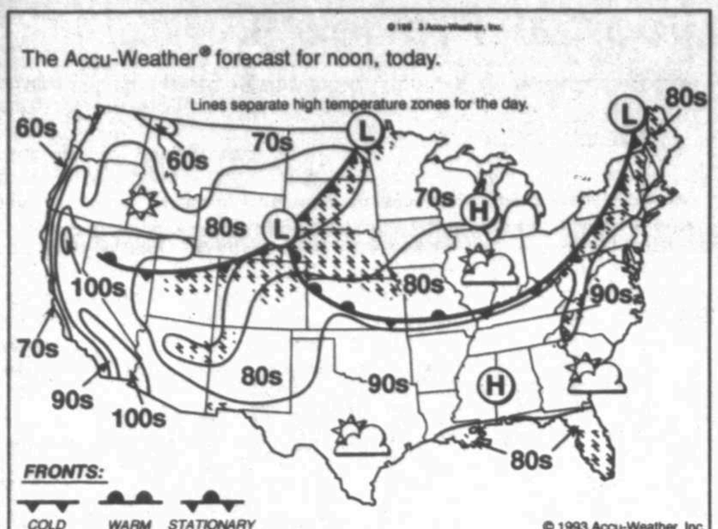

"Ready for romance," cheered the Oslo newspaper Verdens Gang. "Seldom have so many young people from Europe's nobel houses been gathered."

Among the 14 young and single royals expected to join the celebrations are: Great Britain's 29-year-old Prince Edward: Crown Prince Haakon, 20, and his sister Princess Martha Louise of Norway.

Also on the list: Denmark's 25-year-old Crown Prince Frederik and his brother

WEATHER WATCH

Via Associated Press

Today to be partly cloudy, hot

Today's forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with a high near 90 and southeast winds 10-15 mph, according to a National Weather Service spokesman.

Tonight should be fair with a low between 65-70.

Sunday should be partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms and a high near 90.

STATE

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered across Texas on Friday, with temperatures more moderate than earlier in the week.

Afternoon showers and thunderstorms developed in parts of South Texas from the Rio Grande plains to the upper coast, the National Weather Service said.

Temperatures were mostly in the 80s and 90s throughout the region, although the Hill Country and lower Rio Grande valley had readings in the upper 90s.

Cloudy conditions and chances of showers and thunderstorms should continue in the area through today. Highs today were expected to be in the 90s.

In North Texas, temperatures were also mostly in the 90s, with a high of 96 at Sherman and Temple and a low of 91 at Lufkin.

The area had light winds for most of the day, although gusts of over 20 mph were reported.

Skies were mostly hazy and cloudy throughout North Texas.

Today and Sunday should be partly cloudy as well, with highs in the 90s and lows in the 60s and 70s. Widely scattered thunderstorms were also forecast for the area.

The Panhandle also had scattered showers and thunderstorms Friday, but skies were mostly sunny in the rest of West Texas.

Afternoon temperatures were in the lower 80s to mid-90s. The region's high was 95 at Childress. The low was 82 at Marfa.

Showers and storms in the Panhandle should continue through Sunday. Otherwise, West Texas should be fair to partly cloudy.

NATION

Record heat baked the Northeast on Friday and record lows chilled parts of the Northwest. Thunderstorms were scattered around the nation and caused flooding in Michigan.

Atlantic storm Emily, meanwhile, had forecasters warning it was too soon to tell where — or if — it would hit land. The storm remained hundreds of miles from land.

Bridgeport, Conn., posted a record high for the date of 93 degrees. Newark, N.J., hit a record 100 degrees, the hottest for the date since 1948.

Hot, humid weather was expected in southern New York state through today and heat advisories were posted over parts of Indiana, Kentucky, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

In Crawford County, Ind., people sought relief from highs in the 90s by paying a visit on the Marengo Cave National Landmark, about 30 miles west of New Albany.

"Any day that it's real, real hot, that's when they come to the cave," said spokesman Gary Roberson. "It's 52 degrees all year round."

Hot, sticky weather canceled classes in some areas for students at schools without air conditioned classrooms.

Record lows in the Northwest included 42 degrees at Billings, Mont., and 34 degrees at Pocatello, Idaho.

Showers and thunderstorms fell in parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio, the southern Atlantic states, the Gulf of Mexico Coast, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

More than an inch of rain fell in Albuquerque, N.M., in 30 minutes.

MUSIC: Teen allegedly shoots 2 brothers

(From 1A)

Allen Lopez, 21, and Adrian Lopez, 9, — each with a single gunshot wound to the head — were listed in extremely critical condition Friday afternoon at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, Texas.

The brothers were shot while sleeping in separate beds in the bedroom they shared with Andy, Lane said.

"Andy woke up this morning, got a .22-caliber rifle, and shot both his brothers while they slept," Lane said.

Investigators were trying to determine a motive, Lane said.

"From all indications, there was no type of hostility between the three," Lane said.

"The juvenile himself says he doesn't know why he did it," the sheriff said. "He doesn't remember even doing it."

The parents and at least one sister were at the home at the time the two brothers were shot, Lane said.

Members of the Lovington Police Department and Lovington Fire Department responded to a call about a shooting at the home at 6:26 a.m. Friday, and sheriff's officers arrived shortly thereafter, Lane said.

Andy Lopez, an eighth-grader at Lovington Junior High School, was in a hallway, weeping, Lane said.

"We found him outside the bedroom," Lane said. "A family member gave us the gun apparently taken from him prior to our arrival."

The mother, Rosa Lopez, woke up Andy, apparently "to get ready to go to school," Lane said. "She left the bedroom and just moments later heard two gunshots."

Ms. Lopez started to return to the room when she saw her son come out of the room with the rifle, Lane said.

"He pointed at her and threatened to kill her," the sheriff said.

"Another sister came into the hallway where they were and he also threatened her," Lane said.

Allen Lopez, an emergency medical technician with the fire department, and his wounded brother, a fourth-grader at Yarbro Elementary School in Lovington, were initially taken to Nor-Lea Regional Hospital in Lovington, Lane said.

The brothers were then airlifted to the Lubbock hospital because of the seriousness of their injuries, he said.

There were no immediate reports of prior trouble at the home, but "we're pulling files for any activity prior to this," he said.

But, he said, Ms. Lopez and her husband, Armando Lopez, "had been trying to keep him from listening to some of these rap group tapes that all advocated violence."

PEACE: Racial tension claims American's life

(From 1A)

. . . they are going to find one," said Tina Johnson, 41, of New York City, a white actress who has been in the Cape Town area since April teaching drama to blacks.

Johnson did not know Biehl but was jolted enough by the murder that she was hesitating over a lunch invitation in a nearby black township.

Universities that host visiting U.S. academics fear the killing of the Fulbright scholar will severely affect their programs, and the U.S. Embassy said it could upgrade its travel warnings to Americans visiting South Africa.

Biehl, 26, was the first American killed in South Africa's political violence, and she was one of the few white victims.

Her father, Peter, said she would be cremated in Cape Town and her ashes flown to her home in the United States, where there will be a memorial service on September 3.

A blue-eyed blonde from the surfing paradise of Newport Beach, Calif., in one of the United States' most conservative counties, Biehl seemed an unlikely candidate for South Africa's political activism.

Her mixed-race South African roommate, Melanie Jacobs, was initially suspicious of Biehl, who arrived 10 months ago to research a thesis on women's rights at the mainly black University of the Western Cape.

But Jacobs' suspicion turned to devotion to the woman who ran marathons between studying the Xhosa language and learning the African street-dance known as the Pantsula.

"She danced and danced. I used to call her an honorary African," Jacobs said, describing Biehl as a beach baby, a party animal, a fitness freak and a humanitarian rolled into one.

"Amy taught me the youth are not responsible for their anger," she said.

The two youths arrested in connection with Biehl's death are members of the student wing of the militant Pan Africanist Congress and accused Biehl of being a "settler" as they killed her.

It's a term the PAC uses for whites, and it is one that other Americans say they have been hearing more often. The PAC regularly chants the slogan "One Settler, One Bullet."

"Every single day when I go into the townships I get called a settler. Kids aged three or four pretend to shoot me with their fingers," said Tom Winslow, 28, from Cleveland, Ohio, who works in black townships counseling victims of violence.

Winslow said he began noticing an increase in anti-white comments after the April slaying of Chris Hani, a militant ANC leader allegedly killed by white South African right-wingers.

Hani's murder raised fears of a major black backlash, but the response was far less severe than anticipated.

However, with violence in black townships soaring because of political tensions among rival parties, more racial attacks could occur, said Lloyd Vogelman, director of the independent Institute for the Study of Violence.

The problem, he said, is that youths in black areas have become dangerously desensitized as they watch their neighbors, friends, and families fall victim to violence. The result could be more attacks on civilians, particularly whites who are seen as the oppressor, despite their good intentions.

The Americans here say Biehl's death, while devastating, won't stop them from doing what they came to do.

CLAIM: Friends lend Jackson their support

(From 1A)

duct of the boy's father rises to a level of extortion," Weitzman told The Associated Press.

Asked why Jackson didn't report the alleged extortion attempt to police, Weitzman said: "It was our hope that this would all go away. We tried to keep it as much in-house as we could."

An attorney for the boy's father, a prominent Beverly Hills dentist who also is a screenwriter, declined to return several telephone messages.

Police opened a criminal investigation after the boy reportedly told his therapist he was sexually abused by Jackson during a four-month relationship.

Jackson has denied any wrongdoing.

In his most extensive comments since releasing a statement from Jackson on Tuesday, Weitzman said he had been in contact with the singer and that Jackson was coping with the matter as best as possible.

"He's obviously concerned and really confused that anybody would make these types of allegations," the lawyer said. "He's strong enough that he's going on with his tour and understands that people of his profile can be vulnerable and victims at times."

Jackson, who canceled two shows this week, performed Friday before 40,000 fans in Bangkok as part of his "Dangerous" tour. The megastar missed the two shows because of severe dehydration caused by Bangkok's stifling heat and humidity, Jackson's doctor said.

Coca-Cola, rival of the Jackson-endorsed Pepsi, wasted little time in capitalizing on Jackson's problems, running half-page ads in Thailand's two English-language newspapers saying, "Dehydrated? . . . There's always Coke."

Meanwhile, actress Elizabeth Taylor, a close friend of Jackson's, and his sister, pop star Janet Jackson, were traveling to join him to provide moral support, said concert promoter Brian Marcar.

In Los Angeles, there were signs the police probe was running into some snags Friday after several days of revelations about Jackson's alleged molestation of the young boy, whose claims of abuse grew out of a custody dispute involving his divorced parents.

CEASE: U.N. lifts oil embargo against Haiti

was applauded in Haiti, which has been running on strategic reserves of diesel fuel for more than a week.

The council warned it could reimpose sanctions at any time if any parties to the Haitian political settlement fail to keep their promises.

Under a pact signed by Aristide and army commander Gen. Raoul Cedras, the man who ousted him, Aristide is to be restored to power by Oct. 30, when sanctions will be formally terminated.

The Roman Catholic priest-president, Haiti's first democratically elected leader, was toppled by a bloody army coup in September 1991.

Friday was believed to be the first time the council lifted or suspended sanctions after imposing them. Sanctions have been imposed against Iraq, Libya, Serbia, Somalia and an arms embargo still is in effect against South Africa.

Albright said that by removing the sanctions, "We have shown that we will be serious in responding to serious progress.

"Let this be a message to those who continue to stonewall this council ... We have also shown that this economic tool is both flexibile and effective and that this council can act quickly and decisively."

Haiti's U.N. ambassador, M. Fritz Longchamp, told the council that the sanctions "were not too high a price" to pay. Only sanctions could have forced the military-dominated government to the bargaining table, he said.

The sanctions were imposed June 16. The accord was signed 2½ weeks later, on July 2.

The U.N. and OAS sanctions hamstrung the economy in Haiti, a nation of 6.5 million people. The deaths of about 10,000 Haitians have been directly or indirectly linked to malnutrition and lack of medicine caused by the sanctions, according to Haitian doctors and lawmakers.

U.N. envoy Dante Caputo, who mediated the Haiti political settlement in July, appealed to the international community on Friday to help with Haiti's economic reconstruction and to restore full diplomatic relations.

Many nations cut diplomatic ties or withdrew ambassadors from Port-au-Prince to protest the coup.

Next week, the Security Council will consider deployment of a 1,000-person police and military construction mission to help train Haiti's police and military and to undertake huge reconstruction and building projects for the shattered economy. Great infusions of foreign assistance are expected.

Ambassador Longchamp cautioned after Friday's session that Haiti's political situation is far from stable.

"We believe there are sections within the military and also outside trying to sabotage" the political settlement, he said, noting that only days ago a man was summarily executed because he put up a poster of Aristide.

REGAL: Royal cruise may spark blueblood romance

(From 1A)

Prince Joachim, 24; Sweden's Crown Princess Victoria, 16; Spain's princesses Elena, 29, and Cristina, 28; 23-year-old Prince Nicholas of Greece and his sister Princess Alexia, 28; and Crown Prince Willem-Alexander, 26, of the Netherlands, with his brothers, Johan Friso, 24, and Constantijn, 23.

The ships are too small for all 40 royals, so the younger generation will spend nights ashore at hotels along the cruise route.

During the day, they will join their elders on ship, on sightseeing excursions via buses and helicopters, or on hiking trips to glaciers.

Pre-cruise plans include a royal dinner on Saturday and a dance on Sunday, where Swedish newspapers say their 16-year-old Victoria will be the belle.

"Victoria, now you have the chance to bring home a fitting prince," said the Expressen newspaper.

In Britain, newspapers strove to match up their Prince Edward, or Denmark's Prince Joachim, or the exiled Prince Nicholas of Greece with Norway's 21-year-old Princess Martha Louise. That came despite reports she already has a steady boyfriend.

London's Daily Mail decided that Sweden's Crown Princess Victoria would be a perfect match for Norway's Crown Prince Haakon.

That match may not be in the stars, however. Both junior monarchs are expected to someday ascend the throne of their respective countries — and Norwegians, who broke a hated union with Sweden in 1905, are not interested in another royal alliance.

All this talk of possible royal romances comes as an ironic twist for the host of these events, Norway's King Harald.

As a young prince, Harald snubbed a parade of young noblewomen and resisted his father King Olav's wish that he marry another blueblood. Harald struggled for 10 years to win his father's permission to marry the commoner Sonja Haraldsen on Aug. 29, 1968.

students, taking less than 12 credit hours of course work, may enroll as late as Thursday, Sept. 9. Late registration takes place in the Student Services area of the Student Center. Hours for late registration are 8 a.m.-7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 30; 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Tuesday-Wednesday, Aug. 31-Sept. 1; and 8 a.m.-5 p.m. thereafter.

Not included in the count for the start of classes are students who are enrolling in Midland College extension centers in Fort Stockton, Big Lake, Iraan and Ozona, plus students who enroll for concurrent Midland College classes at Midland High and Midland Lee high schools.

"Although students still have several days to sign up for classes, they should be aware that classes are being closed due to maximum enrollment sizes or laboratory limits. Others are being cancelled due to light enrollment in some areas," said Dr. Don Cates, associate dean of students and registrar. "If they wait until the last day or so, they may find they can't enroll for the classes they wish."

Midland College's all-time enrollment record was the 4,153 who signed up in the fall of 1991. The final count for the 1992 fall semester was 4,107.

Information regarding registration at Midland College is available in the fall bulletin, which may be obtained at any Midland YMCA. Some information also is available by calling 685-4501.

