Talco Oilers Beat Fulbright 15-6

By CLAUDE PARR

Talco Oilers, under the plate work of J. P. James and Parish, took the Fulbright nine to the cleaners Sunday at Oiler park. Fulbright was the first to score, on a hit by pitched ball and two errors. The Oilers were still in the spirit, with two men out Parish singled to left and scored on a triple by Jones.

In the third Parish again singled and scored on Jones' single, who in turn scored on the center fielder's error. The Oilers also took one in each of the 4th, 5th and 6th. In the seventh the big boom came; M. Pittman reached first on an error; J. Jones, took first on an error, Sikes also got on base on an error, Westbrook and Parish singled and J. P. Jones slammed one against the right field fence for a home run. Thus made six runs off three hits in the 7th.

The Oilers took three more in the 8th on two hits, one walk and an error.

Fulbright scored two in the 9th on one hit, two hit by pitched ball and one walk.

Scoring by pitchers:

Johnson gave up 6 hits, 4 walks, took 14 strike-outs and hit 3 batters.

Pleasant and Mrs. Gladys Hardy, California; three brothers, L. C. Owings, Houston and Reuben and Milford Owings, Dallas, and an uncle, Arthur Dismukes, Commerce. Fresh Norther Brings Rain and Cooler Weather

A fresh norther that dropped temperatures from 95 to 70, and brought half an inch of rain arrived Wednesday afternoon to relieve a parched earth with all vegetation, except cotton, crying for moisture.

Some kind of a record was established by a southwest wind that blew at about 25 miles an hour for five consecutive days up until Wednesday evening. It sapped moisture and damaged the tomato crop.

This area could use more moisture, but is thankful for that which did fall.

Farmers are up with field work, and hay baling and tomato to harvest is well underway. Some have reported insects in their cotton but not enough for poisoning. A general, good, soaking rain is needed to keep crops growing and help truck crop production.

New Wildcat Well For North Hopkins

Drillers for Shell broke tower Sunday on a wildcat oil test in northern Hopkins County, just west of the Franklin County line and south of the new farm to market road. Some reports say it will be a deep test.

A driller named Bailey drilled two dry holes in the vicinity back in the boom days, but his bit went to 3,000 and 3,400 feet, according to R. S. Welborn of Talco.

Paluxy is 4100 feet at Talco and a little deeper at Sulphur Bluff, but the elevation is greater at Sulphur Bluff.

Playground of Rich Open to Public

Jekyll Island, Ga. — A once-exclusive playground for millionaires, famed Jekyll Island, was opened Saturday to plain, work-aday citizens.

The first guests to visit the secluded isle, as it come under state control, had a chance to see how former owners lived, in palatial homes and complete privacy.

They discovered that William Rockefeller vacationed in a gray-shingled 12-room cottage elaborately furnished in teakwood and mahogany with turkey velvet carpeting laid wall-to-wall thruout—even in the bathrooms.

Railroad Magnate Frank Gould spent $200,000 to build a vacation retreat and then another $50,000 for a playhouse for the children.

The Cranes, of the well-known plumbing family, had an Italian villa with twenty-eight bedrooms for the family and guests, fifteen rooms for servants and a grand total of twenty-five elaborately appointed bathrooms. Ancient suits of armor stand guard over feudal fireplaces and stairways.

Only three of the mansions on this long-ago hideout for pirates, recently purchased by the state for $675,000, are now open for inspection. The island hotel and guest house lodged 300, as the resort was opened for visitors. Rates range from $5 to $7 a day, including three meals.

Wild boars on the island, descendants of animals presented to J. P. Morgan by Kaiser Wilhelm, have multiplied to such an extent that organized boar hunts are planned.

It Pays to Advertise.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

BURT LOCKHART
in Pittsburg Gazette

Who would have believed a few years ago that baby-sitting would become a profession?

This is a brand new world, but so much of the polish has been rubbed off you can hardly believe it.

Our tax collecting agencies don't seem to be as much interested in what people think as in what they pay.

Now that man can fly faster than sound travels, something has at last been devised that can outfly a rumor.

Instead of reducing the payroll, Washington is increasing the roll 650 a day. Lest we forget. this is election year.

Auto makers say it will take two years to catch up with back orders. By that time we will be ready to start all over again.

