ORIENT BILL PASSED IN SENATE

COMPLAINTS FILED AGAINST MEN WHO SAY WERE ROBBED

RAILROAD EMPLOYE, CHARGES TWO WITH THEFT BY BAILEE.

STICK TO THEIR STORIES IN SPITE OF GRILLING

Accounts Given by Them Do Not Entirely Agree; All the the Money Still Missing

Charges of theft by bailee were filed Friday afternoon against Ben Williams and "Red" Clarke in connection with the alleged daylight holdup of Thursday morning when $1,229 disappeared.

The complaint was signed by A. M. Edwards, one of the workmen who lost his half month's wages. The complaint was filed in Judge Gwinn's court.

Minor discrepancies in their statements to officers in detailing the events of the daylight holdup Thursday noon, caused Ben Williams and R. B. Clarke to be kept as prisoners in the county jail while further investigations are being made.

The men stuck to their stories under vigorous questioning.

The $1,229.90, which the two men relate was taken from them by two highwaymen has vanished. This amount represents, in total, the half month's wages of a score of employes of the car department of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern. The men, whose bread money vanished, walked the floors at the city hall and court house Thursday night with their calloused hands clinched. Many of them had board bills of two weeks standing to pay.

The two men from whom the pay roll was taken agree to the substantial facts of the holdup but differ on certain minor details.

Pistol Was Used.

The substantial facts as related by the two men, who were kept separated from the time they were taken into custody at 12:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon until after 6:00 o'clock in the evening was that Williams had cashed the checks and had started back with the cash in his five-passenger Ford car, when he picked up Clarke.

At the viaduct another automobile containing two men drove up alongside of the Ford and one of the men jumped on the running board of the Ford and stuck a pistol into the side of the two men in the front seat. The man ordered them to look straight ahead and take orders from him.

Arriving at the cross road where the Iowa Park road branches off, the man ordered that the car be turned to the right on the Thornberry road. At the junction of the river road the driver was directed to take that course. The second automobile followed the Ford a short distance.

Approximately four miles from the city near the Tyson lake the Ford was turned off behind a high embankment where it would not be seen by passers by.

Williams and Clarke were blindfolded and gagged and the money taken from them. The two men state that they heard the automobile leave and in a short time they released themselves from the blindfold and the hindrance placed in their mouths.

They jumped in the Ford and returned to the city to relate their experiences and tell of the loss of money.

The stories of the two men do not correspond with reference to the point where Williams picked up Clarke, nor as to the procedure they went through with near Tysons Lake.

Williams asserts that he picked Clarke up directly in front of the Security National Bank where the men's pay checks were cashed. Clarke tells that Williams hailed him on Ohio street, half way in the block between Eighth and Seventh streets.

At the lake where the men were ordered out of the car, Williams states that he was blindfolded first while Clarke claims he was first.

Williams told officers immediately after being taken into custody that his check had been cashed and that his money was also taken but a search of the man's effects by officers revealed the man's pay check uncashed in his trouser pocket.

Each one of the pay checks had been cashed separately and the amounts placed in separate envelopes and marked. A trip to the point where the men state they reluctantly gave up the money revealed one of the pay envelopes with a corner torn out and the money missing.

The daylight holdup has given rise to two inferences by Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Miller who was in charge of the case. One of the conjectures would incriminate two men while the other would incriminate three.

Investigation at the railroad shops revealed that Williams was regularly employed as an inspector of cars while Clarke was not employed there, having been discharged three weeks ago.

Deputy Miller stated Friday morning that he was convinced that the holdup had been planned and probably tipped off from the "inside." His statement that in his opinion it was an "inside" job was given credence by the other officers who assisted him in the investigations.

No charges had been filed against anyone, in connection with the case at a late hour Friday morning.

ARMY APPROPRIATION MEASURE IS SIGNED

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The army appropriation bill which carries an appropriation of $56,530,000 for river and harbors projects, was signed today by President Harding, the governor.

HOUSE REFUSES TO AGREE TO OIL TAX RATE OF 2 CENTS

DOES NOT CONCUR IN SENATE AMENDMENT TO COFFEE BILL.

PASS BILL AMENDING STATE ELECTION LAW

Would Require That Poll Tax Receipts Show Party Affiliation.

AUSTIN, March 2.—The house this morning refused to concur in the senate amendment to the Coffee bill reducing the tax on oil production from three to two per cent and authorized the appointment of a free conference committee. The vote was 99 to 21. A motion by Representative Hardin of Kaufman to concur was tabled.

The house engrossed and finally passed, 89 to 22, the Davenport bill amending the primary and general election statutes so as to require all poll tax receipts and exemption certificates to show the political party to which the person holding them belongs. The bill further provides that parties casting 10,000 votes or more shall nominate their candidates through the primary election system, all primary elections to be held on the same day. Another provision requires that lists of voters used in primary elections shall show the political affiliation of each voter and that no voter who has declared himself a member of one party shall vote in the primary election of any other party. The bill now goes to the senate.

What is said by sponsors of the bill to be one of its most important features is that one empowering state executive committees of parties holding primary elections to prescribe the qualifications of voters in such primaries, which qualifications shall be uniform throughout the state and shall be enforced by all county executive committees of the parties.

"The purpose and effect of this provision is to eliminate the negro vote at primaries," Representative Davenport said.

The house commemorated the 87th anniversary of the declaration of Texas independence by hearing a short address by Adjutant General T. D. Barton and reading of one of the first printed copies of the declaration.

CHIEF OPERATING OFFICIALS OF KATY HAVE CONFERENCE

DALLAS, March 2.—Chief operating officials of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway were in conference here today at the offices of W. M. Whitenton, assistant chief operating officer. It is understood operation of the line under the newly reorganized plan was the principal matter under consideration. General Manager H. E. McGee, of Parsons, Mechanical Superintendent T. K. Tutt, of Denison, and superintendents and master mechanics from Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas points were present.

NORWEGIAN GOVERNMENT RESIGNS WHEN PROPOSAL FOR TREATY IS REJECTED

By Associated Press.

CHRISTIANA, March 2.—The Norwegian government has resigned following rejection by the storthing of its proposal for a commercial treaty with Portugal. The proposal was voted down 119 to 22.

Negotiations for a commercial treaty between Norway and Portugal have been in progress for several months and a Lisbon dispatch last night said a settlement had been reached whereby Portuguese wines would again be placed on sale in Norway with the Norwegian government itself a buyer. Under Norway's prohibition law the wines could not be sold as beverages, being destined chiefly for medicinal and technical purposes.

FLOOD CONTROL BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Mississippi river flood control bill, authorizing an expenditure of $10,000,000 a year for six years under the direction of the Mississippi river commission, was passed by the house and sent to the senate today.

COURT MEASURES ARE PASSED OVER GOVERNOR'S VETO

AUSTIN, March 2.—Bills creating district courts in Bexar, Tarrant and Hidalgo Counties were passed by both branches of the legislature over the governor's vetoes.

The senate passed finally house bill creating the 92nd judicial district composed of Young and Stephens Counties, and it now goes to the governor.

COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS TO HEAR MAYFIELD CONTEST

SUCH IS OPINION OF R. B. CREAGOR, GIVEN AT DALLAS.

EXPECTS FAVORABLE REPORT ON M'NARY

Forecasts Nomination and Election Of President Harding In 1924.

DALLAS, March 2.—The contest over the seat of Earle B. Mayfield in the United States senate will be left to the committee of privileges and elections in the next congress and will not be investigated by a special committee appointed at the present session, in the opinion of R. B. Creager, chairman of the Texas Republican executive committee and personal friend of President Harding, who was here today after a visit to Washington. He branded the Mayfield contest as "overshadowing the Newberry case."

"I am sure that the committee will report favorably on the nomination of J. G. McNary of El Paso to be comptroller of the currency," Mr. Creager said in discussing affairs at the capital. "His nomination will be either favorably reported today or not at all and in that event he will be given a recess appointment."

Mr. McNary is head of the First National Bank of El Paso, one of the largest institutions of the kind in the south. His appointment is to fill the vacancy made by the nomination of D. R. Crissinger, for governor of the federal reserve system.

Discussing possible recognition of Mexico, Mr. Creager said that "conditions were substantially as they have been, that a very friendly feeling existed between the two nations."

"No one can say now," he said, "when recognition will be given it will be worked out some time, though."

Henry Ford, William G. Gaddoo and Senator Underwood were named by chance possible Democratic candidates for the presidency in 1924.

"Ford," he said, "will undoubtedly be a candidate. McAdoo's friends will make him one and Senator Underwood will be a very formidable one."

"It doesn't make any difference who runs on the Democratic ticket," he added, "President Harding will be renominated by the Republican party and will be elected."

MURDER AND SUICIDE IS THEORY OF POLICE

MANILA, March 2.—Murder and suicide with the woman in the dominant role, today had replaced a suicide pact as the policy theory of the deaths in a hotel here Wednesday of George Baldwin, actor and composer of New York and San Francisco, and Mrs. Ann B. Schlessinger, middle aged stenographer.

The police said they believed that Baldwin, thinking he had whiskey, drank a poison potion prepared by Mrs. Schlessinger, who then drained a similar brew. It was found that she had bought poison in a drug store, saying she desired it to remove spots from clothing.

Several empty whiskey bottles were found in the hotel room. The two were known to have quarreled on several occasions and investigators expressed the opinion that the woman, in a fit of anger, poisoned the whiskey.

When the bodies were first found the police pronounced it a death pact.

FEAR RESULT OF HIGH TENSION IN OCCUPATION AREA

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Apprehension that the atmosphere of "high tension" prevailing among the German population in the occupied Ruhr district "may in the near future lead to explosions" of disorder, was expressed in a formal statement issued last night by the German embassy.

Should the population "already severely tried, let itself be led to acts of desperation," the statement said, the German government "will not be in a position to guarantee the maintenance of peace and order in the occupied territory."

This condition arises, it was said, from the "paralyzation by the French of the German official apparatus in the Ruhr" including the order disbanding the German security police of the urban and rural district of Essen and the reported disarming of the security police at other places.

The atmosphere of high tension described as prevailing among the population was said to have been created by the "ever more numerous and brutal expulsions, draconic sentences by courtmartial, pillages and ill treatment in the streets, and through the oppressions of entire towns."

PIONEER MANUFACTURER DIES AT TROY, NEW YORK

TROY, N. Y., March 2.—James M. Ide, one of the pioneer collar manufacturers of the country and a director of George P. Ide and Company, Inc., died today. He was 73 years old.

Radio Restores Child's Hearing

FORT WORTH, March 2.—Radio has qualified again in a new role, that of restoring the hearing of a person deaf from birth.

Six-year-old Virginia Troy of Gorman heard a sound for the first time in her life last night when she suddenly heard a Fort Worth radio concert while sitting in a radio studio at Gorman, according to a long distance telephone message from the overjoyed parents of the little girl.

Although not a sound had been heard by the child since her birth she heard every word of the concert and was reluctant to turn loose the receivers when the music was ended. The parents, according to the long distance message, attribute the miracle to vibration of the radio waves.

WICHITA FALLS IS SCHEDULED WITH THE MATHIS TEAM

AUSTIN, March 2.—State tournament basket ball results:

El Paso 44, Bogata 19.

San Antonio 34, Joaquin 19.

Athens 24, Tabor 19.

Shiner 28, Freeport 13.

AUSTIN, March 2.—The third annual interscholastic basket ball tournament in which 16 high school teams from various sections of the state got under way this morning with Breckenridge high school of San Antonio playing Joaquin in the first contest.

During the morning Athens met Tabor and the strong El Paso team was pitted against Bogata, the quintet composed of men all six feet tall. Shiner, winner from Austin High School in the bi-district championship contest, had a bye over for its opponent.

This afternoon beginning at 1:30 Oak Cliff was scheduled to play Kenedy and Whitney against Ralls. San Angelo versus Stephenville and Wichita Falls versus Mathis were other games scheduled for the afternoon.

Tonight at 7:00 o'clock winners of the preliminary contests will meet in the semi-finals. The semi-finals will continue through Saturday morning and Saturday night the final game to determine the state title will be played. Presentation of cups and medals by Lieut. Gov. T. W. Davidson will follow the conclusion of the championship game Saturday night.

PLAN INVESTIGATION RECENT ADVANCES IN THE PRICE OF SUGAR

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Investigation by the senate manufacturing committee headed by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin of the recent advance in the price of sugar was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa.

The committee would be directed "to investigate the manipulations of the sugar market and ascertain the cause of the rapid advance in the price of sugar notwithstanding the fact that the secretary of commerce announces that there is no world shortage of the sugar supply."

The investigation would proceed during the recess of congress.

GERMAN TOWNS ARE FINED BY FRENCH

ESSEN, March 2.—The town of Bochum has been fined 2,000,000 marks because two news dealers were beaten by Germans for selling French newspapers. The town of Kettwig, near Essen, where military telephone wires were cut, has been fined 1,000,000 marks.

SENATE VOTES FOR PENALTY REVISION PROHIBITION LAW

REMOVES PRISON PENALTY FOR THE FIRST TWO VIOLATIONS.

PASS BILL TO PREVENT "THREE PER CENT" LOANS

Governor Is Commended For Request That Commission Keep Out Of Politics.

AUSTIN, March 2.—The senate today unanimously passed the Holbrook bill which proposes to prohibit the operation in Texas of loan associations commonly known as "three per cent" companies. The vote was 29 to 0. The measure was not debated, several minor amendments being adopted without objection. A ruling of the attorney general recently held such firms to be unlawful.

Governor Neff was commended for his action in asking the two newly appointed members of the railroad commission to agree not to seek any other political office while members of the commission in a resolution offered by Senator Floyd and adopted.

The Fairchild bill revising penalties under the Dean prohibition act was passed finally by a vote of 13 to 11. The bill removes the penitentiary penalty for the first two offenses of violating the prohibition act, assessing fines and jail penalties, while for the third offense a prison sentence is provided.

The Clark bill requiring the state superintendent of education to pay fees received from teachers' examinations into the state treasury also was passed finally. The Parr tick and dipping bill was passed after amendments had been adopted exempting approximately forty counties from provisions of the act.

Activities in the Near East drive were commended in resolutions introduced by Senator Davis and adopted.

The Wood bill proposing an extensive survey of the educational system of Texas by non-interested persons, was considered briefly. An amendment to increase the appropriation for the survey from $50,000 to $75,000 was submitted and one to reduce the amount to $10,000 also was offered.

Baylor Freshmen Give Sophomores Shower of Eggs

WACO, March 2.—Sophomores of Baylor university, while banqueting at the Hotel Raleigh Thursday night, had their feast interrupted by a shower of decayed eggs, hurled by Baylor freshmen. Some of the eggs were thrown through the windows and several panes of glass were broken.

The freshmen were on guard outside the hotel, when the banquet ended and some of the sophomore members were roughly handled.

Damage sustained by the hotel was covered by riot insurance which was secured Thursday afternoon.

UNIVERSITY FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES CLASH

AUSTIN, March 2.—Freshmen and sophomores of the University of Texas met in a friendly clash early this morning on the university campus as a feature of the annual freshmen "rush" on the men's dormitories. Freshmen who advanced on the dormitory were met by a band of upper classmen and drenched with the aid of two fire hose that had been placed in readiness. The freshmen also were given paddling. Several participants of the fray received slight bruises although early reports that shots were exchanged and several students injured were declared to be unfounded.

CHARGE FRAUD IN CONNECTION WITH SCHOOL BUILDING

WACO, TEXAS, March 2.—This morning the trustees of the public schools at West, 18 miles north of Waco, secured a temporary injunction in the 74th district court here as a result of which work on the new $55,000 school building at West is discontinued, pending a hearing on the application for the injunction.

The trustees direct their action against Mayor J. E. Bridges and the city commissioners of West and the contractor, C. L. Hendrick. The petition alleges fraud in awarding the contract.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN IS KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK CONDUCTOR IS INJURED

ARDMORE, OKLA., March 2.—An unidentified man was killed and M. C. Morris, the conductor-brakeman, was slightly injured when six cars of a west bound Oklahoma, New Mexico and Pacific railroad freight train were derailed near here today. The dead man is believed to have been "beating his way." Spreading rails was assigned as the cause of the accident.

SAYS OBLIGATION OF KLAN SUPERIOR TO WITNESS OATH

SUCH IS ATTITUDE TAKEN BY ORGANIZER IN STATE OF KANSAS.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS A CONFLICTING VIEW

H. H. Kitchen Sent to Jail On His Refusal to Answer Questions.

TOPEKA, KAN., March 2.—With one representative of the Ku Klux Klan in the Shawnee county jail here because of his refusal to answer questions, the state today continued the hearing before a supreme court commission in its suit to oust the klan from Kansas.

H. H. Kitchen, klan organizer, formerly of Oklahoma City, was committed to jail by the supreme court late yesterday, judged in contempt of that court for refusal to divulge at the hearing the names of persons who had signed their names to a Topeka membership petition. Kitchen held that this oath as a klansman bound him to secrecy and was superior to his oath as a court witness.

Attorneys for the klan announced a test of the case would be taken to the United States supreme court and indicated habeas corpus proceedings would be brought to obtain Kitchen's release. Defense counsel emphasized that Kitchen did not refuse to answer questions because of any disrespect for the court, but claimed the right to refuse, until ordered otherwise by the court of last resort.

Carl McManus, assistant to Kitchen, was scheduled to resume the stand today. At the hearing yesterday he did not refuse to answer questions concerning klan operations in the state. He testified, however, that although he had administered the klan oath to several hundred Kansans, in Topeka and elsewhere, he made known the names of none of them.

Commissioner Brewster excused the witness until today with an admonition to "put his memory to work during the night."

