MAD ATHLETE SLAYS MOTHER BY TORTURE

"Took Eyes Out to Purify Her Soul," He Tells Police

FATHER DIVORCED

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Richard C. Bearse, a 26-year-old mechanical engineer, slew his mother by tortuous mutilations early today during a maniacal attack that left him apparently a gibbering idiot. Bearse had lived alone with his mother for 4 years since she was divorced from the treasurer of Hampden county.

The police have been uable to learn what started the horrid mutilations that brought death from shock, but the young man muttered rambling phrases about taking out his mother's eyes because they did not look right and of rending her body to purify her soul.

Bearse, who was a graduate of Northwestern university and had been a star basketball player in high school, had not previously shown signs of mental lapse. He had called on a young woman last evening, returning home after midnight. Whether he became enraged at his mother over a personal affair or was mentally unbalanced through worry over his parent's health has not been learned.

Pleads Not Guilty.

A plea of not guilty to a charge of murder was entered for him in court today. Alienists will report on his condition.

A neighbor, hearing screams from the Bearse house called the police at 3:30 this morning. The police investigated, found the house dark and silent and returned. An hour later the neighbor reported again that she had heard screams. The police hastened back to the house and burst in. Bearse sat on the kitchen floor, beside the body of his mother.

"She died twice in the night and I revived her once," he said.

"I arrived at my mother's house at about 11:30 or 12 o'clock last night," he told police. 'After spending the evening with my friend, mother was not feeling well when I arrived so I got her a drink of water. She said her lips were burning. I got some cough drops and then I threw water over her. She had been sick for a long time and I wanted to relieve the pain."

Madness Begins.

There sense stopped and madness began. "Her eyes looked so bad, so I took them out," he said. And again, "to wash away her sins," was the reason he gave for his fearful mutilation.

Mrs. Bearse was 55 years old. She married Fred S. Bearse in 1891, and her son was born in 1899. In 1912 she obtained a divorce. Her husband continued to contribute to her support. The son spent last week at Grove Beach, Conn., with a school friend and returned to Springfield a few days ago to make arrangements for starting his own business.

Returns $1000 Fee

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A fee of $1,099.54 received by Steve Heffington, Travis county tax collector, on tax collections for 1925 was returned to the country treasurer Thursday, County Auditor James A. Belger, announced.

"I don't need the money," so I gave it back to the county," Mr. Heffington explained.

CLAIM RADIO BANKRUPT

Debts of $5,000 Charged to Southern Broadcasting Station

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 6.—Creditors Friday petitioned the federal district court to adjudge the Southern Radio corporation a bankrupt, and to liquidate its affairs. The company owns radio broadcasting station WCAR.

Four petitioners listed debts alleged due them of about $5,000, and recited charges that the defendant company had recently committed acts of bankruptcy in undertaking to prefer certain creditors over petitioners.

WATER MENACES MINERS

Cavein Holds Them Prisoner While Flood Rises Around.

MARION, Ky., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Reports from the Hudson zinc mine of the Zinc and Spar company in Livingston county today said that five men were entombed by a cave-in and their lives menaced by water flowing into the mine from underground streams. The cave-in occurred late last night catching Roy James, George Patello, Randolph Cobb, N. B. Wilson and Harry Watson. Two other miners escaped.

Efforts were underway today to rescue the men.

CHARGES ELECTION FRAUD

Gainesville Man Contests Victory at Polls by Owsley.

DENTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Alleging fraud, gross irregularities and violation of the Texas election law, Judge W. S. Moore of Gainesville has filed a contest suit in district court here against A. C. Owsley of Denton, his opponent in the recent primary election. Official returns gave Owsley a small majority over Moore in the race for district judge.

BELTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A well was spudded in Friday on the R. T. Moore farm, just west of Belton by the Petoskey Oil company.

Thin Dime For A Thick Steak; But Far Away

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A five course dinner for a dime, hotel rooms for two at twenty cents a day and similar marvels of monetary elasticity are described in letter written home by two Fort Worth students at Texas Christian university who are spending the summer in a tour of France. The low exchange rate of the franc makes it possible to live sumptuously on a few dollars a week, they write.

The boys are Jack Bisco and Ted Brown; they left Fort Worth as soon as vacation began and after riding to the edge of town on a street car, started walking and catching rides. They worked their way across from Galveston to France as mess boys.

Mob May Be Result Of Florida Killing

HOMESTEAD, Fla., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Apprehensive of an outbreak a score of armed deputy sheriffs, Miami policemen and federal agents surrounded city hall here late today as the investigation into the killing of M. P. Merritt, Clyde Parish and J. A. Brinson, by federal prohibition agents was started.

Long before the inquiry began crowds were gathering into the vicinity of the city hall where J. P. Johnson, justice of the peace, assembled witnesses for the inquiry.

Free Passes Rain On Wichita Today

Four hundred small chinese parachutes carrying free tickets to the Strand, Olympic, Mission and Palace theatres, will be dropped from an airplane which will fly over the city between 12:30 and one o'clock today, it was announced Friday by the Dent theatre management here. Following the flight over the city the plane will land at Call Field and the pilot escorted to the office of R. E. Shepherd, mayor, where he will deliver a message relative to the "Better Movies Week."

The plane will be one of 20 to leave Dallas early today, each flying to some city containing a Dent theatre and dropping free passes over it.

Wichita Firemen Quench Gas Blaze

Fire on the blazing tank car of casinghead gasoline was extinguished by the crew of a special fire train under the charge of Grover Harben, assistant Wichita Falls fire chief, early Friday morning, Fort Worth and Denver officials announced yesterday. The special train loaded with tanks of water and fire-fighting equipment left Wichita Falls at midnight Thursday for the scene of the blaze, a few miles south of Henrietta.

The car was hauled into Wichita Falls Friday morning for repair.

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A change in the schedule of the Pennsylvania railroad will further expediate mail service from Dallas to Baltimore, Philadelphia; and Washington, C. B. Braun, division traffic manager for the National Aair Transport, Inc., said here today. The change will place mail in Philadelphia at 6:50 istead of 8:32 a. m. each day, in Washington at 11:05 instead of 1:25 p. m. and Baltimore at 10:10 a. m. instead of 12:25 p. m.

SHERIFF ILL TRIAL NEARS

Smith Confined To Room; Hatchitt To Aid Bralley

Announcement was made Friday that Joe B. Hatchitt, Wichita Falls attorney, had volunteered his services in connection with the defense of W. G. Bralley, candidate for sheriff and county juvenile officer, under a charge of aggravated assault in connection with an episode in the corridors of the court house last Tuesday. Bralley, whose trial has been set for Wednesday of next week, is alleged to have used a gun in obtaining or attempting to obtain from Fred Smith, sheriff, retraction for certain alleged utterances, said by Mr. Bralley to be highly derogatory to his character.

Mr. Hatchitt's announcement of intention to aid Mr. Bralley in the trial next Wednesday adds a sixth member to the quintet who originally volunteered their services in connection with the case, others being J. T. Montgomery, H. F. Weldon, Guy Rogers, Shields Heyser, and H. R. Wilson.

There has been no announcement from Fred Smith, sheriff, of the employment of additional counsel to aid Wayne Somerville, county attorney, in the prosecution of the charge. Mr. Smith was reported to be ill Friday and confined to his residence in the county jail.

K.C.s to Present Action to Coolidge

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The action taken by the Knights of Columbus in protesting against the policy of President Calles of Mexico in the religious situation in that country will be officially laid before the United States government, James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the order, said today.

Appointment of a committee to represent the Knights of Columbus was discussed at a conference between Mr. Flaherty and leading officials of the annual convention of the organization which closed today.

YET SANTA FE STOCK RISES

Climbs in Face of Threatened Boycott From Louisiana Points

GALVESTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Declaring he was quite sure shippers of Louisiana in general and New Orleans in particular, would not support Huey P. Long's call for a boycott against the Santa Fe and such Oklahoma lines as refuse to extend Texas port grain and grain products rates to New Orleans, E. H. Thorne answered Mr. Long's call in two vains—facetious and serious.

Facetiously, he pointed to today's increase of $3 in Santa Fe stock and seriously he said he was "quite sure" the boycott threat would have no effect on the Santa Fe or the Oklahoma lines in question.

Oil Man Missing After Threat From Youth He Sent To Prison

MEXIA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Search in four Texas cities was under way Friday for L. B. Oglivie, 26, employe of the Pure Oil company, who disappeared while enroute from his home in Wortham to the company offices, here Tuesday morning.

Officers have been appraised of his disappearance, in San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Galveston and other points where Ogilié formerly resided.

The car in which the missing man drove away from home Tuesday was found Wednesday on a Mexia business street. In the machine was Ogilvie's hat, crumpled and torn. According to his wife, they came to Mexia from Dallas where the husband had been employed by the T. & P. and L. Before that they had resided in San Antonio to which point they went from Houston where Ogilie was employed by the Humble company several years.

The couple have a daughter, three years of age, and the parents of both live in Houston—Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ogilvie and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith.

The only clues are the fact that the missing man had been robbed in Houston several years ago and was still an occasional sufferer from blows received on the back of the head at that time, and the fact that he recently ran into a youth just released from a two-year sojourn in the penitentiary where he had been sent for forging Ogilvie's name to a check. It is said the youth had declared he was going to get even with Ogilvie.

BREAKS ALL RECORDS FOR LONG SWIM

Crosses Treacherous Strait In Fourteen And a Half Hours

CUTS TIME TWO HOURS

KINGSDOWN, Eng., Aug. 6.—(AP) — Gertrude Ederle, American swimming marvel, tonight won the proud distinction of being the first of her sex to conquer the treacherous waters of the English channel. Not only did she succeed after an heroic effort and a sensational finish in accomplishing this feat, but she did it in faster time than any of the previous successful men performers.

Starting from the beach at Gris-Nez, France, at 7:09 o'clock this morning she landed on the beach at Kingsdown near Deal, at 9:40 o'clock tonight, having taken 14 hours, 31 minutes to make the difficult passage as against the former record of 16 hours, 23 minutes by the Itali-Argentine swimmer Tirabocchi when he swam the channel from Calais to Dover three years ago.

A Proud Woman.

"I am a proud woman," was all Miss Ederle would say as she paused just for a moment on English soil after triumphantly walking up the beach.

She was feeling in such fine fettle she wanted to plunge into the water to swim to the tug awaiting about two hundred yards off shore to take her back to France.

She was dissuaded, however, and was rowed out amind acclamations by the large crowd which had come from the seaside resort of Deal and other nearby watering places to watch the climax of the momentous event in channel swimming history.

Ends by Firelight.

The swim came to an end in what might be described as a blaze of glory for, to guide the swimmer as she neared the goal huge bonfires were kept burning along the beach, lighting up the waters, so that those ashore could see the strong, steady strokes which Miss Ederle kept up until she was able to touch bottom and walk ashore. The glare of the torches on the accompanying boats and their strong searchlights added to the brilliancy.

She's Miss Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Miss Winnie Law, 18, will be Miss Fort Worth in the Atlantic City bathing beauty revue this year, it was determined Friday after a contest in which Miss Law eliminated 23 other entrants.

Miss Law is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. H. E. Law of Aledo. She graduated at Weatherford high school and spent a year in Weatherford college before coming to Fort Worth some months ago.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS GROW

Fail to Fall Off At Fort Worth As Predicted

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Instead of showing a falling off, due to passing of the peak, as predicted by grain men here, Fort Worth grain receipts continued to clim during the week ended Thursday and set a new high record, with 1,774 cars, against 1,593 for the preceding week and 1,182 for the same week of 1924, the previous record year.

Wheat required 1,563 of the cars arriving, against 1,426 the preceding week and 978 for the same week in 1924. Much damaged oats is being received and is being penalized from 1 to 3 cents according to the amount of harm done it by the rain while in the shock.

THE PRIMROSE PATH

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—After a day of "riotous living" a mere slip of a boy today is throughly chastened and reformed, his plunge into crime ended.

For a brief time he and his friends feasted on the things that delight a boy's heart—candy, cakes and the like; an air rifle and a season ticket to the Y. M. C. A. Then it was discovered $28 belonging to a city hall employe was missing, and before long the lad was apprehended and tearfully confessed.

Makes 100 of 'Em

Henry Ford is seen above inspecting the latest Ford product, a tiny monoplane that measures but 18 feet from tip to tip, weighs only 300 pounds—and develops 100 miles an hour.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Ford Motor company announces it has on hand orders for 100 airplanes with a market value of approximately $3,700,000. Production on the first 10 will be started at once in the present factory and the remainder will be turned out as rapidly as possible after a new factory is put in operation about August 15.

Milam Error May Rob Dan of Win

CAMERON, Texas, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Attention has been directed to an error appearing in the tabulation of votes as announced by the Texas election bureau in the race for governor in Milam county vote. An error of 3,000 votes occurs in the vote from Milam. The official returns show that Moody received only 2,411 votes, while the report as published in the state papers gave him 5,411. Milam county went for Ferguson by a majority of 185 votes over all candidates. If the tabulation takes into account the 3,000 votes given to Moody by error the majority of the attorney general would not be as given but he would be short near 2,000 votes of a majority.

Katy to Build Line To Mexican Border

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway will extend its line from San Antonio to a point on the Texas-Mexican line, about 100 miles south of San Antonio if the board of directors accepts the recommendation of C. N. Whitehead, president, who spent Friday in San Antonio. He was here for the sole purpose of discussing the proposed extension with San Antonio business men and representatives from the sections the new line would tap.

Whitehead intimated that the line will be new construction.

