ABORTION
Rights or Wrong?

Big debate

Beginning Sunday, the Reporter-Telegram will take an in-depth look at the abortion issue in light of recent heightened local and national attention. The three-day series will reveal feelings of women who have had abortions, local support and opposition to plans to offer abortion services in Midland, and the direction in which the debate is heading.

Traffic notice

Midland motorists who travel on Wall Street, west of Lamesa Highway, may want to use an alternate route this weekend. Highway crews will be putting down a fresh asphalt "seal coat," similar to what was done recently on Loop 250. By Monday, traffic should be back to normal on Wall Street, officials said.

Graham gets stay

AUSTIN — A state appeals court Friday halted Tuesday's scheduled execution of death row inmate Gary Graham. The Austin-based 3rd Court of Appeals ordered the execution be postponed while it considered a legal battle over a requested clemency hearing for Graham, who contends that new evidence will clear him./12A

Gifts pour in

DES MOINES, Iowa — Four-year-old Heidi Ackelson shrieked with delight Friday as she unpacked toys and clothing, and tried to keep up with deliveries of gifts from around the country to replace her flood losses. The girl's mother said she took heart from a note from Gloria Buck of Bridgeton, Mo., which advised Heidi: "Always remember if you do something nice for someone else, something 10 times nicer will happen to you." The outpouring from around the nation was in response to an Associated Press picture that appeared Tuesday.

Negotiators break free-trade pact deadlock on side issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for the United States, Canada and Mexico resolved a major dispute blocking creation of the world's largest free-trade zone, clearing the way for congressional consideration this fall.

Progress on the pact to lift trade barriers among the three nations had been delayed for months as negotiators haggled over side-agreements — understandings aimed at shielding people from any declines in labor and environmental standards. On Friday, a settlement was announced.

President Clinton hailed the breakthrough. "With the completion of the side accords, we have turned NAFTA into a path-breaking agreement," he said.

Clinton said the pact would "create thousands of high-paying American jobs by unlocking access to Mexico — a growing market of 90 million people that thirst for American products and

FBI opens probe in death of Michael Jordan's father

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The shooting death of James Jordan is being investigated as a kidnapping by the FBI and authorities said Friday that Michael Jordan's father was killed soon after he vanished three weeks ago.

A body found floating in a South Carolina creek Aug. 3 was identified Friday as Jordan's and authorities said they were treating the case as a homicide.

Price gauge: Inflation dips to 7-year low

■ Showing strengthens economists' belief that a resurgence in rate earlier this year was an aberration.

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The cost of living barely budged in July, capping the best three-month inflation performance in seven years.

Food, housing, energy and clothing costs all were unchanged last month, the government said, helping to restrain the overall increase in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index to just 0.1 percent.

For the three months ended in July, inflation was running at a 0.8 percent annual rate, the best three-month showing since March-through-May 1986, when oil prices were plummeting.

That strengthened economists' belief that a resurgence in inflation earlier this year was an aberration and not the start of a new trend.

"Inflation looks very tame and it should stay tame," said economist Donald Ratajczak of Georgia State University.

In a separate report, the Commerce Department said businesses increased their inventories in June by a modest 0.2 percent, the same as in May and a sign they're cautious about future sales.

The inflation rate last year, at 2.9 percent, was the second-best in 27 years,

Home-buying vets, campers, students to feel tax's impact

By Alan Fram
Associated Press writer

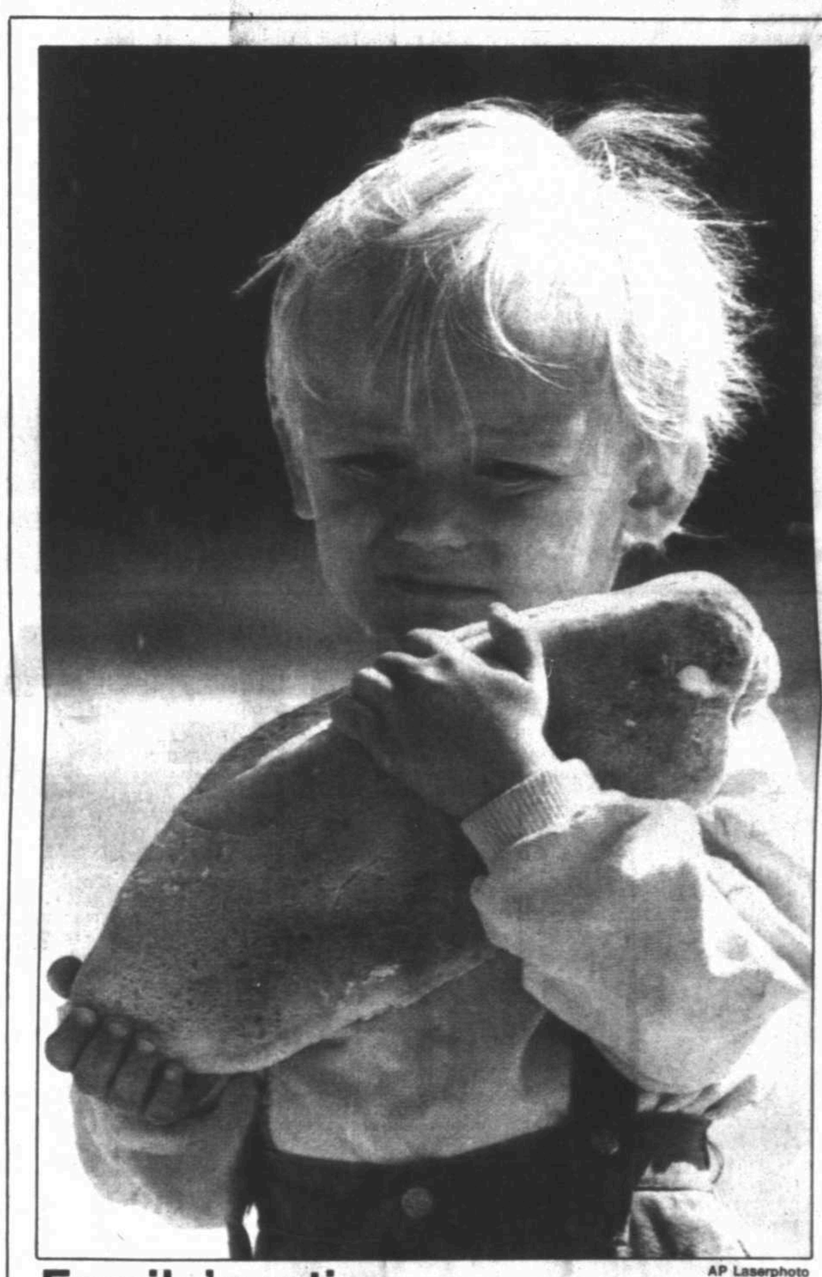

WASHINGTON — Students will get less costly college loans, veterans will pay more for home borrowing and campers will fork out more to pitch tents under the deficit-reduction bill that President Clinton signed.

But it's the rich and poor who'll be most dramatically affected by the package. Some wealthy Americans will be paying, in taxes, a little more than 44 percent on a portion of their earnings, while many low-income people will get tax cuts and more food stamps.

The nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office says that on average, people making more than $200,000 a year will see tax increases of 17 percent under the bill. Everyone else will pay higher average levies of less than 2 percent, except for Americans making less than $30,000 annually, and they will see tax cuts.

Here's how some of the bill's

Family's ration

Adi Kubur, 2½, holds his family's ration of bread in a refugee center in Sarajevo, Bosnia. Adi and his family had to flee from the severly shelled Sedrenik suburb. After a day on which United States and other NATO jets screamed lower than ever before in their patrols over the area, the U.N. commander in Bosnia said the Serbs already had pulled back most of their troops from the two peaks, Mount Bjelasnica and Mount Igman. Pope John Paul II pauses to read a book in Estes Park, Colo., on Friday. The pontiff is taking a break.

Weary pope takes a break in mountains

By Victor L. Simpson
Associated Press writer

Thirteen months after major surgery, John Paul is clearly fatigued at stops.... Persistent doubts about his health have been raised since the operation.

DENVER — Jet-lagged and drained by tropical heat in Jamaica and Mexico, Pope John Paul II took what amounted to a day off Friday in the cool of the Rocky Mountains.

The 73-year-old pope, an avid mountain climber in his youth, was flown by helicopter to a church retreat center northwest of Denver at 9,200 feet above sea level. He hiked for about two hours, read poetry by a stream and greeted well-wishers who had stood watch outside the retreat most of the day. He then left the camp for Denver.

The pontiff's only public activities on Friday, the second day of his four-day visit to the United States, were a morning Mass attended by 450 bishops at Denver's Immaculate Conception Cathedral and a short meeting with youths at a high school. They gave him sneakers, a jacket and a walking stick for his hike.

Survey ranks Houston No. 4, Austin No. 10 of nation's most livable cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Rochester, Minn., a leafy community that is home to the famed Mayo Clinic, was named the most livable city in America in an annual survey by Money magazine. Not a single city from the Northeast or West Coast made the Top 10.

Last in the survey of the 300 biggest U.S. metropolitan areas released Friday was Rockford, Ill., which suffers from high unemployment and a crack cocaine problem, the magazine said.

The magazine hailed Rochester, 75 miles south of Minneapolis, as a city where "the economy is humming, the crime rate is among the nation's lowest, pollution isn't a major problem and housing is affordable."

Rochester's City Council president, Nancy Selby, expressed "absolute delight" at the ranking. "It's the people and the good old Midwestern work ethic," she said.

Rochester's unemployment is a low 4.1 percent, the median price for a three-bedroom home is $93,500, and the area's 106,500 people enjoy 61 parks, the article said. Asked about any negative factors, Mrs. Selby paused: "I just can't get my shoe size here," she finally confessed.

The other nine top finishers, in descending order, were: Madison, Wis.; Minneapolis-St.

Texas Gulf to close its office, end sulfur-mining operations

By Melia McEwen
Staff writer

Texas Gulf Sulpher is getting out of the sulfur-mining business and is closing its Midland office.

The local office, which employs six people, will be closed as of Oct. 31, said Bryan Wimberly, manager of sulphur exploration here. The local employees were geologists who explored for sulphur.

"The office covered anywhere in the U.S. the company wanted to explore," Wimberly said. "Primarily in Texas onshore, offshore Louisiana and in New Mexico."

The office had been open for 19 years.

Also, Texas Sulphur will cease operations at its largest sulphur mine in the Boling Salt Dome.

The company had a mine on university lands in Pecos County near Fort Stockton, but that mine was shut down in 1989 and Wimberly said the University Lands System had other plans for that site.

Wimberly cited low sulphur prices as the reason for ceasing sulphur operations, and said the low prices were caused by tremendous imports of recovered sulphur from Canada. "The present price of sulphur could compare to $7 for oil," he said.

Though Texas Gulf Sulphur will no longer mine for sulphur, Wimberly said it will continue its other mining ventures, which include phosphate operations near Aurora, N.C., sodium carbonate near Granger, Wyo., and potash and salt at Moab, Utah.

The company was begun in 1917 by financier and presidential adviser Bernard Baruch. It was purchased by Elf Aquitaine, the French national oil company, in 1981.

Williams Energy to report earnings

Staff report

Clayton Williams Energy Inc. officials said Friday that they expect to report quarterly earnings of between $1.0 million and $1.2 million, or between $0.25 and $0.30 a share, when they report second-quarter earnings early next week.

This is an increase of $120,000 over 1992's second-quarter earnings, company officials said. Second-quarter revenues and earnings are also expected to be up to 10 percent higher than that of the first quarter, even though oil production was lower than anticipated, they said.

Company officials, who expect to officially report second-quarter results on Monday or Tuesday, said a combination of lower interest expenses and higher product prices are primarily responsible for the anticipated improvement in results.

A Midland man was in jail Friday after he was caught attempting to shoplift firearms at Oshman's Sporting Goods, 4511 N. Midkiff Road, according to police.

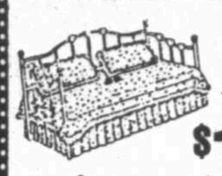

Officers were called to the store at about 6 p.m. Thursday in reference to a shoplifting, according to the report. The officers were advised that store employee Roy Dale Whitehead, 25, saw 37-year-old Leslie Franco attempting to take three semi-automatic handguns from the display case. McDuff murder case witness: 'He confessed'

AUSTIN (AP) — Convicted killer Kenneth McDuff confessed in gory detail to raping and killing an Austin woman whose body has never been found, according to a key witness who emerged Friday at the end of a pretrial hearing in the capital murder case.

Outside the courtroom, 23-year-old Brandon Morris said McDuff confessed to the 1991 rape-slaying of Colleen Reed during a six-minute conversation the two had in the McLennan County Jail last year.

"He confessed," said Morris, who was in jail for 30 days in 1992 for evading arrest on a public intoxication charge. "He said her body was up near a field in Hillsboro."

McDuff, 47, who has twice been sentenced to die, is charged with capital murder in the death of Ms. Reed. He says he is innocent.

If convicted, he could face another death sentence.

Defense attorneys sought the weeklong hearing to try and move McDuff's trial out of Austin because of publicity, to suppress testimony from Morris and to block other evidence.

State District Judge Wilford Flowers did not say when he would rule on the motions.

Friday's hearing followed a dramatic, forced removal of McDuff from the courtroom Thursday. After McDuff blurted out several questions to witnesses and used profanities twice, he was carried back to jail while struggling with deputies.

Friday, McDuff told Flowers his attorneys were not asking the right questions and he wanted to represent himself.

Flowers seemed ready to grant McDuff's wish after asking him a few questions about his credentials as a lawyer.

The judge said McDuff certainly had "experience in sitting in a courtroom.

But after a brief meeting with his attorneys, McDuff opted not to fire his counsel.

The second half of the hearing belonged to Morris, a diminutive man who was visibly shaken at again confronting McDuff.

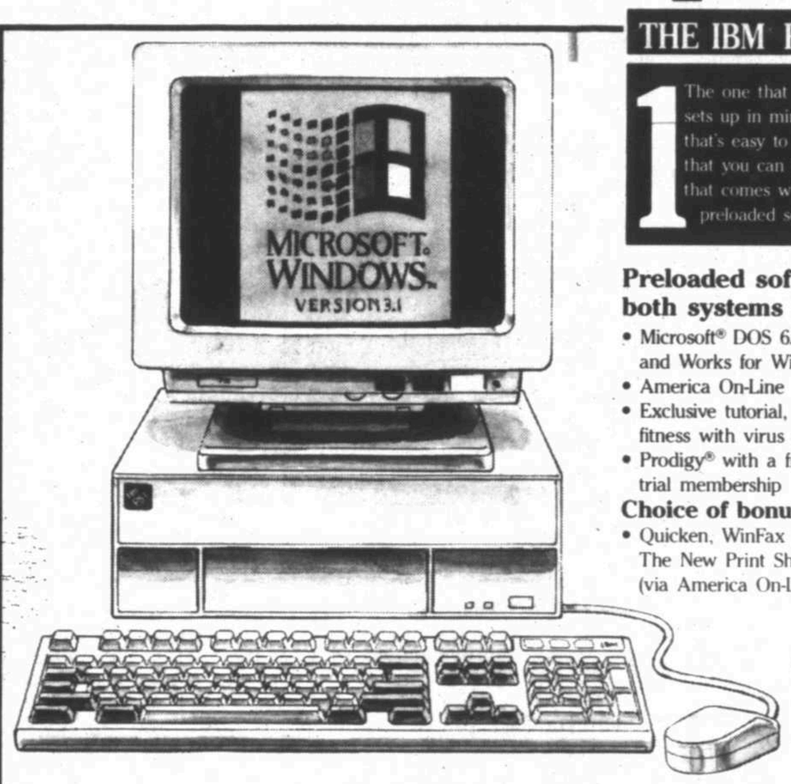

Morris told reporters McDuff confessed to abducting Ms. Reed

JORDAN: FBI opens kidnapping investigation

incident, but added that it was unlikely the youth was involved in the Jordan death.

Dental records were used to identify the badly decomposed body as that of Jordan, 57. Records of the jawbone and teeth were taken at the time of the autopsy, then matched with the records taken to South Carolina. Marlboro County Coroner Tim Brown said the body was cremated Aug. 6, after the autopsy but before it was identified.

Cumberland County authorities, who are in charge of the homicide investigation, said they had no suspects and no motive for the slaying. They reported no ransom demands had been made on the family.

Thomas Lusby, FBI assistant special agent in charge in North Carolina, said the agency is treating the incident as a possible kidnapping because Jordan "was last seen in North Carolina and his vehicle was recovered here and the body was recovered in South Carolina."

"This gives us a reasonable presumption he was taken against his will and abducted," he said.

AP

"There aren't any witnesses coming forth. We've got to conduct a thorough investigation and turn over every rock we can," Lusby said.

Speaking later outside the Jordan home, Lusby would not comment when asked if the FBI's investigation had examined any connection between James Jordan's death and his son's well-known gambling.

"We are looking simply into the kidnapping of James Jordan and the circumstances surrounding his death," said Lusby, who added that the family had been cooperative in helping law enforcement officers piece together the event of the last three weeks.

Michael Jordan, who earlier this year led the Chicago Bulls to their third consecutive NBA championship, has made no public statement on his father's death. He arrived at Charlotte-Douglas International Airport aboard a private jet Friday afternoon and left in a sedan without talking to reporters. His mother, Deloris, was thought to be at her home in Union County, N.C., but also had not commented publicly.

The elder Jordan had not been seen since late July when he attended the funeral of a friend in Wilmington. Family members, who were reportedly used to Jordan going off on his own, had not reported him missing.

Authorities said Thursday they began searching for Jordan after they learned he was the owner of a luxury car found Aug. 5 in a wooded area near Fayetteville. The red Lexus 400 had been stripped of its tires, stereo speakers and personalized license plates, the front windshield was shattered and the back window was completely broken out.

Cumberland County authorities said the vandalism to the car may be unrelated to Jordan's death, noting that it had been driven to the area and locked.

"This being on I-95 in a large metropolitan area, we find a lot of stripped cars," Sheriff Morris Bedsole said.

Gary Rodel Farrior was arrested on charges that he helped strip Jordan's $46,000 car of tires and stereo equipment. Bedsole said he does not believe that Farrior was involved in the slaying.

Farrior is accused of breaking and entering, larceny and possession of stolen property. He was released under $5,000 bond.

Investigators traveled to Pender County on Friday to try to learn more about James Jordan's activities when he was last seen. Bedsole said 10 to 15 homicide investigators are assigned to the case.

Jordan was close to his 30-year-old son, whose basketball success brought him earnings estimated at $30 million a year.

IMPACT: Many to feel effect of tax package

(From 1A)

lesser-noticed provisions will affect individual Americans:

■ Earned income tax credit: A major expansion is expected to raise the number of poor working families getting this money from 15 million to 20 million. About 11 million families already getting the credit should get increases. The money is paid by reducing the tax a family owes, or by a government payment to families that earn so little that they owe no taxes.

The size of the credit varies with income and family size. Currently, the maximum available for families with two or more children is $1,998 a year. This will rise to $3,370 when fully phased in by 1996. For families with one child, the maximum will rise from $1,838 to $2,040. For the first time, childless workers aged 25 to 64 and making below $9,000 would also qualify, though their maximum annual payments would be a more modest $306.

■ Food stamps: Congressional aides say the bill will boost the benefits of 1.4 million to 1.8 million households getting food stamps, though probably by less than $50 monthly. The chief beneficiaries of the bill are families with expensive housing costs.

About 10 million low-income American households get these coupons for food purchases, averaging $244 a month for a family of four in the continental United States. Benefits are higher in Alaska and Hawaii.

■ Student loans: For the 3 million college and graduate students getting loans, up-front fees will be dropped from a maximum 8 percent to 4 percent. Interest rates will be capped at 8.25 percent. Rates are currently below that, but the provision will help if rates rise. These changes will occur as the government begins making direct loans. Until now, banks have issued federally backed loans.

■ Veterans: Fees for low-cost veterans' loans will increase to 2 percent of the mortgage, up from the current 1.25 percent. Disabled veterans and widows and children of veterans who died of service-connected injuries will have monthly benefits rounded down to nearest dollar.

■ Federal retirees: The 2 million retired civilian workers and their survivors get an average $1,238 a month, and get cost-of-living increases each Jan. 1 for inflation costs. This annual adjustment will be delayed by three months in 1994, 1995 and 1996. Average cost per retiree: $342, assuming annual inflation of 3 percent a year.

