44 DIE IN BLOODY RIOTS

H. N. F's. Mainly About PEOPLE

Hell Breaks Loose See Men Murdered Here and Abroad

HELL KEEPS POPPING DAILY the world over. There are mad men at large everywhere the civilized world over. Mad men are dangerous men. Men whose religious or political passions or prejudices are easily aroused are dangerous men. Those who teach the gospel o. toleration are safe men. Those who advocate slow growth at a steady pace are safe leaders.

Those who assume to be leaders and appeal to the head and the conscience of their followers are wise men. They know something of the history of mankind. They know something of the blood that has been shed to win for the people from the forces of despotism and darkness the liberty they enjoy today.

PUBLISHERS OF NEWSPAPers should be both sane and truthful men. They should not be fagot bearers or sowers of the seed which harvest bloodshed and anarchy. Preachers in their pulpits and statesmen in the halls of legislation should weigh well their words before they are scattered broadcast, and leaders of reform movements should carefully guard their actions and their speech.

Hell has been let loose over the seas in the British Isles, where assassins shot to death Field Marshal Sir Francis Wilson without a word of warning at his own door.

His assassins were gunmen and they shot him down because he was the representative of a faction in their own island. They struck the blow when the friends of the Irish free state and the friends of peace and progress had overwhelmed at the polls the radicals who had refused to accept the treaty which had been negotiated by their own countrymen.

NOW THE TORIES OF BRITish politics, the men who hate Lloyd George and his peace program, have been given another lease on political life and may overthrow the foremost statesman of Europe who has been the friend of Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins in their darkest hours and who had hoped that lasting peace would come to the peoples of the British Isles with an Irish free state for the sons and daughters of Ireland to work out their own destiny in their own way. An assassin precipitated the world war and assassins have precipitated many wars which brought almost irretrievable disaster upon nations and families of men.

HELL POPPED IN ILLINOIS, in the mines, and there are 40 dead men as mute monuments of the ferocity of the battle. Striking miners place the blame at the door of the mine owners, and Mine owners place the blame at the door of the miners' organizations. Each faction shifts the responsibility to the shoulders of the others. There is no telling where hell will break loose next. There are 600,000 coal miners on strike. They have been out for a long time. Their savings have been exhausted. They are nearing the hour when they will be without credit. They cannot buy from the company's stores. They are being evicted from the company houses.

In one state, West Virginia, their leaders are under indictment for conspiracy. Their former employers control the state government. Their former employers employ small armies of gunmen to protect their property and to preserve law and order.

THESE GUNMEN ARE NOT paid by the people of the state. They are not controlled by the state. They are the hired servants of private masters. This is the most gigantic strike of coal miners in years. There is a day coming when the consumers of America will be facing a coal famine. There is a day coming when extortionate prices may be charged for coal.

Now the point of this is that hungry men reach a stage when they become desperate or madmen. This is a bread and butter existence for millions. It is a survive or perish existence for millions. Those who are in a position to know say that it is a showdown. That the mine owners of America are determined to break the power of the miners organization.

Disease always trails along after Famine and when men are hungry and their wives and children are without bread or shelter it is a short road to anarchy.

HELL POPPED FOR THE RADicals in Ireland when assassins slew Field Marshal Sir Francis Wilson. Hell popped for the mine owners and striking miners in America when 40 men died in their boots in Illinois. Down will come the mailed hand over the ocean and down will come the mailed hand in Illinois and all because radicals lost their heads and gave full vent to their murderous passions. If ever the world needed safe and sane men as leaders in all stations and walks of life then the world needs them today.

FLOOD WATERS SPREADING IN 45 MILE AREA

Much Additional Acreage Now Inundated

By Associated Press.

MALLEN, Texas, June 22.—As the big rise in the Rio Grande wends its way into Mission, the flood is spreading fanwise into a roughly triangular shape with the apex at Mission and the base extending from Raymondville to Brownsville, across the border and 45 miles into Mexico. The river registered 26.9 feet at Mission this afternoon.

Hundreds of additional acres of lowlands are within the flood triangle. This flood area is expected to be extended before the crest passes.

Tonight the flood divides at a point two miles west of Mercedes, part continuing east through the Arroyo Colorado and part splitting off northeast to within two and one-quarter miles of Raymondville. These main branches are gradually flowing into the lowlands of Willacy and Cameron counties lying within the triangle, according to reports here.

Irrigation pumps along the Rio Grande are under water and irrigation engineers are concerned as to the safety of the machinery, especially the pumps at Harlingen.

Thousands of farmers along the lowlands of the Rio Grande are homeless. From present indications, the flood has swept the banks clean and these planters will find nothing remaining when the water recedes.

SECONDARY FLOOD FALLS AT BROWNSVILLE.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 2.—After remaining at a stage of twenty-nine and one-half feet above normal at Rio Grande City for twelve hours, the secondary flood in the Rio Grande had receded one foot there today, and was still falling late today. The river is reported falling even more rapidly further up stream, and the worst of the flood in that district is now believed passed.

Under High Water Mark.

The primary flood, which reached the lower Rio Grande valley from the San Juan and Salado rivers, between Rio Grande City and Zapata, appears to be passing the extreme lower part of the valley without doing further damage. The river at Brownsville late today was lower than it had been in a week, and is more than eight inches under the high water mark.

Railroad transportation between the United States and Mexico, which was completely disrupted at Brownsville, Eagle Pass and Laredo by destruction of bridges and washouts, probably will not be resumed for several days, according to announcement at the Matamoros offices of the national lines of Mexico. Resumption at Eagle Pass is indefinite because of the almost total loss of the railroad bridge there. On the main line to Mexico City, a bridge was partly destroyed at Rodriquez, one hundred miles south of Laredo. Service is in effect between Cuevas, one hundred miles west of Matamoros, and Monterrey. Passengers are being taken to Camargo, opposite Rio Grande City, and they are being crossed to the United States there in skiffs.

Army Aviators Busy.

United States army aviators today finished their first complete patrol of the flood district between Rio Grande City and Brownsville, returning late today to McAllen. No cases of marooned persons were reported.

From Rio Grande City to the Hidalgo county line, about forty miles, the river is within its banks, according to reports reaching here. At Sam Fordyce and the Mission pumping plant, four miles from Mission, the river was overflowing its banks.

All estimates of damage continue mere guess work insofar as the extreme lower Rio Grande Valley is concerned. However, conservative estimates place the loss at more than a million dollars in crops, with comparatively small property loss.

Ulster Battle

By Associated Press.

BELFAST, June 22.—Cries of shame met the announcement by Premier Craig in the Ulster parliament of the assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson.

"This event," the premier declared, "places beyond argument the existence of a wide conspiracy against the men who are fighting the battle of Ulster. I do hope there will be no further doubt in the mind of any man about what Ulster is up against."

10,000 Klansmen Battling For Victory in Dallas Co.

By H. N. F.

DALLAS, Texas, June 22.—Men say this is the political center of Texas and the writer says that the political pot is boiling over.

There are more than 50,000 qualified voters in Dallas county. This is the headquarters for C. A. Culberson, Cullen F. Thomas and Earle B. Mayfield. Fort Worth is the headquarters for Clarence Ousley and Sterling P. Strong.

There is a secret political organization in this city known as the ku klux klan. There is an organization here that is not secret known as the Citizens' league, which was organized to give battle at the ballot box to the ku klux klan.

Fighting Nip and Tuck

This organization believes in public trial by jury and opposes trial and punishment by any secret body of men; in civil and religious liberty and opposed to those who beget religious intolerance and racial antagonism; oppose secret oath, bound political organization dominating, electing and controlling public officials; oppose the business boycott of all non-klansmen "which the authorities of the klan enjoin as unfair, unjust and un-American."

The Citizens' league has announced its opposition to candidates for public office who are klansmen or have the backing of the klan. Its officers say that it has a membership running into the thousands.

Officials of the klan say that there are from eight to ten thousand klansmen in the city of Dallas. No man knows its strength. Its records are not open to the public. There is going to be a battle royal for the control of the offices of the county and one district judge has been blacklisted by the klan and marked for defeat.

Judge E. B. Muse is the victim of klan wrath. He is a Methodist, a South Carolinian, has been on the bench almost a quarter of a century, his father was a Confederate soldier and all his people were klansmen when Gen. Bedford Forrest organized the original klan to redeem South Carolina and other southern states from the rule of carpet baggers and renegades and negroes in the long ago.

All Predict Victory

The writer made the rounds of the campaign headquarters of Culberson, Thomas and Mayfield. It was the old, old story. Each manager claimed all in sight. Each manager claimed that his particular candidate would be in the runoff. Each manager exhibited sacks of letters written from all parts of the state. Those found at the Culberson headquarters placed Culberson in the runoff and predicted his election or renomination. It was the same at the Thomas headquarters.

Oscar Touchstone is as confident as any man can be that Cullen F. Thomas will be at the head of the list

Infantry and Machine Gun Companies Are Mobilized—State To Take Hand In Probe

By Associated Press.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 22.—Governor Small tonight ordered 1,000 state troops mobilized at once and held under arrangements to be sent to Herrin if needed.

At midnight the governor telegraphed Brigadier General Carlos Black, adjutant general of the state, to assemble the 132nd infantry and the machine gun companies of the 130th and 131st infantries with such other companies as necessary to make a force of at least 1,000 men and now them at the 132nd infantry armory on West Madison street, Chicago, to be moved under further orders from him.

The governor directed that the troops should be given full field equipment. He told General Black that he was reliably advised that life and property are in jeopardy in the vicinity of Herrin, in Williamson county.

At 1 o'clock the governor telegraphed Sheriff Melvin Thaxton demanding an immediate reply to his telegram asking for information about the situation, insisting upon prompt action for the apprehension of the men who are reported to have killed twenty-six or more non-union workers and notified the sheriff that troops are being held in readiness.

Orders Investigation.

In a third telegram addressed to the state's attorney of Williamson county the governor demanded an immediate reply to previous messages and insisted that the persons guilty of the murders must be brought to justice.

He told the state's attorney to telegraph him at once whether the circuit court of the county is now in session and if not what steps have been taken to convene a grand jury to investigate the crimes committed and return indictments.

The men gave their names as Roy Stewart of Memphis, Tenn., and Jack Parker of Hanford, Cal. Both said they were 21 years old.

LABOR LAYING PLANS TO WAR ON COURT ACT

Defense Council to Defend Unions In All Suits

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 22.—With the avowed purpose of meeting all legal attacks aimed at labor unions, the American Federation of Labor today added to its program for curbing the powers exercised by the courts by directing the establishment at Washington of a labor defense council, composed of lawyers, selected by the federation's officers.

The council primarily will defend the unions against any suits that may be filed under recent supreme court decisions adverse to labor.

The program of four constitutional amendments, repeal of the Sherman anti-trust law and enactment of two new measures, which was adopted by the convention by almost a unanimous vote, will require years of campaigning before adoption, speakers said in urging the creation of the defense council.

The amendments include a congressional veto of supreme court decisions, the guarantee to labor of the right to organize, to bargain collectively and to strike, the prohibition of child labor and adoption of an easier method than the present for amending the constitution.

Enactment of a new federal child labor law, and also a law interpreting the labor sections of the Clayton act were included as a part of the program.

The delegates set aside tomorrow morning for the annual elections of the federation's officers.

Electioneerings was pushed among the delegates, but tonight only one contest was certain. No avowed opponent had been brought out to contest the re-election of Samuel Gompers, and William Clark, president Glass Workers' Union, was not expected to carry his contest against Secretary Frank Morrison to the convention floor.

Railroad union delegates at a meeting tonight declared they would nominate Joseph A. Franklin, president of the Boilermakers' Union, in opposition to the re-election of Treasurer Daniel Tobin, president of the Teamsters' Union.

Referring to Mr. Lasker as the "greatest schemer in the country," Mr. Hardy charged that he was "working hand and glove under the direction and supervision of the American Ship Owners' association."

