Nazi Plot To Kill Eisenhower Foiled

Abortive Scheme Is Revealed After Capture Of Gestapo's Hatchet Man

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, May 17—A winter plot to assassinate Gen. Eisenhower, one of the European theater's top military secrets for months, was disclosed today with the capture of a giant professional political kidnapper, Lt. Col. Otto Skorzeny.

The fact that Skorzeny, 35-year-old Austrian hatchetman for Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler, had been taken prisoner by the U. S. Seventh Army was confirmed by SHAEF.

He Freed Mussolini

Skorzeny, 6 feet 4 inches tall, leader of the raiding party which freed Benito Mussolini from Allied custody in Italy in September, 1943, was captured in the Arl valley by men of the 15th regiment of the Third division. He had been picked up once before in a surrender and then turned loose by a soldier who failed to recognize his importance.

His picked gang of assassins kept the whole Western front in a state of alert for months last winter during and after the Ardennes battle, for the group had the mission of assassinating Eisenhower.

Previously, Skorzeny had won Himmler's attention by planning and carrying out the kidnap-rescue of Benito Mussolini. He also was credited with kidnaping Admiral Horthy during the Hungarian crisis.

Until today, Skorzeny was the top secret on the SHAEF security list. Most of this story except his capture was submitted to censorship last February and was held by authorities until this release.

In preparation for the Ardennes offensive, the Nazis set up a special school near Berlin last September, three months before the attack was scheduled.

They then sent a call out through the Army for all German soldiers of adventurous character who spoke English, either with an American or British accent.

At the same time they ordered all captured American equipment and uniforms to be sent to the school.

Weeded To Battalion

After weeks of training by the SS, the men selected from the Army were weeded down to a battalion. All those discarded were threatened with death if they ever revealed a word of what went on.

The selected battalion was headed by Skorzeny on personal orders of Hitler and Himmler.

The battalion was broken up into task forces. The missions of these forces were varied. All had American or British uniforms and American equipment. Some were merely to infiltrate American lines in jeeps with radio and report back troop dispositions.

Other and stronger forces were to come into American lines with American tanks and attack American positions in the rear.

But special small groups of desperate men were sent deep into rear areas with missions to commit major sabotage and assassinate key American generals.

Skorzeny Trigger Man

Skorzeny himself was believed to have the mission of killing the supreme Allied commander.

Luckily, early in the Ardennes battle, American troops captured a small party of these men and in rigid questioning learned the general plan and took steps to thwart it.

The solution was typically American. It was obvious that regular passwords were useless so road blocks were thrown up in every rear area from Belgium to Paris. Guards, instead of asking the pass word, stuck tommyguns into automobiles and asked such questions as:

"Who sleeps with Jiggs?" "Who is Pruneface?" "Who is called the 'voice'?"

Anything typically American in slang or custom was used and the Germans, not up to date on the American comics or swing music, were dead pigeons.

The deepest penetration made by any Germans was by a party of four.

They were picked up in Liege. They carried small vials of acid to throw in their captors' faces but never had a chance to use them.

The Americans also obtained a description of Skorzeny. He is six foot four inches tall with a duelling scar across his face. He spoke some Italian but no English. The captured Germans said it was Skorzeny's plan to have a mixed party of Germans dressed in American and German uniforms and when stopped, those in American uniforms would say they were taking high German officers to SHAEF for questioning.

In this way they hoped to get close enough to Eisenhower to kill him.

The party never turned up and it was presumed that the plan was discarded because Skorzeny found out that it was not succeeding.

WHY OKINAWA GAINS ARE MEASURED IN YARDS — You don't measure gains on Okinawa in miles; you get down to bitterly-contested yards, feet and inches. Reason is the intricate system of pillboxes and caves set on every ridge in the southern section of the island. Fanatical Japs, holding out to the last man, must be exterminated as shown above, where soldiers of the U. S. Tenth Army's 27th Division stand outside a pillbox with rifles ready. One of them prepares to toss in another genade, after previous blast had blown out the Japs whose bodies lie before entrance to tomb used as pillbox.

Courage Of Crew Brings Carrier Back In One Of Most Heroic Episodes In Pacific

(By The Associated Press)

PEARL HARBOR, April 7 (Delayed)—Darting from a cloud dead ahead of a fast carrier task force only 63 miles from Japan, a Japanese dive bomber struck the U. S. aircraft carrier Franklin and set off one of this war's greatest episodes of heroic action.

In the next 10 hours almost 100 tons of explosives and many thousands of gallons of aviation gasoline were fired and shook the great carrier as she steamed out of control straight for Japan.

She suffered between 1,000 and 1,200 casualties, or more than one-third of her men, and she was attacked five more times by Nip dive bombers attempting to "finish off the cripple."

But she escaped and finally reached an American port to have her hurts repaired, to "convalesce" and to get ready to fight her enemies again.

Crew's Courage Praised

To explain the miracle of this to an American who never has seen one of his nation's great carriers in battle action is difficult. The miracle is that any ship could live through three days of such terrific pounding and fires. For a carrier, and suckler of aircraft—a mass of metal and a maze of delicate instruments packaging an arsenal of explosives of high octane gasoline—to achieve it is a testimonial to the ruggedness of American ships and the courage of the men who man them.

There probably will be no greater story written of individual bravery in this war than those of the men of the Franklin who defied the bursting bombs, the blazing gasoline and the Japanese; declined to abandon ship and finally brought the Franklin through, battle-scarred and flame seared on every inch of her upper decks, but with her band playing "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used to Be."

Her beloved chaplain, Lt. Cmdr. Joseph Timothy O'Callahan, "that Irishman from Boston," and Lt. (jg) Donald A. Gary of Oakland, Calif., both performed almost superhuman feats of bravery during three days and nights that virtually were without sleep.

Captain's Bravery Noted

And her captain, L. E. Gehres of Coronado, Calif., who calls Father Timothy "the bravest man I've ever known," himself displayed a brand of courage that saved his ship under conditions that threatened to kill every man aboard.

"She should be taken on a tour of the United States, if that were possible, to show people back home what one or two tiny enemy bombs can do, for that was what started this," said Marine Maj. Herbert Elliott of Pueblo, Colo., o fthe Franklin's Marine detachment, as he directed a party of correspondents through the tangle of debris on the flight deck.

"They've been working at this mess for three weeks and still haven't got it cleared away."

"We found another body only today," said Captain Gehres. "There may be others in the wreckage but I believe this was the last."

All elevators of the Franklin were jammed; there were huge holes torn in the flight deck. There were battered pieces of airplane motors, all that remained of the ship's many planes after the flames consumed them. The flight deck was charred from bow to stern.

Captain Gehres said the attack occurred at 7:07 a. m. March 19, about 68 miles east of the Japanese inland sea as the Franklin prepared to launch its planes against

House Approves Hike In Pension Ceiling

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP) — The House today concurred with the Senate in submitting to the electorate Aug. 25 a proposed constitutional amendment establishing ceiling on state spending for public welfare purposes.

The proposal permits an increase from $15 to $20 in the maximum state share for monthly old age assistance payments and is intended to place a $35,000,000 annual ceiling on state spending for old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and assistance to destitute children.

Federal Matching

(State funds for public welfare are matched by the federal government).

An odd parliamentary situation creates some doubt as to whether a $35,000,000 or a $30,000,000 overall ceiling is stipulated. This may cause a flurry when the joint resolution is returned to the Senate for the signature of Lieutenant-Governor John Lee Smith.

The mechanics by which the Senate attached the overall ceiling (not a part of the resolution when it was passed in the House) were questioned in the House which, after concurring in the Senate version, adopted a simple resolution instructing the House enrolling clerk to make the figure $35,000,000. Because the joint resolution — which submits the amendment to the people—is still the property of the Senate a point of order in the Senate may block the final signature of the lieutenant-governor. Unless it is signed it has no effect.

Question Of Mechanics

The question of mechanics regarding the overall ceiling kept the House in a state of indecision for parts of three days.

At first the House refused to concur in the Senate version. Then it reconsidered by accepting the Senate overall ceiling amendment by a vote of 113 to 10. It had rejected, 96 to 20, a motion not to concur and to send the resolution to a free conference committee for an adjustment of the ceiling question.

House members who opposed sending it to conference committee said it could not be brought back in time to be prepared for publication in newspapers so as to go on the special election ballot Aug. 25. Proposed constitutional amendments must be published 90 days in advance of the election.

The House found enough time after deliberating most of the day on the welfare question to finally pass, with amendments, a Senate bill designed to make the ballot more secret in Texas. The bill now goes back to the Senate. It re-

Official Releases On War Casualties

TODAY'S TOLL (Official Casualty releases):

DEAD:

T/5 William W. White, husband of Mrs. Hazel Louise White, Star route, Ralls, killed in action in Europe.

Pvt. Billy H. Smith, son of Mrs. Mary E. Smith, Route 3, Tahoka, killed in action in Pacific.

WOUNDED:

S/Sgt. Joe E. Coulston, son of Mrs. Lucy M. Coulston, Sudan, wounded in action in Europe.

Pvt. Flake O. Price, brother of Mrs. Faye Lowe, Route 1, Plainview, wounded in action in Europe.

Pfc. Jesse H. Criswell, husband of Mrs. Wilma A. Criswell, Plains, wounded in action in Pacific.

Pfc. Martin A. Droigk, son of Mrs. Annie M. Droigk, Seagraves, wounded in action in Pacific.

LIBERATED:

Pvt. Delvin F. Smith, husband of Mrs. Arbrea F. Smith, Floydada, liberated from German prison camp.

Pfc. Lonnie J. Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Whitaker of the O. K. community near Lamesa, was killed in action on Cebu island, March 29. He had been overseas since October, 1942, when he landed at Guadalcanal for his first combat. He was in the Fiji islands for 10 months and was also on several other islands in that vicinity. After graduation from the O. K. High school, he was employed in Lamesa for nine years before going into the Army. Survivors besides his parents include a brother, Grady Whitaker who has been discharged from military service after serving 19 months overseas and five sisters, Essie Whitaker, Mrs. G. C. Wilson, jr., Mrs. J. C. Hudson, Mrs. Clarence Land and Mrs. Jim Norman, all of Lamesa.

Okinawa Battle In Decisive Stage, Yanks Fight In Naha

Other Units Closing In From Three Sides On Shuri After Night Attack

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Friday, May 18—The battle for Okinawa was reaching a decisive stage today as troops of the 10th U. S. Army battled in the capital city, Naha, and closed in from three sides on Shuri, keystone of the Japanese "little Siegfried line."

Elements of the Sixth Marine division penetrated to the heart of debris-cluttered Naha yesterday after throwing a small bridgehead across the Asoto river estuary on the west coast, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported in today's communique.

Surprise Night Attack

A surprise night attack by the 77th Infantry division drove through rough ground to the outskirts of Ishimmi town, within 2,000 yards of the heart of walled and moated Shuri in the center of the line.

In bitter, bloody battling, the 96th Infantry division fought westward toward Shuri, Okinawa's second largest city. The 96th was fighting for Love hill, which is 1,400 yards due east of the fortress.

First Marine division troops drove into Wana town with a tank-led spearhead. This action, between the Sixth Marine and 77th division sectors, helped straighten out a sharp Japanese salient into American lines northwest of Shuri. Wana town is about 500 yards east of the northern fringes of Shuri.

Tough Mop-Up Battle

Entry of the Sixth division Marines into Naha marks the beginning of a tough fight to clear the ruined city, which had a population of 66,000 before Vice Adm. John S. McCain's fast carrier task force made the first American bombing attack on it last Oct. 10.

Naha has been the major goal of Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, jr.'s 10th Army troops since the Okinawa battle settled into a slow, grinding siege five days after the virtually unopposed Yank landings April 1.

Beyond Naha to the south lies Naha airfield, largest and best on Okinawa.

Units of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, jr's Sixth Marine division in the late afternoon fanned out to capture Sugar Loaf hill, 700 yards northeast of Takimotoji village. This indicated the Leathernecks who fought into the very heart of Naha had bypassed a Japanese garrison, leaving fellow Marines to clean up behind them. Takimotoji is at the northern suburbs of Naha.

Between Two Towns

On the left flank of the Third Marine amphibious corps, between Naha and Shuri, Nimitz said troops of the First Marine division reached Wana town. This advance by Maj. Gen. Pedro Del Valle's troops also had been chronicled in front line dispatches by Associated Press correspondent Vern Haugland.

Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Infantry division encountered strong resistance in the hill masses around Ishimmi and in ridges around Conical hill as it moved westward from the east coast to assist the 77th and First Marine divisions in their assault on Shuri.

The 96th made some progress in the destruction of Japanese strongholds, Nimitz said.

Haugland reported that near Conical hill, one company of the 96th division engaged in a grenade throwing contest with Japanese, then was attacked by an estimated 200 enemy soldiers who exposed themselves to rifle fire as they appeared at the top of a ridge.

All Dressed Up—And He Went

The attack was led by an officer wearing polished boots and white gloves. After the attack was repulsed, doughboys counted 46 Japanese bodies, including that of the booted officer.

Pfc. Robert Coy, Petoskey, Mich., killed eight of these attackers.

Escort carrier planes joined land-based Marine aircraft, heavy artillery and naval gunfire in support of this ground action.

Nimitz reported that 25,000 tons of shells ranging from destroyers' 5-inchers through cruisers' 6 and 8-inchers and battleships' 14-inch

Trap Tightens On Mindanao

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, May 18. — Forward elements of the 40th and 31st divisions narrowed to 45 road miles Wednesday the jaws of a trap closing on a sizable force of Japanese in central Mindanao, southern Philippines. Today's headquarters communique disclosed the gains.

The Yank divisions squeezed tighter the trap along the Sayre highway. The 31st pushed six miles north to the edge of Valencia, an air center, after putting into operation the captured Maramag airstrip for transport planes.

Reach High Plateau

The 40th, driving south after emerging on the high plateau around Del Monte air base center, made slight progress against a powerful concentration of enemy defenses based on Manigma canyon. This canyon cuts through sweeping plains and its hillsides are covered with 12-foot cogon grass. The 40th underwent mortar artillery fire.

The 24th division carried on the gruelling job of compressing a trapped enemy force around Davao and Talomo rivers.

In central Luzon island, an enemy force of at least regimental strength, well supplied with artillery, mortars and small arms, has been enveloped by the 43rd division pressing in on Ipo dam, Manila's chief water source. This marks the first time in the Philippines campaign that a force of this size has been surrounded. The doughboys beat off one counter-attack, killing 14 Nips.

Advances On Tarakan

Australian invasion forces on Tarakan island, off Borneo, have advanced to within less than a mile of the east coast.

On the east coast of Borneo, patrol planes destroyed 15 warehouses at the oil center of Balikpapan. They also attacked shipyards on the southeast coast.

On the northwest coast of Formosa, the major Japanese air base at Shinchiku was blanketed with 183 tons of explosives. The airdrome, rail yards, the town's business district, rolling stock and many buildings were smashed.

Patrol bombers ranged along the Asiatic coast. They hit the university airdrome at Canton and rail facilities in French Indo-China.

Women Convicts Beat Penitentiary Official

McALESTER, Okla., May 17. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Campbell, newly appointed superintendent of the state penitentiary women's ward and a prominent Oklahoma Democratic party leader, was attacked and severely beaten by seven women convicts last Sunday night, it was disclosed today.

Mrs. Campbell, the Democratic party vice chairman for Oklahoma county, and for many years a leader in state party women's activities, is in the prison hospital suffering from severe bruises and from scratches on her face, arms and neck.

Warden R. B. Conner told United Press that seven women prisoners had been placed in solitary confinement after the attack. He said Mrs. Campbell would be able "soon" to leave the hospital, and was not in serious condition.

Cruiser Rammed By Giant Liner

LONDON, Friday, May 18 (AP)—The British Cruiser HMS Curacao sank with a loss of 338 officers and men after colliding with the giant liner Queen Mary in the Atlantic on October 2, 1942, the Admiralty announced today.

The Queen Mary, 84,000-ton Cunard liner in service as a transport, was moving at top speed from the United States toward Scotland with 15,000 American troops aboard and with an escort of two cruisers when the collision occurred in the afternoon approximately 20 miles off the Irish coast at point northwest of bloody Foreland county, Donegal.

U-Boat Sighted Ahead

The Queen Mary's lookouts gave an alarm that they had seen a U-boat ahead off the port bow. The giant liner wheeled around to the starboard in an attempt to elude the submarine.

At the moment the Curacao was racing toward the sub at a speed of nearly 30 knots and the two ships crashed.

An eyewitness declared nothing could have withstood such a shock and the weighty liner "simply trampled" over the light cruiser, which had a displacement of 4,200 tons.

The Queen Mary arrived in the Scottish river Clyde with a great dent in her bows, but the accident did not interrupt the liner's regular sailing schedule.

Survivors from the Curacao, which has a normal complement of about 400 men, were picked up and taken to a hospital near Glasgow. The cruiser's captain, John W. Blackwood, was among those saved.

Cruiser Cut In Half

A naval correspondent of the British Press association said the Curacao was cut in half, with each section being carried a considerable distance on the sides of the huge liner after the ships struck at right angles.

Temporary repairs were made to the Queen Mary at Greenock and a new bow was fitted to the liner when she returned to New York.

Along with the announcement of the loss of the Curacao, the Admiralty disclosed for the first time the loss of ten destroyers, eight submarines and scores of smaller craft, the destruction of which had been kept secret during the European war.

B-29s Leave Nagoya Flaming Smokepot

GUAM, Friday, May 18 (AP) — Fliers returning from Nagoya said the 3,500-ton fire bomb raid by more than 500 Superforts after midnight yesterday left the target area of the city, third largest in Japan, a huge, flaming smokepot.

"By the time we left Nagoya, smoke was billowing thousands of feet into the air," said Lt. W. Cloehner, Milwaukee, Wis.

(The 20th Airforce reported at Washington that the entire southern area of Nagoya "was in flames including the Mitsubishi aircraft plant and the big dock area" after the veay attack).

The communique said that smoke from the ruins of a previous attack on Nagoya, made last Sunday, rendered complete reconnaissance impossible but that visual observation indicated the target area was well covered and large fires started.

(There were no losses of Superforts to enemy action on the latest attack, the Washington communique said).

PEACE OFFERS REPORTED

LONDON, Friday, May 18 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch reported today that a Japanese peace offer to Great Britain and the United States had been received at San Francisco through a Soviet diplomatic channel.

