Red China Divisions Seen Fighting In Eastern Korea

Puerto Rican Revolts Flare In 3 Regions

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 30. (AP) — Nationalists clashed with police today at three towns, in a sudden outbreak which authorities said appeared to be part of an organized uprising.

Early reports said four persons—three Nationalists and a policeman,—were killed and a number wounded. Reports reaching here said eight Nationalists were arrested.

Although the Nationalists follow much the same line in Puerto Rico as the Communists, there was no evidence that the Communists were involved in the outbreak. Both parties demand the complete independence of Puerto Rico from the United Satates. The island is a territory whose 2 million people are U. S. citizens.

The clashes occurred at Ponce, 50 miles southwest of San Juan, and the nearby town of Penuelas, both in the southern coastal area, and at Arecibo on the northern coast.

Nationalist opposition to the government intensified recently over the issue of a new constitution which Congress approved.

Nationalists stormed the police station at Ponce and an armed clash ensued.

Meanwhple a group of 30 police, carrying out a search for the president of the Nationalist Party, Pedro Albizu Campos, went to the home of Albizu's mother near Penuelas and were met by gunfire. The police returned the shots.

Possibility Of Production In Nolan County

Sun Oil Co. No. 1 Susie R. Featherstone, Central Nolan County wildcat, located 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 38, block X, T&P survey, is bottomed at 6,192 feet in upper Strawn lime and is preparing to run five and one-half inch casing to make a production test.

This exploration ran a drillstem test at 6,163-92 feet. The tool was open one hour. Gas showed at the surface in ten minutes. No fluid came to the top while the tester was open.

Recovery was 1,320 feet of clean oil of 37.4 gravity, 265 feet of oil-and-gas-cut drilling mud and five feet of salt water.

The water had a salt content of 100,000 part of chloride per million. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 175 pound and 450 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure was 2,100 pounds after 15 minutes.

This possible new discovery is 10 miles southeast of Sweetwater.

Sunray Oil Corp. has filed application to drill a 10,500-foot wildcat in Northwest Lynn Counyt.

It will be that company's No. 1 Sunray-Sohio Ernst and will be drilled 1,980 feet from the east and north lines of section 140, block 12, EL&RR survey.

Destination is calculated to take the explorer to the Pennsylvanian lime.

Nearest production from the formation is in the two well Mound Lake field in Northeast Terry County.

The wildcat will be drilled three miles southeast of Lakeview. Operations are to commence at once.

NEW LOCATION

Official location has been reported for a deep wildcat to be drilled in Northwest Dawson County by Standard Oil Co. of Texas.

The project will be Stanotex No. 1 Glen F. Pool and others, and it is to be 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of section 123, block M, EL&RR survey.

That makes it about 15 miles northwest of Lamesa and a short distance southeast of the Clear Lake field, which produces from the San Andres Permian lime above 5,000 feet.

Roads are now being built to the location and drilling will be started as soon as rotary equipment can be moved in.

The wildcat is projected to at least 10,500 feet and it may penetrate below that level unless it developes production by the time it reaches that point.

This location is one-half mile south of a previously reported location from unofficial sources. That location would have been Stanotex No. 1, M. C. Lindsey and others and would have been 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 122, block M, EL&RR survey.

It is understood that Stanotex at first planned to drill on the Lindsey location and then abandoned

TEST SPRABERRY

Houston Oil Co. of Texas No. 1 T. A. Golladay, North Central Midland County wildcat, eight miles southeast of the city of Midland is bottomed at 7,390 feet in porous Spraberry sand and shale, and is running a drillstem test.

This project picked the top of the Spraberry to be at 7,360 feet.

Beauties and Beast

Tales of night riding witches and goblins cause many a fright at Halowe'en as American youngsters shudder to the noise of a "tick-tack" grating on the window pane. But—in daylight—they're not so scary. Here four-year-old Julia Troutwine (right) stares with facination at this big witch, made of papier-mache, on the southside Plaza district of Kansas City, Mo. Tommy Pickell (left) 2½, seems more interested in what might be brewing in the big caldron. Dickie Short, 16 months and still too young to comprehend, just stares indifferently at the cameraman.

Be Prepared for Shock When Doorbell Rings Tomorrow Night

The old - fashioned Hallowe'en ghost would hardly recognize his modern counterpart, but the spirit is still the same.

Hallowe'en trick-or-treat callers this year will be decked out in rubber face masks, oversized hands and feet and noses attached to gasses. At least one store had a sell-out on masks Saturday, leaving only three for latecomers. Other stores were also running low on masks, and costumes.

Costumes aren't limited by any means. There will probably be as many cowboys as witches, however, and gypsies and ghosts are other farorites.

Private parties will provide most of the formal Hallowe'en entertainment, although more Hallowe'en pranksters will probably devote their evening to trick or treat calling.

Facial masks come in a variety of patterns, from weird to grotesque. They may completely cover the head of the wearer or only the face, and have an amazingly real appearnace. The old fabric masks haven't lost their popularity, and still furnish the old mustached grin or scowl.

The rubber hands and feet are comparatively new on the costume scene. They fit securely over the feet or hands, and are tinted flesh color to blend in with the wearer's skin.

People who stay at home planning a quiet evening tomorrow night may get more than they are prepared for when they answer the doorbell. At any rate, it probably won't be a dull evening.

Election Saturday On Ira School Bond Issue

A bond election for $60,000 for enlarging the Ira school plant was called for Nov. 4 by members of the Ira School Board in a recent meeting.

Planning extension on the two south wings of the school building, the board has proposed the building of four new classrooms, a new cafeteria, and two large inside rest rooms.

The bond contract has been awarded to the Central Investment Co. of Plainview, which will handle them if the bond is approved by voters at the interest rate of two and one-fourth per cent for the first three years and two and one-half per cent for the remaining years during a 14-year period.

Funds would also pay for a metal agriculture building, which is to be places west of the school building.

Approximately 174 property taxpayers in the Ira district are eligible to vote in the Saturday elec-

Chiang Kai-shek To Mark 64th Birthday In Northern Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, Oct. 30. (AP)—Somewhere in northern Formosa, President Chiang Kai-shek tomorrow will observe his 64th birthday.

Chiang left Taipei the middle of last week. Madame Chiang is with him. Last year she was in the United States. He was in Formosa and Nationalist China's position on the mainland was crumbling fast before the Chinese Communists.

Although his domain since has shrunk to Formosa and a few islands off the Red China mainland, Chiang's position today is somewhat stronger than it was a year ago.

Politically, Nationalist China is united. Econoically, it is getting on its feet.

Sources close to Chiang say he has been encouraged greatly by reports from the mainland of growing popular resistance to the Reds and by continual evidence of support he is receiving from Chinese communities abroad.

Allies Fighting In Indochina To Reorganize

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
(Associated Pres Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. — Anti-Communist allies of the French in Indochina are expected by American officials to be reorganized soon into three national armies with an ultimate total strength of 150,000 or more.

The military re-shuffle has been favored by the United States to help cope with Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's revolt. Diplomatic informants forecast an announcement from Saigon and Paris, possibly within the next few days, that it has been put into effect.

MORE PRESTIGE

The anticipated immediate result is to shift more prestige and authority from the French to former Emperor Bao Dai, chief of the new state of Vietnam, and the kings of Laos and Cambodia. The reported plan is to give the command of their own forces, which would fight with the French as equals and allies rather than as colonial subordinates.

All this is calculated to mean wider popular support and higher morale, and later on more manpower, for the American-supported fight to keep strategic Indonesia out of Communist control. The state department has been following the policy of promoting non-Communist Asiatic nationalism.

MORE REVERSES

Meantime despite the French reverses along the Red China border, American officials here say they are cautiously optimistic over prospects for halting Ho's advance along the new defense line in the Red River Valley. American arms are being sped to the new fighting front under priorities second only to shipments to Korea. The French Aircraft Carrier Dixmude reached Dalgon at the week end with several score American war planes and other weapons.

Tibet Is Called Danger Spot

TAIPEI, Formosa, Oct. 30. (AP)—Nationalist China's foreign minister said today that Tibet was "a world danger spot like Korea and Indochina."

Minister George Yeh, interviewed by the Associated Press, had his own explanation for India's concern over the reported Chinese Communist invasion of the remote land of the Lamas.

"India," he said, "has always wanted to run the affairs of Tibet as much, no doubt, as the Chinese Communists want to today.

"India has never recognized the Chinese Communists as an aggressor until this moment when her self interest is at stake and her own security is being threatened.

"If the Indian authorities had been more international-minded, they would not have been so surprised at the present development. The reported invasion of Tibet is in line with the expansionist program of the Kremlin."

Republicans To Let Truman's Radio Speech Go Unmatched

By JACK BELL
(Associated Pres Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. — Republicans may let President Truman's single-shot election broadcast go unmatched on the airways. A party spokesman said today they can't dig up the money for similar radio time.

Mr. Truman's campaign closer for the Democrats — a St. Louis speech in which he plans to sum up the congressional issues Saturday night — will be broadcast by four radio networks. That kind of operation costs around $50,000, which the Democrats are ready to fork over.

A GOP headquarters spokesman, who didn't want to be quoted by name, told a reporter the Republicans haven't got that kind of money at this stage of the game.

NONE AVAILABLE

"I don't know where the money would come from," he said.

He added that contributions to the GOP war chest hadn't been so good for the last month. Financial reports to Congress show the party has spent more than it has taken in. The Democrats, however, have a nest egg of about $800,000 for the campaign wind-up.

Aside from some campaign speech help given them by National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson, Harold E. Stassen, 1948 presidential aspirant, and a group of Republican senators, GOP candidates largely are being left to fight their battles alone.

