Shrimp Landings Show Increase

Landings of headless shrimp at Texas ports amounted to 2.0 million pounds in April valued at $2.2 million. Landings for the first 4 months of 1970 amounted to 7.4 million pounds valued at $7.6 million compared with 6.9 million pounds valued at $7.4 million during the corresponding 1969 period. Landings at Brownsville-Port Isabel accounted for 45 percent of the April volume and 49 percent of the State's January-April 1970 volume.

The following represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods:

Port Arthur-Sabine area: April 1970, 51,900 pounds; Jan.-April 1970, 269,000; Jan.-April 1969, 114,700.

Galveston-Seabrook area: April 1970, 312,400 pounds; Jan.-April 1970, 645,000; Jan.-April 1969, 288,700.

Freeport area: April 1970, 214,300 pounds; Jan.-April 1970, 839,500; Jan.-April 1970, $45,800.

Matagorda-Palacios area: April 1970, 21,200 pounds; Jan.-April 1970, 73,200; Jan.-April 1969, 126,800.

Port Lavaca-Port O'Connor-Seadrift area: April 1970, 62,900 pounds; Jan.-April 1970 260,200; Jan.-April 1969, 177,600.

Aransas Pass-Rockport area: April 1970, 458,500 pounds; Jan.-April 1970, 1,589,000; Jan.-April 1969, 1,493,000.

Brownsville - Port Isabel area: April 1970, 927,300 pounds; Jan.-April 1970, 3,598,200; Jan.-April 1969, 4,035,600.

Totals: April 1970, 2,048,500 pounds; Jan.-April 1970, 7,374,100; Jan.-April 1969, 6,882,200.

Vessels working brown shrimp made broken trips on all major fishing grounds on the western Gulf coast. Texas vessels were concentrated in the area southeast of Freeport to south of Morgan City, La., in waters beyond 30 fathoms. Again, large steel vessels remained at sea during rough weather that forced smaller vessels to return to port. Large trawlers made trip averages of 200 pounds per night; smaller vessels some 18 percent less. Trawlers working pink shrimp in the Gulf of Campeche made trip catches of about 200 pounds per night, consequently, many vessels returned to work waters off north Texas and Louisiana. Trawlers working white shrimp during daylight hours made spotted, fair catches around major passes and bay boats reported white shrimp in all all major systems.

Oyster landings amounted to about 20,000 barrels yielding 330,000 pounds of shucked meats. This practically unchanged from the volume harvested during April 1969. Public oyster reefs were closed in all major systems by the end of April. Fishermen received $6.50-$8.00 per barrel for shell oysters.

Blue crab landings totaled 200,000 pounds in April. This was far below the 350,000 pounds harvested in April 1969. Fishermen received 8-10 cents per pound for good quality crabs.

Weather conditions were unsettled and not conducive for larval and juvenile shrimp during the first 20 days of April. Average temperatures during the month were the coldest recorded in recent years for April. Conditions improved, however, the last week of the month and high tides and warm weather gave some hope for the ensuing brown shrimp season along the north Texas coast.

Thirteen new vessels entered the Texas fishery in April. Seven are large steel units and in the "super trawlers" class. Two vessels were lost at sea. One crewman was lost at sea.

All Residents Urged to Promenade

Now that the tourist season is beginning, it is especially important for as many local residents as possible to participate in the weekly Friday afternoon promenades wearing their Centennial costumes, Bob Stroot, general chairman of the civic celebration, said today.

"Last week's turnout was rather disappointing," Stroot said. "The previous week approximately 200 promenaders walked through the business district, while less than half that number participated last Friday."

Members of the committee in charge expressed hope that the promenade Friday would be the best attended so far. There will be another session of the Centennial Kangaroo Court this week, with numerous "arrests" and "trials" for alleged violations of Centennial edicts and proclamations. The promenade will start at 6 p.m. Friday, and will be followed by a session of the Kangaroo Court.

New Service Hour At Presbyterian

The Rev. Cecil H. Lang, Jr., minister at First Presbyterian Church, announces that from June 7 through Sept. 13 at the morning worship service will begin at 9 a.m. and Sunday School at 10:05.

The 25-voice Youth Choir, consisting of boys and girls 10 years and older, will sing at the Sunday, June 7 service for the first time at a regular service.

Lang said there were two reasons for changing the start of the worship service from 11 to 9 a.m. during the summer: 1) to offer visitors the opportunity to attend an earlier service and still have a long day to enjoy the recreational facilities of this area, and 2) provide for "our own families the same chance to attend church and also take full advantage of our water-oriented recreation."

