DON YARBOROUGH gains runoff

Jack Cox Easy Victor

By ROBERT E. FORD Associated Press Staff Writer Former Navy Secretary John Connally led a six-man field in the race for Democratic nomination for governor and apparently will be joined in the runoff by Don Yarborough...

At that point only a little more than a third of the votes had been counted, largely because of the lengthy ballot.

Several midwestern states were represented at the festival in which 244 schools were represented. Over 10,000 students were on hand for the two-day musical event.

Bands Take High Honors In Contests

ENID, Okla.—The Snyder High School Concert Band was the only band in its division in the Tri-State Competitions here to place first in both concert playing and sight reading.

Few Attend Conventions

Scant interest was shown in Democratic Party precinct conventions here Saturday.

Records had been received from the five Snyder precincts Saturday night, and none reported any resolutions.

Ross Williams reported that he was the only one who showed up for the convention in Box 1.

In Box 18, where six people attended, Frank Wilson was named chairman and Mrs. Harold Brown secretary.

In Box 20, five people attended the convention. L. A. McClanahan was named chairman and Mrs. Viola Brundage secretary.

Mrs. Formby Is Improved

HAMLIN, Tex. (AP)—A slight improvement was noted Saturday in the condition of Mrs. Marshall Formby, wife of the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, who was injured seriously in an auto accident Friday.

Attendees said Mrs. Formby, 35, was in a coma-like state but improvement was satisfactory. She underwent 2½ hours surgery for a ruptured liver and three fractured ribs.

Two injured Formby children, Davis, 4, and Frances, 6, were in good condition.

Mrs. Formby and the children were enroute to their Plainview home. Formby, in the Dallas area at the time, flew here.

Loyalists Crush Venezuela Revolt

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Loyalist forces supported by air force, planes and navy ships pushed into coastal Carupano Saturday night and smashed a marine garrison's revolt to unseat President Romulo Betancourt, a government source said.

The source said the three top leaders of the rebellion had been taken prisoner.

Betancourt had charged that the uprising was a Communist-inspired move aimed at setting up a Castro-style regime in this oil-rich South American nation.

The action in seizing the city of Caracas was violent, the source said, but added that casualty figures were not immediately available.

The garrison of 450 marines and 50 military policemen revolted Friday demanding Betancourt's resignation and calling on other military units to join them.

The government source said that by nightfall the loyalist forces were conducting a clean-up campaign in Carupano, 300 miles east of Caracas. They were reported earlier in the day advancing into the city from three different directions over mined roads.

The rebels fled back, breaking up their headquarters in a mid-city high school, and started a sniping action from rooftops and houses, the source said.

First reports reaching here told of the capture of Capt. Jesus Molina Villegas when government forces occupied an electric power plant. Molina had been identified by rebel broadcasts Friday as the revolt leader.

The informant said another rebel leader, Lt. Enrique Montero Mantua, was captured on the Venezuelan resort island of Margarita, about 50 miles off the coast. He fled there in a launch, the informant added.

The third leader, identified as Lt. Alberto Osorio Jordan, was captured earlier, the source said. Meanwhile, an Interior Ministry spokesman said that enlisted men participating in the uprising were refusing to take orders from their officers.

Earlier, Interior Minister Carlos Andres Bregas announced that government forces had captured the rebels at first were reported igniting the order and taking up positions in houses in the city of 16,500.

Incumbent Solons Rebuff Challenge

By GARTH JONES

Associated Press Staff Writer Texas Solons and representatives seeking re-election fought off challengers throughout the state Saturday as voters picked most of the 1963 Legislature.

Incumbents led most of the races; many of them still face runoff battles June 2 and some have skirmishes with Republicans in the Nov. 5 general election.

Rep. E. "Red" Berry, San Antonio, largely responsible for the horse-race betting referendum being on the ballot, led two opponents in incomplete returns.

With 90 of 172 boxes complete, Berry had 9,199 to 7,072 of Spencer Vallance and 2,168 for Armand Laurel.

Incomplete returns from Jefferson County indicated Sen. Jop Fuller, Fort Arthur, may have to sit on the sidelines to watch a runoff between Rep. Roy Harrington, Fort Arthur, and Rep. W. T. Oliver, Fort Worth. For Fuller's Senate seat, Harrington led the returns while Fuller was third.

Titov Pays A Visit To World's Fair

By DALE NELSON

SEATTLE (AP)—Soviet space man Gherman S. Titov flew to Seattle Saturday to take a look at the World's Fair and was greeted by a 14-year-old girl who wanted him to know that a "common American" she liked.

Titov, his wife Tamara and their party landed at Seattle-Tacoma Airport shortly after noon aboard a jet liner after a flight from Baltimore by way of Chicago.

The girl, Marlene Britte of Tacoma, presented him with a bouquet of flowers and said it was her own idea to welcome the Soviet cosmonaut.

"I felt if just a common American came out he would get an impression of what we are really like," she told newsmen.

Marlene presented Mrs. Titov with a bouquet of purple lilacs, daisies and tulips.

The official greeting to the cosmonaut and his wife was made by Saad Khan, a U.S. State Department chief on leave to serve as protocol officer for the World's Fair.

Incumbents Take Lead

By MIKE ENGLEMAN

Incumbents took lead in Texas congressional races Saturday. Only in one race, the Seventh District, did the incumbent appear to be in trouble. Rep. John Dowdy trailed.

Woodrow Bean took an early lead with 7,000 votes in the congressman-at-large race.

Results for one U.S. House race in each primary had not been reported. Unreported in the Democratic primary was the Rep. Bob Casey and Claude Hooten race in District 22. For the GOP, the Jim Dobbs and Hal Hendrix race in the tenth district was not in.

Seattle Wash. was named after a friendly Indian chief of the local Duwamish and Squamish tribes.

Westex Areas Hit By Thunderstorms

By The Associated Press
Lightning killed a small boy and injured two others as heavy thunderstorms hit parts of West Texas late Saturday.

About the same time a big chunk of North Texas went under a severe weather alert.

In addition to killing a youngster near Colorado City, lightning set off a raging brush fire that destroyed an orchard south of Big Spring and a destructive wind storm swept through Big Spring itself.

A bolt striking on the Gordon Oak farm 6 miles east of Colorado City killed Billy Geron, 5, while he and two brothers played in a field. The other two boys were taken to a Colorado City hospital in grave condition.

Flames sweeping alongside U.S. 87 south of Big Spring burned nearly 200 acres.

Strong thunderstorms trundled eastward late in the day from the Rankin area in West Texas, and radar detected numerous smaller storms between Midland and Big Spring.

Shortly before midnight a special forecast warned of scattered severe thunderstorms, isolated hail and locally vicious surface winds in the area bounded by lines linking Denison, Dallas, Abilene and Vernon.

In force until 1 a.m. Sunday, the alert likewise covered the territory north of the Red River to 60 miles northeast of Oklahoma City and 15 miles northwest of Hobart, Okla.

Also about sundown, the Weather Bureau reported a 20-mile wide line of moderate thunderstorms extended from Ft. Griffin and Abilene to 30 miles northwest of San Angelo in West Central Texas. Radar showed the storms were moving east-south-east at about 25 miles per hour.

Unsettly weather developed at the end of a primary election day marked by mild weather throughout Texas.

Forecasts called for fair to partly cloudy skies and continued warm temperatures in most areas through Sunday.

Connally Pledges Vigorous Campaign

FORT WORTH (AP)—John Connally said early Sunday he would make a vigorous runoff campaign for governor "that will complete this victory on June 2 and enable us to begin working for a new era of progress in Texas."

The former Navy secretary was leading a field of six candidates.

Snyder Airman At Nuclear Test Site

WITH JOINT TASK FORCE EIGHT IN THE PACIFIC—Air Force Technical Sergeant Herman A. Hambrick, son of Mrs. Dora I. Allen, 2303 Avenue H, Snyder, Tex., is participating in "Operation Dominic," the joint Department of Department of Defense Atomic Energy Commission nuclear test series being conducted in the Pacific.

