GENEVA SEES WASHING-TON AS PLEDGED TO FI-NAL CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)

GENEVA, Feb. 11.—Belief that President Coolidge's proposal for further reduction in naval armaments has strengthened, rather than weakened the position of the League of Nations on the disarmament problem, was expressed in League circles today. Profound satisfaction with the president's proposals was voiced tonight by the Secretariat of the League immediately after the complete text of the American note became available and served to dispel misunderstanding concerning the exact purpose of the proposition.

Far from being discarded, as it has been hinted in some quarters, as a torpedo against an eventual general conference on the reduction of armaments, League officials expressed the opinion that the American document effectively destroyed the fear of a separate conference, because it specifically links any special naval accord with the general Geneva four-parties. It is felt that it even commits the United States to full collaboration in the preparation of the agenda of the final general conference.

"President Coolidge now has definitely removed the naval conference from Washington to Geneva," said one official to the correspondent for the Associated Press tonight, "and more than that, he has put new life into the disarmament preliminary by agreeing to accept the 5-5-3 ratio regarding the United States, Great Britain and Japan for cruisers, torpedo boats and submarines."

COOLIDGE ENCOURAGED BY RESPONSE TO PLEA
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—President Coolidge has every expectation of favorable consideration by the Washington naval treaty negotiators of his suggestion for a further extension of that treaty through a conference to be held at Geneva.

The expectation is based, it was stated today at the White House, upon the responsiveness of the American proposal and the fact that it is the only to apply further a formula for naval limitation already worked out and accepted by the Washington treaty powers.

It was emphasized that President Coolidge does not know specifically what reply will be made by Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

ENGLAND APPROVES OF PROPOSALS BY COOLIDGE
LONDON, Feb. 11.—President Coolidge's suggestion of further limitation of naval armaments received in the British press a wave of approval which has been taken up by the government and the public. Officials today gave assurance that Anglo-American cooperation such as existed at the time of the Washington conference on the reduction of armaments, evidenced by the present disarmament discussions are resumed at Geneva in March.

DEBATE RAISE IN GOVERNOR'S PAY

SENATE DISCUSSES REFERENDUM
TO GET $10,000 SALARY FOR
THE EXECUTIVE

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—Debate over the proper method of fixing the salary of the governor of Texas and other state executives occupied most of the time of the senate this afternoon, and the question was undecided when that body recessed until Monday.

The question arose on a proposed constitutional amendment by Senator Hall, which would have called for a referendum on the question of fixing the governor's salary at $10,000 and leaving all other salaries to the legislature. Senator Fairchild declared that such a clause in the constitution would bring all of the employees to the legislature for salary increases at each term. Senator Fairchild denied that he opposed the clause of the resolution which would increase the chief executive's salary from $4,000 to $10,000 annually. He asserted that he believed the salary should be $12,000 annually.

FARM AID WINS FIRST FIGHT; WILL GO TO HOUSE NOW

PASSAGE IN HOUSE PRE-DICTED; BUT WHAT WILL
COOLIDGE DO WITH IT

USE BLEDSOE PLAN

MEASURE WOULD GUARD AGAINST DECLINE IN COTTON PRICE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Reversing itself in less than eight months, the senate passed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill late today, 47 to 39.

This measure will be transmitted to the house tomorrow and efforts will be made there to substitute it for the companion measure pending since last Wednesday. A final house vote is expected Tuesday or Wednesday. Unless the senate bill, which was lodged with last minute amendments, is approved by the house without change, the legislation must go to conference and then run the gauntlet to the legislative jam in the last few days of the session.

Favorable action in the house is anticipated by both proponents and opponents, but there is uncertainty as to the attitude of President Coolidge. Should he exercise his veto power, the legislation would be dead for this session since admittedly neither house could muster the two-thirds majority necessary to pass it over a veto.

Nervous
As the voting began those in charge of the bill plainly showed nervousness over the final outcome, but a firm roll call on amendments removed whatever doubt there had been that the senate would overturn the 45 to 29 vote by which it defeated a similar measure on last June 24.

The equalization fee provision, the most highly controverted of the whole bill, was retained all efforts to defer its operation failing by overwhelming votes.

The senate adopted a series of amendments including one by Keller, Democrat, Tennessee, adding to the list of basic agricultural products on which the equalization fee would be levied. Other products which would be affected by the bill were wheat, corn, rice, cotton and hogs.

The Bledsoe insurance plan, offered by Senator Harrison was adopted 54 to 32. Under this plan the federal farm board would be authorized to use a part of the $250,000,000 revolving fund proposed in the bill to insure producers against price declines by assessing a premium on any or all of the basic commodities. It is designed particularly, however, to protect cotton producers.

On the final ballot, nine senators reversed their positions of last year, with Robinson of Arkansas, the game warden, Brummett, and Randall of Louisiana; Fletcher and Trammell of Florida; Sheppard, of Texas; and Smith of South Carolina, all Democrats voting for the bill, and Heflin of Alabama, and Overman of North Carolina, both Democrats voting against it.

The Woman's Day

By
Allene Summer

The wavy-headed hett chambermaid bore in my laundry and anxiously opened the box for me. I hardly knew my own mundane paraphernalia. What a rainbow box was that! Pastel shaded tissue paper glorified each separate garment. Sheets of jade and rose and violet tissue paper in stockings and hosiery, and ironed platings adorned the most nondescript. "Is it all right?" anxiously inquired the curly-headed maid, as she whisked the room to rights.

SEVEN PAIR A WEEK

"Yes'm, we have to change the beds every day whether you stay or not. Millions of women they wash in this hotel a week. No'm, it doesn't seem exactly necessary somehow to put on clean bed spreads every day when the same person's in the room, but we have to be careful. People in hotels are so finicky, so we don't take chances. I've cleaned and changed beds in 25 rooms today. Hard?"

"Oh, no, not much, only my four little children all have mousies and I have to lock them in when I come to work. The oldest girl, she's 10, isn't so bad but what she can wait a little on the others but I keep thinking what if the house catches fire or something."

IT'S NICE JOB

"Yes'm, my husband is dead. I never thought of having to work while we were married. A grand husband and father he was. Every week his pay check turned over to me. Yes, there was a little insurance, but it just paid the funeral. They're so expensive nowadays. I can't really complain because I got this job quite easy. It pays $15 a week and I only work from 7 to 1 and can get home before the stores close and get things for supper and have time to do up the housework before we go to bed."

"WHAT? NO SOAP?"

"She moved into the bathroom. Alarm in her toes. 'Oh, I'll bring you soap right away, ma'am. I never noticed it was almost gone. And I thought you had three bath towels. I'm sorry. I'll get more right away.'"

"But there's plenty of soap," said I, surveying the four or five little bars, "and I'm sure two bath towels will do."

But curly-head was not reassured.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Grape juice, cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs with tomatoes, crisp graham toast, milk coffee.

LUNCHEON—Fish timbales, lettuce sandwiches, molasses cookies, milk tea.

DINNER—Beef à la mode, rice, potatoes, creamed cauliflower, stuffed prunes, salad, whole wheat rolls, cream puff, milk coffee.

The fish timbales are prepared to use up any fish that may have been left from dinner the night before. However, if left over fish is not at hand any canned fish may be used to advantage.

Fish Timbales

One cup cold flaked fish, 2 tablespoons butter, 2-3 cup whole bread crumbs from soft part of loaf, 2-3 cup milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 egg, salt and pepper.

Melt butter, add bread crumbs and milk and cook until smooth, stirring constantly. Add fish, which has been marinating in lemon juice while making the paste. Season with salt and pepper and add one well beaten egg. 1 tablespoon cold water. Mix thoroughly but lightly. Turn into buttered individual molds making them about two-thirds full of the mixture. Place in pan of hot water, cover with heavy buttered paper and bake 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Remove from molds and serve surrounded by egg sauce, creamed celery or tomato sauce.

