Cooper appointed to Council

The City of Loraine gained one new council member and lost another during its regular session Thursday night.

Richard Cooper, 39, was appointed to the council position vacated by Catarino Martinez who was appointed mayor in June to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Roy Price. The selection of Cooper was unanimous.

Later in the meeting, Martinez read a letter of resignation from council member Gary Finley who was not present. Finley stated in his letter that he has moved to Snyder and therefore cannot continue to serve on the council.

Finley's letter was accepted unanimously, and Martinez advised council members that an appointment will need to be made to replace Finley.

In other business Thursday, the council voted not to provide water service or water deposit fees for any city employees. Martinex explained that the question of providing water service to employees was brought up at a previous meeting.

The council also instructed City Secretary Christine Britton to enforce the city's policy concerning delinquent water bill payments. Mrs. Britton said she currently is sending a letter to customers whose bills are delinquent. The council told her to continue that practice, but if payment is not received in an adequate amount of time, the water should be disconnected.

The council also agreed to hire Steve Crawford as a full-time city employee effective Sept. 15. The city has been using part-time help since the resignation of Joe Espinoza.

The council also agreed to advertise for bids for a used backhoe to replace one which no longer works. The bids will be opened at the Oct. 8 meeting.

A motion also was approved to hire a man one day a month to assist with garbage collection.

Loraine seeks grant for street paving

The City of Loraine is currently making plans to apply to the Texas Department of Community Affairs for Texas Community Development Program funds. The city is hoping to obtain a $271,945 grant with which to pave seven blocks of streets, said City Secretary Christine Britton.

The city will conduct two public hearings to discuss use of past TCDP awards, the amount of funds available and eligible activities. The first public hearing will be held at city hall, 101 Main Street, at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 17.

"The City of Loraine encourages individual citizens and citizen's groups to make their views known at these public hearings," said Mrs. Britton. "The city welcomes the full participation of its citizens in the development of this TCDP application."

If no early frost or bad bollworms

Some 490 Mitchell County farmers are looking at the prospects of the best cotton harvest since 1979.

Don Stewart of the ASCS office here said "the cotton crop is looking excellent in all parts of the County."

There are approximately 55,000 acres of cotton planted on 850 different farms in Mitchell County. A lot of the cotton was planted late, but "if there is not an early frost and not too much damage from bollworms, there should be about 50,000 bales produced," Stewart said. That would be an average yield of nearly a bale per acre.

Mitchell County farmers are certainly due a good year, after the disastrous crop last year when only 7,000 bales were ginned out of 50,000 acres planted. Because of the low price and poor yield, most of last year's crop was plowed up.

The worst crop in recent years was in 1984, when only 1,172 bales were ginned out of a 60,000 acres of cotton planted.

That bumper crop in 1979, produced 81,959 bales out of 75,500 acres planted, according to the ASCS records.

In addition, the current price of cotton is up. Last year the price hit a low of 25- to 35-cents per pound. This year, however, the current price is in the 45- to 50-cent range. Prices are rising main-

First quarter sales are down

Gross sales for the first quarter of 1987 in Mitchell County totaled $13,465,83, 7.3 percent less than the first quarter sales in 1986 of $14,527,636.

The figures were released by the State Comptroller of Public Accounts.

There are 203 reporting outlets in Mitchell County. Of the gross sales, the use tax purchases totaled $8,782 and the amount subject to tax totaled $5,535,167.

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"The Lord said to Abraham, 'Why did Sarah laugh and say "Shall I indeed bear a child when I am old?" Is anything impossible for the Lord? ...Sarah lied because she was frightened, and denied that she had laughed; but he said, "Yes, you did laugh." Genesis 18:14-15 once, but we can continue to be immature indefinitely."

Continuing with the subject: An older couple went to the doctor for a checkup. The man told the doctor, "I'm sick and I don't know what's the matter with me." After asking him a series of questions, the doctor finally asked, "Do you have sex?" He said wait and I'll ask Ma. "Ma, do we have sex?" She replied, "No, but we have medicare!"