The 1.4 million military retirees will see a three-month delay in their annual increase next year, and nine-month delays in 1995 through 1998. Average cost per retiree through 1998: $1,378 for enlisted people, and $2,763 for officers, whose pensions are higher.

■ Campers: The government will start charging entrance fees at more national monuments and other areas, and at more campgrounds. Fees generally range from $3 to $8 a day. Entrance fees at national parks are not affected.

■ Medicaid: New rules will make it harder for people to transfer their assets to relatives so they can qualify for Medicaid.

■ Childrens' immunizations: Funds to provide immunizations to about 5 million poor children, mainly pre-schoolers.

Here, in summary, is how some of the bill's most publicized provisions will affect people:

■ Income tax: Only the richest 1 percent of taxpayers need worry, because no one else's tax rates are going up. Individuals earning more than about $140,000 a year, and couples making more than $180,000, will see their rate rise from the current 31 percent to 36 percent. It goes to 39.6 percent for individuals and couples making over $250,000.

These are just the formal tax brackets. The law also makes permanent the current phase-out of personal exemptions and limits on itemized deductions for the very rich. It also imposes the 1.45 percent Medicare tax for the first time on wages exceeding $135,000. As a result, accountants say, the actual top rate, in effect, can be as high as 44.4 percent for some very wealthy self-employed people with large families.

■ Social Security tax: Individuals making more than $34,000 and couples earning over $44,000 — including half their Social Security payments — will pay taxes on up to 85 percent of their benefits. This should affect 5.5 million recipients.

Currently, one-fifth of the 43 million elderly and disabled Social Security recipients pay income taxes on up to half of their benefits. These are single people whose incomes exceed $25,000, and couples making more than $32,000.

■ Gasoline tax: The current 14.1 cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax rises by 4.3 cents on Oct. 1. For the average person who drives 13,000 miles a year in a car that gets 20 miles per gallon, the added annual cost is $27.95.

DIPS: Inflation rate fades during summer and economists had expected more of the same for this year. They began questioning that assumption when consumer prices shot up at a worrisome 4.3 percent rate from January through April.

But now they're more confident their original forecasts were correct. The annualized rate for the first seven months was 2.8 percent. Economists predict the rate for the full year won't be more than a few tenths of a percentage point higher, even if flooding in the Midwest pushes up grain prices a bit.

Most recently, the index has been helped by falling energy prices, down at a 4.5 percent annual rate over the past three months because of weak world demand. But the feebleness of the U.S. economy also has contributed. Companies trying to raise prices find customers willing to defer purchases or go elsewhere.

"I think fundamentally consumers have a price-conscious mentality. They wait for a discount before they buy. That's the exact opposite of the 1970s when people bought in anticipation of higher prices," said economist David Jones of Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., a government securities dealer in New York.

In July, prices excluding the volatile food and energy categories rose just 0.1 percent for the second consecutive month. For the year so far, this so-called core rate of inflation, which most analysts consider a better barometer of underlying inflationary pressures than the overall index, rose at a 3.3 percent annual rate, the same as the increase for all of 1992.

The department offered these details of prices last month:

—Gasoline and fuel oil both fell 0.5 percent but the price of natural gas and electricity rose.

—Beef costs fell 0.1 percent and poultry, 0.4 percent. Analysts said rising grain prices as a result of the Midwestern flooding has prompted farmers to slaughter animals early, pushing meat prices down.

—Fresh vegetable prices dropped 6.8 percent despite a 15.7 percent jump in lettuce prices, the worst since March. Tomato prices fell 32.1 percent, the biggest drop in 14 months. Fruit prices rose 4.2 percent.

—Airline tickets rose 2.8 percent in July and are up 19.7 percent from a year ago. Used car prices increased 0.8 percent and are up 9.1 percent from a year ago.

—Clothing was unchanged during the month and is up just 0.2 percent for the year.

—Medical care costs, a perennial source of inflation, rose a relatively mild 0.4 percent for the second consecutive month. They're up 6 percent for the year.

The various changes left the Consumer Price Index in July at 144.4, compared with 140.5 a year ago. That means a marketbasket of goods and services costing $100 in the 1982-84 base period would have cost $144.40 in July.

BREAK: Weary pope hikes, reads poetry in Rocky Mountains

(From 1A)

Thirteen months after major intestinal surgery, John Paul was clearly fatigued at stops beginning Monday in Kingston, Jamaica, and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula. Persistent doubts about his health have been raised since the operation.

The Vatican recently pronounced the pontiff in good health, following a checkup in July. But the trip was clearly taking its toll, and his schedule was unforgiving.

He met with American Indians at the site of an ancient Mayan ruin in Izamal, Mexico, under a punishing midday sun. When celebrating a Mass later that day, John Paul walked with difficulty up the steps of the altar, stopping at least four times and leaning on his pastoral staff to gain strength.

His cheeks were pinched and his voice lacked his usual vigor.

Papal spokesman Joaquin Navarro told reporters the next day, on the plane taking the pope to Denver, that John Paul had lost at least four pounds in the heat.

But he said the pontiff had bounced back. John Paul seemed to have regained some of his form by the time of his meeting with President Clinton and at a youth rally at Mile High Stadium on Thursday evening, though he still appeared somewhat weary.

And so, questions persist.

The Vatican said the intestinal tumor removed last year was benign, but had shown signs of possibly becoming cancerous. John Paul had also undergone intestinal surgery in 1981 after being shot in an assassination attempt.

Since the latest operation, John Paul appears to have developed a tremor in his left hand and seems to tire more easily, his left shoulder stooped.

He appeared vigorous during a vacation in the Italian Alps in July, but slowed down again after returning to Rome.

He also spends less time with the media, no longer walking the aisles of his plane and stopping to answer each reporter's questions. Now he stands and fields about half a dozen questions from reporters crowding in front of him.

But his mind remains sharp.

"I'm still walking on my own two feet," he insisted to reporters who asked about his health on the flight from Rome.

The Camp St. Malo retreat center, 15 miles southeast of Estes Park, should remind the pope of the mountains of his native Poland, with its fir trees, brooks and numerous trails.

His next public event is a Mass for young people in the cathedral Saturday morning.

John Paul returns to Rome Monday, ending his 60th foreign tour, but his travels resume almost immediately. He leaves Sept. 4 for a six-day tour of the Baltic republics, his first to the former Soviet Union.

Editor's note: Victor L. Simpson, an Associated Press correspondent based in Rome, has covered Pope John Paul II throughout his 15-year papacy.

CITIES: Rochester, Minn., is most livable

(From 1A)

Paul; Houston; Raleigh-Durham, N.C.; Goldsboro, N.C.; Sheboygan, Wis.; Grand Forks, N.D.; Sioux Falls, S.D.; and Austin, Texas.

Sioux Falls was the No. 1 finisher last year.

The magazine compiled its list by asking 253 subscribers to rate the importance of 43 factors in evaluating a city. The readers ranked clean water, a low crime rate and unpolluted air as most important, followed by plentiful hospitals and doctors, strong state government and housing appreciation.

Money then weighed statistics about each metropolitan area to see how well it matched what readers wanted. The list is published in its September issue.

The Northeast fared poorly in the survey, with the top finisher — the Boston area — dropping to 39th place from No. 18 last year. The New York metropolitan area, including Westchester and 12 New Jersey counties, fell from 82nd to 148th place.

The West Coast had only one metropolitan area in the top 30 — Seattle, which moved from 22nd to 11th place. The top California city, San Diego, was 36th, down from 21st last year.

Richard Eisenberg, an assistant managing editor at Money, said the Northeast and West Coast ranked lower due to their slumping economies.

"Those parts of the country are still hurting so much," he said. "It's hard for them to make the Top 10."

Rochester and several other cities made the list for the first time, thanks to new census figures reflecting growth in their populations.

The city that showed the most improvement from last year's survey was Savannah, Ga., which moved from No. 252 to No. 90 basd on 5.8 percent annual job growth, the magazine said.

In contrast, the lowest-ranked cities were hurt by comatose local economies. The last five finishers were Yuba City, Calif., No. 296; Mansfield, Ohio, No. 297; Davenport, Iowa, No. 298; Glens Falls, N.Y., No. 299; and Rockford, Ill., last.

Rockford, which sank from No. 299 last year, suffers from 10.1 percent unemployment, crime and a crack cocaine problem, Money said.

Diane Voneida, Rockford's director of community development, expressed "surprise and discouragement."

"It's a wonderful place to live," she insisted.

PACT: Negotiators remove roadblock to zone

(From 1A)

services."

"It was a great day for Canada because there will be no trade sanctions in these accords," exulted Canadian Trade Minister Tom Hockin. "It wasn't easy but we prevailed."

Said Luis Herman Carco, president of Mexico's Business Coordination Council: "We believe that today's step is an obvious indication that (NAFTA) will pass. Mexico is ready."

A deadlock was broken when the United States and Mexico bowed to Canada's opposition to the use of trade sanctions as tools of enforcement of the labor and environmental compacts. The notion would have been to place some restrictions on a country's free trade rights if the country violated the side agreements aimed at ensuring that there be no adverse environmental or labor effects of the lifting of all trade barriers.

Resolution of those side accords clears the way for the Clinton administration to submit the entire pact to Congress when it returns from its summer recess after Labor Day. The agreement faces an uncertain future there.

Clinton, seeking to get the problem resolved, talked by telephone to Mexico's president, Carlos Salinas de Gortari on Thursday night, and to Canadian Prime Minister Kim Campbell on Friday, White House officials said.

Under the compromise, the Ottawa government prevailed in its demand that trade sanctions be taken off the table as a punitive action in the event of any non-enforcement of Canadian labor and environmental laws.

Instead, the negotiators agreed that under such a scenario Canada would be subject to fines recommended by an independent arbitration panel and imposed by its own court system. The United States and Mexico would remain liable for trade sanctions in the form of tariffs or quotas.

Clinton administration officials said that while their agreement provides different treatment for Canada in this respect, all three nations would bear the same labor and environmental burdens under the side deals.

"If Canada doesn't comply ... this has the same teeth as trade sanctions," said U.S. Trade Representative Mickey Kantor. "Mexico and the U.S. would not have agreed if their courts could not enforce."

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, said he "looked forward" to working on the new pact.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, supported the side agreements.

But House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., said the side deals do little to lessen his antipathy toward the agreement.

"These side agreements are better than the way the treaty was left by President Bush," he said. "There's been a lot of hard work and they have achieved progress ... but what has been achieved standing alone is not sufficient."

And House Majority Whip David Bonior, D-Mich., said "the differences between the basic political and economic systems of Mexico and the United States are too wide, the number of U.S. jobs lost will be too high, and the cost to the environment will be too great."

The agreement was unveiled in simultaneous news conferences in Washington, Ottawa and Mexico City. The Mexican stock market took an immediate uptick, rising more than 3.5 percent shortly after the deal's announcement.

"This is a momentous agreement because with it we can raise the standard of living for the people of all three countries," Kantor said.

Clinton, speaking to state and community leaders in California, said the agreement "gives specific assurances to the American community that this will generate more jobs."

The trade pact, expected to take effect Jan. 1 if ratified by Congress, would phase out barriers to the free movement of goods, services and investment between the three nations over a 15-year period. It would create the world's largest free-trade zone, with 360 million consumers and an annual production of $6.4 trillion.

Serbs promise again to leave mountain

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Under threat of NATO air strikes, Bosnian Serbs allowed a convoy into Sarajevo along a newly opened route Friday and agreed to quit strategic Mount Igman on Saturday.

"They want to get the government back to the negotiating table," Cmdr. Barry Frewer, spokesman for U.N. peacekeepers, said of the Serbs.

Bosnia's Muslim president, Alija Izetbegovic, began boycotting peace talks in Geneva nearly two weeks ago to protest the Serb offensive that took Igman and nearby Mount Bjelasnica from government troops. He has refused to return until withdrawal is complete.

Gen. Francis Briquemont of Belgium, commander of U.N. forces in Bosnia, said commanders of Bosnian Serb and government forces have agreed on lines of withdrawal from Mount Igman overlooking Sarajevo. The Bosnian Serbs already have left Mount Bjelasnica.

All Serb forces on Igman must withdraw beyond the agreed lines by 4 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT) Saturday, Briquemont said.

He and U.N. chief of staff Brig. Vere Hayes said the new lines removed the last stumbling block to resuming peace talks in Geneva.

Hayes, who was on the mountains Friday afternoon, said he could confirm that the Serbs already have withdrawn nearly all their troops beyond the agreed withdrawal lines.

"From my point of view the impasse is over," Briquemont told a news conference late Friday.

"I'm sure on Monday the talks will get going again," Hayes said.

Meanwhile, U.N. officials said the arrival of the aid convoy was a hopeful sign.

In Washington, Secretary of State Warren Christopher assured a Muslim delegation Friday that NATO would take military action if Serbs do not withdraw from the mountains and let relief supplies reach the city.

Israel softens stance toward outlawed PLO

JERUSALEM (NYT) — Israel appeared to soften its stance Friday toward the PLO, saying it would continue meeting with Palestinian peace negotiators who were named as official PLO representatives.

The development would lead later this month to the first direct talks between Palestine Liberation Organization officials and Israel over the future of the occupied territories. The next round of Middle East peace talks is scheduled for Aug. 30 in Washington.

The appointment of seven of the 14 members of the Palestinian negotiating team to a PLO steering committee on the peace talks ended a leadership crisis in which three top negotiators — Faisal Husseini, Hanan Ashrawi and Saeb Erakat — had threatened to resign.

The three were angered with the PLO leadership over differences in negotiating strategy during the Middle East visit last week of U.S. Secretary of State Warren Christopher.

The formal designation of negotiators as PLO representatives means little to the procedure of the U.S.-sponsored talks; PLO officials in Tunis have from the start of the talks 21 months ago directed the Palestinian delegation, who come from the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

But it represents a symbolic departure from Israel's declared policy forbidding official contacts with the PLO, which it considers a terrorist organization.

Right-wing Israeli officials said it was an unacceptable concession to the Palestinians. Palestinian negotiators said it was a step toward open talks between Israel and the PLO.

"The Israelis know very well that they are negotiating with the PLO. Now if they want to accept that officially or not, that's their business," Husseini said following his return from Tunis on Friday.

Foreign Minister Shimon Peres told state radio that the official PLO status for the negotiators was a "gimmick" intended only to resolve the PLO's internal crisis.

"For us it doesn't matter. It's the same members of the delegation, the same names, the same people, the same procedure. We knew even before who they were consulting," Peres said.

Mexican on NAFTA: 'It's a real fiesta. . .There's real euphoria.'

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Carlos Salinas de Gortari, smiling and triumphant, hailed agreement on environment and labor issues Friday as a major step forward in final approval of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

"Today, compatriots, we have completed the negotiations that many thought impossible," Gotari said in a nationally televised news conference.

"With the accords we take a new and important step forward in the construction of the largest free trade zone in the world and in the creation of new opportunities."

Friday's announcement of agreement on the side issues sent Mexico's emotional roller coaster ride over NAFTA's future hurtling upward. Reports of an impasse earlier this week left some pessimistic about NAFTA's fate.

Salinas has made the U.S.-Canadian-Mexican pact the cornerstone of his economic plan. He predicted Friday that NAFTA and the newly approved side accords will "create more jobs, clean and better paid," while protecting Mexico's sovereignty.

'We have completed the negotiations that many thought impossible. . .we take a new step forward in the construction of the largest free trade zone in the world.' — President Gortari

Salinas said his government will propose linking productivity gains to increases in the minimum wage — now less than $5 a day and eroded by inflation for more than a decad .

He predicted that completion of the side agreements will attract more direct foreign investment and create more opportunities for economic growth.

The Mexican stock market, which had closed down Thursday amid pessimism about the accords, took an immediate upturn Friday.

It rose more than 3.5 percent within an hour after officials ended news conferences announcing completion of talks on side deals.

"It's a real fiesta," said Elizabeth Barrera, an analyst at the Mexico City stock brokerage firm Interacciones. "There's real euphoria out there. We've got 58 issues up and four down. Everyone wants to be in."

"We believe that today's step is an obvious indication that (NAFTA) will pass," said Luis Herman Carco, president of Mexico's Business Coordination Council, representing the country's most powerful business interests. "Mexico is ready."

Fischer consents to chess dream match against youth

BUDAPEST, Hungary (NYT) — Bobby Fischer, the former world chess champion who has been living in seclusion in Yugoslavia, has agreed to play a blitz match — a series of high-speed games — against Judit Polgar, the world's youngest grandmaster and highest-ranking female player.

The agreement was negotiated during a recent visit to Yugoslavia by the Polgar family and was concluded during Fischer's stay this week in Hungary. Chess fans have been eagerly expecting such a match ever since Miss Polgar, a bold and unpredictable player, defeated Boris Spassky in a 10-game match in Budapest this year. Fischer prevailed over Spassky, his old rival, in a match in Yugoslavia in the fall of 1992.

Fischer arrived in Budapest on Sunday and visited the Polgars at their summer home in Nagymaros. Surrounded by bodyguards.

Fischer and Miss Polgar, who is 17 years old, have not selected the place or the time of their match.

Fischer has been living in Yugoslavia.

Torture in Israel remains secret subject

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's Supreme Court refused to rule this week whether secret service agents could use torture during interrogations.

The Committee Against Torture, an Israeli human rights group, sought to overturn a 1987 ruling that permits use of "moderate physical pressure" in interrogations.

It said this wording allows for torture, and sought to bar use of "moderate physical pressure" when Israeli security agents question Palestinians suspected of hostile acts.

But the court rejected the petition on grounds the court's role was not to address interrogation tactics in general. It reserved the right to rule in the future on specific cases. The three-judge panel refused to comment on techniques used by Israel's internal secret service agency, Shin Bet.

The Justice Ministry last April ordered interrogators to drop some methods, such as exposing suspects to extreme heat and cold or depriving them of water, food or toilet facilities.

It was the first official statement on the subject. The ministry addressed no other practices alleged by rights groups, including sleep deprivation, beatings, tying up detainees in painful positions, and locking them in tiny cells.

Yeltsin: Russia stays whole . . .don't consider secession

MOSCOW (AP) — A newly combative Boris Yeltsin warned provincial leaders Friday that he will not allow Russia to go the way of the Soviet Union and be torn apart by separatist regions.

The Russian president's hard-nosed speech came a day after he promised to force early parliamentary elections, and signaled he was girding for battle on two political fronts.

"If someone in the republics or territories, districts and regions really entertains hopes (of secession), he is profoundly mistaken," Yeltsin said. "Come what may, Russia will remain one state."

After disappearing from public view for nearly a month, including a two-week vacation in the countryside, Yeltsin returned to the fray this week and launched an offensive against both of the groups that are vying with his administration for power.

First, he attacked the hard-line parliament. In an address to media executives in Moscow on Thursday, he declared that elections for a new parliament must take place this fall and threatened to order the balloting himself — even though Russia's current constitution does not give him that authority.

Then, he flew to the Karelia region along the Finnish border on Friday to deliver his stern warning to a conference of about 30 provincial leaders from across the nation.

Many of the provinces, including Karelia, are trying to wrest control of their natural resources and tax revenues from Moscow. A few, such as Muslim Tatarstan and the diamond-rich Siberian Sakha republic, have hinted at secession.

"I would describe such ambitions as a kind of geopolitical nonsense," Yeltsin's press secretary, Vyacheslav Kostikov, told reporters.

At least 24 die when Thai hotel falls to ground

KORAT, Thailand (AP) — A six-story hotel where hundreds of people from around the world were attending conferences came tumbling down Friday. At least 24 people died, about 350 were injured and dozens were trapped in the debris.

Crews worked into the night to look for bodies or survivors in the rubble of the Royal Plaza Hotel in Korat, a provincial capital and commercial center about 130 miles northeast of Bangkok. Air was pumped into the debris.

National police chief Sawasdi Amornwivat said he suspected the hotel's collapse was connected to work in 1990 to add three top floors.

A police official, Chalong Kingchakaew, said the hotel was being renovated when it collapsed.

Hospital personnel said there were two foreign women among the dead, one from England and the other from Japan. Provincial officials listed only the British woman.

Officials said 276 people suffered serious injuries and 70 others received minor injuries.

Hundreds of people were attending meetings in the hotel when it collapsed in mid-morning. Police said 13 Americans were registered at the hotel.

Estimates of the number missing ranged from 50 to 200.

"I don't know if they are alive but we hope they are," said Deputy Interior Minister Chaowas Sudlabha. "We are pumping oxygen to them."

IRA is suspect in fires throughout English resorts

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP) — Police ordered tourists off beaches and searched for bombs in three southern resorts Friday after suspected IRA firebombs set off a series of blazes.