Sergeant Hambrick, an aircraft maintenance technician permanently assigned to McClellan AFB, Calif., is on temporary duty for the tests.

The sergeant, a graduate of Snyder High School, entered the service in January 1948. He is married to the former Helen L. Hale of Route A, McCauley. His father, Jodie B. Hambrick lives in Big Lake.

Operation Dominic is a joint DOD-AEC nuclear test series conducted in the atmosphere over the Pacific Ocean.

President Kennedy authorized the operation on March 2, saying it would involve only those tests which cannot be held underground. The tests are being conducted under conditions which restrict the radioactive fallout to an absolute minimum. The President authorized the series only after exhaustive evaluation of the Russian atmospheric tests of 1961 showed that the U.S. had been left no choice but to keep our defensive arsenal adequate for the security of all free men. He further stated that if the USSR would sign a full effective treaty before the latter part of April and apply it immediately there would be no need for the tests to begin.

All the detonations of Dominic are conducted under stringent controls to insure the safety of all personnel associated with the operation.

OUR VIEW

Big Difference Is Noted In May Day Celebrations

Let's talk about something besides politics. Okay? Did you notice the difference between celebrations of "May Day" in the Free World and in communist countries?

Judging from the news reports there was a sharp contrast which just about pinpoints the difference in philosophies of the two worlds.

May Day behind the iron curtain always is celebrated as an opportunity for the communists to flaunt their totalitarian might. Outside the curtain communists drive themselves into a frenzy in an effort to divert attention from the western style May Day.

In America, veterans organizations have seized upon May Day as the stimulus for a sort of counter-attack. Patriotic celebrations designated as "Loyalty Day" events were sponsored this year.

One of these, under sponsorship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held in Snyder this year. From the standpoint of pure sensation, these events are no match for the communist May Day celebration. But in their own way they possibly indicate more steady, humble strength than the flashy demonstrations under the red banner.

Moreover, the first day of May was observed in the United States as "Law Day U. S. A." This event calls attention to the success of a government of laws and not of men — something the communists prefer to ignore. There have been those who suggested that Americans should ignore May Day because in modern times it has been used by the communists to ballyhoo their system. We think the contrast makes it worthwhile.

Backstage...

In the past week we have seen two near-accidents between regular automobiles and emergency vehicles in the city of Snyder. On one occasion we personally felt the driver of the car was at fault, and in the other instance we felt that the emergency vehicle would have been to blame had there been an accident. Granted, the siren and red lights were on, but the siren was mighty low and the red lights were mighty weak. Our suggestion is this: Emergency vehicles, including volunteer firemen, would do well to turn on their headlights as well as other warning lights when they are answering a call. Also we suggest that any motorist, when they hear a siren, even though it may sound distant, look around and pay attention! This is the season of air conditioning. That means windows rolled up and a roar in the car, and that means it's hard to hear.

And incidentally, it takes 35 seconds to go a mile at 65 miles an hour. It takes 75 seconds to go a mile at 45 miles an hour.

Birch Chief Is Cheered

CHICAGO (AP)—A call by the founder of the John Birch Society for impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren of the U.S. Supreme Court brought applause Friday from members of Chicago's Executives Club.

Robert Welch said decisions by the nation's highest court "have broken down constitutional safeguards" for individuals. Warren "deserves impeachment by the house of Representatives," the founder of the controversial right wing society said. "An awful lot of good Americans agree with us," he added.

The audience of 1,500 business and professional men applauded Welch at that point and on five other occasions during his speech. Welch said in a question period following his speech that he agrees "100 per cent" with an attack on the court Wednesday by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss. Eastland said a Supreme Court majority has "upheld the position advocated by the Communist party" in some recent decisions. The Mississippi's Senate speech drew protests from both sides of the party aisle.

Manufacturer Is Cleared

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A federal appeals court has upheld a lower court ruling that exonerated a cigarette manufacturer in the death of a Florida man from lung cancer caused by cigarette smoking.

In New York, President Paul Hahn of the American Tobacco Co. said the firm was gratified at the decision handed down Thursday by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The Florida jury had decided that, while cigarette smoking was one of the causes of a fatal cancer of Edwin Green Sr., the tobacco firm could not have foreseen that Lucky Strike smokers would be endangered by smoke inhalation.

Green claimed in the suit, brought in 1957, that he had contracted lung cancer from smoking Lucky Strikes. When he died several months later, his son, Edwin Green Jr., was substituted as a plaintiff under Florida law. His widow also filed suit.

Tactics On Sharing Data Are Changed

By GEORGE MCARTHUR ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The United States has convinced that withholding secret strategic and tactical nuclear information from its allies is simply cutting off its nose to spite its face.

The decision to make this information available to the Allies — a decision confirmed by official sources — undoes much of the discussion at the annual policy review of the foreign and defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The willingness to provide more information does not affect U.S. opposition to giving up its veto on the use of nuclear weapons. In the U.S. view, the facts of nuclear life make any independent NATO nuclear force difficult to achieve. However, the United States must work out within the NATO alliance a unified nuclear policy.

This has become difficult because, much of the time, the Allies without nuclear weapons simply did not have the information necessary to reach a decision.

Consequently, informed officials say, the United States started about three months ago to provide detailed and previously secret information on subjects not actually connected with "bomb making."

Such information concerns operational and tactical problems of nuclear weapons and the grand strategy and target problems. Presumably, all this type of information is available to the Russians from their own testing and study of strategic and tactical problems.

For the past two years — starting about the time Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander in Europe, began speaking of an independent NATO nuclear force — the United States has been giving some atomic information to its friends. However, this proved far too little.

To expand this flow of information, the United States has backed a series of proposals now before the defense and foreign ministers. Aside from increasing the flow of information, the proposals are hardly new and mainly formalize situations that long have been tacitly accepted.

For example, the proposal that NATO adopt guide lines for the use of tactical atomic weapons would simply put the alliance stamp of approval on a system already worked out by the United States.

This system gives local commanders some scope in determining when nuclear weapons are needed and calls for political-level consultations where possible. But the power to release atomic weapons rests with President Kennedy, and will continue to do so.

Berlin Residents 'Sold' On Gen. Clay

BERLIN (AP)—"I thought he was going to leave one arm behind."

A friend of Gen. Lucius D. Clay was talking about the way Germans passed against his car one day this week, seeking a last chance to shake his hand.

Clay's departure from Berlin is a far less dramatic affair than the 1948 affair. When he made a farewell appearance on May Day he told 700,000 Berliners he would not say goodbye "now or ever, for Berlin is too much a part of me ever to leave."

Clay's Berlin friends were repeatedly sent into East Berlin under armed escort. American tanks stood by to support the operation.

The Soviets ordered up their own tanks. Soviet and American armor faced each other for 10 uncomfortable hours. Then the Soviet tanks withdrew and so did the Americans.

Clay's critics accused him of starting a dangerous incident for no practical purpose. His friends said the confrontation accomplished one important thing. It showed that the Soviets, not their East German satellites, were responsible for the situation along the Berlin wall. Some of Clay's friends think the American tanks should not have been withdrawn. They blame America's Allies, particularly the British, some officials in the State Department and commentators they consider to follow a soft line.

Clay himself does not like to criticize, but he too believes that followers of a soft line tend to give away points to the Soviets for fear of war.

Clay insists he is leaving because he feels the time has come when he can do more good for Berlin by working from the United States.

Clay doesn't see any easy and permanent solution to Berlin's problem. Communists in East Germany are working hard to orient their economy completely toward the other Communist states.

"When they've accomplished that," he said, "they'll be in a position to harass German peace officers and freight moving between Berlin and West Germany."

