Amazing Tales Of Rescues During Night Of Horror Aboard Blazing Ship Are Revealed

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, July 30. — All but four of the 98 passengers and crew driven by flames from the liner City of Baltimore in a night of horror on Chesapeake bay reached land today with tales of amazing rescues.

Of the four not counted among the survivors, two were known dead and two unaccounted for.

The dead: J. R. Polikoff, an Aiken, S. C., lawyer.

An unidentified member of the crew.

The missing:

R. Paige, a passenger, address unknown.

Cy Haynie, an oiler.

Three navy seaplanes began an aerial search of the bay shortly after dawn seeking bodies of possible victims.

The liner, en route to Norfolk, became a floating furnace 14 miles below Baltimore.

Flames, passengers said, roared from the lower holds and within three minutes after the first alarm had enveloped two-thirds of the boat.

The passengers, most of whom were at dinner, scurried to the rails, many still clutching their napkins. Others tumbled from staterooms. The crew surged up from the hold.

Two miles away, resort-residents—who had been sitting on their lawns a moment before talking about the mildness of the night—rushed down to the water's edge aghast at the horror before them.

Boats put out from the beaches. Fishing craft near the liner hurried towards her.

With the fire licking up the deck, the passengers, joined by the crew, huddled towards the bow.

Screams could be heard ashore above the roar of the flames. Passengers begged for help as those in the smaller boats were driven back by the fierce heat.

An unidentified man picked up a rope, tied one end to the railing and pitched the other overboard. The flames swirled closer. Some grasped the rope and slid down to the water.

Mrs. William Klecka, wife of United States Marshal August Klecka, of Bayside, who first notified authorities of the disaster, said lifeboats were not lowered from the burning vessel until 15 minutes after the fire

Italy Pledges Full Respect For Britain

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 30. — Parliament adjourned for the summer recess today, after a notable session that saw Britain change kings and plunge into the world armament race.

Throughout the session parliament and government faced a constant threat of war, endeavoring to keep the Spanish civil conflict from spreading to the rest of Europe.

Big Program Approved

It approved a five-year $7,500,000,000 armament program and dealt with the constitutional crisis created by the abdication of former King Edward VIII.

Adjournment followed the reassuring disclosure by Viscount Cranborne, under-secretary for foreign affairs, that Italy had renewed her pledge to Great Britain to respect the territorial integrity of civil war-torn Spain.

Lord Cranborne's statement was made during a final debate before the summer recess on the joint question of Anglo-Italian relations in the Mediterranean and the opposite plans sponsored by the two countries to achieve non-intervention in the Spanish conflict.

Consider Latest Plan

Even as the debate waxed in commons, members of the non-intervention subcommittee gathered for consideration of the latest British plan to keep hands off Spain—a plan observers feared might be wrecked on persistent Russian refusal to grant belligerent rights to Spanish insurgents under any circumstances.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden bluntly rejected a demand by Clement R. Attlee, leader of the labor opposition, that parliament be reconvened if the question arose of granting the Spanish insurgents belligerent rights.

No Change Expected

He added, however, that the government foresaw "no revolutionary change in policy" and that he, personally, doubted that the Spanish situation would undergo any sudden change.

Attlee said the policy of non-intervention had "definitely broken down." He proposed that the whole Spanish question be placed in the hands of the League of Nations.

In conclusion, Attlee said "it looks like war" in the far east, and placed the blame on Japanese troops. Here again, he said, the League of Nations should take up the problem.

No Celebration For Ford As He Reaches 74th Birthday

As usual, there was no birthday celebration for Ford today.

Shrinking Man Now Is Having Time Of His Life; Once He Thought He Was A "Goner"

(By The Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30 — Hans Nelson, who shrank ten inches in height in five years, today credited a gland operation with saving his life and putting him "on top of the world."

He's gaining strength, he said, eating "anything," taking automobile trips and enjoying life. He's pleased also to know his case has aided others so afflicted.

Two years ago surgeons removed half of his parathyroid glands in an effort to stop the de-calcification of his bones that reduced his stature. He had been shrinking for 15 years.

Nelson still is five feet tall, but said he was growing stronger "every day" and looking forward to the time when he will be even more active.

"As far as my life was concerned," Nelson said of his operation, "I figured I was gone. I made a try though, and I'm glad of it. This has been the most wonderful summer since I have been sick."

Off his earlier calcium diet, Nelson now eats regular meals. Dr. Richard Johnson of University of Minnesota hospital, who handled the case, insists on a quart of milk a day and lots of vitamins A and D to promote bone growth.

Dr. Johnson said he was convinced Nelson's case was an ex-

Gun Turned On Banker After Man Overdraws

(By The Associated Press)

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 30 — County Attorney A. Camp Bonds said today that J. C. Fast, jr., 32, admitted a Colorado vacation in which he had overdrawn his bank account between $200 and $300 led to the fatal shooting of L. W. McLean, banker and civic leader.

Bonds reported Fast said he shot McLean when the banker refused to make good the checks Fast, automobile dealer and member of a prominent Muskogee family, had written while in the west. Bonds said Fast had confessed the shooting and a formal charge would be placed against him today.

Shot At His Desk

McLean, 40, was shot yesterday as he sat at his desk in the Commercial National bank. A fellow officer of the bank and a customer tackled Fast as he started to leave and pinned him to the floor.

Fast admitted he had been drinking, Bonds said.

The Fast and McLean families are neighbors.

Submarine Shells Ship And 23 Persons Believed To Be Dead

(By The Associated Press)

NIMES, France, July 30.—Fear was expressed today that 23 officers and men had perished as a result of the shelling of the Spanish freighter Anduta-Mendi by an unidentified submarine.

The captain, Obdulio Castel, and ten of his crew reached shore in a small boat early today but there was no trace of any others of the 34 that constituted the ship's personnel. The Anduta-Mendi was still aflame.

The skipper said the ship carried no refugees. Previously it had been reported she was transporting refugees from Valencia to Marseille, France.

The master of the stricken freighter reported two submarines took part in the attack late yesterday in French waters of Le Grau Du Roi, France.

"The first shots disabled our radio," Captain Castel said. Machine gun bullets swept the deck. We took refuge in the engine room. The firing kept up about 20 minutes. Then the submarines disappeared."

The ship was still blazing and adrift at noon today.

Captain Castel said the crew battled the flames for hours be-

Dr. Knapp inspected yesterday the memorial arch, connecting two wings of the agriculture department building, which is to be dedicated November 17 to his father, Seaman A. The Texas congressional delegation yesterday endorsed the application of Texas Tech for a $700,000 Public Works administration loan and grant.

To Ask For Approval

The delegation voted to urge White House officials to approve the application at a luncheon with Dr. Knapp and members of the board of directors of the college.

Dr. Knapp said the money, if obtained, would be used for the construction of dormitories to relieve a congested condition which forces more than 1,400 students to live at scattered points over Lubbock.

Labor Bill Faces Stiff Battle

Strong Drive Launched To Bar Passage

AFL Officials Are Seeking To Halt Proposal But Speedy Action Being Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30 —A determined campaign to sidetrack the administration's wage and hour bill gained strength today from the support of some American Federation of Labor officials.

John P. Frey, president of the federation's metal trades department, disclosed he had asked several senators to delay consideration until next year.

Powers Are Opposed

Frey said he favored wage and hour standards but opposed powers the bill would give a new labor board.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) and Senator Black (D-Ala) expressed confidence the senate would pass the bill, despite a split in Democratic ranks.

Many Democratic senators who helped to sherve the president's program for reorganizing the supreme court were allied against the wage and hour measure.

Harrison Is Opposed

Senator Harrison (D-Miss) whom Barkley defeated for the party leadership, was publicly committed for the court bill but said he would vote to send the wage and hour bill back to the labor committee.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), who led opposition forces to victory in the court fight, lined up with the administration on the wage and hour issue.

Republicans almost solidly opposed the proposal to recommit the bill. If such a motion shoudl carry, it would end for this year senate consideration of the measure, one of the major items on the administration program.

New Federal Board

The bill would authorize a new federal board to fix minimum wages for industries in interstate commerce at not more than 40 cents an hour. It could establish a work week of not elss than 40 hours.

A. F. of L. officials in the past have fought establishment of wage minimums on the ground that they might become maximums.

The senate approved one amendment to the bill yesterday without a record vote.

The change would exclude from work week regulation persons employed in "ginning and baling of cotton, the canning or other packing or packaging of fish, sea foods, sponges, or picking, canning or processing of fruits or vegetables, or the processing of beets, cane and maple into sugar and syrup when the services of such persons are of a seasonal nature."

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said the responsibility of fixing wage and hour standards should not be assigned to a board over which congress has no direct control.

Suds Flow Freely In Bone-Dry Abilene; Kick All Gone But Drinkers Guiltily Enjoy It

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, July 30 — Beer is staging a comeback in Abilene, stronghold of local option since its earliest days.

The beverage is being served at most of the city's eating places, but it's beer with its teeth pulled — commonly known as "near beer."

Many consumers, however, haven't yet learned that their beer is being sold legally. A common ruse is to obliterate a portion of the labels which admit that alcoholic content of each bottle is less than one-half of one per cent.

"How do you get by with it?" customers ask in guilty enjoyment. Cafe operators in most instances have maintained a mysterious silence.

Some eating place proprietors themselves are not certain whether they're violating the law. Not a few have called the office of the liquor control board.

"Say," they ask, "what about this beer that some of these restaurants are selling?"

The liquor agents merely grin and say "go ahead." On the job from the start, they know just how much alcohol is in a bottle. A recent analysis showed that strength of the beverage even is slightly less than the legal amount.

"Tell The President To Go To Hell," Is Man's Sour Reply

(By The Associated Press)

STAMFORD, Conn., July 30. — Lester P. Barlow, Stamford inventor, informed he would be prosecuted on charges of violating the national labor relations act, threatened today to demand a senate inquiry and seek impeachment of President Roosevelt.

Louis Y. Gaberman, assistant federal district attorney, announced last night he would prosecute Barlow, one time Connecticut leader of Huey Long's "share the wealth" movement as a result of the inventor's outburst at a national labor relations board hearing. Barlow accused the board of radicalism, charged the proceedings were a "racket," and invited Trial Examiner Paul Ravier to "tell the president of the United States for me to go to hell."

Warrant Not Issued

Gaberman, who did not indicate when a warrant would be issued, said Barlow would be prosecuted under a section of the act making it unlawfully for any person to "wilfully resist, prevent, impede or, interfere" with the board or its agents in the performance of their duties. It provides maximum punishment of a $5,000 fine and one year's imprisonment.

Barlow, inventor of a depth bomb used by the U. S. During the World war, and claimant to several million dollars for the invention, issued a statement saying he also would file charges against James A. Farley, postmaster general; Homer S. Cummings, attorney general; and "many others associated with the Democratic national political machine."

"My charges will be based," Barlow said, "on corruption of public office and political conspiracy, association with criminal labor acts and graft on the part of high officials of the United States government."

Fears Aroused As Americans Are Trapped

Heavy Firing Started Today Near Refuge Of Foreigners; Stubborn Japs Mopping Up

(By The Associated Press)

PEIPING, July 30 — Heavy artillery firing started suddenly this afternoon southwest of here at Yenching university, refuge of a group of Americans, as China was reported to have ordered her crack central army into action to drive the Japanese army out of North China.