Accident kills 2 Dallas residents

EL PASO — Two Dallas residents were killed early Friday morning near El Paso when the driver of the vehicle they were riding in fell asleep at the wheel, according to a spokeswoman for the Department of Public Safety.

Travis William Thomas, 20, and Katherine Sue Thomas, 46, were both pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Rebecca Walker. Sandrina Lashon James, 16, also of Dallas was injured in the accident. She is in stable condition with back, arm and leg injuries in Columbia Medical Center East in El Paso.

The accident occurred at 6:58 a.m. one tenth of a mile east of milepost 70 in Hudspeth County. Mr. Thomas was the driver of the vehicle, which was westbound on Interstate 10 when he apparently fell asleep.

The vehicle went out of control and crossed the median. The driver tried to overcompensate and get back on the highway when the car slid sideways, crossing both westbound lanes.

Business people go back to school

Staff report

Midland students won't be the only ones going back to school on Monday.

Some business people will be preparing to go into the classroom as well, as Junior Achievement volunteers.

Bob Kroeger, department manager, and Jim Heasley, financial analyst at Texas Instruments, will again teach JA's Project Business. The two will team up for 10 visits to a freshman class to talk about such topics as the U.S. free-market system and the importance of a high school diploma.

Volunteers like the T.I. executives teach structured lessons provided by J.A. The effect of business and economic education is evident through Brad Logan, owner of Mr. Rueben's Restaurant. Logan said his participation in JA fostered his interest in becoming an entrepreneur.

FBI searches psychiatric hospitals in four major Texas cities

By Pauline Arrillaga
Associated Press writer

DALLAS — FBI agents searched psychiatric hospitals in four Texas cities Thursday for "possible criminal misconduct" as part of a nationwide sweep of facilities owned by National Medical Enterprises Inc.

The company, one of the nation's largest operators of psychiatric hospitals, faces litigation alleging hundreds of millions of dollars in overbillings.

The searches were in Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo, and Houston as part of an "ongoing investigation into possible criminal misconduct" on the part of the psychiatric hospital chain, said Marjorie Poche, spokeswoman for the FBI's Dallas office.

Additional search warrants were executed at the company's headquarters in Santa Monica, Calif., and at hospitals in Denver, Indianapolis, Los Angeles, Phoenix, St. Louis, San Diego, Atlanta, Milwaukee and Minneapolis, the FBI said.

Texas insurers, others sue hospital holding company in federal court. They accuse firm of issuing $750 million in phony bills.

The company owns or operates about 130 acute-care, rehabilitation and psychiatric hospitals across the country.

Search warrants were executed at various medical facilities and some document storage areas, the FBI said.

Ms. Poche refused to give further details about the investigation.

Three Texas insurers have sued the company, and 13 other insurers have sued National Medical in federal court in Washington, D.C., accusing it of submitting more than $750 million in phony bills.

The lawsuits say the company billed the insurers for psychiatric procedures and services that were unnecessary or simply not performed.

In addition, more than 100 lawsuits allege that patients were abused and mistreated at company-owned facilities.

The Texas attorney general's office began an investigation in 1991 into for-profit psychiatric hospitals in Texas following reports of abuse at a facility owned by National Medical Enterprise.

The Colonial Hills Hospital in San Antonio came under fire after a man alleged he was apprehended by private security officers and held against his will at the facility.

Attorney General Dan Morales expanded the probe.

Investigator: Agents sealed cult escape route

By Kathy Fair
N.Y. Times News Service

HOUSTON — Government tanks crushed a stairwell leading to a buried bus in the Branch Davidian cult compound, sealing off what the FBI had touted as the major escape route for children and women, an arson investigator said Thursday.

Paul Gray, who headed the probe into what started the fire that claimed the lives of more than 80 cultists near Waco on April 19, said he does not believe the FBI intentionally blocked the escape route.

Nonetheless, he said: "I can say, in my opinion, the escape route was blocked. But it did not contribute to the start of the fire."

Gray, assistant chief investigator with the Houston Fire Department's arson office, headed a three-member team whose preliminary report found that cult members set fire to their home in at least two places.

"Even though that (stairway) was blocked, I think a whole bunch more could have gotten out" by using one of the 68 windows or a rear stairwell near the kitchen, Gray said.

A stairway near the front door also was crushed by tanks, Gray said.

Cult survivors and attorney Dick DeGuerin, who represented cult leader David Koresh, have insisted all along that the government blocked some of the escape routes. But Gray's comments are believed to be the first acknowledgement by a government official that any such routes had been blocked.

After the fire, which reduced the sprawling compound to ruins in little more than an hour, FBI agents expressed surprise and dismay that cult mothers had not fled to the bus with their children. Seventeen children younger than 10 died in the fire.

"In that bus, the air was cool and no gas," Jeff Jamar, the FBI agent in charge of the Waco operation, said the day after the blaze. "Had Koresh wished those children to survive, that was one place they could have been put safely when he had the fire started."

Jamar, who heads the San Antonio FBI office, was golfing Thursday afternoon and was unavailable for comment, spokesman Jack Hanley said.

The arson team's report on details of the disaster were filed last week with U.S. Attorney Ray Jahn, who is heading the government's case against 12 cult members charged with murder, weapons violations and conspiracy to commit murder in connection with the deaths of four Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents and the wounding of 16 others in the initial Feb. 28 raid at the cult compound.

Seven cult members also were killed during the initial raid.

The arson report also criticizes the FBI's use of tear gas, saying the tactic was ineffective in flushing the heavily armed cultists from their fortified building.

Fearful Muslims hold U.N. convoy, allow children to leave

President Alija Izetbegovic tries unsuccessfully to free convoy, tells Muslim parliament that Bosnia must accept ethnic partition.

MOSTAR, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Desperate Muslims prevented a U.N. convoy from leaving Mostar for the second day Friday, but engineered the evacuation of five wounded children as weeping relatives looked on.

The Muslims, who have surrounded the trucks since their arrival, fear renewed Croat shelling without a U.N shield, said Peter Janssen, a spokesman for the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees.

They "are afraid of what will happen when the convoy leaves, and the consensus is that they have a point," he said.

The 19-truck convoy, accompanied by U.N. armored vehicles, brought 175 tons of aid Thursday to 55,000 Muslims trapped on the east side of the Neretva River which divides Mostar, a once picturesque town in southwest Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Weary U.N. officials continued trying to negotiate the convoy's departure throughout the day Friday.

Bosnian President Alija Izetbegovic unsuccessfully appealed to fellow Muslims to let the convoy through.

Preparing for a longer stay in Mostar, U.N. armored vehicles left nearby Medjugorje carrying water and a satellite telephone for 113 U.N. personnel and several reporters trapped in the city.

Meanwhile, leaders of Bosnia's Serbs and Muslims met to decide the fate of a peace plan proposed last week in Geneva that would divide the republic into three ethnic states with a weak central government. Bosnian Croat leaders were to meet Saturday on the plan.

The proposal would give the Muslim-led government, which now holds only about 10 percent of Bosnia, 31 percent of the republic. Serbs would get 52 percent — down from the 70 percent they now control — and Croats 17 percent.

In the Bosnian Serb headquarters of Pale, east of Sarajevo, Bosnian Serb leader Radovan Karadjic urged his self-styled parliament to adopt the plan. But some deputies, especially those from regions the Serbs would have to give up, were opposed.

In Sarajevo, Izetbegovic told the remnants of his Muslim-led parliament that Bosnia had no choice but to accept ethnic partition.

But he said the current proposal, while a basis for negotiations, was unacceptable because it left land captured by "force and genocide" in enemy hands.

In recent months, Croats and Muslims — once allies against the Serbs — have fought bitterly for land in central Bosnia and for Mostar, which the Bosnian Croats want as their capital.

The five evacuated children, ages 8 to 17, were taken in two ambulances — one a U.N. vehicle, the other belonging to a private humanitarian group — to Medjugorje. They then reached the Croatian coastal city of Split by helicopter en route to a U.S. medical unit in Zagreb, Croatia.

Sally Becker, an Irish volunteer driving the private ambulance, promised to return Sunday for three small children wounded in a grenade explosion Friday and whose evacuation the Muslims had demanded.

Inside the hospital, which lacked even basic medicine before the convoy's arrival, 10 doctors tended to dozens of patients with shrapnel wounds, amputated limbs, and other injuries resulting from weeks of relentless Croat shelling.

Despite the U.N. presence, sporadic shelling hit the Muslim sector Thursday and Friday. Bosnian radio reported three people were killed by tank shells Friday, and two by snipers Thursday.

Russian hardliners whittle rights away

MOSCOW (AP) — Over the past few months, Russian lawmakers have rolled back some of the country's most important advances in the field of human rights.

Much of the legislation has been passed quietly, avoiding a public outcry. It has largely — though not completely — dismantled the human rights guarantees that were enacted with great fanfare after the democratic victory over Communist hard-liners in the failed coup of August 1991.

New laws have endangered freedom of religion and the press, removed restrictions on police searches and gutted reforms aimed at creating an independent judiciary.

"A year ago, we thought we had built legal protections that would prevent us from ever returning to the nightmare of the past," Inga B. Mikhailovskaya, a law professor and staff expert for parliament's Committee on Human Rights, said Friday.

"But the whole trend of recent legislation has been backsliding. One by one, they're taking apart the guarantees of individual rights," she told The Associated Press.

Since the collapse of the Soviet Union, Russia's human rights record has been good. The government has not reverted to such odious practices as exiling writers, holding political prisoners or condemning dissidents to psychiatric hospitals.

But the former Communists and Russian nationalists who dominate the parliament have balked at President Boris Yeltsin's proposed new constitution, which would give Russia a strong bill of rights as well as a new, bicameral legislature.

Human rights campaigners are worried that civil liberties are becoming a victim of Russia's power struggle. The post-coup reforms also are being shoved aside by pressure to combat organized crime and restrict the influx of pornography.

Gunmen attack whites on South African bus

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — An automatic rifle attack on a luxury double-decker bus wounded eight people Friday and appeared racially motivated.

Six of the victims on the bus traveling from Cape Town to Johannesburg were white, and the type of bus involved is normally used by whites.

The pro-apartheid Conservative Party called for the government to declare a state of emergency and provide armed convoys for road travelers, while the government and the African National Congress condemned the attack and urged people to work for peace.

The attack came two days after a mob of black youths killed a white American woman, Amy Biehl, in a black township near Cape Town. The black attackers reportedly said they wanted to kill a "settler," a term used to mean whites.

Police Capt. Wikus Holtzhausen said unknown attackers sprayed the bus with automatic rifle fire in the town of Beaufort West, 280 miles northeast of Cape Town.

Five people were hospitalized, including two who were seriously injured, while three others were treated at the scene and released, Holtzhausen said.

The shots came from about 500 yards away, he said, and police recovered 45 assault rifle cartridges.

Passengers said they hit the floor when windows began cracking. Many were sleeping on the overnight trip and were slumped down in their seats, which helped them avoid the bullets.

"If you saw that bus and where the bullets went through, you wouldn't believe that more people weren't hit," said Keith Luyt, manager of a hotel where passengers were taken.

Law and Order Ministry spokesman Craig Kotze said the attack showed political leaders must confront South Africa's "culture of violence."

Conservative Party spokesman Joseph Chiole, however, called for the government to declare a state of emergency, suspend political negotiations and ban "terrorist" organizations.

Israeli press: Peres met secretly with PLO chief

JERUSALEM (NYT) — Foreign Minister Shimon Peres was reported Friday to have met secretly last week with a senior official of the Palestine Liberation Organization to work out an understanding on Palestinian self-rule in Israeli-occupied territories.

A sure topic, Israeli officials said, was a new plan that would quickly give the Palestinians authority over the Gaza Strip and the West Bank city of Jericho, with some form of accompanying withdrawal of Israeli forces from the two areas.

The Gaza-Jericho plan has become the hottest new idea in the Middle East peace talks, and is expected to be raised when negotiations resume in Washington on Tuesday. More than any bargaining session held this year, the new round has been preceded by optimistic forecasts, with senior Israeli and Palestinian officials both saying there is a chance for significant progress, perhaps even a major breakthrough.

Reports of the secret Peres meeting, published in varying forms Friday by several Israeli newspapers, were denied by a spokeswoman for the foreign minister, but only in regard to specific PLO figures mentioned in print.

She left vague the larger question of whether the foreign minister had held a meeting of any kind with a Palestinian leader while visiting Scandinavian countries last week. Other officials said any such encounter would have come only with the knowledge of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, who has recently approved several high-level contacts with the PLO while adhering to the official line that he does not negotiate directly with the organization, which is based in Tunis.

Powerful typhoon lashes Japanese coastline

TOKYO (AP) — One of the season's strongest typhoons moved up Japan's eastern coast Friday, dumping torrential rain on Tokyo, knocking out power to tens of thousands of people and affecting millions of travelers.

Three people were injured, more than 3,000 homes and businesses were flooded and more than 25,000 people were forced to flee, officials said. No deaths were reported.

Typhoon Vernon, with winds of up to 80 mph, forced the cancellation or delay of nearly all flights at Tokyo's international airport, temporarily knocked long-distance trains out of service in much of central and northern Japan and snarled service on key Tokyo railways and subway lines.

Damage was expected to spread when it reaches northeastern provinces Saturday.

The storm's eye passed within 45 miles of Tokyo, inundating the capital with 12 inches of rain from early morning through evening, weather officials said.

It was the third-heaviest downpour in a single day since Tokyo set up its weather station in 1876.

Cars stalled in flooded streets, pedestrians waded in knee-deep water at some low-lying intersections, and water poured into subway stations.

During evening rush hour, many travelers waited hours for train and subway service to resume.

Japan Railway, the nation's largest railroad company, said more than 1 million people were affected by disruptions on its lines.

Tokyo Electric Power Co. said 28,000 homes in and around Tokyo were without electricity for hours.

U.S. military installations battened down to ride out the storm. Only essential service personnel were told to report for duty.

In Chiba, just southeast of Tokyo, nearly 2,600 people were ordered to leave their homes.

Legislators in Russia go soft on foreign religions

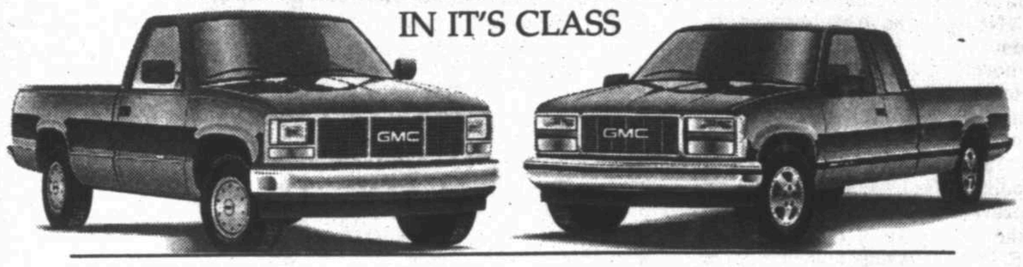

MOSCOW (AP) — Lawmakers backed down Friday from efforts to restrict the activities of foreign missionaries after provoking an outcry from world religious and political leaders.