Humor was one of the more serious topics at the 156th annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science which just concluded in Belfast, Northern Ireland. The scholars attending concluded that "men tell jokes because their social awkwardness inhibits them from discussing more serious things." "Women simply don't seem to require jokes in the same way men do," it was reported. One sociology professor revealed that there is a more or less fixed pool of ethnic jokes, which each country adapts to its own needs: in Britain, it's the Irish; in the northeastern USA, it's the Pollocks; in Indiana, it's the Kentuckians; in Texas, it's the Aggies. Ethnic jokes are really not racist: "They are a kind of thermometer rather than causing heat in themselves."

DID YOU KNOW? The French Legation in Austin, Texas is the only foreign embassy not located in Washington, D. C.

Gary Hart has been back in the news this week. I just cannot resist passing along a few items that appeared in Bill Beckham's "Yours Truly" column in the Wink Bulletin following the sex scandal that caused him to withdraw from the presidential race:

Q. What does Gary Hart say to his wife after sex?

A. "How's the weather out there in Denver, dear?"

Q. What is Gary Hart's definition of 'save sex'?

A. No press.

Q. What was Gary Hart's biggest mistake?

A. He didn't ask Teddy Kennedy to drive Miss Rice home.

Aren't they cruel! Thank goodness he didn't decide to re-enter the race as many of his backers anticipated. I might not have resisted from stating his new campaign slogan.

ly because of the poor crops last year in the U.S.A., as well as in China, the world's leading producer, and in Indiana, another leading producer.

On the national level, the Associated Press reported that in 1986, market prices for cotton dipped to an average of 53.8 cents per pound, the lowest price since 1975. The federal government gave growers $1.8 billion in subsidies to make up the difference between the market price and a target price of $1.10 per pound.

Since January, the market price has risen from 57.2 cents to 73.1 cents, while this year's federal target price has been lowered to 79.4 cents, according to the AP.

Six gins will be in operation in Mitchell County this season—two in the Loraine area; three in Colorado City area; and one at Westbrook. The China Grove and Buford gins have been closed.

Also the local Milo crop is looking good. There are 5,872 acres of milo planted in the County and although a small crop, an excellent yield is expected.

A tour of the Mitchell County farms has been scheduled for September 24.

Ray Mayo

I read recently that because of the depressed economy, more homeowners are remodeling and enlarging their existing homes rather than buying new ones.

If only they knew what they're getting into.

A renovation project my wife and I undertook shortly after we had gotten married caused a temporary separation.

Before you get the gossip mills going in full steam, let me explain that the separation was caused when my wife moved to the den rather than sleep in a bedroom with a plastic wall in the middle of January.

Actually, I thought it was kind of neat to look up and see the rafters in the ceiling as the wind popped the plastic where once an outside wall stood.

Obviously, my wife didn't see the thrill of it. Off to the den she went.

"Call me when there's a ceiling and a wall," she told me as she trudged down the hall with a pillow and quilts. "It's the middle of winter. I'm not going to sleep in that icebox."

True, it was winter, but the weather was rather mild. I didn't see any big deal about it all. It was sort of like camping out, but in the comfort of your own bed. She didn't see it that way.

Anyway, it wasn't long before there was a new wall in place with a big bay window overlooking the patio.

Of course, there were other discomforts as well during the building phase.

A closet had once stood where the plastic was now blowing in the wind. Until the large walk-in closet was finished, we had clothes hanging in the hall, stretched across boxes in a spare bedroom and hanging on the door to the laundry room. There's still a pair of pants I haven't found, but I'm sure they'll turn up some day.

Another slight discomfort was all the sawdust. Now I'll admit that our contractor was very cautious about the sawdust and he carried a portable vacuum cleaner with him to clean up most of the dust at the end of each working day.

Still, when you have saws sawing all day long, there's going to be a lot of sawdust - in places you never imagined it would get. A lot of it must have ended up in my sinuses, judging from the amount of sneezing I did.

Of course, any type of remodeling or renovation requires a lot of decision-making about carpet style and color, wallpaper selection, bathroom fixtures, etc.

We seemed to do that all that backyards - maybe not backyard but the hard way at least. We bought furniture for a sitting area in the bedroom before the construction even started. The furniture was put in storage so we had to envision what it would look like with the various samples of carpet and wallpaper. It wasn't easy, but we got through it without any major arguments - and it all matched we were finished.

Despite all the hassles and discomforts, the project was worth it. Of course, there is one major problem. My wife has told me that if we ever move, we're going to have to take the bathroom and sleep with us. Try explaining that one to a contractor.

Letters to Editor...

