Economic Outlook Grim

The SDN Column

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Jim Cornish, publisher of the Post Dispatch calls attention to a bank there that advertises when it sees a need for something in the community.

"Post and Garza County's long-awaited moisture should now be at hand," said Cornish in his Postings column. "The First National Bank on page 3 of this issue of The Dispatch is advertising for snow under the appealing heading: 'Wanted in the Very Deepest Way.'"

And, sure enough, there on page 3 of that issue is the ad begging for snow with the plea, "Aw, come on, snow, baby, snow!"

However, the bank is not so particular that it would not accept a rain instead. The border around the ad is decorated with disclosure that "any old kind of moisture" would be acceptable.

Cornish says the Post bank has been the leading West Texas "Moisture advertiser" for many years and that their ads usually have "paid off" with some degree of moisture.

We're going to watch the weather reports from up Garza County way during the next few days.

People over in Mitchell County apparently adjusted to the 55 miles per hour speed limit with ease, according to the Colorado City Record.

The Record quoted Highway Patrolman Marvin Keenan over there in reporting that less than the average number of speeding tickets were issued on the first day of the 55 mph limit.

"Keenan said that people were slowing down even before the 55-mile per hour speed limit went into effect, either trying it out or in an effort to save fuel," the Record continued. "He said that 15 is an average number of tickets for a weekend, but only 8 were issued Sunday (the day the new limit became effective)."

Speaking of auto travel, the Dairyman's Digest had an item about the man who said that his car has a buzzer which tells him his seat belt isn't on, another that warns when the car's speed is over 60 and a light to tell him his gas is low.

"My wife isn't bad enough" he complained. "Now even my dashboard nags me."—WACIL McNAIR.

Big Jump In Jobless Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the fuel shortage tightening its economic grip, the nation's unemployment rate rose from 4.8 per cent to 5.2 per cent in January, the biggest monthly increase in four years, the government said today.

The Labor Department blamed actual or anticipated shortages of gasoline and other petroleum products for a substantial loss of jobs last month in the aviation, automobile and recreation industries.

Nearly 370,000 workers lost their jobs, raising total unemployment in the nation to a seasonally adjusted 4.7 million. This pushed the jobless rate over five per cent for the first time since last May.

Administration economists predict the job situation will continue to worsen this year due to the fuel situation and general economic downturn. The White House has estimated the rate will climb to about six per cent but a number of private economists believe it could go to seven or eight per cent, depending on how long the fuel shortage lasts.

January's increase in the jobless rate was the largest since January 1970 when it rose from 3.5 to 3.9 per cent.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said nonfarm payroll employment, which grew rapidly last year, leveled off in December and then dropped by 280,000 last month.

Quake Jolts Izmir

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A strong earthquake jolted the port city of Izmir in western Turkey early today, killing at least two persons, the Anatolia News Agency reported.

Dozens of persons were believed to have been injured, and heavy property damage was reported.

The tremor struck at 2 a.m. local time. Hundreds of thousands of people rushed into the street and spent the rest of the night out of doors.

Kandilli Observatory in Istanbul said the quake measured 5.2 on the Richter scale and was centered about 245 miles southwest of Istanbul.

Two other quakes were reported in the South Pacific between the Solomon Islands and New Guinea on Thursday.

The International Tsunami Information Center's Honolulu Observatory said the first Pacific tremor occurred at 1:30 p.m. local time. It registered 6.8 on the Richter scale, an observatory spokesman said.

The second temblor, registering 7.2 on the Richter scale, occurred less than five hours later about 150 miles from the first, he said.

The spokesman said neither quake generated a Pacific-wide tsunami, or seismic sea wave.

Trial Moved; Judge Protests

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Houston mass murders case was moved here today and immediately ran into the protests of District Court Judge Peter Michael Curry, the administrative judge for Bexar County.

"Why should we go through all the logistics problems just for the hell of it," Curry asked.

"I don't particularly want to tie up one of my courts for five or six weeks just to satisfy the folks in Houston," Curry said just moments after District Court Judge William Hatten announced a change of trial site in the case.

"Judge Hatten indicated he was tired—maybe that's not the word. Judge Hatten wanted to be relieved. I understand," said Curry. "They've (Houston) got a lot of judges. Why don't they send some other judge or even a retired judge?"

Hatten has been conducting pretrial hearings at Houston for Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, charged in six of the 27 slayings, victims of what police called a homosexual torture-murder rampage.

Approximately 1,000 persons are expected to attend the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Banquet tomorrow night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The banquet will bring U. S. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii here as the principal speaker.

Other highlights of the banquet program will be the presentation of the outstanding citizen award and the presentation of the first annual Harrie Winston Award for achievement in agriculture.

The appearance of Sen. Inouye has attracted interest throughout West Texas and people from a number of surrounding cities and towns are due here for the banquet. The Hawaiian legislator has been in the public eye since World War II when he served with distinction with a crack military unit in Europe. He received a battlefield commission and retired as a captain in the U. S. Army in 1947, having earned the Distinguished Service Cross, Bronze Star, Purple Heart with cluster, five battle stars, four distinguished unit citations and others.

His political career began in 1954 when he was elected to the Territorial House of Representatives in his native Hawaii. He was elected to the Territorial Senate in 1958 and in 1959 became Hawaii's first U. S. Congressman after the Island State was admitted to statehood. He was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1962 and was re-elected in 1958, now serving as assistant majority whip. His committe assignments include Appropriations (chairman of subcommittee on foreign operations), Commerce (chairman of subcommittee on tourism) Committee on District of Columbia and Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities. Nixon Asks Patience

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will be pounded by powerfully rising prices and increasing joblessness until the economy takes a mid-year turn for the better, President Nixon's annual economic report said today.

Conceding the economy is caught in the worst inflationary spiral in a generation, Nixon urged patience by consumers. "To correct a powerful trend of the economy which has been going on for some time requires time," he said in a message to Congress.

The grim, but somewhat hedged outlook by his three-man Council of Economic Advisers: a 6 per cent rise in consumer prices in 1974, compared with 8.8 per cent last year, with the economy growing by only one per cent for the entire year.

The jobless rate will average 5.5 per cent but will rise close to 6 per cent in the first half of the year as economic output dips to near-recession levels, the council said.

Nixon expressed frustration over dealing with the nation's many economic problems. But he said the American people are better off than they think.

