FBI Agent Talks to Rotary

Responsibilities and activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were discussed by John J. Schwartz, assistant special agent in charge of the bureau's Houston office, at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club April 24 at Ramada Inn.

He said that his organization has three major fields of responsibility -- kidnapping, bank robbery and police killings. He added, that basically the FBI is the fact-finding agency for the Department of Justice under the U. S. Attorney General. It also handles special assignments for the President.

In Texas there are four FBI areas, each with a separate office, located in Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso as well as Houston, Schwartz explained. He reviewed developments of kidnapping from the days of Great Depression when he said there was a widespread disregard for law. He cited the Lindbergh kidnapping in 1932, as the event resulting in the federal kidnapping law which included a death penalty. He related how the family paid a $50,000 ransom but learned later that the child had been killed. Two and half years later Bruno Hauptmann was captured, convicted of the crime and executed in Sing Sing prison.

Schwartz explained that the federal kidnapping law's authority was based on interstate transportation of the victim. There have been some changes in the law since it was enacted, including a provision that if a victim was missing for seven days or more it was presumed that he had been transported across state lines. This time provision has since tuning for the parade of contestants which will open the program each evening.

Tickets for each performance can be obtained at the high school prior to opening of the show or are available from any member of the Tourist Association, C.P.L. office, or the Chamber of Commerce. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50¢ for students, Friday night. Saturday night, all tickets are $1.50.

Lois Gurley, pageant general chairman for the Tourist Association, sponsors of the annual event, said the show this year will be the most ambitious production planned since start of the annual program in Rockport-Fulton.

She said it will be a show designed to depict the poise, grace and beauty of the contestants who are seeking the title and it will be a show designed to please the capacity audience expected both nights.

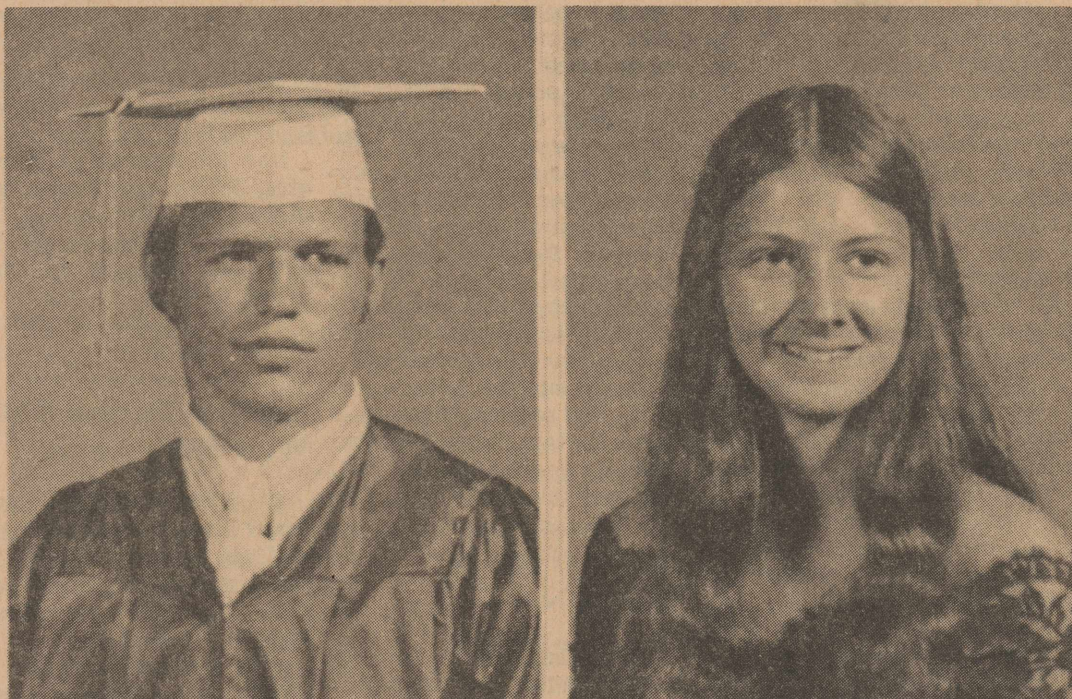

The new Miss Rockport-Fulton will be crowned at climax of the final competition by the retiring Miss Rockport-Fulton, Miss Debbie Brown, of Fulton. Debbie's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brown.

The new Miss Rockport-Fulton queen of grace, beauty and talent will be awarded a $250 scholarship. Four scholarships will be awarded totaling to $600. For the Jr. Miss Rockport-Fulton queen there will be two scholarships awarded totaling to $150.

The new Miss Rockport-Fulton will also gain the right to represent Rockport-Fulton in the Miss Texas Pageant and the opportunity to seek the $1,500 scholarship awarded to the state queen.

Winner of the Miss Texas Pageant will be launched on a glamorous journey which will take her to Atlantic City, N.J., as state representative in the national Miss America Pageant, where she will compete with state queens from throughout the nation for the title of Miss America which carries a $10,000 scholarship award and the opportunity for a year of personal appearances throughout the United States.

Mrs. Gurley said Bob Tucker, popular T.V. commentator in Corpus Christi, will serve as master of ceremonies for the Miss Rockport-Fulton Pageant.

Rockport-Fulton High School named Russell Hanes Morrison as the Valedictorian of the graduating class of 1974. Russell's four-year average was 96.78.

Miss Carolyn Sue Hawes was named Salutatorian of the graduating class with a four-year average of 96.62.

Russell is the son of Mrs. Jeannette H. Lang, 1202 Lady Claire, Rockport, and Robert L. Morrison of Portland. Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hawes, 607 N. Terry Street, Rockport.

Gets Maximum Penalty For Possession of Pot

In a two-day trial in Aransas County Court, a jury of three men and three women rendered a guilty verdict, and imposed the maximum penalty on Jose David Silva, 25, of Rockport, for possession of marijuana.

Silva was arrested during a narcotics raid on December 7, 1973 by Rockport City Police for the possession of 2.2 ounces of marijuana.

This amount of marijuana falls under a Class A, misdemeanor under the new Texas Penal Code. The maximum penalty for this offense is up to one (1) year in the county jail, a fine of $2,000 or both. Silva was given the maximum penalty by the jury. He has been released on a $2,000 appeal bond.