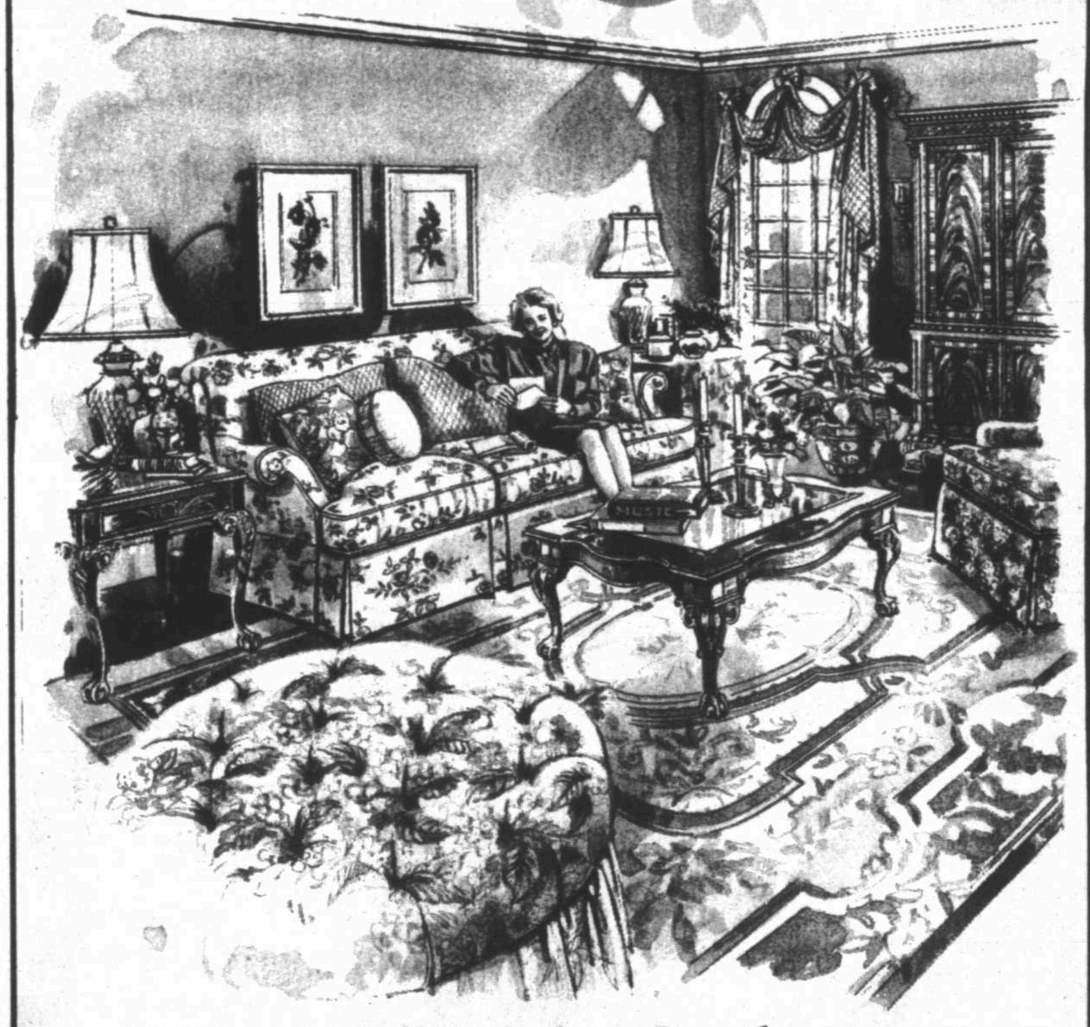

The Supreme Soviet legislature voted to adopt amendments to Russia's Law on Freedom of Religion suggested by President Boris Yeltsin, who removed provisions that would have banned foreigners from proselytizing in Russia.

Some lawmakers had wanted to require foreign religious groups to become affiliated with Russian churches or organizations or obtain state accreditation.

The proposal had been strongly backed by the Russian Orthodox Church, which claims more than 60 million believers.

Secretary of Army is charged with shoplifting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's acting secretary, John W. Shannon, has been charged with shoplifting a woman's blouse and skirt at a post exchange near the Pentagon, the Army said Friday.

The incident occurred Thursday at the Army PX at Fort Myer, Va., said Army spokesman Col. Steve Rausch.

A store detective apprehended Shannon for allegedly shoplifting a woman's blouse and skirt, the spokesman said.

Shannon was charged with misdemeanor theft of government property, an offense that carries a maximum penalty of a year in prison and a $100,000 fine, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Chesnut, a federal prosecutor in Alexandria, Va.

Shannon was given a ticket and ordered to appear Oct. 22 before a federal magistrate in Alexandria, Chesnut said. The charged offense is a misdemeanor because the value of the allegedly stolen property is less than $100.

Shannon has been acting as the Army's top civilian official pending the confirmation of a new secretary by the Clinton administration.

He was placed on administrative leave at his own request. The Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Gordon R. Sullivan, has taken over as the acting Army secretary in the interim, Rausch said.

Shannon was taken to the store manager's office and a military policeman was called, Rausch said. The Army secretary then was issued a citation alleging shoplifting and was allowed to leave the store, the spokesman said.

Suspects in such cases are routinely issued tickets and ordered to appear in court, Chesnut said.

Rausch said the Army would have "no further comment during the ongoing legal process."

Shannon was sworn in as the Undersecretary of the Army in 1989 and focused on the day-to-day management and oversight of Army operations. He also served as deputy undersecretary of the Army from 1981 to 1984.

He assumed the duties of acting secretary on Jan. 20 this year.

Shannon was born Sept. 13, 1933 in Louisville, Ky., and graduated from Central State University on Wilberforce, Ohio.

Upon graduation, Shannon was commissioned into the Army as a second lieutenant and served on active duty for 23 years, retiring with the rank of colonel.

Documents: Chief of Staff nominee's dad was Nazi SS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The father of Gen. John Shalikashvili, President Clinton's nominee to command the nation's military, served in a Nazi Waffen SS unit that fought the U.S.-led allies in World War II, archive documents show.

According to his own writings, Dimitri Shalikashvili appears to have collaborated with the Nazis almost from the start of the war in hopes that the Germans would defeat the Soviets and thus free his native Georgia from communist rule.

It was not immediately clear whether the White House knew details of the late Shalikashvili's wartime service when his son was nominated earlier this month to succeed Gen. Colin Powell as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"It was certainly known that his father served in the German army," an administration official who spoke on condition of anonymity said Friday.

In any case, said White House spokeswoman Ricki Seidman, "his record stands on its own and his father's history is not relevant." Defense Secretary Les Aspin echoed that view, saying Shalikashvili's "superb record of achievement in the United States Army speaks for itself."

Several members of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which must confirm Shalikashvili's nomination, reaffirmed their support for the four-star general who for the past year has served as commander of NATO.

"We don't think he should be judged on the basis of what his father did," agreed Rabbi Marvin Hier, director of the Nazi-hunting Simon Wiesenthal Center.

U.S. to appeal police sentences in King beating

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The government will appeal the 30-month prison sentences given two policemen convicted of violating Rodney King's civil rights in a 1991 videotaped beating, a prosecutor said Friday.

U.S. Attorney Terree A. Bowers, who had criticized the sentences for Sgt. Stacey Koon and Officer Laurence Powell as too lenient, said the government filed a notice of appeal Friday in federal court in Los Angeles.

U.S. District Judge John G. Davies could have sentenced Koon and Powell to 10 years in prison and $250,000 in fines. Federal guidelines called for sentences of about six to seven years.

Instead, Davies said on Aug. 4, he was imposing lesser sentences in part because a combative King provoked the beating.

Koon, 42, and Powell, 30, were convicted April 17. Davies ordered them to surrender to federal prison officials by Sept. 27 and denied them bail while they appeal their convictions.

With good behavior, they could be out in just over two years.

It wasn't known when the Justice Department would file its appeal, said Bowers' spokeswoman.

Support forces will be in Somalia for long haul, Aspin says

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. support forces will remain in Somalia until it begins to rebuild, but the roughly 1,400 American combat troops there could go home once their main security aims are met, Defense Secretary Les Aspin said Friday.

In a speech describing the Clinton administration's goals for Somalia, Aspin mentioned no timetable for withdrawing U.S. forces. But his remarks seemed designed to reassure the public that the military commitment was not open ended.

President Clinton's decision last weekend to send a 400-man Army Ranger strike force to Somalia has raised fears among many in Congress and others that the United States is expanding its involvement there with no clear plan for getting out.

The United States has about 3,100 support troops in Somalia plus about 1,400 Army combat troops, not counting the 400 Rangers who are beginning to arrive there. At the peak early this year there were 26,000 U.S. troops there; in May the United Nations took command of the operation and the U.S. presence shrank.

Last December, when the first U.S. troops arrived in Somalia it was expected that within several weeks or a few months the forces would return home.

Aspin spelled out three conditions to be met before the U.S. Army combat unit, known as the Quick Reaction Force, would leave: establishing "reasonable security" in Mogadishu, the capital; making progress toward denying heavy weapons to Somali warlords, and setting up credible Somali police forces.

The third condition, establishing police control, seemed to imply the rebuilding of a political authority in Somalia in order to make the police credible.

"When these three conditions are met ... then I believe that the U.S. Quick Reaction Forces can come back," Aspin said, He spoke to an audience at the Center for Strategic and International Studies, a Washington-based think tank.

With improved security in Mogadishu, civilians could be hired to perform support work and most of the U.S. logistics specialists there could be brought home, Aspin said.

The defense secretary made it clear that the U.S. commitment to Somalia went beyond military involvement, but that the military mission was not yet completed.

"The danger now is that unless we return security to south Mogadishu, political chaos will follow any U.N. withdrawal," Aspin said.

Important Dem takes position against NAFTA

WASHINGTON (NYT) — In a setback for President Clinton and the prospects for the North American Free Trade Agreement, the senior Democrat normally charged with mobilizing support in the House of Representatives for party measures says he will use the resources of his office to oppose the pact.

The representative, David E. Bonior of Michigan, the majority whip and the third-ranking Democrat in the House, said in a telephone interview that he planned to use the staff, computers and other facilities of the whip's office to organize opposition to the pact in the House. His decision is the latest step in an unusually public revolt against the Clinton administration by a House Democratic leadership that is deeply divided on the merits of the free-trade agreement.

The pact would gradually eliminate import tariffs and other trade and investment barriers between Canada, Mexico and the United States. If approved by a simple majority of both houses of Congress, it would take effect on Jan. 1.

The House vote is expected to be close. If the vote were taken now the pact would fail in the House, Bonior said. Prospects for approval are better in the Senate.

It was not clear whether Bonior's defiance of the White House has been tacitly condoned by the House Speaker, Rep. Thomas S. Foley of Washington, and the House majority leader, Rep. Richard A. Gephardt of Missouri.

Foley said last Sunday that while he personally "tended to support" the agreement, the House Democratic leadership was so badly divided that it would not take a position on the vote.

Forecasters tell eastern folks to watch for Emily

MIAMI (AP) — Atlantic storm Emily was expected to stage an encore on the high seas Friday by returning to hurricane strength after a nighttime drop to tropical storm status.

But forecasters said it's too soon to say where — or if — it will hit land, and people from North Carolina to South Florida should keep an eye on the storm's progress as it heads west over the weekend.

An Air Force reconnaissance plane flew through the storm Friday, and forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in suburban Coral Gables said it was regaining strength and would be back to hurricane status later Friday.

"It's still moving west slowly, and it's still on the threshold of becoming a hurricane again," hurricane specialist Miles Lawrence said. "In fact, it's going to take three to four days to reach land — if it ever does."

At 5 p.m. EDT, Tropical Storm Emily was centered at latitude 26.5 north and longitude 64.9 west, or about 405 miles south of Bermuda. The system had top sustained winds of about 70 mph, just short of the 74 mph needed for it to be reclassified as a hurricane.

Emily was heading west at 9 mph.

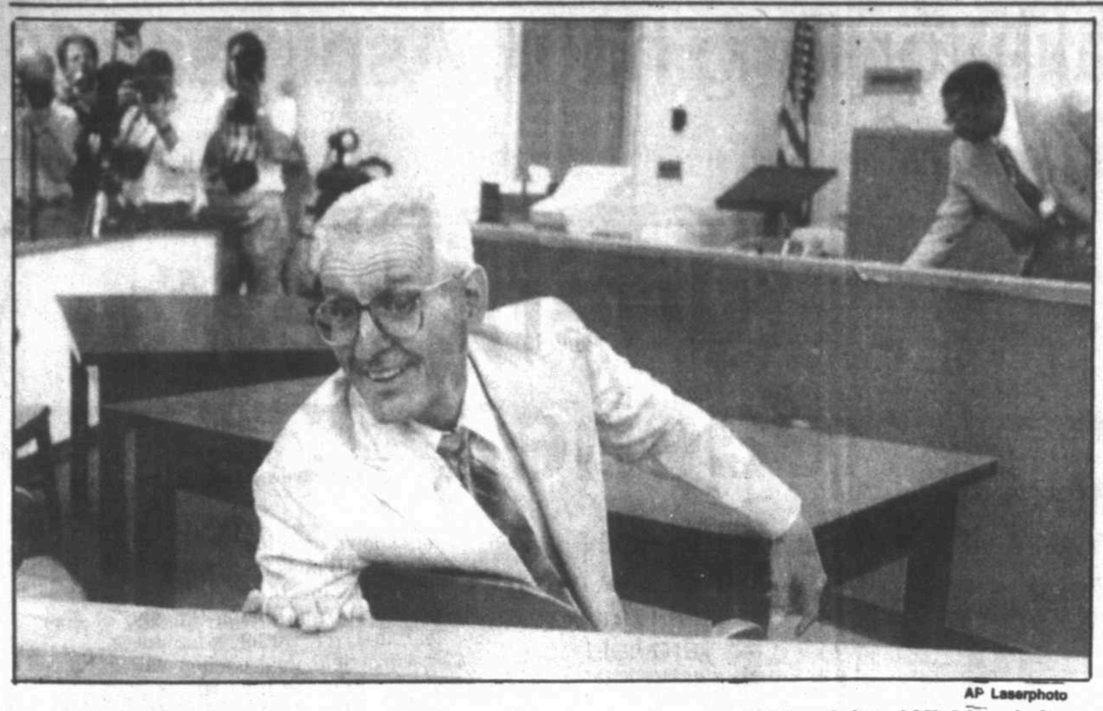

It was not clear if Emily would continue to move in a westerly or northwesterly direction, said Bob Sheets, director of the hurricane center.

"However, the chance of it hitting the east coast of the United States continues to increase," he said.

Doctor Jack 'Death' Kevorkian smiles as he talks with supporters in a Detroit courtroom Friday, prior to the start of a preliminary hearing on charges that he violated Michigan's ban on assisted suicide in the August 4 (suicide) death of Thomas Hyde.

'Doctor Death' Kevorkian signs autographs at preliminary hearing

By Julia Prodis
Associated Press writer

DETROIT — Terminally ill Thomas Hyde, trembling in pain, told Dr. Jack Kevorkian, "I want to end this, I want to die," in a videotaped conversation a month before Kevorkian helped him commit suicide.

The 30-minute tape was played during Kevorkian's preliminary hearing Friday on a charge he broke Michigan's law banning assisted suicide. The hearing will continue Sept. 9.

The man known as "Dr. Death" signed autographs as he left the courthouse.

Kevorkian has admitted helping Hyde, who suffered from Lou Gehrig's disease, kill himself Aug. 4 on an island park in the Detroit River. The 30-year-old released a clamp that freed the flow of carbon monoxide to his face mask, placed over his mouth and nose by Kevorkian.

Hyde was the 17th person to die in Kevorkian's presence since 1990.

