FDR Moves To Draft Strikers Into Army

Raising Of Age To 65 Is Asked

Anti-Strike Bill Veto Said Likely

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 23 — President Roosevelt, describing actions of the United Mine Workers leadership as "intolerable," served notice today he will ask Congress for a powerful weapon to use in event of another coal strike—the authority to draft men up to age 65 for non-combat military service.

The chief executive's statement was interpreted as meaning he probably would veto the anti-strike bill Congress has passed. This measure would permit fine and imprisonment of any person instigating or aiding a strike in a government-operated war facility.

Setting Draft Machinery

Mr. Roosevelt said that before John L. Lewis, the UMW president and the union's policy committee issued their back to work order last night to striking miners, "the government had taken steps to set up machinery for inducting into the armed services all miners subject to the selective service act who absented themselves without just cause from work in the mines under government operation."

He added in a statement:

"As the selective service act does not authorize the induction of men above 45 years into the armed services, I intend to request the Congress to raise the age limit for non-combat military service to 65 years. I shall make that request of the Congress so that if at any time in the future there should be a threat of interruption of work in plants, mines or establishments owned by the government, or taken possession of by the government, the machinery will be available for prompt action."

May Dig Army Coal

Some members of Congress interpreted this as meaning strikers might be put into uniform and, under Army discipline, sent back to their regular jobs with a private's pay of $50 a month.

Rep. Smith (D-Va), co-author of the anti-strike legislation, took issue with the principle behind the President's proposal.

"Membership in the armed forces is a position of honor and distinction," Smith said.

"To use it as punishment for

Critical Shortage Of Oil Is Feared

Increased Price Is Urged By Thompson

AUSTIN, June 23. (AP)—There will be a critical shortage of war-needed oil in 1944 and 1945 unless the price is stepped up to encourage wildcatting, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson will tell the petroleum sub-committee of the House Naval Affairs committee at Dallas tomorrow.

Thompson today released a statement which he will file with the committee. He will be en route to Pittsburgh tomorrow to attend a meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, and will be unable to attend the committee sessions.

Demands Only Started

"Our war demands have only just begun," Thompson said in his statement. "It seems only prudent to prepare for increased demand. We have drawn on our stored oil many millions of barrels and our ability to produce from our known wells is greatly decreasing day by day. State after state can not now make its quota in production.

"All this can be remedied by prompt action in bringing the price up to a proper figure. Let's not be caught short on oil when the remedy is at hand."

Explainnig that oil has held at the average price of $1.20 a barrel for the past five years, the commissioner said that the current price should promptly be allowed to increase "certainly on a par with the cost increase incident to business of discovering and producing oil."

"During these five years, the costs of drilling and producing

Declaring Rome An Open City Is Urged

LONDON, June 23. (AP) — An RAF commentator made clear today that Rome could be removed definitely and permanently from under the threat of Allied bombing only if it were made an open city and the United Nations were convinced it was not participating in the Axis war effort.

The commentator, who would not permit the use of his name, emphasized that this did not mean a decision had been reached to bomb the Italian capital.

He reminded a press conference, however, of Prime Minister Churchill's past declaration that Rome could not consider itself exempt from bombing if such attack were deemed necessary to the Allied war effort.

Jap Cruiser Hit In Celebes Raid

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Thursday, June 24 (AP)—In what was believed to be the second longest raid of the entire war for land-based bombers, a heavy force of Liberators smashed at Macassar, Dutch Celebes, for the first time yesterday, heavily damaging a Japanese cruiser.

The bombers, manned by Americans, flew 2,000 miles to carry out a devastating attack. It was the largest force of bombers to be sent against Celebes.

They carried over 38 tons of incendiaries and high explosives, among them 2,000-pounders.

The cruiser was moored to the dock. It was enveloped in smoke from direct hits, possibly by the 2,000-pound bombs.

A cargo ship in the harbor also was hit.

One Liberator Lost

One of the Liberators was seen to crash along with a single Japanese fighter, the only one to attempt interception.

A spokesman for General Douglas MacArthur said:

"According to our records this is the longest raid of the war from lanb-based bombers, exceeded only by a Liberator raid from Hawaii to Wake which was 400 miles farther."

In yesterday's raid, the Liberators flew through intense anti-aircraft fire which the Japanese put up to defend this largest port in this group of islands.

The warship and six other merchantmen in the harbor also put up a heavy concentration of fire.

The single enemy fighter was seen to crash—whether deliberately or not — into the wing of the Liberator which was lost.

Connally Urges Bill's Approval

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Tex), co-author of the anti-strike bill now at the White House for presidential signature, urged President Roosevelt today to approve the legislation and warned that failure to do so would "vastly stimulate and encourage strikes.

The Texan's views were contained in a telegram to the President, which the senator made public.

The text of the telegram:

"The temporary suspension of the coal strike in no way lessens the urgent necessity and the grave importance of your approval of the labor relations bill now on your desk.

"It passed the Senate by a vote of 2 1-2 to 1 and the House by an overwhelming majority. From public polls and other sources it appears that more than 80 per cent of the people of the United States favor the bill.

"Unless the bill becomes a law strikes in war industries such as aircraft and rubber plants and possibly others will be vastly stimulated and encouraged. The bill is not anti-labor. The objection urged against sections 8 and 9 are not substantial and are heavily outweighed by the vitally necessary other sections of the bill.

Will Stimulate Strikes

"In the interest of the national unity, for the sake of all-out continued production of implements of war and munitions and in behalf of the highest national welfare I beseech you to approve the bill. I feel that I am voicing the sentiment of an overwhelming majority of both houses of Congress who are directly responsible to the people and by their votes have undertaken to express the people's will."

Section 8 to which Connally referred provided for a secret ballot before a strike is called, and section 9 prohibits corporations or labor unions from making contributions to political campaigns.

The June stamps, K, L and M will remain valid through July 7. Thus, for seven days, six blue stamps will be valid.

OPA, in announcing that the July stamps would remain valid through August 7, said that similar caryover periods would be provided for subsequent months.

In continuing the overlap of one week, OPA said it made shopping more convenient, particularly for persons living in remote sections.

Red stamps J, K, L, M, and N, used for the purchase of meats, fats, oils and cheeses, expire next Wednesday, and OPA urged housewives to "spread out their purchases to avoid last minute rushes at retail stores. Validity dates of red stamps to be used during July will be announced soon.

Early Showdown On Whole Issue Of Food Control Seen

Plans For Czar Near House Action; Half Billion Subsidy Ceiling Asked In Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 23. — Both houses of Congress worked today toward a showdown on the whole issue of wartime food control, with special emphasis on subsidies for price rollbacks.

Most sweping proposal under consideration was one before the House Agriculture committee, which would vest full control of all food matters—production, transportation, distribution, pricing, and rationing, in one food czar, against the expressed opposition of the administration. President Roosevelt last week turned down such proposals from two bi-partisan congressional delegations.

Early House Action

Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) predicted after today's committee session that the bill would be reported out tomorrow for House action.

The Senate, meanwhile, labored over a long series of proposals to put more or less drastic limits on government spending in support of proposed rollbacks in consumer prices.

Immediately before the Senate was its banking committee recommendation of a $500,000,000 ceiling on the amount the government might put into subsidies on food through the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The committee set that figure in a two-hour session behind closed doors this morning, revising an amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) which would have set the limit at $250,000,000.

Other anti-subsidy proposals in the Senate were more drastic. They included a requirement for congressional approval of any subsidy to be paid, and a flat prohibition against use of any government money at all to cut back prices on farm products.

Had Asked For Billion

Administration forces in the banking committee sought to increase the allowance to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for financing of subsidies to $1,000,000,000 a year. Acting Chairman Bankhead (D-Ala) offered the half-billion dollar compromise and it won on a voice vote, though he said there was some objection from members.

Cost of the rollbacks already ordered for meat, butter and coffee has been estimated at $450,000,000, so the committee's allowance would leave only $50,000,000 for all other food price subsidies. The administration has indicated a cost of $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 for rollbacks in addition to the meat, butter and coffee programs.

Ruhr Virtually Military Zone

Nazis And Italians Show Much Concern

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERN, Switzerland, June 23—The Germans have made the Ruhr valley virtually a military zone as a result of the devastating raids by British and United States bombers which have been pounding the area in day and night attacks, newspaper reports indicated tonight.

The correspondent of the Neue Zuercher Zeitung wrote from Berlin that "the authorities are taking the air war with the utmost seriousness; of this there can be no doubt."

Two important effects of the bombings, the Nazi press made clear, was that newspapers were permitted to speak of the damage in superlative terms and decrees were issued to require further sharing of homes still intact.

Goebbels Makes Tour

The emphasis on the damage and danger from air raids was believed to stem from a tour of the devastated areas by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels.

The press, while acknowledging the difficulties in combatting the attacker, sought to assure the people that new weapons shortly would offset the danger.

But a Berlin dispatch to the Basler National Zeitung said "it is a question whether a new defense weapon is to be used against the Allied airforces."

Italian newspapers meanwhile wrote of the damage wrought by the Naples raids but said the death toll was low because "people fled into numerous holes, grottoes and taverns."

The German press generally began to acknowledge the attacks were "terror raids." One Berlin dispatch noted significantly that the air war "closely follows the areas of the Reich not themselves threatened, with the primary concern of the Allies apparently being the effect of the raids and secondly the effectiveness of Germany's defense."

Reactions In Italy

Italy too reflected a growing realization of the effectiveness of the Allied air arm.

Many Allied observers in Switzerland believed the Allied air offensive may be the "second front" for a considerable time. If that is the Allied intention, its effect has been demonstrated by acknowledgements of both Berlin

Curtin Ouster Beaten But Election Likely

CANBERRA, Australia, Thursday, June 24 (AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin's supporters today defeated by a 27-to-26 vote a non-confidence motion offered by former Prime Minister Arthur W. Fadden, opposition leader who charged the government with bungling food and manpower problems.

The vote averted an immediate election, but the consensus of opinion was that Curtin would seek an early dissolution of parliament to make way for another election. Two days of debate preceded the vote.

Larger Revenue Office Approved

Lubbock soon will have a division office of the U. S. Department of Internal Revenue, according to W. A. Thomas of Dallas, collector for the Northern District of Texas, who spent Wednesday in the city and completed arrangements for new and larger quarters.

Thomas said last night the division office, with an employable list of 10 persons, will have quarters on the second floor of the Lubbock National building. The field office, now operated with a personnel of seven men and one woman, will be moved from the second floor of the post office building about August 1.

Thomas paid Lubbock his first visit in more than four years. He was accompanied here by D. W. Lowry, jr., chief field deputy for his territory.

When present plans are carried through, service rendered taxpayers in the Lubbock territory will approximate that offered in the district headquarters in Dallas and will be identical with that offered by the Fort Worth division offices.

Giant Bombers Crush Steel Centers In Ruhr

RUHR BATTERED BY DAY AND NIGHT — Hammered by RAF heavyweights at night, and by U. S. precision smashes by day when strategic spots missed by the RAF are sought out, Germany's Ruhr valley, vital industrial area (shaded portion), must by now present a picture of desolation. Some portion of the area has been under Allied destruction for four consecutive days and nights.

Invasion Coast Areas Battered

Nazi Valley Takes Fearful Pounding

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, June 24.—Hundreds of giant RAF bombers crushed the Ruhr steel city of Muelheim in a moonlight attack Tuesday night, while twin-engined bombers pounded the invasion coast late yesterday to keep the Allied aerial offensive rolling at a mighty pace.