"To those who think this penalty severe, consider the fact that less than a year ago, you could have gotten a life sentence for this offense," Chief of Police James Craig-Mille said.

County Court was presided over by Judge John D. Wendell and County Attorney Ellis Clark represented the state. Four Rockport Police officers were witnesses along with a Texas Department of Public Safety laboratory technician.

Chief Craig-Mille said, "Narcotics is a nationwide problem and recent deaths of three young people in the close neighboring city of Portland indicates a more positive action is needed by all citizens especially on the local level."

"The jury members in the Silva case are to be congratulated for taking a positive step in the right direction to help the situation here in Aransas County."

The only contests are in the race for County Commissioner for Precinct 2 in which there are seven candidates, and for County Commissioner from Precinct 4 in which there are three candidates.

Following is the complete list of the candidates for the Democratic primary election, as furnished by Miss Lola L. Bonner, Democratic County Chairman:

G.O.P. Primary Election May 4

Aransas County Republicans will vote in their primary election Saturday, May 4, at the north lobby of the Aransas County courthouse with a single polling place serving all county precincts.

At the county level only candidates for party offices will appear on the ballot. Filing for these offices and appearing on the ballot are Harold L. Shirey, county chairman; Mrs. Dona Mae Schocke, Chairman, Precinct 1; Blas Ramirez, Chairman, Precinct 2; and Mrs. Kay Rowland, Chairman, Precinct 4.

At the state level there are contests for governor and lieutenant-governor.

Three questions will be offered to Republican voters in a referendum. Opinions may be expressed on whether they favor the constitution of Texas containing a "Right to Work" provision guaranteeing a person's right to hold a job whether or not he chooses to belong or pay money to a union or similar bargaining group; also, whether a provision should be included to require approval by voters in a referendum before any legislative enactment of any state personal or corporate income tax; and whether the voters favor a law to permit pari-mutual wagering on horse races by local option.

Precinct conventions for Republicans will begin at 2 p.m. in the Grand jury room of the courthouse which is adjacent to the north lobby polling places. Saturday, May 11, the county convention will be held at 10 a.m. in the District Courtroom at the courthouse.

been shortened to 24 hours, he added.

In discussing the Patricia Hearst case, Schwartz said it differed from the usual kidnapping for money and apparently based on the philosophy held by extreme left-wing radicals. According to Schwartz, many of the members of these revolutionary groups have been trained in Cuba and are intent on embarrassing the government and the so-called establishment.

So far the FBI has followed a hands-off policy in the Hearst case in an effort to endangering the girl's life, he said.

Since the Hearst kidnapping in February there have been nine other kidnappings in this country, and all of them have been solved with the exception of one in which there are still a few aspects to be cleared up. He believes most of these kidnappings were inspired by the Hearst case.

Schwartz said the trend in bank robberies has been away from actual holdups to extortion attempts through bank officials or members of their families. This change followed enactment of the Banking Act of 1968 which required installation of hidden cameras and more sophisticated alarm systems in banks.

Marked increase in the killing of police and other peace officers has resulted in bringing the FBI into the problem Schwartz said. Recently enacted laws permit the FBI to participate if asked to do so by local officials. Upon request, the FBI will take over the investigation of a police killing completely and pursue it to its conclusion. Otherwise, the FBI will play a supporting role with its identification system and laboratories.

Schwartz reported that from August, 1973 to January, 1974, 93 policemen were murdered, an increase of 21 over the same period of 1972. Most of the deaths have been by firearms and Texas leads the nation in number killed with 13, he said.

Nationwide, 22 of the deaths resulted when police answered calls reporting disturbances of various kinds; 21 resulted when motorists were stopped. Schwartz explained that many of the problems facing police officers are very difficult and most of them require quick decisions. He added that many elements of the press have not been very sympathetic to the problems of law enforcement in their treatment of police reports and actions.

Touching on the current so-called "Zebra" problem in San Francisco in which 12 uninvolved persons have been murdered apparently without cause, Schwartz asserted that the city presented a "nightmare" for law enforcement.

Believe it or not

Over 75% of all highway deaths take place on dry pavement.

CPL Produces New Safety Film

A new safety film explaining how to avoid the danger of overhead electrical lines is being made available to South Texans by Central Power and Light Company.

Bob Nusom, CPL's Safety Manager, made the announcement noting that civic clubs, schools and other organizations could obtain the film -- "Reachin' for the Lightin'" -- by contacting their local CPL manager.

The 10-minute film correlates nature's lightning with the electricity that flows through CPL's high voltage wires across its 44-county service area.

"This movie makes the viewer aware that the wires which he sees daily next to his house or going to work have electricity flowing through them and that like lightning, electricity is always looking for a place to ground," said Nusom.

"Reachin' for the Lightin'" shows accidents at home, at work, on farms and construction sites, and stresses that accidents can be avoided if the person is either paying attention or performs safely when around high tension wires, according to Nusom.

"One of CPL's prime safety objectives is to stop children from going after kites which get tangled in power lines," said Nusom. "We have safety posters out in this matter but the film will help reinforce our feeling."

The film makes it plain that children flying kites with metal strings can become a conductor for electricity if their kite should get tangled in a power line, according to Nusom.

CPL has other movies available to South Texans. A list may be obtained from local CPL managers.

Wieting Attends Tax Hearing

Representative Leroy J. Wieting was in Dallas Monday for the first meeting of the newly named committee to study uniformity of state, local and school taxes, as well as all special taxing districts.

This is the latest committee appointed by Speaker Price Daniel to help solve the immediate problem of financing public schools in Texas.

Wieting stated that most of the school districts in Texas will not be able to finish this school year without going into the red since not enough monies was made available for this fiscal year. The state must help local school districts and its administrators if we in our area are able to continue the high level of education we now enjoy.

This committee is to report to the next session of the Legislature or to a special session that only Governor Briscoe can call later this year.

Do you know what sidereal time is?

Sidereal time, of which we hear little, is an accurate measurement of time. It's the measurement of time derived from observation of the meridian transits of the stars and differs slightly from solar time.