The fires damaged four stores and the pier in Bournemouth, where six incendiary devices and one small explosive device went off. No one was injured.

Police later defused a bomb under the Bournemouth pier that they said could have blown up the entire structure.

Bomb threats were reported in Brighton, 75 miles east of Bournemouth, and Torquay, 80 miles to the west. No devices were found.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the bombs or the threats. But bombs and firebombs are frequently used by the Irish Republic Army in its fight to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

Brighton was the scene of the IRA's most audacious attack in England — a hotel bombing in 1984 in an attempt to kill then-Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and her entire Cabinet.

Five people, including a member of parliament and the wives of two Conservative officials, were killed in the blast.

Christopher: We attack if Serbs don't leave

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Warren Christopher assured a Muslim delegation Friday that NATO would take military action if Serbs do not withdraw from mountains overlooking Sarajevo and let relief supplies reach the city.

He said he shared their anguish over Bosnia and assured them he would confer with allied foreign ministers by the end of the day "one way or the other." What happens next in the former Yugoslav republic "really is in the hands of the Serbs," Christopher said.

Later, Christopher left for a two-week vacation in Santa Barbara, Calif., but a senior U.S. official said Christopher's departure did not mean the crisis had eased.

A decision to convene the North Atlantic Council for a final decision to launch an attack on the Serbs "could literally happen at any moment," said the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

'The president is determined to lift the siege of Sarajevo'...What happens next 'really is in the hands of the Serbs.'

— Secretary Warren Christopher

He said Christopher would telephone or write to all 15 foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The chairman of the 51-nation Organization of Islamic Conference, Foreign Minister Abdul Sattar of Pakistan, said Muslims around the world feel anguish and distress over the situation in Bosnia. The Muslim-dominated government has lost control of virtually all the country except Sarajevo.

Christopher assured him that "we all feel a great deal of anguish about the situation there.

"NATO and the world community are prepared to give a strong warning and to take action if some of the anguish is not relieved by lifting the siege in Sarajevo and permitting humanitarian aid to go forward."

He told The Associated Press Thursday night that if the Serbs resumed their shelling of Sarajevo the North Atlantic Council would reconvene to consider taking military action against them.

"We're going to be watching what happens" in the next few days, Christopher said in an interview. "That's a critical time."

Christopher said President Clinton is determined to lift the siege of the Bosnian capital.

"If Sarajevo would fall it would give a kind of impetus to the Serbs and embolden them in a way that would make it very hard to contain the conflict," Christopher said.

"What I'm saying now is that the president is determined to lift the siege of Sarajevo," Christopher said.

Clinton faces angry California defense workers

ALAMEDA, Calif. (NYT) — President Clinton faced off here Friday with some angry military workers about to lose jobs because of the government's latest decision to close 35 military facilities, nine of them in California.

Clinton acknowledged what he called "the difficult transition" ahead for California defense workers who will be hardest hit by the latest round of Pentagon cutbacks. But he pledged to give special attention to the state and to make the area around Alameda and Oakland "a national model" for his five-year, $19.5 billion defense conversion plan.

"You have done the right thing for your country. As a result of that, it has become necessary...to downsize the United States military," the president told a crowd of several thousand Navy personnel and civilian defense workers who gathered on a dock here for his speech.

"The men and women who won the Cold War will not be left out in the cold by an ungrateful nation," he said, using a line from previous speeches on reshaping the nation's military to better deal with new post-Cold War challenges.

"If we do the right thing, it means a better future for our people, it means a brighter future for this area, and it means a stronger, stronger America," he said.

The speech here marked Clinton's fourth trip to California since his inauguration, and it was the third time he has defended his defense conversion plan, which includes $5 billion to help smooth the transition to other employment for displaced military workers.

The East Bay area around Oakland and Alameda, where the unemployment rate is 9.8 percent, is expected to lose more than 33,000 jobs because of plans to close the air station and three other smaller facilities in the area.

Clinton promised to try to soften the blow by speeding up the dredging of the ship channels to the Port of Oakland and leasing a 200-acre soon-to-be-closed military depot here to local authorities for $1 a year. He also promised more money to help retrain and find new jobs for laid off defense workers.

Clinton stopped here to offer his encouragement on the second day of a week-long swing through the Midwest and West. He will spend the weekend in Vail, Colo., golfing with former President Ford.

Although the move toward downsizing the military started under the Reagan and Bush Republican administrations, Clinton has made deeper defense cuts and recently signed off on the recommendations of the Base Closure Commission to shut down 35 more military facilities.

The political fallout could take its toll on Clinton and other Democratic lawmakers when they face voters.

The White House is concerned about polls here that continue to show Clinton's overall approval rating at below 50 percent, and in some surveys, still falling.

Letter: America demands Demjanjuk's release

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Embassy in Israel has written the Israeli government that the continued detention of John Demjanjuk may violate its extradition treaty with the United States, according to a copy of the letter obtained by the World Jewish Congress.

The letter, signed and delivered to Israel's Justice ministry by Paul B. van Son, first secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv, requested "an official and legal explanation" as to why Demjanjuk, the retired Ohio autoworker recently acquitted by Israel's Supreme Court of Nazi war crimes, was still in prison.

Van Son wrote Ruth Rubin, an official at the Justice ministry, that he was acting at the request of State Department lawyers. The content of the three-paragraph letter was provided to a reporter Friday by the World Jewish Congress.

"They expressed to me concern that the government of Israel may be in violation of the 'specialty rule' of the U.S.-Israel treaty," van Son said in the letter.

The State Department said Thursday "the letter was prepared and sent without the knowledge or approval of officials in Washington."

However, the department said in a statement that the issues raised in the letter "had been the subject of informal discussions between our two governments for some time."

Kalman Sultanik, vice president of the Jewish organization, said "it appears that Israel's attorney general was cruelly deceived by an unauthorized cable from the State Department pressuring Israel to release Demjanjuk."

On Thursday, before the copy of the letter was obtained, the State Department said it had sought "clarification" from the Israeli government on Demjanjuk, but it declined to say whether American diplomats pressed for his release.

Commerce Secretary Brown denies payoffs from Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Ronald Brown said Friday he never received money from the Vietnamese government, calling "absolutely ridiculous" reported allegations that he accepted $700,000 in exchange for helping lift the U.S. trade embargo against that country.

U.S. News & World Report magazine, in its Aug. 23 issue, says the FBI has been investigating since late February the allegations against Brown made by Ly Thanh Binh, a Vietnamese business consultant living in Florida.

The FBI would neither confirm nor deny Friday that it was investigating the alleged illegal payment.

However, a federal law enforcement source said the bureau was "aware that that information has been sent by an individual to a number of people, including congressmen, and the FBI has received copies of that information from congressmen." The source spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity.

In a news release distributed Friday, U.S. News said Brown has known about the FBI investigation "for some time and has refused to discuss it."

Brown denied that statement. In an impromptu news conference beside Air Force One at Alameda Naval Air Station in California, Brown said he has "no idea" whether the FBI is investigating the matter.

Aspin's Venice vacation cost U.S. $35,941

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Les Aspin's five-night vacation in Venice, Italy, last May cost taxpayers $35,941 in food and lodging costs for his staff, security agents and airplane crew, the Defense Department said Friday.

Aspin had said immediately after the vacation that he paid all of his own expenses.

The Danieli hotel in which Aspin stayed with a female friend, steel executive Sharon Sarton of Lake Geneva, Wis., is a converted royal palace that is one of the most expensive lodgings in Europe. Double rooms run $417 to $459 a night and suites upwards of $700.

For weeks following Aspin's vacation, his spokesmen refused to provide estimates of the cost to taxpayers. The figures finally were released late Friday afternoon.

In mid-June, Pentagon spokesman Bob Hall told reporters that the figures would be disclosed only in response to a written request under the Freedom of Information Act, a process that sometimes takes months or years.

In the statement issued Friday, Aspin's public affairs aides stressed that any secretary of defense is entitled to a security detail, 24-hour secure communications and government transportation no matter where the secretary travels — "as are all officials in the chain of command from the president to the nation's war-fighting military commanders."

Electronic records must be preserved, appeals court says

WASHINGTON (NYT) — In a decision that brings federal agencies into the computer age, a U.S. appeals court ruled Friday that the government must preserve millions of electronic messages and memorandums under the same standards used for paper communications.

A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia rejected arguments by the Clinton administration that computer messages between officials — E-mail — did not have to be saved. The administration contended that officials should be allowed to choose whatever computer files they thought should be preserved and to print them on paper.

The panel said that it was aware of the importance of electronic documents because of "the frequency with which they have been used in recent years." The opinion noted that electronic communications had been used by the Tower Commission, congressional investigators and the independent counsel in the course of investigating the Iran-Contra affair — including the cases against Oliver North and John M. Poindexter. They were also used by the Justice Department in prosecuting Manuel Noriega, the deposed Panamanian leader.

The unanimous court ruling won praise from historians and journalists who said it recognized how much of the Government's business is conducted on the computer. Paper files, while not obsolete, no longer provide a complete record of Government action.

State appeals court halts Graham's execution

AUSTIN (AP) — A state appeals court Friday halted Tuesday's scheduled execution of death row inmate Gary Graham.

The Austin-based 3rd Court of Appeals ordered the execution be postponed while it considered a legal battle over a requested clemency hearing for Graham, who contends that new evidence will clear him.

Graham was scheduled to be executed for the 1981 robbery slaying of Bobby Lambert of Arizona in the parking lot of a Houston grocery store.

The court blocked that and scheduled arguments for Sept. 29.

"Clearly, to proceed with the execution would affect the parties' rights," the appeals court said.

The order marked the third time this year that Graham has escaped the death chamber.

He earlier received a stay from the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals and a 30-day reprieve from Gov. Ann Richards.

Graham's case has attracted national attention, with several celebrities calling for him to be spared.

Hollywood entertainment figures Danny Glover and Kenny Rogers are among those backing Graham. Amnesty International, a longtime capital punishment foe, has spoken out overseas against Graham's plight, prompting news crews from Great Britain, Germany and Sweden to travel to Huntsville to profile the case.

Lambert, 53, came out of a Safeway store with a bag of groceries the evening of May 13 and was approached in the parking lot by a gunman who shot him and robbed him of less than $100.

Lambert's killing was the first of a 22-incident crime spree of rape, robbery, shootings and auto theft blamed on Graham over seven days beginning May 13, 1981. He was convicted in 10 of the crimes, including the Lambert murder.

Graham had requested a stay of execution on Thursday. Earlier this week, a district judge ordered that Graham not be executed until the state gives him a hearing on his claims of innocence.

Attorney General Dan Morales is appealing the ruling by District Judge Pete Lowry, who said he believed Graham had a constitutional right to a review of his case in a clemency hearing.

Lowry told the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles to give Graham a trial-like hearing on new witness testimony he says proves his innocence.

Graham has contended that new witnesses will say he wasn't the killer and that he was elsewhere when the crime occurred.

Prosecutors say the alibi witnesses are not credible.

Federal judge: Richards should face allegations

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards should face allegations that she participated in the firing of several Texas Department of Commerce employees because they are Republicans, a federal judge ruled Friday.

U.S. Magistrate Alan Albright recommended denial of motions by Richards, former Commerce board chairman Alan Kahn, and former Commerce personnel director Margaret Donaldson. All three sought to be dismissed from the lawsuit.

Albright's recommendations were forwarded to U.S. District Judge James Nowlin, who has scheduled a Sept. 20 trial in the lawsuit.

Three former Commerce employees say they were part of a mass firing in 1991 because they are Republicans. They say they were terminated to make room for supporters of Richards.

Richards and other Commerce officials have denied the allegations.

They say the agency was reorganized because of allegations of mismanagement of funds. The employees were fired as part of that reorganization, they claim.

Official: Haven for child killer Meza is hoax

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Some Uvalde County residents again are protesting the presence of convicted child killer Raul Meza and are vowing to keep it up until he is moved from their community for good.

About 35 Uvalde County residents protested Thursday in front of the home where Meza lives with relatives.

"How can we forget about a killer who lives in our back yard?" Ms. Albrecht's 10-year-old son Dereck Albrecht was quoted as saying in Friday's San Antonio Express-News.

The Uvalde area residents vowed to demonstrate until Meza is transferred again.

Uvalde, about 90 miles west of San Antonio, was the first town to protest Meza after he was released from prison June 21.

Since then, Meza has been relocated to El Paso County, Wichita Falls, San Antonio, Mineral Wells and Sweetwater. In all those places, Meza was met with citizen outrage.

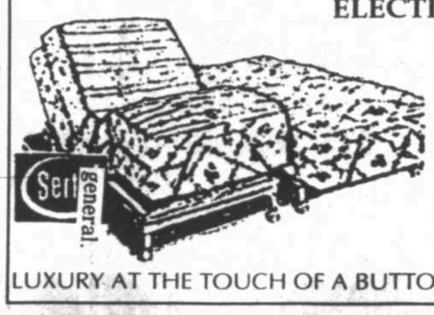

A Texas parole official said Friday reports that a Val Verde County resident had offered Meza a job and housing was a hoax.

Munchak returns

SAN ANTONIO — Guard Mike Munchak, who had been resting a sore knee, returned to the Houston Oilers practice field Friday to prepare for Monday night's exhibition game against the Detroit Lions.

Also returning to practice was linebacker Ed O'Bradovich who had been resting a back injury.

This was the last full contact practice for the team which will return to Houston on Saturday.

Offensive tackle John Flannery and defensive end Lee Williams continued to stay out of practice Friday because of possible knee injuries. They both are expected to be re-evaluated on Monday.

Bears sign Roper

LAKE FOREST, Ill. — The Chicago Bears on Friday announced the team had reached a one-year contract agreement with four-year linebacker John Roper.

Roper started 13 games last season as an outside linebacker, played in all 16 and tied for fourth on the team with 94 stops.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Roper, 27, graduated from Texas A&M.

Teaff on Raycom

FORT WORTH — Former Baylor football coach and athletic director Grant Teaff has been signed as an analyst on Raycom's Southwest Conference football games this fall.

The move that was made possible by Teaff's recent decision to leave Baylor University to become executive director of the American Football Coaches Association.

Teaff was hired Wednesday, Raycom executive producer Peter Rolfe said Thursday. Teaff replaces Dave Rowe, who lost his job a few months ago.

Teaff will work the final nine games of Raycom's 11-game SWC package, with a guest analyst still to be determined doing the two non-conference games to open the season.

"This worked really well. I know all the coaches are happy about it," Rolfe said.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram quoted Teaff as saying that was a prerequisite.

Rolfe said Teaff's knowledge of the conference and of football, plus his personality, made him the man for the job.

Dallas makes trade offer for Gary

AUSTIN (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, whose rushing attack this preseason has been abysmal without holdout Emmitt Smith, have offered receiver Jimmy Smith and a high draft pick to the Los Angeles Rams for running back Cleveland Gary.

"It's not Emmitt leverage, but it's Emmitt insurance," Cowboys owner Jerry Jones said of Gary, the Rams' leading rusher and receiver a year ago.

"It would help us in a lot of ways and only affect us (negatively) in an area where we already have good depth," Jones said.

Gary is a former No. 1 draft pick who starred for Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson at the University of Miami. Like Smith with the Cowboys, Gary has been involved in a contract dispute with the Rams.

Last season, Gary rushed for 1,125 yards and 10 touchdowns. He is unsigned and would have to agree to a contract for a deal to be completed. If he is not signed by Friday, he must sit out the first regular season game because he was placed on the Rams' roster exempt list.

"If it's going to happen, it's going to happen fast," agent Jordan Woy told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "Because Cleveland will not sign with the Rams this week, next week or the week after. He has no interest in being an L.A. Ram."

Gary said: "The Cowboys are an attractive team, so I hope we can work something out."

However, The Dallas Morning News quoted a Rams source as saying Gary is unlikely to be traded, especially because first-round pick Jerome Bettis of Notre Dame suffered an ankle injury Wednesday and was examined Thursday after missing both workouts.

Even if Bettis is not seriously hurt, the Rams source said, "I think we need Cleveland here for one more year."

Smith won the NFL rushing championship the past two seasons but remains unsigned and reportedly millions of dollars apart in contract negotiations with the club. Jones has ruled out any chance Smith will be traded.

"There's no possibility of a (Smith) trade. None. At any time," Jones said.

"With the new system, he's automatically a Cowboy. There's no issue to that. He's with the Cowboys for the '93 season, the '94 season, the '95 season. If he plays, it's with the Cowboys," Jones said.

Dallas offered Smith $9.1 million for four years, which is $4.4 million less than the agreement the Buffalo Bills have with Thurman Thomas.

The Cowboys have talked of giving Gary a one-year pact, and then a shot at free agency, at less than the $1.2 million he has requested from the Rams. Los Angeles reportedly has offered him $485,000.

Singh shoots club record 63

■ Fiji's Vijay Singh burned Inverness while Tom Watson shot a 65 to make a run at his first PGA Championship.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — One man is just arriving, self-taught, diligent and possessing endless promise. The other is one of the best ever, seeking the only major title he doesn't own.

Vijay Singh and Tom Watson, born on opposite sides of the globe and linked by a passion for golf, lit up the PGA Championship on Friday as the young man from Fiji shot an Inverness Club record 63 and set a pace that the older man nearly caught with a 65.

Singh showed all his brilliant potential with a 31 on the back nine in his 8-under-par round, tying the lowest single-round score ever in one of the majors and giving him 131 for a 2-stroke lead over Lanny Wadkins and Steve Elkington. Singh's two-round total also tied the PGA record for 36 holes.

Watson, the PGA conspicuously missing from his collection of eight major titles, stirred memories of his own youth and issued a warning that he's still a serious threat three strokes off the lead.

"It would mean more to me than any tournament I've ever played, if I won this PGA," said Watson, a few weeks shy of his 44th birthday as he tries to complete a career Grand Slam. "Now I have a chance to win it."

England's Nick Faldo lines up a putt on the first green during the second round of the PGA Championship.

Inverness took a beating again from the field, too good for this course when the greens are as lush and slow as they've been so far. There was Wadkins shooting a second-round 68, and first-round leader Scott Simpson dropping from 64 to 70 to join Watson at 134, along with Loren Roberts, Dudley Hart and Eduardo Romero.

Paul Azinger carded 66 — 30 on the back nine — to go into the third round at 135. Nick Faldo, victimized by a triple bogey on the 15th, settled for his second straight 68, as did Greg Norman, putting them at 136, five strokes back.

Arnold Palmer, like Watson a winner of every major except the PGA, failed again at age 63 to make the cut. He had plenty of notable company, including Jack Nicklaus,

Slocum cuts two players

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas A&M football coach R.C. Slocum has dismissed two of seven football players implicated in Texas A&M's summer job scandal.

Wide receiver Percy Singleton and lineman Darius Smith won't get their scholarships renewed and plan to transfer to another school, Slocum said Thursday.

Slocum would not say why he chose to dismiss only those two players, but had said previously that he thought at least one player would not return because the player lied during A&M's investigation of the case.

"I made the determination that because of circumstances in the case, it was not in our best interests for them to be with us," Slocum said. "I made that decision to not renew their scholarships."

Five other players, including Greg Hill, A&M's leading rusher the past two seasons, reported with the rest of the Aggies upperclassmen Thursday and are expected to have their scholarships renewed before the start of classes Aug. 30, Slocum said.

However, the other five players — Hill, starting linebacker Jessie Cox, starting flanker Brian Mitchell, second-team cornerback Billy Mitchell and offensive tackle James Brooks — are ineligible to play in games, pending a ruling from the NCAA eligibility staff.

On July 2, scholarships were revoked for all seven because they accepted payment from prominent A&M booster Warren A. Gilbert Jr. for summer work not performed at a Dallas housing project.

After the initial summer job allegations surfaced last December in The Dallas Morning News, Singleton admitted during interviews with A&M officials that he got a check from Gilbert after he went directly to the developer to ask for rent money.

Singleton was listed as a second-team split end but was expected to compete with Tony Harrison for the starting position. Smith, a redshirt freshman who switched from the offensive line to defensive line in spring workouts, was listed as the third-team nose guard. Both played at Dallas Carter.

Although not on scholarship, the suspended players can participate in practice, stay in the athletic residence hall and eat their meals there until the start of the fall semester, said Janet Justus, NCAA eligiblity director.

If their scholarships have not been reinstated by then, the athletes must begin paying for their own lodging and food.

Ms. Justus said she expects the NCAA will render an eligibility ruling on the players before the Aggies' Sept. 4 season opener against Lousiana State.

