Duckett Loses Fight For Bond In Habeas Corpus Hearing

JUDGE DENIES EFFORTS TO FREE YOUTH

Counsel Serves Notice Of Appeal of Decision At Archer City

JURY MEETS MONDAY

Archer County Body To Consider Fatal Fight At Dundee Bank

ARCHER CITY, July 30.—George Duckett of Newcastle, charged with murder in connection with the death of Charles McDaniel of Dundee, was refused bond by Judge E. G. Thornton at the end of a habeas corpus hearing in the 30th district court here this afternoon.

Duckett is accused of fatally wounding McDaniel when the latter grappled with the lone bandit who attempted to rob the First State bank of Dundee July 18.

Appeal Planned

Attorneys for Duckett, who had presented 10 witnesses from Newcastle in an attempt to prove an alibi for the defendant immediately gave notice of appeal on receiving Judge Thornton's decision. It is not expected that the case will reach the higher courts, however, as attorneys pointed out the grand jury will convene Monday and should immediately dispose of the case.

Ben Allred, district attorney, and H. R. Wilson, special prosecutor, introduced Charley Drummond of Dundee, who testified of the attempt to rob the Dundee bank and identified Duckett as the man who shot McDaniel. The state rested, and was followed by the defense with 10 witnesses, all of Newcastle, who testified to seeing Duckett in Newcastle at various times on the day of attempted robbery.

Battle Related

In rebuttal, the state offered J. M. Clark and W. L. Richardson, who told of a gun battle with a man driving a Whippet car on the day of the robbery. The two witnesses identified Duckett as the man who opened fire on them when they attempted to question him at Mankins.

Felix Grundy testified he had been stopped by a man about one and one-half miles from the Lake Wichita spillway, the man taking his car and purse at the point of a pistol.

Chicagoan in Hospital After Wreck in France

PARIS, July 30. (UP)—Joseph Gutstein of Chicago was operated on at 3 p. m. today to amend a fracture of the right leg which he received as the result of a crash of the automobile in which he and three other Chicagoans were riding along the Blougne-Amiens highway Sunday. A knee was also crushed, but it was said that he is not suffering any internal injuries as was at first believed.

Livestock Exchange Boycott Is Upheld

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 30. (UP)—An alleged boycott practiced by 30 members of the Oklahoma City Livestock exchange was approved today when the United States district court granted a permanent injunction against the enforcement of an order by Secretary Jardine to "cease and desist" the alleged boycott.

Tex Guinan, Helen Morgan And 'N.T.G.' Indicted

Noted Leaders in Broadway's Night Life Face Fights to Avoid Two-Year Prison Terms

By SAM LOVE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 30. (UP)—A shocked and outraged Broadway was trying to apprehend the stunning news tonight that three of its most popular favorites faced a fight to escape two years in federal prisons on bootlegging charges.

Texas Guinan, undisputed queen of local night life; Helen Morgan, star of the Ziegfeld production "Showboat," and Nils T. Granlund, announcer known to thousands of radio fans as "N. T. G.," were all named by a federal grand jury in indictments charging them with violating the prohibition law and maintaining nuisances.

105 Others Indicted

Other similar indictments to the number of 105 were returned by the grand jury as a result of the surprise raids on night clubs directed by Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general.

But the other 105 are merely waiters, doormen, cigaret girls, managers and entertainers of the 18 night clubs into which automobile loads of federal sleuths elbowed their way.

What happens to them, in Broadway opinion, is too bad, just as it is too bad when something happens to a few marines in Nicaragua. But what happens to three such luminaries as Granlund and the Misses Guinan and Morgan is something else again.

Broadway Bitter

Bitter invective against the federal action, which so far in the prohibition war has no parallel in New York for wholesale assaults, was heard on Broadway corners and in Broadway restaurants tonight. A statement that the department of justice and the United States attorneys would seek jail terms for all those indicted was accepted at its face value.

Both Miss Guinan and Miss Morgan have shadow-boxed with the prohibition forces before, but never under the new form of indictment which carries a maximum two-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine upon conviction.

Miss Morgan won a skirmish with Major Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator, in March, when she succeeded in having returned to her night club $50,000 worth of furnishing chopped loose by a special raiding party armed with axes.

Tex in Jail Before

For her part, Miss Guinan has actually spent a night in jail, following one of her several arrests. But the jailing raid was headed by a youth who had been a former customer of Miss Guinan, and was indignant enough in consequence to turn prohibition agent. Nothing much came of it but publicity. This time the impression prevails that the pending trouble is on a non-frivolous and business basis.

At the time of Mrs. Willebrandt's raids, which she kept from being noised abroad in advance by herding the agents into rooms at prohibition headquarters where they were not allowed to use the telephones, all the prisoners were released on $1,000 bail each. The bail will stand until they are notified by letter to appear for arraignment.

Bank Messenger Robbers Shoot Way to Freedom

WINNIPEG, Man., July 30. (UP) Turning a machine gun on the car of William Henneberry, senior inspector of the U. S. border patrol, five men believed to be the bandits who robbed two bank messengers in Winipeg of $25,000 today, shot their way to liberty six miles east of Lawton, N. D., late this afternoon.

The bandits, who were chased across the international border by Manitoba police, easily outdistanced the Canadian officers and slipped past the U. S. border patrol, which took up the chase.

Four Believed Drowned As Car Leaves Bridge

PEORIA, Ill., July 30.—Four persons were believed drowned in the Illinois river today when the automobile in which they were riding plunged through the protecting rail and landed in mid-channel. The bodies have not been recovered.

Only the bridge tender saw the accident, and he declared there were four persons riding in the car. No bodies have appeared on the surface, and no trace has been found of the automobile, except two auto cushions, which were seen floating down the river.

BREAKS PRECEDENT

Woman Defeats Treasurer of Wharton County For First Time

WHARTON, Texas, July 30. (AP)—For the first time in the history of Wharton county a woman defeated a man in a race for office when Mrs. O. Garrett was nominated for county treasurer by a majority of 795 votes.

Miss Minnie May Hopper defeated Miss Elizabeth McIver in the contest for county superintendent.

BANK ROBBERY GANG SOUGHT

Hastings, Okla., Bank Loses $1000 Cash in Raid

DUNCAN, Okla., July 30. (UP) A posse of officers trailed over muddy roads southwest of here late today in a hide-and-seek chase after a carload of bandits who robbed the Oklahoma National bank of Hastings, Okla., of approximately $1,000 in cash.

The bandit sedan was reported headed toward this city after zigzagging over sectional roads in the Red river valley.

Last reports said five men were riding in the bandit car, although only three actually participated in the robbery this morning. The car bore a Missouri license.

A handful of officers were trailing the bandits while Duncan officers were posted on all roads leading into this city.

No Trace Found

The trail of the Hastings, Okla., bank bandits late Monday night had not led them through either Lawton, Okla., or Frederick, Okla., dispatches from Record News correspondents in both localities said. However, officers were said to be momentarily expecting the bandit car to approach, and that all roads were being carefully guarded.

Sheriff W. G. Bralley of Wichita county had reported no trace of the bandits on this side of the Red river at a late hour.

Unknown Boy Drowns In Chicago River

CHICAGO, July 30. (UB)—While hundreds of curious watched, a score of men battled today to save an unidentified boy from drowning in the murky blackness of the Chicago river. He fell into the river from a bank in the downtown section.

A passing motorboat made every effort to save him but failed. A pulmotor squad worked over him after the body was recovered to no avail.

Daughter of Commoner Bests Cal at Fishing

KEY WEST, Fla., July 30. (UP)—If president Coolidge wants some real fishing he should come to Key West, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, said when she returned from a gulf fishing trip Monday. Among her catch was a 14-pound yellow jack, one of the gamest fish off Florida.

50,000 Harvest Hands Needed in Canada

CHICAGO, July 30. (UP)—Fifty thousand men will be needed to help Canada harvest her wheat crop this year, representatives of the dominion said here today. Special trains will be run from here to carry the harvesters to the wheat belt, it was said.

PRIMARY VOTE GOES AGAINST ANTI-SMITHS

Love, Hawkins and Wilmans Fail to Impress Texas Voters

MAYFIELD IN RUN-OFF

Strong Field Against U. S. Senator Forces Second Contest

DALLAS, Texas, July 30. (AP)—The three candidates who faced Texas Democrats upon a platform including denunciation of and refusal to support the presidential nominee, Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, were shown tonight with the tabulation of more than 600,000 of the estimated 700,000 votes cast in last Saturday's primary to have been hopelessly defeated.

State Senator Thomas B. Love won his way into a run-off primary next month, but he trailed Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller by more than 80,000 votes. The Miller plurality was kept from being a majority because the other three candidates polled a total of 132,678.

Throughout a bitter campaign Lieutenant Governor Miller declined to appeal for self support, but instead pleaded for "the ticket, top to bottom."

Moody Big Winner

In the race for the gubernatorial nomination, which included candidates who joined Senator Love in assailing Governor Smith and denying him their support, there was an added complication for Dan Moody, the 35-year-old chief executive, but he came through with a cleancut majority over a four-cornered field. It was what he called the effort of James E. Ferguson, former governor and husband of "Ma" Ferguson, also a former governor, to re-enter the capital via the back door through support of Louis J. Wardlaw of Fort Worth.

Moody rolled up a majority of more than 130,000 on the face of unofficial returns from 240 of Texas' 253 counties, 76 of them complete, as compiled by the Texas Election bureau.

William E. Hawkins and Mrs. Edith Wilmans, whose names were left off the ballot in several counties along with that of Senator Love after they refused to support Governor Smith, polled 27,09% and 15,141 votes, respectively, out of a total tabulation of 609,772.

Governor Moody had 364,971, and Wardlaw 202,565.

Senate Run-off

Senator Earle B. Mayfield found an insurmountable obstacle in the opposition of two of Texas' veteran congressmen and a former commander of the American Legion, and was forced into a run-off primary next month for a further battle for his seat at Washington.

Mayfield gained his place in the United States senate only after one of the bitterest fights Texas ever saw. This one lacked the outspoken bitterness of the last contest, but was none the less strenuously fought.

The senator's run-off opponent will be Tom Connally, representative from the 11th district. Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of the 17th district today conceded his own defeat and issued a statement asserting he would throw his support to Connally. On the other hand Jeff McLemore admitting defeat, praised Senator Mayfield and promised him his support. McLemore's vote was the smallest tabulated for any state office.

The vote in the contest for the nomination for U. S. Senator: Mayfield, 166,815, Connally, 151,680; Alvin Owsley, former national commander of the American legion, 108,087, Blanton, 100,804; Mrs. Min-

Remains of First Roman Pile Village Found

LONDON, July 30. (UP)—The newspaper, The Daily Express, with the co-operation of the London museum has discovered the remains of the first Roman-British pile village to be found in England, at Brentford on the Thames river. The village is said to be 2,000 years old. It is believed, however, that the site was occupied 500 B. C.

Deaf and Dumb Bandits Arrested in Holdup

CHICAGO, July 30. (UP)—Three men silently crept up on John Wiedeman today and pressed a gun to his ribs. Wiedeman shouted and a passing police squad answered his cries. Still the bandits went about their work. Taken to the police station, they were found to be deaf and dumb.

Failure Confronts Oil Test at Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 30. (UP)—Test of the latest sand in the L. T. L. O. well southeast of here failed to show oil today.

This was the second failure in testing.

Officials went into conference late today to decide whether to drill deeper.

24 Prizes

Mary Jane (the cat, not the lady) has just won her 24th first prize. The snow white Persian, that carried off the honors at the recent Cincinnati show, is held here by Miss Alice Cooke, as authority on kitties.

PARNELL GIVES AID TO MILLER

Wichitan Declares Tom Love Is Misguided

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, July 30.—Former State Senator J. D. Parnell, of Wichita Falls, unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor announced Monday that he will support Barry Miller of Dallas in the run-off primary, August 25.

"I will support Barry Miller in the run-off primary, August 25," said Parnell. "He has made a good lieutenant govenor and will be loyal to his party and its nominees. I do not doubt the honesty of Thomas B. Love, but I am forced to doubt the wisdom of his judgment in bolting the party ticket as he has declared his intention of doing. He is unquestionably being misled as to the issues involved in the coming campaign. National prohibition was given us by a Democratic administration. It has been degraded by a Republican administration which for eight years has failed to make an honest effort to enforce it.

"The welfare of our people is dependent upon ther problems as well as prohibition. The record and platform of the Republican party will not compare favorably with that of the Democratic party. We should not be deceived by over zealous politicians. Mr. Love is wrong and I cannot support him."

Assassin Tells Story Of Obregon Slaying

MEXICO CITY, July 30. (UP)—Jose de Leon Toral, assassin of President-elect Obregon, attended mass and went to confession before committing his crime, he was quoted as saying in a long confession published by the police today.

The confession, several thousand words long, was read to newspaper men at police headquarters in Toral's presence.

Giant Rail Trust Planned in Britain

LONDON, July 30. (UP)—Experts are studying further economies on the railway lines of Great Britain, through a consolidation of all companies into a gigantic trust to meet continued threatened losses to the road, it was reported here today. Such a trust would employ 1,000,000 workers and would have a capital of nearly $4,250,000,000.

Tramp Halts French Before Burning Bridge

PARIS July 30. (UP)—The Bordeaux-Lyons express was halted before a burning trestle today after a tramp had reported that several of the main supports were afire. The train had 700 passengers on board and might have crashed through the trestle except for the warning.

Movie Magnate Hurt In Automobile Accident

FRUECHTE AND SPENCE STILL HOLD LEADS

Young County Unofficial Total Lends Aid To Scott

BOX 17 COMPLETED

Other Races Unchanged As Remaining Votes Come In

| District Attorney | Spence | Fruechte | Rhea | Scott |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wichita (Cons.) | 3677 | 3833 | 3355 | 3455 |
| Young (Cons.) | 418 | 388 | 348 | 1347 |
| Archer (Incom.) | 580 | 497 | 385 | 415 |
| Total | 4675 | 4888 | 4048 | 5147 |

Vote still out: Two small boxes in Archer county, approximately 100 votes.

The vote at box 17, Carrigan school, last of the Wichita county poll of Saturday to come in was anounced at 11:15 o'clock Monday night, without changing the status of any candidates. John B. Rhea polled 385, E. P. Fruechte 354, Sam Spence 149 and W. L. Scott 53 votes out of the 540 cast.

The final Wichita county box left Spence slightly in the lead with 3675 votes as compared to 3855 for Fruechte, 3443 for Rhea and 5147 for Scott in the three counties. Although Scott led in both Young and Archer counties, the first by a wide margin, he was last in the race.

Official Count Delayed

Spence headed the four in Wichita county with a lead of 241 votes over Fruechte, who was second in the county.

Two small boxes in Archer county, with a reported poll of less than 100 votes still were to be heard from Monday night.

On the face of the unofficial returns, Spence and Fruechte were given a place in the run-off with Rhea lagging behind high man by 332 votes. Returns from Young county have been slow and changeable, however, and there is a remote possibility that the official count there may nose out one of the leaders in Rhea's favor.

The official count in Wichita county is expected to be ready toward the last of the week, according to E. C. De Montel, county chairman.

Other Races Unchanged

Other close races in the county were not changed by the vote at Carrigan school.

A. V. Grant, defeated by votes already in, polled one of his heaviest votes at the box in precinct 17, with 173 counters. Cecil Storey, his victorious opponent for representative, got 248 votes, while Early Van Deventer polled 73.

The leads of Ben Allred, Wayne Somerville, T. W. McHam, Burl Bryant W. G. Bralley, Edgar Scurry, M. A. Bundy, O. L. Gibbs and Frank Morgan were slightly increased in their races.

Harry Bunenberg cut into the lead of P. A. Martin for judge of 89th district court with a scant majority of four votes in the Carrigan box, to leave Judge Martin victor in the race by 208 votes.

Guy C. Raley, renominated for tax assessor in Saturday's primary, ran 125 votes behind Arthur C. Howard at the Carrigan box, but his lead still was sufficient to win.

Nicholson Named Chairman

B. S. Dunaway and Max Shumake led the tax assessor's race at the precinct 17 box, with Dunaway holding a slight edge there.

Joe B. Hatchett was defeated for precinct chairman by J. W. Nicholson by a vote of 137 to 292. Nicholson was a constitutional candidate for the precinct office, having announced his opposition to Al Smith several weeks ago at a meeting of the county executive committee shortly after the Democratic national convention.

Curtis Stops Off For Conference at Chicago

CHICAGO, July 30. (UP)—Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, Republican vice presidential nominee, en route from Washington to Topeka for his notification ceremony, stopped here today to confer with Chicago political leaders. No statements would be forthcoming, he said, until after the acceptance speech.

Smith-Hikers

Governor Al Smith caused a lot of traveling for these two Texas girls by not appearing personally at the Democratic convention where he was nominated. So determined to see him were Cordelia Mayberry, left, and Amelia Eastman that they hitch-hiked all the way to New York from their home town of Houston. Near journey's end, they're shown in a little celebrative posing on the roof of a Gotham skyscraper.

MOTOR DEAL GOES THROUGH

Chrysler Ranks Third After Merger

NEW YORK, July 30. (UP)—The Dodge-Chrysler automobile merger, through which the Chrysler corporation acquired the properties of Dodge Brothers, Inc., became a reality today.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of Dodge Brothers in Baltimore, which has been adjourned from Saturday, the plans for the merger were approved by holders of 90 per cent or more of the Dodge stock.

Approving the merger plan, the Dodge stockholders in effect sold their property to the Chrysler corporation for about $11,000,000 and in addition Chrysler assumed approximately $60,000,000 in obligations of the Dodge company which still are outstanding.

The merger makes the Chrysler corporation the third largest automobile concern in the world. It is exceeded only by the Ford Motor company and General Motors corporation.

It will have a line of cars ranging from the new Plymouth, only recently announced by Chrysler and selling as low as $665, up to the Chrysler "80" which sells at $3,000—and more for special bodies.

In addition to the Chrysler and Plymouth lines, the consolidated company will have the three models of Dodge cars—the standard, victory and senior six—and this week will bring out a new Chrysler model, the DeSoto, to sell at about $650. It also will build Graham trucks, now made by Dodge Brothers.

The company will have permanent assets of $95,000,000; working capital of $80,000,000; and total resources of $175,000,000. Its gross business is expected to be around half a billion dollars annually.

The company will have 70 plants with a total capacity of 700,000 automobiles annually.

English Labor Minister Leaves On Vacation

LONDON July 30. (UP)—Former Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald, leader of the labor party, and his three daughters sailed for Canada today for a two months' holiday.

MOB OF 10,000 SEEKS TO FREE MEN IN JAIL

New Bedford, Mass., Police Arrest 256 Pickets In Strike

GUARD UNIT CALLED

Militia Company Leaves Armory to Aid In Quelling Riot

NEW MEDFORD, Mass., July 30. (AP)—The militia was called out here tonight after the arrest of 256 strike pickets late this afternoon. At 9 o'clock a howling mob of 10,000 had surrounded the central police station where the arrested strikers were held. At 9:10 a company of 120 militia left the state armory for the police station.

The riot act was read and the troops with fixed bayonets drove the crowd from the streets. One man was reported to have received a bayonet wound.

The arrests followed upon the issuance of a defiance by Organizer Fred E. Beal of the textile mill committees. He challenged the police to go to the Whitaman mill and arrest the picket line which was detailed there contrary to police order.

Vans Are Loaded

Two large automobile vans of patrolmen halted in the midst of the pickets arrested Organizer Beal and as many more as they could place in the two vans.

They hustled the prisoners to the police station, returned and arrested another truck load of picketers, who had formed another line, led by Jack Gomes and Miss Mary Costa. The police overlooked the young woman, sending her home.

When the arrests were made there was considerable resistance, but in many cases the pickets actually walked up to the trucks and invited the police to take them. One woman thrashed about with an umbrella while six officers were placing her in a truck. The arrested pickets waved their hands, sang their solidarity songs, and otherwise were very noisy as the truck trolled toward the police station.

Over 100 Arrested

At the Milburn mill in the south end earlier in the evening, police descended on a line of 150 pickets and arrested about 75 in the first descent, including Augusto C. G. Pinto, who now has been arrested 11 times. Another picket line being formed by Andrew Inyk was descended on by police who arrested Inyk and 37 others.

All the prisoners were charged with parading without a permit.

Defeated Gubernatorial Candidate Thanks Voters

FORT WORTH, July 30. (AP)—L. J. Wardlaw, defeated candidate for governor, today issued a statement in which he thanked his friends for their support and said he found no sting in defeat.

