Oil Tank Blaze Threatens Refinery

LIGHTNING HITS 55,000 - BARREL ORIENTAL TANK

EXPLOSIONS FEARED

American Refinery Heaviest Loser Owning Oil in Blazing Tank

Lightning struck a 55,000-barrel storage tank on the Oriental Refining company's tank farm just north of the city limits about 6 o'clock Friday evening, causing it to blaze into flames and burn all night with a loss estimated at $100,000.

The loss was covered by insurance.

The loss is heaviest to the American Refining company, which owned the oil in the tank. A chemical and two hose wagons responded to the call and were at the scene of the fire a few minutes later. Without fire plugs in the vicinity of the fire, no connection could be made.

Other Tanks Threatened.

That the fire department could have done little with the monster blaze fed by thousands of gallons of crude oil in a heavy steel tank was the opinion of those experienced in oil field conflagrations.

Immediately after the tank started blazing steps were taken to save the properties of the Oriental Refining company a short distance away. Three other tanks of 55,000 barrels each, were within 100 yards of the one burning. A short distance away was the refinery plant with a number of smaller tanks filled with gas. Realizing that the bursting of the burning tank would cause the burning crude to flow in all directions and set the whole tank farm with its dozen or more storage tanks filled with crude and gas afire, workmen began digging a trench around the burning tank.

Embankment Erected.

The trench embankment was two feet high and extended about 50 yards in all directions from the scene of the fire. A number of workmen with teams were on the job until midnight digging the safe guard. With the trench completed it was believed the flowing crude would be caught and kept from running in a fiery trail in all drection. Again, workmen on the job said the greatest danger was the possibility of gas tanks catching afire with tremendous explosions.

The blaze attracted hundreds of people in cars who drove out near the tank to witness the spectacle. In strange contrast to the downpour of rain last night, the fire from the giant tank belched forth in black clouds which were shot through the waves of fire, presenting a kaleidoscopic sight.

Men On Job All Night.

As the clouds of smoke dispersed and came together periodically the whole country for miles around was light and then dark.

A number of men were kept on the job all night even after the completion of the trench so as to be prepared for an emergency should the tank burst. Some on the job predicted the tank would burst about daybreak.

Charged With Combinations for Handling One Brand Exclusively

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—Suits charging violation of the state anti-trust laws were filed by Attorney General Keeling today against the Producers Refining company of Fort Worth and the Texas company of Houston.

The petition prays that the franchises and charters of the two companies be forfeited and the state be awarded judgements for penalties for alleged violations of the law.

Martial Law Hold In Tulsa Takes Control Of All Civil Agencies

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 31.—Absolute martial law in the whole of Tulsa county was proclaimed tonight by Governor J. C. Walton to take effect tomorrow at noon.

The executive proclamation suspends the right to the write of habeas corpus in the county and declares that no civil agencies, including the courts, shall function without the consent of the commanding officer of the military forces.

Arms Ordered Turned Over.

All arms and ammunition in the county shall be turned over forthwith to the military authorities, the proclamation provides. Only persons granted permission by the military will be allowed to keep arms in their possession.

The military investigation instituted on Aug. 14 into mob activities in Tulsa county, the proclamation said, "has disclosed that a general state of lawlessness has existed for a period of more than a year prior to this time and that a score of people, including women, have been whipped, assaulted and beaten."

Civil authorities of Tulsa county have been "in secret sympathy" with those responsible for the flogging, the governor charged in the proclamation.

The situation had become such, he declared, that lawless elements have usurped powers, including the judiciary.

The civil authorities have refused to make any effort to bring to justice members of mobs and have refused to co-operate with military authorities, the proclamation declared.

Sixty infantrymen of company D, Oklahoma National Guard, stationed at Muskogee, departed late today for martial law duty at Tulsa. Another platoon of 20 men from the same company, stationed at Checotah, is scheduled to leave for Tulsa at 11 o'clock tonight.

MINE WORKERS QUIT AS COAL PARLEY STALLS

155,000 Miners Walk Out Not to Work Until Agreement Made

MEET AGAIN TODAY

Answers Given Pinchot By Leaders Filled With Qualifications

By The Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—All hope of averting a suspension of mining operations in the anthracite region vanished today. Operators and officials of the miners' union replied to Governor Pinchot's four propositions for settlement with responses that were variously qualified and limited in acceptance of the principle tendered. After holding them more than five hours in executive discussions, endeavoring to bring them together, the governor dismissed both groups, pledging them to return at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Governor Pinchot said at adjournment that both sides would maintain "status quo" during the interim, while John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, declared that "nothing has been done, the union notice for suspension of work still stands."

Approximately 155,000 men are affected by the suspension.

Reports from the coal fields tonight indicated that the suspension would be total, as no coal company has yet announced it will attempt to mine while the suspension is in effect.

Other Nations To Follow U. S. In Full Recognition Of Mexico

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, August 31.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico were resumed today and the breach between the two governments were closed.

The action of the American government is expected by officials to be followed soon by recognition of the Obregon government by Great Britain, France, Belgium and Cuba, thus restoring Mexico to its former position in the family of nations.

The state department, through a pre-arrangement with Mexico city officials, announced the accord of the two governments for President Coolidge. A formal statement, issued at noon, gave full credit for understanding which made recognition possible, to Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne, commissioners appointed by President Harding to the recent Mexico City conference held with a view to expediting an arrangement for the restoration of friendly relations.

A similar conference was contained in the statement to the part played by the Mexican commissioners in their effort to have the Mexico City officials comprehend the American attitude toward their government. It was "in view" of the report and recommendations submitted by the four commissioners, the statement said, that the United States resolved to renew relations.

It was indicated in diplomatic quarters here that France probably would designate its ambassador to Mexico on the same day the United States filled its embassy post in Mexico City.

Although no official word had been received here as to the possibility of Great Britain recognizing Mexico, it would not be surprising if that country, before taking such a step, goes into matters throughly. Great Britain has considerable interest in Mexico and it is believed that she may find it desirable to protect them through conventions or otherwise.

While it is known that President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes already have given some attention to the selection of an ambassador to Mexico no hint has been given by the

PUBLIC BUILDING FIGHT UP AGAIN

Million Dollar Plan for Wichita Falls in Bill Now Pending

Special to The Record News.
By BASCOM N. TIMMONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—A public buildings bill will be submitted to the coming session of congress and President Coolidge probably will find a situation where he will have to mediate between the exponents of a building in each of the 435 congressional districts in the United States and the Mellon plan for a building in a few select cities where he believes there is acute need for larger facilities to handle the postal plant.

Under the Mellon plan, for instance, only one project has been specifically recommended by Secretary Mellon. This is $900,000 for extension and remodeling of the Houston postoffice and federal building, and for which Congressman Daniel E. Garrett has a bill pending. Mellon also announced that he would later submit a recommendation for a specific amount for Dallas, and it is probable he also will make a recommendation for Fort Worth.

Others Not Satisfied.

But these three recommendations are not expected to meet the approval of other Texas congressmen, nor will members from other states who are not given buildings in their district approve it, if past history of federal building bills is to be followed.

Among the bills by Texas congressmen now pending for postoffices and federal buildings are:

By Congressman John C. Box—For building and site at Lufkin, $75,000; site at Jacksonville, $5,000; building and site for additional land at Beaumont, $275,000.

By Congressman Thomas L. Blanton—For building and site at Ballinger, $50,000; Ranger, $60,000; Cisco, $60,000; for building at Sweetwater, $60,000 (site already acquired); for building and site at Coleman; for granting Parramore Post No. 57, American Legion, permission to construct federal memorial building and federal building site at Abilene.

By Congressman Fritz G. Lanham—For building and site and for sale of old building and site at Fort Worth $1,750,000; for building and site at Stephenville, $75,000; for building and site at Dublin, $75,000.

By Congressman T. G. Williams—For building and site at Henrietta, $75,000; for building and site at Bowie, $75,000; for building and site at Wichita Falls, $1,000,000.

By Congressman Clay Stone Briggs—For building at Crockett (site already acquired), $100,000; for building at Huntsville, $75,000; for hospital and land at Galveston, $400,000.

By Congressman Morgan G. Sanders—For increase limit of cost on building at Gilmer, $5,000 ($55,000 already authorized.)

By Congressman C. B. Hudspeth—For building and site at Pecos, $50,000; Big Spring, $75,000.

By Congressman Harry W. Wurzbach—For building at Seguin (site already acquired) $100,000; building and site at Kenedy, $100,000.

By Congressman James P. Buchanan—For building at Taylor (site already acquired), $75,000; building at Georgetown, $75,000; site at Lockhart, $15,000.

By Congressman Eugene Black—For increase of cost and exchange sites at Paris, ($170,000 already authorized for building) $55,000 for amending act of March 4, 1917, to provide for postoffice only and exchange sites at Paris.

In addition to these Congressman Rufus Hardy had a bill for $200,000 for a building and site at Mexia, which probably will be re-introduced by Congressman Luther Johnson.

