

KANSAS CITY COUPLE MURDERED

74 Persons Believed To Have Drowned As Steamer Sinks Today

VESSELS RAM TOGETHER AT PIGEON POINT

Passengers Hurlled Into Water As Ship Goes Down

DOUBLE DECKER USED 47 YEARS

About 36 Lives Saved By Heroic Efforts Of Seamen

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30. (AP)—Revised figures on the number of persons who were on the steamer San Juan when she sank off Pigeon Point today showed seven-hundred and forty persons were on board and many were perished.

Radio stations here reported the Munsie had renewed its search of the wreckage-strewn collision area at daybreak but that up to 8 a. m. it had not reported picking up any additional persons.

These advices, coming eight hours after the San Juan sank, led to the belief that few if any of the seven-hundred missing would be found alive.

Officers of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation Company, owners of the San Juan, announced their latest information showed there were 65 passengers aboard the vessel when she collided with the Standard Oil Tanker S. C. E. Dodd in a thick fog at midnight. The crew of the San Juan numbered 45.

There were conflicting reports as to the number rescued. Aboard the Dodd were 27 of the San Juan's passengers and crew. Nine others had been picked up by the steamer Munsie, which was still at the scene of the collision at 8 a. m. One report said there were four other survivors aboard the motor ship Frank Lynch but this could not be confirmed.

Every available ambulance in San Francisco was sent to the water front to receive the 27 persons picked up by the Dodd. Emergency hospitals were made ready to receive the survivors, some of whom were injured and reported badly in need of medical attention.

The San Juan, a double decker of iron construction, 235 feet long and of 1,000 gross tons, had sailed the seas for 47 years. She was one of the oldest ships on the Pacific, having first taken to the water shortly after the disappearance of the swift packets that carried the frontiers of trade to the Pacific coast.

After a short period of service with the Pacific Mail Steamship line in the South American trade, the San Juan was sold to the James K. Nelson Company and soon thereafter became the property of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation Company. She plied between the two California cities for years, featuring low passenger fares.

The Dodd is a 7,000 ton ship. She was damaged little in the collision.

Ralph Hillsman, second radio operator of the San Juan, who was picked up by the Dodd, reported the collision occurred while he was asleep. He sprang from his berth and ran to the main deck. The deck was sinking beneath the surface, and he was hurled into the sea. He said no lifeboats had been launched from the San Juan.

Two coast guard cutters, the Shawnee and the Tahoe, went to the scene of the wreck from San Francisco while preparations got under way here to receive the injured from the oil tanker. Ambulances were sent to the pier at which the Dodd was expected to dock.

Mrs. O. Spellman left Pampa hospital yesterday and underwent a major operation 10 days ago.

Testimony Heard In Sanity Trial Of Bank Robber

EASTLAND, Aug. 30. (AP)—Counsel for Henry Helms, sentenced to be executed September 6 for his participation in a Ciscobank robbery in 1927, continued today to introduce testimony in his sanity trial here.

Mrs. Nettie Helms, the condemned man's wife, who testified yesterday, was recalled today by Helms' attorney to identify letters received by her from her husband.

J. J. Parker, assistant jailer of the Dallas county jail where Helms was incarcerated for some time, testified Helms was judge of the "kangaroo court" in his portion of the jail and the cells in that part of the prison were kept clean.

On cross examination by the state, Parker said he believed Helms was sane while he was in the Dallas jail.

The Rev. H. E. Bolley, Dallas pastor of an Assembly of God church, testified he believed Helms was insane. He based his opinion on observations while Helms was in jail at Dallas.

Helms appeared in court today with a fresh haircut and shave. The blue shirt worn during the first two days of the trial had been exchanged for a fresh white one. He continued, however, the monotonous murmuring of the two previous days.

Mrs. J. C. Cade, Dallas church worker, who visited Helms in the Dallas jail, also testified she believed he was insane.

Oklahoma Man In Jail Following Arrest in West

SAN JOSE, Calif., Aug. 30. (AP)—Arrested near Sunnyvale while en route to a prayer meeting, the Rev. Harry W. Davis, 35, Erick, Okla., divine, was in the county jail here today.

Davis is wanted in Erick on a statutory charge involving a 14-year-old girl. He had been working in the fruit district, near Sunnyvale for the past three weeks under the name of J. W. Murphy, according to Sunnyvale police.

Davis denied the charges and said he had left his pulpit in an Erick Baptist church because of dissension among members of the congregation and tangled church finances. He is said to have a wife and small daughter residing at Erick.

M. D. Oden returned from a business trip to Oklahoma City this morning via the Braniff Airlines.

Ira Allday, service manager of the Oden Music Shoppe, returned yesterday from Oklahoma City, where he attended the RCA and Victor Service school conducted there.

WOODVILLE, Tex., Aug. 30. (AP)—Jud Peck, 19-year-old alleged pine knot slayer, was back in the Tyler county jail here this afternoon after less than 24 hours of freedom.

Peck broke jail with the other three prisoners, negroes, last night. He was found today at a lumber camp three miles north of Colmesneil.

WOODVILLE, Tex., Aug. 30. (AP)—Jud Peck, 19, charged with the slaying of his purported sweetheart, Emma Womack, 33, escaped from the Tyler county jail with three negroes last night.

Peck, whose examining trial had been set for today, remained at large this morning, and officers combed this section of the country in search of him.

David Cumming, one of the three negroes who broke jail, wandered back some time during the night. The others had not been caught. He said Peck did not want to leave, but the negroes prevailed upon him to do so.

The negro who returned said the prisoners tore a hole in the ceiling, dropped from the attic into the hall and walked out while no officers were near. The four men were the only prisoners in the jail.

Miss Womack was found dead, nearly nude and with her head badly battered, in a small ravine near Fred Sunday. She had been missing since August 16.

H. B. Ogden, Tyler county sheriff, said the youth admitted having killed the woman because she broke a marriage engagement with him.

The crime for which Peck was in jail was described as the most gruesome ever committed in Tyler county.

Shortly after the finding of the body, the youth was arrested at the home of Allie Jeffcoat, for whom he worked. At first, according to Sheriff Ogden, Peck denied knowledge of the crime, but later confessed killing Miss Womack.

The woman, who had no relatives in this section, had been employed on a farm near Fred.

Tales of Murder And Cannibalism Recalled by Gun

LAKE CITY, Colo., Aug. 30. (AP)—Tales of cannibalism and murder have been revived here with the discovery in Dead Man's Gulch of a gun, believed to have been the weapon used by Alfred Packer, convicted slayer of five miners in 1873. The gun, in good condition, and some matches, perfectly preserved, were found in a cache near Slum Gullion.

Packer, who died last year, spent nearly 40 years in prison, charged with the murder of five miners, with whom he ventured into the hills here in the winter of 1873. The party went against the advice of Indians, who recommended they wait until spring.

Six weeks later, Packer appeared at the Los Pinas Indian agency near here with a large sum of money and told a tale of the desertion of his five comrades.

A few days later Indians found the bodies of the five men, and discovered what were said to be unmistakable signs of cannibalism in connection with the murder.