"I entered the race against overwhelming odds," he said. "I tried to conduct my campaign on a high plane and pursued this course throughout my campaign. I find no sting in my defeat but have the utmost satisfaction in the knowledge that I have had the friendship and support of so many high minded and clean handed men and women of Texas."

Hassell Plane To Be Repaired in Ten Days

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 30. (UP)—Residents of the city of Rockford, who hope to establish the ultimate air route between the United States and Europe, rejoiced tonight over an encouraging development in their plans.

Detroit aircraft engineers reported that Bert R. J. Hassell's monoplane, which made an untimely descent into a cornfield 15 minutes after starting for Stockholm, could be made ready for another attempt within 10 days.

FLOOD WARNING POSTED

WASHINGTON, July 30. (UP)—The United States weather bureau tonight ordered flood warnings posted for the Solomon and Smoky Hill rivers of Kansas.

Moody Honors Al's Requisition For Electran Wanted On Desertion Count

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 30.—Gov. Dan Moody Monday afternoon honored a requisition issued by Gov. Al E. Smith of New York for rendition of Whipple Allison, wanted at Brooklyn, N. Y., to answer to a charge of children abandonment. The governor disregarded a protest.

Allison on Bond

Whipple Allison, charged with children abandonment in a warrant from Brooklyn, N. Y., authorities, was arrested by officers of the sheriff's department here about three weeks ago, Sheriff W. G. Bralley said. The warrant, he added, had been in their hands for some months.

Allison, Mr. Bralley said, is an Electra youth. He left that place some time ago for New York, where he married.

Sheriff Bralley said he would release Allison to New York authorities when they came after him with the requisition papers honored Monday by Gov. Dan Moody. He was recently released from the Wichita county jail on $1,000 bond, Sheriff Bralley said.

Attack at Altar On Aged Leader Of Cult Baffles Police Investigation

CHICAGO, July 30. (US)—Mystery surrounding the probable fatal beating of August Kessler, aged cult leader, at the foot of his outdoor altar, deepened tonight.

While life was waning for the eccentric priest, authorities found the body of a dead woman, believed to be his housekeeper who disappeared some months ago, under a bed in his shack on the fringe of the forest preserve.

Kessler was struck down this morning while conducting services for a handful of his following. Witnesses named Mathias Ott, reputed to be the leader of a faction which seeks control of the cult's interests, as the assailant.

They say Ott interrupted a prayer by demanding a drink of Kessler. When the latter told him to maintain silence, Ott went to the front of the altar and struck the leader several hard blows. In the skirmish Kessler's skull was fractured.

When taken in custody Ott admitted being drunk at the services but was too dazed to make an additional statement.

A faction loyal to the eccentric leader, who attracted crowds by his weird teachings from the foot of an altar that is carved in the fashion of an idol, said a group in the faith sought the leader's fortune, which is reported to be considerable and buried amidst the rustic news.

SOUTH FAILS TO WORRY AL

One Word Statement Given By Nominee

HAMPTON BAYS, N. Y., July 30. (AP)—Governor Smith let down the bars on political discussions while he is vacationing at the shore long enough today to pass the word that as the Democratic presidential nominee he is not worried about the south.

Although he had told a dozen reporters who accompanied him here that a vacation lid would be kept on politics, he commented briefly on the southern situation for the first time since his nomination, but not until he had been prodded by the newspaper men that tried had without much success to draw him out of a number of things political when one of them asked:

"Are you worried about the south?"

"No," Smith responded promptly and with emphasis.

Then, as on yesterday when he dictated a press account of his return from church, the nominee again turned reporter for a moment, drawling:

"When queried by newspaper men whether or not he was worried about the situation in the south the governor's prompt answer was 'no'."

That was as far as he would go. Efforts were made to have him expand on the southern outlook, and on defections in Democratic ranks which some Republican leaders are claiming may result in a breaking of the "solid south," but they failed.

To all appearances, unconcerned over any phase of the political situation Governor Smith held his daily press conference under a tree on the front lawn at Canoe Place Inn, his vacation headquarters here. With his family, he had eaten a late breakfast, and had come out into the open to read the morning papers.

Magnolia Lists New Oil Prices

DALLAS, July 30. (AP)—The Magnolia Petroleum company today announced a revised list of crude oil prices for the state of Louisiana and Arkansas, effective immediately.

Under the new scale crude below 28 gravity will bring 91 cents, with $1.76 for 32 gravity and above.

The fields affected include Pine island, Haynesville, Bull Bayou and Eldorado.

Iowa Park Bible Course Planned

IOWA PARK, Texas, July 30.—Representatives from each of the churches of the town met with R. E. Brewster, superintendent of the public schools and members of the school board at the First Christian church Sunday afternoon to decide upon the question of Bible study for the public school pupils. It was voted unanimously to have the Bible study for the grades from the seventh through the high school, and one unit of credit will be allowed for the course.

Mr. Brewster outlined two plans that are being used elsewhere, one being the English Bible plan of Stevenson and the other the plan that is now being followed in the Dallas schools. The work will be done under the supervision of the superintendent of the public schols, each church having its own class, following in general the plan to be adopted. A committee was appointed to confer with Mr Brewster and members of the school board and decide upon the course to be given.

Those on the committee are: B. L. Bradford, Leon Counts, Rev. Geo. A. Weens, Dr. Frank Clark, J. P. Luton, J. C. Murphree, Dr. Glen N. Neafus, Rev. E. S. Lowrance, and one other member to be decided upon later by Dr. Neafus. This committee is to report upon the course to be by August 15.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 30. (US)—Paralyzed, Dr. H. C. Hammond, acting president of Flora McDonald college, Red Springs, N. C., lay helpless three days and nights in his hotel room before attendants found him. He was removed to a hospital here where physicians said today he was recovering.

The Bible instructor disappeared from Red Springs 15 days ago.

New Naval Disarmament Conference May Meet

LONDON, July 30. (US)—Steps towards another conference for limitation of naval armament were seen tonight in the announcement of Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain that England and France had reached a "naval agreement." While he did not disclose details of the agreement, Chamberlain told the house of commons that he hoped the agreement, which would be disclosed to other powers immediately, would lead to a general agreement of the leading powers on naval policy.

TAKES SWAG

Poet's Descendant Interrupts Departure With Loaded Grip

ROSLYN, L. I., July 30. (UP)—When Mina Nelson, 43, a new cook, was about to depart permanently from his home today, Conrad G. Goddard, a descendant of the poet William Cullen Bryant, said he found these articles in her hand bag:

One $60 pair of binoculars; one $75 pair of binoculars; one-half dozen dish towels; one bottle of pre-war champagne; one bottle of pre-war whiskey; one bottle of vanilla extract; and a bowl of fresh eggs.

Goddard will eat in a restaurant Monday while his ex-cook seeks $2,500 bail.

Six Long Distance Races To Draw 1500 Planes To Huge Air Meet

Los Angeles To Hold Great Carnival

By DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 30. Airplanes from the north, airplanes from the south, airplanes from the east—all will be headed toward Los Angeles, where they will swarm like giant sea gulls as their pilots jockey them to a safe landing on Mines field, near the outskirts of the city.

The occasion will be the National Air Races and Aeronautical Exposition, to be staged here from September 8 to 16, inclusive. During the nine days the meet is to be in progress six races will be staged, all with their termination at Mines field. In addition there will be airline distance events, endurance record contests, parachute jumping contests, special events for army and navy fliers and other contests.

A Host of Planes

All in all, 1500 airplanes are expected to compete for the $128,000 which has been offered in cash prizes.

Work is now progressing rapidly on the construction of Mines field, which will cover many acres. Ground was broken in a novel manner when Vonceil Viking, screen actress, guided a plow attached to a giant tri-motored Fokker monoplane which taxied back and forth across the field.

Heading the list of races now on the program will be a free-for-all non-stop contest from New York to Mines field. Cash prizes aggregating $22,500 await the lucky fliers in this race.

Only civilians will be eligible to compete in three other New York-to-Los Angeles hops for three different classes of planes. Cash totaling $40,000 and other trophies will go to the winners of these events.

All three of the races for civilians only will be elapsed time contests, with stops being made at designated control cities.

Race for Canadians

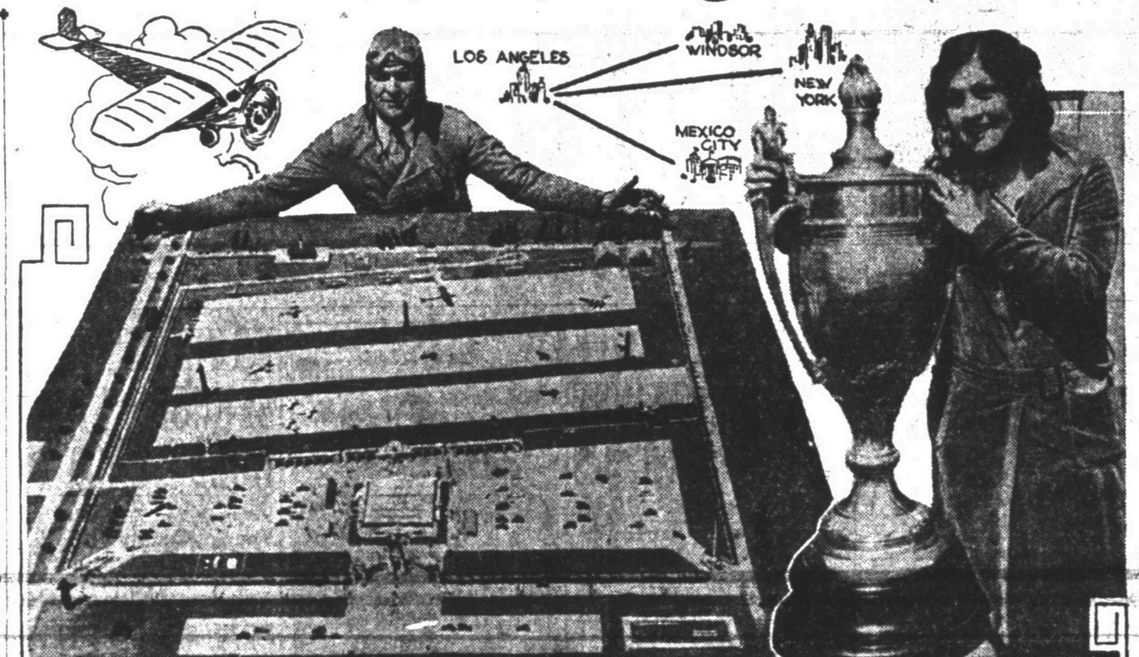
Another race, open to Canadians only, will start from Windsor, Canada. Still another, open only to contestants from Pan-American countries, will have Mexico City as its starting point. Purses of $10,000 in cash and other trophies have been hung up for the winners of these two flights.

On the day of the finish of the New York-to-Los Angeles non-stop race, "Famous Fliers' day" will be observed. It is expected that Orville Wright, many of the Atlantic and Pacific fliers, the around-the-world airmen and scores of army and navy aces will be present for this occasion. It also is hoped to have Col Charles A. Lindbergh here on that day, but officials of the meet have not yet received his assurance.

With $300,000,000 voted for airports in the United States during the last 18 months and approximately 5,100 landing fields in existence or under construction, the aeronautical exposition of the meet promises to assume considerable importance. Officials in charge of the meet have sent invitations to airport managers throughout the country. At the gatherings of these managers it is planned to consider the standardization of airport lighting and other features.



Here is a scale model of the new airport at Los Angeles where the coming national air races will be held, being displayed by Dudley M. Steele, chairman of the contest committee. At the right Miss Elizabeth Rodriguez shows the Santa Monica Arch Hoxey trophy, to be awarded to the winner of the speed trials. This cup was the original trophy given the winner of the first national air meet, held in Santa Monica, Calif., in 1909, and is named in honor of Arch Hoxey, pioneer flier.

Outdoor Life Puts Tan On Hoover's Face

BROWN'S CAMP, NEAR HORNBROOK, Calif., July 30. (US)—Herbert Hoover today indulged in his favorite sport of fishing. In the Rogue river, near Medford, Ore., and here in the headwaters of the Klamath river.

For two hours Secretary Hoover angled for steelhead trout in the Rogue river, but he didn't land one, although he didn't bag any fish, he appeared to be happy in his element. His outing away from politics has put a dark tan on his face.

Al Given Two Days To Answer Editor's Charges

NEW YORK, July 30. (UP)—William Allen White, Kansas editor, who Saturday renewed his attack on Governor Smith's record as a legislator, said today he would give the Democratic nominee until Wednesday to defend his position. White plans to sail for Europe Wednesday.

The Kansan charged that the governor voted in favor of the saloon, gambling, and vice.

Altus Wheat Harvest Drawing to Close

ALTUS, Okla., July 30. (Sp)—Only about 5,000 bushels of wheat has been received the last week from over the entire county which is indication that the wheat season has drawn to a close. About one-half million bushels of wheat have been harvested in Jackson county this year.

Valentino Hollers for 'Gin' at Seance

Tex Guinan Goes in For Spiritualism

Editor's Note: Reports that Texas Guinan, noted night club hostess, and Miss Mae West, dramatist and Broadway actress, had seriously taken up spiritualism, have been current on Broadway for several days. International News Service sent Ruth Ridenour to attend one of the sessions.

By RUTH RIDENOUR

NEW YORK, July 30. (INS)—Rudolf Valentino, Harry Houdini, Nora Bayes, Madame Paladino and someone named Louis, who had been murdered, according to his own authority, were among the guests at Texas Guinan's club last night.

Mae West and Texas have taken up spooks—in a serious way. On a Sunday night when most night clubs were dark, Texas' was darkest. A group of her friends sat, breathless in the black silence, and saw their departed comrades conjured up by a slim Italian bound "just like Judd Gray"—quotes from Miss Guinan. He was more bound than Judd Gray. He was the size of a jockey and he was harnessed like a truck horse, his clothes and mittens sewed together by Ann Luther and sealed with sealing wax by Nunnally Johnson and other skeptics of the newspaper profession. The harness and the seals and the stitches were still there when the session was over. Don't ask this observer or anybody there how he did it. And there is no use asking Texas or Mae because they are firmly convinced the spooks were responsible for the doings.

Tex Remembers Name

There was some little difficulty at first in arousing familiar dead. Madame Paladino, who inhabited the medium's body—spokesman for the cemetery delegation—said she had a message for somebody, but she could not hit upon a name which belonged in the gathering. She tried several first and eventually came to "Mary." The only Mary present was Texas—whose given name is Mary Louise. Tex had forgotten it until reminded. Then madame told Texas she was "Louis," who had met his death in an unnatural way and Texas almost shrieked over the news. There was some talk between them about his daughter Pearl and Texas asked Louis to put it in writing, but Louis refused to do and Valentino cut in hollering for "gin." This was finally interpreted to mean Jean Acker. The audience was quick to interpret noises that came from behind the curtain.

Most of Valentino's speech was unintelligible. The audience broke into La Paloma. The tambourine on the table outside the curtain grotesquely went into motion in time with the chant. And lo, with that encouragement Rudolf himself appeared on the table dancing his tango and flourishing his tambourine. He was a foot and a half high and made of phosphorescence. But darn it if he didn't look like himself!

Enter Mr. Thaw

Another spook arose from nowhere and grabbed the tambourine from Valentino and shouted, "Revenge! Revenge!" while the manager quieted the interfering spook the observers looked around to find out the cause of the disturbance and saw Harry Thaw, who had just arrived, rapidly vanishing out the door.

Houdini then arrived. There was quite a bit of backslapping among the ghosts then. Harry said he used to think spirits were poppycock, but "now I'm a spirit myself."

By the time Nora Bayes arrived things were pretty warm. Nora commenced to cry for her husband. "Which one?" some light voice inquired.

Nora sang "Rings on My Fingers" and called for Texas to come up and shake hands with her. Texas reported that the hand was a hand (it looked like one from a ringside seat) but that it felt like nothing she had ever touched before. It was "clammy." (That's the first time in history that lil girl ever got a cold hand.) Nora wanted to shake Mae's hand, too. Mae agreeably marched up—and was audibly blasphemous over the contact.

The spook party started at 11 and wound up at 3 with everybody stiff from the unusual exercise of sitting. Afterwards all went to Reuben's for sandwiches and to hash over how he did it.

"Houdini did it," some skeptic shrugged.

"Houdini could get out of anything but he couldn't get back in and leave all that sealing wax uncracked," said a believer.

French Will Not Delay New Chinese Policy

PARIS, July 30. (US)—France will wait until the close of the League of Nations assembly meeting next month before making a decision on her Chinese policy, it was learned today. However, it is understood that France will follow the lead of the United States in making a commercial treaty with the new nationalist government—provided France is convinced the nationalist regime is firmly established.

WASHINGTON, July 30. (UP)—Employment of organized wage earners increased in June over May, according to statistics made public today by the American Federation of Labor. However, the federation pointed out preliminary figures for July do not hold such an optimistic outlook.

Henry Ford Spends 65th Birthday at His Desk

DETROIT, Mich., July 30. (US) This was Henry Ford's sixty-fifth birthday and it found the motor magnate at his desk, as usual, advising his friends that he expects "to do more in the next five years than I have in the last 20."

Mr. Ford was interesting himself today largely in the problem of increasing production on his new car. Hundreds of congratulatory messages were received during the day, many from persons he never had met. There were many callers. Newspaper men found him optimistic.

World's Wheat Supply Shows Huge Climb

WASHINGTON, July 30. (UP)—An increase of 62,000,000 bushels in the world wheat supply over last year, was reported by the agriculture department today. On July 1 the total visible world supply of wheat and flour was 244,680,000 bushels.

The American wheat market weakened for the week of July 28 when prices declined to a new low point for the present crop, due to the large world supply, heavy marketing of winter wheat and other contributing factors, the department said.

Pigeon Racers Training Birds

Contests Planned Here By Wichita Fanciers

Planning for a great many pigeon races this fall and winter, members of the Wichita Falls Racing Pigeon club have started training their birds.

The first races will be by the young birds about Oct. 1. Older birds will be raced from November until early spring, according to M. J. Stuart, secretary of the Wichita Falls club.

Birds are shipped to cities ranging from 25 to 100 miles from Wichita Falls and released. With their natural homing instinct they head for their nests and are registered as they enter their home loft.

A band fastened to the leg of each pigeon by the secretary of the club is removed upon their arrival and placed in an automatic clock which records the time and distance covered by the bird. The owner of the first bird to reach the city receives prizes from the national and local clubs.

The record flight for a pigeon in one day is 700 miles, although average pigeons cover between 500 and 600 miles in one day, Mr. Stuart said.

Iowa Park Pastor Leaves for Assembly

IOWA PARK, July 30.—Rev. J. P. Luton, pastor of the First Methodist church, left this morning for Mount Sequoyah where he will attend the southern assembly of the Methodist church for two weeks of study and recreation. Rev. Mr. Luton is attending the Mount Sequoyah assembly in place of the pastors' school which met in Dallas in June. The two weeks will be devoted especially to work along missionary lines.

DEPUTY'S HOME LOST IN FIRE

$5000 Loss in Blaze At Gant Residence

The residence of Charles Gant, deputy sheriff, Holliday and Keeler, was burned to the ground at an estimated loss of $5000 about 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The house was a mass of flames before the alarm was turned in, according to Fire Chief J. L. McClure. The building was the property of A. E. Noble.

Mrs. Gant had left the residence for town earlier in the afternoon and no one was at home. The fire was discovered by neighbors after the entire house was ablaze. All furniture and clothing was destroyed. Mr. Gant said he had been planning on moving to another house during the week. The furniture loss was estimated at $2000.

Electra Woman Attends A. & M. Short Course

ELECTRA, July 30.—Mrs. C. E. Taylor of the Barwise Home Demonstration club, accompanied by Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county home demonstrator, and Miss Pauline Powell left Sunday for A. & M. college, College Station, where they will spend the next 10 days attending a home demonstration short course. Mrs. Taylor has been invited to speak before the home demonstration agent on Thursday of this week on her work in the living room contest, in which she was winner last month.

Harrisburg Newspaper Turns Against Smith

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 30. (UP)—The Harrisburg Patriot, published by Vance C. McCormick, who was Democratic national chairman during the second Wilson campaign, will announce editorially Tuesday that it cannot support Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York for president.