Program Tremendous.

But even if the Mellon bill instead of the more ambitious plan of Chairman Langley of the house buildings committee for a building in every congressional district is adopted it will mean that the government is embarking upon a tremendous building program. If carried into effect, it will mean the construction of postoffice and other buildings to house federal activities in most of the large cities in the country, and would require 20 years for completion. The total cost cannot be computed at this time, as estimates have to be completed, but it would run to two hundred or three hundred millions of dollars.

If the proposal is brought forward as planned, it may not meet with complete approval of the cabinet. Secretary Hoover is understood to be in favor of delaying the program until it can be entered upon without interfering with other construction. He thinks, in other words, that the most opportune time will be when there is a slackening of work.

The Wilson administration was urged, in the last few months of its existence and during the period of transition from war to peace-time industry, to erect public buildings and construct roads as a means of providing ready employment for returning soldiers and sailors.

Members of congress are anxious for an omnibus public buildings bill and for several years have had pet projects before the committee. The administration has stood against such an outlay of money until the treasury got on a better footing.

Fight Inevitable.

Last winter Secretary Mellon and Postmaster General Work submitted estimates for buildings in a number of large cities, but they came near the end of the session. The places chosen did not coincide with the views of congressmen because many of their pet postoffice projects were left out.

A fight between the Langley forces and the administration forces, which are seeking to place buildings where they are most needed, may be counted on as inevitable.

white house or state department that a final decision has been reached. It is believed, however, that since recognition has been extended, an announcement will be forthcoming soon, probably next month, and no time will be lost by the appointee in taking his post.

Meanwhile, affairs at the United States embassy in Mexico City and the Mexican embassy here will be directed by the accredited charges d' affaires. Instructions are expected to go forward, probably tomorrow, to George T. Summerlin, charge at the embassy in Mexico City, to present his credentials to the Mexican foreign office. Manuel C. Telles, charge at the Mexican embassy here, is expected to receive instructions from his government momentarily, it is said, and Telles is prepared to make the customary call at the state department.

R. B. Creager, of Brownsville, Texas, is regarded in official circles here as the probable choice of President Coolidge for the post of ambassador to Mexico. He is known to have been the choice of President Harding and his recent conferences here with President Coolidge are said to have resulted in favorable consideration of his name by the chief executive.

Regarding the appointment of American members to the claims commission, provided for in the report of the Mexico City conference, it was explained today by authoritative spokesmen that matter would be given attention when the two claim conventions have been formally signed and have been ratified by the United States senate. At the present time, it was said, the first consideration is to have the document signed by representatives of the two countries as soon as possible.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO BOOST AERONAUTICS

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 31—The assistance of the American Bar association in procuring the enactment of state and federal legislation which will encourage the development of commercial aeronautics in the United States, was recommended to the convention today by the organization's committee on the law of aeronautics.

The endorsement of legislation fostering and regulating aeronautics as set forth in H. R. 13715, introduced in congress by Representative Samuel Winslow, was urged upon the convention. This bill proposes to create a bureau of civil aeronautics in the department of commerce for the purpose of encouraging and regulating the navigation of civil aircraft. It is expected that the bill will be reintroduced at the forthcoming session of congress.

The committee also recommended that the attention of the association's membership be called to the international problems connected with aeronautics, and particularly to the necessity for the codification of rules governing warfare, and that the special committee be either continued or made a standing committee of the association.

COOLIDGE FOR SOLDIER BONUS

So Say Prognosticators of Politics As Battle of 1924 Starts

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—That a soldier bonus bill will be passed in the forthcoming congress, and that it will have the approval of President Coolidge, was the prediction made today as the fire and back-fire on the proposition was started running on the new executive.

In the opinion of legislators who have hitherto opposed soldiers' adjusted compensation, as the bonus is technically known, the impending national election will eliminate all but political considerations. In this view the bonus is sure to become a law, though its merits might not appeal to those who otherwise would violently oppose it, and have heretofore been successful in making their opposition potent.

Coolidge Silent.

On the ground that the treasury of the United States was in no condition to permit the expenditures necessary for a national soldiers' bonus for veterans of the world war the late President Harding took a stand against the bill, and went so far as to veto it during the last congress, a President Coolidge in speeches he made in various parts of the country, while vice-president, did not discuss the soldiers' bonus bill. In his speeches, however, he repeatedly stated that the first duty of the United States was to provide adequately for the disabled soldiers and sailors. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been expended for this purpose, but the sum will grow greater each passing year, it is said.

The state legislature of Massachusetts passed a bill providing a bonus to the Massachusetts men who served in the world war. A considerable number of other states have granted such bonuses, and still more of the states may take similar action. It is believed that President Coolidge would give weight to he fact that states in considerable measure have granted bonuses, when the question of a national bonus comes before him.

Over Veto, If Necessary.

But whatever the position taken by President Coolidge, it is believed by many of the legislators that the next congress will put through the bonus bill, and if necessary, will pass it over a presidential veto. Of course, events may happen to change the present sentiment for a bonus, but it seems unlikely now.

Senator Smoot of Utah, a member of the appropriations and finance committees of the senate, is thoroughly convinced that the bonus bill is going through. He believes that the bill should carry a special provision for raising revenue to pay the bonus. He advocated in the congress a sales tax for this purpose and will do so again.

The American Legion, however, fostering the bill, is opposed to having the appropriation for the bonus tied up with any taxing feature. Senator Smoot is inclined to believe that the bonus measure will go through as it did in both houses of the last congress, without a special taxing feature to raise the money needed.

"If no provision is made for raising the money," said Senator Smoot, "I shall vote against it, but it will go through. There is an election coming on next year."

Veterans of '98 Asking.

Senator Smoot said that he had received recently from a man in his state, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, a letter asking that the Spanish-American war veterans be paid bonuses also, if those of the war with Germany and Austria were to have their adjusted compensation. This man insisted that the veterans of the Spanish war were just as much entitled to receive this benefit as the veterans of the last war.

Senator Smoot pointed out that the United States still has tremendous debts to pay in connection with the war, that the treasury is not in position to pay the bonus without additional revenues derived from new taxes, and that there is small chance of any of the present taxes being reduced now. The revenue from the republican tariff act, he added, amounting to $600,000,000 a year has alone prevented a deficit in the treasury at this time.

"You don't hear so much about the tariffs now," he said, "since the imports have attained their present size, exceeding our exports by a large amount. I look for no tariff legislation in the coming session."

Negro Admits Guilt On Gallows At Angleton

By The Associated Press.

ANGLETON, Texas, Aug. 31.—Nathan Lee, 35, negro, was hanged here at 11:20 o'clock this morning for the slaying of James Spurgeon, a wealthy farmer, who was found dead in his home Sept. 7, 1922. Just before the execution, the negro declared his guilt, which he had previously denied.

WILDCAT WELLS SHOW PROMISE

Ansell No. 1 To Be Good Well After Derrick Burns Down

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 31.—Interest among the oil men in and around Electra for the past week or so has been centered largely in an observation of several of the interesting wildcats now drilling in this section.

The Ansell well No. 1, better known as the Finley test, which is located seven miles from production, had the misfortune to burn down the early part of this week. The test was already to drill in and the well was being standardized. There is every indication that this will yet be brought in as a good well. Oil had risen 150 feet in the hole, when the owners had the hard luck to lose the derrick and equipment by fire.

The Magnolia Tuttle No. 1 is now drilling at 1,820. Eight-inch casing has been set at the bottom of the hole. No water has been encountered in this test below 630 which is regarded as a good indication. This well is located about nine miles northwest of Electra in block 179 of the Waggoner subdivision in unproven territory.

The Wolf Hill well which is being drilled by Byrnes and Andrews, Fort Worth is down to 1,625. This test is located in block 151 of the Waggoner Colony subdivision in Wilbarger county. This test is about seven miles northwest of town.

CORFU

to submit to what Greece regards as humiliating conditions.

Ultimatum Presented.

Thereupon the cabinet reassembled in Rome and decided on the next step Italy should take. This, according to reports from Athens, took the form of the Italian minister at Athens presenting a new note to Greece, seemingly in the shape of another ultimatum, the terms of which have not yet been stated, but giving only a few hours for a reply, and also notifying the Greek government that meantime Corfu would be peacefully occupied temporarily by Italian troops. On this development the Greek government immediately telegraphed Geneva, invoking the intervention of the league of nations.

League to Be Ignored.

The most disconcerting report, which, however, has not yet been officially confirmed, comes from Rome. It is to the effect that Premier Mussolini intends to ignore the league of nations in the controversy, maintaining that the dispute concerns only Italy and Greece. The view held in British circles is that under article 12 of the covenant of the league, both Italy and Greece, who are members of the league, are bound to submit the dispute to that body.

The British newspapers draw parallels with the Austrian note of 1914, which led to the world war. Fear is expressed by some of the newspapers that the present spark may set the whole Balkans ablaze.