In the July 1 videotape presented by the defense, the gaunt, sallow Novi man sat at a table in his apartment. His fiancee, Heidi Fernandez, was on one side and Kevorkian on the other. They discussed Hyde's debilitating condition and his painful muscle cramping.

Having trouble swallowing, he wiped saliva from his chin.

"Do you have any reservations?" Kevorkian asked.

"Oh, no," said Hyde, who could barely speak, painfully and haltingly uttering only monosyllables.

"Is it your choice absolutely?" Kevorkian asked.

"Mine, mine," Hyde said, painstakingly motioning his hands to his chest.

"Tom is suffering so," Fernandez said, caressing Hyde's shoulder. "He wants to be free — to be free of this body. His soul will be free."

Kevorkian assured Hyde he could change his mind at any time. "You won't hurt our feelings a bit," he said.

He presented Hyde with a contract, affirming that Hyde was seeking Kevorkian's help of his own free will to end his "interminable pain and-or suffering."

Clinton's face sells Canadian beer in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Bill Clinton doesn't endorse products and American advertisers cannot use his image to hawk cars, soft drinks or anything else.

But that hasn't stopped Canadian brewer Molson from running a picture — a very large picture — of the president in British beer ads.

Molson hopes the Clinton promotion will persuade more of the nation's many tipplers to try its Special Dry brew.

The two-page newspaper ads, first appearing Friday, feature a full-page mugshot of the president, hands folded in a contemplative mood.

The other page offers the quote: "One of the things that I've learned this year is that a strong beer can have a really clean taste. My wife is more of a beer drinker than I am, and she's the one who first cottoned on to Molson Special Dry."

Sounds like a presidential pitch, with Hillary Rodham Clinton lending support, right?

Not if you look closer. Fine print at the bottom specifies that the quote came from Sean Purcell, a London beer drinker. The photo, according to more fine print, is merely "a picture of Bill Clinton."

Although White House lawyers would instantly object if this happened in America, Molson says it's on firm legal ground in Britain, where public figures are fair game for witty ad agencies.

"We have not sought out his permission, but we have gotten legal advice and this is legal," said Steve Ardill, consumer marketing manager for Molson's British operations. "Being a public figure, the president's image is usable, and that's what we're doing."

"Obviously, our intention is not to offend anybody," he added.

White House officials declined comment on the ads.

MCHS beats No. 2

WELLMAN — Just how good will defending TAPPS Six-Man state football champion Midland Christian be in 1993? Well, if Friday's scrimmage here against Lazbuddie is any indication, the Mustangs will fly again.

The Mustangs defeated No. 2 UIL state ranked Lazbuddie by a 6-2 margin with MC winning the battle of first teams by a 3-2 margin and taking the second team matchup by a 3-0 margin.

"Not only is Lazbuddie ranked No. 2 in the state, but also No. 2 in the nation, so we have to feel good about this even if it is just a scrimmage," said MC coach James Blake.

Clay Gunter and Glen Bishop each scored two touchdowns while Kyle Jackson and Michael Nash also scored. But Blake was impressed with the line play of Koby Welsh, Alan Awtry, Lathon Houghton, Lane Hill and Chuck Rundus.

MC opens its season on the road at Abilene Christian next Friday.

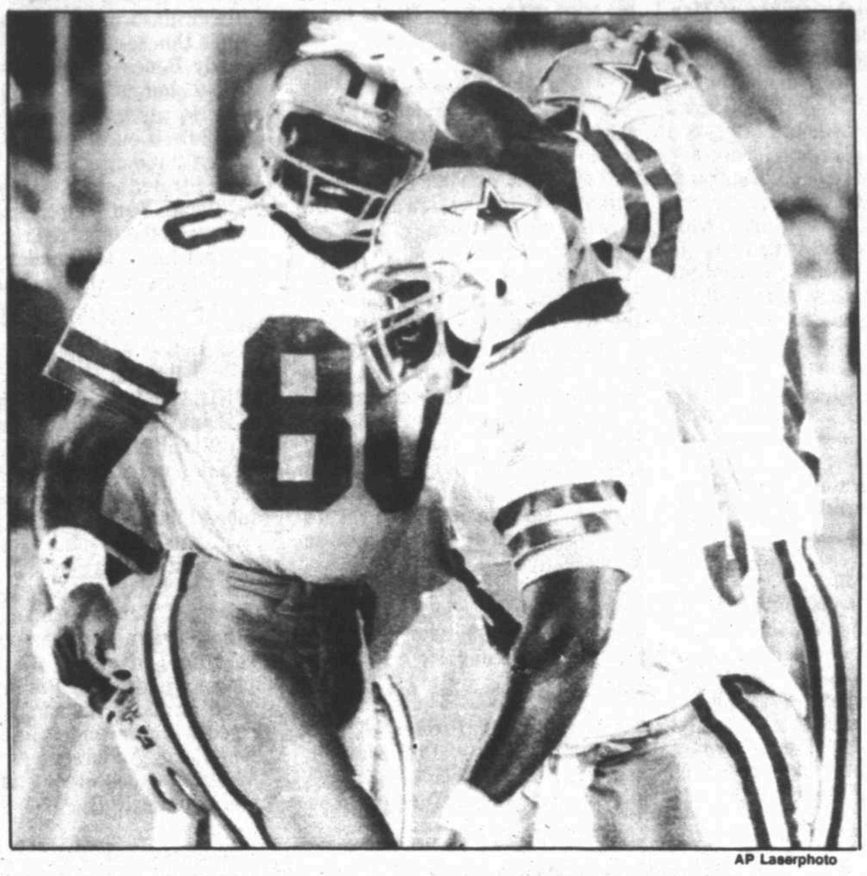

Morenz to start

AUSTIN — Redshirt freshman Shea Morenz will be Texas' starting quarterback when the Longhorns open the season next weekend against No. 11 Colorado, coach John Mackovic announced Friday.

"It wasn't an easy decision to make," Mackovic said. "But we feel Shea gives us more big play capability."

In three scrimmages this year, Morenz completed 34 of 49 passes for 415 yards. He had four touchdowns and no interceptions. Last season, he played 20 plays in two games before injuring his ankle.

"In the back of my mind, I had to believe I was going to be the starting quarterback from the beginning," Morenz said. "If I didn't, I didn't need to be competing for the job."

CHICAGO — Kevin Butler's third field goal of the game, a 53-yard shot with no time left, gave Chicago a 23-21 victory over Dallas Friday night in an NFL exhibition game.

On second down with 12 seconds to play, the Bears lined up for a field goal but it was a fake and Peter Tom Willis threw an incomplete pass. With 2 seconds left, Butler kicked the field goal that gave Chicago (1-3) its first victory under new coach Dave Wannstedt.

Dallas (1-3-1) had overcome a 20-14 deficit when third-string quarterback Jason Garrett threw a 3-yard touchdown pass to Tyrone Williams with 1 minute left.

Bob Christian, who had scored a touchdown on a blocked punt, caught a 20-yard TD pass from Willis on the first play of the fourth quarter, capping a 60-yard drive and giving Chicago its first lead at 17-14. Butler, who had kicked a 32-yard field goal earlier, added a 46-yarder to make it 20-14.

Troy Aikman, who played only in the first half, directed the Cowboys to a 14-0 lead. Making his second appearance since returning from back surgery, Aikman completed 14 of 18 passes for 163 yards. He moved the Cowboys 85 yards after the opening kickoff, throwing 41 yards to Michael Irvin for a 7-0 lead.

Aikman also directed an 80-yard drive in 13 plays with rookie Derrick Lassic running the final yard for the touchdown and a 14-0 lead.

Quarterback Jim Harbaugh completed 10 of 18 passes for 75 yards in the first half.

Willis took over in the second half and was intercepted by Brock Marion on his second attempt. Marion returned to the 21 and the Cowboys managed to get to the Chicago 8 before a penalty and a sack of Hugh Millen set them back to the 29. Lin Elliott missed a 46-yard field goal.

M-Angels closer to elimination

By Mike Butts
Staff writer

With the worst team batting average in the Texas League, San Antonio relies heavily on its pitching staff to win games. Two members of the Missions league-leading staff shoved the Midland Angels a step closer to elimination from the Texas League playoffs with a 5-1 win Friday at Angels Stadium.

The Angels remain in contention for a playoff spot, but just barely. El Paso defeated the Wichita Wranglers Friday in El Paso 4-2 to leave the Wranglers with a magic number of one. Midland must win its final three games against Wichita and Wichita must lose its two remaining games to El Paso if the Angels are to make the playoffs as the West Division's second place team.

The Missions may have the worst second-half record in the league, now 25-40, but they have the loop's best team ERA.

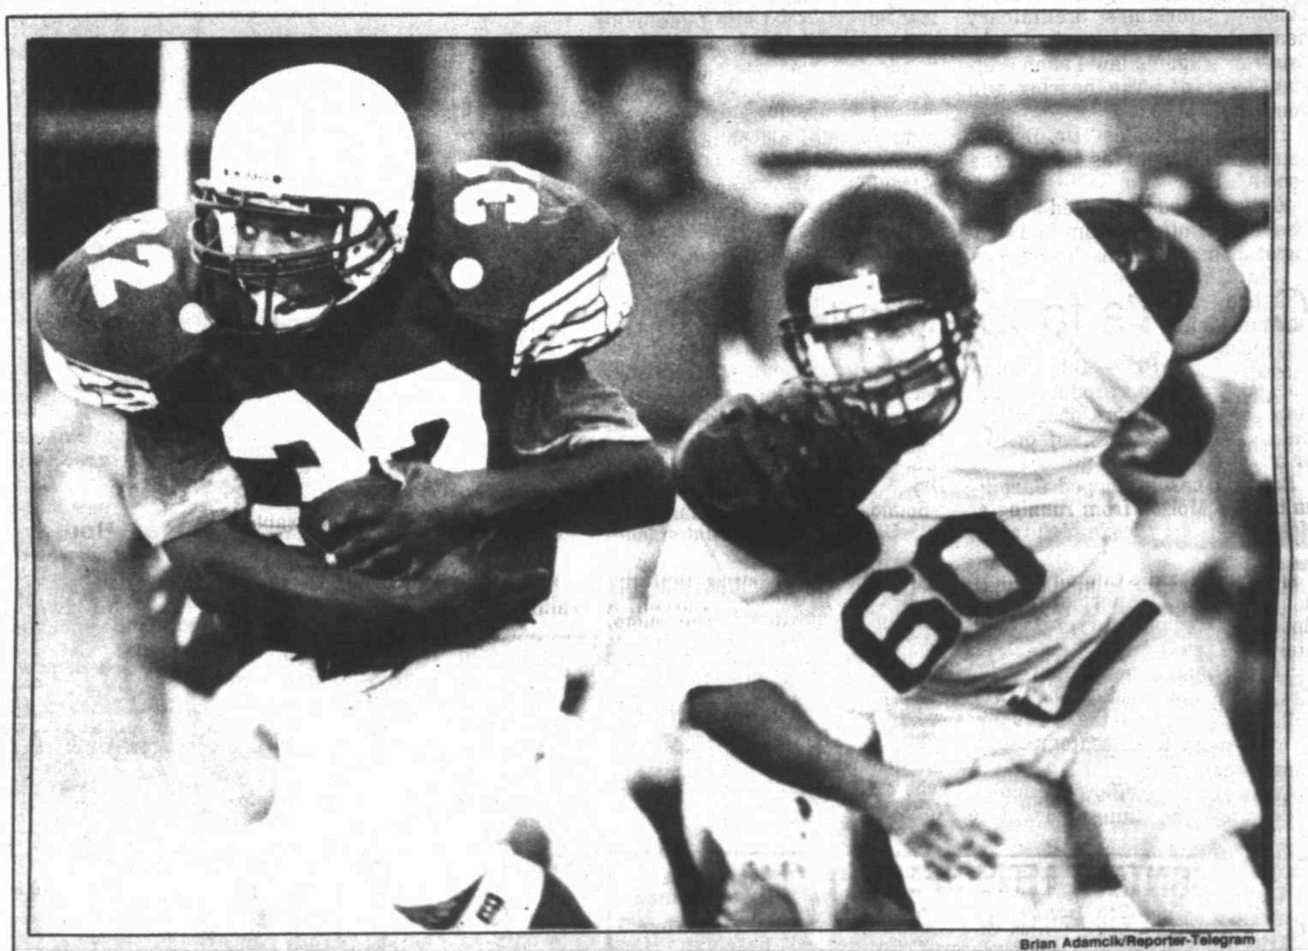

"They have some good talent," said Midland player-coach Mark Wasinger. "As a matter of fact, they have some of the best (pitching) talent in the league out of all eight teams."

Friday, Mission starter Jamie Daspit and reliever Mark Mimbs held the Angels to only 26 at-bats and six hits. San Antonio's defense choked off several Angels' scoring chances with five double plays. Daspit gave up one run in seven innings.

The Angels came into this series — the last of the regular season — needing to pick up two games on Wichita. Going against the team with the worst record in the league they figured to have an outside chance to do so since the Wranglers were playing first-place El Paso. But the Missions' last-in-the-league team batting average and poor record is a little deceptive because of their hurlers.

"They have depth in their pitching staff as well as starters," Angels center fielder Orlando Palmeiro said. "He (Daspit) threw a lot of double play balls

Bulldogs corner Steers, 20-14

By Terry Williamson

Midland High running back Roy Coats, who began to shine late last season, came to the front again Friday night with three touchdowns to help the Bulldogs defeat the Class 4A Big Spring Steers by a 20-14 score in a simulated game scrimmage at Memorial Stadium.

The senior Coats broke open a 14-14 tie with just 31 seconds left in the scrimmage with a 30-yard pass and run from quarterback Johnny Paredes.

"We were hoping that we would get man coverage from Big Spring on that play," said MHS coach Ronnie Reeger. "I don't know if we did or not, but we won that battle by a foot and that's the way football is."

Coats also had an 11-yard TD reception from Paredes and a 38-yard TD scamper in the scrimmage while Jeremy Hernandez, returning for his third year, kicked two of three extra points.

"We think Roy is going to be a good player and we think he will get better," Reeger said. "This was a good scrimmage for him and it was against a better opponent (Roswell Goddard) than we played last week."

In all, Coats romped for 87 yards rushing and caught three passes for 51 yards.

And in case you are trying to get a label on Bulldog improvement from last year, consider the fact that Big Spring whomped up on MHS by a five touchdown margin last season. Since losing 18 games

Dickey departs Chaps for Oklahoma State position

■ Eddie Sutton hires Midland College assistant.

By Terry Williamson
Sports editor

Randall Dickey, assistant basketball coach at Midland College, is leaving Midland to join a legend.

Dickey, 33, has agreed to become an administrative assistant at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, Okla., under Cowboys' head basketball coach Eddie Sutton.

Dickey's brother, James, who is now head basketball coach at Texas Tech University, formerly was an assistant under Sutton for nine years at both Arkansas and Kentucky.

"My family and I have known Coach Sutton for many years," Dickey said Friday. "I've worked some basketball camps with him and have been around him. I have a great respect for him as a coach and a person."

