MOVE TO FORCE GOVERNOR TO QUIT RENEWED

Ideal Weather Brings Record Crowds to Fair

VISITORS JAM FAIR TUESDAY TO CAPACITY

Style Show Tuesday Night Is Biggest Feature For the Day

Favored by ideal weather conditions, the Texas-Oklahoma fair Tuesday romped through another record-breaking day with huge attendances, excellent programs and a general spirit of optimism that augures well for the ramining days of its 1926 program.

"All we want is an even break on the weather and we'll show some attendance records to make the state sit up and take notice," a prominent fair association official said Tuesday. And a look at the grounds lent standing to his statement.

"Wichita Falls day" turned out to be a rousing success and the city's citizenry poured out in generous amounts for the occasion. Iowa Park helped along by sending a big delegation down for the festivities and the crowds from these two points was swelled by other large groups from additional outlying communities.

Starting out with the rodeo in the afternoon, the fair offered as its stellar program of the day the big style show in the evening. This was staged on a lavish scale in front of the grandstand with merchants and clothing houses of the city co-operating.

The Autumn Style Revue of the Wichita Falls Merchants which was presented Tuesday night at the grand stand at the Texas-Oklahoma fair grounds was witnessed by the largest gathering that has yet assembled for the fair of 1926. Thousands of Wichitans and citizens from nearby communities gathered to see the showings of autumn styles for men and women in one of the most remarkable revues ever staged in Wichita Falls.

Models from the following shops and stores participated in the revue: Anna Mae shop, Fashion Studio, Orchid Shop, Miller-Ferguson, Sanderford's Booterie, W. B. M'Clurkan company, Perkins-Timberlake company, P. B. M. company; the Hub, Montgomery company; A. C. Ludlam company.

On a huge platform tastily arranged, the models appeared and in the first presentation wore street costumes. In the interim between the presentations vaudeville acts were given by members of the Chicago Cadet band which furnished the music, and by Mazie and R. D. Blatherwick.

The models wore sports and afternoon costumes in the second appearance and evening dress in the third.

Order of the review cams as follows:

Anna Mae Shop.

Miss Anna Mae McClintock, wearing street suit with extra top coat. Madame Watson hat.

Fashion Studio.

Miss Margaret Blum wearing street costume.

Miller-Ferguson Company.

Miss Watson wearing all street costume, Hirchhorn coat, slippers from Sanderford's Booterie.

Miss Taylor wearing Dorothy Knapp

"Informer" Sues Man He Tried To Get In Trouble

Railroad Head Defendant In Litigation for $50,000 Slander Damages

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5. (AP)—Suit was filed in circuit court here today against W. T. Kemper, capitalist and railroad president, by F. G. Showen, an accountant, asking $50,000 damages for alleged assertions made by Mr. Kemper in depositions.

The statements complained of by Showen are said in his petition to be false and malicious and are alleged to have been for the purpose of defaming his character. He asks $25,000 actual and $25,000 punitive damages.

Showen related in his petition that November 10, 1925, he forwarded to the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington confidential information regarding the liability of Kemper for income taxes and sought a reward of 10 per cent as informer. The petition also stated that August 25, 1925, Showen filed suit against Kemper for professional services. The depositions concerned the suit and income tax statements.

Electran Drops Dead While Seated at Table With His Family

ELECTRA, Oct. 5. (AP)—J. B. Purcell, 70, prominent Electra oil man and farm owner, dropped at the breakfast table this morning in the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. P. Purcell, at the Magnolia Petroleum company's main line station four and a half miles north of the city.

The deceased had been a resident of Electra the past eight years He is survived by three sons and three daughters, Nobert of Dallas, Malcolm of Burkburnett, Hugh B. of Eldorado, Ark., Mrs. J. P. Woolridge of Burkburnett, Mrs. Lee Edward of Teague and Mrs. L. P. Purcell.

Funeral services are to be held in the Mount Carmel Catholic church Thursday afternoon with Father William Bender officiating. Burial is to be in Mount Carmel cemetery.

EX-BALL PLAYER DIES

Howard Murphy Succumbs At Home In Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5. (AP)—Howard Murphy, former Texas league player, died at his home here Tuesday. He had quit the game several years before his death and was in the sand and gravel business. His professional career included several seasons in the Texas, International, Western and other circuits.

Survivors are the widow, a son, Buren, and a daughter, Genevieve. Burial will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

DEFICIENCY COVERED.

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—The house of the 39th legislature here in special session Tuesday by an 84 to 18 vote, finally passed the senate bill appropriating $1,541,066 to cover deficiencies.

GOVERNOR HAS NO STATEMENT ON ROAD JOBS

She Keeps Silent Too On Questions of Second Special Session

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson, continued to hold the thirty-ninth legislature in suspense Tuesday over the appointment of a successor to John Bickett, Sr., resigned highway commissioner, and the disposition to be made of Hal Moseley and John Cage, remaining members, as the call session draws to a close.

It appears certain that the legislature will adjourn sine die Thursday, most members of both houses being anxious to end the business of legislation as soon as possible. Some talk of getting through late Wednesday, but it is doubtful as the governor may submit a successor to Bickett for confirmation by the senate Wednesday. If so, this will necessitate a meeting of the governor's nominations committee, and if a hearing is demanded, a delay of at least a day is certain.

Although there has been much speculation as to Bickett's successor, Senator Charles Murphy of Houston, is being favorably mentioned. Senator Murphy, who was permitted to name the candidate for his office when he gave notice he would retire, is organizer and president of the Labor Bank and Trust company at Houston. He has been a member of the senate six years, and was a member of the house four years. Prior to that he was attorney for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and represented that organization before the legislature. He is a graduate at law from the University of Texas in the class of 1903, and was born and raised in Houston. He has figured as leader in some of the most constructive legislation passed in recent years.

Asked if she would reconvene the legislature in another extra session because the gasoline tax measure was defeated, the governor declined to answer. Unless an expediency arises the governor probably will not call the legislature again.

Neither the governor nor former Governor James E. Ferguson would comment on what they intended to do about Moseley and Cage and S. G. Granberry, state prison commissioner, unconfirmed appointees, who the governor has informed will not be in office after the special session.

World's Series Reports Broadcast at 1:30 P. M. Today by the Record News and the Phonograph Shop.

While the Cardinals were plastering a damp and oozy 4 to 0 white-wash on the New York Yankees in St. Louis Tuesday afternoon, the Record News and the Phonograph Shop were hammering out some hot home runs in the world series broadcasting business—and they were handled right out on Lamar avenue.

The broadcasting apparatus installed by Roy Coffey of the Phonograph Shop in the Record News office worked to perfection and gave an unusually large crowd of baseball fans a big kick by the booming clarity of its reports. John L. Stone, formerly announcer at radio stations WRR and WFAA, Dallas, manned the "mike" which was set up in an inner office at the Record News and connected to the loudspeaker set up on the sidewalk outside. Reports brought in on an Associated Press wire direct from the ball park were laid before Stone as fast as they were typed and announced by him to the crowd outside.

The device worked perfectly and attracted many to the Record News office. It could be heard distinctly for a block or more.

The fourth game of the series, to be played today in St. Louis, will be announced over the broadcasting apparatus again this afternoon, starting at 1:30. The Record News invites the public to come down and listen in on its baseball party where the results can be obtained first, accurately and completely.

No Children, China Isn't Under Wichita, The Gobi Desert Is

Where would you be if you were on the opposite side of the world from Wichita Falls?

Take a look at the globe the next time you get a chance and you'll find that straight through the earth from "The City That Faith Built" wouldn't land you in China, as is the common belief.

Instead of China, you'd find yourself in Thibet, the land of llamas, sacred cattle and such things. And you would be in the thick of the Himalavan mountain range often called "the roof of the world," the point at which mankind has its beginning in prehistoric days, according to the scientists, with the famous Gobi desert nearby.

And that concludes this geography lesson.

GIANT POWER DAM PLANNED

Oklahoma Capitalist Gets Permit for Project On Grand River

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 5.(AP)—A permit for a $24,000,000, 274,000 horsepower dam and power project on the Grand river was granted to James F. Robinson of Miami, Okla., here today by the Oklahoma state irrigation, drainage and reclamation commission. The project is for four dams creating reservoirs in Mayes, Delaware, Craig, Ottawa, Wagoner and Cherokee counties with a total surface area of 60,000 acres.

The permit was granted conditional upon one fifth of the project being completed within two and one-half years. The statutory time for the completion of the entire project is five years.

KEY RING ONLY CLUE.

Body of Man Found Dead At San Antonio Unidentified.

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 5. (AP)—A key ring bearing the inscription "International Travelers association of Dallas, certificate number 11,802," the only clue found to the identity of a man whose body was found in Breckenridge park Monday. Justice Anton Adam, who, on inquest, telegraphed to Dallas in an effort to identify the body, but late Tuesday had received no answer.

The body was of a man about 25 years old, dressed as a laborer and no papers nor identification marks with the exception of the key ring were found. A small caliber pistol with an exploded cartridge in the chamber lay near the body.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Houston Police Seek To Locate Dead Man's Kin.

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 5. (AP)—Efforts were being made by a Houston undertaking company Tuesday to locate friends or relatives of a man believed to be Charles Rankin, 35, of Vinegrove, Ky., who was dragged to his death here Monday by a Katy switch engine.

Honorable discharge papers from the United States army found in the clothing of the dead man indicated that his name was Rankin and that he was a Kentuckyian.

Texas Governor Signs Few Bills To Date.

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Of the more than six hundred bills passed by the 39th legislature in call session, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson has signed but 12. Of the scores of resolutions passed, she has signed but one, and that is for an investigation into John Tarleton Agricultural college at Stephenville. One of the most important bills she has signed is the Barron-Runge bill, granting the commissioner on banking greater discretionary powers, whereby he may recognize claims of depositors against defunct banks after 90 days.

WEATHER DAMAGE SET

Cotton In U. S. Suffers About $25,000,000 Yearly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—The department of agriculture announces that recent tests have shown that weather damage to raw cotton after picking amounts to approximately $25,000,000 annually. "Weather damage" was defined as damage "that results from excessive moisture in bales of cotton."

HE'S ELECTED HOST.

Senator Archie Parr Selected To Buy Club Feed.

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Senator Archie Parr, in a resolution introduced in the senate Tuesday, declared the members of the Franklin-Webster club, consisting of members of the legislature and newspaper men in Austin, were "wolves" and should "be highway contractors" as they had selected him host "without any other bidders."

He will feed the club Wednesday night.

BANK MEETING DETAILS TOLD BY DAUGHERTY

Merton Bonds Used To Fill Deficit In Political Treasury

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.(AP)—The government searchlight in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy case was turned today upon a mysterious early Sunday morning meeting in the Midland National bank of Washington Court House, Ohio, last year.

Mal S. Daugherty, brother of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, and president of the Midland bank, was called as a defense witness just before the noon recess and questioned by United States Attorney Buckner about the disappearance of bank records which are the missing links in the government chain of evidence.

The chain has been forged in an effort to prove that Harry Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, conspired to defraud the government in allowing the release of $7,000,000 of impounded assets of the American Metal company in 1921.

Bonds Traced.

Government evidence has shown that some $150,000 worth of liberty bonds which formed part of a fee given the late John T. King by Richard Merton, German metal magnate for putting the metal claim through, turned up later in Miller's account and in the Daugherty banks. Gaps in the chain of evidence were occasioned by discovery that various records of the financial transactions of both Daugherty's and Jesse W. Smith, Harry Daugherty's political handy man had disappeared from the Midland bank.

Flood of Congratulation Pours In On Record News From Admirers of Garden

Tuesday a Repetition of Triumph for El Jardin de los Suenos

WEDNESDAY'S PROGRAM.

Hours 2:30 to 6

Hostesses

Mrs. T. M. McDaniel, Jr.
Mrs. F. E. Cauble.
Miss Georgia B. Leath.

When the Record News conceived the idea of building in Wichita Falls a residence a little different and a little more attractive than anything yet seen here, it imagined that the venture would find considerable favor with those Wichitans who are interested in pretty homes.

Then when El Jardin de los Suenos took more definite form; when the architects drawing were made and finally, when the building and furnishings were complete, Record News officials felt little apprehension, but that the treasure chest of beauty prepared for the public would outstrip anything in the home beautiful line that had yet been offered.

Then The Flood.

They were totally unprepared, however, for the floods of congratulations and the unchecked expressions of amazement, wonderment and delight that have come to them since the Garden of Dreams in Westmoreland addition was first opened. These expressions started with the entrance of the first of some 8000 persons last Friday night and they have come in a constantly swelling stream ever since. Not a person who has visited the home but who at some time or other during the inspection trip has given voice to an ardent "it beats anything I've ever seen." And hundreds of prominent Wichitans have gone out of their way to offer personal congratulations to the Record News on its noteworthy achievement.

Tuesday was a repetition of the triumphant appearance El Jardin de los Suenos has made since it has been before the public. Close to 2,000 people swarmed through it in the afternoon, while nearly double that number appeared during the evening hours to look with delight through the cloistered halls, the high-arched and magnificently furnished living-room, the snug and tasteful bedrooms, the glittering and imposing dining-room, the spotless, gleaming kitchen and the bright and inviting little breakfast room. Wherever they went came the inevitable gasps of astonishment and the inevitable look of doubting bewilderment, followed by a shout of delight.

Brilliant color; soft, subdued color, the sparkle of silver and crystal, the muffled fall of feet on heavy oriental rugs, the rustle of great draperies, the glow of rich tapestries and the general, well-merged picture of tastefully designed and decorated furniture all combined to form an architectural ensemble unrivaled in its magnificence.

The home will be open Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 until 6 with Mrs. T. M. McDaniel, Jr., Mrs. F. E. Cauble and Miss Georgie B. Leath as hostesses. It will not be opened Wednesday night.

Hostesses Tuesday were Mrs. A. A. Oxford, Mrs. Harold F. Johnson, Mrs. C. J. Pate and Mrs. J. T. Gant.

FORMER SENATOR DIES.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 5. (AP)—Richard Franklin Pettigrew, 78, former United States senator and one of the outstanding statesmen in the history of the pioneer northwest region, died at his home here today.

Mexicans Worship Ship's Figurehead As God of Floods

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 5.(AP)—A ship's figure head, which was thrown into the sea years ago, has been cast up by the waters at Villa Mar, Mexico, and is being worshipped by thousands of superstitious persons who pray to it that no more flood ravage Mexico, according to press dispatches received from Mexico City Tuesday.

The Mexican government has had to seize the figure head of polished wood in order to break up the mobs, the dispatches say. The figurehead belonged to the school ship Yucatan, which was put into service some time ago. Prior to that, the school ship was Norwegian and was called the San Gabriel. It was then used as a missionary ship for the Catholics in China.

Then the ship was sold to an Englishman, who passed it on to the Mexican government. When it was transformed into a school ship, the figure-head was wrenched off and thrown into the sea.

RESCUE CREWS PROBE TUNNEL

Search for 22 Entrapped Miners Continues In Tennessee

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Oct. 5. (AP)—The slow but vigilant work of searching for the dead in the Roane Iron company's coal mine here, the scene of an explosion yesterday in which at least 28 men are believed to have lost their lives, continued tonight with six bodies recovered.

Rescue crews working in shifts and stopping only a few hours at a time for food and rest, pressed on with the task of clearing a passage to the place, three miles from the mouth of the mine, where more than 30 miners were caught in a gas and dust explosion.

