House Passes Labor Bill To Final Reading

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP)—By a margin of 10 votes the House today passed to final reading a bill outlawing the closed shop in Texas. It may be considered on final reading later this week.

The vote on the measure (HB-12) by Reps. Marshall O. Bell of San Antonio, C. E. Nicholson of Port Neches and others came after nearly four hours of bitter debate.

Proponents claimed the legislation will guarantee returning soldiers the right to work without paying tribute to a union organization and opponents claimed the bill was written to prevent a union from gaining anything in behalf of its members.

Provisions Of Bill

The bill proposes that:

No one shall be discriminated against by an employer because of membership or nonmembership in a union.

An employer may not enforce different hours of work, conditions of work or pay upon workers because of membership or nonmembership in a union.

No employer may enter a contract requiring employes to be union or nonunion.

It permits checkoff of union dues from workers pay by employers if a mutual written agreement is given and declares that the right of workers to bargain collectively may not be interfered with.

Railway Act Excluded

Exempted from terms of the bill after considerable maneuvering were workers covered by the national railway act which prohibits a closed shop.

Consideration of the highly controversial measure which was engrossed (passed to final reading) by a vote of 73 to 63, was spiked by maneuvering for position by either side.

Attempts to amend the bill to broaden its meaning, to make it effective six months after the war with Germany and Japan ends and to kill it outright were defeated.

When it was before the House several days ago members adopted an amendment by Rep. Jo Ed Winfree of Houston exempting from its provisions workers and employes in interstate commerce. This amendment was reconsidered today and the interstate commerce clause was deleted.

One Says It's Illegal

As approved on second reading the bill is unconstitutional because it impairs the right to contract, argued Rep. S. J. Isaacks of El Paso.

(A constitutional amendment with the same purpose as the bill is on the House calendar awaiting consideration).

Fair Trade Bill Back In Senate

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP) — The so-called fair trade practices act was sent back to the Senate tonight by its committee on commerce and manufacturing, with a recommendation that it pass.

At a second public hearing within two weeks, the measure again was assailed as one which would promote monopoly and increase prices, and was advocated as one which would result in lower prices and fairer methods of competition in merchandising.

Ousted On Point of Order

The bill was before the committee for the second time as the result of a point of order brought against its previous favorable report, by Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston. Moore had contended that he had not received notice in writing of a public hearing.

Tonight Moore appeared as a witness opposing the measure, against which he has jousted before in the legislature.

Under terms of the bill, manufacturers of trademarked goods could enter into contracts with retailers, stipulating minimum prices at which these trademarked products could be sold at retail.

Bill "Misunderstood"

Sen. J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, advocating the measure he introduced, declared that the bill was "misunderstood, castigated, condemned and nailed to the cross."

"This is the most misunderstood bill I ever saw," he declared. "I don't think this bill will do one tenth of one per cent as much harm or good as has been represented.

"The United States Supreme court—not a New Deal court—has ruled that a law identical with this measure does not attempt to fix prices, does not compel, but permits contracts. It only affects trademarked goods if, as, and when there is a contract freely entered into. This is not a price-fixing measure; it will not create monopoly, but prevent monopoly."

OPA Freezes Retail Price Mark-Ups On Clothing And Most House Furnishings

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 19 — OPA tonight froze the price mark-ups of some 300,000 retailers selling clothes, dry goods, furniture and house furnishings. The aim, the agency explained, is to insure that consumers get the benefit of lowered factory prices which are forthcoming.

The action was announced by Price Administrator Chester Bowles as half of the War Production board-OPA plan to cut clothing costs six to seven per cent and "return greater quantities of lower priced goods to the civilian market."

Each store was frozen to the mark-up margin that it had in use today, March 19. Price-tagging provisions were written into the order to help shoppers become their own price policemen.

The action will not roll back retail price increases which already have taken place on garments, shoes, dry goods, lamps and the other products affected, Bowles said, but it will guarantee that when their cost to the retailer is reduced, the price to the customer also will go down.

"Our main objective has been to work out a pricing method which would give consumers direct and immediate benefits as a result of reductions in manufacturers' prices," Bowles said. "We believe the new regulation will accomplish our purpose."

OPA already has announced its "maximum average price order," designed to roll back manufacturers' price lines to the average level of the years 1942 and 1943; the new action ties consumer prices into that rollback.

"It also clears the way for price reductions at retail when similar programs, now in the planning stage, restore production of more furniture and house furnishings in lower price ranges," the price administrator reported.

The new order replaces five previous price regulations, therefore is more easily understood and used by dealers, Bowles said. Enforcement of ceilings by OPA also will become easier, he predicted.

Small stores were exempted by a clause permitting them to use the existing price orders if they preferred, but this applies only to concerns having net sales of less than $2,500 a year for all the items listed.

Each dealer was directed to prepare immediately pricing charts showing his own margins over net invoice cost for all goods offered for sale today. Full instructions to retailers on preparation of the charts are in the hands of local price and rationing boards, Bowles said.

Copies of the charts must be filed with OPA district offices by April 20. Unless the storekeeper has received an acknowledgement by mail from OPA by May 4, it is illegal for him to sell or deliver goods covered by the order.

Consumers, the price chief stated, will be able "to see at a glance how much they should pay for goods." Ceiling price tags must be attached to the articles themselves, or must be marked on the shelf, rack or bin.

Following is a summarized listing of the articles covered:

All types of cotton clothing except those already under dollar-cents price ceilings; most types of rayon and woolen clothing for men, women, children and infants. This includes overcoats, top coats, suits, underwear, lounging wear, night wear, beach wear, rain wear, sweaters, women's foundation garments and children's knitted outer wear.

Shoes, both rationed and unrationed, and house slippers.

Yard goods for home sewing.

Certain types of furniture, including beds, dressers, bedroom chairs, cedar chests, dining room and dinette sets, upholstered chairs, rockers and sofas, desks, kitchen cabinets and kitchen chairs, unfinished furniture and outdoor furniture; floor coverings, lamps, bedding and other articles.

Household textiles such as sheets, pillow cases, towels, blankets and curtains.

Bowels said more than a year of study and discussion with the trade had resulted in the new method of controlling clothing prices which have risen 15 per cent since March, 1942, and home furnishing prices which have risen 17 per cent.

Germans Told That Soviet Juggernaut Can't Be Stopped

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 19 — Berlin said tonight that Soviet tank forces had plowed 25 miles through Nazi defenses southwest of besieged Breslau in a three-day offensive aimed at clearing industrial upper Silesia, while Moscow announced that Russian troops had driven within two and a half miles of the East Prussian stronghold of Braunsberg.

The Soviet high command, evidently awaiting a major breakthrough before announcing the powerful Soviet surge in extreme southeastern Germany, did not confirm German reports that Red Army troops had driven 25 miles from the Oder river and broken into the streets of Neustadt, three miles from the Czechoslovak frontier.

Reds Mention One Area

Restricting its communique to a report on the Red Army's prolonged battle to wipe out the Nazi pocket southwest of the East Prussian capital of Koenigsberg, Moscow disclosed that the Third White Russian Army had clamped a 13-mile siege arc around Braunsberg, key coastal bastion.

Capturing more than 30 towns and villages and 2,138 prisoners in advances of up to three miles, the Soviets also drove to within three and a half miles of the twin stronghold of Heiligenbeil by winning Freihufen, Gallingen and Gruenwalde on the west. A further three miles of the coast of the Frisches haff was cleared by the seizure of Schoelen, 16 miles southwest of Koenigsberg.

Moscow announced that in the capture of the Pomeranian port of Kolberg yesterday, the First White Russian Army took more than 6,000 prisoners and killed

8,000 Planes Lash Battered Naziland

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Tuesday, March 19. —RAF bombers struck at Berlin early today in the 28th consecutive nocturnal attack on the Reich capital, the German radio reported.

The Germans reported fast bombers — probably Mosquitos — were over the capital in a relentless follow-up of mighty daylight assaults yesterday by 8,000 Allied planes which were paced by American attacks on three jet plane factories deep inside the Reich.

A blackout of the entire German radio network indicated large forces of RAF bombers, possibly including heavy bombers as well as the speedy Mosquitos, were striking Germany.

Huge fleets of Allied warplanes, in an endless procession yesterday, battered other war plants deep inside the Reich against luftwaffe opposition.

The Nazis sent up swarms of interceptors of all types in an attempt to break up the armada of 1,200 American heavy bombers and their escort of 600 Mustangs.

39 Nazis Downed

A communique tonight announced 39 of the enemy planes, including five jets, were shot down by the Mustang but said tabulation of American losses was incomplete. One group of jet fighters was known to have broken through into a group of Fortresses, stabbing at the big bombers in groups of threes and fours.

Well over 2,500 sorties were made before noon—a record number—by American and British planes striking at targets from the crumbling Saar basin to beyond the devastated Ruhr.

Fleets of RAF Lancasters from Britain joined in the crushing attack, hurling their huge new 11-ton "volcano" bombs on a railway viaduct at Arnsberg, southeast of Hamm, and on another viaduct in the Bielefeld area.

German jet planes attacked two Allied air fields in Belgium. The main enemy interference was encountered by the U. S. heavy bombers and fighters as they went in in perfect weather and attacked a jet components works at Baumenheim and air fields believed to be assembling twin-jet planes at Neuberg and Leipheim. A division of Liberators pounded industrial targets around Plauen, a river terminal southwest of Chemnitz, and Jena, southwest of Leipzig.

Brothers Faces Assault Charge

M. A. Brothers, 39, who was ousted Saturday as a member of the police department, pleaded innocent Monday afternoon of county court charges of aggravated assault Friday midnight of Capt. Dick F. Tucker, 23, a decorated combat flier now taking an instrument training course at Lubbock Army Air field.

Bond of $400, returnable March 27, was set by Judge Walter Davies.

Claimed Premeditated

Captain Tucker, who wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four clusters and the Purple Heart for a battle wound, accused that Brothers "with premeditated design and by use calculated to inflict great bodily injury, to-wit, with a blackjack," struck him.

Brothers turned in his commission upon request of Chief of Police Don Reeder after Reeder had made lengthy inquiry into informal charges that the squad car patrolman and father of two sons who have done combat service, had made unprovoked assault on the officer.

Hospitalized At LAAF

The accusations further said that Captain Tucker was beaten so severely that he bled profusely and that he had been hospitalized at LAAF base hospital.

The officer and other Army personnel, as well as Earl Camp, a professor of biology at Texas Tech who witnessed the altercation at the Tech "circle," said Captain Tucker was not drunk. Both Brothers and Lilborn Bartley, 38, who was with Brothers in a police squad car that followed the Army officer to the "circle," said Captain Tucker was "too unsteady to drive." The officer admitted having taken four drinks. Bartley was not blamed by any of the witnesses with the assault.

The beating followed persistent statements of the Army officer

Third And Seventh Almost Snap Vise On 80,000 Troops

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Tuesday, March 20.—Three rampaging U. S. tank divisions of the U. S. Third Army, racing up to 15 miles through the toppling Saarland, thrust within 14 miles of Kaiserslautern yesterday in a bid to crush 80,000 enemy troops in a giant vise and paralyze any attempted German stand east of the Rhine.

Many of these badly-needed German troops were doomed when the enemy blew two Rhine bridges at Mainz, 12 miles in front of yet another armored division, the U. S. Fourth, which set the stage for the Nazi debacle with a breakthrough along the Rhineland plain.

2,000 In Western Saar

Two thousand more Germans were trapped in the Western Saar, and hundreds of others were driven to their death in a rain of steel from thousands of U. S. warplanes flailing every avenue of retreat. Guns and tanks were abandoned and scattered along the line of flight.

Already driven from more than half the Saarland and Palatinate—their last holdings west of the Rhine—and routed from their final foothold in northeastern France by the U. S. Seventh Army, the Germans were faced with even greater peril to their vaunted Rhine line farther north.

The U. S. First Army east of the Rhine struck northward more than two miles, reached the plains leading to the Ruhr at two points, and enlarged its bridgehead to 18 miles wide and eight miles deep.

Opposite the Ruhr itself the U. S. Ninth Army cleared the way for a possible Rhine crossing by ordering German civilians evacuated from the west bank cities of Uerdingen, Homberg, Ossenberg, Orsoy

Crude Output Hike Is Asked By PAW

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—The Petroleum Administration for War recommended today a record production rate of 2,330,000 barrels daily of all petroleum liquids in Texas for April.

This represents an increase of 14,000 barrels daily over March, the previous peak.

April certifications for other oil producing states will be announced later.

The April increase for Texas includes 10,000 barrels of crude in the West Texas area, bringing the total to 2,170,000 barrels daily and 4,000 barrels daily of natural gasoline expected to be obtained from new plants.

PAW said an increase in the tank car movement of West Texas crude to the Pacific coast increased the outlet for crude from that area.

Sergeant Faces Two Charges After Tree-Stopped Chase

AN army sergeant stationed at Lubbock Army Air field Monday faced military charges of automobile theft and failure to stop at the scene of an accident after a chase by military police which wound up with the sergeant's car stymied by a tree at Main and Ave. L.

The car, a 1941 Ford coach, had been reported stolen from Beasley Motor company of 1109 Ave. L.

The chase of several blocks began when the soldier disregarded commands of military police to halt after they observed his car bumped one driven by Lt. James J. Applegate of LAAF and continue moving.

Heavy damage, which one officer estimated at $300, was done to the car when it crashed into the tree. The soldier apparently was not hurt.

The suspect was pursued by military policemen S/Sgt. Vincent Vabolis, Pfc. Elmer Baker and Corp. Doyle Martin.

Still unrecovered, according to Lubbock officers, were a maroon 1937 Ford coupe, license 968-096, from Littlefield and a two-door black Forch coach, license 959-084, from E. L. Alley of 1933 Ave. N.

In another car theft case, three 17-year-old youths were still in jail last night after C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, set their bonds at $1,500 each. The charges jointly named Marvin Edward Bartholemew of Los Angeles, William Ross Kent, jr., of Levelland, and Milton Guy Runnells of Lubbock. Accused of theft last week of a Buick owned by Frank Griggs of 2627 Twenty-fifth, the trio was arrested in Dallas and returned to Lubbock Sunday by Sheriff Grady Harrist.

Senate Group Favors Bill On Democrats

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 19.—The Senate committee on civil jurisprudence today in the face of stiff opposition from the state Democratic organization, voted its approval of a bill frankly aimed at maintaining the Democratic party in Texas as a white man's party.

It was the second such approval by the committee. The first came several weeks ago without a public hearing. The bill, by Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston, was ordered back to committee for public hearing on request of the state Democratic organization.

Some Fear Chaos

A voice vote recommending passage followed a hearing at which opponents testified that its passage would result in chaos in that it repeals laws which govern whose name shall go on general election ballots and would leave the Democratic party without an organization.

Moore, the only witness in behalf of the bill, testified:

"I wrote it myself, I didn't ask anybody about it, and it constitutes my own attempt to see to it that the Democratic party continues to be a whiteman's party."

Moore's bill would repeal all statutory directions to the parties in respect to conventions, primary elections, qualifications for membership, or prescribing who may vote in primaries or participate in conventions.

Supreme Court Decision

Referring to the United tSates Supreme court decision last summer which opened Texas primaries to negroes, Moore declared that he had no apologies for attempting to "write around it," because "I have little respect for an opinion that talks about electing 'rulers' in a democracy."

"Didn't the court delete that word from the opinion?" asked E. T. Brooks of Abilene, a member of the state Democratic executive committee.

