"How Are You, Pap!" Is Greeting From A 77-Year-Old Son To 99-Year-Old Father; Gap Of 70 Years Bridged In Reunion

(By The Associated Press)

LOVELY, Ky., March 22.—A 77-year-old son and his 99-year-old father clasped hands with a "how are you, pap," and a "how are you, son," bridging a gap of more than 70 years during which they had not met, though they had lived within 80 mountainous miles of each other.

The reunion occurred yesterday after Sidney V. Booth, the son, and his wife drove from Guyandotte, W. Va., to visit the Rev. James Booth, retired minister and Civil war veteran.

The younger Booth, father of a large family, explained:

"I saw a picture of my father in a Huntington paper two weeks ago. Don't ask me how I knew it was him. I just knew."

The automobile trip and subsequent visit confirmed his belief.

The younger Booth disclosed that his father and his mother, now dead, separated in 1870, after which James Booth came to Martin county. Sidney Booth was one of four children born to the couple.

"I was seven years old then," Sidney recounted, "but we never heard of papa again."

The preacher-father remarried for the fourth time at the age of 94.

Cromwell Expected To Give Up Post

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22—Congressional and diplomatic quarters predicted today that James N. R. Cromwell, American minister to Canada, would resign to "save face" as a result of the severe, public reprimand given him by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

It was believed that the husband of the wealthy Doris Duke, who has served as minister at Ottawa only since January, might be prepared to hand in his resignation to President Roosevelt at once. His New York office said that he would come to Washington within the next few days and would not comment until then on the controversy he has caused by two recent pro-ally speeches.

Impeachment Demanded

Congressmen who called for Cromwell's recall after he had denounced Germany and praised the Allies before Canadian audiences now demanded that he be impeached if he does not resign.

Veteran diplomatic observers could recall no previous instance when the state department publicly rebuked a diplomat for disobeying department instructions. They regarded Hull's criticism to be so harsh as to leave resignation as Cromwell's only alternative.

Hull's rebuke came unexpectedly last night after the state department offices had closed. The department's press relations officer telephoned the statement to press association offices, although the

Easter Service Will Be Staged At Tech

The traditional sunrise Easter service will be conducted at 6:45 o'clock Sunday morning at Texas Technological college, Miss Allene Atkinson, secretary of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian association, said this morning.

Trumpets will be played from a tower of the administration building to open and close the service, which will be conducted in the cloisters of the building. Trumpeters will be Jack Turner, David Morrison and Glen Brown, students.

Earl Camp, vice president-elect of the YM-YWCA will give the call to worship, followed by singing of "Christ Arose" by the congregation. Camp will direct the responsive reading. Douglas Hardy will play Brahms' "Cradle Song" on the violin. J. W. Gamble will sing "The Holy City". Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will present the Easter message.

The service will be the 14th annual conducted at the college, under auspices of the Christian association.

Building Total Gets $7,000 Boost Today

Two residence permits added $7,000 to city building permits totals this morning.

One was issued to Bob Gee, owner, and Martin brothers, contractor, for a dwelling costing $4,500 at 2624 Twenty-fourth street, and the other to Maxey Lumber company, owner, and Jack Nelson, contractor, for a $2,500 residence at 1505 Hill street.

They boosted the permit total for the week to $72,595, for the month to $209,672, and for the year to $1,110,285.

Vote On Farm Bill Delayed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22—Secretary Morgenthau took the position today, in a letter to Senator Byrd (D-Va), that additional farm expenditures approved by the Senate could not be financed from the treasury's cash working balance.

Several senators have contended that money in the fund safely might be used to cover extra-budgetary expenditures.

Opinions Requested

Byrd took the opposite view and requested opinions from the general accounting office and from Morgenthau.

The treasury secretary has argued that a substantial working balance should be maintained to meet any emergency which might develop from war conditions abroad.

On the Senate floor, the $822,000,000 dollar farm bill was delayed by a wrangle over sugar benefits, but leaders were confident the measure would be approved this afternoon.

Report Is Released

The House committee investigating the labor board released a confidential report prepared by board officials last fall, which spoke of "ineffective" administration of the board's work.

Board Chairman J. Warren Madden, in reply, said that only by increasing the staff could the work "be more expeditiously and satisfactorily done."

The Senate yesterday voted 79 to 0 to allow $85,000,000 extra for the disposal of surplus commodities. Part of the money will be used for

Holt Is Selected On Aviation Committee

Word that A. F. Holt, chairman of the city aviation board, has been appointed on Gov. O'Daniel's state aviation committee was received here this afternoon.

The appointment of such a committee was urged upon the governor at a meeting of representatives from several Texas cities in Austin several months ago. The plan, as announced at that time, was that the committee should serve until the legislature meets and acts upon the proposal that a state aviation commission be authorized.

The original list of appointees announced by Gov. O'Daniel did not include a Lubbock representative. Reports here said, however, that he has decided to expand the committee.

Woman Kills Herself After Husband Dies

LUFKIN, March 22 (U.P.)—After her husband died, Mrs. Nora Kyker, 27, of Sayre, Okla., did not want to go on living. She shot herself to death yesterday on a country road.

Justice of the Peace Paul Laird returned an inquest verdict of suicide.

Ray Kyker, the husband, died at Clinton, Okla., last month. Mrs. Kyker had been living with her father since.

Daring British U-Boat Sinks German Ship

Crew Escapes After Warning Is Given; One Is Prisoner

(By The United Press)

LONDON, March 22.—A British submarine, penetrating the heavily mined waters at the entrance to Germany's end of the Baltic, has sunk the German steamship Heddernhein, 4,947 tons, it was announced today.

First German merchantman to meet its end by a British submarine torpedo during the war, the Heddernhein was sunk eight miles east of Skagen, at the northern tip of Denmark and just inside the Kattegat which, between Denmark and Sweden, is the entrance to the Baltic.

Crew Was Warned

The British submarine commander warned the Heddernhein's crew that the ship would be sunk. The 36 men took to lifeboats and were then taken ashore by Danish coast guardsmen—all but the first engineer, who, a United Press Copenhagen dispatch said, was made prisoner by the submarine.

"It was a hell of a place to go," a navy man said of the submarine's venture into the German end of the Baltic. It had crossed the North sea, entered the narrow Skagerrak between the Danish and Norwegian coasts, and rounded the corner to the northeast tip of Denmark.

Waters Are Dangerous

Not only because of mines and the presence of German minelayers, minesweepers and other war craft, the waters are dangerous because of many shallows.

The first news of the submarine's exploit, in taking the war over to the German side of the North sea after the Royal Air Force raid on Sylt, came in an admiralty communique. Details were filled in from Copenhagen.

Slaton And Tahoka Bands In Contest

Slaton and Tahoka High school bands were added this morning to the list of those which will compete for cash prizes in the parade here next Wednesday morning, the final day of the 10th annual South Plains Junior Pat Stock show, according to Ray Farmer, parade marshal.

Jim Nevins is director of the 65-piece Slaton band and Joyce H. Felts of the 47-piece Tahoka band.

Entries previously were received from the Brownfield, Hale Center and Lovington, N. M., bands. The Senior and Junior High school bands here also will march in the parade, but will not be eligible for the prize competition.

Cash prizes in the contest will be $20, $15, $10 and $5.

British Plane Shot Down In Air Fight

AMSTERDAM, March 22 (AP) — A British fighting plane crashed in flames on Netherlands territory near Lobith today after an air battle between British and German planes near the point where the river Rhine enters Holland from Germany, the newspaper Het Volk reported.

All the crew of the British plane were believed killed. The newspaper said it was not known whether the battle occurred over German or Dutch territory.

TOO MANY EGGS FOR ONE RABBIT—They weren't fooling George Morris, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris, 2009, Sixteenth street, when he inspected the dyed Easter eggs for which Boy Scouts and cubs of the city will hunt in Mackenzie state park Saturday afternoon. As evident from his quizzical pose, there simply were too many eggs for one little rabbit. George is a member of den 3, cub pack 7, sponsored by Asbury Methodist church. With him in the picture is shown Eric Gott, chef of Hilton hotel coffee shop, who supervised the boiling and dyeing of the eggs, and then arranged the display.

Hundreds To Take Part In Egg Hunt

Everything is in readiness for the fifth annual Easter egg hunt for Lubbock Boy Scouts and cubs in Mackenzie state park Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, according to report this morning by Cecil Schwalbe, chairman of arrangements.

Scouts and cubs, he announced, are to meet at the barbecue pits promptly at 2 p. m. and then will go to the sections of the park where the eggs are hidden. He warned that the program will be run off strictly according to schedule, and that those who are late will be left out.

Prizes To Be Awarded

Negro scouts also are to participate in a hunt and will meet at Dunbar school at 2 p. m., according to Oscar Iles, chairman of arrangements there. Prizes are to be awarded.

The complete list of prizes in the Mackenzie park hunt were announced as follows:

For Boy Scouts—first grand prize, one week's summer camp expenses at Camp Post; second prize, $3 toward camping fees; third prize, $1 in camp fees; and the following merchandise prizes: first, shirt; second, four motion picture passes; third, scout knife; and for the most eggs, first aid kit.

Awards For Cubs

For cubs—two grand prizes, all expenses in a week-end cub-dad camp; first merchandise prize, flashlight; second, watch; and most eggs, first aid kit.

Expectation is that approximately 400 boys will participate, with separate hunts being held for scouts and cubs, Schwalbe said.

Approximately 2,200 eggs will be hidden by members of Texas Technological college chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, honorary Boy Scout fraternity, under the direction of Argo Peak, chapter president, and

Braniff Plane Stops In City

Two Lubbock representatives joined those from several other Texas cities aboard a two-motored plane of Braniff Airways which paused briefly at Municipal airport shortly before noon today en route to Denver Colo.

C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the chamber of commerce aviation committee, and A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber, will represent Lubbock at three conferences in Colorado before their return Sunday.

Also waiting here when the plane arrived was J. H. Greene, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and chairman of an intercity aviation committee.

Others Already Aboard

Already on board the ship were T. E. Braniff of Oklahoma City, president of Braniff Airways; Robert J. Smith of Dallas, vice president of the line; C. J. Crampton, representing Dallas Chamber of Commerce; William Holden of the Fort Worth Chamber; Merle Gruver of the Abilene Chamber; Howell Jones

Young Girl Nears Third Year Of Long Sleep Which Science Says Will End Only In Death

(By The United Press)

ELMWOOD PARK, Ill., Mar. 22.—Four-year-old Mary Ellen Reardon today neared the third year of a mysterious sleep medical experts said would end only with death—or a miracle for which thousands of devout throughout the world have been praying.

Science's pronouncement was that the end would be death, but Mary Ellen's parents cling to the hope of prayers and a miracle.

Mary Ellen will enter the third year of her sleep next Monday. While other children her age are preparing for kindergarten she lays supine in her bed. She was stricken by sleeping sickness after an attack of measles.

During afternoons and nights her eyes are closed. Sometimes during mornings she opens them, staring listlessly, apparently seeing nothing. She shows little response, only moving her head slightly when touched on the arm.

Thousands of Chicagoans are attending a perpetual movena in honor of the sorrowful mother. Her mother, Sally, has received letters of sympathy and prayer from Canada, Europe and India. She said Mary Ellen has grown a little since she was stricken but that her height is about the

Good Friday Is Observed

(By The Associated Press)

Europe today observed the first Good Friday of the war under the deepening shadow of fears of an early intensification of hostilities.

Only in Jerusalem did the day of Christ's crucifixion find conditions more peaceful than a year ago. The Arab-Jewish strife has virtually ceased since the outbreak of the European war. Christians of many nationalities gathered early today at Pontius Pilate's court for a devotional procession along the "Via Dolorosa" (street of sorrow) to the hill of the crucifixion.

Soldiers On Hand

Mingled with clerical vestments and native robes were the khaki uniforms of British and Australian soldiers, reminders that the holy land may yet be drawn into the war.

In the Vatican City, foreign diplomats, including President Roosevelt's envoy, Myron C. Taylor, gathered in the Sistine chapel to watch Pope Pius XII and 13 princes of the Roman Catholic church observe passion day rites.

Good Friday was marked in Rome last year by the launching of the invasion of Albania.

"Fight To Victory"

Berlin observed the day in a quiet deepened by the war. Offices and stores were closed, and in the churches the sermon theme was "fight to victory."

In Paris there were prayers for peace, but, with a push-the-war cabinet pledging intensification of warfare, the prayers stipulated peace only after victory.

The keynote of British Good Friday feeling was sounded by the London Times: "Christ died rather than make a truce with evil . . . the inescapable lessons of that example remain."

Mrs. F. B. Simpson Is Taken By Death Here

Mrs. F. B. Simpson, 38, of Lorenzo died shortly before noon today in a sanitarium here.

She had been ill about two days and had entered the sanitarium only this morning. Her death was attributed to pneumococcic meningitis, which developed from an ear infection. She did not regain consciousness while in the sanitarium. She entered at 4:45 o'clock.

Schuler Funeral home at Lorenzo took the body.

Mrs. Simpson's husband is a farmer.

Pioneer Rancher Dies At Archer City Home

ARCHER CITY, March 22. (AP)—W. J. McMurtry, 82, veteran Archer county rancher, died at the family residence near here at 6:05 o'clock this morning.

Born in Missouri, McMurtry came to Texas and settled in Denton county in 1878. He moved to Archer county in 1888 and had resided here 52 years.

Survivors include his wife, nine sons, C. T. McMurtry, J. L. McMurtry and J. H. McMurtry, all of Clarendon; R. L. McMurtry, Amarillo; E. D. McMurtry, Vigo Park, Texas; A. L. McMurtry, Silverton; J. S. McMurtry, Muleshoe; and W. J. McMurtry, jr., Windthorst; three daughters, Mrs. C. M. Carpenter, McLean, Texas; Mrs. R. E. Hilburn, Wichita Falls; and Mrs. Glenn White, Shamrock; 20 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

PRAYERS FOR PEACE

PARIS, March 22. (AP)—Prayers for peace—but only after victory over Germany—were offered today in Good Friday services throughout predominantly Catholic France.

"Geetar" And "Bull Fiddle" Are Necessary To Launch First-Rate Campaign In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 22.—In Texas these days, when a candidate announces for public office, folks are apt to ask him:

"Where's your band?"

The "geetar" and "bull fiddle," must be considered along with platform and principles in launching any first-rate political campaign in Texas.

It's all because of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and his "hill-billy" orchestra, who in 1938 upset Texas campaigning traditions and instituted a brand-new method of vote getting, one set to music.

Just now it looks as if O'Daniel's success in winning the governorship of the country's largest state to the accompaniment of "mountain" tunes this year will lead to new heights in stump melody.

If O'Daniel seeks a second term it is assumed that his "hill-billy boys" will be right in there fiddlin' until election day.

Jerry Sadler, a member of the important state railroad commission and a candidate for governor, probably again will utilize orchestral entertainment as he did two years ago.

Latest to woo the electorate with musical sound effects is Ross Hardin, candidate for the place of Lon A. Smith on the railroad commission, a three-member body.

Four cousins form a mixed quartet and sing pro-Hardin and anti-Smith songs all over the state, according to Hardin, who is a member of the state

Five Gates In Grand River Dam Closed

Only Needed Water For Four Cities Allowed To Flow

(By The Associated Press)

DISNEY, Okla., Mar. 22.—Five of six gates in two key arches of the Grand river dam have been closed in defiance of Gov. Leon C. Phillips' orders, it was learned today.

The only gate left open permits needed water to flow to the cities of Muskogee, Wagoner, Choteau and Poteau, observers at the scene reported.

Meeting Is Called

A meeting of the Phillips-appointed Grand river dam authority, presumably to discuss the situation, was called for 2 p. m. at Vinita.

Each of the two arches has three eight by ten foot openings which are closed by dropping gates. Arch No. 8 was closed last night. One gate stuck on the other but was closed this morning.

Lieut. Oran McCain, one of three national guard officers on duty as observers for Governor Phillips, commented simply that "Oklahoma City has been notified of developments."

No Indication Of Action

The governor gave no indication of what action he might take if his personal investigators confirmed his earlier reports of the surprise move in his battle of "state's rights."

The fiery chief executive has been fighting the Grand river dam authority and Public Works administration with every weapon of his office, including the national guard, in an effort to collect $889,275 for roads and bridges which will be inundated.

Will Not Use Force

Informed sources at the capitol said they believed Phillips would not used armed force on further court action.

The governor, ardent advocate of state's rights, called out the national guard March 13 to establish military rule over the last unclosed gap in the $20,000,000 hydro-electric project. He relinquished "military control" two days later after a state court issued a restraining order against the GRDA.

The Vinita federal court then issued a restraining order against the governor. Phillips has challenged the jurisdiction of the federal tribunal.

Man Is Not Bothered By A Fractured Leg

"It's practically nothing at all," said Smith.

He should know. It was the tenth time the leg has been broken.

Happy Easter Assured Girl

(By The Associated Press)

JOHNSTON, R. I., March 22—To 800 men and a girl, an Easter bunny is just as real as Santa Claus, and maybe more real.

Yesterday they found out all about him.

Forty great trucks, each loaded with 20 WPA workers—800 of them in all—have rolled out on the Plainfield pike morning after morning for a year or more. When they went by a house on the pike, an 18-year-old girl, Lillian Obrieter, came to the window and waved to each truckload of men.

"Girl At The Window"

"The girl at the window"—that's what they called her. Lillian has been waving at the men as they went by to work each morning and came back toward home each afternoon.