After all, fighting a cold war with cold cash is better than fighting it the usual way. The only one hurt is the tax-payer.

As the state campaign warms up, the candidates are becoming more and more affectionate toward Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Q. Public.

The horse and buggy days were those when people had no place to go but home, and when nobody died of high blood pressure.

Sunday lost much of its significance when church bells were hauled down from their belfries. At least, that is what an old-timer thinks of it.

"I had always been told that the woman pays," says our reader up the street, "but since I got married I am reminded every first of the month that it is the man that pays."

Every time we look at the thermometer we are reminded of the good old days in January and February when we sat by the gas stove and sighed for the good old summer time.

If the "Voice of America" is to go around the world, our government should see to it that the voice is that of a loyal American who is acquainted with history and truth. In view of the recent broadcasts to South America, it might be in order for Congress to issue a medal to the sender for inexcusable stupidity.

Need Volunteers For Talco Living Blood Bank

To date there have been only 21 persons who have turned in their names as volunteers for the Talco Living Blood Bank. At least three times this many names will be needed if we wish to have a sufficient number to meet any emergency.

The aim of the sponsors of this bank is to obtain a list of the names of people who would be willing to give a pint of blood in an emergency. No blood will be taken now or at any future time unless it is badly needed by a citizen of Talco.

The offices of the Talco High School, Humble Camp, and Dr. Miller will maintain the list of names. When an emergency arises and blood is needed, it can be quickly obtained by calling one of the above named offices.

Anyone who would like to add his or her name to the list of volunteers may do by writing or calling Humble Camp office, Mrs. Hopwood, or Dr. Miller. We would like to have your name, the number of the telephone where you can be reached, and your blood type. If you do not know the type of your blood, you may have it typed free of charge at Dr. Miller's office.

Low Bidders on Two Highways in Lamar County

Low bidders are listed by the State Highway Commission ofr two highways in Lamar County:

U. S. 82, 9.5 miles grading, structures and concrete pavement from Twentieth Street in Paris to .28 mile east of Blossom; L. H. Lacy Company, Dallas, $1,001,235.

State 24, 11 miles of reconditioning base and surfacing from Paris to .5 mile north of Delta County line. Austin Road Co., Dallas, $214,775.

If it is true that we get back only $1 for every $15 we pay to the government, why are so many people deluded into believing they are getting something for nothing when Uncle Sam mails them a check?

The cost of government is just ten times more than it was at end of the first world war, a little matter of four billion dollars vs. forty billions. Will the bookkeepers in Washington charge most of this up to politics?

Congress is about to pass a bill permitting 200,000 European refugees to come to America. After all, it might be cheaper for them to come here than for us to continue sending money and shiploads of supplies to them.

(12) "Once saved, always saved"	(12) "Must be faihtful" (Rev. 2:10); "must not neglect' (Heb. 2:3).

God's way is right. Let us cleave to it, and reject the ways of men.

Tracks in Snow Foil Attempted Burglary

Marshal Follows Footprints and Corners Two Robbers

KREMMLING, COLO. — Two would-be bank robbers sat in jail, contemplating how their failure to note local weather conditions spoiled their chance of getting away with $21,000 from the Bank of Kremmling.

One of them, Ervin W. Margerum, 42, likewise had an aching head. His companion, Harold Payne, 35, had some painful bruises. Both are from Omaha.

Their designs on the bank went awry when City Marshal C. H. Van Pelt happened to notice that two sets of footprints in the new snow went toward the bank but did not come back.

Van Pelt followed to prints to the bank's rear door. It had been jimmied but was closed. He heard the thieves head for the door. The marshal, who is 40, stands 6 foot 11 inches and weighs 200 pounds, stepped to one side of the door and swung at the first man.

That was Margerum. The blow connected solidly on his jaw and he went down unconscious. Van Pelt hit him so hard that he sprained his own ankle as his body twisted with the force of the haymaker.

Payne leaped over his fallen accomplice and raced to their car. Van Pelt and a friend, Pete Engle, jumped into another automobile and ran Payne into a ditch on the outskirts of town.

Van Pelt found $21,474 stuffed into two zippered bags the men dropped when Margerum was hit. They had drilled through three and one-half feet of masonry into the vault.