"Yes, they did," Moore responded, "when someone told them we did not have rulers in this country."

School System Change Favored

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP) — The Senate Education committee today approved companion bills which would make the state board of education elective and the office of state superintendent appointive.

Representatives of the state teachers association who appeared in behalf of the twin measures and state board members, who opposed the proposed change to make their office elective instead of appointive by the governor, told the committee they were for any legislation which would create closer harmony between the state superintendent and the board.

Amarillo Man Speaks

C. M. Rogers, superintendent of public schools of Amarillo, told the committee that if the office of superintendent were made appointive instead of elective, he believed the set-up would prove more harmonious than at present.

"We are interested in the improvement of our public school system and I feel that we need for the superintendent and the board to work in close harmony on statewide matters of school policy," Rogers said, adding that if the people elected the board the public schools would still be in the hands of the public.

C. C. Chesshire of Groveton, recently confirmed by the Senate as a member of the state board, said he was strongly opposed to the provisions of the bill which would make the members of the board seek the office instead of the office seeking the board member.

Kobe, Nagoya Are Battered

Rocket-Firing Carrier Planes And B-29s Pour Fire On Two Big Cities

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Tuesday March 20—Great swarms of carrier planes, firing rockets and bombs, dived Monday on Japan's leading shipbuilding city of Kobe, its major naval base of Kure and installations around its lifeblood artery, the Inland sea, while more than 300 Superforts rained 2,500 tons of incendiary on Nagoya.

The carrier planes, operating from a task force of the U. S. Fifth fleet which has been off Japan for two days, thus shifted their punching power northward to Nippon's heart on Honshu island from the scene of Sunday's attack on industrial Kyushu island.

Entering Third Day

(Tokyo radio said the carrier attacks went into their third straight day Tuesday. If confirmed, this would be the longest carrier raid yet made on Japan. Two in February lasted two days each. The Tuesday broadcast was intercepted in San Francisco by NBC monitors).

Details Not Given

The Monday carrier attack, announced today without elaboration by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, fell upon highly congested centers occupied with husbanding "or replenishing Japan's power to wage war at sea.

The fact the task force was not only able to remain off Japan but also to send its planes closer to Tokyo appeared to repudiate enemy broadcasts that it was dealt a crippling blow the first day by Nipponese planes.

Enemy broadcasts placed the strength of the carrier raiders at 1,400 planes.

Shipbuilding Center

In hitting Kobe, the carrier planes pounded on Japan's largest shipbuilding city and port while it still was smouldering from the 2,500 ton incendiary attack made Saturday by the B-29s. Kure is a Japanese naval base.

The communique supplied no details on results accomplished by the carrier's Hellcats, Helldivers and Avengers either Sunday or Monday.

The inland sea of Japan is a lifeblood artery through which Nippon moves vital supplies from Korea, Manchuria and China to the homeland.

Kure, Japan's most important naval base, is 200 miles west of Osaka, another city hard hit by the Superforts.

Hunt Snipers On Iwo

Today's communique reported a continuing search for enemy snipers on conquered Iwo and air raids on the Bonins, the Kuriles, the western Carolines, the Palaus and the Marshalls.

The one-two punches of the carrier planes and the Marianas-based B-29s came at a time when Tokyo radio broadcasts made it clear so many Japanes are fleeing their cities that evacuation problems have gotten out of hand.

A Tokyo broadcast Monday appealed to authorities in Shizuoka prefecture southwest of Tokyo to "promptly supply food to these air raid damage victims even though they may not possess air raid damage victim certificates but as long as they are recognized as people falling in this category."

The broadcast, a domestic one, also gave instructions for helping "those who have alighted from trains" in finding lodging and

Yanks Land On Panay, Drive Rapidly Inland To Clear Central Philippines Channels

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Tuesday, March 20 —Fortieth division infantrymen under Maj. Gen. Rapp Brush, with naval and air support, invaded Panay island in the Central Philippines Sunday and rapidly closed in on the capital city of Iloilo.

The landing, on the southeastern shore, was made with practically no loss, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today, again achieving "complete tactical as well as strategic surprise."

This was the 25th Philippine invasion and the seventh of major importance.

Drive Rapidly Inland

The Yanks went ashore at Tigbauan, 14 miles west of Iloilo, and immediately drove inland four miles to Cordova and eastward along the coast seven miles to Oton, halfway to the capital city.

"They are rapidly closing in on the city," MacArthur reported.

Many sections of Panay had been well cleared by guerrillas, including parts of the southeast shore where the Yanks poured ashore. One Panay guerrilla leader was Tomas Confesor, new secretary of the interior in the Philippines cabinet. He was the former governor of Panay.

Associated Press correspondent Fred Hampson reported Filipinos crowded the beach to welcome the Americans.

The invasion was the first direct action to break the Japanese hold in the bypassed central Philippines. It was designed in part to clear shipping routes which passed close to Panay airfields.

Iloilo is the outstanding port of the central Philippines and has an important airfield nearby. The capital has a population of 90,000.

A headquarters spokesman said the troops encountered a small enemy force on the road before

UERDINGER, Germany, March 19. (AP)—German civilians left their homes here and elsewhere along the front today and made room for Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth Army to cross the Rhine.

They have been streaming out of this Rhine river city since yesterday morning, taking their immediate personal effects along on wagons, bicycles, pushcarts, overfolwing baby carriages and on backs.

Places cleared on order of the American Army included Homberg, Oseenberg, Orsoy, Rheinhausen and many other smaller places, bringing about the total evacuation of more than 100,000 persons on this front alone.

Iwo Great Blow To Jap Morale

PEARL HARBOR, March 19 (AP) —American capture of Iwo Jima must have been a severe blow to Japanese morale because it proved once more that "we can take any damn thing they've got," Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith told a press conference today.

Explaining the strategic value of bitterly-won Iwo, Smith—commander of Marine forces in the Pacific—said already 34 Superforts which cost $700,000 each—a total of $23,800,000 have been saved by landings on Iwo's airfields.

Number Now Is 51

(Since General Smith left the island the number of B-29s landing there has increased to 51, 21st Bomber command headquarters said today.)

Smith continued:

"When we enlarge airfields on Iwo we won't be restricted to hitting Tokyo. We can hit any part of Japan."

This comment by the top Marine general in the Pacific was the first official announcement that Iwo will become a major base for increasing air assaults on Japan, although correspondents for weeks have been permitted to speculate that it would.

Dear Boss: Spring Is Here But Things Not Just Right

DEAR BOSS: You said a "bright little feature" on spring would be nice, so here it is, although it may not be as bright as you would like to have it.

But my heart ain't in it; I don't care what Lydia Pinkham says.

My idea of spring is to walk down the street in your shirtsleeves without your teeth chattering like the good ladies at Wednesday Afternoon's Thimble club. With the weatherman predicting 32 degrees for early today, I say that if spring is here it's incognito.

Dr. R. S. Underwood, Texas Tech's professor of mathematics and astronomer, swears that spring will commence at 7:13 o'clock tonight. Something about the sun passing through the celestial equator, he says.

Younger people have told me that spring means love, but to get the correct goods I went straight to Pete's Handy Little Encyclopedia and there I ran into many interesting facts in the Spottsylvania-Spring classification.

You probably didn't know about the Springbox, a South African gazelle. When angry it sometimes jumps to the height of 12 or 13 feet. But he hasn't got much on you, has he?

It seems the country is full of Springfields. Take Springfield, the county seat of Hampden county, Mass. Bank clearings in 1928 amounted to $296,082,000. Can you feature that? And this Springfield turns out worlds of tobacco, cigars and cigarettes. Some card, this Pete.

Capture Of German-Held Power Plant Without Casualty Is Told

McCLOSKEY GENERAL HOSPITAL, Temple, March 19. (U.P.)—How two platoons of the famed 104th, the howling timber-wolf division, captured the German-held steel and concrete Weisweiler power plant during a single night without a casualty was told today by a former North Texas Agricultural college student.

The ex-student who was a member of the little band of men which made the daring attack, is Pfc. Bill Manning Jones of Fort Worth, a patient at the McCloskey General hospital.

Ordered To Attack

Early one evening, Jones' company was ordered to support with rifle fire two other companies which were to attack the power plant just outside Weisweiler. Later their orders were changed to "attack!"

The men of the 104th marched down the road by twos. "We were puzzled by the yellow flares shot from the buildings," said Jones, "but we assumed that the other elements of our division had secured the objective, so we marched on through the gates. The Jerries evidently believed that we were German rinforcements, for they offered no resistance.

"Soon after we got in the building we discovered that the troops inside the plant were not our men but the non-coms of the SS troops, 'the pride of the Reich', along with a few Poles, Russians, and French who had been forced to fight," Jones continued.

Germans Unsuspecting

Capt Charles Glotzbach of Paxton, Kans., and his aides began searching for a room to serve as headquarters. They found the room and in it six surprised Jerries which they immediately captured. Then the Americans set to work trying to get in touch with their troops by radio. Time and again unsuspecting Germans walked into the room and were taken prisoner.

However, after two platoons of Americans passed through the gates, the SS troops stirred from their lethargy and opened up with mortar fire on the remaining contingent coming down the road and on the troops inside the enclosure.

By this time the Americans had contacted their artillery. Capt. Glotzbach, disregrading his own personal danger and that of his men, ordered an artillery barrage on his own position. Shell explosions shook the buildings. Germans in the open courtyard ran for cover. Many of the enemy fell, but the few Americans in the plant suffered no casualties.

Americans anxious to care for all wounded went into the courtyard to answer the plaintive call "helfen" only to have hand grenades flung at them by the wounded Germans.

Finally the Jerries began to reorganize in the courtyard, and a second time Capt. Glotzbach ordered a barrage on the power plant, but in this instance he called for timed fire—for shrapnel air bursts—so fatal to men trapped in the open. This bursting, cracking hell completely broke the German "supermen." Those who could left the accursed building; those who could not, surrendered. The ground was littered with German dead. Many Jerry prisoners had been taken. Again there were no injuries among the 104th.

But the enemy retaliated. American shells loosed the fires which the Germans had banked for the night, and the reflection against the low hanging clouds made the building a perfect target for German bombers. However, the steel-reinforced concrete walls withstood the pounding and a third time the little band of the 104th escaped injury.

The Americans stayed in Weisweiler for about a week, then pushed on toward Inden. Jones was wounded as they neared the town. Shrapnel tore through his left arm, breaking the bone and severing the nerve. A machine-gun bullet creased his right wrist, and another small shell fragment hit him in the neck.

TRAIN KILLS WOMAN

Leftists Score A Major Victory In Finnish Election

HELSINKI, March 19 (AP)—Extreme left wing voters scored a resounding victory in their first bid for power in Finland's parliament by winning approximately 50 seats in contrast with substantial losses by Conservatives and Social Democrats.

The election generally was interpreted as a rebuke to those responsible for the policy which cost Finland so dearly in the war with Russia and a vote of confidence for those few who opposed alliance with Germany.

It also was a triumph for Premier Juho K. Paasikivi, whose appeal for a "new faces" in parliament apparently drew much greater support than generally was expected.

Landing On Panay

seizing Cordova.

Correspondent Hampson said fliers flew at low level over the country behind the beachhead searching for enemy positions they might strafe, but found none.

The invasion was not preceded by the usual naval bombardment, although cruisers and destroyers stood by if needed. Rocket ships, too, were ready.

40th Infantry Division

The amphibious operation was executed by the 40th Infantry division, originally the California National Guard, with a New York regiment added. It is under Maj. Gen. Rapp Brush. The 40th was in the Luzon campaign in January.

Rear Adm. Arthur D. Struble commanded the amphibious move.

The landing beach was 180 miles west of the original Philippines invasion beach on Leyte, and is 250 miles south of Manila.

Panay, bombed frequently by heavy bombers, was an ominous threat to the convoy route to American-held Mindoro and Luzon while Japan still had aerial strength in the Philippines. Ships passed within sight of the triangular island.

In a small-scale operation, other American troops landed the same day, Sunday, on Malanayi island, south of Zamboanga at the southwestern tip of Mindanao.

MacArthur announced gains on all Luzon fronts and another heavy air raid on Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines and supposed Philippine headquarters of Japanese Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

MacArthur reported that recent mopping up operations in the Zambales mountains along Luzon's northwest coast resulted in an additional 2,654 Japanese dead. The 38th division has been engaged in the grim cleanup job in the mountain area generally west of captured Clark Field.

To the east, the 25th and 32nd divisions were converging on Balete pass, which leads into the big Cagayan valley, against increasing opposition. Aircraft lent close support.

Battle on Mindanao

On Mindanao, the 41st division Yanks, with tank support, steadily expanded their positions north of San Roque and Pasonanca, and 829 dead were found abandoned by the enemy.

Heavy bombers dropped 249 tons of bombs on Formosa airdromes despite poor visibility. At least eight parked planes were destroyed and airdrome facilities were set ablaze. Northern Borneo was hit with 118 tons.

A 3,000-ton freighter was sunk and another of equal size left burning and abandoned off Hong Kong.

Nation Must Take A New "Hitch In Belt"

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones asserted tonight that the nation "can take a new hitch" in its belt and assure adequate food for U. S. military services and our allies.

That does not mean actually doing without, he said, but rather taking substitute for foods that are in short supply.

Jones declared that there is still a good supply of food in the United States, sufficient if properly distributed and shared to assure "a good, wholesome diet."

In a statement prepared for delivery over the Blue network, Jones said:

"I have every faith in the patriotism of our people and their willingness to make any essential secrifices that may be necessary at this critical stage of the war and to do so uncomplainingly . . ."

The food administration listed meat, lard, fats and sugar among items in which supply is less than the over-all requirements but said other commodities are plentiful.

Arkansas Grilling Confessed Slayer

LITTLE ROCK, March 19 (AP)—State police received additional requests for aid in clearing up unsolved slayings in several states today following confession of James W. Hall, 24, to six killings but delayed questioning the red-headed cab driver about them until all cases in Arkansas had been wound up.

"We're keeping Hall so busy answering questions about the killings in this state that we haven't had time to ask him about any others," said Detective Chief O. N. Martin.

"We probably won't get around to talking to him about some of these other unsolved murders for several days."

Queries regarding Hall have come in from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas concerning unsolved slayings in those states dating as far back as 1938.

Argentina May Start 'Courtship' Campaign

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 19 (AP)—Acting Foreign Minister Pedro Leao Velloso said today that Argentina may take steps shortly to win recognition from the other American republics. He also indicated Brazil may re-establish relations with Russia within a week.

Back from the inter-American conference at Mexico City and a visit to Washington, Leao Velloso told correspondents:

"I expect that the Argentine government will subscribe to the declaration of Chapultepec," hemisphere mutual defense agreement adopted at Mexico City. A preliminary to such action by Argentino would be a declaration of war against the Axis.

Gallup Polls Nation On Legal Separations

Majority In U. S. In Favor Of Uniform Divorce Laws

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., March 16.—The vast majority of adults favor the establishment of divorce laws which would apply uniformly throughout the nation.

At the present time divorce requirements vary widely from state to state. South Carolina makes no provisions for divorce at all, while the obtaining of a divorce in Nevada is comparatively easy, with a residence requirement of only six weeks.

GALLUP

Very few people can be found who think that divorce laws should be made easier in their states. The majority say they think that requirements for getting a divorce in their own states are either about right or not strict enough.

Thus, should a pending constitutional amendment in Congress be enacted empowering Congress to pass a uniform law for the country and should such legislation then come up before Congress, the main debate may very well center around how strict divorce regulations should be made.

