Briscoe Plan Aids Districts, Teachers

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe recommended a $100 million decrease today in the amount local school districts pay for educating 2½ million public school children.

In an address to the special session he called on public school finance, Briscoe also recommended a $300 million salary increase for teachers and the doubling of state equalization money for schools - from $100 million to $200 million.

Also, he said, the legislature must authorize an in-depth study of better ways of determining how much local districts should put into public education.

The local fund assignment now totals $500 million, he said, and this should be lowered to $400 million by the special session.

He said Texans "expect swift action" on an education bill.

Briscoe said he has had more than 500 requests to open the 30-day session to other subjects, but he will not do so "until the matter of public school financing is resolved."

The Senate agreed to meet with the House on Friday to hear complaints against Associate Justice Don Yarbrough of the Texas Supreme Court - complaints that could lead to his removal.

It also scheduled an afternoon hearing on school financing and elected Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, as assistant presiding officer for the special session.

Beaumont lawyer Tanner Hunt Jr. was chosen as Senate parliamentarian for the special session.

The session, limited to 30 days, could be important to Briscoe's re-election bid.

Briscoe - who controls what the legislature may consider in special session - says 210 topics were proposed for the session, but he set aside all but school finance.

He told a news conference Friday he wanted the "entire focus" and "effort" of the legislature centered on that subject.

After that has been handled, he indicated, he might submit other topics for debate.

Atty. Gen. John Hill, the governor's probable opponent in the 1978 Democratic Party primary, said Saturday he was "hopeful" that Briscoe will let lawmakers consider a proposed constitutional amendment providing property tax relief on agriculture land, as well as for homeowners.

Hill will be watching the session closely to see if Briscoe makes mistakes that Hill can use in a possible campaign against the two-term governor.

Briscoe called legislators back to town after they failed in the 140-day session ending May 30 to enact a school finance bill that included teacher pay raises.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock estimates the legislature has $959.8 million to spend, which apparently is enough to cover any of the school proposals being prepared.

Under the state's "pay-as-you-go" provision, the legislature cannot spend more than the comptroller estimates will be available in the treasury, except by a four-fifths vote of the lawmakers.

On Friday, a joint House-Senate session will consider resolutions to remove Yarbrough as associate justice, a job he has held for only 6½ months.

A House resolution cites three counts against Yarbrough: forger, perjury and plotting to commit murder.

The state Judicial Qualifications Commission is to meet Saturday to hear evidence in the case.

Monday update

Peseta Trading Halted

MADRID (AP) -- The Spanish government suspended all foreign exchange trading today and private banking sources said the government was planning to devalue the peseta by 25 to 35 per cent.

The move followed the official Bank of Spain's announcement that it would not set new dollar-peseta rates today. Private banks continued to exchange dollars at the old rate of 69.99 pesetas.

The expectation of a steep devaluation of the Spanish currency was heightened by reports that Premier Adolfo Suarez was meeting with his new cabinet and would announce a new economic program. The government declined to comment on the suspension of trading.

Private banks were told "there is no market" until after the government announced its new program.

Banking sources said the government was preparing a "realistic" devaluation setting the peseta at nearly 100 to the dollar.

Bypass Plan Weighed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)-Oil can be pumped over Alaska's 2,711-foot Thompson Pall, bypassing a blasted out pumping station, but the bypass plan won't allow the trans-Alaska pipeline to keep up with its full production schedule.

Officials of the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. were expected to decide today when they could resume oil movement around the station, an industry source said. The decision hinges on reports from company engineers and federal agencies investigating Friday's blast, which caused no damage to the $7.7 billion pipeline.

Oil flow was halted 30 miles south of Pump Station No. 8 at about mile 518 on the 800-mile line-immediately after the explosion.

The decision to bypass the station would come after the installation of an unspecified piece of equipment flown in Sunday from Houston, the source said.

LPD Retains Majority

TOKYO (AP)-Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda's Liberal Democratic party LDP today managed to retain its majority in the upper house of parliament by enlisting three independents who won seats in Sunday's election.

On its own, the ruling party secured 63 seats with four races still undecided. The Liberal Democrats needed to win 65 of the 126 seats at stake in the House of Councillors to hold on to its majority.

The election had been viewed as a key test of the LDP's strength after a major rebuff in elections for the more powerful lower house last December. The conservative Liberal Democrats have ruled in Japan for 29 years.

Sunday's election was to pick new members for half the seats in the 252-seat upper house. The LDP went into the elections holding 126 seats.

Tower Gets Stake

Texas business interests have staked Republican Sen. John Tower to a $368,000 start in his effort to win re-election next year.

Tower has not formally announced his candidacy, but he has done everything else necessary to get his campaign rolling.

The contributions to Tower came in about equal shares from banking investment interests, oil and gas interests, and general business interests. There were 139 individuals or political action groups which gave $1,000 or more.

Texas Area Flooded

By The Associated Press

Rain heavy enough to cause a flash flood warning for the area around Nacogdoches fell early today as showers and thunderstorms lasted past midnight in parts of East Texas.

There was no report of serious trouble and the National Weather Service wrote the moisture off as generally insignificant. Skies were clear in other sections as a July heat wave stayed firmly in control.

Gusty south winds blew across Northwest Texas at 10 to 20 miles per hour while breezes hitting less that 10 m.p.h. fanned other sections.

Flood Toll At 206

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)-The flood toll in the Seoul area rose to 206 dead today but the number of missing was reduced from 147 to 85 as persons turned up alive and errors in tallying were corrected, the national flood relief center reported.

HIS DAYS—Rusty, who belongs to District Clerk Bonnie Brooks, seems unimpressed with the fact that the calendar says these are "dog days." It was thought by people in ancient times that the conjunction of the Dog Star with the Sun launched a period when dogs were likely to go mad and that this caused a period of intense summer heat. Whatever the cause, the hot weather arrived, but Rusty doesn't seem to be worried about it. (SDN Staff Photo)

Several Prizes Still Unclaimed

Several prizes announced at the July 4th celebration a week ago still have not been claimed.

A number of the prizes were being picked up today following publication of the complete prize list Sunday, and all winners were being urged to come by the Chamber of Commerce office to pick up their prizes.

Meanwhile, it appeared that the 1977 Independence Day celebration wound up well in the black financially. There had been some concern over the financial status of the event after a deficit of some $2,000 was experienced last year. At one time, the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce considered assessing fees for concessions based on their gross receipts.

Ultimately, however, it was decided to continue the donation ticket plan and then when the tractor pull was moved to the rodeo grounds making it possible to charge admission for that event, the situation improved. The tractor pull, which had been responsible for most of the deficit last year, helped the over-all event more than break even this time.

Exact figures are not yet available, since receipts from the carnival via the Snyder Lions Club are not in, but the celebration is in sound financial condition, Chamber officials reported this morning.

Hijackers Free 49

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Two hijackers who seized a Soviet jetliner on a domestic flight released 49 of their hostages in Helsinki today and then were reported to have taken off in a light plane.

The hijackers seized an Aeroflot jet with 79 passengers and crew aboard Sunday evening and demanded that they be flown to Stockholm. But the plane landed in Helsinki, apparently because it had insufficient fuel.

Airport police in Stockholm said the hijackers left Helsinki aboard a Cessna, but their destination was not immediately known. Finnish authorities would not confirm the report.

The report gave no indication whether the hijackers took any hostages on the small plane. Security at the Stockholm international airport was tight because oil ministers were arriving for a meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Commissioners Working On County Budget

Scurry County Commissioners are continuing work on the 1978 county budget and they had a meeting set for 1 p.m. today with the Board of County Development.

The BCD will discuss its budget requests with the commissioners at that time.

The commissioners court had a light business agenda for its session this morning, with most of the morning devoted to approval of routine bills for payment.

Barry Bynum was spokesman for a group which asked the county to look into the possibility of employing a director to oversee softball and baseball activities during the summer months. County Judge Preston Wilson said the commissioners court would discuss the proposal with Jimmy Dyess, park superintendent.

Snythetic Fuels May Be Answer

By CARL MANNING
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Scientists in Nazi Germany were able to make synthetic fuels that could be part of an answer to U.S. energy problems, a chemistry professor told the Interstate Oil Compact Commission conference today.

The 42-year-old oil and natural gas conservation organization is composed of 36 states that either produce, or have the potential of producing, oil or natural gas.

Dr. Richard Wainerdi, a Texas A&M chemistry engineering professor, said German scientists devised ways to use soft coal to make substitutes for natural gas, fuel oil and motor fuel.

"You'd be getting the same thing from coal mines as you now get from oil wells," the professor said. "The costs will be in the right range, especially considering that petroleum prices will be on the rise."

Wainerdi predicted that by the mid 1980s, 65 per cent of the nation's fuel will come from coal, with 30 per cent coming from the synthetic systems devised by the Germans in World War II.

He said a small percentage of abstracted information from the 300,000 captured war documents will be put into the Energy Rsearch and Development Administration's computer system later this month.

