By ED TORONTO
INS Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, May 14.—The CIO United Auto Workers tonight asked the federal government to intervene in the 10-day-old Ford strike in Detroit when it became apparent a deadlock on "speedup" charges would prolong the stoppage indefinitely.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said he would recommend that the strikers "take other jobs" pending a settlement.

He wired Federal Mediation Chief Cyrus Ching:

"I feel obliged to advise you negotiations with the Ford Motor company recessed today with the dispute no nearer settlement than on the day the strike began."

Stand Defended

The labor chieftain asserted Ford refused to budge from its original position while company negotiators charged the UAW proposal would provoke "feather-bedding" practices.

Management spokesmen defended their position on the crux of the dispute by stating that Ford has "the right to set production schedules. . ."

Reuther left no doubt he now expects a long strike, asserting:

UAW Proposal Rejected

"We are advising Ford workers if they can get jobs elsewhere to take them. . ."

He said he has invited federal conciliators to come in "because we feel the government and public have a right to know what is taking place."

Today's four and one-half hour session resulted only in management's rejection of a UAW proposal for ending the strike and substitution of its own, which Reuther characterized as "60 per cent propaganda and 40 per cent restatement of their position—with a vengeance."

To Resume Talks

Despite Reuther's call for federal assistance, he agreed to resume next Monday the quest for a solution to the strike, which has idled more than 150,000 wage earners nationally.

The Auto Workers' chieftain told Ching:

"As you said in your wire, the dispute has grave consequences to the scores of thousands of workers and their families directly involved as well as to the public in general.

"Your Federal Conciliation service could make a valuable contri-

More Showers Seen For Area

WEATHER wary, and somewhat weary, South Plains residents Saturday were able to breathe a sigh of relief as threatening clouds which hung over the area most of the day disappeared, following a week of some of the most turbulent weather activity in the section's history.

Meanwhile, South Plains farmers who turned anxious eyes to extended forecasts in hopes of several days of dry, warm weather didn't have too much on which to base their hopes Saturday night. More thundershowers appeared to be in the offing.

Heavy thundershowers were reported in Oklahoma north of Wichita Falls Saturday night, and reports of damage from five tornadoes which hit in the Panhandle area Friday and a hailstorm which hit Seminole mounted.

Front May Move In

The Lubbock Weather station said late Saturday night that scattered thundershowers of a local nature should dot parts of the South Plains late today. And even heavier precipitation was seen as a possibility for Monday afternoon and night.

"A weak cold front is hovering just east of the mountains and apparently is moving west into New Mexico," the Weatherman said. "However, it is doubtful if it will move into this area today."

On the other hand, the Weatherman added, a pretty strong cool front was moving across Arizona last night and is expected to arrive over the South Plains and Panhandle section sometime Monday afternoon or night. More general thunderstorm activity is forecast as a result of this cold air clashing with the warm air likely to be in the area at the time. No violent weather is foreseen, however.

The front which spawned five tornadoes, heavy thundershowers and hail Friday in the Panhandle section apparently had lost its punch Saturday night. Only scattered showers were reported during the day to the U. S. Weather bureau at Dallas, the Associated Press said.

One week after one of the worst deluges in the city's history had sent water pouring into an estimated 350 homes and businesses, Lubbock was well on its way to "cleaning up" from the worst aspects of the storm. Homes, business houses, streets and other areas were back in shape. DDT units were busy fogging parts of the city as a health precaution.

Farmers, especially those west and northwest of Lubbock, still awaited drier weather. Planting, and in some cases replanting, has

Roar Of Red Guns Starts Wild Flight

By STANLEY ALBERTO

SHANGHAI, May 14 (censored) —Communist troops drove within six miles of the entry to Shanghai's water inlets tonight and their artillery rattled the doors and windows in Asia's largest city to touch off another mad refugee flight.

(An International News Service eyewitness dispatch from the mouth of the Whangpoo river said small-arms warfare had reached within three miles of Woosung on the Yangtze-Whangpoo confluence in the Communist attempt to bottle up Shanghai shipping).

Reverses Acknowledged

The Nationalist garrison claimed that its defenders in the area west of Woosung inflicted 5,000 casualties on the more than 20,000 Communist troops attacking in that sector. The Red attack was claimed beaten off.

Reverses were acknowledged, however, on all sides of embattled Shanghai as the Nationalists gradually withdrew into a tighter are around the city.

(The Communist radio, heard in Tokyo claimed that the Shanghai perimeter towns of Kunshan, Kiating, Taichong, Liuho and Lotien are all in Communist hands. The closest to Shanghai is Kiating, 15 miles northwest.

Reds Grab Island

(The broadcast, from Red-held Peiping, said that most of Hainan island, in the South China sea, is now under Communist control. It added that Communist troops are ready to cross to the mainland "to assist in liberating south China.")

In the crucial struggle for control of the Whangpoo river entrance into Shanghai Nationalist informants claimed the crisis was temporarily over and that the government should be able to hold new defense lines for a week or 10 days, barring unexpected developments.

The new Nationalist defense arc extends from Paoshan, near the Whangpoo mouth, through the rail town of Nanhsiang, 12 miles west of Shanghai, to Sinchuan, 12 miles southwest of the city.

EISLER TO BE RETURNED TO U.S.

Fugitive Red Leader Hauled From Polish Ship By British

By JAMES E. BROWN
INS Staff Correspondent

SOUTHAMPTON, May 14—Gerhardt Eisler, bail-jumping Communist leader who fled from the United States, was carried screaming and kicking from the Polish liner Batory in Southampton harbor tonight by two husky Scotland Yard detectives.

Polish embassy representatives vigorously protested the action—a prelude to Eisler's return to the U. S.

Crowds Watch Move

The detectives were forced to carry the struggling Eisler down three flights of stairs from the captain's quarters, across the deck, and down the gangway into the tender for removal to Southampton dock.

Crowds of trans-Atlantic passengers watched this latest East-West brawl which came after a three-hour international argument.

The Polish embassy in London said no official statement will be issued until after the embassy has consulted Warsaw.

J. Panski, one of the Polish embassy officials at the Southampton argument, said Eisler made a long statement and this will be submitted to Polish Ambassador J. Michalowski in London, along with a report of what happened aboard the Batory.

U. S. Agents On Scene

One Batory crewman shouted angrily at the British detectives and shook his fist when they were removing Eisler. Ship officers quickly hustled the crewman away from the scene.

American FBI agents accompanied the Scotland Yard agents who will hold Eisler at U. S. request pending his extradition to face conviction for contempt of Congress and making false passport statements.

Only the Bow Street magistrate in London is empowered to deal with extradition applications.

The "British Council for German Democracy" immediately protested, saying: "Eisler is not, nor never has been an American citizen. He still is German—a German refugee from Nazi op-

German Trade Accord Near

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, May 14.—American sources said the three Western Powers and Russia reached "almost complete agreement" today on the mechanics of restoring Germany's East-West trade and that a full agreement is likely Wednesday.

From then on, said Lawrence F. Wilkinson, economic adviser to the U.S. military government, inter-zonal German commerce should start leaping. At the moment despite the lifting of the blockade Thursday, it is merely a dribble.

Simultaneously the United States, Britain and France approved limited self rule for Western Berlin, and the Russians declared their intention to resume reciprocal deliveries to members of the Inter-Allied Reparations agency in return for reparations delivered to her from Western Germany in the past.

The economic advisers of the Big Four military governments wound up three days of conferences late this afternoon. Wilkinson issued a statement saying:

"We are making very good progress. The position is that both sides give and take a little and we'll probably come out with a solution somewhere in the middle."

Russia seeks revival of old East-West German trade agreements, suspended when the Russians blockaded West Berlin last June. The Western Powers have contended the agreements are outmoded, violate the current supply-and-demand markets and are based on a single currency for all Germany, since supplanted by West marks and East marks for which there is no exchange formula.

Military government authorities praised the atmosphere of the meetings, the first Four-Power talks held in Berlin since last spring. They said the post-blockade problems were vexing, but now appear solvable.

Street Naming Group Formed

Membership of a citizen's committee to study proposed changes in the names of many Lubbock streets was announced Saturday at the city hall.

The members and the interests they represent are: C. I. Wall, C. H. Cale and H. L. Allen, public utilities; Amos Howard, postmaster; Fire Chief W. E. Twitty and Police Chief Lewis Kittrell; G. R. Kennedy and J. L. Murfee, jr., real estate; W. W. Rix, ambulance operators; Ray Farmer, taxicab operators; City Manager Steve Matthews, and K. N. Clapp, chairman of the city planning commission, who will be chairman of the group.

Group To Study Plans

The committee, suggested by the city commission, will have a free hand to study all street name changing plans which may be proposed for Lubbock and to make any recommendations on the subject they deem pertinent.

Initial studies, however, are expected to center around a plan recommended by the planning commission on which the city commissioner held a public hearing last week.

Under this system, streets designated by numbers and letters of the alphabet would remain as they are; streets between numbered streets would be designated

Theft, Burglary Losses Heavy

Three burglaries and several thefts, in which losses probably will total more than $500, were under investigation of police and the sheriff's department Saturday.

The Roy B. Davis residence at 1901 Twenty-ninth was entered by a prowler who ransacked the two-story house from top to bottom, but police were unable to determine what was missing since the family was out of town.

The case, reminiscent of one which occurred several months ago, was characterized by banana skins which the burglar had scattered over all parts of the house during his search, police said. The breakin was discovered by Mrs. Tom Cobb of 1808 Broadway, a sister of Mrs. Davis.

Stolen Bike Left

A bicycle thief, police said they believed, burglarized the residence of Mrs. Audie Low at 1612 Twenty-eighth.

Mrs. Low was in the back yard when she heard a noise in the house. Going in to investigate, she heard a front door slam. A $5 bill and a 50-cent piece were missing.

On the front lawn was a bike that had been discarded. It earlier had been reported stolen from Jim Witt of 1712 Eighteenth street.

A neighbor, who lives across the street from the Low home, told police she had seen the boy who had been riding the bike. She described him as about 10 or 12 years of age.

In another burglary, $14.75 and several rolls of pennies and nickels were stolen, as well as an electric razor, from Texas Tire company at

Nation Faces Big Deficit

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 14 — Experts who advise Congress on taxes figured today that the government will run up a $3,000,000,000 deficit in the next fiscal year which begins July 1.

They used the presidential budget estimates on expenditures.

President Truman, in his budget message last January, estimated that outgo would exceed income by only $900,000,000 in those twelve months.

The government has a national debt of more than $251,500,000,000.

See Income Decline

The congressional tax advisers said they believe the government's income will fall off with a "moderate" business decline next year. Flow of tax money into the Treasury fluctuates pretty much with the rise and fall of individual and corporate earnings because of the income tax.

The experts said they made their assumption of a lower level of business activity after consulting "outstanding ecoromic analysts" in private business and the government.

A heavy, pink-cheeked man named Colin Stam heads the adding machine and slide-rule brigade which advises the joint committee on terminal revenue taxation, the top tax men in the House and Senate.

Gasoline Plant Near Sundown Is Opened

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

SUNDOWN, May 14 — "High Brass" of the oil industry from California to Tulsa and the Texas gulf coast gathered near here today to dedicate the first major gas conservation effort on the South Plains—the Slaughter gasoline plant.

The plant, built by eight major companies, processes casinghead gas into natural gasoline, butane and propane. Formerly the gas was burned in flares.

WILLIAM J. MURRAY, Jr.
Speaker At Plant Opening

Approximately 1,500 persons, including representatives of most of the major and independent companies operating in the Permian basin, oil company employes, state officials and civic leaders of the area gathered at the plant, 4½ miles west of here for the day's program starting at 10 a. m. and climaxed by a big barbecue served by the Lubbock and Sundown Lions clubs. Guided tours were made through the plant throughout the day.

"Every citizen of Texas has a vital stake in the gas conservation program exemplified by this plant," William J. Murray, jr., of Austin, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, said in dedication ceremonies.

"There is more heat energy contained in the natural gas reserves in our state than in our oil resources, and economists tell us that to a considerable extent, the economic future of our state depends upon the wise use of our gas reserves."

Others On Program

One Killed, Eight Hurt In Car Crash

PAMPA, May 14. (AP)—Mrs. Effie E. Tyler, 26, of Pampa, was killed and eight other persons were injured in an auto collision on a slippery road near Wheeler last night.

The injured included Mrs. Tyler's three children. Wheeler is 30 miles east of Pampa. Mrs. Tyler was a native of Sayre, Okla. Funeral serices will be held there.

Injured were Walton Barnett of Pampa, Mrs. Tyler's brother-in-law; his wife, Edith; their daughter, Rea Gail, 2; the Tyler children, Wilma Jean, 5, Charles Wayne, 2, and Carol, 1, and Royce Daves and Stewart Anglin, both of Wheeler.

Daves and Anglin were in a pickup truck in collision with a car driven by Barnett.

Mrs. Tyler's husband was recently transferred from Pampa to Hobbs, N.M., by the Cabot Carbon Co.

Harris County's 'Crusading' Constable Demands Open Trial

HOUSTON, May 14 (AP)—Constable Dale Richardson, beaming at reaction to his candidacy for sheriff, today demanded the county grand jury to give him an open trial.

"Let the good people of Harris county hear the facts for themselves," he said.

The rangy raider from La Porte made his demand in a formal statement which he said was his answer to the grand jury.

The grand jury, charged to investigate Richardson's out-of-precinct gambling raids in Houston, yesterday advised District Judge Frank Williford the constable is on friendly terms with Houston gamblers.

Tyler Man Is Charged After Safety Deposit Box Opened

TYLER, May 14. (AP)—Chris A. Amos, 48, Tyler oil lease and royalty broker, was released from jail today on $5,000 bond.

He is charged with opening the safety deposit box of P. G. Lake, Tyler oil man who was robbed in his hotel room last Monday night of several hundred dollars.

Officers asserted today that an imprint of Lake's key, taken at the time of the hotel robbery, was used to make another for the deposit box.

Amos was arrested soon after he entered his automobile after leaving the bank. Officers said they found $5,000 marked money on him.

Friends said Lake's box ordinarily would have held about $100,000 held by him for friends in safekeeping. The money was removed after the hotel robbery and the $5,000 in marked money was placed in the box instead.

USDA Says Moisture Adequate For Wheat

(By The Associated Press)

Production of wheat in the 23 north high plains counties of Texas is indicated at 87,360,000 bushels, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced Saturday. This is 71 per cent of the total production estimated for the state, the Agriculture department said adding:

"Much of the crop is now in full head and present moisture supplies are generally adequate to supply all needs to harvest time. Harvest should get underway in counties south of Amarillo shortly after June 1, and will likely be in full swing over the district near mid-June."

The Agriculture department estimated production for the southern high plains and low rolling plains will be 23,600,000 bushels, about 19 per cent of the state total.

The USDA has estimated Texas' wheat production this year at 123,216,000 bushels.

STAGE SET FOR COURT BATTLE

Electra Loses Another Round In 'Whistle Stop' Controversy

By RAY GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, May 14—A preliminary injunction against Electra's "whistle stop" ordinance was granted today by Federal Judge W. H. Atwell.

In ruling for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, the court said Electra's May 9 ordinance requiring trains to stop in Electra for a health inspection was arbitrary, capricious, and a violation of the Fourteenth amendment.

This sets the stage for a full-scale court battle when the case will be tried on its merits. It will be in Dallas in 20 days.

Today's hearing was for the Fort Worth and Denver to "show cause" why a temporary restraining order issued Thursday by Judge Atwell should be made permanent.

T. Leo Moore, Electra's mayor who protested what he called making the town a "whistle stop," appeared slightly unshaven and weary in court today as a witness. He had to make a quick trip from Electra where yesterday a throng greeted his arrival on the railroad's streamlined Zephyr—the

Louisiana Solon To Join Taft As Co-Sponsor Of T-H Substitute

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 14 — A Southern Democratic senator said today he has decided to join in sponsoring a Republican-written substitute for the administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill.

Senator Ellender (D-La) said he has accepted an invitation to be a co-sponsor extended to him by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), one of the three GOP authors of the substitute measure.

Ellender predicted that perhaps a half dozen other Southern Democrats in the Senate also probably will put their names on the substitute in a few days.

The measure backed by Taft and Senators Smith (R-NJ) and Donnell (R-Mo) would make more than a score of changes in the Taft-Hartley law, but—in Taft's words — would retain "the best features" of that law.

The administration bill, on the other hand, would junk the T-H law and replace it with a modified version of the old Wagner act.

The Taft-Smith-Donnell, substitute is in the form of five big amendments to the administration measure.

Ellender told a reporter he and

SUMMER SESSION OPENS MAY 30

Lubbock Mothers, Daughters To Be Offered Homemaking Courses

Mothers and daughters of Lubbock will, for the third summer, be given opportunities to take advantage of instruction and equipment in the homemaking departments of the Lubbock Public schools to learn home decorating, wardrobe improvement, family sewing, or self improvement and charm courses, according to plans completed this week by Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education, and Miss Gertrude Watson, home making coordinator. All instruction will be free, and the only cost to women and girls will be the cost of materials they use.

Instructors for the first six week period will be: Mrs. Riley Carlton and Mrs. Arch Sullivan, at the O. L. Slaton Junior High where Senior High school work is being given, and Mrs. Bill Henry at J. T. Hutchinson Junior High, where work for junior high girls and for girls who will go from elementary schools into junior high will be offered.

Wardrobe Course Set

Miss Watson will teach a course in wardrobe improvement, a course for women which has proved very popular during the past two summers, during the second six-week period. This course will be offered in the homemaking department at O. L. Slaton. Women who take this course will be free to come and go at will and may spend as little or as much time as desired during the specified time for class meetings.

Regular homemaking project classes will be conducted for those girls who have had one year of homemaking and wish to receive credit for summer projects. Mrs. Carlton will be in charge of homemaking projects during the first semester. The home decorating class during the first semester is to be open to both women and girls. Mrs. Sullivan will instruct the class and projects will include such things as making lamp shades, curtains and draperies, slip covers, refinishing furniture, selecting pictures and other decorative accessories, flower arrangements, and decorative household linens.

Sewing Class Planned

The first semester girls will also have an opportunity to learn to sew, or to go to the homemaking department and sew just for fun or enjoyment and sew just for given instruction in such things as: use of machine, selection of suitable and becoming colors, selection of design for garment, selection of suitable fabric, fundamentals of clothing construction, choice of dress accessories, and selection of ready-made clothing.

A special class in junior homemaking is being planned for the first six week period at J. T. Hutchinson Junior High, with Mrs. Henry as the teacher. These junior high girls, and those who will enter junior high in the fall, will spend their time considering ways to be more attractive personally. There will be no formal classwork, and no written work or required home activities. Girls will just report and take part in demonstrations, field trips, style shows, hear speakers, plan socials, and receive actual practice in being good hostesses, finding out how they may look their prettiest and make friends. The class will be called the Junior Homemaking club for the summer.

Mothers who wish further information on the homemaking classes or who wish information for themselves may call Miss Lomax at the Senior High school, or report on May 30 at either the O. L. Slaton Junior High or the J. T. Hutchinson Junior High. Actual enrollment for the first semester will take place in all homemaking classes on May 30. Enrollment for the second semester is scheduled for July 12.

Woman Charged In Swindling Red Cross

DUBUQUE, Ia., May 14. (INS)—Assistant Dubuque County Attorney Peter Klauer today filed charges of obtaining money by false pretenses against a woman identified as Mrs. Ethel Johnson in connection with an alleged swindle worked on Red Cross offices in Iowa and Wisconsin.

Klauer said the woman had used aliases including Wood, Blaine, Thomas and Larson.

She was arrested with a man in DeWitt, Ia., last night and was being held in Clinton county jail for Dubuque authorities.

When arrested, the couple gave the names of "Mr. and Mrs. Henry Larson," Clinton authorities said.

Larson, who gave his age as 33 and said he was from Detroit Lakes, Minn., was sentenced to 30 days in Clinton county jail on a charge of vagrancy.

Klauer charged that the woman received $75 from the Bubuque Red Cross on the pretense of be-in destitute because her husband's Army allotment check was overdue.

The pair reportedly worked the same scheme at Red Cross offices in Marshalltown and Fairfield in Iowa, and at Beloit, Wis.

Houston Construction Worker Dies In Gun Fight With Police

HOUSTON, May 14. (AP)—A 25-year-old construction worker was fatally wounded last night in a gun fight with two policemen.

He was William W. Kirk.

Justice of the Peace Thomas I. Decker returned an inquest verdict of justifiable homicide.

Workers Continue To Clear Debris Left By Holland Tunnel Blast

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Bulldozers scraped through deep ooze and matted wreckage today to clear the blast-seared Holland tunnel for its daily load of 46,000 cars and trucks.

A big truck, rolling towards New York with a cargo of chemicals, blew up Friday morning. It spewed fire and poisonous gas through 300 feet of the traffic-clogged tunnel.

However, the tunnel was expected to be ready for normal operations by late this afternoon. Damage may total $1 million.

Fires Hamper Workers

Minor explosions and small fires hampered workmen throughout last night but added little to the already severe damage.

Repairmen said 250 feet of the tunnel's inner ceiling would have to be replaced.

New Jersey authorities sought to determine if criminal negligence led to the concentrated destruction on the underwater highway that links New York and New Jersey beneath the Hudson river.

Cause Undetermined

However, the cause of the blast could not be pinpointed in the welter of debris. New York fire officials said atmospheric pressure in the tunnel may have touched off truck's cargo of carbon disulphide.

Sixty-six persons, mostly firemen and tunnel workers, collapsed or staggered groggily from the tunnel's smoke-fogged depths during a five-hour battle with fire and fumes.

Twenty-six were taken to hospitals with burns or gas poisoning. None was reported in danger.

A priest, Rev. John Shields, was one of several clergyman who went in to aid the injured. He gave the last rites of the Catholic church to five men during two hours inside. All lived.

CHARLES EAGLE PLUME

ACTOR KILLED IN WRECK

Anthropologist Will Speak At Club Here

Charles Eagle Plume, interpreter of Indian lore, will present a unique lecture-dance exhibition at the monthly dinner of Lubbock Knife and Fork club at 7 o'clock Monday night in Hotel Lubbock, said Lewis B. Rix, club secretary.

Plume's lecture will be entitled "Making Medicine."

Dressed in authentic and colorful costume, Plume will interpret culture, life and folk lore of the Indian race by lecture, song and dance.

He will bring out how the Stone Age man developed language, dancing, music and social organizations. He will show how different races have borrowed cultural factors from each other.

Plume, son of a French-Indian mother and a German father, is a graduate of the University of Colorado and an anthropologist by profession. He was working toward a doctor's degree in amthropology at Columbia university when World war II began. He served three years in the Southwest Pacific as an Army Scout.

Area Salesmen For Lubbock Distributing Firm Meet Here

Approximately 20 persons attended a sales meeting of the Wright Kerr company, distributors for the Tom Huston Peanut company in West Texas and New Mexico, at the company's warehouse, 1212 Sixth, Saturday.

Fred Cleveland of Fort Worth, vice president of the Tom Huston company, and three of his staff, Ben Montford, Dick Crowley and Frank Pierce, attended the meeting.

Kerr's company employs 16 men in a territory covering Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Motley, Floyd, Lamb, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Scurry, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Midland, Ector, Crane, Winkler, Ward, Loving and Reeves counties in Texas and Lea, Eddy, Chaves, Curry, Roosevelt, DeBaca and Lincoln counties in New Mexico.

The company serves 3,000 retail outlets with Tom's products.

Wives of the visiting salesmen were entertained at a coke party at the Lubbock Country club Saturday afternoon and a dinner was held last night at Hotel Lubbock.

Texas Legislators Waiting For Senate Action On 'Must' Bills

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 14 — Session-weary legislators, working on overtime at $5 a day, looked today to the Senate for action on four "must" spending bills, the major barrier to final adjournment.

The House wound up its part of the bargain this week by sending the last two bills, covering state departments and higher education institutions for the coming biennium, to the upper chamber.

Customarily, all four of the "must" bills are worked out finally in conference committees between the two houses.

Single Bills Delayed

However, the Senate has yet to act on any of the four, and one, for eleemosynary institutions, is still resting in a Senate finance sub-committee.

It appeared that a relatively minor appropriation, of $1,000,000 for conversion of Lamar Junior college, Beaumont, into a four-year state technological college, was the "pawn" in the fight over the major appropriations.

The departmental bill as cleared by the House totaled some $49,000,000, and the higher education plan was pegged at $60,000,000.

The Senate refused this week to bring up the Lamar bill, and four other single-purpose appropriations, out of regular order for debate.

Policy Awaited

Senate finance leaders, it was pointed out, were awaiting establishment of a definite policy on the five bills before pushing ahead with the major appropriations.

Some senators viewed the Lamar bill, if approved ahead of the "must" proposals covering operation of state government for the next two years, as a danger-signal on the road toward immediate increases in taxation.

Passage of the Lamar measure, they believe, would be a call for similar treatment on the other four bills. The others would create medical branches of the University of Texas at Dallas, San Antonio and Temple, and set up a soil conservation program.

All told, the five measures come to $9,500,000.

Available Funds Estimated

The Senate expressed itself in an economy gesture last month by returning to the finance committee three major appropriations totaling some $168,000,000.

However, in a sweeping move later, the committee lowered the bars by reporting out bills carrying $126,000,000 in appropriations —excluding the eleemosynary bill, still in sub-committee, and the judiciary measure, already out on the Senate floor.

Subsequently, a report by state Comptroller R. S. Calvert pegged the amount available for spending from the state's general revenue fund at $134,000,000.

With a thin line separating available money and the amount necessary to operate state government, a spending-taxation fight could easily materialize to extend the 51st session's work.

Meanwhile, state-wide rent decontrol was expected to face the House on final passage Monday

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Carlton Moore of Houston, was advanced toward final action last Monday by a decisive 98-30 vote.

Committee hearings were virtually forgotten as legislators worked in day-long sessions, and occasionally at night, on a calendar bulging with bills.

A bulky, five-page calendar of legislation faced the Senate Monday. Among measures topping the list was one calling for creation of a youth development council, by Sen. R. L. Proffer of Justin. A similar proposal has cleared the House.

POSTMASTERS OKAYED

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)— The Senate has approved the following nominations for postmasterships in Texas:

Daphne P. Birdwell, Boston; Cecil N. Latimer, Detroit; Eugene E. McMillian, jr., Douglassville; Walter A. Calloway, Howe; Grover T. Sharbutt, Kirbyville; Carl F. Webster, Vidor; Grady W. Hodges, Whitesboro; Colon A. Barge, jr., Zavalla.

SILVERINE TURNER

Abernathy School Names Valedictorian

ABERNATHY, May 14. (Special) —Miss Silverine Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neff Turner of Abernathy, is valedictorian of Abernathy High school class of 1949, it was announced today.

Miss Turner and Miss Mildred Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Carr of Abernathy, who was salutatorian of the graduation, will receive special awards in the commencement exercises to be held next Wednesday at 11 a.m.

Miss Turner will be graduated with 18½ credits. She has been active in all school activities. Besides being valedictorian, she was editor of the yearbook, secretary of the senior class, Antelope football queen, a member of the pep squad and FHA club.

She took part in both the FHA club and senior class plays.

State Control Of Irrigation Stations Okayed By House Group

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)— Approval of legislation to turn over dry lands and irrigation stations at Big Spring and Dalhart, to the state has been recommended to a House Agriculture subcommittee.

Frank W. Parker, assistant chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry, yesterday told the group 11 stations would be transferred under the proposal.

The stations largely serve local needs, he explained.

Parker said the government would continue to give some financial assistance when the stations are under state supervision.

States would not have to accept them, however, and the secretary of agriculture would transfer them only when satisfactory agreements with states were reached.

Trial Of Men Charged With Smuggling Gold Is Postponed

BROWNSVILLE, May 14 (U.P.)— Trial of three New Yorkers charged with smuggling gold into the United States on its way to Israel was delayed today because of the illness of an assistant U.S. attorney.

Border officials had arrested Felix Klaberg, 37, Charles Kurt Wajnryb, 24, and Jaques Bodmen, 29, last July 10 at Hidalgo, Tex.

They were charged with smuggling 26 pounds of gold into the United States. Border officials said it had been destined to Israel.

Illness of assistant U.S. attorney Charles Bowie caused postponement of the trial yesterday for a week. Klaberg had failed to show up for the original trial date in December and forfeited $7,500 bond. The trial then was set for yesterday.

Job Insurance Payments Drop

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — The number of workers drawing jobless insurance pay fell off 57,000 last week, the first drop in a month.

This decline brought the total down to 1,980,000 during the week ending May 7 as compared with 2,037,000 for the preceding period.

But the federal security agency said yesterday the number of newly laid-off workers filing claims for unemployment compensation rose from 322,100 to 354,000 in the same period.

Steady Increase Noted

Before last week's drop in jobless payments, the agency noted that for three weeks there had been a steady increase. Despite the decline the May 7 total still was 775,000 higher than in the same period last year.

On this point, the FSA report said that more workers have been using up their jobless benefit rights this year than during 1948. In the first quarter of 1949, it said, 345,000 people exhausted these rights as compared with 239,000 in the same period last year.

Only 33,000,000 of the nation's workers are covered by the unemployment insurance which is administered by the states themselves.

Honey Bees Find New Home In Minister's Car At Lampasas

LAMPASAS, May 14 (U.P.)—If several hundred bees would move over and let him in, Rev. George B. McCrary would have a "sweet-running" car today.

The Methodist minister's car was invaded yesterday — Friday the 13th—by refugees from a truckload of honey bees parked in front of his home.

Bee experts explained the swarm won't leave until the sedan's interior becomes heated by sun rays.

The car, unfortunately, is parked under a big shade tree.

Woman Laughs Last With Twin Babies

SEATTLE, May 14. (U.P.)— Mrs. Harry Day, 27, was turned away from the Harborview County hospital yesterday because attendants said the baby she was expecting was "not due for some time."

She went home and with the aid of her husband and a nervous policeman gave birth to a boy. She then returned to the hospital—this time in an ambulance—and gave bitrh to a girl.

Redfaced attendants announced that the twins were "doing fine."

Amarillo Jail Break Blocked By Trusties

AMARILLO, May 14. (AP)—Trusties were credited today with halting an attempted jail break by two young prisoners in the Potter county jail here.

Making the bid for freedom were Bobby Craig, 18, held on a burglary charge, and Jack Smith, 20, charged with theft.

The two, in solitary confinement, attacked the night jailer, Pat Ellinberg, 50, after unlocking their cells with an improvised key.

Officers said Craig fashioned the key from a coat hanger. He first unlocked his cell then that of Smith. The pair armed themselves with mop handles and waited until the night jailer made his regular round of the jail at 2:30 a.m.

Ellinberg said the pair beat him, took his keys and started to flee the jail. That was when the trusties intervened.

The trusties in turn armed themselves with mop handles and attacked the would-be escapees, officers said. One of the trusties then went down the elevator and telephoned city ploice who sent a patrol car to investigate. The two youths were placed back in their cells.

Ellinberg was reported "pretty badly beaten up" but his condition was not believed serious. He was in his room in a local hotel today.

Retired Judge Death Victim

SAN ANTONIO, May 14 (AP) — Retired Federal Judge Duval West, 87, died Friday at his home here.

During his long and colorful career, Judge West was a rancher, renowned hunter, deputy United States marshal and assistant United States attorney.

Funeral services were planned here this afternoon.

Judge West retired from the bench as judge of the Western district of Texas in 1932. He was appointed to the judgeship in 1916 by President Woodrow Wilson. He took the oath of office on Jan. 2, 1917.

Was Personal Agent

His appointment followed a diplomatic career in Mexico during the revolutionary period as personal agent of President Wilson. He interviewed Pancho Villa.

Born in Austin, Nov. 13, 1861, he was graduated from Texas Military institute here in 1879. As a young man he managed a ranch near Cotulla.

Judge West received his license to practice law at the age of 19, but did not begin active practice until 10 years later. He served as deputy United States marshal and assistant United State attorney before becomings judge of the district.

He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Judge West is survived by a daughter, Mrs. E. S. Emerson, and six grandchildren.

Repulsed Train Robbers

A biographical sketch on Judge West occupied nearly half a page in Who's Who. As a deputy marshal, he and one other man repulsed a band of train robbers who tried to hold up a train near Harwood. He was a member of a posse that ran down a band of train robbers in Wilson county.

At the age of 70, Judge West was considered by many to be the greatest hunter in Texas. He would bag his full allotment of deer every hunting season.

Two whales nearly 20 feet long recently swam up the Clyde to Glasgow, Scotland.

Lamesa Seniors To Attend Service Today

LAMESA, May 14 (Special) — Dr. Julian Atwood, Baptist pastor, will address the 1949 graduating class of Lamesa High school at the 8 p.m. Sunday commencement sermon in the First Baptist church.

Graduation ceremonies will be at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the High school auditorium.

Sunday services will include an organ prelude and processional by Janice King; invocation by Rev. L. W. Bridges, pastor of First Christian church, and singing by the congregation.

Scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Sam A. Thomas, Methodist pastor, will be followed by choral response and singing under Mr. Dale's direction.

Following Dr. Atwood's address, "Hosanna" will be sung by Rev. Dale. Rev. Clem Sorley, pastor of Presbyterian church, will give the benediction.

WORLD OPINION SEEN AS STRONG PEACE FORCE

UN Officials Believe Organization Gaining New Backing After Settling Several Heated Clashes

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 14. United Nations officials are agreed today that the world organization passed through the gravest crisis of its existence in the four months ending in April.

They maintain that the U.N. struggled for its very life from the time The Netherlands defied it and initiated military action on Dec. 19 of 1948 until last April when the North Atlantic pact was approved by the 12 participating nations.

Leaders Give Views

These men believe that as a result of the U.N. demonstration of its durability and effectiveness it will exert a growing influence on all international issues and the writing of German, Austrian and Japanese peace treaties.

With the General Assembly having almost completed its work until next September, leading U.N. figures were canvassed for an up-to-date appraisal of the organization. Among those who responded were Hector McNeil of Britain, John Foster Dulles of the United States, Assembly President Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, Frederick Osborn of the U.S., Secretary General Trygve Lie, acting Palestine Mediator Ralph Bunche and Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines.

Assembly Takes Over

These men hold the view that the April-May session of the General Assembly proved to be far from just a sequel to the previous Paris meeting. They say that the recent weeks of critical discussions amidst the world crisis proved that the Assembly is emerging as the most important sounding-board of world opinion. They say also that its capacity for mobilizing and guiding world opinion is so great that even the major powers have to take its rulings into account.

The Evatt school of thought, which seems to be gaining wide support, is that the Assembly gradually will overshadow all other U.N. activities and meet two or three times a year. British inclinations are for more streamlined and shorter anual sessions, although the agenda list grows with every year.

Proponents of multiple assembly sessions point out that the plenary body over the past six months has suddenly become "the conscience of the world." Every conceivable sort of problem is being dumped into its lap, from the Berlin dispute to the question of wayward wives of far-off African tribes. An example of the clearing house the Assembly has become is the agenda of 79 items it accepted recently, compared to 65 a year ago.

Has Made Gains

To cope with this burden, a special committee of 14 nations is at work on means of making the Assembly more efficient, without encroaching on the diplomatic prerogatives of the delegates or curtailing their freedom of speech.

It is maintained that once the ponderous machine has been streamlined, then the U.N. Assembly will truly function as the protector and champion of the individual, the repository of international law, the guardian and interpreter of human rights.

The U.N. would be justified in pinning on itself gold medals for the mediation of the Palestine conflict, the settlement of fighting in Kashmir and Indonesia, the stifling of large-scale warfare on the Balkan borders, gradual allaying of the Korean threat to peace and its sponsorship of negotiations for lifting the Berlin blockade and bringing about a meeting of the council of foreign ministers on Germany.

The optimists at U.N. believe that one of these days, the world organization is going to pull off the settlement of the "cold war." They base this belief to a large extent on the conviction that world public opinion is crushing Soviet propaganda and that the Assembly already has deeply affected the thinking of many nations.

Opposition To Soviets Seen

Frederick Osborn, who sat in the U.N. Atomic energy commission for two years on behalf of the United States, says:

"An interesting change has been taking place in the attitude of the non-Soviet nations. A year ago many of the smaller nations felt that there was a struggle going on between the Soviet Union and the United States which was not their business and in which they did not need or desire to take part.

"In the plenary session of the General Assembly held in Paris in the fall of 1948, many nations, including particularly the Scandinavian countries, came to the Assembly with the same general attitude. Mr. Vishinsky's proposals for the disarmament of the western powers without a corresponding reduction in the arms of the Soviet Union and its associated states, the violence and unreality of his statements, the specific quality of his attack on self-government and peaceful co-operation among nations, completed a transformation which had been going on since shortly after the war.

"Wtihout exception, the smaller states apparently came to the conclusion that the Soviet threat was a threat against all peoples aspiring to freedom and independence and the maintenance and peaceful evolution of their own established forms. Not a single nation voted with the Soviet Union and its five associated states on any political question. It was a shock to the orators of the Soviet group. They lost all of their fire. It is very evident that even the men in the Kremlin recognize the danger of a wholly adverse world opinion."

Body Of Former Ropesville Man Is En Route To U. S.

The body of S/Sgt. Robert S. Dickson, former Ropesville resident who was killed in action in World War II, currently is en route to the United States for reinterment.

DICKSON

S/Sgt. Dickson attended Ropesville High school, graduating in 1940. He later attended Texas Tech, prior to enlisting in the U.S. Air corps in March of 1942.

He was killed Jan. 13, 1943, when the B-17 bomber on which he was a gunner was shot down in Belgium. The entire crew of the plane was killed in the crash. S/Sgt. Dickson was 19 at the time.

Reburial services will be conducted within the next few weeks at Azusa, Calif., his former home. White Funeral home of that city is to be in charge of services. Reinterment will be in Oakdale cemetery, Azusa.

Survivors include the mother, Mrs. Luther G. Pitts, and a brother, James W. Dickson, both of Muleshoe.

Rogers Orr Named To Head South Plains Radio Group

Rogers Orr was elected president of the South Plains Amateur Radio club at a meeting Friday night in the Navy armory.

Others elected were W. J. Gentry, vice president, and W. T. Ward, secretary-treasurer.

The club voted to purchase a short wave transmitter and receiver for use in emergency work in event of tornado, or other disaster.

It was pointed out that the Amateur Radio club at Odessa has several transmitters and receivers for such purpose. The City of Odessa presented the radio club 10 mobile transmitters and receivers upon buying new equipment.

Purpose of the South Plains Radio club is two-fold: Educational and to maintain a group of radio operators for any emergency work that might arise here.

Approximately 15 attended Friday night's meeting.

Expanded medical care will absorb 8 per cent of Britain's total budget expenses.

Ex-Convict Held In Arizona Jail Investigated In Texas Slayings

KINGMAN, Ariz., May 14. (AP)—Sheriff Frank L. Porter of Mohave county said today he is investigating the possibility that a confessed murderer being held in the county jail may have been responsible for two other killings.

The man being questioned is Ian Leroy Miles, 23, who first gave his name as William Edward Thorn of Hereford. Miles has confessed the hitch-hike shooting of Glen Yarbrough, Corcoran, Calif., here April 7.

Sheriff Porter said Miles is "having difficulty" remembering where he was on Feb. 9, 1948 when R. D. McNeil, El Paso newspaper advertising manager, and Maurice Heaton, Los Angeles advertising man, were killed at El Paso.

The sheriff said Miles was not in prison at that time, having completed a 50-month term in the New Mexico prison on a forgery charge.

Oklahoma Motorist Killed In Car-Truck Crash Near Vernon

VERNON, May 14 (AP) — E. R. Stine, about 55, of Norman, Okla., was killed today in a car-truck collision four miles east of here on Highway 287.

His body was being returned to Norman for funeral services. The driver of the truck, R. H. Bohne of Gatesville, was not injured.

Britain's vaudeville trade paper, The Stage, carried this ad: "Urgent. Wanted, male dancer with sense of humor to play hindquarters of comedy horse for No. 1 pantomime, 10 or 12 weeks run."

When a Boy Dreams of Manhood!

White sidewall tires available at additional cost.

If you drive a Cadillac, the sketch above tells a story.

Somewhere on the streets or highways you bring your car to a velvety stop to give a "lift" to a youngster whose thumb is pointed the same way you are—and you watch his face light up as he settles down beside you.

"Boy, a Cadillac!"

You know, without asking, what is going through his head. He's dreaming of the day when he himself grows up to man's estate and has a Cadillac of his own.

It is only natural, of course, that Cadillac should occupy this unique place of honor in the dreams and aspirations of American youth—for Cadillac is the only car in America whose name and crest have been reserved exclusively for cars of the very highest character. It is the only fine-car name that has meant the same—for decade after decade.

This year, the Cadillac name has a special luster—for Cadillac cars are powered by a great new V-type engine—the creative masterpiece of Cadillac's renowned engineering division. Performance is so brilliant, from every standpoint, that it simply must be experienced in order to be believed.

Why not experience it yourself? You are welcome in our showrooms at any time.

SLAUGHTER GASOLINE PLANT

A substantial investment in Texas to conserve her natural resources, Slaughter gasoline plant provides jobs for more than 100 people whose annual payroll is over $350,000.

"Casinghead" gas from the Slaughter field, once flared because there was no market for it, now goes to this plant for processing. Propane, butane and natural gasoline are extracted from the gas, and the dry, treated gas is then sold to a pipeline.

Most of the butane and propane produced at the plant is being used in West Texas—to provide heat and fuel for homes, industries and irrigation projects. The natural gasoline is shipped to refineries to be blended into commercial gasoline.

The plant will be operated by Stanolind for the eight owners

Most Voters Believe Atlantic Pact Decreases Chance Of War

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 14—Those opponents of the North Atlantic Security Pact who say that it will increase the chances of war with Russia appear to have little support from the American public.

On the contrary, interviews conducted with a representative cross-section of voters in all states show a widespread belief that the pact will decrease the chances of armed conflict.

Their reasoning is presumably that the alliance of Western Powers under the pact would discourage Russia from attack.

Whether the proposed treaty is likely to promote peace or lead to war is one of the basic issues in the Senate discussion on ratification of the treaty. Henry A. Wallace, former vice-president, recently testified against the pact on the grounds that such an alliance might make Russia into a "desperate cornered beast."

The views of the general public on this aspect of the discussion were sounded as part of a general survey of reactions to the treaty itself.

