The SDN Column

Lyle Deffebach says that some past references to the Snyder Bottling Works in this column brought back some fond memories to him.

He recalls stopping off at the bottling works for a cold "soda pop" and watching the soft drinks being bottled. He said the plant was beside the RS&P tracks between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets and the bottling works was operated by a man named Marmey Looney.

Deffebach said the plant was in operation when his family moved here around 1909.

The Snyder Bottling Works has brought several inquiries from different places during the past year or so because some of the old bottles had turned up as collector's items as far away as the Dallas-Fort Worth area. These old bottles were different from those used now because the bottlers in the early days had a capping problem. There was a permanent spring in the neck of the thick, blue glass bottle, and the actual stopper came up from below the neck. It was released by a sharp blow to the top which sent the stopper down into the bottle itself, allowing the liquid to by-pass it. Sometimes it took a fast drinker to get the pop before it spewed out.

The log cabin, for scores of years a symbol of quality, especially in political life, apparently has become a victim of inflation. For a long time, some of America's most successful politicians pointed with pride to the fact that they were born in log cabins.

So, it was somewhat startling to see an advertisment in a national magazine offering rentals of log cabins in Maine during the vacation season at $90 per week. Abraham Lincoln never could have made it in the Nixon era.

IN NATIONAL DRAFT LOTTERY

Youths Given Numbers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born on July 9, 1951, will be the first called for the draft in 1971, under a national lottery conducted today.

That date and low number were the 11th set to be matched in the lottery drawing, assigning numbers and dates in a scrambled sequence.

The first drawing of the lottery assigned No. 139 to Sept. 16.

As the drawing continued No. 235 was assigned to April 27; then No. 185 to Jan. 18; No. 5 to Oct. 21; and No. 134 to Oct. 3.

The lottery is to assign numbers from one to 365, each to one date of the year, corresponding to the birthday of men born in 1951.

The selections were made by the drawing of capsules from two plexiglass drums, rotated between each call.

For each selection a red capsule containing a date was picked out and matched with the number from a green capsule drawn from the other drum.

The numbers and dates were drawn by delegates to a convention of the Selective Service Youth Advisory Committee.

The drum with green capsules broke down just before the lottery was to begin, causing a 15-minute delay until it was repaired.

The drawing will determine the order in which men will be selected for military service next year. About two million 19-year-olds are involved in the lottery results. How many of these are called will depend on the Pentagon's manpower needs.

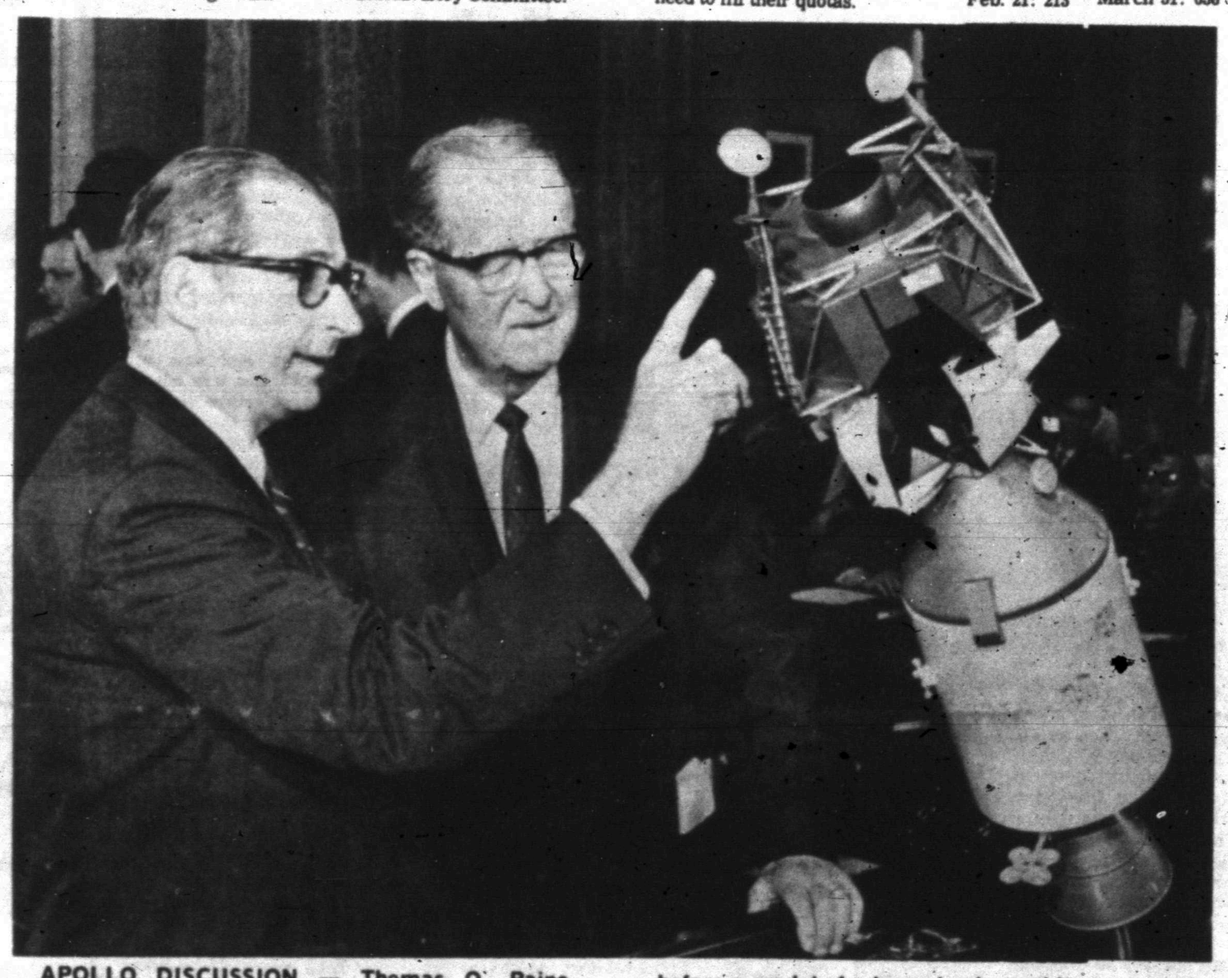

Men whose birth dates are matched with the lowest numbers will be drafted first. Draft boards will go as high as they need to fill their quotas.

2 US 'Copters Are Shot Down

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. helicopters were shot down Tuesday night just inside South Vietnam's border with Cambodia, killing eight Americans and wounding five, the U.S. Command announced today.

A spokesman said it was not known what type of mission the two UH1 choppers were on when enemy fire brought them down one and two miles south of the border across which the last American combat troops in Cambodia had withdrawn the day before.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported a total of 86 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed in scattered fighting in South Vietnam, most of them by air attack.

In Cambodia, more than 5,000 South Vietnamese troops were sweeping areas north of Phnom Penh, and 800 more U.S.-trained mercenaries arrived in the capital to bolster its defenses.

The South Vietnamese reported no contact with the enemy, and a Cambodian military spokesman here said the only significant actions reported in the country were probes against government positions at Siem Reap, in the northwest, and a mortar attack on Neak Luong, the Mekong River ferry crossing 35 miles southeast of Phnom Penh where the South Vietnamese have located a big new logistics base.

The mortar attack killed three civilians and wounded six, but there were neither casualties nor damage at the new base, the spokesman said.

Informants in Saigon said the South Vietnamese task force operating north of Phnom Penh was made up of nearly a full brigade of some 2,500 marines and about the same number of infantrymen supported by armored cavalry. Officials in Phnom Penh said the operation launched earlier this week had led to the collapse of enemy pressure in areas just beyond the capital.

The mercenaries are Cambodians living in South Vietnam who were trained by U.S. Green Berets. They arrived in Phnom Penh in a 40-truck convoy, joining more than 4,000 like them who are charged primarily with defending the capital.

Cambodia's deposed chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, ended a two-week state visit to North Korea today and left by train, presumably for Peking.

Pat Back From Peru

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon came home from Peru with compliments for a goodwill relief mission described as diplomatically and personally successful.

She said she hoped it would focus worldwide attention on the needs of 800,000 people homeless since a May 31 earthquake.

"They have a lot of courage and will and I know they will recover with the help of the people in this country and throughout the world," she said on her arrival Tuesday.

Mrs. Nixon noted the U.S. may have competition in relief aid, referring to rumblings of international rivalry in the effort. But, she said, "That's good. I don't mind that kind of competition."

Mrs. Nixon won thanks and praise from Peruvian officials, from President Nixon and from the refugees she went to console in the devastated high valleys of the Andes.

It was a mission such as no other first lady ever had undertaken. And President Nixon jokingly suggested: "We will now have invitations for her to represent us in other places, too."

Sounding out the diplomatic reactions in Lima, U.S. Ambassador Taylor G. Belcher said the trip was "a tremendous success" and would certainly improve the somewhat strained diplomatic relations between the two countries. "It can't help but help," he added.

President Nixon, welcoming his wife home, said her journey had been "in effect, people speaking to people, despite differences between governments" and "we should have more of it."

Mrs. Nixon reported the earthquake disaster was of a magnitude she could scarcely believe—"just whole valleys destroyed."

Senators Rebuke Nixon For Cambodia Action

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war senators have rebuked President Nixon for sending troops into Cambodia with a surprisingly large vote to curtail future U.S. troop operations in the Southeast Asian nation.