Twenty-two men are still unaccounted for. All of them are believed by mine officials and rescue workers to lie dead far in the gas-infested Rodgers entry of the mine.

GAS WELL FOUND

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 5.(AP) Witherspoon Oil company got a gas well at 963 feet in the No. 1 Adams in Medina county, less than a mile east of the No. 3 gas well of Henderson and Holden on the Adams tract. Depth is about the same as in the Henderson and Holden wells.

GUARD FLOOD SCENE.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Oct. 5. (AP)—One hundred armed deputies have been given orders to shoot any person caught looting homes in the flood stricken area of Bartlesville where hundreds have been forced to flee due to high waters from Caney river. The stream was fed by days of torrential rains.

"We Haven't Hit But Just Watch Us Now," Say Yankees As Cards Take Lead In World Series Race

Babe Ruth, Disgruntled Over the Turn of Events, Takes Spiteful "Dig" at Cardinals As Third-rate baseball Club in National League—"They're Just Lucky," He Says.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5. (AP)—Blame for the defeat of the Yankees in the third game of the world series today was hung on the old, old story by Manager Miller Huggins—the fact that the Yankees were not hitting. Huggins believes the tide will turn tomorrow, that the Yankees will come crashing through in a storm of base hits that will even up the series.

The Yanks were an angry, white-lipped group of ball players when they reached their dressing room. Babe Ruth, mumbled to himself and while searching under benches for his shoes blurted out:

"I can't see the Cardinals as a ball club no matter if they did lick us today. There are at least two better clubs in the National league—Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. The Cardinals have been lucky, that's all. When we start hitting, it will be different story."

Huggins praised the Cards and the masterful pitching of Jesse Haines.

"We have not been ourselves in hitting for a long time, but we are going to get started tomorrow," he said. "We have faced three of the best pitchers on the St. Louis staff. The Cardinals staff cannot hold up the standard of pitching set by Alexander, Sherdel and Haines."

The diminutive Yankee leader intends to start Waite Hoyt against the Cardinals tomorrow while Flint Rhem will be manager Hornsby's pitching selection.

Hornsby and his players were in high spirits, glowing with smiles as they stripped off their rain-soaked uniforms in their club house.

The 30-year-old pilot of the Cardinals praised the fighting spirit of his team.

"It looks like we'll win the series now for sure," Hornsby said. "If we lose tomorrow we will fight all the harder but I don't think we will lose. I intend to pitch Rhem. He's ready. But I may switch my plans and send Sherdel back at them. Or I may decide on Reinhart. The Yanks apparently do not like left-hand pitching."

SOLON DRAFTS RESOLUTION TO GO TO HOUSE

He Would Call On State Executives To Pay Off Moody Wager

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—A resolution has been prepared demanding the resignation of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in accordance with her proposition with Attorney General Dan Moody to quit if he received one more vote than she in the first democratic primary. Representative John A. Rawlins of Dallas, prepared the resolution, but he said that he was not sure that he would introduce it to the house of representatives of the 39th legislature Wednesday. He said, however, that he probably will be one of the signers of the resolution when it is introduced.

The prepared resolution cites that the governor, in her opening speech for re-election as chief executive at Sulphur Springs, said if Moody agreed to quit if she got 25,000 more votes than he in the first primary, she would quit if Moody beat her by one vote. Moody the governor-nominee, beat her by mere than 120,000 votes in the first primary.

It also reviews the statement of the governor following her defeat that she said she would resign about November 1, following the special session of the legislature.

Rawlins said he had expected to introduce the resolution as a surprise but that since the intentions of the proponents had been disclosed that he would not introduce it. "Now with what publicity has been given the resolution, the Fergusonites will have opportunity to present a solid front against it."

TEXHOMA WELL CATCHES AFIRE

Gasser Blows In Tuesday, And Catches Ablaze Destroying Rig

NOCONA, Texas, Oct. 5. (AP)—The Texhoma number two, G. W. Hinton, in the North Nocona field blew in a strong gasser Tuesday and caught fire a few hours later. The derrick burned, the rig was destroyed and tonight the fire was still shooting upward a hundred feet or more. Gas was encountered at around 800 feet.

CADETS TO DALLAS

2,000 Aggie Students Will Attend Football Game.

DALLAS, Oct. 5. (AP)—For the first time within many years the full cadet corps of Texas A. and M. college, 2,000 strong, will attend the state fair of Texas here. Announcement to this effect was made at fair headquarters Tuesday. The cadets will be here on Saturday 23 for the football game between the Aggies and S. M. U.

FIRE PREVENTION.

Rural Campaign Against Fire Loss Planned.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5. (AP)—While fire prevention week originally was observed only in cities, the serious losses to Texas farm property in recent years should bring about a state-wide movement for prevention of fires in rural districts as well as in urban centers, D. G. Foreman, secretary of the Texas Association of Insurance Agents, declared Tuesday.

MORE COTTON PICKERS.

Shortage In Texas Reported Now Less Acute.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5. (AP)—Shortage of cotton pickers is growing less acute, C. W. Woodman, director of the United States Farm Labor bureau, said Tuesday before leaving for San Antonio to inspect the South Texas situation.

"The problem in West Texas will be practically solved with 15,000 more pickers, and indications are that 20,000 will be available by October 20," Woodman said.

"I've brought you some milk toast that Jinny made for you." Will you eat it, dear?" Merry asked her gently. But Moms waved the tray away and shuddered.

"Don't ever talk to me about food," she groaned.

The girl stood there for a minute, looking down at her big prostrate figure lying across the bed.

"Mom," she said, softly, after a pause, "Moms—Tony Gaines isn't married."

"What?" Moms rolled over and looked up at her through the gloom. "He's not? Who told you so?"

"Jinny. She met him this afternoon when she was out with the twins."

"Hmm," Moms pondered, "hmm."

"I—I thought I'd call him up," Merry told her. "Jinny says he asked all about me? Would you telephone him?"

There was another long pause. Then Moms said, "No, indeede;" in a firm voice.

She repeated it. "No, indeed! He knows how to get hold of you if he wants to see you. Don't ever run after a man, Merry."

Without saying anything more, Merry started downstairs with the untouched tray.

That was what all women said—"Don't run after a man!"

And yet wasn't that what all women did, as a matter of fact, Merry wondered.

Perhaps they didn't do it in a bold, abvious way. But they did it all the same! They had their own dainty, secret little ways of roping the male.

They planned little parties and asked him to them. They had their own ways of leading up to the question of marriage.

Sometimes, like Jinny, they let the man they wanted know that they were unhappy at home.

Sometimes, like Cassie, they let a man know that they were waiting for him to marry her and wore him down by sheer persistence, year after year.

And Merry knew a girl who told a man she considered herself "sacredly bound" to him forever and ever, because he had kissed her once—just once!

"Poof!" she said to herself, as she thought of it, "if I'd consider myself 'sacredly bound' to a man just because he'd kissed me, I'd be 'sacredly bound' to a couple of dozen at least!"

But she never had tried to hold any of them. She prided herself on that. She had even been willing to let Bill Erskine go, at the time when Moms had announced her engagement to him!

"I could have married him if I'd insistel on it," she told herself as she sat Moms' tray down on the kitchen table.

How glad she was now that she had not married Bill. Sowehow, it made her happy to think that she was free, just as Tony Gaines was. Even if she never saw him again. But perhaps he would call her up. She waited.

It began to dawn on her that he was not going to see her.

Friday night passed.

Saturday passed.

Sunday came, and with it Derrick and—Morley Kaufman.

It happened that they came at the same time Morley's great shining closed car followed Derrick's disreputable "speed buggy" into the driveway.

From her bedroom window Merry saw them arrive, as she brushed her hair for the day.

She turned around to Cassie who was propped up against a new book on diet and exercise.

"Morley's here," she said.

"Morley—" Cassie repeated in a tiny voice, "Morley?" And then she began to cry.

She was not pretty when she cried. Her nose and her eyes reddened in a most unbecoming way. Moverover, her face was covered with anti-wrinkle cream, and her tears made a shiny path through it.

Merry was amazed to see that she intended going downstairs, looking the way she did.

She got out of bed and stuck her feet into a pair of orchid-satin mules, and flung an orchid breakfast coat around her shoulders.

"Morley! Morley!" she called, sobbingly, as she opened the door of the room and flew down the stairs to him.

Whatever she said to him, and whatever explanations and apologies Morley may have made to her, the family never knew. For they shut themselves up in the parlor, and even Jinny, with her ear pressed tight against the door, could not hear a word they said. Only their low, muffled voices.

But at the end of a quarter of an hour they came out, and Cassie dressed and went home with her husband to the great proud house on Overlook Hill.

"She'll be back again in a few weeks," Jinny remarked acidly, as she watched their big car back out of the driveway. "They may have enough money to buy the Statute of Liberty, but they aren't half as happy as we are, are they, Derrick?"

She appealed to her husband who answered that they weren't a tenth as happy, and went on bundling the twins into their white duck coats.

A half hour later Moms and Merry were alone in the house once more and it seemed deathly quiete after the hub-bub of the past week.

It was so quiet that the sudden ringing of the telephone in the hall made Merry jump.

With her heart beating wildly, she turned to answer it. Perhaps it was Tony, calling her up at last!

She took down the receiver.

But it was only Lillie Dale who wanted to know if Moms' headache was better.

"Maybe she'd like me to come over and massage her head, and then I could stay for dinner," said Lillie, who evidently missed the satisfying and delicious meals that Moms cooked.

When she had hung up, Merry stood at the telephone. Her fingers still held the receiver light, and her lips silent repeated a telephone number that her heart had never forgotten—the number of the Gaines house on Gabot street.

She lifted the recevier to give it.

"Merry," a voice said behind her.

Before she turned to see the man who was standing beyond the screen door that led to the porch, she knew whose voice that was.

"Tony!" she answered.

And then, because we say and do the most ordinary things when we are most excited, she walked over to the screen door and added: "I was just going to call you up. I thought you were going away without coming to see me."

For all the surprise or gladness that was in her voice, she might have seen him only yesterday. Her eyes, as they went from the kitbag at his feet to his face, had no gladness—no surprise in them, either.

She opened the door. "Won't you come in?" she asked woodenly.

He came in. "I wasn't coming," he said, " but here I am."

Mayor Fined '$50' But Gets It Back

HOUSTON, Oct. 5.(AP)—Mayor Oscar F. Holcomb told the judge he was sorry Monday and it netted him $50.

The mayor was subpoenaed as a juror in eightieth district court. Judge Roy F. Campbell had his name called several times.

"I'm going to assess a little fine —$50"—said the judge.

The court bailiff telephoned the mayor who came in the afternoon and pleaded for leniency.

"I forgot all about that summons," said the mayor. "I'm sorry. I didn't make a note of it."

The fine was remitted.

ARTIST TURNS THIEF

Youth Carries Off $2,500 Art School Cash

CHICAGO, Oct. 5. (AP)—A youth who obtained employment at the Chicago Art Institute two weeks ago on a plea he would toil for a mere pittance to be in artistic surroundings was gone today and so was more than $2,500 in tuitions.

"So sorry to have done this, but I needed the money—yours for art," said a note left in the cash box supposed to have gone to the auditor's office and entrusted to the young man who applied himself so well.

The note was signed "Francis," the employe having identified himself as Francis Faywick, 18, of Allentown, Pa.

SCHOOL HEAD LOSES FIGHT

Washington Governor Ousts President of State's University

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 5.(AP) Dr. Henry Suzzallo, 11 years president of the University of Washington, was out of office today, the loser in a two-year fight between supporters of his educational program and Gov. Roland H. Hartley.

Regents of the university, a majority of whom are appointees of the governor, last night requested Suzzallo's resignation, effective today. He declined to quit, protesting that no reasons had been given for his dismissal and he had no hearing. The regents then gave him a leave of absence and appointed David Thompson, dean of the college of liberal arts and dean of faculties, as acting president.

Four thousand of the school's 6,500 enrollment held a torchlight parade through the campus chanting "strike, strike, strike." They gathered in front of Suzzallo's campus home where he asked them to refrain from demonstrations and return to their classes today.

George Guttormsen, president of the student body and captain of the football team, said he did not favor a strike. Others talked of picketing the campus today.

Hartley's ill feeling toward the educator is said to have started when Suzzallo as chairman of the state council of defense during the world war, recommended an eight-hour day in lumber camps. Hartley, a timber owner, opposed the suggestion which was adopted by the government. To the state last winter the governor advocated curtailment of appropriations for state institutions of higher learning. Suzzallo spoke before a legislative committee in opposition to the recommendation.

The ousted president was graduated from Leland Stanford university in 1899 and taught there and at Columbia, Yale and California universities. In 1919 he was offered the presidency of the University of Pittsburgh at double the salary here.

English Mayor Puts On Dan Cupid Dance

WALLASEY, Eng., Oct. 5.(AP) The mayor of this town in Cheshire, which is filled with marriagable maidens, has struck upon a novel plan to get some of them married. Recently he issued a statement in which he told of the surplus of beautiful girls in Wallasey. There followed an avalanche of letters to the mayor from young men asking for introductions.

After studying the situation for a few days the mayor decided that he would become a Schatchen on a wholesale basis. He announced that he will give a dance in the town hall where applicants for introductions to the girls will have a free for all opportunity to seek out life partners.

WRECKS MARK BANDIT TRAIL

One Man Shot for Refusing To Let Them Use His Auto

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 5.(AP)—A trail of wrecked automobiles today marked the course followed by two bandits who last night killed a Maplewood, N. J., business man and probably fatally injured his 15-year-old son in what police believe was a desperate race to reach a shipment of registered air mail.

Frank Kearney was slain when he refused to give the men a ride. His son, Robert, was shot and his wife was dragged from their automobile.

Police believe the bandits were on their way in a powerful car to loot a truck load of valuable air mail due for delivery at Hadley Field, near here, where their automobile ran into a ditch.

Kearney drove up with his wife and son. The bandits demanded a lift which was refused. They shot and killed him, shot the son, and dragged Mrs. Kearney from the machine. One of the bandits shot his companion through the shoulder for showing reluctance to share in the crime.

The bandits then raced toward New Brunswick in the Kearney automobile, but smashed it against a telephone pole a few miles away. They then induced L. B. Scherr to get out of bed and drive them to New Brunswick, but as soon as they started, pitched Scherr out of his own machine and drove it off.

They crashed through a railroad gate in Stelton a few seconds ahead of a Pennsylvania express train and abandoned he machine in Newark and all trace of them was lost.

Southard Collection Of Books to Be Viewed At Meeting of Forum

Members of the Woman's Forum who visit the studio tea to be given at the home of Mrs. W. W. Silk Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock will have the privilege of viewing 19 books from the priceless collection of George F. Southard, collector and recognized authority on these subjects.

Mr. Southard who has made his home in Paris for a number of years and while there was chairman of the America Art association for three years and later director of it, has also traveled extensively in the orient where some of the treasurers which fill his home were gathered. His collection of books, paintings and furniture is valued at more than $100,000.

Among the articles which will be exhibited perhaps the most interesting are two genuine Babylonian tablets, one 5700 years old, the other 4296 years old. These are books made of clay without ovens, from the overflow of the Euphrates and Tigris rivers in Mesopatamia. The sand was washed out, the clay shaped while wet, a sylus was used to mark on the tablet in the cuniform language. Then the tablet was baked and made into an imperishable burned brick record. The tablets came from Dr. Edgar J. Banks, America's highest authority on Babylonian tablets, who was appointed by President McKinley as acheologist for the Smithsonian Institute.

