Unemployment Is Now Slightly Above Normal

Improved Weather Expected To Open Up Work Channels

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

"The prospect for continued full employment in the Lubbock area throughout 1949 is extremely bright," E. J. Berry, placement manager of the Lubbock office of the Texas Employment Commission said today.

"This outlook is equally true for both farm and non-agricultural workers," Berry added.

While unemployment at the present time is just slightly above normal at this time, Berry explained, the figure is so small that it can be quickly absorbed as the weather improves. Actually the term "normal" is based on what the TEC considers a balanced supply and demand for the requirements of this immediate vicinity.

January and February are always the peak months for unemployment in most parts of the United States, Berry said. This holds true for Lubbock and the surrounding counties. Some of this labor supply has already been absorbed here and more of the slack will be taken up by the end of March, Berry believes.

"There is one type of worker whom we are unable to help very much," Berry continued. "That is the itinerant skilled factory worker from the highly industrialized states of the east and the midwest."

Problem Is Presented

Many of these people have read about the tremendous growth of the southwest and the employment opportunities here. But these same people fail to realize that there are no industries in the southwest of the type with which they are familiar, Berry stated. All the TEC can do in these cases is recommend that the applicant go elsewhere to seek work or change occupations. Sometimes they are able to refer these job seekers to some other office or section of the country that has made known its needs of the type for which the applicant is qualified.

"While we don't hold out much hope for the factory workers we do have frequent calls for construction and road workers, general maintenance personnel, retail and wholesale trade employes and service or domestic help," Berry

Murderer Gets Life Sentence

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 18 (U.P.)—Roy Frank Godbey, who finished 17 years in prison last November, must go back for the rest of his life for the murder of Oklahoma City attorney Earl Pruet.

That was the verdict of a district court jury here after 10 hours of deliberating whether Godbey should be sent to prison, a mental institution or the electric chair.

After the jury delivered its decision yesterday, tear srolled down the cheeks of the grey-haired, little man of 53 who calmly shot to death the prosecutor who sent him to McAlester state penitentiary for arme drobbery in 1932.

Verdict Satisfactory

The verdict apparently was regarded as a victory for everybody. County Attorney Granville Scanland and his aides called it "satisfactory." Defense attorneys claimed it as a "save" from the chair. Godbey himself commented, "I prefer what I got to spending the rest of my life in an asylum."

Teachers Gather In Lubbock

Laymen Stage Program Here This Morning

Odessa Man Named President; Midland Gets 1950 Session

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

Public relations and teaching of democracy in the public schools were two points emphasized in laymen's addresses this morning before approximately 2,200 teachers of West Texas in the opening session of West Texas Teachers association's 14th annual meeting.

Teachers overflowed into the aisles of the auditorium and into the halls and in classrooms, at Senior High school. Some heard addresses over the public address system in classrooms.

It was something new for persons not connected with the teaching profession to present a program before the teachers' association.

Dowell Address Presented

Clarence Whiteside, Lubbock city commissione, extended greetings on behalf of Mayor W. H. Rodgers and the City commission and said. "Some day, if you return, we hope we may have a municipal auditorium large enough to seat all of you." Whiteside presented an address on "A Veteran's Viewpoint of Modern Education," which had been prepared by G. C. Dowell, member of Lubbock Board of Education. Dowell was on jury service and unable to present the address.

Analyzing the veterans program in colleges and universities, the address prepared by Dowell told of effects of the veterans' program in higher education and of attitude of the veterans. Virtually every college qualified to enroll veterans now has 50 to 100 per cent more students than in the pre-war years; dormitories have three in a room where formerly they had two; many live in off-campus lodgings; classrooms, laboratories and libraries are frequently worked from eight in the morning until 10 at night, with students in two or three shifts; teachers are teaching more hours a week and each course or section is likely to have at least a third more members than formerly, and clerical work has increas-

Senate Rent Control Plan Is Assailed By Both Demos, GOP

ACTION ON MEASURES TO START

New Debate-Gag Rule Passed Over Protests Of Trumanites

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 18—The crushing weight of a Republican-Dixie steamroller left a new debate-gag rule stamped on the Senate's books today—despite furious objections by Truman Democrats that it would block action on civil rights.

After voting 63 to 23 last night to adopt the compromise rule—intended to stop most future filibusters—the Senate put aside for the time being the whole question of President Truman's civil rights program. That program was at the core of the long rules-change fight. Republicans said the new bill would permit action on civil rights.

Ahead was an imposing array of vital administration legislation dealing with rent controls, the European recovery program, reciprocal trade agreements and housing.

All are ready for Senate action, with rent controls tabbed for debate Monday after a routine business session today.

Behind the Senate was a bitter battle of 16 working days that ended shortly before midnight last night when the GOP-Southern Democrat coalition forced adoption of a debate-limiting rule assailed as ineffective by Democratic leaders.

Thirty-four Republicans joined with 29 Democrats—all but 10 of them from Dixie—to approve a rule under which the "yes" votes of 64 senators can gag debate any time except on a future rules change.

Fifteen Democrats and eight Republicans opposed the new rule

Suspect Wanted At Dallas Is Captured

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 18. (U.P.)—Paul D. Gagnon, 33, of Salem, Mass., wanted on forgery charges in Dallas, Tex., was captured while sitting in a stolen automobile on a downtown street yesterday, Lt. Dewey Williams of the police detective bureau reported.

Williams said Gagnan signed a confession admitting passing worthless checks and stealing the car in Des Moines, Ia.

Show Entries Due Saturday

First arrivals of a record breaking entry list are due in Lubbock tomorrow for the 16th annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock show at the Fairgrounds next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Most of them, however, won't reach Lubbock until Sunday. All must be on the grounds before 6 p. m. Sunday for weighing and classification to become eligible for competition.

George Bond, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce and show secretary, reported a total entry list of 624 animals, including 378 pigs, 180 calves and 66 lambs. Each figure is a record breaker.

Buildings Are Ready

Homer E. Hunt, general chairman, announced that buildings to be used at the Fairgrounds are in readiness. These include the cattle and swine barns and the judging arena.

Barracks buildings will, as usual, be available to the boys wishing to use them during their stay. The boys are to bring their own pillows and bedclothing. A good many will occupy the barracks Saturday night, remaining through Tuesday night. In all, reservations have been made for 167 youthful exhibitors, all members of 4H clubs or FFA chapters.

The contestants, Bond reported, represent 56 communities in the 29 counties, including three in New Mexico, from which entries have been accepted.

The immediate need as preparations for the start are completed, Bond said, is for final reports from members of the show finance

Endurance Fliers On Way To Big Spring

EL PASO, March 18. (AP)—Endurance Fliers Bill Barris and Dick Riedel headed for Big Spring at 8 a. m. (MST) today after circling in this area for nearly 42 hours. Big Spring is about 300 miles east of here.

They had planned to fly to Big Spring yesterday, but bad weather there set their schedule back one day.

High winds hampered them here yesterday. It took a ground crew in a speeding jeepster an hour and 45 minutes to transfer 60 gallons of gas to the plane.

They seek an endurance record by remaining aloft six weeks.

HOUSEKEEPER GIVES TESTIMONY

Wealthy Californian Claimed Slayer Of Wife In Will Case

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 18—A battle over the $1,000,000 will of Mrs. Katharine S. Haynes Off has produced several sensational allegations—including an asserted attempt on the life of famed attorney Jerry Giesler.

The statements came from a housekeeper, Mrs. Mary Lewis, who testified in depositions that Edward Theophile Off, 73, clubman and widower, admitted he hired a man to kill Giesler, and that he smothered his wife to wife to death.

The depositions, together with Off's denials, were entered in superior court yesterday as Mrs. Off's daughter by a previous marriage, Mrs. Dorothy Elliott Moreno, 47, moved to block approval of the will whereby Off would receive the entire estate.

Mrs. Lewis said the following dialogue ensued when she told Off that Giesler, an attorney for Mrs. Moreno, had been involved in an auto accident last October:

Senate Group Due To Okay Education Bill

Proposal Of Health Services Approved By Subcommittee

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 18.—A $300,000,000 federal aid to education bill was lined up today for approval by the Senate labor and public welfare committee.

A snag that has been holding up action was cleared away by a subcommittee yesterday. The action was approval of a companion bill providing $35,000,000 annually for medical examinations and related health services to children in public and non-public schools.

The education bill, authorizing federal grants to the states for teachers' salaries and other school operating expenses, was introduced by a bi-partisan group of 14 senators.

Passage Seen

It looks like a cinch to pass the Senate once it gets to a vote, but action on it has been delayed. As long ago as Jan. 18 Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) predicted the labor and public welfare committee would approve it that day.

For a while it was shunted aside while the committee battled over the administration labor bill to replace the Taft-Hartley act. More recently it has been held up for agreement on the school health bill.

An almost identical education bill was passed by the Senate last April, 58 to 22, only to be pigeonholed by a House committee. Enactment of the legislation this year is a part of President Truman's program.

Intended to equalize educational opportunities in the states, the bill provides for federal grants on the basis of each state's average annual income and the number of its children. Allotments would vary from $5 to a little over $25 a pupil, with the largest amounts going to the poorest states.

Minimum Is Set

The bill requires a minimum annual expenditure of $55, from federal, state and local funds, for each pupil in the public schools. This is an increase of $5 over the floor set in the bill last year and as the measure was originally introduced this year.

Senator Hill (D-Ala), one of the authors, said the committee agreed the higher minimum could be fixed without adding to the

Split On Farm Bills Foreseen

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—A sharp split over rents between House members representing city districts and those from rural areas raised a little uncertainty today over the future of farm legislation.

In the House fight on rent controls, many rural district members voted for amendments which their city colleagues contended would weaken controls in crowded cities.

There was much private talk of possible "reprisals."

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House agriculture committee said "I have heard no threats, but several members have taken occasion to tell me that they thought the rural members should have gone along" with the city members for a stronger rent control bill.

"But I don't think there will be any reprisals," Cooley said. "And if there are reprisals I don't think they could be justified or warranted in any way."

The House soon will consider legislation setting future policy for farm price supports, and other measures vital to rural areas.

Italian Solons Vote 2 To 1 For Alliance

ROME, March 18. (AP)—The chamber of deputies voted two to one today in favor of Italy's entry into the North Atlantic alliance. The decision broke a three day filibuster and provoked the most violent fight the tumultuous chamber has seen.

Several deputies fell or were knocked to the floor. Small missiles were thrown. The defeated Comunists even tried to hurl steregraphers' chairs.

The rioters were quieted after a siren was sounded, muffling shouted insults, and after strenuous strong-arming by sergeants-at-arms.

United States And Allies To Resist Attack

Nations Pledge To Come To Aid Of Others; Armed Force Said Authorized

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 18—The Atlantic pact powers today made public their security treaty, officially disclosing this big point: the United States would be bound automatically to counter an attack on any ally, perhaps even by use of "armed force."

In a news conference, Secretary of State Acheson went a little further than the bare words of the proposed treaty.

Asked about the extent of the obligation to fight in event of an attack, Acheson explained it this way:

If in the judgment of the United States government, armed force would be necessary to restore the security of the North Atlantic area, then there would be an obligation to use it under the treaty.

The 14-article, 1,040-word pact was made public at 10 a. m. Central Standard time today by the eight nations which negotiated it. It will be signed by those eight, including the United States and the key nations of western Europe, about April 4, in Washington. It will become effective only after ratification which in the United States means it must be approved by the Senate.

Some Senate Criticism Is Expected

Some Senate criticism is expected by administration officials but they are confident of eventual ratification. Acheson talked at various stages of the negotiations with such Senate foreign policy leaders as Senators Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), former chairman.

Acheson will go on the radio (CBS, ABC and Mutual) at 9:30 p. m. (CST) tonight for a report to the nation on the treaty.

Acheson was asked at his news conference what might constitute an armed attack which would cause the treaty powers to spring into action with resistance measures.

As one example, he said it would be considered an armed attack if American planes flying the air lift to Berlin over the Soviet zone were attacked by Soviet aircraft.

He also strongly indicated that it might apply in some cases of an internal Communist uprising in one of the Western Allies.

Provision For Internal Revolutions

On this point, Acheson told reporters the powers in this view would not be confronted with a "armed attack" which they would have to resist if a purely internal revolution occurred in one of the countries.

But he added that should there be revolutionary activity inspired and assisted from the outside — such as the Communist warfare against the Greek government—that very well might be considered an armed attack.

As to whether the United States has a moral obligation to go to war in event France or some other nation was attacked, Acheson did not say specifically.

The pact itself recognizes that so far as the United States is concerned, only Congress can declare war. It does this by saying that each nation would decide for itself whether military force was "necessary."

The words are that each of the Allied nations would have to assist the country attacked "by taking forthwith . . . such actions as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area."

This is the heart of the treaty. Acheson said that it makes clear that if the government of a country decides that armed force was to be used to restore the security of the North Atlantic area because one of the member nations has been attacked then this country would have an obligation to use such force.

Atlantic Powers Could Consult

If an attack threatened the security of some of the Allies, but occurred outside of the American-western European region (for instance in the Middle East) the Atlantic powers could consult. Acheson said the members would have no obligation to act beyond consultation although they might do so.

The whole world is watching now for Moscow's reaction.

This official disclosure of the terms is expected to arouse Russia to new heights in propaganda attacks against the alliance. The Soviets already have denounced it as an aggressive move aginst them, despite the repeated assertions of western leaders that its aim is strictly defensive.

The treaty, 1,040 words and 145 articles long, provides for creation

Depression Not Likely Unless Panic Starts, Expert Claims

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 18.—Unless businessmen or consumers get panicky, the nation this year should be only slightly less prosperous—and possibly better off—than in 1948, the government's top economist said today.

As a result of "the disinflation of 1949, said Chairman Edwin G. Nourse of the President's council of economic advisers, "we may take off some fat, but we shall not die and need not really suffer."

He said "it is not the voice of pollyanna but of business statistics that says the underlying conditions are sound and basically favorable."

In an address prepared for the executive's club of Chicago on "the gentle art of disinflation," Nourse summarized the economic outlook as follows:

"1949 should show a sustained volume of consumer spending and hence employment only very moderately below last year, production even higher, and prices adjusted to a better structure

FBI INVESTIGATION UNDERWAY

Confusion Marks Seizure Of Uranium Substance In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 18 (AP)—Mystery and confusing contradiction marked the story today of the seizure of a small cylinder containing a uranium substance, possibly stolen from an atomic laboratory in the United States.

The Mexican secret police said the capsule contained pure uranium 235, the stuff from which atom bombs are made. They expressed belief it had been stolen from America—which—so far as is known here—is the sole producer of U-235.

Attorney General Francisco Gonzalez De La Vega said later, however, the cylinder contained only an ingot of refined uranium having no explosive power, and not enough of the material to be of much use to anybody.

No Loss Reported

The atomic energy commission in Washington said none of its plants or contractors had reported the loss of any material essential to the making of an atom bomb.

Mexican secret police said the investigation now is in the hands of FBI agents attached to the U. S. embassy here. The FBI refused to say anything about the case.

All this left many questions unanswered. From whom was the stuff seized? Where did it come from? How much of it was seized? What course is the investigation taking now? What finally was done about the man from whom it was seized?

The case had a queer companion—a current report that a group of persons offered to sell large quantities of uranium in Mexico. There is no firm support for the story, but it persists.

Most widely believed version is that the group never showed any uranium to prospective buyers, who included police investigating the offers and who demanded to see the goods.

In their earlier statement, the secret police said Manuel Sandoval Vallarta, head of Mexico's atomic committee and former member of the United Nations atomic commission, had identified contents of the confiscated cylinder as pure U-235. This substance is supplied by the United States only to atom bomb makers and a very few students of atomic power.

Vallarta now is at some unannounced point in the United States.

The police said the stuff was found on the person of a Mexican crossing the border from the United States last November. His companion died later, they said, from the effects of uranium rays. They did not say what happened to the man who carried the capsule.

Clever Robbery Plan Foiled By Officials

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Mar. 18 (U.P.)—A 30-year-old Providence, R. I., man tried to play a "daily double" at the expense of Western Union but instead of paying off, it landed him in a police cell.

First, the man went to the local Western Union office, deposited $2,500 cash and ordered it wired to a "William Taylor" in Springfield. That night he broke into the same office and rifled the safe, but it contained only $200, his $2,500 having been hidden elsewhere.

Next day the man appeared at Western Union in Springfield, identified himself as "William Taylor," and tried to collect the $2,500 he had wired. However, police had been tipped off and he was arrested.

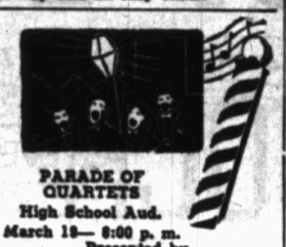

Police said the man had hoped to regain his $2,500 from the Western Union safe, then hurry to Springfield and collect the $2,500 he had wired to "William Taylor."

Reds Believed To Have Killed Missionary's Wife By Mistake

SEOUL, March 18 (AP)—Officials theorized today that Red terrorists slew the wife of a prominent U. S. missionary while gunning for a Korean woman leader who is a foe of Communism.

Three Koreans were arrested in the shooting of popular Mrs. Horace H Underwood, 60. President Syngman Rhee himself declared the killing had shocked the republic of Korea.

Police Chief Kim Tai Sun turned loose all his detectives on the case. He predicted a break within 24 hours.

Mrs. Underwood was fatally wounded yesterday by one of two hooded gunmen who burst into her home as she was giving a tea.

Kim told the Associated Press he was convinced the gunmen got their orders from Korean Reds. He believed they were looking for Mrs. Mo Yun Suk, a foe of Communism. A guest, she was to have addressed the meeting.

Investigators said the shooting took place in the entrance hall. Mrs. Underwood went there after the pair shoved their way past a house-boy. She was shot while apparently trying to push one of the intruders out of the door.

Guests told authorities that the gunmen then entered the living room and seemed to be looking for someone. Mrs. Mo and five other guests had fled at the shots and were hiding in a telephone alcove. Mrs. Mo has not been seen since.

Guests Given Order

The slayers told the guests to go to one end of the living room. They then fled.

At a news conference, Rhee said he also believed the killers were after Mrs. Mo.

"Some Communists," he added, "found that Mrs. Mo had valuable information to contradict their point of view."

Mrs. Mo was to have addressed the tea on the United Nations session at Paris at which the Republic of Korea was recognized in the face of strong Russian objections. Russia backs the Communist regime in North Korea.

Jury Acquits Man On Theft Charges

McKINNEY, March 18 (AP)—C. K. Denison, 32, former Sherman trucker, was acquitted yesterday on charges of theft by false pretext in a grain weighing case.

Denison was one of 19 men indicted on charges involving the weighing of grain. A district court jury deliberated only 15 minutes yesterday before acquitting Denison.

County Attorney Paul Worden said an announcement would be made later concerning the other cases. They also involve alleged manipulation of scales at the Burrus feed mill mere.

Denison was charged with theft by false pretext of $171.02 from the mill. The state accused him of placing a weight on the end of grain weighing scales, thereby causing the scales to register excess weight on a load of grain belonging to M. A. Hudgeon, Sherman trucker. Hudgeon also is under indictment.

The defendant denied in testimony that he had put a weight on the scale and said he "never saw anyone else put a weight on the scale."

Mary Haworth's Mail...

Man Courts Intrigue With Sister-In-Law Telling Her He Never Loved His Wife

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am in a very perplexing situation. My sister's husband—I shall call him Grant—has tried to force his attentions on me. He says he is in love with me and has never cared for my sister Myre?

She, however, is very much in love with him and has been a wonderful mother for his two children, and I know that she would be heartbroken if I were to tell her of his childish actions; but I also feel that I am doing her a grave injustice by not telling her.

Myra and I are very close, and above all I don't want her to be hurt. I am sure that if the difficulty were correctly handled, Grant would come to his senses and realize what a marvelous wife he has.

GIRL HAS LOST RESPECT FOR MEN

GRANT HAS become completely unbearable and although I have tried to avoid seeing him he makes a point of meeting me when I am alone. I am completely sickened by his behavior and I have lost all respect for him.

I have no ties here, and if it would be of any help in straightening out the problem, I would leave; but I don't believe it would help. Please try to help me bring our family relations back to normal. Signed E. S.

MAN IS ACTING OUT PHANTASIES

DEAR E. S.: This is indeed an ugly situation for Myra and you; and it seems you are living in her home, which suggests that the only honorable remedy—protective to yourself and loyal to her—is to move out, as smoothly and quickly as possible.

It has been said that "Temptation comes more from within than from without—," which doubtless explains Grant's predatory behavior. It isn't uncommon for a certain type of married male, psychologically immature, emotionally unstable, without a good foundation of moral grounding in his character, to give expression, involuntarily, to polygamous "designs" on any personable young woman who has an insider-status in his household.

His problem - behavior, which has its rise in his own nature, may focus on a sister-in-law, or maybe a step-daughter, or the family maid, or his wife's closest friend; and when it does, flurried protest or argumentative attempts to discourage him are seldom successful, so long as circumstances continue to foster "propitious" opportunity for making improper advances.

DESTROY ILLUSION OF EASY OPPORTUNITY

THE REASON is that this type of male is too self absorbed, in an infantile way, to distinguish between his sex fantasies and the realities of the situation, once his unruly primitive impulses have begun to ferment with the notion that here, maybe, is a chance to outwit society's moral tabus. He blindly acts as if his intended prey were secretly responsive to his "imaginings," regardless of her defensive reactions.