The mean sidereal day, for example is only 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.09 seconds. The time required for the earth to make one complete revolution around the sun is the sidereal year.

The sidereal year is 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9.5 seconds. Every fourth year, as the reader probably knows, the extra hours--over and above the 365 days, are combined into an added day--in Leap Year. But the effect of this small time divergence has no noticeable bearing on our weather.

and Danny Armstrong.

In the Bicycle Race, winners not known: Missy Krogsgaard, Leia Jo Midgett, James Morgan, Andy Deason, Timmy Deason and Lee Anna Cassel.

Everyone had a real good time and we hope that next year there will be more kids out to have fun with us.

Big Trees, Clean Air Features Of Ashville's Mountains

ARROWHEAD, N.C.-- One of the nice things about the mountains here is that there are plenty of trees and clean air.

Arrowhead Hideaways is a 600-acre tract divided up in parcels of from 20 to 2 1/2 acres. As reported in an earlier column, Joe Hudgins is the developer, and he has pioneered a new concept in this "hideaway" near Asheville.

"The gas shortage hurt us a little but that has let up. We think this area appeals to people from many states. We're near the largest city in western North Carolina, we're near the Blue Ridge Parkway, we're near Interstate 26 and we're still exclusive," he says.

Hudgins' company has spent half a million dollars cutting roads out of these mountains. All the tracts he sells--half for summer homes and half for year-round homes--are covered with big trees and at least several acres large.

They're on slopes, peaks, mountain sides, and some have streams flowing through them. On the very top of four peaks, some over 4,000 feet up, he's selling several 20-acre estate tracts.

There someone can buy the top of a mountain--and look out in four directions.

"Of course, sometimes up there you're in the clouds when lower down you aren't," Hudgins says. "But the view is magnificent."

Despite what some think, finding good, restricted land near Asheville is difficult. And there is nothing else right now in the Asheville area, that famous summer resort spot, like Hudgins' hideaway

W. RACHEL LITTLEJOHN

Candidate for

District Judge

156th JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Democratic primary May 4th

She is qualified for District Judge:

- Honor graduate of Baylor University School of Law, with earned Bachelor's and Doctor's degrees in Law.
- Wide experiences in the practice of law for 24 years.
- Her record of highest integrity and service to the Community.
- She will work. She pledges prompt and efficient disposition of the business of the District Court.
- She promises to give every attorney and every litigant the attention and consideration which his business deserves.

Her opponent is the son-in-law of District Judge John Miller. We should not elect two district judges with this family tie and close relationship. We should avoid the appearance of connivance or collusion which could result. Such a relationship would tend to reduce confidence of the people in their government. We need more, not less, confidence in government. Your vote for W. RACHEL LITTLEJOHN is vital to restore confidence in government.

She wishes she could meet with each voter in all five counties of this judicial district before the election, but regrets that she may not manage to do so in this rather extensive area. Do not let this prevent you from voting for her.

VOTE FOR: W. RACHEL LITTLEJOHN, as Judge of the 156th Judicial District Court, May 4, and vote for respect and honor for the rule of law.

Taxpayers Ask I. R. S.

Q: Is it possible after April 15 to get an extension of time to file an income tax return?

A: In the typical case, the taxpayer must have taken some action on or before April 15 to qualify for an extension. To obtain an automatic two-month extension, a taxpayer must file on or before April 15 a Form 4868 along with an estimated tax payment. Hardship extensions, filed on Form 2688, should also be requested on or before April 15.

However, U. S. citizens not in the U. S. or Puerto Rico on April 15 and military personnel similarly situated are allowed a two-month extension of time for filing without any action on their part. All they have to do is attach a statement to their return showing that they were outside the U. S. and Puerto Rico on April 15.

Q: Can I have tax withheld on my pension?

A: Yes. If you want to, you may have income tax withheld from the taxable portion of pensions and annuities paid over a period of more than one year by filling out a Form W-4P and submitting it to the payer. The amount to be withheld must be at least $5 per month and the net annuity payment received may not be less than $10. Forms W-4P are available at IRS offices.

Q: I bought a pocket calculator for $150 to use in figuring out my taxes and in connection with my investment activities. Do I deduct the cost of the calculator or do I have to capitalize it?

A: If the calculator has a useful life of more than one year, its cost is usually recovered through depreciation deductions over its useful life. If the calculator has a useful life of one year or less, you may deduct the entire amount as an income-producing expense or as an expense paid in connection with the determination of tax.

Q: Under what circumstances can travel to a foreign country be deducted as an employment-related educational expense?

A: Your expenditures for travel as a form of education are generally deductible to the extent the major portion of your travel activity during the period of travel directly maintains or improves skills required in your employment, trade, or business.

Here is an example of how the rules would operate: You are a teacher of French. While on sabbatical leave, granted for travel, you traveled in France to improve your knowledge of the French language. Your itinerary was chosen, and the major portion of your activities was undertaken to improve your skills in the use and teaching of the French language, thus benefiting you as a teacher of French. You may deduct your travel expenses as educational expenses, even though your activities consisted largely of visiting French schools and families, attending motion pictures, plays, and lectures in the French language, and similar activities.

Had you been a teacher of English or mathematics, such a trip to France would not have maintained or improved your required skills, and your expenses would not have been deductible.

Qualification For VA Home Loans

The Veterans Administration reminds married home-minded veterans that it is now easier to qualify for GI home loans.

A.A. Hunter, VA Regional Office Director, noted that VA now accords full recognition to incomes and expenses of both veteran and spouse in determining ability to repay loan obligations.

Mrs. Hunter said VA is required by law to determine if contemplated terms of repayment bear a proper relation to the veteran's anticipated income and expenses before approving the loan.

"But while the spouse's income has always been considered," Hunter explained, "local rules sometimes had the effect of discounting the spouse's income. Now, however, no such local rules are imposed, and the spouse's income is given full consideration."

VA guarantees 60 percent of GI home loans (maximum $12,500) private lenders make to servicemen, veterans and eligible spouses of World War II, Korean and post-Korean Conflicts and the Vietnam Era.

Fix-It Tip

The power mower, especially the rotary type, can injure and maim and special precautions must be taken. Familiarize yourself with the controls and what they can do. Be certain you can stop the mower instantly.