Another one of the books which will be on exhibit the 1602 Astrolabii was bound by Clovis Eve and is from DeThou's library. It is very valuable. Miss Ida M. Tarbell took this book to the Bibliotheque Nationale in 1893 and M. Marcel, the authority in France pronounced it the third oldest printed map of Chicago in existence. In the Royal Palace at Fountainebleau there is a glass case which is always attended by a guard and which contains three articles; a parchment document signed with Napoleon's "N," the quill pen that he used to sign it, and a book from DeThou's library bound by Clovis Eve, in the same material which is used in the one on exhibition here. This indicates the value the French government places on a De Thou Clovis Eve book.

Ogilvy's Virgil, printed in 1654 and loaned by Milton J. Newman, will also be on exhibition.

There will be etchings, oil paintings and water colors which were sent by Hubert Morely of the Art Institute of Chicago.

The treasurers are loaned the Forum by Marguerite Hendershot Wolff and the books were procured by Mrs. Nancy Taylor of Kansas City, who is a personal friend of Mr. Southard.

Five Generations At Birthday Fete

ELECTRA, Oct. 5.—Five generations were present at the birthday celebration given in honor of Mrs. Eliza Pyle, by her granddaughter, Mrs. J. A. Crass of West Roosevelt avenue, Monday, celebrating the aged woman's eighty-sixth birthday. Her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Morgan, aged 64, and Mrs. L. C. Stidham, a good friend, aged 69, were also honored at the celebration, their birthdays coming this month. Both Mesdames Morgan and Pyle make their home in Tyler.

The guests arrived about noon, and were seated at the dining table which was decorated with roses in a wicker basket, and a profusion of potted plants, while the centerpiece was the huge birthday cake, in pink and white with all three names and ages written on the top. The dinner itself was a most gorgeous feast with baked chicken and all accessories. Mrs. Stidham cut the cake with a historic silver knife, 27 years old. After the dinner the gifts which included a variety of lovely things were presented and the afternoon spent in an old time quilting bee, with refreshments being served during the afternoon, when the guests paused long enough to get in position for the cameraman.

The five generations present included, Mrs. Eliza Pyle, Mrs. J. M. Morgan, Mrs. J. A. Crass, Mr. Clyde Crass and daughter, Marion Jean Crass, with the ages ranging from 86 years to baby Marion Jean age 18 months.

Other guests of the day were, Mesdames C. V. Havrin and son W. D., little Miss "Johnnie" Pouncey; Mr. and Mrs. Eland Stearns, Mrs. Frank Sanderlin and children, Mickey and Francis; Mesdames Clyde Crass and Don F. Stearns, and Charlie Sanderson; Messrs. J. A. Crass, Roy, Eugene and William Crass and Abe Lincoln of Dallas, and Miss Lorene Crass.

Miss Lois Fitzgerald And R. B. Grigsby Wed In Pretty Ceremony

In a lovely gloral setting of cut flowers in pastel shades and southern smilax, the wedding of Miss Lois Firzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fitzgerald, and R. B. Grigsby, took place at the home of the bride's parents Tuesday morning.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Father Lawrence Hoyt, pastor of the Sacred Heart church in the presence of relatives and close friends.

For pre-nuptial music Miss Frances Oechsner sang "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. R. Collard, who also played the wedding march.

The bride, who was charming in her gown of soft blue chiffon velvet, with blouse of crepe romaine was given to be married by her father. Her hat harmonized with the gown and she carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Miss Winnie Mae Giddings was maid of honor and wore a French parchment frock with hat and trimmings to harmonize. She carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Grigsby was attended by Robert Foberts of Shreveport, La., as best man, and Miss Mabel Cowan of Altus, Okla., was an out-of-town guest.

The bride is a member of one of Wichita Falls most prominent families and popular in social circles. After finishing in local schools she graduated from the University of Texas and taught two years in the city schools. The bridegroom is here from Linden, La., and for some time has been associated with the Dixie Oil company as geologist.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby left for a two week's wedding trip to New Orleans and other Louisiana points. They will make their home in Wichita Falls.

"The Lost World" to Show at Garden.

If you can accept Conan Doyle's dedication of "The Lost World" to the "boy who's half a man, and the man who's half a boy," you're going to have a fine time when you see the new film at the Garden.

"The Lost World" is just the kind of picture which will bring a real dime-novel thrill to any boy, no matter of what age. For this is the champion trick celluloid of the canning industry, whose ten thousand feet fairly crawl with prehistoric monsters ending in "saurus," with boa constrictors, alligators and an apeman thrown in for better or worse measure. And it is only fair to say that the scenes showing these monsters are marvelous in their ingenuity and are so realistic that it is hard to believe that they do not live, breath, light and waddle destructively through the streets of London. If the troubles of these monsters drew hearty laughter, which must have been quite unexpected, from the audience, it was probably laughter composed of four-fifths tension and one-fifth unbelief.

The human actors are Bessie Love, Lloyd Hughes, Wallace Beery Lewis Stone, Alma Bennett, Bull Montana and Arthur Hoyt.

As in the case of all melodramas, they haven't a great deal to do. Wallace Beery and Arthur Hoyt and a cunnin' li'l monkey had the best opportunities. There are some lovely shots of tropical scenery, an amazing exodus of the "sauri" when a volcano begins to get overheated thrills, plenty of comedy, horrors, a love story and —well "The Lost World" has just about everything.

And, scoff as you will, we'll lay the usual hypothetical wager that if there's any of the boy in you, you'll have an evening of fine and instructive entertainment at this film. It's a great piece of work.

Joseph Plunkett has provided a most unusual prologue and a music score entirely adapted to the needs of this unusual picture.

Lamar Baptist Women Pack Boxes For Momes

Meeting in an all-day session, members of the Lamar Avenue Baptist Woman's Auxiliary packed three boxes at the church Monday. One valued at $50 was sent to Buckner's Orphan's home; one to the aged ministers, valued at $25, and a third to the Baptist tubercular hospital at San Antonio. Mrs. Tanner of Electra, county president of the W. M. U. talked on the work of the women and at the noon hour refreshments were served by members of Circle Four to Mesdames W. N. Rawls, C. F. Sommerville, H. M. Marshall, H. W. Conn, J. L. Powell, Jr., A. J. Catlin, Roy Stubblefield, J. B. Allred, D. J. Lynch, G. W. Anderson, Richard Riddle, M. C. Hayes, C. W. Smith, R. E. Campbell, W. L. Cahoon Host At Dinner To Queen Of T-O Exposition

In a series of lovely affairs complimenting Her Majesty, Sibyl of the House of Kell, Queen of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, none proved more beautiful or delightful than the dinner-dance given at the Country club at 7:30 Tuesday evening with C. W. Cahoon, Jr., host.

The table presented a colorful and exquisite picture with the floral decorations carrying out a rainbow color scheme. The centerpiece was formed of chrysanthemums, roses, gladioli and other blossoms at the base from which burst forth a tree blooming with dainty rosebuds. Smaller floral pieces marked each plate, and favors were corsages and boutonniers.

Covers were laid for Miss Sibyl Kell, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Donohoe, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McGregor, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry White, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon West, Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Jouette M. YOUTH JAILED WITHOUT BOND

Double Killing at Limestone Fair Brings Boy Before Court

GROESBECK, Texas, Oct. 5. (AP)—Hugh David "Hoptoe" Butler, 18-year-old Groesbeck youth is in the county jail remanded without bail to await action of the grand jury on two charges of murder in connection with a double killing at the Limestone county fair Saturday afternoon. Before a crowded court room in Judge Fountain Kirby's county court Monday afternoon the youth with his father, H. L. Butler, pleading his case, was held to answer and the case was considered non-bailable by Judge Kirby.

More than a dozen witnesses were called by the prosecution, while but one witness was called for the defense. County Attorney Scott Reed and Assistant Carl Cannon handled the prosecution. A battery of officers surrounded the youth and other officers milled about among the spectators, another of Sheriff Hopjoy's precautions.

Butler is charged with the murder of Leslie Bolton, aged 20, a farmer of Prairie Point community, and Ben Long, 23, brother-in-law of Bolton. Both died in the Cox hospital Saturday night and Sunday from shotgun wounds.

Long and Bolton were well known farmers, both married and with families. All parties concerned are well known and Groesbeck is wrough up over the case. Butler was married February 14, last.

A quarrel over a difficulty between Butler and a younger boy is said to have started the altercation.

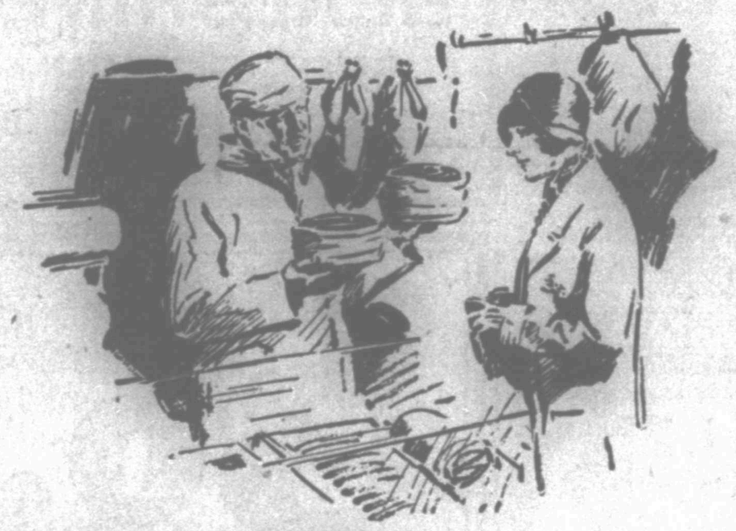

SCHOOLS BAR 200

Anti-Smallpox Vaccination Strife On At Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 5. (AP)—While vaccine opponents claim at least 1500 pupils of the Dallas public free schools have been denied continuance of their work because of failure to comply with the school board's order of smallpox vaccinations for all, Dr. Norman R. Crozier, superintendent, said Tuesday that less than 200 pupils actually have been barred.

Shopping is convincing

It is easy to choose just the rib roast you want when you compare one with another. How convincing, how satisfactory to first compare when buying.

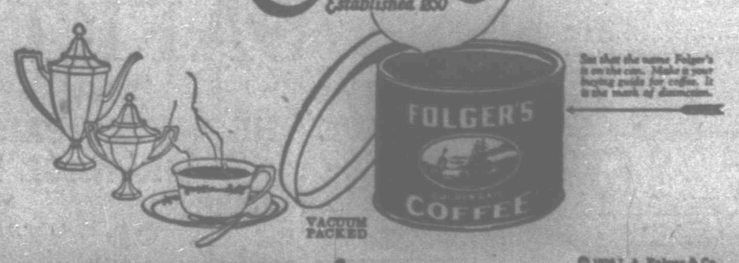

So with coffees. They differ widely in quality. Only by comparing their flavors can you choose the one coffee you like best. And after that, it is an easy matter to order by brand name the coffee you want.

Thousands and thousands of people would be glad to tell you how Folger's Coffee delights and satisfies and is the most entirely satisfactory article on their breakfast table.

But we ask you to take nothing for granted. Simply compare Folger's Coffee with the brand you are now using by making the Folger Coffee Test. It is the logical, easy way to shop for coffee.

The Folger Coffee Test: Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee Wins. That's fair, isn't it?

DIVORCE SUIT REVIVES TALK

Slayer of Wife's Ex-Spouse Is Divorced by Her At Houston

HOUSTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—A divorce was granted Mrs. Elizabeth Don Carlos by Judge Ewing Boyd in district court here Monday. The suit was not contested by her husband, Robert C. Don Carlos.

The divorce hearing recalled the killing of R. C. Wilson, former husband of Mrs. Don Carlos and Don Carlos trial on a charge of murder. It was after Wilson's death and before the arrest of Don Carlos that he married Mrs. Wilson.

Wilson's skeleton was found in a ravine near the Allendale road, seven miles from Houston by Deputy Sheriff A. J. McCollum early in August, 1924.

Both Don Carlos and his wife were indicted on a murder charge. The charge against her was dismissed. He was tried in December 1924. He admitted he fired two shots into Wilson's body but contended it was in self defense.

The jury found him guilty of manuslaughter and gave him a sentence of five years with the sentence suspended.

Don Carlos is now a resident of Lake Charles, La., it was testified in court Monday. Mrs. Don Carlos lives in Houston. They were married July 7, 1924, and separated January 15 of this year, Mrs. Don Carlos said.

Two piano solos were given by Miss Catherine Weeks, and announcements regarding the football games to be played this week end were made by S. H. Rider, dean of the college and principal of the high school.

Mr. Willgus will direct the glee clubs in the school and will lead in all assembly singing for the year.

Miss Georgia Tucker was elected president of the Barwise Girl Reserves at the regular meeting of the club Tuesday afternoon when officers were chosen. Miss La Fon Duncan was elected vice president, Miss Lucille Broyles secretary, and Miss Blanche Lackey treasurer. Committee chairmen were also chosen as follows: Program committee, Evelyn Campbell, social committee, Jeanette Lane, membership committee, Frances Speger, service committee, Kathleen Price.

Plans for the coming year were discussed in the business session. Miss Doris Smith led the devotionals.

Grand Jurors Take Time To Visit Fair

The Wichita county grand jury didn't like to be left alone at the courthouse, so adjourned at noon yesterday and took a half-day off to attend the fair, along with all the other offices at the courthouse.

Following the charge given by Judge P. A. Marsin to investigate alleged irregularities in officials of the county, the grand jury began work in earnest yesterday morning, and will resume again this morning at 9 o'clock, taking up the hearing of witnesses at the morning session.

BANK MEETING

ner's questioning, Mal Daugherty told of receiving a subpoena in December of last year to appear before a grand jury in New York which was investigating the Metal company assets release. He said he immediately went to his brother's home in Columbus, Ohio, with his personal attorney, N. C. Cliburn. The next day they went to Washington court house and the following morning, Sunday, all three met at the Midland bank where they stayed from about 8:30 o'clock until about nine.

"Harry had stayed with you at your home that Saturday night?" Buckner asked.

"Yes."

Wife Was Ill

"Then why did you go to the bank for your conference? Could not Mr. Cliburn have come to your home and could you not all have conferred there?"

"My wife was not very well and we didn't want to disturb her."

"But couldn't you three have talked for half an hour without causing any disturbance to Mrs. Daugherty?"

"I suppose we could."

"And it was a Sunday and the bank was closed?"

"That is right."

"Did you," Buckner thundered at the witness "or your brother, or your lawyer at that time remove from their proper places in the bank deposit slips, day book sheets or the copy of a remittance letter to another bank all of which had been subponesed but none of which had ever been produced?"

"We did not," the witness replied.

"Did you take any of those records out to look at them?"

"We did not."

"Do you know whether they were in their proper places at that time or whether they were even then missing?"

"I do not."

Tells About Bonds

While Mal Daugherty was under direct examination of Max D. Steur counsel for Harry Daugherty, he told how five $10,000 liberty bonds, which were a part of the Merton-King money came to be in his bank and their proceeds credited to Harry's account.

"On May 27, 1923," he said, Jesse Smith came to the bank and asked for me. He was very excited and disturbed. He handed me the five bonds a check for $2,500 and $4,000 in cash, which he told me he would fix up the deficit in the political campaign funds of which my brother was in charge."