The information will have to be updated to take into account new technologies, such as computers, developed after 1945, he said.

"No company in the world knows completely how to do this," he said. "Since we're going to be using symthetics, we don't want to repeat the same mistakes."

Theft, Vandalism Cases Reported

Reports of a theft, several acts of criminal mischief and numerous traffic accidents were investigated during the weekend by city police officers.

Ira Pruitt reported the theft of a paint gun and an air file. The items, valued at approximately $200, were reportedly taken from the Pruitt Body Shop. The incident was reported to police at 9:50 p.m. Sunday.

Four tires were reported stripped from an apparently abandoned 1965 Chevrolet parked about 15 miles north of Snyder on U.S. 180. In addition to the missing wheels, one window in the car was reportedly broken out, according to police reports.

An employe of Hall Drug Store told police that an unknown object was thrown through the windshield of a company-owned delivery truck he was driving Friday night. The incident was reported to police about noon Saturday and is alleged to have occurred near the intersection of 23rd St. and Ave. I. Damage in the incident is set at $150.

The left rear window of a vehicle parked in the 1900 block of 30th st. was allegedly broken out in an apparent act of vandalism. The vehicle, reportedly owned by Leonard Earl Scott, sustained about $100 damage. The incident was reported to police late Sunday night.

Hard To Explain To Americans

Oil Swap Plan Abandoned

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter is abandoning a swap of Alaskan oil with Japan partly because he would have a tough time explaining such a move to American consumers long warned of an energy crisis.

James Schlesinger, the president's chief energy adviser, disclosed Sunday that Carter decided it would be wrong to send Alaskan oil to Japan in exchange for Japanese-bought oil shipped from the Persian gulf to states on the Gulf Coast and the Eastern Seaboard.

The proposal was among several under consideration for handling the daily surplus of 500,000 barrels a day expected at West Coast refineries once oil starts flowing at full capacity through the newly opened trans-Alaska pipeline.

Schlesinger's remarks came on NBC's "Meet the Press."

He acknowledged it would be difficult to justify the export to Americans who have repeatedly been told of the need to conserve fuel.

"As a consequence, there will be no exchanges; all of the oil coming out of Alaska will have to shipped to the states," he said. Schlesinger said Carter decided to abandon the proposal last Monday.

The U.S.-Japanese oil swap had been touted by some administration and oil industry officials as a means of cutting the cost of transporting Alaskan oil to Eastern and Southern refineries. Those officials said such an arrangement could cut as much as $1 to $1.50 a barrel from the cost of transporting Alaskan oil east on tankers through the Panama Canal.

But, said Schlesinger, "We are unable to demonstrate clear-cut savings to the consumers...On balance, the President has reviewed the matter and he believes the swaps would be undesirable —partly on political grounds, partly for other technical reasons."

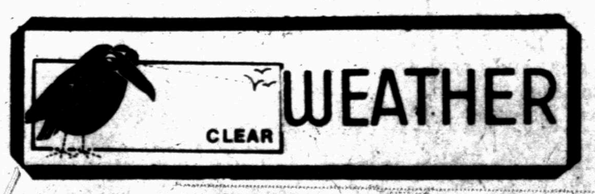

The administration is believed to favor building pipelines to carry surplus Alaskan oil to markets in the Midwest. Schlesinger and Carter's decision to keep Alaskan oil in the United States should encourage that development.

In Anchorage, trans-Alaska pipeline officials said Sunday they hoped to resume pumping oil within days. The flow was halted Friday night after a fire knocked out a pumping station near Fairbanks.

Meanwhile, House Republican Leader John Rhodes said Sunday he doesn't believe Congress is any mood to give the President broad standby authority to impose a gasoline rationing program.

He appeared on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Rhodes renewed GOP criticism of the Carter energy program. He said a Republican plan to allow gas, oil an coal to find their own price levels in a free market makes greater sense than the administration's advocacy of more stringent controls on prices.

search for equality

A writer in a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal stated the case for abolishing the corporation income tax and transferring liability to individual shareholders. Basis of the proposal is that corporation profits are taxed twice. The corporation pays on net gains and shareholders pay as individuals on dividends received.

This means a dollar in corporation profits swindles to possibly as little as 30 cents by the time it is spendable income for shareholders. Writer of the Wall Street Journal article advocates abolishing the corporation income tax as essential to equity in income tax liability. It does seem logical. But serious administrative problems would be encountered in trying to apply the idea.

Shareholders might have difficulty raising money from other sources to pay their income tax on corporation profits retained in the business. And what about deductions for support of dependents, gifts to charity, interest and capital losses? Government need for money is so great such a thing as equity must be ignored. IRS agents must latch onto every unencombered dollar they can locate in order to pay cost of the welfare state.

The scheme of our expert friend might have been feasible if it had been applied in the beginning of taxation of income as a source of public revenue.

In looking for equality, it would seem more logical to make corporate dividends deductible for the business since the individual must indeed pay taxes on those dividends received.

Not only would it be a move of equity, but it would be a great stimulus for the economy as a whole.

zeroing in on aliens

The latest warning against illegal aliens comes from Zero Population Growth, a group that hopes to end population growth in this country by the year 2008.

ZPG points out that unless something is done there will be an additional 25 million illegal aliens in the United States by the year 2000 and additional 55 million by the year 2025.

There are differences of opinion, of course, on whether ZPG's no-growth goals are realistic, or even desirable. But there's not much doubt that illegal immigration is a serious social and economic problem.

It's a problem that won't be resolved until Congress and the Carter administration find some way to prevent illegal aliens - many of them Mexicans - from crossing the border and going to work for American companies without challenge or restrictions of any kind.

consumer unpredictable

NEW YORK (AP)-The biggest guessing game in economic circles today is what the consumer will be doing in the marketplace over the next few months.

Nobody really can say with certainty. No economist can admit that to be the case.

After painfully hacking one's way through tangled acres of analyses and great silos of statistics, about the only possible conclusion that can be reached is that, yes, it is just a guessing game.

And yet the guesses must be made, because the expansion's continuation depends on consumer buying attitudes. Food, clothing, automobile, furniture production schedules demand such information.

The conventional view is that consumer buying has done its job of getting the economy moving forward and that now it must take a rest while business spends to expand its plant and equipment.

Business investment has been slow to pick up, however, causing every analyst in America to return to the statistics in hopes that some additional source of energy can be found in the consumer area.

Some are finding it, some aren't.

Citibank, second largest commercial bank in the nation, "sees no reason why consumer markets should not continue to advance throughout the remainder of 1977," according to its publication "Economic Week."

Chase, the third largest, sees a "slowdown coming in consumer buying." It's publication, "International Finance," for corporate customers and correspondent banks, gives this analysis:

"It is not likely that the consumer share of Gross National Product rather high at about 65 per cent will rise further, and probable that it will begin to drop back. That is, consumer spending in the next year or two will rise, at most, about as fast as total GNP."

Most attempts to dope out what the consumer will do focus on the rate of savings, which fell to a very low level of 4.8 per cent of income in the first quarter of 1977, compared to a more normal 6.5 to 7 per cent.

Those who foresee a slowdown in consumer spending are inclined to base at least part of their argument on the assumption that a return to a more typical savings pattern is almost inevitable.

Others are less certain.

Golden Sachs, the securities firm, even wonders if a new pattern of less saving might be developing because of a shift in population "toward the relatively young and old who tend to be dissavers, and the increasing role of social insurance programs, which reduces the need for some personal savings."

The level of consumer debt is also a focus of analyses.

As Citibank puts it, "Consumers have been on a borrowing spree since January," with the volume of credit extended breaking records in several months of 1977.

DETOIT (AP)—South African heart surgeon Dr. Christiaan Barnard will retire in a year or two because his hands are severely crippled by arthritis, according to the Detroit News.

In an interview appearing in Sunday's editions, Barnard said his hands are almost useless in the delicate human heart transplants he pioneered on Dec. 3, 1967.

in washington

martha angle and robert walters

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Although Congress is belated reclaiming its constitutional authority to act in partnership with the president in determining foreign policy, too little attention is being paid to a 1972 law which could further simplify that task.

The statute requires that when the executive branch of the United States government enters into any international agreement, a copy of that document must be transmitted to Congress within 60 days after it takes effect.

There never should have been any need for the law because the Constitution is quite explicit in stating that the president "shall have the power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur..."

But the 1960s and early 1970s saw the rapid growth of an item which evaded the obvious intent of that language - "executive agreements" signed by the president but withheld from Congress on the grounds that they technically weren't treaties.

The 1972 law designed to remedy that situation was sponsored by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., the ranking minority member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., chairman of the House International Relations Committee.

A study conducted by the Senate committee provides striking evidence of what Case has described as "a marked failure by the executive branch last year to comply with" the law.

Specifically, 440 agreements were forwarded to Congress in 1976, but 171 of them were late. That's a 39 per cent delinquency rate - and 8 per cent of the documents were sent to Capitol Hill more than a year late.