Ex-Captive Traps Escaped German Prisoner of War

ST. LOUIS.—Rudolph von Hyeburg, escaped German prisoner of war, is in custody of the FBI after two years of freedom.

He was the victim of the photographic memory of a St. Louis ex-G.I. who had himself been a prisoner of the Germans.

Gerald Norris, FBI agent, identified the former P.O.W. who brought about Hyeburg's capture only as "a very alert citizen." He said the informant had a sandwich and a cup of coffee in the restaurant where Hyeburg worked, drove to the federal building to post a package, and recognized his face in a "wanted" poster.

THE WAGGONER RANCH

The magnitude of the ranch of the late W. T. Waggoner, reputed to have been the richest man west of the Mississippi River, is illustrated by this story:

Two men were talking and, when one of them mentioned a county, the other asked:

"Where is that?"

Bogata Now Has Plenty of Water For All Purposes

Bogata's new water well, capable of supplying from 80 to 82 gallons per minute, was put into operation last Friday, after the new line had been flushed out.

A seven and a half horsepower motor operates a pump capable of handling 100 gallons a minute. The new well is located on Highway 271, southeast of Bogata, at the small park.

"Bogata now has all the water the town will need for some time unless the water table weakens," W. C. Kelley, water superintendent told The News.

Until the new well was drilled by the Layne Co., all of Bogata's water came from several large, shallow wells on the city property at the park and community house.

With the growth of the city and constantly increasing demands made upon water supply, that time came several years ago when the wells would not meet the demand. Had a bad fire occurred during a dry summer period, there would not have been sufficient water with which to have fought it.

It is a great relief to know the city now has plenty of water for all purposes.

Cancer Kills Doctor Who Devised Test for Disease

OMAHA, NEB.—Dr. Albert M. Harris, 35, who developed a simple and inexpensive test for discovering cancer, died of the disease without knowing his own body had given a positive reaction to the test.

When the test was announced in the South Dakota Journal of Medicine and Pharmacy, Harris was suffering from a malignant brain tumor.

A month before his death, Harris used the test on himself. The result was negative. However, when he became ill and was admitted to Sioux Valley hospital at Sioux Falls, where he practiced, the test was made again. This time it was positive, indicating the possibility of cancer.

Associates said Harris never inquired about outcome of the test and died without knowing it had proved successful in his own body.

Girl, 13, Cleared in Slaying Of Father After Quarrel

SAPULPA, Okla.—Della Hubanks, 13-year-old junior high school pupil, was cleared of a charge of murder in the shotgun slaying of her father, Ed Hubanks, at their home in Oakhurst.

County Attorney G. B. Coryell dropped the charge at a brief preliminary hearing before County Judge C. S. Cunningham. Sheriff Guy Willoughby said the girl told him she squeezed the trigger when the father walked toward her mother with a hammer and threatened to kill her.

Editor's note: Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur, probably is looking at the radio situation from the wrong angle, which isn't the first time he has looked from that position.

Dear Editar: While I don't depend much on my radio to keep me posted on world events, due to the fact a radio ain't designed particularly for a reflective mind like a newspaper is, as absorbin information ain't like choppin cotton and one time ain't as good as another to do it in, you got to be in the right mood. With a radio though you have to listen right then, when the announcer is givin the news, or you miss it, but with a newspaper you can lay back on the bank in the shade and rest, fold it over your face to keep off the gnats, doze awhile, and wake up and it's still there and you can pick up the news whenever you feel like getting around to it and your mind is fresh.

But I do listen to the radio occasionally, pickin up a political address now and then, and it's handy to have around to turn up loud when your wife is givin instructions or commentin on all the repairs the place needs or how well the neighbors is doin and their crops is clean, and I was surprised at all the fuss stirred up over the kind of broadcasts the Voice of America has been sendin to them South American countries.

As I understand it, Congress was in a uproar because the programs was silly, full of nonsense, written by amateurs, and full of untruths, and what I want to know is why the uproar? Are them South American countries any better than we are? If we can stand them kinds of programs day in and day out, 365 days a year, they ought to be able to stand 'em once a week.