Freeze On Meat Prices Expected

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — Members of Congress said today the government is likely to freeze all ceiling prices on meat for at least six months.

The price ceiling freeze—requiring six-month notice of intention to raise or lower cash prices—is described as the keystone of a revamped program being drafted by War Mobilization Director Fred M. Vinson and other government officials to break the growing meat shortage and black market.

Program As Reported

Barring last minute changes, the program as reported by legislators would include these other beef-producing incentives:

1. A 50 cents per hundredweight subsidy to feeders of live cattle.

2. A requirement that all cattle worth $14.25 a hundred be sold directly to slaughtering plants.

Non-congressional sources connected with the planning job said the program outlined was the one most in consideration, but no final decision has been reached yet, particularly on the subsidy proposal.

Plan Due Out Soon

The new Vinson program—expected before the end of this week—probably will scrap much of a 10-point meat policy issued several weeks ago. The 10-point program failed to break the beef shortage and, Capitol Hill heard, some cattlemen complained that it forced them to take losses on their stock.

The ceiling price regulation would require that the government hereafter give six months notice of intention to shift prices at any level of meat marketing from stock ranges to the butcher counters.

Backers of the freeze feel it will serve the two-fold purpose of preventing retail counter inflation and encouraging cattlemen to develop prime beef without fear that the market will crack and leave them with a loss.

Post Man Among 300 Trapped Below On Battered Carrier

ABOARD THE USS FRANKLIN (Delayed) (AP)—Vernon G. Bowen, seaman second class, of Post, Tex., was one of the Navy men who survived the bombing of this Essex-class aircraft carrier by the Japanese March 19.

Bowen and about 300 other men, trapped below decks, were led to safety by Lt. Donald A. Gary of Oakland, Calif., who risked his life to save them.

Bowen and the others were caught in the after mess hall when the Franklin was hit.

"There were about 300 of us in all," he said, "and we thought we'd never get out of there. Smoke was all around us, and it was hard to breathe. I prayed all the time I was there. Lt. Cmdr. James L. Fuelling, a doctor, was there with us, and he calmed everyone down by suggesting a prayer. In fact, the doctor was leading the group in prayer when Mr. Gary broke into the mess hall and said he was trying to find an escape route for us.

"After several trips through this smoking hell he succeeded, leading ten men to safety. When he returned the smoke was so thick we thought it was too late. But Mr. Gary told the men to form a human chain, hand-to-hand, and we all got out to the flight deck safely by crawling up a ventilator.

Bowen, who is only 17 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Bowen of Post. He left high school to join the Navy last August.

Japs Told To Look For Daily Bombing

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — The War department put Japan on notice today that hereafter the enemy can expect almost daily attacks by United States strategic bombers.

Undersecretary of War Patterson told a news conference that "I guess it's safe to predict that from now on there will be almost daily strikes against Japanese industry."

He made this observation in discussing the two recent fire attacks on Nagoya by fleets of more than 500 B-29s.

Reds Frown On Allied War Criminal Policy

MOSCOW, May 17 (AP) — The Allied handling of war criminals and the Doenitz administration at Flensburg were viewed critically in Soviet Russia today, with one commentator in Red Star declaring "justice in fact is moving with its brakes on."

"The people want no brakes," said the writer, Prof. Anton Trainin. "They want wings."

Sauerkraut Downs Sets Great Bangtail Show

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

OCCUPIED GERMANY. — Unless something occurs to change current plans, the great Deutschsland Derby will be run off here at Sauerkraut Downs the same day that the traditional galloping classic takes place in old Kentucky.

Kenneth Dixon

Naturally the nags will not be as high class as the Churchill Downs blue-bloods because they all are captured Hungarian horses. Furthermore, being warwise bangtails, their whole attitude is, what's the hurry when there isn't any shooting.

Nevertheless, they are being prepared with daily races which some of them even finish and the boys of the 505th Parachute regiment of the 82nd Airborne division are almost enthusiastic about the derby prospects.

It started when paratroopers who had been fighting since Africa suddenly came to V-E day with nothing more to occupy them than a few German towns — or vice versa. Anyhow they looked about for something to do. Sauerkraut Downs was the result.

It's only a half-mile track due to the unanimous doubt whether these beatup bangtails ever will gain sufficient enthusiasm and stamina to do more than stroll the full derby course. But you would be surprised at what can happen in a half-mile.

There isn't any rail because paratroopers use psychology; they strung minefield tape along the track where the rail would be. The GI jockeys know it's fake, but they have become so allergic to such taped off areas through a half-dozen campaigns that practically nobody crowds the rail except when some uninformed pag gets out of hand.

Otherwise Sauerkraut Downs is just another place to play the ponies. It has a mutuel system, betting windows, stables and a starter. It has a handicapper, an oddsmaker, judges, stewards, bookies and a track boss. It has tickets, programs and a post parade.

There are only two betting windows — for win and place — partly because it requires too strenuous a brand of mathematics to work out show odds and partly because there is too little assurance that any given race will have three horses around at the finish.

They borrowed a baker's scales to weigh the boys in, but nobody can figures out why because there is no limit and the track's leading jockey tips the scales at 175 pounds.

There was considerable growling among the customers the other day when 12 horses started and only one finished — especially when it developed the winner was wearing only three shoes, had a glass eye and was limping. But the track's normal confusion had been complicated by dust and accusers couldn't prove anything.

It's amazing what can happen in a half-mile. Come on, Derby Day.

Governor Gets Bill Hiking School Taxes

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP) — House concurrence in Senate amendments today sent to the governor a bill providing that school districts may levy taxes up to $1.50 per $100 valuation, instead of $1 per $100.

The measure is permissive, and requires that such levy must first be authorized by the qualified voters in the district.

INSURANCE CLAIMS HEAVY

CHICAGO, May 17. (AP)—Life insurance companies in 1944 paid the largest total in death claims in a single year—$1,360,972,674, National Underwriter, insurance newspaper, reported today.

Bonus Bonds Can Now Be Redeemed By Vets

HOUSTON, May 17 (AP)—Veterans of the first World war may now file their adjusted service certificates (bonus bonds) for payment on which the government will begin redemption at face value June 15.

Payment of the certificates will be made at banks and postoffices, Postmaster John Dunlop said today.

Veterans are being urged to redeem their certificates as rapidly as possible, Dunlop said, since they have matured. The Veterans administration, he declared, hopes to close the books on the outstanding certificates by July 1.

NAZI BIGWIGS TAKEN

KITZBBUHEL, Austria, May 17 (AP)—Arthur Greiser, former Nazi overlord of Posnan, Poland, and SS Lt. Gen. Heinz Reinefarth, Nazi defender of Kuestrin, were captured today by the 42nd (Rainbow) division.

Texas Editor Calls Buchenwald, Dachau Monuments To Degradation

By M. E. WALTER
(Managing Editor Houston Chronicle)
Written for Associated Press

HOUSTON, May 17.—Dachau and Buchenwald, two of the concentration camps operated by the Nazis in which political prisoners and slave laborers were incarcerated, will live long in the consciousness of mankind as horrible examples of degradation and inhumanity. These camps from all reports were typical of many operated in Germany. The party of editors and publishers sent to France on the request of General Eisenhower were specially requested to make a study of these camps and report back to the American people on what they found.

No Doubt This Time

In the last war so many atrocity stories were disproven after peace had been declared that people became skeptical and when stories began coming back on the horror camps maintained by the Nazis there was some doubt. The general believed that if a group of editors from various sections of the country saw for themselves there would never be a question in coming years as to the real facts.

After visiting the two camps and spending hours inspecting the horrible execution chambers, the degrading conditions under which the prisoners lived, seeing the unspeakable sanitation conditions under which they lived and talking with the prisoners on the food they had ben given, the work they had been compelled to do, the beatings and torture that had been inflicted on them, the editors were united in one conclusion. That was that exaggeration is impossible.

Different With POW

It was after visiting camps at Buchenwald that we met the first American prisoner of war that had been liberated. Compared with th pitiful creatures in the concentration camp they seemed almost normal in mind and body.

As long as our soldiers were under the supervision of the regular German Army they fared fairly well. It was when any of them got under control of the Gestapo or the SS troops that beatings and inhuman treatment was experienced.

Apparently the same thing was true on the actual fighting front. Generals and soldiers alike said the regular German Army fought hard and were tough opponents but by and large they fought fairly. The SS troops, however, ignored all the rules of warfare, and were the ones who slaughtered newly captured prisoners on various occasions and shot down disabled paratroopers.

Fiendishness Evidenced

There was a fiendishness about many things that occurred in the camps. For instance, in using the gas execution chamber the SS men were not satisfied with marching the prisoners into the chamber and executing them in a straightforward manner. The chamber was disguised as a shower bath and a score of prisoners would be marched over and informed that they were to be given a shower. Considering the conditions under which they were living, covered with filth and vermin, the prisoners must have felt that at last their captors were beginning to show a few signs of ordinary humanity.

You can almost picture the sly grins on the faces of the guards as the poor deluded creatures stripped off their clothes in the anteroom which must have seemed like a palace after the quarters they had inhabited for so long.

There was even a case of flowers on a table in the room to give a decorative touch to the scene. Then grabbing soap and viewing with anticipation the stack of towels waiting them they dashed into the shower room which incide tall, had painted over it in letters some six inches high, "shower bath," so there would be no hesitancy or confusion over what door to enter.

Had Peculiar Door

Perhaps if the victims had been a little more observant or less eager to taste the joys of a little cleanliness after so long a time in filth they would have noticed that the door to the shower room was peculiar. It was of heavy boiler plate with a rubber gasket around the edge. But the victims rushed in and waited eagerly for the refreshing water to begin flowing over their vermin-infested, dirt-incrusted, wasted bodies.

As the last one entered the door was slammed and the hasp thrown down. Then instead of water, gas began rushing from the shower heads while one of the guards stood by a glass peephole observing the gasping victims within to be sure that the gas would be cut off as soon as the last one had died so that none of the gas would be wasted. In a few minutes a fan cleared away the fumes and the guards entered to carry the corpses to the adjoining room where the crematory was located.

WFA Reduces Amount Of Reserved Beef

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The War Food administration today reduced the amount of beef federally inspected slaughterers must reserve for Army purchase, but the action will not mean any more beef for civilians. At the same time WFA extended the set-aside provisions to include cow as well as steer and heifer beef. The reduction was from 60 to 55 per cent of all Army-style beef slaughterers.

WFA also reduced from 40 to 30 per cent the government taking of ham smoked 96 hours but increased from 10 to 20 per cent the set-aside on hams smoked 48 hours.

Both actions are effective Monday.

The first recorded abdication of a sovereign was Sylla, the Roman dictator, in 79 B. C.

Hale Round-Up Is Set For Saturday

PLAINVIEW, May 17. (Special)—The Seventeenth Annual Pioneer Round-Up of Hale county and Staked Plains pioneers will be held at Plainview, Saturday, May 19. Sponsored each year by the Business and Professional Women's club, this reunion of early settlers is not only for the pioneers, but is Friendship Day for everyone, and is the highlight of the year in Plainview.

The celebration opens with a Pioneers Reception from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. This will be held in the Little Studio, at 827 Broadway, opposite the Piggly Wiggly Store. The Golden Wedding Circle, a group of couples who have been married fifty years or over, will meet at the Reception and also the Gold Star Mothers will meet there. These groups will ride in the parade. Miss Edna Bryan is chairman of the round-up committee.

Parade At 2 O'Clock

The parade will move at 2 o'clock p. m. Bob Hooper will be parade marshal. The American Legionaires will be the color bearers, and several bands will participate. Many vehicles of ancient vintage are expected, and every one who has a horse is expected to get it into the parade. Business firms, clubs and various organization will furnish entries.

The big feature of the day is the night feature at the City Auditorium. Chuck wagon supper will be served from 6 to 8 p. m. Registrations will be made and badges distributed as guests enter. A program at 8 p. m. will include Cal Farley and Stuttering Sam, from Amarillo, as guest entertainers, also some musical numbers reminescent of the long ago. Arvel Tilson will be Master of Ceremony.

Following the program will be a square dance at the auditorium, with W. Fred Lowe calling. Wayne Smith and his Rambling Cowboys will furnish the music. Many of the participants in the dance will be in costume. A dance at the American Legion hall by the American Legion will be held at the same hour as the Square Dance.

The admission fee for the night features at the auditorium—the supper, program and square dance—is 50 cents.

AIR MEDAL AWARDED PARENTS — Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Shires, above left, are shown receiving the Air Medal from Lt. W. M. (Billy) Buford, personal affairs officer at Lubbock Army Air field. The medal, "for meritorious achievement in aerial flights from May 5, 1944 to May 18, 1944, while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy," had been awarded to their son, S/Sgt. Noble F. Shires, engineer on a B-24 Liberator in the Fifteenth Air Force in Italy, before he became a prisoner of war. He was a prisoner of war in Stalag Luft IV and is now presumed to be liberated. A brother, Lt. Justin W. Shires, is a navigator on a B-17 in the Fifteenth Air Force in Italy. Lt. Buford, a combat returnee at LAAF, also served as a member of the Fifteenth in Italy before returning to the States. Mr. and Mrs. Shires reside on North College avenue. Mrs. Shires is a volunteer worker at Red Cross headquarters where the picture was made.

"Super-Daredevil" Decker To Feature Rodeo Thrill Event

Superman won't be around, but "Super-Daredevil" Decker will substitute for him as one of the rip-roaring features of a three-day West Texas Contest Rodeo and Hollywood Thrill circus commencing with an 8 o'clock program tonight at Panhandle-South Plains fairground.

Between bronc-riding, bull-dogging, calf-roping and wild Brahma steer-riding contests, Decker will leap his car over a transcontinental bus and five other cars; Hollywood daredevils will roll cars over and over; "Iron Man" Perry will permit a truck to run over him; Lew Burns of Sweetwater will perform a "slide for life," and there will be other "thrilling stunts."

Bud Crow of Abilene has been named arena director. Billy Wells of Petrolia will supply rodeo stock, including some of his wildest and biggest Brahmas and such outstanding bucking horses as "Satan," "Snip," "Midnight," "Quarrelsome" and "Hell's Angel."

Contests also will be given at 3 and 8 p. m. Saturday and 3 p. m. Sunday.

There Were Reasons For Obituary Delay

BEAUMONT, May 17 (U.P.)—The Beaumont Enterprise may have published a couple of late obituary stories, but the reason publishers gave today certainly explained the reason for the delay.

A country undertaker telephoned the Enterprise with details of two deaths which occurred Sunday.

After giving the newspaper's rewrite man the stories, the small-town funeral man explained, "I would have called you sooner but one of my horses ate 50 pounds of chicken feed Sunday afternoon and he's been awful sick. I've had to be with him all the time."

LIBERATED POW HOME

LAREDO, May 17. (AP)—Col. William L. Kennedy, a native of Beaumont, graduate of Texas A. and M. and first commander of the Laredo Army Air field, has returned home after being liberated from a German prison camp.

He had been a prisoner since July 17, 1943, when his bomber was shot down over Schweinfurt.

"That Grass is our Living, Son!"

WHAT THIS RANCHER SAYS to his son is very true. Grass does provide their living . . . and a good part of the living for all of us here in America. More than half a billion acres of the United States—roughly, 50% of all our farm and ranch lands—is in grass. "Should its harvest fail for a single year," said John James Ingalls, "famine would depopulate the world."

Grass is the preserver of much of our agricultural wealth and the basic raw material of many of our necessities. It is a major crop. And more than that, it's nature's way of transferring health-building materials . . . vitamins, minerals, and other essential elements . . . from the soil into the foods that nourish the nation. Grass must pass through livestock to be converted into products useful to man.

So let's give our pastures, meadows and range lands the care they deserve. Grass on your steeper slopes should never be broken. In the long run, it is your most profitable crop on hillsides because it controls erosion by tying down your top soil and reduces evaporation of essential moisture. Your State Agricultural Experiment Station will tell you of new and improved varieties of grass you might try to your profit, and they will also advise you about reseeding, lime, and fertilizer. And never overlook this important rule of grass care—don't overgraze!

We at Swift & Company are marketing the products of your grass, and so we say with you, "Grass is our living, too!"

WESTERN RANCH MEAT LOAF

2 pounds ground beef, or 1 pound each beef and lamb
1 medium onion
½ cup diced celery or ground carrot
¼ cup lard or shortening
½ cup diced green peppers or ½ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs
3 cups soft bread crumbs
½ cup water
½ cup tomato juice
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Chop onion. Brown onion and celery or carrots in lard. Combine with green pepper, salt, eggs, bread crumbs, and water to make a dressing. Add half the dressing (one and one-half cups) to the meat, mixing well. Pat out half the mixture in a two-quart loaf pan. Cover with remaining dressing, then top with remaining meat mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) one and one-quarter hours. Baste twice with tomato juice and butter to keep loaf moist. Yield: 10-12 servings.

in almost every band. But he's not as bad as his reputation paints him. Permanently dyed black by nature, his fleece cannot be bleached. The uses for black wool are limited so care must be exercised to keep it properly sorted in the wool clip. However, manufacturers do weave it into broadcloth. And—believe it or not—the wool from the black sheep in the flock becomes clothing for the clergy.

Meet Bill Reneker, Swift's Head Hog Buyer

If you have marketed hogs since 1907, chances are that Bill Reneker bought some of them for he has bought more than 30 million for Swift's . . . some of them in Western Canada where he was buyer from 1916 to 1923, and the rest in the U. S. A. He became head hog buyer for Swift & Company in 1932.

When not buying hogs, Bill Reneker likes to judge them in the show ring. Right now he's booked until next September to judge at several shows and hog meetings.

An interest in hogs comes to Bill naturally. His father was a livestock salesman and his grandfather conducted a commission business in Pittsburgh as far back as 1866. His hobby is sharing his vast knowledge of hogs with farm boys and girls.

If you should see this big, friendly man in a show ring, don't hesitate to get acquainted with him.

IT'S 2,049 MILES FROM HEREFORD, TEXAS, TO HARTFORD, CONN.

To the west of the Mississippi is produced two-thirds of the nation's meat. To the east live more than two-thirds of all Americans.

Under these conditions either livestock or fresh meat must be transported from the West to the East, and as we know, it has been found to be more economical to slaughter the animals in central plants in surplus producing sections, save the by-products, then transport the meat in refrigerator cars to the consuming sections, than to ship the live animals.