By a 58-37 vote, the Senate approved the controversial Cooper-Church amendment Tuesday following eight weeks of heated debate. The measure, however, faces another long fight and possible modification when conferees seek to resolve differences between the versions passed by the House and Senate.

At the Western White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President didn't consider the action a rebuff.

"I think the Senate has clearly recognized the constitutional power and responsibility of the commander-in-chief," he said. On the other hand, the White House had maintained constant opposition to the amendment, sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

The vote came several hours after Nixon termed the Cambodian incursion a success, officially announced all U.S. elements had been withdrawn and vowed to make new efforts for a negotiated peace settlement for all of Indochina.

He said in a written statement from the California White House the attack would save American and allied lives in the future and assure the orderly withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

At least two more debates over U.S. policy in Southeast Asia are expected in the Senate in coming weeks. One will come on a resolution to repeal the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, even though such action was included in the Cooper-Church amendment.

The second will come when a bipartisan team of senators headed by Democrat George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Republican Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon try to amend the upcoming military procurement bill with their "Amendment to End the War" by requiring withdrawal of all American forces from Indochina by next July 1.

It is considered much more drastic—and its chances for passage considerably less—than the Cooper-Church measure, which limits funds for U.S. activities in Cambodia.

Use of U.S. ground combat troops in Laos or Thailand was barred by an amendment passed last year to the defense appropriations bill.

Big Bend Area Gets Big Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Torrential rains sent flood waters tumbling down the Rio Grande below Presidio in West Texas today, but later reports said there was no significant damage and the flood waters were dropping.

"The big rains have moved away from here," said the Weather Bureau in El Paso at mid-morning. "Everywhere the water is down considerably compared with yesterday."

Acting Supt. Roy Allen reported from Big Bend National Park that the situation had eased off "and we have no concern now." Heavy local rain had dampened the enthusiasm of some of the camping tourists, he said, but they were in no danger and none had been warned to move.

The big rains came as result of hurricane which was dissipating after striking ashore south of Mazatlan on Mexico's Pacific coast.

Thunderstorms and heavy showers fell elsewhere from the Panhandle southward into extreme Southwest Texas, with lighter activity continuing into this morning.

It was clear to partly cloudy, hot and dry over the rest of the state.

Official observers measured 4 inches of rain at Presidio before midnight. They said word trickling in from south of the border indicated deluges of 5 to 6 inches, and possibly more.

Although the Rio Grande gauge reached the 13-foot flood stage at Presidio, the sheriff's office said the stream still had not overflowed approaches to the international bridge there as it sometimes does during high water.

Much of the rise was attributed to a heavy inflow from the Rio Conchos, which courses northward from Mexico to join the Rio Grande near Presidio.

The flood crest headed through a wild and remote section where little or no damage was expected, officials said.

North of the Big Bend park in the West Texas mountains, rainfall measurements dwindled to .53 inch at Marfa and .41 at Alpine.

Hot weather, hanging on as June gave way to July, sent thermometers as high Tuesday afternoon as 99 degrees at Wichita Falls. The mercury reached 98 at Mineral Wells, 97 at Cotulla and Texarkana, 96 at Lufkin and 95 at Austin, Beaumont, College Station, Dallas, Fort Worth, Laredo, Port Arthur and Waco.

NY's New Abortion Law In Effect

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's most liberal abortion law goes into effect today in New York State. More than 700 women have already been scheduled for the operation in New York City municipal hospitals.

The new law contains no residency requirement and speculation on the number of women who will seek abortions here has ranged from 110,000 up to as many as 500,000 a year.

Under the new law the decision to have an abortion is left to the woman and her physician and the operation is permitted up to the 24th week of pregnancy.

Dr. Shirley Mayer of the city's Bureau of Maternal and Child Care predicted Tuesday that the city's facilities would be adequate for "our own residents, but we'll just have to wait and see about the out-of-towners."

Hospitals in the city have been preparing for the last two months to deal with the expected demand. The City Board of Health has also approved performance of the operation in certain types of clinics.

The fee for a non-Medicaid patient at a city hospital is expected to run from $110 to $125. Ward patients at voluntary hospitals will pay about the same while a private patient's cost will depend largely on her physician's fee.

The Blue Shield announced Tuesday it would pay doctors' fees ranging from $50 to $150 for its subscribers, married or unmarried, if the abortion is performed in a government-approved facility.

Blue Cross said it will allow payments for abortions performed in member hospitals and, for the first time in its history, will pay maternity benefits —including abortion fees—for unmarried females.

Both the Roman Catholic Church and a spokesman for Orthodox Jews have reminded their followers that church and Torah law prohibit abortion.

Workshop For School Postponed

A linguistics workshop scheduled to begin next Monday for Snyder Public Schools has been postponed for one week.

Pat Falls, assistant superintendent, said that the postponement was necessary because of the death of the husband of Mrs. Betty Martin of Odessa, who will conduct the workshop.

The workshop will be held July 13-17, and registration is still open to anyone desiring to take the course.

The high cost of senior proms

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Tonight was the Senior Prom and a lot of nice girls sat home wondering why they didn't get asked. I am a nice boy who went, and now I wish I hadn't and I'll tell you why. It cost me over $50. Not for the prom itself, but on all the junk that went with it.

My girl already had tickets to the prom and she said, "It won't cost much—let's go." So I said, "Sure."

At first she said she would wear her old formal and I could wear my suit. Next thing I knew she started talking about the gorgeous formal she was making, and I felt like a heel not to rent a tux to match, so I did. She said she didn't need a corsage—a nosegay would be nice. Well, that was $10. She said she would fix something to eat at her house after the prom, but that night she didn't say a word about it. I guess she forgot so we went to the restaurant all the kids go to. Another $20.

Abby, that evening cost me two week's wages. And for what? SADDER BUT WISER, BREMERTON, WASH.

DEAR SADDER: The way I see it, you could have gone to the prom without all the frills and saved a few bucks. Your mistake was getting roped into a more costly deal than you originally bargained for. But don't blame the girl. You could have held your ground. [P. S. And you'd better learn how to say NO or you'll wind up with a wife who will put you in the poorhouse.]

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who interrupts me every time I start to say something. I get about two words said, and she cuts me off, and I never do get to finish what I started to say.

I think this is just plain rude. Is there some way I can let her know how much I dislike this about her! BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: If you can't get more than two words said before she interrupts you, maybe you'd better write HER a letter instead of me.

DEAR ABBY: I need your assistance. When your son's wife calls you up and says, "My family is coming to dinner to celebrate Andrea's birthday. Come if you want to," should I refuse or accept?

Andrea is my little grandchild, and I love her dearly, but what kind of an invitation do you call that? And what should I do! HURT

DEAR HURT: I call it a pretty shabby invitation. But don't stay away in order to "punish" your daughter-in-law. You would only be punishing yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I want to tell that 14-year-old, signed "NOT CONCEITED," that I am a woman past 80 years old. I live alone and have a full length mirror near my front door. There I always pause before going out, to take a good look at myself. How else would I know if my petticoat was hanging? Of course endless primping is a waste of time, but a little last minute glimpse is reassuring.

NOT CONCEITED, JUST CONCERNED

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Traditional Steak Dinner Cancelled

PANAMA (AP) — A traditional steak dinner celebrating United States Independence Day has been cancelled because Panamanian officials, miffed at Washington, passed the word they wouldn't attend.

They are angry at a U.S. decision to grant political asylum to three fugitive colonels wanted for trying to oust Panamanian strongman Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos.

The steak dinner, held by the Strangers Club in the city of Colon, has been an annual event, with Panamanian leaders, including the president, attending.

Election Costly

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Almost a quarter of the candidates in South Africa's April general election found their entry into politics cost them $560 when they had to forfeit their deposits. Ninety-five of the 404 candidates failed to poll one-fifth of the votes of the winning candidates in their constituencies.

Nixon On TV-Radio Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon, following up a written report to the nation on U.S. military operations in Cambodia, may disclose tonight whether he plans to name a new chief peace negotiator in Paris.

Nixon will answer an hour of questions starting at 10 p.m. EDT from one representative of each of the three major television-radio networks on foreign affairs topics.

It was evident in advance that Nixon would be asked about nomination of a successor to former negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge, who resigned last December.

The President said Tuesday that "we shall renew our efforts to bring about genuine negotiations both in Paris and for all of Indochina."

A White House official, declining to be identified, briefed newsmen at the Western White House in San Clemente after Nixon's statement was made public. The aide said the question of a new peace negotiator naturally would be a part of any review of approaches to negotiations.

Nixon flew to Los Angeles Tuesday evening to prepare for his TV-radio appearance. Staying at the Century Plaza Hotel, with only a handful of aides accompanying him, Nixon was said to be reading and gathering his thoughts for the session with the questioners.

Although John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, while occupying the White House, had similar conversations with broadcasters, they were filmed in advance and subjected to editing. Nixon will be the first president to make a live appearance on a network special of this type.

Prison Cook Tastes Freedom

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — A prison cook who wanted to consult on Wednesday's menu got a taste of freedom, says warden Carl Hocker of the Nevada State Prison.

Hocker said Robert Dean Dickey, 27, serving an eight-year term for burglary, was missing at noon head count Tuesday and probably hid himself in a delivery truck. Tuesday was Dickey's day off, but he went to the kitchen anyway to consult about the next day's menu, Hocker said.

A check of trucks failed to turn up Dickey and an all-points bulletin was issued.