I say they ought to be treated just like the folks at home. Ain't entitled to no better programs than we get. We ought to send 'em the same stuff we get, and even throw in a few broadcasts from political candidates. Ain't nobody in South America no better'n we are.

If the Republicans and the Democrats expect me to listen in to their convention programs, they better finance me a new battery for my radio, but do you hear any Congressman or Senator gettin in a uproar about my plight? Yours faithfully, A. A.

Gander's Life Is Happy One

AUSTIN. — Texas Game and Fish credits this wildlife essay to an unnamed Texas school child:

"Geese is a low heavy bird which is most meat and feathers. Geese can't sing much on account of the dampness of the water. He ain't got no between-his-toes and he's got a little balloon in his stummick to keep from sinking.

"Some geese when they are big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't have to sit and hatch, but just eat and loaf around and go swimming.

"If I was a geese I'd rather be a gander."

HOW BIG IS TEXAS?

Farms are so big in Texas that on one of them a man starts out in the spring and plows a straight furrow right on through until fall and then he harvests back.

On the biggest farms, a young married couple will go out to milk the cows and their children come back with the milk.

There was one farm that had such a big crop that they stacked all the wheat out-of-doors that there was room for and then put the rest in the barn.

LOOKING AHEAD

The preacher had quarreled with his congregation, but now he was leaving and had just preached his last sermon.

"What a beautiful and appropriate farewell sermon," remarked a visitor to one of the deacons.

"Think so?" grunted the deacon.

"Yes, indeed," insisted the other. "And such a suitable text: 'In my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you.' By the way, where is he going?"

The deacon smiled.

"He's to be chaplain at the state penitentiary," he replied.

TAKING IT LITERALLY

When Bill Smith applied for a driver's license in Detroit's crowded license bureau, an officer hastily thrust a paper across the desk.

"Write your last name first and your first name last," he said hurriedly.

"How's that again, sir?" asked Smith, somewhat confused.

"Like I said," replied the cop. "Backward."

Work Underway To Conserve Soil Red River County

The Board of Supervisors recently approved conservation plans worked out on the following farms: M. K. Russell, in the Kickapoo Creek conservation group; John C. Hamilton, in the English conservation group; Jno. H. Moore, in the Rugby conservation group; Moody Hale, in the Whiteman Chapel conservation group; J. N. Childres, in the Lone Star conservation group; Arch Scott, in the West Clarksville conservation group; E. A. Hays, in the Birmingham conservation group and J. K. Evans in the Bagwell conservation group. These conservation plans are complete coordinated soil conservation plans worked out by the landowners with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service.

Several district cooperators are looking ahead and are making plans toward constructing terraces this fall. To be ready to construct terraces this fall they have been shaping and sodding outlet waterways where the terraces are to empty. Some of the cooperators who have been shaping and sodding outlet waterways include Melvin Hines, Edd Conerly, Enos Elder, J. A. Castleman and M. K. Russell. Several other district cooperators plan on shaping and sodding outlet waterways as soon as weather permits them to do so.

A. C. Everett, in the Midway conservation group, recently constructed a large pond in one of his pastures for stock water. Mr. Everett has his pastures cross-fenced to enable him to rotate the grazing from one pasture to the other and is providing plenty of water in each of the pastures for his cattle.

It is time to cut the first cutting of sericea lespedeza for hay. Several cooperators have been waiting for a break in the weather to cut their sericea. Some of these cooperators include: O. B. Stroope, O. C. Haynes, Fred Jones, Dr. R. W. Payne, Roy Kelley and Homer Nichols. Sericea makes fine hay and just as good as alfalfa but should be cut before it reaches a height of not more than 15 inches.

Elwin D. Butler, Agricultural Engineer with the Soil Conservation Service, has recently completed drainage plans on 70 acres of bottom land on the Maclin Atkinson farm in the Kiomatia conservation group. Mr. Atkinson, using large maintainer has already completed constructing these drain ditches on 50 acres and will complete the remainder as weather permits.

Only the Beginning

Some of the people supporting proposed "federal aid" to education bills admit frankly that these represent only a beginning. Once the principle has been adopted, they say, increasing amounts could be expected. Those acquainted with the way federal projects grow and grow and grow, would naturally expect this to happen. Within a decade the federal government would be carrying the chief burden of public education.