COTTON STILL A MONOPOLY

Col. Hester Finds Efforts Of Other Nations Not "Seriously Successful"

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Competition with the United States in the production of cotton which is becoming more marked in certain foreign countries has not yet proved "seriously successful" Colonel H. G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans cotton exchange declared today in his annual report on the 1925-1926 commercial crop.

NEW TRIAL FOR ROBBERY

Krum Case to Go Before Court After First Effort Mistrial

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Retrial of W. A. Martin on charges of robbing the Krum State bank in July, 1925, probably will be held in the fall, it was announced Friday by County Attorney Elbert Hooper of Denton, who was in Fort Worth for the day. Hooper said he would seek a setting for some time in October. A mistrial resulted when the case was tried here last winter.

PARNELL SAYS NOTHING

Appears at Austin Without Comment On Political Situation.

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—State Senator J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls and A. E. Wood of Granger were here today, but neither would comment on state politics.

Senator Parnell will not be a member of the 40th legislature, having been defeated by Representative W. D. McFarlane of Graham.

CLAY PIPE SUICIDE.

ST. LOUIS.—Edward Ziegler committed suicide by attacing a gas tube to a clay pipe and breathing the fumes.

NOT SO HOT, IS OFFICIAL WORD

Cool Compared With Last Year, Though Hottest This Year

The thermometer was 105 in the shade at Wichita Falls yesterday, the hottest of the year. But not so hot as it might be, according to Wallace C. Taylor, weather statistician, who says "Remember—"

Mr. Taylor has statistics to show that we have enjoyed a very cool summer compared to 1925. Temperatures ranging from 100 to 111 degrees were registered in this city last year, with 106 degrees on June 9, 111 degrees on August 19, and a score or more of "scorchers" during the months of July and August.

Its the Humidity

"Temperatures are not the only factors which make the weather uncomfortable," Mr. Taylor explained, "as there are other influences such as humidity, barometric pressure, etc., which will make day seem hotter than the thermometer indicates. Friday the barometric pressure was low and was making the weather seem unusually hot, but so far as temperature is considered, we are enjoying ordinary summer weather."

Enough rain has fallen in the vicinity of Wichita Falls already this year to make a good crop, according to statistics gathered at the Wichita Falls Electric company's observation department. With a little more than half the year gone a grand total of 22.16 inches of rainfall has so far been registered, and most of that has come at a time when it would be of great benefit to small grain crops and to put cotton land in good condition.

Total Rainfall

In 1925 a total of 23.80 inches of rain fell in Wichita Falls, only a little over an inch more than has fallen here this half year.

July was a banner rain month this year, the precipitation during the month amounting to 7.10 inches, while in 1925 only 1.13 inches of rain fell here.

With the usual amount of fall and winter rains added to the total of 22.16 inches already registered, 1926 promises to set a record for precipitation for this section of the state.

FIGHT FIRE WITH BEER

AXMINSTER, Eng.—Barrels of beer extinguished a fire here, the water supply having failed.

THE WEATHER

Local weather conditions for the past 24 hour period reported by the Wichita Falls Electric company bureau: Maximum temperature 105 degrees, minimum 77 at 7 a. m. Friday. 1.02 inches precipitation, southeast breeze; clear; average wind velocity 8 miles per hour, maximum wind velocity 10 miles per hour, barometer 28.94.

THE DAY IN WICHITA FALLS.

The Garden, "Fighting Sheriff."
The Olympic, "It's the Old Army Game."
The Strand, "Ransom's Folly."
The Mission, "Dangerous Dub."
The Palace, "Smiling at Trouble."
The Gem, "The Dead Line."

OKLAHOMA: Saturday probably scattered thunder showers, cooler, Sunday partly cloudy.

EAST TEXAS: Saturday probably scattered thunder showers, cooler in north portion. Sunday partly cloudy, probably local thunder showers in south portion; light to moderate variable winds on the coast, mostly southerly.

S. E. NELSON SLIPS TO DEATH FROM 'CATLINE'

Accident Second On Same Derrick Within Less Than Week

PROMINENT CITIZEN

ELECTRA, Aug. 6.—S. E. Nelson, age 44, was fatally injured at 2:05 Friday afternoon when he fell approximately 75 feet from a 120-foot steel derrick, in the Rock Crossing oil field. He died last night at 9:30. Mr. Nelson was working as a rig builder, for Stidham-Thrasher Drilling contractors of Electra, on the Humble lease one fourth mile east of the warehouse, on the Waggoner O-12 sight. According to workmen who were present at the time of the accident, he was coming from the top of the derrick on the "catline," which runs to the top of the derrick, and he evidently lost his grip on the line, or at any rate his hand turned loose of the tight line, and left the other line loose, causing the fall.

The Totten Brothers ambulance was summoned, and due the seriousness of his condition did not reach Electra until 3:50.

The injured man was taken to the offices of Dr. T. H. Parmley and W. H. Ogden, and given treatment where he was found to suffer both feet, and both legs broken, also the pelvis bones broken, while an X-ray was made of his back, and injuries.

This is the Derrick at which Roy Whitley, age 21, was injured during the afternoon of last Saturday, when a portion of the steel fell on his foot. Mr. Whitley is improving.

The victim of this afternoon's accident resides at 500 East Harrison avenue. His wife, is ill over the shock. Grandmother Dill, (Mrs. E. E.) a pioneer of this city is his mother-in-law. He is very prominent in affairs of the city.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced late last night. Nelson is survived by his wife, a sister in Missouri, and a brother in Comanche, Texas. He has been in Electra since 1912.

Rig Builder Hurt In Fall Off Truck

ARCHER CITY, Aug. 6.—Dick Cole, rig builder, received a fractured skull just before dark tonight when he fell from a truck and struck his head on a railroad track over which the truck was passing. A Burris-Dalton ambulance was called from Wichita Falls and Cole was taken to the Clinic hospital where it was stated late Friday night that his condition was not serious.

Mexico Endurance Contest Is Likely

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Both sides of the religious controversy in Mexico the efforts of would-be peace intermediaries having been unavailing apparently are prepared for an indefinite endurance contest.

The propoganda campaign is being continued, but it is much more apparent on the side of the government supporters, who under the leadership of the regional confederation of labor and political groups are touring the nation, addressing the people and issuing literature with the object of convincing the men and women of the country that the government's attitude is the proper one.

The newspapers are extremely cautious. They do not touch on the religious situation editorially, and print only meager news items, the proprietors fearing arrest or closure of their plants.

No Music Trust

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Investigation of the system employed by the American society of Composers, authors and publishers in collecting license fees in copyrighted music has revealed no violation of the anti-trust law, the department of justice announced today.

CHARGE ARSON CONSPIRACY

Merchants at Los Angeles Arrested On Fraud Allegations

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Accused of having formed an arson ring, five business men were arrested here today charged with arson and defrauding an insurance company. In addition, the quintet will be charged with conspiracy, District Attorney Asa Keyes announced, following the arrests.

The men under arrest are Koeben Rossow, proprietor of a cloak and suit company which burned June 25 with a loss estimated at $40,000; H. Meyers, head of a furniture company which burned July 2, with a loss of $110,500; Max Rachoff and H. Levitan, owners of a millinery company, and Fred Kaplan, an accountant.

TEXAS GRAIN FOR TROPICS

Steamship Service Out Of Houston Opened, But Irregular

HOUSTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Opening of grain export to Mexico and other tropical points was made certain Friday when Houston agents announced sailing of the American steamer Lake Minneco to Tampico and Progresso August 18.

While the service is not regular necessarily, it can be made so easily, according to B. M. Bloomfield, steamship official.

The ship will arrive August 16 according to Mr. Bloomfield and will lift grain, flour, lumber and other commodities. Part of the cargo will be 35,000 bushels of wheat.

THE PETTER

—By— Beatrice Burton
Author of "Love Bound" "Her Man"

Illustrated and Copyrighted by Johnson Features, Inc., 1819 Broadway, New York City

READ THIS FIRST:

MERRY LOCKE, twenty, falls in love with ANTHONY GAINES, a young lawyer, the first time she sees him. To be in love is nothing new to Merry, however, she's been in love scores of times with scores of men, ever since she was sixteen.

She confesses this to Tony one day when he wants her to run away and be married at once. Then, almost at once, she regrets her frankness because Tony insists that they wait six months before they decide to marry. He explains that he wants her to be sure of herself.

But Merry doesn't want to wait. She has failed in her course at business college, and she wants to be married at once, so that she won't have to tell MOMS, her strong-minded mother, about her failure.

Her father has a stroke and dies suddenly, leaving the whole family dependent for support on CASSIE, the second sister, who is secretary to MORLEY KAUFMAN, and secretly yearns to marry him.

HELEN, the oldest of the sisters, marries BILL HEPWORTH, a clerk in his father's wholesale grocery. Jinny, the youngest sister, stays at home to help Moms with the house work.

Merry finds work in Madame Dale's beauty shop, and begins to use make-up on her face, although Tony dislikes to see it.

One night when his mother returns from an out-of-town visit with his Cousin Louise, he doesn't come to see Merry as usual. Cassie warns her that he is treating her casually, as Morley Kaufman treats herself—keeping her in the background, and not introducing her to his family.

"He's just having a good time with you," says Cassie, "he's never even given you an engagement ring."

Merry thinks things over, and for the first time doubt of Tony creeps into her mind. That night she lets DERRICK JONES, who lives next door, kiss her as he has many times before. The following night when Tony comes to see her, she greets him with veiled ill-humor and resentment. Tony asks her to wash the make-up from her face.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XV.

They went into the house where the twilight was gathering in the corners like dusky curtains.

Through the half darkness, Merry's face gleamed like a procelain mask under its coating of rouge and powder. The soft mouth was bedaubed with scarlet. The eyes gleamed like bits of blue-green ice between their blackened lashes.

All the fresh, sunny charm that was her greatest beauty was quite kone.

"I'm sorry you don't like my face," she said as she went around the shabby comfortable room, lighting the lamps. Her voice might have belonged to Casiea, as she spoke. It twinkled like ice in a pitcher—cold and hard.

"But I do like your face. I'm particularly crazy about your face." Tony answered, standing before her, his hands in his pockets. "What I don't like is this stuff you've smeared all over it. Please go upstairs and wash it off."

Merry gazed at him in pretended surprise. "Why should I wash it off, I'd like to know," she said.

"For me, dear," Tony explained. "Please take it off. Merry."

She only shook her sun-bright head in answer, and opened a magazine that lay on the table beside her. She turned the leaves lazily, and smothered a yarn.

"It's part of my new job to make up my face," she said, after a minute or two. "I've taken a place in a beauty shop."

"A beauty shop!" Tony repeated. Suddenly he laughed as he might have laughed at a child. "Why, what are you doing in a beauty shop? You trained to be a stenographer, didn't you?"

Merry didn't bother to answer him. She went on looking through her magazine, quite as if she were alone in the room.

It came to him, all at once, that she was angry about something. The change in her was more than skin-deep.

His face sobered and he sat down on the arm of her chair and took the book out of her hands."

"Merry, what's the matter?" he asked, "you're peeved, aren't you? Is it because of anything that I've done?"

"You haven't done anything? It's what you haven't done!" she answered cuttingly. She raised her face and gave him a narrow, resentful look from her eyes.

"Well, what haven't I done then?" he asked patiently. "Don't get sore like this over nothing. Just tell me what's wrong?"

"I'll tell you one thing!" she blazed at him, suddenly, "I'll never twiddle my thumbs alone at home for you again, the way I did last night! I've never had to sit around like a blooming wall-flower before in my life, and I don't propose to start it now!"

He stared at her blankly.

"But, Merry, I was with my mother," he said helpless as a man always is in the face of a woman's unreasoning anger. "You surely aren't jealous of my mother, are you?"

"No—nor of your wonderful cousin Louise, either!" she flung at him bitterly.

Tony saw through her fury, then and he gave a low chuckle.

"Gadzooks, Merry, you're jealous of Cousin Louise!" he laughed. "I wish you could see her. She's almost as old as my mother. Why, Merry, Merry, you little jealous thing. You little funny thing—" Then his arms went around her, and he held her close, murmuring broken words to her, his lips against her scented hair.

"I was jealous—I was jealous," she told him. "It was because of something that Cassie said."

"What did she say?"

But Merry wouldn't tell him.

"It doesn't matter," she said, getting up from her chair, "just let me ask you something. Tony—have you told your mother about me?"

He nodded. "Of course I have. I was going to bring her along tonight to see you, but she was awfully tired. I thought perhaps we'd drive over home," he grinned suddenly, and then you can see for yourself what a siren Cousin Louis is."

He turned to her and kissed her again, gently and tenderly, as if he were sorry for her. "You musn't be jealous like this," he said, "I care more for one of the little freckles on your little nose than I do for all the women on earth. And old Cousin Louise of all people! Now, dash upstairs and wash youd face."

Merry flashed him an April smile. "And then we'll go over to see your mother," she said, and ran upstairs.

She laughed at herself as she scrubbed the sticky make-up from her face, and brushed her hair before the bathroom mirror.

The door of Cassie's bedroom was open, and Cassie, herself, sat at her dressing table giving her face its nightly bath of cold cream.

The sleeves of her white breakfast coat were turned back, and her metallic hair was gathered back into a white band. Her fingers worked expertly, rubbing out the tiny lines around the eyes and mouth.

"It Looks Like French Pastry All Over Your Face," He Said.

To keep herself young and attractive was a serious busines with Cassie.

