THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegraphic News of the Week Boiled Down and Made Readable.

In spite of cholera there is no sign of any panic in England.

Mrs. Ted Denson, the wife of a Yankton, S. Dak., farmer, gave birth to four girl babies.

Bob Cunningham and wife, recently married at Mitchell, Ind., are under arrest for horse theft.

Katie Hannon and Mamie Cressap, aged 16 and 15, were arrested at Minneapolis for house-breaking.

T. DeWitt Talmage preached two sermons at Birmingham, Eng., to audiences aggregating 30,000 persons.

Despite the obstinate silence maintained by the Paris authorities, there are several bad cases of cholera in that city.

The celebrated Lost Cabin mines, a rich gold deposit. are said to have been re-discovered in the Black Hills, of North Dakota.

Actual work on the great canal connecting the Chicago river with the Mississippi began at Lemon, Ill., yesterday. The estimated cost is $25,000,000.

William Daniel, aged 80 years, was burned to death at Milwaukee. He was taking a sweat when a blanket covering him caught fire from an alcohol lamp. He was alone in the house at the time.

Lawton Coggesnall, brother of ex-Mayor Coggeshall, of Newport, R. I., committed suicide in that city by shooting. It is said his mind has been affected since an attack of the grippe last winter.

WILL EWING SHOT,

IN THE BACK BY AN ASSASSIN LAST SATURDAY NIGHT.

No Clue to the Fiend Who Did the Cowardly Work.

Will Ewing was shot and killed on Saturday night, the 3rd inst. at Flat creek church, about 18 miles west of Stephenville, by an unknown assailant. The officers were immediately notified and County Attorney Oxford and Deputy Sheriff Freeman went at once to that place. About forty witnesses, who were on the ground at the time of the killing, were summoned, and carried through a rigid examination, and every effort was made to get a clue to the murderer, but without success. The evidence showed that Ewing had no bitter enemies except some parties who live about 50 miles from the place of the killing. These parties, it is rumored, had declared their intension to kill him if he ever attempted to live with their sister, whom he had formerly been married to, but was not living with at that time. Ewing, it is said, had not seen his wife for several years until about two weeks before he was killed; when he paid her a visit in Callahan county at her parent's house. He did not meet her brother on this occasion, and saw her without the knowledge of her parents also. It seems that he had had some serious trouble with her people about three years ago, and he was sent to the penitentiary from here about that time for another offense than that alleged by her relatives, and after serving out his time came back, but never visited them until the above-named fatal, which is supposed to have caused the killing, though there is no proof that these parties or either of them did the deed. They are well-known in the Flat creek community, and no one saw either of them in that community at or near the time of the killing. Ewing was standing just outside of the church house door during services in a crowd of 12 or 15 men, and a man walked up behind him and shot him in the back, just below the left shoulder blade on the left side of the back. The ball passed through him, coming out just below the right nipple, and struck another man, Walter Price, on the hand and went through his coat and lodged in his pocket. Price was not seriously hurt, however. The assassin fled. A young man by the name of Blassengame pursued him, and, although unarmed, would most likely have caught and disarmed him had not Ewing called to him and begged him to come to him. At least a dozen men were within 30 feet of the murderer, and not one of them can identify him, so they swore on the stand. Ewing may have been a bad man in the past, but we are informed that he had been working hard and staying at home since he was released from prison about 8 months ago. The officers say they have made a faithful effort to get a clue to the assassin, but have failed so far, and will have to resort to other means of unearthing this dark crime than those formerly tried.—Journal.

The Hico Encampment.

Special to the Progress.

The People's party encampment held at Hico the 29th, 30th and 31st of August proved to be a grand victory for the Populists.

The opening speech was made on the evening of the 29th by Hon. Evan Jones. He seemed to be at his best, and dealt the demo-republico-mono-political party some hard licks that will be remembered in the days to come. He taken up the early history of America, showing in a brief way how the principles of Jefferson had gradually given place to those of Hamilton, how the government had been wrenched from the hands of the people and administered by those to whose interests it was to oppress the laboring class. The Hogg crowd was given some good advice and a severe raking for their inconsistency. It was a grand effort and doubtless many votes for the People's party were made by the sound, logical reasoning of the next Congressman from the 8th district.