Coastal residents at Folkestone also cheered when a formation of Flying Fortresses roared back to their British bases yesterday after a cross-channel expedition which as yet has not been disclosed officially.

LULL NEARING END

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—The Berlin radio said tonight there were "increasing signs that the lull in the Mediterranean region shortly will come to an end," and that German military quarters were 'following developments there with great attention."

"Military quarters here," said the Berlin Transocean broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, "content themselves with the assurance that German troops naturally are standing shoulder to shoulder with the Italians in readiness to ward off an enemy attack."

35 Heavyweights Lost

The RAF's block-buster raiders smashed and burned targets at Muelheim despite desperate German resistance which took a toll of 35 British heavyweights.

Late yesterday British Bostons and Typhoons escorted by fighters attacked targets at Meaulte, St. Omer and Maupertus in France, destroying two enemy planes without loss to themselves.

The day attacks brought 48 consecutive hours of round-the-clock bombings.

Muelheim in the bomb-pocked German Ruhr was slammed by hundreds of RAF four-engined bombers last night, with bombs starting many fires that "soon joined together" and sent flames leaping hundreds of feet high, the air ministry announced. One pilot reported concentrated fires "for about two square miles."

The new fires started there brought from the German radio the statement that "what the population of those areas (the Ruhr) has had to endure lately is unbelievable for everyone who has not witnessed such a raid."

The Ruhr has taken a fearful

Troops Stationed In One Ford Plant

Move Said Taken Only For Security

DETROIT, June 23 (AP)—Federal troops were stationed in one division of the Ford Rouge plant here today, a company spokesman said, because of "certain disturbances which had occurred in the plant" and also to guard against the possibility of further disorders.

The troops were stationed in the plant where Pratt and Whitney aircraft engines are being assembled.

Brigadier General William E. Guthner, commanding Army troops brought here Monday night to halt bitter race rioting in which 29 were killed, said that only a platoon of troops were sent to the Rouge plant and "only for security."

There had been no outbreaks of violence, Gen. Guthner said, adding that the men were called as a result of a walkout of foremen, which it was feared might spread into a flare-up and bring a renewal of the rioting.

Prosecution Continues

Meantime, mass prosecution of 500 misdemeanor and felony cases proceeded as Gov. Harry F. Kelly and Mayor Edward J. Jeffries announced they planned to hunt out the "real inciters and assaulters" of Monday's bitter race rioting which took a toll of 29 dead and more than 700 injured.

As the first move to bring punishment to those guilty, Gov. Kelly named an investigating committee to determine as far as possible the underlying causes for the riots and to fix the blame on subversive elements if it belongs there.

The committee consists of State Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton; Oscar C. Olander, Michigan state police commissioner; Wayne County Prosecutor Wil-

Dies To Hold Riot Probes

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — Recent racial disturbances including the Detroit race riot which took more than a score of lives will be investigated by the Dies committee during public hearings starting next week, Chairman Dies (D-Tex) disclosed today.

Dies said the hearings, originally called to inquire into Japanese activities and the method of releasing Japanese from internment camps, would be broadened as a result of reports by committee investigators indicating that the Detroit rioting resulted from "combined operations" of foreign and domestic propaganda groups.

Jap Agents Blamed

The committee, he said, has evidence that Japanese agents working through established organizations, had promoted racial prejudice in the Detroit area presumably to interfere with war production and to break down home front morale.

Recent testimony given the committee by officials of the Ku Klux Klan, he added, disclosed that the KKK had enrolled many members in the Detroit area. Whether the committee would inquire further into the KK activities, Dies did not say.

Musso Shifts Aides As Morale Booster

LONDON, June 23. (AP) — The Rome radio announced tonight that Premier Mussolini had appointed new Fascist secretaries to several points in Italy, Socily and Sardinia in a shakeup presumably designed to bolster morale in areas being shaken by the sledge-hammer Allied aerial blows.

The Italian broadcasts, recorded by the Associated Press, listed 17 centers as receiving new secretaries. Among them are industrial areas and ports which have staggered under recent Allied air pounding.

Places in Italy named were Bologna, Aosta, Mantova, Reggio, Emilia, Parma, Grosseta, Terni, Udine and Ravenna. The others were Caltanisetta, Catania, Syracuse and Trapani in Sicily; Lubjana in former Yugoslavia; and Cagliari and Sessari in Sardinia.

Changes in the directorates of some Fascist syndicates and associations also were announced in the broadcast, but no reason was given.

Demonstration Puts Hyenas To Crying

DETROIT, June 23 (AP) — The Pleasant Ridge Office of Civilian defense wanted to make a demonstration of a tear gas attack as realistic as possible for its volunteer workers. So instead of having the workers don gas masks and walk through a gas-filled chamber, OCD officials released the gas Army-fashion in an open field.

A breeze carried clouds of gas into the nearby zoo. Immediately, zoo director John T. Millen was on the phone.

"For the first time in their lives," he bellowed, "my laughing hyenas are crying."

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 23.—Dealing heavy new blows to Mussolini's railroads—a major land lifeline in repelling invasion—RAF Wellingtons smashed marshalling yards at Salerno Monday night with two-ton blockbusters and Mosquito bombers from Malta spread havoc over railways in Italy and Sicily last night.

The Wellingtons, following up a Monday daylight raid by American Flying Fortress on rail targets in Salerno, made bullseye hits in the freight yards and barracks in the junction-town on the principal electric railway running from Naples to the toe of Italy.

Many Fires Started

Many fires were started in the yards, an Allied headquarters communique stated. All the attackers returned.

The speedy Mosquito bombers from Malta kept up the hail of damage last night. Marshalling yards at Sibari were bombed and gunned with cannon shells hitting an engine, trucks and station, and sidings at Licata and a factory at Trebisacre were bombed, a British communique announced.

Allied light bombers based in the Middle East attacked and sank some small enemy vessels off the Greek coast, a Cairo communique said, and all the Allied planes returned safely.

From North African bases, other Allied airmen flew out yesterday in patrols and reconnaissance preparing for new assaults, and headquarters announced that coastal airforce planes sank a medium-sized enemy vessel off the southeast coast of Sardinia Monday night and attacked barges.

Governors Condemn 'Any Strike Anywhere Affecting War', And Defend State Rights

COLUMBUS, O., June 23. (AP)—America's governors formally condemned today "any strike by any group anywhere in America as affecting essential industries for the duration of this war."

"Any such strikes or stoppages gravely threaten the security of our nation and endanger the cause for which we fight," said a resolution unanimously adopted by the 35th annual governors' conference.

"We deplore the fact that in too many instances affecting seriously the production of vital war equipment and material there have been strikes, stoppages and slowdowns of such production," the resolution further stated. "We disapprove and condemn any strike by any group anywhere in America as affecting essential industries for the duration of this war.

"We view with confidence and approval," it said, "the almost unanimous practice of submitting controversies and differences to the duly constituted agencies of arbitration and conciliation, and we urge that such agencies, state and federal, act promptly and fairly with respect to all such controversies so submitted."

The conference also stated that:

"No further concessions or encroachments on states' rights should be agreed to, except such as many clearly appear to be necessary to achieve victory."

Another approved resolution requested the federal government "to act immediately to the end that adequate supplies of corn and other feed, so essential to our war effort, are at once provided to livestock and poultry feeders, dairymen, and manufacturers of feed for livestock and poultry."

The conference said livestock and poultry interests are unable to buy adequate feed grain on the market.

The governors proposed that OPA restrictions "be removed or eased so that ration points will not prevent the transfer of home produced food among state and local agencies." They said that although public institutions are increasing production of fruits and vegetables to avoid purchasing these items on the open market. Some institutions can raise excess produce while others cannot raise enough.

The conference urged federal and state governments to continue and broaden cooperative efforts to provide adequate fire control programs in forest areas.

Question Raised On War's First Front

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press War Aanlyst

Moscow is reminding the western Allies once more of the imperative need for a second front in Europe this summer. This may be just a contribution to the war of nerves against the Axis; it is difficult to believe that Joseph Stalin is not well apprised of an American-British program which he finds satisfactory. However that may be the swing of the war raises the question whether the Russians are entitled to call their own titanic battlefield the first front.

GLENN BABB

For the moment at least, while the great Russian and German armies in the east remain inactive and the Allies are still in the softening up stage of their Mediterranean operations, the air over western Europe is the primary theater of the war. In spite of the absence of great land armies locked in battle, the assault of the RAF and American Air forces on the Ruhr and nearby industrial areas and Germany's countermeasures are drawing out more of the military resources of the two great alliances than any other phase of the war. This may not last long, but right now it is on the western front that the Axis is being bled and punished most.

Reason Hitler Idle In Russia

It is entirely possible that this is the primary reason that Hitler has not launched his widely expected 1943 offensive against Russia. It also probably accounts for reports from allied air leaders in the Mediterranean area that the Italians are having to take over an increasing share of the ineffective attemupts to shield the airbases, ports and industrial centers of Sicily, Sardinia and Southern Italy from the Allied air squadrons.

The steady succession of the attacks suggests that the full scale campaign promised for this summer by the chief of the British and American bomber commands, Air Chief Marshal Harris and Maj. Gen. Eaker, taking one city after another and continuing round and round the clock, is fully launched. The Ruhr is getting a punishment beyond anything this suffering world has seen up to this time. Monday night's RAF assault on Krefeld apparently surpassed anything that had gone before for concentrated devastation and the next night's attack on Muelheim was only a little less terrible.

Yanks Follow In Daylight

In both cases the American Flying Fortresses were seeking their daylight targets within a few hours of the British bombers' return. Already dozens of German cities have felt the scourge of total war on a scale beyond the worst that London experienced on any one night at the height of the blitz. The Ruhr alone has been attacked by the RAF at least 550 times.

This necessarily is calling forth one of the most determined defensive efforts of the war. Because of its destructive effects on both war production and civilian morale, the German command dares not skimp on the resources it throws into this battle. The evidence grows that the curve of German war output is declining. There are indications in plenty that the people of the bombed districts are badly shaken and that this has its repercussions throughout the Reich. If they were not shaken the German people would in fact be the supermen they claim to be.

Therefore the high toll of the fighter swarms that battle them for hundreds of miles across Europe. For both sides the cost is heavy but the objectives are among the most vital of the war.

Africa's Post-War Status Live Issue

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 23.—The capture of Italy's entire southern empire and the possibility that application of the Atlantic Charter might bring sweeping changes in the French empire are focussing increasing attention on the question of Africa's post-war future.

There have been no announcements or suggestions from official sources regarding the fate of the Italian colonies because of the insistence of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill that no territorial questions shall be determined before the end of the war.

Improving Seized Bases

Meanwhile, the British admiralty, as well as British land and air forces, are utilizing and improving former Italian bases for use against Italy.

The war already has demonstrated that the British bases of Gibraltar, Malta and Alexandria are insufficient under modern air conditions to guarantee transit along Britain's lifeline through Egypt to India, and the question of future trusteeship of such points as Tripoli, Benghazi and Derna is bound to be a major issue at the peace conference.

The same holds true regarding Bizeret and Tunis, where British Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, Allied naval commander in the Mediterranean, is at present firmly in command. Pantelleria, the Italian island midway between Tunisia and Sicily, also falls in this category and a realistic London newspaper letter writer has proposed that Britian should retain the island after the war and re-name it churchill island.

World Control Suggested

All such bases might be placed under the control of a new world organization which would guarantee their use of the common benefit and keep them out of the hands of future aggressors.