Thus to clear the man's head, she must, if possible, destroy the illusion of easy opportunity which incites his misconduct—as can be done by removing herself from his daily orbit. And in the event this isn't feasible, she has the alternative of bluntly refusing to skirmish in a hush-hush manner.

So, to be explocit: if you've been staying with Myra, it seems a worthy idea to move out, giving a diplomatic excuse for going, and nicely refusing to be budged from it—if you think Myra won't be hurt by the "mystery" of it. Or, if that can't be managed, then you ought to discuss Grant's problem-behavior with her, and ask her to help you manage him. And supposing you aren't living with them, and Grant is courting you across town, you might as well put her wise and let her know you're on her side, before she gets a wrong impression of you—which would be the worst blow to her, I'm sure. M. H.

Dummy Official Is Sentenced

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) Bleriot H. Lamarre, 37-year-old former accountant, was given a suspended sentence today for lying to a Senate committee about the wartime business affairs of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers.

Lamarre pleaded guilty to three counts of perjury a year ago but sentence was delayed pending a probation officer's investigation. The maximum penalty on each count could have been 10 years' imprisonment.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff sentenced Lamarre to one to three years but suspended the sentence and put him on two-year probation.

Attorneys for the slim, blond defendant, as well as government asked leniency for Lamarre. They said that without his help Meyers could not have been convicted.

Meyers, cashiered former Air Force officer, was convicted of persuading Lamarre to testify falsely before a Senate war investigating committee. Meyers has been in jail for a year, serving an 18-month to five-year prison term.

Lamarre was the self-styled "dummy" president of the visation Electric Co. of Dayton, O., which received war contracts for plane parts at a time when Meyers was the No. 2 purchasing officer of the Army Air Force.

Woman Says She Shot Father For Thousand Good Reasons

CRANDON, Wis., March 18 (U.P.)—Mrs. Jane Blondheim Pierce, who said she murdered her father for "a thousand and one good reasons," told authorities today "I don't care that I did it—I'm glad it's over."

Mrs. Pierce, 23, was arraigned on first degree murder charges before Circuit Judge Arnold Murphy yesterday. Her attorney, Ed Shank, entered a plea of innocence. No trial date was set.

Good-looking but chunky, Mrs. Pierce, called herself a "lady hobo" and bragged of "bumming through 43 states since I was 15." She admitted in a signed confession that she had planned to kill her father, Charles Blondheim, 64, since moving into his town of Alvin Home near here last September.

She said she took a drink of straight whiskey for a bracer Tuesday before loading her father's 12-gauge shotgun and calmly shooting him in the head.

Schoolboys Open Track Meet

First Prelims Slated Today

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT WORTH, March 18.—More than 900 schoolboys open the twenty-sixth annual Southwestern Recreation track and field meet today. They make up almost two-thirds of the greatest field ever to compete in a cinder path carnival in the South.

Preliminaries in the high school division, expected to establish Corpus Christi as the championship favorite, start at 1 p. m. (CST). There are 80 competing schools.

Tomorrow morning the university division, in which a tight duel between Texas and Texas A.&M. is shaping up and where a dozen records appear likely to fall, and the college, junior college and college freshman classes will hold preliminaries beginning at 9 o'clock.

Finals Slated Saturday

Finals in all divisions are scheduled to start at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

There will be more than 1600 athletes in track and field and golf—137 in the latter. These represent 129 schools in track and 27 with golf contestants.

Austin is defending champion in the high school class but does not appear to have much chance of fighting off Corpus Christi, which boasts a well-balanced team that features the hurdling and sprinting of Bobby Dean.

Texas A. & M. was winner last year in the university class but faces a tough afternoon if it repeats against the challenge of a Texas team, powerful in the field and in the dashes, that upset A. & M. in last week's Border olympics. Arkansas, Baylor, Hardin-Simmons, Oklahoma A. & M., Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Texas Tech and Tulane are other entries.

North Texas State is a heavy favorite to again win the college class title. Brownsville and San Antonio are picked to duel for the junior college championship while Texas A. & M. looks strongest in the college freshman class.

Records Due To Fall

There are 17 colleges, 10 junior colleges and 12 college freshman teams in the meet.

In the university class John Rowland of Southern Methodist is due to smash the hurdle marks of 14.3 for the highs and 23.8 for the lows: J. D. Hampton of Texas A.&M. probably will wipe out the marks of 4:24.5 in the mile and 9.52.3 in the two-mile; the Texas or Texas A. & M. 440-yard relay teams each can better the record of 42.5; Ray Holbrook of Texas A. & M. appears certain to crack the 440-yard record of 48.8; Charley Parker, Texas speedster, or Paul Bienz, Tulane star, should lower the 220-yard dash record of 21.0; Hal Tarrant of Oklahoma A. & M. appears ready to lower the 880-yard record of 1:57.1; Bob Walters of Texas will be aiming at the pole vault mark of 13 feet; John Robertson of Texas might better the broad jump record of 24 feet 5½ inches; George Kadera of Texas A. & M. could break his own mark of 160 feet 7 inches in the discus throw, and Texas A. & M. ought to easily take care of the mile relay record of 3:21.3.

WESTERNERS HAVE EIGHT ENTRIES IN BIG EVENT

The Southwestern Recreation Track and Field meet got underway today with preliminaries being run in high school events, and Lubbock had eight men entered in 11 events of the meet.

Accompanying the team on a special bus which left Thursday morning at 9 were Coaches Fred Brown and Pat Farris and Manager Davis Hopper. The eight-man squad is composed of Charlie Williams, Malcolm Young, Donald Decker, Danny Boone, Donnie Rawls, Eddie Goetze, Douglas Ross, and Alfred Adair.

The illness of Wayne Stroud and an injury to Williams' leg will be a limiting factor to the chances for Westerner victories in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and 440-yard relay. Both boys have turned in good times in the two dashes and have bolstered the relay team. In practice Monday the relay team turned in a :45 performance with Danny Boone replacing Stroud. Williams, Boone, Decker, and Young will compose the relay team at Fort Worth.

Decker has been showing up well in the 220-yard low hurdles, and Goetze was not pushed Monday running the 880-yard run in 2:09 against a Tech freshman.

The events entered and persons in the events follow:

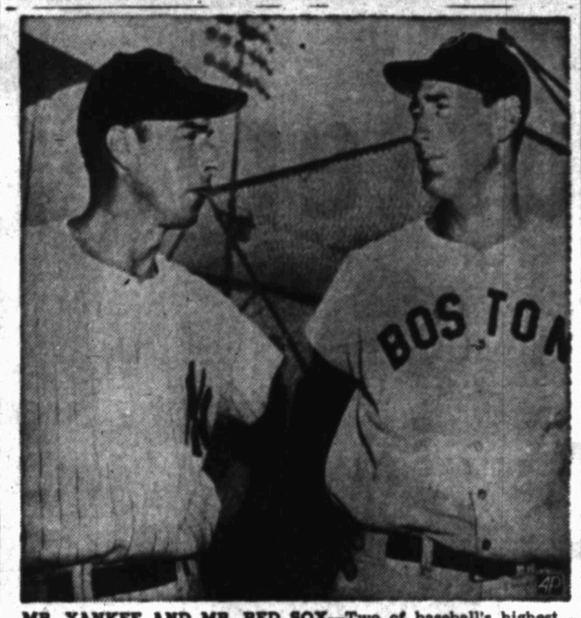

100-yard dash: Williams, Young.
220-yard dash: Williams, Young and Boone.
440-yard relay: Williams, Boone, Decker, and Young.
220-yard low hurdles: Decker.
120-yard high hurdles: Rawls.
220-yard run: Goetze.
Broad jump: Williams, Boone.
Discus: Ross.
Pole vault: Adair.
High jump: Adair.
Shot-put: Adair.

New Hurlers "Can't Be Any Worse"

Brownies' Manager Hopes For Pitching Staff Improvement

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

BURBANK, Calif., March 18—"There is this much about it," said forthright Zack Taylor today, "my pitchers can't be any worse than some of those fellows I was sending out there last year. Maybe they'll be better.

The manager of the St. Louis Browns who guided them out of the American league cellar last year into sixth place has no illusions about the Browns in this year's race. But he likes his job because he has the patience to work with youngsters, especially with young pitchers.

"You take a pitcher, there's a lot of things he needs to learn. no matter how good he was in the minors," he explained. "He gets to feeling down on his luck, and he needs somebody to talk to him."

Gets New Hurlers

There is no rancor in the Browns' manager because his workhorse pitcher of last year, Fred Sanford, was delivered to the New York Yankees for a reported $100,000 and three players. He has hopes that Dick Starr and Red Embree, obtained in the deal, will win for him.

"Embree's been a big league pitcher for several years," he said. "At times he's looked like a great one. Some of my friends think Starr can be a fine pitcher, too." Starr had a 14-9 record with Newark last year.

Most promising of the Brownies' new pitchers appears to be Bob Malloy, a 30-year-old righthander who was drafted from Indianapolis, where he was a 21-7 winner last season.

Pitchers back from last year include Bill Kennedy, a southpaw, Cliff Fannin, Ned Garver, Al Gerhauser ,and the like. Fannin, who won 10 against 14 losses, and Kennedy, 7-8, at least showed possibilities.

Bob Savage, once considered one of Connie Mack's brightest young pupils, was purchased outright from the Athletics in December, and it might do to keep an eye on him. He appeared in 33 games last year and wound up with a 5-1 record. He could help the Browns.

Raider Squad Leaves Today

Sixteen trackmen — 11 varsity and five freshmen members—were scheduled to board a bus with Coach Maxey McKnight at Texas Tech this morning bound for Fort Worth and the Twenty-Sixth annual Southwestern Recreation Track and Field Meet.

Last year, with no more practice than the Raiders have had so far this spring, the local cindermen came in fourth, with Texas A&M winning the meet. Texas and Oklahoma A&M finished ahead of Tech, Arkansas trailed the Raiders.

From Texas' performance in upsetting the Aggies at the Border Olympics last week, the Longhorns will be the squad to beat. The Texas squad apparently is well-balanced and stronger than last year, while Texas Aggies presumably are not any weaker than they were.

Runners Experienced

For that matter, Texas Tech may have a stronger squad than it has had in the past. Coach McKnight frankly doesn't know what his men can do under competition, for they have had none this spring. But all of the runners are experienced.

The spotty weather hasn't made track training successful and not one of the runners has had a good race against time. That is shown clearly by the 10.1 mark in the 100-yard dash and the 22.5 in the 220 - yard dash. Neither time should come close to winning at Fort Worth and whether the Raider runners can do better is somewhat of a question.

The mile relay team has turned in probably the best performance in practice, running the distance in 3:28.2, but even this is slow compared to marks established by Texas and Texas Aggies.

Squad Needs Seasoning

Coach McKnight, convinced that the squad needs a lot of seasoning, hopes that the men he is taking to Fort Worth will come back more advanced than when they left. Comprising the squad will be Moon Mullins, Seth Murphey and Charley Reynolds, 100 and 220 yar ddashes; Coston Bufkin and Joe and Ed Wilson, quarter mile and, with Reynolds, the mile relay team; Edgar Hawkins, mile run; Ed Clepper and Charlie Pinnell, hurdles and high jump; Harold Barber, half-mile; and Jim Elliott, javelin.

Freshmen making the trip will be Norman McNeil, Charlie Ritchie and John Shinn, all of whom will run the 440 and, with Earl Hutcherson, will form the mile relay team; and Albert Stanford, high hurdles.

Eight Cagers Are Lettered At TCU

FORT WORTH, March 18. (AP)—The eight men who played virtually all of Texas Christian's basketball campaign were announced today as 1949 Frog basketball lettermen, by vote of the athletic committee.

They are J. J. Dolnics, Gene Schmidt, Frank Kudlaty, Bill Moran, Bob Hendricks, Bruce Craig, Bob Young and Bob Burton. They each played in all of the Frogs' 24 games, except Hendricks, who missed only one game, and Young and Burton, who played in 21 each.

Dolnics, the Frogs' center who finished second in the Southwest conference in total scoring, also received the TCU campus American Legion post's annual "most valuable player" award this week. Judges were Amos Melton, voting for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, for whom he covered the entire TCU basketball season; Dan Jenkins, Fort Worth Press; and Joe Shosid, the Skiff, TCU campus newspaper.

Bob Rooker Named To All-Star Team

A Lubbock Westerner, Bob Rooker, has been chosen to appear on the northern all-star team in the fifteenth annual North-South football game to be held Aug. 5 at Beaumont. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rooker, 2611 Thirty-first.

Only senior players are selected to play in the game, and 43 players are picked from the districts of the Interscholastic league by a selection committee, headed this year by Paul Snow of North Side High school, Fort Worth. Twenty-four players are on each of the two teams.

The game is the highlight of the annual coaching school in Texas, which will be held in Beaumont this year, and top college coaches in the country appear at the school and coach the teams. Last year Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech piloted the northern team to a 4-0 victory over the team coached by Matty Bell of Southern Methodist university.

In high school Rooker lettered at end in football and was selected on the all-district second team and was given all-state honorable mention. He lettered twice in basketball, being a member of the team this year that placed third in the state, and has two baseball letters.

Injuries Slow Joe DiMaggio

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 18.—Joe DiMaggio is having spring training trouble again today and, if precedent means anything, the resultant march moaning of the New York Yankees presages October pennant poverty for the rest of the American league.

Five times the Yankee Clipper previously has given the Yankees the spring shivers.

And in each of those five years DiMag came on to lead the Bronx Bombers to the pennant.

That's five for five in the pain to paradise department. So six for six shouldn't be too much for the rangy outfielder who once hit safely in 56 consecutive contests.

Joe Hits Jinx

Joe struck the pitfalls under the palms during his first year up with the Yankees. That was back in 1936 when he was a highly touted rookie counted on to bolster the fading Yankee power. Having fully demonstrated his promise, Joe proceeded to twist an ankle. Then he was under a diathermy lamp too long and burned the foot seriously, missing most of the training period and 17 games of the regular season.

Yet Joe came on to hit .323 in the successful pennant drive.

The next year it was shoulder trouble which shackled him when the team went south. Again Joe missed part of spring training and had a tonsilectomy about the time the season opened.

Once more he came rampaging back, hitting .346 good for another pennant.

After three years out for Army service, DiMaggia returned only to bump into the old spring jinx once more in 1947. A February operation for a heel spur failed to heal and required a March skin-grafting operation.

Blast Home Run

The season was a week old before he could be used in any capacity. And he wore a football shoe on his tender foot when he got his first call as a pinch hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Joe stepped in that first time up and blasted a three-run homer which won the ball game. And, as Joe worked away the pain by reappearing in center field, the stuttering Yanks began to hit on all cylinders and went on to win the pennant—and the World Series.

Now it is the other heel, a spur removed in an off-season operation, which is acting up. Again Joe had to leave the club's spring training base and head for a hospital.

But he's back now and the medics claim that if he takes it easy during the remainder of the spring training period he should be in the lineup on opening day.

Louis Will Battle Tex Boddie Tonight

DALLAS, March 18 (AP)—Retired heavyweight champion Joe Louis will appear here tonight in a four-round bout that will mark his next to last fight on an exhibition tour.

Louis will meet Tex Boddie, 210-pounder from Omaha, as the feature of a boxing card of 34 rounds.

The ex-champion came here from Houston where Wednesday night he drew a gate of $23,566 as he scored a technical knockout over Elmer (Violent) Ray. It was the biggest gate in Texas boxing history.

From Dallas Louis will go to St. Paul for his last fight March 22 against Herbert Hood.

A 10-round bout between Buddy Baggett of Dallas and Hector Marquez of El Paso is on tonight's card along with two six-round fights and two four-rounders in addition to the Louis-Boddie melee.

MEET SET SATURDAY

CHICAGO, March 18. (AP) — A hand-picked field, including ailing miler Don Gehrmann of Wisconsin, will bustle before a sell-out crowd of 17,000 in the 13th Chicago Relays at the Chicago stadium tomorrow night.

San Francisco And Loyola Seek Crown

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP)—The championship in the National Invitation basketball tournament probably will swing Saturday night on the individual duel between Chicago Loyola's Jack Kerris and San Francisco's Don Lofgran.

The Loyolas and the Dandy Dons from the Pacific coast, dark horses of the blackest hue, rolled into the title round last night at Madison Square Garden on the superb play of these two athletes.

Taylor Drops Bradley

Loyola, the "rain check" team that got in on a second-choice bid, subdued Bradley university's fire engine kids, 55-50. San Francisco turned back the favored beanstalks from Bowling Green (Ohio), 49-39.

To the sellout crowd of 18,301 which watched these semifinals, it was evident there have been few teams so dependent on single key men as the victors.

Kerris is a well-muscled youngster of six-feet-six, whose 60 points leads the tournament's individual scorers.

For the first half last night he was completely shackled by Bradley's tight zone defense. And it had moved six minutes and 50 seconds into the second half before he hit for the first time from the field.

Kerris Starts Hitting

At this point, Loyola was fighting what seemed a hopeless uphill battle after trailing by nine points, 31-22, at intermission.

But Kerris, aided by his team's tactical maneuver of mid-court stalling that opened Bradley's defense, started hitting late in the game.

He poured in 14 points in the last half, adding to a single point in the first, to lead his mates to victory.

Lofgran is a willowy, six-foot-six symphony of grace from Oakland, Calif., with an uncanny push-shot. From almost any angle and with either hand he lays the ball gently in the basket with few misses.

He scored ten goals from the field against Bowling Green and added four free throws for 24 points. His tournament total is 55.

Bradley and Bowling Green will clash at 8 p. m. (EST) Saturday in a consolation, to be followed by the championship game at 9:45 p. m.

O'Donnell Is Meet Winner

O'DONNELL, March 18. (Special)—O'Donnell won first place in a five school track meet here yesterday, defeating Seagraves, Post, Slaton, and Tahoka by scoring 57 points. Seagraves was second with 52, and Post had 21.

Buddy Brock took individual honors for O'Donnell with 17 and three-fourths points, and Maurice Fluitt of Post was second with 15 and one-half points. In third place with 13 and three-fourths points was Joe Palmer of O'Donnell.

Brock Takes Firsts

First place in three events was won by Brock. He ran the 120-yard high hurdles in :16.2, the 200-yard low hurdles in :26.1, and threw the discus 108 feet, 2 inches. Stafford, Jackson, and Bennett of Seagraves placed second respectively in each of these events.

Fluitt won the 100-yard dash in :10.3 with Palmer second, the broadjump at 17 feet, 6 and one-half inches, and the shot-put with a heave of 36 feet, 6 inches. Hearne was second in broad jump, and Jackson was second in the shot-put. Both are from Seagraves.

In the 440-yard dash, Roundtree of Seagraves finished first in :55.5 with Bill Layne of O'Donnell second.

Palmer won the 220-yard dash in :23.3. Hearne was second.

O'Donnell took the 440-yard relay in a time of :47, with Seagraves, Post and Slaton finishing in that order.

Crotwell of Tahoka ran the 880-yard run in 2:14.8 to finish ahead of Lampp of Seagraves.

The mile run was won by Jimmy Melton, O'Donnell, in 5:20, with Hill of Tahoka finishing second, and O'Donnell also won the mile relay with a 3:58 performance with, you guessed it, Seagraves finishing second.

Jackson vaulted 9 feet, 8 inches, to take the event, and Palmer placed second. Tahoka's Carter high jumped 6 feet for the winning leap. Jones finished second for O'Donnell.

Five Schools Land Players On All-SWC

FORT WORTH, March 18 (AP)—Five schools landed players on the All-Southwest conference basketball team selected by campus sports editors of the seven members.

Texas Christian's J. J. Dolnics made the team without the vote of his own school's sports editor.

In addition to Dolnics, the mythical quintet includes Bill Tom of Rice, Don Heathington of Baylor, Slater Martin of Texas, and Bob Prewitt of SMU. Tom and Martin were the only unanimous choices for the first team.

Beaumont Nine Edges Dallas

(By The Associated Press)

Texas League baseball teams got in some pre-race practice against each other yesterday in exhibition games.

Beaumont squeezed by Dallas, 6-5, at Cuero, and Houston blasted San Antonio, 8-5, at Seguin.

In a third contest, Shreveport swamped the semi-pro Vivian, La., Pelicans at Vivian, 18-1. The Sports collected seven home runs.

Gets Two Homers

Jerry Witte hit two home runs for Dallas. But four hits, two walks, a wild pitch and an error gave Beaumont five runs in the seventh. Another in the eighth was enough.

Manager Del Wilber hit a home run and a triple to lead Houston to victory. His home run came with one aboard and his triple drove in two more tallies.

Today, San Antonio will see three league teams in action. The Missions play host to Beaumont while Randolph Field of San Antonio will meet Houston in the Rambler's home town.

Texas Team Takes Lead In Swim Meet

AUSTIN, March 18. (AP) — The University of Texas had a lusty head start today in the Southwest conference swimming meet. Its tankmen won four of the five places last night in the 1,500-meter free style grind. It gave the Longhorns a 12-4 lead.

It was the only event scheduled last night. Six events of the meet are scheduled today and five more Saturday.

