Council studies ordinance prohibiting wrecking yards

The Colorado City Council Tuesday night instructed city attorney Pete McKinney to draft ordinances prohibiting wrecking yards and regulating holding facilities for wrecked vehicles.

Councilman Tom Lovell chaired a committee composed of council members Tom Carlock and Jesse Munoz and himself.

Lovell said it is the committee's recommendation that an ordinance prohibiting wrecking yards within the city limits be enacted since there is "no ordinance on the books" at the present time.

He said the committee also recommends that an ordinance be enacted to require current holding facilities to comply with state regulations. One of those regulations, he said, is that holding facilities be fenced and he recommended that the ordinance require a privacy fence so that vehicles in the facilities can not be seen from the roadways.

The council instructed McKinney to have the ordinances prepared for the February council meeting.

In other business, the council reappointed Ira Williamson, J. H. Guelker and Luther Harrison to the board of the Colorado City Housing Authority and appointed Mamie Lou New to succeed D. M. Merritt.

The council awarded bids on three projects in the Community Development Block Grant housing rehabilitation program. There were two bidders for each project and the low bid was awarded in each case—515 Morales, Domingo Castillo Construction of Sweetwater, $5,450; 1702 Plum, Cosby Construction of Colorado City, $3,340; and 1827 Fig, Cosby Construction, $3,586.

TEAMS test scores favorable

By Ray Mayo
Editor

Colorado High School principal Jerry Reynolds told the Colorado Independent School District board of trustees Monday night that "we're pretty pleased" with the results of the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) test taken by CHS juniors.

Seventy nine juniors took the test with 85 percent of them mastering the mathematics portion and 88 percent the language arts part.

The minimum skills test must be passed by students in order to graduate, explained Reynolds.

Reynolds said there are four students who failed both parts of the test and 12 others who failed either the math portion or the language arts portion.

"There's still room to improve," Reynolds said, adding that "we're going to try to help the kids" who did not pass.

Those who failed will have the opportunity to take the test in the spring and two more times in their senior year.

In other business, athletic director and head football coach Tom Ramsey gave an update on the athletic program along with Will Gollihar, girl's coach, and Mike Hart, boy's basketball coach.

Ramsey said the "no pass, no play" rule did not "affect us like it did a lot of people," noting that three varsity football players were lost because of failing grades.

He said there were 122 athletes involved in the football program this past season with 27 in varsity, 19 in junior varsity, 24 freshmen, 33 eighth graders and 19 seventh graders.

The varsity ended with its season with a 4-win, 6-loss record while the junior varsity was 3-4-2, the freshmen 3-5, the eighth grade 4-3-1, and the seventh grade 1-7.

Gollihar said that varsity volleyball team ended the season with a 14-6 record and was an area qualifier.

He said the basketball season is under way and "the future

Overtime studied by county commissioners

Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant was instructed by commissioners Monday to study the amount of overtime being worked by employees in the sheriff's department and to report back to the commissioners December 30.

County Judge Bill Carter said that overtime pay is exceeding the budget and suggested that a system of compensatory time and overtime pay be worked out to alleviate some of the overtime.

Bryant said the three deputies in the department are averaging 50-60 hours a week. They are scheduled to work 40 hours a week.

"Compensatory time is fine, that's what I'll use in precinct three," said Hunter, explaining that for every hour worked overtime, an employee is entitled to an hour and a half off at a later date instead of being paid time and a half for the overtime.

Hunter said that with the overtime currently being paid, some of Bryant's deputies are making more money than the sheriff.

In other business, the commissioners authorized Bryant to seek bids for a new 1986 vehicle for the sheriff's department to replace the 1983 model currently being used by the sheriff. Bids will be opened at a December 30 meeting.

Commissioners also authorized the Loraine Volunteer Fire Department to purchase nozzles, boots, helmets and radios totaling $1,660 for the department.

Hunter received permission to seek bids on a truck for precinct three with bids to be opened December 30.

Commissioners also discussed the possibility of purchasing a computer system for county offices.

Donations boost pool, park fund

An additional $2,565.52 in contributions has been added to the Pool and Park Fund for Ruddick Park, bringing the total pledged or contributed to $78,973.28.

The city has been awarded a $125,000 matching grant from the Texas Park and Wildlife Commission with which to build a new swimming pool and make other improvements to Ruddick Park.