Grave apprehension was felt for the safety of the Americans. The university group was believed to number five women and three men, including President J. L. Stuart, who had refused to leave.

Fighting Is General

Fighting was general once again all about the ancient walls of the Manchu capital. The Japanese army was believed to be engaged in relentless "mopping up" operations against the remnants of the 29th Chinese army, the main body of which now holds positions across the Yungting river to the west.

All communication was severed with Yenching university. The university is supported by American missions and is one of China's outstanding educational institutions.

Firing was especially heavy west of the city, indicating a major engagement might be in progress.

New Troops Ordered

To support the 37th and 132nd divisions of the 29th army, which are entrenched on the west bank of the Yungting, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, premier and commander-in-chief of the Chinese army, was reported to have ordered up 50,000 highly-trained and well-equipped troops of the central army.

Japanese sources declared they had learned an attack in force had been ordered against their positions around Peiping with the main body of the Chinese army, supported by the Nanking government's modernized airforce.

The Japanese seemed to be preparing to meet such an offensive on a major scale. Troops, tanks and armored cars were pouring into the western hills, just a few miles from the city, in large numbers.

New Airdrome Built

A new airdrome was said to have been built in the vicinity of the old summer palace of the Manchu emperors about midway between Peiping and the low-lying hills. Twenty Japanese planes were re-

Local Problem To Be Solved

City garbage collection facilities will be doubled within the next 10 or 15 days to solve the most serious problem of its kind Lubbock ever has faced, according to information given at City hall this morning.

A telegram was received that garbage collection bodies of special design which are to be placed on beds of trucks now owned by the city will be shipped from the Elgin manufacturing plant in Ohio not later than next week. They will be put into service as soon as they can be placed on chasses following their arrival.

Ordered Last Winter

The bodies were ordered last winter and required only painting when strikes tied up the factory last May 17. The telegram said that the strike has been settled and that work in the plant has been resumed.

The bodies are completely enclosed in metal, will hold eight cubic yards of garbage, are operated hydraulically, and are equipped with a lift mechanism by means of which the gathering of garbage is speeded. The increase in garbage collection will result from the facts, city officials said, that the capacity of the trucks will be greater than those now in use and the greater speed in gathering and dumping.

Problem Is Created

To meet the collections problem, resulting from rapid growth of Lubbock, the city has hired and now has in use two trucks belonging to individuals in addition to the two owned by the city. They will be continued in operation as long as they are needed — probably through the remainder of the summer.

At the present time, officials said, garbage in residental districts is collected twice weekly. Belief is that new facilities may make tri-weekly collections possible, perhaps lead-

It's Popular To Have Phobia, Utah Professor Declares

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, July 30. University of Utah Scientist comforted today those persons whose pet superstitions have become unpopular and assured —and retain their popularity.

A phobia, explained Justin C. A phobia, explained Justin C. Stewart, Utah supervisor of public affairs and workers education, is a fear of something. It is a simple thing, with a big name attached.

"It is not popular to have superstitions," said Stewart, "but it is popular to have phobias. You can even boast about them."

America is rapidly becoming phobia-conscious, he added. It is too much so, because phobias have a marked effect upon the lives of individuals.

Every normal person, he said, has one or more phobias. He may fear germs, which is "bacterophobia," he may be afraid of lightning, which is "astrophobia."

"The effect of the phobia on the social and business life of the nation has more to do with individual persons than with the nation as a whole, for it inhibits the individual from doing certain things."

Don't Take Vacation From Routine Of Exercises

Slimmer Lines Are In Vogue

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Active sportswomen who have spent plenty of time on golf course, tennis court and in the water this summer probably have few figure problems. However, for the vast majority who had only a short vacation and an occasional week-end in which to romp around outdoors, special exercises are much in order, even though the mercury boils.

Bulges and bumps of flesh will not be tolerated by girls who want to look truly smart in suavely shirred black crepe street dresses, trimly tailored suits, new coats which mold the figure. If your hips are plumpish or if stomach protrudes, correct the defect before you start to shop with your mind made up to buy.

The new wide girdle-like belts call for supple, slender, youthful waistlines. Your diaphragm must be lean and firm. Make up your mind to eliminate the bulges which always show a bit above your corset. They'll be just as obvious above a girdle belt.

Necks Must Be Slimmer

with coiffures rapidly moving upward, there's a crying need for elimination of excess weight on the back of the neck. With skirts doing the same thing — only not so rapidly — ankles and legs must be svelte and slightly on the thinnish side.

Begin on your waistline, stretching the body up, up and up as you thrust your hands skyward. Pull your lazy torso up and away from hipbones. Standing straight and tall, bend to the right, then to the left. Stretch upward again. Bend a few more times.

Then kneel on the floor and, keeping head upright with arms stretched high above it, swing to the right, then to the left. Feel waistline muscles stretch and pull.

Roll away the excess fat on hips and thighs. Lie flat on the floor. Keep shoulders and heels firmly in place, then roll from side to side on hips.

Prevent "Dowager's Hump"

Bring knees up to chest. Hold them there with your hands. Roll to the left, then to the right, keeping shoulders flat.

Sit up with legs straight. Without bending knees, lean forward and touch right toes with left hand. Reverse, touching left toes with right fingertips. Repeat ten times. This relaxes muscles of the neck and wards off a dowager's hump on the back of it.

To slenderize overweight arms, regular grade school drills with arms up, down, out, up and crossed on the chest are recommended. Also one can massage her own arms in the manner professional operators favor. Hold right arm upward, cover it with cream, then manipulate and massage away the excess weight with fingertips and palm of left hand. Use rotary strokes, pressing firmly into the flesh but being extremely careful not to bruise it.

Railway Rates To Be Hiked

CHICAGO, July 30. (AP)—The Western Association of Railway Executives disclosed today an increase from 2 cents to 2 1-4 cents a mile for first class round trip tickets on all western railroads would become effective Oct. 16.

H. W. Siddall, secretary, who is also chairman of the Transcontinental and Western Passenger association, said the increase would affect only this type of travel and rates for four other classifications would remain the same as they have been since Dec. 1, 1933.

Other Fares Quoted

The other fares are:

Round trip coach, 1.08 cents per mile; first class one way, 3 cents; coach one way, 2 cents; transcontinental coach one way, 1.5 cents.

Siddall said the old scale of rates was a reduction in 1933 from the 3.6 cents a mile standard and was considered "experimental."

Factors entering into the decision for the increase, he said, included increased cost of supplies, wage demands upon the railroads, taxes for railroad retirement and the 70-car freight train limitation measure.

Rail authorities estimated the increase would mean a gain of about $2,000,000 in passenger revenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Symes of 1215 Avenue N and Mr. and Mrs. Boone Horne of 2215 Seventh street have gone to Muskegon, Mich., where the men will attend a sales school Aug. 2 to 6. They were accompanied by Miss Mary Horne, a sister of Boone Horne, who will visit friends in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. King Davis and daughter, Miss Priscilla Davis, of Fort Worth spent Thursday night here and will leave today for a vacation in Ruidoso, N. M. Miss Davis was of the eight co-eds selected last year at Texas Technological college for beauty pages of the yearbook.

One-fourth teaspoon lemon juice added to each cup of heavy cream will hasten the whipping. Have cream and utensils thoroughly chilled to prevent the mixture from turning to butter. This is particularly important in summer.

Itched For Caviar

Edna May Oliver is casting longing glances above in the direction of the liner Rex aboard which she scratched her way back to New York. All the film comedienne's itching—and that of a score of other gourmets aboard—was caused by the gray caviar that is a summer treat aboard the Italian ship; it gave sensitive consumers the hives.

Relief Burden To Be Greater

Possibility of a major relief problem for Lubbock next autumn was seen by city and county officials today following formal notification from H. P. Drought, state WPA director at San Antonio, that state WPA rolls must be reduced sharply in October.

The word from Drought was followed by the statement by J. W. Wilson, secretary of the city-county welfare association, that the association already is "tottering" under a relief burden which has grown steadily heavier in spite of the work provided on WPA projects. Expenditures thus far have been heavier than had been expected at the beginning of the year, Wilson said, and neither he nor city and county officials would attempt to say how the problem may be met if the problem grows greater.

Addressed To Officials

The letters received here were addressed to County Judge J. J. Dillard, as head of county commissioners court, and Mayor Ross Edwards, presiding officer of the city commission.

While both city and county officials must await developments before they can know just what the situation will be they frankly recognized the possibility that an unexpected and largely increased relief burden may force increases in tax rates—if not this year, then next.

Drought's letter explained, as already has been announced in news dispatches, that state WPA rolls will be reduced from 63,000 workers to 54,700 next October. Probabilities are that will mean a cut of between 400 or 500 for Lubbock WPA district, consisting of 24 counties, which now has a total quota of 3,198 workers.

Drought's letter continued further that reductions will be on a basis of efficiency, which means that the less capable workmen will be the first to lose WPA jobs when cuts begin. Those removed thus would be the individuals least capable of finding and holding place in private industry and who would gravitate most quickly to relief.

"May I not suggest," said Drought's letter, "that either by an appeal to your civic organizations or by other means, you lead a movement in your county or city to give private employment to Works Progress workers—to encourage employers to hire them through the national employment service? To the extent to which you succeed in this, you will reduce the number of those who are now asking you for help."

Type Of Labor Problem

While city and county officials said they will tackle the problem as best they can, they professed little confidence that the "appeal" suggested could have important effect. In the first place, they reason, employers will need little urging to hire the help they need. In the second place, the type of labor so inefficient it cannot cling to WPA day work is not likely to compete successfully for jobs in private employment. This leaves the somewhat drab prospect that any cuts from the WPA rolls will mean additions to charity rolls, in Lubbock and elsewhere.

Although no officials would attempt to say what the problem will be next October, they believe the Plains region will not be hit as hard, immediately, as many other sections of the state and nation. If crop prospects of the present are borne out, farm work will absorb a considerable portion of labor through the cotton picking season. That would mean only, however, that the problem would be deferred until after cotton has been picked. If the cotton crop should not measure to expectations—and the cotton flea hopper is now a cause of grave concern even in Lubbock county, then an emergency will be an immediate aftermath in the WPA roll cut.

The city-county welfare association has been deriving its support wholly from the city and county, of which the county has been providing two-thirds. Since January 1, county appropriations have totaled $10,000 and the city $5,000.

High Attendance Average And Few Failures In Rural Areas

A high attendance average of 89 per cent and few failures were included in attributes of Lubbock county rural high schools given in a report this week. A total of 3,000 school children were enrolled in the six fully accredited rural high schools of the county.

Children are instructed by 114 teachers—34 men and 80 women. Average salary paid the teachers is $940; highest salary paid in a rural school is $2,040 and the lowest $720 or $90 per month for 8 months.

Replacements Necessary

Fourteen years is the longest period a teacher has taught in a Lubbock county rural school. Next year there will be 16 replacements in the personnel of the teaching corps, 10 of that number having resigned. One hundred twenty seniors were graduated last year.

There are almost no failures, and children in high school are given two years of vocational training in vocational agriculture, vocational home economics, or typing.

Total valuation of rural school property is $7,000,000. The children are brought to school at a cost of $34,000 and this transportation is paid for by the state.

"Lubbock county's rural school program has been made possible by the larger program of the state department of education," said Joseph R. Griggs, Lubbock county superintendent of schools, from whose office the figures were available.