But the British admiralty might also be expected to suggest that, since it already is well installed and fully capable of operating such bases in the common interest, it would be more efficient to permit the British to do the job.

Dakar, on the West Africa bulge, poses a similar problem. President Roosevelt is on record against ever permitting Dakar to be employed again as a threat against the western hemisphere.

No Trouble At Dakar

It is notable that neither Dakar nor Tunisia has been the scene of any French political agitation. Dakar still is run by French Resident General Pierre Boisson, assisted by an American naval mission.

Both Britain and the United States are firmly against territorial aggrandizement. Both are equally firm against allowing the world to get into such shape as to make future aggressive threats possible.

Therefore, the peace conference is bound to face a decision as to whether to adopt an idealistic approach or to follow the practical precedents already in existence.

Approved For 3,800 Houses Said Given

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Representative Thomas (D-Tex) said today that 3,800 houses will be constructed in Harris county, Tex., primarily in the tri-city area of Laporte, Pasadena and Galena (near Houston) to accommodate war workers."

Allocation of houses to various parts of the county, and selection of sites, is to be left to the Federal Housing authority office in Houston, he said, adding that all of the structures will be built by private industry under FHA insurance.

Launching To Honor Hero Of Solomons

HOUSTON, June 23. (AP)—Named for a Naval lieutenant killed in enemy action in the battle of the Solomons last fall, the destroyer escort vessel USS Rhodes will be launched June 29 at the Brown Shipbuilding company yards here, at Navy announced today.

Sponsor of the ship will be Mrs. C. E. Rhodes, Walhalla, South Carolina, the mother of the late Lieutenant (JG) Allison P. Rhodes, USNR.

News Briefs

Rev. A. A. Collins, Cumberland Presbyterian minister who was elected moderator at the 113th general assembly in Paducah, Ky., on June 18th, formerly served the pastorate here for several years until he left about 1919. Mrs. Gordon Dickinson, 1504 Ave. X, is a daughter of Rev. Collins. Rev. Collins has been preaching for 52 yeas, and in the beginning of his ministerial service was a missionary to the Indians in the western United States. A son, Sgt. Finis T. Collins of Lubbock, is stationed at South Plains Army Air field.

Three South Plains service men were included among a list of soldiers being held as prisoners of war by the enemy. The names were released Wednesday by the War department in Washington. Those interned by Japan are Pvt. Joseph W. Hough, son of Mrs. Fannie Hough, Whiteflat, and Pvt. Gene Lotspech, son of Mrs. George Lotspech, Floydada. Interned by Italy is Techician 5th grade Donley C. Tomlinson, brother of Mrs. L. B. Chunn, Plainview.

L. B. Barkley deputy collector of internal revenue, announced Wednesday that Claude L. Hale, former county superintendent of schools here, John O'Haughtery, Amarillo, and Carl P. Shafer, Wichita Falls, have been added to the staff of his office. O'Haughterty is replaced in Amarillo by Harry T. Warner of the office here.

Mrs. J. C. Pittman, Lubbock, has received a message advising her that her parents in Germany are "fine" and that her brother is a soldier, according to announcement by Red Cross officials Wednesday. An inquiry concerning Mrs. Pittman's relatives was made by the Red Cross on June 9, 1942, officials said.

The court of criminal appeals in Austin reinstated the appeal of Paul Young from Lubbock, granted his motion for rehearing and reversed and remanded the cause, the United Press reported Wednesday. The Associated Press reported that the court of civil appeals for the 7th supreme judicial district, in Amarillo, had affirmed the case of Gus Walker from Lubbock county. Both cases had resulted in convictions in liquor charges in the Lubbock county court, said Syrian E. Marbut, county attorney.

Application for probate of the will of the late John P. Settle, who died June 18, at Abernathy was made Wednesday by Vernice Ford, who asked appointment as administrator under terms of a will that had directed that approximately $15,000 in property of the estate be divided equally between 10 sons and daughters: Edwin Settle, J. Doyle Settle, Dorothy Settle Adams, Iwilla Settle Adams, Elton Settle, Hubert Settle, Mary Lucy Settle, W. T. Settle, J. P. Settle, jr., and Jean Settle. Hearing on the application was set by Judge G. V. Pardue of probate court for July 5.

Judge Alton B. Chapman Wednesday closed his minutes on the 12-weeks April term of 99th district court, over which he and Judge C. D. Russell had presided since it became vacant through resignation of Judge E. L. Pitts the first of the year. Judge Chapman found himself for the day presiding magistrate of three courts, as a matter of fact. He is the duly elected judge of the 110th district, and he heard one case in the 72nd district here, when Special Judge J. E. Vickers disqualified himself.

Traffic Deaths Continue Drop

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP) — The department of public safety today reported a continued marked decline in automobile deaths in Texas cities during the first five months of 1943.

Several cities had clean records for the period, with no fatalities, including Amarillo, Beaumont, Lubbock, Wichita Falls and Abilene.

The following table gives the motor vehicle fatality rating for the various cities:

First Five Months, 1943

	Deaths	Population Rate	Annual Rate 1942

(The population rate is the number of deaths annually per 100,000 population and is computed on the assumption that fatalities will continue to occur during the remainder of the year at the same monthly average as they have for the period covered by this report.)

COST OF DEPARTMENT PER CAPITA IS LOW

AUSTIN, June 23 (UP)— Two cents a month for each man, woman and child in Texas kept the state department of public safety on the job 24 hours a day for the past two years, the biennial report of the department, issued today, revealed.

Other information culled from the report shows:

That 115 members of the department had been granted leaves to enter the armed forces up to Oct. 31, 1942.

That despite dangerous duties but two patrolmen were killed in line of duty in the period. Patrolman D. A. McGonagill was fatally struck by lightning while riding his motorcycle near Plainview Sept. 4, 1940. Patrolman Roger Q. Harriss died from collision injuries near Sulphur Springs, April 4, 1942.

Fingerprints of 51,667 individuals were recorded.

Letters To The Editor From Readers

RAPS PUBLIC

Editor, The Avalanche: I am in complete accord with you in condemning selfish labor leaders and workers who are looking for and demanding less work and more pay. But there are other groups that are just as selfish as these workers and labor leaders, and you have taken their side.

These groups are the American Farm Bureau, the National Grange, meat packing groups and grocers' groups. These groups under the false front of fighting government subsidy, are trying to destroy price control. Three or four years back, the potato grower was lucky to get 50 cents per 100 for potatoes. Now he is getting 400 to 500 per cent more and he is squawking. The farmers, including the potato growers, are making more money than they have made since 1919 and they want more. They figured on cleaning-up in this war, but Uncle Sam has stepped in and said no one will clean-up in this war. So, the above groups intend to destroy the OPA.

I have noticed that most of the critics of the OPA are groups that have something to gain if price control is killed. It is my belief that these critics are criticizing the OPA for selfish reasons and do not have the welfare of the nation at heart.

When the American people kept asking what could they do to help in the war effort, Leon Henderson made the mistake of thinking they really meant it. After he found himself out on his ear, he more than likely realized they meant, what could they do to make more money out of the war.

The question is being asked, why is rationing successful in England and not here? That can easily be answered. The reason is that the Englishman is more an Englishman than the American is an American. Plainly speaking, the Englishman thinks more of his country than the American thinks of his. Of all the powers at war today, it is my opinion that the American home front has less "guts" than any of them.

I hope some time you, as the critic of the government, and myself, as the critic of the American people, can get together and discuss our views.

Yours truly,
Army Sergeant,
Lubbock.

Dear Sergeant: Thanks for your letter. I agree with your statement that the American public bucks more against rationing and other forms of regimentation than the Englishman, but I do not agree that the average Britisher is a more patriotic citizen than the average American. In the first place, regimentation is new here; we're not used to it and the American psychology for generations has been in opposition to government by decree. In the second place, the British home front has been much more efficently administered than our own. In the third place, the war has been brought much closer to the British civilian, via bombings, than it has to the average American. All these things have their effect. As to your opening charge, I have been in favor of the farmer's sharing in the pie-cutting and I still am. Personally, I think everything should have been soldily frozen — wages, salaries, commissions, bonuses, farm prices, retail prices, rent, everything. But it wasn't. Therefore, I believe that if labor is to be given everything it demands on a silver platter, the farmer should share in the gravy. I do not favor government for the pressure groups with the emphasis on the mostly highly organized pressure group. But that is what we have under the Roosevelt administration and if one group is to be given a lot of breaks, I believe others should share, too. As for price control, you're mistaken about by opposing it. I favor it. I believe we must have it. For your information, every grocery to whom I have talked also favors price control, but upon the undeniable fact that there has been too much fumbling by theorists in OPA. I am particularly interested in your last paragraph. Nothing pleases me more than to have our soldier neighbors drop in for chats and to get acquainted. I invite you to come at your convenience; will be delighted to meet you. Cordially yours, The Editor.)

Open Houses Slated For Editors At Jap Relocation Camps

DALLAS, June 23. (UP)—Open house for press and radio representatives at the Japanese relocation camp at Rower, Ark., near McGehee, Ark., will be held June 30 and July 1, it was announced today by Larry Sisk, regional director of the Office of War Information.

Visitors will be given "absolute freedom" of the camp, Sisk said. He said there will be no restrictions and no censorship of news stories or pictures.

He added that transportation would be provided from either little Rock or McGehee.

Interested persons were asked to communicate with the nearest OWI office, or directly with Sisk, at Dallas.

VISIT TO BE MADE TO COLORADO CAMP

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 23. (UP)—Marvin McAlister, regional director of the OWI, announced today that the War relocation authority was extending an invitation to newspaper and radio representatives to visit the Granada, Colo., Japanese relocation camp July 1-2.

McAlister said the newsmen would have absolute freedom of the camp, to talk to anyone and to see whatever they desire. McAlister asked that interested editors contact him. Papers must pay expenses of their representatives.

Labor Demand Is Heavy In Hale

PLAINVIEW, June 24 (Special) Hale county faces one of the heaviest demands, and at the same time the most acute shortages, of farm labor at this time of any West Texas county, according to C. B. Martin, county agent.

Martin is head of the farm labor placement office for the county. "Frankly, I am worried over the situation," he said. The demand far outweighs the supply, he said, and Martin is in position to know both the extent of the demand and the supply of manpower.

Each community, apparently, will have to solve its own labor problem, the county agent said. Innumerable calls have been made for local labor—youngsters of school age, women in towns near the fields which are crying for help, and others. He told of a 13-year-old school boy who was going to summer school and who quit school to operate a farm tractor.

The citizens of Petersburg, Abernathy, Hale Center, Plainview, and other communities are asked by Martin to put forth every effort in behalf of the farmer, the dairyman, the livestock producer, and the gardener, in order that food already being produced may be saved without waste. The wheat harvest needs men, row crops are foul with weeds, and vegetable crops need cultivating, and the season will not wait, Martin said.

The county agent said he has 24 applications from farmers in Hale county, asking for farm workers, and he estimates that 75 to 100 persons in the town of Plainview are being retained by city dwellers to keep up yards and cut grass.

Precision Bombing Features Air Raid

LONDON, June 23. (AP) — Precision bombing of the highest order featured yesterday's Flying Fortress raid on Huls, where the second largest synthetic rubber factory in Axis Europe was set aflame despite intense fighter opposition, participants said today.

Col Frederick W. Castle of New York City, commanding officer of one of the groups, who flew to Huls as an observer in the lead ship Thunderbug, said the mission was a "huge success."