William Wood, of Kansas City, Kan., one of the klan attorneys in the present case, also was on the calendar to testify again today. At the hearing yesterday he admitted he was a member of the klan.

BODY REPRESENTATIVE BOURKE COCKRAN TO BE REMOVED TO NEW YORK

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The body of Representative W. Bourke Cockran who died at his home here yesterday, will be taken to New York for interment Sunday afternoon, under plans announced today by the sergeant at arms of the house.

I. C. COMMISSION IS INVESTIGATING HALE HOLDEN PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Members of the interstate commerce commission made exhaustive queries today into plans for far-flung railroad consolidations in the west proposed by Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

On the witness stand before the commission Mr. Holden defended at every point the proposal which he has made for combining practically all the western railroads into four great operating units, each of which would operate more than 30,000 miles of line.

Commissioner Hall questioned the advisability of Mr. Holden's project for splitting ownership of the Denver and Rio Grande Western and Denver and Salt Lake between two of the great mergers built around the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific systems.

"My object there is to provide the financial strength which would be necessary to develop particularly the Denver and Rio Grande Western," Mr. Holden explained.

"A large amount of money ought to be spent on the Rio Grande to bring it up to the standard of the other western railroads and to develop its territory. I think the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe could provide the necessary funds."

FAIL TO AGREE ON COMPROMISE PLAN ON TEXT BOOK BILL

AUSTIN, March 2. — Conference committees on the Pope text book bill seeking to annul recent awards of the text book commission failed to agree on a comprise plan at a meeting this morning. A portion of the senate representatives are said to oppose eliminating the senate amendment which would permit suits to be brought to test legality of the awards. Following the conference, it was said the committee may report back to the senate today and leave the matter of a compromise to the senate as a whole. Otherwise the committee probably will resign.

PROVIDES THREE MILLION LOAN TO INSURE OPERATION OF ROAD; MEASURE NOW GOES TO HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Relief for the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad through authorization for an additional loan of $3,000,000 from the government revolving fund was authorized in a bill passed today by the senate and sent to the house.

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The senate today, at the instance of Senator Sheppard, passed the bill recommended by the Interstate Commerce Commission authorizing a loan of up to $3,000,000 to the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad, in the event additional funds are required and public interest demands it. The proposed loan will be made to the receiver of the road, Senator Sheppard explaining that unless the bill is passed the Orient probably would be forced to suspend operations before long.

Efforts will be made to have it passed by the house, Chairman Winslow of the interstate and foreign commerce committee having given assurances he will not oppose it.

TWO PER CENT OIL PRODUCTION TAX VOTED BY SENATE

AUSTIN, March 2.—The senate late Thursday passed finally the house bill levying a tax on oil production. The original house bill by Coffee carried a tax of three per cent. This was cut by the senate to two per cent, amendment by the committee fixing that figure being adopted. The bill was engrossed 26 to 3 and passed finally 27 to 1.

NEW SESSION AHEAD OF COTTON CONFERENCE

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—Insurance on cotton shipments, margin calls on forward sales and shipments involved at provisional prices against contracts and the report of the resolutions committee were scheduled to comprise the principal business of the final sessions today of the national cotton conference which began here yesterday.

The conference is made up of representatives of cotton spinners' organizations, cotton commission merchants, exporters and shippers and representatives of leading cotton exchanges.

Rules designed to amend existing regulations to govern the handling of cotton and to inspect selling terms and staple lengths with recommendations for changes in mill rules were discussed yesterday. Final action on many of the regulations went over until today.

COURT READY FOR TESTIMONY IN SIX MINE RIOT CASES

MARION, ILL., March 2.—The second Herrin mine riots case, in which six men are on trial charged with murder, entered the beginning of its last stages today with the delivernece of the opening statements of the prosecution and defense, following the completion of the jury yesterday.

In the first trial in which seven men were found not guilty, state asked the jurors for "restrictive justice" in the verdict, the expression being interpreted by defendants as meaning the death penalty. The defense sought to establish alibis.

It was pointed out that while numerous witnesses were examined in the first case when they answered in the affirmative to questions as to whether they opposed the death penalty, the question was not mentioned by counsel for either side in this case.

The men on trial are Otis Clark, Bert Grace, Oscar Ward, Phillip Fontanetta, Jim Brown, negro, and Hugh Willis, member of the Illinois miners state executive committee. They are charged with the slaying of Antonio Mulacovich of Erie, Pa., a guard at the Lester strip mine near here, who was killed with twenty-two other non-union employes when mining was resumed at shaft during the national strike of coal miners last June. Three union miners died as a result of the disturbances. Clark and Grace also were defendants in the first trial. The taking of testimony will not begin before Monday as Judge Hartwell said he plans to adjourn court over the week-end after the opening statements are concluded.

DON'T MENTION IT SAYS CHIEF JUSTICE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A painter working on one of the government hotels near the capitol yesterday dropped his brush. It landed on the terrace and he asked a large pedestrian who passed opportunely to hand it to him. The passer scrambled up the terrace and lifted the brush to the workman.

"Thanks," said the painter.

"Don't mention it," replied Chief Justice Taft.

EIGHTEEN JAILED RESULT ATTEMPT TO LYNCH NEGRO

PALATKA, FLA., March 2.—Eighteen employes of the state road department were lodged in the Alachua county jail today on charges of having attempted to storm the Putnam county jail at Palatka early this morning. They were beaten off by Sheriff Hagan. Thirteen were captured in automobiles, supposedly retreating from the scene and five others were taken into custody in Gainesville on suspicion.

Officers at first only announced 11 of the mob were captured. They also stated they believed the negro sought was Arthur Johnson, alleged slayer of F. L. Cross, truck driver for the road department, instead of Lawrence. The 18 men in jail were working on the roads of Alachua county.

PALATKA, FLA., March 2.—Eleven members of a mob were captured early today and lodged in the Alachua jail after being repulsed by Sheriff Hagan when they attempted to storm the Putnam County jail here and get a negro prisoner. More than 50 shots were fired into the mob into the leg of striking Sheriff Hagan in the left hand. The sheriff slammed the jail door in the face of the mob, which retreated after shooting through the doors and windows. A 50 foot rope was left behind.

The mob reached Palatka shortly after midnight and the authorities said that they did not think it was composed of over 15 men. They went to the Putnam County jail where Lige Lawrence, a negro, was lodged for safe keeping. Lawrence was brought here after Cramer Smith, a white man, had been killed and instantly killed in Lawrence's store at Gainesville. It was believed that Ed Lawrence, a brother of the negro in jail here, did the shooting.

PREACHER KILLED HELD TO THEORY THAT PEOPLE LIVE ON EARTH FOREVER

ST. LOUIS, March 2.—Followers of the Rev. T. H. Gourley (?) years old, who was killed in a train wreck at Calhoun, Ga., last Monday, today stated one of the evangelist's principal doctrines was he and his followers would live on earth forever."

The Rev. Mr. Gourley made his headquarters here. His followers asserted his death would not shake their faith in his doctrinal teachings, which also included rejuvenation of the aged.

REDUCED RAILROAD RATES FOR HEREFORD ROUNDUP

KANSAS CITY, March 2.—Reduced railroad rates to Kansas City for the sixth annual Hereford roundup here March 19-22 have been granted by the trans-continental passenger association from all points in twenty-three states and western Canada. CLARK IS OFFERED PLACE ON FACULTY CONSIDERING COURT

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The decision not to act at this session of congress on President Harding's proposal for American membership in the international court of justice was reaffirmed by the senate foreign relations committee today after it had received a further explanation of the administration proposals from President Harding and Secretary Hughes.

SENATE IS REMINDED OF NON-COMPULSORY CLAUSE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The non-compulsory clause of the protocol creating the court of international justice was again called to the attention of the senate today by Secretary Hughes in a letter replying to the foreign relations committee on the questionnaire which was drawn up after President Harding had recommended conditional American participation in the tribunal.

To agree beforehand to compulsory jurisdiction of the court over international disputes the secretary conceded would be contrary to the sentiment of the senate as clearly defined on many occasions in the past. No such agreement would be necessary, however, he declared as the League of Nations protocol creating the court gave participating nations an opportunity to elect beforehand whether they would regard decisions affecting them as compulsory in all cases.

To the committee's question as to whether the administration favored a compulsory arbitration treaty, Mr. Hughes replied, therefore, in the negative. He made a like reply to the question of whether the United States proposed by its membership in the court to "recognize as a binding obligation" that part of the Versailles treaty which sets up an international labor bureau. In response to a query as to whether other member nations had accepted the court with reservations as the administration proposed the United States should do, he said he was "not advised that any other state had made reservations."

Mr. Hughes' letter, largely technical in character, was forwarded to Chairman Lodge of the foreign relations committee by President Harding accompanied by a brief note of transmittal. Senators declined to comment on it until they had time for further study, but it was indicated that no further action on the recommendation was expected at this session of congress.

The committee acted quickly after Chairman Lodge presented the note from the president transmitting a long and technical letter from Mr. Hughes, in response to a list of questions sent to the white house earlier in the week.

IMPORTANT BILLS ARE BEFORE SENATE OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—With the most important uncompleted legislation now in conference and regarded as certain of enactment, the situation in the senate and house for the remaining two full days before adjournment had been reduced today to a contest for right of way between comparatively minor measures.

Early agreement between senate and house conferees on the farm credits legislation, put through the house yesterday by an overwhelming vote, was forecast today. Portions of both credits bill passed by the senate—the Capper and Lenroot-Anderson measures—were included in the house bill.

Other measures awaiting conference action today were the deficiency appropriations and the Volst "filled milk" bills, both passed by the senate yesterday. Enactment of both these measures was regarded as assured. Items in the deficiency bill include $20,950,000 for modernization and scrapping of naval vessels and $400,000 added by the senate to permit continuation of the work of the federal coal commission.

The more important bills now vieing for consideration before the senate are the government employes reclassification, the child labor constitutional amendment and the "truth in fabric" bill.

POSTPONE PROHIBITION FOR CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 2.—Prohibition in Constantinople has been postponed because the authorities recognize the difficulty of enforcing anti-liquor measures while large allied military and naval forces are here. Prohibition was to have gone into effect yesterday.

IMMIGRATION LAW IS DISCUSSED AT BUSINESS COUNCIL

SPEAKER URGES OPPOSITION TO ANY REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS.

TRADE TRIP PLANS TO BE CONSIDERED SOON

Excursion to Waurika and Duncan to Be Taken—Extension Committee at Work.

Any national legislation designed to "let down the bars" to immigrants should be vigorously opposed by the southwest, W. B. Hamilton told members of the business council of the chamber of commerce at the weekly luncheon Friday.

The immigration question had been made a "special order" for Friday's meeting, in view of pending efforts to remove some existing restrictions on immigration. The chamber of commerce will be called upon to express itself in a referendum on the subject by the chamber of commerce of the United States.

"The proposal to lower restrictions come from eastern manufacturers who want to avail themselves of the cheap labor that immigrants from southern and southeastern Europe furnish," Mr. Hamilton said. "The attitude of such manufacturers is purely selfish. By keeping the bars up, factories and plants in the west and south, employing American labor and paying American wages, can better compete with the eastern plants. If the latter are given as much cheap foreign labor as they want, plants in the west cannot compete on even terms."

C. H. Walker of Dalhart, and E. E. Jackson of Colorado Springs, who are here attending the Colorado to Gulf highway meeting, addressed the meeting briefly.

Plans for the April trade trip which will be to Waurika, Duncan and other Oklahoma points, will be considered at an early meeting of the trade extension committee, it was announced at the luncheon.

NAVY RECRUITING OFFICER TO VISIT NEARBY TOWNS

Men in the adjoining towns within a radius of 50 miles, who are interested in enlisting in the United States navy will be given an opportunity to join in their own home town without coming to the regular recruiting office in this city, W. E. Kelly, navy, recruiting officer, announced Thursday.

Mr. Kelly has had a number of inquiries from nearby towns from prospective recruits who for various reasons are unable to come to his office. For this reason he will devote several days for the next two weeks to interesting recruits in the towns in this district.

On Monday, March 5 he will be in Vernon and Electra for the purpose of answering inquiries concerning enlistments in the navy. On Wednesday of next week he will be in Iowa Park and Burkburnett. At either of these places he can be found at the federal buildings.

He expects to devote his time during the week of March 12 to Seymour and intermediate points.

WAURIKA PAPER ISSUES BIG SPECIAL EDITION TO COMMEMORATE RAILROAD

Celebrating the completion of the railroad extension from Byers to Waurika, the Waurika News-Democrat today issued a 64-page industrial edition that is filled from the first page to the last with interesting facts about Waurika and Jefferson county, Oklahoma, with section devoted to Wichita Falls and the irrigation project.

The edition is well illustrated and is probably the most comprehensive issued by a weekly newspaper in southwestern Oklahoma.

RUHR ALLIES TO FURTHER EXTEND RAIL OPERATIONS

By Associated Press.

DUESSELDORF, March 2.—The Ruhr allies today went ahead with plans to operate all railroads in the Ruhr and Rhineland with the exception of those in the Cologne area. General Payot, the transportation chief of the French mission, will be the administrative officer.

French headquarters said the step was designed to smooth out the difficulties in the way of the allies, who have been hampered by strikes and the menace of a food shortage. The railway administration is empowered to hire as many men as are needed and most of these will be imported from Belgium and France. Several hundred Germans, the French office assert, have requested work.

General de Goutte has ordered the collection of an internal revenue tax on all tobacco and spirits sold in the Ruhr and Rhineland. Persons who refuse to pay this tax will be arrested and their places of business will be closed.

LARGE CROWD AT SWEETWATER FOR BIG CELEBRATION

SWEETWATER, TEXAS, March 2.—Approximately 5,000 persons from many sections of the state celebrated here today passage of the Texas technological college bill. Many visiting delegations brought bands and staged parades of their own. The national and the Texas flags were displayed everywhere.

The first meeting of the board of directors of the college which it is proposed to establish in west Texas at a place still to be decided upon, was held at noon. Silliman Evans of Fort Worth, was temporary chairman.

Governor Neff, who is here with a number of state legislators, mingled freely with the crowds. He delivered an address this afternoon.

GOOD COMPLETION FOR GULF COMPANY IN HIRSCHI DISTRICT

Another good producer was added in the Hirschi district Thursday by the completion of the Gulf Production Company's No. 2 on the E. A. Dale tract in block 835 of the William Thorn survey.

The top of the sand was picked up at 1862 feet and was drilled a few feet when the well started to flow. In the first eight hours it made 198 barrels.

POSTMASTER SPEER, FORT WORTH OFFICE, HAS BEEN RELIEVED

FORT WORTH, March 2.—Robert E. Speer, postmaster appointed by Woodrow Wilson eight years ago, received a telegram from Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett at Washington this morning relieving him. His term expired last September. Pending the appointment of a new postmaster, Speer was told to turn the office over to the postal inspectors.

DEFENDANT DISCHARGED IS AGAIN ARRESTED AND WITNESS IS ALSO HELD

WACO, March 2.—Unexpected developments followed the preliminary hearing here today before U. S. commissioner of C. C. Bickford, charged with violating the Volstead law. Bickford was discharged, then he was rearrested on a complaint charging him with intimidating a government witness, L. D. Skelton. His bond was fixed at $1500. Skelton, material witness for the government, during the hearing today for Bickford, was charged with perjury and was given bail in the sum of $1,000.

WOMAN DECLARES SHE KNEW NO LAW AGAINST MURDER

NEW YORK, March 2.—Mrs. Paulette Saludes, on trial charged with slaying Oscar Martelliere, insurance broker, declared today on the witness stand that she had never heard of any law against murder and was not interested in the matter.

"Were you not taught in your infancy that it was wrong? Were you not taught in church, 'Thou shalt not kill?'" demanded Assistant District Attorney Brothers. She answered affirmatively.

"From your knowledge of life did you not know it was wrong to kill people without justification?" Judge Morris Koenig, who is presiding, asked.

"I am not qualified to answer such questions," she answered.

"You know today that it was wrong to kill Martelliere?" asked Mr. Brothers.

"I do not know that I killed him," she answered.

Before Mrs. Saludes entered court her counsel asked her to hold herself in check on the stand and not give way to emotion. He told her he did not believe in the efficacy of woman's tears on a jury.

When she resumed the stand she showed little evidence of her breakdown yesterday.

CROSS EXAMINATION OF WOMAN IS CONTINUED

NEW YORK, March 2.—Mrs. Paulette Saludes was to be called upon again today to serve as a target for the piercing cross examination of Assistant District Attorney Brothers under whose grilling yesterday the French woman collapsed.

The woman, who has eaten and slept little since her trial began Monday for the killing of Oscar Martelliere, insurance broker, in his office October 16, was unconscious for 30 minutes after she fainted on the stand and was carried from the courtroom.

The prosecutor was intent today upon resuming the picturization he drew of her yesterday—of a scheming, deceitful, jealously vindictive woman who was so chagrined at her jilting by Martelliere that she cold bloodedly shot him.

Instead of being duped by Martelliere, as she had told the jury, Mr. Brothers attempted to show that she was living under an assumed name, that she lived with Saludes though not married to him, and that Saludes was a deserter from the French army.

Asserting that Mrs. Saludes taunted Mrs. Martelliere after Martelliere left his wife and began to live with her, Mr. Brothers produced this note from Mrs. Saludes to Mrs. Martelliere, concerning mended clothing:

"I am forwarding you by mail a little parcel which may be of some interest to you. I have plenty of the same sort. If you make love as well as you do mending, there is no wonder he is through with you."

World-Champion Woman Inventor Says Men Don't Know Conveniences Wives Need in the Home

By MARIAN HALE.