Atlantic City Boardwalk Is Hundred Years Old

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — On June 26, 1870, the famous Atlantic City boardwalk was a 100 years old.

Each year 15 million vacationers and conventioneers tread the five miles of boardwalk, chewing on something called salt water taffy and shopping in an array of stores featuring everything from milliondollar to $10 hats and front postcards to glittering mink.

At Needlecraft, a chic women's shop featuring original knits, they recall Mike Todd getting down on his knees to propose to Elizabeth Taylor. Her answer at the time goes unrecorded, but her later reply is history.

Just for the fun of it, Milton Berle pretended to be a salesman at Harrold's, a haberdashery for men and women. He rang up several laughs, but no sales.

The sights and sounds in the shops and on the Boardwalk inspired Thornton Wilder to create the Atlantic City scene in "The Skin Of Our Teeth."

Watching the foot traffic from her hotel window, Edna Ferber wrote "Ice Palace," a novel about Alaska, and "Giant," a novel about Texas.

The destination for many strollers is the huge Convention Hall. Sprawling over seven acres, it has 335,000 square feet of exhibit space and the world's largest auditorium, with a seating capacity of 35,000 persons. A new West Hall addition to the building will open in December of this year adding another 200,000 square feet of exhibit space.

Since the $15-million structure was opened in 1929—a year not remembered for sound economic investments—the Hall has played host to over 3,000 events ranging from undertakers' conventions to a ping-pong tournament, from the annual Miss America finals to national political conventions.

Shortly after Convention Hall opened and the Depression hit the nation, a Philadelphian, Charles B. Darrow, drew upon his many pleasant visits to Atlantic City in designing the most successful parlor game in history—Monopoly.

The most expensive property on the "Monopoly" board—the last stop before passing "go" and collecting $200—is Boardwalk. The long ribbon of lumber has not always occupied such a lofty perch. Indeed, when the City Fathers authorized $5,000 to build the original boardwalk in 1870, the nation's real estate men paid little mind to it. They were too busy discussing the pros and cons of the proposed $7.2 million deal to buy Alaska.

Jacob Keim, a hotelkeeper, complained to Atlantic City officials that because they cleared away sand dunes in front of his hotel, ocean tides swept over the marshland in front of the place inconveniencing his guests. At the same time, Alexander Boardman, a railroad conductor, objected to the fact that homebound visitors dirtied his train with sand in their shoes. It was clear some sort of walkway had to be created.

That first boardwalk was a mile long, eight-feet wide, and elevated about a foot off the sand. It was constructed in eight-foot sections and, after the summer, dismantled and carted to a barn where it was stored for $27 a year. In 1896, the boardwalk was the site of the first Easter Parade, and although widely imitated, it continues to be an Atlantic City institution.

The second boardwalk was built in 1879, but was quickly wrecked by a severe storm in 1883. During the storm, David Bradley, a seaside candy vendor, had his taffy ruined by the tidal waters. The next day, he dubbed his product "salt water taffy." More than four million pounds are sold yearly and both salt and water remain among the ingredients.

The boardwalk was rebuilt in 1884. It was wrecked in 1889 and the fourth boardwalk—a monument to persistence—was dedicated in 1890.

The devastating hurricane of 1944 forced such extensive repairs that an almost complete new boardwalk resulted—five miles long, 60 feet wide, and maintained at a cost of $100,000 per year, 20 times the cost of erecting the original boardwalk.

Is it worth it? A popular tune from another era says so: "On the Boardwalk in Atlantic City life will be peaches and cream."

Jim Brandt, 11, was fishing at Larry's Lake in Omaha Tuesday when his line got snagged. When he reeled in, young Brandt discovered he had caught a bundle of dynamite with a blasting cap attached.

Police said the dynamite was so water-logged it probably could not have exploded.

Borough Stocked

DAVENTRY, England (AP) — The Borough of Daventry doesn't plan to buy any typewriter ribbons, carbon paper or duplicator stencils for some time. A recently resigned borough official bought $46,483 worth of such supplies in the last three years. Independent auditors calculated that at the present rate the borough would use up its supplies in 125 years.

Gift Advise For Bridal Showers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The high cost of furnishing a home may be an incentive for economy-minded brides to be a bit choosy about wedding gifts.

In this era, few friends or relatives give the kind of gift that must be relegated to an attic or closet, but if you really don't need the expensive shrimp server, it really is a waste.

Bridal registries do help to organize the gift problem, but there are always people who want to surprise you with that cute gift you'd never think of—a popcorn popper or footbath with your initials on it.

Many young brides say they prefer (1) absolute necessities or (2) expensive gifts that they couldn't buy for themselves for a long time.

For example, silver is like having money in the bank. Even brides who will use stainless steel as a more practical everyday idea will feel great with silver, crystal, china and linen gifts that they can use on special occasions. The idea is to get it instead of some other expensive gift that may prove useless. Here are some ways to gently twist the giver's arm:

1. Choose the pattern of silver, china, crystal you would like and enlist the services of your mother, maid-of-honor and others to spread the word.

2. Your mother can size up the guests. If they are small-budget people, she might hint that you need a gravy dipper, meat fork, tomato server or another inexpensive piece to fill out your silver. Something can be found in the under-$5 or under-$10 bracket in most silver patterns.

Mother might tell Aunt Ethel or Uncle Bill that you could use another place setting. She will know that their gift will be in that certain money bracket, and that they will be relieved to know what you'd like. It takes only four members of a family to give you a basic silver service for a small dinner party.

The same idea can work with the china, crystal and linen. Suggestions may span the service from a dinner plate to a water goblet. Some members of the family may want to give a complete setting of china or a dozen linen napkins with the satin wedding band or another design.

Some brides like a crystal breakfast service, and in sets of four the items will be inexpensive if a simple pattern is chosen. Four cereal dishes or four breakfast plates may be a low-cost gift.

No matter how slim your budget, the ownership of fine things will make you feel utterly wonderful, a 19-year-old working wife commented. She has occasionally served low-cost curried eggs and rice on her fine china with crystal, silver and candlelight, at a little dinner, and she has felt like a princess, she says.

Your mother might have a list of other things you can use—blankets, towels, kitchenware, and you will no doubt want to specify a color scheme.

If it is an odd color, you might suggest white, which will go with about anything.

Subtle Garden Lights Create Relaxed Atmosphere

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The difference between a professional lighting job and an amateur one may merely be a plan. You must study the landscape and your requirements before you do anything.

And don't be in a hurry to light up the grounds of a new house. The garden should breathe, flower and become part of the landscape before you consider lighting it. But a new house might be electrically planned to grow into a garden lighting picture, advises lighting expert William Shalda of Burbank, Calif. If it is equipped with sufficient electrical circuits, an expensive job of wiring will not be needed when you are ready to install lights.

A garden should create a relaxed atmosphere under lights, Shalda explains, but there are no definite rules for landscape lighting because there are none for various tastes. Floodlights should be used with discretion, with high brightness fixtures generally limited to patios, terraces and party areas where people cook and dine.

Here are some of his pointers:

Front doors, hallways, driveways, steps should be considered in the light of functional illumination. Put esthetic effects of lighting in the living area of the garden. You may choose subtle, soft light or more stimulating dramatic effects with brighter light. Today, newer fixtures and lamps in a wider variety make this possible.

Choose a focal point. Statuary? Prized Plantings? Consider silhouetting a distinctive tree with backlighting. Dramatic silhouette effects may be achieved for plantings set against fences, screens, buildings.

Although newer lighting fixtures are ornamental, you shold place lights so that they do not look unattractive in the daylight.

As a general rule, area lights should be concealed high in the trees or on buildings—no lower than 10 feet from the ground, preferably 16 to 24 feet — deep shielding can generate an air of mystery.

Mushroom and similar low-level lighting fixtures in a variety of light spreads are available to provide light without excessive glare or brightness. Fiber glass shades may be used to provide subtle uplighting, if desirable.

If you use accent lighting to enhance small focal points of interest, the source of light should be shielded.

In lighting a tree, two-direction illumination will avoid a flat look. A spot lamp may be used to highlight the tree, while a floodlight can come from another direction. The effort may be realized by experimentation in various locations.

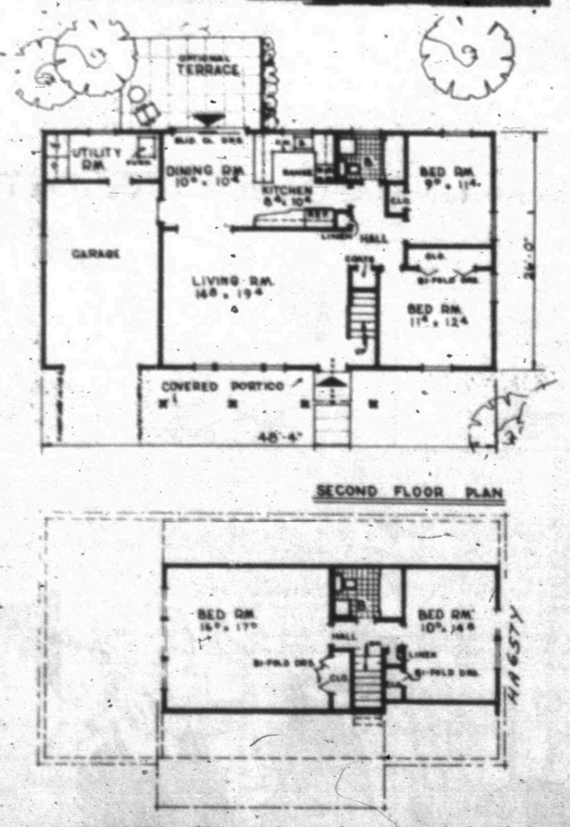

Colors – amber, blue, pale greens – are used in garden lighting to add subtle effects, and mercury vapor lighting provides a moonlight-type atmosphere with its soft blue-white color.