NO MARRIAGE LICENSES IN LUBBOCK FOR 5 DAYS

No marriage licenses have been issued in Lubbock county for five days.

Mrs. C. B. Steiler, of Fort Worth is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. A. Bradshaw, 2105 10th street.

Miss Laura M. Watson, who has been superintendent of nurses at the Ellwood hospital, has gone to Waco.

"The housekeeper wouldn't like it at all. We have orders to leave too much of everything, because folks complain if things begin to get short even if there's enough."

SAY IT YOURSELF

It is very easy to do your own cleaning on my morning visit with the chambermaid. The greatest of hardship with super-servants is too evident. Seven sets of bed linen a week, too many towels and too much soap, and colored tissue paper in the laundry just taken for granted by a widow mother who looked four sick children in the house to go to work for $15 a week and glad that she had the job."

Confers With Farm Authorities Here

To confer with group leaders of the home demonstration work in Lubbock county and the board of directors of the Farm Bureau Cotton association, Mrs. M. Cudahy's Puritan Leaf Lard

The Perfect Shortening

Cudahy's Puritan Leaf Lard has won distinction as "The Perfect Shortening" because of its unequalled baking and cooking qualities. It has that essential grainy texture which assures perfect mixing with other baking ingredients.

Puritan Leaf makes light, fluffy, fine grained cakes, and pies with rich, tender, flaky crust that melts in the mouth. Unequalled for "The Test Tells" deep frying as it quickly forms a golden brown seal around the food which keeps in all the natural flavor, prevents absorption of lard and assures rich, tasty cooking.

Puritan is 100% pure leaf, open kettle rendered and free from moisture. It does not smoke at cooking temperature, will not absorb food flavors and may therefore be used again and again. At your dealer's.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Avalanche-Journal publishing company. In the morning issue of your paper of January 11, 1927, under "It Is Reported" column, you print the following:

"It is reported that there is one drug store, at least, in Lubbock that has been operating over a period of years, and fills more prescriptions possibly than any other druggist in Lubbock, and does not keep any whiskey in stock. He says it is not necessary for medicine and if there were no prescriptions written for whiskey until it was absolutely necessary, one pint of whiskey would last Lubbock fifty years."

It is said a "bit dog always howls," and I think we can all agree that this is a rule. Being one of the druggists of Lubbock who fills doctors' prescriptions generally as well as those written for whiskey, feel that I should make a correction.

In the above statement is a reflection on the honor, ability, and integrity of the medical profession of Lubbock as well as the druggists, who under the law fill their prescriptions for whiskey. In the first place, I want to state as far as I know, that one pint of whiskey, if written when necessary would last Lubbock fifty years may be true. I am not a physician and therefore could not know as a physician that physiological effect of whiskey as a medicine, but if that is true, then every doctor who writes prescriptions for whiskey also believes that the druggist without his voice or consent. Trying to be fair-minded at all times, and having been closely associated as a druggist with the medical profession, and knowing it to be filled with men and women of the very highest type and ideals, also believing the druggists are at least composed of men of average honesty, intellect and integrity, I can't persuade myself to believe the statement as reported as coming from a druggist in Lubbock as made in the statement herein referred to, should be accepted as the last and final thought or truth.

I don't attempt to say nor do I believe, if I had the authority, I could work out an ideal plan controlling whiskey, but the law as it is today is very pointed and a druggist has but one way in which to dispense whiskey and that is on the prescription of a legally practicing physician, the responsibility for the need of it as well as other medicines rests upon the shoulder of the legally constituted medical profession and it seems to me that if we can't trust them in this, they are unworthy of trust in other things.

Personally, I resent from any source the implication that the honor, knowledge and integrity of the doctor cannot be trusted and that the druggist as a profession cannot be trusted. As I see it, the doctor and the druggist, together assume the responsibility of the community of rendering the highest possible type of service to the people, and I honestly believe they are fulfilling their mission to the people of Lubbock on which their high plane of service to which their lives have been directed and that the accusation as contained in the article mentioned, has been made without proper forethought, and is so unjust, unfair and harmful that it should not be allowed to pass unheeded.

Yours very truly,
FLOYD BOWEN

STORMY SESSION IN DAUGHERTY TRIAL

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The stormiest session of the Waugherty-Miller trial was enacted today in Federal court.

The center of the storm was Frederick Wilson, secretary to Thomas W. Miller as alien property custodian. Wilson took the stand as a government witness. Called to explain why he sent two telegrams to Miller in Pittsburgh. One telegram advised Miller that Wilson was unofficially informed that the claims of the Societe Suisse Par Valeurs De Metaux for $1,000,000 of the impounded assets of the American Metal company had been passed. The second telegram advised of official passage.

Counsel for defense objected to the telegrams as evidence on the ground that they were not shown to have been sent with the knowledge of Miller or Daugherty. Seeking to have them admitted as evidence against Miller solely, United States Attorney Buckner tried to bring out through Wilson that he had talked with Miller about the Societe Suisse claim. Wilson denied ever having talked with Miller about them.

Buckner then tried to ascertain why the telegrams had been sent. Before Wilson's answer had been written by the court stenographer, Max D. Steiner, chief of counsel for Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general of Harold Corbin, his associate, Aaron Shapiro, counsel for Miller, and Judge John C. Knox were in high debate. Buckner was accused of trying to impeach his own witness.

"He's not my witness," Buckner shouted.

"We didn't bring him here," charged defense attorneys. "You brought him here, and now you're trying to brand him a hostile witness. Do you mean to charge him with being a co-conspirator?"

"I don't know whether or not he is a co-conspirator," Buckner said. Judge Knox rapped for order, but the debate continued. "This is outrageous," Shapiro shouted. Judge Knox again rapped for order. Taking the witness himself, the judge brought out that after he had a talk with a member of Daugherty's staff he sent the telegrams because he thought the matter important.

Judge Knox then ruled that the testimony was not binding upon either Daugherty or Miller.

C. AND O. ASKS FOR CONTROL OF ERIE

C. C. GETS REQUEST FOR FURTHER NICKEL PLATE MERGER

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Application for authority to take over control of the Erie and Pere Marquette railroads was placed today before the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. The three roads constitute all of the Van Sweringen railroad interests with the exception of the Nickel Plate system and the merger plan given the commission followed closely the scheme outlined at Cleveland Monday by W. J. Harahan, president of the C. and O.

The C. and O. directors have purchased or agreed to purchase, the application revealed, 236,000 shares of Erie stock which will cost $28,311,072 and 222,100 shares of Pere Marquette stock valued at $24,236,508. The holdings in large part are to be acquired from the Nickel Plate railroad and from O. P. Van Sweringen and the total cost to the C. and O. will be $52,547,580. With the transaction, if the commission approves the consolidation, the C. and O. will control 7,900 miles of trunk line railroad in the United States and Canada.

In taking the option to purchase the large blocks of Erie stock held by Mr. Van Sweringen, the application said, the C. and O. was given a price of $23,348,350 less than the market value of the securities on January 31.

No mention was made of the former Van Sweringen proposal for consolidating the three railroads with the Nickel plate, although it was declared that two members of the C. and O. directorate who constituted the committee to arrange the new merger, George C. Scott and John Stewart Bryan of Richmond, were leaders of minority stockholders who opposed the original Nickel plate merger. The Nickel Plate company was only mentioned in today's application as a seller of a part of its present holdings of Erie and Pere Marquette.

To finance the transaction, the C. and O. company asked permission to issue and sell to its present stockholders 595,024 shares of common stock, with a par value of $59,502,400. The stock is now selling above its par value, and the right to subscribe for new common capital stock represents a consideration of considerable value of the stockholders who will receive it.