A&M has not completed a formal presentation of its findings for the NCAA. But Slocum said he did not expect a change in the original proposed conditions for the scholarships, which included one- and two-game suspensions.

Pugh shows human side

■ Midland Angels reliever Ken Edenfield strikes out former Abilene Cooper star Scotty Pugh to preserve a 6-5 win.

By Terry Williamson
Sports editor

District 4-5A rarely got a look at the human side of Abilene Cooper legend Scotty Pugh, but Angels pitcher Ken Edenfield gave a Midland a glimpse of Pugh's human side Friday night at Angels Stadium.

Edenfield KOed Pugh on strikes to end the game and preserve Midland's 6-5 Texas League victory over the Wichita Wranglers. When was the last time anyone from Midland saw Pugh strike-out to end a game while owning a one-run lead? Well, maybe never — until Friday.

"I got the impression over the last few days from reading the paper that he (Pugh) was something special around this area when he was in high school," Edenfield said. "I saw him griping about the call on the last pitch, but I think it was a strike. But of course, pitchers always say that.

"I just tried to come inside on him. If he hits it out, the game's only tied."

Edenfield thinks he had the advantage over Pugh.

"When someone is new to the league, I think the pitcher has the advantage because he has never seen you before and doesn't know what to expect. Sometimes it's different the second or third time around," Edenfield said.

It wasn't a disastrous night for Pugh, however. He had two hits, scored a run and drove in a run in four trips to the plate. But one of the hits didn't come in the bottom of the ninth.

Midland remains four games behind league leading El Paso, but more importantly, the Angels are now four games ahead of Wichita in the battle for second place and a playoff berth, leading this key series by a 2-1 margin with two games to play.

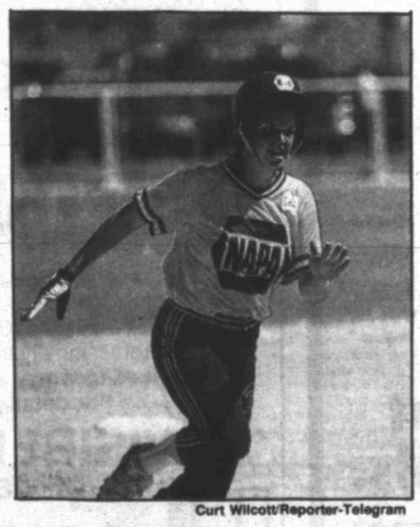

The Angels, trailing 4-1 at one point on a solo home run by Darius Gash in the fourth and a three-run blast by Julio Bruno in the fifth, rallied for five ugly runs in the sixth to win the game.

Midland scored five times with only three hits, a Wichita error and a wild pitch. Ironically, it was a bases loaded two-run error by Wichita third baseman Bruno which opened the flood gates. It was his bat that gave the Wranglers the lead and his glove that saved the Angels.

"If he (Bruno) makes that play, it's a double play, and things are a lot different," said Angels catcher Jorge Fabregas. "An ugly win or not, this is a posi-

Fillies gallop through national softball field

Marisa Paulson from Sioux Falls, S.D., runs after hitting a triple.

■ Fort Smith team rolls into fourth round with win over Lietchfield, Ky.

By Bill Petitt
Staff writer

What could possess people from all across the United States to make the trek to Midland for a three-day, bake-'til-your-brown, sabbatical?

It's softball and for a band of players and parents from Fort Smith, Ark. its more than just a game, its business.

"We began practicing around the first week in April," said coach John Mason. "And we played our first game in mid-April."

The Fillies showed that they may just be the cream of the 29 team crop at the National Girls Under-16 Tournament being played at the Bill Williams Softball Complex.

■ Nat'l Girls Slow Pitch

Fort Smith defeated Lietchfield, Ky. All-Stars 13-1, in a game called after the fifth inning, in the winners bracket of the tournament and will face the Davie, Fla. Dolphins in the fifth round today at 11:30 a.m. Earlier in the day, the Fillies defeated FOE #231 from Muncie, Ind. 28-0.

In other winner's bracket action Friday, the Blazers from Hebert Springs, Ark. defeated the Oklahoma City Blasters from Moore, Okla. 6-5. The West Broward (Fla.) Hot Shots defeated the Lady Hornets from Charlotte, N.C., 4-2 and the Davie Dolphins knocked off the Alabama Busters 10-1.

The Fillies are coming off a championship at the Girls 16-Under World Class Tournament in Hutchinson, Kan. last weekend and have compiled a remarkable 75-3 record this season.

"The key for us is that we have been together for a number of years," said coach Donny Butcher. "We don't have much change (in players) from year-to-year."

One player that has been with the Fillies from the start is rover Kelli Sering, who went 3-for-3 against Lietchfield with a single, double and triple. "She began with the team when she was five-years-old," said mother Pat Sering, who, along with a group of 10-12 parents and fans made the drive from Arkansas. "This is her last year with the Fillies, so we wanted to win the national championship this time around."

Midland's representative, the Blasters, were defeated by Centerville, Ind. Youth League 14-0 in the loser's bracket. The Blasters will play in the consolation bracket today at 10:15 a.m. against the Baytown Slammers.

"This tournament has given our girls a world of experience," said Blasters

Thome's two-run homer stops Rangers, 6-3

Associated Press

CLEVELAND — Paul Sorrento singled home the go-ahead run in the eighth inning and Jim Thome added a two-run homer, Cleveland's fourth home run of the game, to give the Indians a 6-3 victory over Texas on Friday night.

With one out in the eighth, Albert Belle singled off Texas reliever Craig Lefferts (3-8) and continued to second when right fielder Donald Harris bobbled the ball. Sorrento's single scored Belle for a 4-3 Cleveland lead and Thome followed two batters later with his first home run of the season.

Thome was recalled Thursday from Class AAA Charlotte.

Reliever Jeremy Hernandez (3-2) earned the victory with 1⅓ scoreless innings. Cleveland starter Albie Lopez allowed three runs — two earned — on three hits in 7⅓ innings.

Texas starter Roger Pavlik allowed three solo home runs in 6⅔ innings. The first two were consecutive shots in the second inning by Sorrento, his 16th, and Reggie Jefferson, his ninth.

In the fourth, Rafael Palmeiro was hit by pitch from Lopez leading off, and Julio Franco walked with one out. Ivan Rodriguez then singled in Palmeiro, and Franco scored when center fielder Kenny Lofton threw wildly past third. Dan Peltier's RBI infield single with two outs gave Texas a 3-2 lead.

■ AL Roundup

Red Sox 5, Blue Jays 3

BOSTON — Boston moved within one game of the AL East lead with a victory over Toronto as Danny Darwin won his seventh straight decision at Fenway Park.

The Blue Jays fell into a first-place tie with the New York Yankees, who defeated Baltimore, and lost sole possession of first place for the first time since July 31.

Toronto and New York are tied with 66-51 records. The Red Sox are 64-51.

Darwin (12-8) allowed two runs on nine hits in 6⅔ innings and is 7-1 in his last 10 starts. Jeff Russell allowed one run in the ninth for his 32nd save as Boston broke a five-game losing streak against Toronto.

The Red Sox scored three runs in the third when Scott Cooper doubled in two runs and Billy Hatcher hit a sacrifice fly. Boston also scored on Andre Dawson's sacrifice fly in the first and Scott Fletcher's RBI double in the fourth.

John Olerud, who went 3-for-3 to raise his average to .393, doubled in Toronto's first run in the fourth. But Tony Fernandez lined into a double play with runners at second and third to end the inning.

White Sox 5, Royals 4

CHICAGO — Frank Thomas hit a two-run homer with two outs in the eighth inning to cap a three-run rally as Jeff Montgomery (3-3) blew his first save in his last 25 chances.

Thomas' 30th homer, a 437-foot shot, helped increase first-place Chicago's lead to 3½ games over Kansas City and four over Texas in the AL West.

With the White Sox trailing 4-2 entering the eighth, Ron Karkovice led off with a double and scored on Warren Newson's single. After a sacrifice and a fly out, Thomas belted the game-winning homer.

Chuck Cary (1-0) pitched 1 1-3 innings for the victory, allowing no hits and walking one.

Twins 5, Athletics 2

OAKLAND — Kent Hrbek homered twice to drive in five runs, and Eddie Guardado and two relievers allowed five hits as Minnesota defeated Oakland.

Hrbek matched his game-high for RBIs with his 15th career two-homer game, putting the Twins up 5-1 by the third inning.

Guardado (3-4) walked four and struck out four in 6⅓ innings, allowing solo homers to Terry Steinbach and Scott Hemond.

Yankees 4, Orioles 1

NEW YORK — Jim Abbott came within two outs of pitching his first shutout in more than two years and, backed by some fancy fielding, led New York past Baltimore.

The Yankees moved into a first-place tie in the AL East with the Toronto Blue Jays, who lost to Boston 5-3 and lost sole possession of first place for the first time since July 31.

Toronto and New York are tied with 66-51 records. The Red Sox are 64-51.

The Orioles, coming off blowout losses of 15-1, 15-5 and 17-11 in Detroit, managed to stay close. But Mike Stanley's two-run double in the seventh inning off Jamie Moyer (7-6) broke open a scoreless game, and that was all Abbott needed in his third complete game.

Abbott (9-9) gave up eight hits, walked three and struck out one, giving the Yankees their third straight win. He hasn't thrown a shutout since May 16, 1991, a 7-0 victory at Yankee Stadium while pitching for California.

The Orioles loaded the bases with one out in the ninth on singles by Mike Devereaux, Cal Ripken Jr. and David Segui. Tim Hulett's sacrifice fly ruined the shutout and Jack Voigt flew out to end the game.

Abbott allowed five leadoff singles, but managed to work around them with the help of four double plays, one of them spectacular. The Yankees made their four double plays in the first six innings, missed another by an instant and had a chance at one more.

Brewers 6, Tigers 1, 1st Game
Brewers 7, Tigers 1, 2nd Game

MILWAUKEE — Ricky Bones pitched his second straight complete game, matching the performance of teammate Angel Miranda in the opener, as Milwaukee beat Detroit to sweep the doubleheader.

The Brewers won the first game 6-1 behind a six-hitter from Miranda. Bones (8-8) stopped the Tigers on the same number of hits in the nightcap as Milwaukee cooled off Detroit's powerful lineup.

The Tigers had scored 47 runs in their three previous games before Friday.

In the second game, B. J. Surhoff had three RBIs, including a two-run double as the Brewers scored three times off Tom Bolton (2-5) in the fifth inning.

John Jaha doubled and Juan Bell walked, and both moved up on Troy O'Leary's sacrifice. After Pat Listach's RBI grounder tied the game 1-1, Robin Yount was walked intentionally and Surhoff doubled into the right-field corner for a 3-1 lead.

Mariners 2, Angels 1

SEATTLE — Mike Blowers hit a tie-breaking single with two outs in the eighth inning and Erik Hanson pitched a four-hitter to lead Seattle over California.

Bret Boone opened the eighth with a single and advanced to second on Edgar Martinez's sacrifice bunt. After Boone moved to third on a fly out, Blowers' single broke the 1-1 tie.

The Angels tied it in the eighth, when Hanson walked Eduardo Perez and Ty Van Burkleo doubled with no outs. Pinch hitter Rod Correia hit a sacrifice fly to score Perez.

McGriff, Atlanta pound Cincinnati 14-0

Associated Press

CINCINNATI — Atlanta hit five homers, including David Justice's 100th of his career, to drub Cincinnati Friday night for its fifth straight win.

Steve Avery (13-4) and three relievers stopped the Reds on one hit — Chris Sabo's infield single in the fifth. The Reds have lost four straight and been shut out in their last two games, failing to score in 20 innings.

■ NL Roundup

The Braves went 23 games over .500 (70-47) for the first time this season. It didn't help them in the standings — first-place San Francisco also won Friday to remain 8½ ahead of them in the NL West.

Ten of Atlanta's runs came on homers. Justice hit a two-run homer in the second off Tim Pugh (7-11), his career-high 29th, to start Atlanta's second five-homer game of the season. It's his fourth full season.

Fred McGriff hit a three-run homer in the third, his 26th, and Deion Sanders hit a solo homer in the fourth for a 6-0 lead. Ron Gant's two-run homer, his 29th, off Bruce Ruffin capped a six-run fifth inning in which the Braves batted around. Sid Bream added a two-run homer in the ninth.

Pirates 8, Marlins 3

PITTSBURGH — Zane Smith won his third consecutive start and Andy Tomberlin's first major-league hit, a two-run single, highlighted a five-run fifth inning as Pittsburgh beat Florida.

Smith (3-4) pitched successfully amid reports that the Pirates have secured waivers on the left-hander and are entertaining trade offers from contending teams. He allowed 10 hits in eight innings, the fourth consecutive start he's pitched at least seven innings.

Marlins starter Charlie Hough (6-12) had his personal three-game winning streak stopped. He was chased in the fifth, just the fourth time in his last 16 starts that he wasn't worked at least six innings. He gave up a solo homer to Al Martin in the second and RBI singles to Kevin Young and Tom Prince in the fourth.

Walt Weiss had what appeared to be a two-run single for Florida in the top of the fifth. But the Pirates successfully appealed that Henry Cotto, the second runner, missed third. He was called out without an argument.

Giants 4, Cubs 1

CHICAGO — Kirt Manwaring homered and Willie McGee drove in two runs without a hit Friday, leading Trevor Wilson and San Francisco to a 4-1 victory over Chicago.

It was the fourth consecutive win for the Giants and their eighth in 11 games.

Manwaring's fourth homer of the season came in the fifth inning off loser Greg Hibbard (9-9) and snapped a 1-1 tie.

Wilson (6-4), making his first appearance since going on the disabled list July 2 with inflamation of his left pitching shoulder, pitched six innings, allowed two hits and one run, walked two and struck out five.

Rod Beck pitched the ninth for his 36th save of the season.

Phillies 9, Mets 5

PHILADELPHIA — Kim Batiste hit a grand slam off hard-luck reliever Anthony Young with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning to rally Philadelphia over New York.

The Phillies extended their winning streak to four games, while sending the hapless Mets to their fifth consecutive loss. Philadelphia has won nine of 12.

The Phillies ruined a two-homer game for Bobby Bonilla.

Pete Schourek relieved for the Mets in the ninth and walked John Kruk. Pinch-hitter Mickey Morandini flied out and Darren Daulton struck out before Young (1-14) relieved.

Pete Incaviglia walked and Jim Eisenreich grounded to shortstop for what appeared to be the last out, but Kevin Baez threw wildly to first, allowing Kruk to score the tying run with Incaviglia moving to third and Eisenreich to to second on the play. After Kevin Stocker was walked intentionally to load the bases, Batiste hit an 0-1 pitch deep to left, his fifth homer.

Newcomer Bobby Thigpen (1-0) pitched the ninth for the victory.

Rockies 5, Astros 3

HOUSTON — Charlie Hayes hit a three-run homer with two outs in the ninth inning Friday night, rallying Colorado past Houston, to extend the Rockies' season-high winning streak to six games.

The six wins in a row, have come after 13 consecutives losses.

Doug Jones (3-9), who had converted 10 consecutive save opportunities, walked Roberto Mejia and Daryl Boston got his third hit of the game in the ninth. Hayes then hit his 18th homer, a drive over the left-field fence.

Gary Wayne (3-3) pitched the eighth inning for the win, and Darren Holmes got the final three outs for his 13th save.

The Astros took a 3-1 lead into the ninth, helped by a two-run homer from Craig Biggio. Andujar Cedeno walked and was sacrificed to second by pitcher Mark Portugal prior to Biggio's 14th homer.

The Rockies, who lead the season series 6-1, got two runs in the fourth inning. Dante Bichette singled and took second on Hayes' fly ball and scored on catcher Eddie Taubensee's fielding error. Jerald Clark singled, took second on the error and scored on Joe Girardi's single.

Houston got a run in the fourth when Eric Anthony doubled and scored on Luis Gonzalez's single.

Mo Sanford didn't allow a hit until Anthony's two-out double in the fourth. After Biggio's homer, Steve Finley popped out and Stanford walked Jeff Bagwell before he was relieved by Bruce Ruffin.

Portugal allowed seven hits and struck out three in six innings. Notes: The Astros returned home after winning three of four games in San Diego's Jack Murphy Stadium, the first time they won three there since 1982. ... The Astros have hit at least one home run in seven of their last eight games. ... The Rockies six-game winning streak follows a 13-game losing streak. ... Jerald Clark extended his hitting streak tto seven games with a single in the second inning.

Expos 4, Cardinals 3
11 innings

MONTREAL — Pitcher Dennis Martinez hit a pinch sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the 11th inning as Montreal rallied to beat fading St. Louis.

The loss dropped St. Louis nine games in back of first-place Philadelphia in the National League East.

Marquis Grissom led off the 11th against Joe Magrane (8-10) with an infield single and stole second base. Grissom took third on Larry Walker's groundout and Moises Alou and Mike Lansing were intentionally walked to bring up Martinez, who pinch hit for reliever John Wetteland (8-3).

This season, Martinez had been 10-for-51 with two doubles and one RBI before his pinch-hit appearance.

Larry Walker singled and scored on a triple in the left-center gap by Moises Alou. Alou, who went 6-for-10 with seven RBIs in the three-game series at Philadelphia, has 36 RBIs in his last 35 games.

Owners' pledge answers future

By Ronald Blum
AP Sports Writer

KOHLER, Wis. — The pledge by baseball owners not to lock out players next spring or threaten salary arbitration this season answered many questions about the game's immediate future.

Q: Why did players want a no-lockout pledge?

A: Because they feared owners would try to force a confrontation in the spring, before players are paid and months before most of the national television payments.

Q: What is significant about the promise not to change work rules before opening day next year?

A: Players worried that owners would declare an impasse under federal labor law after the expiration of the current agreement on Dec. 31, and seek to avoid salary arbitration this winter by changing work rules.

Q: When is a confrontation likely?

A: A year from now, when players can threaten about $200 million in postseason television money for the 1994 playoffs and World Series.

Q: Why won't players strike later this season?

A: Because that would allow owners an opportunity to avoid free agency and salary arbitration this winter.

Q: What does each side want?

A: Players basically are content with the current system of free agency and arbitration, which produced a record average salary of $1.12 million on opening day this year. Owners want players to agree to a salary cap in exchange for receiving a specificed percentage of revenue.

Q: What happened to revenue sharing among the clubs?

A: Owners say they are close to agreeing to plan, but need additional time. They say there will be another meeting this month or next to continue work on it. A quarterly meeting is scheduled for September in Boston.

ANGELS: Fabregas runs hit streak to 10

tive for us with the playoffs being the goal."

Fabregas got two more hits to extend is current hitting streak to 10 games. He is hitting .385 over that span and had a game winning hit Thursday to beat the Wranglers and drove in another run in the five-run inning Friday.

"I didn't know I had a hitting streak going — and I really don't want to know about it," Fabregas said. "I guess you could say I'm kind of a streaky hitter, but I usually don't have long streaks like this."

This is Fabregas' first double digit hitting streak of the year. He is hitting at a .284 clip with 54 RBIs.

Mark Sweeney's six-game hitting streak came to an end in unusual fashion. He walked three times and was hit by a pitch to end the game without an official time at bat. He did score a run.

Midland now has seven games left with the Wranglers this season. The Angels would probably be satisfied with some kind of split here on out.

"Every game is down to the nitty gritty now," Fabregas said. "They (Wichita) know they have to beat us and we know that we have to beat them or El Paso to get into the playoffs. It's all on the line every time out."

It goes on the line again tonight (7 p.m.) for Game 4 of the five-game series.

Limping Cowboys try for first win

■ Dallas will again attempt to answer questions left by vacancies and injuries.

By Denne H. Freeman
AP Sports Writer

IRVING — The Dallas Cowboys have lost one and tied one, and will try Saturday night at Texas Stadium to break into the preseason win column against the Los Angeles Raiders.

Playing without quarterback Troy Aikman and running back Emmitt Smith, the Cowboys lost their preseason opener to the Minnesota Vikings, 13-7, then tied the Detroit Lions, 13-13, in a game in which kicker Lin Elliott missed four field goals, three of them in overtime.

The Raiders, who recently signed holdout defensive end Howie Long, are coming off a 27-0 loss to the San Francisco 49ers.

The Cowboys will try to get their running game going against the Raiders while Los Angeles hopes a quarterback will come to the rescue of its anemic offense.

The game will be televised beginning at 7 p.m. by ESPN. Temperatures at game time are expected to hover near 100 degrees.

Backup Hugh Millen will start his third preseason game at quarterback for the Cowboys, who will be at less than full strength again.