First Lt. Flen Jenkins, of San Antonio, Tex., a bombardier said: "I never saw any bombing like it. Everything we had went into the target."

First Lieut. John W. Sanders of Abilene, Tex., said some of the Nazi pilots appeared to be shy. "There were about 50 or 75 around my group but they just wouldn't come in and mix, except for a very few."

PERRIN CADET KILLED

PERRIN FIELD, June 23. (AP)—Aviation Cadet Charles W. Ritter, 25, son of Mrs. Refinia Ritter, Brooklyn, was killed last night in the crash of his plane at Davis, Okla., while on a routine flight from Perrin field, the public relations office said today. Ritter was to have graduated tomorrow to an advanced training school.

A total reduction of nearly 2½ million bus schedule miles monthly has been achieved through the application of General Order ODT No. 11 and 34 Special Orders, the ODT estimates.

The Woman's Angle

SOMEONE asks "When the war's over, who can rightly say who's a blueblood. With Red Cross transfusions and all, how can any soldier tell whether he has corpuscles of an Astor, a Roosevelt or a Cabot coursing through his arteries."

All right, we'll bite. What's the answer?"

The only possible way a woman may remain forever young is to grow old gracefully.

WASN'T THE ONE

A LUBBOCK doctor who hasn't been out of town in a year except on a case is amused and puzzled over the report about town that he recently went to Colorado and "got caught by the OPA and was asked certain embarrasing questions."

"I hear your husband didn't get such a good reception in Colorado," another doctor told the first doctor's wife. And after he was convinced she didn't have the slightest idea what he meant he explained. He had heard it from a man who had heard it from someone else and so it goes.

In the meantime, the maligned doctor is going merrily on his way, little bothered by the story because as he explained to his wife what's the difference since he knew he "hasn't been fishing and neither has he been caught in Colorado."

CADET DON JUAN!

THERE is a young man out at Lubbock Army Air field who has more important things on his mind than graduation which is coming up Saturday. He's on a spot and here's why: Three girls may show up for his graduation. Three girls, one at a time, to ask for the honor of pinning on those prized wings or they may get there at once. Oh well, here's the story:

In the first place, there's the girl back home who has half way indicated she may be here for the important occasion. And there's a Lubbock girl who has been a golfing and swimming and dancing partner and who naturally expects to be out at the base bright and early Saturday. And then, AND THEN, as Kay Kyser says, there's the girl from the South. And she already has arrived in town, invited, it's true, but unexpected.

The southern girl is an acquaintance of the cadet's uncle, a nice man who boasted of his dashing young flying nephew studying at a West Texas air field and remembering what she had been told about cheering up the boys with letters, the girl got his address from the uncle and began a heavy correspondence which has continued through the weeks.

Surely if this young fellow can straighten out this problem, nothing that is thrown his way when he gets in combat will be too much!

ON WINNING FRIENDS

"IF you can get along with your next door neighbors or your fellow office workers, you have what it takes to make friends with a Syrian, a New Caledonian, an Egyptian, a Chinese or a Hindu. The rules for making friends and influencing people are pretty much the same the world over."

This is according to a compact booklet published by the War and Navy departments and given to every soldier and sailor in foreign service to enable him to win the friendship of our allies in global conflict.

Here are some of the admonitions and suggestions which it appears to the Woman's Angle are as good on the home front as in foreign fields:

"Keep out of arguments, especially on politics and religion.

"If you want someone's friendship, don't snatch for it; wait for it.

"Don't be a windbag and a braggart.

"Unintentional offenses are more readily forgiven if your attitude is one of respect.

"Follow the example of your host.

"Respect the things the other fellow treasures and is proud of.

"Don't tell them. Let them tell you."

ON KILLING ANTS

A READER calls to tell us she has a sure cure for these tiny red ants that find their way to the kitchen cabinet. She purchases a dust known as "Ant-Ded" and which is found in the five and ten stores.

Find the place where the ants are coming in the house and sprinkle the dust on the window or door, she says. In 24 hours the ants will have disappeared. They may find another entrance but repeat the directions and again you will have no ant trouble.

Fine Arts Is Theme Of Guild Program

"Fine Arts" was the theme of a program presented Tuesday night at the First Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild meeting in the church parlor with Miss Maud Dee Skeen as chairman.

Mrs. Ethel Terrell gave a devotion on "Fine Arts and the Seven Christian Graces." Mrs. Cecil R. Matthews talked on "Art and Living."

Rayburn Jones, pianist, gave "Whims" (Schumann) and "Golliwogg's Cake-Walk" (Debussy); Miss Stella Doak, accompanied at the piano by Miss Carolyn Reynolds, sang "None But the Lonely Heart" (Tschaikowsky) and "If God Left Only You" (Densmore) and Miss Reynolds, violinist, accompanied by Mr. Jones, played "Sarabande" (Handel) and "Elegy" (Massenet.)

Hostesses for a social hour were Mrs. Floe Swenson, Mrs. Victor Lindsey and Miss Irma Pryor. Refreshments were served to thirty-five persons.

Toni Bannister, 6, Is Honored On Birthday

Corn Products Firm Tapers Off Production Due To Corn Shortage

PEKIN, Ill., June 23. (U.P.)—Because a lack of corn the Corn Products Refining Co. today tapered off production of starch and starch derivatives at its Pekin plant.

The last of its available corn was ground yesterday, but the processing of this grain was expected to keep the plant busy through today, after which production will be halted.

The 1,100 employes at the plant will be assigned temporary jobs repairing the damage wrought by recent floods, Leroy Godfrey, manager of the firm's grain department said at Chicago.

Fodfrey said the company's big plant at Argo, Ill., which grinds an average of 96,000 bushels per day, will have to be closed in about two weeks unless more corn is forthcoming.

A third company plant at North Kansas City, Mo., which grinds about 26,000 bushels per day, probably will close in 10 days, he said.

The Pekin plant grinds an average of 64,000 burhels. In addition to starch and starch derivatives, it produces feeds and oils and mazein, a plastic.

Labor Situation In Texas Said Critical

HOUSTON, June 24. (U.P.) — Unless the administration arranges for more labor on Texas farms, the state will suffer heavy losses in food products and feed, Dean E. F. Kyle, of Texas A. & M. college, warned today.

Dean Kyle, who was here for a meeting of the Farm Credit administration board, said that "the labor situation is critical."

"We must have more support from the federal government in furnishing labor, either from Mexico or prisoners of war," he said, "or we are going ot have considerably heavy loss of feed and food crops in our state, which will hurt not only producers but the government itself in turning out an ample supply of food for the Army and Navy.

"Instead of food and feed going to waste, the people of the United States should bend every effort to store up the largest supply of foodstuffs ever accumulated in the history of the world to have at our disposal at the end of the war.

"In my judgment ,the supplying of food and raiment to the starving peoples, placing it on a definitely business basis, is probably going to be the most important factor in solving peace problems when this tragic conflict is over."

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—The International Committee of Bankers on Mexico, headed by Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Co., announced today Mexico would resume service on its external debt on July 1 on the basis of the agreement ratified in December, 1942.

At the time the agreement was announced it was stated the debt of the Mexican government amounted to about $235,000,000 principal, exclusive of the defaulted interest accumulations of many years, on the basis of current exchange rates.

Farm Bureaus Are Against Subsidies

CHICAGO, June 23. (U.P.) — The conference of midwest farm bureaus today passed a resolution calling upon the federal government to abandon its subsidy and price rollback plan for food.

The resolution said the plan "is a subterfuge for increasing wages and other consumer interests already at inflationary levels."

The plan, the resolution said, will be expensive, benefits "will be small," it will continue "ruinous confusion," and it "contributes to rather than controls inflation."

"For these and other equally important reasons this conference of midwest farm bureaus representing 12 states and 300,000 members respectfully petitions our federal administrative authorities to cease their effort to inflict this program upon us.

"We call upon our congress to enact legislation which will prevent any general continuance or revival of this ill-advised experiment."

Appeal Is Granted To Amarillo Firemen

AUSTIN, June 23. (U.P.) — The Texas Supreme court today granted an application for a writ of error and designated July 14 as a time for the court of review a suit by firemen against Amarillo over pay claims amounting to $21,457.

The appeal was granted on a contention that the trial court and court of civil appeals both erred in holding that the schedule of hours for firemen at Amarillo violated the penal code limiting firemen's duty to six days a week.

The supreme court refused applications of both Fort Worth and Mrs. Elizabeth Bolen Morrison for review of a claim over compensation due Floyd R. Bolen, former fireman, who died.

Oral Arguments Heard In Ford Motor Suit

AUSTIN, June 24. (U.P.)—Arguments were made before the Texas Supreme court here today in the suit by Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann, alleging that dealer agreements of Ford Motor company violate the Texas anti-trust laws.

The suit was ordered dismissed by a Travis county district court but the third court of civil appeals reversed that decision and ordered the suit set down for district court trial. The company then appealed to the state supreme court.

The petition sought daily penalties for operation since Sept. 1, 1938. Maximum daily penalty is $1,500.

Attorneys for the company contended that the sales agreements between the company and dealers do not attempt to fix prices and allocate territory, and are not in conflict with Texas law.

Mann Compares Riots With Attack On Jews

DALLAS, June 23. (AP)—"Hitler's attacks against the Jews are not more disgraceful than the recent (race riots) at Beaumont," Attorney General Gerald C. Mann said in an address before the Texas pastor's school at Southern Methodist university.

"The race problem can't be solved with clubs and race riots," Mann said Tuesday, referring to "the recent episode at Beaumont where white men . . . took the law into their own hands."

The American people's treatment of Mexicans is defeating this nation's efforts for Latin-American unity and the attitude of the country toward negroes is threatening international understanding, Mann cautioned.

Signs of Peace

—and you'll want to be there!

What if Peace brings new cars promptly or not? You'll be yearning to get away from headlines—rations—hours of volunteer war work...to get around again with your weary, happy soldier boy—home at last. And with all this restricted driving now, your car should have plenty of miles left, just so you're not tossing them away these days, by half-ruining your engine with acid.

Engine acid is no "new scare." Never yet have you stopped any auto engine without acid products of combustion trapped inside. But formerly, in frequent fast driving which fully heated the engine, you kept expelling the acid. So the hazard was mild compared to what it is today, when acid works while your rationed engine rests.

One great recognized precaution against current acid conditions is to OIL-PLATE your engine by changing to Conoco Nth motor oil. At an average price, in the average way, Conoco Nth goes in, and then its special added synthetic with "magnet-like" effect attaches OIL-PLATING direct to precious inner parts. Much like body parts plated against atmospheric corrosion, the cylinders, rings, bearings and other parts now hard to replace are OIL-PLATED against internal acid corrosion. The OIL-PLATING that stays close-surfaced as a bulwark against acid while the car stands, will help your essential transportation today. And a happier tomorrow may easily see you right off quick on your well-earned Victory tour. Change to Conoco Nth oil now.

CASE HISTORY No. 1430 — Lady, age 40, who had arthritis, constipation, intense pain in the shoulder, knees, and almost all joints in the body were swollen and she had much pain. She also had headaches. She was carried into my office in November of 1942. At this time she was unable to walk, turn in bed, or take care of herself in any way. She began the chiropractic service and after six months she is walking, sometimes several blocks, driving her car, and is so much better that she feels she has been saved from a life time of suffering and misery. Her constipation is better, and she seldom has a headache.