He estimates it will take a year before the Communists are in shape to risk the reprisals that could be expected from West Germany against such a harassment.

Bickering, Confusion Threat To Program In Latin America

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Nagging, bickering and confusion threaten trouble for the Kennedy administration's bold gamble to bolster Latin America.

If the Alliance for Progress should bog down, boomerang effects could be far more painful even than the fiasco of U.S. policy in Cuba last year.

Alliance sources admit there are aggravations. They complain of lack of enthusiasm and cooperation from some of the governments that might benefit the most.

Time is the critical element in the Kennedy program to inspire Latin-American nations to help themselves.

The alliance was ratified last August. The United States offered $19 billion to be matched over 10 years by a similar amount from private and foreign investors. But this was not to be just a $20-billion program. The aim was to make it a Latin-American job.

Over a 10-year period the 19 participating nations themselves would be expected to devote $80 billion toward curing their own ills.

Nineteen Latin finance ministers agreed with the idea that reforms of tax structures, vastly uneven distribution systems and the hated latifundista — landlord — system would be necessary in this attack on centuries-old poverty, illiteracy and backwardness.

Wealthy classes are resisting reforms in many areas. Governments in some instances are pictured as dragging their feet. Many countries have the necessary laws on the books, but little is being done.

Here are some of the principal complaints heard in Latin America, along with alliance sources' replies:

1. The alliance has failed to get its message across to Latin America.

The reply: Conceded, but this is basically a job for the Latin-American governments themselves. It cannot be presented as just a U.S. effort.

2. There is lack of coordination among agencies involved in getting the program on the road. Even a pro-alliance source claims lack of planning is accompanied by a superabundance of surveys and investigations.

The reply: U.S. taxpayers' money is involved. The programs proposed must make sense before money can be committed.

3. While wealthy classes resist reforms, heavy pressures from the left make governments wary of too public an involvement with the United States. Anything even smacking of U.S. interference is open to violent attack. Yet, insistence on reforms as an aid condition in itself is a form of interference.

The reply: U.S. aid is not the essential element. Lack of action or cooperation by Latin governments can spell failure for the alliance.

The key word for the alliance may be "impatience."

It is a 10-year program but expectations have been aroused for swift results. If these results fail to show up new and serious pressures on governments are to be expected.

William L. Ryan has surveyed South America several times from top to tip, rubbing shoulders with government officials, landlords and hungry peasants. He is now on one of his periodic swings around the continent.

Wheat, ahead for the second week, led the advances with the May contract up almost four cents and showing rather stout resistance to pressure of any kind. Corn and oats gained well over a cent on the nearby months while rye and soybeans declined.

Tenders on May contracts in the pit probably were the major influences throughout the week. Although they were relatively heavy in most grains, particularly corn, they were believed to have been fairly well received.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1-3/4 cents a bushel higher, May $2.14 1/4; corn 1/4-1/2 higher, May $1.13 1/4; oats, 1/4-1/2 higher, May 70 1/4; rye 1 1/4 to 1/2 higher, May $1.26 1/4; soybeans unchanged to 1/2 lower, May $2.48 1/2.

Grain Mart Up Slightly

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures' market withstood some profit selling in late sessions last week and still finished with moderate gains in most commodities on the Board of Trade.

Wheat, ahead for the second week, led the advances with the May contract up almost four cents and showing rather stout resistance to pressure of any kind. Corn and oats gained well over a cent on the nearby months while rye and soybeans declined.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, the President's wife, will fly by private plane directly from her rented estate near Middleburg, Va. to New York City Sunday afternoon, the White House said today.

She plans to visit Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, her father-in-law, immediately after arrival. He is undergoing treatment at Horizon House for after effects of a stroke. Horizon House is adjacent to New York University's Institute for Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Monday she will meet with her White House Committee on Painting and Fine Arts. The time and place in New York are still to be designated.

On Tuesday she will fly at 10:30 a.m. to Groton, Conn., to participate in launching of the nuclear submarine Lafayette, and will fly back to Washington late Tuesday afternoon.

The first family's children, Caroline, 4, and John Jr., 1 1/2, are to remain at Glen Ora under present plans.

President Kennedy is in Palm Beach, Fla. for a weekend rest after a swing through the South in which he delivered a speech on foreign economic policy at New Orleans and witnessed a demonstration of Air Force power at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—For a few cents less than $4 US, you can make a deal with a two-story bus to run down to Acapulco. Six hours south of here on the shores of the Pacific Ocean.

Not a real two-story bus. You climb in and walk past three rows of seats, then go upstairs which is a matter of three or four feet higher. I do not know what is underneath. Presumably it is motors, baggage and other items necessary for travel.

But this is the first class way to get down the highway if you do not feel like pushing pedals yourself or riding a flying machine. It is operated like an airplane except that it stays on the ground. When you pull out of the terminal, the hostess goes on the air with a cute little mike held close to her lips. You get the name of the pilot, co-pilot, hostess, where you are going and other pertinent facts.

We missed all this information except the name of the pilot, Mr. Sandoval. He banked around a corner during the broadcast and the hostess was busy spitting out the mike.

Anyhow, from the starting line here in Tenochtitlan, Mr. Sandoval piloted us safely up the mountains to something like 10,000 feet, then down the other side through the tall pine forests and down the twisting super-highway to the lush jungle country.

"Papa, how come everything looks so green?" This from the 10-year-old gentleman whose mammy sent him along to keep tabs on you know who.

"Why boy, for one thing, it is green. And for another thing, the windows of the bus are tinted green so the customers don't get a bad sunburn up here in the peninsula."

This was not the bus of olden times in Mexico. Where the driver was a real zoot man and kept the gas pedal on the floorboard and one fist on the horn. And Providence took care of things on curves. Otherwise, there wouldn't be 10 people in the country today.

The modern bus pilot moves his luxury liner along the trail at a sedate 50 mph and stays on the right side of the road. Not even a near miss is permitted.

The hostess came on the air to announce Cuernavaca's population and some miscellaneous data, also the arrival at Iguala. The halfway rest stop.

"Pop, how come these houses look green? And the people are green?"
 "Like I say, boy, these windows are tinted green to prevent glare and damage to travelers. And when you look through green glass, you see green. See?"
 From Iguala, the co-pilot took over. What a terrifying sight that was. He wore a 50-mission cap, a dangling cigarette and a look of avid determination. A real jet jockey, I thought, looking for seat belts. But not so. He pushed us at the same cautious 50 mph and politely slowed down for pedestrians, livestock and vehicles that crossed our path.
 Five hours and 45 minutes from Mexico City, we rumbled over the hill that slides down to Acapulco. Diamonds, rubies, sapphires and emeralds on fire scattered across the mountains surrounding the big bay. Tourists become very emotional at this sight and begin grabbing for the camera.

 "Say Pop, how come all the lights are green here?" With a very innocent 10-year-old look.
 "Lad, I will give you the true facts of life. Columbus was an Irishman. And in the year of 1066 when he founded Acapulco, he personally climbed every light pole in town and screwed in a green light bulb. This has been the law ever since."
 Oh, the look I got.
 "Listen, Papa, Columbus never got to Mexico. And it was the Battle of Hastings they fought in 1066. Besides, they didn't have electricity in those days." Another look. "Man, what a square you are."
 See what I mean? They not only come educated these days, they are cynics, too.

Young Bob Walker Takes To Acting

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The lunch-crowd in the MGM commissary stared at the tall, slender figure stride into the room.

None had to ask his name. It was Robert Walker.

The young man is 22, about the same age his father was at the start of his Hollywood career.

The first Robert Walker was a shy, bespectacled boy from Salt Lake City who found fame in a small but important role as a GI in the wartime film "Bataan." He followed with "See Here, Private Hargrove," "Till the Clouds Roll By," "The Clock," "Song of Love," "Strangers on a Train" and "My Son John."

