Harvest Expected to Get Under Way About June 20

Weather Could Speed Harvest

Black Hull and Other Varieties Are Gaining Fast

In the present outlook, it appears that the harvest will get under way about June 20 and June 21 is the opinion of local grain men. Black Hull and other varieties will be ready for harvest at that time. However, if the weather advances the starting of the harvest a few days, and wet weather would delay cutting, it is not expected that the harvest will get under way until the latter part of June or the first days of July.

A group of farmers representing every community in Ochiltree County have decided on the wages for harvest for the coming season. Customarily $3.00 per acre for 20 bushels and 10 cents per bushel in excess of 20 bushels per day for common wheat and the ceiling price for these men were unknown in their opinion on the new plan. A farm labor of about 150 men will be needed to harvest the 15,000 acres of wheat in the county.

The sixth annual 4-H Club and FFA fair will be held in Perryton Tuesday afternoon, with a record crowd in attendance. Despite the busy harvest season ahead, folks from throughout the community were in town for the event.

A judging arena was roped off on Southwest Second avenue, between the First National Bank and the Sanford Drug store. Following the judging, in which a total of $248.50 in War Bonds and Stamps were awarded, the calves were auctioned off through the ring at the Perryton Sales pavilion.

Gerald Batman took the top honor of the show with his fat calf entry to win a net prize of $37.50, awarded in the form of a $50 war bond by the First National Bank.

DuWayne Thurman ran a close second to win $25 in war bonds and stamps, given by the Perryton Implement Company, and Woodrow Handley came in third for a $20 award, given by the Perryton Equity Exchange.

Other winners, prizes awarded and the donors follow: Wendell Peckham, fourth, $19. W. B. LaMaster, Maurice Wilson, fifth, $18. Boxwell Bros., Robert Handley, sixth, $17. Bryan Food Store, Gene Stinson.

Funds to Red Cross Swink Table Bank

The Swink table bank has again contributed to the Ochiltree County Red Cross Chapter! On Tuesday, Mrs. L. L. Swink presented the filled bank to the Chapter. The contents amounted to $22.14. This is the second time this year that the bank has been full. This little glass bank sits on the table in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Swink, as a reminder of the funds needed by the Red Cross to carry on its war burden. The family, and visitors, drop coins, and sometimes currency, into the bank. This latest contribution of $22.14 brings the grand total from the Swink bank to approximately $150.00.

The Fifth War Loan is your loan. The securities on sale fit your purse. Check the one which is applicable to you and buy it to the point of personal sacrifice. Always keep in mind that your sacrifice is only temporary because you are not giving your money when you buy a War Bond—you are merely lending your money at a good interest rate. Your money is not even frozen. In the event of a personal emergency, and it should be a true emergency, your War Bonds are redeemable.

Only a country like ours could make such a deal with its citizens—repay you with interest for a loan of your money to protect you and your family against enemies seeking to enslave you.

The Number "One" buy for the average American is the familiar Series "E" or People's Bond. More than 27,000,000 American workers are buying Series "E" bonds regularly on the payroll savings plan at a rate of about $475,000,000 per month. Your Fifth War Loan duty is to buy more of these Bonds than you ever bought before. At least one $100 Bond above your regular buying.

Keep these facts in mind about Series "E" Bonds.

They come in $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000 denominations. They sell for 75 percent of their maturity value. They pay $4 for every $3 invested if held to maturity, which is ten years from the month in which they were issued. You may redeem them at any time 60 days after issue without notice at stated redemption values. Every bond carries this redemption tale.

Hearings on Air Service For Perryton

Hearings before the Civil Aeronautics Board on Southwest Airways' application to establish feeder airlines in Texas and Oklahoma, which would put Perryton on the nation's air map, will be held in approximately 90 days, the Herald was advised today by company officials.

The Board already has set June 7 as the date for a pre-hearing conference on its application, the company reported, and this is expected to be followed by formal hearings within three months.

Extension of air transportation to the Southwest's smaller cities and towns thus is moving with unexpected speed, and this becomes one of the very first areas in the entire nation to be considered for feeder routes.

Southwest officials were reported to view this as "a strong indication that the Board attaches great need to expanding the Southwest's air transportation system at the earliest possible time."

County Chairman Max Boyer Appoints Precinct Chairman to Direct Sales in 5th War Loan

Max W. Boyer, Ochiltree county chairman for the 5th War Loan, announced today the appointment of 5th War Loan sales chairman for each of the 12 voting precincts of the county. Mr. Boyer stated that quotas for each precinct will be assigned. The county quota for the 5th War Loan is $410,000, $225,000 of the over-all quota being in Series E bonds.

JUST HERE AND THERE

The 1940 census gave Ochiltree county a population of 4,213. The county has been assigned a quota of $410,000 for the 5th War Loan. This is an average of more than $97 for every man, woman and child in the county.

Just picked up a copy of the Walker Pilot, published in Cass county, Minn. Cass county had a population of 20,446, 1940 census. Their 5th War Loan quota is $342,990, an average per capita of a little over $16.

Well, what of it? Personally we think that Texas is at least eight times better than Minnesota and we also want those Minnesota Swedes to know that Texas is doing more than her share in both men and money toward winning this war.

"Commando" doesn't expect a handout for his unmatchable courage, but he has a right to return to a healthy job-filled country. One of the best ways we know of building "Commando" America is to give it a foundation of War Bonds. Every extra War Bond you buy today will pay off richly to you, to your country, and to the men of the type of "Commando" Kelly when Hitler and Tojo get their payoff. Also keep in mind that a soft war on the home front carries with it the dread certainty of a hard war on the fighting front. Let's all rouse ourselves to a fighting finish for the Fifth War Loan—goal. Our objective is within our grasp. Do not let it get away, fellow Americans.

Ochiltree County Likely to Go Republican, Says Survey Made by Amarillo News Staff Reporter

Editors Note: The following story is by Pat Flynn, staff reporter of the Amarillo News-Globe. Flynn was in Perryton two days last week. Following are results of a survey made by him in an effort to find the political trend as regards the presidential election.

Ochiltree County will vote Republican this year if Roosevelt is the Democratic standard bearer, a poll on Perryton streets, and interviews with bystanders revealed. Citizens of this area are mostly anti-New Deal, anti-Roosevelt and emphatic in asking for a "Square Deal." They say, "We went Republican once before, and this looks like we will again if Roosevelt is the Democratic choice." The county voted Republican for Hoover, records show.

Ochiltree County held no Democratic County Convention this year. Van Stewart, county chairman, realizing the true voice of the people is not represented at such meetings, that only a hand full ever attend, talked with leading Democrats, and elected to pass up convention practice.

"We found sentiment of the people to be for an unqualified delegation; to ask Governor Stevenson to head the Texas delegation to the national convention; restore the two-third rule and to allow the Democratic party the choice of determining its members," the chairman said. "There was no need for a county convention, the voters decided."

Such votes from Ochiltree County were cast by Charley Gibson in Austin. No delegate went from Ochiltree County, although the chairman and Max Boyer were delegate choice of the local party members and were given authority to have the proxies cast by another.

The political poll here revealed 55 will vote against Roosevelt at all costs with 24 voting for him if re-nominated. Of the 79 questioned, 59 did not want a fourth term.

Business men went 14 to 1 against the fourth term and 14 to 1 against the Democratic party if Roosevelt is their choice.

Professional men voted 12 to 2 against the fourth term and held the same ratio against Roosevelt.

Farmers voted 18 to 2 against the fourth term and 16 to 4 against Roosevelt should he run again on the Democratic ticket.

Laborers and women were different. The working man voted 7 to 3 for the fourth term and 7 to 3 for Roosevelt against the field. Women voted six to four on the same basis, explained their choosing the president again was due to their sons being in service.

Democrats bitter against Roosevelt, however, point out the president could step out of the picture tomorrow and the war policy would not be changed; that the War Department guides the destiny of our war future and that Roosevelt has not once crossed Admiral King and General Marshall on war policy. They agree "Roosevelt may be a good poker player when war is won, when he deals with Churchill and Stalin, but we have other good poker-playing Democrats, too."

The laborers say "Do not change horses in mid-stream."

Other Democrats say "If it takes a horse 12 years to reach mid-stream, you had better get a new mount."

Political office holders here voted 8 to 2 against the fourth term and six to four Republican, if Roosevelt is the Democratic choice.

Neutral observers, if anyone can be neutral in politics and in this instance, new comers who are not qualified to vote this year, say it will be a "hoss race in Ochiltree County this time." Even they agree the anti-New Dealers have the edge in their favor at this time. They also say if the war was not on and Roosevelt again sought the chief executive position, he wouldn't get a vote from this region.

Business men say the Montgomery-Ward incident merely climaxed a series of bureaucratic control; that if the Attorney General meant what he said about all business being subject to seizure, "Then we have no Democracy—just a dictator." But the business men agree Montgomery-Ward capitalized on the publicity the act brought them. The Ochiltree County Herald says Montgomery-Ward for years have been trying to run the independent business stores off main streets of America. The article makes comparison only to show how Americans despise dictatorship in any form or coat of coloring.

Farmers are fed up with the farm program, mishandling of farm machinery, not knowing what or how to solve livestock feed problems, and are also fed up "on a small group of men, ignorant of farming, wearing badges and boasting federal authority, trying to tell us how to grow crops when we have been farming all our life," they say.

In fact the majority of this county opposes interference in any form which may retard an earlier war victory.

They say they believe new blood and a new face in the White House will regain American confidence in government and speed up the victory everyone wants. They say they will vote toward such a change being made.