Longhorn Captain Jim McCann won the event last night in 20:35.4. It makes him the record holder, since this is the first time the event has been held in the conference.

Second was A. & M.'s Bernie Syfan.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

When Ben Collins, assistant coach of Texas Mines, came through here on his way to Lockney, he visited Tech briefly. Later we talked with him while riding back from Lockney with Dell Morgan—talking, that is, when we weren't listening to the Bill Henderson Jean Mougin fight. Ben wasn't too optimistic about the Miners' chance for a Border Conference title next fall. He said that there were altogether too many injuries in the spring training season.

Almost all squads have injuries in the spring, so we didn't think too much about it, until he went on to say that a couple of players had broken legs and several of the others had been pretty heavily damaged. He went on to say that they would miss Flying Freddy Wendt in the backfield, but that they'd miss Ray "Sugar" Evans at tackle even more. Evans was the key to the success of the Miners, who wound up the season with only one loss, the one to Texas Tech.

Our El Paso sources indicate that Ben was talking a little to left of center. The Miners lettered 27 men after the 1948 season and they will lose only seven of this number. In addition, they had one of the best freshman teams they have had in a long while. Coach Jack Curtice, moreover, turned down an opportunity to leave the Mines primarily because he was too interested in what the 1949 varsity promised. Jack thinks that the Miners will have just as good a season and possibly better. None of the Mine followers believe that Tech was as much better as the 46-6 score said.

Missing from the Miners will be Evans, Wendt, and Jake Rhoads of Odessa, all first line men, and reserves that include Charles Edmondson of El Paso, Jim Fager of El Paso, Coleman Huffman of Clarendon and Lav Humphrey of El Paso. Returning will be such established players as Jim Bowden of Odessa, Pug Gabrel of Odessa, Wayne Hanson of Monahans, Ernest Kelly of El Paso, Jim DeGroat of El Paso, Fred Rosas of El Paso, Lee Cargile of Sanderson, Joe Valencia of El Paso, and Sonny Holderman of Odessa. Captains of the team will be Kelly, Bowden and Hanson.

Ralph "Ears" Earhart had a fine season with the Green Bay Packers. It was the first in the pro show for the former Texas Tech scatback and he turned in a fine performance. League records show that he stood 12th in punt returns (second on the Packers), with 11 returns for 137 yards, or an average of 12.5. His longest return was for 27 yards. As a team, Green Bay was second, trailing the Chicago Bears. Ears returned two kickoffs for 51 yards, one of which was a 27-yard scramper. Green Bay was ninth in team standings for kickoff returns. Walter Schlinkman returned four kickoffs for 89 yards, an average of 22.3 yards a carry and his longest was 34 yards.

Fred Enke, jr., who used to perform for Arizona, also had a good freshman year. He ranked tenth in forward passing, throwing 221, completing 100 for an average of 45.2. He gained 1,328 yards with his passing, 11 of the aerials going for touchdowns. The Detroit Lions, for whom he played, stood seventh in passing. Enke also had five kickoff returns for 76 yards, an average of 15.2 each time for a team that ranked tenth. His return of 48 yards was the longest any member of his team made. Surprisingly enough, Enke didn't score a point all season, but Earhart was 48th on 18 points and Schlinkman stood 40th on 24. And Green Bay was last in scoring.

Bobby Layne, also a freshman last year, came back with a good record. He had no kickoff returns, but he stood 14th in passing. He attempted 52, completed 16 for a 30.7 average and gained 232 yards. Three of his aerials were for touchdowns. But the biggest achievement was his 3.8 defensive average, meaning that usually either his passes were incomplete or else they connected. And Bobby had a pair of pretty good men to try and beat out in Sid Luckman and Johnny Lujack. Bobby scored one touchdown and his only field goal attempt failed.

THE ROUNDUP: Kenny Pharr of Lubbock, Bob Bogle and Jack Weldon of Plainview and Bill Gentry of Slaton are football candidates at New Mexico, which has not less than eight Amarillo boys trying out . . . The Lobos have 69 men practising and an intra-squad gameis slated April 1 . . . That re-match between Henderson and Mougin is as good as set for late April—here. . . . Texas Mines, New Mexico and WTSTC all picked up football players who went to Texas last fall, but who did not ruin eligibility by playing. . . . Tickets for the Giant-Indian game are going slowly, with about 1,800 of the 8,000 tickets gone . . . Burning sports question now is, will Lippy Leo Durocher bring Laraine Day here with him? . . . This isn't sports, but you could do a lot worse Saturday night than take in the concert by the SPEB-SQSA quartets. See you Sunday.

Christian Scientists Must Be Vaccinated

SAN ANTONIO, March 18 (U.P.) —Adherents of the Christian Science faith must take smallpox vaccinations, along with all others of school age under terms of a city ordinance.

City council yesterday refused a request by a delegation of Christian Scientists, who asked that their children be exempted from vaccination requirements because such treatment was contrary to their religious teachings.

But the council upheld Dr. Austin E. Hill, city health director, who pleaded for strict enforcement of the 50-year-old ordinance.

Fights Slated At Boys Club

Nine bouts are on the card for the second fight night of the season at Boys Club, slated to get underway at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Last week 10 bouts were fought, and the fans really enjoyed them. Indications are that the matches will be as good or better tonight, and Coach Glen White has put in another hard week training the boys for the fights.

A highlight of the night's activities will be the presentation of basketball letters to members of the four Boys Club teams the past season. Forty boys will receive the "L" for their services, 10 from each of the teams.

Open To Public

The bouts are open to the public and will be fought at the club at 2323 Avenue K. Special guests will be members of the Exchange club, and members will serve as judges, timekeepers, and announcers. Judges will be Dr. Jim Reynolds, Horace Humphries, and Wynn Buck. Marvin McLarty will serve as announcer, and timekeepers are Bill Bartlett and Charles Cathey. O. J. "Bo" Sexton will be the third man in the ring.

One of the matches will be strictly a family affair when Carl Noland, 132, meets his brother, Wayne, 140. James Williams, 99, will spot Joe Williams, 112, 13 pounds in their fight, but the going will not be easy for the heavier boy. Last week James was outweighed 25 pounds and punched out a unanimous decision The Williams boys are not brothers.

A return match between Ray Thornton, 114, and Jack Godfrey, 118, will be on the card. Last week Thornton won a split 2-1 decision, and the fight tonight should clarify the picture.

Other matches are Donald Gaither, 89, vs. Clinton Hicks, 91; Gene Calvert, 67, vs. Robert Warren, 74; Fritz Stanley, 115, vs. Buddy Neal, 110; Jimmy Godfrey, 77, vs. Tinker Carlen, 83; James Pritchard, 78, vs. Darrell Odorizzi, 79; and Bobby Fowler, 67, vs. Lloyd Owens, 64.

APACHES TO FLY

TYLER, March 18. (AP)—Tyler's Junior college Apaches plan to fly to the national junior college basketball tournament at Hutchinson, Kans., next week. H. W. Snowden, Dallas oil man, offered use of his Douglas DC-3 to the Southwest Junior College conference cage champions. Coach Floyd Wagstaff said the squad would leave Pounds field Monday morning.

Brawner, May Top Gridiron Hopefuls

Judson Brawner and Ralph May are not twins, but they have a great deal in common.

Both of them are freshmen at Texas Tech, both are football players — and both underwent knee operations this winter to correct injuries received last fall. To make the comparison more complete, both are bright prospects for the Red Raider football team.

Brawner is an Alabama boy who was an all-state selection while in high school. He is a fine prospect for Tech and the coaches are taking no chances with his re-injuring his knee this spring.

May comes from Sudan and was a star with the Class A Hornets. He hurt his knee midway through the freshman schedule and was sidelined against his wishes. He has a fine competitive spirit and is eager to make the grade.

Both players have spent the spring trotting around the practice sessions, tossing a football back and forth, trying to strengthen their respective knees. Operations on both of them were termed successful, but they are not strong enough yet to withstand the sudden twists and turns backfield men use.

Brawner and May are two of the more likelier prospects at Tech in a long time and the coaches are treating them with care. Brawner is entirely satisfied with Tech and wants to make the varsity more than anything else.

May has the same outlook, with possibly a little more determination behind him. He originally enrolled at Hardin-Simmons, received what he thought was a bad deal and came to the Raiders voluntarily. He also is entirely satisfied here.

When both boys are back in the kind of condition that will make it possible for them to run at full speed, as well as twist, turn and pivot, they will be given every opportunity to make the varsity. With the spirit they're showing, they may be hard to keep off—which doesn't make the coaches unhappy.

Meanwhile Tech's big varsity squad continues to go through daily spring practice drills, now in the second week. The backs are spending most of the time passing at one end of the field under the scrutiny of Coaches Tipp Mooney and Bobby Layne. They are working on offensive plays that next fall will be the backbone of the Raider attack.

At the other end of the field, Coaches Morgan and G. B. Morris are trying to whip the linemen into shape. The high-spirited group is going through daily scrimmage, while the coaches pick out mistakes and correct them. From this transfers and freshmen are getting valuable lessons in what they are supposed to do and in what is expected of them.

So far spring training has been a complete success.

Oklahoma Aggies To Clash With Wyoming

KANSAS CITY, March 18 (AP) The west, which has produced six of the ten National Collegiate basketball champions, begins its four-team playoff series tonight.

Matched in the first game are the Oklahoma A. and M. Aggies and Wyoming's Cowboys.

Paired at 9:30 o'clock (CST) are the Oregon State Beavers, Pacific coast champions, and the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, Southwest representatives.

The champion in the two-night meet here will vie with the eastern regional N. C. A. A. winner for the national banner at Seattle, Wash., next week.

The eastern playoffs will be held in New York Monday with Illinois meeting Yale and Villanova taking on Kentucky in the first round.

Film Shown To Lubbock Nine

The Western baseball squad went through batting and fielding drills Thursday afternoon at Chapman field baseball diamond under the direction of Coach Fred Taylor.

After practice a movie entitled "Keystone Combinations" was shown to the players. It was an instruction movie showing big league infield stars in action and demonstrating correct infield techniques.

Wind Slows Drill

A cool north wind took some of the fire out of the practice, but extensive infield practice was held. Tomorrow the boys have a holiday, and workouts will continue Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

In an effort to get a stronger throwing arm behind the plate, Coach Fred Taylor had Morris Turner working as catcher yesterday. Turner has been playing a third base-pitcher role for the Westerners, and Coach Taylor hopes he can work into the backstop position.

Next week the high school nine will play practice games with Boys Club and a team from Texas Tech; one with Slaton will be worked in if contacts can be made with that squad. Taylor has been trying to get games with teams in the area, but so far he has met with little success. He hopes to get two games with Hobbs, New Mexico.

Arrangements for three games with Altus, Oklahoma, have been made, and the Westerners will play there Friday night, April 15, and the afternoon and night of April 16. A schedule that calls for good pitching, and Taylor hopes to be able to produce such pitching by then.

of a council of the member nations, and of a defense committee to strengthen and coordinate the defenses of the whole huge region of North America, western Europe and the North Atlantic.

An attack against the territory, occupation forces, ships, planes or islands of any the Allies anywhere in this vast area would be the signal for all the powers to spring into action, according to the treaty's provisions.

Key Provision Of Pact Is Given

The key provision of the pact is article five, which says:

"The parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all; and consequently they agree that, if such an armed attack occurs, each of them, in exercise of the right of individual or collective self defense recognized by article 51 of the charter of the United Nations, will assist the party or parties so attacked by taking forthwith individually and in concert with the other parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area.

"Any such armed attack and all measures taken as a result thereof shall immediately be reported to the U. N. security council. Such measures shall be terminated when the security council has taken the measures necessary to restore and maintain international peace and security."

That is the long-debated section which, althoug stopping short of an automatic pledge to go to war, is designed to put Russia on notice that an attack on any of the western powers would instantly be met by all of them.

Eight Nations Are Definitely In

The "parties" referred to in the pact are the nations signing it. These will definitely include the United States, Canada, Norway, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. In addition Iceland, Portugal, Denmark and Italy have been invited and are expected to sign.

After next month's signing the treaty will come into actual force when a majority of the governments have ratified it. But the majority must include America, Britain, Canada, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Before the United States can ratify, the Senate must approve the pact by a two-thirds majority.

Even while the Senate is debating the treaty, President Truman is expected to send to Congress a billion dollar program to rearm the treaty nations of western Europe and thus give added meaning to the all-important article five.

Other major provisions of the proposed pact:

1. The North Atlantic council is to be "so organized as to be able to meet promptly at any time." Presumably it would be called into sessions as soon as an emergency threatened.

2. The defense committee "shall recommend measures" for defending the whole area and building up the military strength of the pact powers. The committee would be created by the council.

3. Each of the member nations would be obligated to engage in "continuous self-help and mutual aid." It is under this section that the American government will ask Congress next month to authorize a billion-dollar European rearmament program.

4. An armed attack which would cause the treaty powers to spring into action would be (a) an attack on the territory of any of the pact countries, including Algeria (French North Africa); (b) on the occupation forces in western Germany or Austria, (c) on the islands of any of the powers in the North Atlantic north of the Tropic of Cancer, or (d) "on the vessels or aircraft in this area of any of the parties."

Subordinate To UN

5. Several articles declare the treaty to be subordinate to the United Nations. These articles spell out the intentions of the member nations to seek peaceful settlements of all disputes, call for "strengthening their free institutions" and promise "economic collaboration" within the group.

6. After 10 years the treaty may be reviewed for possible revision and after 20 years any one of the nations may withdraw from it by giving a year's notice.

The treaty also provides that the signing nations may, by unanimous agreement, invite any other European state to join the alliance. A proviso is that a proposed new member be "in a position to further the principles of this treaty and to contribute to the security of the North Atlantic area." This leaves the door open for Spain and Ireland, particularly, if and when the treaty powers want to invite them and they want to join.

Faith Is Reaffirmed

The text is full of references to the United Nations. In fact, the treaty opens with a preamble in which the nations "reaffirm their faith in the purposes and principles of the charter of the United Nations and their desire to live in peace with all peoples and governments."

Despite this declaration of peaceful intentions and the emphasis on "self-defense" as the reason for making such a pact at all, officials here made plain that they expect Russia to use every available device in the arsenal of propaganda and politics to try to discredit, disrupt and defeat the project.

The Soviet union is not mentioned in the treaty itself. And the provisions could just as readily apply to any other nation which went on the warpath. But the State department has declared officially that the need for such a regional defense arrangement was created by Russia's "obstructionism" in the United Nations and the growing fear of war in Europe.

Shield For Recovery

In terms of American foreign policy the treaty is described by department officials as a shield for the multi billion dollar European recovery program. The aim of that program is to give the people in Europe a greater sense of security and thereby advance the economic reconstruction of the western nations.

In the view of some diplomatic authorities it remains to be seen whether that kind of result will quickly follow. There has been much speculation here and in other western capitals about what counter-moves Russia may make. Some officials believe the Soviet reaction may be to create a war scare this spring in an effort to defeat the purposes of the treaty.

Others speculate that, in time, the Soviets will see the West firmly arrayed in defensive formation and so take a "live and let live" attitude and undertake negotiations for a truce in the cold war.

For the present, however, Russia has shown no such inclination.

Communist leaders in the non-Communist countries have generally declared that if a conflict comes they will line up with the Soviet union.

President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson already have made clear that the treaty is but the first of various major foreign policy moves.

The next one is the arms assistance program for western Europe.

His Grocery Bill Is No Worry Now

A 22-year-old negro who figured to save at least $2.74 on the cost of buying food apparently had placed himself in a position where he won't need to worry about the problem for a month or more.

He, Lawrence Bunton, jr., alias James Brown, charged $2.74 worth of groceries to another person, after representing to a storekeeper that other person had given him that permission.

But the other person, Henry Riddle, took a dim view of the idea—and so did County Judge Walter Davies.

Bunton was sent to jail this morning to satisfy levies of $50 fine, court costs and 10 days.

Scouts Entertain At ABC Luncheon

A program of authentic Indian dances executed by members of Boy Scout Troop Eight entertained the American Business Club at the regular weekly meeting today in the Hilton hotel.

A group of nine boys under the direction of Scoutmaster Frank Runkles performed the Sioux prayer dance, the Taos pueblo eagle dance, an Apache religious number and the Kiowa and Sioux war dances. All of these dances were learned directly from the Indians on reservations in Oklahoma and New Mexico which the boys visited last year. Indian lore is the featured study of Troop Eight and members have gone into the study of it extensively.

President George Dale presided over the meeting and introduced one new member, Clinton Woodlock, and the guests: Bill Edwards, W D. O'Brien, Jesse Slaughter, Big Spring; A. J. Carpenter, Foxey Hughes, J. Orville Smith, Bill Lynn, John Powers, Denver; Ted Evans, Seminole; Jay Gordon and State Senator Kilmer Corbin.

Members were urged to attend the "Parade of Quartets" at the high school auditorium tomorrow night. They were reminded that 20 per cent of the proceeds would go to the club's project, the Lubbock Boys' club.

to the last.

Its adoption means that two-thirds of all of the Senate's 96 elected members will have to be in the chamber and vote for a gag before it can become effective.

Previously the Senate had a rule that after a measure actually was before it, two-thirds of those voting—even if only 49 were present—could curb talk. But that rule didn't work against motions to bring up bills and other parliamentary moves. The new one does.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, predicted there never will be any anti-poll tax, anti-lynching or anti-job discrimination bills passed now, because talk won't be stopped under the new rule.

Rep. Pace (D-Ga), a House farm leader, sonuded an indirect warning to other members from rural areas during the rent debate. He said:

"I am sure, then, that those of us who serve farm districts will not be wanting in sympathy and understanding of the problems faced today by those who serve our great city districts.

"I am sure we will not be unmindful of the fact that . . . we serve best theinterests of the farmers when we seek to protect the economic welfare and good standard of living for those who consume the products of the farm."

Daily Markets

Stock Market

MOST LOSSES SMALL

NEW YORK, March 18. (AP)—The stock market finished in lower price territory today after a session of indecisive price changes.

Losses were small, though—most of them under a point—and a fair sprinkling of minor gains spotted the list.

Trading remained at a slow rate, only 650,000 shares or so for the full session.

Magnovox was one of the most frequent performers on the ticker tape with a gain of around ½ points. The rally, following a couple of days of rather severe selling pressure, lifted the price from a 1949 low incurred yesterday. The decline apparently stimulated a reassuring statement from the company's president late yesterday.

Atlantic Gulf West Indies steamship preferred shot up 7½ points at one time on limited volume and the common added around a point, both at peak prices for the year. The jumps coincided with news the company planned to sell assets of nearly $4,500,000 in line wis discontinuance of its Puerto Rican and Dominican Republic services.

Tending higher were American Distilling (wel) in ironi of most other issues), Gulf Oil, U. S. Gypsum, Dow Chemical, General Electric, American Smelting, Schenley, Caterpillar Tractor, Goodyear, and Laclede Gas.

Lagging most of the time were Lima-Hamilton, E. W. Bliss, Farnsworth Television (at the year's low), Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Oliver Corp., Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, International Paper, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Nickel Plate, and Santa Fe.

Giesler was hospitalized for a week after his car smashed into a tree. The attorney said his throttle apparently stuck and he was unable to slow down for a turn.

On another occasion when Off, former president of the Pasadena tournament of roses, had been drinking, Mrs. Lewis said he blurted: "Yes, I smothered her; yes, I killed her," referring to his wife, she said.

Mrs. Off, 71, died last July 28. The housekeeper said she later found a will in which all holdings were left to the daughter and nothing to Off. She said she gave it to Off but charges that it was never filed.

Off later offered to marry her if she refrained from testifying in the case, Mrs. Lewis stated.

Off, who recently married Mrs. Edith Hobbs Off, wealthy society matron, categorically denied all accusations made by Mrs. Lewis.

Rent Control

to that. He said it's only a 12-month extension with provision for a decontrol speedup during the following three months.

The increase provision allows rents to be boosted five per cent October 1, 1949 and another five per cent April 1, 1950, but in no case could the cumulative increase push the rent more than 15 per cent above the level of June 30, 1947.

For example, if a tenant's rent already had been hiked 15 per cent since June, 1947, he could be charged neither of the five per cent increases provided for in the Senate bill.

But if his rent has been raised only five per cent since that time, it could be boosted 10 per cent in the two five per cent steps authorized in the bill. If his rent already had been increased 10 per cent, then the October 1 five per cent hike would apply, but not the April 1, 1950, raise.

The full committee junked a subcommittee provision which would have allowed a third five per cent increase after another six-month interval.

Students Meet In City Today

Establishment of suitable "good will" relationships among schools of the new District 3-AA of the Texas Interscholastic league was the chief discussion topic today as representatives of student councils of the five member schools met here.

Representatives of high schools in Odessa, Midland, Brownfield, Lamesa and Lubbock had Lamesa and Lubbock have dinner together at Chicken Village at noon. M. C. McCabe, sponsor of the Lubbock High school student council and dean of boys, is making arrangements for the meeting.

committee. Their drive ends officially today for pledges to the fund which will guarantee premiums above market prices for exhibited animals sold at auction the final afternoon of the show.

With reports still incomplete, Finance Chairman J. Lawrence Green announced the goal of $3,500 in pledgese seems sure to be exceeded.