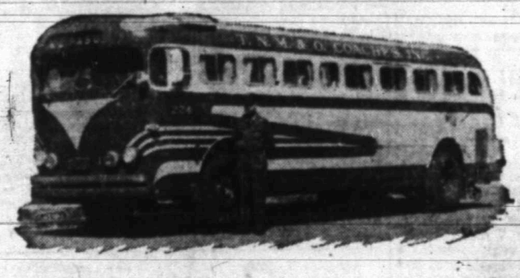

To have a market for livestock, we must find a market for meat. The job of nation-wide meat packers is to bridge the gap, an average of more than a thousand miles, made up in part from such trips as Boise, Idaho, to Boston; from Denver to Detroit; from Paducah to Pittsburgh; and from Hereford, Texas, to Hartford, Connecticut. It is necessary to have a large organization with proper facilities to handle efficiently nation-wide distribution to the thousands of consuming centers of America. • • •

This is the last page of information that we will issue until September. But please don't let the recess keep you from writing us when we can be of help to you. Better still, come and see us in Swift & Company's office building at the Union Stock Yards, in Chicago.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THE food page today carries an article on the best kinds of pineapple to can and also methods of canning and freezing the fruit, thanks to Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent.

• • •

WEATHER NOTE: We predict that winter has staged its last big offensive and that summer is on its way at last.

• • •

TODAY'S GAG

DID you hear about the woman who said her husband must be the most generous man on earth because she gave him half a dozen ties for his birthday and he went right down and gave them to the Salvation Army?

• • •

MORE MARRIAGES?

RAY TUCKER, Washington correspondent, notes that during the next six months as the United States is turned into an armed camp, rivaling the crowded conditions England saw as preparations for D-day were made, we are going to learn something new about the meaning of shortages of food, clothing and shelter.

In case you had been planning an extended bus or train trip somewhere this summer, perhaps it's as well if you give it up and read a few articles on how to spend a vacation in your own backyard. According to advance notices, most of us are going to be in Lubbock for another summer!

• • •

The service men will take over the United States as they did England and civilians who have not been asked to sacrifice anything in the past may feel a pinch now, Tucker adds.

The writer can't break out in a fever over such woeful predictions since we think it will mean so much to us to have the GIs back on Main Street what do we care if they drink all the malts or crowd the movie houses or rent the apartments. Where would we be without them we ask you!

• • •

As writer of many war marriages, the Woman's Angle is wondering if Dan Cupid has taken notice of this promised influx and is busy sharpening his arrows. As the war machine rolled through England on its way to Europe many lassies fell in love and for better or worse exchanged vows with the soldiers. Will that also be repeated here?

• • •

IN THE MAIL

MY DEAR MARGARET:

I have found that Lubbock's only bad season is California's best so I've been enjoying spring on a rampage. The first pageant was the miles and miles of almond groves of the desert in pale mauve bloom with the fat, lazy, yellow bees everywhere, borrowed to pollinate the blossoms. The wild poppies, waxy and deep orange, the lavender verbena and the blue, blue lupines dressed the desert as gaily as you could imagine. By the way, the lupine of the desert is our blue bonnet in miniature.

Now I am over the mountain near U.C.L.A. and roses and calla lilies and lantana and roof-high geraniums hold full sway. Yesterday we visited the Little Church of the Flowers, Kipling's Recessional chapel and the Court of David. How restful it must be to worship among growing things. As we were leaving I saw high on a slope a rectangular plot enclosed with marble, a snowy white slab with a huge sculptured white angel at each side covered the cript where in lies the body of Aimee Semple McPherson.

Farther away from the luxurious mausoleums of movie stars and celebrities of this area I saw a heart-shaped plot encircled with little bronze children in the sweetest disarray. Real roses were placed in their belts and fresh daisies were behind their ears. This was Babyland. A little too poignant are the stories of bright eggs tucked among the pansies at Easter time and decorated trees at the Christmas-tide. Well I believe in mechanical devices to assuage sorrow. A Catholic friend gave me a rose colored rosary with a gold cross which I wear a lot.

I sit here on the beach that Will Rogers wrested from the movie stars and gave to the public and watch the white caps. I wonder if my son watched these same white caps as his ship plows on to the South Seas.

The Schoolmarm.

Calvary TEL Class Meets For Luncheon

At the 1 o'clock luncheon given for Calvary Baptist T.E.L. class in the home of Mrs. I. T. Weed, 2715 Locust, Thursday, Mrs. R. D. Harris gave a devotional and presided at a business session.

Others present were Mesdames B. F. Foster, J. A. Alred, M. L. Massingill, Selena Martin, Charles Rhodes, E. C. Wood, F. G. Treat, J. H. York, J. K. Box and Hobart Day.

Animal glue sticks to wood because in its thin, warm solution it penetrates the pores while still fluid. When it solidifies and dries, its tremendous shrinking power draws the fibers of one piece to the other, making the joint stronger than the wood itself.

Smaller War Plants Office For Area Is Opened In El Paso

John A. Roetzel of Brownsville, auditor and fiscal analyst, has been named district reconversion specialist of Smaller War Plants corporation to direct the activities of the corporation in the El Paso district, Morton R. Harrison, SWPC regional director, announced Thursday.

The new district office of the corporation was opened this week by Roetzel and is in Room 420, Caples building adjacent to the district office of War Production board.

Roetzel has spent many years along the Texas border, and was in the sugar business and in government employ in Mexico and other Latin-American countries for a number of years. He has served in various capacities with the Federal Public Housing Authority and the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and at one time acted as a Spanish language translator for the department of Agriculture.

Victory in Europe and the intention of the government to guarantee to little business the first opportunity to reconvert has necessitated the opening of the El Paso office, Harrison declared.

Among the larger towns included in the district are El Paso, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa and Plainview.

MINES REPORTED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 (AP)—Tokyo radio reported today that ten American planes sowed mines before dawn today in Bungo strait between Kyushu and Shikoku islands of southern Japan. Superforts have previously mined every important port and most waterways in Nippon. Today's broadcast was recorded in San Francisco by the Federal Communications commission.

Norris Says Soviet Communism Hotbed Is Threat To World

Russia, implemented by its hotbed of communism, is a grave threat to the existence of the rest of the world, and the hopes for international peace are so clouded that political leaders of the democracies fear to give them utterance, Dr. J. Frank Norris, pastor of Fundamentalist Baptist churches at Fort Worth and Detroit will tell an audience at 8 o'clock tonight in Tabernacle Baptist church, at Fifteenth and Ave. N.

He promises to bare a warning that will be "unequivocable in implications that will affect the very core of civilization."

To Quote From Daniel

He will quote from Daniel: "I saw another beast like unto a bear, with three ribs in its mouth between its teeth, and he said arise and devour much flesh."

"'Like unto a bear,' the minister repeated to newsmen. "What stands in prophecy so appropriate as the Russian Bear? And how dangerous at the moment that the bear may 'arise and devour much flesh!'"

The minister promised to parade the "nightmarish possibilities" of a sprawling land of teeming millions "spawned in doctrine that cannot fit into orderly concepts of a peaceful post-war era."

To Not Mince Words

He intimated he would take the bull by the tail and divulge convictions that may lay him open to charges of political heresy.

Reason, he said, for his "violent fear of what is shaping," is found in "indicated misgivings which 'significantly' are not articulated" by leaders of the democracies, a profound study of the creeping communistic movement in Russia and other countries, its "definition as being an enemy of all religion" and observations at home and abroad.

The address will be "The Worldwide Conspiracy of Communism to Overthrow This Government."

Truman Is Praised

"There's this, however, we can be thankful for," Doctor Norris said. "We have a man in Washington who I am convinced is watching this nation's problems. During Harry Truman's administration those communistic birds won't roost in the White House."

Rev. Ben D. Johnson is pastor of the Tabernacle church.

Brief Bits Of Local News

Formation of a Lubbock lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was announced Thursday by Houston Miller, secretary-treasurer. Installation ceremonies were held recently for the following officers: Alber Owens, president; Hulan Henderson, vice-president; Miller, secretary-treasurer; Buddy Hatton, agent of official publication; J. D. Massie, jr., conductor; H. F. Gregg, chaplain; J. E. Dickenson, warden; E. G. Griffith and B. B. Clifton, guards. The lodge has a charter membership of 49 and will meet tiwce monthly at the Labor temple, 1905 Texas Ave.

Services at the Seventh Day Adventist church Saturday will include the regular Sabbath school at 9:45 a. m. and young people's service at 3 p. m. George Draper will speak at the morning worship hour at 11 o'clock, Rev. Douglas C. Marchus, pastor, announced. The church is at Twentieth and Ave. K.

S/Sgt. Otis Q. Jones, who recently returned from three years duty with the Fifteenth Air Force, in the European theater, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Pearl Jones of 1612 Ave. T. Serving as a radio operator, Sgt. Jones has seen combat in England, North Africa, Sicily, and Italy. At the end of a 30-day furlough, Sgt. Jones will report to Santa Anna, Calif., for re-assignment.

Pfc. Robert F. Curtis, 28, a veteran of approximately five years in the Army, spent part of a furlough recently with his father, Robert L. Curtis of 2017 Eighth, operator of a Lubbock grocery. Pvt. Curtis has been on duty lately in the Caribbean area. A former resident of Smyer community, he was engaged in construction work at Houston before going into the service. After visiting in Houston and at the Corpus Christi residence of his sister, Mrs. Phil Elting, he will report to San Antonio for reassignment. Curtis has two other sons in armed service, Marvin J., a mechanic in the Ferry command, and Aaron T., 26, now taking Navy boot training at San Diego. Aaron was inducted recently after working in a defense plant in Houston. The Lubbock man's son-in-law, Phil Elting, is in the Navy air corps and is stationed at Corpus Christi.

Heart Attack Claims Dr. Harvey E. Dana

KANSAS CITY, Kansas, May 17 (AP)—Dr. Harvey E. Dana, 57, president of the Central Baptist seminary here, died today of a heart attack.

He became president of the seminary in 1938. He came here from the Southwest Baptist Theological seminary at Fort Worth, Tex., where he was professor of Greek New Testiment, 1921-25, and professor at interpretation and head of the New Testament department from 1925 to 1938.

Pullman And MKT Pay Damages To Negro

WASHINGTON, May 17. (U.P.)—The Pullman Co. and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad company have paid $800 in settlement of charges by Helen Thompson, negro, Kansas City, Mo., that she was denied pullman accomodations, the Interstate Commerce commission announced today.

The ICC therefore dropped its investigation. Miss Thompson claimed that she was compelled to ride in a coach from San Antonio, Tex., to Kansas City last October although she had bought a first class ticket and had a pullman reservation.

Jap Fleet Reports Said Credible But Improbable On Major Scale

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

Japanese reports of encounters with Allied naval task forces in Malacca strait, the long and narrow water passage linking the Bay of Bengal and the South China sea, lacked confirmation as this was written but are wholly credible. There seems no reason to doubt that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeastern Asia command is preparing to exploit its victories in Burma as promptly as reinforcements and weather permit or that reconquest of the Malay peninsula and Singapore is the next prime objective in that theater.

SIMPSON

It seems doubtful, however, that amphibious operations of any considerable scope against the Malay peninsula are to be expected immediately. The approaching wet monsoon season is the natural weather gauge, while the task of transferring from Europe the troops and the landing equipment they would require will take time. The obvious first phase would be expansion of air forces to batter Japanese fortifications and communications. There is no indication that has yet been more than started.

Feints Are In Order

Nevertheless, immediate feints by air and sea forces now concentrated in the Bay of Bengal or in India are in order. There is a long sweep of coast line the enemy must protect between the base of the peninsula and its southernmost tip. With his China sea communications disrupted if not completely broken by American reconquests in the Philippines and his land lines via the China-Indo China corridor long and none too effective, the enemy's garrison in Malaya probably has already been largely left to its own limited resources for defense. Landing operations on the west coast of the peninsula, when and if they do come, are likely to be well screened by far separated feints calculated to keep the defense dispersed.

British recapture of Rangoon and the rapid pace of mopping up operations in Burma adequately secure Mountbatten's left flank for whatever amphibious attack he may be preparing.

McPherson Memorial Service Set Sunday

Memorial services will be held at Crosbyton First Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for Capt. Gwen T. McPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McPherson of route 3, Lubbock, formerly of Crosbyton. Capt. McPherson, 24, was shot down Feb. 24 over Irlich, Germany, and his entire B-17 crew was killed.

Survivors are his wife, Mary Frances McPherson of Kansas City, who is visiting his family here, his parents, two brothers, J. B. and Leon McPherson of Lubbock and two sisters, Mrs. Fred Barker of Levelland and Hazel McPherson of Lubbock.

Capt. McPherson lacked only one semester of being awarded his degree at Texas Tech when he went into the Air corps reserve in 1941. He received his commission and navigator's wings at Turner field, Ga., in March, 1942 and later was an instructor at Hondo and Walla Walla, Wash. He went into pilot training in 1943 and received his pilot's wings at Lubbock Army Air field last May and was stationed at Dodge City, Kans., following his graduation.

Farm Machinery To Be Released

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The War Production board soon will remove its controls on the production of farm machinery, it was reported today.

The lifting of production controls, however, is not expected to have any substantial immediate effect on increasing the output. Until July 1, an increased production will have to come from excess and idle materials, but after that date farm machinery manufacturers, along with other civilian producers, are expected to receive additional materials.

Simultaneously, it was learned today, the WPB has prepared an order eliminating the necessity for a priority certificate to purchase wheel-type tractors for industrial use with construction machinery attached.

Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla) estimated this would release about 20,000 tractors for purchase without certificates.

Removal of priority requirements, the Oklahoman told a reporter, will enable cities, counties and states to buy bulldozers, street and patrol graders and other machinery needed for road, street and contour work if they can find them in manufacturer or dealer hands.

Restrictions on production and distribution of flashlights and other portable electric lights operated by dry cell batteries were removed today but all provisions pertaining to dry cell batteries have been retained.

No Decision Reached On Civilian Gasoline

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The Petroleum Administration for War said today it has reached no decision on how much additional gasoline civilians will get as a result of the end of the European war.

"Conferences have been going on between PAW, the military and the petroleum industry since V-E day, but we do not have a definite figure as yet," a PAW spokesman said.

PAW estimated earlier that narrowing of the war to one front would provide from 100,000 to 200,000 more barrels of gasoline daily for civilians.

OPA said that if the higher estimate materialized it would be possible to increase "A" card rations 50 per cent, with "limited" increases for "B" drivers.

There is a possibility that any adjustments made may be put into effect June 22, the date the "A-16" series of gasoline coupons become valid.

'Grasshopper Pilots' Daring Over Okinawa

By VERN HAUGLAND

OKINAWA, May 15. (Delayed.)—Thrills come by the fistful in this violent campaign to rid Okinawa of the Japanese, but the 'grasshopper pilots" get them by the bundle.

Their job is to fly low over enemy lines, observe artillery, and then hustle home without being blasted from the air. Its a neat trick, for at present the grasshoppers are flying over more artillery than ever has been used in the Pacific war—including the most fire power ever used by the intense Japanese.

The 'hoppers frequently are picked off, but generally their pilots come through all right.

These men have taken almost leisurely jaunts over battle-torn Okinawa. They report the whole face of the countryside has been changed where the Americans are. Daytimes, they say, it looks like a dead country. Nothing moves along its network of narrow roads.

"Most towns have been bombed so much there is little left of them," commented Lt. Don Rusling of Port Arthur, Tex.

Governor Stevenson Makes Appointments

AUSTIN, May 17. (U.P.)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today sent the Texas Senate additional appointments to fill vacancies in state offices, some of which will not occur until after the present session of the legislature likely will have adjourned.

He filled a place on the lower Colorado river authority for which one appointee had been rejected by nominating Sam K. Seymour, jr., a Columbus, Tex., hardware merchant. If Seymour is confirmed he will replace Charles Matula of Schulenburg. Seymour was nominated after Ben McElhinney of Eagle Lake had been rejected.

Other appointments announced today were:

B. B. Brown of Dallas and Howell Jordan of Austin for members of the state board of pharmacy. Brown is re-appointed and Jordan is to succeed Russel L. Wilson of Huntsville.

J. D. Sandefer of Breckenridge and H. G. Webster of Denison, re-appointed as members of the state parsk board.

L. Hamilton Lowe of Edinburg, Lucian Moorehead of Plainview, W. M. Crook of Beaumont, Palmer Hutcheson of Houston and O. D. Brundidge of Dallas, re-appointed for four year terms on the commission on uniform state laws.

Message That Son Is Killed Follows Talk

HOUSTON, May 17. (U.P.)—Fred G. Cassara, Bell Telephone company official, beamed with pride as he read to the Lions club today a letter just received from his son, a Marine fighting the bloody battle on Okinawa.

Shortly after the meeting adjourned, Cassara received a Navy department notification that his son, Marine Sgt. George F. Cassara, was killed in action on Okinawa May 4.

Dysart Becomes Fort Worth Police Chief

FORT WORTH, May 17. (U.P.)—R. E. Dysart, a member of the Fort Worth police force since 1921, today assumed his new duties as chief of police.

Dysart was promoted from traffic chief to chief of police when Chief Tom G. Curry was relieved of his post today at his own request. Chief Curry had been in ill health, and was reassigned as director of police personnel.

Pascal, when 19 years old in 1650, invented a calculating machine.

J. D. Wrather Dies Thursday In Dallas

DALLAS, May 17. (U.P.)—A long illness, resulting from a head injury received in 1935, today proved fatal to John D. Wrather, prominent Texas oilman and father-in-law of the daughter of Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas. He died in a Dallas hospital.

Wrather, a resident of Texas for 35 years, was president and organizer of the Overton Refining company, whose offices were in Kilgore and Tyler. He moved to Dallas three years ago from Tyler.

Services will be held in Dallas Saturday.

Survivors include his wife and two sons, Capt. J. D. Wrather, jr., stationed with the Marines in the Pacific and husband of the former Molly O'Daniel, and J. E. Wrather of Longview.

Giants Beat Cubs Again By Rally In Faithful Eighth

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—The New York Giants made it four in a row over Chicago today and their twelfth in the last 13 games by beating the Cubs 8-5. A six-run rally in the eighth inning clinched the game for the Giants.

In sweeping the four-game series, the Giants boosted their league lead to three full games.