He reaffirmed his faith in a free economy and said the system of wage-price controls he established in 1971 to corral inflation would continue to be phased out. When, he didn't say.

The lengthy economic report also scooped the President's budget message, scheduled to go to Congress Monday. It showed the budget for fiscal 1975 will total $304.4 billion, with a deficit of $9.4 billion.

Defense spending will rise about $7 billion to a record level of $87.7 billion.

Nixon said the budget will impose moderate economic restraint, because the total spending does not surpass the revenues that would be brought in by the government in a time of high prosperity.

He promised to step in and increase federal spending if necessary to keep the unemployment rate from going too high as a result of the energy crisis.

Consumers can expect food and fuel prices to rise sharply between now and mid-year, Council Chairman Herbert Stein said.

Nixon outlined this strategy for dealing with the nation's economic problems partly brought on by the energy crisis:

—The budget will create little stimulus, but spending will be increased if necessary should unemployment get too high. Tax cuts are a possibility. Nixon urged Congress to approve legislation to improve the unemployment insurance program to help ease the energy crisis' impact.

—He said he will work with the other oil-consuming nations to avoid a worldwide recession. Higher energy prices will be permitted for maximum domestic exploration and production, he said.

Budget More For Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) President Nixon's fiscal 1975 budget includes an all-time high $87.7 billion outlay for defense, his economic report disclosed today.

The President's $304.4 billion budget goes to Congress Monday, but the general outline of it was sketched in a table at the back of the economic report released by the White House.

Nixon in his State of the Union address on Wednesday revealed the overall total for his budget, which contains a $9.4 billion deficit.

Defense spending will be up by $7.7 billion, reaching a total of $87.7 billion, the report said.

Here are some of the major increases:

Education and manpower — $11.5 billion, up $700 million.

Income security (including Social Security and welfare) — $100 billion, up $15 billion.

Natural resources and environment — $3.1 billion, up about $2.5 billion.

Health — $26 billion, up $3 billion.

Interest on the public debt — $29 billion, up $2 billion.

Veterans benefits and services — $13.6 billion, up $300 million.

Flu Illness Spreading

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A flu-like disease that has sent many Texas school children to bed with symptoms of dizziness, nausea and a sore throat this week today forced the closing of schools over a 500-mile area of the state.

The disease had been confined earlier in the week to northwest and north central portions of Texas, but the latest report Thursday revealed the disease had spread to Apple Springs, near Lufkin in East Texas.

About one-third of the 300 pupils in the Apple Springs district was absent from school Thursday, and officials there said classes would not be held Friday.

Fear 40 Dead In Brazil Fire

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A fire swept through the upper 14 floors of a 22-story Sao Paulo bank building today, and many desperate office workers jumped to their deaths.

A fire captain at the scene estimated at least 40 persons were killed and more than 20 injured. A police sergeant said the number of dead might be even higher. No official count was available.

At least 25 persons on the roof of the building, owned and occupied by the Crefisul Investment Bank, waved frantically to circling helicopters as towering flames and smoke rose from the floors below.

Because of the heat and smoke, the helicopters were unable to land on the building until nearly two hours after the fire started. When the flames stopped licking up the side of the gutted structure, the choppers took turns landing on the roof and carrying away survivors.

Dozens of occupants of the building waited on the few balconies not engulfed in flames as firemen put ladders up. The ladders reached only to the 11th floor, and many persons on higher balconies tried to lower themselves by sheets and ropes.

Other persons jumped to the street. Some bodies lay among the debris and broken glass that showered from the building.

"I saw several bodies being picked up," said 1st Sgt. Alicio Zanca of the Sao Paulo police.

FIRST-DAY PURCHASE—Yolanda Rosas, deputy in the county tax office, sells automobile license plates to T. C. Herrera, Route 2, Hermleigh, as the annual car tag sale was launched this morning. The license plates must be on vehicles by April 1. Don Adams, county tax assessor-collector, said vehicle owners should bring their re-registration notices received earlier from Austin, or the titles and last year's receipts when they come in to purchase new tags.

Order Probe On Allstate

AUSTIN (AP) — State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie ordered an investigation today into Allstate Insurance Co.'s alleged failure to pay $4 million in policy dividends owed to Texas automobile owners.

Christie said he had directed Insurance Commissioner Don Odum to conduct a public hearing on the allegations.

The board received complaints that Allstate had suspended dividends on auto policies expiring between Oct. 4, 1973 and June 1, 1974.

Allstate received board permission Oct. 3 to reduce its rates.

Christie said the board's records show that Allstate planned to pay $6.3 million in dividends on policies expiring between May 31, 1973 and June 1, 1974. He said policy holders were told when they bought their coverage that Allstate regularly paid dividends when policies expired. But after paying $2 million in dividends, Allstate stopped when it obtained permission to reduce rates on new or renewed policies, Christie said.

"Now that Allstate has been approved for deviated rates at the time a policyholder purchases an automobile policy, the commissioner needs to determine if Allstate's decision to close their 'good hands' on the money that had been earmarked for payment on expiring policies was legally permissible," he said.

Christie said Allstate was the only company of 50 that have received permission to reduce rates that have taken this approach.

He said the company may have used the lure of dividends to attract policyholders.

"Whatever throat-clearing, toe shuffling excuse may be used for not paying these dividends does not diminish the fact that this company agreed to pay them under provisions of Articles 5.08 and 5.09 (of the insurance code) back in mid-1973," Christie said.

Seven Survivors Are Critical

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — Seven Americans and two New Zealanders survived the crash of a Pan American Airways 707 jet on this South Pacific island that killed 92 persons, officials said.

The plane crashed 3,000 feet short of the Pago Pago airport during heavy rain at 11:41 p.m. local time on Wednesday, or 6:41 a.m. EDT Thursday, official said.

The flight originated in Auckland, New Zealand and carried 91 passengers and a crew of 10, including 36 U.S. residents. The plane was enroute to Honolulu and Los Angeles.

Seven of the survivors were in critical condition at the L.B.J. Tropical Medical Center, Dr. Peter F. Beals said in a telephone interview Thursday night.

"All suffered burns of varying degrees and percentages and seven are undergoing treatment in our intensive care unit," said Beals, who is director of medical services.

One survivor was in satisfactory condition and another in good condition.

An American Samoan Government official said earlier that of 10 persons pulled from the burning wreckage, four had died at the hospital. Beals said only one died at the hospital.

Pan American officials identified her as Joan Merrill, 52, of Alta Loma, Calif. Her husband, Maury Merrill, is among the survivors.