The pledges reported, he said, total $2,753 from 193 business and professional men. The figure does not include an allowance for the premium which will be paid for the grand champion steer. Show officials estimate $1 a pound on the hoof as the minum which will be paid for this animal.

In addition, Green reported. 15 firms advised solicitors they will do their own buying instead of operating through the show purchasing committee. These will add several hundred dollars to the premium total.

No reports have been received on 58 prospects assigned to finance committee members. These will add substantially to the pledge total, the chairman believes.

Only 27 out of 250 prospects on which reports were received have declined to make any sort of pledges, Green said.

The more than 400 boys expected to be here for the competition will be urged to attend services in churches of their choice Sunday.

Monday night they will be guests at any of the Lindsey theaters they prefer to attend.

The chief entertainment feature will be the annual barbecue in the Texas Technological college Livestock pavilion Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. Service clubs will supply the food. Members of the Lions club will prepare and serve it.

There'll be no long speeches and very few short ones at the barbecue, Hunt assured. Entertainers will include the Kiwanis Hot Shots and the Davis tumbling team. The big feature will be the distribution of premium checks.

Under the bill, the use of federal funds for parochial and other non-public schools is left up to the states. Some states permit this; others do not.

For the most part these services would consist of medical and dental examinations, although Senator Smith (R-NJ) said treatment also would be provided for children unable to pay for proper care.

Girl Helps Police Stop Wild Driver

A girl, with a simple twist of the wrist, assisted two prowl car patrolmen in overhauling a motorist who allegedly was driving wildly over Lubbock streets about 1:25 a. m.

Corporation court officials, who fined a 24-year-old Shreveport man $50 after a plea of guilty of reckless driving, quoted J. H. Schenk and Arlen Ray Mason, the patrolmen, as saying they were chasing the Louisianan—and not having too much luck—when the girl, riding with the fugitive driver, reached over and turned off the ignition key.

The defendant sped through a red blinker light, forced another motorist to the curb, declined to heed a police siren, and almost overturned twice, the officers said.

1949 Prospects

said: "Usually our files contain enough names to care for the normal demands from employers."

Figures Are Revealed

A labor market letter released by the TEC today shows that of the total 26,730 non-agricultural workers in the Lubbock region only 1,925 of them are employed in manufacturng. All others are employed in non-manufacturing trades and service occupations. Of these latter 6,800 are engaged in the retail trades alone. The next highest category is the service workers with 3,835 and this is followed by 2,610 in the medical and other professional fields.

"Last year at this time we had an almost identical picture before us," Berry said by way of comparison. "It was equally good then, which leads us to believe that Lubbock is undergoing a very healthy and steady growth. It has bordered on a boom but it has been a controlled boom and one that has not gotten out of hand to cause a collapse later."

At the present time the TEC is making a survey of the available supply of farm labor in the Lubbock area. The survey is being conducted under the direction of Vernon O'Farrell who supervises the farm program for the TEC.

Early Demand Expected

This survey is being undertaken in anticipation of an early demand for workers in truck planting and cotton chopping. The office wants to have a supply of workers on hand when the calls start to come in. The survey will not only include the number of workers available but the amount of experience each has had and any special qualifications he or she may have to offer the prospective employer.

TEC officials are expecting some calls soon for field hands to assist in onion planting which is scheduled to begin sometime within the next two weeks.

One of the interesting facts that the survey has disclosed in its early stages is the fact that after the last cotton harvest some 30 crews of agricultural workers have settled here to make Lubbock their home. These workers have decided that Lubbock offers the best prospects for year around employment or like being centrally located so that they can work the fields in the valley, move into the Lubbock area as the season advances and then on into Colorado later in the year. After finishing off such crops as the sugar beets and grain in Colorado most of them return to Lubbock to await the next growing season.

Figures Not Complete

The survey had not completed figures on the total number of workers who had settled here but the crews contained as many as 60 workers in each. A safe and conservative estimate would be that at least 1,000 workers had been added to the labor population of Lubbock in this manner.

Berry pointed out that at the present time the TEC files indicated a surplus of year around farm hands. Some of this group are of the highly skilled class and include individuals and familiies. So far the demands of the farmers have not come up to the expectations of the TEC. Berry believes this is partly due to the fact that the farmers are not aware that such skilled help can be obtained through the TEC. Berry says these workers are now available and ready to make contracts for the coming year. He feels that most of them will be employed by the time the planting season begins.

"I don't feel that we are being over optimistic at all when we say that 1949 will be as good a year as any in the past for employment in Lubbock," Berry summarized. "We believe that the peak figure of 1,200 unemployed which was reached in February will be reduced to 900 not later than April 1. That is getting close to an absolute minimum which is always available in a fluctuating market."

Jim Black, KCBD announcer, will be master of ceremonies for Saturday night's show.

Added attraction this year will be a community sing conducted by Walter R. To Arrive By Plane

Most of the visiting quartets will come to Lubbock Saturday afternoon by airplane. The local group will greet them as they arrive at the local hotels.

After the program Saturday night, an afterglow buffet supper will be held at the Hilton hotel with the visitors as guests.

Sunday, the visitors and many local members will board two buses for a trip to Carlsbad, joining the New Mexico group in a similar celebration there.

West Texas Teachers Meet In City; New Officers Are Named ed prodigiously, the address stated.

The overcrowding, hurry and impersonality of human relations on many campuses is far removed from "a certain graciousness of life formerly believed to be one of the subtle assets of the college world." The result represents a qualitative loss to teachers and students, which many believe is offset by other considerations such as work done in the classrooms by veterans. "Not only are the records of these older students better but the testimony of teachers in general that they are more critical and skeptical of dogmatic utterances and authoritarian attitudes on the part of the teachers. They are quicker to detect slovenly instruction and to complain about it. They demand that the intellectual works shall have — what education should, of course, possess anyway—a vivid sense of its relevance for them, of its importance for their living."

DR. DOYLE D. JACKSON
Retiring President

William B. Deadrick, attorney of Odessa, discussing "The Necessity of Adequate School Plants and How to Acquire Them," described it as refreshing to look at boards of education, elected by the people of a community to serve the community, "in these days of regimentation and bureaucracy in which the shdow of our national capitol at Washington falls across every function of daily living."

Needs Are Discussed

Deaderick discussed adequate physical plants and adequate educational programs within the physical plants. Discussing the teacher shortage, he said the teaching profession must raise wages, that training centers in colleges and universities need to "turn out a superior grade of teacher" and that teachers need to keep the public informed of what is going on. He recommended public relations programs. He said that "in these times of doubt, of Communism and radicalism . . . this is the time above all others when America needs teachers who will bring up boys and girls grounded and founded in the principles and ideals which have made our nation great."

Delbert Downing of Midland, secretary of Midland Chamber of Commerce, delivering the final layman's address, praised teachers for their ability in the classroom, adding that they need to go further in telling the public that the future rests on the children they are teaching. He also touched on teaching of democracy in the schools.

Dr. Weston A. Petty, chairman of Lubbock School Improvement organization, presided in the morning session. Music was presented by Midland High school band, under direction of Frank Hoffman.

Jackson Opens Session

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education and psychology at Texas Technological college and retiring president of the West Texas Technological college and retiring president of the West Texas Teachers association, opened the session. Dr. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church, gave the invocation.

Mrs. W. O. Low of Big Spring, secretary, and D. A. Edwards of Crosbyton, treasurer, were elected last year for two-year terms. President-elect Miller is assistant superintendent of Odessa public schools, and will be superintendent there after July 1.

103 Delegates Attend

The meeting was attended by 103 delegates, representing 27 counties in District IV. Those present at the quiet session heard reports from various committees, heard annual reports from the president and treasurer, and named 27 delegates to the Texas State Teachers association convention to be held in Fort Worth next Thanksgiving.

A talk by Joe C. Humphrey, TSTA president, will be featured at an administrator's banquet scheduled for 5:30 p. m. today at the Hilton hotel, with Fred Miller, superintendent of Abernathy schools, in charge.

Classroom Teachers were to hold a luncheon at noon with Miss Jewell York, state president of Texas Classroom Teachers association, making the principal address.

Miss York was to be honored at a Classroom Teachers tea scheduled from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. today in the high school homemaking department living room.

Jackson Gives Report

WTTA this year has attained almost 100 per cent membership, Dr. Jackson told assembled delegates last night in his annual report. He commended I. T. Graves, superintendent of Floydada schools, for his work as membership chairman; Ishmael Hill, assistant superintendent of Lubbock public schools, for his coordination of the 24 section meetings to be held during this convention; and Floyd A. Honey, Lubbock High school principal, for his activities as house manager for the sessions.

The treasurer reported that the association has $1387.57 on hand, with expenses for this year's program paid.

Donald McDonald of Lubbock, in a teacher welfare committee report, recommended that the group favor teacher participation in forming general school policy and that sick leave be provided.

Americanism Teaching Urged

The committee on improving educational services recommended that the group favor teaching Americanism, emphasis on teacher recruitment, educational program evaluation, and greater use of available health and safety services.

R. E. Garlin presented the resolutions committee report, approving basic principals of the Gilmer-Aikin bill, supporting federal aid to education without federal control, urging passage of teacher tenure law based on indefinite tenure, favoring a retirement law increasing prior benefits, favoring adoption of multiple textbook laws for elementary schools, favoring efforts to get more elementary tearchers, urging expansion of audio-visual programs, and thanking various individuals and organizations cooperating with convention planners.

Mayor O'Dwyer To Give Jury Report On Wiretapping Case

NEW YORK, March 18, (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer's views on New York City's strange wiretapping episode may reach the ears of a grand jury before nightfall.

O'Dwyer has charged that at least 75 top city officials including himself were the targets of stealthy eavesdroppers, acting outside the law.

He is going before the grand jury to try to offer proof.

Details of the case are expected to be reviewed tomorrow at a meeting here of New York City's Democratic congressmen.

The session, described by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) as "all-important," raised the possibility of a congressional inquiry.

"We are going for the purpose of listening, of getting information," Cellar said yesterday in Washington. "Then we shall study what facts we have gathered to determine if anything should be done."

Election Coming Up

New York has a city election coming up in the fall. O'Dwyer probably will seek re-election, although he has not said so. In his opinion, a politician is entitled to the same privacy as any one else when he is on the telephone.

So he wants to know if any one planned to tap his wires and why. He has assailed multi-millionaire Clendenin J. Ryan in the case.

Ryan has denied any connection with the alleged plot that O'Dwyer has outlined. As a self-styled reformer, Ryan admits he is out to prevent O'Dwyer's re-election. But, he says, he does not have to tap telephone wires to get his information. Informers "right in the middle of the O'Dwyer camp," he says, are risking "their lives and the safety of their families" to give him proof that O'Dwyer is not a fit mayor.

Blackmailing Considered

O'Dwyer said police are investigating a report that blackmailers also have made a non-political good thing out of the wiretapping game.

Wiretapping devices reportedly were installed by blackmail gangs where shady business deals or illicit romances were going on. The victims were said to have paid off $1,000,000 a year to keep the blackmailers quiet.

There have been suggestions that the alleged wiretapping plot may have stretched far from New York. Ryan has announced that he hopes to drive "corrupt politicians" out of office elsewhere. City hall sources suggested that wiretapping plots may have been planned for Detroit and Chicago.

Wiretapping is a method whereby a telephone wire is tapped with another set of wires. This gives a third party access to any conversation on that telephone wire, just as if he was listening in on an old-fashioned, rural party line.

Another system makes a phonograph-like record of a conversation. This gives the wire tapper a permanent record of what is said.

In New York, wiretapping is against the law unless approved by a court. Violation of the law carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison.

New York's sensational case broke a week ago.

Two men, an ex-detective and a former U. S. treasury agent, were "asked" to go to city hall. There they were questioned by the mayor and his aides, who said they had learned that official wires were being tapped.

In the midst of the questioning, the former policeman, Kenneth Ryan, 45, slipped out of a wash room window and disappeared. He showed up two days later and a grand jury indicted him on a charge of breaking from custody while under arrest. He pleaded innocent and posted a $7,500 bond. He awaits a hearing March 28.

Kenneth Ryan also was charged with tapping the wire of borough president Hugo E. Rogers, leader of Tammany hall. A hearing on this charge is set for the same date.

Star Characters Named

During the past week, the case has drawn into the spotlight as odd a group of characters as ever graced a movie thriller—big-time politicians like O'Dwyer and Rogers, small-fry hangers-on, gamblers, men of great wealth like Clendenin Ryan, and smart private investigators.

The star characters in the expanding drama include:

O'Dwyer, 58, mayor of New York since 1946. He worked as a jack-of-all-trades after he came here from Ireland in 1910. He entered the New York City police department and studied law. He became a city magistrate. As district attorney of Brooklyn, he convicted the leaders of Murder, Inc., a gang of hired killers estimated to have taken 87 lives. He was elected mayor on the Democratic and American Labor party tickets.

Clendenin J. Ryan, 43, who heads a Good Government foundation that opposes O'Dwyer's re-election. He was a close aide of the late Fiorello H. La Guardia, who was mayor before O'Dwyer. He inherited part of a $141,000,000 fortune from his grandfather, the late financier Thomas Fortune Ryan. He is not related to—Kenneth Ryan, an expert electrician who became a recognized authority on police wiretapping while he was a detective. He quit the force about six months ago. He is said by O'Dwyer to have admitted the wiretapping plot and to have been working for—

Others Involved

John G. (Steve) Broady, 45, attorney for Clendenin Ryan. A husky blonde-haired man, he is a native of Texas with a story-book past in the field of law and private investigation. As long ago as 1940, he told a Senate investigating committee that his own phone wires were tapped. He was being questioned about an alleged attempt to tap the wires of the U. S. Supreme Court to learn in advance of an important decision. He denied any wire tapping then; he denies any now. He also has working for him—

Edward M. Jones, the former Treasury department agent. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan claims to have obtained from him a "fantastic and sensational" statement on recent wiretapping. He is under police guard as a material witness.

Frank Costello, a widely-known gambling figure, is not directly involved in the wiretapping case. But Clendenin Ryan claims that Costello runs New York City through Mayor O'Dwyer and Tammany hall. Costello has denied this. So has O'Dwyer.

Police have vut out a 13-state alarm for the arrest for questioning of another private investigator, Harold Brentnall, 52, described as an employe of Broady. Broady said Brentnall would surrender himself soon when he returns from a mission looking into "one of the most distant angles of this complex situation."

The island of Ceylon, with an area about the size of West Virginia, has a population estimated at more than 5,500,000.

New Mexico Bill On Employment Signed

SANTA FE, March 18. (INS)—Gov. Thomas Mabry today signed the fair employment practices bill passed by the recent New Mexico legislature, but he expressed doubt on its practicability.

He pointed out that the measure contains no appropriation and no machinery for enforcement. The governor called it "a gesture in the direction of racial and religious toleration and co-operation."

Mabry added "I never have favored too much of this kind of co-operation and tolerance through a mandate of law. I think rather that education, precept and example achieve more that way."

Americans Give Proposal Cold Reception

French Want To Swap Part Of Occupation Zones With U. S.

BERLIN, March 18 (AP) — A French offer to swap part of their occupation area in Germany with the United Sattes has been received coldly by high ranking Americans.

The French proposed recently that they give the U. S. all of Werttemberg, with all of Baden going to France. The French argument is such a move would place one complete German state under each occupation power. Now France and the U. S. share the two states.

Authoritative U. S. sources say the trade would benefit only the French and tht it would be disadvantageous to the United States from a military point of view.

Block Zone Agreement

Besides, they say, if the French whole-heartedly merge their zone with those of Britain and the U. S., it would not make any difference where the occupation boundaries are. The French have blocked the tri-zone fusion agreed on at London last year.

France Strips Area

These sources say France has stripped the Wurttemberg area of war reparations, while the Baden area now held by the U. S. holds a great deal of industrial resources restored since the war, with American dollars.

The area the French want contains American military headquarters in Europe at Heidelberg, plus troop baracks and heavy military equipment. It is also close to the Rhine, over which any retreat would be made, if necessary.

Head Of Evangelistic Work To Speak Here

Four services will be conducted Sunday. One will be held for the youth division at 10 a.m., one at regular worship time at 11 a.m., one at 3 p.m. for men from Methodist churches of this area, and one at the regular evening service time at 7:30 p.m.

Approximately 50 churches are expected to send delegations to the men's rally at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Lamesa Man Found Guilty

LAMESA, March 18. (Special)—A county court jury which had deliberated for more than two and a half hours returned a verdict of guilty about 12:20 o'clock this morning in the aggravated assault trial of R. D. Taylor, 35-year-old Dawson county farmer, and assessed a fine of $1,000 as punishment.

Taylor was accused of three counts of assault upon Ray Culp, Lamesa school principal, on the night of Feb. 18, and the jury, with Fred Flaniken as foreman, found him guilty upon all three counts.

Crowd Of 200 On Hand

The verdict was returned before about 200 spectators in the district court room after a crowd of about 600 had started to dwindle almost an hour before. The tired and trial-weary crowd showed no visible reaction to the jury's report.

Defense attorneys, George and Clyde Thomas of Big Spring, filed an immediate motion for a new trial, County Judge R. W. Herndon said.

The case had gone to the jury about 9:45 p.m. Thursday, after two days of trial.

The court recessed about 2 p.m. after testimony had been completed, and went into session again at 7 p.m. with arguments by prosecutors and attorneys for the defense.

The state, represented by County Attorney Vernon Adcock and District Attorney Stansell Clement, called for the jury to reach a verdict of aggravated assault, and asked that the maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine be assessed in the case.

Defense attorneys objected twice during the course of the state's argument, bringing the total number of objections to 12 during the trial's course.

Objections were based on Adcock's reference to treatment of students by school officials, and his telling the jury to "make an example of the case." Both were overruled by Judge Herndon.

A total of about 80,000 words of testimony had been recorded by Bill Swain, court reporter, when the jury was sent out to reach a verdict at 9:45 p.m.

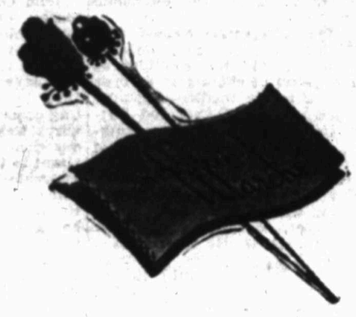

Defense attorneys had indicated earlier Thursday that they would file a motion for a new trial should the jury's verdict be against their client.

Rail Walkout Effed Mounts

ST. LOUIS, March 18. (UP) — The Wabash railroad said today that it was laying off 8,500 workers due to a strike by four operating brotherhoods and that only a skeleton force would be on duty by Monday.

Hope faded swiftly for early settlement of the strike by 2,500 engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors to force settlement of more than 100 grievances, some dating back 10 years.

George H. Sido, operational chief of the railroad, said the road had furloughed some of the non-operating employes and probably would step-up layoffs today.

Sido said the company could make no further moves toward settlement since President Truman appointed a fact-finding board to investigate the dispute.

Not Bound By Move

However, he said he felt that the unions "ought to comply with the request of the president of the national railways mediation board" by returning to work until the fact finding board acts on the dispute.

Union spokesmen claim that the men are not bound legally to return to work because the board was appointed after they struck. If the board had been appointed before the strike started, they said, they would have been required to stay on the job until the board reported.

The strike, meanwhile, was affecting more shippers and receivers along the Wabash route. The Decatur, Ill., Milling Co. said it may be forced to suspend operations if the strike continues.

SHE FAILED TO BEAT THE RECORD OF THE ROBERT E. LEE — Racing upstream against strong Mississippi River currents, the diesel-powered Harry Truman failed to beat the record of the famed Robert E. Lee. The Lee ended its historic race along a 1051-mile course in three days, 18 hours and 14 minutes in 1870. The Truman, pushing one barge laden with 1100 tons of cargo, failed to match that speed by one hour and 16 minutes, although the distance from New Orleans to St. Louis is now considerably shorter due to changes in the river channel. Here, the modern barge is shown 80 miles north of Memphis, Tenn.

Rites For Service Man Will Be Held

Final rites for Cpl. Bobby Taylar, son of Mrs. Ermine Taylor, of 1611 Seventh, who was killed in action in Italy Feb. 22, 1945, are to be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at Bethel Tabernacle.

Rev. Floyd Dawson and Rev. Boyd McSpadden will officiate. The American Legion and VFW will conduct military graveside rites at Dubbock Memorial park cemetery.

The body of Cpl. Taylor, which arrived in Lubbock Tuesday, will be at Sanders Funeral home until the services. Members of the Boy Scout troop of which he was an active member, will be pallbearers.

Cpl. Taylor was born at Lueders on Sept. 4, 1924, and was graduated from Lubbock Senior High school in 1942. He was employed in war work in Richmond, Calif., until he was inducted into the Air Force in July, 1943. He received his basic training at Amarillo Air field, and advanced training at Lowrey field, Colo, and Florence, S. C. He was sent to Italy in November, 1944, where he was stationed with the 97th Bombardment squadron, 47th Bombardment group, 12th Air force.

Survivors, in addition to his mother, include his father, T. J. Taylor of Phoenix, Ariz., three brothers, W. M. of Paradise, Calif., Milton of Lubbock and Wilbur, who is stationed with the occupation forces in Frankfurt, Germany; and a sister, Mrs. Melba Rogers of Woodland Hills, Calif.

