HIGH WINDS GET CARPORT ROOF
James R. Johnson house at 2007 Morrison damaged.

TWISTERS REPORTED

Damaging Winds Hit City, North Howard Gets Rain

Big Spring was battered by roaring winds and subjected to a frightening electrical display Monday night as clouds rolled in from the north to dump an average of a half-inch of rain on the city.

Some damage from winds was reported.

The blow seemed more severe in the southeast part of the city where a roof was blown from a carport and numerous television antennas collapsed. There was considerable debate whether the damaged area suffered from a particularly severe gust of straight wind or if a small twister may possibly have swooped down on the section.

Tornadoes were spotted in the general Big Spring district during the storm but other than for the damage reported in the city proper and a report of a telephone pole or two twisted to earth near Hamlin's Corner, there was no confirmation of the presence of actual tornadoes.

Rainfall in the area was general and sharply varied as to quantity. It ranged from mere sprinkles in the southwest part of the county to more than two inches in other sections.

In Big Spring, the official measurement at the U.S. Experiment Station was .49 inch. Two miles east, at the Texas Electric Service Company switch station, .67 inch fell. Here in town at the power plant, only .33 inch was measured. Webb AFB had only .3 inch. Other guages in various parts of town showed precipitation ranging from a quarter to half an inch.

Webb AFB reported that the wind guage at the base showed peak velocity of gusts at 40.4 miles per hour.

Brilliant lightning and heavy thunder ushered in th storm. Electric service was interrupted several times during the evening but TESCO said that none of the interruptions was of long duration. The company said that the electrical storm caused widespread disruption of service for brief intervals all over the district.

The rain in Big Spring began around 8 p.m. and fell with irregular persistence through 10:30 p.m. The main deluge which accounted for the bulk of the precipitation here occurred in a brief interval around 9 o'clock.

Motorists who were out in the storm reported that water was "running board deep" on Fourth street for a short time.

Ralph Proctor, county commissioner, said that he passed a telephone pole near Hamlin's Corner which appeared to have been literally twisted to earth rather than blown down. He said that in the area five miles south of Vealmoor, there was 1.3 inches of rain and hail enough to cover the ground. In the same area where the telephone pole had fallen, limbs had been whipped from trees.

Arthur Stallings, whose home is in the extreme southeast corner of the county, said that only a sprinkle of rain fell and while there was strong wind there was no reported damage.

Ackerly had 1.3 inches of rain and four miles south the rainfall was the same. Four miles north, 1.8 inches rain was reported.

Lamesa reported 1.4 inches of rain. Other parts of Dawson County had as much as two inches. Average for the entire county was estimated at near an inch.

Snyder reported 1.2 inches of rain and Colorado City had .28 inch. Morgan Creek rainfall was a bare .10 of an inch.

Chalk reported three quarters of an inch and Eskota had .22.

The Big Spring - Odessa intake station to Lake J. B. Thomas recorded an inch and a half.

W. B. Dunn, Forsan, said that rainfall there measured .9. A mile east at the Amerada camp, an inch and a half fell. Dunn said small hail accompanied the rain and that a "terrific wind" blew. There was no extensive damage.

Mrs. J. W. Kilpatrick at the Kilpatrick store in Luther reported her guage recorded 1.1 inch and she said the precipitation was heavier to the north. Mrs. Edward Simpson, who lives north of Luther, said 1.5 inches fell at the Simpson place and that at the Seaboard camp, four and one half miles northeast, better than two inches of rain fell. East of that point the precipitation diminished.

Moss Creek Lake area had .4 inch of rain and a 4 to 5 inch raise in water level. Lake Powell had a .9 inch rainfall but no measureable increase in water level.

Gail community had 1.75 inches of rain and some light hail.

Iatan reported 1.3 inches precipitation.

From Lake Thomas came the estimate that the current dampness had added 5,000 acre feet of water to the reserves in that reservoir.

Elbow had only a sprinkle to report.

From Garden City the report was high winds, dust and lightning.

Lightning set grass on fire on the Bill Currie Ranch. The fire was located in Section 26. Extent of the damage was not immediately available.

Elevation of Lake Colorado City was reported at 2,066.20.

As of noon Tuesday, Lake J. B. Thomas had risen to elevation 2,253.30, an increase of .74 of a foot. This meant that the catch was better than 5,000 acre feet so far, and that substantially more was coming in. Since 8 a.m. the lake had been rising steadily at .03 of a foot per hour, and there was no sign of let up at noon. Rains, although not torrential, were general over most of the lake basin, and hence the runoff into the lake could continue through most of Tuesday. Since May 1, the lake level has increased 1.62 feet, adding better than 11,000 acre feet or nearly four billion gallons of water. The level is still well under last year's all time peak of 2,255.77 and at noon Tuesday was 4.7 feet under service spillway level.

Winds, Lightning Batter Lamesa, Good Rains Fall

LAMESA — High winds toppled fences and signs; rains shorted out 600 telephones; and lightning touched off a fire that consumed a farm home near here last night.

These were highlights of a violent thunderstorm which turned up an almost constant flash of lightning and steady cannonading of thunder.

There were unconfirmed reports of a twister about 10 miles south of town. F. E. Brown telephoned that a Mrs. Garrett lost several out-buildings to violent wind.

Hail was light in town but between Lamesa and Patricia, several cars had headlights shelled out by the stones about 7:30 p.m.

During a downpour which left 1.1 inches in the official gauge south of town and 2.50 in one at North 11th and Bryan Streets in northern Lamesa, a bolt of lightning crashed into the KPET radio tower at 7:10 p.m. and put the station off the air for 40 minutes.

Lightning also was credited with setting fire to the home of Jess O'Brien, four miles northeast of Lamesa on the Lubbock highway. The home and contents were destroyed at 9 p.m. O'Brien is a cook in a local cafe.

General Telephone Company officials said that 600 phones were put out of commission. Six repairmen toiled all night and by midmorning Tuesday had service restored on 300 lines.

Most of the rural area of Dawson County got from an inch and a quarter of 1.5 inches of moisture. Virtually all areas received enough, especially where appreciable showers fell a week ago, to hazard planting of cotton.

Storms Rake West Texas

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes, hail and rains slashed across scattered sections of West Texas Monday night. One small twister at Andrews damaged three houses and injured one person.

The Weather Bureau said the turbulent weather was brewed by a low pressure trough that lay across the state.

The Andrews twister hit the southwest part of town and houses belonging to Charles Roberts Jr., W. T. Davis and Mrs. Jax McCailey. She was cut by flying glass.

The tornado put the city police radio out of operation and disrupted power and telephone service.

At Lamesa rain, high winds and hail knocked a radio station off the air for 40 minutes. One inch or so of rain fell.

Hail ranging up to an inch in diameter turned some lawns white at Lubbock. Rain flooded streets and stalled cars.

High winds unroofed one house and damaged a garage and power lines at Aspermont. Half an inch of rain fell. Farm buildings near Brownfield were damaged by high winds. Rain and high winds were also reported at Snyder.

Reports told of a tornado about 20 miles north of Big Spring. Tornado and thunderstorm warnings were issued for a large sector of West Texas and eastern New Mexico Monday night but the danger period passed without further reports of damage.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 57 degrees at Amarillo to 74 at Galveston.

Johnson, Shivers Lead Delegations

Last-Minute Rush Greets Filing Deadline

AUSTIN (AP)—A last-day flurry of filings put three Dallas men and a Wacoan in the race for attorney general yesterday.

Filing fees were paid by Ross Carlton and Curtis Hill, Dallas lawyers. Carlton, head of the pro-segregation Texas Citizens Council, is expected to base his campaign on a vigorous stand against racial integration.

Supreme Coort Justice Will Wilson of Dallas and Dist. Atty. Tom Moore Jr. are the other candidates for attorney general.

Agriculture Commissioner John White filed a few hours before the midnight deadline. He drew two last-minute opponents.

They are Bill Jones, Kermit nurseryman, and Jim Barber of Wylie, who said he didn't think much of the way White has operated the department. Barber said his opinion was based on personal observation as one of White's employes from 1951 until Thursday, when he resigned.

Ralph Yarborough, Austin attorney, and J. J. Holmes, Austin contractor, paid their filing fees to boost the field of gubernatorial candidates in the July 28 Democratic primary to six.

Others in the state's top race will be Sen. Price Daniel of Liberty, Dallas insurance man W. Lee O'Daniel, former House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, and cowboy-historian rancher J. Evetts Haley of Canyon.

Two civil appeals court judges will bid for Place 3 on the Supreme Court, the post Wilson is leaving. They are Justice Robert Hughes of the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals at Austin, and Justice James Norvell of the 4th Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio.

Other candidates:

Lieutenant governor: Ben Ramsey, San Augustine, incumbent; Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., Paris; C. T. Johnson, Austin; John Smith, Lubbock.

Treasurer: Jesse James, Austin, incumbent; Warren Harding, Dallas.

Congressman-at-large: Martin Dies, Lufkin, incumbent; Bill Elkins, Dallas.

Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals: W. A. Morrison, Cameron, incumbent; Jesse Owens, Vernon.

Other unopposed congressmen are Joe Kilgore, District 15; Clark Thompson, 17; Albert Thomas, 8; George Mahon, 19; Walter Rogers, 18; W. R. Poage, 11; and O. C. Fisher, San Angelo District.

Dan Kralis, Abilene oil consultant, is opposing Omar Burleson's bid for re-election.

J. T. Rutherford of Odessa, incumbent from the 16th District, is opposed by William Blanton, Odessa attorney, a former Shackelford County judge. Blanton is the son of Thomas L. Blanton of Albany, congressman from 1916 to 1936.

BALLOT CLOSES

Hardesty Files For Demo Office

Four more candidates for office filed their names with J. W. Purser, Democratic chairman, Monday and the lists were closed at midnight.

Frank Hardesty, Big Spring druggist, officially filed his name as candidate for county Democratic chairman, Monday afternoon. Purser, present chairman, had announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election, Hardesty has been the Lyndon Johnson campaign leader for the county.

Other late filings included:

J. W. Patton and A. F. Hill, both for Constable, Precinct 1.

R. M. Wheeler, commissioner, precinct 1.

Purser said next stey of importance to the candidates will be the determination by the county committee of the pro rata cost each is to be assessed for election expenses.

For a number of county candidates, the closing of the filing period brought assurance of their return, unopposed, to the offices they now hold.

No opposition to Guilford Jones, district attorney, appeared on the scene.

Other candidates who have no opponents include Harvey Hooser Jr., county attorney; Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax assessor; Obie Bristow, state representative; Walter Grice, justice of peace, Precinct 1; and Grover Coates, constable, Precinct 2.

Political interest in the ensuing campaign will be largely centered on the race for sheriff and the contest for commissioner in Precinct 3 and Precinct 1.

Demo Meeting Slated Tonight

Backers of Sen. Lyndon Johnson for Texas delegation leader to the national Democratic convention appeared Tuesday to be in firm control of the situation as time for the county convention neared at 7:30 p.m. today in the district courtroom.

Filings at the office of County Clerk Pauline Petty indicated that control of the convention was solidly in hands of the senator's supporters. Box No. 16 had gone overwhelmingly for Gov. Allan Shivers and in No. 3 and No. 4 disputes arose over the conventions.

Shivers forces named a delegation in No. 4, but Johnson backers held a rump session. Johnson backers claimed that when a motion to adjourn failed, these previous action in naming a Shivers slate had been undone. However, without the two disputed boxes, Johnson backers held a substantial working majority.

Rivals Quickly Approved For State Meeting

By The Associated Press

Faction leaders Lyndon Johnson and Allan Shivers were quickly approved as delegation chairmen to the State Democratic convention at early county conventions Tuesday morning.

Johnson claimed a 4-1 defeat of Shivers in Saturday's precinct conventions. County sessions today were expected to follow the trend.

Johnson met with his ranch country neighbors in Blanco County convention and was promptly named to head the three-vote delegation to the May 22 state convention in Dallas. He also was boosted in resolutions for leader of the state delegation to the national convention and as a "favorite son" presidential nominee.

The Senate majority leader said he hoped the unanimity of the Blanco County convention would be the "forerunner" of harmony and unity at Dallas.

Shivers was named chairman of the Gregg County delegation in Longview although he does not maintain a home there. One of the other 11 state delegates will be Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater.

In address to the crowd of about 100, Shepperd urged that a petition of 140,000 names be brought to the state convention asking that a referendum on interposition be included on the first Democratic primary ballot in July. Shepperd said he feared the state convention—which undoubtedly will be controlled by Johnson supporters—would "sidestep" the interposition issue unless the petition was presented.

The Gregg County group also passed resolutions favoring a return of segregation and asked the attorney general to investigate the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People to determine if any state laws are being violated.

In Hockley County the 4-vote delegation was instructed for Johnson as a delegation leader and as a favorite son.

In Marshall two opposing slates were named. A conservative delegation to carry Harrison County's eight votes to the state convention was instructed to support Shivers as a delegation leader and Johnson as a favorite son nominee. Johnson supporters who walked out of the meeting named a slate pledged for Johnson all the way. The conservatives also voted for an interposition referendum.

Demos Plan Assault On Power Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders were reported clearing the way today to bring the controversial Hells Canyon Dam bill before the Senate for a pre-election assault on President Eisenhower's power policies.

Party leaders were represented as ready to recommend the transfer of Sen. Long of Louisiana from the Interior to the Foreign Relations Committees in a shakeup of Democratic assignments following the death last week of Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky.

If this move gains expected approval of the Democratic Steering Committee and the Senate, Long would be replaced on the Interior Committee by an as-yet-unselected Democrat favoring a bill to authorize construction of a federal dam at Hells Canyon, on the Snake River near the Idaho-Oregon border.

Long has lined up with Republican members of the Interior group against the federal Hells Canyon project.

His stand has kept bottled up in the committee a bill which Democrats have come to regard as a symbol of their conflict with the Eisenhower administration over power policies.

The Federal Power Commission has authorized the Idaho Power Co. to build three low-level dams on the Snake. This is in line with the Eisenhower administration's policy of sharing natural resources development with private enterprise.

Although Idaho Power's permit has been challenged in the courts, the company already has begun work on two of the three dams which would flood the site of the proposed federal high dam project.

Democratic—National Chairman Paul M. Butler has called action on the Hells Canyon project vital to Democratic election prospects in the Pacific Northwest. Senators Morse (D-Ore) and Magnuson (D-Wash), two of the prime targets of Republican efforts to regain control of the Senate, are backers of the federal dam proposal.

Even its supporters don't expect the Hells Canyon bill to pass Congress this year. The House Interior Committee has bottled up an identical bill, with little present prospect of action on it.

Rocket Goes 117 Miles Into Sky

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N. M. (AP) — Navy scientists fired a new research rocket an estimated 117 miles into the New Mexico sky today, falling short of a hoped-for altitude record.

The Navy had said earlier it might hit 185 miles with the new rockets, a new record for single-stage rockets. The current record is 158.4 miles.

Dulles Expounds On Israel Arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has told U. S. allies this country will do all it can to help them send arms to Israel while maintaining its own embargo on weapons shipments to the Middle East.

France is known to be unhappy about U.S. refusal to share responsibility for France's recent sale to Israel of 12 French-built jet fighters.

Tydings May Get Chance To Get Back Senate Seat

BALTIMORE (AP)—Millard E. Tydings apparently has won a chance to regain his old seat in the Senate from the man who took it from him six years ago.