Few Objections To Taxes Are Heard By Equalization Unit

Although approximately 400 property owners were given opportunity to protest increases in assessed valuations ordered by the city tax equalization board, few appeared this morning at City hall to present objections.

Of 300 to whom notices were sent to appear Thursday, when protest hearings opened, only 16 property owners made protests. A total of approximately 1,850 notices were sent out by the board.

The equalization board will recess this afternoon for the week-end, but will convene again Monday and be in session Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tobacco was in use in India as early as 1605.

It is one of a series of meetings over the state and was changed from a Lubbock date on August 3. P. T. # Early Day Soldier And Laredo Business Man Is Claimed By Death On Thursday

LAREDO, July 30 (AP) — Joseph Netzer, 75, early day soldier and Laredo business man, died Thursday.

Mr. Netzer came to the United States from Frankfort, Germany in 1880. The same year he joined the U. S. army at Baltimore, serving until 1888 when he was discharged at Fort Concho, Tex., at San Angelo.

During his army service, Mr. Netzer joined the campaign against the Indian Geronomo. He later knew Judge Roy Bean at Langtry. He founded the Echo lodge of the Odd Fellows at Brackettville, Tex., 52 years ago.

Organized Red Men

Mr. Netzer came to Laredo in 1889 and engaged in the sheet metal business and later plumbing and hardware business. He organized the Yaqui tribe of red men here in 1897 and served as its president. He also served as chairman of the committee that originated the annual Washington birthday celebration here a year later.

Funeral services will be held today with burial in the red men's plot of the city cemetery.

In 1891, Mr. Netzer was appointed captain of the Laredo light guard of the Texas militia by Gov. J. S. Hogg and served several years. He served as president of the Texas Hardware association and was a member of the Elks, Odd Fellows, Knight and Ladies of Honor and other organizations.

Farm Foreclosures Showing Decline

An average of fewer than two farm foreclosures a month have been made in Lubbock county during the last 18 months.

Until about three years ago, as many foreclosure proceedings were brought in a month as within the last year.

These facts were revealed by Louie F. Moore, chief deputy county clerk, as he began the compilation of information asked by E. H. LeMasters of Washington, D. C., federal director of finance and research.

To Report Monthly

LeMasters asked in a letter received Thursday by County Clerk Ed D. Allen that reports be made monthly, to include new mortgages filed, old mortgages released and foreclosures. The information is desired, the letter explained, because the government now has approximately $2,900,000,000 outstanding in mortgage loans, representing approximately 40 per cent of all farm mortgages in the United States.

Moore was assigned to the task of preparing the reports, which will be done wholly as a courtesy to the federal agency. While the compilation will not be completed for several days, Moore said he had given the subject sufficient study to know that farm credit, so far as the Lubbock county farmer is concerned, is remarkably stable.

Private Lending Active

One reflection of the highly satisfactory condition, he said, has been the fact that foreclosures are so few. Another is that private agencies are now making approximately 40 per cent of all mortgage loans, as compared with less than 10 per cent less than two years ago.

While Moore had no comparative figures from other Texas counties, he expressed the conviction that final records will show that Lubbock county stands near the top in farm credit stability.

Oklahoma Man To Be Arraigned For Slaying Of Federal Man

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 30 (AP)—Guy F. Osborne, 27, of Eufala, Okla., will be arraigned before the federal grand jury which meets in Santa Fe August 2 for the slaying of Truett E. Rowe, department of justice agent, near Gallup June 1.

Gilberto Espinosa, assistant federal district attorney, said an indictment for first degree murder would be sought. Osborne pleaded not guilty at his preliminary hearing. He testified he did not intend to kill the El Paso, Tex., agent.

Espinosa said if the jury indicts Osborne, the death penalty will be sought. In the event of conviction the sentence would be executed at the state penitentiary in Santa Fe.

Rowe was killed when he attempted to arrest Osborne on an Oklahoma automobile theft charge.

WHEAT BEING STORED

The original Siamese twins married and lived to the age of 63.

Memory Of Pioneers Will Be Honored

AUSTIN, July 30 (AP) — Texas will honor the memory of pioneers at its state cemetery here Saturday.

The remains of Dr. George Moffit Patrick and James Allison York, who were identified with the struggle for independence from Mexico, will be reinterred in the "Arlington of Texas" where rest the remains of approximately 100 early statesmen, clergymen, scientists and educators.

York, Kentucky born, came to Texas in 1821 and participated in the battle of San Jacinto and other major encounters of the revolution.

The reburial project was begun at the instance of Lou W. Kemp, Texas historian, who located many of the graves of prominent pioneers.

Take A Look At The Sun Now If You Want To See Spots

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP) — If you want to see spots before your eyes get an over-exposed film negative or a smoked glass and take a look at the sun.

There are two giant spots, one of them an estimated 100,000 miles in diameter, visible on the sun these days. They cover between 1-300th and 1-400th of the sun's surface and will take about a week to cross Old Sol's face, traveling to the left.

Dr. Clyde Fisher, curator at Hayden planetarium, said they were the only individual sun spots he had ever seen without a telescope and possibly the largest ever observed in New York.

The spots were first noticed by Hugh S. Rice, associate in astronomy at the planetarium. He explained that sun spots are storm centers, caused by the whirl-pool exchange of gaseous materials from internal layers of the sun to the surface.

He said the spots indicated a tremendous expulsion of gases from the inside of the sun.

HAIL DAMAGE AT ANTON

ANTON, (Special) — Some 8,000 acres of crop land was destroyed by hail here recently. It is indicated that the acreage will be planted to wheat in the fall. The land will be fallowed this summer.

Rules For Students Are Made Public

Qualifications for children who will enter Lubbock public schools as beginners on September 8 have been announced from the office of W. B. Irvin, superintendent. Parents whose children will enter school under this classification are asked by the superintendent to note the rules.

All children must be vaccinated for smallpox before they will be admitted to the city system. Although a physical examination is not required, it is well for children to be examined by the family doctor before they enter public school.

Those children six years old or, or before September 1 will be admitted free of tuition, while those six years old during September or October will be allowed to enter school by paying the tuition of $4.50 per month during the entire first semester.

Children who will be six years old during November or December may enter school the second semester free of tuition, Mr. Irvin stated that children who are six years old during November or December will not be allowed to enter school until the second semester, even though they be willing to pay tuition for the first semester.

Just Pick Your Subject; You Can Get Argument About Almost Anything

BY FRED HARREL

"I tell you, it's against God's will to plow up the cotton and kill the pigs."

"Well, I don't know so much about that."

"Well, it stands to reason, don't it? God makes everything, don't He? He owns it all, don't He? He's the only One who has any right to destroy it. Man ain't got no such right."

Educational Or Entertaining

Ever notice the cluttered groups on benches and haunched on the sidewalks under the trees bordering the courthouse lawn? A casual saunter around the square is educational or entertaining—depending on individual appreciation.

"I think plowing up the cotton was O. K."

"You do, do you? Let me tell you something, brother. God punished us for that. When we plowed up the cotton, it stopped raining and we had drouths and crop failures. When we quit it, God let it start raining again."

"No, I can't see it that way."

Off To Good Start

"You can't?" And the man with the cigar stub grabbed a worn New Testament from his hip pocket and started thumbing through it. The argument looks like it is off to a good beginning. The reporter will go around the square and come back later.

Here is a woman, middle-aged and plainly dressed, sitting on the grass and placidly knitting. And there is a farm couple contentedly munching candy. There are many people here on the north side. Listen:

"Well, all I got to say 'is it's best to buy pure seed."

"That's right."

"But no matter if you buy the purest seed there is, after you plant it a couple of years it's just gin-run seed."

"That's shore right."

"Say," interjected a third man, "have you noticed old man Bill's crop this year?"

Weeds Are Awful

"Yeah. Ain't it a mess? You should oughta see them weeds."

A couple of women are studying an open pattern book—planning fall wardrobes. And here comes a peddler.

"Candy, candy? Two bars for a nickel. This box won't last long, gents."

On the south side again. Three young men who look like college students. What are they discussing?

"I worked in a dairy for my room and board up to a week ago, milking 25 cows twice a day, but when he asked me to paint his barn I told him I wouldn't and he fired me. Now I'm out of school and out of a job, and how in the hell am I going to get married!"

Others Have To Laugh

The others laughed. One said:

"Why don't you transfer to the aggie school so you can get a job when you graduate, and then you can get married."

"What?" His voice climbed. "Then I'd have to go three years more, and I know I'm not going to wait that long to get married."

More laughter, then:

"What do you want to get married for?"

"Well, I've been batching and eating my own cooking eight months. I'm tired of it. It's already give me the summer complaint."

And back where is continued the religious argument. The same men are carrying on.

"Do you think you will rise at the first resurrection?"

"I shore do."

"How do you know?"

Because The Book Says So

"Because the Book says the dead in Christ shall rise."

"So you think you're in Christ."

"Yeah, because I belong to the ——— church. Do you belong to the ——— church?"

"You don't talk like you belong to the ——— church. What are some of its beliefs?"

Follows an explanation, then—

"No, you just think you belong to the ——— church. It believes ———."

A street preacher is shouting across the street and a listener guages and dialects of the argument cries:

"Go over there and listen to that preacher. Maybe you'll learn something." The others laugh.

Up here a negro is in earnest conversation with a white man. Listen to him:

Preaches Straight Gospel

"I'm a preachah. I preaches on de streets. But I nevah ahgues like them two is doing. Dat don't nevah get nowhuah. Dese people what all de time ahguing religion has all got a funny little New Testament, and dey all de time pulling it out and saying, 'De book say dis and de book say dat', but I preaches de straight gospel widout ahguing."

Here are two men talking politics:

"It seems to me that just when Roosevelt needed him most old Jack Garner ran out on him. I don't see how he gets elected like he does. In all my life I never heard of him doing an intelligent thing."

"Izzat so? Well, if you ask me, the most intelligent thing he ever did was scotching Roosevelt's court plan."

The religious argument now has broken up and the negro is preaching.

"De trouble wid de world today is we has taken out the home altah and put a auto in its place—"

"That's the truth," came from someone in the crowd.

"We has taken out de home altah and put a bridge table in its place!"

"That's right. Amen."

On the rest of the square benches are being deserted. Folks begin leaving for home. "Come to see us sometime", and "Alright, you folks come."

Piccard's Flying Bunch O' Grapes

His new stratosphere craft looks like an inverted bunch of grapes, Dr. Jean Piccard explained to Mrs. Piccard and a ground crew as this picture was made at Rochester, Minn., where the stratosphere balloonist will take off on his next flight. Instead of one bag, the flight will be made with 80 four-foot balloons filled with hydrogen.

The sharp spine of the sting ray projects from the middle of its whiplike tail, and sometimes reaches a length of seven inches. This spine makes a most formidable weapon, and with it the sting ray, or stingaree, can inflict serious wounds.

Figs were introduced into England in the reign of Edward VI.

Competition In Open Tourney Waxes Hot; Favorites Being Ousted

SPORTS NEWS
Member of Associated Press—Day and Night Leased Wire Service
LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL
LUBBOCK, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1937

Close Battles Are Noted In First Round

Competition in the second annual Meadowbrook Open golf tournament waxed warm from the start yesterday as five of eight "favorites," according to qualifying scores, went down in their opening matches.