When the trucks came rolling down the highway yesterday afternoon, however, there was no waving. The 40 trucks stopped and the 800 men scrambled down and walked over to Lillian's house.

Lillian didn't know what to make of it. She was frightened to see all the trucks stop in front of the house, so she walked out with her brother Charlie to see what was the matter.

Out of the ranks of the men stepped a "committee." The com-

Mingled Races Form France's Army Of The East

Gen. Weygand In Command

BY REYNOLDS PACKARD
United Press Staff Correspondent

WITH FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION IN SYRIA, March 22 — Gen. Maxime Weygand's army of the east, which funneled through Beirut into Syria and Lebanon since the war started, has completed training and is ready to meet any spring offensive.

Traveling by automobile through this French mandate this month, I found Gen. Weygand had welded a fighting machine from units representing every part of the French empire. Totaling between 100,000 and 200,000 men the army brings together ink-black Malgaches from Madagascar, pale Annamites from Indo-China, tan Algerians, and even brown Tahitians. There are also fast-riding Spahis and native camel corps.

The backbone of the army, however, is formed of white soldiers from France's metropolitan army and the crack French Foreign Legion, which includes scores of Spaniards, Americans and dozens of Germans, who are loyal to the French Legion.

Legion Posts Strengthened

The two Legionnaire posts permanently in Syria and Lebanon have been increased by reinforcements trained in Sidi-bel Abes. This legion which, incidentally, included more Frenchmen than foreigners is ready with French white troops to form the spearhead of any action.

I was especially impressed by the way Weygand succeeded in taking such mixed elements and forming them into a single unified army. Virtually all colonial troops here have French officers and include contingents of French soldiers, with the result that it is almost impossible to distinguish between divisions or even regiments.

Coming here from a tour of Egypt and Palestine where I was permitted to see at first-hand the maneuvers of British troops, I noticed units in Syria and Lebanon especially trained so they can fight alongside English, Scotch, Australian, New Zealand, and Indian troops also stationed in the Middle East.

Army Is Mechanized

Mechanized ability is important here as in Egypt, Palestine, and Transjordan. It seems safe to say that if war should break out in the Middle East, the Franco-British forces concentrated in Syria, Lebanon, Egypt, Palestine, and Transjordan would converge as a single army wherever needed—whether to meet an enemy push in the Balkans involving Turkey, or to ward off any possible desert attack from Tripoli, should Italy become involved.

Weygand, who despite his 73 years is one of the most active Allied generals, keeps in contact with all the Allied forces in the Middle East, although nominally he heads only the French forces.

At Beirut I found the harbor in readiness for any eventuality. There special devices aid in heavy loading connected with the dispatching of troops.

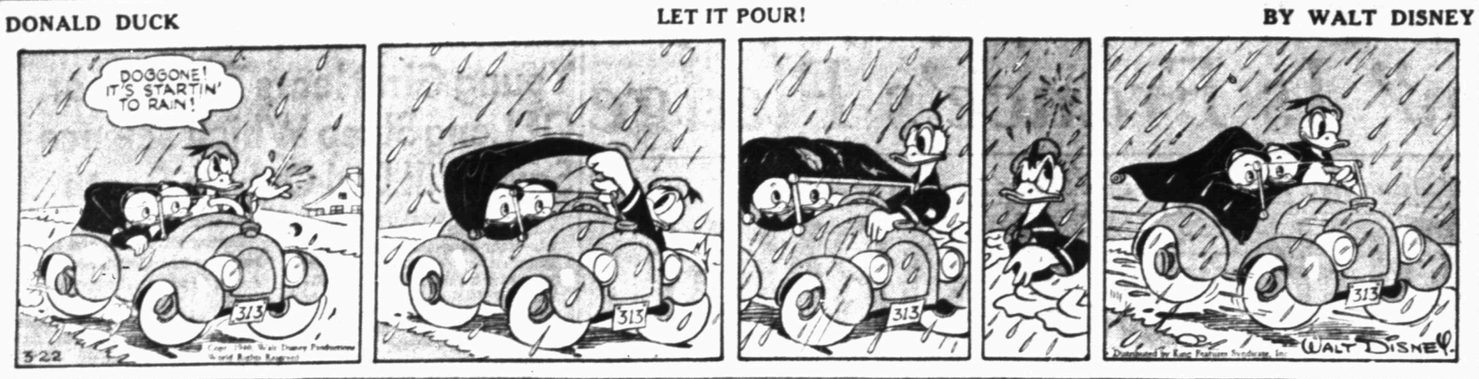

Heavy artillery protects the harbor while French battleships and submarines are constantly coming to and going from Beirut, which has become one of the most strategic ports of the Mediterranean. Along the coastline which I traveled were machine gun emplacements and heavy naval guns where deep water would permit battleships to attempt to launch landing parties.

The regular army has been here since the early days of the mandate, but recently reinforced by Weygand's expeditionary force it is known as the Army of the East. The local units, including the Lebanon camel corps, have increased their numbers and are ready to police the country so that the army can rush elsewhere if needed.

Among Legion officers with whom I talked was Prince Aly Khan, the 29-year-old son and heir of Aga Khan.

Changes Complete At Penney Store

Opening of the remodeled basement of J. C. Penney Co., 1100-2 Broadway, Saturday will add approximately 2,400 square feet of floor space to the store, EE. J. Parsons, manager announced.

The basement, formerly used for storage, will increase floor space to more than 9,000 square feet since complete remodeling of the main floor and balcony.

New Features Added

Men's work clothes, bedding and white goods, drapery department and cotton house frocks for women and children will be moved from the main floor to the basement.

Recent improvements to the store have totaled approximately $10,000, including $6,000 worth of new fixtures. The company will add five new employes to its sales force, Parsons said.

A new cash-carrier system throughout the store will not be completed in time for the Saturday opening.

Display Space Added

Display space in show windows recently was decreased to add floor space on the main floor.

The shoe department will be enlarged soon and new fixtures will be added.

The store was opened in Lubbock 15 years ago and Parsons has remained here as manager throughout that period. O. W. Whitesell recently came here as assistant manager.

Wartime "Gay Paree" Lives Only Until 11 And Then A Blackout

BY SAMUEL DASHIELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 22. — The "Gay Paree" known by the AEF in 1917-19 is carrying on in another war, but it's an 11 o'clock town now.

As the war progresses, new amusements are appearing, and it is the men back from the front who insist on the gaiety rather than the civil population. Theaters have reopened, also music halls, cabarets and dance places.

If there is a dance of death at the front, there must be a dance of forgetfulness in Paris. Guardians of wartime Paris listened to the universal complaints and opened up the town to fun and distraction, that is, until 11 o'clock when the blackout descends.

From early morning until 11 p. m., Paris amuses itself in more than 20 legitimate theaters, 18 music halls, 35 cabarets and a dozen gay and alluring dance halls. More than a hundred cinema theaters are open and more are opening as they find means of assuring their clients safe shelter from possible air raids.

Famous Theaters Open

The national playhouses, such as the Opera, the Opera Comique, the Comedie Francaise and the Odeon, are open and crowded. With the tickets one receives a little slip telling where the nearest air raid shelter is located. One box in the first tier is always unoccupied, for it encloses bags of sand and firefighting apparatus in case of incendiary bombs. These precautions have been taken everywhere and in some houses the amphitheaters are closed to prevent possible stampeding down ancient narrow stairs in case of alarm.

Those authors who are not busy working in the censorship or who are not at the front, are busy interpreting the intellectual side of the war. The critics are looking for masterpieces born of the new conflict, although most of them are just arriving from the World war. Sascha Guitry has been one of the leading luminaries of the new war theater; Pierre Weber has written the Venus de l'Flot, dealing with the air raid shelter; and Louis Verneuil has written Fasicule Noir, also a war piece, but it is too early for the literary urge to be felt.

Paris is still talking about those plays produced from the cycle of the World war, such as Paul Raynal's Le Tombeau sous l'Arc de Triomphe; or Le Terre Inhumane of Francois de Curel; or works of Maurice Maeterlinck or J. J. Bernard.

Hitler Burlesques Staged

The new war is more articulate in the dozens of cabarets, such as the Noctambules called the Nox; le Theatre de Dix Heures, La Bolee de Cidre, legendary haunt of Francois Villon. In these little theaters where soldiers and weary Parisians sit together, the audience laughs over clever burlesques of Hitler and Goebbels, or war themes and love themes and the inevitable triangular situations.

The music halls such as the Casino de Paris, the Folies Bergere, the Concert Mayol where nudity is glorified, the little Bobino and the Circus Medrano are the soldiers' delight. There they crowd in with their sweethearts and comrades and sit back and gaze intently on scenes quite unlike a night on the Moselle or an outpost in the Saar.

Most of the big cafes which gave Paris international fame during peace time are opened for business, but in many cases the crowds are smaller and generally more serious. In Montparnasse the old Cafe Dome is going strong. La Coupole, the biggest night restaurant in Montparnasse, is usually crowded. The painters not mobilized in the camouflage section are all there full of theories about the world, the war, life, love and disaster.

The big boulevard cafes are much more sedate. They have settled down to a war regime of dignified tolerance. They still seem to be more reminiscent of the World war, which also emptied them, but in which war correspondents met and talked and Parisian journalists and moving picture actors, artists and critics foregathered for apertifs.

American Bars Crowded

The American bars born of the last war have taken on a new lease of life. Harry's New York Bar is again a den of joy-seeking Royal Air Force fliers and newspapermen. Fred Payne's cozy little bar at the gateway to Montmartre in the lower reaches of the Rue Pigalle is back in its old role of entertaining lonesome soldiers and equally lonesome theater girls, mostly English.

American films still figure largest on the cinema programs and, singularly enough, many of them are those roaring Hollywood war films wherein valor, virtue and virility prevail in the end.

For more serious-minded persons, there are some big libraries open, but the museums are closed, the art works are underground or packed off to safe hiding; the stained glass windows of many beautiful Gothic temples are lighted with rays filtered through ordinary glass.

Parks are open, and a surprising number of children are playing in them with their nurses.

One thing is different, however, and that is when the theaters pour out their crowds at 11 o'clock, the cafes and restaurants are closing, and amusement thereafter is where you find it.

Oil Workers' Strike At Tulsa Is Ended

TULSA, March 22. (U.P.)—The 15-month strike of the oil workers' (CIO) union against Mid-Continent Petroleum company was ended today after weeks of negotiation.

All workers on strike, except those who have been discharged, will be rehired without discrimination and with seniority rights restored when jobs are available. Cases of employes who have received letters of discharge will be reviewed by the management. Picketing and boycotting of Mid-Continent plants and service stations will be stopped at once.

The management also stipulated that if employes cooperate under the agreement for six months, Mid-Continent will confer with the union's representatives to draft a plan for adjustment of future disputes.

The strike, one of the longest and most bitter in this city's history, was marked during its early phases by violence and mobilization of the national guard.

Judging At Odessa Show Opens Today

ODESSA, March 22. (U.P.)—Judging of the largest number of prize stock entries in the history of the Sand Hills Hereford show, which opened yesterday in its new $75,000 plant, began today. More than 10,000 visitors were expected during the three days of the show.

Stock entries, three times larger than in the previous in showings, included 50 prize Hereford herds from Texas, represented in more than 300 head of cattle. Seventy-five prize sheep were entered, and the horse and poultry exhibits brought record entry lists.

Hundreds of old west stockmen attended opening ceremonies yesterday, which included a mile-long parade of cowboys, high school bands and drum majors and majorettes.

The parade also included a beauty pageant, and old and new western steers.

A feature of the opening day's events was an "old fashioned yarn swapping," the old timers having been given a block in the main business section which was roped off from traffic.

New Opium Sources In Mexico Located

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22. (AP)—Opium peddlers, who were almost put out of business when wars in China and Europe cut off their supplies, have found a new source of opium in Mexico, Paul E. Madden, chief of the state narcotics division, said here today.

Madden, disclosing the new situation, said his men already had struck their first blow against an alleged narcotics ring by the arrest at San Diego of two Chinese and a negro.

Madden was informed opium was being grown on a 3,500 acre farm near Altar, Sonora, Mexico, south of Nogales, Ariz.

Olympic Games SPEED KING?

It's HARD to tell . . . but EASY to pick a winning oil

IN ole swimmin' holes where water has filled abandoned quarries . . . and in luxurious tile pools . . . youngsters are screaming, "Hey, Dad. Watch me!"

Which one of them is destined to be the future speed king whose name will go down in the record books? Of course you can't tell; that is obvious.

But when you want to choose a winning oil for your motor, the answer is easy. You have signs as bright as a beacon to guide you . . . signs you will see all around you: Orange and Black Phillips 66 Shields.

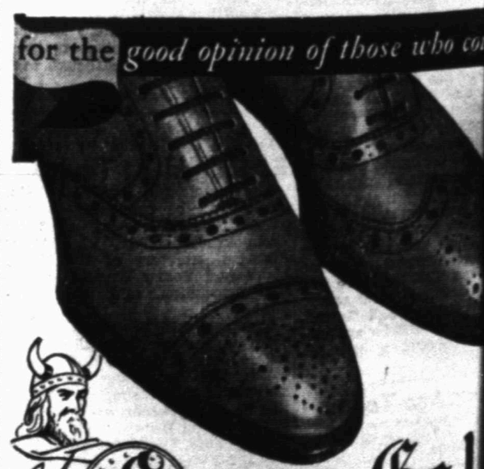

Phillips has made a great name in the petroleum industry. Phillips has built a great reputation with car owners. And Phillips tells you frankly: If you want our best oil, remember we specify that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality . . . the highest grade and greatest value . . . among all the oils we offer.

So pick a winning oil by pointing to the can marked with the Phillips 66 Shield. Remember this suggestion, when you are making the seasonal change to rid your car of winter-worn lubricant. Drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil at the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Boulton Tells His Platform

HOUSTON, March 22. (U.P.)—Alexander N. Boulton, insurance man who entered the Texas gubernatorial race on Feb. 22, announced today that he had opened state campaign headquarters at a hotel here.

Boulton is western states manager of the railroad department of the Pacific Life Insurance company. He said he would run for governor as a liberal Democrat.

To Be Next Governor

"Make no mistake about it," Boulton asserted, "I'm going to be the next governor of Texas."

He outlined a platform of legalized horse racing and sale of liquor by the drink in hotels and bona fide restaurants, estimating that the state could raise $50,000,000 a year in additional revenue.

Boulton said he advocated use of this additional revenue for payment of old age pensions and establishment of a health service for indigents and marginal income groups in cooperation with local medical societies.

Would License Bookies

Legalized horse racing, under his plan, would provide the state with five per cent of money bet, bookies would be licensed and registered bookies each morning would draw the race tickets they expect to sell during the day, he said.

"Bookies will lay the money on the barrel-head," Boulton said. "That money will go to the state."

Boulton said that he opposes the sales tax or any additional taxes on natural resources.

"Business in Texas, large and small, is taxed enough," he continued. "I believe natural resources, the oil and sulphur industries, are carrying all the taxes they can stand without forcing them to shut down.

More Jobs Needed

"I am interested in providing jobs for Texans, and I truly believe before those industries would pay more taxes, they would shut down production. We cannot have that. Shutting down production means shutting down jobs, and we have too few jobs open today."

Boulton advocated also the curtailing of activities of Texas rangers, who would confine their work to enforcement of state laws only.

Before entering the insurance business, Boulton was a railroad brakeman. He owns a ranch near Palestine and has lived in Houston about 20 years. He said he planned to open campaign offices in San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Austin, El Paso, Lubbock, Abilene and Longview.

American Progress To Be Discontinued

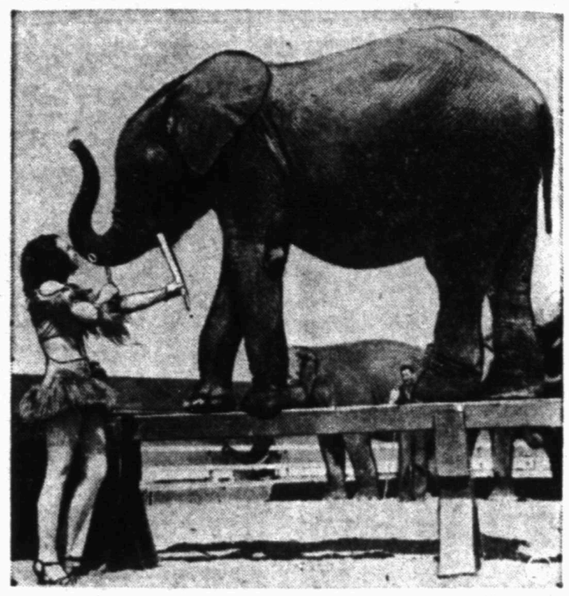

HAMMOND, La., March 22. (AP)—Another link that held together Huey P. Long's political dynasty has faded from the Louisiana scene: The American Progress will publish no more.

The newspaper, established by the "Kingfish" while he was governor and used by him to fight his way into the U. S. Senate and proclaim his program of "share the wealth," remained since his death in 1935 the state administration's principal organ of publicity.

The shareholders of the Progress Publishing company, inc., publishers of the American Progress, it was learned today, voted March 14 to dissolve the firm.

During the recent gubernatorial fight, in which Gov. Earl K. Long, Huey's brother, was defeated by Sam Jones, the Progress lampooned the rivals of Long. It published only once since the runoff primary Feb. 20.