"I'm a tired boy," the 66-year-old political veteran confided early today after satisfying himself he had won in yesterday's primary election.

Nearly complete, unofficial returns gave him a narrow edge over George P. Mahoney for the Democratic nomination. Mahoney refused to admit defeat, yet, however.

Sen. John Marshall Butler won overwhelmingly in his bid for Republican renomination.

Tydings served as Senator for 24 years before his defeat in 1950 by Butler. It came shortly after a special Senate Investigating subcommittee headed by Tydings failed to substantiate charges by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Communists were in the State Department. McCarthy said the committee's report was a "whitewash."

Butler, in his campaign, supported McCarthy's stand. McCarthy supporters backed him.

In the primary campaign, neither Tydings nor Mahoney, a four-time loser in statewide contests, bore down strongly on issues or personalities. Both relied on "shoe-leather" campaigns to get out the vote.

Reports from 1,261 of 1,277 polling places gave Tydings 138,915 votes, Mahoney 131,219. Since they were tied 76-76 in nominating unit votes, similar to the Electoral College votes in presidential elections, the popular vote would be the deciding factor. This is the first unit vote tie in Maryland history.

Besides balloting in the Senate primary, the state's Democrats also threw their 18 presidential nominating votes to Sen. Estes Kefauver. But with no one running against him, Kefauver's margin was unexpectedly narrow. The opposition was an "uninstructed" delegation.

In returns from 1,147 polling places he drew 98,539 votes. More than half as many — 50,595 — were cast in favor sending the delegation to Chicago next August without commitments to any candidate.

By comparison, Kefauver received 137,885 in Maryland four years ago, and 46,361 votes were cast for an uninstructed delegation.

President Eisenhower, also unopposed in yesterday's primary, piled up 48,320 votes with 998 polling places reported. Only 2,378 Republicans voted for an uninstructed delegation.

School Board Meets Tonight

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District will meet at 7:30 p.m. today and most of their session is expected to be devoted to plans to acquaint the public with the need for additional facilities proposed in a $900,000 school bond election.

Some preliminary reports also are expected on plans for expansion of the junior high school plant, a project involved in the bond election May 15.

Of the proposed $900,000 in bonds, $510,000 is for junior high enlargement. Another $250,000 is proposed for elementary school expansion and $140,000 is earmarked for more athletic facilities, including a new stadium.

Trustees tonight will select members of the board to present diplomas to high school graduates at commencement exercises next month. Attendance and other reports will be heard. The board will meet in the school administrative offices, 100 E. 10th.

Negro Airman Gets Stay Of Execution

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Shivers granted a 30-day reprieve and stay of execution today to Marion Washington, 27, scheduled to die tonight.

The Pardons Board said it had received information it wanted to consider.

The Negro soldier was convicted of the June, 1955, fatal shooting of Airman Henry Poole of Spartanburg, S.C., while Poole was protecting his girl friend from a rape attempt.

G-C Membership Near Record High, Drive Continues

Chamber of Commerce membership is approaching an all-time high, J. H. Greene, manager, told the Round Up Club this morning.

Round Up Clubbers reported five new members this morning, and Greene predicted that Chamber membership will reach a record high by the time the club meets again in two weeks. The Round Up Club is the Chamber's membership arm.

Greene has offered a cash reward to the solicitor who secures the member that sets a record for C-C membership. The manager hasn't announced the figure that will represent the new record, but it is in the vicinity of 700.

Forty new members have been enlisted since the membership drive started about a month ago. Dues they have pledged total $957.

C-C To Circulate Airport Petitions

Petitions requesting the County Commissioners Court to order an election on the issuance of bonds to finance a new public airport were put into circulation Monday.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce took copies of the petition after a meeting at which they gave unanimous endorsement of the issue.

Efforts will be made to get wide county representation on the petitions, and these were to be turned in for compilation by May 21.

Jack Cook, chairman of the C-C aviation committee, outlined the need for prompt action in getting a decision from the people on providing facilities for commercial and private flying interests. These facilities have, in the main, been limited to Hamilton Field since Webb Air Force Base was activated and took over the former municipal airport.

Cook said while the matter of location had been discussed unofficially, no specific decision could be made until a public body had authority to proceed. Preliminary surveys had narrowed down to sites east of the city, off Highway 80 and near the Moss Creek Lake. Others have been considered on the Snyder Highway, and more lately, west of town. In any event, Cook said, final selection will have to be with approval of the Air Space Subcommittee, which speaks for such interests as the Air Force, the Civil Aeronautics Board, commercial aviation lines, and others interested in the air lanes.

This location would be contingent upon safety provisions.

The petitions call for an issue of $400,000, "the proceeds of which would be used for purchasing lands in Howard County and for constructing, maintaining, improving and equipping such lands as an airport for the use of civil and commercial aviation."

The airport project has been a major Chamber project for the past two years, and preliminary surveys have shown, said Cook, that a Class A facility can be improved for the sum requested.

Most Of U. S. Remains Dry

By The Associated Press

There were a few wet spots but dry weather prevailed in most of the nation today.

Widely scattered showers and rain continued throughout the Pacific Northwest. The wet belt extended into California and northern Nevada but appeared diminishing.

Another band of rain extended along the central and southern sections of the Atlantic Coast.

Showers and thunderstorms hit areas in southeast Oklahoma and northwest Texas. Falls were generally light. A small tornado struck Andrews, in West Texas, yesterday, injuring one woman and damaging three homes.

Heaviest rainfall yesterday was from Virginia southward into Florida, with falls ranging from around half an inch in most areas to 1.03 inches at Clewiston, Fla.

It was a little cooler from the Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Biggest temperature drops were from the Ohio Valley eastward to the middle Atlantic Coast.

Methodists Heading Home After Meeting

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Methodists headed home today after charting some far-reaching, new frontiers for their big denomination.

The church's law-making General Conference, held every four years, ended yesterday.

In 13 days of sessions, the delegates had taken these major steps:

1. Adopted procedures permitting integration of the church's racially segregated administrative structure.

2. Extended full clergy rights to women.

3. Allotted a million dollars to set up a School of International Service in Washington, D. C., to train government diplomats and other foreign-service personnel.

4. Approved establishment of two new theological seminaries, one in Ohio and one in the Kansas-Nebraska-Missouri area, and the expansion of 10 others.

5. Set up fund-raising machinery to provide an additional 48 million dollars to strengthen the 116 church-related colleges and universities in the next four years.

6. Embarked on a broad program for stimulating work of local churches in their social and religious influences in their home communities.

7. Strongly condemned legalized liquor as a spreading menace to the health and welfare of Americans.

8. Gave official sanction to birth control.

9. Upped the church's main missionary budget from 30 to 49 million dollars to advance Christianity at home and abroad.

In the final, hard-working session yesterday, delegates plowed through some 200 legislative actions, most of them of an administrative nature.

On perhaps the most controversial item on the last day's agenda—a move to liberalize the church's regulations on marriages of divorced persons—the conference postponed any action.

The final session also adopted a resolution opposing any government laws requiring "loyalty oaths" from churches.

The Rev. Everett W. Palmer of Glendale, Calif., urged the resolution, saying California had such a law, and similar laws were being pressed in other states.

The big issue at the conference was the church's segregated jurisdictional system, and after days of debate, delegates agreed almost unanimously on the voluntary procedure for bringing white and Negro churches into the same groupings.

Marine Shake-Up Brings Resentment

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—The Marine Corps' shuffling of its training program, brought on by the drowning here of six young recruits, has resulted in a drastic shakeup and some deep resentment at this depot.

The recruit training program, the primary mission of Parris Island, has been taken over by Brig. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., and the commanding general, normally a major general, has been reduced to command of a handful of service troops.

Greene, who is reporting directly to Gen. Randolph Pate, Marine commandant, said the new command setup would last indefinitely.

There is deep resentment among drill instructors and junior officers over the transfer of Maj. Gen. J. C. Burger to Camp Lejeune, N. C., which Pate ordered last week.

The feeling here is that Burger, who was assistant division commander of the 1st Marine Division in the last year of fighting in Korea, has been made "the goat" of the so-called "death march" of April 8.

It was on that date that S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon of Worcester, Mass., marched a recruit platoon into a dark, tidal marshland and the six men were drowned.

McKeon is now in the brig here awaiting a trial by court-martial, probably about the end of May, on charges of manslaughter.

In addition to the command shakeup, the Marines have ordered 34 officers from other bases to report here as observers and supervisors. The Corps also is transferring 116 noncommissioned officers to this post to undergo training as drill instructors.

Greene said that 10 of the 34 officers would be assigned as inspectors of recruit training and would "have the authority to go anywhere, day or night, especially night." If they found anything wrong, Greene explained, "they would take it up with the senior officer present. They will not get between the D-I and the platoon."

Already the drill instructors and some of the officers here are referring openly to the inspectors as "sneaky petes," i.e., spies.

Greene, meanwhile, has told the present drill instructors that under no conditions will they lay a hand on a recruit except to demonstrate posture or military movements. Nine drill instructors have been court-martialed here for maltreatment of recruits since Jan. 1, 1955, and three others are under arrest for "thumping," or striking, recruits.

100 Children Hurt In Train Accident

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — More than 100 schoolchildren and teachers were injured yesterday when their baseball excursion train was wrecked in a collision with a loaded gravel truck.

The diesel locomotive remained on the tracks, but 10 of the 16 cars hurtled off the rails. The train was carrying 907 pupils and their adult escorts from Portage in south central Wisconsin to Milwaukee for a Milwaukee-Brooklyn baseball game.

A total of 104 persons were admitted to two hospitals. Thirty-seven, 23 of them children, remained overnight. None were listed in critical condition.

The truck driver, Gordon Hinckley, 35, Wales, Wis., suffered compound fractures of both legs and internal injuries but was listed in "fair" condition.

The crash occurred at the Duplainville crossing, five miles north of here and 23 miles west of Milwaukee.

Engineer George Ives, 56, Oconomowoc, said the truck "hit the first coach so hard that gravel was thrown over the coaches. That car was struck so hard that it went off the track first, causing derailment of the other nine coaches."

Ives said the crossing is designated as a 70 m.p.h. zone and that he had slowed down to that speed.

The first 10 coaches veered off the rails, tearing up 1,500 feet of track. Two cars lay on their sides when they came to a rest.

"I just heard a bump," said Violet Groskreutz, a 14-year-old pupil from Westfield in Columbia County.

"The next thing I knew, we tipped over."

The little brown-haired girl was one of those detained in the hospital here with cuts and bruises on her face and injuries to her arm and back.

"I crawled out. No one helped me," she said. "I got out by myself, through a smashed window."

Mrs. Oscar Mayer, a teacher aboard the train, said that "the children in my car—and most of them are only 12 or 13 years old, were very calm. They surprised me. They didn't get panicky."

Jess Talkin'

by Jess Blair

The cartoonist who shows Bugs Bunny stealing carrots from Elmer Fudd certainly knows his rabbits. N. L. Childress says carrots will make a rabbit drool. He should know because last year the bunnies ruined about two tons of them on his vegetable farm south of Lee's Store. This year they came back again to help harvest the vegetables, but a newly-built net fence stopped them.

Childress recently drilled another well that will pump 100 gallons per minute. He is already selling mustard and turnip greens, onions and radishes. Later he will have beans, peas, squashes and the fruit from 1,000 tomato vines.

He says he didn't have any trouble disposing of his vegetables last year to the Big Spring stores. Because they were fresh, he got a higher price than truckers coming in from South Texas.

Childress advises gardeners to grow the hardy plants that insects don't attack. These are onions, okra, beans and peas. He says insects can be controlled on any vegetable, but it takes more spraying and dusting.

Poultry sales are up quite a lot in Martin County, says John Shanks, Stanton poultry dealer. Most of the orders are for mixed chickens. Some of the pullets will be kept for laying hens, while the cockerels will be put into deep freezes.

There are only a few turkey growers in the county. Willis Walker of the Walcott area usually raises about 500, and is aiming for the same number this year.

Gerald Oakes, agriculture teacher at Garden City, says some of his FFA members are putting lambs on feed for the fall shows. He recently bought three crossbred lambs from David Hill, who lives northeast of Knott.

Oakes says some of the finest lambs are raised up north, but he thinks the price is too high.

"Maybe a boy would win oftener with such animals," he said, "but paying from $40 to $60 apiece is just too much money. It isn't practical to buy such highly bred lambs for feeding purposes. And if we don't teach the boys something practical, then these livestock shows are not worth much."

The sharpest, best-informed farmer we've seen lately is Alec Dickie, president of the Texas Farmer's Union, who spoke here last week. He said a rather dismal outlook was facing farmers. Unless they get a fair price for their products (100 per cent of parity), they will soon be out of business and the only farmers left will be the big corporation farmers.

The average age of farmers is now 57 years, and it is not getting any younger. Many men in this age bracket are too old to start anew in town, so their situation is desperate.

Young men are not going to the farm because they don't have the capital needed to begin farming. Also young men with an education and special ability can do a lot better in other professions. Farming holds no attractions for them, when the average farm income is less than $2,000 a year.

The Charley Blaylock's have the biggest poultry house in Glasscock County on their ranch about 12 miles south of Stanton. They have 1,000 leghorn hens, and sell the eggs in Midland, making delivery about three times a week.

Mrs. Blaylock says the egg business is all right, but there isn't any money in it right now.

"Egg prices have dropped," she said, "while feed just keeps going up every day."

The rains have by-passed that area for two or three years, and the grass is almost gone. The pasture land of the Blaylock Ranch is leased out at present.

One of the best factual books on the West I've ever read is "A Story of the Big Western Ranches" by W. S. Willis. He lived in this area back at the beginning of the new century and cowboyed on several ranches nearby.

He tells about the big flood that swept down Sulphur Draw in 1903 or '04. He said water was so deep along the low sections of town that boxcars floated off the tracks. The old Birdwell Hotel was four or five feet deep in water.

He also mentions early day wildlife, the sandstorms, killings and other happenings still remembered by a handful of oldtimers. Those early day sandstorms were every bit as bad as the ones we have now. Once in Lamesa a sandstorm covered up Willis' picket fence where the family could go right on over it. During the same storm, he said his farmland blew so bad that the place never made good crops since.

Incidentally, Willis is the man who named Lamesa. They wanted a name for the growing little town and he suggested La Mesa, since this means plain or plateau in Spanish. Later the two words were combined into one.

Another incident involved a man named George Shumake. He had just bought a new Premier automobile and had to make a trip from Big Spring to Lubbock. He invited a friend, a real old lady, to go with him.

He finally got the car up to about 30 miles an hour, while the old lady held onto the seat and her breath. When they came to a gate and had to stop, she let out a big sigh, and exclaimed: "Thank God, we have lit!"

Adlai Continues California Tour

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson sets off on another rigorous round of California campaigning today with word to Democratic rivals and Republicans alike not to write him off in the presidential race.

Alluding to his sharpest primary election setback to Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), he said, "After Minnesota, The Republican press wrote me off. But things have changed . . ."

Since then, he said last night, "we have been doing well, indeed," in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Alaska and the District of Columbia.

"I am looking forward to doing just as well in California on June 5."

The 1952 Democratic nominee spoke before a San Jose barbecue dinner crowd estimated at more than 1,000.

The event topped off a daylong tour of California's central coast with turnouts which "amazed" Stevenson.

State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, Stevenson's California chairman, described the barbecue gathering as the greatest Democratic meeting ever held in San Jose.