Four Cub pitchers paraded to the hill in the eighth as 11 Giants went to bat, prodding six scores on five singles, three walks and a sacrifice.

Doubles by Mel Ott and Joe Medwick followed by Phil Weintraub's triple off Claude Passeau gave New York a two-run lead in the first but Chicago pecked away at Swede Hansen for one in the second and two more in the fifth on two Giant misplays and singles by Stan Hack and Bill Nicholson. Two runs off reliefer Ace Adams in the eighth gave the Bruins a 5-2 edge.

Ott started the big frame by drawing a walk and Medwick, Weintraub and Ernie Lombardi followed, driving in two runs with one-basers, Charley Grimm waved Passeau to the showers and summoned Hy Vandenberg. After Buddy Kerr sacrificed, Nap Reyes walked to load the bases.

When Ott sent Danny Gardella in to hit for Adams, @rimm called on Lefty Bob Chipman. Ott countered by subbing Billy Jurges for Gardella and he walked on four straight balls, forcing in the tying run.

Rucker bounced to Don Johnson but the attempt at a double play was late when Roy Hughes and Jurges crashed, letting pinch runner Johnny Hudson score to make it 6-5. After Mack Stewart replaced Chipman, George Hausman's infield single tallied Reyes and Ott drove home Rucker with the final counter.

Hughes was carried from the field with a knee injury resulting from the collision with Jurges.

Boys Club Fight Finals Tonight

Lubbock Boys club fighters will ring down the curtain tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the boxing season, with an eleven bout card that promises to offer fans the best show of the series.

The fights tonight will climax five weeks of fighting which have carried the boys over a battle scarred trail to the finals, and will determine the club champions in every division.

Letters and certificates will be awarded tonight at the fight show, with the champions getting the letters and all other fighters the certificates.

Additional prizes that are on the list will include a bicycle to the best boxer of the tournament, and boxes of Baby Ruth candy to the boy showing the best sportsmanship and the most improved fighter in the tournament.

Bo Sexton will again be the referee of the bouts, and Morley Jennings will be the time keeper. Judges for the finals, furnished by the Rotary club, will be E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, Curtis Barrett and George Walters.

All fighters on tonight's show are boys who have proven consistent winners from the start of the tournament, and all ten championship fights are rated as toss-ups.

Arrogant Maxie Is Bitter Toward U. S.

PARIS, May 17 (AP) — Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight boxing champion who was reported several times to have been killed in the war, sneered at the mention of Joe Louis when he was seen in a prison camp, Stars and Stripes reported today.

The Army newspaper said Maj. Clement Wheeler, USAAF officer from San Antonio, Tex., talked with "Der Maxie" for more than two hours recently when he visited a prison camp behind American lines to which Schmeling fled.

"Max was wearing civilian clothes and he looked prosperous," Wheeler said. "He told me he was making a tour of Allied prison camps (operated by the Germans) after having covered Nazi Army installations.

"I guess you would compare it to a U. S. O. tour."

Wheeler said when he mentioned Joe Louis, the last world champion heavyweight and now a U. S. Army sergeant, Schmeling sneered and left the impression that he considered the American negro "just lucky" in knocking him out in their second match.

In a slap at American sports writers, Schmeling was quoted by Wheeler as saying:

"They never gave me a square deal in all the time I was in your country. Even when I won, they either said I was lucky or a big bum who could knock down a bigger bum."

Wheeler said Schmeling told him he was "through for good" and that his career as a fighter ended when he jumped on Crete with German parachutists in 1942.

"I broke my back when I landed and almost died," Wheeler quoted Schmeling as saying.

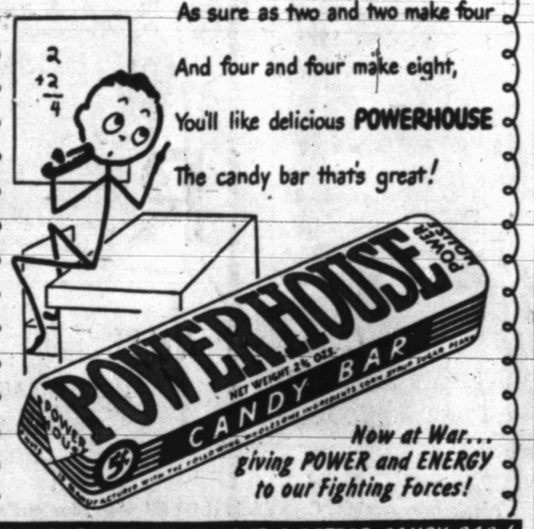

"When you get home, if you ever do," Schmeling told Wheeler arrogantly, "Be sure and tell the soft-living Yankees Max Schmeling is still alive."

Demaret Holds His Lead In Texas PGA

SAN ANTONIO, May 17 (AP)—Complaining of illness, but showing no signs of any weakness, Sailor Demaret of the Corpus Christi Naval Air Training station fashioned a 72 score, two worse than his first round Wednesday, to lead Texas P.G.A. golfers through 36-holes with a 142 total.

That count, along with all others entered in the closed championship of the big golf circus in progress at the Fort Sam Houston course here, will be sent to the National P.G.A. as qualifying rounds for the big national tourney later this season.

Demaret's total was two strokes ahead of Sammy Schneider of Corpus Christi and three better than Todd Menefee chalked up through the half-way mark of the 62-hole grind.

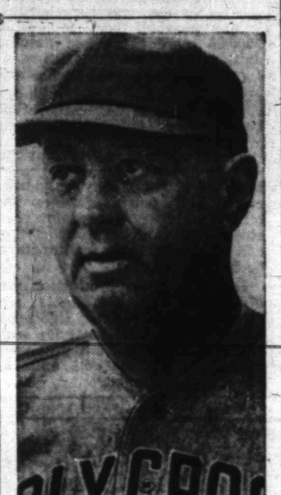

Raymond Gafford of Fort Worth had a 148 and W. A. "Lefty" Stackhouse of Seguin and Todd Houck of Borger had 149's. Tony Butler of Austin was next with a 150.

Demaret's score also topped the servicemen's and open divisions. Second in the service men's class was Cpl. Ashley Loafea of Fort Sam Houston with 145 and tied for third were Cpl. Leland Gibson of Randolph Field, Lt. Jack Tinnin of Galveston and Aviation Cadet C. T. Garth, jr. of Beaumont. Each had 149's.

Mrs. Betty Mims White had an 81 to go with an opening day 79 for a 160 total and first in the fem division or six strokes better than Mrs. Joan Barr Tracy. Both are from Dallas. Third place was held down by San Antonio's Mrs. Lee Christopher, who had a 172.

Jimmy Gauntt, the ineligible defending champion from Ardmore, Okla., was in second place to Demaret in the open, one stroke behind the sailor with a 143.

One-armed Pete Deschner of San Antonio fashioned a 79 today for a total score of 165. His efforts are lending moral support to the convalescents for whose benefit this meet is being held.

JACK BARRY TODAY—Jack Barry, shortstop of Connie Mack's famed $100,000 infield of 30-odd years ago, launched his 25th season as Holy Cross coach by seeing an 18-year-old southpaw freshman, Jack Tivnan, pitch a no-hit, no-run game to beat Charleston, R. I., Naval Air Base, 7-0.

Frogs Blast Ponies To Close Out Year

FORT WORTH, May 17. (AP)—The rampaging TCU Horned Frogs closed out their baseball season with a barrage of 13 hits which was good for a 14-2 victory over the Southern Methodist Mustangs here Thursday afternoon in the season's finale for both clubs.

The same two pitchers who hurled the Frogs to a twin killing over the Mustangs in Dallas Monday—Earl Conrad and Hubert (Lefty) Walter, collaborated in the win over SMU. Conrad started and got credit for his fourth victory.

With third place in the conference standings sewed up, the Frogs could wind up the season in second place, providing Texas whips Rice in the two games on next week's schedule.

Conrad now boasts the best pitching record in the conference with four straight victories against no losses.

Longhorn Nine Faces Showdown Test Soon

(By The Associated Press)

Texas moves to College Station Friday to open a two-game series with the Texas Aggies, paving the way for the showdown next week when Rice battles the Longhorns for the Southwest Conference baseball championship.

Regardless of how the Texas-Aggie series comes out, the Rice-Texas games will decide the title.

The Owls and Longhorns have two games scheduled next week at Austin . A third tilt was rained out and will be played if needed to determine the championship. If the postponed contest is made up it will be played at Houston.

Gene Tunney Returns To Inactive Service

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—Commander James J. (Gene) Tunney, who has been special adviser to the chief of naval personnel for physical training, today returned to inactive duty.

The former world heavyweight boxing champion received a letter of commendation from the Secretary of the Navy "for outstanding service as officer in charge of the physical fitness program of the Navy from its inception in 1940."

Tennis Expects Only Limited Play In U. S.

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—While British tennis enthusiasts are already talking in terms of international matches and post-war plans, the United States Lawn Tennis association intends to stick to its wartime program of championship play on a restricted basis.

"The end of the war in Europe will make very little difference," says Holcombe Ward, USLTA president. "We will hold all the championships on the same basis we have since the war began. The field at Forest Hills last year was limited to 32 men and 32 women and a great many of the entries were members of the armed forces.

"Most of the major tournaments are on our tentative schedule, although applications for sanctions have been slow this year and are just beginning to come in."

PITCHER IS FREED

TORONTO, May 17 (AP)—Among 257 Canadian airmen released from German prisoner-of-war camps was Phil Marchildon, he Philadelphia Athletics pitcher from Penetanguishene, Ont. He won 17 and lost 14 for the A's in 1942. He enlisted in the R. C. A. F. that fall and subsequently was reported missing, then a prisoner.

Cooper Attorney Hoping For Best

ST. LOUIS, May 17 (AP) — An agreement over salary differences, which prompted pitcher Mort Cooper for the third time this spring to leave the St. Louis Cardinals, appeared brighter tonight.

His attorney, Lee J. Havener, conferred with Cardinal President Sam Breadon in Rochester, N. Y. by telephone and announced a meeting here for next Tuesday or Wednesday of all parties, including Manager Billy Southworth.

"My talk with Breadon was cordial and we are near an agreement," Havener said. "I'm confident we can get together."

Havener said Cooper had received a telegram from Southworth advising the big righthander he had been fined $500 and suspended indefinitely for leaving the team yesterday morning.

Cooper returned to St. Louis today from Boston.

"Southworth did the only thing he could under the circumstances," Havener asserted.

Although he quoted Cooper as saying he did not plan to rejoin the team on its present eastern trip, Havener expressed the hope Mort would do so. Cooper could not be reached for comment.

Breadon Denies Any Agreement Reached

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 17 (AP) — President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals said tonight he had not reached "any understanding about an agreement" with pitcher Mort Cooper or Cooper's attorney Lee Havener.

Breadon said he had conferred by telephone today with both Cooper and the attorney and had agreed to meet with them after Manager Billy Southworth's return to St. Louis about May 23.

"It's entirely up to Southworth," Breadon declared.

FFA Contests Set Saturday

Future Farmers of America and vocational agriculture teachers of Area 1 will journey to Lubbock Saturday to stage public speaking contests, and to consider applications for two of the club's highest awards.

Five boys will compete in the speaking contests beginning Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the agriculture building on the campus at Texas Tech college. The winner will go to the state meet at Kerrville May 31, with the state winner entering two other meets before being eligible to compete in the Kansas City national contest.

Entries are H. L. Harbin and Paul Christin of Whitharral, Clay Weems of Ralls, Charles Scoggin of Seminole and Bradford Bullard of Shamrock.

Committee To Meet

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning a committee of 10 teachers will gather to check application for Lone Star Farmer degrees (state award) and American Farmer degrees (national award). Those are awarded on regulations set forth in the constitution of the Future Farmers club.

Thirty-five applications have been made for the state degree with eight received requesting the national honor. They will be referred to the state board when it convenes May 31. At that time the state titles will be confirmed, or denied, while the national applications will be recommended to the county-wide board and studied by that group in the fall.

O. T. Ryan, supervisor of vocational agriculture in Area 1 with offices in the Agriculture building at Texas Tech college, stated the quota for Area 1 is but 3 for national degrees. This is based on a ratio of one for each 1,000 club members. He added, however, that if the boys qualified they probably could be given the award if some other section of the state proved lacking in applicants.

Okinawa Battle

guns were poured into the Japanese Okinawa fortifications through Tuesday. Heavy naval bombardment preceded the April 1 invasion and was resumed some days later as the depth and strength of the southern Okinawa defenses became apparent.

That tonnage represented possibly a quarter-million pounds.

Mustangs Sweep Tokyo

Mustang fighters from the Army's 7th Fighter command on Iwo Jima took over the task of sweeping the Japanese homeland for the day, making low level attacks on Atsugi airfield near Tokyo. They destroyed seven aircraft, probably destroyed two and damaged 33. Intense anti-aircraft destroyed one Mustang.

The British carrier planes destroyed two small craft, left a coastal cargo ship and a lugger in a sinking condition and damaged two small cargo ships, two luggers and six barges.

They also created a large explosion in Chama town, fired an oil dump, strafed motor vehicles loaded with troops and damaged seven airplanes.

Army Liberators strafed a small cargo ship or escort vessel between Paramushiro and Shimoshu in the northern Kuriles and damaged two enemy fighters which attacked them. Marine fliers attacked the Marshalls and Palaus.

Almost Deserted City

The Marines found Naha a wrecked and almost deserted city when they pushed into the central section yesterday.

Tokyo radio advised the Japanese people that "the war situation on Okinawa has entered upon a grave stage" and that "there is no room for any optimistic thinking whatsoever."

One Marine patrol roamed the Naha ruins for five hours and encountered only one living human —a Japanese soldier who tossed a grenade that wounded two Marines.

"Nearly every building in Naha is levelled," one member of the patrol told Associated Press correspondent Vern Haugland.

"In the doorways," he said, "lay charred bodies of Japanese soldiers. Once we had to crawl around a mound of debris and stinking corpses."

At the other end of the Japanese four-mile Shuri line across the southern end of the island, a tank unit of the 96th Infantry division fought to within 200 yards of the eastern port and defense anchor of Yonabaru.

Allied Troops Not To Salute Germans

LONDON, May 17 (AP)—Allied troops under Gen. Eisenhower's orders are not to salute German officers or officials under any circumstances, War Secretary Sir James Grigg said today.

Sir James said he had heard a rumor that one British division had been told that it might be appropriate to salute German officers under "certain circumstances." These instructions are now abolished by Eisenhower's order, he said.

Maverick Put On War Plant Board

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — Five nominations to the board of directors of the Smaller War Plants corporation were approved today by the Senate.

They included Maury Maverick of Texas, present chairman and Patrick W. McDonough of California.

APPROPRIATIONS VOTED

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)— The House passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate today a bill appropriating $1,086,210,337 covering fiscal 1946 for the Department of Labor, National Labor Relations board, Federal Security agency and related offices.

Wall Street..

PEACE STOCKS ADVANCE

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP) — Investment funds continued to concentrate on peace stocks in today's market and, for the third successive session, favorites were pushed up fractions to more than a point.

Rails were out in front during the greater part of the proceedings although the majority ended well under the best. Utilities were given a play after the opening. Steels were narrow and motors turned a bit rassed at the last. Top gains were reduced in most cases in the final hour. Transfers totaled 1,370,000 shares compared with 1,216,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .3 of a point at 64.9. Of 958 issues registering, 613 advance, 230 were lower and 215 unchanged. The utility composite touched a peak since August, 1937, by .1 of a point.

Prominent on the swing were Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Hudson Motors, Consolidated Edison, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Grumman Aircraft, Westinghouse, General Electric, Lowe's, Long-Bell Lumber, Johns-Manville and Owens-Illinois.

Bonds were uneven, as were grain futures.

Cotton..

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—New commission house buying and mill demand rallied the cotton futures market to gains of 25 to 55 cents a bale today. Unfavorable crop prospects, tightness in the spot cotton situation and the growing belief that the purchase program or some form of government price support will be continued, accounted for the strength.

July made a new seasonal high at 22.86 cents a pound. At one time values were up as much as 65 cents a bale which brought in considerable profit taking. But after a temporary reaction the market came back strong on renewed buying. Spot cotton market was quiet but firm.

Futures closed 25 to 55 cents a bale higher.

Alabama Beats Down Anti-Poll Tax Bill

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 17. (AP)—Controversial anti-poll tax legislation came to a sudden end in the Alabama legislature yesterday.

The house defeated, 70 to 27, a bill to abolish the cumulative feature of the levy, which requires a citizen to pay up all back taxes before he can vote.

After this action, the author of another bill calling for outright repeal asked that his measure be indefinitely postponed—in effect, killing it for this session.

Alabama is one of the seven states which still retain the poll tax. Georgia abolished it early this year.

Carrier Crew Brings Ship Back Home In Heroic Epic

the Japanese-mainland.

The Franklin's planes were on the flight deck, loaded with bombs and gas for takeoffs. The Japanese plane came out of the cloud so fast he escaped the Franklin's guns and dropped a bomb that pierced the top deck and exploded below.

"We were heavily loaded with bombs, torpedoes and fighter rockets and flames shot almost immediately from the hangar deck and enveloped the whole forward flight deck," said Captain Gehres.

"There was another big explosion and I saw we were hit amidships and two or three minutes later the bombs and gasoline tanks of the planes on the flight deck began exploding."

From then until almost mid-afternoon there was one explosion after another as the planes and than the magazines blew up.

"We had about 50 tons of bombs, torpedoes and rockets and about 50 tons of other stuff aboard and it all went up," the captain said.

"The first explosion knocked me down and when I got to the bridge the flames were shooting out of the hangar deck and enveloped the whole forward flight deck.

Many People Killed

"All the explosions shook the ship pretty badly and knocked a lot of people off into the water. Some of the stuff dropped through to the hangar deck and one explosion killed everyone forward on the hangar deck.

"The smaller stuff, the 20 and 50 mm machine gun ammunition, was popping around the bridges like strings of firecrackers going off.

"About 8 o'clock we transferred Admiral Ralph Davidson and his flag staff to another ship. By that time the men in the engine rooms were collapsing; it was about 130 degrees down there and filled with smoke.

"I told them to set all instruments so that we could keep steaming, and get out. We were heading straight for Japan and couldn't do anything about it because we couldn't steer but we had to keep moving.

"We kept right on running for about 45 minutes, although there was nobody in the engine rooms. Then we went dead in the water.