Also among the survivors was crew member James S. Philipps of Sonoma, Calif., and Dick Smith of Phoenix, Ariz., an Olympic diving coach returning from the Commonwealth Games in New Zealand. Smith telephoned a friend saying he had only suffered minor head injuries.

Other survivors were Roger Cann, 23, New Zealand; Mary Cann, 11, New Zealand; Ernest Meunster, 46, Merced, Calif.; Robert H. and Loraine Kindermann, both 60 of Rolling Meadows, Ill.; Charles Culberson, 30, United States, address unknown.

A team of six investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board was dispatched to Pago Pago, on one of the seven islands in the U.S. Territory in the South Pacific.

George Miyachi, spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration Pacific Asia regional headquarters in Honolulu, said the Pago Pago airport control tower gave the pilot clearance to make an instrument approach just before the crash. Miyachi said that was because of one-half mile visibility in the rain.

It wasn't known if the plane was using instruments to land when the crash occurred, he said.

Beals said the hospital has sufficient facilities for treating the survivors and said the seven critically injured patients could not yet be transferred because of the severity of their injuries.

Witnesses said the plane crashed in a field and burst into flames.

"You could see the flash all over town," said Jake King, editor of the Samoa News in Pago Pago, in a telephone interview with the Oakland Tribune.

Truckers Protest In Lone Star

LONE STAR, Tex. (AP) — More than 50 independent truckers were parked today off U.S. 259 in this East Texas town, protesting low speed limits, fuel prices and freight rates.

Police Chief H.R. Brook said traffic was not blocked and there had been no disturbances since the park-in started at 9 p.m. Thursday at a truck stop.

The protest began when 15 or 20 men surrounded a truck owned by Atlas Truck Lines that had stopped to be weighed.

"They just surrounded our truck and told the drivers not to move," Jim Brown, manager of the firm, said. "Our truck is still there. The truck was loaded with pipe and was headed for Houston."

Truckers then started flagging down other trucks and asking them to join them.

"Most of the drivers are cooperating in shutting down," driver Wesley Brook said. "Some of the companies are a little upset about it, but it's been pretty peaceful so far."

Brook said the truckers are seeking higher speed limits, lower prices for fuel and higher freight rates.

"We (independent truckers) lease to the companies," Brook said, "and what we get will benefit the companies as well as the individual...a lot of companies do not want to go along."

All In Family Hits The Top

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "All in the Family" hit the top and ABC's "Partridge Family" hit the bottom of national TV ratings for the week ending Jan. 27, A. C. Nielsen ratings figures showed today.

Of the new series that premiered in January, only ABC's "Six Million Dollar Man" was rated among the nation's 20 most-watched programs for the week.

But another new ABC series, "Happy Days," was ranked 21st over-all and did strongly in its Tuesday night time slot, rated slightly ahead of the competing "Maude" show on CBS and NBC's "Adam 12."

Rowe In Race For Comptroller

AUSTIN (AP) — James Nicholas Rowe, a native Texan who spent more than five years in a Vietcong prison before escaping, announced today as a Republican candidate for state comptroller.

The announcement put at least three Democrats and one Republican in the comptroller's race, which may be the most competitive on the May 4 statewide ballot.

In another development, just three days before the filing deadline, former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who had been mentioned as a Democratic candidate for treasurer or railroad commission, said he would not make a political race this year.

Rowe, 35, a native of McAllen, said he had had a long standing interest in public service.

"My five-year ordeal in Vietnam reinforced beyond any doubt my confidence in our political system and its importance to our way of life. I concluded some time ago I could make a greater contribution to maintaining that system in meaningful public service rather than continuing in the military. And I had always planned to render that service in my home state."

Rowe said in a statement that he has been assigned to intelligence operations in Washington, D.C. He resigned from the Army, as a major, earlier this week and returned to Austin to establish his residence.

IRS Offers Advice By Phone And Pamphlets

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the last in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1973 tax returns.

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service is stressing self-help in filling out 1973 federal income tax returns but taxpayers itemizing deductions may find it advisable to seek outside guidance.

For its part, the IRS is offering for the first time advice to taxpayers through a system of toll-free telephone numbers. The numbers are listed in the instruction booklet mailed to roughly 80 million taxpayers.

The IRS also has a number of free publications available from its district offices or its headquarters in Washington. Or taxpayers can buy, for $1 at IRS offices, a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax," the official, government how-to-do-it version.

Tax laws are complex, however, and sometimes even the government publications do not provide a final answer for complicated situations. Legally, "Your Federal Income Tax" is not regarded as authoritative, although it should fill the needs of most Americans.

Those who go to tax preparers should exercise caution, making sure the one who has been selected is responsible and reputable.

On form 1040, tax preparers must also sign the return as well as the taxpayer. In addition, there is a space available for the address and Social Security and employe identification number of the preparer.

After discovering what it termed widespread fraud in the tax-preparing business two years ago, the IRS has tried to crack down on illegality in the business. The required identification numbers may be used to compile a nationwide list of preparers, said one spokesman.

Preparers make mistakes, too. And some taxpayers have found that they get different answers to the same tax problem by going to different preparers. The same is true with IRS offices, according to past surveys.

To cut down on mistakes, it is always a good idea to make several checks before mailing a return. The most common error is in arithmetic. The IRS will make changes if it is a math error and adjust the tax to be paid, but taxpayers shouldn't count on the IRS to send back a refund if the error is in their favor.

Other common errors are failure to sign a return, failure to list the Social Security number, and use of the wrong tax tables. If a return is not signed, it is not considered valid, will be returned, and will delay a refund if one is due.

For taxpayers who fill out their own returns, it should be remembered the search for deductions should be endless, even down to the smallest items.

Union dues are deductible. For taxpayers who are required to buy publications relating to their profession, these are deductible.

Boatowners can claim as a tax credit the gasoline and oil used at the rate of 2 cents a gallon of gas and 6 cents per gallon of oil. This credit actually applies to vehicles not used on public roads. such as lawn mowers, power saws and similar equipment.

In the medical area, travel costs necessary to get care are deductible, including amounts for bus, taxi, or train fare. The mileage allowed is at the rate of 6 cents for those who drive.

It is advisable on medical deductions to exercise caution about the types of deductions. Generally, medicines must be prescribed by a doctor in order to be eligible. Such expenditures as health club dues or vacations taken to improve one's state of mind aren't.