Walker died in 1951 at 32. His son Bob was then 9, living with his mother, Jennifer Jones, who had become the wife of David O. Selznick.

Now William Perlberg and George Seaton, who starred Miss Jones in her Academy Award-winning "Song of Bernadette," have given young Walker his first screen role—as a GI in "The Hook."

I talked with Bob before he left for Catalina location with Kirk Douglas, Nick Adams and others of the cast. I told him I had known his father and he seemed appreciative. But when I asked what he remembered of his father he said, "I'd rather not talk about that."

Otherwise he was frank and open. He admitted his school career was less than a success.

"I got up to high school," he said. "I went to 14 or 15 different schools and didn't like any of them. I just didn't care about the subjects. I got along pretty well in English, but things like mathematics held no charm for me.

"I didn't do any acting in school. I wasn't the least bit interested in it."

That came only in the last year or two, he said.

"I was taking a course in playwriting in New York and I decided I should know something about the problems of acting."

He apprenticed in summer stock, played "Twelfth Night" in New York, "Bells Are Ringing" in Florida and a children's show on Broadway. He also studied with Lee Strasberg of Actors Studio fame.

"Once I started acting, I knew it was for me," Walker said.

Jayne's 'Divorce' Endures 21 Hours

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Love is bustin' out all over again on Sunset Boulevard.

Mickey loves Jayne. Jayne loves Mickey—and Stanley the golfer-hater hates Mickey.

Actress Jayne Mansfield proved Friday that divorces can be even briefer than marriages in Hollywood.

About 24 hours after she had filed a divorce suit in nearby Santa Monica she called a news conference by the heart-shaped pool in her backyard. There to Mickey-Hargarty, her Hungarian tarzan, she vowed: "Mickey, I'm your Jayne. I always loved you, darling, even while I was filing for divorce."

It was a day of romantic triumph for Jayne and Mickey. But for Stanley Berman, whose gate-crashing has allowed him to sit with presidents and Oscar winners, it was a day of humiliation.

He tried to beat Jayne at the game, she knows best—publicity and failed miserably.

As photographers urged Jayne to give Mickey a reconciliation kiss for the early editions, the eager Berman came out of left shrubbery and darted for center camera.

He never made it. Marcel Demeterel, the Hagedays' handyman, stopped him and asked for his press credentials.

Berman, nonplussed, could only mutter, "I don't have any."

In a matter of seconds, Marcel was hustling the Brooklyn cab driver past the heart-shaped swimming pool, the heart-shaped barbecue pit and onto the heartless street, shutting a pink gate behind him.

All the while this was taking place, Jayne was explaining why she filed for divorce in the first place.

"Well, Mickey and I had our first big fight," she said. "He didn't want to take the three children and four dogs to Italy while I make a picture, and I did."

"We compromised. We're taking the children, but only one dog."

TOP TV TONIGHT

By BUD EVANS

7:00 CBS "Ed Sullivan" puffs the dual spotlight on two leading exponents of popular music, Bobby Darin and Diahann Carroll. Other guests include comedienne Corbett Monica, accordionist Dick Contino, the amazing Mr. Ballantine, veteran vaudeville comedians Francis and Blair and adagio dancers The Valenou.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

1:00 NBC "Major League Baseball." Los Angeles Dodgers invade Forbes Field for a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

1:15 CBS "Game of the Week." The San Francisco Giants meet the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field.

3:30 NBC "Tournamant of Champions." This 90-minute color-cast covers the last four holes at the Desert Inn Country Club in Las Vegas. If the baseball game runs past 4:30, this golf classic will be joined in progress.

5:00 CBS "Twentieth Century" examines communications satellites, which will make possible instantaneous worldwide transmission of great cultural and news events on television.

6:30 NBC "Walt Disney" presents part two of "Treasure Island" in which the mischievous Long John Silver risks his life to take his prisoner for medical aid.

8:00 CBS "Electric Theatre." Despite his disappointment at being fired from his diplomatic job, a man is able to plunge fully into the problem of straightening out the personal affairs of his daughter and her husband. Lee J. Cobb stars with Kathleen Hughes and Flip Mark.

8:00 NBC "Bonanza." Adam Cartwright is waylaid by an escaped convict, forced to trade clothes, mistaken for the prisoner and nearly hanged by a posse.

James Coburn is guest star with Bing Russell in "The Lone Night."

8:30 CBS "Jack Benny" enters a slogan contest, then tries to sue the firm sponsoring it when his entry loses. Dennis Day, Mel Blanc, Elvia Allman and Frank Nelson are featured.

Paladin To Fade After Another Year

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Richard Boone and gun already are traveling into their sixth and—his says—final year on television.

Paladin fans needn't rush to protest. Not yet, anyway. "Have Gun, Will Travel" will be seen through the 1962-63 season.

Boone is in the curious situation of preparing a whole season's product before the first show goes on the air. The reason for this is his plan to star next fall in a Broadway play, "Sergeant Steiner." No relation to the Dr. Styrner he once played on "Medic."

"The urge to go back to the stage is inescapable," the mustache actor explained on Paramount's Western Street. "Motion pictures are a director's medium, without a doubt. It is only on the stage where an actor gains full control of what he is doing."

"So, I am going back. It's got to be for satisfaction as an actor; I can't be doing it for the money. The pay will be paltry compared to what I could earn in television."

Somehow money doesn't worry Boone. It shouldn't. He made a fabulous deal when he sold his Paladin rights to CBS.

"It's kind of nice to know that the bills will be paid for the next 20 years," he admitted.

The future of Paladin? "I think six years is enough," said Boone. "As far as I'm concerned, it is, and I should think that CBS would agree."

MM Misses First Week On New Job

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

The latest on Marilyn Monroe: She missed the first week of "Something's Got to Give" filming, reported for one day, then turned up sick again. There appears to be no panic at 20th-Fox about her indisposition—yet.

Unlike her other recent films, this one is not open-end. Co-star Dean Martin has a date for "Tops in the Afternoon" late summer, and he must be through, or else.

"Something's Got to Give" is the remake of "My Favorite Wife" (1940) with Monroe, Martin and Cyd Charisse playing the Irene Dunne, Cary Grant, and Gail Patrick roles.

Jayne Mansfield hasn't made a film on her home lot in five years. Her record still holds: with Fox lending her to Warners for "Panic Button" with Maurice Chevalier, Eleanor Parker and Akim Tamiroff. Jayne is taking her entire family for the Rome-Venice filming.

It's a role unlike any I've ever played before," said Jayne breathlessly. "I play an intellectual."

Winding up "Days of Wine and Roses," Jack Lemmon planned to take his 7-year-old Chris fishing in Balboa and world's fair-seeing in Seattle. Jack expects to be free until he does "Irma La Douce" in Paris in August.

"Dangerous Silence" has been postponed. There wasn't time to do it before "Irma."

Real-Life Incident Offers Drama That Tops Many Films

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—You know how they do these television police shows—the camera showing the action and the urgent voice of the unseen narrator explaining what's going on.

Herewith, then, a personal dramatized account of a real-life, disillusioning incident.

The setting is a newspaper office, full of cluttered desks and coffee containers, clattering typewriters and reporters rushing in crying "scoop!" Theme music comes up and over, rising to a crescendo.

Narrator: The meet was set by a third party. A contact—say from a coin booth, of course—said that Sgt. Steve Carella of the 87th Precinct had gone on the tightrope and had something to tell me.

Carella, the smartest, toughest, bravest cop in the precinct. Undercover! This was news—and I wanted the story.

My name is Lowry. I'm a pusher pencil.

We set the meet: 9:30 the next morning in a good place, a restaurant called Schrafft's on 51st between Fifth and Sixth. My contact said Carella was using his real name Robert Lansing and had taken an acting job in NBC's May 29 war drama "A Sound of Hunting." Sounded like a good cover.