BRITISH ARMY OFFICER SHOT BY ASSASSINS

Field Marshal Wilson Killed On Steps Of Home

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 21—Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, one of England's most illustrious soldiers, who was chief of the imperial staff during the final stages of the world war, was assassinated on the door step of his residence in Eaton Place this afternoon by two young men who gave the names of James O'Brien and James Connolly.

The assassins had loitered about, waiting an hour for his return from unveiling a memorial to men of the Great Eastern railway who fell in the war. When he alighted from his motor car, Field Marshal Wilson walked up the steps, and the men fired several shots at him from close range, three of which took effect, one in the chest, one in the leg and the third in the wrist.

The field marshal died before he could be taken into the house. His horrified wife heard the shooting and rushed out to find her husband's body, dressed in full uniform, lying in a pool of blood with the sword he had drawn to meet his assailants by his side.

Scotland Yard made public the names of the murderers and declared that Connolly had a letter in his possession indicating he was a member of the Irish republican army.

General Owen Duffy, chief of staff of the Irish republican army, in Dublin tonight, immediately denied that that organization had any part in the crime.

Assassins Captured

The assassins fled several hundred yards before their capture with police and civilians pursuing afoot and in motor cars. They passed the residence of the American ambassador, Colonel George Harvey, where ex-President Taft was a guest. The chief justice of the United States and the ambassador heard the firing and at first thought the shots were aimed at the house. They rushed to the window in time to see the two men fleeing, occasionally turning to fire a shot from their weapons, which later proved to be service revolvers, and the crowd in pursuit.

In the running fight two policemen and a chauffeur were wounded. The men were finally overpowered after a hard struggle. The crowd closed in on them and would have killed them but for the protection of the police. They were taken to a nearby police station and later removed to Scotland Yard.

All London was horrified by the tragedy. The house of commons adjourned after sympathetic speeches by H. H. Asquith and Austen Chamberlain. The king cancelled tomorrow evenings' birthday dinner for the Prince of Wales and would have postponed tonight's court, but it was too late.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE FLAYED

"Corrupt Practice" Is Charged By Solon

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Declaring that Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the anti-saloon league, and "the interests he controls" had expended from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 to secure adoption of the prohibition amendment, Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, attacked the department of justice today in the house for failing to act against the league under the corrupt practices act.

Mr. Tinkham's attack brought from Representative Gallivan, democrat, Massachusetts, criticism of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes for the latter's stand regarding sale of liquor on American ships at sea. In refusing to act against such ships, Mr. Gallivan declared, Commissioner Haynes made himself "particeps criminis."

Two Massachusetts members were classed among "friends of wine and beer, in direct violation of the constitution of the United States," by Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, who gained the floor after the attack on the anti-saloon league.

"The league will be judged in the future," he said, "as was the saloon —by its fruits."

Woman Hit Shoals

By Associated Press.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., June 22.—The board of directors of the General Federation of Women's clubs decided today to bar local measures from endorsement by the biennial convention now in session. Workmen Shot Down as Dogs After Truce

Illinois Camp Quiet After Day of Carnage. Bodies Weighted and Thrown in Ponds. Strikers Say "No Other Course Open." State Troops Held Ready For Action.

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 22.—Forty-four persons, two of them union coal miners, were killed in the mine disorders at Herrin, Illinois, according to the statement tonight of Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois district organization of the United Mine Workers of America.

Mr. Farrington declared he had received his information from an official of the union at Herrin, but he refused to disclose the identity of his informant. He also said that he had not agreed to permit the mine, where the trouble occurred, to operate, under the unions' general strike policy, to permit mining of coal to fuel public utilities.

KNOWN DEAD PUT AT 27 BY HERRIN.

HERRIN, Ill., June 22.—The death toll in the disaster last night and today, when 5,000 striking miners attacked the Lester Strip mine, being operated under guard by imported workers may run past the forty mark, it was said tonight by those in touch with the situation, although thus far, only 27 positively are known to be dead.

In the Herrin hospital are eight wounded men, only one a miner and six of them are believed to be fatally injured. There were nine, but one died.

A miner told the Associated Press correspondent in confidence that he had seen fifteen bodies thrown into a pond with ropes around their necks today. About twenty imported workers are missing.

Checking the death list has proved almost impossible. The victims, all but three of them imported workers, so far as is known were found scattered over an area within several miles of the mine. Some were lynched, some were burned when the mine was fired, others were beaten to death, and the majority fell before the scores of bullets poured into them.

"Bloody Williamson county," so-called because of several riots tonight was outwardly calm, but there was noticeable undercurrent which kept everybody on edge and wondering if further trouble might be expected.

The correspondents talked with scores of miners today and about half of them were certain there would be no further disorder if there was no attempt to reopen mines, while the other half said they were afraid some of the men might not be held back. The situation was reported by county officials to be quiet.

Grewsome Scenes

The scenes of death today were virtually as gruesome as any in a real war. Bodies with many parts shot away, law along roadsides or were strung from trees. Men wounded and dying were stretched out on roads and in fields with none of the hun-

VICTIM TELLS OF BEING SHOT WHILE TIED UP

Strike Breakers Die While Bundled Up Together

By Associated Press.

HERRIN, Ill., June 22.—Half a dozen wounded men, some of them lying on death beds tonight gave an Associated Press correspondent the first actual eye witnesses' account of the mine fight last night and this morning, which brought dozens of casualties, when, 5,000 armed striking miners attacked the Lester Strip mine near here, which was being operated by imported workers and guards.

The substance of the statements made by the wounded, who were among the besieged, was that not a mine worker was injured during the fighting, but that the numerous killed were shot down in cold blood after they had surrendered themselves and their arms.

There was nothing from the union miners to contradict these claims. Several of the men imported to work the mine absolved the strikers from blame, saying that the ones responsible were those "who sent us here under false promises that there would be no trouble" and that "the miners would not object."

Some of the wounded interviewed were in the hospital here. Others were located in their homes through secret channels.

Joseph O'Rourke, Chicago, commissary clerk at the mine, gave the most vivid account of the fight. His story was related as he tossed in pain from half a dozen bullet holes through his body.

VICTIMS—

"I was sent down here by the Bertrand Commissary company on West Madison street in Chicago," he said.

"I had no idea what I was running into. I don't blame the miners much for attacking us, for we were unknowingly being used as dupes to keep them from their jobs.

"We were given arms when we arrived and a machine gun was set up at one corner of the mine. Guards were with us all the time, and most of the guards were tough fellows sent by a Chicago detective agency. I understand the miners sent us warnings to leave town or we would be run out. We never got them, perhaps the bosses did.

"When we saw the miners approaching yesterday afternoon, we did not know what to do. The guards prepared for fighting. Most of the workers wanted to surrender.

"Through the night the bullets rained in on us. We sought shelter as best we could. The miners climbed upon the coal piles and earth embankments, and we were unable to see them. The guards kept firing, but most of us hid. Then the miners blew up our pumping station. We had no water and our food supplies were in a freight car in the hands of the miners. About sunrise we put up the white flag. The miners poured in and we surrendere our arms.

"Up to this time, not one of us had been injured that I know of, although I understood several of the miners had been shot. The miners spread around quickly and tied us together in groups of six and three. The tied men then were rushed off in different directions.

Some of them tried to run, but they were shot down as fast as they moved.

"One miner asked who was the machine gun operator. Some one pointed him out and he was shot in his tracks, and his body laid over the machine gun. They tied five men with me, took us out on the road and told us to run. We ran and hundreds of bullets followed us. We staggered on, but finally three of our group fell, pulling the others with us. We were tied down, several bullet holes being in me already.

Fired At Helpless Men.

"I laid there while men came up and fired more shots into us from three or four feet. Then everything went black. I woke up later, and begged for water but there was not any. I remember being dragged along the road, but I don't know what by. Then they brought us to the hospital."

O'Rourke's story was confirmed by S. P. Williams and Ed Green, of Chicago, two of the men tied with him who are still alive. The other three were killed. These were the six found by the Associated Press correspondent this morning and whom he tried to take water to, only to be refused permission to help them. James E. Morris of Johnson City, Illinois, a young miner in the attacking forces, told the correspondent the attack had been spontaneous and that when the men went to the mine they did not really stop to think of the bloodshed that might follow.

5,000 In Army.

He was wounded early in the fight. "I was on my way to Herrin," he said, "when I met a gang of fellows. They said they were on their way to run out those scabs at the strip mine. I joined them and others kept joining us until there must have been five thousand. Most of us were armed and those that were not soon got their guns. When we got to the mine, we spread out around it. We had no real leaders, everyone was woking for himself. It was just one big mob out to get the men who were running that mine. I am not sure who fired the first shot but after it was fired there was real war. The fire kept up for hours, I guess, and several of our men were hit. Late in the evening, I was shot in the arm. The wound was not serious and I walked back to where a group of our men were standing and they sent me here in a car. I wasn't there but I understand most of the killing was done after the mine surrendered. It was terrible, I know, and I am sure some of those scabs really were innocent men. It's just the old story of a mob getting started."

Other miners confirmed Morris' statements.

O'Rourke is not expected to live. He is one of the mine men in the hospital. Morris, and seven of the imported men are expected to die, physicians said.

The hospital was carefully guarded, all doors being locked to prevent any possible attack on the wounded men. Only persons who could prove they had business in the hospital were admitted.

dreds of the passersby able to lend a helping hand. Attempts to assist the wounded in the early part of the day brought rebuffs from the spectators backed in some cases by drawn pistols.

Later the feeling quieted down and at least some of the wounded were taken to the hospitals.

It is understood that there will be no attempt to reopen any of the mines until the strike is settled.

Strikers Attack

When the attackers went over the top into the besieged mine this morning, there were some 50 or 60 workers and guards there. What has become of those not in the known dead and wounded as fast as they could with miner sympathizers pursuing them with guns. How many escaped could not be told.

C. K. McDowell, superintendent of the imported workers at the mine was among the dead. It was said that he was the first selected to be shot after the mine was captured and that he was given no chance to escape.

Hundreds of men, women and little children, some as young as four years, surged through the morgues today to view the bodies, which lay side by side on the floor with no attempt to straighten them out. Most of them bore no identification marks. All were mangled.

Officials of Williamson county today expressed deep regret over the affair, as did many miners, but several of the latter told the writer that while it was regettable, "no other course could have been taken."

The feeling could not be higher if half a dozen race riots broke out, and on every hand a determination is expected to back the miners in their strike. The county is 100 per cent union.

TROOPS READY FOR ACTION

By Associated Press.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 22.—Twenty-four men are known to have been slain today in rioting between striking coal miners and non-union men at Herrin, Ill., Carlos Black, adjutant general of Illinois, reported to Governor Len Small at 8 o'clock tonight. This is the first official report the governor has received on the trouble from General Black.

General Black reported to Governor Small that Colonel Hunter, his representative who has been at Herrin for several days, reported tonight that a disorganized, drunken mob of strike sympathizers waylaid and massacred the non-union men this morning in violation of a truce entered into last night.

Under the truce the non-union workers were to quit work this morning and leave the mine field. Shortly after daybreak, Colonel Hunter reported, a mob, inflamed by homemade liquor, attacked the strikebreakers' camp and shot down the men as they tried to flee.

The governor has received no request for troops from the officials of Williamson county, and said that, in fact, the officials did not want troops sent to the scene.

Three companies of state guards have been held in readiness to go to Herrin for two days, the governor disclosed, but he added that there apparently was no necessity of sending soldiers unless rioting broke out again.

Women and Girls Spur Slayers On

HERRIN, Ill., June 22. — Young matrons and girls encouraged the men in the slaying of captive mine employes.

"Let's make soap of them," one of the women suggested as six men, banded together with a rope, were shot down with one volley.

An examination showed that one of the six still breathed. An executioner with a ready knife completed what the bullets had left unfinished.

Texhoma Increases Storage Capacity

PLANT RUNNING TO ITS LIMIT

3,300 Barrels Daily Run Here

Additional storage for fuel oil and gasoline, 55,000 barrels of the first and 20,000 of the second, is being erected by the Texhoma Oil & Refining Co., at their plant in North Wichita.