Working parents who must pay for care of their young children either at home or away from home may be able to find substantial deductions for the expenses they put out.

The rules are especially helpful to families where both parents have to work or to families in which there is only one parent living.

Dependents under age 15 may qualify, as well as physically or mentally handicapped dependents over age 15. A husband or wife incapable of self-care also may qualify.

If the requirements are met, taxpayers may deduct up to $400 a month for employment-related household services, child care or similar expenses.

But, to qualify, taxpayers must be gainfully employed, or work three-fourths of a normal work week. For married couples, both must meet the requirement.

Household expenses, such as services of a housekeeper, maid or cook, and child care expenses, such as payments for nursery school or day care for preschool children, are eligible.

If child care expenses are for care outside the home, the maximum deduction is $200 a month for one child, $300 for two, and $400 for three or more.

The rules covering dependent care for those over 14 or for an incapacitated spouse are far more complicated. They are written to take into account the income the dependent receives.

National Health Plan Is Readied

By G. DAVID WALLLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national health insurance plan being readied by President Nixon would guarantee that no one would pay more than $1,500 a year in medical expenses, according to an initial administration estimate.

For this protection, a single wage earner would pay a monthly premium of $6.56. For most workers with a family, the premium might be $19.32 a month.

The rates are estimates provided Thursday by Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

The administration still is putting some finishing touches on the proposals for introduction in Congress on Tuesday, Weinberger said.

But attached to the estimates are numerous factors that could affect not only the individual premiums, but also total out-of-pocket health expenses under the administration program.

Premiums also could vary from plan to plan. The administration plan is only a minimum. Employers and workers could select fuller coverage at higher rates. There's nothing in the proposal to keep employers from paying workers' premiums in full.

A tax proposal under consideration in the administration could cut the take-home pay for the average taxpayer by $2.68 a month. This would happen if the government taxes workers on the money employers contribute toward health premiums. The contributions aren't taxable income now.

The proposed Nixon program also would cover different expenses than covered in current standard Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans.

Under the most recently available administration proposals, most wage earners would have to pick up their first $150 in medical expenses every year. For medical expenses over 50, participants would have to pay 25 per cent of medical bills up to the $1,500 limit.

That means they might have to pay, for example, the full cost of a routine appendectomy if they haven't already had $150 in expenses. Current standard Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans would pay the whole cost of the operation, regardless of previous medical expenses.

On the other hand, the administration plan would cover some items like routine dental expenses for youngsters under 13. Standard Blue Cross-Blue Shield doesn't cover that.

Other benefits that would be covered in minimum plans include maternity care, child care up to age six, eyeglasses and hearing aids up to age 13, family planning, some mental illness costs, and outpatient prescription and life saving drugs.

Medicare, under the Nixon proposals, would cover the same people it now covers, with the benefits extended to mirror the national health insurance coverage.

This city girl isn't in a 'retiring' mood

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 28 years. I am 55, and Zeke is 57.

After Zeke and I were engaged, he told me he was buying his brother's farm. I told him if that's what he really wanted I did not want to go thru with the marriage because I did not care to live on a farm. We broke our engagement. A few weeks later Zeke called and said he wasn't buying the farm and would I marry him.

To make a long story short, we were married, but I have heard nothing but "farm" since I married him.

Now, Zeke tells me he wants to buy a "nice little 12-acre farm" in the same stinking area we broke our engagement over. He says he wants to "retire" there. Abby, I never wanted to live on a farm, and I sure as heck don't want to "retire" on one.

What should I do? CITY GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Tell Zeke you still don't want to live on a farm and don't give an inch, or you'll wind up on 12 acres.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Agape in Colorado"—the problem the gentleman had in wondering how he could tell a lady who was wearing a pantsuit that her fly was open. We have a simple solution for that problem. When my sometimes forgetful 7-year-old son is seen in that state, we just say, "XYZ," which is a signal meaning, "Examine Your Zipper." DOTTIE KING

DEAR DOTTIE: Thanks for an A-OK suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: It's past midnight now, and even if I went back to bed and tried to sleep, I couldn't, so I might just as well write this.

My sister has a beautiful 3-year-old son who she doesn't appreciate. Sis works Monday thru Friday only to satisfy her extravagant tastes. Her husband makes good money, but Sis never has enough clothes, so she works, too. Sis drops her baby off at Mom's every work day without fail. The baby is never fed, and sometimes he's not even dressed. Mom takes care of him all day until Sis picks him up at 6 p. m. (Mom even gives the baby his supper and has him in his pajamas, bathed, and ready for bed.) Sis doesn't pay Mom one cent, either.

I feel sorry for Mom. She has her own housework to do (three kids and Pop are still at home), and Mom is growing old and tired, but she would never say no to Sis.

There have been weekends when Sis leaves the baby with Mom, but Mom never complains.

Doesn't Sis realize that Mom raised her kids and now Sis should raise her own?

I love my sister and wish she would open her eyes.

NOT AS FORTUNATE

DEAR NOT: Perhaps your signature conveys more than you meant it to. Why don't you tell your sister how you feel? There is always the chance that your mom doesn't feel as burdened by the baby as you think she does.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Musical Coterie Studies Composers

It has taken America three and a half centuries to become the world leader in music that it is today. Yet our Western Art music, developing rapidly after the birth of opera in Florence in 1600, is scarcely much older. Few realize how much has been accomplished since the first colonists came to our shores, and how dramatic and colorful has been the emergence of American music.

The Indian had been on the American continent for so many centuries that their beginnings were lost in the dim past. Therefore strange as it may or may not seem to some, the Indian was the first American composer.

Music for the Indian, as for all primitive peoples, was not only functional, but the very breath of life, and they cherished their tribal songs and dance music. It is agreed by those who have made an exhaustive study of Indian music that rhythm was more important than melody. About half their songs were in the minor key and half in the major. From the collector's point of view their music falls into three classes: 1. the old songs sung by old singers; 2. the ancient ceremonial and medicine songs; and 3. the comparatively modern songs composed on reservations.

By the 1700's the Colonies were already a vast melting pot, a fact that has always been peculiar to America, and a fact that enters into the vast difference in composers, their music and the taste of the American public. Therefore in all the fusion how does one acknowledge American composers?

Even though the Indian was first, since then many native born, as well as citizens by adoption composers. They all have been a part of their time and in many ways helped create the time.