Many Blown Overboard

"Many of the men jumped overboard or were blown overboard and some were picked up by other ships. The cruiser Santa Fe had come up and we were transferring the stretcher cases and others who were badly wounded. We got the last of the stretcher cases over about noon. The Santa Fe backed away as the two ships were banging together in the rough seas and causing some damage. We had a list of about 14 degrees. Later the Santa Fe came back and helped fight the fire, even though it was a very dangerous thing for them to do. One magazine blew up and threw fragments over the Santa Fe's decks.

"I want to be sure Capt. H. C. Fitz of the Santa Fe gets credit for what he did. It took nerve."

Trouble With Tow Line

Some time later the cruiser Pittsburgh came alongside but it took four hours to get a tow line secured on the Franklin.

During this operation a Japanese plane attacked again, making a low level strafing and bombing attack that missed the mark.

"By this time the worst of the fires were out but some of the rockets still were exploding," said Captain Gehres. "Some of them roared across the decks, killing the people in their paths, and shooting out to sea where they narrowly missed other ships. Many men were killed or injured by them. It was a nightmare."

Many Jap Planes

The Japanese sent out many planes to "finish off" the crippled Franklin.

During the early hours of the attack Captain Gehres said the Catholic Chaplain was "everywhere," helping wounded, fighting fires and administering last rites to the dying.

"He always was where the situation was the toughest, and I saw him in front of a huge billow of smoke, holding a fire hose and encouraging others to go in with him while he extinguished flames," said the captain. "He didn't hesitate a moment to go where nobody else would go. I even saw him go into an ammunition magazine, where there was a fire.

"With another Irishman, Lt. Cmdr. McGregor Kirkpatrick, he got a hose and stood there and wet the locker, which might have blown up any moment, killing the both of them.

300 Found Trapped

"After that the chaplain went to another gun mount and started jettisoning ammunition."

Lt. Gary found about 300 men trapped in a mess compartment where they would have suffocated. The lights all were out and they became panic stricken.

"In Navy slang they were beating their gums (screaming and shouting) and they also were beating their heads against the bulkhead," said the captain. "Lt. Gary found them, and quieted them and then told them he would find a way out. He crawled around and found a means of escape and then came back and led the others up. He went back three times, at the risk of his life, and got everyone out."

Others Are Heroes, Also

Another hero was Dr. James L. Fuelling. Captain Gehres said he "was all over the ship, fighting fires. Still another was Lt. (jg) Robert Wassman who rescued the five men trapped under a hatch.

Even the ship's band proved themselves heroes. With most of their instruments destroyed, they used a galley tub for a drum; a galvanized bucket for a snare drum; a glass jug for a bass fiddle.

"It was a pretty hot band, recruited from big name bands in the states," said the captain.

They helped the wounded and they fought fires.

When they came into harbor they were playing, as was their practice.

This time it was "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be."

Major Killed At Air Field At Amarillo

AMARILLO, May 17 (AP)—Maj. George N. Hembree, medical administrative corps, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a gas truck at Amarillo Army Air field.

Major Hembree, whose wife, Grace, of Richmond, Ky., has been notified of his death, was enroute to Thater General hospital, Nashville, Tenn., from the west coast.

Harold Young Okayed As Wallace Helper

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — The Senate confirmed today the nomination of Harold H. Young of Texas to be solicitor of the Commerce department.

Young was secretary to Henry A. Wallace when the present commerce secretary was vice president.

Vote Due Today On Veto Power

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (AP) —A United Nations conference committee went one fast round to no decision tonight on the vital question whether any of five great powers should have authority to block peace-enforcement action by a new world league.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain's undersecretary for foreign affairs, said the test vote may come tomorrow.

Fundamental Procedure

At stake in that ballot is the fundamental procedure recommended by the great powers for forcible handling of threats to world peace.

Any one of the Big Five could veto such action, against itself or against any other country.

Now it's up to a committee considering the structure of the security council to determine whether the voting formula is to be retained. The Big Five are insisting on it and most signs pointed to their getting their way, despite sharp opposition.

It became Cadogan's job to explain how the voting arrangment would work in the council.

France Backs Plan

France spoke in support of the system. But New Zealand's prime minister, Peter Fraser, was said to have shot some decidedly barbed questions at Cadogan. And Australian Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt was described as having strongly attacked the veto authority.

A Netherlands representative called for changes to meet the Dutch position that "no veto should be given to any state except if this were to be considered necessary in questions of coercion by armed forced of third parties, and then only to the great powers directly concerned."

War Loan Sales To Individuals Climb

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — Sales to individuals in the 7th War Loan drive have climbed to $1,382,000,000, the Trueasury announced today.

This is 19¾ per cent of the 7 billion dollar goal for individual investors in the drive that started Monday and runs seven weeks through June 30.

Of the sales to individuals, $1,065,000,000 was in series E bonds. This was 26½ per cent of the E bond quota of 4 billion dollars.

Cooperation sales will not come into the picture until June 19. The corporations quota is 7 billion dollars. The over-all goal of the drive is 14 billion dollars.

Meantime the Treasury reported that employes of its war finance division, "practicing what they preach," already have subscribed 169 per cent of their quota.

The war finance division said in a separate relaese that railroads are participating in the 7th War loan on a unified nationwide basis. Railroads have already set $127,004,671 in quotas for themselves, with a few roads still to announce their figures.

quires that ballots be numbered but that they not bear the name of the voter. After the ballot is marked the portion bearing the number must be torn off and deposited in a separate box.

House approval of Senate amendments today submitted to the electorate in the general election of 1946 a constitutional amendment authorizing a retirement and death benefit system for state employes.

The Senate amendment approved by the House extends the same protection to appointive county employes, if approved by the citizens of a county in a local option election.

Retirement and death benefits for city employes were authorized in a constitutional amendment approved two years ago.

The joint resolution on the state and county benefit system does not set up the actual mechanics. This is left to future legislatures and to county commissioners' courts if the people approve the amendment. It does limit contributions by employer and employe to the benefit fund to a maximum of 5 per cent of the employe's pay.

The amendment which was ordered submitted today does not permit participation of elective state and county officials in retirement plans.

The amendment is to be submitted in 1946 because enabling legislation probably will not be considered until the next legislature meets in general session early in 1947.

Other constitutional amendments which have been ordered submitted by the current legislature will be voted on by the electorate at a special election next Aug. 25.

Passed on second reading in the House was a Senate bill remitting one-half of the state property tax for general purposes to Colorado, Fayette and Jackson counties. The bill must be considered later on third and final reading if it is to reach the Governor's desk.

Estimating The Japs

Will They Follow Nazis' Lead?

NOW that Japan stands alone against a world demanding an end to war — a world with the might to enforce its demands —it remains to be seen if there will be a deterioration of the Japanese will to resist. When her Axis partners were riding high, the Japanese may have had no doubts concerning the outcome. But with Italy a quitter and Germany destroyed, the future cannot present a rosy hue even to the most fanatical Jap.

It is no secret that Allied might which brought victory in Europe, with the possible exception of Russian armies, is to be added to the large forces now carrying the fight to Japan. The help of Russia could shorten the struggle in the Pacific many months, but even without it Japan will be soundly whipped, and at a not too far distant date.

Here will be an opportunity for a comparison between the Teutonic and Oriental attitude toward defeat. The Germans fought on for weeks after they knew defeat was inevitable. They sacrificed thousands of lives, saw their country destroyed, rather than quit. Will the Japs display that sort of fanaticism? Or will they try to save something from a situation which will inexorably result in a fate similar to that which befell their Axis partners?

One person's guess is as good as anothers in this regard and no one can offer anything more than a sheer guess. But for our part, while we expect a hard fight and one which, sadly, will take a toll of American life and blood, we believe victory over Japan will be won sooner than most of us hoped would be the case a few months ago.

Expanding Use Of Plastics

IN the old question and answer games played by the youth of former generations, a common question was: "Is it animal, mineral or vegetable?" The question is no longer broad enough today. A whole new class of materials has come out of the chemical laboratories in the last generation and it is playing an increasing role in the lives of men, women and children.

These are the plastics which, bit by bit, are replacing wood, bone, leather and metal in many of the things that are used and worn. Their variety is limitless. They can assume almost any shape or color imagined by the mind of man.

They are in the transparent blisters on bombers, the buckles of belts, the handles of knives, and modern furniture. They crop up as decoration on women's handbags and on cars, as pencils and as chessmen, and as the binder in shatterproof windshields and in plywood.

The industrial world is just beginning to find uses for plastic parts in machines. This generation may yet drive plastic cars and wash its clothes in plastic tubs. Whether the postwar world turns out to be a better one or not, it will be more colorful and more exciting because a fourth kingdom of plastics has been added to the animal, mineral and vegetable kingdoms of bygone days.

Aid For Food Producers

AT no time during the war has the job of the American farmer been more important than it is today. Production of other vital war materials can be cut back now that Germany is defeated. But the need for the food the farmer grows will be greater than ever in the months ahead.

The bald facts are in the report just issued by War Mobilizer Vinson. Military requirements will be as high as ever for many months. Relief needs are far greater with the end of hostilities in Europe. Supplies are 5 to 10 per cent lower while demands are 5 to 10 per cent greater than they were. Shortages in such essentials as meat, sugar, butter, fats and oils will become more serious.

The prospect fully justifies War Food Administrator Jones' pleas that American farmers and food processors be given more help in doing their essential job. Mr. Jones would like to see farm machinery given top priority. He wants key personnel on farms deferred. He asks that food-processing plants be placed on the critical or urgent list to give them "equality with other war industries" in obtaining essential labor and materials.

For the first time since the war began there is a falling off in the demands of war industry and the armed services for manpower and materials. There is surely no better place to put the surplus than on the farms and in the plants struggling to meet the world's demands for food.

The One Minute Sermon

Thy right hand, O Lord, is become glorious in power: thy right hand, O Lord, hath dashed in pieces the enemy.

And in the greatness of thine excellency thou hast overthrown them that rose up against thee: thou sentest forth thy wrath, which consumed them as stubble.

And with the blast of thy nostrils the waters were gathered together, the floods stood upright as an heap, and the depts were congealed in the heart of the sea.—Exodus 15: 6-8.

The Story: Nick is confronted with a surprise party at The Ledges. Pat explains that both she and her father felt it was dangerous for him to be there alone and planned to join him. But when her father invited Eric Woolf along she invited Charley. She expresses concern over the connection between her father and Eric.

THE TEMPLES REMAIN
XI

As we came into the library, Eric was standing with his back to the fire, holding a glass of Phineas Hudson's best port in one hand and a very large and aromatic cigar in the other.

"I had to shoot the creature," he was saying.

"Naturally." Bruce Temple nodded in cold affirmation.

"But why shoot it?" asked Mr. Hudson, spreading his hands in innocent query, "Merely because you erred in judging the animal a good hunting dog?"

"I could not abide its trembling every time I pulled the trigger," answered Woolf complacently.

Brenda Temple regarded him as one might sight down the barrel of a gun.

"You're spoofing, Mr. Woolf," she said.

Eric's eyebrows lifted.

"I beg your pardon?"

"You didn't actually shoot your dog because he was gunshy."

"Not he, my dear lady; it was a she." Woolf emptied his glass and set it on the mantel. "That was the trouble, you see. Females always lack spirit."

"Oh." Brenda Temple's lips rounded innocently over the word, but there was a definite glitter in her eyes. "Tell us more about yourself, Mr. Woolf."

Eric removed the cigar from his mouth and blew a perfect smoke ring. Then he fixed Brenda Temple with eyes that showed no more feeling than a shark's.

"I have been a citizen of this country long enough, Miss Temple, to know when I am being ribbed," he said.

"But not quite long enough to know that shooting female hunting dogs because they are gunshy is not considered a mark of manhood," she replied.

Eric's face went slightly crimson, then slowly the color drained from his face. I had never seen him so close to losing control.

* * *

The radiators started clanking and the house was filled with a witches' symphony. Mr. Hudson cleared his throat.

"Nicholas, my boy, how about giving me a lift with that fire?" I'm no hand at a furnace, you know."

Bruce Temple stood up.

"I'm afraid we'll have to be going, Phineas," he said.

"So soon?" Mr. Hudson asked. "It's early."

"It's the sea air," Temple said. "Makes me sleepy."

Mr. Hudson shrugged.

"As you wish. Perhaps you will drop over tomorrow."

Everybody edged out into the hall to bid the Temples forewell. Mr. Hudson looked at me oddly when we were left alone.

"Nicholas, I believe you know me well enough to believe that I haven't an ounce of raw curiosity in by bones. Now, I don't wish to pry into your affairs, but where I find something approaching involvement of my daughter, I feel that I'm entitled to some explanation."

"Believe me, Mr. Hudson," I said, "I'm as much in the dark as you are. I haven't the remotest idea of what's going on."

"You wouldn't lie to an old man, Nick?"

"You know how I feel about Pat."

"I do." He nodded, "and I believe you."

"Mr. Hudson," I said, "while we're exchanging confidences, I've something I'd like to ask you. It's about Eric Woolf."

"Eric," Mr. Hudson lifted his head. "What's the matter with Eric?"

"I'll pass that question if you don't mind. I'm bothered by his omnipresence. I don't quite see how he comes into this picture."

"Eric is at The Ledges because I asked him," he announced stiffly. "Suppose we fix the fire," I said.

* * *

WHEN we got upstairs Brenda Temple and her father were back in the library.

"What's wrong?" I asked.

Brenda sank into a chair and looked quietly amused.

"It seems that there are, in the hood of our car, some shutters—"

"Vents, my dear," Bruce Temple corrected her.

"Yes, father." She smiled demurely. "Vents. It appears that it is my job to open and close these vents at the proper time. Mama forgot to close; the naughty rain slunk into the spark plugs or something and Daddy's car positively will not run tonight."

"Are you sure?" asked Eric.

"There's no reason in the world why you shouldn't stay here with us." Phineas Hudson's voice sounded unnaturally loud. "There are seventeen bedrooms in the house."

"But how jolly," said Brenda Temple. And her father said:

"Good of you, Phineas. But it seems an imposition."

"Not at all," replied Mr. Hudson. "Matter of fact, I was on the point of asking you to stay, but you seemed eager to be off."

Brenda Temple sat back, perfectly at ease, and drew out a cigaret.

"For hours I've wanted an excuse to horn in on this jamboree."

She looked maliciously at Eric. "Perhaps we shall hear more of Mr. Woolf's adventures."

Charley removed a shred of tobacco from his lip and snapped it with his finger into the fire.

"Let's have some coffee," he said. "I'll make it."

He had just got to his feet when the knock came.

Press Officers Are Nominated For 1945

GONZALES, May 16. (AP) — Nominations for 1945 officers of the Texas Press association were announced yesterday by Henry Reese, III, of Gonzales. Reese is chairman of the nominating committee.

The names will be submitted on a ballot and the vote will be taken by mail. There will be no convention this year.

Nominees, approved unanimously, included:

Joe T. Cook, Mission, president; Walter Humphrey, Temple, vice president; Deskins Wells, Wellington, secretary-treasurer; Freddie Massengill, Terrell, three year term as director; Jack Howerton, Cuero, and G. Rankin Starkey, Kerrville, for two years director's terms.

Roosevelt Likeness To Adorn Dime, Bonds

WASHINGTON, May 17. (U.P.)—The late President Roosevelt's likeness will be used on a new dime and also adorn a new series of war bonds.

Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau, jr., announced today the decision to issue these coins and bonds.

Production of the Roosevelt dimes will begin soon and they will be put into circulation about Christmas time. As present dimes wear out, the Roosevelt dimes gradually will replace all existing ones in circulation. The Philadelphia mint will make the dimes.

The Roosevelt bond will be a new denomination—perhaps $250 —and will be issued in the next war loan drive.

Mohair Almost Ruled Out For Upholstery

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—An amendment issued recently to a regulation covering mohair virtually rules out use of that fabric for furniture upholstery, the War Production board said today.

As outlined by a WPB spokesman, here's the situation:

Put into effect May 3, the order freezes until August 18 the use of mohair fabric for anything but military and most urgent civilian requirements. The step was taken because of the acute shortage of textiles.

The order earmarks most of the mohair supply for civilian and military clothing.

BUSINESS PLEAS AIRED

MOSCOW, May 17. (AP)—Viktor Linsetsky, commentator on international affairs, asserted today that the State department in Washington was being bombarded with requests from individual American industrialists for permission to go to Germany and re-establish relations with Reich factories.

BRANDEIS

ACCORDING to a press association dispatch a justice of the peace of St. Joseph, Mo., has issued a writ of attachment to a local dentist on the $100,000,000 gold hoard seized by American forces in a German salt mine.

The dentist claims that the Germans owe him $5,000 for a wound sustained by him in World War I, and the justice of the peace has sent a copy of the writ to General Eisenhower by registered mail.

Frederick Newman of Kettering, England, is eighty years old and never had a rheumatic ache in all his life.

He attributes this to the fact that he keeps bees and comes home daily with about thirty or forty bee stings.

"My wife pulls the stings out," he said to a reporter, "but they make me feel so fit I could pull a house down. Bee stings are the best tonic in the world."

* * *

When the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Arturo Toscanini, recently played Weber's "Invitation to the Dance," a Hollywood girl took the invitation literally and slipped on to the stage pirouetting gracefully across the footlights to the Maestro's disgust and the delight of the audience, until policemen pulled her off.

* * *

MAYBE you read these items in your paper, maybe you didn't. I always get a big kick out of these little hidden-away stories that prove so eloquently "what fools these mortals be."

Usually when people do or say crazy things like the above-mentioned it's either for publicity or because of almost every human being's desire to do or be something out of the ordinary.

Life, to most of us, is pretty monotonous so it is only natural to want to play the part of a hero or of a celebrity for a brief moment.

But unless the performer is a hero or a celebrity those ridiculous stunts only show him up for what he really is—a silly, pitiful fool.

You probably have people like that in your own community.

The climbers, the fourflushers, the braggarts, the show-offs, the keeping-up-with-the-Joneses — they are all of the same ilk.

We have them, too, but I really don't mind them.

To me they are just like those hidden-away newspaper items.

I laugh at them and take them for what they are worth.

Our Pacific Blueprint

Japs To Get What Germans Got

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE detailed pattern of Anglo-American operations against Japan remains a military secret, but the over-all blueprint has become fairly obvious from post-Hitler strategy in the Far East and from advance briefing in Washington. So confident is the High Command of Allied strength and eventual success of its encirclement offensive that publication of our plan is now permitted.