At 9:30 on the dot I walked into the restaurant, cleverly disguised as a lady shopper. I sat down at a corner table and ordered coffee, black. My contact arrived, nervous. To allay suspicion we sal-dered breakfast—fruit juice, pancakes, sausages. Our eyes never left the door. No Carella. The minutes ticked away.

By 9:45 it was certain—something had happened. The contact made some telephone calls. Carella had left his hotel. By 10 we were sure Carella was not going to show. Why? Had he decided not to talk? Had someone else decided he was not to talk?

We left and separated swiftly. I went back to the office—to wait.

What had happened? After all Carella had never failed to break a case.

The call came at 10:30. It was Carella—he called himself Lansing, of course.

"I couldn't find it," he said. "The restaurant. I was there at the corner of 51st and Sixth but I couldn't find Schrafft's. And it was drizzling too. Later I noticed the note said it was between Fifth and Sixth. So maybe we can set up something again."

Solon Urges A Delay On Tax Revision

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank Carlson, Republican, Saturday he would like to see the Senate decline to take any action this year on President Kennedy's tax revision bill.

"And I don't think I will be alone in that view," said Carlson, second Republican in seniority on the Senate Finance Committee, which now is considering the bill.

But Carlson conceded in an interview that his wish probably will not come to pass. "No doubt the administration will insist that our committee do something out," he said.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D. Va., of the committee told a reporter he hopes to call the group together in about 10 days to start its executive session work on the bill.

But he said it appears there might be some Republican opposition to such a schedule.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior committee Republican, raised the possibility that the GOP side of the committee might try to develop a split in the Kennedy administration over one of the tax bill's controversial provisions. This would impose levies on un-repatriated income of foreign subsidiaries of U.S. corporations. Foes of the section have argued it would discourage U.S. investment abroad.

Williams said consideration is being given to a request for testimony from the State and Commerce departments on this point. "We keep hearing privately from witnesses that State and Commerce oppose the Treasury on this provision," he explained.

The Senate committee completed five weeks of testimony by industry witnesses on the House-passed bill Friday. More than 200 were heard, and practically all assailed at least one of the measure's sections.

As for the chief money-raising feature of the bill, a tax withholding plan on dividend and interest income, Carlson said he doubts there are votes in the committee to keep that in the bill as it stands now.

Wounds Of Price Wars Hurt Profits

By JACK LEFLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Wounds suffered in long, widespread gasoline price wars have taken their toll in oil companies' first quarter profits.

Most oil concerns didn't do as well as a year ago in a period when firms in other industries generally showed improved earnings from the recession-stimulated 1961 first quarter.

Oil executives blamed depressed prices for their products, particularly gasoline. Even the few companies who posted profit gains over a year earlier complained of prices near a 10-year low.

Many of the price wars were set off by introduction of lower priced gasoline below the regular octane grade. This new product found quick favor with drivers of compact cars, whose vehicles don't need a high-powered fuel, and with motorists who were concerned more with economy than performance.

When the low-grade gasoline was introduced in a marketing area, other dealers met the price and the battle was on. A spokesman for one company said it had sold gasoline in St. Louis, for example, at 7.5 cents a gallon wholesale. That was 3 cents a gallon below the level needed for a profit.

"When you are selling hundreds of thousands of barrels a day, it gets serious," he said. First of the companies to introduce the lower grade gasoline was Gulf Oil Co. with its Gulfline. Sun Oil Co. joined with Sunoco Blue and Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky came into the market with Economy Crown.

The Federal Trade Commission began an investigation of Gulf-tane's effect on competition. Over-supply of petroleum products also has been a factor in driving profit margins down.

But now the oil industry is seeing an improvement in prices and demand and looks for a better earnings showing the rest of the year. Gulf reported that despite an increase in sales its first quarter earnings declined to $50,224,000, equal to 77 cents a share, from $95,315,000, or 92 cents a share, in the 1961 first quarter.

SECTION B

ATTEND "THE FAIR"

Snyder High School will present to the public a Fair and Open House, next Tuesday evening, May 8th. The doors will open at 5:30 and remain open until nine o'clock. There will be no charge for admission.

The Fair was an outgrowth of many projects in various departments. It was decided by the faculty that instead of having a number of small displays it would be more interesting to present all projects at one time, so that the public could get a more comprehensive view of the work of the entire high school.

The Student Council and Future Teachers' Club will act as guides. As you enter the front of the building you will be met by a student who will present to you a brochure, giving information about all departments.

As you tour the building, you will see displays of students' work, some of the newest teaching aids, various projects that are completed, and demonstrations by students and teachers.

A style show and musical program will be presented in the auditorium at 7:30. There is no admission charge for this program.

A feature of the "Fair" will be displays from Webb Air Base. There will be an actual cut-away of the new T-38 jet engine, pressurized suits, etc.

Other departments represented will be mathematics, English, history, science, art, homemaking, industrial arts, physical education, a livestock show by the future farmers, displays by the industrial cooperative training and distributive education clubs.

The tour through all the projects will take approximately one hour. The style show and musical program will be from 7:30 until 8:30.

CHECK PRESENTED—The Scurry County Boys' Club was the recipient of a check for $300 this week. Pictured from left, Mrs. Elmer Muhlbach, president of the Acacia Study Club and Mrs. J. D. Hinton, treasurer make the presentation to Bob Womack, president of board of Boys' Club. At right Herb Barnett, executive director of the Boys' Club, looks on. The Acacia Club realized the money from the "Pink Parasol Ball" held recently. They have a major project each year for the benefit of the Boys' Club and have contributed considerable funds in the past years.

Lucky 13 Club Holds Annual 'Getting To Know You' Fete

The Lucky 13 Sports Club held its annual "Getting To Know You" party recently in the home of Mrs. Minnie Falls.

The club hosted 55 girls from Travis and Lamar Junior High Schools. Refreshments for the gala affair were cookies, dips, Fritos, potato chips, and Cokes.

The present Lucky 13 members entertained their guests with a skit portraying all of the club activities throughout the year. Jan Vestal, president, narrator, started with April and the "Getting To Know You" party. In honor of the senior members, the other club members give them a party during May. It is followed by a slumber party, where all senior members are given graduation gifts. Lynnda Bradley and Lyn Holt were big and little sisters looking back over memories of the past year.

Throughout the year the Lucky 13 Club sponsors the "Story Book Hour" each Saturday morning from 10 to 11. Sandra Briner and Lynelle Burns were entertaining Laurie Robertson, who is four years old.

During June the new club pledges charitable work to meet club requirements. In July a rodeo float is built. Terry Alexander and Judy Buchanan were seen building another first prize float.

During August the club holds its annual "Rush Parties". The first rush party, a Coke party, was represented by Sally Wade. A costume party followed. Mary Brice was a "black widow" and Janice Fowler was a "tomato". Diana Ator represented the formal tea and Dana Falls was a "Flapper" girl from the roaring 20's in the last rush party of the season.

In September the old big sisters and dates are honored with a progressive dinner by the new big sisters and their dates. Jean Young, and Betty Boren seemed to be lost as they tried to find the way to the next house on the menu.

Mary Clara Peebles, Carol Ann Young and Melody White, who sang "Getting To Know You" were making-believe they were on a hayride, given in October. At Christmas and Thanksgiving, the Lucky 13 girls take the responsibility of giving a family food to make their holidays brighter. At Christmas the club also works with the Goodfellows.

December is also a very festive time of the year. Judy Richardson and Becky Beaty were in their Christmas dresses ready for the annual dance and especially for the good food served at the dinner following. All ex-Lucky 13 members are honored with a tea each year during this holiday season.

January is a very busy month for the club is usually making money for the next affair. Mary Peebles and Carol Young had set up a bake sale.