Aikman, the most valuable player in last season's 52-17 Super Bowl victory over Buffalo, underwent back surgery in the off season and is not scheduled to step onto the playing field until the Cowboys' preseason game against the Houston Oilers in San Antonio a week from Sunday.

Head coach Jimmy Johnson said he expects Millen to play three quarters.

Starting in the backfield against the Raiders will be rookie Derrick Lassic at tailback and Tommie Agee at fullback.

Smith, the NFL's rushing champ each of the past two seasons, remains unsigned, and starting fullback Daryl Johnston, will miss at least the next two preseason games with a broken finger.

The Cowboys intend to protect their tight end position, where Jay Novacek is the only healthy candidate assured of making the 53-man roster. Johnson said Novacek would play no more than one quarter.

This will be the second time in three weeks the Cowboys have worked against the Raiders. Dallas practiced twice a day for three days against the Raiders prior to its first preseason game against Minnesota.

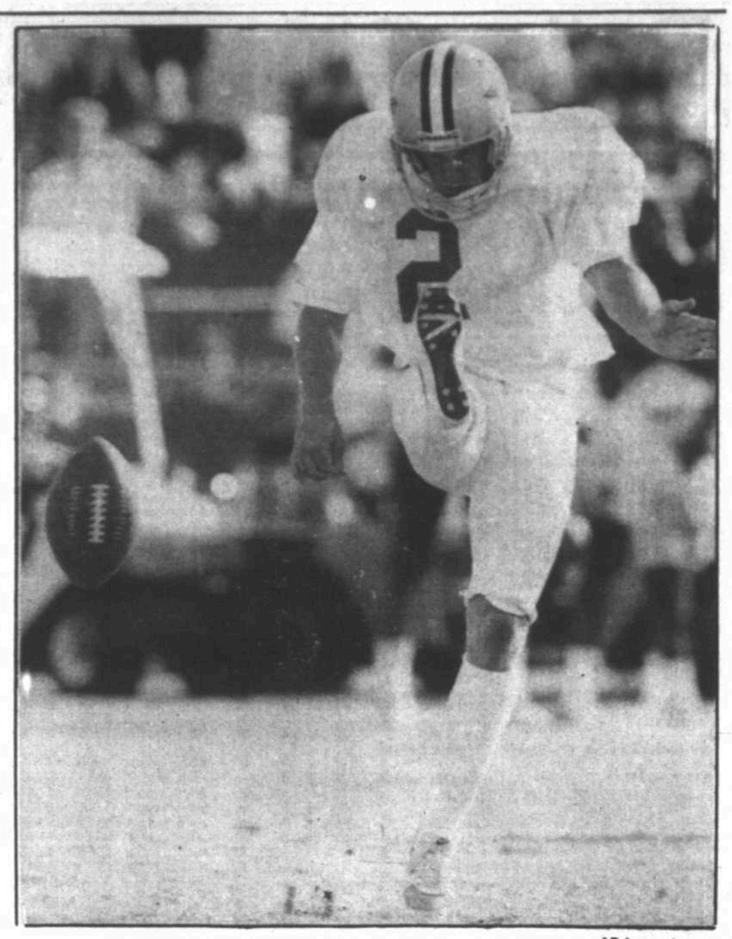

"I think it's good," Johnson said of meeting the Raiders again.

"We're really still looking at our own players, and so the concentration will be on our execution and our players much more so than the opponents. So it really doesn't make much difference who the opponent is," he said.

Johnson also will be paying close attention to the play of his young nickel defensive backs. Candidates to replace injured underneath cover backs Darren Woodson (fractured right forearm) and Kenny Gant (dislocated left shoulder) in the nickel defense are Clayton Holmes, Chris Hall, Brock Marion and Mike Middleton.

And at left defensive tackle where Jimmie Jones, Russell Maryland and Tony Casillas are battling it out for the starting job, Jones will get the start against the Raiders.

Maryland, bothered once again by a sprained big toe, likely will not play.

KC likes Montana despite Chief loss

■ Arrowhead Stadium is almost sold out for the remainder of the season.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Arm: Strong. Feet: Nimble. Elbow: Just fine.

In his first live action as a Kansas City Chief, Joe Montana aced every test. What's more, say his admiring wide receivers, he still can see into their futures.

Losing 30-7 to the Buffalo Bills did throw a big wet blanket over Montana's debut as a Chief on Thursday night. Nevertheless, there was every indication the 37-year-old four-time Super Bowl winner still can be very much the quarterback he was in San Francisco.

"The toughest part was coming into a situation trying to be perfect and not make a mistake," Montana said. "That's not how you play the game. I'm glad to get this out of the way."

The first exhibition sellout in Arrowhead Stadium in a generation gave Montana a thunderous, sustained welcome when he trotted onto the field in pregame introductions. When he completed five straight passes in his first drive, including a couple of 24-yard strikes to Willie Davis and J.J. Birden, the stadium seemed to shake.

What a fitting start it would have been if tight end Jonathan Hayes had managed to get just one toe across the goalline on a first-and-goal pass from the 7. But he didn't, and the Chiefs wound up failing to score on that first opportunity in what would turn out to be a Buffalo rout.

In his three first-quarter possessions, Montana hit 6 of 11 passes for 97 yards. He wasn't intercepted, but he was sacked once by Cornelius Bennett.

"It's something I won't forget," he said. "It was nice playing here for the first time."

Montana called his performance "average or below for what I would consider myself and the way I've been able to practice and throw the ball in drills."

"I need a lot of work behind the center in a game situation, and I'll get some more in the next couple of weeks," he said. "More than anything."

The offensive line, which some have predicted would be unable to keep Montana off the injury list, had its good moments and its bad. Bennett beat fullback Kimble Anders on the sack.

"Those guys on the other side of the line are paid to get in there. It's part of the game. I accept it and they have to accept it. If I get knocked down, I understand it's part of the game."

Despite the final score, it's a good bet Arrowhead will be packed Aug. 21 for the Chiefs' second home exhibition. Virtually every ticket to every regular season home game already is sold.

"Buffalo spent most of the day blitzing, and eventually somebody's going to come through," Montana said. "I didn't have a perfect day, and I don't expect them to have a perfect day.

Old, new gives Eagles edge over New York

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — A little of the old and a little of the new worked wonderfully for the Philadelphia Eagles on Friday night.

Veterans Randall Cunningham and Herschel Walker combined for one touchdown, while rookies Victor Bailey and Vaughn Hebron starred on offense as the Eagles beat the New York Jets 24-13.

Cunningham looked sharp in the first half, completing 9 of 13 for 181 yards. He hit Bailey with a perfectly thrown 42-yarder to give the Eagles a 14-6 lead, then found Walker, who made a spinning catch between two defenders for an 18-yard score and a 21-6 halftime edge.

Earlier, Hebron broke free past linebacker Mo Lewis for a 41-yard reception that set up James Joseph's 3-yard TD run.

Not everything went smoothly for Philadelphia (2-1), however. The Eagles committed 10 penalties, including five offsides by veteran defensive tackle Keith Millard. They also lost linebackers Byron Evans (fractured right hand) and William Thomas (sprained right knee), running backs Siran Stacy (sprained right shoulder) and Joseph (pulled right hamstring).

Boomer Esiason, in his first home game as a Jet after being acquired from Cincinnati, was more successful. Esiason guided New York on an 88-yard drive in which rookie Adrian Murrell took a short pass 30 yards and ran for 26 more on three other plays.

Robinson hopes to restore USC football glory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern Cal hasn't been the same since John Robinson left after the 1982 season. Now Robinson is back for a second term as head coach, hoping to restore the glory to one of the nation's most famous football programs.

"I've always loved USC," said Robinson, who coached the Los Angeles Rams from 1983-91. "I think it's a unique place. I think I understand USC. It's one of the best places in the history of college football."

USC's record under Robinson from 1976-82 was 67-13-2. The Trojans have declined since then, going 26-20-1 in four seasons under Ted Tollner and 44-25-3 in six years with Larry Smith at the helm.

Even worse, Southern Cal was 0-10 against Notre Dame and 4-5-1 against UCLA in the Tollner-Smith years. In Robinson's first head coaching stint at USC, the Trojans were 6-1 against Notre Dame and 5-2 against UCLA.

Mirer contract voided

NEW YORK (AP) — NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue voided the contract between quarterback Rick Mirer and the Seattle Seahawks on Friday, calling it "a sham" that violates the league's new labor agreement.

In an uncharacteristically strong statement, Tagliabue said the contract between the Seahawks and the Notre Dame quarterback, who was the second pick in last April's draft, was designed to circumvent the salary cap for rookies with incentives it was impossible not to reach.

The contract was designed to pay Mirer $7.7 million over three years or $15.7 million over five, depending on whether Mirer exercised an option to terminate it.

In addition, Mirer need only achieve one of more than two-dozen performance benchmarks to earn a $3 million incentive payment this season. Those include the Seahawks winning more than three games — they went 2-14 in 1992 — and the team ranking higher than 28th on offense. There are only 28 teams in the league.

It also has a survival clause guaranteeing it against virtually any occurrences, "up to and including the end of the world."

Tagliabue came down heavily on that.

He noted that the contract includes no signing bonus although it commits Mirer to five seasons.

Under the new collective bargaining agreement, signing bonuses are pro-rated by year and count against the team's salary cap.

"The Mirer contract is plainly designed to circumvent the ... provisions of the CBA in two separate and independent respects," Tagliabue ruled. "It is evident that the terms of Mirer's contract are a sham and designed to serve as a pretext for the Seahawks' claim that they fit within the rookie pool."

Tagliabue was particularly harsh on the provisions that could get Mirer the performance bonus even if he never plays. The $3 million is more than the total allotted for all the Seahawks' rookies.

"The contract includes a series of 'incentives' that are certain to be reached," the commissioner said, "including 59 contingencies that do not require Mirer to play one down. These 'incentives' are the functional equivalent of a signing bonus that put the Seahawks over their rookie pool allocation."

Mirer was scheduled to see his first action Saturday at Minnesota. Tagliabue urged the Management Council and the NFL Players Association as well as Mirer's agent, Marvin Demoff, and the Seahawks to resolve the situation quickly.

Bulls, Chicago mourn death of Jordan's father

■ James Jordan stood beside his son through good times and bad.

By Sarah Nordgren
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A gentle jokester. A fine father. A friend.

From Michael Jordan's Restaurant to the Bulls' suburban practice center, and from sports stars to sports fans, Chicago on Friday mourned the loss of Michael Jordan's father, James Jordan.

"It's like Michael and his dad were one," said Bulls center Will Perdue. "Whenever there was a tight game or important game or any time of the year, it seemed like when you turned around, there his father was."

James Jordan, 57, was last seen alive July 22. His body was found in a South Carolina creek, a single gunshot wound to the chest, authorities said Friday.

James Jordan was a loyal father and a fan, a regular at Chicago Stadium who kept his eyes firmly fixed on his son and teammates.

He stood by his son through the good times — the three consecutive NBA championships, the fame, the adulation.

He was there during the bad times, too.

It was the elder Jordan who spoke during his son's stony silence in the 1993 playoffs, telling reporters it wasn't a gambling problem that took Michael Jordan on a brief junket to Atlantic City, but a fierce desire to compete.

"If he didn't have a competition problem, you guys wouldn't be writing about him," Jordan's father scolded reporters.

Teammates said Friday his kindly spirit would be missed.

"He made us laugh and picked us up," Horace Grant told reporters at the Bulls' practice center in Deerfield. "He made everyone feel better when they felt sad.

"He was important to Michael ... and when Michael couldn't speak to you guys, he did. He was Michael's voice."

Some suggested Jordan's death — from a gunshot wound — should serve to move this nation toward stricter control of firearms.

"This country needs gun control in the worst damn way," said a shaken Jerry Krause, the Bulls' general manager. "We need something to stop this stuff. We need some common sense to come across this country."

Mayor Richard M. Daley offered the Jordan family the city's condolences. Operation PUSH, a civil rights organization, planned a prayer vigil on the family's behalf.

From Los Angeles, former Lakers superstar Magic Johnson shared in Michael Jordan's grief.

"When tragedy occurs, comments are not important," Johnson said in a statement. "What is important is the support and prayers for the family and friends. We're all thinking of Michael and his family."

Outside Michael Jordan's Restaurant, fans chatted quietly about the death.

"We heard the tragic news," said Alex Horvath, standing with his wife and three children. "We had seem him at a Bulls game — we knew he played a large role in MJ's life."

"I think all of Chicago feels the loss. I feel the loss," said Horvath's wife, Connie. "It's because we all feel close to Michael Jordan."

Jordan's restaurant later closed for the day in respect for James Jordan.

Spurs sign ex-Rocket Floyd

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs on Friday announced the signing of veteran guard Eric "Sleepy" Floyd, who was waived by the Houston Rockets nearly two weeks ago.

Spurs coach John Lucas, who played with Floyd on the Rockets, said the 11-year veteran will give the Spurs a boost with his range and experience.

"We wanted somebody who would be able to get to the hole late in the game. He's a late-game player," Lucas said.

Floyd played in 52 games for Houston last year, averaging 6.3 points. The best of his five-plus seasons with the Rockets was 1988-89, when he started all 82 games and averaged 14.2 points and 8.7 assists.

Floyd said he is looking forward to playing with San Antonio's All-Star center David Robinson and shooting guards Lloyd Daniels and Dale Ellis.

"I'm very excited about coming to the Spurs," Floyd said. "It's almost a can't-miss situation."

Spurs vice president Bob Bass said the Spurs had been interested in acquiring Floyd since hearing in June that the Rockets might waive him. Floyd cleared waivers Thursday afternoon.

Floyd said he had contacts with other teams, but declined to name them.

Spurs officials declined to disclose the length or terms of the contract. Floyd has said it is a one-year deal.

Lucas said in Floyd he saw "the hunger in his eye," and noted the day Floyd was released from the Rockets he was in a gymnasium shooting baskets.

"If he's in the best of shape, he's going to have one of his best years," Lucas said.

Floyd said he is ready to bounce back from a sub-par year.

"I am out to prove something," he said. "It looks like as if I had a year off, almost. So I should have rested legs."

Figueras-Dotti nicks club record

NAPERVILLE, ILL. (AP) — Spanish-born Marta Figueras-Dotti broke the White Eagle Club course record Friday with a seven-under-par 65 for a share of the lead after two rounds of the LPGA Chicago Challenge.

Betsy King shot her second straight 67 and is tied with Figueras-Dotti at 10-under-par 134.

There are 70 players at 1-under-par or lower; 14 players who played par golf for 36 holes failed to make the cut.

Figueras-Dotti tied her career-best round and broke the course mark of 66 set Thursday by Kris Monaghan, the first-round leader.

Monaghan shot a 3-under-par 69 on Friday and is tied with Cindy Schreyer and defending champion Dottie Mochrie at 135. Schreyer shot a 68, while Mochrie had a 66.

■ LPGA Challenge

Susan Little, Danielle Ammaccapane, Noelle Daghe, and Melissa McNamara are tied at 137. Daghe shot a 67, Little had a 68, while Ammaccapane and McNamara each had 69s.

Figueras-Dotti credited her success on a three-week layoff and trip home to Barcelona.

"It's the first time I had taken off that much time in 11 years," she said. "It helps to take time off. It clears your mind. But I just haven't been healthy lately."

But, she added, "the break still hasn't taken care of my problems. I'm emotionally drained. I've lost weight and I'm weak."

The last player to make the cut, Marilyn Lovander, sank birdie putts on the last two holes, winding up with a 70 and 143, eliminating those at par 144.

Figueras-Dotti birdied the fourth, fifth and ninth holes on the front nine. She went seven under on the 10th hole, sinking a 10-foot birdie putt, but bogeyed No. 11 after her second shot went to the left of the green. She came back to birdie Nos. 12 and 13 and went 10-under with birdie putts on the 16th and 17th holes.

The par-five, 451-yard 17th hole, proved lucky for King again on Friday, where she picked up her second eagle in as many days. She reached the green with a 160-yard second shot with a four iron, and sank a five-foot putt.

Mochrie had birdies on 15, 17 and 18. She was at 10-under after birdie putts on Nos. 2, 5 and 6, but a bogey on the par-four 7th hole kept her out of the lead.

Weiskopf, Snead take Quest lead

PARK CITY, Utah (AP) — Tom Weiskopf and J.C. Snead shot 5-under par 67s on Friday to share the first-round lead in the Senior PGA Tour's $500,000 Franklin Quest Championship.

Playing over the par-72, 7,300-yard Jack Nicklaus-designed Park Meadows Golf Course, Weiskopf had six birdies and one bogey. Snead had seven birdies and two bogeys over the wind-blown mountain course.

The group at 68 included Dave Stockton, Bob Betley, Bob Wynn and Tom Shaw, while at 69 were 1992 U.S. Senior Open champion Larry Laoretti and Dale Douglass, who won here in 1991 when this event was known as the Showdown Classic.

■ Senior PGA

Snead's round was highlighted by two chip-ins for birdies, at the par-3 fifth and par-4 10th.

"I haven't chipped in twice in 20 years," said Snead, who is looking for his first seniors title after winning eight times on the PGA Tour. "It was a strange day for my short game. I drove the ball well but my play with the wedge and pitching wedge I had a hard time figuring it out."

Snead's bogeys came at the par-4 fourth, when he missed the green and chipped poorly, and the par-4 ninth, when his second shot found the bunker and he missed a 4-foot par putt.

Weiskopf had an ordinary round going until the back nine, when he birdied Nos. 13, 14, 17 and 18.

At 70 were Walter Morgan, Richard Bassett, 1992 champion Orville Moody, Doug Dalziel, Jack Keifer and Jerry McGee.

McGee's round could have been a 68 except for a two-stroke penalty he called on himself. On the par-4 seventh, he tried to pick up what he thought was a loose piece of grass in the line of his putt only to discover it was a spike mark.

In the Vantage Classics competition for players 60 and over, 77-year-old Jerry Barber, the 1961 PGA champion, shot 71. It's the 20th time he's shot his age or better this year.

PGA: Faldo falls five strokes back

(From 1B)

Raymond Floyd, 1990 PGA champ Wayne Grady, former Masters champ Larry Mize, Corey Pavin and Craig Stadler. Darrell Kestner, a club pro who had a moment of glory in the first round with the only double eagle in PGA history, also missed the cut.

After an hour and a half delay at the start of the round because of dense fog that kept the course damp and soft, Watson curled in a 40-foot birdie putt at the first hole, then knocked down a 12-footer at No. 3 and a 25-footer at No. 5.

"I'm using a putter that a fellow sent me last week," said Watson, surprised to find the unsolicited club in his locker. "I don't know how to thank him, because I threw away his address. If I win with it this week, I hope the fellow contacts me. It's an Arnold Palmer putter. It's a long blade. It probably was produced in '86 or '87."

Watson, known in his prime as a fearless putter but perplexed in recent years by his failures on the greens, gets lots of putters and plenty of advice from fans.

"The lineup of putters I have is just comical," he said with a laugh. "I've got one with two shafts and two grips on it. You hold it like a divining rod. I appreciate the people trying to help me out. I get essays on putting — 14-, 15-, 20-page essays."

No golfer has ever won all four majors — the Masters, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA Championship — in a calendar year and only four men have won all four over the course of their career. One measure of the size of the accomplishment is the fact that all four are instantly recognizable simply by their last names: Nicklaus, Hogan, Sarazen, Player.

Could Watson join them?

"I think he's a huge factor because he's playing so good it's scary," Wadkins said. "He's swinging the club as well as he did in the late '70s and early '80s."

Watson had nothing but praise for Singh, who played with him last year in the British Open and is appearing in only his fifth major.

"He practices more than anybody else on the Tour," Watson said. "He's a real workaholic."

Singh, who has won once in his first year on the tour but is known mainly for the hours he spends on the practice range, wasn't even aware he was in record territory until the end.

"It didn't cross my mind until the 18th hole," he said. "Mike Standly's caddie said, 'That's for a course record.' I didn't have that long of a putt — 6 feet. David Frost had a putt along almost the same line. So I had a pretty good idea which way it was going to break and I made it. I'm really pretty happy about it."

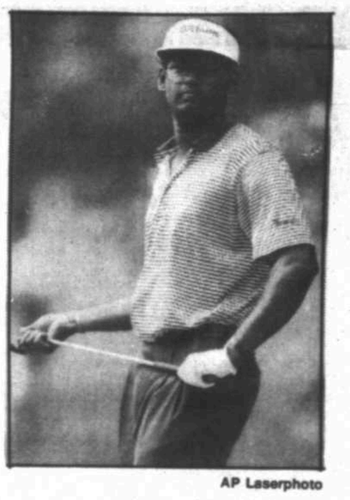

Watson, captain of the U.S. Ryder Cup team, reiterated that even if he wins the PGA he won't place himself on the squad that he has to complete on Monday.