The situation has deteriorated further this year. In May, the Senate committee received a copy of an agreement with West Germany which had been in force since December 1974 - more than two years before Congress was allowed to examine it.

The committee's analysis doesn't even include secret agreements which are never sent to Congress. Among the notable items in that category are former President Richard M. Nixon's communications with the governments of North and South Vietnam at the close of the war in Indochina.

Two letters sent by Nixon to the Saigon government, in November 1972 and January 1973, didn't surface until Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., publicly complained in April 1975 about the "secret agreements."

That document suggested that this country was prepared to provide "$3.25 billion of grant aid over five years" plus another $1 billion or $1.5 billion in "other forms of aid."

The Nixon commitment also noted that the aid program would be implemented by this country "in accordance with its own constitutional provisions." As the graduate of any high school civics course knows, that means the money had to be authorized and appropriated by Congress.

But Nixon never even revealed to Congress the existence of the commitment. A delegation of House members first heard about it during a December 1975 visit to Hanoi, and Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y., spent months after returning to Washington in a search for the document.

"I knew that an agreement existed, but there were no copies in the State Department files. Then I was told it was in Nixon's sealed files. I kept scrounging around and finally found a copy," recalls Wolff.

"It's an utterly incredulous situation," adds Wolff. "Here we had an agreement which clearly required congressional approval for the expenditure of billions of dollars - but it was never even brought to the attention of Congress."

growing older

by lou cottin

When we senioragers were young, the United States was truly a land of opportunity. The words "free enterprise" really described the economic system. A poor boy could become rich a la Horatio Alger. During most of the first half of this century, native-born Americans dared to leave their jobs and strike out on their own, as small businessmen, artisans and small farmers.

Alas, a great many of these private businesses failed to survive the Depression, or were bought up by larger firms. By the end of World War II, the significant areas of the economy were in the hands of the big corporations. Large chains took over retailing. Big department stores put the "momma and papa" food and specialty stores out of business.

Mergers brought together the basic sectors of production from steel to transportation to public utilities. Agribusiness reduced the number of family farms. The "free enterprise" system, as we knew it, was frayed around the edges. The concept of competition was eroded. Product quality declined. Prices were set or "administered" by the dominant corporation in the critical areas in which life and comfort were sustained.

We seniors, of course, are justly proud of the productive capacity of our country. We enjoy many comforts that weren't around in our younger days. We know that we contributed more than our share to our nation's growth. Many of us, therefore, consider ourselves "conservatives," both ideologically and politically. We accept the status quo.

But the status quo is not working very well for older Americans. Conservative principles aim to expand the power and profit of the dominant corporations. Social services reduce profits by increasing corporate taxes. The effort of the conservative movements is to limit social services by reducing the money allotted to social projects.

When, for example, Lockheed Aircraft was in financial straits, a loan was forthcoming. New York City, in similar trouble, was helped only on condition that social services would be cut. Education, police protection, medical facilities and other "people" assistance was reduced.

Senior activists believe that the business of government is people, not business, not profits. This is the opposite of conservatism, as expressed by Calvin Coolidge's line, "the business of America is business." Ours is not essentially a political position. Partisan politics is not our concern. Both major parties carry out the mandates of people as expressed through the elected administration and the Congress. What moves us is the humanity or lack of humanity of elected officials.

A tilt toward conservative thinking costs us dearly. The majority of elder citizens are poor. We live on fixed incomes. Social-minded government pushes toward more help to make life safer, more comfortable, more dignified for seniors. Conservative government gives us as little as possible.

It is clear that under conservative political dominance the drive for profit demands sacrifice by people. We older Americans are no longer permitted to work. We do not contribute by our labor to the making of profit by the corporations. Services to the aging are therefore considered a threat to the free enterprise system. When we claim credit for our years of work before retirement, we are asked, "What have you done for us lately?" Logic demands that older Americans stop thinking and voting as conservatives.

Of course, if you don't agree, it's your privilege to disregard this column. Don't bother to read it.

Garden Vegetable Medley

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

It is time to consider putting up garden vegetables as the home growing season gets into full swing.

Those who haven't planted a garden may be lucky recipients of surplus vegetables from friends and neighbors. Also, summer is a good time for day-trippers to pick up fresh produce from roadside stands. By planning ahead you can freeze a variety of vegetables for use during the week, when there is no time to shop and you're in the mood for a vegetable dish, and for use in late fall and early winter.

FREEZE YOUR own garden vegetables in a medley with butter sauce.

A garden vegetable medley may include many different taste combinations — zucchini, carrots, green beans and onions; corn, tomatoes, green peppers and green beans or broccoli, cauliflower, carrots and onions. Pack these for freezing with a butter sauce dressing. When serving, reheat with different seasonings such as dill weed, mint, orange or lemon peel, almonds or walnuts. Each brings its own special flavoring to your basic garden vegetable medley.

GARDEN VEGETABLE MEDLEY

- 4 quarts (1 gallon) water
- 2 pounds zucchini, unpared, cut into 12-inch slices
- 1 pound carrots, washed, pared and cut into 12-inch pieces
- 1 pound green beans, washed, trimmed and cut into 2-inch pieces
- 4 medium onions, sliced, cut slices into quarters

Pour water into large kettle, bring to a boil over high heat. Place 1 pound zucchini in a cooking basket. Plunge into rapidly boiling water, when water returns to a rolling boil, cook 3 minutes, remove basket and plunge immediately into ice water for 3 minutes. Repeat procedure for remaining zucchini. Repeat procedure for carrots and green beans, 1 pound at a time, reducing time to 2 minutes for blanching and ice water bath. Combine all vegetables in a large bowl. Pack into 8 (1 pint) freezer containers, leaving one-half inch headspace. Add 2 tablespoons Butter Sauce to each container. Freeze. To serve, place 1 pint frozen vegetables in large saucepan, add 1 cup water. Simmer over medium heat, separating vegetables with a fork and stirring frequently until sauce is blended. Stir in one-eighth teaspoon dried dill weed. Reduce heat. Cover and simmer 3 to 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

BUTTER SAUCE

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 3 teaspoons flavor enhancer
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- 4 packets (.19 ounces each) powdered chicken flavored broth
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg

In medium saucepan, melt butter over low heat. Remove from heat, stir in remaining ingredients. To serve, in a saucepan, place 1 pint frozen vegetables and 1 cup water. Bring to a full boil over medium heat, separating vegetables with a fork and stirring frequently until sauce is blended. Season with one-eighth teaspoon dill weed. Reduce heat. Cover and simmer 3 to 5 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

Other Combinations: Green beans, broccoli, chopped onion, mushrooms; cauliflower, carrots, green beans, onions; carrots, peas, green beans, cauliflower; corn, tomatoes, green peppers; green beans or broccoli, cauliflower, carrots, onions.

Suggested Seasonings: Dill weed, chives, mint, parsley, oregano, thyme; almonds, walnuts; orange or lemon peel or packaged broth seasonings.

Choose Swimsuit According To Use

FORT COLLINS, Col (AP)-The use to which it will be put is important in choosing a swimsuit, says Mildred Crawford, assistant professor of textiles and clothing with the Colorado State University Cooperative Extension Service.

A one-piece maillot or tank suit made of a stretch fabric, for example, would be the best choice for the woman who plans to do a lot of swimming and diving, since it offers the greatest ease of movement and has little chance of slipping out of place.

On the other hand, she says, for persons who intend mainly to sunbathe, a swimsuit that exposes the maximum amount of skin area, such as a bikini, would be suitable, provided that it looked good on the figure.

She points out that fabrics from synthetic fibers, such as nylon, polyester or acrylic, dry much faster than those made form natural fibers, such as cotton or wool.

A great accompaniment to many hot weather meals is cucumber relish. Let one unpeeled, thinly sliced cucumber stand in 2 tablespoons vinegar and 2 tablespoons of water with ½ teaspoon salt for a least 30 minutes. Combine ½ cup plain yogurt, 1 teaspoon sugar and 2 tablespoons chopped green onion. Cover and chill. Just before serving, drain cucumber; gently fold in yogurt mixture.

Crape Myrtle Enhances Landscape

COLLEGE STATION--Delicate blossoms of the crape myrtle can enhance any Texas landscape. The crape myrtle's silky petals and gently sculptured trunks bring a softened look to the most rugged areas.

"Surprisingly, this tree can withstand the long hot summers and rather droughty conditions," points out Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cold weather in the northern part of Texas may freeze crape myrtles, but they usually sprout up from the roots and provide summer color.

Along with the rainbow of colors from purple to white, the crape myrtle also comes in dwarf sizes. These compact trees are excellent for mass plantings and will produce an abundance of blooms with heavy winter pruning.

"To assure growth of this graceful tree, full sunlight and a well-drained soil are essential. Although a complete fertilizer used once a year is recommended many species will survive in abandoned areas," says the specialist.