CASE HISTORY NO. 375 — Lady age 34 who before coming to a chiropractor had almost died with heart trouble. She was extremely nervous, had indigestion, stomach trouble, leakage of the heart, numbness all over the body, could not sleep, and was losing much weight. She began taking Chiropractic services and almost all the above symptoms disappeared and she feels like a different person.

CHIROPRACTIC BENEFITS—There is no person, regardless of his duties, that can perform his work with the same efficiency when he has interference to nerve energy between his brain and his body as he can if there is no interference between his brain and body. If you have a vertebra out of place causing pressure upon the spinal cord within the spinal canal you have a cutting down of the quantity of nerve energy between your brain and your body. The cutting down of the quantity of nerve force between your brain and your body cuts down on the ability of your body to function. The cutting down of the nerve forces, regardless of how small, cuts down your efficiency because your ability will vary with the quality of the nerve force received from the brain. The condition may be minor now but may be serious in 10 years. An efficient chiropractor taking care of you may mean everything to your health and may have everything to do with whether you will be able to meet your everyday problems efficiently or not.

Sens And Dodgers Breathe On Yankee, Cardinal Necks

Candini Shines As Washington, Yanks Divide 8-0, 0-4

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP) — Milo Candini had the Washington Senators knocking at the American league's front door today by pitching the seventh victory of his undefeated season, 8-0 in the opener of a double header against the Yankees.

But the Nats couldn't stand prosperity, fell apart afield to blow the nightcap 4-0 and leave the New Yorkers two games in front of the parade.

Candini, the "sore arm" kid who was tossed into a deal between the Nats and the Yanks during the winter, faced his former mates for the first time and served up a six-hitter in the first game as the Senators thumped three New York hurlers for 11 blows.

In the nightcap, Tiny Bonham and Alex Carrasquel hooked up in a close one for a while, but an error and a wild pitch, along with three hits and a walk, treated the Yanks to four unearned runs in the third inning.

Candini not only handicuffed the Yanks all the way as he rounded out a run of 49 2-3 innings in which he has allowed only four earned runs, but he helped himself to a double and a homer inside the park.

Bob Johnson Is Key Performer For Sens, Says Ossie Bluege

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 23. — Manager Ossie Bluege rates Outfielder Bob Johnson the key performer in the Senators' challenge for the American league pennant.

Discussing his Washington squad after yesterday's victory over the Yanks, Ossie said, "Everyone on the club is playing good ball, but the standout is Bob Johnson.

Bob Johnson

"Bob's batting average is not sensational; I believe he's hitting in the .260s. But his hitting has been timely; he has been driving in runs. And he's been playing excellently in the field. But even more important is the inspiration which his hustle and determination has given the other players."

Johnson, the 34-year-old Cherokee Indian slugger whose triple won yesterday's game after Micky Vernon had set the stage, came to the Senators on March 31 in a deal with the Athletics. Bob had played with Connie Mack's Philadelphia outfit for 10 years. And he probably still would be with the A's were it not for a dispute with ancient Connie over an expected bonus as a result of attendance at the A's home games last season. Johnson refused to sign his contract for 1943 because he didn't receive the bonus. Accordingly, he was traded to Washington for Infielders Roberto Estalella and Jimmy Pofahl. Pofahl refused to report to the A's, having taken a defense job, and Washington gave Mack some cash instead.

Everyone wondered at the time how Johnson would react to his first change of uniform since coming to the majors in 1933. Apparently his reaction has been excellent. He has driven in 35 runs so far, to rank fourth in the majors in that department. Last season he drove in 80 with the Athletics, his smallest number during the decade with the Mackmen. He accounted for 121 in 1936.

Bums Take Two Off Giants; Curt Davis Nears Dream Game

BROOKLYN, June 23 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers hammered their cross-town rivals, the New York Giants, into helplessness twice today, 7-2 and 6-0, and crept within half a game of the National league lead but these joyous tidings were mixed with disappointment for the big crowd of Flatbush fans at Ebbets field.

Although they were obviously cheered at the sight of the Dodgers running their winning streak to six games, what the 27,547 paying customers seemed to want most was for old Curtis (Daniel Boone) Davis to get a no-hitter in the second game.

They strained with him as inning after inning went by without the Giants getting a safety. For 7 2-3 innings the Giants got only one man to first base, this on a throw into the dirt by Shortstop Albie Glossop in the first.

Then with two out in the eighth wily Dick Bartell, a veteran of 17 years in the National league, slapped a clean single into left field. In the ninth inning the Giants got another hit, a single by Johnny Rucker with two out, and Glossop made another bad throw to first.

In the first game the Giants were held to five hits by Rube Melton and scored both their runs in the fourth, one on an error by Arky Vaughn and the other on a walk with the bases loaded.

The Dodgers came back with two in the fifth, four in the seventh and one in the eighth, Dolph Camilli's fourth homer, to win easily.

Colorful Pete To Realize Ambition With Grid Bums

(By The Associated Press)

Drawling Pete Cawthon, the man Knute Rockne once said had perfected the Notre Dame system more than any other coach, will realize his greatest ambition next fall.

Cawthon will have the opportunity of using this system with men he thinks can really make it work—the professionals.

The man who built Texas Tech into a gridiron power has been named coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National professional league.

Likes Pro Players

Cawthon once made this statement while Texas Tech mentor: "Some day I'm going to land a job coaching professional fotball. Only then will I really get to prove my coaching with the Notre Dame system. You take those boys in professional ranks who have four or five years experience. You not only can teach them but they have the ability to do just what you ask of them. I believe with the Notre Dame stuff I use I could turn out a great professional team."

Cawthon started coaching at Terrell prep in Dallas, then went to Austin college, was for eleven years mentor at Texas Tech and last season was assistant coach at Alabama. All that time his dream was to head a pro team.

Gotta Be Boss

"You know, they've always told me I was a little too rough on college players," he said, "but if you're going to be a successful coach you have to be the boss and that's the way I've always been. That's one reason I have longed for a professional job. Those guys get paid good salaries and you can command them to do things and they will do them. It's different in college where the boys play when they feel like it and don't always feel like putting out their best."

Rockne made this statement about Cawthon in a speech at Dallas: "Many have asked who beside myself can really teach the Notre Dame system. I would say that the one man who has my system more perfect than any other is Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech."

Cawthon was a personal friend of Rockne. He was a visitor in the home of the famed coach of the Fighting Irish when Rockne went to his death in an airplane crash.

NORFOLK, Va., June 23. (AP)— Phil Rizzuto, 24, former shortstop for the New York Yankees and now a seaman first class in Uncle Sam's navy, was married today to Miss Cora Esselborn, 23, of Newark, N. J. Rizzuto is leading the Norfolk Naval Training station baseball team in hitting.

The state of Virginia has announced its intention of becoming an A-1 sped trap using mechanical devices along its highways made of a few pieces of wood and a mirror.

Oana Gets Job With Detroit

DETROIT, June 23 (AP)—In 15 years in organized baseball, Henry (Price) Oana, Hawaiian handy man, has been practically everywhere but the big leagues, but today he caught on as a pitcher with the Detroit Tigers.

If the prince sticks with the Tigers—and he should in view of Manager Steve O'Neill's short handed staff — the 33-year-old Oana may enrich baseball's lore with the label of "no hit, good pitch."

Hit Like Pitcher

A year ago, Oana was an outfielder for Manager Rogers Hornsby at Fort Worth of the Texas league. His batting average slimming down, Hornsby called Oana over one day, and declared:

"You hit like a pitcher. You might as well join the pitchers and throw like one."

Oana astonished everyone including even himself by going out and winning 16 games against five defeats for Fort Worth in the last three months of the season. His earned run average was a phenomenal 1.71.

Still In 3-A

With the Texas league disbanding, Oana was sold to Milwaukee of the American association. Milwaukee, reportedly concerned by a possible shift in his draft status, turned Oana back recently before the final payment on him was due. William G. Bramham, minor league czar, made him a free agent.

The Tigers established that Oana still was in 3-A and then signed him.

Seeded Net Players Advance In Tourney

EVANSTON, Ill., June 23 (AP)— Led by the No. 1 player, Francisco (Pancho) Segura of the University of Miami, and the No. 2 man, Tom Brown, jr., of California, all seeded performers advanced today in the National Collegiate Athletic association tennis championships to tomorrow's quarter final round.

Segura, failing to show the overwhelming superiority of form with which he devastated Horace Filer of Depauw yesterday, nevertheless had what it took to eliminate Walter Driver of Texas, 6-3, 6-2.

Brown, favored in the lower bracket, came near being upset by Bob Wasserman of Ohio state. He lost the first set, but came back strongly. The scores were 4-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Tomorrow Segura will play Wayne Anderson of Tulane, a 7-5, 3-6, 7-5 victor today over Ben Press of U.C.L.A., and Brown will meet Robert Kimbrell of Southern California, who beat Robert Smidl of William and Mary today, 8-6, 6-2.

You Can Expect Only Entertainment From Two-Ton, Rules NBA

PATERSON, N. J., June 23 (AP) Taking note of "an unfavorable wash-back" whenever Tony Galento has appeared recently, the National Boxing association ruled today that any "barnstorming" the Orange round man does from now on "will be strictly as entertainment and not in the guise of boxing competition."

Abe Greene, NBA president, said he had advised Two-Ton and his manager, Willie Gilzenberg, of the ruling, and that Gilzenberg assured him that from now on any bookings made for Tony will be "on the strict representation that he is appearing for exhibitions only."

"Galento has been bouncing around the country," Greene pointed out, "knocking out a wrestler here, an old-timer there, a couple of spare hands as an extra bargain. But because the general impression has been that he was on a comeback tour, an unfavorable washback has resulted in those cities where he has played.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Soft Jobs For Slackers

MANY Americans doubtless will experience a feeling of incredulous fury as they learn that administration is engaged at this moment in the training of conscientious objectors for duty as our official representatives in lands that are reclaimed from the Axis.

Therefore, endorsement will be general and unqualified for the fight being made by the American Legion and its commander, Roane Waring, against the continued carrying out of any such plan which, incidentally, has as its high priestess Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Regardless what anyone might say of conscientious objectors, they do not represent the America which is fighting this war. They have no basis for understanding the real America. They would be without the understanding or the inclination to carry out the wishes of the real America if they are placed in the positions which are sure to dominate the government of reclaimed lands for an indefinite period after liberation comes. Yet the plan is to put them in positions where they will become the yardstick by whom all Americans and this nation will be judged.

Perhaps it has been proper that the United States has adopted an attitude of extreme tolerance—one that borders upon the coddling—toward those who refuse to fight for the blessings that they enjoy. But certainly it will be going too far if slackers are to be rewarded with positions of profit, power and high responsibility.

Water On The Enemy Wheel

SINCE the earliest days of the war people of the United States have had repeated warnings that part of the Axis victory plan has included the systematic sewing of seeds of disunity in this nation.

The warnings have come from many sources. But they have ben alike in saying that the Axis has relied for victory upon its expectation that the American people would fall apart when the going became tough.

Can it be that these warnings now are naterializing into fact? Can it be that the American people are beginning to fall apart even before they have experienced anything as bad as has been endured by our chief allies and by all our enemies for years? Are the American people in the process of proving that they can't "take it?" Are they proving that the Axis nations were correct in judging that Americans would be "suckers" for their propaganda?

Certainly disturbances have been numerous on the home front of late. These have included rioting—racial and industrial—rebellion in the coal field. It is extremely doubtful whether the Axis may have had a hand in the actual fomenting of these disturbances, especially the race troubles. But, no matter who or what may have been responsible for the start, it would be foolish to suppose that the Axis is failing to take advantage of the opportunity they offer. If the Axis did not start these fires, then the Axis certainly will do all it can to keep the fires burning and to add as much as possible to the fury of the flames.