"Bombs Away!" These bombs are leaving an American "fortress," somewhere over Jap installations. The bombs we make today will be dropping on German cities, Japanese islands in a very short time. The home front must fashion them and pay for them with War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Mrs. E. D. Kelley, who is spending the summer in Abilene, entered St. Ann's Hospital, Abilene, June 6, for surgery.

D. R. Gauthier and L. L. Mann were Guyton, Okla., Sunday and looked after their interests near there.

How Much is "Duty"

When a soldier charges up a newly established beachhead heedless of the shells and machine-gun bullets ripping around him . . . that's duty.

When a soldier stands at an anti-aircraft gun fiercely firing at an enemy plane, disregarding the bombs and lead falling from the skies . . . that's duty.

A soldier or a sailor has duty clearly defined for him.

But how much is "duty" for a civilian?

There is no clear definition.

But there is one job which every man and woman must consider duty if we want to see the war shortened and our fighting men back with us.

That's — Buying War Bonds. Not just a few. As many as you possibly can afford! For your own sake . . . for the sake of your fighting men . . . for the sake of your country . . . buy more bonds than you've ever bought before during the 5th War Loan.

How a B-26 Bombing Crew Spends Its Working Hours

Fighting an Air War Means Routine; Men 'Work' About Two Hours a Day

By Ernie Pyle

A B-26 BASE IN ENGLAND—"My crew" of two officers and three enlisted men have been flying together as team in their B-26 bomber since leaving America more than a year ago.

Every one of them is now far beyond his allotted number of combat missions.

Every one of them is perfectly willing to go through another complete tour of missions if he can just be home for a month. I believe everybody at this station. And it's a new experience for me, because most of the combat men I've been with before wanted to feel finished forever when they went home.

Every one of "my crew" has the distinguished flying cross and the air medal with clusters. They have had flak through their plane numerous times, but none of them has ever been hit. They expect it to be rough when the invasion starts, but they're anxious to get it over with.

In the past they have usually flown one mission a day over France, with occasionally two as the tempo of the spring bombings increased. But during the invasion they will probably be flying three and sometimes four missions a day.

They will be in the air before daylight and they will come home from their last mission after dark. They will go for days and maybe weeks in a frenzied routine, eating hurriedly between missions, snatching a few hours of weary sleep at night, and being up and at it again hours before daylight to shuttle back and forth across the Channel. They and thousands of others like them.

Fighting purely an air war—as this one here has been up to now—is in some ways so routine that it is like running a big business.

Usually a B-26 crewman "works" only about two hours a day. He returns to a life that is pretty close to normal one. There is no ground war to confuse him or disturb him or inspire him with its horror. His war is highly technical, highly organized, and in a way somewhat academic.

Because of this it is easy to get bored. An air crewman has lots of spare time on his hands. Neither the officers nor the enlisted fliers have any duties whatever other than flying.

When not flying they either loaf around their own huts, writing letters or playing poker or just sitting in front of the fire talking, or else they take leave for a few hours and go to the nearby villages. They can go to dances or sit in the local pubs and talk.

And every two weeks they get two days' leave. That again is something new to us who have been in the Mediterranean. Down there, fliers do get leave to go to rest camps, and even to town once in a while. If there is a town, but there's nothing regular up here, get their two days' leave twice a month just like clockwork. They can do anything they want with it.

Most of them go to London. Others go to nearby cities where they have made acquaintances. They go to dances and night clubs and shows. They paint the town and blow off steam as any active man who lives dangerously must do now and then. They make friends among the British people, and they look up these same friends on the next trip to town.

They do a thousand and one things on their leave, and it does them good. Also, it gradually creates an understanding between the two peoples that the other is all right in his own peculiar way.

After a certain number of missions a crew is usually given two weeks' leave. Most of them spend it traveling. Our fliers often tour Scotland on these leaves. It's amazing the number of men who have been to Edinburgh and who love the place. They have visited Wales and North Ireland and the rugged southwestern coast, and they know the Midlands and the little towns of England.

These two-week leaves don't substitute in the fliers' mind for a trip back to America. That's all they live for. That's what they talk about most of the time. A goal is what anyone overseas needs—a definite time limit to shoot for. Naturally it isn't possible right at this moment to send many people home, and the fliers appreciate and accept that fact. But once the invasion is made and the first period of furious intensity has passed, our veteran fliers hope to start going home in greater numbers.

Lieut. Bill Collins, who goes by the name of Chief, is what is known as a "hot pilot."

He used to be a fighter pilot, and he handles his Marauder bomber as though it were a fighter. He is daring, and everybody calls him a "character," but his crew has a fanatical faith in him.

Chief is addicted to violent evasive action when they're in flak, and the boys like that because it makes them harder to hit. They've had flak through the plane and within a foot of them, but none of them has been wounded.

When they finished their allotted number of missions—which used to give them an automatic trip to America, but doesn't any more—Chief buzzed the home field in celebration of their achievement.

He got that old B-26 wound up in a steep glide, came booming down at the runway, leveled off a foot above the ground and went screaming across the field at 250 miles an hour—only a foot above the ground all the way. And at the same time he had to shoot out all the red flares he had in the plane. They say it looked like a Christmas tree flying down the runway.

Chief used to be a clerk with the Aetna Life Insurance company back in his home town of Hartford, Conn. He is 25 now and doesn't know whether he will go back to the insurance job or not after the war. He says it depends on how much they offer him.

Lieut. Jack Arnold is the one they call Red Dog. He is only 22, although he seems much older to me. He enlisted in the army almost four years ago, when he was just out of high school. He was an infantryman for a year and a half before he finally went to bombardier school and got wings for his chest and bars for his shoulders.

He figures that as a bombardier he has killed thousands of Germans, and he thinks it is an excellent profession. He says the finest bombing experience he has ever had was when they missed the target one day and quite accidentally hit a barracks full of German troops and killed many of them.

Red Dog is friendly and gay and yet he is a fundamentally serious man who takes the war to heart. The enlisted men of his crew say that he isn't afraid of anything, and that the same is true of Chief Collins. They are a cool pair, yet both are as hospitable and friendly as you could imagine.

The plane's engineer-gunner is Sgt. Eugene Gaines of New Orleans. He is distinct from the rest because he married a British girl last December.

They have a little apartment in a town eight miles from the field. Every evening Gaines rides his bicycle home, stays till about midnight, then rides back to the airfield. For you never know when you may be routed out at 2 a. m. on an early mission, and you must be on hand.

It takes him about 45 minutes to ride the eight miles, and he has made the round trip nightly all winter, in the blackout and through indescribable storms. Such is the course of love.

Gaines is a quiet and sincere young man of 24. He was a carpenter before the war, and he figures that will be a pretty good trade to stick to after the war. But if a depression does come he has an ace in the hole. He has a farm at Pearl River, La., and he figures that with a farm in the background you can always be safe and independent.

Gaines wears a plain wedding ring on his left hand. I've noticed that a lot of the married soldiers over here wear wedding rings.

Crewmen Include Student, 'Cowboy From Arizona'

The radioman-gunner is Sgt. John Siebert of Charlestown, Mass. He learned to fly before the war, although he is only 23 now. He had about 800 hours in the air as pilot. Yet because of one defective eye he couldn't get into cadet school. He had two years at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and he hopes to go back and finish when the war is over.

Gene Lawrence, Mo. MM 3/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawrence, who enlisted June 16, 1942, went to sea August 1, 1942. He was at sea for 14 months and was at the Solomon Islands, New Caledonia, Australia and Fiji Islands. In October 1943, he returned to the States. On Nov. 1, he entered Submarine School at New London, Conn. All submarine personnel are volunteers and must pass strict physical examination. In February this year, he underwent an appendicitis operation and was in the hospital at New London for six weeks. When released he was sent to Mare Island, awaiting assignment. At present he is at sea. His wife, the former Miss Letha Corbin, returned to Perryton when he left New London. She is employed at the Perryton National Bank.

The farmers of America have done a great job of Bond buying up to now. But yesterday's Bonds are today's exploding bombs and shells. Spent bullets can never be used again!

The fifth War Loan is the greatest Drive for Dollars in all history. Our individual quotas are bigger than ever—of grim necessity! So do your full share—and more. Buy Bonds now!

And Here are 5 EXTRA Reasons for Buying MORE Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds will assure the funds to replace worn-out farm equipment, machinery, and buildings.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the war.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

"Let Them Eat Bread!"

Hollywoodian tears have been spilling from the usually dry eyes of Broadway press-agents and gossip columnists over the 30 per cent Federal tax on nightclub entertainment.

First came the moan that hiking the check—to help pay for the war—was hurting the armed forces' morale. But even Broadway couldn't swallow that one! Then the gossamer globules began falling for the 15,000 assorted "entertainers" thrown out of work.

We've wondered what a man in uniform would think of this, and now one of them has told us. Speaking to business executives assembled in Chicago by the National Association of Manufacturers and Illinois Manufacturers' Association to consider problems of war production in the face of a constantly increasing manpower shortage, Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell said:

"There's too much sorrow among the families of our fighting boys to waste tears on a master-of-ceremonies out of a soft job! Our boys are dying in Burma and in the jungles of the South Pacific—in Italy and in the air over Germany."

"Let's put these (nightclub) men to work at something useful. There are plenty of jobs for them in your plants, or on the railroads, and steamships that are carrying the guns and ammunition to our fighters."

May there be a chorus of a million Aments!

TOWN and FARM in WARTIME

Prepared by OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

Country Deposits Up

Demanded deposits in country banks (consisting largely of ordinary checking accounts) increased 127 per cent from 1940 to April, 1944, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Such an increasing body of idle funds, more than twice that of four years ago, could cause inflationary trouble if country depositors began using their funds to bid against each other for the purchase of land at increasing prices, the BAE advises. Already land values have risen almost two-fifths above their pre-war average—an increase that is inflationary in many areas. Furthermore, in some of the principal farming areas the volume of land sales in 1943 surpassed previous high levels reached in 1919 and the number of farms resold after only a short period of ownership increased. Following the inflation of land values during the last war land prices broke sharply in 1920.