Centennial Profits To Beautify Area

Any money remaining after all expenses of the Aransas County - Rockport Centennial have been paid will be used to beautify public property on a county-wide basis, Mayor Delmar Hiller, president of the non-profit corporation sponsoring the celebration, reports.

The decision was made by the corporation board of directors after considering several proposals as to how any possible surplus should be used. This surplus, if it materializes, will be used for the beautification project.

After more than seven months of planning and working on the part of literally hundreds of residents of this area, it now appears probable that returns from money-making aspects of the Centennial will be more than enough to meet expenses.

"This would not have been possible were it not for the personal sacrifices of members of the operating committees and others. Many of them have given hundreds of hours without any compensation other than the satisfaction of having served their community well."

Hiller stated, "In addition, many of these public spirited citizens have spent their own money on gasoline, long distance telephone calls and other incidental expenses."

Several local organizations will receive a fixed percentage from events they plan, staff and carry out, such as the Youth Rodeo, Square Dance, Time Capsule, Fish Fry, Beef Barbecue and Mexican Fiesta dinner. Otherwise all money received will be used to meet expenses of the Centennial with any balance remaining being applied to the public beautification project. (Continued on page 8)

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Last week the Pilot published a letter from a man who said "It has been brought to my attention that many of the restaurants and motels in this area have decided to raise their prices during the Centennial Celebration."

We have no idea where he got his "information." We, the undersigned, are responsible owners of local restaurants and at no time have we ever considered raising prices for visitors coming to Rockport to enjoy the Centennial.

On the contrary, we are determined to do everything we can to please the folks coming here, to help "sell" the Rockport area as a wonderful place to visit and to move to.

We intend to serve good food at reasonable prices, and we resent the inference that any responsible restaurant owner here would resort to "gouging" visitors.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ed Barnard

It's Only Good Manners!

If you enjoy a good, cold beer, we'll never tell you that if you're not drinking Lone Star, you're not drinking beer. You know better, and we've got better manners.

The truth is that there are four good premium beers now brewed in the Southwest. Lone Star just happened to be the first one.

Lone Star is a premium beer, an honest beer at an honest price. It always has been.

Lone Star. There's nothing phony about it.

Corpus Christi Centennial House

Corpus Christi's Centennial House, built in 1849 and believed to be the city's oldest structure in existence, is open to visitors between 3 and 5 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. It is located on upper Broadway.

Despite its age and the ravages of wars and hurricanes, it is well preserved, having been stoutly built originally and well cared for by its successive owners. The well known Texas artist Buck Schwetz describes it as having "dignity and grace in its design" and as being "superbly located in Corpus Christi on a site overlooking the bay."

Those familiar with Corpus Christi can recall with nostalgia the names of prominent families (Britton, Staples, and Evans) who at one time or another have been owners of this

JUNE DRAFT CALLS FOR 801 TEXAS

Austin.—The June draft call for Texas is 801, and no man will be selected and ordered for induction with a random sequence number higher than 170, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said recently.

The June quota is down from 834 in May, which is being filled with men having random sequence numbers no higher than 145.

The state quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in June is 2,320, down from 5,828 in May. Men sent for these examinations will be limited to those with random sequence numbers 1 through 215.

Deferred or exempt men, such as teachers, college students, and vocational or trade school students, with random sequence numbers 1 through 215, may be forwarded for these examinations if they are likely to lose their deferred or exempt status during the next six months Colonel Schwartz said.

No men with random sequence numbers above 215 will be forwarded for examination until further notice. Men born in 1951, who have no random sequence numbers, will be called for this purpose. A drawing will be held later this year to establish the numbers for the 1951 group.

All volunteers at the draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for induction by random sequence number.

The Texas induction quota of 801 for June is the state's share of a national call for 15,000 men, all for the army.

FOUR LOCAL BOYS TO ATTEND CAMP

A week's vacation for four local boys at the Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle begins June 14, according to Mrs. R. L. Hart, 1970 camp chairman.

"Our young people will be among 800 underprivileged boys from 321 Salvation Army Service Unit cities who will attend the big camp near Midlothian during a four-week period this summer," Mrs. Hart said.

They will go to Camp Hoblitzelle via Continental Trailways.

"This will be an excellent growth experience for these boys who have never been to a real camp. At Hoblitzelle they will enjoy boating, hiking, archery, horseback riding, fishing, swimming, handicrafts, movies and baseball as well as worship services and Bible study.