There was a joint discussion at night between R. W. Coleman, the Samson of the People's party, and Dr. Perry, of Hamilton, a national banker and plutocrat. Perry had both the opening and closing speech, but seemed to get awful tired before he got through. He made some wild assertions that his party leaders will not bear him out in. He said there was no secret organization connected with the banking business, there was nothing secret about it, but he said he never belonged to them and consequently did not know. He denied the statement that there was more money per capita in circulation in 1865 than now; he said there was more money in circulation now than there ever was at any time in the history of America. He said the democratic party was a party of reasons and principles and not of men, but failed to show wherein the principles of said party lay. He never touched hair nor hide of the traitorous actions of his party in later years, but dwelt at length on what they used to be—a fine pedigree but no horse. The universal verdict was that Coleman "done him up," and several converts were made during his speech to the People's party cause that we know of.

The second day there was a large crowd, but there would have been a third more had the day been favorable.

John Main, a young lawyer and candidate for county attorney in Hamilton county. addressed the audience in the forenoon. His speech was listened to with the closest attention, notwithstanding the threatening weather, and everybody was praising him for the effort, he being a self made man coming from the hard-working yeomanry, but a few years ago he was herding sheep for a living. It is safe to predict that John Main will be the next county attorney of Hamilton county.

At 2 p. m. H. L. Jamieson and O. R. Morrison hitched in joint debate. Jamieson just simply wiped up the earth with him; and the people seemed surprised at the wisdom and oratory of the "little druggist." Morrison was considerably rattled and made some expressions that will cost him many votes as well as customers. He said one great cause of the hard times was that the people were too rotten lazy to work. Men and women became indignant at that remark and it was with difficulty that order was restored.

At night Hon. S. O. Daws spoke to a good sized audience. Every body felt better after hearing him as they all enjoyed a hearty laugh at his witicisms.

The third day Maj. D. M. Rumph and Capt. Battle Fort had a joint debate in the forenoon. Capt. Fort didn't seem to know exactly where he stood on politics. He made a good People's party speech and several were inclined to believe that he was "one of us" at first. The Major always gets there with his part and it is not necessary to say that the People's party cause didn't lag any during his part of the program.

In the evening Mr. Brady, the fat man from Dublin, spoke. Several men thought he was Gen. Weaver before he commenced speaking. His speech was a success and bristled with utterances characteristic of a man with blood in his eye. We left before he commenced and consequently failed to hear him. They say it was a treat to hear him.

We feel sure that every body went home feeling that it was good to be there, except the democrats who got set down on; to them we extend our sympathies and an invitation to come over and join the humans and be at peace.

May the blessings of God crown the efforts of those who are wearing their lives out in the cause of humanity, and that every voice may soon be lifted in singing:

"No more beneath the oppressive hand
Of tyranny we groan;
Behold a smiling, happy land
Which freedom calls her own."

Thursday morning of last week Miss Maud McLane accidentally shot herself at her home in Comanche while toying with a revolver. She died in a few hours from the effect of the wound.

The Hogg democrats of Dublin precinct met at the city hall last night and elected twenty-two delegates to the convention to meet at Stephenville to-morrow to select a candidate for the legislature. They go uninstructed.

In a fight to the finish at New Orleans Wednesday night between John L. Sullivan and Jim Corbett under queensberry rules, Corbett whipped Sullivan in 21 rounds.

"The Dubiin Leader" is the title of a new paper just startsd in by W. H. Neel of Stephenville and W. C. Huchingson of Comanche. The initial number appeared Wednesday last and typographically is very neat.

The Dublin oil mill company are preparing to use all the cotton seed that can be bought in this district and more.

Dublin will ship more cotton this year than any two towns in the county besides. To do this she must pay the best price.

Frick, it is said, is a democrat; Carnegie a republican—fit symbols of the old twin parties—monopolistic, plutocratic, anarchistic.

The Dublin oil mill is expected to be completed and in trim for operation by the latter part of September, possibly by the 20th.

The PROGRESS will be sent to any address postage paid from now until the November election for 25 cents. Subscribe and keep posted.

The Hoggdemocrats may attempt to steal the People's platform as a vote grabber, but the people have their eyes open and know the sheep from the wolf.

Hon. Jo Abbott has been nominated in his district, and will go back to Congress.—Tyler Democrat and Reporter.

In a ram's horn he will.

Reports from all over the State go to show that Hogg is gradually losing ground, and about two-thirds of the loss is going to Nugent and one-third to Clark.

Senator Ingalls said a year or two ago that "if the south and west combined they would prove invincible." They have done it. Now look out for victory.