"I don't think it's fair to the other players who I could pick to play on the team," he said. "I think (the Ryder Cup issue) has somewhat channeled the pressure away from me. I think that's probably one of the reasons I'm playing well."

Faldo and Wadkins were tied for the lead at 8 under on the 15th tee when Faldo unpeeled a banana ball off the tee that disappeared beneath the branches of a broad pine tree in 6-inch deep rough. A low branch blocked any chance for a backswing and other branches stuck out in front of him as he kneeled down to ponder the dilemma.

"In all honesty, if he took a knee shot he could make it," said former pro Bobby Clampett, a TV commentator who as a 19-year-old amateur dropped to his knees to hit three drives during the 1979 U.S. Open at Inverness. That was on a Sunday when Clampett, who had missed the cut, played as a marker for David Edwards. The USGA wasn't amused and officials escorted Clamped off the course after 12 holes.

Faldo didn't follow Clampett's advice, instead taking an unplayable lie. He lost a stroke there and wound up three-putting for a triple bogey.

Browning apologizes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Tom Browning, arrested for having a marijuana cigarette in his truck, apologized Friday for embarrassing his family and the Cincinnati Reds.

A northern Kentucky judge agreed Friday to let Browning, 33, enter a diversion program as part of a plea agreement. The misdemeanor charge of marijuana possession will be dismissed if he undergoes drug evaluation and performs 80 hours of community service.

Browning held a news conference before a game against Atlanta and said the marijuana wasn't his and he didn't smoke it. However, he accepted blame for having it in his truck ashtray.

Browning was charged with both the drug and a traffic offense July 29 while driving to his home in northern Kentucky. He pleaded guilty to the traffic offense.

Rangers in pennant race

ARLINGTON — For the first time since 1986, the Texas Rangers are in a pennant race this late in the season.

Rangers manager Kevin Kennedy compares the Rangers' run to the movie "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

"Other teams keep looking behind them and say 'Who are those guys? They just keep coming.' I can imagine them thinking that with some of the lineups we've had. The difference is that we're going to catch them."

The Rangers certainly had numerous excuses to fold.

They lost power-hitter Jose Canseco with a shoulder injury incurred when he hounded Kennedy into a relief pitching assignment. Dan Peltier has played well in right field and been a consistent hitter.

Second baseman Bill Ripken suffered a severe hamstring pull that kept him out of the lineup. Doug Strange has come on to be one of the best fielders in the league and has hit over .250.

Shortstop Manny Lee injured a hand and missed 70 days. Mario Diaz came in and fielded flawlessly and provided some timely hitting after the Rangers tried three other players at the position.

Nolan Ryan was on the disabled list twice then hurt his foot in a boating accident.

Somehow, Kennedy has held it all together.

"There's one thing about this team," Kennedy said. "It has done a good job of hanging together."

Texas has never had a meaningful pennant threat in late August or September in the club's 21-year history. Texas finished second in 1986, three games behind Oakland but never really threatened to overtake the A's.

In a recent 10-game homestand, the Rangers posted a 7-3 record before leaving on a 10-game road swing that could very well determine if they will finally have pennant fever in Arlington Stadium.

The Rangers are making a strong run. Only Kennedy hopes the Rangers don't end up like Butch and Sundance.

They were gunned down in the end.

Pete Sampras returns a shot in his match against Aaron Krickstein, one of two Sampras had to play Friday.

Sanchez Vicario advances in Slims

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Top-seeded Arantxa Sanchez Vicario beat No. 8 Zina Garrison-Jackson 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 Friday to advance to the semifinals of the Virginia Slims of Los Angeles.

Sanchez Vicario has beaten Garrison-Jackson eight straight times since losing their first meeting at the U.S. Open several years ago.

In other matches, No. 3 seed Gabriela Sabatini defeated Kimberly Po 6-4, 6-2 and No. 10 Lori McNeil upset No. 4 Magdalena Maleeva 1-6, 7-6 (7-4), 7-5.

Sanchez Vicario will play McNeil in Saturday's semifinals, while Sabatini meets No. 2 seed Martina Navratilova, a 6-1, 6-1 winner over No. 7 Amanda Coetzer.

Navratilova dispatched Coetzer in 42 minutes — the shortest match of the tournament. The first set took just 21 minutes.

"I was hitting the ball solid, more than I've been doing for a while. I haven't hit my stride yet," said Navratilova, the defending champion. "I pressured her and maybe she lost her heart."

Navratilova converted 5-of-8 break chances and won 22 of 25 points on her first serve.

Sanchez Vicario tied the second set 3-3 before Garrison-Jackson won nine of the final 14 points and the last three games to even the match. Sanchez Vicario opened the third set 3-0 before getting broken in the fourth game. She regained a break and won the last three games to win the match in 1 hour, 58 minutes.

"I knew she was going to come to the net and put pressure on me," Sanchez Vicario said. "In the second set she was coming in and making more shots. My serve started working again at the end. I was patient."

Garrison-Jackson had a virus last week.

"I played a couple of loose points and she was hitting some passing shots," she said. "The first set should have been mine but I wasn't able to convert."

Sabatini was helped by Po's 50 unforced errors in their 1-hour, 33-minute match. The Argentine led 5-2 before being broken in the eighth game, but won the first set with an ace.

Po led 2-0 in the second before Sabatini won six straight games.

"She was hitting the ball so hard," Sabatini said. "The last time we played it wasn't even close. She has improved so much."

Sampras advances to ATP semifinals

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Pete Sampras, with a comeback win that showed why he's the top-ranked player in the world, advanced Friday to the semifinals of the $1.65 million Thriftway ATP Championship.

Sampras meets Stefan Edberg in the semifinals, while Andre Agassi will face Michael Chang.

All four players had to play two matches on Friday, the result of Thursday's rainout. Chang was the only one pressed to three sets when he beat Jason Stoltenberg, 7-6 (7-3), 5-7, 6-3.

Edberg had to play three matches, two singles and one doubles.

"I'm fine. I had two quick matches, and I had the day off yesterday, so I feel fresh," said Edberg, who beat Wayne Ferriera, 6-4, 6-2 in the morning and then came back to beat Brad Gilbert, 6-4, 6-2.

"I've got to play doubles, so I can't worry about tomorrow yet."

Edberg and his partner, Henrik Holm, beat Jan Siemerink and Sandon Stolle in the nightcap, 6-4, 6-4, giving Edberg three wins in one day.

German Michael Stich also had to play three matches, but he didn't fare as well. He beat Mark Woodforde, 6-3, 6-3, then lost to Agassi, 6-3, 6-2. He and Ferreira stayed alive in doubles, beating Luke and Murphy Jensen, 6-3, 7-5.

Sampras, who needed to rally to avert going to three sets in his first match, easily beat Steve Bryan, 6-4. 6-0, in the evening quarterfinal.

The defending champion and No. 1-ranked player on the ATP Tour fell behind Aaron Krickstein 4-0 in the second set before winning 6-2, 7-5. He was broken twice and was down 40-love, trailing 5-4 in the second set.

"At that point, I'm looking at three sets," said Sampras.

Krickstein thought he had an upset in the making.

"When you're up that big (4-0), I think both players tend to start thinking about the third set," Krickstein said. "It's tough to lose a set when you have that many chances. I just made a few characteristic errors. It's frustrating to have eight set points and not win one of them."

Agassi, trying to rebound after being bothered by tendinitis in his wrist, played with his old confidence.

Agassi is convinced that his 28th ranking on the ATP Tour merely reflects his lack of tournament play. Going into the U.S. Open later this month, there are advantages to missing two months of competition, he said.

"I'm fresh and ready to play great tennis this summer," Agassi said. "If I concentrate on my game, the ranking will take care of itself. I'm just trying to get my game back where it belongs."

Agassi is the only unseeded player in the quarterfinals, with No. 1 Sampras, No. 3 Edberg and No. 7 Chang.

Agassi may have to play three matches Saturday, if he and doubles partner Petr Korda win their first match against Ferreira and Stich.

Seeded losers Friday included No, 4 Stich; No. 10 Andrei Medvedev, who lost 6-3, 7-6 (8-6), to Bryan; No. 12 Alexander Volkov, who lost to Gilbert 3-6, 6-2, 6-2; and No. 14 Ferriera.

Stars compete at World Championships

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — The bitter issue of lack of prize money has not stopped the world's best track and field athletes from competing — some reluctantly — in the World Championships beginning Saturday.

Virtually all of the big names — Carl Lewis, Jackie Joyner-Kersee, Kevin Young, Quincy Watts, Butch Reynolds, Linford Christie, Sergei Bubka, Michael Johnson, Dan O'Brien, Mike Powell and Heike Drechsler — have gathered for the nine-day extravaganza at the 53,351-capacity Gottlieb-Daimler Stadium.

There are, however, some major absentees, the biggest being world 1,500-meter record-holder Noureddine Morceli of Algeria.

While several athletes threatened to boycott the championships because of the International Amateur Athletic Federation's insistence on no prize money, only Morceli has carried it through.

"In any big show, all the actors are paid," his manager, Amar Brahmia, said. "In this case, they don't want to pay the actors. There is at least one actor who refuses to work for free. We weren't invited to this meet and we won't go."

Morceli has suggested that some athletes, such as Lewis and Bubka, are receiving money for the championships, although IAAF president Primo Nebiolo has vehemently denied it.

"Some people have asked for a suite or a room, but this is completely different," Nebiolo said.

If Morceli refuses to compete, he could face a two-month suspension from competition and a ban from the 1996 Olympic Games at Atlanta.

While the IAAF, the world governing for the sport, has not wilted on the demands of prize money to the athletes, it has offered a compromise — a new Mercedes Benz, worth $30,000, to each winner.

That has not completely pacified the athletes.

"Having a car for first place is a step in the right direction," Johnson said. "I won the 200 meters in 1991 and I didn't receive anything. But I would rather have the money."

The money issue aside, a record total of 1,862 athletes from 189 countries were entered for the fourth World Championships — the first time the meet has been held in the year after the Olympics. In the past, it was held the year prior to the Games — in 1983, 1987 and 1991.

Now, however, instead of every four years, the championships will be conducted every two years, with the 1995 meet at Goteborg, Sweden.

Saturday's schedule includes finals in the women's 10-kilometer walk and the men's marathon, along with the first two rounds of the men's 100 and the first round of the men's 400 — the two most anticipated events at the championships.

The 400 took on an air of mystery Friday when Olympic gold medalist Quincy Watts slipped in the shower and bruised his spine.

"There are no fractured bones," Watts said after being X-rayed and released from a hospital. "It's just sore. You have to deal with pain, but I don't think it will hurt my performance.

"As long as it wasn't my legs, I'll be OK."

If Watts runs up to his capability — an Olympic-record 43.50 seconds last year — the 400 shapes up as a tremendous battle among the gold medalist, world record-holder Reynolds and Johnson, who has not lost a 400 in 30 races — 19 outdoors and 11 indoors since 1989.

The race lost some of its sheen when Britain's David Grindley, the surprise of the 1993 season, withdrew because of a leg injury.

"It's unfortunate," Johnson said of Grindley's absence. "I saw him as one guy who would possibly medal outside of the U.S. runners. He was going to add a lot of interest to the event. Now, I can't see anyone else as a favorite."

Johnson does not consider himself the favorite, although he beat Watts and Reynolds at the U.S. Championships in June in a season's best 43.74 .

Crenshaw's state record falls

GARLAND, Texas (AP) — Jeff Lee of Dallas closed with a four-under-par 68 at Firewheel Golf Park's Old Course Friday to establish a Texas State Open record of 263.

The former University of Oklahoma star's 65-67-63-68 bested Ben Crenshaw's old mark of 268, set in 1980 at Horseshoe Bay Country Club in Marble Falls.

Lee won by a four-stroke margin over former PGA Tour player Perry Arthur of Plano, who posted 267.

Mike Ray, Southern Texas PGA executive director, announced that The Woodlands Country Club has agreed to host the open for the next three years.

coach Bennita Clark. "There are some teams out here that the best women's teams in Midland couldn't beat, I promise you that. Our girls are watching some of these teams play with their jaws hanging down in amazement.

"There are some teams that have played in almost 100 games this year while we have played in just eight. We're a new program (first year) and we have a lot of girls who played fast pitch or did not play competitively. We played a practice gamae against a team from Fairbanks, Alaska on Tuesday night before the tournament. We lost 8-3, but the girls were able to meet new people and make some friends."

The Odessa Warriors were beaten by the Texarkana Toppers 10-6 in the loser's bracket, but received a bye in the consolation and will face either the NAPA Girls or Texas Blue today.

Schrader smashes record, takes pole for Champion 400

■ Champion 400

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — Ken Schrader, the season's top qualifier in NASCAR's Winston Cup series, smashed the Michigan International Speedway stock car record Friday in taking the pole for Sunday's Champion Spark Plug 400.

Schrader was the point man in an assault on the previous mark of 178.196 mph, set last August by the late Alan Kulwicki. Schrader's fast lap of 180.750 was just one of 12 that bettered the record by Kulwicki, who died in an April 1 plane crash.

It was the fifth pole of the season and 16th of his career for Schrader, whose Chevrolet Lumina was one of three cars to break the 180-mph barrier on the 2-mile, high-banked oval.

Most of the drivers gave credit for the faster speeds to a new radial racing tire brought to the track by Goodyear.

Ricky Rudd, winner of the June race at Michigan and another Lumina driver, was third at 180.207, followed by the Fords of Morgan Shepherd at 179.497, Ted Musgrave at 179.386 and rookie Todd Bodine at 179.109 and the Chevy of series point leader Dale Earnhardt at 179.024.

Also faster than the old record were Bill Elliott at 178.971, top series rookie Jeff Gordon at 178.744, Rusty Wallace at 178.448, rookie Bobby Labonte at 178.408 .

While trying to reclaim pieces of their lives, Alfre Woodard (left), Kyra Sedgwick, Robert Downey, Jr., Charles Grodin and Tom Sizemore learn to 'Walk Like A Man' in the new movie "Heart and Souls."

Saccharine film spins spiritual cotton candy

By Bob Strauss
N.Y. Times News Service

LOS ANGELES — Hollywood takes another fog-enshrouded look at the afterlife in "Heart and Souls." An attempt to recapture the haunting high jinks of "Topper" and "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" (which Warren Beatty remade as "Heaven Can Wait"), Ron Underwood's comedy plays more like a sentimental "Ghost" for the sexless movie summer of '93.

And without the otherworldly romance (or, at least, the wet clay), this kind of sappy spiritualism is pretty gooey going. But an excellent ensemble and director Underwood's ("City Slickers") great leap forward in visual control ensure that some moments of real movie magic rise above the general mush.

In one of the longest setups on record, we learn why four worried people wind up on a doomed, San Francisco bus in 1959. Julia (Kyra Sedgwick) is a city-struck waitress who forgot to tell her farmer boyfriend that she loves him. Harrison's (Charles Grodin) throat-constricting stage fright just lost him the latest of many singing auditions. Single mom Penny (Alfre Woodard) regrets having to leave her children in the care of a neighbor while she works the night shift. And greasy cat burglar Milo (Tom Sizemore) just failed to retrieve the rare stamps he feels bad about stealing from a child.

After Hal the distracted bus driver (David Paymer) runs the vehicle off a bridge, his soul flies upward. But his four passengers, though also dead, remain relatively Earthbound. They can't be seen or felt or heard, except by an infant who's conveniently born in a car near the accident.

For awhile, it's a wonderful death, as the four souls pour all their love and energy into the child they can never wander more than a dozen feet away from. But as living adults become alarmed over little Tommy's pathological relationship with his "imaginary" friends, the spirits decide to hide themselves

'Garden' blooms under director's care

Andrew Knott, left, Heydon Prowse and Kate Maberly are on their way to their hidden refuge in "The Secret Garden."

By Yardena Arar
N.Y. Times News Service

LOS ANGELES — With its highly visual central metaphor of a long-neglected garden springing to glorious life, Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Secret Garden" begs to be put on screen, which probably explains why it has been — twice.

But this third time is most definitely the charm. In the gifted hands of director Agnieszka Holland ("Europa, Europa"), this hardy perennial about the renewing power of love and giving gets its classiest, most sensitive interpretation to date.

Without ever falling into cheap sentiment, Holland has fashioned an arresting portrait of a spoiled child who learns that giving can be its own reward — and whose transformation ultimately affects everyone around her.

The only daughter of a young, self-absorbed British couple in colonial India,

Banner years for Paramount Pictures, those late 1970s and early 1980s were. The big old-line picture-making company, profiting terrifically from the aggressive creativity of a 36-year-old studio president named Michael Eisner, churned out one box-office smash after another — "Urban Cowboy," "Saturday Night Fever," "Ordinary People," "Terms of Endearment," the first "Star Trek" feature, and "An Officer and a Gentleman," to cite only a few — and benefited from the windfall of controversy, to boot.

N.Y. Times News Service

ALADDIN: Another endlessly entertaining animated feature from Walt Disney, buoyed by Robin Williams' energetically inventive turn as the Genie who helps a poor street kid named Aladdin surmount the evil plotting of Jafar and win the love of the Sultan's daughter Jasmine. Dazzling color and breathtaking animation combine with nonstop laughs and spritely songs. G. Rating: ★★★★

CLIFFHANGER: Truly spectacular stunts, camerawork and special effects are nearly wasted on this stone dumb, Alpine adventure. Sylvester Stallone battles John Lithgow's murderous thieves at 12,000 feet. Director Renny Harlin ("Die Hard 2") piles on the virtuoso, ridiculous action, but the effects of oxygen deprivation are only apparent when somebody tries to speak coherently. R. Rating: ★★½

CONEHEADS: The "SNL" sketch is brought to the screen pretty faithfully and with a good sense of fun, though an interlude on the Coneheads' home planet is tiresome. Dan Aykroyd and Jane Curtin reprise their roles as the pointy headed alien invaders who enthusiastically take up a mass consuming, suburban lifestyle. Steve Barron of "Ninja Turtle" infamy directed, but don't let that keep you away. PG. Rating: ★★★

DAVE: Pleasantly polished comedy starring Kevin Kline as a venal president and the likable Everyguy recruited to stand in for him when he suffers a stroke. The trouble starts when he actually starts making the world a better place to live. Director Ivan Reitman has crafted a smart and breezy entertainment with a terrific cast — Sigourney Weaver, Frank Langello and Charles Grodin co-star. PG. Rating: ★★★

THE FIRM: Sydney Pollack's gripping, intelligent film version of John Grisham's legal thriller improves on the book. Tom Cruise is the only weak link — and he's never less than adequate — in this cerebral suspenser about a young lawyer enmeshed in a mob-connected law firm. He must use all of his legal skills to avoid getting squashed by the government or mafia or both, and his ingenious strategy is the film's real star. Jeanne Tripplehorn ("Basic Instinct"), Gene Hackman, Ed Harris and Holly Hunter provide invaluable support. R. Rating: ★★★½

FREE WILLY: A sort of "E.T." for the environmentally conscious, the story of two adolescents in search of family — one a killer whale, the other an abandoned boy — unfolds deftly and without excess sentiment. Credit director Simon Wincer ("Phar Lap," "Lonesome Dove," "The Man From Snowy River"), newcomer Jason James Richter, Keiko the whale and wildlife cinematographer Bob Talbot for the class act of the summer family shows. PG. Rating: ★★★

THE FUGITIVE: The big-screen version of the classic TV show is a nonstop chase machine. But, similar to the Energizer bunny it goes and goes like, all it leaves you with are memories of motion and a drumbeat. Dully stalwart Harrison Ford is the innocent Dr. Richard Kimble, wrongly condemned for killing his wife. Charismatic, witty Tommy Lee Jones is implacable Marshal Gerard, determined to catch the escaped con, who's equally determined to find the real killer. Director Andrew Davis ("Under Siege") never lets up on the suspense, not even to toss a little character development into the mix. PG-13. Rating: ★★★

IN THE LINE OF FIRE: This terrifically enjoyable action thriller pits Clint Eastwood's aging Secret Service agent against John Malkovich's brilliant, would-be presidential assassin. Both actors give flavorful performances and director Wolfgang Petersen ("Das Boot") supplies smart, Hitchcockian visual and thematic panache. The whole thing is a little hard to believe, but it's too good a time at the movies for that to matter much. R. Rating: ★★★½

INDECENT PROPOSAL: The latest date-night debate movie from the "Fatal Attraction" people runs out of steam halfway through, but it's pretty provocative up to then. Robert Redford's amoral financier offers Demi Moore and Woody Harrelson's financially stressed married couple $1 million for a night with her.