If one mentions American composers these are called to mind. Francis Scott Key, Stephen Foster, F.B. Gilbert, George Gershwin, Aaron Copland, John Philip Sousa, Virgil Thomson, Randall Thompson, George Cohen, William McDowell, Benny Goodwin, all the way up the ladder to today and Burt Bacherach.

However, as this is American composers month, let us step back into history at the first native composer, Francis Hopkinson.

We might search a long time and never find another figure who so perfectly suited and embodied all of the elements of Philadelphia's era of culture as did Francis Hopkinson (1737-1791), a man who was one of the great figures of his time, and who practiced the arts in the finest sense of the word. He is given the credit of being America's first native composer, but politically he was a still stronger personality. His uncompromising, satirical pamphletering on the part of the Revolutionary forces. He was a signer of the Declaration of Independence and a close friend of Franklin, Washington and Jefferson.

Hopkinson at his harpsichord soon became a dominant figure in the musical life of Philadelphia and his own compositions, which he started to write while still a student at school, were to be found on concert programs throughout the years.

It is believed that his musical education was gained principally from James Bremner, whose death in 1780 Hopkinson commemorated by composing a memorial "Ode." But it is his group of four secular songs, the manuscripts of which are in the library of Congress, that make Hopkinson one of the outstanding musicians of early America.

Hopkinson's "Seven Songs" for the Harpsichord or Forte Piano are his own particular glory, for they are pioneers in the field, the first known published collection of secular American songs. They are of more than passing interest, historically, because of their dedication to Geroge Washington, soon to be President of the United States.

Hopkinson's music should be judged historically, rather than critically. His words are possessed of freshness and ingenious point of view that lends them considerable charm. They were like countless other pieces of the eighteenth century and did not have enough originality to exert any influence in themselves. It is rather as an indication of the existing vogue in the colonies that they are interesting and to the historian, important. It is as a musical amateur that we cherish the figure of Francis Hopkinson, for he is the first of many whom we shall meet in succeeding generations.

Hopkinson's life in Philadelphia clearly demonstrates the liberality of those days in the colonies, a true picture of the life in the largest American city of that time. Many of those years were filled with pain, the pangs accompanying the birth of a new nation. It matters not that the music was not the greatest nor the performances as fine as those that might be heard in Europe. What is far more important is the fact that America was slowly but surely coming into her own.

Through study one can expand his own hosizons. This is one aim of a music study club. Musical Coterie, affiliated with the Texas and National Federation of Music Clubs, is pleased to celebrate February as American Composer's month.

It is the clubs aim to become more acquainted with our native born composer, while ever enrishing our lives with the Old Masters.

This year's study of the "Musical Theatre" has brought before us Kern, Gershwin, Rodgers and Hammerstein II, Loewe, Herman, Darion, Herbert and many others.

The more we study the more we listen, the richer our American Heritage becomes!

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — I have never painted a room in my life, but expect to take the plunge soon. I have read that brushes used with oil paint can be suspended in turpentine if they are to be used again within a few hours or the next day. How can this be done without the bristles touching the bottom of the container and getting bent?

A. — There are several ways. One of the most popular is to drill a hole through the wooden handle and run a wire through the hole so that it can be placed on two sides of the can or pail or jar. Put only enough turpentine or mineral spirits in the container for most of the bristles to be covered. Another good method is to use one of the small metal clips sold in most hardware and paint stores. It fits on the edge of the can and holds the brush in place so that the bristles do not reach the bottom.

Q. — I bought some wood stain the other day after selecting the right color from a wood sample the dealer had on hand. When I applied it to the object I was staining, it came out a lot darker. Why don't the dealers use a sample that shows the true color?

A. — The samples used by the dealer show the true colors of the stain on the particular pieces of wood being used. But stains take differently on different kinds of wood, although the general color is similar. What the user must do is to test the stain on a scrap piece of the same wood he is using in the project. If it is too dark, he knows that he must wipe it immediately after applying it to bring it to a lighter shade. If it is too light, he must leave it on somewhat longer. In other words, the intensity of the stain can be regulated by the amount of time it is left on the wood before being wiped.

Another method of regulation that is used with an oil stain is to add a little turpentine to make it lighter.

Q. — Some months ago we had two of the rooms in our house painted. I kibitzed a bit and noticed that the painter mixed vinegar with the water he used in making plaster for a wall patch. I didn't think about it at the time, but now that I have to do some plaster patching I wonder why he used vinegar in the mixture.

A. — The vinegar was used to prevent the patching plaster from hardening too quickly. With most types of spackling compound, however, the drying time need not be retarded. Read the directions on the package of the product you use.

Q. — In fitting a door into an opening, how much space should be left at the top, bottom and sides?

A. — About 1-16th of an inch at the top and sides, about 3-8th of an inch at the bottom. In considering the clearance at the bottom, be sure to take into consideration any floor covering.

Q. — To settle a dispute, is the galvanized covering on metal gutters aluminum or paint?

A. — Neither. It's zinc.

Valentine Food Can Stand Extra Touch

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

First came Pink Teas. They appeared in Victorian days and all the dishes on the menus had a touch of pink color. The ham sandwiches for the teas, as suggested by one cookbook author at the end of the last century, could be rolled and tied with pink silk ribbon! In the first half of our own century the all-pink food decor was narrowed down to St. Valentine's Day. Now the chances are a party-planner will confine the pink to dessert to celebrate February 14 and let it go at that.

We're all for this remaining touch of whimsey. And so for a Valentine party we tested a delightful creamy dessert made with strawberry puree. One of our men tasters, not the most confident of cooks, was really taken with the offering and asked a bit wistfully whether it was hard to concoct. We were happy to assure him it was not, as you will find should you try the recipe.

VALENTINE CREAM

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
10-ounce package frozen sliced sweetened strawberries, thawed
1-3rd cup light whiskey
8-ounce container light cream
8-ounce container sour cream
Halved fresh or thawed frozen strawberries for garnish

In a medium saucepan thoroughly stir together the gelatin and sugar.

In an electric blender whirl strawberries and their syrup for a few seconds — just enough to puree; stir into gelatin-sugar mixture. Heat gently, stirring with a rubber spatula (including around sides of pan) until gelatin and sugar dissolve. Remove from heat. Stir in whiskey and light cream; add sour cream and beat until smooth. Pour into a serving bowl (about 1½ quarts) or individual serving dishes (preferably glass) and chill until set.