ROAD AID TO BREAK RECORD

Commission to Let Contracts Totaling $2,533,000

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, July 30.—In a record month's lettings, the state highway commission is scheduled to award contracts Aug. 1 and 2 for the improvement of 281½ miles of Texas highways, including paving of nearly 80 miles and grading, drainage structures and bridges on over 150 miles. Totals of the contracts to be awarded next week is estimated at $2,533,000, in addition to maintenance surfacing work in three counties.

Maintenance surfacing work is called for on 64.80 miles. Concrete paving, with an alternative type proposed in one of the calls, is to be contracted on 97.98 miles. Bridges and an overpass will cover 1.40 miles, while grading and small drainage structures are scheduled for contracts on 149.46 miles of highway. New work, added to the $12,000,000 already contracted by the state highway commission this year, is scheduled for many counties. It includes:

Maintenance, to be awarded Aug. 1: Potter county, 16.5 miles; Trinity county, 17.8 miles on highway 19 from Houston county line to Trinity river; Jasper and Newton counties, 22.6 miles, Evadale to Buna; and Montgomery county, Conroe to Willis, 7.9 miles.

Construction Work

Construction contracts to be awarded Aug. 1 include:

Anderson county, 9.75 miles of concrete paving, Palestine to Elkhart on highway 19; grading and draining structures on 8.65 miles of highway 43, from Palestine through Tucker.

Harris county, grading and drainage structures, including concrete piling, on 2.03 miles of highway 3, connecting with Crosby road. This is estimated to cost $240,000.

Karnes county: 5.74 miles of grading and drainage structures on highway 16, from Wilson county line.

Wilson county, 9.96 miles grading and drainage structures, from Karnes county line to 2.6 miles south of Floresville.

Jackson county, 7.72 miles grading and drainage structures, highway 12, from Edna to Canado.

Shackleford county, 17.35 miles of bituminous concrete surface on caliche crusher-run broken stone and bituminous bound base course, highway 1-A from Jones county line, estimated to cost $350,000.

Goliad county, 12.85 miles of grading and drainage structures, highway 12 from Goliad east to Victoria county line.

Calhoun county, 5.47 miles of grading, drainage structures and shell surface, from Guadalupe river to Green Lake.

Navarro county, 1.067 miles of concrete paving, Corsicana city limits to state orphans' home on highway 22.

Victoria county, 15.099 miles of grading and drainage structures, Jackson county line to Victoria on highway 12.

Baylor county, grading and drainage structures, 20.58 miles, from Seymour to Archer county line, highway 24.

Kent county, 0.80 mile timber span bridge on concrete pile bents, earth approaches, with Amesite paving and Duraco paving as alternates; on highway 84.

Bids Called

Bids called for opening and award of contracts Aug. 2 include:

Taylor county, 10.26 miles, concrete paving or alternate type of bituminous-filled brick pavement on concrete base course from Abilene west, on highway 1, estimated to cost $260,000.

Hale county, 37.23 miles, grading and drainage structures across county on highway 9, from Lubbock county line to Swisher county line.

Cherokee county, 9.55 miles grading and drainage structures, highway 43 from near county line to Jacksonville.

Henderson county, 0.48 miles of grading and overpass over T. & N. O. railroad east of city limits of Athens, highway 31; grading and drainage structures from Murchison to Athens, 7.84 miles.

Wharton county, 9.84 miles, concrete paving, Wharton northeast to near Fort Bend county line on highway 12, estimated to cost $240,000.

Milam county, 4.555 miles grading and drainage structures, including bridge work, on highway 43 from Thorndale to road district No. 10, estimated to cost $184,000.

Hardin county, 2.37 miles, grading, drainage structures and shell surface, from Hester Switch to Longs Station, highway 40, estimated to cost $80,000.

McCulloch county, 255 lineal feet, reinforced concrete girder bridge over Brady creek, highway No. 9, estimated to cost $36,000.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PRECINCT NO. 2.

I wish to thank one and all of you for the splendid vote you gave me in the primary election. I shall do my best in the future as I have in the past not to disappoint you in my service to this precinct, county and state. F. R. KNAUTH, Commissioner of Precinct No. 2. (Political Adv.)

Women Administer Fortunes

Two attractive English women are demonstrating that the sex knows how to administer large fortunes as well as spend them. Miss Gladys Yule (left) controls an inheritance of $35,000,000; Baroness Ravensdale (upper right) is one of the country's six wealthiest young women, and Lady Ludlow (below) manages a $5,000,000 fortune.

Women Control Many of Britain's Greatest Fortunes, Bequest Shows

LONDON, July 30. (AP)—When Lord Inchcape gave to the British nation the $2,500,000 fortune he inherited after his daughter, Elsie Mackay was lost in her attempt to fly the Atlantic ocean, it developed that some of the greatest fortunes in the United Kingdom are owned and administered by women.

Miss Gladys Yule, 24-year-old daughter of the late Sir David Yule, prominent Indian merchant of Calcutta and London, has just come into an inheritance of $35,000,000.

Lady Houston, sometimes described as the "seven-millions widow," was brought into the limelight when she fell heir to $35,000,000 upon the death of her husband, Sir Robert Houston. Accused by relatives of being incompetent to handle the fortune, she was upheld by the courts and took possession of her money. She voluntarily gave $7,500,000 to the British government in death duties taxes, although her husband died in Jersey, where there are no death duties. Lady Houston is an ardent suffragist. Before her marriage she was Dame Fanny Lucy Byron, one of the first five Dame Commanders of the British Empire to be created.

Viscountess Rhondda, who succeeded to her father's title as well as to his fortune, is one of the busiest of Britain's wealthy women. She is shrewd in business, a director of many companies, and personally manages her father's collieries and vast business holdings. A peeress in her own right, she has expended much of her time and money in championing women's rights and is foremost among the peeresses demanding that titled women be allowed to enter the house of lords.

Baroness Ravensdale, daughter of the late Marquis Curzon of Kedleston, whose mother was Miss Mary Leiter of Washington and Chicago, is among the six richest young women in the country. Tall, dark and handsome, she is a capable political speaker and a champion of women's rights. She is an heiress to the Leiter millions.

One of the most beautiful of Britain's heiresses is Lady Louis Mountbatten, formerly Miss Edwina Ashley, who married the son of the late marquis of Milford Haven, and inherited a fortune of $10,000,000 from her grandfather, the late Sir Ernest Cassel.

Lady Ludlow, who inherited $5,000,000 and a magnificent mansion from her first husband, Sir Julius Wernher, is famed for her jewels.

Another wealthy woman is Lady Hudson, formerly the wife of Lord Northcliffe, from whom she inherited a considerable fortune. Her second husband, the late Sir Robert Hudson, was organizer of the British Red Cross.

YOUNG INDIANS CHANGE RITES

Iowa Foxes Keep Little Of Old Ceremony

TAMPA, Iowa, July 30. (AP)—Striving to complete his record of the old pagan rituals of the Fox Indians of Iowa before modern influences complete their obliteration, Dr. Truman Michelson, Smithsonian ethnologist of the Bureau of American Ethnology, is spending his 17th consecutive summer among the peaceful, industrious survivors of this once war-like tribe.

Until recently the Foxes observed their rituals in a reverential spirit, but the younger generation has taken a different attitude, attending the festivals primarily for social purposes and to take advantage of the abundant feasts, so that the old spirit is likely to perish with the passing of the aging elders of the tribe.

Distinct Purposes

These ceremonials take place chiefly in the spring and fall and, unlike Christian and other familiar religious practices, have little to do with rules of conduct. Each ritual has a distinct purpose, such as the avoidance of disease, insurance of success in war, and the insurance of retribution in case anyone should speak ill against the chief's village, and is supposed to have been ordered by supernatural spirits.

In summer, Dr. Michelson relates, feasting and dancing are connected with religious worship, but in winter there is no dancing. Features of the summer festivals are the four dances, the ceremonial eating of dog meat, and a prayer to the Spirit of Fire and He Who Lies With His Face in the Smoke Hole (i. e., the sky) asking that they inform the mythical originator of the festival that worship is being held.

Warred With French

The Foxes probably never exceeded 1,200 in number, in Dr. Michelson's opinion, but they figured prominently in the early history of the continent. Attempting to tax the trade route between Louisiana and Canada, they became involved in a 50-year war with the French. By breaking up that route they were partly responsible for the loss of Canada by the French.

Although they came under French and Catholic influence around 1640 and received some intermixture of European blood in the early days of American colonization, they always have been a conservative people and have maintained rigidly their racial purity since their return to Iowa from Kansas in the Civil war period. On the present reservation near Tama last year only one of the 375 Foxes was a half-breed.

A shield presented to Prince Charles Edward, the young pretender, by his admirers in 1745, was recently sold in London for $20,000. The pretender's snuff box brought $650 and his pistols $1,000.

Los Angeles Residents Frightened As Chicago's Gunmen Appear in City

LOS ANGELES, July 30. (UP)—War has been declared in the Los Angeles underworld and two armies of gangland are prepared for battle—one in defense of its trading territory and the other for the right to handle bootleg liquor in southern California.

The invading forces were from Chicago. Since they crossed the southern California deadline 12 men have been killed, five of them this month.

Talk of armored cars, several arrests and claims of police protection for the warring "racketeers" featured today's developments.

Law abiding residents of the North Broadway district, the "Little Italy" of Los Angeles, appealed to the city council for protection from the bullets that they believe will spatter their section if the feud is not ended.

"A certain element in the Los Angeles police department have had an alliance with these Chicago gunmen and have given them 100 per cent protection," said a communication from these citizens to the city council.

JUSTICE LAUDS DEMO MOTIVES

Appeals for Adherence To Party Men

ATLANTA, Ga., July 30. (AP)—A warning to the Democrats of the south against reviving the "bloody shirt" as an issue and denunciation of efforts of "misled persons" to inject religious questions into the presidential campaign was carried in a statement made here today by Justice Richard Cannon Watts of South Carolina, whose delegates cast their votes for him as the party standard bearer in the convention at Houston.

The venerable chief justice pledged his wholehearted support to the nominees of the Democratic party in the national campaign.

"To any man who lived through the dark days of reconstruction in the south after the close of the war between the states, any thought or suggestion of bolting the Democratic ticket is unthinkable and inconceivable," Judge Watts declared, and urged the people to stand by the party in what he termed its most precarious moment in 50 years.

"What can a southern man mean when he talks of bolting the Democratic party?" he asked. "For a southern man even to think of such a thing is traitorous to the south and all the traditions of the south. I have voted the Democratic ticket from the time the Republicans forced negro office holders on the people of my state and I shall vote this ticket until I die. I shall vote for the entire ticket from Al Smith down and if the true southern Democracy stands by the party true Democracy will win its most sweeping victory since the days of reconstruction."

Lunches on hot sweltering days are no problem to the man who has "discovered" dairy lunches—with Kellogg's Corn Flakes.

With "half and half"—half milk and half cream—and fresh fruits—Kellogg's Corn Flakes make a most delightful and cooling mid-day meal.

Here's a lunch that leaves you refreshed and ready for your afternoon's work—where heavier, richer, more heating foods would start your afternoon with a handicap.

Just say—"dairy lunch, with Kellogg's Corn Flakes"—at your favorite eating place for a real, refreshing, cooling lunch.

Ramblin'
with
Marie Theresa

TOGETHER with the usual large amount of mail flooding this corner the early part of this week, have come advance anouncements of the arrival of new fur-trimmed fall coats. Mercy!

◇ ◇ ◇

WITH the last few weeks yielding nothing in the way of excitement, this corner in common with all other corners and departments, will welcome the usual fall rush of things.

◇ ◇ ◇

FROM various fashion centers comes the edict that brown will come into its own this fall after a few years of taking the back seat in favor of cooler fall and winter colors. Black and the deep rich tans will probably have to forfeit something of their popularity to the new invasion of the warm fall hue.

◇ ◇ ◇

ONLY two things ever cause trouble for those who labor on newspapers—the things that are published and those that are not. Just a few days ago an irate reader called up to inquire with a great deal of warmth, just why a certain serial story had been discontinued, and added for good measure the remark that the serial story is all there is to the paper, anyway. Which summed down, merely means that we look for different things.

◇ ◇ ◇

IF IT were not for the discussion on wages of women taking up much newspaper space, in controversy, I don't know what could occupy the mind of the feminine part of the press. Now comes the question of whether married women or single women should be paid more for the same service. The world seems not to have progressed so far, after all, on the idea of women engaging in business and the professions.

For the life of me I can't see why their state of matrimony should make any difference. There have been plenty reasons advanced for underpaying women without bringing up the subject of their marital station in life.

◇ ◇ ◇

THREE more bills by the afternoon mail. Have you ever figured out whether a person pays bills any sooner, for their coming in all out of season like this?

Immigrant Neighbors C. E. Study Topic

"Appreciating Our Immigrant Neighbors" was the topic of discussion for the East Side Presbyterian church Christian Endeavor society at a lively meeting Sunday night.

Miss Louada Stearns presided over the meeting which was opened with a song service, in charge of Juanita Bussey and Roy Lee Martin.

After the song service the announcements were in charge of the society president, Miss Bussey. A "hayride overall and apron-watermelon feast" is to be held Tuesday evening by the society.

The first talk on the program was the story of Ruth as given in the Bible, by Miss Candace Kidd. Miss Aurie Belle Yeager told the story of a Hungarian landlord. The last talk was by Grady Snuggs.

Homemakers Class Postpones Meeting

The Homemakers Sunday school class of the First Baptist church has postponed the regular monthly business meeting from Tuesday to Thursday evening. Mrs. J. H. Mathis of Baylor and Eleventh street will be hostess.

Low Rates to Boost Air Mail Business

A large increase in air mail business is expected by O. P. Maricle, postmaster, when the new rates go into effect Aug. 1, reducing the present rate of 10 cents for each half ounce to 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce.

Under the new law any mailable matter, not liable to freezing, may be sent by air mail if it does not exceed 50 pounds in weight and 84 inches in length and girth combined.

Special air mail stamps will be issued but ordinary stamps may also be used.

Auto Licenses Yield $30,000 in Harmon Co.

HOLLIS, Okla., July 30. (Sp.)—Harmon county collected a total of $30,926.25 for the last six months of the fiscal year in automobile licenses, according to Ed McDonald, secretary of the state highway commission.

HIGHEST WHEAT YIELD

HOLLIS, Okla., July 30. (Sp.)—The highest wheat yield of the year has been reported here by Sam Davis, farmer. He has harvested 25 acres with an average of 20 bushels the acre.

Unemployment Among Union Men Increases

WASHINGTON, July 30. (INS)—Unemployment among organized workers apparently is increasing, according to preliminary figures for July issued today by the American Federation of Labor.

Unemployment in June decreased by two percent over the previous month. Total unemployment in June was 11 per cent, as compared with 13 per cent in May and 18 per cent in January.

CHIC CHERIE

Eustace wants to know. He always does want to know what or why or when. Cherie says she is going to town to buy a uniform, but it's much too hot to explain what she means. Let him worry about it. He will spend hours now in reflecting that there is no accounting for a woman who will buy a uniform when she is already wearing a most becoming dress of nevy blue satin with a panel down the front and shirrings on each side of the panel. A dress, though it isn't Eustice who could tell you so, with the new pointed lines of farggotting that Paris created. Dina, also in quest of a uniform, is wearing a frock of navy blue georgette with three jabots and trimming bands of satin.

Latest Fashions

Is this the uniform? Most certainly it is. Any navy blue dress is a uniform because it's the everyday and emergency wear of every well-dressed woman. At least one navy blue dress belongs in every clothes closet. This one is cleverly made of georgette and satin divided up in the proportions visible. The peplum effect is a new feature of skirts.

Cherie's new navy blue dress is likewise of georgette, worn over a navy satin slip, and trimmed on its jabot, sleeves and belt with circ braid. There's something about navy blue (you've heard this before) that makes one feel well-dressed on any occasion in any company. That being so, why shouldn't Cherie buy half a dozen or so more of them?

Oklahoma Factory Inspector Elevated

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 30. (UP) Promotion of James Hughes, chief factory inspector for the state labor department, to position as assistant state labor commissioner, effective August 15, was announced today by W. A. Murphy, labor commissioner.

Hughes succeeds E. N. Ellis, to be transferred to Tulsa as head of the federal-state office there.

COMING BACK

Old Time Bustle May Be Revived, Warn Manufacturers

CHICAGO, July 30. (UP)—The bustle—that boon to shapeless but hopeful ladies of 30 years ago—is coming back.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association makes the prediction, or warning, in its latest bulletin to clothing makers. It urges them to be ready to manufacture the latest styles in bustles.

"There's food for thought," the bulletin said, "in the public announcement that fashionable women are no longer to cultivate the bed-slat silhouette, but are to display rounded contours.

"Who knows? Perhaps the bustles and boufrants that disappeared 30 years ago are coming back. That's an idea for wide-awake manufacturers."

Wife of Jealous 'In-Laws' Should Remember Husband's Obligation

The Wife With a Prejudice Against Her In-Laws—Ought a Girl of 16 Be Allowed to Have Boys Call on Her at Home?—Petting at the Movies.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married for two years to a man who is an only child. His parents have been as kind and generous and as considerate as possible to me. His mother, in particular, has done everything in the world to please me and try to win my affection, but I just have that in-law idea, like most girls, and I hate her for no reason at all, and am not even civil to her. It has nearly broken her heart and she is sick with a nervous breakdown that the doctor says has come over her worrying about my attitude toward her, because she adores her son and they were all so happy before I came into the family.

Now my husband seems to be acting cold toward me and I am beginning to think that perhaps it is because of my attitude toward his parents. I don't want to lose his love. Do you think he will resent the way I treat his mother and father? —MRS. S. A. S.

Answer: I can think of no surer and quicker way that any wife can take to disillusion her husband and kill his affection for her than to act as you are doing.

Because you are turning a spotlight upon your character and showing yourself as you are—so mean and little and narrow, so ungenerous and unappreciative, so selfish, so unfeeling, with so little understanding, and such a poor sport that your husband must look upon you with disenchanted eyes and wonder how he could have been so deceived in you, and what he ever saw in you to admire.

If your husband's people had been cruel to you; if they had been tyrannical and interfering; if they had been bossy and naggy, you would have some justification for treating them as you have, but by your own account you have no fault to find with them. They have been kindness and generosity itself to you, and the only reason you dislike them is because of a contemptible little jealousy that makes you want to monopolize your husband, even to the exclusion of his parents.

Many girls have that same feeling. They resent their husbands having any affection and interest in their families, and they never stop to think that the man who can forget the mother who bore him, and the father who cherished him, and the brothers and sisters with whom he grew up, has no loyalty in his soul, no sense of family duty or obligation, and that if he can be false to his blood ties, he can still easier be false to his marital ties.

A good son makes proverbially a good husband. A man who feels the obligations of kinship will never fail in his duty to his own children. A man who loves his mother, his father and his sisters and brothers is essentially a family man, and that is the best sort of a man to tie to.

You say that most girls hate their in-laws, sight unseen. I am afraid it is true that a great many silly young women do go into marriage with a chip on their shoulders, ready to resent everything their in-laws do and say. I fear that very few young wives make any honest effort to conciliate their in-laws and be friends with them.

This is a great mistake, for it inevitably precipitates quarrels between the young wife and her husband and estranges him, for he naturally resents the affronts offered his people. He can't see why his wife can't get along with his mother, whom he loves, and it makes him sore always to have to be taking sides and arbitrating their spats and listening to his wife's complaints, no matter whether they are just or unjust. No young wife can do anything that will so endear her to her husband, or make him so grateful to her, as just for her to be nice to his family.

And, believe me, Mrs. S. A. S, your in-laws can be mighty good friends to you, and you can have no better ally than your mother-in-law. If she thinks you are just about all right, she will be a great little press agent for you with your husband. And don't forget he is used to taking mother's opinions on subjects.

And just as there is nothing so devastating as a family quarrel, nothing that will so fill your life with bitterness as to be at enmity with those with whom you have to associate every day, so there is nothing that will give you so much happiness as a united family on whose love and loyalty and helpfulness you can always count.

Therefore, my advice to you is to conquer the devil within you and make yourself a real daughter to this good, kind, generous mother-in-law of yours.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—We are two girls of 16 and our parents object to us having dates at home, or going out with boys. Do you think we are too young for that? We would like to have our boy friends at home instead of meeting them on the street. How often should girls of our age go out in the evening, and how late should we stay out? Do you think there is any harm in a girl holding a conversation over the telephone with her boy friends? —CHUMS.