FRIDAY: Film unavailable for preview film factory becomes the target of a call for an across-the-board popular boycott from the hottest celebrity film-critic team in the industry, none other than Gene Siskel and Roger Ebert.

So what had Paramount done to get those guys so bent out of shape? It had issued a film that had seemed an unlikely candidate to belong in the big-bucks company of "Ordinary People" and "Urban Cowboy."

The upstart movie was Sean S. Cunningham's low-budget shocker "Friday the 13th," and it spawned a lucrative sequel franchise that has proved as unstoppable as its central zombie-maniac-at-large menace: This very Friday the 13th of August 1993, 13 years later, sees a ninth installment in the series. It is called "Jason Goes to Hell — The Final Friday," and it is the first to issue from a company other than Paramount.

The new film itself proved unavailable for preview. But its history is worth a look back.

The 1980 indignation over Paramount stemmed from what Siskel and Ebert, then newly launched to TV stardom as a consequence of their still-young film-review broadcasts, rather naively perceived as "a new and disturbing trend" in the cinema. And "Friday the 13th" was Exhibit A in their case.

Seems producer-director Cunningham's gore flick was making so much money in paid admissions that Mr. Siskel and Mr. Ebert fancied the modest film to represent some manner of evil breakthrough.

Paramount relished the controversy, which amounted to studiowide publicity of a caliber that money could not buy. The coupling of a string of hit movies, "Friday" included, with an unexpected (and inappropriate) "taboo" image for Paramount, provided the momentum that at length would propel Michael Eisner and some key associates into the top leadership positions within the reorganized Disney movie machine.

The announcement that a ninth "Friday the 13th" was coming brought the appropriate moans, as well as an even greater flurry of whispers that a long rumored Jason-vs.-Freddy teaming was finally in the works.

Cunningham is telling no secrets: "The film is a coda, if you will, to the opus of Jason Voorhees," he said. "Finally Jason's motives, method and madness are explained. And it's one helluva roller coaster ride for the audience."

We'll see. But if you want a greater ride, fly out to Chicago and sit between Roger and Gene when they see the new film.

13 scary facts about 'Friday the 13th'

"Friday" facts:

1. The first and fifth installments in the "Friday the 13th" series are the only films in which Jason Voorhees was not the killer. Betsy Palmer starred as Mrs. Voorhees, a vengeful mom killing for her drowned son in the original "Friday the 13th."

2. "Friday the 13th Part V: A New Beginning" holds the record for the highest body count, with 21 on-screen deaths. "Part 8" runs a close second, with 20.

3. Stuntman Kane Hodder is the only actor to play Jason more than once. He's starred as the menacing maniac in Parts No. 7, 8 and the new "Jason Goes to Hell: The Final Friday."

4. The unstoppable Jason Voorhees has been shot 19 times, stabbed, impaled or cut 25 times, bludgeoned with everything from clawhammers to television sets 18 times, electrocuted three times, drowned twice, burned, hanged and dissolved in toxic waste. He's still coming back.

5. According to the "Friday" myth, since its opening around 1935, Camp Crystal Lake has only changed names once. It became Camp Forest Green in the sixth installment, supposedly to escape its notorious history. But to most town crazies and teen-age victims, it's affectionately referred to as Camp Blood.

6. The young Tommy Jarvis holds the esteemed title of being the first character to truly kill Jason. The character has been played by three different actors including Corey Feldman in Part IV, John Shepard as the teen-age Tommy in Part V and Thom Mathews as the even older Tommy in Part VI.

7. Tom Savini is the only makeup artist to return for effects chores on a "Friday the 13th" film. He provided the gruesome graphic effects for the first installment as well as "The Final Chapter," the film he thought would end the series once and for all. (Five sequels followed ...)

8. Jason's now trademarked goalie mask was donned in the third installment, when he stole it from a practical-joking loner (but not before slitting the guy's throat.)

9. Though "Friday the 13th" was an offshoot of John Carpenter's "Halloween," it inspired a number of holiday horrors including: "New Year's Evil," "My Bloody Valentine," "Mother's Day," "Leprechaun," "Silent Night," "Deadly Night," "You Better Watch Out," "Happy Birthday to Me," "April Fool's Day" and the fright parody, "Saturday the 14th."

10. In the eight "Friday the 13th" films currently on home video, a total of 119 victims have met their ends on screen, excluding Jason, of course, who has died or been presumed dead more than a dozen times.

11. Jason's weapon of choice seems to be the machete. Of his victims, 16 met their makers via a stab, slice or hack.

12. Actor John D. LeMay is the only actor to graduate from the "Friday the 13th" TV series to the movie series. After doing battle with Satan for the pursuit of cursed antiques, he's more than prepared to send Jason to Hell.

13. Steve Miner is the only person to direct more than one of the "Friday the 13th" series, assuming those chores on parts two and three. He also provides the voice of a newscaster in Part 3. Sean S. Cunningham, who directed the original film, returns as executive producer for "Jason Goes to Hell: The Final Friday."

'Home Alone 2' on home video

N.Y. Times News Service

Macaulay Culkin doesn't venture far from Home Alone for this sequel to his giant family hit.

Once again the kid is separated from his family as they leave on vacation. This time, Kevin (Culkin) gets on the wrong plane and ends up in New York.

He makes the most of his time, however, spending his dad's dough like it grew on trees, and terrorizing the two thugs who bugged him in Home Alone I: Joe Pesci and Daniel Stern.

Brenda Fricker makes the most significant contribution to this family film, which admittedly has a mean-spiritedness not found in the original.

'The Fugitive' fans in hot pursuit of action

N.Y. Times News Service

LOS ANGELES —With its record-breaking debut of $23.7 million — the highest ever for an August release — "The Fugitive" is a perfect example of how to tailor a TV show from the '60s into a crowd-pleasing film for the '90s.

According to the film's producer, Arnold Kopelson, it wasn't just a matter of casting Harrison Ford as the wrongly convicted, relentlessly hunted Dr. Richard Kimble. It involved a massive rethink of the old Quinn Martin series. Still considered one of the finest dramas television has ever produced, "The Fugitive" had to be sped up — and, some might say, dehumanized — for today's young, thrill-hungry audience.

"We knew that we had to lick the cat-and-mouse aspect of this qr0603,0004 movie," Kopelson said of the film's five-year development process, which saw at least half a dozen writers come and go. "We wanted it to be everything that the television series wasn't."

Mission accomplished. The movie starts out at a breathless pace, and its suspenseful momentum never flags. It is packed with spectacle — a huge train wreck, a death-defying high dive.

The television show was more a character study of hunter and hunted, like the novel that inspired it, Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." David Janssen tended to spend more of his time inside diners than on the run, interacting each week with a new batch of troubled locals.

"I was always a fan of the series, but obviously the series has an older appeal," noted Barry Reardon, president of distribution for Warner Bros., which released "The Fugitive." "There are a lot of young people around who aren't familiar with the series at all."

Kopelson claims he has had a passion to make "The Fugitive" since he was producer Martin's lawyer 20 years ago. But since coming into his own as a movie producer, whose eclectic slate has ranged from "Porky's" to the Oscar-winning "Platoon" to the controversial "Falling Down," Kopelson has mixed that impulse with marketplace pragmatism.

"My passion for the series was when I was younger and had less on my mind," he said. "We are now in the '90s; these are different times. Every year, you have bigger, bigger and bigger productions. The dinosaur movie this year is an extraordinary piece of special-effects work. Every time, you've got to try to top what's been out there.

"I'm not competing with a television series of the '60s. I'm competing with every movie that came out in July and others that may play in August.

"And you can't compete by making an episodic television series. When you make a movie, you've got to make it for the moviegoing audience, which is predominantly the youth. They're not the 40- and 50-year-olds that watched the show every week. It's the kids, and the kids have to be titilated, excited."

Kopelson's viewpoint certainly was reinforced by the dismal weekend premieres of two smaller, less-exciting feature films. Robert Townsend's ghetto superhero spoof, "The Meteor Man," debuted unheroically in ninth place with a weak $2.6 million gross. The teen-age zombie comedy "My Boyfriend's Back" instantly decomposed, earning only $1.4 million and not even cracking the top 10.

GARDEN: A classic

(From 1C)

Mary Lennox (Kate Maberly) has never known want in the material sense — but neither has she known much love or attention.

When her parents perish in an earthquake, Mary does not visibly mourn their loss; nor does she display any emotion when no one claims her at dockside upon her arrival in Britain where she is to live with her uncle, Lord Craven (John Lynch).

Eventually, Mary is whisked off by Craven's grumbling housekeeper, Mrs. Medlock (Maggie Smith), who makes it clear that she views her new charge as an unappealing and unwelcome burden.

As alone as ever — but now called on to dress herself for the first time in her life — Mary finally responds by bullying the first available candidate, a cheerful housemaid named Martha (Laura Crossley).

Mary also rebels by disobeying Mrs. Medlock's express instructions not to investigate her new surroundings. Soon she becomes intrigued with a number of unexplained mysteries, including the persistent moans emanating from a distant wing of the mansion and a gated garden that has been locked for reasons no one will explain.

Obsessed with bringing the garden back to life, Mary of necessity enlists accomplices — Martha; her country-bred brother, Dickon (Andrew Knott); and Mary's invalid cousin (Heydon Prowse). Ultimately, they yield a far richer harvest than any could have foreseen.

Visually, the film plays like a Gothic fantasy. Production designer Stuart Craig has created a magnificently dark and gloomy mansion and a garden that, even barren, looks like something out of a fairy tale.

But there's nothing fantastic about the characters.

Holland's genius is in balancing the story's grim reality and its cinematic magic. If anything, her "Secret Garden" errs on the side of being too adult in tone; small children may squirm. Take them anyway; years later, they will remember this haunting film as a classic.

HEART: B.B. King featured in movie

from the young boy's senses.

Some 20 years later, Thomas has grown into a self-centered, callous bankruptcy closer (Robert Downey Jr.). He's afraid of committing to a good woman (Elisabeth Shue) since, although he believes his childhood friends were figments, he has this irrational fear of abandonment. The ghosts, meanwhile, have grown bored with him and each other.

But then the bus comes back, and the movie finally starts. Thomas' purpose in life is to finish the lost souls' worldly business, although no one told any of them that. Anyway, their allotted time here is almost up; they have to reveal themselves to Thomas again, and either coax or possess him into doing their duties before that last big ride.

Inspired Downey slapstick (his "Chaplin" performance, we're pleased to report, was not a fluke) ensues. So does a lot of desperate heart-tugging and cuddly lessons about opening and touching and feeling, set to Marc Shaiman's dreadfully saccharine musical score.

That said, the film's best moments are the non-Shaiman musical ones. Thomas and the ghosts' favorite thing is singing an exhilarating, five-part harmony "Walk Like a Man." And the resolution of Harrison's issue is a hilarious set piece that involves, among many surprises, the best cinematic use of B.B. King yet.

Michael Watkins' photography nicely complements production designer John Muto's pink, purple and stardusted San Francisco, creating a landscape both heightened and realistic enough to convincingly evoke the film's between-heaven-and-Earth consciousness. Special effects are good and unobtrusive, completing a consistent, light fantasy tone.

Stronger gags, sharper personalities and fewer pounds of sugar would have made for a funnier, more memorable film, though. "Heart and Souls" is spiritual cotton candy of the fluffiest sort; you can feel it dissipate as it passes through your senses, melting away before reaching your brain.

SCREEN: 'Rising Sun' sexist and muddled

(From 1C)

So far, so sleazy, but after the dirty deal is consummated, the drama collapses into a cowardly, conventional romantic triangle. R. Rating: ★★½

JURASSIC PARK: Steven Spielberg's dino-spectacular is not the religious experience many expected, but it's a pretty good, sci-fi chase movie. Something goes wrong at an island amusement park whose main attraction is genetically engineered, live dinosaurs. The big lizards, realized by a superb combination of full-sized robots and computer-generated graphics, have infinitely more charisma than their underwritten human prey, played by Sam Neill, Laura Dern, Jeff Goldblum and Richard Attenborough. PG-13. Rating: ★★★

METEOR MAN: It's a bird... it's a plane... it's a disappointment. Writer-director-star Robert Townsend's attempt to correct the racial imbalance in the superhero business has a few funny moments, and he's just the right guy to play the role for a mostly younger crowd. But an overstuffed cast and muddled attempts at social relevance doom this particular caped crusader. PG-13. Rating: ★½

POETIC JUSTICE: John Singleton's follow-up to "Boyz N the Hood" isn't the worst case of sophomore slump ever, but there are more than a few bumps in this road movie/romance. Janet Jackson and rapper Tupac Shakur are convincing as young adults trying to survive the pain of inner-city life with dignity, and Maya Angelou's poetry lends the film a touch of class when it doesn't feel ridiculously forced in context. R. Rating: ★★

RISING SUN: Though he has excised some of the more alarmist politics from Michael Crichton's Japan-bashing best seller, adapter-director Philip Kaufman ("The Right Stuff") still has made a pretty racist thriller. It's also quite sexist and muddled, though blessed with strong, high-tech visuals and fine performances by Sean Connery and Wesley Snipes. They're two L.A. cops investigating the murder of a white woman in a Japanese corporate tower; the mystery is too obvious, the explanations of Japanese behavior simultaneously reductive and convoluted. R. Rating: ★★

ROBIN HOOD: MEN IN TIGHTS: Mel Brooks is back with a parody of Kevin Costner's "Robin Hood" featuring Cary Elwes as Robin of Loxley, crackup performances by Roger Rees and Richard Lewis as the Sheriff of Rottingham and Prince John, Tracy Ullman as the hag Latrine and Brooks himself as Rabbi Tuckman. It has Brooks' signature musical numbers and Yiddish jokes, plus Dom DeLuise as a medieval Marlon Brando, but the lunacy isn't consistant enough to match Brooks' earlier sendups or more recent spoofs by the Zucker brothers and Jim Abrahams. Go with modest expectations. PG-13. Rating: ★★

ROOKIE OF THE YEAR: A sweet and funny fable about a clumsy 12-year-old who is drafted by the Chicago Cubs when his broken arm heals into a 100-mph pitching machine. Rookie director Daniel Stern in a not-so-shabby performance himself milks the situation for all its comic potential without ever losing sight of the warmth that gives the film its "Big"-ish charm. PG. Rating: ★★★

SLEEPLESS IN SEATTLE: Tom Hanks and Meg Ryan star in Nora Ephron's contrived, self-mocking and deliriously wonderful romantic comedy. He's a widowed single father; she's a passion rattled journalist on the other side of the continent. They don't meet until the last scene. In the meantime, Ephron (who wrote Ryan's hit "When Harry Met Sally...") hilariously implores us to bury our fake, movie fed romantic notions — then makes us fall for them all over again. PG-13. Rating: ★★★½

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

A TIME FOR WAR

GENERALLY WITH THE FIRST WARM BREEZES OF SPRING CAME THE CLOUDS OF WAR. THE WINTER RAINS AND SNOWS HAD TO BE OVER WITH BEFORE ARMIES COULD MOVE. THERE WAS NO DECLARATION OF THE INTENTION OF WAR BY ONE NATION TO ANOTHER. AN INVADED COUNTRY KNEW IT WAS AT WAR ONLY WHEN ITS PEOPLE SAW THE FIRST TROOPS OF THE MARAUDING INVADERS. THE ISRAELITES WERE STRATEGISTS OF NOTE. THEY DID NOT HAVE THE EQUIPMENT THAT OTHER ARMIES HAD SUCH AS CHARIOTS AND WAR MACHINES, SO THEIR BATTLE PLANS HAD TO BE OUTSTANDINGLY ORIGINAL. HISTORY SHOWS THAT WITHOUT EXCEPTION THE LEADERSHIP OF THE ISRAELITES WAS PAR EXCELLENCE. IN ALMOST EVERY BATTLE THEY FOUGHT THEY WERE NUMERICALLY WEAKER BUT THEIR DARING TACTICS AND THEIR FAITH IN GOD, AS THE POTENT FORCE BEHIND THEM, BROUGHT THEM VICTORY.

Huge meteor, volcano together could have doomed dinosaurs

By David Perlman
N.Y. Times News Service

Would-be peacemakers have entered the long and often acrimonious scientific debate over the mysterious extinction of the dinosaurs, and now it seems that at least two sides in the controversy might both be right.

The dominant camp in the extinction controversy maintains that a monstrous object from outer space — most probably a giant meteorite — crashed into the Earth some 65 million years ago, creating a huge crater and throwing up such a deadly sun-blotting cloud of dust and noxious gases that all the dinosaurs and many other classes of organisms could not survive.

Another group blames the mass extinction on a gigantic volcanic eruption in what is now the subcontinent of India that spewed a thick sheet of lava over more than 2 million square miles and clotted Earth's atmosphere with unbreathable gases such as sulfur dioxide, chlorine and carbon dioxide. According to this theory, the gases and the volcanic cloud of smoke and ash could also have caused the dinosaur deaths.

Almost all scientists agree from the fossil evidence that the dinosaurs died out after ruling the Earth for 150 million years, and that it probably happened about 65 million years ago during a geologic period known as the Cretaceous-Tertiary (or K-T) boundary.

Walter Alvarez, an eminent geologist at the University of California at Berkeley, is the leading advocate of the "impact" theory, and his colleagues at Berkeley's Institute of Human Origins have used advanced techniques in radioactive dating to establish that a huge impact crater 112 miles wide was blasted into the sea floor off what is now the coast of Yucatan 64.98 million years ago, plus or minus 50,000 years.

They have argued that the volcanism which created the vast plain of volcanic basalt in India now called the Deccan Traps could not have created the kind of "nuclear winter" needed to kill off the broad variety of marine organisms, plants and animals — including the dinosaurs. That lava would have emerged from the crust much too slowly to be so deadly, supporters of the impact theory maintain.

Now, however, a team of age-dating specialists at the University of Rochester in New York and the Institute of Human Origins has determined for the first time that the volcanic "flood basalt" plain in India is — like the Yucatan crater — almost exactly 65 million years old.

Post cold warrior gets high technology's gleaming coat of mail

By Edith M. Lederer
Associated Press writer

LONDON — The post-Cold War warrior is getting a new high-tech arsenal to cope with smaller, unpredictable conflicts.

British defense researchers are working on a host of military advances from tiny missiles that can distinguish between enemy and friendly aircraft to powerful radar systems that can target numerous supersonic missiles fired simultaneously at a warship.

Scientists are already testing an armored fighting vehicle with twin computers that can track the world outside and a computer system for intelligence analysts which can sift through masses of data, represent it on a screen, and highlight key pieces.

"In this new world order, flexibility, information, and precision have to be the watchwords," said John Chisholm, chief executive of the Defense Research Agency, which is owned by Britain's Ministry of Defense but operated as a private company.

"To see and not be seen — this is crucial for the future, the type of technologies that allow us to gain an information advantage ... because we'll be operating in unfamiliar territories," he said at a briefing Wednesday announcing the agency's annual results.

The agency, with a staff of 10,500, conducts research in 150 different areas, holds 5,000 active patents and has 400 current licenses with industries exploiting its inventions.

"There's no doubt that the agency ... is the premier research and development agency in Britain and probably in Europe," Paul Beaver, publisher of Jane's Information Group, said Thursday.

The powerful radar the agency has developed for warships can function even when partially damaged by an enemy and is "very, very difficult to jam," said project director Tim Crowfoot.

It is similar to the U.S. Navy's highly successful SPY-1 radar system, but is more advanced and cheaper.

Dancing costs two Iranian TV stars their jobs

TEHERAN, Iran (NYT) — The Iranian state-owned Radio and Television Broadcasting Company has dismissed two of Iran's most popular male television hosts for dancing with women at a wedding, the Salam newspaper reported in early August.

The dancing episode prompted harsh criticism and calls in the conservative-dominated Parliament for a thorough investigation of the broadcasting company. The men's behavior came to light when a videotape of the wedding turned up in the hands of the station management.

Mahmoud Sahriary and Javad Atash-afrouz, hosts of the 15-minute program "After the News," which featured lighthearted comedy and short sketches, were promptly dismissed.

The two men, both in their early 30s, had been hired in response to a public outcry over tiresome reruns. They became overnight sensations because of their youthful look and their sharp jokes.