The "real" dope ran closer to form, but on the basis of qualifying scores five golfers of the championship flight were sidetracked by opponents who struck higher.

Probably the most outstanding "upset" was Joe Bihl's 2 and 1 victory over Kay Bradshaw, a hot pre-tournament favorite. Bihl came from behind on the home stretch to sink a couple of long putts and send Bradshaw to the consolation department.

Holton Close Winner

Another surprise came when Lindsay Telford defeated another Texas Tech star, Manson Allen, who had to forego golf during the early part of the season on account of illness but who came back early this week to shoot a par 70 for his qualifying round. Telford, who shot a 74 to qualify, got better yesterday and took out Allen, 1 up, in one of the two matches which went the 18-hole distance.

Alfred Holton, winner of the Ruidoso Invitation last week, thereby missing the City Open, was the other one-up victory. He needed a sizzling 64 to take out Weldon Counts, who posted a 65. Their's was the hottest match of the day, and for a time it looked as if Counts, who was shooting one of the best rounds of his career, might come out ahead.

Holton qualified with a 65 for second place in the medal race, Counts with a 71.

Medalist Wins Opener

John Bell, the medalist, came through against J. D. Hinson, 2 and 1. Bell shot slightly worse golf than he did when qualifying with a 64, but had his game and the victory well in hand, although Hinson, who shoots a hot game of golf at Meadowbrook, hung on bitterly through 17 holes.

It was not a surprise to many persons, although in reverse order to their qualifying rounds, when Edgar Doherty, winner of the recent City Open, took a 3 and 2 victory from Loftin Burnette, a greatly improved golfer. Burnette, who qualified with a 69, couldn't stand the barrage of birdies Doherty threw at him yesterday. Doherty barely made the championship flight with a qualifying score of 74. One player who shot a 74 failed to make the first sixteen.

Another qualifying score upset was Bob Hale's 4 and 3 victory over Rufus Ryan. Ryan had qualified with a 66, Hale with a 71. On the basis of experience and practice, Hale was the favorite, although Ryan's game has been fairly torrid lately. Both are Texas Tech athletes.

Carl Nail, veteran local campaigner who "laid off" for a time but who is finding his game again, dropped to C. J. Quinlan yesterday in another mild upset. The score was 4 and 3. Nail had qualified with a par 70. Quinlan with a 74. Quinlan's golfing ability is not questioned, however, and it was a clean cut triumph.

Jack Trammell had a battle on his hands by one of the few out of town golfers in the tournament, but finally defeated Fred Hinson of Brownfield, 2 and 1, in a hot match. Hinson was one up at the turn, and finished with a medal of 71 to Trammell's 70.

The Doherty supporters became worried from the start when the big red-head played Burnette. The latter fired four straight birdies at Doherty on the first four holes, a 3, 2, 3, and 3, to Doherty's 4, 3, 3, and 3 and was two up coming to the fifth. Doherty won that with a par, took the sixth with a birdie to square the match. They swapped out on the next two holes but Doherty birdied the ninth to make the turn with a 31 and one up. He made it 2 up on the 12th and 3 up on the 14th, winning each with birdies. For the 16 holes, Burnette was one over, Doherty three under.

Kay Bradshaw had putting troubles yesterday, but this did not keep him from finishing his 17 holes with Jodie Bihl, 3 under par. You can imagine what Joe's score was.

Bihl Sinks 'Em

For the first nine, Bradshaw was three under and one up. He got a two-up lead to start the back stretch, lost the 11th, halved the 12th and lost the 13th, as the match went square. Bihl, safely on the green and with an easy putt, won the 15th with a par, as Bradshaw over-putted. They had good drives to the 16th, and Bihl was on with his second shot for a 12-foot putt. Bradshaw was off, but came close to holing out with his approach. He needed a four, and Bihl calmly ran down his putt for a win, and the answer was dormie.

Bihl's drive to the 296-yard 17th was green high, but in the rough to the right. Bradshaw laid his drive on the green for a 15-foot putt. Bihl pitched on nicely, and Bradshaw missed his putt. Bihl canned his for a half and the match.

Results of first round play in all flights, and today's pairings, follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

John Bell defeated J. D. Hinson, 2 and 1; Edgar Doherty won from Loftin Burnette, 3 and 2; Bob Hale beat Rufus Ryan, 4 and 3; C. J. Quinlan downed Carl Nail, 4 and 3; Alfred Holton won from Weldon Counts, 1 up; Jack Trammell defeated Fred Hinson, 2 and 1; Joe Bihl won from Kay Bradshaw, 2 and 1, and Lindsay Telford defeated Manson Allen, 1 up.

Today's pairings: Bell vs. Doherty; Hale vs. Quinlan; Holton vs. Trammell and Bihl vs. Telford.

Consolation pairings: Hinson vs. Burnette; Ryan vs. Nail; Counts vs. Hinson

Cubs And Giants To Renew Fight

Bitter Baseball Rivalry Will Break Out Again Here Sunday

Bitter baseball rivalry will break out again at the local ball park Sunday when the Phillips "66" club of Amarillo comes to Lubbock for the third time this season to engage the Lubbock Hubbers.

At least the rivalry is bitter on the part of Lubbock, the Hubbers having dropped the third previous games, two of them in a double header, and the boys are figuratively sharpening their spikes for what looms as a war to the finish Sunday.

It'll be a double header Sunday, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Lefty Blanchard, knocked out twice by the Amarillos but who nevertheless is capable of pitching great ball against any team in this part of the country, wipes the grin off his face and gets serious when you mention Amarillo. He'll be out there toiling in the first game against the Phillips boys. It'll be a regulation nine-inning affair, to be followed by a seven-inning nightcap.

Dutch Kaufhold, business manager of the Phillips club, announced by letter yesterday that Manager Sammy Hale would have his regular pitching staff, his four best, here for the game, and probably will start the veteran Luke Coburn, a right-hander, against the Hubbers. Gilliland and Thomas are other right-handers, and there's Lefty Pat Newman to pitch the second game.

Blanchard, who pitched a no-hit no-run contest during the recent tournament, which the Hubbers won, went fishing yesterday, but will be out at the park with the rest of the gang this afternoon for a regular workout.

Rajah Smashes Circuit Clout In First Game

DENVER, July 30. (AP) — Rogers Hornsby would just as soon play whatever baseball is left in his system in the daylight.

Even the towering home run he smashed over the right field fence of Merchants park in a Denver Post tournament game last night hasn't won him over to "owl" baseball, he said today.

Night or day, however, Hornsby couldn't have picked a better spot for his round tripper.

First Time At Bat

It came in his first time at bat in the uniform of the Bay Refiners, Denver semi-pro club, in its opening tourney tilt against Worland from north-central Wyoming's Big Horn basin.

The Denverites slaughtered the inept Wyoming team, 25 to 0, in an abridged seven-inning game.

"That was a good one, all right," laughed Hornsby in the locker-room after the game. "It was a good way to break in, wasn't it?"

Hornsby played first base.

In Carefree Mood

The one-time National league hitting champion was in a carefree and genial mood as he showered.

"Night baseball? Well, what the heck—I suppose it's as fair for one as for another."

Hornsby's team probably will clash next with the Springfield, Ill., outfit managed by Grover Cleveland Alexander, who once called the "Rajah" boss.

Alexander's team registered a 7-6 win yesterday over the Denver American Beauty team, a fair-to-middling aggregation, after a narrow squeak.

Borger Team Wins

In the third game yesterday, Huber Carbon of Borger, Texas, defeated the Leyden Miners, Colorado semi-pro champions, 7 to 3, behind steady pitching by lefthanded Jim Carrithers.

Today's schedule (time is Mountain standard):

1 p. m.—Eason Oilers, Enid, Okla., vs. Duvall-Davison, Golden, Colo.

3 p. m. — Seminole, Okla., Redbirds vs. Denver Midget.

8:30 p. m.—Negro All-Stars vs. Denver Goalstone.

Bucs Move Up In Standings

(By The Associated Press)

Tulsa gave way to Beaumont today as challengers of the league-leading Oklahoma City Indians. The Beaumonters moved ahead with a 4-0 shutout they handed the Oilers last night, mainly on the strength of Joe Rogalski's six-hit pitching.

The scrambling for position among the lower-placed clubs, however, produced nothing to worry the Oklahoma City pacers. They extended their lead to 11 1-2 games against San Antonio, the Padres dropping their second straight 7 to 5. Because the season was nearly a month past the half-way mark the Indians seemed in no danger of losing their strangle-hold on first place.

Fort Worth continued in a deadlock with San Antonio for fourth position, dropping a fine game to Houston 1 to 0.

Dallas likewise lost a close one, Galveston beating them 4 to 2 by virtue of a big sixth inning which netted the Bucs three runs.

Private Fuss For National Lead Staged

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Either the Cubs or the Giants are all built up for another awful letdown this week-end.

Beginning today in Chicago they open the second act of their private battle for the National league lead.

No other outfit appears to have any intention of challenging these two. The Cubs, at the moment, have a three-game lead on the Giants, and the rest of the loop is strung out seven games and more behind.

Just All In Fun

Perhaps they thought it was all in fun yesterday as each made ready for the other by dropping their starts. The Cubs were given a thorough going over by the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-2. The Giants were handcuffed by Lefty Bob Weiland and lost 5-2 to the Cardinals.

Harry Gumbert, who blanked the Cubs in last Sunday's game, was Bill Terry's nomination to start the pitching for today. He runs up against Bill Lee, the Cubs' No. 1 pitcher, who was as useful as last winter's overcoat when the Giants went to work on him Sunday.

The Yankees wound up their series with the Detroit Tigers yesterday by taking a 7-6 close one on Bill Dickey's homer with two out and two strikes on him in the ninth inning.

White Sox Climb

The defeat dropped the Tigers back into third place in the American league, and made room for the White Sox to climb back into second by nipping the Washington Senators 2-0 on Thornton Lee's left handed pitching performance.

The Cincinnati Reds were muffed with four hits by Jim Turner and were nosed out by the Boston Bees 2-1 to fall back into a tie for sixth place with Brooklyn. Dolph Camilli's homer with the bases loaded gave the Phillies an 11-7 win over the Pirates.

Jimmy Foxx hammered homer No. 26 and the Red Sox socked the Browns 5-3. The Athletics' fielding fell apart in the ninth inning, and handed the Indians a 5-4 victory.

Two Big Pots Of Gold To Be Found At End Of Races

CHICAGO, July 30. (AP) — Horsemen will find two big pots of gold at the end of Arlington park's "golden rainbow" tomorrow.

The $50,000 Arlington futurity and the $25,000 Arlington handicap will feature the closing day of the huge racing plant's 30-day meeting and the two stakes are expected to draw upwards of 40,000 spectators.

An even dozen two year olds — the best from the east and the west —are expected to fight it out in the futurity over six furlongs.

PLAN FISHING TRIP

SEAGRAVES, (Special)—The Seagraves chapter of the Future Farmers of America will meet Tuesday to make plans for a fishing trip to Christoval August 2. Euel Liner, vocational agriculture teacher, said 30 boys had expressed intention of going.

NEW BUTCHER ON DUTY

MATADOR, (Special) — Homer Eubanks of Floydada, this week begun duties as butcher in the meat department of Bob's Foodway.

The ancient Lunkhua pagoda, most outstanding landmark in Shanghai, China, has been mortgaged for a rice bill. The abbot of the temple turned the pagoda over to the rice shop owner.