Stevenson, battling Kefauver for California's 68 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, declared that there is a "strong, irresistible Democratic tide" throughout the country today.

"The rebuke of '54," he said in a reminder of the election of a Democratic Congress two years ago, "will become the mandate of '56."

The former Illinois governor planned 15 stops today elsewhere in Santa Clara County, just south of San Francisco, and the San Francisco East Bay area.

Jobless Handyman Admits Fatal Attack On Church

NEW YORK (AP) — An unemployed handyman who admits firing a volley of shots that killed one worshiper and wounded five others outside a Romanian church has been sent to Bellevue Hospital for mental observation.

Romanian-born Todurchi Sava, 61, surrendered to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan yesterday.

Sava later told reporters he had fired the shots, adding:

"But I wanted to scare. I didn't want to hit."

Sava was arraigned before Magistrate Anthony M. Livoti on charges of homicide and felonious assault. Later he was sent to Bellevue.

Hogan said there was no evidence that Sava intended to shoot any particular person in the throng outside St. Dumitru's Romanian Orthodox Church Saturday night. Hogan also said there was no conspiracy or "international intrigue" involved.

Princess Ileana of Romania was among the worshipers at the Eastern Orthodox Easter service.

Sava told reporters he "did it for America."

Holding his fingers in a V for victory sign, Sava said he had never been a Communist and was "a real Democrat."

"I did not want to shoot anybody," he said. "I am against nobody."

Romanian Deputy Premier Removed In Red Shake-Up

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Dimitru Petrescu, deputy premier of Romania, has been removed from his post in the latest high-level shakeup among Soviet satellite governments in Eastern Europe.

Radio Bucharest announced the action but gave no reason for the ouster. It did not say whether Petrescu also was fired as Romania's finance minister.

A number of high-ranking officials in Communist bloc governments have been relieved of their jobs since Moscow opened its campaign against Stalinist one-man rule.

It was believed here that a purge of other Romanian officials would follow Petrescu's firing. ADN, the official East German news agency, said the Romanian Council of Ministers had decided to suspend Victor Dusam, first judge of the State Arbitration Court.

Petrescu took over as deputy prime minister Dec. 23, 1954. As finance minister he succeeded Vasile Luca, purged in March 1952 along with then Deputy Prime Minister Teohari Georgescu. They were charged with antistate activities. Also ousted at that time was Ana Pauker, who had been Romania's foreign minister as well as the top woman in the Communist world.

Late in 1952 Radio Bucharest reported that 920,000 persons had been expelled from the Romanian Communist party in connection with the purges of that year. It now was assumed that many of them would be restored to good standing.

Even The Eggs Lay Eggs

When Joe Lynn Hendricks, 12, of Rylie found one of his hens had laid an egg measuring 9¾ inches by 7¾ inches, he thought he had something to show the neighbors. Later, the big egg cracked, revealing another oddity; a normal size egg inside. The outer egg was complete with yolk and white. Looking on somewhat amazed is the White Leghorn hen who produced the egg.

Indiana Vote Is Test Of Estes, Ike Popularity

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana holds a finger-in-the-wind presidential primary today that tests the farm belt political appeal of President Eisenhower and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The results can be important or comparatively meaningless, depending on whether major shifts of voting sentiment develop behind the closed curtains of the more than 4,000 polling places in this usually Republican state.

While leaders of both parties agreed that some discontented Hoosier farmers would switch allegiance from the GOP to the Democrats, signs of any spectacular ballot swing were lacking in advance of the voting.

In fact, voter interest had appeared to be definitely on the listless side right along, although this was the first chance in 28 years for Hoosiers to vote in a presidential preference primary.

The apathy was attributed mainly to a lack of contests. Kefauver's name was all alone on the Democratic preferential ballot. Eisenhower's was listed on the Republican ballot beneath that of Lar (America First) Daly, Chicago furniture manufacturer, who offered only nominal opposition.

Secretary of State Crawford Parker figured the total vote was likely to be a light 650,000.

Kefauver has said he was hoping to pull at least 41 per cent of the total. That was the percentage Adlai Stevenson got when he lost to President Eisenhower in the general election in 1952.

Parker, a Republican, estimated 425,000 Republican ballots would be cast and 225,000 Democratic, a ratio of approximately 65 per cent to 35 per cent.

But Republican State Chairman Alvin C. Cost said that "I'll be happy if we get 55 or 56 per cent, although I'm hoping for much more, of course."

Democratic State Chairman Charles Skillen stood by a qualified forecast of a record 235,000 Democratic primary ballots. The qualification:

"If the weather is so the farmer can work, we won't get that kind of vote. He is two or three weeks behind now."

Said the weatherman: cool but fair, probably just about right for catching up in the fields.

Regardless of how many voters turn out or how they ballot, Kefauver is sure of 26 Indiana votes on the first ballot at the Democratic National Convention in August. Eisenhower will have 32 at the Republican convention.

Hoosiers also chose today candidates for the 11 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives and delegates to the Democratic and Republican state conventions next month. It is the state convention which will select delegates to the national conventions, along with candidates for U.S. senator and governor.

Happy Victor

Tito Faces Crowded French Schedule

PARIS (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia faced a crowded schedule of sightseeing and partying mixed with serious talks today on his state visit to France.

The Communist chief of state set the tone for his talks with Premier Guy Mollet at a state dinner last night during which he warned against the danger of nuclear war. He urged a search for new paths of understanding between East and West.

His schedule on the second day of his six-day visit called for a morning tour of the French capital's historic attractions, an afternoon talk with Mollet, more sightseeing, a reception at the Yugoslavia Embassy and a night at the Paris opera.

The French were quietly hopeful that the talks would strengthen Tito's position as a bridge over East-West tensions.

The Parisian welcome for the Red visitor was far from tumultuous. Crowds along his route were thin and there were few cheers.

Newspapers played up photographs showing Tito shaking hands with President Rene Coty without removing his gloves. They chided him for what they termed a social error.

Tito thanked France for the aid it had given Yugoslavia after his break with the Soviet bloc in 1948.

"A new world war with modern arms, above all one with atomic weapons, would endanger the very existence of humanity, and all of contemporary culture and civilization," Tito said at the dinner.

"We must seek out new forms and new paths to encourage understanding among states and peoples."

Tito suggested that the search focus on disarmament and similar fields.

Coty in his banquet speech told his guest France intends to stand by her Western alliances while seeking to foster understanding between East and West.

COORDINATOR

Tidwell Is C-C's Industrial Leader

Leroy F. Tidwell plays a sort of double-barrel roll on Big Spring's industrial front. He is coordinator of the Industrial Division of the Chamber of Commerce and president of the new Big Spring Industrial Foundation.

The Chamber of Commerce and Tidwell took the lead in organizing the foundation which is dedicated to the service of any industry which might wish to locate in Big Spring. And as coordinator of the Industrial Division of the Chamber, Tidwell is constantly on the lookout for more industry.

Tidwell operates an automobile agency Tidwell Chevrolet Company, here, a business he has been engaged in since coming to Big Spring from Winnsboro in 1953.

In fact, Tidwell has spent half his life in the automobile business. He started 20 years ago as sales manager for the Quality Auto Company in Kilgore.

He took time out of the business during World War II to serve the Navy as a ground school instructor at Kilgore College. He also spent some time with the Air Force at Ardmore and Wichita Falls.

A pilot, Tidwell holds a private license and is a partner with Cecil Hamilton of Big Spring in the Hamilton Flying Service which also is Piper aircraft sales agency for this area.

After World War II, Tidwell acquired his own automobile agency in Kilgore. He went to Winnsboro in 1949, where he also operated a Chevrolet agency.

LEROY F. TIDWELL
Bradshaw Photo

Since coming to Big Spring, Tidwell has been honored with a place on the Dealer Planning Committee for Chevrolet in the Dallas sales zone. He also is chairman of community relations for General Motors in West Texas.

Reared in Fort Worth, Tidwell attended public schools there and completed two years at East Texas Teachers College in Commerce before going into the automobile business.

He has been a member of the Lions Club for 18 years and served as president of the organization at Winnsboro. He also is active in the Masonic lodge, has been on the board of directors for the local YMCA for two years and is on the long-range planning board for the Y.

In cooperation with The Herald and Lions Club, Tidwell sponsors the Soap Box Derby here each year.

Mr. and Mrs. Tidwell live at 906 Mountain Park. They have two daughters, Lee Margaret, 9, and Martha, 5, and son, Leroy F. Tidwell Jr., 2. They are members of the First Baptist Church.

Tidwell sees the Chamber of Commerce as "what the people make it."

"I don't think any merchant could afford not to support it," he said. "It has such a wide range of activities that some of them may seem unnecessary, but when you add them up its something we can't do without."

Ex-Mental Patient Shoots, Kills His Closest Friend

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Richmond Professional Institute sophomore was shot to death in his dormitory room last night by a former student who once was his closest friend and roommate.

James Edward Whitlow, 21, of Clover, Va., was found sprawled across his bed and dying. College mates rushed to the room when they heard shots shortly after 6 p.m.

Officers said Whitlow had been shot at least two times in the back of the head with a .38-caliber pistol.

Alfred Vischio, 21, Brooklyn, N.Y., was arrested about an hour later and charged with first-degree murder. A former mental patient at McGuire Veterans Administration Hospital, he had returned to the hospital after the shooting and wandered up to a guard, holding a revolver in his hand.

Police said Vischio gave them no motive for the shooting.

Savings Drop Called Danger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of the Treasury W. Randolph Burgess said today a decline in saving by Americans presents an inflationary hazard.

A two-year downtrend has brought the savings rate to about 6½ per cent of personal income after taxes, as against 8 per cent in previous recent years, Burgess said in a speech prepared for the annual conference of the National Assn. of Mutual Savings Banks.

"This is disturbing and is a further indication that we are not saving today quite enough to finance the rapid rate of growth of which we are otherwise capable," he said.

Government action, in collaboration with the policies of banks and other financial institutions, has been "reasonably successful in keeping things on an even keel," Burgess said, and increasing productivity of U.S. industry will in the long run stabilize prices while permitting higher wages.

But savings are needed to build enlarged production capacity, he said, and he added:

"It is when we rush the spending faster than the rate of savings, and do it too heavily with borrowed money, that we run the risk of inflation.

"We have tended to do this in the past year."

Object Was Weather Balloon

ST. LOUIS (AP)—That round object which glowed about 90,000 feet above St. Louis for 2½ hours last night was just a weather balloon.

The Weather Bureau and jet pilots, who went up for a closer look, confirmed it.

But before they did, there was considerable speculation by weather experts, military men, astronomers, amateur star gazers and "flying saucer" addicts.

Learned From Modeling

Lovely Phyllis Kirk, who co-stars with Frank Sinatra in his independent production, "Johnny Concho," is a former fashion model. She talks about clothes in today's "Hollywood Beauty."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Learned To Look Smart On Low Clothes Budget

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Phyllis Kirk divides her time between TV in New York and pictures here. Recently Frank Sinatra chose her for his independent picture, "Johnny Concho." I was glad to see Phyllis again, as we used to be friends when she was in Hollywood some years ago.

"I was so unhappy then," she told me as we chatted. "At that time studios had the habit of trying to do you over. They tried to change me for the sake of change. They made no effort to evaluate me or to consider working with the distinctiveness I had.

"My face looks best with heavy eyebrows, but they pulled all of mine out and insisted on a thin line. I had to lighten my hair which was not becoming and put in a lot of curls which were all wrong for my face. And then they made a big issue of covering my freckles.

"I don't like to wear much make-up base," Phyllis confided, "and I've never met a man who didn't like freckles. You can't feel uncomfortable with your appearance without having it affect your disposition, your work and your whole life."

I admired the suit Phyllis was wearing.

"I began my career as a junior model for Conover, and it was invaluable experience."

I asked for more details.

"I didn't have a great deal to spend on my wardrobe, but I managed to be well dressed by learning all the tricks involving separates. It is so practical to buy clothes which can be interchanged. I remember I had a good black skirt that I wore by day with a cardigan and by night with an evening blouse. You are always much better off with one terribly good thing than a lot of inexpensive changes. A good fabric in a well-made dress cleans like new and holds its shape.

"I learned not to over-accessorize. Try to get your effect with as little as possible and you'll look smart," Phyllis advised.

"And I learned how quickly fatigue shows in the face. As soon as I get that tight feeling in the back of my neck, I bend over limp and come up from the waist, one vertebra at a time. This is restful and helps to release any tension.

"At home I have one of those boards that puts your head lower than your feet. It is wonderful," Phyllis concluded. "I've even learned to take cat naps on it."

800,000 Go To Polls For Florida Ballot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An estimated 800,000 Florida Democrats have their say today in a bitter six-man governorship race in which interest has been whetted by segregation talk and personality clashes.

Warm weather and scattered afternoon showers were forecast for the primary election in which the voters marked a long ballot listing candidates from constable to U. S. senator.

Republicans also hold a primary today but no statewide contests are up and no more than 140,000 are expected to vote on the GOP side. No crossing of party lines is permitted in the primaries.

The racial issue boiled up in the governor's race on the proposition of methods of preserving segregation rather than upon the question of segregation itself, since all four major candidates took a stand for continued separation of the races.

Gov. Leroy Collins, who has contended that integrity in government was the real issue, has said that he favored preserving segregation by all legal means, but "without emotional furor and disorders."

Two of Collins' opponents, Sumter L. Lowry, 63-year-old retired National Guard commander from Tampa, and Fuller Warren, colorful 51-year-old former governor, have charged that Collins actually favored gradual integration and demanded that he take a firmer stand.

The fourth major candidate, former House Speaker Farris Bryant, has charged Collins lacked legislative leadership and has attacked him on other issues.

Other candidates are Peaslee Streets, Lake Park constable who is the only candidate to endorse integration, and W. B. Price, Jacksonville used car salesman, who have made limited campaigns.

1.5 Million Ohioans Vote In Primaries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An estimated 1½ million Ohioans vote today in primary elections for party candidates for statewide offices and for delegates to the national presidential conventions.

The total vote of 1,487,900 predicted by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown would be about a fourth of potential Ohio voters.

Chief statewide interest centered on the Republican and Democratic races for the nominations for governor. Two GOP aspirants and five Democratic hopefuls bid for votes and a chance to succeed five-term Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Lausche was unopposed in his bid for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator. He is trying to unseat Sen. George H. Bender, who has no opposition for the Republican nomination.

Trying for the Republican gubernatorial nomination are Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, Marietta, and Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, Medina.

The five Democratic hopefuls in the governor race are Michael V. DiSalle, former Toledo mayor and U. S. price czar; Oscar L. Fleckner, former Springfield city manager and state liquor control director; Mayor Frank X. Kryzan of Youngstown; Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher; and Cleveland Municipal Judge John E. Sweeney, a former Ohio secretary of state.

Demos See Johnson Win As Sign Of Ike Dixie Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate Democrats contended today the defeat of Texas Gov. Allan Shivers in his bid to retain control of state party machinery indicates the South is ready to turn its political back on President Eisenhower.

Forces aligned with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson handily defeated Shivers Saturday in precinct victories expected to be further ratified in county conventions there today.

Shivers, who bolted to Eisenhower in 1952, has made it clear he would not support Adlai E. Stevenson as Democratic presidential nominee this year. Nor has he praised other potential nominees, except Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said Johnson's expected designation as head of the 56-vote Texas delegation to the party's national convention "means there will be unity in the Democratic party."