In areas where weather may be severe some months of the year, portable lighting fixtures are popular because they may be stored during the stormy months. These lights are especially good for people with a "growing" garden. They can reposition lights as the landscape changes, and when the garden has matured they can install permanent fixtures. This movable lighting is good too for people who can't quite make up their minds how they really want their garden lighted.

In addition to beauty, outdoor lighting can provide a subtle form of protection. In some areas, a few lights left burning at night may provide a great deal of satisfaction to a home owner who may assume they will discourage prowlers.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

OLD FAVORITE — This basic house takes on a new look with the addition of the columned portico at the front. The plan also has many features seldom found in a house of this size, such as a step saving U-shaped kitchen, a full dining room, bath tubs in both bath rooms and plenty of light in the second floor bedrooms without the need for costly dormers. Also there are linen closets on both floors. Plan HA657Y, with 1,496 square feet of floor space, was designed by architect Herman H. York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N.Y., 11432.

B&PW Club In Meeting

The B&PW Club met for a "pot luck" supper in the back yard of the home of Mrs. Nellie Smith.

Thelma Sims gave an informal account of her recent trip to Europe. She visited 10 countries, including an interesting stop at Oberammergau, where she saw the Passion Play.

Plans were made during the business session for the booth to be sponsored by the club at the July 4th celebration in Towle Memorial Park. Books and other items will be sold by the club.

Eight members and eight guests were present for the meeting.

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-seven months ago Americans began transferring a greater part of their pay to the federal government, thereby decreasing their own spending power and enhancing that of Uncle Sam.

The avowed purpose was to restrain inflation, but it was widely interpreted by others to have the purpose of financing a war.

As of today, all workers and corporations cease giving that little bit extra. The income tax surcharge, once 10 per cent and later 5 per cent, has ended.

But inflation continues, and so does the war. And so the question arises as to what happened to those billions of dollars taken out of the private economy?

It is perhaps too easy to say that the surtax failed in its aims, although inflation did continue unabated since April 1, 1968. But what would the rate have been without it?

In support of the surtax, it can be argued that it probably was the key to saving the economy during the past two years. Without it, would inflation have raged through the economy in a gigantic economic conflagration?

At the opposite pole of thinking, there are some who maintain that the tax simply gave more money to the government to spend and that, therefore, it contributed to inflation rather than restrained it.

It is dead, at any rate, which is one event that many forecasters would have bet against two years ago. "Temporary," they thought, never really means that; somehow it evolves into "permanent."

That this tax didn't in fact become permanent is noteworthy for several reasons. The government still needs the money, of course; it always does. Then there is the matter of continued inflation. There is still a war.

It was the war, ironically, that may have killed the surtax. To ask again that it be prolonged another year would obviously have aroused the feelings and politics of those opposed to the Indochina commitment.

It had, simply, become known as a war tax, and therefore was at variance with the stated purpose of the Nixon administration to bring the economy safely through a transition from wartime to a peacetime footing.

By permitting it to lapse, therefore, the administration in effect has said—as it has said in so many other ways—that the economic game plan is on schedule and evolving as expected. Certainly an optimistic view.

What are the brightest consequences of the cessation?

—It will put money into the pockets of families that have been feeling an increasing strain on their resources.

— It will give corporations some relief from liquidity problems.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHAMELEONS

QUESTION: Why does a chameleon change color?

* * *

ANSWER: The true chameleon is the funny little fellow shown at the upper right. He lives in Madagascar and Africa, as well as in parts of Asia and Europe. He has a very long sticky tongue with which to catch insects (1), can roll his eyes (2), has peculiar grasping toes (3) and a tail he can wrap around twigs for support (4). The American chameleon is an American lizard of another kind, usually called "chameleon" because he can change colors so often, like the Old World one. It is a popular idea that chameleons change color to match their surroundings, but there is little truth in this. Scientists say that changes in temperature, in the intensity of light and in the lizard's emotional feelings — such as fright, anger and so on — make the difference in color. Under ordinary conditions, a chameleon may be gray green with small spots. In the dark, this may fade to cream color. Under bright sunlight, the lizard may turn black. Hot conditions without sunlight may make the chameleon green. When startled, he may turn to a lighter tone with brown areas and yellow spots.

Women Not At Best In Bars

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — You can lead me to McSorley's, but you can't make me drink.

Far be it from me to sneer at the efforts of those women who finally broke the 115-year-old sex barrier at McSorley's Old Ale House in Greenwich Village.

What puzzles me is why they'd want this somewhat dubious privilege.

Try perching on a bar stool. Chances are your legs aren't long enough. Hoist yourself up anyway. With the midi there isn't too much peril to modesty.

Now find a place to put your purse. Before all you militants do away with that little feminine frippery you'll have to find a place to carry the money with which you'll independently pay for your own drinks.

Put the purse on the floor and you can't reach it. Put it on the bar and get a sneering, "Lady, I gotta serve drinks here. Move that thing." Put it in your lap and it falls into the sawdust.

The art of drinking isn't much easier. That hearty mug of ale —no fair cheating and ordering an apricot brandy sour— is designed for male mitts, not feminine fingers. And nothing looks sillier than an ale drinker who hoists the mug with two fists.

If you're looking for conversation, the bar ain't the place.

What about eavesdropping on those tales of woe poured out to the bartender, legendary amateur psychiatrist? Close your eyes, imagine the voices are an octave higher and you might as well be at the beauty parlor listening to Mrs. Jones regale her hairdresser.

Entertainment means television, preferably two sets, each tuned to a different sports event. Don't try to listen. Just grunt with the crowd.

If this is freedom to the feminists, they can have it. I'll slither off my stool remembering the words of Aesop: "Better beans and bacon in peace, than cakes and ale in fear." Or in a liberated saloon.

Hospital Bill Victory For Yarborough

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., who lost in a bid for renomination and leaves the Senate in six months, won a signal victory Tuesday when his Hospital Construction Bill was passed over President Nixon's veto.

The bill provides a three-year program involving $2.76 billion for grants and low interest loans to the state for construction of hospitals, nursing homes, hospital emergency rooms and outpatient clinics.

In pleading for the Senate to pass the bill, Yarborough told his colleagues:

"The President in his veto message wants the country to rely on the private money market to provide the needed funds for hospital construction. The President is asking that, here at the last minute with the present Hill-Burton program expiring at midnight, that we scrap a program that has worked well for nearly 25 years.

"No one knows, including the administration, just what effects the sweeping change in policy will have on the construction and modernization of hospital facilities in this country. ..

"We cannot acquiesce in this tearing down of health care in this country...

"I urge my fellow Senators to join with the House of Representatives in overriding this Presidential veto ..."

Oliver Is Best Hollerer

SPIVEY'S CORNER, N.C. (AP) — H. H. Oliver of Goldsboro has won the National Hollerin' Contest held annually to keep alive the hollerin' tradition, begun in the days when a farmer used his distinctive holler to assure his neighbors all was well down his way.

Denis Jackson, 10, won in the junior division. She is a granddaughter of Dewey Jackson, a dairy farmer who won last year and was ineligible to compete this year.

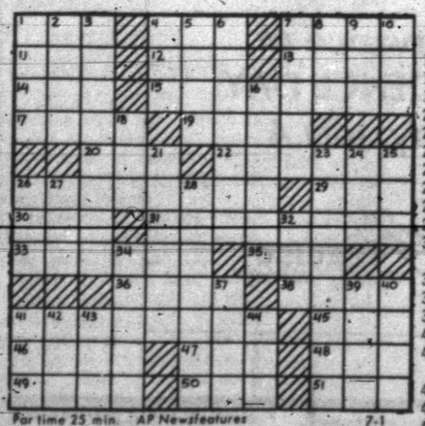

The state Highway Patrol estimated that about 10,000 persons viewed the contest Saturday.

Rumania, though smaller than Oregon, has nearly 10 times as many people—almost 20,000,000, National Geographic says.

Renko's Goal Is A Shutout

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Renko believes in taking his milestones in a logical order. So he'll concentrate on getting his first major league shutout before he thinks about his first no-hitter.

Renko mowed down the first 19 batters in order before surrendering a hit Tuesday night and settled for a three-hitter pitching Montreal to an 8-1 victory over Philadelphia.

"I was more disappointed at losing the shutout than the no-hitter," said the logical pitcher. "I haven't had a shutout in the major leagues."

If Renko was disappointed it was nothing compared to the 51,050 fans who packed Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium only to see Atlanta spoil the ballpark's debut by thumping the Reds 8-2.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday night, St. Louis tagged Chicago with its 12th straight loss, 5-4, New York hung on to edge Pittsburgh 7-6, San Diego nipped San Francisco 3-2 and Houston downed Los Angeles 6-2.

In American League action, it was Milwaukee 5, California 4; Minnesota over Kansas City 8-5; Oakland 4-3 over Chicago; Detroit 5, New York 3; Baltimore over Cleveland 4-2 and Washington 3-1 over Boston.

Renko, a hard-throwing right-hander, was perfect for 6 1-3 innings, overpowering Philadelphia with a mixture of fastballs and sliders.

