United States Shrimp Boat Is Fired On By Mexican Gunboat

MIDDLE EAST BOUND—Danish soldiers climb the ramp into the nose of a U.S. Air Force transport plane at Karup Military Airport, Jutland, Denmark. The soldiers are part of the contingent of Danish troops that will serve as an advance party for United Nations police force in the Suez area.

Shot Wounds Boat Captain

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The shrimp boat Pescador, its captain bleeding badly from wounds the boat's owner claimed were inflicted by a Mexican gunboat, was reported en route to Tampico, Mexico, today under armed Mexican escort.

The Pescador's owner, John Santos Carinhas of Brownsville, said he talked to his boat by radio this morning and the radio operator said the gunboat insisted that the Pescador go to Tampico for medical attention for the skipper, Tom Wilson.

Tampico is about 60 miles from the reported scene of the shooting. The boat was due in the Mexican port about noon CST.

Carinhas said his report indicated the captain had started bleeding badly.

The Pescador's radio operator, Charles Wilson, nephew of the wounded captain, said the boat was about 11 miles off the coast of Mexico and about 120 miles south of Brownsville at the time of the shooting.

Earlier, the Coast Guard cutter Triton was reported speeding to the scene and officials said a seaplane would be sent to pick up the captain if the shrimp trawler hadn't reached port. The Coast Guard refused to comment today, however.

In Washington, the State Department said the Pescador is being taken "under escort" to a Mexican port.

The State Department said its information, received from the U.S. Coast Guard, is "somewhat sketchy at this stage" but it indicated the captain is "resting comfortably and his life is not in danger."

A state Department official said "We are awaiting detailed reports and of course all necessary steps are being taken to assure prompt medical attention to the injured man."

He said it was not known at this stage whether the wounded captain is aboard his own vessel or on another ship.

"We are told his ship is under escort, and understood to be on the way to a Mexican port," the official said. "We presume the Port is Tampico since the incident occurred in that general area."

Coast Guard officials in Washington declined to make public their reports, referring inquiries to the State Department because of the "international aspect" of the case.

Court Gives Bus Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld a decision holding unconstitutional Alabama and Montgomery, Ala., laws requiring racial segregation on buses.

The decision, by a special three judge U.S. District Court in Montgomery, was appealed by the city's Board of Commissioners and by the Alabama Public Service Commission. Each filed separate appeals.

Today's Supreme Court action was unanimous.

The tribunal issued a brief order which said "the motion to affirm is granted and the judgment is affirmed."

The order cited the Supreme Court's 1954 decision in the public school segregation cases and two later orders striking down race segregation in public parks and public golf links.

The special court had ruled that enforced segregation on Montgomery buses violates the Federal Constitution's guarantees of due process and equal protection of law.

In their appeal, the city commissioners contended the special court lacked authority to act. They argued it should have dismissed the complaint in the case filed on behalf of negro bus riders, or at least should have stayed action pending disposition of a similar suit filed by Negroes in Alabama State courts.

The State Commission appeal said the special court should not have ruled on the Alabama bus segregation law.

"The evidence is undisputed," this appeal said, "that the commission has never attempted or threatened to enforce the statutes and ordinances relating to segregation of races on buses operated by Montgomery City Lines, Inc."

Negroes in Montgomery have conducted a lengthy boycott of buses as a protest against state and city segregation laws.

HERMLEIGH SCHOOL HOLIDAYS CHANGED

HERMLEIGH — Thanksgiving holidays for the Hermleigh schools, originally set for Nov. 29-30, have been changed to Nov. 22-23 to coincide with the holidays to be taken by stores in the area, Orville B. Paty, superintendent, has announced.

The Hermleigh schools will dismiss for the Christmas holidays on the afternoon of Friday, Dec. 21, and classes will be resumed on Wednesday Jan. 2.

Cease-Fire Observer Team Sent To Egypt

LONDON (AP)—A 12-man team of U.N. observers moved into the Suez Canal zone no-man's-land today to watch over the cease-fire between French - British and Egyptian forces.

But the departure of the first U.N. police units for Egypt was postponed. U.N. spokesmen said the reason was "flight times and schedules." At the same time, however, a major dispute over Egypt's terms for admission to the police force appeared to be developing.

Egypt consented to receive the U.N. observers several days ago. Her agreement to the police force was announced only yesterday by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

The 12-man observer team, including Norwegians, Swedes Danes and Australians, landed at Port Said in the British - French occupied sector of the canal zone from a landing ship which had picked them up at Haifa. They had been part of the U.N. corps of truce observers in Palestine.

The postponement of the police airlift until tomorrow at least was announced by U.N. spokesmen at Capodichino, Italy, where the 180-man vanguard of the international army is waiting.

A spokesman for the Swiss Airline, which is to transport the troops to Cairo, said the Swiss pilots wanted to make a daylight reconnaissance of Cairo's International Airport before attempting landings. A U.N. spokesman explained also that it would have been a race today to land the first troops in Cairo before 6 p.m. when the airport is closed for the night for military security reasons.

Swiss representatives said some of the airline's own ground crews may also be taken to Cairo to facilitate operations.

Young fully armed soldiers of Norway, Denmark and Colombia, the advance units of a force that may eventtually total 10,000 men, had been expected to enter Egypt today to take up their duties of enforcing Middle East peace and watching over withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces.

Hammarskjold's announcement yesterday that the Egyptians had agreed to admit the U.N. police was followed up last night by Egypt's Middle East News Agency with a report of five conditions to which it said the secretary general had agreed.

There was no immediate official comment from Britain on these conditions, but the British press labeled them "impossible."

Some of the British papers said the "Egyptian dictator" was acting as if he had won the two-day battle in which British and French forces seized the northern third of the Suez Canal.

UN Will Debate Hungarian Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite Soviet objections, the U.N.'s powerful steering committee cleared the way today for priority debate on the Hungarian situation in the regular session of the General Assembly.

The 15-nation committee voted 11 to 2 to place the Hungarian problem on the agenda so it can follow up the action taken in the recent emergency assembly. Only the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voted against the debate. Egypt abstained.

The steering committee recommended unanimously that the Middle East problem be placed on the 79-nation Assembly's agenda.

The Assembly itself was expected to act quickly to approve the committee's recommendations.

The decision on the Hungarian issue came after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov had warned that continued U.N. debate "will complicate efforts to re-establish peace" in Hungary.

The committee quickly rejected a Soviet move to have the Hungarian delegate invited to take part in the procedural discussion.

U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. declared that the situation in Hungary is "of utmost urgency—all the more so since the present Hungarian authorities have now announced their rejection of almost all the recommendations of the emergency session."

Lodge referred to a message received last night from the puppet Hungarian government refusing to permit U.N. observers to enter Hungary in accordance with a resolution adopted by the emergency Assembly.

"Meanwhile," Lodge said, "the repression continues and the situation is as heartbreaking as ever. We must search for every appropriate means to assist them and resist this dark and bloody and sinister influence there."

Istvan Sebes, acting foreign minister of Hungary's Russian-installed government, notified Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold that the Hungarian situation was purely an internal affair. The sending of U. N. observers was "not warranted," he declared.

Sebes said Soviet troops were sent into Hungary because his government had asked for them. He added that Hungarian authorities were quite capable of making their own decision on holding elections.

This rebuffed decisions by the emergency Assembly to ask Russia to pull her troops out of Hungary and to call for free elections in the satellite.

The U. N. emergency Assembly gave overwhelming approval to U. S. proposals to place priority tags on both the Hungarian and Middle East crises in the regular session. The nine Soviet-bloc nations voted against the move to debate Hungary.

Ex-Hungarian Premier May Be Sheltered

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Yugoslav government declined comment today on Budapest dispatches reporting ex-Premier Imre Nagy, ousted by the Russians 10 days ago, has found shelter at the Yugoslav embassy in the Hungarian capital.

"We cannot say anything about it," a spokesman said.

The press in this Communist country is saying nothing concerning Nagy's whereabouts. This is in line with the cautious treatment being given the Hungarian affair here generally.

Western sources said they believe the caution may be due, in part at least, to the delicate position in which Yugoslavia finds herself after calling steadily for an end to Moscow domination of its Red neighbors.

Newspapers generally consigned the Hungarian story to inside pages while giving prominence to reports from the Middle East.

President Tito backed Nagy in a message to the Hungarian Communist party Oct. 29. Nagy was still premier then. After he was replaced by Janos Kadar, Yugoslav Communists did not directly attack Nagy but said he had showed weakness in failing to come up with prompt measures to end bloodshed in Hungary.

Yugoslavia's Ambassador Dalibor Soldatic has called on Kadar and told him Yugoslavia has decided to help Hungary with food and building materials.

Sen. Daniel Sent Letter By Governor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex) asserted today Gov. Shivers, whom he succeeds Jan. 15, may be trying to give Republicans control of the U.S. Senate.

In a statement on Shivers' proposal that Daniel resign from the Senate at once, Daniel said the suggestion may have been made so that their fellow Texan, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, would lose out as Senate majority leader.

Shivers, a Democrat, supported President Eisenhower. Shivers has been at odds with Johnson for a long time.

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Shivers declared yesterday he will call the special Senate election for Price Daniel's post "at the earliest possible date" if Daniel submits a resignation effective immediately.

Shivers' letter yesterday to Daniel accused him of having his legal points tangled and hinting that Daniel, if he does not quit immediately, plans to appoint his own successor.

Daniel was not available for comment.

The governor wrote, "You promised the people of Texas that you would not appoint your successor in the United States Senate nor allow me to do so. The date of Jan. 15, 1957, selected by you, is the only date on which each of us would have the opportunity to do what you promised would not be done."

Daniel, governor-elect, submitted his resignation to Shivers Sept. 26 effective Jan. 15 or when a successor qualifies. He said he would be in Washington to vote with the Democrats in organizing the Senate Jan. 3 if his successor had not been elected by then.

Shivers said no vacancy exists now and he could not call elections except "when vacancies happen."

"Since you selected the date of Jan. 15, 1957, you must have had some purpose in mind, such as the appointment of your successor by you or by me," Shivers continued. "Either or both of these could have been avoided if in your letter of Sept. 26 you had resigned effective Sept. 27 or Oct. 1 or almost any other specific date.

City Council Meeting Set

A special meeting of the city council is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock at the city hall tonight to consider the request of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for a rate increase here, and other items.

One of the other items will be consideration of annexation of a second addition to the Martin Addition.

Plans and specifications for widening of the bridge on Twenty-sixth Street just west of the Snyder Junior High School will be considered, and bids on the construction of a new bridge there will probably be called for.

The city council has previously promised to give the telephone company a definite answer on its rate increase request at this meeting. So far there has been no official indication of what that answer will be. However several unofficial meetings of the council have been held in which the rate request was discussed at great length.

Money Stolen From Junior High Office

The office of the Snyder Junior High School was broken into sometime Sunday night and an attempt was made to break into the school safe.

Travis L. Steele, police chief, said that some candy cases and cold drink machines were broken into and about $20 in change was stolen.

"The knob was knocked off the school safe and an attempt to drive out the pins holding the safe door in place was unsuccessful," he said.

Falls From His Horse

STAMFORD, Tex. (AP)—A Sagerton rancher, W. G. Wendeborn, 56, died yesterday of injuries received Sunday when his horse tripped and fell on him.

Flying Safety Meet

SANTA BARBARA (AP)—A three-day Air Force-aircraft industry flying safety conference opens today with about 220 expected.

Town Rocked By Explosion

MAYSVLLE, Ky. (AP)—A spectacular fire, caused by the explosion of one of three 20,000 gasoline tanks at a Texaco bulk plant here, raged out of control for several hours today but was reported to be burning itself out.

Maysville police said at 6 a.m. that the fire, which started about 11 p.m., had been brought under control.

Apparently no one was injured in the blast which rocked this Ohio river city of about 10,000 population.