Farmers Use Prisoners

The work done by prisoners of war in the United States is in or related almost entirely to agriculture, forestry or food processing, the Office of War Information reports. No farmer may house prisoners, and prisoners are sent to farms only when there is work for units of 10 or more. The War Food Administration does not generally advocate use of prisoners side by side with civilians. Prisoners are always guarded by American soldiers. Approximately 45,500 prisoners worked on farms in 28 states last year, mostly in the South, harvesting peanuts, rice, cotton and sugar cane.

Identify Veterans Fully

To facilitate prompt reply and to simplify identification, all mail addressed to the Veterans Administration on matters concerning veterans should give the full name of the veteran, the date of his birth, his serial number, rank and organization and the "C" and "N" numbers on any checks or letters received from the Veterans Administration. The master index of this agency contains more than 19 million names. Among these are over 200,000 Smiths, of which at least 12,000 have the given name of John.

Civilian Gasoline

Passenger car drivers now receive only 43 per cent as much gasoline as they used in 1941, the Petroleum Administration for War says. While Americans have reduced passenger car mileage from the peacetime level by about 57 per cent, the English have reduced theirs by 88 per cent.

Families Want Homes

In a recent nationwide survey of consumer requirements, a large number of the families interviewed said they intend to use their savings for buying or building a house before buying durable goods, the War Production Board announces. Among durable goods covered in the survey, washing machines are now in greatest demand, with electric irons and mechanical refrigerators next in order.

Income Tax Refunds

While one million 1943 income tax refunds have been made by the Treasury Department, it will be several months before all of approximately 13 million taxpayers will get refunds to which they are entitled, according to the Commissioner of Revenue. Each refund, however, will include interest at the rate of 6 per cent per year from March 15, this year, to the date the refund is scheduled. First attention was given to claims of members of the armed forces. No action is needed on the part of the taxpayer unless he has moved from the address shown on his return. In which case he should send both his old and new addresses to the Collector of Internal Revenue in the district in which the return was filed.

Christmas Mail To Men Overseas

Christmas mail to armed forces overseas this year is expected to exceed last year's record. Plans are now being made by the Post Office, War and Navy Departments to handle this mail. From September 15 to October 15, Christmas gift packages for men overseas will be accepted for mailing if they are no more than five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length and girth combined. Only one package will be accepted from the same person to the same addressee during any one week, the War Department announces.

Round-Up

Special consideration will be given returning war veterans who apply for rationed farm machinery, WPA announces. A total of 6,098 farm-type wheel tractors were produced during the week ending May 27, which represents the highest wartime production rate yet attained, WPB reports. Synthetic vitamin

AMERICA'S WAY

Raising a country is something like raising children.

I want my children to have spirit. I want them to be free, happy, independent individuals. I want them to live their own lives—not to be carbon copies of me.

That means I must not try to keep them in the nest too long. I must let them learn to fly, though they will have some falls that will hurt them and me too. I must leave them alone a lot.

Of course I want my children to realize responsibilities. I have to give them a little guidance and discipline—but not nearly as much as my instincts dictate. I could pester them to death with directions if I didn't hold back.

All these things may be right, too, for a government and its citizens. Shall a government encourage its citizens to have spirit and to be individuals? Shall it let them learn to fly? Or shall it produce a nation of mamma's boys, scared to let go of its apron strings?

Scene of An AMERICAN VICTORY

They thought quite a while before doing it. There were so many things they needed; especially in home furnishings. And now here was a chance to buy—well, "I s'pose we could let that dining room suite go—until a little later."

And finally they came to a decision. And they couldn't help thinking that it was a victory, right there in their own home, as Bill sat down at their knee-hole desk and wrote a check for another War Bond.

It's great to be a victor. How about it? Will you do your share and more in the 5th War Loan?

The battle for the World is on!

NOW THAT the chips are down . . . now that our men are writing decisive history with their blood . . .

There can be no halfway measures for us.

The greatest battle in the history of the world must be matched by the greatest war loan in the history of the world.

That's what Uncle Sam says . . . the same Uncle Sam for whom your brothers and sweethearts and husbands are fighting and dying this very minute.

They, in the front lines, are throwing in everything they have.

We, behind the lines, must do the same.

Remember, this is the battle for the WORLD. Our world. And we've got to win it. That's why Uncle Sam expects every dollar, like every soldier, to do its duty.

Put this Fifth War Loan over . . . buy more War Bonds than you think you can!

Postwar casualty ?

Will your child be a victim of this War—after it's over? Will she grow up in a depression-ridden, poverty-stricken, half-sick country that never recovered from the War?

Or will she grow up in a strong, healthy, prosperous America that offers every girl and boy the best education, the best job, the best chance to make the best living in all the world?

Our company is vitally interested in that boy and girl, and interested in helping you plan a life insurance program to take care of their future. After you have arranged an adequate life insurance program, then invest every dollar you can possibly afford in U. S. War Bonds. Do it now, during the 5th War Loan, it will help your government now in its hour of need . . . and in ten years you'll be returned $4 for every $3 you put up now.

Bud also brought back a Jap hand grenade, matches and calling cards. In the display are a number of snap shots of Dutch Harbour, the See Bee camps, and other scenes. Bud says that winter started the last of October and it was still snowing when he left the islands on April 28.

Did you ever read the "Situations Wanted" columns of daily or trade newspapers? It's funny, but most everybody looking for a job today is an experienced manager, a foreman or an expert. Rather strange that none of just ordinary "run of the mill" hands are out of work.

It'll be the same in the harvest this year. We'll betcha that ninety per cent will be experienced combine men, or expert tractor drivers and about one per cent will grudgingly admit that they are tops on the end of a scow.

In fact, most labor today is looking for a job with big wages and no work. Labor is riding high but how about the day that is to come. We know a lot of employers that are counting the days when they can "tie the can" to some of their present employees.

We're not complaining about our own employees. We are working short handed, and a sufficient staff of experienced employees is impossible to obtain. We've some inexperienced members, but we think our entire staff is loyal and trying to earn their wages. We hope they're not discourteous to our customers. If they are, then report same to us and we'll fire them if we can never replace them.

There's a lot of headaches trying to publish a newspaper today. Working until midnight and after, most of the seven days of the week is getting old. If we did just what we sometimes feel like doing, we'd just lock the doors until after the war. Now wouldn't that be a fine and patriotic act, but that is just what a lot of folks on the home front are doing. What would happen if the boys in the invasion forces decided to quit and rest when the going gets tough?

NUTRITION and HEALTH

Q. Why is calcium needed in the diet?
A. Calcium is needed for the formation of bones and teeth, for the normal action of the heart and nerves, and for the clotting of the blood.

Q. Are children's requirements for calcium higher than adults?
A. Yes. Because children are growing rapidly and need the calcium to form strong bones and teeth.

Q. What happens if there is a deficiency of calcium in the diet?
A. In adults the teeth start to decay and the bones become soft and porous. In children the disease known as rickets will develop.

Q. Where is calcium found in the body?
A. Ninety-nine percent of the calcium in the body may be found in the bones and teeth. The remainder is in the body fluid and tissues.

Q. What foods are rich in calcium?
A. Milk, cheese, and vegetables (especially greens).

Q. How can calcium losses in food preparation be prevented?
A. Cook fruits and vegetables in small amounts of water, and use the remaining liquid. Cook dried products in the liquid in which they are soaked.

Q. How can the calcium content of meat be increased?
A. If meat is cooked with the bones in the presence of a small amount of acid, the amount of calcium from the dish may be increased as much as 25 to 34 percent and an individual serving may furnish from 15 to 25 percent of the daily calcium requirement.

Rangers Point To Champion Team in '44

By PAT FLYNN

The Perryton High School football team, still stinging from last year's record of six losses, a tie, and two wins, are pointing to the coming season and promise some interesting competition to anyone wanting a game. Coach Tyn Slack and 35 husky men reporting for spring training, promise.

Naturally the Rangers are pointing for the Canadian game to be played here the night of October 13. It is the "one game" of the year when fans of both cities reach frenzied heights of enthusiasm. The Canadian eleven beat the Rangers 31 to 0 last year and the local players are "going to rub that one off this year," they say.

The records last year, fans agree, are not representative of the ability of the players or the Ranger traditions. Several of the best players were ruled "out of suit" last season due to scholastic marks in class. Others could not play last year, ones the coach depended on for strength. The boys just met them as they came. Slack said, and did their best.

"This year they are out for revenge, cocky and ready to play," he explains.

Thirty-five men reported for training of which eight are letter men. They were Don Eudy, left tackle at 175 pounds; Raymond Heidrich, right tackle, 170 pounds; Dwayne Trosper, center, 135; Jim Hudson, end, 140; Charles Peckenpaugh, full back this year, coming up from the line at 185 pounds; Calvin Schroeder, right half, 140; Delos Pugh, quarterback, 160; and Jack Hurter, guard, 155 pounds.

These starters will be enriched with a new man this year, Cecil Bartel, 170 pound tailback from Balco, Okla. He is a fast, powerful runner; good blocker, hard tackler and expert defensive man. He will bear watching next season and is expected to balance the backfield power Slack needs for the powerful line he will have.

"Jumbo" Peckenpaugh, hard tackler of last season, proved one of the best defense men of the district. Switching him to the fullback slot this year will increase the power of the back field, Slack points out.

Schroeder and Pugh are also to be watched, both being good broken field runners and offensive men. Schroeder is an excellent passer.