Camp Hoblitzelle operates all year round at its 370-acre site, 30 miles from Dallas. Underprivileged boys enjoy a carefree vacation at no cost. Between now and Labor Day, 3,500 persons will attend 16 different camp sessions.

Campers will be housed in brick and redwood cabins with 12 boys and one trained counselor to each cabin. They will be fed well-balanced meals at the camp's own dining room and will keep regular sleeping hours, from nine-thirty

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—I have had an occupational deferment for two years. I understand there are some new regulations on this subject. Do they apply to me?

A—Since you were granted this deferment before April 23, 1970, you may still continue in it at the option of your local board.

Q—I've been thinking of changing occupations. Could I still hold the job deferment?

A—No. Under the President's executive order of April 23, 1970, you may still continue in the job deferment if you change occupations.

Q—I'm about to become a father. Can I get a paternity deferment?

A—to qualify for this deferment, there must be information in your draft board file received or postmarked prior to April 23, 1970, that a child has been born or conceived.

Q—I qualify on that. What must I do to retain it or have it renewed?

A—You must continue to maintain a bona fide family relationship in your home with your child or children.

Q—A friend of mine had a child born in early May of 1970. Can he get the paternity deferment?

A—No. By the terms of the President's executive order of April 23, 1970, a draft board can no longer grant deferments for fatherhood alone if a request is received or postmarked on April 23, 1970 or later.

Chamber Happenings

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held its monthly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Duck Inn. Attending were Roy Rogero, Sam Wilcox, Louise Brisbin, Loyce Landrum, John Kinsey, Gordon Stanley, Vernon Kley-pas, Bill Kelsay, Jack McDavid, Juanita Wagley, Port Little, Jimmy Sorenson and Johnny Mitchell.

Among subjects discussed during the business meeting presided over by Mrs. Wagley, president, were:

—Several reports were made about the vast amount of publicity the local area is receiving in newspapers, magazines, radio, television, news bulletins and caravan visits to other cities in connection with the Aransas County-Rockport Centennial Celebration, June 13-21.

—Work on the Chamber of Commerce float for the Centennial parades is progressing satisfactorily under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Haynes and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Ragot. Decorations and props will include a mast and some type of sail.

—Regarding Christmas decorations for the business areas of Rockport and Fulton, it was decided to purchase a quantity of imitation holly leaves and other ornaments to replace those blown away last Christmas.

—It was announced that the Chamber has ordered 5,000 full-color brochures describing and picturing the attractions of our area. The brochure will have a new cover showing a young couple running along the beach.

—In an attempt to establish uniformity among business establishments regarding holiday closings, it was decided to draw up a suggested list and then conduct a poll among firms.

—The Board expressed appreciation to the Navigation District, Aransas County and the City for their cooperation and generosity in widening and repaving the parking area between the C of C Building and the Woman's Club Building.

—Gordon Stanley reported on the widespread publicity the area received in connection with the recent ski race from here to Houston and thanked the Chamber for its help in promoting the event.

—A letter was read from R. J. Vigna, maintenance superintendent, Ashland Chemical Company, thanking the Chamber for use of the C of C Building by students who recently completed Del Mar College's class in the national electric code.

Col. (ret.) and Mrs. J. H. von Pein furnished the refreshments for the C of C hospitality program this week. Although not members of the Chamber, this contribution is typical of the community spirit which Henry and Virginia have demonstrated since retiring to Rockport several years ago.

This past year Henry served as president of the Fulton Lions Club and as a couple they served as president of the Paws and Taws Square Dance Club. Currently this popular couple is helping to promote the Centennial, leading the Friday evening promenades in downtown Rockport, and recently escorted the first caravan to neighboring towns advertising this upcoming event.

Thank you, Henry and Virginia, for your support of the C of C work as well as other community activities, but most of all for choosing Rockport for your retirement.

Roy Lee Pina and Diana Pina were honored with a graduation party May 27 at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pina, Sr. Refreshments of chips and dips were served to approximately 40 guests who called. Dancing was enjoyed.

SMITH WINS SILVER STAR

U. S. Air Force Major Ted L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmore H. Smith, has received the Silver Star for a rescue mission to evacuate a USAF pilot from an enemy held location in Southeast Asia.

Major Smith, an HH-3 Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter pilot, earned the nation's third highest decoration for gallantry in combat in October, 1969.

After three flights of helicopters had been forced by intense and accurate enemy fire to withdraw from the waiting airman's location, the major flew into the area.