Beulah Louise Henry has more inventions to her credit at the United States patent office than any woman in the country.

This means she's the world's champion woman inventor.

To be exact, she's patented 41 different articles.

She's president of three corporations formed to sell her products.

What She's Invented

Her triumphs include:

A trick umbrella that any number of covers can be adjusted to; also telescopes into a small roll inches long.

A vanity case that's almost a dressing table.

A handbag, with a miniature desk one side and an equally miniature bureau on the other.

A decorative ice cream freezer that looks well on the dining table and keeps cream frozen 72 hours.

A new-fangled pencil eraser.

A machine for making gingersnaps.

A can opener that really opens cans.

New Kind of Toy

Her latest invention's a new kind of toy—dolls and animals—consisting of a finely coiled spring inside, cotton stuffing and a rubber cover—flexible and practically indestructible.

"Nothing I've ever done," says Miss Henry, "has been so fascinating as making toys, because I do it out of sheer love for children."

"As for inventions in general," she continues, "a woman's needed in the field to provide for women's and children's wants.

Needed in the Home

"A man doesn't know what women need in their homes.

"I've in mind at least a dozen inventions to simplify housework."

Besides inventing, Miss Henry has written a book of poems and songs, is an excellent cook and a perfect housekeeper. Two years ago she arrived in New York from Memphis, seeking her fortune.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

A MIXED-UP WINDMILL

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"What are you, please?" asked Nancy.

The Twins continued their journey in Mix-Up Land.

But it seemed silly, as Nancy said, to try to chase a house that kept jumping around so, as Jack Straw's did. Just now it was up on top of a high steeple and kept spinning around when the wind blew, like a weather cock.

"I should think it would fall to pieces," said Nick, "as it's only made of dominoes and stuck together."

"It certainly would," said a voice, "but, you see, all four winds keep blowing on it at once. That's like four fingers holding a puzzle, it can't fall apart."

"Who is talking?" demanded Nancy. "We can't see anybody. Who are you?"

"Look down the deep hole in front of you," answered the voice. "It's a hill that got turned upside down when everything else got turned upside down in Mix-Up Land."

The Twins looked and sure enough, there was the hole.

"Now look at the very bottom," said the voice, "and tell me what you see."

"I just see a queer-looking thing," said Nancy.

"So do I," said Nick.

"Well, that's me! I'm the queer-looking thing. I feel too awful about it even to be careful of my grammar. I should say 'It is I,' although feeling as much ashamed as I do, I hate to say it is either me or I."

"What are you, please?" asked Nancy, who was getting so mixed up herself she couldn't understand a word.

"I'm a windmill that used to stand on top of a high hill. That's what I am. I used to wave my arms whenever I liked. Now look at me! When that rogue, Jack Straw, turned his thumb-ring and made Apple-Pie Land into Mix-Up Land, he fixed me. I wish you could get inside of his domino house and put him out."

"We'll try," promised Nick obligingly.

The Twins looked and sure enough, there was the hole.

Free Seed for Back Yards at Flower Exchange Saturday, Randle Auto Shop

Morning glory, jack beans, zinnia, nasturtium, climbing gourd, castor bean, and other vine-and-fig-tree beautification for the back yard in the shape of seeds will be dispensed free at the Flower Exchange Saturday.

The seed are all donated by the Maricle Feed Store and Morgan Feed Store, to the Sanitary Department of the League, and every home owner who wants them is invited to come to the exchange, at the Randle Auto Supply Co., Saturday and get them. Mrs. J. M. Isbell, chairman of the Sanitary Department, and members of her committee will be in charge of the "back yard" seed.

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION AT CLEVELAND ADJOURNS

CLEVELAND, March 2.—Thousands of educators were leaving for home this morning while thousands of others remained here another day to inspect local schools and colleges, following the adjournment last night of a five-day convention of the department of superintendence of the National Education Association.

The delegates last night unanimously adopted the resolutions committee report which endorsed the Sterling-Towner bill to create a national department of education with a secretary of education in the president's cabinet. The new platform requests general support for public schools and asks that the same educational opportunity be given children living in cities.

Galli Curci Will Be Here April 2; Announced Friday

Amelita Galli-Curci, probably the world's most gifted soprano, will be presented in Wichita Falls on Monday evening, April 2, under the management of Mrs. Louella B. Thompson.

The announcement was made Friday. It has been understood for some time that the great prima donna would probably fill an engagement in this city, but the date had not been definitely arranged until Thursday.

The concert will be at the Palace theatre.

FINNAN HADDIE SCOTCH STYLE.

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH of Columbia University

Soak a two-pound finnan haddie in boiling water, to cover, for 10 minutes. Drain and place, if possible, on a platter which can be put in the oven and also sent to the table.

Cover the fish with a sauce consisting of two cups of milk, a fourth of a cup each of butter and flour, a quarter of a teaspoon of salt and an eighth teaspoon of pepper.

Wash, pare and halve six potatoes, place the halves around the fish and bake all for 40 minutes, or until the potatoes are soft. Baste with the sauce around the fish several times during cooking.

Sprinkle with two tablespoons of chopped parsley and serve at once.

Manners are the mark of the man or woman. Good or bad your manners classify you. Courtesy is the art of kindness to others. The kindly win kindness. Etiquet is the formula for the expression of good breeding. Instinct helps anyone to be properly polite, but the well-informed on etiquet possess social insurance.

On the Train

1: A gentlem steps aside to permit a woman to board a train first, and the woman precedes her male escort down the aisle of the car.

2: A man offers his seat to a woman or elderly man otherwise compelled to stand; no one should permit a man or woman carrying a child to stand for lack of a seat.

3: On the sleeping car the person having the lower berth is entitled to the seat facing forward.

4: A man chancing to meet a woman acquaintance on a train may invite her to dine with him, but whether she permits him to pay for her meal depends upon the degree of their acquaintance.

5: Parents traveling with children should not permit them to indulge in antics that will annoy other passengers.

It's bad manners to spread your hand luggage in the car aisle where other passengers may stumble over it.

Tomorrow: Tiquet at the hotel.

Dr. Carrie Weaver Smith Will Address Clubwomen on Monday

Dr. Carrie Weaver Smith, head of the Girls' Training School at Gainesville, and one of the noted social service workers of the United States, will deliver a special address to the women of Wichita Falls Monday afternoon, March 5, at the First M. E. Church, South.

A special invitation has been issued by the Welfare Council to all members of the local church organizations, the Civic League, the City Federation, the Parent-Teacher councils, the Pastors' Association and all women's clubs. Every woman is invited, but Dr. Smith wishes particularly to reach the active women citizens of Wichita Falls.

Dr. Smith is one of the most interesting social service speakers in the southwest, and her talk Monday afternoon will be directly to the point.

On Sunday Dr. Smith will address the girls of the Business Girls' and Wesley Girls' classes of the First M. E. Church. Sunday afternoon she will be entertained at tea at 5:30 at the home of Mrs. E. B. Gorsline, with Mrs. Gorsline and Mrs. W. J. Daugherty hostesses. Local welfare workers will be guests.

Quick Quaker Oats
Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

The Quaker Oats flavor has won millions the world over. This brand dominates wherever oat lovers live, for we flake it from queen grains only.

Now there's a quick-cooking Quaker, made from those same queen grains. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest-cooking oats in the world.

The oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small thin flakes cook quickly.

Say which you want. In either regular or Quick you get the finest flavor oat flakes ever had. In Quick you get the quickest-cooking oat dish in existence.

There are now those two great reasons for insisting on this brand.

Pola and Charlie Happy Following a Reconciliation

POLA NEGRI AND CHARLIE CHAPLIN

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, March 2.—Cupid was king again in Hollywood and romance lived anew for Pola Negri, Polish tragedienne of the silver sheet, and Charles Chaplin, screenland's most famous comedian.

Their troth plighted over again after a six hour desolate break, Miss Negri was "too happy to sleep" when she reannounced it in the small hours of today, and Mr. Chaplin was the typical "happiest man in the world" when he entered his limousine after a conference of reconciliation in which the new queen of make believe said he told her he "loved me and could not live without me."

Mr. Chaplin also denied to her that he had told a newspaper he was "too poor to marry just now; this is a workaday world and we've all got to stay busy and keep away from the climaxes of sentiment."

It was that which precipitated the breaking of the engagement.

Miss Negri read the accredited statement. Without reference to Mr. Chaplin the agreement to wed was terminated abruptly.

A typewritten statement said the newest star in America's movie capital considered herself "too poor to marry Charles Chaplin; he needs a wealthy woman." Tears, her own, not the applied glycerin of the profession, rolled down Miss Negri's cheeks as the neatly typed statement was handed newspapermen.

Break News to Charlie

It was these newspapermen who informed Mr. Chaplin first of the dashing of his hopes.

Over the telephone they told him. Mr. Chaplin replied: "Oh," and "Is that so?" And abruptly the receiver in the Chaplin home clicked to its resting place. Even his best friends were barred from his doors.

Speculation was rife. Scores of reasons were advanced. There was talk of a rival, a Polish painter who was coming to California to build a home and for whom?

The lips of the little tragedienne trembled and her eyes filled with tears as she added to the typed statement: "There were a thousand things. It is another experience. I have learned. Now I will live only for my work. All the rest, the happy days are dead to me. It is all over."

Charlie for the time was lost sight of. It was believed he was in retirement in his home thinking.

While the early night editions of morning papers in Hollywood movie district heralded, in the selling talk of newsboys that "Pola gives Charlie the air," Charlie made his way to Miss Negri's retreat.

Just what happened there probably never will be given to the world in detail. But after midnight Chaplin went home with a smile on his face and Miss Negri, her finger again weighted with the platinum engagement ring she had removed a few hours previously, was contemplating her joy, "too happy to sleep," she said.

Returns Wearing Smile

Miss Negri frankly admitted her happiness in "making up" after Chaplin had declared he never had made the "too poor to get married" statement.

"Mr. Chaplin came to see me early and he stayed late," said Miss Negri. "I have taken him back and we are quite reconciled and engaged again. He swore to me he never had said he was too poor to marry me. He told me he loved me and could not live without me. And so, of course, I believed him and have taken him back."

Rumors the two were engaged interested motion picture fans everywhere when they were first published November 25 last.

At that time Chaplin declared he was "the happiest man in the world," and Miss Negri indicated she was very well pleased, indeed, with "Sharlie," as she calls him.

'The Hottentot' Makes Big Hit At the Olympic

Living up to every promise made for it "The Hottentot" which opened at the Olympic theatre Thursday, scored one of the biggest hits a comedy has ever made here. Never since the late Wallace Reid's fliver race in "Across the Continent" have such yells and cheers been heard in the Olympic as those heard last night during Douglas McLean's ride of the horse Hottentot in the five-mile obstacle race. And how Doug did ride that horse! Clinging to his mane, tail, neck, saddle, hind-quarters, front half, anywhere he could get a hold, he rode the Hottentot over the course as no horse was ever ridden.

Some of the most unusual and thrilling shots ever taken by a camera were made of the racing horses. At times the spectator catches himself dodging as the animals apparently leap over his head or shave his side whiskers as they pass.

To those who are not familiar with the story of the Hottentot it tells of a youth who had always been scared to death of horses. He is presented to a family who have a stable of thoroughbreds as another man of his name who is a famous steaplechase jockey. There is a case of love at first sight between he and the daughter in the family, who is a race horse enthusiast and Douglas' attempt to play the role of the famed jockey, yet keep away from horses (which he does not succeed in doing) is a constant source of amusement. Then with the coming of the big steeplechase he is assigned to ride the Hottentot, a veritible load of dynamite that no man has ever been able to ride, the fun starts—and the thrills.

Douglas McLean keeps you smiling as S. Harrington, the hero and Madge Bellamy is easy to look at and is full of pep as the heroine. Others in the cast are Raymond Hatton, Dwight Critenden, Trylu Shattuck, Stanhope Wheatcroft and Harry Brooker, a former Sennett comedian.

"The Hottentot" will continue at the Olympic for the rest of the week and is a picture well above the average.

FINES ARE BEING PAID BY GERMAN GOVERNMENT

BERLIN, March 2.—The German government has been paying fines assessed by French courtsmartial against Essen policemen, in order to expedite their release from prison, says a dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung.

These fines are in accordance with an order before General de Goutte, French commander, that cities and towns throughout the Ruhr valley shall be held responsible for sabotage or other acts of disorder designed to hinder the French and Belgian armies of occupation.

The Bochum fine was collected quickly. French troops swooped down upon the Rathaus, took the amount and left.

The French and Belgian forces of occupation are adding to their rolling stock for the operation of the German railroads. Yesterday at Muelheim, French troops seized 115 locomotives, sixty carloads of coke and 30 carloads of coal and took over the roundhouse and repair shops.

COLORADO-TO-GULF DIRECTORS PLAN TO ADVERTISE ROUTE

EMPLOYMENT OF FIELD SECRETARY AUTHORIZED AT MEETING HERE.

CALL IS ISSUED FOR MEMBERSHIP MEETING

To Be Held at Alvarado Next Month—Highway to Be Thoroughly Marked.

Directors of the Colorado-to-Gulf Highway Association, in session here Friday, took steps for employment of a field secretary, made plans for marking the highway thoroughly for its entire distance, and called the annual membership meeting, to be held at Alvarado in April.

A number of applicants for the field secretaryship met with the directors and it was expected the appointment would be made some time before adjournment.

The directors, in employing a field secretary, expect to give wide publicity to the advantages of the highway as a route from the southwest to Colorado points, and planned measures designed to attract tourist travel.

Attending the meeting are: C. H. Walker of Dalhart, president; Miss Nellie Bartlett, of Dalhart, secretary; E. E. Jackson, secretary of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce; J. A. Wykoff, of Clayton, N. M., and W. A. Selvidge of Alvarado.

DEALER WHO SOLD STOLEN CAR LOSES, FIND MACHINE HERE

Chas. Bebout, automobile theft officer for this district and City Officer Belcher, claimed the $50 reward offered for the recovery of a new Ford touring car stolen in Ardmore, Oklahoma, Friday morning, when the owners of the car, who had been notified, identified the car as the one stolen from Ardmore several days ago.

The car had been driven to this city from Ardmore and had changed hands several times. It was originally sold to a local dealer who in turn sold it to an individual. As soon as the dealer was notified that the car was a stolen one he immediately took steps to secure its return to the proper owners. The dealer is loser unless the man who sold him the car can be located. The man gave the name of a resident of Burkburnett.

Officers from Ardmore reported to local officers that a man who gave his name as T. C. Moore and his residence as Burkburnett, was being held in the Ardmore jail awaiting investigation. The man was caught with a car which they have reason to believe was stolen. Police here have been unable to locate the owner of the car. It is registered in the name of T. C. Moore of Burkburnett. Numbers on both the cars had been changed, officers stated. Officers here believe there is some connection between the two alleged thefts. They are awaiting advice from Ardmore before further investigation is made.

KATY SHOPMEN AT PARSONS THREATEN TO GO ON STRIKE

PARSONS, KAN., March 2.—A strike on the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad of shopmen who have returned to work since July 1, 1922, was predicted here today by union leaders.

According to M. C. Taylor, president of the federated shop crafts here, a number of the men who are at work in the shops are ready to desert their jobs and go on strike in sympathy with the 1200 workers here who have been idle for the past nine months.

PETITION PROTESTING SEATING OF FESS IS PROMPTLY RETURNED

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A petition protesting the election of Representative Simeon D. Fess, Republican, to the next congress as a senator from Ohio was filed today with the secretary of the senate by David K. Hempstead, formerly assistant house clerk and active in the unsuccessful campaign of Senator Pomerene, Democrat, for reelection.

Mr. Hempstead's petition "protested" the "qualifications and alleged election" of Mr. Fess, alleging misrepresentation by him of his qualifications to be a senator.

The petition of Mr. Hempstead received short shrift. It was returned to him by Secretary Sanderson within five minutes, with the information that it had no legal status and could not be received by the senate.

FAVORABLE REPORT BILLS PROVIDING FOR COURTS OF APPEALS

AUSTIN, March 2.—The Witt and Burkett senate bills providing for establishment of courts of civil appeals at Waco and Eastland, were reported favorably by the house judiciary committee this afternoon. The Witt bill also carried a provision for removal of the court of civil appeals from Galveston to Houston.

Mrs. Lucile Burnett Sued For $50,000 By Foreman's Ex-Wife

Lucille Mulhall Burnett, participant in numerous rodeos and roundups throughout the country, and her former husband, Tom L. Burnett, wealthy ranch owner of Wichita county, were named defendants in a $50,000 alienation suit filed Thursday in the 89th district court by Mrs. Mattie Cobb.

Mrs. Cobb, the plaintiff, is the former wife of Jake J. Cobb, ranch foreman of Tom Burnett.

The suit in proper is filed directly against Lucille Mulhall Burnett, but Tom Burnett, her former husband, is made a party to the suit by reasons of the Texas state law which holds a husband responsible for his wife's acts.

The plaintiff, who states that she had been married to J. J. Cobb for 25 years and was the mother of 11 children, eight of which are still living, complains that the alienation of her husband's affections began shortly after Burnett and Lucille Burnett were married on April 14, 1919, and that all the alienations took place prior to May 1, 1922, the date on which Burnett and his wife were divorced by a decree of the 89th district court.

The petition alleges that from the time that Burnett was married to Lucille Mulhall and up to the time of the divorce that he was responsible for the acts of his wife.

The plaintiff, her husband and family and Tom Burnett and his wife all resided near Iowa Park, Wichita County, the petition recites, and states further that shortly after the marriage of the defendants, the plaintiff's husband became very friendly with the defendants, and that frequently plaintiff's husband was in company with the defendant Lucille Burnett alone.