Stand clear when you start the machine. Hands and feet should never be under the mower or near the discharge chute. Fill the gas tank before you start the mower. Do not fill while the engine is running or while it is hot.

Clear the lawn of stones, sticks and other foreign objects before cutting the grass. Such objects can be hurled with tremendous force. They also will damage the blades.

News From Sen. Bentsen

Every Vote Counts

With more than 5 million Texans registered to vote in the primary election coming up on May 4th, some might wonder, does my vote really count?

One vote can make a difference, an enormous difference. Down through history, the course of our civilization has often been changed dramatically by the margin of a single vote.

For example, in 1649, it was only one vote that cost King Charles I of England his head; in 1845, by a single vote, the U.S. Senate annexed Texas to the United States;

In 1824, the House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams president over Andrew Jackson by a single vote;

And in 1868, again, by a margin of only one vote, the U.S. Senate twice failed to convict President Andrew Johnson in his impeachment trial.

There is a story, often repeated around Washington, that gives an idea of how crucial a single vote can be in an election like the one coming up this week.

A member of Congress from California, the story goes, was seeking re-nomination in his party's primary against a single opponent. Both candidates wound up with exactly 10,429 votes each.

In accordance with the California State Constitution, the contenders drew lots in the presence of the California Secretary of State. The incumbent Congressman lost the draw and the right to his party's nomination. He sank to political oblivion. And, the story ends, all because his secretary was too busy with office work to cast her ballot on primary day.

Concern For Future

Around our State today, many people of all ages and beliefs are more deeply concerned about our future as a nation than ever before. A young man from Austin recently asked me, "Senator, can't we do something to make our government listen to us?"

Of course we can do something. On May 4, Texans have the opportunity to play an active role in politics by voting in the primary election and then attending the precinct convention of the political party of their choice when the polls close.

The neighborhood precinct conventions provide a chance for Americans to participate in government at the community level and have their say in the platforms and programs of their political parties. These precinct conventions are of historic importance because they will determine the future course of national parties and will have an impact on the future course of our nation.

Participation of the People

One of the many lessons emerging from the tragic events of recent months is that the foundation of good government and the responsiveness of any political party depend upon the participation of the people. Otherwise, by default or voter apathy, government for and by the people can be controlled by a limited few who show an interest.

This is a great and good country, with a great future ahead of it. But our democratic system needs the invigorating force of increased citizen participation. This gives us the opportunity to set a new standard of honesty and fairness in political party meetings, and to restore public trust and confidence in politics.

I am looking forward to casting my vote in the primary May 4th, when Texans will participate in an election that will help determine the course of our State's history.

Ours is indeed a government of the people. Our voices are heard; but only if we speak out. Our votes do count -- but only if we cast them.

HELPING CHILDREN

"The child is father of the man"--this old saying offers both warning and hope.

It warns us that a child's early environment and personal relationships may nourish the roots of mental illness in his later years.

But it offers hope and promise because we have the knowledge and resources to help our children grow into mentally healthy and productive adults.

It is conservatively estimated that 2 or 3 percent of the Nation's children are psychotic or severely disturbed and in need of expert treatment, with an additional 8 to 10 percent needing some kind of help from persons trained in mental health.

These percentages translate into about 4 1/2 million youngsters who need help of a psychiatric nature--which is many times the number now receiving any treatment at all for their mental or emotional problems.

Dr. Norbert I. Rieger, former director of the Children's Treatment Center, Camarillo State Hospital at Camarillo, California, is a dedicated psychiatrist now striving to help salvage disturbed children through the training of a new professional--the child mental health specialist.

Attendance Reports Due from Students 18 and Over Who Get Social Security

Students 18 and over getting monthly social security checks will soon get an attendance reporting card that should be filled out and returned to social security as soon as possible, according to social security officials here.

Social security reporting cards are mailed to students getting social security payments about 3 months before the end of the school year. "The information on the attendance report helps us decide if the student can continue to get monthly checks," a social security spokesman said.

Delay in returning the reporting card can mean a delay in future social security payments, he said.

Full-time students 18 and over who remain unmarried can get monthly social security checks until they're 22 if a parent gets social security payments or if a parent has died after working long enough under social security.

"A college student who hasn't earned an undergraduate degree can continue to get social security payments through the end of the semester or quarter year in which he reaches 22," the spokesman said. "If the school doesn't use the semester or quarter system, students can continue to get social security payments until their course is completed — or until 2 months after they reach 22, whichever is earlier."

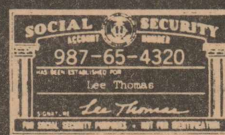

About 650,000 students in colleges, high schools, and trade schools get monthly social security payments.

"Any student in this area who needs help with the attendance report or information about social security benefits can call, write, or visit any social security office," the spokesman said.

Questions and Answers

Q. Since I got married last month, I heard that I need to change my name on my social security card. Is this correct?

A. Yes, you can contact any social security office to apply for a duplicate card in your married name.

Q. I'm 74, and I've already applied for supplemental security income payments. Every now and then I do odd jobs for people, but my earnings never go over $50 a month. Will these earnings have any effect on my payments?

A. No. Regardless of age you can earn up to $65 a month without it affecting your supplemental security income payment.

Q. I'm going to college and getting social security student checks. Next semester, I'll have to cut down my class attendance to part time and also get a part-time job. Will my checks continue if I keep my earnings below $2,400 for the year?

A. No. Although your earnings would not be high enough to stop your monthly checks, your part-time class attendance could. To get monthly student checks, you must be going to college full time.

Q. I'll be 65 in a few months, and I just got in the mail a Medicare card showing I have coverage under both the hospital and the medical part of the program. Since I'm a Christian Scientist, I want only the hospital part and not the medical part. What should I do?

A. Just fill in the information on the back of the card you received and return the card in the enclosed envelope. This will enroll you in only the hospital part of Medicare, and you'll be sent a card showing your hospital insurance coverage. The hospital part of Medicare covers certain services in certified Christian Science sanatoriums.

Moving? Notify Social Security to Get Checks

People getting monthly social security checks should notify the Social Security Administration promptly if they plan to move soon, according to social security officials here.