Despite exploding ordnance and continuing gunfire, he persisted in his efforts and enabled the successful pick up and evacuation of the pilot.

Msgr. Beck Praises In News Article

The following article on the Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. O. Beck, written by staff writer Tom E. Fite, appeared recently in the Victoria Advocate.

"I haven't had a lonesome day since I went down there," Msgr. Beck said concerning his three years of retirement at Fulton.

The reason, probably is that hardly anyone can discern that the monsignor is in retirement. He's working on two books, conducts mass every day at Sacred Heart Church in Rockport and generally preaches one or two sermons a week, filling in when the parish priests take a vacation or make an out-of-town trip for any reason.

He handles the 5:30 p.m. mass week days "and this new Yiddish service at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday," one of the recent changes in the Catholic Church which allows communicants to attend mass on Saturday evening rather than on Sunday morning. And then he's back for mass at 9 a.m. on Sunday.

The former pastor at St. Mary's Church in Victoria, who retired on March 1, 1967 and will be 75 years old next Aug. 17, is as intense and interesting as ever.

That unruly shock of white hair may be a bit thinner and he walks with a cane since he's having trouble with arthritis, but he has just come through an extensive physical examination "with no problems except those of old age."

The penetrating eyes still light up frequently with laughter, and his conversation is as sprightly—and salty—as ever.

"We have company and plenty of it," he said referring to himself and his niece, Miss Frances Beck. "She's my housekeeper and chauffeur."

And he fishes quite a bit, in between writing, preparing sermons and conducting mass. "If I accepted all the fishing invitations I get, I'd be busy for a solid year," he said.

But he does enjoy going out, both to fish and to meet and talk with the "snowbirds." The snowbirds, of course, are retired folk who have come down from the snow country to enjoy the balmy South Texas winters.

"They like Rockport and Fulton because they're noticed there. The people are nice and concerned about them. That's why they like to come down."

And "they really want to talk, particularly when they find out what profession I'm in," he added, noting that conversations turn to rather fundamental subjects. People are more inclined to talk seriously now than they were a few years ago, he thinks, because of the turmoil in this country and unsettled world conditions.

Characteristically, Msgr. Beck usually identifies himself to these new acquaintances as "an insurance agent." If pressed, he explains that he represents "the largest insurance company in the world headed by the Pope himself."

"We offer insurance against fire on the other side," he explains.

The monsignor will celebrate his golden jubilee in the priesthood next year, and he is busy making plans for celebrations at St. Mary's in Victoria, which he served for 25 years and "in Bastrop with my kinfolks."

He hopes to have his two books published in time for the jubilee, and the titles promise to make them irresistible. One will be "This Is What Happened to Me," an account of the "off-track" things, the humorous things which have occurred in the 50 years since he left the seminary.

One incident, for instance, will involve his first assignment at St. Hedwig, "A Polish community," where he soon learned that he was "preaching to myself" because nobody in the congregation understood a word he was saying.

"When I went there I was instructed that there was to be one mass a week, at 10 a.m. on Sunday," he recalled. "The first Sunday I went to church at the appointed time, and there was nobody there. I went around front, and there were all the people standing around talking."

"This went on for a couple of Sundays, and finally I asked someone why nobody came into the church at 10 o'clock. They explained they were waiting for an old gentleman who smoked a pipe, and wouldn't stop until all the tobacco was burned out rather than waste it."

"When he finished his Sunday morning pipe, we had mass."

There will be many other stories like this—"none of the routine stuff"—in the volume which is completed except for polishing and "writing the finale."

His other book is a collection of sermons, 55 of them in the first volume, and as you might expect, Msgr. Beck plans to call it, "This Is What I Said."

You get the impression, from the somewhat contradictory set of the jaws and twinkle in the eyes, that the subtitle just might be, "Take It or Leave It."

"We have a lot of visitors down there, and people kept asking if they could get copies of my sermons," Msgr. Beck said, "and that's how I got the idea for this book. I'm having them all re-typed now and this, of course, will be a continuing process. I expect to put out some other volumes."

The monsignor gets back to Victoria about once a month to visit his sister, Miss Marie Beck, and serves as an unofficial tour guide for visitors

April Bond Sales $1,727

April sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares amounting to $1,727 in Aransas County were reported today by Fred Bracht, chairman of the County Savings Bond Committee. January - April sales totaled $15,068 — 25 per cent of the 1970 goal achieved.

Texas sales during the month were $15,725,617 — and year-to-date purchases totaled $62,584,024 — 34.7 per cent of the 1970 goal of $179.9 million.