By uniting the three railroads, the application said, the C. and O. will be in a position to render service through out its territory and that of its subsidiaries, equivalent to that given now by the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and New York Central. The C. and O. proposes to exercise the application added, "A character and degree of administrative control of operations of the Erie and Marquette that is inherent in control by stock ownership."

Claiming that unified system will facilitate the distribution of coal from Kentucky and West Virginia.

To a considerable degree, the present application appeared to be drawn up to meet the objections which a majority of the Interstate Commerce Commission found to the Nickel Plate merger plan which was turned down last year after presentation by the Van Sweringen interests.

FACTS FOR THE TAX SURVEY TO CONSIDER

One of the strongest arguments to be advanced for the gasoline tax is that experience has served to entrench it more and more as a permanent fiscal policy. The Vermont State Chamber of Commerce has just completed a survey which convincingly shows how satisfactory this means of raising funds for highway-building and maintenance has proved in practice: Forty-four States no tax motor fuel from 1 to 5 cents a gallon. Only three (including Texas) levy so low a rate as 1 cent. The average is 2.68 cents. The Chamber's investigation revealed that 20 States now contemplate increasing this tax, and that the four Commonwealths still without it—New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Illinois—are considering adopting it. Were all the pending proposals enacted the average rate would be 3.4 cents a gallon. When it is considered that the gasoline levy as a source of State revenue is only eight years old—it was enacted first in 1919—its rapid spread becomes highly significant. Probably no other taxation scheme ever was copied so swiftly and so widely. Beginning at 1 cent, the rate steadily has been advanced until the largest increase on record is proposed now. One reason for its popularity is the comparative ease and low cost of collection where the tax is levied at the source. It is extracted painlessly from the consumer, who still is able to buy motor fuel at reasonable price as a rule. Should a shortage ensue, the tax might prove burdensome; but that is an unlikely contingency. The equity of the gasoline tax is so evident as to gain almost unanimous sanction. It distributes highway costs in direct proportion to use, which can be accomplished by no other device. Of course, there are some exceptions to this rule, but they are not highly important. Undoubtedly, the bulk of gasoline consumed is used to propel vehicles over the public roads. This is the most practicable means yet found of taxing the traffic itself. The desirability of doing away with other taxes and deriving road funds from this source alone, readily may be inferred. Such a plan is hardly feasible as yet, but to reduce the license fees considerably and retain them in the counties would be a step in that direction. California originated this method; it has proved successful there and in other States adopting it. By such means the protests against the gasoline tax largely have been overcome.

As a result of Governor Moody's recommendation, a special gasoline tax of two cents per gallon will probably be levied by the Legislature, for the support of the public schools and the maintenance and construction of public highways. The Governor permitted himself to be quoted the other day to the effect that he favored a two-cent tax on gasoline, doubling the present special tax on that commodity, in order that additional funds might be made available for public purposes, and it is not believed that the Legislature will oppose the executive's recommendation as to this important policy. The present predicament of the public schools, which are facing a shortage of public funds and must curtail their sessions unless aid is given quickly, is due to the ill-advised action of the Ferguson administration in reducing the state tax rate as a political move during the 1926 campaign. The Fergusons "passed the buck" to the next administration, with a recommendation for a three-cent gasoline tax and sundry other commodities in order to give the state enough money to pay its operating expenses and to provide the public schools with a reasonable apportionment. Now the Legislature, with the encouragement of the Governor, is struggling with the problem of increasing the state's revenues. The defeat of the special tobacco tax is presaged by action already taken in the House, and the Governor stands in the way of a three-cent gasoline tax. This situation may work havoc with the plans of the County Judges and Commissioners Association, although that organization is said to be exerting all its influence in behalf of its program for a three-cent gasoline tax. The Judges and Commissioners are appealing for the privilege of retaining all the automobile fees in the county of their origin, in order that funds may be available for work on county roads, and have suggested a three-cent gasoline tax in order that the State Highway Department might have funds for its work.

RECOGNIZES THE VALUE OF CHURCHES TO A CITY

You have often heard the statement that a town without churches would be a very undesirable place to live, but you have possibly not heard that in some cities the surplus money that some municipalities have is given over gladly to the building of churches. A report from McAlester, Oklahoma, says that the investment of city funds in church property pays in dollars and cents:

Such is the reasoning of the city of McAlester. For proof they point to the growth of the city and the resulting increase in property values and taxable wealth. That growth, they say, has been due largely to the fact that prospective residents choose McAlester over other places because they find here such handsome church structures. A policy of investing city money, especially funds from the sinking fund, in loans to churches was begun during the administration of W. E. Beaty, former mayor, and is being continued under Mayor J. B. McAlester, a member of the family for which the city was named. Although city funds could have been lent to others at 8 per cent, the city authorities have found it paid to lend to the churches at 6 per cent. By use of the loans new churches have been built or additions have been made to existing church properties until McAlester is known as a city of churches. The city gets interest on its money, the churches get a low rate and funds to make extensions which could not otherwise be made for years, and in the meantime the city's income from taxation grows as the city grows. The First Christian Church of McAlester, which cost $75,000, was lent $35,000. The Episcopal Church, which had just finished a splendid Gothic style church of native stone, borrowed $10,000 on its $26,000 investment. The First Presbyterian Church, completed a year ago at a cost of $98,000, has a loan of $35,000. The Grand Avenue Methodist Church, which recently took over the First Methodist Episcopal Church, has a loan of $40,000 on its $100,000 property. Other loans include $24,000 to the First Baptist Church to enable it to complete its new Sunday-school building, and $2,400 to smaller churches. When the city went to the aid of the different denominations, which have a total membership of over 4,000 and property valued at approximately $700,000, it made possible the carrying out of a building program long contemplated, and eliminated the necessity of waiting many months, perhaps years, before the churches would be in shape financially to improve their properties without outside help.

The city commissioners of McAlester in considering investment of the city's sinking fund in church loans decided favorably because they believed the building of churches would not only improve the appearance of the city, but would emphasize the value placed upon religious work and education. Making loans for the construction of churches is an investment which returns many times over the favor done by the city," says Mayor McAlester. "Churches are the very foundation of good government and society, and should be given every reasonable financial encouragement."

NO PRO LEGISLATION

Another legislative session draws to its close with the thirsty as far away as ever from the beer for which they have clamored throughout the life of this congress.

The sixty-ninth congress which dies March 4 has experienced as much agitation over prohibition as any congress since enactment of the Volstead law.

There were modification bills, a proposal to repeal Volsteadism, beer bills, "states rights" bills and home brew bills.

The result so far as a legislative result from the wet standpoint is concerned, is nothing, net.

The dries, however, in resisting all of the multitudinous wet onslaughts, have scored largely a negative victory. If wet legislative proposals have met with no success, neither have various dry bills. Of a group of measures sponsored by the dries or by the enforcement authorities of the government or both, only one has a remaining chance of passage and its chance is none too good.

The bill which possibly may be passed in the concluding days of the session, although not probably, is one providing for prohibition enforcement re-organization, centering all enforcement activities in a prohibition commissioner under the secretary of the treasury and placing all agents under the civil service.

Dry bills intended to tighten the Volstead law and make enforcement more stringent are booked for the legislative shelf along with the wet bills. So if the session ends without modification or "liberalizing" of the dry day, it also ends without important legislation to clamp on the lid more tightly except as dry appropriations for enforcement have been passed.