BAYLOR ENTERS T-O FAIR FIRST

Private Express Car of Poultry To Be Sent From Kansas

Baylor is the first county to make entrees as a county for exhibiting products and livestock at the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition to be held here Oct. 2 to 7, inclusive, according to C. H. Verschoyle, secretary. Baylor county did not send exhibits last year.

The private express car of the Modlin Poultry farm of Topeka, Kan., is due to arrive the day before the fair. The Modlin entrees consists of many pure bred flocks, all ages. The firm will enter 300 or more fowls, and is the largest entry so far received in the poultry classes.

R. Johnson of Bowie is expected to enter a large number of White-Leghorns. The Johnson strain is considered among the best in the world, and is known as the "330" egg-laying strain. Johnson's farm covers more than 200 acres, and he has more than 200 modern fowl houses. He receives during the laying season upward of 5,000 eggs daily. His incubators hatch approximately 60,000 chicks every three weeks.

The men named are Warren M. Hollister, George M. Richardson, H. E. Robinson, promoters of the Pilgrim Oil company of Texas, and Harry E. Hicks, promoter of the King Midas Oil company.

Aged Resident of Ft. Worth Says Stella Vitae Gives Strength and Energy

"Although I am 69 years old I feel many years younger since taking Stella Vitae," recently said Mrs. M. C. Schwier, 1512 Ellis Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas.

"My greatest affliction was those awful pains in the back of my neck and terrible headaches. At times I felt a misery in my chest and shoulders that made it almost impossible for me to do anything. I was constipated, too, and my blood was bad. I didn't sleep much on account of my nerves being in such wretched shape.

"When I started taking Stella Vitae I soon felt it was helping me and I began to get stronger and feel more energy. Headaches and other pains began to get less severe and stay off longer. I am a thousand times better I think, and I am going to keep it up as long as I feel that I need anything."

Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief.—Adv.

Macon Merchant Charged Flogger

By The Associated Press.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 31.—J. A. Alexander, Macon merchant, was placed in the county jail here this afternoon on three charges after being identified by Ollie M. Perry as one of the men who kidnapped him at his store on the night of Aug. 9, and carried him outside the city and flogged him severely. Charges of carrying a pistol without a license, pointing a pistol at another and assault and battery have been made against him. He was the first of the band who kidnaped Perry to be positively identified by the victim of the flogging.

EMPIRE GAS AND FUEL MAN VISITOR HERE

Ray Shaeffer, general superintendent of the Empire Gas and Fuel company, with headquarters at Bartlesville, was a Wichita Falls visitor yesterday. Mr. Shaeffer came here on business for his company.

The Empire man had little to say regarding the oil situation declaring that it is impossible for anyone to make an accurate forecast of the future.

"You are not as hard hit here," he said, "as in the Kansas fields. Wichita Falls is moving right along. I always like to come here and I do not know a more progressive, wideawake little city anywhere in the country."

GAS COMPANY STARTS FIGHT

Asks Injunction Dissolved Granted By Judge At Gainesville

The latest development in the suit filed by the mayor and city council against the Municipal Gas company in which 20 other cities are joined and in which a temporary injunction was granted recently by District Judge Pierman of Gainesville is that a motion to dissolve the injunction was filed this week by attorneys for the gas company.

This information was received Friday by City Attorney W. E. George from Hamp Abney, Sherman attorney who is prosecuting the case for Wichita Falls and other cities. The injunction as granted to Abney in behalf of the 21 cities restrains the gas company from charging a ready-to-serve charge on each meter.

If the hearing which is to be held next week in Gainesville results in the temporary injunction being made permanent a victory will have been won, according to the city attorney. Until the hearing is over the city council will take no action on the petition of the local company asking for indorsement of the ready-to-serve charge.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

Word that the United States government has recognized Mexico, and that this country and Mexico have agreed to resume full diplomatic relations mean much to the United States in a general trade way and to Texas in particular.

It means the recognition by Mexico of the rights of American capital—and American capital has been waiting for this word from Washington. American operations in Mexico were halted and American money driven out by the repudiation of contracts which held good during the regime of Diaz, but which were annulled by the fast succeeding presidents who followed him.

There is every reason to believe that Mexico is tired of banditry and that the government is sufficiently well established that normal conditions may again prevail. Texas profits by being the gateway to Mexico. With excellent seaport facilities, Texas already has been trading with Mexico, and recognition of that country means a great increase in Texas manufacture and jobbing business with the country on the south.

Truly it is a day in Texas history well worthy of note by the commercial interests of this state, and means much toward stabilizing the regrettable conditions which have prevailed in Mexico in the past.

SEPTEMBER FIRST THE LIMIT

Today is the first of September. Speeders and reckless drivers please take note.

For the chief of police comes forth and says that while a certain leniency has been observed toward violators of the new city ordinance relating to traffic, because they had not become acquainted with the law, that from this date on they will be expected to observe it to the letter, and will be dealt with accordingly.

It might be added that while it is the duty of every citizen of Wichita Falls to acquaint himself with the requirements of this city ordinance, he should not be governed altogether by the spirit of fear of arrest.

The traffic law should be observed, if for no other reason, because it was passed in the best interests of the city and its people. It should be observed in the spirit of Wichita Falls—the spirit of co-operation and desire to make this a still better city in which to live.

HURRAH FOR BAYLOR COUNTY

The fame of the Texas-Oklahoma fair is spreading. In its second year it is being recognized as an institution of the southwest.

One Texas county,—Baylor—which last year had no exhibit at the fair was the first to apply for exhibit space this year. 'Rah for Baylor county and the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

REGARDING OIL

A year ago California oil wells were capable of producing three hundred thousand barrels every day. Now they are capable of producing eight hundred thousand barrels every day. This appears to be what is the matter with the oil business.

Conditions of today will not last forever. Flush production in California will come to an end in the near future. Over-production hit the industry and hit it hard. Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, asserts there is nothing in current conditions to cause alarm for the reason those compelled to liquidate their stocks of finished products at sacrifice prices are more likely to take up bank loans than to reinvest the proceeds in crude oil.

Sure. Business is business. Now just why should a dealer reinvest in crude oil after his profits have taken wings or a slice of his capital has been sacrificed in steming an adverse tide in a vain attempt to play the game?

SAVING THE WORLD

Premier Jan Smuts of the Union of South Africa has made a solemn and powerful appeal for all nations, including America, to help Great Britain in her effort to save Europe from destruction and avert a world-wide disaster. He should have sent his appeal to Poincare of France, the wielder of the big stick and the Napoleon of the period.

Premier Smuts is for the cancellation of the inter-allied debts. If this follows, will Russia be forgiven? Russia repudiated the allied debts and foreign loans of more than eight billions made to the Romanoffs by the investors of France and Great Britain. Compulsory cancellation would be a mild form of repudiation. France owes the United States three or four billions.

When the Russian communists make arrangements to pay the billions that the Romanoffs borrowed from France, no doubt France will be willing to pay the United States the billions borrowed from this country in the World war.

THE WINDOW WASHER

Chicago window washers are in their glory. They demanded an advance in the daily wage from 80 cents to $1 an hour and the 44-hour week. They won. Hence their happiness. Is a window washer a skilled workman? Or is he a manual laborer? If he is a manual laborer and takes down $44 a week he should be able to hustle along in midsummer at least, although it may be different in mid-winter where below zero weather makes window washing unnecessary or undesirable.

THE COB PIPE NEXT?

There are a hundred thousand cigar makers in the United States. Only thirty thousand are members of the cigar makers union and the trade reports a steady decrease of consumption of cigars in this country and a rapid increase in the consumption of cigarettes. These trade conditions have alarmed the officers of the National Cigar Makers Union, and they are going to place organizers in the field. Is the cob pipe of the fathers coming back?

THE BRIGHT SHAWL

THE LEADING CHARACTERS

CHARLES ABBOTT a youthful American, in order to regain his health goes to Cuba—then still under the oppressive dominion of Spain—and being an idealist fancies himself in some heroic role in an effort to free the island.

DOMINGO ESCOBAR, a cuban gentleman whom Charles meets on the ship, invites him to his home. He ignores cautiously any questions Abbott puts about patriots' activities and warns him that if he attempts to carry into Havana the derringer which his father gave him he will court danger.

CHAPTER III.
Andres

Yet Charles' first actual breath of the tropics, of Cuba, was very different, charged and surcharged with magical peace; the steamer was enveloped in an evening of ineffable lovely blueness. The air that brushed Charles' cheek was slow and warm; its warmth was fuller, heavier with potency, than any summer he had known. Accelerating his imagination it dissipated his energies; he lounged supine in his chair, long past midnight. lulled by the slight rise and fall of the sea, gathered up benignly into the beauty above him.

Later he had to stir himself into the energy of packing for the Morro Castle was docking early in the morning. He closed his bag thoughtfully, the derringer on a shelf. Escobar had spoken about it, warning him, again; and it was apparent that no obvious place of concealment would be sufficient. At last he hit on an excellent expedient—he would suspend it inside the leg of a trouser.