After questioning voters on the idea of the pact, interviewers asked:

"Do you think that, if the United States sends arms and war materials to these North Atlantic countries, (joining in the pact), it would increase our chances of a war with Russia or decrease our chances of war with Russia?"

Increase	24%
Decrease	43
Make no difference	11
No opinion	22

There is a greater tendency in the upper education levels than in the lower to believe that the pact will decrease the chances of war. This is shown in the following table of the vote by education:

	College	High Grade Sch'l	Sch'l
Increase	30%	21%	25%
Decrease	50	51	34
Make no difference	11	11	12
No opinion	9	17	29

U. S. Obligations

Whether the United States is morally obliged under the pact to go to war in case of an attack on a member nation is a point about which there has been much discussion.

A defense alliance would not have much meaning, it is argued, unless the signatories were ready to go to war in case of attack. However, under the American Constitution only Congress can declare war. The text of the Atlantic Pact contains no specific commitment about war, stipulating only that member nations agree to take steps to help a member who is attacked.

To discover what impression the American public has gotten about the obligations of the United States under the pact, the Institute put this question to all voters who had heard or read about the pact:

"If a nation belonging to the North Atlantic Security Pact were attacked, what would the United States be required to do under the terms of the pact?"

Help them, back them up, stick together	39%
Go to war, fight, defend them	33
Give supplies, money, ammunition	14
Real help would depend on Congress	2
Miscellaneous	1
Don't know	11
	100%

Article 5 of the Atlantic Treaty contains the statement that if an armed attack occurs, each signatory power "will assist the party or parties so attacked by taking forthwith, individually and in concert with other parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area."

Nurse Held In Hotel Shooting

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14 (INS)—A young Cleveland, O., magazine salesman was shot and critically wounded in a downtown Minneapolis hotel and police held an attractive 20-year-old nurse who reportedly admitted the shooting.

Police said Miss Margaret Ann Coverdale admitted she shot the salesman, Robert Oaks, 23, "because he made improper advances."

Miss Coverdale is being held on an open charge until police learn whether Oaks will recover.

Shot Below Heart

Oaks was shot just below the heart and authorities said he also had been hit over the head with a bottle.

Oaks was quoted as telling police he met Miss Coverdale while selling magazines at Glen Lake heart hospital where she is employed. He made a date to meet her last night.

The salesman said they had some drinks together and eventually went to his hotel room. Oaks added that Miss Coverdale drew a revolver from her handbag and shot him just as he was getting into bed.

Nurse Said Drugged

Oaks said that when he staggered to the telephone to call for help, Miss Coverdale bashed him over the head with a beer bottle. He said he grappled with the nurse, wrested the gun from her hand and threw it out the window.

Miss Coverdale was quoted as telling police that Oaks threatened to throw her out the window unless she complied with his "improper advances."

Police said the nurse was found after the shooting was discovered in a locked toilet elsewhere in the hotel. They said she appeared to be in a drugged condition and barbituates were found in her purse.

Nueces County Judge Elected Head Of South Texas Group

NEW BRAUNFELS, May 14 (AP)—The South Texas association of County Judges and Commissioners yesterday elected Nueces County Judge George Prowse as its president.

Other officers elected at the annual convention were Com. A. J. Kainer, Weimar, Colorado county, first vice-president; Com. Carlos Palacios, Laredo, Webb county, second vice-president; and Orange County Judge Sid J. Caillavet, Orange, was reelected secretary-treasurer of the association.

Beaumont was chosen as convention site for 1950.

Rep. Smith Explains Attitude On Cotton Research Committee

Rep. Preston E. Smith, who voted for the amendment on the House general appropriations bill for state-owned colleges eliminating funds for the Cotton Research committee, explained his stand here Saturday.

"There were several factors involved as to why the appropriation for this program, which has been carried on by the University of Texas, Texas A. & M. and Texas Tech for several years, was stricken from the bill," Smith said.

"I supported the amendment eliminating the program with an understanding that a more constructive program would be set up for the work at the time the bill is before the free conference committee," Smith said.

"My reasons are: 1. The present operation of this program is not being handled in a manner justifiable to the taxpayers of Texas; 2. At the present time the appropriation is not tied down in any responsible manner; and 3. There is now and has been many questions as to the efficiency of the carrying out of the program.

"It is hoped that the legislature can set up a definite constructive program whereby responsibility can be placed specifically," Smith added. "For instance, it would seem that Texas Tech should be charged with the responsibility of carrying out the fibre and wool research and this phase of the program placed directly under its supervision.

"A. & M. college should carry out the seed research, and the University of Texas could carry out the marketing phase of research with the same direct responsibility placed on each respective school for conducting their specific part of the cotton research program.

"With this type of program," Smith said, "I believe the State can save about $15,000 annually by abolishing the central office now in charge of the entire program and setting up responsibilities of the school participating in the program."

Smith said he would strive to set up that sort of program in the free conference committee.

Body Of Missing Philippine Airlines Pilot Is Found

MANILA, May 14 (INS)—The body of the pilot of a missing Philippine airliner was found together with some of the wreckage of the plane today.

Philippine airlines said the body of Captain Ramon Nieva and part of the wreckage was found on Alabat island, near the plane's course from Daet to Manila.

Authorities said evidences of foul play were found. It was believed that a "mystery box" being shipped on the plane caused an explosion which demolished the plane and killed the 13 persons aboard.

Col. Andre S. Soriano, PAL president, turned the case over to the national bureau of investigation.

San Antonio Man Arrested For Selling Obscene Literature

SAN ANTONIO, May 14 (AP)—Tips from school students have led to the arrest of J. L. Turner, 43-year-old news stand operator charged with selling obscene literature to youngsters.

Police said today they believed Turner's arrest will bring to an end a four-month wave of selling lewd pictures and literature to high school and junior high school students. Turner was the third person arrested in the last three weeks on the charge.

Vet Loses His Arms, Has Willing Hands

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP)—Larry Borko has no arms, but he has many willing hands.

Borko, 27, a former Seabee, was nearly killed by a mine explosion in the Pacific during the war.

His dream, and that of his wife, Anna, has been a home of their own. They found one, not too far from the hospital where he has to report regularly for medical attention. The price was shaved down by the owner, M/Sgt. Norman J. Still, who has to sell because the Army has ordered him to Japan.

The catch was, however, that house has to be painted before a loan can be approved.

Joseph Schwartz, a real estate man and a wounded veteran, himself, talked things over with Frank M. Gierek, another veteran; John Hines, the neighborhood VFW post commander, and George Linhardt, adjutant of the Oak Lawn American Legion Post.

Now Schwartz and Gierek have the paint, thinner and brushes bought. It's white, with enough green for trim. And Hines and Linhardt have had to pass the word that no more volunteer painters are needed. The job will be done Sunday.

Sharp Upturn In Homebuilding During Last Month Is Reported

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—Homebuilding took a sharp upturn during April, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Saturday.

The bureau said 86,000 new permanent non-farm dwellings were started during the month, an increase of 24,000 or about 39 per cent over March.

The bureau said, however, that last month's total is about 14 per cent below April, 1948, when homebuilding was approaching a record peak.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS 1873—1949

Seldom have any people had more cause to give up in despair than did the hardy pioneers of the two-year-old town of Lubbock in 1893. Three years of drouth—one of the worst this area ever has experienced—had ruined crops and blighted cattle ranges.

Everyone seemingly had reason to flee the country, and a good many did. But the faith of the hardier residents in Lubbock and the South Plains remained unshaken. Their answer to one of the most testing challenges this region ever faced was to go out and try to get a railroad.

They had heard that a line known as the Texas Central was to be built in this general direction. Mass meetings were called. People of the community scraped $35 together to send the late Rollie Burns and Judge W. D. Crump to Waco to confer with promoters of the railroad. They made most of the trip in a buggy, only to bring back seemingly tragic news. The railroad wasn't going to be built into this area. Pessimists said Lubbock was finished.

But the pioneers picked themselves up and came back fighting. They held on some way. And their faith was justified.

In 1894, moisture was heavy. Cattle ranges became lush again. The limited crops of those days were abundant. Homesteaders flocked into the area, attracted by a state law enacted in that year. Lubbock needed transportation outlets. The pioneers undertook to provide them.

SPAIN, COLONY CASES REMAIN

UN Assembly Adjournment Is Blocked By Two Major Issues

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 14—The United Nations Assembly abandoned tonight all attempts to adjourn this weekend. It put over until Monday the last two hot issues—Spain and the former Italian colonies.

The delegates will tackle Monday at 8:30 a. m. CST, a Latin-American proposal to take the diplomatic wraps off Spain. The disposition of the former Italian colonies will come up when action on Spain is concluded.

Late today the delegates approved a resolution asking South Africa, India and Pakistan to go into a round-table huddle over the problem of India's charge that South Africa discriminates against persons of Indian origin.

This was the mildest action so far taken. In two previous Assemblies the delegates have said South Africa violated fundamental human rights in its treatment of Indians.

Meeting Is Adjourned

After the vote, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister and Assembly president, said there still were important items for the Assembly and if no one objected he would adjourn the meeting until Monday morning. He rapped his gavel at 4:23 p. m. while weary delegates applauded.

The end of the Assembly depends on how quickly they can decide the Spain and Italian cases. This may not come now until Tuesday as there are long lists of speakers in both cases.

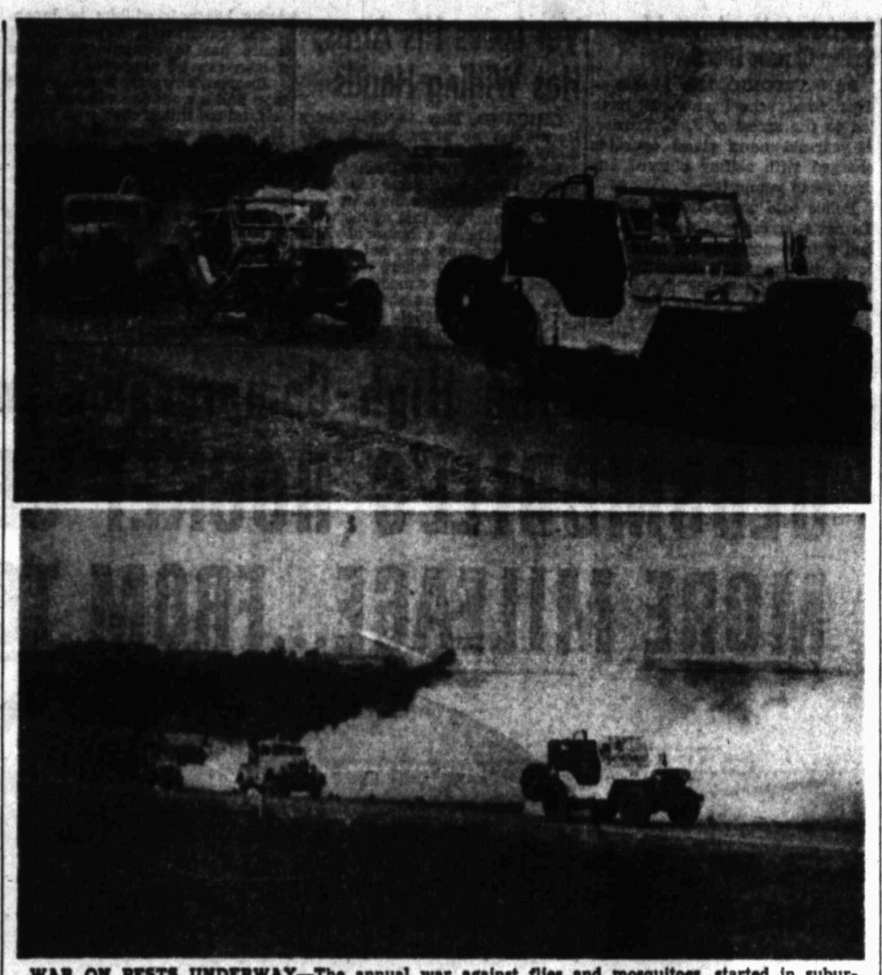

The Assembly sat until nearly 2 a. m. this morning, completing work on a proposed treaty affecting press freedoms.

Oil Lease Dealer Is Charged With Felony By Theft In Tyler

TYLER, May 14 (U.P.) — Chris S. Amos, well-known oil lease dealer, was charged with felony theft here yesterday after he was arrested by police for taking $5,000 from millionaire P. G. Lake's safe deposit box.

Amos was caught with the money as he left the Tyler bank, but denied repeatedly that he had robbed the East Texas millionaire oilman, whom he called "a friend," of money and keys earlier this week.

Lake had reported Tuesday that some $500 was taken from him while he rested in his Tyler hotel residence, and the robber had also asked for and taken his keys, among which was the one opening his bank box.

However, Amos told police yesterday that he acquired the keys to the deposit box from "a man" while he stood on the corner of Commerce and Akard streets in Dallas.

Officers, curious about the keys after Lake's report, kept a vigilant watch on the bank all week, hoping the robber would attempt to open the safety box.

When arrested on his way out of the bank Amos was carrying an envelope containing notations indicating a total of some $99,000. But officers said they contained only $5,000, which was recovered.

27 Fellowships Given To Women

BY MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 14—The American association of University Women today announced that 27 fellowships totaling $40,750 have been awarded to women scholars to further their research projects.

Among the award winners is Dr. Adela Cabezas, the only woman doctor in San Salvador. Dr. Cabezas, a resident physician in pediatrics at hospital Rosales, will come to the United States for graduate study.

Another woman pediatrician, Dr. V. Oldfelt of Stockholm, Sweden, will come to Philadelphia for a study of virus diseases at Children's hospital by virtue of her fellowship.

To Conduct Research

Dr. Lydia Bidinost of Buenos Aires, Argentina, a biochemical assistant with a commercial firm, also received an award which will enable her to conduct advanced research in biochemistry at Columbia university in New York City.

Dr. A. A. Buriks of the Netherlands will do research in philosophy at Harvard university.

Mrs. Jacqueline Chittenden, formerly of New York City and now a lecturer in archeology at the University of Edinburgh, has received a fellowship and will study for a year at the American school of archeology in Greece.

Miss D. N. Wood, a teaching fellow in English at the University of Sidney, Australia, will use her award for a year's study of eighteenth century farce in London.

New York state, with six fellowship winners, claimed the greatest number of honorees.

Honorees Are Listed

They are Edith Watanabe of Rochester, N. Y.; Margaret Rudd, Mrs. Lois Green Clark and Marina Salvin of New York City; Dorothy Baisch of Eded, N. Y.; and Mrs. Elizabeth Landis of Ithaca.

Massachusetts was next with three winners. They are Dr. Edith Helman of Boston; Dr. Eleanor Rathbone of Palmer; and Esther Ross of Lynn, Mass.

Others included Dr. Barbara Blanchard of Santa Barbara, Calif.; Mrs. Rebecca Patterson of Stanford, Calif.; Dr. Gertrude Reese of Austin, Tex.; Charlene Craft of Everett, Wis.; Dr. Geneva Sayre of Menlo, Ia.; Margaret Maddox of Otterbein, Ind.; Dr. June Zimmerman of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mildred Byers of West Durham, N. C.; Mrs. Alice Dickinson of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Prudence Myer of Cleveland, Ohio; Helen Garman of Hamden, Conn.; and Sylvia Kenney of Wilmington, Del.

The research to be advanced by the fellowships range from literature and musicology to labor relationc and anthropology. The average fellowship carries a stipend of $1,500 although some are worth more.

Bandits Cut Phone Wires, Take Switchboard Telephone And $300

AUSTIN, May 14 (U.P.) — Two bandits robbed a downtown hotel Saturday of $300 and its switchboard telephone.

Investigating officers quoted J. E. Thompson, night clerk at the Alamo hotel, as describing the bandits as "young." Police released no other description.

After taking the money from the hotel desk, Thompson told police the gunment slashed the hotel telephone lines and then, apparently to delay spreading of an alarm, locked the clerk and a negro porter, Julius Gordon, in a closet and fled with the switchboard telephone.

PACT IS ACCEPTABLE TO U.S.

UN Assembly Approves Proposed World Press Freedom Treaty

By WILLIAM L. PHILLIPS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 14 — The United Nations Assembly approved early today the world's first proposed treaty affecting press freedom, and thereby set a problem for the press of the United States.

The pact is entitled "convention of the international transmission of news and the right of correction."

U.S. Delegate Erwin D. Canhan, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, told reporters just before dawn the question now is whether the U.S. really wants to join it.

Canham said the U. S. press and news distributors would have to decide.

Red Bloc Opposes Pact

Only the Russian-dominated Slav bloc opposed the pact in a final vote shortly before 1 a.m. (CST), ending a marathon debate which began yesterday morning.

The roll call showed 33 nations in favor, six against, 13 abstentions and seven countries absent.

Provisions in twenty-three articles of the proposed treaty would extend to news, radio and film correspondents in all countries adhering to the convention the rights and privileges they now enjoy in the U S and other democracies.

The terms also provide for an international right - of - correction for the first time in history.

Amendment Withdrawn

Under this, a member country could ask another member government to deliver to news agencies in its territory corrective replies to news the first country considered injurious to it.

The pact will not be open for signatures for several months.

The Assembly will take up a broader companion draft treaty on freedom of information at its next session opening in September, and present both for signature after the second pact is completed.

The U.S. had battled since drafting of the treaty started at a 54-nation conference in Geneva last year to restrict the treaty to terms this country would accept.

Only last night the delegation won withdrawal of an Indian-Chilean amendment that might have affected a clause prohibiting censorship in peacetime except for national defense.

Canham said the final version is acceptable to the government.

"It is the best I could do under the circumstances," he said. "I believe it is safe enough in itself, and probably will be beneficial."

"But it is a modest pact," he said, adding, "there was definitely a question as to how great the benefits would be.

"I personally am still not prepared to say that the cause of freedom of information can best be served by international treaties," Canham continued.

"American newsmen will have to study the text of this convention very carefully and make up their minds on its merits."

Keeping the right of correction on a voluntary basis was an American victory. A Latin American and Asiatic group pressed strongly to make it compulsory for news agencies to distribute governmental corrections. The U.S. and other opponents said this might convert the agencies into "propaganda media."

The Americans also succeeded in averting Soviet-backed bans on "war propaganda" and "Fascist propaganda" which it was feared might open the way for "back door censorship."

Navy Flier Is Killed In Mid-Air Collision Near Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 14 (INS) — Lt. (jg) Paul Adams, of Worcester, Mass., was killed today in a mid-air collision of two F8F Navy fighters, 25 miles south of Corpus Christi.

Ensign R. C. Wood, of Sandy, Utah, pilot of the other plane, parachuted to safety.

The planes were on a routine training flight. A board of officers have begun an investigation of the collision, which occurred around 10 a.m.

Louisianan Gives 182,000 Pounds Of Rice To Britons

NEW ORLEANS, May 14. (U.P.)—A ship carrying a gift of 182,000 pounds of rice from Mrs. Mathilda Gray of New Orleans and Lake Charles, La., to the people of Britain was to sail from New Orleans today.

Mrs. Gray, a wealthy Louisiana rice grower, said she would give a similar amount to the people of France. Last year, she gave 75,000 pounds to England.

He's Grateful From Any Point Of View

LOS ANGELES, May 14. (AP)—Bert Grateful is grateful today for a classified ad that brought back his wandering dog.

Teal II, a female springer Spaniel, left home last Wednesday and appeared yesterday at the door of Stanley T. Gray, several miles away. The dog was carrying a copy of the Los Angeles Times in her mouth.

Gray looked through the lost and found ads in the paper, found one fitting the dog's description, and telephoned Grateful.

Lubbock Senior Gets Award In Latin Test

Christine Toles, senior student in Lubbock Senior High school, has been awarded a medal for earning a high score in an examination sponsored by Auxilium Latinum,, national classroom Latin magazine.

The examination, given last month, was for students from the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

Lubbock High school also will receive a trophy for having produced medal-winning students for three consecutive years in the examinations.

Winners the two preceding years were Joy Bowles and Coleen Baldwin. Mrs. Novelle Newsom, Latin teacher, reported the awards.

Twenty-one other students this year received achievement certificates. They included:

Maxima cum laude — Larry Tonroy, Weldon Tillery, Rudelle Thompson, Connie Phillips, Shirley Sue Mood, Goldina Hester and Joan Baker.

Summa cum laude — Margaret Helen Brown, Louise Davis, Neva Eirls, Ned Hardin, Harriet Henderson, Diana Recker, Vivian Robertson, Dorothy Schuler, Katherine Starnes, Mary Aiken, Jo Morrow, Jimmy Richards and Margaret Smiley.

Little Theater Here Selects Plays For Season Of 1949-50

Plays to be presented during the 1949-50 season of Lubbock Little Theater have been selected by the board of directors of the Little Theater from a group submitted by a play reading committee.

The Little Theater will increase the number of presentations from four to five next season, with each play being presented two nights rather than one.

Plays selected were "Ah Wilderness" (Eugene O'Neill); "Command Decision" (William Wister Haines); "The Heiress" (Ruth and Augustus Goetz), which is an adaptation of the novel, "Washington Square," by Henry James; "The Male Animal" (James Thurber and Elliott Nugentx," and "The Late George Apley" (John T. Marquard and George S. Kaufman).

Dates Not Decided

Members of the play reading committee were Miss Quanah Lewis, Mrs. Marshall Harvey and John L. Upshaw.

Order of presentation of the plays and dates of performances have not been decided.

The Lubbock Little Theater board of directors met Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Loyette Thompson, reviewing the past season and selecting the plays for next season. Plans were discussed for the general meeting of the Little Theater to be held at 8 p. m. May 26 in the courthouse. At that time, six new board members will be elected for three-year terms and a general discussion will be held on plans for the summer and coming season.

Reservations Are Taken

A nominating committee composed of W. C. Mauzey, Charles Musson, Charles L. Cobb, Mrs. C. C. Caldwell and Miss Quanah Lewis submitted the following names in nomination for the board; Don Reeder, Dr. A. W. Young, Leon Harris, Dr. Marshall Harvey, Mrs. Hiram Parks and C. E. Davis.

Patron, sustaining and active members of the Little Theater have been urged to attend the meeting.

Reservations for season tickets for next season are being taken at the Charles E. Musson studio in Green Acres or may be made by calling 8751. The price of season tickets for the five plays is $6.50.

Road Group To Meet In Canada

The annual convention of the International 87 Highway association will be held in Lethbridge, province of Alberta, Canada, June 24 and 25, according to announcement here Saturday by A. B. Davis, manager of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and U. S. manager of the association.

Purpose of the organization is to urge the designation of U. S. 87 as the official U.S. connecting link in the highway extending from Alaska to Central America. In the United States, it crosses Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, corners of New Mexico and Oklahoma and, in Texas, extends from Dalhart to Laredo via Amarillo, Lubbock, Lamesa, Big Spring, San Angelo, San Antonio and intermediate points.

Descriptive Folders Printed

Lethbridge is about 50 miles north of the U.S. boundary in one of the most scenic regions of the Canadian Rockies. Entertainent at the convention will include visits to some of these spots, including the Waterton International Peace park on the Great Northern railway, where delegates will be guests at the Prince of Wales hotel.

Advance interest indicates representation at the convention from as far north as Fairbanks, Alaska, to as far south as Southern Mexico, Davis said.

He also reported that folders descriptive of the highway have been printed and are available for those interested in them.

Officials of the association, in addition to Davis, include Charlie Morgan, of Plainview, president; R. S. Latta, of Casper, Wyo., vice president; Mrs. Matt McCall, of Lamesa, treasurer; R. C. Hill, of Lethbridge, manager for Canada, and Gus Jones, manager for Mexico.

FORMER DALLAS MAYOR DIES

DALLAS, May 14 (AP)—Sawnie Robertson Aldredge, attorney and ex-mayor of Dallas, died yesterday at his residence here. He was 58. Native of Dallas and a graduate of the University of Texas, Aldredge was mayor of this city from 1921 to 1923. Funeral services will be held here Monday.

State Soldier Shoots Wife, Then Turns Gun On Himself

KODIAK, Alaska, May 14. (AP)—Sgt. William Taylor, 30, of Corpus Christi, shot and killed his wife Friday, then died 12 hours later of self-inflicted pistol wounds, police reported.

They said the Taylors, married less than a year ago, had been having domestic trouble.

Taylor, stationed at Fort Greely, killed his wife, Leona, then turned his .45 automatic on himself.

Japs To Be One Year Younger When Law Becomes Effective

TOKYO, May 14. (U.P.)—About 80,000,000 Japanese will be one year younger come Jan. 1, 1950.

A bill enacted by the Diet Saturday which becomes effective with the turn of the year, did away with the ancient Japanese custom of being "one year ahead" on birth. Thus one born December 31st became "two years old" the next day.

"You Washed Those Venetians In Only 3 Minutes?"

Mrs. Dudley Brown of Leawood, Kansas says: "My Sunchek Venetian blinds are seven years old, yet they look like new. The slats are easily cleaned; they resist dirt, and fading due to either washing or sunshine; and after all these years the mechanism, cords and tapes are apparently in perfect condition."

New Kind of Plasticized Venetians--Successors to Heavy, Noisy, Hard-To-Clean Old Style Blinds

A patented new slat material is the secret! It combines a fabric as strong, yet fine as linen with a new plastic. Gives amazing new strength, lightness, costly appearance, "cleanability."

Wash all the Sunchek Venetians in your house more easily than washing curtains! Slip them out of header in 10 seconds — wash in lukewarm suds in sink or tub — spray with bathtub hose! — They're colorfast, fade-resistant — even working parts are water-proof.

A "Beauty Bonus!" Suncheks give full privacy. Yet they transmit light — with same soft glow as a real-parchment lampshade.

Suncheks weigh only 1/3 as much as old-style blinds. Mechanism, cords, tapes often wear up to ten years.

So Light! So Quiet! No straining, no tugging to raise or lower. Silent plasticized fabric, ends nerve-jarring clatter of wooden or metal blinds.

No Costly Installation. So simple, light, and easy to handle you could install them yourself.

Only Suncheks Have 4 Way Adjustment. Patented Sun-E-Clipse hold Suncheks open at top for air and light, close them at bottom for privacy. Or close Suncheks at the top—open at the bottom!

Guaranteed 3 Times As Long as any other nationally-advertised Venetian blind. Suncheks are guaranteed three full years against water, weather, and wear. NO RESERVATIONS! — except for intentional damage!

TWO FACE SLAYING CHARGES

99th District Jury Panel Will Report Monday For Cases Here

A jury panel will report Monday morning to 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue in connection with the proposed trial of several felony cases.

The district attorney's office said five cases are subject to call. Three others were disposed of Friday by pleas of guilty. Two of them named Melvin Dean Barton, charged with forgery. The other was a swindling charge naming Kathleen Powell, 20, of Lubbock. Her five-year sentence was stayed and she was placed under probation. Barton must serve five years in each case, the terms to run concurrently.

Other Cases Pending

Cases subject to trial name the Powell woman in a forgery indictment; Arthur Lee Ivey and Alfredo Albidrez, murder; Sam Calloway, receiving and concealing stolen property; and J. G. Nall, desertion.

Ivey, 50, is charged in connection with the fatal stabbing Feb. 27 of Leonard Bailey, in the course of a gambling game on Myrtle drive. A special venire was waived by the defendant. An autopsy report showed Bailey had been stabbed in the left chest.

Suspect Arrested Here

Albidrez, 30, is charged with the murder the same day of Adolfo Trujillo, his foreman on a construction project. Albidrez admittedly fired four shots at Trujillo with a pistol. He then engaged a Mexican youth to drive him in his car to Amarillo. From there he went to Mitchell, Nebr., and worked as a potato sorter. He was arrested here almost immediately upon his return.

Albidrez, too, waived a special venire, court officials said.

Calloway, 32, is charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

Hijacking Uncovered

The case is one of several that prompted a shakeup late in the spring of the Liquor Control board personnel here. It revealed hijacking among bootleggers and the existence of a liquor syndicate here, state officials of the patrol were informed. As a result, W. G. Poplin and three new inspectors were sent here to replace that number of officials then in the district office. Since then bootlegging has taken some serious reverses—one after another having been hailed into court; large amounts of alcoholic beverages having been confiscated; and six automobiles are now in process of forfeiture to the federal government.

The indictment naming Calloway charges that he, on March 10, received from Gaylen Zane Brand 25 cases of whisky and concealed it, knowing that the whisky had been stolen.

Scotland may open a prison without bars to house selected prisoners.

Explanation Offered For Truman 'Rebuke'

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—A letter from President Truman that appeared to rebuke Speaker Rayburn and other Democratic House leaders was all mixed up by "typographical errors," the White House said today.

"No slap at any person was intended," it was emphasized.

A picture of the letter, which spoke sharply of "compromisers" on the labor bill in Congress, was published in a union newspaper. It mentioned no names.

Rayburn and other friends of the President in the House recently tried, without success, to engineer a compromise to get a Taft-Hartley act repealer through the House.

When the photographic reproduction of the letter was called to the attention of White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross today, he said he discovered some "typographical errors."

One paragraph of the communication addressed to A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, read:

"The compromisers got nowhere, as I was sure they wouldn't, and they never had any consideration whatever for me."

Ross said the President meant "compromises" instead of "compromisers," and that the end of the sentence should have been "never had any consideration whatever from (instead of 'for') me."

Scientist Declares Solution To Cancer Mystery Is Near

By ROBERT N. SCHWARTZ
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, May 14 — Scientists, equipped with wonderful and fantastic new tools provided by man's release of atomic energy, are on the threshold of a solution to the mystery of cancer.

Dr. Austin Brues, medical director of the Argonne National laboratory, and one of the nation's top authorities on atomic medicine, told International News Service today that the deadly killer is being tracked down by scientists engaged in fundamental studies of growth and aging.

Study Made Of Disease

Dr. Brues emphasized that what is being sought in these studies is not a cure for cancer, but knowledge of how the disease is born and grows.

He added that such knowledge might be a vital—but not an essential prerequisite for discovering a cure. He explained:

"Our best chance of finding a cure for cancer would seem to be through this approach—through discovering how and why it grows.

"But nothing is certain in science.

"Chances are 50-50 that someone might stumble on a cure without understanding the basic mechanism of the disease."

Dr. Brues explained that the problem of why all living animals age is as little understood today as nuclear physics was a decade or so ago.

Growth Is Mystery

"We don't know," Dr. Brues said, "why a mouse lives only two years, a mosquito only two weeks and a man 65 years.

"We know that the process goes in only one direction—that is, people age with time."

Growth is a multiplication of all the elements found in living tissue.

But, Dr. Brues said, science does not know what growth is. He said it was once thought that after body cells stopped growing, they remained inert.

Through use of radioisotopes—elements bombarded with atomic energy to make them radioactive—it has been learned that there is constant activity, even in cells which are not growing.

"Tracers" Are Used

Radioisotopes act as "tracers" When injected in the body they reveal their whereabouts and activity to sensitive geiger counters, which measure radioactivity.

Dr. Brues asserted that with the aid of these "tracers" it has been found that even in so-called static cells proteins and all other molecules are being broken down and built up—in a delicate balance.

In cancer, he declared, this balance is upset. Something goes wrong. More cells are built up than are broken down, the malignant growing mass gallops unchecked, devouring other cells.

But the battle has been joined and science is armed with wonderful new weapons. Said Dr. Brues:

"Using tracers we will soon be able to determine how the delicate mechanism of the cell operates, how it is broken down and built up.

"Then we can put our finger on what's gone wrong—on how the cancer cell and structure differ from the normal cell."

High School Girls' Organization Honors Graduating Members

Sophomore and junior members of Y-Teens, girls' organization at Lubbock Senior High school, honored graduating members with a picnic and program Saturday afternoon in the closed patio at the high school.

Also honored were two sponsors of the organization who are moving from the city, Mrs. R. B. Luker and Mrs. Richard Shehan.

Prior to the program held at the high school, club members met in the home of Miss Mary Duggan, at 2323 Seventeenth. Plans were made for the club for the next school year. Miss Nancy Davis, president of the club, was in charge.

Approximately 30 members attended the program held at the high school.

Albuquerque Counts Benefits Of Fighter Wing Transfer

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 14 (INS)—Albuquerque business men have already started counting up the benefits of an estimated $2 million yearly payroll which will accompany the 81st Fighter wing to nearby Kirtland field.

Assignment of the wing to Kirtland field from Hawaii was announced yesterday in Washington.

Albuquerque realtors today hopefully speculated that influx of wing personnel might give a shot-in-the-arm to the "depressed" sale of new houses in Albuquerque.

Between 1,000 and 2,000 officers and men are expected to come to Albuquerque with the wing.

FROM SECRETARY OF DEFENSE LOUIS JOHNSON—

AN URGENT APPEAL TO YOUNG DOCTORS!

Your personal help is needed to avert a serious threat to our national security!

By the end of July of this year we will have lost almost one-third of the physicians and dentists now serving with our Armed Forces. Without an increased in-flow of such personnel, the shortage will assume even more dangerous proportions by December of this year.

These losses are due to normal expiration of terms of service. The professional men who are leaving the Armed Forces during this critical period are doing so because they have fulfilled their duty-obligations and have earned the right to return to civilian practice.

Without sufficient replacements for these losses, we cannot continue to provide adequate medical and dental care for the almost 1,700,000 service men and women who are the backbone of our nation's defense.

Normal procurement channels will not provide sufficient replacements!

To alleviate this critical, impending shortage of professional manpower in the three services, I am urging all physicians and dentists who were trained under wartime A.S.T.P. and V-12 programs under government auspices or who were deferred in order to complete their training at personal expense, and who saw no active service, to volunteer for a two-year tour of active duty, at once!

We have written personally to more than 10,000 of you in the past weeks urging such action. The response to this appeal has not been encouraging, and our Armed Forces move rapidly toward a professional manpower crisis!

Many responses have been negative, but worse—a great number of doctors have not replied. It is urgent that we hear from you immediately!

We feel certain that you recognize an obligation to your fellow men as well as to your profession in this matter. We are confident that you will fulfill that obligation in the spirit of public service that is a tradition with the physician and dentist.

There is much to be said for a tour of duty with any of the Armed Forces. You will work and train with leading men of your professions. You will have access to abundant clinical material; have the best medical and dental facilities in which to practice. You will expand your whole concept of life through travel and practice in foreign lands. In many ways, a tour of service will be invaluable to you in later professional life!

Volunteer now for active duty. You are urged to contact the Office of Secretary of Defense by collect wire immediately, signifying your acceptance and date of availability. Your services are badly needed. Will you offer them?

Louis Johnson

'MOLECULAR CLOCK' PREDICTED

Scientist Claims Cosmic Dust May Cause Radio Interference

PALO ALTO, Calif., May 14. (INS)—Tiny specks of cosmic dust hurtling into the earth's outer atmosphere may offer a clue to that interference on your radio.

Experiments in determining the speed and height of such small meteors were described by Dr. Oswald Garrison Villard, jr., young electrical engineer, to the 17th annual Stanford university alumni conference on the campus at Palo Alto today.

He described how a high frequency radio wave directed at the sky enables him to measure data on these tiny bits of dust.

These meteors, he explained, behave in a way that cause phenomena such as unpredictable and troublesome interference to communications, particularly in the FM bands.

The alumni also heard a prediction that in the future time will be measured by the rotation of molecules rather than of the earth.

This forecast came from Dr. Edward L. Ginzton, professor of physics who is playing a key role in the development of the electron linear accelerator, a new type of atom smasher being built at Stanford.

He told how a molecule of ammonia gas spins when subjected to a microwave energy of a proper frequency. Although the molecule spins more than 20 billion times a second, it can be measured more accurately than the length of time it takes the earth to move once around its axis.

Another scientist pooh-poohed the general belief that the Antarctic may offer untold economic resources.

Dr. Arthur D. Howard, geologist who took part in the U.S. Navy expedition to the Antarctic in 1946-47, pointed out that the area is almost completely buried under an ice cap as much as 10,000 feet thick in the interior.

Although the region has extensive low-grade coal deposits, he said, it will be unable to compete for centuries with widespread deposits of similar quality elsewhere in the world.

Dr. Howard also sounded a warning that some tens of thousands of years from now the Antarctic ice may melt and return so much water to the sea that coastal cities such as San Francisco, New York and Shanghai will be completely submerged.

The conference also heard an optimistic long range view of the Chinese situation.

Dr. Claude A. Buss, a Stanford history professor and former U.S. diplomat in the Far East, declared that while "China is the greatest casualty of the cold war" eventually "all the cards are in our favor." He urged that the Kuomintang regime be abandoned and asserted that "social forces" will work against the Communists.

Idalou Voters Approve 50 Cent School Tax Increase

IDALOU, May 14. (Special) — Idalou voters today approved a 50 cent increase in school taxes.

The tax, totaling $1.50 after the increase, is used for maintenance and improvement of school buildings, equipment, and for the benefit of students. None of it is applied to teachers' salaries, Merle Walker, superintendent of schools, said.

Actions Filed On Cars Held In Liquor Cases

Auto Finance company Saturday filed civil action for foreclosure of chattel mortgage liens against two automobiles that were seized last week for forfeiture to the federal government under premise they had been used for trafficking in illicit liquor.

Named defendants were Vernon E. McKaskle in one case, Olen Ogle in the other.

The finance company alleged in its pleadings that McKaskle had made only two payments of $149.11 each, on an indebtedness of $2,683.98 for a 1949 Buick automobile. Ogle, it pleaded, had made only two payments of $105.43 each on an indebtedness of $1,897.74 for a 1947 Chrysler Town and Country coupe. Both men, it was pleaded, had executed a lien and an order of sale in connection with their loans. But a brief time after purchasing the cars they were arrested by the state liquor control board, which seized their cars and turned them over to the federals. Both Ogle and McKaskle also were filed on in federal court.

Federal authorities say they will forfeit the cars and, in line with their procedure, will recognize claims of no third parties.

W. A. McPherson Is Claimed; Rites Set

CROSBYTON, May 14 (Special) —Funeral services for W. A. McPherson, 73, of Lubbock route 3, will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday in Crosbyton First Baptist church.

Rev. C. E. Dick of Crosbyton will officiate, assisted by Rev. J. Ralph Grant, of Lubbock, and Rev. Carl Grissom, of Crosbyton.

Burial will be in Crosbyton cemetery under the direction of Rix Funeral home.

McPherson died Saturday in Lubbock Memorial hospital, after having been in ill health for the last year.

He moved to Crosby county in 1916 from Cleburne, and lived in this vicinity until 1942, when he moved to Lubbock. He has been a member of the Missionary Baptist church since early manhood.

Survivors include the wife; two daughters, Mrs. Fred Barker of Levelland, and Miss Hazel McPherson of Lubbock; two sons, J. B. of Lubbock, and Leon of Crosbyton; four sisters, Mrs. Ben L. McGee of Fort Worth, Mrs. B. T. Toler of Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. J. T. Officer of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. C. E. Lawrence of Santa Ana, California.

Pallbearers will be Floyce Drake, G. C. Catlett, Will Russell, Glenn Woody, Oliver Cates, all of Lubbock, and Fabian Lemley of Crosbyton.

Honorary pallbearers will be Ben Hicks, W. D. Aycock, Gilmer Aycock, all of Lubbock, W. H. Mayfield, Milton Hepley, S. P. Fox, S. R. Campbell, all of Crosbyton, L. E. Mabe, and E. M. Aycock of Levelland.

Equipment Certificates Ready For Soap Box Derby Entrants; Additional Sponsors Needed

Youngsters who have entered Lubbock's second annual Soap Box Derby may start calling this week for certificates for wheel and axle and steering gear sets at Kuykendall Chevrolet company, Derby officials announced Saturday.

Although Lubbock Exchange club members, who are co-sponsors with The Avalanche-Journal and Kuykendall Chevrolet company in staging the Derby, are still short of their goal in the campaign for sponsors of the boys' cars, they have decided to start issuing certificates for the wheel and steering gear sets, hoping that they will have enough sponsors for the race this week.

Only about two-thirds of the needed 308 sponsors have been signed for the Derby. A sponsor may be an individual, firm or organization which pays a fee of $17.50 to provide financing of a boy's car.

The cars must be boy-built and each racer will bear the name of its sponsor as it runs down the 1,000-foot course here on Monday, July 4.

In the meantime, Exchange club members will continue their campaign for sponsors. Teams of workers will go out this week to wind up the drive.

Derby officials also reminded entrants in the big race that they must have their photos made at Dallas studio, 1114 Nineteenth, as quickly as possible. Only about one-third of the entries have had their pictures made.

Any firm, individual or organization wishing to sponsor a racer in the Derby can fill out the accompanying blank and send it along with a check for $17.50 to the Exchange Club Sponsors committee or the Avalanche-Journal.

Twenty-Four Cars In Freight Train Derailed In Pennsylvania

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 14 (U.P) —Twenty-four cars of a 101 car freight train derailed and upset near here today blocking all traffic on the Pennsylvania railroad's east-west mainline tracks.

Two tank cars caught fire in the pileup, and firemen from Huntingdon and Mt. Union fought two hours to extinguish the blazing oil.

No one was hurt in the derailment which started at the 20th car when a coupling failed. A number of the overturned cars piled atop one another, damaging three of the four main track routes.

The eastbound passenger track was cleared about four and one-half hours after the derailment. The PRR said the three damaged tracks will be repaired and clear by about 4 p. m. CST.

The train consisted of 72 loaded and 29 empty cars.

State And Oil Industry Leaders Attend Formal Opening Of Plant

the distinguished guests here today, it would take more time than we have for it," Herndon said. "There is, however, enough 'brass' in this crowd here today to brass-plate this entire plant. And there are enough company airplanes tied down at the Lubbock airport to conduct an aerial invasion of considerable size."

Most of the oil company officials flew to Lubbock Friday night and early Saturday in company planes from a wide area.

Pays Tribute To Workers

Thompson, who declared there are now 168 such casinghead plants, representing a total investment of $268,000,000 over Texas, said he hoped "the spirit of conservation would go forward as exemplified here today."

"When Coronado came across these plains in search of the seven cities of gold little did he realize that he was riding right over golden cities like we have out here on these broad prairies," Commissioner Culberson said in his brief talk. He paid especial tribute to the workers of the huge plant.

"In a world torn by strife, one cannot help but feel there is an object lesson to be learned from the way in which we construct our great buildings and factories in the United States," Murray declared in his talk. No man worked here through coercion; capital and labor, under a system of private enterprise, voluntarily agreed to work together. While each man was his own free agent, he had to subject his labors to the direction of many others in other that the whole would fit the plan . . .

To Boost Area Towns

"The Railroad commission is much interested in this plant here for we see here we have another important step toward the dream we have of putting to use the vast quantities of casinghead gas which have been flared in times past," Murray continued.