With the transfer of thousands of bombers to the Orient and the seizure of Okinawa, which will provide needed ground space for airfields, repair shops and cantonments, Gen. Barney Giles and Admiral Nimitz's carriers will soon be sending 3,000 planes every day over the enemy's main islands. The largest number to date has been only 400—a mere handful.

TUCKER

As in Germany, these raids will have, in order, three major directives: 1. Synthetic oil plants and refineries in Japan and Manchuria. 2. Ship and rail transportation lines. 3. General munitions plants. The British will wage the aerial war of terrorization with their daylight forays.

Meanwhile, we will sever Tokyo's supply arteries of its petroleum resources to the south, if the assignment has not been fulfilled already. The conquest of Borneo is designed to complete that job. Then it is believed that the enemy will lack sufficient fuel for air and naval forces, and possibly for ground units which require oil and gasoline.

Not until then — and it is estimated that this throttling will require about three months more— will we deliver a direct attack against such inner strongholds as Central China, Korea, Formosa and Japan itself.

* * *

STRATEGY: Americans, the British, the Chinese and the Russians, if they come in, could probably destroy Japanese might within a year. Despite warnings from top men that our savage Oriental foe has plenty of fight in him regardless of Germany's collapse, many high military authorities maintain that a fairly quick conquest of Japan is a distinct possibility. Some even talk of a Tokyo surrender by Christmas of this year.

Only one consideration perhaps — a laudable one—stands in the way of such a speedy and happy consummation of the war in the Pacific. Our land, sea and air commanders are determined to win with a minimum of casualties — dead, wounded and missing. Both President Roosevelt and his successor subscribed to this doctrine.

Every preparation since the Nazis' defeat has been based on conducting a campaign that would expend material but save human lives. Orders for the manufacture of new and old kinds of ammunition have been stepped up. We will use up billions in bullets and shells, if necessary, to kill Japs and spare Americans. We will not attempt a landing anywhere until gun emplacements, hidden caves and airfields have been barraged out of business.

It is heartening to newspapermen-fathers of youngsters overseas to attend Pentagon building conferences and to hear men such as Gens. George Marshall, Henry Arnold and Brehon Somervell expound Christian strategy and tactics in the midst of the barbarous war of history.

* * *

SURPLUS: The $100,000,000,000 worth of surplus property which the United States will own after the war is the most fabulous jackpot in world history. Every nation on the Allied side is striving for a share of the prize. Each has entertained high hopes ever since supervision over disposal of these assets was transferred from Henry Morgenthau to Henry Wallace.

Russia, Britain and India, to mention only a few bidders, are not content with asking for low prices on installations we have built within their borders. They can buy them at bargain figures because we cannot tear up docks, railroads, plants and airfields and transport them to the U. S. Now they want priorities on machine tools, trucks, jeeps, home and shop equipment, medical supplies and food stuffs which various federal agencies have stored in this country.

* * *

UNEMPLOYMENT: When Treasury was acting as salesman for these varied commodities, it tried to arrange for their disposition domestically on a businesslike basis. In fact, Morgenthau's aides were so strict in their regulations that they provoked protests from individual buyers, especially Servicemen.

Now the task of getting rid of this material has been entrusted to the leading internationalist in Washington, Commerce Secretary Wallace. The shift surprised even Mr. Truman's aides, but it had been arranged by his predecessor, and the President did not want to intervene so soon after his accession to the White House.

Incidentally, Sidney Hillman's CIO, which demanded the Iowan's renomination in Chicago last July, favors the sale of this vast surplus to foreign purchasers, especially to the Russians. It fears that marketing the goods here would tend to reduce American production demands and create unemployment.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Loman

WE ARE not out of the woods, yet. New York authorities on foreign affairs are disturbed because some people are using V-E day as an excuse to air their hatreds of our Allies.

This is playing with fire, the experts warn. Regardless of the length of the Japanese war, we have a tough, bloody job ahead. We shall need friends which the thoughtless would alienate.

We have suffered a million casualties so far. Our gallant men must now face four million enemy soldiers entrenched behind mountains on the Nipponese homeland. Transportation of our forces will require three ships to every one used in the invasion of Europe — each round trip taking four months.

While our Army and Navy are at death grips with Hirohito's zealots, the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse are spreading pestilence, famine, destitution and rebellion through demoralized Europe. If ever the American people — folks on Main Street as well as statesmen — needed to think clearly about our place in a troubled world, it is now.

* * *

STALIN: Specialists on foreign affairs declare that unless we want to stand alone it is imperative to re-examine our position in the light of our responsibilities as the new leader of mankind, and to recognize our perils.

They maintain that if we permit the indulgence in a reckless policy of fanning prejudices against our recent partners, we may wake up some morning with a new war on our hands.

The war may take the form of a no-quarter economic struggle between our free enterprise system and a union of nations under state-managed industry — an outcome that would have disastrous effects on American trade and employment. Or it may be World War III.

At the moment our chief problem is the Soviet Union. It is sickening to hear fellow travelers condone everything done by the Reds. We need not kowtow to Russia; we are the stronger power today. We should speak frankly and act vigorously if our own self-interest, as Stalin and Motolov do. But our criticisms should be based on known facts.

The experts caution that if we seize on every petty excuse and unfounded rumor to needle the Russians, we may have a deadly antagonist instead of a rude friend on our hands.

Many overlook that Stalin is not the free agent that he is painted to be. Like a President or Prime Minister, a Commission chairman is forced to bow to his public. A dictator, too, must be a politicion.

In the USSR several pressure groups jockey for control — the Red army, the new nationalistic republics, the Ogpu police, the die-hard Bolshevists of the old-school suspicious of the rest of the word, the Communist party groups interested in industrial recovery, Five Year Plans, and social progress and therefore keen for American aid and friendship.

New Chief Executive Shows Independence

President Truman Standing Firm

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Conservatives in Congress had hopes when President Truman assumed office that they could mould him into something approaching "their man."

They are having to readjust their calculations considerably.

STOKES

These are the gentlemen, comprising many old-line Southern Democrats as well as GOP type Republicans, who spoke of an era of "cooperation" between the President and Congress. By this they meant cooperation by the President with them on their own terms. They were echoed by quite a claque outside Congress.

Their pious declarations fooled some people, but not nearly everybody. They did not fool the new president.

* * *

Two Developments Noted

Thus far he has exhibited sturdy independence.

Significant are two current developments, one having to do with general policy directly, the other having to do on the surface with personalities but also with general policy.

There is a movement, backed by Conservatives in Congress and big interests outside, to "let off the brakes," now that the war in Europe is over, to "give business its head." It is the same sort of agitation that followed the last war. Then it was successful.

Taxes, particularly on the big fellows, were cut sharply. Tariffs were raised for their interest. There was a merry ride for awhile, but it ended in something we called "the depression" less than 10 years later.

* * *

A CAMPAIGN has started now to reduce taxes and to ease off restrictions by OPA, rationing and price control, which would tend to promote inflation, sometimes disguised as "good business." It gets encouragement, too, from the isolationist attitude that we should take care of this country and not get too excited about helping and feeding the people in other lands.

The campaign this time is more quiet, more cautious, for we still have a big war on our hands.

Rising in Congress to champion tax reduction is Sen. Walker George (D., Ga.), chairman of the finance committee, an influential figure. He talks of a graduated reduction over five years. Senator George is among the Conservative leaders, an able and respected gentleman. His word carries weight.

But in this instance Senator George's background, which is no secret, should be taken into account. He was elected by the support and contributions of big interests of his own state. These and others in the country were happy when he chose to become chairman of the Finance committee, rather than Foreign Relations.

* * *

President Truman, when confronted at a press conference with the George proposal, immediately slapped it down. There can be no tax reduction, he said bluntly, until after the war with Japan is over. He added that 85,000,000 bondholders must be protected and their only protection is in continuation of high taxes.

Likewise the President is standing staunchly against attempts to break down OPA price controls. A powerful Senate figure on the Republican side, Sen. Robert Taft (O.), is active in the campaign to ease OPA restrictions.

* * *

THE President took issue boldly with another powerful southern leader, Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D., Tenn.), president pro tem of the Senate, by reappointing David E. Lilienthal chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He waved aside pleas against reappointment from the senator and his colleague, Sen. Tom Stewart (D., Tenn.).

This forthrightness brought its reward, for the fight against Mr. Lilienthal, a personal feud on the part of Senator McKellar, now has collapsed, and his confirmation is assured.

The enemies of public power would have rejected if Mr. Lilienthat had been unseated. In the background a big issue was involved here which could have ramified in other directions. The President was aware of this.

Texas Crops Suffer Some Damage By Hail

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—Some hail damage to Texas crops has been reported from all sections of the state during the past week, with the exception of the high plains area where surface moisture was deficient, the United States department of agriculture reported today.

Weather conditions generally were favorable in the eastern areas of the state although field work suffered some delay from showers which proved highly beneficial to newly planted crops.

The wheat crop in the high plains and low rolling plains area continued to deteriorate and in some sectors was being grazed over or plowed under.

Some progress was made during the week in the planting of corn and sorghums in the north central and eastern sectors. First cuttings of alfalfa and Johnson grass were widespread.

In the southern part of the state cotton continued to make good progress.

A light movement of early watermelons from the South and onions in the North was reported.

Cattle continued to make satisfactory gains with a good calf crop in all areas.

Major league baseball clubs spend as much as $50,000 a year in their search for talent among the teen-age athletes of the country.

Eden Lauds Parley Progress But Sees Disquieting Issues Ahead

LONDON, May 17. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden confidently predicted today that the San Francisco conference would bring forth a charter better than Dumbarton Oaks, but he solemnly warned that there still were a "number of serious and disquieting issues" clouding the international situation.

Within a few hours after his return from the United States Eden appeared before Commons to make a brief report and to ask for time to consult with Prime Minister Churchill and the rest of the cabinet before going into details of his trip. He appeared tired but confident.

Eden carefully avoided any direct mention of issues threatening the harmony of the major powers, but he described some of them as "urgent."

One obviously was the Polish issue, aggravated by Moscow's arrest of 16 Polish leaders, some of whom Britain and the United States had recommended for inclusion in a new and broader Polish government.

Two other issues—a new Austrian provisional government announced by Moscow and negotiations with Marshal Tito over occupation of Trieste—possibly were in Eden's mind as he carefully chose his words.

An indication that Britain and the United States were in complete agreement and acting jointly in approaching these outstanding international problems came from today's terse report.

Cheers came when Eden referred to his talks with President Truman and Joseph Grew, American undersecretary of state, and asserted that these exchanges revealed "how intimate is the understanding between our two countries and how closely similar is our approach to problems of the modern world."

San Francisco Session

Referring to San Francisco, he said:

"Good progress has been made. Better in many respects that we had anticipated. I feel confident that the remaining difficulties will be overcome and that a charter will be agreed upon which will be a better document than that of Dumbarton Oaks."

With frankness, Eden added that "with regard to the general international situation, there are a number of serious and disquieting issues, some of them urgent. I would like an opportunity to talk these over with the Prime Minister and my colleagues."

De Valera Defends Neutrality And Can't Understand World Attitude

DUBLIN, May 17 (AP) — Prime Minister Eamon De Valera, defending Eire's foreign policy, declared last night he did not see how Prime Minister Churchill or any other thinking person could "fail to see the reason for our neutrality."

De Valera made his statement in an address replying to a broadcast speech by Churchill last Sunday, in which the British prime minister assailed Eire for remaining neutral while Britain was under attack. Churchill declared that but for the friendship of Northern Ireland "we should have been forced to come to close quarters with Mr. De Valera or perish forever from the earth."

Lack of Action Fortunate

"It is indeed fortunate that Britain's necessity did not reach the point when Mr. Churchill would have acted," De Valera said, and added:

"By resisting temptation in this instance Mr. Churchill, instead of adding another horrid chapter to the already blood-stained record of relations between England and this country, has advanced the cause of international morality—an important step and one of the most important, indeed, that can be taken on the road to the establishment of any sure basis for peace."

In defending Eire's neutrality policy, De Valera propounded a hypothetical question based on a supposition that Germany had won the war and partitioned England as Ireland has been partitioned.

"Let us suppose that after all this," he said, "Germany was engaged in a great war in which she could show she was on the side of freedom of a number of small nations.

He Poses Question

"Would Mr. Churchill, as an Englishman who believed that his own nation has as good a right to freedom as any other—not for a part, merely, but freedom for the whole—would he . . . lead this partitioned England to join with Germany in a crusade?

"I do not think Mr. Churchill would."

De Valera's broadcast reply drew from the Irish Press, organ of the government party, the opinion that the Irish leader had failed to express "the anger that Mr. Churchill's outburst had aroused in the breast of every Irish man and woman."

The Irish Independent said De Valera had "replied with dignity and reason to Mr. Churchill's criticisms."

Advance POW Cadre Starts Pyote Work

PYOTE ARMY AIR FIELD, May 17. (AP)—An advance cadre of German prisoners of war has arrived at Pyote Army Air field.

Their job is to build a compound where prisoners of war will be billeted. Upon completion of the compound additional shipments of POWS are expected, the field public relations office said.

Prisoners who arrive here will release soldiers who are now performing unskilled and semi-skilled tasks for more specialized duties, the office said.

RAILROAD RE-ELECTS

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP) — Armand T. Mercier, president of the Southern Pacific Co., today was re-elected at an organization meeting of the board, which also re-elected present members of the executive committee. Other members were confirmed in their present positions.

Troops And Newsmen Barred From Berlin

PARIS, May 17 (AP)—Correspondents accredited to Supreme headquarters were told today that neither Allied troops nor newsmen could be expected to go to Russian-held Berlin for some time.

Arrangements have not been completed for troops under General Eisenhower to enter the German capital, headquarters said. It is unlikely that correspondents will be permitted to visit Berlin until the troops go.

The correspondents had protested the disaccrediting of four of their colleagues for making unauthorized trips to the German capital, and appointed a committee to review the penalties. The same committee was instructed to seek clarification of the policy regarding entrance of Allied correspondents into Russian zones.

There has been some criticism by newsmen of SHAEF's failure to obtain permission from the Russians for their entrance into Red army territory.

Des Moines Municipal Judge Carries Route

SIOUX CITY, Ia., May 17 (AP) A substitute carrier who is delivering morning newspapers to about 100 homes gets a friendly "good morning, judge," from many of his customers.

The appelation is correct, for the temporary newspaper delivery "boy" is Municipal Judge Richard Jensen who has taken over the route for his 14-year-old son who is ill with the mumps.

Farm Association Conducts Meeting

The Farm Ownership Borrowers association conducted an annual meeting Wednesday afternoon at the postoffice building with Earl Fine, county Farm Security administration supervisor, in charge.

Fine reported that 10 loans have been made by the FSA under the Bankhead-Jones tenant purchase program in this county during the past five years. Farmers who met yesterday discussed mutual farm and home problems and reviewed the progress made during the past.

Of the ten loans made there have been three repayments made in full by owners. An average of $11,508.00 has been loaned for each farm with an average total repayment of $7,920.00 in the county.

Fine pointed out that an average increase in net worth has been shown from $2,825.00 to $13,026.00, an approximate increase of $10,000. This increase in worth has been noted since purchase of farms, he added.

Special Court Will Hear Quisling Case

OLSO, Norway, May 17. (AP) — Vidkun Quisling, Nazi puppet premier of Norway, will be tried before a special jury composed of three judges and four laymen, Paal Berg, Norwegian chief justice and head of the Norwegian underground during the war, said today.

The judges will choose the laymen to sit with them. Date for the trial has not been set. The unusual arrangement whereby judges will sit on the jury was made possible by the government changing the jury statute.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY."

School Property Still For Sale

A "for sale" sign still hangs on the highly desirable 5-acre Central Ward school property of the Lubbock Independent School district, and the price remains at $250,000.

This became known shortly after noon today when a prospective buyer, thought to be Sears, Roebuck & Co. but described only as "a large, nation-wide mercantile concern," did not continue its option on the property.

The school district is $1,100 ahead on the deal, Will Fisher, a Dallas realtor, having paid $100 to secure rights of representation, and the unnamed firm having put up $1,000 for a 30-day option. Had the company decided to continue its option, another $9,000 would have been payable today, to apply on the $250,000 purchase price.

Chas. C. Crenshaw, local attorney representing the mercantile concern and who would have been the "dummy buyer" had the deal gone through, said the company evidently changed its plans, at least until it could more closely gauge possible postwar economic conditions.

Kiwanis Recognizes KFYO Contribution

Kiwanis recognized KFYO's part in radio's general contribution to the war effort in their weekly luncheon in the Lubbock hotel Thursday at noon.

On behalf of Ben Dean, president of Kiwanis International, and W. C. Wood, president of the Lubbock club, a framed testimonial of appreciation was awarded by James O. Cade, speaker, to DeWitt Landis, KFYO manager. Such programs, it was announced, were under way at all 2,262 Kiwanis clubs of the United States and Canada.

Both Cade and Landis recognized the part radio has had in American business and entertainment since its commercial birth 25 years ago, and predicted progress of the industry through refinements of electronics over the next quarter-century.

New members accepted were Michael K. McEniry, Otis B. Larner, James Atcheson and Frank T. Gumm. J. W. McKee, lately of Amarillo, was introduced as a new member. Visitors were Pvt. Jack R. Millsap, S/Sgt. J. R. McElveny, Capt. Clay Thompson, jr., B. R. Starkey of Sweetwater and M. S. Doss of Seminole.

It was announced by President Wood that the Lubbock club now is larger than all but four Southwestern clubs: Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and downtown Oklahoma City. Former Judge Clark M. Mullican next week will discuss Dumbarton Oaks and its relation to the San Francisco parley.

Boy Scout Troop Is Formed At Wolfforth

A new Boy Scout troop, to be known as No. 76, is being sponsored by Methodist and Baptist churches of Wolfforth, the Lubbock Boy Scout office announced Thursday.

Fred Worsham will serve as scout master and L. M. Hargrave will be chairman of the scout committee. Committee members are Charles Long, M. N. Thompson, S. H. Cox, L. V. Preston and G. H. Campbell.

Twenty-one scouts have already registered.

Eden Lauds Parley Progress But Sees Disquieting Issues Ahead

LONDON, May 17. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden confidently predicted today that the San Francisco conference would bring forth a charter better than Dumbarton Oaks, but he solemnly warned that there still were a "number of serious and disquieting issues" clouding the international situation.