The steamer had scarcely entered the harbor next morning when the custom officials came on board; and a swarm of hotel runners clambered up the sides and in an instant there was a pandemonium of Spanish and disjointed English.

Charles instructed by Domingo Escobar, ignored the demand for passports, and proceeded to the boat indicated as the Inglaterra's. At the custom house, two men in finely striped linen, carrying canes with green tassels, peremptorily stopped him. One ran his hands dexterously over his body, explored pockets, tappell Charles back, and then drew aside.

When, at last, young Abbott was seated in the hack, the position of the derringer was awkward, and carefully he shifted it.

At the Inglaterra he unpacked slowly, and, in the stone tub hidden by a curtain in a corner, had a refreshing bath. There was a single window rising from the tile floor eight or ten feet, and he opened double shutters, discovering the Parque de Isabel with its trees and iron settees, gathered about the statue of Isabel II.

Charles Abbott's confidence left him little by little what had seemed so easy in New York, so apparent, was uncertain with Havana about him. The careless insolence of the inspectors with the green-tasseled canes at once filled him with indignation and depression.

How was he, to begin his mission? Without a word of Spanish he couldn't even make it known!

There was Andres Escobar to consider; his father had told Charles that he knew a few words of English. Meanwhile hungry, he went down to the 11 o'clock breakfast.

A ceremonious head waiter led him to a small table by a long window on the Parque, where he managed, with the assistance of his waiter's limited English, to order a meal.

Clear white curtains swung at the window in a barely perceptible current of air, and he had glimpses of the expanse without, now veiled and now intolerably brilliant. His dissatisfaction, doubts, vanished in an extraordinary sense of well-being, or settled importance and elegance.

There were many people in the dining room, it was filled with the unfamiliar sound of Spanish; the men dark, bearded and brilliant-eyed, specially engaged his attention, for it was to them he was addressed.

The women he glanced over with a detached and indulgent manner; they were, on the whole, a little fatter than necessary; but their voices were soft and their dress and jewels, even so early in the day, nicely elaborate. All his interest was directed to the Cubans present; other travelers Charles ignored.

He felt, because of the depth of his own implication, his passionate self-commitment, here, infinitely superior to more casual, to blinder, journeyings.

In the afternoon the heat increased, but the high, cool shadow of his room was soothing and he fell into a sound slumber. He was waked only by a pounding at his door, and a servant tendered him a card that bore engraved the name Andres Escobar.

Facing Andres he had a sensation of his own clumsiness, his inept attitude for the other, younger than he in appearance was fruitless in bending, in immediately ironed linen, a lavender tie and sprig of mimosa, he was an impressive figure of the best fashion.

But Andres Escobar was far more than that: his sensitive delicately modelled dark face, the clear brown eyes and level lips, were stamped with a superfine personality.

His English, as his father had said, was halting confined to the merest formal phrases, but his tones were warm with hospitality.

"It was polite of you to come so soon," Charles replied; "and your father was splendid to me on the steamer."

"How do you like Havana?" Andres asked.

"I love it!" Charles Abbott exclaimed in a burst of enthusiasm, but of which, immediately after, he was ashamed.

"You like it!" Andres Escobar reflected his unreserved tone. "That's good; I am very, very glad. You must come to our house, papa sends you this." He smiled delightfully.

Charles led the way toward the dining room. "Suppose we have a drink." In Havana he continually found himself in situations of the most gratifying maturity—here he was, in the dining room of the Inglaterra hotel, with a tall rum punch before him, and a mature looking cigar.

He liked his companion enormously, noticing as they sat in a comfortable silence, fresh details Andres hair, ink-black, grew in a peak on his forehead; the silk case which held his cigars was bound in gold; his narrow shoes were patent leather with high heels. But what above all else, impressed Charles was his evidently worldly poise, the palpable air of experience that clung to him. Andres was at once younger and much older than himself.

"How are you interested?" Andres asked, "in.... girls? I know some very nice ones."

"Not in the least," Charles Abbott replied decidedly "the only thing I care for is politics and the cause of justice and freedom."

CHAPTER IV.
The Shot.

Andres Escobar gazed swiftly about the crowded tables around them; not far away there was a party of Spanish officers in loose short tunics and blue trousers. Then, without commenting on Charles' assertion, he drank from his glass of punch.

"Some very nice girls," he repeated.

Charles was overwhelmed with chagrin at his indiscretion; Andres would think that he was a babbling idiot!

"You should know my friends," Andres went on conversationally; "Remigio Florez, they are great coffee planters, and Jaime—Jaime Quintara—and Tirso Labrador. They will welcome you, as I."

Charles announced his intention of learning Spanish, of fencing; and the other promised his unreserved assistance.

The drinks were finished, and Andres Escobar rose to go. As they walked toward the Paseo the Cuban said, "You must be very careful, liberty is a dangerous word; it is discussed only in private in our tertulia you may speak." He held out a straight forward palm. "We shall be friends."

Again, in his room Charles dwelt on Andres, conscious of the birth of a great liking, the friendship the other had put into words. He wanted to be like Andres as slender and graceful with his hair in a peak and a worldly, contained manner.

Charles was thin, rather than slender, more awkward than not; decidedly fragile in appearance. And his experience of life had been less than nothing.

Yet he could make up for this lack by the fervor of his attachment to the cause of Cuba. He recalled all the stories he knew of foreign soldiers heroic in an adopted cause; that was an even more ideal form of service than the natural attachment to a land of birth.

His, Charles Abbott's, would be a select, an aristocratic fate; the end, when it overtook him, would find him in beautiful snowy linens, dignified exclusive, to the last. His would be no pot-house brawling! That was his double necessity, the highest form of good in circumstances of the first breeding. One, perhaps, to his aesthetic fibre, was as important as the other.

More Truth Than Poetry
By James J. Montague

AN ALARMING SYMPTOM

The Turk, when he rises and looks at the clock
Takes his gun from a nail on the door,
Grabs some rice from a jar and leaps into his car
To report at the handiest war.
It may be with Bulgars, it may be with Greeks
Or a paltry Armenian raid,
But somewhere, he knows, there'll be plenty of foes
And enemy lands to invade.

Though westward and northward all Europe may bask
In the sunlight of perfect accord
The terrible Turk finds abundance of work
For the rifle, machine gun and sword.
If a big war is started, he's in at once
If peace spreads her wings o'er the land
You may always depend that before the year's end
He will have a nice small war on hand.

While statesmen forgather at Nice or Lausanne
To end international strife
The Turk takes delight in his fortnightly fight,
Crooning happily "This is the life!"
And none of the nations disturb him, or seek
His passion for war to control
"Let him fight" they all say "it is just his queer way,
And it keeps him contented, poor soul!"

So now, when the Turk has declared on his oath
That battle and bloodshed he'll cease;
Give over all strife for the rest of his life
And exert all his efforts for peace
And that brotherly love and the kinship of man
Will be his one aim for all time,
In terror we shrink, for we cannot but think
That he's plotting some horrible crime!

IRRIGATION
By A. M. McPHERSON
Consulting Engineer
Kahn Bldg., Eighth and Indiana

Into What Sized Farms Should the Surplus Lands On the Irrigation Project Be Divided? The Dairy Herd and Equipment.

The number of cows in a dairy herd is extremely variable. Near the large cities where the demand for whole milk is great the herds often runinto the hundreds and even into the thousands, but for the farmer who is dependent on the assistance that can be rendered by his own family or one or two hired hands, and who must raise his own feed stuffs, the number is limited.

Again the size of the herd is dependent upon the breed of cows, the grade, and the energy, ability and knowledge of the owner.

Twenty to 30 head of good cows will put money in the bank for any farmer who knows his business and has a market.

To handle such a herd economically and efficiently the farmer should produce as much as possible of their feed on his own farm.

He should have, in fact must have, certain items of mechanical equipment. This equipment depends upon how he markets his product. If he sells his milk whole either to a condensory or to the ultimate consumer either directly or indirectly, his equipment is of one type, but if he markets only his butter fat in the shape of separated cream or farm made butter, then his equipment is of another type.

As the equipment of the dairy farmer is dependent upon the nature of his market, and as the nature of this market upon the Irrigation project cannot yet be determined, we will not go further into the matter, important as it may be.

A child born today will be restless and always stepping into things, but will achieve success through its originality.

Naturally you are rather richly gifted if today is your birthday. You have an active and intelligent mind and are especially gifted with the faculties of reasoning and imagination. You are not only able to analyze something that has already happened but you are also somewhat of a prophet as to the general course of events, and you have sufficient financial acumen to profit by the slightest changes in economic and political conditions.

You are, as might be expected, willing to gamble on the accuracy of your forecasts and you usually win.