Harry had for the past year been insisting that Smith make an accountin of his collections the witness said and several times had asked Mal to impress on Smith the necessity of this. No such accounting was ever made, so far as the witness knew but instead the bonds, check and cash were turned in to cover the bulk of the deficit. The bonds were sold and the proceeds credited to Harry because he was in charge of the political fund.

Bilious Gas Pains Eased By Black-Draught

"Black-Draught is one of the best medicines I have ever tried," says Mr. George W. White, of Whitwell, Tenn. "I have used Black-Draught whenever I have suffered with biliousness, and found that Black-Draught gave me speedy relief.

"I used to suffer a lot with my side. Sometimes for days at a time I would suffer considerable pain. This came from indigestion, causing gas. When I had one of these attacks I would start treating the condition with a course of Black-Draught. I would take it every night for several days. It never disturbed by rest.

'For the last year or so my health has been fine, and I have needed little medicine, but I always keep a box of Black-Draught in the house and take it when I need anything for constipation. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught because I have found it always reliable and helpful."

Experience of thousands of men and women bring high praise to Thedford's Black-Draught for its effectiveness in relieving biliousness, constipation and indigestion. This well known, purely vegetable medicine has been in use for over 50 years and its popularity is constantly increasing, as its steadily increasing sales clearly prove.

Black-Draught is a purely vegetable remedy, prepared from roots and herbs, carefully combined and packed by automatic machinery.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP)—The cotton market showed a steadier tone today. Reports of continued selling by the south caused reactions from an opening advance but offerings were smaller and the market firmed up again on late trading. December contracts after selling off from 13.28 to 13.04 rallied to 13.44 and closed at 13.40, with the general market closing steady at net advance of 20 to 21 points on steadier Liverpool cables apprehensions of a cold wave in the southwest, covering and trade buying. October sold up to 13.45 and January to 13.37, but this advance met increased offerings supposed to come largely from the south and prices eased off during mid-day under renewed liquidation.

October held relatively steady on very small business, but as trading in that month nends on Saturday, the remaining interest is supposed to be a small one and its action was considered without any special significance. January declined to 13.11, active months generally selling back to about Monday's closing quotations. There probably was reselling by recent buyers who were influenced by a private report placing the condition of the crop at 61.7 and the indicated yield at 16,635,000 bales.

These large figures, however, brought in no great volume of pressure and the afternoon market firmed up on renewed covering. Hedge selling which usually increases toward the close, appeared to be lacking and the highest prices of the day were reached in late trading when October sold at 13.45 and January at 13.54, or about 40 to 50 points net higher. The close was within three or four points of the best.

The relatively steady ruling of the market at the start and again at the close was regarded by some local traders as indicating that hedging was beginning to taper off after the heavy selling of the past week or ten days.

Exports today 69,970, making 1,419,732 so far this season. Port receipts, 151,439; U. S. port stocks, 1,986,914.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5. (AP)—The cotton market was only moderately active today but the tendency of prices was firmer. Following an opening advance in sympathy with much better cables than due, of 21 to 22 points, the market eased off an prospects for better weather in the cotton belt, losing 22 to 33 points, or practically all the early gain. It was then seen that the market had become overbold with the result that shorts covered freely notwithstanding the publishing of a private estimate of 16,635,000 bales. Prices continued on the upgrade all afternoon, showing final gains of 41 to 42 points over the lows of the morning. The close was practically all the top showing net gains for the day of 37 to 43 points.

In addition to the large estimate given above, another authority published an estimate of 15,900,000 bales.

Liverpool came in 10 to 12 penny points better than due and as a result the market opened 21 to 23 points higher. Prices soon turned easier, however owing to only light rains in the belt and a forecast for generally fair weather and December traded down to 13.07; January to 13.02, and March to 13.19, or 25 to 32 points below the opening figures and one to two points under the previous close. These were the low points of the day.

The market after a period of quiet at noon turned firmer in the afternoon on covering and reached the highs of the day in the final trading with December at 13.49; January at 13.44, and March at 13.59, or 41 to 42 points up from the lows of the morning. The market closed at the top.

Exports for the day were liberal, totaling 69,970 bales.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5. (AP)—Wheat underwent fresh setbacks in price today owing largely to better weather for the Canadian crop movement and because of lower quotations at Liverpool. The wheat market closed unsettled at ½@1c net decline with corn ½ to ⅝c off oats ⅛ to ¼@⅜c down and provisions varying from 22 cents decline to 7c advance.

Corn and oats went lower with wheat but corn rallied somewhat sharply toward the last. Better weather conditions and increased offerings of old corn to arrive were reported, but choice grades were in demand, both by elevators and shippers.

CHICAGO CASH GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5. (AP)—Wheat, No. 2 red $1.36½@1.37; No. 3 hard $1.42.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP)—Heavy liquidation of stocks for both accounts caused another sharp break in today's stock market, which emerged on the down side from the narrow trading area within which it has been floundering for the past six weeks. The decline which ran from two to nearly nine points in scores of issues, took place in the face of a lowering of call money rates final quotations being around the lowest of the day.

There wa snothing in the business situation to account for the selling movement. Chairman Gary of the United States Steel corporation, in a statement issued after the market closed described business conditions as "very satisfactory" and predicted an increase in the September unfilled orders for the corporation which will be made public in a few days. William C. Durant, prominent market operator, also gave out a bullish interview and the directors of the American Smelting company increased the annual dividend from $7 to $8.

While admitting that the action of the market in the past two days indicated a top heavy speculative position, many traders were frankly puzzled by its sudden weakness. In some quarters there was a tendency to associate it with the recent sharp decline in cotton on the theory that the latter might seriously affect the purchasing power of certain sections of the country. Some fears also were expressed at the increase of over $50,000,000 in brokers' loans last week particularly in view of the fact that the gain was not accompanied by any appreciable advance in prices.

Spasmodic rallies took place throughout the session, some of the recoveries running as much as five points, but they failed to attract any outside buying and were invariably followed by increased selling pressure. General Motors was the most active individual feature, dropping from 168 to 162 1-4 and then rallying to 164 7-8 off one point net on total transctions of over 800,000 shares or about one-sixth of the day's entire volume of business. U. S. Steel common closed nearly three points lower at 140 5-8 on total sales of about 175,000 shares. Mack Truck fell over three points to a new low for the year, but Moon Motors appeared to have discounted the cut from $4 to $1.50 in the annual dividend.

Rails were also hard hit the average of 20 leading issues showing a larger loss than the average of 20 leading industrials. Atlantic Coast line broke nearly 10 points to 198 as against the year's high of 262 1-2. "Nickel Plate" common dropped five points; Norfolk and Western 4 1-2; New York Central 3 1-2 and most of the others a point or two. Erie first preferred was bid up to a new 1926 high at 48 1-4 on reports that the stock would receive a "4" guarantee under the new "Nickel Plate" merger plan.

Call money renewed at five per cent, and then dropped to 4 1-2 closing at the low figure. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Demand sterling eased slightly to $4.84 11-16, but most of the other European rates held steady. French francs were again quoted above 2.50 cents and Italian lire around 3.75 cents.

Everything Seems To Happen All At Once

Some months it looks like everything comes up all at once. This to buy, that to get for the house, Bobby must have a suit, new shoes for Katherin. . . .

Some months' bills just can't be kept in reason, it seems. Everything comes at once.

But don't let it worry you. The retail credit men don't like for you to let a bill run on for a month or two more. But you can borrow enough from us to pay every bill right on time.

And then you can pay us back in small payments stretched over a convenient length of time.

And by doing it that way, your credit is kept first class.

If you'll drop in, we'll be glad to explain the simple details.

THE DAY IN WICHITA FALLS

October 6, 1925

J. H. Allison appointed receiver for Grandfield bridge over Red river.

PRICE ON COTTON PROSPECTS

COL. THEODORE H. Price, of Commerce and Finance, editorially remarked that cotton is about the only article that has shown any activities and that southern advices indicate that the south is preparing to hold and organize for the reduction of the acreage of 1927. He notes there is a balm in Gilead for the reason that the reduction movement "has been more buying by manufacturer who are encouraged to stock up by the excellent demand for cotton goods that is indicated by a report of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants in New York."

This report, the colonel says, asserts that sales of cotton textiles have exceeded production by forty-seven and three quarter percent for the quarter ending September 15, and that unfilled orders on September 15 showed an increase over July. "These figures were a distinct surprise to the normally melancholy cotton spinners and for the present at least the sting has been taken out of the latest government estimate," writes the cotton authority of Commerce and Finance of New York. When it comes to the future of cotton prices, the colonel hedges. In his comment on the report of the textile merchants he says: "it cannot be said that there is any wide spread speculation in cotton as yet, nor is it likely that any will develop until the season is several months older."

If the bankers of Texas and other southern states are successful in raising a fund of $100,000,000 to remove 3,000,000 bales of cotton from the market until August of next year, there may be widespread speculation before the season is several months old.

But will they raise a hundred million dollars? It is admitted that the south is rich. That its banks are powerful, that its deposits are large, but a hundred million dollars is a lot of money to invest in cotton.

Of course, the plan is to advance $50.00 per bale to the owner of the cotton and the cotton to be stored until next year. This should make it a safe proposition and that it is a safe proposition all thinking men will admit who know the bankers who are responsible for the proposal.

ADVICE OF A BUSINESS MAN

ACCORDING to C. E. Hudson, a prominent dry goods merchant of Texas, "the cotton producing state" brought about by the farmer selling his cotton for less than production cost, has one efficacious solution." And then the north Texas business man submits his solution of the problem, "for the farmer to hold his cotton off the market for a few days until the bankers and business men can work out and put into operation a practical method of financing 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 bales of surplus cotton and taking it off the market until the price has been stablized and a satisfactory price is offered."

There are thousands of tenants in the cotton growing district. There is an army of tenants and all growers of cotton. They are carried from year to year by the small bankers and the small merchants. When picking and ginning time comes the merchants and the bankers must have their money. They must meet their financial obligations.

It is said that two-thirds of the cotton crop of the south is produced by the labor of tenants, and these tenants for the most part are carried, as has been stated, from the beginning until the end of the season and perhaps from January until January by the small bankers and the merchants of the smaller towns.

Money talks. If the big bankers who have advanced the plan of $100,000,000 for taking 3,000,000 bales off the market are successful, then it will be possible to warehouse the surplus until next year. If the plan should fall through then the 3,000,000 bales surplus will not be taken off the market.

NOT A PROPHET OF GLOOM

COL. THEODORE H. Price, of New York is not a prophet of gloom. This is his latest, "since there is nothing at sight at the moment to cause a reversal of sentiment, it seems reasonable to expect a continuance of good times at least until something happens to change the public mood; but this is not to say that prices will go higher." Colonel Price was speaking of stocks and industrials. He wasn't speaking of cotton and cotton is the new money of the south and swings the balance of trade on the side of the United States.

CONTROLLED COTTON ACREAGE

GREAT Britain practically controls the rubber production of the world, fixes the price and regulates the sales of rubber. This has given the rubber planters a monopoly and the American users of rubber are paying the highest prices ever known. Brazil controls the marketing of coffee and practically fixes the price of the berry. This is making Nabobs of the coffee planters of Brazil.

Now enterprising citizens of McLennan county are advocating the enactment of a law regulating the cotton acreage in Texas for a period of five years. Newton B. Williams, a former lawmaker, is responsible for the movement launched by the McLennan county Cotton Control Association. Of course, if such a law should be passed by the Texas legislature, those who are responsible for the proposal agree that it shall not be effective until similar legislation has been enacted by other cotton producing states.

This McLennan county association favors a plan to have the farmers agree to plant not more than two-thirds of their land in cotton for five years, beginning next year. Now the cotton growers of the south are facing actual facts. Their leaders say that there is certain to be a very heavy surplus this year, that there was a carry-over from last year and two carry-overs will make a huge carry-over for 1927.

Away back in the years when Oscar B. Colquitt was governor, he favored a state bank to take care of the surplus, to advance money to the farmer in order that the surplus should be taken from the market and stored for a lean year to come. This former governor was not a cotton grower, and since the present agitation begun, he has been "as mum as a mouse."

PROSPERITY IN GRANDSTAND

WHO says there is poverty in the cities? Who says that this isn't the richest and greatest of nations? Grover Cleveland Alexander came back and won a victory for the Cardinals, and a vast and record gathering of 63,000 fans cheered the prodigal until their yells could be heard in the Pennsylvania mountains. This is not all. The sports writer of this pewspaper who watched the game, says 30,000 more fans sought in vain to gain admission.

It is said there is no royal road to greatness. There isn't. John Joseph Tunney hammered Hobo Dempsey into forgetfulness and received a check of $200,000.00 and the Giants and the Cardinals in a single day had gate receipts of $201,828.00, another world record in point of attendance and money taken in at the gate.

Calvin Coolidge takes down $75,000 a year. Hobo Dempsey received nearly $700,000 for performing a single night —no, for a few short rounds. Of course, glory faded when Tunney gave him the finishing touch, but think of all that money going back to Hollywood.

This is a sporting age. Even the Germans enjoying a republican form of government has taken up athletics and the mob is wild when it comes to wrestling matches, prize fights and kindred sports.

IS THERE MONEY IN OIL

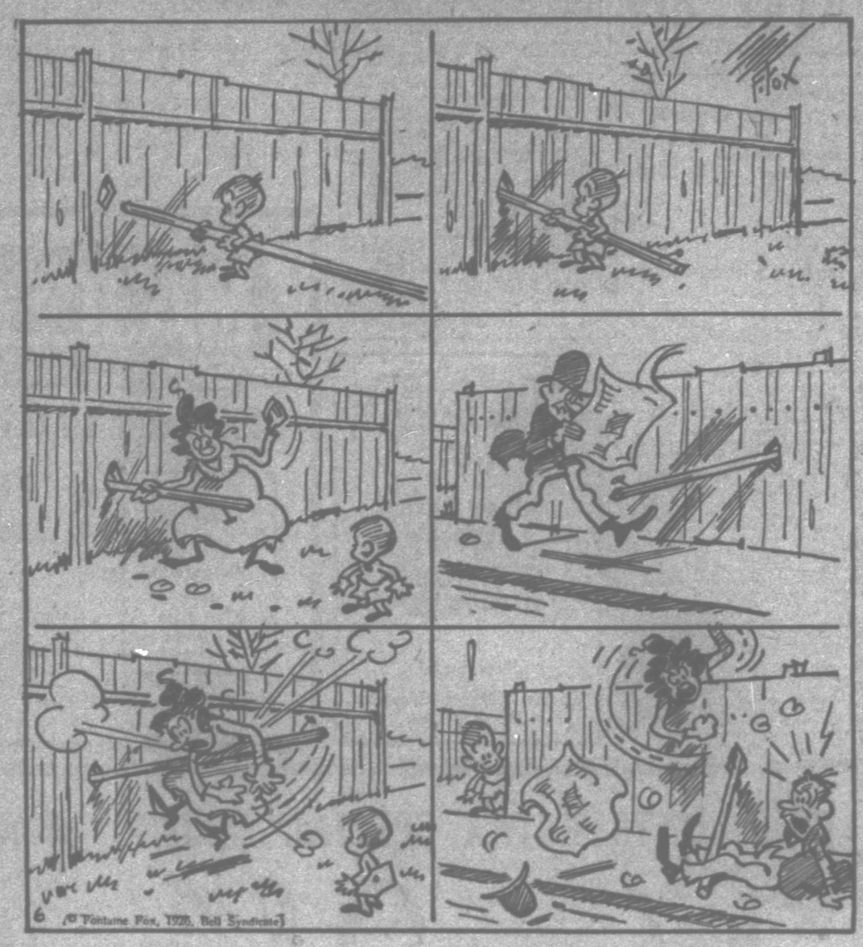

HUGH JANUARY is a Texan. He is responsible for the news that he lives in a Texas city, capital for a large area "embracing Texas, Oklahoma, and most of Arkansas and Louisiana, producing nearly five billion dollars worth of new wealth annually, with retail trade alone that has reached the astonishing figures of more than $252,000,000 last year."