Is this bad? Just to suggest the idea is to show the danger. Decisions of policy for public education would be made on the national level. After such nationalization of the public schools, it would be easy to obtain legislation requiring all students to attend public schools for "national indoctrination" purposes. This is exactly the type of thing we decry in Russia. These were the methods that made millions of school children just like Hitler and Mussolini wanted them.

How to Control

To favor federal aid is to argue for the exchange of our present public school system, with locally controlled public schools operating alongside many private and church related schools, for a nationally financed and nationally controlled educational system. No two ways about it, federal aid would mean undesirable federal controls.

Controls do go along with financial assistance, and our federal government has no record to the contrary. In fact, the Supreme Court of the United States has already declared, in the case of farm subsidies, that the federal government may control that which it subsidizes.

Political Spoils

When we recall powerful influences within our own generation to get political influence into nearly every American institution, it doesn't take much imagination to see federal control of the American school system following any general aid program. We can all remember when, at election time, WPA workers were told: "Remember who your friends are" when you vote.

Dependence upon Washington sets up a political system, super-deluxe model. I would look upon the nationalization of American education, which could be expected to follow federal aid bills, as a decisive step in the development of a totalitarian state. Should America nationalize her education, it is my conviction that full nationalization of industry, distribution, and agriculture would follow within a generation.

Let's Keep Freedom

We must remember that the one nation in the recent war which was able to arm itself against the axis powers was not a socialized state. The one nation that was able to lend arms to its allies was not a socialized state. The one country now being called upon to help all the rest of the world is not a socialized nation. The one nation now providing the greatest educational system the world has ever seen is America.

I am not one of those who believe that in order to remain great we must discard suddenly the methods and principles by which we became great. Two years after England started nationalizing her industries she was forced to vote power to the government to tell her citizens where to work and what to do! We want none of this. But, if we nationalize education through so-called federal aid, we will get all of these ills and more!

No Standard Formula for Being Happy, But These May Assist

There is no standard formula for everybody for being happy, but if we understand certain fundamentals we can probably be happier than we are," says Dr. Martin Gumpert.

"I have observed that there are some characteristics of behavior which are common denominators of the happiest people. I can call them 'Ten Essentials of Happiness, Here they are, in the form of questions only you can answer:

"1. Are you able to be alone with yourself? A happy human is able to enjoy his own companionship and be alone without being lonesome.

"2. Are you doing what you want to do? It is one of your most important tasks to find out—and in time—what you want to get out of life. And when, with the help of constructive experience, study and inclination, you recognize a worth-while aim, it is never too late to make a radical change.

3. Do you have curiosity? Life is a gift of unending richness. Only by constantly altering and adapting our habits and techniques can we achieve improvement and progress.

4. Are you healthy? Well-being is based on the intimate knowledge of one's own physical and mental requirements and capacities.

5. Have you stopped learning? The faculty of learning is one of the most precious gifts of civilization, and it should never be given up as long as life lasts. Nobody is too old, too tired, too weak or even too unintelligent not to be able to enrich his treasure of knowledge every single day of his existence.

"6. Do you have enough money? Try to accumulate enough to buy what you really want—but don't want too much. The feeling that you can change your home, your job, your clothes, that you can eat a pound of caviar if you should want to, gives a pleasant sense of independence, makes you in a way equal to the richest man on earth.

"7. Do you like people? We need people as they need us. Only when you like others will others like you. And nothing is more important in your relationship to others than a strong, frank sense of humor.

"8. Are you in love? Constant alertness, to conform, to repeat, to rejuvenate the adventure of love, brings more happiness than almost anything else.

"9. Are you developing your abilities? Some of us may be limited in abilities and talents. But by using and developing what we have to the limit we will lead a fuller and happier life than the lazy genius who neglects his gifts.

"10. Do you have a clear conscience? It is a great step toward inner freedom when we unburden our troubled, anxious minds."

Dr. J. A. Wood Former Bogata Man, Dead

Dr. J. A. Wood of Jacksboro, passed away Monday night at his home after a long illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Perin. Bogata relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Childers and Buck and Bob Childers.