Personally, your own private life is probably one of extreme untidiness and disorder. Because it strikes you as a duty, you are so busy arranging the lives of others that your own is sadly neglected. You should cultivate orderliness in your own life as you will waste a good deal of it if you don't.

You should be fond of sports of a moderate type, such as golf and walking, and they are necessary to your fullest development as it is during such actions that your mind works most clearly on other problems, and your most intense focus is not on the ball or the road. It is quite frequently on some distant, abstract problem.

You are also fond of animals and have a very fine approach to all creatures. You should have no trouble in taming the wildest horses.

Emotionally your nature is responsive but fickle. If you are disappointed in a person you can readily substitute another, or failing that, even an inanimate object. When your heart breaks you will find it easy to stick it together with the aid of a little wine and all that goes with it.

Eddie Dyer And Mates Tame Buffalos 11 to 5

DYER BIDS FAREWELL WITH WIN OVER FORMER TEAM MATES IN BATTING AFFAIR

Spudders Knock Sell Off Hillock and Hit Berley Equally As Hard; Every Spudder But Bescher Hits Safely Once; Retain Hold On Third Place.

HOUSTON, Aug. 31.—Wichita Falls took the first game of the series from Houston here today by outbatting and outplaying the Buffs all the way. The Spudders rapped two Buff pitchers consistently throughout the nine innings. Sell was sent to the showers in the third inning.

Eddie Dyer kept Houston's eleven hits well scattered, although he did allow Red Bliss to connect with one of his southpaw shoots for a homer with a runner on base in the fifth inning. Dyer's wildness in the first inning gave the Buffs their first run when he hit a batsmen, gave up an infield hit and walked two other batters, the last forcing in a runner.

Dyer Says Farewell.

Today's game was Dyer's farewell performance with the Spudders as he leaves for Chicago immediately where he will join the St. Louis Cardinals. The Buffs let Dyer loose not a very long while ago, and today he made his former teammates look foolish at times.

In the third inning Dyer Whiffed three batters, although he did sandwich a single and a walk in between this. The Spudder pitcher also connected with a timely double and single.

Dallas Locker with three singles led the Spudder hitters. Cotter also secured a timely triple and single. In fact every player in the line-up secured one or more hits except Bob Bescher.

Buffs Score First.

The Buffs brought first blood in their half of the opening round. Baggan was hit by a pitched ball, but was forced at second by Stansbury on an attempted sacrifice. Sperber beat out an infield hit down the third base line. Schmandt walked but Dyer forced in a run by walking Bell and McDonald.

The Spudders came back in the second to score two runs. Barrett and Berger singled in succession, and both advanced a notch on Locker's infield out. Bischoff singled to left scoring the two runners before him. Dyer was safe on Bell's error, but Bescher ended the inning by forcing Dyer at second.

Sell was chased from the mound in the third and Berley, his successor, fared little better. Coombs walked and advanced a peg on Weiss's single. Sell threw wild to get Coombs off second and Coombs scored when Bliss let the ball get through him in center. Cotter tripled to deep center scoring Weiss and scored a moment later himself on Berger's single through short. Locker also secured a single in this round.

In the third inning Dyer fanned all three outs, but in the fourth the Buffs staged a one-run rally. Griffith and Baggan singled and Stansbury walked. Sperber scored Griffith on a single.

Dyer opened the fourth for the Spudders with a double to center and advanced to second on Bescher's sacrifice. Dyer scored on Coombs' infield hit. Cotter singled to right, scoring Coombs. Barrett also followed with a walk.

Bliss Hits Homer.

Bliss's home run over the left field fence, with Bell on base after a single, accounted for two Houston runs in the fifth. The last local run came in the seventh. Singles by Schmandt, Bell and Bliss accounted for it.

Berley allowed only one hit in the seventh but three runs resulted. Barrett walked to start it off, and Berger bunted and was safe on Griffith's wild throw to second. Locker sacrificed and Bascher walked, filling the bases. Dyer laced out a single to right and all three runners scored when Sperber uncorked a wild peg to third.

The last Spudder score came in the eighth when Weiss opened up with a single. Cotter sacrificed and Barrett grounded out. Berger worked Berley for a pass, and Weiss scored on Locker's single to center.

Illinois Gridders Discard Orange For Blue Jerseys

URBANA Ill., Aug. 31.—Old-time Illinois athletes and other partisans never exactly liked the orange Jerseys and stockings in which Bob Zuppke clothed the fighting Illini two years ago. But there is welcome news for them.

Illinois is going back to the blue. When Zup's men run out on the stadium field Nov. 3 to engage the Maroons before 55,000 people, they will look like an Illinois team of tradition. For the coach has decided to return to the navy blue jerseys and stockings. Orange proved satisfactory in some ways but in other ways it did not suit "Zup." And the little coach is not one who refuses to change his mind. He ruthlessly slashed at tradition when he changed to orange and he comes back to blue with equal celerity.

Illinois had worn the blue for more than a quarter century when Zuppke changed two years ago. Is Zuppke going to keep the old color now that he returns? Time alone will tell for he is no respector of tradition.

Stoner and Ross Batted Off Mound But Conkwright Fares Better

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 31.—San Antonio took the league leading Panthers for a trimming today, winning 10 to 3. Stoner was knocked out of the box in the first inning and Ross who relieved him fared no better, giving way to Conkwright in the third who twirled the remainder of the game. On the other hand Morrison, while touched for 12 hits, kept them for the most part well scattered.

American Legion Plans Two Cards For Labor Day

American Legion boxing promoters have scheduled two attractions for Labor day. A matinee program will be held at Lake Wichita in the afternoon, and at night the Legion plans the best boxing exhibition of the season at the Legion athletic arena.

The feature bout of the day will be a 10-round go between Lee Morrissey of Idaho Falls, Idaho and Speedy Binyon of Alvord, Texas. Morrissey has built up for himself a wide reputation as a welterweight since he last appeared in Wichita Falls. He is a boxer of much experience and knows his ropes when it comes to slinging the gloves.

Speedy Bonyon will have the margin over Morrissey, as far as dope goes, in only one department and that of weight. Binyon is said to be very fast and packs a terrific wallop in his right arm.

Kid Snyder and Mickey Savage, who fought to an eight-round draw Thursday night will again mix it on Labor day. Country Boy Lance meets Battling Williamson in one of the semi-final events.

Besides the fight attractions, the Legion is planning many other athletic contests and exhibitions at Lake Wichita for Monday.

HUNTERS ATTENTION

We have the famous Danz' Combined Shell and Game Bag that takes the place of a bulky and uncomfortable hunting coat in any kind of weather. It is especially adapted for warm September days, and in the cooler months of October and November it can be worn over a sweater, thus eliminating the coat.

It places the weight just exactly where it should be, and does not interfere with the free action of the arms. It doesn't bind, and is so light in weight that you forget you have it on.

Another nice feature is its low cost.—ONLY

MIDDLEWEIGHT CROWN PASSES

Disappointingly Slim Crowd Sees Lopsided Battle At Polo Grounds

By The Associated Press.

POLO GROUND, New York, Aug. 31.—The world's middleweight championship passed from Johnny Wilson of Boston, to Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, in a lopsided 15 round battle, before a small crowd in the Polo Grounds tonight. Greb won the judge's decision.

The new champion was not profuse in his customary windmill style because he did not have to. Wilson made a lethargic defense of the laurels he won from Mike O'Dowd, and hardly at any time did he press his opponent. Despite the number of times Greb held, he had a wide margin of earned points.

Only about 5,000 people including a sprinkling of women, were in the stands at the Polo Grounds when darkness settled down on the site for the 15 round world's championship middleweight bout between Champion Johnny Wilson and Harry Greb of Pittsburgh.

Vic McLaughlin of the West Side, New York, won the first four round go from Charles Archurs of Yonkers, which was a slashing affair. The men are middleweights.

Crowd Prove Fizzle.

As the second preliminary preceeded the spectators began to trickle in, but none of the sections appeared to be filled. It was a six round bout between two more middleweights, and was won by Paddy Flynn of Brooklyn, from his fellow townsman, Harry Gakfund.

After the third preliminary, it was evident that the crowd was not only a big disappointment to the promoters but to the ticket speculators who entreated men on the sidewalks to buy $11 tickets for four dollars. The third bout was won after a six round tussle by Cuddy De Marco of Pittsburgh, from Johnny Conyo of New York. The Pittsburgher weighed 129 1-2 and his opponent 149.

The last preliminary, a lopsided 10 round farce, was won by Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., from Jimmy Darcy of Portland, Ore. The winner weighed 163 1-4 pounds and Darcy 170. Greb and Wilson were given an enthusiastic ovation. The weights were announced as 158 each. Jack O'Sullivan was the third man in the ring.

Round By Round

Round One.