"Eddie" Rickenbacker, American World war ace, started out in life working for $6 a week in a tombstone works in Columbus, Ohio.

CIRCUS IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER—He's not pink and he is walking that single-rail fence. His name's Pouqua and he's said to be the worlds only performing pygmy elephant. He's getting his final training before the circus goes on the road from Mrs. Evelyn McClain at the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey circus winter quarters in Sarasota, Fla. At right: "Wash your neck and behind your ears, dear" is good advice, even for circus giraffes. But, as this picture shows, it takes a long-handled scrubbing brush to do it.

Tobacco-Chewing Days Of Texas Rancher Are Over; And He Is Suing For Damages

WEATHERFORD, March 22. (U.P.)—Rancher Mack Coffman has been a great tobacco chewer. But no more.

"Those days are gone forever," the tanned westerner said today. "I've lost my taste for the stuff."

Coffman blamed the newfound distate for his customary plug on a tobacco company and because of it, and other alleged losses, he is suing for $2,215.

He bought a hunk of tobacco, Coffman related. He clamped down firmly, as usual, and expecting his usual chewing satisfaction. But he spit out the quid, and quick, too, he said. The third bite had filled his mouth with a lot of fine spikes, like those of a nettle, and it took a doctor an hour to get those spikes out of his tongue and cheek.

His petition against the tobacco company, arriving at the figure of $2,215, alleged loss of time, pain, loss of his tobacco taste, and—if he decides after all to start chewing again—the necessity of using just one side of his mouth.

School Enrollment In City Climbs Higher

Total enrollment at close of the sixth month of the term of Lubbock public schools was 7,159, an increase over the previous month.

Enrollment was 6,824 at close of the sixth month last year.

Totals for the school year 1939-40 by months show the steady increase, as follows: first month, 6,080; second month, 6,381; third month, 6,597; fourth month, 6,812; fifth month, 7,072.

On this report Dr. W. B. Irvin, superintendent, has included the total enrollment of Lubbock's newest schools, Roscoe Wilson and George R. Bean, to include transfers from other schools in the state, Wilson school has 285 and Bean 319: Other schools in the system with their enrollment are: Senior High School, 1,391; Junior High, 1,449; K. Carter, 751; Dupre, 805; Hunt, 781; Central Ward, 709; Sanders, 448; Southwest Ward, 25; Guadalupe, 267; Dunbar, 515; Eleven students from Wilson and seven from Bean can be included in the total.

Total number of teachers in the Lubbock system is 202.

Newest Planes Being Sought

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—Seeking the most advanced military aircraft for their war in the air, the British and French governments have asked permission to buy duplicates of additional late model American army planes.

Well informed aviation sources reported last night the request was under study in the light of President Roosevelt's pronouncement that the war orders already had contributed substantially to the national defense and his contention that the disclosure of military secrets was not involved in the sale of planes stripped of a few secret devices.

Want Newest Models

The Allied purchasing commission, projecting contracts for thousands of additional planes and engines costing upwards of $1,000,000,000, took the position that other than the newest model craft would be obsolete upon delivery. Manufacturers say they cannot fill most of the orders before 1941.

The war department already has tentatively released for export two of its newest 400-mile-an-hour fighters, a Lockheed P-38 and a Curtiss P-40.

Five other models which have just reached the stage of delivery to the air corps have been withheld thus far. They include an attack bomber, two light bombers, and two experimental fighters, described as giving "definitely superior performance" to older types.

The request for permission to inspect these with a view to purchase came in the midst of negotiations by the mission with manufacturers in New York. Presumably it was presented by Arthur B. Purvis, head of the mission, who conferred this week with Secretary Morgenthau, the president's representative in the negotiations.

Here's A Leap-Year Tip: Easter Bonnets Can Lead The Way To Man's Hea

Biggest News Is In Brims

BY ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Hats affect masculine hearts, proposals and the marriage rate, says one of America's leading hat designers.

So give special thought to your Leap Year Easter bonnet, for it may help you get your man.

"A young man matrimonially inclined can be attracted by a pretty hat," says Howard Hodge, whose hats are worn from Maine to California. "But he can be frightened away by a flighty, crazy one that veers off at a dizzy angle. Reason: He is apt to think the girl is as dizzy as her hats and not the one to found the best home and happiness. When hats are extreme and eccentric, fewer men propose."

Here's Explanation

(For your information, Mademoiselles, statistics don't quarrel with him. In New York, where fashions are made, the year after the crazy-hat epidemic the marriage rate fell several per cent. So did it the year after the Empress Eugenie episode—though a few other things, like the depression, may have had something to do with it, too.)

For your further information these are the things, I have learned, men like in hats: Brims (both large and small), color (not too loud), flowers, simplicity and designs that make a becoming frame for the face.

To complete your education, these are the things designers have done in Leap Year's Easter bonnets:

* * *

Biggest news is in brims. Those that have made the latest splash and are most talked of right now stand off the face, but there are still a number that pitch forward over the eye. Among the new off-face hats are Flemish sailors inspired by old Flemish paintings whose brims (posed on a close cap) tilt skyward and are edged by a wide flange. There are also a lot of bonnets inspired by nun's coifs.

Another important piece of spring hat news concerns big roll-brimmed felt chapeaux with wide sides and fairly shallow backs and fronts. Some of these roll back from the face, others up on each side.

Old Time Favorites

All the old brimmed favorites are here, too. There are narrow and wide-brimmed sailors, rolling brimmed, bretons (sometimes posed so far back on the head they have a halo effect), postillions and shovel brims which pitch forward over the face. Felts, straws and braids are all used to make them.

Color is the next news note in the 1940 Easter chapeaux. Navy blue and black hats are splashed with scarlet or apple green, white hats (numerous) are touched with navy blue. There are also a number of colored hats—dusty pinks, misty blues, soft yellow and greens—and some plaid taffeta sailors.

Flowers, fruit and bird wings, liberally used, add to the vogue for color. Toques are covered with pastel flowers, white blossoms or red currants and misted with a colorful veil film. Wings trim sailors or nest in flower toques.

All in all, the new Easter bonnets are chapeaux to which men might well propose.

The wide sailor appears in yellow straw designed by Howard Hodge.

Here's another version of the sailor—white this time and rimmed with cherries.

Sally Victor's famous Flemish sailor is built of gray felt banded in white.

Comes the Breton—black and forward-tilted, finished with a white gardenia and crown.

Girls To Hold Rally Tonight

A training school for Girl Scout leaders was initiated Thursday at a 10 o'clock session at First Christian annex. Miss Katherine Shankland of Dallas, member of the national staff, is conducting the course. Afternoon session followed a one o'clock luncheon at the Hilton hotel.

A Girl Scout rally is scheduled for 6:30 tonight at the American Legion hall.

Miss Shankland plans to attend the regional conference in Amarillo, April 18, 19 and 20. The leaders training camp will be in Dallas the following week.

Region nine consists of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. Miss Shankland is one of the two workers who conduct training courses and assist councils in planning their work in these four states.

"Since 1934 an increase of 96 per cent in the number of Girl Scouts in region nine has been realized, she said. There are 18,178 girls doing Scout work at the present time, with the majority in Texas. There are 26 executive councils in Texas and the newest one is in Pecos. Panhandle and South Plains towns with councils are Amarillo, Pampa, Lubbock and Lamesa.

Miss Shankland would like for Lubbock to plan a year's activities of work at the council meetings each year and present them as publicity for the troops. She also will assist them in planning a training course in May when the council and committee goals will be announced.

The advisor has just recently joined Girl Scout staff. She is a native of New York and is a trained recreational worker. She served as a social worker in several children's settlements in New York and Ohio.

Mrs. Pendley Has Party To Honor Her Daughter

Marian Joyce Pendley was honored with a recent birthday party when her mother, Mrs. A. R. Pendley, entertained.

Games were played and refreshments served to Mildred Joyce Sanders, Reita Joyce Cowdray, Ruth Ann Kemp, Elaine Pollard, Betty Joan Walker, Joy LaVerne Pharr, Jeanette Moss, Marian Nichols, Betty Ray Burrows, Roy Dennis Burrows, Wanda Jean Rackler, Ollie Jean Coffee, Maxine Landers, Willa Jean Reid, Floy Pharr and Dolores Pharr.

Becton Club Discussion Is On Spring Gardens

A reading, "Who Makes a Garden?" was given by Mrs. Johnny Joiner at a meeting of the Becton Home Demonstration club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Albert Smith. A talk on "The Zinnia, the Garden Standby," was given by Mrs. Aaron DuBose and Mrs. Dewey Ervin discussed "How, When, Where and Why Plant Marigolds, Petunias and Zinnias."

The April 3 meeting will be with Mrs. W. H. Nelson.

Visitors were Mesdames Hazel Dean and Elaine Odom. Members present were Mesdames Ervin, DuBose, Nelson, Ray Ferguson and Smith.

Special Service Will Be Held On Sunday

Observing an annual custom, one of three standard dates so scheduled, Lubbock Commandery 60, Knights Templar, will march in a body Sunday afternoon to the First Presbyterian church for special Easter services to be conducted by Dr. Jack M. Lewis.

The service will be at 3:30 o'clock. Knights Templar will gather an hour earlier at the asylum and organize their line of march, said Hugh J. McClellan, lodge secretary.

Plainview Commandery 53 has been invited to join and to sit in the reserved section in the church, and members of all nearby towns belonging to the Lubbock Commandery have been asked.

The public is invited, as well, said McClellan.

Altus Sansom is commander of the 187-member lodge.

Christmas, Easter and Ascension day are the three regularly observed days on the Commandery's calendar, McClellan said.

Primary Department Has Planned Easter Party

First Presbyterian primary department pupils and teachers will attend an Easter egg hunt at the church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. L. C. Ellis is superintendent of this department.

Clubs, Church Groups Meet

Breakfasts, luncheons and afternoon parties were held by church and club groups Thursday.

A luncheon was held at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. C. Coyne, 2316 Twentieth street, for members of the Betsy Ross Needle club. The Easter motif was carried out.

Officers for the coming year were elected. They are: president, Mrs. Everett Rabun; vice-president, Mrs. C. W. Trippe; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Coyne and reporter, Mrs. George Sawyer. Mrs. C. W. Wall was a new member and Mesdames Fred Rogers and F. G. Barclay were visitors. The next meeting will be April 4 with Mrs. Cheaney.

Other members attending were Mesdames E. E. Brock, O. D. Peden, Oscar Ragland, W. M. Cheaney, Boyd Milsap, Clarence Terrell, Toy Rodgers, Roy Campbell and E. E. Rogers.

Euzelians Have Lunch

Mrs. Gordon Groce led a devotional at a luncheon meeting of the First Baptist Euzelian class at the activities center. Mrs. Warren Henry presided for a business hour. There were 17 women present.

Mrs. Wayne Warren gave highlights in the history of Texas Technological college at a meeting of the Amiga club with Mrs. J. A. Barton, 1304 Avenue L, in the afternoon. Mrs. H. O. Waters was a special guest.

Refreshments of fruit salad in orange shells, angel food cake and hot chocolate were served to the special guests and 13 members. Plate favors were china Easter rabbits and chicks.

Is Club Hostess

Mrs. E. J. Ohnemus, 2426 Twenty-second street, was hostess to the Entre Se Bridge club. Mrs. Alton Taylor, a guest, scored high and Mrs. Cliff Widener scored second high.

Others present were Mesdames Dwain Rogers, Robert and Wilbur Cooper, Guy Wheatley, Ray Johnson, High Newton, Granville Dickinson, Powell McWhirter and Ben Jenkins.

Mesdames G. N. Kinnon and Mary L. Gardner were special guests at a party Mrs. C. W. Byers gave for the Double Six Forty-Two club at her home, 2108 Sixteenth street.

Members present were Mesdames J. D. Boucher, Ralph Moore, B. E. Noel, J. D. George, Roy Weiss, Mary Day, J. J. Barham, Roscoe Webster and B. Stephens.

For Miscellaneous Club

Mrs. J. W. Gray, 1921 Avenue O, was hostess to the Miscellaneous club. Mrs. G. M. Coker scored high in bridge games. Other guests were Mesdames M. H. Adkisson, J. W. Cawthron and M. A. Sanders. The club will meet April 4 at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Sanders, 1622 Seventeenth street.

Approximately 50 women attended a "come-as-you-are" breakfast at the Asbury Methodist church given by the young women's circle. A committee called for the guests and those who did not attend were fined.

Breakfast tables were decorated with jonquils and baskets of Easter eggs.

Bible Study Is Held In Clark Home Thursday

The 1939 Bible Study club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Walter Clark, 2711 Twenty-first street. Mrs. J. W. Houston led a devotional service, Mrs. G. V. Fulton talked on "Historical Facts at the Time of Abraham" and Mrs. J. E. McCleary taught a Bible lesson.

The class will meet April 18 with Mrs. Houston, 3602 Twenty-second street, with Mrs. Ewald Lamprecht assistant hostess. Mesdames Roy Hobbs, Roderick Curry, Stanley Myers and E. B. Harris were received as members and others present were Mesdames Noel Stalnaker, Ross Trigg, E. L. Price, R. P. Fuller and Robert Maxey.

Corbins Are Honored At Party In Tisdel Home

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tisdel, 2517 Twenty-sixth street, were hosts with a shower Wednesday night to honor Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Corbin. After games of forty-two, refreshments were served to the following:

Messrs. and Mesdames Bert Herring, O. B. Williams, Frank Heldt, M. F. Dagley, J. L. Dagley, John Hughes, Walter Davis, Charles Danforth, V. C. King, C. H. King, V. C. King, jr., U. V. Dagley, A. L. Adair, Ray Corbin, Mrs. Mae Franklin; Misses Ernestine Pharr and Mildred Lane; Messrs. Ed Haley and Gerald Corbin and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dagley of Plainview. Gifts were sent by several persons who were unable to attend.

Mrs. Paye Love of Kingsville and Mrs. G. P. East of Lubbock left today for a vacation to Hot Springs, N. M. They will visit Carlsbad cavern and other interesting New Mexico points.

Miss Malone Is Elected To Head Beta Sigma Phis

Miss Kathrine Malone was named president of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority at a meeting held Thursday night at the home of Miss Eloise Smith, 2209 Tenth street.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Dayle Vannoy, vice president; Miss Eloise Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William A. Wilbanks, recording secretary; and Miss Tarsey Singley, treasurer. The officers will be installed May 2.

The chapter voted to defer rushing until fall. Announcement was made of invitations received from the Gamma Kappa chapter of Amarillo for a Leap Year dance to be held March 30.

Discuss Investments

During the program hour, S. E. Cone discussed "Opportunities For Investments in Lubbock." "To be certain that your investment will be secure, check upon the dividends, the management and the primary interest or income," he advised. "A safe investment is one in which the principle is secure, the income is satisfactory and there is a ready outlet for disposal of the investment."

Mr. Cone distinguished between bonds, stock, preferred stock, federal and municipal investments, real estate and mortgages as investments.

He explained the difference between investments which are safe and carry but a small percent of interest and speculation, which is uncertain but which may bring high returns.

Speculation Is Advised

"If a young person wants to get ahead rapidly, he must do some speculating," he added. "One cannot forge ahead rapidly on returns of but two or three percent from an investment."

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Nathan White, Miss Bertha Singley and Miss Smith.

Guests were Mrs. Webster McEvoy, jr., a former member who recently moved to Lufkin, and Mr. Cone. Members attending were Mesdames Lloyd Zeliner, P. T. Glazner, Georgia Mae Galloway, Theresa White, Nathan White, Wilbanks, Vannoy; Mrs. Mary Bowers, Josephine Powell, Gertrude Martin, Tarsey and Bertha Singley, Malone and Smith.

Mrs. E. B. Shipp, near town, entertained for the Merry Sixteen club Thursday afternoon. Attending were Mesdames J. S. Hamilton, J. A. Wilson, Travis Tubbs, T. W. Dial, J. W. Ross, C. C. Lane, W. C. Lane, W. T. Bond, P. T. Finley, E. F. Alford, G. W. Lofland, F. F. Revier, G. E. O'Neal and N. A. Payne. Mrs. Tubbs will be club hostess April 19.

The compact made on board the Mayflower in 1620 was signed by 41 persons.

Elections Are Held By PTAs

Two parent-teacher associations were in election hours Thursday afternoon and a third met for a musical program.

Dupre P-TA met at the Asbury Methodist church at 3 o'clock with more than 100 persons present. The Mothers' chorus under the direction of Mrs. Carl Scoggin sang two numbers.

Dr. Agnes True, curriculum director of the Lubbock Public schools and member of Texas Technological college faculty, talked on "Home and School Programs as Factors in Child Health."

Officers for the coming year were nominated and elected as follows: president, Mrs. E. M. Barnett (re-election); vice president, Mrs. C. W. Tatum (re-election); secretary, Mrs. Harvey Austin; treasurer, Mrs. H. D. Stanley (re-election).

Delegates Named

The following were elected as delegates to the district convention of parents and teachers to be April 11 and 12 in Lamesa: Mesdames Mark Allen, A. D. Denton, T. B. Duggan, C. E. Moreman, R. E. L. Pattillo, P. H. Laverty, A. D. Montgomery, Tatum, Barnett, F. G. Campbell, L. B. Cooper, J. L. Holt, G. H. Nelson, J. A. Peel, Bert Pinson, L. L. Miller and Clay Anderson.

Miss Claudine Cook's room won the prize with 19 mothers present.