Based on press reports, Sahriary and Atash-afrouz had been videotaped with women dressed in Western-style fashions and without mandatory Islamic hair covering at the wedding of Atash-afrouz's brother.

The tape was also seen by the Parliament's film commission.

Most of Iran's weddings and large parties must be segregated by sex. But mixed private gatherings with lively music and dancing remain very popular, particularly among young people in Teheran who often run the risk of arrest and heavy fines.

Mummies may roll in pyramids over 'sat' dishes

DAMIETTA, Egypt (AP) — Egyptians, used to conservative, state-owned television where kisses and love scenes are ruthlessly censored, have become passionate for satellite dishes that deliver racier fare.

In some places, the curved dishes vie with mosque minarets as features on the skyline. An estimated 100,000 have been sold, dozens of companies are importing the systems and dishes are even being manufactured locally.

But the sudden spread of dishes — in homes, coffee shops and restaurants — has sparked controversy about morality and work habits.

It even caused a censorship flap after Damietta province banned the dishes in public places, claiming they were making workers too tired to do their jobs. Authorities said parents and wives were complaining about men coming home in the middle of the night from coffee shops with satellite dishes.

Restaurant owners in this resort on the Mediterranean Sea complain the ban is unfair and has devastated a booming business.

Satellite dishes also have caused trouble in other Muslim countries. In Saudi Arabia, fundamentalists have been known to take pot shots at rooftop dishes. In Kuwait, rumors were circulated that satellite TV causes AIDS.

In Egypt, the satellites arrived about four years ago, but were slow to sell because of the cost of around $7,500 and ignorance about what foreign channels offered.

Then, last winter the dishes started cropping up everywhere after gossip about sex scenes spread and costs of the systems came down to as low as $1,000.

Many families were shocked at explicit love scenes in movies, especially on Turkish and German channels, and banned children from watching.

Woman tries to escape, crime keeps following her

N.Y. Times News Service

When Jackie Nail moved from Fort Worth to neighboring Johnson County in 1974, she went with the idea of getting her children away from the violence of the big city.

Nearly two decades later, Nail finds that the brutality she fled has followed her to the countryside.

"I don't think there are any places you can move away from it anymore," she said. "I think it's everywhere."

Nail should know. She began operating Johnson County's victim assistance program this year and has watched the county's homicide rate skyrocket with 12 slayings in the past five months — about triple the usual number.

"Really, this has just floored me," Nail said as she helped out-of-state relatives of the most recent Johnson County slayings, in Grandview. "All of this has just been incredible."

But Johnson County isn't alone. In the past week the Central Texas town of Mexia had its first police officer killed in the line of duty, two teen-agers were fatally shot in nearby Ellis County and an elderly man was found dead yesterday near Azle in Tarrant County.

"I think part of what we're seeing in Johnson and Ellis County is the Metroplex growing out there," said James Quinn, an assistant professor of criminal justice at the University of North Texas in Denton, referring to the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan complex.

Washington takes pause after Foster's death

By R.W. Apple Jr.
N.Y. Times News Service

■ News Analysis

WASHINGTON — "I was not meant for the spotlight of public life in Washington. Here ruining people is considered sport."

Those anguished words, written by the deputy White House counsel, Vincent W. Foster Jr., shortly before he died in an apparent suicide, have echoed through the capital for three days now. Since their publication, people who live and work here have been asking obsessively: Is it really that savage? Is Washington so different from other places? Is the pressure at the top levels of power in this city so intolerable that suicides are inevitable?

Washington loves to trumpet its own significance. People here reveled, during the cold war, in the phrase "Capital of the Free World." Toughness, or the pretense of toughness, is counted a more valuable coin than wisdom. Among those in the upper echelons of power, as well as those who court them and write about them, self-importance is an occupational disease.

For some, the hours are long and the demands are great. There is a tendency to forgo the solace of family and friends, weekends and vacations off, sports and cultural life. Many is the Washingtonian whose life is warped by work.

Perhaps because of Foster's death, President Clinton admonished his staff at a party on Wednesday to "remember, if you're rested and happy and upbeat, you'll also do a good job for the United States."

"It's been four years and then some," he said, since he and his family had taken a holiday that lasted more than four days. "That is a dumb thing to do. So I'm going to take a vacation and I hope you will."

But the pressure of responsibility is surely no greater on most officials in the federal government than it is on a brain or a heart surgeon, on a policeman chasing a murderer or on those who move millions, even billions, of dollars through the currency markets. Surely failure in politics is no more humiliating than the ouster in the last few years of chief executives from such huge enterprises as General Motors, International Business Machines and Eastman Kodak.

The spotlight does shine more intensely in Washington than it does in Wall Street, in the boardroom or in the nation's universities, another place where pressure can be intense. No doubt overzealous reporters sometimes shine it in places where it is needlessly intrusive, hoping to illuminate an issue or discover some act of official wrongdoing.

But with one exception, it shined seldom on Foster. The Wall Street Journal wrote three harsh editorials about him, and they distressed him deeply; in the note complaining about the "sport" of "ruining people," Foster said that "the WSJ editors lie without consequence."

Other papers, however, scarcely mentioned him during his six months on the job. The Washington Post, for example, carried his name six times, the Los Angeles Times carried it four times and The New York Times carried it once. In almost all cases, the mentions were minor elements in the articles.

There is another important way in which Washington is different. As Marlin Fitzwater, the White House spokesman under President George Bush, noted the other day, Washington's is a culture of confrontation — confrontation and sometimes full-scale combat between the Republicans and the Democrats, the White House and Capitol Hill.

Elvis memorial attracts Presley impersonators

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Their hips wiggle. Their lips curl. Their black pompadours glisten. Some even look a little like Elvis. And that's close enough.

This is "Elvis Week," and about 10,000 faithful are on their annual pilgrimage for a weeklong event that culminates with the Aug. 16 anniversary of Presley's death in 1977.

For many, the impersonator contest is a be-there-or-be-square happening.

"You'd be surprised what it means to some of them," said contest organizer Ed "Doc" Franklin. "It's a way of life."

This year's contest — the seventh — has 128 entrants, including one from Belgium, three from England and a couple of women. Last year's winner, Mori Yasumasa, is Japanese.

But wait. Elvis was from Tupelo, Miss. His accent was Southern and he was definitely male.

It all gets a bit confusing, even when explained by Edie Hall and her daughter Tammy, two of the seven judges.

"They don't have to look like Elvis," Tammy said, explaining that some wannabes may try too hard, especially those with glued-on sideburns suspiciously resembling carpet.

"There's nothing wrong with a wig, but some of them just put them on their heads like helmets," she said.

And Edie agreed: The big points are singing talent, audience rapport and appearance.

Appearance? But, Edie explained, that means more of an "Elvisesque" look than a literal interpretation.

"No one can re-create Elvis. He's dead. So let's just go for the talent," she said.

But Michael Bozzo, a 36-year-old dish washer from Sharon, Pa., likes to arrive for his show in a rented limo, arms filled with roses to pass out to the crowd.

"I make an appearance, you know," Bozzo said.

FCC fines radio station in Nevada for Stern remarks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission fined a Nevada radio station $73,750 on August 11 for broadcasting indecent comments by shock jock Howard Stern.

KFBI-FM of Pahrump, Nev., broadcast the comments on nine days between Nov. 10, 1992 and Jan. 1993 during prohibited hours, according to the commission.

The exact words used by Stern were not immediately available, but federal law defines indecency as language that "describes, in terms patently offensive, as measured by contemporary community standards for the broadcast medium, sexual or excretory activities and organs."

Such talk can only be broadcast during night and overnight hours when children are unlikely to be listening.

The FCC said the Stern remarks were "replete with references to sexual and excretory activities and organs" and were aired by KFBI between 6 a.m. and 11 a.m.

The fine reflects a finding that the violations were "egregious" and the "substantial number of days over which the violations occurred," the FCC said.

The station licensee, Americom Las Vegas Limited Partnership, has 30 days to respond to the FCC charges.

Other comments by Stern, whose show is syndicated by Infinity Broadcasting, have led to a $105,000 fine against KLSX-FM in Los Angeles.

Russian move to curb religious 'invasion' stirs protests

By George W. Cornell
Associated Press writer

Questions, alarm and uncertainty have arisen about a new measure passed by the Russian parliament that would restrict religious activities by foreigners who now swarm that land with their varied messages.

Although still not finalized, the potential new regulations have evoked keen concern from Western church leaders, ranging from denunciations to inquiries about the implications.

"Religious liberty is at stake," said Don Kammerdiener, executive vice president of the Southern Baptist Foreign Missions Board, calling the move a "step back toward the totalitarian control of the communist era."

The Rev. Joan B. Campbell, general secretary of the National Council of Churches, including most major Protestant denominations, asked Russian church leaders what the measure would do to "our longstanding partnership."

Rabbi Arthur Schneier, president of the interfaith Appeal of Conscience Foundation, said much would "depend on how the legislation is enforced," but "any statute that restricts religious freedom ... is a setback and cause for apprehension."

The legislation is an amendment to a 1990 law that guaranteed religious freedom and ended seven decades of communist repression. President Boris Yeltsin delayed approving the new measure. But parliament could reinstate it this fall.

It would require that foreign church workers be attached to Russian churches, or else obtain special accreditation from the state, authorizing it to determine what other religions are permitted on Russian soil.

The legislation, which passed parliament July 14 with only one dissenting vote, was seen as a backlash against the torrent of religious groups that have flooded Russia in its new era of freedom.

An estimated 1,000 religious organizations of all sorts have thronged the country — a stream of American evangelists, Mormon missionaries and groups such Hare Krishna devotees and disciples of Sun Myung Moon.

Leaders of the Russian Orthodox Church, long the dominant faith there, have been highly critical of the current religious free-for-all, accusing it of divisive proselytizing and spreading confusion.

Russian Orthodoxy has supported the restrictive measure. But opposition has come from Russian Protestant churches such as Baptists and Seventh-day Adventists which also have endured through years of communist persecution.

Western church voices, as well as protests of several U.S. Congressmen, were raised against the possible new restrictions.

The Rev. James Dunn, executive director of the Baptist Joint Committee, representing eight Baptist denominations in Washington, said Baptist are "shocked and alarmed" by the proposed restrictions.

He said they would empower the state "to evaluate theological doctrines and to sanction and control religious organizations," reversing recent advances in religious freedom.

In a milder reaction, the United Methodist mission executive said the measure restricting outside groups was not likely to alter dramatically United Methodism's cooperative ministries with Russian Christians.

The Rev. Randolph W. Nugent, head of the church's Board of Global Ministries, said many Western missionaries in their zeal to "spread the word" have ignored cultural sensitivities and failed to cooperate with indigenous Russian churches.

Kathy Todd, director of the National Council's USSR-Europe desk, said, "We're aware of the unhappiness of Russian Orthodox leaders to the influx of evangelists and the need for sensitivity to that phenomenon."

But she said the proposed restrictions were grounds for concern.

The Rev. Dwain Epps, international affairs director of the World Council of Churches, said it had sent a message to Russian Orthodox Patriarch Alexie saying history shows state control does not bring religious peace and harmony.

"The World Council has been a forceful advocate of the rights of religious liberty," the message added. Russian Orthodoxy is a member.

Epps said in an interview it's understandable why Russian Orthodoxy might want some restrictions with their country under a "wholesale invasion" by organizations that regard Russia as "virgin religious territory."

The outsiders "don't take into account the long witness of Christians in that society, especially their suffering in the communist period, the fact that they witnessed consistently during their suffering and martyrdom.

"They're not very happy to see the newcomers prancing in, ignoring Russian Orthodoxy that has existed there for 1,000 years, proselytizing their members, causing disruptions among Russian Baptists and evangelicals."

However, he added, "it's a very slippery slope the moment you begin to allow the state to control things in the religious sphere." He said it's much better to seek solutions through dialogue among the affected groups.

Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., and Rep. Steny Hoyer, D-Md., wrote Yeltsin that "freedom of religion is one of the most basic of human rights."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Get out and explore the world. You will find that you have been missing some things more important than power or money. Career progress depends on controlling your emotions and getting better organized. A consistently good performance means more than occasional flashes of genius to an authority figure. Romantic partner could send mixed signals early in 1994. Find out where you stand before taking a trip together.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actor Steve Martin, singer David Crosby, cartoonist Gary Larson, basketball superstar Earvin "Magic" Johnson.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Open up. Other people need to know where you stand. Face an old foe and settle any grievances once and for all. Stop trying to appease someone who disapproves of your actions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Throwing yourself into a special project will banish the restless feeling that has temporarily engulfed you. Others show new respect, partly because you guarded a friend's secret.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Broaden your outlook by joining a study group or social club. Long-distance travel provides a welcome change of pace. Clean out your closets and drawers.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You like to pay your own way. Reduce entertainment expenses by enjoying free community activities or renting videos. An unexpected romantic encounter is exciting.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You need to understand that you cannot handle everyone in the same way. A personalized approach helps you win someone's confidence. A romantic interlude brings peace of mind.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may have to give way to an authority figure today. Games could bring out your athletic potential. Remain true to your principles and you will emerge a winner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A hobby or sport could introduce you to a potential romantic partner. Your beliefs are important; do not surrender them in the name of love. A dream that seemed impossible comes true.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): motivation on this lazy summer weekend. Self-expression is the key to overcoming a mental block. Freelance writing could mean extra cash.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Avoid projects that are a waste of time and money. A good day to go shopping. Take advantage of end-of-summer bargains. Leave your credit cards at home and spend cash only.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Rebelling against authority will only cause trouble. Plant your feet firmly on the ground. Love for family and home are your major passions now. Explore the fine arts for fun and profit.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Serious decision-making should be the order of the day when family members gather. Avoid issuing ultimatums or making demands. See what others have to suggest.

TODAY'S CHILDREN will take great pride in their accomplishments and get along especially well with Aries and Sagittarians. Wise parents and teachers will help these determined Leos channel their desire to dominate into constructive endeavors. They love to lead and always think that it is other people who are out of step. Praise is a powerful incentive for these hardworking Leos. They want their contributions to receive public recognition.

Joan Collins settles lawsuit against tabloid newspaper

LOS ANGELES — Actress Joan Collins claimed victory after settling a $20 million lawsuit against The Globe tabloid for publishing revealing photos of her with a boyfriend.

Collins

"Everybody is entitled to their privacy," the 58-year-old former star of the steamy TV soap opera "Dynasty" said Thursday at a news conference at her home.

"If a non-invited person comes in and intrudes on you, I think you have the right to say, 'Hey, this is wrong and I'm going do something about it and make sure it doesn't happen again.'"

The settlement came as jury selection was set to begin for the libel and invasion of privacy suit.

Terms of the settlement were confidential.

The lawsuit was filed two years ago after The Globe published photographs in which the actress, apparently topless, was seen with her 32-year-old boyfriend in the back yard and bedroom of her French villa.

Globe attorney Anthony M. Glassman said the tabloid did not admit any wrongdoing and was happy with the settlement.

NEW YORK — ABC anchorman Peter Jennings and his wife of 14 years, Kati Marton, have separated, a source close to the couple said Friday.

Jennings and Marton, the parents of two children, reached their decision with "great sadness on both parts," said the source, who spoke only on condition of anonymity. The separation was the first step toward a divorce, the source told The Associated Press.

Marton is an author who has written one novel and several works of investigative journalism.

An ABC spokeswoman said the network would have no comment on the report. Jennings' attorney, John Vassallo, would only say his client wanted the whole thing to be "as private as possible. He does not want a public spectacle."

The couple separated once before, in 1987. The pair has a 13-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, and a 9-year-old son, Christopher. Jennings was vacationing with his children in Canada on Friday, the source said.

KENNESAW, Ga. — The second-ranking Republican in the U.S. House has volunteered to help teach a course at Kennesaw State College on renewing America. And some professors are complaining it will be a political soapbox.

At least eight professors have written letters to the dean of the suburban Atlanta college's business school to complain about the course he plans to co-teach with Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga.

The school is close to raising $300,000 to broadcast the 10-week Saturday course free to 100 colleges, businesses and other sites nationwide this fall.

"It's not education, it's propaganda," Helen Ridley, a professor of political science, said Thursday. "The recognition that we're going to get is that of an institution that sponsors the arch-conservative program."

The controversy heated when Gingrich, the House minority whip, was quoted in the college newspaper last week as saying he would exclude liberal ideas.

Business school Dean Tim Mescon, who recruited Gingrich, said: "There are very few faculty that step into a classroom that don't have some philosophy."

Gingrich, who has a doctorate in European history, said: "I'm a little surprised to see that some professors think they have a monopoly over what people learn."

NICE, France — King Albert II of Belgium, who assumed the throne this week in grand ceremony, drove rather than being chauffeured after arriving for a Riviera vacation.

King Albert

Belgium's consul greeted the king and his wife, Paola, as they arrived Thursday night aboard a Belgian army Mystere 20 jet, and secret service agents accompanied the entourage.

But police said Friday that Albert was at the wheel as they drove off to the king's villa in Chateauneuf-Grasse, a mountain village 16 miles west of Nice.

OMAHA, Neb. — Michael Bolton has had plenty of hits, but he can swing for a different kind Monday when he and members of his band and road crew play in a celebrity softball game.

The match between Bolton's Bombers and representatives of radio station KQKQ will precede a minor-league game between the Omaha Royals and Nashville Sounds. Fans will get 25-cent admission in exchange for bringing cans for the Omaha Area Food Bank.

Bolton has a concert at the Douglas County Fair on Sunday night. The 40-year-old singer's hits include the singles "Love Is A Wonderful Thing" and "When A Man Loves A Woman," and the album "Soul Provider."

Barrister life turns boring for 1 'natural'

N.Y. Times News Service

Even as a child in Atlanta, White knew lots of lawyers — his father, his mother's brothers, his Aunt Mary, and the cousins of White & White in Hopkinsville, Ky., who often appeared before a Judge White.

White's own career started auspiciously: a B.A. from Harvard, J.D. from Columbia, and a clerkship for a federal judge in the choicest of jurisdictions, the District of Columbia.

When he started out at Hogan & Hartson, he said, "I felt at home. There were all these father figures running around." He was extroverted, enthusiastic and believable enough to be put in charge of the summer interns. Then, like so many associates, he began falling away. He started wearing Wallabees and stopped wearing jackets.

Meanwhile, he was writing a book with chapter titles like "Once You're a Partner (The Crock at the End of the Rainbow"). He was getting a limited reputation as a goof-off, something that his book said need never happen if you remember simple stratagems like turning on your office light when leaving for the day.

And then, in addition to being bored silly, he was doubting the social utility of his work. "A lot of public interest litigation is equally dry," he said a decade later, "but at least you can go home at night and when people ask what you've beaten your brains out doing, you don't have to say, 'I was making the world safe for Agent Orange.'

So he quit. After "The Official Lawyer's Handbook (recently revised and reissued as "Still the Official Lawyer's Handbook), he wrote three more books. And now, when he isn't polishing jokes for Current Comedy, he is writing screenplays and honing ideas for another book, not about lawyers but about cats. The market for these, he commented, "is insatiable."

"Law firms are better off getting these driven people who are going to work their butts off and not think about it," he said. "Anybody who sits back and says, 'Is this fun?' is going to be a disaster, another Dan White, saying, 'Jeez, this is awful.'"

DISTRIBUTORSHIPS

LOOKING FOR PART TIME JOB? HAVE WE GOT A DEAL FOR YOU

The Midland Reporter-Telegram has several distributorships which are available now.

Often Asked ????? Is it worthwhile for adults also?

Yes! Our current distributor force is already 90% adult and 10% youth.

Morning newspaper routes are attractive for:

- ADULTS who have F/T jobs, yet want to supplement their income with a steady part-time job.
- MOTHERS who can't justify a small job and daycare, because as a distributor, you do not need daycare!
- STUDENTS needing a part-time job which will work with classes!
- SENIOR CITIZENS wanting regular exercise, added income, or just want to work with people, neighbors and friends.

How much money can I make as a distributor?

Depending on the size of distributorship from $300 to $700 monthly!
Some make even more!

How long does it take?

The actual delivery takes 1-2 hours Monday-Saturday, and 2-3 hours on Sunday, again depending on the size of the distributorship. Also, a few hours a month are needed to collect from subscribers. Many distributors choose to handle some of this by putting envelopes in subscribers'papers. Collecting in person will be necessary though!

When do papers have to be delivered by?

6 a.m. Monday-Friday and 7 a.m. on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Do I ever get a day off?

The job requires a 7-day a week commitment. However, distributors do take days off by finding a friend or a family member to substitute a for them!

RESERVE YOUR DISTRIBUTORSHIP NOW!