They spared in the center of the ring for a minute before Wilson landed the first blow, a glancing left to the body and then they went into two short body exchanges. Wilson landed another left to the body and took a right in return. The champion retreated around the ring and Greb drove him to the ropes where the Pittsburgher got in some effective body work. From the center of the ring Wilson then drove Greb to the ropes with short body blows at which they exchanged actively in the center of the ring. Greb forced the champion to cover up sending both hands to the body and then the challenger did some damage at close range. They exchanged counter blows each with one arm locked on the other's. They had a furious exchange in Greb's corner, again locking arms and pounding each other fully 20 blows apiece, separating at the bell.

Round Two.

Again they locked arms and hit each other at short range. Greb held Wilson around the waist with his left and struck with his right until the referee stopped him. Greb rocked Wilson to the ropes with a right but the champion clinched when the challenger added his right. Greb clouted a little bit and began grabbing Wilson around the neck with his left and punching with his right. They were sparring when the bell rang.

Round Three.

They sparred for a moment and then Greb charged, swinging his right to the stomach, driving Wilson to the ropes with a fusillade. They exchanged at arm's length in the center of the ring and Greb began to charge again, landing hard rights to the body while he held with his left for which he was warned by the referee. Wilson landed a hard left to the jaw before Greb again resumed his holding and received a severe lecture from Referee O'Sullivan. Greb had the better of a protracted exchange at long range and they began to spar when the bell ended the round.

Round Four.

Greb jumped to the attack and landed with both hands to the head. He blocked a right and then repeated with both hands when Wilson tried to cover up. They clinched several times and Greb ripped short rights to the chest and jaw. Wilson landed a few lefts in a clinch. The champion landed a left to the chest and Greb missed a wide right. Wilson then came in and landed both hands. Greb sent a long right to the head and danced away before coming in again to hold with his left and pounded with high right while the champion countered with short lefts.

Round Five.

They clinched immediately, each off balance with one hand. Greb was very wild with rights but he caught the champion and locked an arm and landed one hand to the body and the other to the back ribs. Greb landed a hard right to the jaw and then missed, but Wilson, who was pretty much on the retreat now, missed also. Greb landed a left to the jaw and Wilson shot a left to the body and bounced his fists off the challenger's jaw. Wilson rushed Greb to the ropes, but Greb came out slashing away with a two fisted attack. Greb shot a right swing to the jaw and was going in for short range work when the gong sounded.

Round Six.

At this stage Greb was leading by a margin which was too wide. Wilson fought toe-to-toe a most severe exchange, but after lull he took a severe right to the jaw. Greb landed another hard left to the jaw and Wilson sunk a hard left into Greb's stomach. Greb landed four hard rights to the jaw in action, then Wilson sunk his right to the body before they clinched again. Wilson landed another right to the body and Greb began holding Wilson's neck with one arm and then the other while he punched with his free arm. Greb shot a hard right to the jaw before they exchanged again. They were pounding in a clinch as the bell sounded.

Round Seven.

After a short delay Greb rushed at Wilson and landed lightly, and they clinched, swinging both arms. The champion continued the body attack he began in the previous round, but Greb kept gingerly on the offensive. Greb sent three short rights to the jaw, and then his left to the body followed by three rights to the body. Wilson missed a right and Greb landed a hard right to the head. They resumed their half clinching, hitting with their free hands, but Greb, in the next clinch, held with his left and had the better of the one handed fighting. The challenger swung a hard right to the head as the round ended.

Round Eight.

Round Nine.

They sparred a little, while Greb analyzed his opponent's condition before plowing in, digging both firsts to the body. Greb landed a hard right to the head and Wilson backed to the ropes, covering his face with his hands while the Pittsburgher whacked away. Wilson grabbed Greb around the waist to hold on and the challenger slipped to the floor. The challenger was at it again in a second and sent a damaging right smashing to the head. The champion looked as though he were wavering. He dug a short right to Greb's mid-ribs and dispatched a right and left to the chin before the bell ended.

Round Ten.

Wilson appeared groggy as he sat in his chair, and his left eye was completely closed. They started the round slovenly but in a moment Greb shot a straight right toward the injured optic and cornered the champion in a neutral corner. Greb whipped over a right in a clinch and then slashed away with both hands when Wilson came in to clinch. With his one eye Wilson could see that Greb's stomach was slashed and he aimed for this target but could not reach it while Greb backed away for a moment and came in landing wide swings. They had a short exchange before the gong tapped. Greb had a clear margin in the opinion of the experts at the end of this round.

Round Eleven.

Greb swung a right to the face and Wilson missed counter right leads. They exchanged in a clinch, and then Greb landed numerous rights before he opened up with both hands. Greb held with his left, and butted with his head and as these tactics were expected to count against him it was difficult to estimate his lead. Wilson shot a hard left just above the heart. Wilson was advancing to clinch and Greb accepted his overtures but locking one arm and swinging the other. This was a slow round and ended with the men sparring.

Round Twelve.

They came together fighting and Wilson was cheered for livening up the battle with a left. Greb grabbed the ropes with his right and tried to pivot for a swing but the champion backed out of range and Greb had to cross the ring to land a hard right. They went into another half clinch and Greb did deadly punishing with his right to the body and head. Greb sank a left in Wilson's body and then crossed both hands repeatedly to the jaw. Greb slashed ripping uppercuts to Wilson's jaw and the champion clinched when Greb again pounded with his left. In the next clinch Greb pounded him with his other fist. They were going into an exchange when the bell rang.

Round Thirteen.

They clinched as soon as possible, backed way and clinched again, and in both instances Greb landed the most effectively. Greb advanced with a body attack and landed with both fists to the body finding Wilson very willing to mix. They mixed again until Wilson clinched. Johnny threw both fists into Greb's stomach and they exchanged pretty evenly until Greb shot a left uppercut to the jaw. Now Greb held with his left and punched with his right, but Wilson came back with his body punching and they had a desperate exchange in a neutral corner, which the gong stopped.

Round Fourteen.

Wilson's supporters shouted for him to do something but he was averse and they sparred for a moment before clinching. Greb gained a few points in that encounter and then hooked a hard right to the head and followed with a hard left to the body. They pounded each other's body in a clinch and then Wilson landed a hard left to the kidneys. Wilson began to bore in but he did it slothfully and Greb had one arm around his neck and was pounding with the other before the champion could get going. They were fighting at the bell.

Round Fifteen.

Greb lurched with a right, and Wilson clinched. Greb lurched again and Wilson landed both fists to the body but Greb swung a hard right to the head and Wilson backed to the ropes. Wilson was wild with a lead and they half clinched. Greb met his next advance with a left to the head and when the champion next came in, Greb held with his left and smashed punishing blows with his right. Greb held with his left, Wilson's belated activity was not worth much. Greb landed his right to the jaw and then pounded both hands to the body. They clinched.

Take It Or Leave It

By BILLIE SMITH

Spudders and Buffs again today at Houston in the second game of the series.

Earl Kunz or Rip Wheeler will be on the mound for the Spudders. Kunz hasn't worked in quite a while and will probably be ready for today's game.

Eddie Dyer is due to report to The Cardinals in Chicago on Labor Day, and will probably leave at once for the big show. His victory against the Buffalos helped to square things a bit with his former team mates.

Dyer has been of much service to the the Spudders. Although not rated as a first-string pitcher, he went in and helped out when the Spudders had no one else to call upon. Dyer can help any Texas league team, either as a pitcher or as an outfielder. If played regularly at one thing all the time he would soon become a star.

Red Ostergard increased his string of homers yesterday to 19, which puts him two in front of Buddy Tarner for runner up honors in the matter of four baser. Ostergard also won a game with his blow, as three men were on bases at the time, and Brewer pitching for the Gassers allowed only one more safetly and that a single by Devinney. However Brewer walked nine batters.

The Spudders with a victory over Houston and Dallas by reason of a loss to Beaumont separated themselves a game and a half. Meanwhile San Antonio won from Fort Worth and retained their lead over the Spudders which amounts to one-half game.

Big Ed Stauter, now pitching for Hartford in the Eastern league, helped his new team to win four games last week. Stauffer won two games without any aid, while his relief work accounted for two more.

Irving Vaughn of the Chicago Tribune writing about the White Sox has the following to say about Teddy Lyons, a former Baylor University lad, who reported some time back, only to be injected by an infected elbow: "Ted is a giant for speed and control." In the few chances that Lyons had before he went out of the game because of a hard fall on his pitching arm he showed up well.

Seems like the Spudders will finish high in he league race after all. They now have a margin of a game and a half over the Steers, while the Beats are just one-half game above the Spudders. The Bears have two more games with the Panthers, and following that they take the road for the remainder of the season. While on the other hand the Spudders will finish the season at home, playing 14 games.

All this season the Bears have been at al Bears at home, but on the road they do not look so good. If they fall down in their last 14 games, and the Spudders continue the pace they are now setting, nothing will keep Wichita Falls out of second place. Of course Dallas must be counted in, but Dallas doesn't do much better at home than on the road.

Beaumont, n and Houston continue to fight it for first place in second division. During the past week each of these teams have made a trip to the top of the second half.