This plant, like the other independent refineries, is running at the limit of its crude supply as a result of improved market conditions and expected further improvements.

The plant of the Texhoma is running approximately 3300 barrels per day, or 100,000 barrels per month through their plant here. A good portion of this is production which the company owns.

The new tanks will give the refinery a crude storage capacity, of 118,000, a fuel oil storage capacity of 115,000 barrels, a gasoline storage capacity of 41,000 barrels, and a kerosene storage capacity of 14,000 barrels—or in round numbers around $700,000 worth of petroleum and its products.

Several minor improvements are also being made at the plant, including three new vaporizers, a new water softener, and another large water well for circulating water.

"Mexpet" Still a Stock Sensation

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Mexican Petroleum maintained its reputation as the most sensational feature of the stock exchange today by ascending to a new high record for the year after an early period which suggested that the "boom" had its course.

First declining 3½ points to 171½, it rallied 4 points before noon and remained compratively quiescent during the mid-session. Soon after one o'clock, however, the market was flooded with buying orders which forced it to 180, shorts, meanwhile making frantic efforts to cover their contracts.

From its new top the stock reacted 6 points, probably on cashing in of profits by fortunate traders, but this was followed by another advance to the closing price of 183½, net gain of 8½ points for the session and total of 37¾ points since last week's final dealings.

Last week's trading in Mexican petroleum approximated 225,000 shares and dealings thus far this week exceed that total. The actual floating or available supply of "Mex Pet" for trading purposes is said to be less than 100,000 shares.

Duncan Crude to Be Sent to Wichita

Special to the Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., June 22. — A strengthening of the Duncan crude oil market is expected as a result of the purchase by the American Pipe Line company of the Manhatton Pipe Line company's six-inch line running from the northwest extension of the Burkburnett field to Walters, Okla., a distance of 23 miles.

The American Pipe Line company will purchase oil out of the Duncan district and transport it to the Wichita Falls district for the use of independent refiners. A pump station will be built at once at Duncan in order to facilitate the movement of crude oil out of this field.

Considerable excitement prevails in the local fields as the result of the finding of the sands in two wildcat wells. Gant et al., in section 1, 1s, 6w, are bailing with an excellent showing of oil from a sand found at 2,000 feet in their wildcat test. This well is five miles from the nearest production. The Kansas Natural Gas company has a big gas well in Section 16, 1s, 6w. This is authoritatively reported to be an extra good producer and much trouble was encountered in shutting it in.

Panhandle Operations Slowing Up As Crooked Hole and Other Drawbacks Give Trouble to Handling of Casing

Special to the Record News.

PANHANDLE, June 22.—Several wells are having different kinds of casing trouble. Silk has placed eight-inch casing in the hole to the present depth of 2,800 feet and fitted a braidenhead. For some reason the pipe failed to shut off the 25 million feet of gas, and further work will have to be done before drilling can be resumed.

Humble, Burnett No. 2, experienced trouble in removing the 10-inch pipe which is said to be broken in two places, due to a crooked hole, it is thought. It is the intentions of the company to set either six or eight inch casing and proceed with the drilling at the 2,900-foot after removing the 10-inch.

Whittington, Sanford No. 1, Hutchinson county is pulling the 20-inch casing which was carried to a foundation at over 200 feet, this task should be completed within a few days and drilling will proceed, since all sizes of casing are on the ground and no further delay is anticipated.

Tipton, McConnell No. 1, Carson county, is having a slight difficulty in placing 10-inch casing in the hole to cut off salt water encountered at 1,000 feet, little further delay is expected.

All tools are on the ground and the water well is being completed for the Silk, Bullington & Clark test on the Medley ranch, 14 miles northeast of Groom in Gray county.

SAN MARCOS IN OIL EXCITEMENT

High Grade Product Is Produced

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 22.—An oil well producing 25 barrels of high grade oil daily has created a sensation in San Marcos, and crowds are coming and going to the well, which is located on Jim Sherrill's farm 12 miles southeast of the town. The woodbine was penetrated by the drillers. Rentz and Brunson brothers.

A high grade paraffine base with 42 gravity oil has been reported by the experts who are on the grounds. This is well No. 1 and according to A. Brunson chief driller, the cap rock should be reached from three to five feet further, and San Marcos is confidently expecting a gusher as the oil sand and the oil produced are similar to those found in the Ranger field.

Location for well No. 2 has been made near this, and already four other wells are being drilled within three miles of it. Scouts from all the big Texas companies are on the ground, and the price of leases doubled Monday.

The well is being drilled by the Pennsylvania Oil company.

TEST TO BE MADE FOR POTASH DEPOSIT

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 22.—Interest in the possibility of large deposits of potash being developed on lands owned by the University of Texas in the western part of the state has increased by reason of the fact that preparations are being made for a thorough test of the extent that this valuable mineral salt may be found in Reagan county.

It is stated that the Texas Oil and Land company, in which Congressman Claude B. Hudspeth of El Paso is one of the directors, has leased for potash exploration and development purposes 46,080 acres of land, owned by the University of Texas, in Reagan county. This land is in a solid body. The company will begin drilling a test well upon the land at a point about seven miles from Big Lake as soon as the equipment can be installed.

GIANT GASSER WRECKS DERRICK

By Associated Press.

ELDORADO, Ark., June 2.—What is believed by oil men to be the second largest gas well in the world blew in suddenly yesterday, wrecking the derrick and blowing away all machinery used in drilling. No one was injured.

The well is owned by the Oil Operators' trust and is the second brought in by that concern. The capacity of the first well has been estimated as high as 150,000,000 cubic feet daily, which is regarded by operators here as being the largest in existence. The well that came in today is said to nearly equal that capacity.

NICHOLS TO MAKE TEST ON HIS FARM

Preparations are being made by J. S. Nichols for a cable tool test on his 500 acre farm, a few miles north of Iowa Park, Mr. Nichols returning to Wichita Falls from Mineral Wells where he has been for his health, for this purpose.

Before returning to Mineral Wells on Sunday he expects to let the contract for the test. The Nichols farm was the scene of a partial test, several years ago. It's location, on a well defined structure between the South Burkburnett and South Electra fields, makes a test of considerable intirest. The new test will be made as thorough as possible, Mr. Nichols stated.

DR. NETHERTON WILL DRILL DEEP TEST

Dr. E. J. Netherton of St. Joseph, Mo., concluded a transaction Thursday with Thomas L. Smith of Salt Lake City, Utah, for the drilling of a deep test well on 80 acres of the Netherton lands in Archer county. The new test will begin in the next 40 days, it was reported Thursday afternoon.

The contract includes oil, gas and mineral clause and was consummated for $8,000.

BAILEY WELL DRILLS INTO 1500 FT. SAND

Bailey and Kollman's No. 2 John and Jeff Waggoner, eastern offset to these operators' discovery well of the new pool, in section 8, on the Waggoner brothers' ranch, drilled into the 1,500 foot sand Thursday, and will be rigged up to pump today. The well is said to show up for a nice producer. The discovery well is still making around 65 barrels.

Location has been made for the No. 3 on this lease, 300 feet north of No. 1.

East of the No. 2 the No. 1 of T. F. Hunter is due to reach the sand some time today.

The finance minister said the message asked for clarification of certain points in the agreement arrived at last week between the bankers and himself under which the external debt of Mexico would be readjusted.

Gulf Company Test In Carson County Produces 160 Bbls.

Special to the Record News.

PANHANDLE, June 22.—The Gulf company tested its Burnett No. 8 on section 106, block 5, Carson county, at the same time the Dial was tested on the pump last week. It produced 160 barrels in 12 hours' pumping.

This well has been in for over a year, and has been pumped several times, the last testing showing up better than any before. It is said that the pump placed oil in the tank at the rate of 13 barrels per hour, on a slow stroke with two-inch tubing in the hole, indicating that the oil was being raised in the hole by the gas pressure, since such a small pump would hardly pump such a large amount of oil.

It is said that the 2,000 barrels of storage at the Burnett well will be used as fuel in drilling the Gulf Wynn No. 1, six miles east of Panhandle. The company has been shipping oil into Panhandle from their refinery for use at the Wynn well.

Gulf Production company's Dial No. 1, section 90, block Z, Hutchinson county was also tested last week. The capacity of the 2½-inch pump was taxed and the well produced at the rate of 20 barrels an hour.

VICTORY FOR MODERATES

MICHAEL Collins and Arthur Griffith appear to have won the political battle for control of the government of the Irish Free State. Returns from the various districts show that those who favor the adoption of the famous treaty have won a decisive majority of the delegates and that the independents and labor unions, who are largely for the treaty will have twenty-two members of the new parliament of the Free State.

This is a crushing defeat for the bitter-enders led by DeValera and his lieutenants. DeValera is not a native son of Ireland. He was born in America and his father was a Spaniard. This is not a reflection on his patriotism or his personal integrity.

Michael Collins is a son of the soil. He came out of the ranks of the peasantry of Ireland. He had a genius for fighting when there was fighting to be done, and then he developed a genius for statecraft and became the leader of the Irish patriots who clamored for a dominion form of government and an army and a flag of their own.

DeValera is not a game loser. He is not a statesman. He hasn't the gift of compromise. He demands the impossible at this time—an Irish republic. An Irish Free State would be as free as Canada, South Africa, New Zealand or Australia. Michael Collins, Arthur Griffith and the men who stand with them in this contest for an Irish Free State are the men who should lead and make the laws for the Irish people.

They are wise, they have won greater concessions than Parnell ever demanded, Redmond ever conceived to be possible to win or O'Connell ever dreamed of in the memorable years of the dead past.

Peace and prosperity should come to Ireland when the bititerenders in the south and the wild fanatics in the north realize that this is the dawning morning of the twentieth century and not the sixteenth century cursed by its divine right despots and its preachers of bigotry and fanaticism.

WHY NOT TELL THE TRUTH?

CYCLONE Davis is on the road again. Cyclone has a patriotic contempt for facts and figures. He says there are 7,000,000 idle workmen in this country and he holds the kings of the gold god responsible for their idleness and their destitution.

Whenever there are tears to be shed Cyclone is there to shed them.

According to the labor department of the government there were 3,000,000 idle workers in the United States at the beginning of the year. There has been a tremendous revival since in the industries of the country. Vast numbers have been given employment on the farms. Vast numbers have been given employment on the railways of the land. Vast numbers have been given employment in the oil fields of America.

There are 600,000 coal miners idle but they walked out as a protest against the wage proposal submitted by the united mine owners of the country. All the labor census reports indicate that the army of 3,000,000 as given January 1st, 1921, has been reduced to less than half a million and if the press of the country is to be believed there is work to be had for every able bodied person who is willing to work.

But this is election year and all the demagogues are in violent eruption. Why not tell the truth? Why not submit the facts? Why not give the people official figures?

A dozen planters own the sugar fields of the Hawaiian Islands. There is a bill in congress to permit importation of Chinese coolies into the islands. Where the sugar kings are anxious to have them for work in the fields. There is a big lobby backing the bill. Now just why should Chinese coolie labor be permitted to invade the insular possessions of the United States or just why should special privileges be granted to these sugar kings. Isn't this to be a white man's country? Isn't this to be a white man's government?

James E. Ferguson won first place on the official ballot in McLennan county. And the first shall not be the last when the primary ballots are counted. "Farmer Jim" is going to do better than win the tail end position.

DR. CRANE'S EDITORIAL

THAHU

A MR. HOBLEY, who spent twenty-five years investigating native beliefs among the Africans, has written a book which he calls "Bantu Beliefs and Magic," which will be interesting to those who are interested in that sort of thing.

One of the most curious items he mentions is the belief in the power of the curse called Thahu.

Any one is Thahu who does the following things: Throws earth at his wife, eats from a cracked pot or in a blacksmith's shop, drops a bead in his food, slips down on coming out of a hut, or sleeps in a bed of which the side pole breaks.