Before serving, arrange halved strawberries on top of cream in the shape of a heart.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: The light whiskey used in this recipe is a comparatively new beverage with a less robust body and more subdued flavor than traditional American whiskey.

Four hundred recipes are given in the illustrated "Cecily Brownstone's Associated Press Cookbook" available by sending $4.95 (check or money order made payable to "The Associated Press") to this newspaper in care of AP COOKBOOK, Box G4, Teaneck, N.J., 07666.

OF NO RECESSION

Nixon Has Good Chance Of Fulfilling Pledge

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon has an excellent chance of fulfilling his State of the Union pledge that "there will be no recession in the United States of America."

A few months ago his chances would have been considered lower, mainly because of a huge shortfall in oil stocks was anticipated by most authorities. Inevitably, they said, it would reduce industrial activity.

Because of the cooperation of man, who cut down sharply on wasteful practices, and nature, which provided a mild winter, that prospect is diminished.

Before the Mideast oil cutback many economists rated the chance of a recession at 50-50. That ratio probably rose to 60-40 last fall. Now it is probably back to 50-50.

But the economy doesn't respond to commands or wishes. The President's statement that "we shall win our fight to hold down the cost of living" may be much harder to fulfill.

The truth is that inflation is an international problem that eludes control by domestic policy. The world's growing demand for goods places a premium on items once thought inexpensive.

If the Arabs raise the price of oil, for example, it is inevitable that buyers of oil will be importing a degree of inflation. If the price of Brazilian coffee beans rises, so also will rise the price here.

This lessening of control over inflation may indeed accelerate in years to come if the world's industrial communities grow together into one vast market place, with each nation's economy highly dependent upon others.

The difficulty and sometimes futility of the inflation fight is shown in many ways:

—In promises by Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, that prices would soon stabilize, until after two years of such promises he was forced to concede that prices will continue to rise in 1974.

—In the fact that Nixon, while proclaiming his philosophical bias for free markets, was forced to impose wage and price restraints.

—In the realization that stability of domestic prices could inadvertently be disturbed by the activities of a few private companies selling grain to the Soviet Union.

It is demonstrated in an even more important way. The President in his message made it clear that, given the choice of two evils — inflation or recession — he prefers inflation.

It may sound incredible to younger Americans, but there was once a day when it was considered proper to reduce inflation by sacrificing jobs, purchasing power and production. It lessened demand, but at an awful price.

Nixon, as do most Americans, considers that option too primitive.

Junior Editors' Quiz on MOHAIR

QUESTION: What is mohair?

ANSWER: Mohair is the name given to the fleece of the angora goat. It is also used for the commercial products made from the fleece. The long-haired angora goat is known by the Arabs as the Chamal goat, meaning soft and silky. Typical mohair fiber is pure white and from 7 to 10 inches long.

The angora goat was originally a native of Asia Minor for 2000 years. It is now bred in South Africa and the southwestern United States. Mohair is smooth, strong and resilient and is resistant to dust and moisture. A large group of fabrics is made from it either wholly or in combination with wool, silk or cotton. The fiber is especially valuable in the manufacture of furniture upholstery, draperies, automobile tops, heavy cloaking and "fur" cloths such as astrakhan. It is also used in coat lining, dress fabrics and other cloths. Mohair is often sold as alpaca, but true alpaca is something different. It is made from the fleece of the alpaca, a South American animal of the llama family.

Westerners Lose 97-94 In Overtime At Hobbs

HOBBS, N.M.—New Mexico Junior College slipped past the Western Texas College Westerners 97-94 in overtime here last night in a Western Junior College Athletic Conference basketball clash.

The loss was the fourth straight by the Westerners. They lost two of them on the road in overtime and the four losses were by a total of only 11 points. For the season WTC is 13-8. In conference play, they are 4-6. New Mexico now is 13-11 for the season and 5-5 in conference play.

New Mexico led almost all the way. They had a 10 point lead in the first half, but the Westerners pulled within two with 23 seconds remaining. But, New Mexico scored four three throws and a desperation field goal in the 23-second span to take a 49-41 lead at halftime.

The Westerners kept trying valiantly and tied the game up with five minutes remaining. The lead changed a couple of times, but the scored was tied 84-84 with 20 seconds remaining. Both teams missed field goals in the final 20 seconds. New Mexico held a 13-10 edge in overtime. Field goals were even in overtime, but the hosts held the edge at the line.

The Westerners held a 41-37 margin in field goals for the game, but hit only 12 of 21 from the line for 58 per cent compared with 21 of 29 for 72 per cent by New Mexico.

"Our team really played a good game," declared WTC Coach Mike Mitchell. He said the Westerners did a "terrific job" of shooting from the field, sinking 41 of 82 for an even 50 per cent.

Each team had four men in double figures. Danny McDaniel roped 25 points. Norman Barnes tallied 22, Harold Ward netted 19, and Eugene Harris meshed 14. For New Mexico, Donny Jackson pushed in 26 points, Ricky Gibson scored 21, Keith Hemmitt netted 13, and Mike Jaime put in 12.

Ward fouled out with eight minutes remaining in regulation play, and McDaniel fouled out in overtime. For New Mexico, Gibson fouled out with two minutes left, and Hemmitt fouled out in overtime.

"We outrebounded them," Mitchell pointed out. He said WTC collected a total of 46 rebounds. Eugene Harris did an excellent job, pulling 20 off the boards.

Western employed a 1-3-1 trap most of the game, but New Mexico used a full court man-to-man press most of the time.

The Westerners will meet Lubbock Christian College's junior varsity at 5:30 p.m. Saturday in Lubbock, then host Amarillo Junior College in an important conference tilt at 7:30 p.m. Monday. LCC is 4-10 for the season.

Tigers Entertain Monterey Tonight

The Snyder Tigers and Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen battle tonight in the Scurry County Coliseum to determine fourth place in the first half District 4-AAAA basketball race. There will be three games with the sophomores tangling at 4 p.m., followed by the junior varsity tilt at 5:45 p.m. and the varsity clash at 7:30 p.m.

Elsewhere in the district tonight, Hereford and Lubbock Coronado will be battling for a share of the first half crown while Plainview, which meets Lubbock High, can also grab a share of the first half title with a victory.

They're big and they will be tough," said Snyder coach Bob Moore concerning tonight's foe. He pointed out the Plainsmen have shown considerable improvement. In their last game, they upset Plainview 51-37.