MOVIES FOR LEOPERS

Last week 778 reels of moving picture films were shipped to the United States leper colonies in the Philippines and the Virgin Islands for the entertainment of the unfortunate inmates confined there. This is the second contribution of its kind by the motion picture industry. These films include feature pictures, comedies, westerns, dramas and news reels, so as to provide well-rounded programs. They have been contributed by the leading producers, through their national organization, of which Will H. Hays is president. Those of us who live normal lives in the midst of interesting and comfortable surroundings can hardly realize what these moving pictures will mean to the hundreds of pitiable creatures, who through affliction with a loathsome disease are banished to the narrow confines of an island settlement. In providing entertainment and some knowledge of the outer world for these wretched outcasts, the moving picture people are performing an act of true philanthropy.

OUT OUR WAY

MEMORIES

March 6, 1903

T. E. Harper shook the sands of Lubbock off his feet Monday and left for Tahoka where he will take up his abode among the sun-capped hills of Leann county.

A. M. Ellis left for the Scott ranch in Lynn county.

M. S. Acuff of Lockney was visiting in Lubbock Tuesday.

The Home Missionary Society was advertising to take in plain sewing, and asked that all orders be given Mrs. George Hunt, the president.

W. F. Gaufney, sheriff of Nolan county was here this week, looking after official business.

Sam S. Ford, of Terry county, was in the hub yesterday and stated that the new county seat was growing rapidly, and that Wrae & Wolf of Snyder have the lumber on the ground for the erection of a new business house 30x60 feet.

Mrs. W. H. Vaughn was taken suddenly and seriously ill Wednesday afternoon, and died at ten o'clock that night.

The latest advices come from Austin that the Bryan quarantine bill has been defeated. This will be good news to the cattlemen of the county as under the provisions of the bill no steers could be marketed till they are three years of age, which would mean a terrible hardship on the people of this section of the country.

"Do you think," asked Larry Cab-stalligh, "do you really think, dear Lady Muttersepp, that I am too old for a tiana?"

"My dear creature," replied Lady Muttersepp, "not course, not. They are fitting the Pyramids with electric lights."

SO THINK WE

We think the reason the help your self store have become so popular is because a lot of folks are so keen to help themselves anyway.

We think if it was not for the "poor man's corn," we would not know how smart we really are.

We think that about all the cotton that will be accomplished will be lower priced cotton. We imagine it will pay our farmers better to plant more of something else and less of cotton so it can be gathered nice and clean by force on the farm, without paying a big price for picking.

We think there is no need to be uneasy that Al Smith will ever lead his party to victory as a presidential nominee, but he may block the road for a good man.

We think Cal Coolidge will hardly be able to land the nomination again in 1928 but he is having a good time making a lot of republicans think he will.

We think that in February the weather is very changeable, and like the styles of dress, it is nearly always for the worse.

We think if an intoxicated automobile driver should crash into a boat-lender it would possibly reform both of them, quicker than most anything else.

We think the traffic cops in England must surely be on the job. They recently arrested the driver of the fire truck, who was on his way to a fire and, the cops, claimed he was exceeding the speed limit. It must be different down there in Lubbock. The people usually get in from the fire truck here and keep the speed down to the limit.

We think the law must be very loose in Canada. Recently a big St. Bernard dog bit his mistress during an argument, and he was sentenced to death. The chivalrous route was his fate and he slept quietly away.

We think the guy that is climbing the ladder is possibly the most important looking dog of the two, but the fellow that is holding the thing at the bottom is no doubt just about as important.

We think that well prepared meals are far more attractive to the average husband than the paying of club expense bills.

We think playing society is alright when one can afford it, but there are only a few people in each town that are really able to stand the expense, without going in debt.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that very few Americans would like to call France their home, but the women folks are willing for Paris to issue the fashion plates for them.

It is reported that some one has said that the Tech students lack dignity. Surely not! We hope the faculty will check on this and see if there is anything lacking in this way among the students, and see if it cannot be corrected.

It is reported that Lubbock's array of score arms is gradually diminishing.

It is reported that it is much easier to strangle the first desire than it is to feed all the others that may come.

It is reported that the old time wall flowers have, but about vanished in the home and they are found now on the front seat of a fine automobile.

It is reported now that some fellow has remembered that another year some eight or ten back was very much like this year, and there was a big crop of everything, including weather prophets and suffragettes.

ONE YEAR-AGO TODAY

The Chrysler car owned by T. P. Gibson, and stolen from him several days before was located at Amarillo, and a negro was arrested charged with the theft.

M. H. Duncan was appointed as a member of the Texas Educational Committee, in the capacity of special advisory member.

L. S. Harkey, K. N. Clapp and H. B. Palmer left for Palo Duro canyon to select a place for the establishment of a local boy scout camp.

One man was killed at Mulhouse and another seriously wounded in a gun fight.

Lubbock district tournament basketball commenced.

Shed Allen decided to master a strong local team, and put baseball over in Lubbock again this year, turning down all outside offers.

The Rotary and Kiwanis clubs both practicing for a basketball game.

Kiwanis club took up home beautifying campaign.

DIVERSIFICATION BEING PROVEN

WHEAT IN GOOD CONDITION

Prospects for another wheat crop were never better at this time of the year, in Seale county. Plenty of moisture during the winter has kept the wheat in good shape and there has been very little freezing and thawing to kill the tender roots. The acreage is larger than last year, when more than a million bushels were harvested in this county. A number of farmers still have some of last year's crop in their bins. While the low price of cotton and row crops was a drawback to the farmers here, they are in better shape financially than for several years, and if we are favored with another wheat crop Seale county will be off on top of the world.—Tulsa Herald.

SUDAN PAYS WELL FOR OLTON FARMER

D. Brown of Lamb county, living four miles west of Olton, is one of the largest raisers in the country of Sudan and his crop is paying well this year.

Mr. Brown has about 300 acres in Sudan and threshed on the average about 1,000 pounds from each acre.

Sudan is now worth $4.75 per bushel, though Mr. Brown has sold most of his at $1.50 and he has made about thirteen thousand dollars off his three hundred acres this year. Picture News.

GRASSLAND FARMER RAISES FINE TURPINS

W. W. Lawson of Grassland had a lot of turpins here Saturday which was selling and made a donation of a few fine, large ones to the editor, suspecting no doubt that the editor was getting hungry. The turpins were very fine, as members of the editor's family can testify.

Mr. Lawson has raised quite a good crop of turpins this year, but he says that his record crop was made two years ago when he sold $120.00 worth of turpins from a patch of less than a quarter acre. Mr. Lawson raises most of his living at home.—Lynn County News.

National Educational Association

The largest unit within the National Educational Association is the Department of Superintendence, which will hold its fifty-seventh annual convention at Dallas, Texas, February 22 to March 2 inclusive. This department of the association became so large and so far-reaching in its educational influence that it became necessary in 1921 to employ a full time secretary for the Department. Previously the department administrative work was done by the secretary of the National Educational Association.

The department chose for its first executive secretary, Sherwood D. Shankland of Willoughby, Ohio, a former superintendent of schools, secretary of a state teachers association and member of the house of representatives of the Ohio general assembly. Mr. Shankland will be the general manager of the complex administrative organization which will work behind the scenes at the great Dallas convention which will draw to that city some 15,000 educators from all parts of the United States and nearby countries.

Mr. Shankland's early educational work was done in Willoughby, a suburb of Cleveland. He was born in Willoughby and passed through its public school system. After graduating from Adelbert college of Western Reserve university, he became a teacher in the Willoughby high school and then advanced to the position of principal and finally superintendent of the Willoughby schools. In 1909 he was called to the pioneer work of developing the Adelbert Institute for Girls under a trust fund which had been left for that purpose at Willoughby.

He was an active leader in the Ohio prohibition movement and took a leading part in the Liberty Loan campaign in that state during the war. For seven years before assuming his present position he was executive secretary of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers' Association.