"It appears the South will remain in the Democratic column because of the efforts of the Democratic leaders in the House and Senate — Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Johnson," Mansfield said.

Johnson has made it clear my delegation he heads will not walk out of the national convention and will support the presidential nominee.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), Stevenson's running mate in 1952, said in a separate interview the Texas results "shatter completely any hope the Republicans may have had of a Southern revolt."

"These results signal a shining example of the return to the fold of Democrats who went astray in 1952," he said. "I think Texas' lead will be followed in other Southern states."

Four years ago, Eisenhower carried four Dixie states.

BEST WISHES FOR NEW LIONS CLUB
Prexy Larson Lloyd congratulates Prexy Ted Groebl

New Lions Club Gets Its Charter

Big Spring's newest service organization, the Evening Lions Club, was given official standing here Monday evening with presentation of the charter.

Ted O. Groebl, president, accepted the document from District 2-T-2 Governor Roy A. Minear, Midland, with a pledge that the membership hoped to do its part in making this a better community.

"If the enthusiasm so far is maintained," said Groebl, "we can add our efforts to others in making ours a better community."

In turn, he accepted from Larson Lloyd, president of the sponsoring Downtown Lions Club, a gavel and gong as symbols of authority for the president of the new club. Groebl has a long record of activity as member of the Downtown Club.

Murry Fly, president of Odessa Junior College and past district governor, told the banquet crowd of approximately 150 people that "life is grand if you live it. You must keep an ideal of service that impels you to go to your brother's aid. This club will grow exactly in proportion to the service that it provides."

Among past district governors present for the occasion were Joe Pond and Schley Riley, Big Spring, Jim L. Daughterty, Midland and Fly. Other dignitaries included Hal Adams, Monahans, district governor elect and who installed the officers; R. C. Baker, Midland, zone chairman; Dr. David Ellis, Midland, district director of public relations and who did most of the spade work for the evenjng club here. Tom Kirkham, Breckenridge, field representative of Lions International, sent greetings when a car wreck prevented his attendance. Greetings also came from R. Roy Keaton, Chicago, Ill, director-general of Lions International.

Music for the occasion was supplied by Julie Rainwater at the organ. Eunice Freeman, accompanied by Miss Rainwater, sang, and the 21-voice Anton High School Choir, directed by Bill Brewer, was warmly received in a number of selections. Invocation was voiced by J. O. Hagood and the benediction by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, who presided as the master of ceremonies.

Visitors were present from Jayton, Silver, Midkiff, Coahoma, Stanton, Midland (Downtown and West Side), Hobbs, N. M. as well as from the Big Spring Downtown Club.

Installed with Groebl as officers of the new club were Ted Vinson, John B. Hardy and B. L. Coughlin, vice presidents; J. O. Hagood, secretary; Clyde H. Rowe, treasurer; Dr. T. C. Tinkham, Llontamer; Eldon Hull, tailtwister; John O. Newsom, Joe B. Hedleston, A. A. Cooper, and William A. Westfall, directors. Pair Comes Out Of Hiding

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A 21-year-old Ohio girl and a handsome Greek fishmonger who fell in love by mail came out of hiding today and said they would marry over the protests of the girl's mother.

Mrs. George Milton of Dayton, Ohio, had gone to the police, charging her chestnut-haired daughter Elaine disappeared last Saturday with John Sideris, 31, while his parents pinioned Mrs. Milton so she could not stop them.

"I love John and we are going to be married," Elaine said after she and her fiance voluntarily turned up at the police station. "I was not kidnaped. That is untrue. If my family does not want us, we will live in Greece."

Man's Power Awaits Permit From Weather

ENIWETOK (AP) — A show of man's mightiest power, the H-bomb, waited today for a power he doesn't control, the weather.

Shot Cherokee, the H-bomb blast, is scheduled tentatively for Thursday (tomorrow, U. S. time) if the weather is right. It hasn't been.

The shot has been postponed twice.

Scientists reported "strong, undesirable" winds at all altitudes, winds which might scatter radioactive particles outside the marked-off danger area of 375,000 square miles.

Three huge B52 jet bombers are parked on Eniwetok. One will carry the bomb and drop it over Namu Island, some 190 miles away in Bikini Atoll.

Newsmen were permitted to talk to the seven crew men with the specification that no questions be asked regarding technical aspects of dropping the bomb or regarding matters touching on the men's psychology.

The sun-bronzed crewmen agreed they had no doubt about the success of the mission, of putting the bomb where the test officials want it, of getting back safely to Eniwetok.

What do they think about being chosen for this mission?

"Well, it's not deflating to the ego," said Maj. David H. Critchlow, the aircraft commander, with a grin.

B52 Output Up To 20 Per Month

They'll Drop H-Bomb

This is the crew of the B52 bomber which will drop the H-bomb over Eniwetok, now scheduled for Wednesday. Shown, left to right, are: Aircraft Commander Maj. David B. Critchlow, Sacramento, Calif.; Pilot Maj. Charles T. Smith, Pittsburg, Kan.; Navigator-bombardier Maj. Dwight E. Durner, Charlotte, Mich.; Navigator-weaponeer Maj. Floyd A. Amundsen, Grand Forks, N.D.; Timer 1st. Lt. William R. Payne, Plainview, Tex.; Radar Mechanic T-Sgt. Richard N. Bingham, Pearlsburg, Va.; and Observer Col. Paul R. Wignall, Port Arthur, Tex.

Sec. Wilson Denies Reds Ahead Of U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson today disclosed the production schedule for B52 bombers has been raised to 20 a month and said "it is not so" that the Soviets are "far outstripping the United States in terms of air power."

Wilson said the current output of the eight-jet intercontinental, B52 is six a month.

He said he would have preferred to keep these figures secret, but "because of the confusion and doubt that have arisen on this matter I believe it desirable to set the record straight."

The secretary was before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to discuss the military budget for the government fiscal year which begins July 1. He said actual expenditures in the fiscal year would be about 36 billion dollars.

This amount of money, Wilson commented, is "nearly 100 million dollars per day" and is a cost "we must pay through taxes."

At the outset, Wilson stressed two points:

1. "The United States is not and should not be competing in an all-out armaments race with the U.S.S.R. or any other country."

2. There has been "no change in the international situation which would require us to increase our forces over all or make it possible for us at this time to reduce our forces."

As Wilson testified, he was flanked in the committee room by the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and by the full membership of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Chairman Chavez (D-NM) said there have been recent stories in the press and over the air saying "how far behind we are in technical knowledge to some other country." Chavez said he thought "we have just as good a know-how as any" but asked Wilson for comment.

"You are talking about the fear mongers now," Wilson remarked. He said his statement to the subcommittee was at least in part a reply to such charges.

Quickly then he took note of criticisms of U. S. air power, particularly relative to Russia's, which have come out at current hearings by a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

Last week, Gen. Curtis Le May, strategic air command chief, testified that 78 B52s have been produced to date, but that only 46 have been accepted by the Air Force. He said the reason for not accepting the others was a defect in a small component part.

On this point, Wilson said the B52 "is a fine airplane and is living up to or exceeding its designed specifications."

"There is no logical reason why the United States should pattern its defense program directly on that of the U.S.S.R.," Wilson said.

He added that if this were done it would be "tantamount to turning over to the Soviets the responsibility for designing and determining the size and scope of our defense establishment."

Wilson said also that some critics of current military policies neglected to take into account the "total" air strength of the United States.

In the year starting on July 1, Wilson reported, the Air Force will have more than 25,000 active military aircraft, the Navy and Marine Corps will have more than 12,000 and the Army will have over 4,000.

He said that a recently announced decision to beef up heavy bomber wings from 30 to 45 planes will add 50 per cent to this country's long-range striking power. This increase in aircraft strength per wing will be accomplished as B52's replace the slower but still powerful B36's in the 11 heavy bomber wings of the Strategic Air Command.

Wilson also implied that critics of the U.S. air power tend to neglect consideration of the B47 medium jet bombers, which Wilson described as "the heart of our strategic striking power."

He said that these six-jet bombers, operating from overseas bases or with aerial refueling, have "true intercontinental capabilities," and that these medium bomber wings "represent the most powerful single element of air power in the world today."

The Air Force is known to have more than 1,500 B47s, organized into 28 wings.

Wilson said also that any assessment of U.S. air striking power must include the Navy's operation of 15 large carriers "all of which carry aircraft with an atomic capability."

He said these carriers, capable of being dispersed widely through the world give the United States an ability to "project our air power into certain areas where we might not otherwise be able to do so."

Wilson, referring to criticisms of alleged inattention to research and development, said the new budget contains about $5,200,000,000 for direct support of research.

FOR TEXAS

Cotton Estimate Is 4,039,000 Bales

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated the 1955 Texas cotton crop today at 4,039,000 bales, far above last year's crop.

The production came from 6,900,000 acres with an average yield of 281 pounds per acre, the final report on ginnings said.

Last fall the crop had been estimated at 4,250,000 bales but drought cut the estimates month by month.

The 1955 crop still was far above last year's crop of 3,940,000 and the ten-year average of 3,388,000 bales.

Texas record yield was 4,315,000 bales in 1953.

The final estimate for the nation was 14,721,000 bales valued at $2,382,000,000.

This compared with 13,696,378 bales for the 1954 crop with a value of $2,301,000,000. Both crops were grown under rigid production control programs designed to prevent accumulation of excessive supplies.

The production of cottonseed from the 1955 crop was reported at 6,038,000 tons with a value of $269,023,000 compared with 5,709,000 tons from the 1954 crop valued at $344,175,000.

The department estimated the price of cotton received by farmers at an average of 32.4 cents a pound for the 1955 crop and 33.61 cents for the 1954 crop.

Cottonseed was estimated to have brought producers an average of $44.60 a ton from the 1955 crop and $60.30 from 1954.

Presley Fans Blister Station

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP) — Teen-age fans of rock-and-roll hillbilly singer Elvis Presley blistered radio station CJCH today for its ban on his recordings.

"Ninety per cent of the quality of the complaints of Presley fans were couched in such language as to make the station even more adamant to continue its policies," a spokesman said.

"The most profane complainers have been asked to come up to the station. If they do they can have our entire collection of Presley records.

"No one has shown up."

The spokesman said CJCH decided a week ago to ban Presley records because they "are not up to station standards."

Lawyers Rapped On Divorce Stand

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—California lawyers haven't helped decrease the state's divorce rate, says Judge Elmer Doyle.

Doyle, of the Superior Court's Domestic Relations Division, told members of the California Conference of Social Workers yesterday that couples seeking divorces should see a judge before a lawyer.

He criticized recent efforts by members of the California Bar to reduce the interlocutory period. Divorces are not final in California for one year. He said shortening the waiting period hinders reconciliation attempts.

Caudle Conspiracy Trial Under Way

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An internal revenue service director testified today about his investigation of an income tax evasion case which led to conspiracy charges against two top officials in the Truman administration.

Ernest M. Flinn was the government's first witness in the federal trial of Matthew J. Connelly, former White House appointments secretary; T. Lamar Caudle, former head of the justice department's tax division, and Harry I. Schwimmer, onetime Kansas City attorney and now a Puerto Rican businessman.

They are charged with conspiring to stall and sidetrack prosecution of Irving Sachs, St. Louis shoe manufacturer who was fined $40,000 in 1951 for income tax evasion.

Flinn testified he opened a criminal tax file after a visit in 1945 to the shoe firm where he talked with Sachs and a woman employe. He said his investigation showed the firm had filed false returns for 1942 through 1945.

3 Charged With Arson

Charges of arson have been filed against three Webb AFB men in connection with an alleged attempt to burn two oil storage tanks last Friday.

Arrested in the case were Paul E. Koontz, 23, Albert Geene, 20, and Curtis Hamlin, 21.

Hamlin is in the WAFB Hospital with injuries received when the car in which the three men were riding was wrecked near Stanton. The wreck, officers said, climaxed their effort to evade capture after the alleged crime.

According to Floyd Moore and Rufus Davidson, deputies, three men set two oil tanks, located about 5 miles west of Big Spring, on fire about sundown last Friday. The officers said that no explanation for the action had developed.

The charges against the trio were lodged in the court of Walter P. Grice, Justice of the Peace, and bonds were set at $2,000 each. None has posted bond.

DEMAND ACTION

French Students Riot In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP) — A howling mob of 2,000 French students rioted in Algeria's capital today, demanding a tougher French fight to put down the 18-month-old Nationalist rebellion in the North African territory.

Shouting "l'armee au pouvoir!" (put the army in power!), the students hurled tomatoes at Robert Lacoste, French resident minister, and threw chairs from sidewalk cafes at police who attacked them with their gas bombs.

The new outburst against Premier Guy Mollet's policies followed two days of a stepped-up rebel campaign in which 20 European settlers have been killed and more than 80 French farms burned out.

The Nationalists staged two attacks only 23 miles from Algiers during the night, killing six Arabs who had served with French forces.

In neighboring French Morocco, comparatively calm since France granted it independence, four armed Moroccans kidnaped a French major who commanded the army mobilization center at Fes.

The French meanwhile claimed a 4 to 1 toll of their Arab opponents. They reported 97 rebels had been killed during the past two days, 73 in a battle near Constantine.

Early-Day Teacher, W. F. Cook, Dies

William Franklin Cook, 80, pioneer school teacher and farmer who spent half a century as a citizen of Howard County, died at 4 a.m. Tuesday after a brief illness.

Mr. Cook had been removed from his home at 1500 Nolan Street to a hospital about a week ago.

Funeral has been set for 4 p.m. Wednesday at the First Methodist Church. Rites will be conducted by his pastor; Dr. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and burial will be in the City Cemetery. The remains will be taken from Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home to the church one hour before time of service to lie in state and the casket will not be opened after the service.

Mr. Cook was born at Athens on Sept. 5, 1875. He prepared to be a teacher, having attended Trinity University at Waxahachie. On May 15, 1904 he was married to Minnie Lee Hill and five children were born to this union, two of the children dying in infancy.

As a young man he had affiliated with the Baptist Church, but after his marriage he joined the Methodist Church with his wife.

Mr. Cook came to Howard County 50 years ago and served as a pioneer school teacher for 17 years. He was a member of the Howard County board of trustees for several terms. For 35 years he was engaged actively in farming in Midland and Howard counties.

Mr. Cook was a member of the First Methodist Church here for more than 30 years, served several terms as a steward and at one time was chairman of the board.

In February of 1937 his first wife passed away and in 1939 he was married to Mrs. Ladonia Patrick. During the last several years they made their home in Big Spring.

Surviving him are his wife; one son, the Rev. Wayne Cook, Lubbock; two daughters, Mrs. J. H. Fryar, Big Spring, and Mrs. Joe Gabriel, San Angelo. He also leaves two step-sons, W. D. Patrick and J. M. Patrick, El Paso; and six grandchildern. Mrs. Bill Blansitt, Big Spring, is a niece.

Pallbearers will be Haskell Grant, Jeff Grant, Jim Grant, Carl Grant, Jack Grant, Reuben Hill, Everett Lomax and Pat Stasey.

Gibson Leaves For Army Duty

For the past several months, Gibson has been working as a sports writer for the Galveston newspaper. Prior to that, he was a student at North Texas State College in Denton.

Gibson has not been informed where he will be stationed but expressed a belief it would be Camp Chaffee in Arkansas. His tour of duty will be for two years.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

JOE WILLIAMS, New York writer:

"Ted Williams' big job from now on will be to stay in one piece. He has the looks and labored actions of an old player these days and, of course, he will be 38 next October. Both Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker were .350 hitters when they were in their 40's. Curiously, they seemed to have younger reflexes then than Williams does now. They hunted more during the off season and kept their legs in better shape. Perhaps that explains it."