MORE TALKS

Mr. Truman's Saturday night talk will cap campaign speeches during the week by Vice President Barkley, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and other administration figures.

Before his political talk, the President is expected to wrap up as something of a campaign document a call for Congress to meet earlier than the Nov. 27 reconvening date it set when it quit in September.

Sen. Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporteres in Illiniois where he is campaigning that he had discussed the matter with the President but no decision had been reached.

Colorful Ceremony As New King Takes Sweden's Throne

By GUSTAV SVENSSON
(By The Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 30. —Gustaf VI today was proclaimed "king of the Swedes, the Goths and the Wends," the first new ruler to ascend the ancient Swedish throne in nearly half a century.

He succeeds his father, 92-year-old King Gustaf V., whose death yesterday morning after a reign of nearly 43 years plunged the nation into deepest mourning.

NOW OFFICIAL

To all effects and purposes the son, born Prince Oscar Frederik Wilhelm Olaf Gustaf Adolf, has been Sweden's monarch since his father's death. But at colorful ceremonies today in the cabinet council room of Stockholm's royal palace he took the royal oath pledging himself to adhere strictly to the constitution and to rule "as a righteous king and gracious father of the Swedish people by a legal, just and mild government."

Socialist Premier Tage Erlander read the oath in the presence of his cabinet and Sweden's hereditary princes, who immediately gave their pledge of allegiance to the new king. Erlander then formally tendered his government's resignation and the king in turn asked the cabinet to remain in office.

PROCESSION

The king then led a stately procession to the great hall of state in the palace, where his wife, Queen Louise, members of the royal family and the court awaited.

Gustaf ascended his silver throne, which was covered by his ermine mantle. His jewelled crown and scepter were placed to the left and right of the throne.

Baptist Will Let Contract On Wednesday

The decision on acceptance of construction bids for the First Baptist Church auditorium was not made last night as previously announced, but was postponed until the Wednesday night meeting.

Members of the church will decide on acceptance or rejection of the low bids submitted for the three phases of construction at the Wednesday meeting.

Low bids totaling $187,694 for general construction of the new auditorium, electrical work, and cooling and plumbing, were submitted by two Abilene firms and a Big Spring electrical contractor, the Rev. E. K. Shepherd, pastor said.

The B. F. Horn general construction bid was submitted with a maximum time limit of 220 days for completion of constructon.

Present auditorium of the church will be remodeled and used for an education building when the new auditorium is completed.

The church has a total of more than $122,000 in cash and pledges in the building fund.

[illegible] auditorium. The brick parsonage, now about 50 feet west of the present auditorium, will be moved to a new location when construction begins.

Low bids for the auditorium construction selected from an unusually large number of bids were B. F. Horn, Abilene, general construction, $154,800; Connally Stephens, Abilene, plumbing and yearround air conditioning, $27,018; and R. B. Tally, Big Spring, electrical work, $5,876.

Malik Demands Council Elect New UN Leader

By STANLEY JOHNSON

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 30. (AP) — Russia's Jacob A. Malik demanded today that the Security Council keep trying to elect a new secretary-general of the United Nations instead of tossing the problem to the vote-free general assembly.

His demand was made at a closed-door session of the council as a final move to delay almost certain approval of a 14-nation resolution calling for a three-year extension of Lie's term by the assembly.

A session of the assembly has been called for tomorrow to act on the American-backed plan to extend Lie's tenure.

Informed quarters said Malik began the council meeting this morning by insisting that the 11-nation body continue its efforts to settle the problem. In his initial speech, however, he did not submit the name of any new candidate to succeed Lie.

U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin has indicated he will cast the first American veto, if necessary, to prevent council nomination of anyone but Lie.

The council has reached a complete deadlock twice and both times notified the assembly of this fact. Legal authorities say the assembly, in such circumstances, has the authority to extend the incumbent's term, although it cannot elect anyone new without a council recommendation.

Both times Malik has called for another council try and thus kept the assembly from acting.

Russia is determined to throw Lie out because he actively supported United Nations action in Korea. The United States wants to keep him to vindicate that action and prove that no secretary general need fear for his job when he acts against Russian wishes.

Ex-Lord Mayor Dies

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., Oct. 30. (AP) —Sir Arthur Charles Davis, 72, Lord Mayor of London in 1945-46, died Friday.

New Cabinet For Israel

JERUSALEM, Oct. 30. (AP) — Warring Israeli political parties patched up their difficulties last night and paved the way for a new coalition cabinet. Their action forestalled the dissolution of the knesset (parliament) and new general elections.

Premier David Ben-Gurion, Mapai (Labor) Party leader who resigned two weeks ago, apparently is slated to head the new government. A Mapai party spokesman said the new cabinet lineup might be announced today.

An agreement between the Mapai and the religious bloc paved the way to an end to the Israeli cabinet crisis. Ben-Gurion had resigned after the bloc's three cabinet representatives refused to support government shifts the premier proposed to meet Isral's financial difficulties.

One of the four parties in the religious bloc, Mizrachi, refused to endorse the agreement and said it would not support the new government. This action, however, still left the incoming coalition with a comfortable parliamentary majority.

Tibetan Troops Falling Back Before Chinese

By STEVEN V. DAVID
(Associated Pres Staff)

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 30. — Tibetan troops were reported today to have retreated in the face of Chinese Communist invaders to within 200 miles of the mountain country's capital of Lhasa.

India's representative at Lhasa advised his government here that the defending troops abandoned Lho Dzong (Lolungchung) on Oct. 22 and Shoshado on Oct. 27 and fell back to Pemba Go.

Pemba Go is 200 airline miles east of Lhasa, on a main caravan route to Chamdo, an important east Tibetan defense center. A government spokesman here said the caravan journey from Pemba Go to Lhasa usually required a month but could be made in two weeks.

Earlier the Kalimpong correspondent of the Calcutta newspaper, The Statesman, reported the Chinese Communists were believed planning a three-pronged drive on Lhasa, from both the northeast and southeast, as well as other advances into eastern Tibet and into the north of the remote Hialayan-ma-ruled country.

The Indian government spokesman added that Tibet has asked India for any diplomatic assistance it could give — specifically for the "continuance of the good offices which India has made available in the past."

Tito Promised American Aid

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 30. (AP)—Yugoslavia's famine-threatened people had assurance from Premier Marshall Tito today that enough American aid will be forthcoming to prevent starvation —with no strings attached.

"The American government did not impose any conditions," Tito told the final session of the Congress of Anti-Fascist Women at Zagreb yesterday. "It will be possible to get all we need in order to feed whole districts which are damaged thoroughly by the drouth."

Discussing the smoldering conflict between his country and the Soviet bloc, Tito declared the Russian-led Cominform nations had prepared an attack "to break Yugoslavia from the inside or from the outside, secretly and openly."

Yugoslavia, he added, is quietly suffering continued border provocations which involve human victims —"A small war," as he phrased it —because retaliation would produce fatal results for Yugoslavia and world peace.

However, he was prepared to protest against the border incidents to the United Nations, the premier said.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson disclosed last week that American food for Yugoslavia is already being loaded for shipment.

Defense Framers Must Agree On Question Of German Army

By ELTON F. FAY
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. — The Atlantic Powers Defense Committee set out to finish framing today the structure of a combined defense force to protect western Europe against any aggression from Russia.

But interposed was an old obstacle over which the Atlantic nations had stumbled before—should German forces be organized to participate in the common defense? If so, under what conditions?

The opening of today's session held forth hopes that the defense ministers of the 12 pact countries could iron out details and disagreements by tonight. It was a hope, not a certainty.

FIRST MEET

In the first closed-door meeting of the defense committee on Saturday, French Defense Minister Jules Moch presented his government's ideas about the German question. Presumably they were as stated before: The rearming of western Germany, the formation of German military forces, should wait until some form of European defense council is formed. This civilian council would control a supra-national military force. If eventually there are any German units in it they shouldn't be big, but should be smaller than division size.

This isn't the idea of the United States and Britain. They contend the menace of Russia is so great and urgent that everything possible should be done swiftly—including formation of German units to help the combined defense. They have offered guarantees on the size and control of the German units, but not the kind Moch's government demands.

LONG TALKS

Everyone talked about it for long hours on Saturday. Then, after all the ministers had a chance for phone consultations with their home governments during a Sunday recess, they were called back this morning to talk some more.

For some reason, the final agreement to establish the command had been left aside while the conferees talked about the French position on German rearmament and on other matters. This was despite a previous general informal accord on creating the command and the widespread understanding the commander probably would be the American Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Allies Worried By Entrance Of Chinese

Americans Bolster ROK Division In Critical Battle Near Border

(Associated Pres Staff)

SEOUL, Oct. 30. — Two Red divisions—reported made up mostly of Chinese Communists—drove tonight on the Korean east coast city of Hamhung, far behind the slowing allied advance toward the Manchurian border.

South Korean Republican officers said the counter-attacking force numbered more than 10,000 men and was 30 miles northwest of Hamburg. The Reds were reported well-organized and full of fight.

This development came shortly after a U. S. 10th Corps spokesman said two Chinese regiments were in action in the same area —the first official word that a sizable Chinese force was helping the desperate North Koreans.

EXAGGERATED?

Commenting on the Hamhung report —relayed by AP Correspondent Ben Price — the 10th Corps spokesman said it "is basically on the right track but the units in mention are larger than our information indicates."

Thus it still was not clear whether the South Korean report on the number of Chinese was exaggerated. However, Americans in the Korean Military Advisory Group (KMAG), said they considered the situation serious.

The enemy force was reported smashing at the flank of the South Korean 26th Regiment about 10 miles southeast of the big Chosin hydroelectric reservoir. The reservoir is about 40 air miles south of the Manchurian border.