Answer: I think a girl of 16 is old enough to begin to have a few dates, but if she is still in school they should be only at the week-end so as not to interfere with her studies. No girl can keep her mind on her books if she is expecting some boy to pop in for a call, or honk his horn for a joyride in his car.

Ordinarily she should not stay out later than 11 o'clock, but, of course, if she goes to a party she would necessarily be out later, since most dances begin at a ridiculously late hour. Parents should not make any arbitrary rule on this point, but be governed by circumstances, and generally, if father and mother are reasonable, the girl will also be reasonable and not overstay the time limit.

Parents are very wrong when they refuse to let their daughters receive their company at home, because this forces the girls to meet boys on the street. Fathers and mothers seem to think that if they shut their doors on a girl's company that it keeps her from having any. But it doesn't. It simply makes her go to undesirable places to see the boys she cannot see in her own parlor.

There is no chaperon like the background of home for a girl and no man treats a girl who has stolen away to meet him, and whom he picks up at the corner drugstore, with the respect that he shows to one that he goes for honestly and openly to her own home.

Besides, it is only by having the boys come to the house that parents can get acquainted with them and find out what sort of company their girls are keeping.

In these days a girl of 16 is as old as a girl of 20 used to be in mother's time. She is going to have boy friends and play around with boys, with mother's consent and knowledge, if mother is sensible. Behind mother's back, if mother is foolish and forbids her to have boy playmates. So mother had just as well face these facts and make the best of them.

Of course, it does no harm for a girl to talk to a boy over the telephone, but, for pity's sake, make it short and snappy. Don't be a telephone hound and spend hours talking silly nonsense over the phone, and don't be one of the pests who call up all the boys they know over the phone and try to make dates with them. Many a girl loses a boy his job by telephoning him too much. There is no surer way of making a boy dislike you than to be always on the wire. And don't be the first to telephone. Let the boy do that.

If he wants to talk to you, he has your number. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Is it proper for a fellow to put his arm around a girl at a movie if he has gone out steadily with her once or twice a week for several months? I think that a fellow putting his arm around a girl under these conditions is merely showing his affection for her. My girl friend thinks this is improper and that it smacks too much of petting.

—WONDERING.

Answer: Well, it looks like petting to me. Also it looks like a yap, and I should think that it would make any girl who had a nice sense of delicacy feel like jabbing a hatpin into the offending arm. Public exhibitions of affection always make the onlookers lauch and no girl wants to be made ridiculous.

There is a time and a place for all things, and kissing and hugging should be done in private.

COLOR MOVIES FOR AMATEURS

Scientists View Initial Exposition

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 30. (INS)—Motion pictures in full natural colors for amateur photographers were shown for the first time today by George Eastman to a distinguished group of scientists and other public men.

The new process, culminating years of experimentation, is so revolutionary as to place it alongside the discovery of the film and the invention of motion pictures.

The new color process, based upon a totally different principle from previous experiments, at the same time both represents the accurate and brilliant reproduction of every color and tint and shade in nature and also so simple that any amateur photographer can use it to make movies.

The Eastman Kodak Research Laboratories, under the direction of Dr. C. E. K. Mees, have been working years to perfect color movies. The most radically new element in the process is the film. Instead of having the usual smooth surface, the side opposite the sensitive coating is embossed with cylindrical lenses so minute as to be invisible. These lenses which are part of the film itself and made of the film substance, would each look, vastly magnified, like a rib of a corrugated iron roof. They run lengthwise of the film and the width of 559 of them ocupies an inch.

The effect of these invisibly small lenses is to separate the rays of light coming through the three segments of a three-colored "light filter" into the camara.

Methodists Hold Union Service

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, July 30.—A large crowd filled the First Methodist church Sunday evening to hear the program given by the chamber of commerce on the regular fifth Sunday union services when good citizenship and law enforcement topics were discussed.

T. J. Pace acted as chairman of the meeting. Dosia and Viola Smith sang "Our Heavenly Home," accompanied by Miss Jewell Thompson at the piano with violin obligato by C. W. Schacht.

A. C. Golden discussed "A Churchless Community." Mr. Golden stated that it was difficult for him to imagine a churchless community since he had never known a community where the influence of the church was not felt at least to some extent. The influence of the church in a community, he stated, far outweighs the numerical size of the church.

Birk Talks

C. E. Birk, having for his subject, "The Church in Education," said that we were just beginning to realize that Christian education is needed to form a balanced education.

"The Church and Recreation" was the subject discussed by J. C. Murphree. Mr. Murphree did not discuss his subject from the standpoint of condemnation for the swimming pool, dance hall and petting parties, but gave a constructive viewpoint, that when the young people were furnished a high type of entertainment they will not care for the lower type. He stated that when we solve the problem of recreation properly we will largely have solved the problem of modern youth.

Dr. Frank Clark was the next speaker, talking on the subject, "Co-operation of Church People With Government." Dr. Clark stated that he believed the world was getting better. "We do not need politics in religion, but we do need religion in politics," he said. "If we have bad men in office we need only to blame ourselves."

Here's Unique Comparison Of Hoover and Smith

Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith have a number of things in common. Each is 54 years old. Both were born in poor and humble surroundings, both lost their fathers during boyhood, both have blue eyes, both are family men with children, both are loved by their professional associates. Hoover's intimates call him "Chief"; Smith's know him as "Al."

Both are radio and baseball fans. Each wears a large collar and comparatively low shoes. Each—despite the legend of Smith's brown derby and the fact that neither would ever be taken for Beau Brummel—is particular about his personal appearance. Their clothes are always pressed, and someone sees to it that their hats, suits, shirts and ties match in harmonious colors.

Both wear starched white collars, except in the case of Smith for sport dress. Hoover's collars are notoriously high; Smith's are always low. Both wear plain white soft shirts. Smith likes striped ties, bow or four-in-hand, and Hoover wears rather quiet four-in-hands of gray, brown or blue.

Hoover worked his way through Leland Stanford. Smith worked while attending parochial school. Each is of a religious faith never before represented in the White House. For further particulars read these tables:

Herbert Hoover

The vote for lieutenant-governor: Miller, 252,362; Love, 188,940; Parnell, 61,679; Darwin, 37,415; J. D. McCall, 33,584.

In 11 congressional districts eight incumbents sought renomination and seven of them were shown ahead by what was considered safe margins.

Only in the first district did the veteran Eugene Black encounter difficulty. He was nearly 2,000 down to Wright Patman of Texarkana with incomplete returns from all 11 counties of their district.

The vote was: Black 16,576; Patman, 18,358.

Sure of Seats

These congressmen seemed assured of retaining their seats, nomination being regarded as tantamount to election:

Second district, John C. Box; 4th, Sam Rayburn; 5th, Hatton Sumners; 7th, Clay Stone Briggs; 15th John N. Garner; 16th, Claude Hudspeth; and 18th, Marvin Jones.

Congressional Races

DALLAS, July 30. (AP)—Incomplete returns from Saturday's Texas Democratic primary, as tabulated by the Texas Election bureau gave the following totals in the races for congress and the court of civil appeals:

Sixth district, 18 counties—Returns from 16 counties, 7 complete, Williams 33,206; Levy 32,536.

Eleventh district, 19 counties—Returns from 13 counties, 4 complete, Funerburk 12,408; Patterson 9,406; Stephens 6,956.

'Ladies Prefer Gentlemen,' Says Arid Seeker of Female Hoover Ballots

WASHINGTON, July 30. (UP)—"Ladies prefer gentlemen," Mrs. Clarence M. Busch, Florida state president of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement league and a vice chairman of Bishop Cannon's anti-Smith Democratic committee, said in a statement tonight expressing her preference for Herbert Hoover.

"We Democratic women of the South consider loyalty to principle above loyalty to party," she said. "We prefer a man who knows how to conserve food to one who knows how to dispense liquor.

"We feel we can trust our ship of state to a man who has charted the waters of the eastern and western hemisphere—all around the world, rather than to one who has navigated the wet streets of east side, west side, all around the town.

"We would rather have for president a good man of the world than a good fellow of the town.

"Al Smith for the white lights—Mr. Herbert Hoover for the White House.

"Ladies prefer gentlemen."

Old Shoes—Source of This Perfume

Firm Sues to Collect More Gin Bottles

LOS ANGELES, July 30. (UP)—What to do with your old shoes—make jasmine perfume out of them.

What to do with your old gin bottles—make green glass beads for the babies.

For the Los Angeles Foundry company has been doing this for years, it was testified in superior court.

C. M. Gregg, vice president of the company, which is suing the Metals Refining company for some $20,000 alleged due on a contract whereby the foundry company was to furnish the defendant with old shoes, tin cans and gin bottles, told the court about it.

Gregg was telling about delivering all the above articles to the company.

"What do they do with them?" the judge asked.

"Well," said Gregg, "I can't speak for the defendant, but we've been making jasmine perfume out of the old shoes and glass beads out of the gin bottles." He went on to tell of any number of useful things that one can make out of one's junk heap.

The case will probably be concluded tomorrow.

'Alimony Martyr' Enters Fourth Year in Cell

WILLOWS, Calif., July 30. (UP)—Few people would select a small jail in which to carry out a principle but Samuel W. Reid has launched his fourth year of imprisonment because he positively will not pay his divorced wife alimony.

The early months of Reid's incarceration were interesting ones for him because he was in the public eye and was nicknamed "California's alimony martyr." Monotony soon set in but more than three years in a cell have not changed his attitude toward alimony.

$500,000 Loss in Hotel Fire in California

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., July 30. (UP)—The Hotel Rafael, a five-story frame structure, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Possessions of 243 guests were lost and the damage was estimated at $500,000 but no one was injured. Defective wiring caused the blaze, it was believed. Fire lines were established two blocks away to keep back a crowd of 6,000 persons.

Aviator, 16, Gets New Plane for U. S. Flight

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 30. (UP)—Alvin S. Robbins, 16-year-old aviator who is planning a 40,000-mile air tour of the United States, has received a new plane for the trip and will start soon for Philadelphia. His first flight will be from Philadelphia to Cleveland, he said.

Nobile and Companions On Return Trip Home

BERLIN, July 30. (UP)—Weary and travel-worn, General Umberto Nobile and the handful of men representing all that was rescued from the ill-fated dirigible Italia were dashing across Europe tonight on their way home.

A much different feeling greeted the group on their trip through Germany today than the enthusiastic send off which marked their departure from Copenhagen Sunday night when Nobile, deeply moved, distributed flowers among a cheering throng.

Ice Provided Needy Families in Altus

ALTUS, Okla., July 30. (Sp)—Ice will be given free to all persons unable to pay for it. All charitable organizations have been requested to report names of families unable to buy ice to the Southwest Utility Ice company.

LAKE NEARS SPILLWAY TOP

Rains Raise Level of Water Here

One more good shower on the watershed is expected to put Lake Wichita's water over the spillway, it was learned Monday from Dr. A. H. Douglass, manager of the city water department.

Last reports from the lake indicated that the level was just two inches under the spillway, and that rain on the lands immediately above the lake probably will result in the overflow.

War Gas To Be Urged In Speakeasies' War

NEW YORK, July 30. (UP)—War gas as an effective means of padlocking speak-easies will be suggested to the prohibition enforcement sleuths at the meeting of the American Chemical society in Evanston, Ill., next month.

The National Association for Chemical Defense, sponsors of the scheme, will explain that the gas is not deadly but absolutely effective in preventing human occupancy if renewed every 30 days, according to H. Edmund Bullis, executive secretary.

MAX SHUMAKE THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters of Wichita County:

I appreciate more than words can express, the kindness and consideration shown my candidacy for the office of Tax Assessor by the voters of Wichita county in last Saturday's primaries, in giving me the largest vote of any other candidate for the office.

I have been ill and confined to my bed for the past two weeks, unable to leave my room, and for this reason, I was not in a position to give my candidacy for Tax Assessor the personal attention during the closing days of the campaign which it required; however, the loyalty and work of my friends gave me the first place in the second primary to be held August 25, next.

To those who opposed me as candidates, as well as by their votes, I have the kindest feeling.

My physician advises that my condition is such that I may not be able to leave my room for the next 30 days, and for this reason, I may not be able to see the voters in person during the remainder of the campaign.

I would appreciate with a grateful heart any and all consideration shown my candidacy by the voters in the second primary.

If elected Tax Assessor, I will use every effort at my command to give you an efficient and business administration of the office.

Your friend,
MAX SHUMAKE.

a word about SHOES

TRAMP—Tramp—Tramp goes the never ending shoe parade, black ones, tan one,—high ones, low ones—some too tight and some too loose—endleasly the parade keeps marching on. All of those shoes must eventually be replaced with new ones—where will these new shoes be purchased?

The answer to this question will depend to a very large extent upon how closely these shoe buyers watch the parade of shoe advertisements in The Times and Record News. Those who are consistent readers of these ads will select THEIR new shoes from the complete stocks of one of the many reliable dealers who use this medium of acquainting their customers with their merchandise.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By GRANT DIXON

NEW YORK.—"The trouble with New York," said the man from upstate, "is that it's so blamed big that it lacks that human and friendly touch that we get in our cities. Up with us you get to know the street-car men and the postmen, and the cops and all that crowd with whom you come in constant touch. They give you a friendly greeting when you meet them, make you feel good and as if you were somebody. Do you a good turn now and then, too. Here you have to be a whale of a bigbug to get noticed. There's no chance for us ordinary run of folks."

"Oh, I don't know," the New Yorker disagreed. "Perhaps that's more or less true in the daytime, when everybody is rushed, but it isn't always so.

"You'll grant that I'm not exactly a 'whale of a bigbug.' A little while ago I was working on hours that forced me to get down to work at 4 a. m. I used to travel down town in a trolley. Caught the same car every morning and got to know the crew the way you say you like up state.

"One morning I was late starting from my house. It was a terrible night too, pouring, a cold driving rain. Something fierce at that hour of the day. I was sure I'd miss my car and that wasn't so much fun, for they run only every 20 minutes then.

"I had two blocks to go and I kept watching for that car to go down. When it didn't I started to run. And there at my corner I found it standing.

'Glad you came along when you did,' said the conductor, 'for we couldn't a waited much longer. It's no night t oleave a man to stand 20 minutes on a corner, though.'"

Earl Carroll has been saying little about his new "Vanities," but he's working with it, and perhaps harder than he's worked on any production in his theatrical career. And whatever else the new revue turns out to be, it will undoubtedly take rank as his biggest show. Atlantic City will have a week of the production before it reaches Seventh avenue.

W. C. Fields is in it, as you know, and it's being told about Longacre Square that Mr. Fields is being paid to the extent of $5,200 weekly. It seems that he is that kind of a comedian.

The interior of the Earl Carroll Theater is being more or less remodeled and the familiar Spanish decorations will have been entirely done away before the new show opens.

A resumption of mass singing in Central park is assured with the announcement by Harry Barnhart, the well known song leader, that a series of Saturday night sings will be held on the Mall in Central Park.

For many years the sings conducted by Mr. Barnhart were a popular summer diversion. As many as 100,000 persons attended the song and light festivals with which many of the series closed last summer.

The first hour of each program will be devoted to formal music which will be broadcast by station WOR. This will be followed by an hour of mass singing led by Mr. Barnhart and his band of 40 musicians.

Chinch Bugs Infest Farms Near Hollis

Special to The Record News.

HOLLIS, Okla., July 30.—Complaints are being made by the farmers of Hollis and the surrounding communities about the chinch bug infestation. Considerable damage is being done in some fields, while in others there are not enough for serious damage, but another generation will be due in a few weeks and there will be serious damage done. The farmers have learned that prevention is almost impossible. Fencing the field with a strip of coal tar is proving successful.

ABE MARTIN

I take this means o' notifyin' th' millions an' millions o' voters who don't read political platforms that th' Democratic party has dropped "tariff reform." We're gittin' t' have entirely too many intrepid explorers on hand.

Joe Robinson Coming to Texas

IN ARKANSAS they call him Joe. In the higher councils of the Democratic party they call him Joe. In congressional circles of the United States they call him Joe. Wherever men get close to the minority leader of his party in the senate they call him Joe and he likes it.

Senator Joseph Taylor Robinson, nominee for vice president of the United States on the Democratic ticket, will be the Labor Day orator at Dallas September 3. He has agreed to deliver an address there on that date. National Committeeman Jed Adams and Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller are making the arrangements for the coming of the distinguished Democratic leader.

It will not only be Labor Day but it will be a Democratic rally day. National Committeeman Adams has arrangements for special trains at special rates to be run into Dallas from all parts of the state.

Senator Robinson has been an outstanding friend of labor, organized and unorganized since he began his political activities as a member of the Arkansas legislature.

As a senator he has been an outspoken champion for relief of the agricultural classes and he has led the fight in the senate to pass the veto message of Calvin Coolidge over the head of the president.

His vote in the halls of legislation, state and national, tell the story of the friendship for the toiling millions of this Democratic leader who was born in a little village in Arkansas and fought his way to the top of the ladder as a lawyer and statesman and champion of the gospel of Jefferson, which was the faith of the fathers.

Brisbane and Raskob

THAT most brilliant of the political propogandists of America and champion of huge mergers at all times, Mr. Arthur Brisbane, lets it be know that John A. Raskob has a fortune of $90,000,000 and is a most astounding financier and business man.

Well, why worry?

Mr. William Randolph Hearst is said to have a fortune of $150,000,000. Mr. Brisbane is said to have a fortune of $15,000,000; Mr. Henry Ford, the close friend of Mr. Brisbane, has a fortune of a billion dollars; the two Rockefellers who are eternally boosted for their greatness as humantarians, are billionaires.

Indeed, Mr. Brisbane devotes a vast deal of his writing to billionaires and multi-millionaires and millionaires. He is ever for big business and the rule of big business. This may be the reason why he was given a great shock when the fact became known that men of millions were returning to the party of Jefferson, determined to do their part for the restoration of the party of the people to the house of their fathers.

Thomas Jefferson was an aristocrat. He was a slave owner and yet he was the greatest Democrat of the world in which he lived. Benjamin Franklin was another, but Franklin was not born an aristocrat. He was a printer boy in his youth, he ascended the heights, he was a patriot willing to pay the price of patriotism.

Fall Ranch Has New Owner

ALBERT B. FALL is to retire from the ranching business. He owns a principality in three counties of New Mexico. Clay Mann, a Texas cattleman, has let it be known that the Fall ranch was acquired under contract of purchase and that the deal, involving three quarters of a million acres will net the former secretary of the interior $800,000.

It is said to be one of the finest ranches in the world, and the largest one unit ranch in the United States.

Fall is old and broken in health. He is nearing the finish of his mortal existence.

A son died recently. This added an additional load to the man who betrayed a president, betrayed his country, brought shame upon his people and disgrace upon himself in his shadowy deals with two oil kings.

It must be true that all is not gold that glitters. Fall has made the discovery that his gold turned to dross.

Light On the Rack

EIGHT Republican leaders are under indictments returned by a federal grand jury in Mississippi for selling federal offices to ambitious bidders. Are they members of Tammany? All are under arrest on charges of violating the public office sale law. If it happened in Mississippi why not in other southern states. Housecleaning appears to be the order of the day.

Crude Slump In Mexico

UNOFFICIAL figures on the petroleum exports through the port of Tampico during the month of June as compared with May showed a decrease of more than half a million barrels. Why not an import tax on foreign crude? Texas is one of the banner oil producing states. Republicans say that the tariff is the thing. Then why not protect the producers of crude in the states of Texas and Oklahoma and California?

STAMFORD "SITTING PRETTY"

We wonder if there is another town anywhere that has as much to be happy over and thankful for as Stamford has just now. Here are just a few things that justify any Stamford citizen in growing a bit chesty: Natural gas system nearing completion, highway 18 being paved to Lueders, highway 30 to be paved with concrete nearly to Anson, several miles of city streets to be paved, water system to be improved and extended, sewerage system to be improved and extended, new school buildings to be erected, new business buildings being erected, many new homes going up and more to come, and to cap it all, a two-inch rain followed by some mighty good showers. Aren't you glad you live in Stamford or somewhere close by?

A WORD FOR SMITH

They rant and rave against Al Smith but they have never been able to make their ravings jibe with the fact that Al has styed on the job rather consistently in an overwhelmingly Republican state, no sir. In view of Oklahoma's governor's troubles and Oklahoma being normally Democratic, the ranters will have to concede that Smith is not all wrong.

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service — by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Virginia Brewster is in love with an artist, Nathaniel Dean, but she is tricked into promising to marry Frederick Dean in one year if she fails to earn $100,000 that he alleges her father cheated him out of.