To the editor:
Those hustle bustle, frantic first days of the 1987-88 school year are winding down now, and it is time to "pass out the flowers" to those people who made the beginning of the school year so enjoyable for all the teachers of the CISD.

On behalf of the 107 members of the Colorado Chapter of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, I would like to extend our thanks to the members of the Chamber of Commerce who prepared a delicious breakfast for us on the opening day of inservice. Chairperson Marian Craddock also provided wonderful entertainment for us, which was performed by Tandy Curlee and Margaret Baum. Our local financial institutions donated flowers and favors for new and returning teachers alike. Thanks also to Mayor Baum, Ben Lancaster, Glenn Roenfeldt and B.B.

Bridgford for their opening comments which did, indeed, make us feel welcome.

The CTA would also like to express our appreciation to those restaurants who gave teachers and administrators special lunch rates and/or discounts for the five days of inservice: Big John's Buffalo Burgers, Mac Michael's, Lujan's, Dairy Queen, Our House, The Gazebo, Gas n' Grub, Sonic, Pizazz Hut and Villa Restaurant.

Our last note of thanks goes to KVMC/KAUM radio for allowing TCTA to have free air time for our back-to-school public awareness commercials.

Once again, our community has provided its educators with that positive support that makes teaching in Colorado City so special.

With sincere thanks,
Kathlyn Arthur, President
Colorado Classroom
Teachers Association

It was a small school, all 12 grades crammed into the same building, and all of us sitting in the gymnasium that was hooked onto the left end.

Each of the grades had its own seating section in the bleachers that day. Ours was unique only because our parents were sitting with us. We were first graders.

The superintendent of schools, a gray, fat man who occasionally liked to load up stray dogs and pile them in the trunk of his old Plymouth and carry them off to parts unknown gave the welcoming speech.

Then it was off to class. Dad pointed out the boys bathroom on the way, then deposited me cheerfully at the door of Miss Thomas, the oldest teacher in the entire school system - perhaps in the entire world.

Before the year was over, she would paddle me for staying on the softball field after it was time to come in from recess. And she would clean the mud off of me - from head to toe - after I fell out of a swing trying to go as high as my best friend, Donnie.

She was all smiles on opening day, though, and her words were soothing to a frightened child.

Miss Thomas was a patriotic lady who glued empty spools onto the right corner of the desks - spools that would hold small flags of the United States. All you had to do to retain your flag was be a good citizen.

Donnie lost his several times, but I only remember being stripped of my citizenship once. It was enough. I remember placing my head on the desk in shame like some sort of Benedict Arnold. I'd been caught with chewing gum, or something equally un-American.

Donnie would be a problem all year. Unlike me, the preacher's kid, Donnie didn't get paragonage upbringing. In fact, Donnie had a way of doing whatever Donnie wanted to do, and my Dad had a habit of saying Donnie would wind up in the electric chair.

It only made me more determined to do as Donnie did - at least until he was given his final cigarette and escorted to the chair.

His Dad was a mechanic who had tattoos on his arms, smoked cigarettes with long ashes, and liked to have his friends over for a few beers now and then.

Donnie and his older brother used to tell about the time their dad and one of his friends, got into an argument in the kitchen. "Daddy knocked him clean out the back door," they said proudly - at least a hundred times.

Whereas, I was required to be in Sunday School and church every time the doors opened, Donnie seemed able to do whatever he liked. Often as not, he'd have his mom iron him his best white shirt so he could go to church with me.

He was kind of a pro-choice kid, you might say. A time or two he got bored and walked out in the middle of the service to have a Donnie eventually whipped every boy in the first-grade class, and his brother, a third-grader, usually whipped Donnie on the way home from school.

The last time I saw my doomed friend, he was working with young people by teaching school and coaching, warning those who refused discipline, they'd wind up in the electric chair.

Funny how those first graders turn out.

Defense, Rees, topple Seminole

SEMINOLE--The Colorado City Wolves registered another solid defensive performance here Friday night-allowing the only Seminole points with 37 seconds remaining in the game.

It took the Wolves offense half the game to get untracked, but once they did so, they neared 400 yards of output for a 21-7 blowout of the Indians-the second AAA squad in as many weeks to fall to the Pack.

Colorado City finished with 312 yards rushing and were a perfect four of four passing for another 51 yards on the arm of Ismael Silva.