Members of the Commercial club and other citizens of Thayer, Mo., evidently do not want their little city to become another Dayton, Tenn. The club has approved a resolution condemning the bill to restrict teaching in the schools which was introduced in the Missouri House by a Representative from Oregon County, in which Thayer is located.

The resolution states that the club "does not believe in the evolution theory," the scientific doctrine against which the legislative bill is directed. Yet the organization, quite obviously, does believe in accepting the leadership of educational authorities in this matter as in other matters. The president of the club characterizes the anti-evolution bill as "foolishness," and says that not only the club members but a majority of Thayer citizens are against it.

The club's resolution reads that "the General Assembly of Missouri can better occupy its time with much more needed and important legislation" than the proposed measure; that "such a law, if enacted would serve only to create strife and discord," and that evolution is not being taught in "any of the schools of Missouri where younger children are attending."

Here is an attitude that argues well for the progress of enlightenment and general intelligence in this State. It is an example of broad-mindedness that ought, in fact, to give Thayer, Mo., a place among the most progressive communities of the country. Here are people who are frank enough to state they do not agree with a scientific view that has been an accepted phase of advanced education for decades. But merely because they do not agree they would not reject the leadership of educators and scientific authorities and stand for legislation that would restrict teaching in the schools. They see the mischief that may come from attempts of this kind.

The action of Thayer quite properly links itself with the protest of 12 St. Louis ministers against this same bill. The ministers represent Baptist, Presbyterian, Congregational, Unitarian, Christian, Evangelical, Episcopalian, and New Methodist. Without stating their own views on evolution these ministers asked that the "teaching of science be left to the schools and the teaching of religion to the churches," stating it as their belief that "what is true in science will be found compatible with what is vital and essential in Christianity."

In connection with their views may be cited the statement of the beloved president emeritus of William Jewell College, Dr. J. P. Greene:

"It will do more harm than good to pass a law against the teaching of evolution in the schools. It will advertise evolution and the young people will read the works on evolution without evidence."

Missouri cannot afford to repeat Tennessee's mistake.—Kansas City Times.

REMEMBRANCE

And if I played the coward now
And flung my faith away,
If unto this I would not bow,
What would she think or say?
If her brave spirit still can hear
And if her eyes can see
If now and then she watches near
I'd have her proud of me.

For it would hurt her could she know
I doubted God today

And stunned by such a cruel blow
Had flung my faith away.

For he said, though the pain is deep
And though the days are long,
The little home she loved I'll keep
And struggle to be strong.

I'll live as once she taught me how
Though she is far away,
For if I played the coward now
What would she think or say?

LUBBOCK AND IDALOU WIN IN TOURNEY

WESTERNERS WIN FROM SLATON AS COUNTY TILTS START; PLAY TO BEGIN AGAIN AT TEN O'CLOCK THIS MORNING

The Lubbock high school Westerners counted a victory over the Gus Miller quintet of Slaton high school here last evening in a wonderful display of both offense and defense registering a total count of 24 to 13 over the Tigers. The accuracy in measuring their strokes was too much for the Slaton team, and the Westerners were still on the field in the morning to take their place in the county tilt. The fact that the Westerners were defeated by the Slaton team does not diminish at all from further procedure in the tournament as the manner of deciding the championship this year is by percentage and every club with the other clubs entered in the meet.

Hays Leads

Captain Rupert Hays, leader of the Westerners, led the field in scoring honors with five sinkers and four free chances for a total of 14 points, which was more than twice the entire amount gathered by his opponent, Taylor, substitute forward of the Slaton quintet, followed Hays in scoring honors with two sinkers and two free tosses for a total of six points.

In reviewing the score book it will be noticed that more points were registered by the Slaton five from Lubbock personal fouls than by goals from the field. Referee "Froggy" Lovvorn assessed 14 personal fouls on the Von Tungen crew and eight against the Slaton five. Two players were ruled from the floor during the contest. After guard for the Westerners and Hamilton, captain of the Tiger quintet.

First Blood

The visiting club registered the first counters for the evening with five points counted by Wicker, guard of the Tigers, and Hamilton, Slaton forward. Backley, backer, and flipped a sinker under the hoop immediately after the Slaton captain counted his free toss and Captain Hays followed with a distant counter to place his team in the lead, which was never threatened during the remainder of the game. The home team was leading the visiting quintet at the end of the first half with a score of 10 to 6.

Similar defense on the part of Ater, Hamilton, and Smith counted an important phase in the game and each contributed much for the big margin achieved in the final count. Taylor, substitute forward for Slaton, was easily the flush of the Slaton cagers.

The score—
LUBBOCK—... 24
SLATON—... 13

IDEALOU WINS
The last encounter of the evening tournament program which was between the Idealou and Acuff basketballers was far more interesting to the customers of the meet than the first, Lubbock versus Slaton. Throughout the Acuff-Idealou battle the score was up and down one side leading for a while, neither leading, and often the score was tied. The final count indicates a victory for the Idealou Wildcats with a score of 22 to 23.

Fast Game
From the starting whistle of Referee "Froggy" Lovvorn until the time for the game to come to a close both clubs fought bravely for the game. The ball was back and forth and always on the offense—but very few minutes of the game were played on the defense.

The games for this morning are scheduled as follows: Lubbock and Acuff play the first contest; then Slaton and Idealou. The first game will begin at ten o'clock on the assembly hall floor.

The more of the game
IDEALOU—... 22
ACUFF—... 23

Resumes at 10 a. m.
The county championship will resume play this morning at the Texas Tech assembly with the Lubbock high school Westerners and the Acuff high school rural champions playing the first game. The game will start at ten o'clock immediately after the first game of the Slaton Tigers and the Idealou Wildcats meet.

This evening at 10 the Westerners met with the Idealou cagers and the Tigers met with the rural champions Acuff. The percentage of the meet will be figured and the club having the highest rating will be awarded the title to represent Lubbock county in the district tournament next week.

Sideline Chatter

The county championship of basketball in Lubbock county is being run off in Lubbock today. The first games were played last evening on the Tech assembly hall floor. Lubbock high school won the first game over the Slaton Tigers with a score of 24 to 13 in a brilliant game both in offense and defense. The Idealou team won the second game with a score of 22 to 23.

The Von Tungen machine was a tough evening for the Slaton Tigers. The Miller team had too much on their hands in checking the offensive drive staged by the Westerners.

A little more drill is needed by the Tigers on their shots for the basket. A unusual large number of attempts were tried for the basket by the Slaton cagers last evening and they missed enough of them to have counted at three times the score registered by the Westerners. More goals were counted by the Tigers on Lubbock's personal fouls than they made from the field.

Captain Rupert Hays, leader for the Westerners, got plenty hot on shooting the basket counters last evening. He topped the field with 14 points, more than twice the total of the scored made by his teammates.

The Hardy girls outplayed and outscored the Slaton girls basketball team throughout their contest and the final score was 27 to 16. The Hardy team, the rural champions, took the lead early in the game and their lead was never threatened.

Only two girl basketball clubs showed up for the tourney and the officials of the meet ruled that these two teams, Slaton and Hardy, would play three games and the winner of first two games would be awarded the county title.

The Acuff cagers dropped their game with the Wildcats of Idealou by allowing one play fiction. The Wildcat play that gave the Idealou cagers the lead over the rural champs was a tip off from Weaver, Slaton forward, who shot the ball to Weaver, Slaton forward under the hoop. Had the rural champs checked this one play they would have likely won the contest.

Johnson, Acuff pivot man, was outstanding in his floor work last evening. He took part in most every play was with the cog that worked the Acuff machine. He was 100 percent excellent on free tosses out of the five attempts allowed him he made all the count.