The biggest enemy of the crape myrtle is powdery midew. But this is rarely a problem where the trees are located away from shaded places.

New crape myrtle plants can be propagated from cutting taken in early winter, adds Welch.

"Crape myrtles contribute greatly to the beauty of home and metropolitan landscapes. They are quickly becoming the almost perfect designer tree," contends the horticulturist.

Opening lead — K♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "One of the hardest things for a student to learn is that you just don't lead dummy's strong suit. A good student will learn this fact of bridge life in a year or so. Then it may take him years, or even forever, before he finds the occasional exception to this rule."

Oswald: "Today's hand shows one of the exceptions. East wins the second club with the ace and tries to see where two more tricks will come from. He reviews the bidding and concludes that South will have solid spades and the ace of diamonds. Suppose he was dealt six spades, four diamonds, one heart and two clubs the lead of a heart will cut communications. East leads the heart!"

Jim: "It was also essential that West hold the queen of diamonds for this play to work, which he does. The heart lead allowed South to get one diamond discard on a heart, but that was all. If East had not led dummy's suit, South would have had time to draw trumps, get two diamond discards and win the rubber."

Ask the Jacobys

A Montana reader asks what we bid in standard American after opening one spade with: ♠ A Qxxx ♥ A Kxxx ♦ Kx ♣ x after receiving a jump raise to three spades from partner.

This is a perfect spot for Blackwood. Bid four notrump with every intention of going to six if partner shows an ace and thinking of seven if he shows two.

Reagan Is Optimistic At Republican Rally

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP)- Republicans should stop "factionalizing and giving each other political saliva test," former California Gov. Ronald Reagan has told a meeting of 3,000 GOP faithful at the Henry County fairgrounds.

Reagan, whose presidential campaign trail through Ohio last year has hardly cooled, appeared at what was billed as a "Republican Revivalism" rally with GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes and other state party leaders.

Exuding optimism, despite his party's setbacks in Ohio and across the nation in 1976-Reagan lost the Ohio primary to Gerald Ford although he won about 46 per cent of the votes-the conservative Californian said Republicans have an excellent chance to rebuild.

Among other things, the 67-year-old former movie actor said at the session the GOP should welcome ethnics and minority groups, giving them leadership positions in a party that represents only about 25 per cent of the voters.

"We must stop factionalizing and giving each other political saliva tests," he declared.

Republicans would do well to rebuild for a party that espouses the principles of the 1976 GOP national platform, he asserted. Much of that document was written by the Reagan campaign forces.

At a news conference earlier, he said it was too early to say whether he might try again for president in 1980. "I don't rule anything in and I don't rule anything out," he said adding that there may be "a whole new cast on stage by then."

He listed as GOP principles such things as equal opportunity with the "opportunity to become unequal," compassion for those unable to care for themselves, and work on public projects for the abled bodied who are on welfare.

Also, he said Republicans believe in the free market place, that Communism is the enemy of mankind, and that busing does not work.

Reagan asserted "our party is the party of Main Street, we are little Americans, we make the country work, make it run."

Solution Weighed On Soviet Eavesdropping

By Janes Gerstenzang
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter, concerned about Soviet eavesdropping on telephone calls in the United States, will soon be given several proposals to preserve the secrecy of classified communications.

The President is expected to decide by the end of the summer how to protect such calls, one source said Sunday.

The problems stems from the relative ease with which the Soviet Union is reportedly listening in electronically, from properties it owns in Washington and elsewhere in the United States, on telephone calls transmitted through the air by microwave.

The advent of advanced computers has simplified the process considerably because the equipment can quickly sort through the various calls, selecting particular information.

"It is a problem and we're trying to figure out what to do about it," one White House official said.

"But when you start to talk about it, you tell the other people how much you know about what they are doing."

A former U.S. government official, asked about the study now being done for the President by a government task force, said only that it involved classified material and was "not something we should talk about on the telephone."

Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihal, D-N.Y., concerned about the same problem, said the Carter administration should demand that the Russians stop the eavesdropping. He said the Russians are violating the rights of American citizens on U.S. soil.

Carter has been briefed on the problem by Zbigniew Brzezinski, his national security adviser, and by Stansfield Turner, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The task force report is still being drafted, one source said.

Another said the study involved "every government agency interested in intercepting messages or in not being intercepted." But he would not identify the agencies involved.

Crabs Bring Top Price In Capital

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— Seafood dealers say blue crabs are finally becoming plentiful this season but crab connoisseurs along the Gulf Coast may miss out on the pick of the crop.

Many of the largest crabs, the ones that measure at least six inches tip to tip, are being shipped to the Washington, D.C., area where they bring a better price, said Harlon Pearce of Battistella's Seafood in New Orleans.

Pearce said Atlantic Coast wholesalers are paying up to $50 plus air freight for a hamper of crabs that would bring $14 in Louisiana.

"We just can't compete with prices like that. People in other places are willing to pay so much for our seafood that it's too expensive for us," another dealer said.

But Pearce and other dealers agreed that the blue crab, whose debut this season was delayed by an unusually cold winter, is finally being to appear.

They said that one indication of the increased supply has been the decline in prices. A hamper that sold for $22 in May, the normal start of the crab season, is down to $14 and flake and body meat that sold for $4.75 a pound has come down to $3 a pound, they said.

The onslaught can't come too soon for the Lafitte Crab Co., where a spokesman said crab meat processing has been shut down for two weeks because the crabs are too "skinny."

"There just ain't no money in them skinny crabs," the spokesman said.

Your Birthday

July 12, 1977

This coming year you may be able to rework or revise something you had tagged as unproductive. Don't give up on a project in which you've invested a lot of time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Gentle tactics won't suffice today in trying to collect on a long-standing debt. You can be firm without being too demanding. To find out more of what lies ahead for you send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A friend is mismanaging something. You should try to get him back on an even keel, using as much tact as possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There are career opportunities today, but you may have to expose a nonproducer to gain them. You can cover for a goldbrick only so long.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Should your friends have better ideas than you do today, don't try to shoot these down just because you didn't come up with them first.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In commercial dealings today, your position may be stronger than you realize. Don't be afraid to dicker if you don't like the first price.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In one-to-one relationships today, things may not be settled as ideally as you hoped. Be pragmatic enough to accept that you can't always have your own way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Some sacrifice may be necessary today in an area where you felt most of the burdens would fall on others. It's essential to your success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Manage your own affairs today if you expect desirable results. Entrusting things to others leaves too many loose ends.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Matters that affect the family today must be handled for the good of everyone, not just to pacify a particular member.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Decisions today should be based on reality and logic. There's a possibility wishful thinking could enter in if you'd let it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An unbudgeted, but necessary, household expense may come up today. You can't avoid it, but you can keep the cost down by shopping wisely.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You may be anxious to discuss a serious matter with friends today. Don't confide in one who has twisted your words in the past.

Hard Luck Story True

SEATTLE (AP)—A hitchhiker who conned a Seattle police detective out of $3 last April found the same hard-luck story doesn't work twice - not when it's told to the same person.

Detective Douglas Dills says a 42-year-old hitchhiker gave him a hard luck story, saying he had just arrived from California, didn't have a penny in his pocket and hadn't eaten for three days.

The hitchhiker said he was looking for a job but nothing had turned up.

Dills gave the man $3.

Last Friday, the two met again and the hitchhiker repeated his plea. This time Dills arrested the man on a charge of soliciting for private gain.

Dills told the man one part of his story seemed true - he definitely had bad luck.

Rockerfellers Entertain Empress

WASHINGTON (AP)— Empress Farah of Iran is visiting the capital city for a round of informal visits, including lunch with the first lady, Rosalynn Carter.

Saturday she was entertained by former Vice President and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller at their country estate in Pocantico Hills north of New York City and later attended a dinner party at the Waldorf Towers.

WTC Players Grab Earl Fish Invitational

Terry Kendrick of Perryton, who staged some top golf exhibitions playing for Western Texas College this year, teamed with WTC ex Danny Walters to shoot a 14-under 126 in the annual Earl Fish Memorial Tournament here over the weekend.

Walters, a former Regional medalist and participant in the 1974 National Tournament, and Kendrick placed a first-day 60 despite threatening overhead clouds at Snyder Country Club Course.

Weather held however, and ideal conditions persisted throughout the two-day meet. The Perryton-Abilene duo faltered at four under 66 the second day, but their initial round was enough to claim first place in the Championship Flight.

Mark Hargrove and Dave Foster, Western Texas exes, combined for a second place 128. Also WTC experienced golfers, Bryan Hargrove and Miller Scott shot a ten-under 130 for third place.

Robert Mills and Kerry Wood took the President's Flight with a 133, tying with Joe Torres and Marlin Torres. In sudden death action, Wood eagled on the first green, securing the blue ribbon for Mills-Wood.

Howard Crenshaw and Pop Kidd placed third in the President's Flight with a 137.