Mrs. Cobb also complains that the defendant Lucille induced Cobb to spend a great portion of his time in her company, giving him whiskey and oftentimes calling Mr. Cobb over the telephone, offering him inducement to associate with her. The plaintiff alleges that there existed improper relations between her husband and the defendant Lucille.

The complaint further relates that after these various acts had gone on for some time that her husband's affection and love were totally destroyed and that although she attempted to restore his love for her that it was of no avail and that finally, in December, 1922, she was forced to get a divorce from him. The divorce was granted in December of last year in the Wichita County courts.

She asks the court to grant her judgment in the sum of $50,000 against both Lucille and Tom Burnett, stating that she has been deprived of Mr. Cobb's love, devotion and support for at least 25 years.

The petition recites that Lucille Burnett is now a resident of Logan County, Oklahoma.

RAID ON HOTEL RESULTS IN 9 CHARGES OF GAMING

Nine charges of gaming appeared on the docket in the city court Friday morning as a result of a raid on a poker game in a local hotel. One of the cops was admitted to the room and taken in the game. As soon as the hand was dealt, he gave the high sign to his confederates in the hall way. Bonds of $10 each were forfeited in all nine cases in the city court Friday when the defendants fail to appear for trial.

Fines of $10 were assessed on one charge of drunkenness and other of vagrancy. Pleas of guilty were entered in both cases.

REPORT EIGHTEEN MEN ENTOMBED IN MINE EXPLOSION

BLUEFIELD, W. VA., March 2.—Eighteen men were reported to have been entombed by an explosion in a mine at Arista, Mercer county, at noon today. The mine is owned by the J. Patterson Pocahontas Coal Company. There are two mines of the Patterson Company at Arista, both of them being drifts. It is not known here in which mine the accident occurred. The general offices of the company are at Dayton, Ohio.

SCHOOL TEACHER LOSES PART OF FINGER WHEN DOOR SLAMS ON HAND

Miss Beatrice Morgan, an instructor in the Alamo school, was painfully hurt Friday morning when a heavy door to the room in which she was teaching slammed to and caught her fingers between the door and facing. It became necessary to amputate one of the fingers just anove the nail; other fingers on her right hand were painfully mashed.

Miss Morgan was standing near the door with her hand resting on the facing when the wind blew the door to on her hand. It is not thought that the accident will prove serious.

1923 BUDGETS OF CITY DEPARTMENTS SHOW REDUCTIONS

Unless there is a decided change in the budgets submitted by the heads of the various city departments for the coming year, a reduction of five cents in the city taxes will be possible next year.

It was stated Friday morning that the total budget submitted showed a considerable reduction over the budget of last year. It is almost an assured fact that the amount will be at least $15,000 under the appropriations of the previous year; a decrease of this amount in the budget will allow a five cent reduction in city taxes. That the present tax rate of $1.55 on the $100 valuation will be reduced five cents at least is assured unless there is a change in the budget between now and the council meeting Monday.

The budget is in the hands of the mayor, and a special meeting of a committee composed of Mayor Collier, R. E. Shepherd, commissioner of finance, and W. E. McBroom, city clerk, will be held Friday night to prepare a definite recommendation before presenting the budget to the council Monday.

WASHINGTON, March 2. — Complete investigation of the veterans' bureau after adjournment of congress was assured today when the senate adopted a resolution providing for a special senate committee of three members to conduct the inquiry.

VETERAN MEMBER OF STATE UNIVERSITY FACULTY HERE TO ADDRESS LOCAL EX-STUDENTS

"The University and Its Mission" will be the subject of the address Friday night before local "Texas Exes" by Dean T. U. Taylor of the State University engineering department.

"The university is at a critical stage just now," Dr. Taylor said Friday morning, "and unless its alumni realize what must be done, its usefulness will be greatly impaired."

Twenty-two former pupils of Dr. Taylor met him at an informal luncheon at the Wichita Club Friday. R. A. Thompson presided and brief talks were made by Joe Ward and Dr. Taylor. Dr. Taylor spoke of the rich memories of university days, saying such memories were worth more than good grades or degrees.

This is Dr. Taylor's 35th year at the university, he becoming a member of the faculty in 1888 when he was appointed head of the engineering department. Few, if any, members of the faculty are more beloved by the students and ex-students, and the sobriquet by which Dr. Taylor is best known, "The Old Man," is some evidence of this.

The "Exes" banquet at the Kemp Friday night will start at 7:30, and Dr. Taylor's address will be the chief event on the program.

Present at the luncheon Friday noon were: R. A. Thompson, Dr. Taylor, Luther Hoffman, R. C. Thaxton, Julian Montgomery, Joe Ward, R. P. Broutherton, L. H. Cullum, Ragsdale Pace, Ray Barnard, G. W. Pond, Paul Pond, E. M. McGrath, Jerome S. Stone, J. B. Lovejoy, Sam J. Beattie, J. P. Waggoner, H. C. Weeks, John Gould, Walter Finley, W. S. Bachman, George Wilson, Sam Householder and R. W. Ridinger.

There will be special services celebrating the Council Sabbath at Temple Israel Friday night. The subject of Dr. Goldberg's sermon will be "The General and Specific Problems of the Jewish Women."

R. O. Harvey left Thursday for California to visit the Chicago Cubs' training camp in the Catalina Islands.

George Keith left Friday for Fort Worth where he will be in charge of a polled Hereford exhibit at the Fat Stock show.

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 28 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

I REPEAT MY FREE OFFER

$10,000 worth of trial bottles of Syrup Pepsin free

Last year I agreed to spend $10,000 cash for free samples of my Syrup Pepsin, and send them free and postage paid to all who asked. A tremendous mail was the result. But there must be many who did not write. I would like to get their address this time. So I now renew my offer, in remembrance of my approaching 85th birthday, and will again devote $10,000 to free samples. I am anxious to see one in every American home. Write for yours today. Simply give me your address. Send it to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Mine is truly a free gift; it costs the public nothing.

PRESIDENT HARDING AND HIRAM JOHNSON LEAD TWO FACTIONS

FORMER TO FAVOR AND LATTER OPPOSE JOINING COURT

"BATTALION OF DEATH" IS EXPECTED TO FIGURE

Will Require Thirty-two Votes to Prevent Action Proposed by President

By MARK SULLIVAN
Political Correspondent of the New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times.
(Copyright 1923, N. Y. Tribune, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The line-up of personalities on Harding's proposal to join the permanent court of international justice continued today with increasing momentum. It is clear now that the protagonists will be President Harding in favor of it, and Senator Hiram Johnson against it. While Johnson's outspokenness and his role as one of the two outstanding leaders in the stirring up of opposition to the old league of nations makes his present position more definite than that of any of the other old irreconcilables, it is confidently expected that most of the old irreconcilables, barring Knox, who is dead, and Borah, who is no longer identified with them, will line up behind Johnson for a fight on much the same lines as the league of nations fight.

SULLIVAN

Without any definite announcement from any of them, it is taken for granted that McCormick of Illinois, Brandegee of Connecticut and Moses of New Hampshire will stand with Johnson. But the little group of senators composing the inner "battalion of death" of the fight against the league of nations, was not alone sufficient to win that fight and would not be sufficient to win the present fight. The "battalion of death" Republicans never took in more than ten or twelve. Even with the addition of Democrats like Senator Reed of Missouri and others who had the same attitude, this group was never larger than sixteen or eighteen. Inasmuch as it will take thirty-two senatorial votes to prevent the action Harding asks for, it is obvious that the success or failure of Harding's present proposal will depend on the action of those senators, chiefly Republican, who composed the fringe who in one degree or another would have been willing to accept the league of nations with adequate reservations. The typical example of this group is Lodge, Republican leader of the senate and chairman of the foreign relations committee. As to his attitude, there has been no public declaration. But the irreconcilables seem to act as if they had confidence that Lodge either sympathizes with them now or can be brought to identify himself with them later on. They have the air of expecting that Lodge's course on this question will be like his course on the league of nations when, in conformity with this theory of leadership he more or less reflected the varying fluctuations of Republican senatorial sentiment. Lodge is rather subject to irreconcilable influence. His fellow members of the foreign relations committee include several of the strongest irreconcilables. Indeed, that committee contains a number of irreconcilables greatly out of proportion to the actual numbers of that group compared to the senate as a whole. In ten Republican members of the foreign relations committee, there are five old irreconcilables: Johnson, McCormick, Brandegee, Moses and Borah, to say nothing of Lodge, the chairman. The four Republican members of the committee who are not irreconcilable and who can be expected to follow the party leadership of Harding are McCumber, Wadsworth, Kellogg and New. Of these, the two last named cease to be senators on March 4. Incidentally, it will be interesting to see who takes their places, and whether the obvious tendency of the recent past to give the committee a disproportionate representation of isolationists will be continued.

Senator Borah Figures.

But of all the old irreconcilables, and indeed of the entire senate, the greatest interest attaches to Borah. It is probably reasonable to say that Borah was the strongest leader of that little group which, starting with a handful, ultimately gathered to itself enough strength to defeat the league. But Borah today is not with the irreconcilables. He is for more international cooperation, not less. It would not be too much to say, in fact, that Borah now is anathema to his former associates in the irreconcilable group. At the same time, it is not yet possible to be sure whether the course which Borah is going to follow on the present proposal will be of aid to the irreconcilables or to Harding. On the question of an international court, Borah has a position not identified with either that of Harding or that of Johnson. Borah's course on this point was laid out before Harding made his proposal. On February 14, Borah had introduced into the senate a resolution calling for the creation of an international court along lines thought out by Borah himself, and differing greatly from the one now proposed by Harding. The contrast between the international court which Harding proposes and the one that Borah advocates can best be shown by pointing out how really feeble and small, how very small a step Harding's proposal is. If the United States were to adopt Harding's proposal we would be bound in only the loosest way. All that we would be committed to would be this: We would promise that whenever we felt like it we would ask the permanent court to pass on a dispute between us and another nation. To state the effect of Harding's proposal the other way around, we would say: "We refuse to promise to submit any dispute to this court unless we feel like it at the time, and if we do submit any dispute to this court, we don't promise to abide by its decision unless we feel like doing so at the time." That really isn't much of a court.

Borah's proposal, on the other hand, is for a real court and a strong court, a court which within its limits would have the power to summon us in on the complaint of any other nation, the same as any individual is subject to summons from an ordinary civil court. Borah's court would have power further to outlaw war, to punish makers of war, and to codify the whole body of international law. Borah's attitude toward Harding's court says in effect: "That's nothing but a feeble beginning. Let us have a real court with actual power to prevent war and to condemn war makers."

Whether Borah's advocacy of this kind of court will have the effect of helping Harding's position or helping Johnson's position will be probably a determining influence in the situation just ahead of us.

Eternal Triangle Can't Enter This Island Paradise

LONDON, March 2.—An "island paradise" into which the complications of the eternal triangle cannot enter is disclosed by the last census of the Orkney Islands. It is the islet of Holm, in the mouth of Stromness harbor, and the total number of inhabitants is two—a man and his wife. Other islands in the large group offer close competition. Hunda, south of Kirkwell, has a population of three, while Coponsay boasts of seven.

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR SALE OF SCHOOL BONDS

ELECTRA, TEXAS, March 2.—A contract has been signed with a Little Rock, Ark., bond house to buy the proposed issue of school bonds amounting to $196,000 of the Electra independent school district for par and accrued interest, plus all expense of getting out the bonds. The certificates will bear five per cent interest and mature serially from one to forty years. Money has been deposited in the local bank to guarantee performance of the agreement to the buyers.

An election has been ordered for March 10 to determine whether or not the bonds shall be issued. Buford O. Brown is judge of the election.

Selling five per cent bonds at par is said to be the best price secured for such paper since the period of deflation was inaugurated three years ago. It is accounted for in part by the fact that the district has taxable values of more than $12,000,000 and its bonded indebtedness is only $173,000. The money will be used to erect and equip a new high school building, the second required in two years. Enrollment in the local schools is more than 2,256.

PLAINTIFF AND DEFENDANT GET EVEN BREAK IN SUIT

A jury in the county court at law returned a verdict at 5 o'clock Thursday evening in the case of C. P. Fore against Ray Black which gives both litigants an even draw. Fore had brought suit for $900 on a rental contract while Black brought a cross action asking judgment for $960 for failure to comply with contract. The verdict of the jury was so construed that neither party recovers anything.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Say not thou, What is the cause that the former days were better than these? for thou dost not enquire wisely concerning this.—Eccl. 7:10.

Man hath a weary pilgrimage,
As through the world he wends;
On every stage, from youth to age,
Still discontent attends;
With heaviness he casts his eye
Upon the road before,
And still remembers with a sigh,
The days that are no more.
—Robert Southey.

TUT STYLES.

Bobbed hair was going out of style when King Tut's tomb was discovered under the sands of Egypt. But leading hairdressers say that bobbed hair may rule for another year or two, as part of the King Tut fashion crazes now being planned by dictators of styles.

Bobbed hair and bobbed wigs were "the thing" in King Tut's day.

Among the rich and royal ladies of Tut's time, the headdress was a masterpiece that must have required weeks of work, elaborate and fantastic, hair and jewelry forming large wings on top of the head.

The high-steppers and flashy dressers strung their hair through beads, giving the effect of a crop of necklaces growing out of the skull. Keep your eyes open. Some in our community will try it.

Girls who have been plucking their eyebrows into straight lines, with tweezers, will be glad to learn that such was the style in King Tut's day.

When it came to gowns, the most daring Egyptian social leaders wore garments made entirely of transparent beads.

Starched and carefully pressed ruffles and pleats were the rage in Cairo and other Egyptian cities 3500 years ago.

Jewelry was worn extravagantly, profusely—large rings, bracelets, armlets, necklaces, anklets and head-bands. The turquoise was the most favored of precious stones. Fans were carried, also hand mirrors. Nails were stained reddish-yellow with henna juice. "Loud" perfumes and thick oils were rubbed all over the body.

A queer custom among fashionable ladies of ancient Egypt was painting a second set of eyebrows below the eyes, so that the optics resembled sandwiches.

How much of this barbaric oriental display will creep into the fashions of American women? Probably more than any of us now dream.

J. M. Gidding (of J. M. Gidding & Co., New York City) says every great collection of Egyptian antiques in the world's museums has a flock of style designers and jewelers around it. They are getting ready to flood the markets with new styles.

Says Mr. Gidding: "This is being assisted by a reaction from the dress prevailing for so many years during and after the war. There has never been a time when the designer has had to keep so carefully in touch with the news. It is necessary to keep posted constantly by cable."

The average father, who foots the bills, will soon curse the day when a scientist's shovel striking the top stone of a flight of steps, started the uncovering of King Tut's tomb.

IMPORTANCE OF GETTING A START IN THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY

Representatives of eastern textile interests are now in Texas looking over a number of centers with a view of locating cotton mills.

There can be little doubt but that Texas is destined to spin into cloth a part of the cotton grown on her farms. That is economical and logical.

It is also probable that the cotton mills to be located here will be grouped about certain centers. This grouping has been the practice of industry both in Europe and America. One of the reasons is that it brings together a supply of trained labor necessary in the industry. Isolated mills, as a rule, have more difficulty in obtaining an adequate labor supply at all times than mills located in groups.

It is probable therefore that centers securing mills at this time will attract other mills as the industry develops in Texas and will tend to become textile manufacturing centers. That is one of the reasons why it is important that every city that aspires to be a textile center place all the facts at their command before the textile representatives now in the state.

Wichita Falls business interests ought to think seriously about this matter. While the production of cotton in Wichita county is not large, Wichita Falls is the center of a great cotton producing area. The country west from Wichita Falls is likely to become the greatest cotton producing area in the world. More and more cotton is being grown with success in west Texas and year after year more and more acres are being planted to that crop. If a cotton mill could be located here now, others would doubtless follow as the industry develops. It is something worth thinking about.

Easter eggs, and not the people selling them, should be hard boiled

HANGING UP PRIZES FOR LITIGATION.

Most of us are familiar with the irresponsible and libelous type of newspaper which publishes pretty much what it pleases without regard as to whether it is truthful or not. Within the past year or two a number of papers of this character have sprung up in Texas and some of them have attained wide circulation.

Probably it was this type of publication which inspired the Jack bill that has passed the house and now goes to the senate which would require newspapers having more than five thousand circulation and with assessed values of less than $10,000 to file bonds of $10,000 to $25,000 to cover judgments in libel suits.

However laudable the purpose of this bill it is a species of special legislation that ought not to be enacted into law. Real newspapermen always want to tell the truth and do not willingly or knowingly libel anybody. Requiring newspapers to file bonds to cover judgments in libel suits would be like hanging up a prize to encourage the filing of such suits. It would have the effect of quickening the libel suit industry throughout the state, and irresponsible and libelous publications would find ways of evading it so that it would offer no remedy against them.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

UNHEARD, UNSEEN—UNSPOKEN.

"Heard melodies are sweet,
But those unheard, are sweeter."
—Keats "Ode to a Grecian Urn."

Who is there can describe the change of the flowing colors of a sunset?

In listening to or seeing great art, how are we to make note of it other than through the medium of our mysterious imagination?

No one else may tell us what we feel. Love is often frightened away at the sight of a stranger. Crowds all too often have as their business to stare and sneer. Wheras in our isolated hearts do we find honest freedom of feeling and expression.

Into the voice of our imagination we put beauty, sweetness and strength.

We hear melodies that have once softened and inspired, floating anew across the atmosphere of our thoughts.

We are guided and made great by that which stays with us long after its visible substance has played into the hands of the past.

My mother's looks, that kind and lovely face, those soft and liquid eyes that always told of love and gentleness, though always anxious, now tell me more of her beauty of soul and character than any words I am able to remember.