Most Sought After Date For Girls Is Baggy Pants Hughes

NEW YORK, March 18 (UP) — Who's the most sought-after date a girl could have?

Take it from the Broadway experts, it's Howard Hughes. He drives beautiful and glamorous girls around in battered jalopies. He wears tennis shoes in nightclubs. He frequently needs a haircut and his clothes can usually stand a pressing. Many a girl has sat for an hour in a restaurant with him without a word of conversation being exchanged.

He's worth $145,000,000 but he doesn't scatter diamond-studded trinkets. Or glossy furs. In fact he gives his girl friends very little but his company. But Broadway thinks the motion picture academy ought to award him a special Oscar as the film colony's outstanding escort. At one time or another his name has been linked with that of:

Billie Dove (one of the most beautiful of silent screen stars), Ida Lupino, Marian Marsh, Katherine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers, Nancy Carroll, June Collyer, Patricia Wilder, Mary Maguire, Wendy Barrie, Rochelle Hudson, Frances Drake, Linda Darnell, Ava Gardner, Lana Turner and dozens more.

Hughes unorthodox technique, often discussed in the night clubs and restaurants of the big street, does not even include the romantic approach. Usually when a girl catches his expert eye he assigns one of his associates to telephone her and ask for a date.

Sometimes the girl says no, but more often she is waiting at the appointed hour. And she generally keeps waiting for Hughes is likely to show up late casually passing off the tardiness as due to business.

If he likes the girl a lot, he may lend her one of his medium-priced cars. Some say the current trend of his interest can be determined by locating the car—much as Broadway could always tell playboy Tommy Manville's girl friend of the moment by who was wearing his ermine wrap.

Hughes became a man-about-town after he was divorced from Ella Rice, Houston, Tex. debutante in 1929 after four years of marriage. He settled $1,000,000 on her. Later he went to Hollywood where he gained fame as a starter of trends. With Jean Harlow he started the platinum blonde fad. Then he signed Jane Russell.

JOINT CHIEFS "HOME" EXPANDED

Top U. S. Military Planners To Have Secret-Room Layout

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP) Carpenters and painters are busy preparing a huge layout of rooms to give the nation's top military planners quarters that are more private and sound-proofed than any hide-out in a paper-back spy thriller.

The remodeled section of nearly 90,000 square feet in the huge Pentagon building will be the new home of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff. The military high command now uses a smaller area a considerable walking distance from the office of the secretary of defense.

This key planning group and its staff will be enlarged and strengthened if Congress approves proposed amendments to the national defense act.

Leaders Named

The star characters now in the joint chiefs of staff are Gen. Omar Bradley for the Army, Adm. Louis Denfeld for the Navy, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg for the Air Force and Adm. William D. Leahy, military adviser to President Truman. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia university, has been brought in on temporary assignment to umpire the services' differences.

It is now proposed to make this spot permanent by setting up a chairman of the joint chiefs. He would be military adviser to the President and the secretary of defense. Naturally a proper office must be found for this dignitary. It wouldn't do to have it whispered around foreign military headquarters that he didn't have a good view, big desk, several telephones.

With the joint chiefs in their closely guarded territory will be housed the remaining nucleus of the wartime combined chiefs of staff of Britain and Canada. The JCS and CCS are being moved into their new location not only to give them more elbow room and security but to get them within quick sprinting distance of the office of the secretary of defense.

Also in their new quarters the chiefs will be on one floor right below the close-lipped, equally well-guarded board of research and development, headed by Dr. Karl T. Compton. That will make for easy communication by private stairways.

The chiefs and the military researchers will be able to isolate themselves. They will be able to come and go through a private entrance. They are truly to themselves because sturdy iron bars already are being placed on some hall doors.

Soon to be hidden from the eyes of the curious will be the new terrain in which map rooms, conference rooms, narrow dead-end corridors and rooms within rooms are taking form.

Many walls of acoustic tile are being put in. Deep within this territory is a large square room of this tile.

Alongside of it are smaller tiled rooms. These interior rooms have no windows and few doors.

On the outer rim are offices with windows through which sunlight can stream. These likely will be the offices of the big guns. One, extra special, is probably that for the chief of chiefs, it has a bathroom.

MEET THE MANAGER—Paul E. McLain, manager of Western Auto store, was born in Oklahoma City, July 5, 1915. When he was 3 years old his family moved to Tennessee and his education was completed at Elizabethton, Tenn. In 1937, back in Oklahoma City, he started to work for Western Auto store there as a salesman. He became assistant manager before the war came along. Joining the Army Air corps, he was with the Eighth Air Force in England during the three and one-half years he served, on combat intelligence duty. He was discharged as a sergeant with six battle stars. Returning to Oklahoma City, he was soon named manager of a Western Auto associate store at Britton, Okla., then was made a "store installer" working out off Wichita, Kas. On March 6, 1948, the store here was opened and he became manager of it. McLain's two principal sports are golf and bowling. He is a member of Kiwanis club and the Masonic lodge. Mr. and Mrs. McLain live at 1002 Ave. X.

Charge Of Hijacking Is Misunderstanding

W. L. Sharpe, of 2822 Twenty-second, told newsmen late Thursday that "a misunderstanding" had contributed to his lodging of an informal complaint that he and a companion had been hijacked early Thursday morning.

One of two men who halted him and a companion and took two cases of beer from Sharpe's car "stopped us legitimately," Sharpe later explained.

"The man, a nightwatchman who was deputized a week ago in Hale county but had not yet received a badge, was under impression we had run a red light about 2:30 o'clock this morning at Abernathy. When he halted us to inform us we had run the light, he apparently felt we were in violation of another law by virtue of having a case of beer each." Sharpe reported the incident under impression false representation had been practiced upon him, he said.

Sharpe said after talking with Lubbock and Hale county officials that no formal charge of any character was filed and that he was willing to "let the matter pass as just a mistake." His beer will be returned to him, it was expected.

Smuggling In Germany Hiked

BERLIN, March 18 (AP)—Increased smuggling attempts show how tightly the Allied counter-blockade is pinching the Soviet zone of Germany, a U. S. military government report said today.

The report said that contraband seized at the border included machine parts, high grade tools, steel, motor vehicles and farm equipment.

About $600,000 worth of goods was smuggled across the border in the last three months of 1948, it was estimated. The border watch has since been tightened.

The report said also that "a nationalist and anti-occupation trend in Wurttemberg-Baden publications is continuing, despite reprimands and public warnings issued by military government."

In the last monthly report Gen. Lucious D. Clay warned that former Nazis and other nationalistic elements were plotting to regain control of German newspapers

House Group Will Hear Debate On Gasoline Sales Tax Repeal

AUSTIN, March 18. (AP)—Repeal of the 4-cent per gallon sales tax on gasoline will be argued before the House revenue and taxation committee Monday night.

The sales tax would be replaced with a 1-cent per gallon tax on processing of combustible fuels under the measure by Rep. Davis Clifton of Farmersville. Clifton said his bill would bring the state approximately $115,000,000 annually compared with $72,000,000 now brought in by the sales tax.

Will Be Given Hearing

The surface water code will be given public hearing before both Senate and House committees. It will be heard before the House conservation and reclamation group Monday at 3:30 p. m. and before the Senate water rights committee Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Other hearings include:

Monday—Before the House appropriations committee at 7:30 p. m. A bill by Rep. Jerry T. Stockyard of Frost appropriating $4,954,000 for public junior colleges. Before the House constitutional amendments committee at 2:30 p. m. a proposed amendment by Rep. Hames L. Norton of Nacogdoches to let state supported colleges use income earned by the permanent school fund for building purposes.

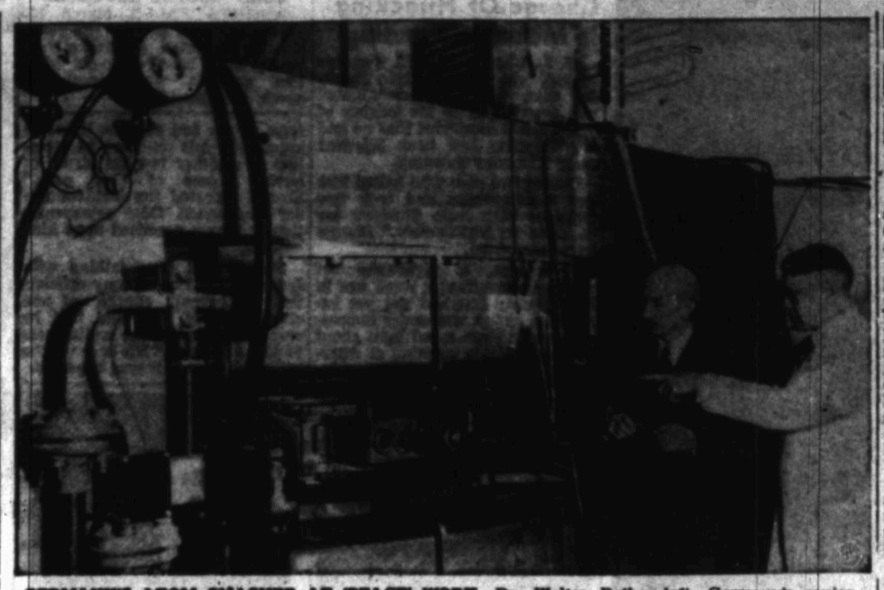

Tuesday — Before the Senate state affairs committee at 2 p. m. a bill by Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth doing away with the exemption from taxes certain corporations now enjoy.

Bill For Licensing

Wednesday—Before the Senate public health committee a bill by Senator Fred Harris of Dallas providing for licensing of cosmetologists and hairdressers. The basic science bill passed by the House also will be brought before the Senate health committee. This committee already has approved the Senate version of the basic science bill.

Before the House state affairs committee a bill by Rep. John Morrison of Chillicothe creating a Texas quarter horse commission and a bill by Rep. Edward P. Hughes of Newton creating a state real estate commission. Before the House penitentiaries committee at 2:30 p. m. a bill by Senator Walter Tynan of San Antonio regulating the sale of prison-made products.

Thursday — Before the House public health committee a bill by Rep. Jim Lindsey of Boston regulating the sale of sleeping pills.

GERMANY'S ATOM SMASHER AT 'PEACE' WORK—Dr. Walter Bothe, left, Germany's senior nuclear physicist, explains Heidelberg University's 12-million-volt cyclotron to a cancer specialist. The atom-smashing machine, only one in Germany to survive the war, is being used for "peaceful research" with permission of the U. S. Allied scientists say it would take Germany at least 100,000 years to produce a single atom bomb with the cyclotron, which has about 1/20th the volt capacity of American machines.

Loss Of Weight By Robert Mitchum Is Problem For Studio

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, March 18—RKO studio, which has had its troubles over Robert Mitchum, has still another one.

The self-styled "Mr. Cement Block of 1949" is slated to leave jail March 30th. Two days later he'll report for work on "The Big Steal," which was started before his imprisonment on marijuana charges. But after his weeks of cement mixing and other duties, he's a shadow of his former fleshy self. How to match his face in the earlier scenes is no small problem.

Ladd Kept Busy

Of course, RKO could have avoided the situation by postponing start of the picture until after the trial. But that would have been too easy.

Alan Ladd went through a fast week of fights for "After Midnight," which is shooting at a merry clip. "Economy, it's wonderful," says Ladd about the new speed-up methods of making pictures. Actually, it's nothing new. Ladd says it's just like the old days when he was getting one day's work in quickies.

Wanda Hendrix says Audie Murphy is mulling a sequel to his current book, "To Hell and ack." It would cover his Hollywood days. Seems to me it would be an anti-climax after his war story.

Burt Lancaster has three titles for his own production. It's "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands" in the big cities, "The Unafraid" in smaller towns, which apparently don't go for rugged titles. It's "Blood On My Hands" for the British trade. Censors wouldn't go for the more morbid handle.

Soap was a highly expensive item until 1,800 when a French scientist discovered soda could be made from common salt and by his research made soap available to common people.

Workers Tireless In Efforts To Aid Men

Brooklyn Veterans Hospital Is Good Lesson In Courage

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 18—A sudden blot in the brain struck down an elderly civil engineer at the peak of his career.

The stroke left him bed-ridden, voiceless, hopeless.

In time he came—on a stretcher—to the Manhattan Beach veterans' hospital in Brooklyn. He found company there among its "forgotten men," graduates of the first and second World War with ailments so serious their recovery chances were doubtful.

Treatments Are Available

And he found women there who were willing to spend endless time to help him find his voice again. They were volunteer gray ladies from the Brooklyn chapter of the Red Cross.

They took him into a small room for treatment of victims of aphasia, the loss or impairment of speech that comes from certain illnesses and brain injuries. It was a bright sunny room, but the engineer felt alone and lost. He wanted to be by himself.

There was a young combat veteran whose head had been struck by shrapnel. He learned 400 words in a year. There was little Frankie, a veteran of the first war who learned to walk after being paralyzed for 12 years.

Frankie, the hospital's best morale builder, inched on tortured feet to the engineer, as he did to all the other patients, and mumbled to him through a thick tongue:

"Fight! Fight! Fight!"

Man Shows Improvement

And gradually the engineer summoned up the will to try—to fight to overcome the damage wrought by the hidden enemy in him, a broken blood vessel. There was nothing wrong with his intelligence. He could still understand. He could still read. But he couldn't even pronounce his own name.

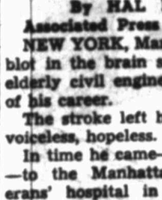

Word by word the engineer worked to recover his spoken vocabulary.

Recently the engineer passed a milestone on his road to recovery. He said unexpectedly:

"I'm going home for Easter."

Only five words—but they were the first complete sentence he had spoken in more than two years. And the engineer will be home for Easter, able to talk in some degree with his family. There is hope he will attain almost complete recovery—as some aphasia victims do.

Sometime, if you think the world has kicked you around, go out to a veterans hospital—and get a lesson in courage.

COAL MINERS BEGIN FIFTH DAY

Ohio River Freight Traffic Badly Hit

PITTSBURGH, March 18. (AP)—Freight traffic on the Ohio river was hit severely today as 467,000 coal miners start the fifth day of a two-week "holiday."

About 90 per cent of the freight hauled on rivers in the Pitsburgh district—the Ohio and its tributaries, mainly—is coal.

Barge movements are infrequent these days.

River spokesmen said figures on the number idled are not yet available.

The work stoppage already has made more than 67,000 railroaders idle, in addition to 467,000 coal miners.

Most of the miners found occupations for their spare time, even if only making repairs around their homes.

Renovate Stadium

In Hazleton, Pa., about 50 stalwarts of John L. Lewis' clan hauled out hammer and saw, rake and shovel and began to renovate the local baseball stadium.

Last Monday, under orders of the United Mine Workers' chieftain, all miners east of the Mississippi began a two-week work stoppage, a memorial to their killed and maimed comrades. Lewis also proclaimed the "holiday" a protest against appointment of James Boyd as U. S. Bureau of Mines director.

At Washington, the Senate last night again postponed action on the nomination of Dr. Boyd. There was no indication when a vote may come.

Guard Against Outbreaks

In West Virginia, scene of an isolated instance of miner violence Wednesday, law officers guarded against further outbreaks. UMW miners had forced trucks hauling non-union-mined coal to dump their loads on the highway.

Yesterday in Harrison county, where the incident occurred, Prosecutor J. Philip Clifford reminded officers coal dumping is a criminal offense under the state code.

Said Clifford, "I ask that you enforce the law rigidly."

In Clearfield, Pa., the UMW's district 2, with about 40,000 miners under its jurisdiction, authorized operation of some coal mines for brief periods to prevent undue hardships.

The union acted following a plea by the Greater Johnstown Coal Producers' association. The coal producers said the unexpected walkout caught them short-stocked and resulted in hardship on certain users.

Edward Sweeney, secretary-treasurer of the district, said mining permits would be issued to aid "hospitals, schools and home owners."

MOTHBALLS FOR TARAWA—With the New York skyline forming a dramatic backdrop, the aircraft carrier Tarawa passes under the Brooklyn Bridge on her way to the Brooklyn Navy Yard for inactivation. A veteran of World War II, the huge carrier will then be laid up in the expanding mothball fleet.

Molotov Heads Guest List At Red Dinner

MOSCOW, March 18 (AP)—V. M. Molotov headed the guest list at Prime Minister Stalin's dinner at the Kremlin last night honoring a delegation from the North Korean government.

Also high on the guest list was A. I. Mikoyan, released as foreign trade minister at the same time that Molotov was relieved of duty as foreign minister in the recent cabinet shakeup.

Their positions as high ranking guests strengthened the belief of Western diplomats that Stalin is assigning them to more important tasks, and that they have not lost favor.

The Atlantic coastal region has the lowest divorce rate in the country; the mountain division has the highest.

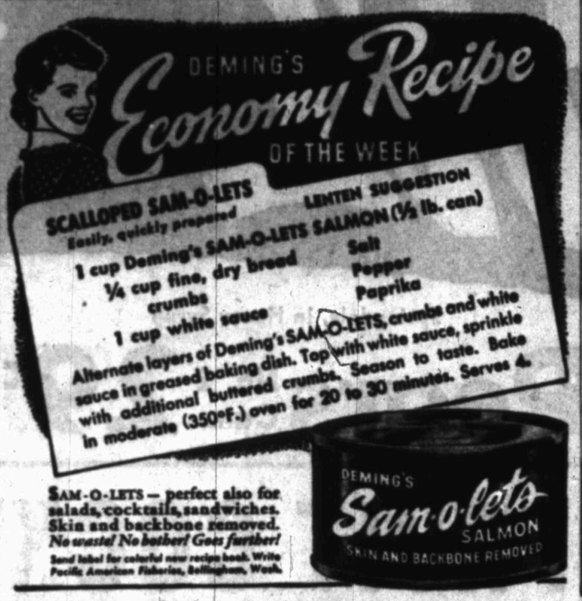

Youths Sentenced In Denton Assault Case

DENTON, March 18. (AP)—Bobby G. Vinson, 19, of Fort Worth was assessed a four-year prison term here yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a sex offense. The case involved an 18-year-old Texas State College for Women student.

Wednesday, Farrell Petty, 19, was assessed a four-year term on a similar charge. He also lives in Fort Worth.

Both youths also were indicated on a charge of assault with intent to rape.

South China Communist Revolts Cause Apprehension In Capital

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, March 18 — South China Red revolts caused apprehension in the capital today.

Premier Ho Ying-Chin reportedly rushed selection of a cabinet to cope with the new crisis created by the southern situation and threatened Communist crossings of the Yangtze river, which skirts Nanking.

Unconfirmed news dispatches said provincial troops in Kwangtung province threatened the huge port of Swatow. Government officials and the Ceneral Bank of seized .

Communist sources claimed their columns were operating in the provinces of Kwangtun, Kiangsi, Hunan, Fukien, Kwangsi, Yunnan, Kweichow and on the southern island of Hainan.

Uprising Reported

Official central news agency reported a rash of uprisings in Yunnan and western Hunan provinces.

Practically all government troop strength is massed along the Yangtze river line. There are comparatively few Nationalist troops in the south China area.

(Chiang Kai-Shek, retired president, previously was reported to have drawn a sizable force with him to Fenghwa, south of Shanghai, however.)

A government spokesman said yesterday the Communists were massing troops north of the Yangtze and there was evidence they might soon attempt to cross the river.

Meanwhile, government forces available in the area were rushed to Wuhua and Meihsen counties in eastern Kwangtung, southeastern province, to meet a Red threat there.

Fighting In Counties

Swatow reports said there was fighting in both counties.

Attacks on Hainan Nationalist forces were said to be under way. The island's communications reportedly had been disrupted.

Semi- official sources said the following Ho cabinet posts have been filled:

Deputy Premier Chia Chin-Teh, former minister of personnel of the control yuan.

Foreign affairs: Fu Ping-Chang, ambassador to Moscow.

Secretary general: Huang Shao-Ku, former governor of Chekiang.

National defense: Premier Ho, who has filled the post before.

Education: Li Cheng, former chancellor of Peiping National Normal university.

Economic affairs: Y. C. Sun, new chairman of the national resources commission.

Finance: Hsu Kan, finance minister in former Premier Sun Fo's cabinet.

Overseas Chinese affairs: Tsi Kwei-Sheng, previously deputy commissioner of the same ministry.

Mongolian-Tibetan affairs: Pai Yun, now occupying that post.

Ministers without portfolio: Chu Chia-Hua, former education minister, Chang Chun, former premier and presently Chungking pacification commander, and Chang Chi-Chun, former Sun Fo minister without portfolio and political administrator of northwest China.

In Shanghai Mayor K. C. Wu, who has tried nine times to resign, was reported by his secretary as determined to try to quit once more. Wu is American educated and holds what he calls "the world's worst job." Ill health was the reason given by the secretary for the latest attempt by the mayor to resign.

In the meantime reports filtering into Nanking from Communist areas to the north indicated the Reds were confronted with multiplying economic problems.

Serious inflationary difficulties were reported in Peiping, Tientsin and other cities and towns. Loss of confidence in Communist currency was said to be interfering with the normal flow of trade and the movement of food.

Beer, Pool Hall Bill Has Local Opposition

Telegrams were dispatched to Austin by local groups and churches this week asking Senator Kilmer B. Corbin of Lamesa and Rep. Preston E. Smith or Lubbock to oppose House Bill No. 16 pertaining to the sale of beer and legalizing pool halls.

Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, president of the local chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance union, was a leader in the movement.

Mrs. Kaigler said Thursday she had received the following reply from Senator Corbin:

"I am indeed happy to have your telegram in opposition to House Bill 16. I agree with you and the membership of your organization 100 per cent in your opposition to this vicious and dangerous legislation concerning beer and pool halls. Your group is to be commended for your vigor in opposing this type of bad legislation. I am happy to assure you that I will oppose passage of this measure. Not only will I vote against it but I will work and fight against its passage."

TIME FOR INFLATION—More like a creature of a forgotten world than a naval airman, Harold Cheshire, of the British aircraft carrier Vengeance, inflates the new "Mae West" flying suit in Edinburgh, Scotland. The suit protected him during the Royal Navy's six-week maneuvers in the Arctic.

Old Tax Technique Revived In Effort To Halt Big Operators

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 18 — The government has revived the income tax technique that smashed Al Capone in an effort to break up "the combination" — the big time operators who control the nation's rackets—it was learned today.

Crack agents of the Internal Revenue department have been turned loose to ferret out sources of income, legitimate and illegal, and build up a case for wilful evasion of taxes. It was this charge that sent Capone, racket boss of Chicago, to prison in 1932 when every effort to slap other criminal charges or him had failed.

This Job More Complex

But the job this timeis considerably more complex than it was in Capone's day when underworld income was almost all outside the law—rum running, prostitution, narcotics and gambling. And the modern gang leader, shrewd, resourceful and with considerable business and organizing ability, is a far wilier customer than the rough and ready brawler who terrorized Chicago.

Almost all the men on the Internal Revenue department list were present at a meeting in Atlantic City in 1929 which was called to parcel out the country to various groups and avoid the gang wars which seemed inevitable in the spreading struggle for the rich revenues of prohibitionand other rackets.

Formed Directorate

The meeting formed a loose interlocking directorate in which the top men of the East, South, Midwest and Far West completely dominated their own districts and had small interests in the territories of their allies. One of the delegates, Bugs Siegel, who ran the west coast, was reported to be making extravagant demands on his associates shortly before he was shot and killed two years ago.

But otherwise there has been little violence—an indication of the efficiency of the setup. And law enforcement authorities familiar with the arrangement say regretfully that the syndicate's inflexible practice of operating only where it has political protection makes it unlikely there will be any major local action against it.

A massing income tax evidence against the syndicate is considered a formidable job. Its members are known to report scrupulously any income which can be traced. The agents must find income which is never recorded and which is handled exclusively in cash.

Believed To Be Vast

This is believed to be a vast sum. The California commission on ogranized crime charged last week that the nationwide slot machine racket alone provided an income of $2,000,000,000 a year. The commission named Frank Costello, dapper 56-year-old New York politician and philanthropist, as head of the racket—a charge he denied.

Costello, who is one of those alleged to have attended the Atlantic City meeting, was tried for evasion of $796,000 in taxes on an income of $2,500,000 in 1936-37. He was acquitted on his testimony that he had to parcel out most of the money in conducting his businesses.

One of the nation's biggest gamblers also is on the list of those being investigated.

WHERE WILL HE PUT NEW HASH MARK?—M/Sgt. Horst W. Tittel, 84, right, unofficial "grandpappy" of the U. S. Air Force with 40 years of service to his credit, is congratulated by Capt. William Lipsom at Mitchell Air Force Base, N. Y., after enlisting for three more years. A lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, Sergeant Tittel is chieff clerk in the office of Lt.-Gen. George Stratemeyer.

Denver Police Hold Couple From Texas

DENVER, March 18 (INS)—Denver police today were holding a man and a woman who escaped from the jail at Tyler, Tex. and brought the keys along with them.

Detective Capt. James J. Pitt identified the two as W. C. Stansbury, 28, and Mrs. Bertha Knight, 23.

Stansbury told officers he met Mrs. Knight in the jail while he was awaiting transfer to the Texas penitentiary after being convicted of forgery. Mrs. Knight and her husband were serving 30 days for vagrancy.

He said he was made a trusty and used the jail keys to escape with Mrs. Knight—leaving her husband behind. The couple allegedly stole a jeep and toured southern states.

Pitt said the pair was under investigation on a bogus check complaint. They have waived extradition and will probably be returned to Smith county, Texas.

AMA Says It Has No "Official Spokesman'

CHICAGO, March 18 (AP) — The American Medical association today declared it has no "official spokesman."

The statement, in an editorial published in the curent journal of the AMA, said "unwarranted misrepresentations as to the association" made it necessary to emphasize that AMA policies are entirely determined by the association's house of delegates.

Officers and employes of the AMA as well as the public relations firm recently retained to publicize the AMA's program of public "education," only "present the point of view of the house of delegates," the editorial said.

U. S. Babies Eat Too Much, Expert Claims

MINNEAPOLIS, Mar. 18 (U.P.)—American babies eat too much, one expert believes.

Dr. L. Emmett Holt, jr., pediatrics professor at New York University, told professors attending a University of Minnesota short course that the increase in heart disease reflects the condition.

He says the trouble eventually shows up among adults.

One reason, says Holt, is the introduction of solid foods into a baby's diet at an ever-earlier age. The portion of sugar in the milk formula isn't cut down at the same time in most cases. That results in too rich a diet.

Holt doesn't think much serious physical damage is caused by this condition . . . as long as the condition is corrected later.

Wildcat Well In Gaines County Is Due To Take Drillstem Test

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Hicks, southeast Gaines county wildcat, about 25 miles south and east of Seminole, and 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, league 273, Loving county school land is due to take a drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger shortly.

The venture entered that formation at 13,102 feet, on an elevation of 2,986 feet. It drilled to 13,130 feet, and is now conditioning the hole, and putting the rotary equipment in shape to take the planned drillstem test.

The section of the Ellenburger so far drilled showed some signs of porosity. No information is available as to whether or not any of the samples from the formation developed any indications of oil or gas.

Application Filed

General American Oil company of Dallas has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start drilling immediately on a wildcat to go to 7,500 feet to test into the Ellenburger in the Arick area of extreme Southeast Hale county.

The venture will be General American No. 3-B Carmickle. It is located 330 feet from west and 990 feet from south lines of northwest quarter of section 18, block K, TTRR survey, and two and one half miles northeast of the town of Petersburg. Rotary tools will be used.

The Arick field has developed some production from the Wichita-Albany section of the lower Permian and also from the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian. However, several explorations drilled in the region have been failures in both of those pay sections.

Drilling of the Ellenburger prospector will be of much importance to the territory.

Extension Completed

A west extension to the Shafter Lake - Wolfcamp production of north-central Andrews county has been completed at Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-KK University, 330 feet from south and east lines of section 14, block 13, University survey.

The well flowed nine hours through a ½-inch choke to make a 24-hour potential of 381 barrels of oil, with no water and a gas-oil ratio of 708-1. Gravity of the petroleum was 41.3 degrees.

The pay section at 8,484-8,550 feet in the Wolfcamp zone of the lower Permian was previously treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Swabs New Oil

Kewanee Oil company No. 1-C University, stepout from production from the Devonian on the north side of the Shafter Lake field in north-central Andrews county, and 660 feet from south and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 12, block 13, University survey, swabbed between eight and nine barrels of new oil per hour, after treating the section at 9,934-52 feet, with 1,000 gallons of acid. The production is through casing perforations.

Operator is continuing to test, and probably will re-acidize the current zone of investigation, and then follow by perforating and testing higher in the Devonian.

This project drilled to a total depth of 9,952 feet, and cemented a string of casing on bottom. It is due to be finished as a commercial oil well.

Extension Indicated

Etz and Robertson No. 1 University-Gulf, in section 14, block 13, University survey, and one-half mile north of the nearest Wolfcamp-Jermian producer on the west side of the Shafter Lake field has indicated an extension for that pay horizon, and is to run pipe and make completion tests.

It took a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp at 8,574-8,621 feet. The tool was open four and one-half hours. Gas showed at the surface in six minutes and oil started flowing in two hours and 55 minutes.

The well flowed to pits for the remaining one hour and 35 minutes on the test at the estimated rate of five to ten barrels oil per hour. The drillpipe unloaded some oil while being pulled. No formation water was reported.

Underground Coal-Burning Power Project Gets Underway

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 18 (AP)—An underground bed of coal was scheduled for ignition today with fires that may burn for years. The experiment seeks to tap a vast new source of fuel.

Elaborate preparations were made for the lighting at the Alabama Power company's Gorgas coal mine, about 60 miles from Birmingham. To the mining industry the project is of prime importance.

What they're trying to find out at Gorgas is this: Can coal be converted into a satisfactory heating gas without removing the solid fuel from its underground seams?

Sponsors of the experiment—the U. S. Bureau of Mines and the power company—believe it can. In a previous experiment on a much smaller scale early in 1947, the bureau said encouraging results were obtained.

So encouraging, in fact, that a second project was blue printed. And it's going to cost an estimated $500,000.

In that first test only about 400 tons of coal were burned underground over a period of two months. This time a half million tons may be consumed over a period of many months—possibly years.

Mining by fire, if perfected, would enable the nation to tap a vast new source of fuel. This is in the millions of tons of coal embedded in thin seams that can't be mined economically by ordinary methods.

Also, the new process might help offset the danger this country faces in its dwindling petroleum reserves.

Three Held In Home Thefts

ALTADENA, Cal., March 18 (INS)—Astounded sheriff's detectives poked through thousands of items in an Altadena mansion today, gathering evidence for what they have named "the squeaky toy wagon burglary case."

Stacked up in an almost endless array in the expensive eight-room home were odds and ends of everything—old shoes, clothes, furniture and knickknacks worth little or nothing to stamp collections valued at perhaps thousands of dollars.

According to detectives, an apparently wealthy couple and their grown son looted the articles from Altadena homes at night and carried them home in three squeaking toy wagons.

Have Valuable Property

Under arrest, accused of a series of burglaries, are Abraham Azoff, 62, his wife, Celia, 60, and their son, Samuel, 33.

Detectives said an investigation showed that the Azoffs moved here two years ago from Philadelphia and paid $20,000 cash for their house.

They own two pieces of rental property worth $28,000. They own property in Philadelphia of undetermined value.

There was a new, never-driven $2500 automobile in the garage. There were $11,000 in negotiable bonds in the house.

It was reported, but not yet confirmed, that the couple has a checking account with an $80,000 balance.

In the garage, along with the car, was a key-making machine, together with 200 blank keys.

TAKEN BY DEATH

DALLAS, March 18 (AP) — The manager of Southland Life Insurance company's accounting division, Glenn D. Gurley, 29, died here yesterday.

A tablespoon of melted butter or margarine mixed with two tablespoons of orange juice may be blended with confectioners' sugar for frosting cupcakes. Sprinkle with finely chopped toasted almonds, if desired.

144 Million Eggs Taken From Market In Price Prop Action

WASHINGTON, March 18 (U.P.)—The government took an egg away from you last week. That is, the egg was taken out of the national food basket. The government's going to take another scoop.

What happened last week was that the Agriculture department removed 144,000,000 eggs from the market. That's about one egg for every man, woman and child in the United States.

To Support Prices

The department took the action to support producer prices. If it didn't, the eggs would become a further glut on the market and prices would tumble. But the government is required by law to keep producer prices at a specific level until Dec. 31.

After Dec. 31, it will be up to the Secretary of Agriculture to decide whether eggs should be supported in price.

Since last May, the government has taken about 1,584,000,000 eggs out of the market to prop prices. But the purchases last week were the heaviest in almost two years.

Added To Stockpile

The eggs were shelled, dried and added to the government's huge stockpile of egg powder. This stockpile now holds the equivalent of 1,328,000,000 eggs.

The government doesn't have any particular use for these eggs. In fact, the Agriculture department now is wrestling with the problem of how to dump them abroad without taking a big loss.

Demos, GOP Blame Each Other For Killing Civil Rights Plan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 18. — The Senate's fantastic who-shot-John? drama is over. John was President Truman's civil rights program.

The program, says Democratic leader Lucas, was embalmed last night after three weeks of debate when the drama ended in a stunning victory for the Southern Democrats. Southerners weren't officially claiming a victory but Senator Russell said "we salvaged as much as we could."

Everyone knew the Southerners loaded the pistol. But who really pulled the trigger?

The Truman Democrats blamed the Republicans, the Republicans blamed the Democrats for any damage done.

At the end the Southerners, who had done the most talking, sat back calm and pleased, while the others argued.

The gigantic gabfest, one of the most unusual performances in Senate history, began Feb. 28.

The senators have been talking since then, filibustering, and filibutering on how to end a filibuster, splitting hairs, carting in huge dictionaries to confound one another with the meaning of words, berating one another, protesting their sincerity in all they were doing, and taking three weeks of talk to find out how to stop talking.

Through it all the galleryites peered down steadily to see where the body was buried. There was more buzz-buzzing by little groups of senators than I have seen in six years in Washington, more little huddles, more heads together, more arms-around-the-shoulder business, more signing o: petitions.

On the surface the civil rights program wasn't an issue at all. And some senators even said it wasn't, only to be jibed at by others who said a spade needed to be called a spade.

Night Recesses Taken

There are too many technical points to go into here, but this is the show in outline:

The Truman Democrats rolled up the curtain in February to set the stage for bringing up the civil rights program later.

Right there the Southern Democrats started their filibuster. They knew that if they could throw sand in the machinery now, the civil rights program wouldn't have a chance later.

Instead of forcing the issue—by keeping the Senate in continuous day and night sessions, thus forcing the Southerners to wear themselves out talking—Senator Lucas, leader of the Truman Democrats, let all hands go home every evening and rest up for the next day's talk. This was pretty soft on the Southerners.

These tactics of Lucas' later brought taunts from the Republican leader, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, that Lucas never really wanted to end the filibuster.

Motion Debate Included

But—when Vice President Barkley proposed a way to end the filibuster, most of Wherry's Republicans joined the Southern Democrats in voting it down. The Republicans said they wanted the filibuster stopped all right, but in a different, more legal way.

Then Lucas taunted the Republicans with insincerity. The Southerners, since nothing had been done to stop them, just kept on talking. Meanwhile, all other Senate work piled up.

Last night the Senate finally approved a proposal by Wherry for stopping most, but not all, filibusters. Wherry said it would permit action on civil rights. It works like this:

Two-thirds (64) of the 96 senators, whether the 96 are present or not, must vote to end a filibuster before it can be stopped.

This makes stopping a filibuster even harder to do—and therefore easier for the Southerners in the future—than the old rule. But it covers more territory; it can be used to stop debate on a motion. The old rule couldn't.

Under the old rule only two-thirds of those present at voting time could stop a filibuster if a bill were pending. For example: two-thirds of 50 could do it. But now, if only 64 senators are present, all 64 must vote yes.

Indonesian Family Stays In Australia

MELBOURNE, Mar. 18 (AP) — Mrs. Annie O'Keefe and her eight children, all Indonesians, will not have to leave Australia.

The high court of Australia ruled yesterday that the country's so-called white Australia law, which bars Asiatics, does not apply in her case.

Mrs. O'Keefe, widow of an Ambonese war hero, and her children were permitted in the country temporarily in 1942 as war refugees. She later married John O'Keefe, an Australian.

Recently Immigration Minister Arthur A. Caldwell ordered her and the children deported. The high court over-ruled this order, finding that Mrs. O'Keefe never became a migrant and therefore was not covered by provisions of the immigration act.

QUITE A HITCH HE HIKED—Private Cecil Hamm, 39, who hitch-hiked to his home in Cincinnati from his post at Erlangen, Germany, strikes a pensive pose after being held by military police. He admitted going AWOL on December 20 and posing as a crew member on the Army transport Gaffey. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Two Men File For Posts On School Board

Two more candidates — both labor union sponsored — filed for positions Thursday in the race for election to the Lubbock Independent School board.

Their action brought to five the total seeking three places to be filled in the election, which has been called for April 2.

The two men filing Thursday were Byron Terrell, 38, of 1921 Dixie drive, a member of the local carpenters union, and James C. Sharp, 25, of 2802 Edna, a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local No. 850.

Three Others In Race

Previously announced for the three positions to be filled were Clyde G. Tatum, present chairman of the board, seeking his second term; Ruel C. Martin, vice president and manager of the Dunlap company, seeking a first term; and Don L. Jones, superintendent of the U. S. Department of Agriculture experiment station, also seeking his first term on the board.

In their announcements almost two weeks ago, the three above said they were running at request of numerous friends in the district.

In announcing their intentions to seek positions on the board, both Terrell and Sharp said they were running with the backing and sponsorship of the Central Labor unions in Lubbock as well as a newly organized group calling itself the Lubbock Labor Legislative Committee on Education. J. B. Cearley, member of the International Typographical Union, Local 888, is president of the group.

Resident Since 1939

Terrell explained that he at present was a construction superintendent with the C. H. Tisdel Construction company. He is the father of a daughter, Eugenia, 13, a student in O. L. Slaton Junior High school, and a son, Bobby, 5, who will start to school next fall.

In his announcement, Terrell said he held a Bachelor of Science Degree from Texas Tech, having completed his work at the college in the summer of 1939.

Terrell has been a resident of Lubbock since 1939.

"I feel that I am qualified for the position," Terrell said in his announcement, "having taught schools in this area for seven years.

"I am in favor of acquiring more facilities and other improvements for the Lubbock public schools. I feel we need more stress on vocational work—teaching a practical approach to life in order that students may better earn a living.

"I feel teachers need more money for preparation for their tasks and for their labor."

Former Lamesa Resident

Terrell said he served as principal with schools at New Home, and Gordon communities, and as superintendent at Grassland. He

Unemployment Benefits Reach $115 Million During February

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—Government payments to unemployed workers hit $115,000,000 in February, the highest total in three years, the bureau of employment security reported today.

The amount was more than $8,000,000 above January payments.

Unemployment benefits, fixed by the various state legislatures but paid by the federal government, averaged about $20 a week. This compared to $18.50 in 1946—the big postwar year for unemployment compensation.

1948 Figures Given

In January 1949, the amount of benefits totaled $133,245,000. In February 1946, they amounted to $120,700,000.

The claims for compensation this year were almost double those of a year ago, when about $60,000,000 was being paid out per month.

In January this year, an average of 1,212,000 persons were receiving the weekly jobless pay checks. Last month this figure rose to 1,466,000.

Unemployment checks to go those workers whose employers have been paying into the government's enormous jobless insurance kitty. About 33,000,000 workers are covered by that insurance in the total work force of nearly 60,000,000.

On top of those benefits, the government pays $20 a week for 52 weeks to GIs who are out of work. The payments, going to about 600,000 World War II veterans, now average about $12,000,000 a week or from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 a month.

18 FATALLY INJURED

HOUSTON, March 18 (U.P.)—A speeding motorcycle plunged into a utility pole here last night, fatally injuring the rider, James Hubert Strang, 20.

Strang died an hour later of multiple head and internal injuries.

Nearly 1,000,000 animal species and more than 250,000 plant species are known, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

THE QUESTION

What quality do you especially appreciate in a friend?

THE ANSWERS

W. C. MAUZEY, 2612 Twenty-seventh, representative of Western Reserve Life Insurance Co.: "I think the main thing is having a friend you can depend on when you need them — somebody who will stick with you through thick and thin."

MARY LYNN TRAVIS, 1514 Arnett, cashier at McWhorter's: "A friend is one who is there to help you, if you need them. You can depend on them at any time and that's one of the nicest things about friendship."

BOB LOFTIS, 1601 Main, fountain employe at Mark Halsey Drug store No. 5: "It's the kindness. No one can get along without friends. That's what this world is made up of."

MRS. VERNICE WEATHERFORD, 1614 Eighteenth, checker at Piggly-Wiggly No. 4: "'A friend in need is a friend indeed.' When they're your friends you appreciate their coming to you. That's part of friendship. A friend doesn't imposed by asking for help."

O. J. SEXTON, 2018 Avenue M, manager of Western Union: "Sincerity, culture and good sportsmanship are some of the things I appreciate in a friend. I think those are the fundamentals."

DAVID WEST, 2518 Twenty-fourth, transportation agent for Pioneer Air lines: "If a friend of mine wants to stick his neck out, I want to go along with him, and if I stick my neck out, I want him to go along with me. Friends stick together. It is 'One for all and all for one' in friendship."

Bodies Of Two Area Vets Aboard Vessel

Two Panhandle and South Plains veterans who lost their lives in World War II are being returned to this country aboard the United States transport Haiti Victory at the request of next of kin, the Department of the Army announced Thursday.

The two are Pfc. Phillip G. Taylor, jr., whose next of kin is Phillip G. Taylor, sr., of Floydada, and Pfc. Robert G. Hester whose next of kin is Mrs. Alice T. Hester, Amarillo.

There are 43 veterans aboard the transport who will be returned to Texas for final burial. The Army stated that each next of kin would be notified in advance of the arrival of the vessel, and again after arrival of the body at the regional distribution center of the American Graves Registration service.

Russian Press Gets Spanking

LONDON, March 18. (AP)—The Russian press, which has been sniping at Soviet musicians and authors for failure to shake off Western influence, got a sound spanking itself today, the Moscow radio reported.

A broadcast heard here quoted Pravda, the official Communist party organ, as accusing Soviet newspapers and publishing houses of failure to print enough news and propaganda about Communism.