In making its survey of public opinion on the issue the Institute put two questions to a cross-section of the American adult population:

"Do you think divorce laws should be the same in every state?"

The replies indicate a marked uananimity of opinion.

Yes	83%
No	5
Undecided	12

"Do you think the divorce laws in your state are now too strict or not strict enough?"

The replies:

Too Strict	8%
Not Strict Enough	35
About Right	31
Undecided	25

Older people, 50 years or over, are more inclined to feel that the laws in their state are not now strict enough than in the case among those who the under 50 years of age. This is shown as follows:

	Ages 21-49	Ages 50 & over
Too Strict	11%	5%
Not Strict Enough	31	41
About Right	31	31
Undecided	27	23

There are not marked differences of opinion on the question among men and women included in the survey, but high school graduates and those who have attended college are more inclined to view their present state laws as about right or too strict, than are those with incomplete high school education or less.

Mahon Starts Tour Of Factories Today

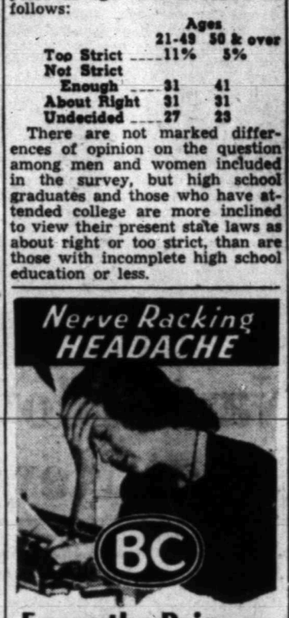

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—A tour of Army airplane production and training centers, particularly in respect to the B-29 Superfortresses, will be started tomorrow by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) on behalf of the House Appropriations committee.

A member of the subcommittee on military affairs, Mahon said he wanted to obtain first hand information to be used in weighing requests of the War department for funds in the next fiscal year.

The Texan will go first to Wichita, Kas. Other stops probably will be made in Dayton, O., and in southeastern states before returning to Washington Saturday, he said.

U. S. Reports Swiss Break All But Symbolic Dealings With Germany

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Lauchlin Currie, White House economic expert, today reported "complete success" in his mission to persuade Switzerland to break off all except symbolic economic dealings with Germany.

Currie, an administrative assistant to President Roosevelt has just returned from the alpine country and said that these objectives had been accomplished:

1. The Swiss have frozen all German assets in the country, including those held through Swiss nationals. They are described as being fairly substantial in amount.

Foreign Currencies

2. They have stopped the exporting, importing and dealing in all foreign currencies in order to provide greater control over enemy flight capital which might seek refuge in Switzerland.

3. With certain minor exceptions the Swiss National bank undertook not to purchase any more gold from Germany.

4. The Swiss government has made broad commitments to facilitate the restitution of looted property to its proper owners, but this will take years to work out. By making the commitments the Swiss acknowledged the existence of such property in Switzeralnd.

5. The Swiss made a "clearing agreement" with the French to help reconstruction by allowing France to import from Switzerland more goods than they export to Switzerland.

May Divert To France

6. The Swiss have cut off all electricity exports to Germany and a substantial amount of Swiss electricity may be diverted to France.

7. The Swiss stopped completely the shipping through Switzerland of Italian coal on which General Kesselring's forces depended heavily. No coal has reached Kesselring through Switzerland for about a month.

For their part the Swiss got an agreement from the Anglo-American-French negotiators to bring in a quantity of miscellaneous foodstuff and industrial raw materials. From the United States they will obtain mostly raw materials.

OPA Increases Price On Texas Potatoes

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—The OPA increased today the ceiling price for Texas white potatoes from $3.95 to $5.40 a hundred pounds, F.O.B. shipping point.

The increase, effective immediately and continuing through April 20, will result in a retail increase of about 2 cents a pound for these potatoes, OPA said.

The agency said the increase is mandatory under the stabilization act which requires that "disaster allowances" be made when adverse growing conditions reduce crop yields.

Dobie Would Open University Doors To Negro Students

FORT WORTH, March 19. (AP)—A statement by Prof. J. Frank Dobie of the University of Texas here last night that he "personally would have no objection to seeing negroes attend the university" was made after the scheduled panel forum, held at I. M. Terrell (negro) High school, and during the question and answer period.

Dobie made the statement in answer to a question directed to him from the floor during the question and answer period discussion of negro educational advantages.

Today Dobie told the Star-Telegram by telephone from Austin that he was merely expressing his personal opinion, and added that he does not think attendance by negroes at the state university would be advisable.

Dobie was joined in the Sunday night panel by Ralph Weiner of Austin and Melvin B. Tolson, negro professor from Wiley college at Marshal. The panel discussion of "America Faces the Future" was one of a statewide series sponsored by the Samuel Huston college at Austin.

Texan Is At Loss To Describe Japanese

HOUSTON, March 19 (AP)—Colonel Donald W. Sawtelle, a member of General Jonathan Wainwright's headquarters staff on Corregidor and a prisoner of war of the Japanese for nearly three years, has arrived in Houston.

Col. Sawtelle, who stands a good six feet, was down to 114 pounds on January 30 when American Rangers freed him from imprisonment. He has gained back to 168. His normal weight is between 190 and 200.

The veteran officer who is a graduate of West Point of the class of '20 said "words fail me when I try to describe the Japanese.

"They are inhuman, fanatics, and treated captured soldiers more like criminals than men fighting for their country.

"What did we eat? Rice, rice, rice and more rice," he said.

Col. Sawtelle was met at the train here by his wife, who had come to Houston from Corpus Christi to meet her husband.

Lamesa Captain Aids In Manila Bay Battle

FIFTH AIR FORCE, Philippine Islands.—Capt. B. C. Harrington, osn of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrington and husband of Myrtle B. Harrington, Lamesa, led his flight of planes in the paratroop assault against Corregidor Island during the decisive battle for Manila Bay.

Flying through enemy anti-aircraft and small arms fire, his Fifth Air force troop carrier dropped paratroopers, artillery pieces and flame throwers on the island fortress as U. S. bombers, fighters and warships laid down a barrage of protecting fire.

The dropping area, located between steep cliffs and the Japheld barracks on the lengendary rock, was one of the smallest targets ever attempted. Several dropping passes were required for each plane stretching in single file for five miles before the precedent-breaking operation was completed.

The airborne attack was launched from C-47's of the veteran "Jungle Skippers" of the 317th Troop Carrier Group commanded by Brig. Gen. Paul H. Prentiss, the outfit which has led every paratroop mission in the Southwest Pacific. Captain Harrington, a flight leader, also flew on the drops at Noemfoor Island off the coast of New Guinea and at Tagaytay Ridge south of Manila during the drive to liberate the capitol city.

Entering the army in January 1942, he received his pilot's wings at Lubbock flying school, departing for overseas duty in December 1943. In recognition of his achievements in accumulating a total of more than 1300 flying hours, he has been awarded the Air Medal with one Oak-Leaf cluster.

He attended Lamesa High school and was formerly employed by the Lamesa Auto Co.

Soldier Convicted Of Mercy Killing

LEEDS, Eng., March 19 (AP)—William Umpleby, 38-year-old British medical corps private, was convicted today of the mercy killing of his wife, Lily, 42, because "she asked me to do it."

The jury made a strong recommendation for mercy. The trial lasted only 45 minutes. Umplesby offered no defense and the prosecution said the soldier had been devoted to his wife for 18 years during most of which she had been an invalid.

OWI Cities Manner Civilians May Aid

WASHINGTON, March 19 (U.P.)—The Office of War Information says:

The government needs and asks its citizens in this 171st week of the war to:

1. Fill one of the 2,100 essential jobs in 50 war plants manufacturing rockets. These new weapons, which are hastening victory, are needed in far greater quantities.

2. Join your neighbors now in locating vacant lots for community gardens. Applications for extra gasoline for travel necessary to cultivate victory gardens will be accepted by your ration board beginning March 26.

3. Retread, recap and repair every worn and usable tire to avoid a serious breakdown of automobile transportation. Military demands for tires increase as our supply lines lengthen.

4. Save and reuse paper bags and wrapping paper. Shortages of wood pulp forecast further reductions in civilian paper supply.

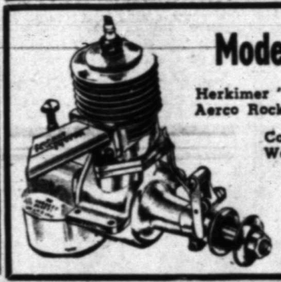

5. Keep your red cross at his side. The vast program of service to your fighting men depends upon the voluntary contribution of at least $200,000,000 in 1945.

Buick M-18 Hellcats Score In 21 Days of Steady Action
Mounting evidence that the Buick Hellcat M-18 Tank Destroyer is the "hottest thing in armored warfare" as recently described in news dispatches from the battlefronts. Typical is the case of Lt. Col. [illegible] Valley, Okla., commands Company B of the 604th Tank Destroyer Battalion. In his outfit there are 12 M-18 'Hellcats.' His company was recently in continuous action for 21 days during [illegible]
LONG AGO we decided something about the American fighting man. Give him good weapons to fight with and he'll do the rest!
That thought guided us in building the big Pratt & Whitney aircraft engines that keep the B-24 boring relentlessly through the skies.
It stood at our elbows as we sat down to design the M-18 76-mm. gun motor carriage.
So it wasn't much of a surprise when stories began coming back about the Hellcat. Stories like the one about the single battalion of 12 M-18's that spent 21 days in continuous action.
Score? Four Tigers, two Mark IV's, four armored vehicles knocked out and hundreds of enemy troops killed, wounded or captured. Two M-18's damaged, neither beyond repair, and only minor injuries to their crews!
Stories like that are legion. They account for words like this, coming straight from the front:
"The vehicle itself is the finest track-laying vehicle in the army. It will outmaneuver any vehicle, go where others won't and has the speed of a wheeled vehicle. "X" company alone has accounted for 25 German tanks, two self-propelled guns and numerous wagons and trucks."
That's what Buick men and Ordnance officers were after when they joined hands to develop the M-18. They gave it hitting power in a high-velocity 76-mm. cannon — traction to go anywhere — speed to outrace any other land vehicle.
And given that much, the boys are doing the job!

SEVENTH DISTRICT

THIS columnist was wondering Sunday whether or not Seventh District Texas Federation of Women's clubs will hold a convention this spring since no word has been received, although it is election year. We note by the Sunday Amarillo News-Globe that plans are underway to hold what the president, Mrs. W. S. Izzard, terms an "open board meeting." This session will be held in Amarillo May 1.

Complying with a governmental request to not make any demands on hotels and to reduce mileage to a minimum, the meeting will be only one day, in one building and devoted entirely to business and the election of officers according to the story.

Clubs in the district are invited to submit names of candidates for district offices to the nominating committee which consists of Mrs. J. M. Crain of Amarillo as chairman, Mrs. W. E. Davis of Childress and Mrs. H. F. Godeke.

• • •

ACCORDING to an amendment to the bylaws of the Texas Federation of Women's club the nominating committee shall present the names of not more than three candidates for each office, presenting only such candidates as have consented to their candidacy and who have been presented by their clubs and endorsed by the executive committee."

Of course there may be nominations from the floor.

We are wondering if Lubbock federated clubs have thought about the possibility of presenting names of candidates for office. As a matter of fact we've lost out on Seventh District matters since Mrs. Evelyn Boyd, district publicity chairman, left Amarillo months ago and went to work for the Officer of War Information in New York.

INDIVIDUALITY

UNLESS you go to picture shows you would not know about her, but there is a new sensation on the screen by the name of Lauren Bacall who has had advice for girls who think they are licked by non-conforming features. Her mouth is large, her teeth are irregular, her eyebrows are crooked and her hair is streaked.

Instead of allowing the studio makeup men to gild her as the lily, Miss Bacall uses bright red lipstick to point up her generous mouth. She wears a long bob to play up the two-toned colors in her hair and her eyebrows remain natural. She refuses to become a carbon copy of other motion picture actresses although there are those who see a trace of Veronica Lake and Greta Garbo in her looks.

• • •

MISS BACALL had several important items in her favor when she appeared before the camera for her first movie, "To Have And Have Not." She knew how to walk and dress and she used the distinctive voice she had acquired through much practice. Having been a model she wasn't afraid to have her picture taken.

She has advice for the girls who beg for the "know how." She says develop poise by mingling with people and thinking of them instead of yourself and get a "voice."

• • •

If you listen to many women talk you realize how few have truly pleasing and caressing voices. They are shrill, they grate on your hearing or they are muffled and you haven't any idea what the woman is saying. Lauren Bacall practiced until she achieved her throaty voice and here is the secret: She read aloud—one book was "The Robe"—from two to three hours a day. Later she stepped up the stint and did a little yelling-in-between times across a Hollywood canyon.

We think the moral to these remarks, if any, is that instead of copying other girls, young women should play up their most unusual qualities. Individuality, as Bacall proves, pays off.

SUPERSTITION

WE'VE always observed the age-old nutritional superstition of avoiding ice cream in the same meal with fish, which wasn't hard to do since we don't like either but we did get a surprise in the mail Monday. Comes an home economist who says fruits and milk combine and pleasantly! True they may curdle in cooking but that's not harmful and can be avoided for appearance sake, she notes, by adding the juice to the milk slowly, stirring constantly. It's an added help if both juice and milk are cold.

TRY THIS AMAZING BARCEL RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Right in Your Own Home, You Can Lose Pounds of Excess Weight Without Starvation Diet or Strenuous Exercise

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Pour this into a bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears —how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Perhaps you are overweight due to over indulgence in food or the wrong kind of food. With the Barcel home recipe method, you do not have to starve yourself or go hungry. Just follow the simple instructions given on the label and you should get satisfactory results quickly. The very first pint you make up should show results.

LOSE UGLY FAT WITH BARCEL

Why not slim down your figure without a lot of fuss and bother? Try the Barcel way. Wear your streamlined frocks and slacks gracefully. Remember, if the very first bottle of Barcel doesn't show you the sensible way to lose weight, your money will be refunded.

Gotham's Curfew Defiance Brings New Byrnes Cooperation Appeal

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) —War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes said today he is powerless to crack down on New York's defiance of his midnight curfew, but he appealed anew for nationwide cooperation.

"We must convince our fighting forces that the home front is prepared to sacrifice for their support," said Byrnes in a statement which he declared had the "full approval" of President Roosevelt.

"Now is not the time to relax in any way our effort at home," the director of war mobilization and reconversion said of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's announcement that New York night spots may stay open until 1 a. m.

Seeks To Avoid Spread

Byrnes' appeal was an obvious effort to avoid a spread to other cities of a La Guardia's modification. It was plain that the big town's defiance could conceivably mean the beginning of the end for the 12 o'clock closing limit, since Byrnes said he could not enforce it without the support of local authorities.

"The government has no police force of its own available to discover local violations," he said. "It has no intention of building up such a force. It is obvious that this effort would in itself be a diversion from the war effort.

"I believe that a controversial enforcement of the measure in New York City without the support of local officials would be impossible."

Must Apply Uniformly

But he added that "the government does not intend to withdraw" its curfew request and added:

"Measures of this type adopted by the federal government must apply uniformly throughout the country. We can not set one standard for New York City and another standard for the rest of the country."

"I am confident that, after the defeat of Germany many of the existing shortages will disappear. I fully anticipate that then the conservation measures which have been imposed by the government may be suspended or modified."

Japanese Write Off Iwo Island As Lost

GUAM, March 19. (U.P) — The Japanese wrote off Iwo as lost today.