Doc Jock Sutherland Cruises Around Looking For Players

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—Doc Jock Sutherland, demon coach of the Pitt Panthers, is cruising through the Ohio valley, long a hot-bed for prospective college stars. . . . "Just a pleasure trip," says the doc, adding: "The scenery is beautiful." . . . Oh, yeah, how much does it weigh? . . . Consensus of tennis players at Seabright is that now he has won the Davis cup, Don Budge ought to stick around and defend it.

Gladdest of all to see the Tigers leave town was Mike Jacobs, for Joe Louis has been doing most of his training at the stadium . . . Larry Crawford, former Princeton pitcher, now with the Phils, keeps a notebook in which he jots down the weaknesses of National league hitters. . .

Printers hereabouts are glad the Seabright tennis championships are about over. . . Jadwiga Jedrzejowska's name was an "ouch" to all of 'em . . . Ho, hum, Ralph Kennedy of New York played his 1,613th different golf course when he shot a round at Bluff Point-on-Lake Champlain, N. Y., the other day. . . . You don't hear old Gabby Street horsing, do you? . . . He's on double pay . . . When he quit as manager of the St. Paul Saints, the directors voted him full salary for the rest of the season . . . Then Gabby caught on as coach for the Browns.

• • •

A record delegation of British scribes is coming over for the Farr-Louis bout . . . Trevor Wignall of the Express, already on the job, says every London paper and news agency will have a man at the ringside, about 20 in all . . . One reason Hank Greenberg is pasting that apple is that every day the Tigers play at home he goes to Navin field at 11 a. m., for batting practice.

60-Year-Old Whist Club Can Boast Of Two Ex-Champs

LISBON, O., July 30 (AP) — Two former national champions are members of the 60-year-old Lisbon Whist club, whose weekly sessions serve to keep alive the once-popular "grandfather" of contract bridge.

Dr. J. P. Steele, a member of the Lisbon club for more than 40 years, claimed championship distinction for five successive years back at the turn of the century, and C. P. Wright, whose membership is of only slightly shorter duration, later gained the title.

The Lisbon club, with 16 members, is believed the oldest between New York and Chicago.

PRIZE BEING OFFERED

ROARING SPRINGS (Special) —The Roaring Springs Reporter will give a year's subscription to the farmer living within 30 miles of that city who brings the three best ears of corn to the Reporter office. Non-interested judges will determine the winner.

Rome, it was officially estimated, had a population of 1,133,056 in 1935. Its greatest population in ancient times was 312,000 in 385 B. C.

TWO PRIZES REMAIN unclaimed by winners in the recent baseball tournament.

If the player who traveled the longest distance to compete in the tournament will step forward, he will receive a can of auto polish and a can of auto wax, offered by Quicksall-Pryor. Likewise, if the player with the largest family will call on Hubert Allen over at the Texas-New Mexico Utilities company, he may receive a beautiful wall lamp.

These prizes were announced before the tournament started, but nobody has claimed them so far.

REMEMBER GIB JACKSON? He used to be quite an athlete around these parts, and still is, around the Amarillo parts. Dutch Kaufhold, one of the business managers of the Amarillo Phillips "66" ball club, writes that old Gib will be doing outfield duty for the Oilers when they come here Sunday for a double header with the Hubbers. There are many old timers around and about who agree with Sled Allen that Gib ought to be hauling down a handsome piece of change from some major league club owner, even yet.

One of the most colorful ball players ever to don a uniform, and one of the most capable, Gib let his baseball career slide in favor of steadier occupation, but he no doubt has regretted it lots of times. He still hits a hard ball, and still can cavort in the outfield.

Sunday's double header, incidentally, starts at 2:30 o'clock.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES . . .

A bit of football creeps into the picture. . . . Class C coaches and officials are to meet here Saturday to map their program in this district for the 1937 campaign. . . . After all, it's less than six weeks until the pigskins start cutting the atmosphere. . . Bobby Cruickshank, quite a golfer himself, called his shots for the U. S. and British opens, naming Ralph Guldahl and Henry Cotton. . . . Some of the wrestling fans probably would holler "frame-up" at Wee Bobby were he to get among them. . . . News services yesterday carried an item all but announcing, definitely, a Max Baer-Jim Braddock fight, for September. . . . Thus giving Baer another chance to announce his retirement. . . .

The same story says that promoters of the Tommy Farr-Joe Louis bout would be glad if Max Schmeling changes his mind about coming over to see it. . . . They fear he would steal the show. . . . After all, isn't he the guy who knocked out Louis and whom Farr ran out on? . . . Felix McKnight, Texas A. P. correspondent, reports that the Chicago White Sox planked down three grand to get Johnny Morrow's name on a contract. . . . The former Texas Aggie athlete was shuffled down into the East Texas league after a feeble start with Dallas. . . . And that Baylor's Lloyd Russell, the crooning quarterback, is going great with Knoxville in the Southern Association, batting close to .340. . . . He is to return in the fall to help coach the Baylor backs. . . .

Lacy "Stud" Turner, former fine guard at Texas Tech and successful coach at Wink High school, was through our town yesterday. . . . Stud has the head job there now, since Lee Johnson resigned. . . . He has hired Wilson Gilmore to help him and to coach basketball. . . . And speaking of basketball, you may look out for Borger to come out with hot fives, now that Milburn "Catfish" Smith, who taught the Carey High school lads how to win state championships, has moved there as football assistant to Carl Moulden and head cage coach. . .

Trusting souls are Elmer Layden of Notre Dame and Bob Zuppke of Illinois. . . . When their teams clash on the grid this fall, all the umpire will have to do is watch the ball game. . . . He won't have to check up on substitutions, because Elmer and Bob have made a gentleman's agreement to record their own substitutions and see that the substitution rule is not broken. . . .

CYE TANKERSLEY AND Woody Windham are putting on another boxing card at Brownfield tonight, the second in a projected string of several. . . . There was a slight mix-up in regard to the main event. Windham announced early in the week that Milton "Killer" Coffey, the Texas Tech boy from Fort Worth who has done a lot of leather slinging and coaching at the college, would give up his amateur standing and fight in the main go. . . . The story was announced. . . . But yesterday came a telegram to this department from Coffey, who is spending the summer at home in Cowtown, insisting that he never intended to fight at Brownfield, or on any other professional card, and that he had no desire at this time to turn professional. . . .

But they'll have somebody in the Killer's place tonight, which may be just as well, or better, so if you like boxing, it's there for you, at the Venetian auditorium in Brownfield tonight. . . . The first card, three weeks ago, went over big, drawing a large crowd that went away satisfied. . . .

Kingpin Golfers Of Nation In Action

ST. PAUL, July 30. (AP)—The nation's kingpin golfers swung out over the money trail again today, on the Keller course, their goal shares of the eighth annual St. Paul Open's $5,000 prize money.

Eighteen of the 72 holes of play were on today's program, with another 18-hole journey scheduled for Saturday. The final 36-hole test will be Sunday.

Defending champion and most feared player in the tournament is Lighthorse Harry Cooper, who won the tournament last year after a 36-hole playoff with Dick Metz of Chicago. They tied in regular competition with 277 totals.

Slammin' Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs professional, and four other members of the United States Ryder cup championship team hoped to overtake Cooper this year. They are Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis, National Open titlist; Horton Smith of Chicago, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, and Ed Dudley of Philadelphia.

Cochran Test Said Standing In Oil

LEVELLAND, July 30. (Special)—The Ingle-Wright-Pogieson No. 1 test well in the southeast corner of Cochran county was standing 1,800 feet in oil Wednesday at a depth of 5,055 feet, according to authoritative sources.

The second well in that section to show oil, it is situated about half a mile west of the Duggan discovery well. The well is located in the northeast corner of labor 14, league 88, Oldham county school land on the labor adjoining that on which the discovery well is situated.

Drillers said they had struck no gas.

Storage tanks were taken to the well today, preparatory to making a test of the productivity within the next few days.

The well is being drilled by Ingle-Wright Pogieson, an independent company.

Final Approval For Plans Of Salvation Army Home Given

National Salvation Army headquarters have given final approval of plans for the new $8,200 home to be erected in Lubbock with the assistance of the Home Owners Loan corporation, according to notification received late Thursday by Capt. John G. Churchill, commandant here.

Beginning of construction awaits only the working out of details by the architect and sale of a small house on the lot, which is located at 1112 Seventeenth street. Construction likely will be started next week, said Capt. Churchill. He expects the building to be ready to be occupied in September.

Approximately $3,300 was obtained through money contributions made in Lubbock and only about $300 additional is needed, the corps captain said. Building materials valued at about six hundred dollars and labor have been promised. W. G. McMillan, Lubbock contractor, is to direct construction.

Success has five ingredients
Only five—no more.
One of them is honest work—
So are the other four!

* * *

ONE of the most thoughtful, kindly and generous acts The Plainsman has run into in a long time is that of B. E. Needles who, without any beating of drums or clashing of cymbals, is making it possible for many a Lubbock boy to visit this summer in the cool climes of our neighboring New Mexico.

Mr. Needles some time ago leased a cabin at Ruidoso. Then he came back to Lubbock and began looking up boys whose families could not take them on vacations and who had little or no opportunity to ever go places and see things away from home. As he found them and carefully selected them, he began taking or sending them to his cabin in the mountains, allowing each to spend a week or so in glorious vacationing.

He limits his selection to boys between the ages of 9 and 13 and to those who have never been greatly privileged in the matter of holidays.

It's a great work and because it is The Plainsman is passing the information along. A man who will do as Mr. Needles is doing should be held up for public applause.

Incidentally, Mr. Needles will be surprised to see this comment here, since he did not give out the information and has no idea that The Plainsman knows anything about his generous actions. The dope came to this column from sources not connected with Mr. Needles and while probably the latter doesn't want his good work shouted from the newspaper, The Plainsman feels that the public will appreciate knowing about it.

The WPA Emergency Education program here wants to undertake a very useful project—one which should meet with the approval of all who hear about it—but cannot step out and get the job done because it has no place in which to operate.

According to Miss Dess Key, who is one of the pillars over at the WPA, the education program organization wants to operate a free nursery identical with those held in other parts of the country, where working mothers may leave, without charge, their young offspring. Competent, reliable persons would be placed in charge of the nursery and would be paid by WPA. Care of the children would be meticulous.

* * *

Miss Key tells us that there are at least 500 children in Lubbock who need such care.

As a starter, however, her organization does not expect to take care of them all, merely begin with one nursery in which 50 to 60 kiddies could be looked after, and then spread out with other units after success and need of the first unit is proven.

Therefore, Miss Key is looking for a building or a residence located south of Broadway and east of Avenue H, which would be adjacent to working mothers of numerous children.

Does anyone know of any such building or house available?

* * *

PLEASE note that WPA does NOT expect any house or building to be furnished rent free.

While WPA, itself, cannot legally pay the rent, arrangements have been made to raise the rent money through local, private circles.

So please, please, if anyone knows of a house or building which could be used as WPA seeks, get in touch with Miss Key at WPA district Emergency Education program headquarters, telephone 3567.

L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, will speak in Lubbock this afternoon and at Lamesa tonight and a great fanfare is being raised in connection with the event.