Monterey has the better record. They are 15-10 for the season and 2-2 in district play while the Tigers are 8—17 for the campaign and 1-3 in district action.

The Tigers lost virtually their whole team from last year due to graduation, but they have been in every district game they've played this year. For instance Plainview beat them by only two points in double overtime. Snyder also has made considerable improvement since the beginning of the season. Most of their losses have been by narrow margins or to teams with outstanding records.

Probable starters for the Plainsmen will be Matt Parsley and Ricky Keith at guard, Jackson Pace and J.C. Eakin at forward, and Dick Clardy at post.

Snyder will counter with a triple post attack with Welton Cobb, 6-0 junior, Roy Lee Carter, 6-2 junior, and Larry Johns, 6-2 junior, at post with Tim Jones, 5-8 senior; and Chester Cobb, 5-10 sophomore, at guard.

Other Tigers available for duty tonight are Robert Alderete, 5-9 junior; Randy Gressett, 6-2 sophomore; Greg Gafford, 5-11 junior; Sid Perry, 5-11 junior; Greg Gary, 6-4 junior; Eric Schrader, 6-2 junior; and, Danny Brumely, 5-10 junior. Willie Tippens is out for the remainder of the season with a knee injury.

Booster Club Meeting Set

The Tiger Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the West Elementary Cafeteria.

Guests of the Club will be Travis Junior High Basketball players and their parents. All members were urged to attend.

"I'd like to make a special appeal for local fans to come out tonight and boost the team against Monterey," said Dr. W.N. Jones, president of the club.

"Our team has been in every district game they've played this year and has a chance to win the second half if we give them the support they deserve," Dr. Jones pointed out.

He said a film will be shown at the Booster Club meeting.

A home run in the bottom of the ninth by Tommy Henrich of the Yankees won the first World Series game during the 1949 classic. In that game Allie Reynolds pitched a two-hitter against Brooklyn.

Irish Rip DePaul

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

"I think they just had too much overall strength," admitted DePaul basketball Coach Ray Meyer after his club absorbed a 101-72 beating at the hands of Notre Dame Thursday night.

"We can't go to the bench but they can ... for a sixth, seventh and eighth man. We can usually play most first fives even, but one of our problems was that we got tired," added Meyer, "and with their tremendous shooting, they shot us right out of the ball park."

The Irish, ranked No. 3 nationally, led by just three points at intermission but broke it open early in the second half and coasted to their 14th victory in 15 tries.

Only three other ranked teams were in action. No. 9 Providence was upset 88-87 by Duquesne in overtime, No. 10 Long Beach State defeated Cal-Santa Barbara 78-68, and No. 15 Louisville dumped North Texas State 97-81.

Gary Brokaw, hitting 12 of 16 shots from the floor, was the big man for the winners with 25 points. Freshman Adrian Dantley contributed 23 points and 15 rebounds, and John Shumate added 19 points and 10 rebounds for the Irish.

The Irish got a scare late in the game when Dantley suddenly collapsed on the bench. He regained consciousness in the locker room, was hospitalized and was to undergo tests today.

Duquesne reserve Bernie O'Keefe sank a 20-foot jump shot at the buzzer to beat Providence. The Dukes, who trailed by three points with 12 seconds left, got possesion when freshman Norm Nixon stole an inbounds pass and passed to O'Keefe for the winning bucket.

Don McLane scored 24 points and Lionel Billings 21 for the winners. Marvin Barnes had 27 points and 23 rebounds for the Friars, who had won 10 straight.

Roscoe Pondexter scored 26 points to lead Long Beach past Santa Barbara. Bob Gross added 19 points for the 49ers who are 15-2 for the year.

Allen Murphy scored 20 points and Louisville outscored North Texas 21-4 in the last 10 minutes of the first half to record its 13th win against three losses. The Cardinals are 5-0 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

In other top games, Memphis State took New Mexico State 73-66, Bradley trounced Wichita State 108-73, Tulsa trimmed St. Louis 73-64, St. John's, N.Y., whipped Rhode Island 77-59, and St. Michael's topped Vermont 83-76.

Net Meeting Set Saturday

There will be an organizational meeting of Junior High boys and girls who would like to play tennis this season. Students from both Lamar and Travis are asked to report to the Travis gym at 10 a.m. Saturday (tomorrow) to hear plans for the coming season. The first meet will be Feb. 23 in Brownfield. Nationals Approve Sale Of San Diego Padres SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — With assurances that professional baseball would remain in San Diego, National League club owners have approved the sale of the Padres to hamburger king Ray A. Kroc.

The unanimous decision, reached at a meeting here Thursday, ended an attempt to move the floundering franchise to the nation's capital. Reports of that deal kept many disgruntled Southern California fans away from the ballpark last year.

League President Charles "Chub" Feeney said the owners had been assured the Padres would remain in San Diego "in the foreseeable future."

Kroc, 71, chairman of the McDonald's hamburger chain, has promised not to move the team at least until 1980, and has signed a new stadium lease that runs through 1988. The San Diego City Council agreed Thursday to pay the Padres $429,000 a year in subsidies, an increase of $144,000.

But predictably in C. Arnholt Smith's long and tortured attempts to sell the Padres, there was talk of a last-minute hitch.

"We still have a problem with Mr. Smith because I understand the Internal Revenue Service is attaching our check," said Kroc in a radio interview from Fort Lauderdale, Fla. "His attorney has said if the IRS is going to attach the check then they don't want to sell.

"We say that's too bad, it wasn't part of the contract ... I've heard that if he now refuses to sell, the National League is going to foreclose on his franchise and we'll get it."

That statement angered a Smith attorney, who said, "he's not pushing around a hamburger salesman. If he wants to take that attitude, then he and the National League could find themselves with a nice lawsuit."

Kroc later said he had only been quoting a rumor he had heard. "I hope it's not so," he said. Smith was unavailable for comment.

Smith, besieged by government and private lawsuits and a $22.8-million IRS tax claim, tried to sell the Padres last year to Washington, D.C., market chain owner Joseph Danzansky for $12 million, the same price Kroc reportedly is paying.

But Danzansky failed to meet a deadline to cover damages expected from $84 million in lawsuits filed by the city of San Diego for breach of contract and alleged antitrust violations. City officials have promised to withdraw the suits upon approval of the Kroc sale.