Last year the Ranger team averaged 136 pounds. This year the weight average will be slightly more than 145 pounds.

While the Rangers lost seven of the lettersmen this year, and a total of about 12 of the 35 starters, there

At Florida Field

Cpl. Glenn C. Waggoner, who was inducted June 30, 1943, received his gunners wings at Las Vegas, Nevada, February 14, and is taking his overseas training in Florida. He is the son of I. H. Waggoner and Mrs. L. V. Waggoner and has two brothers and three sisters in Perryton. They are: C. H. and Ray, Mrs. Jack Atchison, Mrs. Oren Gatewood and Mrs. Hazel Mayhan. He graduated from the Perryton high school in 1943. Prior to his induction, he was employed by Virtue Dry Goods Company. His present address is: Cpl. Glenn C. Waggoner, 38345483, Combat Crew Det., 88th Bomb Gr., Brice Prov. Gp., "G", A. P. A. A. F., Avon Park, Fla.

will be 10 sophomore players returning and they look good. Slack says the 1945 and 1946 team should be one of merit, ability, and above all, experience.

Schedule for the Rangers this year follows:

Dumas here at night, Sept. 22; Memphis here at night, Sept. 29. Both are non-conference games. Canadian here Oct. 13; White Deer here, Oct. 20; Phillips here, Nov. 3; and Panhandle here Nov. 10. All are conference games.

Coach Slack wants more games for the coming season. He has open dates for Sept. 15; Oct. 6; Oct. 27 and Nov. 17. He is anxious to schedule games for these dates as quickly as possible, he said.

Last year Perryton defeated Dumas 19-12; lost to Guyton, Okla., 18 to 9 and lost to them in a second game, 8-9. The Rangers defeated Lakeview, 40-6, lost the next four games to Canadian, 31-0; White Deer, 32-7; Phillips, 26-6; Panhandle, 12-0; and tied the last game 6-6 with Memphis.

But this year Perryton is basing their winning hope of the following roster of football enthusiasts who will be wearing the red and white colors of the Rangers:

Every one of the boys love football. All will be working this summer to gain the muscle and hardening they need, and all say they will report September 1, ready for business.

Their business, they say, is to again win the district championship and the honors they want on the gridiron.

Local fans think they have what it takes to do it.

Sgt. Charles Patton Now in England

AN AIR SERVICE COMMAND STATION (Somewhere in England) Sgt. Chas. W. Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Patton of Perryton, Texas is now overseas and has participated in a course designed to bridge the gap between training in the states and soldiering in an active theatre of war. At one of the Air Service Command Stations known as Control Depots Sgt. Patton was carefully processed by classification experts who make certain that he was well fitted for the job assigned to him.

Security training, personal hygiene, a talk by a Special Service Officer informing him of facilities for healthful recreation and a lecture by the Chaplain are all in turn a part of the soldier's preparation for duties overseas.

His next station will be one from which America's fighting planes take off to smash the Nazi war machine.

Before entering the Army he was employed as an instrument mechanic by the government.

Mrs. Lillie Panham, Hooker, Okla. visited with her daughter, Mrs. D. R. Gaither, last week.

Funeral services for Russ Thomas, aged long time resident of Ochiltree county, were held last Thursday afternoon at the First Christian Church, Rev. Ward H. N. Gregg was the officiating minister.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Boxwell Bros. Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Miles Edwards, Jack F. Todd, Alex Barlow, J. B. Cartwright Jr., W. L. Anderson and Morgan Jones.

Vocal selections at the service were by Mrs. Debs Riley, Mrs. Carl Ellis, Mrs. E. D. Kelley, Miss Winona Allen, and Sam Hergert.

Interment was in the Ochiltree cemetery.

Russ Thomas was born July 19, 1890 in Garrett county, Maryland to Mr. and Mrs. Elias Thomas, and died in Perryton May 29, 1944 at the age of 53 years, 10 months and 10 days.

He lived in Ohio in boyhood and early manhood. His first marriage was to Miss Esquire Perrier in 1887 in Virginia. One son, M. G. Thomas now residing at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, was born to them. Mrs. Thomas died in 1892.

The deceased next married Miss Sarah Talbot at Carney, Okla. Two children survive this union. They are Ray Thomas of Perryton and Mrs. Fairy Rich, Glendale, Calif. A son, Guy, was killed in an airplane crash on the opening day of the Perryton townsite, Aug. 22, 1919. Another son, Jay, died in Perryton in 1940. The mother died in 1911.

The death of Russ Thomas brought to a close a long and successful career as a business man and farmer. For 33 years before coming to Ochiltree county in 1920, he was engaged in the real estate, hardware and implement business. He came to Oklahoma in 1890 and filed on land near Carney. He was in business at Carney, Cogie and Lambert.

Russ Thomas was a life long member of the Christian church. Although in ill health for the past year, he was active in the conduct of his many business affairs until just a few days before death called.

Other surviving relatives are three brothers: K. K. Thomas, Perryton; Elias Thomas, Carney, Okla.; J. W. Thomas, Osage City, Kans.; and one sister, Mrs. Cora Webb, Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lewis and son, Fred Allen, left Sunday night for Commerce, where he will attend summer school. They have been visiting with the Dewey Allen's and Fred Lewis's.

Pfc. and Mrs. Seldon Caradine drove to Amarillo, Monday, where he took the train, Thursday evening, to return to his base at Port Nelson, British Columbia, Canada, after a fifteen-day furlough spent with Mrs. Caradine and with his mother, Mrs. Val McLanahan. Pfc. Caradine has been stationed in Canada for the past eleven months and this was his first furlough since entering the service in March 1943.

Girl Released to Mother After Buying Spree

The young woman from Borger who went on a buying spree at local stores a week ago Monday, writing worthless checks to pay the bills, was released to her mother last Friday, after the checks were made good and all unused merchandise returned to the stores.

She was lodged in jail after Deputy Sheriff Del Taliaferro took her into custody at the W. W. Virtue Dry Goods store, but Tuesday afternoon she escaped from the jail, scaled the high fence, then shortly after was rearrested and lodged back in jail.

Since she had no previous police record, she was released to her mother Friday, returning to Borger with her.

"If I have overlooked any accounts that I owe, I wish that these accounts be addressed to me here, and they will be forwarded," Mr. Wedgeworth stated just before leaving. He will be in Perryton for a short time within four or five weeks to look after business.

Preserver of Man" is the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of the denomination on Sunday, June 11.

Text: "I am with you, O Lord, to save thee" (Psalm 138:1-2). The citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon are the following: "Our fathers have not thy wonders in remembrance; they have not thy mercies; but they have remembered thee at the sea, even at the river, where thou hast saved them: they have not thy mighty power to be remembered; that thou mightest save them from the hand of the enemy." (Psalm 138:2-3).

"OUR AGENT REPORTS THAT MANY AMERICANS BUY BLACK MARKET GASOLINE - OTHERS ARE MAKING A FORTUNE FROM COUNTERFEITING COUPONS. HEIL HITLER!"

Farm Women Meet War Shortages With Ingenuity

American farm women have met wartime shortages with their traditional ingenuity, according to the Department of Agriculture. Here are some of the ways farm women save and "make do," as reported by the War Relocation Administration.

Use flour sacks, feed sacks, and other sacks to make dish towels, hand towels, shirts, slips, aprons, underwear, pillow cases, layettes and sheets.

Make mattresses from oat straw or shredded corn shucks.

Weave chair seats from corn shucks, wood splints, twine or tree bark.

Make homemade dye from hickory bark and walnut shells.

Plant broom corn so as to have plenty of "home grown brooms."

Make their own syrup or sorghum, cheese and soap.

Pad and cover nail kegs to make convenient kitchen stools.

Use orange crates to make small tables and cupboards.

Fashion studio couches from car seats or cushions and scrap lumber.

Use hot water bottles to finish hatching baby chicks, when the hen deserts nest.

Bailey for Congress

After 22 months and six days of active service in the Army Air Force, LaMarr Bailey is now a candidate for Congress. He is kin to the famous Texas Joe Bailey, and his friends have adopted a slogan, "Send another fighting Bailey from Texas to Congress."

Bailey is vigorously conducting an anti-fourth term campaign, and his platform embodies several strong planks such as the 6-year tenure of office, lifting of differential freight rates, state's rights, individual enterprise, business expansion to provide honest postwar employment for veterans, abolishment of the bedlam of new deal bureaus, a pay-as-you-go financial policy, cessation of secret entanglements with foreign nations, simplification of laws so that people can understand them, and indictment for new dealers suspected of unlawful acts.

As a fighting pilot, LaMarr Bailey was in action against the Japanese. He was awarded several citations.

He is now fighting the new deal politically, and expects to speak in Perryton in the near future.

His parents reside in Dumas.

A Statement from a German Prisoner of War..

When asked which side he thought would win the War, a German officer captured at Salerno made the following statement:

"This is one war America will not win, because America is too weak at home. Your people are too far away—their hearts are not in it. They will tire—they do not have the unshakable determination to conquer that fills every man and woman of the German Reich!"

You are being asked to buy more bonds during the 5th War Loan than ever before. If you should get the idea that you can't afford more bonds—remember what that German officer said.

Here's How It Feels to Ride in a B-26 Bombing Run

Crews Know Their Business; Morale Is Good Among British-Based Fliers

By Ernie Pyle.

A U. S. BOMBER STATION IN ENGLAND.—These are some of the boys who have been blasting out our invasion path on the continent of Europe. For nearly a year they have been hammering at the wall of the Germans have thrown up. How well they have blasted we know before the summer is over.