She touched the floor with her fingertips a hundred times every night and morning. She drank nothing but a glass of buttermilk for lunch every day, lest she grow fat. She went to bed at night with a band tied under her chin to keep it from sagging.

Her whole life was one constant effort to make herself alluring in the eyes of Morley Kaufman.

Merry, who had never seen Morley, wondered sometimes whether he was worth the energy and the worry that Cassie wasted on him.

As Merry passed her door she swung around from the mirror and beckoned her into the room with a crooked forefinger.

"Shut the door," she whispered, and Merry closed it.

"Well, how did things come out with your friend, Gaines?" she asked, all curiosity.

Merry smiled. "Wonderfully," she answered. "I'm going over to his house now, to meet his mother."

Cassie's face grew hard under its film of cold cream.

"You realize, of course that she ought to come to call on you, don't you?" she asked sourly. "A girl never goes to meet the family of the man she's going to marry. It's always the other way round."

Her eyes met Merry's in the glass, and they were filled with a dull anger. Could it be that Cassie was jealous of her because she was going to marry Tony Gaines, Merry wondered. Poor Cassie.

"I should worry about that," she said aloud, her face dimpling and flashing with happiness. "Tony's mother was tired tonight, and he thought it would be nice if we went over there, so—we're going."

She ran lightly down the stairs, humming as she went.

Tony was standing beside the piano lamp, looking closely at something in his hand. He started as she came into the room and thrust both hands into his pockets.

"What was that you were looking at?" asked Merry, going up to him.

All her hardness against him had melted, and she was filled once more with the utter pleasure of being with him. It was like the warmth of sunshine in her heart, to know that they were friends again.

"Do you know I'm crazy about you, Tony?" she asked him when they were in the big blue car. Her voice was filled with wistfulness.

"If you loved me the way I do you, you wouldn't let me go back to work in that old beauty shop," she went on. "You'd marry me right away."

Tony didn't answer her at once. She could see the outline of his face against the darkness, as he peered ahead of him at the lamplit road.

At last he spoke.

"All right," he said slowly and deliberately, "we will get married—right away. If you're sure you care about me—"

"Oh, I am sure!" Merry cut in and suddenly she couldn't go on. Her chin was quivering, her lips working, with the foolish wish to cry because she was so happy and relieved.

The car swung into Cabot street and stopped under some shadowy trees. Beyond the sidewalk was a wide smooth lawn, and beyond that the long, low white house, where Tony lived.

"Wait a minute," Merry said. "I can't go in for a minute." She took her handkerchief out of the pocket of her coat, and began to wipe her eyes. Her voice shook.

"Why, Merry, you're crying!" Tony's arms were around her again, and his shoulder under her head: "what's the matter now? Isn't everything all right?"

His left hand fumbled in his pocket, and he drew out something that gleamed in the dim light on the dash of the car.

"Look here," he said, and Merry felt the coolness of a metal ring slipping down the third finger of the hand he held in his.

She looked. The ring was a heavy, old-fashioned one of gold. In its claws it held a big pearl. It was too big for her little finger.

"This was the ring my father gave my mother when they were engaged," Tony explained in his low deep voice, "and this afternoon when I told her about you and me, she gave it to me—for you." He tilted up her face and kissed her.

"Would you rather have a new one—a diamond?" he asked, stroking her hand with its softly-gleaming jewel.

If she had told the truth, Merry would have said that she preferred a diamond. She would have adored going home and showing Cassie a great big table-cut one, dazzling enough to put her eyes out. But she loved this ring that had belonged to Tony's mother, too.

"I love this one. I'd love it if it were made of tin and glass," she answered, her eyes on the ring, "because you gave it to me."

Then, slowly, she raised her eyes to his.

"Tony," she said, and her voice vibrated on his name. "Tony, I have something to tell you—I'd made up my mind not to tell it to you, but I guess I've got to."

In her own ears her voice sounded queer and far away, as she began her story.

A thousand times afterward, she wished that she had never told it to him that night—

What did Merry tell Tony and why did she regret having told him? Why didn't Merry see Tony's mother? You will know tomorrow.

SAME OLD CAL TO NEIGHBORS

Coolidge Goes Fishing While "Mrs." Picks Blueberries

MAJOR LOOP LEADERS

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 6.—(AP)—On the home farm again for a few days President Coolidge is spending his time renewing old ties and visiting familiar scenes. Government business has been thrust into the background. Friends and neighbors, although proudly remembering his high position, say they find him unchanged.

H. L. Moore grew up with Mr. Coolidge and roomed with the president for a year at the Black River academy in Ludlow in the 80s. He has always made his home here, where he owns a farm. In 1924 he founded "The Hometown Coolidge" club and led it on a campaign trip by automobile across the country.

Unable to resist longer the call of his favorite sport, President Coolidge went fishing today. He tried his luck in Piney Hollow brook, about a quarter of a mile from the Coolidge farm house. Meanwhile Mrs. Coolidge took a pail and went blueberrying.

KHAKI FOILS RATTLESNAKE

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 6.—(AP) J. H. Harding of Del Rio probably owes his life to his khaki breeches. He was bitten by a five-foot rattle snake while hunting near Del Rio, but the loose and stiff breeches absorbed so much venom that army authorities here decided use of anti-crotalus serum was unnecessary.

Dad Shoots First Son Shoots Best Survivor Freed

No Prosecution Against Young Man Who Slays Parent in Mo.

BISMARCK, Mo., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Officials indicated today there would be no prosecution of Edgar Campbell, 22, who killed his father Ewing Campbell, 56, in a spectacular gun duel yesterday after a quarrel starting when the elder Campbell beat his wife, who is Edgar's stepmother.

The two men met in the street in front of the father's home, the son with a shot gun, the father with a pistol. Each fired two shots, the father shooting first and missing.

COAST GUARD BOAT SMASHED IN COLLISION

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The United States coast guard cutter 130 came into port today with a three-foot hole in her starboard side and her fore and main masts missing as a result of a collision wit ha barge 14 miles off Boston light. Her crew of eight men had worked the emergency pumps for four hours while she fought her way back to port.

$500 BOND FOR KNIFING

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—George McGee, charged with assault to murder in connection with a knife attack made some days ago on J. J. Brown, Friday was bound over to the Travis county grand jury on bond of $500, following preliminary hearing.

FIND LOST WILL OF MILLIONAIRE

Attack on $300,000,000 Fortune of Hopkins Planned

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Examiner says that the purported "lost will" of the late Mark Hopkins, multi-millionaire railroad builder and California pioneer, was brought to this city Wednesday night and today will become the foundation of a legal attack upon the Hopkins fortune, now estimated as in excess of $300,000,000.

Allegedly the will was found recently in a deserted house near Hillsborough, N. C. It is to be filed for probate in superior court here. If upheld as the genuine will of the famous member of the "big four" who built the Central Pacific railroad it will divert the Hopkins fortune to 137 heirs and upset all recognized genealogies of the Hopkins family.

BOY THREATENS DEATH TO ESCAPE CUSTODY

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 6.—(AP) Threatening police with a "shame suicide" unless he was released from custody, an 11-year-old boy was held for questioning about a series of thefts of sheet iron from a lumber company.

MONROE DOCTRINE WRONG?

It Keeps South America Suspicious Of U. S. Says Diplomat

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 6. (AP)—The Monroe doctrine, instead of bringing the Latin-American countries into closer contact with the United States nad initiating a spirit of mutual trust, has eliminated from the minds of Latin-American people all fear of aggression from any portion of the world, but the United States, Dr. L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union told the institute of politics today in discussing the attitude of Latin-America toward the United States.

CALIFORNIA SHIMMIES

VENTURA, Cal., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A sharp earthquake lasting nearly half a minute occurred at 9:45 o'clock this mornig. No damage was reported.

TURKS HAND US SURPRISE

No Explanation For Closing American Chamber of Commerce

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Dispatches from Angora, the Turkish capital, say the government has ordered the closing of all foreign chambers of commerce in the country.

The order is said to be directed particularly at the American, British, French and Italian chambers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Officials of the United States chamber of commerce expressed surprise today over the reported closing by the Angora government of the American chamber of commerce at Constantinople.

It was said no recent events indicated any situation that would prompt such a step.

The Constantinople chamber is an organization member of the United States chamber of commerce.

CIRCUS COMING ON AUGUST 16

Hagenbeck-Great Wallace to Show Here Soon For Performances

Action, color and music, plenty of each from the time Director Edward Woeckener's band plays the opening strains of the gorgeous spectale to the exciting jockey races at the finish are the paramount features of the 1926 performance of the Carl Hagenbeck-Greater Wallace circus, which comes to Wichita Falls for afternoon and night exhibits on August 16. As an extra feature Cheyenne Bill's Wild West will appear under the big top.

Not only is it true that there is not a dull moment during the entire two and one-half hours of entertainment, but the most blase circus "fan" comes away admitting that, for novelty and variety of character, the Hagenbeck-Wallace program is entitled to a 100 per cent rating.

Hagenbeck-Wallace, this year as always, are making a feature of the trained wild animal acts and the biggest and best wild animal actors now before the public, appear in the large steel arena. For the past 30 years the name of Hagenbeck has been noted in America as well as Europe for the best in animal numbers. But animal acts do not constitute the program alone, for among the two hundred stellar performers are found artists of international reputation.

The afternoon show is scheduled for 2 p. m., while the night performance will start promptly at 8 o'clock. The doors will open an hour earlier, so that the patrons can find time to inspect the immense menagerie. A downtown ticket office will be opened circus day at Renfro's Drug store, where tickets for both performances can be purchased at the same price as on the grounds.

DALLAS SEGREGATION LAW PASSES FIRST READING

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Two ordinances creating segregation lines in certain residential areas of the city were given first reading by the city commission here today. City Attorney James J. Collins, who with other city officials has devised the plan of securing voluntary agreements to boundary lines between white and negro areas drew up the ordinances. Negro property owners readily agreed to the establishment of the lines and signed the petition therefor.

Figures Value of Wife to the Dollar

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A printer with a gift for statistics filed suit today against George Eppriam, Chicago, architect, asking $26,520 alienation of affections damages.

In a lengthy affidait John Killian, the printer explained that he had arrived at the odd amount of damages by a computation based on his wife's salary and her expectation of life as figured by her insurance company.

He said that according to her life insurance actuary tables, she has a life expectancy of 32.30 years. He multiplied this figure by the salary she earns in a restaurant.

Southern Pot Roast.—One small pork shoulder (about two pounds), one large onion, one green pepper, one small can tomatoes, two tablespoons flour, salt and pepper. Fry out trimmings of meat in pan suitable for roast. Remove cracklng and all but one tablespoon of fat. Add onion, brown. Add flour and brown carefully. Add tomatoes and meat, laying sliced pepper on top, salt and pepper and cook carefully and slowly for about two and one-half hours taking care it does not burn.

Butter Cake.—Two-thirds cup butter or substitute, one cup sugar, two eggs, one teaspoon flavoring, one-half cup milk, one and one-third cups flour, two and two-thirds teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt. Beat shortening and sugar until very light, add well beaten eggs, one at a time, then milk and flavoring, beating well after each addition. Lastly add the flour, baking powder and salt, sifted well before adding. Bake in two layers or one sheet, for about thirty minutes.

Orange Frosting.—Mix powdered sugar with enough orange juice to spread smoothly, adding a small amount of grated rind.

Rice Waffles.—One cup cooked rice, one cup flour, three tablespoonfuls sugar, three teaspoonfuls baking powder, one tablespoonful melted butter, one egg, one cup milk, one-half teaspoon salt. Beat egg, add salt, sugar and butter; best. Add milk and beat. Add rice, stir well. Add flour to make smooth batter. Last of all, add baking powder, and bake as waffles or pancakes, as preferred.

TO POACH EGGS

Always add a little salt to the water in which eggs are being poached to set the whites.

SUGGESTIONS

A switch located in the porch pillar or at some other convenient place allows one to switch on the porch light when entering the house at night. It may be wired so that the light may be switched off from the inside.

Portable electric ventilating fans are now being made for use in homes. They may be installed and used during the summer or at other times when wanted or may be removed and used in another room or stored away.

News of the Fields

K-D, FASSETT

Kimmell and Willard have set pipe and were to bail Friday afternoon a good looking sand topped at 874 feet and drilled to 877 feet on their No. 1 Fassett and Tuttle fee, located in the southeast corner of the northwest 60 acres of the Day Land and Cattle company survey, southwest of Iowa Park in Wichita county and about two miles northeast of their No. 1 same fee in the Jno. Bradford survey, recently completed from a sand at 1324 feet and now pumping 20 barrels daily.

EMPIRE, MONTAGUE

The Empire Oil and Gas company have picked up another saturated lime at 2093-95 feet and will probably test on their drilling well on the J. W. Maddox land in the Jno. Chambers survey in Montague county. This test is located in the midst of producers in the Nocona field but missed the top sands and was made a deep test. A saturated lime was tested at 2,000 feet which made water.

M-K, WHITE

Marland Oil company and the Kentucky Oil company have the sand at 1173 feet, are setting pipe and will bail Saturday on their No. 1 A. J. White in the northeast corner of block 111, Harris subdivision, Archer county. The test is approximately 1,000 feet west of production in the Pandem-Thomas pool and will give a nice extension to that field in the event of making a producer.

BURNS, REESE

L. T. Burns has made location and will drill a test in the northeast corner of the south half of block 29, Harris subdivision, J. W. Reese fee, in Archer county. The test will be about three quarters of a mile south of the new wells in the Simms field on the Turbeville land in block 172, Carson survey.