Contributions to the fund, which has a goal of $125,000, can be made at any financial institution in Mitchell County.

Anita Richardson, box office chairman of the Colorado City Playhouse, announces that the Opera House box office will be open for reservations starting Thursday, December 12 from 1-5 p.m. for "The Dining Room."

Tickets are $5 for the Thursday night performance and December 19, senior citizen tickets are $2.50.

The Colorado City Playhouse will present "The Dining Room," a comedy, Tuesday, December 17 through Saturday, December 21 at 8 p.m. nightly.

looks bright. The young ladies are getting out there and really trying."

Gollihar said he would like to see more parent involvement.

Hart said the boy's basketball program is increasing two to three players each year, but noted that several seventh and eighth grade basketball players became the victims of House Bill 72 and were lost due to failing grades.

Ramsey fielded several complaints from the board members including what one board member called the "belligerent attitude" of some coaches and the "fear of reprisals" on the part of students if they don't participate in all sports.

"We have a lot of kids who don't play all sports," said Ramsey, adding, however, that "we don't have enough kids to specialize."

Board member Dwayne Harris said he has had parents tell him that students are intimidated into playing all sports and that "kids don't want to come forward because of fear of reprisals."

Harris said that he has heard complaints that in some instances, players are made to play even though they are hurt and that the players are "humiliated" into playing.

"We would not make fun of any serious injury," said Ramsey, adding that he needs to know the specifics of particular incidents.

Ramsey told the board members to refer any complaints from parents to him and that the problems would be worked out.

Board president Eddie Piland said that "on the whole, we're well pleased with all the coaches" and reinforced Ramsey's suggestion that complaints be directed to Ramsey or to the principal.

City

City Manager Brenda Tarter explained that the amount budgeted for the three projects totaled $15,700 and the total of the bids accepted is $12,376, leaving a difference of $3,324.

The council also accepted the low bid of Wayland Moore Construction Co. of Colorado City in the amount of $3,385 to install a new roof on the pump house at north waterworks. The other bidder was Appling Construction Co. of Colorado City with a bid of $3,456.88.

A hearing had been scheduled prior to the city council meeting for a bidder to contest the recent awarding of the bid on the new fire station. Allied Steel Co. of Abilene was the low bidder when bids were first opened. Stone Construction of Colorado City was finally awarded the bid upon the recommendation of the architect Don Hampton of Sweetwater.

Tuesday's hearing was postponed until Monday at 6 p.m. because of the weather conditions, said Mrs. Tarter.

Credit caution advised

COLLEGE STATION—During the holiday season many of us overindulge in food, drink — and credit.

Family economics specialist Nancy Granovsky says consumers should ask themselves whether they need to use credit, which is really borrowing money for a price.

The answer may be "yes," says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist, if you have a good reason and can repay your debt in a reasonable length of time.

"Using a credit card to pay for Christmas gifts can be convenient and cost relatively little if you pay the bill within 30 days," Granovsky explains. "But when you have to carry the debt beyond 30 days, you will be paying 16-18 percent interest, depending on your credit card."

In many households, a large purchase of a major appliance, television or furniture is made each year as a gift for the whole family. Before deciding to make this type of purchase on credit, she suggests that considering the cost of the loan.

According to the specialist, you can find the total cost of any loan by multiplying the number of payments by the amount of each payment, then subtract the purchase price. This resulting figure will be the cost of the credit.

"The longer the loan," she says, "the more it will cost." Your monthly payment may be smaller, but the total amount you pay back in finance charges will be more.

"Be sure the payments are affordable," Granovsky cautions. "A loan may seem appropriate by itself, but when added to other payments it could be more than you can afford."

Kahler promoted to superintendent

Former Colorado City resident Jack Kahler Jr., son of Tiny and Jack Kahler of Colorado City, has been appointed superintendent of shops for Santa Fe Railway at San Bernardino, Calif.

Kahler served in the U.S. Air Force prior to joining Santa Fe in 1971 as a machinist at San Bernardino. In 1977 he became safety supervisor for the shops and held several management positions before being appointed general locomotive foreman at Argentine, Kan. in 1980. Kahler returned to San Bernardino as general locomotive foreman in 1982 and was named assistant superintendent of shops in 1983.