Brewster had lost his fortune in speculation before his death and Virginia is left destitute. She pawns some of her jewelry and a broker friend, Oliver Cutter, promises to invest the money for her.

She seeks work, but without success. She discovers that she is being shadowed and suspects that Dean has bribed the agencies not to help her. After word leaks out that the "Brewster girl" is job-seeking, she is besieged by reporters.

Cutter insists on taking Virginia out to dinner and hints that it won't be necessary for her to work for her money, but pretends innocence when she challenges his remark. Niel resents the attentions of Cutter and Virginia does not like the familiarity with which his model, Chiri Mond, treats him.

A gorgeous evening wrap comes to Virginia and she discovers that Dean sent it. She phones him that she is returning it, and he tells her he doesn't want his future wife to work. His threat to ruin Cutter frightens Virginia and she warns Oliver. Then she hears of an available position and, after interviewing the manager, gets the place.

Happy in her new work, the summer passes and Virginia is surprised one day to receive a curt note from Cutter's wife asking her to call.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

"Good of you to come," Jeanie said, and then after a noticeable pause: "I hardly expected you . . . in the circumstances."

"I'm not seeing people," Virginia began, thinking that Mrs. Cutter referred to the circumstances of her misfortune.

"Sit down," Jeanie broke in a bit impatiently. "Have a cigaret?"

"No, thank you," Virginia declined and sank into the chair indicated. Jeanie shrugged.

"I'm leaving shortly," she said, suddenly dropping her insolent drawl. "Dining at Ryosset. Do you mind if we dispense with the bother of leading up to the main subject?"

"If I had any idea what you wanted to see me about," Virginia returned suggestively, "I might know what the main subject was."

Jeanie regarded her for a moment without answering. "I was sure you wouldn't come if you thought I knew," she said cryptically. "I'm glad you didn't think so, for I wanted to have this talk with you. It will save a lot of trouble, I hope."

"Possibly it will save time for both of us if you tell me what it is I might have expected you to know," Virginia replied.

"No doubt it will. Very well then, you might have guessed that I've learned of your . . . interest in Oliver."

Virginia drew back from the shock of the words as though she had recoiled from an unexpected blow. One hand shot up in defense and then fell limply to her lap. Jeanie laughed.

"I see I was right. You didn't think I knew. Stupid of you, Virginia, to imagine such a sordid affair wouldn't get out."

She spoke with cool, detached regret, as though the matter under discussion did not touch her personally.

Virginia sat bolt upright and looked at her with pure amazement written large on her delicate features. "Have you asked me to come here to listen to such ridiculous nonsense as that?" she said with more bewilderment in her voice.

Again Jeanie shrugged. "Whether it is ridiculous nonsense or not you know better than I, but whatever it is it must stop."

"If you mean my friendship with Oliver," Virginia said quickly, "that is mostly of a business nature. How can you object to it?"

"Because it is conducted outside of business hours," Jeanie returned flatly. "Perhaps I'd better explain that I know all about these secret meetings of yours and Oliver's, Virginia."

Virginia went pale. "Who told you?" she asked in genuine fear. It was a fear the cause of which Jeanie misunderstood. If anyone knew, who could it be but the spy in the employ of her arch enemy? Of course, Oliver himself might have told Jeanie, but then why should she be making such a dreadful mistake? To Jeanie it appeared that Virginia was frightened because she had been discovered. And Virginia was thinking of Dean's threat to ruin Oliver.

"I am glad you see it's no use pretending any longer," Jeanie said with hard satisfaction. "Now we can discuss the matter intelligently. Just what do you want with Oliver, Virginia?"

"He was helping me speculate on Wall street," Virginia told her with simple truthfulness.

Jeanie jerked the cigaret out of the holder, tossed it away and crushed in another. Her motions betrayed suppressed anger and her face was flushing darkly.

"There is absolutely nothing to be gained by trying to make a fool of me," she exclaimed at last. "Oliver does not conduct his business with clients who slip out of the back doors of hotels and sneak into his office after everyone else has gone."

Virginia cried out in protest. "But we had to do it that way, Jeanie. If Oliver told you I am sure he must have explained why we had to be careful about it."

"You know perfectly well he didn't tell me! My information came through the mail. Anonymously, of course, but the writer said you would understand if I told you his initials were 'F. D.'"

A low moan of despair answered her. Virginia was leaning back in her chair, white and trembling. "Have you told Oliver?" she whispered after a while.

Jeanie had sat motionless, watching her unpityingly. When Virginia looked up at her she shook her head. "No," she said briefly. "I believe you and I can settle this."

"But he must know!" Virginia declared emphatically. "He's in danger, Jeanie."

"Really, Virginia, your acting is very clever but I assure you I am not deceived by it. The situation is dramatic enough without any theatrical touches."

"Oh, don't misunderstand, Jeanie," Virginia pleaded. "Oliver has been helping me make some money that I need very badly. We had to do it secretly because someone who doesn't wish me to have it threatened to ruin him for it."

Virginia's words rushed out in frantic appeal, but Jeanie curled her lips in a smiling sneer as she listened, her cigaret holder poised gracefully between them.

"Surely you don't expect me to believe such a silly fabrication as that?" she asked lightly. "Though I suppose you couldn't have done any better on the spur of the moment."

"But I tell you it is the truth," Virginia insisted, her voice and eyes filling with tears of exasperation. "It isn't fair to take the word of an anonymous correspondent against mine," she added impatiently.

"Your own word is quite sufficient to prove all that my correspondent told me," Jeanie snapped back at her. "You have admitted meeting Oliver in his office after business hours. And no one but an idiot would believe your ridiculous explanations."

Virginia dropped her hands with a gesture of hopelessness.

"I asked you here to talk it over because I gave you credit for too much intelligence to attempt to blind me, but I seems I was mistaken," Jeanie went on with deliberate cruelty. "It is a mistake you may find very painful, if you persist in it, let me warn you. I have no intention of giving Oliver his freedom unless I am driven to it, and in that case it will not be pleasant for the woman who is named in my suit."

Virginia sprang to her feet, her eyes blazing and her hands clenched white.

"How can you be such a fool?" she cried furiously. "Ask Oliver why we met and see if he does not give you the same explanation. It is not likely both of us would make up an identical story on the spur of the moment as you said."

"No?" Jeanie drawled. "I wasn't informed of the number of times you've met but I dare say you found a moment or two to prepare your stories to correspond."

Virginia gasped.

"Don't make it so hard," Jeanie advised her callously. "After all there are other men of wealth. I suggest, however, that you choose one who is unmarried, unless, of course, it happens that you are in love with Oliver." She lifted a questioning eyebrow and got languidly to her feet. "He's a dear," she went on evenly. "But I shouldn't say he's worth a scandal. Better drop it, Virginia."

For her answer Virginia turned and walked out of the room. Jeanie watched her go with thunderclouds in her eyes but a sense of victory rising soothingly over her.

When the elevator reached the floor where Virginia waited, Oliver stepped out of it. She did not recognize him and moved to enter but he stopped her by speaking her name in sharp surprise. "Wait a moment," he added and Virginia stepped back and permitted the elevator to descend without her.

"What's happened?" Oliver demanded, alarmed by her expression. "Mr. Dean has found out that we've been seeing each other at the office," Virginia exclaimed. "And he's told Jeanie!"

Oliver groaned. "Oh, good Lord. What a mess!"

Virginia winced. "I can't tell you how much I regret it," she said, "and I couldn't convince Jeanie that it wasn't . . . wasn't . . ."

"I know," Oliver broke in. "There is only one interpretation most people would put on it. I guess we're in for trouble, Virginia."

"You must make Jeanie understand! It is Mr. Dean we have to fear most. He seems to know everything and he's more cruel than any animal. Think of him waiting until I began to feel secure, to do this horrible thing. He's been playing with us like a cat with a mouse."

"How do you know? Did he say when he found out about our meetings?"

"Jeanie didn't tell me what he said but I'm sure he has known all along. He must have had you watched, too. Since I wrote him you were not handling my account any longer, probably. What can we do?"

"Come in to see me early in the morning," Oliver told her. "I wanted a conference with you anyhow. Abut that oil stock. Fraid I made a mistake there, Virginia, but don't worry about it. I'll see you through all right."

"I think you'd better give me whatever money I have and let me find someone else to handle it for me," Virginia suggested with an undercurrent of finality in her voice that convinced Oliver he would no longer act as her broker.

He looked at her with a queer expression that held a touch of consternation which his voice, however, did not reflect when he said, "Just as you like; I'll have a check ready for you tomorrow."

"I'm afraid I can never repay you for all the trouble I've caused you," Virginia said, and put out a hand.

"Everything will come out all right," Oliver assured her blithely. In his own mind, however, he was casting about for a strong defense . . . there were certain manipulations he would have to inform her of on the morrow.

A PRAYER

I hope that I can learn to be
Enrapt in other thoughts but "me";
Inconsequential bit, is man,
When one surveys the general plan.

However rich a man may grow,
When he's been dead a week or so,
The world considers him no more;
He's classified as ancient lore.
The names that live, it seems to me,
Are names that helped humanity.
The world remembers men who give
A helping hand to things that live.

Grant me, O Lord, no greater pelf
Than thourhts of something but myself!

—John Self Elliott.

THE SINGING CAT

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

Jessica is gone, and we sleep soundly at night. While Jessica was a victom of delusion, we were victims of enforced idsomnia. One never knows how useful sleep is to him until something happens to prevent his getting enough of it. I suppose Jessica slept in the daytime. She must have to keep in condition to sing. She must also have supplemented eight hours of healthful and rest bringing sleep every day with good nourishing diet and plenty of exercise. Also voice culture. Had she not kept her throat muscles flexible, she never could have sung as she did. If we had been able to lay hands on Jessica after she learned to sing she would not have had any throat muscles, for they would have been severed in a swift and silent operation. But when she became a prima donna she also became exclusive, as is the custom of prima donnas. None of the family was permitted to approach nearer than the base of the tree in which she took refuge at the approach of a human being. She seemed to realize that her voice was not appreciated by us.

I was never quite sure how Jessica came to sing. In the days of her kittenhood she used to sit at the foot of the cherry tree and listen attentively to the cat birds who came there to hold an afternoon concert. I supposed at that time that her interest in the catbirds was such an interest as a small boy takes in a huckleberry pie. But I judge that all the time she was listening to the song and aspiring to produce one like it. In this she was unsuccessful in spite of long practice. Her song was not like the catbirds'. It was not like anything else under the moon—for that satellite was usually overheard during her recitals. I have heard of dogs being moved to vocalisation by the moon, but Jessica was the first cat in my experience to come under its influence. The first year of her life she was reasonably silent, mewing only now and then at the door when she had been thoughtlessly left out at night. Her mew was gentle, but insistent. She would keep it up an hour if she was not admitted. Half an hour was usually long enough. After that somebody got up and let her in.

This spring Jessica decided that she had had enough of the hearthside and went forth into the shrubbery back of the house to take up her abode. No more she mewed for admittance at the doorway. We caught only an occasional glimpse of her as she padded from one bush to another. Never again did she come to the kitchen door for her saucer of milk. She subsisted, I supose upon moles and birds and other small animals, preferring them to a cat's customary diet. It was a decided break with the traditions of her kind. When she had been gone from the fireside about a week, I was awakened one night with a prolonged note, sounding something like the hoot of an owl would sound if it were long and steady instead of staccato and tremulous. It was repeated several times. I tried to sleep again, but I couldn't. Finally insistent curiosity took me to the window.

Jessica was wandering to and fro on the grass, lifting her head toward the moon ever and anon, and emitting a long wail. It was a curious kind of a wail beginning on a high key, and slowly descending the gamut till it ended in a deep guttural. I listened for a time, and then—not amused—hurled a hair brush in her direction. She glanced at the hair brush, which had missed her by a yard, then up at me, and then sauntered under a rose bush. There she resumed her song. I found another hair brush and heaved it at the rose bush. But the shot was bad. Jessica waited a few minutes, probably to learn if I could mend my aim, and then took up her singing again.

There was no sleep for me after that. If she remained quiet for five minutes I was on tenterhooks till she began again. While she was singing I was in torture. At last I got up, slipped on a pair of rubbers in the front hall and went out into the front yard. My wife, who was watching the operations tells me that when the front door slammed Jessica trotted rapidly away. She was nowhere to be found when I got to the rose bush. But she was back again and in full cry when I returned to the bedroom. After two or three nights in the course of which this program was repeated, we got somewhat used to it, and could get a few snatches of sleep. Then there came a time when there was no song, and that put us off again. It kept us up listening. At last we decided that some other cat, or possibly a dog, infuriated as we were by these serenades had taken drastic measures to make an end of them. We were sorry for Jessica, but anyway we were able to sleep.

Then one night Bill came out for the week-end. Bill is nervous. He is also irritable. He likes to play golf under 75, and to do that he must eat and sleep regularly and keep himself in perfect condition. He was to play a match the next day with an opponent who had beaten him by a fluke the Sunday before. Bill didn't want that to happen again. He ate a light supper and went to bed at 10:30. At 11:30 Jessica returned. She seated herself under the dogwood tree beneath Bill's window and began to sound a few practice notes. Bill had just dozed off. He said he dreamed he was a boy at the circus again and the calliope player was running scales. Presently he woke up and looked out of the window. He could see nothing, for Jessica was concealed by the branches. He tried to go to sleep again, and failed. He got up and looked out of the window once more. He could see nothing, but he knew that nothing could make no sound, so he went down in his pajamas to investigate.

Jessica heard him coming and moved under the elm tree. Bill saw her streaking across the grass and went after her. She clambered swiftly up the tree, and Bill plucked bricks from the front walk and shied them at her. He missed her every time but at last thinking she was thoroughly terrified, went back to bed. Before he had got to sleep he heard her again. He looked forth and saw her patrolling the front lawn, singing as she walked. He arose once more and sneaked quietly down stairs. Opening the door very softly, he tried to leap at her before she could escape. He failed. She darted around the corner of the house, with Bill after her. She took cover in a clump of bushes in the rear of the place. Bill dashed in among them and she jumped the fence and scurried down the slope of the neighbor's yard. Bill pursued. Three times he chased her around the house, and the neighbor gazed out at him and blew a police whistle. Before the police arrived Jessica and Bill were speeding madly up the street and round a corner. Jessica was keeping just a length ahead. Two or three times Bill said he stooped over to scoop her up and bang her head against a tree, but she always swerved just enough to elude him. Finally they circled back to the neighbor's house. The policeman had arrived by this time, and detained Bill while he asked him a number of questions. He appeared to be dissatisfied with the replies Bill made, but on being told that he was my house guest he permitted him to return to our place, where I identified him at the door. The policeman still regards me as a little demented for harboring a lunatic and vouching for him.

Nothing was heard of Jessica for an hour or two. Then she came back, seated herself under the dogwood and resumed her song. Bill was beaten out. He had no strength to pursue her further. He shut the windows tightly and read a book till about 5 o'clock in the morning, when Jessica, having become quite hoarse, desisted. Bill shot a 106 in the match the next day and lost $14. He says he is going to buy a rifle that shoots explosive bullets and return presently. We have promised to let him know when Jessica comes back again. But we haven't heard her for a week now. Perhaps she is singing somewhere in the cat heaven.

Cold Storage Plant Promised Quanah

QUANAH, Texas, July 30.—A cold storage plant sufficient in size for the needs of Quanah and its trade territory before 1929 summer season is the promise made by the West Texas Utilities company, following the visit of L. W. Fry, president, a week ago.

The present ice plant will be doubled in capacity, and be a 60-ton plant, also before next season, Mr. Fry stated.

This company is now completing a sub-station in Quanah consisting of eight huge transformers, each costing more than $30,000 and is constructing a super-power plant at Lake Pauline, four miles east of Quanah, which will cost $7,000,000 when completed. The first unit of this plant is expected to be in operation not later than Oct. 1 of this year.

SEA HEROES

Renowned Fliers Save Woman's Life In Ocean Water

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 30. (UP)—Heroism in the sea was added to the feats of two world renowned flyers when Captain Harry Lyons and Captain William Lancaster saved Mrs. Keith Miller from drowning.

Mrs. Miller and Lancaster flew 12,000 miles from Croydon, England, to Australia.

She fell from the deck of a yacht on which she was a guest with the other flyers yesterday.

Two of her ribs were found to be fractured when she was dragged from the water.

The force of the fall stunned Mrs. Miller and although she is an excellent swimmer she was sinking the second time when Lyon reached her side.

A moment later Captain Lancaster reached the pair.

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By REX INGRAM

Back in 1911 a worker in the freight yards at Belle Rock, New Haven, by the name of Rex Ingram, quit his job and enrolled as a student in the Fine Arts School at Yale university, where he studied sculpture under Prof. Lee O. Lawrie, later becoming his assistant.

In other words, Ingram decided, when working on the railroad, that he was on the wrong track, so switched to train for something else. He chose motion pictures, beginning by writing scenarios, dressing scenes and acting. He ended in a directorial chair with his name painted on the back.

Ingram was born at Dublin, Ireland, in 1895, the son of a Trinity college professor, and graduated from that school just before coming to America in 1911.

He is not only one of the great moving-picture directors, but a finished violinist and sculptor as well.

Here he exhibits the funniest story he has ever directed for a laugh.

"A friend of my wife (who is Alice Terry)," as Rex tells it, "has a small son who is a radio bug—keeps the thing going from morning till night.

"One day the mother, from upstairs, called down to her offspring: 'John,' she said, 'for mercy's sake, turn off that radio. That woman has the most awful voice I have ever heard!'

"It isn't the radio you hear, mother,' the boy shouted back. 'It's Mrs. Brown come to call!'"

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health."

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Mr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Procrastination Prevents Relaxation

It is important that you build a determination in your mind to accomplish what you have chosen for your goal in life. Many people are failures in their own business because they are lazy about coming to work on time, and yet if they were working for someone else, they would not be troubled in this way.

Opera singers are seldom sick because they have to set aside their personal feelings and put into motion every power of their will to meet their engagement with the public. A strength of character to meet your engagements and obligations is essential to any honest success. The determination of accomplishment is an attitude of mind necessary for feeling well.

Many people fall into the habit of feeling tired or sick. Man is naturally a lazy animal, and one of his worst diseases is chronic laziness. We must organize our minds and our bodies so that they shall be in top-notch condition when they are needed. What would happen to an army if the general only drilled his soldiers when he felt like it? And what catastrophies would happen on a railroad if the engineers ran their trains whenever they didn't choose to smoke or play checkers?

Let us substitute thoughts of health, energy, vitality and industry for those of vacillation, discouragement and idleness. Not only must we have a determination to work, and a responsibility for doing things well, but we must also have our periods of relaxation if we wish to keep a well-balanced mind.

I have a number of friends who have reached the high pinacles of success and almost invariably they tell me that they have made more money and enjoy life more since they learned the value of vacations and recreations. This does not mean that you should fritter your life away in a vain pursuit of pleasures, but means that you can work harder at your occupation, and concentrate on your work with more enjoyment when you know that you are not chained to a prison rock pile.

There is a magic in a clear brain and a vigorous physique. There is a rest and a cure brought on by a contact with nature that cannot be accomplished by all the drugs and sanitariums in the world. Through the majestic forces of the eternal we can contact the surge of life.

Man was originally a free individual roaming the hills and valleys. He climbed the heights and swam the lakes. The confinement to an indoor occupation or a slaving profession which uses all of his strength merely to make a living is certainly unnatural.

The postponement of a vacation rest and recreation. They lose their has sent many a person to a premaelasticity through confinement just as an automobile tire will rot and waste as much through disuse as from use.

There is nothing so destructive to happiness as monotony—nothing so blunting to ability as stagnation. A fresh point of view a change of scene, fresh air and physical movement are effervescents to life, without which it would be as flat as bread without its leavening.

Employers are realizing that it is not the one who slaves the longest hours who does the most efficient work, and the old idea of filling the day with monotony from morning till night, month after month, and year after year is dulling to hope, fatal to health, and a hobble to success.

Questions and Answers

Question—Mrs. L. B. writes: "I have a continual soreness in my left side and left chest. Please tell me what my trouble might be."

Answer—You may be suffering from some form of heart trouble, such as angina pectoris. You should have an examination made by a competent doctor, as it is impossible to diagnose your case by mail.

Question—Mrs. C. M. B. writes: "I have a friend who is suffering with goitre—the kind that hurts worse when lying down. What would you advise in this case as to diet or otherwise? We have found your advice very helpful and want to thank you."