Also, if a cow is out grazing and its tail becomes twisted around a tree it is Thahu. If a father picks up one of his children and places it on his back both are Thahu. If a dog dies in a village all the inhabitants are Thahu.

The people believe that a person who is Thahu becomes emaciated and that eruptions and boils break out on his body, and that eventually he dies if the ban has not been removed by the medicine man.

The curious thing about this curse is that it works.

And the reason of that is that almost any curse will work, and also any prophecy of good fortune will come true, if we believe in it sufficiently.

It is simply an instance of the power of suggestion, and it is not without its lesson to us who call ourselves civilized.

The best physician in the world is one's self. Or, more accurately, one's own mind. This is proved by the success of any number of cults which attract believers and produce results by one form or another of auto suggestion.

Likewise, more people die on account of something that happens in their mind than for any other reason. The arch-murderer of the world is fear.

It makes little difference how absurd the notion is. A silly superstition is just as virulent as a sensible one.

For instance, a case was reported not long ago of a death which occurred in a house because some one had invited bad luck by transplanting parsley in the garden.

In this instance a vulgar superstitition was deadly effective.

There is not one of us that can escape a slight sensation of fear and inward panic if some member of the family declares that he believes that "something is going to happen."

It will take a long while to breed the superstition out of the race, for it has been inbred for thousands of years.

What humanity needs to do most of all is to reverse this ancient process of auto suggestion of evil and cultivate auto suggestion of good, of success, and of happiness. If belief in a curse can kill you, certainly belief in a blessing ought to be able to cure you.

WHERE LABOR STOOD

MATTHEW Woll is vice-president of the American Federation of Labor and the federation favors sharp restriction of immigration. For a quarter of a century the American Federation of Labor has favored sharp restriction.

Years before some of the candidates for office in Texas had broken out of the big thicket American labor organizations were fighting for restricted immigration policy fair to all. Labor demanded a policy that would afford protection to all. Labor demanded a policy of restriction where immigration could be held to a point where it could be absorbed in true Americanism.

This was the argument of labor: "Undue immigration means the breaking down of wage standards here so that neither the American nor the immigrant will have a chance."

Of course there are politicians in Texas who are seeking a high office who did not know the attitude of labor relative to restricted immigration all these years, for the reason that they never marched with the reading procession and are in a trance most of the time.

Gov. Len Small of Illinois said he would submit his case to the jury without the presenting of evidence. A brave man, to say the least.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

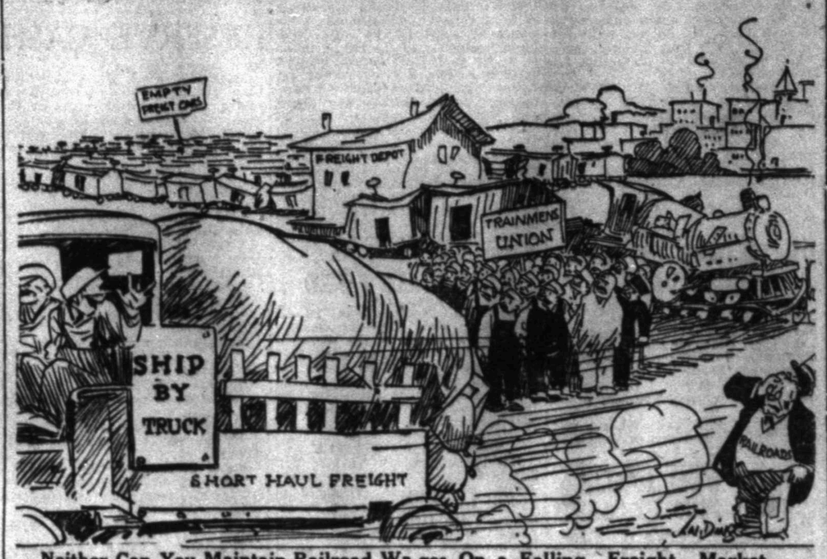

UNIVERSAL GRIEF.

According to dispatches, there's trouble everywhere, and anguish comes in batches, and statesmen rend their hair. In China there's been fighting, to gain the diamond belt; the Russian rule is blighting, its evils now are felt. The monarchists are plotting wherever kings were canned, palladiums are rotting in every foreign land. Grief, grief! See Ireland grab it; she now has freedom's boon, but has the scrapping habit, and cannot drop it soon. Poor France is badly busted, by Prussian armies wrecked; her statesmen are disgusted because she can't collect. And even stalwart Britain, that never quailed before, by grievous ills is smitten, and smiles and sings no more. Alas, the sad dispatches, from groaning nations sent! The reader sighs and scratches his head in wonderment. How can one read such tidings, such news from o'er the foam, and fill the air with chidings, and beef around at home? Our sickly little trouble, o'er which the knockers bray, are evanescent bubbles a breath will blow away. Why roar of income taxes, and laws we do not like, and arm ourselves with axes, some men of straw to strike? Let's cease to tear our thatches and rant of pipe dream ills, and read the grim dispatches from lands where trouble kills.

The Once Over

CEREMONY

Radical changes in the present forms of marriage ceremony are being advocated. With the placing of women on an equal status with men there has come a demand for the elimination of "obey" from the service.

o o o

No bride ever has said it without laughing behind her veil. Which is really why veils are considered so important a part of the wedding attire.

o o o

Substitution of the word "ignore" is favored by women's clubs.

o o o

Not much objection is being manifested by the men. They claim both parties to a wedding ceremony listen to the music and disregard the words.

o o o

Dropping of the phrase "With all my worldly goods I thee endow" from certain forms of service is also recommended.

o o o

When spoken by a groom who has had to borrow a dress suit for the ceremony and pay the officiating clergyman off with cigar store coupons these words have a rather hollow meaning.

o o o

In the interests of sincerity substitution of some such phrase as "And if I ever make a nickel I hereby promise to endow thee with a split of fifty-fifty" is favored.

o o o

An up-to-date form of fight agreement—beg pardon, wedding service—that would make it possible for bride and groom to go through without perjuring themselves is suggested as follows:

o o o

Official Bonder: Dost, thou, Lydia, take this poor goof, Mortimer, of your own free will and consent, being in your right mind and having full understanding of the small chance you have of eating regularly from this date on as your lawfully wedded husband?

Lydia: Huh?

Binder; Dost thou?

Lydia: If it's in the contract, I dost.

Binder: And dost thou, Mortimer, without malice aforethought or intent to cheat, defraud, victimize, or otherwise make miserable the defendant in this ceremony, take Lydia, funny as she looks in her wedding costume, to sit opposite at table for what will seem like eternity?

Mortimer: Who?..... me?.....Am thou speaking to thee?

Binder: Thy am speaking to thou and thy expects an answer from thee. What is your plea to this indictment?

Mortimer: Guilty.

Binder: And dostt hou both swear that you have nothing against each other, that this is no part of an election bet, that it in no way involves the vengeance of a family feud and that whatever happens you will not blame me?

Both: We dost.

Binder, to groom: You will repeat after me: "I take thee, Lydia, strange as it may seem and contrary as it may appear to my reputation in the community for intelligence and good judgment, to have and to scold, to cherish and dispute and to look after my flat until such time as we get a promoter to stage a fight to a decision."

Binder, to bride: And you will repeat after me: "I take thee, Mortimer, to Endure, to Mend For and to Suspect until such time as I find code letters in your pocket, if not sooner."

Justice: Have all voted who wished? If so all those in favor of the maximum penalty in this case signify in the usual manner.

Voices in chorus: Aye.

Binder: The ayes have it. Have you, Mortimer, and you, Lydia, any thing to say before sentence is pronounced?

Groom: I would like to have permission to retire to an ante-room and have a nice long cry.

Bride: May I hear a song on the Victrola?.... I've such a short time remaining in which to be happy.

Binder. Your requests are granted. (They retire.)

Binder, as they return: I now sentence you to go through life together with eggs at 90 cents a dozen, bread at 18 cents a loaf, coal at $20 a ton, and kitchenette apartments at $55 a square foot, and to try and prove that two can live as cheaply as one..... and may luck be with you till we meet again!

Groom: Yerroner.....

Binder: Don't call me yerroner; you're ahead of your story.

Groom: Beg pardon.....what I want to ask is this.....WHOM DO WE HAVE TO SEE REGARDING A PARDON? ? ?

The Mucker

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"No," he said, "youse ain't done nothin' to me; but you stand for the law, damn it, and I'm goin' to croak everything I meet that stands for the law. They wanted to send me up for life—me an innocent man. Your kind done it—the cops. You ain't no cop; but you're just as rotten. Now say yer prayers."

He leveled the revolver at his victim's head. The deputy sheriff slumped to his knees and tried to embrace Billy Byrne's legs as he pleaded for his life.

"Cut it out, you poor boob," admonished Billy. "You've gotta die and if you was half a man you'd wanna die like one."

The deputy sheriff slipped to the ground. His terror had overcome him, leaving him in happy unconsciousness. Byrne stood looking down upon the man for a moment. His wrist was chained to that of the other, and the pull of the deputy's body was irritating.

Byrne stooped and placed the muzzle of the revolver back of the man's ear. "Justice!" he muttered, scornfully, and his finger tightened upon the trigger.

Then, conjured from nothing, there rose between himself and the unconscious man beside him the figure of a beautiful girl. Her face was brave and smiling, and in her eyes was trust and pride—whole worlds of them. Trust and pride in Billy Byrne.

Billy closed his eyes tight as though in physical pain. He brushed his hand quickly across his face. "Gawd!" he muttered. "I can't do it—but I came awful close to it."

Dropping the revolver into his side pocket he kneeled beside the deputy sheriff and commenced to go through the man's clothes. After a moment he came upon what he sought—a key ring confining several keys.

Billy found the one he wished and presently he was free. He still stood looking at the deputy sheriff.

"I ought to croak you," he murmured. "I'll never make my get-away if I don't; but she won't let me—God bless her."

Suddenly a thought came to Billy Byrne. If he could have a start he might escape. It wouldn't hurt the man any to stay here for a few hours, or even a day. Billy removed the deputy's coat and tore it into strips. With these he bound the man to a tree. Then he fastened a gag in his mouth.

During the operation the deputy regained consciousness. He looked questioningly at Billy.

"I decided not to croak you," explained the young man. "I'm just a-goin' to leave you here for a while. They'll be lookin' all along the right o' way in a few hours—it won't be long afore they find you. Now so-long, and take care of yerself, bo." and Billy Byrne had gone.

A mistake that proved fortunate for Billy Byrne caused the penitentiary authorities to expect him and his guard by a later train, so no suspicion was aroused when they failed to come upon the train they really had started upon. This gave Billy a good two hours start that he would not otherwise have had—an opportunity of which he made good use.

Wherefore it was that by the time the authorities awoke to the fact that something had happened Billy Byrne was 50 miles west of Joliet, bowling along aboard a fast Santa Fe freight. Shortly after night had fallen the train crossed the Mississippi. Billy Byrne was hungry and thirsty, and as the train slowed down and came to a stop out in the midst of a dark solitude of silent, sweet-smelling country, Billy opened the door of his box car and dropped lightly to the ground.

So far no one had seen Billy since he had passed from the ken of the trussed deputy sheriff, and as Billy had no desire to be seen he slipped over the edge of the embankment into a dry ditch, where he squatted on his haunches waiting for the train to depart. The stop out there in the dark night was one of those mysterious stops which trains are prone to make, unexplained and doubtless unexplainable by any other than a higher intelligence which directs the movements of men and rolling stock. There was no town, and not even a switch light. Presently two staccato blasts broke from the engine's whistle, there was a progressive jerking at coupling pins, which started up at the big locomotive and ran rapidly down the length of the train, there was the squeaking of brake shoes against wheels, and the train moved slowly forward again upon its long journey toward the coast, gaining momentum moment by moment until finally the way-car rolled rapidly past the hidden fugitive and the freight rumbled away to be swallowed up in the darkness.