Not Enough News

For instance, the broadcast said, the newspaper Red North was accused by Pravda of not printing enough news of the Communist party, and using "dry, red tape language" in what articles it did carry.

"Such big publishing houses as Byelo Russian (Rostov and Gorki did not publish a single book or pamphlet on questions of party work during the whole of 1948," Pravdo's editorial said. "The portfolio of the Sverdlovsk Publishing house . . . does not possess a single manuscript coming from the pen of a party worker."

Lectures Publishers

The editorial, captinode "Job of the Press," lectured publishers that "a most important condition for further strides of our motherland toward Communism is the strengthening of Communist education of the working people, the struggle against vestiges of Capitalism in the people's conscience, and raising the level of ideological work in all spheres.

"Certain newspapers are not fulfilling this role satisfactorily," Pravda cautioned.

Amarillo Club Has Secession Scheme

AMARILLO, March 18 (U.P.) — Some Randall county residents had secession fever today, but they weren't digging out Confederate flags.

Some 19 square miles of Amarillo, lying in Randall county, would join the major part of the city—in Potter county — if the north Randall county civic club's ambitions were realized.

But Clyde Warwich, publisher of a newspaper in Canyon, county seat of Randall county, tossed cold water on the scheme. It presents, he said, some almost hopeless legal obstacles.

DOROTHY LAMOUR ONLY CASUALTY

McCarthy Blowout Whopping Success

By FRED A. MCCABE
United Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, March 18.—Shure and 'twas a big night for the Irish here in Houston, and especially 'twas a big night for Glenn McCarthy.

'Twasn't such a big night for film and radio star Dorothy Lamour. Some of the spectators at her weekly NBC show grabbed away her microphone, and one of her guests—a veteran in the radio entertainment business—departed from the script.

But all in all, oil man-movie magnate McCarthy's party to show off his fabulous new Shamrock hotel was a whopping, noisy success.

Money And Glamour

He had glamour with a capital "G" and money with a capital "M" side-by-side. There were an estimated 300 movie and radio personalities in the crowd, and a like number of millionaires.

Some 2,600 guests in formal evening dress sat down to partake of a dinner, priced upward to $42 per plate, after standing up to pour down champagne by the bucketsfull.

Miss Lamour, one of the Hollywood famous brought here by McCarthy for the auspicious St. Patrick's day celebration, appeared to be the chief "casualty" among the famous.

Program Off Air

Her program from the Shamrock was cut off the air. NBC said in New York it was because of line trouble between Chicago and Houston. In Hollywood, where the program usually originates, NBC officials said "at one point, two diners seized a microphone and shouted into it."

Ed Gardner, better known to radio fans as "Archie" of Duffy's Tavern, was swept up in the tide of high excitement. Miss Lamour's guest, he departed from script to exchange harmless wisecracks with some of the diners.

NBC complained in Hollywood that the doors to the dining room, from whence came the program, should have been closed but were "left open so that the noice of the crowd drowned out the performers' voices."

Nervous And Upset

Miss Lamour, visibly nervous and upset, hied herself to her sumptuous quarters in the 18-story Shamrock and refused to acknowledge any messages or telephone calls.

There were other minor mixups. Three skirts belonging to star Sonja Henie got delivered by mistake to the room of a bachelor guest. And Houston's Mayor Oscar Holcombe almost failed to get seated in the Emerald room, the major festive scene. Other guests beat his honor to the chairs.

And Singer Dorothy Shay, a lass with a fine Irish name and voice to match it, got up to entertain, only to find herself competing with strange music piped in by loudspeaker.

No one knew how the loudspeaker got turned on just at that moment, but Miss Shay and the guests thought it was funny.

There was a truckload or more of empty champagne bottles to be carted away. An hour before dinner began, 6,500 champagne cocktails had been served up from a 350-foot long buffe russe—an illustrious table with delicate figurines carved in it. Presumably in the last hour before mealtime, no one counted the cocktails further.

That Girl on Broadway says most of the so-called "necessary evils" are more evil than necessary.

UNLESS early signs fail, the nation will not be a victim of the same sort of "economic Pearl Harbor" which befell us in late 1929 and blossomed into the worst depression in our history.

Washington, and numerous of the 48 states, are "stockpiling ideas" for many and needed public works projects, just in case the present sliding off of prices gives indication of turning into a slam-bang recession.

This is all right.

We should be ready for economic war within our own borders, just as we should be constantly prepared to defend our shores against an armed foe.

As the stockpiling of ideas goes along, actual planning will follow. Then, at the first sign of a serious economic break, work can start on such things as extension of public roads and highways, construction of public buildings, dams, and schools.

All hands learned in the early 1930's that "leaf-raking" is no good; that the best way to spend public money is in lasting projects.

That's the way it will be "next time," if there is a next time.

FIRST two steps in any great government "pump-priming" against another economic debacle should be construction of needed new public buildings and expansion of those outgrown; and in dams and flood control.

Many cities need new federal buildings. Others have outgrown those they have—like Lubbock, for instance.

Many parts of the country are buffeted first by drouths and then by floods — difficulties which could be brushed away by proper control of the surface waters.

Projects like these — together with some school renovation and construction—could go a long way toward furnishing employment and keeping money in circulation and still leave the taxpayer something to show for his money.

Truman & Co. aren't ready yet to say that 1949's swing back to normalcy may produce a serious slowdown in business.

Their attitude is the proper one. There's no use crying "wolf!" until the wolf actually appears. Furthermore, the better economic brains of the nation are agreed that this year will bring no serious trouble.

But the fact that ideas are being collected in Washington, and around the country, indicates that somebody in Washington is "on the ball," just in case.

That is reassuring.

THE POLITICIANS are not alone in preparing to throw up defenses against economic woes.

Some of the nation's workers, acting individually, are doing the same thing.

A few unions aren't going to ask for more money as new contracts come up. A few others will be satisfied if they can bargain for future benefits in the form of pensions, paid vacations, etc.

But a lot of plain Joes and Janes are doing something on their own, too. They're beginning to work harder, so they won't be the ones lopped off first, if and when payroll pruning becomes necessary.

The Wall Street Journal recently surveyed the nation's industry and came up with some interesting findings in this regard.

According to the Journal's survey, in mining, lumbering and light and heavy manufacturing, individual efficiency and productivity are approaching the pre-war level and in a few cases have attained it.

In short, more people are beginning to realize that giving an honest day's work—less laying off, less feather-bedding, less hanging around the coke machine — is a good way to stay on the payroll.

This is not surprising, for a number of reasons.

In the first place, the "employee's market," which came in with the war, has become an "employer's market." More people are looking for jobs; more people want to hold the ones they've got, because they might not easily find another.

In the second place, employer-employe relations, in general, are better than ever before and there's a sneaking suspicion in the minds of workers and bosses that the "honeymoon" is over, as far as easy money is concerned.

All this is very much on the good side.

Before the year is out it very well may be that all job applicants will show interest in something other than "how much over-time can I get?" and "what are my days off?"

WE SAW a full page advertisement in one of the magazines recently, displaying all the various automobile license plates of the nation: 48 states and the District of Columbia.

Naturally, our first move was to compare the Texas plate with those of the other divisions, to check it for simplicity and clarity and also to note what other states are doing in the way of advertising their special charms, if any.

We noted that the Texas plate stacks up fairly well in the matter of clarity, but that while 17 other states are advertising their wares in one way or another, Texas isn't doing that at all.

Easiest plate to read is that of Ohio, followed closely by Connecticut and Delaware, which have only a handful of cars compared to those in Texas.

Most attractive and individual of the plates are those of Wyoming, with its cowboy on a bucking bronc; New Mexico with its Indian sign; and Louisiana with its pelican.

Since Texas has many more counties than any other state, and more automobiles than most of them, we doubt if it would be wise to use any sort of a state advertising slogan. To do so might make plates harder to read.

But the gentlemen in Austin might consider a new shape for our plate to make it distinctive—say like Tennessee and Pennsylvania, which feature their geographic outlines.

Maybe we could work in a Lone Star, or something distinctive. If so, we should do it.

JUDGING from who's doing most of the hollering, the Lefts are the ones most interested in so-called Civil Rights.

BY DREW PEARSON: NO ONE'S TELEPHONE SAFE FROM WIRE TAPPING IN NEW YORK

Clendenin Ryan Raised Election Fund For Italy

WASHINGTON. — If a grand jury ever gets to the bottom of the New York wire-tapping scandal, it will find that it was about as safe to talk on the telephone in Manhattan as to dodge across 5th Avenue in the middle of the traffic rush. So many big-wigs are involved, however, that it's highly doubtful whether all the facts will ever be made public.

PEARSON

However, it can be revealed that the confidential wire-tapping notebook carried by Detective Kenneth Ryan listed the name of Bernard Baruch as one whose phone either was being tapped, or about to be tapped.

Furthermore, General Motors had retained the law firm which employed Ryan—John G. Broady—to tap the wires of its auto dealers, presumably to see whether they were selling cars on the black market. Other clients of Broady were Martin Straus of Eversharp pencil, James Cromwell in his divorce suit against Doris Duke, and Madame Patino, wife of the Bolivian tin millionaire.

Ryan, who works for Broady, used to check the wires of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's New York home to make sure they were not tapped. In brief, no one's wires in New York were considered safe.

One point of interest to government wire-tapping experts is where the Ryan-Broady combine got their telephone equipment, since it is not easily obtainable. Ryan has indicated to New York officials that he secured it from the telephone company through underground channels. Mr. Clendenin Ryan, incidentally, recently took over the chairmanship of International Telephone and Telegraph.

Young Mr. Ryan Cleans Up

Clendenin Ryan, who donated $1,000,000 to clean up municipal governments from coast to coast, is a rich man's son who has tried, with varying success, to do something for his country. The trouble is that he has tackled a mayor who himself has tangled with Tammany. Also, Ryan hasn't know where the power of private money should stop and the government should step in.

Clendenin's grandfather was fabulously rich Thomas Fortune Ryan, who, beginning as a Biltimore dry-goods clerk in 1868, came to own diamond mines in Africa, the street railways of Chicago, the Equitable Life Assurance company of the U. S. A., the British-American Tobacco Co., plus the electric-light systems in many of the big cities of the United States.

Those were days when income taxes were little or nothing and a man could acquire wealth. Part of old Thomas Fortune Ryan's $141,000,000 was passed down to grandson Clendenin, a zealous follower of Fiorello La Guardia, who has wanted to use it more idealistically than his grandfather.

Young Ryan is a close friend of fellow Princetonian Secretary of Defense Forrestal, under whom he served in the Navy. And when Communist-inspired strikes paralyzed France in November 1947, Forrestal asked his young friend to raise money to help break the strike. Ryan did so. He passed the hat among New York friends, came back with $35,000.

This was distributed among certain French Communist leaders. And, though other factors helped, the French strikes evaporated.

LATER, in February 1948, Italy was in the throes of her first real election in two decades. The Communists were bent on winning. Again Secretary Forrestal came to his young friend, told him he was broke and asked that he raise money for the Italian political campaign.

Ryan called a meeting of New York friends. A Forrestal representative described the situation in Italy. Seventy thousand dollars was raised—most of it in $5,000 lots. Of the $70,000, a total of $30,000 went direct to Premier De Gasperi as a political slush fund.

Afterward Forrestal arranged with the U. S. treasury to permit contributors to make charity income-tax deductions. But Ryan and most of his friends declined. They wrote it off as a contribution to their country.

Young Mr. Ryan is now head of a clean-up conglomeration of Park Avenueites, ousted Tammanyites and real reformers. In the latter category are Adolf Berle, former assistant secretary of state, and William Chadbourne, Wall street attorney. In the former category is John Jacob Astor. And in the ex-Tammany category are Clarence Neal, the negro Harlem leader whom Mayor O'Dwyer kicked out of Tammany, and John Brannigan, head of the National Democratic club, a hangout for the lower elements of Tammany and who also was purged by O'Dwyer.

Irish aristocrat Ryan has now taken on an Irish-born, ex-Brooklyn cop who, as mayor of New York, has already battled Tammany and who has a forthright record for honesty in city management. O'Dwyer has an easy-going manner, and acts as if everyone was his friend. But he earned his spurs tackling the Christian Front in Brooklyn, later as investigator of corruption in the Army and he isn't going to lose those spurs now.

Gestapo Tactics

When Ryan's group resorted to wire tapping to try to ensnare O'Dwyer, they forgot that the gestapo invasion of privacy under Hitler and Mussolini was one reason Ryan wore a uniform in the recent war. Here again, perhaps, they were taking a cue from Ryan's old friend, Forrestal. For, during the Forrestal regime, Army-Navy intelligence have tapped the wires of Washington newsmen and public officials with wanton abandon.

Or perhaps they were following the cue of Ryan's old boss, Mayor La Guardia, who also set bad examples by indiscriminate wire tapping (though Tom Dewey wasn't far behind him).

At any rate, when Mayor O'Dwyer finally broke up the telephone network of his fellow Irishmen, he discovered, among other things, an apparatus for listening to private conversations without even using wires. All you had to do was sit in an automobile several hundred feet away from a conversation and listen by means of a newfangled radio eavesdropper.

Interesting fact is that in 1944, when this column told how certain War Production board officials had used such a device to eavesdrop on a conversation by Bernie Baruch, Bob Patterson and others in the home of James Forrestal, Charlie Wilson of General Electric emphatically claimed that no such device could exist. (Wonder who telling the truth?)

Anyway, there may be a lesson for Congress in all this New York money-business. A bill is now before Congress permitting more wire tapping rather than less. It would permit even wire-tapped phone conversaions to be used as evidence in court. Maybe Congress will take a tip from the New York mess and curtail wire tapping rather than expand it.

They might as well burn hundreds of books about Nazi infamies and all newspaper files . . . Make no mistake about it: What these dangerous officials fear is that such films would remind Americans of their scandalous failure in Germany. The most shocking scandal since Teapot Done . . . Americans will remember Nazi crimes so long as there are graves of American soldiers and gold stars in mothers' windows. They will never forget—so long as an American child is free to read a history book.

Roadside Reminders

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

AN elevator operators' manual has recently been published, the aim of which is "to make courtesy and convenience to passengers a recognized feature of vertical transportation."

Since the elevator operators are going to be brushing up on their manners how about the passengers doing the same thing? "Vertical transportation" won't be really comfortable and pleasant until the passengers start minding their manners.

MILLETT

There's the man who gets on the elevator with a lighter cigar or cigaret, that may burn a woman's fur coat and is often offensive.

SUSPENSE MONGER

THERE'S the woman who talks in a loud voice to her companion, and, after getting the whole load of passengers interested in her story, gets off before it's finished.

There are the shovers who insist on squeezing into an already crowded elevator.

There is the absent-minded passenger who remembers that she wants to get off at the fifth floor as the elevator nears the sixth.

There are the standpatters who won't budge an inch to let the passenger in the rear get off.

And, of course, there's the husband who gets on an elevator with his wife and never thinks to remove his hat until a pretty girl gets on.

If elevator manners are in need of improvement, the biggest chance if improvement lies with the passengers. After all, there's only one operator to an elevator—but usually lots of passengers.

Human nature is the only stable thing in the world today. It hasn't changed in 2,000 years.

"Try And Stop Me"

IF YOU go far enough back in the files of the Farmer's Almanac, you'll come up with a lot of jokes so old they sound brand new. Take this one, for instance, from the 1871 issue: A patron at a village inn complained to the waiter, "Dang it, there was a hair tonight in the ice cream, another in the honey, and still a third one in the apple sauce."

"That's funny," reflected the waiter. "The hair in the ice cream is easy to explain. We shaved the ice this morning. And it's reasonable to figger that the hair in the honey comes off the comb. But that hair in the apple sauce beats me. I peeled them apples myself, and I coulda swore every one of 'em was a Baldwin."

Vehement Mail After Article On Vet Pensions Holds Moral

NEW YORK, March 18—There is a moral in the mail, I think, on this itchy subject of the upcoming vote on the vast bonus—or pension—for veterans, which eventually is supposed to cost close to 200 billion bucks.

RUARK

The moral is reasonably brief: Anybody'll accept a handout if he doesn't have to pay for it in advance.

I had more vehement mail on a piece I did sometime back, condemning Rep. Rankin's proposed $90 pension plan than an anything in a long, long time. Most of the letters blasting the bonus came from the veterans of World War II. Most of the letters favoring the bonus (and my sudden extinction) came from the veterans of World War I.

A simple equation, indeed—the World War I boys are ripe to cut the melon without much contribution to it in extra taxes. The WW II boys have a long, weary road of payment ahead before they achieve the collection age (65) and they don't like the idea of instalment purchase of something they may never need or may never live to collect.

Corollary Odd

There is an odd corollary here, too, on indignation. According to my mail, all veterans of World War I proceeded immediately to a breadline or to an apple-box on the corner. The capacity for whining, in the WW I man appears infinitely more robust than in his son. There seems to be no realization that the veterans of the second war were fledged in the same depression the old boys cherish as their very own, and were ripped untimely from their civilian lives at the moment they were just getting under weigh.

The oldsters sneer at our present prosperity, as if it were something the young vets dreamed up especially to taunt them. There is no mention, however, of the boom years of the 20's, when the older claimants for pension had a decade of lush pickings to delve in. In their pleas for pension now, they ignore the fact that they were a small minority group during WW I, engaged in fighting a relatively short time on few fronts—and that the rest of the nation also suffered through the same depression.

THE letter that hit me hardest was from Mrs. J. O. Beasley of Minneapolis. She writes: "Your article on (the veterans dole) pleased me very much. I am familiar with the whole problem. My husband didn't come back.

"I had to make a choice of (1) trying to provide a home and future for my son on $105 a month, of which $65 might be considered a widow's 'dole,' plus $40-a-month insurance . . . . or (2) going to work.

"Obviously, going to work was the answer to . . . security. Later the allotment for the child was raised from $30 to $56—the month before November elections, incidentally.

"Why should my earnings, and no doubt my son's future earnings, be taxed to support ablebodied men, many of whom never left the country? Its their country too, and they now profit by the victory as well as the rest of us."

From Veterans

From veterans of World War II: "I never once heard a GI in combat areas talk about a bonus, let alone a pension. Most of us said we'd pay Uncle Sam to let us go home . . . "As a veteran of five years service in the Army, I am in full agreement with your article against pensions. I thought the gravy train had left, but this looks like the same station . . . "I'll never forget the Vosges mountain or the citadel at Bitche, but I still wouldn't vote for a vet pension. Couldn't it be Rep. Rankin is a veteran of World War I . . .!"

"In November I severed a long association with the American legion because of their stand on pensions, and enclose a copy of my letter of resignation . . . "Keep banging away at this idiotic pension scheme . . ."

That's how the anti-Rankin sentiment runs. The pro-pensioners merely curse me for a capitalistic moron, who was born rich, which is real funny, and say that as long as we ladle it out to Europe, we might as well scatter it around at home. None made the point that operation ladle abroad is aimed at prevention of the creation of future candidates for future pension, whether they need it or not.

Today's Thought

Have pity upon me, have pity upon me, O ye my friends: for the hand of God hath touched me.—Job 19-21.

Real friendship is a slow grower and never thrives unless engrafted upon a stock of known and reciprocal merit.—Lord Chesterfield.

Today's Journal Editorial

"ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE"

A great many people cannot understand why 4,000 Lubbock citizens turned up at the Santa Fe station the other night to see some movie stars passing through on a special train.

The train was only to be here 15 minutes, and the crowd knew that.

The night was raw and there was a possibility that none of the cinema people would make even a platform appearance here, although about 20 did.

But, anyway, an enthusiastic crowd was there and, judging from reports, a good time was had by all.

Maybe, as some puzzled detractors say, "there wasn't no sense in folks going to all that trouble just to look at some movie people." Yet to us it was entirely proper for those thus interested to show their interest.

Those who wouldn't turn around to see a movie star might go to all sorts of trouble and expense to see a baseball or football game; a golf match, an art exhibit, hear a violinist, or an evangelist. And that would be all right, too.

It all goes back to the old saw that "it takes all kinds of people to make up a world."

For our part, we're glad it does, because all kinds of people make the world more interesting and a better place in which to live.

Bank Burglary Charges Filed

Federal charges have been filed here against Otis Dwight Simpson and Odis Black, both 26, of Levelland, in connection with burglary Tuesday night of the First State Bank of Morton.

The federal charges, sworn to by Curtis L. Perryman, resident agent of the FBI, and filed with Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy district clerk and U. S. commissioner for the Lubbock division of the Northern Federal district, charge that the two men burglarized the bank in violation of the national bank robbery act.

Warrants had not been executed, it was pointed out, since federal authorities often defer in prosecution to state authorities after both have filed complaints in a given case.

Simpson and Black are held in lieu of bonds totaling $16,000 set in four burglary charges filed Wednesday in the state court at Morton.

Two more burglaries—in Meadow and Brownfield—were laid at the door of four young Lubbock men already incriminated by signed statements of some of them with other burglaries, it was announced here Thursday afternoon.

The announcement followed questioning of two of the four suspects by Dep. Sheriff Buel Powell of Brownfield, Dep. Sheriff Elmer McCutcheon of Meadow, Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton of Lubbock and Texas Ranger Razz Renfrow, of Lubbock.