A Tokyo broadcast said the last survivors of the Japanese garrison opened their final attack Saturday midnight and acknowledged that nothing further had been heard from the island.

A Pacific fleet communique said Marines were mopping up isolated Japanese remnants in the rugged northern part of the conquered island.

Some Japanese have donned the uniforms of Marine dead, the communique said. One Japanese so dressed stopped an American ambulance, shot and wounded the driver and escaped. Snipers still were active.

Fifty-one superfortresses were revealed to have made emergency landings on captured airstrips on Iwo because of low gasoline supplies or engine trouble.

Army fighters, presumably from Iwo, bombed and strafed barges and radio and radar facilities on Chichi, just north of Iwo. Army Liberators bombed Chichi airfield.

Mutiny Attempt In Peru Is Suppressed

LIMA, Peru, March 19. (U.P)—An attempted mutiny at the Ancon naval air base 24 miles north of Lima was suppressed today, an official communique said today.

The communique said that two non-commissioned officers were arrested after failing in an attempt to seize the base and capture air minister general Fernando Melgar.

(The uprising preceded the arrival in Peru of U. S. Lt. Gen. George Brett, chief of Caribbean defenses, and Admiral N. Kingman, commander of the fifteenth naval district, with some 20 U. S. Army officers on a good-will mission. The Ancon mutiny occurred at dawn, the communique said, while the Brett party arrived late in the afternoon at Lima.)

Peru was calm, the announcement added.

PEACE SAID AT HAND

District Passenger Tire Ration Less

The Lubbock district Office of Price administration has been informed by the Washington OPA office that the April passenger tire ration quota allocated to it by the rubber bureau of the War Production board is down 37½ per cent from March, because of decline in civilian tire production.

Only 1,000,000 passenger tires, including motorcycle tires, will be available, compared with 1,600,000 in March. The April quota is the first instance since last May in which fewer than 1,500,000 passenger tires have been available for rationing. OPA said it had been informed by rubber bureau that the reason for a sharp dropping off in passenger tire production was the seriously diminished supply of carbon black.

Increases Are Given

Considerable quota increases in truck and bus categories and slight increases in tractor-implement categories were granted to cushion the big impact of demand in the warm-weather months.

Because of the seriousness of the tire supply situation, OPA said, that beginning April 1 a tighter control of tire certificate accounting will go into effect. After discussions with a tire industry group over the past six weeks, a procedure has been devised whereby tire manufacturers and factory branches will report to OPA monthly the number of tires shipped and the number of certificates received. In addition to the report, manufacturers and branches will turn in to OPA verification centers the certificates they have received.

Cow Qualifies For 100,000 Pound Club

Tech Inka Fayne Alacartra, a Holstein-Friesian cow owned by the Texas Tech department of agriculture, was recently qualified for the 100,000 pound club, which is composed of Holstein-Friesian cows who have produced 100,000 pounds or more of milk, W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department, announced.

With other Texas breeders, the department was awarded a certificate of production by Ralph Appleman, southwestern field representative of the Holstein-Friesian association, when members of the association met Thursday in Fort Worth.

First cow bred on the campus to achieve this record, Alcartra produced 102,684 pounds of milk and 3,398.4 pounds of butterfat in seven lactations.

Juvenile Detection Need Is Discussed

Need for a Juvenile detention home here was cited at the luncheon of Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce in Hilton by John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile officer, who spoke on Lubbock's juvenile problems.

He said that at present juveniles are locked up in the juvenile ward of the county jail and that this does more than anything else to lower the morale of boys and girls and has a tendency to make criminals of them.

The Jaycees were asked by the speaker to consider the proposition of establishing a detention home, adding that being placed in such a home would place the boy or girl in more nearly a home environment.

Wilson also suggested that a boys' ranch could be established on the South Plains Army Air field property at very little cost and instead of sending boys to the state training school, they could be sent to the ranch where better care could be taken of them.

The speaker was introduced by Joe Stanley, program chairman; Ted Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Midland Jaycees, was a guest. President Cliff Cummings presided.

ODT Lauds City In School Vacations

N. F. Nelson, Lubbock district manager of the Office of Defense Transportation, has received a memorandum from Washington headquarters of ODT stating that students and faculties of scores of colleges and preparatory schools throughout the country were recently commended by Col. J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, for voluntarily cancelling their usual spring vacations.

Requested recently by Col. Johnson and Commissioner John V. Studebaker of the United States Office of Education, the spring vacation cancellations are expected by the ODT to result in considerable travel savings during the present critical transportation situation.

A few college authorities have expressed some concern that the travel saved by the vacation cancellations may be offset by parents visiting the students during the spring, Col. Johnson said. It is understood that in some colleges students have written their parents asking them not to travel to the schools, he said.

Borger Officer Leads Thunderbolt Assault

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, March 19. (AP) — Rocket firing American thunderbolts flying at treetop levels destroyed 10 enemy tanks and seven motor transports in the vicinity of Bad Kreuznach in the Saar-Moselle-Rhine diamond yesterday.

The squadron was led by Capt. Kent Geyer of Borger, Tex. One pilot flew so low he crashed into a German tank and both the tank and the plane went up in flames.

3,500 Film Strikers Go Back To Jobs

HOLLYWOOD, March 19. (AP)— Approximately 3,500 studio workers returned to their jobs today as Hollywood's movie strike entered its second week.

Herbert K. Sorrell, president of the conference of studio unions, contended that the defections had not impaired the effectiveness of the strike, that the "weak members have dropped out, and from now on it's a strike to the finish."

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Danz, an expert artificial eye maker, will be in our office for two days only, April 9th and 10th.

Take advantage of this opportunity to have an eye made to match your own which will be life-like in expression. Appointments will be made from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Bring Your Eyes through the Fog of Faulty Vision

To have faulty vision, is to live in a foggy world—a world of haze—of blur—of strain. You see objects as through a mist or distorted. Beauty is lost. Daily tasks are more difficult, more tiring, less efficiently performed. The book or magazine that should be a pleasure, induces sleepiness. The joy of sports and recreation is dulled. Fatigue robs life of zest. More than 95% of all vision faults can be corrected yet, seven people in ten have faulty sight and only two of the seven have had their sight corrected.

A person with defective sight, since he can see only through his own eyes, has, himself, no means of knowing that he sees dimly objects which other people can see clearly. The only way of knowing whether or not you are seeing clearly, easily, without strain, is to have your sight examined. Vision is the greatest and most used of all your senses. Your eyes are your most precious possession, and one pair of eyes must last your lifetime. Give them the attention and respect which they deserve. Have your eyesight examined today, if necessary, corrected. For good vision means more efficient, more enjoyable living.

Congress Takes Up Food Scrap As U.S. Horn Of Plenty Starts Down

By W. H. MOBLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Amid increasing signs that the American horn of plenty is running out, Congress undertook today to find causes and remedies for food shortage.

At the same time Chairman J. A. Krug of the War Production board said that in order to protect a "bed rock" home economy back of the war effort, he is asking the fighting forces to scale down demands.

Opponents of the recently expanded induction program for young farmers, meanwhile, shoved through the House a resolution for an investigation of that subject.

Seek Responsibility

Offered by Rep. Lemke (R-ND) the resolution requires Senate approval before it goes into effect. It provides for inquiry by a joint Senate-House group "to determine who is responsible for the wholesale induction of essential farmers and farm workers where no replacements are available, in violation of the Tydings amendment, and to determine the effect of such induction upon agricultural production and upon the war effort."

The resolution says Selective Service should consider only whether a young farm worker is essential to that occupation, and not whether the need of the armed services for him is greater, in passing of deferments.

No Breakdown In Sight

It was emphasized everywhere that there is no actual prospect of a civilian economy breakdown, but at the same time there was no effort to disguise the fact that the time has come when any claimant's call for goods and supplies must be measured against the importance of other claims.

That was the explanation given for the deep cut in meat lend-lease shipments to England which accompanied allocation orders cutting American civilians to the lowest meat supply in ten years. The same went for Krug's brake on military demands.

The announcement on meat, made Saturday, was what set Congress off.

Senate Leads Off

The Senate led off with unanimous authorization for a food investigation by a Senate Agriculture committee. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), successfully urging quick approval of the proposal, pointed out that a similar group made a food inquiry last year.

The House displayed equal concern, with three members introducing investigation bills and several others making speeches.

Reps. Andresen (R-Minn) and Rees (R-Kan) submitted measures directing the House Agriculture committee to investigate and Rep. Anderson (D-NM) proposed creation of a special five-member committee for the job.

The New Mexican asked specifically for a check into lend-lease shipments, foreign food stockpiles, the government's order reducing civilian meat supplies 12 per cent after April 1, and meat black markets."

Krug Explains Setup

Rees told the House "we ought to do something about it before we again hear too little and too late."

Krug, discussing manufactured goods rather than food, told a reporter:

"For the first time, increases in Army and Navy production programs are coming right out of the civilian hide.

"We have intensified our efforts to see that the military requirements do not encroach on the rock-bottom civilian needs."

Estimates on minimum needs of essentials are being prepared, Krug revealed, by the Office of Civilian Requirements and WPB's industry divisions.

Marcet Smith, 11, Claims Inheritance

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 19. (U.P.)—Eleven day old Marcet Smith today claimed the $15,000 estate of her great-aunt, the late Jane Addams, social worker and founder of Chicago's Hull house.

Marcet, born March 8, comes into her inheritance under a provision of the will directing that the estate, consisting of land in Cedarville, Ill., should go to the first-born of each succeeding generation.

The child's mother is the former Alice Halreman-Julius of Girard, Kan., daughter of E. Halderman Julius, publisher. Her father, Lt. Carroll W. Smith, a former Chicago newspaperman, is operations officer of a squadron of Navy torpedo bombers.

The inheritance is through the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Haldeman.

Jury Completed For Debs Crawford Trial

A jury was sworn at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, and testimony will commence at 9:30 o'clock this morning before Judge G. V. Pardue and a 99th district court petit jury in a car theft case naming Debbs Crawford, 23.

Crawford is charged by indictment in another similar case, which is not expected to be called this week.

The case of Richard Driggs, 22, charged with burglary, was passed indefinitely Monday afternoon, court officials said.

A 10-year sentence, the maximum provided by law, was assessed Monday morning after E. W. Gentry, 42, of north of Lubbock, had pleaded guilty of incest upon his 17-year-old daughter Marie, who was complaining witness.

He waived a jury and entered his plea through his attorney.

A 15-year-old daughter Agnes also testified for the state.

Another plea of guilty was entered, by L. V. Myers, 28, of Crane, who burglarized Perryman service station on East Broadway Jan. 30. A radio he took later was recovered at a second-hand store here and was restored to its owner.

Sentenced To Two Years

Myers did not waive the statutory two-day period for accepting formal sentence. He will be accredited with approximately three months of time spent in county jail. He will take a two-year sentence, Judge Pardue said, a recommendation made by District Attorney Burton S. Burks.

Soldier Plans To Collect From Japs

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC (Delayed)—Determined Marine Private First Class Willie H. Lynch, 23, of Dozier route, Shamrock, Tex., plans to collect a $172.45 debt from the Japs.

Rejected when he volunteered for both the Army and Navy, and later labeled a 4-F by his draft board, the Texas farm youth underwent an operation so he could join the service.

The 18-stitch operation cost $172.45.

When payroll call sounded in the first Marine division recently, lynch mailed $62.45 back to the Texas Panhandle — the final amount owed on his medical bill.

Sellinger died of a heart attack at 2 a. m. Monday.

He had been in good health and had attended a movie Sunday night. After he was stricken, he was rushed to West Texas hospital and died a few minutes after reaching there.

He had lived in Lubbock four and one-half years and had moved here from Wichita Falls.

Survivors include his wife; a step-son, Bernard Goodman, who is overseas; a daughter, Miss Bobbe Goodman, who is employed at Lester's Jewelry store; two brothers and three sisters, all of Houston.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19. (AP)—The New Orleans Item requested today that local merchants limit their Item advertising in April to 80 per cent of their total space in the newspaper in April 1944, Ralph Nicholson, publisher of the Item, said the 20 per cent reduction was caused by an "increasingly acute shortage of newsprint."

Senate Increases School Aid Fund And Liberalizes Limitation Rule

AUSTIN, March 19. (AP)—The Texas Senate today voted to appropriate $28,000,000 to aid rural schools for the two years period between Sept. 1, 1945 and Sept. 1, 1947.

The bill, besides increasing the present appropriation by $5,000,000 a year, takes off a former limitation on the size of schools that can participate in the aid.

Tax Amendment Beaten

An attempt to require the schools districts to levy a $1 local school tax before being eligible to receive the special aid was voted down with 6 ayes and 23 noes after a voice vote had been announced as favoring the change.

Similar fate met an amendment proposed by Sen. L. J. Sulak of La Grange who complained that sections of the state that admit they do not render property at a fair value for taxation are now permitted to dip down into the taxes taken from districts where valuations are fair. His amendment would have permitted higher payment to school superintendents, without disqualifying the district for state rural school aid.

Next of the big appropriation bills was offered in the Senate with favorable floor report from the finance committee.

Amount Sharply Up

It proposes to spend $15,429,840 for eleemosynary institutions for the bi-ennium. Appropriation for the bi-ennium now ending was $12,552,290.

A concurrent resolution was passed and sent to the House ordering portraits of two "forgotten" governors to be hung in the state capitol. They are A. C. Horton who served a few months in 1846 and Fletcher Stockdale who served a few months in 1865.

PROGRAM FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN MAY CHANGE

AUSTIN, March 19. (AP)—Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, said today that separating the state's program of education and rehabilitation for crippled children from the state department of education, and placing it with the board of health is under consideration.

Dr. Woods' statement came in response to a report from Dr. Marian Hotopp, regional medical consultant of the children's bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, that "unless Texas brings its aid to crippled children in line with federal requirements it stands to lose approximately $175,000 annually in federal matching money."

Present State Setup

Under the present state set-up, the vocational rehabitation (for adults from 16 years up) and the rehabilitation of crippled children (up to 21 years) is all handled by one director.

Dr. Woods said the federal government "is demanding a separation of adult from children care with a staff of 22 personnel, including medical consultants, orthopedic nurses, district social consultants, et cetera, to care for the children."

"Even if such trained people could be found in these times, I would not favor the program as it is too extravagant," said Dr. Woods, "and for that reason I have consulted Dr. George Cox, (state health officer) about adding it to his department since they already have nurses, doctors and social workers, and it would be easier for them to administer the crippled children's program in line with federal demands."

Meanwhile, Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont, says his bill, which will leave the crippled children's department under the board of education in such manner as to make it meet federal requirements, has been favorably reported out of committee and will come up soon for consideration by the House.

Senate Denounces Lewis, Petrillo

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP) — Sen. Allan Shivers, Port Arthur, on leave in uniform from war service in Europe, today led the Texas Senate in a sharp denunciation of union leaders James A. Petrillo and John L. Lewis.

A resolution by Shivers urged Congress and the federal executive department "to take such steps as will bring an end to the attempts of such self made tyrants to impose super government on the exact tribute from the free people of this country, by the exercise of arbitrary power and untrammeled, arrogant selfishness."

Sees News Reel

Shivers said his resolution was inspired in a Houston picture show by a news reel of the recent German breakthrough. He said he had been reading of royalties exacted by unions and wondered where Lewis and Petrillo were at the time American soldiers and Red Cross nurses were dying.