Texas is getting to be some state; Texas' cities, some cities. Again speaking of oil, Texas is gradually winning second place as a producer and may win first place before the end of the year 1927. Is there money in petroleum? Go ask the lucky ones. Never mind the losers. They are dead, and dead men should tell no tales.

WHERE LIFE IS CHEAP

TWO THOUSAND Chinese fishermen and one hundred Junks were over whelmed in the Canton River by a typhoon. Life is cheap in China. China has a population of 450,000,000. Laborers are paid from six to ten cents a day, and they starve from cradle to grave. Death must be a boon to a Chinaman who is compelled to earn his bread in China.

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang

The Ace Of Cads

BY MICHAEL ARLEN

Mr. Maturin, whose conscience could not have been put in the blackest disorder, immediately went to sleep in the car; to awake only when the car having stopped, the young chauffeur flung open the door of the tonneau and said:

"If you please, sir."

"Thank you," said Mr. Maturin. "It is."

Within, in a vast hall floored with black and white marble he found himself faced by an old gentleman who, as the small seedy man had said, was even taller than himself. Mr. Mataurin bowed. The tall old gentleman said:

"It is good of you to have come, Mr. Maturin. I thank you. I must confess, however, that I expected you would."

"It is a rare pleasure for me, Sir Guy, to do what is expected of me," smiled Mr. Maturin.

"You know me then! You recognized me tonight at your—your club?"

Mr. Maturin smiled at that. It was, let's face it, a low club. But, what with one thing and another, he had had to resign from all his others. He only said:

"Naturally, who does not know you, Sir Guy?"

The deep old eyes seemed to pierce the younger man with a savage contempt. "In coming here tonight, Mr. Maturin," said old Sir Guy, "am I to understand that you are serious? You have, as you may know, something of a reputation for having made an art of misbehaviour."

Mr. Maturin delayed answering while he thoughtfully considered the ceiling of the great hall, which was so high as to refuse itself to exact scrutiny. At the gaming-club that night he had immediately recognised the formidable old gentleman; for the great lean height, the sabre-wound across the left cheek, the mass of loosely brushed white hair and the savage blue eyes under bushy white eyebrows, were the well-known marks of Sir Guy Conduit de Gramercy, a seigneur of a past century who made no secret of the fact that he disdained any part of this.

"Why, I'm serious enough," said he at last. "I take your gift—"

"Ha!" snapped the old gentleman. "In the spirit in which you gave it, Sir Guy."

"And what the devil can you know of that, sir?"

"Nothing, nothing," said Mr. Maturin peaceably, and without more ado old Sir Guy led the way into a wide, dim room lined with many books in rare bindings, for here was a small part of the famous de Gramercy library. From the shadows a lady emerged. Very beautiful this lady must have been in her youth, but she was no longer young and now a sad, gentle dignity was the flower of her personality, half hiding, while it half revealed, the lovely dead graces of her youth. It was plain to see, however, that she was not in her best looks this night, for her eyes were as though strained with some pitiless anxiety; and, distantly acknowledging Mr. Maturin's bow, she retired again into the shadows of the room, for it is only in the East that vanity dies with youth.

Said old Sir Guy: "I believe you have met my daughter-in-law. She and my granddaughter are staying with me for a few days."

From her shadows Mrs. de Gramercy spoke swiftly, almost breathlessly, as though she would at all costs and quickly be done with something she must say:

"Mr. Maturin, I have tried my best to dissuade Sir Guy from taking this step. I feel there must be a way of effecting our—our wish other than one which must offend you so deeply—"

The voice of the old gentleman fell like a bar of iron across the poor lady's swift light speech. "Eleanour, you will kindly leave this to me, as you promised. And Mr. Maturin is, I fancy, past taking offense at the truth."

"That depends on the truth," said Mr. Maturin in a reasonable way. "So far, I am quite mystified."

"Mr. Maturin," the old man whispered just audibly, "you are an unbelievable cad! You are the —sir, you are the ace of cads!"

At that Sir Guy sat down while the other remained standing before the fireplace. Mr. Maturin, for all his forty odd years of self-indulgence, had still a very good figure, and he liked to be seen at his best. Mrs. de Gramercy, a shadow of distress, sat in a deep chair away in the dimness of the room. Sir Guy, with a perceptible effort at calm, finally addressed Mr. Maturin:

"As you may have gathered, sir, I want you to do me a service. My son, this lady's husband, was killed in the war, as you may know. The best men were killed, Mr. Maturin. Fate is not very generous to fine men in time of war. You, I believe, were years ago cashiered from Brigade for drunkness in a restaurant?"

Dimly spoke Mrs. de Gramercy from the shadows in extentation.

"Father, I believe Mr. Maturin has a D. S. O. with a bar."

"Mr. Maturin," the old gentleman said, "I apologize if I have seemed to reflect at all on your courage. Such men as you are, I believe, frequently very courageous—however to return to my subject, my son, I was saying, was killed in the war, and his son and daughter were left to the charge of their mother. My grandchildren, Mr. Maturin—heirs to an ancient name and a fortune which must, by decent people be taken as a responsibility rather than as a means for self-indulgence.

"Only lately, Mr. Maturin, I heard of my grandson's folly. My grandson, Mr. Maturin! Or must I call upon you to strain your imagination before you can realize that there are still some men in this world to whom the honour of their name is dear?

"I was as displeased as I was surprised when I heard that my daughter-in-law had lately met you at a ball at Lady Carnal's. The Carnals of my day were more discreet in their introductions. In some such house you must have met my grandson; and, Mr. Maturin, I must grant you the quality of attraction, little though I myself may be privileged to feel it, for with your good looks and casual airs you seem to taint every child you meet. You corrupted my grandson, Mr. Maturin! You flattered him by treating him as a grown man, you taught him to gamble, to dissipate, and worst of all, to think uncleanly. Both my grandson and my granddaughter, say you were aware, have fortunes of their own from their mother's father—and by God, sir, you played the devil with that wretched boy's money."

It is not for nothing, I have gathered, that you are spoken of as the best picquet player in London. That wretched boy would, I am sure, give you a certificate—"

"I should be even better pleased, Sir Guy, with a cheque for what he owes me."

"You shall have it. Eleanour, my cheque-book! A flower in hell, Mr. Maturin, would not be more lonely than a debt of honour on your person."

"Quite," said Mr. Maturin, thoughtfully, folding the cheque. "Thank you very much."

"I have dealt with the boy," old Sir Guy went on in a low voice, "as you are no doubt aware; and he is now expiating his folly and, I hope, regaining his health, and self-respect, with some hard work on my Canadian property. At our last meeting he defended you to me. He remained, you understand, a gentleman even after his connection with you, and he couldn't but speak up for one who had been his friend."

"He was a good boy," said Mr. Maturin softly, "I liked that boy."

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH
SINCE KIRBY DIED

I have always wondered who
Kirby was,
I have always wondered a lot, because
My mother always would say the same
When the old things went, when
the new things came,
When the rest complained, then
their voice replied:
"Well, things have changed since Kirby died."
I still remember her words, because
I always wondered who Kirby was.

I never knew, yet I wonder still
Just what it was that made Kirby
ill,
I was very sure, from the way she said
That things had changed with
Kirby dead,
That had Kirby lived, a world
you'd see
About the same as it used to be.
Just what it was that made Kirby
ill,
I never knew, but I wonder still.

Yet a change, after all, is nothing
new;
The times still change, as the times
will do.
She thought that the world had changed a lot
After Kirby died, the world has not.
For the things that came in my mother's day.
Like the things that were, have passed away.
The times still change as the
times will do,
So a change, after all, is nothing
new.

Though things have changed since
Kirby died,
It's a good old world, I am satisfied.
It's been going wrong for a thousand years,
For the new, to some, always wrong appears.
But the folks in the world are just the same,
Though the old things went and
the new things came.
It's a good old world, I am satisfied,
Though things have changed since
Kirby died.

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What is meant by educators when they speak of a pupil's I. Q.?
2. What is an alienist?
3. What is meant by psychologists when they speak of a Mongolian?
4. Is an adult with the intelligence of a 15 year old child a case of arrested development?
5. Does the Government use intelligence tests?
6. Can a person's intelligence be judged from his face?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

Who Are The Intelligent?

Intelligence tests are all the rage just at present. They are applied in many schools, and children are advanced or demoted according to them. There seems to be no reason to keep a child of ten who is as bright as others of twelve, working with ten-year-olds. The only difficulty is to devise a test that is really fair. The suspicion arises that the tests have in some cases been made up from too small a group of children to strike an average. Intelligence tests have been applied for some years to Columbia students, and many a student has been dropped from college on their account. Recently, it is said, a group of Columbia students gave the tests to their professors most of whom failed to pass them.

Now what do you know about that?

Answer to yesterday's questions:

1. A troglodyte is a cave dweller.
2. Stalacites and stalagmites are columnar formations of limestone made by the drippings of lime saturated water in caves.
3. Limestone and sandstone are the commonest sorts of stones in which caves are found.
4. A recent disaster occured when a slide buried a man in Sand Cave, Ky.
5. Cave dwellers were not the most ancient ment, but they were the first to have habitations of any permanence.
6. Caves are now being used as dwellings in New Mexico and Arizona by the Indians.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

Libra.

Today's planetary aspects are quite favorable, and promise to engender a spirit of energy, and a desire to succeed. In the evening, they become overcast and impropitious. Any new undertaking that has received its need of deliberative thought can be profitably launched today, as the astrological conditions foretell success. Financial enterprises will be especially benefitted, although all work typical of constructive effort will prove to be productive of good results. It is also an auspicious occasion for travel, either by land or sea. In the evening, it will be advisable to seek congenial companionship, as the influences will cause excessive introspection which usually promotes self-dissatisfaction.

Children born today will not enjoy an infancy of "bur and skittles." They will experience many and varied ailments. Much of the danger causes thereby can be averted by careful alimentation, but it will be necessary to have recourse on more than one occasion to skilful treatment. The signs denote that they will, once past this period, attain normal conditions, and achieve a robust adulthood. In disposition, they will be, in their early years, querulous and impatient but as their physical condition improves, their natures will also improve. They will be ambitious, but not very careful of those who stand in their way. They will always be candid and sincere, and especially loyal to their kith and kin.

If today is your birthday, you are very competent, as you possess both mechanical and executive ability. You are also energetic and never enter into any project half heartedly. You always put forth your best efforts—be it in play or in work. You are not gifted with any great degree of intellectuality, but have a good measure of sound common sense. You are at all times practical, and never have been known to be "a dreamer of dreams," everything you tackle is judged by positive, and never by probable, results. As your sincerity is always unquestioned, you enjoy the respect of all those who know you and many appeal to you in order to help them straighten out their own difficulties. You, on the other hand, are self-reliant, and think out your own problems for and by yourself. If you are mated with one born in August or November and especially if you marry young, your home life should be ideally happy.

Succesful people born this date are:

Nathan Appleton—Merchant.
George H. Boker, Author-Poet and diplomat.
Samuel Davis, Confederate spy.
George Westinghouse—Manufacturer.
A. J. Beveridge—Senator.
Jenny Lind—Opera Singer.

THE WORLD'S BEST SELLER.

Dear Grandma! What a soul she was
To argue that she knew
Her Bible from the front to back,
Old Testament and New
"From childhood's days I've studied it."
I've often heard her say,
And not one of us doubted that
She read it every day.

One afternoon the preacher called,
As preachers do, you know,
And in the conversation said,
"St. Paul said so-and-so."
said Grandma, "Pardon me young man;
Mistakes I CAN'T endure.
I've read the Good Book ALL my life——
St. John said that, I'm sure."

The preacher picked the Bible up
And said, "Let's look and see."
A pair of spectacle fell out
And down upon his knee!
Grandmother snatched them up and cried,
"Praise be! The lost is found!
For years I've hunted for those specs!
I'm glad you came around!!"

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink who gives you a dirty look when you speed by and pass me. It matters not if you are driving carefully. I like to go along at a moderate pace and I usually keep the middle of the road, moving only after many insistent yelps from your horn. Then as you pass I flash you a dirty look. I don't understand why people aren't content to stay behind me. If they pass me I mutter about "fools" and give them mean looks.

Questions from the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

The American Cult of Girl-Worship in Which Every One Kow-Tows to the Pampered Daughter of the Family Is Unfair to the Other Children and Works Untold Harm to the Girl Herself.

A youth complains to me of the partiality that his parents show to his sister. He says that he has to go shabby in order that sister may walk forth in silk attire, and that every time he asks for a new suit it is denied him because sister has to have a special party frock, or the latest thing in sports wear. He never can have the use of the automobile because sister monopolizes it and he can't even go to college because it takes so much money to keep sister going with the right set.

The lad thinks this isn't fair, and that his father and mother are not giving him a square deal, and he wants to know why he isn't just as much entitled to good clothes and his share of the family car and income as sister is.

Of course, the boy's position is unassailable. Parents should not play favorites among their children. Each one should be treated with exactly the same consideration and justice.

In the average American family there is never the slightest question as to who is the most important member in it. It is Sally. Nor is there any debates as to who has the divine right to the best of everything. It is Sally. Nor would any one thing of rebelling against her tyrannies and impositions. Such an idea would be considered little less than blasphemous.

Sally must have fine clothes no matter how poor the garments of the remainder of the family. Sally must have the best room in the house, and when she has company every one must gumshoe by the door so as not to disturb them. Sally's mother and father may be people of importance in the outside world, but at home they are groveling slaves who take their cue from Sally, and, in the slang of the day, let her tell them where they get on and off.

This cult of daughter worship pervades every branch of society. In poor homes you see the whole family sacrificed to Sally. Mother sits up half the night making Sally pretty frills and furbelows, or washing out her gossamer lingerie. Mother never has a new frock, so that Sally may have a dozen and father grows daily more bent and tired in order that Sally may go on trips or have an automobile, and keep up with girls richer than she is. The little brothers and sisters have only such crumbs as fall from Sally's table, and sometimes these are poor pickings, because mother cuts down on the table to pay Sally's bills.

A SCANDAL IN THE FAMILY.

A young Irishman whose family was scattered pretty well over the English-speaking portions of the globe, emigrated to America. Soon after his arrival in New York he paid a visit to the Bronx zoo. He halted in front of a cage containing one of the largest kangaroos in captivity. After watching the curious creature for some time in an awed silence, he hailed a keeper.

"What's that thing?" he asked.

"That," said the keeper in his best professional manner, "is a marsupial mammal that carries its young in a pouch on its breast, lives on roots and herbs, can jump twenty feet at one leap, is able to knock a human being down with a kick from either hind leg, and is a native of Australia."

"For the love of Hiven!" cried the Irishman, bursting into tears, "Me sisther's married to wan of thim!"

Jury Refuses To Accept Novel Plea

HOUSTON, Oct. 5.(AP)—Drunkenness as defense in a liquor case was introduced in federal court here Monday with poor results for the defendant.