They are a squadron of B-26 Marauder bombers. They are representative of the entire might weight of the tactical bombers of the air force. I have come to spend a few days with them because I wanted to get a taste of the pre-invasion assault from the air standpoint before we get a mouthful of the invasion proper from the ground.

The way I happened to come to certain squadron is one of those things. One night in London I was sitting at a table with some friends in a public house when two boys in uniform leaned over from the next table and asked if I weren't So-and-so.

I said yes, whereupon we got to talking and we got to be pals and actually we adjourned from one to another, as Damon Runyon said, and kept on adjourning throughout the evening, and a good was had by all.

These boys were B-26 bombers, and in the course of the evening's events they asked if I didn't come and live with their squadron awhile. Being nothing if not accommodating, I said sure, and here we are.

The two boys were Lieuts. Lindsey (2800 Chestnut street), San Antonio, and Jack Arnold (803 N. Twelfth street), East St. Louis. Being redheaded, Lieutenant Arnold goes by the name of "Red Dog." They are both very nice people indeed.

The boys say this is the best squadron in England. Nine out of ten squadrons, or infantry companies, or quartermaster battalions, will say the same thing about themselves. It is a good omen when they say like that.

This station seems to me to have about the finest spirit I've run onto in our army. It is due, I think, partly to the fact that the whole organization has been made into a team. The commander of this group is Maj. Wilson R. Wood, Chico, Texas. Five years ago he was an enlisted man. Today, at 25, he is a full colonel. He is a steady, human person and he has got what it takes to lead thousands of men together into a driving unit.

The job of the B-26s is several-fold. For one thing, they had to rid upper France and the Low countries of German fighters as far as possible, to clear the way for our heavy bombers on their long trips into Germany.

They have done this not so much by bombing airfields, which can be immediately repaired, as by blasting the enemy's reserve supplies of planes, engines and propellers. Their second job is to disrupt the enemy's supply system. Much of their work of late has been on railroad marshalling yards, and along with A-20s and fighter-bombers, they have succeeded to a point where British papers say Germany cannot maintain a western front by rail.

And third, they constantly work on the enemy's military installations along the Channel coast. They feel that they have done a good job. If they haven't I'm going to be pretty sore at them one of these days, because I might be in the vicinity and if there's anything that makes me sick at the stomach it's a military installation in good working order.

The B-26 is a bomber which is very fast and carries a two-ton bomb load. In its early stages it had a bad name—it was a "hot" plane which took great skill to fly and which killed more people in training than it did in combat.

But the B-26 has lived down the bad name. The boys of this squadron wouldn't fly in anything else. They like it because it can take quick and violent evasive action when the flak is bothersome, and because it can run pretty well from fighters.

Its record over here is excellent. Bombing accuracy has been high and losses have been extremely low. And as for accidents—the thing that cursed the plane in its early days—wheels touched. I was shocked to learn later that we landed at the frightening speed of more than 100 miles an hour. It's just as well I didn't know at the time.

We sat in the plane for a couple of minutes while Chief filled out some reports, and then opened the hatch in the floor and dropped out. I was the first of the group to hit the ground.

Two Women in Their Sixties Grow Tons Of War Useful Food

Out on the Wyoming plains, near the town of Sundance, two English-born sisters, now in their sixties, are operating a 700-acre ranch, milking 17 cows and producing tons of "Food for Freedom," as shown by records of the Farm Security Administration.

The two women ranchers are Mrs. Naomi F. Dungey, a widow whose husband died in 1940, and her sister, Miss Catherine Bennett. Mrs. Dungey, mother of five grown children, is the housekeeper, and Miss Bennett does the outdoor work, wearing overalls for the rough work.

Both women milk, and Miss Bennett does such jobs as cultivating, plowing and running the hay sweep. In bad weather both women don heavy clothes and care for the livestock. Last winter they fed 60 head of beef cattle. Only occasionally have they used hired help.

The women ranchers have an irrigated garden and can their own food. They put up 50 tons of hay yearly, raise all their own livestock feed and raise a good grade of Hereford cattle with a registered bull.

During 1943 the two sisters produced and sold 16,000 pounds of cattle, 2,400 pounds of hogs and 4,270 pounds of butterfat. Last fall they paid off in full obligations to two Federal lending agencies, amounting to approximately $2,000—obligations they assumed when Mr. Dungey died.

Mrs. Dungey formerly was a nurse in England, and Miss Bennett worked in business in England, later in Canada. Mr. Dungey, also born in England, worked in mining in South Dakota until he took up farming.

The American Red Cross has gone into the motion picture business in a big way. In fact, according to statements recently issued by Red Cross national headquarters in Washington, the organization now has the largest nontheatrical film service in the world. Its purpose? To provide free entertainment for our hospitalized servicemen, whether they are still in this country or overseas.

A few figures tell volumes. Twice a week, shows provided by the Red Cross Hospital Motion Picture Service are shown in 247 army hospital recreation buildings and 416 wards in the United States and in 430 hospitals overseas. Within the last twelve months, films provided by the Red Cross have played to audiences totaling fifteen million in this country and overseas.

The films are made available to bedridden as well as to convalescent patients. Meanwhile, the lovely motion picture star, Madeline Carroll, having completed her training, is now a Red Cross hospital worker serving gallantly with our forces in North Africa.

We came back over our home airfield, pedaled off one by one, and landed. Red Dog stayed up in the nose during the landing, so I stayed in the copilot's seat. Landing is about the most dangerous part of flying, yet it's the one sensation I love most, especially when riding up front.

Runaway Real Estate Prices Means Possible Later Collapse

The Commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, Abner H. Ferguson, has recently stated that runaway real estate prices and possible later collapse may be the result of inflated prices and excessive appraisals in the existing housing market, unless a concerted effort is made now to hold the market in line. E. T. Stearns, Fort Worth FHA Director was advised.

It was stated that neither mortgage lenders nor builders alone can control the situation. By adopting a joint policy of resistance to excessive appraisals, high prices and high pressure salesmanship, they can perhaps have some influence in restraining the market. But most builders and lenders do not have the facilities for determining the precise point at which their own appraisals and prices reach the danger point, and no way of gauging their effect on the national economy.

The best existing means of exerting influence against spiraling home prices is the FHA appraisal system, which is based on long term values rather than short term price increases. Through widespread use of the FHA system, the individual buyer can be conscious of the fact that if he pays a high price for a property, he is paying a premium for immediate occupancy. At the same time, the lender is put on notice that the funds he is advancing may not be completely repaid and that he is taking a greater risk than prudence justifies.

While participation in the FHA insurance program is entirely voluntary on the part of lending institutions and builders, if the system is given proper support by all groups in the real estate and mortgage markets, it will provide machinery for exercising far-flung influence in preserving stability in the market.

Mr. Ferguson further stated that "in a completely uncontrolled situation, the mortgage and real estate markets could hardly escape sinking into a depression of long duration. With over-lending and over-buying at high prices it is hard to see any result other than an ultimate crash with wholesale foreclosures, new moratorium laws, and a new HOLC to bail out lending institutions."

Realtors throughout the state are being advised of FHA procedures and the manner whereby the impartial appraisal system may be utilized, Mr. Stearns said.

Drive Against Over Charge Truck Parts

In support of the Office of Price Administration's efforts to curb violations of price ceilings on automotive parts, Nettles P. Nelson, of Amarillo, district manager of the Division of Motor Transport of the Office of Defense Transportation, today asked truck operators to report all instances of excessive charges for new parts.

Under the new plan, truck operators should immediately report to the nearest ODT district office any alleged violation of the OPA price ceiling on truck parts. In reporting such cases, the following information should be given: Name of the truck operator; name and location of the parts dealer; date and time of sale; type of part or parts; the OPA ceiling price, the price asked by the dealer, and the price paid.

This information will be promptly transmitted to OPA enforcement agents for immediate investigation and appropriate action, the ODT official said. Illegal prices for parts contribute materially to the increased cost of operation of motor carriers, he said, adding that many complaints have been received of exorbitant charges for necessary parts.

The success of the new drive against price violations, it was emphasized, will depend on the fullest co-operation of the motor carriers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wright drove to Canadian, Monday morning, to take their daughters, Lenis Fern and Jolene who entrained for Madison, Kansas to visit their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Campbell and son, Ronny.

Foreign Farm Workers

Approximately 300 workers from Barbados, British West Indies, are being recruited for agricultural employment in the United States, the War Food Administration reports. At present, about 32,500 workers from Mexico, 5,250 from Jamaica, 5,100 from the Bahamas Islands and 450 from Newfoundland are working on American farms.

U. S.-England Flights

Since the beginning of the war, 13,000 trans-Atlantic flights between the United States and England have been made, according to a British broadcast reported by U. S. government monitors. Plane losses total less than one-half of one per cent. The last 5,000 flights were made in less than five months.

Black Market Case

Federal agents recently searched an accountant's apartment for counterfeit gasoline coupons that had been turning up in Baltimore, Md., filling stations and banks, the Office of Price Administration announced. There they found half a million gasoline coupons, stolen and counterfeit, a quantity of fuel oil and food coupons and 50 boxes of "nylon" stockings. The stockings proved to be rayon, worth about 65 cents, dipped in a solution that gave them a nylon gloss and packaged in cellophane bags stamped with a counterfeit "Du Pont Nylon" label.

U. S. War Equipment

Australian war correspondents were impressed by the weight of firepower carried by American assault troops in recent landings in Hollandia, New Guinea, and by the thoroughness with which scientifically balanced frontline food rations are prepared, the Australian News and Information Bureau reports. The American equipment noted included sub-machine guns, Browning automatic rifles, carbine semi-automatic, anti-tank grenades, Colt pistols, flamethrowers, mines, self-propelled tank destroyers, field artillery and equipment which is still on the secret list. The food rations include cereals, bacon, biscuits, jam, coffee, milk, meat, corn, candy, butter and canned fruits.