WESTHEIMER, FORTEN'

Westheimer and Daube are reported to have drilled 25 feet of sand which showed a little dead oil and no water on their No. 1 Fortenberry, about five miles southeast of the town of Leo in Denton county. his test is an absolute wildcat and the sand was drilled fro m2052-77 feet. The well is shut down at the present time awaiting orders.

M'L-SUG' HOEFFLE

McElreath and Suggett are drilling at 585 feet on their No. 1 Hoeffle in Jack county located 1650 feet south and 450 feet west of the northeast corner of the Thos. D. Sprorer survey, southeast of Antelope.

BURNS, SLOPANSKY

L. T. Burns is plugging at 1500 feet his No. 1 Siopanskey, southwest of the new Simms field in Archer county and located 450 feet west and 150 feet north of the southeast corner of block 64, Harris subdivision. The rig will be skidded 50 feet north and another hole will be drilled to test a sand around 1150 feet which showed up good in the other hole but was not tested.

TEXAS, TURB

The Texas company topped the sand at 1535 and drilled to 1536 feet on their No. 1-C Turbeville, 1034 feet from the north line and 1820 feet from the east line of section 172, Carson survey in Archer county, about 1,000 feet south of the new Simms well and a direct offset to the east of the Marland No. 1 Turbeville, swabbing 200 barrels daily. The Texas well was to be bailed Friday afternoon.

R-F, PARROTT

The Reiter-Foster Oil corporation topped a saturated lime at 3922 feet and penetrated to 3923 feet on their No. 3 Parrott in Throckmorton county when the well commenced flowing and is making approximately 2500 barrels daily. This well, in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of block 971, TE&L survey, four miles north of the town of Woodson in the southeast part of the county, is about three miles west of the Humble company's new 3,000 barrel well on the Stubblefield land and is just south of the No. 1 well of the Red Bank company on the Parrott land, completed a few months back for 500 barrels and still producing 400 barrels daily.

M-F, FLUHMANN

Murchison and Fain have spudded and are drilling at 400 feet on their No. 1 Fluhmann located 1350 feet west and 450 feet north of the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 30, block 9 H&TCRR survey, Wilbarger county.

SPINDLETOP

The Spindle top field, near Beaumont, the most active oil area of the Gulf Coast and which has boosted Texas into second place in national oil output, was making 80,000 barrels a day yesterday. Its July production was 911,990 barrels. This may be exceeded in August, unless salt water encroachment increases.

Paggi brothers No. 1, Fee, and Gordon and sons No. 1 McLain, both of which had an initial flow of 8,500 barrels has been flowing.

Yountlee Oil company, discoverers of the deeper sand at Spindle Top have paid $475,000 for 1,800 acres fronting on the Neches river, where 5,300,000 barrels of steel storage room is being built. It is producing 40,000 barrels a day.

PHILLIPS, PANHANDLE

In the Amarillo field of Hutchinson county, Texas. Phillips Petroleum company has a 4,000 barrel well in its No. 4 Jerry, in section 13, block Y, after a 60-quart shot.

Phillips No. 3 Whittenburg, in section 63, block 46, is making 1,300 barrels natural.

These two wells are three miles apart, and the Phillips company owns practically all of the acreage between the wells and have proven up, though drilling, the intervening territory.

Although the Phillips company is drilling only necessary offset wells, its daily production, and reserves through extension and discovery of new properties, is showing large increase.

The Phillips company's new peak production was reached this week, and now exceed 53,000 barrels net daily, and gross production exceeds 68,00 barrels daily, from over 2,000 wells.

Phillips is erecting larger tank farms in the Panhandle, where it is now storing some oil, but this storage is more than offset by drafts from other tank farms in the Mid-Continent field.

LIMESTONE COUNTY

The Nigger Creek pool five and one-half miles due west of Mexia, in Limestone county, east central Texas, may not become the new major area that some Lone Star oil concerns have predicted.

The Pure Oil company No. 1 Odell, several locations to the northeast of the discovery well there, cored into water sand at 2,882 feet, and has been tempararily abandoned, says word from Mexia. This development has also caused 13 tests in the north end of the new pool to also temporarily stop drilling.

The Texas company and J. K. Hughes are reported proceeding with their Nigger Creek tests. A field survey shows 60 derricks up, seven coring to the sand or setting casing, and seven others about through the Austin chalk.

Godley Oil and Gas company test is reported nearing completion. It cored into a good looking sand.

Transcontinental Oil company is still working on its two wells there, No. 1, Rosson, the discovery that came in July 8, and the No. 1, Cockrun the next produced in, that has been acting freakishly.

WEBB COUNTY

Tidewater-Associated Oil company and Usher Carson in their east offset to the discovery well in the Carolina-Texas gas field of Webb county, Laredo district south Texas, was bailed dry late Wednesday. It is 385 feet east of the discovery. The depth is nine feet shallower than the discovery and liner is being pulled and it will be deepened. It is the first test of the 2,600 foot sand since the discovery well came in June 30.

GIRL'S BODY BARES CRIME

Farmer Who Slew Wife and Self Suspected Of Third Death

OKKMULGEE, Okla., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A gruesome murder story revealed by the finding of the body of a slain girl hidden in the attic of Joe Hodge's ranch house was partially cleared up today when the identity of the girl was established as that of Miss May Delle, 16, of Cowets, Okla. She was employed about two weeks ago by Hodge as a housekeeper. Wednesday night Hodge shot and instantly killed his wife and then killed himself as the couple sat on the steps of a school house in Muskogee, near the home of her parents.

According to testimony presented to a coroner's jury, the murder of Miss Delle took place Tuesday afternoon in Turkey Pen Hollow, about 15 miles southwest of Okmulgee.

Hodge and his wife were separated, the wife having gone to her parents' home two weeks ago following a quarrel in the Turkey Pen Hollow home. Jealousy was attributed by neighbors as a motive for the slaying of his wife, but the killing of the 16-year-old housekeeper at the Okmulgee county ranch house is a mystery as far as a motive goes, according to Deputy Sheriff Ed Mitchell.

The body was discoveed yesterday afternoon by Tom Calloway, negro farm hand employed on the Hodge ranch.

Justice J. W. Lowrey of Henryetta empaneled a coroner's jury and after an inquest a verdict was returned which stated that the girl came to her death by means of a wound inflicted by a load of heavy bird shot from a gun "which we believe was held at the time by Joe Hodge, owner of the house in which the body was found."

FRENCH MINISTER KILLED

Recluse and Hoarded Money Vanish

For many years, Peter Rosenberger, inset above, lived as a recluse farmer on his place near Assumption, Ill. The last of June he disappeared and has not been seen since. It is rumored he had hoarded more than $10,000 in a milk can which hung on the kitchen well of his ramshackle home, pictured above. An unidentified body found in the Mississippi, near Cairo, Ill., may prove to be that of the missing farmer but authorities have not abandoned the search.

17,000 "PIGS" FEED DETROIT

Bootleg Dives Give Away More Food Than Cafes Sell

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Blind pigs that serve meats and lunches have become so numerous here, according to the Detroit branch of the National Restaurant association, that the police department has been asked to do something about it.

At the present time, according to the findings of a committee appointed by the association there are 17,000 blind pigs in Detroit. Eighteen months ago former Police Commissioner Frank Croul estimated the number at 15,000.

The committee charges that 99 per cent of the blind pigs are either selling or giving away food to their customers and that they are feeding from five to six times as many persons as the 2000 restaurants and hotels of the city.

One official of the restaurant association who refused to permit his name to be used for fear of reprisals from blind pig owners said that restaurants are losing much money because of pig operations.

FIVE MILLION FOR LABORER

Family Living Above Grocery Store Expects Inheritance

KEWANEE, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—John Cooper, an iron worker, expects to come into a fortune and greater happiness for his wife and four children when he attains his thirty-third birthday on September 18. On that day he says he will inherit a huge Virginia estate, reported by Wilmington, Del., attorneys as consisting of $5,200,000 in cash and securities and 1,600 acres in the Shenandoah valley.

The family now lives above a grocery. The fortune, Cooper says, is the Bradford estate left him by his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Bradford.

CLING TO OLD RULES

JOHN W. DAVIS threw a bomb shell into the camp of some of the politicians when he declared for the abrogation of the two-thirds rule and the unit rule. Away down here in Texas three or four democrats who have been delegates to national conventions declared themselves against the Davis recommendation. They stood for the two-thirds rule and the unit rule, rules which were adopted by southern politicians away back in the days of Henry Jackson, and adopted by the aforesaid politicians in order to prevent the nomination for the presidency in a democratic convention of democrats who were opposed to the extension of slavery to the territories of the United States, which was a burning issue at that time.

John W. Davis is southern born. He is southern educated. His people were Confederates. They were slave owners in the old days. He was the presidential candidate of the democratic party in 1924. He moved with the progressive procession. In his interview he made it plain the full weight of his influence would be thrown behind the move to abolish both these rules at the 1928 convention and to substitute therefore the free rule of a majority of the delegates. He will oppose any effort to do away with the two-thirds rule which does not also contemplate elimination of th eunit restrictions now applied to all state delegations not elected by direct primary. This was his declaration:

"I think the abolition of the two-thirds rule should be made contingent on the abolition of the unit rule. The effect of the unit rule is to suppress the expression of the real sentiment of the delegates. It we are to have a convention in which the majority will rule, it ought to be a free majority composed of delegates who are at liberty to voice their own opinions and not an artificial majority created by subordinate groups bound under the unit rule. I am not in favor of changing the two-thirds rule unless we also take the action which ought to be regarded corollary. The principle issue to establish is this: One delegate, one vote; the majority of votes to nominate. That's what we ought to come to. The result can be obtained only by the elimination of both rules. This is not a partisan movement, nor is it a proposal either for or against any candidate. This is not a time to discuss candidates. The suggested change in the method of nominating is not intended to help or hinder any individual or group. I am looking at the matter solely from the standpoint of the party as a whole—in the interest of party solidarity."

This should be taken as a fair statement of the case at issue. Democrats should throw aside their prejudices. They should march with the procession. They are for the majority rule in the state. They are for the majority rule everywhere else except when it comes to naming candidates for president and vice president. Why should these handicaps of another century be permitted to destroy democratic success in the nation?

KEEP RECORDS STRAIGHT

"KEEP the record straight" was the slogan invented by a Texas newspaper nine years ago. This had to do with the political records of political managers and servants of the people. In the beginning of the campaign former Governor James E. Ferguson referred to S. M. N. Marrs as Old Man Marrs, and the infesence was that Old Man Marrs was a cunning politician. Of course, a state superintendent of public instruction could not be a cunning politician. No educator is a cunning politician. It would be impossible to hammer an educator into a cunning politician.

Old Man Marrs, on primary election day received a majority over two strenuous contenders and came out of the contest smiling. He never made a political speech during the campaign. It was said of him and for him by envious or critical speakers that he was seeking a third term nomination, which was something unholy or impious in the light of past history. In other words, that in the musty past no man had ever aspired to a third term for the office and no man had ever filled the office for three terms.

For this reason it is well to scan the records and report the facts. Governor James Stephen Hogg appointed J. N. Carlisle to this office in 1891 to succeed H. C. Pritchett, who resigned to become president of the Sam Houston State Normal, now Sam Houston Teachers' college. Carlisle completed the term of Pritchett and served three successive terms, retiring from office in January, 1899.

R. B. Cousins was elected in 1904 to succeed Arthur Lefever and later was elected to his third term in 1908, but resigned before completing his third term to accept the presidency of the West Texas State Normal. Old Man Marrs' opponents in the recent unpleasantness claimed that he was the first candidate to this office who attempted to break the precedent by being elected to a third term.

Old Man Marrs permitted this misstatement to be made without any correction on his part giving as a reason that if he attempted to correct it, he would have advertised the fact that he had opposition. Of course, a cunning politician would not have remained silent. He would have rushed into the public prints and demanded a showdown or a correction.

As one of the wicked three Old Man Marrs had a very pleasant campaign and made a most successful landing. Politics is a funny game. It is a very exciting game. For some men it is a very costly game. It hasn't been a costly game for the Hon. S. M. N. Marrs, now known to the politicians of Texas as well as thousands of school teachers as Old Man Marrs.

Should he run for a fourth term two years hence and win the nomination, he will have broken the record and established a new precedent.

THE UPPER HOUSE

SIXTEEN senators are holdovers from the thirty-ninth legislature. Fifteen drew short terms and thirteen faced the voters of their respected districts in July. In the second district, Miss Margie E. Neal of Panola county is the nominee. Senator Jimmy Strong did not stand for re-election. Miss Neal had opposition but won handsomely.

In the fourth district H. F. Triplett of Jefferson county was re-nominated. He defeated W. E. Lea of Orange. In the sixth district J. R. Hardin of Kaufman was defeated by Julian P. Greer of Henderson county. In the ninth district Edward Westbrook is the nominee, and is a candidate for both the long and short terms.

In the tenth district Joseph M. Moore of Hunt county will be his own successor. In the eleventh district Thomas B. Love will be the successor of John Davis who lost to Love by 2500 majority.

In the fifteenth district Gus Russek of Shulenburg will be his own successor. In the sixteenth district J. W. Hall, six years a prominent member of the lower house from Harris county, is the nominee. K. C. Barkley, who was the runner-up, decided to give a clear field to Hall, and the latter will come to Austin as an upper house lawmaker as the successor of Charles Murphy, who declined to stand for re-nomination and gave his support to Hall.

In the seventeenth district Thomas Jefferson Holbrook of Galveston will be his own successor. In the nineteenth district, Adolph J. Wirtz of Guadalupe county is the nominee having defeated Judge J. T. Ellis.