"I wondered if they were sitting in comfortable offices thinking how much a royalty would yield, not for raising wages, but for enriching funds over which they had control," Shivers said.

"It is not that type of liberty, that type of freedom that I want to come back to," Shivers continued. "I do not speak for others but I do not think the opinion of soldiers will vary much."

He referred to Petrillo as having set the example for Lewis.

In announcing result of the voice vote on the resolution, Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith said that he regretted he had no right to vote upon it.

"To the credit of the Texas Senate," he said, "there is no 'no'."

Italians Continue To Hold Strongpoint

ROME, March 19. (AP)—Volunteer Italian troops fighting beside the Allies held out today in a captured German strongpoint between Cuggiano and Riolo de Bagni, five miles south of the Bologna - Rimini road hub of Imola, while action along the rest of the Italian front was confined to patrolling.

The Italians have been under heavy Nazi bombardment since taking the position two days ago in a daring raid. Eighth Army artillery harassed the German probing parties along the Senio river both, above and below Cuffiano.

Meanwhile, farther west, Fifth Army patrols were encountering heavy Nazi mortar and machine-gun fire whenever they approached the Nazi lines in the sector southwest of Bologna.

Employers Asked To File Deferment List

Transportation and maintenance employers, who plan to ask draft deferment for essential men under 30, were urged by Nettles F. Nelson, Lubbock district manager of the highway transport department of the Office of Defense transportation, to send in without delay their lists of workers.

The ODT, claimant agency for deferments in that industry, checks the lists and certifies to draft boards a percentage of the employes with the goal of keeping buses and trucks operating. Final action on the certifications is up to selective service authorities.

By this method it is hoped to keep enough vehicles running to get workers to and from their jobs and move freight necessary to prevent a wartime breakdown.

Procedure Cited

Employers were warned that they should submit lists in quadruplicate and also should submit two sets of three pages each of selective service forms 42-A Special (revised) with all requests for deferment.

Nelson said that estimates of the number being certified could not be made because material for such figures is so fragmentary to date. Many reports, being filed by employers, have to be returned for additional information. No certain percentage can be maintained in certifying names, the ODT official said, because conditions vary in all instances. To date only a small number of certifications have been handled.

Deferment procedures in the railroad, airline, tank car, leasing, inland waterways and warehousing industries are handled in Washington.

Billy Craddock Is Awarded Air Medal

A NINTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER-BOMBER BASE, Belgium. — 2nd Lt. Billy F. Craddock, 24, of Colorado City, Tex., P-38 Lightning fighter-bomber pilot, has been awarded the Air Medal for participation in Ninth Air Force combat operations over Europe. The award was presented during a ceremony at his advanced airstrip in Belgium.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Craddock, of 1542 Hickory street, Colorado City, Lt. Craddock has been overseas since August, 1944, and is serving with the 370th Fighter-Bomber Group, commanded by Lt. Cononel Seth J. McKee, of Orlando, Fla.

Flying from cow pastures and captured Nazi airfields, often within range of German artillery positions, Lt. Craddock's Lightning unit has been spearheading the advance of Allied ground forces since the early days of the Normandy campaign. Frogleaping from airstrip to airstrip, his group has maintained a constant dive-bombing schedule against the enemy's front-line installations to enable U. S. Infantry to push on with a minimum of loss in men and material.

The Lightning pilot is a graduate of Robert Lee High school, Robert Lee, Tex., and Texas Technological college, Lubbock, Tex. He entered the Army Air forces in March, 1943.

Baptists Select Building Site

A committee of the First Baptist church is making negotiations for buying a piece of property a block wide fronting on both Broadway and Thirteenth in the 2200-block at a cost of $107,000. No plans have been made for building on the property, which is being bought as a future site of the church.

The church, which ranks tenth in size for the entire Southern Baptist convention with a resident membership of 3500 and a total membership of 5500, has found the present location unsuitable as a permanent site because of parking facilities. In blocks adjoining the present location are two of Lubbock's largest churches, making a concentration of traffic in one neighborhood during church services.

Building To Cover Block

Although nothing has been done in regard to design of the building, which is proposed for construction after the war and may not be built for three years, it will cover a block and the main auditorium is tentatively planned to seat 2500 persons. A Sunday school building will be included with seating capacity of 2500 also, as now outlined.

A verbal option is now held on the property, which extends 315 feet, four inches on Broadway and Thirteenth. The church hopes to obtain permission from the city commission and the property owners adjoining to cut a street through the block to provide more parking space. Since the block is 600 feet long, its size would then be that of the average city block.

Five Sites Considered

Five other building sites were considered by the committee, including the present church location, with the Broadway one being chosen because of its accessibility, distance from the business district and beauty.

There now are five houses on the property chosen and six owners. Mrs. Roscoe Wilson owns a house on the corner of Broadway and Ave. V in the block and several vacant lots on Thirteenth; S. B. Bardwell, Mrs. W. H. Walton and Elmo Wall own the other Broadway property. Ralph Bedford and E. C. Hatton are owners of the optioned property on Thirteenth.

The present building and lots are owned outright by the First Baptist church here, which also recently purchased another piece of property on Main street which is debt-free. In addition, the church has $150,000 in cash, bonds and pledges. The property owned by the church is worth more than $100,000, a spokesman for the committee said.

ARMY POST ABANDONED

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—Fort Reno, Okla., is being abandoned as an army remount station, Senator Thomas (D-Okla) said today. He proposes the Veterans administration establish a hospital there and most of the land be sold to veterans.

New Guinea, if placed with one end at New York City, would reach to the state of Colorado.

Cards Find Cairo Camp Under Water

CAIRO, Ill., March 19 (AP)—The World Champion St. Louis Cardinals pitched their spring training camp today in surroundings more suited to scuttling than baseball.

The outfield of the practice diamand was under almost four feet of water and it appeared doubtful that the park would be usable for baseball during the two weeks the team will be in town.

Club Secretary Leo Ward went scouting for enough dry land on which to hold batting and fielding practice but he mired in mud and returned gloomily to the hotel.

The states of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers outside this walled city are ten feet above the level of Cotter field and presence of water in the park was explained as seepage.

Coach Mike Gonzales, who is in charge pending arrival of Manager Billy Southworth, sent the first day squad of eight regulars and eight rookies through calisthenics drill only.

Among early arrivals, prospects for the infield shaped up best. First Baseman Ray Sanders, Second Baseman Emil Verban, and Third Baseman George Kurowski, all 1944 regulars, are here along with rookies, Al Schoendienst, and Glenn Crawford.

Pitchers here are World Series star Blix Donnelly, just rejected by the Army for the tenth time, Max Lanier, Bud Byerly, and Bill Trotter from last year's staff; and Rookie Ken Burkhart, Jack Creel, Henry Koch, and Stan Partenheimer. Mort Cooper, ace righthander, came to terms today and will sign his contract Thursday then report at camp.

Debs Garms is the only veteran outfielder on hand but Jim Mallory, a rookie from Columbus is a good prospect.

The catching staff is still absent, with only Bob Keely, batting practice receiver last year, in camp.

CHISOX LOSE STAR OBTAINED FROM BROWNS

Terre Haute, Ind., March 19. (AP)—Manager Jimmie Dykes of the Chicago White Sox learned today that shortstop Floyd Baker, obtained from the St. Louis Browns, was called for an induction re-examination March 26 at Youngstown, Ohio.

Third Baseman Bill Nagel, purchased from the Milwaukee Brewers, was expected to arrive late today swelling the White Sox spring roster to 20.

RAIN WASHES OUT DETROIT TIGER DRILL

Evansville, Ind., March 19. (AP)—Intermittent rain today washed out the Detroit Tigers' first drill in five days of their spring training camp, as the first infielder, Eddie Borom, 26-year-old second baseman from Wichita, Kans., checked in for the training season, the 15th Tiger to report to Manager Steve O'Neill.

Seven more infielders and six outfielders were slated to arrive by tomorrow.

RUSS CHRISTOPHER IN CAMP WELL UNDERWEIGHT

FREDERICK, Md., March 19. (AP)—Ten pounds underweight, lean Russ Christopher, leading pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics last season, reported in training camp today.

Christopher, with a 14-14 record last year, was a holdout until Connie Mack returned from California to bring him to terms.

SENATORS SHAKE UP SPRING GAME SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—The Washington Senators today rearranged their exhibition schedule to play six games instead of three with the Boston Braves, who also are training in this vicinity.

Three of these games take the place of exhibitions with the Philadelphia and New York National League teams which were cancelled under baseball's elimination of "side-trip" travel this spring.

RAIN MARS DRILL OF NEW YORK GIANTS

LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 19 (AP)—The New York Giants had a three-hour workout in two sessions today, the drills separated by light showers. Thirty-five members of Manager Gabby Hartnett's squad of 60 Jersey City players who reported today, kept working right on through the drizzle, however.

VETERAN FIGHTER PILOT WANTS TO PLAY BALL

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP) Lieut. Bert Shepard, veteran fighter pilot with an artificial leg, today was back with Washington's Senators after drilling with the New York Yankees yesterday at Atlantic City.

Shepard, on a 120-day leave, wants to play baseball during that time. Washington club officials said this would require special consideration by both organized baseball and the War Department. They are attempting to work out such an arrangement.

TWO DODGER STARS REPORT TO CAMP

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers was still awaiting arrival of Outfielder Dixie Walker and Augie Galan today, but his list of absentees was reduced when Luis Olmo and Frenchy Bordagaray checked into camp. Olmo, a key player in Durocher's plans, will be posted in center field.

Another long, outdoor session was held today, featuring a brisk batting drill.

TWO YANKEE ROOKIES REPORT TO McCARTHY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 19 (AP)—Allen Gettel, big right hander with Norfolk last year, was termed a likely prospect as a starting pitcher, and litlle Ken Holcombe, up from Newark, is considered to have the making of a relief pitcher by Joe McCarty, manager of the New York Yankees.

When George Stirnweiss arrives, he will replace Don Savage at second, the latter going to third in place of Oscar Grimes who will play first in case Nick Etten does not report, or reports very late.

PHILS FIND UNIFORM FOR ROOKIE PITCHER

WILMINGTON, Del., March 19 (AP)—Jimmy Spencer, 6 foot 9 rookie pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies, got a uniform today — the former property of 6 foot 4½ Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.

Four new men reported today including "Holdout" Al Gerheauser, bringing the total number of Phillies in camp to 24.

"I'm just up here on a vacation," said Gerheauser, who hasn't been signed yet.

CUBS GET FIRST SHORTSTOP IN CAMP

FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 19 (AP)—Len Merullo was the first of three Chicago Cub shortstops on the roster to arrive today and said he was ready to get in the intraclub game lineup tomorrow. He is the 19th player to report to camp. Nine pitchers are still absentees, Manager Charlie Grimm disclosed.

REDS WORRIED BY LIKELY LOSS OF STAR

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 19, (AP)—An insistent spring rain dropped in on Cincinnati's Reds today as they launched their third successive spring training grind in this college town, with a result that first day drill was an undercover affair.

Whether Bucky Walters, who last year topped National League pitchers with 23 wins, will be lost to the team, remains problematical. One report received here today said he might be able to obtain leave from his Philadelphia shipyard job soon after April 1.

American Association Prepares For Season

COLUMBUS, O., March 19 (AP)—George M. Trautman, president of the American Association, reported today the league's teams, getting ready to start their 44th season, have 239 players on their rosters.

Of course all of those haven't yet placed their names on the dotted line of a contract but at least the loop is tentatively counting on that number of players in this fourth season of World War II baseball.

Dates Named For Baseball School

Lubbock's second annual junior baseball school has been scheduled to open Wednesday, May 23, and run through the remainder of that week, with the All-Star games scheduled for Sunday, May 27.

This announcement was made on the authority of H. J. McCabe, chairman of the American Legion junior baseball committee, Monday night at the Tech gym, where about 100 persons, including about 90 members of the teams from the two leagues, attended the showing of the films of the 1944 World Series between the two St. Louis clubs, and the picture "Inside Baseball."

The films were shown by Lt. Joe Holmes, athletic officer at Lubbock Army Air field, where the films are being shown this weekend to military personnel of the base.

Sgt. Sam West, who conducted the school last year, was the one who announced the dates, and conducted a questionaire on the highlights of the two films. It is hoped that West's services can again be obtained this year for conducting the school here.

The boys who saw the films Monday night expressed their appreciation to Lt. Holmes for the chance to see the pictures, and to Texas Tech for the use of the gymnasium for the showing. A number of the leaders of the junior baseball movement in Lubbock also attended the showing.

The films this year were talkies, and well filmed with the pictures even finer views of the game than those of the 1943 World Series, which were shown to the Junior baseballers here last year.

The extra added attraction of "Inside Baseball" was especially designed for the use at coaching schools, and the kids picked up many useful hints on how to play the game. The films likely will be returned for another showing later, with it booked for the city by the City Recreation department for some date in April.

Big Field Expected For Texas Relays

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP)—Fifty six colleges, high schools and service teams have indicated a willingness to participate in the 18th annual Texas Relays here April 7, Director Clyde Littlefield announced today.

Littlefield said that entry blanks have been mailed and preparations are going ahead for the fourth wartime relays, and indications point to one of the best meets in years because of the galaxy of talent present in the colleges and service team division.

This year, he states, the University of Texas is actuated by a two-fold desire—to stimulate track and field in the Southwest and to help keep young men physically fit for military service.

The relays were begun in 1926, and have continued uninterruptedly except for 1929 and 1930, when financial conditions forced the university to discontinue the meet.

Resumed again in 1931, the meet has become an annual feature of the spring track and field competition in the Southwest.

Up until the time of the war, the meet was attended by colleges from all sections of the country, but government travel restrictions have forced the schools to discontinue their jaunts.

At least one old-timer will be back, however. The University of Mexico at Mexico City plans to enter a team for the first time in several years.

Nelson And Snead Tied For Charlotte Open Leadership

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 19 (AP) — Closing with a fine four-under-par 68 in the last round, Byron Nelson deadlocked Sam Snead at 272 today at the finish of the $10,000 Charlotte Open golf tournament.

Nelson scorched the last nine of the Myers Park club course with a 33 to pull even with Snead, who led for 71 holes but bogied the 72nd for a 70 today.

The two will meet tomorrow in an 18-hole playoff, their second of the winter tour. Snead defeated Nelson in 19 holes after they tied at Gulfport, Miss., last month.

Snead blew his chances on the last two holes. On 17, an easy par five, Sam elected to use a one iron to keep away from an adjoining roadway that is out of bounds. That left him a full brassie to the green. He promptly hit that out of bounds but the ball bounced off a car and back onto the course. Then he missed a pitch shot and, though he almost holed his chip, he had to be satisfied with a par.

On the par three 18th, he was short of the green and, trying to roll up, barely reached the carpet. His 20-foot putt missed by four inches.

Nelson would have won but for a penalty on fourteen, where his drive caught a ditch that protrudes into the fairway. He still got a par on the par five.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, tied with Nelson two shots back of Snead after 54 holes, blew to a 77 and wound up in fifth place.

Gene Kunes of Hollywood, Fla., closed with a 69 for 279 and third money.

Sam Byrd grabbed fourth money at 280 on a last round 71. Toney Penna of Dayton, Ohio, fired a 67, the best score today, for a 283 and sixth place.