"I am sure," said the defendant's attorney, "twelve intelligent jurors will not brand a man with a conviction for selling liquor when it is plainly evident the defendant was drunk."

Judge C. A. Hutcheson in delivering his charge to the jury said drunkenness is a defense in a liquor case only when it is proved that the defendant is so intoxicated he did not know what he was doing and the officers then induced him to violate the law. The jury retired and returned five minutes later with a verdict of guilty.

"Thirty days in Galveston county jail," was Judge Hutcheson's sentence.

Jess Haines Hurls And Slugs Cards To Victory

St. Louis Heaver Allows Yanks Five Hits and Pounds Homer With Runner On In 4 to 0 Win

BY ALAN J. GOULD

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5. (AP)—The rugged figure of Jesse Joseph Haines was cast in heroic mold today to celebrate the home coming of the Cardinals with a stirring victory over the Yankees in the greatest diamond spectacle St. Louis has ever witnessed.

Standing out in rugged relief against a background of dramatic conflict and before the feverish cheers of a record-breaking crowd, Haines not only blanked the American league champions with five scattered hits but hammered out a home run that capped the climax of the Cardinals' decisive batting attack in the fourth inning.

A vast and colorful throng of close to 38,000 spectators, the largest and most enthusiastic crowd that ever jammed Sportsman Park, saw Haines subdue the Yankees with a 4 to 0 triumph in the third game of the intersectional battle. It was a stirring victory, the climax of a 24-hour outburst of unprecedented home town spirit and put the Cardinals in the lead, two games to one, in the struggle for premier baseball honors.

Victory by any margin would have been thrilling to this big outpouring today but it satisfied even beyond the keenest expectations by the brilliance of Haines' pitching, the mighty power of his bat and the all-around dash with which the Cardinals demonstrated their superiority over their New York rivals.

While Haiens was turning in a master piece, fit companion feat to Alexander's triumph on Sunday over the Yankees the Cardinals outplayed the Yankees in every department of the game.. They had the punch when hits meant runs and they fielded with a sparkling snap that cut off the few threats made by the invaders.

Dutch Out In Fifth

Dutch Ruether, veteran southpaw, tried to check the onward surge of the Cardinals, with his cross fire but he lasted less than five innings, yielding the mound to Bob Shawkey, after being shelled for seven hits and four runs.

It was an occasion built for victory by Rogers Hornsby and his rampant Red Birds.

The big crowd though dwarfed by the throngs that witnessed the first two games in New York, yielded to no rivals in spirit. It came to cheer a Cardinal triumph after an all-night celebration of the home team's return from the east and it wasn't disappointed in the climax.

If anything, the National league champions out did themselves, spurred on as they were by this astonishing demonstration of support. They had every incentive to win an dthey did it with such decisiveness that there isn't a St. Louis fan tonight who isn't already making preparations for a final flourish that will celebrate the winning of the world's championship.

Two victories more will clinch the title for the Cardinals and the form they have displayed in the last two games, contrasting sharply with the almost listless performances of their opponents, has greatly strengthened their prospects for final triumph. In three games the American league champions supposedly one of the hardest hitting outfits in the game, have produced only fifteen hits and four runs. Not one of their blows has been for extra bases, while the Cardinals have been walloping the ball to all corners of the lot.

Rain Slows Matters

For a time today, the intermittent showers of rain threatened to mar the setting for the triumph of Hornsby's men.' The game was delayed for 32 minutes at the start of the fourth inning by a sudden shower but heroic efforts put the field back into playable condition, muddy though it was. It was a fortunate "break" for the Cardinals came back after the interval to check a budding Yankee rally and then score the runs that clinched the game.

There was another and contributing "break" in this decisive inning for the slippery condition of the ball was at least partly to blame for a wild throw by Mark Koenig, Yankee shortstop who had a double play in sight that would have choked off the Cardinals without a run.

Lester Bell opened the fourth with a single and went to second on Hafey's sacrifice hunt. O'Farrell walked and then Thevenow rapped a hard grounder to Lazzeri, who scooped it up and tossed to Koenig for a force out of O'Farrel. The Yankee short stop threw wildly past Gehrig, however, and Bell raced home with the first run. This set the stage for Haines and the hooky pitcher provoked a tumultuous outburst by lofting one of Ruether's curves high into the right field stands.

It was a towering blow worthy of a Southworth, and Haines trotted around the bases to the accompaniment of a bedlam of cheering, the ringing of bells and the honking of horns.

Rajah Comes Through.

To all intents and purposes this settled the game as it turned out but the Cards added another run for good measure in the fifth, Southworth scoring on his single, another one-base blow by Hornsby and an infield out by Bottomley which marked the retirement of Reuther.

With his margin to work on, Hines toiled the rest of the game with invincible skill. In no inning were the Yankees able to get more than one safe hit and in none of them did a base runner get beyond the keystone bag.

Twice snappy double plays checked the Yankees, one in the sixth after Combs had led off with a single and again in the ninth as a finishing gesture when Gehrig singled with one out.

Joe Dugan started the third with a single and was sacrificed to second by Severeid but got no further. In the fourth just before the down pour came Ruth was on the middle bag by virtue of his one-base hit to center and Meusel's infield out.

Gehrig in the seventh and Paschal, a pinch hitter who walked in the eighth also got as far as second base but they were likewise stranded as the Yankee bats were silenced.

The Cardinals concentrated their attacking efforts in the fourth and fifth frames although they had constantly threatened Reuther up to the time he was shelled from the hill. After the fifth, however, Shawkey toiled effectively for two innings while young Miles Thomas, making his series debut checked the Cardinals in the eighth with the aid of a double play started by Gehrig.

Bell); Shawkey one (Douthit). Hits off Ruether 7 in 4 1-3; Shawkey none in two 2-3; off Thomas one in one. Winning pitcher Haines; losing pitcher Ruether. Umpires Hildebrand, (A) plate; Klem (N) first; Dineen (A) second; O'Day (N) third. Time of game 1:41.

Play By Play

The following play by play descriptive of the third world series game is by Carl S. Brandebury, St. Louis sports writer:

FIRST INNING

Yankees: The band played the Star Spangled Banner and the Cardinals ran out upon the field. The big crowd welcomed the home boys with a mighty cheer. Haines threw up a few from the pitching slab and after the umpires had taken their positions the ball was thrown out and play was begun. The crowd accorded Southworth a hearty ovation when he came out into right field.

Haines used a fast ball which he kept close to the batter. Hafey took Comb's fly after misjudging it in the sun.

Koenig struck out, swinging for a third strike.

Ruth was greeted with mingled cheers and boos, but he laughed. Haines fed Ruth a slow one. Hornsby took Ruth's roller and threw him out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Douthit sent a high fly to Meusel in right field.

Southworth singled sharply to center, hitting the first ball pitched.

There was a big demonstration when Hornsby came to the plate. The hit and run play was on. Hornsby lined out to Lazzeri and Southworth had to race to get back to the bag.

Lazzeri threw out Bottomly at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING.

Yankees: Meusel flied out to Southworth.

Gehrig sent a high fly to Hafey.

Lazzeri struck out, taking a swing for the third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Bell whiffed, swinging for a third strike.

Hafey crashed a long hit to left for two bases.

Lazzeri took O'Farrell's weak roller and threw him out, Hafey going to third.

Combs took Thevenow's liner. No runs, no hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING

Yankees: Dugan shot a single over Thevenow's head.

Severeid sacrificed, Hainey to Bottomley.

Reuter fouled out to O'Farrell.

Combs got a base on balls, the fourth pitch being high.

Bottomley took Koenig's grounder and beat him to the bag. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Haines scratched a hit to first.

Douthit got a base on balls. The crowd was in an uproar.

Southworth sacrificed, Reuther to Gehrig, Haines going to third and Douthit to second.

Hornsby sent up a fowl to Severeid and the crowd groaned.

Bottomley lined out to Combs. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

Yankees: Ruth lashed a single into center, hitting a slow ball. Not a cheer went up from the stands.

Haines threw out Meusel at first, Ruth going to second. No sacrifice.

It was now starting to rain. The umpires gathered in the infield and after looking over the situation, time was called. The ground keepers rushed upon the field dragging tarpaulins after them. The batters box was covered after which the pitchers box was put under canvas.

The players scurried to the dugouts while the big crowd in the exposed portions of the grandstands raised umbrellas and shielded themselves with newspapers. It was a heavy downpour and it looked as if the field would soon become impossible to continue playing.

When the sun came out the tarpaulin was laid preparatory to its removal for the second time during the afternoon. A distant peal of thunder was heard and the covering hastily dropped. The sun peeped out from behind the clouds again and the tarpaulin was rolled up.

Hank O'Day, veteran National league umpire, gave the workmen the benefit of his years of experience and personally supervised the work of patching up the playing.

Umpire Hildebrand then called the players upon the field. The infield was very slippery not withstanding that it had been sprayed with dry dirt. Ruth went down to second as a base runner and Gehrig took his position at the plate. Before time was called, one ball had been pitched. Gehrig sent up a foul to O'Farrell which he took near the base line. Lazzeri went out, Hornsby to Bottomly.

No runs. One hit. No errors.

Cardinals: Bell singled over second. Hafey sacrificed, Ruether to Lazzeri. O'Farrell walked, the fourth pitch being high and inside. Bell scored when Thevenow forced O'Farrell, Lazzeri to Koenig, who made a wild throw to first. Haines hit a home run into right field stands scoring Thevenow ahead of him. The crowd was in an uproar. Douthit lined out to Koenig. 3 runs, two hits, one error.

FIFTH INNING

Yankees: Dugan sent out a long fly to Hafey.

Severeid sent out a sharp liner to Southworth.

Hafey took Ruether's hot shot. The Yankees were hitting the first ball pitched. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Southworth singled past Dugan. Shawkey was now warming up again.

Hornsby singled into center, Southworth going to third. It was the hit and run play perfectly executed.

Southworth scored when Lazzeri threw out Bottomly at first, Hornsby going to second.

Reuther was taken from the box at this stage, Shawkey taking up the pitching burden. Shawkey warmed up for a moment. Koenig threw out Bell at first, Hornsby going to third.

Dugan made a beautiful one-hand stop of Hafey's beaming hit and threw him out. One run, two hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING

Combs shot a single over Thevenow's head.

Koenig hit into a double play, Hornsby to Thevenow to Bottomley.

Haines tried to get Ruth to bite a slow ball. Ruth walked, the fourth pitch being low.

Bell took Meusel's smash and got him at first, Bottomly saving the Cards third baseman a wild throw by a good catch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: O'Farrell lofted to Combs. Combs came in fast and took Thevenow's short drive, Haines went out Koenig to Gehrig. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING

Yankees: Gehrig shot a long hit into center for a single.

Bell threw out Lazzeri at first, Gehrig going to second. It was not a sacrifice.

Dugan flied out to Douthit. Gehrig held second.

Bell threw out Severeid at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cardinals: Douthit fanned, the third strike being called. Lazzeri took Southworth's roller and tossed him out.

Hornsby popped to Lazzeri, going after a top curve. No runs, no hits, no errors.

EIGHTH INNING

Yankees: Paschal batted for Shawkey and drew a walk.

Combs struck out, missing a drop curve by a foot.

Koenig grounded out to Bottomley, Paschal making second on the play. The crowd laughed when Ruth went after a slow ball. It was growing dark again and a shower threatened. Hornsby threw out Ruth at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals: Thomas went into the box for the Yankees. Bottomley singled to right.

Bell hit into a double play, Koenig to Lazzeri to Gehrig.

Hafey went out, Dugan to Gehrig. No runs, one hit, no errors.

NINTH INNING

Yankees: Meusel went out Bell to Bottomley.

Haines was using blinding speed in the dark light. Gehrig got a sharp single to right for his second hit of the game.

Lazzeri hit into a double play Thevenow to Hornsby to Bottomley. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cordell Expected to Win Over Redskins, 60 to 0

But Powerful Randolph College Eleven Not So Confident—Tribe Draws Heavy Assignments

Indian football achievements of the past week-end in the incursion to Soonerland were given another thorough working-over when Ludgate's squad turned up again in its own hunting grounds. The Indian achievement of defeating the Cordell team that had lost no game all of the past season is attracting quite a bit of attention in yarn-spinning circles and much speculating of the possibilities in Ludgate's relatively unknown squad is going the rounds. Incidentally, the boys brought back the news that Cordell in a practice game last week held Oklahoma university's first string team to 21 points or three touchdowns. Quite an achievement for a Junior college.

According to reports from the coach and the boys, Cordell had a powerful and fast team for a Junior college, a team that played good ball. Especially was the team good on interference running, with a three-man interference that cut opposing tacklers out in a clock-like fashion. If it had not been for the phenomenal defensive skill and fight displayed by Keller, playing his first regular game for Wichita Falls, the Christians would have gotten away for more points, according to Captain Steve, due to this smoothly working interference screen. Heads-up football that took advantage of all breaks and an indomitable fighting spirit furnished the reasons why the less experienced and lighter Wichita Falls team won the game.

Breaks had a good deal to do with the scores in the game. Cordell's only touchdown came indirectly as a result of Wichita's inability to get off a punt as planned. McAninch, Wichita fullback, was called on to punt, early in the first quarter; Cordell's forwards sifted through and downed Mac in his tracks before he could kick, thus giving the ball to Cordell on fourth down dangerously in Wichita territory. If this break had not occurred it is possible that Cordell would not have scored. The Cordell field goal, according to the boys in their reminiscences, was a beautiful piece of football, being kicked from a difficult angle on the 25-yard line. Another break of luck in scoring occurred in the Cordell fumble that enabled Wichita to score the second touchdown. Scoggin sprung a furious tackle on the Cordell ball carrier, the latter suddenly releasing control of the ball. Captain Steve, ever alert, came on a full run, scooped up the ball, and ran fifteen yards for the score that meant victory. Wichita Falls' first touchdown was fully earned from good football, through runs and passes that worked their purpose.

Groggy At Start

In the first quarter the Maroon and Gold jerseyed lads found themselves groggy from the long auto trip that had brought them into town only an hour before the game. Steve said that the sidelines could be heard to say, after the Cordell eleven had piled up nine points in seven minutes, "Here goes another 60 to 0 game." That didn't sound happy to Steve and company and so in the second quarter they changed the outlook and corresponding sideline remarks.

A long run, a 35-yard pass Steve to Bland, and a run by Bland to the goal for another thirty brought the score that opened the Maroon revival. The pass from Steve was a long difficult one over the heads of several Cordell players, so unlikely appearing that even Peachy had to stop and look is he really had it safe in his paws. Coach Ludgate remarked that he beat the surprised Peachy down to the goal in a walk! Anyway, we say "good for Peachy" for starting the fireworks so nicely.

The third quarter proved an even battle in midfield with Stephenson's splendid kicking keeping the goal out of danger. In the fourth quarter the Christians unleashed a furious march that brought them to the Indian one-foot line with a down to go. The Indian line held like a stone wall, hurling back charge after charge and forced the Oklahomans to give the ball up on downs within less than a foot of the goal. A minute later the Indians drew a good chance to score another time but the game ended before the score could be attained. Captain Steve sent one of his boots in perfect execution far down the field to the Cordell goal. The ball eluded the Cordell safety and an alert Wichitan scrambled onto it. The closing whistle kept the score from being more overwhelming than it was.