"The chambers of commerce

and the citizenry of the towns and cities in this area are definitely interested, as you may gather by their presence here, for this field and this plant will mean much to the population growth and purchasing power of their communities."

Murray said one great challenge still exists with regard to production of oil: "For scientific ingenuity to develop techniques so that some day we may again appear here to dedicate a gas injection plant or a water injection system or a plant utilizing some new technique . . . which will bring about an increased recovery of the liquid hydrocarbons lying underground."

Covers Wide Section

As Murray finished his talk, the Sundown High school band, under direction of Rex Shelton, played "The Star Spangled Banner" as E. R. Wagner, superintendent of the plant, raised the Stars and Stripes and the Texas flag. The national anthem was followed by "The Eyes of Texas."

The huge plant, built at a cost estimated at approximately $30,000,000 including gathering system, is connected with 2,000 wells in the Slaughter field. Most of the land, comprising about 80,000 acres, is owned by the Mallett Land and Cattle company. The plant site comprises 80 acres.

The plant has a capacity of 120,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily and may be enlarged to a capacity of 150,000,000. The plant is now processing 90 million cubic feet daily.

Has Impressive Turnout

More than 200,000 gallons of liquid products, natural gasoline, butane and propane and tremendous quantities of natural gas are recovered daily in the plant.

Power equivalent to that used by the combined populations of Sundown, Levelland and Brownfield is generated by six 800-kilowatt, 2500-volt generators in the refinery power plant. Four wells on the site pump 2,800,000 gallons of water every day, enough to supply a city of 20,000 population.

Designed and built by C. F. Braun & Co., of Alhambra, Calif., the plant is owned by Stanolind Oil & Gas company, Saltmount Oil company, The Texas company, Honolulu Oil Corporation, Magnolia Petroleum, The Devonian company, The Atlantic Refining company and the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation.

Has Big Payroll

Stanolind will operate the plant, which employs more than 100 men whose annual payroll is more than $350,000.

On hand for today's ceremonies was E. F. Bullard of Tulsa, president of Stanolind. Other Stanolind officials attending included: A. L. Solliday, executive vice president; J. E. Rouse, vice president; R. O. Dietler, chairman of the board of Stanolind Oil Purchasing corporation; A. C. Sailsatd, president of the purchasing company; John Evans, division superintendent; and R. D. Karns, assistant to the president of Stanolind Oil & Gas company.

Presidents of several of the other companies were also present.

It was recalled by Harndon, in his introductory remarks at the dedication, that 12 years ago there were only two wells in the field, one on the Duggan ranch, west of the plant and the other on the Bob Slaughter tract northwest.

Now the more than 80,000 acres of producing territory in which the plant is located has 2200 producing wells. The field has produced more than 135 million barrels of oil in the past decade and last year alone more than $45,000,000 of oil and gas at wellhead values were produced in the area.

"We see here one of the largest producing areas in the world and this plant is truly a monument to conservation," Murray said.

Thefts, Burglaries

1801 Texas Ave. Entrance was at a rear door, a glass of which had been smashed.

Several theft investigations were underway.

A case of cigarets valued at $101 was taken from a panel truck at 1624 Eighteenth, A. E. Hill informed police.

J. M. Jones, of boys dormitory 3 at Texas Tech, said that a 620 camera in a case on which his name had been inscribed in gold had been stolen from his room there. It was valued at $150.

Mrs. Mildred Grimes of 2113 Tenth reported that a purse and a solid gold watch had been stolen from her car. The total value was set at $165.

Peace Bond Posted

The sheriff's department said that H. B. Osborn of Idalou route 1 had reported theft of a 15-jewel pocket watch from his house sometime during the past weekend. No value was given on department records.

Ernest Croy, 26, of Lubbock, posted $250 peace bond after a hearing upon an affidavit of his wife, Delores, who said he had knocked her down, dragged her by the hair and threatened to kill her, Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn said.

Police said they had answered a 2 a.m. call from 1200-block Ave. O, where the woman lives, but found that a man living downstairs in the building had driven Croy away with a shotgun.

Impersonator Sought

Police said they had broadcast a description of a man who allegedly has been impersonating state officers here.

He was said to be about 55, approximately 6 feet tall, about 160 pounds in weight. He has a "bald spot on the top of his head, sandy graying hair, a few gold teeth in front, stoops when he walks, and wears rimless glasses."

The liquor control board and the county attorney particularly would like to know his identity, the broadcast added.

Another person, about 18 to 20, was sought after he allegedly had attempted to snatch a purse in the downtown area. He was described as "bareheaded, wears long sideburns, is tall and skinny, and had on blue jeans when last seen."

federal finances.

Their report, in fact, could furnish additional arguments for those who want taxes increased as well as those who demand tight-pocket economy.

Policymakers of the Committee for Economic Development, a privately financed research and planning organization, got out a statement meanwhile saying the tax hike could and should be sidestepped by slashing federal spending $2,100,000,000 Its figures are based on present rate of government revenues.

The staff of the Senate-House committee calculated that government receipts from taxes, customs duties and other sources next year will come to only $38,900,000,000. It used the presidential budget figure of $41,900,000,000 for expenditures and put the difference, or deficit at around $3,000,000,000.

The budget estimated receipts at $41,000,000,000—$2,100,000,000 more than the tax experts.

President Truman has said over and over that Congress ought to boost taxes $4,000,000,000. Congress has shown no signs of doing it.

Funeral Set Tuesday For Spur Resident

SPUR, May 15 (Special) — Funeral services for William J. Elliot, 80, of Spur, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Presbyterian church here.

Burial will be in Spur cemetery under the direction of Campbell Funeral home

Elliot, widely known Dickens county resident, died Saturday in Nichols sanitarium here after an illness of several months.

Survivers include four daughters, Miss Margaret Elliot of Spur, Mrs. Lasater Hensley of Guthrie, Mrs Harley Terry of Dallas, and Mrs Lewis Williams of Spur; and one son, William J. Elliot, jr., of Crystal City.

bution in this dispute by having a representative sit in on these negotiations . . . and make it clear which party is responsible for failure to make progress towards a settlement."

Company Asks Arbitration

The company admitted that, "in its counter-proposal. . . it continued to insist that an impartial expert be brought in to arbitrate the present dispute."

The statement charged that the "union's proposal 'would create a basis for the practice of featherbedding which the company would not countenance.'"

Management bargainers set forth seven provisions on which they insisted the settlement be based, including a demand that the company "shall retain the right to set production schedules and line speeds and to allocate work to the manpower on the line."

Omission Charged

They held that "the union's proposition definitely limits the company's contractual right to establish and enforce production standards."

A UAW spokesman contended the company refernce to its right to establish production schedules contained "a serious omission."

He said the counter-proposal read that "management shall retain the right, without any limitations, to set production schedules and line speeds and to allocate work to the manpower line."

The unionist declared:

"This point in the company's publicity handout omits the phrase "without any limitations' . . . and amounts to deliberate falsification."

Union Program Hit

The Ford contention was that the union's program "would result in constant bickering and frequent work stoppages, preventing the company from meeting production schedules."

The disputants tried to reach accord on the speedup issue entirely ignoring another disagreement centering on a date for opening discussions on a new contract.

The bargainers gave every indication that they wanted to end the costly strike even though Ford rejected the union's request to begin contract negotiations on Monday and suggested instead they be taken up June 1.

In regard to a new working pact, management proposed in a letter to UAW National Ford Director Ken Bannon that there be "a full re-opening of all economic matters covered by our agreement."

The union's avowed intention is to make Ford its initial target in an industry-wide campaign for $100-a-month pensions for workers of 65 and health-welfare benefits.

Management disclosed its stand on the contract matter while turning down the union's proposal for solving the walkout and offering its own suggested peace formula.

Taft have not decided whether Ellender's name will go on all five parts of the substitute. Ellender said he probably will decide to co-sponsor some of the amendments and have other Democrats join with Republicans in backing other parts of the substitute.

Ellender made it clear, however, that generally speaking he is for the substitute as a whole because he feels it "preserves the spirit of the Taft-Hartley law."

The Louisiana senator has forecast that when the showdown comes in the Senate, from 14 to 22 Democrats, most of them from the South, will vote for the GOP-authored substitute.

That showdown probably won't occur for another month to six weeks.

NEWS BRIEFS

A special recognition assembly was held at Carroll Thompson Junior High school this week, according to Principal Carl Bailey. Groups who had represented the school were given special commendation. Recognition was given to school clubs, student council, athletic teams, the school choirs, students who had made the honor roll, school paper, and students who had been given honors in contests throughout the year.

The annual Recogntion Assembly will be held at Senior High school on Tuesday, according to Principal Floyd Honey.

Members of the E. Y. Lee chapter of the DeMolay and their dates took part in a hayride Saturday night. Approximately 60 persons attended.

Tommy Bacon, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bacon of 2810 Twentieth, Saturday received a certificate of award for his entry in the annual State Fire Prevention Poster contest. A letter of commendation accompanied the certificate. Tommy is a third grade student at Roscoe Wilson. His teacher is Miss Murl Ratliff.

Miss Kate Harrison Friend, Waco Club Woman, Claimed

WACO, May 14. (AP)—Miss Kate Harrison Friend, 93, nationally known club woman and Shakespearian expert, died today.

She was born in Alabama and moved to Cuero, Texas, while still an infant. She came to Waco in 1885. She was related to the Indian maiden Pocahontas, who saved John Smith's life, and to President William Henry Harrison.

She once edited her own society paper here. Later she was society editor of the Waco Morning News and the Waco Times-Herald. She was twice president of the Waco Federation of Women's clubs. She served as chairman of the board of the Texas federation and was a member of its board of directors from 1904 to 1938. For ten years, she edited the Texas federation magazine.

Miss Friend had read all Shakespeare's plays when she was 13. She founded the Waco Shakespeare club in 1898. She won a national essay contest and a trip to Stratford-on-Avon and was elected a member of the Shakespeare society there. She wrote a course of study on Shakespearian plays which was adopted as standard in 46 states and three foreign nations.

During the first world war, she was superisor general of the federation of women's clubs units overseas.

LUBBOCK MAN NAMED

DALLAS, May 14 (AP) — Tom Duggan, jr., of Lubbock was elected president today of the SMU law school alumni. James Noel of Houston and Wilton Fair of Tyler were chosen vice presidents.

of Shanghai was cancelled entirely when Nationalists troops evacuated Sungkiang 20 miles southwest of Shanghai after a fierce battle.

New lines in that area were aimed at protecting Lunghau and Hungjao airfields to hold open those escape routes which wealthy Chinese civilians and foreigners were jamming.

The new line runs from Minghong, only 12 miles south of Lunghau airfield, through Sinchwang, seven miles southwest of the field, to a point near Hwangtu, on the Shanghai-Nanking railway 12 miles west of Shanghai.

Airlines Jammed

Commercial airlines provided almost the last escape from Shanghai because of the advance toward the Whangpoo mouth. Their staffs had great difficulty coping with the stampede.

Pan-American airways said all its flights to the United States and Hong Kong were booked sometime ahead. It said it would keep up regular schedules until passengers and planes were endangered.

The President lines said the President Cleveland, due at Shanghai May 24, might be diverted. Thus 220 prospective passengers might have to fly either to Kobe or Hong Kong to join the ship.

British consul-general R. W. Urquhart offered Britons wishing to leave a last opportunity to go to Hong Kong by air or sea. He made it clear this was not an "order to leave," but likely was their only practicable chance "until the situation is clarified."

In Canton, the emergency Nationalist capital in the south, the legislative Yuan adopted a resolution calling on former premiers H. H. Kung and T. V. Soong, and ex-finance minister Chang Kai-Ngau to put up a billion U.S. dollars to help finance the anti-Communist war.

been delayed several days by the recent heavy downpours. Some planting is underway and late planting of cotton and grains quite often has brought as high yields as early plantings. The situation is by no means serious yet, farm observers said.

The Weatherman said Saturday night that no extended forecast could be made at the time. However, unless history is going to do a repeat, the rains are not expected to continue much longer. Records of rainfall in the area show, however, May to be one of the "wet" months, with the month's total of 12.69 in 1941 setting an alltime May record, and the May fall of 6.35 in 1947 the recent examples.

Friday night's fall put May of this year in the dubious spot of the third wettest May on record. The total for the month now stands at 6.88 inches, most of that in the past nine days. The total for the year is 13.86, the Weather station said last night—more than two-thirds of the 19.15 inches average for the past 38 years. This year's fall already has surpassed the 1948 total of 11.86 for the entire year.

The biggest of five tornadoes which swirled briefly in the wheat country northeast of Amarillo Friday night tore down a ranch house. Another knocked down utility lines near the town of Panhandle. The other three broke up without damage reported The Associated Press said.

A number of Panhandle cities had hail and rain, and there was hail damage at Seminole, in the South Plains. Earlier Friday a number of South Plains points—among them Muleshoe—were washed by heavy rains.

A. L. Weiser, Panhandle insurance man, estimated more than $40,000 damage was done to the wheatcrop by the hailstorm and tornadoes east and northwest of Panhandle. About $40,000 more was estimated as damage to farms and homes in the same area, the AP said.

Light showers were reported Saturday at Amarillo, Big Spring, and in the Wichita Falls area. The hottest spot was Presidio with 101 degrees. It was 95 at Wink; 91 at Laredo. In the cold front area maximums mostly were in the upper 70's. Elsewhere most readings were in the 80's. Lubbock's top was 76 with little change in temperatures seen today.

An area of heavy thundershowers was reported north of Wichita Falls over the line in Oklahoma Saturday night. The Dallas Weather bureau said the area might edge into north Texas during the night, the AP added.

Thunderstorms were reported over a 40-mile wide area from 45 miles northeast of Wichita Falls to 60 miles south, southeast. El Dorado, Oklahoma, had a six inch cloudburst, and Hollis, Okla., showed a heavy storm moving on the El Reno section.

The forecast for Texas Sunday was a few scattered thundershowers with not much change in temperature.

Damage resulting from Friday night's rain and hailstorm at Seminole Saturday was estimated at somewhere between $8,000 and $10,000, it was reported from there.

The greatest amount of damage done in Seminole was to roofs and windows of residences and business houses. A number of houses in the town had extensive damages to roofs, as did business structures. Plate glass windows in a number of stores were broken. Windows in several homes also were broken.

Damage totaling approximately $2,000 was done to windows, windshields and tops of automobiles by the hail. Seminole garages were full of cars needing repairs, it was reported.

Red Leader Is Nabbed On Ship

pression."

Eisler will be held in Southampton until Monday when he will be taken before a magistrate's court for legal permission to take him to London's Bow street police court. There he will be subject to proceedings for removal to the United States.

The so-called No. 1 Communist in the United States had run out on $23,500 bail posted pending a U. S. Supreme court decision in his case.

Eisler slipped aboard the Batory in New York last Friday as a visitor and remained aboard as a stowaway on the ship bound for Gdnyia, Poland, behind the iron curtain. He said later he planned to go to the Soviet zone in Germany.

The forcible removal of Eisler climaxed a tense day in which the Polish captain of the Batory, Jan Cwiklinski, refused to yield the Communist runaway.

The captain maintained he was an ordinary stowaway who had paid his fare upon discovery and that it was up to the shipping company or Polish diplomats to order him to yield Eisler.

The captain's decision to release the controversial figure in the international legal snarl came late today after the first secretary of the Polish embassy visited the ship.

The Polish embassy official advised the captain not to oppose the Scotland Yard men.

Eisler apparently had thought he was safe from arrest. He had been sunning himself on deck and discussing plans to take up a teaching job in Germany.

(CBS Correspondent Richard Yaffe said he was reading the Pulitzer prize winning book "Roosevelt and Hopkins."

(Eisler's attractive wife, Polish-born Brunhilde, 37, was being held at Ellis island in New York by U. S. Immigration authorities after her arrest Friday on a deportation warrant. She had been free without bond since her original arrest as an illegal alien in March, 1948).

The arrest of Eisler followed 24 hours of uncertainty of his eventual status.

Anglo-American newsmen from London who went to Southhampton were barred by authorities from boarding the Batory. No explanation was given and the newsmen hired boats to circle the ship which stood out in the Cowes roadstead 12 miles from Southampton.

At least 100 newsmen and photographers had waited all day to report the seizure of Eisler.

The procedure calls for Eisler to be taken to London quickly for exportation proceedings which will return him to the United States. He was landed at Southampton about 7 p. m. (12 noon CST.)

(A State department spokesman in Washington confirmed this and said Eisler undoubtedly will be returned to face American court action after the formality of a hearing under the U. S.-British exportation treaty.)

The Scotland Yard detectives first boarded the Batory from a tender at noon shortly after the ship anchored to discharge 70 passengers at Southampton.

The international controversy over Eisler apparently had been kept pretty quiet aboard the ship enroute from New York to Southampton.

Passengers coming ashore said they had no knowledge of Eisler being aboard and had not even heard that a "stowaway" was found on the ship after it left New York.

EIGHT DIE IN CRASH

BATAVIA, Java, Sunday, May 15 (AP)—A Dutch army B-25 crashed yesterday between Jogjakarta and Bandung killing all eight passengers, the Dutch army information service said today.

PART OF MULESHOE FLOODED—A sudden downpour which dumped 3.66 inches of rain on Muleshoe late Thursday and Friday morning sent waters rising in low sections, and in some instances marooned houses and poured into others. The two photos above show scenes after the water had started receding. In the top photo, a group of boys paddle near a home where the water is up almost to a window. Water was reported to have stood more than a foot deep in a few homes. In the bottom picture water swirls around a truck crossing a small lake at an intersection. Electra Loses Round target of the Electra ordinance.

Mayor Moore testified that the ordinance was passed to "protect human life and health from the fast trains going through Electra." It requires speed limits on trains and a toilet inspection as well as expenditure for latest-type grade crossing gates.

Retaliation Denied

Seth Barwise, attorney for the railroad, said that to comply with the ordinance would cost the railroad more than $25,000 a year immediately to make crossing improvements, and more through loss of passenger business.

"This is utterly unreasonable and purely punitive against the railroad because it changed from a regular stop to a conditional one," Barwise said.

Curtis E. Hill, counsel for Mayor Moore, denied that Electra's ordinance was retaliatory. He said it was only for safety and health reasons.

Experts To Testify

Earlier this week the Railroad commission ruled that the Fort Worth and Denver could change its schedule to make conditional stops of Electra, Chillicothe and six other towns.

Mayor Moore said Electra would go to trial with medical and safety experts to testify as to the necessity of his ordinance.

Electra pointed up its fight with a whistle stop party for the Zephyr yesterday. The train made a conditional stop at the oil field town because Mayor Moore and a party of 19 were aboard. A crowd of 3,000 or more cheered and blew whistles shaped like trains as the streamliner pulled in.

Cost Is Studied

After a six-minute halt it went up the line to make another conditional stop at Chillicothe, which has passed an ordinance like Electra's. Chillicothe is waiting outcome of Electra's court case before it attempts to enforce its ordinance.

Questioning by the railroad's attorney today concerned the ordinance's cost to the line. W. O. Frame, the road's general manager in Texas, testified that $25,000 would be needed to install the latest-type electric crossing signals which the ordinance calls for.

Three full-time flagmen and maintenance of the signals would be added to this amount, Frame said.

Time Would Be Lost

Neal Walker, chief clerk in the passenger agent office, said the time it would take for toilet inspections would keep trains from making Dallas and Denver connections. This, he added, would cause a loss of passengers.

Barwise told the court this was depriving the line of its property—income—without due process of law and therefore a violation of the fourteenth amendment.

On the stand Mayor Moore said he was not making threats but only protecting his people. "You close your toilets in Dallas—why not in Electra," he asked.

Committee Named

as "half" thoroughfares; avenues west of College, now named for presidents; would be renamed alphabetically for cities east of the Mississippi river; avenues east of Avenue A would be renamed in alphabetical order for trees, and streets north of First street for colleges and universities.

Objections Voiced

Most of the objections to the plan, voiced at the hearing, were to the proposal to rename some of the short east-west thoroughfares as "½" streets. A delegation of residents on Sanders street, for example, opposed renaming it "2½ street." They didn't like much better the suggested name of "2-A street." (Sanders is between Second and Third streets.)

Members of the planning commission acknowledged they don't like those suggested names themselves. But they explained the plan as being the only one they could devise, after months of study, which would enable every address in Lubbock to retain its present street number.

Number Change Costly

Wholesale changes in street numbers, they pointed out, would cost hundreds of thousands of dollars.

People wanting correct numbers on their houses or places of business would have to change them—aggregating a huge expense for the city as a whole.

They would have to go to considerable inconvenience and some expense to try to make sure the mail they received would be correctly addressed.

Nearly every business establishment in the city would have to make extensive changes in their records. This cost for businesses like the West Texas Gas Co., the Southwestern Public Service Co., Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and the city would, in each instance, amount to several thousand dollars.

It was uncertain Saturday when the first meeting of the new committee will be held.

The city manager said, however, he will ask the group to hasten its work as much as practical. As soon as names are settled upon, he added, the city plans to order new street name signs for all thoroughfares.

Western Allies Map Common Strategy To Cope With Soviet 'About Face' In German Discussions

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, May 14 — Western Allied experts began mapping a common strategy tonight to cope with a possible Russian about-face agreement to their major proposals on Germany at the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting.

Top western officials in France and Germany believe Russia may have decided to shift its tactics drastically, abandoning short-term gains in favor of long-range hopes for control of a unified Germany four or five years hence.

'Timetable' Stepped Up

Stepping up the preliminary timetable, Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, British permanent under-secretary for German affairs, visited Dr. Philip C. Jessup, U.S. ambassador-at-large, and Alexandre Parodi, French foreign office secretary-general, in Paris this morning.

Then all three met late today at the French foreign office. The Western foreign ministers also will meet May 21 to review the spadework in advance of the opening four-power meeting on May 23.

The tri-power delegates conferred two and one-half hours in secrecy and refused all comment for what was termed "obvious reasons." The next meeting will be at 10:30 a.m Monday.

Agreement Claimed Likely

One of the highest-ranking American officials in Europe told this correspondent he personally considered it possible that Soviet Foreign Minister Andre Vishinsky might say "yes" to all major Western proposals.

Other leading diplomats summed up the situation this way:

"The Russian leaders know they cannot win the political battle for Germany in the near future.

"They have lost the Battle of Berlin. They have failed to get popular support in eastern Germany. They have been unable to build up their own zone economically, partly because they took so much in reparations.

Reds Fear Strong Germany

"The Soviet leadership dreads the prospect of a strong, separate West German state being created. The Kremlin fears such a state will become not only a permanent barrier against the spread of Communism in Western Europe, but a potential threat to Russian security."

These western informants said the Russians therefore may sacrifice immediate prestige and accept almost any plan for economic and political unification of Germany.

"The Western powers are committed to the idea of a unified Germany," this informant said, "and if Russia offers to accept their proposals it would be difficult to refuse."

Germans Feel Superior

These leading officials pointed out that in free elections the German Socialists would triumph, and the Socialists themselves want a strong, centralized German government rather than the federal regime now being created in West Germany.

Once a strong central government is created these informants pointed out that four or five years hence the Russians "could make tempting offers" such as return of pre-war territory, eastern markets, or an army for German professional soldiers.

The informants added:

"The Germans feel still they are mentally superior to the Russians. Many of them think their brains would enable them eventually to become dominant partners in any deal with Russia

Dangers Cited

"The possibility of such a line-up is a great danger. It may become the nightmare of the future in Europe."

Against this possibility the Western Allies want a Germany that remains loyal to the West, to save Europe from Communism. If the Allies can swing such an arrangement, the informants said, the western grouping might attract Soviet satellites. They added:

"Then, within five or ten years the Soviet bloc might disintegrate and Russia will relax her grip on such countries as Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland and withdraw behind the old boundaries of mother Russia."

Ralls Voters Turn Down Two Bond Plans

RALLS, May 14 (Special) — Ralls voters today rejected two out of three bond issues for city improvements.

A $15,000 street improvement issue passed by a vote of 100 to 79, but an $88,000 water extension issue failed, 37 to 144; and a $12,000 sewer extension issue failed, 84 to 91, Commissioner Otho Reed reported.

A total of 186 voters cast ballots in the election.

Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, May 15, 1949

TYPICAL EVERY DAY GOLF SCENES—These three foursomes are typical of the vast number of Lubbock golfers who flock to both the Lubbock Country club and Meadowbrook Publinx Golf club throughout the year. Few golfers venture out on the links by themselves. Usually one golfer will pair up with another to tour nine or 18 holes, while a large portion of the Saturday and Sunday golfers go out in groups or four. Both clubs are recovering from the heavy rains showered on Lubbock recently and golfers, as avid fans as you will find, have lost no time in taking up their game again. In the picture at the left, counting up their scores, are T. L. Smith and A. R. Alldredge, brickmasons working on the Hemphill-Wells building, O. B. Freeman of Sweetwater, Tech student, and Bill Tarrant of Vernon, also a Techsan. The picture was taken at Meadowbrook. In the center, Raymond Marshall is caught in the act of sinking a putt at the Country club, while Jimmy Goldman, Fenner Tubbs and L. V. Crump of Oxnard, Calif., watch. And in the right hand picture, Lt. Col. H. V. Maixner addresses his ball as his foursome prepares to tee off on the first hole at the Country club. Offering helpful suggestions are Capt. William C. Neubauer, Lt. Col. R. P. Riordan and Lt. Col. Alfred Schlafli. All are connected with the Tech ROTC unit. (Staff Photos By Bill Clark.)

Amarillo Gold Sox Trample Hubbers, 18-9

AMARILLO, May 14 (AP)—Aided mightily by 15 bases on balls doled out by four Lubbock pitchers, Amarillo's Gold Sox defeated the Hubbers here Saturday night, 18-9, in the opener of a two-game series.

An added, unscheduled attraction was a fist-fight on the field after the game was over, between manager Jess Landrum of the Sox and John Meyers, Lubbock's starting pitcher, who had been driven from the box in the third inning. Landrum had taken exception to some of Meyers' remarks from the dugout and they met near home plate by mutual signal. Several blows were exchanged before they were separated, with no serious damage done.

Another incident was the ejection, in the seventh inning, of Charles Willis, third of the Lubbock pitchers. Umpire Harold Gatlin banished him for heckling the officials while the Hubbers were at bat.

In the third, with one away, Buddy McCallum singled and stole second, Al Duarte walked, and singles by Prince and Chick Fowler pushed across both runners.

Sunbeamers, Crane Oilers Split Warden Pitches 1-0 Whitewash

Crane's Oilers and Lubbock's Bluebonnet - Sunbeamers softball teams might just as well have stayed home last night, for when they had finished trading games at Jumbo Webster Field, they both were deadlocked for first place in the Texas Softball league.

Crane won the first game behind the brilliant four-hit hurling of Red Denham, 8-3, but G. W. Warden pitched the Sunbeamers back into a first place tie with a 1-0 whitewash job in the nightcap.

The first game was a hectic affair, with the Lubbock nine taking a 3-0 lead on a three-run spurt in the third frame. Jimmy Joe Reiger beat out a bunt for two bases, Bryan Clark was safe on the third baseman's error on his bunt, Reiger moving to third and James Abbott beat out an intended sacrifice squeeze bunt that scored Reiger and moved Clark to third, Abbott going to second. Don Allen turned a bunt into a two-base hit, Clark scoring, and Roy Butler's single scored Allen.

Oilers Roll Back

But the Oilers came right back in the fourth to win the game with a four-run burst. David Williams singled, Obie Harmon singled and Joe Goodwin drove them both home with a double. And when Wally Fowler messed up L. E. Weeks' bunt, Goodwin scored and Weeks went to second. He scored on Rusty Stewart's double.

The second game was tight all the way. It wasn't until the sixth that the Sunbeamers could wipe off the shutout and they resorted to the squeeze to get home the winning run.

Allen led off with a single and Roy Butler followed with a single to right that moved Allen to third. Butler was thrown out at second trying to stretch his hit. Willis James, one of the leading Sunbeamer hitters, then dumped a perfect sacrifice bunt in front of the plate and Allen slid in with the game-winning tally.

Crane loaded the sacks in the ninth with only one out, but one runner was caught at the plate and the final batter was struck out by Warden.

Denham had 11 strikeout victims in the first game, while Stringbean Pope had nine. In the second game, Warden whiffed eight batters and J. W. Teague claimed four whiff victims.

The line scores:

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

Sam West says that he isn't going back into baseball at this time. That wouldn't be an unusual statement at this time, except that there is a rumor currently making the rounds that Sam will be offered the managerial post at Chattanooga, a Washington farm club and one of its largest, when the position is open. Sam himself confirmed the report, but said there was nothing to it. He even had a long distance telephone call from his old friend, Jack Knott, currently a scout for the Cincinnati Reds. Jack had heard the report and called to offer congratulations.

But Sam had to thank him and tell him that the report was erroneous. The genial co-proprietor of the Sport Center, along with Joe Holmes and Bobby Layne, said that he might return to baseball one of these days and that if he did, he'd want to go back only as a manager. One thing stopped him. He remembers too vividly the days in the middle '20s when he was in Class D and he has too good a job at present to go back to those times. Yet he stated simply and with conviction that a man had to start at the bottom in managing just as he did in almost everything else.

Concerning the days in the minors, Sam said, "Those days in the minors in the middle '20s were pretty rough. You'd play ball all afternoon, then climb into a Model T Ford truck and ride all night and half the next day. It's a wonder that any of us lived to play ball." That's why Sam hesitates. He has a nice position now and it's often a long haul up the hill. He was offered the managing job at Charlotte in 1948, his last year of two as a coach for Washington. Clark Griffith wanted him to take it, but Sam turned down the Senator boss. So far he has had no great desire to go back. But as he says, "once baseball gets in your blood, it's hard to get it out. I reckon one of these days I'll go back."

Lamesa Loboes Edge Pioneer Nine, 4-3

CLOVIS, May 14. (AP)—Right-hander Stan Grzywacz posted his sixth victory of the season here tonight as the Lamesa Loboes edged the Clovis Pioneers, 4-3.

Manager Jay Haney's safe bunt, a stolen base and Dan Pinto's long fly to center broke a 3-3 deadlock in the seventh to win the game for the Loboes.

Haney scored easily on the put-out after going to third on Catcher Frank Calo's grounder to short. Double plays aided Grzywacz. One came in the fourth and abruptly ended a Clovis rally which threatened to knock the right-hander from the box. After Harold Sollers fanned, shortstop George Mendoza singled, and Wilcy Moore tripled him home on the first pitch. Moore also romped across after pitcher Raymond Drake bounced a hit off First Baseman Glenn Coats' glove. Joe Jacinto was safe on shortstop Walter Buckel's error, but Jess Rogerson grounded out Buckel to Coats to end the threat.

It was the same combination which stopped the Pioneers in the ninth. After Jacinto had singled with one gone Rogerson sliced one down to Buckel who stepped on second to get Jacinto and then fired over to Coats for the twin killing.

Don Smith, a rookie righthander, started for the Pioneers but gave way to Drake in the third.

Beaumont Upsets Eagles, 7 To 1

DALLAS, May 14 (AP)—Beaumont tonight became the first Texas league ball club to sweep a series from the first-place Dallas Eagles, cutting them down, 7 to 1.

The Exporters ganged starter Tommy Finger for four quick runs in the first inning and then coasted to their third straight triumph over the Eagles behind the 4-hit pitching of righthander Carl Ray.

Until Ben Guintini knocked a home run over the left field wall with one out in the fifth, the Eagles didn't have a hit. Ralph Rahmes followed with a double to left, but he was left stranded.

The other two hits off Ray came in the ninth, Bill Serena slapping a single past third base to lead off and George Scharein following with a single to left.

The Eagles missed golden opportunities during the first three frames when Ray walked eight men. In both the second and third three Eagles were left on bases.

After the third, the only Eagle to get on base were the four who got base hits. Ray didn't walk another man and his mates gave him perfect support.

SOOTER HURLS SHREVEPORT TO 7-3 WIN OVER FT. WORTH

FORT WORTH, May 14 (AP)—Seven-hit pitching by Hugh Sooter earned Shreveport a 7-3 victory over the Fort Worth Cats in the deciding game of their series here tonight.

The Sports nicked Eddie Chandler for two runs in the first and knocked him out in the fifth.

Lester Burge, former Fort Worth and Dallas player, and George Brown led the Shreveport attack.

Betsy Rawls Captures One-Up Victory In Women's Tourney

FORT WORTH, May 14 (AP)—Betsy Rawls, the young University of Texas student from Austin, won a hard-fought one-up victory over Betty Mackinnon of Mount Pleasant Saturday in the 36-hole finals of the Women's Texas Golf Association state tournament at River Crest country club here.

After going two down through the first four holes, Miss Rawls captured the lead on seven, and never relinquished it, although Miss Mackinnon squared the match several times.

Tech Golfers Place Third In BC Tourney

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 14 (AP) — New Mexico university won the team championship and John Rudolph of Arizona, individual title today in the Border Conference golf tourney.

New Mexico shotmakers scored a 608 total for 36 holes, Arizona 616, Texas Tech 661, Hardin-Simmons 666

Rudolph toured the 36 holes in 74-74—148, four strokes over par. Jim Frost and George Capoun of New Mexico tied for second at 151.

Lou Turlo of Hardin-Simmons who lead at the first half slipped badly with an 82 today, for a total of 155. His twin, John, tallied a 79 to total 156.

The results included:

Texas Tech—John Trout 83-78—161, James Cook 84-90—174, Zac Henderson 82-82—164, Bud Henderson 81-81—162. Total 661.

Hall Of Fame For Cagers Announced

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 14. (INS)—Plans for a baseball Hall of Fame, located in Springfield, were announced today by John W. Bunn, president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Bunn said the project was voted on at the annual meeting of the coaches in Seattle, Wash.

Edward J. Hickox, retired basketball coach of Springfield college, has been named executive secretary of the NABC committee which will promote the project. Hickox was named at the coaches' convention as the member who had done most for basketball.

The basketball Hall of Fame will be a memorial to the late Dr. James A. Naismith, who created the game in 1891 while he was a member of the faculty of Springfield college.

Techsans Gain Third With 34½ Points

Tech's Ed Clepper Tops Field Of 140 With 14 Point Individual Tally

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., May 14. (AP)—The Arizona State Sun Devils of Tempe successfully defended their Border Conference track and field championship today.

Tempe rolled up 55½ to the next best 43 by Arizona university. Texas Tech was third with 34½ and New Mexico fourth with 22½.

Texas Mines tallied only 7 points and Arizona State at Flagstaff 2½. New Mexico A&M, West Texas and Hardin-Simmons university were blanked.

Tech Takes Double

In the accompanying spring sports meets, the Arizona university hold on tennis was broken for the first time Tom Van Fleet and Frank Iaccino walked off with the singles titles, but Texas Tech captured both the doubles championships.

The new titlists are Jake Broyles and Glenn Ivy in Class A doubles and David Hester and Carl Schmidt in Class B.

The Arizonans beat New Mexico 52-20 in swimming and took the individual golf championship on play by John Rudolph. New Mexico salvaged the team title in golf.

Although three new track and field records were set, the new champions didn't break into the top of the individual scoring column.

Ed Clepper, Texas Tech's sprinter and jumper, topped the field of 140, with an individual tally of 14 points. Jack Campbell of Tempe was next with 10. Tied at 8 were George Howard of Arizona and Don Hildreth of Tempe.

The records were set in the 440 yard dash, the shotput and the discus.

Bob McCall of Arizona blazed through the 440 in 49.3 sec., and T. McCullah of Tempe and Costin Bufkin of Texas Tech who followed him to the tape were under the old mark of 49.8. It was set last year by Cecil Crouch of Arizona.

A mark that has stood since 1939 fell in the shotput. John Payne of Tempe tossed the 16 pound ball 47 ft. 8 15/16 in. The old record was made by Walter Nielsen of Arizona.

Parker Gregg of Arizona broke his own 1948 record of 146 ft. 7 in. in the discus. The new mark is 148 ft. 1 5/8 in.

Martin, Dempsey To Play With Hubbers

GREENVILLE, May 14. (Special) — George Schepps, general manager of the Lubbock Hubbers, tonight announced that he had sent two players to that club on option.

Robert "Pepper" Martin, an outfielder, and John Dempsey, a pitcher, will report to the Hubbers at Amarillo Sunday. Martin last year played with Odessa of the Longhorn League and has been with the Greenville Majors this season. Dempsey, a righthander, is a limited service player and will come to the Hubbers on option from Pensacola of the Southeastern League.

At the same time, the Greenville club has recalled Chick Fowler, Hubber leftfielder for the past two years. Fowler, through Saturday night's game, was hitting an even .340. He had five doubles, one triple and five home runs, scored 18 runs and drove in 19.

Martin hit .303 with Odessa last year, drove in 95 runs, hit 16 home runs and stole 26 bases. He's said to be one of the fastest men in the league.

No information is available on Dempsey at this time.

Capot Is Winner

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Capot sizzled through a light shower to a new track record today as he won the Preakness Stakes by the margin of a damp head in one of the most thrilling finishes in the long history of the classic.

The Greentree Stable three-year-old star, second in last week's Kentucky Derby, showed them who was boss this time as he outlasted Isidor Bieber's Palestinian in the drive for the wire in the mile and three-sixteenths event.

Crispin Oglebay's Noble Impulse was third. Calumet Farm's Derby winner—Ponder—never got in the act and wound up fifth in the field of nine starters. Mrs. E. H. Ellison, jr.'s Sun Bahram was fourth.

Capot, given a brilliant ride by Toronto's Teddy Atkinson, blazed under the wire in 1:56 flat, wiping two-fifths of a second off the track record set by Riverland in the 1943 Dixie handicap.

The time also was a full second faster than the old Preakness record of 1:57 made by Alsab in 1942.

A steaming crowd of 30,184 persons, who first baked in a hot sun and then 27 minutes before post time scurried before a shower, roared approval of Capot. This despite the fact the crowd had made Ponder the favorite at a little better than 2 to 1.

Capot was second choice at 5 to 2 as he gave his famous racing stable its first Preakness victory.

He paid off at the rate of $7.00, $3.60 and $2.60 and $2 in the mutuels.

It was also the initial Preakness victory for Atkinson.

Palestinian, who was ridden by Eddie Arcaro, might have grabbed it all in a few more jumps, but there wasn't enough real estate left at the finish.

The Bieber colt, third in the Derby, returned $4.60 and $3.20, while Noble Impulse paid $3.40 for show.

Dukes Edge Blue Sox

ALBUQUERQUE, May 14 (AP)—Nino Barnise banged out a double in the eighth and scored on an out to give Albuquerque an 8 to 7 win over Abilene tonight.

Abilene took an early lead with four runs in the second, scored again in the fifth. They fell behind when Albuquerque piled in two runs in the sixth and five in the seventh, but evened up the count with two more runs in the eighth. Barnise's double broke the deadlock.

The scoring run came with Barnise leading off in the eighth with his double. Len Attyd singled and Dick Dawson walked to load the bases. Barnise scored on a fly out before the side was retired.

In Abilene's big second inning, four runs crossed home starting off with Wessing's walk, Lopez' single, two more walks and two more hits.

In Albuquerque's big seventh, costly errors plus five hits brought in five runs. The scores came on two errors and the hits.

Abilene pulled Rudy Lorons off the mound in the seventh and both Tex Coapland and Joe Nakamura took the Albuquerque beating during the frame. Viadero went in in the eighth and was charged with the loss. Tony Ferrarese started the game for Albuquerque, but came out in the second with Breisinger relieving and Barnise came in in the eighth to be credited with the win.

PAMPA OILERS NOSE OUT BORGER NINE, 10 TO 9

BORGER, May 14 (AP)—Ernie Velasquez, Pampa second sacker, climaxed an uphill struggle here tonight with his ninth game winning home run. His four bagger gave the Oiler's a 10-9 victory over the Borger Gassers.

Ken Sears, big Borger catcher, kept the Gassers in the running with his big bat, banging out four straight hits, all for extra bases, two doubles and two home runs.

Lowly Cubs Drop Redlegs, 13 To 1

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP)—The New York Giants cracked base hits like pop corn at the Polo Grounds today as they thundered to a 12-2 conquest over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Johnny Mize, Whitey Lockman and Willard Marshall spearheaded the 16-hit attack with homers. Marshall, who drove in three runs, also stroked three singles while Bobby Thomson chipped in with a single and triple. Every Giant hit safely except pitcher Sheldon Jones and Augie Galan, who didn't have an opportunity to bat.

Robin Roberts was rapped for three runs on two singles, a walk and Thomson's three-bagger. In the seventh inning they tagged Russ Meyer, victim of last night's 9-1 beating, for four runs including Mize's two-run homer.

The SECRET

of Evenly Spaced Letters

A numbered scale! That's the secret! A vertical numbered scale which is on each sheet of Webster's Micrometric carbon paper. This scale is always visible in the typewriter, and the numbers and lines correspond to the lines of typing. It simplifies typing, makes it easy to get accurate spacing every time.

Moreover, you can remove the carbon paper by the scale. The papers separate neatly. There is no need to touch each carbon and risk smudging your fingers or copies.

Fenton Meets Dusette In Go

Rod Fenton, the Canadian rough man, takes on one of his toughest opponents next Wednesday night at Sled Allen's wrestling arena when he meets George Dusette in the main event.

Fenton has been a very consistent winner in the local wrestling wars and is one of the toughest men to beat due to his smartness, aggressiveness, and desire to win regardless of the method used.

His opponent, Dusette, is noted for his great strength, and whether or not Fenton can match holds with him remains to be seen. Both boys will be after a victory.

The semi-final event will be between two scientific wrestlers, George Curtis and Billy Goelz. Both wrestlers had rather play the game according to the rules, but there are times in any match when the temper breaks under the strain.

Curtis is a popular young wrestler from Vicksburg, Miss., and Goelz hails from Chicago. Goelz made a fine showing here several weeks ago when he subdued Pat O'Dowdy with a ringside chair.

In the preliminary event Jack Pappenheim is matched with Danno McDonald in what should be another scientific wrestling match. Both men are fast, rough, clean, and evenly matched.

Matches start at 8:30 p. m., and tickets will be on sale until 5 p. m. Wednesday at Wylies Drug store.

Westerners Try Again Monday

According to an old saying, third time's the charm, and a little hokus pokus too may come in handy for the scheduled District 1-AA baseball game at 3:30 p.m. Monday between Lubbock's Westerners and the Amarillo Sandies.