The Wolves led only 6-0 at halftime, but came out rolling in the second half in which they failed to score on only one possession.

Junior fullback Beau Rees ran 193 yards on 23 carries-gaining 84 yards in the first half and leading the second half blowout with another 109 yards. Rees has 345 yards in two games of 1987.

Seminole never penetrated past the Colorado City 20 yard line until its last possession. The Indians scored on their last drive-and 11 plays, 66 yard march behind the determined play of substitute quarterback Steve Anderson.

While the Wolves defense controlled Seminole from the start of the game-with help from Seminole turnovers and penalties-Colorado City's offense got off to a rocky start.

The Pack had trouble holding onto the ball for the first one and half quarters of play.

Colorado City running back Pat Tillis recovered an errant pitch from Silva that stalled the Wolves first drive at the Seminole 38.

Thirty-five rushing yards by Rees and a six yard run by sophomore Tracy Edwards put Colorado City at the Seminole one yard line the next time the Wolves got the ball. From there Silva lost four yards, then fumbled the snap on the next play and Rudolfo DeLeon recovered for Seminole at the Indians eight.

Seminole could get no where, but Colorado City gave the ball back by fumbling a punt return to start the second quarter.

That set Seminole up at the Colorado City 28, but on the next play, Darvin Jackson got a fumble recovery for the Wolves at their own 23.

The Wolves got their offense going at that time with a 13 play drive that ended on a four yard score by Rees with 2:45 left in the half. Ray Rivera's point after kick was wide right for a 6-0 score.

In the drive were 45 rushing yards by Rees and 18 and 12 yard passes from Silva to Joe David Rodriguez and Pat Tillis, respectively. Tillis finished the game with 64 yards rushing on nine carries.

The Wolves marched 75 yards in eight plays their first possession of the second half and scored on a three yard run by Rees with 3:58 left in the third quarter to make it 14-0. Rees again followed the right side of the line for two extra points. Rees had a 55 yard run in the drive from his own 30 to the Seminole 15.

Colorado City got a fumble recovery to end Seminole's next drive, but gave the ball back when Rees had a punt blocked.

Seminole went on to reach the 28 of the Wolves before Chris Perkin intercepted for Colorado City at the 25 and returned the ball 75 yards for an apparent score. It was called back for a clipping penalty, but the Wolves soon made it 21-0 anyway on a four yard run by Edwards with 4:45 left in the game.

Included in the nine play, 71 yard drive were 16 yards from Rees, an 11 yard pass from Silva to Brandon Fuller, a nine yard run by Tillis and a 22 yard reverse run by Mark Russell.

Rivera kicked the PAT.

Seminole then got its score, but it was way too little, way too late.

Stats for Colorado City were 20 first downs; 45 rushes for 312 (6.0 average); 51 yards passing; one punt for 30 yards; two of three fumbles lost; four of four passes completed with no interceptions and four penalties for 35 yards.

Seminole's stats were 14 first downs; 40 rushes for 189 yards (4.6 average); 51 yards passing; one punt for 34 yards; two of two fumbles lost; five of 12 passes completed with one interception; and eight penalties for 43 yards.

The Colorado City Wolves registered another solid defensive performance here Friday night-allowing the only Seminole points with 37 seconds remaining in the game.

It took the Wolves offense half the game to get untracked, but once they did so, they neared 400 yards of output for a 21-7 blowout of the Indians-the second AAA squad in as many weeks to fall to the Pack.

Colorado City finished with 312 yards rushing and were a perfect four of four passing for another 51 yards on the arm of Ismael Silva.

The Wolves led only 6-0 at halftime, but came out rolling in the second half in which they failed to score on only one possession.

Junior fullback Beau Rees ran 193 yards on 23 carries-gaining 84 yards in the first half and leading the second half blowout with another 109 yards. Rees has 345 yards in two games of 1987.

Seminole never penetrated past the Colorado City 20 yard line until its last possession. The Indians scored on their last drive-and 11 plays, 66 yard march behind the determined play of substitute quarterback Steve Anderson.

While the Wolves defense controlled Seminole from the start of the game-with help from Seminole turnovers and penalties-Colorado City's offense got off to a rocky start.

The Pack had trouble holding onto the ball for the first one and half quarters of play.

Colorado City running back Pat Tillis recovered an errant pitch from Silva that stalled the Wolves first drive at the Seminole 38.