An election of officers featured the George R. Bean P.-T.A. meeting at the school. Those elected were:

President, Mrs. Russell S. Hardin; vice president, Mrs. K. L. Bonds; secretary, Mrs. P. P. Cates; treasurer, Mrs. W. R. Dean; chairman of room mothers, Mrs. H. L. Burgess.

A program was presented by pupils from rooms taught by Mrs. Birdie Lee Liles and Misses Dimple Watson and Ardath Byrd. Dr. W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock Public schools, lectured.

Mesdames George R. Spradlin and Hardin were elected delegates to the Fourteenth district parent-teacher meeting in Lamesa.

Forty persons were present.

Fifty teachers and patrons attended a meeting of the Roscoe Wilson P.-T.A. at 3:15 o'clock.

Pupils from Mrs. Martha Davis' fifth grade room presented a choral reading.

Mrs. Ross Ayers, teacher of journalism at Senior High school, talked on the use of radios in the schoolroom.

Mrs. L. D. Thomas presided for a business session at which Mrs. O. A. Terry was elected secretary. Most mothers present were those whose children are taught by Mrs. Davis.

Are YOU Paying This Awful Price For Being NERVOUS?
Are overtaxed nerves making you old, haggard, cranky and hard to live with—"nerves" making your life a nightmare of jealousy, self-pity, hysteria and "the blues"? THEN LISTEN—
Often such nervousness is due to female functional disorders. So take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help calm unstrung sensitive nerves and lessen functional irregularities. For over 60 years relief-giving Pinkham's Compound has helped tens of thousands of grandmothers, mothers and daughters in "time of need."

Pinkham's Compound is the best known and one of the most effective "woman's" tonics obtainable. Results should delight weak, run-down, nervous women. Try it!

Reckless Driver Is Sought By Officers

There had been no reported arrest—but the driver of a 1940 maroon Ford sedan who allegedly figured in "ditching" enterprises Thursday on the Slaton-Lubbock highway was closer to arrest than he might know.

His license number was known and officials needed only to make a few inquiries to learn his identity.

Motorists said he whipped in toward them, forcing them to "take to ditches alongside the road."

Spectacles were invented by a monk in Florence, Italy, in 1285.

STRATO-PLANE FLIES ABOVE STORMS—The popular song will come true for passengers on the new Pan American strato-clipper who will fly "somewhere over the rainbow." The super-charged air liner, over 30,000 feet up, will wing through clear skies above the tumultous earth-weather level, as shown in the above chart. Ready for service soon, the giant plane has a wing spread of over 107 feet, accommodations for 33 day passengers, 25 night ones and a ton of mail or express.

Heroic Athlete Now Is Being Boomed For Carnegie Award

HAMMONTON, N. J., March 22. (U.P.)—Jack Vaughn, 17-year-old captain of the 1939 Hammonton high school football team, whose courageous exploits won the plaudits of the New Jersey State legislature, is a candidate for a Carnegie Hero Award.

During his nigh school days, Vaughn saved seven persons from drowning, the latest in December when he pulled two children from Hammonton Lake after thin ice cracked beneath their weight.

Muleshoe To Stage Show

MULESHOE, March 22. (Special)—Livestock and poultry projects which Bailey county 4-H club boys have had during the past few months will be exhibited here Saturday in an annual fat stock show, said Sam Logan, county farm agent today in announcing preliminary work completed.

The show will be held in the Charles Lenau cotton warehouse north of the Santa Fe tracks and H. M. Bainer, Amarillo, general agricultural agent of the railroad has been secured as judge. Animals must be in place early, as judging starts at 10 o'clock.

Premiums Offered

Business men have contributed $100 for premiums, given through the chamber of commerce. Five premiums will be awarded in the livestock classes and three in poultry.

Besides the stock, several firms here plan displays of farm power machinery in the warehouse. The Muleshoe high school band and the Bula school band have been secured to give concerts. Gulf Oil company has agreed to have a sound truck here for the broadcasting of musical and other programs.

Two classes will be had in beef calves, above and below 850 pounds and two in fat barrow class, above and below 180 pounds.

A Sports Editor's Lament

By Collier Parris

TO YOU WHO DWELL in sportsdom's glass houses: to you, we mean, who purchase tickets in advance, or on the spur of the moment; to you cash customers who spend money and time getting choice seats in advance for outstanding football games, boxing shows, baseball games etc.; to you who envy the life of sports writers and editors (they're supposed to have the most substantial and all-overlooking seats in the house) we dedicate the following paragraphs. The paragraphs are addressed to sports writers the world over, by Frank G. Menke, who knows his sports and who is at present associated with Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby in an official capacity. Just to show you that the life of a sports chronicler is not all a bed of roses, or something, we quote from a letter addressed to sports editors over the country from Menke:

"Dear, DEAR Gentlemen of the Press:

"Once upon a time, while handling another of those 'working-press-ticket' jobs, a sports editor, along with others of his ilk, was importined to zip his request for parking space, provided he was to cover with a telegraphic report.

"But this particular ilkie had just won $37.25 in a craps game, and he was so busy trying to decide whether he'd have Myrna Loy, Ann Sheridan, or a girl named Hedy, as his dinner-dance guest, that he never got around to pounding out the proper prose.

"Came the great day, and came this ilkie, and dashing into range, he yodeled, "Where's my working press seat? Get me fixed up on a special wire, and get me an operator. I'm in a hurry." And so I said to him, "Like the roses of last summer, and also the summer before last summer, all tickets have gone, there ain't any more." And this ikie said, "Never mind that guff. Get me a ticket and get me fixed up with a wire. Hurry it!"

"So I said to him, "Honey chile, what we ain't got none of is working press seats, just like I've been telling you." And so he roared, "Listen here, you! I'm representing 3,575,485 papers. Do you get that? And I've got to have a seat, and that's exactly what I mean. Now, you get busy!"

"Whereat I said, "Just like I've been saying, and saying, we have no more seats. We don't aim to build any new ones this evening, and I will not toss out some other ilkie, who came through on schedule with his request, for a guy that should have written, but didn't find the time."

• • •

"So this ilkie said, "Curse you, Jack Dalton's understudy, I tell you I represent 4,578,019 newspapers, and you mean to say there's no seat for me." And I said, "Them words, dear sir, indicate that you are shagging the idea very nicely. There is no seat. It was nice seeing you, but I've enjoyed as much of the scenery as I desire, so good day, honey chile."

"With that, he led with a right hand, something which Mr. Tunney insists is not the proper thing to do, owing to the fact that it gives the target an elegant opportunity for a counter proposition.

"Well, sir, seven weeks later, when this ilkie's fractured jaw had mended, and they discharged him from the hospital, he sat down and wrote out applications for working press seats for the next 43 years.

• • •

The moral of this tale is: If you have been assigned to report the Kentucky Derby, and you are the type who forgets to send in an application, and resents being seatless on Derby day, don't let your accident insurance policy lapse.

Cheerio!

FRANK G. MENKE.

• • •

ALL OF THE ABOVE, you understand, is to encourage sports writers who plan to "cover" the Kentucky Derby to send in their requests for working press tickets early, in advance. The same lesson might apply to persons who put off, from one week to the next, buying season tickets, boxes, or opening day tickets to some important contest. It also applies to sports writers, and in particular instance, to scribes who wish to "cover" the Chicago White Sox-Pittsburgh Pirates baseball game here April 4.

• • •

And it's a case of too bad, already, because working press accommodations have been exhausted. Not only is the press box filled beyond capacity, but a grandstand section, directly in back of the public address system microphone (which has never been in the top deck press box) has been set aside for the overflow of sports writers and telegraphic operators who will be here for the game. No less than seven big time sports writers, assigned by Chicago and Pittsburgh newspapers, will be here when the Sox and the Pirates play ball at the Hubber field, April 4. Most of them will require special wires to their home offices, which puts a big but profitable burden upon the shoulders of Bo Sexton and his staff.

• • •

SHORT, SHORT STORIES — Babe Hunt, the towering heavyweight boxer, who has established permanent residence in Lubbock—he is in readiness for a proposed bout against Bob Pastor here this summer—is mighty thankful for the course of events which has lead to his Lubbock home. . . . "This is the best town I've been in, and I've been in a lot of 'em, and I hope that the fans of Lubbobck will like me half as well as I like Lubbock." Hunt said when he visited our office yesterday. . . . Hunt is lined up with Pup Thomas, who promoted big time boxing here last year, and Hunt's ambition just now is to get a shot at Bob Pastor, recently rated up high in the heavyweight boxing rankings. . . . "I think I can go faster forward than Pastor can go backward," says Hunt, "and I would like to box him sometime right soon."

• • •

Incidentally, Babe Hunt looks better, physically, than we've seen him in a long time and he seems extra ambitious to be doing something. Boxing fans who would add to their boxing education would do well to look Hunt up and talk over old times, with an eye to the future.

Boys Club's Own Column

WELL, boys, it looks like the club will soon become a reality. The committees are busy, the money raised is being counted, and the architect's plans are ready. Won't it be fine when we can have a home we can call our own and where all our leisure time can be spent?

• • •

We are receiving letters of congratulations on our proposed movements, as well as letters of inquiry regarding boys' club work.

Some of the greatest minds of America have expressed their opinions of the value of boys' clubs in the development of character and in the prevention of juvenile problems.

Here are some excerpts from letters the writer has personally received regarding our boys' club:

J. EDGAR HOOVER, Director of F. B. I., Washington, D. C.: "The boys' program of aiding underprivileged and undernourished boys affords me a welcome opportunity of expressing my views to you on this important question. Any movement having for its object the assisting of others, particularly those who cannot help themselves, has my complete approval. The salutary advantages gained by such boys as will comprise your club are of incalculable good, and provide a source of moral and physical strength which should aid them as they advance through life."

• • •

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT: "I wish success to you and to all those who are working with you for the underprivileged children."

• • •

SENATOR MORRIS SHEPPARD: "I note with deepest interest what you are doing for underprivileged children. To take care of boys of the present is to insure good citizens tomorrow, and the work is worthy of the highest commendation, praise and support."

• • •

JAMES V. ALLRED, Federal Judge, Former Governor of Texas: "I do not believe there is a greater field of service than among underprivileged boys. It not only builds character and happier lives, but must add to the long line of men in our history who started with no more opportunities than many of these boys and rose to the top. I shall be happy to be of any service I can."

• • •

JACK DEMPSEY: "I am greatly pleased to hear that an organization of this character has been establish in your city, and hope the present members will each in his best way make the club an institution of which he will be proud to belong."

• • •

DR. J. A. HILL, President West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, Texas: "It is my candid judgment that it (boys' club) offers as much constructive work in the field of character conservation as does any other organization or institution with which I am acquainted. In my opinion every city, town and village in the country could well afford to sponsor such an organization as you represent."

• • •

C. M. ROGERS, Supt. Public schools, Amarillo, Texas: "My observation of the work of the Maverick Club among the boys in Amarillo convinces me that this organization is performing a service that is very much worth while in building citizenship. The results in the school have shown up in the form of better general attitudes and better citizenship practices. Any organization that helps to keep boys moving in the right direction deserves the hearty support of the community."

W. R. McDOWELL, Chief of Police, Amarillo: "The Maverick Club has reduced juvenile delinquency in Amarillo in an almost unbelievable manner."

• • •

"WHAT SHALL IT PROFIT A COMMUNITY IF IT GAIN THE WHOLE WORLD AND LOSE ITS OWN BOYS?"

Strong Third Place Outfit Is In Making

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 22—If any team in baseball is likely to prove a surprise in the coming season and finish notches ahead of the place assigned it by a consensus of experts, it is the New York Giants in the National league.

Last season the team almost came apart and wound up fifth, 18 1-2 games behind the winning Cincinnati Reds. Its pitching staff was shot and it had no infield worthy of the name. The climax came when Zeke Bonura finally was yanked abruptly off first base.

Opinions Are Varied

Some who have been watching the Giants in training here and in their exhibition games do not believe they will do any better this year. Others think they will do worse.

But all of them are likely to be wrong if what I've seen of the Giants lately bears any resemblance to the truth. They are not equipped to beat either Cincinnati or St. Louis but they could finish a powerful third.

The main reason is that Carl Hubbell, at the age of 36, has come back to pitch like his old self this spring.

Arm Is Strong Again

He says his famous left arm, which was operated upon winter before last, finally is sound and strong again. He believes he will be good for 15 or 16 victories this season.

That will be sufficient to keep the Giants up in the fight, declared a high club official.

Slim Melton, Harry Gumbert, Bill Lohrman, Hal Schumacher and Hy Vandenberg fill out potentially fine pitching staff.

Another reason the Giants had best not be sold too short is the way Burgess Whitehead is playing third base.

Shifted to third to make room for the club's crack young second baseman from Newark, Nick Witek, Whitehead is playing the hot corner like he had been there all his life. Bill Jurges still is the best shortstop in the league, and Babe Young promises to do at first base.

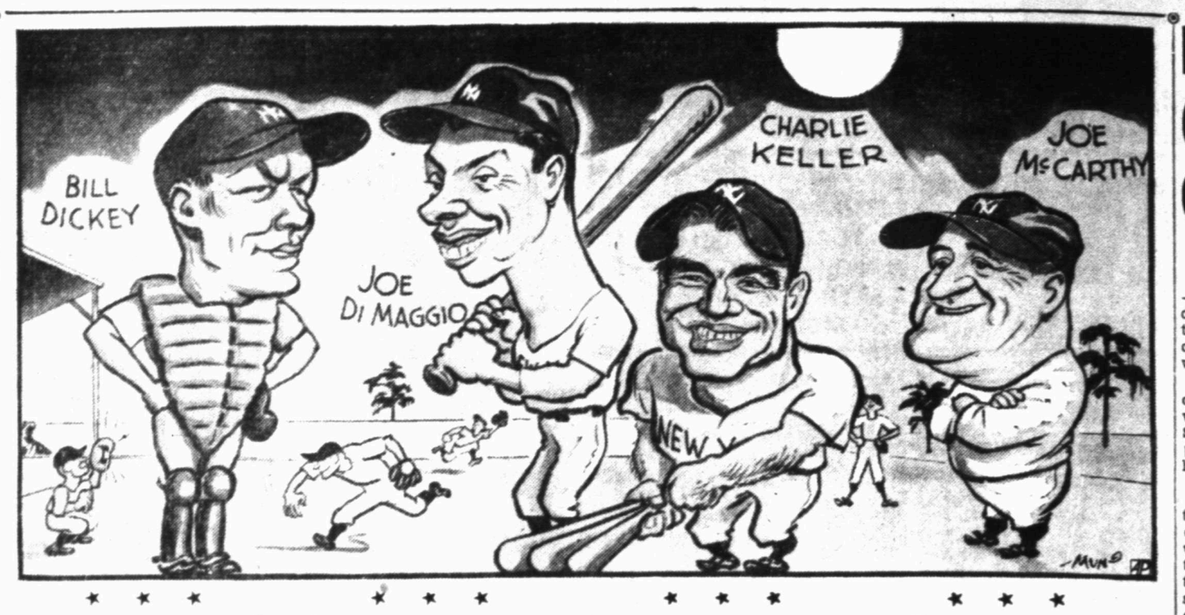

If the recent all-star game was any criterion, the Giants have the best catcher in the league—Harry Danning—and two of its best outfielders — Mel Ott and Frank Demaree. Joe Moore is in poor health and has a bad leg, so the veteran left fielder's post probably will be held down by rookie John Rucker at the start of the race.

Overconfidence Will Never Lick Yanks; Are Great Because They Don't Think So

BY DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 22—The Yankees are great because they don't let themselves think they're great.

Praise is pretty easy to take—and believe. And fans and experts alike have called the current Yankees the finest baseball team ever assembled.

But these Yanks—from Sophomore Charley Keller to Veteran Bill Dickey—haven't allowed those lavish loads of praise to go to their heads.

Marse Joe McCarthy, the portly pilot who is sending the New Yorkers through their practice paces down here in sunny St. Pete, figures that's one prime reason the Yanks are liable to win their fifth straight American league pennant this summer.

"Individually and collectively, the players do not believe these glowing compliments," said McCarthy as he leaned against the dugout and looked out on the field where his athletes were tossing the ball around.

They Still Hustle

"They are hustling as hard as ever. There's not the slightest sign of the overconfidence that has wrecked many championship clubs in the past.

"The chief ambition of every player is to win the World Series again this year," he said.

These Yanks know they are good. They figure they can beat any team in baseball. But they don't subscribe to such high rating as some of their admirers have given them.

They believe that they must travel at top speed all season to win. Boston and Cleveland are getting tougher all the time. And the Yanks know it will require their best collective efforts to whip them.

McCarthy Confident

McCarthy confidently believes the Yanks will win another world's championship next October. But he won't predict that. Marse Joe plays 'em too close to his vest to make such a spring forecast.

The 1939 champions and the powerful, colorful 1927 outfit under Miller Huggins are generally regarded as the greatest of Yankee teams.

McCarthy answers the question of how those two clubs compare by remarking that no club ever won so many championships as his present outfit.

"How the 1939 Yankees would fare with the 1927 club is only conjecture," he says. "It is just interesting conversation for the fans. Like arguments about how Joe Louis compares with Jack Dempsey or John L. Sullivan. The current Yankees have successfully executed their assignments. That's the most that could be expected of them."

It's pretty easy to guess, though, which club McCarthy would pick.

And if his Yanks don't win another World Series next fall Big Joe will be the most surprised man in baseball.