Previously set for Friday, May 13, the game was postponed by wet grounds, and Saturday more rain kept the field soft and unsure. So the first of three games of the playoff was set again for Chapman field Monday.

If the game tomorrow goes according to schedule the Westerners will journey to Amarillo Tuesday for the deciding games for the district championship. Should one team win the first two, then the third will be unnecessary. Tuesday's game is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., and if the third game is played it will follow immediately after the first.

Admission to the game is 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults, and a large crowd is expected to cheer the Westerner nine under Coach Fred Taylor to victory over Amarillo.

Probable starters for Amarillo are Walton Roberson, pitcher; Max Winberg, catcher; Darrell La Rue, first base; Bob Braden, second base; Warren Spalding, third base; E. G. Sanders, shortstop; Fred Hansard, left field; James Le Neveu, center field, and Joe Knight, right field

Starting pitcher for Lubbock will probably be Bennie Day or Jimmy Hamilton. Other starters are likely to be Morris Turner, catcher; Jessie Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second base; Powell Hinson, third base; Bob Brown, shortstop; Jimmy Richards or James Burgess, left field; Garnet Reeves, center field; and Jimmy Sexton, right field.

Tate And Brown Are Top Money Winners

West Texas - New Mexico Pin Tourney Winners Announced

Winners in the fifth annual West Texas-New Mexico Bowling tournament have been announced by E. A. Christensen, owner of the Lubbock Bowling club where the tourney was held. Play was completed Sunday, May 8, after three weekends of activity.

Lubbock teams dominated the kegling sponsored by The Avalanche-Journal, and a large portion of the more than $3,000 in prizes was won by the local pin topplers. The five leading money winners were local men. George Tate took $157; Ben Brown had $154; T. I. Brown pocketed $117.40; Christensen won $91.60; and Jay O'Keefe finished with $90.80.

The top three teams in Class A bowling were Arthur Lay with a 2,967 score; Yellow Cab with 2093; and Walton's Store for Men, 2,858, all of Lubbock.

Playmor Takes 3rd. 4th

Third and fourth place in Class B team events went to Plamor lianes, 2,670, and Jones Construction, 2,636, of Lubbock. Local keglers also finished high in Class A, B, and C singles and doubles and in the all-events.

On the Arthur Lay team were B. Brown, Tate, O'Keefe, and Dale Vannoy. Composing the Yellow Cab quintet were E. R. McCallum, G. L. Young, Glenn Evans, E. E. Welch, and Christensen. On the Walton team were Ersel Blackburn, Marvin Struve, Glenn Welch, Jim Buckner, and Bill Nelms.

Probably the most sensational record of the tourney was in Class A singles in which Tate rolled a 710 series for the winning score, averaging almost 237 pins per game. In winning Class A all-events B. Brown had an average of 218 pins per game for nine games.

Over the three-week period more than 350 bowlers, some of the top keglers in this section of the country, participated in the tourney.

Four Holes-In-One Posted By Players At Club, Publinx

Golfers at Lubbock Country club and Meadowbrook Publinx had no regard for the law of averages Friday and Saturday as four holes-in-one were posted.

What usually happens only once-in-a-lifetime to lucky golfers occured again to Mrs. Guy Aldridge, San Antonio, who sank her tee shot with a seven iron on the 127-yard Number 12 hole. Playing with Mrs. Aldridge were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hunley.

Also making a hole-in-one on the same hole was Paul Pugh, and he used a seven iron to do the job. Other golfers in the foursome were Bob Blake, Clyde Fortune, and Oscar Slaton.

The Number 3 hole was no problem for J. A. Raley, jr., as he lofted a ball with a number seven iron that finished its flight in the cup 140 yards distant. Onlookers were F. L. Lindsey, Hiram Parks, and Roy Howard.

Scoring a hole-in-one at Meadowbrook Publinx Saturday was Paul Adams, on the 90-yard Number 2 hole. It was the first for the local golfer.

Oil Belt Tilt Is Set Today

Seagraves will have a chance to extend its lead in the Oil Belt Baseball league today in a home game with Post. Seagraves is leading Sundown and Post by half a game going into the fourth week of the season with three victories and one loss.

Sundown can stay in the thick of the race by downing winless Brownfield at Brownfield and go into the lead with Post, should Seagraves be defeated.

In other games Denver City is slated at Tahoka, and Slaton will go to Levelland for a contest. All four teams have identical 1-1 won and loss records, and today's games will greatly alter the present standings.

All games are scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m.

Last week Seagraves took a doubleheader from Brownfield, 5-0, and 6-4, to give Brownfield its third and fourth straight losses.

With the aid of the three-hit hurling of Greer, Post took a 3-2 decision from Sundown, handing Sundown its only loss. And Tahoka at Slaton and Levelland at Denver City were washed out by last week's downpours.

Prince Leads Hub Hitters

As the Hubbers concluded their 22nd game of the 1949 West Texas-New Mexico league season, the averages showed only three of the regulars hitting .300 or better.

Jim Prince, who has been setting the pace all year, slipped .022 points during the week ending May 13, but the big first baseman still was pounding the ball at a .354 clip. It was better than any other Hubber was doing.

Chick Fowler followed Prince with a .340 mark, off .023 for the week, and Nelson Davis was third with .315, up .021 points. The other regulars were trailed out in the .200 bracket, except for Rightfielder Joe Wisniewski, who managed to raise his average from .167 to .194.

Mike Dooley took over the lead in doubles with eight, Manager Jackie Sullivan remained on top in triples with three and Davis took over the home run lead with five circuit blows. Prince had driven in the most runs, 22, Buddy McCallum had stolen the most bases, six, and Royce Mills had the most sacrifice hits, two.

Cotton Russell, through a relief stint the past week, won his second game of the year to top Hubber hurlers with a record of two victories and one defeat.

Mills has compiled a two and two mark, while Don Hensiek also has a .500 average on one victory and one loss.

Other Hubber pitchers and their records include Charles Willis, 1 and 2; John Myers, 1 and 2; Bill Grafton, 1 and 3; Herby Pitts, 0 and 3; and Chris Haskins, 0 and 0.

Adolph Rupp To Coach North Quintet

Charles Galey Makes North All-Star Squad

BEAUMONT, May 14 (AP)—The North squad in the Annual North-South All-Star Basketball game here at the Coaching School next Aug. 1-5 includes seven players with all-state titles.

Adolph Rupp, coach of the national champion Kentucky Wildcats, will coach the North squad.

SOUTH ALL-STAR CAGE SQUAD IS ANNOUNCED

BEAUMONT, May 14 (AP)—The South squad that will play in the Annual All-Star Basketball game of the Texas Coaching School here in August was announced today.

Hank Iba, Coach at Oklahoma A. and M. and noted for his defensive tactics, will mastermind the squad against a group tutored by Adolph Rupp of Kentucky.

The South squad:

Floyd Dickens, Livingston; Richard McCoy, Austin; Rudy Gonzalez, Harlingen; LeRoy Miksch, Waelder; Ben Mayo, Overton; Freddie Willock, Cayuga; Bill Chuoke, Texas City; Bertrand Dickens, Hull-Daisetta; Billy Watson, Milby (Houston); and Richard Bess, French (Beaumont).

Junk Car Racing Scheduled Today

Junk car racing makes a return to the Lubbock sports scene this afternoon at Buffalo Lakes, when more than a dozen drivers from this city and South Plains points compete for an attractive kitty in cash prizes.

Brought here by the Clark and Lubbock, which is sponsoring today's show, junk car racing is apt to catch on fast. None of the cars used is the type of car that could be driven with the approval of the police department and that is one of the thrills in the race.

Track Irregular

Then, too, the track is irregular. It isn't the perfect oval around which most cars race and the course further is cluttered by occasional obstacles.

Junk car races were held here in 1938 and proved popular at that time. In fact, Clark of Clark and Johnson was one of the first drivers and he says that it beats anything else for thrills.

Time trials this afternoon begin at 3 p.m. and the races will start soon afterwards. A big crowd is anticipated to see the novelty and spectators should have no trouble finding the course.

No Good Cars Entered

One of the stipulations on the racing cars is that they may be bought for $250 each after the races. Under such terms, no one is going to enter a good car.

Among the drivers already signed up to drive today are L. D. McKinley, jr., driving a 1933 Chevrolet; Billy Wayne Smith, driving a 1935 Ford; Basil Williams, driving a 1937 Pontiac 8; Paul Woods, driving a 1934 Ford; Vernie McGee, driving a 1934 Ford; Joe Dillard, driving a 1934 Ford; and Bob Hamilton, driving a 1934 Ford.

DEAN ARCHER NAMED

ARLINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Dean O. B. Archer of Lamar Junior college, Beaumont, was elected president of the Southwest Junior College Athletic Conference at a business meeting of Conference representatives here today.

Tech Seniors Play Cagers

Graduating seniors at Texas Tech will play the players presumably destined to make next year's Red Raider basketball team Tuesday night in the final session of spring court training at Tech.

Coach Polk Robison will send members of the 1948-1949 basketball squad, who are seniors, against the probable varsity members of next year for the final time. The two squads have played two games, each winning one.

Graduates Strong

The graduating Raiders appear to have the strongest lineup. Don Grove, All-Border Conference choice, will start at center. William "Whistle" Banks and Wayne Bowles will start at forwards. And Ardis Barton and James "Wimpy" Hill will be at the guard positions.

Reserves for the graduating seniors will include C. W Dukes, Ernest Hawkins and Bill Kelley.

Coach Robison's future varsity probably will be composed of Jack Alderson and J. R. McAnaly at forwards. Gene Gibson at center, and Jiggs Jackson and Ted O'Neil at guards. Alderson and O'Neil came up from the past year's freshman team, McAnaly is a transfer student and Gibson and Jackson are lettermen.

Gibson At Center

In reserve for the varsity will be Verdell Turner, Jim Sharp, Jim Eddins, Don Bagwell, Weldon McClure, Iri Brown and Virgil Johnson.

Gibson, one of the top forwards in the Border Loop last year, has been converted to a center. He is one of the best rebound men in the loop.

Pakistan has found a 20-year source of silica-sand in Sind and will develop it.

HEY! LOOK OUT!—These two kids jumped out of the stands in the ninth inning, ran over to Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers and got his autograph. But they had to move fast, for an alert policeman moved over rapidly to break up the party. The youth on the right gives Snider the rush act as he watches the cop approach.

GAME SET AT ROSENTHAL FIELD

Kansas City Monarchs Nine To Meet Amarillo Colts Monday

The Kansas City Monarchs, famed negro baseball team, will be in Lubbock Monday night to play the Amarillo Colts at Rosenthal Field in an exhibition game.

Admission for the game will be 90 cents for adults and 40 cents for children.

The Monarchs have built a reputation of being one of the outstanding baseball teams in the nation and constantly have been powers in the baseball world. It was from the Monarchs that President Bill Veeck plucked Satchel Paige for the Cleveland Indians.

Paige Selected Players

Most of the current Monarch players were selected by Paige and last year the team won 86 percent of its games. The Monarchs toured the United States and Canada, playing 160 games. They played before 200,000 spectators on their 50,000 mile tour.

One of the great attractions on the present team is an outfielder, "Cool Papa" Bell. Bell has been playing ball for over 20 years and has been ranked alongside of Paige most of that time. Bell managed Paige's All-Star team last fall and they beat Gene Bearden's All-Stars in two out of three games in California.

Ed Willis, a third baseman, often is mistaken for Paige, since he is the same height—six feet, four inches. Willis is from Texas, a fine ball player and an outstanding basketball man.

Lee Moody in the outfield is another one of the famed negro players. He played second base when Jackie Robinson, now of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was with the club. He is a long ball hitter and last year slammed 31 home runs.

Merle Foster, one of the most promising rookies, will be on first base, Albert Cartmill, 19 years old, will be at shortstop and the catching will be taken care of by Goslay or Wright.

Six Pitchers On Team

Six pitchers are with the club, including Mickey Stubblefield, Stringbean Wright, Joe Barberm, Bill Wooden, Jimmy Birdsong and Norman Keys.

The Colts will bring with them Aubrey Vaughn, catcher; Foots Parker first base; Therman Ross, second base; Gradie Wylie, third base; Gervis Fagens, shortstop; Curtis Searcy, leftfield; Tex Anthoney, centerfield; Buddy Stallworth, rightfield; and four pitchers, Left Hollingsworth, Johnnie Williams, James Nash and Billie Edward Vinson.

Speedway Classic Qualifiers Named

INDIANAPOLIS, May 14 (INS)—Duke Nalon, of Sherman Oaks, Calif., roared four times around the famed Indianapolis speedway at an average 132.939 mph today to win the coveted pole position in the 500-mile Memorial Day auto race classic.

A grandstand accident on the southwest turn, in which 33 persons were injured in the collapse of a box-seat section, and a sudden cloudburst held up proceedings at different times during the afternoon, but 13 drivers qualified for the Memorial Day race.

Among the faster times were the 128.348 mph of Duane Carter, Santa Monica Calif., and the 128.023 of Jimmy Jackson, Desert Hot Springs, Calif.

Johnny Mantz, Long Beach, Calif., was home at 127.786 mph, and Hal Cole, South Gate, Calif., at 127.168.

Texas Batting Leveling Off

DALLAS, May 14. (AP)—Texas league pitchers are beginning to get the bead on the big sluggers and club batting is leveling off from the high early season averages, the Texas Statistical Bureau reported Saturday on all games through May 11.

Dallas continues to set the pace with a .310 team average, down from the previous week's .318. Oklahoma City batted .273 compared with .292 the previous week for second place. Other teams batted as follows:

Shreveport .268; Fort Worth .267; Tulsa .255; San Antonio .240; Beaumont .231, and Houston .230.

Dallas Run Leader

Dallas led with total runs of 205 including 27 homers and 62 two-base hits; Oklahoma City, 277 runs including 19 homers. Fort Worth led in stolen bases with 23.

Walt Wrona of Tulsa in 49 times at bat had a .388 average with teammate Fletcher Robbe batting .377 in 53 times at bat. Bob Bundy of Fort Worth in 94 times at bat had a .372 average.

Bill Sernea of Dallas in 85 times at bat had a .353 average including 10 homeruns and 30 runs batted in. Joe Adcock of Tulsa in 107 times at bat boasted a .346 average. Ray Murray of Oklahoma had a .377 average in 92 times at bat including 11 doubles and 30 runs batted in. Pete Mazur led the field in stolen bases with six.

Iott Tops In Strikeouts

Bob Frierson of Dallas had 11 doubles to his credit and 22 runs batted in for a batting average of .315 in 111 times at bat.

Clarence Iott, Dallas hurler, was far ahead in strikeouts with 39. He has won three and lost two games. Vern Kennedy, also of Dallas, has five pitching victories against a single loss. Reuben Fischer, another Dallas pitcher, has won three and lost none.

Dick Rozek of Oklahoma has struck out 35 in winning three games and losing two. He has played in seven games, completing two.

Benny Bickers Wins Oleander Skeet Shoot

GALVESTON, May 14 (AP)—Benny Bickers of Dallas won the .20 gauge championship today in the second annual Oleander open skeet shoot. He broke 100 targets in a row.

Bickers fired yesterday, but the field in the event did not finish shooting until today.

Mickey Michaels, jr., Galveston, defending champion in three events, grabbed the lead in the all gauge division by breaking 125 consecutive targets.

D. Lee Braun, Dallas, had a 100x100 score to win the .20-gauge title for professionals.

Six tied for second in the .20 gauge open shoot. They were Oscar Lange, Galveston; Grant Ilseng, Houston; Ish McKnight, Midland; Joe Frost, jr., San Antonio; Bud Price, Dallas, and D. W. Conway, Clint, all with scores of 99/100.

Tied at 98 were G. Stratton, Waco; Herman Ehler, Dallas, and Col. Pete Read, San Angelo.

Those tied at 96 included George Glass, jr., Midland; Wright Cowden, Texarkana.

PRETTY FROG—No, Doris Foppiano is an American girl, but the frog she's holding could be anything. At any rate, the croaker is entered in the famed Calaveras County Annual Frog Jumping contest at Angels Camp, Calif. The contest, which has $1,000 in cash for the winner who makes the longest jump, ends today. Doris hopes Mark Twain, the frog shown here, will win.

Lubbock Gun Club's Grand Opening Is Again Postponed

The Lubbock Gun club's grand opening, scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed again and this time it may be for an indefinite period.

Clyde G. Tatum, president, said yesterday that Remington and Winchester gun representatives were supposed to be here for the opening, but would be unable to make it. And since Midland is having the first registered shoot of the season next week, the Gun club thought it better to postpone the opening.

It appears likely that the opening officially will be in June, but regular shooting, both trap and skeet, will be held each Sunday at the club's fields at South Plains Army Air Field.

Tornadoes To Meet Bowie

LAMESA, May 14 (Special)—The Lamesa High Golden Tornadoes, winner of the District 3-AA baseball crown, will meet Bowie (El Paso) High's Bruins, District 4-AA titlist, in the first game of the bi-district series at 2 p. m. here Thursday, May 19, at Lobo field.

The playoff will be two of three games series with all contests played here at 2 p. m. All tilts will be seven-inning affairs. Selection of the site was done by long distance coin flip. Lamesa's athletic director, Bob Harrell, called "heads" as Bowies L. W. McConachie flipped.

The Tornadoes had an 8-4 record in district play and became champs automatically Friday when San Angelo defeated Abilene, only team with a chance to tie Lamesa for the title.

Bowie, coached by Nemo Herrerra whose basketball team beat the Tornadoes two straight in the bi-district playoffs here the past season, have a 17-3 record over the entire year. The Bruins finished the district campaign Friday night with five wins and one loss.

Lamesa Mentor Jack Wetzel is planning lengthy workouts the next few days. The Tornadoes dropped the opener, then won seven games in a row, and finished the schedule by losing three of the last four starts.

Lamesa relies on a three-man pitching staff. Bill Hart has four wins; Jerry Phillips has won two and dropped two; and Lefthander Royce King won two games while losing two.

GULF LOOP MEETS

HOUSTON, May 14 (AP)—Faculty advisers and athletic directors of the new Gulf Coast Intercollegiate Conference were in executive session here today to discuss possible enlargement of the four-college league.

What's wrong with the Hubbers? A lot of people are asking that question and no one comes up with a good answer. We don't know, but we do know that the pitching hasn't been outstanding and hitting in the clutch has been terribly lacking. A rundown of the home games gives these averages: visiting teams have gotten 11.53 hits per game, have been given 6.38 bases on balls per game, have taken advantage of 2.30 errors per game and have scored 7.84 runs per game. Visiting teams have averaged 6.38 strikeouts against them per game. Meanwhile the Hubbers had garnered 9.76 hits per game, been given 3.46 bases on balls per game, taken advantage of only 1.38 errors per game and have scored 6.30 runs per game. Hubber batters also have averaged 7.15 strikeouts per game.

That doesn't tell an awful lot, but it does show that the Hubbers have been outhit, outscored and outfielded. It also shows that the pitchers have been more generous with walks and less accurate with strikeouts. It does help, however, to explain why the team currently is sixth (as of Friday night), when a year ago the record was 11 and 9 and they were in fourth place. On May 31, 1948, the Hubbers were second with 22 and 16. They have a long row to hoe. And actually, we think that potentially this team is better than last year's. The only answer that we can get is that the Hubbers need one player who can give them a spark. Until the team gets it, they'll continue to flounder along.

THE ROUNDUP: LaVern Roach is playing tennis these days—and looking fit. . . . Joe Budny, former Amarillo hurler, is going strong with Texarkana. . . . Goldie Goldizen, last year with Amarillo, is with Great Falls of the Pioneer League. . . . You think Hubber names are bad? How about these pitchers with Decatur of the Three-Eye League; Gallatin, Zieliniksi, Schneiders, Hellendrung and Starasta! . . . Several women from here will enter the Midland Country club's annual tournament starting tomorrow. . . . Sportsmen in Post were picking up fish from Buffalo Lakes on the main street after Friday night's flood a week ago. . . . Jay Haney had better turn pitcher more often.

Texas Boy To Return From Pennsylvania Hospital Monday

PHILADELPHIA, May 14 (AP)—Bobby Sanders of Crowell, Tex., who had a tack removed from his lung Thursday, was discharged from Temple University hospital today.

The boy swallowed the upholstering tack last Sunday. After medical treatment at Wichita Falls failed to dislodge it, he was flown to Temple's bronchoscopic clinic.

Hospital officials said Bobby was in good condition and would return home Monday.

James Dillon, Eire's Minister of Agriculture, explained, in Limerick, his ten-year- $200,000,000 plan to restore the dairy industry.

Boys Leagues To Open Play

Lubbock's youngest organized baseball players will begin league play this week at Boys club when the Pee Wee and Pygmy league teams begin their schedule.

The two loops were selected at the baseball school held at Boys club last week in which approximately 380 boys participated. Only one league had been planned originally, but the record number of entries made two leagues necessary.

Pygmy players are only 9 years old, and those in the Pee Wee loop are of ages 10-11.

Coaches for the team are Pat Clepper, Red Sox; Jerry Starkey, White Sox; Keith Anderson, Dodgers; Ted Cummings, Yankees; Glen White, Indians; and James Sanders, Pirates.

The schedule for May follows:

PYGMY LEAGUE

4 O'Clock

May 16—Red Sox vs. White Sox; May 17—Dodgers vs. Yankees; May 18—Indians vs. Pirates; May 19—Red Sox vs. Dodgers; May 20—White Sox vs. Indians; May 23—Yankees vs. Pirates; May 24—White Sox vs. Dodgers; May 25—Red Sox vs. Indians; May 26—Pirates vs. White Sox; May 27—Yankees vs. Indians; May 30—Red Sox vs. Yankees; May 31—Dodgers vs. Indians.

Texas Aggie Team Racks Up Third Straight SWC Track, Field Title

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., May 14 (AP)—Blond J. D. Hampton shattered two distance records in leading Texas A.&M. to it's third consecutive Southwest conference track and field championship here today.

Three other records were set—all by Aggie performers — and another tied in the two-day meet.

A.&M. compiled 55¼ points. Texas, with 49¼, was second and Rice, with 36, third, followed by Arkansas with 12 3/4, Southern Methodist 12, Baylor 9 3/4 and Texas Christian one.

Hampton, a skinny junior from Brady, Tex., first established a new mark of four minutes 17.2 seconds in the mile run. After resting 70 minutes, he ran the two mile grind in nine minutes 30.7 seconds. He finished far ahead in both races and his ten points gave him individual honors.

The smooth - striding Hampton ran his unbeaten string to 17 races. His two mile mark erased the 9:32.4 standard set up in 1925 by Sandi Esquival of Texas and his mile jaunt cracked by three seconds the record made last year by little Jerry Thompson of Texas.

Other record - breaking performances:

Ray Holbrook's 47.3 seconds for the 440 dash, eclipsing the 47.8 mark of Harold Hall, Rice, set in 1941.

The Aggie mile relay team's 3 minutes 14.1 seconds, bettering the old mark of 3:16.7 by Texas in 1938.

Bob Hall's 22.5 seconds for the 220 yard low hurdles, established in yesterday's preliminaries.

Texas' Peggy Samuels tied the 100-yard dash mark of 9.5 seconds held by several men.

A crowd of about 2,750 watched the second conference meet to be held here and the first since 1922 and saw the well - balanced Aggies win seven events and score in all but three.

Idalou Gains 5-B Finals

Quarter-final games in the District 5-B baseball tournament were played Saturday afternoon at Rosenthal field, and Idalou and Shallowater advanced to the finals.

Jacobs pitched the Idalou nine to a 6-4 victory over Lorenzo in a game that was close all the way, Rector was the losing hurler.

Shallowater's Clark had little trougle on the mound as he engineered his team to an easy 18-4 win over New Home, Phifer was the loser.

The championship and consolation games will be played Monday night at Shallowater.

Shallowater plays Idalou at 3 p.m. for the district title, and New Home will meet Lorenzo at 1 p.m. for the runner-up spot.

Colonial Golf Tourney Announces Field

FORT WORTH, May 14. (AP) — The Colonial National Invitation golf tournament announced its field today and said there was no controversy with the PGA although professional Sam Snead was not included. Neither was amateur, Frank Stranahan.

Thirty - five professionals and one amateur were invited and accepted. The tournament, a $15,000 affair will be held June 2-5.

Max Highfill, chairman of the tournament committee, sand Snead was invited to play in the tournament but could not because of a commitment made with his home club. Stranahan was not invited, Highfill explained, because it was known he would be playing in the British Amateur and would not be able to accept.

Regarding a report that the PGA had, in fact, demanded that two professionals not included in the original list be invited, Highfill said the two in question were on the secondary list and were extended invitations on the basis of improved records after the original list went out.

Names of the two professionals in question never were revealed.

WHITE SOX BUY KLIEMAN

Lubbock Public Schools Prepare For Close Of Session May 27

Work in all of Lubbock's twenty-one schools is pointing toward the close of the regular 1948-49 school year on May 27. Regular classroom work will continue throughout next week, with May 23, 24, and 25 scheduled for testing, checking in books, and the compiling of yearly reports. All students in the public schools will report to their schools on May 27 at 1 p.m. to receive their cards.

Enrollment in the third annual free summer session will begin on May 30 and continue through May 31, with classroom and enrichment work beginning on June 1.

According to Ishmael Hill, assistant superintendent, elementary students will have regular classroom work and some testing the first three days of the week of May 23. Students will not report on Thursday May 24 on the morning of Friday May 25, since teachers will be making reports and filling out cards and forms.

Two and one-half days have been set aside in senior high school for exams, according to Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education. Exams will be given on Monday, May 23, Tuesday, May 24, and until noon Wednesday, May 25. Wednesday afternoon students in senior high school will check in books, Miss Lomax said. In the junior high schools of the city, regular classroom work will continue through Monday, with exams scheduled for Tuesday and until noon on Wednesday. No students in the secondary schools will report on Thursday, May 26, of in the morning of Friday, May 27.

On Sunday afternoon, May 22, the graduation sermon for senior high graduates will be given in the high school auditorium at 2:30. the sermon will be delivered by Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of the Broadway Church of Christ.

Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of the Westminister Presbyterian church, will give the invocation and the Rev. I. D. Walker, pastor of the Parkdale Baptist church, will give the benediction. Kara Sam Dunn will play the organ prelude as the class takes its place and Gerre Hancock will play the recessional. Special music will be a piano solo by Nancy Davis and selections by the Senior Girls' chorus.

The theme of the graduation exercises on Thursday, May 26, will be "Builders of 1949." The program will be given by graduates of the class of 1949. Four students will give the graduation address on the theme. They are Mary Ruth Sims, Anne Lingle, Anita Pope, and Jack McCabe. Frank Poynor, president of the senior class, will be master of ceremonies. Gerre Hancock will play the processional and Dorothy Dale Kennedy will give the invocation. Special music will be by the Senior Mixed chorus and Jack King. Principal Floyd Roney will present honors, and the class will be presented to Clyde G. Tatum, president of the Board of Trustees, by Superintendent R. W. Matthews.

Tech History Group To Make Field Trip To Mexico City

A history course dealing with the pre-history and history of the Mexican plateau from first hand study will be resumed at Texas Technological college this summer. The course, offered on the junior academic level includes a six-weeks field trip to Mexico City.

Dr. W. C. Holden, head of the history and anthropology departments at Tech, said 12 hours college credit in history is the only requirement for enrolling in the course.

W. M. Pearce, jr., professor of history at Tech who returns to the staff full time this summer after an extended leave of absence to complete graduate work, will supervise the study and trip.

Excursions to be made included in the six weeks stay are to Curenavaca, Taxco, Pueblo, Xochimilcho, Taluca, pyramids of Teotihuacan and other places of archeological and historical interest.

The expense of the course is estimated at $285. Reservations should be made through Dr. Holden at the college. The class will be limited to 20 students, he said.

APPEAR IN FORMAL "WEDDING"—Speech students of Mrs. C. M. Kaigler will appear in a program designed to represent a formal wedding pro-gram, which will be open to the public, at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the First Methodist church. Lois Marie Garren and Stephen Pat Magee, pictured in center in top photograph, will play the parts of the bride and bridegroom. Left to right in top photograph are the bride and groom and members of the wedding party as follows: Leslie Jane Roberts, Jimmy Underwood, Linda McCauley, Akie Sanders, Priscilla Suttle, Lyndell Mae Hopkins, Sandra Harris, Khaki Homesley, maid of honor, Lois Marie Garren, Neal Griffin Hicks, the preacher, who is standing back of the bride, Stephen Pat Magee, Brad Parkinson, best man, Martha Francis Blocker, Phil Wilbanks, Gayle Howard, John Michiel Ritchey. In the lower photo, from left to right, are pictured Scotty Hastings and Robert Adams, ushers; Arlette Arnett and J. C. Bacon, who play parts of parents of the bride; Susan McCauley and Sam Arnett III, parts of parents of bridegroom; Sandra Pritchard and Beverly Suttle, who will sing wedding selections. Other wedding guests, in addition to parents of the bride and bridegroom will be Judy Jane Leftwich, LaDonna Rieger, Jan McElroy, Janet Bell, Sylvia Turner, Elizabeth Brown, Rose Ann Blackwood, Virginia Lee Pool, Marilyn Goodwin, Nan Kelly, Sue Ann Moore and Martha Lynn Milburn. Tripoli Arabs Stage Orderly Demonstration Against U.S.

TRIPOLI, Libia, May 14 (AP)—Tripoli Arabs staged an orderly demonstration yesterday against American support for a move to return part of this territory to Italy. It was an Italian colony before the war.

Speeches of protest were made in front of the American consulate which again flew the Stars and Stripes. Wednesday a mob tore the U.S. banner from its staff.

The United Nations political committee has approved a proposal which would give Italy a trusteeship over Tripolitania—part of Libia—starting in 1951. The General Assembly is expected to approve the American approved plan.

New Zealand is not opposing all Japanese whaling in the Antarctic, but feels that the proposed expansion of the Jap whaling fleet is unjustified both on economic and security grounds, the Government stated.

b-Business Wanted

I shall be in Lubbock for the purpose of selecting a distributor for territory in Texas or New Mexico, especially for the Lubbock area. A cash investment of $750 to $1500 is required, which is fully protected by equipment the selected distributor will have charge of. This is a high-class, diversified, money-making proposition that does not require any soliciting or selling and only a few hours each day and it should net the distributor selected $300 a month or more right from the start and the income should be increased to $500 net a month or more in 12 to 15 months time without any additional investment. A distributor is wanted with protected territory for the following cities, namely Lubbock, Plainview, Littlefield, Floydada, Post, Tahoka, Brownfield, Sour and Slaton. These smaller cities can be operated very successfully with a cash investment of only $650, which should net the distributor selected $150 a month right from the start and the income should be increased to $300 net a month in 12 to 15 months time without any additional investment. If you have the money to invest in this new profitable proposition write E. B. Larmore, Factory Representative, Box 32, Lubbock Avalanche or see me for personal interview and all particulars Thursday or Friday, the 19th or 20th. Ask for E. B. Larmore. SALESMEN WANTED

A fine opportunity for man and wife who want to work and earn unlimited income. Rapid advancement. Permanent position. Local work. Car essential. See E. W. Mullican, between 12 and 2, 2210 7th, Lubbock.

A BUSINESS OF YOUR OWN

A man will be chosen soon to handle a protected territory in the Lubbock district for a new product made and sold by Holcomb and Hoke Mfg. Co., Inc., who are rated AAA-1 and have been in business for over fifty years in Indianapolis, Indiana.

This new product is a machine to be sold to filling stations, garages, fleet owners and automobile dealers to perform a service described by 'Automotive News' as the most neglected vital automotive service today.

We have hired over one hundred salesmen to date and most of them have produced. Commission paid is 35%. The commission per sale is $43.48.

The sale is made by demonstrating the machine, which usually clinches the sale. Because of this, it is necessary that the man selected make an investment of $250 for demonstrating equipment.

The man we select must have had successful sales experience, have a car and furnish good references.

This is not the mine run commission salesman's job. It is a rare opportunity for the right man to get into a business for himself which will continue because the sale of each machine insures continuing income from supplies used by the machine on which a 25% commission is paid.

If you want to find out more about this opening, call Mr. W. A. Carter Sunday from 9 to 5 at the Hilton Hotel, Lubbock, Texas.

Funeral Services Set In Ralls Today For Mrs. Virgil L. Reese

RALLS, May 14 (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Virgil L. Reese, 38, who died in her home south of Lorenzo early Friday morning, are to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist church of Ralls.

Rev. Alvin F. Hamm of Lorenzo, pastor of the Fairview Baptist church, will officiate. He is to be assisted by Rev. James Abernathy, pastor of the Ralls Baptist church.

Mrs. Reese had resided in Crosby county for the past 27 years. She had been ill for the past six months.

Survivors include the husband; one son, Billy Wayne Reese; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Tucker of Lorenzo; a sister, Mrs. Gladys Reese of Ralls; and two brothers, Danford Tucker of Las Animas, Colo., and J. W. Tucker of Lorenzo.

Pallbearers will be Oco H. Walker, King Stewart, E. M. Cates, J. D. Dennis, Doyle Reynolds and Rex Williams.

Marr Funeral home of Ralls will direct burial in Ralls cemetery.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
HASIE AND GREEN ENGINEERING COMPANY, LUBBOCK, TEXAS

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals for proposed work addressed to the Mayor, City of Hobbs, New Mexico, will be received at the office of the City Clerk, until 2:00 p. m., 31st day of May, 1949, and then publicly opened and read. The proposed work covers Street Improvements in the City of Hobbs, New Mexico, including paving, curb and gutter for approximately 60 blocks (120,000 S. Y.) and drainage comprising 14,120 L. F. 12" to 54" Storm Sewer and appurtenances as set forth by approved plans and specifications on file with the City of Hobbs, New Mexico. Bids will be received separately on paving items and drainage items and the bidder may bid on either or both.

Bidders must submit a certified or Cashier's check, or a bidder's bond executed by a surety corporation authorized to transact business in the state of New Mexico for Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000) with each bid, (one on drainage and one on paving) as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract under the conditions set forth within 10 days after notice of award of contract. The minimum wages which shall accrue on this work are the rates established October 1, 1948 by the State Labor Commissioner as set forth in the specifications. The bidder shall inspect the projects and acquaint himself with all factors. Each bidder shall submit a statement of his experience, financial resources and equipment with the bid. The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids and waive all formalities. No bids will be returned and none received after the closing time for receipt of bids. Payment for the drainage work will be made by cash from Storm Sewer G. O. Bonds, and for paving in conformity with the New Mexico Statutes, 1941 Annotated, Sections 14-2303, 14-2316 to 14-2322, inclusive, and other statutory provisions, as more specifically set out by the specifications.

Plans and Specifications may be inspected at the office of the City Clerk of Hobbs, New Mexico, or obtained from Hasie and Green Engineering Company, Consulting Engineers, Wilson Building or P. O. Box 1139, Lubbock, Texas, upon a deposit of $125, which will be refunded to each actual bidder when same are returned. A refund of $100 will be made to those who return one of the plans and specifications.

Dated this 7th day of May, 1949.
A. W. Nash
City Clerk, Hobbs, New Mexico

ORDINANCE NO. 912
AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE PARKING OF VEHICLES ON THAT PART OF 17TH STREET LYING BETWEEN TEXAS AVENUE AND AVENUE H; ESTABLISHING PARALLEL PARKING ON SAID PART OF 17TH STREET; MAKING IT UNLAWFUL FOR ANY PERSON TO PARK A VEHICLE ON SAID PART OF 17TH STREET OTHER THAN PARALLEL TO THE CURB AND WITHIN ONE (1) FOOT THEREOF, AUTHORIZING THE PLACING OF PARALLEL PARKING SIGNS AND CURB MARKERS THEREFORE; REPEALING ALL ORDINANCES IN CONFLICT HEREWITH AND PROVIDING A PENALTY.

WHEREAS, the City Commission finds that 17th Street between Avenue H and Texas Avenue is a part of the route traveled by Fire Trucks going to the Southeast part of Lubbock and parallel parking should be required in the interest of public safety and welfare, therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF LUBBOCK:

SECTION 1. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to park any vehicle on that part of 17th Street between Avenue H and Texas Avenue unless such vehicle be parked parallel to the curb and the wheels of such vehicle on the right hand side be within one (1) foot of the curb or curb line.

SECTION 2. The Chief of Police is authorized and directed to place uniform parallel parking signs together with parallel parking space marks on the curbs on the North and South sides of 17th Street between Avenue H and Texas Avenue so as to put the operators of motor vehicles on notice that parallel parking is required.

SECTION 3. The provisions of any Ordinance or Ordinances heretofore passed regulating parking on 17th Street between Avenue H and Texas are hereby repealed insofar as they affect said part of 17th Street.

SECTION 4. Any person who shall violate any provision of Section 1 of this Ordinance shall upon conviction be fined in any sum not exceeding ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100.00).

AND IT IS SO ORDERED.

Passed and approved by unanimous vote of the City Commission this 29th day of April, 1949.

Passed and approved by unanimous vote of the City Commission this 13th day of May, 1949.

ing the bids they will be considered and the successful bidder notified.

Prices in the Proposal shall be made on the basis of unit measurement for each of the five items in the Proposal, the approximate quantities are as follows: Subgrade preparation 111,436.92 square yards; Concrete Curb and Gutter 27,307.45 linear feet; and Pavement (includes caliche base and asphalt surface treatment), 85,740.36 square yards.

Bidders must submit cashier's or certified check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Bidder's Bond from a reliable Surety Company, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock, in an amount not less than five (5%) per cent of the largest possible bid submitted as a guarantee that Bidder will enter into a contract and execute bond and guaranty in the form provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered. The successful Bidder must furnish performance bond on a standard attached form in the amount of one hundred (100%) per cent of the total contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the Owner.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive formalities, to accept the bid which seems most advantageous to the City's interest.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions.

Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 42rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, Chapter 68, (Article No. 5159A Civil Statutes, 1925) covering the wage scale and payment of prevailing rates of wages as established by the Owner. Said scale of prevailing rates of wages is set forth in the specifications.

Information for bidders, proposal forms, plans and specifications are on file at the office of R. L. Dillahunty, City Engineer, at the City Hall, Lubbock, Texas, and may be procured upon a deposit of $10 as a guarantee of safe return of the plans and specifications. The full amount of this deposit will be returned to each bidder immediately upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition. No refund on contract document and plans returned later than ten (10) days after the date of receiving bids will be authorized. Additional sets of plans may be obtained at the cost of duplication.

The bidders attention is called to the fact that although he will be paid in cash by the City of Lubbock for work performed under the terms of this contract, no work shall be commenced by the Contractor on any project unless until the City Engineer has issued his written order to the Contractor to proceed with construction of the unit and the City Engineer will not issue such written order unless contracts for the paving have been executed by all abutting property owners in the unit or the City Commission has otherwise by resolution authorized the City Engineer to issue such written order.

No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing for receiving of bids for at least thirty (30) days.

Stock Judging Winners Named

Winners in five judging divisions were announced last night, after completion of the 23rd annual Freshman Agriculture Judging contest, held Saturday afternoon in the stock judging pavilion on the Texas Tech campus.

The contest was sponsored and directed by the Tech chapter of the National Block and Bridle club, in co-operation with the animal husbandry department of the Tech division of agriculture.

Winners To Get Medals

High individuals in the entire contest were George Truitt, first; Jack Bond, second; Dudley Montgomery, third; Palmer Willin, fourth; and Merle Parsons, fifth.

The three high men will receive gold, silver, and bronze medals respectively.

In the beef cattle contest, Jack Bond and Merle Parsons tied for first place, while third place went to Dudley Montgomery.

In dairy cattle judging, Henry Zorns and Robert Rutt tied for top honor. Third place was taken by George Truitt.

In the quarterhorse judging contest, four participants tied for first place, including Ray Herring, M. A. Chambers, Alfred Allen, and Ray Tomlinson.

In the hog judging contest, George Keith, Truitt, and Brian Boyett tied for first place.

Clinton Ritter, president of Block and Bridle at Tech, was superintendent of the contest. Assistant superintendents were E. F. McIntire, John Dwyer, and Jack Douglas. Section leaders included Matt Willingham, Bill Eiland, Don Morrison, and Tommy Bell. Other members of the club aided in the various contests.

Judges included J. H. Baumgardner, H. Roy Burkhart, Stanley E. Anderson, and Ray C. Mowery.

About 100 participated in the contests.

Four Killed As Plane Crashes In California

RIVERSIDE, Calif., May 14 (INS) — Four persons, two of them women, plunged to their deaths on Pachappa hill inside the Riverside city limits today when a wing fell off their single-engined Cessna plane.

The victims were not identified immediately by the coroner's office, although police said that papers found on the pilot's body indicated that he was Don Gregory of South Gate, Calif. One of the women carried a department store charge identification made out to a "Mrs. E. A. Peeler," also of South Gate.

Witnesses said that the plane was flying at an altitude of several hundred feet when suddenly one of the wings snapped off. The plane immediately went into a tight spin and landed with a terrific crash on the side of the hill.

New Scholarship Is Offered At Tech By Ex-Students' Group

A new scholarship series, the Ex-Students Association scholarships, have been approved for Texas Technological college and will be given for the first time the 1949-50 school year.

Dr. Ernest Wallace, chairman of the scholarship committee, said this latest scholarship series has been made possible through the Ex-Students' Loyalty Fund established two years ago through the alumni and Ex-Students association.

Provisions Announced

Provisions of the award state: The son or daughter of an ex-Techsan will be eligible for the scholarship provided the applicant has a 1.5 or high C grade average for at least 30 college semester hours taken at Texas Tech. The The scholarship, which is $200, will be awarded $100 the first semester, and if 1.5 grade average is maintained, the remaining $100 will be awarded the second semester.

A scholarship is given in the five divisions, arts and sciences, agriculture, business administration, engineering and home economics.

The scholarship will be given on application only. The application should be addressed to the committee, in care of Dr. Wallace. Any student going to school under another scholarship will not be eligible to receive this one, Dr. Wallace said.

Pre-Trial Hearing Set In Price-Fixing Suit

AUSTIN, May 14 (AP)—Pre-trial hearing in the state's gasoline price-fixing suit against 10 major oil refiners will be held Monday in 98th District court before Judge Charles O. Betts.

Attorney General Price Daniel will return from Washington, where he argued the state's side in the nation's biggest land suit—the tidelands case—to announce he is ready in the state's largest anti-trust suit in history.

Assistant Attorney General Charles D. Mathews will carry the lead in the pre-trial. He is chief of the anti-trust division.