The return trip was a trial, taking all kinds of patience and pluck in the mud and roughness. Ricks, bulky Indian guard, Tuesday was displaying a crop of three blisters in his hand received from riding the pitching gas-horse on the trip there. Stories of bodily lifting cars out of ditches, a broken down Buick that had to be left on the way, and a ride into Cordell with seven men in one car and nine in another—these were some of the yarns that punctuated yesterday's lobby conversations at the college.

Friday the tribe will journey to Cisco to test its mettle against Randolph College of Cisco, another interesting assignment for Ludgate's lads.

Tough Opposition

CISCO, Oct. 5.—The Randolph College Badgers, with an unblemished record thus far, are preparing for their hardest game of the season when they meet the Wichita Falls Junior college eleven on the Cisco gridiron Friday afternoon.

Such stars as Ernie Wilson, former halfback at Texas Tech; Blinn, former Howard Payne halfback; "Sheriff" Miller, former center at Texas Tech; Cecil Couch, all-state high school guard two seasons ago, and Buster Mitchell, rated as a great triple threat performer, are in the Randolph lineup.

The Badgers opened the season against Sul Ross. The score was 0-0, Sul Ross failing to make a single first down while Randolph made nine. The second game was a 9-0 victory last week over Weatherford college, only one first down being made by Weatherford as compared to eight by Randolph.

Two Injured In Steer Contests

Bulldoggers Receive Rough Treatment in Rodeo Show

Marred by two accidents, one in which Bill Williams of Wichita Falls was knocked cold when he was thrown from a steer and landed on his head, the other when Claire Belcher of the 101 Ranch was thrown over the head of a steer she was attempting to bulldog, and was badly bruised and dazed, Foghorn Clancey's rodeo was staged Tuesday afternoon at the Texas-Oklahoma fair as scheduled.

Red Thompson of Comanche and Guy Dodgion of Roscoe featured the performance with a tie for first place in the steer bulldogging contest in the remarkable fast time of 8.8 seconds. Rube Roberts came third in 15.8 seconds.

Ike Myers won first prize in the calf roping contest by snaring, throwing and tying his animal in 17 seconds. Louis Jones was second with 19 seconds and Lee Robinson third, with 24.6 seconds.

Fancy roping exhibits were given by nine of the rodeo contestants, but the feature stunts were performed by two youngsters, Mazie and R. D. Blatherwick of Fort Worth. In the wild steer and broncho riding events the cowboys gave a thrilling exhibition of riding. Bill Williams drew an outlaw horse for a mount in the bronc riding event and did a very creditable job. Claire Belcher and Fox Hastings also showed their ability to ride bucking horses.

Preceding the rodeo and exhibition polo game between a local team and a team composed of cowboys was played.

Frogs Crippled For Bear Game

Christians to Meet Ancient Baylor Foe In Season Opener

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5. (AP)—Fearfully crippled the Texas Christian University Horned Frog eleven is throwing itself into training for the Baylor game at Fair Park, Dallas, just a week off. Apparently, the tilt that really opens the Southwest conference season is the same one that furnished football's biggest thrill last year when the purple and the green sloshed to a 7 to 7 tie after the Bears were thought to have an easy mark.

Practically all of that titanic struggle was played within the shadow of Baylor's goal posts and only the break of a blocked punt saved the Bears from defeat. Pouring rain and ankle deep mud added to the desperate nature of the conflict.

"Rags" Matthews and "Bear" Wolf, two of the strongest links in the Frog chain, are temporarily out of the battle and unless they respond rapidly to treatment will be unable to take their places in the line-up. Herman Clark, however, showed in the Centenary game that the apprehensions about his ability to play this season were groundless.

Blackie Williams, too, has proved an unexpected giant with a boot that promises to replace to a large extent that of the missing Washmon, laid up with a stomach ulcer.

Although far from "confident" the Frogs are equally far from downhearted. They promise to provide their half of a royal battle.

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

His baseball work for the year finished Alex. Metzler, youthful outfield star sold the Philadelphia Athletes this season by the Spudders, is cooling his dogs in Wichita Falls awaiting Bob Osborn, the Chicago Cub flinger purchased from Wichita Falls at the close of the 1925 season.

Alex, and Bob plan a large hunting trip in south Texas just as soon as Robert ties himself this way from the Chicago intra-city series. Meanwhile, Metzler devotes a goodly portion of his time to tinkering over his Ford he left in storage here while he pastimed the closing weeks of the major season with the A's.

Metzler, just as actuasiastic and peppery as ever, admits in a more or less modest way he believes he'll stick under te big tent. His hitting with the Macks stood up pretty well and he fielded the outer garden even better than he ever did while roaming in the Spudder center field. Evidently, entrance to the majors instead of causing nervousness, as is the case with many young stars, inspired him to further heights and steadied him down far more than when facing the left-handers, Gus Johns and Slim Love in Texas.

There never have been many more popular ball players to don the Spud monkey suit than Metzler. Osborn was just as popular. Bob looks like he's going to tag right along with the Cubs.

Art Weis, former Spudder flash in the port pasture and at that time Texas league leading bludgeonen has a new mark with Los Angeles club. At last reports Weis had played 136 consecutive games errorless.

The large and the small of it at Wichita Falls Junior college this year appears to be the Huge Hughie Ricks, giant linesman, and the midget halfback Keller. Some of the boys laughed at Ricks' surplus fat at the beginning of training. And perhaps they had a giggle or two coming, for Ricks at the time was almost as wide as he is long. The big boy became irritated at the taunts, buckled his brows and declared: "I'll show 'em who's fat!"

Now Ricks is developing into an exceptionally speedy athlete, considering all his avoirdupois and is proving a veritable rock bulwark in the front line defense.

Keller, one of the smallest players on the squad, was the outstanding defensive figure in the Cordell game Saturday and with each day's practice is improving rapidly.

Wymore Downing, Coyote letter man, and R. J. Brown, both comparatively husky fellows and real fighters, are waging a merry battle for one of the guard positions. Both are efficient linesmen and at the moment it's difficult to choose between the two.

2 to 1 On Cards

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.(AP)—Following the Cardinals' victory over the Yankees in the third game of the series today, St. Louis was installed as favorite for the world championship by two to one in odds quoted by Wall street wagering firms.

The National league club was an 11 to 10 choice to win the fourth contest tomorrow with many backers of the Yankees holding out for 13 to 10.

A freak wager of 11 to 5 was placed that the St. Louis club does not win the next two consecutive games.

Wichita Falls-Vernon Tilt Scheduled For Lion Field

The Wichita Falls-Vernon football game of this season, location of which has been in doubt the past several weeks, will be played in Vernon November 9, it was announced yesterday. Vernon high school officials had the privilege of selecting the place.

Local officials had some hope that Vernon, although she was due the game over there since the last game was played here, would give Wichita Falls the date on the strength of the fact that this year Vernon will have all of her league games at home and next year will have to go without any at home. The demand of the Lions for the game there will force the Coyotes to go this year with no league game at home and will throw all league games here next year. A distribution was hoped for by local officials.

Coyote Stock Rises.

Coyote stock as the week advances is rising steadily from the standpoint of physical fitness for battle, for the bunch of cripples that for the past two weeks have adorned the camp of the Pack are rapidly rounding back into form. Francis, Lynch and Pinney, the three men most missed from the line-up, are getting along better and will possibly be ready to go by this week-end. Mills is still bothered by an uncertain knee injury. The running attack of the Pack will be decidedly strengthened if the fleet footed Lynch can get back into the line-up.

Three Ineligible.

Prospects for the Decatur game Saturday were given a slight setback Tuesday when the ineligible list of the first grade report was announced. Dickey, quarterback, Mitchell, halfback, and Sisk, end, were found to be failing in more subjects than the law allows, according to interscholastic regulations, and will be missed from the line-up Saturday. The loss of Sisk will be felt most on account of the scarcity of reliable and experienced wingmen in Mac's outfit.

EL JARDIN TO GET PECANS

Clark To Plant Four Trees On Grounds of Home Beautiful

Four pecan trees, one of the Schley, one of the Success and two of the Mahan varieties, will be planted today on the grounds of The Record News Garden of Dreams by Mora C. Clark, owner of the Pecan-Fruit orchards northeast of the city. The pecans have ben selected because of their natural beauty, their hardiness, longevity and shade advantages as well as for their producing abilities.

The Mahan variety, Mr. Clark explains, is a rather recent discovery and of late has been astounding the horticulture world. The orginal Mahan parent tree is owned by one nursery and is located at Kascinsko, Miss. It was sold to the present owner for $5,000, which is admittedly the highest price ever paid for a pecan tree. It produces nuts as large as 2 3-4 inches in length and 2 1-8 inches in circumference. It is of paper shell variety and the meat is of the finest quality. In the world-wide pecan contest held at College Station in 1924 the Mehan was adjudged the finest pecan in the world. The Schley won this distinction in the 1921 contest.

JERSEY PRIZE AWARDS MADE

Winners in Dairy Division At T-O Fair Are Named By Judges

Premiums have been awarded to the winners of the seven purebred Jersey herds on exhibit in the livestock building at the Texas-Oklahoma fair where it is said by many interested in the show that the Jersey display in Wichita Falls is the largest that would be held in Texas this year. This was the opinion also expressed by George D. Keith, director of the livestock show.

The exhibitors in the Jersey classes are:

Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm, Kingsville, Texas; Mistletoe farm, Fort Worth, Texas; Ed C. Lasater, Falfurrias, Texas; Orvill Bullington, Wichita Falls, Texas; Fate Pruitt, Wichita Falls, Texas; Miss Sarah Kleberg and Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg Jr., Kingsville, Texas.

Awards by Classes.

Awards by classes and the owners follow: Bull four years old or over: First, Mistletoe farms on Combination's Steady Lad; second and third, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on Worthy Light's Hesdor and Sid's Prince; fourth, Fate Pruitt on Bummer's Sultan Pogis.

Bull three years old and under four: Only one entry in this class; Elite's Falfurrias Majestic shown by Ed C. Lasater. This animal afterward won the senior grand championship.

Bull two years old and under three: First, Alden's Noble Reminder, Ed C. Lasater; second, Mistletoe farms, Jolly Sultan of Ridgetop; third, Orville Bullington's Bright's Premier Fancier.

Senior yearling bull: First, Mistletoe farms on Mistletoe's Noble Ruler; second, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on Victory Supremacy.

Junior yearling bull: First and second, Ed C. Lasater on Grove Bell's Prince and Oxford Alden's Majestic of Falfurrias; third, Santa Gertrudis on Combination Del Cid; fourth, Orville Bullington on You'll Do's Lad.

Senior bull calf: First, Miss Sarah Kleberg on Combination's Savata Cid; second and third, Mistletoe farms on Mistletoe's Ruby Noble and Mistletoe Lad's Combination; fourth, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on Cid's Sulton Hermoso; fifth, Fate Pruitt on Pruitt's Sulton Pogis.

Junior bull calf: First, Santa Gertrudis on You'll Do Jolly's Premier; second, Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg Jr., on Imported Combination Sulton; third and fifth, Ed C. Lasater on tattoo numbers 6061 and 6064; fourth, Mistletoe farms on Mistletoe Lad's Boy.

Bull championship: Junior champion bull. This award went to Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on You'll Do Jolly's Premier. E. C. Lasater's Elite's Falfurrias Majestic was senior and grand champion.

Cow four years old and over: Carnation's Sybil, owned by Ed C. Lasater; second, Mistletoe farm's Viola's Lilymouth Virginia; third, Ed C. Lasater on Treble Lad's Fleurette; fourth and fifth, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on Gala Rolls's Viola and Imported Combination Kitty.

Cow three years old and under four: First, Santa Gertrudis on Fashionable Dairy Maid; second, Ed C. Lasater on Mayblossom Feed Pet. Just two in the class.

Heifers two years old and under three: First and fourth, Santa Gertrudis You'll Do's Golden Magdalene and You'll Do's Handsome Josie; second and third, Ed C. Lasater on You'll Do's Golden Lily and Village Reminder Lauretta of Falfurrias; fourth, Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg Jr. on Sybil's Pretty Mary.

Senior yearling heifer: First, Ed C. Lasater on Great Scott's Toper on Falfurrias; second, Miss Sarah Kleberg on Victors Graceful Lady; third, Mistletoe Farms's Fern's Noble Jewel; fourth and fifth, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on Victor Gilberta of Lehigh and You'll Do's Victor Coquette.

Junior yearling heifer: First, E. C. Lasater on Royal Major's Champion of Falfurrias; second and third Mistletoe farms on Mistletoe Cid's Rochette and Mistleton Cid's Fancy; fourth, Santa Gertrudis on Chippewa's Bright Eyes.

Senior Heifer calves: First, Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg Jr., on Premier's Oxford Mariposa; second, Mistletoe farm on Mistletoe's Champion Agatha; third, Ed C. Lasater on calf applied for registry; fourth and fifth, Santa Gertrudis on You'll Do's Noble Kitty and Fannie's You'll Do's Premier.

Junior heifer calf: First Ed C. Lasater; second and third: Mistletoe farms on Mistletoe Lad's Fern and Mistletoe Lad's Nellie.

Female champions: Ed C. Lasater won junior championship on Great Scott's Topsy, the senior championship on Carnation's Sybil, who was also the grand champion female of the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

Graded herds: First, Ed C. Lasater; second, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm.

Yearling herd: First, Ed C. Lasater; second, Mistletoe farms; third, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm.

Calf herd: First, Santa Gertrudis; second, Ed C. Lasater; third, Mistletoe farms.

Get of sire: First, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on the get of Combination's Premier; second, Ed C. Lasater on the get of Great Scott's Noble; Mistletoe farms on the get of Combination's Pretty Lad.

Produce of cow: First and third, Mistletoe farms on the produce of Fern's Golden Rochette and Oxford's Lillie B; Second Ed C. Lasater on the produce of Sweet Simona; fourth, Santa Gertrudis Jersey farm on the produce of Joslo's Gilberta's Daughter.

The best Jersey bull calf born and raised in Wichita county or adjoining counties winning the chamber of commerce silver cup awarded by the civic organizations was Orville Bullington's Quadruple You'll Do. It was announced yesterday by Mr. Keith.

Mrs. Tucker's Booth Has Demonstrations

In the merchant's building at the Texas-Oklahoma fair is a booth for Mrs. Tucker's shortening, giving a demonstration from the cottonseed from which the shortening is made to the finished product. In a glass case, the demonstration shows an elevated basket of cotton seed. Through a process the oil is extracted from the seeds and a quantity of oil runs down into a fifty gallon bucket below, and the firm white piles of pure cottonseed shortening billow up and down in the big vessel.

The demonstration is electrically operated, but shows the wholesome purity of the product.

Laboratory evidence has been compared and it is found that pure, choice, cottonseed oil unblended with any other oil or fat has triumphed. Mrs. Tucker's shortening is found to be one of the finest, whitest, smoothest, purest and most wholesome shortening that is odorless, tasteless, sweet, fresh and creamy under all conditions, shortening that is chemically the finest that can be produced.

Mrs. Tucker's shortening is made at Sherman, Texas, by the Interstate Cotton Oil company.

REPORT FIRES QUICK

Promptness Will Save Losses, Says Fire Chief.

Promptness in turning in a fire alarm may save many lives and save millions of dollars worth of property, so said Fire Chief J. L. McClure yesterday. "What I want to stress above all is that the duty of everybody to summon the fire department when there is even the faintest doubt that the fire may pass out of their control.

"Wichita Falls is not the only place where delayed alarms give trouble to the fire fighters. Hundreds of lives and millions of dollars have been paid by waiting too long."