I couldn't look up into the faces of the stars with such reverence, did not these same stars talk out loud to me at times, and light up my imagination across the space so vast.

As it is, I see new wonders in their faces and twinkles every time I walk out into the night and look up into the heavens.

I am not fond of talkative people. There is such a kingliness and queenliness about the silent man or woman.

Life is greatest as it is most unheard, unseen—unspoken!

JUST FOLKS —By— Edgar A. Guest

THE MORTGAGE AND THE MAN.

This is the tale of a mortgage, and a dead man and his son,
A father who left to his only child a duty that must be done,
And the neighbors said as they gathered round in the neighbors' curious way:
"Too bad, too bad, that he left his boy so heavy a debt to pay."

Day by day through the years that came the mortgage held him fast,
Straight and true to his task he went, and he paid the debt at last,
And his arm grew strong and his eye kept bright, and although he never knew,
The thing that fashioned a man of him was the task he had to do.

His arms grew soft and his eyes went dull and his cheeks turned ashy pale,
For strength which isn't employed by day with idleness grows stale.
"He is not the man that his father was," the neighbors often said,
"And better for him had he been left to work for his meat and bread."

Oh, the race dies out and the clan departs and feeble grows the son
When they come at last to the dreadful day when all of the work is done.
For manhood dies on the roads of ease where the skies are ever blue,
And each of us needs, if we shall grow strong, some difficult thing to do.

Texas Viewpoints

New Constitution Opposed

Denison Herald: Of the delegates composing the convention of 1875, which drafted the present state constitution, five survivet. They are: Judge W. F. McLean of Fort Worth; Col. A. T. McKinney of Huntsville; Judge W. W. Dillard, of Trenton, and Gen. Webster Flanagan of Henderson. All of them are aged, respected and greatly beloved by the people of their respective communities. All of them have served the state in various capacities with honor and today are reaping rewards of lives well spent.

Naturally, talk of calling a convention to draft a new constitution is of interest to them; likewise their views with respect to the wisdom of such a course are of interest to the people of Texas. The Dallas News, with its characteristic enterprise through a staff correspondent detailed for that purpose, has sought and obtained personal interviews with the distinguished citizens and their opinions thus expressed have found space in the columns of that publication. It is rather significant that they all seem to be of one mind in opposing the movement, failing to see any necessity at this time for rewriting the instrument for which they voted nearly half a century ago.

Without exception all of them sense the fear that the underlying motive behind the movement is a desire to repeal or change the homestead provision of the constitution that to them represents the only bulwark of safety for the man with moderate homes. Some of them think that it would mean an increase in salaries, possibly changes in official tenure which they oppose. Dr. Holmes perhaps speaks more plainly on this subject than his former colleagues. He says that the governor's salary is sufficient—indeed, he thinks it could be reduced to $1,000 with safety, since aspirants for executive are more concerned about the honor that attaches to the office than the emolument provided. The five survivors are not a unit in this view, however, but they all uniformly insist on being advised what necessity exists for drafting a new organic law.

If the constitution as it stands today represented what it did when it was adopted 47 years ago we could understand and appreciate more fully the jealous regard with which the gentlemen view the result of their handiwork. With but few exceptions, however, the instrument is entirely different from what it was when it left their hands. Repeated amendments have altered and changed it to such an extent as to make it an entirely different proposition from what it was when they fashioned it. While it may be called a child of their creation in part, through the metamorphosing process of time and circumstance it has been given an entirely new form and figure, so patched up with amendments as to make it unrecognizable save in name.

As to the necessity for changes The Herald believes that a reform in the state's tax system, educational system, as well as its top-heavy judicial system are in need of radical changes. The foundation on which they rest was entirely sufficient 50 years ago, but assuredly they fail to encompass present requirements. This fact is made known every time the legislature meets and steps ought to be taken to correct the defect by building anew. Then, too, The Herald is not in accord with the gentlemen regarding the homestead law. It believes that the law as it stands is an obstacle to progress and development as well as affording a shield for debtors who desire to defeat creditors. It stands in the way of city improvements and keeps many ambitious towns from advancing in a civic way. The Herald would not do away with homestead exemptions entirely, but it does believe that the time has come when certain modifications should be made that would be of equal benefit to the owner and to the public. As to whether the present time is propitious for undertaking the work we express no opinion. It is true that the country has not recovered from the shock of war and the public mind is still unsettled. But as for that matter, the time when all conditions would be just right will never come. There will always be some objection and some good reason urged why the movement should be postponed. It is the history of all reforms or attempts at community betterment. Procrastination, putting off until tomorrow things that should be done today has always hindered and delayed progress and advancement. If the constitution is all that it should be, then why keep on amending it? Let's let it stand and use no more scraps to patch up its weak or threadbare places.

The Teacher's Need of Prayer

"He departed into the mountain to pray." Mark 6:46.

Read Mark 6:45-56.

"Men become dilapidated as stone walls do. The virtues of the soul fall asunder and men need to be rebuilt."

Meditation: If Jesus needed to pray, I cannot get on without it. Jesus climbed a mountain for better praying. I cannot afford to be careless in my devotions.

Hymn:

O thou, by whom we come to God,
The Life, the Truth, the Way,
The path of prayer thyself hast trod;
Lord, teach us how to pray.

Prayer: O Almight: God, from whom every good prayer cometh, and who pourest out on all who desire it the spirit of grace and supplication; deliver us, when we draw nigh to thee, from coldness of heart and wanderings of mind, that with steadfast thoughts and kindled affections we may worship thee in spirit and in truth; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By LEE PAPE

I finished studying my homework last nite and started to lissen on my radio, and ma sed, Benny, it strikes me you got throo your lessins sispiciously fast.

I know them perfeck, I sed, and ma sed, That remains to be seen, jest hand me your homework book and Ill ask you some questions. And I gave her my homework book with the questions and answers in, me thinking, G, I know wat, Ill anser her all rong jest for fun. And ma started to ask me joggriffy questions, saying, Give the definition of a island.

A island is 2 bodies of watter with a bridge in between, I sed.

Its nuthing of the kind, wat nonsents, wats a peninsla? ma sed.

A peninsla is a high peec of land full of small holes, I sed.

I thawt you sed you studied your homework, wats a cape? ma sed.

A cape is a hole in the ocean compleetly serrounded by land, I sed.

Absliootly rong, now sippose you take this and study for another half an hour at leest, ma sed, and I sed, April fool, ma, I was answering rong on perpose.

Then that makes it 10 times werse, its bad enuff to be ignorant by nature without being ignorant by disposition, ma sed.

And she wouldent leeve me lissen to the radio till I studied another half of a hour, not including the exter 10 minnits I waisted trying toget out of it.

YOU AND I

STYLES.

Mrs. Asquith introduces King Tut fashions to London society. She attends a wedding, wearing a dress of "closely swathed terra cotta, caught at the waist with a large scaral (Egyptian beetle) clasp."

Clothing houses and jewelers are rushing their designers to King Tut's tomb. By next fall our women will be draped tightly like mummies, fashion experts predict. An accidental discovery by scientific ditch diggers may revolutionize styles. Human nature is fickle, vanity always ready for a new craze—follow the leader. It's part of the phenomenon called life. With most of us, life's main purpose is a quest for thrills—anything new.

BET.

Frank Doudera, New Yorker, is in Canada on a hunting trip. He says he's after a timber wolf, and, if he gets it, wins a $10,000 bet. Has to be home with the pelt by April 1.

We humans certainly are animated by strange quests.

Who bet against Frank? For $10,000 any average trapper would go into the North Woods and bring out a freight car full of timber wolves. Easy money. Why are these unimportant things interesting? The vaudeville managers know.

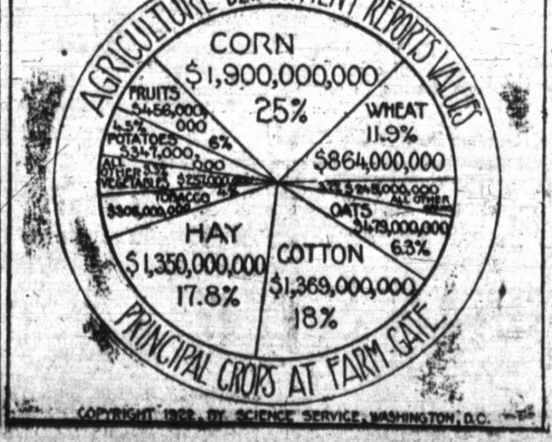

SPENDING.

Using wholesale prices, our country in 1921 produced about 17 million dollars worth of mirrors and 55 million dollars worth of coffins and other Final Destination equipment. We are rather vain when we spend nearly a third as much for mirrors as for funerals. But every funeral costs too much. Buy another mirror and be happy.

"Have you had any intimation of thieves working in this neighborhood?" I asked him.

"None whatever," he replied. "I will be perfectly frank with you. It is not an ordinary robbery of which we are afraid. For some reason or other, our inquiry department has formed a dubious opinion of Mrs. De Mendoza herself."

"I see," I remarked. "You are afraid of a fraud."

"Precisely! Directly we received the letter from the hotel detective we rang up the manager here. All that we could learn was that the illness was altogether unexpected, and that the man had been compelled to go home at a moments notice. In reply to our request that a trained detective might take his place, the management assured us that they considered nothing of the sort necessary. No robbery of jewels had ever taken place from this hotel, and they considered their night porter fully competent to watch over the interests of their guests."

"Sir William Greaves, our manager, desired me to suggest a fee of two hundred guineas," my visitor concluded.

"I will accept the commission," I promised.

The next morning I interviewed the manager of the hotel, to whom I was well known. He showed some irritation when I spoke of Mrs. De Mendoza's necklace and her nervousness concerning it.

"To be quite frank with you," he confessed, "although Mrs. De Mendoza is a good client and pays her accounts regularly, I am inclined to be sorry that we ever let her the rooms."

"Why?" I asked.

"People with valuable jewelry should accept its possession with a certain resignation," he replied "This is the last hotel in London where a jewel robbery would be likely. The lady herself, I understand, takes every possible care and caution. She wears her necklace nowhere except in the restaurant and lounge, and every night it is deposited in the hotel safe. However, you may rely upon it, Sir Norman, that every facility will be given to you in your task. I would suggest that you pay a visit to the lady herself."

The idea had already occurred to me, and later in the day I sent up my card to Mrs. De Mendoza and was at once invited to enter her sitting-room. I found her writing letters, simply dressed in a black negligee and wearing the pearls. As she turned and invited me to seat myself, she stirred in my memory a faint suggestion of reminiscence. She listened to the few words with which I introduced myself, and smiled deprecatingly.

"It is true that I am very foolish," she admitted, "but then I have always been a person of superstitions. I have owned my necklace for some years, and I have had it with me in quite lawless places. I have never, however, felt just the same amount of apprehension as I do at the present moment."

She came over to my side, and without unclasping the necklace, let it rest in my hands. The pearls were all marvelously matched, all of considerable size, and with that milky softness which she pointed out to me as being a proof of their great perfection. As we stood there, necessarily close together, a wisp of her hair touched my forehead. Something in the timbre of her low laugh as she brushed it back induced me to look up. There were qualities about her smile and the peculiar expression of her eyes which gave me a momentary thrill.

"Do you admire my pearls?" she asked softly.

"They are very wonderful," I admitted.

She moved slowly away. I breathed more easily as the distance increased between us. She looked over her shoulder unexpectedly, and I believe that she realised my sensation. The slight frown passed from her forehead. She was obviously more content.

"Tell me how you propose to guard my treasures, Sir Norman?" she inquired as she sank into an easy chair. "Shall you stand behind my chair at dinner, disguised as a waiter, and lie on my mat at night? It gives one quite a shivery sensation to think of such espionage!"

"Believe me," I assured her, "I shall not be in the least obtrusive. I understand that you send your pearls down every night to the hotel safe."

"I have always done so," she answered. "Do you think it would be better to keep them up here? Will you promise to sit in this easy-chair, with a revolver on your knee, all night, if I do so?"

"Not for the world," I declared. "The hotel safe is much the better place."

"I am glad to hear your decision," she said with a slight smile. "I should sleep very little if I thought that my pearls were near me—and that you were sitting here, on guard. The idea would be disturbing."

"One cannot guard against miracles," I observed, "but I think you can make your mind quite easy about the necklace. If you should need me at any time, the number of my room is Four-thirty-two."

"On this floor?"

"On this floor."

"Tell me," she asked a little abruptly as I rose to take my leave, "who was the man with whom you were talking last night in the lounge—a slim, middle-aged man with a very hard face? I am always seeing him in the lift."

The entrance of Mrs. De Mendoza created a mild sensation in the lobby.

"A man I know scarcely anything of," I replied. "His name, I believe, is Stanfield. I once played golf with him down at Woking."

"Stanfield?" she repeated. "Was it in his grounds near Woking that a murder was committed—a policeman was found shot there?"

I nodded. "I was playing with Mr. Stanfield at the time," I told her.

"And the murderer was never discovered?"

"Never!"

I wonder you didn't take an interest in the case yourself,' she remarked.

"I did,' I told her.

She made a little grimace.

"My fears for my necklace are reawakened," she declared. "Surely it ought to have been an easy task for a clever man like you, one who used to be called a really great detective, to discover the murderer?"

"It is beyond my powers to bring him to justice, at any rate," I replied. "There are many criminals walking about today, of whose guilt the police are perfectly well aware. They cannot be arrested, however, for lack of evidence."

"How thrilling," she murmured. "Will you ask me to dnie with you some night and tell me some of your adventures?"

"I shall be happy to do so," I replied. "Meanwhile—"

She accepted my departure a little unwillingly. I am not a vain man, and I felt inclined to wonder at a certain graciousness of attitude on her part which more than once during our interview had forced itself upon my notice.

Later, about seven oclock, a note was brought into my room.

Dear Sir Norman,

A lady and her husband who were dining, have disappointed me. Can you, by any chance, be my guest? If so, let us meet at eight o'clock in the lounge. Hopefully yours,

Blanche de Mendoza.

I scribbled a line of acceptance. I felt, as I descended into the lounge that evening, a premonition that life for the next few hours was going to be very interesting indeed.

At eight o'clock, precisely, Mrs. De Mendoza came into the lounge. She was wearing a white lace evening dress, with an ermine wrap which hung loosely around her, disclosing the pearls underneath. Her entrance made a mild sensation. Mr. Stanfield, who was seated in his accustomed corner, drinking his cocktail, watched oru meeting and departed into the restaurant with obvious surprise.

"The little man was there again who stares at me so much—Mr. Stanfield, I think you called him?" she remarked as we took our places.

I nodded.

"I darg say he was surprised to see us together," I said. "I asked him who you were, on the night of my arrival here."

"Why?"

"For the same reason that a great many other people ask the same question,' I replied.

She made a little grimace.

"You are determined to pay me no compliments this evening, and I am wearing my favorite gown."

"I admire your taste," I assured her.

"Anything else?"

"You are the best-dressed and the best-looking woman in the room."

"Too impersonal," she complained.

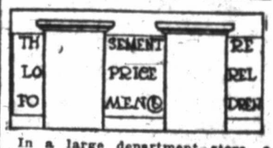

I turned the conversation to the subject of the necklace. The perals were collected for her, she told me, by her husband, some in India, some in the Malay states, some in Paris, some in Rio. She spoke of him quite frankly—a prosperous fruit-broker who had achieved sudden opulence.

"It was quite as much a change for me as for him," she remarked. "I was a typist in Buenos Aires before we were married. I have known what it is to be poor."

She answered all my questions without reserve, displaying later on much interest in the recounting of such of my adventures as were public property. I began to feel that I had been mistaken with regard to her, that she was really exactly what she seemed—a very wealthy woman of adventurous type, suddenly released from matrimonial obligations and a life uncertain what to make of her life. We took our coffee in the lounge afterward. In the background my golfing friend, Mr. Stanfield, was seated, smoking a cigaret in a retired corner, and having the air of studying everyone who passed.

A PUZZLE A DAY

In a large department store, a sign was partially hidden by two pillars, as shown above. Each pillar concealed four letters in each line of the sight. (Spaces between words count as letters.) Can you read the sign?

Yesterdays Answer.

If three girls, each carrying an equal number of pennies, gave to nine boys an equal number, so that each boy and girl had the same number apiece, each girl must have had at least four pennies at the beginning. The total of pennies was 12, and as there were nine boys and three girls, each had one penny at the finish.

"BABY MINE"

FAIR ASSOCIATION TO INCREASE STOCK, BUILD GRANDSTAND

CAPITAL RAISED TO $150,000 AT EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING THURSDAY.

CONTRACTS APPROVED FOR BIG STUNT PROGRAM

Many Amusement Features Assured; Department Directors For 1923 Appointed.

Instructions to proceed at once with plans for construction of a race track and grandstand at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair grounds were voted Thursday night at a meeting of the executive committee of the fair association.

The committee also recommended increasing the capital stock from $100,000 to $150,000 to provide funds for the needed improvements.

The meeting, which was held at the country home of George Keith, president of the association, was attended by Mr. Keith, T. B. Noble, W. E. Norton, W. F. Weeks and C. H. Verschoyle, W. D. Cline being the only committeeman absent.

A decision was adopted to make the 1923 fair an absolutely "passless" fair, no free list being permitted.

The committeemen approved contracts signed by C. H. Verschoyle, secretary, for the amusements at the fair, the list including the following:

Lillian Boyer's flying circus, including a number of airplane stunts, transferring from auto to airplane, and others.

Al Sweet's singing Hussar band.
The Thomas Saxotette.
The Tunisian sisters, aerial acrobatics.
Sie Tahar troupe, acrobatics.
LaSalle troupe, comedy acrobatics.
Loretta Twins, horizontal bar act.
Navikoff, aerial acrobatics.