Price Fixing Charged

Monday's proceedings will deal with objections and exceptions filed by each of the 10 oil companies against the state's charges. Defendants' motions for separate trials will also be considered.

Chief allegation in the attorney general's petition is that the refiners have maintained an artificial uniform tank wagon price per gallon on gasoline in Texas since the end of OPA.

Companies involved are Arkansas Fuel Oil Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Continental Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., Standard Oil Co., of Texas, The Texas Co., Sinclair Refining Co., and Phillips Petroleum Co.

Season Ticket Sales To New Subscribers Of Lubbock Symphony Orchestra Open Tuesday

Season tickets for new subscribers for the 1949-50 concert season of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra will be available Tuesday through Friday at a ticket booth in the lobby of Hilton hotel, according to announcement Saturday by Leona Gelin, symphony business manager.

Season tickets, which will admit purchasers to all five of the concerts next season, are, for the center section of the auditorium, $10 for adults and $5 for students in public schools. Tickets for side, back and balcony seats are $7.20 for adults and $3.60 for children. All prices include tax.

Four Programs Filled

Leonard Warren, Metropolitan opera baritone, will be guest artist at first concert of the 1949-50 season, which is planned for Oct. 24.

At the December concert, Robert Pipkin, concert master of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra, will play a violin concerto. His wife, Mary Anna Pipkin, will be presented in a piano concerto.

The February concert will present the music of either a Victor Herbert or George Gershwin operetta, with a cast and chorus, in addition to the orchestra. At the spring concert, a duo-piano team will be presented with the orchestra.

One concert date is as yet unfilled.

Leonard Warren, an "All American" singer, began his career by winning the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air in 1937. Since that time, he has rapidly become one of the most popular of the Metropolitan stars.

Warren has appeared with the Met casts in Dallas for the past three years. This year he sang in the opera "Otello" on opening night in Dallas, as well as in Atlanta and in Los Angeles. After his performances this year in Los Angeles, he went to Mexico City for the opening of the opera season there.

Youth Fatally Shoots Former Sweetheart Then Kills Self

MILFORD, Conn., May 14 (INS) — A red-haired high school girl died tonight of a bullet fired into her brain by a jealousy-maddened boy friend who then took his own life.

The second victim of the tragedy was Arlene Harris, 17, who died tonight in Milford hospital. She was shot once in the head as she and Raymond Cretton, 22, sat in the living room.

Cretton, who police said had been Miss Harris' sweetheart until they broke off their friendship recently, ran from the living room. Police searching the neighborhood three-quarters of an hour later found him in a pasture a block from the Harris home. He killed himself with two shots of his .25 caliber automatic pistol.

Soldier Found Hanging From Homemade Noose In Jail Cell

SAN ANTONIO, May 14 (U.P.) — Randolph Field authorities disclosed today that the body of Air Force Sgt. Harold H. Lewis, 28, of Hoxie, Kan., was found Friday hanging from a cell in the Marion, Tex., jail.

A pair of blue jeans had been fashioned into a noose. Constable Bruno Koehler discovered the body, Army authorities said.

Lewis lived at nearby Schertz. He is survived by his wife and a child.

The body was taken to Brooke General hospital for an autopsy and Army authorities said their investigation was not closed.

Lewis had been in the Air Force here about a year. Previously, he had served four years in the Navy.

Port Arthur, Beaumont Face Bus Drivers' Strikes Monday

BEAUMONT, May 14 (AP) — Port Arthur and Beaumont are threatened with city bus strikes Monday.

Negotiations between officials of the National City Lines, Inc., parent firm of the two city bus companies, and Local 1031, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railroad and Motor Coach employes, collapsed today.

The union represents 150 bus operators and mechanics of the Port Arthur and Beaumont bus lines.

A. F. Steele, international vice president of the union, said: "I'm carrying the strike authority in my pocket now."

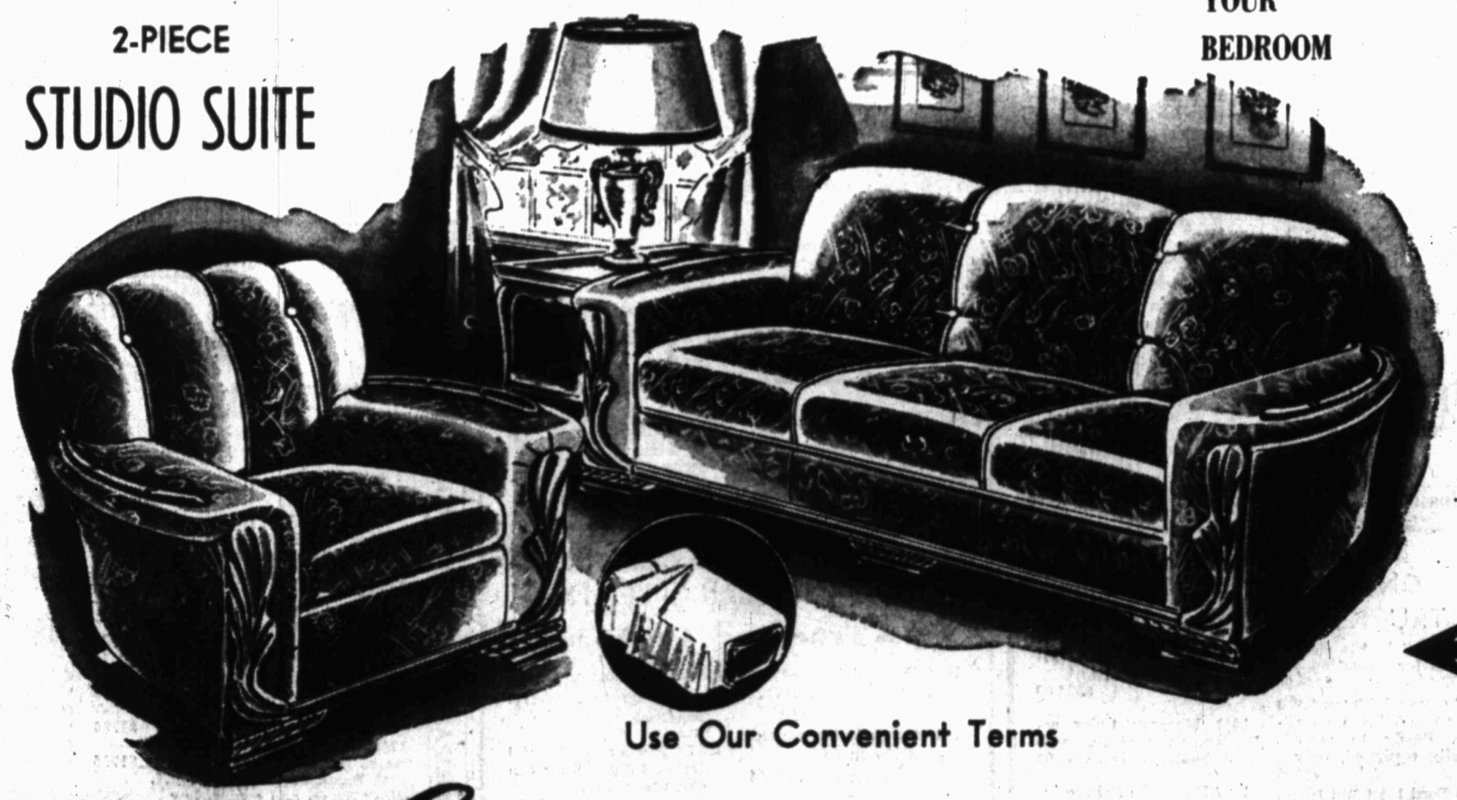

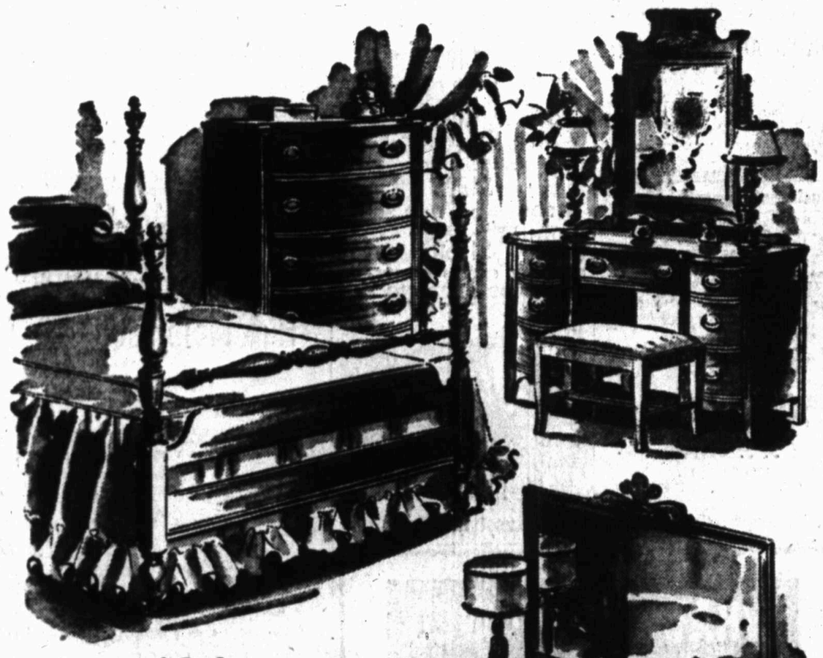

He added:

"Unless the company has something else to offer, the strike probably will go into effect when the last bus comes in and is properly serviced and put away Sunday night."

Ideas For Summer Recipes And Table Decorations Are Given By Women

Light Foods, Cold Drinks Appropriate On Hot Days

DURING the summer months when life is more leisurely than during other parts of the year, many types of parties and entertainments are popular. At such events, light foods and cold drinks are appropriate; so, for this Sunday's Society section several summer recipes were borrowed from a group of Lubbock women who are pictured on Page One. Ideas for informal table settings are pictured, also. Descriptions of the settings and recipe directions are printed below.

Mexican Glass Used

Mrs. W. C. Holden is shown on Page One in her home at 3105 Twentieth as she completes a place setting on a table on her sun porch. The informal setting is composed of Mexican blue glass and hand woven mat with a brown napkin. She frequently uses yellow place mats with the blue glass.

From Mrs. Holden, two vegetable recipes were secured, one for baked squash and one for glazed carrots with mint. They are as follows:

Baked Squash

Boil eight fresh, firm acorn squash whole until tender. Slice off top half. Scoop out inside of both top and bottom, leaving a firm shell in the bottom half. Mash squash with one-eighth pound margarine and three-fourths cup of rich milk and enough cracker crumbs to absorb all the liquid. Squash should be of thick, custard consistency. Add one teaspoon salt and one fourth teaspoon pepper and, if desired, one-fourth teaspoon garlic salt. If onion flavor is preferred use one tablespoon minced onion instead of the garlic salt. Add three-fourth cups grated American or cheddar cheese. Place squash shells in greased dish and fill shells with squash mixture, heaping generously. Place dish in pan of water and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. A spoonful of grated cheese may be placed on top of each squash shell just before removing from oven. Will serve eight generously.

Glased Carrots With Mint

Scrub one large bunch of carrots well. Then boil whole until tender. Cut carrots in half and slice lengthwise in one-fourth inch strips. Place in individual servings on a baking sheet. Distribute over carrots the following: one-eighth pound margarine, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third cup brown sugar, one-fourth cup white sugar and four stalks of mint leaves chopped fine. Place in 350-degree oven and cook 20 minutes or until carrots are well glazed. Remove each serving with spatula and place on serving plate.

Table Decor

Dishes on the table are Wedgewood Surrey. The silver is Francis I.

Mrs. Max Tidmore of 3319 Twenty-ninth enjoys cooking a great deal, and she has a wealth of recipes, many of which are quite unusual. Many people have expressed interest in the Poppy Seed French dressing which Mrs. Tidmore makes: this recipe and one for ice box cookies have been added to today's collection.

Poppy Seed French Dressing

3 and one-half cups sugar
2 tablespoons dry mustard
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons onion juice
6 cups salad oil
2 cups vinegar
One-half cup poppy seed or comino seed.

Add salad oil slowly, beating constantly, to the first four ingredients and then add the vinegar and poppy seed. At first, this method seems wrong, but soon a very nice dressing appears. Can be used on calavo and grapefgruit salad as well as fruit and vegetable salads.

Ice Box Cookies

1 and one-half cups white sugar
1 and one-half cups brown sugar, packed
1 and one-half cups pecans
1 pound butter
3 whole eggs
One-half teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon soda
Two-thirds teaspoon cloves
2 tablespoon cinnamon
Two-thirds teaspoon allspice
Juice of one-half lemon
6 or 8 cups flour.

Mix ingredients in customary way, Shape into long rolls, wrap in waxed paper and place in refrigerator until firm. Slice very thin. May be left several weeks. Yield, 150.

Barbecued Steaks

The Bill Ed Watsons of 1904 Twenty-fifth are noted among their friends for their good barbecued steaks. Mrs. Watson says Mr. Watson is their steak cook and that he uses no special recipe, but they follow this general method: they buy "good" meat and cook it over a slow post oak fire, turning it often. Their barbecue sauce is made, they say, of a "little of everything," including tomato puree, brown sugar, lemon juice, butter, onion, garlic, and Worcestershire sauce. The amount of ingredients depends on the number of steaks to be barbecued.

Congealed Tuna Salad

A favorite summer salad in the recipe file of Mrs. J. B. McCauley, jr., 3207 Twenty-second, is a congealed tuna fish dish. The recipe is as follows:

1 package lemon jello
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup Tuna fish flakes
1 cup tiny peas
2 tablespoons pimiento (chopped)

One-half cup mayonnaise.

Dissolve jello in boiling water, then add cold water and vinegar. Mix tuna, salt, pimiento, peas and mayonnaise together and add jello. Jell in individual molds or one large bowl and serve on lettuce.

Cold drinks are especially welcome to a guest who drops in on a hot summer afternoon. Mrs. R. C. Young of 3501 Twenty-second who will have many guests coming to see her newly decorated home has contributed two recipes, one for spiced iced tea and one for fruit juice punch.

Spiced Iced Tea

2 cups sugar
2 cups water
4 rounded teaspoons black tea
1 teaspoon allspice
1 and one-half cups orange juice
1 one-half cups pineapple juice
Three-fourth cup lemon juice
4 quarts cold water
5 leaves mint.

Boil sugar and water five minutes; add tea, mint and spice; cover lightly and let stand 10 minutes. Strain and add fruit juices. Pour over cracked ice. Approximate yield, 15 to 20 glasses.

Fruit Juice Punch

2 quarts strong tea
2 quarts berry juice
1 and two-third cups lemon juice
4 cups orange juice
2 quarts water
1 cup sugar
6 bottles (9 oz.) ginger ale

Mix tea, fruit juices, water and sugar, and chill one-half day. Just before serving, add ginger ale and pour over large piece of ice in punch bowl. Approximate yield, eight quarts or 60 small glasses.

Creative Writers To Meet Monday

At a meeting of AAUW Creative Writers to be held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in room 10 of Tech library, manuscripts of members will be discussed and criticized.

All persons interested are invited to attend. Mrs. Ruth Wilson, English instructor at the college, is chairman of the group.

TO PLAY HERE—Miss Louann Hardy, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hardy, 1911 Main, and music student at North Texas State college, will be presented in recital under sponsorship of Allen Brothers post, the American Legion, Tuesday night at Senior High school auditorium. Miss Hardy has performed as soloist with the Houston, Lubbock and North Texas Symphony orchestras. She is to present a concert in Scott hall, SMU, in Dallas in October. Tickets are on sale at Allen Brothers' post and at South Plains and Adair Music stores.

Courtesies Extended

Mrs. R. E. Hamilton and her daughter, Mrs. R. V. Law, honored Miss Charlene Jordan, bride-elect of M. G. Davis of Slaton, at a luncheon Saturday in the Hamilton home, 3211 Thirty-second.

Color scheme of red and white was used in decorations. The honoree received a hostess gift of china.

Places were marked for the honoree, her mother, Mrs. C. B. Jordan, and Mesdames Lillian Butler, W. T. Davis, sr., J. C. Harper, Dixie Lowe, Bryan McDonald, Dalton Strong, Tom Holden, Holice Pruett, Tommy Davis, Margaret Brunson, Charles Bartlett, and Misses Dorothy Davis, Jennie Gares and Connie Wright.

Miss Jordan was honored at a kitchen shower held Thursday in Sundown in the homemaking room of the school. Hostesses were Mesdames T. R. Hendrickson, Holden, Cecil Hale and Miss Wright. Approximately 50 guests called.

Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Mae Hines assisted in serving guests and Mrs. Ed Crouch was in charge of the guest register.

The table was laid with a Mexican drawnwork cloth and held a double heart cake decorated with red confection rosebuds. Red candles helped carry out the red and white color scheme.

Welcome Lunch Club Plans Final Meeting

Welcome Luncheon club will have a covered dish luncheon Thursday at 11 a. m. at Mackenzie State park Party house as the final meeting of the year.

After the luncheon, officers will be elected.

Miss Hardy Will Play In Lubbock

Miss Louann Hardy, violinist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hardy, 1911 Main, will be presented in a recital under auspices of Allen Brothers post, American Legion, at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium.

Miss Hardy, a student at North Texas State college, Denton, has previously appeared as guest artist with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra. She will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Jeaneane Dowis.

First selection on the program will be four movements from "Sonata in F Major, op. 24," (Beethoven), including, Allegro, Adagio molto espressivo, Scherzo (Allegro molto) and Rondo (Allegro ma non troppo).

This will be followed by three movements from, "Concerto in D Minor," (Wieniawski), including Allegro moderato, Romance (Andante ma non troppo) and Allegro moderato (alla zingara).

Following intermission, Miss Hardy will present Adagio, Allegro, Largo and Allegro movements from "Sonata No. 5 in A Major," (Handel). The program will be concluded by "Caprice Viennois," (Fritz Kreisler); "Etude op. 42, No. 4," (Scriabine); and "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso," (Saint-Saens).

Violin And Piano Pupils Presented

Mrs. H. E. Woodward presented piano pupils and Miss Dana Woodward presented violin pupils in a recent recital in the First Methodist church.

Piano pupils appearing were Carolyn Hancock, Alice Middleton, Linda Middleton, Ann Williamson, Carolyn Vardeman, Jorja Hue Blackmon, Janice Merrell, Sandra Weber, Jeannie Newman, Talluah Merrell, Janie Hamblin, Patsy Ruth Perser, Bonnie Lesly, Mickey Williamson, Betty Jean Pace and Shirley Giles.

Violin numbers were presented by Kent Gentry, Stanley Pace, Grady Preston, Charles Giles, Yvonne McKay and Talluah Merrell.

VISITORS — Mrs. John R. Bremer and daughter, Linda Susan, of Philadelphia are visiting friends and relatives in Lubbock. Mrs. Bremer, the former Sue McIlhaney, is a native of Lubbock. She and Linda Susan plan to fly home soon.

Miss Mabel Erwin Is Complimented At Tea

MISS MABEL ERWIN

MISS MABEL ERWIN, whose latest book, "Clothing for Modern," was published recently, was guest of honor at a tea given Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. G. Keyes at 2217 Thirty-first. The honoree joined the faculty of Texas Technological college in September, 1926, as professor and head of the department of clothing and textiles.

Hostesses with Mrs. Keyes were Mesdames Paul Mills, R. A. Burford, L. M. Hargrave of Wolfforth and Jack Earl Creel. Members of the houseparty were Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the Home Economics division, and Mesdames Robert Lockard, Dude Buster, O. A. Kinchen and Mary W. Doak.

The tea table was arranged with garden flowers and a copy of Miss Erwin's book. The honoree was presented a gift by the hostesses.

Approximately 100 persons called.

Colleges Use Book

Miss Erwin's first book, "Practical Dress Design," is being used at present in more than 100 colleges and universities in the United States, South America, China, Japan, Russia, New Zealand, Canada, England, Holland, Australia and South America.

The author is a native of Indiana. She received a bachelor degree from Purdue and a master's degree from Columbia university. She came to Tech from Florida State College for Women, now called Florida State university.

Miss Erwin writes in the preface of "Clothing for Moderns," "This book is designed for any young woman who is ambitious to succeed in her school life, in business life and in social life. She may be a young wife, a young career girl or a freshman college girl. It is intended to help solve her everyday clothing problems and hence is organized somewhat as a handy reference volume."

Central Ward P-TA Announces Program

The program for Central Ward Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock will include an officer installation, music by the glee club, a play by fifth grade pupils and a March of Time film, "America's All."

Members are to meet in the school auditorium.

Through the Coral Doors

Hi Folks,

You are never able to guess how fast the wheels are going round behind those coral doors at Broadway and N, or what those wheels are grinding out. This time Josie was putting the finishing touches on a bracket and mirror done especially for a client in Amarillo, while James stood by insisting on a patented design. He felt it was good enough to sell in the name of Decorators Studio even in Paris where he will study this summer. Fredda promised photographs and drawings but I've a doubt that he will get them. Fredda always feels there is a fresh new idea waiting in that head of hers for every personality that has a new house.

Durwood was very gay as he packed the station wagon for he knew that when the job was installed he would get to try his hand at taking pictures of an interesting interior. Yes Durwood is a camera bug and I believe Fredda is about to get the bug. Said she never thought it anything but work (she does plenty of that) until Durwood persuaded her to photograph some rooms. A few looks in the camera lense and she had it. Nothing is too much trouble to get just the right angle and just the right light. You will also find that nothing is too small a detail for Decorators Studio to do while planning and decorating your house.

Rosa was busy unpacking some Franciscan China in their Laguna pattern, and wondering where she was going to find a shelf for it. The Studio now has thirty one China patterns, forty seven Pottery patterns, and fifteen Crystal patterns to show you with five new Swedish Crystal patterns on their way. There are some more Wedgwood patterns on their way, that have not been available since before the war. So their china room always has quite a display to feast your eyes upon as well as the silver room. Adv.

Las Vivarachas Club At Ball

Patronesses Entertain

THE ballroom at Hotel Lubbock, decorated in fiesta style, was scene of a Spanish Costume ball given Saturday night for Las Vivarachas club members and pledges by their patronesses. Dolls in Mexican costume encased in cellophane stood on either side of a floral archway at the ballroom entrance. Streamers extended from a center revolving reflector light to somebreros which hung at various points on the walls. The word "Fiesta" was draped across the ballroom.

Maxine McCollum presented a Latin American dance and the group danced the Conga just before intermission. The Techsan orchestra provided music.

Sans Soucis Give Party

Patronesses and alumnae of Sans Souci club of Texas Technological college were honored at a backyard party given by the active club this week at the home of Judy Pierce, 3124 Twenty-first.

After the supper, which was served from a large round table decorated with a golden urn filled with roses, Gay Reeves, Sans Souci president, introduced new club members. Pledges presented a style show in which appropriate clothes for school activities were modeled.

Loy Anderson was general chairman for the party. Members of the committees were: Betty Ramsey and Betty Hudson, invitation; Paula Fix, Judy Pierce and Billie Ruth Yant, food; and Patricia Lindsey, Jeanetta Lewis and Shirley Harris, entertainment.

Mrs. J. N. Michie and Mrs. Byron Chappell, club sponsors gave a tea for the club Friday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock in the Michie home at 2110 Seventeenth.

Double Ring Service Said

The marriage of Miss Mary Helen Nunnallee of Dallas, daughter of Mrs. Milton Thomas Nunnallee of Coahoma, and Billy Jack Shelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Shelley, sr., of 1903 Tenth, took place recently at the First Christian church with Rev. Travis A. White reading a double ring ceremony. Arches of candelabra were banked with masses of ferns and flanked by bouquets of white gladioli.

Miss Iris Ferren, organist, accompanied Bob DeSpain as he sang "Because" and offered "The Lord's Prayer" as a response to the pastoral prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Roger G. Nunnallee of Dallas, wore a white taffeta faille dress fashioned with a Swiss lace yoke outlined with a scalloped stand-up faille cuff. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a shirred fitted cap adorned with orange blossoms. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Carolyn Nunnallee of Dallas, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore an aqua taffeta dress styled with a net yoke and a full tiered skirt which fell from a close fitting bodice. She wore a white lace cap and mitts and carried a cascade of white gladioli and ribbon. The bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Saage of Slaton, and Mrs. J. R. McEntyre, wore white organdy gown designed with low yokes edged with ruffles, puffed sleeves and full gathered skirts with ruffles attached in apron style. Their caps and mitts were of aqua lace and their bouquets were of white gladioli tied with aqua ribbon.

Lee F. Shelley of Clarendon served as his brother's best man and Wesley Deats, jr., of Big Spring, Earnest W. Sears of Brownfield and Donald M. McQueen of Bronte were ushers.

Assist At Reception

Parents of the bride and bridegroom, and Mrs. G. Norris Price of Dallas and Mrs. Roy Edwards of Tahoka assisted with hospitalities at the reception given in the church Fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid with a yellow organdy cloth and decorated with a bridal cake. Baskets of white gladioli flanked the table.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Bernice Edwards of Brownfield, Miss Jan Edwards of Tahoka, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Matthews and Chalones of Anton Miss Maurine Turner of Stamford, Mrs. E. E. Clair of Wichita Falls and G. N. Price of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelley are at home at 1907 Ninth. For a wedding trip, the bride wore a mink brown sheer crepe dress with a navy blue pin wheel hat, bag, shoes and white gloves. She wore a white orchid corsage.

MRS. BILLY JACK SHELLEY

The bride will graduate from Texas Technological college in January, 1950, and the bridegroom will graduate from the college this month.

Adult Study Groups To Meet This Week

Members of Parent-Teacher association study group will continue a study of, "Understanding the Teen-Ager," when they meet from 9 until 11 a. m. Tuesday in Annex G of the Texas Tech home economics building. Topic for discussion will be, "Social Development of the Adolescent."

The Home and Family Life Education group, whose members are studying interior decoration of the home, will discuss basic principles of design and color at a meeting scheduled from 2 until 4 p. m., Thursday in Annex G of the home economics building.

Miss Martha Graves, director of home and family life education at the college, will be in charge of both meetings.

Town Talk

MRS. MART CLIFTON of Haskell and Mrs. Pat Hightower of Tyler left Lubbock Saturday after a week's visit as the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gamble, 1604 Ave. W, during which they were honored at a series of courtesies.

Mrs. Sam Jondahl entertained with a luncheon in her home, 2511 Nineteenth, Wednesday, and that night Mrs. K. L. Riggs was hostess for dinner at the Lubbock Country club honoring the visitors.

On Thursday's list of courtesies were a bridge luncheon for 18 guests given by Mrs. Gamble, and dinner for 24 at the Country club with Mrs. Paul Faulkner and Mrs. Walter Stanton as hostesses.

Mesdames J. O. Garlington, Olen Stewart and Hugh Dryer were hostesses in the Garlington home, 1911 Thirty-second, for Friday breakfast. For dinner that night the visitors were entertained at the Country club by Mrs. D. R. McWilliams.

Mesdames Eugene Alderson and H. A. Watson, jr., were hostesses Saturday at 1 p. m. in the Navajo room of the Hilton hotel for luncheon and bridge.

Their guests were Mesdames Sidney Keeton, French Pruitt, Eldon Rawlings, Bryant Lassiter, Frank Baker, Charles Brodie, Doyle McLeod, W. J. Spikes, jr., Watson Carlock, James Baker, Harold Humphries, Ira Dunlap, Owen Gilbreath, Charles Cathey, Beth O'Neal, Rogstad Zachary, Pete West, M. B. Hilburn, jr., Marion Key, Lindsay Telford, Doyce Clark, H. E. Griffith, Nelson Terry, Byron Chappell, R. A. Hill, Darwin Bigness, Allan Marcus and Barbara Nislar.

Regular weekly buffet supper will be served tonight at the Lubbock Country club.

Only members of the club may attend.

The recent "dampness" has paid off in a panorama of beauty and brightness from a floral standpoint all over Lubbock, but the rose garden at the Milam home is among the most colorful in this area, according to many Lubbockites.

The young residents of the home are sharing their floral jewels with their teachers and friends at school and with patients in the local hospitals.

Twenty-first Annual Pioneer Round-Up, sponsored by the Plainview Business and Professional Women's club, will be held in the City Auditorium of Plainview, Saturday, May 21.

The day's schedule includes a pioneer reception from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., a parade at 2 p. m., registration from 6 until 8 p. m., chuck wagon supper from 6 until 8 p. m., a Gay Nineties revue, at 8 p. m., and square dancing from 9:30 until 12 p. m.

Admission for the round-up is 50 cents.

Mesdames V. E. Bell and J. E. Maisen maximized entertainment and minimized preparations by having a double pre-bridal party as a courtesy to Miss Peggy Weiss, bride-elect of Charles Fraser, and Miss Joan Golding, who will marry Leon Maples on June 3.

The kitchen showers for the two girls were given Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Maisen home, 3318 Twenty-fifth. A centerpiece of vegetables was used on the table, which was decorated in contrasting colors on each end. A bridal couple was placed on each side of the centerpiece. Two large bows tied from yellow and green checkered tablecloths completed decorations. The names of the wedding couples were lettered on plastic kitchen spoons.

Yellow and white roses were arranged in the living room and other parts of the house. Attending were 30 guests.

Lt. Col. Ludlow C. Adams, 2612 Twenty-first, was host Friday in the Lubbock Country club at a party honoring members of the inspection team who have been in Lubbock in connection with the annual formal inspection of the Texas Tech Department of Military Science and Tactics.

Besides the inspection team, guests attending were members of the Tech ROTC staff, Drs. D. M. Wiggins and E. N. Jones, Mr. Frank Junell and Deans R. C. Goodwin, W. L. Stangel, Haskell Taylor and O. V. Adams.

MRS. R. O. BROWN

Brown-Flynn Vows Read

Miss Patsy Ann Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Flynn, 2008 Twenty-seventh, became the bride of Robert O. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown, 3503 Twenty-seventh, in a single ring ceremony read Friday morning in the Broadway Church of Christ.

Dr. M. Norvel Young officiated. The church was decorated with roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gray gabardine suit with black accessories, and a white picture hat. Her flowers were gardenias.

Miss Tommye Jean Flynn attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a melon suit with black accessories. Miss Peggy Jenkins was bridesmaid.

Duane Scott served as best man.

A reception for members of the wedding party in the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Anna Musgrove and Mrs. Mae Flynn, grandmothers of the bride. The serving table was laid with a Queen Anne's lace cloth and held an arrangement of roses.

The bride is a student of Lubbock High school, where she is a member of Las Cresas club. The bridegroom is a Lubbock High school graduate and a student of Texas Tech. They expect to graduate from school, and the bridegroom will be employed at the Texas Pumice Block plant.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home in an apartment at 3503 Twenty-seventh.

TO REVIEW

Mrs. John W. Lynch will review, "Point of No Return," (J. P. Marquand) at a meeting of First Christian church Women's Council scheduled for 3 p. m. Monday at the church.

The Woman's Angle
By Ellen Miller

VACATIONS in various sections of the country require different wardrobes, but a few basic items can be listed that will be needed wherever the traveler goes.

Women should always take a large purse, the larger the better, to keep tickets, lipsticks, and other items, and to serve as a catch-all on shopping trips. A raincoat or water-repellent topcoat should also be listed as a "must."

Other essentials for comfort on long trips are bedroom slippers, sufficient pajamas or nightgowns, slips and underwear of fabrics that require little or no ironing.

Basic items for any travel wardrobe are changes of blouses, scarves and other accessories, plus simple, becoming hats and comfortable shoes. Generally, women find a tailored suit,—wool in winter, tropical weave in summer—practical for daytime wear in any city in the world.

DOGS GO TOO

Every dog has its day, and vacationers frequently want to take their dogs with them on trips.

An unusual directory that lists hotels and motor courts which accepts guests with dogs has been prepared by the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York City. This edition lists more than 1600 stopping places all over the country where dogs are welcome, and also lists restrictions some places place on guest with dogs.

The booklet suggests travelers include in their luggage a small kit or suitcase with the dog's necessities. A blanket or cushion for the dog to sleep on should be brought along—hotel managers resent having their good blankets and bed pillows used for dog beds. Of course any traveling dog should have an identification tag on his collar, giving the owner's full name and permanent address. The pamphlet may be obtained from the foregoing address for a dime.

To make your home a place you'll be glad to come back to after vacation, leave it clean—wash the dishes, sweep the floors, empty the trash and make up the beds. And turn the refrigerator down low.

The Lubbock Police department has a very public-spirited service for vacationers. If you notify the department when you are leaving on vacation, a patrol car will take regular spins by your house to pick up papers, circulars and other items that give a house that empty look so welcoming to burglars. The vacationer should, of course, ask that deliveries be stopped on milk.

It's a good idea to leave word with the neighbors where you are going and when you will be back—this in case your long lost Aunt Hattie or World War I buddy stops by to see you while you are gone.

Answering Question Part Of Job

Mrs. Gibson Is Secretary To Third Tech President

By ELLEN MILLER
Of The Woman's Staff

SEVERAL days ago a man with a deep Southern accent called the office of Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Texas Tech president, and insisted on talking with that executive.

Because Dr. Wiggins was in conference, his secretary, Mrs. Anna Burt Gibson asked if she could help the caller.

After a bit of hesitation, he confided that he was writing a book, and wanted to know if he should refer to a woman clerk as a "clerkess."

And, Mrs. Gibson, without blinking an eye, told him the answer, because answering unusual questions is a frequent duty of her job.

Duties Are Varied

Secretary to the past three Texas Tech presidents, Mrs. Gibson is probably as nearly indispensable to her employers as any "Girl Friday" in town. She became secretary to Dr. Clifford B. Jones in 1942, after having worked previously with the registrar and dean of home economics. When Dr. Jones resigned in 1944, Mrs. Gibson continued on in her position with Dr. W. M. Whyburn, and is remaining with Dr. Wiggins.

Mrs. Gibson's career is not all taking dictation and typing. Factors that make her most valuable are her acquaintance with the people who frequently come to see the college presidents, her familiarity with the office files that enable her to find letters and papers filed years before, and her store of knowledge about college history—all helpful information to an incoming president.

And she needs to know a multitude of details, such as which of the president's visitors want to talk while waiting for their appointment times and which do not. Mrs. Gibson studies the college catalogue annually to learn which of the several hundred faculty members have received Ph. D. degrees, so she can address them properly. She considers it a major breach of etiquette to call a professor "Mister," if he is entitled to be called, "Doctor."

Limit To Calls

Although every president of the college has kept his doors open to anyone wishing to see him, there is a limit to the number of callers who can see him in one day. So, it falls to Mrs. Gibson at busy times to make an effort to refer visitors to other offices where they can receive wanted information faster. And this sometimes requires tact . . . a few people think the president is the only person who can give official information, even on so routine a matter as registration.

Dr. Whyburn was well known as a mathemetician, and Mrs. Gibson recalls that during his regime the office frequently received calls from students who just had to see him at once on an "emergency." Their urgent need would often turn out to be that they needed help with their algebra . . . but the president would see them if he had time.

Students and faculty members alike bring their problems to Dr. Wiggins, and his assistant, Frank Junell. Mrs. Gibson often assists in preparing personal papers and other needed services.

So, of course, her work keeps her busy, and she never knows when it will require her to work late into the night. But she says she loves it. Several years ago, she tried a position in a downtown office, but she said she never could feel at home, so after about a month she resigned and returned to the college.

And there she will probably stay, proving to a succession of presidents that a man's best friend is his secretary.

Mrs. Mills Is Lecturer

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mills returned home Friday from Clovis, N. M., where Mrs. Mills had presented an illustrated lecture on "Colonial Williamsburg" for the Woman's Antique club. After the talk, the group discussed Early American glassware, asking Mrs. Mills questions about her collection.

Miss Sandra Pawol, accompanied by Corrine Hines, sang two numbers before the lecture.

Other guests at the meeting were James H. Goodman who accompanied the Mills to Clovis and Mrs. Goodman's niece, Mrs. Jack Helms of Clovis. The Mills were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merrill while in New Mexico.

Service Is At Church

In a single ring ceremony read Saturday afternoon in the College Avenue Baptist church, Miss Ellen Ruth Davis became the bride of Jack Owen Coats. Rev. Taylor North officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gladys Davis of Amherst, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and and Mrs. O W. Coats, 1622 Thirteenth.

Vows were exchanged before a background of palm and baskets of white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her brother ,the bride wore a white street-length dress of summer weight wool, with white accessories. She carried a white Bible, topped with a shower corsage of white roses.

Miss Christine Davis of Amherst attended the bride as maid of honor, wearing a blue crepe dress with black and white accessories, and a white iris corsage.

Guests From Out Of Town

Al Kendrick of Route 5, Lubbock, served as best man.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Parents of the bride and bridegroom assisted the couple in receiving Miss Christine Hollyfield served cake and Mrs. Fred Kelly poured punch. Miss Maud Dee Skeen registered guests. The home was decorated with cut spring flowers.

Guests attended from Amherst, Dallas, Waco, Abilene, Littlefield, Plainview and Jayton.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride chose a navy blue skirt with white accessories, and a rosebud corsage. The couple will be at home at 1622-B Thirteenth Monday.

The bride is a graduate of Draughon's Business college, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Texas Technological college. He is employed by Continental Engineers, and the bride works for Continental Oil company.

It is said that an electric refrigerator has 1,397 parts.

Marriage Is Announced

Country Homes To Be Shown On Club Tour

Tours to country homes in Lubbock county will be made Monday and Tuesday by Home Demonstration club women of District 2 and anyone else wishing to go.

Groups will leave the extension office at 1320 Ave. Q at 10 a. m. Monday and Tuesday, said Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent.

Two tours of county homes were conducted last fall. Monday and Tuesday tours have been scheduled so visitors from throughout the district may go.

Castro, Swisher, Hale, Floyd, Lamb and Bailey counties are to be represented on the Monday tour, and Cochran, Hockley, Terry, Yoakum, Lynn, Garza, Dawson and Gaines counties are to be represented on the Tuesday tour.

Accompanying the group will be Miss Kate Adele Hill, district agent, with headquarters in Lubbock, Mrs. Bernice Claytor, specialist in home management with headquarters at College Station; Miss Pratt; Lewis Dawsons of Plainview, of the state Soil Conservation service board, and others.

After leaving the extension office Monday morning, the group will go to North College, where the cut-off road from U. S. Highway 87 meets U. S. Highway 84, arriving at that point at 10:10 a. m., and from there will proceed to visits at the S. H. Robinson home at 10:30 a. m. and the E. B. Shipp home at 11:30 a. m., then will start toward Lubbock, stopping at 12:30 p. m. to eat lunch. The group then will go through Lubbock and eastward from Lubbock, leaving the highway to visit homes of Irvin Grimes at 1:30 p. m.; D. T. Sisk, at 2:15 p. m., and Floyd Blankenship, at 3 p. m.

After leaving the extension office Tuesday morning, the group will go to the fork of U. S. highways 87 and 84 on South Ave. H, arriving there at 10:10 a. m., and will continue down highway 84 toward Slaton to begin the tour. Homes to be visited include the R. B. Boyd home, at 10:30 a. m.; Edwin Forrest home at 11:30 a. m.; F. H. Griffin home, at 1:30 p. m.; E. R. Evans home, at 2:45 p. m., and George Hindman house, at 3:45 p. m. The group will stop beside the road for lunch at 12:40 p. m.

Tech Members Of Delta Sigma Pi Install Chapter

Twenty-three members of Texas Tech Beta Upsilon chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, international honorary business administration and commerce fraernity are in Albuquerque this weekend to install the Gamma Theta chapter of the fraternity at the University of New Mexico. Dr. Howard E. Golden, sponsor of the local chapter accompanied the group.

Members making the trip were Donald Cade, Coke Toliver, Gordon Spencer, Wendell Wagley, Wayne Lee, Ed Smith, James Bowen, Elmer Austin, Raymond Hall, Keith Schier, Joe Seay, Louis Kiker, Welton Duavant, Bill Davis, Billy Sheats, E. C. Grimm, Gale Rogers, John Wells, C. D. Wickson, Jimmy Hall, Wilbert Hart, Francis Brockma" and Bill Teuton.

Reports Are Given At Council Meeting

The Yoakum County Home Demonstration Council met in regular session Monday at the courthouse in Plains.

The chairman, Mrs. C. A. Prewitt, presided and Mrs. B. J. Smith acted as secretary. Reports from the five clubs were given. Mrs. Geo. Buland, county T H. D. A. chairman gave a report on the Texas Home Demonstration Association District meeting held at Floydada in April.

Reading certificates were handed out for Mrs. L. D. Garrett, Mrs. F. M. Ellington, Mrs. L. H. Walker, Mrs. R. Chambliss, Mrs. H. M. Banta, Mrs. H. L. Scown, Mrs. N. L. Bingham, Mrs. Tom Barron, Mrs. B. J. Smith and Mrs. Barnett.

Miss Ozella Hunt, County home demonstration agent, announced that a tour of Lubbock County homes would be made, Tuesday, May 17.

Mr. Louis Dawkins, soil conservation field worker, spoke to the council on soil conservation.

Fourteen members attended the meeting.

Pattern Alteration Is Discussion Topic

When members of Monroe Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. George Hunter Thursday, Miss Clara Pratt gave a demonstration on checking dress patterns.

Miss Pratt explained, "Make any alteration within the pattern rather than on the outside. If a blouse pattern is too long, fold a tuck in it below the armhole line to make it short enough."

Eight members measured and checked patterns at the meeting.

May 26, the club will meet with Mrs. J. S. Rankin for a demonstration on cutting out a dress.

New Fashions For Small Fry Will Follow Trimness, Boldness Of Mothers, Fathers

By MARGARET WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 14. — The small fry will go for the new style trends in a big way this fall.

Little girls—like their mothers—will come out in trim, tailored clothes, sloping shoulder lines and slim silhouettes.

Little boys—like their fathers—will swagger in bold color contrasts, broad shoulder lines and double-breasted suits.

In fact, as one designer says: "Mothers will have a 'new look,' fathers a 'bold look,' but the children will have the real, "grown-up look' this year."

Sweaters Emphasized

Pauline Porter, designer of tots-to-teen fashions for over 20 years, believes the new styles will suit youngsters as well as adults—if not more.

"Children are happiest when they express themselves," she says "They all want to look grown-up these days and they can—without looking old."

The new fall sweaters, important with casual clothes this year, will make a big hit with the miniature set.

Girls, from toddlers up, will sport fine cardigans that match solid-color or tweed skirts perfectly. Boys will imitate the "bold look" in pastel pull-overs that contrast sharply with dark pants.