Answer — Fasting and dieting may be used in either simple or exophthal mic goitre. It is not always possible to entirely reduce the swelling without the proper physiotherapy treatments.

Question—Reader asks: "May fruit or ice cream be eaten between meals without interfering with digestion?"

Answer—Fruit and ice cream must both be considered real foods and should, therefore, be used in place of a meal, or may be used in addition to a meal if combined with those foods with which they are harmonious.

Question—Miss Pat writes: "Will you please tell me a remedy for persistent bad breath. I have had all my teeth taken care of and am in a healthy condition, so I cannot understand this. Will you please give me a remedy?"

Answer—If your teeth are in good condition your bad breath may be a result of diseased tonsils, catarrh, or autointoxication. If the breath has a sweetish odor, you may have diabetes. Before I could give you a remedy you would have to tell me which of these things is causing your trouble.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE (359) HOW TO POLISH

Polishing requires more skill and time than varnish but gives a smoother and glossier surface. It is important that the pores of the wood be thoroughly filled so the polish cannot sink in and lose its luster. A number of applications of polish, with long intervals for drying, will accomplish this. Soft white linen is the best rag for polishing.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright, 1923-28.

Place cotton batting in your rag and moisten it with polish. The picture shows how it may be grasped by the hand when applying.

This shows another method of holding the cloth. To cover a surface quickly, move in large circles as the picture indicates.

After each coat of polish let your work dry for a day. In sinking in and hardening, polish loses some of its gloss. Fresh applications will renew the luster. This is what is called "bodying in." A little wood alcohol will remove smears caused by the rubber in bodying in and also take up any oil which would give the surface a dull, greasy appearance. (Next: Lacquer)

ROBERTSON PITCHES TEXAS ELECTRICS TO TWILIGHT TITLE

PANHANDLE OIL LOSES, 5 TO 2

Brilliant Fielding Marks Championship Game

By GORDON FULCHER

Cotton Robertson, lefthanded Texas Electric pitching ace, held the heavy-hitting Panhandle Longhorns to five blows in his third game in two days, while his teammates hammered eight knocks off Anderson to win the Twilight league championship, 5 to 2, in the final game of the play-off series yesterday at Katy park. It was the first time for three years that the Steers have not emerged Twilight league champs.

Bill Andree accounted for the first Electric tally in the first inning when he drove in Roberts, who had singled, with a long sacrifice fly to right field.

Steers Score in Third

Panhandle scored their two runs in the third on an error, a wild pitch and a walked-in run.

Dickey bunted in the second Electric run in the third inning when Henry failed to tag Roberts at the plate. McElreath drove in the third score with a hard hit single over second base.

Francis scored the fourth run on Horton's single to center and Hoehn accounted for the final score on McMahon's single.

McMahon Fielding Star

John McMahon, Kilowat shortstop, was the star of the game in the field, turning in several good plays and perhaps saving the day for his team once when he went high in the air to snare Rawls' hard hit line drive that might have gone for a three-base hit.

Roberts and Francis also made sensational plays in the Electric infield, while Johnson was the outstanding performer for the Longhorns. Score:

AUSTIN, Texas, July 30. (UP)—Golf and tennis are the main sport diversions of the students enrolled in the summer term at the University of Texas. Every afternoon find the local golf courses and the university tennis courts well filled.

Splendid tennis is being displayed by Oliver, Morris, Haney, Johnston and Kirkham. Oliver was the winner of the recent intramural summer tournament. He will make a bid for the Longhorn team next year.

United States' Athletes Defeated In Three Track and Field Events

American Contenders Fail to Place in 100-Meter Dash; England Displaces Finland in Second Place

By ROBERT J. PREW
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service.)

OLYMPIC STADIUM, AMSTERDAM, July 30. (US)—The British Empire won all three of the track and field events decided today.

Percy Williams, 19-year-old high school boy from Vancouver, British Columbia, sent the Canadian flag aloft by triumphing in the much coveted 100-meter dash.

Lord David Burghley, the fair-haired young Bitisher who is as popular in America as in England, won the 400-meter hurdles.

Pat O'Callaghan, the only representative of Ireland in the hammer throw, captured that event, thus giving the crowd its first view of the flag of the Irish Free State on the victory mast.

At the close of the day's program, America still leads on points, and Great Britain displaces Finland for second place.

Gloom in U. S. Camp

There never was a more unhappy day for America in the history of modern Olympiads. F. Morgan Taylor, of the Illinois Athletic club was apparently a certainty for the hurdles and Robert F. McCallister of the Columbus Circle, K. of C., New York, for the 100 meters, while there loomed no apparent opposition for Edmund Black of the Newark Athletic club in the hammer throw. Yet not one of this supposedly invincible trio was able to hoist the stars and stripes on the main mast, the flag showing only for places in the hurdles and the weight event.

The bleakest spot was the 100 meters, in which the much fancied American contenders never showed among the first three to finish.

While gloom to night engulfed the S. S. President Roosevelt, the floating home of the American teams, there remain a number of events in which they may retrieve the day's disasters, and the United States still is expected to get the best aggregate of points in the track and field events.

Burghley's Win Popular

The stadium was only half filled today with a cosmopolitan crowd in which the Germans seemed to predominate. The Dutch people are not finding the Olympiad much of an attraction, and probably are not interested because their own athletes are outclassed.

But there was plenty of enthusiasm. The Americans led the cheering for Lord Burghley's victory in the hurdles, and, after the shock of defeat of Wykoff and McAllister, the Americans also gave Williams unstinted applause for his triumph in the 100 meters.

Both victors were carried shoulder high down the field by their own compatriots.

Girls Compete

A novelty introduced today was a 100-meter flat race for women. In the first nine heats, the German women gained conspicuous success and gave the large German contingent something to enthuse over on what would otherwise have been a gloomy day for them. But in the first heats it was noticed that the Canadian girls were making the best times, with Elizabeth Robinson of Chicago the only American girl to shine.

After the semi-finals, three Canadian girls, two Germans and Miss Robinson were left for the finals. The best times were 12 2-5 for Miss Rosenfeld of Canada, and Miss Robinson and 12 4-5 for Hilda Schmidt of Germany.

A great surprise was provided in the elimination of Miss Hitomi Fibe, the Japanese girl athlete. She won her first heat in 12 4-5, but in the second round was easily beaten by Miss Robinson and Miss Cook of Canada. It was noticed that the girls, although running with fierce determination, did not take the results so seriously as did the men. The Canadian girls embraced one another in congratulations on their victories, and Miss Robinson smiled and waved her hand to the American competitors who cheered her from their stand.

Gene's 'Important Announcement' On Future Plans To Be Made Today

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 30. (UP)—Gene Tunney has not retired from the prize ring. Until 2 p. m., Tuesday afternoon when he will give a banquet for William Muldoon, Tex Rickard and the boxing writers of greater New York, Tunney will continue to reign as world heavyweight boxing champion.

Whether Tunney will retire or defend his title once more probably will be definitely decided by events of the next 24 hours, during which time the champion will confer with Rickard and Muldoon.

By Tuesday afternoon, Tunney said today, he expects to be able to announce flatly "yes" or "no" regarding his reported retirement.

What He Won't Do

"The waters have been muddied," Tunney said today at an informal interview with newspapermen, "but Rickard, Muldoon and I will attempt to clarify them at the banquet Tuesday afternoon."

Tunney denied today that he had ever told any one that he plans to retire from the ring.

On the other hand, the champion is quite certain about what he is not going to do. He said today that he is not complating matrimony, a trip to the South Pole with Commander Richard Byrd, or the study of philosophy at a European college.

We'd Like This Gene

Slouching over a bureau and with a group of newspapermen chatting and joking with him, Tunney was never more congenial or jovial in his life and gave anything but the impression of a man who on the morrow was to make "an important announcement."

A man of moods, Tunney was just "one of the boys" today as he laughed, joked and even used a naughty word or two. If the world could have been Gene Tunney as he appeared today, it would have enscrolled his name alongside the list that bears those of John L. Sullivan, James J. Jefferies and Jack Dempsey.

Without the veneer or high-hat Tunney is a highly likable fellow who might ascend to heights of popularity no other champion has even known if he would be himself.

France Retains Davis Tennis Cup

Cochet Beats Tilden in 3 Straight Sets

By RALPH HEINZEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, July 30. (UP)—Henri Cochet, a frail, inspired Frenchman, played the greatest tennis of his great career today and tonight France has possession of the Davis cup for another year.

Cochet rose to heights he has never known before to defeat William T. Tilden in straight sets, 9-7, 8-6, 6-4, and clinch the challenge round for France, 3 matches to 1. Then Rene Lacoste defeated Johnny Hennessey, young American, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-3, to make the French victory more impressive and to make the final standings: France, 4 matches; America 1.

Cochet at Best

Tilden's game today was ust as brilliant as it was when he startled the tennis world by defeating Lacoste in the opening day's play. But Cochet had picked this match to display the almost superhuman stroking and court play that he flashes about twice a year.

The fiery little Frenchman made the hardest shots seem ridiculously easy and time after time he came from behind to snatch victory out of the air when Tilden seemed to have an overwhelming lead. They are saying here tonight that the strain of three days' play sapped the energy of the aging Tilden, but the American ace denied it.

Tilden Lauds Victor

"I played as well as I knew how," Tilden said, "and I was even better than I was against Lacoste. But nothing I could do was good enough to beat Cochet. I thought he was going to let me take the second set, but he pepped up. I didn't have the stuff to beat him. He was marvelous."

"I have nothing to say," Cochet said. "You saw the match."

The summary of the challenge round follows:

First Day
Tilden defeated Lacoste; Cochet defeated Hennessey.

Second Day
Cochet and Borotra defeated Tilden and Hunter in the doubles.

Third Day
Cochet defeated Tilden; Lacoste defeated Hennessey.

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service)

NEW YORK, July 30.—The talking movies are very astonishing if only for the fact that it compels Rin Tin Tin to go in for voice culture.

They are rapidly nearing perfection and very soon we will know whether or not Adolph Menjou wears squeaky shoes.

They tell us that Farina talks with a Bostonian accent and that the terrible Lon Chaney has a lisp.

We hope that Bull Montana ain't a tenor.

You don't have to be beautiful now to get in the movies. One of Newport's wealthiest dowagers is signed up for a seven-reel talkie.

She's rather wrinkled but Will Hays asked us to write a scenario because her name is valuable to the talkies.

The first idea was to cast her for the sleeping beauty and give her an overdose of snooze powders.

But the second scenario is the best. She portrays the part of a very pretty princess.

Which would be great if the story didn't open up with the king and the queen discussing the fact that the princess has been kidnaped.

She is being held for ransom in a donjon keep. A donjon keep is a borough jail that ain't in politics.

That does for the first two reels. In the next reel we show the donjon keep. This picture is taken from a distance because the princess is looking out through the bars.

A modern princess would rather look over a bar than through one. But that's out.

The rest of the story is a closeup of the princess talking through the keyhole of an oak door.

We don't have to show her at all because the king had too many shares of Bank of Italy and can't pay the ransom.

All you need now in the talkies is a nice voice and plenty of beauty clay on your elocution.

The talkies can do a lot of good by having an educated soprano sing the "Star Spangled Banner" and bringing the words to the attention of the American public.

Breckenridge Golf Club Course Opened to Public

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, July 30. (UP)—In order that people of this city will become interested in golf, officials of the local country club have opened the club course to the public on Saturday and Sunday of each week.

Members and officials of the club believed that many golfers were hindered in playing because of the lack of a municipal course. It was with this ailment in view that they considered opening the course through the week-ends.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

CONNIE MACK sits in the shadow of the Athletics' dugout and the dreams and hopes of another pennant winner are with him. It has been many a disappointing year since Cornelius McGillicuddy has led a championship team. Athletic clubs have been near the flag since that mighty machine of 1910-1914 was wrecked, but always there has been failure to attain the coveted goal. Now it seems that the hopes and planning and work of the venerable leader of the Philadelphia Americans may materialize. Where two weeks ago it seemed that the Yankees were headed for another championship, events since that time lead to the belief that the hosts of Mack may beat the clan of Huggins for the right to play in the world series.

◆ ◆ ◆

The recent slump of the Yankees with the simultaneous rise of the Athletics gives cause for the optimism held by Mack. A letdown in pitching and a slight slump in batting has caused the mite manager of the Yankees to "view with alarm" when he looks to the future. Revamping his lineup, with the veterans Speaker and Cobb benched in favor of young men, Mack has presented a club that at this writing (before yesterday's games were played) had won six straight games and was only six and a half games back of the champions. The Athletes gained three and a half games last week on the Yankees and if both clubs play at that pace for a few days this week-end will see them fighting on even terms.

◆ ◆ ◆

HOPES OF FANDOM is that the Athletics win. They sympathize with the efforts of Mack to assemble another championship team, a task now in its 14th season. They want to see Cobb and Speaker in another world series, and if the Mackmen should cop those vets probably would see some service. And they are weary of the dominance of the Yankees and would welcome a change if only for that reason.

◆ ◆ ◆

IN THE SPRING the critics regarded the Yankees as almost certain to repeat while the National league race was held as a tossup and a fight to the last day. Now the Yankees are floundering while the Cardinals, though not exactly enjoying a runaway race, are comfortably out in front.

Which again brings the reflection that this baseball is a funny game and one of its chief attractions lies in its uncertainty.

GAME HALTED AT BEAUMONT

Payne or Cobb to Work On Hill This Afternoon

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 30.—The Spudders gathered themselves together today after taking three straight lacings at the hands of the Houston Buffs. Rain prevented the opening pastime here this afternoon and the rest was not unwelcome to Jim Galloway and his athletes.

The Wichita Falls men, while of course disappointed by the setbacks at Houston, are not discouraged. They played very good ball at the Bayou city and in two of the games forced the Buffs to the limit. They feel that the upsets at Houston were as much the result of a temporary slump as good ball playing by the Buffs, though the class of the Houstin entry isn't denied.

Spuds Not Beaten

The main consideration is that the Spudders aren't beaten yet. They're still in the pennant fight and believe that when they return home Friday for a long stay at their own bailiwick they'll regain ground lost at Houston.

George Payne probably will be "Bad News" Jim's hill choice tomorrow with the possibility of Herb Cobb getting the assignment. Ad Holzhauser or Lefty Darrough will work for the Exporters.

Home Friday

Only one game will be played tomorrow, today's postponed affair being deferred until the Spudders' final visit here.

After tomorrow's game the Spudders move to Dallas for contests Wednesday and Thursday and are home Friday.

Matlock Boxes Moore Tonight

Kopecky Grapples Parelli At Spudder Park

When Dempse Moore, the Wichita Falls mitt pusher, faces Jack Matlock Tuesday night in the Spudder park ring he will meet probably the best man of his career.

It will be a 10-round bout and part of a card to be staged by Alec Ross.

Double Windup

The Moore-Matlock "argument" will be one of two feature contests to be offered by Ross on the card.

The other contest will be a wrestling bout between Joe Kopecky and Joe Parelli. Two weeks ago Kopecky and Parelli had a knockdown and dragout affair, with Kopecky winning on a referee's decision.

However, Ross has announced that the bout will not come to an end this week on a referee's decision and that no holds will be barred when the two mat "artists" start to do their stuff. It will be every man for himself and the bout will be conducted under nobody's rules except those formulated by Kopecky and Parelli, which means "there'll be no rules."

The preliminary on the card will be a four-round boxing argument between K. O. Shorty and Kid Burns. Shorty and Burns are two of the fastest "little boys" in Texas, according to Ross.

Star Southwestern Gridders are Named

DALLAS, Texas, July 30. (UP)—The 1928 official Spaulding football guide, which has recently been placed on sale, lists the names of 28 gridders who starred in the southwest last season.

You'd stop THAT leak!

The constant dripping of a leaking water faucet soon gets on the nerves with its dr-ri-p, dr-ri-p, drip --spelling waste with every drop. Yes, for the sake of your peace of mind, you'd soon put an end to THAT leak.

And yet there is another leak in a great many homes that is far more aggravating, more expensive and more nerve-wracking than a leaking faucet --it's the "leaking" family budget, a leak caused by careless buying and thoughtless spending.

Like the faucet, this leak can and should be mended a little reading of the ads in this paper BEFORE you pay out your money will do wonders toward stopping that leak in the family pocketbook.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—After selling off early today in response to relatively easy cables and talk of bearish private conditon figures, the cotton market recovered part of its losses on covering. December, which had declined to 20.31 under the early pressure, of 35 points below Saturday's closing quotation, advanced to 20.55 and closed at 20.48, the general market closing steady at net declines of 16 to 18 points.

The market opened steady at declines of 23 to 33 points, and after a little irregularity, sold 35 to 37 points below Saturday's closing quotations under liquidation and scattered selling. A favorable view of over-Sunday weather conditions, and expectation of favorable private end-month condition and crop reports, were factors mentioned on the break which carried prices off to 20.50 for October and 20.23 for January during the forenoon.

Offerings tapered off at these figures, however, and failure of a private report placing the condition of the crop at 69.6, compared with 68.7 last month to stimulate more aggressive offerings, appeared to bring in covering or rebuying by recent sellers. This soon steadied the market. There was some buying later on detailed weather reports, showing rather more rain than considered desirable at western belt points.

October sold up to 20.77 and January to 20.50, recoveries of 24 to 27 points from the low levels of the morning, but there was another flurry of realizing toward the close and last prices were 7 or 8 points off from the best. Trading was fairly active early, but comparatively quiet during mid-day. A good proportion of the business was attributed to further evening-up of accounts pending further private condition and crop reports or the government report scheduled for publication on August 8.

The private report published today making the condition 69.6 was not accompanied by an estimate of the indicated yield, but was interpreted by some members of the trade here as pointing to a crop of about 14,700,000 bales.

Private cables reported continental buying, covering and trade calling supplied by local and Manchester liquidation in the Liverpool market, and that demand for cloths from India and China was poor.

Exports today, 34,807, making 7,792,304 so far this season. Port receipts, 2,263. U. S. port stocks, 579,302.

Futures closed steady; 15 to 18 points lower; spot quiet; middling 20.95.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, July 30. (AP)—Decline of practically $2 a bale met short covering and trade buying in the cotton market today and before the demand was supplied prices had recovered about half the early loss. In the final trading, however, a renewal of realizing carried values off 11 to 12 points from the top and the market closed steady at a net decline of 23 to 25 points.

October contracts after declining to 19.95 rallied to 20.20, or 25 points up. The subsequent reaction carried the delivery down to 20.08, where it close.

The market opened easy in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables than due. Prices continued to decline after the start under liquidation by recent buyers and ring traders selling in an effort to force a reaction. Before the selling had subsided October had traded off 19.95, December 19.90 and January 19.84, or 36 to 41 points below Saturday's close.

A comparatively dry weather map and the issuance of two private crop reports which were construed as bearish probably aided the easiness. One authority made the condition average 69.6 while the other gave a condition average of 69, indicating a yield of 14,880,000 bales.

Later in the morning the detailed weather report showed considerably more rain in the belt than was shown on the map which induced covering by shorts who found contracts scarce. The market was on the upgrade for the remainder of the morning session and reached the highest in the afternoon trading. More or less trade buying accounted for a good part of the recovery.

In the final trading there was additional profit-taking and the market closed at a net loss of approximately $1.25 a bale.

Stock Market Leaders Lose Ground As Profit-Taking Halts Rally

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, July 30.—Profit-taking, induced by month-end advance in money rates, halted the rally in the stock market today. Chrysler, Montgomery Ward and a few others which were influenced by individual developments closed higher but other leaders lost a little of recent gains after ruling irregular throughout the day. Banks called $30,000,000 loans and forced advance in the call rate from a renewal of 5½ to 6 per cent.

Railroads enjoyed somewhat better demand, stimulated by the larger trading in Erie influenced by expectation of early announcement of recapitalization and dividend action. Oils were quiet but steady.

Exclusive report here of the numerous messages received by the bankers from all parts of the country in criticism of the tightened money conditions caused somewhat better feeling as it was believed that all possible would be done to avoid any further advancing of rediscount rates.

Temporary Operation

The calling of $30,000,000 was no surprise and it is likely that further accommodations will be called in tomorrow. Monthend dividend and interest checks have to be met, but this is only a temporary operation and its influence on the call market is lessened because many corporations and others outside of official banking circles have plenty of funds to put to work in the call market.