When it had gone Billy rose and climbed back upon the track, along which he plodded in the wake of the departing train. Somewhere a road would presently cut across the track, and along the road there would be farmhouses or a village where food and drink might be found.

Billy was penniless, yet he had no doubt but that he should eat when he had discovered food. He was thinking of this as he walked briskly toward the west, and what he thought of induced a doubt in his mind as to whether it was, after all, going to be so easy to steal food.

"Shaw!" he exclaimed, half aloud, "she wouldn't think it wrong for a guy to swipe a little grub when he was starvin'. It ain't like I was goin' to stick a guy up for his roll. Sure she wouldn't see nothin' wrong for me to get something to eat. I ain't got no money. They took it all away from me, an' I got a right to live—but, somehow, I hate to do it. I wish there was some other way. Gee, but, she's made a sissy out o' me! Funny how a feller can change. Why I almost like bein' a sissy," and Billy Byrne grinned at the almost inconceivable idea.

Before Billy came to a road he saw a light down in a little depression at one side of the track. It was not such a light as a lamp shining beyond a window makes. It rose and fell, winking and flaring close to the ground.

It looked much like a camp fire and as Billy drew nearer he saw that such it was and he heard a voice, too. Billy approached more carefully. He must be careful always to see before being seen. The little fire burned upon the bank of a stream which the track bridged upon a concrete arch.

Billy dropped once more from the right of way, and climbed a fence into a thin wood. Through this he approached the camp fire with small chance of being observed. As he neared it the voice resolved itself into articulate words, and presently Billy leaned against a tree close behind the speaker and listened.

There was but a single figure beside the small fire—that of a man squatting upon his haunches roasting something above the flames. At one edge of the fire was an empty tin can from which steam arose and an armoma that was now and again wafted to Billy's nostrils.

Coffee! My how good it smelled. Billy's mouth watered. But the voice—that interested Billy almost as much as the preparations for the coming meal.

We'll dance a merry saraband from here to droway Samarcand.
Along the sea, across the land, the birds are flying South.
And you, my sweet Penelope, out
there somewhere you wait for me,
With buds of roses in your hair and kisses on your mouth.

The words took hold of Billy somewhere and made him forget his hunger. Like a sweet incense which induces pleasant daydreams they were wafted in upon him through the rich, mellow voice of the solitary camper and the lilt of the meter gathered his blood.

But the voice. It was the voice of such as Billy Byrne always had loathed and ridiculed until he had sat at the feet of Barbara Harding and learned many things, including love. It was the voice of culture and refinement. Billy strained his eyes through the darkness to have a closer look at the man. The light of the camp fire fell upon frayed and bagging clothes and upon the back of a head covered by a shapeless and disreputable soft hat.

Obviously the man was a hobo. The coffee boiling in a discarded tin can would have been proof positive of this without other evidence; but there seemed plenty more. Yes, the man was a hobo. Billy continued to stand listening.

The mountains are all hid in mist;
the valley is like amethyst;
The poplar leaves they turn and twist; oh, silver, silver green!
Out there somewhere along the sea
a ship is waiting patiently,
While up the beach the bubbles slip with white afloat between.

"Gee!" thought Billy Byrne; "but that's great stuff. I wonder where he gets it. It makes me want to hike until I find that place he's singin' about."

Billy's thoughts were interrupted by a sound in the wood to one side of him. As he turned his eyes in the direction of the slight noise which had attracted him he saw two men step quietly out and across toward the man at the camp fire.

These, too, were evidently hobos. Doubtless pals of the poetical one. The latter did not hear them until they were directly behind him. Then he turned slowly and rose as they halted beside his fire.

"Evenin', bo," said one of the newcomers.

"Good evening, gentlemen," replied the camper, "welcome to my humble home. Have you dined?"

"Naw," replied the first speaker, "we ain't; but we're goin' to. Now can the chatter an' duck. There ain't enough for one here, let alone three. Beat it!" and the man, who was big and burly, assumed a menacing attitude and took a truculent step near er the solitary camper.

The latter was short and slender. The larger man looked as though he might have eaten him at a single mouthful; but the camper did not flinch.

"You pain me," he said. "You induce within me a severe and Light localized pain, and furthermore I don't like your whiskers."

With which apparently irrelevant remark he seized the matted beard of the larger tramp and struck the fellow a quick, sharp blow in the face. Instantly the fellow's companion was upon him; but the camper retained his death grip upon the beard of the now yelling bully and continued to rain blow after blow upon head and face.

Billy Byrne was an interested spectator. He enjoyed a good fight as he enjoyed little else; but presently when the first tramp succeeded in tangling his legs about the legs of his chastiser and dragging him to the ground, and the second tramp seized a heavy stick and ran forward to dash the man's brains out, Billy thought it time to interfere.

TODAY'S POEM

DUALTY.
By Frances McMinds.

There are two of me; Are there two of you?
One self that loves the pure and true
With high resolves and aims in view and steadfast mind.
The other in temptation fire
Yields weakly to perverse desire
For things on earth and looks no higher Life joys to find.

The one, the noble self of mine
Craves earnestly my light-may shine
Reflecting truth and love divine
In helpful deeds,
And still the wayward soul of me
Doth wander blindly heedlessly
Neglecting oftentimes to see
Another's needs.

There are two of me; There are two of you
The one is false; the other true
Contending all the journey through
For right or wrong;
And though the still small voice be drowned
Sometimes in earth, self's clamorous sound
Yet may our better selves be found
Steadfast and strong.

Beauty Spots

Being One of a Series of Articles Appearing Daily on This Page Which Picture Some of Wichita's Attractive Gardens.

By MABEL CARTER

NO. 23 OF A SERIES.

One of Wichita Falls' beauty spots which is becoming more attractive each year under the care of the firemen stationed there, are the grounds which surround the station located on Seventh street, on which the municipal bathing pool is located. A pretty lawn spreads its carpet like smoothness in front of the attractive cement two story building which is occupied by one of the fire engines of the department on the first floor and house keeping rooms for the head of the department, with other rooms up stairs.

On either side of the cement driveway, are rows of violets outlining the flower beds in which brilliant shasta daisies, petunias, dalias, altheas, four o'clocks and roses add their fragrance and beauty. On the outer side of the grounds are a variety of hedge, lantana, soft cedar and other greenery. Several kinds of shade trees, many of which are of the ornamental variety, stand like sentinels throughout the grounds, while a small house built of logs where cold drinks are dispensed to the bathers, is an added attraction. Rustic seats are placed on the water's edge where those who do not care to indulge in the joys of the swim, may pass pleasant hours watching the antics of the bathers.

Ousley Analyzes Trouble With South

Special to The Record News.

BELTON, Texas, June 22.—Clarence Ousley, candidate for the United States senate, blamed national policies for the manner in which the south has been treated in the past, in his speech here.

"For more than 100 years the south has produced two-thirds of the cotton that has clothed the world," he said. "For more than half a century Texas has produced the larger part of the beef that has fed the people. It would seem that regions that have clothed and fed the people would enjoy a fair share of the accumulated wealth of the land. Surely food and raiment are the prime elements of wealth.

"Yet we who thus produce food and raiment are the least prosperous. What is the matter with us? Are we thriftless? Are we wasteful? Are we incapable? I deny that we are lacking in the homely virtues of industry. There is some other reason for our comparative poverty. What is it?

"I believe it is due in large part to national policies which have been fashioned for the development of commerce and manufacturing industry. We southern folk have been so jealous of our rights of state and person that we have neglected even to think of national policies that affect our material welfare. We have allowed manufacturing and commercial interests to shape financial and tariff policies to their advantage.

Men Blind to Woman's Suffering

How many men, think you, have any idea of the pain endured by women in their own household, and often without a murmur? They have no patience when the overworked wife and mother begins to get pale, have headaches, backaches, faint spells, or is melancholy and cannot sleep. There is help for every woman in this condition, as evidenced by the many voluntary letters of recommendation which we are continually publishing in this paper for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to give it a trial.—Adv

Simple Yet Smart Is This Little Sports Frock

Linen or a plain cotton fabric and gay flowered cretonne are combined in the simple frock shown in the sketch. The blouse and sleeves are cut in one, with a seam under the arms only and a soft four-in-hand tie holds the dress at the neck. The belt may be of self-fabric, or a soft kid belt may be worn.

These simple, sturdy frocks occupy a very important place in the summer wardrobe and practically innumerable are the fabrics used for them. Of course cottons and linens are charming; ponges either dyed or natural color is practical and smart; silk crepes and tub silks galore appear, and the knitted fabrics of either silk or wool are also suitable for such dresses.

A smart canton crepe, fashioned very much like the one shown in the sketch, had a separate vestee and cuffs of novelty striped organdy, detachable, of course, and this sheer, crisp cotton gabric made a pretty finish for the dress, giving it a very summery appearance. Another little dress, made of pale yellow crepe de chine, was trimmed with blocks and bands of drawn work.

The frock sketched might be developed attractively in a striped tub silk, collar, cuffs, vestee and pocket facings to be of plain color silk matching the stripe.

This dress is designed especially for a young girl and the little sports hat worn is one of the lightweight silk affairs with tucked or corded crown and plain brim, a single quill in gay contrasting color trimming it.

Taffeta and crepe hats are among the models that will be features for early fall. An interesting trimming consists of latticed bands of self-fabric cord or 'tubing.' Sometimes this tubing is used in braided form, as a crown band, sometimes in open lattice bands on the edge of the brim, and again the tubes will be twisted about the hat and tied in a flaring many-looped bow at the side.

Little Stories for Bedtime

REDDY FOX SPENDS A BAD NIGHT.

It almost always happens when a boaster blows his horn
He wishes that he hadn't e'er the coming of the morn.

Reddy Fox wished so with all his might. He wished that he had kept his tongue still about not being afraid to meet the strange creature that had given Peter Rabbit such a fright. When he had boasted that he wouldn't be afraid of it, but that if he should meet it he would stop to find all about it, he didn't have the least intention of doing anything of the kind. He was just idly boasting and nothing more. You see, Reddy is very fond of boasting. He is one of the greatest boasters in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows. He likes to strut around and talk big. But like most boasters he is a coward at heart.

Une' Billy Possum knew this, and so he dared Reddy to go the next morning to the foot of the hill where PricklyPorky the Porcupine lives, and where Peter Rabbit had had his strange adventure, and where Une' Billy himself claimed to have seen the same strange creature without head, tail or legs which had so frightened Peter. Une' Billy had said that he would be there himself up in a tree, where he could see whether Reddy really dod come or not, and so there was nothing for Reddy to do but to go and make good his foolish boast if the strange creature should appear. You see a number of little people had heard him boast, and had heard Une' Billy dare him, and he kiew that if he didn't make good he would never hear the end of it, and would be called a coward by everybody.

Reddy didn't sleep at all well that afternoon, and when at dusk he started to hunt for his supper he found that he had lost his appetite. Instead of hunting he spent most of the night in trying to think of some good excuse for not appearing at Prickly Porky's hill at daybreak. But think as he would he couldn't think of a single excuse that would sound reasonable.

"If only Bowser the Hound wasn't chained up at night I would get him to chase me, and then I would have the very best kind of an excuse," thought he. But he knew that Bowser was chained. Nevertheless, he did go up to Farmer Brown's dooryard to make sure. It was just as he expected—Bowser was chained.

Reddy sneaked away witho t even a look at Farmer Brown's henhouse. He didn't see that the door had carelessly been left open, and even if he had it would have made no difference. He hadn't a bit of appetite. No, sir, Reddy Fox wouldn't have eaten the fattest chicken there if it had been right there before him. All he could think of was that queer story told by Peter Rabbit and Une' Billy Possum and the scrape he had got himself into by his foolish boasting. He just wandered about restlessly waiting for daybreak and hoping that something would turn up to prevent him from going to Prickly Porky's hill. He didn't dare to tell old Granny Fox about it. He knew just what she would say. It seemed as though he could hear her sharp voice and the very words:

"Serves you right for boasting about something you don't know anything about. How many times have I told you that no good comes of boasting? A wise fox never goes near strange things until he has found out all about them. That is the only way to keep out of trouble and live to a ripe old age. Wisdom is nothing but knowledge, and a wise fox always knows what he is doing."