"You can use the change-of-address form printed on the back of the envelopes in which social security checks are delivered," a spokesman said. "Or you can call, write, or visit any social security office to report your change of address."

A change of address report should include your complete old address and your complete new address—with ZIP codes. "And be sure you furnish the social security claim number that appears on your social security checks," the spokesman said. "Prompt notice of a move will help assure delivery of your check to your new address without delay or interruption."

Fix-It Tip

Your garage, standing out there completely surrounded by the weather, takes a beating all winter long.

Open up the doors and windows to let the garage air out and get dry and make a careful inspection of the building some warm spring day.

Inspect from the ground up. Use a screwdriver or a pocketknife and probe the bottom boards. These are the ones likely to rot from high snows and water leaving them submerged.

Siding that is rotted or warped should be replaced.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Blind Corner

Alex dutifully halted his car at the stop sign. At that point, which was about 30 feet back from the corner, his vision of the intersection was blocked by some high bushes. Nevertheless, he moved briskly into the crossing.

Result: a collision with a car coming along the other street.

Was Alex guilty of negligence? He insisted that he was not, pointing out in a court hearing that he had brought his car to a full stop at the sign.

"That's all the law requires," he said. "I stopped, looked, and listened at the designated place."

But the court found him guilty of negligence anyhow. The court said a "blind" corner imposes an extra duty on motorists--regardless of stop signs or traffic signals--to proceed with caution.

The law does recognize, however, that caution is a matter of degree. For example:

Another man also entered an intersection that he could not see because of shrubbery. But this time, the man edged forward at a snail's pace, glancing in both directions. Even though he still got in the way of an oncoming car and caused a collision, a court ruled afterward that he could not be held legally liable.

"The law does not require the impossible," said the court. "One cannot be held guilty of negligence because he is unable to see through

Bob Bullock.

It's Time To Bring the State Comptroller's Office Out of The Dark Ages.

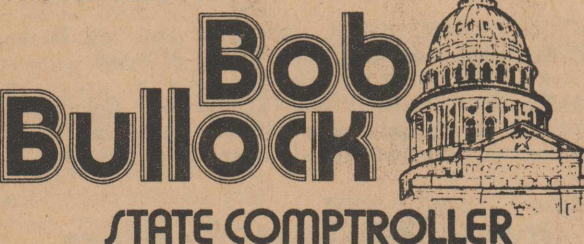

Bob Bullock is in the prime of life -- a tough-minded, straight-talking lawyer who has been described as "the best Secretary of State that Texas ever had."

Bob Bullock served nearly two years in the top appointive position in Texas government. Before that, he was a member of the Texas Legislature, an assistant attorney general, then special counsel to the Governor.

Bob Bullock knows Texas government from one end to the other. He knows how to administer public office in the public interest.

The job: State Comptroller.

BASIC STROKES

In the following diagrams, the stern (rear) paddler is paddling on his right and the bow paddler is paddling on his left. Should partners prefer opposite sides, merely use the same strokes on the other side. With practice these strokes can be perfected and adapted to cover most situations encountered in the varying water conditions found on Texas Waterways.

Paddle Position—In all strokes the paddle should be held with the palm of the upper hand over the top of the grip. The lower hand should be held far enough down on the shaft to assure a powerful stroke. The blade angle and direction of the stroke are very important in proper execution of each paddle stroke.

A. Straight Ahead—The "J" stroke is one of the most versatile strokes available to the canoeist. This is a forward stroke that can easily be adapted for directional control. The "J" stroke can be used to push the canoe straight ahead when there is a person in both the bow and stern. Also, if only one person is in the canoe (in the stern) the "J" stroke can be used to push the canoe forward in a straight line without the necessity of alternating strokes on opposite sides of the canoe.

B. Backing or Stopping—This stroke must be made parallel to the keel of the canoe. This is an important stroke used in landings, backing out of tight places and for checking speed in rough water.

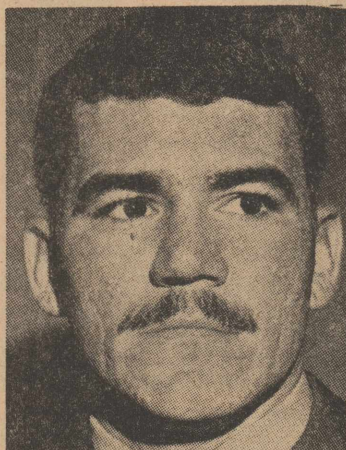

C. Left Turn (Draw)—This stroke is for steering the canoe to the left. The stroke should begin as far out from the side of the canoe as possible, with the blade angled parallel to the craft's keel, then be drawn straight toward the side of the canoe.

D. Right Turn (Pry)—Same as for the left turn only paddle blade should be pushed away from the sides of the canoe at right angles.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Cautious Cruising

If you're on a pleasure kick it's a good rule to never drive your boat farther from home port than one third of your fuel supply.

Reason is—you'll have more than ample gas to return home safely without running the tank dry. After all, this is supposed to be a pleasure trip. There's not much fun "padding"—even if you're in sight of shore.

Use Dip Stick For Oil

When you have a flat tire and encounter difficulty removing tight lugs from the wheel of your car or trailer, a few drops of oil will help loosen 'em up a bit.

No oil handy? Then remove the dip stick from the engine and let a few drops of the motor oil drip off the measuring stick onto the lug nuts and bolts.

It's not as effective as a squirt of rust remover or a spray can of quick-releasing WD-40, but it's sure better than nothing at all.

Dual Purpose Gun Rack

Put those gun racks in your car to year round use.

When hunting season is over the twin gun rack makes an excellent out-of-the-way place to store your two-piece fishing rods and reels, and especially if they are enclosed in zipper cases.

Instant Stove

If you'll carry four three-pound coffee cans and an old grill in your car, you'll have a handy stove.

Fill the cans with sand and place the grill over them. And if you'll fill a couple of the cans with water instead of sand, you'll have instant warm dishwater.

Simple Utensil Kit

Does your wife store her "good" silverware in a flannel pocket roll?