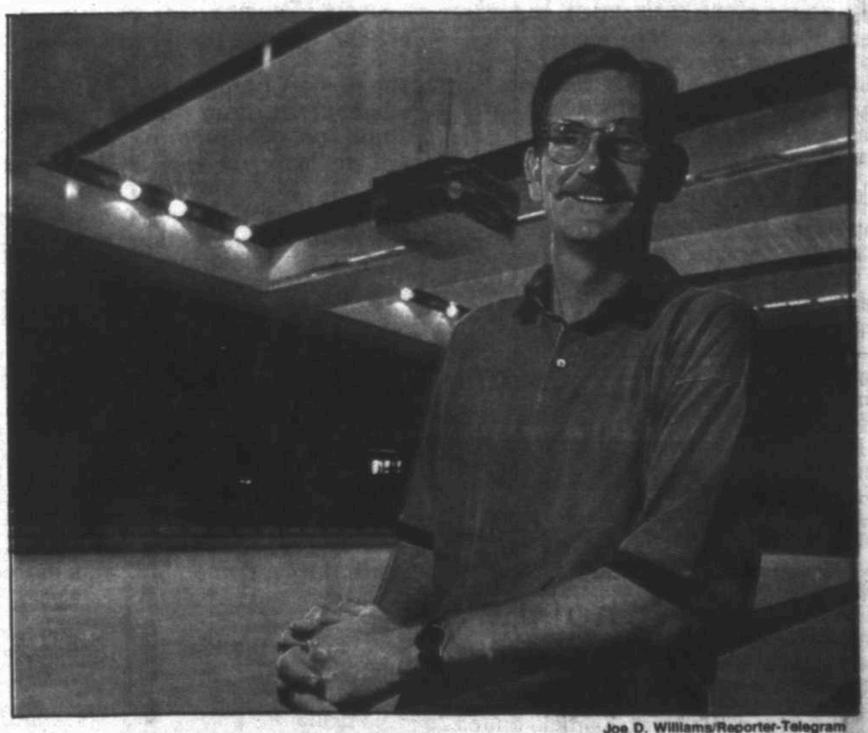

The departure of Dickey leaves MC coach Steve Green without an full-time assistant at the current time. A year ago, George Tucker left MC for his own head coaching job at a Florida junior college. His position was not replaced. Dickey also served as dorm supervisor after Tucker left.

"Midland College will replace me," Dickey said, "but, naturally, I don't know who that will be.

"I'm really looking forward to going to Stillwater, but I must say that Midland College is my greatest experience in coaching thus far. The administration, faculty and staff has made this a good place to work.

"I've been with Coach Green for three years and he has given me a lot of freedom to express myself in a lot of situations. Sometimes, that's rare with a lot of coaches. We had a great working relationship."

Martinez stops Braves trade, Astros 3-1

Montreal Expos second baseman Randy ready leaps over Houston Astros' Steve Finley to complete the double play in the fourth inning of the Expos' 3-1 win at Olympic Stadium in Montreal Friday.

Associated Press

MONTREAL — Dennis Martinez, who rejected a deal to Atlanta a day earlier, gave up one run and seven hits in eight innings as Montreal beat Houston 3-1.

The Expos and Braves reached an agreement on a deal Wednesday, but the 38-year-old righthander said no 24 hours later as a 5-and-10 year player. He decided there would not be enough starts in Atlanta as a fifth starter.

Martinez (12-8) won his second straight decision after going 0-3 in seven starts following the All-Star break. He is three victories shy of becoming the seventh pitcher in major-league history to record 100 wins in each league.

John Wetteland pitched one inning for his 30th save, allowing a hit and striking out three.

Darrin Fletcher hit a two-run homer to cap a three-run first inning against Doug Drabek (7-15). Drabek's seven straight losses equals the longest streak of his career.

Fletcher's two-out home run, his seventh, also scored John Vander Wal, who had doubled to score Marquis Grissom.

Houston reliever Todd Jones was ejected from the game by home-plate umpire Steve Rippley in the eighth inning after brushing back Martinez twice in the same at bat.

■ NL Roundup

Drabek is 0-3 against the Expos this season and is still looking for his 100th NL victory. His 15 losses is a career high.

Cubs 9, Braves 6

ATLANTA — Derrick May hit reliever Mike Stanton's first pitch for a seventh-inning grand slam Friday night as Chicago stunned Atlanta following Braves' big three-game sweep at San Francisco.

The Braves entered the game trailing the Giants by 4½ games in the West and blew an opportunity to gain more ground when the Cubs rallied. The Giants lost 7-4 to the Marlins at Miami on Friday.

Atlanta has lost only three of its last 17 games — 11-1 on the road and 3-2 at home — but are 4-6 in their last 10 games at home. The Braves have the best road record in the majors at 44-24, but are 35-26 at home.

Shawn Boskie (4-3) with three innings of one-run relief, got the victory and Jose Bautista pitched a shaky ninth inning for his second save.

Padres 10, Pirates 6

PITTSBURGH — Phil Plantier and Archi Cianfrocco each drove in three runs as San Diego held on to beat Pittsburgh.

The Padres have won four straight, matching their longest streak of the season. They ended a 10-game losing streak against Pittsburgh, which included eight games this season.

Andy Benes (14-10) took a one-hit, 9-0 shutout into the eighth inning. He came into the game having allowed eight runs in each of his last three starts.

The Pirates sent 11 batters to the plate and San Diego used four pitchers in the inning. Trevor Hoffman got Lloyd McClendon, the potential tying run, to pop out. Hoffman pitched an 1 1-3 for his fourth save.

Reds 8, Phillies 5

PHILADELPHIA — Pinch-hitter Brian Dorsett's two-run single off reliever Mitch Williams in the ninth inning rallied Cincinnati to a victory over first-place Philadelphia.

Williams, who had 13 straight saves and was trying for his career-high 37th, walked Joe Oliver and Juan Samuel to start the ninth. Jeff Branson then put down a sacrifice, advancing the runners to second and third. Both runners scored on Dorsett's single which chased Williams and brought in reliever Larry Andersen.

Williams (3-4) took the loss, while Johnny Ruffin (2-1) pitched two hitless innings for the victory. Rob Dibble got the last three outs for his 19th save.

Marlins 7, Giants 4

MIAMI — Orestes Destrade hit two homers and drove in six runs Friday night to lead Florida past San Francisco, extending the Giants' losing streak to a season-high four games.

First-place San Francisco maintained a 4½-game lead in the NL West over Atlanta, which lost to Chicago 9-7. The Giants' skid began when they lost three in a row to Atlanta earlier this week.

John Burkett (18-6) lasted just 4 1-3 innings against Florida, allowing nine hits and six runs, including Destrade's three-run homer in the fifth.

Former Midland Angel Bryan Harvey pitched the ninth for his 38th save.

Mets 3, Rockies 2

NEW YORK — Sid Fernandez pitched three-hit ball for eight innings and Ryan Thompson hit a three-run homer as New York beat Colorado.

Fernandez (3-4) struck out nine and walked one. Mike Maddux relieved and Jeff Innis got the last out for his third save.

Loser Kent Bottenfield (4-9) gave up three runs on seven hits in six innings.

Indians pound front-running Yankees 9-2

Associated Press

■ AL Roundup

CLEVELAND — Sandy Alomar, Kenny Lofton and Albert Belle each drove in two runs during a six-run sixth inning Friday night as Cleveland came from behind to beat New York 9-2.

The Yankees began the night tied with Toronto for first place in the AL East. They've been in that position seven times this year but have been unable to claim the top spot alone.

Jim Thome celebrated his 23rd birthday with two doubles and a homer for the Indians, who ended a string of five straight home losses.

Alomar's bases-loaded double in the sixth put Cleveland up 3-2 and finished Melido Perez (6-13). Lofton grounded Paul Gibson's first pitch past a drawn-in infield for a two-run single. Belle capped the rally with a two-run double, giving him 105 RBIs, off Rich Monteleone.

Jason Grimsley (1-0) got his first big league win since 1991, when he went 1-7 with Philadelphia. He pitched 1 1-3 scoreless innings, allowing two hits.

Red Sox 5, Royals 0

KANSAS CITY — Roger Clemens ended a five-week slump by shutting out Kansas City for seven innings, and Boston beat the Royals.

Clemens (10-10) had been 0-4 with an 8.00 ERA in his last five starts. He allowed only three singles, struck out one and walked one for his first victory since July 21.

The Red Sox, who began the day 6½ games behind Toronto in the AL East, won for only the second time in eight games. Boston was just one game behind the Blue Jays after Clemens' last victory.

Clemens won his first road game since May 11. He had been in 0-2 in four starts away from Fenway Park since that victory, and also had been on the disabled list.

Rangers 5, Orioles 4

ARLINGTON — Reliever John O'Donoghue made an error that enabled Texas to score two runs in the seventh inning, and the Rangers went on to beat the Baltimore.

Cal Ripken hit two home runs for the Orioles, including a solo shot in the ninth inning off Tom Henke. Henke, however, finished for his 31st save and gave Texas its fifth victory in six games.

With the score tied at 3, Texas loaded the bases in the seventh on singles by Doug Strange and David Hulse, a sacrifice and an intentional walk to Gary Redus. Ivan Rodriguez then grounded into a force play at the plate for the second out of the inning.

O'Donoghue relieved Todd Frohwirth (6-7), and Rafael Palmeiro hit a sharp grounder that glanced off the glove of first baseman David Segui. The ball bounced directly to second baseman Harold Reynolds, whose throw to O'Donoghue covering first base was in time. But O'Donoghue missed the ball and it rolled into the Rangers dugout, and two runners scored.

Kenny Rogers (13-7) pitched three-hit ball for 7 2-3 innings. He is 5-0 in August, the most victories by a Texas pitcher in the month since Charlie Hough went 5-1 in August 1985. Rogers is 8-1 in his last nine starts and has already surpassed his career high for victories.

White Sox 7, Twins 3
Twins 7, White Sox 2

CHICAGO — Dave Winfield singled home the go-ahead run in the 10th inning and Bernardo Brito added a three-run homer, giving Minnesota a doubleheader split with Chicago.

In the opener, Bo Jackson hit a 446-foot home run that led Tim Belcher and the White Sox to a 7-3 victory.

Winfield, who doubled in the first game, hit his 451st home run in the second game. His go-ahead single in the 10th inning gave him 2,988 hits and moved him past Sam Rice into 19th place on the career list.

Jack McDowell, seeking his major league-leading 21st victory, pitched the first nine innings for Chicago, allowing 12 hits.

Kirby Puckett greeted reliever Donn Pall (2-3) with his fourth hit of the game, a single to start the 10th. Kent Hrbek singled Puckett to third on a hit-and-run play and Winfield singled for a 3-2 lead.

In the first game, Jackson's two-run homer, his 12th of the season, put Chicago ahead 5-3 in the sixth inning. Robin Ventura added three hits for the White Sox, including an RBI double in the first inning and his 19th homer in the eighth.

Belcher (3-2) beat the Twins for the second time in six days, giving up seven hits and three runs in six innings. Jose DeLeon pitched two innings and Roberto Hernandez worked the ninth.

Jim Deshaies (11-13) lost his sixth straight decision, allowing six runs on eight hits in 5 1-3 innings.

Brewers 7, Angels 6
Brewers 4, Angels 3

MILWAUKEE — Pat Listach hit a two-run double and the Milwaukee Brewers beat California for their seventh straight win and their second doubleheader sweep of the week.

DICKEY: Coach exits MC

From 1B

As an administrative assistant at Oklahoma State, Dickey's role will be limited by NCAA rules.

"For instance, I can recruit on the road and I can't go on the floor as a coach. Basically, I'll be part of Sutton's staff with input, help coordinate practices and do correspondence stuff for Coach Sutton. I'll be doing whatever he wants."

"Coach Sutton called Saturday and wanted to talk to me," Dickey said. "I didn't know if he wanted to talk about recruiting or about some of our players at Midland College. I talked with him Sunday and he wanted me to come to Stillwater for an interview.

"I met with Coach Sutton on Tuesday and felt like I had a good interview. He offered me the job Thursday morning."

Dickey played his high school ball at Valley Spring, Ark. His college time was spent at Ouachita Baptist before entering the coaching ranks as a high school assistant for seven years at Morrilton, Ark.

Green brought Dickey to Howard College in 1990 and the two moved to Midland together the next year.

"It's easy to recruit for Midland College because of what it has to offer in the school, community and facilities," Dickey said. "Across America, I've found that there are few people who play basketball who don't know about Midland College. They all know about Spud Webb, Mookie Blaylock, Ricky Grace, Lincoln Minor and others. The school has a great tradition."

D-FY-IT MIDLAND

DRUG FREE YOUTH IN TEXAS

I. PURPOSE

1. To provide high school students with a voluntary program that rewards them for being drug free, and to influence abusers to reject the use of drugs and alcohol through positive peer support.
2. The primary purpose of D-FY-IT is to rid students of drug abuse. Testing of drugs or narcotics in the students system is in no way an investigative tool of law enforcement. Positive results will not result in criminal prosecution. The ultimate goal of this program is to abolish drug abuse, not prosecution.

II. GOALS

1. To promote drug/alcohol-free students in Midland County.
2. To educate the student community of the dangers of drug/alcohol abuse and provide more positive alternatives.
3. To improve communications between youth, law enforcement, and the community.
4. To enhance the leadership capabilities of students.

WHAT IS D-FY-IT?

D-FY-IT (Drug Free Youth In Texas) is a voluntary drug testing program that rewards students for being "drug free". For students to join the program they must voluntarily agree to a urinalysis test, and then subject themselves to retesting whenever their names are randomly selected. The urinalysis detects amphetamines, cocaine and marijuana. All testing is confidential, and test results are not reported to the police. A student who has a positive drug test is given confidential counseling by certified counselors who work with the program. This is done to keep that student in the program through counseling and further drug testing. Parents are Not notified when a student tests positive.

Once a student tests "clean", he/she receives a D-FY-IT identification card that entitles them to discounts from local businesses and admission to various D-FY-IT sponsored events such as dances and concerts. At this time, over 60 businesses in Midland are giving discounts to D-FY-IT members. The cards can also be used in surrounding towns that have the D-FY-IT program.

The D-FY-IT program in Midland County started in December, 1991 and currently has over 2,400 students in the program. At the present time there are four high schools participating; Greenwood, Midland Christian, Midland High and Lee High. There are currently over 9,000 students in the Permian Basin participating in the D-FY-IT program which includes the cities of Big Spring, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Pecos, Stanton, Grady, Andrews, Coahoma and Seminole.

"What I like best about D-FY-IT is that the program doesn't punish bad behavior,--it rewards good behavior, and that's bound to have better results with any of us. What's more, D-FY-IT depends on the most powerful incentive of all--peer pressure.

Bills nip Falcons on Fuller's TD

Associated Press

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — Eddie Fuller's 58-yard touchdown run helped offset three Norm Johnson field goals as the Buffalo Bills beat the Atlanta Falcons 17-16 in the exhibition finale for both teams Friday night.

■ NFL Exhibitions

Fuller gave Buffalo a 14-13 lead early in the third quarter when he burst through a seam on the right side of the line and scored untouched.

Battling to make the Bills (2-3) as the backup behind running backs Thurman Thomas and Ken Davis, Fuller finished with 78 yards on 13 carries. He also caught five passes for 29 yards.

Bengals 23, Eagles 3

CINCINNATI — Cornerback Sheldon White intercepted two passes, returning one 99 yards for a touchdown and setting up a TD with the other, as Cincinnati beat Philadelphia.

The Bengals (2-2) still were unable to kick-start their offense behind second-year quarterback David Klingler. The offense was solely responsible for just one field goal as Klingler, who played three quarters, was 6 of 13 for 72 yards with one interception.

Philadelphia (3-2) failed to score behind starting quarterback Randall Cunningham, despite a drive that consumed most of the first quarter. Backup Bubby Brister's failure to catch a shotgun snap resulted in a 62-yard return by linebacker Alfred Williams that set up a Cincinnati field goal.