CUBAN SCORES VICTORY IN BILLIARD CONTEST

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Rafaelito Campesano, Havana, Cuba, scored the most decisive victory of the national three cushion billiard championship tournament here today, defeating Len Kenney, Chicago, 56 to 23 in 44 innings. The Cuban had two 6's two 5's one 4, and several 2's among his runs. Kenney's high run was four.

This was the Cuban's second victory in the tournament in addition to the protested game with Tiff Denton, Kansas City, which will be played over probably next week.

PALE & PEAKED

Texas Lady Was Advised by Her Mother To Take Cardui, Which She Did With Good Results.

Hamilton, Texas.—Mrs. Gladys Pottvint, of this city, says: "At times I suffered awfully with pains across my back and through my sides. I would have to go to bed and stay two or three days at a time. It was very worrisome. I managed to keep going, but I did not enjoy myself at all."

"One day my mother remarked on how bad I looked. She said: 'You look so pale and peaked, why don't you take a bottle of Cardui?' She had taken it herself a number of times, and it had always improved her health, so she thought I had better try it."

"I got the Cardui and began taking it, and from the first dose or two I could see a change for the better. The first thing I noticed was that my appetite was improved. I began to be hungry and I enjoyed my meals. I slept better at night. My rest was so much quieter that I got the benefit from it. I kept on with the Cardui and took it for several months. The pains in my back and sides grew less until they finally quit bothering me."

Giants Trade Kelley to Reds for Roush

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—The playing card of the National League was given another sensational and unexpected shake-up today when the New York Giants traded George Kelley, their 32-year-old first baseman, for Eddie Roush, out-field star of the Cincinnati Reds.

The deal was completed this afternoon at a conference between Gary Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club, and Charles A. Strickland, head of the Giants. It was a straight player transaction with no cash involved, the New York club announced.

Hardy Girl Cagers Beat Slaton Team

The Hardy high school girls basketball club defeated the Slaton high school girls here last evening in the county tournament games at the assembly hall floor of the Texas Tech building with a score of 27 to 16. The rural champions, Hardy, forced into a lead that was never threatened for the entire program.

As the Hardy and Slaton high schools are the only girl representatives in the county tournament it was decided by the athletic officials of the county high schools that these two teams will play the best two out of three.

ROSENBERG AND GRAHAM SUSPENDED BY NEW YORK BOXING COMMISSION FOR SECRET AGREEMENT ABOUT GATE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Meeting out suspensions of one year each to Charles (Slim) Rosenberg, former champion champion and Gusy Graham, of Utica, N. Y., the New York state athletic commission today struck a tell-the-blow against secret boxing agreements involving relation of its rules. After hearing the two fighters, the board ruled in their suspensions and fines.

All might have gone well had Rosenberg succeeded in reducing to 115 pounds. When he scaled 122½, four and one-half pounds over the class limit, the commission declared his title forfeited. Subsequently Graham was beaten, but Par held that Rosenberg's failure to make the class limit nullified their private contract.

Both fighters were suspended on Tuesday and their purses were held up by the commission pending today's hearing. A sum of $4,415 representing the 7½ percent which Graham and Par had agreed to pay Rosenberg out of their own share of the purse, today was ordered paid to Graham.

Do Woman Suffer More than Men?

Physicians tell us that the nervous system of woman is more highly organized, more delicately poised, and, therefore, more sensitive to disturbances than that of man. It may be added that her nerves are more susceptible to the influences which produce "nervous tension" (strain).

Women especially appreciate and profit by the use of Capudine, a pleasant tasting, quick acting liquid compound which relieves high nervous tension and pain by soothing instead of deadening the nerves.

For nervous headache, laryngitis, neuritis, rheumatic and periodical pains, attended by nerve strain, nothing is so quickly effective and satisfactory as Capudine. If a thorough course of Capudine does not give you permanent freedom from headaches, you may be sure that they are caused by some organic condition which should receive the attention of your oculist, dentist or family physician.

Physicians and druggists recommend Capudine as the safe, quick and dependable agent for relieving nervous pains and high nerve tension. Every home should be supplied with Capudine. Get a bottle today at your druggist's and if you do not like it far better than anything you have ever tried, the manufacturer will cheerfully refund the price upon request. Family size, 50 cts.; individual, 30 cts., at all drug stores. (adv.)

B. C. D DEMANDS DEFINITE ANSWER FROM GAS COMPANY AS TO WHEN SERVICE WILL BE COMPLETE TO CITY

A definite and direct answer from the Texas Gas company as to when gas will be brought to Lubbock was ordered yesterday by the board of city development in a special meeting. A. B. Davis, manager of the board was instructed to obtain the answer as soon as possible. The Texas company is under contract with the city to bring natural gas into Lubbock, the contract having been made last fall and calling for gas by January 1. The city commission granted an extension of 90 days to the company because of unavoidable delays.

No definite reports have been received from the company since the extension, members of the board say, and as a great deal of interest has been shown by local people in the project the board thought it best to investigate the situation and report to the people just why the gas has been delayed.

The directors gave their approval to the Broadway highway project, over which considerable controversy has been waged, but they voted against sending Manager Davis to Austin to appear at a hearing there scheduled for next week. The new state highway commission will take up the matter of the Dallas route from Lubbock in their next meeting, reports from Austin say.

No action was taken in connection with the proposition of a man who was here recently in the interest of establishing an oil-paper here. Members of the board seemed to oppose the proposal, which carried with it a proviso that the board would guarantee the management of the paper from $1,200 to $1,500 worth of advertising monthly and in addition pay a $750 per month salary. Backers of the proposal said that interest was local in the paper but the board decided to take no action on the matter.

T. R. Gallagher, general passenger agent at Amarillo, announced yesterday. The train will depart from Amarillo at 7 p. m. Sunday, March 12, arriving in El Paso early the next morning. The return trip will include a side trip by way of Albuquerque, N. M. An open rate of $17.85 from Amarillo will be allowed as well as correspondingly low rates from other authorized points on the South Plains and the Panhandle. R. F. Bayless, agent here, announced that the round trip from here will be $17.85 also. Pullman reservations should be made as soon as possible. Mr. Bayless said yesterday Amarillo will make a "bid" for the convention for 1928.

TWENTY-ONE LOANS MADE TO VETERANS IN LUBBOCK ON ADJUSTED SERVICE CERTIFICATES, CHAS WHITACRE SAYS

Ex-service men of the South Plains who heretofore have been deprived of the privilege of the loan feature of their government insurance policy due to the hesitancy of banks in handling the paper, are now taking full advantage of the announcement made here recently that the Lubbock National bank of this city has arranged to handle the loans. A total of 21 loans, averaging between $20 and $100 each, were filed with bank officials Friday.

Others have been made during the week, but the total had not been tabulated last night. All applications must be made through channels of the Legion, bank officials reiterated today, as the bank is realizing nothing for its trouble. The loans are being handled with funds other than that of the local banking institution, but all papers are handled through the officials. Chas Whitacre, member of the local post of the Legion is in charge of the Legion's part in the program.

HALE COUNTY HAS BEST PROSPECTS IN YEARS FOR BUMPER CROP IS OPINION OF GRAIN DEALERS

Special to The Avalanche

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 11.—Hale county has the most perfect crop prospects in its history for 1927 according to grain dealers and elevator men of Plainview. These men who have been carefully over the ground estimate an increase of acreage in wheat and spring grains ranging from twenty to thirty per cent over last year.

Abundant rainfall and ideal weather conditions in addition to the increase acreage point towards a bumper year in wheat, barley, oats, spring wheat and other small grains.

Hale county produced approximately two million bushels of wheat in 1925 which was the largest wheat crop in the history of the county. It is generally expected the production this year will easily exceed that mark.