RADIUM DETERMINES AGE

Scientists have been probing into the ages of some of the earth's meteorite visitors, with interesting results. Exploding atoms of radium, giving off helium, lead and energy, furnish the information about the ancient stones. The same method is used in determining the age of our earth.

What Is What?

Jack Dempsey in Des Moines, May 12, 1938: "Paychek is a very good boy with a fine left and good right . . . All he needs is weight and experience."

Jack Dempsey in Minneapolis, March 18, 1940: "Paychek fighting Louis makes me laugh."

Between the two statements Paychek had engaged in 30 fights and picked up plenty of tonnage . . . So what's going on around here—has Paychek gone back a long way, or can't Dempsey make up his mind?

Today's Guest Star

Art Cohn, Oakland Tribune: "Action: Slip Madigan says he'll quit coaching and go into business . . . Reaction: I am not even mildly surprised considering that Slip has just been given the 'business'."

Two Favorites Still Pitching At Baskets

DENVER, March 22 (AP) — They have their sour moments, but the two top favorites in the national AAU basketball tournament are still in there pitching at the counting hoop.

Meaning, of course, the national champion Denver Nuggets and the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips 66 outfit, who tangled in the championship tussle a year ago.

In tonight's semi-finals, the Nuggets will play Oakland Golden State and Phillips will clash with the Seattle Savidges, northwest A.A.U. champions.

In last night's quarterfinals, a well-coached team from Idaho university, southern branch, led the Nuggets for the entire first half.

Then, to nobody's surprise, the mountain giants began hitting their shots to snow the collegians under, 43-26.

Phillips, twice a runnerup but never a national champion, struck back with a second half drive to beat Hollywood Twentieth Century, 40 to 32.

Oakland gave a brutal basketball lesson to the St. Louis Rangers of the Missouri valley A.A.U. league, 39 to 17.

The Seattle Savidges were even rougher with Chicago Acme Steel, winning 75-46.

Rules Changes Are Unlikely

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 22.—James W. St. Clair, chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic association basketball rules committee, looks for no major changes this year but says his group may approve use of convex backboards.

The committee meets next week at Kansas City.

He said, however, that if it is approved the old-style board will not be outlawed.

St. Clair, director of physical education at Southern Methodist university and executive secretary of the Southwest conference, says the convex backboard is of principal benefit to the spectator, giving him a better view of the shots at the basket.

Popularity Increased

St. Clair declared there was no question about the three major rule changes in the last three years increasing the popularity of basketball.

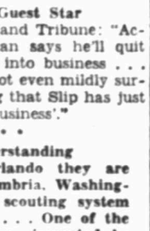

These are the elimination of the center jump, the three-second rule under the basket and the 10-second rule in the back court.

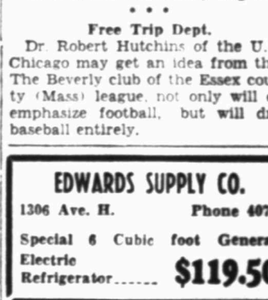

"Some of the people criticize the changes made in the rules in recent years but I believe if we revoked them and went back to the old style of game people would howl so loudly the rules committee would be afraid to return home," St. Clair said.

Sentence Is Almost Over For Nation's Oldest "Lifer;" He Is 103 And Awaiting Death

By NEA Service

* * *

JACKSON, Mich., March 22. — William Thompson, murderer, has almost served his life sentence at the Michigan state prison.

Oldest "lifer" in the country, it is believed, Thompson observed his 103rd birthday early this month. Now his health is failing and he is confined in the prison hospital.

Back Door Parole

"Tommy is awaiting a 'back door parole'—death," prison officials say.

The regularity of prison life is given some credit for lengthening Thompson's life. He was brought in as a "youngster" of 81 in 1918 after his housekeeper died of poisoning on his farm near Cheboygan. For years he worked on the prison farm and later served as doorkeeper.

His only relative, a son 75 years old, substantiates Thompson's claim to more than a century of life.

Warning Is Offered On Use Of Stickers

Police were instructed to be on the lookout this morning for those who have been placing advertising stickers on the sides of automobiles, according to information given at the city hall.

The instructions were given after several thoroughly irate automobile owners had complained that the yellow and black stickers had been placed on the sides of their cars so securely that they were removed only with difficulty.

Several remarked that one business they definitely will not patronize is that the stickers advertise, and at least two commented that they may seek compensation from the concern because of permanent damage to the paint jobs of their cars.

The manner of distribution, city officials warned, is a violation of city ordinance and is punishable by a fine up to $100.

DIVORCE GRANTED

LOS ANGELES, March 22. (AP)—Alice Faye, vivacious blonde film actress, was granted a divorce today from Tony Martin, handsome screen and radio crooner, on her testimony that he had been guilty of mental cruelty.

THREE ARE KILLED

LONDON, March 22. (U.P.)—Three persons were killed in an explosion today in the engineering and metal works of G. A. Harvey, Ltd., at Charlton, near Woolwich.

FOG HALTS SHIPPING

PORT ARTHUR, March 23 (AP)—The densest fog in months halted shipping today and reduced land traffic to walking speed.

Farley Is To Attend Hillsboro Session

Postmaster General James A. Farley will attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Young Democrats of Texas April 4 in Hillsboro, Calvin Hazlewood of Lubbock, committee chairman, said this morning.

Hazlewood said Farley had accepted the invitation. The committee is to meet at 10 a. m. to make plans for the state convention to be conducted April 19-20 in Beaumont. The convention will be invited to come to Lubbock in 1941.

Burris Jackson of Hillsboro is to be host at a luncheon for the committee.

Jessel Will Marry Young Show Girl

NEW YORK, March 22. (U.P.)—George Jessel, middle-aged comedian, and Lois Andrews, 15-year-old show girl, said today thew intended to marry next Thursday.

Jessel recently was divorced in Mexico by Norma Talmadge, the screen actress. Miss Andrews gained notoriety last October when she gave George White, musical comedy producer, a black eye, and later batted another show girl backstage.

"Of course we won't be able to be married until after I'm 16," Miss Andrews said, "and we will have to have mother's permission. But I'm the happiest girl in New York. George and I are very much in love and we hope to be married as soon as we possibly can."

There are 1,892 birds in the Bronx zoo, New York.

News Briefs

Applications Lag—Falling off in the number of applications for loans from the Farm Security administration is reported by M. C. Wilson, supervisor, who says most of the applications have been made. Later, when planting time begins, there will be a resumption, he added.

Spur Rotary Meet—Plainview Rotarians next Thursday are to present a program at the Spur Rotary club in Spur Inn. At that time the candidacy of Cal Farley of Amarillo, for district governor, will be presented.

Cub Pack To Meet—Several members are scheduled for advancement and two for graduation into scouting at a meeting of cub pack No. 3 in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, 1602 Tenth street, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, according to report this morning by R. A. Metcalfe, cubmaster.

Father Seriously Ill—Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Irvin awaited further word this morning concerning the condition of her father, E. T. Camp, 83, of Howe, Texas, near Sherman, who is seriously ill. Mr. Camp has been in feeble health for several months and Dr. and Mrs. Irvin have been advised to hold themselves in readiness for a call to his bedside.

Feed Stack Burns—Firemen of Nineteenth street station said a feed stack burned "about the middle of the night" between Avenue S and T in the 3400-block. There was no certainty as to origin.

Jury Deadlocked — For the second time, a jury in the action of Sidney A. Taylor against the Texas State Conference of Subordinate Union Bricklayers and others, in 99th district court, reported to Judge E. L. Pitts it was hopelessly deadlocked. Damages of $25,000 was asked.

Juvenile Transferred — A Mexican juvenile boy was transferred this morning from county jail to a boys training school at Gatesville. Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court, who does most of the juvenile trial work in Lubbock county, accompanied him.

They Pay, Anyway — Corporation court "wrote off" a couple of fines for juveniles caught speeding — or are the boys writing it off? The matter was open to speculation for, despite the fact the law does not allow them to be fined for their action, they are being compelled to write a letter each day for a month to Emmett Galloway, counsellor for Downtown Boys club, explaining each day's actions.

Shallowater Coach Hurt — Harris Cheek, track coach from Shallowater, was taken to Lubbock sanitarium in a Rix ambulance about 10 o'clock this morning after his right shoulder was dislocated when he fell at the Lubbock High school practice field.

Community Sing Tonight—Regular community singing program is scheduled in Central Baptist church, 1311 Eighteenth street, tonight at 8 o'clock, according to Rev. Jeff D. Welch, co-pastor. Plans will be made for the fifth Sunday program of Lubbock County Singing convention March 31, he said.

Burks To Speak—An open house of Lorenzo chapter of the Eastern Star will be addressed by Burton S. Burks, district attorney, tonight.

McLeod Named Director—Members of the Texas Laundry Owners association chose O. W. McLeod of Lubbock one of their directors in Austin Thursday, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Condition Satisfactory—Condition of Mrs. Doyle Dean Turner of Levelland, who underwent major surgery at Lubbock sanitarium Tuesday, was reported as satisfactory this morning at the sanitarium.

Undergoes Surgery—Mrs. S. E. Mitchell of near Seagraves was reported in satisfactory condition early this afternoon at West Texas hospital, where she underwent surgery this morning. She was brought to the hospital Thursday night. Her left hip was broken when she fell when reaching for garments on a clothes line. An "open reduction" was performed at the hospital.

Revival Continues—Dr. Frank L. Turner of Abilene is to preach on "The Passing of Religious Opportunity" at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the First Methodist church. This will continue a pre-Easter revival.

Committee Meets—County Agricultural Adjustment administration committee, with C. E. Lilley of Slaton as chairman, met this morning in room 215 of the federal building. Several cotton yield adjustments were brought before the committee. Date for beginning the signing of 1940 work sheets has not been set, it was said, and will not be until the county average yield is set by the state AAA committee.

May To Odessa—Monroe U. May, assistant county agent, went to Odessa this morning to attend a fat stock show in progress there. May is assistant superintendent of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show to be held next week and he went to look over the calves that may be listed in the Lubbock show. James and J. B. Potts, sons of C. T. Potts, county 4-H club boys, have each three calves in the show.

Give Tech Program—Miss Miriam Cooper of the speech department of Texas Technological college spoke today noon at an American Business club luncheon in Hilton hotel on a history of the college. Harold Humphries was in charge of the meeting.

Going To Big Spring—Two cars of members of the American Business club were to leave late this afternoon for Big Spring to attend an initiation by the club there, said J. A. Fortenberry, district governor. He will drive one car and J. D. McPhaul another. Six or eight other members planned to attend.

Pastors To Meet—Baptist pastors of this section are to meet Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock at College Avenue Baptist church to form a group, said Rev. A. E. White, host pastor.

YES, GIRLS, THIS IS THE MACHINE AGE—How mechanization pervades modern life was aptly shown by the gadgets displayed at the recent International Beauty Show in New York. F'r instance, Rose Hughes (upper left) got several clips on the head. But she took 'em with a smile, because they gave a nice permanent, by "remote control." And she's not being punished for nail biting. Those metal fingertip hoods are shields for newly polished fingernails. That omigosh-looking face at right is merely a mask for electric facial treatments, worn over a new electric scalp fixer-upper helmet. If Easter Sunday is chilly, the coiffure at lower left will be handy. It's a new hair-do called "Easter Ear Muff."

Automobile Wreck Being Investigated

Highway patrolmen scratched their heads over this one—which, at 2 o'clock this afternoon had not untangled itself in several respects.

Patrolman D. R. Enochs was informed about 11 o'clock Thursday night a 1940 Oldsmobile two-door sedan registered to a Levelland man had figured in mechanical gymnastics that ended with its leaping two 12- or 14-foot trees and rolling four or five times near the "Y" on the Slaton-Lubbock highway.

A woman, apparently about 35 years old, was treated in a hospital for a fractured wrist, patrolmen said. They said she later was taken to a hotel, and later still was removed, evidently being taken to a Levelland hospital.

Enochs and other investigators said the car was being driven toward Slaton and that it had trouble negotiating a turn near the cemeteries. It ran wide to the right, yawed across the road to the left, began rolling and, taking a spinning, corkscrew leap, cleared the trees and came to rest on its right side, the wheels to the east and facing about toward the south.

The driver was said not to have been injured dangerously.

Happy Easter

mittee members filled their arms with bunches of Easter lilies, a basket packed with nuts and fruits and candy and Easter eggs—and a purse containing money.

"You waved at us every day for a year," one of the men said. "We want you to accept these Easter gifts."

"You're the little girl in the window. You don't know us and we don't know you, but you're a bright light as we pass by in the morning and the evening.

"Now, good-bye and a happy Easter."

Deadline Approaches For City Candidates

Not the slightest ripple appeared on the city's political waters today as the deadline approached for filings of candidacies so that names may be printed on the city election ballots of April 2.

The filings must be made not later than midnight, officials explained, if names are to go on the ballot. No inquiries had been made early this afternoon by anyone who appeared to be a prospective candidate, according to Miss Lavenia Williams, city secretary, who would receive the filings.

Thus, observers said, there appeared every prospect that only the names of Mayor Carl E. Slaton, Commissioner W. G. McMillan and Garland Newsom will be printed on the ballot. The mayor and McMillan are seeking second terms. Newsom is a candidate for the commission place from which J. A. Fortenberry will retire.

Boy Hammers Off Hand With Butcher Knife

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, March 22.—A 21-year-old youth who had abandoned the Jewish faith of his fathers to become an evangelist with a religious sect, hammered off his left hand by holding the wrist over a butcher knife held in a vise.

The unwitnessed amputation occurred in the basement of Kingdom hall, operated by the sect, where the young preacher, Emmanuel Shapiro had pored for hours over the pages of the Bible.

Staggered To Mother's Home

Shapiro staggered out and trudged a mile to his mother's home, which he had left on Monday, refusing then to tell her about the troubles that "were keeping him from eating his dinner."

Ray Bosworth, a member of the same sect, said Shapiro last week had begun to re-study the life of Christ in preparation for the "yearly feast in celebration of Jehovah's name and to the sacrifice of the lamb of God, Christ Jesus."

Over and over he read the sermon on the mount, and the words "And if thy hand cause thee to stumble, cut it off; it is good for thee to enter into life maimed rather than having thy two hands to go into hell, into the unquenchable fire."

Knew Something Wrong

Mrs. Julius Shapiro greeted her son at the door of their small neat home, recalling "his face was white, so white I knew there was something wrong."

Then Emmanuel held out his arms and the mother screamed. The boy was rushed to St. Francis hospital, where physicians said they expected he would recover, barring complications.

Shapiro refused to discuss, even with his mother, the reason for his act.

The mother and friends of young Shapiro were puzzled about what might have troubled him. They said four years ago he had been arrested for receiving stolen goods and placed on probation, but in the past year especially had been in good spirits. He was busy most of the time distributing religious tracts from house to house, attending meetings at Kingdom hall and studying the Bible.

Mrs. Shapiro's husband was killed a few years ago by a train in New York, another son lost his leg in a railroad accident.

The Senate also approved $40,000,000 of loans for the rural electrification administration and $50,000,000 of loans for the farm tenancy program. The loans were in addition to increased direct expenditures.

Cold Storage Lockers Are To Be Installed

O'DONNELL, March 22. (Special)—Farmers Cooperative association, operators of two gins in O'Donnell, has ordered 300 cold storage lockers for installation in a rock veneer building the association recently purchased.

It also was announced that the building would be enlarged to be 30 by 80 feet. W. L. Gardenhire is president of the association.

House of Representatives.

One of their principal songs, he says, will be "Nobody Cares for Me," and will be dedicated to Commissioner Smith, running for re-election.

Muted notes are sounded in the camps of Ernest O. Thompson, the third railroad commissioner and an expected candidate for governor, and Harry Hines, member of the state highway commission and another gubernatorial aspirant.

"Words and action without music will mark my campaign," said Thompson.

A spokesman for Hines, while admitting that a picture of the highway commissioner was made the other day showing him in the midst of a bunch of girl dancing pupils, said the picture was taken at the request of the girls, and no dancing or other entertainment for his campaign was contemplated.

of the San Antonio Chamber; J. C. Deal of the San Angelo Board of City Development, and Gilbert Garretson of the Laredo Chamber.

Members of the crew were R. C. Shrader, chief pilot, Charles Spencer, first officer, Miss Virginia Meyer, hostess, and John Sullivan, of the Braniff engineering staff.

Members of the party are to participate in conferences in Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver in connection with Braniff's application pending before the civil aeronautics commission for permits to establish airline service from Denver to Laredo and from Lubbock to Houston via Abilene and Austin.

Two Children Drown At Lake Worth Dam

FORT WORTH, March 22. (AP)—Two children drowned at Lake Worth dam last night, one in an effort to save the other's life.

They were Randal Dickson, 8, and Mary Nell Wilkerson, 12.

Randal went wading and slipped into deep water. His cries for help summoned John Ben Wilkerson, 8, who was wading nearby, and Ima Lou Dickson, 11, and Mary Nell, who were on the bank.

Both girls leaped into the water but were unable to reach the boy. Mrs. F. Dickson, mother of Randal, and Mrs. M. L. Wilkerson, mother of Mary Nell, ran to the water's edge and Mrs. Dickson removed her dress, throwing it to Ima Lou. The latter was pulled to safety but the other children drowned.

Whereabouts Of Dog Sought By Police

Efforts of police and members of the city sanitation department were enlisted this morning in the search for a small black dog with long hair which bit Mrs. D. A. Branscum, 2015 Avenue L, on the ankle several days ago.