The month of February is the highlight of the social activities of the year with the annual Valentine or Sweetheart dance. Susan Rich, apison and Nina Proctor were in formal wear waiting to attend this glamorous affair. Like February, March also has a very special meaning. Each year the Lucky 13 celebrates its birthday with a St. Patrick's day dinner. Donna Shearer was a leprechaun who told of how active the club has been since it organized in 1929.

Saturday April 28th, the club had a yard party in Jan Vestal's backyard. There was dancing and yard games, which offered an exciting evening. Club members and dates enjoyed the casual affair.

JUNE WEDDING PLANS—Mr. and Mrs. Horace Eugene Crumley of San Marcos, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Hilda Bea, to William Adam Pottsavich of Hondo, son of Mrs. Evelyn Pottsavich of Methuen, Mass. A June 8th wedding is planned. Both are senior students at Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos. Miss Crumley is the granddaughter of Mrs. Bessie Ramage and Mrs. A. A. Crumley of Snyder.

An obi bow at the back waistline accented the beffiant chapel train, adorned near the hemline with a spray of lace. A dainty crown of pearls and crystals held her elbow length veil of English silk illusion. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a bridal bouquet of calla lilies.

Concerning Bath

If you're planning to modernize a bathroom it's a good idea to install two shower heads—one set six feet from the floor, the other four. The lower one will allow you to preserve hair-dos and is handier for young children. Check the supply of hot water in your home. If your old water heater is working too hard, consider adding a unit or replacing the old one with a modern, more efficient model.

A report on the THDA meeting was given by Mrs. Swint, who attended in Colorado City on April 28. Mrs. Sam Houston, Mrs. Oscar Hooper, Mrs. J. G. Randle and Mrs. Henderson accompanied her. Each member brought something she had made for the Craft Day, held Friday at Towle barn. After the business session recreation was directed by Mrs. Connie Culp. Miss Butts received the hostess gift. Refreshments of chicken salad, beet pickles, pecan pie, coffee and Cokes were served to the above mentioned and Mrs. Frank Nachlinger, Mrs. Nell Mason, Mrs. Helen Wadleigh and visitors, Jerry Robertson, Geemita Robbins and Nancy Campbell. Geemita Robbins and Nancy Campbell, members of the Hermleigh 4-H Club gave a demonstration in the district contest in Lubbock on May 5. Jerry Robertson had trained the girls for this demonstration. He is electrical adviser for The Midwest Electric Co-operative of Roby.

The easy way to clean an electric blender is to add a little water and detergent to the container and blend, then rinse a couple of times and drain.

Warm that lettuce salad to taste every night? Add to quick slice strips of cheese and toss with dressing, then sprinkle crumbled crisp cooked bacon over the top.

38 Snyder Piano Students To Attend Auditions In Abilene

Piano pupils from the class of Mrs. Lynn Bethel, 3773 Sunset, Snyder, have registered as candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers of which their teacher is a member.

This group of young piano hobbyists will play in the National Piano Playing auditions, 106 section and strive for pledges, local, district, state, national or even international honors which the mother organization will confer according to the number of standard classic, romantic and modern pieces chosen from the masters of pianoforte literature.

The student can credibly perform in the presence of an imported examiner of note from another state.

Auditions will be held in Abilene on May 15-16th.

From coast to coast over 60,000 enthusiastic piano pupils of the nation will participate in this annual national piano-playing event being held in 600 music centers of the country and every entrant worth his salt will be certificated, given a gold or bronze embossed pin, a year's membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyists of the World.

Began at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, in 1929, national headquarters are still maintained in Austin.

Names of the local entrants, pupils of Mrs. Bethel and Rita Hanback are:

Annual May Breakfast Held Tuesday

The Twentieth-Century Club held their annual May breakfast, Tuesday morning at the Martha Ann Woman's Club, with 14 members present.

The patio was arrayed with lovely spring flowers. Miniature, floating rosebuds centered the individual tables, making a cheerful setting for the hearty breakfast.

Mrs. I. T. Huckabee gave the opening prayer.

Serving as hostesses for the annual get-together was the hospitality committee, Mrs. Dale Clemmer, Mrs. B. J. Bartels, and Mrs. Fred L. Bealy.

Immediately following the breakfast a humorous skit was presented by the hostesses.

"Mother Has Bubble Trouble", a skit showing how a housewife reacts to the numerous TV commercials concerning the many new soaps and detergents available. The opening scene shows Mother standing at her kitchen sink doing the breakfast dishes, when not only voices, but cans and bottles of detergent pop up before her very eyes. Bartering for mother's approval were such "modern miracles" as Estacy, G-L-O-P, Sudso, Poas, Greater Grit, and Gorjus. The characters were Mother, Alice Bealy, voices, Helen Clemmer and Lois Bartels.

Mrs. John Hamblen, president, presided during the business meeting. Plans for the annual Grandmother's Tea were completed. Letters were read from the General Federation of Women's Clubs president, Mrs. Lee O'Brien, concerning the WAIF program for the orphaned children of other lands and the pending legislation for Rosa May Kennedy Music Award her sophomore year and was president of the Music Club.

While at Baylor she auditioned and played as guest soloist with Baylor Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Bethel is a member of Phi Beta Mu Music Sorority and the Snyder Musical Cotillion Club. She taught previously in the Snyder Public Schools as music teacher.

A letter of appreciation was read from the Big Spring State Hospital for the generous amount of cash sent by the Twentieth Century Club for canteen books. The canteen books were given to patients who have no one to look after their needs. These books will enable them to purchase small articles from the canteen.

Mrs. T. J. McKinnon, civic chairman, expressed her thanks to the Twentieth Century Club members who participated in the legal Cancer Drive.

The next meeting of the Twentieth Century Club will be May 15, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club, when they will host the annual Grandmother's Tea.

PROOF OF AN OLD PROVERB

President's Father Enters Competitive Type Therapy

By JOHN BARBOUR
NEW YORK (AP) — In the shadow of hospital buildings on Manhattan's East Side is a small, ranch-type home called Horizon House.

Its prime resident is a 73-year-old man who suffered a stroke in December. He is the father of the President of the United States.

From the windows of Horizon House, the horizon is a small sweep of green lawn and the hospital greenhouse filled with flowers.

But the personal horizon for Joseph P. Kennedy and his fellow patients is far more severe and challenging.

It is a time of trial, practice and frustration to recapture abilities of speech and muscle movement, torn away in one frightening moment by a mishap in a blood vessel of the brain.

Perhaps two million Americans have suffered from what is roughly called a stroke.

President Eisenhower suffered a mild stroke in office, was left with a mild but passing speech difficulty, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill also had a mild and transient speech problem after a stroke.

Another, more lethal type of stroke killed President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There are essentially two kinds of stroke. One is a blockage of blood to a part of the brain, damaging or killing brain tissue which need a constant supply of oxygen carried by the blood. The stoppage may come from a blood clot, or a spasm of a blood vessel, or more rarely from the pressure of a tumor on a blood vessel.

A second, more lethal type of stroke is the rupture of a blood vessel in the brain, a hemorrhage or flooding of brain tissues with blood.

Less than five months after his stroke, the elder Kennedy is reading newspapers, watching television and talking on the telephone, although with some difficulty. He has a semi-paralysis of one side of his body—but he can walk with assistance.

At New York University's Institute for Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, adjacent to Horizon House, the elder Kennedy goes to school. Many of his 20-odd classmates are worse off than he is, some have progressed further, been at it longer.

The atmosphere is competitive—with the patient competing not only with himself, but with his classmates. The aim is motivation and hope, something the patient can learn only from his own success and from his fellow patients.

The toll of strokes is a wide one. Patients may be only mildly hurt, or they may be reduced to paralyzed, speechless, vacant people by more extensive damage to the brain.

A stroke usually hits one side of the brain, generally the left side, striking the opposite side of the body with paralysis. Damage to one small sector of the brain—no bigger than the end of a finger—can impair the ability to speak.