Plans for carnival attractions were held up temporarily. The carnival companies are unwilling to sign contracts to appear here unless the taxes are paid by the fair association, and if a bill now pending at Austin is passed, these taxes will be increased by about $500 daily. Until the outcome of the legislation is known, no steps for carnival attractions will be taken.

Departmental chairmen were appointed at the meeting as follows: Agriculture, W. M. Priddy; art, J. L. McMahon; automobile show, R. O. Harvey; baby show, E. S. Goodner; buildings and grounds, G. C. Wood; cattle, hogs and sheep, Will Young; horses, W. F. Weeks; dogs, L. O. Landon; educational, R. H. Henry; admissions, W. E. Norton; machinery, Will Daniel; poultry, Ira D. Brown; women's department, W. W. Anderson; premiums and catalogue, George Keith; electrical, F. A. Rogers; local transportation, W. D. Cline; traffic on grounds, M. D. Rowe; hotel accommodations, Jos. Huckins III; railroad transportation, T. B. Noble.

Estimates on grandstand and race track construction will be asked for at once, so that definite figures may be obtained. As soon as practicable steps for the sale of the additional $50,000 capital stock will be taken.

HOLDEN OUTLINES PLAN FOR MERGER WESTERN ROADS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A plan for consolidation of all the railroads west of Chicago into four great systems, each operating over 30,000 miles of line, was laid before the interstate commerce commission today by Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy.

The object of the vast consolidation he proposed, which would go far beyond present government consolidation plans, would be the creation of four such systems as would each reach from Chicago to the Pacific coast, and from the Gulf to the Canadian border.

Groups Are Proposed.

The Burlington, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Kansas City Southern, Chicago Great Western, Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company, Trinity & Brazos Valley and subsidiary corporations would be in one group.

A second group would be made up of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Chicago & Northwestern, Duluth, Missabea & Northern, Duluth & Iron Range, Missouri & North Arkansas, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, St. Louis Southwestern, Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific and a series of smaller lines.

Third Group Railways.

In the third group would be placed the Southern Pacific, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Toledo, Peoria & Western, and other shorter lines, while ownership of the Denver & Rio Grande Western and the Denver & Salt Lake would be vested, one-half to each, in common between the second and third groups.

In the fourth group, Mr. Holden proposed to place the Union Pacific, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, St. Louis-San Francisco, Chicago & Alton, Texas & Pacific and International & Great Northern.

TWO WOMEN AND MAN ARE KILLED; STRUCK BY AUTO

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—Two women and a man were killed today early when an automobile, traveling at high rate of speed, crashed into them as they were alighting from a trolley car in West Philadelphia. The driver of the machine did not slacken his speed but rushed away as the victims were hurled 50 feet from the spot where they were struck.

Twenty minutes later Henry G. Brock, banker, club man and member of a widely known Philadelphia family, was found four blocks from the scene of the killing standing beside a blood spattered motor car wrecked against a pole. He was arrested in connection with the accident.

A fur neck piece worn by one of the women was found wedged between the mud guard and the radiator of the car. A barrette was embedded in the radiator.

The dead were Mrs. Ellen O'Donnell, 65; Leo O'Donnell, 29, her son, and Miss Mary Murphy, 18.

Brock was taken to a police station and a police surgeon after an examination, reported that while Brock was undoubtedly under the influence of liquor, he was fully capable of driving an automobile. A charge of reckless driving was lodged against him.

ECLIPSE OF MOON TO BE VISIBLE IN NORTH AMERICA

CHICAGO, March 2.—One of the phenomena accepted by astronomers as indicating that the world is a sphere, a lunar eclipse, will be visible in North America tonight.

Edwin B. Frost, director of Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., explained the eclipse will occur as the moon runs into the shadow of the earth. The first faint trace of the phenomena can be seen at 8:25 central time, with the northeastern portion of the moon becoming slightly obscured. The height of the eclipse will be reached about 9:32 and the shadow will leave the northwestern portion at 10:35. The lower ¼ will not be dimmed.

Proof of the fact that the earth is a sphere, Prof. Frost said, will be seen in the roundness of the cross section of the earth's shadow where it falls upon the moon.

PRISON COMMITTEE IS INCLINED TO FAVOR THE CENTRAL TEXAS LOCATION

AUSTIN, March 2.—Final hearing before the joint legislative investigation committee on proposed relocation of the state penitentiary, will be held tonight, after which the committee will begin preparation of its report to the legislature, Chairman Claude Teer of Granger announced today. Teer said the committee is inclined to favor location of the prison in Central Texas rather than on East Texas state farms.

EASILY REIMBURSE U. S. IF GERMANY MEETS PAYMENTS

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 2.—The belief that the United States could be easily reimbursed for the cost of its Rhine army if only Germany would pay regularly on the reparations account, was generally expressed at yesterday's conference between Eliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the treasury, and the financial representatives of the allied governments. The possibility of payments in cash or in credits, it was learned today, were examined from every point of view. The spokesmen for France, Great Britain and Italy could not suggest a way to compel Germany to pay until the present controversies have been settled. It was pointed out Germany has suspended payments to the allies and there is no immediate prospect of either money or goods with which the United States might be paid.

The spirit of the conference was one of harmony.

There was no suggestion that the American government should negotiate directly with Germany on this subject. Furthermore, it was understood that German properties sequestered in the United States was reserved to satisfy the claims of American citizens against Germany and could not be applied to the cost of the army of occupation.

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS SPEED TROPHY RACE OF ASIATIC FLEET

MANILA, March 2.—It was just after the destroyer Hulbert took the Asiatic fleet speed trophy by making 35 knots an hour yesterday that tragedy came aboard to chill the pride of the crew. Six enlisted men were killed by an explosion in the boiler room.

In investigation board has been appointed to determine the cause.

LARGE INCREASE IN RAILROAD TAX HOLDEN CHARGES

CHICAGO, March 2. — Taxes charged the nation's railroads for 1922 increased 10½ per cent over 1921, and amounted to $804,885,158, the largest sum ever paid by the carriers, Halen Holden, chairman of the western railways committee on public relations and president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, announced here today.

Mr. Holden asserted that 1922 taxes were 94 per cent greater than those of 1916, an increase of 17½ per cent over the amount paid in 1912, and exceeded cash dividends paid by the carriers in any year except 1917. The 1922 taxes, he said, amounted to 26 per cent of the railroads' net earnings as compared with 13 per cent in 1917.

TRAINING SCHOOL INQUIRY WILL BE ENDED SATURDAY

AUSTIN, March 2.—Investigation of the Gainesville juvenile training school will be completed tomorrow night following a hearing to which several persons from Dallas have been summoned to testify, Representative C. E. Beasley of Sulphur Springs, chairman of the house investigation committee, announced today. Chairman Beasley said the committee would prepare its report following the hearing and submit the same to the house early next week.

Spanish Youths Are Gifted With "X-Ray" Vision

LONDON, March 2.—Two sons of a Spanish nobleman are gifted with "X-ray eyes" according to an article in the Madrid Imparcial quoted by the Daily Mail.

Tests have shown that the youths' abnormal vision enables them to read through silver, brass or iron but they cannot see through porcelain or paper.

WILLIAM JAMES DIES IN FORT WORTH HOSPITAL

DALLAS, March 2.—Funeral services will be held at Cleburne Sunday for William James of Dallas, one of the most prominent Masons in Texas, who died in a Fort Worth hospital last night of pneumonia. The Masonic grand lodge and the grand commandery of Texas will participate in the services. Mr. James was 62 years old, having come to Texas from Alabama, his native state, 56 years ago. Burial will be at Cleburne because Mr. James retained his Masonic membership in a lodge at that city.

Prayer Answered, Minister Gets Bride

Here is one marriage that was made in Heaven, says Rev. George H. Lawson of Orange, N. J. After two women had failed to meet his ideals, Rev. Lawson took refuge in prayer and was guided toward a laundry-worker of East Orange, N. J. Here are the minister and the "prayer-bride" starting out on their honeymoon.

DUBLIN, March 2.—A mine exploded outside the Roman Catholic procathedral here last evening during a mission service. Many women in the congregation fainted. The building was not damaged.

Public Is Told Truth About Stella Vitae

Remarkable Treatment for Women Arouses Such Intense Interest That Druggists Are Overwhelmed With Questions of All Kinds

Stella Vitae is on the tongue of every person in Texas. Never before, perhaps, have the people been aroused as they have since the anouncement that this remarkable treatment for "Diseases of Women" is to be distributed here.

Intense interest is manifested everywhere and so great has been the demand for full information that druggists have been swamped with questions concerning the preparation which it is composed of and its effect in relieving suffering women.

As a result and in order that the public may be fully informed regarding Stella Vitae the Thacher Laboratories have issued the following explanation:

Stella Vitae is Nature's own gift to suffering womankind. It is not the product of a day, nor is it a secret remedy. But on the other hand it is composed of roots and herbs long known to science as possessing peculiar healing properties in connection with the treatment of "Female Diseases."

Among the most beneficial of these ingredients which are found in large quantities in Stella Vitae are:

BLACK HAW BARK OR ROOT. This is a domestic drug, growing principally in Western North Carolina, South Western Virginia, West Virginia, East Tennessee, and the mountainous parts of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama. It is a valuable Uterine Sedative and Anti-Spasmodic, and one of the most dependable agents in diseases peculiar to women.

ALETRIS, also known as TRUE UNICORN ROOT, and locally as Blazing Star or Star Grass (Aletris Farinosa), one of the most dependable and most universally used emmenagogue's known. It is also a general tonic, especially valuable in female diseases.

SQUAW VINE. This plant is a native of mountain sections in North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama, also West Virginia and Kentucky. It has the sanction of the highest authority, as a diuretic tonic and astringent, and is especially valuable in the large class known as female diseases. It was used by pioneers, with special reference to its facilitating parturition.

LIFE ROOT PLANT, recognized and assigned as special value as emmenagogue and diuretic. It is a native of both the United States and Europe.

HELONIAS ROOT, is a domestic crude drug, where it is ascribed distinct virtues as an alterative and emmenagogue of first merit.

BLUE COHOSH ROOT, is a domestic drug, also known as Squaw Root and Papoose Root. An Anti-Spasmodic of distinct merit, and an emmenagogue of a very dependable character.

SENNA, is used merely to relieve the astringent inherency in some of the other drugs. It is a native of North Africa and Asia.

MOUNTAIN MAPLE, so called "RAMP BARK, is a native of the United States, and is accorded distinct value as Anti-Spasmodic and Uterine Sedative.

In addition to these there are in Stella Vitae many other aromatics and important medicinal ingredients.

Compounded and proportioned in a manner never before used, these wonderful ingredients form the basis for the splendid treatment for suffering women now known as Stella Vitae.

The public may rest assured that in using Stella Vitae they are not experimenting with some never-before-known root or bark or with an alleged discovery of some Indian or half-breed. Stella Vitae is a rare combination of the most beneficial vegetable herbs and roots known to science for the correction of disorders peculiar to the woman. And the tremendous success that has invariably followed its use has already proven conclusively the supremacy of the Stella Vitae treatment over any other method for restoring weak, run-down, suffering women to health, happiness and the enjoyment of the pleasures of life.—adv.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive, Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as catarrh. You can now get rid of it by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries, which you smoke in a dainty pipe or cigarette. The smoke-vapor is inhaled into all the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs and carries medicine where sprays douches and salves cannot possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing and is entirely harmless. It contains no cubebs or tobacco, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

If you suffer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or if subject to frequent colds, you should try Dr. Blosser's Remedy which may be had at any drug store; or if you desire proof of its beneficial and pleasant effect, send ten cents (coin or stamps) to The Blosser Co., 27 BD, Atlanta, Ga., for a trial package.

THE STARRY SKIES IN MARCH

By Professor Barton of the University of Pennsylvania.

The month of March comprises the first of the two eclipse periods of the year. There is an eclipse of both the moon and the sun this month. The first interests us more because we can observe it. This is only a partial eclipse of the moon. The last eclipse of the moon was on October 16, 1921. Figure 3 represents the conditions of the eclipse. As the sun is larger than the earth, the sun shining on the earth causes it to cast a great conical shadow in the opposite direction away from the sun. When the moon enters this shadow, the sun's light no longer falls upon it and it becomes nearly invisible. The base of the cone at the earth has a diameter equal to that of the earth nearly 8000 miles. At the distance of the moon it is somewhat smaller—about 6100 in diameter. It is this cross section of the cone at the distance of the moon which is represented in Figure 2 and named the earth's shadow. In this case the moon does not cross the shadow squarely and is never entirely within the shadow. At the maximum eclipse in Position 2 a little over a third of the moon's diameter is in the shadow.

As the earth moves about the sun the shadow moves slowly. The moon moves about 12 times as fast as the shadow and overtakes it.

It first encroaches on the shadow as shown in Position 1 at 9.28 P.M. March 2, Eastern standard and is at its maximum eclipse in Position 2 at 10.32. The moon has its last contact with the shadow in Position 3 at 11.36. The full moon occurs at 10.24. The middle of an eclipse of the moon must always be very near the instant of full moon. The earth's atmosphere refracts some light into the shadow, so that the part of the moon within the shadow can be faintly seen. Figure 2 shows the shadow, but of course the shadow cannot be seen in the sky.

The eclipse can be seen wherever the moon can be seen at the time it passes through the shadow. The whole of the eclipse can be seen from all parts of North America. It will not be seen in Asia and the Pacific ocean. There will be another very small partial eclipse of the moon in August and none visible here next year.

Two weeks after the eclipse of the moon the moon has moved half way round in its path around the earth and comes between the earth and the sun, causing an eclipse of the sun. The eclipse is an annular eclipse, which will not be visible here in any part. It occurs on March 17. The eclipse will be seen from the southern parts of South America and Africa only. There are no other eclipses until August 26.

There are now no planets to be seen well in the early evening. Mars may be seen low in the west in the early evening. Its position at the beginning of the month cannot be shown on Fig. 1, but the position at the end of the month is shown. The position of Neptune in Leo is shown. This planet cannot be seen with the naked eye. Saturn is just on the eastern border of the map. We shall now see it in the early evening for about six months. The rings are now more widely opened than for several years past. Venus may be seen in the east before sunrise. The sun crosses the equator March 21, 10.29 A. M. This event marks the beginning of spring.

The Milky Way now approaches the Western horizon preceded by the bright winter constellations and followed by much fainter ones. In fact it is followed by a section of the sky almost devoid of bright stars. The star at A in Hydra is called Alphard, meaning "the solitary one," because of its isolation from other bright stars, although it is by no means a conspicuous star. It is not at all comparable in brightness with its neighbors, Sirius at L, Procyon at C, or Regulus at D. At E and F are the twins Castor and Pollux, the former the most conspicuous of double stars and one within the separating power of small telescopes. Midway between these twins and Regulus at the bottom of the constellation Cancer, the name of which is familiar to many, although the handle of the "sickle" in Leo lies Praesepe, pronounced as presepe, with each "e" long and accent on the second syllable. The word means manger. To the ancients this was a manger and the two stars on either side were asses (Asselli) feeding from it. The Praesepe is properly a loose star cluster and not a nebula. Its distance has been found by methods none too reliable to be 126 light years.

A dark night and a clear sky are necessary to see the Praesepe or Cancer. The Praesepe is nearly midway between Pollux at F and Regulus at B. It will probably be noticed before the stars near it. Very little haze or moonlight is sufficient to obliterate it, although it is not particularly difficult to see under good conditions, as is evident from the fact that it has been recognized so long a time. It is a very interesting object in opera glasses or small telescopes.

SUSTAINS BROKEN LEG RUNNING TO BOY WHO FALLS

Mrs. Stella Haynes Hamm of 512 Lamar street, was run down and sustained a broken leg Thursday afternoon when she attempted to pick up a small boy who had jumped from the running board of an automobile in front of her home on Lamar. She was taken immediately to General Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Hamm was on her porch when she noticed a small boy fall to the pavement from the running board of an automobile. She rushed to the boy and darted in front of an approaching automobile before the driver could stop.

The boy was only slightly hurt; Mrs. Ham will be confined in the hospital for several weeks with the broken leg and minor injuries.

DUPLEX FIVE-ROOM HOME

Curtis Service Bureau, Clinton, Ia., has designed this duplex home. Plans below show first floor layout, right; second floor, left.

This duplex house will appeal to many homebuilders, because it has the appearance of a large single residence. A moderate amount of ground space is needed and yet two comfortable, even luxurious, five-room apartments are provided for.

The exterior is in brick and tile for the first story, with half timbers and stucco above. Clipped gables are an interesting feature. The steep shingle roof makes possible a splendid attic, which is equally accessible to both apartments and which may be finished off into extra rooms.

The arrangement of the stairs is a noteworthy feature. Besides the separate front stair leading to the second floor home, there is a hall at the rear which provides access with privacy for the occupants of both floors, from basement to attic. Notice, too, the privacy of the two living porches on the first floor.

Little Difference

The plans are practically identical for each suite. The first floor has a coat closet off the entry and a closet near the bathroom, both of which are impractical on the second floor. The second floor living room has the dormer rather than casements to afford light from the second side. Casements are used through the building and are an essential factor in the excellent appearance of the building.

The sizes of the rooms are excellent. A fireplace in each living room is a feature that appeals to everyone, more especially since it is usually considered dispensible in a duplex or two-family house. French doors are attractive between living room and dining room.

Housewifely hearts can well rejoice at the compact square kitchen, with its abundance of built-in conveniences. Across one side of it are two kitchen dressers, with sink and drainboard between, under the casements. There are built in shelves in the separate entry.