The spell was broken by Oscar Gamble, who outlegged an infield hit to second baseman Marv Staehle.

Mack Jones handled the bulk of the Expo offense, driving in three runs with two homers. Renko's shutout went down the drain in the eighth when the Phillies got their other two hits.

Hank Aaron inaugurated Cincinnati's new ball park with a two-run homer in the first inning and Rico Carty added a three-run shot in the third to help Atlanta whip the Reds.

Pat Jarvis rode the heavy hitting to his eighth victory, scattering nine hits and ending Cincinnati's winning streak at five games.

The Mets came from behind with a four-run sixth inning to whip Pittsburgh as Jerry Koosman evened his record at 4-4.

Tommie Agee cracked his 17th homer of the year for New York and 11th this month, setting a Mets' club record. Al Oliver and Willie Stargell homered for the Pirates with Stargell's two-run shot knocking out Koosman in the ninth. Ron Taylor came on to retire the last three batters and save the victory.

Bob Gibson overcame a shaky start and won his ninth straight game as the Cardinals came from behind to knock off the reeling Cubs.

Gibson was tagged for a three-run homer by Billy Williams in the first inning but hung on. Later he tagged a homer of his own and tied the game with a single in the seventh. An inning later, Jose Cardenal cracked a pinch homer that doomed the Cubs to another loss. Chicago hasn't won a game since June 20.

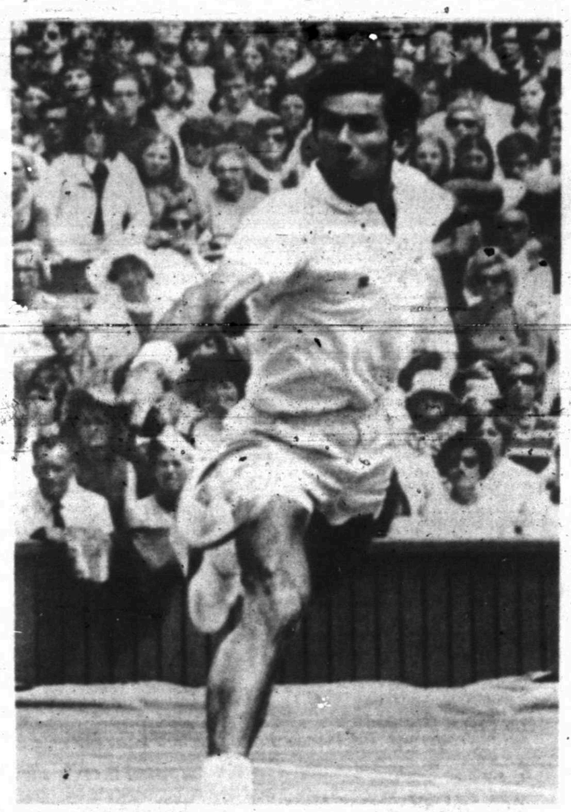

Home runs by Bob Barton and Steve Huntz moved San Diego past San Francisco as the Padres beat Gaylord Perry for the first time ever.

Huntz' shot cracked a 2-2 tie in the seventh as the Padres snapped an eight game losing streak. Barton's homer had followed a single by Huntz in the fourth, giving San Diego the early lead against Perry, who had beaten the Padres seven straight times. Bob Heise homered for San Francisco.

Denny Lemaster drove in three runs with a homer and single and pitched six innings of Houston's victory over Los Angeles.

Lemaster tagged a bases-loaded single in the second and then cracked his first homer of the year in the sixth as Houston built an early lead.

Andy Kosco homered for LA and the Dodgers knocked Lemaster out in the seventh but airtight relief work by Jack DiLauro and Fred Gladding preserved the victory.

MAN WITH WINNING WAYS — Ken Rosewall of Australia makes a backhand return to fellow Australian, Tony Roche, in the quarterfinals of the men's singles of All-England Tennis Championships at Wimbledon, England, Tuesday. Rain Interrupts WimbledonPlay

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Ken Rosewall and John Newcombe were the only smiling contenders for the Wimbledon tennis title today as rain dripped off the ivy-clad walls of the All-England Club.

The two Australians were home and dry in the semifinals, with a day's rest from singles play ahead of them.

Their four remaining rivals were still locked in quarter-final combat and had to play again today, resuming rain-interrupted matches.

When the weather broke Tuesday night Roger Taylor of Britain led Clark Graebner of New York City, last hope of the United States, 6-3, 11-9, 8-7.

Andres Gimeno of Spain was ahead 6-1, 6-2, 1-2 against Australia's Bob "Nails" Carmichael.

But however, the two interrupted quarter-finals finished, the winners had to face the extra strain of day-by-day tension, instead of getting the scheduled day's rest between matches.

As the rain began to fall on the center court, Graebner was on the brink of being eliminated from the tournament. He trailed 5-6 to Taylor in the third set and was 15-40 down on his service. But he saved the two match points and stayed alive.

The match continued in the rain until the score reached 8-7 in Taylor's favor. But Graebner serves first when the duel resumes today.

Earlier the center court fans saw Rosewall, 35, move a step nearer to winning his first Wimbledon title — 16 years after his first appearance in the final.

The little Australian, stroking the ball with pin-point accuracy, demolished Tony Roche, a fellow Australian ten years his junior 10-8, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

Newcombe, the 1967 champion, mastered Roy Emerson, winner of the title in 1964 and 1965, 6-1, 5-7, 3-6, 6-2, 11-9 in another all-Australian duel that lasted three hours, ten minutes.

Meanwhile, the women's semifinals were scheduled for today.

Top Fem Golfers In Open

By DOUG TODD
Associated Press Sports Writer

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — The world's top women golfers go to war Thursday against par and Oklahoma's wind and heat as the U.S. Women's Open tees off at Muskogee Country Club.

Twelve former Open winners, including defending champion Donna Capona, head a record field of more than 120 for the 72-hole test.

The final four holes Sunday will be televised nationally by ABC-TV. It's the only women's event of the year played before the TV cameras.

The tight par 36-35—71 course has been open for practice rounds since Monday. Many of the early arrivals have had trouble with the weather conditions and the tricky 6,210-yard course.

Temperatures all week have been in the 90s and the Oklahoma wind has lived up to advance billing with 20 to 30 mile per hour gusts.

Four Ladies PGA tournaments were played here in the early 1960s, and the lowest winning score for 72 holes was Mickey Wright's 285 in 1963.

Miss Wright also won here in 1964. Others with fond memories of Muskogee are Patty Berg, who won in 1962, and Susie Maxwell Berning, the 1965 winner. All are former Open champions, Miss Wright having won it four times.

Others who will be bidding to repeat earlier Open triumphs are Betsy Rawls, like Mickey Wright a four-time winner; Sandra Spuzich; Carol Mann; Mary Mills; Murle Lindstrom Breer; Kathy Cornelius; Louise Suggs, and Betty Jameson.

The only former Open champs who won't be here are Faye Crocker, Catherine Lacoate and the late Babe Didrickson Zaharias.

Miss Berg won the first open in 1946.

Harvey Waller cracked a double in the first and a single in the fourth out of three times at bat while Doug Vaughn stroked a single in the second and a double in the fifth. Kyle Sikes clubbed a home run in the second, Dray Sikes doubled in the second and Johnny Eicke rapped a singled in the fifth.

The Athletics managed five hits with Charles Cobb three for three at the plate. Cobb stroked singles in the first and second and cracked a home run in the fourth.

Hayes' Salary Beef Rebutted

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas Cowboy co-captain Lee Roy Jordan says it isn't poor salaries that kept the Cowboys from winning the Super Bowl last season.

"We didn't lost last season because any of us were underpaid," Jordan said. "If money had been the factor, consider the fact that we had $25,000 each in playoff money dangling before our eyes last season.

"If money was so all fired important, we'd been playing like hell in the playoffs and nobody would have beaten us."

Jordan's statement referred to comment by Cowboy split end Bob Hayes, who is in the midst of a salary dispute with Cowboy management.

Hayes said low salaries was one of the reasons the Cowboys didn't win.

All-Star Game In Astrodome

HOUSTON (AP) — The annual Texas High School Coaches Association meeting opens here Aug. 2 with 36th clash between North and South schoolboy all-star football squads highlighting the event.

The game will be played in the Astrodome, the first of 20 set for the indoor arena the coming season.

The football game will be on the final night of the coaching school, Aug. 6, with the North-South all-star basketball game due the night before the new Hofheinz Pavilion at the University of Houston.

Both games could attrack record crowds. The football record of 39,100 was set in 1964 at Fort Worth. The Astrodome will have a seating capacity of nearly 50,000. Hofheinz Pavilion can seat 10,000. The all-star record of 8,847 was set last year in Dallas.

The coaching school will start a schedule under which the annual clinic will be held in Houston each even-numbered year at least through 1978. Dallas and Fort Worth will alternate as hosts in odd-numbered years.

Jerry Hopkins of Sonora will coach the South football team with Jimmie Keeling, formerly of Lubbock Estacado and now at Andrews the North.

J. D. Menasco of Carrollton will coach the North basketball team and Bill Tatum of Carthage the south.

Members of the all-star squads will report at the University of Houston the morning of Aug. 1 while directors of the association are meeting at the Rice Hotel.

H. W. Wilson of Bridge City is president of the association.

Pro football moves into the Dome two days after the schoolboy all-stars with a Houston Oilers-Chicago Bears exhibition game on tap for Aug. 8.