Why not use the same idea for your camping knives, forks, and spoons? Use heavy canvas and sew up your own utensil kit . . . then tie it with a shoestring (which might come in handy also).

Presto—A Dishpan

Did you ever go camping and find you didn't have a container big enough to use as a dishpan? Dig a hole in the ground and line it with aluminum foil. Emergency pan!

First Aid

If you should happen to get stung by a bee, and have no remedy handy, a little bit of sugar rubbed over the bee-sting will lessen the pain.

The Wietings Say!

Thank you for your vote and support for the past 12 years and we ask for your vote and support again on May 4th Democratic Primary.

Representative Wieting throughout his campaign for re-election has stressed the importance of the NEXT Session of the Texas Legislature.

The next Legislature will be one of the most important sessions in Texas history.

I have the SENIORITY, EXPERIENCE, EDUCATION, BACKGROUND and a RECORD OF ACCOMPLISHMENTS proving I can get the job done.

Wieting says "If the proposed constitution passes by the Convention and the people of Texas or if the new proposals fail to pass, the next session of the Legislature in January 1975 will be presented with more bills than any other Session. Because through the hearings across Texas and committee hearings before the Convention many new proposals and questions have been raised on new legislation that will affect the people of Texas and their pocket books."

Proofs Necessary To Get Social Security Number

People may be asked to prove their age, identity, and citizenship to get a social security number when applying for the first time, according to A. L. Finck, Jr., social security district manager in Corpus Christi.

The proof is required under an amendment to the social security law. "The requirement affects native United States citizens, naturalized citizens, and aliens," Finck said.

People can apply for a social security number by writing or visiting any social security office. Application forms are available at social security offices and area post offices.

"Age can usually be proved with a birth or baptismal certificate," Finck said. "Identity can generally be proved with a driver's license, voter's card, or similar evidence -- preferably something that carries your signature."

People born in the United States can usually establish citizenship with the same papers they use to prove their age and identity, he said.

The proof requirement is intended to help prevent people from obtaining more than one social security number or obtaining or using a social security card under a false identity, Finck said.

A fine of up to $1,000, imprisonment of up to one year, or both may be imposed for fraudulent use of genuine or fake social security numbers to hide true identity or to get benefits from Federally funded programs.

"Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life," Finck said. "You build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for yourself and your family by work and earnings credited to your social security number. Using more than one number could mean you're not getting full credit, which could adversely affect your social security payments in the future."

"You should apply for a social security number several weeks before you need it," Finck said. Applications are generally screened against social security central files in Baltimore, and screening takes time, he explained.

Students planning to work this summer should apply for their social security number right away. When you get a job covered by social security, make sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your social security card to his records.

The Corpus Christi social security office is at 5733 S. Padre Island Drive. The phone number is 992-0180.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hale, Jr., of Aransas Pass, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Leigh to Phillip Wayne Shaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Shaver of Rockport. The couple will be married August 18 in the First United Methodist Church, Aransas Pass. The bride-elect is a senior in Aransas Pass High School and her fiancé is a graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School and Del Mar Technical Institute.

the April 15 deadline to mail their returns can expect their refunds by the end of June, according to Richard J. Stakem, Jr., district director for the Internal Revenue Service in southern Texas.

The tax official said that taxpayer service representatives are answering about 3,500 telephone calls a day in the southern half of the state. Many of the callers filed returns a month or six weeks ago and want to know the status of their refunds, Stakem said.

"A taxpayer should not become concerned about the refund," he said, "until 10 weeks have passed since the return was mailed to the service center." One significant reason for the long processing time, Stakem pointed out, is that "more than 40 percent of the individual tax returns were filed after April 1."

Letter to the Editor

Sir: In your Rockport Pilot dated April 25, 1974, you ran a story captioned 'Local Couple Criticize Police' which was a distortion of the facts. We went before the City Council, stated exactly what happened during and after the vicious attack on Mrs. Strickland and we suggested that we need more personnel on the city police force. We did not criticize the Rockport Police, nor intended any criticism. But no one should have to stand outside a locked up police station any time, and especially after the shocking experience Mrs. Strickland had, while the only police officer available was taking the captured criminal to a doctor. We should have enough personnel to keep the police station open, or this is our feeling on the matter. The above mentioned officer was the only officer present when the attacker was arrested, and he had his hands full and could certainly have used help.

We would like to mention here also, the fact that in your write up of the attack on Mrs. Strickland, you showed no hesitancy in using her name, over and over while nowhere did you mention the name of the man who committed the crime, or anything much about him. Neither was the name of the store shown, on whose parking lot this attack took place. You will note that we also have been very careful not to mention any names but our own. By all means, let us protect these criminals and harass the innocent a little more, for daring to get attacked, or perhaps for daring to say anything about it.

We feel that a newspaper owes the public all of the truth, not just part of it, and if we are going to name names, then by all means name all parties concerned, not just those the writer, for whatever reasons, chooses to name.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Strickland

Editor's Note:

The youth arrested in this incident was sent to a state hospital at San Antonio for psychiatric examination and treatment. In such cases, the Pilot does not publish the names of the person involved.

To Voters of Precinct 4 & 4A of Aransas County:

We, the below named voters of Precinct 4 & 4A, endorse the candidacy of J. L. "Larry" Stewart as our Commissioner and urge the other voters of Precinct 4 & 4A to cast their votes for Larry this coming Saturday, May 4 for the following reasons.

1. Larry will treat the problems of his precinct with equality and fairness to all who reside in his precinct regardless of which side of Copano Causeway they might live on.
2. Larry is an asphalt paving contractor of considerable experience and knowledge and knows that the sub-base and surfacing of our roads must meet specifications essential to cope with local soil conditions if we are to ever avoid unnecessary and excessive road maintenance costs.
3. Larry has been a successful general contractor for many years, having constructed schools, motels, apartment projects, residences, and developed subdivisions.
- We all know that maximum value must be obtained for money spent in the arena of competitive bidding in order to survive in the general contracting business. His experience and knowledge should certainly help us get more mileage from our tax dollars.
4. Larry is a successful local businessman who owns an asphalt paving business, the Sportsman's Manor Motel on Fulton Beach road, and a drive in grocery and washateria on Highway 35. His extensive experience in money management - obtaining productivity from employees - and what to buy and where to buy it to obtain the best value - will lend itself to obtaining more value from money expended.
5. Larry is progressive and we believe he will contribute greatly to a sensible and well planned development of our County as our Commissioner.
6. Larry will devote all the time required to perform his duties as a Commissioner and to listen to the problems of his constituents.