In the twenty-second district, Eugene Miller of Parker county had no opposition. In the twenty-third district, W. D. McFarlane of Young county is the nominee, having put J. D. Parnell out of the run. In the twenty-fifth district Walter C. Woodward of Coleman county is the nominee without opposition.

In the twenty-seventh district Archie Parr comes back. He overwhelmed a democrat of Nueces county, who had the temerity to make the race. In the twenty-eighth district Robert A. Stuart of Tarrant county was renominated without opposition.

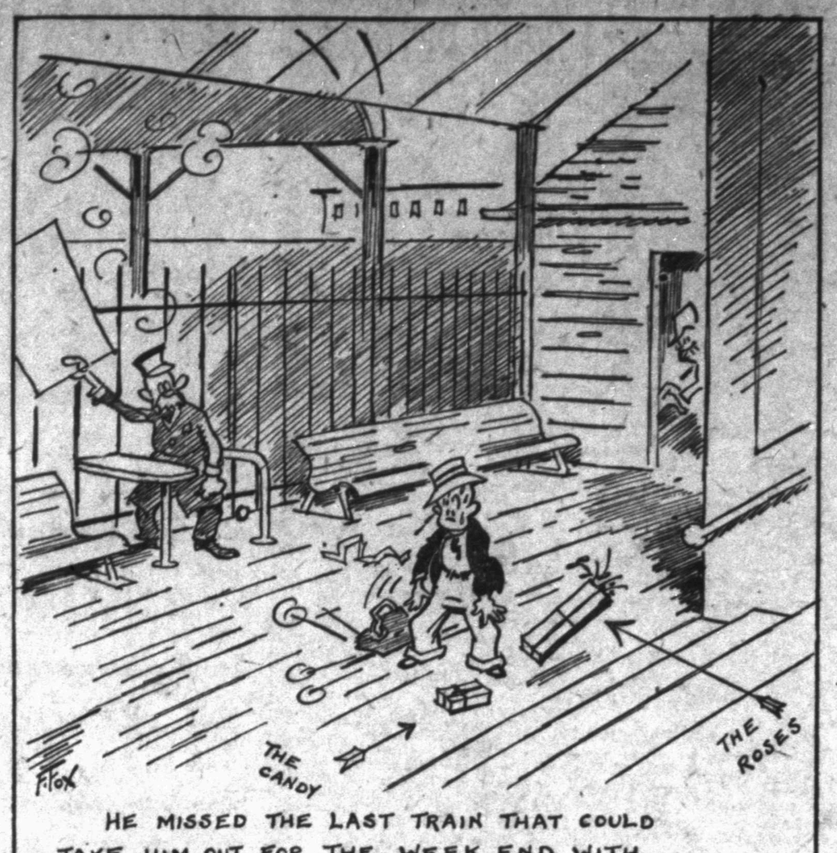

According to this count the new senators will be Miss Margie E. Neal, Julian P. Greer, Edward Westbrook, Thomas B. Love, J. W. Hall and W. D. McFarlane. Miss Neal is without legislative experience; Greer has served in the house, Love has served in the house, Hall has served in the house, McFarlane is a member of the thirty-ninth legislature.

There are sixteen hold-overs and nine who served in the upper house of the thirty-ninth legislature will answer when their names are called in the upper house of the fortieth legislature. In other words, they won on July 24.

A REMARKABLE CONTRAST

HOUSTON will send Judge Norman G. Kittrell and John H. Kirby to the lower house of the fortieth legislature. Dallas will send George C. Purl and Nathaniel Jacks. There is nothing like the direct primary for the making of dizzy contrasts and remarkable results.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of success. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the freedom-seeker, invites her to share their apartment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. Before the first evening is well under way Delia has met Wilbur, a young artist who is suffering from "too much mother" and whom Lou has undertaken to rescue; and Leslie, intimate of Lou; and Arthur Rockwell, the poet whose work Delia knows and admires; and various others of the Village crowd.

Bee and Lou have troubles. Bee is beset by a highly successful young business man who wants to marry her and carry her off from the Village; Lou and Leslie come to a misunderstanding because of her efforts in behalf of Wilbur. And Delia fast succumbs to the fascination of Rockwell, who is unscrupulous in love. Matters grow tense. Bee loses her theatre job and takes to waiting in a Village tea room. Wilbur, driven desperate by his mother prevails on Lou to pretend she is engaged to him. This though unhappily, she undertakes to do. Bee and Fred appear to have broken off definitely and Delia begins to discover the tragedy of trusting Arthur.

A chapter missed from this point on spoils the effect of a really good story.

CHAPTER XXV

The apartment was in Harlem, over a drug store and two dim flights up. Louise marched resolutely up those stairs. Like all the made-over old brownstone houses, it had a musty smell. She could feel his eyes on her like a dog's. What a struggle the poor boy was living through! And he might be beaten. There wasn't much stamina there. Deeply she pitied him. After all, it needn't be such a difficult situation to handle. She could carry it off. Later on, if things should become too complicated, she could simply have it understood that the engagement had been broken. That sort of thing happened all the time nowadays, and needed no explaining. Yes, she could handle it. She thought of an old phrase from the Bible—something about it being better to dwell alone on the house-tops than to live with a brawling woman—and had to restrain a rather impish impulse to laugh. This on the second flight. She paused to get the ring from the bag and slip it on. His eyes were on her.

Mrs. Sayles must have been listening for his steps, for the door opened before they reached it, and there she stood with her little black hat on, and a wrap over her arm. She looked very small and dumpy. And strong. Louise sensed, as she hadn't during their previous meeting the intense nervous vigor in her. The plump, humorless face was working. Quickly, for she felt that she must take and hold the initiative, she caught both of those nervous hands firmly in her own and bent over, in something of a panic, with the confusing thought that this was after all a human creature, and kissed the twitching cheek.

At once the tears came. Wilbur, mumbling something or other, slipped by them into the dingy little apartment. The woman clung to Lou's hands and sniffled.

"You're taking my boy," she cried softly. "My only boy!"

"Not really taking him," said Lou, nearly unnerved herself. "Not really taking him."

Mrs. Sayles looked through her tears at the ring, then drew the hand that wore it nearer the light.

"He gave you this?"

"Yes. Isn't it beautiful!" Banal that! But this little storm had to be got through.

"I shall never be able to tell you what a son he has been to me. He has lived for his poor old mother. Done everything in the world for her." Wilbur, white and shaky, drawing near at this point she clutched at his arm.

"Yes," said Lou, as gently as she could, "and he's not going to stop now. Now or ever."

"I can't believe that he'd forget his mother."

"I promise you he won't."

"Forgive me if I am not quite myself. But this came on me so suddenly—"

Wilbur came lamely to the rescue with: "Don't yu think we may as well go right along, Mother? It's after six. We want to be sure of getting a table to ourselves." He turned to Louise in his helpless way. "I'd thought of going over to the Rotisserie. It's really a very nice place to eat. And it isn't far to walk."

Slowly, then, and dismally, they descended those two long flights. Lou found a moment's relief in the semi-darkness, and dreaded the glare of the street. A great deal of lying was going to be necessary. That was unhappily clear. . . . .

It would have helped a little to walk rapidly. But there was no doing anything rapidly with Mrs. Sayles. She made a great deal of being helped down and out to the street, turning to Louise on the front steps to say, with a tremulous, self-conscious smile: "I'm afraid you'll have to be patient with me. I don't get about as easily as I used to." She clung to her son's arm. And crossing the broad avenue with its rush of motor traffic, proved to be a considerable undertaking, complicated by the fact that she was crying at the time. When at last they reached the farther curb, she stopped, leaned against her son, and pressing her free hand to her breast, looked up pathetically at the tall girl beside her and said weakly: "Shortness of breath. I have a good deal of trouble with my heart." Then, touching her handkerchief to her eyes she added: "You will never know what a wonderful son Wilbur has been to me." She patted his hand. "He has always been everything in the world to his poor old mother."

Dismayed, wishing from the depths of her being that she had thought twice before venturing into so mad an undertaking—though that wish was no good now—Louise contrived to smile and guardedly said what little she could. The little woman was too old a campaigner to be brushed aside at the first encounter. In the bewilderment of this shock of conflict, she had fallen back on helplessness her one unfailing weapon. It was odd how she had contrived already to focus the event on herself. Louise felt a furtive but baffling stubbornness in her—and the unyielding determination that had been too much for Wilbur. It was going to be a tough battle.

The Rotisserie was a crowded little restaurant with a vertical broiler in the window, before which chickens were turning on long mechanical spits. Within there was a strong odor of cooking. They sat on spindly chairs around a marble-topped table, at the mercy of a sweaty waiter in a spotted apron. Mrs. Sayles, now that her own sense of loss was established as the mood of the evening, made a brave show of being gracious. "It's remarkable how much better a chicken tastes when it's been cooked on a spit. It's the good old-fashioned way, after all. I always say that you can't cook anything properly on a gas stove."

Louise hurriedly agreed, but with mental reservations. She didn't think the chicken particularly good. And then silence enveloped them. Wilbur, bent over his plate, ate hurriedly. Mrs. Sayles nibbled a few small mouthfuls, then pushed the food about with her fork, and finally leaned back, sniffling again and mopping her eyes. Louise had never found herself so completely at a loss. The only thing she could think of to do was to eat, so she did that.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Why Do Men Expect the Girls They Marry to Become Totally Different After the Ceremony?—Why Do Young Men, Living With Widowed Mothers, Seldom Marry? The Girl Whose Fiance Is Not Tall Enough

Dear Miss Dix—Before my marriage my husband was so kind and considerate of me and never criticized my little faults. You see, I am a real flapper. But now when I act kittenish and flapperish it makes him furious. What shall I do? Must I make myself over? Why does he want to change me?

A FLAPPER WIFE.

Answer:

My dear child, why men pick out a wife for one thing and after they are married want her to be opposite thing is one of the mysteries of the masculine psychology that nobody can solve.

It just is, that's all.

You think that an ordinarily sane man, with the common, or garden variety, of intellect, would select a woman to marry who had the qualities that he most desired in a wife. You would think that a man who wanted a domestic wife would look about him until he found a girl who was a blue-ribbon cook, that he would pop the question to her and that they would live happily ever after, surrounded by the savory odors from things roasting and stewing. But he does no such thing. He marries a girl who hasn't even a speaking acquaintance with the kitchen range and then he knocks her because the bread is heavy and the meat is burned.

You would think that a cultivated man, with literary tastes, would pick out a college graduate for a wife, and that they would have a grand time discussing high-brow stuff together of an evening. On the contrary, he marries one of the beautiful but dumb, and to his amazement he is bored to tears.

You would think that the man who wants a quiet, dignified wife, who will be a fireside companion to him, would select a girl who took a serious view of life and whose tastes were domestic. Instead, he falls for a gay little flapper such as you are, who likes to jazz and run around to cabarets, who paints her face and rolls her stockings, and then he expects her at once to settle down into being the sort of a woman his mother was.

Funny, isn't it? For not one of these men would buy a gas range and expect to find it converted into a radio when they got it home. Nor would they select a jitney and depend upon its being changed into a limousine as soon as they got it installed in their own garage. Yet they seem to think that there is some magic in the marriage ceremony that changes a woman from the kind of a creature she was before marriage into something diametrically different as soon as she married.

That is why so many men are disappointed in their wives, for the poor creatures go on being after their marriage just what they were before, and, to their surprise, they find that their line of charms no longer lures.

The man who thought it so cute for his wife to ask him silly questions before marriage tells her not to be a fool when she asks these same questions after marriage. The man who raved over a girl's pretty clothes before marriage berates her for her extravagance after marriage. The man who bought drinks and smokes for a flapper and took her on wild parties wants her to be dignified and discreet when she is his wife.

And so it goes. Every man wants to cut his wife over according to his little pattern, but mighty few ever succeed in the attempt. Hence the rending of so many marital bonds.

DISHONEST BANKRUPTS HIT BY AMENDED LAWS

NEW YORK, Aug. —(AP)—Fraudulent bankruptcies, which have been a thorn in the side of honest business for many years will face severe setbacks in amendments to the present laws which will become operative August 27.

Bankruptcy laws originally were constructed to aid honest debtors in freeing themselves of insurmountable obstacles.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

GROWING THINGS

Toes have a way of coming through
New places in a baby's shoe;
Boys have a way of bulging out
Through seams you never thought about;
Girls have a way of growing tall
Until their clothes won't fit at all.

Although we worry, though we fret,
The children keep on growing yet;
Last summer's jersey is too tight,
And Sonny's waists are far from right;
There's something wrong with things I guess,
But it's the girl and not the dress.

And yet I notice in the spring
It's much the same with ev'rything;
And summer has its bursting pods,
Its opening buds and swelling sods.
A lot of things have just outgrown
The springtime garments that they own.

So, when I see a baby's toe,
It's just another bud, I know.
When big the youngster seems to be,
It's just a sapling now a tree.
And when the girl her clothes outgrow,
It's just a rose about to blow.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

LEO.

Today's planetary aspects are distinctly favorable for all business and especially for marriage. Many deals, which, for reason of too much expectancy, have been postponed, can be effected today, as there will be sensed an air of "give and take," and an encouragement to compromise. Harmony will be the predominating influence, and everything that jars or antagonizes will be easily cast aside. With the prevalence of such conditions, what more appropriate occasion could be found for "signing up for life?" It is also a suitable opportunity for travel —either by land or sea.