Hoggs are true to their nature whether quadrupeds or bypeds. It cropped out on them at the Hoggocracy side-show at Houston when they stole three of the People's party planks.

If Gov. Hogg had submitted the commission law to some LAWYER before signing it, instead of seeing every "t" crossed and every "i" dotted when it was being prepared, the State of Texas might have had a commission.—Abilene Reporter.

While Grover Cleveland is passing the summer at Buzzards Bay and President Harrisoh is sojourning at Loon Lake, Gens. Weaver and Fields are in the field battling for the liberties of the people. Which shows the most zeal in a presidential candidate.

Dublin now has a population exceeding three thousand, with the highest prospects for making a city of 20,000 inhabitants in a few years of any town in Texas. Business and manufacturing enterprises is what makes a town. We have an immense business in all lines and are securing the factories one by one.

The People's party, if nominations are made, will elect every county and precinct officer in Erath county in November. No doubt the opposition will snort and blow around until the election is over, but all their wind will be lost and their trouble be for nought.

"Old Brains" or your Uncle Dick Coke talks to the point for Hogg and the regular nominees and the platform besides.—Cherokee Herald.

How about "Old Brains" now. Better label him "Old Gall" or some equally appropriate name.

Hogg and Clark are scrambling over what little democracy is outside of the People's party.—Grandview Sentinel.

Let them scramble, Jeffersonian principles will carry the day with Judge Thomas L. Nugent waving the banner.

The Hogg democrats have set on foot the idea of making county and precinct nominations and are preparing—in a way—to do so. The result will be that the People's party must do so and there will not be a "democrat" elected for a single office in Erath.

Jefferson was a protectionist, Cleveland is a free trader: Cleveland claims to be a Jeffersonian democrat; how can these things be? Was Jefferson two kinds of a democrat, or is Grover a fraud?—San Antonio Light.

Very likely Jefferson was the fraud(?).

The United States court says the Texas commission is unconstitutional. Now will Gov. Hogg rise in his might, and in his wisdom, and in his power, and in his glory, and declare that the United States declare that the United States court is under the influence of corporations?—Abilene Reporter.

A farmer in Erath county has faith. He offers to bet an $1800 farm that Hogg is elected.—Tyler Democrat and Reporter.

That's all bluff. Let some one try him and see how quick he'll take back water. Besides, who is it in Erath couty that the Democrat and Reporter thinks is the possessor of so much innocent faith?

Speaking of Hon. Thos. L. Nugent, the McKinney Democrat says: "His very appearance is sufficient to win the affection of one who meets him. He is of a medium height, rather slender and gray, with pleasant countenance. His voice is tender, and persuasive. In brief his character is one of brain and heart."

J. M. Carlisle, state superintendent of public instruction, has issued an order to the counties to draw the balances due for the scholastic year in 1891-2, as the money is in the treasury to pay them in full.—Llano News.

How many votes does Gov. Hogg's friends count on from this action of Mr. Carlisle. Their expectations will fall as flat as an editor's pocket book if they count on any. The people are on.

Gen. Weaver spoke at Texarkana on the 4th, at Fort Worth on the 5th, in the afternoon, and Dallas in the evening, and at Waco on the 6th. Gen. Fields spoke at San Antonio on the 5th, at Houston on the 6th, and both Weaver and Fields spoke yesterday at Ruskin, La. While these two patriots are in the field for the right, Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison are at their respective summer resorts taking things easy, each with the expectation of a glorious victory in November.

Who ever saw a living monument to centralized power more than in the personel of Gov. James S. Hogg. He has made more appointments to official positions which should have been filled by the people's vote than all the governors Texas has ever had besides. Every appointment that he was required to make, it was made from some other office in order to get a chance to fill that, and that from another, until at times as many as five and six appointments were necessary to fill one. What is that but concentration and expected official patronage.

Anti-Commission Judge McCormick announces himself to be in favor of an election Force Bill. He would like to wipe out all the rights of the states and concentrate every strand of power in the hands of the federal government. His hostility to Hogg is quite natural, and is a high compliment.—Waco News.

No doubt, if Gov. Hogg were to commit murder and the courts were to hang him for it, his unreasonable followers would swear that they were paid to do it and that it was a treacherous move to concentrate power.

Col. G. W. Jones has declared for Nugent and says he has his mule saddled to light out into the campaign for him. He says Hogg is not in it, and the race is between Nugent and Clark, figuring his conclusion this way: There are already 106,000 votes assured to Nugent by the People's party, to which he adds 40,000 republican votes and a fair sprinkling of the disappointed democratic votes. To Clark he acceeds 90,000 German or foreign votes and 50,000 straight democrats, with some republicans. This will leave Hogg the third man. —People's Journal.