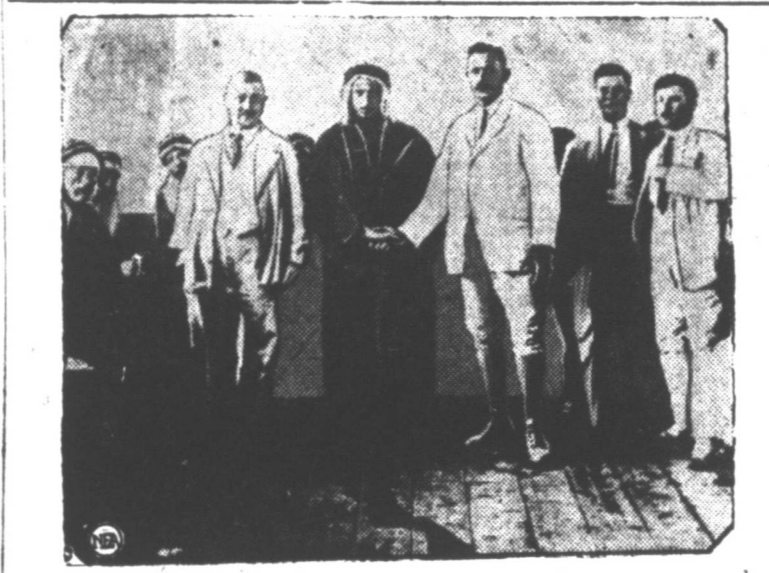

Packer was arrested. Around his trial the issue of cannibalism hung, but never was definitely proven. On the witness stand Packer said one of the men had died and the other four had eaten his body and then died themselves.

Packer was released from prison several years ago.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MARY LOUISE YATES YESTERDAY

Funeral services for Mary Louise Yates, 8-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Yates, 114 West street, were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Malone Funeral Parlors by Rev. C. C. Merritt, pastor of the Church of Christ.

A Peace Pact That Didn't Last

There was to be everlasting peace between the two races when this picture was taken at the signing of a treaty between Jews and the Arabs, after rioting at Petach Tigvah. But religious strife has flamed anew in the Holy Land, and fresh riots in Palestine have claimed scores of lives, menaced residents, and caused Britain to land heavy forces of troops and marines in the trouble zone.

Dick Gregg, Notorious Outlaw, and Two Officers Dead After "Shooting It Out" Near Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 30. (AP)—A man hunt, designed to locate a man said to have fled from the last gunfight of Dick Gregg, notorious Oklahoma bank robber, was in progress today as officers still were piecing together the final chapter in the life of the outlaw, which ended last yesterday in his death and the death of two Tulsa officers in a gun battle on the outskirts of Tulsa.

Gregg, wanted in connection with three Oklahoma bank robberies and suspected in several others, was killed after he had been halted on the Sand Springs highway at the western edge of Tulsa by Ross Darrow and A. L. "Link" Bowline, highway police.

As Gregg halted his car, Bowline jumped on the running board with his gun drawn. Gregg whipped out a gun and fired. Bowline falling, Darrow came running from the officer's car, Darrow and Gregg both fired, Gregg slumping down in the car seat and Darrow stumbling to the roadway.

Witnesses told officers two men clambered from the outlaw's car and ran. Bob Dyer, 29, Indian cowboy from Pawhuska, was arrested near the scene. With the identity of the third man shrouded in mystery, officers were inclined to believe he was one of Gregg's partners.

Aside from the three Oklahoma robberies, for which Gregg was being sought, he also was wanted in connection with the holdup of the People's State bank of Wichita, Kans., July 26.

Gregg, who was said to have been friendly with Al Spencer and was believed by many Oklahoma officers to have been a member of Spencer's gang of outlaws who for many years had a rendezvous in the Osage hills from which they swooped down on small towns in Southern Kansas and Northern Oklahoma, escaped from the Osage county jail at Pawhuska in 1927. He had been taken there from the Kansas state penitentiary to testify as a witness for the prosecution in one of the Osage Indian trials and had been a fugitive from justice since that time.

Unknown Number of Persons Buried As Building Crashes

ALGIERS, Algeria, Aug. 30. (AP)—An unknown number of persons were buried today in the crash of an old building on the water front, some estimates placing the number of victims between 50 and 70.

The building sheltered about 30 families. It suddenly crumbled and the inhabitants, most of them still in their beds, were caught in the ruins. There were 18 children in the structures.

Two hours after the collapse five persons had been taken out alive.

"Opening Room" in Mill Dynamited

MARION, N. C., Aug. 30. (AP)—The "opening room" in the Clinchfield cotton mill here was wrecked by an explosion of dynamite today. Deputy sheriffs on guard at the mill, where a strike is in progress, failed to catch the dynamiters.

Today's dynamiting was the first of a series of explosions in connection with the walkout to cause any damage. No one was hurt. The opening room is the room in which bales of raw cotton are opened.

Efforts to arbitrate difficulties between officials of the mill and members of the United Textile workers union continued.

Lady Mary Heath Conscious After Skull Operation

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30. (AP)—Lady Mary Heath, noted Irish aviatrix, recovered consciousness this morning after an operation last night, for a fractured skull and other injuries received yesterday when she crashed in her plane here through the roof of a factory.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 30. (AP)—Lady Mary Heath of Ireland, outstanding woman pilot, lay in a Lakeside hospital today awaiting outcome of a cranial operation performed last night after her plane had crashed through the roof of a factory building, fracturing her skull and inflicting other injuries.

Possibility of infection, present for 36 hours after such an operation, still kept her in danger according to attaches at the hospital. She showed improvement immediately after the operation was performed, however, and her chances of complete recovery were reported good provided she escapes infection.

The noted aviatrix was landing at a test field yesterday. She was flying with Erwin Kirk, 26, mechanic. The plane struck guy wires to a chimney of the Mills Company and plunged through the roof. Kirk lost a finger and suffered minor injuries.

J. T. Robison Is Dying at Home Of Son—Report

AUSTIN, Aug. 30. (AP)—J. T. Robison, commissioner of the general land office, is dying at the home of his son, Dr. J. T. Robison, Jr., in New London, Conn., according to J. H. Walker, chief clerk of the land office.

Mr. Robison, 68 years old, has been connected with the land office 34 years in unbroken service. He was elected commissioner in 1908 and reelected ten times.

He left here for a rest soon after the house of representatives had refused to vote impeachment charges against him, after a controversy over leasing of mineral right in University of Texas lands and criticism of his reevaluation of public lands under an act of the legislature in 1925.

Parade at Noon Opens Four-Day Rodeo Program

A parade of 60 rodeo performers on as many ponies today at noon on Pampa's principal streets marked the beginning of the American Legion's Second Annual rodeo which will continue through Thursday afternoon. A crowd lined the streets but a much larger crowd was waiting at the rodeo corral when the first afternoon's performance began.

The parade was led by the American Legion band, Lon Blansett and Sheriff E. S. Graves. Observing the parade on-lookers it was not hard to see that the clowns, Bill Jackson and "Smoky" Fleming, his woman, will be one of the drawing cards of the rodeo.

"Smoky" dressed as a woman in red calico, riding precariously behind Jackson drew many a laugh. The Legion band will furnish music during the four days of the rodeo.

Rodeo riders and performers had increased this morning to 59. Another shipment of wild horses and wilder steers came in yesterday. Toots Jordan, the only woman who rides steers and broncs without a saddle, backwards and forwards, coming out going, and one of the few women bull-doggers, arrived yesterday. The woman performers will number about 20.

Performances will start each afternoon at 2 o'clock at the rodeo corral in the Wilcox addition. Tickets may be purchased at the K. G. Store, LeVines, Hill's, of Fathens Drug No. 1.

P. S. Buchanan is satisfactorily recovering from typhoid fever in Pampa hospital.

Mrs. W. F. Campbell and baby are getting along nicely at Pampa hospital.

BODIES FOUND NEAR A CLIFF DRIVE TODAY

Woman Badly Beaten and Strangled to Death

MAN SHOT IN BACK OF HEAD

Automobile in Which They Left Is Missing

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 30. (AP)—The body of Miss Ruth Laughlin, 24, was found near Cliff Drive here today, a block and a half distant from bushes and shrubs that partially concealed the body of Paul Odell, 19, railway clerk, fatally shot through the head.

Miss Laughlin had been severely beaten and strangled. Her clothing was in much disorder. Police believe she lost her life in preference to submitting to her assailant. A deputy from the county coroner's office said she had not been criminally assaulted.