Price reported that a captured Korean Red officer said the attacking force was under orders to capture Hamburg — a huge one-time chemical center—by Wednesday.

NOTHING OFFICIAL

There still was no indication whether this was considered open intervention by Red China in the Korean war. Other official spokesmen earlier disclosed some individual Chinese had been captured. That was not regarded as intervention.

The most critical area in the blazing northwest front was near Onjong. U. S. tanks and artillery were rushed there to help the Republic of Korea (ROK) Sixth Division. This is about 45 miles south of the border.

More than 10,000 Communists, reported to include some Chinese, chewed the division by one-third three days of fighting and forced it to flee in disorder.

ROKS STALLED

The ROK third division was stalled in its push toward the reservoir from Hamhung, on the east coast.

In addition to these reinforcements, North Korean women were reported going to the front. The Reds evidently were trying to hold at all costs until wintry blasts overtaken the allied forces.

On the left flank of the retreating ROK Sixth Division, the Fifth Regimental Combat team of the U. S. 24th Division battled to within 34 miles of the Manchurian border.

AP Correspondent William Jorden reported the Americans suffered heavy casualties from mortar and small arms fire. By nightfall, the regiment was digging in two miles east of Kusong after a five-mile advance.

KILL 400 REDS

The Americans killed some 400 Reds and took 115 prisoners, including two Chinese.

More gruesome evidence of Red atrocities was uncovered—80 bodies of North Korean civilians at Pakchon, 48 miles north of Pyongyang, the former Red capital.

Moscow Reported To Be Telling Chinese Reds To Ease Off

TAIPEI, Formosa, Oct. 30. (AP)—Pro-Nationalist reports, labelled "information received from the mainland," said today that Moscow had instructed the Chinese Reds to back down over Korea and not to take openly provocative action in Indochina.

The reports, which must be treated with reserve, said Moscow was anxious not to have the Chinese Reds lose their chance of admittance to the United Nations.

The reports quoted Chou En-Lai, Communist premier and foreign minister, as having told his subordinates:

"We must be very careful in our military moves. We cannot afford to go back to the Caves of Yenan."

Everything Hanging On The Texas-S.M.U. Game This Week

By WILBUR MARTIN
(Associated Press Staff)

Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas tangle this week and no fiction writer could have devised a more thrilling situation.

Hinging very probably on the outcome is the Southwest Conference football championship and a host bid to the Cotton Bowl New Year's day.

For a certainty national prestige hinges on the result.

Underlying these factors is a smoldering bitterness on the part of Texas, born of three straight lickings it feels it shouldn't have taken from the Mustangs.

Texas, the country's seventh ranking team, tuned up for this "big game" of 1950 by crushing Rice last week, 35-7.

Southern Methodist, rated the nation's best in the last Associated Press football poll, was idle. The week before it had smothered Rice, 42-21.

AGGIES SHOCKED

In other games last week Baylor shocked mighty Texas A&M, 27-20; Arkansas bowed to Vanderbilt, 14-13, and Texas Christian lost to Mississippi, 19-7.

Baylor, the team figured for the cellar and doped an easy push-over for the rampaging Aggies, turned in its annual upset. The Bears simply outplayed A&M and side-tracked the Aggies' comeback special.

Sixty-six thousand persons — all Texas' big stadium can hold—are due to watch the Longhorns and Southern Methodist play at Austin.

The country's top passing game and a ground attack as deadly as any in the conference make Southern Methodist a slight favorite.

PLENTY ACTION

While this tilt takes the spotlight, there's plenty of action elsewhere.

Texas A&M entertains Arkansas at College Station in a night game. Rice meets non-conference Texas Tech at Houston and Baylor goes to Fort Worth to meet Texas Christian University.

The man most able to compare Southern Methodist and Texas—Rice Coach Jess Neely—wouldn't. But when someone suggested that SMU was slick and fancy and Texas plain brutal, Neely said: "You can say the other one is brutal, too."

The two defeats that rankle most in Texas' hearts of the past three years was that 14-13 affair to SMU in Dallas in 1947 and [illegible] defeat there again last season. The Mustangs had a better margin in 1948, 21-6.

Conference standings:

TEAM	W	L	T	Pts	Op	Pct
Texas	2	0	0	54	21	1.000
Southern Methodist	1	0	0	42	21	1.000
Texas A&M	1	1	0	62	50	.500
Texas Christian	1	1	0	36	48	.500
Baylor	1	1	0	33	47	.500
Arkansas	1	2	0	47	38	.333
Rice	0	2	0	28	77	.000

542 Vagrants Are Bagged In New York Pre-Election Flush

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP) — The city-wide pre-election roundup of hoodlums and vagrants has bagged 542 suspects at the latest count.

The round-the-clock arrests continued today, with police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy estimating 1,000 arrests by election day, Nov. 7.

The tally of 542 was announced last night. Most of those seized were charged with vagrancy. There were additional gambling and subway loitering arrests which were not included in the hoodlum total.

The roundup has been in progress since last Tuesday night, on orders of Acting Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

Impellitteri—a Democrat running for mayor as an independent in a four-man field—said he had received "alarming reports" of possible strong-arm tactics by his opposition.

Fire Trucks Take Tough Treatment

ROCKY GROVE, Pa., Oct. 30. (AP) —"No damage from the fire—but oh, our equipment."

That's the report the fire chief of this western Pennsylvania borough gave yesterday. Let the chief relate his sad story:

A passerby saw smoke pouring from an apartment window.

Firemen sped to the scene, parking their trucks on a hill in front of the apartment.

They soon threw the fire out the window—what remained of a chicken roasted to a turn. Then, bang, bang, bang.

The fire pumper's brakes let loose. The truck smashed into the chief's car. The chief's car banged into the secone fire engine. Damage—more than $300.

Drama To Patients In Vet Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP) — About 100 colleges and universities are joining a program to bring all forms of drama to patients in some 40 veterans' hospitals.

The Veterans Administration, announcing this today, said the program should get into full swing within a month.

Students in the English and drama departments will visit the hospitals in their area to:

1. Present entertainment — college plays, readings, sketches— in hospital wards and day-rooms.

2. Instruct interested patients in theatrical work. They advise them in writing, producing, costuming and staging productions of their own.

Stock Car Race Is Won By "Henry J"

ARLINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—Orville Mills of Ladonia, Tex., driving a 1951 Henry J, won the 250-mile Southwestern U. S. championship stock car race.

Cotton Whitworth, driving a 1950 Chevrolet, and Jimmy Day, a 1949 Dodge, finished second and third yesterday. Both are from Fort Worth.

Important Games In Class AA Set For This Week Schedule

(By The Associated Press)

Marshall battles Texarkana and Baytown meets Galena Park this week in games of deep significance in the Class AA division of Texas schoolboy football.

District championships will ride on the results and two undefeated, untied teams meet foes that could knock them to their knees.

Texarkana, one of seven unbeaten, untied teams, and Marshall tangle in a game that should furnish the winner in District 9.

Galena Park, also with a spotless record, will be hitting at the team favored to win the District 12 title although a one-time loser.

Pampa, Breckenridge, Cleburne, Port Arthur and Corsicana are the other five undefeated, untied teams. Pampa rests. Cleburne tackles Graham. Port Arthur and Orange, both undefeated in conference warfare, get together in District 11, and Corsicana takes on Waxahachie in District 13.

Other headline games are Abilene vs Sweetwater in District 5, matching the teams favored to fight it out for the title; Temple vs Ennis, both unbeaten in District 13, and Brownsville vs San Benito, also both undefeated in conference warfare of District 16.

Two teams fell from the unbeaten, untied list last week. Galena Park took out Freeport 9-7 in a District 12 game.

McAllen was whipped by Harlingen 44-13.

Poland Ups Money Value

WARSAW, Oct. 30. (AP) — Poland's currency, the zloty—has joined the Russian ruble on the gold standard, and at 100 times its former value.

A week-end action by the Polish parliament (SEJM) set the zloty's value at 0.222168 grams of pure gold—on a par with the ruble—and increased the zloty's value in U. S. currency from 0.0025 dollars to 25 cents.

Finance Minister Konstanty Dabrowski told parliament the action would give Polish money value in capitalist and other countries, where previously it has been valueless, and would aid in fighting the black market and speculation.

Russia adopted the gold standard and the 25-cent value for its ruble last February. Previously the ruble had been rated at a little less than 19 cents.

Lindstrom Suit To Get Underway Today In California Court

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30. (AP)—Trial of the California divorce suit of Dr. Peter Lindstrom against Ingrid Bergman — who has a Mexican divorce and Mexican proxy marriage to Italian film Director Roberto Rossellini—is due in superior court today.

Dr. Lindstrom, 43, Beverly Hills, Calif., surgeon, charges the actress with deserting him and their daughter, Pia, 12, on April 15, 1949. She has entered a denial of desertion and an assertion that she is already divorced.

Miss Bergman, 34, will be represented by attorneys but was not expected to contest the case today other than through the answer filed some time ago. She and Rossellini and their son, born a week before her Mexican divorce last Feb. 9, are living near Rome.

Blue Flash In Sky Is Merely Meteor

FORT WORTH, Oct. 30. (AP) — That blue flash you may have seen in the sky from Abilene, Tex., to Oklahoma City last night was nothing but a meteor.

Astronomer Oscar Monnig said the reason the meteor appeared as a blue flash was that it probably was in the sky's zenith, or directly overhead.

The flash was reported about 10:45 o'clock last night and was seen at Abilene, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas, Oklahoma City and Ponder, Tex.

Army Hits Turf After Five-Yard Gain

New Passing Combination Keeps Baylor Out In Front

DALLAS, Oct. 30. (AP)—Baylor can lament no more over loss of its great passing combination of Adrian Burk to J. D. Ison.