WEAVER IN CONGRESS.

There is quite a howl being made about the fact that Weaver introduced a bill in Congress (three times to pay the soldiers the difference between gold and depreciated greenbacks. The Caucasian is opposed to this measure, but let us see under what circumstances he introduced it, the bondholders and bankers had captured Congress and had bled the people to pay themselves the difference between gold and depreciated greenback. They bought bonds with depreciated greenbacks and then put a law on the statute books that they should have their interest paid promptly in gold. This was robbery, but this was done. Mr. Weaver denounced it. He then said that the soldier who fought and risked his life while the bondholder and the banker were home skinning the country, were more entitled to be paid the loss than the heartless devil who was speculating in his country's calamities. And he was right. Why did not the Chicago platform condemn the wrong that has already been done? Why do not these partisan papers howl about the crime that was actually committed and which is being heard to-day? We pause for an answer.—Clinton Caucasian.

GRANDMOTHER'S ADVICE.

I want to give you too or three rules. One is—

Always look at the person you speak to. When you are addressed, look straight at the person who speaks to you. Do not forget this.

Another is—

Speak your words plainly. Do not mutter nor mumble. If words are worth saying, they are worth pronouncing distinctly and clearly.

A third is—

Do not say disagreeable things. If you have nothing pleasant to say, keep silent.

A fourth is—and oh, children remember it all your lives—

Think three times before you speak once.

We sell at smallest profits and our success depends on selling large quantities of goods.

We Sell Strictly at One Price to Everybody.

We have no Favorites. Everybody buys at the same prices. The Poor Man's Money goes just as far with us as the Rich Man's Money.

The superiority of the safety over the ordinary for all-round use was thoroughly demonstrated on this trip, what with the rocks, hills, side paths, bushes and low drooping branches of trees, the "G. The Comanche Baptist Association.

The 18th annual session of the Comanche Baptist association held with South Leon church in Comanche county, closed its labors on Saturday the 3rd inst.

The deliberations of the body were harmonious throughout and while the discussion upon some of the subjects presented was spirited and highly interesting, the very best of feeling prevailed, and at the close the universal verdict was that the meeting had been a very pleasant and profitable one.

There were about 40 churches represented with a total membership of something near 2400, and while the reports do not show the amount of work done, and as large an increase in membership in the church as has been in former years they show that all the churches are moving along in peace and harmony and a steady and heathty growth.

During their stay there, the delegates were met on every hand by genuine old style, old Texas rural hospitality, such as only old Texans know how to give, and only old Texans can fully appreciate.

The members of South Leon church and all the good people of the village of Newburg, did the royal part by their guests, and each one when he took his departure, took with him pleasant memories of the many tokens of kindness bestowed during his stay.

The different interests that are fostered by the Baptists of Texas, among which Howard Paine College of Brownwood came in for the lion's share, and but for the fact that some of the so-called agents of that institution had "a zeal not according to knowledge" in soliciting "school girls" to attend, no one could object to their manly course.

May the good people of Newburg prosper and thrive in proportion to their virtue and generosity.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

A STRONG SESSION AND SOME HARD HITTEN' OVER THE WATER WORKS QUESTION.

Mayor McCain and W. J. Clay Have a Heated Discussion.

The Dublin City Council met last Tuesday night in regular session for the first time in a month or more.

The minutes of the preceeding meeting and one called meeting were read and after a correction or two were approved.

The Marshal and Collector reyorted $57.65 collected and a delinquent list of $189.22 still in hand.

Treasurer reported checks to the amount of $85.30 drawn.

The following claims were allowed and ordered paid:

G. W. Hamblett framing city map	$17.60
R. B Spencer, lumber	10.15
PROGRESS, printing ordinance	1.80
T. T. Knight, oil	1.00
Total	$30.55

Several claims against the city for services rendered and merchandise furnished paupers were, after considerable discussion as to the advisibility of the expenditure, allowed as follows:

Dr. Farmer, medical services	$15.50
J. H. Richardson, setting up	8.85
Dublin Drug Co., merchandise	5.50
Joe Farris, setting up	12.10
Total	$41.85

The finance committee were instructed to settle up with G. W. Andruss on city scale contract and enter into a new contract with W. T. Leggett for the ensuing year.