So Reddy wandered about all the long night. It seemed as if it never would pass, and yet he wished it would last forever. The more he thought about it the more afraid he grew. At last he saw the first beams from jolly, round, red Mr. Sun creeping through the Green Forest. The time had come and he must choose between making his boast good or being called a coward by everybody. Very very slowly Reddy Fox began to walk toward the hill where Prickly Porky lives.

NEXT STORY—WHAT REDDY FOX SAW AND DID.

Women Voters Voice Desire For Big Mass Meeting to Discuss Political Issues and Candidates For Offices

Desire for a mass meeting of women where the candidates would be given an opportunity to be present and to present their plans and their past records, has been expressed in several parts of th city, according to information brought to Mrs. J. E. Sharp, president of the Civic league.

While the first suggestions have come from the auxiliary league, where many of the newer residents of the city are affiliated, it is believed that such a meeting would be of interest to practically all of the women of the city.

"The Civic league is of course not a political organization," said Mrs. Sharpe in discussing the proposal, "but, it is an organization interested in the good of the community. However, any such meeting would be a mass meeting, strictly, and not in the form of a Civic league meeting."

Evangelist Bases Sermon On Rich Man and Money

By CHARLES BETTS

At the North Side Methodist revival meeting, on Wednesday evening the Rev. R. P. Hines selected the parable found in Luke 12:16-21, setting forth the folly of a successful husbandman, as his text.

"Jesus Christ drew this picture just this way because He wanted to attract the attention of the peoples and press home a worth while truth," he said.

"The man who is the chief character in the portrayal, is a prosperous farmer. Probably if we should be called upon to give a title to the parable we would call it a Great Man, but God called him They fool. The first reason for this man being a fool was he had left God out of his life plan.

"Many young men and women of today are leaving God out after the same manner. The Almighty says, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and its righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.' The next thing the matter with this man was that he was a materialist. He thought his soul could live on what his body could. So many young and older people starve their souls today. This man also left his fellow men out of his life. He used the first personal pronoun and ignored the third person. He did not say 'Give us this day our daily bread' at any time. It was a self-centered freature. A man should think of his suffering fellow men before he spends all his money on himself. This man could have done a wonderful lot of good with his money if he had let God direct in the use of it. He also thought riches brought ease. The same mistake is made today. A rich man is always worrying about making more money or losing what he has. Many rich people are in misery all the time. They never have the peace of mind the man of moderate means possesses."

ing the eleven rounds, two in the last inning. The final decision was another one run affair, 3 to 2.

Ruth was backed by brilliant fielding, particularly on the part of Homer Summa in centerfield, who again gathered in a couple of so impossible chances and saved long base hits.

Ruth did not have the old Spudder punch at his back, however, as the Spudders twice had three men on bases, once with none out, and were unable to put one across.

Beck Thrown Out

They also lost a score when Big Fred Beck was thrown out trying to go to third on a long fly before Tex McDonald who had a cinch on scoring, had crossed the plate.

The Spudders' two markers came in the eighth as a result of another terrific home run by Fred Beck with Tex McDonald sitting on first base.

The Crabs pushed their first across in the second when Brown, with one down, worked Ruth for a walk, stole second, took third on Thrash's infield out, and counted on Wintry's single.

Their second came as a result of Wintry's triple in the fifth, and a squeeze by Distel—Ruth's throw to Kitchens being barely too late to get the runner.

The Spudders quit Galveston with little regret tonight to go to San Antonio, Galveston, with the Wichita Falls club going at its best has always proved a thorn in their side catching them in their present crippled condition they proved "duck soup" for the Island dwellers.

SHRINERS LEAVE TWILIGHT LOOP

The Maskat Temple baseball team has withdrawn from the Twilight league, according to announcements Thursday night by executives of the organization.

Such action has been anticipated for several days, although at present no plans have been made to fill the vacancy left by the Nobles, withdrawing.

Inability of the Shriners to put a full team on the field for scheduled games is given out by Al Booth, manager of the nine, as the cause of his team's dropping out. This and the fact that the team has a number of hard games booked with rival Shrine teams in Texas made it advisable that such action be taken, he said.

The Shriners are scheduled to meet the strong Electra American Legion team this coming Sunday.

TRIO OF GOLFERS GO TO KANSAS CITY

W. E. Norton, probably the most enthusiastic of the local golf enthusiasts, with Tommy Cochran and Dudley Golding, the two crack golfers of the local club leave today for Kansas City, where the western amateur tournament opens Monday.

Cochran, the best and most consistent of the local delegation, has finished high in the running in previous tournaments in the west and middle west, and is expected to make a big showing this year.

Golding, while not ordinarily a player of the ability of Cochran, was a finalist in the Texas state tournament this year, which is better than Tommy has been able to do to date with Texas golfers. Norton, who shoots about four strokes behind Golding is probably the most consistent of the older players belonging to the local club.

Wilbur Hubbell, Philly pitcher who sustained a fracture of the skull recently when hit by a ball batted by a Brooklyn batter, has recovered from the blow after hovering near death. Costs Her $25 To Correct Suitor

It costs money to correct a suitor, even if he's wrong. It also costs to object to being corrected, according to the opinion of Judge Guy Rogers.

Two defendants faced him in the county court at law Thursday charged with aggravated assault. One, a negress, and one, a negro.

Both had refused to submit to the will of the other. The negro objected to being corrected by his "sweetie," and a row followed.

Judge Rogers assessed a fine of $25 on the negress for the part she played in the battle royal that followed, while the negro man must think it over in the county prison for the next 15 days. The court averred that he should think seriously about being corrected by one of his own race.

Both negroes, Exie Garreit and Spencer Clements, were arrested at Electra by Deputy Sheriffs Cass Tarver and Berry Wednesday night for fighting and brought to Wichita Falls where they were given speedy trials.

NICKOLS CASE UP

The case of P. N. Nickols vs. Texas Indemnity company was submitted to the jury Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock on special issues. No verdict had been reached when the 89th district court adjourned at 5.

Nickols brought suit against the Indemnity company claiming that he was due $20,000 for alleged failure of the defendant to furnish medical aid for him while he was ill and in the employ of the Texas company.

HARVEY GOES ON IVORY HUNT

Leaves Town With Smile and Weak Voice

R. O. Harvey, Spudder prexy, had heard something from his hunt for pitching talent Thursday—but he wasn't putting out a thing.

Instead he packed his grip and caught the first train which would take him to the big league haunts, where it has been definitely determined that his prospective finds are now toiling. First he is going to St. Louis, and he goes far enough to admit that he will see Branch Rickey of the Cards, but beyond that he desires his destination withheld until he has something certain to report.

While in St. Louis on another trail, he will find out the status of the Bill Bailey deal. So, the fans will have to wait until they can hear from him after his arrival in the big show. That he believed that he was working on a warm trail, was, however indicated by the smile on his face after receiving a certain wire Thursday.

In the meantime he expects John Paul Jones, former Indianapolis hurler, who will join the club right away, to be able to step in with little delay and help the local club. Jones has known for nearly a month that he would likely be Spudder property, he said, and should be in something like proper condition.

Jones is in business over in Louisiana, he said, and his inability to attend to it while pastiming in the American association was one of his reasons for failure to go back north again last year. In the Texas league there will be frequent intervals—while the local club is in Shreveport and Beaumont, when he will be practically at home.

TO CLEAN UP ALLEY

"U. D. alley" must also be cleaned. At least the city health department has decreed that it must be.

"U. D. alley" is the alley which extends along Seventh between Indiana and Ohio. Beds and rubbish that has gathered there for a considerable length of time must be removed, Dr. Douglass states.

An investigation of the vicinity was made through both the police and sanitary departments and notice was given Thursday that a regular Dutch cleanser method would be invoked.

when the polls are closed on the night of Saturday, July 22. It isn't bunk with Touchstone. Never was a campaigner more enthusiastic or confident of the success of his man than this native-born Texan who is directing the fight for Thomas.

Karle B. Mayfield spoke here this week. He had an audience of 1500 and it was a wild shouting audience. He is the choice of the so called intellectuals of the klansmen. These are leading lawyers in both camps. There are klansmen lawyers and citizens league lawyers. Men who the writer has known for years frankly say that the political lawyers are in evidence everywhere and that the legal advisers of the public utility corporations are not overlooking a bet.

There is talk of elimination everywhere you go. There was a vote taken by the political klansmen at the carbarns a few days since.

There were 2500 secret ballots cast with the following result: Mayfield, 1100; Henry, 900; Strong, 500.

According to inside information a committee on elimination met in the city of Austin the other day. Mayfield is said to have been the choice of the intellectuals who are politicians but the friends of Henry and Strong bucked like angry steers and the conference adjourned until sometime in July.

Sterling P. Strong has refused to come down. He says that there are wire pullers and plotters who have worked themselves into the klan organization who are doing all in their power to throw the votes of the klansmen to a senatorial candidate who was marked A-1 in the brewers blue book introduced as evidence in a famous judicial hearing which was held in the city of Sulphur Spring some years ago.

It's a Real Fight.

All the senatorial candidates have friends who are plugging for them, within and without the invisible boundary lines of the invisible empire. In the local contests regardless of the result of the July primary there is certain to be a bitter campaign until the polls are closed in November.

Local politicians who are democrats first said to the writer that objectionable nominees would have hard sledding if the republicans pick able and popular men for their ticket.

This is the home of Culberson and it is the home of Thomas. Ben E. Cabell, one of the old guards of office holders and leaders and now foreman of the grand jury, has a wide acquaintance in city and country. He predicts that Culberson will have a long lead in Dallas county, and that Ousley and Mayfield and Thomas will be close together.

There is no mistaking the attitude of the Bailey leaders here. With a few notable exceptions they are in behind Clarence Ousley for senator and Major Fred S. Rogers for governor. Personally, they do not hate Culberson but they say that he should come down and get out of the way. They do hate Thomas. They are on his trail. They prefer any one of the five candidates to Thomas and they do not hesitate to say so. Whether they can swing the rank and file of what is known as the Bailey democracy remains to be seen.

Colonel John Henry Kirby and the newspapers which are known as Kirby newspapers are all working for the downfall of Thomas.

They are all working for the retirement of Culberson. Wherever you find a southern tariff association democrat he is opposed to Culberson and Thomas in the senatorial race.

It is not a matter of church and state or religious creed. Culberson and Thomas are Baptists. Ousley is a Baptist. And yet these newspaper organs of the Southern Tariff association say that the Baptist are trying to control Texas when the candidate they prefer and are supporting is a member of the Baptist denomination. Mayfield and Henry are Methodists. Mr. Strong, if the writer has been given correct information, is a member of the Christian church.

Dallas is the home of Dr. Affleck Webb, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league. Dr. Webb is the editor of Home and State, the newspaper organ of the league. Dr. Webb is playing politics in his Home and State. This excerpt is taken from the current number of the league organ:

"Among those who are running for the United States senate the Home and State indorses these three as having satisfactory prohibition records: Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas; Earle B. Mayfield of Austin; Sterling P. Strong of Dallas."

In other words Dr. Webb has playfully placed a boycott on Senator Charles A. Culberson, Clarence Ousley, R. L. Henry and James E. Ferguson. All these gentlemen with the exception of Ferguson have bowed to the will of the majority. They have accepted prohibition as a settled issue and more important than all Senator Culberson cast the deciding vote for the nineteenth amendment that gave the women of America the ballot. It must be true that "politics makes strange bedfellows."

SLAYER OF DALLAS GIRL CONVICTED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 22.—The supreme court of Alabama today affirmed the judgment of the Franklin county circuit court in the case of Fred Hall, a merchant of Russellville, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for slaying Miss Martha Henderson of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. Taylor Says She Won't Pass Out Any More Circulars

Tears were shed in the supreme court Thursday morning when Judge W. B. Chauncey told Mrs. Roy Taylor that in view of the fact that she did not know it was a violation of the city ordinances to distribute hand bills on the streets that her case was dismissed.