A search for an automobile which Odell drove from his home and in which he later was seen in company with a young woman has been vain.

Investigators are working on the theory the couple were victims of assailants who came upon them on Cliff Drive, a favorite retreat for young couples.

Odell was shot in the back of the head. His body was found beside steps leading up the steep sides of cliffs which line the drive. The girl's body was found face downward in a ravine.

Parents of Miss Laughlin, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Laughlin, said she had left here about 8 o'clock last night. When she failed to return early this morning a search was instituted which resulted in identification of her body in a morgue.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 30. (AP)—Rudley of a young man and a young woman, both dead from bullet wounds, were found here today two blocks apart on Cliff Drive boulevard in the north-west section of the city.

The man was believed to be Paul Odell, railway clerk. The woman's body was not identified immediately.

The man's body apparently had been thrown from the top of a high cliff parallel to the drive.

The young woman's body was bruised and her clothing was in much disorder. She apparently had been criminally attacked, beaten and shot.

It had not been determined exactly when the couple was slain, as no officers believed the tragedy occurred last night.

Two Killed And One Injured As Train Hits Car

HOUSTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—A speeding passenger train smashed an automobile at a grade crossing here last night, taking the lives of Miss Edith Wyatt, 16, of Goose Creek and Miss Nan Nunley, 13, of Houston. The other occupant of the machine, Frank Garcia, 19, Houston, the driver, was injured seriously. The motor car was said to have swerved onto the tracks.

Boy's Gang Scares Holdup Man Away

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 30. (AP)—There was no holdup here yesterday because a 12-year-old boy and his gang broke it up.

The boy, who wandered away later without leaving his identity known, walked into a grocery just as it was being held up. He ran out and came back a moment later with eight other youngsters. They rushed the robber, knocking him from his hands, and chased him to a waiting automobile in which he drove away. The boys got the license number.

VACATION NOTES
(By Olin E. Hinkle, Managing Editor.)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—A copper red figure, singing to the sun from the top of a picturesque pueblo, heralded the opening of "The First American," local Indian spectacle. It was Haske Naswood, Navajo baritone, chanting the sunrise song in his native tongue. A full, rich voice, the heritage of a race which gives vocal expression to its full feelings, however crude may seem some of the sounds to us white brethren.

The 4-story pueblo has been constructed in front of a grand stand seating 8,000 persons. Its set-back architecture provides a series of stages, all beautifully lighted in colors as desired. The plan of the spectacle is to portray the life of the New Mexico Indian before the coming of the white man and to bring this history down to the present through a series of performances lasting four days. Only the first night presentation will be described here.

Out of the pale moonlight, in weird performances on which the attention is fixed by spotlights, comes wistful and romance of days long dead. Strange Indian dances, queer incantations, chants to the sun-god, mystic rites to appease the spirits, paint a picture of the aborigines before the coming of the first white men—the Spaniards.

The depicting of a period of Indian life, with its various dances and ceremonies, the rumor of the coming of the strange race of white men, the council of war, the final arrival of the Spanish, the battles, the ultimate but inconclusive triumph of the Indians, coming to leave a memory of the Old Southwest deeply fixed in the minds of the spectators. It is an inspiring moment as the Indians themselves in all seriousness, contemplate the encroachment of strange men, who threaten to rob them of their homes, their land, and their very mode of existence.

Intermingled with group appearance of the various Indian tribes are solo numbers by native artists. Chief among these are the mother's lullaby song by Lou-scha-enya, Chickasaw princess and leading lady, the war song by Chief Yowlache; the sunrise call by Haske Naswood, and the hunting chorus and solo with Chief Taptuka of the Hopis in the leading role. The choral number is a touching appeal for more game, a runner having brought in the news that meat is not in sight. Grace and rhythm are outstanding in the bow and arrow dance of the Tesuques—a rite in acknowledgment of the important place the arrow and bow have in the lives of primitive peoples. Then there are fire making with stick, a buffalo dance, and a green corn dance. How the Indians manage to accomplish their sudden changes of tempo and rhythm, not to mention tone, is a mystery, but they do it—even to the oldest, with ease.

Indians maidens, carrying pots on their heads, appear and go thru their figures and then climb ladders to enter the pueblo. Some of them mount the ladders without using their hands, even to hold the pots on their heads. At another moment they illustrate a number of grinding corn and making bread. They line up before their crude utensils, and then their heads bob up and down with the corn grinding song of the bucks. A soft job for the men—merely singing while the women work, and a ripple of amusement comes from the vast assemblage of whites. Modern life has not lightened mans portion of family activity, although the Indian household has not changed as much as has that of the whites.

And now smoke signals by Eagle wing announce the approach of the Spaniards. The tribes gather. The fighting men arrive, salute the chiefs, and form a council of war while the women climb into the fort-like pueblo.

Spokesmen of various tribes loudly speak in favor of war, which quickly ensues as the Spaniards under Coronado arrive. After fierce fighting, in which the women participate, the Pueblos capitulate, the ladders are lowered, and soon the Spanish flag and cross float from the top of the pueblo. Coronado declares a peace, and the pipe is passed around.

Loudspeakers announcement of numbers by Director Mike Kirk carries the audience, thru the first portion of the performance, but the latter part, stirring pageantry of war dances and the Indians' defense of their homes, is carried out minus any breaks of this sort. Other performances continue the story. It is a big accomplishment to bring together more than a score of tribes and to weave a story from the many elements of tribal history. While not wishing to minimize in any particular the several other fiestas and celebrations held in New Mexico, the writer dares predict that the Albuquerque performance contains the making of a nationally recognized spectacle. It is all the more noteworthy because it is at the real setting and its participants are direct descendants of the peoples portrayed. A better understanding between the races should result. The educational value is not little. The Red Man has not always been given a fair hearing in the works of our historians. Now he is re-writing, in pageant form, his own history and his own motives.

2-Year-Old Vow To Avenge Wife's Death Vanishes

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Tony Domingo's two-year-old vow to avenge the dynamite death of his wife must remain forever unfulfilled. A feud gun got his range last night.

The violent death of Tony's wife through explosion of a bomb concealed in her automobile was no more sudden than Tony's own. A shotgun pressed against his back; nine slugs in his body; and Tony Domingo, 35, one time "alky cooker" on a little Michigan farm, was dead on the floor of a North Side cafe.

Detectives were unable to connect Domingo with any Chicago gang activities; but a newspaperman recalled how Mrs. Tony Domingo had died in St. Joseph, Mich., during the fall of 1927, and his story today starting offices on a new line of investigation. The theory of sheriff's officers was that the bomb had been intended for Domingo himself, possibly because of his connections with the sugar "alky" manufacturer.

Police Chase Down Man Seen Entering Buckingham Palace

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Special police were sent from Scotland Yard today to investigate the capture just before dawn of a man who had forced an entrance into the Buckingham palace grounds.

It was necessary for the policeman who saw him inside the palace grounds near the diplomats' entrance to scale the walls himself since all the gates were locked.

Mrs. E. F. Thomas Bridge Hostess

One of the week's most enjoyable events was given by Mrs. E. F. Thomas, who entertained with three tables of bridge. Her guest list included the following names: Mrs. Charles Stowell, Mrs. Tom Morris, Mrs. J. I. Bradley, Mrs. D. E. Cecil, Mrs. H. R. Kees, Mrs. D. G. Gordon, Mrs. T. A. Cox, Mrs. A. N. Gibson, Mrs. Guy Manning, Mrs. Stewart, and Mrs. J. B. Austin. Pastel shades predominated in house decorations and card table accessories. Ices moulded in forms of roses were served after the playing. The favors of the afternoon went to Mrs. Manning, high score; Mrs. Stewart, low; and Mrs. Stowell, cut.