The leaders (with prizes in war bonds, maturity value):

Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., 202-70—272 (first place $2,000)

Byron Nelson, Toledo, Ohio, 204-68—272 (second place $1,500)

Gene Kunes, Hollywood, Fla., 210-69—279 ($1,000)

Sam Byrd, Detroit, 209-71—280 ($800)

Jug McSpaden, Sanford, Me., 204-77—281 ($700)

Toney Penna, Dayton, Ohio, 216-67—283 ($600)

Jimmy Gaunett, unattached, 215-69—284 ($450)

Ky Laffoon, Chicago, 214-70—284 ($450)

Johnny Revolta, Evanstown, Ill., 216-73—289 ($287.50)

Ed Burke, New Haven, Conn., 220-69—289 ($287.50)

*Ed Pursol, Detroit, 217-73—290

Joe Barbardt, Norristown, Pt., 214-76—290 ($250)

Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va., 222-69—292 ($186)

Gold Dust Twins To Get Less In Future

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 19. (AP)—The Goggin plan to devalue the "Gold Dust Twins" of golf was accepted in principle today by PGA officials here, but no changes in the distribution of prize money will be made during the current winter tour.

President Ed Dudley of the Professional Golfers association said after a huddle with Willie Goggin of White Plains, N. Y., spokesman for more than 30 petitioning pros, that beginning April 15, war bond prizes would be revised so that the higher scorers among the first 20 in each tournament would receive more.

More than $200,000 in war bonds will be awarded in some 15 summer events now being arranged.

Goggin's proposal for the common man to receive more of the gravy, submitted to the PGA yesterday, called for a 30 per cent reduction in first, second and third place money, usually $1,000, $700 and $550 in a $5,000 tournament, with the difference spread over the other 17 places. A proportional adjustment would be made in meets having a greater total value.

Goggin's complaint centered on the earnings of the "Gold Dust Twins," Byron Nelson, who won $47,000 in bonds last year and $15,000 this season, and Jug McSpaden who has amassed earnings of around $36,000 in two years, while a number of touring pros barely made expense money.

The idea probably developed from a PGA action in the Miami four-ball last week-end. The pros agreed before the tournament that the winners would spread part of their earnings to the others playing. So when Nelson and McSpaden won they returned $400 each of their $1,500 first prizes to the PGA for distribution to the first round losers.

Navy Coach Set For Shift To T

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 19. (AP) — Comdr. Oscar E. Hagberg, summoned his Navy football squad for spring drill today, prepared to submit his Middies to the intricacies of the T formation, but gloomily declared that everything was "far from rosy" on the banks of the blue Severn.

Beginning his second season as head Sailor mentor, Hagberg said his line was shot, the backfield needed help, and "unless a lot of Plebes come through, we'll be just another football team next fall."

Adding to the funeral parlor atmosphere was a fear that winter examinations might cause casualties; that spring sports would keep others away when they should be learning about the T system; and "other uncertainties."

The "uncertainties" mainly were half a dozen proven stars from other colleges who have Naval academy appointments, and it's a touchy subject.

"We can't count on them until they arrive—if they do—and that won't be until the new Plebe class enters in June," Hagberg said.

These include such backfield performers as Bob Kelly of Notre Dame, Tony Minisi of Pennsylvania, Bob Hoernschemeyer of Indiana, Bob Pfohl of Purdue, and Reeves Baysinger of Syracuse.

Capt.-elect Dick Duden, Ralph Ellsworth, Jim Pettit and Clyde Scott were among Navy gridders occupied by baseball and track.

William Ryan Takes Senior Golf Tourney

SEBRING, Fla., March 19. (U.P.) —William A. Ryan of Detroit was the new amateur senior golf champion today, clinching the honor in the 11th annual event by beating Fred L. Riggin of Port Huron in an all-Michigan final, 1-up on the 19th hole.

Ryan gained the "sudden death" victory in the overtime match yesterday. Late in the match he was 3-up but Riggin, playing steadily evened the count on the 17th green. They halved the 18th and Ryan took a par four to win on the 19th when Riggin had a bogey five.

More than 80 golfers, all over 50 years of age, participated in the meet.

Phillips 66 Cops Opener At AAU

DENVER, March 19. (AP)—Defending Champion Phillips 66, making its first start in the AAU basketball tournament tonight, blasted the Greeley, Colo., Lions out of the running and convinced many of the 4,000 spectators that they were ready to take their third straight National court title.

The Bartlesville, Okla., favorits won by a 60-37 margin from Greeley in the fifth second-round encounter on the day's seven-game calendar.

In the afternoon the Burley, Idaho, Simplots, had tied the Denver tourney high scoring record by crushing Mitchell, Nebr., 98-35.

Allen-Bradley of Milwaukee also went on a scoring spree. They eliminated Toner-Mapelli of Denver in an 81-35 rout.

Fee's Music Makers, of Portland, Ore., also gained admirers with their 54-34 conquest of the Ute, Iowa, Indians, in the opener of the afternoon's four second round games.

Fort Collins, Colo., Poudre Valley and Wyoming university of Laramie, put on the best show of the afternoon with a ding-dong second half battle in which the Colorado five made a strong finish to win 53-45.

Ten honorably discharged servicemen tutrned out for football practice at Michigan State. None saw battlefront action.

Gunder To Seek His First Win Of Tour

CHICAGO, March 19. (U.P.) — Sweden's Gunder Hagg, although a bit puzzled by American indoor track methods, flatly predicted today he would run the fastest indoor mile of the season Friday night in the Knights of Columbus games at Cleveland.

The long-legged Swedish running champ said he would run a 4:12 mile or better Friday which should give him his first victory in four tries this season, whether Jimmy Rafferty of New York runs or not.

Rafferty, a hard-running Irishman with an explosive finishing kick, has won seven major mile races this season, including three victories over Hagg. After whipping the Swede in the Chicago relays' Bankers' mile Saturday night, Rafferty said he probably would not compete in the Cleveland meet due to "business matters."

Texas' License Plates

We Won't Know The Difference!

TEXAS' new type automobile license plates, now coming into fairly general use, may or may not be an improvement over the old ones. Time, alone, will tell that, although experiences in other states of fewer numerical digits and additional alphabetical "keys" have been generally satisfactory. The theory is that the new type licenses are easier to remember and will be easier to check from partial identification when officers find it necessary to uncover the identity of a law-breaking motorist.

Due to the war-born shortage in metals and paints, Texas cars this year will carry only a rear plate, instead of front-and-rear licenses long in vogue. Many people say two plates are essential, but the fact remains that some states have never required more than the rear plate and have gotten along very well. Our neighbor, Oklahoma, is one of these.

Most of the opposition to the new plates, we think, is the natural dislike of any departure from custom, or "the usual."

Our guess is that 12 months from now, most of us will have forgotten the old style plates and the fact that each car used to carry two licenses.

"Experts" With Us Again

CONSISTENTLY good war news from Europe has set off another upsurge of optimism which may prove to be anything but realistic.

Much of the loose comment is fanned this time not by high Army sources, as it was last fall— "We'll win the war against Germany this year"—but to competition among the microphone experts and other "authorities" for top position as bearers of glad tidings. The national policy of sparing the people the bad news, as if they were spoon-fed civic atoms in a totalitarian state, aids the game of these Pollyannas.

The informed people who last fall weighed all the elements in the situation and were right, now see that the Germans, while certainly fighting a losing war, are by no means incapable of prolonging it for weeks, perhaps months. They can select a place and a time for making a terribly costly stand east of the Rhine.

The German internal political factor is debated by experts, whose predictions run from speedy demoralization and collapse to years of fanatical guerilla warfare. But forced labor is making the most of limited raw material, and the Nazi leaders seem to have the people as well as the professional generals in an iron grip. "Anything can happen, of course, but it is a safe assumption that the "experts" do not know when or where.

We'll Still Need Ships

INTERNATIONAL air commerce in the years after the war will achieve proportions hardly dreamed of five years ago. But what will be the effect on other forms of transportation? What will happen to the shipping industry?

L. Welch Pogue, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics board, recently addressed himself to these questions in a speech before the New York Board of Trade. His answers should be encouraging not only to those who live on the seaboard; or who have financial interests in water shipping; but also to all Americans, including we South Plainsmen, who realize that the economic welfare of the nation is closely tied to that of water transport.

There will be, said Mr. Pogue, "a tremendous growth" of air trade and travel in the postwar period. But, he adds, it will be largely new business. Shipping lines also can look forward to expansion and prosperity.

This forecast presupposes that conditions will be favorable to world commerce. But, barring artificial barriers, Mr. Pogue believes that there will be more work for ships to do as well as planes. He declares that as long as the surface ship is the cheapest means of freight movement, only a small share of the total business will be moved by plane.

Factors that were in operation before the war have changed somewhat, and they are subject to further change, but they will not disappear all at once. It will be a long time before the oceans are swept bare of liners and freighters and before men will no longer go down to the sea in ships.

"The bodies of many dead German soldiers have mines secreted in them."—Press report. It has come to a pretty pass, indeed, when even a dead German can't be trusted!

We neither have nor desire a pure democracy. Maintaining public schools is a form of socialism, and compulsory education is a form of dictatorship.

The One Minute Sermon

Behold, what manner of love the father hath bestowed upon us that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not.

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.

And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure.—1 John 3:1-3.

Believe It Or Not --- By Robert Ripley

A Song To Remember

By Willard Wiener

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE STORY: At the age of 10, Frederic Chopin's dexterity at the pianoforte has already made him a person of note in the little Polish village of Zelazowa Wala. Count Skarbek, owner of the village, has requested that he play in a public concert at Warsaw. One day while Frederic is practicing for the great event, his playing suddenly dissolves into a series of dischords. Professor Elsner rushes into the room to find his protege staring, not at the keymoard, but out of the window at some peasants in chains who are being prodded by Czarist soldiers.

IV

THE SONG OF FREEDOM

Frederic when away from the pionoforte was happiest in the fields where he would watch the hard- raw-boned men and women work the earth. He learned, by watching, how they planted their potatoes and their cabbages and he learned, by listening to the words of his good professor, how those who did the planting and the reaping did not do it for themselves but for the lord of the manor and for his household who lived in the great house.

His thoughts, never on today, were always on tomorrow. It was in his head how unhappy they were and how happy they might be and how also some day they would straighten their bent bodies, never to bow again. He heard with his inward ear their all but broken spirit burst into thunderous music—into a song of freedom. It was already ringing in his ears, a song to remember, a song to be heard some day throughout all Poland, perhaps even throughout the world—a rising chorus of free men.

In their company, in their coarse but kindly talk, he lost all shyness, all timidity. The smell of the rich Polish earth on their clothes and on his own was good to his nostrils. This earth, it was his and theirs — theirs — together. They should know that and not work it to give over the fruits of it to strangers. Why did they do that? Was it because their masters would otherwise hurt them with whips?

By what right did one man raise a whip to another? "Poland is not free." That was the answer Prof. Jozef Elsner had given.

* * *

Six days before the charity concert in Warsaw at which he was to make his first public appearance as a pianist, Frederic let his teacher Prof. Jozef Elsner in on a secret.

"I've been talking to Jan and Tytus, and we have decided—"

Professor Elsner said: "Yes, and what have you decided?"

Frederic said softly: "We have decided—when we grow up—that all the boys are going to help."

"—Humph. So you have decided that? Eh?"

Frederic nodded.

"Well, that is all right. And now that it has been decided, you will do something else. You will put down the name of Jozef Elsner."

"You!"

"—Tch, tch, do you think Jozef Elsner will not be here? Is that what you think, you little rascal? You will put down the name—immediately—do you hear?"

"Yes, professor."

"—That's better."

"We have secret meetings—"

Jozef Elsner peered over the rim of his spectacles.

"Oh, you can come if you want to."

"—Umm. Thank you. Well, nothing will keep me away—nothing."

"We meet in a cave."

"—So? Well, that is all right, too."

"You won't tell Papa?"

"Me! Jozef Elsner an informer!"

"Oh, not that, Professor. Only if Papa knew, he'd worry—and if the Czar ever found out—"

"—The Czar! Jozef Elsner spits on the Czar!"

"I spit on him all the time," Frederic said. "If he ever found out he wouldn't let Papa teach any more and then there wouldn't be any bread in the house and—"

* * *

"—Frederic, the Mozart, please." Jozef Elsner filled his long-shanked pipe. "All right, all right, now let's get on." He pushed the tobacco down into the bowl with his forefinger. Frederic meanwhile had begun to play. Jozef Elsner cocked his ear. "Is that Mozart?"

"No."

"—Ah, I thought not. What is that?"

"It's Frederic Chopin."

"—Oh, ho!"

"I wrote it. It's a waltz."

"—Umph. Thank you for telling me."

"Don't you like it?"

"—Offhand, not at all. But how can I say until I hear it?"

"I think it's very nice." Frederic said. His fingers danced over the keys.

Jozef Elsner said: "I'll decide that, please."

Then as Frederic played Jozef Elsner dreamed. "Frederic," he said, "do you know what a wonderful city Paris is? It is the capital of the world. There is not a great musician nor a great artist who does not go to Paris at some time in his life. You too will go there, and I will be with you. Yes, no doubt about it. You will play before a thousand people and they will all be shouting, each and every one of them, 'Bravo! Bravo!' Ah, there will be talk when they hear you. And do you know what they will say? Eh?"

"What will they say, Professor?"

"—Well, for one thing, they will say this is Frederic Chopin, and he is Polish—"

"I am proud of that, Professor."

"—Umph. I should hope so. They will say also that his people ought to be free and maybe we can help them." Jozef Elsner tapped his head. "Frederic, it's all here. And some day, no doubt of it, you will be the voice for thousands and thousands who have no voice, and you will speak, Frederic, not from your little cave but from the public platform! I have the knowledge. I know!"

75mm Shell Rolls In Foxhole With Soldier

IWO JIMA (Delayed) (AP) — Marine Private First Class Leonard E. Gilbert of Channelview, Tex., a forward observer with the 26th Marine regiment, was making his way alone to his post.

As the enemy began shelling the area, he dashed for a foxhole. Then, as mortar shells landed close by, he decided to move to another.

While Gilbert was getting to his feet, a 75mm shell hit on the ridge of the foxhole and rolled in with him.

It was a dud.

Shakeup In German Command Announced

(By The Associated Press)

A British broadcast today said German Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz had been transferred from the southern sector to an Army group on the northern sector of the Western front, and that Gen. Paul Hauser of the waffen SS had succeeded him as commander in the south.

The broadcast, recorded by the OWI, said Hauser was the first SS general to command a German army group. Blaskowitz succedded Gen. Hurt Student in a northern army command, it added.

The great fire of London in 1666 destroyed 13,000 homes and 87 churches in four days.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IT'S spring again! In all the years of my life these little words have never meant so much to me, and I know you share my feelings.

What a winter it has been!

Not just a winter of snow and ice and slippery roads and cold and wind, but a winter of worry, anxiety and grief.

There are still patches of snow outside my house, in spots where the sun has a hard time to reach, and the birds are still using the feeder we put out for them.

BRANDEIS

But spring is not only on the calendar but in the air. I looked at my lilac this morning. It is alive. It is bursting to bloom just as much as I am anxious to see its lovely flowers.

There are tiny buds on the maples and on the crab-apple tree, and the forsythia looks as if it is liable to break out into yellow glory at any moment.

But that isn't all of the spring for which we have waited so long.

For spring is Hope and Promise and Peace.

To me spring is as the poet Shelley expressed it:

"From all the blasts of Heaven thou has descended:
"Yes, like a spirit, like a thought, which makes
"Unwonted tears throng to the horny eyes.
"And beatings haunt the desolated heart.
"Which should have learned repose; thou has descended
"Cradled in tempests; thou dost wake, O Spring!"