Wrapping up the first Flight were Jay Kidd and Eddie Peterson with a 134. Paul Russell and Jerry Stags shot one off with a 135, followed by Graham Addison and Ron Butler's 139.

John Reed and Mike Reed took Second Flight honors with a 143, followed by Van Francis and Mike Patterson with a 144, and Joe Williamson and Russell Yorgeson with a 147.

Billy Wayne Harris and Larry Hildreth led the Third Flight with a 145. Gary Laughlin and Ron Reedier shot a 147, and Pete Green and Lanny Wadleigh earned third place with a 148.

Kelly and O.K. Fletcher managed a 155 for the Fourth Flight lead, followed by Gene Dow and Randy Mack with a 159, and John Noble and Andy Rhodes with an equal 159.

Cubs Bring Sutter, Split With Cardinals

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Right-hander Bruce Sutter struck out three batters in the two innings he worked as the Cubs battled from behind to win 4-3 after losing the opener 8-3 to the Cards.

Larry Biittner opened the eighth inning of the nightcap with a double and scored on Steve Ontiveros' tie-breaking single to give the Cubs the victory. In the opener, Ted Simmons' two-run homer and four singles by Keith Hernandez paced St. Louis' 15-hit attack.

Astros 6, Reds 5

Pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson snapped a tie with an eighth-inning run-scoring single to cap Houston's comeback victory over Cincinnati. Jose Cruz' solo homer leading off the eighth had tied the score for Houston, which trailed by four runs. Enos Cabell then singled, was sacrificed to second, took third on a groundout and scored on Ferguson's hit.

Joe Morgan slammed a three-run homer for Cincinnati in the first and added a RBI grounder in the seventh.

Padres 7-5, Dodgers 5-4

A pair of two-run homers by Dave Winfield and George Hendrick's run-scoring single in the nightcap gave San Diego its second straight ninth-inning winning rally. Mike Ivie singled home Hendrick in the ninth inning of the opener to snap a tie and lead the Padres to victory.

Rick Sawyer, 5-5, who faced just one batter, got the second-game victory, while Rollie Fingers, who got the win in opener, was credited with his 19th save.

In the first game, Dusty Baker and Johnny Oates each belted two-run homers for the Dodgers before the Padres made their comeback.

Pirates 5-12, Phillies 1-10

Pittsburgh swept both ends of a doubleheader with Philadelphia. Phil Garner led off the opener with a home run and rapped a key three-run double in the nightcap.

Giants 5-12, Braves 2-5

Mets 2, Expos 1

Rangers Pick Up Fifth In A Row

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)-Relief catcher John Ellis hit a two-run double and Bert Blyleven held California to one run in seven innings to lead the Texas Rangers to a 4-2 victory Sunday night.

It was the Rangers' fifth straight victory and the Angels' fifth consecutive loss.

Blyleven, 7-9, gave up Bobby Bonds 18th homer and then blanked the Angels until he was relieved by Nelson Briles in the eighth.

Ellis broke up a 2-1 duel between Blyleven and loser Ken Brett, 6-7, with his run-producing double in the fifth.

Red-Sox 8-7, Brewers 5-3

Rick Burleson's single and triple sparked Boston's 11-inning comeback victory in the first game and George Scott's 25th homer triggered a four-run second in the nightcap. The Red Sox won the opener despite stranding 20 runners, tying the major league record for an 11-inning game.

Orioles 6, Yankees 0

Ross Grimsley maintained his hex over New York with a five-hitter, defeating the Yankees for the fifth time in six decisions over the past two seasons. Meanwhile, rookie Eddie Murray drove in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly, Billy Smith slammed a two-run triple and Kiko Garcia and Doug DeCinces swatted RBI doubles.

Tigers 6, White Sox 5

Pitcher Dave Hamilton's wild throw to third base on a attempted force play in the bottom of the 10th inning-Chicago's fourth error-allowed the winning run to score and enabled the Tigers to end the White Sox' nine-game winning streak. Tom Veryzer was safe on a throwing error by shortstop Alan Bannister to begin the 10th, Ron LeFlore walked and Tito Fuentes laid down a bunt which Hamilton fielded but threw wildly past third.

Twins 15, Mariners 0

Roy Smalley drove in four runs with a pair of doubles, Dan Ford homered and Geoff Zahn fired a three-hitter for his first victory in almost two months. Zahn, who had lost six decisions since beating Cleveland on May 16, faced just two batters over the minimum, while the Twins banged out 16 hits and took advantage of nine walks by three Seattle pitchers, as well as four errors.

Blue Jays 5, Indians 3

Doug Rader slammed a two-run homer and Steve Staggs hit a two-run single as Toronto snapped a five-game losing streak. Rookie pitcher Jeff Byrd, who gave up all the Cleveland runs in six innings plus, gained his first major league victory with help from Pete Vuckovich.

Snyder Trio Qualify For State Meet

Three Snyder boys have qualified for the State AAU Track Meet to be held at Gregory-Portland School near Corpus Christi, July 23.

Clay Peterson, Jeff Terry and Lloyd Benson placed in the top two positions of their events at Saturday's Borger AAU Relays.

Peterson qualified in the 100 dash and 330 intermediate hurdles (second place) and Jeff Terry turned a first place in the high hurdles in the senior division to make the state meet. In the intermediate division, Lloyd Benson placed second in the 440.

July 16, the summer track group, under direction of SHS track Coach Winfred Shipp, will attend the TAAF Qualifiers Meet in Lubbock.

Others competing at Borger were Eddie Witcher with a third place in the two mile run, and Benson with a third in the 220.

In junior division, which does not continue into state competition, Barry Blackmon took firsts in the high jump and 220; Glenn Parham took third in the high jump, first in the long jump and fourth in the 220; and Tracy Loyola placed third in the long jump.

The 440 midget relay team of Kyle Freeman, Tommy Holliday, Chad Peterson and Mat Neff placed sixth.

Watson Takes Open With 'Fantastic' 15th

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)-Tom Watson will not forget "Ca Canny"-the 15th hole on Turnberry's Ailsa golf course.

That was where he rolled in a 60-foot putt from well off the green to the amazed cheers of the 2,000-strong gallery, and started the charge that won him his second British Open golf title.

"It has to be the most important shot of the tournament for me," Watson said. "Maybe it was the most important shot of my life."

Watson's incredible putt got him level with Jack Nicklaus in their head-to-head duel as runaway leaders in the title race Saturday-just as it seemed the old master might be ready to pull away. Two holes later another birdie at the 500 -yard 17th-hole the locals call the "Lang Whang"-put him in the lead.

Watson and his Scottish caddie Alfie Fyldes kept up a running conversation as he hung on to Nicklaus in the historic duel-one of the most exciting battles Scottish golf fans had ever seen.

"If you could make this one, sir," Fyldes said as Watson studied his long putt from off the 15th green.

"I don't believe he really thought I could make it," Watson said, "but I did."

At the 18th Nicklaus had to sink a 60-footer to keep his hopes alive.

"Alfie, he's going to hole this one," Watson told his caddie. "We've just got to make our little one."

Nearly 20,000 people roared as Nicklaus' putt went. Watson then had to hole his putt from two feet to be champion and coolly went through with the job.

The head-to-head duel had gone on through the last two days of the tournament. In those two rounds Watson shot a total of 130 and Nichlaus made 131.

No such golf had ever been seen in the British Open, which started 117 years ago.

Watson's final round of 65 gave him a 12-under-par, four-round total of 268, while Nicklaus finished with 269. Both shattered the tournament record.

Hubert Green, U.S. Open champion, finished third, 10 strokes behind Nicklaus.

COAL VALLEY, Ill.-Mike Morley put together a string of four straight birdies Sunday to overtake Victor Regalado and win the $125,000 Quad Cities Open golf tournament with a 17-under-par 267.

AUSTIN, Tex.-Harold Solomon, the little man who hates to go to the net, did just that Sunday and whipped Dick Stockton 6-4, 6-4 for the right to play Ken Rosewall in September for a $60,000 first prize in the Tournament of Champions.

Greens 9, Seniors 4

Connie Weber scattered five hits defensively, then added two doubles from the batter's box as the Greens dropped the Roughneck-Hotshots Saturday night.

Kim Harlin added three singles to Connie's effort, and Robyn Harlin knocked one, to complete the Green six-hit stand.

Sharon Halford powered a pair of doubles for the Seniors, and teammate Shelly Nutt added one, but a half-dozen errors eroded an early Hotshot lead. Tammy Ashworth, losing pitcher, slapped a pair of singles.

Cardinals 9, Rangerettes 2

Debbie Orona and Nixie Brewster each powered a pair of singles as the Cards downed the Rangerettes in MSA play over the weekend. Single-hitting for the winners were Shari Tucker, Tina Herrley, Kelly Warren and Lisa Walker, pitcher.

Susie Lee blasted a home run, a double and a triple for the losers. Single-hitting were Andra Blackard, Teresa Zamora, Sabrina Robinson, Kami Burkett and Vicki Glasscock. Christy Ballard was the losing pitcher.