Chester Wayne Morgan, 17, of 1614 Main, and Robert Lee Davis, 20, of 2411 North Third admitted that they and two other Lubbock persons, Ferion Dwain McCreary, 20, of Slaton Highway, and J. B. Jackson, 19, of Myrtle drive, had broken into Dep. Sheriff McCutcheon's Cosden service station at Meadow the night of March 9 and taken a $70 .22 pistol. They went on to Brownfield and burglarized the International Harvester agency, they said, cutting into a safe with an oxy-acetylene torch.

Charges had been filed late yesterday in Brownfield against Morgan and Davis in connection with the Meadow and Brownfield burglaries, Terry County Sheriff Ocie Murray said last night.

McCreary admitted in a statement to Horton late Thursday that he had participated in the two burglaries, and Jackson indicated he would make a similar statement today, Horton said last night.

The four already are under charge of burglary in the March 10 breaking and entering of Haskin's store at Wolfforth, and admissions of some of them place the four, or some of them, in the recent burglary of a Big Spring liquor store and the Black grocery store in Lubbock, as well as theft of a car at Big Spring and one at Amarillo.

A battered safe discovered Thursday afternoon south of Buffalo lakes has been identified as that taken in a Feb. 24 burglary of Hilton Supply company on East Broadway, the sheriff's department said.

The safe, found along with a quantity of tools which apparently had been used to open it, was empty when discovered.

On the night of the supply company burglary, the place was entered after a hasp had been pried off a door. The safe, containing approximately $68 in currency, had been rolled outside and loaded in a vehicle to be carried away.

also served as a grade school principal at New Deal two years. His father was a teacher for 29 years, he stated.

Sharp is the father of two children, James C., jr., three, and Susan Annette, 2. He has been a resident of Lubbock the past four years. Prior to that time he served four years in the Navy and was a resident of Lamesa for 17 years. He is a graduate of Lamesa High school and attended Draughon's Business college in San Antonio one year.

"Since there is considerable construction underway in the Lubbock Public school system, I feel that men acquainted with construction problems should be represented on the board," Sharp said in his announcement. At present he is a foreman with Lowrey Electric Co.

Tatum has served the past three years as chairman of the board, during a period when some of the most extensive building in the history of the school system got underway or was completed.

Martin moved to Lubbock in 1943. Mr. and Mrs. Martin reside at 1718 Thirty-third. They have two daughters, who attend high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones live east of the city. They have three children in school. Jones moved to this area in 1917.

Deflation Fear Price Factor

LONDON, March 18. (AP)—Fear that a depression may be approaching—here and in America—appears to be a strong factor behind a prolonged drop in London stock prices.

Both Sir Stafford Cripps, the nation's economic boss, and wary investors on the stock exchange have weather eyes cocked on Wall street and the condition of the American economy.

Perhaps By Spring

Sir Stafford, at an American news conference this week, declared to say he expects a recession in the United States. Perhaps by spring, he said, we can tell whether lower prices and other changes in American business represent a continuing trend or just something temporary.

The London Financial Times, a paper which reflects and sometimes shapes the thought of British investors, asked editorially more than a month ago:

"Is America now to be afflicted to all the horrors of a business depression?"

Had Barely Begun

When this disquieting thought was voiced, the decline in the London market had barely begun. Since then almost every sector of the market except government issues has been in an uninterrupted slide. (In the New York stock exchange prices on the average have see-sawed in the past two weeks after declining to the lowest level in about a year at the end of February).

Declines in Wall street have brought sympathetic tumbles here.

rules is the elimination of power tools in the construction or finishing of a racing car. As very few boys have access to power tools this rule was inserted to give every boy the same opportunity in building his car.

Another important change is the new weight allowance. Heretofore, a car and driver could not weight more than 250 pounds while the car itself could not weight more than 150 pounds. In the new rule the overall weight of 250 pounds for car and driver still holds, but the limit of the car was dropped. This rule was changed to give the lighter boy an opportunity to bring the weight of his car to approximate the overall weight of 250.

Committees On Youth Are Appointed Here

Committees to gather information about conditions in Lubbock as they affect children were appointed at the first meeting of the Lubbock County organization, Texas Committee for Children and Youth.

Information gathered, to concern all phases of physical, mental and moral environments of Lubbock children, will be submitted to the White House Conference of 1950.

Presidents of the United States have, each ten years since 1900, called a white House conference to discuss matters pertaining to children and youth welfare in the United States. In the past, information had been gathered on a statewide basis by state committees.

Committeemen Named

Each county this year has its own committee, and information should be much more complete for the 1950 conference, according to Capt. W. Thomas Gregory, secretary of the local group.

Committee chairmen named at the Thursday meeting by Mrs. H. F. Godeke, chairman of the Lubbock county group, included:

John W. Wilson, child care and protection; A. Rasor, child and youth employment; Roy Boyd, education; Jerald E. Jarvis, health; Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, handicapped children; J. A. Maynard, committee on housing; Mrs. J. A. Humphries, library service; A. C. Hamilton, recreation; and Rev. Paul Mason, religion.

Others who will serve on the committees are: Judge G. V. Pardue, Leo Healer, Mrs. Nancy Green, Judge J. H. Goodman, Mrs. J. H. Stiles, Judge Walter Davies; Mrs. Robert Allen and Captain Gregory.

Mrs. Allen is vice-chairman of the county organization.

Texas Group Plans Georgia Celebration

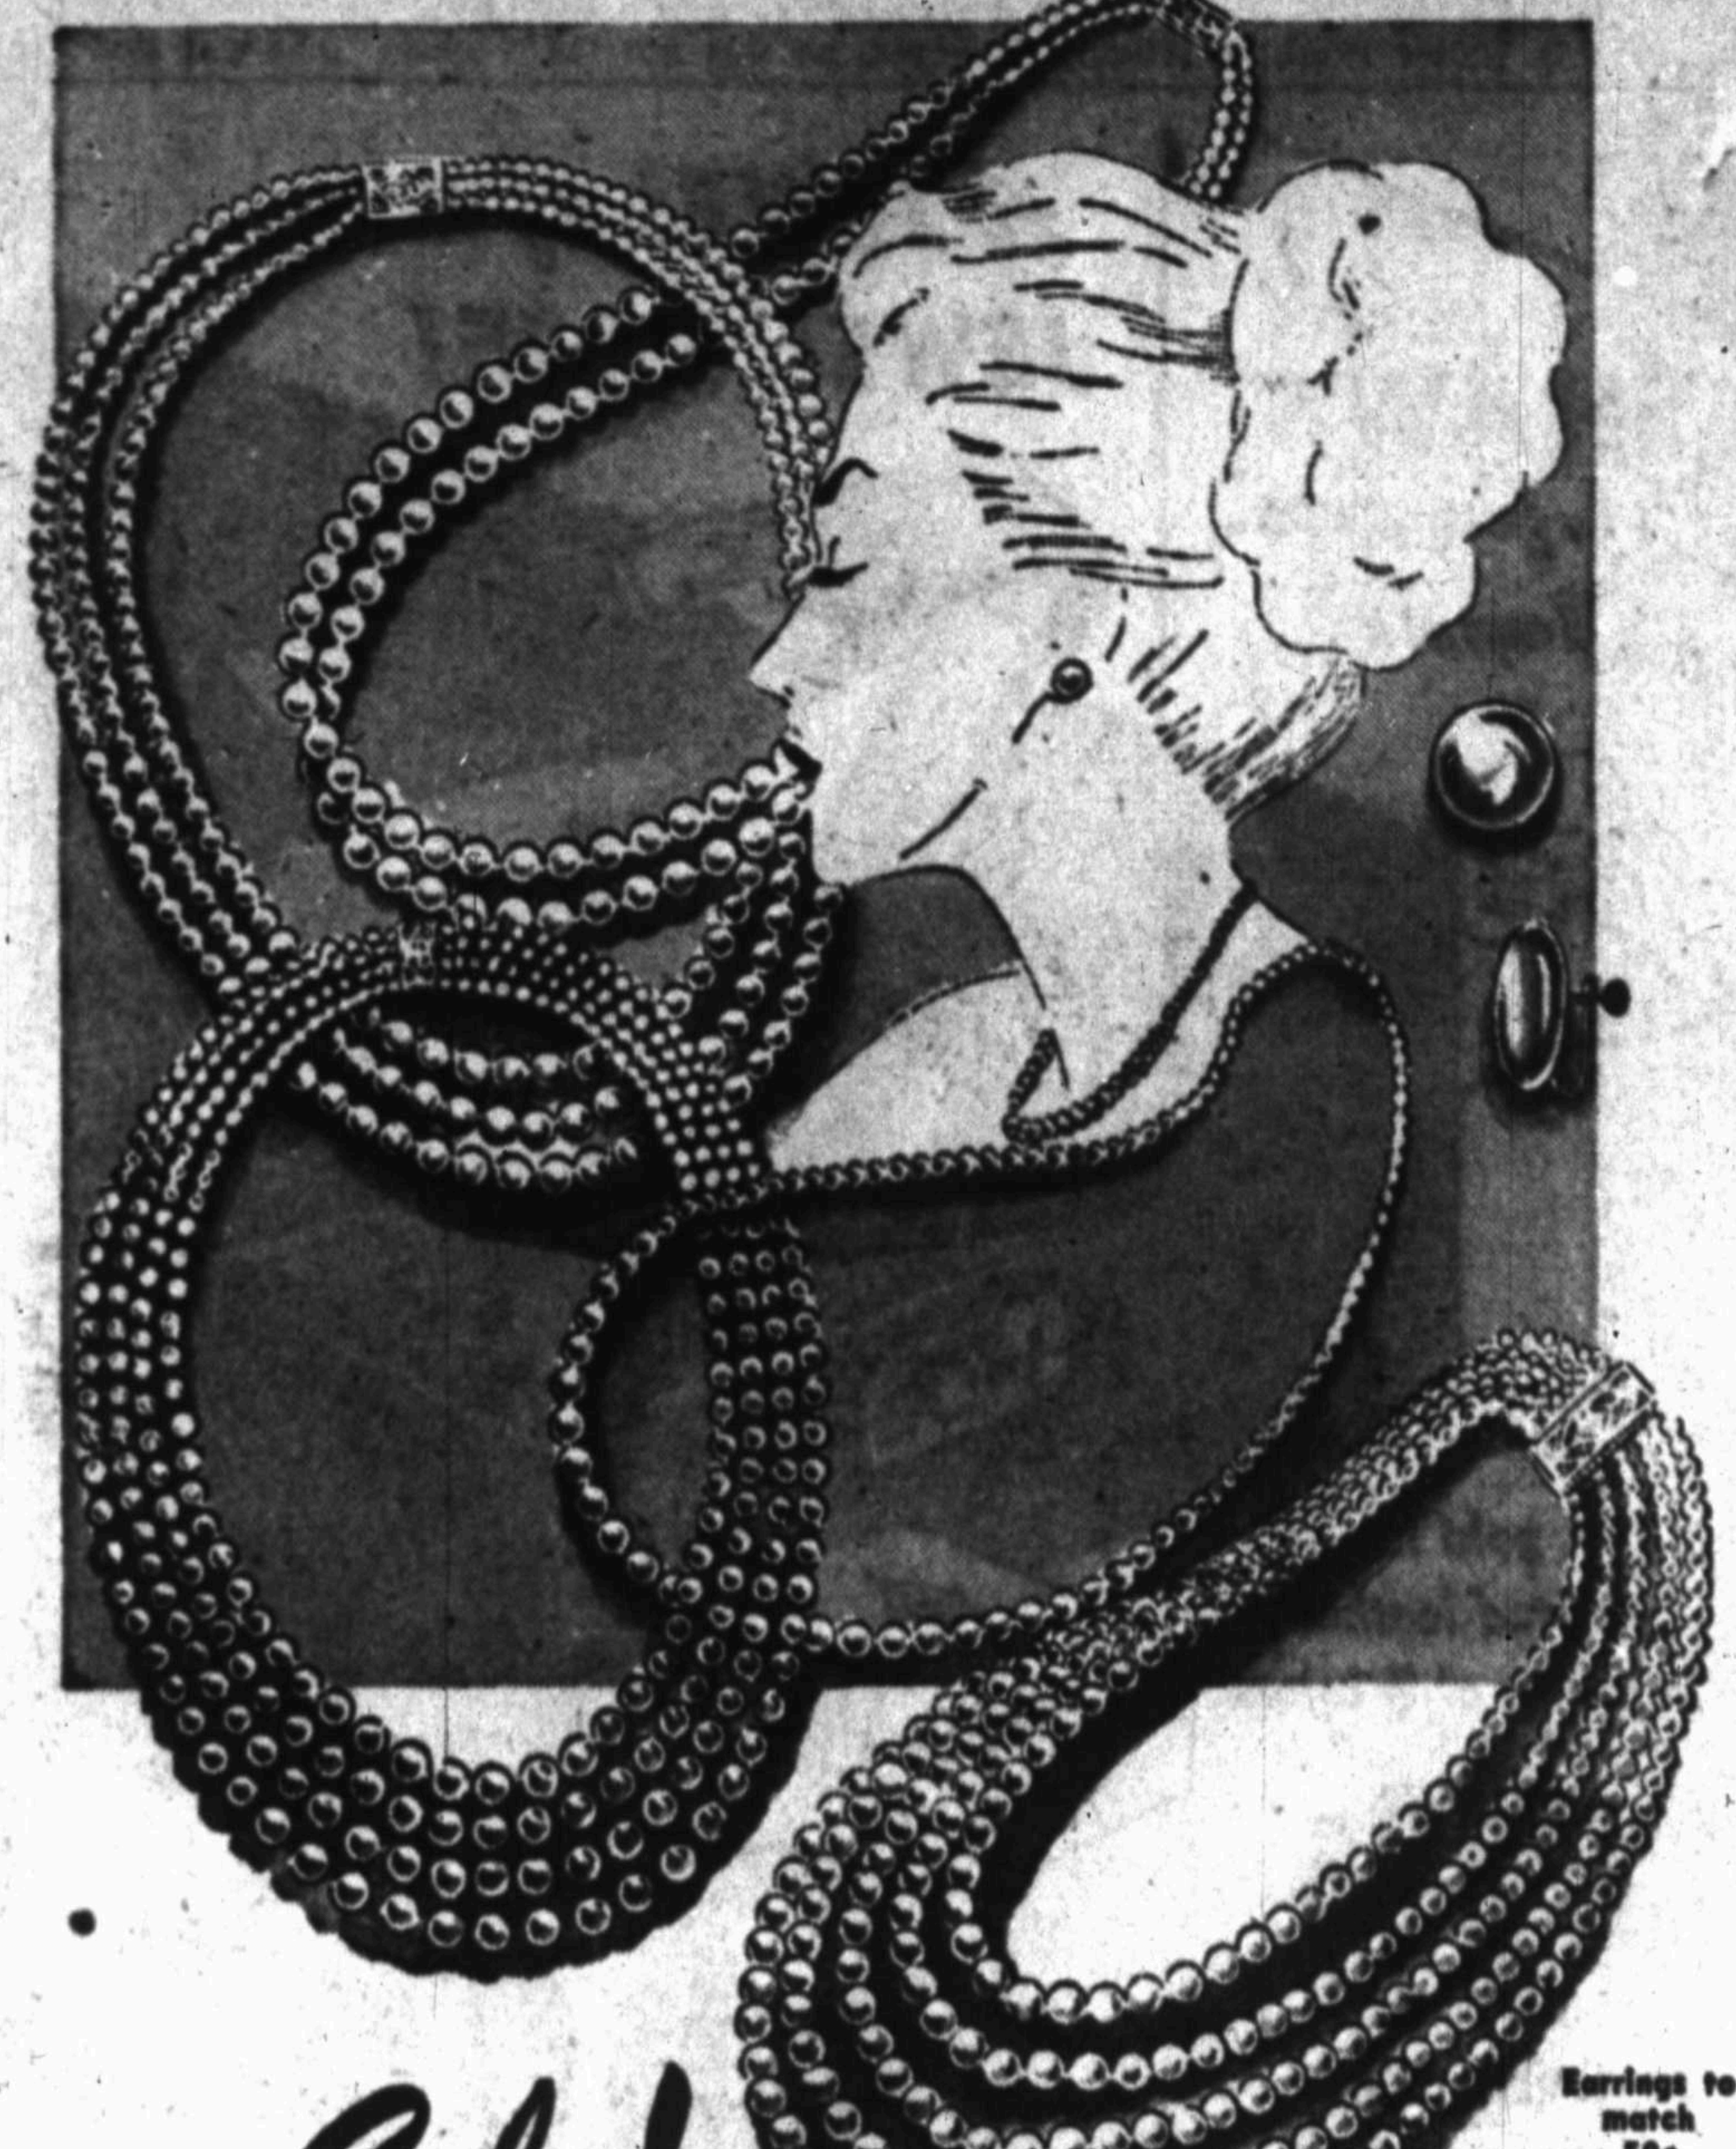

ATLANTA, March 18 (INS)—San Jacinto Day this coming April 21 will find Texans celebrating in full scale in Georgia.

To non-Texans who aren't up on their American history, San Jacinto Day is the day the Lone Star state won its independence from Mexico.

Anyway some 50 military officers led by Lt. Col. C. E. Doyle are planning to celebrate the day at Fort McPherson. They've invited all Texans in Georgia or any other state to contact Doyle at Fort McPherson if they want to attend.

The group has invited Gov. Beauford H. Jester, the state's lieutenant governor and U. S. Senators Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson to be there.

Commemorative Stamp Honoring Man Who Discovered Lowly Safety Pin Suggested

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 18. (U.P.) It's about time somebody did something nice for the guy who invented the lowly, but important, safety pin.

The government being willing, somebody is about to.

Our hero is Walter Hunt. On the hundredth anniversary of his "great discovery," a commemorative stamp has been suggested in his honor.

The news sent me hopping over to the National Geographic library here to do a little research.

Hunt had the first patent on a "pin that buttons" in 1849. Actually, however, he was not the first one with the idea. Even in Hunt's time, a century ago, the notion was old hat, or shall we say "old pin."

I found the files on the subject very interesting, albeit a little yellowed and musty.

Back in the bronze age, more than 2000 years B. C., pins that looked amazingly like the safety jobs of today were in wide use. If you doubt this, drop in to see the exhibits of the nearest museum.

Like I did at the Smithsonian institution.

There you will find bone or stone pins made with the familiar spring and catch. Some with plain heads; others with fancy ones. Some that would stick an innocent youngun'; some with the points protected.

The National Geographic people find no records—and I could not find any either—as to whether it was the man or lady of the cave who first put a spike of stone through a strap of animal skins to hold 'em up. But the archaeologists at the Smithsonian say that in the old tombs, there are more "pins" for ladies than for men. Which sounds reasonable.

To Keep Diaper On

Mostly, in modern times, you think of the safety pin as a business to keep a diaper from coming apart.

But, also in our time, it has been in the news in many other ways. A man in California used one to hitch his britches to his shirt front. It came loose, stuck him where it hurt, and he did something awful to a telephone pole, his model T Ford and himself.

A chicken in Oregon apparently swallowed a safety pin and produced an egg with a pin inside to prove same.

Getting back to milady—and the vain thing she is!

When the women first started to scoop their hair off their shoulders way back in the long ago, they used a kind of "big safety pin" to hold their locks in place. This was among the primitive lake dwellers of Switzerland and northern Italy. In Greece, both the men and women wore a pin to hold their tunics together.

Oddly Disappears

Oddly, the safety pin disappeared from recorded history during the middle ages of Europe. But it came back—rather its next of kin, the common pin did—in the 14th century. In 1372, the pin makers of London formed their own guild.

The pin was a scarce item in those days, too. In fact it made our rationing in the last war seem a little mild, by comparison. You could buy pins in London (by order of parliament) only on the first two days of January.

My first recollection of a safety pin is not of being stuck on the backside by one, although I probably was. I was a kicker-off of the night covers. And my dad used to seal me in for the night with a four-inch job which he borrowed from the barn—a safety pin used to keep a blanket on a horse.

Pullman Strike May Be Stalled

CHICAGO, March 18 (AP) — A nation-wide strike on March 31 of 2,500 pullman car conductors may be postponed if government mediators intervene in the dispute, says a rail union official.

A. G. Wise, executive vice president of the Order of Railway conductors, said the walkout may be delayed by intervention of the national (railway) mediation board.

However, Wise sent out strike instructions after announcing the pullman conductors had voted "overwhelmingly" in favor of a walkout. It was called, he said, to enforce awards by the national railroad adjustment board in compensation and working conditions matters.

Wise said he would "continue to make every reasonable effort to reach a satisfactory settlement," and "comply with the national railway labor act."

Mediation Provided

The act, at this stage in the dispute between the ORC and the Pullman company, provides for appointment of one or more mediators to assist in effecting a settlement. If they are unsuccessful they certify to President Truman that an emergency exists.

The President then appoints a fact-finding board which ordinarily halts strike action for 60 days. The board holds hearings and makes recommendations after the first 30 days. The second 30 days is a so-called "cooling off" period.

A strike would limit passenger train operations to day coach service and cut passenger capacity of railroad service. Carrier sources said the walkout would make idle several thousand pullman porters and yard workers.

Carroll R. Harding, Pullman company president, said the dispute was over a "comparatively small number of special operating conditions in the pullman service." He said most of the grievances now are pending before the adjustment board.