"No doubt many people are looking for last minute graduation and wedding gifts, and our Bond Committee would like to remind them that United States Savings Bonds make ideal gifts for many occasions. Local banks have special gift envelopes to be used when Savings Bonds are given as gifts, so why not give the gift that 'keeps on giving'?" United States Savings Bonds, Chairman Bracht stated.

Navy Relief festival at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station starting June 19.

The Blue Angels have for years thrilled millions of spectators in this country and abroad with spectacular demonstrations of precision aerobatic and formation flying. Few realize, according to Commander Davis, that the maneuvers they use are the same as those taught every naval aviator during flight training. The difference is that the Blue Angels have perfected and refined these maneuvers and execute them with split second timing, he added. Many of the maneuvers are executed with the planes a scarce yard apart while flying at near supersonic speed.

The Kinsey Report

As officers of all local organizations know, "Tony" Harden recently sent letters to officers of every group for volunteers to perform in "Bustles to Bikinis," the Centennial pageant which will depict the history of this area.

At the May meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Tony's appeal was brought up. Juanita Wagley, president, said, "The Chamber certainly wants to cooperate, so which of you directors would like to take part in the pageant?"

Jimmy Sorenson looked at me, sort of grinned and then turned to the president and said:

"Juanita, I move that John Kinsey, our manager, be assigned to see to it that the Chamber is represented in the pageant."

Some other director (I forget which one) who had no taste for being an Indian or something in the spectacle, quickly said, "I second the motion." The vote was unanimous.

Being stuck, I looked around for someone with compassion, someone who finds it hard to say no. I looked in the direction of Vernon Kleypas. He looked away. After the meeting, I cornered him and pleaded, "Please give me a hand, Vernon."

Good old Vern agreed and we went to the "cast auction." On the stage in the High School auditorium were posters with such wording as "10 Cowboys," "20 Dancing Girls," "Six Indians," "4 Banner Carriers," etc.

After a while, Vernon nudged me and pointed to a sign that said "Politician and Medicine Man." We agree those were the roles for us. "I'll be the politician and you be the medicine man," I said. Vern agreed.

So, when Len Eyman, the director starting moving from one poster to another, Vernon and I got ready to dash forward when he came to "Politician and Medicine Man."

Finally, he got there and we ran from the stage, but some how Len picked up a sign that said "20 Dancing Men." The other volunteers howled and Vern and I made it clear that we were not dancers but we would try to fill the dual roles. So Len gave us the assignment.

When the first rehearsal in the gym was held, Vernon learned that as a medicine man he gets run out of town and lots of people chase him all over the place and he really gets a workout.

All I do is point my fist toward the sky and act like I'm making a very brief speech. Vern accuses me of having seen the script ahead of time, but, honestly, that just isn't so.

Centennial Profits—

As has been reported previously, the largest single expense of the Centennial is a fixed $8,000 fee being paid the Rogers Co. of Fostoria, Ohio, for professional planning, supervision and overall direction of the celebration. The Rogers Co. has handled more than 4,000 similar civic celebrations in the past 60 years in all parts of the country, almost all of them financial successes.

From the start, the Rogers Co. has supplied plans and directions covering the smallest details of the Centennial project. In addition, the company has provided skilled personnel to guide the local committee from the start, plus the services of a pageant director in residence to select and train a cast of 300 for "Bustles to Bikinis," a spectacular based on the history of this area. Rogers Co. writers developed the script for the pageant. In addition, the company is supplying all costumes for the cast, as well as sound and lighting effects.

"The Rogers fee, which was based on population and resources of the area, was considered quite reasonable by the Centennial Corporation Board of directors, which authorized the contract," Hiller said. "The board is composed of 12 prominent business men and women of this area."

There have been and will be many other expenses in connection with the Centennial including advertising, such as billboards, window signs, bumper stickers, trophies, stationery and programs and other printing as well as coins, souvenir plates, costumes, buttons, prizes and trophies for various events, as well as the cost of the professional ski show.

Some of these projects will be self-liquidating and probably will eventually show a profit, such as sale of coins, plates and costumes. However, (there are scores of other expenses which must be met from contributions or profit from sales.

One of the early money-raising projects to meet initial expenses was sale of Centennial Corporation stock at $1 a share. However, this will be paid back to the extent possible at the close of the Centennial.

"In addition to the tremendous amount of talent and time devoted to the Centennial without compensation by public spirited residents of this area, many local merchants have contributed or sold at cost much of the materials needed for the several construction projects involved in staging the Centennial. This community will be eternally grateful to the hundreds of devoted men and women volunteer who are working to make our Centennial a success," Hiller stated.