Larry Isbell and Harold Riley are equalling anything the Burk-Ison team did last season.

Isbell whipped out 23 passes and connected on 13 for 200 yards and passing in the Southwest Conference with 47 completions in 98 attempts for 665 yards and eight touchdowns.

Riley has become No. 1 in pass-receiving with 21 catches for 342 yards and two touchdowns.

What those boys did for Baylor last week in the 27-20 upset of Texas A&M was something indeed.

FOUR TOUCHDOWNS

Isbell whipped out 23 passes and connected on 13 for 200 yards and four touchdowns. Riley caught seven passes for 145 yards.

Isbell replaced Fred Benners of idle Southern Methodist as the league's top passer. Benners has completed 55 of 84 for 662 yards.

Benny White of Southern Methodist led in pass-receiving until Riley got through. Now he's in second place with 16 for 242 yards. Bill Howton of Rice has caught only 11 but has the same yardage as White.

Isbell also is the conference's leading punter. He turned in an astonishing 46-yard average last week to make his average for the season 42.0 on 37 boots. Louie Schaufele of Arkansas is second with 39.7 on 33 kicks.

ROTE LEADS OFFENSE

Kyle Rote of Southern Methodist still is the leader in total offense but Bob Smith of Texas A&M is closing in fast. Smith, who picked up 101 yards against Baylor, leads in ball-carrying with 694 yards on 106 runs and this has put him within 29 yards of Rote's total offense record. Rote has made 466 yards rushing and 257 passing in 101 plays for a total of 723.

Bill Tidwell of Texas A&M has replaced Rote in the runner-up spot in ball-carrying. He has 504 yards on 113 carries.

Johnny Curtis of Baylor now leads in punt returns with five for 107 yards — an average of 21.4. Glenn Lippman of A&M is second with 106 on five.

In team offense A&M leads with 2,331 yards. Southern Methodist is second with 2,236. Texas has the best defense, allowing 238 yards per

36th Is Urged To Honor The Division

FORT WORTH, Oct. 30. (AP) — "Live so that your lives will honor the division's glorious memory" men of the 36th Division, past and present, were urged just before their annual convention ended yesterday.

The speaker was Rev. W. H. Dickson, 36th Division chaplain from Dallas, at a memorial service.

A&M Defeat Is Not Rated As An Upset

WACO, Tex., Oct. 30. — Baylor hasn't won a Southwest Conference championship in 26 years but it has recorded more football upsets than any school in the area.

No matter how low the barrel is raked on material, the Bears pull at least one big reversal a season.

But the 27-20 victory by Baylor Saturday over mighty Texas A&M, at a time when the Bears were being marked off the books as conference threats, was not, in the opinion of coach George Sauer, an upset.

REACHED ZENITH

"I knew we had a better team than anybody had given us credit for," said Sauer, the former Navy mentor who came here this year to pick up the flagging Baylor spirits after Bob Woodruff went to Florida. "It was just a question of when the team would reach its zenith. They indicated to me all week that they were going to play [illegible] game. A&M is a traditional [illegible] and we had the greatest [illegible] at Baylor history. With 31,[illegible] in the stands—the biggest cr[illegible] to see a football game in Waco—those Bears knew it was time to [illegible]."

The Aggies had [illegible] Oklahoma team a terrific struggle, losing in the final seconds 34-28. They were picked as the outfit most likely to knock down Southern Methodist in the race to the championship.

The Bears spotted them 13 points and beat them anyway. That's what pleased Sauer more than anything else.

TERRIFIC JOLT

"When Bob Smith, a fine football player indeed, ran 66 yards for a touchdown 22 seconds after the game started, it was a terrific jolt," Sauer commented. "How many teams do you think could recover from something like that? But the Bears not only recovered; they dug in harder. Was I surprised? I wouldn't say that. I was just greatly pleased."

Sauer had praise for his quarterback, young Larry Isbell, who called what Sauer termed "an almost perfect game," passed for all of the Baylor touchdowns and averaged 46 yards punting. And he had a special word for End Harold Riley Bear wingman who caught seven passes for 145 yards and two touchdowns.

Sauer was asked if he thought the kidnaping of two of the Bear cubs at Baylor by A&M students had anything to do with firing up the Baylor team. He grinned: "The football boys didn't talk about it, but there sure was a lot of talk around the school among the students."

S.M.U. Retains Top Position Over Open Date Week End

By WILL GRIMSLEY
(Associated Press Staff)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. — Stick a pin in any section of the college football map today and you come up with a stout contender for national honors.

It's been a dizzy season, with upsets a-plenty, and few if any in recent history have the gridiron fates been so considerate about equal distribution of wealth.

Here are the country's top teams. Their sections and records:

Southwest — Southern Methodist (5-0)
East — Army (5-0)
Midlands—Oklahoma (5-0)
South—Kentucky (7-0)
Far West—California (6-0)
Midwest — Ohio State (4-1)

For documentary purposes, that's also the exact order of the last Associated Press poll, with each of the six teams amassing more than 1,000 points.

ONE BEATEN

Of these, only Ohio State has been beaten. The buckeyes dropped a 32-27 last gasp decision to top-ranking SMU in the opening game of the season.

Most of the 82,174 fans who saw the Buckeyes crush Iowa, 83-21, in Columbus Saturday probably doubt that the Mustangs from the Southwest could do the job again.

The Rose Bowl champions certainly looked the equal—if not the superior—of any team in the nation in staging that savage touchdown binge.

So in each of the major football regions you can get a heated argument that the particular section has the best grid machine in the land, with no way actually to prove it since none of the other schedules cross.

So it becomes a matter of sitting tight and waiting for the giants to tumble. That could start happening this week with five of the six top drawer clubs facing sinewy opposition.

Only Oklahoma's Sooners, who find the modern winning streak of 26 games Saturday by humbling Iowa State 20-7, have it easy. They play Colorado at Boulder.

SMU AT AUSTIN

Southern Methodist, idle the past week, will go to Austin to tackle a big, resourceful Texas team that has lost only to Oklahoma and is rated seventh best in the nation. The Longhorns warmed up for the occasion by smashing Rice, the Southwest Conference champion, 35-7.

Army's forces, who have won every game with at least three touchdowns to spare, go against the biggest hump of a relatively easy schedule when they collide with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Penn has won four of its five games. Navy was the victim Saturday, 30-7. Army toyed with Columbia, 34-0.

KENTUCKY ON

Bear Bryant's Kentucky Wildcats will be host to Florida, the high scoring Dixie darkhorse that upset unbeaten Vanderbilt a week ago.

Babe Parilli, a T-magician, passed and directed the Wildcats to a 28-14 victory over Georgia Tech—Kentucky's seventh in a row. Florida won its fifth game by trouncing Forman, 19-7.

On the Pacific coast, California's Bears face their big challenge of the year in the powerful Washington Huskies, who have lost only to Illinois in six games.

The Huskies smashed Stanford, 21-7, while the Bears were winning No. 6 at the expense of St. Mary's, 40-25.

Ohio State's next assignment is Northwestern, unbeaten until Wisconsin rallied to win Saturday, 14-13.

Labor's Demand May Force Passage of Ceiling on Wages

By DAIVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Political pressures and the inexorable demands of the defense program have combined to force the hand of the administration. It had been planned to defer until after election the controls that might give concern to the economy. But some of these controls could no longer be postponed.

President Truman found himself pressed by the labor union bosses who want him to move promptly toward excess-profits-tax legislation. That's one reason why he has been considering a call to bring Congress back here immediately after the election instead of on Nov. 27, as planned.

The labor union chiefs are eager for some sort of congressional expose of profits for the current year as a means of justifying their demands for higher and higher wage scales. This shows little regard for the inflation spiral so far as higher costs of operation are concerned. Some businesses have been trying to absorb these wage increases without price increases but this cannot be accomplished generally nor can the large businesses do it without dipping into their normal profit levels and curtailing the reserves they usually store up for depression days.

The stock market reacted adversely to the news that excess-profits-tax legislation was going to be enacted this year. This difficulty is not only that such a law would cut down funds already allocated for planned operations this year but might, if applied retroactively to June 30 or Oct. 1, throw business of the last quarter of the year into confusion.

There are some influential members of congress who think that a rise in the corporation tax rate, probably to a 50 per cent level, would be better than the complicated excess-profits-tax laws of wartime. But if the labor unions are masters of the White House as well as of the Democratic Party after Nov. 7 — as they may well be if they succeed in defeating prominent Republicans for congress—passage of the excess-profits tax will be assured.

At the very time when there should be restraint on all sides so that the economy can be geared to the absorption of a large defense program, the political pressure of factions and economic groups may do the very thing that the Soviets have been waiting for — make America's internal economic situation critical.

* * *

Controls are necessary and controls will be accepted by all groups provided they are applied with an even hand and without regard to politics or special privilege.

Shortages of materials needed for the defense program have begun to affect businesses of various kinds. Credit controls are expected to cut down on production of various articles usually bought on the installment plan. Likewise, the new regulations just issued, which prohibit construction of buildings for amusement or recreation purposes, point the way to limitations on other projects which may come to be termed "non-essential."

The new order telling the industrial world that manufacturers of household appliances, radios and television sets will have to cut their use of aluminum, copper, nickel and related products by 30 per cent is the kind of limitation that must inevitably affect employment.