S'West Thinlies To Run Tonight

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

FORT WORTH (AP) — The first Southwest Conference Indoor Track and Field Championships, which has provoked divided opinions among some of the league's coaches, was set for tonight at the Tarrant County Convention Center with the Texas Longhorns overwhelming favorites to take the six-foot high team trophy.

Texas is the defending SWC outdoor titlists and show no signs of being any weaker than the outfit which compiled 164 points last spring in running away from second place Texas A&M and third place Rice.

A crowd of 5,000 to 6,000 was expected for the meet which Texas Coach Cleburne Price said should trigger "A lot of enthusiasm and good times."

While Price and the majority of the SWC coaches favor the event, Rice Coach Augie Erfurth said "I'm still not sold on indoor track in this part of the country ... I think it tends to make the season too long for the kids."

In the past, the Fort Worth Coaches Association has sponsored 13 "open" track meets.

Johnny Morriss of the University of Houston said the meet "Will create new interest in indoor track for the Southwest Conference."

Hart agreed, saying "This meet has created new excitement among our kids."

Texas made a strong showing last week in the U.S. Track and Field Federation in Oklahoma City, finishing third.

Texas captured both the distance medley relay and the two-mile relay.

The 60-yard dash and hurdles are expected to be the prime spectator-pleasing events.

Zoe Simpson of Rice was at Ranger Junior College when he ran a 6.1 in the 60-yard dash last year to beat Olympian Robert Taylor. Bill Collinss of Texas Christian is expected to give Simpson a battle.

Scottie Jones of Texas A&M and Randy Lightfoot of Texas should provide fireworks in the 60-yard hurdles.

Hart, asked to pick a favorite, said "You've got the start with Texas. They picked up Dana LeDuc in the shot and he won at Oklahoma City. Our kids think they can contend for second place. I'm afraid they may be overconfident."

The distance medley was set for the unusual time of 3:30 p.m. Friday to allow the contestants time to rest for other events.

The meet begins at 6:30 p.m. with the field events. The first night running event was scheduled for 7 p.m.

All field events will be held except the discus and javelin.

Removal Of Rail Track Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation today recommended that 25 per cent of the railroad track in the northeast United States be abandoned.

Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar said elimination of the almost 16,000 miles of track would have little appreciable effect on traffic carried by the railroads. He said only 4 per cent of the rail traffic in the Northeast moves on the lines he recommended be abandoned.

The recommendation is the first step in the reorganization of financially ailing railroads in the Northeast and Midwest.

The Interstate Commerce Commission now must hold a series of hearings on Brinegar's recommendation. The hearings are scheduled to start in March.

Brinegar also recommended that some track which would remain in service be limited to use by only one railroad, eliminating much of the duplication in service that has been blamed for part of the financial troubles of the Penn Central and other northeastern railroads.

He urged also that rail competition be maintained only over the high-volume interstate network which provides enough volume of traffic each day to produce a minimum of eight trainloads moving more than 200 miles in the same general direction.

Brinegar recommended 17 areas for the competitive service on the basis of the volume of rail traffic. They are: Boston; New York; Newark, N.J; New Brunswick, N. J.; Philadelphia; Baltimore; Norfolk, Va.; Beckley, W. Va.; Pittsburgh; Buffalo; Cleveland; Bristol, Va.; Detroit; Toledo, Ohio; Gary, Ind.; Chicago, and St. Louis.

Beef, Eggs Up Grocery Bill

Higher prices for beef and eggs pushed up the family grocery bill during January and boosted the total to a level 14 per cent above last March, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

There were only two bright spots at the supermarket during the month: butter and pork chops both went down in many areas and kept the totals from being even higher than they were.

The AP checked the price of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1 and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed that during January, the bill for the total marketbasket went up in nine cities, rising an average of 3 per cent, and was down in four, declining an average of 3 per cent.

That was an improvement over December, when the marketbasket bill rose in 12 of 13 cities checked, up an average of 2 per cent.

In every city, however, the total was well above the figure last March. The increases over 11 months ranged from 1 per cent in Salt Lake City — where declines in the price of pork chops and frankfurters kept the January total down — to 22 per cent in Philadelphia and Boston.

A look at the total number of items didn't provide any encouragement. Of 195 items checked, 38 per cent went up in price during January; 12 per cent declined; 41 per cent were unchanged; and 9 per cent were unavailable on one of the check dates.

During December, 28.7 per cent of the items checked went up in price; 11.8 per cent went down; 48.7 per cent were unchanged; and 10.8 per cent were unavailable.

Beef price increases reflected recently reported hikes in the wholesale cost of the meat.

Energy Is Top Worry

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Americans now are more troubled by the energy crisis than by inflation, according to the latest Gallup poll.

The Gallup organization reported Thursday that in its most recent nationwide survey it found 46 per cent of the more than 1,500 persons interviewed were most upset about the energy crisis. Twenty-six per cent said inflation is still the nation's major problem.

Inflation had been the dominant concern of Americans in every Gallup survey since late January 1973, when the Vietnam peace settlement was reached, he said.

In September 1973, Gallup found 70 per cent worried most about inflation. That was the highest proportion of people showing concern about the same thing in the 38-year history of the poll.

"Dissatisfaction with government" and "corruption in government" were named most often after the energy crisis and inflation n the latest poll.

Thirty-nine per cent said the Democrats were best able to deal with the country's most pressing problems. Only 15 per cent expressed confidence in the Republicans. Forty-six per cent were uncommitted.

The original center block of Canadian Parliament buildings was destroyed by fire in 1916.

"Let us go on unto perfection." Hebrews 6:1
To find perfection, a poet
decided to write:
One would seek, till obtaining,
both sweetness and light.
Yet sweetness comes only in an
every day scene
As we discover the art of being serene.
And God awards light to those who discern
His flame only burns for those who will learn.

In Luke 13:23-27, Jesus describes the door of Heaven as being very narrow. He says that many will try to enter, but few will make it. In the final days, after the door is shut and locked, your knock and the knocks of the multitude will not be heard.

But unfortunately today, many of our churches have been forced to pad-lock their doors to prevent vandalism and thievery. And even then, each year, millions of dollars in damage is done. What a tragedy! The very temples God created for His people to enter to pray to confess, to worship and beg forgiveness, have to be the prey of the diabolical marauder.

This culprit does irreparable damage to the minds, souls and bodies of women and men and he destroys unthinkable wealth and property as he roams.

Somehow the church must transform these thugs. For once the Master locks the door against them, it may not be opened again. How tragic to hear the Parson say, Lock The Door!