Dr. Wood spent his boyhood days near Bogata. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Ada Smith., eight children, 17 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

These sisters: Mrs. Nora Allums, Johntown; Mrs. M. E. Childers, Bogata; Mrs. Alice Hamilton, Texarkana; Mrs. Mary Bridges, Bagwell; brothers: Dr. I. B. Wood, Lubbock; Dr. D. R. Wood, Olney; W. A. Wood and Charlie Wood, Perin.

He was a member of the Baptist Church and the Masonic Lodge. He had just recently completed a new clinic at Jacksboro.

Prompt Renewals Insure Missing No Editions

Subscribers to this newspaper are always notified two weeks before their subscriptions become delinquent, and due to the shortage of newsprint, none are sent after the time paid for has expired.

It is also the policy of the paper to date all new subscriptions on the first of the month. If they arrive from the 1st to the 14th they are dated back; if they arrive after the 14th they are dated ahead to the 1st of the next month. Kindly remember this in case your expiration date does not agree with the exact date you ordered the paper.

The best way is to renew promptly before the time paid for has expired, and you will not miss any editions and the date of your subscription will not change.

We appreciate very much the large subscription patronage we enjoy, and often wonder why a subscriber fails to renew. With the high cost of newsprint, printing materials and labor, it certainly is not because he is not getting his money's worth. Procrastination and forgetfulness account for about 99 per cent of those who miss editions, due to being delinquent.

Mrs. Sam Harris Buried Sunday Detroit Cemetery

Mrs. Sam Harris, 67, formerly Miss Agnes Wilson, who died early Sunday, was buried that afternoon in the cemetery at Detroit. The Rev. Joe Everhart officiated. Pallbearers were Jim Hoffman, Peyton West, Kelsey Dick, Bill Latimer, Frank Fowler, Bob Benningfield, Thomas Crittenden and Van Morgan.

Mrs. Harris, who died Sunday in St. Michael's Hospital, Texarkana, at 2 a. m., was born at Fulbright, April 9, 1881, daughter of Ed and Marian Dick Wilson. She was married to Mr. Harris at Detroit in 1904.

Surviving are her husband; two children, Mrs. Evelyn Ward, Los Angeles, Calif., and Sam Harris Jr., Denver, Colo., and three brothers, T. D. Wilson, Texarkana; Prentice Wilson, Dallas, and Will Wilson, Fulbright.

Wasteful spending of money by Congress in staggering proportions is the thorn in the side of the American taxpayer. Congress does little to remove the thorn or relieve the pain.

Dr. Henry Smith 93, Detroit, Dies

Dr. Henry R. Smith, 93, Detroit and Woodland physician 66 years, died Monday at 8:45 a. m. at Watson's Convalescent Home, Paris. Born in London, England, July 10, 1854, he came to the United States when he was three years old. He was a graduate of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., where he also did post-graduate work.

The funeral and burial were Tuesday at Detroit. His wife, the former Miss Fannie Parks, died in 1914. He leaves one daughter, Miss Frances EuJean Smith, Detroit. Mrs. Henry Richard Smith, Clarksville, is a daughter-in-law.

Churches of Detroit and its American Legion Post are providing a play grounds and community center for the children of that area. Mrs. R. G. Norris supplied the land and provision is being made for a tennis court, croquet ground, horse-shoes pitching, table tennis and pingpong, the churches furnishing lights for night games.

Texas Press Holds Annual Meet At San Antonio

This editor and Mrs. Holloway were in San Antonio last week to attend the annual convention of the Texas Press Association which was held in the Alamo City. For 35 years he has made it a prartice to attend every gathering of newspapermen he could. Many of them are a lot smarter than he is and if they had better ways of doing the job he wanted to learn about them. Fact is he joined the Texas Press Association at its meeting in San Antonio in 1913, and has, with the exception of three years, never missed a meeting. Twice he was too ill to attend and shortage of help kept him at home the third time.

This year it was a most enjoyable meeting, and men who have done outstanding jobs in various phases of newspaper work, told how they did it. These speakers were imported from several Texas cities, various states and one from London, England. Socialist government in that country has created a deplorable state of affairs. Lynn Landrum, Thinking Out Loud columnist of the Dallas News, delivered an outstanding address, as did Ralph Nicholson, publisher of the New Orleans Item.