Medicine for gout

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing to you in regards to Zyloprim, used to treat gout. Would you comment on the side effects of this drug and what it actually does for the body? In addition, does taking it a prolonged time have any harmful effect? A friend of mine has been on this medicine for eight years. His physician states the gout crystals take a long time to form and therefore a long time to disappear.

DEAR READER — Zyloprim is the trade name for allopurinol. Gout, gouty arthritis and kidney stones caused by gout (not other types of kidney stones) are all caused by an overproduction of uric acid by your own body cells.

By decreasing an individual's tendency to form excessive amounts of uric acid, the kidneys are often able to gradually clear and keep the body cleared of uric acid salts. This prevents acute gout attacks and gouty arthritis. I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-3, (Gout, Uric Acid) to give you a more complete discussion of gout. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Zyloprim is not used to relieve the acute attack of gout. It is used after the acute attack is over to prevent another one. I am happy to say it is a fairly safe medicine. Almost all medicines do have some side effects. I don't know a single one that doesn't. Zyloprim may cause a skin rash and if it does the doctor must be seen at once. Rarely it causes digestive upsets. Doctors like to monitor the blood count to be sure there is no adverse response there. Everyone on this medicine needs good supervision but they should get that anyway because of the gout. I'm sure that since your friend has been taking this medicine eight years, apparently without trouble, that he is not likely to have any difficulties with it.

If he stops taking the medicine his body cells will start producing excess uric acid again in about two weeks and eventually he will be exposing himself to the complications of gout.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please don't recommend Motrin. My father and a close friend both developed ulcers from taking it for arthritis. They are both on Tylenol now.

DEAR READER — I am including your comment in my column to remind people that Motrin is not 100 per cent safe. No medicine is. Aspirin may also cause irritation and even bleeding from the stomach. Some people cannot tolerate Tylenol for different reasons.

The doctor needs to decide what is best for each patient's condition. In many arthritics ordinary aspirin is as safe and as good a medicine as other, more expensive pain relievers.

Incidentally I noted a printing error in my column as it was reproduced in your newspaper. Tylenol is useful to relieve pain but it is useless, NOT useful in relieving inflammation. Larger doses of aspirin, prescribed under a doctors supervision, will relieve inflammation. I hasten to add that some popular commercials about asprin relieving inflamation are misleading. Aspirin does not have this effect, regardless of what your TV says, unless it is taken in larger doses than usually recommended for the simple relief of pain.

Dr. Lamb answers representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper.

Winner Credits Self-Discipline

FORT WORTH (AP)— The new Miss Texas, Lori Ann Smith, credits self-discipline as the difference between winning this year and finishing second runner-up in 1976.

"A year of self-discipline has made the difference," said Miss Smith, 20, who represented the Haltom-Richland area. She said she has exercised and lifted weights daily at a health spa in the months following the 1976 pageant.

The ashe blonde Miss Smith was crowned Miss Texas Saturday night. She will represent Texas in the annual Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J., in September.

"I am excited and honored," she told a Sunday news conference.

She had won the preliminary swimsuit competition Thursday night and sang to win the preliminary talent event on Wednesday.

The new Miss Texas, who lives in North Richland Hills, is 5-8, 118-pounds and measures 35-23-35. She has transferred from Southern Methodist University, where she will be a junior.

Last year's Miss Texas Pageant was her first attempt at winning the crown.

The first runner-up selected Saturday night was Miss Irving, Margie Lynn Hooper, 22.

The second runner-up was Miss West Texas, Kristi Lynn Kesy, 20, of Pecos, Miss East Texas, Marta Christine Szaran of Center, was the third runner-up and Miss Dallas County, Holly Waynette Walker, 21, of Tyler was selected as fourth runner-up.

Miss Smith, who won a one-year scholarship at North Texas with the Miss Texas title, got her letter of acceptance from the school only Friday.

Nunn Addresses Carter As Cuz

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)— Since he learned that he and President Carter are distant relatives, Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., says he addresses his correspondence to the White House a little differently.

Instead of writing to "President Jimmy Carter," he sends his letters to "President Cuz."

Nunn said he learned about two months ago that he and the President are cousins.

Produce Supply Is Ample

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Despite the western drought and the eastern freeze, there should be plenty of produce on grocers' shelves this summer, although shoppers looking for a particular variety of fruit or vegetable may have to hunt harder than usual.

Kent Christensen of the Food Marketing Institute was quoted recently by Supermarket News, a trade publication, as saying, "I don't see really any impact of the drought to speak of, on fruits and vegetables. Relative to last year, things look pretty good."

The outlook varies, however, from item to item. Christensen told a conference in Arizona, for example, that production of freestone peaches will be above that of 1976, while supplies of the cling variety will be down about 6 per cent.

Industry officials said that farmers tapped underground water tables to make up for the lack of rainfall this year, but they warned there could be serious problems in 1978 if the water is not replaced.

Selecting the best buy in produce can be tricky. You will do better, of course, if you stick to items that are in season. Nectarines, for example, are plentiful from June to September and would probably be a better midsummer buy than tangerines which are at their peak in December and January.

The main difference between a rabbit and a hare is that the young of hares are born covered with fur and with their eyes open, while young rabbits are born naked and with closed eyes.

Board To Vote On Dual-Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration's plan to give letter-writing Americans a respite from postal rate increases faces the first of two hurdles today.

The Postal Service Board of Governors was scheduled to vote on a proposed new "citizen rate" on stamps. As part of a proposed dual-rate plan, the special consumer rate would keep the 13-cent stamp for personal letters while raising the cost of a first-class business stamp three cents.

If the board approves the plan, the new rates will then go to the Postal Rate Commission. If the commission takes no action in 10 months, however, the rates would take effect automatically.

The board also planned to act today on a recommendation by Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar to discount postage for magazines and newspapers that are sorted by zip code before arriving at post offices.

The citizen rate was proposed by President Carter, who told Bailar in a letter that consumers need some relief from postal rate hikes. He said Carter's interest in the citizens postal rate "obviously was a matter of critical significance."

Bailar told the board last Wednesday that the discounted rate would affect about 20 per cent of first-class mail. He said he hoped holding personal letters to the 13-cents-an-ounce rate in effect for the last 18 months would lead to public acceptance of efforts by the Postal Service to cut costs.

Various cost-cutting proposals, including a call for ending Saturday deliveries, are aimed at adding $2 billion in revenues for the Postal Service and virtually erasing its annual operating deficit.

Under the citizen rate plan, individual letter-writers would have to meet the following requirements: either the return or delivery address must be handwritten, both must include zip codes, both places must be in the United States and the envelope must meet size, shape and height limits of mail-handling machines.

Business groups are expected to oppose the dual-rate plan.

Meanwhile, the Postal Service has raised rates on magazines, books, newspapers and nonprofit mailings.

Under a rate structure approved last Wednesday, rates for second-class books records and nonprofit items went up an average of 21 per cent. The cost of mailing an average weekly news magazine increased from 5.57 cents a copy to 6.8 cents. Rates also went up on third-and fourth-class items.

Bailar also wants to make parcel post rates competitive with private delivery companies and increase special delivery fees by 62 per cent.

Rig Count In Basin Drops

The number of rotary drilling rigs in operation in Permian Basin oil field declined by 13 last week, according to Reed Drilling Equipment's weekly survey. However, the total of 277 units was an increase of 47 over the number of running a year ago.

Eddy County, New Mexico, with 26 units making hole, topped the Basin, while Lea County, New Mexico, had 23. Reeves County led the Texas portion of the Basin with 16 rotary rigs running.

Scurry County had one rotary rig in operation last week, unchanged from the previous week. The count for other area counties included the following, with last week and the previous week, in order: Borden 2 and 2; Dawson 6 and 7; Fisher 3 and 3; Garza 3 and 6; Howard 4 and 5; Kent 1 and 0; Mitchell 3 and 3; Nolan 2 and 1; Stonewall 5 and 5.

2 Single-Car Mishaps Are Reported Here

Two single-car accidents were reported to police Saturday.

A 1967 Chevrolet driven by Jeff Alan Lambert was in collision with a mailbox and gas pump belonging to Grimmett Brothers Construction Co.

The mishap occurred about 1 a.m. Saturday at 1312 Ave. R. Minor damages were reported to the car and damage to the mailbox and gas pump was set at $250.

Heavy damages were reported to a 1969 Buick when it was in collision with a telephone pole Saturday at 12:18 p.m. in the 2600 block of Ave. M. The car was driven by David Lee and a wrecker was summoned to remove the vehicle from the scene of the collision.

At the intersection of 26th St. and Ave. O, two cars collided shortly before 11 a.m. Sunday.

The mishap involved a 1977 Ford driven by Michael R. Needham of Houston and a 1975 Plymouth driven by Ellen C. Cox of Snyder. A wrecker was needed to remove the Cox vehicle from the scene of the accident.