Chief McClure urged men, women and children who are old enough to go to school to acquaint themselves with the knowledge of fire hydrants and to follow the directions on the box.

Scraps NewS

The small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morgan of Collins avenue is reported ill of pneumonia.

Mrs. T. D. McGaughey of Fort Worth arrived here Tuesday afternoon to visit in the home of her son, Rev. E. F. McGaughey.

J. A. Gardner has gone to Rochester, Minn., where he will go through the Mayo Brothers Clinics.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Martin are in Clarinda, Iowa, where they are visiting relatives.

Dr. E. L. Spurlock of Sherman was in Wichita Falls Tuesday working in the interest of Kidd-Key college with which institution he is connected.

Mrs. Roy Wilson, who underwent an operation at the Clinic hospital Monday morning, is reported resting nicely.

Albert Duff of Hollywood, Cal., who has been visiting his sister Mrs. C. W. Snider and also made a business trip to South Texas, has gone to Horton, Kansas, accompanied by Mrs. Snider, where they will visit their father.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Thomas have gone to Oklahoma City where they will be with their son Bowman, who is a student in school there and has recently underwent an operation.

Mrs. A. W. West is visiting relatives in Cincinnati, Ohio, for two weeks.

Mrs. Mark Moore who has spent several months touring Europe, and Mrs. C. C. Bunnenberg who has spent several months in Germany, arrived home Tuesday afternoon.

Wichita delegates to the Texas Shrine council meeting have returned from Waco. They were Al Ellis, Guy Rogers, W. H. Caldwell, F. B. Jackson, Jr., and Ed Peterson.

John Burns, of Dallas, secretary of the Texas Hereford breeds association, was in Wichita Falls Tuesday to attend the judging of Hereford cattle exhibited at the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

Bill Redin, 2000 Filmore street, was reported improved Tuesday from injuries received to his hand and body when his car collided with another at Grant and Twenty-Seventh streets Monday. He is employed by the Bailey Printing company.

Henry Thomas Womack of Olney yearns to sail the high seas. Anyway he enrolled Monday at the United States navy recruiting station and has gone to Dallas for final examination. He will then report to Hampton Roads, Va., for training and assignment to a ship.

J. D. Drake, 1221 North Fourth street, injured Monday in a fall from a scaffold at the American refinery, was reported improved Tuesday.

Willie Lewis, employe of the Riley hotel, 1020 Scott avenue, struck by an automobile late Monday, was reported in serious condition Tuesday. He is under care at a local hospital.

E. L. Gilbow, police officer of Burkburnett, brought Claud Nelson, of that city to Wichita Falls yesterday and filed charges against him in county court for unlawfully carrying firearms.

Mrs. J. T. Dickey who suffered a fractured skull almost two weeks ago when she was struck by an automobile is reported improving at the Hargrave-Walker hospital where she is being treated.

Miss Faye Bradford whose back was broken ten days ago in an automobile accident on the Burkburnett highway is reported resting as well as could be expected at the Wichita Falls Clinic-Hospital.

Bar Association Conducts Dinner

"The American Bar association convention is unselfish in its interests. Their discussions are devoted to an advanced citizenship, a greater nation and a greater people," Judge W. E. Fitzgerald said in a talk before the Wichita County Bar association Tuesday at noon at the Wichita Club when he reported on his visit to the national convention at Denver, Colo.

He discussed the early history of the legal profession in Colorado and reviewed several cases of interest in that state.

A report of the Tri-State Bar association held at Texarkana was given by Judge William Bonner. He told the sixty attorneys present the advantages which came from the joint meetings, and spoke favorably of the program prepared through the co-operation of the three states.

Judge A. H. Carrington presided at the luncheon.

Mrs. G. B. Raymond Dies Tuesday A. M.

Mrs. George B. Raymond, 55, died of heart failure Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at the residence, 313 Lamar. She had been in ill health since last December when she suffered a nervous breakdown while conducting a music class of 42 pupils. She spent the summer in New York with her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Miller and appeared to be improved on her return here several weeks ago.

Funeral services have not been arranged pending word from Mrs. Miller.

Besides her husband, Mr. Raymond who is floormanager of Saul's store, and only child, Mrs. Miller, she is survived by two brothers and two sisters who live in New York state.

Mrs. Raymond is well known in musical circles here, and after coming here six years ago has made many friends through her musical education. She was trained at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

PASTOR TO PRESBYTERY

Rev. E. F. McGaughey Goes To Memphis Meeting

Rev. E. F. McGaughey, pastor of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church, left Tuesday for the state presbytery of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., at Memphis, Texas. Upon conclusion of the presbytery he will return to the Texas synod at Vernon, he said.

TOLL BRIDGE MAY BE SHUT

Burkburnett Bridge Company May Not Rebuild Damaged Spans

Burkburnett's toll bridge, several spans of which have been washed out by the flood raging in the Red river may not be reopened to traffic, at least not for some weeks to come, according to information obtained at the bridge Tuesday from guards there. Several hundred feet of the big wooden structure were washed out by the Red river flood during the last three days on the Oklahoma end of the bridge and in addition about 200 feet of the Oklahoma bank of the river has been washed away. A carload of piling and a tractor on the Oklahoma bank, placed there for repair work, was also washed into the river.

Officials of the bridge company who visited the scene of the damage were Tuesday quoted as being in doubt on the question of going to the expense of re-opening the structure. The bridge has already been sold to the state in a deal incident to the construction of the new concrete free bridge nearby on which work is now in progress.

As an incident to the flood which took out the wooden toll bridge at Burkburnett, concrete piling put in place in the bed of the river for the new concrete bridge was practically buried in the sand of the stream bed by the flood. Some delay in the bridge construction will be occasioned by the necessity of digging up this piling and resetting it, it was stated. Work on the bridge construction was Tuesday still in suspension because of the condition of the river, which was still a raging torrent several times its normal width.

Realty Convention Discussed In Detail At Tuesday Meet

Reflections on the recent convention of Texas Real Estate Boards were given by local realtors in the weekly meeting of the Wichita Falls Real Estate Board Tuesday in the luncheon meeting at the Kemp with the president, A. L. Huey, presiding.

Favorable comment was made by real estate men and women that Wichita Falls had furnished the president-elect and the secretary-treasurer of the state board, W. S. Curlee, and P. S. Richardson, respectively.

That the convention was a success was the opinion expressed by the realtors, especially from the financial, interest and program standpoints, and a number of the speakers said they expected to attend other state conventions in the future.

Those making brief addresses included Mrs. M. M. Adickes, Mr. Huey, Paul Coiner, Alva Willgus and Mrs. P. A. Welty.

Mr. Curlee, general chairman of arrangements for the state convention made a short report of the financial standing of the board and expressed appreciation to those who had helped make the convention a success.

He urged the local board to cooperate with him and Mr. Richardson in their term of office of the state association.

"To achieve any success it is necessary to specialize, and it is as important to specialize in the real estate business as in any other," Mr. Richardson said. "The big goal we have in mind is to pass the license law," he said in speaking of the state organization.

The secretary, A. W. King, was instructed to write letters of appreciation to the local citizens and institutions that assisted in making a success of the convention of the Texas Association of Real Estate Boards.

ELECTRA, Oct. 6.—Its piling buffeted and battered by the raging flood of water that has been pouring against it for four days, the Electra bridge across Red river was still holding out tonight while the rampaging stream was slowly receding from its highest crest. Automobiles were still barred from the structure which at one point in the middle of the river is weak, although pedestrians have been allowed to cross at their own risk since Sunday.

It may be several days before repairs are made sufficiently to allow automobile traffic.

Two truck loads of produce arrived in Electra this afternoon from Chickasha, Okla., after making a detour of approximately 100 miles by way of the Byers bridge.

Iowa Park Invades City With Parade Series Statistics

With fifty automobiles in procession behind a decorated float bearing Miss Jewell Thompson, "Duchess of Iowa Park" in the court of the Texas-Oklahoma fair queen, and Misses Able Mills and Maurine Apple, her attendants, several hundred residents of Iowa Park passed through the Wichita Falls business district Tuesday morning. They were on their way to the Texas-Oklahoma fair grounds where Iowa Park day was being observed.

The float bearing the Iowa Park "duchess" and her attendants was loaded with products from Iowa Park gardens and farms, including a bale of fine staple cotton from the 1926 crop.

In addition to the Iowa Park delegation, more than 100 visitors from the Electra community visited the fair grounds, coming by automobile caravan.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads —Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calonite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.—Adv.

"Texhoma" Passes Into Limbus Of Discarded Things As Continental Oil Co. Of Texas Is Substituted

"Conoco" Trade Mark to Stretch from Gulf to Northwest as Result of Change; State Headquarters of the Company Will Remain in Wichita Falls.

One of the time-honored names that has held a fore-front rank in Wichita Falls' business and industry passed into the limbus of discarded things Tuesday when the Texhoma Oil and Refining company ceased to exist as such and became the Continental Oil company of Texas.

Announcement of the change in name was made by Earl Eddleman, vice president and general manager of the Texhoma who continues that post with the Continental. The change in name was approved Tuesday at Austin by the secretary of state.

Early this year when a controlling interest in Texhoma was disposed of by the Wichita Falls men who founded and built up the organization to one of the largest independent oil companies in the state, it was announced by the Continental Oil company of Denver, the purchasing concern, that no immediate changes would be forthcoming. It was proposed, however, to vigorously push Texhoma development and extend its sales outlets throughout the state.

This is being done and the Continental Oil company of Texas will be enlarged as rapidly as possible until it embraces all Texas. It will remain a Texas corporation with headquarters in Wichita Falls, as will the Continental Pipe Line company, a subsidiary which was formerly the Texhoma Pipe Line company.

Increased office space will soon be required and will be taken in the new Medical Arts building, now under construction. Two full floors have already been leased and options are held on five or six others.

The "Conoco" trade mark, a familiar sight already in New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and other western states, will now stretch from the gulf to the Pacific northwest as a result of the change in name of Texhoma and the expansion policy that has been launched.

ROAD PROJECT MEETS FAVOR

$6,000 Subscribed To Build Fish Hatchery Link Of Highway

The highway committee of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce held an executive session at the chamber of commerce rooms yesterday and discussed plans to be submitted to the general meeting of the board of directors Thursday.

It is planned to build about a mile of graveled road and a bridge to give access to the new fish hatchery and park at the Diversion lake, and this road will connect with an extension of the Seymour road. All the highway for the road has been subscribed and to date a total of $6,000 has been raised toward building a bridge and graveling the road. It is estimated that $7,500 will be needed for the improvements.

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce will go into the matter at their meeting tomorrow, and will probably settle on a definite plan of procedure, as well as to authorize the letting of the contract for building the bridge.

Knights of Pythias Organize Band For Next Convention

The Knights of Pythias are organizing a large band to be known as the Wichita County Pythian band, and will hold their first rehearsal at the court house Sunday afternoon, October 10, at 2 o'clock.

The band will be composed of members from over the entire county, and the local committee, composed of J. D. Johnson of Ripley-Jones, chairman; W. H. Bailey of P. B. M. company and E. H. Michelm of Stone Printing company report that they have received word from Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Electra that they are each sending a large delegation for the first rehearsal. Indications are that with 1?? delegations from the other cities, included with the Wichita Falls members, this will turn out to be one of the largest bands in the state.

The band committee in charge of organizing the band is working feverishly to get going, as they are determined to have a first class band to furnish music for the grand lodge meeting which will be held here next spring. They have engage the services of Bandmaster Paul Seeds to make them into a musical organization for this occasion.

Mr. Seeds was a member of the prize winning D. O. K. K. band at the imperial palace meeting held at Chattanooga, Tenn., and is at present instructing Wichita Falls Electric company's all saxophone band and the Lion's club boys band which were recently organized.

RANDALL WINS COUNTY AWARD

$300 Prize Paid for Best Agricultural Exhibit By One County

A total of 903 points was given Randall county in its exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, and by virtue of having the greatest number by two points was awarded the $300 cash offered for the first place in agricultural exhibits. Dallam county was second with 901 points and received the ward of $250, and the third place went to Wheeler county which made a score of 820 points and gets the cash prize of $200.

Other counties winning places are: Collingsworth, fourth; with a percentage of 807; Bailey fifth with 807, and Wilbarger county sixth, with a total of 677 points. Fourth and fifth place awards were $150 and sixth place $100.

Guy R. Jones, superintendent of the agricultural building and M. B. Oates, superintendent of the county exhibit department, both expressed the opinion that the exhibits this year are the best ever shown here in local competition.

Correct weight can be yours

be shapely!

"I DO NOT want to be thin! I just want to be my right weight! I want these hollows filled out. I just want enough firm, plump flesh on my bones to fill out my figure."

Of course you do. You want a figure that you can drape your clothes on—not just hang them on! What's the use of having pretty clothes, if they just hang on you?

And what would you say if you were told you could have the figure you want? A graceful, well rounded body—firm, solid flesh—just enough—just your right weight? You'd be mighty happy, wouldn't you?

Well, then, be happy—because you can have it! Put plenty of red cells in your blood and watch your weight go up to where you want it! That's what's the matter with you! Your blood is impoverished. You need more rich, red blood. S. S. S. is the thing to put red blood in your system. S. S. S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells by the millions.

You just try S. S. S. and watch how quickly you begin to fill out your clothes. Notice your skin clear of unsightly blemishes—your appetite increase—strength come to flabby muscles and vim and vigor fill your whole system. It's red blood that does it. And S. S. S. surely helps Nature build that red blood. S. S. S. is sold by all drug stores. The larger bottle is more economical.

FIRE DESTROYS SHAW'S HOME

Residence at 1104 Holliday Burns Down; Cause Of Fire Unknown

Fire of undetermined origin practically destroyed the residence of E. W. Shaw at 1104 Holliday yesterday about noon. The central fire station responded to an alarm which was reported late in being sent, and by the time the fire truck arrived the residence was a mass of flames. Very little of the furniture was saved from the flames, only a few pieces being carried out before the fire spread throughout the building.

The cause of the fire is unknown but firemen stated that the flames started on the outside of the building. The exact amount of damage has not been stated.

WICHITA RIVER UP

Much Silt Is Washed Down By Flood Waters

The Wichita river here was several feet above normal here Tuesday as a result of rains on the upper water shed but no serious rise was being anticipated by river observers. Considerable silt was being carried down by the increased flow of water.

Magnificent Specimens Pecan Trees At The Fair

Four years ago, preparations were begun for today.

Sample spesimens of the product of this long continued and scientific effort are on exhibit in the agricultural building at the fair.

Above them is displayed the legend:

"A Fortune in a Nut-Shell"

Upon such vigorous, husky young giants as these, and upon no others, will the man of sound judgment and wise forethought depend for HIS fortune in a nut-shell.

A service, most unusual and extraordinary is rendered those who demand and will have nothing but the best. They have a "friend at court," an expert of life-time training, armed, not with a little transient favoritism, but with an ironclad contract permitting entrance into one of the world's largest and finest pecan nurseries, to select therefrom the very choicest of its choice trees and discard all others. This privileged service has been bought and paid for at a high price. It is not available to those who are looking for "cheap" or medium quality trees.

It is offered with pride and a sense of keen satisfaction to those men and women of vision who are about to convert the great Wichita Valley into the most wonderful pecan grove in the world.

Each and every thoroughbred, paper-shell pecan tree has a potential value of $1,000—Should some day pay a handsome dividend on this valuation—especially if wise discrimination has been employed in its selection.