Mrs. Culberson Is Hostess Wednesday at Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. F. M. Culberson was hostess at a luncheon for eleven guests, who were as follows: Mrs. H. P. Elliott, Mrs. Hal Peck, Mrs. W. H. Nichols, Mrs. T. F. Smalling, Mrs. R. S. McConnell, Mrs. J. D. Sugg, Mrs. Clarence Barrett, Mrs. C. C. Cook, Mrs. Charles Thut, Mrs. Jack Mason, and Mrs. Guy Manning. The afternoon was spent in playing bridge, with Mrs. Sugg scoring high, Mrs. Manning received consolation favor, and Mrs. Barrett made top cut.

Altar Society in Session Wednesday

Mrs. George Wolfe and Mrs. McKernin were hostesses Wednesday afternoon to the Altar society of Holy Souls Catholic church. Business was transacted by thirteen members, and following adjournment, a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Lamar Nolan, Miss Maribelle Nolan, and Miss Helen Gibson of Springfield, Ohio, house guests of Mrs. Floyd A. Smith, were visitors at the meeting.

Dinner Celebrates Return of Member of Younger Set

Miss Wilma Washmon, who returned home Wednesday, after an extended visit with friends in Vernon, Wichita Falls, and Oklahoma, was complimented Wednesday evening with a dinner given by Miss Mary Ellen Cook and Miss Virginia Rose, at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cook. Covers were laid for the following: Miss Washmon, Miss Yvonne Thomas, Miss Wanda Barnard, Miss Lorene Nicholson, Miss Jewell Harkrader, Miss Christine Cook, Miss Margaret Bryson, Miss Imogene Hollenbeck, and the hostesses.

MISS MARY CAMUSE WILL BE COLLEGE INSTRUCTOR

Miss Mary Camuse will leave tomorrow morning for her home at Norman, Okla., after spending the summer here, holding a stenographic position in the law office of Studer, Stennis, and Studer. After a short visit with her parents, she will go to Weatherford, Okla., to become head of the physical education department for women in Southwestern State Teachers college. Miss Camuse received her degree last spring from Oklahoma university.

Miss Clara Lagow, who has been here since February as a stenographer in the law office of Studer, Stennis, and Studer, who is to be a teacher in the Pampa school.

PREBYTERIAN CHURCH
"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." This statement in God's word has been corrupted to: "As a man thinks." But many a man thinks himself to be something when he is nothing, thus fooling himself and often others, as well.

If a man thinks himself saved when he is lost, what good does it do him? Belief in God is of no value without the heart.

We invite you to hear the sermon, "For the Preaching of the Cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God."

Most Stores Favor Closing Labor Day Say Leaders Here

That Pampa stores and business establishments will close on Labor Day was indicated yesterday when Labor unions reported that a canvass of the business district showed that with few exceptions closing of stores was favored. Definite announcement relative to the closing of stores will be made later, it was said.

As more industrial workers are massed in Pampa and Gray county than in any other county in the Panhandle, labor leaders here believe that Monday's celebration here will be attended by thousands. A parade in the morning will last one hour and will include a thousand persons. The principal streets of Pampa will be covered by the paraders.

A special rodeo performance will be staged in the afternoon at the rodeo grounds and in the evening a public speaking is planned. Oil field workers will have the day off and will attend the celebration.

OIL SHOWING REPORTED
A good showing of oil was reported at 2,900 feet in Dodson-Shell Saunders No. 1, southeast quarter, section 40, block 3, yesterday afternoon. Pay is expected to be encountered at about 3,100 feet about Monday or Tuesday.

Railroad Prepares To Install Block Signal Systems

Anticipating that the Interstate Commerce Commission will give the Fort Worth and Denver railroad authority to build a line from Childress terminal to Pampa, central point in the Panhandle oil fields, the railway company will soon begin installation of a $1,000,000 block signal system on the line as far as Childress.

Installation was also prompted by increased traffic on the South Plains branch and by an expected similar increase on the Childress-Pampa branch, assuming that line will be built. Materials for the block signal system are now being placed along the right of way.

A new station now is being completed in Childress at a cost of $100,000 and work is underway on a coach shop and paint shop there to cost more than $250,000.

EPISCOPAL SERVICES
Services of the Episcopal church will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in the music cottage on the east side of the Central high school campus, block 3, yesterday afternoon. Pay is present, and all others who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Young Couple Back To Cotton Picking

PORT WORTH, Aug. 30. (AP)—The 19-year-old wife, mother of a child of 4, was willing to drop her claim for divorce and return to her youthful husband, but he was unwilling.

Judge Hal S. Lattimore forgot about Blackstone and began a judgment of Solomon. They were in his private office. "I'll award care of the baby to the mother for a week," the judge began. The husband found tears in his eyes, and soon the couple had made up.

They're going back to their old home in Montague county and pick cotton. Judge Lattimore gave them $15 with which to make the trip.

Dotson Wins 2 Of Three Falls From Leo Chase

In a crushing head-hold, two and one-half minutes after the down began Oscar Dotson put Leo Chase's shoulder to the mat in the third down at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night, winning two out of three falls and the decision over the challenger.

Dotson won the second down in five minutes after it started by jumping high in the air and falling with his knees on Chase's body until Chase lay prostrate on the mat.

Chase won the first fall 37 minutes after the match began with a double step-in toe hold on Dotson that made the latter pat the mat. The agony seemed more than Dotson could stand. The best wrestling of the evening was exhibited in the first down. Dotson got Chase in several dangerous positions as a leg-split, body scissors and bone-splitting head holds but Chase managed to work himself free each time. In disentangling himself from the leg-split and the body scissors, Chase used Jui Jitai effectively. Chase broke the leg-split when his thumb found a touchy nerve in Dotson's back.

The two men used the first two minutes of the first down working for a hold. Then Dotson got a scissors headlock on Chase which the latter broke. Chase then held Dotson for a minute or two in a combination arm and leg hold which made the referee note carefully if Dotson's shoulders touched the mat. The wrestlers exchanged head locks which both broke. Then Dotson quickly managed to get a vicious head hold on Chase and in breaking, Dotson fell to the ropes. In the first down, Dotson specialized in head holds and never missed an opportunity to take one. Dotson easily broke Chase's head holds. Chase broke a double Nelson and Dotson liberated himself from a head scissors and arm hold. Both then gave the audience good demonstrations of various fold-up holds. Dotson grappled Chase in the corner of the mat, holding him in a body scissors but Chase got Dotson on his stomach and then perfected the double step-in toe hold. It was a minute and one half before Dotson patted the mat.

The referee announced at the start of the match that Dotson's weight was 190 and Chase's 165. Bill Knight of Skellytown and recently of Kansas City issued a challenge to the winner of the bout before the match began.

K. O. Kitchen of Fort Worth, a fast stepping, hard scrapping youngster, won a decision over Frankie Mack in a preliminary boxing bout. Kitchen started in like a hurricane and kept it up for the four rounds. A right to the jaw, sent him sprawling to the floor but the referee failed to count. Three of the four rounds. A right to the side of fourth was a draw. Both were in the 130-pound class. The preliminary card was not at all boring though it included youngsters only. Reginald Wortman won a decision over Victor Wade. Curtis Simpson and Andy Gump fought to a draw.

Spudders' Margin Is Boosted When Indians Go Down

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

While their two staunch rivals for the second half crown, Dallas and Houston, were battling to a 1-1 deadlock in 10 innings in the Bayou City, the Spudders calmly went about their task of subduing the basement dwelling Indians for the third straight day, 5 to 6. The Gallowaymen thus entered the final phase of their southern invasion with a two and one-half game margin over their closest pursuers.

The leaders are booked for four games in Waco's bandbox park, including a doubleheader probably Sunday. With four straight triumphs behind them, they will be favored to capture the series. A clean sweep at this point virtually would sew things up for the Oilers. The Steers moved over to Beaumont for four tussles in three days. Shreveport was at Houston and San Antonio at Fort Worth.