OPEN DERBY RESULTS IN PRETTIEST WORK OF BOWIE FIELD TRIALS

By JULIAN GARRETT

BOWIE, March 2.—The open derby, one of the classic events of the Oil Belt Field Trials, featuring the running of professional dogs and amateurs that have joined the professional ranks got under way Thursday at noon with eight braces being run off before a half was called for the day. This stake has offered some of the prettiest running seen so far in the trials but it is expected to be surpassed by the open all-age which will probably get started some time Friday.

Eight braces out of the fourteen in the open derby were run Thursday. The dogs that put up the best race and have been called back on the wagon are: Polly Flinders, a member of Jim Foster's string, handled in the open derby by Mack Pritchett of Fort Worth; Zig's Ace, Billy Cowan and Frank's Carolina Dock.

The dogs all ran Thursday and although in calling them back on the wagon Friday it does not mean that they are entered in the second series, it does mean that they are the only dogs that ran Thursday that are considered to have a chance at the prizes. The remaining five braces of the open derby will have to be run before the judges can pick the second series dogs.

Local Canine Does Well.

Frank's Carolina Dock, white and liver pointer dog, owned by J. W. Grisham of Wichita Falls and handled by Joe Henson of the same city, made a very favorable impression in the heat he ran Thursday. He was down in the fourth brace with Ell Hall. Bill passed up a bevy of birds which the Wichita Falls entry pointed and handled perfectly on the flush. Frank's Carolina Dock is only nine months old and was one of the winners in the puppy stake. His work on birds Thursday makes him stand high for a chance at honors in the derby.

Polly Flinders, black and white pointer bitch belonging to J. C. Foster Jr. of Fort Worth, president of the Oil Belt Field Trials, ran one of the best races that has been seen so far in the trials. She is the dog that Foster withdrew from the amateur derby because he thought she was too fast for the stake. She was handled by Mack Pritchett, also of Fort Worth. The bitch did not find birds but handled perfectly and went on a wide range and showed worlds of speed. She was put down in the fifth brace with Rodfield's Lance, setter, owned by the Silver Creek Kennels of Fort Worth and handled by Fred Andrews. Lance went at a good speed when he was first put down but slowed up near the end of his heat.

Zig's Ace, another one of the dogs called by for a second running is a pointer dog owned by Tracy Brown of Tulsa, Okla., and handled by Mack Pritchett of Fort Worth. The dog was put down in the first brace Thursday with Sunkist Lassie, white and black setter bitch, owned by J. H. Bishop Jr. of Pasadena, Cal., and handled by Fred Couttes, and outclassed the California entry. Sunkist Lassie won first place in Pacific coast derby this year but was not up to her usual form. Zig's Ace handled well and went on a wide range. He pointed a bevy of birds near the end of his heat which he handled in first class style.

Billy Cowan, also called back for a second running, is a white and liver pointer dog, owned by J. D. Ellis of Union Springs, Ala., and handled by Chesley Harris, was forced to run alone because Joe Crane withdrew his entry, Great Island Old Nick, owned by William Ziegler Jr. of New York, due to distemper. Billy Cowan placed in the Southern derby in 1922 and showed his ability today by range and speed. He has a good bird record but drew a bare course Thursday.

21 in Open All-Age.

Five more braces in the open derby were to be run Friday morning besides the running of the second series. The open all-age, the last stake in the trials is small with 21 entries. The drawings for this stake was held Thursday night and the judges have ordered the first seven braces out Friday. If the program goes through for Friday as planned the trials will be concluded by noon Saturday at the latest. The drawing for the open all-age is as follows:

First brace—Tom Hall with Dapper Dan.

Second brace—Edgecliff Duke with Comanche Rap.

Third brace—Great Island Ringing Bells with Beck Broomhill.

Fourth brace—Brookfield Kid with Ghosts Duke.

Fifth brace—Frank Rice with Muscle Shoales Jake.

Sixth brace—Don Proctor with Prairie Jack.

Seventh brace—Silver Creek Ben with Wig Wag.

Eighth brace—Zig's Ace with Eugene M's Gene.

Ninth brace—Monon with Mont Peller Man O' War.

Tenth brace—Kenwood Bessie with Invader.

Eleventh brace—Proctor's Queen A-Bye.

Members All Age Finished

The members all age was concluded Thursday at 11:00 o'clock with two Wichita Falls entries. Eugene M. Jr., owned and handled by Claude B. Woods, and Red River Susan, "Doc" Landon's entry, carrying off, second and third places respectively. First place went to Hays Liberty Bell, while Lady Louise Proctor was given fourth place honors. No honorable mentions were awarded in the members stakes.

Hays Liberty Bell, pointer bitch purchased recently by J. C. Foster Jr. of Fort Worth from C. B. Oliver of Caldwell, Texas, was the class of the stake. She was the only dog in the stake that showed any bird work to speak of. She discovered her first covey early in the heat when she was put down with Red River Susan, Doc Landon's entry. She pointed perfect but was unsteady on the flush. Fifty yards from where she found the first bevy she pointed a single and again chased when the bird was flushed. Near the end of the heat she pointed another covey and was backed up by Red River Susan. Both dogs chased on the flush however.

The stake as a whole was not up to the standard of the other amateur events that have been run. Many of the dogs that were entered in the stake had either run in the amateur derby, amateur all age, members derby or all three stakes and showed little spirit left. They were mostly run down.

Eugene M. Jr. Shows

Eugene M. Jr., Claude Woods' famous bench show winner, was given second place because of his speed and range. "Gene" is known throughout the country as a bench show dog but the setter has not showed much in the field trials before. Woods shipped the dog to San Antonio Thursday afternoon and will enter him in the bench show there on March 2. The dog will also be entered in the Fort Worth bench show on March 10. He needs to cop only one more show before he will be a bench champion as he already has four shows to his credit.

Red River Susan, black white and tan setter bitch owned and handled by L. O. Landon of Wichita Falls, won her third place cup in the members all age. The little setter also won third place in the members derby. The dog is fast and runs on a wide range; she has shown her ability to handle birds both in the members derby and all age.

Lady Louise Proctor, owned by Judge A. P. Mays of Corsicana, showed very little but was classed above the other entries because of her bird work Wednesday afternoon.

Silver Creek Ben, a winner in the amateur derby last year, looked like the class of the stake at the start of his heat. The dog would not be handled, however, and repeated his old trick of running off of the course. He was not found today until the stake was over. This is the second time the dog has pulled the same stunt in the trials this years.

The annual meeting of the association will be held at the Bowie Chamber of Commerce on Friday night. The place for the trials next year will be decided upon and it is thought that they will again be held at Bowie, although several of the members are for changing the grounds because of the few birds found this year. Another subject that will come up for discussion is the length of the trials. They have been too long this year, and it is thought that will be cut to only a week's time next year.

NEW "MOOSE" IS LIFTED TO FAME BY JEERING FANS

FRANK GOHEEN

Riding by the fans made a famous hockey player out of "Moose" Johnson, long a leader in Canadian leagues. The same sort of derision has made a star out of another "Moose."

Frank Goheen, who is a big factor on St. Paul's success in keeping in the running in the United States Hockey League's western group, is the player. He is at his best when the fans are against him. He plays such a hard ball and causes so many spills that there is ample chance for fandom's ire.

"Moose" Goheen was the most hated player appearing in Eleveth, Minn., this year. The fans waxed almost vituperative in their "razzing" and Goheen is credited with single-handed victories over the home team two successive days.

Now they like him at Eleveth.

MINOR LEAGUE STAR PUZZLES SCOUTS

Pitcher Walker, Phenom in Minors, Thrice Fails in Majors

By BILLIE EVANS

Why do some players who are sensations in the minors fail to deliver in the majors?

Why do other players who meet with only fair success in the bushes develop into major league stars?

That has been a deep, dark mystery for years to major league scouts and managers. It will probably remain so forever.

It is peculiar, too, for the rough fundamentals of the game are the same in the minors as in the majors.

Take the case of James Roy Walker, a six-foot right-handed pitcher of speed, curves and enough pitching stuff, according to major league experts, to live a long life as a major leaguer.

Walker was given a trial with the Cleveland Indians about six years ago. He was noted for control in the minors. In the American league he four-balled his way back to the minors.

Pulled a Comeback.

In the minors again, Walker regained his bearings and once more pitched himself to a major league trial. In 1918 he became a member of the Chicago Cubs. But Walker failed for the second time.

In looking for pitching strength for his Cardinals in 1921 Branch Rickey was tipped off to Walker, then with the New Orleans Pelicans. Walker had won 27 games and lost 11 with New Orleans.

In the Southern League that year were Johnny Glazner, Johnny Morrison, Clyde Barfoot, Indian Yellowhorse, Thomas Sheehan, Johnny Suggs and Dazzy Vance, all of whom advanced to the majors.

Walker was touted as easily the best prospect of the bunch, a pitcher ready to take his turn as a big league regular. That's what Rickey was looking for.

Star in the Minors.

A year and a half with the Cardinals and Walker had failed for the third time and back to New Orleans he drifted.

When the 1922 pitching averages of the Southern League were issued it was discovered that Walker was the prize of the list. He had won 19 of the 11 games in which he pitched and he featured with an earned-run column of 1.32, the best pitching record of the season for all leagues.

Five games were won by shutouts and he had three one-hit victories.

Major league scouts say that there isn't another pitcher who compares with Walker as a minor league pitcher. But the color changes when Walker tackles the big-time stuff.

JAMES WALKER

DUFFY LEWIS IS ALSO TURNING A FEW ROOK DEALS

HOLLIS THURSTON

Duffy Lewis, who won fame with the Boston Americans in the 1915 and 1916 world series and later starred with the Yanks, is now a full-fledged Coast League manager, in all that the name implies out there where they make and sell players.

Hollis Thurston, young right-handed pitcher, brought $15,000 from the St. Louis Browns in one of Lewis' recent dickers. Thurston developed the latter part of the 1922 season, and his pitching was a factor in lifting the Salt Lake club from near the cellar to the first division.

Only Two Veterans Of Yankees Signed For Coming Season

NEW YORK, March 2.—Only two Yankee veterans are signed for the coming season. They are Carl Mays and Babe Ruth, the big disappointments of 1922. Both are holdovers and it is lucky for them they are.

Mays led the American League pitchers in 1921, and twirled great ball in the big series with the Giants, Ruth was the sensation of 1921 in swat circles, with 59 home runs, setting a record that batters will be shooting at a long time.

Naturally, when it came to signing for 1922, both were in a position to dictate terms to the club. Each signed a two-year contract extending through 4923.

It is said that Ruth's contract calls for $52,000 a year, which is paid to the slugger in weekly installments of $1,000 throughout the year. Mays is said to have gotten $15,000 a year for two years.

Mays and Ruth were the "busts" of 1922. Mays failed to pitch winning ball at any stage of the race. Ruth was away below form, and lost about 10 weeks of play because of suspensions.

Were it not for the fact that both Ruth and Mays had the New York club tied up for another year, each no doubt would have received a decided cut in his salary check.

The Yankee owners even went so far as to ask for waivers on Mays to see the sentiment of the other clubs. It is said Cincinnati was the only team that refused to waive. A fat contract and a bad disposition proved too big a handicap for most of the clubs.

LOSES BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP, SHOEMAKER SEEKS SNOOKER TITLE

Having been deposed as national amateur billiard champion, a title he has held for 10 consecutive years, J. Howard Shoemaker is going abroad to seek new honors.

Edward Raynolds is the new champion, having acquired that honor in the recent tournament at New York. In the deciding game he defeated Shoemaker 125 to 121.

Snooker champion is the honor which Shoemaker is to seek abroad. The tournament will be staged in London starting March 5. Shoemaker will represent the New York Athletic Club.

Snooker is played on a 6x12 table with six pockets. The balls may be from 2 1-16 to 2 2-32 inches in diameter. Twenty-two balls are used.

Fifteen red balls are racked in pyramid form, as in other American pocket games. Six others, termed "colored balls"—yellow, brown, blue, green, pink and black—are distributed at designated points. The cue ball is white.

The yellow, brown and green ball are on the D or baulk line at the head of the table. The blue ball is located in the center of the table. The pink is placed at the apex of the pyramid. The black is on a spot between the pyramid ball and the foot rail, 12 1-2 inches from the rail.

Pocketing a red ball counts 1, the yellow counts 2, the green 3, the brown 4, the blue 5, the pink 6, and the black 7. A player must first pocket a red ball before playing on a "colored." He can continue scoring so long as he alternately pockets a red ball and a "colored." Red balls which are pocketed or go off the table in any manner remain off.

Until all the reds are off the table pocketed "colored" balls are returned to the table. When the table is cleared of red balls, "colored" balls must be played for in rotation. Penalties accrue for failures to make the cue ball hit a "colored" objective. When an objective is hidden by other balls, a player is "snookered." To "snooker" an opponent and avoid being "snookered" involves skill and tact. Penalties often decide a game.

Notre Dame Star Already Setting Some High Marks

LEO M'NULTY

By NEA Service.

HOLYOKE, MASS., March 2.—Leo McNulty, attending Rosary High, a small local parochial school, has ambitions. He wants to become an athletic star at Notre Dame, where he becomes a freshman next fall.

Meantime, McNulty is practicing up for such a time. The results to date are promising, to say the least.

McNulty is serving his second year as captain of the school basketball team, which has won more than 30 straight victories. Last season he threw 209 floor baskets, leading 30 high school and academy teams.

He was rated the best scholastic quarterback in New England last fall. As an outfielder and slugger he's a big part of Rosary High's baseball team, too.

INELIGIBLES AND COLLIER-LANDON ARE SUCCESSFUL

With only a six point lead the Ineligibles nosed out the Battery D five in the first game of the doubleheader at the American Legion hall Thursday night; the score at the final whistle stood 24 to 18.

Ferguson and Haney for the collegians turned everything their way until the last three minutes before half time. Sideliners were predicting a close out when Thurman at center tossed the first goal for the losers, three minutes before the interval. A repetition of this performance and credit for two free throws by Captain Harper put the score at half time 15 to 6 for the Ineligibles.

At half time Golden at forward for the losers took his place and proved a valuable man for the aggregation. The guardsmen were able to hold their own and time was all that kept them from a victory.

Collier-Landon Five Wins.

The Gaines five failed to materialize in the second game of the City League contests Thursday night. The game was turned to Collier and Landon by forfeiture and a pickup team met the sporting goods crowd in a practice game which resulted in a 40 to 26 score for Collier and Landon.

Early in the play Hudspeth and Bassett for the winners removed any chance of a defeat by an almost monotonous tossing of goals. The Collier and Landon five gained a substantial lead early in the game and the Gaines five was unable to stage a comeback. At the interval the score stood 24 to 12 for Collier and Landon.

Hudspeth was the mainstay of the winners, besides hitting the ring for 10 field goals, he was in every play. Scoring was equally divided on both teams, with this one exception.

FLYWEIGHT TITLE IS AWARDED TO GENARO; VILLA MEETS DEFEAT

NEW YORK, March 2.—Frankie Genaro, the east side boy who won the world's amateur championship of his class in the last Olympics, today is the new American flyweight champion, ruler of the one hundred and twelve pounders.

The deposed monarch is Pancho Villa, the mightiest mite of a fighting man that ever came out of the Philippines. He is a sad boy today stripped of his chance to meet Jimmy Wilde of England, world's champion of the tiny kingdom.

There are a good many of the 15,000 who saw the crown changed heads last night in Madison Square Garden who think the clever Filipino was treated harshly and at least should have received a draw. The fight was slow for a championship contest because both men were extremely cautious.

Villa appeared more aggressive but he was a shade more tired at the last gong. Their puunches seemed of equal force and their defenses were largely similar. Pancho was awarded oftener for overt acts but he seemed to have the upper hand the longest.

BOWIE BANQUETS OIL BELT FIELD TRIALS MEETING

BOWIE, TEXAS, March 2.—The banquet tendered the Oil Belt Field Trials Association by the chamber of commerce in their rooms on Wednesday evening, and served by the Maids and Matrons Club (who also served the banquet last year), was perhaps the most elaborate affair attempted here in some time and was most successful as an entertainment feature for the "Dog Men" who have been visitors here for the past week.

Last year the Maids and Matrons served the banquet, and the efficiency exhibited on that occasion brought the request from the Oil Belt Field Trials Association that they again have charge of this function, and Wednesday night the banquet was a decided improvement on any past attempts made by this organization.

The banquet hall was decorated in brilliant colors, with toy balloons, souvenirs and programs were at each place—special reservations being made for officers and directors—pot plants and cut flowers served as decorations for the tables, with an occasional red candle to shed its light over all.

After the guests were assembled, President Golden requested that all stand while Rev. F. O. Miller delivered the invocation. The feast was then served in course, the final course being coffee, after which Toastmaster Howard Park took charge of the exercises. A set program had been arranged in which numbers by the Bowie band and by members of the Maids and Matrons Club were interspersed with the addresses by the men folk. Each speaker was given a subject to discuss, but either by agreement or otherwise, the subjects only appeared on the program.

Molla Is Eliminated.

MONTE CARLO, March 2.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, American woman lawn tennis champion, was eliminated in the tennis tournament here today, losing to Miss Satterthwaite of England in straight sets 6-2, 6-1.

GROCERY and MARKET DEPARTMENT

Household Suggestions

It Saves Dishwashing

Clean all fish, folws and vegetables on a paper and burn it. This saves dishwashing and scrubbing.

In Stewing Fruit

Remember you don't need to use so much sugar if you add a pinch of carbonate of soda when stewing fruit.

Add Some Bluing

Your cut glass will be clear and sparkling if you add a little bluing to the suds in which you wash it.

Don't Let Them Soak

Never put ivory-handled knives or egg beaters to soak. Always wash and dry immediately after using.