Bucs 23, Browns 20

TAMPA, Fla. — Craig Erickson ignited Tampa Bay's offense with two touchdown passes and Michael Husted kicked three field goals as the Buccaneers overcame a 17-point deficit to beat Cleveland.

Erickson entered the game late in the first quarter and launched the comeback after Cleveland's Vinny Testaverde, facing his former teammates for the first time, tossed a 34-yard TD pass to Michael Jackson to give the Browns a 20-3 lead.

Chiefs 27, Patriots 20

FOXBORO, Mass. — Dave Krieg threw a 36-yard scoring pass to Fred Jones and led Kansas City to two third-quarter touchdowns as the Chiefs defeated New England.

The Patriots pulled within a touchdown with two minutes remaining on a 46-yard touchdown pass from Scott Secules to Ray Crittenden and recovered an onside kick, but Secules was intercepted by linebacker Erick Anderson.

A crowd of 46,501 — the largest for a preseason game at Foxboro since 1987 — came to see a battle between the quarterback of the '80s and the NFL's top draft choice this year.

Packers 41, Colts 10

GREEN BAY — Brett Favre directed three long scoring drives, one in the final two minutes of the first half, as Green Bay routed Indianapolis to avoid a winless exhibition season.

Marcus Wilson scored twice on special teams plays in the fourth quarter and the Packers added a field goal to build on a 24-3 lead after three quarters. Wilson, a second-year runing back, scooped up a fumbled punt and returned it 40 yards for a touchdown. Then with 1:37 left, he grabbed an onside kick and took it 42 yards for the final score.

Favre moved the Packers 67 yards in 11 plays at the end of the second quarter, hitting Shawn Collins for a 4-yard touchdown with 9 seconds remaining to put Green Bay (1-4) ahead 10-3.

The score came at the end of a sloppy, mistake-filled half for the Packers, who were penalized seven times for 50 yards.

Redskins 17, Jets 3

WASHINGTON — Mark Rypien and Cary Conklin directed first-half touchdown drives and Washington beat New York.

The exhibition finale on a hot, muggy night left the Jets with their first winless exhibition season since 1962, when they also went 0-4.

The Jets open their regular season against Denver on Sept. 5 at the Meadowlands. The Redskins host defending Super Bowl champion Dallas the following night.

Lions 17, Saints 16

NEW ORLEANS — Jason Hanson hit a 52-yard field goal with 31 seconds to play, giving Detroit an exhibition victory over New Orleans.

Morten Andersen, who hit three field goals, barley missed a 50-yard attempt wide right with two seconds left.

Andersen's 42-yarder with five minutes left in the fourth quarter gave New Orleans (4-1) a 16-14 lead.

Curvin Richards ran for two touchdowns for Detroit (4-0-1), the second a 2-yard run in the fourth quarter after Steve Walsh fumbled after being sacked by Antonio London.

Cardinals 34, Broncos 9

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Bailey scored on his first two carries and rookie Ron Moore gained 122 yards on 17 carries Friday night as Phoenix wrapped up the exhibition season with a 34-9 victory over the Denver Broncos.

Bailey, who finished with 66 yards on three carries, went 14 yards off left tackle for his first TD. His next carry was a 2-yard dive into the end zone three plays after a 60-yard pass-run by Larry Centers.

Later in the second quarter, Bailey got free along the right sideline for 50 yards, setting up a 2-yard scoring pass from Steve Beuerlein to Derek Ware.

Oilers end preseason against Seahawks

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers can't seem to get their lines straight.

Last week, there was a crisis in the offensive line caused by holdouts and injuries that forced coach Bob Young to move every starter except guard Mike Munchak to a new position.

But the revolving door has shifted to the defensive line for today's preseason finale in the Astrodome against the Seattle Seahawks.

Now it's defensive line coach Jim Stanley scratching his head over where to line up his starters.

Defensive end Lee Williams underwent arthroscopic knee surgery to remove cartilage particles in his right knee and is out two to three weeks, and end Jeff Alm remained a contract holdout.

All-Pro defensive tackle Ray Childress also has been slowed by an Achilles tendon injury.

"Anytime you lose a player of Lee's caliber, it's a hindrance," Stanley said. "He's got great pass-rushing ability. The problem is we're also worried about Ray. We have to get him healthy too."

Glenn Montgomery and Tim Roberts will get added playing time because of Williams' absence.

ANGELS: Wichita falls

which got us out of good innings."

The Missions rode three long balls to the win. Solo homers by Garey Ingram and Henry Blanco off starter Brian Anderson (0-1) put San Antonio up 2-0. Billy Lott's two-run blast in the eighth gave the Missions a 4-1 advantage.

Having to win and then hoping Wichita loses is not an easy situation to deal with, Wasinger said.

"The pressure intensifies tremendously," the player-coach said. "The thing is you can't let it effect you mentally. You have to say this is just another game, but sometimes that doesn't happen and you start saying you have to do this and you have to do that."

Said Palmeiro: "We can only do so much. Baseball players can only do so much. You can't ask for a pitch down the middle so you have to make do with what you have."

The task gets even tougher today as the Angels should face Mission pitcher Rick Gorecki. Gorecki has the league's fourth best ERA (3.38) and Texas League managers voted him the best pitching prospect in the league. The Angels are scheduled to throw Mark Ratekin, who is 2-1.

Edberg makes Hamlet Cup semis

■ Tennis Roundup

COMMACK, N.Y. (AP) — Stefan Edberg survived a challenge from Alexander Volkov on Friday and advanced to the semifinals of the $300,000 Hamlet Cup after a long match under a broiling sun that left him dehydrated and needing help from trainers.

Edberg, the top seed who begins defense of his U.S. Open championship next week, saved 15 of 18 break points to beat Volkov 2-6, 6-4, 7-6 (7-5).

In other quarterfinal matches, seventh-seeded Goran Ivanisevic of Croatia defeated Luis Mattar of Brazil 6-4, 6-2; Marc Rosset of Switzerland beat Cedric Pioline of France 6-4, 6-4; and fifth-seeded Michael Chang eliminated No. 3 Sergi Bruguera of Spain 3-6, 6-1, 6-2.

After 2 hours, 33 minutes in humid conditions that reached above 110 degrees on the court, Edberg, the world's third-ranked player, was treated by Bill Norris, the ATP trainer.

"Edberg had the first signs of heat illness," Norris said. "He was dehydrated and was fed a large quantity of orange juice and honey and made to rest a while."

The Sweden native had a rough start against the eighth-seeded Volkov, who is No. 14 in the rankings.

Volkov, who upset Edberg in the first round of the 1990 U.S. Open in their only other meeting outdoors, managed the heat better.

Edberg saved service in a 16-point opening game of the third set after Volkov had been denied on four break points. Edberg erased 0-30 in the seventh game and a break point by Volkov. Volkov reached 3-0 in the tiebreaker, but Edberg won six of the next seven points.

Liz Arden WTA Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mary Joe Fernandez had to withdraw from a doubles match at $200,000 Elizabeth Arden WTA Challenge on Friday night because of abdominal pain.

The 23-year-old Fernandez, No. 7 in the world rankings, was supposed to play with Gabriela Sabatini against Arantxa Sanchez Vicario and Jana Novotna.

Tournament officials learned of the problem about 45 minutes before the match was to begin and a doctor at the site advised her not to play.

Fernandez, seeded sixth in next week's U.S. Open, lost 6-2, 6-4 to Sanchez Vicario on Thursday night.

Croatian Open

UMAG, Croatia (AP) — Rain postponed the quarterfinals of the $400,000 Croatian Open tennis tournament Friday.

Despite unpromising weather reports for the weekend in this Croatian coastal town, organizers rescheduled the matches for Saturday morning, with semifinals then held later in the day.

The tournament's No. 1 seed, Thomas Muster of Austria, is to play in one quarterfinal against Juan Gisbert of Spain.

Edwards leads golf's World Series

■ Golf Roundup

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — David Edwards, drenched in sweat and struggling against the odds, held off the push of five foreign stars Friday and retained a one-stroke lead in the second round of the World Series of Golf.

Edwards, one of the shorter hitters on the PGA Tour playing one of the longest, most difficult courses the pros encounter all year, fought his way to an erratic, 1-under-par 69 that included consecutive sand shots for birdies.

Those came on Nos. 4 and 7 and were from about 70 and 50 feet, respctively.

He had four other birdies and five bogeys in sweltering, 93-degree heat at the 7,174-yard Firestone Country Club course and reached the tournament halfway Nick Price, seeking to become the first player since Tom Watson in 1980 to win more than four official events on the PGA Tour, led the five foreign-born players — all now based in the United States — who are the only others under par.

Price, from Zimbabwe, was tied at 136 with Steve Elkington of Australia and Fulton Allem of South Africa.

Price did not make a bogey and hit all 18 greens in regulation in his 67.

David Frost of South Africa was tied for second until he missed the green and bogeyed the final hole. His 69 left him alone at 137.

British Open champion Greg Norman of Australia had another 69 — despite severe frustrations on the greens — and was next at 138, only three back with two rounds to go in the chase for a $360,000 first prize.

Bruno's Memorial Classic

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Golf is pretty easy these days for Dave Stockton, and it showed Friday as he shot a 5-under-par 67 to share the first-round lead in the Bruno's Memorial Classic.

Stockton, winner of the last two tournaments on the Senior PGA Tour, had six birdies to match Kermit Zarley, Al Kelley and DeWitt Weaver.

Six players were one shot back, making it seem unlikely Stockton would run away from the field the way he has the last two weeks.

Tied with Rodriguez were Walter Morgan, Tom Shaw, Larry Mowry, Terry Dill and Bob Charles.

LPGA du Maurier

LONDON, Ontario (AP) — Betsy King used a 2-under-par 70 Friday to take a one-stroke lead over Dana Lofland-Dormann after two rounds of the lightning-interrupted duMaurier Classic.

King had a 9-under-par 135 total for two trips around the 6,331-yard London Hunt and Country Club course in the last LPGA major tournament of the year.

King bogeyed 16 and had just teed off on No. 17 into a gusting wind when LPGA officials stopped play due to lightning and dark clouds.

Lofland-Dormann had four birdies in her 68.

Dottie Mochrie had a 69 and is at 137.

Bodine claims Food City 250

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP) — Todd Bodine weaved his way through wrecks and flaring tempers Friday night to win the Food City 250 Busch Grand National race at Bristol International Raceway.

Bodine held off defending series champion Joe Nemechek over the closing laps for his second victory of the year.

Bobby Dotter, Mike Wallace and Chuck Bown rounded out the top five finishers.

Tim Fedewa's crash into the third-turn wall brought out the final caution and bunched the field for a 17-lap sprint. Bodine roared away from Nemechek on the restart and had a 10 car-length lead by the time he reached the first turn.

Rain postpones Bud 500 trials

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP) — A violent thunderstorm wiped out Friday's scheduled first round of qualifying for the Bud 500 race at Bristol International Raceway.

NASCAR officials said the entire 32-car field for Saturday night's Winston Cup event on the .533-mile oval would be set in time trials Saturday afternoon.

Movies turn serious

Fall features adapted from plays, books

By John Horn
AP Entertainment Writer

LOS ANGELES — When Hollywood wants to make serious movies, it knows just where to look — it looks elsewhere.

With Labor Day approaching and the summer film season winding down, the studios are making an artistic about-face. Instead of calculated crowd pleasers such as "Jurassic Park," "In the Line of Fire" and "The Fugitive," the fall movie lineup is filled with distinctly intelligent, high-minded works.

But only a handful of these films were born on the back lot. Some of the more notable fall releases — "The Joy Luck Club," "Short Cuts," "Six Degrees of Separation" — are not based on original screenplays. Instead, these and a half-dozen other autumn movies are adapted from hit plays and acclaimed novels or short stories.

With kids back in school, fall moviegoers are generally older and crave more sophisticated works. Trouble is, a filmmaker rarely stumbles across a script that will satisfy this audience and these tastes. Most screenplays, in fact, are cookie-cutter variations on familiar themes.

So Hollywood producers turn to Broadway and bookshelves.

"They sort of have to, because they can't come up with anything that is serious on their own," says Robert Altman, who adapted "Short Cuts" from the pensive stories of Raymond Carver. "You don't just sit down and knock off a rather profound piece of work."

Says Fred Schepisi, the director of "Six Degrees of Separation": "It's very hard to convince Hollywood to allow you to write original or different material. They also have this disease called the three-week rewrite. When you have something rewritten that fast, it can't be as deep as a novel that's taken three years to write."

While there will be several lowbrow fall action films ("Demolition Man" with Sylvester Stallone and Wesley Snipes, Bruce Willis in "Striking Distance"), adaptations will play a

Little shop of horrors

By Yardena Arar
N.Y. Times News Service

LOS ANGELES — In a quiet New England village, a distinguished-looking gentleman opens a shop where people can purchase their heart's desire for an outrageously low sum of money plus the performance of a seemingly innocuous prank.

Could he be — Satan?

If you doubt it for a minute, then you weren't paying close attention to advance publicity that clearly identifies "Needful Things" as the latest Stephen King novel to hit the big screen. As interpreted by director Fraser C. Heston (son of Charlton) and Max von Sydow, it's pleasantly creepy popcorn horror fare — not vintage King, perhaps, but good enough for a late-summer shiver.

Like many of King's best books, "Needful Things" is based on the notion that the peaceful facade of small-town life is just a veneer for the dark side of human nature, which will surface given the least provocation.

Castle Rock, Maine — a community that King has visited in previous stories — looks as pretty and peaceful as small towns come, until the arrival of Leland Gaunt (von Sydow),

Gibson's 'Face' handsome effort

■ From both director, acting angles, Mel Gibson's latest effort is a success.

By Michael H. Price
N.Y. Times News Service

Mel Gibson's uneven career of popcorn schlock and serious film-as-art endeavors finally finds a focus in "The Man Without a Face," a new arrival that suggests the terminally handsome actor should have tried directing a long time ago.

An assured overall handling is the strong suit of "Face," which finds Gibson directing for the first time as well as handling the difficult role of a scarred recluse whose tentative reemergence into the world of human contact proves that the guy must have had good reasons for keeping to himself.

The setting is a coastal village in Maine, where a neglected schoolboy (played by Dallas stage actor Nick Stahl) turns to an outcast former teacher (Gibson) for tutoring. This meeting of two desperately unhappy souls is predictably stormy at first, but rather less

Leno

Letterman

Don't bother whining "Wheeeere's Johnny?" He's long gone. So is the stability and grace that ruled late night during his 30-year reign.

Welcome to chaos. In what amounts to a comic rumble for late night bragging rights — plus a mere $400 million in advertising — the questions are clear: Will Jay Leno save NBC's public relations hide by validating their endlessly analyzed decision to keep him at the expense of David Letterman?

Will Letterman claim the throne and make CBS' $42 million investment in him look like a sale at Kmart? Can Chevy Chase get any respect? Did Arsenio Hall ever have any? Promising more sheer entertainment both competitively and creatively than the coming prime-time season, our boys — call them "Johnny Carson: The Next Generation" — square off officially starting Monday, with the Leno Letterman battle at the core.

At CBS, expect fanfare worthy of a Ross Perot rally — will balloons cascade down from the rafters? — as the much-anticipated "Late Show with David Letterman" is unveiled.

Coming from Manhattan's newly renovated Ed Sullivan Theater — you can rest assured its new occupant is a bit more animated than its namesake used to be — it will feature guests Bill Murray and Billy Joel.