During the height of the fire, flames shot 200 feet into the air and for a time burning gasoline and oil threatened to flow into the Ohio River. Families in 12 nearby homes were evacuated.

The unexplained explosion came as one of two double-trailer gasoline tankers with 16,500 gallon cargoes of gasoline was being pumped into the storage tank.

Hungary Is Still Gripped By Strike

VIENNA (AP) — The Hungarians carried on a gigantic passive protest today against the theft of their freedom, ignoring cold, hunger and the massed might of the Russian army.

Only a handful of bitter-end rebels still fought on against the tanks and guns of 200,000 Soviet troops. But the destruction of their homes and defeat of those who sought to fight off the invaders with meager arms failed to stem Hungarian defiance of the Soviets and their puppet government.

The nation clung grimly to a general strike. Alternate back-to-work pleas and threats from the Soviet-imposed regime of Premier Janos Kadar were ignored.

Usually reliable quarters in Budapest reported that a delegation of top Soviet officials headed by Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev was in the Hungarian capital seeking a means to end the resistance and shore up Kadar's regime.

M. A. Suslov and A. I. Mikoyan, the Kremlin's chief satellite troubleshooters, also were reported in the delegation.

Most Hungarians refused to accept the Kadar regime because it was installed by Russian tanks. Reports from Budapest told of hundreds of thousands wandering aimlessly through the ruins of a once-beautiful city, stolidly ignoring the masses of Soviet armor and troops standing guard every few hundred yards.

Associated Press correspondent Endre Marton said leaflets were passed out in the streets exhorting the population:

"Do not work under the command of the occupiers and the illegal usurping government. We shall continue to strike. Let us show that in the fateful hours our nation is united . . .

"Our liberty and our honor are at stake . . . the eyes of the whole world are on us. We shall not retreat."

The leaflets, signed by "The Hungarian Youth Which Goes on Fighting," called for withdrawal of alien forces from Hungary and the return of the Imre Nagy government that had acceded to the rebel demands for freedom at the outset of the revolt.

Reinforced Soviet army, striking suddenly before dawn Nov. 4 just as the rebels thought they had won independence and neutrality for Hungary, ousted the popular front government formed by Nagy, an old-line Communist.

Informed sources in Budapest said Kadar had tried — and apparently failed—to win Nagy's support for his program of rigged elections, subservience to Moscow and continued one-party rule.

Boys Nabbed After Chase

Two 15-year-old boys from Andrews were arrested here at 10 o'clock last night by city police after police chased them through town.

The boys were driving a 1956 Chevrolet sedan which had been reported stolen earlier in the night at Andrews.

Members of the sheriff's department from Andrews came here last night and took the boys back to Andrews, and an insurance firm is to send for the car today, Travis L. Steele, police chief, said.

The apprehension of the two boys made the second similar apprehension here in the past four days.

Last weekend the police department arrested two youths from Hobbs, N.M. who were driving a car which was stolen in Hobbs. Steele said that it was believed those boys took the car for a demonstration drive at a Hobbs auto firm and failed to return it.

Light Balloting Is Reported In Snyder

A very light turnout of voters for the one amendment on the ballot in today's election was indicated here this morning.

Shortly before noon, only 83 persons had voted in the four Snyder boxes, the largest of the county's 20 voting precincts.

The polls will close at 7 p.m.

The amendment being voted upon today is the ninth proposal presented to the people for state constitutional amendment this year. This one deals with disability payments to persons between 18 and 65 years old.

Dermott Woman Is Injured In Accident

A Dermott woman suffered a broken arm yesterday when the car she was driving got out of control and ran off the road.

She was Ramona Martinez Martinez, 33, who was driving a 1952 Chevrolet which ran off the Cottonstalk Road about three miles northwest of Snyder at about 5 p. m. yesterday. She was turning a corner when the accident occurred. The car hit a bank.

She was taken to Battenfield-Jones Hospital for treatment, according to Bill Zimmerman, highway patrolman who investigated.

Opening Of Bids On School Slated

The Snyder school board held a special meeting yesterday afternoon and authorized Fred Buford of Dallas, the schools' arthitect, to advertise for bids on the new high school addition to the Abraham Lincoln School here.

The building was authorized by voters in a $160,000 school bond election last month.

Yesterday, Buford showed the board completed plans and specifications for the project, and the board approved the plans.

Bids will be opened Dec. 11 at the next regular meeting of the board.

Buford told the board yesterday that the $160,000 should amply cover the cost of construction and furnishing the building.

The project will be built as a north-south wing adjoining the east end of the present Lincoln School building. It will be equipped for a complete high school program. It is to have a library, homemaking department with two unit kitchens and a partition to close off one end to make a separate room when needed, commercial room, shop room, science room with facilities for biology, chemistry, and physics, and one additional classroom. There will also be restrooms, storerooms, a bookroom, and principal's office.

The present principal's office at the school will be taken out and remade into a stage for the cafeteria-auditorium, while the present stage will be removed to provide more seating space. The present bookroom, which is next to the principal's office now in use, will be converted into two dressing rooms for the auditorium.

The need for having the building completed for use next September will be stressed to contractors making bids.

APPROACH CHANGED

Cold Remedy Announced

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A "dehydration" method of treating the common cold—described as "a complete reversal of the standard procedure of forcing fluids"—was reported today by a Mississippi doctor.

Dr. Guy T. Vise of Meridian said "good or excellent results" had been achieved in more than 90 per cent of patients treated over a five year period.

The technique includes, among other things, wrapping the patient in a sheet and two or more blankets—so that even the face and head are covered.

This "hot sweat pack" is applied for two hours daily in conjunction with hot water bottles or an electric pad. All water is denied, and foods and fluids are limited to one cup of soup, fruit juice, vegetable juice, tea, coffee or fruit every three hours while the patient is awake.

Dr. Vise told the 50th anniversary meeting of the Southern Medical Assn. that a laxative and some times other drugs are also given as a further aid to removing water from the patient's body.

Antibiotics, aspirin, codeine and antihistamines also are employed in conjunction with the "dehydration" method.

The physician said the "standard" method of treating a common cold—that is, "forcing fluids" into the body—contributes to increasing the collection of fluids in, and congestion and obstruction of the upper respiratory passageways.

He said the "dehydration" method tends to relieve this condition, and to allow antibiotics and other drugs to promote rapid healing of infected areas.

Presidential Deputy Speaks In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) — (AP) Howard Pyle, deputy assistant to president Eisenhower, told the Texas Industry conference yesterday that the administration is working to strengthen state and local governments.

The former governor of Arizona heads a division working on the complex problems of intergovernmental operations.

"The federal government today collects two to three times as much money as the states combined, and only about five per cent of it is returned to the states in the form of grants," he said.

Pyle said the president has observed that the states created the federal government and should not be dominated by what they have created.

Tiny Train Overturns

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Six cars of a miniature train at an amusement park overturned last night, injuring five adults and one child. The gasoline-powered engine and two cars remained on the rails when the others spilled their riders. Engineer J. L. Williams, 23, said the train was moving only 3 to 5 miles an hour.

Testimony Given By Otto John

KARSLRUHE, Germany (AP) — Dr. Otto John testified today he was 'several times on the verge of committing suicide' during the 17 months he stayed behind the Iron Curtain.

The former West German intelligence chief told the Federal Supreme Court trying him on treason charges that only by pretending to cooperate with the Communists could he have hoped to get back to the West.

"Had I refused, they would have robbed me of my free will and I might have betrayed everything," John said. "But in my very heart, I never surrendered to them or else I would not be here."

John is accused of leaking state secrets and denouncing agents of his FBI-style office after crossing into East Berlin July 20, 1954. He returned last December to surrender to West German authorities.

He was asked repeatedly why he did not disclose that he was being coerced when he was presented to Western journalists at a Communist - sponsored news conference in East Berlin three weeks after he crossed over. At that time, John stated he had defected to work for peace and against a Nazi revival.

"Why did you not seize this chance," asked the presiding judge.

'If I had done this, the Russians would have had a reason to lock me up for 20 years,' John answered.

'But you would have had the entire Western press as your ally,' another judge insisted.

'I am not able to give a reasonable answer to that question other than pointing to the situation in which I was,' John replied, seemingly irritated.

General Is Uneasy After No Reception

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr. (Ret.), former commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, had a few uneasy moments when he arrived here to address a Masonic group.

First, no one met him at the airport. Then he learned he had no hotel reservations.

But everything got squared away. The lack of a reception committee was simple. The welcome party was on the commercial side of the airport and Shepherd landed in the military area. The reservations had been made at another hotel.

Policy For School Aid Is Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of President Eisenhower's Committee on Education Beyond High School said today, "This country will never tolerate the nurturing of an educational elite."

Devereux C. Josephs, in a speech prepared for the American Assn. of Land-Grant Colleges and State Unviersities, said, "It is inherent in our society that each individual shall have the opportunity to develop his or her talents to the fullest . . .

"A system that selects for education beyond high school only those being trained for the professions and specialized occupations is not adequate for the needs of the technology or general society of the 1960s," he said.

"Only a third of the 18-year-olds are entering college and less than half of those who enter are graduating. We will need to do more and better."

The committee headed by Josephs, board chairman of the New York Life Insurance Co., was named by Eisenhower to determine what problems are faced by all types of post-high school education — including colleges, junior colleges, trade schools and adult education programs — and recommend what to do about them.

Josephs said, "There should be a clear-cut policy on the role of the federal government toward education beyond high school . . . Without such policy, crash programs for careers temporarily in high favor will be nourished with federal funds without relationship to the total educational situation."

The land-grant schools got that name because the federal government granted them public lands to aid their establishment. The 71 schools account for about a fifth of all U.S. college students.

Spiritual Growth Is Seen By Pastor

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of the National Presbyterian Church at Washington, said today that Washington is in the forefront of a "spiritual renaissance" in America. The spiritual life of President Eisenhower and others in national life who are members of his church is "transparently sincere, and utterly, utterly genuine," he told a men's club.

LITTLE GIRL FACES LOSS OF EYE INFLICTED BY CANCER —Pretty three-year-old Carol Ann Molinaro flashes a big smile as she clutches her dolly, unaware that doctors at The Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston, Mass., will remove her cancerous right eye. Doctors have told the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Molinaro, there is a better than even chance that removal of the eye will prevent spread of the dread disease to the left eye.

8 Snyderites Attend Meet

Eight members of the Snyder city water and sewer departments are attending a water and sewer school three days of this week in Lubbock, Roy Dunlap, city manager, said.

The school began yesterday and will last through tomorrow.

Included in the group from Snyder attending are: Doyle Henricks, city engineer, George Lee, director of public works for the city, Billy Aaron, head operator of the city's water filteration plant, Walter Sellars, water department superintendent, R. L. (Red) Treet, water department employe, Dale Hoyle, plumbing inspector, and Lloyd Holley, sewer plant operator.

The school is being held in the Lubbock Coliseum.

Two Courses Start Tonight

Two courses especially designed for retail merchants and their employes will begin tonight under sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce and the distributive education department of Snyder High School.

The first meeting for the courses will be held at the high school at 7 o'clock tonight. W. G. Bohanan, specialist in display advertising for the University of Texas industrial and business training bureau, will instruct the classes.

Window display will be taught in one of the classes, with enrollment fee $2 per person. The other will be show card lettering at $3.50 per person, with all supplies furnished.

The window display classes will be held nightly from now through Nov. 21 on week nights from 7 to 8 p.m. The show card lettering classes will be on the same nights from 8 to 10 p.m.

Persons wishing to enroll have been asked to appear at the first classes tonight.

U.N. Team Moving In

EL CAP, Egypt (AP)—A team of 12 U.N. men moved into the no-man's - land between the British-French and Egyptian forces entrenched beside the Suez Canal today.

They had been rushed here this morning to undertake the job of supervising the uneasy cease-fire, which has been marked by a rash of shootings from the Egyptian lines in the past few days.

The U.N. team included technicians and nine officers from Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Australia.