Mrs. Branscum reported that the dog attacked her without provocation in the 1800 block on Avenue J, inflicting a severe wound.

Whereabouts of the dog is desired, it was explained, so that it may be placed under observation against the possibility that it may be afflicted with rabies. Although officials said that no mad dogs have been reported in Lubbock in more than a year, Mrs. Branscum and the doctor attending her still are delaying decision as to whether antirabies serum should be administered.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the dog was asked to call police.

AUTO RACER DIES

ROME, March 22 (AP)—Felice Nazzaro, 58, whose feats as an automobile racer won him the nickname of "the world's fastest man" early in the century, died today.

Blood Donors To Organize

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, March 22 — Clinton A Medbery of Houston said today he planned to organize a club of blood donors composed of people who have recovered from the rare disease, staphylococcus septicemia.

He said he was informed only a dozen or so persons have survived the disease.

Returns From Flight

Medbery had just returned from an airplane flight to Chicago. He went there to offer blood for a transfusion to Sheldon Belasffsky, 12, suffering from the disease in a Chicago hospital.

He wrote a letter last night to Father Paul, San Francisco priest who is one of the few men to survive the disease. He said organization of the club would enable doctors in all parts of the country to get in touch with donors of the proper kind of blood when the need arose.

Japan Refuses To Join Axis

(By The United Press)

TOKYO, March 22 — Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita rejected today a demand that Japan strengthen ties with the Rome-Berlin axis in order to prevent possible British pressure in the far east in the event that the Allies won the European war.

"Japan's policy of non-involvement in the war is unshakeable and there is no necessity for changing it at present," Arita said.

Response Is Given

Arita made his statement at a parliamentary budget committee meeting. He was responding to an interpellation by Shoichi Miyake.

"Japan must abandon its non-involvement policy and must join the axis in order to help establish a new order in Europe and a new order in the world," Miyake said.

After the World war, he said, Britain put pressure on Japan, and the same thing, he added, would happen again, this time with United States assistance.

"We have never given up hope," she said. "We know Mary Ellen will be well and playing around the house again some day. We pray every day for her recovery."

Only Mary Ellen's mother, her father, Daniel, her brother, Daniel, jr., 2, and immediate relatives see her. During the first year of her illness she received intravenous feeding but during the last year has been fed soft foods and liquids with a spoon.

Dr. Arthur L. Shafton, the family's physician, and Dr. Robert Black, a brain specialist, said the child's malady is known as measles encephalitis, a cousin of encephalitis lethargia which took the life of Patricia Maguire, Oak Park, Ill., "sleeping beauty," whose case was the longest in medical records. Miss Maguire died Sept. 28, 1937, after 5 years and 7 months sleep.

"Thanks to your confidence and your help we will accomplish this task.

"If it were necessary to have another comfort we would only have to count on the immense resources of our country and our empire. We would have only to look our admirable Allies straight in the eyes. We would have only to remember the valor of our people, the efforts of our workmen and of our farmers, the strength of our armies, the ardor of our soldiers and the bravery of our leaders.

Eternal Spirit Of France

"We would only finally have to think of the eternal spirit of France."

Only a few timid handclaps greeted the premier as he mounted the rostrum.

Similarly only a few responded when he had finished his declaration.

Short outbursts from the right occurred when he spoke of "the treachery of the Soviets."

Buck Is A One-Man Winning Team In Just Any Event

NASH, Tex., March 22. (AP)—What the remainder of the student body of Nash school did is not recorded but a look at Buck Moore's performance indicates he didn't need much help anyway.

Here's Nash's record for the Bowie county Interscholastic literary and athletic meet:

First place in the 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, broad jump and tennis singles.

Carried the 440-yard relay team to victory.

Captain and pitched for the winning softball team.

Took time out between races and ball playing to win second place in a declamation contest.

Buck is a ninth grade student, president of his class and the school superintendent, Travis A. Elliott, says he does a superior type of work in the classroom.

EVERGREEN NURSERIES

Our manager came to the Plains forty years ago. They told him cotton simply could not grow here. You know the story. Nobody knows what will not grow here. Evergreen Nurseries say everything they sell will grow here. It backs that up with a gilt edge guarantee. How to find out? Try it. So anything you buy, whatever the price, 30-40 or 50 cents must live if it takes five years replacements, so the 30-40 or 50 cents is all you will have to pay. That makes us the most economical nursery in Texas to buy from. Our secret is to plant young. Of course you have to wait a little longer but most of us have more time than money. It is a joy to watch them grow.

BIGGEST DEMAND IN HISTORY
Again Hicks Chicks lead the way to greater poultry profits for you.
A new record has been written into the history of our famous strains.
ACT NOW
Don't delay your chick buying any longer. When you purchase HICKS CHICKS you get chicks that are hatched right, packed right — DEPENDABLE CHICKS. Even though you should have to pay a little more in additional cost to get my dependable chicks they will return to you many times over in extra eggs, extra profit. The small additional first cost and the long run show you a greater profit, where the inferior low grade chicks lose money for you.
Get your share of the poultry profits. Almost a quarter century of scientific breeding for MORE EGGS . . . BIGGER EGGS . . . BIGGER BIRDS offer you an outstanding opportunity for bigger share of these profits.

Annual Show Being Held At Crosbyton

CROSBYTON, March 22.—Scores of Crosby county farm boys were here today with their livestock which they are exhibiting today in the annual show for 4-H club boys and FFA chapter members.

L. N. Hargraves of Wolfforth, Frenship school vocational agriculture teacher and a Texas Technological college division of agriculture graduate, will judge. Hargraves was one of the well known livestock team members in his junior and senior years.

County Farm Agent Ralph Howe and R. C. Mitchell, local vocational agriculture teacher, are show superintendents. Business men are giving prizes.

Praise Given To LaGuardia

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in answering a barrage of questions by correspondents of foreign newspapers in this country, declared that Mayor LaGuardia "could do almost anything he wants"—including making good if elected vice-president.

She did not amplify the comment about LaGuardia, mentioned in some political circles as a possible running mate for Secretary of State Hull. But in other answers she declared that "not under any circumstances" would she accept a presidential nomination herself and that "it would be going a little too far" to draw the inference that Sumner Welles was sent to Europe to build him up as a presidential candidate.

Answers Questions

She was principal speaker at the luncheon of the Association of Foreign Correspondents but instead of a formal address her remarks took the form of answers to written questions submitted by the luncheon guests.

When asked to explain "the apparent contradition between the prevalent isolationist attitude in the United States and the pre-war 'stop-Hitler' attitude in America," she replied:

"I don't know, and if I did, it wouldn't be very wise to talk about it."

"Do you think it is wise to encourage the American Youth Congress in its communistic tendencies?" she was asked at another point.

"I do not consider the American Youth Congress communistic. I don't think it is wise to encourage communistic tendencies anywhere. Perhaps there are small groups in big cities who happen to have an intellectural interest in communism. . . . The only way to fight the communistic tendency is to give youth something more vital to solve their problems."

New York newsmen asked if she had any comment to make on published reports that James Roosevelt, recently divorced, would marry Miss Romelle Schneider, a nurse.

"I have no information about that," she said.

Here Are Facts On New Auto Licenses

Facts in a nutshell about those new auto registration tags:

You have eight more business days in which to buy them.

You must have the new tags on your hacks April 2, if the car is to be operated.

Of course, you can put the old bus in the garage, or leave it parked, if you don't have the money. There is no fine that can be levied against you for failure to have new plates when you don't drive the vehicle.

And you can save money by locking your car up a month, one-twelfth of the annual tax—or proportionately for the unused period.

All of which does not becloud the fact that, if you plan to buy a license for continued operation of your car, you may have to stand in line.

Only one-third the approximately 10,000 persons who will purchase this year's licenses had bought them up to noon today.

It's getting rougher by the minute.

Chartered Bus For Shriners Planned

South Plains Shriners can arrange to go to El Paso for a March 28-30 session of Shrine Directors Association of North America — if it's money that gives them worry.

So said Fred Higbee of Lubbock, who announced that, should 20 or more wish to use that accommodation, the trip to El Paso and back can be made for $8 aboard a chartered bus.

The bus will leave the afternoon of the 28th. Hotel accommodations, when made through Khiva temple at Amarillo, cost $3 daily, according to those who have made reservations. They are expected to cost more when made through hotels individually, it was announced.

Officials said $17,000 had been provided for entertainment of uniformed bodies alone, and admission to the bullfights in Juarez, where Sidney Franklin is expected to appear as a matador, will be free to those wearing the fez.

It is expected that approximately 30 from Lubbock will attend, including the Shrine drum corps.

"Call me not later than next Wednesday, if you plan attending," Higbee asked.

Lesson Of Christ On Cross Being Recalled

LONDON, March 22. (AP)—The London Times, in a Good Friday editorial, declared today that Christ died on the cross rather than "make a truce with evil," and concluded:

"On this Good Friday, the inescapable lessons of that example remain."

The use of coffee as a beverage is traced to the Persians.

SAYS MATE FIBBED—The gal in the song who pleaded "Oh, Mama, get the butcher boy for me" was NOT singing dancer Betty Allen (above), a New York Supreme court hearing indicated. The actress sought annulment of her marriage to clarinetist Gus Bivona, saying Bivona claimed his father was a millionaire owner of a meat shop chain. But, Betty said, Papa is only a butcher.

Lubbock Invited To Golf Club Opening

Invitation to Lubbock city officials in particular and to residents of this city and area in general to participate in the opening of Amarillo's new $42,000 golf course there Monday was received at the city hall this morning from H. R. Smith, city manager there.

Five days of free play from Monday through Friday is the "get acquainted" attraction to West Texas and New Mexico golfers, Smith said. Thereafter, green fees will be 50 cents on weeks days and 75 cents on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

The course is 6,426 yards in length, is the only 18-hole grass public course between Fort Worth and Denver, and has been under construction 11 months, the letter said. W. A. McConnell is the professional.

One Man Killed In Greenville Mishap

GREENVILLE, March 22. (AP)—A man tentatively identified as Leslie L. Swindell, about 30, Wolfe City, was killed and a companion, Harold Marshall, 23, Wolfe City, was injured seriously today in an automobile collision.

The two men occupied an automobile which crashed with another five miles south of Greenville. The driver of the second machine was not hurt.

FRIEND PICKED PASSAGES

The famed musician, Handel, did not select the Scriptural passages for his famous "Messiah." They were chosen and sent to him by his friend, Charles Jennens.

The Vatican at Rome, Italy, has a statue of Sleeping Ariadne. It is the only marble statue in the world with eyelashes.

The Canadian province of British Columbia has approximately 67,100 horses within its boundaries.

Unknown Dies In Post Jail

(Special To The Journal)

POST, March 22 — A middle-age man who died Thursday afternoon in Garza county jail of alcoholic poisoning will be buried this afternoon, Drew Story, deputy sheriff, said.

Officials faced possibility of burying a man whose positive identification could not be established.

"He said his name was O. J. Garland," the deputy sheriff said, "but, despite the fact he apparently was an itinerant cook and had worked all over the South Plains, no one could tell us definitely who he was."

Tatoo Marks On Arm

However, the deputy said, the man had a paper in his pocket that was addressed "O. J. Garland," and tattoo marks of "OJG" and a woman's picture were on his left arm.

The deputy said the man, known to intimates here as "Bois d'Arc", had been found by a negro in an alley. He was unconscious from alcohol, officials said. Story said checks disclosed the man had "consumed two pints of whisky and two bottles of bay rum."

A physician was summoned after the man was placed in jail, and a doctor was with him when he died, the deputy sheriff said.

Identity Is Checked

A man from Lubbock, seeking his brother, came here to check into the man's identity, as did persons from Sweetwater, Littlefield and several other towns of this section. Some of them had employed the man, or knew him on sight, but could give no information that would trace to family connection.

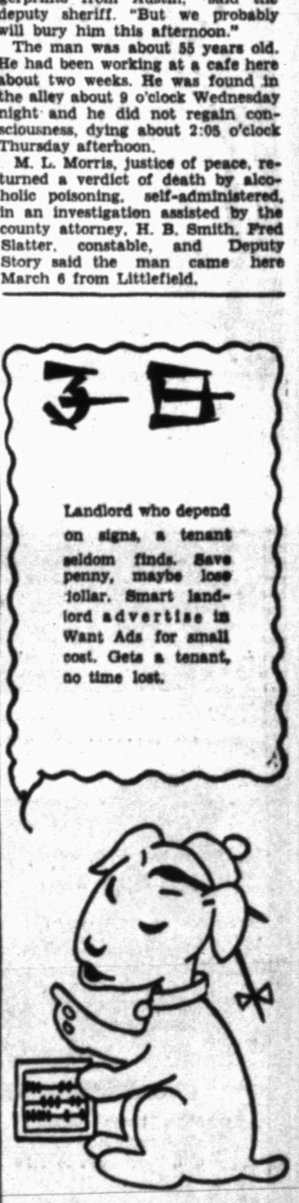

"We simply are waiting for fingerprints from Austin," said the deputy sheriff. "But we probably will bury him this afternoon."

The man was about 55 years old. He had been working at a cafe here about two weeks. He was found in the alley about 9 o'clock Wednesday night and he did not regain consciousness, dying about 2:05 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

M. L. Morris, justice of peace, returned a verdict of death by alcoholic poisoning, self-administered, in an investigation assisted by the county attorney, H. B. Smith, Fred Slatter, constable, and Deputy Story said the man came here March 6 from Littlefield.

1940 Governor's Race To Start Monday

Derden Is To Launch Drive

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, March 22. — The 1940 race for governor of Texas will start Monday.

Rep. Albert Derden of Marlin, who was first to announce his candidacy, will also be the first to open his campaign. He will speak at Washington-on-the-Brazos at 8 p. m.

New Declaration Planned

Washington-on-the-Brazos was chosen for the campaign opening, Derden explained, because he proposes to make a new declaration of independence against "vicious forces that now grip the state" and considered the site of the Texas declaration of independence appropriate for the purpose.

Arrangements have been made for a radio network broadcast of his opening address.

Derden, a leader among the 56 representatives in the last legislature who stood staunch, against placing a sales tax in the state constitution, has announced that in opening his campaign he will tell exactly how he proposes to raise the money to pay old age pensions and other social security obligations. He offered a bill for the purpose at the last legislature embracing substantial increases in natural resource taxes.

Tax On Gas Refining

Included in his finance plan is a tax of one cent a gallon on all gasoline refined in the state to replace the present four cents a gallon tax on gasoline consumed in the state.

Derden said he is opening his campaign early as he proposes to make a tour covering not only the big cities and towns but the cross roads.

Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler opened his campaign for his present office April 4, 1938. He is expected to be on the stump early in the governor's race, also. Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson will not start his campaign until May.

To Wait For Others

Highway Commissioner Harry Hines, after a radio announcement that he will be a candidate, said that he will wait for others to take the field before opening his campaign.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has withheld announcement if he will seek re-election but is generally counted in the race. Lt. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Junction is waiting to see if O'Daniel runs.

Campaign openings have not yet been scheduled by other candidates. They include Alexander Boulton, Palestine; J. E. (Ned) Anderson, Houston, and A. B. (Cyclone) Davis, jr., Dallas.

Thieves Use Handcars From Railroad To Transport Loot

MONTREAL, March 22. (U.P.)—Not content with stealing the safes from two local stations of the Canadian National Railways thieves "borrowed" the railway's hand cars to transport their loot from the scene of the crime.

Breaking into the station at St. Eustache and Crabtree Mills, the thieves trundled out the strong boxes and transported them down the track aboard hand cars to be opened at their leisure. Using hammers and other tools to open the safes the thieves got $125 from St. Eustache and $11 from Crabtree Mills. Both the hand cars and the empty vaults were found beside the tracks.

American Scribes Find But Little Damage From Raids

BY ALVIN J. STEINKOPF
Associated Press Staff Writer

HORNUM, Island of Sylt, March 22—Three American newspapermen, ferried to this German air base by Field Marshal Hermann Goering's own plane and by special train from the mainland across the Hindenburg dam, tonight viewed the results of a 6-hour British bombing raid.

Only two of the buildings which we saw showed signs of extensive damage. We did not see evidence of direct hits on hangars, nor were we able to discover, on our inspection trip across the dam, indications that any British bombs had hit the causeway.

German authorities say three civilians were hurt by bomb splinters in the raid. A section of the civilian population of Sylt, mostly women, children and men above military age, continues to tend farms on the island.

Permission Given

The trip was permitted by the German high command after it had been suggested by the correspondents.

We were shown a building described by the Germans as an infirmary on which a direct hit was scored. We were unable, however, to see any evidence of damage to the strategic little railway which is the lifeline of Sylt.

Officers estimated that about 40 bombs fell on the extensive grounds of the airport.

An incendiary bomb fell on the great steel crane which boosts seaplanes out of the water but the bomb had sputtered out on the iron platform.

Explosions near the hangars had shattered windows.

German fliers said the hangars and the crane probably were the objectives of the raiders but that the bombs were released from too great a height for accuracy.

"Of course our anti-aircraft guns harried them and they seemed to be nervous," said these Germans. "There was lots of noise but little if any military effectiveness."

Everyone was saved in the bombed building which the Germans described as an infirmary but the roof was blown off and the walls cracked. The occupants were in the cellar.

The only other building we saw which showed extensive signs of damage was a small structure in which practice range targets were stored.

The Germans claimed three British planes were shot down, one near this little community.

This plane sank in the sea but the body of an officer was recovered. The German army will give him a military funeral tomorrow.