Both will be happy in "brother and sister" sets just as adults may enjoy twin sweaters promoted as "sweetheart sets!"

Blouses Important

Blouses will be more important than ever in girls' wardrobes—a follow-up, Miss Porter says, of the mother trend. Some will even feature modified plunging necklines. And with them, girls will wear grown-up ascots with animal trinkets.

Boys will sport manly long-sleeved shirts in the new fall colors: yellow, blue and green. The "bold look" will be carried out with commando collars with wide stitching. Matching hankies will come in boys' as well as men's sizes.

"But suits will be the big things for children along with adults," Miss Porter says enthusiastically.

Imported fabrics such as fine tweeds, authentic clan plaids and wool jerseys will return to the fashion picture this fall.

Girls, suits will come with boxy jackets or more sophisticated fitted ones. Many will be carbon copies of those made for women. Boys will wear double-breasted suits, some with youthful brass buttons.

Tams Coming Back

Over the suits, boys and girls will wear coats fashioned along the lines of grown-up ones. Boys will wear loose-fitting overcoats. Girls will wear semi-full, slim silhouette coats with plenty of movement and the accent on the back detail.

Fabrics will be tweeds, fleece, covert and this fall's popular camel hair.

Children's hats this fall also will follow grown-up fashions, Miss Porter says. Small hats will be in style and girls again will wear beanies, berets, sailors and tams. Boys will stick to caps.

Like the grown-ups,' handbags will come in novel shapes for girls this fall—except that they'll be more novel. Barrels and rums, for instance.

And, there'll be one more deviation from grown-up styles that children won't mind at all!

Budding Buffalo Bills and Calamity Janes will ride the range again.

Any little tyke is likely to turn up in a cowboy suit, a cowboy hat, a neckerchief, metal spurs, lasso, holster and gun cocked for . . . ki-yi-yippe!

Coffee And Luncheon Honor Ann Nell Boyd

In the W. L. Bradshaw home at 2514 Twentieth this morning from 9 until 10:30 o'clock, a coffee will be given to continue a pre-bridal party series for Miss Ann Nell Boyd. Miss Boyd and Dan Alford are to be married Saturday, June 4.

Hostesses are to be Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. S. C. Parnell, Miss Gladys Ruth Parnell and Miss Rebecca Bradshaw.

In the receiving line will be Mrs. Bradshaw, Miss Boyd, her mother, Mrs. L. C. Boyd, the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. J. L. Alford of Waco, and the honoree's sister, Miss Imogene Boyd.

Members of the houseparty are Mesdames A. L. Hawkins, jr., Kell Wiley, Larry Copenhaver and Misses Carlyne York and Sara Woods. The honoree will be presented a hostess gift.

The refreshment table will be decorated with yellow and purple iris and pansies.

A luncheon for Miss Boyd was given Thursday at the E. F. Alford home, Levelland road, by Mesdames Alford, J. W. Ross, Howard Alford and John Alford. Spring flowers and turquoise candles decorated the luncheon tables in the dining and living rooms.

Places were laid for Mesdames Ralph Quest, Lindsay Telford, Glenn James, James Logan, R. H. Fulton, A. P. Williams of Plainview, H. G. Lawson, J. W. Clark, B. W. Lawson, Emmett Kerr, A. L. Cone, L. C. Boyd, J. L. Alford, Bill Cook, Joe Telford, Orville Bailey, and Misses Carlyne York and Imogene Boyd.

A mother-daughter luncheon honoring the bride-to-be is planned for Tuesday at 1 p. m. by Mrs. A. L. Cone and Mrs. Bill Cook. The entertainment will be given in Colonial room of Hilton hotel.

Tuesday night at 7:45 o'clock, a coke party is to be given for Miss Boyd by Mrs. Kell Wiley at her home at 2512 Twentieth.

John Workman, of Timaru, New Zealand, died on his 100th birthday, leaving sons aged 68 and 74.

Layette Shower Given Saturday

Mesdames Wayne Bain, Tommy Vallas, jr., and Jimmy Williams gave a layette shower for Mrs. Ernest L. Tarkenton Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Anna Burt Gibson at 2210 Twenty-second.

The refreshment table was decorated with an arrangement of roses centered with pink and blue plastic ducks. Dry ice foamed around the flowers.

Judy Ann Ellis, dressed in a blue satin costume with organdy wings, presented the gifts to the honoree.

Guests were Mesdames Dave Alkire, A. R. Golding, jr., Clifton Riek, Pete Miller, Bill Anderson, L. W. Tarkenton, Ernest Tarkenton, Raymond Tarkenton, Edith Loveless, Marvin Dobbins, T. S. Cranford, jr., C. N. McGhee, Bill Casstevens, John Waddell, Jimmy Griswold, and Misses Cecile Butler, Margaret West, Frances Hackfield, Joan Cobb, Dixie McGehee, Bobby Anne Tubbs and Geneva McLain.

PEO Chapter Plans Covered Dish Lunch

A covered dish luncheon, the final event of the club year for AK chapter, PEO Sisterhood, was planned at a Friday afternoon meeting of the organization held in the home of Mrs. Ruel Martin. Mrs. J. M. Moore was assisting hostess.

Twenty-four persons attended the meeting at which Mrs. J. O. Cade presided.

The luncheon will be Friday, May 27, at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. A. B. Cunningham.

DAUGHTER BORN

A daughter, Teresa Jean, was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Robert Teasdale of Austin, formerly of Lubbock, Tuesday in Austin, according to word received here this week. Mrs. Teasdale was Mary Louise McDonald.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Designed to lighten the load on women's feet, summer shoes for casual wear offer a minimum of leather a maximum of strappings.

Feet are elevated for cooler comfort by moderate platforms. Over many platforms, straps of eyeleted leather swirl like lace. An example of such footwear is seen on the girl picknicker (upper right), whose sandals of multicolored bucko are airily strapped over crepe platform soles.

The girls lolling in the boat (lower right), wears wedgies of half natural linen, half brown calf. Linen is slashed into the calf to lift the burden of leather and to create a chic scalloped effect across the vamp of the shoe which is held firmly to the foot by an instep strap.

Summer weight tan suede contributes its light touch and smart finish to moccasin-type loafers like those shown (lower left). These typify the styling which cuts shoes low at the sides, and high at the back, where looped tabs along with all-around white stitching add a fillip to fashion.

The shoe which is marching into the summer scene with the airiest tread of all is shown (upper left). Made of natural leather straps and laces, this sandal is reminiscent of those worn by ancient Roman senators. These, as their modern counterparts show, were a combination of leather straps that crossed the feet, leather strings that crossed the ankles and legs.

Organ Recital Is Set This Afternoon

Miss Geraldine Frazier will be presented in an organ recital at 4 p. m. today in the First Methodist church, by the music department of Texas Technological college.

Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, discussed dressmaking, suggested that needed alterations be made to the pattern before a garment is cut.

The meeting was attended by 12 members and two guests, Mrs. E. M. Dorman and Miss Elizabeth Elliott. Next meeting wil be in the home of Mrs. Claude Oglesby at 2 p. m. May 22.

Chapter Will Be Installed

Llano Estacado chapter of International Travel Study club, Inc., will be installed in a ceremony to be conducted by Mrs. L. D. Marshall Tuesday night at a 6:30 o'clock dinner to be given at Hector's. New officers of the chapter are to be installed by Mrs. Marshall, also.

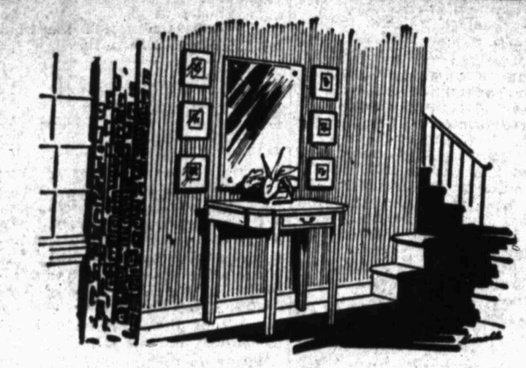

Mrs. William G. Dingus will discuss the Hawaiian islands and show pictures she made on a visit there.

Reservations are to be made by calling Mrs. E. L. Lansford, 7054, or Mrs. Dewey Malone, 2-3720.

SPEAKING OF Furniture

By BILL CASSTEVENS

WALL DECORATION

A picture, no matter how beautiful and expensive, is just another picture if not properly placed. The same thing applies to mirrors and other wall accessories. Pictures that "don't belong" will throw an otherwise perfect room completely off balance.

In the above illustration, for example, it is easy to see what would have happened if only the mirror were used . . . it would completely dwarf the fragile drawer table. These two extremes have been brought into perfect harmony by the attractive arrangement of small prints, which tends to fuse and unify the group.

Of course, the picture itself plays an important part in any grouping. If its theme or design is not satisfactory, it will often lead the eye away. But this is easily corrected through the use of accessories. If, for instance, you are using profile portraits they should be hung facing each other.

Further emphasis may be secured by leaving ample free space around a picture or by mounting it on an over-sized mat. A clever lighting arrangement may also be used to advantage.

If you have a decorating problem you can't solve, please feel free to stop in and consult us . . . there is no charge.

Reserve Cuffs Desirable For Smart Dresses

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

A good imitative act which will win all-around applause is the one of copying the white pique touches that come with your navy blue dress or suit.

Making yourself a second set of these white accents will give you a quicker change from soiled to immaculately fresh collar and cuffs. Having a set of neckwear in reserve will also prove to be a boon when you haven't time to launder the original set.

To copy the white touches which give your dark dress its sparkle, buy the amount of fabric needed and use the original set as your pattern. Even the women who is a novice with the needle will not encounter any difficulty in cutting and sewing accessories as simple to make as a crisply tailored pique ascot or collar and a pair of matching cuffs.

Douglas Blackburn To Sing Tuesday

Elton Plowman will present Patti Reynolds and Douglas Blackburn in a joint voice recital Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at Seaman Hall. Mr. Blackburn, of Lubbock, is a senior electrical engineering student at Texas Technological college, and Miss Reynolds, of Wink, is a freshman at the college.

Mr. Blackburn's numbers will be: The Lotusbloom (Schumann); Du bist die Ruh (Schubert); Open Thy Blue Eyes (Massenet); Vainement, ma bien-aimee Le Roi d'y's (Lalo); Slow Horses Slow (Salcowicz); and The Last Song (Rogers). He and Miss Reynolds will sing I'll See You Again (Coward) and Lover Come Back to Me (Romberg). Miss Reynolds selections are to be Lasciatemi morire (Monteverde); Danza danza fanciulla gentle (Durante); Voi che sapete, Le Nozze Di Figaro (Mozart); Si mi chiamano Mimi La Boheme (Puccini); A Spirit Flower (Campbell-Tipton); Kashmiri Song (Woodforde-Finden); and The Night Has a Thousand Eyes (Hageman).

Gladys Hall Plowman will be at the piano.

Miss Evelyn Prater Will Marry June 1

Airline Given Chance To Present CAB Case

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—A "full opportunity" for Trans-Texas Airways to present its case for continued operations has been promised by the Civil Aeronautics board.

The board has stated it denied a Trans-Texas petition that the CAB immediately rescind its public notice that it proposes to permit the airway's three-year certificate to expire May 13, 1950.

The proposed action was announced by the board April 4 in connection with steps it is taking to revise the entire air route pattern of the nation.

The board said at the time that the three-year certificates of Southwest Airways of San Francisco and Pioneer Airlines of Houston would be extended for another five years, and that some of the Trans-Texas routes would be transferred to Pioneer.

The board said that it is planning full hearings this fall at which Trans-Texas "will be able to submit traffic and financial results based on nearly two years of operating experience, and to demonstrate errors in the board's tentative conclusions."

The announcement noted that Trans-Texas, Pioneer, and Continental airlines are all applying for authority to serve Pecos, and said that no decision will be announced on service to Pecos until after the hearings on Trans-Texas' future operations.

Berlin Newspaper Is Suspended For Printing Novel On Russian

BERLIN, May 14 (AP) — "In the Shadow of Love" is the title of a novel about Russia's No. 1 composer, Peter Tschaikovsky. The Russian-licensed Berlin newspaper "Der Morgen", organ of the rightist Liberal Democrats, started printing this novel one day. Next morning there was no "Morgen." It had been seized by the Russians.

The next edition of the paper carried the following notice to the readers:

"We are informed that the novel contains parts giving an entirely false picture of the great composer Tschaikovsky. For this reason we have cancelled its publication."

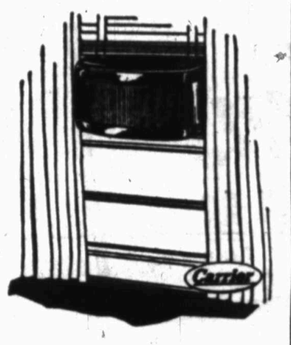

One West Berlin newspaper then pointed out that this novel depicted Tschaikovsky as selling his art for money which he accepted from a "capitalistic aristocrat" of Czarist Russia.

"And he even described this state as sound and practical," it said.

"In addition," remarked the newspaper, "the novel says that Tschaikovsky was the son of capitalistic parents. As such, were he alive today, he would not even be admitted to study in our most progressive (the Russian) zone."

Precautions Are Taken Against Suicide Of Child Psychologist

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 14 (AP)—Prison authorities said today they are taking special precautions against any suicide attempt by a pretty 30-year-old child psychologist charged with murder in the fatal beating of her 15-month-old son.

Mrs. Martha Woodson Kalwaic is lodged in the women's detention home here. She was arrested two days ago at nearby Hazelton and accused of murder in the death of her son, Henry Charles.

Four Lawyers Retained

Mrs. Kalwaic, a choir singer at Hazelton, was visited by the pastor of her church yesterday as well as by two of the four lawyers retained by her husband, Dr. Henry J. Kalwaic, a prominent dentist.

Police Chief Steve Havrilla of Hazelton said the woman admitted beating her son because she feared he might be developing a "Freudian complex."

She said, Havrilla related, that she beat Henry because he was jealous of Mrs. Kalwaic's attentions to Karen, his two and one-half-year-old sister.

Karen was taken away from her home and is staying with relatives, Dr. Walwaic said. His mother, Mrs. Helen Kalwaic of Philedelphia, is president of the Union of Polish Women of America.

Dr. L. S. Reese, coroner who examined the dead child's body, said it was "in the worst condition I have experienced in 10 years as coroner."

Meanwhile at Lynchburg, Va., Charles W. Woodson, father of Mrs. Kalwaic, was grief-stricken at the news. He is clerk of Campbell county's circuit court there.

"If she's sane, she didn't intend to do it," he told reporters. "She loved him. We haven't seen her in several months, but we have been getting letters from her. . . . She seemed perfectly all right."

Discussing reports that his daughter is expecting another child "very shortly," Woodson said: "from a medical viewpoint, that might possibly have had something to do with her actions."

Son Born To 5-Year-Old Girl Celebrates Tenth Birthday; Thinks Mother Is Sister

LIMA, Peru, May 15. (AP)—Little Gerardo Medida and the mother who gave birth when she was only five years and eight months old, celebrated his tenth birthday Saturday.

Medical science was amazed when on Mothers Day, May 14, 1939, Dr. Gerardo Losada performed an operation delivering a son from a mother not much beyond babyhood herself.

Today they are sturdy, healthy children, leading the normal, poverty stricken lives of a million others on the western Andean slopes.

Attends Mother's School

The son's half-breed grandfather has taught him to herd goats, but the child also attends the same school as his mother, Lina Medina, now nearly 16 years old.

Lina now knows that the boy is her son, and not a brother, as he first had told her. The boy, however, believes she is his sister.

Dr. Losada, who saved both mother and son with a cesarian operation, is far from popular with the children's grandparents. He says they resent the fact he overruled their desire to send the children abroad for exhibition, hoping to reap a fortune from those who would pay to see.

It was the doctor who convinced authorities that the trip should not be allowed.

Losada, now owner of a swank clinic, said he plans some day to write a book about the case, and that he can not understand why it did not draw sustained interest from the medical profession abroad.

He said the child-mother is sensitive about the case, and weeps if people question her about it.

The birthday observance will not disturb the meek life of the little goat herd, who lives in his grandparents' hut at the little Andean village of Ticrapo, south of here. It is school as usual in the morning, but work among the goats in the afternoon, when school closes.

Soviet Union 'Young Pioneers' Organization Is Fast Growing

MOSCOW, May 14 (AP) — The Young Pioneers' organization — which includes children from 10 to 16 — now has over 13,000,000 members. This is the largest membership in the history of the organization. The figure was announced at the recent Komsomol congress in Moscow.

The full name is "The Children's Communist Organization of Young Pioneers in the Name of Comrade Lenin." Ten years ago it had slightly over 6,000,000 members.

The Pioneers are open to children of all classes, workers, peasant and intellectuals. The boy or girl becomes a member by vote of the group and by taking the solemn pledge, or promise. It is:

"I, a Young Pioneer of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, in the presence of my comrades, solemnly promise that I shall stand steadfastly for the cause of the working class in its struggle for liberation of the workers and peasants of the whole world. I shall honestly and constantly carry out the precepts of Ilich (Lenin), the laws and customs of the Young Pioneers."

Republican Chairman Claims Demos Hiding Files On Subversives

PHILADELPHIA, May 14. (AP)—Rep. Hugh D. Scott, jr., (D-Pa.) chairman of the Republican national committee, says the Democrats are hiding the files on "subversive" federal employes.

"There is no way a Republican can get at the files on these people," Scott asserted Friday night, "because the Republicans are in the minority.

"An executive order forbids any cabinet member to show his papers to any congressional committee without presidential approval."

Scott spoke at La Salle college and urged college students to take an active part in politics or else a "government of indifference, by the ignorant, for the benefit of insiders, will take you to the cleaners."

He said the Truman administration is obstructing the removal of "subversive elements" in the government. He added:

"There is no doubt but there are at least 20 persons in the State department today who are unsafe because of their background.

"And if that is so in the State department and we know it was recently true in the Justice department, this infiltration will grow unless we are ever on the alert."

Third 'Teddy' Starts Political Life 'Strictly On Own Merits'

BY JOHN PAGET
INS Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 14 — A new Teddy Roosevelt has set out on a public service career, determined to "stand or fall on my own merits — holding on to no man's shirt tail."

Theodore III, grandson of the famed "T. R.," took his first big step up the ladder when he was called from a Philadelphia investment house to become Secretary of Commerce for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

At 35, he is one of the youngest officials of cabinet rank in the 159-year history of the state.

Fully cognizant of the drama of his rich family tradition, young Roosevelt is nevertheless determined not to capitalize on it, to be recognized for his own accomplishments.

"Stand On Own Merits"

"I'll stand or fall upon my own merits, as anybody does," he emphasizes.

The $15,000 a year secretaryship is his first taste of public life. He was chosen for the post by Gov. James H. Duff who was active on behalf of the first "T. R." in the Bull Moose political campaign of 1912.

Up to the time he moved from his quiet Philadelphia desk into an ornate office at the state capitol in Harrisburg, Teddy III showed no desire for public service.

His famed grandfather, incidentally, dedicated the capitol building group 43 years ago. One of the first things young Roosevelt did upon arriving at his office was to go to the rotunda of the main building and stand on the plaque where the first "T. R." made his dedication address.

Denies GOP Affiliation

Now that he is in public life a leading figure in state Republican ranks, he probably will take a greater interest in politics.

"I was a little leery of it before because I've seen things that have happened to other people," he says without further explanation.

Young Roosevelt denies affiliation with any faction in the Pennsylvanian GOP but it is doubtful if Governor Duff would have appointed him if he were allied with the Conservatives.

Roosevelt resembles his father, Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, who died in action with the Fourth Infantry division during the invasion of Normandy in World War II.

He has the deepest affection for his father and admits being flattered when told of the resemblance. He fondly recalls that his father was a good all-round athlete, a fine public servant with a great capacity for work and a soldier who loved his country.

Father Equal To Teddy

He says his father was the equal of his grandfather "in all respects." Young Roosevelt has only the faintest recollection of the first "T. R."

He was four and one half years old when the colonel died.

He tells the story in the manner of a man who relates it to satisfy those persons who always inquire.

"I learned mostly about grandfather from history and the family," he says.

"Really, all I can remember is him carrying me on his shoulder down to see the pigs on our Oyster Bay place. When he suggested putting me down in the middle of the pen it quite unnerved me and I yelled. He roared with laughter."

Like his father, he affects the close-cropped hair style often identified with the first "T. R."

Served In Navy

Roosevelt served as a ground officer in Naval aviation during World War II with stations at Jacksonville, Fla., and Oahu, Hawaii. After four years he retired to the reserve with the rank of lieutenant-commander.

The Harvard-educated Roosevelt is married to the former Anne Babcock, of Louisville, Ky., and they have a six and one-half year old son whom he calls "T. R. Four." The family lives near Villanova.

Roosevelt professes little interest in professional politics but gives the impression of knowing more than he is ready to admit.

It is significant to some that his wife was an alternate delegate to the Republican national convention in 1948 and was pledged to Duff to stand with him to the end on what proved to be an unsuccessful fight to block the nomination of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as the party's standard-bearer.

British Guiana is exporting more gold, diamonds and rum.

TO SPEAK AT ROTARY — Will Wilson, above, district attorney of Dallas county, will talk on the need for modern criminal laws at the luncheon program of the Lubbock Rotary club Wednesday noon at the Hilton hotel, Irving L. Jones, president, announced Saturday. Wilson, who has caused much statewide comment by his relentless prosecution of racketeers and professional gamblers in Dallas county, has been appointed chairman of a steering committee of the State Bar of Texas to help bring about badly needed changes in our old criminal laws. He is the immediate past president of the District and County Attorneys Association of Texas.

Heavy rains damaged construction on Santa Teresa dam project, in the Altar district of Nogales, Mexico, and showed that work thus far done was unsatisfactory, necessitating further study by engineers.

Bank Boasts Cigars Made Back In 1833

NEW YORK, May 14 (U.P.) — The Cigar Institute of America's claim that it owned the world's oldest cigar went up in smoke when the Greenwich Savings Bank revealed it had two "segars" that had been preserved since 1833.

The CIA stogie was dated 1866.

Officials of the bank explained that the cigars in its possession were planted in the cornerstone of their first building by a whimsical auditor named John Groshen.

Groshen left a note with the cigars that said:

"To the curious of the 21st century: I have left in the box some segars as I am fond of them. Pray smoke them and let me know how you like them when we meet."

The bank's first building was demolished in 1928, the box removed and placed in a damp vault in the new building.

At Britain's National Safety Congress it was suggested that pedestrians carry bells with them and ring them when they want to cross the road.

Tahoka Man Takes Partnership In Lubbock Auction Company

Frank Parris, Tahoka farmer-rancher, has become a partner and will be general manager of Lubbock Auction and Commission company at 1219 Ave. D, it was announced Saturday.

Other partners are Claude Keeton, J. M. Mullins and Henry Lawson. The former partnership, in which the three each had a one-third interest, was dissolved and the new partnership formed simultaneously with each partner taking a one-fourth interest.

Mr. Parris is a geologist by training and a native of Charleston, W. Va. He first moved to the South Plains in 1942 and began farming and ranching operations in 1943, establishing his home at Tahoka.

At present his family will remain at Tahoka, but later on may move to Lubbock.

On a doctor's prescription from, Ramcharan, 43, an Indian in Durban, South Africa, wrote his will, saying: "I know this is my last will; I am dying so I bequeath everything to my wife"—and thus disposed of $11,600.

Artists at an exhibition of pictures in Rome recently offered their works for sale by barter, accepting hams, suits and dress lengths in exchange for modern art.

South Plains Oil Spotlight On Gaines County; Devonian Prospects Developed By Deep Wildcat In Northwest Area

Hot spot on the South Plains oil front over the past week was Gaines county. The area showed prospects of a new discovery along with further development of a flowing strike and extensions to proven production.

Devonian prospects have developed at Pacific Western Oil Corporation No. 1 Oil Development Company fee, deep wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields in Northwest Gaines county.

The venture cored from 11,535 feet to 11,443 feet and recovered chunks of lime showing fluorescence and porosity. Soft coring was reported, but no soft material was recovered. It was believed lost from the core. Total recovery was estimated at eight feet.

A core then was cut at 11,553-571 feet, recovering 11 feet of dark gray, dense dolomite. Soft material was also lost from this core.

Tests Are Planned

As the investigations were not complete due to lost material, the full extent of discovery signs has not been determined. However, tests are to be made of the formation.

Operator was running electric log surveys prior to setting pipe on last report. Previous to coring, drillstem tests were attempted, but were not successful due to packer failure.

This development is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

More Pennsylvanian pay section has been logged at Ralph Lowe No. 1 Cunningham-Shell, discovery from that formation in the northwest edge of the Doss field of South-Central Gaines county.

A four-hour drillstem test at 9,241-84 feet recovered 150 feet of oil and gas cut mud and 300 feet of clean oil.

Drilling ahead to 9,307 feet, the venture drillstem tested again for five hours with packer at 9,242 feet. Recovery was 225 feet of drilling mud, 225 feet of oil and gas cut mud and 50 feet of clean oil. No water has developed.

This prospector, 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 4, block A-24, psl survey, was drilling ahead from 9,506 feet in lime and shale with no additional tests. It is one-half mile from the nearest Clear Fork-Permian production in the Doss field.

Drillstem Test Run

A formation thought to be upper Ellenburger has made water for Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 15 American Warehouse, deep wildcat in the shallow Cedar Lake area of Northeast Gaines county.

The prospector drillstem tested for two hours at 12,988-13,053 feet, using a 1,800-foot water blanket. Recovery was 9,429 feet of sulphur water, with no signs of oil or gas.

The venture was drilling ahead from 13,157 feet in lime.

It is 1,650 feet from south and west lines of section 5, block H, D&W survey.

An extension has been developed to the San Andres-Permian production of the West Seminole field in West-Central Gaines county.

It is at Cities Service Oil Company No. 1 Northrup, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 35, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Gas Is Shown

The prospector drillstem tested in the San Andres at 5,042-5,140 feet, showing gas in five minutes. Oil flowed to tanks for two hours. The first hour was gauged for 38 barrels of oil and the second hour for 35 barrels.

More hole was made to 5,140 feet and the well again flowed oil in commercial quantities on a drillstem test. Operator has set a string of 5½-inch casing at 5,059 feet and was last reported picking up tubing to drill plug and test.

Also in this area, an outpost was staked to the north Riley field by Los Nietos and Honolulu Oil Corporation as their No. 1-A M. S. Doss.

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 366, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, about 12 miles west of Seminole.

Projected depth is 7,500 feet with rotary tools, starting by May 16.

Extension Is Completed

Superior Oil Company has completed an extension to the West Seminole field of west-central Gaines county at its No. 1 P. G. Northrup, 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from south lines of the lease in section 3555, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Flowing 12 hours through a 20/64-inch choke, the well was completed for 227.2 barrels of 34.1 gravity oil per day. Gas-oil ratio was 790-1. Total fluid developed was cut three-tenths of one per cent water.

Production was natural from the open hole zone at 5,050-5,147 feet.

An attempt to extend Glorieta-Permian production from a recent discovery in south-central Gaines county apparently has failed at Anderson-Pritchard Oil Corporation No. 1 Morton, stepout to The Texas Company No. 1 Wharton discovery.

After cementing 5½-inch casing at 5,912 feet, the venture drilled into the pay. Top of the Glorieta lime was called on 5,900 feet. Hole was made to 6,015 feet, then tests began.

Swabbing natural with packer at 5,972 feet recovered six barrels of oil per hour. Operator then acidized with 2,000 gallons and water broke in.

On last report, the project was swabbing ahead, making about two barrels of oil per hour and abundant water. Packer is due to be set around 5,995 feet in an attempt to locate the source of the water.

Location is 10 miles south of Seminole and in section 23, block A-21, psl survey.

More Hole Made

More hole was being made at Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 Doss, southeast Gaines county wildcat projected to the Ellenburger, 10 miles south of the Cedar Lake field and 4,620 feet from east, 7,430 feet from south lines of league 292, Lynn CSL survey.

Last report had it below 13,032 feet, penetrating lime.

Drilling was continuing at the three outposts to production from the Ellenburger in the one well Flanagan field of south-central Gaines county.

George P. Livermore No. 1 Head, 631 feet from north and 610 feet from west lines of section 12, block A-23, psl survey, was beyond 9,950 feet, making hole in lime.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Flanagan, another flanker, had reached 9,804 feet and was continuing in lime.

It is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 9, block A-23, psl survey.

The other Flanagan stepout, Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Selman Andrews, et al, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 2, block A-23, psl survey, was deepening from 5,108 feet in lime.

Seaboard was making new hole with its No. 2-D Shafer, flanker to the Spraberry-Deep field recently opened in east-central Dawson county.

Casing Is Set

The semi-wildcat was under 5,778 feet in lime.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 48, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

Intermediate casing has been set at Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Masten, wildcat projected to 12,000 feet in southwest Cochran county, six miles southwest of Lehman.

The venture was bottomed on 4,527 feet in lime, waiting for cement to cure on 9⅝-inch pipe cemented at 4,519 feet with 1,700 sacks. It is due to drill plug and make more hole.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 18, league 135, Armstrong CSL survey.

Drilling was continuing at Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 2 Holt, outpost to the recently discovered Landon-Devonian field in south-central Coshran county.

Last report had it below 7,432 feet in lime.

Slight signs of oil and gas were developed at The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Emery, northwest Kent county wildcat, 15 miles southwest of Spur and 1,980 feet from north and 819 feet from east lines of section 39, block 2, H&GN survey.

The shows came in a one-hour drillstem test of a lime formation at 6,170-80 feet. There was a strong blow of air at the surface for 27 minutes and a slight surge of air for the next 15 minutes. It then died.

Oil, Gas Recovered

Recovery was 210 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud with no signs of water. The current horizon is thought by observers to be Pennsylvanian. Operator was preparing to core.

M. E. Davis and Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company have plugged and abandoned their No. 1 Bert Wallace, wildcat failure in the Central Kent county Ellenburger, five miles southeast of Clairemont.

The venture was left on 7,135

Weak Defenses Over Western Europe Inviting To Aggression

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The State department declared today that the present defenses of western Europe are so weak they "invite military aggression."

It said the United States "must assist" in rebuilding those defenses with a first year arms aid program of $1,130,000,000, and more later.

In an official "peace paper," the department disclosed in comprehensive detail for the first time a six-point plan for helping free nations strengthen their defenses. This program will be presented to Congress soon by President Truman.

United States Committee

At the same time, the department went as far as it could in committing the United States to the policy of preventing any invasion of western Europe. Only in this way, it said, can the United States "count on our friends in western Europe to resist" an attack.

The paper, latest in a series on "building the peace," brought out that officials expect American arms aid to these nations to continue for a number of years.

"In brief," the State department said, "these things will be recommended in the military assistance program:

"That all projects of United States military aid be brought together in one program.

"That a single appropriation be made to cover the costs of the entire military aid program (for the fiscal year 1950, these amounts would be about $1,300,000,000 for the North Atlantic pact countries and about $320,000,000 for Greece and Turkey and certain other nations whose security is important to the United States, making a total of about $1,450,000).

Authority Is Asked

"That the chief executive be given the authority to make flexible use of these funds and to meet emergencies as they arise.

"That most of our aid at this time go to western Europe, an area whose importance to our security has been demonstrated in two world wars.

"That the military aid program be separate and distinct from the North Atlantic treaty ,but that it complement that treaty through carrying out the principles of self-help and mutual aid.

"That our military aid to the free nations of western Europe in 1950 take three forms: A relatively small but very important amount of dollar aid to increase military production programs of the western European nations and thus speed termination of their present heavy dependance on the United States, a direct supply of arms and equipment to help accelerate the strengthening of the defensive capabilities of their military forces, and the provision of U. S. technical and training assistance."

The nations which would benefit chiefly under the program are the five European members of the Brussels pact—Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — plus Denmark, Norway, and Italy.

Outside the Atlantic treaty nations, the official paper named only Greece and Turkey and "certain other nations" which, it is understood, will include Iran.

Presents Arms Plan

The department presented the arms plan as a sort of necessary shield for the European recovery program—which, it said, has now reached the point where European freedom from fear of war "is vitally important in bringing out new investments and new industries."

This shield, it said, must be more than a promise on the part of the United States to liberate western Europe in case it is overrun by an aggressor.

"It must be perfectly clear to the people of the United States," the State department declared, "that we cannot count on our friends in western Europe to resist if our strategy in the event of war is to abandon these friends to the enemy with a promise of later liberation.

"That strategy would be costly, since it could produce nothing better than impotent and disillusioned allies in the event of war.

"Plans for the common defense of the free world must provide for the security of western Europe, or the new world may one day stand alone, an island of embattled freedom in a hostile world.

"Western Europe must count on us if it is to survive, and we, in turn, must count on western Europe if we are to endure.

"As of now, the inadequate defenses of western Europe invite military aggression, and increasing prosperity makes it a prize all the more tempting.

"Not until we share our strength on a common defensive front can we hope to replace this temptation with a real deterrent to war. The North Atlantic pact is an agreement on the policy of a common defense; its very vital corrolary is a program of military aid."

As for what can be accomplished in western Europe through rearmament measures, the State department said:

"On the basis of estimates by these countries and the economic cooperation administration, it is believed that with our assistance the rate of military production can be increased by the equivalent of several hundred millwion dollars without endangering economic recovery or financial stability."

The arms program to be submitted soon to Congress, the State department said, is merely "an interim program covering the most urgently needed military aid requirements of the fiscal year 1950 (which begins July 1)."

Details Are Given

It referred to "programs for subsequent years," and added that their size and cost "will be dependent upon many intangibles." But it noted these "limiting factors".

1. The aid given each year will add permanently to the defensive strength of the country aided—which presumably would make the need less as time went on.
2. Economic recovery has priority over military expenses;
3. The European nations will become increasingly able to provide for themselves the arms they need.
4. "The fourth and greatest factor is the degree to which we and the nations associated with us can remove the threat of war. The degree to which we can further that basic aim of our foreign policy will be the most precise measure of the limitations which can be placed safely on United States military assistance."

The statement said that the proposed program would be operated within the State department by an administrator under Secretary Acheson but that a "large share of the responsibility for the actual operation" would be delegated to the national military establishment.

New Rodeo Arena At Brownfield Complete

BROWNFIELD, May 14 (Spl.)—Completion of a new rodeo arena on the Fair Park grounds has been announced here by Hub King, chairman in charge of the building program for the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The new arena is being readied for the annual Jaycee rodeo scheduled for June 23-25. Frank Szydloski, chairman of the general rodeo committee stated that 2500 spectators can be accommodated at each of the three nightly events in new bleachers and box seats now under construction.

Jaycee President John Kendrick is directing the full force of his organization toward making this annual affair the biggest in Terry county history. Howard Brown of Dublin will furnish his world renowned rodeo stock for the three shows. Cash prizes of $1500 have been added to swell the purse awards for five divisions of competition.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce goes into the second year of handling the annual rodeo this year having taken it over after the war from the rodeo association. This organization also handles annually the Fat Stock show, Christmas program and Brownfield Bears baseball club sponsorship.

A mammoth rodeo parade will be the starting point for celebrations during the rodeo days which will include four nightly dances at the Veterans hall "some new, some old." Roping matches are being planned to take place at the new rodeo arena sometime between now and June 23 to create a public rodeo spirit.

Female Diplomat Poses Problem In Capital Protocol

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 14 — A very charming and brilliant woman unwittingly posed Washington's latest problem in protocol this week.

But now it's all settled: tiny, silver-haired Mme. Vijaya Pandit is to be addressed at all times as "Madame Ambassador" and never, never referred to as "Ambassadress."

The later term is one applied to wives of ambassadors. And so it is not considered appropriate for Mme. Pandit, the new ambassador from India to the United States.

The attractive and experienced diplomat, who gained international fame as India's ambassador to Moscow, is the first and only woman ever to serve as the head of a diplomatic mission in the nation's capital.

Popularity Assured

And already everyone predicts that she will be one of the most popular members of the diplomatic corps when the social season begins again next fall.

The usually imperturable nation's capital was astonished and deeply impressed with the warm spontaneous airport demonstration in her honor when she stepped off the plane from India the other day.

Mme. Pandit wears lovely Indian silk saris in preference to western dress. She does, however, like short wraps, American style, and wedgies.

Madame Ambassador is certainly the most attractive diplomat in Washington; possibly the most attractive in any world capital.

Capitol In Doldrums

Washington is slipping easily into the social doldrums these days and congressional wives are thinking longingly of vacations and visits home.

The President and First Lady, however, will revive the fading season briefly on Wednesday when they entertain at a formal dinner in honor of President Dutra of Brazil.

This will be the second presidential dinner of the year. The first was held a month ago in honor of the signers of the North Atlantic Pact.

And both dinners were held, through necessity, in the Carlton hotel, just a few short blocks away from the tottering White House.

The White House had announced when the executive mansion was abandoned for repairs, that the President would simply forego all formal entertaining and would definitely not hold dinners and receptions in hotels.

Circumstances Arise

Unforeseen circumstances, however, have made it necessary that presidential dinners honor first the treaty signers and now the visiting chief executive of Brazil.

It is, of course, somewhat embarrassing for the chief executive of such a large nation as the United States to entertain anywhere but in his official residence.

And the State department will heave a loud sigh of relief when the first family is once more back in the White House.

It is believed, however, that it will be another year at least before this is accomplished.

And there is nothing for the President to do in the meantime but make the best of it.

Young Boy Killed As Brother Backs Automobile In Driveway

SCOTTDALE, Pa., May 14 (AP)—Richard Thorn drove down the driveway of his home and on to a baseball game yesterday.

His father looked out a window and saw the body of Richard's five-year-old brother, Arthur, lying in the driveway. Richard was called home from the ball game.

Coroner Joseph Check said Arthur, 18, apparently didn't realize the car had struck his brother on the rough driveway. "It was purely accidental," Check reported. "There will be no inquest."

Japan almost doubled its 1947 dye production last year.

Berlin Airlift Cost U. S. $190,077,000

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — The national military establishment estimates the cost to the United States of the Berlin airlift at about $190,077,000.

This figure, announced yesterday, includes $181,307,900 for the air phase carried on by the Air Force and Navy, and $8,770,000 for the Army, which did the ground job.

The total for the Air Force-Navy operation covers the period from the start of "Operation Vittles" on June 26, 1948, through Thursday.

The Army cost is projected through the year ending June 30, but the announcement said ending of the airlift before that date "would reduce the estimate only slightly."

"At present," the summary said, "it is not known exactly how much longer the air supply of Berlin will continue."

Through Thursday, a total of 1,589,567 tons had been carried by the British and American planes. The American planes ferried 1,221,281 tons of the total.

PLANE PLOWS INTO SCHOOL YARD

Ball Park Lights Turned Off As Crash Landing Attempted

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 14. (U.P.)—A pilot who tried to crash land his small airplane in the crowded Kansas City Blues baseball park said today he would have made it "but they turned the lights out on me."

He missed the ball park and hit a school yard.

Ed Lobdell, 29, Fargo, N. D., ran out of gas just as several thousand fans began leaving the park last night. He tried to glide into left field.

Hit Trolley Wires

Then groundkeepers pulled the switches that put out the big floodlights that illuminated it. So Lobdell picked the schoolyard.

"I couldn't think of anything but that tall concrete wall around the ball park after they turned the lights out on me," Lobdell said.

The plane tore int. trolley-bus wires instead of the wall and nosed over as it plowed into the Lincoln high school yard across the street from the park.

Lobdell escaped with minor scratches and bruises.

Fans were just trooping from the field after watching the Minneapolis Millers beat the Blues 6 to 2 in an American association game.

Called Relatives

Police kept them away from the wrecked plane.

They let Lobdell go after routine questioning. He said he was enroute from Fargo to Kansas City. He had stopped at Omaha.

Lobdell telephoned relatives in Fargo to tell them he was safe, then called the Civil Aeronautics administration to report the crash.

Lobdell said he had hoped to make a safe landing in the school yard after he changed his plans.

Police said he would have except for the trolley wires which caught the wheels of the plane and whipped it over on its back.

"A foot higher and I'd have been fine," Lobdell said.

The Gold Coast will have a 24,000-acre groundnut (peanut) project.

PITTSBURGH, May 14. (AP) Robert Johnson, whose name counts up to 13 letters, was arrested, changed with drunkenness, and lodged in cell 13.

His was the 13th case in police court Friday, which was Friday the 13th.

Police Magistrate W. H. K. McDiarmid studied the evidence and announced:

"Case dismissed."

Last Arguments In Case Slated

GUAM, May 14. (AP)—A negro Air Force private told a court-martial today he was watching a movie the night Ruth Farnsworth was beaten, raped and left dying in the jungle.

Shortly after Pvt. Herman Dennis left the stand, his attorney rested for the defense. The court then recessed until Monday, when it will hear final arguments. Dennis is one of three soldiers charged with the rape-slaying.

Testimony Is Heard

Dennis testified that he was in an Air Force theater eight miles from the jade shop where the 27-year-old Miss Farnsworth worked on the night of Dec. 11. That was the night of the attack.

Four other negro soldiers a short time previously testified they had seen the defendant at the theater. Two prosecution witnesses had declared they saw him near the shop the night of the attack.

Dennis insisted he did not visit the jade shop the night of the attack.

Dennis insisted he did not visit the jade shop or talk to Miss Farnsworth on the day of the slaying.

Dennis also contradicted the testimony of Sue Blackledge, a white Navy civil service employer who sometimes worked part time in the jade shop with Miss Farnsworth.

Asked For Date

Miss Blackledge said she complained to her employes last October that Dennis had entered the shop and asked her for a date.

Dennis declared that Miss Blackledge initiated the conversation and asked him how he felt about racial segregation overseas.

The defendant said he replied that he did not think segregation was justified overseas because it was hard for a man to be without a woman so long.

Two other negro soldiers also are charged in the case. Calvin Dennis, a half brother, and Sgt. Robert W. Burns have been granted separate trials.

Doctor, Wife Will Testify

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 14. (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, jr., of St. Louis, and his pretty blond wife will testify probably early next week in his murder trial.

The state completed its case yesterday before court adjourned until Monday morning. It used 40 witnesses and five days in presenting its case.

Defense Attorney Walter Barngrover in his opening address to the jury said Dr. Rutledge would tell the court what happened in a Cedar Rapids hotel room where "only God and Dr. Rutledge" knew what took place.