In tightening their hold on the pinnacle the Spudders scored two runs in the ninth after the tribe had squared matters, 6 to 6, with a similar rally in the eighth. Both Hobo Carson of the Indians and Steengrafe of the Spudders were batted hard. Payne pitched the final frame for the leaders and held the down-staters scoreless.

Sarge Connally's usual seventh inning lapse enabled the Buffs to count their only run and force the encounter at Houston into extra innings. The Steers had scored on Flint Rhem in the fourth. Connally, it seems, cannot resist experimenting when he gets to the seventh without having allowed a run. The story of his weakness followed him down from the big leagues.

Shreveport made it three out of four at Beaumont and took undisputed possession of the third rung by sixth.

downing the Exporters, 9 to 2, in their final Colliard limited the Shippers to six bingles, while his mates were drumming 15 knocks off four opposing chunkers. A six-run outburst in the first chapter led the game.

Another free-hitting contest saw the Panthers close their Waco engagement with a 9 to 5 victory. McCabe stuck by their guns. The Cats salted it away with five tallies in the

Cubs Amazed As Pirates Take 3 Straight Games

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The march of Pittsburgh's phantom legion moves on through the darkness in a stubborn attempt to recapture a vanished hope. This return of corsair ghosts from the grave is giving the National league the only shred of a supreme moment the stretch run of 1929 can know.

The miracle may last no longer, but remarkably enough, it has carried through three games in two days, to the utter amazement of Joseph McCarthy and the Cubs. The third Pittsburgh decision was gained 5 to 4 at Forbes field yesterday.

The venerable Mr. Jesse Petty held his own so well against nine right-handed Bruin swingers the Pirates were able to eke out the decision in the sixth when two runs were scored on Traynor's triple, Grantham's double, Conroy's infield hit and Hemsley's sacrifice fly. Hal Carlson allowed only eight hits to ten by Petty, but was unfortunate enough to see them bunched.

Bill Walker, young Giant southpaw flitted with the hall of fame at Ebbets field when he held the Robins hitless through eight rounds only to see them pick up four blows and two runs in the ninth. The Giants won, 6 to 2. The Phillies scored twice in the tenth at Boston to nose out the Braves, 5 to 4.

The Athletics added half a game to their lead by shading the Red Sox 7 to 5 at Shibe park as the Yankees divided two with the Senators at the big stadium in the Bronx. Babe Ruth's thirty-seventh home run enabled the Yanks to save the opener, 5 to 4, after a circuit drive by Goose Goslin apparently had sewed up the decision. Washington routed Hoyt in the nightcap, 8 to 4.

Ted Lyons continued his rampage by shading the ambitious Indians in Chicago, 2 to 1. Willis Hudlin made the White Sox work for everything they got

Kid Chocolate Is Winner—He Finds Al Singer Tough

NEW YORK, Aug. 30. (AP)—The amazing ring record of Eligio Sardinias—Cuba's Kid Chocolate—still was unmarred by defeat today, but the smiling Cuban negro has found at least one foe who can give him a run for his money.

Through 12 rounds of bristling action, Chocolate and young Al Singer, Jewish idol of the Bronx, battled out close to even terms at the Polo Grounds last night with the decision going to the Cuban.

So close was the struggle that some portion of the crowd of 45,000 who jammed their way into the home of the New York baseball Giants, booed lustily when the decision was announced.

There were no knockouts but there was plenty of action. Against Singer's superior aggressiveness and harder hitting power, Chocolate fought a heady battle. He was content to lay back, keep Singer off with a snaky left until the going got tough. Then he tore in furiously and had the Bronx idol holding on at several stages of the battle.

Although neither seemed at any time to be in any particular danger of a knockout, there were not a few moments when it appeared that a few more blows to the right spot might cut the fight short and send one or the other home a victor by other than the decision route.

Chocolate weighed 125 pounds; Singer 128 3-4.

The gate was in excess of $200,000, the biggest purse any division lighter than the lightweights ever has drawn.

Glen Cecil, who has been seriously ill with typhoid at the home of his sister, Mrs. Joe Shelton, today was reported much improved. His sister, Miss Veima Cecil of Durham, Okla., who has been with him and Mrs. Shelton the last two weeks, returned home today.

Six Polo Teams Out For Title

NEW YORK, Aug. 30. (AP)—Six teams, numbering in their ranks the finest polo talent in the United States and England, begin their quest for the national open championship on international field at Westbury, Long Island, tomorrow.

The opening encounter brings together Tommy Hitchcock's Sands Point four and the Anglo-American Eastcotts, led by Earl W. Hoping. On Monday, old Aiken's junior title-holders will meet Greentree and on Wednesday the Anglo-American hurricanes and Roslyn will clash.

Coleman Loses To Midland 12 to 3

COLEMAN, Aug. 30. (AP)—Vanquished ingloriously yesterday, the Coleman team hoped to present a sterner front this afternoon in the second game with Midland for the West Texas league championship.

Poor pitching early in the contest, together with errors that cost seven unearned runs in the eighth inning, helped lead the Bobcats to a 12-3 defeat.

Where Economy of Distribution and Large Group Buying Make Possible Important Savings to Millions of Families

WHEN our New Store throws open its doors, it will present an entirely new idea in Distribution Service.

First of all, it will be a Local Service Institution, attuned to local needs, in harmony with local projects, manned by local people.

It will be a better local store because of its National Resources, making possible Economy in Buying and Operating.

Most important of all, this Store will have an individually selected stock of goods—not standardized—not just like that of any other J. C. Penney Company Store—but bought by our Manager for this Store and for this Community.

The folks who buy at this New Store will buy here—not because it is part of a National Organization, not because we have other Stores extending "from Ocean to Ocean"—but because of WHAT THIS STORE CAN DO FOR THEM! And that is as it should be. We expect to build this business strictly on the merits of THIS STORE and its Service to you.

But because of our National Relation to the World's Markets, and because of our ability to effect very large savings in everything we buy—because of these things—we expect to make our Local Store Service more convincingly apparent than would otherwise be possible.

The Lost Hope of Regaining Health

Sargon relieved me of one of the most cases of stomach trouble and indigestion anyone ever had. It toned my whole system and I feel like a different woman. I was so nervous that I never could get a good night's sleep and would wake in the mornings tired to move. I had suffered with indigestion nearly all my life and had almost decided that I couldn't hope to ever be well again. My what a surprise I got when I started the Sargon treatment. Six bottles of this wonderful medicine ended my stomach trouble entirely. I'm eating just anything I want now and my digestion is perfect. I'm not nervous any more and my sleep is sound and restful. I feel so much better in every way that I hardly know how to praise Sargon enough.

"The Sargon Pills gave me lasting relief from constipation and worked so naturally that I never felt nauseated or upset from taking them. I am glad to tell what Sargon has done for me in hopes that it will help others to regain their health."—Mrs. Alice Brook, 915 W. Buff St. Fort Worth.

Veterans Demand More Facilities

ST. PAUL, Aug. 29. (AP)—Additional hospital facilities for disabled veterans throughout the United States was demanded in a resolution adopted by the veterans of foreign wars at their 30th annual encampment here. Adopting the report of its committee on legislation, the veterans also went on record as favoring increase in pay for all of the military forces of the nation.

liberalization of rules relating to hospitalization of veterans and endorsing the Brookhart bill providing for immediate payment of adjusted compensation allowed by the government. The organization also recorded itself as opposing the placing of any time limit on filing claims for disability and also to permit suit by the claimant on any denied claims.

Mrs. A. E. Heger is satisfactorily recovering from an operation at Pampa hospital.