It was decided to use the old fire bell on the city hall for calling meetings of the council, political or other gatherings and that it be no longer recognized as the fire bell, but that in being used it should be rang slow in order that it be easily distinguished from a fire alarm.

A motion carried that all persons living between Henry Sones' residence and the Methodist church on east side of Patrick street, on Bridge street from J. E. Bishop's residence to Texas Central reservation and on south side of Black Jack from Sackville street to the Rio Grande right-of-way, be instructed to put in a six-foot side walk in front of their property in accordance with the law.

The water works subject was brought up and it was found that the hydrants, some of them, had not been put down at the places designated by the council and over this affair quite a storm of words were precipitated between Mayor McCain and Alderman Clay. It was finally agreed, however, to move the middle hydrant of the three east of the Rio Grande railroad to the corner at John Harber's residence on Black Jack street, and the one at the corner of R. H. McCain's grocery store across to the Oldham corner.

The matter of purchasing a chemical fire engine was deferred indefinitely and the committee instructed to buy two hose carts at a cost of not over $150 each.

Adjourned.

Subscribe for the PROGRESS, from now until after the November election, only 25 cents.

It strikes us a little queer, that our legislators are so blind to the real interests of the farmers and wage-earners that with all their loud declarations of devotion—during the campaign—to his interests, they can't draw a bill that will help him. If the Alliance people will stand together, and support only such men as are known to be in accord with their ideas after election as well as before, irrespective of party affiliations, from senator down to the lowest officer, we will have less to complain of, so far as laws are concerned.

Why is the laboring class so poor? Ask yourself this question and then see if you can answer it justly. Is it because the laboring class is wasteful and extravagant? Does the farmer always have a lazy, extravagant wife who thinks of nothing else but costly apparel and luxuries? Is the daughter reared to think she must spend two or three hundred dollars a month for frivolties? Does the son think he can spend his time in pleasuring and spending hundreds of dollars? You will say no! Why then are the farmers and laboring classess so needy, so much in debt that they know they must suffer for necessities of life? Does the Carnegies and Pinkertons study economy? Why yes, they study economy in this way, they are always thinking of depriving the man in their employ of his wages which he has honestly earned and give him a paltry sum on which family and himself must be fed and clothed. Is it right that this state of affairs should exist? Are you going to vote for men like Carnegie and his followers, or are you going to think of your poor families so needy as many of them are and support some man who will work for the interest of the laboring class?

The Alliance Non-Partisan.

In many sections of Texas the charge is being made that the Alliance has left its original purpose and gone "head and heels" into the third party. There is no reason in such a charge. There is not now, nor has there been, any effort or intention to carry the Alliance into partizan politics. As individuals, Alliance men have a perfect right to allign themselves with any political organization they may believe will carry into effect the Alliance demands, which have been published to the world for the past year. These demands are the united expression of every labor organization in America. In these labor organizations may be found adherents to every political creed known to man. Each individual is left free to select the political organization he may feel willing to work with for the enactment of our demands into law. Your party connection will in wise effect your membership in the Alliance. The principal point for each individual to determine is "Do I believe in the Alliance principles as enunciated at Ocala, Indianapolis and St. Louis. In what party can I secure their endorsement?"

As an Allianceman, pledged to "unity in things essential," can you not stand by your brethren and labor to secure these demands through law? Carefully consider the question and determine if you can reasonably hope for any relief from any party whose leaders declare directly and positively against every demand of organized labor. The People's party have on every occasion, in every way possible, declared that our demands are reasonable, constitutional and right. It has been organized for the sole purpose of freeing the industrial classes in America. It has engrafted every demand of organized labor into its platform of principles, and it stands to-day before the world as the only political organization that offers us any relief. We would be guilty of the basest inconsistency should we refuse the aid they offer to us. Should there be Alliance men who honestly believe that our demands can be secured, in either the democratic or republican party, to such we say you cannot, as honorable men, affilite with the People's party. Honesty demands that you practice what you preach. If you are an Alliance man in truth, stand for its demands everywhere and at all times. If you are a mere partizan, leave the Alliance and take your stand with the oppressors of our people.

AN INFAMOUS LIE.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT OF A STRIKE IN THE TRIBUNE OFFICE.

Without the Slightest Foundation, and Maliciously Intended to Injure General Weaver.