Mr. Woods will speak on "Recent School Legislation And Other Problems Relating to Public Schools", but probably will not touch upon why Miss Lillian Peek, of Lubbock, one of the foremost women in her field and widely loved and respected over the South Plains, was unceremoniously dismissed from his department a few months ago.

In case Mr. Woods happens to read this, let him be assured that this section is full of people who will sharply criticize him for Miss Peek's dismissal until such time as he can and does satisfactorily explain the matter.

"Flame Trail"

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD
(Copyright, 1937, Marie De Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Fire destroys Kay Crandon's ranch house and barn. Neighbor Josh Hastings tries to buy her ranch and court Kay, but she hates him and is determined to rebuild. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. They shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings finds them unconscious and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a cabin where a girl named Marion nurses him. The gun puts Sheriff Farley on Ted's trail. Kay sees Ted and Marion together in the cabin and rides off in jealous agony. She falls. Tom Runyon, the fire patrol, finds her and she babbles unconsciously of Ted's hideout.

Chapter 33
The Tip Off

Tom Runyon stood up and turned his mount about, heading him down the trail. Then stooping, he gathered Kay in his arms, and lay her across the saddle.

Mounting behind her, he gathered her into his arms so that her head rested on his shoulder, and slowly and carefully started the descent.

By the time they reached the stream, it was clear that Kay was not going to be able to ride Flicker back to the ranch. Untying him, Tom gave him a sharp cut of his quirt, and listened while he splashed across the stream and headed up the trail of the western slope of the eastern divide. Then, holding Kay tightly to him, he guided his horse into the dark swirling water.

All through the long ride out of the mountains, Kay babbled on in her delirium, and Tom Runyon listened.

An ugly look lashed into his eyes whenever Kay mentioned Ted's name. It was evident that she thought more of Ted than Tom had supposed, but instead of shaking him from his purpose to win Kay for himself, it made him all the more determined.

As he made his plans for getting rid of his rival, Tom gave a vicious chuckle. He had him where he wanted him, all right! But it wouldn't do to take any chances on his making a get-away! He must get to a telephone as soon as possible.

Then Tom struck on a brilliant idea. Why not take Kay directly to the Flying Six? Her aunt was there, and she would be much better cared for, than in her little cabin. He had never met Josh Hastings, but he knew that he had been a friend of Kay's father, so he felt sure he'd be only too glad to look after her.

Suiting the action to the thought, Tom struck out across the mesa to the Flying Six.

Kay's delirious talk had subsided some time before, and she rested a dead weight in his arms, as he urged his mount on. Her breathing was even and reassuring. Even though she was undoubtedly suffering from concussion from her fall, the indications were that it was not serious. He knew it might be some time before she completely regained consciousness.

The late moon was rising in the east as they came in sight of the Flying Six ranch house, a dark rambling mass in the silver light. Following up a shrill whistle with a loud "Whoopee," Tom clattered up to the front steps.

Phoning The Sheriff

A light flickered past the living room windows, and the next minute, Josh Hastings pulled open the front door.

"Kay Crandon's had an accident, and I brought her here," Tom Runyon began, rather importantly. "She——"

He got no farther. A shriek from Aunt Kate's open window was followed by shuffling footsteps down the hall, and Aunt Kate's dishevelled head appeared over Josh Hastings' shoulder.

"Where is she" She imperiously pushed him aside and made for the steps, where she met Tom Runyon coming up with Kay in his arms.

"What's happened?" she demanded fiercely. "What have you done to her?"

"She had an ugly fall," Tom Runyon carried Kay up on the porch, and laid her down in the hammock. "She'll be all right," he added. "It's just a slight concussion, but I thought she'd be better off here, than she would be over at her place."

"You were dead right," Josh Hastings boomed. "We'll look after her, don't you worry. But where——"

"I'll tell you all that later," Tom broke in, leaving Aunt Kate fussing over Kay, while he beckoned Josh Hastings to one side. "I've got to get in touch with Zeke Farley P. D. Q."

Josh Hastings motioned him toward the door. "You'll find the phone right there on my desk." He followed Tom Runyon inside. "What's up?"

"I've located that Gaynor guy who's wanted for murder," Tom Runyon swelled with importance as he reached for the telephone. Intent on getting his number, he failed to see the gleam of triumph that quickly flashed in Josh Hastings' eyes.

"Where is he?" he demanded eagerly.

Tom motioned him to wait, as he bent to the telephone.

"This Zeke Farley? I'm Tom Runyon, the fire patrol. I want to tip you off about that Gaynor bird."

An explosive oath over the wire could be heard, even where Josh Hastings was standing.

"Yeah, I know where he is all right," Tom went on. "He's up in a cabin by a clearing on the south side of the central divide. Up there with a girl friend," he added, with a malicious laugh.

Again Josh Hastings could hear the sheriff's exclamation.

"Yeah, I said 'girl friend'," Tom repeated. "Kay Crandon saw them up there—that's how I know. He's there now. How long he'll be there, I can't tell you."

There was a long pause while Zeke Farley's voice rumbled over the wire.

"Reckon that's your best bet," Tom agreed finally. "I'm telephoning from the Flying Six."

There was another pause.

"O. K. I reckon they'll give me a shake down." Tom cocked an inquiring eye at Josh Hastings, who nodded his assent.

"What did he say?" he demanded eagerly as Tom hung up the receiver.

"He's notifying Sam Cutter over in the Clear Water basin and starting off to meet him there." Tom turned to the porch. "How about getting Kay to bed somewheres, and I'll give you the dope?"

Aunt Kate met them at the doorway.

"Put Kay right in that spare bed in my room," she ordered, crisply taking charge of the situation. "I reckon you're right about its being a concussion, young man." She fixed Tom with a severely appraising eye. "Only I don't see why you couldn't have prevented its happening at all!"

"I wasn't there," Tom defended. He stooped down to pick Kay up, but Josh Hastings shoved him unceremoniously aside.

"Here! I'll do that!"

Tom watched Josh Hastings with surprised and smouldering eyes, as he gathered Kay into his arms and carried her through the door.

"You needn't look like that, young man," Aunt Kate observed tartly, as she prepared to follow after them. "These two are as good as engaged and you may as well know it now as later!"

His jaw dropped with chagrin and amazement as he watched Aunt Kate disappear inside the house.

'Throw 'Em Up, Sister'

Marion Howell stirred restlessly on her bunk that was in the tiny room off the main shack where Ted was sleeping.

She had thrown herself fully dressed on the bunk, as she had done every night since Ted had appeared. Now that he was out of danger, she wouldn't be so constantly on call, she reflected, as she raised herself on one elbow and glanced out the crack in the boarded-up window over her bunk.

The first gray light of dawn was cold and cheerless, and with a shiver, she dropped back, and was preparing for more sleep, when a snapping of twigs caught her ear. She told herself it was only an animal prowling through the brush, but an instinct of alarm nevertheless impelled her to get up and creep through Ted's room to the front door.

Noticing with a glow of satisfaction how deeply and quietly he was sleeping, she went to the front door with an amused smile at herself for her nervousness.

As she put her hand on the latch to pull it open, a shove from the outside flung it in, nearly knocking her down as it swung back, revealing a group of men. One of them instantly covered her with his gun.

"Throw 'em up, sister," he commanded, "and the less fuss you make, the better for you!" He made way for the others to pass. "Go on in, and hog-tie that bird," he ordered, keeping one eye on Marion to see how she was going to respond to this surprise invasion.

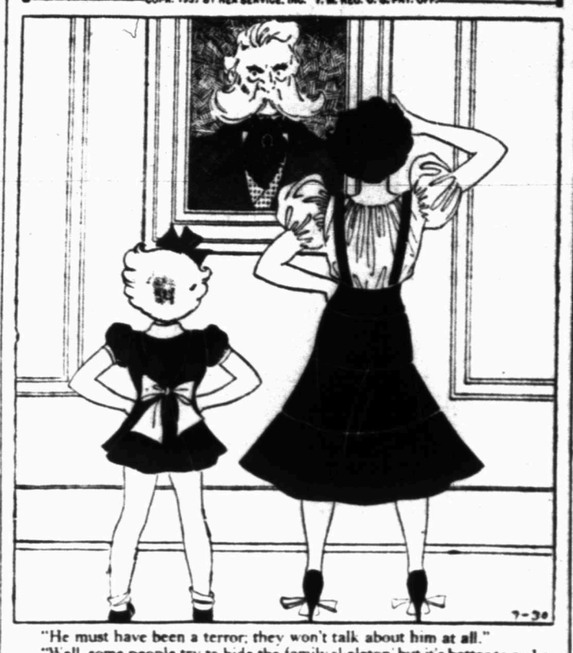

"There's no use throwing my hands up, as I haven't a gun." Marion was amazed at the calmness of her own voice, which belied the sick terror that possessed her. Every instinct was alert to keep her wits about her, as the only possible way to save Ted, and her father as well. "What right have you to break in this way?"

"The right of the law to arrest a murderer," Zeke Farley answered with brutal abruptness.

AFTER ALL, WHO CAN BLAME THEM?

For 26 years the state of Wisconsin has had what is known as its "Apprenticeship law", which provides its youngsters a chance to learn a trade under the combined supervision of the state, their employers and their parents.

Although the law, when passed, was hailed as destined to offer great opportunities to Wisconsin youngsters, it didn't "go over so big" with them. Only recently have the boys and girls of that state begun to co-operate in the novel idea.

For 26 years most Wisconsin youths, upon graduating from the grades or high school, spurned the opportunities offered by this law. They preferred, officials say, to go on to higher education or make their bid for "white collar" jobs.

The current trend away from that position is explained with the theory that youth is recognizing that not all of us can be doctors, lawyers or school teachers. Corollary to that is the really horrifying conclusion that these young folks also have decided that not all of us—contrary to an honored tradition—may grow up to become President.

But worst of all, especially in the light of the inquisitorial liquidation of the court change bill in Washington, is the haunting fear that many of these youngsters may not even want to be President.

And The Journal can't blame them for that!

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 30.—The picture, "Stand-In," purports to be an inside story of Hollywood. Leslie Howard is a bright young eastern banker who believes that everything—even the picture business—is reducible to dollars and cents. So he comes here to manage a studio which his bank has acquired.

His disillusionment and difficulties make good comedy, but the portrayal of Hollywood is a rather astonishing departure from facts.

It is astonishing because it overplays the sham of the picture business and the crudities of the movie colonists.

A newspaper correspondent, relaying Malaproprian producer jokes in his writings, strikes sparks from flint-headed executives. The latter protest that such gags are a libel on the new dignity of a great industry which is well on its way to artistic and maybe even cultural pre-eminence.

I do not mean to say that the press is browbeaten or threatened. But there is a strong feeling that Hollywood reporting should be unvaryingly "constructive."

So what? So along comes a movie studio with a satirical flicker yarn about Hollywoodsmen who are conniving and crude. About the only nice person whom Banker Howard can find is a disillusioned stand-in (Joan Blondell) who used to be a child star.

Allan Mowbray is a director who is seen wolfing caviar from a can. His home is an architectural atrocity combining the worst features of several different periods of design. He gives a party at which he and his guests frolic in an orgy of bad taste.

Punny?—sure it's funny. But it isn't Hollywood, 1937. And many fans will receive it as a fairly true picture.

* * *

Touchy Subjects

Another thing—the matter of "special effects" and mechanical fakery. Certain studios, notably M-G-M, still guard belligerently their process stages and refuse to admit that there is any such thing as a transparency, which is a background picture projected on a translucent screen.