Sylt in peacetime entertains tourists and supplies lobsters to the more expensive retsaurants of Europe. In wartime it is part of Germany's air front against England; a frequent jumping-off place for British-bound German bombers.

Masons Attend Banquet Here

Traditional Maundy Thursday observance was featured by a banquet in Hilton hotel here Thursday night attended by approximately 60 Scottish Rite Masons from Lubbock and other points on the South Plains.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, discussed the meaning of Maundy Thursday, which is observed by the Scottish Rite of the Masonic order throughout the world. Banquet here was sponsored by South Plains Scottish Rite club.

Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Texas Technological college, offered invocation. A toast to the memory of Sam T. Davis and Wallace Barnes, two deceased members, was given by Guy Casey.

Wilson Presides

Vaughn E. Wilson, Lubbock attorney and president of the club, presided.

In ritualistic work preceding the banquet, Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of arts and sciences at Texas Tech, was in charge.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal publications, was named president to succeed Wilson. Loyd Kennedy of Morton, Cochran county attorney, was elected vice president, succeeding W. D. T. Storey, Littlefield postmaster; and E. D. Parker, associated with West Texas Gas company here, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Reunion Plans Discussed

All three Texas Consistories, the two in Oklahoma and others as far away as Juneau, Alaska, and Columbus, Ohio, were represented. John Dalrymple of Lubbock, only 33rd degree Mason in this section, discussed plans for the spring reunion of the El Paso Consistory Sunday through Thursday.

Lubbock is in jurisdiction of the El Paso Consistory. Scottish Rite Masons of this area have held their traditional Maundy Thursday observances at Lubbock since 1922.

Tea Tester Never Gets Enough; Drinks It Three Times Daily

BOSTON, March 22. (U.P.)—One of four men paid by the United States government for brewing, smelling and sipping tea, it might seem that Emery C. Griswold of Melrose would have enough of the beverage after tasting 15 samples on a busy day.

But he says, "There's nothing I like so much at breakfast as my tea. I drink it again at luncheon and when I get home for dinner at night."

Griswold compares samples from incoming tea ships with a standard chosen by the U. S. Tea Board.

ORIGIN OF CANNING

The modern canning industry was made possible by Nicholas Appert, French confectioner, who invented a method of preserving food by boiling it in a sealed container in 1809. Napoleon I awarded him 12,000 francs for his discovery.

Loss Of A Few Ships Means But Little To The British

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Whatever the truth about ship losses in the latest sea-and-air skirmish in the North sea between Great Britain and Germany, the total of British sea-borne cargo capacity went up, not down, this week.

Against German claims of 50,000 tons of Allied and neutral merchant shipping sunk or battered out of action yesterday by nazi air bombs, 116,000 tons of Britain's royal family of the merchant seas has joined the Allied fleet of vitally essential carrier craft. Weeks of nazi nibbling at that fleet by mine, bomb and torpedo was undone when Britain's dowager mistress of the seas, the liner Queen Mary, and the 35,739-ton Mauretania left New York to help carry on the war.

Destination Unknown

Where they are heading or what their exact role may be is of less consequence than the fact that their speed doubles or even trebels the potential contribution their vast tonnage can make to the Allied war effort.

Their departure also connotes British certainty that the nazi surface navy is a futile force in this war outside its home and adjacent waters.

Two other huge and swift ships, the French liner Normandie and the British Queen Elizabeth, are in New York, awaiting a call to war duty. Their turn will certainly come if the pioneering of the Queen Mary and the Mauretania obtains the results London hopes for.

Steer Clear Of North Sea

Both the two big craft now at sea and the two even larger sea units which may follow them probably will steer clear of the North sea and the nazi submarine and air menaces there. But as fast ferries for troops or supplies in the Pacific, or any other sea still safe-guarded by Allied naval power, these big ships could release lesser merchant craft for trans-Atlantic and North sea employment.

Wherever the Queen Mary and Mauretania are to plow their way to and fro, their speed will bring the British Isles and far corners of the British commonwealth days closer together.

Nor can the sailing of the big ships be left out of the broader picture of Allied preparations to fight it out to a finish. It is as significant of Franco-British determination to press the war on Germany at all costs as was the British attack on Sylt island and overnight erection of the new "push-the-war" Reynaud ministry in France.

It rounds out in dramatic fashion a cycle of Allied steps to forestall at home and abroad any peace move that may be incubating out of the Hitler-Mussolini conference.

Denver City Holds C Of C Banquet

DENVER CITY, March 22 (Special) — Representatives from numerous South Plains towns and cities joined with members of the Denver City Chamber of Commerce in their first annual banquet Thursday night. Approximately 150 attended.

Lubbock, with 20 persons present, lead in delegations attending, Brownfield and Seagraves being second with 10 each. Other towns represented included Midland, Seminole, Levelland, Lamesa, Hobbs, N. M., and Plains.

W. T. Strange of Lubbock made the principal address of the evening, stressing the need of cooperation and the right type of civic ethics and standards in the building of a city. G. P. Deane, principal of the Denver City school, was toastmaster.

Beane introduced M. H. Hooper, secretary of the Denver City chamber of commerce who introduced visiting delegations. W. M. Walker, retiring president of the chamber of commerce and vice president, spoke briefly as did I. W. Cox, new president. Mrs. Val McDaniels gave two vocal numbers accompanied by her husband at the piano.

W. E. Lavender entertained at the outset of the program with his array of magician's stunts. Music was furnished during the meal by Hop Halsey's Drug Store Cowboys of Lubbock. The meal was served by the women of the Methodist church missionary society.

Denis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia was the first American Catholic Bishop in the Philippines.

Five Hundred Blind Dates To Feature Dance In Santone

SAN ANTONIO, March 22. (AP)—Five hundred flying cadets of Randolph field have dates for a dance tonight and not a one of them has met his partner yet.

They are dated up with girls from Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., who are stopping off on their way to Mexico City on an annual vacation trip.

Arrangements were made by army officials and college executives who utilized simple formula for pairing off their charges: Tall cadets get tall girls; short ones, short girls.

Placards bearing letters of the alphabet will be placed in a hotel lobby and the girls will form around the ones having the letters which start their last names.

From then on it's up to the boys.

Cadets from Brooks and Kelly fields also have been invited.

AEF Veteran Recalls Arrest Of Adolf Hitler In 1920

SARANAP, Calif., March 22. (U.P.)—Carroll Boswell, assistant city engineer, is glad that he is an American citizen and is back in the United States instead of being back in what was known as the "occupied territory" of Germany after the World war.

The reason is that Boswell and his one-time buddy in the A.E.F. had occasion once to arrest Adolf Hitler.

Boswell saw a year's action in France with Company F of the 50th Infantry. He was wounded and gassed but after his recovery served another year and a half with the American army of occupation in the Rhineland. It was at Mayen, in Oct. 1920, that he and Corporal Jeffries of the same company arrested Hitler when the latter was an unknown agitator.

"The American army of occupation at Mayen," Boswell said, "was at one time left alone to police the entire city, which has 50,000 inhabitants, while other Allied contingents went to simulate war maneuvers near the Polish front, but which in reality was intended as an effort to halt the Russians who were then threatening to move in through Poland on an armyless Germany.

Guarded Munitions Stores

"We had a big job on our hands, because in addition to policing the city in general, we were charged with the protection of the bridgeheads and the ammunition stores. The result was that any agitator that showed up usually got short shrift.

"Corporal Jeffries and I were on our round of duties through the city that evening when we passed the Hofbrau, one of the city's 'hot spots.'

"It was usually going full blast til 1 or 2 in the morning, but this evening, although it was 8:30, all the windows were shuttered and the door was locked.

"We peeked in through a broken shutter and saw a slim, youthful appearing man on the platform and about 125 people listening.

"Suddenly, a one-armed man, who, we learned later, was an ex-major in the German army, picked up a wine bottle and threw it at the speaker, knocking him off the platform. A riot started at once.

"We knew the place and its surroundings well, as we had been at Mayen for a year, and when we saw the speaker dive for the rear door, which we knew opened on a narrow alley, we dashed for it, stationing ourselves, one on each side.

Hitler Not Armed

"Then as the man dashed by we stuck out our feet and tripped him up. He was unarmed, so we merely trussed up his arms and turned him over to the provost officer.

"Before the military police he gave his name as 'Adolf Hitler' and at once launched into a long tirade.

"The next day Hitler was turned over to the German civilian police and they kept him moving from city to city, wherever he provoked a riot, while all the military police were notified to pick him up at any time and turn him over to the local German authorities.

"Two months afterwards I was returned to the United States and to my home at Oakland, and never heard of Adolf Hitler again until his name began to appear in the news in 1926."

Boswell said that while Hitler was making his Mayen speech he still talked in the accent of his native Austria. He had his "toothbrush" mustache at that time, too.

Aged Man Declares He'll Keep Bride

LOS ANGELES, March 22 (AP)—Eighty-three-year-old Frank Beers, a retired merchant, intends to keep his bride of 43, Mrs. Brownie Beers, with whom he eloped to Yuma, Ariz., last January, he indicated in court today.

His son, B. C. Beers, middle-aged banker, filed a suit recently to annul the marriage, contending the elder Beers did not have the "mental capacity" to contract marriage when the ceremony was performed.

Through his lawyer today, however, the octogenarian father declared he was well aware of the nature of his activities and insisted he had the right to remain married.

The statue of Freedom, surmounting the dome of the capitol at Washington, weighs 14,935 pounds.

Social Life Major Thing In Diaries

Co-eds spend most of their time sitting around waiting for dates. Dances, sorority meetings and other social activities are their chief interest.

College men lead more of a broad social life than the co-eds. The men students are more concerned with analyzing studies, activities and dates. Men usually consider whether the girls they take out are fundamentally dull or bright, while co-eds generally aren't thoughtful about the characteristics of their escorts.

"Girl students, almost without exception, do all their college activities without meaning, while men students are much more analytical about life and are more concerned with the reasons why," said Prof. Eric T. Friebling, who had his class write their diaries as part of their classroom work for the past four years.

The village of Boskoop in the Netherlands has 600 nurseries and is said to be the largest center in the world for bulbs and ornamental plants.

COMFORT FOR THE RUPTURED

NON-SKID Spot Pad Trusses

Hold your rupture with one-half the pressure required by ordinary trusses.

This newly invented Spot Pad, when attached to one of our Spring or Elastic NON-SKID Trusses, holds just like your fingers. The surrounding NON-SKID surface keeps the pad in place, thus increasing your chances of obtaining a cure. Recommended by physicians. Many different styles—Single and Double, Spring and Elastic. Let our expert fitter prescribe a "NON-SKID" Truss for your requirements, and end your rupture troubles today.

Planning A Garden?

Best Time To Grab Spade-- When Spring Chill's In Air

Dated map shows planting times in Eastern U. S. Times vary widely in Mountain and Pacific States.

* * *

BY ROBERT E. GEIGER
Associated Press Feature Writer

A superstition, still believed by many folks, warns farmers never to plant potatoes in the dark of the moon, because the eyes wouldn't sprout. That's only one of scores of planting superstitions, most of which, planting science says, have no basis of fact.

FIFTH IN A SERIES.

The best time to start a garden is in the spring when a fire in the fireplace still feels good to the shinbones.

That's a good time to draw up an easy chair, pull out the seed catalogs and gather the family 'round to decide what you'll plant.

The time required for each variety to mature should be noted on the garden plan and compared with the length of the growing season in your locality. And, of course, don't pick varieties that aren't suited to your locality.

It's a good idea to consult a local seed dealer, the state agricultural college or county agent about planting dates. These vary widely in various part of the country.

In general, garden crops may be divided into four groups: Those that can be planted before the time of the last killing frost in the spring; those that can be planted about the time of the last killing frost; those that cannot be planted until the danger of frost is past and those that cannot be planted until the ground and the weather are warm.

It is important also to know the average date of the first killing frost of the fall in your community.

Idea Of Saving For Rainy Day Is Dead

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 22. (U.P.)—Saving your pennies for a rainy day is out of date because nowadays when it rains it rains easy credit, and a dollar invested today might easily shrink in purchasing power in the future.

Dr. Charles W. Coulter, University of New Hampshire sociologist, expressed those sentiments in a lecture before 200 economists, social workers, and representatives of lending agencies gathered at a consumers credit conference sponsored by the University of Michigan.

Dr. Coulter said the popular concept of thrift is a thing of the past due to various forms of social insurance, which obviates the necessity of saving for old age.

Also, he said, the government has encouraged householders to obtain credit for rebuilding, repairing, remodeling and installing new equipment, and he added that it is so easy for a family of average means to borrow money for luxuries as well as necessities that continuous insolvency faces many.

ERROR GIVES US TWEED

A Scotchman's poor penmanship gave birth to the word "tweed." He sent samples of "tweel" (Scotch for twill) to London and didn't watch his "L." The Londoner interpreted the word as tweed and it has remained that ever since.

That Girl on Broadway says so-called "wishful thinking" is about 98 per cent wishing and 2 per cent thinking.

* * *

Even though the Republicans have been wondering in the woods for seven long years, they still haven't been able to locate any good presidential timber!

* * *

RARELY a Sunday passes that a portion of the airlanes are not filled with Gov. Wilbert Lee O'Daniel's criticisms of Texas newspapers.

According to the governor, Texas newspapers by and large are purveyors of lies; wholly without respect and certainly to be regarded as suspicious. The reason, of course, is because most Texas newspapers are edited by men who haven't swallowed the governor's sugar-coated political pills and who can't be kept from thinking and reading the record by Wilbert Lee's deft showmanship, which mixes religion and politics and which is cleverly built around the theme of "they're all out of step but me."

But that's all right. The newspapers were here before Wilbert Lee came in from Kansas without a poll tax receipt and a suspicion of being a Republican who had never voted the Democratic ticket. They'll be here when Wilbert Lee is back with his flour sacks.

What is peculiar, however, is the fact that Wilbert Lee has installed a press agent in the executive department (the governor's office, to be exact) at Austin, and said press agent began last week to bombard editorial desks with mimeographed publicity attempting to show that the governor, single-handed, is bringing into Texas industrial concerns by the droves.

* * *

No one, even his staunchest admirer, can claim that Wilbert Lee O'Daniel is consistent.

His every major action since entering the governor's office has been thoroughly and admittedly inconsistent. The governor has excuses by the hundreds for his inconsistencies, but the inconsistencies are in the record — written by himself — just the same.

Therefore, it is not surprising that Wilbert Lee is being inconsistent regarding the newspapers of Texas. He tells whatever listeners he may have on his radio programs that the newspapers aren't to be trusted. With the other hand he sends the papers a lot of publicity, hoping they'll publish it for the purpose of propagandizing the readers!

* * *

AS FAR AS Avalanche-Journal papers are concerned, they try to print all the news they can and will continue to try to print all the news they can.

If that news is favorable to Governor O'Daniel, they'll print it.

If it is unfavorable to him, they'll print that, too.

But when it comes to the governor's personal publicity matter, written and disseminated for propaganda and advertising purposes, we'll pass it up and let Wilbert Lee use it where he seems to think it's the most beneficial—in the radio.

If the newspapers are what he says they are, why in the world would he want his personal publicity printed in 'em?

* * *

All his life, your humble servant has heard that skunks are powerless to cause any trouble if dangled by the tail and he's seen quite a few printed discussions of the theory. But only recently has he seen an individual quoted on the subject.

In a recent edition of the Lynn County News, of Tahoka, E. L. Hill, editor, quotes D. C. Davis and L. C. Johnson as having tried the system and found it is successful.

Mr. Johnson told the Tahoka editor that he found a skunk in a prairie dog village, grabbed the animal by the tail and lashed the skunk's head against the ground until it was dead. According to Mr. Johnson, the skunk never did go into action.

Of course, The Plainsman is here relating the experience of others.

He wouldn't advise anybody to try the system out in practice!

* * *

THE Plainsman is going to have a big party—a birthday party.

It's going to be the biggest party ever held in these parts.

But it's not going to come any time soon.

In fact, it'll be almost 60 years from now, so there's no use in your making an early reservation.

Here's the dope:

The Plainsman was born on Easter Sunday in 1902. Easter that year came early—on March 30, to be exact, which, while not as early as 1940's Easter, was earlier than usual.

The Plainsman hasn't had a birthday on Easter Sunday since 1902—and won't have one on Easter Sunday until he's 97 years old.

That's when he's going to have that big party.

* * *

Your humble servant has been inviting first one and then another to his second Easter birthday party for quite a few years now and the other day got to wondering what the expense would be.

So he went down to Mr. Connie Hilton's big boardin' house and asked the genial host there, Mr. Vernon Herndon, the well known cultural uplifter, how much he would charge for a larrupin' big party, such as planned.

Mr. Herndon looked at The Plainsman.

Then he considered his own state of health and his own prospects for living until 1999.

In a burst of generosity, he manfully replied:

"It won't cost you anything. We'll use the whole hotel and all its facilities—and everything'll be on the house!"

So everything's set for Easter Sunday of 1999, which will fall on the 30th day of March—providing Mr. Roosevelt or none of his successors get to monkeying with the calendar.

Of course, you're invited!

* * *

HERE'S an Ode to an Easter dress, which, like as not, is owed for to some merchant. (Heh-heh.)

Mary has a little dress,
A dainty bit and airy.
It doesn't show the dirt a bit—
But, gee, how it shows Mary!

* * *

Speaking of odes to this and that, here's one to a here-to-fore unknown and unsung Willie.