Kahler is responsible for management of Santa Fe's freight car and locomotive shops at San Bernardino, one of only two shops on the railway's system that remanufactures locomotives. The locomotive shop at San Bernardino rebuilds 60 locomotives per year in addition to locomotives produced at San Bernardino cost between one-half and two-thirds the price of new replacements.

Kahler resides in San Bernardino.

Injection Massage

It is now possible for diabetes patients who require insulin injections to improve their control over the disease. It is a relatively simple procedure. Doctors report that by massaging the injection site, patients may be able to increase the effectiveness of the insulin. The massaging action helps to reduce the pool of the drug that is usually left at the injection site. This helps the patient receive the full dose of the medication at the appropriate time. When 26 patients in a study performed the massaging for three minutes at each mealtime, the blood sugar levels dropped significantly or became lower. The benefits have continued over a two-year follow-up period.

Wolf girls win close match

A 64-63 double overtime victory over Jim Ned earned the Colorado City Lady Wolves third place at a Hawley tournament last weekend and upped the varsity team's record closer to the .500 mark.

The Wolves, now 4-6 after beginning 0-3, defeated Jim Ned Saturday night with sophomore Jennifer Monroe's one of two second overtime free throws. The teams ended regulation play tied at 59-59 and the first overtime tied at 63-63. Jim Ned led by one point after the first (13-12) period and by two after three (47-45), but the Wolves tied the game at the end of the second (29-29) and final periods.

Denise Jackson was top scorer in the third place contest with 26 points and added a team high 15 rebounds. Monroe finished with 11 points as did Sherry Fite, who also had 14 rebounds.

Also scoring were Misty Strain 6, Diane Gregory and Holly Tarter 4 and Jody Huff 2. Tarter and Huff added 8 and 6 rebounds respectively for the Wolves, who committed a lower than usual 20 turnovers, made 25 of 69 goal attempts and 14 of 23 free throws.

Jackson blocked four shots in the game and finished with a three game total of 15.

The Wolves began the tournament with a first round 59-39 victory over Blackwell Thursday night and then lost a 52-51 semi-final contest to Abilene Wylie's junior varsity Friday night.

All ten members of the Wolves got into the scoring against Blackwell—led by Fite with 14 and Jackson with 12. Also scoring were Gregory 8, Kellie Beighs 6, Huff 5, Monroe 4, Yolanda Lee 3 and Sandra Williams, Tarter and Strain 2.

Leading rebounders were Fite 14, Jackson 13, Beighs 9 and Gregory 7. The Wolves made 19 assists, 29 turnovers, 26 of 65 goal attempts and six of 14 free throws.

Scoring against the Wylie JV were Jackson 25, Fite 19, Beighs 4, Monroe 2 and Huff 1. Fite, Jackson, Gregory and Lee finished with 19, 17, 7 and 6 rebounds respectively for the Wolves, who made 33 turnovers, 20 of 53 shots and 11 of 18 free throws.

Said coach Will Gollihar of the Wylie game, "We blew a 22 point lead in the third quarter. We started throwing the ball away and taking five seconds to shoot instead of taking our time. That was the difference. We were patient Saturday night."

Wylie's JV made a shot with eight seconds left to take the lead. The Wolves missed two free throws that would have given them the lead with under eight seconds to play, then a shot at the buzzer was ruled too late.

"We're improving in a lot of areas," said Gollihar. "We scored 60 points and that hadn't been done before. We've been scoring a lot. We learned a lot Friday. We could have easily blown the Saturday game."

Host Hawley beat the Wylie JV 54-23 in the tournament finals.

The Lady Wolves junior varsity competed at a Big Spring tournament and the only AAA school there lost to Big Spring, Snyder and Sweetwater.

The Wolves fell to 0-7 with the loss to Reagan County. Colorado City outscored the Big Lake Owls 15-14 in the third quarter and 21-19 in the final period, but a slow start in the first half by the Wolves gave the visiting Owls a lead they never came close to surrendering. The final score was as close as the Wolves came to overtaking Big Lake.

The Pack turned the ball over 22 times in the first half compared to 11 turnovers in the second half. In the first quarter, the Wolves made only five of 20 shots and three of eight free throws for respective percentages of 25 and 38 percent.

The Wolves warmed up to shoot 51 percent from the floor in the second period, but saw their turnovers climb from seven in the first period to 13 in the second. In the second half, the Wolves made 41 percent of their shots and for the game, the Pack made only 39 percent of their field goal attempts and 44 percent of their free throws.