* * * *

FRESCO THOMPSON, vice president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, on managers:

"There are 154 games in a championship season. In 50 games, the team is going to lose no matter what a manager does. In 50 other games, the team will win in spite of any mistakes the manager makes. It's the way he operates in the remaining 54 that sets a good manager apart from a poor one."

* * * *

MELVIN ROBERTSON, former Stanton coach, now an assistant mentor for Sweetwater High School:

"I firmly believe that track is the basic sport for all other sports. If a boy can't run, he just isn't of too much value in any other sport."

* * * *

HARVEY BABETCH, professional basketball player:

"I learned more in the first month of pro ball than I did in four years of college."

* * * *

JACK FLECK, National Open golf champion:

"Winning the Open title almost ruined my game. I was faced with a major decision. Should I concentrate on my golf game, or make money? I couldn't do both. So I decided I should capitalize when I could. Exhibitions and endorsements, all that kind of stuff, have made it a good year for me. I've got no kick along that line, but my point is: My game has gone to pot."

* * * *

CHARLEY GOLDMAN, Rocky Marciano's trainer:

"Rocky was better than any heavyweight since Jack Dempsey. Rocky could take a punch better than Joe Louis did, even when Joe was at his peak. Joe probably would have made Rocky look bad for a while. Still, Rocky would have outlasted him and finished him. Rocky would have been too strong for Jimmy Braddock. Jack Sharkey couldn't have stayed with Marciano. Max Schmeling at his best would have been dangerous but Rocky would have clubbed him senseless. Gene Tunney was too straight up. Rocky would have wore him down. Jack Dempsey? Ah, there would have been a fight."

* * * *

TERRY BRENNAN, Notre Dame coach:

"Frank Leahy is right in the middle where Notre Dame is concerned. If he says Notre Dame has a great team, he's accused of putting me on the spot. If he says we're going to have trouble, they say, 'What's the matter? No confidence in Brennan?' All he can do is say nothing, and that comes hard for us Irish."

* * * *

BLONDY CHRANE, dental lab technician here, on the local coaching problem:

"Frankly, I don't know how good a coach Carl Coleman is. But they should give him enough assistants to get the job done. Every school of any size has specialists to teach every position. Here, they have only two on the varsity staff."

* * * *

RALPH BRANCA, former Brooklyn hurler who delivered up that home run ball to the Giants' Bobby Thomson in the National League playoff game in 1951:

"A priest I met an hour after that game saved me from a lifetime of remorse. 'Son,' he said, 'somebody has to lose and somebody has to win. I guess somebody else figured you were big enough to do the losing.'"

* * * *

CASEY STENGEL, when told that two American League umpires were going to don glasses:

"They rob you for 20 years, and then they put on glasses."

HERE TODAY

Steers Terminate Baseball Season

The Big Spring Steers terminate their 1956 baseball play here today in a 4:15 District 3-AA engagement with the Midland Bulldogs.

Nothing will be at stake in today's contest. Midland has already clinched first place in conference standings — for the second season in a row. Big Spring is certain of finishing in the cellar, no matter how it fares today.

Still, the Steers can help their prestige and end the campaign on a favorable note by upsetting the Bulldogs.

Midland is due to send Jim Owens, a crafty junior, to the mound against the locals. Coach Roy Baird will counter with either Billy Bluhm or LeRoy LeFevre.

Five members of the Big Spring team wind up their athletic careers for Big Spring High School with today's contest.

They are Eugene Hall, outfielder; Charley Johnson, infielder-pitcher; Jerry Barron, infielder; LeRoy LeFevre and T. L. Kennedy.

Hall has confined his attentions to baseball, as far as athletics go, during his high school days. Johnson has excelled in four sports — football, basketball, golf and baseball. Barron has played football, baseball and basketball. LeFevre stayed busy in basketball and baseball.

Hall will start in left field this afternoon. Johnson will probably be at third base, Barron at shortstop and LeFevre will be ready for mound duty, if called.

Others who will see action for the Longhorns include Ricky Terry, catcher; George Peacock, first base; Preston Daniels, second base; Jerry McMahen, center field; and Jan Loudermilk, right field.

Midland has only one senior in its starting lineup, so it can be expected to be double-tough again next year.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Major League Scout and Instructor

Whenever baseball experts talk about the greatest players of all time, Ty Cobb and Honus Wagner rate at the head of the list. There is general agreement that they belong on any all-time team, but very few players use the batting grip which helped them to make their great records. Both choked up on the bat, gripping it several inches from the end of the handle, and kept their hands apart to give them better control of their bats.

Players who have trouble in hitting the ball—or controlling where they hit it—might do well to try the batting style which Cobb and Wagner made famous. It could help them to control the bat, and when they control the bat they should hit the ball.

Richie Ashburn, Nelson Fox, Don Mueller and Billy Goodman are among the successful major leaguers who use the choke grip today, although they don't bat with their hands apart.

US Links Team Leads Hopkins Cup Matches

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP)—Tommy Bolt meets Al Balding in the feature singles test of the International PGA Matches today as the United States seeks to wrap up its fifth straight Hopkins Trophy.

These two shot the hottest golf yesterday in the four-ball matches which the United States won 5½ to 3½. Bolt and Gene Littler beat Bill Mawhinney and Murray Tucker of Canada 9-up and scored 5 points. Bolt, could do no wrong on the greens.

"If I had putted like that yesterday," said the lean Texan, speaking of the Colonial National Invitational Tournament, in which he finished second, "I'd have won that one in a breeze."

Bolt and Littler had a best ball of 61, Mawhinney and Tucker a 70.

Balding and Gordon Brydson of Canada walloped Mike Souchak and Cary Middlecoff 5 and 4. Balding amazed even his teammates with his wizardry on the greens. Balding and Brydson, who played a terrific game himself, had a best ball of 64 despite a double bogey 6 on the 15th hole.

The Balding-Brydson duo won the full three points (one point for each nine and one for the match) and it was up to the other team match — Doug Ford and Ted Kroll of the United States vs. Bill Kerr and Stan Leonard of Canada —to decide the issue.

Ford and Kroll managed to win the second nine 1-up after the teams tied in the first. Thus the United States got 2½ points to ½. It would have been a flat tie of 1½ points each but for a missed birdie putt by Leonard on the final green.

Singles matches start at noon (CST) with these pairings:

12 noon—Balding vs. Bolt.
12:10 p.m.—Brydson vs. Middlecoff.
12:20 p.m.—Jack Kay, Canada, vs. Jack Fleck, United States.
12:30 p.m.—Leonard vs. Littler.
12:40 p.m.—Mawhinney vs. Souchak.
12:50 p.m.—Tucker vs. Kroll.

There will be 18 points at stake in the singles, making a total of 27 for all matches. The team winning as many as 14 will take home the trophy put up each year by John Jay Hopkins of New York, founder and chairman of the International Golf Assn.

The matches are being played over the 7,100-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Publinx Field To Be Reduced

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Public Links Golf Championship, which drew 2,907 entries last year, will be whittled down to a workable field of 150 for the main event this year. All but one of these will be required to qualify sectionally for the tournament at San Francisco's Harding Park Course, July 9-14.

Sectional qualifying tests over the 36-hole route will be held June 17-23, inclusive at 45 sites. Seven new sites were added this year and one at Shreveport, La., eliminated.

In releasing the sectional qualifying sites today, the U.S. Golf Assn. pointed out that a new form of play limits the field to 150, instead of 200, for the championship proper. For the first time since 1947, a second 36-hole qualifying test will be held at the tournament site to determine the team champion and the 64 qualifiers for match play.

Zuverink No. 1 Relief Hurler In Junior Loop

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

George Zuverink, the guy nobody wanted, right now is the No. 1 relief pitcher in the American League, getting the job done almost on a daily basis for the Baltimore Orioles who can hardly do a thing without him.

The 29-year-old righthander, who in his 11-year career has failed to hang on with Cleveland, Cincinnati and Detroit and who wound up in semipro ball as a free agent after his first year in the minors, has strolled in from the bullpen in 12 of Baltimore's 20 games this season. And of the nine games the Birds have won to date, he's saved six and won two.

Zuverink, purchased in desperation from Detroit last July, was called upon for the third time in two days last night and with two pitches snapped off a Tiger rally and picked up a 4-3 victory that lifted Baltimore into sixth place while reducing his earned run average to a nifty 1.50.

Pitching was the pass word in the other three games played in the majors yesterday, too. In the American, Tom Brewer struck out nine and cut off Cleveland on four hits in a 5-1 Boston victory. In the National, Milwaukee's Bob Buhl beat Brooklyn 3-1 on six hits to regain first place, and St. Louis, helped by a weird five-run inning and dandy relief pitching by Lindy McDaniel, Gordon Jones and Jackie Collum, smacked the New York Giants 6-3 to tie idle Cincinnati for second place.

Zuverink, who finished both ends of Baltimore's doubleheader sweep against Detroit Sunday, came on last night after the Tigers had scored a tying run off starter Bill Wight in the ninth. Zuverink's second pitch to Harvey Kuenn was rapped into an inning-ending double play. Then after relief Al Aber had walked the bases full in the Baltimore ninth, Hal Smith banged a single to break it up.

Brewer won his third against one defeat by granting Cleveland only two singles in eight innings. He retired the first 16 men in order, striking out seven, while the Red Sox were pasting Mike Garcia for 11 hits and four runs in five frames. Billy Goodman singled and tripled for the Boston's while Dick Gernert and Norm Zauchin homered.

Buhl, now 2-0, had the help of two killing double plays while dumping the champion Brooks to their third straight defeat. Del Crandall drove in two runs and Hank Aaron homered as Carl Erskine lost his second.

Three singles, two of them bunts, three walks, a hit batsman, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly brought the Cards from behind as starter-loser Windy McCall, Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom had their troubles in the sixth inning. Red Schoendienst, who has hit safely in 15 straight games, singled the tie breaker across in the frame. McDaniel, a bonus baby, won his second with a hitless sixth in relief of Ben Flowers.

Confident Indians Invade New York

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Confident, cool and composed, the Cleveland Indians arrived in town for a three-game set with the New York Yankees.

The Tribe was squarely on the spot. There is an undercurrent of despair in the rest of the American League at the Yanks' overpowering strength. The Indians are the only contenders they haven't bullied.

Casey Stengel's men browbeat the Boston Red Sox four out of five, then polished off the Chicago White Sox twice Sunday. That, by a process of elimination, leaves the Indians.

"Well," said Stengel before the game, "we've seen them all except Cleveland, and I see no point in getting afraid now."

The Professor refuses to be drawn out on the possibility of the Yanks wrapping it all up early but in response to a laughing query as to how he'd feel if his club was home safe by midseason, he sighed:

"I'd just like to have the pleasure of knowing how it feels."

What has the rest of the league in a state of desperation is the fact that the Yanks are operating at almost half power. Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer and Moose Skowran all have been powdering the ball, but Joe Collins, Gil McDougald, Andy Carey and Billy Margin own a combined average of about .201.

Still, Senor Al Lopez doesn't seem worried. He has his three top pitchers—Early Wynn (paired with Tommy Byrne in the opener), Herb Score and Bob Lemon—set for the series, and had kind words for the rest of his team.

He said he is highly pleased with Chico Carrasquel, obtained from the White Sox for Larry Doby during the winter. Most baseball folk thought he made a mistake.

"All I know is that Carrasquel always looked good against us," said the Senor. "He is playing as good or better than I've even seen him in the field.

"True, he isn't hitting for average, but he has batted in some very important runs for us."

Felter Is One-Man Track, Field Team

Felter scored all of his school's points as the academy lost a track meet to Delbarton, 47-25.

Felter won the 100-yard dash, the 220, the high jump the broad jump and the shot put. Delbarton captured the other three first spots and all seconds and thirds.

Jayhawk Golf Team In Tie For Second In State Meet

COLLEGE STATION (SC)—Navarro Junior College of Corsicana succeeded HCJC of Big Spring as Texas Junior College Conference golf champion here Monday.

Navarro's two-man team of Benny Stubbs and Wayne Warrington posted an aggregate 18-hole score of 150. Each linkster had a 75.

HCJC's team of James Lee Underwood and Wilbur Cunningham tied Odessa's combination of Arnold Chambers and Christy Brashears for second place, one stroke off the pace.

Underwood registered a 37-36—73. Cunningham had a 39-39 — 78. Chambers was the tournament's medalist, scoring 35-35—70 on the par 70 course. Underwood was second low player. Brashers of Odessa had 41-40—81.

Frank Phillips was fourth in the team play, with 151; Lon Morris fifth, with 155; Lee and Odessa's second team tied for sixth, with 157 each; Navarro and Frank Phillips tied for eighth, with 161; Panola tenth, 162; Texarkana 11th, with 164; Amarillo 12th, with 170; and Amarillo 13th, with 187.

It required 77 to rate the championship flight in individual competition and Cunningham missed it by one stroke. Eight players composed the title flight.

Underwood drew the defending champion, Jimmy Nutt of Navarro, as his first round opponent and lost, 3 and 2.

The meet winds up today. It is being held on the Texas A & M course.

Garrison plays Bert Singletary of Lon Morris and Nutt opposes Gene Courtney of Phillips in morning semi-final matches.

Five Webb Teams Still Unbeaten

Five teams in the two softball leagues operating at Webb Air Force Base are still undefeated but three of them have only played one contest each.

In recent games, AIO outlasted Petroleum, 13-10. Mann and Cooney composed the AIO battery. Sproesser and Delke hurled for Petroleum while Mathis caught.

AACS nudged Pilot Training Group, 10-9, behind the hurling of Sorrel. Haag caught for the winners while Price and Spera worked as the Pilot Training Group battery.

Petroleum later vanquished Wing, 11-4. West hurled and Mathis received his slants. Fuentes and Cooke toiled as the losers' battery.

Field Maintenance kayoed AACS, 18-4. King and Nelson worked as the Field Maintenance pitcher-cather combination. Sorrel and Haag toiled in vain for AACS.

Skullduggery At Speedway?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— Mechanics fished an unsmoked cigarette from the fuel line of a car being readied for the May 30 Indianapolis Race yesterday and one said it didn't appear the cigarette got there by accident.

Frank Glidden, chief mechanic of the car owned by Fred Sommers of Indianapolis, said there are no cigarette smokers among the car's pit crew members.

"I've been in auto racing a lot of years, and this is the first time this ever happened to me," said Glidden. "The tank was clean when we brought the racer to the track."

The cigarette was found when driver Ed Elisian complained he was unable to get enough fuel on a practice run. Mechanics said a clogged fuel line could cause serious damage in the highly tuned car.

Cotton Defeats Joe Giardello

NEW YORK (AP)—If Joey Giardello wants a return bout, happy Charley (King) Cotton says the onetime leading middleweight contender can have it any time.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner, still chuckling over the fourth straight upset at St. Nicholas Arena, said today he hoped to make the repeat for June 4 or 11.

Giardello said he would like the chance to avenge the loss, his first in nearly two years. It all depends on whether or not Joey blew a tentative June 6 television date with Willie Vaughn in Chicago by losing.

Cotton, a 5-1 underdog, finished strong in the last three rounds last night to pull out a tight but unanimous 10-round decision.