It is the time money market which is being used by the money powers to effect gradual reduction of brokers' loans and brokers find it increasingly difficult to make such accommodation. This procedure means that it will take longer to get loans down to the desired figure than if the call rate were held at peak levels but a slow correction means less disturbance to business than one which might influence a bad smash in stocks.

Steel Unhelped

Steel was not helped much by the expectation that earnings report to be issued after the close would show net of over $3.25 a share for the second quarter. Only the regular dividend declaration is expected so that the liquidation induced by higher money closed the stock fractionally lower.

Montgomery Ward's further rise was brought about by widespread report that the July sales figure to be made known this week would be the best in the history of the company. Sears Roebuck jumped as a result of similar influence. Victor Talking Machine sold off although earnings report will be made soon showing substantial gain. These larger earnings, however, only make it more difficult to agree on a basis of exchange with Radio.

Rails Hold Even

Erie and other rails were in best demand before the call money rate moved higher but held well even in the afternoon irregularity. Erie bankers have held several sessions in recent weeks, it is claimed, and are about ready to make known the plan for exchanging preferred stock. More favorable earnings reports helped Missouri Pacific and some others. The Missouri Pacific statement for June showed net of almost double that of the same period a year ago. Texas and Pacific made similar showing and as Missouri Pacific is a larger stockholder the outlook for better payment by Texas and Pacific helps that stock also.

General Motors Steady

General Motors was the target for most of the professional pressure but received continued support from the Durant group and showed but small fractional recession for the day. The Durant buying is based on hope of another splitup of the shares, it is claimed. At least one group in the directorate, it is understood, harbors similar opinion and will argue for such action when the directors meet a week from Thursday.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 30. (AP)—(USDA)—Cattle receipts around the 11-market circuit, estimated at 73,800, were 7,000 heavier than a week ago, but 9,000 short of the same day last year. Native grain fed steers and yearlings at most points comprised only a limited proportion. Prices on killing classes of cattle were unevenly steady to 25 cents lower. Weighty fed steers and grass fat offerings generally showed the most loss. Country buyers did not show the interest in fleshy heavy feeders that was apparent last week. Chicago realized $16.75 on choice yearlings and paid $16.25 for choice heavy steers. Better kinds of western grassers on the river markets turned at $11.00 to $14.25, the latter price being paid at Kansas City for good Texas cake feds. Plain lightweight Oklahomas cashed down to $8.75.

Hogs were tendered a setback of 10c to 25c, the lighter weights moving to the best advantage. The day's extreme top of $11.35 was paid at St. Louis. Total offerings were estimated at 103,300, as compared with 79,260 last Monday and 106,948 a year ago.

Fat lambs comprised the bulk of the sheep supply estimated at 62,600, which was 2,000 more than a week ago and 13,300 larger than the corresponding day last year. Values on fat lambs were weak to 25c lower, but aged stock ruled steady to slightly higher. Range lambs topped at $15.15 at Chicago, while Colorado lambs at Kansas City and St. Joseph stopped at $14.75.

CHICAGO, July 30. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Hogs—45,000; market mostly 10 to 20c lower on hogs scaling 160 pounds up; lighter weights steady; top $11.25 paid for 185 to 210 pounds. Butchers, medium to choice 250 to 350 pounds $10.15@11.10; 130 to 160 pounds $9.40@11.10; packing sows $9.10@10.00; pigs, medium to choice 90 to 130 pounds $9.00@10.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW
By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE

CHICAGO, July 30. (US)—There was no dynamite in the corn market today—no fireworks. The July deal had about as much buoyant vitality during most of the session as a gob of putty. All the corn futures and wheat, oats and rye closed lower.

At the end wheat was off ⅝c to 1⅝c; corn was down ⅝c to 2¼c; oats were ⅛c to 1½c lower; rye was down 1¼c to 2¼c.

Corn is speeding at express train speed Chicagoward from various quarters of the corn belt. Farmers are doing their utmost to get old corn in here in time to reap the high prices made possible by the July deal.

The receipts in this market today were estimated to be 1,418 cars. The visible supply of corn showed an increase of 904,000 bushels, instead of a decrease.

December corn appears to be in a position where it will meet with selling again on every advance from the present level. At the close today it was only 2c above the low on the crop, in spite of all the bulling of July and September.

Wheat looked weak and may give way today and break down into new low ground. An increase of nearly 9,000,000 bushels in the visible supply, with receipts of over 500 cars here, were bearish influences that did not seem to have been discounted by the decline today.

Nature is producing too generously on this continent this year to make talk of shortage in any crop seem convincing enough to incite heavy buying at present.

In the cash market wheat was 2c to 3c lower; corn was 1c up to 4c lower; oats were 2c to 4c lower; rye was easier; barley was firm.

MARKET REVIEW

R. O. Harvey & Co., 830-34 Harvey Snider Bldg., received the following Monday on cotton, grain and stocks from their New York and Chicago correspondents:

Cotton

NEW YORK, July 30.—The market has a rather irregular tone. There is scattered buying going on induced by reports of increasing weevile infestation and the present weather would seem to favor the pest. Trade demand around the 20½c level for October seems still to be of fair proportions. We believe the market will be dominated largely by day-to-day weather conditions until the issuance of the report and a trading position is probably preferable.—E. A. Pierce & Co.

Stocks

NEW YORK, July 30.—Buying activities were checked by a rise in call money from 5½ to 6 per cent. Banks called some $25,000,000 in loans around mid-day, making the supply of money relatively small. As a matter of fact, it looked at one time in the afternoon as if the call rate might go above 6 per cent but it did not. The rise in money was attributed to month-end settlements with a disposition to believe that after this had been accomplished funds would again be in supply at rates prevailing during the past week or so. The high-priced industrials continued to furnish most of the features of the day's activities. Montgomery Ward went into high ground, acting in a manner which encouraged further buying instead of heavy profit taking. The close was generaly irregular.—E. A. Pierce & Co., by Bliss.

Grain

CHICAGO, July 30.—Weakness in Liverpool and generally favorable crop reports from spring wheat territory carried prices off around 2 cents from Saturday's finish, with buying against bids checking the decline. Weakness in corn had some effect. Liverpool closed 1⅜ to 1⅝ lower and there was a noticeable lack of aggressive buying. Foreigners failed to show any interest of consequence in American grain, although sales of around 500,000 bushels, largely Manitobas, were reported at Seaboard.

The break in Liverpool was in face of unfavorable weather reports from the Southwest. Weather reports from the continent, where heat wave continues unabated. Receipts in Southwest were heavy, with Kansas City, St. Louis and Omaha having 3,701 cars against 2,708 last year and basis at Kansas City was slightly easier.

Corn prices were somewhat firmer at the start, with July acting tight, but that delivery reversed its action later and broke over 4 cents from the top on selling credited to local longs, which led to local selling of the deferred deliveries. Sellers of bids were forced to protect themselves on the way down. Cash corn basis was steady to 1c lower, with receipts of around 1,400 cars. Weather favorable for new crop but some damage is now feared in Danubian countries due to drought and hot weather.

Oats and rye were influenced to a large extent by action of other grains.

MONEY QUOTATIONS

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—Call money firmer; high 6; low 5½; ruling rate 5½; closing bid 6; time loans firm; mixed collateral 60-90 days 6; 4-6 months 6; prime mercantile paper 5¾@5½.

Gas in Fags

LONDON.—Prof. H. Hartridge says there is danger of carbon-monoxide poisoning in cigarets. When he found six per cent of carbon-monoxide in the blood of a famous scientist, who complained of being unwell, it was attributed to fag smoke inhaled by the patient.

After disappearing from a Norfolk church in 1919, a piece of silver plate has just been bought in a London shop. The cup to which this belongs, which also disappeared, was recovered in 1921.

Western Union to Lay Fastest Ocean Cable In August

NEW YORK, July 30. (US)—Bringing the total number of its north Atlantic cables to 10 the Western Union Telegraph company will lay the fastest cable in the world from Newfoundland to the Azores in August.

A novel principle known as "tapered loading" is incorporated in the new line. This will permit it to be worked "duplex" or at full capacity in either direction. At least 10 messages can be transmitted at the same time.

The new cable, manufacture of which is nearly complete, will give direct connection from New York to Germany, Italy and Africa, with automatic relays at Bay Roberts, Newfoundland and at Horta in the Azores. It will be completed about the middle of September.

JACK COUNTY MORE ACTIVE

Leases Traded Around New Flowing Well

The completion of a 300-barrel well by the Texas and Petroleum Producers companies on the Jones farm in the territory north of Bryson has again turned the attention of the local operators in that direction. The well last week encountered the sand at 3,160 feet and has been instrumental in a scramble for acreage nearby. After five days it is flowing at the rate of 300 barrels with several more feet of sand to be drilled.

Among the recent purchasers of leases both on the north and south boundaries of Bryson townsite are: Texas company, Texas and Pacific company, Petroleum Producers and a number of individual producers, a number of these buys being with drilling clause attached, and the next few weeks is expected to find this part of Jack county sharing with Wilbarger as one of the district's active spots.

LESTER BURNS-DESKIN

L. T. Burns and associate abandoned their No. 1 Claude Deskin test, located in lot 10, block 5, Clark-Plumb survey, Archer county, after testing a dry sand at 1,106-07 feet.

MORAN AND CONTIENTAL

The Continental Oil and J. J. Moran No. 1 J. R. Garvey, in S. H. Smith survey, abstract 370, Archer county, is a dry hole at 855 feet.

SMALL SHOW OF OIL

Steed and Kimmell No. 1 W. L. Andrews, Archer county, Yearley survey, failed to make a well out of sand at 860 to 865 feet and was moved away.

KELLER-WICHITA COUNTY

Keller and others abandoned their No. 1 W. F. Hamilton, in the R. C. Gibbs survey, abstract 391, Wichita county, at the shallow depth of 520 as a dry hole.

KLEINER IN NORTH YOUNG

Kleiner and associates completed their No. 15 C. W. Langston, in section 1490, T. E. L. survey, Loving pool, making 75 barrels in the first 11 hours from the sand at 554-78 feet.

SOUTH OF OLNEY

The No. 1 well of B. L. Wolfe, located in section 166, T. E. L. survey, south of Olney on the Whitehead farm, is on the pump making 65 barrels daily from the sand at 883-85 feet.

GRAHAM AREA, YOUNG

Panhandle Refining company No. 1 Bullock, located in the Mary Hamilton survey, abstract 138, south Young county, is ready to move in tools for its 2,000-foot test.

THE FOWLER TEST

C. W. Gilliland and others No. 1 W. O. Hayter, located in section 2415, T. E. L. survey, southeast of Megargel in Archer county, used the "Pat Fowler" test on a sand at 1,455-60 feet and showed a little oil and considerable salt water.

ON KEY FARM

Texas company made location for No. 1 E. Key to be drilled 400 feet south and 526 feet east of the northwest corner of section 1, B. & B. survey, Gray county.

DERBY OIL-WAGGONER

The Derby Oil company drilled out the plug from the sand topped at 1,889 feet in its No. A-1 W. T. Waggoner, some distance west of the Consolidated pool in Wilbarger county, and it is standing with 200 feet of oil in the hole. The sand was penetrated five feet and is still taking pay.

SWABBING 300 BARRELS

Baker and others No. C-1 W. T. Waggoner, located in the Purnell survey, southeast Wilbarger county, and northeast of the Consolidated pool, is swabbing 300 barrels daily from the pay at 1,897-1,901 feet.

IN MONTAGUE COUNTY

Bridwell Oil company completed No. 1 Mrs. H. Salmon, in the William Zuber survey in Montague county, in the sand at 773-81 feet, making 7,500,000 gas.

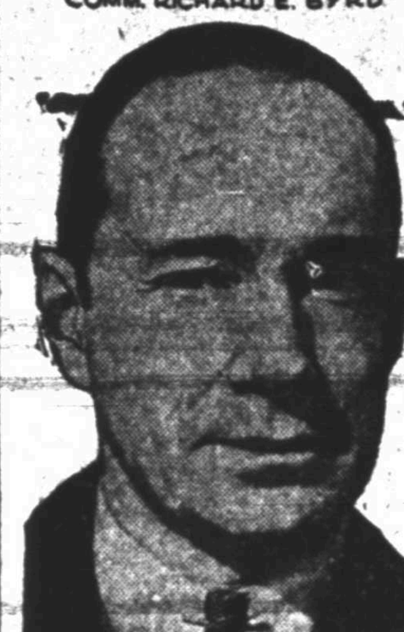
Three Notable Expeditions Into Antarctic Will Result in Severest Test For Planes

By JOHN L. COOLEY
(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—Down to the dead land that towers above the bottom of the world three bands of explorers sail in the next few months to pit the airplane against the defense of Nature's most formidable stronghold—Antarctica.

Whether aircraft that can carry men across the oceans, across the Arctic wastes, even to the North Pole, will surmount the barriers of gale and storm, ice and mountain, that have kept the south polar continent a land of mystery will soon be determined by Comm. Richard E. Byrd, Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, Comm. Douglas George Jeffery, Royal navy, retired, and their respective parties. Aviators have great faith in the modern plane, but they know that this task is the hardest ever assigned to it. Antarctic weather is the worst in the world.

COMM. RICHARD E. BYRD



SIR GEORGE WILKINS

COMM. DOUGLAS GEORGE JEFFERY

The Byrd expedition starts on its $500,000 venture about the middle of August. Most of the 55 men and virtually all of the elaborate equipment will travel to Dunedin, New Zealand, aboard the barkentine Samson, although the commander himself plans to leave about a month later. From New Zealand the explorers will steam across the southern ocean to the Bay of Whales, a threshold to Antarctica on the Ross sea ice barrier, there to establish the base of operations. They hope to reach this point by Jan. 1, summertime in the Antarctic.

The Wilkins expedition, smaller than Byrd's, plans to leave a California port in October, proceeding first to Panama, where it will board a whaler for the long voyage to the Ross sea, where it, too, will start work. A whaling vessel will bring the little party north when its work is over.

Jeffery, a veteran of the last Shackelton expedition to Antarctica, sails south from New York to return in May. He is chartering a ship.

Something more than a spirit of adventure, more than a desire to give the airplane another strenuous workout, is sending these pioneers into the most inhospitable region on the globe. The vast south polar continent, nearly as large as the United States and the mainland of Canada together, is the last great geographical challenge to science. Buried under a colossal icecap, it has given only fragmentary interviews to the geologist, meteorologist, oceanographer, paleontologist, biologist and the other biographers of the planet Earth.

Now, however, science is taking to the air, and given good luck its representatives with the forthcoming expeditions should see and learn more about the Antarctic in a few days than the men of sledging days saw and learned in years.

The persistent efforts of explorers since the time of the famous Captain Cook have gleaned such scant information about this frozen land that even today sections of its outline must be drawn by guess. Parts of the coast and their immediate hinterlands have been explored rather thoroughly and have yielded valuable data, but the narrow stretches of the far interior seen by Amundsen, Scott and Shackleton are the only recorded glimpses of the continent's heart.

There Antarctica lies, surrounded and covered by ice—a huge white dome with the South Pole near its center, perched on a plateau nearly two miles high and the remainder of its 5,000,000 square miles tapering to the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans.

The ice-cap is believed to extend down to the sea at nearly all points. It terminates generally in towering, unscalable ice cliffs from which break huge bergs, covering the ocean with white mountains and closely packed ice that hold ships at bay.

Parts of the coast are more accessible than others, and it is from two such points that the three expeditions purpose to operate. A glance at the map shows two great indentations, or gulfs — one, Ross sea, opposite New Zealand; the other, Weddell sea, across from South America.

The Byrd and Wilkins parties plan to launch their aerial assaults on the interior from Ross sea, or rather from the ice barrier that chokes more than half of that ocean arm. It was from this barrier that Amundsen and Scott started on their trips to the pole. Jeffrey expects to attack from the shore of Weddell sea, and will therefore be across the continent from the other two leaders.

The three zones of flight, as mapped in advance, will hardly overlap, if at all. Byrd plans to fly eastward over what is called King Edward VII Land; in addition, of course, he will attempt a flight to the South Pole, which Amundsen and Scott reached after laborious sledge journeys.

Sir Hubert proposes an eastward flight along the unmapped, unseen coast between Ross sea and Graham's Land, the western boundary of Weddell sea. He does not contemplate a hop to the pole.

Jeffrey's effort will start from a base on the west coast of Graham's Land. He plans to do his exploring eastward to Coat's Land, which lies on the other side of Weddell sea. He may also try a trip to the pole and across the continent to Ross sea.

Denver's Grape Experiments Succeed

Fine Vineyards in Three Counties

Grape demonstration vineyards set out in Montague and Wise counties by the agricultural department of the Fort Worth and Denver railway are progressing rapidly and should prove that grapes can be grown profitably in this part of the country, according to M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Denver railway who is supervising the experiment.

The vineyards were set out in the winter of 1925 and the spring of 1926. Two of them are located in Decatur, one being a six-acre vineyard in charge of A. C. Bennett and the other vineyard in charge of E. L. Coates.

One vineyard of two acres is planted in Fruitland in charge of J. R. Hays and another in Bowie under the direction of W. H. Prater.

The vines were trellised this summer and are making a remarkable growth, Mr. Oates said.

Four varities of grapes selected from the Munson vineyards at Denison are being used. They are the Carmen, Fern Munson America and Wine King grapes.

Farmers in Montague and Wise counties are taking great interest in the experiment and indicated that they are interested in raising grapes for the market, Mr. Oates said.

"From the way the vines are growing they should bear well next year and I am proud of them," Mr. Oates declared.

Insect Fire Brigade

PARIS.—A woman naturalist reports the discovery that ants have fire brigades. She placed a lighted taper on an anthill. Promptly the little firefighters appeared and extinguished it by squirting liquid formic acid from their jaws.

Other athletic interests which have been promoted in recent years by Stevenson include the Beach company, where facilities are provided for swimming and rowing, the Abilene airport, and the organization of the district meet in connection with the statewide interscholastic meet.

HEAT VICTIM

Eiffel Tower Leans As Heat Expands Steel Girders

PARIS, July 30. (US)—The Eiffel tower stood out today as the most conspicuous victim of the recent heat wave.

It has moved about five inches out of the perpendicular.

This deflection is caused by the unequal expansion of the iron girders. Two of the sides are exposed longer to the rays of the sun than the others.

It is explained that the designer, M. Alexandre Gustave Eiffel, made allowance for expansion owing to solar heat, and there is no doubt about the safety of the tower.

KELLY-SPRINGFIELD TIRE Co.

The Kelly-Springfield Tire company devotes its entire energies to the making of tires. It is one of the smaller companies in the tire field. The plant of the concern is at Cumberland, Md., and consists of 81 acres. The company does not supply any large number of tires for original equipment to automobile manufacturers, but devotes itself to the replacement field to a large extent.

Earnings have been irregular. Net income in 1927 amounted to $357,741. This amounted to $12.13 a share on the preferred stock, and compared with a deficit of $3,439,800 in 1926.

Funded debt consists of $5,000,000 in 8 per cent notes due in 1931. Capital stock outstanding consists of $2,950,000 in 6 per cent cumulative first preferred stock of $100 par; $5,264,700 in 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par; $5,264,700 in 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par, and $9,096,008 in common stock of $25 par.

Dividends on the 6 per cent preferred stock were in arrears of $22.50 a share on January 1, 1928, while those on the 8 per cent were $32 behind. No payments have been made on the common since 1921. Holders of the first preferred stock are entitled to four votes for each share, and common stockholders to one vote for each share. The 8 per cent preferred has no voting power except when two dividends have been passed.

As of January 1, 1928, current assets amounted to $13,694,427, current liabilities were $8,963,628, and net working capital was $4,730,799. Book value of the common stock amounted to $22.70 a share.

BOY'S MYSTERY DEATH SOLVED

Pastor and Farmer Face Murder Charges

DAHLONEGA, Ga., July 30. (AP)—Two men tonight were in jail here on charges of murdering Joe Walden, 18-year-old Lumpkin county farm boy, whose dismembered body was discovered in a shallow grave on a farm near here, solving a mystery that for more than a year has puzzled citizens of this section.

Henry Turner, unordained preacher, was arrested today on charges of murder and the technical charge of suspicion on which Abb Smith, well-to-do farmer, had been held since the discovery of the body on his farm, was changed to murder after a coroner's jury had investigated the case late yesterday.

The finding of the coroner's jury were not made public today, other than the fact that both Turner and Smith were charged with responsibility for the boy's death.