Seduction Charged

The 28-year old baby specialist is accused of the knife-slaying of Byron Hattman, 29, St. Louis aircraft specialist in a hotel room fight here last Dec. 14. The defense contends that Hattman last July "seduced and debauched" Rutledge's wife, Sydney, 23.

The defense has also said Mrs. Rutledge would testify as to this "sordid chapter" in her relations with Hattman. Mrs. Rutledge broke into tears and left the courtroom for a brief period yesterday during the questioning of the state's last witness, Dr. Regis Weland, Linn county deputy coroner.

Weland said he performed a postmorten on the body of Hattman on Dec. 15, day after Hattman was slain. He said death was caused by a stab wound in the chest which pierced both heart and liver.

Detective Testifies

Earlier detective Sgt. Maurice F. O'Neill of St. Louis testified he believed he had heard Dr. Rutledge tell Cedar Rapids authorities "something about calling Hattman when he (Rutledge) and his wife were under the impression she was pregnant."

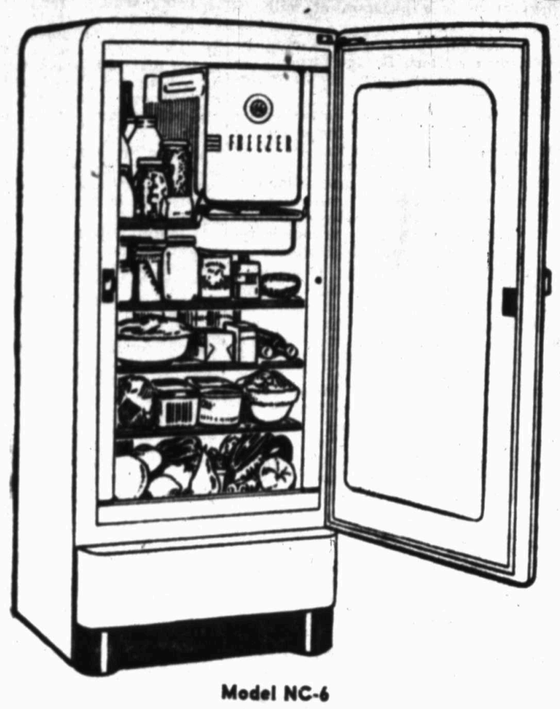

O'Neill said his recollection was that Dr. Rutledge said he "called Hattman and told him he thought Hattman ought to pay for an operation. But the doctor said he received no reply to that and after a while Mrs. Rutledge was all right."

Immediately after the state rested yesterday, district Judge J. E. Heiserman took under advisement a motion by the defense for a directed verdict of acquittal. He said he would rule on this Monday.

Greek bank employees now get overtime after a 36-hour week.

Paul G. Hoffman, director of the Economic Co-operation administration, told an Indiana university audience the other day that "our way of life will be secure if Europe is strong and free in 1952."

Mr. Hoffman's prediction of course is based on the fact that the Marshall plan is due to wind up its operations in 1952. He said the plan had "stopped the Kremlin cold" in western Europe, and that if recovery is accomplished by then "it is more than probable that the Kremlin will decide on a policy of 'live and let live'."

That's a prophesy which invites analysis, and since the E.C.A. director isn't here to do it for us, let's take a look at it ourselves. As I see it the position is this:

Cold War Halted

It's true that the "cold war" aspect of the Communist offensive has been halted along the Stettin-Adriatic line through central Europe. However, the revolutionary tactics of Communists in western European countries—especially the powerful French and Italian parties—continues in full force. They will gain control of their governments if it is humanly possible.

Meanwhile, out in the far east Communist armies are sweeping southward across China. Northern Korea is Communistic, and is reaching for control of the southern half of that strategic land. Burma, Indonesia and other Asiatic countries are torn by Communist uprisings. As the signs now read the Orient is likely to become increasingly a theater of conflict between Communism and democracy.

This being so, what basis do we find for predicting that our way of life will be secure if Europe is strong and free in '52?

Well, for one thing, while the Far East might in time become the decisive theater in the battle of the isms, the fact remains that the western world's greatest immediate threat comes from Europe. True, that threat has lessened measurably with the success of the Marshall plan and the signing of the Atlantic pact. But the danger still exists and will continue to exist, despite western Europe's recovery, until some further great development takes place.

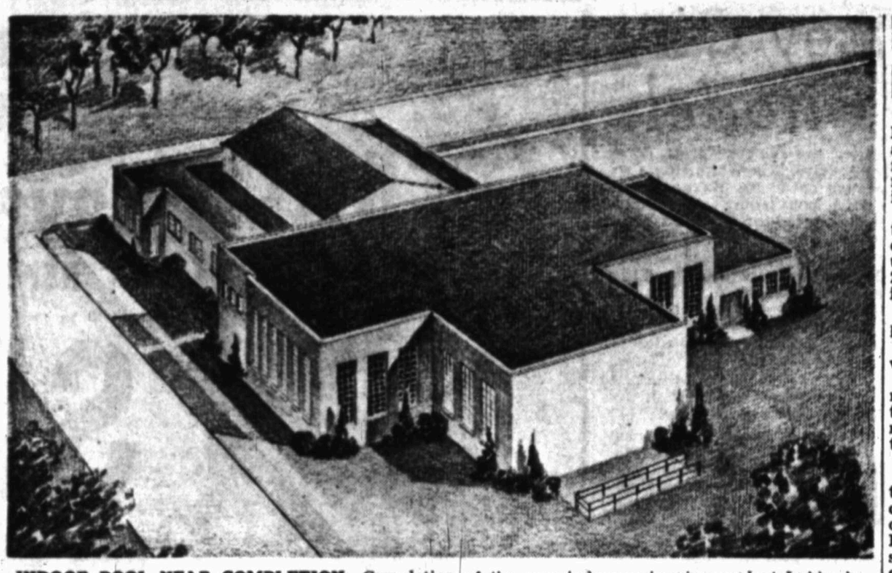

What new development could alter this grim picture? There seems to be only one answer to that at this reading. It would be the failure of Communism to hold the peoples of the various countries which have been absorbed into the Soviet bloc. That is to say, the rejection of Communism by these peoples.

Tactics Are Changed

What reason is there to suppose they might reject it? The answer is that present day Communism isn't the text-book brand of the ism which many folk had thought it to be. As Mr. Hoffman says, "basically, Communism is a rather idealistic concept, carrying with it connotations of sharing and universal brotherhood. In its pure form, almost the worst thing that can be said about Communism is that it won't work."

However, times have changed. Today's Communism isn't the old brand. It is totalitarian bolshevism. This fact gradually has become clear since the World war, as Communism has taken over country after country in eastern Europe. There are plenty of indications that there is dissatisfaction among the peoples of the satellites.

Whether that dissatisfaction could develop to a point where those countries might reject Communism remains to be seen. If and when that happens, the democratic way of life may be secure. Pending that contingency, the security would seem to be doubtful.

INDOOR POOL NEAR COMPLETION—Completion of the new indoor swimming pool at Lubbock Boys club, pictured above in the architect's conception, is expected by about June 15, said John W. Wilson, executive director. The pool will be the first of its kind in the United States, Wilson explained, in that it will be both T-shaped and "deck-level," having no scum gutter but a continuous flow of water overflowing at deck level. That flat-topped portion of the building houses the swimming pool, dressing room and workshop addition, adjoining the existing building at upper right. The pool will measure 36 by 75 feet, with a diving pool 24 feet by 23 feet and 10 feet deep. Plans were adapted by Haynes and Kirby from a design submitted by the national association of Boys clubs. The club needs $15,000 to complete payment for the pool and has scheduled the annual ABC rodeo for June 8 through 11 to help raise the money.

Philadelphia Trolley Fare Jumped 3 Cents

PHILADELPHIA, May 14 (AP)—More than 3,000,000 users of Philadelphia Transportation company facilities paid 13 cents Saturday for a trolley ride—the highest fare in the history of the city.

The boost from 10 to 13 cents, third increase since 1947, went into effect 26 hours after the public utility commission voted by a 3 to 2 decision to allow an "emergency" increase.

The PUC later will decide whether the boost will be permanent.

The new rate schedule provides:

Trolley and subway-elevated rides up from 10 cents to 13 or three tokens for 35 cents. Bus rides from two tokens for a quarter to a flat 13-cent cash fare.

Asked Hike In January

PTC first asked for the increase to be effective last Jan. 21. The commission suspended the request for six months. Then in February PTC workers went on strike for higher wages, then asked for an emergency immediate increase.

The 10-day strike last winter ended with PTC granting the CIO transport workers union an eight-cent-an-hour increase.

The workers originally asked 25 cents, but the company said it couldn't afford such a wage increase.

The new fare was opposed by the city of Philadelphia and a host of private companies and citizens.

H. Jerome Jaspan, chairman of the Philadelphia Citizens' committee, called for a grand jury investigation saying that "$6,250,000 will be extorted from our car riders."

SOME CAN'T TAKE IT

CHICAGO, (U.P.) — Dr. Stephan Epstein of the Marshfield, Wis., clinic reports that there are a few people who are so allergic to certain of the rays in sunlight that they develop hives whenever they are exposed to the sun.

BABY K.O.'s PAPA

BERLIN, N. H. (U.P.)—Baby Richard Peloquin is quite a boxer. At the age of seven months, he scored a technical knockout over his father. Papa Peloquin was putting some souvenir boxing gloves on little Richard when one of them fell to the floor. As the father bent over to pick it up, the baby struck him on the temple with a coin-filled bank, stunning him.

Woman Novelist, Expert On Sex, Doesn't Look Like Gal Who Pounds Out Love Scenes

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 14 — The lovely lady looked up from her breakfast and sort of shocked me. She said:

"Let's talk about sex."

I pulled myself together, gritted my teeth, and we talked about sex for a couple of hours.

The lady was Rosamond Marshall, author of such novels as "Kitty," "Duchess Hotspur," and "Celeste." As such she probably knows as much about the subject of sex as most experts.

Mrs. Marshall is a matronly woman with frizzy gray hair and an engaging smile She admits to being slightly on the hefty side.

Loves Scenes Natural

"You get a little broad and heavy sitting down all the time," she said.

She was dressed in a conservative, gray shark skin business suit and was quite proper in all respects as we dug into the "ham and" at the Wardman Park hotel. She didn't look at all like a gal who could—and would and does—pound out torrid love scenes on her typewriter. And as a matter of fact, they don't seem torrid to her at all.

"Just natural things you would expect of people. I was not a little disturbed when somebody suggested to me that 'Kitty' was a little on the naughty side. I didn't mean it to be."

I asked Mrs. Marshall, who is the mother of a college-senior daughter named Alexandria, how she happened to turn to the interesting subject of sex in her writings. I hinted that maybe that kind sell better She said that wasn't the only reason.

"I wrote novels in French before I turned out any in English," she said. "In French you say things that sound a little—well—off color in any other language."

When she turned to English she "didn't want to change my style."

"I just kind of transferred my technique," she said.

"Kitty," which didn't sell so well in the first printing, finally passed the 2,000,000 mark.

The author and her husband live on a picturesque little farm on Vancouver island off Canada. It's quiet up there and she doesn't see how anybody could ever get any work done in a newspaper city room with typewriters and teletypes clattering in wild discord.

"I get upset when a rooster crows," she said.

Writing a book is hard work. Mrs. Marshall uses what she called the oldest formula for writers—application—"applying the back of the girdle to the seat of the chair."

She keeps regular hours and sits before her typewriter from 9 in the morning until about 5 in the afternoon, with a short time out for lunch. She's not a floor-pacer, but even so manages to turn out only three "polished," or finished, pages a day.

That means she does about one book of 65,000 or so words a year. Before she sits down to work, she does a tremendous amount of research. Everything she puts down on paper—even though it is fiction—has to have an authentic ring to it.

Like most people who write light books, Mrs. Marshall has a yen to do some serious work. In fact she spent years doing one but couldn't find a publisher.

"They told me I was typed, like Boris Karloff," she said. "It would be like Spike Jones getting serious with Hamlet."

"I Am The Law" Hague, Of Jersey City Retreating From His Long-Held Citadel

By JAMES POWERS
INS Staff Correspondent

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 14—Saint or sinner, Robin Hood or robber baron—and he's been called them all—Frank "I Am The Law" Hague, last of America's old-time political bosses, has retreated from his long-held citadel of Jersey City to the private preserves of his $125,000 estate.

After 36 years of absolute rule over Jersey City, and stewardship of county, state and even national Democratic councils, the poker-faced Hague suddenly was knocked from his seat of power this week by John V. Kenny and the "freedom" ticket. He took it calmly, saying:

"The people wanted it that way—so it's all right with me."

Not Through Yet

But the tall, ramrod-straight survivor of a more colorful and less legal era in the nation's politics declared with equal calm that he was "far from through." In spite of his long years of battling to establish and maintain his all-powerful regime, the 75-year-old Hague announced:

"I'm going to stay in politics. It's in the blood."

Beside him in defeat, as in many of the long, lush years of "unanimous" victories, was his nephey, namesake and "crown prince," Frank Hague Eggers. It was Eggres' succession to Hague's 30-year tenure as mayor of Jersey City that touched off the war within the ranks that found former henchmen Kenny leading a triumphant opposition in this week's municipal elections.

Kenny, a loyal ward leader of many years standing in the Hague empire, was exiled after a quarrel with the boss over nephew Eggers' appointment to the abdicated mayorship of Jersey City. Until the band-bright, and flower strewn ceremony marking Hague's abdication two years ago, Kenny had been rumored top-favorite to inherit the job.

Backs Hague Candidate

After impounding the Hague-Eggers records mayor-elect Kenny made it clear that he had no intentions of following the "boss' any farther than Jersey City.

"I have no desire to be state chairman," states Kenny. "I am going to have my hands full right here in Jersey City for many months untangling this mess."

He quickly added that he would support Hague-sponsored Sen. Elmer Wene for Governor.

At his palace near Deal, N. J., the defeated Hague shrugged the precisely-tailored shoulders of his grey suit and made no comment. His promise of two years ago, that despite turning the mayor chair over to Eggers he intended "to be around for a long, long time," echoed loudly in his silence.

In mute and imposing witness of his long rule, Hague leaves in Jersey City a number of monuments including a fabulous $25,000,000 medical center, a great maternity hospital. . .

Aided Juveniles

One of the more innocent, and drastic, remarks made by Frank Hague—"I Am The Law"—was one of the many spears sent clattering at his crown by Kenny and the "freedom" ticket.

Yet Hague firsa voiced the embarrassing phrase under remarkably innocent circumstances. In the midst of his battle to keep CIO organizers out of Jersey in 1937, Hague intervened in behalf of two juvenile delinquents labelled "incorrigible" by his special service bureau, created to keep children out of reformatories and jails.

The boys wanted to quit school and go to work but the bureau said "the law wouldn't allow them employed until they were 16 years old."

Hague retorted," in this case, I am the law. These boys will go back to school and get jobs besides." He made good on both promises.

Born to poverty in Jersey City's "horseshoe" slum district, a hungry, lean-shanked boy, he was expelled from school at an incorrigible, fought his way up the slippery ladder to politics to supremacy with ruthless, calculating cunning.

Followed Axiom

But there are thousands in Jersey who will remember him as a benefactor, friend and idol.

After being expelled from grammer school, which Hague often bragged "gave me an early start in becoming somebody," Hague's first job was "nursing locomotives" for the Erie railroad. But the strident call of politics lured him into ward-heeling before he was old enough to vote. And he never forgot his political axiom that an organization is "built house by house, block by block and you-by-house, block by block and you have got to know every family as well as you know your own." To the little people, to the poor and to the children he was a sort of latter-day Robin Hood in elegantly tailored clothing.

An implacable foe of the railroads who gave him his start in life, he waged a never-ending war to levy increasingly heavier taxes on them, in one of the east's more important railroad centers. After he began his 30-year run as mayor of Jersey City in 1917 he upped the taxes on railroad property from $3,000 per acre to $70,000.

Railroads Lose Fight

The railroads fought back bitterly and the battles reached the U. S. Supreme Court twice. Hague won the final decision of the state's appellate court in 1944 that the railroad would have to pay up on delinquent taxes in full. The tax rate was fixed at $30 per $1,000.

While he lured heavy industry and shipping to Jersey City, Hague at the same time raised taxes on property valuation to the highest in the country for cities of comparable size (300,000). The last figure of assessment is an all-time high wit htaxes at $72.75 per $1,000.

While critics and opponents screamed that the value received was not worth the tax, Hague pointed proudly to the huge medical center which serves "without regard to race, color, creed or financial standing," and to the great maternity hospital named for his mother, Margaret Hague.

He also can remind the irate citizenry that Jersey City's pioneering methods of handling juvenile delinquents are "a model for the nation" in the words of Attorney General Tom Clark.

His worst enemies acknolwedge that he is an able administrator, a violent and effective foe of vice, a man whose personal life is above reproach. Capable of towering moral indignation, Hague first showed his colors on getting the patronage-hung job of director of public safety in 1913.

Raised Police Pay

Finding officers on duty openly consorting with prostitutes, and opium dives flourishing along the water front, Hague used his control over police and fire departments to close every red-light house and apply the ax to every opium den.

As a hedge against temptation he raised the police pay and made every captain responsible for his precinct.

The red-light houses and opium dives disappeared—but the police alleged that Hague made them kick back half of the first raise and 30 percent of the second.

A teetotaler who neither drinks nor smokes, is unfailingly courteous to the ladies and gentle with children, Hague helped draft the repeal of prohibition and arranged the legalization of pari-mutuel betting in Jersey.

In 1938 opponents estimated that Hague had absolute control over 8,000 jobs—and in the same year a state legislative committee attempted to investigate the return of Hague-sponsored A. Harry Moore to the governorship.

Records Burned

The committee's first pass at the election records of Hague-controlled Hudson county brought an angry howl from the boss.

"I dare you to come into Jersey City or any other city in this county and proceed with your recount!" Hague thundered. All attempts to get at the election records were effectively blocked until 1940. Finally the books were ordered produced. While the committee waited, acting corporation counsel Charles A. Rooney solemnly announced that the books had been burned in 1938. Chief Justice Thomas Brogan promptly ruled that the burning was legal.

A ready and dangerous fighter and one of the nation's most lime-lighted personalities, Boss Hague is a deferential husband and father. He married childhood sweetheart Jennie Warner in 1903 shortly after he got his first political job as a $25-a-week court officer, and their son Frank is now a quietly thriving lawyer. Adopted daughter Peggy is rarely seen and seldom photographed. Nephew Frank H. Eggers, the outgoing mayor and crown-prince, was reputedly raised by the Hagues after his mother died.

The sedate and rigidly moral tone of his private life extended to Hague's public acts as well. During his long tenure he closed dance halls, forbade women to sit at bars, inspected poolrooms regularly and took pride in Jersey City's slogan "no vice, no crime, no racketeering."

Lost Smith Race

If in the earlier days a few dozen poll watchers happened to get beaten up on election day, Hague woul dpass it off as "animal spirits—guess the boys just couldn't resist the temptation of a little fun."

A power in the national Democratic party for years and long-time vice-chairman, Hague suffered one of his worst—and few—set-backs in 1928 when he actively supported Al Smith. Four years later he joined the "Stop Roosevelt" drive at the convention but supported FDR after his nomination and delivered the state in '32 and '36. In 1940 he helped engineer the famous "draft Roosevelt" drive. The White House was always open to Hague during FDR's long tenure and the two men greeted each other with a warm, mutual "hello, Frank."

Early in 1948 Hague endorsed Truman, then switched to Eisenhower, then back to Truman after Eisenhower's refusal to run. But while his machine delivered the Hudson county vote he lost the state by 100,000.

"Hague has been politically dead for years" former N. J. Gov. Charles Edison commented.

Now, once again, his opponents are saying the "boss" is finished. But the boss himself doesn't think so and—importantly—the national Democratic party isn't ready to admit that either.

Following the rout of the "I am the law" boss in Tuesday's elections, Democratic national chairman Howard McGrath was asked: "Where does Hague stand now in national politics"? and the national chairman had this to say:

"A local election does not change the relationship of a national committeeman to the national chairman and the national committee."

You figure it out.

Spaciousness, Charm To Feature New Suburban Residential Area

A suburban development with spaciousness and charm like no other in West Texas is the aim of Mrs. C. M. Dickinson, who has completed the preliminary work toward offering tracts for sale in her Dickinson Valley View addition.

The addition, limited to 21 homesites ranging from three-fourths acre to one and seven-eighths acres in size, is situated north of Lubbock on the new four-lane Plainview highway, just south of Lubbock country club.

Mrs. Dickinson

The property is two and a half miles from the courthouse, and Mrs. Dickinson, timing a trip from there, found it took five minutes to get to the addition over the detours now in effect during construction of the new highway. She estimates that the new highway will cut the driving time well below that.

The plat has been submitted to the City Planning commission for approval.

Central Meadow Slated

One of the most extraordinary features of the addition will be a central "meadow" and valley, around which the homesites will be grouped on three sides, each one commanding a view of the central meadow, some 40 acres in size.

The valley will be fenced ornamentally and will be planted in blue grass and clover, with a dam planned to provide a lake in the center of the meadow. Mrs. Dickinson visualizes a few deer and cattle in the meadow for scenic effect. She also plans eventually to have bridle paths for homeowners who maintain their own stables. Shrubbery and trees will be planted.

The winding streets, all to be hard-surfaced, have picturesque names, including Meadow Drive, Sunset Lane and Ridge Road.

Mrs. Dickinson did not reveal the exact terms of deed restrictions on the building sites. She described the restrictions as "designed to meet the approval of those who want to build a high-quality home and be assured that their investment is fully protected."

Phone Service Available

Telephone and electrical service are available now and gas will be available as needed.

Mrs. Dickinson's addition was not a commercial development to start with, but grew out of her long search for an ideal place to build her own home, she said.

She drove in all direction from Lubbock hunting a picturesque home site and in 1945 settled on the land where Dickinson Valley View addition is now located. Eventually, she decided to subdivide the property in a picturesque manner, giving all property owners the benefit of the central meadow and valley which she will maintain the the Dickinson's expense.

MADERA, Cal., May 14 (U.P.)—make-shift gasoline engine which promised to be a smashing success on the first 100 yards of its trial run, ended in a thunderous failure for Manuel Verduzco and an unidentified companion.

The boys were motoring through a small country road in their antiquated automobile when the gas tank fell off. Verduzco got a one-gallon can of gas at a service station. Then he sat on the fender, pouring gasoline into the carburetor while his friend drove the machine.

The novel idea worked for about the length of a football field when the car blew up Both boys were treated at a hospital for minor burns.

Defoe Descendants Found In England

ITHICA, N. Y., May 14. (U.P.) — A Cornell University professor has found two living descendants of Daniel Defoe, the author of "Robinson Crusoe," and has unearthed evidence that Defoe was a close personal friend of England's King William III.

Defoe died in 1731 and scholars generally have agreed that his last descendant was drowned at sea off San Francisco in the 1890s.

But Dr. George H. Healey of Cornell took up the trail with the name of Henry Baker, husband of Defoe's youngest daughter, who became quite famous in his day as a result of research on the microscope and his pioneer effort to give speech training to the deaf. Some of Bakers descendants are encountered in 19th century literature and the most important clue was the fact that many Bakers entered the clergy.

Letters Get Results

After determining the churches at which the Bakers were vicars during the last century, Dr. Healey began writing to present vicars to ask if any members of the Baker family remained in their parishes.

He got an "astonishing reply" from the vicar of St. Clement's, Fulham Village, London, who said his predecessor had the revealing name of Donald Charleston Defoe Baker. Healey managed to trace him to a London bookstore and Baker readily identified himself as a descendant of Defoe.

He also referred Healey to another descendant, his aunt, Mrs. Margaret DeFoe Latham, of Lincolnshire.

In a lengthy correspondence, Mrs. Latham furnished what was for Healey a most exciting discovery. She furnished the professor a copy of two Defoe letters, previously unknown to the scholarly world, which indicated an unsuspected intimacy between Defoe and King William. The missives are dated Nov. 24 and Dec. 12, 1701, and are the earliest of Defoe letters which have been found.

The letters were written from Hampton Court, the royal palace, and addressed the king familiarly as "Sir," rather than the formal salutation, "Your most excellent Majesty."

The letters suggest means of financing the then approaching War of the Spanish Succession, advocate trade with the South Seas and campaign for union with Scotland. The latter two suggestions were implemented during the reign of William's successor, Queen Anne.

Disastrously heavy rains followed South Africa's latest drought in some areas.

Firemen Instructors' Meeting Will Be Conducted In Lubbock

A firemen instructors' conference, under auspices of The State Firemen's and Fire Marshal's association, will be conducted Monday through Thursday in Lubbock, it was announced Saturday by W. E. Twitty, chief of the Lubbock Fire department.

The conference will be held by Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College system, Industrial Extension service and Texas Firemen's Training school, cooperating with The State Board for Vocational Education. Facilities will be provided through courtesy of the Lubbock Fire department.

West Texas Included

Chief Twitty said efforts would be made to conduct all morning sessions in the American Legion hall, all afternoon programs at the drill tower of the No. 1 station at 1016 Tenth.

Texas Firemen from west of a line drawn from Vernon to Brownwood to Del Rio are expected to attend, although Chief Twitty said he could suggest no attendance estimate.

Monday's program will present A. L. Cartwright and Paul R. Williams, field instructors, Firemen's Training School; Chairman H. R. Brayton, director of the school; W. H. Rodgers, Lubbock mayor; Chief Twitty; Chief J. M. O'Brien of Fort Worth; State Rep. Preston Smith; R. Otis Muenster, field instructor of the Firemen's Training school.

Tuesday Program Given

Twitty and James R. Dobson, field instructor of the training school, will be presented on the afternoon program.

Personnel on other programs: Tuesday — Paul R. Williams; Brayton; Chief Hugh Nations, Crosbyton Fire department; Chief John Ballew, Childress fire department and past president and vice president, respectively, of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshal's association; W. E. Lowry, executive director, State Board for vocational Education, Austin; Chief Bill McMeen, Dalhart Fire department; and A. L. (Gus) Cartwright, Firemen's Training school.

Problems To Be Discussed

Wednesday—James R. Dobson, Firemen's Training school; Chief H. A. (Doc) Davis, El Paso Fire department; and Paul R. Williams, Firemen's Training School.

Thursday—Chief O'Brien; Chief D. C. Musick, Abilene Fire department.

Discussions will include such problems as: Fire pumps and how to maintain them, tricks of the trade, putting over the local training program, local fire fighting problems, putting water on the fire, regulator valves and gauges, and ladders and how to handle them.

GEORGE DALE

George Dale To Join Lubbock Buick Firm

George Dale of Lubbock will join the sales force of Scoggin-Dickey Buick company Monday, J. Ray Dickey, partner of the firm, announced Saturday.

Dale was in the commercial department of Southwestern Public service company from 1938 until he went into the Army in June, 1942. Upon his return in February, 1946, he rejoined the company as commercial manager of the southern division.

He left the utilities company April 1, 1947, to become commercial manager of radio station KCBD, a position he held until recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale and their daughter, Diane, two-and-a-half, live at 3309 Twenty-fifth street.

Can't Have Our Elkhound, Norway Tells U. S. Buyer

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14 (U.P.) — Certain dogs are more valuable than others, but there is one which is considered a national asset of Norway.

The dog is a Norwegian elkhound named Trygg av Scromtefjell, or "Trygg of Ghost Mountain."

When Olav Wallo of Minneapolis first saw him in Norway in 1946, he contracted to buy Trygg from his owner. But when Wallo tried to get Trygg sent over to America and sent a check for the purchase price of several thousand dollars, the check came back.

The Norwegian elkhound association had stepped in and said "no deal." The dog was considered too valuable for stud purposes to let out of the country.

Russia is having its third round of price cuts in the last 15 months.

Deadly Marksman Is Headed For Chicago

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 14. (U.P.)—"Dead-Eye" Lemmie Taylor says he is going to make Chicago pay for his vacation there this summer.

"Yep," said the 28-year-old marksman, "the moment I hit town I'll get going. They say Chicago has some of the finest shooting galleries in the country—big prize money, too."

The day last year when Taylor came to Birmingham he started cleaning out the local shooting galleries. The first one contributed $95 in prizes, the second $115 and so on until he made the rounds. The last one spotted him quickly as an expert and offered him a job before he could clean the house out. He took it.

Occasionally now he takes a week-end off to New Orleans and other southern cities. He says the shooting galleries always pay for his trips.

Lemmie says he started shooting a rifle on his father's farm near Huntsville, Ala., when he was 10. His father taught him, his mother, two brothers and two sisters. All are good shots and feared in the Thanksgiving and Christmas turkey shoots around Huntsville.

Illinois Spooners Find Place Not Patrolled By Policemen

DECATUR, Ill., May 14. (U.P.)—Decatur spooners don't have to worry about police interrupting them.

They've found a five-acre "no-man's land" for parking which is not parolled by county, township or city authorities.

The tract was dedicated to public use in 1924, but none of the governmental units provide police patrolmen. The Long Creek township says it can't afford a policeman and the county and city don't seem to be interested.

English Engineer Will Leave Austere Britain For America

LONDON, May 14 (U.P.) — Cecil Heath, 51-year-old English engineer, is fed up with austerity and intends to quit.

In June he will steer a 110-ton ex-naval launch for the Bahamas and later to Florida and California.

"I feel I've stayed here too long. I'm fed up with living in England," he said.

Heath, who has an engineering business in Hastings, Sussex, intends to take his wife, his four-year-old son Brian, and his 23-year-old stepson Kenneth Knight, on the trip across the Atlantic.

The sleek, cream-painted former submarine chaser known to the Admiralty as ML 102 and now christened Freda, is being fitted at Rye harbor, Sussex.

Heath intends to sell his business to cover expenses.

Damage To South Plains Farm Land Caused By Soil Erosion

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

While most people on the South Plains who were affected by the recent storm and flood reckon their loss and damage in terms of dollars and cents some farm land in the vicinity of Lubbock suffered a loss that may well be handed down to future generations.

Furniture, bedding and other household goods are easily replaced today. Top soil, from which comes the all-important sustenance of man, sometimes takes several centuries to replace. In many cases such lost top soil can never be regained.

Gap Widens Daily

In a world already overcrowded and with humans starving by the millions, every acre of productive soil that is lost might well mean the loss of a human life. As the ravages of the elements and the improper practices of man waste our soil, the population increases. The gap between food resources and the number of mouths to be fed widens every day.

Expert economists and ecologists point to our decreasing 'standard of living' and warn that the standard will continue to decrease. To make the warning more readily understandable these experts speak in terms of steaks and grains. They state, and they support their statements with almost irrefutable facts, that in another decade we will never have the number and quality of steaks to eat that we have had in the past.

All of this stems from the depletion of land resources. Beef cattle, like man, must live off the products of the soil. Where cattle have over-grazed the land to fatten themselves they destroy the productivity of the land so that it can no longer support either man or animal. As a result we have a reduction in meat supply without being able to offset this loss in other agricultural products.

Facts, Figures Clear

The warning of these experts is not put out as a scare. The facts and figures are clear enough. Poor farming practices and the failure to conserve the land from which we get our life is obvious on every hand.

Most people hink of erosion as occuring only where the terrain has a considerable fall. They picture large washes and gullies that bite deep into the earth and ruin it for all practical purposes.

Erosion does not have to be deep nor does it have to leave huge, readily discernable scars. The erosion of top soil may be taking place continuously without being apparent to the unpracticed eye. Top soil is not deep. It varies in different climes, terrains and sections. Sometimes it may be measured in feet but usually the measurement is in inches. In Lubbock county it may run from two or three inches to a foot in depth.

Examples Are Found

Constant planting of row crop, over-grazing and clearing permits damage from wind as well as water. Even perfectly level land, unprotected, is at the mercy of these ravages. Good illustrations of the damage to land and roads in our area were obtained a few days after the storm of May 6. Some of them are pictured with this story. They were taken at random while driving over the 12-mile belt that was swept by the storm.

RAIN DESTRUCTION—The power of moving water is here clearly illustrated. Within a few hours rainwater racing down a bar ditch on Slide road cut a huge cave-like gash under the pavement. For more than 50 feet the highway was unsafe for travel in the north-bound lane. This form of erosion might have been prevented by keeping the ditch clear and by maintaining protective cover crop to absorb a large part of the run-off water. (Staff photo by Edward Welsh).

THIS IS WASTED FOOD—The tons of fine top soil shown accumulated in the gully wash above might have produced a sizable yield of much needed food. The deposit represents some of the finest soil washed down from hundreds of unprotected acres. Marshall Howard, soil conservationist, points to the depth of the soil that was eroded in less than 24 hours. (Staff photo by Edward Welsh).

The damage and loss was incurred on land that had been farmed by the old-fashioned and 'time-dishonored' practices that have created many a 'dust-bowl' throughout the world. Where cover crop had been cleaned from the land there was nothing to halt the accumulation and gravitation of large volumes of water. As it sought lower levels the water carried with it the soft, yielding top soil from which all crops derive their nourishment.

In one place several hundred tons of fine, rich top soil were washed down into a low spot and a barrow ditch where it could never be of any use. By actual measurement the depth of this accumulation was from 18 to 24 inches.

Soil conservationists of the USDA pointed out that the exercise of some easily applicable practices, practices that have been tested and proved, could have saved most or even all of this fine soil. A few terraces with cover crop would have diverted the force of the water; would have absorbed the largest part of it and would have put it to use by storing it in the earth.

In the example cited above the farmer not only lost a large part of his precious top soil, he also lost the value and benefit of the rain water which he would ordinarily have received.

It is quite true that the recent rain, in most of the belt which ran from the southwest to the northeast across the county, was 'unusual.' The volume of five-and-a-half inches was rare for this area. While that may serve as an argument for the indigent it is also an event to which farmers using modern practices can point with pride.

Those with terraces containing cover crops, such as wheat or Austrian winter peas, suffered no damage even in places where the terrain had slopes of from one to three degrees. Bench leveled and irrigated pastures caught, held and utilized nearly all of the rainfall. Unprotected and newly constructed terrace berms were broken down in most instances and will have to be rebuilt.

One excellently developed pasture east of the city has a considerable slope on three sides. At the bottom of the slope is a lake that would ordinarily catch the runoff from the slope. Despite all the rain the level of the lake was raised only slightly. The well covered soil in the pasture benefitted from an estimated 90 per cent of the water.

Lake Was Expanded

Six miles south of Lubbock an almost exact duplicate in terrain was found. The area was about the same, and the slope into the lake was on three sides. Without cover crop the terraces broke down and the lake was raised and expanded until it covered more than 30 acres.

In this case, not only did the farmer lose the benefit of the rainfall, he also has the thirty acres under water for many days and cannot work that part of his land.

Conservationists and economists are shocked by such irreplacable losses but they point to these examples with the hope that others may profit and prevent the same thing from taking place on their land. The danger of soil depletion, they say, is much more imminent than the majority of people realize. To prevent a real disaster steps must be taken now and continued in every generation to come.

America, experts point out, can become another China, India or Puerto Rico, if she continues to extract all of the wealth from the soil, distribute it around the world and put nothing back into the earth.

Uproars Spot Testimony As Red Steals Limelight In Spy Trial

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — The third week of Judith Coplon's espionage trial wound up with Valentine A. Gubitchev's height pinpointed to the inch.

He's five feet, three inches tall, wearing shoes.

Miss Coplon's attorney, Archibald Palmer, kept trying to get that information from FBI agents who trailed the former Justice department worker and the Russian engineer. The agents estimated all the way from five feet, two inches to five feet, four inches.

The government prosecutors, John M. Kelley, jr., and Raymond P. Whearty got Palmer his answer Friday. They produced an FBI report — five feet, three inches with shoes on.

Gubitchev's Week

It was pretty much Gubitchev week. In addition to questions about his height, Palmer asked government witnesses about the shape of his nose, his clothes and the color of his eyes.

And Palmer wanted to know (1) whether Mrs. Gubitchev, in a fit of jealousy, put the FBI on the trail of her husband and Miss Coplon and (2) whether Gubitchev might have served this country as a counter-espionage agent for the purpose of trapping Miss Coplon.

The FBI agents said they'd never heard of such a thing.

As in previous sessions, government prosecutors and Palmer clashed frequently, often furiously, Friday.

One flare-up came when Palmer asked FBI agent John F. Malley whether he was "anxious to convict this girl."

"No," Malley replied. "If she's guilty I hope she is convicted; if she's innocent, I hope she's acquitted."

Uproar Starts Again

"Do you firmly believe that this girl is guilty?" Palmer thundered.

"Just a minute," roared Kelley. "He's usurping the function of the jury in the box."

"Just a minute," shouted back Palmer, "I thought I heard something about a fox."

"I said box," Kelley said. "Jury box."

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves told the witness he need not answer Palmer's question.

When Judge Reeves adjourned court for the week-end, he told the jurors to pay no attention to the courtroom uproars. He said they should remain "fair and impartial" until all the testimony is in and he has instructed them on points of law.

Miss Coplon, 27, is accused of pilfering Justice department secrets with reason to believe they were to be used to injure this country and benefit a foreign power. In addition, she and Gubitchev, 32, a suspended Russian employe of the United Nations, face espionage conspiracy charges in New York.

Polish residents fell avidly upon 20,000,000 pickled herrings shipped from England.

WE WERE GLAD TO HELP

When rains of near-cloudburst proportions flooded homes, leaving them mud-caked and basements and foundations filled with water---West Texas Gas Company asked their employees to help their neighbors.

We too know what it means to be damaged by lightning, flash floods and other acts of nature.

Over 30 men worked all night Friday, all day Saturday and most of Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and also Tuesday — in line with their traditional faithfulness to duty and their responsibility for good service.

Our men answered over 100 calls to pump water out of basements, to blow out water-logged house lines and many other duties that would enable the residents to resume their normal way of living.

We believe it is our duty as a part of furnishing good gas service to help in an emergency such as occurred . . . with no charge.

J. D. Hord, center picture, is holding the suction hose in the basement of Mr. Ted Goldsby's house at 1719-25th Street.

I. L. Smith and Hord, top right picture, have just started the pump to pull the water out of the basement.

Mr. Goldsby, bottom right picture, holds the hose as water is pumped out of his basement.

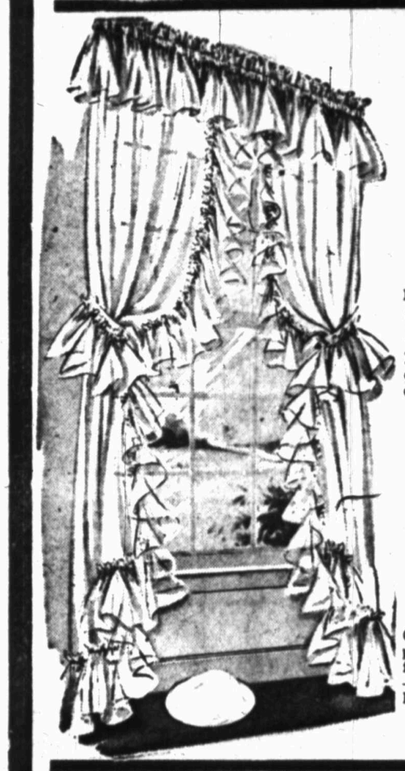

West Texas Gas Company employees used three pumps to pull water from under foundations and basements.

feet with no production prospects in any horizon drilled through. Top of the Ellenburger was called at 7,084 feet, on an elevation of 2,037 feet.

The dry hole is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 57, block 98, H&TC survey.

Sinclair Prairie Oil company was continuing to make hole with two wildcats on the South Plains.

The company's No. 1 Williams, northwest Borden county venture, was under 9,318 feet in lime.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32 T-6-N, TP survey, about 11 miles northwest of Gail.

In South-Central Lynn county, one mile north of O'Donnell, Sinclair was deepening its No. 1 Lindly from 9,265 feet in lime. Several drillstem tests recently have been attempted. No successful examinations have been secured.

This wildcat is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 47, block 8, EL&RR survey.

A new producer has been completed in the Anton-Irish field of southwest Hale county by Gulf Oil corporation. It is the company's No. 9-T E. K. Hufstedler, 2,109 feet from north and 1,880 feet from east lines of section 16, block DT, HE&WT survey.

The well pumped 19 hours to make a potential test of 114 barrels of oil per day, with gas-oil ratio of 58-1. Gravity of the oil was 28.4 degrees.

Total fluid recovered was cut with eight-tenths of one per cent water.

Production followed an 8,000-gallon acid treatment in the pay at 5,655-6,017 feet.

Lubbock Man Honored By His Firm In Insurance Magazine

Nationwide recognition was received the past week by L. C. Lowrimore, Lubbock representative for the Lincoln Income Life Insurance company, Louisville, Ky., through his nomination to the All-Star Honor Roll of The Insurance Salesman, leading magazine in the life-insurance business.

The Honor Roll, an annual tradition in the business, is made up of one field representative from each company, nominated by his company as its "outstanding man of the year." Lowrimore was selected by his home office on the basis of his Industrial increase, and Ordinary increase of almost $25,000.

Lowrimore, a former department store salesman, has four years in the life insurance business, one with Lincoln Income Life. He is 49 years old, married, and has three children.

Don't Do As I Do, Pastor Says, Do As I Tell You To

VINCENNES, Ind., May 14 (U.P.) The Rev. Ray H. Montgomery, pastor of First Christian Church, fell and fractured his hip while stepping from the pulpit.

Four months later he returned to the pulpit to preach his first sermon since the accident.

The sermon subject was "Watch Your Step."

A Bridgewater, England, man asking a boy the time, recognized his stolen watch.

Use Of Rocket For Televising Earth's Surface Is Proposed

CLEVELAND, May 14 (U.P.) — Televising the entire earth's surface would be one of the possible uses for a man-made satelite rocket, according to a General Electric rocket engineer.

The engineer, R. P. Haviland, said the use of rockets for this purpose would lead to more accurate and longer-range weather forecasts and "preparation of a truly complete and accurate map of the earth's surface."

Haviland pictured the rocket, video equipped, as whirling perpetually about the earth at thousands of miles an hour at an altitude of 4,000 miles. The rocket would follow a path over both poles and pass withi nviewing distance of every point on the earth each 12 hours.

Superior's Wildcat In Wyoming Sets Depth Mark Of 19,600 Feet

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, May 14.—Oil men are learning more and more about the interior of the earth.

A Superior Oil company wildcat well in Wyoming has passed a depth of 19,600 feet, a world's record, and the drill bit still is digging deeper and deeper.

Oil well equipment manufacturers predict it will not be long before the bits are probing 25,000 feet below the earth's surface.