One French officer had come with the U.N. party, but he was left behind at Port Said to serve as liaison officer with the British-French task force.

The U.N. men, each wearing the military uniform of his country, came in on a British landing ship sent to pick them up at Haifa.

The U.N. team has its own transport—10 white jeeps with big black letters "U.N." painted on the sides—plus a station wagon and one seden.

Reds Confer On Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP)—Top Soviet officials — believed led by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev — may still be deep in conference here today with Hungary's government on urgent political problems.

It was learned that a large delegation of Soviet Communist leaders had come to Budapest, including A. I. Mikoyan and M. A. Suslov, two top Kremlin trouble-shooters.

There were extremely strong rumors last night that Khrushchev was with the group that has held long meetings with the Janos Kadar government and probably remained with it today.

While the Soviet and Hungarian Communists met, Imre Nagy, deposed as premier at the height of the revolt, remained in refuge at the Yugoslav Embassy. Russian troops guarded the premises and turned away all callers.

(This confirmation of political developments came in the first private telephone call from Budapest to Vienna since the Nov. 4 resumption of the Russian attack on the embattled Hungarian capital.)

A sizable group of Hungarian Communists regarded as in the Imre Nagy camp — which demands independence from Soviet control — are in the Yugoslav Embassy.

In a compromise, Nagy's group might still play a part in efforts to placate an angry nation of 10 million persons, at least 20,000 of whom laid down their lives in an attempt to rid themselves of Russian domination.

The general strike in Hungary is hurting badly, crippling the entire economy of the country. Apparently no workers except those in the basic food industries have gone back to work.

At Gyoer, a rebellious industrial city northwest of Budapest, the workers have declared they will stay away from their jobs until Nagy becomes premier. They also demand that all Russians return to their Warsaw Pact treaty bases in Hungary before work will be resumed, but they do not ask at the moment that all Soviet troops get out of Hungary. Presumably Nagy as premier would negotiate that question.

Daughter To Actress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Gale Storm has added a daughter to her family of three sons. The 6-pound, 9-ounce girl, Susanna, was born yesterday. The father is Lee Bonnell, actor and now an insurance man.

Township Doesn't Need Those Buttons

LITTLE FALLS, N.J. (AP)—This township has all its buttons—unfortunately.

More than 400 two-inch red and white buttons were bought in anticipation of passage of an ordinance requiring food handlers to wear them.

The Board of Health met last night and defeated the proposed ordinance three to one. The buttons, which carry the name of the township and cannot be returned, cost $100.

"I'll never forget the telephone call that rushed a doctor to my mother's bedside."

An Interview With Mrs. Ora Surls by Telephone News Reporter Don Davis

Does any single telephone call stand out in your memory? Mrs. Ora Surls remembers one from 60 years ago as clearly as if it had happened last night.

"I remember the first time I ever used a telephone. It was back in 1895. I was about six years old. My mother was ill and wanted the doctor. We didn't have a phone so I ran to the nearest neighbor who did. I was so scared but when the doctor on the other end of the line answered 'I'll be right over,' it all seemed like a fairy tale to a six-year-old girl."

That's the way Mrs. Ora Surls tells about her most memorable telephone call. It was the first time she experienced the magic of the telephone but certainly not the last.

Meeting Mrs. Surls 60 years later is like bumping into an old friend. She's a warm, friendly person with a keen sense of humor and heaps of patience—qualities she's used to take 67 years of living pretty much in stride.

Coming from a pioneer farming family, Mrs. Surls has had her share of ups and downs. But that's the past. She'd rather count her blessings. She says the telephone is very definitely one of them, calls it her "best friend." She means it.

LARGE FAMILY

Keeping up with her family, which Mrs. Surls treasures above everything, is a big enough assignment in itself. Eleven of her 13 children are living and situated in different parts of the country. With a family of that size, Mrs. Surls has had many memorable telephone calls through the years. Many have brought good news. Many is the time Mrs. Surls has answered the phone and received glad tidings of a new arrival in the family—there are 30 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Other calls Mrs. Surls remembers with sadness. One of these came in 1943, during the war. Three of her boys were in service and one of them, who was headed overseas at the time, called his "Mom" before leaving. "Mother, we fly out at 2 a. m.—overseas duty. Don't worry, I'll be safe. I'll write you soon. Remember, I love you."

That was the last time his mother heard his voice. He was killed on a mission a few months later.

You'd remember calls like these, wouldn't you?

You can't help but see a little bit of everybody in Mrs. Surls' story. That's because the telephone plays such an intimate part in all our daily lives. Probably you've had a telephone call, or calls, you'll never forget. If so, and you'd care to write me about it, I'd like to hear from you. Just address your letter to me, Don Davis, here at the telephone company.

DRIFTWOOD COLLECTOR Dr. Ivor Griffith with his "No Room at the Inn" piece finished with shoe polish.

Collector Says Driftwood May Become Work Of Art

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

AN ORDINARY piece of driftwood may become a work of art says an avid collector, Dr. Ivor Griffith, president and dean of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science.

"You may take your driftwood from salt or fresh water," he says. "If it has been exposed to the constant mulling and grinding of sand and pebbles that help make decompositional changes within the wood itself, you'll have a real find."

Driftwood collecting is a fast growing hobby. Some pieces are especially beautiful, such as one piece I saw recently placed at the side of a house and spotlighted so as to reflect an unusually graceful ballet dancer 20 times the size of the wood. Another collector might use an attractive piece as a lamp base, still another may burn his name in driftwood to make a lovely marker outside his house.

• • •

AMONG TREASURES Griffith located is one he calls "No Room at the Inn." A natural driftwood sculpture that resembles Mary and Joseph, Griffith has used it as the basis of a Christmas card in other years. He found this cedar piece at Upper Saranac Lake in New York, but will not reveal his pet place in the Adirondack mountains that abounds in the driftwood he loves.

An unaltered fire-scarred bottom wood with birch tree fungus became "The Dawn of Thought" and another large piece found in the same region he calls "Death of the Last Great Auk."

"The alert driftwoodsman" says Griffin "knows the instant he sees a grotseque piece of wood what might develop out of it, although occasionally it may be necessary to wait until the return home to exercise the imagination."

Finishing driftwood may be lots of fun, says Griffith. He gets his soggy, clammy, cold wood home and dries it against his fireplace screen. He turns each log to dry uniformly, sort of like toasting frankfurters, although he is careful not to scorch the wood. Drying shrinks it somewhat, he says, and shapes may be altered purposefully by using heavy cord to create tensions as you go.

• • •

IF YOU DECIDE to alter the shape of the wood, remember it should be kept as close to the original as possible. Limit finishing agents to sandpaper, wood file, steel wool, shoe brushes and soft polishing cloths, says Griffith. A saw, hatchet and chisel will just destroy the originality of your piece. He uses No. 20 steel wool, an old flannel shirt minus buttons and shoe polish, which he says is magnificent in light refracting values. It lends the wood a soft, natural glow.

He uses microsheen shoe polishes to get shades from tan to oxblood and exotic shades of blue and green to finish off the driftwood. He suggests too, for those who enjoy bleached driftwood that liquid shoe white will do the trick in jiffy time, working it in with a stiff bristled brush, allowing it to dry and finishing it off with a light wax polish.

Griffith finishes dried forms with sandpaper, using a wood file on unsightly knobs. He uses various grades of steel wool to bring the piece to a smooth satin finish.

Help Of Home Gardeners Is Asked By Snyder Postmaster

Dawson Moreland, Snyder postmaster, advised home gardeners today that for safest delivery of their shrubbery and plants during the current planting season, they should take certain steps to aid deliverymen.

"We have been informed by the Gardening Council of New York that this is the shipping season for nursery stock orders," Moreland said. "Much of the stock is perishable, and without the cooperation of the purchasers and delivering agencies, best results cannot be expected."

The postmaster said there were three steps that purchasers of nursery stock should take:

1. If away or on vacation, make arrangements to have a neighbor accept shipments. Keep moist and in a cool location until planting time. Otherwise, the plants may deteriorate in storage at the Post Office, express or freight station while awaiting delivery.

2. If a neighbor cannot accept delivery, contact the Post Ofice or transportation agent, and leave instructions as to where the plants can be delivered. A cool basement, garage, or shaded porch is always better than a mail room or on-hand department for dormant plants and nursery stock.

3. Best of all, if you are home, have the ground well prepared, and make your planting as soon as possible after delivery. Early planting, liberal watering, and following the sender's instructions will insure best growth of all plant materials.

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

"Boys will be boys." You've heard that expression many times, but just what does it mean?

Boys, on the whole, are more rough and tumble than girls. They get into more mischief and are more daring. To be bolder and more aggressive just seems to be part of being a boy, and girls like it that way.

But does being a boy mean that the masculine sex is entitled to be promiscous and immoral and yet receive society's blessing in the matter-of-fact statement that, "Boys will be boys?"

It is true that a boy may lower his standards and even brag about his experiences and receive a shifty wink from the same society that will brand a girl a tramp who has lowered her standards to the same degree?

Tis said that what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. I say that what is sin, promiscuity, and cheapness is sin, promiscuity, and cheapness regardless which sex commits it.

If a thing is wrong, it is wrong; immorality is immorality.

Boys will be boys, yes. Bolder and stronger and more aggressive they should be. No girl wants a Caspar Milquetoast but neither does the average girl want to date a boy with a loose reputation.

Boys, consider your ideal girl. She is one who is pure and innocent, loyal and true. Those qualities are important to you in choosing the girl who will one day bear your name.

Turn the situation around and look at it from her point of view It is no feather in her cap to catch a boy who is really not worthy of a girl who has kept her reputation spotless and her standards high

No fellows! Boys may be boys but worthwhile girls want a boy who has been a good boy.

Dabbling in dirty water does not make you more masculine; it only makes you dirty.

Northwest P-TA Planning Supper

Northwest Elementary P-TA will hold a fund-raising supper in the school cafeteria tonight.

Chili, beans, coffee and pie will be served. The supper will be held from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

This is the first fund-raising project of the year for the organization. Money will be used mostly for welfare work.

Tickets will sell for 50 cents each for adults and 25 cents each for children. The public is invited to attend.

Cup Dispenser Is Work Saver

Busy housewives have discovered a work saver in a new paper cup dispenser designed to blend with the decor of any kitchen or bathroom. It is made of transparent styrene plastic with a chrome base, and fastens easily to any wall.

Children like to use the gay colored paper cups for orange juice, milk or soda pop, and Mom finds it a joy not to have a constant procession of glasses to wash.

If the dispenser is placed in the kitchen, the cups prove handy for storing refrigerator leftovers, pouring off bacon drippings and many other uses.

You can make fritters with your leftover cooked rice; mix it with a beaten egg and fry in a skillet.

To peel an onion easily, first cut off both the stem and root ends.

The Dictatorial Role

Hitler parlayed a loud voice and a pint-sized army into a big thing when he remilitarized the Rhineland early in his reign. His commander carried secret orders to back down and get out if he met with resistance.

Britain and France were divided on whether to resist, France being in favor thereof but Britain at the time being appeasement-minded. So nothing was done and Hitler went on to bigger and bigger aggressions. His parlay paid off big.

Mussolini was another parlay-player. He could not have fought his way out of a wet paper bag when he went after Haile Selasse of Ethiopia, but weak as he was Haile Selasse made Il Duce scramble for what he got.

Again, a dictator flattened his chances on Western complacency and indifference. The old League of Nations did nothing to discourage him. Then, when Mussolini went up against Greece, the emptiness of his claim to military puissance dissolved into blue smoke—and Hitler had to bail him out.

Same story in Japan. An early slapdown of Tojo's military adventures would have prevented that war by nipping it in the bud. But nobody nipped him.