In some cases, as with President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill, normal speech is recovered. But very few stroke victims are as fortunate. Near normal, useful speech is the goal.

With a man of fluency, the elder Kennedy, once U.S. ambassador to Great Britain, only time can tell.

Some stroke victims lose not only the ability to speak, but the ability to understand. This is not so with the President's father, hospital spokesmen say.

Paralysis—from damage to motor-controlling parts of the brain—is potentially dangerous. Muscles, unable to move and exercise, could wither. Therapists exercise them, moving them in many directions. Later the patient can exercise himself.

Fatigue comes easily to the stroke victims. In the beginning, training periods are short.

Some victims have a short attention span. Some may be more irritable. Some tend to laugh or cry more than usual. But the laughing or crying may not mean happiness or sadness. It is a reflex, coming when the injured part of the brain is swollen and healing.

At the institute, under the direction of Dr. Howard Rusk, the President's father is in the hands of a vast staff, world-famed in its techniques and successes in rehabilitation.

In one group of 3,000 selected stroke cases, they have returned 87 per cent to daily living, 37 per cent to some kind of gainful occupation.

There is a staff of consultants and staff physicians to care for the patient's general health, and guard him against future strokes. Above this is the trained staff of doctors, nurses, therapists and social workers to guide the patient toward fuller use of his capabilities.

It was to the institute and the personal care of Dr. Rusk that Brooklyn Dodger catcher Roy Campanella came after suffering a broken neck and complete paralysis in an auto accident. Campanella fought back from his bed, is now in a wheelchair, managing his liquor store and properties.

As he goes to his training rooms in the institute, the President's father can see the legless, the armless, the paralyzed, the familiar paraphernalia of artificial limbs and braces, the human residue of disease, accidents and disasters.

Perhaps he feels, as does the casual visitor to the institute, that he must be careful where he looks, and so he stares hard at the descending numbers of the elevator, lest he hurt the feelings of a legless girl in a wheelchair by his own curiosity.

For here, in the institute corridors, it is somehow embarrassing to have two arms and two legs. Yet from these same people—from the high school athlete fighting paralysis, from the armless child—he will possibly sense a common philosophy.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW

Rev. R. Charles Spivey
"They went out and got into the boat; but that night they caught nothing."

John 21:3 (read verses 1-14)

The disciples had gone fishing. They had gotten tired of waiting for the Lord to appear. They felt they ought to be out doing something so they went fishing. They fished all night, but they caught nothing. They were about to give up hope. Fishing was no good all-day work. The next day if they didn't soon catch fish their outing would have been for naught. And if it hadn't been for the sudden appearance of Jesus to tell them where and how to catch the fish, they would have gone home empty handed. This story only goes to point up very strongly the saying, "Without God you can do nothing, but with Him all things are possible." The disciples had just about given up hope of catching fish. They were thrown into the pelt of having to be dependent on someone outside themselves, which is the way God would have us. When they trusted in Him, then, and only then did they receive the great catch of fish—and it was larger than they had even dreamed of.

Trust in Him. Throw yourself upon His mercy. Be dependent upon Him for everything. He is gracious and good. He will not fail.

Junior Editors Quiz on CIRCUSES

QUESTION: Where did circuses originate?

ANSWER: Circuses started in ancient Rome. The famous Circus Maximus, built in the 3rd century B.C., was the first real circus. There were daily shows of gladiators and chariot races, and performances were usually extremely bloody affairs. After Rome fell, wandering minstrels and jugglers kept the circus arts alive. They traveled across the Continent, stopping in little towns and at fairs, setting up a platform and performing for coins tossed by their enthusiastic audiences. The first modern circus was organized near London. Philip Astley, a successful adventurer, brought some of the former wandering performers together in 1768. His circus featured acrobats, clowns, trick horseback riders, ropewalkers, and actors. From that time on, circuses were pretty well established. The most famous man, perhaps, in circus history was P. T. Barnum, one-half of the great Barnum and Bailey circus. Circus performers today usually have a long and great family tradition behind them. Certain famous families, such as the Wallendas, and the Alzanos, have been masters of their art for generations and probably will continue passing down the art for generations to come.

FOR YOU TO DO: Did you ever organize a neighborhood circus? Almost anyone has one act he can do well. Perhaps someone can do acrobatics, and another person can walk across a low clothesline. Paint your props brightly. One or two people can be clowns.

(Carl Nell of Marand, Ill. won $10 for this question. Send your questions on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper.)

Nurses To Be Honored This Week

The Governor of Texas has proclaimed May 7 through 13 Texas Nurses Week.

According to Marian Dean R.N. of Abilene, publicity chairman of District 15, announces that special recognition should be given during this special date.

It is indeed a pleasure for the people of Scurry County to give special recognition to the registered nurses of our area and commend them for their contribution to our community.

Most of us are inclined to take for granted the good nursing care received when it is needed. When we need a nurse, we need the very best. Therefore, we need to pursue our busy whirl of everyday activities and tasks of our nurses.

Today we are acutely aware that the practice of nursing has changed a great deal in the past few years. Many of us remember when nursing consisted of little more than an elaborate system of cosmetic services. Today, it is a profession that the discoveries have transformed into a highly skilled part of the medical team. The registered nurse now teaches health care when you are well; she sees that we have nursing care when we are ill.

We are glad to have this opportunity to thank our nurses for the valuable services they perform and to extend them our wishes for a most successful week.

Parboil green peppers before stuffing, then bake them in a moderate oven. Cover the stuffing with buttered crumbs.

Count on using one medium onion for each serving when you are French-frying onion rings.

Cook bacon at a low temperature so the fat remains white. Such bacon drippings are flavorful when used on cooked vegetables.

Why Study Latin?

By BOBBY L. TAYLOR

In the United States there are 700,000 high school students enrolled in Latin. While each one of these students obviously knows his goal, eagerly participates in his studies, and thoroughly enjoys his rewards, a few skeptics wonder if the Latin student wastes his energy. To these critics Latin is a mysterious language for the intellectuals. Often the doubters proclaim, "Face reality. Latin is difficult to master; yet one seldom reads, rarely writes, and never speaks the language. Why study Latin?"

Some students take Latin as a preparatory course for professional training. As a source for symbolic terminology, lexicology, Latin is king. One can not name a profession or technical field that does not benefit from the rich vocabulary of the language. These fields include law, medicine, nursing, religion, pharmaceuticals, physics, biology, geology, agriculture, chemistry, engineering, and miscellany.

As an illustration, the knee cap, a dish-like cartilage, is called the patella because the Latin word means dish or pan. The knife-shaped bone in the chest is called the sternum, and the word means knife in Latin. The clavicle, the key-shaped collar bone, receives its name from clavis which means key.

Pharmacists, nurses, and doctors use instructional abbreviations and words from Latin such as "bid" for "bis in die" (twice in a day), "a.c." for ante cibum (before meals), and "m. et n." for mane et nocte (in the morning and at night). Diseases, symptoms, and treatments are also forms of Latin or Latin-Greek words.

The legal profession uses Latin to describe legal situations and rules of law. Some examples of Latin in law are et alii (and others), et uxoris (and wife), nolo contendere (I do not wish to contend), and frans et celare frandem (to hide a fraud). Since some religions use a Latin translation of the Bible, the Vulgate edition (vulgus, people), Latin is church music, and Latin prayers; a study of the language is indispensable to the clergy. Even the National Aeronautics and Space Administration uses Latin words for its terminology. The word astronaut, for example, is a compound of two Latin words: astro, space, and nauta (sailor). Astronaut, therefore, means sailor of the stars. The astronaut will be carried to the moon in a two man Gemini capsule. Gemini means twins in Latin.