Understand Americans

Before American armed forces arrived in large numbers in China, the average Chinese pictured the American people as being fabulously rich, living in towering buildings and having strange manners and a strange way of living, the magazine, China at War, says. Then almost overnight, the Chinese discovered that Americans are coal miners, farmers and factory workers. They are convinced that the Americans are real friends of China. To them the Americans make the best of everything—battleships, planes, movies. The planes overhead represent American aid in concrete form, not just a verbal promise. The Chinese have learned that Americans are very human like themselves, simple souls who love the simple things in life.

Rations to Farm Help

Although seasonal farm workers in Canada will receive extra food rations this year, there will be no concessions for sugar, which is still scarce, the Wartime Information Board says. Food rations for extra farm help will be provided on the basis of a limit of five meals per person per day.

Britain's Leaflet Raiders

Since the outbreak of the war, Britain's Royal Air Force leaflet raiders have dropped more than a billion leaflets on Europe and are now dropping them at the rate of 1,200 per minute, the British Information Services report. The leaflet raids, carried out by Operational Training Unit crews, drop countless tons of truth-telling literature on occupied Europe every week.

Farm in Polar Areas

Sugar beets, flax, tobacco and grain plants have been successfully cultivated in the Far North, it was revealed at a recent five-day conference of the Soviet Institute of Polar Agriculture and Stockbreeding, which summed up wartime work of far northern agricultural institutes and research stations. Potatoes growing has developed considerably since the outbreak of the war. Some state farms produced three and one-half tons per acre last year.

India Plans Postwar

With expert committees of economists, industrialists and administrators, the Government of India is planning for postwar social and economic development the Information Services report. Already India has over 41,000 miles of railway and plans to expand her 278,000 miles of roads to 400,000 miles under a 20-year program.

Czech Coal Miners

Sabotage in the coal mines of a former province of Czechoslovakia includes running trucks into ditches and derailing locomotives, thus delaying production for several days, the Czechoslovak Government Information Service says. In one mine, the miners mislaid an almost irreplaceable belt and left a note saying: "If you want work to continue, bring a new belt from Berlin."

Germans Thin Vineyards

French grape vine-growers are indignant because Germans have been using requisitioned workers to thin out grapevines so that parasitists cannot hide in the vineyards, it is revealed by the French underground through the French Press and Information Service.

Dutch Uses "Priorities"

When British or American bombs break windows in a certain Netherlands village, the village glazier uses his own priority system in making replacements, according to Aneta, official Netherlands News Agency. On the basis of the patriotism of his customers, he first repairs windows for those who are openly anti-Nazi. Then he repairs for others in this order—those secretly anti-Nazi, neutrals, political suspects and lastly those secretly members of the Dutch Nazi party.

Milk Rare in France

In France, condensed milk is considered as rare as insulin and it might become necessary to entrust doctors with the task of distributing condensed milk cards and for only essential cases, according to Le Journal Lyons.

QUOTES OF THE WEEK

"We want to git going, git it over with and git home."—American corporal with invasion forces in England.

"Choose your Hun; there won't be enough to go around."—Underground's message on walls in France.

"I do not believe Government should take on the responsibility of providing jobs. It can do so in an emergency, but Government never seems to know when an emergency ends."—John M. Hancock, co-author of Baruch-Hancock report on war.

"The people may not be fully informed on all the complexities of any given issue, but that does not stop them from having opinions."—Dr. George Gallup, on his polls.

"It is essential that the prisoner, who assumes risks that not be measured in advance of his activities, have before him the opportunity of making a profit."—Schram, pres. N. Y. Stock Exchange.

"Nobody steals money out here but boy! you gotta watch your laundry!"—Lt. A. P. Rinehart, Yakima, Wash., in Solomon Islands.

IF WHAT you did for the war effort today was an easy thing to do, it isn't enough. We cannot hope to give as much as the boy who gives his life . . . but we can do our utmost!

For instance, if you have not yet found yourself scheming and figuring on a way to buy extra War Bonds, it's a pretty good sign you aren't buying enough!

When your neighbor calls on you during the 5th War Loan to ask if you'll increase your purchases, say "Yes" . . . even if it takes a lot of scheming and figuring afterward to pay for them.

That's the way our men are doing their part . . . in the Pacific, in Italy, in England. Ordered to attack, they do not first consult themselves to determine whether it's safe or convenient or comfortable. They're thinking of you at home. To protect you, they attack first . . . and figure out how to do it as they go.

Uncle Sam needs your dollars to finance this war and he needs them now! Not just the dollars you can spare but every dollar you can earn that you don't absolutely need for food, shelter, clothing and the operation of the farm.

War Bonds savings mean more to the average farmer or rancher than to almost anyone else. For they form a financial reserve indispensable for the profitable and efficient operation of his business. War Bonds are safe, they pay a good return, they're easy to buy. When they mature, they mean new machinery and equipment, new conveniences for the house, money for the children's schooling, funds for retirement.

The next time you pick up your paper or listen to the radio news, have a conference with yourself. "Am I doing as much as I can to help win this war? Am I matching what I can do with what the boys are doing over there? Am I investing every possible dollar in War Bonds today to make my future and my family's future more secure?"

Most of us haven't yet begun to do our best. Uncle Sam needs it now! BUY MORE THAN BEFORE in the 5th War Loan!

HORSES and MULES

Handling at Work

Teach horses and mules to obey the command "whoa" instantly; never use the command unless you mean it.

Develop a definite system for hitching and unhitching horses and mules—and follow it. They will know what to expect, and there's less danger you'll forget to finish the job.

Use only strong harnesses. Keep them in good repair. Clean harnesses with warm water and mild soap; oil them regularly. They'll remain stronger; last longer. Dry leather has lower tensile strength. Never leave a team standing unattended without securely tying it. The extra few minutes spent tying the team may keep someone out of a hospital. Never tie a team to a fence, windmill, or machinery with which it may become entangled.

Don't hitch your horses to weak equipment. Be particularly careful that neck yokes, tongues, singletrees, doubletrees and eveners are strong and securely fastened.

When driving, never wrap or tie the lines around your body or around your wrists. Failure to remember this caution may result in your being dropped and badly injured.

Don't permit flies to torment your horses and make them unmanageable. Use flynets, or muslin horse covers, and nose guards to protect work animals in fly time.

NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED . . . NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.

3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.

5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy . . . from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

Wherever your invasion forces are fighting—at sea, in the air, on the ground—they're working together for victory. They know that they must depend on each other, for only by coordinated teamwork will they win through to final victory in the earliest possible time.

The Fifth War Loan starts next Monday. It's going to take teamwork—a lot of it—to raise Ochiltree County's quota of $410,000. This is the largest amount our county has ever been asked to buy. We have a big job to do. As the tempo of invasion rises every one of us must mobilize for support of our fighting men.

Everyone in Ochiltree county is asked to take on a job as War Bond Volunteer Worker. No personal solicitations will be made. No canvass of war bond purchasers is planned. Make it your job—for it is your duty—to buy your War Bonds as quickly as possible—and buy more than you've ever bought before.

Remember, it's teamwork that does it!

COUNTY OF OCHILTREE

Former Ochiltree County Teacher is Second In Command of United States Army Air Forces

Editor's Note: Twin brothers Barney and Ben Giles taught country schools in Ochiltree county in 1913-14. Barney taught the Missouri Avenue school and lived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Key. Ben taught the Plainview school. They joined the army during World War I and both are now generals. The following story is from the May 8 issue of Newsweek.

In Washington last week, a rangy, soft-spoken man with gray-sprinkled hair kept combat maps of Europe constantly before him, watching closely the greatest air offensive of all time. The invasion of Europe had begun already for Maj. Gen. Barney McKinney Giles, Chief of Air Staff and second to Gen. H. H. Arnold in command of the Army Air Forces. General Giles could take pride in his part in preparing the Air Forces for their D Day. For, under the sponsorship of General Arnold, he was the leading exponent of long-range fighters as cover for invading bombers. Listening in his mind to the high roar of the American armadas over Germany, General Giles could also hear the frail voice of a single-engine plane winging over Mineola, Texas, three decades ago. Then, plopping on their father's farm, Barney Giles and his twin brother Ben would gaze enviously at a humming speck until it was lost.

By 1917, Ben and Barney Giles had harbored for three years their consuming ambition to fly. The tales they read of Royal Flying Corps fliers dropping bricks, gasoline, and bottles on the Germans and fighting air duels with shotguns kept them awake at night.

By pooling slim resources they got enough money to send Ben to Canada to see about joining the RFC. While he was there the United States entered the war. The brothers were off to an American recruiting station. Also still in service today is Brig. Gen. Benjamin F. Giles, commanding general of United States Army Forces in the Middle East.

Twenty-seven years in the Air Forces have not dimmed Barney Giles' enthusiasm. Indefatigable, he arrives at his office at 7:30 a.m., seven mornings a week and works until 7:30 in the evening. Only on Sunday does he take it easy; then he goes home at 3 o'clock—if he can.

Still rated a command pilot and command observer, General Giles was never just a flier. He has served in virtually every branch of the Air Forces. Early in 1941, he went to Europe as technical observer. He studied air fighting, saw London bombed, and returned with the conviction that bomber losses could be cut sharply by fighter protection.

Many Air Forces officers maintained that fighters could not carry the gas loads necessary for long-range flights and still be useful as fighters. General Giles declared it could be done with extra tanks. Experiments demonstrated that he knew what he was talking about. But the idea was radical, and many high officers remained unconvinced.