Also, most of the companies are touchy on the subject of miniature shots, and on the dubbing of voices which are previously recorded.

In "Stand-In," you will see Marla Shelton climbing a snow-covered slope. Then the camera will pan backward to reveal an illusion. You will see that Miss Shelton is walking on a treadmill. She's getting nowhere at all, but cotton snow on another endless belt is passing her in the opposite direction.

Also passing her is a procession of pine trees on wheels. Overhead is a revolving, perforated cylinder from which falls snow in the form of uncooked corn-flakes.

Yes, it's funny. But again it isn't Hollywood. Movie magicians do those things much better these days. They do 'em so well that even visitors on a set are captured by illusion. I haven't seen a treadmill in action since a stock company presented "Ben Hur" at the op'ry house back home.

No doubt this is all very creditable evidence that Hollywood is learning to laugh at itself and to burlesque itself. And more power to it.

But I shall be surprised if certain hypersensitive big-wigs fail to speak harshly to Walter Wanger for making such a picture as "Stand-In."

* * *

Piling It On

The true Hollywood is not glamorous and hectic enough for this picture because the producer determined to show it as fans imagine it. Or as fans are believed to imagine it.

For example, some scenes were taken at one of the gates of the United Artists' Studio. But the gate itself and the normal activity there were not enough for the film.

A lot of fancy iron filigree work was installed, together with many uniformed guards, a throng of curious gapers, and a steady procession of hired limousines and liveried chauffeurs.

There's a good deal of legitimate activity on the lot, but it didn't look busy enough to satisfy the flicker fans. So studio streets were littered with electric cables and lights, scurrying workmen, trucks and cars, and hundreds of extras who were hired to impersonate themselves.

There were bankers and Indians, deep-sea divers and soldiers, chorus cuties, gipsies, dowagers and crones.

Hollywood knows a lot about acting, and can reproduce convincingly any locale on earth. But it just can't behave naturally when it attempts to play itself.

Stanley Reed And Sam Bratton Are Regarded As Best Bets For Supreme Court's Vacancy

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 30.—This is the best guess available right now, and please remember it's only a guess:

Solicitor General Stanley F. Reed will be appointed to the Supreme court to succeed Justice Willis Van Devanter, retired.

Next best guess, perhaps, is Judge Sam G. Bratton of Albuquerque, N. M., sitting in the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals. Including parts of eight western states. At any rate, the White House is hearing plenty from Bratton's backers.

Dutcher

One of the worst crimes the New Deal ever committed against the country and itself was the thing it did to the solicitor-general's office after Felix Frankfurter had refused the post in 1933. But Reed took that office more than two years ago and has carried the brunt of defending New Deal laws before the Supreme court, lately with conspicuous success. He argued the Wagner Act as well as the AAA case and many others.

Reed for several years was counsel for the old Hoover farm board and early in 1933 became general counsel for RFC under Hoover. He served Roosevelt ably as a legal expert in the banking emergency. He was slated for a federal judgeship in Kentucky when Roosevelt decided he should be solicitor-general. His arguments have indicated definite liberalism along with a desire to fit New Deal laws into reasonable constitutional limitations. He is 53 years old.

Bratton was a liberal Democratic senator from New Mexico until Roosevelt made him a federal judge. As an ex-senator, he could be sure of little opposition to his confirmation.

* * *

Raw Wounds

Don't fall too hard for these nice, pretty stories about harmony restored in the Democratic party. Knives are being sharpened as never before. If Roosevelt and his friends have anything to do about it, 1938 will be known to history as "the great year of reprisals," meaning that Roosevelt will not forgive or forget the scuttling of the court bill and other items of his program.

Even while Vice-President Jack Garner and his Democratic-Republican coalition seemed to rule the Capitol Hill roost after giving the court bill its coup de grace, Roosevelt showed that he was still trying to run the works by taking Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley off for a yacht week-end. And their sole companions were the LaFollette brothers of Wisconsin, who come nearest to being prospective leaders of a new Farmer-Labor party.

Senator Ed Burke of Nebraska, opposition court plan leader, got to see Roosevelt through Garner's request, assured the President that the Senate judiciary committee would do its best to patch up a good bill and expressed the hope that there would be no hard feelings.

Roosevelt, according to an authoritative source, merely sat, listened, made no reply and puffed cigaret smoke up into the air until Secretary Marvin McIntyre came in to announce the next visitor.

* * *

Big Ballot

Senator Barkley, the new majority leader, described his emotions at the caucus leadership election as the vote counter reached the point where he had pulled out 37 slips of paper declaring for Pat Harrison and 27 for himself.

"That last ballot looked as big as a quilt!" he says.

* * *

The Senate Fight

Your correspondent may have erred in asserting recently that Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana would be the assistant majority leader under Barkley. Minton wants his close friend, Senator Lew Schwellenbach of Washington, to take the job. It is probable that Senator Hugo Black of Alabama will be made another assistant leader and that Minton will become the party whip.

The extent to which these men and other Senate New Dealers can operate successfully in assembling a pro-administration majority in the Senate will decide whether Congress is to be under control of Garner or Roosevelt. The question right now is determination as to how much of the Roosevelt program can be salvaged from the debris in the "We wanna go home!" cry of the Garner-Republican-conservative Democrat coalition.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 2 to 7 lower with influence of steady cables offset by favorable crop and weather advices. Oct 10.77; Dec 10.71; Jan 10.75; Mch 10.82, May 10.90, Jly 10.92.

Liverpool and Bombay were fairly active sellers here at the opening but offerings were soon absorbed at the initial declines, which represented further new lows for the movement.

The market then turned steadier on trade buying and covering. Locals and New Orleans brokers bought because of a belief foreign pressure would let up with the Liverpool market closed Saturday and Monday for the bank holidays.

Covering became more active toward the end of the first half hour to carry December up from 10.75 to 10.84 and the general list to net gains of 4 to 8 points.

After advancing to net gains of 5 to 10 points on covering, trade and New Orleans buying, cotton turned easier toward midday as Wall Street selling appeared on bulges.

December reacted from 10.87 to 10.77 to carry the list back to about the previous closing levels by midday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 30. (AP) — Lower foreign markets, additional liquidation and short selling on the continued favorable weather in the belt caused an opening decline of 8 to 13 points in the cotton market here today.

All positions made new lows for the season with Oct. starting at 10.75, Dec. at 10.75, Jan. at 10.79, March at 10.90, May at 10.95 and July at 10.94.

After the start a good demand was encountered and most of the early decline was recovered with active positions rallying to within 1 to 4 points of the previous close towards the end of the first half hour.

(The Japanese cabinet decided on a series of "second steps" in the undeclared war. After a secret meeting the proposals were placed before Emperor Hirohito. Japanese reported the capture of Taku, one of Tientsin's two ports.

At Tokyo, Japanese officers said "Japan must attack" if the central Chinese army moves into the so-called demilitarized zone.)

While new fighting broke out at Peiping, a 2-day Chinese attack on Tientsin, 70 miles east, ended in apparent complete failure.

Fail To Follow Advantage

The Chinese did not follow up the advantage gained in their surprise assault, and a systematic Japanese aerial bombardment which destroyed Chinese positions in parts of Tientsin yesterday.

Two brigades of Chinese regulars retreated rapidly there today from positions gained in the first attack. Within the city, members of the Chinese peace preservation corps turned in their arms, abandoned the attack, and asked assistance of foreign consulates in restoring Tientsin to normalcy.

In thirty hours if fighting, Chinese centers of resistance were destroyed. The extent of military casualties could not be determined immediately. Many civilians were killed and the property loss was heavy.

Bombardment Justified

Japanese considered their drastic bombardment "fully justified." It ended major hostilities at Tientsin, although handfus of Chinese snprers and machine gun nests kept Japanese from restoring telegraphic communications. Peiping's only communication with Tientsin was by wireless.

At Tsinanfu, capital of Hopeh province, 130,000 Chinese Christians pledged loyalty, through their representatives, to Chiang Kai-Shek in a "defensive war" against Japan.

(The state department at Washington reported it had received encouraging reports on the safety of Americans in China. Secretary of State Hull said the situation appeared serious, but added that he saw no occasion yet for any governmental action.)

Within Peiping's walls conditions were reasonably orderly with Gen. Chang Tsu-Chung, new head of the Hopeh-Chahar provincial council, organizing an emergency protective committee. Chinese charged this was the first step in setting up a Japanese protected state such as Manchoukuo. A similar peace preservation committee was formed in Manchuria in 1931 before it declared its independence as Manchoukuo.

An estimated 500 Americans are now living as refugees in the embassy quarter, well supplied with food and medical necessities. They are under the protection of United States marines and their morale continued high. No foreigners in the embassy were thought to be in any danger.

One of the outstanding features of the new bodies is described by city officials as being the lift mechanism. It is a large container approximately level with the hubs of the truck wheels. When it is filled, a lever action lifts it above the body of the truck and dumps its contents into the bed. This will remove the necessity of workmen lifting cans above their heads, as now is the case, to empty garbage into trucks.

The corporation said other Texas savings and loan associations have submitted applications for this protection.

Capt. Richard B. Wysong of the pilot boat William D. Sanner, which aided in rescue work, said several of the City of Baltimore's lifeboats had been lowered when the Sanner reached the scene.

The City of Baltimore, witnesses said, turned and headed for the shallow water of the west shore.

Luther Booze of Baltimore, fishing nearby, said he and five companions were the first boat on the scene.

"We yelled to the people to jump," he said, "but they seemed too hysterical to pay any attention. They were scrambling around the railing and screaming."

A few minutes later and it was jump or face the flames. Many nervously pulled themselves to the top rail and let go. Others got over the railing and clung there until the heat forced them to drop.

As the passengers pumped, the small boats plied about, picking them up.

The William D. Sanner, pilot boat, rescued 61.

Max Stein, a Baltimore fruit broker, said that when he jumped into the water a negro, swimming without a life preserver, tore his from him and swam away. Stein said he swam until dragged from the water.

L. S. Harvard, of Newport News, Va., said he and Capt. Charles O. Brooks, the ship's veteran master, were the last to leave the ship.

Boats from nearby United States naval academy and three navy planes were ordered to search his morning for the missing.

Capt. Paul E. Tyler, federal steamboat inspector, postponed the start of a formal inquiry until tomorrow but said he would interview as members of the crew as he could find today.

The roaring flames and a bright moon illuminated the scent for miles. Fishing craft and pleasure boats put out to the liner from many points along the shore.

Z. R. Lewis, who took two of the passengers from the bay, said his boats and others were kept back by the intense heat. But as the boats hovered near, passengers jumped and swam to them.

Geologic Map Of Texas Finished

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The interior department has announced publication of a geologic map of Texas which was ten years in the making.

Designed to show geological data in accurate detail in those regions which have been thoroughly explored, and in a generalized way in other sections of the state, the map is scaled one inch to eight miles and measures seven by eight feet over all.

The data is the result of original field work by members of the United States Geological survey, by individual geologists and oil companies and prepared in cooperation with the bureau of economic geology of the University of Texas.

Pasadena's Colorado Street Span Nearly 'Suicide Proof'

PSADENA, July 30. (AP) — Colorado Street bridge, from which 91 persons have plunged to their death was nearly "suicide proof" today.