The acreage in grain crops this year is estimated to be around 110,000 to 115,000 as compared with approximately 90,000 acres in 1925. No pests have bothered the grain which now has excellent growth to make a healthful crop. Hale county has an excellent season in the ground after the heaviest rainfall in history of the county for the past 25 years during 1926, the total being over 37 inches at Plainview.

ALPINE, Feb. 11.—Cowboy, old settler, and bronze faced West Texas makes up a medley of convention entertainers in this picturesque town nestled at the foot of the Davis mountains when the West Texas chamber of commerce holds its big Bend district meeting here July 4 and 5. In addition to regional organization members flooding Alpine, on these dates representatives will be in town to attend the Old Settlers, August Reunion and the Cowboys Round-Up to be held at the same time. W. T. C. C. IS PUSHING SUDAN PRODUCTION

SUREST CROP FOR THIS SECTION IS BEST MEADOW CROP
FOR DAIRY COWS

Special to The Avalanche

STAMFORD, Feb. 11.—The product which becomes recognized as the best meadow crop in the world for dairy cows, happens to be the surest crop of West Texas. Due to this fact the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is encouraging production of Sudan which became recognized as the best grass throughout its territory as a part of its widely spread program of diversification.

Forty acres of Sudan grass are generally conceded to equal two sections of native grass for cattle feeding. The product is now produced in practically every state in the union, but West Texas furnishes the big end of the seed. Of the fourteen million pounds handled in the world during 1926, ninety percent of the amount was produced and marketed from Texas, and half of that ninety percent came from territory around Muleshoe and Plainview.

L. J. Halbert, Plainview grain dealer and elevator proprietor, claims to have and led on half the world's supply of Sudan grass seed in 1926, and states that Muleshoe is the center of the Sudan grass industry in the world. Halbert shipped Sudan seed from Muleshoe and Plainview to every state in the union and sold much of the product to exporters.

Hail To The Master

LINCOLN'S GREATNESS LAY IN THIS—
HE WAS MASTER OF HIMSELF.

When the country rocked with war, when thousands cursed his name—did he flinch, did he fail? NO! He remained cool and quiet—though weighted down with the sorrows of a nation, yet he was master of himself.

After war's desolation had passed and the greatness of the President had been fully revealed to all, even after death. Was he Master? Yes!

INTRODUCTION

Paul's ministry at Ephesus was longer than that at any other city, and the church there was very dear to him. His letter to that church was written during his first imprisonment in Rome, and was intended not for Ephesus alone, but for the church at Ephesus, and for the churches in the cities near Ephesus. For beauty and power the Epistle stands with that to the Romans at the head of all Paul's letters, and many regard it as the climax of New Testament writings and therefore of all the writings in the world. This wonderful little book "embraces the whole field of the Christian religion," with special emphasis on the great truth of the indwelling of Christ in the hearts of his followers. At the close is a practical passage stating what the indwelling Christ will do in the home on the "see of his hand" and whose parts and children and servants. Our lesson on the Christian home is appropriately based on this passage.

The Husband's Duty, v. 25

"The husband, love your wives," Paul has just spoken of the husband, the head of the family, as the church is to the body of Christ, and who, as the representative of the family before the law, the one who caused the family come into being and who therefore is primarily chargeable with its welfare. But the husband is not giving enough when he gives merely a roof over the head, fire in the furnace, food in the kitchen, and protection from assaults. No husband has fulfilled his great responsibility until he has given love, and has sweetened all his family relations with self-sacrificing affection. "Even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself up for it." The church is regarded as the body of Christ, the instrument through which Christ works and in which he lives. Thus close, intimate, and necessary is the relation between the true husband and the true wife.

The Wife's Duty, v. 33

"And let the wife see that she fear her husband," "Reverence," as in the King James version, expresses the thought "fear" better than "fear," for the idea is not that of terror and

and the recognition of rightful authority and loving wisdom such as should characterize every husband. Paul closes on a deep note, which every true wife and husband will recognize as expressing faithfully their most precious mutual relationship. Their married life is a temple which they enter always with holy awe.

Love in the Home

"A clerk with a salary of a thousand dollars a year—only one thousand goes to his home, set up three months ago, just after the marriage day. Love meets him at the door, love sits with him at the table; love talks over the work of the day; love takes down the Bible, and reads of Him who came our souls to save; and they kneel, and while they are kneeling—right in that plain room, on that plain carpet—the angels of God build a throne, not out of flowers that perish and fade away, but out of garments of heaven, wreath on top of wreath, amaranth on amaranth, until the throne is done. Then the harp of God sounds, and suddenly there appeared one who mounted the throne, with eyes so bright and brow so fair that the twin kneel at the throne, and, putting one hand on each head, she blessed them, and said, 'Happiness is with me!'"—T. DeWitt Talmage.

The Child's Duty, v. 2

"Honor thy father and mother (which is the first commandment with promise)," Paul is quoting the fifth commandment of the Decalogue (Ex. 20:12), which stands last in the first table of the law or first in the second table, being intermediate between our duties to God and those to men, since in our infancy our parents stand to us in the relation of God. The honor which we are to pay our parents is not merely the respect of the mind or the affection of the heart, but it is the obedience in action which springs from respect and affection. "The promise of long life attaching to this commandment shows its importance in the mind of the divine Lawgiver. Length of days is rightly regarded as testifying to righteousness. So far as it from being true that 'the good die young,' that a career of evil does more to shorten one's life than all diseases put together. A good conscience, an honorable course, and the peace of mind which accompanies these, constitute a veritable elixir of life."

The Commandment With Promise vs. 2 and 3

"That it may be well with thee," both spiritual and material well-being are included in this "well," and the blessings are not only enjoyed by those that honor their parents, but they are shared to some degree by all that have to do with them. "And thou mayest live long on the earth." Long life is the basis of the progress of the race. As the average duration of life is increased, each generation may learn more, become more skillful, and cultivate to a greater extent all the spiritual graces. One of the fundamental aims of wise family life is to prolong the existence of God's children on the earth.

Parents and Children, v. 4

"And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath." "Fathers," here includes, "mothers," and is equivalent to "parents," though it is usually upon the father that the stricter discipline of the home falls. It is some times necessary for parents to punish their children, but the punishment should never be administered in anger, nor should it ever give rise to shame in the child, but rather to sorrow for wrong doing, and an earnest desire for amendment.

In Col. 3:21 Paul repeats this exhortation, adding the tender words, "that they be not discouraged." By far the best way to correct a child is to hunt for some showing of the opposite excellence, and then praise that. "Admonition" means loving and faithful warnings, which should always accompany discipline.

Special Lesson

Christian nature, though it is based on the Christianity of the home, must make use of the Christian "means of grace"—the faithful observance of the Lord's day; faithful attendance on church services, the Sunday school, the young people's society; family worship and training in private prayer; Bible reading and study; and an ever-growing love for and loyalty to the things of Christian life. The use of uplifting pictures and the practice of Christian neighborliness and out-reaching helpfulness. These are the elements of a practical Christian home training which will furnish strong citizens for the state, and blessed minds for the Kingdom of Heaven. "It takes a heap of 'hiv' in a house to make a home. A heap of 'sun' an' 'gladder,' an' 'ye sometimes have to roam A fore ye really 'prelate the things 'ye let' behind. An' hunger fer 'em somehow, with 'em allus on 'yer mind."

DAILY MARKET

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11 (AP)—Caught between pre-holiday liquidation and less favorable news concerning the probable passage of the farm relief bill, cotton prices crumpled in the last hour to close from 1 to 6 points down for the day.

The upward trend of the day, influenced by Hester's weekly statistics, which revealed larger mill takings than expected, and optimistic views regarding the McNary-Haughen bill, received its first setback in the early afternoon when pre-holiday evening up set in.