Abdul Nasser of Egypt is cast in the same dictatorial mold. Had he been content to go slow and organize his gains he might have lifted his country to a secure place among the nations that had won independence and respect. But a dictator is a dictator, and Nasser began to dream dreams. Had he been handled with an iron hand in a velvet glove from the start, instead of kidded along and cozened, there might not be a world crisis today. There was a division of opinion among the powers that might have dealth with him sternly.

In his speech the other day Nasser bragged that two great nations, the U.S.S.R. and the U.S. of A., were "with him."

He developed a beautiful alibi to explain why the Arab nations did not pitch in and help him fight. He had asked them not to do so. That was thoughtful of him, wasn't it? And the Anglo-French air forces had not destroyed his new jets; they just shot up a lot of dummies Nasser had planted on his airfields. In the words of an old frontier song, Rye straw!

The truth probably is that Nasser's so-called brother nations were afraid of him—more afraid of him than of France and Britain.

There is a place for a reborn Egypt in the society of nations. Under responsible leadership it could be prosperous, secure and respected. But under a leader who seems determined to shoot his way to power.

Age Of The Senators

Baby of the new Senate will be Frank Church, Democrat, 32, who defeated Republican Herman Welker in Idaho. Along with eight other newly elected senators, Church's tender years helped to whittle by 103 years the age of the nine men they replaced in the new Congres.

But the over-all age of senators will still be pretty high, 57 years and eight months. That is slightly above the average at the start of the last preceding session in 1954. For the last ten years the average age of senators has ranged from 57 to as high as 58.5 years at the start of each session.

A senator must be 30 years of age upon taking office, though if we recall correctly a young fellow named Rush Holt, from West Virginia, had to wait around some months after being elected before he became 30 and could qualify. An senator also must have been a resident of the country for nine years. This compares with seven years' residence and 25 years of age for members of the House. A President must be a "natural born citizen," and must have resided in the country fourteen years and be 35 years old before he can qualify. Necessarily, a vice president must have the same qualifications.

Perhaps the longer term, six years for senator as compared to two for representatives, helps to explain the relatively high age of members of the so-called "upper branch." Senators don't have to stick their necks out for voters to whack off as often as their fellows in the House, and if a member of the Senate behaves himself fairly well and takes care of his political fences, he stands a good chance for re-election any number of times. That puts age on any man.

None So Blind

Republican Leaders Are Not Exactly Anxious To Get Control Of The Senate

By HOLMES ALEXANDER

WASHINGTON, T. C. — Who controls the Senate? The Democrats are showing a 49-47 majority, but Senator-elect Frank Lausche (D. Ohio) says he may vote with the Republicans. This would create a tie, and Vice President Nixon would break it in favor of the Republicans.

But do the Republicans want control of the Senate? In the course of a morning's stroll around Washington, I have come upon four distinct GOP viewpoints. An Administration spokesman indicated that pressure, including a personal phone call from the President, would be used to persuade Lausche to vote Republican. I know that the phone call technique was used in the 84th Congress on the 1952 Ike-backing Senator Price Daniel (D. Tex.), but Daniel would have none of it. Lausche, however, is not a Democratic loyalist like Daniel. He is a freebooter, and a horse trader who might make a deal with the White House.

The White House wants a Republican-run Senate, but does the Republican Senate leadership want one? The answer here is "No, thanks," because the parliamentary advantages do not compensate for the headaches. The advantages are that the Senate organizers can name the committee chairmen, call the committee meetings, initiate the legislation and control the power of investigation. The headaches are that the Senate organizers also have responsiblilty for what the Senate does or does not do.

In the 83rd Congress, the Republicans under Senator Knowland got blamed for the sad spectacle of the McCarthy hearings. In the 84th Congress, the Democrats under Senator Johnson got charged with do-nothing. Actually, both Knowland and Johnson had nominal majorities, but neither had working majorities because of mid-session deaths and party fence jumpers. The GOP Senators, despite the Administration pressure, would rather not make a deal with Lausche.

There's a third viewpoint, aside from the Senate leadership and the White House. There is a tight little pork barrel of patronage in the Senate Office Building. About 2,000 persons are on the Senate payroll. About 700 of these are civil service employees and cannot be hired and fired at will. But the remainder, including about 800 staff members on the 19 committees, are expendable in the political wars. From that viewpoint, the GOP politicos would like to have Republicans in charge of the Senate.

The fourth viewpoint is more ideological than political. Conservative Republicans expect the 85th Congress to be a battleground where the forces of internationalism and socialism will try to gain new victories. Republican Old Guardsmen would rather control policy than organization. They look upon Lausche, a right-wing Democrat, as an addition to the serried ranks of conservatism. They also welcome the arrival of another Democrat, Herman Talmadge of Georgia, and the return of a former Republican Senator, Chapman Revercomb. These votes will give the Old Guard a "policy" majority in the Senate, no matter which party does the organizing.

One of the show-down battles of the 1957 session will be on Labor legislation. The Democrats pledged in their 1956 platform to "repeal" the Taft-Hartley Act, while the Republicans in their merely promised to "overhaul" it. There's quite a difference. In the past, the Democrats have always had the cheerleaders and whip crackers of the Labor Movement on their side. The Republicans have generally had the industrial leaders on theirs.

But in the 85th Congress the division will be less clear-cut than in any session since World War II. The Democrats will still have Walter Reuther with them, but the Republicans have picked up a number of friendly Laborites in the past few years. Dave Beck of the Teamsters, Harry Lundeberg of the Seafarers, Richard Gray of the Building Trades, Guy Brown of the Locomotive Engineers and Maurice Hutchinson of the Carpenters were all Ike-backers in 1956. The total membership of their unions is over 5 million persons. Thus for the first time the moderate position on Labor legislation will have plenty of Laborite support. This is another hidden strength for the GOP. It helps their "policy" control of the Senate.

Embassy Row Changes Keeping Capital Busy

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Capital society is having a hard timing keeping up with the residents on Embassy Row, saying hello to the newcomers, bidding farewell to their diplomatic predecessors.

Washington instinctively extends a friendly welcome to its new arrivals, whether they represent big or little nations, and always is sad to say goodbye to the departing. Among the last who'll be most missed are Britain's popular Ambassador Sir Roger Makins and his American-born wife who left some weeks ago with their pretty twin daughters, Mollie and Cynthia, to return to England after 10 years in this country. Sir Roger is taking over a new, important post as Great Britain's joint permanent under secretary of the treasury.

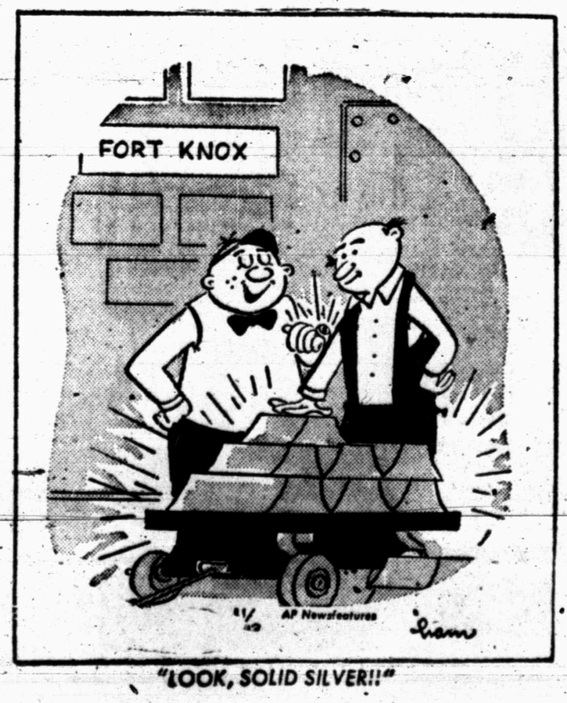

Next year there'll be many more sad adieus when Norway's Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne, who first came to Washington to represent his country in 1910, reaches his 70th birthday and is scheduled to retire. As dean of Washington's diplomatic corps, he and his charming wife, Marjorie, are much beloved and respected by big and little-wigs alike in this many-faceted city.

Some 11 new ambassadors and ministers from four continents have presented their credentials to the President since last June. Three of them represent new nations.

There's Ambassador Ibrahim Anis (pronounced An NEECE) of Sudan, formerly an Anglo-Egyptian co-dominion, which became an independent republic, Jan. 2, 1956. The retired physician, and his wife have five children and are expecting a sixth. Sudan, a nation of from eight to ten million persons, has already purchased an embassy here.

Morocco, formerly a protectorate of France, established its independence last March and has sent as its envoy Ambassador El Mehdi Ben Aboud, who is also a physician. Both he and his wife are young, good-looking and speak fluent English. Tunisia, also a former protectorate of France, establishing its independence last March has sent a charming, witty bachelor — Mongi Slim — as its ambassador. Then there's France's new ambassador Havre Alphand and his chic and talented wife, who are expected to take their place among the capital's top party-givers.

Pollsters Proved Right In Making A Distinction Between Ike And His Party

By WALTER LIPPMANN

This time the professional observers, with no very serious dissenter among them, have long been foreseeing the grand results of the election. There has never been any real doubt that if President Eisenhower was physically able to run again, he would be invincible, what with the prosperity of the country, his personal prestige both in war and in peace, and his achievements as the healer of the internal division of this country.

While Eisenhower was a certainty from the beginning, it was highly probable that the Democratic party would prove again that it is stronger than the Republican party. As this is written, I do not have available definitive returns on the Congressional and gubernatorial elections. But the indications are that the correspondents, the commentators, and the pollsters have been essentially right in distinguishing between Eisenhower and his party. He has had an enormous vote of confidence. The Republicas party has not had one.

The campaign has been clean and decent, but not enlightening or interesting. It takes two to bring on a debate, and the President refused to be provoked into debating anything. Since there was a great contented majority behind him, he did not have to admit that there was any issue to debate. To have admitted that there were issues which were debatable might have been to disturb his majority.

• • •

Since the weekend the international situation may have reached, and perhaps passed, a very dangerous crisis. The Anglo-French intervention in Suez called for quick and decisive results, for an accomplished fact which created a new situation. In fact the intervention was so slow that in the interval — before the landings and while the Egyptian airfields were being bombed — the Eden government found itself in a whirlpool of opposing forces at home and abroad.

At this point the Soviet government saw an opportunity which it promptly seized. It threatened to intervene on the side of Egypt, confident that in much of the world it would find sympathy. By this action the Soviet government has reestablished its position in Egypt and among Egypt's Arab allies. That position would have been lost had the Anglo-French intervention been a quick and complete success.

To this dangerous threat the Eden government has responded by breaking off the military operations at a point where some but not all of its objectives have been achieved. We have responded, as we were bound to do, by warning the Soviet government not to intervene

• • •

The best hope of the world now lies in the plan which has been voted by the United Nations, for an international force to police the occupied territory after the British, French and Israeli armies withdraw. The success of this undertaking is almost certain to depend on whether the Soviet Union really backs it or really opposes it. We can only hope for the best. For the task which is now assigned to the United Nations is far and away the most difficult in all its history, and yet the great powers, whose unanimity is so necessary to any United Nations action, are as never before divided among themselves.

Fortunately, the management of the undertaking is in the hands of Mr. Dag Hammarskjold, as competent, as cool, as astute, and as objective a diplomat as we have seen for many a long day.

Parents Are Nuisances, And Ripe For Liquidation

By INEZ ROBB

These are parlous times, all right, and for no segment of the population more so than for parents.

Within the past three or four months, it has been impossible to pick up a newspaper or magazine that does not contain yet another article on what teen-agers find wrong with the old folks at home. The answer, in one word, is EVERYTHING.

This current editorial preocucupation with the dissection of parents by their offspring shows that the old folks have not one redeeming feature. They are selfish, inconsiderate, dictatorial, noncooperative, stingy, unsympathetic and hopelessly dated.

Parents are either to strict, which gives a kid a sense of claustrophobia, or not strict enough, which gives an adolescent a grave sense of insecurity. They —parents — are either too friendly, i.e., nosy or not friendly enough, i.e., distant and disinterested.