Clippers Nip Jets

The Clippers shaved the Jets 2 to 1 in Senior Teenage League Action in Towle Park last night.

Butch Buchanan managed a single in the first, Neil Starnes singled in the third and Larry Braziel stroked a single in the seventh while Murray singled in the fifth.

Larry Wall got two hits for the Jets, a double in the first and a single in the fifth. Jim Provence managed a third hit for the Jets with a single in the fourth.

Most Arguments Favor Synthetic Grid Fields

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm not crazy about playing on artificial turf," says linebacker George Webster of the Houston Oilers. "You don't get dirty. I like to get dirty when I'm playing. It gives me a feeling of doing something out there."

That's the light side of the debate over artificial turf's role in the future of football, both college and professional variety.

But there is the serious side too, most concisely expressed by Bill Orwig, athletic director of Indiana University, who says:

"We're delighted to be able to put in a surface that will do away with periodical $30,000 resodding jobs, eliminate costly maintenance and reduce knee and ankle injuries."

And between the light side and the serious side, there is the realistic side too—as put by a spokesman for TCU:

"It's just the coming thing. It's a necessity because everybody's doing it. We're just keeping up with the Joneses."

The Joneses are going for synthetic surfaces for their football fields at a startling rate. Seven professional fields and more than 30 college stadiums either have installed the man-made grass the athletes call mod-sod or have contracted to make the conversion for the 1970 season.

The boom stems from the fact that artificial surfaces are more durable and more resistant to inclement weather than grass. The major element in that is uniformity of conditions, and potentially a more exciting game for the fans.

"You'll see a harder hitting football game here at Pittsburgh now," says center Ray Mansfield of the pro Steelers, "because you can get more traction on the surface."

"The turf helps the team with speed," says Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, "and we haven't been recruiting any slow players." "We have adopted an offense that is more wide open," says Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "Insuring that we will have sure footing will be to our advantage."

Harder hitting, more speed, a wide-open game—those are the prospects for football in the 1970s on fields carpeted with synthetic surfaces.

It also may solve a major problem in pro football-major league baseball relations—the problem of stadium availability where there is dual occupancy. Usually the pro football team is barred from stadium use until the baseball season ends. But artificial turf may change that.

Since a pro football team can not rip up the durable nylon threads of the synthetic surface, a football game could be played right before a baseball game without damage to the field. That would significantly reduce pro football's scheduling problems.

But of all the contributions mod sod may make to football the most significant could be in the reduction of injuries.

While surveys made so far are inconclusive there is some evidence that the incidence of major injury is reduced on artificial surfaces, although many players, college and pro, complain of skid burns and Astro Toe-bruises on the big toe.

Vanzandt Now On A&M Staff

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Lance Vanzandt, defensive coordinator at West Texas State in Canyon, has replaced Dick Harris as defensive secondary coach at Texas A&M.

Texas A&M athletic director and head football Coach Gene Stallings announced the change today.

Harris joined the A&M staff in March and worked with the Aggies during spring drills. In making the change, Stallings said, "Things just didn't work out satisfactorily with Harris."

Stallings added that "Texas A&M is fortunate to secure a well qualified coach like Vanzandt at this late date.

Vanzandt, 31, worked at West Texas State the past two years. The Buffaloes set a school record with 26 interceptions last season and had 23 interceptions the year before.

Prior to that Vanzandt coached the defensive secondary two seasons at New Mexico Highlands in Las Vegas, N.M. in 1967. New Mexico Highlands had 23 interceptions and the defense set six school records.

Indians, Cubs Win In FL

The Cardinals fell to the Cubs 13 to 8, and the Indians belted the Athletics 15 to 6 in two Farm League games in Towle Park last night.

Jackie Womack stroked two hits for the Cubs, singles in the first and second.

In the American League the Indians clobbered Athletic pitchers Kenneth Tate and Terry Lee for fourteen hits. In the first inning Denton Hanna, Jessie Villerella, and Greg Sullenger cracked singles. Dana Hanna, Steve Bounds, Denton Hanna, Tony Rodriquez, Richard Crayton, and Greg Sullenger clubbed singles in the second.

Richard Crayton clubbed a double and Tony Rodriquez rapped a single in the third while Dana Hanna, Denton Hanna, and Keith Ward managed singles in the fourth.

The Athletics were held to one hit by pitchers Greg Sullenger and Gary Welsh. Mike Jones stroked the only Athletic hit, a single, in the fourth.

Texas Tech Professor Set For Treasure Hunt

LUBBOCK (AP)— Texas Tech professor David A. Howe leaves this week to locate 16 or 17 Spanish galleons which sank off Galveston Island in 1553.

It is a part of a three-school search with Texas A&M and Southern Methodist participating with Tech.

The ships were part of a Spanish fleet which had left Mexico for Spain laden with gold and silver and other treasure from Mexico and Central America.

Much of the treasure had been taken from Montezuma II, from the Andean Kingdom of the Incas, and from other rulers in the New World.

"Our purpose this summer," Dr. Howe said, "is to locate as many of the vessels as we can, with plans to do archaeological excavation in the future. This summer's work is not intended to be a treasure or artifact-seeking expedition.

"Our archaeological studies will delve into types of ships used, navigational methods and other characteristics of life aboard ship during the 16th Century."

The galleons were part of a 20-ship fleet which left Mexico for Spain during the spring of 1553. The Spanish government directed some salvage operations soon after the ill-fated vessels sank and recovered much of the wealth.

More than 400 years later— during the late 60's—the ships were rediscovered off Padre Island in what is believed to be one of the greatest undersea finds in history.

Salvage work became a major controversy among state officials.

"We will make an effort to mark the sites of the vessels so that they can be protected against plunderers and illegal salvage operations," remarked Howe.

Howe said his part of the mission will have to do with the operation of electronic equipment, particularly the magnetometer, in the search.

"It is the type of equipment used in detection of submarines below the surface of the oceans," he said. "We are also planning to tow an underwater television camera behind one of our ships in hopes of seeing the sunken galleons, but we don't have as much faith in this method as in the magnetometer," he said.

The search will be conducted in about 30 feet of water off the east coast of Padre Island near Port Mansfield under direction of the Institute for Underwater Research, Inc., a newly-formed agency licensed by the Texas Antiquities Committee to undertake geophysical and scuba surveys of the site.

Any artifacts recovered will be turned over to the state archaeologist.

Underwater operations will be directed by Tom Hays of Southern Methodist who has had extensive archaeological experience in Egypt and Sudan. He will be assisted by anthropology graduate students Jerry Humphries and Rob Floyd of SMU.

Eugene Herrin, John Lobdell and Karl Thomason, all of SMU's Geological Sciences Department, will help in operating the geophysical detection equipment.

Other members of the search team will include professional diver William Schroeder of Texas A&M and National Park Service archaeologist George Fisher of Washington.

The General Land Office will provide the team with a leased boat and a proton magnetometer and the state adjutant general's office will provide a helicopter for survey operations.

Fourth Of Students Are Poor Readers

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A report to be distributed to the 108th annual convention of the National Education Association this week discloses that one of four students nationwide have reading deficiencies.

Prepared by the National School Public Relations Association, an NEA affiliate, the report also states that there are more than three million illiterates in the adult population and that half the unemployed between 16 and 21 years old are functionally illiterate.

The report says large numbers of elementary school teachers have never been taught to teach reading effectively.

It adds that most high school teachers have never had a course in reading although they are confronted daily with students with reading deficiencies.

The report urges more individualized classroom instruction, remedial classes and home tutoring.

The NEA convention, which runs until July 6, focused today on the Association of Classroom Teachers, an organization within the NEA composed of 900,000 classroom teachers.

The main NEA Representative Assembly, with 7,000 delegates participating, gets under way Friday morning. It may be faced with a touchy racial problem involving the predominantly white North Carolina Education Association and the predominantly black North Carolina Teachers Association.

The white group said it plans to become a racially unified organization. Leaders of the Negro group insist they will not merge unless certain conditions are met and will seek to be seated as the official delegates.

Earlier this year two white state NEA affiliates, in Louisiana and Mississippi, were expelled for failure to merge racially separated NEA affiliates.

Boy Run Over By Pickup

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP)—A 13-year-old Oklahoma boy was killed Monday night when a pickup truck driven by his 15-year old brother ran over him.

The victim is identified as Paul Farr, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Farr Jr. of Tinker Air Force Base at Oklahoma City.

Officers said Paul and his brother Richard Lee Farr III, 15, were visiting their grandfather at his farm one mile west of Sardis, Tex., when the accident happened.

State patrolmen said Paul got out of the pickup truck to open a farm gate when the vehicle suddenly lurched forward and struck him. They said Richard's foot apparently slipped from the brake onto the accelerator pedal.

In the early 19th century, some scoundrels made their living shanghaiing sailors for Nantucket whaling ships, for a fee. Thrifty captains charged the fee to the sailor, so the luckless seaman paid for the privilege of being pressed into a voyage that might take him away from home for three years.

Wants To Be Psychiatrist

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

Dear Joyce: I will be a college freshman this year and would like to know about the profession of psychiatry. — T.O., ODESSA, TEXAS what job would you like to see explored in this column?

To many, psychiatry appears to be an attractive profession. Here are examples of cases seen by psychiatrists in general practice. Treatment is often prolonged, patients are difficult, and results may not be dramatic. Could you be happy helping these people?