The Plainsman wangled it out of Dr. Clifford Jones, Texas Tech's prexy, in one of the Doctor's few and far-between vacations from the sober and serious academic life.

Little Willie died—
Not of the whooping cough—
But from licking the back
Of the looking-glass off!

They buried Little Willie
Outside of the town.
'Twas a cold day for Willie
When the mercury went down!

ONE MAN'S OPINIONS: It looks like some enterprising restauranteur here in Lubbock would specialized on Boston cream pie—and advertise the fact, not only in the papers, but by serving swelegant Boston cream pie . . . We'll bet he'd get a lot of trade thereby . . . The Plainsman's favorite popular songs from the pre-war era to date: St. Louis Blues, Margie, The Waltz You Saved For Me, Rose of Washington Square, You Forgot To Remember, Always, I'm Looking At the World Through Rose-Colored Glasses, Little Pal, Sleepy-Time Gal, Don't Let Me Stand In Your Way, The Man With the Mandolin, South of the Border, Blue Orchids, Indian Summer and, 'way high in the list, the depression-born "Stormy Weather." . . . Personal dislikes: Wild neckties, fancy socks, two-toned shoes and multi-colored shirts; oatmeal; overly persistent salesmen; space chiselers who say, "Of course, newspaper advertising isn't applicable to our business, but if you could publish a few stories for us, etc."; prattle about "ethics;" politics in the pupit; painted fingernails; open-toed shoes; cowboy boots on males who wouldn't know a branding iron from a split-ear bridle; the habit of some preachers in calling a sermon a message;" people who insist upon feeding you baloney when they know you know it's baloney!

No Time To Marry

By ELINORE COWAN STONE
Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JANET DWIGHT, heroine. She was engaged to handsome young architect

LANCE BARSTOW, hero. Lance had great dreams for the future. So did

CYNTHIA CANTRELL, orphaned granddaughter of great-aunt Mary Cantrell. Still another dreamer was BARNEY McKNIGHT, newspaperman. But Barney was more than a dreamer.

* * *

Yesterday: Mr. Bryant, Janet's attorney, calls her asking that she come to see him since there are some very important matters to discuss!

CHAPTER VI

When Janet carried her bills up to her own room, she was shocked and incredulous to find out how much she had spent during the past month.

There were several considerable items that Cynthia had charged to her account. On previous occasions Cynthia had charged things to her, and Aunt Mary had paid for them as a matter of course. . . . But I can't give the bills to Aunt Mary this time, Janet thought. Not after this afternoon.

The whole thing came to considerably more than her balance at the bank. Her dressmaker's bills were still to come; and aside from the fact that she would need a great deal of ready money during the next few days, there was, Lance had told her, an immediate payment due upon the house.

She must make sure, when she talked to Mr. Bryant tomorrow, to arrange for those payments. And perhaps, after all, there might be enough margin to take care of the difference between the rent on this apartment and that of the smaller one Aunt Mary talked of taking at the Avalon.

Janet had just thrown the last envelope into the wastebasket when Aunt Mary opened the door.

"Janet Dwight!" she cried, sweeping down upon her niece with all the indignant authority of her five feet two. "Do you mean to tell me that you haven't taken off those wet things yet? Get them off this minute, and yourself into a hot tub of water. After that, you're going to bed."

"But, Aunt Mary," Janet protested, "I'm not ready to go to bed. Besides, I want my dinner. This business of rushing around getting ready to be married burns up the calories."

"I did not ask you whether or not you were ready," Aunt Mary placidly folded hands which, not so many years ago, had so capably wielded a switch. When Aunt Mary spoke in that tone, Janet almost forgot for the moment that the switch was not still at hand. "Margy will bring you a tray in due time."

* * *

So Janet soaked in fragrant warm suds for a luxurious half hour; then she slipped into a soft green negligee, and after the hot soup, omelet, and salad which Margy brought her, snapped on her bed lamp and stretched out with a new book.

It really was blissful to have an idle evening alone after the last few weeks' bad round of fittings and showers and late parties.

She had read a chapter or two when a knock sounded at her door, and Cynthia slipped into the room. It was worthy of note that Cynthia had bothered to knock at all; but it was not that which made Janet put down her book and give her undivided attention to her cousin.

There was in Cynthia's manner as she poised there, a slim, black-gowned silhouette leaning against the creamy panel of the door, a strange, almost breathless excitement. It dilated the pupils of her violet eyes, and lent a new transparency to the pallor of her skin against the dark cloud of hair that hung to her shoulders.

She was wearing a black dinner frock with a long full skirt that rippled about her silver sandals in lustrous folds. The slim tight basque had silver buttons up the front and slashes of silver at the wrists. It was a dress which Janet did not recognize.

Cynthia's eyes followed her own as they swept over it.

"No, you've never seen it before," Cynthia said. "I'm sorry about it, Jan. I should have asked you first; but after I'd seen it, I just couldn't risk having somebody beat me to it."

"It does suit you marvellously," Jan said.

"Of course you know I shouldn't have bought it if I'd known—about Aunt Mary's money. I tried to return it today, but the store had made a lot of alterations on it."

"It would have been a pity to send it back. It does things for you, Cyn. It makes you look like a princess out of a story book."

"I know it's a knock-out. That's why I'm wearing it tonight. I have an idea"—Cynthia went even paler and broke off on a caught breath—"I have an idea I'm going to make it pay for itself."

Janet exclaimed, "Cynthia — but you can't mean that you're going to sell it?"

"Sell it?" Cynthia's smile twisted a little. "Perhaps that's not such a bad way to put it. . . . But not in the way you mean, Jan."

Jan opened her lips to ask, "Cynthia, what on earth are you talking about?" Then her memory echoed Aunt Mary's words of the afternoon. "Just as much as Cynthia usually means when she's feeling dramatic," and she laughed softly.

"Well, have yourself a good time," she said. "And Cyn, don't worry about the dress. We just won't tell Aunt Mary."

* * *

She took up her book again. But Cynthia lingered, her glance bent as if in complete concentration upon her expertly manicured left hand. In a moment she said in a low tone, without lifting her eyes, "You're a swell kid, Jan. You've—got something not many people have. . . . Aunt Mary has it, too. Something—oh, I don't know how to say it—like a clear, steady light that never goes out. . . . I—Jan, if ever I—"

When she broke off again, Janet laughed in quick embarrassment. All this was so utterly unlike the cool, amused Cynthia she knew.

"Good Lord, Cyn!" she said. "If you need a taxi fare or something, why don't you say so without all the floral offerings? You know you're—"

"Don't!" Cynthia cried sharply, lifting her head. "I was—trying to tell you something, Jan. Now I can't. . . . I—well, good night, Jan."

Abruptly she turned and whirled out of the room. Janet, touched and contrite, tried to call her back; but Cynthia had flashed down the hall and out of the door before she could

THE DAY CHRIST DIED

There is a great deal of evidence that the world today is sodden with materialism. It is to be found in this country and to even a greater degree abroad, where the basest human instincts are dominant and strong forces are working to plunge the world into barbarism. Doubtless, there are many men and women of deep spirituality, kindness of heart and nobility of thought and purpose who are working tirelessly in their various ways to fashion a better world, but the destinies of nations, unhappily, are not in their hands.

There is a heartening reassurance, however, in the thought that what happened at Golgotha a little more than nineteen centuries ago is the subject of solemn remembrance today, in the knowledge that even in the midst of the extraordinary distractions of life in these troubled days there recurs a sense of awe and wonderment in the recalling of the immemorial story of a Man who died for men.

Little men today are trying to destroy the work of the Nazarene, just as they have tried in the past. He preached love and peace. They fill the minds of men with hatred and war. For a time they may triumph, but ultimately the victory will go to the Pale Pilot of the Galilean Lake, "whom soft-eyed pity once let down from heaven to bleed for man, to teach him how to live, and, oh, still harder lesson, how to die."

Today's Thought

Jesus answered and said unto him: Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.—St. John 3:3.

Arnold Tells AFL Inquirers He Will Not Stop Crusade Aimed At Labor Racketeers

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 22. — Top executives of the American Federation of Labor got little comfort out of their recent conference with Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold concerning his building costs campaign.

Catton

No sooner were they seated in his office than Arnold began:

"You might as well understand one thing right from the start: We're not going to stop indicting labor leaders."

The conference almost ended right there, and might as well have for all the good it did. One union head climaxed his criticism of Arnold's policy with a spirited defense of individual liberty. When he got through Arnold laughed loudly.

"That's almost word for word what a high-priced Wall street lawyer said to me less than two weeks ago," he explained.

* * *

Proud Of Cheap Houses

Officials of the Farm Security administration are quietly proud of the way they've cut farm home building costs. On their newest resettlement projects, they're putting up four- and five-room 'dobe-and-wood "apartment houses at a cost less than $1,300 per family.

If they'd been able to build that way from the start the history of the resettlement projects would be considerably different. Big trouble there has been that the homes built were too fancy, hence too costly; chief reason for that (though you'll never get anyone to admit it) was the interest taken in the projects by Mrs. Roosevelt. She got behind the movement in its early days and plugged hard for bathrooms, full basements, central heating and other refinements that the whole business got off to a more expensive start than had been figured on.

* * *

Congressmen Split On Labor

Republican congressmen caucused the other evening and decided to delay taking a stand on the Smith amendments to the Wagner act until members had had more time to study them. Interesting part was the back-stage discussion of the labor vote and the GOP's attitude to it. Quite a number strongly oppose wooing the labor vote by any concession in regard to the Wagner act.

Said one: "Our platform will certainly demand sharp revision of the law. If labor takes the attitude that the law just mustn't be touched, or mustn't be touched very hard, it'd be foolish for us to worry about labor."

* * *

Ohio Republicans Hit

Disgruntled Democrats charged that passage of the Hatch act extension would have handed the next election to the Republicans, since the dominant state political machines—which the bill would wreck—are mostly Democratic. Senate Republicans said little and quietly voted for the bill en bloc.

In Ohio, though, the Republicans are in charge; and Ohio Republicans on Capitol Hill got loud cries of protest from back home, the complaint being that the law would handicap the party terribly.

She wished she had thought to ask where Cyn was going for dinner. From her cousin's words at the telephone that afternoon, she had guessed it was somewhere with Barney McKnight. . . . Well, when Cyn came home, she would slip into her room and have a long talk with her—only by that time, no doubt, Cynthia would have put on another of her chameleon phases, and would resent any reference to this evening's strange mood.

Janet took up her book again.

Later, she was drowsily conscious that some one was turning off her bed lamp, shutting off the steam, raising a window, and shaking out the warm coverlet that lay on the foot of the bed—just conscious enough to murmur, "Thanks a lot," without opening her eyes, before she snuggled more comfortably into her pillow and dropped off again.

She started awake to the clang of the telephone on her bed table. At first, confusion struggled with annoyance as she rolled over and caught up the instrument, her only thought to stifle the noisy bell. Then her annoyance fled. Of course!

How like Lance to think he must say "Good night!" to her after his party, no matter how late it was!

But it wasn't Lance who was calling.

The course lasts two years and covers every detail of hotel and restaurant operation, even down to tax problems.

The college instruction also must be supplemented by 10 weeks of work in the industry during vacation at the end of the first year.

All students receive training in cooking, both for those who intend to become chefs and for the others as an essential knowledge of all hotel and restaurant operators.

Mrs. Hilda Watson is in charge of the courses relating to personnel and service. She is a graduate of Cornell University's first class in hotel management, and for ten years was assistant director of dining halls at Stanford.

Among other courses taught to all are the guidance and control of hotel and restaurant chefs—temperamental or otherwise; cake baking, pastry making and companion specialties.

Each spring, the students prepare a luncheon for 100 to 150 members of the Northern California Hotel association, as well as the annual banquets of the junior college faculty, class dinners and so forth.

Not a few of the students pay their way through the two years by operating catering businesses on the side. Others have part time jobs in hotels and restaurants. Still others do cooking at home.

Colleges Urged To Hunt Mental Talent

NEW ORLEANS, March 22. (U.P.)—Richard G. Cox, president of Gulfport (Miss.) College, thinks it might not be a bad idea for American colleges to search for some Phi Beta Kappa material as well as All-America prospects.

Cox brought up the subject at a district meeting of the American Alumni Council.

Dean Marten ten Hoor of Tulane University, New Orleans, read a paper setting forth the criteria for judging a student's prospects in college were: his high school diploma, high school grades, letter of recommendation from his principal, passing of prerequisite Carnegie high school units, special aptitude and intelligence tests, judgment of personality factors and personal interviews.

Of these, said Dean ten Hoor, none was perfect. High schools vary so much, he said, that the lower third of one institution's graduating class frequently did as well in college as the upper third of another.

Cox immediately suggested that the "great fault of American universities was their failure to develop the potential brain power of the nation."

He suggested dryly that it was too bad they did not follow in this connection the "assiduity with which they look for good physical specimens."

Gigantic Road Tunnel Will Give An Air Raid Shelter For Par

Two Purposes To Be Served

BY PERCY NOEL
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 22.—Despite the war, French engineers under military control have sealed and lined a vehicular tunnel under the heights of St. Cloud Park, just outside Paris.

Only a little more time is needed to complete the roadway and lighting arrangements. Besides being the entrance to the parkway, leading 17 miles into country to main highways for Deauville and Biarritz, the tunnel forms the world's largest and safest air-raid refuge.

One thonsand to 1,500 motor cars and 10,000 people can be accommodated and still keep a lane of access and egress open. The mass of earth, stone and concrete above it varies from 100 to 300 feet thick. It is more than 3,000 feet long and wide enough to take seven files of cars. In this way it is also one of the widest tunnels of its length, comparable in Europe only to the tunnel under the Mersey at Liverpool and another at Antwerp.

Of course the tunnel was not built for war purposes, as its use was restricted to touring cars, but to promote automobile and tourist industries. Construction has not been retarded by mobilization, but work on the reinforced concrete parkway, which in France will be called an autostrade, is two months behind.

Although patterned after American parkways, the autostrade has some distinctive features. In the first place, there will be no toll to pay either for the tunnel or the open air, and there will be no speed limit. Instead there will be a slow limit.

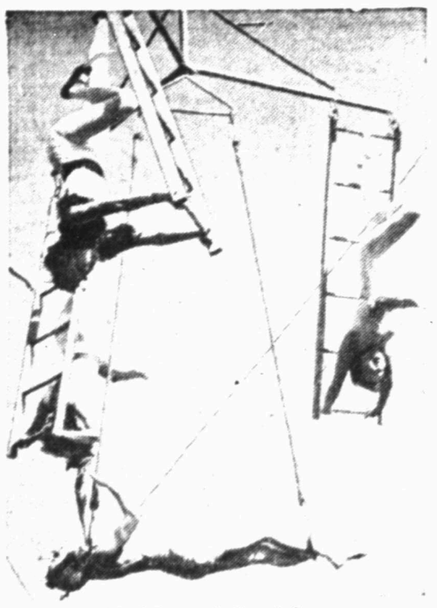

To avoid intersections where the autostrade branches off west and south, to meet the national highways, an ingenious system of three stories of roads has been devised. This will obviate any reduction of speed or of hunting for the turnoff to take, both for cars coming and going. This three-decker section is spread over three-quarters of a square mile.

Another novelty will be the use of a five-lane system in the tunnel, so arranged with light signals that, as required, any number of files or tracks can be set aside for either direction going or coming. For example, when cars are returning to Paris Sunday evenings three or even four files can run in one direction toward Paris and one or two in the other. There will be no divisions between lanes except luminous lines.

Opens New Area

Engineers estimate that when the parkway is completed it will be possible to live 25 miles from Paris in the real country and yet drive into business in the center of Paris in 30 minutes easily.

The construction was facilitated by the fact that all the property traversed belongs to the state. The regions being the park and forest of St. Cloud and the forest of Marly. The latter public forest has been comparatively little used by Parisians in the past because of the inconvenience in getting there. The autostrade will make it a playground.

Life Is Just A Big Circus To These Topsy-turvy Texans

"This way, folks! This way to the Big Top. See the scintillating, stupendous performance in which the folks of Gainesville, Tex., prove that life is just a circus for them. Here you'll see ordinary folk—even as you and I—performing death-defying feats of equestrian equilibration, artistic acrobatics aloft and aground, wire-walking to wonder at. All done with professional eclat and aplomb by Gainesville housewives, bankers, public officials, school teachers, stenographers and office boys!

Stepping down from the barker's stand, we can assure you that the ballyhoo is not exaggerated. It's a description of the annual Gainesville Community Circus, now being readied for its 11th Grand Opening on April 24th. Townsfolk—all strictly amateurs—are the owners and proprietors. Spring practice activities of some of the 150 performers who comprise the three-ring show are pictured here. Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio, as honorary ringmaster, will open the new season.

English Castle Is A Silkworm Home

KENT, Eng., March 22. (U.P.) — At Lullingstone Castle — a lovely old place in Kent — 3,500,000 silkworms and 50 human helpers are making and spinning silk for parachutes.

Even this large quantity of worms can produce only 600 parachutes against the thousands that are needed.

Interesting facts of their existence were provided by Lady Hart Dyke, the chatelaine of the castle.

At least 175 tons of mulberry leaves are consumed by this hungry horde of insects each year.

Each cocoon contains 1 1-2 miles of silk.

Every two years 100,000 new silkworms are imported from Marseilles. The rest are bred on the spot.

Silkworms in the 28 days of their life span grow in sudden stages; they cast their skin four times and emerge each time a few sizes larger. No sooner have the moths laid their eggs than they die.