The supposition that the enemy is attempting or will attempt in every way possible to cause disturbances in the United States has every appearance of logic. Right now it appears that the enemy's only hope of victory is to cause a serious breakdown in the overwhelming flood of men and materials that is flowing from this country.

If the enemy does intend to strive for such a collapse, then it must be recognized that he is a past-master at the game, as he has proved in every nation except Britain that has been contaminated by his touch.

Therefore it makes little difference whether the Axis may have had any part in starting disturbances like those which have occurred in the United States recently. Regardless who starts them, they serve the same purpose of helpfulness to the enemy. They mean prolongation of the war at a price which must be paid in the blood of our own.

If they do not actually endanger the victory, certainly they postpone it. They are not to be tolerated because they are as helpful to the enemy as if they were hatched in Berlin and were carried out under the personal leadership of Adolf Hitler.

CHAPTER 13

The Valley Of Death

Julie reached the hospital just as the ambulance driver and an orderly were wheeling a stretcher through the door marked Emergency. She caught up with them in the wide, cool hallway just inside.

"Pete" she said softly.

The dark head on the pillow turned slightly. He opened his eyes, recognized her, managed a little half-smile "Hello, Sissy."

Then the eyes filled with pain again. He closed them.

Her heart weeping, Julie's voice was steady, her eyes clear as she said, "We won't let it hurt long, Steve." And she took the big hand that lay inert on the sheet, held it a moment.

She couldn't be sure he'd heard, or that she hadn't imagined the answering pressure of his cold fingers. But she was sure that Pete was hurt seriously.

Dr. Tom confirmed her judgment a little later. Scrubbed, immaculate in sterile linen, Julie met her father outside the X-ray room. The instant she met the concern in his gray eyes, she knew.

"What is it, Dad?"

"No bones broken. He was thrown into the water. But even shock and chill don't account for pain in his head and back." He looked at her steadily a moment.

"You think it's—" She couldn't bear to say it aloud.

"Wrenched that weak back somehow in falling. Pain is from pressure on nerves." He tapped the X-ray pictures he still held. "Nothing in the pictures to show where it is."

A name leapt out of Julie's subconscious and she spoke it aloud almost before she realized it. "Call Dr. LeMeure. The Belgian surgeon, remember? He'd know."

Dr. Tom shrugged. "He's a big man. Doubt if he'd come this far. Besides, operation might not do any good."

"But it's a chance, Dad?"

"Sure—a long chance."

"I'll call him, then," and turning she ran back to the office, spoke rapidly to the switchboard operator.

It took eternities for the call to go through. Dr. LeMeure was reached at his club. He would be at Santa Felice General by eight o'clock in the morning. Before that, it would be impossible.

Julie had to be satisfied with that. She raced back along the corridor to the room where two nurses were settling Pete for the night. Dr. Tom followed her a moment later.

Vigil

"He's running a temperature. If pneumonia sets in now, I'm afraid he won't have much chance."

"It won't," Julie said grimly as if girding herself for a fight. "I'll stay with him."

Julie kept vigil at Pete's bedside all through the long, quiet hours before daylight. Promptly at eight, the slight, absolutely bald Dr. LeMeure arrived, brusque, irritable, brushing aside all preliminaries. Julie's heart sank as she took her place beside her father, watched the world-famous surgeon make swift examination of a dull-eyed Pete only just conscious of what was going on.

"There is a chance," the great doctor said finally, turning to Dr. Tom. "If the patient has courage and the will to recover, it is just possible an operation would be a complete success. It is also possible — " he shrugged, a typically Gallic gesture of futility, "—to fail."

Pete's head turned on the table. "Take the chance, doc." Then his eyes found Julie's. "Tell him, Sissy."

Pete was in the operating room nearly four hours. Four hours of the most medieval torture for Julie.

When it was over, she stood by while they wheeled Pete out, an ashen-faced caricature of the real Pete.

"We have done all that we can," Dr. LeMeure said curtly. "The operation was a complete success. If the patient recovers, he will walk again quite normally."

"If the patient recovers." The words echoed hollowly against Julie's growing fear. For forty-eight hours he was kept under opiates. Hours in which Julie went about her duties, present in mind, but absent in heart. She slept and ate and cared for her patients and lived from one visit to the darkened room at the end of the hospital corridor, to another.

When at last Pete was conscious, it was Julie who found him so. Returning from a late calk Julie stopped at the hospital. The special nurse was on duty, silently handed Julie the chart where Pete's ebbing vitality was marked only too plainly. Pulse slow. Blood pressure down below normal, dangerously.

Julie moved to the bedside, took Pete's hand in hers. Leaning over him, she pressed her own warm cheek against his as if to share with him some of her own full-blooded strength.

"Pete," she whispered. "Pete, darling, come back. Try to come back, please Pete."

Success

Then, as if in response to her almost inaudible plea, he stirred a little, slowly the eyes opened, looked up into hers. Moments of blankness before recognition. Then, just a flicker before the lids dropped again.

Behind her, Julie heard the nurse slip away, close the door softly. For a long time, only the faint night sounds of the hospital came into the room. Then, amazingly, Julie was sure he'd spoken her name.

She stood up, leaned closer.

"Julie!" So faint a whisper she barely caught it.

"Yes, Pete," quietly, calmly.

"Don't go."

"I shan't, dear. I'll be right here for as long as you want me. Rest now."

"No. Can't," and turned his head ever so slightly. Then pain lanced across his face. "Oh, God."

He slipped away from her again back into unconsciousness. Alarm took grappling hold of Julie. If he let go of consciousness now, some part of her trained mind decided, it might be fatal. This was pushing back — away from the struggle to live.

"Pete!" she called softly. "Pete!"

No response.

"Pete! Listen to me. You must."

Slowly, he opened his eyes.

"Pete—fight. Understand! You are cured. You can walk again. But you must fight for it."

His eyes, glazed with pain, met hers steadily a moment. "No use. Rather be dead. Awful—pain — head."

And drew back toward unconsciousness again.

Once more, she pulled him back by the sound of her voice. "Listen. You must fight, Pete." And then, recklessly, "Please darling. I love you. I won't lose you now. Please, try. For my sake."

At first he seemed not to hear. Still, he seemed to struggle for consciousness, so Julie took heart. Pleading, her voice reached out to him, the only means by which she could penetrate the thick curtain of pain that shut him into a hideous world of his own.

Dr. Tom came in twice. The special night nurse returned to her vigil. Julie scarcely heard them. But when at daylight, her father took her arm, drew her gently away from the bedside, said quietly.

"You've done it, Julie. He's sleeping normally now. He'll pull through."

She turned, then, buried her face against her father's broad shoulder—wept quietly.

'Pannings' Feature Program At Rotary

Six speakers, all Rotarians, were heard at Wednesday's luncheon meeting, Hilton hotel. The unusual program, taking the form of a gridiron, was arranged by Dr. Wm. C. Holden, chairman for the month.

Walter Posey, veteran banker, spoke on farmers and farming. Posey said he is an expert on farmers, and the South Plains has "the cream of the crop." Clarence A. Bestwick, chief clerk to the county rationing boards, in turn spoke on bankers and banking. He said he also is an expert—on banking—and showed how the local public has "loaned' the three banks 27 million dollars, without interest. Alex McDonald, local meat packer, speaking on preachers, concentrated on Rabbi Isidore Garsek, who was absent from the meeting. Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, "picked on" the newspapers and turned a burlesque barrage against the Lubbock press into a genuine compliment as a climax. Dr. Sam G. Dunn, surgeon at West Texas hospital, spoke on college professors, concluding with a tribute to Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Tech. Dr. James G. Allen described an ideal medical office, and the kind of physician the public would have.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

STUDIES by federal officials of the war's long-range effect on social and economic trends have produced troublesome thoughts here. The conclusions suggest that the hard times following the 1917-18 conflict will seem a boom period by comparison.

Production efficiency has increased so rapidly in the last three years and our industrial plant has expanded so broadly that the problem of employment will be more acute than ever and aggravated by factors not present hitherto.

Our labor force in 1946, according to these estimates, will possess the skill and capacity to turn out 46 per cent more goods than were manufactured in 1940, when the United States set out to become the "arsenal of democracy." On that basis the seers forecast that 19 million will be jobless if national output three years hence equals only the pre-Pearl Harbor total.

Even a shortening of the work week by five hours, meaning universal application of a five-day week of seven hours each, would leave 13 million on the shelf.

Moreover, due partially to battle casualties, the USA will soon become a country in which women will prediminate. Denied the chance to marry, thousands of them will be active and permanent competitors for important roles on the economic stage.

BREAK: Friends will not be agog if President Roosevelt and Mayor La Guardia of New York part company before the 1944 campaign. Although their recent spats are attributed to La Guardia's pique at his failure to obtain that advertised Army commission, more fundamental differences may sever this famous tie-up Indeed, it is amazing that men of such explosive temperaments have remained on good terms for so long.

FDR is playing along with a Tammany Hall which, in Fiorello's opinion, has not and never will reform. The district attorneyship has been given to one of Boss Michael J. Kennedy's closest pals and more plums will soon drop fram the White House tree. Although Bronx Leader Edward J. Flynn is the City Hall occupant's bitterest enemy, Mr. Roosevelt would still like to honor him with a distinguished post.

These actions substantiate recent hints that the President backs Dean Alfange's attempt to organize a national labor group for 1944 on lines unacceptable to the mayor. The Little Flower still cherishes political ambitions—he has long wanted to climax his career with a seat in the United States Senate—and he might not like to see his personally conducted American Labor party gobbled up in a larger movement.

The move by municipal Democrats to investigate the polesta's regime likewise implies a break. With the establishment of cordial relations between th minor and major wigwams, La Guardia's cronies believe the Great White Father could have blocked the inquiry if he had felt so disposed.

LAG: Elmer Davis's attack on members of the Washington press corps did not win him friends on Capitol Hill, where lawmakers enjoy a better perspective than does the OWI head for observing the performances of the 1,000 newspapermen in the District of Columbia. Some congressmen connect the criticism with the deep slash which the House Appropriations committee made in his funds for "propaganda."

The kindly, white-haired Davis chided the national reporters for not assessing properly the news value of a victory on the battlefield and a "row between administration officials." The answer to that indictment is twofold, in the opinion of his victims and their legislative friends:

The front lines are covered by a different group of men and women, some of whom have sacrificed their live in the service. Their dispatches are earning banner hearlines in every journal in the land. However, had it not been for constant exposes of petty and serious feuds among bureauerats charged with winning "the battle of Washington," there might not be so many triumphs for the overseas correspondents to report.

Contrary to the Davis pronouncement, the press has given full publicity to industry's production achievement Wherever shortcomings are evident the underlying reason is the refusal of Elmer's agency to permit the printing of specific numbers of tanks, planes, ships, etc., we are making, although such revelations would give pain rather than comfort to the enemy.

The outburst is chiefly significant because it uncovers the effect that a membership in officialdom's club has on a man, and why there has been a lag in the government's contribution to the war effort. Once an objective and factual commentator, Davis apparently now takes the attitude that the administration can do no wrong.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

PEOPLE in other parts of the country may not understand why Mayor La Guardia is being invesigated despite his widely publicized personal honesty in municipal affairs. The New York City council, after a postmidnight session of wild disorder, voted to put the Little Flower's administration under the microscope with the hope of unearthing a juicy scandal.