CORRECTION REFUSED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

During General Weaver's absence last week in Indiana, the following dispatch appeared in the associated press papers east of the Mississippi river:

PRINTERS AGAINST WEAVER.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 20.—Typographical Union to-day declared war against the Iowa Farmer, Weaver's paper.

As the dispatch appeared simultaneously in the papers using the matter of the associated press not labeled "special;" and as that subsidized, blackguard sheet commonly known as the Iowa State Register, holds the A. P. franchise in that city and sends out the dispatches from that point, the responsibility for the base lie was readily located in that office.

The motive of course is clearly apparent. It was intended to injure the People's party cause and arouse the antagonism of theT ypographical unions and other bodies of organized labor throughout the country against the party's standard bearer.

The dispatch was utterly foundationless. There is not now and never has been the slightest trouble between that office and the Typographical Union, and never will be. It was "a lie out of whole cloth." The Tribune office became a union office in May, 1891. aad the compositors who now set most of the type on that paper will on next spring, have continuously been employed in that office for ten years.

The daily Blackguard adds to the lie in one of its characteristically lying and abusive editorials Tuesday morning by charging that it was not until the "controlling stock was sold last winter to 100 farmers" that this office became a union office. The Tribune office became a union office while Gen. Weaver and Mr. Gillette were practically the sole owners, and long before the consolidation of the Tribune with the three other reform papers of the State had been thought of by any of the parties thereto.

A CARD FROM THE UNION.

The following card from the Typographical union is however the best and only evidence necessary of the falsity of Associated Press dispatch:

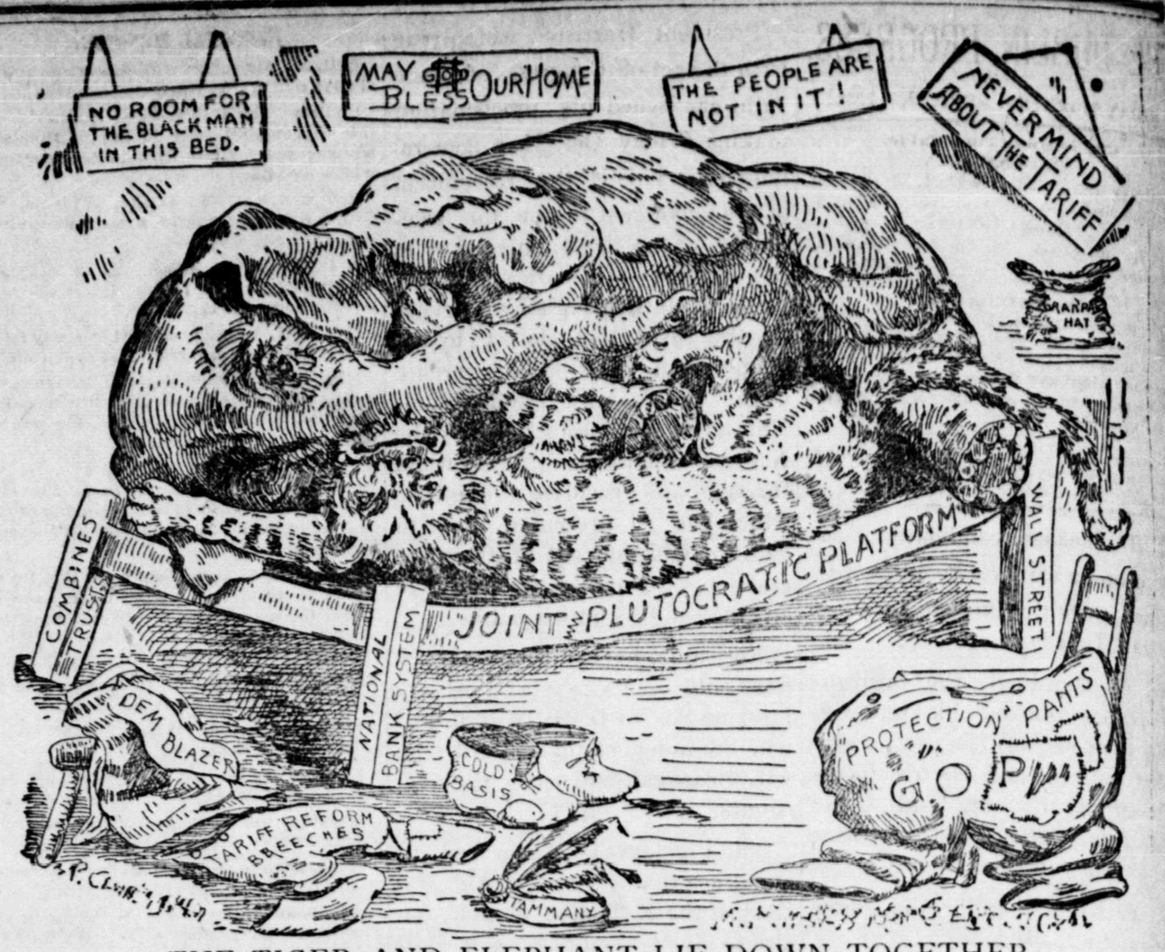

DES MOIMES, Iowa, July 23.—The statement published throughout the country that Gen. Weaver's printing office has been declared against by the Typographical union is untrue. His office is in good standing with the union and no friction of any kind has occurred.

If you have any of these symptoms, your liver is out of order and your blood is slowly being poisoned, because your liver does not act properly. HERBINE will cure any disorder of the liver, stomach or bowels. It has no equal as a liver medicine. Price 75 cents. Sold by S. S. Davis.

THE TIGER AND ELEPHANT LIE DOWN TOGETHER.

[PLATFORM—"The People be D——."]

The two old parties will pursue their own course and the Farmers' Alliance will pursue its path until enough of its members recover from their mid-summer madness, when the organization will crumble to pieces, as the old oath-bound secret know-nothing party did. If it should appear that there was real danger of the "people's party" holding together long enough to do great mischief, the democrats would unite with the republicans, from whom they differ chiefly on the tariff and offices, and the two would fight against a common enemy. When that job was ended the two parties would separate and resume their dispute on the tariff as of old.—Chicago Tribune, July 29, 1891.

Power of the President and Congress Over the Militia.

By Wm. C. Sprague.

Recent occasions of the calling out of the citizen soldiery in several States makes it of some interest to the public at large to know how and under what circumstances it may be done.

A few words may be prefaced as to what constitutes the army of the United States. The army may be divided into two great divisions—the regulars and the militia, the former being general known as the "standing army," and the latter as the "citizen soldiery."

The constitution of the United States has the following clauses with reference to the army and militia (the land forces):

Art. I, Sec. 8, Clause 1. The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes * * * to provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States.

Sec. 8, Clause 12. To raise and support armies.

Sec. 8, Clause 14. To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

Sec. 8, Clause 15. To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions.

Sec. 8, Clause 16. To provide for organizing, arming and dicipplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress.

Sec. 10, Clause 2. * * * No State shall without the consent of Congress, * * * keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, * * * or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

Art. II, Sec. 2, Clause 1. The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States when called into the actual service of the United States.

Art. III, Sec. 4, Clause 1. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and on application of the Legislature or of the executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

Amendment Art. II. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of the free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

Under the old articles of confederation before the Constitution was adopted, Congress could declare war but could not raise armies. All they could do was to agree upon the number of land forces and make requisitions from each State for its quota. This system was totally inadequate. This provision gave the power to raise and support armies during peace as well as in war. At the time the Constitution was formed there was a small standing army, and the organization has since been continued. By Act of Congress in 1866, the regular army was to consist of five regiments of artillery, ten of cavalry and forty-five of infantry. Since 1866 the army has been greatly reduced. In 1871 it consisted of 30,000 men, and in 1874, 25,000 men. The Constitution forbade the appropriating of money to the support of the army for more than two years at a time—or the life of one Congress—thus keeping the control in the hands of the people. Congress usually makes the appropriation every year. No State is permitted to interfere with the general government in the matter of how armies shall be raised, the age, period of service, compensation, etc.

Rules for the government and regulation of the army which the Constitution gives to Congress authority to make, must not be such as are inconsistent with the proper authority of the President. upon whom the position of Commander-in-Chief has been conferred by the Constitution. There are 128 articles or rules of war. It was under the power granted in Clause 12, Sec. 8, above quoted, and Clause 13 in relation to the navy that the great armies of the late war were raised and maintained.

In 1863, Congress passed the enrollment act, which includes in the national forces all able-bodied male citizens of the United States, and all who have declared their intentions to become citizens, between the ages of 20 and 45 years, with certain exceptions.

As to Art. I, Sec. 8, Clause 15, above quoted, we may say the militia consists of those persons who, under the law, are liable to perform military duty, and who are enrolled and officered so as to be ready for service when called upon. They are State forces until actually called into the service of the Union. Congress may confer upon the President the power to call them forth, and this makes him the exclusive judge when the exigency has arisen for the exercise of the authority. The President may make his call directly upon the Executive of the State or upon the militia officers. Congress has as full control over the militia as over the regular army for the purposes stated.