The old folks either trust a child too much, which makes him nervous, or don't trust him enough, which makes him even more nervous. Either they understand their offspring, which is an intolerable affront, or they don't, which is just too utterly, utterly degrading.

Furthermore, parents are fantastically selfish in their demands for use of the family car. Why, you actually think it had been bought for their convenience and comfort in the first place! They think nothing of wanting to use it on Friday and Saturday nights as well as during the week. And unless kids are firm, i.e., obnoxious, the old folks sometimes get away with it, too.

Such is the life and hard times of American teen-agers that it would not surprise me to see them petition the United Nations for relief from their intolerable serfdom. Foreign observers of the American scene who have written endless volumes on the American adolescent as the kingpin of the American home have simply been fooled by surface appearances.

To hear the teen-agers tell it, theirs is a durance vile enough to wring a heart of stone. Scant wonder that never a week passes but that some adolescent expresses his annoyance with his parents by setting fire to them or putting them through the food chopper! Only Lloyds of London would be sufficiently foolhardy today to issue a policy on the lives of any couple that has given hostage to fortune.

As I read these teen-age J'accuses aimed at their sires, only one solution suggests itself. Since the resurgence of totalitarianism in our time and with it the premise that children belong to the state, we Americans have been filled with horror and loathing for both.

But if American parents continue to take such shameless advantage of their children and treat them with such ruthless kindness (including love, free bed, board and dungarees, and the family car on demand), then the only solution is to take kids away from such monsters and give them a break in state institutions.

For, from teen-agers' own printed beefs, it is obvious that parents aren't people. They're just blasted nuisances and ripe for liquidation.

Foreign Aid May Be Ike's Biggest Problem In 1957

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of President Eisenhower's biggest problems in 1957 will be foreign aid. How much and for whom? The turmoil in Eastern Europe and the Middle East has heads spinning here.

Congress, increasingly critical, this year chopped a billion dollars off the foreign aid Eisenhower asked. What it does next year depends on the whole uncertain world picture.

It is perhaps the most confused picture faced by an American president since the aid program began.

Since July 1, 1945, this government has shoveled out more than 31 billion dollars, over 14½ billions of it military.

The purpose under Presidents Truman and Eisenhower has been plain enough: to bolster allies, win friends, and help the neutrals and underdeveloped countries for whom the Communists are bidding hard.

But this year the critical mood in Congress showed itself in several ways:

1. Besides cutting a billion dollars off the $4,759,975,000 Eisenhower asked, Congress banned use of the new funds for military aid to Yugoslavia, although aid funds allotted from previous years still could be used.

2. A Senate committee, a House committe and a special committee appointed by Eisenhower are all now busy investigating foreign aid and will be for months.

Both Truman and Eisenhower thought it money well spent to help Yugoslavia which, although still Communist, broke away from Russian control. Congress choked on the idea but still voted economic and military aid until this year.

Then it said no new military aid. Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), Senate Republican leader, led this fight. He argued that aid to a Communist dictatorship is "disruptive to our whole foreign policy."

Eisenhower thought otherwise. He, like Truman, felt that helping one satellite which broke with Moscow might encourage others to do the same. He still thinks so. And Congress may have to wrestle with this idea all over again.

On Oct. 24, after Poland appeared to have broken at least a little away from Moscow, Eisenhower indicated American readiness to help the Poles or any other satellite people who asserted independence of Moscow and wanted American aid. Right now it isn't clear just how much of a break Poland made.

For a while it also seemed the Hungarians had not only cut loose from Moscow but had overthrown their Communist masters. Then the Russians moved in and slaughtered them. But before this happened Eisenhower offered the Hungarians 20 million dollars in food and other supplies.

Eisenhower has other problems on his hands. For example:

The Middle East and Africa—which have received over four billion dollars in American help—are inflamed at the British-French-Israeli invasions of Egypt. Russia is trying to move in as the Arab's friend and benefactor.

It will take months to find out whether more American help in the Middle East will be needed or wasted. By then the Russians may have a firm foothold there.

Meanwhile, the French-British split with this country — their attack on Egypt — may encourage American isolationists to demand an end to aid for them and everybody else. It seems unlikely Congress will listen to that.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

MUCH ADO ABOUT ME. By Fred Allen. Atlantic-Little, Brown.

More than six months ago Fred Allen, born good Irish Johnny Sullivan in Cambridge, Mass., died. He had just finished this story of his first 30 or 35 years, and he wrote every word of it, according to Edwin O'Connor, another Boston author, with whom he consulted as he went along.

This is the happy story—with Allen and O'Connor both, it would have to be happy — of the man who "might have been the librarian of the Boston Public Library." He also might have been a piano or hardware salesman. Brought up by an aunt, by 10 he had become a stack runner in the library. A book on comedy gave him ideas, he learned to juggle, he performed at amateur nights, he combined quips with the hats he kept spinning in air, and by 21 he was on his way to the Australian circuit as a legitimate actor.

Before he was through he played them all, East and West, Poli to Pantages, and then he conquered Broadway, Hollywood and the air waves.

Once in a while he tries too hard, as when he calls a professor's mouth an "adjective hutch" or says someone "foaled a flat cadenza." But at his best he's very funny—he quit the hardware store and though, as he says, he could have walked out the door, instead, "I made a bolt for it."

But running through the fun in these pages are the fascinating facts—Boston's colorful Scollay's Square, the Thespians' mad roominghouse in New York, the uncertain life on the road, the dealings with sharp managers and agents, the gags you think up and somebody swipes. You'll want this for laughs, you'll save it for the record, for it's an essential document in stage history.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that we've settled the matter of who is president of the United States, let's take up the matter of chief executives of television networks.

Despite rebellions and invasions and elections, several crowned heads and privy councillors of the networks have been much in the news recently. Their goings and comings to and from office have received a full-blown journalistic treatment that must amaze those antedeluvians who still don't own TV sets. It even amazes some post-deluvians who do.

Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver rather set the pace several weeks ago when he resigned as board chairman of NBC. Headlines attended his departure. The bee-hive hum had not long died when Robert E. Kintner tendered his resignation as president of ABC to Leonard H. Goldenson, president of the parent American Broadcasting - Paramount Theatres. Weaver took off for Europe and Kintner for Puerto Rico, both vacationing.

Then Jack L. Van Volkenburg resigned as president of CBS-TV and was succeeded by Executive Vice President Merle S. Jones. Van Volkenburg, who will continue as a board member of CBS, plans to spend some time in the Florida sun.

While the world was digesting this information, Kintner slipped back to New York from Puerto Rico, unheralded, and had a chat with the RCA board chairman. Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff. The next anyone knew, Kintner was appointed an executive vice president of NBC. In case you wonder, by the way, who is now president of ABC, nobody is. Goldenson says he hasn't yet found the right man for the job.

There have also been some vice presidential switches, as I recall, but I can't keep track of them. Nobody ever has kept track of the number of vice presidents who come and go in the network business. But in recent years there must have been hundreds.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

A COUPLE OF JIMMIES, Jimmy Johnson of Levelland and Jimmy Hardin of Sweetwater, join Baylor's Doyle Traylor as the "hardluck" footballers of the 1956 season.

You'll recall Traylor was sidelined for the balance of the season three weeks ago with a broken ankle. It was the third straight year Traylor received a broken bone on the gridiron.

Levelland's Johnson, the Lobos' starting quarterback, missed the Tiger game with a fractured vertebrae. He recovered from that injury, however, and returned to action against Dumas. But Lady Luck frowned on Johnson again as he came up with a broken thumb.

The latter injury has sidelined Johnson for the remainder of the season.

Sweetwater's Hardin has had the hardest time of shaking off the injury jinx than either Traylor or Johnson.

For four straight games now, Hardin has been hauled off in an ambulance to the hospital with head injuries. It all started with the Midland game, we understand, and Hardin followed up with hospital trips during the Lake View, Tiger and Colorado City games.

Hardin, it has been rumored, went against the doctor's orders to play against Colorado City.

So, anything you do there's a danger of getting hurt.

Football Safe Game, Though

We don't intend to stir up any feelings among parents here that football is a tremendously dangerous game. It's just that some have tougher luck than others.

Injuries are frequent in football, to be sure, since it is a bodily contact game. But serious injuries are few and far between.

We know of one kid here who was forbidden to play football by his parents because of the danger involved but this same kid came up with a broken arm on a fall from his bicycle.

The Tiger footballers have now gained better than one mile on the ground in their eight games to date. The Bengals have netted 1,805 yards rushing, 43 yards over the one-mile mark.

That isn't bad for a team who many are saying are "weak" on offense. The average yards per game is 226 yards, another respectable figure.

Hermleigh Lad Is TWC Star

Bermon Corbell of Hermleigh is the fourth leading scorer in the Texas Western College ranks and he hasn't even scored a touchdown.

Corbell has done all his scoring with his toe. He has kicked 21 extra points in 26 attempts and has booted one field goal for 24 points.

Texas Western has already clinched the Border Conference title and Corbell has played a major part in the Miner success. His field goal was the difference as the Miners defeated Texas Tech, 17-14 early in the season.

TWC is a certainty to play in the Sun Bowl in El Paso New Year's Day.

Our thanks to the Snyder Basketball Officials Association for the invite to last night's fine banquet at the West Elementary cafeteria.

The SBOA was overwhelmed by the large turnout of coaches and officials from around the West Texas area. It was such a success that the local assiciation is planning to make it an annual affair.

CAGE OFFICIALS MEET—Jerome Vannoy, center, of Abilene and McMurry College, is explaining some basketball rule changes for the 1956-57 season to officials and coaches attending last night's banquet sponsored by the Snyder Basketball Officials Association at the West Elementary Cafeteria. Looking on, from left, are Don Bruner, president of SBOA; Guy Sullivan, vice-president; Moon Mullins, secretary; Vannoy; Howard Davis, Howard County Junior College coach; J. P. BEFORE TIGER–C-CITY GAME

Pee Wee Stars To Play Friday

The Pee Wee football all-stars will meet in a preliminary game to Friday night's Tiger-Colorado City game at Tiger Stadium.

The Pee Wee game will start at 6 p.m. with the Tiger-Colorado game set for 7:30.

Guy Sullivan, director of the Pee Wee program, has asked that all boys chosen on the two all-star teams to report to the old fieldhouse on the Tiger practice field Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. for a picture.

Fifty boys have been chosen to play in the game. The group will be divided into 25-player squads. Bill Valentine and Bob Beams will coach one team with Furman Guinn and N. A. Tate the other.

The teams will be announced at Wednesday's meeting. Following are the 50 boys who have been chosen to play in the game:

Jimmy Wilson, Eddie Kirby, Wayne Key, Pat La Fountain, Jay Williamson, Tim Roberts, J. N. Walls, James Sellers, Lynn Ward, John Floyd, Loyd Lizakoswoski, Roy Taylor, Bruce Brooks, Jerry Kruse, Doyle Reed, Gale Potter, John Boyd, Howard Dean, Kirby McCravey, Bobby Hart, Jerry Beard, Darrell Aldridge;

Berry Tops 800 In Total Offense

Tiger Quarterback Powell Berry shot past the 800-yard mark in total offense (rushing and passing yardages combined) in last Friday's game with the Lake View Chiefs.

Berry has gained 423 net yards rushing and has passed for 387 more paces for a combined 810 yards. In addition, Berry has averaged 40.7 yards on 20 punts and has scored five touchdowns for 30 points.

Three Tigers are now above the 300-yard mark in rushing. In addition to Berry, Tommy Prichard has gained 333 yards and Bill Fowler 304.

Three other Tigers are above the 100-mark, Bobby Joines with 173, Bobby Pollard with 171, and Mickey McGrew with 163.

Overall, the Tigers have netted 1803 yards on the ground for an average of 226 yards per game.

Ronnie Smith, Berry's understudy, has the best passing percentage of players with 10 or more passes thrown. Smith has tossed 16 and completed 9 for a .562 percentage. Smith's aerials have accounted for 178 yards and 3 touchdowns.