Across the dial on NBC's "The Tonight Show," Leno counters with country singer Garth Brooks and heartthrob actor Luke Perry. Having dispatched with the bombast of Arsenio Hall (he assured us he would "kick Leno's a--" but Leno did the kicking) survived the Whose-My-Host? sweepstakes with Letterman and maintained Carson's ratings while attracting a slightly younger audience, Leno faces his stiffest challenge to date.

Talk about stark differences. The song "Tradition" from "Fiddler on the Roof" could have been written for Leno.

Pointed — but never savage-monologues are his calling card, and he wears his geniality like a badge. Unfailingly "decent" is the description offered by those who know him.

Cynical and sly, Letterman better romances younger viewers — advertiser gold — while raising flippancy to an art form. Cheeky humor, outrageous physical gags and an un-Leno-like interviewing style that can draw blood (just ask Cher or Shirley MacLaine) define him as TV's eternal frathouse prankster.

Irony lovers note: Letterman's inventive stunts — hanging like a human Velcro strip, bathing in a giant, fizzy vat of Alka Seltzer and roaming New York with his camera crew — echoes the looney genius of original "Tonight Show" host Steve Allen. Leno favors the more passive, chit-chatty style honed by Jack Paar and, later Carson.

Expect mutual adjustments. Edgy

'River of Dreams' a triumphant return

By Jimmy Patterson
Special Projects Editor

Billy Joel

Why all the smiles of late?

Could very well be that all that happiness is emanating from the children of the musical '70s.

Just when it looked like pop radio was no longer salvageable thanks to all the garbage on the airwaves these days, Billy Joel returns with his best work in a decade.

"River of Dreams," Joel's first album in four years, last week made its debut at No. 1 on the popular album charts last week. It is there again this week.

And it is a fitting return for the once-Angry Young Man of the '70s who has slowly turned into the Angry Middle Aged Man of the '90s.

For those fans of his music who have aged along with him, married and had families as he has, Joel gives the suburban-type male a voice that has been heretofore difficult, if not impossible, to find.

Contemporary hits radio, which once called itself Top 40, has turned into a vast wasteland of flyby-night rappers and soul searchers whose names will have been forgotten not even a year from now.

But the return of Billy Joel, even a Joel who is still bitter, is the best thing to happen to pop radio in years.

"River of Dreams" opens with Joel bemoaning the plight of his native Long Island. "No Man's Land" screams of "No major industry, just miles and miles of parking space" and effectively exhibits Joel's rancor with the "progress" of today's world. Not since 1981's "Pressure" has he rocked this hard.

"Great Wall of China," a song that musically would've fit well on "Nylon Curtain," details Joel's bitterness toward a friendship-business relationship gone bad. Namely, it is his association with former manager and brother-in-law, Frank Weber, that has diminished into an ugly lawsuit. Lyrically, the song is so biting it may leave teeth marks on your ears. Melodically, it is one of the best on the album.

After confessing to having the blues and feeling a bit depressed in "Blonde over Blue" and "Minor Variation," Joel admits growing old ain't as easy as it's cracked up to be in "Shades of Gray."

It is the album's last five songs that demonstrates the singers's hope for the future. Joel's Side 1 anger disappears and gives way to a light at the end of the 20th century tunnel.

"All About Soul" is clearly about model-wife Christie Brinkley and her ability to see through her husband, while "Lullabye (Goodnight My Angel)" was written for the couple's 7-year-old daughter, Alexis. "Lullabye" is a song spawned after the youngest Joel asked dad what happens when we die.

Professing to have "never been a spiritual man" in the album's title song, Joel avoids the life-after-death debate and tells his little girl in "Lullabye" that it's time to "dream how wonderful your life will be."

The title song is the catchiest piece of music Joel has written since "Uptown Girl," and, in fact, sounds like a cross between 1983's "Keepin' the Faith" and Paul Simon's "Graceland." "River of Dreams" is the kind of music radio used to play back when artists wrote memorable songs.

Popular Music

The anthemic "Two Thousand Years," a song which drips of hope for the future, tells of how "There will be miracles/After the last war is won," and "what an amazing future there will be."

His claim of how "science and poetry will rule in the new world to come", though, may leave cynics scratching their head.

The album closes with Joel's ode to middle age ("Stack the chairs on the table tops/Hang the sheets on the chandeliers/It slows down but it never stops/Ain't it sweet after all these years.")

It is obvious family life has given Joel reason to have a bright outlook, but he still finds time to be mad about certain things. Just like thousands of other approaching-middle-age guys out there. Joel's angst, as well as his optimism, give his fans plenty of reason to smile.

"River of Dreams" is a musical and lyrical triumph, and when all the initial excitement of the work has worn off, the album could likely become known as the finest collection of songs the pop master has ever assembled.

LATE: 'Nightline' lurks as late night underdog

(From 1C)

Dave must go more mainstream for the older 11:05 audience, while Earnest Jay needs to muscle up his sketches, comedy bits and audience participation.

Despite NBC's hilariously silly threats to sue if Letterman kidnaps his patented bits like the Top 10 List and Stupid Pet Tricks — NBC calls them "intellectual properties" — don't be surprised to see Letterman flaunt them. With relish.

As for who'll cop the prize in this afterhours free-for-all, only one thing is clear: Nothing is clear, because Letterman is dueling Leno with one sword tied behind his back.

Life is simpler for Fox's Chevy Chase, who debuts Tuesday, Sept. 7. as a footnote to the main battle and in a less pressurized arena in which to develop. Getting a half-hour jump on Jay and Dave, Chase will haul out his best weapon — a reworked version of his old "Weekend Update" on "Saturday Night Live" at 10:34 p.m., a minute before the big boys come out to play.

Declaring his desire to "subversively screw up television again," Chase is a wild card, with indeterminate interviewing skills (he once substituted for Carson and said he hated it) and only a vague summation of his entry as "a late-night comedy show," probably laden with sketches and sight gags.

And Arsenio? The host with the interviewing skills of a flustered teenager looks like a casualty waiting to happen. Some Fox affiliates have moved the syndicated Hall back to midnight to make way for Chase.

Bottom line: One of these baby boomer babblers will yammer his way to late night's heavyweight title.

Or, they could knock each other senseless, leaving only one fighter standing in the ring, "Nightline" emblazoned across his trunks — and not a hair out of place.

It's pretty much the real Nashville thing

By Michael H. Price
N.Y. Times News Service

Samantha Mathis, left, and River Phoenix star in "The Thing Called Love."

"The Thing Called Love" is an earnest, sincere country-music heartwarmer from a filmmaker who understands Nashville better than any other talent in Hollywood.

The film's success is compromised by director Peter Bogdanovich's long-standing struggle to surpass his own early accomplishments. Bogdanovich scored powerfully 22 years ago with "The Last Picture Show," a fine drama of life in a troubled Texas town. Nothing he has done in the intervening years has quite measured up.

And so what else is new? Bogdanovich remains a talent worth watching, and "The Thing Called Love" is infinitely more watchable a film than the director's slapdash attempt at a "Picture Show" sequel, 1990's superficial and mean-spirited "Texasville."

The passion for country music that underscored key moments of "Picture Show" resurfaces now as the sum and substance of "The Thing Called Love." Set in Nashville at a talent-nurturing mecca called the Bluebird Cafe, the film charts the troubled progress of four young artists who seek to break into the big time, not as stars, but on a more fundamental level as songwriters.

This behind-the-scenes vantage requires players who are more concerned with character than with glamour. Samantha Mathis and Sandra Bullock fill the bill admirably, and so does Dermot Mulroney; the three approach the yarn with a refreshing avoidance of vanity.

Only the fourth major character, played by top-billed River Phoenix, breaks stride. His flamboyance works against the honesty the movie works so hard to convey.

Phoenix has grown up on screen, starting out as a versatile juvenile lead ("Explorers" and "Stand by Me"), but he has lost much natural charm along the way. "The Thing Called Love" catches Phoenix doing more star posturing than acting, and this problem works against conviction, especially when a romantic entanglement develops on screen between him and Mathis.

The film's burning question of success vs. failure is trivial unless the audience cares about the kids, and for the most part the characters are credibly sympathetic.

The Nashville milieu is accurately and affectionately captured, and such important country-western figures as K.T. Oslin, Trisha Yearwood, Fort Worth's Katy Moffatt and Lubbock's Jimmie Dale Gilmore are on hand to provide authenticity.

Rating: PG. Venue: UA Cine 4.

Woody's 'Mystery' Works

Sometimes, when people are under a lot of stress, they like to curl up with a good murder mystery.

Whatever else you might say about Woody Allen these days, he's certainly been under several tons of stress. So he, too, has curled up with a good murder mystery.

The difference is, "Manhattan Murder Mystery" is a whodunit as only Woody could do it. Meaning, clues and suspects take a back seat to one- liners and working out relationships.

Allen and Diane Keaton (replacing Mia Farrow) play Larry and Carol Lipton, longtime New Yorkers with a son at Brown University and a marriage getting slightly stale around the edges. They aren't exactly at each other's throats, but their life together is a series of semi-amiable compromises. If she sits through the hockey game, he has to stay for the entire opera.

FACE: Gibson's sharp directorial debut

predictably stormy at first, but rather less predictably the two gradually bring out the best in one another.

This benevolence is lost on the clannish townspeople, who have spent several years shunning Gibson and concocting rumors to account for his damaged face and his isolation. The kid's spiteful mother (Margaret Whitton) suddenly develops an unaccustomed interest in her son's well-being, demanding an end to the association with Gibson.

The bottom line is little more than a call for tolerance, emphasized to the point of overobvious-

Holland novel. But Gibson plays things with a serene dignity, recalling the tone if not the substance of such superior outcast films as "To Kill a Mockingbird" (1962) and "Face of Fire" (1959).

For 13-year-old Nick Stahl, the screen debut is a triumph that should assure a continued prominence. The boy is a natural before the cameras, and he holds his ground admirably in concert with the veteran star Gibson, who as usual refuses to "play down" to a ness in screenwriter Malcolm MacRury's adaptation of the Isabelle less experienced colleague.

Gibson has clearly absorbed a sharp command of directing skills, and his use of them lends an air of authority and substance to the simple morality fable of "The Man Without a Face."

ON SCREEN

N.Y. Times News Service

(Condensed movie reviews by Los Angeles Daily News film critics. The rating system for the film list is: ★★★★ — Don't miss it; ★★★ — worth your while; ★★ — Has it moments; ★ — If you must) (For use by NYTimes News Service clients)

ALADDIN: Another endlessly entertaining animated feature from Walt Disney, buoyed by Robin Williams' energetically inventive turn as the Genie who helps a poor street kid named Aladdin surmount the evil plotting of Jafar and win the love of the Sultan's daughter Jasmine. Dazzling color and breathtaking animation combine with nonstop laughs and spritely songs. G. Rating: ★★★★

CLIFFHANGER: Truly spectacular stunts, camerawork and special effects are nearly wasted on this stone dumb, Alpine adventure. Sylvester Stallone battles John Lithgow's murderous thieves at 12,000 feet. Director Renny Harlin ("Die Hard 2") piles on the virtuoso, ridiculous action, but the effects of oxygen deprivation are only apparent when somebody tries to speak coherently. R. Rating: ★★½

CONEHEADS: The "SNL" sketch is brought to the screen pretty faithfully and with a good sense of fun, though an interlude on the Coneheads' home planet is tiresome. Dan Aykroyd and Jane Curtin reprise their roles as the pointy headed alien invaders who enthusiastically take up a mass consuming, suburban lifestyle. Steve Barron of "Ninja Turtle" infamy directed, but don't let that keep you away. PG. Rating: ★★★

DENNIS THE MENACE: Cartoonist Hank Ketcham's durable 6-year-old is a lot funnier in newspapers than in this latest John Hughes production. Walter Matthau provides a few laughs as the irascible Mr. Wilson, the unwilling object of Dennis' attention, but newcomer Mason Gamble is just so-so and the movie is too sticky sweet to be the social satire it could have been. PG. ★½

THE FIRM: Sydney Pollack's gripping, intelligent film version of John Grisham's legal thriller improves on the book. Tom Cruise is the only weak link — and he's never less than adequate — in this cerebral suspenser about a young lawyer enmeshed in a mob-connected law firm. He must use all of his legal skills to avoid getting squashed by the government or mafia or both, and his ingenious strategy is the film's real star. Jeanne Tripplehorn ("Basic Instinct"), Gene Hackman, Ed Harris and Holly Hunter provide invaluable support. R. Rating: ★★★½

FREE WILLY: A sort of "E.T." for the environmentally conscious, the story of two adolescents in search of family — one a killer whale, the other an abandoned boy — unfolds deftly and without excess sentiment. Credit director Simon Wincer ("Phar Lap," "Lonesome Dove," "The Man From Snowy River"), newcomer Jason James Richter, Keiko the whale and wildlife cinematographer Bob Talbot for the class act of the summer family shows. PG. Rating: ★★★

THE FUGITIVE: The big-screen version of the classic TV show is a nonstop chase machine. But, similar to the Energizer bunny it goes and goes like, all it leaves you with are memories of motion and a drumbeat. Dully stalwart Harrison Ford is the innocent Dr. Richard Kimble, wrongly condemned for killing his wife. Charismatic, witty Tommy Lee Jones is implacable Marshal Gerard, determined to catch the escaped con, who's equally determined to find the real killer. Director Andrew Davis ("Under Siege") never lets up on the suspense, not even to toss a little character development into the mix. PG-13. Rating: ★★★

HARD TARGET: The best movie Jean-Claude Van Damme's had the luck to be in is one of the most compromised Hong Kong superdirector John Woo has made. The filmmaker's typical, balletically choreographed and highly imaginative violence, while evident everywhere, has clearly been undercut to achieve an R rating. What's left is a good-looking, less-than-gut-grabbing fight between Van Damme and a bunch of rich jerks who hunt homeless veterans in New Orleans. R. Rating: ★★½

HEART AND SOULS: It's a wonderful death for four disembodied spirits who don't learn why they're attached to a young man until it's almost too late. He's supposed to help them set their affairs straight on Earth, but since he's yuppie scum played by Robert Downey Jr., it's not that easy. Director Ron Underwood ("City Slickers") goes for typical, Hollywood feel-good spirituality most of the time. But the cast — Charles Grodin, Kyra Sedgwick, Tom Sizemore and Alfre Woodard are the ghosts — often rise above their single issue characters to levels of winning grace. PG-13. Ratings: ★★½

IN THE LINE OF FIRE: This terrifically enjoyable action thriller pits Clint Eastwood's aging Secret Service agent against John Malkovich's brilliant, would-be presidential assassin. Both actors give flavorful performances and director Wolfgang Petersen ("Das Boot") supplies smart, Hitchcockian visual and thematic panache. The whole thing is a little hard to believe, but it's too good a time at the movies for that to matter much. R. Rating: ★★★½

JURASSIC PARK: Steven Spielberg's dino-spectacular is not the religious experience many expected, but it's a pretty good, sci-fi chase movie. Something goes wrong at an island amusement park whose main attraction is genetically engineered, live dinosaurs. The big lizards, realized by a superb combination of full-sized robots and computer-generated graphics, have infinitely more charisma than their underwritten human prey, played by Sam Neill, Laura Dern, Jeff Goldblum and Richard Attenborough. PG-13. Rating: ★★★

RISING SUN: Though he has excised some of the more alarmist politics from Michael Crichton's Japan-bashing best seller, adapter-director Philip Kaufman ("The Right Stuff") still has made a pretty racist thriller. It's also quite sexist and muddled, though blessed with strong, high-tech visuals and fine performances by Sean Connery and Wesley Snipes. They're two L.A. cops investigating the murder of a white woman in a Japanese corporate tower; the mystery is too obvious, the explanations of Japanese behavior simultaneously reductive and convoluted. R. Rating: ★★

ROBIN HOOD: MEN IN TIGHTS: Mel Brooks is back with a parody of Kevin Costner's "Robin Hood" featuring Cary Elwes as Robin of Loxley, crackup performances by Roger Rees and Richard Lewis as the Sheriff of Rottingham and Prince John, Tracy Ullman as the hag Latrine and Brooks himself as Rabbi Tuckman. It has Brooks' signature musical numbers and Yiddish jokes, plus Dom DeLuise as a medieval Marlon Brando, but the lunacy isn't consistant enough to match Brooks' earlier sendups or more recent spoofs by the Zucker brothers and Jim Abrahams. Go with modest expectations. PG-13. Rating: ★★

SECRET GARDEN: Frances Hodgson Burnett's durable novel about a lonely turn-of-the-century orphan who finds emotional rebirth in tending for a mysterious abandoned garden gets its classiest, most sensitive screen interpretation to date from director Agnieszka Holland ("Europa, Europa"). Visually spectacular and superbly acted by a cast headed by newcomer Kate Maberly and Maggie Smith, the film explores universal themes of loss and renewal with a simplicity and beauty that will enchant filmgoers of all ages. An instant classic. G. Rating: ★★★½

SLEEPLESS IN SEATTLE: Tom Hanks and Meg Ryan star in Nora Ephron's contrived, self-mocking and deliriously wonderful romantic comedy. He's a widowed single father; she's a passion rattled journalist on the other side of the continent. They don't meet until the last scene. In the meantime, Ephron (who wrote Ryan's hit "When Harry Met Sally...") hilariously implores us to bury our fake, movie fed romantic notions — then makes us fall for them all over again. PG-13. Rating: ★★★½

FALL: Film offerings less action packed

(From 1C)

prominent role from now through November:

■ In "The Age of the Innocence," director Martin Scorsese retells Edith Wharton's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel. His performers include Michelle Pfeiffer and Daniel Day-Lewis.