One side of the concrete span across the arroyo section has been lined with a 7 1-2 foot high fence, crowned by barbed wire. The rest will be completed in a few days.

The stigma of a suicide, meanwhile, was recorded for a third time against the Los Angeles city hall. An unidentified man, about 35, stepped out of a window on the 20th floor and fell 10 stories to a jutting roof.

Judge Admits Being Prejudiced When Case On Dogs Is Called

MILWAUKEE, July 30 (AP)—Judge George E. Page filed an affidavit of prejudice against himself in district court today when the case of John P. Hallfelder, charged with "harboring four dogs whose constant barking disturbs the neighbors," was called.

"I'll admit being prejudice," said Judge Page. "There's a situation like this in our neighborhood."

Texas Employers Given Warning

(Special To The Avalanche)

AUSTIN, July 30. — In a statement issued today, Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission, warned employers against assuming incorrectly that they are not liable for contributions for 1937 because they have recently reduced their payrolls to less than eight persons.

In other words, Carpenter said, if an employer was subject to the unemployment compensation act on the basis of his employment record in 1936, his liability automatically continues through 1937 regardless of the number of persons he now employes.

The Texas unemployment compensation act provides that "an employing unit shall cease to be an employer subject to this act only as of the first day of January of any calendar year, if it files with the commission prior to the fifth day of January of such year a written application for termination of coverage, and the commission finds that there were no twenty different days, each day being in a different week within the preceding calendar year, within which such employing unit employed eight or more individuals in employment subject to this Act."

Therefore, Carpenter pointed out any employer who becomes subject to the Act must pay contributions for at least two years before he may be relieved of liability.

Approval Given For State Amendments

Approval of proposed constitutional amendments providing aid for the needy blind and for underprivileged children to be submitted to voters of Texas Monday, Aug. 23 was expressed by executives of the Lubbock County Children's council at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the office of the treasurer, Joseph R. Griggs.

The board authorized letters to be sent to various unit members explaining the proposed amendments and asking the members to study and support them.

Mrs. H. P. Godeke, county chairman of a statewide amendment committee, the recently organized State Committee for Social Security with headquarters in Austin, explained the propositions to the council officers, then introduced A. W. Long of Amarillo who answered questions.

Government To Aid

The first amendment, to Article III, will provide for assistance to the needy blind over the age of 21 years, not to exceed $15.00 a month a person and provide for acceptance from the federal government financial aid for such payment.

The second amendment, to the same article would provide for assistance to destitute children under the age of 14 years, not to exceed $8.00 a month for one child or more than $12.00 a month for such children of any one family and for acceptance from the federal government financial assistance for such payment.

If the first amendment carries, the federal government will pay to the state one half of the amount expended for assistance to the blind up to a maximum of $30.00 a month to an individual plus federal grants for payment of administrative expense. Under the second amendment, the federal government, as provided in the Social Security Act, will contribute one-third of the total expenditure of the state.

Mrs. W. D. Wilson, council vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. C. Odom of Slaton. Mrs. J. S. Johnson, secretary, was present.

'Stop-Gap' Plan On Loans Given

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30. — A "stop-gap" plan providing authority for farm loans went to congress today.

Representative Vincent Harrington, Democrat, of Sioux City, Iowa, sponsored a resolution to permit the secretary of agriculture to make loans to farmers on corn, cotton, tobacco, wheat, barley, rye, oats and hops in 1937 and 1938.

Harrington said that since "there apparently will be no farm program enacted" the proposed farm loans might "prevent the prices of crop from going to pieces."

Increase In Beer Taxes Seen By Ruling On Army Posts

AUSTIN, July 30. (AP)—The liquor control board believes revenue from beer taxes will jump more than $40,000 annually because the state tax was applied beginning July 1 to "suds" sold at army post and camp exchanges.

Bert Ford, liquor administrator, said the state's right to tax alcoholic beverages sold on army reservations was demonstrated by a supreme court decision in a California case. However, beer sales in National Guard summer camps at Mineral Wells and Palacios were exempt from taxation.

Hard liquors are not sold at army posts.

Sale Of Potter Pipe Line In Corpus Area Is Announced

KILGORE, July 30. (AP) — Joe Potter of Kilgore today announced sale of the Potter Pipe Line system and a 250,000-barrel storage terminal in the Corpus Christi area to the Amsco Pipe Line company of Chicago.

Potter pipe line is about sixty miles long. Potter said he retained his production in the Corpus Christi section. He said transfer of the property would be effective Aug. 1.

"Barrel Justice" Is Credited With Reducing Delinquency

(By The Associated Press)

PAWHATAN, O., July 30. — Public whipping—or "barrel justice"—was credited today by a county judge with reducing juvenile delinquency nearly 60 per cent in this coal mining village.

For five years Powhattan's 2,500 residents have heard almost daily the swish of the whip as it descended on some youthful culprit's posterior bent over a barrel in the public square.

Since the first public whipping was administered by Hefty Marshal Edward Carpenter, he estimated that 200 youths ranging in age from eight to 15 years had felt the sting of his lash or paddle.

"I know this," said County Probate Judge Harry L. Albright, "juvenile delinquency in Powhattan has fallen off nearly 60 per cent from what it was before Carpenter's 'barrel justice' went into effect.

"They can dispense justice in five minutes over a barrel in a rather effective way."

Marshal Carpenter sits as prosecutor, judge, and jury on cases of juvenile violators. He makes the arrests and decides the degree of punishment on the basis of the offense.

What, No Spinach? Ancient Cliff Dwellers Found To Go In For Vegetable Palates; And Hackberry Cocktail Is Suggested

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, July 30. — The ancient cliff dweller—always considered a strict meat eater—used to go in for vegetable palattes.

National Park service workers dug up some pre-historic tidbits in the ruins of Montezuma Castle National monument, Arizona, and quietly carted them off for indentification.

Fred Gibson of the Boyce-Thompson Southwestern arboretum has just rushed his findings to Washington. There were specimens of corn, beans, onions, and squash.

Nobody knows their age. Furthermore, it doesn't look as if anyone is going to find out, but the park service believes it definitely has something.

The heading of its announcement reads:

"Vegetable plate a la cliff dweller."

Montezuma Castle was built so long ago that the Apaches, who occupied the valley below at the advent of the white man, had forgotten legends about the origin of the structure.

The park service people also found some oak gall, used by discriminating cliff dwellers as an astringent, and some hackberry nuts about which they aren't certain.

A suggestion has been made that the hackberry served as the base for a pre-historic cocktail.

The federal experts are a little disappointed about one feature of the findings—there was no spinach.

Does this mean that cliff dwellers had no spinach?

Or, did they like it so well they devoured every scrap?

That's something to dog dietitians for a century.

Motors Decline During Period

By A. A. PATTON
(Associated Press Statistician)

NEW YORK, July 30. — Second quarter earnings of the first 163 reporting companies were 13 per cent above the comparable period a year ago at $345,402,313, a compilation by the Associated Press showed today.

The rate of gain over the previous year dropped substantially in the latest quarter, the result primarily of drastic declines in profits of General Motors and Chrysler.

Cause Of Setback

Rising costs and inability of the big motor makers to operate at capacity because of strike tieups were said in trade circles to have been the underlying cause of the setback.

Steel producers headed the list of gainers. The first 15 concerns in this group issuing statements for the quarter chalked up a $47,540,183 net income against $20,790,157 in 1936, a 129 per cent advance.

Analysis pointed out, however, the tabulation did not include the two biggest independent steel companies that were strike-bound for a considerable period, Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Building Goes Up

Building equipment concerns turned in the second biggest recovery in profits, up 65 per cent. Although construction slackened somewhat in the period as building costs mounted, new structures were erected at a substantially faster rate this year than last.

Other groups doing better than average were petroleum products, up 62 per cent, machinery manufactories 17, chemicals 15 and utilities 14.

Dividend Of $1.50 Declared By Bethlehem Steel Corp.

Net income for the second quarter totaled $10,022,874 equal to $2.56 a share on the common, compared with $3,431,391 or 49 cents a share in the second quarter of 1936.

Houston Oil Company's Profits Show Increase

Reaction On Oil Hike Is Awaited

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 30. — The oil industry is awaiting with some anxiety the market reaction to Texas' production of approximately 1,500,000 barrels a day after next Saturday.

This amount was 100,000 barrels more than that recommended for Texas by the United States bureau of mines. The bureau's recommendation for the nation was 3,462,001 barrels.

National Flow Is Up

The national oil flow last week was estimated at around 3,580,000 barrels a day, some 150,000 barrels more than the bureau's July recommendation and up approximately 16,000 barrels daily from the previous week's output.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission and chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, maintained Texas production next month would not be greatly out of line with demand. He said consumption of petroleum products was higher in August than in any other month, yet the Texas allowable on August 1 would be less than four per cent larger than that on July 31.

Three States "Offenders"

California, New Mexico and Michigan have been the principal "offenders" lately in percentage of production above bureau of mines estimates. Their output last week was estimated to be more than ten per cent greater than the bureau's July recommendation.

Thompson would give no opinion as to what effect the Texas increase for next month would have on the crude price. Some informed persons thought, however, a price rise would not have come regardless of the production boost because it is too near the end of the peak gasoline consumption period.

To Be Cut Back Again

Texas production will be cut back again this fall if the commission follows its policy of recent years, C. V. Terrell, commission chairman, said refiners using Texas oil would be requested to testify at the next monthly proration hearing concerning whether their crude stocks are adequate.

Officials of the producing states which are members of the interstate oil compact expressed confidence congress would ratify extension of the pact for two more years before its adjournment.

The senate mines and mining committee approved the extension with Senator Marvel M. Logan of Kentucky, the group's chairman, observing that compacts such as the oil agreement "perserve the rights of each separate state and at the same time enable the signatory states to work together on a sound program which all of them will accept."

Finances Are Being Probed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 30 — A senate committee cautiously felt its way today into the labyrinth of state finances.

It acted to determine whether appropriations of the legislature were being spent properly, what the actual needs of the government were and what economies could be made.

The committee first called on Governor James V. Allred, who has repeatedly urged the legislature to remedy the condition of the state treasury.

Summoned R. S. Calvert

Later it summoned R. S. Calvert, statistician for the comptroller's department, to advise on the proper approach to the survey, which Senator T. J. Holbrook, committee chairman, said would be thorough and aimed at practical results.

"Expense of government has increased enormously in the last few years," said Holbrook. "Much of it unquestionably has been due to the depression and a tendency of the people to call on the government for assistance.

Time For A Check-Up

"It may never be possible to reduce the present cost of government, but we do not want it to grow. We think it is time for a check-up to see where we are heading."

The resolution under which the committee was acting asserted the total expenditures for state government each biennium was approximately $250,000,000 and only $50,000,000 was accounted for in appropriations.

The deficit in the general revenue fund currently is about $1,000,000 but is expected to be much larger at the end of another year unless the legislature provides additional revenue.

Final Greetings In Radio Broadcast For Lepers

PAPEETE, Tahiti, July 30 (AP) — Final greetings in the twice-a-week broadcast from the little radio station here always are addressed to lepers. Two colonies, one on Tahiti and the other on the remote island of Reao, recently have obtained battery sets to the great delight of the inmates.

Radio now forms a link with many remote South Sea islands which formerly heard from the outside world only on the rare visit of trading vessels.