Outweighed 159½ to 154½, Cotton, a 26-year-old comparative unknown from Toledo, Ohio, was much stronger than Giardello.

Judges Harold Barnes and Joe Eppy voted for Cotton 5-4-1. Referee Mark Conn called it even in rounds, 5-5 for each, but had Charley in front on points 8-6. The AP card had Cotton ahead 6-4. Conn penalized the 25-year-old Philadelphian the ninth round for his third low blow of the bout but Cotton had won that round by a big margin anyway.

VA Instructor Pact Offered By Coahoma Board

COAHOMA (SC) — Raeburn A. Foster of Huckaby has been offered a two-year contract as vocational agriculture instructor at Coahoma High School.

Supt. H. L. Miller said that the board made the offer on the basis of an interview held last Thursday. Foster has indicated acceptance and is expected to arrive here June 15 to fill the place left vacant by the death of Wayne White.

Foster, a native of Marietta, Okla., where he finished high school, was graduated with honors from Oklahoma A. & M. with his major in agricultural education, wood working and agronomy. He also was captain of the basketball team.

He began his teaching career in 1952 at Huckaby, where he has been for the past four years. Currently he is working at Texas A&M toward his master of arts degree.

Foster is married and he and Mrs. Foster have a small son and daughter.

The board also reorganized, naming Ed Carpenter as president, Clay Reid as vice president and Woner Robinson as secretary.

Kantor Cops Pulitzer Prize

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Mackinley Kantor's "Andersonville" Monday won the Pulitzer Prize as the best novel of the year.

The prize for the outstanding drama went to "The Diary of Anne Frank" by the husband-wife writing team of Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett.

The other awards in literature went to:

History—"The Age of Reform" by Richard Hofstadter.

Biography — "Benjamin Henry Latrobe" by Talbot Hamlin.

Poetry — "Poems: North and South—A Cold Spring" by Elizabeth Bishop.

The 1956 prize in journalism for meritorious public service was won by the Watsonville (Calif.) Register-Pajaronian "for its courageous exposure of corruption in public office, which led to the resignation of a district attorney and the conviction of one of his associates."

Three divided the award for international reporting.

They are William Randolph Hearst Jr., Kingsbury Smith of International News Service; and Frank Conniff, editorial assistant in Hearst.

The award was for a series of exclusive interviews with leaders of Russia.

Two men shared the prize for local reporting. They are Lee Hills, executive editor of the Detroit Free Press, and Arthur Daley of the New York Times.

The trophy for outstanding national reporting was won by Charles Bartlett of the Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times "for the original disclosures that led to the resignation of Harold E. Talbott as secretary of the Air Force."

Lauren Soth of the Des Moines Register and Tribune got the editorial writing prize. The cartoon prize was won by Robert York of the Louisville Times.

The news photograph award went to the New York Daily News.

The single prize in music was awarded to Ernst Toch for his Third Symphony.

Zoo Romance In The Making

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis zoo's biggest romance is in the making.

A candidate for affections of the two-ton sea elephant Moby Dick has arrived by air from California. The 500-pound mate was termed a regular beauty in sea elephant circles yesterday by Zoo Director George P. Vierheller.

She already has shed her fur and is a fine jet black.

The cow was kept in a separate enclosure overnight and was to be launched today in the pool where Mobey Dick is king.

Vierheller hedged a little and called the candidate a prospective mate.

"Either side may be fickle and romance is imponderable," he declared.

Jap Ex-Student To Host Exes Group

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese businessman, "grateful for the kindness I found in America as an undergraduate years ago," is playing host next week to fellow graduates of Princeton University's class of 1925.

Yoshio Osawa, now head of one of Japan's largest photographic equipment firms, said 17 classmates had accepted his blanket invitation to all 1925ers to be his guests on a tour of Japan.

The 17, plus 12 wives and 3 sons, are scheduled to arrive May 15 by plane from San Francisco. They will tour Tokyo, the ancient capitol of Kyoto, beautiful Hakone National Park, the famed shrines of Nikko, and other spots during a one-week stay.

"I wish all of the more than 500 in my class could have come," Osawa told newsmen in perfect English. "Somehow I would have found a way to secure accommodations for all."

West Virginia Holds Primary

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia voters today choose their party nominees for the U. S. Senate and governor from a list of 18 candidates — the largest selection in 20 years.

The ballot, which also includes candidates for the State Legislature and most other public offices, is probably the longest in the state's history.

Five Democrats and five Republicans are seeking the Senate seat left vacant by the death earlier this year of Harley M. Kilgore, Democrat.

Gov. William C. Marland is seeking the Democratic nomination to the post. State law forbids a governor to succeed himself. His chief opponents are State Atty. Gen. John G. Fox, Fayetteville, and former State Senate President Byron B. Randolph, Clarksburg.

Among Republican candidates for the Senate nomination is former Sen. Chapman Revercomb, only Republican ever elected to a full term since the Roosevelt sweep of 1932. He was elected in 1942 and defeated for re-election.

In the gubernatorial primary, former Tax Commissioner Milton J. Ferguson has the backing of Gov. Marland for the Democratic nomination. Opposing him is Rep. Robert Mollohan, with the backing of organized labor.

Leading Republican candidates are Mayor John T. Copenhaver, Charleston, and Cecil H. Underwood, member of the Legislature from Sistersville.

C-C Gives Endorsement To $900,000 School Bond Issue

Chamber of Commerce directors Monday voted unanimous endorsement of the $900,000 bond issue for the Big Spring Independent School District, to be voted on next Tuesday.

R. W. Thompson, a member of the school board, outlined the district's needs, and said "it is up to the fathers and mothers of Big Spring to decide" whether their children's needs shall be met.

Thompson said although the district was opening new classrooms, "the job has not been finished." He pointed especially to crowded conditions at the Junior High which, he said, should accommodate 750 to 800 students, now houses 1,080 children, and is due to see an enrollment jump of 200 more next year.

More double-day sessions are in prospect facing hundreds of children, Thompson said. He also referred to the item of $140,000 in the bond proposal for an athletic stadium, and said the school system has not improved its athletic plant in keeping with other developments. The fact that Big Spring goes into Class AAAA in the Interscholastic League means that better facilities are required, he said.

Thompson explained that the bond proposal will be offered under a new state school financing law which provides changes in tax rates set up for maintenance, and to retire debts. Because of this voters will have to cast three separate ballots. Thompson emphasized that success of the school program will be determined by voters casting a favorable ballot in all three cases.

In observance of Chamber of Commerce Week, the Rev. Gage Lloyd addressed directors. He lauded accomplishments of the organization in past years, but reminded that greater responsibilities lie ahead. A successful civic organization, he said, must have vision, must have money, and must have enthusiasm.

With foresight and planning, with a willingness to risk capital, and with energy and work, he said the community could continue to grow.

Possums Pick Hot Spot For Nest

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Mother Opposum made a slight error in selecting a home for her brood of five, but they all came out all right.

She gathered some straw and made a bed atop the engine of Robert J. Anvoots' automobile.

For two weeks Anvoots didn't use the auto. Yesterday he got in, stepped on the starter, but heard only a click. The battery didn't turn over the engine. It had a dead cell.

Anvoots lifted the hood, found the opossums resting comfortably in the straw nest. If the battery had done its work the straw would have been set afire.

Anvoots turned over the opposums to the animal shelter.

Snake Banned From TV As 'Imitation'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Temporarily at least, Grover must refrain from playing snake roles on television because a producer claims Grover is an imitation of Cecil, the seasick serpent.

Superior Judge John J. Ford issued an order restraining Stanley Freberg from presenting his hand manipulated puppet snake on the NBC Comedy Hour pending trial of Bob Clampett's two-million-dollar suit.

Producer Clampett originated Cecil on the Time for Beany TV show. He sued on the ground that Grover, headliner in Freberg's show, is an infringement. Freberg formerly was associated with Clampett.

Honeymooners Seek Uranium

RHYOLITE, Nev. (AP)—A young couple, married in this ghost town's first formal wedding in half a century, are spending their honeymoon prospecting for uranium in the Nevada desert.

Donna Jean Clark, 21, and Gerald C. Broderson, 25, were married Saturday by H. H. Heisler, a retired minister from Macon Ga., who recently became a justice of the peace. He and his wife live in an abandoned railway depot, the only habitable building in this rip-roaring wild west mining camp.

The wedding was performed outdoors under a hot sun with the desert as backdrop.

The reception—with champagne—was held in the ruins of a crumbling hotel. There being no quarters here, the newlyweds are staying at a motel in nearby Beatty during their honeymoon.

Former HCJC Faculty Member Wins Tech Award

W. R. Thompson, center, former Howard County Junior College English department head, receives a $1,000 graduate fellowship at Texas Tech. Harry Morris, right, makes the presentation on behalf of the Lubbock Auto Co. as Dr. William Bryan Gates, Tech Graduate School dean, looks on. Thompson, who taught at HCJC from 1952 until 1954, will use the fellowship to complete work on a Doctor of Philosophy degree in English at Tech. (Texas Tech Photo.)

Ex-HCJC English Teacher Wins Scholarship At Tech

W. R. Thompson, a graduate student in English, has received the first $1,000 Lubbock Auto Co. graduate fellowship awarded at Texas Tech, Dr. William Bryan Gates, Tech graduate dean, has announced. Thompson formerly was an instructor of English at Howard County Junior College.

Thompson who now is a Tech instructor in English, will use the award to complete his dissertation for a doctor of philosophy degree in English.

He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas Christian University and was a teaching fellow there while working on the latter degree. He came to Tech as a teaching fellow in 1950 and worked on his doctorate until 1952, when he became English department head at Howard County Junior College. In 1954 he returned to Tech as an English instructor.

The Lubbock Auto Co. fellowship is designed to help a doctoral candidate who has completed all class work for his degree. The grant is to be used in completing a doctoral dissertation. Thompson will edit George Croley's correspondence with the Blackwoods of Blackwood magazine for his dissertation.

A factor in Thompson's selection for the Lubbock Auto award was his record of scholarly publications.

Since returning to Tech, he has had two articles published and another scheduled. His "A Great Books Program" has appeared in the Junior College Journal and "Aminadab in Hawthorne's 'The Birthmark' " in Modern Language Notes, a Johns Hopkins University publication.

A third article, "Melville's Paradise of Bachelors and Tartarus of Maids': ' Reinterpretation," will appear either this summer or fall in The American Quarterly, a University of Pennsylvania journal.

Both the Hawthorne and Melville articles stem from research in Tech English department seminar courses.

Thompson's former home is Wheeling, W. Va., where he was graduated from Triadelphia High School. He is married and has one child.

Pranksters Pull Off Mock 'Tank War'

DALLAS (AP) —Pranksters sneaked into a warehouse full of tractors, waged a "mock tank war" with two dozen tractors and left damage estimated at nearly $1,000. Warehousemen told police someone cranked up 24 of 200 new tractors, maneuvered them dangerously about a 300-foot square, leaving most with smashed radiators and some still locked together after deliberate head-on collisions.

Varel Studies Upgrading Of Sour Crude From Area Fields

Desulphurizing and upgrading crude oil from the Varel Field of Howard County is being investigated as a means of relieving the distress market on spur crudes in this area.

Writing in the Dallas News, Jay Hall, oil editor, reported that D. W. Varel, Dallas, the discoverer and principal producer in the pool which bears his name northwest of Big Spring, has initiated the studies.

He has retained the First Development Corporation, headed by J. B. Allinson, to pursue the project. Allinson said that considerable laboratory work has been done and results were regarded as favorable. The main problem is one of economics, he said, because cost of the upgrading must be balanced with final price realized for the treated crude.

Not only is the demand for crude oil in the Varel field light, but that from other fields in the Howard-Mitchell-Scurry areas which produce sour crude. Coltex and Cosden, who formerly took most of the production, have no demand to match the greatly increased production in the area.

A short time ago an unsuccessful effort was made to re-activate the old Sharon Ridge Producers and Royalty Owners Association as an instrument of seeking an outlet for the distress sour crude. Operators attending the meeting here talked at length about the problem but in the end showed no particular interest in reorganizing.

Varel said that aim of the project he has under way is not only to remove the sulphur content in the crude (about 2.5 per cent for Varel field oil), but also an upgrading of gravity from the present 29 degrees.

The proposal has its revolutionary aspects in that it would mark two industry firsts: 1) It would be the first time that "whole" purification is attempted, and 2) it would be the first time for such attempts at a field base. The normal procedure is to upgrade and purify crude in connection with refining operations. Varel believes that the field purification move is a logical step forward in conventional treatment methods.

Neither Varel nor Allinson would disclose the processes now under investigation, but Allinson did indicate that some form of hydrogenation might be employed for the sulphur removal. This would involve construction of a field plant and perhaps an auxiliary for producing hydrogen. The possibility of securing a supply of hydrogen from Cosden, which produces a substantial volume in connection with its BTX operation, may be explored.

Controlling factor in a decision will be that of price, Varel made clear. Currently Varel crude brings $2.55 per barrel. He hoped that by boosting the gravity of 36 degrees and removing sulphur, the cost might reach $2.82, or 27 cents more per barrel. Varel did hold out the possibility that purification of the crude might make it attractive enough to command a premium market. Without some form of changing the crude to command a ready market, Varel held out dim prospects of expansion in the Varel and other sour crude areas.

Disappearance Plot Thickens

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mystery piled on mystery today in the puzzling disappearance of a wealthy Bel-Air matron with the disclosure that her husband also has disappeared.

L. Ewing Scott, subject of an exhaustive police and grand jury investigation into last year's disappearance of his wife, was last seen Tuesday.

Scott dined Tuesday night with his close friend, divorcee Mrs. Marianne Beaman. She told his attorney that his last words then were that he would call her the next morning.

"He didn't call," the counsel quoted her. "I haven't seen him and I'm worried."

Scott took her to dinner Tuesday in a 1948 maroon coupe which was found abandoned yesterday on a Santa Monica street with a bullet hole through the windshield.

Mrs. Beaman said there were no bullet holes in the car Tuesday night. Police estimated it had been abandoned about five days when found Saturday.

Scott disappeared in the face of a long list of court appointments facing him within the next few weeks. Including is a May 15 date to enter a plea to a 13-count grand theft and forgery indictment voted by the grand jury.

Income Tax Cut Studies Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Reed (R-NY) says Congress should start a study to pave the way for broad cuts in income tax rates "as soon as the budget permits."

Reed, senior Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, did not specifically call for tax cuts at this session, but proposed Saturday night a program which he said "should commend itself to every member of Congress, irrespective of party."

He suggested that the present top rate of 91 per cent be cut to not more than 75 per cent, that other rates "including the bottom" be cut accordingly, and that many special exemptions be eliminated.

A more general call for a tax study came during the weekend from Sen. Butler (R-Md), who said "our tax structure needs a complete overhaul."

Butler said he would ask the Senate Tuesday to set up a special commission, patterned after the Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization, to make a broad study of federal taxes.

Woman Of The Year

Miss Jewel Barton has been named by the Beta Sigmi Phi as "Woman of the Year," having been selected from a list of nominees submitted by several local organizations.

Of course our community is fortunate in having many women whose records of unselfish service qualifies them for such an honor anytime, but only one can be singled out for the top recognition each year. In the case of Miss Barton, the honor is one well deserved.

She has been active in many affairs which are directly and indirectly, or not even at all, associated with her profession as health nurse for the city-county health unit. Hers has been an achievement which was based upon concern for people in need of help, and who found in her an individual who paid no attention to the clock in doing what she could to alleviate suffering and to promote individual and public health.