Within a few hours after his return from the United States Eden appeared before Commons to make a brief report and to ask for time to consult with Prime Minister Churchill and the rest of the cabinet before going into details of his trip. He appeared tired but confident.

Eden carefully avoided any direct mention of issues threatening the harmony of the major powers, but he described some of them as "urgent."

One obviously was the Polish issue, aggravated by Moscow's arrest of 16 Polish leaders, some of whom Britain and the United States had recommended for inclusion in a new and broader Polish government.

Two other issues—a new Austrian provisional government announced by Moscow and negotiations with Marshal Tito over occupation of Trieste—possibly were in Eden's mind as he carefully chose his words.

An indication that Britain and the United States were in complete agreement and acting jointly in approaching these outstanding international problems came from today's terse report.

Cheers came when Eden referred to his talks with President Truman and Joseph Grew, American undersecretary of state, and asserted that these exchanges revealed "how intimate is the understanding between our two countries and how closely similar is our approach to problems of the modern world."

San Francisco Session

Referring to San Francisco, he said:

"Good progress has been made. Better in many respects that we had anticipated. I feel confident that the remaining difficulties will be overcome and that a charter will be agreed upon which will be a better document than that of Dumbarton Oaks."

With frankness, Eden added that "with regard to the general international situation, there are a number of serious and disquieting issues, some of them urgent. I would like an opportunity to talk these over with the Prime Minister and my colleagues."

De Valera Defends Neutrality And Can't Understand World Attitude

DUBLIN, May 17 (AP) — Prime Minister Eamon De Valera, defending Eire's foreign policy, declared last night he did not see how Prime Minister Churchill or any other thinking person could "fail to see the reason for our neutrality."

De Valera made his statement in an address replying to a broadcast speech by Churchill last Sunday, in which the British prime minister assailed Eire for remaining neutral while Britain was under attack. Churchill declared that but for the friendship of Northern Ireland "we should have been forced to come to close quarters with Mr. De Valera or perish forever from the earth."

Lack of Action Fortunate

"It is indeed fortunate that Britain's necessity did not reach the point when Mr. Churchill would have acted," De Valera said, and added:

"By resisting temptation in this instance Mr. Churchill, instead of adding another horrid chapter to the already blood-stained record of relations between England and this country, has advanced the cause of international morality—an important step and one of the most important, indeed, that can be taken on the road to the establishment of any sure basis for peace."

In defending Eire's neutrality policy, De Valera propounded a hypothetical question based on a supposition that Germany had won the war and partitioned England as Ireland has been partitioned.

"Let us suppose that after all this," he said, "Germany was engaged in a great war in which she could show she was on the side of freedom of a number of small nations.

He Poses Question

"Would Mr. Churchill, as an Englishman who believed that his own nation has as good a right to freedom as any other—not for a part, merely, but freedom for the whole—would he . . . lead this partitioned England to join with Germany in a crusade?

"I do not think Mr. Churchill would."

De Valera's broadcast reply drew from the Irish Press, organ of the government party, the opinion that the Irish leader had failed to express "the anger that Mr. Churchill's outburst had aroused in the breast of every Irish man and woman."

The Irish Independent said De Valera had "replied with dignity and reason to Mr. Churchill's criticisms."

Advance POW Cadre Starts Pyote Work

PYOTE ARMY AIR FIELD, May 17. (AP)—An advance cadre of German prisoners of war has arrived at Pyote Army Air field.

Their job is to build a compound where prisoners of war will be billeted. Upon completion of the compound additional shipments of POWS are expected, the field public relations office said.

Prisoners who arrive here will release soldiers who are now performing unskilled and semi-skilled tasks for more specialized duties, the office said.

RAILROAD RE-ELECTS

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP) — Armand T. Mercier, president of the Southern Pacific Co., today was re-elected at an organization meeting of the board, which also re-elected present members of the executive committee. Other members were confirmed in their present positions.

Troops And Newsmen Barred From Berlin

PARIS, May 17 (AP)—Correspondents accredited to Supreme headquarters were told today that neither Allied troops nor newsmen could be expected to go to Russian-held Berlin for some time.

Arrangements have not been completed for troops under General Eisenhower to enter the German capital, headquarters said. It is unlikely that correspondents will be permitted to visit Berlin until the troops go.

The correspondents had protested the disaccrediting of four of their colleagues for making unauthorized trips to the German capital, and appointed a committee to review the penalties. The same committee was instructed to seek clarification of the policy regarding entrance of Allied correspondents into Russian zones.

There has been some criticism by newsmen of SHAEF's failure to obtain permission from the Russians for their entrance into Red army territory.

Des Moines Municipal Judge Carries Route

SIOUX CITY, Ia., May 17 (AP) A substitute carrier who is delivering morning newspapers to about 100 homes gets a friendly "good morning, judge," from many of his customers.

The appelation is correct, for the temporary newspaper delivery "boy" is Municipal Judge Richard Jensen who has taken over the route for his 14-year-old son who is ill with the mumps.

Farm Association Conducts Meeting

The Farm Ownership Borrowers association conducted an annual meeting Wednesday afternoon at the postoffice building with Earl Fine, county Farm Security administration supervisor, in charge.

Fine reported that 10 loans have been made by the FSA under the Bankhead-Jones tenant purchase program in this county during the past five years. Farmers who met yesterday discussed mutual farm and home problems and reviewed the progress made during the past.

Of the ten loans made there have been three repayments made in full by owners. An average of $11,508.00 has been loaned for each farm with an average total repayment of $7,920.00 in the county.

Fine pointed out that an average increase in net worth has been shown from $2,825.00 to $13,026.00, an approximate increase of $10,000. This increase in worth has been noted since purchase of farms, he added.

Special Court Will Hear Quisling Case

OLSO, Norway, May 17. (AP) — Vidkun Quisling, Nazi puppet premier of Norway, will be tried before a special jury composed of three judges and four laymen, Paal Berg, Norwegian chief justice and head of the Norwegian underground during the war, said today.

The judges will choose the laymen to sit with them. Date for the trial has not been set. The unusual arrangement whereby judges will sit on the jury was made possible by the government changing the jury statute.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY."

School Property Still For Sale

A "for sale" sign still hangs on the highly desirable 5-acre Central Ward school property of the Lubbock Independent School district, and the price remains at $250,000.

This became known shortly after noon today when a prospective buyer, thought to be Sears, Roebuck & Co. but described only as "a large, nation-wide mercantile concern," did not continue its option on the property.

The school district is $1,100 ahead on the deal. Will Fisher, a Dallas realtor, having paid $100 to secure rights of representation, and the unnamed firm having put up $1,000 for a 30-day option. Had the company decided to continue its option, another $9,000 would have been payable today, to apply on the $250,000 purchase price.

Chas. C. Crenshaw, local attorney representing the mercantile concern and who would have been the "dummy buyer" had the deal gone through, said the company evidently changed its plans, at least until it could more closely gauge possible postwar economic conditions.

Sugar Loaf Or Smooth Cayenne Pineapple Best For Canning, Freezing According To Miss Clara Pratt; Methods Given

"WITH fresh pineapple on the market many requests are coming for canning and freezing information. Here is what one needs to do to successfully can the fruit," says Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock county home demonstration agent.

"Sugar loaf and Smooth Cayenne, varieties imported from Mexico, seem to be the best for canning and freezing. It is important that ripe fruit is canned. If pineapple is sun ripened it has more flavor and contains more fruit sugar. Ripe pineapple of these varieties is orange colored and the spines can readily be pulled out. Unripe fruit lacks flavor and may be irritating to the lining of the stomach. If the fruit is gathered before it is ripe, it should be wrapped in thick paper and kept a few days at even temperature about 70 degrees F.

Pineapple canned in plain tin cans has a better flavor and color than when canned in jars. Make syrup before cutting the pineapple. Dissolve ½ to ¾ cup of sugar in 1 cup hot water. This amount is sufficient for 1 quart of fruit. Corn syrup may be used to replace part of the sugar. For example, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup syrup and ½ cup water will give a syrup about as sweet as if ½ cup sugar and 1 cup water were used.

Wash the fruit with a stiff brush. Cut off stem end and twist out the top. Lay the pineapple on its side on a cutting board. Cut in ½ inch slices. Peel each slice. Drop slices into syrup at once to prevent exposure to air which causes loss of Vitamin C and discoloration.

Count Steam Time

When all pineapple is prepared, pack cans or jars full of slices of raw fruit. Bring the syrup to a boil and pour over the fruit to within 1 inch of the top of the container. Place uncovered cans or jars of fruit in water bath with water up to 2 inches of the tops of cans. As soon as water starts boiling and has formed a good steam count time. Steam No. 2 cans and pints 5 minutes; No. 3 cans and quarts 10 minutes.

At the end of the steaming time remove one container at a time. Press the fruit down so that juices will cover the pieces and the air bubbles will escape. If the fruit is not hot and the air removed darkening of the product and loss of vitamins and flavor will result.

Seal and return to water bath. Add boiling water until cans or jars are covered with an inch or two of water. Count time when water begins to boil.

Process No. 2 and 3 cans 27 minutes; pint and quart jars 32 minutes.

Keep Away From Light

When the processing time is complete remove the containers. Cool cans in cold water immediately. Cool jars as quickly as possible without placing in a draft. Store in a cool, dry, dark place. Light causes darkening of pineapple canned in glass and destroys some vitamin C. Heat lowers the quality of fruit canned either in glass or tin.

Cores and trimmings may be ground, cooked with syrup and made into juice or canned as crushed pineapple.

Pineapple to be frozen is prepared as for canning and packed into airtight, moisture proof containers. Cover with cold syrup. Seal the container with parafin and sharp freeze as quickly as possible."

Favorite Recipes

(At the invitation of the food editor, women of Lubbock and the South Plains are presenting recipes in this column. You are invited to submit family favorites, especially those that are short on ration points or made of materials available in the grocery stores at present.)

One-half cup butter (margarine is good substitute)
One-half cup shortening
One cup brown sugar
Three-fourths cup white sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups flour
One-half teaspoon soda and pinch of salt
One teaspoon baking powder
Three cups Minute Oats
One and one-half cups cocoanut

Melt fat. Add sugar, eggs and vanilla. Mix well, Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt. Mix. Add oats and cocoanut. Mix well. This will make a stiff mixture. Roll in ball and pat down rather thick. Leave room to spread. Bake about 12 minutes in fairly hot oven about 415 degrees, Fahrenheit.

Beef Steak Flanks Prepared Fillet

Order a beef flank steak; have it scored lightly. Roll the steak crosswise, making a long, thin roll. Insert skewers at about 1½-inch intervals, and cut between them. Dip fillets in flour. Brown slowly and thoroughly in 2 tablespoons hot lard.

Add ¼ cup water, cover tightly and cook over low heat 30 to 45 minutes, or until tender. Make gravy with the rich brown drippings. These braised beef fillets are solid meat, and make attractive servings. For a delicious dinner—serve flank steak fillets with potatoes, fresh asparagus, hot cornbread, and spring salad.

Peanut Crunchies

¼ cup shortening
1-3 cup peanut butter
⅓ cup sugar
3 eggs
1 cup flour
1½ teaspoons all-phosphate baking powder
¼ teasp. salt
¾ cup chopped peanuts
1 tbsp. milk.

Cream shortening and peanut butter 'til light and fluffy. Gradually add sugar, creaming well. Add eggs, 1 at a time, beating well after each. Sift together flour, all-phosphate baking powder and salt; add to creamed ingredients. Add peanuts and milk. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Press down slightly. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 12 to 15 mins Makes about 3 doz. cookies.

Slipcovers and curtains should be wetcleaned whenever possible because a great percentage of them are made of cotton or linen which does not always respond with complete satisfaction to dry cleaning.

Rationing Roundup

Tasty Sauce Made By Honey Butter Cream

Honey butter cream is delicious on waffles or griddle cakes and also on ice cream and puddings.

Combine one-half cup honey, one-half cup irradiated evaporated milk and one-half cup butter or margarine. Cook over low heat until mixture forms a smooth syrup, about ten minutes, stirring frequently. Serve hot or cold.

GLAZED CARROTS

Cook carrots in salted water about 20 to 30 minutes or until tender. Drain. Let stand a few minutes to dry. Melt four tablespoons butter in pan. Add one-fourth cup honey. When well-blended add carrots and cook slowly until browned and nicely glazed. Turn carrots occasionally for an even glaze.

Iodine stains can best be removed with ammonia which forms a colorless compound which can be completely rinsed from the fabric.

If meat has to be kept for several days, place it in one of the trays in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator and let it freeze.

Kitchen Korner

A good way to change the look of an old dress is to change the neckline, or add a crisp jabot.

All cottons will not wash satisfactorily so fabrics with colors which are not fast or which will shrink should be drycleaned.

When having your fur coat stored be sure to point out worn spots, rips and tears that need repairing.

Regular cleaning can help protect curtains from effects of acid gases that weaken textile fibers.

If you are planning to make your own slipcovers, make sure the material you use is preshrunk.

Unless you are sure of your fabric don't use ink remover to remove ink stains as some fabrics may fade as a result.

Polished furniture will look better and be easier to clean if it gets a good mild soap and water bath about every six months.

Stick pins in the cork of any medicine bottles that may contain poison to prevent taking a dose by mistake.

Cleaning indoors with inflammable fluids has time and again caused explosions, bad burns and a house in ruins.

Many Infant Deaths Caused By Diarrhea

SAN ANTONIO, May 17. (U.P.)—An alarming increase in infant diarrhea deaths was reported in San Antonio today.

The city health department said there have been 234 cases and 80 deaths so far this year, compared with 105 cases and 65 deaths during the same period in 1944.

At Rodriguez Funeral home, an attendant pointed to a row of tiny caskets and said "We've had many, many funerals since May 1, all of them for infants."

At Robert B. Green hospital, because of lack of space due to closing of three wards, ill babies are placed in isolation wards. One hospital attendant said 50 per cent of the wards are being devoted to babies and all are filled.

Efforts to curb the outbreak continued under direction of volunteer agencies.

Law Seeks Abolition Of Un-Americanism

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP) — Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) opened a congressional drive today to define, and abolish, "un-Americanism."

A member of the House un-American activities committee, Rankin introduced legislation which he described as "full of dynamite . . . but necessary, so we can abolish these subversive outfits and so-called liberals trying to wreck our country."

Rankin said his measure "goes far beyond the present laws on treason."

WAC Slogan Goes Into Reverse Here

MIAMI, Fla., May 17. (AP)—The Dressing family of Miami pulled a reverse play on the slogan "release a man for active duty."

When WAC Cpl. Mary Dressing wanted to join the Woman's Army corps her brother, an aerial gunner discharged from the air forces for medical reasons, took over Mary's job as war plant engine inspector so she could enlist.

County Financial Condition Shown To Be Excellent In Annual Report

Financial condition of Lubbock county remains excellent, county commissioners found this week in approving an annual report in printed form for the fiscal year ended. It was attested to by J. Y. Boyd, county auditor.

Recapitulation of all 22 funds showed an auditor's balance of $352,015.05 at the year's close—receipts having been $443,036.65, disbursements $478,134.19. Considering outstanding warrants of $1,517.81, Boyd's cash reconciliation table showed a depository balance Dec. 31 of $353,532.86.

Most Under Budget

Of interest to commissioners was a comparison of expenditures with the 1944 adopted budget operating funds, showing expenditures under the budget in all but three funds: road and bridge precinct 4, officers salary and library, and those only slightly above.

The auditor said $51,835.50 had been paid on bonds, warrants and interest, $16,248.26 by the county, $35,587.24 by the state.

Statement of indebtedness (bonds and warrants) as of Jan. 1 showed $611,000 outstanding, but the state will assume 41.72 per cent of the amount if the legislature keeps alive a bond assumption custom. The state participates in retiring three of the six issues. Boyd said there was $25,578.73 in cash on hand to meet immediate demands; adding that sinking fund requirements for 1945 total $50,750, but that the county's part of that obligation, should the state continue to function in its customary assumption, would be only $6,637.08, the state's part $33,547.08.

$371,500 In Bonds

The report showed $371,500 in United States savings bonds, United State certificates of indebtedness, City of Lubbock airport bond, City of Slaton sewer and water extension and pumping plant bonds, as securities owned.

Boyd traces a minute growth of Lubbock county, if you read between the line of figures. For the more casual, he shows figures over the years 1940 through 1944 in assessed valuations, which mounted from $27,737,561 to $32,959,252, and showed that average percentage of tax collection for entire tax years since and including 1940 was 96.76.

The reports, annually printed and bound, were prepared by Boyd and Miss Helen Hart, assistant auditor. They are in much demand by state libraries, bonding companies, investment bankers and the like. Boyd had printed twice the usual number this year, to meet the demand.

PROFITABLE GUESS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 17. (AP)—A Seward man and woman won approximately $100,000 today in the Tanana river ice breakup guessing contest as the ice went out at 9:41 a. m., latest in the contest's 28 years history.

PERFORMER AT RODEO—Elaine Charvet, above, cowgirl from Calgary, Canada, will be one of the contestants in the West Texas Championship Rodeo and Hollywood Thrill circus at the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Bronc riding, bulldogging, calf roping, steer riding and other rodeo events will be scheduled with a reported total of $5,000 in purses offered to contestants. In addition a daredevil automobile driver will leap his car over a bus and five other cars at each performance. Shows will be held at 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday night and at 3 p. m. Saturday and Sunday.

Russians Still Seek Cadaver Of Hitler

MOSCOW, May 17. (AP) — The Russians continued today to examine closely the bodies of Nazis found in the underground city discovered in Berlin, but there was no official announcement that the corpse of either Hitler or his propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels had been identified.

Of six bodies found in the reichschancellery, four have been declared definitely as not being the fuehrer. A meticulous recheck is taking place on the other two.

SHAEF Moves To Halt Censorship Criticism

WITH THE U. S. SIXTH ARMY GROUP, May 15 (Delayed) (AP) — Censorship regulations have been handed down from high levels curbing correspondents in the field in writing stories critical of field press censorship.

Heretofore censors have been strict in censoring field copy on the grounds of military security, but have been tolerant in passing dispatches criticizing the way stories had been slashed.

Now that military security is hardly a vital issue, more and more questions of political censorship have arisen. These have brought orders from the SHAEF (Supreme Allied Headquarters) level that any criticism of censorship must first be submitted to SHAEF in Paris before being transmitted for publication.