Made commander of the Fourth Air Force in 1942, Giles continued to advance his plan. When he was named an Assistant Chief of the Air Staff early in 1943, he was in good position to promote the issue he believed would not only save lives and machines but also help gain air supremacy.

Still faced with opposition when he became Chief of Air Staff in July 1943, General Giles wasted no more breath. By last fall P-38's and P-51's began to go into long-range action. Their flight radius now extends more than 600 miles. Rushed into service, these long-range fighters escorted bombers to their targets, and their flight radius now extends more than 600 miles.

Last week President Roosevelt recommended that Maj. Gen. Barney Giles be promoted to the rank of lieutenant general.

General Giles grips at "pencil-pushing." Every now and then his great energy begins to strain his seams. When that happened in 1942, he flew up to Kiska and dropped bombs himself on the Japs.

Early this year he toured the Mediterranean fronts and saw the fighting at Cassino from both air and ground. A par golfer, General Giles has seldom played since the war started. A dead-eye bird hunter, he now gets his quail and pheasant on toast only in his Port Myer quarters, where he lives with Mrs. Giles. Little social life interrupts his routine of work, eat, and sleep.

A few days ago, the 31-year-old general hopped into the pilot's seat of the brand-new giant Constellation and took off from Washington Airport with twelve officers as passengers. High over the Virginia hills, he purposely cut out two of the great ship's four motors. The officers behind him swallowed dryly and breathed easier only after the two dead engines had chimed in again.

"I just wanted to see what would happen," General Giles told them.

Van, I will have to excuse the pencil from out of ink, and there doesn't seem to be a bottle of ink in this camp here the 10th from Ft. Houston along with eleven others. I took basic with down. We were assigned as instructors. Special Training Units, but at the time we finished our basic the program folded up and we were without a job. They transferred us all to the Medical Corps. I am here for 17 weeks basic training. I am only fifty from my family here.

camp has the reputation of being the roughest in the United States. It is a ratty looking place with the other camps I have been in, but they seem to be on a par here, and get things done.

mentioned in the Herald that our county has been failing on their bond quotas. I didn't know what ever happen up there, but I suppose people up there believe like they are everywhere that the war is practically over, and per cent of the people where we have been already getting their fireworks together to celebrate the end of the war, but it doesn't look so simple from where I sit.

That is the only gripe I have, and the other fellows feel the same way. We don't mind the work, sweat and grind and we will fight like the very devil when we get over there, but when the folks at home sit snugly back in comfort raking in the profits off of this war, and then say its practically over we can let down now, it doesn't help the soldier's morale any.

I want to get this thing over with so I can get back home with my family, and every soldier I have seen feels the same way. You can rest assured that the men in the service will put out everything they have got to get this over with as soon as possible, but it would make them feel a lot better if the civilians would be a little more concerned about it.

It is time for lights out so I will quit. Give my regards to everyone, and change my paper to the following address:

Dear Van and Jessie:
Your thoughtfulness and consideration overwhelms me! I've read every line of every column and plan to scan it again to sort of soak it up as it were. You were mighty nice to send it.

I've made a little move and have settled into the old grind. This place is really easy upon the pocketbook. I haven't spent a ten shilling note since I've been here. But I've been thinking about buying a bicycle and that will lighten the pocketbook by about 8 or 10 pounds. In a way, it sort of reminds me of Fort Clark with recreational facilities at a premium. I've been working every night and have maintained my record of not having a day off yet, so that might account for the lack of time to spend my money.

I enjoyed the letter from Buck Garrison which appeared in the paper. I'd like to run into that guy. I notice he is back up to corporal. Maybe next time he won't celebrate the victory before the victory is won, as he says he did in Sicily.

The thatched roofs on the cottages around here are a source of wonder to an old plains boy like me. I wonder how they keep the blazes from getting on. One fellow told me that the straw is sewed on after being sort of pleated. Says that a roof lasts from one to two years and is quite good for insulation and doesn't leak at all. Which I'll take with a grain of salt.

I'm living with an old boy from Pennsylvania who majored in History at Princeton U., and likes the subject quite well. He is quite well versed in English history, especially the risqué angles of it and that appeals to me. Anyway, I find that he is as good as that history book I bought, and lots more interesting.

General Eisenhower dropped in

ERISMAN TO RUN FOR STATE OFFICE

Fred Erisman of Longview, who is serving his third term as District Attorney of Gregg County, has announced his candidacy for Attorney General of Texas. Longview is now serving as president of the District and County Attorney's Association of Texas.

the other day while on one of his tours about the ETO, and gave us quite a treat. What tickles me is the way of officers who trail in his wake, like the dog Tray. Doesn't seem to impress him much, however. He is a fine looking man and a real soldier.

Well, I'm about to run out of gas, so I'll sign off. Best wishes, and thanks again for the paper.

Yours,
Harold Hudson

P. S. The Pennsylvania Sgt. was quite interested in the Lost and Found column. Didn't know that cattle are still branded. Boy, what a flathead!

Dearest Mother and Dan,
Just a few lines to let you know that I am O. K. I am in New Guinea and am losing a little weight, but that is to be expected. It is so hot here and rains all the time. We have not received any mail since we arrived. I sure hope to get some soon. The typewriter I am using belongs to a signal outfit, next to my position. They are sure a swell bunch of guys.

Well, we got what we came after here. Everyone has certainly done well. We didn't lose hardly any men. I guess you folks heard a lot about this campaign. It went over big. You can see dead Japs everywhere. They sure took to the tail timber. There is still a few in the hills, but they are starving and giving up all the time. There is a lot I could tell you if I was allowed to. I sure can tell you some tall tales when I get home. So you had better be ready for I will sure talk while you fix me some good coffee, biscuits and steak.

There are lots of things that you folks back there never hear about. If you did hear about it you wouldn't believe it. You just see the good things in the shows. What the people need is to know more real things, and buy more Bonds so we can get this over with and come home.

I have a lot of things to bring to you and Missie. How would you like a scarf made out of a Jap parachute? It is pure silk. I have some Jap post cards that I got out of a Jap hut up the road. I have some books too that will be nice to show to the Perryton school and to Mr. Stewart when I go to Perryton to see Pop.

We hear the news every night here at the signal truck. We also hear the big bands from the states. It really sounds good to hear some music from home. I will be glad to get back home, so I can make some of those good dances. I want to get back to work when I get out of the army. I really like those big Katy engines.

I must close for it is getting dark. Keep writing. I will get the letters someday. Glad you got the pictures I sent, and hope you get the Jap post card that I sent you yesterday.

Your son,
Tom O. Calhoun Jr.

Somewhere in Pacific
May 25, 1944

Dear Mr. Stewart,
I don't remember if I sent you my latest change of address or not. If not, here it is.

The natives here provide our chief entertainment with their somewhat half civilized actions and living conditions. Though it is an old thing to all of us now—they never cease to interest us. They also do a lot of our work for us, such as laundry. At first they only charged us 2 or 3 cigarettes. Now they are charging us 2 or 3 packages. Of course our clothes sometimes turn up short, but we usually wind up about 50-50.

As you know the Marines are doing a lot of first class work in this war. They were the first to strike a return blow against Japan. Now I think that we can claim to be the first to take time out to do more than that to help win the war. That is—we are now planting "Victory Gardens" on the side. The way it started was one of the fellows here in the squad thought he might be able to raise some tomatoes in this sand. He planted them and they grew like mad. In 2 or 3 more weeks he is going to have some fresh tomatoes. Providing someone doesn't make a raid some night. I have noticed in the squad of patrols out looking them over. It wasn't long after his plants started coming up that the mail was flooded with letters asking for seeds. Now almost everyone has a small garden. I have one with watermelon plants, and I am guarding it with a loaded rifle.

I must close now as it is time to get ready for guard mount.

Sincerely,
Pfc. L. D. Gibson

Dear Mr. Stewart,
I've been getting the paper every week and it surely is appreciated. It sure keeps me well informed of what is going on at home. I want to report my change of address.

I left Hays, Kansas approximately 3 weeks ago and was shipped out here for 10 weeks of preflight school last Monday. We start classes before dinner. I am taking code, military subjects, gunnery, math, naval recognition. We don't have much time for studying, but our subjects are interesting and I'm getting a lot out of them.

I was looking through a Texas Roster at the Service club last Sunday and saw James Woodworth's name. I think he has already shipped from here. Also Helen May is here on the field now, but I haven't seen her yet.

Well, it is about time for taps so I'll close.

Thanks again for the paper.

DRIVE IT HOME!

"That's the way I like to see them," said Gen. MacArthur when he saw the rows of dead Japs in the Admiralty Islands. In this war—the costliest, cruellest war of all time—our boys must fight with savage fury. Kill or be killed! And on how well each plays his part depends the lives of many of his buddies. Here on the home front, too, just cheering the attack on isn't enough.

That's why there's a Fifth War Bond drive on now, a drive in which you're needed to support the men on the fighting fronts who are facing the most treacherous forces Americans have ever met in combat. We on the home front can't let them down—and we won't. So resolve now to at least double your Bond buying in the 5th War Loan drive. This is the time to do better than your best.

Have a Coca-Cola = Come on over

...or keeping youth happy at home
Keeping young folks happy at home is mostly a matter of having a house in which they and their friends feel welcome. So don't forget Coca-Cola... it's always a big attraction for the young crowd. It says better than words, Come on over to our house... we're glad to see you. Be sure there's "Coke" in your icebox. There's no more cordial invitation, nor one more refreshing, than the three simple words... Have a "Coke".