Miss Barton has been one of those souls who looks for something to do, and having found a crying need, a person who would not be stopped by ordinary obstacles which would be as easy excuse to most of us.

It is good to see such a spirit recognized publicly. Actually, she has already been enshrined in the hearts of a lot of poor folks and miserable wretches as well as in the hearts of crippled little children and their families as a wonderful woman in any year.

Can This Be A Worthy Sacrifice?

The dreaded word has come that Victor Reisel, labor columnist for the New York Daily News, has become permanently blinded as the result of having acid hurled in his face.

This abominable deed was done by some unidentified hoodlum who, it now appears, may never be brought to account for his misdeeds. Prospect that he will be caught and tried is dim not alone from the mystery involved, but because the powers who undoubtedly hired him to do the job may conclude (if indeed they have not already) that he would be less of a risk dead. Anyone who would have no more conscience than to order such a deed to be perpetrated, would also possess no compunctions against murder.

Mr. Riesel has made a great sacrifice for his courageous stand against lawlessness and racketeering in certain labor unions along the waterfront. It would be a pity if this sacrifice is allowed to go for naught.

Certainly, authorities ought to pull and tug thoroughly at every little thread of a lead. They ought to keep the heat on against the jungle law which inflicted a cruel spite against Mr. Reisel.

Organized labor has a stake and a responsibility in this too. Good unions, and there are many operated in keeping with sound democratic principles and in an upright manner, have an obligation to do everything they can to drive out the hoodlums which have bored their way into some unions to prey upon working men and to brutally erase any who would oppose. If Mr. Riesel's eyes help to sustain a purpose to do this, he may not have reason to believe that his eyes were the futile wages of decency.

Harriman's Bid For Truman Support

WASHINGTON—Governor Averell Harriman of New York this week will receive the annual Four Freedoms Award. If it were not for certain very special circumstances, this would be just another one of those trophies—a line added in "Who's Who" — presented at a speech-making banquet.

But it happens that the award will be presented by former President Truman. And this comes at the moment when Harriman and his mentor, Carmine DeSapio, chief of Tammany Hall, are beginning openly to push the Governor's claim to the Presidential nomination.

The objective, carefully planned, is to make this appear as a Truman endorsement of the Harriman candidacy. Many of the ex-President's friends and former associates have long suspected that he is privately for Harriman and he would have to go only a little farther in his speech of presentation to confirm this impression.

Resenting Adlai Stevenson's determination to set the tone of his own campaign, Truman has found Harriman far more receptive to his "give 'em hell" advice.

Harriman's "inactive" candidacy—and Harriman himself has had trouble defining just what that means—has caused a big upheaval in the Democratic party.

On one thing everybody agrees, and that is that Harriman has about as severe a case of Presidential virus as has been seen in a long time. Although the bug bit him late in life, it has taken a tenacious hold. Four years ago when he was 61 and before he had been elected to any public office, the Governor came down with the disease.

At the Democratic convention in Chicago, he opened headquarters in the Arizona suite at the Palmer House. The suite was decorated in ranch-house style with a big patio where Candidate Harriman received delegates and reporters before an artificial fire in an artificial fireplace, although the whole place was comfortably air-conditioned. This setting somewhat accentuated the artificial nature of the Harriman candidacy.

But the virus today is far more virulent. Harriman is 65 and this is his last chance. He won the governorship by a hairbreadth margin when it had been freely predicted that he would be swamped by his Republican opponent, Senator Irving Ives.

Harriman is deeply resentful of the strong Stevenson-for-President Committee at work in New York. This committee recently organized a $100 a plate dinner for Stevenson attended by 1,100 persons at which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Senator Herbert Lehman of New York gave all-out tributes for the candidate from Illinois.

If he could get Truman's open approval on the even of the former President's departure for Europe, it would give him a fine springboard for the series of speeches he will shortly make in a half dozen Western states. But as a veteran player, Truman is not likely to be jockeyed into an endorsement unless he has decided well in advance that this is the course he wishes to pursue.

In his role as the sage of Independence, the former President has in recent weeks talked freely with all comers about the Democratic race. Buth they come away with distinctly different impressions. It is a little like reading tea leaves, and the visitor tends to take out of the ex-President's often-salty talk what happens to be favorable for the candidate in whom he is interested.

One theme running through these talks is that the Democratic party has a plentitude of able candidates, any one of whom could be President. Of late, Truman appears to have left Stevenson out of this list.

One of those close to Truman is former Democratic National Chairman Frank McKinney, who was supplanted by Stevenson when he got the latter the party nomination four years ago.

McKinney had a hand in organizing the meeting of high-ranking Democrats from 14 states in Denver in early March. Some of those participating, Governor Raymond Gary of Oklahoma among them, were frank in admitting that this was a pro-Harriman session which gave incidental support to Kefauver with the realization of what his triumphs in the Presidential primaries might do to Stevenson.

But on a television program recently McKinney said that he no longer was for Harriman but that Senator Stuart Symington was his second choice in the event that Stevenson and Kefauver succeeded in destroying each other.

In Truman's own Missouri, a powerful favorite-son candidacy for Symington has developed. Truman was consulted about this and, in effect, said he had no objection. But he is far from being an admirer of the Senator, who now is in the headlines as the chairman of a subcommittee investigating deficiencies in American aircraft and missile development.

A cynical politician invited to the Four Freedoms dinner for Harriman wrote back suggesting it be made five freedoms—the fifth freedom being the freedom to run for President. That is the freedom which Harriman is exercising with a fine, free-wheeling zeal. What the end result will be is, at this writing, anyone's guess.

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — An art form as yet unnamed has been developed by famed Midland architect Alden B. Dow.

It utilizes a translucent plastic screen on which images are projected through colored spotlights accenting backstage props. Three ballet dancers perform behind the screen to musical accompaniment.

Dow says the device permits visual as well as auditory enjoyment of music and integrates dancing with instrumental performance in a way that has never been done before.

Economical Pains In The Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The little man gets pains in his head and dollar signs before his eyes when he hears talk about economics. The economists always seem to be disagreeing about money, inflation, deflation, credit.

And when they disagree most they can sound the most positive. Even when they look into the future, as they are always doing, they don't see the same things. The little man thought the pains in his head might go away if he just studied up a bit.

Then he could be positive too, and even if he was wrong he would feel more comfortable because he could be wrong without having doubts about being right.

He opened a book called "Modern Economics." The first sentence told him: "In these times almost everyone regards himself as something of an economist."

This was wonderful news. From now on no matter what he thought he would always have plenty of company. He thought he had plenty of company already.

He had heard sales of automobiles and farm machinery were filling, that there have been layoffs in both industries but that employment in general has gone up while basic wages are rising.

But it was talk about credit that had been giving him those pains in the head lately.

Last March Rep. Patman (D-Tex) reflected on the borrowing Americans were doing—they were doing it at a record rate—and seemed to think it was pretty good.

"Credit," Patman said, "is the poor man's capital." And he said "I don't see any harm in it" if consumer credit was twice its present size. But the Board of Governors of the federal reserve system was getting worried about borrowing.

It thought too much of it might push inflation. So it raised the discount rate for its member bankers. This was meant to put a bit of a brake on borrowing because people would have to pay a little higher interest rate on the money they borrowed.

Immediately experts began disagreeing on whether this was good or necessary. President Eisenhower backed the board last week. But two members of his Cabinet had some opinions on the subject —at least, before Eisenhower expressed his.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said the brake on borrowing "may have been a mistake." He said, "I see no threat of inflation at all." Secretary of Commerce said "money is tight" and he thought making it harder to borrow might be a handicap.

Weeks' Commerce Department, in its most recent report on the economy, painted a pretty picture. It said there were some leveling off from 1955 but the economy is on a high plane.

Its latest figures show: as of March 31 consumer credit was $35,537,000,000 (or 5½ billion dollars higher than last year), installment credit was $27,964,000,000 (up almost five billion), and noninstallment credit was $7,572,000,000 (up more than half a billion).

This report showed just how much people were up to their necks in new automobiles. Auto installment credit was $24,565,000,000, or more than half the nation's total consumer credit of 35½ billion dollars.

Paine Was Pain

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Thomas Paine, the Revolutionary War era philosopher was born a Pain, but changed his name, says Col. Richard Gimbel, who owns one of the largest collections of Paine's works.

Gimbel, retired chairman of the air science department at Yale University, says one of the famous writer's first articles, describing a new method of making saltpeter, was signed "Thomas Pain." By the time he wrote his celebrated pamphlet, "Common Sense," however, he had added an "e" to his name.

Doe Kidnaps Calf

The deer refused to leave the calf, and drove off Hanson's dog. The farmer chased the deer away and took the calf to the barn for safe keeping.

Dixie Lad Becomes African Hunter

NEW YORK (AP)—Wally Jones is the only Southerner I know of who can say "ninyi yote" without feeling self-conscious.

Jones, a former Cub Scout from Birmingham, Ala., at 25 is an African white hunter, and "ninyi yote" in the swahili tongue means "you all."

Wally shot his first rabbit at the age of 9. At 16 he saw an African movie, and decided right then and there he had to become a professional white hunter.

"I couldn't think of anything life held that could pleasure me more," he recalled.

Thousands of American boys hold this romantic dream briefly, then outgrow it. Wally didn't.

He quit college, joined the U.S. Marines, saved his money. He had $1,000 when he left the Marines in 1952. A few days later he was on a tramp steamer headed for Africa. The authorities in British East Africa made him post a $300 bond to insure his ability to return to America. That left Wally practically penniless on a strange continent.

He went to a white hunter in Nairobi, Kenya, and told him his ambition. The man liked the courage and determination shown by this chunky, blue-eyed Alabama youth. He took him on as an apprentice.

Wally learned so quickly that within a year he had won a hunter's license himself. Since then he has led 15 safaris, shot everything from leopards to elephants. Recently his skill won him the job of technical adviser on "Safari," a Columbia Pictures film starring Janet Leigh and Victor Mature.

Jones is one of two Americans among the 30 to 40 white hunters in British East Africa. At 25 Wally is among the youngest. The career of a white hunter is relatively short.

"After 40 or 45 most of them get domesticated and turn to farming," he said. "But one of the best hunters, a Belgian count, is still active at 54.

"Hunting in Africa isn't particularly dangerous if you use your head. In the time I've been out there no client has been killed, and only one professional hunter. He was killed in a shooting accident."

Unscarred himself, Wally, who has a soft voice and hands rough as sandpaper, is completely satisfied with his life.

"The country out there isn't crowded. It's open and beautiful.

"It's no way to get rich. Oh, goodness no, sir. I figure we make about a dollar an hour or less on safari, and we work 16 hours a day."

The clients pay approximately $100 a day to go on safari. Most are well-to-do, but they range from Indiana schoolteachers to airplane pilots and Texas oilmen.

"The Texans are about the best hunters," said Wally. "Some of them can stalk game as well as we can. In fact I've learned a few tricks from them."

Corner On Basket Market

Did I ever tell you about the time I was a bushel basket king?

I didn't?

Well, then I will.

It was back in that era which realistic folk call the "depression" and more conservative characters refer to as "a period of retarded business."

A friend of mine was superintendent of a district warehouse for the distribution of surplus commodities to the needy of a dozen counties. Much of this food came to him in bushel baskets, complete with lids.

In the course of a year or so, he found he had accumulated 10,000 of these empty baskets in the warehouse. His superior instructed him to secure at least three bids and sell the 10,000 bushel baskets (with tops) to the best and highest bidder. He tried to get three bidders.

Two submitted bids. In desperation, he asked me if I would place a bid.

"My goodness," I exclaimed, "I wouldn't know what to bid and what would I do with 10,000 bushel baskets?"

He assured me that if I bid 5½ cents apiece for the baskets some other bidder would certainly offer a higher price and that my bid would only clear the way for him to get rid of that mountain of wickerware in his warehouse.

So I bid 5½ cents each for 10,000 bushel baskets.

He came to see me the next day, looking just a little chagrined and upset.

"Well," he said, slowly, "what do you want me to do with your baskets?"

"My gosh!" I said "MY baskets?"

"Yep," said my friend. "Your's was the highest and best bid. I sold 'em to you."

I went to the warehouse.

There stacked in orderly piles, one inside the other, from floor to ceiling and over an area which looked as big as the State of Texas was my $550 worth of bushel baskets.

The U. S. Government wanted its $550. I didn't have $550.

By working a shenanigan, I kept the baskets in the warehouse and set out to peddle them. I sold a hundred to one man, 50 to another.

If you wanted a single bushel basket, I'd personally go get it and deliver it.

The price ranged from 7½ cents down and down. When I had just about $550 worth sold (months later) I peddled the remainder of the lot for 3 cents each.

I dreamed bushel baskets during those weeks. I tried to buttonhole everyone I met and sell him some of my baskets.

You'd be surprised, honestly, how very, very few people there are in a town of 15,000 who need bushel baskets.

That was a good many years ago.

The depression has departed. I have grown older.

But even today when I happen to walk by some place where there are bushel baskets stacked in neat orderly piles, I feel a quickening of the pulse and a vague sense of unease.

And usually I walk 'way around to avoid coming any closer to the things than I have to.

It's almost an obsession the way I detest those utilitarian containers.

The Gallup Poll

GOP Claims Gains Among Workers

PRINCETON, N. J., — An analysis of the political climate today among the rank and file of labor reveals these salient points about the parties and the possible candidates:

1. Although the Democratic party is still the preferred party of a majority of both skilled and unskilled workers, the GOP has made some headway in wooing workers away from the Democrats.

2. Eisenhower, who is personally more popular with workers than his party is, continues to attract a sizable labor vote, as he did in 1952.

3. Of the Democratic candidate possibilities, workers today favor Sen. Estes Kefauver over Adlai Stevenson.

An Institute survey, previously reported, showed that, in terms of party strength, the GOP has cut the Democrats' margin over the Republicans from 20 million more voters one year ago down to 12.7 million today.

The extent to which the two parties have "sold" themselves and their policies to labor is revealed in interviews among a representative cross-section of skilled and unskilled workers. Each worker was asked:

"Which national political party — the Republican or Democratic — do you think is best for people in your line of work?"

Here is the vote today of skilled workers (carpenters, plumbers, electricians, foremen, etc.), together with the comparable vote four years ago:

PARTY BEST FOR SKILLED WORKERS
(Vote of Skilled Workers only)

	1952	TODAY
	Per Cent
Republican	14	25
Democratic	57	51
No difference	12	12
No opinion	17	12

And here is the vote of unskilled and semi-skilled workers (operatives, laborers, protective personnel, etc.):

PARTY BEST FOR UNSKILLED WORKERS
(Vote of Unskilled Workers only)

	1951	TODAY
	Per Cent
Republican	13	20
Democratic	57	56
No difference	13	12
No opinion	17	12

In their fight to break the Democratic party's hold on labor, GOP hopes must be pinned to a great extent on the personal popularity of President Eisenhower, who continues to be more popular than his party is with the nation's workers.

This is shown in the results of an Institute "trial heat" among workers, in which a possible Republican ticket of Eisenhower and Nixon was matched against a possible Democratic ticket of Stevenson and Kefauver, as follows:

"Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If Eisenhower and Nixon were nominated for President and Vice President on the Republican ticket and Stevenson and Kefauver on the Democratic ticket, which ticket would you like to see win?"