Raw Potato Helps

A piece of raw potato dipped in baking soda will be most effective in banishing tarnish from your silver.

Takes Off Rust

You can remove rust from needles if you will stick them into a piece of flannel which you have saturated in machine oil.

Cleaning Coat Collars

It is almost impossible to keep a coat collar from becoming greasy where it comes in contact with the neck, but the objectionable stain may be removed by sponging it with alcohol in which salt has been dissolved.

Freshens Them Up

If your carpet or rugs have become faded and dingy a little ammonia will sometimes bring out the pattern again and freshen them amazingly.

Getting Off Mud

Mud stains that are difficult to remove often yield gracefully when confronted with a cut raw potato. Or you can grate the raw potato and add the same amount of water. When the mixture has settled, strain off the liquid and use it to sponge spots with. Then press on the wrong side.

Removing Tar Stains

If you ever get tar stain on your hands or clothing remember you can easily remove it with clean lard then wash thoroughly with soap and warm water.

Makes Mahogany Shine

If you want your mahogany dining-table to acquire a beautiful polish rub it with a rag dipped in vinegar, and when dry rub over with a cloth dampened in parrafin.

Hurrying Your Cooking

Sometimes a dinner is not correctly timed, so that the vegetables are not tender when the rest of the meal is ready. A pinch of bicarbonate of soda added to the water in which vegetables are cooking will not injure the appearance or taste, but will hasten the process of cooking.

Won't Dry Them

When you want to warm up biscuits or rolls or coffee cake put them in an ordinary paper bag and place in a moderately warm oven. They will be thoroughly heated without becoming dry.

As To Cakes

When you put your cake into the oven remember that greater heat is required for layer than for loaf cake.

In Beating Eggs

When you want your eggs beaten quickly add a pinch of salt. A teaspoon of cold water added to the white of an egg when it is being beaten will produce a much lighter, frothier result.

Cork Is Best.

A cork is much better than a cloth for scouring steel knives. Stick it in your scouring powder and rub it briskly over the metal surface. It will polish as well as clean, and will save your hands, too.

A LENTEN DISH

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Of Columbia University

Beat six eggs slightly. Add to them a cup and a half of rich milk, half a cup of grated cheese, a teaspoon and a half of salt, an eighth teaspoon of pepper and a half teaspoon of onion juice.

Turn into buttered cups, set in a pan of hot water and bake in the oven, taking care that the water does not boil.

When the point of a knife can be run into the center of a cup and come out with no custard adhering to it, remove from the oven.

To serve, turn from the cups onto a platter or individual plates, with pimiento sauce, made by adding pimientos (canned red peppers) which have been rubbed through a sieve to cream sauce. To each cup of the sauce allow two peppers.

These timbales may also be served with a tomato sauce.

Spanish Omelet

Take two tablespoons each of good oil and chopped onion, a clove or bean of garlic, chopped, two cups of canned or four fresh tomatoes, peeled and cut into small pieces, one teaspoon each of salt and paprika, a quarter pound of fresh mushrooms, eight olives, stoned and cut into strips, five eggs, five tablespoons water or milk and salt and pepper.

Cook the onion and garlic in the oil for five minutes, being careful not to brown. Add tomatoes, sugar, salt and paprika, and cook slowly for half an hour, or until quite thick. Wash, peel, and cut into pieces the mushrooms and cook in a little butter for five minutes. Add to the tomatoes, and at the same time add the olives.

When the tomato mixture is ready make the omelet.

Beat the eggs very slightly with a fork, add water or milk, salt and pepper. Heat the frying or omelet pan, add oil, and pour into this the eggs. Move the pan frequently as the eggs set, and with a knife, raise it from the bottom of the pan, allowing the uncooked part of the egg to touch the pan. In this way the egg does not become hard, but remains creamy. When only a very little egg remains in a liquid state loosen around the edges and fold over two or three times. Turn into a hot platter and pour the tomato around it. Garnish the top of the omelet with a few sprigs of parsley or watercress.

Eggs, Florentine

Wash two quarts of spinach and cook about 30 minutes, or until soft, adding a fourth of a cup of water and as much baking powder as can be taken on the point of a knife. When cooked, drain thoroughly pressing out all the water, which should be saved to make a cream soup for another meal. Then chop the spinach, adding butter, salt and pepper to taste.

Make a cream sauce by melting three tablespoons of butter and adding three tablespoons of flour, half a tablespoon of salt, a little pepper and a cup and a half of milk or a cup of milk and a half cup of cream, stirring constantly until it boils.

Place the spinach on a platter or in a baking dish which can be sent to the table, drop six eggs on it, seasoning each with salt and pepper, pour the cream sauce over all and on the top sprinkle evenly a cup of grated cheese.

Set in a hot oven and bake until the eggs are firm and the cheese is melted and slightly browned.

Serve at once.

Adon Hoffman of New York invented the steam clothes press.

CHEESE AND EGGS OFFER MANY TEMPTIVE POSSIBILITIES

Scarcely a family tires of eggs yet, during the Lenton season when eggs are so apt to appear as either luncheon or supper main dishes, every housewife should put a little extra time and thought into the selection of such combinations as will lend variety in the serving of this old time friend. Try the suggestions which follow and add zest to your springtime menus.

COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, March 2.—The cotton market showed renewed strength, opening firm at an advance of 12 to 30 points on higher Liverpool cables and a continuation of the buying movement which had been in progress late yesterday. All old crop months made new high records for the season with March selling at 30.45 and May at 30.55 on covering, trade buying, Wall street and commission house support. There was a good deal of realizing at these figures and some scattered southern selling which caused reactions of a few points during the early trading, but the market was steadied by bullish spot advices and reports of a demand for March notices. Ten notices were issued this morning but after selling off from 30.45 to 30.35 March quickly rallied.

The early realizing sales were absorbed on reactions of 15 or 20 points and the market firmed up again before the end of the morning on renewed covering and trade buying. The advance was accompanied by reports that still higher prices were being paid for spot cotton in some of the southern markets and some of the old crop months here made new high records early in the noon hour with May selling at 30.57, or 34 points above yesterday's closing. A telegram from Dallas said that spot buyers were scouring the country and that 31 cents had been paid for a round lot of cotton late yesterday and there were also reports from New Orleans of a tightening spot situation.

The mid-day advance extended to 30.65 for May and 25.98 for October, or about 15 to 46 points net higher. There was another flurry of realizing at these figures which caused reaction but the market was steady around 2 o'clock with prices showing net advances of 29 to 33 points on the old and 5 points on the new position.

Cotton closed firm.

October	26.14	25.76	26.10
December	25.68	25.33	25.68

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—New high record levels were reached in the cotton market by the old crop months, March rising to 30.27 and May to 29.97. In the first hour prices advanced 20 to 24 points on a continuation of the covering movement among shorts that started late yesterday. Trade buying was noted by some brokers, in addition to the special demand from the short side.

After the first rush of buying was over the market turned easy for a while under war talk from Germany as carried over private wires but after recessions of about 25 points it braced up again on evidence of something of a revival in the spot demand. Prices quickly shot upward to new high levels, May racing across the 30 cent mark to 30.11. March turned inactive and the new crops did not follow the advance except grudgingly. At the highest of the morning prices were 20 to 48 points up.

In the afternoon the market turned extremely irregular on what looked like the unloading of the straddle interest between the old and the new crops. At 1:20 o'clock the old crops were 11 to 15 points off from the best but October was making a new high for the day, standing at 25.54, or 24 points up.

Cotton closed very steady at net advance of 31 to 37 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, March 2.—New upturns in the price of wheat took place today during the early dealings, a forecast of much colder weather being taken as a bullish factor. Strength shown by the corn market tended also to life the value of wheat. Demand lacked force, however, and prices displayed a tendency to react. The opening, which varied from unchanged to ½c higher, May $1.18¾ to 1.19 and July $1.16 to 1, was followed by a slight advance all around and then by a setback to a trifle below yesterday's finish.

Dust storms in Nebraska and dry weather southwest failed to bring about more than transient rallies and weakness developed, especially near the end of the day. The finish was unsettled, ½ to ¾c net lower. May $1.18¾ to ⅞ and July 1.15¾ to ⅞.

Corn and oats made a further response to the bullish estimate which was circulated yesterday in regard to the amount of corn held on farms. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, May 73¾ to ⅞, corn scored moderate general gains before beginning to sag.

Subsequently corn reflected to some extent the weakness which appeared in the wheat market. Closed unsettled at 1c to 1¼c net decline, May 74¼c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c higher, May 45¾ and later showed a little advance on all deliveries.

Provisions were firm in line with the hog market.

STOCKS AND FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, March 2.—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular as a result of profit taking in some of the popular industrial favorites, but copper, oil and railroad shares were again in demand. Baldwin and Studebaker opened fractionally lower, American Smelting advanced 1 point to a new high record for the year and Anaconda duplicated its previous high. California Petroleum opened a point higher at 97¼, also a new peak price and Pan-American gained a point.

Prices strengthened in the later trading. California Petroleum extending its rise to 99¼, as compared with this year's low of 96¼. The preferred advanced one point also to a new peak price. A gain of 1⅛ points in Phillips Petroleum sent that stock to the highest quotation of the year. Other individual strong spots were Bosch Magneto, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, Cuba Cane Sugar preferred International Paper, Pan-American Consolidated Cigar, Union Tank Car, Advance Rumely preferred and American Car, all up 1 to 2 points. Foreign exchanges opened slightly easier.

Minor issues were conspicuously strong in the afternoon but gains were made also by many of the usual leaders, especially Baldwin, Bethlehem Steel, Pacific Oil, Phillips Petroleum and California Petroleum, the last mentioned rising to nearly 99 again. Adams Express moved up 5¼. United Fruit 5 and Union Bag and Paper 3¼ points.

The close was strong. Sales approximated 1,250,000 shares.

JACK DAW IN BALLOON LAND

By ELTON

Jack realized that his faithful dog had tried to pull him down to earth again, but had failed. Then he grew afraid that Flip might let go of his coat and drop to the ground, which was now far below. So Jack reached back and grabbed hold of Flip and held him tightly under his arm. On they flew!

Shortly Jack grew tired of hanging on to the strings that held the balloons. His arm was getting weak. Guess I'll have to find a more comfortable position, he thought. And with that he managed to crawl up between the many strings and finally settled down in a comfortable string seat.

On and on they floated. And higher and higher the balloons carried the adventurer and his dog. "I wonder where we are going to land," Jack said to Flip, and the dog seemed to understand for he whined loudly. Then, in the distance, Jack noticed a strange, large and very pretty cloud. (Continued.)

TO THOSE WHO LIKE TO DANCE

Prof. D. McDonald, dancing instructor, and Prof. Lowe, pianist, have formed a partnership to conduct a series of private dances to be given in the large ball room of the Labor Temple every Thursday and Saturday nights beginning at 8:45 and closing at 11:45.

These dances will be strictly high class invitation affairs, and anyone who is fortunate enough to attend can do so realizing that they are among ladies and gentlemen. Membership cards will be sold couples for $5 per month plus war tax, providing satisfactory references are furnished as to character. Invitations will also be issued to a limited number to each dance who furnish proper references. These invitation cards must be presented at the door where a fee of $1 plus war tax will be collected from each gentleman and 50 cents plus war tax from each lady.

If you desire to attend these private dances and can furnish good references, phone Prof. McDonald at 6050 from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. and from 6:30 to 10:00 p. m. except Sundays and dance nights. Private dancing lessons given by appointment teaching ball room dancing and classical dancing.

MICHNA OFFERS TO MARRY WOMAN WHO IS GIVEN VERDICT

MISS MILLIE BARTOSH ACCEPTS MARRIAGE OFFER IN OPEN COURT.

SEDUCTION CASE IS PENDING AGAINST MAN

Wedding Set For 12 o'Clock Wednesday Before Justice R. V. Gwinn.

Adolph Michna made an offer Friday morning in open court to marry Miss Millie Bartosh who on Thursday afternoon was granted a judgment of $12,000 against him in a breach of promise suit. Miss Bartosh accepted the offer and the wedding was set for 12 o'clock on Wednesday, March 7, before Justice of the Peace R. V. Gwinn.

The offer of marriage and the acceptance by the woman were noted on the criminal docket by Judge H. R. Wilson of the 30th district court. A case, charging seduction, is pending in this court.

The minutes entered Friday morning also contain the clauses that if the prosecutrix does not fulfill her promise of marriage that the seduction case will be dismissed, but should the marriage contract be entered into that the seduction case will remain on the docket for two years as prescribed in the criminal statutes of the state.

The breach of promise suit was tried before a jury and Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Thursday and at 5 o'clock Thursday evening the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $12,000.

Friday morning counsel for Michna stated to the court that the defendant in the seduction case wanted to make an offer of marriage.

The defendant Michna limped from the auditorium of the court room to the bench. He suffered an injury to his foot several weeks ago and is forced to use crutches.

The prosecuting witness was also called to the bench and in her presence the offer was made. Her counsel accepted the offer and the wedding day was set.

Neither Michna or Miss Bartosh recognized the other as they stood before the judge's bench. Immediately after the offer was noted on the docket, Miss Bartosh walked back to her seat in the auditorium. Not a word was spoken between the two and as Michna walked out of the court room by the aid of his crutches he passed her, but not a sign of recognition was made by either.

WIND GETS IN LINE TO HARMONIZE WITH OTHER CONDITIONS

All elements, affecting weather conditions, struggled for two days against a northwest wind to produce real springtime weather and were successful Thursday night in bringing the wind into line to create a real harmonizing effect.

The wind direction Friday morning was southwest and the difference was noted in the thermometer readings which showed that the minimum point reached locally was 55 degrees. During the afternoon Thursday the mercury reached the 73 degree mark.

The skies were generally clear Friday, although there was a streak of grey here and there but not in sufficient quantity or thickness to greatly affect the sun.

Agents from points on railroads leading out of the city reported practically the same existing weather conditions as were noted here.

VIOLATION DEAN ACT IS CHARGED AGAINST MORRIS

A. M. Morris went on trial in the 30th district court Friday morning charged with violation of the Dean prohibition law. The jury was selected at 10:45 o'clock and the defendant entered a plea of not guilty to the indictment which contains four counts.

In the first count the defendant, who is the proprietor of a grocery store on the Burkburnett highway, stands charged with selling whiskey to J. E. Miller which contained more than one per cent of alcohol.

The second count charges that he sold to J. E. Miller on or about January 2, 1923, whiskey which was capable of producing intoxication.

The third charges possession and the fourth possession for the purpose of sale.

LOCAL CONTRACTOR AWARDED CHANUATE, KAN., BUILDING JOB

Charles M. Bialkowski, local contractor, has been awarded the contract for erecting a new store building for S. H. Kress & Co., in Chanute, Kansas.

The new structure, which will take the place of one recently destroyed by fire, will be one of the most up-to-date Kress buildings in the country, according to advices received Friday.

Mr. Bialkowski has done work for the Kress company in several states and has just finished a store building for it in Lawton, Oklahoma.

L. J. LEECH TAKES OVER ELDORA HOTEL PROPERTY

REPORT HERE SAYS NEFF WAS OFFERED U. T. PRESIDENCY

Private advices received here Friday, from what is considered a reliable Austin source, are that the presidency of the State University was tendered Governor Neff by the board of regents last Monday night, and that the governor has the matter under consideration.

The report is being given sufficient credence throughout the state for former university students, many of whom are strongly opposed to the governor becoming head of the university, to make their attitude in the matter known.

97-ACRE TRACT ON NORTH SIDE DITCH SELLS FOR $16,000

A deal was consummated Thursday in which Carl Williamson, well known cattleman, purchased 97 acres of the John Hirschi land on the Iowa Park road. The consideration was $16,000.

Mr. Williamson is one of the strongest believers in the future of Wichita County as an irrigated section and expects to build modern improvements on his place as soon as possible, according to statements made Friday morning by John W. Owen, who handled the deal.

SIX LIQUOR CASES TRIED IN KNOX COUNTY COURT

BENJAMIN, TEXAS, March 2.—The district court of Knox County during the week beginning February 19 and ending February 24, tried six liquor charges, convicting three, acquitting one and there were two hung juries.

The grand jury also reported a very busy session, resulting in 27 bills of indictment for felonies and seven for misdemeanors.

GEM GROCERY STORE AT ELECTRA IS SOLD

ELECTRA, TEXAS, March 2.—L. E. Sheldon has sold the Gem grocery to S. D. Shaw of Wichita Falls and H. C. Moody of Electra, the new owners taking charge this week. Moody has been an employe in the store for several years. Mr. Sheldon is a pioneer resident of Electra and will engage in the real estate business.

ALLEGES DIVORCED HUSBAND KEEPING DAUGHTER AGED 5

In her application for a writ of habeas corpus Mrs. Bennie Ellis alleges that her divorced husband, R. L. Ellis is keeping their five year old daughter, Modern Priscilla Ellis, in his custody and refuses to deliver her, contrary to the divorce decree which was issued in June of last year.

The plaintiff contends that by order of the court she was granted custody and control of the child, but that the defendant secured the child and is keeping her at his mother's home.

It is further contended that the defendant is not a fit person to have control of the daughter and asks the court to restore the child to her.

Judge Martin, in whose court the application was filed, granted the writ and set the cause down for hearing for Saturday, March 3.

MOVE SICK CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

MOTHER! Even Bilious, Upset, Tongue-Coated Children Love this Pleasant, Harmless Laxative.

A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, constipated or full of cold, children love its "fruity" taste, and mothers can rest easy because it never fails to work all the sour, undigested food and nasty bile right out of the stomach and bowels without griping or upsetting the child.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.—Adv.