■ David Cronenberg directs Jeremy Irons in "M. Butterfly," based on David Henry Hwang's Tony-winning drama of sexual deception and obsession. It is only the second film Cronenberg ("Dead Ringers") directed that he didn't write himself.

■ "Even Cowgirls Get the Blues," Tom Robbins' wild novel about a hitchhiker and a lot more, is being adapted by Gus Van Sant ("My Own Private Idaho"). It stars Keanu Reeves and Uma Thurman.

■ The director-screenwriter-producer trio that made "Howards End" is adapting "The Remains of the Day," Kazuo Ishiguro's wistful novel about an English butler. The cast is headed by Anthony Hopkins and Emma Thompson.

Of course, simply adapting a play or novel is rarely a painless process. Some books, such as Michael Crichton's "Jurassic Park" or John Grisham's "The Firm," are so straightforward and cinematic they translate easily to the screen.

Other works are far more complicated.

"The Remains of the Day" on paper is essentially an extended monologue of reminiscences. Thanks to Robbins' vivid style, "Even Cowgirls Get the Blues" is as much an exercise in writing as it is in storytelling. And "The Joy Luck Club" is a complicated compendium of many intersecting lives.

"You know you have something that's already working and is very powerful," Wayne Wang, who directed Amy Tan in Ron Bass' adaptation of "The Joy Luck Club," says of Tan's novel of the same name. But the book, Wang says, is episodic and complex.

Those attributes, however, are part of what Wang considers the movie's appeal. "I think it's good that there's a change. People are probably getting tired of all the action movies and slapstick comedies," he says.

"Fall is generally the time we move into films that are a little more serious."

Altman was confronted by an even more sprawling source. Unlike the families in Tan's novel, the people in Carver's nine separate stories aren't related by blood. Rather, Altman's "Short Cuts" is working with 22 characters united by experience, accident and geography. It also runs 3 hours, seven minutes.

Not a standard summer film, but right at home in the fall.

"I would have hated my film to be released in the summer. I wouldn't have allowed it," Altman says. "The tenor of attitude changes in the autumn.

"I don't think this is a typical movie. But any progress or change has to come from something atypical."

While Wang's film closely follows Tan's novel, Altman's film is an interpretation, rather than a transliteration, of Carver's prose. Similarly, "Six Degrees of Separation" starts in some places where John Guare's play stops.

Adapted by Guare, the film follows a wealthy New York family whose home and life is transformed by a visitor who proves too good to be true.

"I just think it is such a marvelous play of ideas," says director Schepisi. Nevertheless, he adds, it needed to be adapted for the screen, not just filmed on stage.

"You'll be amazed at how much the same it is and how different it is in presentation," Schepisi says.

There's only one concern with so many refined movies coming out at the same time, Schepisi says: "All the good ones will come out and kill one another off."

TRAILERS: One of the more expensive films scheduled for release later this fall is undergoing substantial editing. "I'll Do Anything," a musical from "Terms of Endearment" director Jim Brooks, may end up not being a musical after all. After a disastrous test screening, the movie from Columbia Pictures is being recut to give preview audiences the chance NOT to see Albert Brooks and Nick Nolte sing. If that version tests better, expect it in theaters Nov. 12.

Groundhog Day Released

What would you do if you were doomed to repeat the most boring day of your life over and over again?

You'd go bonkers, just like Phil Connors (Bill Murray), the egotistic weatherman "sentenced" to covering Groundhog Day in Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania.

Phil wakes up each morning finding himself doing the exact same thing, including reporting on the infamous groundhog festivities. He spends almost all of Groundhog Day trying to escape this time warp.

With this admittedly clever premise, director Harold Ramis and writer Danny Rubin could have had a hilarious black comedy on their hands. Note I said "could have."

THINGS: Stephen King 'Lite'

(From 1C)

proprietor of a new shop called Needful Things.

Housed in an old Victorian mansion, Needful Things keeps odd hours and offers an assortment of merchandise that varies, depending upon who's doing the shopping — a rare baseball card for a young boy, a varsity jacket that brings back fond memories for the town bully, a trinket that cures the disfiguring and painful arthritis of Polly Chalmers (Bonnie Bedelia), sweetheart to town sheriff Alan Pangborn (Ed Harris).

Smiling benevolently almost all the while, Gaunt dispenses his wares to citizens so bedazzled by their bargains that they don't stop to question the terms. After all, the pranks — at least at first — are just minor acts of theft and vandalism.

But each one presses an emotional button that taps into simmering feuds between two other customers who blame each other for the prank, triggering increasingly bloody cycles of hate and vengeance.

Needful Things

Leland Gaunt ..... MAX von SYDOW
Alan Pangborn ..... ED HARRIS
Polly Chalmers ..... BONNIE BEDELIA
Nettie Cobb ..... AMANDA PLUMMER
Danforth Keeton III ..... J.T. WALSH

Directed by Fraser Heston; Produced by Jack Cummins; Screenplay by W.D. Richter.
Rating: R.
Venue: UA Cine 4.

Horror connoisseurs may find "Needful Things" a bit lightweight; screenwriter W.D. Richter and Heston seem more interested in playing King's tale for ghastly laughs — and there are one-liners aplenty — than in exploring the selfishness and greed that Gaunt has so little trouble exploiting. As a result, the inevitable face-off between Gaunt and the townspeople falls somewhat flat; a horribly hilarious slasher cat fight that precedes it is far more gripping.

Still, the production is handsome, von Sydow is suitably mesmerizing as the devil incarnate, Harris is well-cast as the lone decent man who gives him his due, and they are backed by a strong set of character players, with Amanda Plummer and J.T. Walsh the most loony and, therefore, the most memorable.

THERE WERE GIANTS IN THE LAND

THROUGHOUT THE OLD TESTAMENT THERE ARE SEVERAL REFERENCES TO GIANTS AS INDIVIDUALS AND AS A RACE. ONE RACE WERE THE ANAKIMS WHO HAD CITIES IN CANAAN. WHEN HEBRON WAS CAPTURED BY THE HEBREWS THE ANAKIMS ESCAPED DESTRUCTION BY FLEEING TO THE CITIES OF THE PHILISTINES. BUT UNTIL THAT TIME THEY RULED THE LAND, TAXING THE OTHER INHABITANTS AND, IN GENERAL, CONTROLLING THEIR LIVES. THE NOTORIOUS GOLIATH OF GATH, WHO WAS KILLED BY DAVID, WAS ONE OF THE ANAKIMS. AFTER THIS INCIDENT WE HAVE NO FURTHER RECORD OF THE GIANTS.

Gathering brings out new impulses in Christian unity

Associated Press

Some new and changing impulses have emerged in the Christian unity movement. They showed up in a global meeting of Christian leaders in Spain to assess the status of that undertaking and chart its course ahead.

The Fifth World Conference on Faith and Order was the first in 30 years focused on the fundamental elements of unity efforts — doctrines and ways of church functioning.

A closing message urged divided churches to do "all that is possible to achieve a common recognition of baptism, agreement on common participation in the Eucharist (Holy Communion) and a mutually recognized ministry."

Such ties are essential in the New Testament's call for "koinonia," the Greek term for "communion" or "fellowship" of believers, the message said.

Participants representing virtually all the world's historic Christian bodies, including Roman Catholicism for the first time along with Protestantism, Eastern Orthodoxy and others, affirmed "visible unity" as their goal.

But there were questioning voices at the 10-day August meeting in the northwestern Spanish city of Santiago De Compostela, considered the burial site of the apostle James and center of pilgrimages for centuries.

Discussions also turned up some unusual attitudes.

Some contended that the necessary basic agreements had been achieved and the task now was simply to implement them in teaching and service. Others charged institutional protectionism was deterring the process.

Some maintained the movement had lost steam, become stagnant and people had lost interest in it. Others insisted that it was desired by people generally but they were turned off by bureaucratic resistance.

WHO ARE THE UNITARIANS?

They are people who think about their beliefs and then live those beliefs. If you agree you may find a happy church home within the Unitarian Universalist fellowship, in intellectual company with Emerson, Jefferson, Thoreau, Robert Goddard, Susan B. Anthony, and other Unitarian Thinkers, past and present.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, AUGUST 28, 1993

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Some unexpected news could change your priorities. Investigate real estate as a possible source of income. Taking courses at a local college could help you stay ahead of the competition. You will love the praise that comes your way in January of 1994. Trust your intuition when making career-related decisions. Influential people will admire your entrepreneurial spirit. Next May is the perfect time for a wedding.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actors Charles Boyer, figure skater Scott Hamilton, dancer Donald O'Connor, actress Emma Samms.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Housecleaning weeds out the old and makes way for fresh additions. Volunteering to help a relative creates good feelings. Your "can-do" attitude will accomplish wonders.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Devoting more time and attention to family activities will keep home life running smoothly. You make an important discovery while working behind the scenes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The rewards far outweigh the task now. A project or purchase is destined to be a big success. Keep your expectations realistic. Renewing an old friendship could lead to a delighttul romance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Investments in oil, television and the movies are favored. You tend to be too generous. Pull back a bit. Consolidate loans and try to reduce certain payments.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Seize a golden opportunity to put a financial idea into operation. You have little difficulty in getting others to see things your way. Welcome an opportunity to mix business with pleasure.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Recent experiences have made you a stronger person. Someone tests the strength of a relationship. Act prudently. Entertaining at home gives you a perfect opportunity to combine business with pleasure.

Arnolds pay off paparazzi who claims Tom beat him up

LOS ANGELES — Roseanne and Tom Arnold agreed to pay $20,000 to a paparazzi who said Arnold beat him up and broke his camera equipment when he snapped the couple's picture at an airport.

Arnold

A lawsuit filed by photographer Gary Aloian said he was taking pictures of the pair on Aug. 5, 1990, at Los Angeles International Airport when Arnold got him in a bear hug, punched him repeatedly in the back and broke his equipment.

Mrs. Arnold, according to the lawsuit, egged on her husband.

Aloian said in court papers that he suffered extreme back pain and emotional damage and had trouble working because he feared another assault.

Arnold denied striking the photographer but admitted disabling his equipment. The Arnolds agreed to settle on Aug. 9, but it was not widely known until Friday.

LISBON, Portugal — Police searched Friday for masked gunmen suspected of plotting to kidnap Thierry Roussel, the father of 8-year-old shipping heiress Athena Onassis.

Police spokesman Capt. Eduardo Lourenco said four men were spotted Wednesday in a car outside Roussel's fruit farm in southern Portugal.

Lourenco gave no further details, but the Portuguese newspaper Diario de Noticias reported that the driver pointed a sawed-off shotgun at a farm employee and demanded to know when Roussel would be leaving the farm and in what vehicle.

An anonymous caller to the farm asked similar questions about Roussel's schedule, the newspaper said. Police were called to escort Roussel to nearby Faro airport, where he boarded a flight back to his native France.

Roussel married Christina Onassis, the daughter of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, in 1984. The couple were divorced three years later and Christina died in 1988. Athena is the sole heiress of the Onassis fortune, estimated at $1.5 billion.

BOISE, Idaho — Tanya Tucker rested Friday in a hospital after slipping in the shower and cracking her tailbone.

The country singer had to cancel a show at the Western Idaho Fair because of the accident Thursday night. About 9,000 fans were in the stands when the show was canceled.

Tucker, 34, fell in the shower of her tour bus and was taken to St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center. She was in fair condition, a hospital spokesman said.

Dixie Pineda, Tucker's publicist, said she was resting comfortably and "she's fine, except obviously that tailbone."

LYFORD CAY, Bahamas — After three days at Disney World, Princess Diana and her two young sons began a holiday at a secluded Bahamas resort.

Princess Diana

The royal tourists were the guests Friday at the Lyford Cay home of the Menzies family, according to the British news agency the Press Association.

Lyford Cay is a peninsula 10 miles from Nassau.

"Yes, they arrived last night," said Cordell Thompson of the Ministry of Tourism. "It is a very private visit."

The princess is a close friend of Kate Menzies, who is vacationing with her.

On Thursday, the princess and her children finished up their visit to central Florida, stopping at a water attraction called Typhoon Lagoon and at the Magic Kingdom. They also stopped at Splash Mountain, rafting down the steep waterway.

The Frederick's of Hollywood Lingerie Museum has sent word that a corset in its collection, worn by Ingrid Bergman in the movie "Cactus Flower," is on loan to the Los Angeles Museum of Contemporary Art for "Rolywholyover a Circus," an exhibit by the late composer and artist John Cage.

"Rolywholyover," a word used by James Joyce in "Finnegans Wake," connotes revolution and dynamic movement. The "Circus" exhibit — to open in L.A. on September 12 and travel later to Houston, New York, Tokyo and Philadelphia — includes a variety of parts that are changing constantly. "The basic idea," said Cage, "is that the exhibition would change so much that if you came back a second time, you wouldn't recognize it."

Where does Frederick's fit in? In the "Museumcircle" part of the exhibit, every museum within a 30-mile radius of MOCA was asked to submit a list of works that might be included.

Among the 22 participating are the Lingerie Museum, the Pacific Asia Museum, the Japanese American National Museum and the California Museum of Science & Industry. The gallery will include items from their collections, rocks, plans, chess tables and reference works about change.

Because the exhibit is about change, admission tickets for multiple use will be sold to visitors.