Military Police Now Officially 'Snowdrops'

LONDON, May 17. (AP) — U. S. Military police have a new nickname now—"Snowdrops."

Gen. Eisenhower himself made it "official" last night during a brief talk at a London theater where he witnessed the musical "Strike it Again."

Referring to the presence in the cast of actors dressed as American MP's, in white helmets, gloves, belts and leggings, Eisenhower said:

"I see some of my own snowdrops on the stage."

Cable Received From Capt. Vernon Turner

Mrs. Cora Jean Turner, 1810 Thirteenth, has received a cable from her husband, Capt. Vernon Turner, assuring her of his safety after being liberated from a German prison camp.

At one time Capt. Turner, who as a P-47 pilot was shot down over German-occupied France in July of last year, had been in Moosburg camp, but his wife did not know if that was where he was when liberated. The last letter she received from him was written Dec. 23.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Turner of Levelland.

Potato Dusting Means Suggested

During early May E. T. Hibbs, etomologist with the Truck Corp Insect Investigating group of the Texas Agriculture Experiment station, and E. G. Altstatt, pathologist with the Emergency Plant Disease Prevention branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, surveyed insect problems in this area affecting irish potatoes, Jason Gordon, county agent, revealed Thursday.

During 50 sweeps with an insect net, near potato cull dumps, 31 adult psyllids were caught by Hibbs. Gordon stated that in 100 sweeps, one adult was considered enough to justify dusting.

Loss Reported

Gordon stated that a great deal of trouble was encountered last year by potato growers in this section. He cited as an example Bill Hoffman's statement reporting a loss of $14,000 by failure to dust his potatoes on his farm west of Lubbock. Rains prevented most of the dusting last year and additional expense was incurred in seeking equipment to dust by airplanes, the county agent said.

Issuing a warning especially for victory gardeners Gordon said that dusting sulphur should be used when the plant reaches an approximate height of six inches. A continuous program should be carried on with dusting being done each 10-14 days through the growing season, using 20-25 pounds of sulphur to the acre.

Of the approximate 1,000 acres of potatoes in the county eight growers produce the most. W. S. McCarver has obtained a plane with a rotary dusting attachment and will dust crops in this area, Gordon said.

Hibbs will return to the county the latter part of this month, and during early June, to conduct insecticide test using the new ODT, with sulphur and alone, and a newer dust, sabadilla with sulphur and line. These experiments will be carried on at the W. J. Ross, jr., farm west of Lubbock.

One Wedding Ring Does Triple Duty

WELCH, W. Va., May 17. (AP)—Two soldiers, a sailor and their brides-to-be, waiting in the McDowell county clerk's office for the Rev. R. S. McClung to marry them, discovered they had but one wedding ring among them.

Although they had just met, they decided to share the band. "With this ring I thee do we," the Methodist preacher would intone, and agitated fingers would pass the circlet to the next man.

No one dropped it.

Control Of Powdery Mildew Suggested

"The whitish coating substance on roses indicates the presence of powdery mildew," Jason Gordon, county agent, said in a warning to rose growers to protect their plants this year. This coating is made up of chains of small, colorless spores, by means of which the fungus reproduces, he said.

Caused by frequent spring rains, or by sprinkling the leaves and excessive watering, the growth of plants may become stunted, the leaves may curl, become dried and drop off. Unopened buds, young stems and thorns may be entirely overgrown with the powdery coating, Gordon said.

Dusting Recommended

Dusting on warm, still days is recommended as a control measure by Gordon, with application once a week on dry leaves with a dust gun that sprays liberally underneath the plant. The county agent warns to use the sulphur sparingly during hot weather to escape leaf injury.

Two ounces of wettable sulphur per gallon of water are recommended to be used in severe cases, spraying until all signs of mildrew disappear. Also available is a mixture of wettable sulphur and rotenone, the latter aiding in controlling plant lice.

Green dye has been added to some sulphur to overcome objections by some rose growers against the yellow dust on the roses. Dealers in the heart of Texas' rose section offer this, and Gordon said in case of a severe case it was best to use the yellow dust and not wait for the more "presentable" type.

Rhone Strike Called By Labor Federation

PARIS, May 17. (AP)—A general strike was called by the Federation of Labor Unions today in the department of Rhone, affecting police and prison guards as well as factories, shops and utilities.

Both Associated Press dispatches from Lyon and local representatives there of the agency France Presse reported the strike was called to enforce demands for social reform.

Cafes, stores, movies and shops closed in Lyon. Street cars halted. Employes of municipal electricity and water power works were called on to leave their posts this evening.

Police and prison guards "remained at their posts but aren't working," an AP representative said, and were refusing to open the doors so prisoners could not be admitted and authorities could not take men on trial to and from the courts.

U.S. Public Continues To Favor Compulsory Postwar Military Training, Gallup Reports

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director of the American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., — So far, the debate which has been going on over the question of a postwar compulsory military training program for the youth of the nation has not changed public sentiment toward the problem.

Nearly five months ago, a survey on the issue found 70 per cent approving the idea of a compulsory military training program after the war.

GALLUP

A survey just completed across the nation finds 70 per cent still favoring the idea.

Moreover, strong sentiment favoring compulsory military training prevails in every section of the nation. Sentiment approving the program is just as high among women as it is among men.

Democrats are found in favor of the program by a much larger majority than Republicans; however, members of both parties give their approval by large majorities.

The question asked in today's survey is identical to that asked in earlier surveys:

"After the war is over, do you think every able-bodied young man should be required to take military or naval training for one year?"

Across the nation, the replies add up as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Yes | 70% |
| No | 24 |
| No Opinion | 6 |

The vote by men and women, by political preferences and geographical sections:

MEN-WOMEN

| | Yes | No | No Opin. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Men | 70% | 25% | 5% |
| Women | 70 | 23 | 7 |

POLITICAL PREFERENCE

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Dewey voters | 81% | 34% | 3% |
| Roosevelt voters | 77 | 18 | 5 |

BY SECTIONS

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| N. Eng. and Mid. Atl. | 69% | 25% | 6% |
| East and W. Cent. | 66 | 29 | 5 |
| South | 74 | 17 | 9 |
| Mountain States and Far West | 72 | 25 | 3 |

Among those who favor postwar compulsory military training, opinion on whether a law to put it into effect should be passed now or after the war ends is fairly evenly divided.

The question asked in this connection:

"Do you think a military training law should be passed now, or should this wait until after the war?"

The replies of those approving post-war compulsory military training:

| | |
|---|---|
| Favor Passing Law Now | 33% |
| Favor Waiting Until After War | 30 |
| No Opinion | 7 |
| Total | 70% |

RESTRICTIONS REMOVED

WASHINGTON, May 17 (U.P.)—The War Production board announced today that restrictions on the manufacture of flash lights have been removed. Production of flash lights, however, will be limited by the amount of materials available. The WPB will still control manufacture of batteries.

Stored Auto Won't Be Of Much Value

ST. LOUIS, May 17. (AP)—The automobile that Herman Handing had stored away carefully for the duration won't be much use to him after the war.

Thieves broke into his garage and stripped it of everything but the body, frame and heavier parts of the engine.

HAIL CAUSES DAMAGE

AUSTIN, May 17 (U.P.)—Damage from Tuesday's hail storm in the Austin area during which two-inch hail stones fell was estimated today at $100,000. The estimate was based upon claims filed with insurance companies for damage to greenhouses, roofs and fruit crops.

Sudan Soldier Played Part In Aerial Victory

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE SERVICE COMMAND STATION, France—M/Sgt. L. G. (Mike) Fowler, Sudan, Tex., stationed at this advance depot of the Eighth Air Force, is a member of the service team that put battle-damaged bombers and fighter planes back into the air after they were forced down on the Continent.

This depot was once a Luftwaffe air field, but has been serving as a supply and repair base, a re-fueling point, and as an emergency landing field for battle planes returning from long missions over Germany. More than 600 combat aircraft have been repaired or reserviced and returned to their British bases by this station's personnel, since shortly after D-Day.

Sgt. Fowler, who has completed 23 months service in England and France, aids in reclaiming parts from damaged aircraft; parts that will be used to repair other planes. In England he was chief of the sheet metal section at his depot, and while there designed and made equipment for the station hospital, equipment used in the treatment of trench foot.

An alumnus of Texas Tech, Sgt. Fowler was working a 1200-acre farm at Goodland, Tex., prior to entering the service in February, 1942.

His wife, Mrs. L. G. Fowler, and son, reside at Sudan, Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fowler, Littlefield, Texas.

Labor Asks Early Auto Production

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Labor took up the plea today for swift reconversion of the auto industry as the government indicated 200,000 cars will be turned out this year.

The industry's labor advisory committee went before War Production board executives to emphasize, as manufacturers did yesterday, that serious unemployment may develop if the go-ahead is long delayed.

WPB told the producers it agrees and promises a green light "as soon as possible," but not before July 1.

Manufacturers submitted a recommendation that they be allowed to build at least 200,000 cars in the part of 1945 remaining when controls are eased.

Behind Patton's push ... telephone service for ten thousand

Gen. Patton's Third Army was poised for a plunge into western Germany last December. For the attack, a signal battalion built a telephone system big enough to handle the calls of a city of 10,000 people.

Then the Germans struck westward in the "Battle of the Bulge." Patton turned, swung north into the flank of the Nazi tide.

The signal troops had time to salvage only the telephones from the system they had built. Abandoning the rest, they moved north, built again, stringing 1,500 miles of wire.

To run this war—from factory to foxhole—takes a lot of complex telephone equipment.

U. S. Navy To Control Bremen And Early Cleanup Of Harbor Expected

LONDON, May 17 (U.P.)—Authoritative sources said today that the U. S. Navy has been given administrative control of Bremen, Germany's second largest port, and nearby Bremerhaven.

The two ports, both on the Weser river estuary of northwest Germany, will be used to unload supplies for American occupation forces in Germany.

Rear Admiral Arthur J. Robinson, former commander of the Cruiser Marblehead, will be in charge of the ports under Vice Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, who will sit on the joint Allied Control commission as chief of the American Navy organization for occupied Germany.

To Be Cleared Soon

The two harbors were expected to be cleared of mines and scuttled ships within three months, after which Bremen alone will probably handle 10,000 tons of cargo daily for American forces. Wharfs and cranes at Bremen were found relatively undamaged.

An advance reconnaissance unit of 2,000 U. S. Navy officers and men entered Bremen with British Second Army troops April 25 after a 450-mile cross country journey from Ostend, Belgium.

The British Admiralty in London announced that the German Navy was reduced in the final days of the war to two effective large warships, both cruisers. The two, Prinz Eugene and Nurnberg, were at Copenhagen, along with three destroyers and two torpedo boats.

Two other cruisers, the Admiral Hipper and Emden, were stranded at Kiel. There also were 11 destroyers, including four of the Elbing class, at Kiel. Still another cruiser, damaged, was at Aabenraa, Denmark.

Cruiser Sunk In Bay

The six-inch gun cruiser Koeln, was lying at the bottom of Wilhelmshaven bay, sunk by Allied bombs, the Admiralty said.

Altogether, Germany finished the war with 24 destroyers and 12 torpedo boats, in addition to about 1,200 small naval craft. All were recovered in various ports.

The aircraft carrier Graf Zeppelin never was completed, the Admiralty said. It was found damaged by Allied bombs.

A dispatch from Wilhelmshaven said the Germans scuttled 24 U-boats at that North sea fleet headquarters.

RURAL GERMANY UNHURT

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—Undersecretary of War Patterson, back from Europe, said today the German people were well fed and well clad and that rural areas of the Reich were untouched by the war.

Munro, district representative, WFA's Office of Supply, said plentiful supplies now in vegetable bins must be used immediately if waste of a perishable crop is to be prevented. One of the best ways to balance out wartime meals, he explained, is to use more of the abundant, fresh foods and go easy on other foods not so plentiful on retail shelves.

Benefits Available To Cotton Groups

Jason Gordon, county agent, states that free classification and market news service during the cotton crop year of 1945 is available from the War Food administration to organized cotton improvement groups in Texas which apply for it under the Smith-Doxey act.

Improvement groups which file promptly can obtain the maximum service for their members, Gordon stated and urged that members file application for this free service immediately after planting their cotton.

Thirty improvement groups were registered in Lubbock county during the last year with a total of 95,749 bales classed, representing savings to county farmers of 95,964 bales, with the above figure registered leaving but 115 bales not classed through the free service.

Representatives of the WFA, the local ginner and the county agent cooperate in preparing the applications for local groups, and few farmers learn to appreciate the work, Gordon said.

He added that final date for accepting applications has been set by the WFA on August 15th.

Bill Permits Salary Raises For Officers

AUSTIN, May 17. (AP)—Commissioners courts in all but several of the state's largest counties may raise the salaries of district, county and precinct officers under terms of a bill passed by the legislature and which has become effective with Gov. Coke Stevenson's signature.

The bill, by Sen. Buster Brown of Temple, permits commissioners to raise salaries of officials who made less than $3,600 in 1944, provided sufficient fees are available, as much as 25 per cent.

The measure is not mandatory in nature, but merely permits the salary raises if county commissioners courts wish to grant them.

Japs In Neutral Areas Fish For Peace Short Of Full Surrender

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 17 — Individual Japanese in neutral countries are fishing for signs of peace short of unconditional surrender, but thus far no official peace bid has been received from Japan, it was learned today.

Particularly since the fall of Manila, a number of Japanese have urged neutrals to learn the "real American attitude" but these Japanese specify only that unconditional surrender is impossible for Japan and suggest no definite terms.

Peace Bid Unrecieved

Asked about reports that the Office of Strategic Services had received a definite Japanese peace bid, officials here familiar with Japanese affairs said they knew nothing of that kind.

They stressed the futility of informal, personal peace feelers, representing as they do no authority from the militarists who still control Japan's destiny. All the evidence in American hands indicates that this element has no self-interest in facing the prospect of unconditional surrender and probably will not face it until Japanese military pride has been brought considerably lower.

The cabinet of Admiral Kantaro Suzuki, the new premier, is a strong one composed of some of the empire's best production experts with emphasis on the development of the war potential in Korea and Manchuria.

Must Bear Real Thing

Until a peace bid bears unmistakeably the stamp of Japan's real rulers, it means nothing except possibly to indicate factional and minority trends in Japan, according to the view here.

While one peace inquiry may have originated with the wealthy classes of Japan and another appeared to have been associated at one stage with the Japanese court, both fizzled out because there was no hint that they represented the intentions of the militarists who run the government in Tokyo.

Editor Warns On Trends In America

DETROIT, May 17. (AP)—Malcolm W. Bingay, editorial director of the Detroit Free Press, declared today that "the same elements may be found in America that have made a hell out of once-prosperous Germany."

One of 18 American editors who recently returned from an Army-sponsored trip to Europe, Bingay described to members of the Economic Club of Detroit the atrocity camps the group visited at Buchenwald and Dachau.

Bingay said the German people are guilty for crimes committed "just as we Americans are guilty of tolerating . . . the rabble-rousers, the labor racketeers and those who lack courage to defend their concepts."

"Nazism," he asserted, "may be explained in just three words—no moral law."

Capeskin is named for its port of embarkation, Cape Town, South Africa, and comes from a small African sheep.

Lamesa Soldier Has Thrilling Experience In Philippines Battle

WITH THE 40TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES —Into an enemy trap and safely out again, is a story of two riflemen. They are Pfc. Angelo Piscitelli, Stamford, Conn., and Pfc. Loyd C. Plumlee, brother of Roy Plumlee, Lamesa, Tex.

The two riflemen, with the 165th Regiment of the 40th Infantry Division were leading an assault on Jap mountain fortifications in mid-April. Few paths led to the tree covered peaks which the enemy occupied.

Sudden as the two climbed a ridge they were fired upon from two sides by machineguns and mortars began dropping their death load on them. This action disclosed the enemy positions, which were later knocked out, but it also gave two enlisted men the scare of their lives.

On Luzon they were part of the platoon which placed the first American flag in the mountains overlooking Clark Field. It was on the peak of a 1700-foot ridge, after a bitter fight, that these men lashed enemy shovels together for a flag pole. From this bald peak the flag waved defiance to Japs nearby.

These Yanks were among the first troops to enter the two capitol cities of Iloilo, Panay and Bacolod, Negros. They are also veterans of New Britain.

At present they are heading the assault on the mountains of northern Negros. Here they face caves, spider holes and the natural protection afforded Japs by heavily wooded areas. They are now knocking out these machinegun and heavy mortar nests of hopelessly surrounded Japanese.

Air Medal Awarded To Muleshoe Gunner

15TH AAF IN ITALY—At a recent ceremony held at his 15th AAF B-17 Flying Fortress airdrome in southern Italy, S/Sgt. Clinton K. Powers of Star route 2, Muleshoe, Tex., was decorated with the Air Medal "for meritorious achivement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activity against the enemy." The 21-year-old engineer-gunner, a member of the veteran 301st Bomb. Gp., has participated on 15 combat sorties against vital priority targets in Germany, Italy and Austria. He took an active part in the recent massive aerial bombardment of enemy troop concentrations in northern Italy, prior to the Allied capture of Bologna, the gateway to the Po Valley. Sgt. Powers attended high school in Tipton, Okla., and farmed in his community before he entered the Army on Jan. 20, 1943. He was graduated from the AAF airplane mechanic school at Amarillo, Tex., in Sept., 1943, and won his gunner's wings at Las Vegas, Nev., in May, 1944, subsequently leaving the United States on Dec. 9. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Powers, reside in Muleshoe.

Navy Seeks Pilots, Doctors And Waves

DALLAS, May 17 (U.P.)—A call for prospective naval aviators, Navy doctors and hospital corps Waves was issued today by the Dallas public relations office of the Eighth Naval district.

Candidates for commissions as ensigns in the naval air service will begin training July 1 as apprentice seamen. The announcement said the only civilians eligible are, 17-year-old youths who will be high school graduates before June 25.

The announcement said the Navy is continuing to train pilots as "insurance" for future needs in the Pacific war.

The Navy needs at least 4,000 more doctors and 10,000 additional Waves for hospital duty, the office said.

Must Mean They Are Bad Housekeepers

PORTLAND, Ore., May 17. (AP)—Firemen did their spring housecleaning today.

It was about time.

They found a large pile of oats that was used to feed the fire horses some 25 years ago.