OFFICERS TAKE CAR NEAR BURK

Packard Car Abandoned in Chase Found With False Number Plate

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Aug 31.—Thursday night local officers H. L. Francis, Deputy Constable, and J. S. Donehoe, Electra, deputy on motorcycle, chased a speading car, going west about three miles from Burkburnett from their station near Fairview school house. At the fourth mile the three men in the speeding car abandoned it made for a grain field, and disappeared, followed by several shots from the ofifcers, who began shooting even before the car slowed; though the men jumped from the car before it came to a standstill, 300 yards from the officers. As yet the men have not been caught though the officers are working on the case.

Serial Number Changed.

The abandoned car proved to be a Packard and was brought into the city under the care of Constable H. L. White, who is in charge of the case. J. W. Bailey, living 10 miles south of the city in Farmers Valley, brought in the first bale of cotton of the season Thursday. The cotton was ginned by the P. P. Turner gin, and weighed 350 pounds. A premium of $45.50 was subscribed by the business men of the city and presented to Bailey, after a price of 23 cents.

The first bale last year was ginned Aug. 15, two weeks earlier, but considering the number of times the cotton crop was rained and hailed out in this section, this is a good record. The cotton crop is going to be much better than was first expected.

Texas' Half Million Motor Vehicles Exceeds Auto Total Of Canada

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Texas in 1922 had 326,238 motor vehicles, the Automotive section of the department of commerce today announced. Although a census now would show that the number has greatly increased, the figures are especially interesting for that year in view of a motor vehicle census of the world for 1922 which has just been completed by the department of commerce.

The census shows that in 1922 Texas had more motor vehicles than Canada. Or to make it more interesting there were exactly 144,645 more motor vehicles in Texas in 1922 than there were combined in Germany, Italy, Sweden, Japan, China, Russia, the Netherlands and Greece. These eight countries had 381,593 automobiles to Texas' 326,238.

The total number of automobiles in the entire world in 1922 was 15,515,326. Of these 12,567,376 are in the United States.

Here are how some of the nation's compare with the 326,236 motor vehicles in Texas:

France 341,871; Germany, 166,623; Austria, 15,203; Mexico, 23,650; Poland, 6,600; Spain, 45,000; Netherlands, 47,740; Gold Coast, 294; Russia, 13,000; Canada, 519,383; Italy, 86,200; Australia, 113,908; Argentina, 80,000; Belgium, 56,300; China, 7,113; Greece, 5,480; Japan, 19,279; Sweden, 45,748; United Kingdom, 833,640; Denmark, 36,681; Cuba, 34,050.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—An unexpectedly low report on crop conditions and prospects by the department of agriculture, threw the cotton market into a state of intense excitement early this afternoon. The condition figures of 54.1 and the crop indication of 10,788,000 bales were evidently below anything looked for and there was a jump in prices which carried December contracts up to 25.27, or fully a cent a pound above Thursday's closing quotation. December closed at 25.02 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 70 to 80 points.

The market had shown considerable firmness before the official crop figures were issued. October had advanced to 25.60 before the end of the morning and almost immediately following the appearance of the crop figures sold at 25.15, later reaching 25.35 on active general buying. March, meanwhile, advanced to 25.05, making net advances of 100 to 108 points on the active positions and of 150 to 160 points from recent low levels. The more urgent demand created by the bullish crop figures then appeared to have been supplied and last prices showed reactions of some 25 to 30 points under realizing.

Exports today 11,210, making 201,202 so far this season. Port receipts 26,886. U. S. Port stocks 225,650.

Receipts amounted to 2,500 head of cattle and 1,000 calves. The yearlings were choice enough to sell at $8, moderately decent steers ranged up to $7, and two cars of cows notched $4.85. Good cattle sold around $6.50 and $7.

Most of the day's receipts of 700 head cleared at a range of $9 to 9.25. Pigs gained 25 cents, desirable stockers selling freely at 6.50.

On sheep the market was quotably unchanged. Receipts amounted to 2,000 head. Some feeder lambs of fairly good quality brought 10.50.

Cotton Crop Crashes Nearly Million Bales

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Drouth in Oklahoma and Texas, excessive rains in the southeast, the boll weevil and the leaf worm caused a marked decline during August in the condition of the cotton crop, the department of agriculture announced today in placing the indicated crop at 10,788,000 bales as compared with a forecast of 11,516,000 bales as of July 25. The condition August 25 was estimated at 54.1 per cent of normal as compared with 67.2 per cent one month earlier, and the indicated yield per acre dropped from 143.9 pounds to 134.8.

The condition of 42 per cent of normal in Georgia reflected the extent of weevil damage in that state, it was said, while the drop from a condition of 82 per cent July 25 to 71 August 25 in North Carolina revealed the first severe effects of the pest this year in that state.

Prevalence of the army worm, leaf worm and other insects in addition to the boll weevil also was reported to be causing considerable damage throughout the cotton states.

The condition on August 25, in percentage of a normal and the forecast of production in thousands of bales by principal states are:

Virginia 93 and 50; North Carolina 71 and 885; South Carolina 57 and 708; Georgia 42 and 827; Florida 30 and 17; Alabama 52 and 828; Mississippi 43 and 858; Louisiana 53 and 361; Texas 55 and 3,722; Arkansas 57 and 948; Tennessee 64 and 415; Missouri 67 and 193; Oklahoma 46 and 791; California 88 and 45; Arizona 90 and 83; New Mexico 88 and 59.

Cheerful Tone Seen By Bradstreet's Weekly Review

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

There are more cross currents visible in trade, crop and industry and business operations generally have reflected the desire to make the most of the last week of the vacation season, but the more cheerful tone recently noted continues apparently unabated. On the favorable side of the picture are moderate gains in fall buying at some western markets and also eastern points where cotton and tobacco marketing has begun at good prices; continued strength of commodity prices, more buying of steel and added strength in pig iron and scrap material prices, a better tone in cotton goods, accompanied by predictions of increased operations at mills after Labor day, and maintenance of the strength shown in the stock market.

Weekly bank clearings $5,582,807,000.

Raw Sugar More Active.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The raw sugar market was more active today and there was a further advance of 1-8 cent in quotations with Cubas now quoted at 4 1-2 cents, cost and freight, equal to 6.28 for centrifugal. Sales included 18,000 bags of Philippine Island due September 16 at 6.22 for centrifugal and 200,000 bags of Cubas, 3,500 bags of St. Croix and 21,000 bags of Porto Ricos at 6.28, for prompt and first half September shipment.

The raw sugar futures market was easy, lowest prices showing decline of four to seven points. Closing: September 4.44; March 3.81; and May 3.89.

Cottonseed Oil.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Cottonseed oil was active and strong today. Prices advanced 18 to 43 points through covering of shorts on the bullish government report on cotton, sharp rise in hog products and the strength displayed in all competing articles. Realizing sales brought about a set back near the close, net gains being 7 to 35 points. Sales were 25,500 barrels. Crude and seed were higher. Prime crude 9.12 1-2 bid; prime summer yellow spot 11.25 @11.35; September 11.25; December 9.79; March 9.91, all bid.

WHEAT LOSES EARLY SUPPORT

European News of Bullish Character Causes Opening Firmness

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, August 31.—European news of a bullish character, along with higher cables and strength in the hog market gave a firm tone to the wheat market today. Toward the close however, support fell off and values failed to retain advances established earlier in the day. At the finish, wheat was unchanged to 1-4 cent lower with December 1.04 7-8 to 1.05 and May 1.10 3-4 to 1.10 7-8; corn was up 1-8 to 1 1-8 cents, oats 1-8 to 1 cent higher, and provisions gained 5 to 15 cents.

Corn was firm with the September delivery leading the upturn, the strength in the cash market being an influence to some extent. Buying was scattered with some profit taking on the advance.

Buying by a leading cash interest was a helpful factor in the oats market.

Provisions were higher on inactive trade.

Constructive Factors At Work in Pre-Holiday Market

Features.

High 1923, 90.63; low 76.78.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Constructive factors were at work in today's stock market with the result that prices stiffened considerably after an early period of heaviness. Trading, however, was of the usual quiet, pre-holiday character.

Morning paper reports of warlike preparations on the part of Italy against Greece and predictions that Governor Pinchot's proposal would not be accepted by both parties to the miners' wage dispute brought a fairly large volume of selling orders into the market at the opening, the recessions running as high as four points. These offerings were well absorbed, however, and within half an hour the market was pointed upward again.

The rally did not assume very extensive proportions, however, until the announcement was made of the resumption of full diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States, which was followed by moderate buying demonstrations in the stocks of companies interested in Mexican properties, and the bonds of the Mexican government itself. This announcement, which was followed by a report that the miners had accepted the Pinchot plan as a basis for further negotiations and that the operators, while objecting to the 10 per cent wage increase, would accept it on condition that an agreement putting it into effect over a long term of years be effected, imparted a firm tone to the rest of the list.