Children born today will not, at birth, give much promise of virility or strength. They will, however, surprise one and all by the facility with which they will throw off the weaknesses that attack them, and the signs clearly and definitely denote that they will attain, without much difficulty, a normal adulthood. In disposition, they will be very attractive and engender affection. They will, at no time, display any signs of viciousness and will always be amenable to good influence, based on love. They will be studious, but never so much as to neglect the associations of childhood. They should be allowed to choose and to follow their own career, without the inhibition of others.

If today is your birthday, you are proud and, at times imperative, although, as a general rule, you are winsome, magnetic and lovable. Your intellectual attainments are not very great, but what you lose in this respect, is more than compensated for by the charm of your personality. You possess a wonderful sense of humor and even appreciate a good joke when you yourself are the victim. Your energy is boundless and, so far as you are concerned, Satan is one of the unemployed, as your hands are never idle. You have exceptional initiative, and are very riginal.

Self control is one of your outstanding assets, and although you are capable of powerful emotions, and feel things very keenly, you never allow this to show on the surface, but are always self contained and willing to help others even when you need help more than they do.

Successful people born this date are:

Thomas W. Silloway, architect and author.

Robert B. Roosevelt, statesman and author.

Powell Clayton, soldier and statesman.

John F. Dryden, senator and president of Prudential Insurance company.

Charles W. Stoddard, author and poet.

Billie Burke, actress.

THE GRADUATE

By George S. Chappell

The Graduate, he was of late
A splendid sight to view,
He worked a bit and smirked a bit
As Seniors always do.
When Class Day came he lit the flame
Of half the hearts in town,
As, proud of mien, he paced the green
In nifty cap and gown,

Beneath the trees he sang his glees
And smoked his briar pipe,
He was, in truth, a dapper youth
And life was full and ripe.
How soon, alas, such glories pass!
The Grad, Oh where is he?
For weary weeks a job he seeks
And humble is his fee.

The other clerks with whom he works
They lord it over him.
And all his schemes and college dreams
Are overcast and dim.
In fact he's found that in life's round
The Grad is but a phase,
And for his sins he now begins
Once more his Freshman days!

Explained

"What are you doing now?"
"I'm a street car conductor."
"What does the job pay?"
"Seventy-five dollars a week."
"I didn't think the company paid anybody over thirty."
"They don't. I'm speaking about the job, not the company!"

ONE MAN'S MEAT—

By Ronald Bruderhousen

Baseball Player—Heard you saw a baseball game the other day, Mike. How was it?

Prize Fighter—Pretty good. The Sox knocked out the Bears in the ninth round, but the refereeing was rotten. The batter in the ninth round missed a left-hook to the ball, then uppercut it out to left field, where it was clinched. The next batter landed a stiff bat to the ball for the count of three and then the next man pulled a K. O. over the fence—some game, if the referee hadn't been so rotten. Say, I heard you saw a prizefight last night. How was it?

Baseball Player—So so. One of the fighters knocked the other one out of the box in the sixth inning. First, he fanned, the other man held out his jaw but he couldn't seem to hit his fast one. Then the first player threw a slow curve with his glove, cutting a corner of the jaw. Then the umps chased them both to the shower.

Prize Fighter (To Himself)— The crazy nut!

Baseball Player (To Himself)—Just plain dumb, that's all!

DOWN IN THE PUMPS

We ordinarily think of the bottom of the ocean as clean and sandy and waving with seaweed, like the bottom of an aquarium. This is actually the condition of certain parts of the sea near the shore where it is not too dark for plants to live, and where a strong current flows over a sandy bottom. The real depth of mid-ocean however are in the darkness of absolute night, and as for the bottom it is lifeless, in fact it consists of the bodies of billions of dead plants and animals. This vast graveyard, thousands of square miles in extent, hundreds of feet deep has been built up by millions of years of decay of the minute organisms floating in mid-ocean. This soft muddy deposit is known as ooze, or more intimately by such strange names as diatom (green plants and radiolarian ooze (small animals).

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions.

1. Sturgeon are found in the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river system.
2. Rainbow trout are found in brooks of the southern Appalachians.
3. A barracuda is a fish of tropical American waters dangerous to humans.
4. Fish have blood.
5. Flying fish do not have wings; they "fly" by means of strong leaps; perhaps their fins act a little as gliding organs.
6. Manatees, though living in the ocean are not fish but mammals.

THE QUESTION CATEGORICAL

There is a certain young actor in New York, a player of romantic swashbuckler parts, who when he is sober, as generally he is, is one of the gentlest and most companionable of men. But when he indulges in strong water, as at rare intervals he does indulge, his nature changes. He becomes dogmatic, disputatious, and occasionally quarrelsome. Such times he delights to corner some inoffensive acquaintance and pin him down to a definite position on this subject or that and then debate the point in the negative for hours on end. He goes about seeking his prey in any quarter and, having caught a victim, shows no mercy.

One night, being in one of these alcoholically promoted moods of his, he trapped a friend against the bar of a certain theatrical club. The latter wished not to argue with anyone on any topic whatsoever. Above all things he desired to escape into the open. But the actor would not have it so.

"You go 'round saying you know so mush, don't you?" he demanded belligerently. "You go 'round saying you know so many people in this town, don't you? That kinda fellow you are, ain't you—huh?"

"Not at all," protested the hapless friend, "I never—"

"Pleash don't contradict me," said the actor; "thatsh no way to carry on a argument between ge'men. Lemme get through stating my side and then I'll lisshen to you. You go 'round saying you know more people in this club than I know, don't you? Just answer me that!"

"Why, I never said any such—"

"Kin'ly lemme get word in edgeways, if you plense," said the actor with elaborate politeness. "You say you know more members of thish club 'en I do—more than anybody knows? A'right then, you answer me thish: Do you know Jerome Lawrence—he's member here?"

"Certainly I know him," said the badgered one, thinking he saw a loophole. "As it happens I also know his brother Oscar who looks so much like him."

"Ah, hah!" exulted the intoxicated one, with the air of having led an unwilling witness into a damaging admission. "You say you know Jerome Lawrence and you say you know his brother Oscar that looks so mush like him? Well, then, if you know so mush, you tell me thish: Whish one of 'em looks the most alike?"

SHIPPERS PLAY SPUDS 7-7 TIE

LaFayette Opens Tilt With Homer; Metzler Has Fight

BEAUMONT, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Exporters and the Spudders deadlocked in a 7-7 slugfest of 11 innings today in the longest and one of the most thrilling games of the year. Umpires and officers prevented the exchanges of blows twice as players of the rival teams threatened each other. Terrific hitting by both teams and excessive heat made the play drag and when the Spudders scored the tying run in the ninth, there was little chance after that for either to break the knot.

The first uprising occurred while Dick Morgan was doing the Exporter hurling. Jim Roberts had been coaching on first base for a couple of innings but had returned to the bench. Morgan let go a wild one, just one of many, and down went a Spudder into the dirt.

Somebody bellowed out from the Spudder bench and Umpire Daly emphasized his threat with finger direction. As the inning closed, Morgan headed for the dugout and Roberts came out to meet him. It seemed Dick would have a couple of words with his former mate but a bluecoat interfered, restoring Roberts to the bench and sending Morgan to his own shelter.

But the prime revolt came in the ninth.

The Spudders needed one run. They Filled the bases and Pete Lapan went in to hit for Hodge. He splashed a hard grounder to short and Diviveros nailed Metzler at the plate too far to talk about but the Spudder crashed Roberts hard, both falling in a heap. As they came up, words were passed. So were three wild swings, none of which landed and a bevy of officers rushed out to restore peace. The last two innings were peaceful enough.

Wichita Falls got to Dick Morgan, former teammate, with a rush in the first inning. LaFayette led off with a home run over the right field fence. Turgeon beat out an infield hit and Jenkins singled to center. Lamb struck out, Benton grounded out, Morgan deflecting ball, second to first, Turgeon scoring and Jenkins going to third. Metzler doubled to left, scoring Jenkins. DeFate got hit by a weird heave. Query walked and Hodge struck out.

Two walks, a wild pitch and singles by Connolly and Hansen coupled with Galloway's sacrifice fly sent across two for Beaumont in the last half of the first.

Turgeon Again

LaFayette was called out on strikes at the start of the second, but Turgeon singled and Jenkins beat out an infield hit, putting Turgeon on third and going to second himself when Connolly threw wildly at first in effort to get the runner. Lamb popped out, Benton outfooted an infield safety, scoring Turgeon. Metzler forced Benton.

Turgeon opened the fourth with another single but was forced at second by Jenkins. Jenkins went to third on Lamb's single to right. Benton bounded to first and Galloway threw poorly to second in an attempt forceout. All hands were safe and Jenkins scored. Metzler singled to right, filling the bases, but DeFate hit into a double play.

Shippers Peck Away

Beaumont peeked away industriously at Hodge, scoring a run each in the fourth, fifth and sixth. The Spudders counted another in the sixth, also, when Jenkins led off with a triple and scored on Lamb's sacrifice fly to center.

The Shippers forged ahead in the eighth, pummeling Hodge for two runs on a single by Brown, a walk to Deviveros, Hansen's single and Oliver's infield hit.

Metzler and DeFate opened the Spudder ninth with singles to right. Query walked, filling the bases. Lapan, batting for Hodge, forced Metzler at the plate. On the slide-in Metzler bumped Robertson and the two went together pumping all four fists. Police separated the combatants. LaFayette hoisted out to left and DeFate scored from third after the catch.

Pirates Shade Boston, 5-4 But Wright Injures Pedal

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Although Pittsburgh defeated Boston 5 to 4 here today, gaining a three out of four edge on the Braves in the current series, the champions lost the services, for a few days at least, of Glenn Wright. The Pirate shortstop injured his right leg when he slid into second after a long double in the seventh inning. He was taken to the hospital for examination, but it was believed that the injury was not serious. The Braves reached Yde for nine hits but clever fielding kept 10 men stranded on the sacks.

3 Brooklyn Hurlers Fail to Halt Cards

BROOKLYN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Three Brooklyn hurlers failed to stop the St. Louis Cardinals today and the Robins dropped their fourth consecutive game by 7 to 3. Brooklyn scored its runs in the third inning when Babe Herman hit for the circuit with two on base. McWeeny was knocked out of the box in the fifth when five hits and a pass were bunched for four runs.

Cubs Bunch Seven Blows to Win, 2-1

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Chicago made the most of seven hits to win a ten-inning game from Philadelphia 2 to 1. Three of the seven hits were bunched in the seventh to produce one run and Wilson's double in the tenth produced the winning marker. Three hurlers worked for the Cubs and the trio held the Phillies to three hits, all being made off Blake. As a result of the victory the Cubs made it three straight from the Phillies and four victories in a row.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Lester Bolstad of Minneapolis, will meet Carl Kauffman, of Pittsburgh tomorrow over the Grover Cleveland park links with the national public links championship at stake.

The youthful Minneapolis star won his way into the finals today by defeating William Wallace, Chicago, and Stanley Ford, Detroit. The tall and lanky Pittsburgh representative eliminated Nick D'Onofrio, New York and Richard Walsh, former public links champion, also of the Metropolis.

ROMONOFF TO WRESTLE JAP

Yaqui Joe Back For Bout With Record Next Week

BY PEGGY

Wichita Falls wrestling fans are loud in their enthusiasm, anticipating the interesting card of well-known favorites scheduled for next week's bout Thursday evening at the Eleventh and Ohio arena, when four finished athletes, Matty Matsuda and Billy Romonoff and Yaqui Joe, Sonora Indian, and Tommy Record, are expected to give spectacular exhibitions.

It is expected that the large stadium will be filled beyond its capacity for this feature event, when these popular welterweights occupy the center of the stage.

The main event, a bout between Billy Romonoff, whom Wichita Falls fans met here this week when he did creditable work with Jack Gorman, and Matty Matsuda, the incomparable sheik from the land of cherry blossoms, promises to be exceptionally thrilling. Both principals being masters of their profession.

Bill Waited Four Years.

The opportunity has at last arrived for which Romonoff has been waiting four years—he claims. Waiting some what impatiently to once again lay hands on the clever, wiley Jap, Romonoff is conceded in the east to be the world's greatest welterweight—one who has not yet been outclassed. Matty Matsuda is equally popular in this section where he has wrestled on numerous occasions when his performance is always an exceptionally attractive exhibition.

In the only bout ever staged between these two finished athletes, all the scientific holds and tricks known to wrestledom were displayed, it is said, the performance lasting for two hours and a half and resulting in a draw.

Since then, promoters in the south and east have offered the Jap large guarantees to meet Romonoff, it is stated, with the result—"nothing doing."

Yaqui Feminine Favorite

And the curtain raiser—a bout between the quaint, half civilized Yaqui Joe, Sonora Indian, and favorite of local women fans, and Tommy Record, promises to be much beyond the ordinary. Yaqui Joe, pupil of Matsuda, has proven quick to learn all the tricks of the profession, until now he is classed one of the quickest, and cleverest wrestlers seen in this section. Even the favorite tactics and the well known Jui Jitsu, made famous by Matty Matsuda, are seen in the work of the Indian who is being coached by the Jap to fill his place on the mat when he retires, it is said.

In meeting Tommy Record, local fans know that he is tackling one of the fastest most finished wrestlers in the entire welterweight personnel. Record, it will be remembered, is the man who gave Matsuda probably the hardest bout ever dealt him in this city.

This match alone would prove a feature event on any wrestling card.