Pioneer Cattleman Dies Today at His Home in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Aug. 30. (AP)—Eugene W. Clark, 69, pioneer cattleman and capitalist, died at noon today after an illness of more than one year.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

For approximately 26 years Mr. Clark has maintained his home in Fort Worth, but during that period has spent considerable time on his West Texas ranches. He was known as a man whose wealth was the result of hard labor during the pioneer days of the state.

The first few dollars which he earned, some of which were saved for his start as a cattleman, were made as a clerk in a dry goods store and as a cowboy.

Born in Denton county, Mr. Clark as a youth went into New Mexico to work as a cowboy. He was employed on the famous Chisum ranch and later on the George W. Littlefield ranch, both in New Mexico.

Then he began trading in cattle, partly from the funds he had earned as a ranch hand. As a cattle trader success crowned his efforts.

In 1901 he and W. E. Connell of Fort Worth purchased the Frank and A. J. Lang ranch near Post which was known as the O. S. ranch. This partnership continued for a number of

Nude Paraders Are Hauled to Jail in Trucks by Police

NELSON, B. C., Aug. 30. (AP)—The provincial and city jails were packed to overflowing today with 150 Doukhobors, members of a Russian religious sect, who started a nude parade on the highway 15 miles south of the city yesterday only to be rounded up by provincial police and special officers.

A march on Nelson was begun several days ago in protest against the imprisonment of Peter Wolsoff, Doukhobor, in connection with the burning of Doukhobor schools.

When provincial police arrived yesterday to arrest four members who had disobeyed, over 100 of the marchers, men, women and children, took off their clothing. They were given half an hour to dress. Refusing, they were loaded into trucks, automobiles and buses, and brought here. Sixty special officers were sworn in to aid the police.

A special truck carrying discarded clothing dumped the garments in the prison yard, but the protestants still declined to resume habits of civilization.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
MOLLY BURHAM, young and lovely playwright, received reporters in her suite at the Plaza. The night before, witnessed the premiere of her play, "The Death of Delphine Darrows." It was an exciting and in some ways a surprising success. Molly had spent a few hours with her father, who had waited at the hotel to see her privately.

In the morning, when she had slept scarcely an hour, reporters came clamoring for interviews. They asked her what her plans were for the future, and Molly says she does not know. As a matter of fact, she is in love with JACK WELLS, and has some vague notions of marrying him shortly.

But the reporters do not know that. When she hints at romance, they assume that RED BURNHAM, a police court reporter, is the lucky man. In no time, the next editions are on the street. "Molly Burham Engaged," they scream. "Girl Playwright to Wed Newspaper Man."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIV
THE following story, typical of many, appeared that afternoon on the front page of a New York evening paper.

"Molly Burham, hinting seriously at romance, received reporters today in her palatial suite at the Plaza.

"When Dopey Dan fired the shot that made Miss Burham famous, George Flynn, police court reporter in Boston, conceived an idea that should make her rich, as well as an ex-press agent. Mr. Flynn appreciated the value of Dopey Dan's erring aim. A victim as pretty as Miss Burham should never be shot in vain. George knew his stuff, and proceeded to turn the spectacular assault into a dramatic flier.

"Miss Burham admits that the plot for 'The Death of Delphine Darrows' originated in the fertile brain of the police court reporter. It was she, who wrote the script. And last night a wildly enthusiastic audience welcomed the premiere of their joint efforts.

"Looking more like a debutante than a seasoned newspaper woman, Miss Molly admitted today a hankering for romance. But, pressed for details, she refused to make a statement.

"I don't know whether I'm engaged or not," she declared, and declined to corroborate rumors that Mr. Flynn was the lucky man.

Mr. Flynn, covering police court in Boston, also refused to talk. Friends of the couple expect formal announcement of the engagement within a few days.

"Oh, Red, it's terrible! They say we're engaged!"

"Yeah, I know. The office had a flash."

Molly reached for her telephone. She would not wait any longer. She must share the details of her success with Jack.

"Oh, Jack—hello. I was afraid I'd missed you. The best news I've been waiting and waiting for you to call. I should think you'd be just dying to take me to luncheon. She laughed excitedly. "A famous lady like me!" she cried.

"I didn't know a famous lady like you would want to go anywhere with a poor man like me."

"Oh, Jack, I'm simply fawning for the sight of you!"

"No, he went back to Boston this morning. Why, Jack, what's the matter? You know I'd rather be with you than Red."

He laughed shortly.

"You're getting very modern aren't you, Molly?"

"What do you mean?" she demanded.

"Well, I suppose it's ultra-modern to announce your engagement to one fellow, and be seen dining with an old beau. Sort of proving your independence from the kick-off, is that it?"

"Oh, gosh, Molly, haven't you made a chump out of me long enough?"

"I've just seen the afternoon papers," he told her.

"But I don't know what you're talking about, honey!"

"Then you didn't mean to let it out so soon?" he questioned. "Your engagement to Flynn? Well, somebody's spilled it. Better get the last editions, Molly, and treat yourself to the news."

HE broke the connection abruptly, and Molly sat for a moment with the receiver dangling limply, gazing foolishly at the telephone. When she recovered her composure, she asked that the afternoon papers be sent to her room. . . . And there it was, screaming at her from the front pages.

It was like a nightmare. Her picture and Red's, taken on the sands at Don Ce-Sar in St. Petersburg.

The telephone rang, but she scarcely heard it as she scanned sheet after sheet. And it rang, and rang.

"Boston is calling, Miss Burham," the operator told her. "Mr. George Flynn."

For interminable minutes she held the line. What should she say to him? What must he think of her?"

"Molly, this is Red. What's it all about, Molly?"

"Oh, Red, it's terrible! They say we're engaged!"

"Yeah, I know. The office had a flash."

any more interviews of a personal nature.

"Mr. Burbin says your fiance's name is Wells," broke in one of the men. "Do you wish to deny the rumor of your engagement to Mr. Flynn?"

"I'll not deny anything."

"Then you are engaged to Mr. Flynn?"

Molly colored angrily. She knew their methods so well.

"Please," she begged them, "don't deny anything. Just kill it."

"Will you pose for some more pictures?" they clamored.

"If you'll promise to do as fast," she bargained.

They went back to her room, and Molly put on various hats for them. She even changed to the green gown she had worn the night before.

"That's a lovely one you had on," remarked a girl. "I suppose you get all your frocks in Paris, Miss Burham?"

Molly laughed.

"I've never been to Paris, or anywhere," she declared. "And that, her eyes sparkling, she cried, 'I'm going!'"

She'd run away, she decided impulsively, from everything, from Snodgrass and her mother, from Boston and Red. Yes—from New York even—and Jack.

And that afternoon she made reservations to sail for Naples on the Conte Biancamano.

The next day Red's letter came. And also a note from the news at college, who had advised her not to try to combine marriage with a career. The dean wondered politely if Miss Burham would be kind enough to return for commencement, to speak to the graduating class.

"There was a letter, too—from Rita, begging Molly to go to see her. Rita was ill, and worried. Rita hadn't been here, since the baby was born. Besides, Molly had never seen her little daughter."

"I'll run up to Boston and visit Rita and go to commencement," decided Molly. "There'll be plenty of time before I sail."

She had said Red's letter, with the last of the night, and she had not of what it was that she had written this morning, and I—

Peace in Palestine Is Demanded
On Behalf of Jewish People of America in Resolution Adopted

NEW YORK, Aug. 30. (AP)—Restoration of peace in Palestine is demanded on behalf of the Jewish people of America in a resolution adopted at a mass meeting in Madison Square Garden. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was the principal speaker.

A message from President Hoover, read at the meeting last night, expressed confidence that "out of this tragic event will come greater security and greater safeguards for the future, under which the steady rehabilitation of the Palestine as a true homeland will be even more assured."

"Our advice is that the vigorous action taken by the British government has restored a large measure of protection, although that government is still faced with great burdens from this outburst of fanaticism," the president's message said.