It was a "working" convention so far as business programs were concerned, along with some entertainment. There were two luncheons, and a side trip to the Banders dude ranches, a barbecue, rodeo and western style dance.

Among resolutions adopted was one demanding that every elective officer holder in Texas be required by legislation to publish an annual audit of all funds received and disbursed by his office, including personal income.

At the closing business session Saturday Robert Matherne, of the Baytown Sun, was elected president to succeed Paul M. Fulks, of the Wolfe City Sun; Van W. Steward of the Ochiltree County Herald, Perryton, vice-president; Addison Buckner, San Marcos Record, secretary-treasurer to succeed long-time Secretary Deskins Wells of the Wellington Leader, who retired from the position, and named Brad Smith, Weslaco News; William Rawland, Cleburne Times Review, and Richard Dwelle, Kermit County News, to the board of directors.

The board of directors voted to move the central office managed by Vernon T. Sanford from Dallas to Austin.

The reason so many people act foolish is because the radio companies send them handsome checks.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY...

Telephone service isn't a 9 to 5 service. It is one of the few services in the world that are always available to the public... twenty-four hours a day, Sundays and holidays.

In an emergency, one's first thought is of the telephone as this is one service that can never let down. The sense of security your telephone affords is based on the confidence you have in the integrity and dependability of the company and its employees. To maintain the service you expect, it is necessary that we continually improve and expand the existing facilities.

Improvements and Expansion Cost Money!

The Policy of The Southwestern States Telephone Company is to render the highest type of telephone service at the lowest possible cost. Increased costs of living has necessitated payroll boosts of more than 200% during the past decade. Almost all materials used in telephone maintenance and for extensions have increased from 25% to 100% since the war. With the urgent demands now prevailing for telephones, it is imperative to make tremendous cash outlays for plant expansions. We are making plant expansions as rapidly as equipment and material delivery schedules will permit.

Because of increased operating costs and the wide plant expansion program now in progress, telephone rates are not sufficient to adequately cover these costs. It is absolutely essential that nothing should hinder telephone service you have a right to expect, and telephone service depends entirely upon revenue.

Noted Flyer Warns About Loafing

Eddie Rickenbacker, the famous World War I flyer, was in San Antonio one day last week and warned his audience at a Lions Club luncheon that the "United States may find itself in a gutter with the rest of the world if we continue attempets to raise the standard of living of other nations to our own standards." If we continue to give away our resources, we will lower our standard of living to theirs in one generation or less.

"The idea that everybody can get something for nothing is what is wrong with the world. They say the high cost of living is what's wrong with America, but I say it's the high cost of loafing."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

They let the Wives in!

The ex-GI's of our town entertained their wives the other night at one of their "feeds" of hamburger sandwiches and ice cold beer. (The girls had hinted that they'd like to see what went on when their husbands got together!)

Being wary, the boys provided chicken sandwiches and cake and cider—for those wives who might have other tastes. But though they were grateful for the choice, most of the wives agreed that hamburger sandwiches and beer were a mighty pleasant combination.

After the "feed" the husbands took their wives on at a game of darts, and later they played "Indications." The party broke up around ten, with the boys agreeing that it was mighty successful.

From where I sit, it's this companionship among young couples today, and their moderation in a sensible beverage like beer, that's won the younger generation such a wholesome reputation.

Boys Awarded Registered Pigs

Red River County Agent Herman Lynch announces that nine 4-H Club boys have been awarded registered pigs by the Sears Foundation for 1948. Winners were determined on the basis of essays written on swine raising and interest in this branch of the livestock industry. One boar and eight gilts were distributed. The service of the boar will be available for each of the gilts. Each owner of a gilt will turn one female hog back to the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for distribution in 1949. The choicest gilt in each litter will become the property of the Foundation, making the program continuous.

Pigs awarded in the 1948 program will be exhibited at a special 4-H swine show in Clarksville next fall.

OBLIGING

"Look Mother," said little Willie, proudly exhibiting a handful of marbles, "I won all these from Bobby Smith."

"Why, Willie!" exclaimed his mother, "don't you know it's wicked to play marbles for keeps? Go right over to Bobbie's house and give him back every one of his marbles!"

"Yes, mother," said the boy obediently, "and shall I take that vase you won at Mrs. Smith's bridge party and give it back to her?"