CASE HISTORY NO. 1: Marianne S. – 16, daughter of a chemistry professor. Marianne's problems began in infancy when she was "fiercely aggressive and overactive," and echoed speech or inverted sentences in odd compulsive ways. Marianne, a victim of childhood schizophrenia, is suspicious of other students, has the feeling that everyone is staring at her, and fears that she will not be given enough to eat, thus becoming weak and unhealthy.

CASE HISTORY NO. 2: Elsie T. – 8, developed normally until age 4 when she had an extremely severe case of measles complicated by encephalitis. She can't attend regular school and her behavior is antisocial. Neurological examination shows poor convergence of the eyes and poor reaction of the pupils to light. Her speech is monotonous and her facial expression flattened. Elsie is a mentally defective child in need of psychiatric care and special training to help her toward the best adjustment possible, considering her handicaps.

CASE HISTORY NO. 3: Howard K. – 21, shipping clerk. Howard was driving in an accident that killed his bride. He blames himself. Howard has sharp chest pains, finding it difficult to breathe. Therapy is aimed at helping Howard through a transitory situational reaction.

THESE EXAMPLES are drawn from "Careers in Psychiatry," sponsored by Roche Laboratories and published by MacMillan Co. Patients are treated within a framework of private practice, a hospital, mental health center, court, walk-in clinic, suicide control center, child development and guidance clinic, storefront centers, and related settings. Psychiatrists also deal with students at even the elementary school level, practice in prisons and confer with probation officers. Still other jobs are emerging in administration, communication and planning. Psychiatry is a wide open field for men or women.

THE PSYCHIATRIST is first a physician and second, a medical specialist in the field of mental, psychological and emotional disorders. These range from minor problems on through severe disabilities identified as major mental illnesses.

Professional background is based on the biological sciences which permit the psychiatrist to make physical or neurological examinations, to make medical diagnosis of the patient's physcial or mental condition, to prescribe drugs and treatments, and to admit patients to mental institutions. Professional training is long and costly – about 12 years.

Mitchell's Pretrial Proceedings Delayed

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—a pretrial proceeding for S. Sgt. David Mitchell, charged in the alleged massacre in My Lai, Vietnam, has been postponed until July 15.

An Army spokesman said Tuesday that Mitchell's defense counsel asked the week's postponement of the pre-trial proceeding, originally set for July 7. He said a new date for Mitchell's general court martial will be set later.

Mitchell, 29, has said he is innocent. He is charged with assault with intent to murder. He is accused of firing a rifle at a group of Vietnamese civilians on March 16, 1968.

He was a squad leader in a rifle company at the time of the alleged incident.

Academies Set New Enrollment Records

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Student opposition to the Vietnam war apparently has not dimmed the drawing power of the nation's three service academies; they report the highest enrollment in history this year.

Total enrollment is expected to reach 12,848 and incoming freshmen classes will include a record number of Negroes and other minority group members.

The increased enrollment dates back to 1961 and reflects the desire of the late President John F. Kennedy to significantly bolster the strength of both West Point and the Air Force Academy.

Three years later, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed legislation increasing the cadet strength of the U.S. Milary Academy at West Point and the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., from 2,529 to about 4,500—the authorized enrollment level of the brigade of midshipmen at Annapolis.

The Naval Academy's enrollment was higher because it had fewer Reserve Officer Training Corps detachments on the nation's campuses to train officers.

For the first time in its 168-year history, West Point now has a cadet strength of more than 4,000 with this week's arrival of the class of 1974.

At the Air Force Academy, 1,438 freshmen—the largest in the school's 15-year history—join 2,713 upper classmen. The Navy said it expects a class of 1,400 and total enrollment of 4,517.

Opposition to the Vietnam war apparently had little effect on the service academies' search for cadets.

The Air Force said more than 6,000—the largest ever—applied for admission. The Army examined about 6,000 of the more than 30,000 candidates who submitted inquiries.

The enrollments also reflect the results of the Defense Department's efforts launched two years ago to attract more young men from minority groups.

The [illegible] service academies a total minority enrollment of 299, up from 116 in 1968.

Famed Hostess In Luxembourg

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Perle Mesta, former U.S. ambassador and famed hostess, made a triumphant return to Luxembourg after an absence of 15 years.

"I spend in this country the five happiest years of my life," she said, almost in tears.

Luxemburgers who saw her applauded. They stopped others to tell them "Perle Mesta is back."

Mrs. Mesta served as ambassador here from 1950 to 1955. Her swinging style and lavish parties became famous in the diplomatic world and inspired the Broadway musical "Call Me Madam."

Texas Senators Split Their Votes

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D, voted to override the veto, and Sen. John Tower, R, voted against.

Del Rio Gets Anti-Poverty Grant

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Preston Smith announced approval Tuesday of an anti-poverty grant of $1,999 in federal funds to Val Verde County Community Action Agency in Del Rio.

The grant authorizes a youth development program for some 750 persons from age 7 to 14 through Nov. 30. The program is designed to provide recreational and job opportunities.

61 Cities Granted Gas Hike

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has granted Pioneer Natural Gas Co., which serves 61 West Texas cities, 4 cents of the 6.43-cent rate increase it sought.

The commission approved a new "gate rate" of 32.0 cents per thousand cubic feet Tuesday, effective today.

The increase must be approved by individual city councils before it can take effect.

Representatives of the cities fought the proposed increase—from 28 to 34.43 cents—at several hearings held by the commission after Pioneer filed its application last Oct. 9.

Pioneer said gas suppliers charge 20 per cent more than they did in 1962, when Pioneer got its last increase.

The cities contended that Pioneer overvalued its assets, which accounted for the company's claim that it isn't getting enough of a return on its investment.

Pioneer asked for a rate that would give it an 8 per cent return on its investment. The cities said the rate should be 7¼ per cent. The commission concluded that 7.375 per cent "is reasonable."

The commission said it placed greater emphasis on book cost less book depreciation than on replacement cost less an adjustment for age and condition of transmission and gathering lines.

The commission noted that the Pioneer system "is unique because the summer peak usage is equal to or greater than the normal winter peak. The summer peaks are due to the irrigation load that has been developed in the area that Pioneer serves."

Private Is Found Guilty

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Pfc. David Mann of Ft. Sam Houston was found guilty by an Army court martial Tuesday of distributing leaflets on the post without a permit.

The court martial board reduced his rank to private as his punishment.

A three-months prison sentence and a two-thirds reduction in pay for another 90 days was asked by the prosecution.

Mann was arrested last May 8 for distributing handbills advertising a downtown San Antonio march in protest of the Cambodia situation and the Kent State slayings.

Door Opens Wider For Meat Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has opened the door a little wider for increased imports of meat, but the unprecedented move is not expected to alter hamburger prices much.

About 78 million pounds of additional meat will be allowed in the United States this year under the action announced Tuesday by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

Cattlemen were pleased the increase was not larger and Hardin himself said the extra meat would do little to ease retail prices for consumers.

Most of the imported meat is beef from Australia and New Zealand. A large share of the increase already has arrived in the United States, Hardin told a news conference.

The administration had been under pressure for many months from consumer interests to make more imported meat available to help head off the kind of retail price crunch that hit housewives last summer.

Government statisticians say the average over-the-counter price of hamburger was 66.3 cents a pound in April and 66.7 cents in May. The price was 61.2 cents in May 1969.

But Hardin said the boosts in meat imports just won't be enough to stem any increase in consumer costs.

Republicans Win In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Republicans have won election victories which make them the only acknowledged members of the ultraconservative John Birch Society in Congress.

John Rousselot and John Schmitz racked up winning margins of more than 2 to 1 in Tuesday's special election to the unexpired terms of two Southern California GOP congressmen who died this year.

The losing Democrats, making their first tries for public office, were David N. Hartman, a political science professor, and Myrlie Evers, 37, widow of Medgar Evers, the Mississippi civil rights leader assassinated in 1963.

Voter turnout in the solidly Republican districts was small, about 30 per cent of the eligibles in each.

Rousselot and Mrs. Evers will reappear on the November general election ballot vying for a full two-year term beginning in January.

SEES LITTLE CHANGE IN QUALITY

Ryan Reports On Russian Trip

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

MOSCOW (AP) — For one who saw the Soviet Union in the last days of the Stalin era, a fresh visit creates an immediate impression of all-around betterment of the average Russian's life. Yet much of the dreary side of Soviet life has resisted change. That is equally striking.

As was to be expected in view of the Communist party's long-term policy, the "velikii stroiki"—the great projects such as hydroelectric stations, dams, and the huge heavy industrial installations cherished by the party's planners—have been multiplying all along. In addition there are many new airports, hotel buildings, glistening business buildings of steel, aluminum and glass; many new apartment buildings and new roads leading into Soviet cities.

There are more and bigger stores. At first glance there seem to be more and better goods in the stores, and in some respects this is true. It also appears that there are more people with money to spend in the stores.

However, behind all the outward glitter there is much that is the same as ever before. A prolonged walk in any one of the cities now open to foreigners suggests that the consumer is not much better off than was his father. It suggests that the party isn't particularly interested in the consumer or in anything much besides retaining its own position as a ruling elite.

Goods in the stores remain mostly shoddy and outrageously expensive. Soviet production for the consumer side still strikes the Westerner as scandalous for a nation as fantastically rich as the Soviet Union in all manner of resources.

There is no shortage of wealth and skills for whatever helps construct centralized power, for the military, for the space program, for air communications, for heavy industry. Little remains for the consumer, and on that side the tendency still is to polish the visible brass and forget the rest. To the Westerner's eye, the consumer economy remains a severe indictment of the Soviet system.