In the face of such rules, can wage levels be allowed to skyrocket? The labor leaders admit that something may have to be done to keep their own ranks from demanding higher and higher compensation. It has been intimated that if an excess-profits-tax law is promptly enacted, this would halt wage rises. The truth is it will work just the other way — there will be a tendency to grant the increases if Uncle Sam is to bear the bigger part of the expense through tax deductions. In the end, wage control will become imperative — and that's what the whole inflationary trend will ultimately bring unless checked by greater self-restraint than is being exhibited today at the collective bargaining tables.

Girl Scouts' Drive Begins

Girl Scout council members and volunteer workers made plans for the annual finance drive at a kick-off breakfast this morning.

Working with council members on the drive will be Girl Scout leaders, persons interested in scouting and representatives of local service clubs.

Each worker was assigned about 10 firms upon which to call in soliciting donations. A minimum of $2,000 has been set in this drive, which will continue throughout the week. Workers will report on their progress at a meeting Thursday morning.

Nolan Watson, council finance chairman, was in charge of the planning session at the breakfast. Other council members present included Nolan von Roeder, council chairman; Bob Dupree, vice-chairman; Mrs. Sam Wood, program chairman; Mrs. Wilson Connell, organization chairman; and Mrs. George Killam, registration chairman.

Watson urged each of the workers to contact possible contributors as quickly as possible. There are now about 750 scout-age girls here who will benefit from the funds collected in the drive, he pointed out, and further planning for activities must wait for funds. The funds which are collected here will go for troop supplies, new equipment and possibly for a Girl Scout library and Scout house.

Mrs. Sharpe, who also has a 20-month-old son, will return to children's hospital for polio treatments.

Screen Idol Of Early Days On the Industry Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30. (AP)—Maurice Costello, matinee idol of two generations ago and father of two famous actresses, is dead.

The 73-year-old white-haired actor who in the sunset of life, said "It's better to be a has-been than a never-was," succumbed yesterday to heart disease and complications that had kept him in a virtual coma since Tuesday.

Frequent death-bed visitors were his once estranged but later reconciled daughters, Dolores and Helene Costello, former actresses.

One of the earliest of the great screen lovers, Costello had won stage renown before he entered the infant film business.

PLAYED VAUDEVILLE

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., he began his career there in vaudeville in 1894 with a song, "Here lies the mick that threw the brick; he'll never throw another."

There followed stock company work, then Broadway where he became a matinee idol in "Scotland Yard," "The Kentucky Feud," "The Cowboy and the Lady" and others.

He left the stage for the movies in 1905, taking a $30 a week job with the old Vitagraph Co., where he had to help build scenery as part of the job. Vitagraph starred him by name in 1907, with no more chores but, he said later, "I then became known as the first screen player to show signs of temperament."

FIRST FAN MAIL

He also was the first to receive fan mail and by 1910 women mobbed him at every public appearance. A nervous breakdown in 1915 shortened his big time career and by the 1920s he was doing bit parts, heavy roles or whatever was available. In recent years he lived, in obscurity, doing an occasional radio "soap opera" role.

Costello's domestic life was unhappy much of the time. He blamed fame. He and May Altschuk of New York, a non-professional, were married in 1902.

Dolores' marriage to the late John Barrymore didn't meet with Costello's approval, widening the breach, and in 1927 Costello and his wife were divorced. Two years later she died. After Dolores divorced Barrymore in 1935 the girls and their father healed the family wounds.

Costello and Ruth Reeves, 30, daughter of Federal Judge Alfred L. Reeves of Kansas City, were married in 1939, but were divorced in 1941.

Once when Costello was asked in recent years what became of all the money he earned in his heyday, he said: "We lived well and every down and out actor knew that 'Cos' had a check book.

Flourescent Fabrics Are Style Notes In Hollywood This Year

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30. (AP) — Fluorescent fabrics, and a leisure suit of pure silk tweed, are a few of the style notes from the round-up of fashions, a four-day trade showing by the Southern California men's apparel industry to an estimated 3,000 buyers from all parts of the nation.

Short sleeves are in overwhelming demand for sport shirts. Loafer jackets are somewhat more dressy, with silk tweed, rayon-with-raw-silk, and sueded rayon used.

And on the beach, if you dare, Bikini-type trunks of something that looks like leopard skin.

Police in Berlin Red Zone Set Barbed Wire

BERLIN, Oct. 30. (AP) — East Germany's militarized police dug trenches and laid barbed wire at four places near the border of West Berlin during the weekend, American officials reported today.

The Soviet zone entrenchments apparently were for field training of police infantry units. The Allied High Commission kept the development under close observation.

The eastern police were reported unofficially today to be threatening reprisals against Soviet zone families whose members flee to West Berlin or West Germany.

Since last January, 44,000 East Germans have left the Soviet zone without police permission.

Government Gives Answers On What To Do In Atomic Attack

By ED CREAGH
AP Staff

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. — The government has come up with its answers to such atomic ERA questions as:

What should you wear if there's danger of an A-bomb attack?

What should you do about radioactive dust in your clothes?

How soon after an A-attack is it safe to let the cat out?

The government's answers to these and a host of other questions appear in its long-promised booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack."

It's the first official publication to tell the public in plain English just what to do if the big bomb does fall. It costs a dime and you can get it from the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington, 25, D. C. A more technical discussion was issued by the Atomic Energy Commission last August.

IN EVERY HOME

The National Security Resources Board, which put out the 32-page booklet this past week-end, plans to distribute millions of copies through local civil defense organizations. The goal: A copy in every American home.

Unless you're right under an exploding bomb, the booklet says, you can survive—if you keep your head. But you should know these "six survival secrets":

1—Try to get shielded—in a basement or subway if you can, in a ditch or gutter if you have to.

2—Drop flat on the ground or floor.

3—Bury your face in your arms.

4—Don't rush outside right after a bombing.

5—Don't take chances with food or water in open containers. A can-opener is one of the handiest things to have around.

6—Don't start rumors. One false one may start a panic that will cost your life.

COMPLETE COURSE

Beyond these "survival secrets," the new A-bomb defense manual atomic age living.

"Starting right now," os says "you should go in for fireproof gives a pretty complete course in housekeeping. Don't let trash pile up around your house, and always keep it in covered containers."

Some other hints:

If you work in the open, always wear full-length, loose-fitting, light-colored clothes in time of emergency. Never go around with your sleeves rolled up. Always wear a hat—the brim may save you from a serious face burn.

If you have walked through rubble from a ground burst or water from an underwater burst, be sure to change at least your outer garments and shoes. If the clothing is heavily contaminated by radiation, bury it. You should also manage to take a bath or shower.

WATCH PETS

Unless you are careful, some radio-activity is likely to be tracked in by pets. Keep your cat or dog indoors. Usually, radio-activity lasts only a minute or so, though it can linger for minutes or even weeks.

But the booklet says the danger from atomic radiation has been exaggerated—the big danger is from blast and burns. Even if you should get radiation sickness, there's a good chance you will recover. In short:

"If you follow the pointers in this little booklet, you stand far better than even chance of survival.

Margaret Truman On TV For First Time As A Guest Artist

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP) — Margaret Truman made her singing debut on television last night.

"I loved it," the President's concert singing daughter said after the telecast. "Everybody was so nice to me — and I had fun."

Miss Truman, on the air six minutes, sang two songs as a guest artist on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" (CBS) Variety Show.

The studio audience of 750 gave enthusiastic applause to her offerings — "O'er the Hill," a hunting song from the American Revolutionary War period by Francis Hopkinson; and "My Johann," by Edvard Grieg.

In the studio audience were Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder and a group of 27 friends of Miss Truman.

The President and Mrs. Truman were reported here to have tuned in on the program in Washington.

The program was carried to 19 cities as far west as Omaha, Neb. CBS estimated the audience at 10 million.

Boy Admits To Killing Father

UNION, Me., Oct. 30. (AP) — A 13-year-old son faced a murder charge today after police said he got "mad" and shot his father to death as the father crawled screeching behind a stove.

County Attorney Frank Harding said the charge will be brought against Dennis Collins in the slaying yesterday of Frank B. Collins, 39, a poultry slaughterer and father of four other children.

Collins was shot in the back seconds before Dennis' mother pulled a .22 calibre rifle out of the boy's hands, Sheriff Willard Pease reported.

Pease quoted the boy as saying: "I shot Daddy because I was mad at him."

The sheriff said the boy became sulky when his father sent him to buy cigarets early yesterday. He said Dennis was unable to buy cigarets at his grandfather's home where he went first and then was ordered to a store.

On the way back from the store Dennis decided to shoot his father, the sheriff said.

He quoted the boy as saying: "I pointed the gun at him and he got up and started to run. He tripped over a chair. Then he crawled on his hands and knees from the front room to the kitchen and he got in the corner by the oil stove." Pease quoted as saying: "Daddy was screeching awful."

"Rover Boy" Is Off On Another Jaunt

QUINCY, Mass., Oct. 30. (AP) —They're beginning to call him rover boy.

Two-year-old John MacGillvray was found wandering alone a long way from home yesterday at 2 o'clock in the morning.

His folks said the same thing happened three weeks ago so they're getting a new lock for the kitchen door.

OPEN FACE CHEESE, TOMATO AND BACON SANDWICHES

Ingredients: 4 slices bacon, 4 slices bread, 4 slices American cheese (cut to fit bread slices), 2 medium-sized tomatoes, salt, ¼ teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon finely crushed dried basil.

Method: Cut bacon slices in half crosswise and put in heavy skillet; cook until almost done on each side over low heat. Meanwhile toast bread under broiler on one side only; place cheese slices on untoasted sides of bread. Drain bacon and place 2 pieces on top of each cheese slice, leaving space in middle. Cut away ends of tomatoes and then cut each into 4 round slices. Place a tomato slice between bacon; cut 4 remaining tomato slices in half crosswise and place at each end of round tomato slices. Sprinkle tomato with salt, sugar and basil. Place under broiler and broil under moderately low heat until tomato is hot and cooked through. Makes 2 servings.