Laxity of local officers in Palestine rather than the British government, was blamed for the outbreaks by Senator Borah, who asserted "this catastrophe was the result of carelessness or stupidity or both."

JERUSALEM, Aug. 30. (AP)—Palestine today gradually approached tranquility with the strong arm of the British military enforcing peace where for five days turmoil and racial strife reigned.

There was continued desultory fighting in the less populated sections. Looting continued even in Jerusalem and danger from marauding tribes of Bedouins from Southern Palestine and Transjordan still existed.

Looters caught in the act were ordered shot forthwith by court martial. The Pelahien—the Arab peasantry—who fear the wild Bedouins almost as much as do the Jews brought their children as hostages of peace to the Jewish labor settlement, Kiryath Anavian.

The Jewish colonists were deeply touched by the sign of friendliness, which served somewhat to cool the passions aroused by stories of Arab atrocities on Jewish girls and youth in other parts of the Holy Land.

Today, the Moslem Sabbath, was looked upon as critical with Musselmen gathering in their mosques. With its passage it was believed the situation would grow steadily better. Arab leaders arranged a huge assembly at the Mosque of Omar in Jerusalem. There were continued scattered disorders.

A British colonial office communique said the total casualties to August 28, including those previously listed as killed or dead from wounds, were Moslems 52; Christians 4; Jews 96; total 152. Wounded in hospitals, Moslems 103; Christians 9; Jews 151; total 263.

Dr. Eckener Gets Hard-Won Reward
Of Quiet Sleep

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—On the outermost edge of Washington, Dr. Hugo Eckener, 60-year-old master of the Graf Zeppelin's world-circling flight, obtained his hard-won reward of peaceful sleep before arising early today to fly back to New York.

The commander of the great airship was given his choice of the "most gorgeous" suite of Washington's most luxurious hotel, or a quiet room in the secluded home of Dr. O. C. Keip, German charge d'affaires.

"I'll take the quiet spot," said Dr. Eckener.

He had earned it. Twenty-one days, 7 hours, 33 minutes of tension and tumult had preceded his strenuous triumphal return Thursday. Motor-throb and siren-shriek, mile-consuming glidings over the uninhabited wastelands of earth and stops amid the pandemonium of crowds, speeches, photographs—life had moved to a swift tempo for Dr. Eckener.

With characteristic thoroughness, he tied up all the littletag ends of his trip before he allowed himself to rest. He paid his courtesy call on President Hoover and expressed his gratitude for the cooperation he received from America. He thanked the navy for its weather reports, and for the man power in the Zeppelin ground crew. He visited the secretary of state.

Tariff Bill to Be Rushed Now
Before December

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—Intent on driving the tariff bill through the senate before the regular session begins in December, administration leaders are planning to hold up any other national business except that of an emergency nature.

It is entirely possible for this reason that President Hoover may withhold all but the most necessary nominations until the December session.

However, names of the newly organized farm heads will be transmitted to the senate next week when it meets for business. While confirmation of the board is anticipated there are indications of some trouble. Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, has served notice he wants the board members summoned before a senate committee for questioning.

Mr. Hoover also has a number of diplomatic appointments to make and several judicial nominations, but in view of the attitude of republican leaders it seems likely he may withhold some of these. Filling the various diplomatic posts is proving a vexing problem for the president, anyway.

More than 500 applications are known to be on file for the prize diplomatic assignments.

The request of Mr. Hoover for appointment of a joint congressional committee to study the feasibility of unifying the prohibition enforcement agencies is the unfinished business before the senate. This ran into some difficulties at the last session, and it appears likely that if opposition develops to the resolution authorizing such a committee it will be sidetracked for the tariff.

in the law of Moses, which Jehovah, the God of Israel, had given; and the king granted him all his request, according to the hand of Jehovah his God upon him.

7. And there went up some of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and the Levites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinim, unto Jerusalem, in the seventh year of Artaxerxes the king.

8. And he came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king.

9. For upon the first day of the first month began he to go up from Babylon; and on the first day of the fifth month came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him.

10. For Ezra had set his heart to seek the law of Jehovah, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and ordinances.

Ezra 8:21. Then I proclaimed a fast there, at the river of Ahava, that we might humble ourselves before our God, and seek of Him a straight way for us, and for our little ones, and for all our substance.

22. For I was ashamed to ask of the king a band of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way, because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them that seek Him, for good; but His power and His wrath is against all them that forsake Him.

23. So we fasted and besought our God for this; and He was entreated of us.

31. Then we departed from the river Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go unto Jerusalem; and the hand of our God was upon us, and He delivered us from the hand of the enemy and the lie-in-wait by the way.

32. And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three days.

Golden Text:—The hand of our God is upon all them that seek Him; for good.—Ezra 8:22.

Time:—B. C. 458, from about March 20 to about July 20.

Place:—Babylon to Jerusalem, by probably, of Carchemish, about nine hundred miles.

INTRODUCTION
 The first return from exile was permitted by Cyrus king of Persia, and was led by Zerubbabel the governor and Joshua the high priest. The great work accomplished was the rebuilding of the temple. The second return was permitted by Artaxerxes Longimanus, king of Persia, eighty years after the first return. The intervening reigns were those of Cambyses, Darius Hystaspis, and Xerxes. Under Parus the Persians were defeated by the Greeks at Marathon, and under Xerxes they were defeated by the Greeks at Thermopylae and Salamis. Esther was the queen of Xerxes. During the years the great names were Pindar, Aeschylus, Aristides, Miltiades, and Sophocles. The leader of this second return was Ezra.

Ezra the Scribe
 His name means "Help." He was a priest, and this chapter gives his descent from Aaron through his son and successor Eleazar. In Ezra's line of ancestors was Zadok, the high priest who was faithful to David.

We read that Ezra was "a ready scribe in the law of Moses." This would involve much linguistic and critical research, since the Old Hebrew was no longer generally intelligible to the exiles, whose language had come to be the Aramaic, or so-called "Chaldee."

The book of Ezra was written at least in part by Ezra himself, for the first personal pronoun is used; but he may have been the author also of the portions written in the third person. In the Jewish Bible Ezra and Nehemiah are combined as one book.

Religious Decline
 "This Ezra went up from Babylon." For a time it seemed as though the long detention in a foreign land had purged the exiles from idolatry and religious indifference. The work of rebuilding the temple was carried out by Zerubbabel and the priests, the ritual and ceremonies of the old religion were reinstated, and a brief period of zeal lighted up the nation. Then a reaction followed; long years of deterioration ensued, and the state seemed to drift towards apostasy once more. The Jews began to intermarry with their heathen neighbors, the Sabbath was neglected, the temple services and sacrifice were forgotten by great numbers, and general demoralization took place. The priest, Ezra, heard of the apostasy in progress in Jerusalem, and obtained from the friendly king permission to go thither on a mission of inquiry."

Ezra Leads Caravan
 "And on the first day of the fifth month came he to Jerusalem." The journey lasted throughout eighteen days of Nisan, and the three months, Iyyar, Sivan, and Tammuz; in all about 108 days. As the crow flies, the distance from Babylon to Jerusalem is over 500 miles. But the road followed by Ezra's caravan made a long detour by Carchemish so as to avoid the desert, and could hardly be less than nine hundred miles. According to the good hand of his God upon him—God's directing and preserving providence was manifest in guiding the train throughout an unknown region, and in preserving it from robbers and sickness.

Religious Education
 "For Ezra had set his heart to seek the law of Jehovah, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and ordinances." "Statutes" are the fixed rules; "ordinances" are general rights and duties; but often the two words are used, without distinction. The grand subject of religious education is righteousness.