For three long years there hasn't been any spring in the desolated hearts of millions of us. We have had only death and destruction and grief and hatred. We have had sacrifice and suffering and sorrow.

But now, while it may be still long days away, at least we glimpse the end of the long road, a road which leads through misery and desolation, to the spring of peace and repose.

* * *

HOW I hope that this will be not only a spring of Hope and Promise, but a spring that will lead to a summer of fulfillment.

How I pray that we will learn the lesson of spring—that after a March still filled with storm and frost will come a milder April, bringing gentle rains and the early warmth which bring a May of blossoms, a June of flowers, a July of warmth and of full bloom and many more months, each according to its season, but each a month of peace and happiness.

Please don't think me maudlin or gone over-sentimental, because I talk so much of spring.

But aren't you tired to death of this winter which has lasted since December 1941? Aren't you sick of "all the blasts of Heaven" that have come upon us? Aren't you weary of suffering and trying to be brave and of tears and silent agonies?

Aren't you just as anxious as I just to be a human being again, a human being who wants to live and let live, rather than just exist in the shadow of death and the tinsel of glory?

I think your wish will soon come true—It's spring again.

"Ike" Set For Wind-Up

General Plans To "Chew Up" Foe

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

GEN. "IKE" Eisenhower may soon be in a position to destroy the German armies with the "chew 'em up" strategy he planned long ago for the day when Allied forces penetrated deep into the Reich.

Americans, British and Canadians have now maneuvered so that they should be able to negotiate several crossings of the Rhine from the northernmost to the southernmost sections of the line, but partisularly above Cologne.

From each bridgehead strong columns will stab eastward with the hope of driving wedges between the various enemy units. Behind these advancing spearheads will flow fresh, well-equipped reserves. Their assignment will be to fan out and smash all resistance pockets.

Save that these operations will be conducted on a grand scale, with hundreds of thousands of men instead of small skirmishing and by-passing forces, they will smack of the strategy by which MacArthur has swept from Australia to the Philippines. Besides saving the lives of Allied fighters, this sort of campaign is counted on to break the spirit of the scattered Nazis.

TUCKER

Under these conditions it is believed here that not many Germans will offer last-ditch opposition or make a "scorched earth" retreat. Some high officers and fanatical party members may obey Hitler's desperate order to drag the homeland and Europe into chaos, but old-line commanders are expected to recognize realities and call it another bad day in their nation's history.

The Germans are deficit in everything which makes an army—manpower, spirit, trained troops, air strength, permanent fortifications, heavy weapons, fuel and industrial resources behind the front lines. It is estimated that the 80 divisions originally opposing General Eisenhower's men have dwindled to 50 at the most, and these number 8,000 soldiers each, instead of 15,000.

They have been "chewed up" west of the Rhine or they have been rushed to the Russian front. Thus it is doubtful whether the foe has more than 400,000 for the showdown on the plains between Cologne and Berlin. And most of his latest reinforcements are boys or old men sent to the battlefield almost before they have had time to button up their uniforms.

Many of these units managed to retire behind the famous river barrier with only the rifles and machine guns they could carry. Our surging forces have captured or destroyed great stores of heavy artillery, tanks and supplies of all kinds.

In view of these evidences of a military and industrial breakdown, it is believed here that the German High Command has reported to Hitler as Ludendorff did to the kaiser in September 1918 on the hopelessness of further fighting. And when Adolf has to throw himself upon Providence, as he did in his March 11 address it begins to look as if he knew the jig was up.

* * *

FRIENDLINESS: The new "Stettinius team," consisting of the Secretary of State himself, Will Clayton and Nelson Rockefeller, gave a good performance in Mexico City at their first appearance on the international stage. But the star of the diplomatic show was admittedly Sen. Warren R. Austin, the urbane Vermont Republican.

The white-haired Secretary and Rockefeller, with their almost boyish bonhomie, won the friendship of the Latins, who were piqued because they had been omitted from Dumbarton Oaks to Yalta.

Stettinius' utter lack of "side," together with Rockefeller's sincere friendliness, created an atmosphere of confidence. They really behaved like "good neighbors."

* * *

AUSTIN: The numerous recent changes of personnel in our diplomatic family, in both Washington and South America, put the United States delegation at the Mexico City powwow under a severe handicap. It was Senator Austin who supplied the answers when our State department experts were baffled.

Owing to the lack of advance intelligence, Stettinius, Clayton and Rockefeller were utterly unprepared for the Latins' proposal for a joint pact safeguarding the security of the Western Hemisphere. They never dreamed that the proud republicans would virtually ask Uncle Sam to become the gendarme for this section of the globe. They had, from their soundings, anticipated quite a contrary attitude.

Austin urged immediate acceptance and incorporation of the idea in the Pact of Chapultepec. He provided the formula for bringing this agreement within the shelter of the Yalta arrangement and any setup that may be negotiated in San Francisco. He also counseled that this evidence of hemispheric solidarity would probably incline the Senate to ratify proposals for active American participation in a world family of nations.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

EACH morning the Wall Street rumor factory manufactures a fresh tip on the date the war will end. The news goes out to the nation over the wires and everyone starts guessing again.

The heart of a pneumonia patient can stop beating long before his infected lungs quit functioning. In somewhat the same manner, German morale can collapse before the Reichswehr is completely beaten. However, at the moment the Wehrmacht, though gasping for breath, still has strength to kill our troops.

Army officers arriving in New York by plane from the front paint this picture: Disaffection is obvious among Volgssturm volunteers and foreigners fighting in German uniform. Many regular soldiers also are yelling "Kamerad" and when taken confess that all is lost. This is bad for Hitler.

LEMAN

But our Intelligence experts warn that the first stories told by prisoners are usually unreliable. Nerve-shattered and afraid, they will say anything to ingratiate themselves.

Terror gleams in their eyes if they are caught by Poles. "To them such an experience is draining the cup of bitterness," declares a Warsaw officer now in Manhattan. "They have been taught to look upon us as inferiors, and their pride is humbled. They fear that we will do to them what they did to us."

After captives receive American cigarettes and chocolate bars, they perk up. Nazi arrogance returns.

Officers offer alibis for their mistakes—blaming the common cannon fodder, as always. They say that their troops have been so indoctrinated with the principles of attack that they forget to use the shovel, the most important weapon of a retreating army.

Captains bemoan the German fetish of punctuality. Their food carriers arrive exactly at the same hour over the same course daily. Deserters tell the Yanks the time of these routine movements and our sharpshooters pick them off.

The shortage of radios compels generals to employ runners for contact with field commanders. As our artillery bombardments are devastating, the messengers are constantly being hit. Hence headquarters is always in the dark about what is happening at the front—as it was at Remagen.

* * *

ESCAPE: The spirit of bona fide Nazi party members has not yet been crushed.

One would suppose that prisoners brought to the United States would be so glad to be safe that they would willingly sit out the war. This is true in most cases, but the real Brownshirts among them still try to get through every loophole and return to the thick of the fighting.

The average wife seems to think that if she were to give her husband a little rope, he would skip.

U. S. Service Forces Praised

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

GRANVILLE, France—This little coal port rambles about a hill overlooking the Gulf of St. Malo, an arm of the English channel, perched close to the elbow where the Normandy Peninsula joins the mainland.

To the north, at the tip of the peninsula, is Cherbourg. Diagonally northwest across the peninsula from here, below Cherbourg, are the beaches—known forever now as Omaha and Utah — where the American troops landed on the continent. We flew over those beaches en route from Paris to this port, coming down low and circling around.

STOKES

The colonel in the plane who was there in those days pointed them out as we approached. He singled out particularly the bluff on Omaha where the Germans were ready that day. They were there at the time for invasion practice which they turned into the real thing as they poured deadly fire down on the American boys, struggling through the water.

The colonel, an old Army man, big, grizzled and pug-nosed, had a sort of personal connection, for he and a friend of mine, Kenneth Crawford, of Newsweek, had come over in the first wave and were together on Utah that day.

* * *

"Where History Was Made"

There were strips of beach there below with ships lying offshore, after weathering the winter, a serene marine scheme. But I became very conscious of that feeling which comes over you when you gaze on a spot where history was made, as I have felt it in our country when I stood in the break of the quiet woods on Roanoke Island where the first settlers dragged their boats ashore, to disappear thereafter in one of those mysteries of history, and at Jamestown, there by the church.

Over that beach they came, the American armies. They fought their way across the flooded lowlands, battling for the causeways, and then to the hedgerows back of that, slowly advancing on the continent. We hear much of the soldiers who fought there in those days, accomplishing what it was said could not be done.

We hear much less of those who brought them over, who supplied them, who for months in England organized the armada for the invasion, who got together vast stores of everything needed by an army.

* * *

ON these beaches, too, was the beginning of the great Service of Supply on the European continent, those manifold agencies embodied in the Army Service forces directed by Gen. Brehon Somervell. The service forces got the armies over and have moved constantly behind them, operating a vast network which now is moving up the hundreds of thousands of necessary things over a longer and longer line to the armies for the final blow against Germany. The line which ends there begins at the coast ports, and back of that is the bridge of ships and back of that the American factory.

The job of supply had been a mammoth and magnificent one, though not the dramatic one that catches headlines. They pushed forward from the beaches with the armies, opening up the famous Red Ball highway down which the trucks poured supplies, moving faster and faster as General Patton broke through at St. Lo and started off across France. They repaired and opened up railroad lines with speed called impossible. They performed virtual miracles. They rehabilitated the ports after the Army had captured them, Cherbourg first, others afterward. There were big ones and small ones, like this port through which coal is brought for the railroads.

* * *

Anything Can Happen

They have been under fire. Every so often one of these Service Forces officers must step into the post of military command. That happened one night recently to Maj. John L. Brown, port commander here, when there was a German raid from the channel islands which the enemy still occupies. Major Brown used to be manager of a chain store in Pueblo, Colo., and perhaps never imagined he would be in the middle of anything like that.

But he took over quickly when German ships appeared in the bay. The Germans landed raiding parties, one going through the local hotel, the other attempting sabotage. They were driven off after a couple of hours, leaving one boat behind.

Here, in the port towns, such as this and the other small and large ones, begins the chain of supply, and the story of supply. It ends at the front lines. It is my purpose to follow it through and tell the story.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—Mill buying against textile awards lent a steady tone to cotton futures today. Closing prices were 10 to 35 cents a bale net higher.

Near months were under pressure of hedging operations in early dealings but subsequently turned steady, influenced partially by buying of 8,000 to 10,000 bales in October which were credited to commission house or New Orleans accounts.

Brokers estimated 20,000 to 25,000 bales of cotton have been hedged in the futures market against the Belgian purchase of 46,000 bales. In view of the fact that considerable cotton has been left standing in the field, traders anticipated the government final ginnings report will be 200,000 to 300,000 bales under the official crop estimate.

Democrats' Bill

chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, told the committee passage of Moore's bill "would vacate the state Democratic executive committee and leave the party with no organization."

Could Be Many Parties

"There would be no reason, if it passes, why four or five parties could not call themselves Democrats," he asserted. "You will recall the Texas Regulars wanted to call themselves 'Texas Regular Democrats' but the law would not permit them to use the name Democrat."

Moore said he did not agree that the bill would "fan the flames of race hatred" as has been charged but to the contrary "I believe the flames will be fanned if we do not take this step."

He said he did not believe the bill would abolish the executive committee and that he would be willing to accept an amendment making its effective date after the next conventions to give the parties time to formulate their rules.

Radio silence precluded official reports on damage to the enemy or any losses to the Americans.

However, the fact the carriers were spreading the attack on the second day closer to the heart of Japan seemed to give the lie to Tokyo radio claims that five American warships have been sunk, including at least one carrier.

The carrier planes going in low at Kobe struck one of Japan's most congested cities. It is an iron and steel center, a producer of ordnance and has a large group of dockyards and shipbuilding facilities.

Meat Shortage Laid To Inequitable Price

CHICAGO, March 19. (AP) — Livestock producers are "looking for an outlet for an oversupply, despite the tremendous demands of the armed forces," Mrs. R. M. Kiefer, secretary-manager of the National Association of Retail Grocers, said today.

Declaring in a statement that government agencies should act quickly to relieve the situation, she said that "inequitable price ceilings" are keeping a huge livestock supply from reaching American dinner tables.

"It is amazing and incredible that a meat shortage of such serious proportions could possibly exist in the United States today," she asserted.

Mrs. Kiefer said she thought the American people "would be glad to pay one or two cents higher prices for their meat in order that a reasonable margin of profit be allowed to livestock growers, feeders, packers and retailers, thus relieving the bottleneck."

Russian Front

8,000 enemy troops.

While Soviet heavy bombers blasted Danzig, Red Army forces smashed against the former free city and its twin port of Gdynia and hurled new forces into the battle for Stettin, at the western end of the 175-mile Russian front across Pomerania.

The Moscow radio, in a special broadcast beamed to the German capital, tonight warned Berliners that the "battle for Berlin is in sight and neither Gen. Ritter von Hauenschildt (Berlin's commander) nor anyone else will hold off the Red Army."

"The day when fighting on the Oder front will spread to engulf Berlin itself is approaching with giant strides and the battle for Berlin is in sight," the broadcast said.

Two-Pronged Assault

Berlin reported that a great two-pronged Russian assault was underway in upper Silesia on an 80-mile front area extending from Grottkau, 31 miles southwest of Breslau, to Ratibor, on the Oder river north of the German-Polish-Czechoslovakia frontier junction.

Battling to envelop the huge war production area with its big minefields, the northern army of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army struck south from Grottkau, battering into the region of Neisse, 15 miles to the south, the enemy said.

Simultaneously, a second column moved west from a bridgehead across the Oder established in the 16-mile sector between Ratibov and Cosel. There has been no confirmation of the bridgehead from the Soviet high command.

Noose Drawn Tighter

Meanwhile, Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian Army drew a noose tighter around the refugee-packed Danzig-Gdynia pocket, launching a frontal assault at Zoppot, midway between the two ports, in a drive to split enemy forces.

With the clean-up of eastern Pomerania virtually complete, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army continued the grim struggle for the prize naval base of Stettin.

Condition Of Wreck Victims Improves

Condition of O. D. Pierce, about 50, of Hobbs, was reported to be satisfactory late Monday night by attendants at Lubbock General hospital, where he was taken following an automobile collision at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon one mile south of Seagraves.

The 2½-year-old son of Dr. J. W. McSween of Slaton had been released from Phillips-Dupre hospital at Levelland and returned to his home.

They were injured when two cars met head-on.

Dr. H. D. Dow, a physician and surgeon of the Levelland hospital, was driver of one of the cars, Pierce of the other.

Pierce was unaccompanied in his car, but Dr. Dow and Dr. McSween had their families with them. Two other children and the men's wives were not injured.

The McSween youngster suffered a leg fracture.

Amvets In Stew Over National Leadership

AUSTIN, March 19 (U.P.)—T. J. Collins, Amarillo, acting state commander of American veterans of World war two, today called on AMVET posts in Texas to ignore "any and all communications or instructions from La Marr Bailey, Dallas, self-styled national commander of AMVETS."

Bailey had called on AMVETS to join him in St. Louis to keep war plants operating. Later with strikes called off, he withdrew his call.

"Mr. La Marr Bailey is no longer connected with the AMVETS organization in any official capacity. Mr. Elmo W. Keel of Washington, D. C. is still the national commander of AMVETS."

Bailey was ousted because of his "dictatorial attitude," the statement said, and added that the name AMVETS has been copywrited and that national headquarters will be re-established in Washington, D. C.