North Koreans Resist

The open arrow and broken line on the map indicate an area of stiffening resistance by North Korean Reds north of Pyongyang. The solid arrows indicate the United Nations drives toward the Manchurian border. South Korean units entered Songjin. At Kojo (underlined), south of Wonsan, a U. S. Marine unit was cut to pieces by guerrillas. A South Korean force which had reached Chosan (underlined) on the border pulled back because of Red attacks on supply lines to the rear.

Chihuahua Governor To Set Up Government For Juarez

JUAREZ, Mexico, Oct. 30. (AP) — This big Mexican border city today awaited the arrival of the governor of Chihuahua State to reorganize its government.

Four city officials—charged like the mayor with exacting tribute on vice—yesterday gave themselves a six-month vacation.

Their action left the government in the hands of six members of the City Council.

Mayor Francisco Triana is free on bail of 10,000 pesos (about $1,100) in the state capital, Chihuahua City, but is not allowed to leave there.

Acting Mayor Mario Jaquez was among the four who yesterday stepped out. It was reported the four intended to go to Chihuahua City to face the charges.

OBTAIN INJUNCTION

The council members had Saturday obtained an amparo—injunction preventing their arrest—surrounded themselves with policemen and said they did not intend to resign and would stay in the city hall until ordered to leave.

A hearing was to have been held today at noon. The four apparently decided not to wait for it.

The city officials action in voting themselves six-month leaves of absence has the effect of a resignation.

Resigning with Jaquez were Juan De la Vega, chief of the city health department; Edwardo Arroya, city treasurer, and Ignacio Araico, secretary to Mayor Triana.

POLICE CHIEF DEMOTED

The city councilmen remaining demoted Chief of Police Antonio Maese to chief of the radio patrol. They appointed Jime Canales new chief.

The El Paso Times talked by telephone yesterday to Triana in Chihuahua City. He said he was innocent. He had denied the charges in a two and one half hour hearing Saturday. State police arrested him here Thursday.

Triana is charged with collecting protection money from prostitutes, illegally collecting taxes on automobiles imported from the United States, maintaining a special police force supported by illegal taxes on business, and illegally collecting taxes on truckers who bring produce to Juarez.

Air Wave Romance Ends In Marriage

KANNAPOLIS, N. C., Oct. 30. (AP) —Two amateur radio operators who made first contact over the air were married yesterday with thousands of "hams" throughout the country tuned in for the ceremonies.

Frances L. Brigham of Kannapolis and Jack E. Krepp of Franklin, Pa., were married in the bride's home by the Rev. Walter G. Benson, another "ham." Lee Brigham, father of the bride, gave a running account of the ceremony over a ham band. (Ham regulations forbid general broadcast.)

Miss Brigman (W4KYI) and Krepp (W3L1D) crossed frequencies last December. Their conversations over the air-waves late at night (with other hams listening in) gradually took on a more personal note and the wedding followed.

Congratulations were still coming in over the radio a half hour after the ceremony.

Flying Cloud Cargo Held

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 30. (AP) —The Freighter Flying Cloud lay at anchor today while authorities decided the fate of a petroleum jelly cargo loaded aboard the vessel for shipment to Communist China.

Sixteen thousand gallons of the oil-base jelly, known commercially as petrolatum, were put on the Flying Cloud at Baltimore, Md., last week.

A similar quantity of the jelly—normally used for medical purposes but reportedly usable for machine lubrication—was to have been loaded on the vessel at Philadelphia.

Both Michael J. Bradley, collector of the port of Philadelphia, and Christopher Betjmann, representative of the firm that owns the Flying Cloud, said the export company handling the petrolatum decided not to ship to China.

From Wilmington, the freighter is due to go to New York, where an additional 21,000 gallons of petrolatum was to have been loaded for Red China.

A spokesman for the Office of International Trade (OIT) said the Baltimore consignment of petrolatum would be removed from the Flying Cloud when the ship reaches New York.

Point System To Determine Reserve Calls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP) — A new point system, based on age, previous service and the number of dependents, is to guide the Army's handling of its reserve enlisted men (not officers).

In another week end development, the Army announced it is making no more mandatory calls for enlisted reserves except for a limited number of medical and counter-intelligence specialists.

The point system is to be used in determing (1) which reservists among those on active duty will be sent overseas and (2) the order in which additional reservists would be ordered to active duty in the event of possible future call-ups.

Points — called service credits —are to be credited:

One credit for each year of the reservists's age over 20, one for each year of reserve service, two for each combat award he has received, four for each year of active federal service, four for each year of overseas service and eight for each dependent.

The Army said that some men with the highest service credit scores probably will be relieved from active duty within three months, but stressed:

"There will be no establishment of a quota for relief from active duty on a world-wide scale, nor will there be any mandatory overall relief score."

Two Juvenile Court Cases Are Scheduled

Two youths, ages 16 and 17, are slated to go before County Judge Edgar Taylor in Juvenile Court soon in connection with the burglary of Jake's Recreation Club last week.

Taking more than $60 in a night entry at the club, the boys were arrested by the local police and turned over to Taylor. They were then paroled, one to his father and one to a local rancher, until they come to the court. They will come before Taylor with a charge of burglary, filed by local police, after a three day notice is served sometime this week.

Only three other juveniles have been in the court during the past eighteen months, Taylor said. One of those was sent to the State School for Boys at Gatesville, while the others were paroled to a judge in Brownfield and later to their parents.

Photoelectric Cell Warns Pilots Of Lack Of Oxygen

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
(Associated Press Staff)

Randolph Field, San Antonio, has developed a device which uses a high-altitude pilot's ear to give warning when his body is running out of oxygen.

It's called the photoelectric hypoxia warning device and works on the principle that a change in the oxygen content of your blood changes the color of the blood.

Unconsciousness or death from lack of oxygen is a treacherous danger that always rides with the high altitude pilot. The body itself gives no warning. Let something go wrong with oxygen equipment, and the unfortunate pilot slips off into a blackout.

HOW IT WORKS

Here's how the device works:

A photoelectric cell is built into the pilot's helmet, and is attached to the translucent shell of his ear. The cell is also connected with a red light on the instrument panel of the aircraft. So long as the pilot obtains sufficient oxygen his blood remains bright red through which light passes easily. But when his oxygen supply is reduced—either through excessive altitude or by failure of oxygen equipment, his blood changes to dark red through which less light passes. The photoelectric cell detects the change and the red light flashes on the instrument panel.

IN TIME

The warning comes in time to allow the flyer to take corrective measures.

Even a reduction in oxygen slight enough not to be really dangerous can greatly impair a pilot's efficiency. The device can warn of such slight reductions, too.

Dr. Kurt Kramer, a research physiologist at Randolph's School of Aviation Medicine, perfected the new instrument. He returned to Germany a few months ago to take the chair of physiology at the University of Marburg.

NOT LARGE

The device for pilots is no larger than a cigar box. Dr. Kramer built a larger one for hospital use. Capt. Durwood E. Timmons, who collaborated with Dr. Kramer, said the larger instrument "can be useful in any situation in which oxygen saturation of the blood is a factor. It can be set at any degree of oxygen saturation the physician desires and the red light will flash to tell him when artificial respiration is necessary.

"In this connection it will be particularly valuable in cases of respiratory paralysis, particularly polio."

The Home Is Unsafe Place

By FRANK CAREY
(Associated Press Staff)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30. — The U. S. Public Health Service said today "there's no place like home — for accidents."

Aiding in a new campaign by public health workers throughout the country designed to help prevent fatal or injurious accidents in the home, the government agency gave these statistics:

Every 16 minutes someone is killed by an accident in the home, and permanently disabled. In one year alone, 4,500,000 Americans were either injured or killed in "preventable" accidents within the home. And, in terms of wage lost, medical expenses and increased insurance premium rates, the annual cost of home accidents approximates $650 million.

PREVENTABLE

"These accidents were preventable because someone or something was at fault," declared the health service in special literature distributed at the opening of the American Public Health Assn.'s (APHA) annual meeting.

"The matches should not have been left near the baby. The shag rug should have been made slip-proof. The broken stair should have been repaired. The electrical system was improperly installed. The stepladder was poorly constructed."

Meanwhile, Dr. Hugh Leavell, of Harvard University's School of Public Health, and chairman of APHA's executive board, said at a news conference that one of the prime issues to be considered by the association this week would be ways and means whereby public health workers could help prevent accidents — especially those in the home.

SPECIAL SHOW

The Public Health Service, in a special exhibit at the meeting, said further:

"The present national home accident rate has continued with relatively little change for 15 years. By contrast, the industrial accident rate has been reduced 50 per cent in 16 years. The motor vehicle accident rate, based on mileage, has been lowered approximately 40 per cent over the same period."

Paper Work Old Matter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—Take the Smithsonian Institution's word for it, there is little new about paper work in running an army.

British military commanders used up reams of foolscap just handling the Indian situation in the American colonies.

A canvass of the historical collection known as the Loudoun Papers, comprising the "vast" correspondence of John Campbell, fourth earl of Loudoun, while he was commander of all British forces in North America, proves the point, the institution reported today.

Loudon's letters dealt largely with his attempts to win over eastern Indian tribes to the British after Gen. Braddock's defeat near Fort Duquesne in 1775.

"Considering that all letters were copied by hand by military scribes, it took proportionately as much paper work to run an army then as now," the Smithsonian said.

Referring to Braddock, who remains chiefly famous for his disaster, it noted:

"Gen. Braddock, the letters show, was an excellent soldier on paper."