Berry has completed 18 of 47 for 387 yards and 6 touchdowns.

End Milton Ham went over the 300-mark in pass receiving. Ham has caught 16 aerials for 313 yards and six touchdowns.

Ham also leads the Tigers in scoring with 39 points on 6 TD's, 1 safety and 1 conversion point.

The Tigers' total offense to date is 2,461 yards for an average of 308 yards per game.

Following is the Tiger offensive chart:

Aggie Fate To Be Determined Today

DETROIT (AP) — College athletic officials, mindful of the plight of 11 wayward schools, waited apprehensively today for possible new crackdowns by the powerful council of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

The council, policy directing body of the NCAA, was expected to announce about 5 p.m. EST any disciplinary action against member schools accused of violating the NCAA code. Penalties against the offending schools would ban each school against participation in all events sponsored by or affiliated with the NCAA.

The council also was expected to act on requests by Texas A&M and the University of Miami to review penalties that would keep their football teams from accepting any post-season bowl bids.

Texas A&M and Miami are ranked fifth and eighth respectively and both are considered prime candidates for bowl games on Jan. 1. Both are on probations that carry into 1957 for extending unauthorized aid to athletes.

The 16 members of the 18-man council who attended the opening session yesterday heard a report by the NCAA's infractions committee, which reviewed its latest investigation of accused violators of NCAA regulations.

Chairman A. D. Kirwan, a faculty representative from the University of Kentucky, delivered the report, which was not made public. Kirwan revealed, however, that his committee had checked on a larger number of reported violations this year than at any other time in recent years.

IN NATIONAL GRID POLL

Tennessee Pulls Into No. 1 Spot

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

Tennessee and Oklahoma came down to the wire in a photo finish in this week's Associated Press football poll but the final closeup showed Tennessee the No. 1 team by two points.

Tennessee's strong runner-up support overcame Oklahoma's wide edge in first-place votes. The final count: Tennessee, 1,446; Oklahoma, 1,444.

Sports writers and sportscasters voting on the usual basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc., gave Oklahoma 92 firsts to 58 for Tennessee. But Tennessee led 75-34 in second-place ballots.

Tennessee was a 6-0 winner over Georgia Tech Saturday. Oklahoma beat Iowa State 44-0.

Michigan State nosed out Georgia Tech (No. 4) and the Texas Aggies (No. 6) for third place with 993 points.

The other teams in the top 10 in order were Ohio State, Iowa, Miami, Syracuse and Michigan.

The top teams with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Tennessee (58)	1,446
2.	Oklahoma (92)	1,444

Light Drills Held In SWC Grid Camps

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M meets Rice this weekend with a chance to clinch a tie for the Southwest Conference football championship.

The Aggies, with only a tie to mar their record this season, are strong favorites.

SMU, with a defeat by A&M on its conference record, meets Arkansas. TCU, also beaten by A&M but with a chance at the title, tries Texas.

Both SMU and TCU have a good chance at the Cotton Bowl if A&M's NCAA probation isn't lifted.

The Aggies worked lightly in sweat clothes Monday. Coaches said movies of the SMU game showed guard Dee Powell and back H. B. Taylor as the top players. Taylor was a key blocker.

The 14 Rice players who saw the most action against Arkansas held a light workout in shorts. The reserves scrimmaged against Aggie plays.

Coach Jess Neely said rough work would begin Tuesday.

SMU worked on the attack it will use against Arkansas. The workout was light, with the players running through the assignments at half speed.

Arkansas watched a movie of its victory over Rice, then ran through some simulated SMU plays. Coach Jack Mitchell said his Razorbacks were in good spirits.

The Texas Longhorns worked on pass patterns with the players in sweat shirts. A backfield of quarterback Joe Clements, halfbacks Walt Fondren and Clair Branch and fullback Jimmy Welch was expected for the TCU game.

Baylor, which plays Nebraska this week, ran through a light Monday workout. The Bears nipped Texas 10-7 Saturday.

QUARTERBACKERS MEET TONIGHT

The Snyder Quarterback Club will hold its weekly meeting tonight at the high school cafeteria, starting at 7:30.

Tiger coach John Conley and his staff will report on last week's games and a scouting report on Colorado City, this week's Tiger foe, will be given.

A movie of the Tiger-Lake View game will be shown.

All sports fans of the city are invited to be on hand for the meeting.

Morse Optimistic On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said today he is more optimistic than before about achieving "a truly bipartisan foreign policy," and that he intends to help in working it out.

Morse, who has been critical of the Eisenhower administration on some foreign policy questions, told newsmen of his more hopeful view after attending a secret briefing yesterday on the international situation.

He was one of 11 members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at the session with top administration officials.

The officials included Acting Secretary of State Hoover; Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency; Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; and Arthur S. Fleming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Most committee members left the session close-mouthed, although some said they heard little more than "what you read in the papers." But several of the Democrats said it appeared that the administration was placing full reliance on the United Nations to meet every emergency situation now flaring up abroad.

That attitude reportedly would extend even to meeting the situation that would arise if, as one senator put it, the Russians were to move "10,000 or 20,000 volunteers" into Egypt.

But Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said any such Soviet move should be met by U. S. military action. He predicted President Eisenhower eventually would make it clear that use of Soviet forces in the Middle East could not go unchallenged.

U. S. reliance on the United Nations was further emphasized with reports that the administration has told Britain and France it opposes any meeting of the Big Three heads of government over the Suez crisis at this time. Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen yesterday there are "no plans at the moment" for such a conference.

Morse said that in the past he had felt the Eisenhower administration wants a truly bipartisan foreign policy and the Democratic party has the duty to cooperate.

He said Democrats "should not be rubber stamps" for the administration, and should be allowed to give their ideas in advance rather than be told of decisions only after they are made.

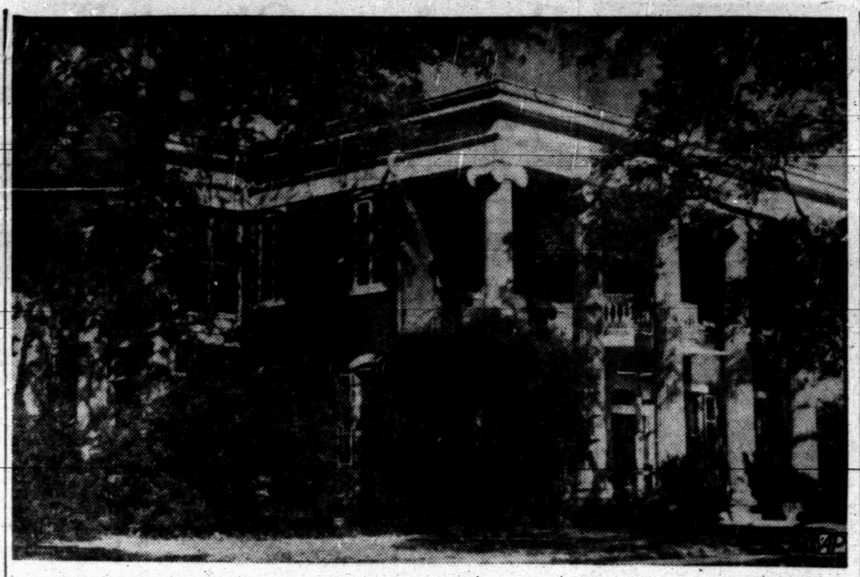

"But once the policy is set," he asserted, "we should all get behind it, and that's what I intend to do."

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said the meeting left with him the impression that in Egypt, the administration plans to rely on the United Nations for a short-term solution but "there doesn't appear to be any long-range foreign policy." He added:

"The purpose seems to be to reach immediate objectives, and then to start looking to the long-range plans."

Chairman George (D-Ga) made it clear after the session he felt silence was the best policy.

"I think the situation over there can and will be worked out" if "all of us don't say anything that will make it more difficult," George said.

"GOVERNOR PEASE MANSION"—Gov. and Mrs. Allan Shivers announced in Austin they had purchased the 103-year-old historic house there known as the Governor Pease Mansion. Shivers said some remodeling would be needed but the house would be preserved in as near its original state as practicable and that his family would take possession after the first of the year. The house was built in 1853-54 by Abner Cook, who also built the state mansion.

Ineffective Fire Extinguishers Sold

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sale of "practically worthless devices" for the control of fires is increasing, the International Assn. of Fire Chiefs has been told. Percy Bugbee, spokesman for the National Fire Protection Assn., said unreliable devices are sold for home fire extinguishers and home fire alarm systems and that "numerous reports of downright frauds have come to our association."

CIGARETTES NOT BLAMED

Lung Cancer Report Made

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Most lung cancers are not caused by cigarettes, but instead apparently by fumes and chemicals from our industrial, motorized age, a cancer expert said today.

Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute said he bases his opinion on worldwide studies by many scientists.

He said this evidence indicates the alarming increase in lung cancer is probably due mostly to fumes, dust, gases and various chemicals in the air we breathe, or to which people are exposed on some jobs.

Smoking seems to play "a definite, while lesser, direct or indirect role," in producing lung cancers, he said. He said the total evidence doesn't support the concept that the great majority of lung cancers, especially in men, are due to excessive cigarette smoking.

Some of the chemicals released into the air by engines and smokestacks, or produced in certain industrial operations, are known to be able to produce cancers in animals, he said.

He said there isn't enough data to estimate the relative role they may have played in the rise in lung cancer.

The jump in lung cancer began before cigarette smoking became commonplace, Hueper, head of the Environmental Cancer Section of the NCI, told the American Public Health Assn.

Grip Of Demos On Louisiana May End

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—President Eisenhower's victory in Louisiana, the first for a Republican in 80 years, may signal an end to this Deep South state's die-hard devotion to the Democratic party.

Republicans, however, are not much closer to organizing state politics into a two-party battleground because the vote was a show of independence rather than a switch in party preference.

That's the meaning of last Tuesday's vote, according to the state's newspapers and veteran political observers.

In 1952, Democrat Adlai Stevenson held Louisiana by 38,000 votes despite then Gov. Robert Kennon's active opposition.

This year, the state went to Eisenhower by more than 75,000 votes although on the surface the Democratic party was united.

A number of reasons are possible:

1. A poorly financed Democratic campaign, hampered by squabbling between backers of Gov. Earl Long and the anti-Long factions.

2. A heavy anti-Long vote, possibly reaction to Long's high-pressure tactics in the 1956 Legislature that extended into the presidential election. Long was slapped down hard on several state issues at the same time.

3. A switch of as much as 50 per cent in the Negro vote, which went about 98 per cent for Stevenson in 1952. Negro leaders termed it a "protest vote" against white supremacy tactics of Southern Democrats.

4. The Suez crisis. States Rights leaders say it cost them many votes . . . "The people were afraid to hurt Mr. Eisenhower's chances."

5. A well-organized, heavily financed Republican campaign.

A top Stevenson leader said after the votes were counted:

"We could have held Louisiana for Stevenson. But we'd have had to put on a lot stronger campaign, spent a lot more money. We didn't have that kind of money. Even so, I thought Stevenson would carry the state by a narrow margin."

The Baton Rouge Morning Advocate said the election gave two-party hopes "another shot in the arm. But the basic problem facing the Republicans remains the same that it was in 1952.

"The Republican problem is how to convert more of those who voted Republican in the last two presidential elections into Republicans at the state politics level. . . . The experience of the past four years has shown it isn't too easy."

Action On Vote Delayed

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Three Duval County commissioners voted yesterday against certifying the election of George Parr as sheriff and Amando Garcia Jr., as county clerk. A fourth commissioner, Mrs. O. D. Bairrington was absent.

T. H. Molina, a commissioner, said the action was taken because of the opinion of the Texas attorney general that any person owing money to the county, state or federal government can not be certified as an election winner.

Molina said Garcia, now county clerk, has been indicted on a charge of misappropriation of school funds.