BAM PUNCHES ANOTHER OVER

Yankees Squeeze Out On Cleveland By 8 To 7 Score

CLEVELAND, Aug. 6.—(AP)—New York won the odd game of the series from Cleveland today, 8 to 7, Hoyt coming to the rescue with the tying run on second base and striking out McNulty, a pinch hitter. New York bunched its hits on Levsen in two innings but errors of omission on the part of the infield were more responsible for his defeat than his ineffectiveness. He had won seven straight games. Ruth hit his 25th homer of the season in the fifth with none on, while Burns of the Indians made three doubles, increasing his total to 12 for the season, driving in four of Cleveland's runs. Spectacular fielding by Spurgeon and Combs featured the game.

Tigers Boot Ball, Sens Cop, 12-8

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Five Detroit errors contributed to Washington's 12 to 8 victory over the Tigers today. Two of these misplays came in the sixth when the Senators scored five runs and knocked Wells out of the box. The Tigers filled the bases in the eighth with one out but Marberry went to Morrell's relief and retired the side.

Chile Champ Fights Hudkins to Draw

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Ace Hudkins of Nebraska and Stanislaus Losyza of Chile fought to a draw decision tonight in a spectacular 12 round lightweight battle before a crowd of 24,000 at the Coney Island stadium. Most of the spectators appeared to believe that the westerner had a decisive margin.

BELL TO ENTER VARSITY

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Berkeley Bell of Austin, who is favored to win the national junior tennis championship in the tournament starting Monday at Chicago, will enter Texas university this fall.

He has won the phudits of the country's most notable net players, including Big Bill Tilden, national champion.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

Charlie Jamieson of the Cleveland Indians, is onece more the best "ball hawk" in baseball, in my opinion. Saw him in action a few days ago and his playing that day draws the remark.

Jamieson has been an outstanding star of the Cleveland team almost since the day he joined the team from the Athletics. Last year, however, he seemed to lose interest in the pastime. His playing, including his hitting, fell off. It is generally understood that he is one of the men the Cleveland club called in when they put some of the players under a bonus arrangement. If so the new plan apparently has drawn the best out of Jamie.

He is without peer in chasing fly balls along the left field foul line. He comes in and goes back well, and is a good judge of balls close to the grandstand where shadows and dazzling light cause confusion. And he is a dangerous, as well as a .300 hitter. And there is a slight difference.

The recent release of Frank Emmer, Pacific Coast infielder, to Milwaukee by the Cincinnati Reds spells the end of that man's career in the big show. The Reds took him on a forlorn hope. Emmer, though heralded as a "rookie" was an old campaigner in the minor leagues. There was little reason to believe that he wolud show much more stuff in the majors than he did years ago. He did, however,

LESS COTTON SHIPPED OUT

Accounts for Falling Off Of One-Half of U. S. Textile Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—American exports of textile commodities declined in value nearly 12 per cent during the fiscal year ended June 30, dropping from $1,275,104,000 for the previous fiscal year to 1,126,207,000.

A decline in shipments of raw cotton, the department of commerce explained today, accounted largely for the decrease. Exports of cotton including linters amounted to 7,991,000 bales as against 8,205,000 bales for the preceding year.

Standard Dividends Go Up Another Peg

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The directorate of the Standard Oil company of New York today declared a quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share placing the stock on an annual basis of $1.60. The previous rate was $1.40. The dividend is payable September 15 on stock of record August 7.

SHIP MOST GRAIN YET
Houston Largest Cargo Amounts To 288,000 Bushels

HOUSTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Port Houston's largest cargo of grain to-date 288,000 bushels went to sea Friday aboard the British steamship Elmworth. It goes to Queenstown for orders. It was concentrated by the Fort Worth elevators company and handled by the Gulf Grain company of which E. C. Douglas is manager. The grain was loaded at the new public elevator and was the second full cargo of grain that has been exported from Houston this season.

BOSTON WOOL.

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The demand for wool continues moderately with prices steady. Domestic wools are chiefly in demand and medium qualities are relatively the strongest feature of the market. Operations in the west are at low ebb.

"Reports from the mills indicate the receipts of rather better orders which have been reflected in a slightly larger volume of business in yarns and tops, which are being sold on a very narrow margin of profits.

"The foreign markets are generally firm and Bradford is rather more optimistic.

"Mohair is very firm."

The following quotations will appear in the Commercial Bulletin:

Scoured basis, Texas fine 12 months (selected) $1.08@1.12; fine eight months 85@90c.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Less favorable weather reports led to rather a sharp advance in the cotton market, in today's earlier trading but after selling up to 17.48, December reacted to 17.33 under realizing and closed at 17.36 compared with 17.21 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of 12 to 15 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 14 to 17 points and the active months soon showed net advances of 15 to 20 points on reports of a tropical storm southwest of Bermuda. At first glance this evidently was regarded as a threat to the crop and was said to be responsible for a sharp rally in the Liverpool market just before the local opening, as well as for a spurt of covering in the market here. The initial demand was soon supplied, however, as it was thought that the storm was not likely to reach the belt in any serious way, and prices reacted a few points as the demand tapered off.

The official forecast facr showers over the belt, started a renewal of the covering or buying movement, later, and the best prices of the day were touched early in the afternoon when October sold at 17.57 and January at 17.32, making net advances of about 25 to 29 points on the active positions and rallies of about 35 to 40 points from the low levels of yesterday morning. The demand then seemed to taper off and there were setbacks in the late trading, with the close showing reactions of some 10 to 15 points from the best.

Five more of the private end-July crop reports were issued during the morning with condition figures ranging from 64.5 up to 70.5 and figures on the indicated yield from 14,733,000 to 15,755,00 bales. These reports were above the average of recent statements from private authorities and probably had a tendency to check buying on the shower prospect.

Port receipts today 7,582; U. S. port stocks 674,936. Exports 4,457, making 31,340 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The market had periods of activity today and was also quite at times. Prices were influenced partly by weather conditions and partly by evening up operations in advance of the government report due Monday. The opening was 10 to 14 points higher mainly on the warning from the weather bureau of another tropical storm in the vicinity of Bermuda. This storm and a less favorable outlook for weather in the belt caused the market to advance during the greater part of the morning until stt he highest near mid-session prices showed gains over the previous close of 24 to 26 points. A good part of this gain was lost during the remainder of the session on evening up and realizing in advance of the bureau report and on favorable noon reports as to the weather in the belt. The market was eighty steadier in the late trading and the close showed net gains for the day of 10 to 15 points.

At the start Liverpool was barely as due but fear of the storm led to ongoing gain of 10 to 14 points. Prices continued to advance until October traded at 17.42, December at 17.31 and January at 17.37, or 24 to 26 points above the previous close. Active mid-session prices turned easier on realizing and evening up for over the week end and in advance of the government report and the decline was accelerated later by noon weather reports showing favorable conditions in the belt. Prices eased off 17 points with October at 17.25, December at 17.14 and January at 17.10. The market rallied slightly in the late trading. Exports for the day totaled 1,457 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Speculators for the advance gained control of the price in many stocks, closing quotations disclosed a long list of net gains ranging from one to 15 points.

The day's trade news was again constructive in character. The weekly mercantile reviews reported further improvement in business despite the fact that the average level of commodity prices was now at the lowest level in two years. An unusual mid-summer expansion of business is noted in many lines and the crops, as a whole, promise well.

Credit conditions continue relatively easy. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent today and then advanced to 4½ as banks called a moderate amount of loans but the supply was plentiful at the top figure. Brokers' loans reported by members of the New York stock exchange showed an increase of nearly $71,500,000 in July, which was not considered excessive in view of the marked increment in the quoted values of many stocks, particularly the high priced industrials. These figures seemed to confirm reports that stocks were being bought by large financial institutions and wealthy individuals.

Railroad shares, which had been rather sluggish for a week or more sprang into prominence on the announcement that net earnings of class one roads in the first six months of the year were the largest of any corresponding period in history. The dividend payers made the best showing. Atchison touched a new high price since 1909 and Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern, Reading, St. Louis Southwestern and Southern railway showed net gains of one to nearly three points.

Trading in General Motors and U. S. Steel common quieted down considerably although the former closed more than three points higher at 207⅝ and the latter showed a small fractional gain at 140⅝. New leaders were found, however, among the high priced industrial specialties. Loose-Wiles Biscuit was the sensational individual performer soaring 7 points to a record top at 153 and then dropping back to 147. The second preferred closed 15 points higher at 155. Case Threshing machine soared 7¼ points to a new record top at 176, as against the year's low of 63½, and then lost all its gain on the official denial of rumors that negotiations were pending for its merger with the international Harvester company. The common stock of which sold at a new 1926 high at 135⅝.

Advance Rumeley preferred, American Brake Shoe and Foundry, consolidated Cigar, General Asphalt preferred, Nations, Tea and Vivadou preferred all showed net gains of five to 10 points.

Special buying also developed in several of the cheaper issues. U. S. Industrial Alcohol was active and strong on the announcement that the company had absorbed one of its principal competitors, Warner Brothers Pictures advancer two points to a new top on the successful showing of its new vita phone sound reproducing motion picture. Hudson Motors was run up over four points to 72½ at the expense of an over-crowded short interest, closing near the top. Cudahy Packing moved up over two points on the announcement of a substantial increase in earnings in the first eight months of the fiscal year. Oils made only moderate response to the raising of the annual dividend on Standard Oil company of New York common from $1.40 to $1.60.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Commodity prices showed little change. Wheat closed slightly easier, although a higher premium was paid for export wheat at Gulf points. Cotton advanced 12 to 15 points, with trading restricted pending the publication of the government report next Monday. Raw sugar advanced 1-32 of a cent a pound and coffee prices ruled five to 11 points net higher.

DUN'S OPTIMISTIC

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

The present comparative activity of business during what is normally the quietest period of the year continues to attract. Mid-August is not the time to expect commercial expansion, yt evidences of it appear now in some channels, and the position of different sellers has been visibly strengthened. After eight consecutive months of decline, Dun's price index number is at the lowest point since the spring of 1924; but the latest recession is very slight and occurred entirely in food stuffs. The downward course of markets for some important commodities has been checked recently, and various buyers, though adhering closely to a conservative policy, have shown less hesitation in their operations. With general trade closing with more vigor than had been anticipated earlier in the year, commitments are being made now with increased confidence and optimism regarding fall prospects is the ruling sentiment.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Disappointment over smallness of estimates of actual new export business did a good deal to bring about a late downturn in wheat prices today. Besides considerable selling pressure on wheat resulted from corn market weakness which developed toward the last. Wheat closed weak, ⅝ to 1⅛c net lower, corn unchanged to ⅜c off, oats at ⅛@¼c decline to ⅜c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 22c.

Indications of a decided falling-off in the movement of wheat southwest helped at times today to encourage sentiment favorabl eto the buying side of the market. In some quarters, too, a report that Russia is unable to finance her crop movement was discussed as a bullish factor, the inference being that under such circumstances the import needs of Europe would be intensified and that theb ulk of supplies during the next 90 days must be obtained from Canada and the United States. However, the late tone of the Winnipeg marketw as heavy. Cooler and showery weather is expected to improve late wheat in Canada.

Posting of more corn here as out of condition had a bearish effect on the corn market. Oats were dull but steady.

Provisions reflected better demand for lard and some inquiry for meats.

Sheep receipts none; market nominal; lambs $11.00@12.50; shorn feeder lambs and yearlings $9.00@11.00; wethers $8.00@8.55; culls $1.00@3.00; stockers $4.00@6.50; goats $2.00@4.00.

Lack of receipts in hog and sheep divisions led to nominal trading there but action was pronounced in cattle and calves, although receipts were far below seasonal number of arrivals.

Early estimate called for 1,600 cattle, 400 calves, 975 hogs, all but 25 coming direct to a packer and 400 sheep, but none for slaughter; week ago 2,146 cattle, 634 calves, 650 hogs and 102 sheep; year ago 3,315 cattle, 1,249 calves, 239 hogs and 283 sheep.

Car arrivals 70 for the day.

Outsiders took a hand in the beef cattle trade early, getting some decent grass cattle at $5.15@5.75. Packer took a car of fed holdover steers at $6.35. Buying of fed steers from Winfield Scott estate arrived soon after noon.

She stock reached steady output early, small supply requiring early treatment. Choice beef cows $6.00, butcher cows $4.25@5.00 the usual spread in canners and cutters. The $2.00 canner not seen here for past two days.

Bulls scarce, ruling unchange d from Thursday, canners around $3.00 and bolognas $4.00 and up.

Only an earnest desire to end the calf market early was seen in the market at times. Small bunches of light calves $9.50, two cars unsold late. Heavyweights $8.00, for a steady price.

Light butcher hogs from the truck division $13.75 and heavies $13.00. No hogs by rail. Packers got seven cars direct.

SOVIET OPENS NEW MINES

MOSCOW, — During 1926 the soviet government has opened 56 new coal mines.

STOCK-A-DAY

Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company 5 3-4 Year Record.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy lines extend from Chicago to Minneapolis, St. Louis, Omaha, Denver and into Wyoming and Montana. About 9,400 miles in all are operated. The Burlington is controlled by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern companies. The company was incorporated in 1849 and since then the Burlington has acquired some 79 other roads and has interests in several others including the Colorado and Southern.

The Great Northern and Northern Pacific jointly own some 97 per cent of the Burlington stock. Since 1917 it has been developing its own coal reserves. Revenue freight tonnage has increased every year for 10 years about 45 per cent of the freight hauled consists of soft coal with agricultural products accounting for an additional 20 per cent and manufactured goods for an equal amount. Increase in expenses has been almost, but not quite, as rapid as that in freight revenue.