Liverpool, in spite of spot sales totaling 16,000 bales was lower than due. This had little effect on opening prices, however, and opening bid swung upward all the morning until all active months emerged above the 14 cent level with March at 14.02, May 14.18 and July 14.36, 13 to 18 points above yesterday's close. The early afternoon action carried prices 7 to 13 points below the highs before the late selling bombardment started, when influenced by unfavorable farm relief news, March slumped to 13.85 and July touched 14.16, 17 to 20 points below the highs. The close was near the bottom.

Packers selling together with a down turn in hog values had a bearish effect on provisions.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Cattle, 2,000 active; best steers 11.75; yearlings 10.00; hogs, 11.50; stockers and feeders steady at 7.35 to 8.25; vealers 12.55 to 13.50.

Hogs, 28,000; active; 25 lower; bulk 11.55 to 12.15; sows 10.50 to 10.75; pigs 11.50 to 11.75; estimated holdover 6,000.

Sheep, 14,000; fat lambs steady to strong; bulk 12.75 to 13.15; sheep steady; ewes 7.50 to 8.50; top 8.75; feeding lambs unchanged, 12.50 to 13.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Nearly as motionless as the traditional painted ship upon a painted ocean, the wheat market today devoted itself chiefly to pre-holiday adjustment of accounts.

With all United States exchanges closed tomorrow, few traders cared to take any immediate action, as the market was either higher or lower prices. Wheat finished easy unchanged to 1/2 cent down; corn unchanged to 1/2 cent up; oats unchanged to 1/2 cent advance, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Packers selling together with a down turn in hog values had a bearish effect on provisions.

DUN'S REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say: The movement of commodity prices remains the outstanding phase of the business situation, having overshadowed other trends since the new year opened. Still lower levels have been reached by various articles. There being a continued case of declines, and both raw materials and manufactured products have been affected. Sharper competition for orders is a future comment upon more generally, yet it is significant that the price easing has been mainly gradual, and signs of resistance to further concessions are beginning to appear in some markets. This condition is reflected in Dun's current list of wholesale quotations, which shows a decided narrowing of the margin of reduction over advances.

Weekly bank clearings $8,932,364, 699, decrease of one half of one per cent from last year.

BEGIN CONSTRUCTION
MEXICO ORIENT R. R.LINE WILL CONNECT RIO GRANDE
VALLEY WITH CHIHUAHUA
CITY

Special to The Avalanche
PRESIDIO, Feb. 11.—Actual construction of the Kansas City-Mexico and Orient Railway from Chihuahua City, Mexico, to the Rio Grande river here is now in progress. Contract has just been let to the firm of Terrazas and Associates, of Chihuahua City, for the last gap of the railroad in Mexico for the seventy-eight kilometers from Las Norias, Mexico, to the banks of the Rio Grande. The survey has been complete from Alpine to Presidio and letting of the contract is expected as soon as decision reached definitely as to the route to be traversed to this point.

The Orient now has a line operating from Wichita, Kansas, direct to Alpine, Texas, and has another line running north from Chihuahua City in Mexico. Construction of the road from Alpine to Presidio and from Presidio to Las Norias will complete the gap and will afford a through connection to Mexico City. The two gaps to be completed will total approximately one hundred and fifty miles of new road. An international bridge will be constructed across the river by the Orient from Presidio to Ojinaga.

This project was contemplated by the Orient when the road was first built. However the war and other conditions forced postponement of the actual construction until the present time. Flourishing conditions of the Orient due to oil activity in West Texas and to valuable oil concessions recently made to the road by the Mexican government have made construction of the road possible.

This railroad is expected to bring great development to this section of Texas. The road will connect with Dallas, Fort Worth and other Texas centers at railroads in San Angelo and Sweetwater. Announcement of the letting of the contract has brought great activity to Presidio and other points along the route.

SLATON SCOUT DRIVETEAMS KEEP AT WORK TO RAISE QUOTA FOR BOYS' HOW-EVER

Special to The Avalanche
SLATON, Feb. 11.—Preparatory to finishing a drive for Slaton's quota in the expense budget of the South Plains Area Council Boy Scouts of America for the year 1927, Joe C. Campbell, Deputy Regional Executive of Boy Scouts, Dallas, Texas, K. N. Clapp, Lubbock scoutmaster, H. B. Palmer, South Plains scout executive, A. B. Davis, secretary of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and a number of the leading business and professional men of Slaton held a meeting here Monday morning to discuss plans for the work. A town and community-wide program was planned to be held at the Methodist church on Tuesday night following.

At Tuesday night's meeting, a small representation of Slaton people attended the program, large numbers being kept away by the exceedingly inclement weather. Troop No. 1, of the Slaton Scouts in charge of Scoutmaster J. B. Caldwell, attended the meeting in a body and gave several demonstrations of what Boy Scouts learn in the first few months of training. This troop was organized only about three months ago. They are doing fine work under the splendid leadership of their able director who is the principal of the West Ward school here.

L. S. Harkey, of Lubbock, scout enthusiast, attended the meeting Tuesday night and delivered an address on scouting. Lubbock scouts accompanying Mr. Harkey demonstrated what older scouts can do, scouts who have had many months of training. In the words of J. W. Hood, chairman of the committee on boys work from the Slaton Rotary Club, and who presided at the meeting, the demonstration from the respective scouts of Slaton and of Lubbock showed conditions before and after taking.

Local pastors, the Reverends J. W. Willbanks, B. G. Holloway, W. M. Lane and M. G. French, made short talks to encourage scout work at Tuesday night's program.

It was intended to conduct the finishing work of the drive for funds early Wednesday, but because of very bad weather it was postponed.

An London 250,000 students, aged 14 to 20, attend municipal night schools.

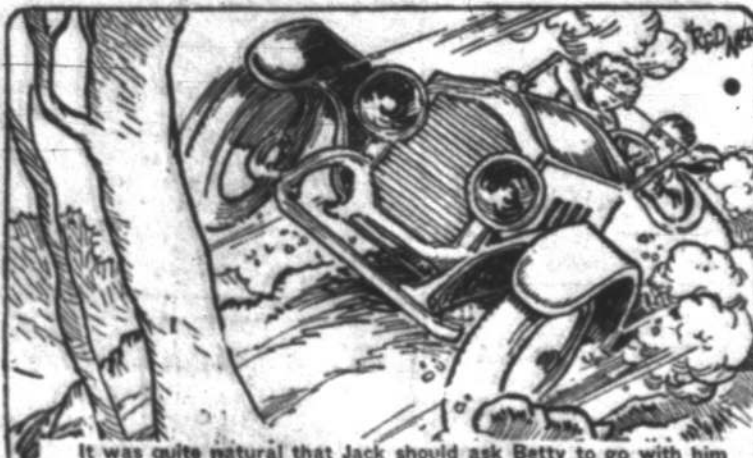

The freshmen gave a blow-out in the banquet hall of the leading hotel in town, safely locked in from attacks by the disappointed sophomores. There were songs and toasts and speeches. When the toastmaster called on Jack to speak he presented him as "the Egg Beater." That brought a roar of applause. Jack was happy, for it seemed to him that at last he had been accepted by his class.

The Bad Egg jimmied open a window of the garage where Jack kept his car. Using his flashlight to work by, he tampered with the steering gear of Jack's car, leaving it so that it was likely to drop apart any time.

When the sophomores finally saw there was no way to break up the celebration, they slowly dispersed. McNally was the last one to give up. He slipped away, obtained a flashlight and a chisel that could be used as a jimmy, and set off alone.

It was quite natural that Jack should ask Betty to go with him on an auto ride. It was also quite natural, when they were in the open country with a good strip of road ahead, for him to step on the gas. "I know Tom McNally hit you purposely, Jack," said Betty, "and—" Just then the steering gear gave way. The roadster swerved, left the road, and plunged down an embankment.