The final mishap of the weekend was reported to police at 2:38 p.m. Sunday and occurred along the business district in Snyder of U.S. Highway 84.

A 1976 Oldsmobile driven by Robert Saldivar of Lubbock was in collision with a 1975 Oldsmobile driven by Henry Wenetscharger. Moderate damages were reported to each vehicle.

Edwards May Invite Carter

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)-Gov. Edwin Edwards will invite President Carter to visit Louisiana's offshore oil and gas wells and says the President may make the visit within 90 days.

"I thing I'm going to fire off an invitation for him to come," Edwards said after Carter met with governors from 45 states to discuss energy.

"He volunteered the suggestion but made no committment," Edwards said on his return from Washington Saturday night, but said he believed that Carter did not make the suggestion idly.

Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis said Carter mentioned the possibility of visiting Louisiana when, during the three-hour session with the governors, he said he wanted Edwards to take him on a tour of some Gulf of Mexico drilling.

"If you do that, you might reelect me," Edwards reportedly joked.

As Dukakis told it, "Carter brought down the house when he paused, then smiled and said. 'I still think I'd like to come down.'"

Edwards said he was pleasantly surprised to return with the feeling that the two-day conference had been worthwhile.

"I was very, very pleased that the governors seemed to be taking a softening attitude toward additional production," he said.

The governor said Carter did not indicate his reaction to Edward's proposal that the United States give Mexico $1 billion to help finance a 750-mile pipeline to bring natural gas from Mexico to Texas. But he described Dr. James Schlesinger, presidential energy adviser, as "very enthusiastic" about the idea.

Edwards proposed the pipeline last week, saying it would bring natural gas to the United States at a price about half that of unregulated domestic gas.

RAFT OF RAFTS assemble on Georgia's Chattahoochee River for what was billed as the South's largest party — the Ninth Annual Rambling Raft Race. An estimated 200,000 rafters participated in or viewed the event on a 9.2-mile stretch of the river near Atlanta.

Possibility Of Arson Probed

JACKSONVILLE (AP)-Investigators were probing the possibility of arson today in a Sunday fire that gutted the Tally-Ho Plastics Co. Some officials estimated damages near $1 million.

Jacksonville Fire Chief Howard Martin said state fire investigators were expected to arrive in this East Texas town to investigate the cause of the pre-dawn blaze that Jacksonville firemen fought for five hours.

'We are investigating the possibility of arson," said Martin.

"It's the biggest fire we ever had."

No one was killed in the blaze, although several firemen and one woman believed to be an employe at the firm suffered minor injuries, a Jacksonville fire department spokesman said.

Aviation Pioneer Dies At 86

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)-Katherine Stinson Otero, a pioneer in the nation's aviation history, died Friday at her Santa Fe home after a long illness.

She was 86 years old and had been an invalid for a number of years.

Her mother, Emma Beavers Stinson, and Mrs. Otero incorporated the Stinson Aircraft Co. in 1913 "to manufacture, sell, rent and otherwise engage in the aircraft trade."

In 1915 they opened Stinson Field in San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. Stinson operated a flying school there until 1918.

Miracle Baby Is "Last Gift"

LONDON (AP)—Syndicated cartoonist Kim Casali called herself a "very, very lucky woman" after giving birth to a boy conceived by artificial insemination from her husband Roberto, who died of cancer 17 months ago.

Milo Roberto Andrea Casali was born Sunday to Mrs. Casali, 35, the originator of the "Love is ..." cartoon strip. During her pregnancy, induced by her husband's frozen sperm, Mrs. Casali had said the infant would be her "last gift" from her husband.

The boy weighed 10 pounds 8 ounces at birth. A family friend said mother and son were doing well at a nursing home at Guildford, 30 miles southwest of London.

The baby is just terrific. I had hoped for a girl, but really I don't mind a scrap. He is fit. He is quite beautiful and I am a very, very lucky woman," Mrs. Casali told the London Daily Mail.

"So far, Milo has been as good as gold. I reckon by the size of him he will be eating steak and chips by the time he reaches six months. It was the most fantastic and easy birth," the New Zealand-born Mrs. Casali told the paper.

British newspapers gave wide coverage to her pregnancy with what they called the "Miracle Baby," and the birth of Milo, pronounced mee-low.

The press accounts said Mrs. Casali, who lives in Weybridge, met Italian-born Roberto Casali in the United States in 1967.

During their 4½-year courtship, she sent him drawings tagged "Love is ..." Some of the romantic messages were made famous by the cartoon strip.

Roberto, an engineer, developed cancer shortly after the two married. They had two sons, but wanted a larger family and feared the spreading cancer might make children impossible later.

The accounts said Mrs. Casali suggested a sperm bank, where sperm is frozen for use later, and that her husband agreed. He died at age 31.

During her pregnancy, Mrs. Casali wrote to a friend: "Love is - the baby I carry for my darling Roberto."

Before going into the nursing home, she said: "The baby will be Roberto's last gift to me. I shall be able to remember him by it forever.

Says Columnist

Small D Is Unconcerned

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas residents should be more concerned than they appear to be more concerned than they appear to be about the city losing its ranking to San Antonio as the second largest city in the state, says Dallas Times Herald columnist Dick Hitt in a tongue-in-cheek analysis of the latest census figures.

It was the first Dallas media comment on the new population figures. San Antonio newspapers two weeks ago had headlines proclaiming "Big SA, Small D."

Noting that according to official figures, San Antonio leads Dallas by 1,000 residents, Hitt asked : "Would you say there are about 1,000 retired generals in San Antonio?...I don't think San Antonio should get full credit for a retired general unless he forgoes his commissary shopping privileges and becomes a viable factor in the inflationary urban market place like the rest of us."

Taking a slap at Houston in the process: Hitt said: "In Dallas we are used to being second in size to Houston, a creepy crawly megalopolis full of bayous and longshoremen. Houston might as well be an OPEC country ... We in Dallas have done wisely in conceding Houston its numerical superiority, ignoring it as San Franciscans do Los Angeles."

Hitt noted the "Who cares?" attitude of Dallasites and said: "Ask yourself, how it is going to feel telling people you're from Not as Big as It Used to be D."

His last jab at San Antonio was: "I still think the problem of San Antonio's creeping dominance will take care of itself due to the nomadic characteristics of the people of that area. Ever since Santa Ana, the Alamo City has been well known as a city of transients."

Pilot Lands On Driveway

WINITA, Okla. (AP)—John Webb and his wife had just gone to bed when a strange visitor rolled up their driveway.

A young pilot from Tulsa, running short of gasoline, made an emergency landing on the street in front of the Webb home and then drove his small airplane up the driveway late Saturday night.

Joseph Ayala, 23, the pilot, told Webb he had lost radio communications on his flight from St. Louis to Tulsa and, since he was low on fuel, decided to land as quickly as possible. He found a road by following car lights.

"It's a miracle he landed and didn't get hurt," Webb said. The road is criss-crossed with utility lines.

After reporting the landing to authorities, Webb took Ayala to a nearby motel.

Sunday morning, Ayal bought some gasoline from Webb and took to the air again, off the street for a runway.

The plane made a lazy circle above the rural home in salute and headed off.

Train-Van Collision Kills Two

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)-Two children were killed and three other members of a Texas family were injured Sunday when a Southern Railroad train and a trailer-pulling van collided, authorities said.

The Muscogee County coroner said Brit Andre Barker, 6, and his sister Brandi Ann Barker, 5, of Arlington, Tex., died in the crash that injured the children's parents, William Glenn Ashley, 31, and Pamela Ashley, 25, and the Ashley's infant daughter, one-year-old Angela.

They were being treated at the Columbus Medical Center.

Cars of the train were separated when the camper's butane tanks exploded, authorities said. The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. at the intersection of Garrett and Macon roads, just outside Columbus.

Witnesses at Lake Pines camp ground where the Ashleys had been staying said Sunday was 5-year-old Brandi's birthday and Ashley had been graduated from reserve training at Ft. Benning during the weekend.

The cause of the accident is unknown, authorities said.

Congress To Work On Carter's Energy Plan

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)

Rigorous examination of President Carter's energy plan will occupy much of Congress' time this week, but at the top of today's Senate agenda is a vote on giving Congress the final say in adding the neutron bomb to the nation's nuclear arsenal.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., had earlier failed in an attempt to persuade the Senate to ban outright any deployment of the neutron bomb. A compromise he is sponsoring would permit either the House or Senate to veto a decision by Carter to go ahead with the weapon.

A proposal requiring both houses to veto the bomb was given a better chance of approval, however.

The neutron bomb, which relies on controlled radiation to kill enemy soldiers rather than the huge explosive power of other nuclear weapons, has been criticized as an addition to the arms race.

Proponents say it provides a needed weapon for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, whose European forces are outnumbered by Soviet and Eastern European forces.

As it returns from its 10-day Independence Day break, Congress has less than a month to work on a heavy legislative load before leaving town for the traditional August recess.