The study of Latin as an English vocabulary builder ranks far ahead of other languages or methods. A recent investigation of the English vocabulary proves that over 66 per cent of the words come from Latin. For instance, the Latin word facio (to make) with various prefixes and suffixes creates 209 English words. Capio (to take) creates 107 English words. Stare (to give) creates 148 English words. Count the words derived from Latin in the Preamble of the Constitution. The Latin words are: "We, the PEOPLE of the UNITED STATES, IN ORDER TO FORM a more PERFECT UNION, ESTABLISH JUSTICE, INSURE DOMESTIC TRANQUIL-

LITY, PROVIDE for the COMMON DEFENSE, PROMOTE the GENERAL Welfare, SECURE the blessings of LIBERTY to ourselves and our POSTERITY, DO ORDAIN and ESTABLISH this CONSTITUTION for the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

Latin has a precise grammatical structure. One does not abuse English grammatical constructions and use Latin effectively at the same time. For example, the spelling and pronunciation of each word is definite. The words' grammatical function in a sentence. Therefore, a student must analyze both the English and Latin grammatical constructions if he translates correctly.

A knowledge of Latin aids in the study of other languages. French, Portuguese, Italian, Romanian, Spanish, and other cognate languages share the same Latin structure and vocabulary. Compare the Latin word pecunia (money) with the Spanish pecunia, the French, the Portuguese, and the Italian pecunia. Notice, that English also has pecunia in the word pecuniary. Also compare the Latin word deponere (to place) with the Spanish deponer, the French deposer, and the Italian depositare. The English word deposit comes from the same word. Ninety percent of all words in the romance languages come from Latin. Consequently, many Latinists are able to translate these languages with little formal training.

Latin is the language of the dead; yet, it is not dead. This unique factor makes the language valuable to the living since the course of history has been recorded for centuries by Roman writers. The works of Cicero, Caesar, Ovid, and Virgil are not assigned as merely reading assignments. These authors are the best ancient writers, historians, and philosophers. Scan the headlines of newspapers, the covers of magazines, and even the records of Congress to see the influence of these writers on the modern world. One sees these headlines with historical references daily: Castro Likes the Midas Touch; U. S. Keeps Argus Eye on Cuba; New Governor Clears Asian States. While the skeptics look for these words in dictionaries and world books, the Latinist reads the details.

Latin is not dead orally. Hospitals, law offices, laboratories, and classrooms echo the Roman tongue daily. The Romance languages utilize many basic sounds and rules of accent found in the ancient language. The need for correct pronunciation in any profession is obvious. Therefore, many Latin teachers are now using modern foreign language laboratories to increase the proficiency of students in this area.

The Latinist does not claim to be fluent in all languages, to know principles of physics, to understand all English grammar, to know every human bone, or even to know every Latin word. The Latinist does claim, however, that his language facilitates learning, offers an exciting and unlimited challenge, and prepares one for almost any position in life.

Farmers In Many Areas Of Texas Still Needing Rain

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — High winds and damaging hail. The benefits greatly exceeded the damages, Hutchison said. The continuing rains are causing grass and weed problems in crops in the wetter sections but pastures and ranges are coming back strong and livestock are improving in condition, Hutchison said.

The rains were widespread, but varied from light showers to heavy deluges which in some instances were accompanied by to five inches of rains and crops and pastures will materially benefit. Other counties of the district still need moisture. Squash, green beans, potatoes, onions, carrots and cabbage were harvested in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Screwworm cases are increasing.

Good rains fell in all counties in South Central Texas. Ranges and crops are making good growth and livestock are in good condition. Some insect damage to cotton has been reported.

Before the rains, farmers in the upper Gulf Coast area were busy plowing crops to control grass. Most field work was stopped by rain. Cotton, cotton grain sorghum and rice are looking good and are growing rapidly. Pastures and livestock, as well as vegetables and home gardens, are also making real improvement, he noted. Watermelons are beginning to vine, he said.

Moisture ranges from surplus to short in East Texas. Most of the corn is planted; about half of the cotton seeded; pastures were average and livestock were in good condition.

U. N. Experiment In Congo Has 'Good And Bad' Sides

By WILTON WYNN
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The phenomenon was observed in Oriental Province. A U.N. transport expert arrived to help put trucks and other vehicles into usable shape. Truck drivers were so happy to get this special attention that many damaged good vehicles so the U.N. expert could repair them.

This episode illustrates both the good and the bad side of the U.N. experiment in the Congo.

Unpleasant Rainy Season Set For Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—New American military equipment is expected to give Communist guerrillas the most unpleasant rainy season they have ever weathered in South Viet Nam.

Within a week or so, torrential rains will begin drenching the rice fields, swamps and alluvial plains of the southern third of the little republic.

On the one hand, the United Nations has a chance to demonstrate its effectiveness to the African people. On the other, some Congolese tend to rely so heavily on the United Nations that they are slow to solve their own problems.

The result is that the U.N. mission here is much like the man riding a tiger. It's a great ride, but how can he safely dismount?

U.N. officials speak of tapering off aid next year, but the fact is that the end is not in sight. In nearly 17 years of life, the United Nations never has spent so much money in one country as in the Congo, and it seems likely that it will have to go on spending indefinitely. The total cost of military and civilian operations runs about $136 million yearly.

It is possible for many big agricultural plantations to begin producing again.

The big economic problem remains that of technical skills, the problem of getting the country's transport, communication, administration, health and educational programs going again, to fill the vacuum left when Belgian technicians departed en masse.

Under the direction of Tunisian Mahmud Khairi, the United Nations has imported 1,900 experts from many fields.

Wilton Wynn has spent most of the last 15 years as a correspondent in the Middle East and Africa. His home is in Louisiana.

Say Witness Is Located

DALLAS (AP)—A witness willing to discuss key information on Billie Sol Estes' relations with the Agriculture Department has been located, the Dallas Morning News said today in a copyrighted story.

He is N. Battle Hales, 48, a quarter-century veteran of the department, who as far back as last fall recommended that the Estes case be referred to the Justice Department, the News said.

Subsequently, he was barred from his office and shifted to another job, the News' story by Robert E. Baskin said.

Hales was a staff assistant in the office of Emory E. Jacobs, deputy administrator of the Agriculture Department, the News said.

Estes is under federal indictment for allegedly transporting fraudulent chattel mortgages across state lines.

According to the story, he was overruled by superiors after he proposed stiff action against Estes for the manner in which cotton acreage allotments were transferred to the Pecos area.

Estes is under federal indictment for allegedly transporting fraudulent chattel mortgages across state lines.

Halfback Cecil Young of Illinois led the Big Ten in kickoff returns last season with 10. He averaged 30.2 yards.

The American Bowling Congress has more than four million members.

Group operations by both the Communists and government forces will wallow in mud during the six-month season.

But government forces will have two new tools enabling them to stay mobile—helicopters and shallow-draft boats.

U.S. military advisers feel this will mean a series of setbacks for the Communists.

Small boats made partly of fiberglass and capable of carrying a squad of armed men have begun arriving in quantity.

Some Vietnamese officials feel the Viet Cong is likely to step up its operations in the North, where a relatively short rainy season does not begin until September.

On the economic front, U.N. officials say the first signs of order are beginning to emerge.

U.N. assistance has enabled the government at last to draw up a budget and to establish an auditing bureau. The acute income supply problem is being eased with the arrival of $13 million worth of American aid, ranging from spare parts to brewery supplies. U.N. protection has made

However, the greatest population concentration, both for the Viet Cong and the rest of the people, is in the fertile South.

U.S. Army and Marine Corps units now in South Viet Nam pilot and service more than 90 helicopters, each capable of carrying about 12 troops. The Vietnamese air force also has a force of helicopters, its strength secret.

Poetic Will Leaves Estate To Widow

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)— Eugene B. Tankersly, who died April 4 at the age of 45, left this will which was accepted for probate Thursday.

"All my earthly goods I have in store I leave to my dear wife, forevermore.

Freely I give, no limits do I fix. This is my will, she is the executrix."