Cattle Punching in Arkansas Much Different than Texas, States Buchanan

Rounding up cattle and riding after them in southeastern Arkansas is a new experience to Irvin R. Buchanan, former County Clerk of Ochiltree County, who moved to Arkansas City, the first of March this year. In the following letter, Mr. Buchanan gives an interesting account of the recent floods and high waters, and of their home, etc. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan and Betty Lu and Irvin Jr. will enjoy hearing about their new home and interests.

Arkansas City, Ark.
May 14, 1944

Dear Van:

I know you think the Buchanans have vanished completely, but we are still alive and well. Tho we have been so busy since we got here that we have not taken care of our correspondence as we should, neglecting to write those who should.

First, we had to rework the house over on the inside throughout, as very little had been done to it in several years and it was badly in need of repair. This took well over a month, then it was the farm and the cattle, and that has kept us on the go long hours every day.

The unusual rainy weather has put the farmers about ten weeks behind in their work. I say unusual rainy weather, that is what the old timers here say; that they have never seen so much rain in such a short period of time. I noticed where you had had lots of rain, something like four inches during the month of April, well we had four inches here the first day of May, and it fell within a two hour period, which also is unusual, they say, as most rains fall slowly. At one time since we got here there fell over nine inches in a period of seventy-two hours. Since the first of January, a little over forty inches. So I guess they are right when they say unusual for that much did not fall in the whole year last year, in fact much less than that.

I know that you have been seeing in the papers and heard over the radio about the floods along the Mississippi River, and some have written us, expressing concern about this section of the country. Well we are in no danger of a flood whatever. Tho the river is high now. And we did not know how high it was going to get, so we had to get our cattle out of the river front and wait until we could tell about how high the river was going.

I will explain about the cattle and the river front. Mr. Ramus and I are running our cattle on what is known as Godwin Island and Eunice Shoot, a strip of land lying between the levee and the river, this is opposite the farm, and lying south of the farm, but begins immediately across the levee from the farm. This island and shoot is an area of about five miles by five miles, or longer, and is free range, with lots of bermuda grass, hop clover and other native grasses. Much of it is covered with dense trees, and other parts are fairly open with some open glades, making a fine pasture. The Ramuses have used this land for years as range for their cattle. The land is owned by timber companies, and the timber preserved and only cut once in several years, and then only the timber that is called saw timber.

Now as I said, this land lies where the water gets over it, if the river goes high enough, and when the rivers are flooding above in the Miss. basin, then you watch the government predictions and if it looks like it will shut the cattle off of the higher ridges, then you get the cattle out. Well, that is just what we did. We rode this island for three days and got the majority out but could not find them all. This type of cattle punching was a bit different from the open plains there. And the way we find them we have about eight cows with bells on, and these cattle will stay around close to a belled cow, and as you ride thru the woods, you stop ever so often and listen for the bells, and if you hear one, then you begin to call. As you wait them ever so often, when you call they think you have salt for them, and you do carry a sack of salt, and give them only a little, and they will hang around this place trying to get salt while you look for more up on the island. Then a rider gets in front and calls, while other riders come on behind and drive them. So you see it is a bit different.

Too, as you are riding after these cattle, much of the time you are near the river, and we saw many boats, as there is much shipping going on now. Several landing barges were seen, these made at Memphis and other points up the river. We also go to the farm by going on top of the levee, and I believe that there has been but few times when we did not see from one to three boats with barges either going up or coming down. It so happens that the bend here near town is the hardest bend to make between Memphis and Vicksburg, and some times it takes a big boat all day and sometimes longer to make this bend. They often have to break their tow, tying up some of the barges, and going on around the bend and coming back, then pick up the ones they had left. We hear the boats whistle many times a day.

Mrs. Buchanan has always loved flowers, and we have had some that she has thoroughly enjoyed and while Mr. Lee (Keith) was here, he said one day that she had eight bouquets over the house. I did not count them, but I know that we have really had the flowers. In our yard we have about 50 varieties of flowers and shrubs, among these are: Japonica (2 varieties), Forsythia, Spiraea (2 varieties), Flowering Almond, Jonquils, narcissus, Oxalis, iris (5 varieties), Hydrangea, roses, verbena, wistaria, cannas, lilies, phlox, periwinkles, chrysanthemums, and many others—many we have not learned the names yet. Needless to say, the yard is full of birds—red birds, orioles, wild canaries, mockingbirds, blue jays, hummingbirds, brown thrush, etc. So you can imagine how she has enjoyed these flowers and birds.

We miss our Perryton friends, and we regret that we cannot be with them, and at the same time enjoy some of the things we have here, but for the present we are remembering the many good times and the friendships we had while there, and we hope they will not forget us, as we surely are not forgetting them. Give our regards to Jessie and Carmen.

Oh, yes, tell Carmen that Betty has been selected to go to Girls State, in June, to Little Rock for a week, sponsored by the American Legion, which you are familiar with. We think this is an honor, as Betty Lu has only been here so short a time, and then to be selected to go. I believe the date is June 3.

Van, I have just written at random, but maybe you can make it out somewhat as to what I wanted to say. Any way, wish I could enjoy a good visit with you all. We always read the Herald from cover to cover, and of course are keeping up with some of the happening that we are interested in.

Remember the latch string is still on the outside of the door at the Buchanans.

Your friend,
Buck

Illinois Farm Girl Chooses Nursing as Important War Job

With a brother and sister already serving their country, Louise Owen also wanted to do her part in an important war job. That is why she left her father's Illinois farm a year and a half ago to enter the School of Nursing at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. That is why she joined the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps.

All her life, Louise had lived in a farming community near St. Elmo, Ill.—first on a large rented farm and later on another, owned by her parents. As the third child in a family of five girls and two boys, Louise came in early for her share of work. Hoeing and weeding the "truck patches" of sweet corn, watermelons, cantaloupes, navy beans and tomatoes were her special chores. Later she was promoted to hay-making and milking.

She liked the farm—even during the lean years when the kids came home from school only to pitch in as the hands their father was unable to employ. When she wasn't helping to care for the horses, hogs, cattle and chickens she remodeled her own clothes—a hobby she still pursues. Louise remembers how they used to make ends meet by living on corn bread, navy beans, potatoes and more corn bread.

Life Not All Drudgery

It was not all hard work in the Owen household. Of an evening, Louise and her sisters learned to play the piano and received expert instruction in knitting and embroidery from their mother. Then, of course, there was always something exciting going on in the large house filled with growing children.

Then the shadow of the depression lifted. The Owens along with many of their neighbors found themselves owners of oil wells whose deposits were located on their properties. Louise started high school that year feeling that she and her family were very fortunate.

Then came the war. Joe the eldest brother went off to England with the Air Corps. Pauline, the second child, entered the Washington School of Nursing. Pearl Harbor was 6 months past when Louise graduated from St. Elmo high school in 1942—salutatorian of her class. She decided to join her sister in the school of nursing at Washington University.

When the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps was organized Louise saw her chance to help relieve the acute shortage of nurses in her own community hospital an speed her nursing education along. Once she becomes a registered nurse, she will be ready to go overseas to assist in the reconstruction and rehabilitation of a war-torn world.

Preparation is Key To Saving Food Now Discarded in Homes

Some big savings in food may be made in the methods of preparation used by the housewife, the War Food Administration points out. A few examples will show some of these savings.

Beet tops represent 22 per cent of the beet as purchased and are commonly thrown away when they could be served up in a tasty dish.

Turnip tops and parings are frequently thrown out. They amount to 35 per cent of the entire turnip. The tops could be put to good use as a separate dish and the parings held to almost nothing by scraping the turnips instead of paring them.

Outer leaves of lettuce, too, often go into the garbage pail. And those very green leaves, nutritionists say, contain more food value than the pallid inner ones. The nutritionists recommend cutting out the bruised spots and chopping the leaves up in salads or serving them wilted with a bit of bacon fat and crumbled bacon.

Potato waste comes in the peeling. Even if only one-sixth of the potato is lost during careful peeling in the average American kitchen, it piles up into a national waste of more than 24,000,000 bushels a year.

Garbage cans far too often are crammed with food a European cook would use with relish. Bones, WFA nutritionists say, make soup stock and gelatin. Just boil them slowly from two to three hours in plenty of water. Remove the bones and flavor the stock with lemon juice. Cook vegetables, add them to the stock and let the whole set in the ice-box from 12 to 14 hours. That gives jellied vegetables, but fruits can be added instead.

Pear and apple peelings can be made into a spread for bread. Just boil them down slowly and strain. Add sugar and molasses and boil a little longer. The mixture jells as it cools and there's the spread.

Sour milk can go into griddle cakes and other cakes. Sour cream can go into potato soup and can be used in cooking squash, goulash, sauerkraut, etc. Stale bread makes good puddings and stuffings. Stale bread crumbs, combined with eggs, milk, margarine and fruit, make a fine Viennese dessert.

Vegetables should be cooked quickly in a small amount of boiling water only until they're tender.

Vegetable cooking water is excellent for use in soups, and the syrup in which canned fruits are packed is good for fruitades.

Low temperatures are better for meat than high temperatures, which shrink it unnecessarily and mean fewer servings.

Fruits and vegetables for salads should not be chopped until just before serving, to conserve their vitamins.

There are other ways to save, too. Scrape butter or dough thoroughly out of mixing bowls. Learn the art of camouflage cookery and serve left-overs appetizingly. Above all, never, never allow food to scorch or burn in pans.

And clever serving helps, too. Put only medium servings on each person's plate. It's far better to have members of the family ask seconds than to serve them too much and have to throw out what they don't eat. Set only the amount of food on the table that the family can eat, and urge no more food. Guests than they really want. A clean-plate campaign in your home is one way of doing the trick.

Housewives who follow all the rules will find food bills dropping.

A home was once prepared Maine for Marie Antoinette during the French Revolution, planned to escape to America.