"We are going to hold up certification until they prove they do not owe money," Molina said. He said he and the other commissioners have not discussed who would fill the offices.

What puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of FORD?

Here's what puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of Ford!

It's the sculptured look. You'll see it the moment you let your eyes wander over this fine car. In a '57 Ford you belong . . . anywhere.

It's the long, lean lines. There's a greyhound grace to the new Ford. No useless "fat," no showy "padding." Ford is as trim as a jet fighter.

It's the hardtop styling. Fairlane Club and Town Sedans have the hardtop look of Ford Victorias! In these Fairlane beauties, superthin, superstrong center pillars are smartly concealed by bright-metal window frames . . . to give hardtop beauty when doors are closed.

It's the freedom of choice. Colors? Fabrics? Accessories? Far more than that! Ford gives you a choice of two new, bigger sizes . . . longer, lower, roomier!

It's the ride that stays gentle. With a new frame that rides sweeter and lower, new springs, new suspension all around, even the rudest roads can't ruffle the poise of the new Ford.

It's the Thunderbird power. Ford celebrates its Silver Anniversary of V-8 leadership with the biggest selection of V-8's in Ford history.* In addition to all this Thunderbird GO, there's a new and more powerful Mileage Maker Six.

Just looking at this Fairlane Club Sedan is a special kind of fun!

It's the record-breaking performance. On the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah, a '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days . . . an average speed of 108.16 mph, including all pit stops! Another Ford averaged over 107 mph. Altogether, 458 national and international performance records were smashed as Ford rewrote the record book.

It's the big dollar value that lasts and lasts. Styled for tomorrow, a new Ford keeps its value longer. And wonder of wonders, all this extra strength, extra beauty, extra length is yours at low Ford prices!

*Included is a special 270-hp Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine available at extra cost. Also, an extra-high-performance Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 delivering up to 285 hp.

Wise man say: "Don't wait for TOMORROW when you can get it today!"

Testimony Heard In Trial Of Parr

HOUSTON (AP)—Testimony in the mail fraud trial of George Parr and eight Duval County associates said yesterday several checks issued in 1951 by the Benavides School District were of a numerical series not generally in use until 1954.

All are accused of mail fraud concerning the district's tax funds.

Supt. W. F. Reed of the Freer schools, a division of the Benavides District, testified checks for purported work at his school were of the 19,000 series.

"In 1952, payment was made in checks of about the 13,000 series," he said. "We did not get into the 19,000 series until about 1954."

Almost a dozen government witnesses testified they had never seen redeemed checks issued to persons of their names.

Joe Vaello, Benavides banker, school board trustee, testified he knew of no "separate" work done by individuals while his company was building a school cafeteria and band buildin gin 1949 and 1950.

Vaello testified he accepted appointment to the school board after a night consultation with Parr and D. C. Chapa, former tax collector for the district.

Vaello said his company handled all construction on the buildings. He said work on sidewalks, excavations, ground levelling and a sprinkling system for which checks of more than $2,000 were issued to separate contractors, was never done.

The banker said he joined the school board Feb. 10, 1954, when four trustees resigned on advice of their attorneys.

Parr was not a member of the board, but the government alleges school district checks to fictitious persons were handled through banks which he headed.

Renaldo Maldonado, 17, testified that he knew nothing of a $589.50 check issued in 1950, when he was 11, to a person of his name for installation of a sewer line.

"Are you sure you weren't in the sewer business in 1950?" Percy Foreman, the defense, asked.

Surgeons To Remove Eye Of Youngster

BOSTON (AP)—Surgeons at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary prepared today to remove the cancerous right eye of 3-year-old Carol Ann Molinaro before she is deprived of the sight of her left eye.

Little Carol Ann does not know the seriousness of her plight. She thought her tearful father brought her to the hospital yesterday so she could be treated for a cold.

Before leaving her home in East Boston, the tot asked her mother if her favorite doll, Rose Ann, could see her.

Mrs. Joseph Molinaro, 25, fought back the tears and replied: "Yes, dear, Rose Ann can see you."

Then the mother turned to her unemployed husband and prayed: "Please, God, let Carol Ann see the doll when she comes home."

Mrs. Molinaro said doctors told her that there is a better than even chance that the infection will be checked by the operation.

"If prayers help," she added, "the odds in our favor are way up."

The child's father lost his job as a pants presser several weeks ago and the mother has been working in an electric light bulb factory near their home.

Car Collides With 50-Ton Army Tank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A car collided head on with a 50-ton Army tank on U. S. 33 yesterday. Of course, the car got the worst of the deal.

The sheriff's office said Miss Nancy Boehm, 19, was charged with failing to maintain a clear distance ahead. Miss Boehm was driving the car, deputies said, and although its front end was demolished, she escaped injury.

The sheriff's office said Miss Boehm's car collided with the rear of a stopped auto, apparently throwing it into the opposite lane, into the path of the oncoming tank. The tank, unscathed, continued on to a Veterans Day parade in downtown Columbus.

Picketing Barred In Dallas County

DALLAS (AP)—Dist. Judge F. B. Davenport granted yesterday a temporary injunction which bars Dallas General Drivers, Warehousemen and Helpers, Local, 745, from picketing some 240 county grocery stores.

The grocers complained such picketing was illegal. Davenport ruled on the application of the grocers that picketing of their stores as a result of an Aug. 27 strike against the warehouse of the Associated Wholesale Grocery, from which the stores buy many of their supplies, would be secondary picketing.

Oil Pipeline Is Blown Up

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A Western firm's idle pipeline from the Iraq oil fields to Israel's Mediterranean port of Haifa was blown up in two places during the night, Jordan announced today.

The government said it had ordered an investigation to find out why oil was running through the pipeline—supposedly out of use since the 1948 Palestine War.

The official announcement did not say who blew up the pipeline or why. It gave this account:

Oil was seen leaking from the pipeline as a result of normal damage. Later, explosions wrecked the line in two places south of Irbid, Jordan. A huge fire followed the explosions.

No mention was made of an investigation of the explosions.

Arab nationalists wrecked another pipeline carrying Middle East oil across Syria to the Mediterranean following the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The pipeline is owned by British, American, French and Dutch interests.

Booster Of Kennedy Planning Campaign

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pioneer booster of FDR for president says he is forming an association to acquaint California, Oregon and Washington Democratic voters "with the talents of Massachusetts' U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy."

Atty. Patrick J. Cooney, who said he incorporated a Franklin D. Roosevelt for President association in California in November 1930, two years before Roosevelt was elected, said:

"Kennedy, a former congressman and ex-Marine, with a terrific war record in the South Pacific, is sure to be heard from."

Cease-Fire Called 'Only A First Step'

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said today the cease-fire in Egypt is "only a first step" and there is still danger the conflict will spread.

Izvestia again voiced the readiness of the Russians to fight as volunteers on the side of Egypt again Britain, France and Israel. "All peoples, specially the peoples of the East, understand that war against Egypt is only one phase of the over-all imperialist conspiracy against all nations which have broken the shackles of colonial slavery," the government organ said.

Soviet Union Refuses To Deliver Crude Oil

TEL AVIV (AP)—A well-informed source said today the Soviet Union is refusing to deliver crude oil in trade agreement between the two Israel despite a long-standing nations.

The source said the Israeli tanker Yamsuf had messaged from Odessa stating that Soviet authorities had refused it a permit to load. Before Israel's attack on Egypt, which the Russians have assailed, the Yamsuf had been hauling 30,000 tons of crude oil from Odessa every two weeks.

Fire Sweeps Through Buildings At College

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — Fire swept through three buildings at Williams Woods College late last night but the shouts and screams of house mothers roused about 160 girls and they scrambled out unhurt.

Robert Martin, public relations director at the girls' school, reported all were accounted for. He estimated damage at more than $365,000 but said it will cost close to a million to restore the lost facilities.

Russians Given Warning By Gruenther

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, the outgoing NATO commander, today warned the Soviet Union that any attack on the West would be met with instant retaliation and that Russia would be destroyed.

Answering what he called "threats and blackmail," Gruenther told a farewell news conference that rockets could not destroy the Atlantic Alliance's ability to retaliate.

Although he did not mention Soviet Premier Bulganin by name, he was clearly referring to the Russian's implied warning to France and Britain a week ago that more powerful nations could attack them with "rocket techniques" unless they ended their attack on Egypt.

Gruenther said:

"No nation is going to press that (rocket) button if it means suicide and it does mean just that . . .

"Retaliation will take place as day follows night, and the Soviet Union will be destroyed."

Gruenther, who has commanded the NATO forces in Europe since shortly after President Eisenhower took office, turns over his post Nov. 20 to U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad. He is to retire from the Army Dec. 31 and become president of the American Red Cross the following day.

The Allied supreme commander said air defense developments during the next five years could change the fear of retaliation that at present prevents any nation from launching rocket warfare.

"But today the offense still has a tremendous advantage over the defense and we have that offensive capability," he said.

Gruenther said the crises in Hungary and the Middle East have not called for any change in NATO's plans.

He said his headquarters always has placed a big question mark on the reliability of the Soviet satellite armies in event of war.

He also indicated some doubts about the existence of Soviet rockets.

Questioned about reports that Soviet planes and weapons had been reaching the Middle East, Gruenther conceded there had been some movement of equipment. But he added:

"There has not been any movement of Soviet air force units, so far as we are able to tell, beyond units sent unde rthe Soviet aid program to Egypt. If there have been flights over Turkey, (a NATO member), they have not at this time been extensive."

Crews Will Carry Arms

TAMPICO (AP)—Fishing boat owners and crew members in a mass meeting yesterday voted unanimously to carry arms to "protect themselves from pirate fishing boats."

Jose Mendez, owner of the "Golfo No. 3" said foreign boats were heavily armed and Mexican vessels must be armed also. He said crew members would carry pistols and rifles.

The meeting was called shortly after four foreign boats were reportedly sighted close to shore. The boats were identified as the Princess, Cameron Kay, Valley and Capitan Pite.

The Coast Guard boat G-28 said when it went to the scene, the boats had gone.

Los Angeles Now Noiser Than Ever

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's four times noisier in Los Angeles than it was 20 years ago. At this rate, in another 20 years the racket will be "virtually lethal," says Dean Vern O. Knudsen, UCLA vice chancellor.

Addressing the third West Coast Noise Symposium, Knudsen suggested heavier home insulation and as a last resort, ear plugs.

Duchess And Duke Visiting

LONDON (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived today for their first visit to Britain together since 1953. There were expectations the British royal family's 20-year boycott on the divorcee duchess was about to end.

A double row of police held back about 100 women as the former King Edward VIII and the American-born woman for whom he abdicated arrived at Victoria Station from their home in France.

Shouts of "God bless the duchess" and "Don't go away again" greeted the couple.

Although the duke has said the trip is purely private, there have been persistent reports that the duchess would be received by Queen Elizabeth II, opening the door for the couple to live at least part of the time in Britain.

7 Children Hospitalized

BALTIMORE (AP)—Seven youngsters remained in University Hospital today, one still seriously ill, with an intestinal ailment which killed a 4-year-old brother and made three others sick.

Doctors said they believed the 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown were the victims of "some form of ptomaine poisoning that they got from something they ate or from a carrier in the family."

The parents were not ill.

Darrell Brown, 2, was taken sick last Friday. Yesterday, Rickey 4, became sick died en route to the hospital. A short time later the other nine members of the Negro family complained of feeling sick and Mrs. Brown took them all to the hospital.

PRESIDENTIAL TWINS—Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Heffner of Corpus Christi beam proudly at their election-day newcomers, twin sons Dwight Eisenhower (right) and Richard Nixon Heffner. The twins were born—and optimistically named—nine hours before the polls closed on the presidential race.

Ground Fog Extends Over Wide Section

By The Associated Press

Air from the south flowed moisture over Texas Tuesday, causing ground fog along most of the coast and as far inland as Lufkin.