Shoe Industry Said In Good War Shape

CHICAGO, Oct. 30. (AP) — Harold Volk, of Dallas, president of the National Shoe Institute, said the industry is better prepared to meet military demands than it was at the outbreak of World War II.

Congressmen Pickup A Lot Of Extras Along With Their Jobs

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP) — Many a freshman senator and representative has been amazed to discover all the "extras" to go along with his $12,500 a year official wage.

Some unofficial estimates say these extras could bring a member's congressional income to the equivalent of $75,000 a year or more, if he took full advantage of them—and that some do.

The $75,000 figure includes an estimate of the cash value of various free facilities and services."

THOSE NICE EXTRAS

Congress keeps no single, official audited account against which to check the estimates. Most members content themselves with statements that the estimate is exaggerated and overlooks extraordinary expenses which they have to meet.

The taxpayers keep a staff of barbers right in the capitol to make sure their senators are well shaved and shorn.

In addition, each lawmakers gets free combs and brushes, soap and towels to keep him looking spruce and scrubbed, be he senator or representative.

After a hard day's work, the well barbered senator can relax with a free turkish bath, massage and swim, without even leaving the capitol. And in his air conditioned office suite he can sip free mineral water if he doesn't like the variety that comes out of the tap. House members have their comforts too but no free mineral water or turkish baths.

Hard cash benefits are numerous. Both House and Senate members get a tax-free expense allowance of $2,500 a year.

Each senator gets an additional $900 a year to help him maintain in his home state an office through which constitutents can contact him. House members don't get that, but many of them wangle free office space in their home town federal buildings instead.

FOR SENATORIAL STAFF

The law provides $35,400 to $42,920 a year for each senator toward the cost of maintaining a staff of advisers and clerks. The total depends on the population of his state, which theoretically governs the volume of demands from his constituents.

House members get only a flat $12,500 a year for office staff. In each case, any unexpended balance must be returned to the government.

Each senator and representative is assigned an air conditioned office suit.

In the Senate, there are some other aids to members granted by law:

An allowance of $800 a year (raised recently from $500) to buy stationery and the right to draw more paper and envelopes free from committees on which the member serves.

For long distance telephone calls made outside the capitol, $450 a year.

Free long distance telephone service through the capitol switchboard, up to 50 calls a month totaling not more than 250 minutes.

Free postage for official mail.

Privileges to charge to the government all telegrams relating to official business.

A flat 20 cents a mile to travel to and from each regular session of Congress.

Additional per diem allowances for trips outside Washington on official business.

FOR HOUSE SIDE

On the House side, each member is allowed a maximum of $500 to cover a year's telephone and telegraph costs. Most other benefits are about the same, but the House claims its gymnasium is better than the Senate's.

Both sides have a pension plan, on which a member can retire after six years. A medical staff looks after the health of both House and Senate members, and also treats emergency cases among visitors to the capitol. Special rates for treatment in government hospitals also go with the lawmaker's job.

Most congressmen contend all this is less golden than it seems. They point out that getting elected to the job costs money and that the costs of entertaining constituents and other items involved in holding the job run high. Some say they have to dig into other resources to pay additional office help.

Final Rites Set For Veteran Actor

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 30. (AP) — Funeral arrangements are being made today for Harry Usher, 59-year-old vaudeville veteran who died Saturday night of a heart attack.

Usher collapsed shortly after he and his wife, Flora, had finished their mind-reading act at the Biltomore Bowl in Los Angeles. It was the same act which established a record run at New York's Palace Theater when vaudeville was at its peak.

The actor's 85-year-old mother, Mrs. Ruth Usher, is due to arrive here from Brooklyn for the funeral. Usher also leaves a son, Harry, Jr., and a brother, Fred Usher, living in New York.

Color TV Is Explained

NEW YORK, (AP) — Here's how the CBS color television system — recently approved by the FCC — works.

It is a field sequential system. That is, colors change after each vertical scanning period or field. There are 144 of these fields per second.

CBS says its system is the only color system which can utilize electronic or mechanical means for color selection.

At the camera, a single image is produced by means of a lens on the light-sensitive surface of the fully enclosed, rotates in front of this pickup tube and contains a series of red, blue and green.

DISK ROTATES

At the receiver, a color disk rotates in front of the image tube. This disk also has red, blue and green filters and rotates at 1,440 rpm. The disk is synchronized with the vertical scanning so that when the red filter is in front of the camera tube the red segment is also in front of the receiver tube. Since the color changes 144 times per second — faster than the eye can catch — the viewer sees only a smooth, steady color image.

CBS has developed an adapter—a box which, when attached to an existing set, permits viewing of color transmissions in black and white. And color may be seen on an existing set with an added color converter. This slides on tracks. When pushed in front of the set it will show color transmissions in full color. When it is pushed aside, the screen of the black and white receiver can be used as before, for black.

CBS has developed other color receivers. "Floor consoles giving color pictures equivalent to those of 12 inch and 16 inch tubes are now in use," CBS says. "A small table model color receiver with a 9½ inch picture permits viewing of color or black and white transmissions."

RECEIVES TRANSFER

"One of the advantages of the system," CBS continues, "is that the receivers of other color systems could be utilized in the CBS system. If an all-electronic, direct viewing tube is developed it can be utilized readily in CBS type color receivers as an alternate type of reception to the disk type receiver."

The color system authorized by the FCC uses existing black and white transmitters as well as the present coaxial cables. In field tests, four regular television stations in three cities broadcast the color system simutaneously.

Parachuting Popular In Soviet Russia

MOSCOW, (AP)—Parachute jumping continues to be a very popular sport in the USSR.

Like other sports this sport has the active encouragement of the Soviet government.

The principal organization engaging in the development of parachute jumping is the Voluntary Society for Assistance to the Air Forces — DOSAV as it is popularly known.

DOSAV for a small membership fee makes available its planes, amateur pilots and airfields to those who wish to engage in parachute jumping here.

Both individual and group jumping are popular and generally practiced.

Recently a big celebration was held at an airfield near Moscow to honor the twentieth anniversary of the founding of mass parachute sports in the USSR. The celebration consisted of a demonstration by Soviet amateur parachutists of their prowess.

One of the outstanding features of the celebration was a group jump of five expert jumpers who left their planes at a height of only 1,500 meters. They fell for twenty seconds without opening their chutes.

The first parachutists to jump was a man who was making his six hundred and fifty fifth jump.

The competitions at the Tushion airdrome for parachustists in celebration of this anniversary lasted for a full week.

Elevation is 2,699 feet, to give the prospector a datum of minus 4,671 feet on that marker.

The section from 7,350 feet to current total depth at 7,390 feet was cored. The top ten feet of shale and the bottom 30 feet was sandy shale, and sand and shale.

The bottom 20 feet of the cure showed good porosity. The core was cut with oil base mud in the hole and that made it difficult to determine if the cutting carried any shows of oil.

Operator was taking a drillstem test at last report.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, A. P. Veazey survey.

The No. 1 Gollaway is said to be higher, geolobically, than Forest Oil Corp. and Houston Oil No. 1 Crespi, about one mile southwest which had some good shows of oil in the Spraberry, but which also had considerable water.

That venture is now shut-in. It had tested over an extended period on the pump and could not eliminate the water.

DRILLSTEM TEST

Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 H. S. Collings, Central-West Midland County exploration to the Ellenburger, 11 miles southwest of the city of Midand, and one location north of the opener of the Parks-Ellenburger field, tried a drillstem test in the Fusselman lime at 12,390-435 feet.

The testing too became plugged with cavings and there was no test. Operator deepened 10 feet to a bottom of 10,445 feet and is now making another attempt to get a drillstem test.

Samples in the section to be covered by the investigation showed some indications of possible production.

Location is 660 feet from south and 898.6 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 7, Matt Daugherty survey, S. F. 4,169.

The No. 1 Collings has already shown for production in the Wolfcamp of the Permian and in the Pennsylvanian. It did not show for production in the Devonian. However it is due to make an oil well in the Ellenburger.

BELOW 3,540

J. K. Dobbs and others No. 1 Wilson Bryant, wildcat in Central Midland County to go to 8,500 feet, is drilling below 3,540 feet.

It is located 662.5 feet from south and 696.1 feet from east lines of the south half of the northwest quarter of section 24, block 39, T&P survey, T-3-S.

That makes it approximately one half mile northeast of a dry hole abandoned at 6,104 feet.

UPTON COUNTY

Magnolia Petroleum Co. has spotted two 13,300-foot rotary projects in the Pegasus-Ellenburger field in Northwest Upton County.

No. 1-I TXL is 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 41, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Location for Magnolia 2-D TXL is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 43, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Both these tests are scheduled to begin operations in the near future.

SHOW OF OIL

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. has encountered a good show of oil in the No. 1 Clonts, Central-South Knox County Wildcat five miles northeast of Knox City, in a Pennsylvanian lime at 4,174-4,230 feet.

Three drillstem tests have been taken in that section.

The first test was taken at 4,174-92 feet. Tool was open one and one-half hours. Recovery was 100 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud.

Another test was taken at 4,175-4,212 feet. Tool was open three hours on this test. Recovery was 1,375 feet of gas and 165 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. Shut-in pressure was 265 pounds in 30 minutes.

The third test was taken at 4,212-30 feet. On the five-hour test, gas surfaced in 19 minutes. Recovery was 3,510 feet of oil. When seven stands of pipe had been pulled, oil unloaded. No water was recovered. Flowing pressure was 950 pounds and shut-in pressure was 1,850 pounds in 30 minutes. The project is now shut down waiting on orders.

Location is 660 feet from north and east of Lot 11, section 7, D. G. Burnett survey.