Prepare For Social Security

"Processing time can be cut in half if people are prepared when the time comes to actually file for social security benefits," says Edward Chamberlain, field representative for Social Security Administration.

In most cases, being prepared is not as difficult as many people believe. First of all, remember to take with you your social security card or the card of the person on whose record you are filing. For a widow, this would be the social security card of her deceased husband. This may sound hard to believe, but many people do come in to file their application and leave their number at home.

The next most important document to take with you is your birth certificate. A birth record is needed to qualify for nearly all social security benefits. If your birth was recorded when you were born, or if you were baptized before age five, you will need to have one of these documents. If you don't have a copy, make arrangements now to get one, Chamberlain advises.

If your birth was not recorded, and you were not baptized before age five, or the record is lost, there are other documents you can use. In most cases the earlier the record was made, the better it is for helping to establish your date of birth.

The third thing that is needed in all claims is proof of last year's earnings and an estimate of this year's earnings. Your W-2 Form or tax return for last year will give the information for last year. Be sure to bring these with you.

If you have any questions about what will be needed in your particular case, check with the social security office or with the representative in your area, before it comes time for you to file.

Eddie Close and Cortney Dial of Houston, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Hart this week.

"And what is so rare as a day in June? Then, if ever, come perfect days."
—James Russell Lowell

Now all you "black-eyed Susan" folk so enjoy the yellow flowers with dark centers by the roadsides, it's your time. They are here in profusion. We still have a few thespians but not many; a few white prickly poppies not too thick, but our lovely oleanders are in bloom all over town and don't let your children play with any part of the trees or blossoms. Every part of an oleander is poisonous to man and animal; roots, leaves and sap. Beware of the blossoms of every color.

Keep looking. After you study birds you soon learn that each species has some mark that others don't have. Take a mockingbird or cardinal; go near their nest and the adult silently leaves. Go near a scissortail's nest and watch some other bird dive upon by the scissortail. We watched one dive on the back of a turkey vulture (buzzard) and peck right between the wings, and the large vulture left. Please place injured or young water birds back in the water or near the beach; an adult will find its young, or an injured adult will be able to feed itself. We cannot feed them. We are not able to provide the small crustaceans they eat, nor the salt water they drink. Young hawks or owls can adjust to canned dog food until able to feed themselves, but not small birds.

We have no fall-colored leaves to enjoy as do the residents of northern states, nor do we have a "bare look" of winter, but the ever-green oaks and shrubs give us their beauty all 12 months of the year. Just enjoy and look, look, look.

Maybe a scarce anthingar (bird) will reward you. We have seen one at Lamar Peninsula and twice have we seen one on our beach. Just look!

CARD OF THANKS

There are many times when things occur in our lives that we can truthfully say mean so much to us. This is a time in my life when the many thoughtful acts and kindnesses shown me by my many friends during my recent stay in Spohn Hospital and now while at home have meant so much to me and have brought sunshine into my life. Having friends who genuinely care about one another is one of the most important things in life that matters and I couldn't ask for nicer friends than all of you have been to me. My sincerest thanks to everyone.

'Woman's Day' Publicizes Area

A feature on the whooping cranes, Aransas Pass and Padre Island appears in the June publication of "Woman's Day," and an article on what to do outdoors in the Coastal Bend will appear in the "Camping Journal" according to Bob Conwell, Executive Vice President of the Corpus Christi Area Tourist Bureau.

The "Woman's Day" article, entitled "Its Your Land—Enjoy it," was written by Mike Frome, a frequent visitor in this area. Erwin A. Bauer, who visited here as a guest of the Bureau in January, wrote the camping article.

RECEIVES BRONZE STAR

An Khe, Vietnam, May 20—Army Specialist Four Luis M. Galvan, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Galvan, 810 N. Ann St., Rockport, Tex., recently received the Bronze Star Medal near An Khe, Vietnam.

Spec. Galvan won the award for heroism in action while engaged in military operations against a hostile force in Vietnam.

The specialist is a mail clerk with Company D, 1st Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division's 22nd Infantry.

His wife, Elsa, lives in Rockport.

January is National Egg Month.

CORRECTION

Mrs. Albert Wofford was one of the hostesses for the Lamar Woman's Club on May 20 instead of Mrs. Fred Moss as shown in last week's paper.

The city of Raleigh, N.C., is making a study to determine the feasibility of removing parking meters on at least one downtown street to increase shopping.