EISENHOWER & NIXON vs. STEVENSON & KEFAUVER
(Vote of workers only)

	Skilled	Unskilled
	Per Cent
Eisenhower-Nixon	51	48
Stevenson-Kefauver	47	50
Undecided	2	2

How do workers size up the Democratic candidates?

Each worker was handed a list of names prominently mentioned as candidates and asked:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate?"

The vote for the top four candidates:

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES
(Vote of workers only)

	Skilled	Unskilled
	Per Cent
Kefauver	42	37
Stevenson	27	31
Lausche	6	4
Harriman	6	6
Others, no opinion	12	22

Senator Kefauver was the definite choice of workers over Stevenson if the convention choice were narrowe down to the two men, as follows:

"Suppose the choice were narrowed down to Stevenson and Kefauver. Which one would you prefer to have the Democratic convention select?"

The vote of workers:

	Skilled	Unskilled
	Per Cent
Kefauver	62	50
Stevenson	31	42
No opinion	7	8

A Notable Church Will Rise Again

LONDON—Miracles in the atom age are doubly precious, so I am jubilant over one slowly taking shape in London Town. It is the decision to rebuild, as a memorial to the Royal Air Force, the lovely church of St. Clement Danes, which rises in the center of the Strand, just before it flows into Fleet St.

In the awful blitz of London, which is already only a twice-told tale to school children, there was a terrible affinity between German bombs and the 52 poetic London churches designed by Sir Christopher Wren between 1670 and 1711. They went down like tenpins.

In three different raids, St. Clement Danes received direct hits. When I went to London in the winter of 1941-42, only the gray stone walls, deeply pitted and scarred, and the light, airy, infinitely graceful tower (added by James Gibbs in 1719, thirty-eight years after the church was built) remained, which was a miracle indeed. But her wounds were so mortal that police roped off the Wren church. No one was allowed near, for fear the fire-blackened walls would crumble. The general concensus was that she was too badly stricken—to be rebuilt, and her vicar slowly climbed to the top of the tower and threw himself to his death in the street below.

To anyone who has ever worked in Fleet St., London's "newspaper row," the destruction of St. Clement Danes was agonizing and personal.

It was the church where Dr. Samuel Johnson worshiped, and outside of which he stands in bronze in a statue by Percy Fitzgerald. The blitz knocked his pedestal a bit askew, but the irascible doctor still stood among the ruins.

In the years since its destruction, I never have passed St. Clement Danes without tears in my heart for this lovely, silent ghost of whom generations of Londoners have sung, "Oranges and lemons, say the bells of St. Clement's." The fire that consumed the pulpit, carved by Grinling Gibbons, destroyed the singing bells.

It was generally believed that the best the ghost could hope for was to be permitted to stand as a devastating memorial to the blitz.

So my surprise and joy were immeasurable a few days ago when I discovered, on my usual visit to St. Clement Danes, that the many who owed so much to the few have found a beautiful way in which to show some measure of their gratitude.

By public subscription, they have undertaken the heroic task of rebuilding the church as a memorial to the RAF, "to serve as a perpetual shrine of Royal Air Force remembrance."

In the rebuilt church, on which work scarcely has begun, will be permanently housed a roll of honor or "Books of Remembrance, with the names of 125,000 airmen and airwomen who gave their lives for their country in two world wars."

From his pedestal, Dr. Johnson supervises the work. And anyone who wishes to help raise the $400,000 needed for the memorial and for the resurrection of St. Clement's can do so by writing the Hon. Treasurer, in care of St. Clement Danes, RAF Appeal, Lloyd's Bank, Ltd., 222 Strand, London, WC2.

HOSPITAL WEEK

May 6th to 12th

During this week when the thoughts of this community are directed toward our splendid hospital facilities, which are making us a recognized Medical Center, it seems appropriate that, in justice to us as individuals, the public should be advised of the reasons why we are serving on a Hospital Foundation Board, and why we are trying to preserve its tax free status.

Neither Howard County nor the City of Big Spring has as much as one dollar invested in hospital facilities, so our citizens have no charges on their tax rolls for this as have so many other places. Yet if we continue to grow, sooner or later additional hospital beds will have to be provided. Most communities recognize this as an obligation second only to provision for schools.

Hospitals are built by

a. Public Subscription (as in Midland, etc.)
b. By Bond issues paid by taxes (most places)
c. By the doctors themselves – as here.

Hospitals cost to build and equip, exclusive of Clinics and laboratories, from $15,000.00 to $20,000.00 per bed, occupying approximately 700 sq. feet.

A recent survey shows that the cost of hospital service to bed patients ranges from $18.00 to $28.00 per day, the average being about $23.00 per day.

All of our hospitals here, except the magnificent plants of the Federal and State Governments, were built by the doctors themselves, growing up, in most instances, by additions to facilities providing a few beds in connection with a clinic. Due to the rising costs of building and operating such, together with the heavy impact of Federal and ad valorem taxes, a point was reached several years ago where no further such additions could reasonably be expected to be financed by the doctors themselves – in fact the doctor owners concerned found they would be financially better off if they discontinued the care of bed patients.

The Hospital Foundation Laws of the State of Texas, as in most other states, provide that if hospital properties are owned by a truly non-profit organization, they shall be tax free, and the Federal Government recognizes and grants tax exemption to such in each state if they are properly set up and operated. Such non-profit groups may be a church or other well established institution of non-profit character, or a specially organized group of citizens, who for that purpose take title to the property, and operate it as trustees for the citizens. Such a group is called a Foundation.

The doctor owners of two of the largest hospital properties here, confronted with the financial impasse described above, decided to turn their properties over to Foundation Groups. They did not give it to the trustees, but in each case the price was arrived at by disinterested appraisals and this price, or the cost of the properties, to be paid solely from its operations, on terms almost identical to what the citizens would be paying on a bond issue, if the County or City had been the purchaser. THIS ARRANGEMENT IS WORKING, AND THESE PAYMENTS ARE BEING MADE AND THE END RESULT WILL BE THAT IN ABOUT FOURTEEN YEARS FROM NOW THE COMMUNITY WILL OWN TWO EXCELLENT HOSPITAL PROPERTIES, FREE OF DEBT. This will be a base upon which needed additions can be financed, as it will be over a million dollars worth of debt free, well located hospital property.

Federal Government, after investigation, has granted us tax exemption. We have not been paying ad valorem taxes, for the reasons that to pay such taxes might, in the opinion of our attorneys, jeopardize our tax free status with the Federal Government. If such ad valorem taxes are paid, the final liquidation of the purchase price will be delayed to the extent of such payments. Each hospital does each year many times as much pure charity work as its ad valorem taxes amount to, many of which bills should properly be paid by the County or City. No patient is ever refused service because of inability to pay. This is aside from bad accounts, which run about ten per cent of gross practice.

We sincerely believe that under the Hospital Foundation setup, it is possible for our citizens to receive the highest possible type of medical service at the most reasonable cost. Our doctors are all on salary, so they do not make any more by doing an unnecessary operation or giving an unneeded shot. Patients are readily referred to the one in the group best fitted to handle his particular case, and all may have the consultive service of all or other members of the group where the need is indicated.

Such are the facts guiding us, and causing us to serve, without pay, as members of a Hospital Foundation Board. We are not "fronting for a group of doctors" to avoid taxes and increase their personal incomes. We are, however, conspirators in that we are conspiring to acquire some valuable hospitals, free of debt, for our community. This we cannot accomplish if we lose our tax free status. We believe, as individuals, that our history of present and prior service to the community, justifies us in asking that the facts herein stated, be given your reasonable, unprejudiced consideration.

Hospitals Expand Services, Are Faced With Rising Costs

(This is another in a series of articles being published in connection with National Hospital Week observance).

Your hospital bill is a bill for health and longer life. Your hospital provides more services and better care to protect and preserve your life and health than ever before. More services and better care mean greater costs.

The room rates and charges for special services on your hospital bill reflect the increasing expenditures your hospital must make for your care. Around the clock, every day in the week, your hospital is ready to provide care for illness, for injuries, for childbirth, for rehabilitation in disability and for emergency aid in community disaster.

Your hospital can provide this 24 hour a day service only through payment for the costs of care—from patients, from prepayment insurance plans and from governmental agencies responsible for the care of the indigent.

In some hospitals, endowment and contributions help to meet expenses—but most community hospitals must depend on income from patients to meet the cost of service.

Your hospital bill covers services that were unknown even a few years ago. Modern medicine advances steadily in the prevention, control and cure of diseases and disabilities. Medical progress means hospital progress. Advances mean new tests and new treatments, new equipment for your hospital and new skills to be learned by the hospital employes who serve you.

People are using hospitals more today because hospitals have become places of new hope and healing. More than twenty million Americans are admitted to hospitals each year—one in every eight persons, as compared to one in every 16 persons 20 years ago.

Every community hospital is working to provide the most effective care for its patients. But to provide the services made possible by modern medical science, the hospital must be adequately financed by the payments made by patients and by agencies paying for patient care.

Studies of general hospitals indicate that today about 54 per cent of the hospital dollar is spent in the "professional service" departments, such as nursing, operating room, X-ray and laboratory. Costs for these services rise with each advance in medical science.

About 33 per cent of the hospital dollar is spent in the "general service" departments, such as dietary, housekeeping, laundry and maintenance. Modern efficiency has held down—and frequently has reduced—the cost of these services.

The remaining 13 per cent of the hospital dollar is spent for "depreciation"—essential modernization and replacement of plant and equipment—and "administration"—the management of this complexity of services for effective and economical care twenty-four hours a day.

In every department, payroll is a major expense. Salary rates have risen more than 50 per cent in the last decade, and the workweek has been shortened—yet service must be maintained day and night through every week in the year, and new services have demanded additional personnel. As a result, hospital payrolls have tripled in ten years, and two-thirds of all hospital costs today are payroll costs.

The knowledge, planning and labor of many persons stand behind the simplest hospital services. In most community hospitals built today, only 20 per cent of the space is alloted to hospital beds. The remaining 80 per cent of the hospital is the complex and expensive equipment which guards safety and brings life and health, and many of the employes who are never seen by the patient but are directly concerned with his care. In these areas, too, skilled teams are constantly ready to provide many special services. Even though they may not be called upon for every patient, they must be ready, for if the need arises their services may be vital.

For every 100 patients in a hospital there are about 200 employes—50 more than there were ten years ago. In the largest hospitals there may be one or more employes in each of some 200 job classifications, and more than two employes for every patient. In small hospitals, where employes must sometimes "double" the ratio may be slightly less. Yet the patient sees only a few of the many people who care for him during his stay.

Hospital costs must rise—but improvements in efficiency help to hold costs down. Because hospital care is more effective, the average length of stay in the hospital has been shortened. Patients return to work more quickly. This helps to hold down hospital bills and to make them easier to pay.

Hospitals have held down costs by developing more efficient methods. In many cases, the increased use of services has made it possible to lower the cost of an individual test or service. However, the principles of mass production can never completely apply in the hospital. Illness and accident cannot be predicted, nor can the needs of any patient be precisely determined in advance.

Your hospital must be prepared at all times to provide all services to each individual patient admitted, according to his individual needs.

Hospitals, like business and industry and like individual citizens, must meet "cost of living" increases. In addition, they must budget for constantly expanding services. The average cost for each twenty-four hours of care in the hospital has nearly doubled in the last decade, in spite of economies brought about by more efficient methods.

Death For Dope Pushers Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Price Daniel of Texas predicted today Congress will approve this year "the substantial provisions" of a bill to authorize the death penalty for selling heroin to youngsters.

Daniel heads a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which drafted the bill after months of public hearings last year. It received testimony of increasing teen-age addiction to heroin, which Daniel termed "slow murder."

The senator said he expects the subcommittee will vote this week to send the measure without further major change to the Judiciary Committee.

He said if the bill is amended by the subcommittee at all, it probably will be "something to strengthen it—to make it more possible for the capital penalty to be meted out in extreme cases."

The bill would outlaw the possession and sale of heroin for any purpose, including medicinal use, and provide longer prison sentences for sale of heroin or marijuana.

The bill would give juries the option of imposing life imprisonment or death for a third conviction of sale of heroin to adults, and the option of imposing sentences from 10 years to death for a first or subsequent sale of heroin to anyone under 18.

Faulty Commode Causes 3 Deaths

HUGHES, Ark. (AP) — A faulty commode in the bathroom of a 20-foot steel houseboat flooded the craft yesterday. Three people drowned when it sank.

The houseboat heeled over in Horseshoe Lake shortly after it was anchored about 50 feet from the bank about 1 a.m. Eleven persons were aboard for a family fishing party.

The dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Akin of Proctor, Ark., and Robert E. Cunningham, 33, who farmed near Hughes. Mrs. Akin, 48, was the Proctor postmistress.

Leonard To Ask Re-Election

W. O. LEONARD

W. O. (Orion) Leonard, constable for Precinct 1, has authorized The Herald to announce his candidacy for re-election to the post.

Leonard has been constable since January, 1953, when he was appointed to succeed the late J. T. (Chief) Thornton. He was re-elected to the office in 1954, from a field of six candidates.

Prior to becoming constable, Leonard served as justice of the peace for Precinct 1 for four years, serving from Jan. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1952.

Leonard asked that all voters in Justice Precinct 1 consider his announcement as an appeal for consideration and support at the polls in the Democratic primary in July. He said he will contact as many voters as possible in advance of the primary.

Romans Led World In Military Skill

By RAMON COFFMAN

After serving as governor of Spain, Gaius Julius Caesar returned to Rome. There he became a close friend of a rich Roman named Crassus.

Crassus was famed for his wealth, and probably was the richest man in Rome. It appears, however, that his fortune amounted to only about 10 million dollars, as we measure money. (Many a modern multimillionaire would think of Crassus as a "poor little rich man" or "a rich little poor man.")

Money was needed by Pompey a Roman general who had proved his skill on the eastern frontiers of the Roman Empire. Caesar introduced Pompey to Crassus, and the three men formed a union known as a "triumvirate." They decided to divide the power over Rome into three parts, one for each of them.

Caesar was 41 years of age at this time, and Pompey was 47. Julia, a child of Caesar's first marriage, and now a young woman, caught the eye of Pompey. She was given to Pompey in marriage, and he became the son-in-law of a man six years younger than himself!

After holding the office of consul at Rome, Caesar was placed in command of Roman forces in Gaul. Gaul covered almost the same area as present-day France.

Caesar spent 10 years in Gaul, except for two "excursions" which he made into Britain. He defended the province from attacks by Teutons, or German tribesmen, who crossed the Rhine River. He also put down rebellions when certain tribes of Gauls rose against their Roman masters.

At that time the Romans were the leading "fighters" of the known world. Their soldiers carried spears and swords, and guarded themselves with shields and helmets.

Nothing was known about gunpowder, but the Romans used military machines. These included catapults, which were employed to hurl stones and other missiles at the enemy.

Cliff, Meg Aren't 'News' Anymore

NEW YORK (AP)—Clifton Daniel says he and his bride, the former Margaret Truman, aren't "news any more."

The couple returned from a two-week honeymoon in Nassau last night. "We're an old married couple now," said Daniel. "We're not news any more."

Daniel, an assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times, said he and Margaret will live in her apartment until they find a place of their own.

Wayland Col. Board To Meet

Maple Avery, Big Spring, is expected for the annual spring meeting of the Wayland College board of trustees at 3 p.m. May 21 at the college when the 1956-57 budget will be presented for adoption.