Thirty-five rushing yards by Rees and a six yard run by sophomore Tracy Edwards put Colorado City at the Seminole one yard line the next time the Wolves got the ball. From there Silva lost four yards, then fumbled the snap on the next play and Rudolfo DeLeon recovered for Seminole at the Indians eight.

Seminole could get no where, but Colorado City gave the ball back by fumbling a punt return to start the second quarter.

That set Seminole up at the Colorado City 28, but on the next play, Darvin Jackson got a fumble recovery for the Wolves at their own 23.

The Wolves got their offense going at that time with a 13 play drive that ended on a four yard score by Rees with 2:45 left in the half. Ray Rivera's point after kick was wide right for a 6-0 score.

In the drive were 45 rushing yards by Rees and 18 and 12 yard passes from Silva to Joe David Rodriguez and Pat Tillis, respectively. Tillis finished the game with 64 yards rushing on nine carries.

The Wolves marched 75 yards in eight plays their first possession of the second half and scored on a three yard run by Rees with 3:58 left in the third quarter to make it 14-0. Rees again followed the right side of the line for two extra points. Rees had a 55 yard run in the drive from his own 30 to the Seminole 15.

Colorado City got a fumble recovery to end Seminole's next drive, but gave the ball back when Rees had a punt blocked.

Seminole went on to reach the 28 of the Wolves before Chris Perkin intercepted for Colorado City at the 25 and returned the ball 75 yards for an apparent score. It was called back for a clipping penalty, but the Wolves soon made it 21-0 anyway on a four yard run by Edwards with 4:45 left in the game.

Included in the nine play, 71 yard drive were 16 yards from Rees, an 11 yard pass from Silva to Brandon Fuller, a nine yard run by Tillis and a 22 yard reverse run by Mark Russell.

Rivera kicked the PAT.

Seminole then got its score, but it was way too little, way too late.

Stats for Colorado City were 20 first downs; 45 rushes for 312 (6.0 average); 51 yards passing; one punt for 30 yards; two of three fumbles lost; four of four passes completed with no interceptions and four penalties for 35 yards.

Seminole's stats were 14 first downs; 40 rushes for 189 yards (4.6 average); 51 yards passing; one punt for 34 yards; two of two fumbles lost; five of 12 passes completed with one interception; and eight penalties for 43 yards.

AVOID POWER LINE CONTACTS!

THE SAFE CHANNEL—Antennas

A major cause of power line contact and resulting electrocution accidents is a failure to properly control the movement of television or radio antennas, guy wires and mast assemblies during installation or removal. Victims of such accidents often simply do not notice the presence of a power line or misjudge the distance required for clearance. Keep your antenna in the safe channel of movement, away from power lines.

PROGRAM FOR SAFETY!

1. Locate all antennas a safe distance from power lines—a horizontal distance from the base to the power line of at least twice the length of the antenna structure.
2. When putting up or taking down an antenna, have enough help to control the whole structure. It's a good idea to have an observer to watch the work and summon help if needed.
3. Plan installation activities ahead of time to avoid misunderstandings.
4. Locate guy wires and anchoring devices so there is no chance of them coming into contact with any power line, service line or communications line. If a metal guy wire contacts any power source, the antenna and mast will also be energized.
5. Don't install or work with an antenna, mast or guys in wet or windy weather.

Heritage Week declared

The week of Sept. 14-18 has been proclaimed as National Hispanic Heritage Week by President Ronald Reagan.

Kevin Wright, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Colorado City, said his agency recognizes the many Hispanic Americans, especially those involved in agriculture.

"The Hispanic culture made many contributions to agriculture," Wright said. "Early laws required every Spanish ship that traveled to the new world to carry a supply of seeds and livestock."

"Wheat, rye, barley and sugar cane are among the major crops which were brought to America by the Spanish. In the 1600s, the Spanish introduced irrigation into Mexico and Texas," he said.

SCS has several Hispanic employees, most of whom are involved this year in helping landowners and operators prepare conservation plans on highly erodible land to stay in compliance with the Food Security Act of 1985. The Colorado City office has Lee Rodriguez, range conservationist, and Paul Arrellano, soil conservation aide, to assist Mitchell County landowners.

Conservation planning and other technical assistance is provided by the SCS through locally operated soil and water conservation districts.