We know you will not regret joining us and casting your vote for Larry - Vote for intelligent use of our tax dollars; for planned drainage and road maintenance; for County wide progress; for more efficient utilization of County money, equipment, and employees; VOTE FOR BETTER COUNTY GOVERNMENT !!! PUBLIC NOTICES BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.

IN MEMORIAM

Emma Collins of Milton, Delaware has written the following memorial to the late Michael Murph, son of Mrs. Mary Louise Mount, who died last November:

Dover, Del.: In sad and loving memory of our dear Michael Murph on his birthday.

If we could turn the hands of time, we would turn them back one year. It's once again your birthday -- and we don't have you here. For you see ... We would have ... and there would be no more tears. Gone from this world of trouble. To a land of peace and rest. God has taken you to live with Him. He only knows and does what is best -- He gave us strength to fight it and courage to bear the blow. But what it meant to love you, just those who have lost .. Will ever know... Gone but not forgotten.

Sadly missed by E. Collins and family. p7

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health
CAN'T SLEEP?

Insomnia may involve problems that can't be resolved by counting sheep.

Inability to sleep may be a symptom of mental or emotional disorders such as depression, anxiety, or even schizophrenia. In such cases the treatment should be directed at the primary illness and not at the accompanying insomnia.

Treatment of insomnia is a new pamphlet, one of a series of reports to physicians by the Federal Government's mental health agency--the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Purpose of the series is to give specialized aid to physicians in connection with illnesses which may have mental health implications.

Nearly everyone is interested in insomnia--because most of us have had at least mild problems with ability to sleep. A few notes on the subject may be of interest to our nonphysician readers.

First, the amount of sleep needed varies with individuals. Haven't you envied some person who seems to function with full alertness on 4 or 5 hours of sleep a night? For a few adults "normal sleep" is as little as 3 hours a night, with most of us sleeping 7 or 8, and some as much as 11 or 12.

Insomnia may be situational and transient, and usually you know what particular situation or problem is causing it. Straighten out or work through the situation and your insomnia is cured. The much more disturbing chronic form of insomnia, occurring in as much as 15 percent of the population, has no proved cause and can usually be treated only symptomatically. For both kinds of insomnia, the following tips may be helpful:

*Don't worry about your inability to sleep. There is no known physical harm that comes from poor sleep. Worry is the insomnia's worst enemy.

*Get plenty of exercise. It should be taken several hours before bedtime and should leave you with a mild degree of physical exhaustion.

*Do something routine and unexciting in the hour before bed; read undramatic material or watch a relaxing TV program.

The pamphlet suggests that, in trying to sleep, you think of "a simple repetitive fantasy." (Yes - counting sheep is as good as any and may work for you!)

Physicians may obtain a copy of the pamphlet for 25¢ from the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. Ask for Treatment of Insomnia, Stock Number 1724-00330.

Certification Cards for Educational Allowances Must Be Returned to VA

Veterans who are now attending a college or university under the GI Bill are reminded that they must establish their entitlement to continued Veterans Administration benefits this month. According to A. A. Hunter, Director of the VA Regional Office in Houston, all such veterans must now be sure that their "cert" cards are properly completed and returned to the VA.

Hunter states that the certification of attendance card, which the veteran should have received with his VA check on April 1, 1974, must be completed and returned. Otherwise, the VA cannot prepare his check which should be due May 1, 1974, to cover his final month of attendance this semester.

Also, if the card is not returned by the end of the current semester, the veteran cannot automatically be reenrolled for the upcoming summer or fall sessions, in the event he plans to continue his education.

The certification card is a small IBM punch card with a blue stripe. This card must be completed by the veteran, certifying his attendance for the entire current enrollment period.

ROY LICHTENSTEIN - HIS LANDSCAPE, THE COMMONPLACE

Roy Lichtenstein appeared on the art scene in the 1960s when Pop Art was an important art expression.

Artists working in this style used the ordinary and commonplace as their subject matter, and their technique is similar to the advertising media which bombards us through newspapers, billboards, and TV.

Many young artists begin their careers by revolting against what their teachers and leading artists of their time are doing. Roy Lichtenstein, in an effort to find his own mode of expression, resorted to commercial art, the source of which was even derived from mail order catalogs. He has said that at the time anything was accepted as art, referring to sculpture made of the discards of industrial society and abstract expressionist painting. His art is about the reproduced image, whether it be a famous painting or a common object such as a washing machine.

He does transform these subjects in many ways. He enlarges the ordinary household object so that it fills the picture plane; he simplifies so that the object appears monumental in scale, and uses only the primary colors of red, yellow and blue with strong black outlines on a white ground. In this way we see the washing machine in a way we never have before - or ever will again.

In an effort to entertain his sons one rainy Sunday afternoon, Roy Lichtenstein reached for an opaque projector he had just acquired. This instrument projects any photographic image placed in it upon a wall, enlarged to many times its normal size. When he placed the Sunday comics into the projector, what they saw amused the sons but also intrigued him.

The picture gave the impetus for many of his "pop art" paintings that used comic strip imagery and verbiage as their subject. Creators of comic strips must possess certain artistic talents. This art, now 100 years old, requires its makers to devise a shorthand method of describing their characters so that they are line drawn portraits which can reveal the entire range of human emotions.

Also, in 3 or 4 frames, they must recapitulate the events of the previous issue, carry the plot further and end with an interesting enough event so that the next edition of the newspaper will be purchased. Not only are the comic strips an art in themselves, but Lichtenstein's selection requires a great deal of sensibility. Then he will proceed to alter his selected image, enlarge it, eliminate details, and choose verbiage that will be an even more typical evaluation of our society. His line drawings are as forceful as any of the old masters, and his compositions possess a great deal of visual impact.