BURK BOY SWIPES BLACKSMITH'S TOOLS

The desire of a Burkburnett boy to rave a workshop all his own caused him to break into a blacksmith shop in that city and steal about $40 worth of tools.

Juvenile Officer Bralley was called to clear up the theft and located the boy and the tools Friday morning.

INJURED WHEN AUTO SKIDS OFF ROAD

Marion Woody of this city, was painfully injured at 9 o'clock Thursday night when an automobile in which he and two others were riding skidded from the road and turned over into a ditch. Woody's leg was mangled and he sustained other bruises about the face and body. The other occupants of the car were unhurt. The accident occurred five miles southeast of Bowie on the Fruitland road. Woody is being treated at a local hospital.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Countess Antoinette Khevenhuller Metsach, a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of Austria, has designed a banknote which has been accepted by the ministry of finance in that country.

Banknote designing has become a new profession for ladies who are forced by changed conditions since the world war into earning their own livelihoods. Fortunately for them the masculine banking world finds their ideas of decorative banking acceptable.

The manner in which so many of the former aristocratic and moneyed classes of the old world have met their reverses of fortune and used their talents to make names for themselves in the business world is especially appealing to us of the new world. It reminds us once more that in spite of artificial class distinctions we are all just humans underneath—poets and peasants, workers and kings—all display the "one touch of nature that makes the whole world kin."

HOME OF ANNIE LAURIE TO BE SOLD

Craigdarroch, the home of Annie Laurie, is for sale. It was at Craigdarroch that the real Annie Laurie lived after she was married to Alexander Fergusson, the prosperous laird she chose in preference to Douglas of Fingland, who wrote the song that made her famous.

BAND TO SAVE THE HILLS

To aid in preventing the ruthless destruction of wild flowers, loss by fire, pollution of streams and littering of picnic grounds and camp sites, a "Hill and Mountain club" has recently been organized in Tulare county, California. The members take the following oath: "I pledge myself to leave the hills and mountains as beautiful as I find them; to observe and aid in the enforcement of all measures intended to preserve their natural features, and to respect private property and the rights of others."

SAN ANTONIO—Ten new street cars have been ordered by the Public Service company for use here. They are modern light weight double truck cars and will seat 48 persons each.

Cantwell and Bryant Plan Strict Enforcement of Attendance Law

A strict enforcement of the compulsory school law will be in effect the coming school season in Wichita Falls and Wichita county, as a result of an agreement reached by Dr. Cantwell, superintendent of the city schools here, and Burl Bryant, county school superintendent, who have confegred with Juvenile Officer Bralley.

These officials have agreed that no infraction of the attendance law will be allowed and that parents, employees and school children will be made to conform to the laws to the letter, it was announced Friday.

Must Attend 100 Days.

According to the compulsory school law, every child who is eight years of age and not more than 14 must attend school 100 days. The limit has been 60 days, but the minimum has been raised to 100. Only those students who attend a parochial or private school or who have a private tutor will be exempt from attending public school.

The law states excuses for absence of pupils will only be accepted in cases of personal sickness, death in the family quarantine or weather conditions which makes it impossible for the pupil to reach the school building. Firms are not allowed to employ pupils within the compulsory age during school hours. Parents are held responsible for their children's attendance at school. A fine of $10 for each offense with every day's violation a new offense will be made on parents and employes. Guardians assume the same status as parents, the statute says.

Five Counties Plan Exhibits

Counties that have already notified County Agent Guy Jones they are assembling exhibits for the Texas-Oklahoma fair are Baylor, Wilbarger and Clay in Texas and Tillman and Jackson in Oklahoma.

A number of other counties are expected to send in reservations soon for exhibit space, County Agent Jones says. Wichita county will have an exhibit, but will not compete for any of the prizes. All prize winners will be outside counties.

Old Home Town Stuff

THINGS YOU SAY, DO AND SEE AND SOME YOU DON'T

Of 67 persons appearing in Justice R. V. Gwinn's court since last Monday 50 were women. The popular saying that women are rapidly supplanting men in every walk of life seems to be without exception.

Sergeant R. T. Hammond in charge of the local army recruiting office in the courthouse basement Friday sent Clarence Lewis and Frank Goodwin to the army camps at San Antonio.

What more could the fat men and hot weather boosters ask. August gone and a good rain to "boot."

Divorce suits still keep pace with marriage licenses. That explains the excess of grass widows. But leaves the question of why there are so many bachelors still a problem.

Labor day coming up and newspaper men, policemen and hotel clerks the only ones who will observe the term literally.

A leading Wichita Falls afternoon daily comes out with a front page July 4 cartoon Friday. It is not two months late but ten months early.

The July 4 cartoon in August shows the speed of the modern age. For example you can get a Saturday Evening Post on Thursday.

Probably interviews with Henry Ford's wife as to how she is going to fix up the White House two years from now will be printed before long. We repeat this is a last ago.

Speaking of the fast age reminds us that the early bird gets the worm. Inversely the early worm, probably paradoxically, always gets caught.

Chief Hodgins says there is no rest for the wicked and the traffic violators are out of luck after today.

When the police chief said there was no rest for the wicked he explained to Town Stuff he had been working day and night for two weeks.

One more week of freedom for the school kids.

Labor day is offering a Masonic picnic a monster Legion-Labor parade, a number of boxing events and a number of the local Kiwanians will attend the district convention at Mineral Wells.

Frank Reid who has been stationed at the local Texas company offices will have charge of the company office at Holliday beginning next Tuesday.

Three nights and not a store burglarized.

George Garner, whose writings about Bloody Gulch, which appeared in "Pep," the house "sheet of The Perkins-Tinsley-Lake company, gave him quite a local reputation as a humorist, has resigned his position. He has left for the Pacific Coast to engage in other work. The current issue of "Pep" gives Mr. Garner a farewell sendoff which shows the high esteem in which he was held by the company and its employes.

FOOD WARNING BY DOUGLASS

Watch Mouldy Canned Goods and Vegetables for Botulism

Wichitans are warned by Dr. H. Douglass, city health officer, to be on their guard with the coming of rainy weather in regard to moldy canned goods and vegetables because of the possibility of botulism germs, a disease very similar to ptomaine poisoning.

Dr. Douglass states health officers all over the United States are watching to prevent botulism epidemics. Botulism germs produce their poison in foods imperfectly preserved or that have been sealed in air proof receptacles. The health officer warns the housewife to take no chances with canned goods with contents covered with a ring of mold.

Watch These Foods.

The following products are designated by Dr. Douglass as those which will bear watching this season of the year:

String beans, home canned and commercially canned; corn, home canned and commercially canned; asparagus, home canned; apricots, home canned, pears, home canned; spinach, home canned and commercially canned; beets, home canned and commercially packed; liquor, home brewed, from old home-canned products; cottage cheese, home prepared; pickled mackeral and herring, home preserved; ham, home cured and commercially cured; sausage, home prepared and commercially prepared; salt pork, home cured; and beef products, home prepared; minced olive relish, commercially canned; ripe olives, commercially pickeled and bottled; pork and beans, commercially canned; tomato catsup, commercially bottled; clam juice, commercially bottled; tuna fish, commercially canned; evaporated milk, commercially canned; and minced chicken, commercially prepared.

Spoilage, due to botulism germs, Dr. Douglass says, cannot always be determined by the appearance or odor of the food.

RING THE FIRE BELL ON THIS!

Another City Hall Girl On Honeymoon

How can a member of the fire department who has to stay on the job 24 hours a day and has to remain at a close range to the station day and night ever find time to woo, win and wed?

The answer to this question is to have the city hall adjoin the fire station where the fireboys can be in the latter building and at the same time close enough not to get left when the gong rings.

In the city hall, despite the fact that unattached sheiks like Dave May chief of detectives, and John Thomason, desk sergeant, abound there, are also women deputies. Women deputies are noted among other things for their pulchritude. The fire boys while waiting for fires have successfully found that Daniel Cupid is not to be cheated.

That's why Miss Violeina Rice, favorite of the deputies at the city hall because she was the only remaining one not married, did not show up for work Friday.

Thurston "Sugar" Hardwick who sits behind the wheel and guides the big Stutz fire engine to the fire, by remarkable coincidence, did not show up either. Such a matter could not remain unnoticed, for long and the fire boys and the city hall bunch began to speculate.

"They are gone."

"Yes," and both at the same time. Bet they are married."

These were some of the remarks floating about the fire station and the city hall.

It was a fact.

"Sugar's" brother got a message that the wedding had taken place and the two were off to Stamford on their honeymoon. The marriage license records at the courthouse verified the wedding beyond a doubt.

"Well, that makes six of the fire boys married and six not. The bachelors were in the majority until "Sugar" stepped off. There will be more weddings around here if they hire some more single girls at the city hall," one of the fire boys commented.

This is the second fire department—city hall marriage alliance in the last six weeks. Miss Rice was the third and last of the single girls at the city hall to get married in the last two months.