Funded debt amounts to $210,036,000 or about one and a quarter times the capital stock. Capital stock consists of $170,830,100 in shares of $100 par value, which is not much over the estimated property value of the road. Earnings on the capital stock in 1925 amounted to 12.40 per cent as compared with 12.82 in 1924. The company has an unbroken dividend record since 1862. The present rate is 10 per cent year. A stock dividend of over 54 per cent was paid in 1921.

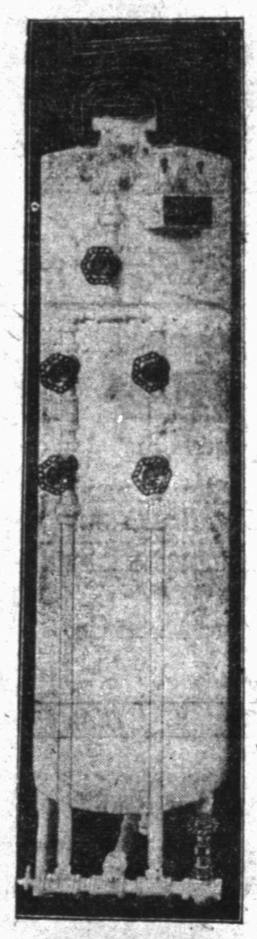

For the first four months of this year gross revenues have been $40,833,291 and net operating income $8,785,604. Both items show an advance over the corresponding period of 1925. Estimated earnings on the common stock for 1926 have been placed at 13.8 per cent. As of December 31, 1925 current assets were $38,884,172, and current liabilities $24,147,428.

Since practically all the stock is owned by the Great Northern and actions on the stock exchange after Northern Pacific, there were no transaction on the stock exchange after 1909 in which year the stock was high at 250 and low at 200. In 1921 the stock was striken from the New York stock exchange but small lots occasionally are sold "over the counter" at prices between 180 and 190.

DELIBERATE FALSIFICATION!

It is very unpleasant, indeed, to be forced to use this character of words, but they are necessary to express the facts in the case, therefore, we must let them stand.

SOME OF OUR UNSCRUPULOUS COMPETITORS have been circulating the report for some time, and many times, that our company was out of the Water Softening business; that our American Doucil "Zoelite" Mineral was no good, and would not stand up; that it would not soften Wichita Falls water; that many Water Softener owners were exchanging the Mineral therein for their Mineral; that one of our reliable local building contractors was recommending their Softener over ours, or any other make.

THE FACTS ARE:

The above propaganda is being distributed with a view of crippling our activities in this branch of our business. They cannot secure an order from the REAL CITIZENS of Wichita Falls without in some way eliminating the PANHANDLE WATER SOFTENER from the prospect's mind, and it seems they go to almost any extreme to reach that point.

FURTHER FACTS:

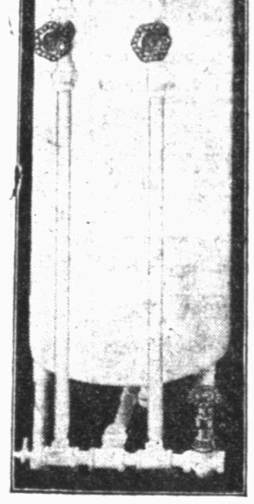

WE ARE STILL IN THE WATER SOFTENER BUSINESS, and we're of the opinion we will be when some of this character of competitors are out of it. We are enjoying a splendid business in this department in Wichita Falls, as well as many other cities in the state. A GUARANTEE, squarely backed by our company goes with each installation, both as to material, workmanship and mineral used therein.

That every WATER SOFTENER PANHANDLE puts out contains the American Doucil Mineral, which is today regarded by leading chemists as the best Softening Mineral manufactured. It is claimed for it that it will soften five times the quantity of water per cubic foot that the green sand will soften. It is ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED against erosion of more than one (1%) per cent per annum.

THE PURPOSE OF THIS AD—

Is to acquaint you with these facts, that you may be in position to meet the false reports being circulated. PANHANDLE has grown from a small $200,000.00 infant to a man-sized $11,000,000.00 industry in ten years right here in Wichita Falls, and we stand squarely behind our obligation to deliver only THE BEST of any of the commodities in which we deal.

WE RESPECTFULLY INVITE YOUR INQUIRIES CONCERNING WATER SOFTENERS — BOTH DOMESTIC AND INDUSTRIAL. MANUFACTURED IN PROPER SIZES FOR HOME, CLUB, HOTEL, LAUNDRIES, BEAUTY PARLORS, ETC.

Young People Secure Another Week of Waltrip's Evangelism

Rev. Burroughs A. Waltrip of Decatur, boy evangelist, who is conducting the Young People's revival at Brook and Ninth will conduct the morning service at the Yale Avenue Evangelical church at 11 o'clock Sunday. He will be assisted by Thomas Glossup who is in charge of the music also at the revival, according to announcement by Rev. W. D. Cook, pastor of the Evangelical church.

Wichita Falls young people expressed enthusiastically their approval of Burroughs A. Waltrip's preaching at his service Friday evening at Ninth and Brook by voting unanimously that the young evangelist continue the two weeks' revival for an additional week through August 14.

Young Waltrip's fiery denunciations of the modern sins of youth, and his appealingly human sermons on youth's problems have drawn large audiences of young people, scores of which came forward after Friday evening's sermon to rededicate their lives and talents to God's work.

"The way a fellow spends his evenings either makes or breaks his life," the young speaker declared. "If your evenings are clean and all right, your life will be clean. Protect your evenings and you protect your whole life.

Keep Evenings Clean

"If Wichita Falls young people kept their evenings clean, there wouldn't be so many cars parked on the highways, so much dancing, drinking, swimming in public pools, petting and carousing with girls going home at three o'clock, their lives blighted, boys dissipated and worthless.

"'What can a fellow do, then,' you say, and I answer, that he can surrender his discontent and his stubborn will to God, and find a real longing to live clean. You'll be glad then to leave sin alone. You can have backbone enough to throw up your chin and want to do right. You can change from a 'gentle-man,' leaving out some of the 'gentle,' and be a real man, accent on the manhood. You can weed out all the useless things in your life and fill it with only helpful things.

Greater Parents

"You young folks who fall in love and marry can make greater mothers and fathers and finer Christian homes. Life is more serious than a lipstick or a powder puff. If you live close to Christ you'll love to resist sin, and you'll be eager to live clean."

Lowell Ponder gave the opening prayer, and the volunteer choir, under the direction of Thos. F. Glosup, song leader for the revival, sang "Ready" and "His Eye Is On the Sparrow," while Mrs. George Miller of Waco illustrated the songs with chalk talks.

This evening the young minister will speak on "The Greatest Thrill," and special music will be given by Spanish singers from the Mexican Baptist church. Sunday evening the sermon will be on "The Modern Christ," it was announced.

ENCINAL HOLDS RECORD IN TEXAS FOR WEEK AT 110.

HOUSTON, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Heat in the cotton belt has approached torridity, a bulletin issued here by L. H. Daingerfield, government meteorologist, shows.

Encinal holds the record of recent weeks in Texas with 110 degrees. Other marks recorded: Corsicana, 106 degrees; Alice and Dilley 104, Brownwood, 102; Lampasas, San Marcos, Uvalde and Mission, 100. At 75 other points the range was from 90 to 98, except at Galveston and Beeville, where the thermometer registered 88 and 80, respectively.

But "the nights were cool," as most Texans put it. At Encinal for example, the thermometer fell to 74 shortly after bed time.

ANOTHER PRIEST YIELDS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—(AP)—General Anaya, military commandant in Puebla, reports that Father Juan Marin, a Catholic priest, in charge of the Church of Santa Inze, notified the authorities of his readiness to adhere to the government's religious regulations and register with the municipal authorities. Thereupon it was ordered that his church be returned to him.

ASK GOVERNOR TO FIND SICK MOTHER'S SON

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Friday was appealed to by citizens of Mayesville, S. C., to aid in locating H. S. Brunson, whose mother is critically ill at Mayesville.

The message said Brunson was supposed to be traveling in an automobile the Santa Fe trail back to South Carolina, and was either in Texas, New Mexico or Arizona.

SCOUT FIRE DEPARTMENT

ELECTRA, Aug. 6.—Plans are being made for the Boy Scouts of the troop No. 2, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Bill Latham to organize a juvenile fire department.

HICO, Texas, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The wish that all the people of Texas might now "assemble in one grand reunion" was expressed here Friday by State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher, in opening his run-off campaign for re-election.

Referring to the nomination of Attorney General Dan Moody in the first primary, he said: "No people, since Jacob and his sons were united with Joseph in Egypt had held a family reunion, have had greater cause for rejoicing than the people of Texas now have."

Paving Movement To Be Launched In Young County Soon

OLNEY, Aug. 6.—A movement for paved roads in Young county is soon to be launched, it was indicated by Mayor M. P. McCracken of Olney and State Senator-elect W. D. McFarlane of Graham, who addressed the Rotary club here.

The petition for a road bond election will be started in this city said McCracken, while McFarlane, in commenting on the beautiful paved streets of Olney, said "just as Olney came out of the mud, so can Young county come out of the mud and I believe the time is not far distant when we will have good roads in this county."

MILLIONAIRE HOBO AT SALT LAKE CONFERENCE

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Dr. James Eads How, "millionaire hobo," and leader of the great army of brake beam riders of the country with the vanguard of leaders and organizers arrived here late yesterday and today will preside at the organization meeting of Salt Lake brotherhood at Labor Temple. This will be followed by a "jungle luncheon."

OLNEY SCOUTS IN ARKANSAS

OLNEW, Aug. 6. — Twenty-four Boy Scouts of Olney are now enjoying the swimming, boating and fishing on White river near Springville, Ark., in the heart of the famous fruit country of the Ozark mountains. The outing will last two weeks.

HOLD UP FEDERAL AID

No Appropriations to Counties Until All Bonds Validated.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The United States government will not make appropriation for federal aid to any road project in Texas which has issued road district bonds until all district bonds have been validated by the legislature, it was stated here Friday by A. R. Losh, United States district highway engineer.

Federal aid already has been declined two counties until the road bonds are validated, Losh announced.

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Texas road districts number only 461, instead of 625, as repeatedly reported, W. P. Dumas announced Friday after a careful check.

GOVERNOR PEAY LEADS

Recaptures First Place In Tennessee Gubernatorial Contest.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Returns from 1,740 precincts out of 2,195 in Tennessee of the vote cast in yesterday's democratic primary gabe Governor Austin Peay, candidate for renomination, 88,448 votes and Hill McAlister, his closest opponent, 78,583 votes.

SWIMMERS AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Crack swimmers of the south are scheduled to take the plunge here tomorrow in the southern A. A. U. swimming and diving championship meet.

The program will start at 2:30 in the afternoon with a large and fast entry list. Among the star performers will be Joe Golbert of Austin who will attempt to break some of the records hung up last year by Buddy Smith of New Orleans.

INDIAN STUNT BOOSTS FAIR

Wichita Falls Men Tour Oklahoma On Behalf Of Exposition

J. Malcolm Harrison, special agent for the chamber of commerce and advance agent for the Texas-Oklahoma fair, and his son J. M. Jr., are staging a series of Indian celebrations in Oklahoma towns in this trade territory, as a means of advertising the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year.

The boys are carrying along the finest lot of posters, placards, streamers and automobile stickers ever published by the Fair association.

Friday an Indian celebration was staged at Ryan, Okla., and today another will be held at Walter, Okla. They left the city in a gaily decorated car bearing more than a score of the advertising illustrations of the fair, and will return to Wichita Falls late this evening.

Roller Skates His Only Hope Now

Jack Allen, ticket agent at the union depot, feels that lady luck dealt him a flock of "snake eyes" on his vacation this year.

Jack had planned a vacation trip by motor which would include a visit to the east as far as New York City; west as far as California, and a return trip by way of the southern route across the desert of Arizona; and all of this was to begin Friday. Thursday Jack was relieved at the depot and was bid Godspeed luck by his fellow railroad employes.

That night Jack's car was stolen. He had parked it in front of the William and Mary hotel.

Agent Sues Mill; Samples Too Good

Damages in the amount of $5,197 are asked of the Noe-Equl Textile mills of Philadelphia, Penn., in a suit filed in the 78th district court Friday by W. W. Waller of Wichita Falls. Waller alleges in his petition that in March of this year he was appointed a district agent for the company to sell its products over several North Texas and southwestern Oklahoma counties. Sales, he states in his petition, were made on the basis of certain samples he carried with him. The goods as delivered, however, according to petition were not up to representations, with the result that much of the merchandise has been turned back on him to make good, and his credit damaged. Of the damages $2,500 is asked as exemplary.

Uneda Tailors In Fireproof Plant

The Uneeda Tailors who have been located at 1105 Eighth street, are moving their plant into a new fireproof building especially constructed for them at 709 Austin street. The company has had a successful growth in business and find that they need a better place to continue their increasing work in cleaning and dyeing.

Horace Keener, master cleaner from one of the largest dry cleaning plants of Los Angeles, Calif., is to be in charge of the cleaning department of the new establishment, it was announced.

The Uneeda Tailors are doing business at their old address and will receive work there until their new place is completed. Announcement will be made when the moving is completed, it was said.

ARDMORE MAN DIES

R. J. Williams, 68, of Ardmore, Okla., died in a local hospital at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon following an illness since Thursday night. Mr. Williams has been in the Panhandle of Texas and was on his way home when he became violently ill and died several hours later.

The body is being held at the Merkle Undertaking company pending the arrival of a daughter from Ardmore who will accompany the body there.

Surviving him are his wife and three daughters.