The Senate is due to vote this week on Carter's proposal to halt a controversial reactor project that would produce more plutonium than it consumes.

The President said earlier this year he wants to end U.S. development of such nuclear breeder reactors, such as the one planned for the Clinch River nuclear power plant, now under construction in Tennessee.

Carter said such facilities would provide an easy target for terrorists trying to build nuclear weapons.

Environmentalists say the plants are vulnerable to nuclear accidents.

Supporters of the reactor say Japan, the Soviet Union and western European nations are proceeding with their own programs whether or not the United States cancels the Tennessee plant and a plutonium recycling facility at Barnwell, S.C.

Carter's ally in the Senate debate will be Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., who plans an amendment to an Energy Research and Development Administration appropriations bills to allot $33 million to phase out the Clinch River plant.

Other senators will urge spending the full $150 million for further construction.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a supporter of eventual plutonium development, is expected to urge a compromise $75 million authorization with a year's construction delay to give Carter time to dissuade other countries from proceeding with their plans.

While the full House has few issues of broad public interest scheduled this week, its committees will be busy.

There are House-Senate committee meetings scheduled on the President's proposed Energy Department, with major differences to be ironed out between the two versions over how much control the White House will have in setting natural gas prices.

Brown Finds Red Tape Is Hard To Eliminate

EDITOR'S NOTE-Like many other governors-and for that matter, like President Carter-Jerry Brown took office with high hopes of reducing paper shuffling, red tape, over-regulation, and the bureaucracy itself. All of which is easier said than done, as the following report shows.

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)-Shortly after Edmund Brown Jr. became governor of California in 1975 he decreed a ban on state-issued briefcases for bureaucrats.

It was symbolic declaration of intent. The governor said paperwork just expanded to fill the briefcases. He meant to cut down on paper, red tape, and the bureaucracy itself. He even went after the jargon of officialdom-"codes and private language," he called it.

How stands the 39-year-old governor's war with the bureaucracy 2½ years later? Somewhat ruefully, Brown concedes he isn't winning it.

"All we can try to do is cope with it, make it work better," he said in an interview. "I've tried to eliminate some agencies, but they keep coming back.

Brown wiped out one state regulatory agency and cut significantly into three others. But he also helped create three new state regulatory agencies and is proposing another to regulate hospital rates.

"His goal is commendable, but I haven't seen any appreciable change. It isn't any worse or any better. It's government as usual," says Craig Biddle, a former Republican leader of the legislature who now lobbies for businesses and trade groups.

"I am concerned about the proliferation of government programs under the guise of doing something that they don't do," Brown told his first national television audience in a 1975 interview.

"We have manpower training programs that were supposed to put people to work. All they did was put manpower trainers to work, not manpower trainees."

He abolished a complex system of prior authorization for doctor care for state Medi-Cal patients, eliminating 63 staff positions, 1.7 million reports annually and $466,000 a year in administrative costs.

State-required environmental impact reports for building projects have been trimmed nearly two-thirds in length. Smaller projects have been excluded from coverage, but critics say most of those filings still are excessive and irrelevant.

Brown abolished a state meat inspection program that duplicated federal efforts, eliminated milk price minimums and the jobs of 46 persons enforcing them, and cut three-quarters of the staff of planners and evaluators in a division that processed law enforcement grants.

But he also supported creation of three new state agencies: The Agricultural Labor Relations Board, 272 employes and an $8.8-million budget; the Fair Political Practices Commission, 45 employes and $1.3 million, and the Educational Employment Relations Board, 80 employes and $3.1 million.

Bob Monagan, president of the California Manufacturers Association and a Republican former chief of the state Assembly, says he is optimistic that Brown will cut into state regulations and forms, "but not a great deal has happened yet.

"The big difference is that at least they're talking about it. And when the governor talks about trying to change these things, that's important. Maybe it affects some attitudes."

Brown's personal trouble shooter in the big Health Department, former prisons chief Ray Procunier, calls the state's health regulations "a mess."

"Once we get them up to date, I'm going to go back and start writing them in the English language. If we don't, I'm convinced the whole system is going to come to a halt over damn complicated regulations."

Brown still complains that too much of government is bureaucracy, but his hopes of simplifying now are more modest.

"Red tape is the flip side of government confronting problems," Brown says. "wherever you look, people are looking to government to arbitrate some dispute or another, or provide some services, and that just makes government more complicated.

"Each year bureaucracy expands, under very conservative governments and under very liberal governments, because people want government to do things. People focus on a need, and a law is passed. That creates a new agency, a new set of requirements, all of which spawn what people complain about as red tape."

As automation occurs and institutions grow, society's need to have extensive institutional communication expands, Brown said.

"That means more paper. It creates a lot of anonymity. But it also has made a lot of progress possible."

Kent Court Order Likely

By SERGIO LALLI
Associated Press Writer

KENT, Ohio (AP) -- The two sides in the two-month battle over a piece of ground on the Kent State University campus are about to come eyeball to eyeball. Both say they are sworn to nonviolence.

University officials were expected to seek a court order today calling for students and other protesters to vacate Blanket Hill, the knoll where four students were shot and killed by National Guard bullets during a Vietnam-era protest.

The students say they will have to be carried off, that there will be no surrender of the site they consider sacred. The university says it has $6 million tied up in a planned gymnasium annex at the foot of the hill.

Outgoing University President Glenn Olds says he allowed the hill to be occupied in deference to the students' rights to peaceful protest. Students have lived in tents on the hill since May 12. But now that construction workers are ready to begin excavation for the 120,000-square-foot building, he says the demonstrators have become trespassers.

Students in the May Fourth Coalition - named for the date in 1970 when the four students were killed and nine others were wounded - say they have a moral right to occupy the ground.

Roseann Canforea, 27, a demonstration leader, rejected as spurious the university's claim that the location of the annex was determined solely because it would be close to the existing gymnasium.

"This is a coverup," she said. "They want us to forget that four students were murdered on May 4, 1970. This hill is the most significant symbol of what happened to them."

Olds, hired six years ago to calm the strife-torn campus, denies the charge. He acknowledges that there is still a great deal of frustration and bitterness over the Kent State killings. And, he adds, "There has been no final or adequate fixing of responsibility."

A total of $11,255,654.54 in gross stakes and purse monies was distributed at the 1976-77 Santa Anita meeting. It was a record for that track.

Schmidt Enjoys Outing

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt enjoyed a day at a lake in the Wisconsin woods and was surprised at the room for population expansion, says his host, Philip Hanft.

Hanft, a second cousin to Schmidt, said the chancellor had requested that they find time to motor to Hanft's cottage on Whitefish Lake, near Gordon, Wis., and about 50 miles from Duluth.

"He was intrigued by the fact there was so much vacant land, areas of woods without anything," Hanft told a reporter.

Schmidt arrived at Duluth by plane from Canada Saturday evening and was welcomed by a military honor guard from the nearby U.S. Air Force Base, although the chancellor has described this as a family visit and he did not want any fuss.

The German leader is scheduled to arrive in Washington, D.C., Wednesday for consultations with President Carter.

Gift to Woman Shocks Friends

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: We know a woman in her 60s who's been going with a man about her age for about 15 years. He has given her many very expensive gifts such as jewelry, a fur coat, a car, etc.

Last Christmas she decided that she didn't need anything in that line, so she asked him to pay for redoing her living room!

This involved knocking out a wall, refinishing the floor, custom-made draperies and of course all the new furniture.

He paid for it without even batting an eye, but when she told all her friends what her gentleman friend gave her for Christmas, we were shocked. I think this is a far cry from what I have always held Christmas to mean as far as gift giving goes.

I would like your opinion.

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: A gift is anything a person wants to give another person. Granted, the gentleman's gift was unqiue (and extremely generous), but if he held still for it, he probably asked her what she wanted. So if it was okay by him, it's okay by me.

DEAR ABBY: I need an answer but I can't sign my name because if anybody ever found out about this it could cost my husband his job.

If a married man is bisexual and has sex with another man, is he guilty of adultery?

HURTING WIFE

DEAR HURTING: Yes, and he's also guilty of sodomy.

DEAR ABBY: In Joan Crawford's obituary it noted that she had four adopted children. Why not that she had four children? When Karen Quinlan was in the paper so often, why was she always referred to as "the adopted child of the Quinlans"? Why is it necessary for the general public to know something so personal? It should be the business of the families concerned and no one else. Their relationship was the same as any other parent-child, and adoption makes no difference in the way parents feel about their children.

My husband and I have two adopted children and when I introduce them I never say, "This is my ADOPTED daughter (or son)." And in reading the sports section of the paper I never see, "John Doe, the ADOPTED son of Mr. and Mrs. Doe, scored the winning touchdown." It is simply an unnecessary addition as it should be in any public announcement.

My 4-year-old son knows he is adopted, as does his 7-year-old sister. We feel that we are the real parents of our children, and when we die we want our obituaries to say simply that we had two children.

ATLANTA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'm with you.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box, No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.