Artists have always reacted to the visual stimulus around them. The vista in an urban environment is not the hills and the dales of previous centuries, but is rather laden with man made structures and objects. For many artists, this is their landscape. Roy Lichtenstein monumentalizes his landscape - the commonplace.

WALKING FOR HEALTH
WASHINGTON--Dr. Gerald Robin, a Chevy Chase, Md., podiatrist, urges Americans to adopt an ancient, forgotten means of transportation --it's called walking. He said that it was one of the best exercises for the entire body, and a perfect way to work off the tensions of the day.

Henry J. Keller, Julie Mercer Exchange Vows

Mrs. Julie Mercer and Henry J. Keller were married April 21 at the First Presbyterian Church in a double ring ceremony with Rev. John Bradshaw saying the vows.

Mrs. Mercer was given in marriage by her son William and was attended by her daughters Julie Anne and Dana, Bruce Calvin Mayes was the bridegroom's best man.

Mrs. Mercer wore a champagne floor length dress and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations with blue accessories and wore a white crown of roses in her hair.

Julie Ann wore a floor length gown of blue and white and carried a long stem white rose, and Dana wore a pink and white floor length gown and carried a long stem pink rose.

The altar of the church was decorated with white carnations and blue mums entwined around a pair of silver candelabra.

Miss Kathryn Theodore lighted the candles prior to the wedding. Mrs. Travis Bailey sang "More" and Mike Morgan played the organ. A buffet dinner was served afterward at 902 N. Terry where Mr. and Mrs. Keller and family will reside.

Browning

County Commissioner
PRECINCT NO. 2

SATURDAY, MAY 4

It is my desire to achieve better communication between the commissioner's position, and the people that I will serve. I feel that a concerned effort needs to be made to do the job the people expect. I feel that NO PROBLEM is TOO SMALL and all questions deserve to be ANSWERED and NOT EVADED, or PUT OFF.

I hope to restore some of the basic faith in the rights of ALL PEOPLE. I intend to bring all the vim, vigor, and vitality I possess to this job. I believe in doing each and every job in the right way.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

There's something new in dentistry, according to officials of the Texas State Health Department. It's called prevention--and it's the top priority of a "new generation" of dentists.

Most people never think of a dentist in terms of prevention. In fact, according to studies made by the U. S. Public Health Service, about two-thirds of the American population don't think of a dentist at all. Health department authorities think that part of the reason may be the image of dentistry in many people's minds. When you think of a dentist, do you think of drilling and filling cavities, pulling teeth, root canals, and other forms of pain and suffering? Many people do. Many people don't go to a dentist at all until they have a toothache or their gums begin to hurt more than they can stand. By that time, there may be little that a dentist can do other than to drill-and-fill, or pull the tooth. And that's too bad.

That kind of dentistry, according to the state health department, is the old dentistry. The new dentistry is prevention--preventing disease, preventing pain, and, most of all, preventing the loss of your natural teeth.

Of course, the scientific and technical skills involved in dental treatment are considerable, but today's young dentist cares more about prevention than he does about extraction. In fact, health authorities say that dentistry today has begun to attract a whole new generation of dentists with a completely new attitude toward their science.

The "new generation" in dentistry is civic minded, idealistic, socially conscious, and concerned for the well-being of everyone in his community. Young dentists are quick to join community dentistry programs, or even start them up, to bring the benefits of modern dentistry to the poor, the isolated, and the underprivileged.

These young dentists have been very active in such projects as converting old buses into mobile dental clinics that bring modern, preventive dentistry into the ghettos and barrios of the central city, or into remote rural areas where dental manpower is spread a little too thin.

The new spirit of community involvement is exemplified by participation of dentists in dental health education programs that have been introduced in the public schools of many Texas communities during the past few years. In many cases, these programs have been initiated by the dentists themselves, working with school teachers and administrators and with public health personnel. It's no longer unusual for a dentist to contribute several days of his time--and sometimes his staff, materials, and facilities--for this purpose. Now there is even a statewide interdisciplinary Committee for Dental Health Education, composed of representatives of local and state dental organizations, dental auxiliaries, public and private school personnel, and public health workers, whose joint purpose is to encourage the inclusion of preventive dental health education in the school curriculum.

All of these efforts are part of the movement in modern dentistry toward preventing disease and the loss of teeth. Today's young dentist feels a strong obligation to alert his fellow man to the possibility of preventing disease, and the dentist knows that he can do more by prevention than he ever could by filling cavities or pulling teeth. Dental health today is much more than a series of stop-gap measures ending with a mouthful of dentures. Dentists know that disease and the loss of natural teeth can be prevented, that in almost every case a person's natural teeth can last throughout their lifetime.

So, state health department authorities say, when you go to your dentist, don't be surprised if he spends most of his time telling you how to care for your teeth, instead of just filling cavities. And, if you follow his advice carefully, you'll be very pleasantly surprised to find that you can keep your teeth healthy and attractive for the rest of your life.

Rockport Firemen's Auxiliary Meets

The Rockport Firemen's Auxiliary met April 23 for their monthly social. President Ivalea Hinz called the meeting to order with eighteen members answering roll call. Guests welcomed were Bridget Chiodo, Beth McNutt, Jason Kelly and Leih Jo Midgett.

Sarah Belle Smith gave a report of the convention held in Portland, April 21.

The drawing for the bicycle was then held with T. Noah Smith, Jr. of Rockport the winner.

Cynthia Chiodo, dance chairman, gave her report. The annual auxiliary dance will be held Saturday, June 29 at Lillian's Danceland with Johnny McBee playing.

After a short business meeting, the president turned the meeting over to the program chairman, Bettye Boddie. She then presented two treasurer chests furnished by Frances Redden and herself and won by Gwyne and Teresa Howland. For the remainder of the evening, bingo and card games were played. Refreshments were served.

Members present were Ivalea Hinz, Joan Truelove, Evalon Redden, Peggy Hunt, Sadie Smith, Mona McNutt, Sarah Belle Smith, Mary Lee Frizzell, Judy Kelly, Teet Mullinax, Bettye Boddie, Cynthia Chiodo, Kathy Ratliff, Gwyne Howland, Teresa Howland, Frances Redden, Kathryn McLester and Terry Roberts. --Terry Roberts, Reporter