The plot was hatched more than 100 weeks ago, but the idea had been in the minds of local Democratic bosses for a much longer period. These stalwarts were kicked out of the controlling seat in City Hall by the then District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey and Fiorello.

Thereafter a coalition of Republicans, American Labor party members and independents—fusionists—ran the local government. The old ward heelers want to crawl back to power by discrediting La Guardia and thus to prevent him from electing a successor.

The belief held by insiders is that the project is mainly a "fishing expedition" aimed at hooking something with which to smear the pugnacious dictator.

A secret reason for the probe is that of racial animosities engendered by the war. La Guardia has been outspokenly in favor of helping the Russian people. Many of the machine politicians use hatred of everything connected with the Soviet union—from Communism to lend-lease gifts—as ballot box bait in their districts.

AGGRESSIVE: A school of military analysts is somewhat apprehensive of one of our greatest national traits proving a hindrance in the war. We worship success. Since the battle of Midway—except for a few minor setbacks in Africa—we have beheld a steady parade of American victories. The public, fed on happy ending movies, expects every skirmish to be won by our soldiers and sailors.

Should a large-scale landing in Sicily or elsewhere finally result in great bloodshed and temporary failure, a wave of pessimism might engulf the country. The staffs realize this possibility and therefore, according to the theorists, face the danger of delaying decisive action until every imaginable preparation is completed. But by that time the Axis too may be strengthened for the engagement.

The "up and at 'em" type of general would hammer the enemey, knowing that he would swap blow for blow. That was Grant's method in taking Richmond. Now it can be told that at Dieppe the Commandos were so well trained that they waited on the beach to draw up their lines and assemble supporting artillery. While they hesitated, German machine guns mowed them down. Had they charged the bluffs without thinking about formations and reinforcements, they might have gained a real foothold.

Those believing in aggressive tactics assert that the Allies now have such a superior replacement capacity that they can afford to lose a few test battles in order to wear down the Axis and win a continent.

Here And There In Texas

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 24. — Governor Coke R. Stevenson soon will name one of the state's newest agencies, the Postwar Economic Planning commission of 31 members whose job it is to aid in mapping the transition from war to peace time activity.

The job, to be rendered without compensation, can be one of the biggest within the state government and although the group's authority is advistory only it could exert a tremendous influence on postwar policies and thinking.

The commission was created at the last general session of the legislature in a resolution introduced by a member who has done some thinking in postwar terms, Rep. Ottis Lock of Zavalla, a member of the armed forces.

(Lock's resolution was passed before the War department decreed that members of the Army could not perform acts of civil office).

Representative Group Sought

Lock sought to make the group representative and stipulated that one member each be named from the Texas Manufacturer's association; Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association; from agriculture; the Texas Press association; the Texas Newspaper Publishers association; American Legion; Texas Federation of Women's clubs; an engineer; and architect; the state bar; State Teachers association; one representative each from the East, South and West Texas Chambers of Commerce; a labor representative; Texas County Judge and Commissioners association; a president of a state supported college or university; a member of the Texas State Medical association; Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association; Texas Motor Transportation association; Texas Good Roads association; Texas Bankers association; Texas Cattle Raisers association; a railroad representative; a member of the Texas Lumbermen's association, a state representative and a state senator, and four members-at-large.

ONE of Lock's Ideas was that federal and national organizations should not dominate the field of postwar planning but that they should receive aid and guidance from state groups which know local conditions.

To this end the commission is empowered to study all postwar economic problems, cooperate with community groups, invite and consider suggestions from individuals, make recommendations to public officials, federal and state, and report its deliberations to the public.

Numeroue postwar planning agencies have been created in recent months, probably not because anyone thinks the end of the war is imminent but because it is realized that there is serious need for orderly and farsighted arrangements to obviate confusion and disruption when millions are released from the armed forces and wartime industries.

Much Thought Provoked

Perhaps some persons have become gun-shy at the mention of the phrase, "postwar planning."

Editorialists have deplored this tendency, pointing out that planning—tedious, minute and detailed — achieved for the Axis great military victories. The same character of planning by the United Nations is turning the tide of war.

If planning is successful in the art of war, why, they ask, can't it also be effectively applied to the postwar period?

Not a few private industries are contemplating what will happen to them after the war—and making arrangements calculated to keep them at even keel.

Government agencies, too, are taking up the problems of postwar planning. The state highway department, for instance, is mapping a long-range road building program and many cities also are making plans.

THE task probably is a common one. That is where the commission steps in, as a co-ordinator and clearing house for separate efforts which can be welded into a unified endeavor.

Mexican Traffic Lessened

Along the winding highway that leads from this Rio Grande gateway to the national capital, Mexico is waiting for the end of the war to bring a stream of motoring tourists from the United States.

Except for trucks and buses, the 750-mile highway today is a lonesome road. An estimated average of 15 passenger cars a day pass over it, perhaps a fifth of them from the United States.

As a result, towns that spent much effort before Pearl Harbor in building for the tourist trade are in a state of semi-hiberation.

Revenue Office

a brother-in-law of Sam Rayburn, of Bonham, speaker of the national House of Representatives.

Thomas said expansion planned for Lubbock will place this city on an even basis with Tyler and Amarillo, as well as with Fort Worth. There is a possibility, too he said, that a similar set-up will be arranged for Wichita Falls, although that is yet problematical. The personnel of the Lubbock office now totals eight persons; will total 10 after the change. L. B. Barkley, in charge here for the past several years, will continue as No. 1 man in Lubbock, Thomas said.

Chamber of commerce officials here were enlisted by Thomas to aid in making arrangements for the expansion. The Dallas internal revenue chief said when the expansion is completed it will not be necessary for any taxpayer in the Lubbock area to look farther than the local office for any advice, council or business service, save in the case of very few situations which, due to their unusual angles, would be referred to the Dallas headquarters.

Dies Sets Probe

many months probably will be Dillion S. Myer, head of the War Relocation authority (WRA) which has jurisdiction over Japanese internees.

Records Seized Intact

Dies said committee agents had seized intact records and files of the Japanese-American Citizens league, which, if true, show "a very close contact" between the league and WRA and indicate that the league "has largely dominated and dictated some of the policies" of the government agency.

Two officers of the league now serving with the Army and stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., also will be called, Dies told reporters. Their names, he said, will be disclosed "at the proper time."

Dies said records disclosed that many Japanese recently released from internment camps to which they were sent after the bombing of Pearl Harbor had been released through cooperation of the league, and "without any check whatsoever" except several questions dealing with their loyalty.

Objective Of League

The objective of the league, he added, is to "bring about the release of all the Japs, irrespective of their loyalty."

Likely to be questioned by the committee, Dies said, are three Japanese recently released to work on the nearby Maryland farm of Harold Ickes, secretary of hte interior. Records of the league showed, he said, that the trio attended a league meeting here last month. Dies added he saw no reason why the committee should question Ickes himself.

Plane Crashes After Hitting Power Line

DALLAS, June 23. (AP)—William M. Brintz, 31, of Waco was seriously injured tonight when his plane crashed after hitting a high tension wire while he was attempting to make an emergency landing.

F. M. Buckalew, who administered first aid and took Brintz to a hospital, said the flier suffered a head injury and a possible fracture of the right leg.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Officers for the ensuing Masonic year will be installed at a meeting of the lodge beginning at 7:30 this evening at the hall, it was announced last night.

Detroit Disorders

liam E. Dowling and John H. Witherspoon, Detroit police commissioner.

In addition, Kelly asked Brig. Gen. Guthner to name a member of his staff to work with the committee.

The governor's action followed a day-long series of conferences with state, federal and Detroit authorities.

"We have the situation under control," Kelly said. "Our next step is to find out who the guilty ones are, to punish them and to see that things of this kind do not happen again."

Meanwhile peace prevailed under 3,800 U. S. Army troops and only relatively minor disturbances had been reported since the soldiers moved in Monday midnight. Work in war-busy factories again approached normal.

Taverns and bars remained closed and a ban on sale of liquor had not been lifted, but restriction on public assembly was eased sufficiently to permit an American league baseball double-header to be played by the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians. Attendance of approximately 3,000 was normal for midweek. A force of some 400 troops was scattered through the stands.

Horse Racing Resumed

Horse racing, cancelled yesterday, was resumed at the state fair grounds racetrack as soldiers patrolled the grounds.

A 10 p. m., general curfew continued in effect tonight.

Of the more than 1,300 persons arrested since the first outbreak of violence Sunday night, 929 remained in custody when court sessions opened today, said Paul H. Wencel, chief of city detectives. Of those 22 were women and approximately 85 per cent negroes.

War plant absenteeism today had been reduced to about 5 per cent in plants of the Detroit metropolitan area, the War Production board's regional office announced.

ARGUMENTS FINISHED

fall under allied bombsights, for he stressed that the Italian capital could definitely and permanently be considered safe only if it were declared an open city, and if the Allies were convicted that it was not contributing to Axis war strength.

(This, he emphasized, did not mean it had been decided to bomb Rome. The commentator, who cannot be identified, declared the sole purpose of bombing was to reduce the enemy's strength and resistance and bleed their war power to save Allied lives. Rome's military and industrial importance should not be overshadowed by the presence of the Vatican and other ancient shrines, he added.)

Royal Arsenal Battered

Reconnaisance pictures, the Northwest African Airforce command announced, disclosed that 40 per cent of the Royal arsenal at Naples had been destroyed by Flying Fortresses and Wellingtons in heavy smashes at the great seaport and rail center for southern Italy.

(The Italian communique, broadcast by Rome, reported attacks also upon Castelvetrano and Milazzo in Sicily and Olbia in northern Sardinia. It said 41 persons had been killed and 50 injuried at Salerno.

(The Italians also said they had sunk a 12-000-ton ship off the North African coast, and bombed Bizerte.)

and Rome that home is now on the fighting line.

The Italian cabinet announced a decree providing for the removal of any government employe or official who fell short of perfroming his tasks.

Observers saw it as another stop in the program to mobilize the nation for total war and keep the Fascist party in full control by eliminating any weakening or dissent within the government.

FDR Moves To Draft Strikers

unpatriotic strikers is to convert the Army into a penal institution and would be an affront to our boys who are engaged on the battlefields.

"A better solution would be a cooperation with the Congress in the enactment of adequate anti-strike legislation."

No Promises For Future

Mr. Roosevelt said that "for the time being" the mines would continue under operation of Secretary of Interior Ickes, the fuels administrator. The terms, he added, will be those laid down by the War Labor board, and he emphasized that there was no promise or commitment by the government to change those terms.

Lewis made the miners back to work order contingent upon government operation of the mines.

Before issuing his statement, the President received from a group of coal mine owners a protest that government acceptance of Lewis' terms would penalize the owners who, they said, had complied in every way with the government's wartime labor policy while Lewis had defied it.

Edward R. Burke, one of those who took the letter to the White House, said they felt encouraged by the President's statement.

The letter to Mr. Roosevelt was not made public. However, Burke said it was similar to a communication sent to Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor board.

Want Mines Restored

The group asked that WLB insist that Lewis and the UMW sign a contract insuring "normal operation of the mines and their restoration to their proper ownership and control."

To do otherwise, the letter declared, would be to punish the operators and to reward Lewis "for his defiance of government."

Later Burke and R. L. Ireland, Jr., representing the northern and southern groups of bituminous coal operators, issued this statement:

"The operators regard the President's statement as constructive. It is to be noted that the President emphasizes that the miners are returning to work under the terms and conditions of the June 18 directive of the War Labor board.