Western Front

With fighting manpower more urgently needed at home, the German high command was reported giving up long-held positions in Holland north of Nijmegan between the Waal Rhine and Neder Rhine. Allied patrols reached the Neder Rhine and saw few Germans in their path.

The U. S. Seventh Army was 14 miles from a junction with the Third Army in the heart of the Saar basin after breaking clear through the Siegfried line east of Saarbruecken. Such a juncture would seal off Saarbruecken, the capital, and most of the basin's steel mills.

As the Seventh Army moved into Germany on a 60-mile front, the French Fifth Armored division on the east flank invaded Germany near the Rhine and captured Scheibenhard, 10 miles west of another enemy escape hatch at Karlsruhe.

Others Also Near

Other French units wer fighting in nearby Lauterbourg, nine miles from Karlsruhe. This was the first time French units had invaded Germany since their homeland fell to the Germans in 1940.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's flying columns, engulfing 30 more towns, were bringing blitzkrieg warfare home with a vengeance to the country which gave it birth.

The Third was traveling on the treads of enough fast-rolling tanks to fill seven complete armored divisions, while overhead fighter-bombers were pouring bombs, bullets and rockets on the enemy.

The 11th Armored division crossed the Nahe river in a 15 mile advance, and linked up with the unidentified armored division in the vicinity of Merzweiler, 14 miles northwest of Kaiserslautern.

The Tenth Armored was possibly 35 miles or less from a junction with the Seventh Army at Kaiserslautern, which would form the biggest of three traps, one of which already has been sprung, west of the Rhine.

Third In Center Of Saar

The third trap was devised to snap shut in the center of the Saar and lacked 14 miles of closing after the Seventh Army cleared the Siegfried barrier and Third Army infantry to the north captured St. Wendel and drove another mile south into Ober Linzweiler.

The Fourth Armored division, the one that made the Rhine valley breakthrough, was running into rougher opposition as it cut across the lines of German forces washing over into its path in retreat from the charge of three other armored divisions.

Nevertheless, it battled on east 2½ miles beyond the broken Nahe river line, clearing Wolfsheim, 12 miles southwest of Mainz, and plunged four miles southeast of fallen Bad Kreuznach into Wollenstein.

The Germans were clearing out of the western Saar rapidly, and Dillingen, another stronghold at its frontier, fell with the same ease as did the nearby anchor of Merzig yesterday.

Bingen Also Cleared

Bingen, nine miles north of Bad Kreuznach on the Rhine and Nahe rivers also was cleared.

Behind the Fourth, the 87th Infantry division completed the subjugation of Coblenz and pressed on south to the Rhine, giving Gen. Patton control of 30 miles of the Rhine's west bank southeastward from that city.

The 14th Armored division, entering the offensive for the first time, also was traveling under a blackout after it had cleared the border cities of Wissembourg and Altenstadt in a six-mile push.

Others Closing On Line

The Germans were pushed back into the Reich from the Hardt mountains on the front of the 42nd and 103rd divisions farther west, and these two outfits were closing on the Siegfried line one to two miles north of the enemy frontier.

Between these forces and Wissembourg, the 36th division cleared Rott, officially putting the Seventh inside Germany along a 60-mile front except for small enemy holdings on both sides of Wissembourg, which already may have been erased.

Barkley Says Nix On Easter Recess

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) turned thumbs down today on an Easter recess of Congress, calling a holiday at this time "wholly unjustifiable."

He expressed hope the Senate would ratify a pending U. S.-Mexican water agreement in advance of the United Nations conference at San Francisco April 25.

Approval of the treaty, Barkley told the Senate, might have "a strong psychological effect" on the San Francisco deliberations.

Bridge Loss Could Affect Only Allied Timetable For Conquest

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The extent to which collapse of the bride over the Rhine at Remagen may delay execution of Allied plans for striking into the heart of Germany is unpredictable although field dispatches report it can and will be quickly restored to service.

The structure has already served its primary purpose of facilitating establishment of a wide and deep east bank American bridgehead. No uneasiness at First Army or Allied supreme headquarters on that score is indicated. The very terrain difficulties east of the river which have made expansion of the bridgehead a slow and difficult business now must serve to deny the foe an opportunity to take advantage of the mishap.

SIMPSON

May Affect Time Element

The fall of the main bridge span, therefore, seems likely to affect only the time element in Allied plans. It could delay the moment when sufficient men and materiel have reached the east bank for the mounting of power drives up or down the river.

The Remagen bridgehead, however, is a dangerous rip in Nazi east Rhine bank defenses because it potentially outflanks more critical crossing areas both to the north and the south. It threatens to roll up more or less improvised enemy defenses in either or both directions to facilitate new Rhine crossings at points where the terrain is far more favorable for eastward drives and where good road and rail communications exist along which Allied armies could be supplied as they drove on into the German heartland.

Center Shifts Up River

Loss of the bridge could temporarily delay full exploitation of the east bank bridgehead for that purpose. With two American armies sweeping at express speed through the Saarland and Palatinate to the north, however, and west bank Coblenz in American hands, the center of immediate interest on the Rhine has shifted up river.

The double or triple trap being developed so swiftly by the Third and Seventh American armies in the Rhine-Moselle-Saar triangle is doing far more than put an estimated 80,000 Nazi troops to confused and harried flight. It bids fair to place Allied forces along the most vulnerable stretch of the Rhine from Coblenz to Karlsruhe in a matter of days at most. The forcing of the Rhine at any point between those two cities would expose all south central Germany to immediate invasion. And there are no high banks or rising ridges east of the river to help balk such a crossing or to contain it once the river itself had been spanned.

Suspect Arrested In Slaying Of Woman

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 19. (AP)—Joseph Dunbar Medley, 43, escaped convict charged with murder in the shooting of Mrs. Nancy Boyer in Washington and wanted for questioning in connection with the deaths of two other women, was arrested by the FBI here last night in the company of a St. Louis woman.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI in Washington said agents and members of the St. Louis police department took the man into custody in a hotel and he admitted his identity. He was registered under the name of James H. Hanan, of Baltimore, Md.

The FBI expects to return Medley to Washington for trial in the shooting of Mrs. Boyer, whose body was found in her apartment last March 9. Last Saturday police recovered an emerald ring belonging to Mrs. Boyer in a Pittsburgh, Pa., pawnshop.

Hoover said a silver fox jacket and a handbag answering the description of similar items missing from Mrs. Boyer's apartment were found in Medley's possession. Also, he said, a loaded revolver was taken from him and sent to Washington for comparison with bullets recovered from the woman's body.

Funds Enlarged For Crippled Children

Lubbock county's two crippled children groups, the Lubbock Crippled Children's council, and the Lubbock chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, are doing all right financially.

The infantile paralysis foundation chapter recently received a check for $2,317.69, one-half of the theater collections in Lubbock county for the March of Dimes. The total represented an increase over the fund collected last year.

Theaters participating in Lubbock included the ten theaters in Lubbock and the Palace and State theaters in Slaton. Clark Abbott was chairman of the collections this year.

The Lubbock Crippled Children's council, organized back in 1932, but still maintained separately from the foundation but having the same set of officers, is also receiving funds into its treasury now. More than $800 from the sale of Easter seals thus far and funds are coming in at approximately $50 a day, J. E. Maisen, treasurer, reported Monday.

The foundation's funds are raised from the March of Dimes and the annual President's Birthday balls while the council's funds will be raised through sale of the Easter seals.

Bronze Star Given To Floydada Man

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy.—Pfc. Bemous V. Carver, 28, Floydada, Texas, recently was awarded the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy. He is a rifleman in Company A of the 362nd Infantry Regiment, 91st "Powder River" Division.

Carver and two others maintained wire communication between their company command post and the battalion observation post under heavy German shelling. As shells repeatedly ruptured wires running around each side of a hill, Carver remained at work repairing the breaks. When it became obvious he could not splice these wires as fast as they were being severed, he laid a third wire across the top of the hill while enemy artillery shells pounded the area, some of these exploding only 50 yards from him.

"His devotion, diligence and heroism resulted in excellent contact and largely aided his unit in their subsequent action," the citation stated. "His courage exemplifies the great American ideal."

Carver attended high school in Rising Star, Texas. He entered the army January 22, 1944.

His wife, Anna Gertrude, lives at 101 North Second street, Floydada.

V-Bomb Assault On Antwerp Disclosed

ANTWERP, Belgium, March 19. (AP) — German V-bombs were hurled into this great port city for four months ending Jan. 31 in a concentrated effort to destroy its usefulness as an Allied supply base, it can now be disclosed.

There are scenes of great destruction as a result of the attacks, the extent of which previously was hidden by censorship. In some sections the city has suffered as badly from the V-bombs as the most heavily hit London areas.

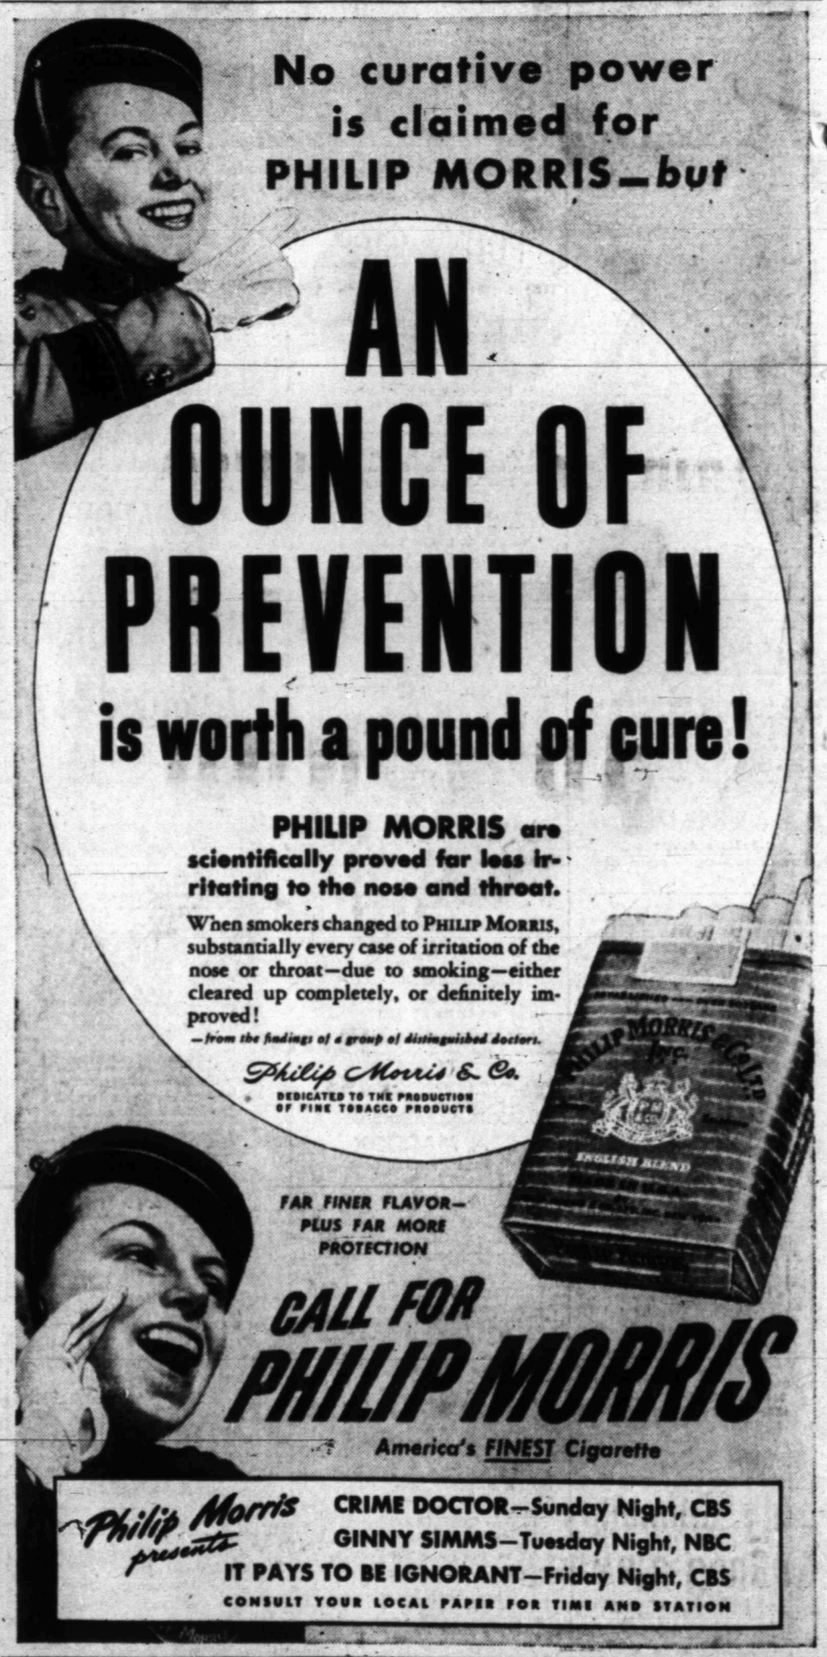

Antwerp fell so quickly in August that it suffered little damage from fighting. After its fall many hundreds of building were wrecked by the V-bombs. In one sector there are seven consecutive blocks of business buildings windowless, but the stores are nevertheless doing business.

Effect Of License Law Change Cited

It is estimated that Lubbock county will be affected a great deal if the bill amending the driver's license law to permit students between the ages of 14 to 16 to take driver's license examinations is signed by the Governor, R. F. Stinnett examiner for the Department of Public Safety, said Monday.

In comparison to other places, he estimated that this area has few drivers of 14 to 16 holding licenses.

Since the manpower shortage caused by the war, it has been the custom of the Safety Department officials to issue license to those 14 to 16 years of age whose parents could show a need for such a license.

Heretofore, these applicants have had to have the consent of the county judge before being able to apply for a license. Of course this will not be necessary if the bill is signed.

Stinnett pointed out, however, that if the bill becomes law, parents of children 14 to 16 would have to assume all responsibility of such young drivers as they have had to do in the past in regard to those 16 to 18 years of age.

Boys Livestock Show Planned At Muleshoe

MULESHOE, March 19.—Dates of the Muleshoe FFA and Bailey county 4-H Club Boys Livestock show have been set Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7.

Edward White, vocational agriculture teacher in the Muleshoe schools, stated that livestock to be exhibited by FFA boys includes 21 head of cattle, 36 head of swine, and several pens of chickens.

Bailey county has been without the services of a county agent several weeks, and it is not known what 4-H boys have for exhibit.

The show is limited to Bailey county and Muleshoe 4-H boys and vocational agriculture students this year, but local business men and agriculture leaders agree it will be desirable next year to boys of other portions of the Plains who wish to show here. They hope to make the local show a permanent affair.

Survivors of deceased servicemen who were in employment covered by the Social Security act prior to their entrance into the armed forces are asked to contact their nearest Social Security board field office, Sam Liefeste, manager of the Lubbock office said Monday. In addition to other benefits, there may also be some payment from the old-age and survivors insurance system if the serviceman or service-woman was insured under the Social Security act. If the deceased is survived by minor children, monthly payments continue until the youngest child reaches 18 years of age. Leifeste pointed out that delay in filing the claim after notice of death is received will result in some loss of benefit by the survivor.

The purpose of the plan sheets, he said, is to determine what the farmer produced in 1944 and what he plans to produce in 1945 so that the War Food administration can set up the food rationing program and make commitments on lend lease to the Allied nations.

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.