The act to establish a uniform militia was passed in 1792. In 1795 Congress conferred upon the President power to call out the militia for the purposes named in Clause 15. This law is still in force. In 1862 other laws with reference to the militia were passed. The enrolling of the militia is practically left to the States, but the President may provide for it if the States neglect it. While in active service at the call of the President, they are paid the same as the regular troops, and subject to the same rules. They may be required to engage in active service not more than nine months in the year. The President has called out the militia on three occasions, in 1794 a call on the governors of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, the time of the whisky insurrection in Western Pennsylvania, in 1812 to repel invasion, and in the Civil War (three calls) to suppress insurrection. The President alone is to decide when the emergency demands a call, and his decision is conclusive.

By the 16th clause it will be seen that to the State is reserved specially but two powers in this regard, viz: the right of officering and training the militia. The intent of Art. 1, Sec. 10, Clause 2, as quoted, is that the whole question of peace and war is placed with the general government. Nothing can be done by the State save with its consent. The word "troops" in the Constitution means a standing force, in distinction to the militia which the States are expected to enroll, officer, equip and instruct.

The militia, while under the Constitution liable for enrollment at the call of the President in the service of the United States, is at other times exclusively subject to State control, and is provided for and governed by the State statutes. The militia laws of the several States are alike in general features, but are not based upon one good model, hence it is not a uniform organization. In times when not in the actual service of the United States, the State government may legislate as to its organization and control, subject, however, to the paramount right of Congress to legislate on the same subject. When, however, it is called forth, and has entered the service of the United States, the authority of Congress is exclusive. Unless restrained by their own constitutions, State Legislatures may forbid any body of men, other than the regularly organized militia, to associate together as a military company, or to drill or parade with arms within the limits of the State. The State laws of every State provide for what purposes, in what manner, and by whom the militia may be called out within their jurisdiction.

THE DUBLIN PROGRESS.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 9, 1892.

HE CAN NOT DEFEND IT.

SOME CLEAR CUT REASONS.

An Undemocratic Enunciation of Principles Causes the Withdrawal of an Influential Candidate.

The following extracts are taken from the letter of Rev. J. T. Harris, the nominee of the Hogg democratic party for the State Legislature. It is clear cut, to the point and worthy of the writer:

"I have carefully and patiently studied the platform adopted at Houston on the 17th inst, by the convention which afterwards nominated James S. Hogg for governor and am reluctantly driven to the conclusion that I cannot conscientiously nor consistently defend it in a canvass before the voters of this representative district, nor pledge adherence to it in the discharge of my official duties if elected.

Believing further that a man would be untrue to himself, insincere in his party allegiance and unworthy of the high trust conferred upon him should he accept a nomination and thereby profess adherence to a platform or enunciation of political principles with which he is not personally and conscientiously in full and hearty accord, I can only decline with due respect the nomination so kindly tendered me by your representative delegates in convention assembled."

"For forty years, as boy or man, I have unselfishly and faithfully given my best energies to the defense, development and prosperity of Texas. During this time I have never asked for office or sought political notoriety. Your nomination was appreciated the more because unsolicited. I do not hesitate to say that such an expression of confidence from my fellow countrymen was, and will be very gratifying to me, and I sincerely regret the conditions that force me to decline the high honor so generously conferred, or fail at your call to discharge the responsible but pleasing trust you would have laid upon me."

Republican Convention.

At a meeting of the Republican electors of Erath county held at Dublin Sept. 3rd, 1892 pursuant to call, G. N. Arnold was elected chairman and W. R. Wasson, secretary. On motion

Resolved, That we approve the administration of President Harrison, and the Republican national platform adopted at Minneapolis, and cheerfully support the same.

Resolved, That we are opposed to the nomination of any new State Ticket at this election and so instruct our delegates.

The following named persons were chosen to represent Erath county at the Republican State, Congressional and Senatorial conventions; to cast the vote of this county on all questions as a unit, and delegates in attendance at each convention to have power to fill any vacancies in their delegations: Delegates—W. J. Wasson, G. N. Arnold and H. H. Andrews. Alternates—William Kieth, J. D. Anderson and M. Barr.

The secretary was directed to furnish copies of these proceedings to the Dublin papers and request that same be published.

On motion adjourned.