Engage in Fight

Turner and Walden engaged in a fist fight at Smith's farm some weeks before the youth disappeared. Will Witherow, a neighbor of Turner's testified at the hearing. Turner was knocked down by the youth during the fight and then drove him off Smith's farm. Witherow said he understood the altercation resulted from a dispute over wages.

Smith continued to deny knowing anything in connection with the boy's disappearance in the face of continued questioning by officers. Turner declined to make any statement.

Turner, although not a member of any church, is known in this section as a preacher.

The dismembered skeleton of the Walden youth was discovered in its shallow grave Friday by three men who took a short cut across Smith's field and stumbled on the skull, which had been unearthed by the recent rains. Officers were notified and after a short search in the vicinity the grave was discovered and the remainder of the skeleton disclosed. In the grave was the fishing rod and tackle which the youth had carried when last seen alive in this vicinity.

Disappointed Girl Artist Found Strangled to Death in Guest Room

NEW YORK, July 29. (UP)—Suicide ended the brief, pathetic career of Marvyl Egland, 25, as an artist today.

The girl from the little country town who came to win fame with pencil and brush in New York killed herself while a guest of a group of girl friends of Columbia university in their apartment in Claremont avenue.

They found her lying in bed clad in a green silk kimono. For a minute, they thought she was ill and sought to restore consciousness. Then around Marvyl's neck they saw a sheer flesh-colored stocking twisted tightly several times and tightly knotted.

She came from Glenville, Minn., two months ago intending to register at Columbia for the summer course. Instead, she accepted a position as art instructor at Camp Walden, Denmark, Maine. She returned to New York on Saturday night. The five girls in the Claremont avenue apartment were school teachers from Terre Haute, Indiana, and Marvyl had met them while teaching there.

Group Welcomes Her

They welcomed her when she returned just before midnight and offered to make her one of their own crowd for as long as she liked. Marvyl accepted and Alice Moudy straightened up a room in the suite for her. The visitor appeared depressed and said little to the other girls, but Miss Moudy saw a light burning in Marvyl's room at 4 o'clock and stepped in to see her.

The young artist was sitting on the bed, with face drawn and tear-stained. When her friend asked what was wrong, Marvyl answered, bitterly:

"Oh dear, life is just one long failure for me. Everything is a failure. I can't make a go of it and I don't know what's the matter. I can't sleep tonight—haven't you got an opiate or something else to make me sleep and set my mind at rest?"

Set on Career

Apparently there had been a difference of opinion between Marvyl and her parents concerning her future. They wanted her to return home for good—she was determined to follow her career further in the big city.

A letter written at Camp Walden and addressed to Miss Catherine Lewis, Studio club, New York, read:

"Dear Catherine: It will disappoint you, I know, but I think it best to come. I leave here for Portland and transfer there for Worcester and from there to New York. Is it possible to have a room there for the ..... for a few days? I will be home, I hope, for a few weeks. Eager to see you.
—MARVYL."

The dash in the letter was for a date to be filled in when the artist decided a date of departure from camp. Miss Lewis evidently had written expressing hope that Marvyl would make a success of art instruction and urging her to remain.

The Studio club is one of the Young Women's Christian association activities. Miss Lewis was out of town today but Miss Helen Kingsbury, chief of the employment bureau, remembered Marvyl at once as one of the Studio club girls.

Miss Kingsbury recalled Marvyl exclaiming:

"Oh, I'm so disappointed in myself. I'm awfully sorry that I have not been able to teach the children at the camp. I wish I had gone right in for commercial art in the beginning—I'm never able to sell what I do."

Marvyl's parents were notified and her body will be held pending their reply.

Ace Hudkins' Brother Is Accused by Girl

LOS ANGELES, July 30. (AP)—Art Hudkins, assistant manager of "Ace" Hudkins, welterweight boxer from Nebraska, was charged with two counts of criminal assault in a complaint issued by the district attorney's office today. The charges were preferred by Miss Ione Gail Murphy, 20.

FLOOD BRINGS CITY PROTEST

Home Owner Tells Council Of Inundation

For the third successive week, T. A. Hicks, a property owner, complained to the city council about the condition of his property, in the vicinity of Avenue E and Polk street, whenever rain falls.

Mr. Hicks, whose plea resulted in an investigation by George D. Fairtrace, city manager, a week ago, said that he has been forced to reduce his tenant's house rent from $40 to $25 because of the inconvience suffered, and that he has found it next to impossible to keep a renter. He also said that the foundation of his house is being undermined.

A report was made several days ago by the city manager that his inspection showed that paving would result in a sufficient runoff of water to eliminate the trouble of the Hicks property being flooded. No action was taken on Mr. Hick's plea.

Arlie Jones, who lives on Milam street, appeared with a similar protest. He said he believed a little work with a plow would make ditches sufficient to drain the water in that neighborhood. This matter was referred to the city manager for investigation.

An ordinance changing the meeting hour of the city council from 7:30 o'clock to 8 o'clock from April 1 to Oct. 1, was passed on first reading. The rest of the year will see the meetings at 7:30 o'clock as at present. It had been intended to pass the ordinance on an emergency reading this week so that next week's meeting could be held at 8 o'clock. The absence of Alderman A. W. King and J. H. Patton made it impossible to do this as no city ordinance may be passed on an emergency reading without a full council.

Thelbert Martin, city attorney, presented a list of delinquent personal taxes totaling $13,066.38 for the perusal of the city council. It was considered by Alderman Oral Jones, J. W. Hunt and Roy E. Carter, but no action was taken.

Petrolia Man Killed in Blast

PETROLIA, Texas, July 30.—Funeral services will be held from the Baptist church here Tuesday at 4 p. m. for A. J. Carrico, 27, former Petrolia resident, who was killed late Sunday night in an explosion at the plant of the Simmons Oil company of El Dorado, Ark.

The services will be in charge of Rev. G. C. Lee, pastor of the Petrolia church, and Rev. J. H. Hunt, pastor of the Henrietta Baptist church.

News of the tragedy was received here today on the arrival of Mr. Carrico's wife. She said her husband was killed when an air tank exploded.

Mr. Carrico for six years was a resident of Petrolia. He was an employe of the Lone Star Gas company here until two years ago, when he resigned.

Surviving are his wife, a son, Arnold, 3, and two brothers.

$5000 Insurance Suit Goes to Trial Here

The trial of the Southern Casualty company vs. E. D. Crowe, wherein the insurance concern seeks to avoid payment of approximately $5,000, got under way in 89th district court, before Judge P. A. Martin Monday.

Mr. Crowe was among those injured when the sewer ditch in which he and a number of persons were working caved in more than a year ago, killing two men and injuring several others. The accident occurred on Ohio avenue.

He contends that the Southern Casualty company should pay him compensation for total disability, which would amount to $5,200, in a lump sum.

The suit probably will be completed Tuesday.

State Liquor Charges Filed Against Two

Lawrence Calep and Bill Cook were charged with possession and transportation of intoxicating liquors before O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, Monday afternoon, following their arrest Sunday night by F. E. Summers of the city police department. A Cadillac automobile taken in connection with the arrests, also was filed on. A quantity of alleged liquor was seized, Mr. Summers said.

Deaths

GRACE K. HOBBS

Funeral services for Grace K. Hobbs, who died at the home of her grandfather, J. G. Jones, 212 Cliff street, at 2:30 Monday afternoon, will be held from the residence at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. Patrick Moreland, officiating.

W. R. SCOGGINS

The body of W. R. Scoggins, who died at a local hospital Monday morning at 9 o'clock, is being held by the Hines mortuary pending word from Mr. Scoggins' son at Bowie.

WINBURNE GATHER

Funeral services for Winburne Gather, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gather of Olney, who was killed in an automobile accident last week in Jacksonville, Fla., were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Evangelical church with Rev. F. Doege, officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

Pallbearers were O. C. Moody, William Enterkin, R. M. Havener, G. G. Zimmerman, Alfred Ayers and Louis Smith.

The body was received here Sunday night by the Merkle Undertaking company. He was a former resident of Wichita Falls.

MRS. LON WHITNEY

Funeral services for Mrs. Lou Whitney, 1413 Sixteenth street, who died at her home Saturday afternoon, were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Burris-Shepherd funeral home. Burial was in Rosemont cemetery.

ROBERT CALLOWAY

Funeral services for Robert Calloway, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Calloway, 2011 Kemp boulevard, who died early Monday morning, were held at 11 o'clock Monday morning from Rosemont cemetery, with Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Nebraska Women Switch Political Sides in Keeping Personal Views

FREMONT, Neb., July 30. (UP) Personal convictions, rather than allegiance to political lines, today had caused one Nebraska woman to desert her party and another to leave the ranks of the W. C. T. U.

Dr. Jennie M. Calfas, Democratic national committeewoman from Nebraska, declared in a letter made public today that she will support Herbert Hoover for president.

Mrs. Lizzie Jenkinson, former director of publicity of the Nebraska W. C. T. U., announced she had resigned her position as publicity director for the temperance union because she will support the candidacy of Governor Alfred Smith.

Informed by The United Press of the action of Dr. Calfas, Mrs. Jenkinson, at her home in Monroe, Neb., declared, "Support of a political candidate should be governed by one's personal convictions rather than by political affiliations. I personally believe prohibition is a dead issue, and farm relief is the real issue."

Dr. Calfas announced her rejection of her party's nominee after she is said to have been misrepresented as favoring Smith at the Houston convention. "I worked against Smith to the last ditch," Dr. Calfas said. "If the drys are all as faithful as I have been, there will be nothing to fear."

Tuf Nut Workers Install First Machinery in Garment Plant

The first carload of machinery for the Tuf-Nut Garment Manufacturing company plant in Wichita Falls arrived from Little Rock, Ark., late Sunday night, and installation was started early Monday morning, it was learned at the plant building Monday.

This machinery consists chiefly of single sewing machines, and is being installed on the second floor of the building. The elevator has been completed, and is being used to hoist the machinery and equipment to the second floor of the building.

The first floor will contain no machinery, according to the present plans, it has been announced by P. E. McLain, manager. The main floor will be devoted to stock, display and offices. A plant superintendent and a cutter have arrived in the city to assist Mr. McLain with the preparations and operations.

Word that Al Jolson's "The Jazz Singer" may be booked for a return engagement at the Strand was received Monday. There has been a constant demand by those who were unable to see the notable feature and hear Al Jolson sing when it was here before. If there are enough people who actually want to see and hear this vitaphone masterpiece to warrant the return of the picture, it will certainly be brought back as the expressed intention of the local theaters has been to give the public what it wants as nearly as it is possible to do so.

This means that if you would like to enjoy 'the Jazz Singer' on the vitaphone and hear Al Jolson, you should tell the Strand theater about it and also tell your friends to say a good word for the picture but if it is not expressed it will never be known, and the chance to enjoy it may be lost.

Hans Smith, manager of the Strand, is hailing "Glorious Betsy," the outstanding new vitaphone feature, as a world beater. It is billed to open Friday at the Strand.

Architect's Love Nest Sold by Sheriff

SPRING GREEN, Wis., July 30. (US)—"Taliesin," low, rambling, superbly beautiful love nest of Frank Lloyd Wright and his various wives and sweethearts, was sold today. It was sold by the sheriff to justify a mortgage held by the Bank of Wisconsin, which submitted the only bid, one for $25,000, far below the mortgage value.

And thus this famed home passed. It was the scene of killings and a fire, and where Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally famous as an architect, and Miriam Noel Wright, his wife, fought their battles, which ended with a divorce, both of them almost penniless.

MEXICO CITY, July 30. (AP)—Excelsior said today that no changes in the cabinet were contemplated before November 30, when President Calles concludes his elective term. The present provisional secretaries will continue to serve.

HEALTHY CITY

City Makes Record Of No Quarantine In Week

General health conditions in Wichita Falls resulted in a week's report of no new contagious diseases in the city for the first time this year.

"Health conditions in Wichita Falls are as good as I have ever seen them," said Mr. H. D. Fillmore of the city health and sanitary departments Monday.

"In the past week we did not quarantine a single case, and we have had few reports of any kind that indicate bad conditions.

"In addition to the week being the first this year in which a perfect record was maintained, the week was one of the few in the history of the city when there were no new cases."

THORNTON TO DALLAS POST

Katy Names Wichitan Assistant Agent

T. K. Thornton, 2168 Avenue H, chief clerk in the Wichita Falls offices of the Katy lines, has been named assistant agent at Dallas it was learned here Monday.

Mr. Thornton is well known in Wichita Falls, having been an employe of the Katy railroad for 14 years. During his work in Wichita Falls he has held many positions in the local offices of the M. K. T., advancing to chief clerk and thence to assistant agent in Dallas. He will leave Wichita Falls Tuesday night to assume his new position.

Coast Guards to Probe Alaska Mystery Murder

WASHINGTON, July 30. (UP)—A mysterious murder at Sanak, Alaska, a remote fishing village 180 miles from Unalaska, will be investigated by the coast guard at request of the justice department. # $27,200 ASKED IN SUIT HERE

Hotel Repairs Ruined Trade, Claim

A suit for $27,200 alleged damages against the North Texas company and its officials was filed in district court Monday morning by Miss Inez Giles.

Miss Giles sets out in her suit that her mother, Mrs. Maud Giles, leased the second floor of the Stonewall-Brown building for use as a hotel several years ago, and that following the leasing of the space the North Texas company carried on repairs in the first floor of the building which injured the business of the hotel to such extent that finally her mother had to give up the place.

It was further alleged that while the repair work was taking place the gas and water lines leading to the second floor had been severed, greatly injuring the business of Mrs. Giles.

Miss Giles further declares that the subsequent worry occasioned her because of the repairs broke down her health. She was assisting her mother in the operation of the hotel, she sets out in the petition. She was ill for a year, it is stated, during which time she lost an estimated earning power of at least $1,200. Doctor and hospital bills amounted to $1,000, she states, while mental and physical distress is set at $25,000 in the petition.

Practical Jokers Harrass Couple

ST. LOUIS, July 30. (UP)—On the theory that unusual happenings to ordinary people rank along side ordinary occurrences in the lives of unusual people, Mr. and Mrs. John de Pelzer have "broken into print" here.

For two years, it was revealed by their complaint to the police today, they have been repeatedly victimized by alleged practical jokers who have sent undertakers, physicians, automobile salesmen and nurses to their home—when nothing of the sort was wanted.

Four ambulances drew up to the De Pelzer home Saturday, they reported, adding that no one was ill. One of the drivers informed Mrs. De Pelzer that a room had been reserved for her at the Missouri Baptist hospital.

The De Pelzers intimated they believed some one may want them to vacate their home—which was purchased in 1925—in order to buy it cheaply. They have no intention of moving, they asserted, but would like to find out who it was that sent more than 20 automobile salesmen to the De Pelzer home one Saturday afternoon.

Rabbit Breeders To Meet Tuesday Night

A special meeting of the Texas-Oklahoma Rabbit Breeders' association has been called for Tuesday evening, 8 o'clock at the Stanfill rabbitry in Wichita Falls, 1313 Fourteenth street, according to the president, J. E. Musick of Burkburnett. An invitation to attend has been extended to all persons interested in the rabbit industry. Plans will be formulated for the rabbit exhibit which is to be held later in the year in conenction with the poultry, pigeon and rabbit show, sponsored by the North Texas Poultry association.

Romance of Utility Growth Told By Grant in Address Here

The first electric lights, gas and telephones in Texas were discussed from the romantic angle Monday at the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis club in the Kemp hotel by W. C. Grant of Dallas, director of the Texas Public Service Information bureau.

The hauling of black coal by black slaves from mystery-shrouded foreign countries over the wharves into Galveston for making the first gas, the story of the flickering and uncertain yellowish-red lights of the Dallas News' electric lights, and the story of the editor of The Galveston News connecting his home and office by telephone were recounted by the speaker as the first applications of record of the new inventions in this state.

Gas Development

In the early days, gas was thought to be and referred to as a "ghostly breath." Electric lights had failed in New York and New Orleans, and were regarded as something to be abhorred. This was emphasized by the story of the day from London which told how it was both dangerous and wireless, and how, without warning, black darkness would suddenly come over the city.

The coal was taken off of the ships at Galveston in 1858, and that was the beginning of gas in the state, Mr. Grant declared. It made gas which sold for $12 a thousand cubic feet as compared to the 20,000 cubic feet which may be purchased for that price today.

"In 1862, the first gas was made in San Antonio," Mr. Grant explained. "It was made out of resin carried by oxen from Indianola, Texas. Natural gas was discovered in the Petrolia field in 1908, and three operators combined to make the Lone Star Gas company.

"Today, 150 cities are connected with long distance gas mains totaling 8000 miles of which 2000 were laid in 1927.

"The first electric lighting plant in the southwest was established by the Dallas News about 1885. The plant was a source of wonder and the lights were the show place of the city.

"In those days, the lights did not burn all night and it was not easy for the pioneers to proceed in the face of ridicule and opposition. Gradually, however, the plants came into the state and grew and prospered until we have today some of the greatest brains of the nations in the industry.

"The telephone preceded the electric light and followed the gas.

"Soon after the telephone in the Galveston News office was found to work quite well, a more ambitious plant was installed at San Antonio.

First Telephone

"March 28, 1878, saw it tried out for the first time, and the following day the San Antonio Express carried elaborate descriptions of the event. It included the story as told by a spry newspaper reporter of the late 70's after he had talked over the marvel.

"There are now 2,500,000 miles of telephone wires, both local and long distance, in the state which reach into the most sparsely settled districts and which, through connections, are capable of carrying the voice to almost any country on the globe."

Plans for the Kiwanis district convention which will be held at Dallas September 3 and 4, were outlined by Sam Davis of Dallas. Mr. Davis invited all Wichita Falls Kiwanians and other Kiwanians living in this portion of the state to attend the meeting.

Rhine Occupation May Be Discussed at Paris

BERLIN, July 30. (UP)—It is reported that Foreign Minister Stresemann will return from Karlsbad, where he is taking a cure, on August 20 and proceed to Paris for the signing of the Kellogg anti-war treaty. It is expected that the foreign minister will raise the question of the occupation of the Rhineland while in Paris.

France and Britain To Confer On Navy Slash

LONDON, July 30. (AP)—Sir Austin Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, announced in the house of commons today, that Great Britain had reached a compromise with France over the naval disarmament question which would be submitted to the other naval powers and eventually to a disarmament conference.

Boy Goes to Chair For Doctor's Murder

ROCKVIEW, PENITENTIARY, Bellefonte, Pa., July 30. (INS)—Calmly and quietly, his pale face reflecting no emotion, Joseph Kamieniaki, 20, of Jessup, walked to his death in the electric chamber here early today, and died for the murder of Dr. Gerald Kelley, whom he believed responsible for the unnecessary amputation of his right leg.

Lindy Takes to Air

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 30. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took the air early today for a destination believed to be Detroit, Mich.

TRAIN WRECK INVESTIGATED

16 Injured Passengers Still In Hospitals

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30. (AP)—In an effort to fix responsibility for injuries to the more than 40 people when the south-bound Cascade Limited of the Southern Pacific plowed into the rear of a special train yesterday, officials of the Southern Pacific, state railroad commission and the interstate commerce commission began separate investigations today.

Sixteen of the passengers still were in Woodland and Arbuckel hospitals today. All of them were expected to recover, but some were seriously injured.

The wreck occurred at Cortenan, near Williams, Colusa county, when the special train, carrying delegates from the American Bar association convention at Seattle, halted, due to engine trouble.

The heavy locomotive of the first section of the Cascade crashed headlong into the observation car of the special train, plowed through half the length of the car and overturned with its tender after coming to a lurching stop. Both locomotive and tender were locked in the twisted steel of the observation car.

Parley Expected to End Illinois Miners' Ills

CHICAGO, July 30. (AP)—Prospects for an early resumption of coal mining in Illinois tonight appeared brighter than at any time since the fields shut down in April a year ago as delegations representing both miners and operators were in Chicago for a conference over a new wage scale.

Both operators and miners held separate meetings, preparatory to their meeting together tomorrow.

Wash Away Dandruff
(Antiseptic Liquid Brings Results)
If you really want to get rid of dandruff or other scalp irritations, try this simple method: Night and morning for the next few days pour a little liquid D. D. D. on your scalp and rub it in thoroughly. Note the clean, refreshing odor; see how itching stops instantly. The soothing, healing elements penetrate the scalp and drive away scalp troubles. Clear and stainless—dries up almost immediately. A 60 cent bottle will prove the merits of this famous antiseptic—or your money back. At all drug stores—Adv.