CITY OF SWEETWATER

Rowan & Hope of San Antonio No. 1 City of Sweetwater, Central Nolan County wildcat, took a drillstem test in a sand section from 5,245 feet to 5,256 feet.

Tool was open 10 hours. Recovery was 550 feet of clean oil and 100 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

At last report, operator was drilling deeper.

This prospector is eight miles south of Sweetwater in the Lake Trammell area. Location is 467 feet from south and east lines of section 92, block 22, T&P survey.

TO ABANDON

Deeprock Oil Corp. No. 1-B Long east offset to the same concern's No. 1 Long, flowing discovery to open the Kiowa Peak-Strawn field in Northeast Stonewall County, is at total depth of 6,100 feet preparing to plug and abandon.

The venture topped the Ellenburger at 6,081 feet, elevation 1,493 feet.

Operator recovered 525 feet of salty drilling mud and 5,150 feet of salt water on a drillstem test at 6,082-6,100 feet. Tool was open 40 minutes.

There were no shows of oil or gas in the recovery.

No signs of commercial production were found in the hole in drilling to total depth.

Location of the failure is 660 feet from south and west lines of section [illegible] survey.

Louisiana Man Is Found Dead

SHREVEPORT, Oct. 30. (AP)—Caddo Parish (County) officers were puzzled today by the killing of a 62-year-old Bethany, La., man about 25 miles west of here.

They identified the dead man as Monte W. Ellis, 62, employe of the Arkansas Fuel Oil Co. of Shreveport. He died about two and a half hours after being bludgeoned on a lonely country road.

Dr. Charles S. Boone, Caddo Parish coroner, said Ellis died of three head wounds inflicted with a blunt instrument. Robbery was not the motive, he said, pointing out Ellis had a $5 bill and some change on him when found.

H. E. Ellis, brother of the slain man and a special deputy sheriff, said the Bethany man was returning home from Marshall, Tex., when attacked.

He said blood and footprints indicating a fight were found three miles from Bethany at a point a half mile from where the wounded man was found.

Deputy Ellis said the slayer apparently tried to make the killing look like an automobile accident. He said the slain man's car was wrecked on the opposite side of the road from where the body lay. It had been put in second gear and the htrottle opened wide, he said.

The car traveled across the road and rode down a fence for 200 yards past Ellis' body before coming to a halt, the deputy said.

Man Collects Money Despite Dog's Bite

Fred B. Wilkinson, Sr. of Snyder was taken to the Snyder Hospital this morning for emergency treatment after being bitten by a dog near Avenue P and Eleventh Street.

Wilkinson said he had gone to a man's house to collect money due him when two large dogs came into the yard in pursuit. One dog sank his teeth in Wilkinson's left leg, and Wilkinson was taken to the hospital, treated, and soon released.

In spite of the dog chase and treatment, Wilkinson said he collected the money.

The area of suspicion in the Atlantic and Caribbean was investigated by a Navy plane yesterday but no storm development was noted.

New England Race To Be One Of Hottest In The Country

By JAMES F. KING
(Associated Pres Staff)

BOSTON, Oct. 30. — Staid New England is seeing some of the liveliest campaigning ever in an off-year election with the bitterest battles in industrial Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Old names keep the traditional flavor in the elections with a Coolidge and a Lodge in the field, but something new has been added — the atom bomb and a helicopter, comic books and pretty girls, along with television.

Five important U. S. Senate seats are at stake in the six-state region but the big fight is in Connecticut, where a couple of former advertising salesmen —Benton and Bowles —are giving the Nutmeg state a novel campaign.

TOP TIMBER

Gov. Chester A. Bowles is leading the Democratic ticket — with supporters of the former OPA chief booming him as potential White House timber if he wins re-election.

Two Democratic senators — William Benton, 50, a former assistant secretary of state, and Brien McMahon, 47, chairman of the joint committee on atomic energy — are seeking re-election.

Benton, whom Bowles named to the Senate to fill a vacancy 10 months ago, is hopping around the state in a helicopter in seeking the seat in his own right and using pretty girls to hand out campaign literature at street-corner booths.

While Bowles and Benton have introduced novelties — comic books, radio quiz programs, torchlight parades — McMahon is running pretty much an old-style campaign.

The Republicans, counting heavily on the fact they have not lost an off-year election in Connecticut in 16 years, have come up with a formidable trio to oppose the Democrats — along with their own glamour and novelties.

ACTOR IN

Congressman John Davis Lodge, 47, a former Hollywood actor and brother of Massachusetts' junior U. S. senator, Henry Cabot Lodge, is running against Bowles.

Benton's Republican opponent for the two-year term in the Senate is a wealthy political novice like himself — Prescott Bush, six-foot-four Wall Street banker.

Bush counters Benton's flashy helicopter by plunking a guitar at rallies and singing the Whiffenpoof Song with Yale undergrads.

Meanwhile, McMahon has stuck chiefly to pointing to his efforts to develop the country's atomic program — efforts that have led Republican Joseph E. Talbot to accuse him of being lax in imposing security measures in protecting atomic projects.

In neighboring Massachusetts, Democrats are waging an aggressive campaign in an effort to break what they call an "off-year jinx." They have not won in an off-year election since 1934.

Gov. Paul A. Dever, 47-year-old World War II veteran, is seeking re-election against a distant Republican cousin of the late President Calvin Coolidge.

COOLIDGE AGAIN

Sixty-nine-year-old Arthur W. Collidge, in replying to attacks on his age, has challenged Dever to a 100-yard dash — offering his younger opponent a handicap.

One important issue on the Massachusetts ballot will be on a proposal for a state lottery to raise funds to increase old age assistance benefits.

New Hampshire's veteran U. S. senator, Charles W. Tobey, who edged out a young World War II air-gunner by only 1,300 votes in the Republican primary, faces another fight.

Democrats are counting on scars left by the bitter GOP primary fight to help them in capturing a U. S. Senate seat in New Hampshire for the first time in 18 years.

The Democrats have put up Emmet J. Kelley, 49, a Berlin Paper Manufacturing Co. executive to oppose the 70-year-old Tobey.

Two other New England states choose senators — traditionally Republican Vermont where Sen. George D. Aiken is seeking re-election, and traditionally Democratic Rhode Island where Gov. John O. Pastore, one of the first governors of Italian extraction ever elected in the United States, is the Democratic nominee.

The Republicans have named Austin T. Levy, millionaire textile manufacturer who has never run for state-wide office before, to oppose Pastore.

Maine has already gone Republican in the first-in-the-nation election six weeks ago, but Democrats cut into GOP strongholds — leading even President Truman to express satisfaction with the party's showing.

Charges Filed Against Man After Fight With Sheriff in Automobile

Four charges were filed this morning — three in justice court and one in county court — against Headrick Warren England, 39 years old, of Snyder, who was arrested Saturday night after a struggle west of town with Lloyd H. Merritt, sheriff.

England pleaded guilty today to the justice court charges and was fined a total of $165, including court costs. He was assessed a fine of $1 on a charge of using abusive language, $25 on a disturbance charge, and $100 on a charge of resisting arrest. Court costs were assessed at $13 in each case.

The county court charge accuses England of threatening Merritt. He has not yet been arraigned on this charge.

Merritt said he arrested England at the Gordon No. 2 cafe, and that England began fighting while en route to the county jail. The sheriff and England were the only occupants of the car at the time. Merritt said, adding that he stopped the car beside the highway and tried to subdue England, who then seized Merritt's pistol and threatened him.

Merritt said he managed to take the gun from England and then threw it away. Merritt said he and England fought until E. W. Green a highway patrolman stationed here, arrived and helped to subdue the man.

England said he was a former professional fighter.

Officers of the sheriff's department also filed 19 other charges in justice court in connection with arrests made over the week end. There were 12 charges of drunkenness, six of disturbance, one of using abusive language, and three women were charged with vagrancy. All pleaded guilty and were assessed fines.

Car Strikes Cattle Eight Miles from City

Two cows were killed, and an automobile was damaged an estimated $500 in an accident last night eight miles east of Snyder on the Roby highway, according to E. W. Green, highway patrolman.

Green said the accident occurred as Johnny Alvis Taylor, 42, of Seminole, was driving west when his car, a 1950 Pontiac sedan, struck the cattle. Taylor was not injured.

A charge of allowing unattended livestock loose on the highway was filed in justice court against the owner of the cattle.

Battle Breaks In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 30. (AP) —Dutch Army troops and Indonesian soldiers clashed in a five hour rifle battle in downtown Jakarta early today. Two Dutch soldiers were wounded.

Some 70 Dutch troops involved included eight Amboinese soldiers, whose home island in the South Moluccas has been under siege by Indonesian government forces for the past month. It was not known, however, what provoked the clash.

The Dutch soldiers, firing with carbines and rigles, were surrounded in a two-story barracks by a battalion of Indonesians. After a five hour exchange of shots, the Dutch —barefooted and in pajamas—came out and surrendered to the Indonesians.

They were taken to Indonesian military police headquarters but later were turned over to Dutch military police. Upon returning to their barracks, they discovered most of their personal belongings stolen.

Man Gains After He Suffers Knife Wound

Attendants at the Snyder Hospital today reported the condition of Ellis Winstead as satisfactory. Winstead, 30 years old, 2305 Twenty-fifth Street, suffered knife wounds in his right wrist last night in a disturbance at Taylor s Cafe, according to the police.

Winstead is an employee of Henry's Cafe.

Attending physicians said he suffered a large loss of blood.

Coconut makes wonderful quick macaroons. Just mix one and a half cup of shredded coconut with a half cup condensed milk, a dash of salt, a teaspoon of vanilla and a teaspoon of grated lemon rind. Drop on greased baking sheet (an inch apart) and bake in a moderate oven until golden brown.