Mrs. Taylor wept bitterly as she departed from the court room.

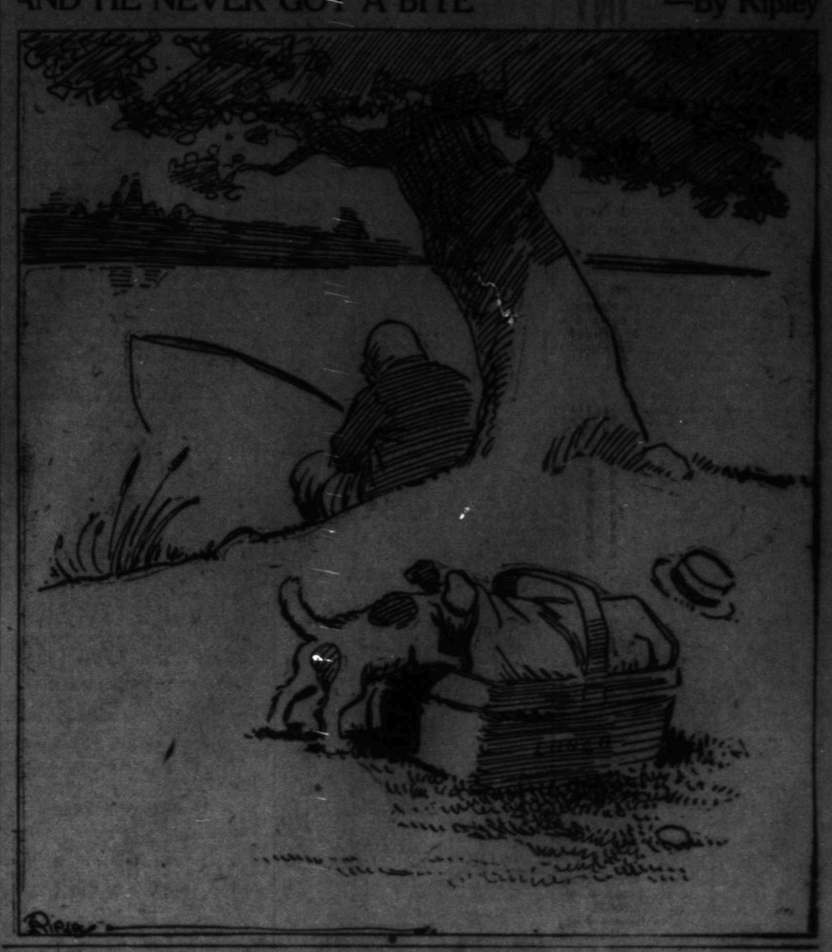

She had previously entered a plea of guilty to the charge against her, and had said: "Let's settle it quick. I want to get it over with, for I don't want to go to prison." Judge Chauncey told her that he was not going to send her to prison, but that he would have to fine her. Mrs. Taylor agreed that she would not distribute any more circulars on the streets, before she had departed.

Domestic Oils Make Small Gains

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The stock market was thrown into another spasm of excitement during the last half of today's otherwise uneventful session, the further meteoric rise of Mexican petroleum adding to the demoralization of the shorts in that spectacular issue.

After an early reaction of 3 1-2 points and a rally of 4 points "Mexpet" suddenly became furiously active in the fourth hour with an extreme advance of 11 points to 186. From this level it fell back six points, but quickly rebounded, closing at 183 1-2, a net gain of 8 1-2 points and a total of almost 40 points since last Saturday.

Pan American "A" and "B" shares, California petroleum, Royal Dutch, Houston, General Asphalt and several of the less active domestic oils were prominent at moderate gains, but these were relinquished in large part towards the end.

Much the same course was pursued by independent steels, motors, equipments and several of the chemicals and unclassified specialties, but rails of the speculative as well as investment grades, registered extreme gains of 1 to 2 points. The stronger transportation included Southern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, New Haven, and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico.

Sterling demand bills at 4.42 were off 1 cent and at lowest figures since the first week of the current month when this remittance was almost 10 cents higher. Declines of 4 to 7 points were made by French, Italian and Belgian bills. German marks were increasingly heavy and every important neutral center was lower by 3 to 7 points, the reversal also affecting Swiss, Spanish and Greek exchanges.

NEW YORK BONDS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The lower rediscount rate fixed after the close of yesterday's business by the local federal reserve bank was the reason most generally advanced for the distinctly better tone of today's bond market.

Among the most noteworthy developments were the new high records established for four of the liberty issues. The first 4s rose to 100.20, the third 4 1-2s to 100.18, the fourth 4 1-4s to 100.20, and the first and second 4 1-4s to 101.50.

Several foreign loans were slightly higher, also, notably San Paulo 8s, French municipals, and Tokio 5s but British issues seemed to be adversely influenced by another drop in sterling exchange.

Gains of 1 to 2 1-4 points were made by such rails as Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5s, Atchison adjustment 4s, Northern Pacific 4s, St. Louis and San Francisco incomes, Seaboard consolidated 6s, and Western Maryland 4s.

A decline of 2 3-4 points was made by Missouri, Kansas and Texas second 4s, Consolidated 8s. Total sales, par value, aggregated $13,345,000.

WHEAT PRICE ON UPGRADE

Corn Hits High Mark

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Wheat moved upward in price today owing more or less to predictions of a hot wave in the central west and because of need of rain northwest. The market closed firm, half cent to 1½c net higher, with July $1.13⅜ to 1.13⅞ and September 1.14¼ to 1.15. Corn gained ⅝c to ¾ and oats ⅝ to ¾c. Provisions finished unchanged to 2½c lower.

Highest prices of the day in the wheat market were attained after the issuance of an official forecast pointing to higher temperatures over a wide territory, with but little moisture probable tonight or tomorrow. Further crop damage from heat was apprehended, the thermometer having reached 112 degrees in the extreme southwest yesterday. Ability on the part of buyers to absorb increased hedging sales was shown, and it was estimated that fully 500,000 bushels of new wheat to arrive here had been bought by Chicago cash handlers. Broadening out of the trade in corn and oats was also of assistance toward higher prices for wheat.

Corn ascended, to the uppermost quotations reached in sometime. Demand was based largely on likelihood that if dry weather continued, the corn crop would suffer. Assertion that the oats yield was already certain to be short found acceptance from numerous traders.

Provisions were steady. Absence of offerings was the chief apparent reason.

COTTON MAKES SMALL DECLINE

Few Spot Orders Uncovered

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 22.—An early decline prompted by easier Liverpool cables and good weather in the south was followed by rallies in the cotton market today. October sold at 22.22 on the early break, making a reaction of 73 points from the high record of last Tuesday, and later advanced to 22.48, or 6 points above yesterdays closing price. That delivery closed at 22.38 with the general market closing easy at a net decline of 4 to 13 points under a renewal of liquidation and selling for a reaction. A few stop orders were uncovered, and active months showed net losses f 20 to 28 points with July selling at 22.23, and December at 22.02. More contracts were found for sale around 22.52 for July and 22.30 for December or about 5 points above yesterday's closing figures, and last prices were several points off from the best.

The continued good weather in the south was regarded as strengthening the prospect for increased crop indications at the end of this month, but the volume of liquidation absorbed on the early decline was commented upon as a bullish feature. There were reiterated rumors of exports pending from New York, but July was selling on even terms with October at the close. Port receipts today were 9,980 bales. United States port stocks 779,986. Exports today 1,660, making 5,569,829 so far this season.

Advertising Proverbs.

"A ROLLING stone gathers no moss"
And a pointless ad is a dead loss.
"A small spark oft kindles a great fire."
A good ad lifts business from the mire
"Birds of a feather flock together."
Advertising works in every weather.
"Constant occupation prevents temptation."
Steady advertising is a business salvation
'An oak is not felled with one single blow."
Nor will one single ad make your business "go."

What Price Did Our Bodies Pay for Civilization?

ONLY a few thousand years ago the human body was nearly a perfect machine, for then it was used only to function physically.

Our primitive forefathers, before the dawn of thought or history, lived perfect outdoor lives. They fought, hunted, ate and slept in the open. They walked, ran, jumped, climbed or swam with equal ease. They had no other aim than to meet their daily physical wants.

Down the centuries the human race has broadened the scope of its composite mind at the expense of its composite body. We have paid a fearful price for civilization in physical health and length of life.

The development of any science, therefore, which tends to reduce human suffering from illness, or that tends to increase Nature's chances to lengthen life, is worthy of passing interest.

So the Texas Chiropractors Association presents you the philosophy of chiropractic.

Here is found the simple, practical thought that the major nerves of the body pass out between the sections of the spinal column and because this spinal column is not mechanically perfect, the joints or vertebrae often slip or rotate, and press on these major nerves.

Chiropractic holds that when this occurs the nerve vitality in that part of the body served by the nerve under pressure decreases fearfully or is entirely gone. Without this nerve vitality that portion of the body is immediately open to illness.

To a chiropractor the presence of illness is a symtom only of lack of nerve force and vitality and this lack of nerve force and vitality occurs in an overwhelming number of cases from pressure of vertebrae on major nerves.

He removes this pressure by spinal adjustment, which restores the flow of nerve vitality to the affected parts and Nature removes the illness, which was but a symptom.

Rotations in the spinal column can occur from minor or major accidents, or from occupational positions held day after day. Would you be interested in knowing the condition of your nerve supply? Call on your local chiropractor and maintaining its standards of practice, and then discuss the matter with him.

(Third of a series of messages designed to inform the public on the science of chiropractic and its ability to serve the suffer).

HALF HOLIDAY MOVE ENDORSED

Women's Club Puts Proposition Up

Movement for a weekly half holiday during the months of July and August such as is in force in Dallas and other southern cities, and which has been discussed here, has been endorsed by the Business and Professional Women's club, and letters have been sent to local merchants urging that some action be taken to this end, according to announcement by Mrs. Sadie Carter, corresponding secretary.

The letter proposing two alternate plans, follows:

"Believing in the promotion of efficiency of all employes, and particularly women employes, the Business and Professional Women's club desires to endorse and recommend the adoption of a half holiday once each week during the months of July and August.

"We further concur in the opinion that in view of the fact that Wichita Falls is a trading center for the farming country adjacent, the granting of Saturday as a half-holiday would be impracticable and an impediment to the growth of our city, and recommend that Wichita Falls merchants follow the example of Dallas and maintain Thursday as half-holiday, and that the trade be educated by advertising and otherwise, so that this desirable feature of business may be brought to Wichita Falls this summer. As an alternative to this plan we advocate one-half day per week distributed through the force in order to avoid closing the store."

Unable to Prove Contract In Case Against Waggoner

In other words: "Dead men tell no tales" so far as a civil suit is concerned.

An instance where a dead person figured prominently in the ending of a suit came up in the county court at law Thursday before Judge Guy Rogers.

M. A. Pitts had instituted suit against Mrs. Ed Waggoner, as administratrix of the estate of her husband. The suit was for personal services rendered to Mr. Waggoner.

The plaintiff couldn't prove his contract with the dead person, nor state what he had said because he had not been placed in issue by the defense. Article 3690 of the revised civil statutes denied the plaintiff the right to say what defendant's husband had said when his statements had not been placed in issue by herself.

Pass Loan Act

Final passage of the ordinance providing for the $250,000 loan being negotiated by the city occurred at a brief session of the city council early Friday morning, when all members of the board, save Commissioner Stayton, who is out of the city, were present and voted in favor of the measure.

$334 JUDGMENT

Judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $334 was rendered by Judge Guy Rogers in the county court at law Thursday in the case of J. Y. McQuigg vs. Hattie Hearne, suit over rental.

The suit had brought in the right of the plaintiff to hold $1,000 of the defendant's money under garnishment, that issue in the case having been previously settled by the court on Wednesday, when the court held for the defense.