So enormously rich is the U.S.S.R. that it might long ago have surpassed the United States in many fields, but chances that it will even catch up in the foreseeable future are extremely dim. Moscow is unlikely to risk the measures that would be necessary to take advantage of the opportunities.

The measures would include releasing the economy from restraints which have been imposed upon it over the years, and permitting a large degree of local discretion, initiative and autonomy.

Moscow is unlikely to do this because such things threaten to erode centralized authority. Without an extraordinarily strong hand at the helm, the consumers in another sort of economy might easily run away with the show. Thus, the prospect is for continued improvising within the present framework. This means the economy must continue to be plagued by dogmatic and outdated theories.

On the plus side, more Russians are well-dressed and more seem generally much better off than they were in the last days of Stalin. They are still far away from Western standards but there is not much yardstick available to Soviet citizens for making comparisons. By and large they seem to feel their system does well by them.

The visitor hears little that would reflect directly against the Communist party and its leadership. The government says real wages have gone up, meaning that an average wage of about 120 rubles monthly plus fringe benefits is worth a good deal more in terms of purchasing power than it was years ago.

The Russians say the ruble is worth $1.11, but it sells on the black market often at a tenth of that.

A visitor can hear, if he listens attentively, expressions of impatience, of restiveness, of dissent, but from a relatively small element which objects to political suppression of all but orthodox views.

He can hear protest, too, from Jews who report harsh treatment more and more frequently now because of the intensification of the Middle East conflict and the Soviet involvement on the Arab side.

He can hear it sometimes among young university students.

The dissent, while Moscow reacts angrily and often harshly to it, is a long distance from any real threat to the Soviet system as it operates today. From what one hears said by young men and women coming through party schools and aiming at careers, the Communist bureaucracy would not seem to have too much to worry about.

On the whole, the ordinary Soviet citizen appears to be a patient, plodding and uncomplaining member of what his leaders like to call "the toiling masses." He can see around him a good deal more quantity than his fathers did, even if he sees little change in quality. He doesn't have much means for measuring quality, anyway.

An Experimental campus radio station, 1XE, began the world's first scheduled daily broadcasts in 1920, and later became radio station WGI, according to Tufts University records.

ON HOSPITAL CONSTRUCTION BILL

Congress Overrides Veto

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has overridden a presidential veto of a politically popular $2.76 billion hospital construction bill, adding new fuel to the election year debate over inflation.

By a 76-19 vote, the Senate Tuesday night completed congressional action on the first veto override in 10 years and rejected a presidential scolding about fiscal responsibility.

There was no comment from the White House but a leading administration supporter in the Senate said the whole debate was just part of a "tiresome political dance."

"It is an attempt to wear down the President by making him fight inflation and the party that started the inflation at the same time," said Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo.

Senate action came just five days after the House voted 279 to 98 to repass the measure authorizing further construction under the Hill-Burton Act.

Sixty-seven Republicans joined 212 Democrats in that override, 27 more than the required two-thirds of those voting.

The Senate cleared the required two-thirds margin by 12 votes without a single Democrat lining up for Nixon, even though the Southern wing of the party generally has backed the President. Twenty-three Republicans, including GOP Leader Hugh Scott, joined 53 Democrats in the Senate override.

The Nixon administration has been trying to phase out the Hill-Burton program of direct grants and replace it with a program of guaranteed loans.

But the bill Congress has enacted over Nixon's opposition authorizes $1.26 billion in grants over the next three years, some $350 over budget requests.

It does include a provision for $1.5 billion in guaranteed loans but for the first time it requires the President to spend the grant money.

This prevents him from just ignoring it, which past chief executives had done.

When he vetoed the bill last week, Nixon said the measure is "a long step down the road of fiscal irresponsibility and we should not take that road."

He called on the Democratic-controlled Congress in his veto message to "join me" in holding down federal spending.

Democrats, however, assailed the President's priorities.

"If the administration can ask us to subsidize a supersonic transport, bail out Lockheed aircraft, and begin massive new spending for Pentagon and space programs, then I think we can ask the administration to begin to meet this country's crying need in hospital facilities," declared Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., pointed to Nixon's health message last July when the President said the nation faced a massive crisis in medical care unless something was done about it immediately.

Unfortunately, said Bayh, the Hill-Burton veto contradicted Nixon's earlier statement.

Grapers Set To Deal With Unions

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California table grape growers who have withstood a five-year worldwide boycott by organized labor are ready to deal with unions, spokesmen say.

The spokesmen outlined their position at a news conference Tuesday at which they supported Gov. Ronald Reagan's recent call for mediation in the labor dispute. They said they represented more than 50 per cent of the state's table grape growers.

The growers said they were moving to avert disaster to the San Joaquin Valley harvest, due to begin in 10 days, which represents nearly 90 per cent of the nation's table grapes.

The growers conceded they are being badly squeezed by the table grape boycott pushed by the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, headed by Cesar Chavez.

The growers called for a moratorium on the boycott while the workers are conducting union elections and rules for negotiating are being set up. They called for cooperation from the union and the Roman Catholic Church bishops who have supported organizing among the 70,000 grape pickers in the state.

Chavez and union sources wouldn't comment, saying they wanted to study the proposals further.

Chavez' union has signed contracts almost daily the past week with other growers who had held out for years.

Three Sisters Are Finalists

HAILEY, Idaho (AP) — Three of the six finalists for queen of this small south-central Idaho community's annual Old West celebration are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Dale.

Twins Laurie and Leslie, 16, and Lynda, 15, are competing for the title, to be announced July 4.

"Our sister Lisa will be eligible to compete next year," Laurie said. "You have to be 15 to enter. She's just 14."

Polluters Get Year Extensions

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —The Texas Air Control Board Tuesday approved one-year variance extensions for three West Texas firms accused of polluting the air but granted only a 90-day extension to an El Paso company.

All three of the firms granted the one-year extensions produce carbon black. A witness testified before the board that the carbon black "blackened the lung but did no real damage."

The three firms getting the 12-month reprieve from all compliance with the TACB's regulation included the Sid Richardson Carbon Co. near Odessa; the Columbia Division of Cities Service Oil Co. near Seagraves and the Cabot Corp. of Skellytown.

American Smelting and Refining Co. of El Paso was granted a 90-day extension instead of the one-year variance it asked. The company emits sulphur dioxide, a noxious gas, from an 828-foot stack, but it was reported in the hearing that the firm periodically allows emission to exceed the broader limits permitted under a variance.

Other variances granted included:

B&W Engineering Manufacturing Co., San Angelo, to Dec. 1, 1970.

Temple Industries of Diboll to July 30, 1970.

Trinity Portland Cement of Fort Worth to June 30, 1971.

Hooker Chemical Co. of Dallas to Aug. 17, 1970.

Phosphate Chemicals Inc. of Houston to Sept. 30, 1970.

The board denied variances requested by Rexene Plymers of Odessa and the Round Rock Lime Co. of Round Rock. It also ordered the North Texas Supply Co. of Wichita Falls to cease outdoor burning of junked automobiles.

Jewels Stolen From O'Hara

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Actress Maureen O'Hara reported the theft today of jewelry valued at $50,000 from her suite in a hotel.

The Hollywood star said she brought the jewels to wear at the opening of Melbourne's new Tullamarine Airport last Saturday. She attended the opening with her husband, Brig. Gen. Charles Blair, who has airline interests.

Miss O'Hara said the jewelry had great sentimental value and that she was willing to "negotiate a ransom" for its return.

Postal Reorganization Bill Passed By Senate

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate agreed today to fatten every mailman's wallet and create an independent agency to take over operation of the ancient and deficit-plagued Post Office Department.

The postal reform bill, passed 76 to 10 in a post-midnight vote, now goes to a conference committee to resolve differences with a similar bill previously passed by the House.

A U.S. Postal Service would replace the present Cabinet-level Post Office Department under the sweeping reorganization plan that, in its broad outlines, carries out recommendations of President Nixon.

Postal workers also will receive an 8 per cent pay raise.

The new agency, run by a board of governors appointed by the President and subject to Senate confirmation, would have control over postal rates, negotiate pay scales with employe unions, and could issue up to $10 billion in bonds for modernization of post offices and equipment.

The Senate bill, unlike the House bill, would not give Congress a veto over increases in postal rates.

The 8 per cent pay raise, initially costing $845 million, is part of an agreement worked out by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount last April to end a strike by postal workers.

It is on top of a 6 per cent pay increase for all federal employes voted by Congress earlier in the year. The Senate adopted, 73 to 14, an amendment by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to make it retroactive to April 16 as in the House bill.

Blount's agreement with the postal unions also provided they could negotiate for union shop agreements—a form of compulsory unionism—subject to state right-to-work laws.

The House refused to include such a provision in its bill, and the issue stirred a major dispute in the Senate.

An amendment by Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., providing that postal employes should have the right to join or refrain from joining a union, was defeated by voice vote.

Earlier, on a test vote forced by Javits, the Senate had upheld 52 to 38 authority for the new postal service to negotiate closed shop agreements.

Also in the Senate bill is an amendment by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to make it unlawful to send sex-oriented advertising through the mails to persons who have notified the Post Office Department they don't want to receive it.

The House has passed a separate and almost identical bill but not as part of its postal reform measure.

Another difference: The House measure requires the postal service to operate on a self-sustaining basis by 1978. The Senate provides for appropriation of up to 10 per cent of postal operating costs as a subsidy for public service charges.