Edict of Artaxerxes
 The edict which Artaxerxes issued in favor of Ezra and his expedition was similar to those of Cyrus and of Darius Hystaspis, but excelling even those in its generous terms. This important and really thrilling document gave all the Jews permission to return to Palestine. It offered to support with the revenues of the realm the temple services in Jerusalem. It freed from taxation the priests, Levites, and servants of the temple. It even made Ezra a ruler of the Jews throughout Palestine and the western portions of the empire, with power to enforce the law of God among them by death, banishment, confiscation of goods, or imprisonment. No wonder that, following the copy of this most remarkable document, Ezra was moved to burst with thanksgiving: "Blessed be Jehovah, the God of our fathers, who hath put such a thing as this in the king's heart."

A Divine Movement
 "This, then, was the divine movement. It can only be accounted for by ascribing the original impulse of God. Natural motives of policy or of superstition may have been providentially manipulated, but the hand that used them was the hand of God. The man who can perceive this immense fact at the very outset of his career is fit for any enterprise. His transcendent faith will carry him through difficulties that would be insuperable to the worldly schemer."

Ezra's Implicit Faith
 "So we fasted and besought our God for this; and He was entreated of us." "I am afraid a great many of us would rather have tried to reconcile our asking for a band of horsemen with our professed trust in God's hand; and there would have been plenty of excuses very ready about using means as well as exercising faith. But whatever truth there is in such considerations, at any rate we may as well learn the lesson of this story—to be true to our professed principles; to beware of making our religion a matter of words; to live, when the time for putting them into practice comes, by the maxims which we have been forward to proclaim when there was no risk in applying them. If 'the church' would oftener think of what 'the world' looks for from it, it would be ashamed of the terrible gap between its words and its deeds."

Ezra's Treasurers
 Before setting out on the long and hazardous journey, Ezra, like a good steward, made careful arrangements for the safekeeping of the treasure which the king, his counsellors, his princes, and many of the Jews in Babylon had placed in his hands for use in connection with the temple in Jerusalem. Ezra selected twenty-four men to have special charge of the treasures on the way, twelve of them priests and twelve of them Levites. He lists the items of the treasure a total value of $4,785,250. No wonder Ezra was anxious about this vast sum. No wonder he gave his twenty-four treasurers special instructions to keep it all carefully, watching over it until they should be able to weigh it into the hands of the priests, Levites, and clan

SPORT SLANTS

Alan J. Gould

The biggest drawing card on any gridiron this fall, or for that matter in any other field of sport, will be Christian Keener Cagle of Louisiana and West Point.

The Army's All-American ball-totter puts the finishing touches to a dazzling career this season and likely will pack 'em in, from Boston to Palo Alto, as they haven't been packed since the days of that other famous red head, Grange of Illinois.

Over the day-in-and-out campaign of baseball, Babe Ruth of course plays to far bigger crowds than any football hero, restricted to one performance a week in a season that lasts only about three months at the most but on the basis of drawing-power-per-game, Cagle is a bigger card than Ruth or anyone else in sport, at least for this year.

The Army captain, in his five main games last fall, furnished the main thrills for some 315,000 fans. This year, with West Point playing the most pretentious schedule of its history, Cagle's performances are likely to be the main attraction for upwards of 350,000, an average of 70,000 spectators for each of five games that will take place in Cambridge, New Haven, New York, Urbana and Palo Alto.

The biggest world's series turnout was 328,000, in 1926, when Babe Ruth, and the Yankees dropped the final decision to the Cardinals, and it took seven games to roll up that total.

Jack Dempsey, in his five outstanding title battles for the heavyweight championship, drew an aggregate of 899,000.

All of which seems to show that the big punch, the home run and the wild dash through a broken field make up a trio of the greatest "gate" attractions anywhere in the world of sport.

It was easier, in baseball's pre-war days for a pitcher to collect 30 victories than it was for a slugger to bang out 30 home runs. It wasn't unusual for a Mathewson, Young, Alexander or Johnson to bag 30 triumphs on the mound in the old days, but it was not until 1920 that Babe Ruth began rocking the firmament with unprecedented totals of circuit blows.

Now, the situation is exactly reversed, with the 30-or-more home run hitter no novelty whatever but the 30-victories-or-over apparently an extraordinary accomplishment among the box-men. Half a dozen clouters have passed the 30 mark already in home runs and as many more may do so before the season closes.

Not since Sergeant Jim Bagby turned the trick for Cleveland in 1920 has any twirler registered 30 victories and the spell won't be broken this season. Grove of the Athletics and Grimes of the Pirates got good starts, each reaching the 15th victory around mid-season but they bogged down somewhat after that, for one reason or another.

The clouter, it seems, is making it tougher for the pitcher.

Most of the star performers in the amateur golf championship at Pebble Beach may be pardoned for thinking about "Black Wednesday" with some apprehension, for that's the day when the 32 survivors of the qualifying rounds start match play with two 18-hole rounds. Not since he won the title in 1926 has George Von Elm gotten by this particular day of nerve-racking competition and the great Bobby Jones has had his closest calls in these opening tests.

...the temple chambers at
...Strict Carefulness
...have been a most valuable object lesson in the handling of money.

"First, these were good men, honest and trustworthy, whom Ezra selected.
This was important. Sometimes sufficient care is not taken in choosing those who are to be the custodians of money belonging to others. In this case the money and the treasures were all carefully weighed and the amount set down. Again, at the end of the journey, the men were required to account for everything they had received.

Some people are very careless about money matters. Young persons should learn that it is part of their religion to be strictly honest. If others put money into their hands for any purpose it should be accounted for to the last cent. No matter if only a few cents a month are to be handled, there should be the same careful putting down of the amount and the same accuracy in accounting for it at the end, as if the sum were thousands of dollars." The men themselves were holy; that is, they had been set apart to a holy service. The treasures entrusted to them were holy.
The money and the vessels did not belong to any man, but to God.

being completed, Ezra and his company offered burnt offerings and sin offerings in the temple, and celebrated a joyful thanksgiving for God's guidance and protection, and for the success of the great enterprise which he had brought to a happy conclusion.
Divine Leadership
Ezra was a believer in the divine providence. He placed his hand in God's and submitted to be led by Jehovah.

"Thy way, not mine, O Lord,
"However dark it be!
"Lead me by thine own hand,
"Choose out the path for me.
"I dare not choose my lot;
"I would not, if I might;
"Choose thou for me, my God,
"So shall I walk aright."
—Horatius Bonar.

"STANDARD BRAND MERCHANDISE AT POPULAR PRICES"

J. C. Penny Store Will Open Here Next Thursday

The J. C. Penny Company store will open here next Thursday, according to W. E. James, local manager. The fixtures for the store have been installed and the merchandise is being arranged in various departments.

Promotion from the ranks is the reason for the growth of the J. C. Penny Company, from a single store doing a business of $29,000 in 1902 to an organization which will total well over 1,500 stores doing a total of $250,000,000 a year, when the present expansion program is completed, according to J. C. Penny.

"My start came when the man who was employing me first gave me a chance to participate as a store manager and partner," he said in a recent interview.

"I have told the story many times of how that act on their part fired me with an ambition that nothing else could have created. I knew it would work with others just as it worked with me.

"When I opened my first store in Keosauqua, Wyo., I had little idea that the present chain would be developed. Even after the first five years, my partners and I looked upon 50 stores as the maximum to which we might ever aspire.

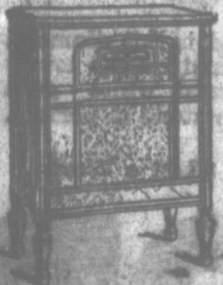

"Earl C. Sams, president of the J. C. Penny Company, was a clerk in my first store. Jim McDonald, one of our vice presidents, worked in the same capacity. Others in the executive personnel started in our early stores as clerks.

"As we trained men, we watched their development and as soon as they were fitted by experience to become store managers, new stores were opened. They followed our example. Today, every young man in our employ has the same opportunity that we had. It is an even greater opportunity for our growth is now at the greatest rate we have ever known."