Generally clear skies were forecast, however, with warmer temperatures in the north and west.

Dawn temperatures Tuesday ranged from 68 at Galveston down to 35 at Lubbock.

Highs Monday ran from 86 at Alice to 61 at Dalhart.

Clear and cold weather prevailed in most of the eastern half of the nation today, but some warning was indicated for the mid-continent.

The cold air extended from the Atlantic Coast westward to a line through central Mexico, but did not include the southern half of the Gulf Coast states.

Temperatures in the frosty belt ranged from around freezing in the north to near 50 in southwestern Texas.

There was a warming trend from eastern Montana through northwestern Kansas. A general warming was indicated during the day from the Ohio Valley westward to the eastern Dakotas and southward through Texas and the Gulf Coast states.

New England will have cold and snow flurries.

Murder Trial Jury Picked

PALO PINTO, Tex. (AP)—A jury was expected to be completed today in the trial of a husband accused of slaying a minister.

Walter Vaughn of Denver City, Tex., is charged with shooting the Rev. Chester Stevens to death Dec. 17 at Weatherford. Mrs. Vaughn called the slaying "justified" at the time.

Vaughn was a former member of the Denver City Baptist Church where the Rev. Stevens was pastor before he went to Weatherford.

Seven jurors, including a housewife, were qualified for the death penalty at the opening of the trial yesterday.

Rev. Stevens was shot six times in the head and chest outside his home at Weatherford.

Five-Day Operation Staged By Marines

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Twenty thousand Marines, employing the new scatter-and-attack concept of atomic warfare, pushed inland today to take Camp Lejeune back from a hypothetical enemy.

Operation Readiness, launched by the 2nd Marine Division, is being conducted without U.S. Navy units, withdrawn since the Middle East and Hungarian disturbances.

The five-day operation, being staged over a 200-square-mile area of Camp Lejune and old Camp Bayliss, emphasizes smaller field units, deployed while attacking to minimize the effect of atomic retaliation.

50 Million Dollar Building Plan Okayed

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Directors of state hospitals and special schools yesterday approved a 50 million dollar building plan to be presented to the Legislature when it convenes in January, a board member said.

Also approved was a proposed 11 million dollar program for improvement on existing buildings in the system in the next biennial.

Dr. Raleigh Ross, an Austin surgeon, was elected chairman of the board and Dr. James Wooten of Columbus was elected vice president.

Bus Is Ambushed

ALGIERS (AP)—Nationalist rebels ambushed two buses east of Oran last night, killing seven Europeans and kidnaping an unknown number of Moslems.

Demo 'Whip' Push Is On

WASHINGTON (AP)—A boom was under way today to name Sen. Mansfield of Montana as the Senate's Democratic "whip" — the legislative term for assistant leader.

There was no sign of opposition. Most Democrats seemed to take it for granted that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas would get another term as floor leader.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) set off the boom by announcing that he was stepping aside from any consideration for the post and hoped it would go to Mansfield. Smathers said Johnson had asked him to consider taking the whip post after Sen Earle Clements of Kentucky, who now holds the post, was defeated for re-election.

Quickly on the heels of Smathers' statement came announcements by Senators Hayden (D-Ariz) and Green (D-RI) backing Mansfield.

Mother Of 9 Faces Charge

ELLSWORTH, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. Jane Marie Spengler, 38, mother of nine children, is charged with slaying her husband with a shotgun before the eyes of their horrified youngsters.

Sheriff Roy Simonson said Mrs. Spengler told him she fired the shot Sunday night during an argument.

Simonson quoted the mother as saying she loaded the 12-gauge gun and her husband Earl, 45, remarked, "Go ahead and pull the trigger, if you want to."

Mrs. Spengler told Simonson she discharged the gun but "didn't mean to shoot him."

Mrs. Spengler was held without bond for a hearing Nov. 20 after arraignment on a first-degree murder charge.

Sheriff Simonson said the nine children, ranging from 6 months to 15 years, would be taken by Mrs. Spengler's parents.

Six Persons Killed In Headon Accident

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Two automobiles crashed headon and killed six persons yesterday on U. S. Highway 66 two miles north of Victorville. There were no survivors.

Killed in one car were the driver, Mrs. Loraine Ann Gibbs, 25, Adelanto, Calif.; her husband, Sgt. Charles H. Gibbs, 24, stationed at George Air Force Base here; their 11-month-old daughter Judith Anna, and Normajean Muse, 7, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Richard Muse, Adelanto.

Victims in the other car were the driver, Bobby Gene Blankenship, 26, Oro Grande, Calif., and Arnulfo Chavez, 22, Victorville.

Services Held For East Texas Oilman

TYLER (AP) — Funeral services were held yesterday for Bobby Manziel, 51, East Texas oilman who was a sparring partner of Jack Dempsey. He died Friday.

Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, and State Atty. Gen. Shepperd were among the pall bearers.

He and Dempsey were partners in a million dollar sportatorium, Manziel Coliseum, now being built in Tyler. Dempsey helped stake Manziel to his first successful wildcat oil well.

Marine Is Facing Mistreatment Count

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—Marine Pfc. Frederick A. Renton, 19, of New York City is scheduled to go on trial by court-martial here tomorrow on charges of mistreating recruits at this training depot.

As a junior drill instructor, Renton allegedly caused recruits to beat other members in their platoon and struck several recruits himself.

One recruit accused Renton of inflicting a scalp wound that required medical attention.

Killed By Charge

CHICAGO (AP) — Martin Ritchie, 15, spent all day fashioning a 5½-foot dummy intended to resemble Elvis Presley. Last night he climbed a utility pole to hang Presley in effigy, short-circuited a line and was killed by a 5,000-volt charge of electricity.

Hungarian Revolt Costly To Russia

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union will be paying through the nose for a long time for suppressing the Hungarian revolution.

Kremlin leaders probably do not yet realize the extent to which their conduct has undermined Soviet international authority and prestige—and perhaps even the basis of their power at home.

Here are some of the consequences now being reckoned up against the Soviet Communist Party for armed intervention in Hungary:

1. In Western Europe and elsewhere outside the Communist bloc the entire Communist movement blow. Many Reds are quitting their parties in protest against the massacre of Hungarian workers. Many nonparty members who supported the Reds at the polls can be expected to shift their allegiance.

2. Soviet relations with Yugoslav President Tito will inevitably be worsened. The Soviet Communist chieftains will tend to blame the Hungarian rebellion on "Titoism" — while the Yugoslav Communist will blame them on Moscow's policies.

3. The determination of the National Communists who now control the Polish Communist Party to throw off completely the remnants of Moscow's domination will be greatly increased.

4. Soviet difficulties in maintaining domination over East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania will be greatly complicated. Discontent presence of Sovet troops and Sovet economic policies can be expected to continue to increase in all the satellites.

5. Inside the Soviet Union, it is reasonable to assume, the authority of the Soviet government over the Soviet people will be damaged. Factional quarrels inside the Communist Party leadership probably will become more acute.

The Soviet leadership may finally learn the hard way — as many other colonial powers before have learned — that attempts to keep discontented and hostile colonies with naked force often cost much more than the colonies are worth.

Labor Move Is Predicted

DALLAS (AP)—Labor columnist Victor Riesel said yesterday that labor will completely dominate the Democratic Party by 1960.

Riesel, blinded last spring by an acid-throwing gangster whose attack was believed inspired by Riesel's exposes of racket-controlled unions, made the remarks at a press conference. He will speak at the Texas Manufacturers Assn. convention today.

He said labor will resume its drive to unionize Southern workers and that labor will have more success in the South this time than it has had in the past.

He said organized labor helped re-elect President Eisenhower but helped defeat Republicans running for Congress.

He said labor will take control of the northern Democratic Party, at least, by 1960. He said political realignment there will be almost complete by then.

Riesel said he could not predict how Texas' two congressional leaders—Senate Majority Leader Johnson and House Speaker Rayburn—will fare in the remade party. Labor doesn't like either one, said Riesel, and probably doesn't feel it could work well with either.

It May Be Crowded

ENUMCLAW, Wash. (AP)—If Kenneth Huber and his new wife get together with all their children, it's going to be plenty crowded. Huber, widower and father of 10, married Mrs. Adele Zane this week. Mrs. Zane, a widow, has four children and is stepmother to eight orphans she and her late husband raised.

Order Given For Return Of Ballots

LAREDO (AP)—An order to return impounded Zapata County general election ballots to that border county for counting was issued yesterday by Federal Judge James Allred.

The action followed a hearing in which the federal government sought a temporary injunction because of alleged irregularities in the absentee voting. Zapata County Republicans charged that persons who had lived in Mexico for years have voted absentee in county elections.

Deputy U.S. Marshal Joe Davis and deputy county clerk Alphonso Alamia were directed by Allred to take the ballots to Zapata, turn them over to the canvassing board for counting and return the ballots to Laredo after they are counted.

About 1,700 eligible voters are in Zapata County where the 683 absentee ballots were cast.

The ballots were ordered placed in the vault of the Union National Bank in Laredo after being counted.

An earlier order by Dist. Judge R. D. Wright of Laredo had specified the Laredo National Bank. So many impounded ballot boxes were placed in that bank recently that there is no more room in its vaults.

Allred allowed both sides two weeks in which to file briefs bearing out their claims.

An attorney for the county, Gordon Gibson, claimed that federal courts have no jurisdiction. Allred agreed the suit would have major consequences if it is ruled that federal courts do have jurisdiction.

WORLD WAR I DREAM COMES TRUE—Standing in drizzling rain under Paris' Arch of Triumph, Hartley Edwards sounds taps on a bugle—the same one he used on July 14, 1919, to sound taps at the same place. Edwards then was a member of a crack drum and bugle corps formed by Gen. John J. Pershing. At left is his wife who accompanied him from Denison, Texas. The ceremony was part of the observance of Veterans Day.

Deer Jump In Window

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Andrew Shafer of suburban Carnegie, about 10 miles from midtown Pittsburgh, was just about to return to bed after sending her husband off to work when she heard a terrific crash near the front door. She turned and found herself cornered in the parlor with a small deer.

"The deer took one look at me and jumped right through the living room picture window," she said.

A few minutes later, Mrs. Jean Zawoyski, who lives nearby, was confronted by a deer that had jumped through a window into the house. It fled through another window.

Police surmised the deer strayed from a herd in a farm area a few miles away.

U.N. Replacement Hunted By France

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP) — France is reported looking for a new permanent delegate at the U.N. to replace Bernard Cornut-Gentille.

Cornut-Gentille came to the U.N. after five years as high commissioner of French West Africa.

He presided over the Security Council in October until he collapsed in the early stages of the Middle East row, when the Western allies split over the British-French moves against Egypt.

The French delegation reported Cornut-Gentille was suffering from malaria and liver trouble. He returned to France last week.

Daily Average Oil Production Hiked

TULSA (AP) — Big advances in Texas and Oklahoma lifted the daily average oil production by 70,200 barrels to 7,074,500 during the week ended Nov. 10, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas' average rose 54,000 barrels to 3,006,100 and Oklahoma's climbed 25,200 to 555,100.

The Journal estimated 1956 production at 2,244,602,450 barrels compared to 2,122,568,050 a year ago.

Declines were reported for Colorado, down 5,600 barrels to 155,300 and Louisiana, 100 to 796,650. Production was unchanged in New Mexico at 250,225.

Little Boy Goes On Shopping Binge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Little Michael Powell gave in to an 8-year-old's urge to play grown-up and went on a shopping binge with his mother's money.

He spent his way through a variety store and other shops, buying toys, cakes, cookies, sodas, a toy saxophone, a couple of crystal sets and other items. Along the way another youngster offered his bicycle to transport the haul and Mike graciously offered to share his purchases.

By the time police tracked them down—after Mike's mother reported him missing—they were eating hot dogs in a luncheonette. Not a dime of the $43 in Mrs. Powell's wallet was left.