A COMPLETE NEWSPAPER — WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS — LEADS IN LOCAL NEWS

SHRINE PUTTING REAL CIRCUS

100,000 Expected to Pack Tents

Around the corner and up the stairway on Scott street at Tenth in the Masonic temple building you will find the recorder of Maskat temple. He is a very busy man these hot days. Immediately following the spring ceremonial May 23, the local temple launched plans for a Shrine circus.

The Shrine circus is misunderrtood by a lot of folks. They think it is a joke. This is not true. The Shrine circus is on honest to goodness affair and furnishes the highest class of entertainment at the lowest prices. Every act in the big top will be a feature attraction and in most cases has been the top act or feature at some previous Shrine circus.

The idea of a Shrine circus originated at Detroit, Michigan, two years ago. Moslem temple assembled several good high class circus acts during the winter months and the affair went over so big that they could not take care of the crowds. Hundreds were turned away every night. Early in the afternoon and evening pedestrian traffic was blocked for several hundred feet waiting for the people to clear the box office.

The same condition obtained at Louisville when Kosiar temple held their circus despite the fact that the armory building has a capacity of 15,000 people.

Maskat temple band and patrol is offering 15 high class attractions in the big top. Outside of the regular circus camouflage the big top circus when completely assembled will be better than any of the larger shows.

More bill board advertising has been put up in this section of the country than is ordinarily used by a circus for a week's stand in a large city. It is expected that 100,000 people will pass through the circus gate at Athletic park ball grounds during the period July 1 to 8. The list and standing of contestants is as follows: Miss Geraldine Dooley 16,000 votes, Mrs. Gertrude Green 15,550, Miss Jolena Graves 13,400, Miss Anna Mae Cato 12,250, Mrs. Dennis Dellis 11,500, Miss Eugenia Lane 11,500, Miss Maude Murphy 11,000, Miss Esther Lyon 10,000, Miss Mildred Day 10,000, Miss Thelma Cain 7,500.

To Fix Tax Value

Equalization of the tax renditions for the Wichita Falls independent school district will start within the next few days with John M. Bland, J. N. Prothro and M. J. Gardner sitting as a board of equalization. The valuations are expected to be substantially the same as those for the city.

Chamber Backed Up

Prompt renewals of memberships in the West Texas chamber of commerce, which has repeatedly aided Wichitans in various projects, notably in the matter of obtaining irrigation legislation, is reported by F. L. Carter, district manager, who was here for that purpose Thursday.

Youth Drowns

Special to the Record News.

ELECTRA, June 22.—Funeral services for the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Moore, drowned yesterday afternoon when the boat in which he was riding capsized on the municipal lake north of town, were held this afternoon. Interment was in the local cemetery.

The youngster went to the lake with a crowd of youngsters, but it was 40 minutes after the boat overturned before his companions, with assistance, could recover the body. First aid measures were administered, and a pulmotor was obtained, but both failed to revive the youth.

Grand Jury Busy

Grand jurors continued Thursday to work with apparently unabated speed, interviewing the usual large number of witnesses. They have a heavy job ahead of them and they are evidently anxious to make as much speed as possible. It is not believed that they will make a partial report before the end of this week or the beginning of next.

Shooters Out

Local shooters will again compete for the weekly prizes on the sliding scale handicap system when the local club holds its weekly shoot this afternoon. The system, which is based on the number of targets broken by the shooters, has proved exceedingly popular with members of the club as it gives the weak shooters a chance at the prizes.

The return to the afternoon shoot, which was abandoned during the hone stay of the Snudders, will enable some of the members to take part who were unable to get away to the morning shoots.

SUING FOR REFUND

Suit for refund of freight charges alleged to be due both the plaintiff and defense has been instituted in the county court at law before Judge Guy Rogers. The suit is styled Missouri Pacific railroad company vs. W. M. Purdy.

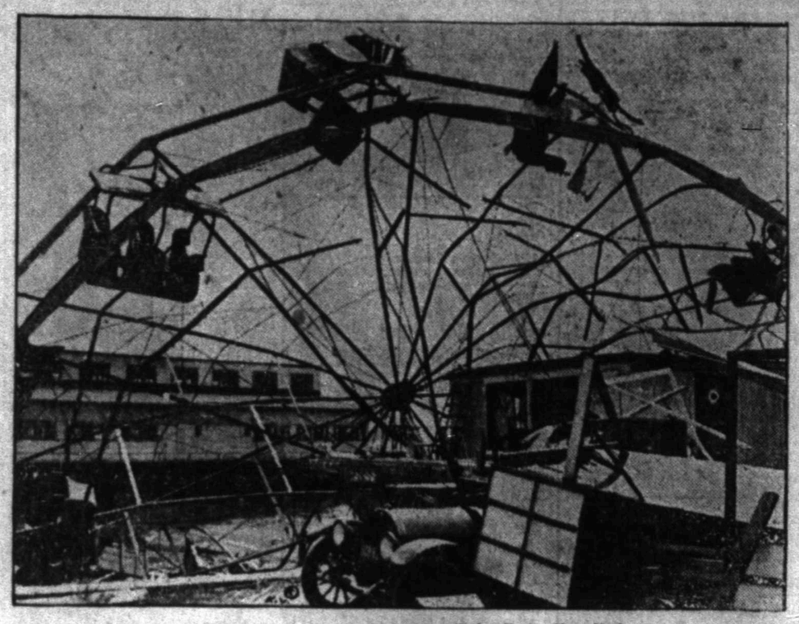

The railroad company claims that the defendant was overpaid $85 in a matter of rebate on a shipment, that amount being sued for. However, the defense claims that the company neglected to fully pay him all that he claims he should have received through the rebate procedure, cross action for $196 having been brought.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The County Auditor of Wichita County, Texas will receive sealed bids until 10 o'clock a. m., June 26, 1922 for the construction of gravel surfacing on the Iowa Park and Jonesdale roads from Iowa Park south to Wichita river. Plans and specifications on file in the office of the County Engineer. Usual rights reserved.

W. W. MURPHY,
County Auditor.

FERRIS WHEEL CRASHES DOWN IN STORM

Wrecked Ferris Wheel at Clason Point Park, New York.

New York police are probing the crash of the Clason Point Park Ferris wheel to determine if Paul Simon, the owner, was negligent in failing to provide sufficient support for the device. Simon is being held on a charge of homicide in connection with the disaster which cost seven lives. Police say the wooden supports were insecure. The wheel was blown down during the recent tornado which swept the city. Twenty-six persons were injured in the crash also.

Mrs. E. L. Fulton left Wednesday night for Chicago, where she will do some special work in dramatic study. Miss Mary Colquitt, her sister, is also doing special summer work in Chicago.

Concrete work for the three new filtration beds, recently authorized by the city council and which will more than double the filtration capacity of the city plant, is now practically complete, according to F. N. Lawton, water department manager. The machinery to be used in this connection is now enroute and it is expected that the plant will be ready for operation at the time scheduled—July 15.

LEGION TO PUT ON BIG DRIVE

Local Post Active In Many Matters

Do you belong to the American Legion?

The question, having its inception at national headquarters, Indianapolis, will ring across the American continent July 1 in a national drive for 1,000,000 new members; and the Pat Carrigan legionnaires of this city plan to take an active part in the mammoth drive.

Speaking the part the local post will play in the drive, Dr. L. L. Lucey stated Thursday that the Pat Carrigan post has been of much assistance not only to the legionnaires of this county, but to all ex-service men in Wichita county as well during the past year.

In this connection he pointed out that the post has been busy with a number of adjusted compensation cases, bonus cases, insurance wrangles and adjusting Liberty bond purchases, for former service men.

This work and thousands of other problems which arise for the former service man, is the job of the American Legion, Dr. Lucy said.

ROTARY MAY PUT OUT CLUB

Members May Again Cavort On Diamond

With the prospect of the annual diamond clashes with the other members of the "Knife and Fork" league, or in other words clubs representing other noon luncheon clubs, staring them in the face, Rotarians received an added shock Thursday with the announcement that the embryo Rotary club at Burkburnett wished to take on the locals for a game.

While no action was taken Thursday, Rotarians with baseball records of a dozen or so years ago were seen to tenderly but resignedly rub old muscles when the sad news was broken.

A mind reading exhibition by an Oriental mystic introduced by Dr. C. R. Hartsook as "Prof. Rabbang" was a feature of the meeting. The mystic, blindfolded, introduced the visitors, calling off their names from the cards held up by Dan Daniels, described several articles held up by members, and calls off numbers written on the blackboard. The absence of Albert Myles from the dining room was noted after "Prof. Rabbang" departed for the ante room after the performance.

Lucius Pryor, a Rotarian from Council Bluffs, who is advance agent for Madame Schumann-Heinck, who will probably come here in March, spoke briefly. A brief description of the Los Angeles Rotary convention was given by C. H. Reid and Horrace Robbins, the local club delegates. Mr. Robbins presented the club with a silver mounted gavel for the use of the presiding officer, and promiscously scattered some souvenir cigars through the club.

Goats Chase Cows To Hangman's Trap

Special to The Record News

ARCHER CITY, June 22.—Sheriff McDonald drinks nothing but sweet milk but wants it warm. Besides he likes to milk because it is a pleasure. However on Monday morning when he went out at crack of day to pail his herd he couldn't find his animals in the lot and had about decided some one had stolen them when he happened to look up and saw the whole bunch on top of the hang-man's balcony on top of the two-story jail. Now you think he had been drinking hootch. But he hadn't. He'd even done worse. He had been out in New Mexico and had just returned from there the day before with a car load of mountain goats of the milch type and turned them loose in his cow lot with the above results.

Edward N. Davis knows more about radio than anybody in America. That's why Your Growing Record News has engaged him to write a radio series, starting Monday.—(Adv.)

GINGER SALES TO SLUFF OFF

City to Bar It For Booze Use

Selling of tincture of Jamaica ginger is a violation of the law; that was decreed by the police department Thursday and a rigid enforcement of the ruling will be carried out.

A test of the "jake" which has played a conspicuous part in the cases of a number of drunks recently brought before the corporate court bar resulted in the announcement yesterday that it was not a medicine but a beverage—an alcoholic one at that, and containing 94 per cent alcohol.

The test was made by Dr. A. H. Douglass, city chemist, who handed the result of his examination to Police Commissioner J. B. Fitts following police court Thursday.

It was immediately announced that all tincture of Jamaica giner found in stores in this city for sale purposes would be seized, and that the persons selling the "beverage" would be charged with selling alcoholic liquors.

SOLD OUT

The early bird catches his favorite newspaper of a Sunday morning.

The late comer has to buy what's left. The moral is: Tip your newsdealer off to preserve for you a copy of this Sunday's Record News. Then you'll know you will have the best there is in Sunday reading.

During the past several Sundays the Record News Sunday edition has been selling out EARLY IN THE DAY. This in spite of the fact that additional papers have been ordered every Sunday. The demand is simply growing greater than anticipation. The reason is: A better newspaper.

Sunday's Record News is complete in every way—from all major league box scores to a very adequate woman's page and society section on through to the markets and bond and stock lists to the complete oil pages. Sunday's Record News is generally a double dose of every news feature carried. That's why they're buying more Sunday Record News copies than ever before.

This is also why you should get hep to this GROWING LOCAL NEWSPAPER and take our tip to FORGET ABOUT THE OUT OF TOWN PAPERS this Sunday and buy your HOME MORNING PAPER.

If you knew as much about these OUT OF TOWN PRE-DATED EDITIONS as we do—you wouldn't buy so quickly.

Just remember that a "pre-dated edition" is one printed several hours—usually many, many hours—ahead of a legitimate press time, in order to catch trains for a distant territory. In other words YOU DON'T GET AS MUCH NEWS in a paper printed between 8 and 9 o'clock SATURDAY NIGHT as you do in one printed between 3 and 4 o'clock SUNDAY MORNING.

Now drop around to your news dealer early Sunday morning.