"We take this to mean that an agreement is to be signed by the parties on the basis of the directive, following which the mines are to be returned to their proper ownership and operation.

Lewis' Defiance Cited

"We do not believe that the President will countenance the continuing punishment of the operators by withholding from them the possession of their mines because John L. Lewis chooses to defy the United States government."

The belief that Mr. Roosevelt would veto the anti-strike bill was strengthened when he declared that labor in general has kept its no-strike pledge.

"Aside from United Mine Workers coal mining, the making of war munitions and supplies has gone ahead extremely well," he said. "Aside from United Mine Workers coal mining, the no-strike pledge by organized labor has been well kept."

Senator Connally (D-Tex), one of the authors of the measure, made public, meanwhile, a telegram to the chief executive saying "the temporary suspension of the coal strike in no way lessens the urgent necessity and grave importance of your approval of the labor relations bill now on your desk."

Bill Not Anti-Labor

The bill is not "anti-labor," Connally contended, urging its approval "in the interest of national unity."

The coal mine owners in their letter to the WLB declared the back to work order had settled nothing.

"By no stretch of the imagination," they said, "can this dispute be considered settled if the mines operate on any such basis as that indicated by the order of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America."

The policy committee last night ordered the miners to go back to work, contingent on continued government operation of the mines. The WLB had directed that the union sign a contract with the operators at substantially the old terms plus concessions amounting to about 20 cents a day increase for the miners.

No Strike Pledge

The WLB directed, too, that the union sign a pledge of no strike for the duration.

The UMW committee made the back-to-work order effective only through October 31.

Although the work order was approved last night, it was not dispatched to local unions until today and few mines were able to open this morning. Some local union heads said it probably would be Monday before the industry returned to normal operations.

Secretary of Interior Ickes, the federal fuel administrator, lifted his order "freezing" all coal in railroad transit.

Ickes kept in effect controls placed on distribution of hard coal and officials said a permanent program was being worked out.

The United States Steel corporation, which had announced it would shut down seven blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh area today, closed only five. Officials said they might be able to avoid the shutdown of 13 more which, it was previously indicated, would have to be closed tomorrow.

Comment In Congress

"Iron Age," trade publication, estimated an overall loss of 30,000 tons of steel would result from the strike.

The form of the UMW's back to work order brought comment in Congress. At a meeting of the House Ways and Means committee to consider extending the bituminous act—allowing the government to fix minimum coal prices—Rep. Disney (D-Okla) declared:

"We're simply shadow boxing about this bill. The United States government has abdicated to John L. Lewis' demands and has taken over the coal mines. If the government is running the coal mines and consequently fixing prices, what need have we for a bituminous coal act?"

Steel City Crushed

pounding. The ministry of information said "there have been at least 550 attacks on targets there by the RAF." They include 116 raids on Cologne, 56 on Essen, 26 on Dortmund, 53 on Duesseldorf, 60 on Duisberg-Ruhrort, 60 on Hamborn, 35 on Hamm, 22 on Krefeld and 44 on Gelsenkirchen.

The fleets of British bombers that aimed a wipe-out blow upon Muelheim in the Ruhr flew into that heartland of German industry with fires of destruction still visible in Huls, pounded by Flying Fortresses Tuesday, and from Krefeld, smashed by the RAF Monday night. One pilot said Krefeld looked "like a circle of smouldering ashes."

The air ministry news service declared that the blasting of Muelheim was "only slightly less heavy" than the attack upon Krefeld, in which more than 700 planes participated.

Muelheim, lying near Duisburg and about 20 miles from Huls, is a steel and communications center of 136,000 population in peacetime.

Town Seemingly Ablaze

Returning fliers reported huge fires with the whole town seemingly ablaze and rocked by mighty explosions set off by block-busters tumbling from the night raiders' bomb bays. Some veterans called it the best concentrated attack of their experience, and the air ministry said the raid was "well concentrated."

Thirty-five bombers were lost. RAF fighter planes meanwhile carried out sweeps over Holland and France, downing two German aircraft.

Muelheim illustrates the terror of suspense the Allied air offensive is bringing to the Germans—populations in every city wait and wonder when they might be next. Muelheim had been raided twice in 1940 and not since then until last night when it became the target of a saturation raid.

Heavy Ach Ach Reported

But its citizens doubtless had been waiting for months for such a blow upon the town, site of large railway car and locomotive repair shops, and a major rail outlet from the Ruhr to southern Germany. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was reported by Canadian fliers.

A German broadcast said Muelheim and Oberhausen suffered "Major casualties" last night. The British did not mention any attack upon Oberhausen. The Nazis said 24 bombers were shot down.

Muelheim marked the fourth successive night of attack for big RAF bombers. They struck Le Creusot in France on Saturday night, pounded Friedrichshafen in southern Germany Sunday night, and Krefeld Monday night.

Aerial photographs taken by attacking Fortress planes Tuesday disclosed widespread damage both at Huls and Antwerp, it was authoritatively reported.

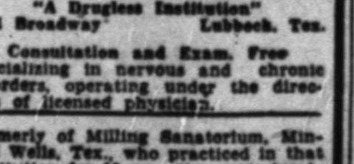

Warning Given Dutch

Openly telegraphing their aerial blows in an effort to save the civilian population of occupied countries, the Allies extended a warning today to the Dutch to move away from potential targets, factories producing war material for the Axis.

Broadcast over Radio Orange, the voice of the Netherlands government, it followed similar warnings earlier this week to the French and Belgians. The belgian warning Monday was followed by the Fortress attack on Antwerp westerday.

The broadcast warned that the Allies planned attacks soon "with still more fierceness" upon airplane, transport and submarine plants especially, and urged Dutchmen to move away, or to insist upon air raid shelters if they were forced to work in such plants.

Restaurant Operators Here Air Problems

Lubbock restaurant operators, still pondering their problems of public health, sanitation, and weighing their burdens of inexperienced help and scarcity of labor, met with City Health Officer Dr. J. W. Rollo last night. The meeting at the county courthouse drew about 30 men and women. City inspectors also attended. Many aired their views. It was another of a series of meetings the health department and caterers some weeks ago agreed to attend, as a round-table, and discuss ways and means of keeping the city's public eating places above reproach, or at least "within Army inspection bounds."

One man in the audience, Clarence Fox, a former Lubbock citizen, now operating a restaurant for service men with 50 civilian employes at the Big Spring bombadier school, spoke to the crowd. He offered observations from his recent experiences, which those present said were welcome.

Operators here said inexperienced help, breaking of dishes, inability to obtain paper cups, scarcity of capable help, traffic in health certificates, failure of landlords to cooperate in repairing and improving buildings, and the general rush of business all have combined to multiply their problems of cleanliness.

Dr. Rollo said much progress has been made, but much yet must be done if the city is to remain in its isolated position of having not one eating establishment declared "out of bounds" by the Army inspectors. It was pointed out that so far as is known here, Lubbock is the only place anywhere to maintain this record, and authorities are anxious that the record continue.

Col. Kenzie Ordered To Fort Worth Field

Lieut. Col. Howard D. Kenzie, youthful director of training and second in command of Lubbock Army Air field, has been ordered transferred to Fort Worth Army Air field for transition training in four-motor bombers, it was announced Wednesday by Colonel Ralph E. Holmes, commanding the twin-engine base.

An informal gathering of officers on the field at the LAAF officers mess honored Col Kenzie last night. He has long been known to desire transfer to a bombardment group.

A 1938 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, Col. Kenzie immediately applied for pilot training and won his wings the Randolph and Kelly fields route the following year.

Coming to LAAF soon after the twin-engine school was founded in February of 1942, he has advanced from captain to lieutenant colonel in rank and has been promoted from flying instructor to squadron commander to the highest ranking full-time flying job on the field.

Natives of Idaho, Col. and Mrs. Kenzie have resided here at 2803 27th street. Their home town is Boise, Idaho.

oil has steadily increased," Thompson added. "The profit has been steaily disappearing and many small independent operators, who in the past have been doing the discovering, have been compelled to either quit their efforts and go into some other kind of business, or sell out their production."

Wildcatters are selling out because of dwindling profits, and in the past, they have been the operators who have gone out and discovered new fields, Thompson said.

"There is a direct relationship between the price of oil and the rate of discovery of new fields. It has been demonstrated that the price of oil at a given time will control the rate of discovery of new fields two or three years thereafter," his statement set forth.

Japs' Position In Pacific Weakened

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

The Japanese position in the southwest Pacific is being weakened by American air and sea attacks to an extent that promises to be of vital importance in Japan's defeat in the later stages of the war.

The results being attained in the unremitting struggle can be measured better by considering their effect on Japan's future abiilty to withstand the major assault of the United Nations rather than in terms of immediate vicotries, spectacular as they sometimes are.

Process Of "Attrition"

The present American campaign around the Solomons and New Guinea should be classified as strategical rather than tactical. That is, they do not presage an immediate American offensive to reoccupy the seized islands and drive the Japanese from their major air and sea bases such as Rabaul or more remote Truk.

Such an offensive may be in the cards but responsible Washington commentators deprecate the idea that it is about to be launched. The process being employed by the American forces is referred to the military experts as "attrition."

Effect May Come Quickly

The term seems to imply a long-drawn struggle in which the enemy would be defeated by exhaustion. On the contrary, the effect may make itself felt within a matter of months.

The Japanese are losing heavily in air strength and in shipping, the two departments which far overshadow the importance of their compartively undepleted ground forces. The results are being achieved almost entirely by the rapidly growing offensive strength of our air force and by the submarine arm of the Navy.

Depends Upon Supplies

Japan's hold on the siezed Pacific islands depends heavily upen sea-borne supply through waters which have become fruitful hunting grounds for American submarines. These losses are hitting far harder at Japan than the German submarine campaign was able to hit at the United Nations in the Atlanitc.

According to a United Press dispatch from the submarine command, submarines alone are sinking more ships than Japan can build. Our subs are credited with sinking more than 230 Japanese ships of about 2,500,000 tons since Pearl Harbor. That is only half of the total, the remainder falling prey to our air and surface forces. According to Secretary Knox, our losses have been "negligible," averaging less than two ships a month.

Without Any Circus Ballyhoo, Col. Barnum Wants Less Customers

By J. EDWARD MURRAY
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 23 — A guy named Barnum runs the most popular American business in these isles—without any circus ballyhoo. He wants of all things—fewer customers with less money.

He is Col. Edmund Barnum, one-time exchange officer at Fort Bliss, Tex., and Boston, Mass. He's made $2,000,000 selling odds and ends from peanuts to soap to soldiers and wishes he hadn't.

A report today showed Barnum's profit from the PX stores—the U. S. Army exchange service—in the European theater of operations. It covered only a seven-month period ending in October, 1942.

Barnum has launched a campaign to get rid of the profits.

In the first place, he explained, it resulted from the fact that he has to sell goods manufactured in Great Britain at British fixed prices. All American goods—cigarets at less than five cents per package, for instance—are sold at cost. Restriction of shipping space is forcing Barnum to buy 90 per cent of the items he handles on the British market. He used to handle 1,400 separate articles — far fewer now.

Five-eighths of the profits made so far have been cut back to various unit funds since these stores aren't supposed to make a profit from their only lawful customers—service men, WAACs, American Red Cross member and war correspondents.

The rest is held as a working fund for the PX stores. They operate on the customer's money without government subsidy although the quartermaster corps takes responsibility for shipments until delivery and absorbs losses in shipping.