Deep drilling is nothing new to Superior Oil. Two previous record depth wells have been abandoned as dry holes—an 18,700 foot hole in California and one 17,800 feet in Oklahoma.

To the oil industry such dry holes are sharp reminders of the expenditures, d l s appointments, and hours of toil which must be new oil reserves.

Early Agreement Sought

The American Petroleum institute estimates the American oil industry, since the first well was brought in at Titusville, Pa., in 1859, has drilled 1,250,000 wells with total drilling footage surpassing 2,500,000,000 feet.

This footage, API says, is equivalent to drilling 60 holes through the middle of the earth.

Well footage of this year's drillings are expected to exceed 100,000,000 feet.

Oil companies hoping for early settlement of the tidelands ownership controversy are receiving little encouragement from Washington.

Louisiana and Texas attorneys general this week asked the Supreme court not to authorize the federal government to file suit seeking recognition of paramount rights to the tidelands of the two states.

Louisiana contended the federal government cannot sue a state without the state's consent.

Texas pointed to its 10-year status as a republic and to an annexation treaty in which the federal government recognized the state's ownership of its public lands.

"Looting" Is Charged

U. S. Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman told the court the states are "looting" tidelands oil and "lobbying" for legislation to give them clear titles.

Meanwhile, in Houston, H. S. M. Burns, president of Shell Oil company, was commenting that in his opinion the tidelands should belong to the states.

Then he added:

"We would prefer to see them go to the states but would like to see the thing settled one way or another, if necessary, by compromise. The current situation is holding up development because the states are not putting up lands for lease while the thing is hanging fire."

Texas oilmen next Thursday will know whether the five months old downward trend in the state's crude oil production is to continue or begin an upward climb.

To Set Allowable

The state's railroad commission will set the June daily production allowables at a hearing in Corpus Christi.

Production in Texas averaged 1,884,600 barrels daily for the week ending May 7 compared to 2,509,200 on January 1.

Last month the commission indicated reduced foreign crude imports and improved domestic stocks might justify an increase in production in June.

Domestic production for the week ending May 7 averaged 4,896,750 barrels daily, a decline of 25,300 from the previous week. A year ago production averaged 5,412,750 barrels daily.

Only the signature of Governor Beauford Jester is needed to give Texas its first oil and gas unitization bill, the proposal, bitterly fought many years, having been approved by the House of Representatives Wednesday . . . Lieut. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime atomic bomb chief, said this week in Oklahoma City it will be "decades and decades" before atomic energy will be used for industrial power . . . Pacific Petroleum, Ltd., of Canada, has announced plans to construct a $175,000,000 1400-mile, 30-inch natural gas pipeline from west central Canada to northern California.

Baltimore Is Losing Source Of City Keys

BALTIMORE, May 14 (U.P.) — Baltimore's mayors eventually will have to find a new source of supply for the keys to the city which they present to visiting dignitaries.

For the past 13 years, the keys have been made from joists taken from the Star Spangled banner flag house in Baltimore where the flag which flew over Fort McHenry during the British bombardment was made. The joists were removed when the house was remodeled in 1936.

Mrs. Arthur P. Sewell, curator of the house which has been turned into a museum, revealed that the ancient wood is almost gone. She said the joists also were used to make gavels, ashtrays and canes, one of which was presented to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Only enough remains, Mrs. Sewell said, to make about 200 more keys to the city.

Duke Ellington Says Americans Have Developed Broad Knowledge Of Music

NEW YORK, May 14 (U.P.) — Duke Ellington won't have to write that symphony after all; the American public has grown up musically.

"It's the miracle of our time," said the famous Negro band leader and composer.

"A few years ago you had to dole out any new harmonic ideas, one at a time. You had to spot them carefully so that they would work naturally into the ear of your listeners.

"Now you can give them anything, in any musical idiom. And they get it immediately, whether it's be-bop or sweet, melody or dissonance."

The Duke is so happy about this development that he lolled back in his dressing room at the Paramount Theater and flipped his sketch book open to a page on which musical notes marched like ragged armies.

Symphony Unneeded

"Themes for a symphony," he explained. "Won't need them now. I was going to write one, just had to get a lot of ideas off my chest Now I can write the same things for my band. It makes me happy because I like to concentrate on one musical organization. You know every player and you can write exactly the things he does best.

"By the same token," he added "this new-found musical literacy is a great thing for young musicians who used to feel that band playing ruined artistic initiative.

"I couldn't blame the way they stuff" said the Duke, "but anything they are capable of playing now, we can write for them."

The Duke's ageless charm has been making a liar out of the calendar for decades. It would shock his bobby-soxers to know that the maestro is past 50.

Recalls Past

"I was writing new things for bands before 1924," the Duke recalled. "That was the year I thought of the 'growl trumpet.' Rember? In 1927 I brought the bass fiddle into popular music and in 1928 the hot chimes. 'Mood Indigo' came along in 1930 and was a little musical experiment of mine—a kind of 'pastel music' bands hadn't played before.

"In 1937 I developed the idea of a small unit of instruments inside the big band to take solo responsibility. Then in 1934 we introduced the hand drums or bongos in a number called 'Pyramid.' We gave it a quick brush but some other bands made a big thing out of it later on, you know. In 1940 Jimmy Blanton revolutionized bass playing and that year I got Billy Strayhorn as arranger and we started a new trend in vocal backgrounds."

At the moment the Duke is finishing the score of a new Broadway revue. After that he has a brand new idea for his band which he did not elaborate in detail.

Jail's Uninvited Guest Gets Longer Stay Than Asked For

McKEESPORT, Pa., May 14 (U.P.) —A 69-year-old vagrant has been a steady guest at the city jail here, on his own request, but now he is staying at the request of the police magistrate.

Police said the old fellow has made a habit of wandering into a cell and making himself at home for the night, despite their warnings. In the morning, he calls a taxicab and leaves for the day.

Now he has a 15-day sentence to serve as a warning that the jail is the place for compulsory guests only.

Lubbock School Enrollment Shows Increase Over 1948

Enrollment as the end of the eight month of school showed an increase of 896 students over the end of the eight month in 1948, according to statistics compiled Friday in the office of Superintendent R. W. Matthews.

The total enrollment at the end of the eighth month, 11,237, is an increase of 80 over the 11,157 enrolled at the end of the seventh month of school. Increase over the end of the first month of school this year is 1,673.

The Curious ? Reporter

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

As a newcomer, what impression of Lubbock have you received?

THE ANSWERS

DR. JACK RUSSELL, Veterans Village, chiropodist: "I'm a newcomer to Lubbock, but I'm an old timer in this part of the country, having grown up at Hereford. I'm always looking for an opportunity to get back up here and I finally made it. The only problem I've had has been in finding suitable housing. That's not a problem all my own, because I've run across several looking and I haven't been fortunate enough to beat them to it. I like the enthusiasm out here. When a problem comes up, pertaining to anything, the attitude is, 'Let's get to work on it and stop talking about it.' Most places, they liked to talk about it with no action."

C. B. LASSITER, 1921 Twenty-second, retired Southern Pacific passenger conductor: "The friendly spirit is what I like — people walking up and introducing themselves to you. That always makes a hit with me. Four neighbors have been to see us. The banks and merchants are nice and friendly. I've noticed traffic and parking problems are bad, but you'll find that everywhere."

H. M. WILBOURNE, 1906 Twenty-fourth, casualty adjuster with General Adjustment bureau, Inc.: "My first impression was splendid. I was impressed by the cleanliness of the city, its wide streets and the feeling of good fellowship that generally prevailed among those I met. Since moving here I have attended church and the original impression has been magnified considerably. I think Lubbock is a splendid place in which to live."

MRS. B. J. COTEY, 2628 Twenty-fifth, housewife: "We really like Lubbock. We've always liked it. We were married here 11 years ago. My aunt lived here. I think it's very hospitable. I think we will like it fine. I didn't know it rained so much."

CLAY JONES, 3208 Thirty-sixth, rancher: "I think a lot of Lubbock. I think it's a wonderful place. I saw Lubbock first 35 years ago. Tech is a good school. People have been very nice, very courteous. Strangers moving here sometimes ask silly questions. They not only tell you which way to go to find a street, but they go into details to try to help you locate it. First day I was here, a service station man not only told me where to go, but he put a boy in the car to go and show me. You can't help but go back to fill up with gas when someone acts like that. The man didn't know where I was from, though, or whether I'd be back."

DICK PHILLIPS, 2505 Twenty-third, Texas Tech student: "It seems to be a nice clean town except for the sand, which can't be helped, and everyone I've met who lives in Lubbock seems friendly and most helpful. I believe I'm going to enjoy living here. It's certainly a progressive area. Your downtown district is as well lighted as State street in Chicago, where we lived before coming here."

Lubbock Will Be Host To Lions District Convention May 22-24

Lubbock will be host next weekend to more than 600 Lions from 57 towns of District 2-T-1 who will gather here for their annual district convention, May 22-24.

Featuring the convention will be attendance and appearance on the program of Dr. Eugene E. Briggs, Enid, Okla., president of Lions International. Herb C. Petry, jr., Carrizo Springs, second vice president of Lions Interational, will also be here.

Convention headquarters will be the Hilton hotel but convention sessions will be conducted Monday and Tuesday mornings at the Clifton theater and Monday afternoon at the First Baptist church. The governor's banquet and ball will be held at Hotel Lubbock Monday night.

Registration Sunday

Wm. R. Rutherford, Dumas, is district governor and will preside at convention sessions.

Registration for the convention will open at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Hilton hotel. At 2:20 p. m., the district governor has called a cabinet meeting.

Members of his cabinet are: Deputy District Governors Joe Phillips, Amarillo, region 1; M. C. Davis, Panhandle, region 2; Jack Payne, Plainview, region 3; Chas. Rains, Hedley, region 4; and Dr. D. D. Jackson, Lubbock, region 5; and zone chairmen, A. C. Hallmark, Dalhart; Bob Wear, Hereford; Hudson Davis, Borger; Clee Meharg, McLean; V. M. Peterman, Amherst; Frank Roberts, Abernathy; R. L. Cantrell, Tulia; Hershel Combs, Memphis; Dr. Roy Barr, Childress; Fred Kinney, Spur; Olin Littlefield, Crosbyton; and Dr. W. A. Roberson, Brownfield.

Supper Scheduled

District committee chairmen are: Carl Allmond, Clarendon, rules; Leon Krupp, Amarillo, resolutions; Eli Willis, Dumas, nominations; Jack Payne, Plainview, elections; M. C. Davis, Panhandle, constitution and by-laws; Chas. Rains, Hedley, sergeant-at-arms.

Following the program Sunday afternon, a buffet supper will be held at 6 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. church services are scheduled for visiting Lions.

Opening Monday's activities, a breakfast honoring key members, presidents and secretaries, sponsored by the Dumas club will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

Wayne Henly, president of the Lubbock club, will call the convention to order at 9:30 a. m.

Dr. Briggs, who is president of Phillips university, Enid, will make the feature address of the convention Monday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock at the First Baptist church.

Balloting Slated

Tuesday morning's activities will be featured by the annual balloting for district governor and the convention city for 1950.

Entertainment schedule for the convention calls for a ladies coffee, Monday morning and a style show and ladies luncheon for the visiting women at Lubbock Country club Tuesday afternoon.

A golf tournament under direction of Lion C. M. (Chick) Trout will be conducted Tuesday afternoon with an array of trophies offered for the best golfers.

Dr. Marshall Harvey is general convention chairman and members of the executive committee for the convention are: Henly, H. G. Denman, H. J. Bingham, Robt. H. Bean and Dr. Jackson. Committee chairmen are: A. F. Phillips, finance; Dr. W. A. Pettey, entertainment; Elmer V. East, publicity; Chas. Watson, Cye Karalitis, housing; D. Noel Stalnaker, transportation; Geo. J. Young, reception; Jim Crook, information; Floyd Thompson, decorations; C. M. Trout, registration and ticket sales; Vernice Ford, properties; and Mrs. Wayne Henly, ladies. Lubbock's club, with 315 members, is the eighth largest club in Lions International.

The district has a total of 3,700 Lions, of which 600 are expected to attend. Reservations have already been made for more than 300.

Ferry Boat Signs Read Too Literally

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 14 (AP)—Central railroad of New Jersey ferry boats between here and New York have little boxes containing literature screwed to the walls.

TOP SHOW IS PLANNED

ABC To Open All-Out Drive To Sell Rodeo Tickets Wednesday

Dressed in full cowboy regalia members of the American Business Club will open up their barrage of sales talk Wednesday morning to make this year's Boys' Club Rodeo the biggest and best attended show of its kind ever held in Lubbock.

Although the advance sale of box seats has been going on for some time, club members set 8 a. m. May 18 as the official kick-off hour and day.

"The people are really going to get a fine show for their money this year," ABC President George Hale asserted. "We have so many stars and act planned that it would be hard to mention all of them without referring to the printed list."

Broader Program Planned

"For the past two years we concentrated on having one outstanding star, such as Gene Autry. This year we are making the show of broader interest and attraction," Hale said.

The American Business Club has as their major project the Boys' Club and recerational ground which covers the city block bounded by Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets on the north and south, and by Avenue J and K on east and west.

As the facilities now stand the investment has passed the $75,000 mark. Current construction such as the expansion of the club house and a swimming pool will runt the total cost to $100,000.

During 1949 various clubs and groups have made generous contributions. The Blue Bonnet softball team and the Barber Shop Quartet group are two of such contributors.

It is the hope of the ABC that this year's rodeo will bring in some $15,000 or more. With that amount they hope to be able to complete the current building program at the Boys' Club.

If the sale of box seats and advertising is any indication the ABC will achieve its goal. Box seat advance sales alone have passed the $3,000 mark.

With 160 members, all participating in one capacity or another, ABC is canvassing every possible source for prospective spectators. This campaign is being made not only in Lubbock but over the entire South Plains area. Member teams are visiting surrounding towns and cities. They are talking to clubs, schools and over the radio. They are advertising in a score of newspapers.

Parade Also Planned

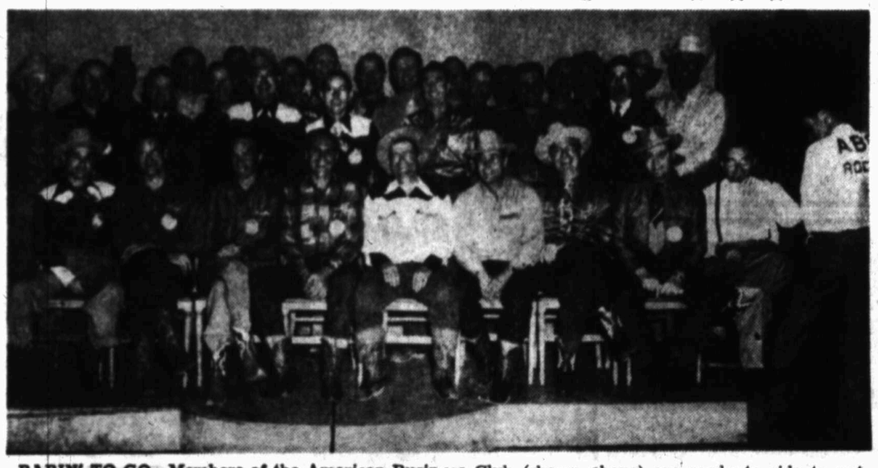

The members have an aggressive slogan which they refer to as the "3-Gs". They explain that it means "guts, glee and glue."

A mile-long parade will be the curtain raiser when it emerges from the fair grounds at 5 p. m. on June 8. Made up of colorful riders, animals, clowns and other attractions it will wend its way up Broadway to disband after reaching Texas Tech. Then in Jones Stadium to the blare of bands the rodeo will begin at 7 p. m.

Some of the feature attractions will be; the Byron Hendrix family who are Roman riders and jumpers; 'Beeswax' Moore and his comedy specialties; expertly trained horses, some of which have appeared in movie pictures; clowns and a host of other acts.

"Those who purchase tickets for this great show need not feel that they are 'just making another contribution,'" Hale said. "They'll be helping a worthwhile civic project but they will also be getting their full value in exciting entertainment."

RARIN' TO GO—Members of the American Business Club (shown above) are ready to ride to put over the 1949 Boys' Club Rodeo scheduled for June 8, 9, 10, and 11. Rigged out in ten-gallon hats, Levis and boots, club members will begin a general ticket sale in Lubbock and the surrounding area next Wednesday morning at 8 a. m. They promise the biggest show of its kind ever to be held in Lubbock. (Staff Photo.)

Many Foreign Relief Agencies In Poland Ending Operations

WARSAW, Poland, May 14 (AP)—Numerous foreign relief agencies operating in Poland since 1946 are winding up their work. The government recently advised all such organizations that funds to aid their operations were now exhausted.

After the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation program in Poland ended in 1947 $250,000 was set aside to help foreign relief agencies continuing work here to pay their administrative costs. The government also provided free railway transportation for relief shipments and free warehousing charges. In addition, a reduction of 50 percent was allowed on all gasoline used by the relief outfits.

The government said these privileges, too, would have to cease as of May 1. Government officials, however, emphasized that all foreign agencies which wished to continue their aid programs after that date were welcome to do so on their own resources.

Lewis Says UMW Welfare Fund Payments Aided Many Miners

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 14—John L. Lewis reported today that the United Mine Workers' welfare fund has spent 106 million dollars in the past two years alleviating a "great backlog of human misery" in the coal fields.

This expenditure, made possible by contributions from the owners of the nation's soft coal mines, represented death benefits, diability and widows' assistance grants, pensions, medical, health and hospital care for 344,168 beneficiaries.

May Ask Increase

Lewis' report on operations of the fund to May 1, 1949, comes on the eve of negotiations for a new coal contract in which he probably will ask the operators to increase their welfare contributions. They now are paying 20 cents a ton on all coal mined.

The UMW president contends, however, that this "royalty" is not enough to meet rising demands on the welfare program and his latest report supports this argument.

Before the present 20-cent "royalty" began last July, the fund had collected approximately 65 million dollars from smaller 1946 and 1947 contributions. In the past 10 months it has collected around 75 million dollars. The total would be roughly 140 million.

Payments Are Heavy

Since the fund has spent $106,840,139 from the time the first death benefits were paid in May, 1947, it should have a balance now of approximately 34 million dollars.

The welfare fund load has been gradually climbing, however, in the past two years. First it paid only death benefits, then disability and hospital care. The $100-a-month pension program was not started until last September. It is now paying out about two million dollars a week.

The welfare fund load has been gradually climbing, however, in the past two years. First it paid only death benefits, then disability and hospital care. The $100-a-month pension program was not started until last September. It is now paying out about two million dollars a week.

The UMW welfare program aids miners and their families through the following services:

Death benefits of $1,000; disability payments up to a maximum of $60 a month for the disabled miner, $20 for his wife, and $10 for each child; widows' assistance grants up to a maximum of $60 a month and $10 for each child.

Totals Are Given

Medical, health and hospital care; pensions of $100 monthly for miners aged 60 with 20 years service who retired after May 29, 1946—the date when the program was inaugurated under a contract between Lewis and Interior Secretary Krug.

Lewis' report gave the following breakdown on fund expenditures:

Death benefits—$12,320,524 to 30,508 beneficiaries; disability and widows' assistance grants — $67,976,452 to 266,722 beneficiaries; pensions — $23,754,637 to 34,054 beneficiaris; medical, health and hospital service—$2,788,526 to 12,884 beneficiaries.

The UMW chief said the welfare fund disbursements are not related merely to the past two years "but have to do with a great backlog of human misery built up by human neglect over a full fifty years." He estimated that from 1910 to 1945, 68,842 coal miners were killed and 65,000 injured each year during the period.

Lewis said when the fund started, it found over 400 miners paralyzed from the waist down, many of whom "had lain in hill cabins or small mining camps without medical care for more than 25 years." The report added:

"... Three hundred eighty have now been hospitalized and almost half of these hopeless and neglected men are beginning to walk again ..."

Yugoslavia scientists claim to have developed new chemicals for use in fields, orchards and vineyards in recent months.

'Ugliest Burglar' Gets Face Lifted

CLEVELAND, May 14 (U.P.)—A petty burglar who blamed his career of crime on his ugly face is on his way to a useful life, thanks to plastic surgery and a generous community.

Joel W. Glaefke, 32, known as the "ugly burglar," was arrested a year ago as he tried to steal a gum dispensing machine. Brought before Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick, he told how his face had plagued him since childhood.

As a youth he was shunned by his schoolmates. Later, while serving a term in the Ohio Reformatory, he walked away from its honor farm "because even the prisoners wouldn't have anything to do with me." Drafted into the Army in the last war, he tried to drown himself because other soldiers wouldn't associate with him.

He asked Judge Merrick to help him get a new face so that society no longer would shun him. Merrick turned the case over to two court psychiatrists and the probation officer.

Through the court's efforts, Glaefke has been given $3,000 worth of plastic and oral surgery in the past eight months. All but $35 worth has been free of charge.

Now Glaefke has a steady job as a laborer and for the first time in years he has hope for the future.

Conservative Party Is Credited With British Election Triumph

LONDON, May 14 (AP) — The thumping victories scored by Conservatives over the candidates of Britain's governing labor party in local elections this week may be less significant than they seem.

Many observers on both sides say the results can not be interpreted as evidence that the Conservatives necessarily will recapture control in next year's parliamentary elections. This despite the fact both sides campaigned with 1950 in mind.

Labor, which has been in the saddle since 1945, still has a good chance to stay there, they say.

They argue that local campaigns are not fought exclusively on national issues; that national elections do not always follow local trends; and the turnout of voters was too small to give an accurate sampling.

Conservative party Chairman Lord Woolton said cautiously of the elections, however, "I think we can regard them as a miniature general Election and as giving some indication of the change of opinion that has taken place in the country since 1945."

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the Labor party, declared his party still held two-thirds of its postwar local gains and denied there had been a Tory landslide.

Final Returns Listed

The British Press associaton announced these final unofficial returns from voting for borough councils:

Of 4,693 seats at stake in the various councils, Conservatives took 1,856, Labor 1,778, Independents 941, Liberals 107 and Communists 11.

This was a net gain of 805 for the Conservatives and a net loss of 715 for Labor.

Labor lost six of London's 28 borough councils but kept control of 17. It previously held 23.

London's council seats went 739 to Labor, 616 to Conservatives, 11 to Communists and four to Independents. This was a net gain of 269 for the Conservatives and a net loss of 262 for Labor.

London newspapers generally shied away from treating the voting as a tip on 1950, but the Daily Express called it a "resounding vote of no confidence" in the Labor government.

Brain Cancer Kills American Woman After Atomic Chemicals Fail To Destroy Tumor

LONDON, May 14 (AP) — Iris Davis died today of a brain cancer.

One of the new wonders of the world—a radio active chemical from the atomic ovens in Tennessee—had failed to halt the growing tumor that sapped her life.

Iris, the pretty 24-year-old daughter of a New York newsreel theater operator, was stricken last autumn while on a tour of Europe.

Appealed To Officials

At a hospital overlooking the dreary winter scene of suburban Hammersmith, doctors advised that a radioactive chemical might save or prolong her life.

Her father, Jack Davis appealed to the U. S. Atomic Energy commission. The chemical, carrying the rays that can mean death or the hope of life, was flown from Oak Ridge, Tenn., to London.

The British Medical Research society agreed to take it in custody and rush it to the hospital.

After five months, Iris' father advertised in the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune.

"Save my only daughter's life," he pleaded to whatever doctor might read that paper. "Hope abandoned by doctors and spiritual healers. Radio active phosphate administered without results. Parents frantic."

Iris lived on for 25 more days. This morning, while Londoners were sitting down to breakfast, her father telephoned the Associated Press.

"Iris died this morning," he said simply.

London's Natural History Museum recently got from J. C. Smith a collection of 4,091 Burmese birds.

Cardinal Mindszenty Claimed Mental Case

ROME, May 14 (AP) — The Vatican radio yesterday quoted the Italian news agency Astra as saying Josef Cardinal Mindszenty has suffered a mental breakdown in a Hungarian prison. There was no confirmation of the report elsewhere.

The cardinal was convicted in February of treason, espionage and black market currency dealings by the Communist-controlled Hungarian government. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Astra's story quoted a doctor, now in Vienna, who said he attended the cardinal at the order of the Hungarian government. He said Cardinal Mindszenty was in "desperate condition."

Astra quoted the doctor as saying the cardinal "no longer is master of his mental faculties. He breathes with difficulty and always holds his mouth open. His look is bewildered, like that of the demented."

The physician, who was described by Astra as having fled Hungary after examining the prelate, was not identifiled by name.

Indian Road Engineers Leave For Studies In United States

NEW DELHI, May 14. (AP) — A third group of Indian government road engineers assigned to study in the United States is leaving for America.

This group, including one engineer representing the central government and eight from Indian provinces and states, will remain in the United States 18 weeks. The engineers will attend a course of lectures provided by the Public Roads administration of the federal government and study application of road-building techniques.

Other groups of road engineers studied in America in 1946 and 1947 at the invitation of the United States government.

NEUROSIS

Case History No. 2101; man; age 34; SYMPTOMS: Severe Neurosis and Nervousness; run-down condition; loss of appetite; insomnia (loss of sleep); had crying spells; unable to hold down a steady job; numbness in arms and hands; nervous breakdown two years ago.

HISTORY OF ACCIDENTS

Came To Stephens Chiropractic Clinic

After trying various methods of treatments without any permanent relief he was persuaded to come to the STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC, where the so-called hopeless DO get well. X-Ray pictures were made of his spine which revealed that the vertebrae in his spinal column were in a distorted position. The Neurocalograph (a product of General Electric) determined by a photo electric recorder, the actual degree of nerve trouble that developed in his spine and especially at the base of his skull.

What Chiropractic Has Done For Him

After taking a series of Scientific Chiropractic Service and having a few re-action spells his Nervousness is a thing of the past. He now sleeps well; good appetite; no more crying spells; the numbness in his arms and hands has disappeared; and, is holding down a steady job. He said, "I wouldn't take anything for what Chiropractic has done for me and I feel better than any other time."

Out-Of-Towners Expected For Opening Of Lubbock VFW Home

Three hundred persons from out of town are expected to arrive in Lubbock next Saturday and Sunday for sessions of the annual District 7 convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars, William Earl Creel, commander of the Lubbock Post, announced Saturday.

The event, which will draw out-of-district delegates from Amarillo, Dumas, Abilene, Plainview, Odessa and Wichita Falls, will be the first occasion for the Lubbock post to entertain in its new $65,000 home at Thirty-fourth street and Ave. N.

The building was finished last week and the first meeting was held in it Wednesday. State officials of the VFW will be present at the convention.

Opens Saturday

The convention opens at 10 a. m. Saturday with registration in the post home.

A caucus of district post commanders will be at 2 p. m. Saturday. The resolutions committee and nominating committee will meet in the Pine room of Lubbock hotel from 3 until 6 p. m. Saturday.

From 6:30 until 7:30 p. m. Saturday the Ladies auxiliary will have a tea and reception in the lounge of the post home. A dance in the home's main ballroom will feature music by Burl Hubbard and his orchestra from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Sunday registration begins at 9:30 a. m. The program will begin with invocation by Tommy Harrell of Lubbock. Creel will extend a welcome to visitors.

Memorial Rite Planned

At 10 a. m. Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church, will speak at a memorial service, accompanied by musical selections.

Capt. James Morris, co-pilot of the famous "Lucky Lady II", B-50 bomber that flew around the world non-stop, will be a principal speaker on the morning program Sunday. His talk will be broadcast from 11 to 11:30 a. m.

S. A. Childress of Waco, state department commander of the VFW, and Mrs. Violet Kenney, Borger department president of the VFW ladies auxiliary, will give addresses.

H. B. Virgil Crawford of Brownfield, commander of district 7, will preside at the session.

Miss Sarah Wescoat, Amarillo High school student who won a $1,000 essay contest sponsored by the Ladies auxiliary, will recie her essay, "Key to World Peace."

A barbecue will be at noon Sunday in the post home, followed by a business meeting at 2 p. m. Election of district officers for the next year will be an important part of the business.

Creel said a recent membership drive has brought the Lubbock VFW post to second largest in Texas. Prior to Wednesday night the post was third largest. Abilene has the state's largest membership with 1,076 members.

Among those helping in arrangements for the convention are the district auxiliary president, Mrs. Christine Moore of Lubbock; and president of the Lubbock auxiliary, Mrs. Billie McIlroy.

Committees include Jim Crook, James Dallas, Leete Jackson, Jimmy Sillman and Roger Hively, publicity committee; Jim D. Clark, Sgt. J. L. Green and Carl Moyers, entertainment committee: Earl Jones, Tillman McGouirk and V. R. Gilmore, food committee; and Mrs. Jean Stevenson, Mrs. Sybil Bryant, Mrs. Lola Mae Creel, Mrs. Bertha Ray Clark, Mrs. Warita Coffey, Mrs. Louisa Everhart, Mrs. Bernice McDonald and Mrs. Alene Myers, ladies entertainment committee.

Students Get Chance To See Teachers Take Own Medicine

ITHACA, N. Y., May 14 (U.P.) — Cornell University will turn the tables on teachers of foreign languages at its summer session starting July 5.

Teachers will be required to learn a new language, just to see how it feels to be a student.

"It instills a healthy sense of humility in a teacher to go through the process of learning a new language," Dr. J. M. Cowan, director of the university's division of modern languages, said.

Burnett Brazell Of Lubbock Gets Discharge From Marines

BRAZELL

Burnett Brazel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Brazell of Lubbock route 3, recently was discharged from the U. S. Marine corps after four years' active service.

Brazell volunteered for the Marine corps in April, 1945, and trained at Parris Island, S. C.; Camp Lejeune, N. C.; and Camp Pendleton, Calif. He later went overseas to Guam, where he served two years.

Since February, 1948, he had been stationed at Quantico, Va.

He now plans to farm with his father, who has a farm along the Lubbock-Shallowater highway.

Retail prices in Paris dropped four per cent in February, 1949, from January, the sharpest decline for one month since 1932.

A HOLLYWOOD Column

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, May 14 — Discount those stories you've heard about Ramon Novarro's one-time high temperature love-making.

The No. 1 celluloid lover boy of them all says they just aren't true.

"Maybe I suggested more," he told me, "but I did less than any leading man on the screen today I was a gentleman. We photographed thoughts — not action. When I kissed a lady it was a kiss —not a bite."

John Gilbert and Valentino may have bit their leading ladies, but not Novarro. He said: "I did it with a look."

That Novarro look paid off to the tune of $10,000 a week when he was starring 25 years ago in such heart throbbers as "Ben Hur," "Scaramouche," "The Prisoner of Zenda," "The Student Prince" and, when talkies came, in "The Pagan Love Song" and "Song of India."

Behind the Novarro look was physical perfection—and that darn near drove him crazy. Cameramen had orders to light him perfectly in every shot, to make him look handsome in every scene.

"By the time they got through lighting me like a painting I couldn't turn my head more than a few inches. One day I complained: 'I can't act when I can't move.'"

Novarro Today

A DIRECTOR replied: "Don't worry about acting, son. Just look handsome. You can act when you get old."

Today, at 50 with a gray-tipped goatee, Ramon Novarro is a wealthy actor.

He invested wisely in real estate and when he plays a movie role now it is to break the monotony of collecting rent. You'll see him next with Bob Mitchum and Jane Greer in RKO's "The Big Steal."

He plays a Mexican police inspector — one of the few times he's ever played his own nationality. He was born in Durango, Mexico, and came to the U. S. when he was 17.

But about screen love-making of today compared with 25 years ago. I'll let Ramon do the talking.

"Maybe love scenes in silent films were more suggestive because pantomime is more potent than dialog," he said. "Maybe it was because the leading ladies were always in distress and not the brazen man chasers they are today."

No one ever caught Novarro slugging a doll a'la the Burt Lancasters of today.

He remembers director Fred Niblo warning him: "If you hit a woman, Ramon, the audience will never for give you."

There was plenty of censorship, he remembers, mostly self-imposed. He made a picture with Alice Terry called "The Lovers." It turned out to be such a steam-heated romance that producer Irving Thalberg gave the film a whole set of new subtitles to cool things down.

Garbo In The Dark

IN "Mata Hari," Garbo and Novarro played a bedroom scene in a darkened room with only their burning cigarets discernible. The studio decided the scene was censorable and re-shot it with them sitting on a couch in a well-lighted room.

Almost half of another Novarro film, "The Night Is Young," was refilmed because sneak preview fans complained that it was censorable.

"I was the idealistic lover," Novarro laughed. "I had to be careful. I always had to keep one foot on the floor in love scenes."

Novarro is still famous for his business acumen. He wrote all his contracts himself. When the old Metro studio merged into Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the new regime decided to break his contract and give him a new one.

They soon found it couldn't be broken. There were no loopholes. Later, the M-G-M attorney told him: "Novarro, you surprised me. I didn't know actors had any sense."

Novarro is a paradox. He was the screen's No. 1 lover for 15 years but he was and still is a bachelor. But as a bachelor he supported a family of 16—brothers, sisters, mother and relatives.

"There were so many of us," he laughed, "I got hotel rates on our laundry."

Bennett Cerf reports it:

Lionel Barrymore was asked how he enjoyed making a picture with little Margaret O'Brien. It was common knowledge that the fabulous moppet had stolen several scenes from under Mr. B's nose, despite all his know-how and experience.

Barrymore regarded the reporter balefully and blurted:

"Two hundred years ago they'd have burned her as a witch."

New Zealand has sent a life-size toy lamb to Britain's new little Prince Carles.

Magazine-Cover Girls Said Poor Prospects For Movies

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, May 14.—The magazine-cover beauties and mink-clad models aren't going to like this. "Pretty people," says Casting Director Paul Nathan, "usually are pretty dull." He rarely finds a potential actress among the lovely faces on magazines. "Cover girls rarely can act at all." Paul explains it this way:

"People who are too good looking just don't work hard enough. The person with the unusual face works harder because he has to, to get by. Not that we look for grotesque people. But the person whol ooks like me and thee, who could be someone from next door, usually has far more on the ball, is far more interesting."

Wendell Corey, Burt Lancaster, Lizabeth Scott, and Corinne Calvet are among the people whom Nathan has helped his boss, Producer Hal Wallis, bring to the screen. Miss Calvet, in a film test, had a personality that "just jumped off the screen."

Lancaster stood out in a Broadway play, "A Sound of Hunting," that was not a hit. Liz Scott looked interesting as Tallulah Bankhead's understudy. Parenthetically, there's Paul Douglas over at 20th Century-Fox, whose director in "A Letter to Three Wives" called him "baboon face." Yet Douglas and Linda Darnell, who has enough beauty for any two people, are being hailed as an interesting new romantic team.

Many men might envy a casting director's lot. Pretty girls have kissed Nathan on the cheek with cries of "You're so cuddly!" or "You're so much younger than I thought!" He doesn't recommend such forwardness as an approach for aspiring actresses. His reaction is, "Let's get somebody who can act." A gal who brought along a folder full of nude photos of herself also got nothing but the door out.

If you want to act, his advice is: "Don't sit and wait for a call. Get out and act somewhere in a little theater."

It has an all-male cast—there's no love them, not even the swish of a WAC's skirt. It's the study of a great man. It's filled with the kind of discussion rarely put on the screen. It should be a command desicion of every breadwinner in these parts that his family see this mighty film. We unconditionally recommend it for your "must" list.—The Management.

Labrador Voters Scorn Hardships

BY ROBERT J. McCLEAVE
United Press Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA, Ont., May 14—Men are men in Labrador, and nothing like a 100-mile walk will prevent them from voting in the federal elections, Magistrate Harry Noseworthy believes.

Noseworthy, electoral officer for Labrador, has 2,000 voters scattered over a vast territory to look after on polling day, which will be about June 27.

Noseworthy conferred here with Jules and Nelson Castonguay, who are in charge of the voting.

"The people of Labrador are really hardy, and I don't overwork that term," he said.

Take Jim McNeil of Island Harbor. He is 68 years old. Well, last winter I landed at Jim's place. His wife said he had gone off with their four dogs to get supplies 45 miles away. Does that every two months or so.

Calm About It

"Jim didn't arrive back that night, and a snowstorm blew up. He came in a couple of days later. He told us he was caught by the storm 30 miles from home. He simply made himself a shelter in the woods."

The young magistrate grinned. "The way he said it was like a Canadian saying 'Darling, I missed the bus'."

A second case was trapper Goudie of Northwest River, Goudie starts his trapping trips in the fall, and is away through the winter.

"I asked Goudie if there was anything difficult in his work," said Noseworthy. "He told me he didn't think so.

"Then he told me about his trips. He would travel off in a canoe with about 500 pounds of food. After he reached the end of the river, he would have to portage his canoe and supplies to another river. It turned out to be 30 miles away — one way, that is.

Walk of 360 Miles

"It took him about six trips, with 80 or 100 pounds on his back each time and then the canoe, to make that portage. He'd walk 360 miles.

"Goudie finally admitted to me there might be something hard about that sort of life."

Noseworthy expects ice troubles in the election, but said it would not prevent voting. If boats cannot take the ballot boxes in, he will use a plane.

With the people of Newfoundland being masters of understatement, it's not surprising the magistrate is getting that way.

Weather Slows Building Permits In City; Total Now $3,376,030

Lubbock's building permits at mid-May total $3,376,030, records at the office of Lloyd Ross, building inspector, revealed Saturday.

Wet weather during most of the month has resulted in the issuance of only $270,830 in permits during the first half of May, the records revealed.

Total for April was $831,012, for March $1,112,869, for February $833,110 and for January $328,209.

Permits for 308 dwelling units had been issued up to May 1, Ross said.

CEREMONY IS SET

VATICAN CITY, May 14 (AP)—The ceremony of the canonization of the new Roman Catholic saint, Blessed Jeanne De Lestonnac, will take place tomorrow. She was the French founder of the order of the Daughters of the Blessed Virgin Mary. She died in 1640.

Rita Hayworth Sets May 27 As Date Of Her Marriage To Aly Kahn; Commie To Officiate

CANNES, France, May 14 (AP)—Rita Hayworth has set May 27 for her wedding to the Moslem Prince Aly Khan, friends said.

Other details about the ceremony which will unite the Hollywood glamor queen to the son of one of the world's richest men — the Aga Khan — were well-kept secrets.

Under French law a civic official in the region where the wedding takes place must officiate. In this case the official would probably be the mayor of the town where Aly Khan's palatial Chateau L'Harizon is situated. And he is Communist Paul Derigon — whose civilian job is accountant in a pottery factory.

No Application Yet

The mayor's office said Derigon had not been asked to perform the wedding and no application had been made for a license. Normally 15 days advance notice is required, but this may re reduced to eight days.

If the president of France agrees, the wedding can be performed at home instead of the city hall. But such dispensations are extremely rare.

Whether Prince Aly — son of the head of the Ismaili Moslem sect — and Rita also will have a Mohammedan ceremony after the civil rites has not been disclosed.

A Paris newspaper said her wedding dress will be pale blue — "the color of the glaciers." The gown is being made by Paris designer Jacques Fath.

There were only 35 civilian aircraft in Finland at the end of 1948.

Lubbock Has Big Job To Do For LAFB; FDR, Jr., Staging Hard Campaign

ALL SHOULD HELP

A Prize Is At Stake

THE RECENT "town meeting" sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to discuss reactivation of Lubbock Air Force Base underscored many facts and conclusions of interest and importance to the entire community.

Among the more important were these: Compliance with Air Force conditions for the reactivation requires cooperation by many civic-minded people; the Base represents an opportunity worth, many times over, the efforts to get it; and its value and magnitude as an enduring asset is sure to depend in large degree upon the people who reside here.

The preliminary negotiations for reactivation had to be conducted by small groups who, in face-to-face discussions, could ascertain more readily what was required and what could be done to get the Base.

A small group could ascertain the details of the job to be done but no small group can do it. Compliance with the conditions will require the help of many people. The housing stipulations illustrate. Many diverse interests—contractors, supply dealers, property owners, financiers and others — will have to work together if the housing requirements resulting from reactivation of the Base are to be met.

The compliance will require the civic spirit and foresight which can look beyond immediate gains to the greater benefits which would result from the Base as a permanent asset. Efforts now needed are likely to be largely in the nature of an investment in Lubbock's future, because immediate profits are likely, at most, to be small.

LATER dividends are likely to be in many forms, some more valuable than financial. But dollars and cents are a convenient yardstick for measuring one of the values of the facility to this city and area. Practically everyone can perceive that a payroll and supply purchases expected to aggregate more than $800,000 a month initially would mean a bulwark against such things as recessions or depressions.

As long as the Base is operative—and plans are indicative of intended permanence—it will be a source of revenue in bad times as well as good. If bad times come around, as they do occasionally, the presumption is logical that any government "made work" program would include provisions for improvements, perhaps on large scale, for facilities like LAFB.

Right now it is important to remember that reactivation is dependent upon compliance with certain definite conditions. If we meet those conditions, we get the Base. If we don't, we don't.

At the moment, we have an opportunity, the fault will be our own.

IF WE GET it—and we are confident we will—then the same type of interest and energy is pretty sure to determine how permanent it actually may be and the size and importance it may attain. Conservative Air Force men think it is likely to become very, very big and important.

But the future possibilities will be something to concentrate upon as we get to them.

Right now, the emphasis must be upon the actual getting. We cannot be complacent about this.

That's the job we must attend to now. We must comply with the Air Force conditions for reactivation.

Otherwise, to be blunt, we won't get the Base. And we could not justly complain because the reason would be our failure to do our share in the bargain.

It is for Lubbock to decide, in short, whether Opportunity will be converted into a reactivated LAFB.

"Do you know what is becoming of your money?" asks an insurance company. Well, no, but we're beginning to suspect we're spending it.

"If denied something he wants, a young monkey has tantrums," says an animal trainer. Young monkeys, it seems, are no better than children.

U. S. Urged To Settle Claims From War Veterans

By SARAH McCLENDON
Alanche-Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 14 — The United States ought to settle its own claims from suffering war veterans, particularly those persecuted on Bataan before handing out millions to the Swiss government without even an examination of claims, Rep. Lindley Beckworth, Gladewater told the House in an impassioned speech this week.

The plea for Bataan's almost forgotten men came from a youthful congressman who has been elected to the House continuously since the last war so therefore did not see service. On several occasions he has made a plea for veterans, however.

Beckworth does not speak on the House floor often, but when he does he shows leadership potentialities. He began serving in the House in 1939, being just barely old enough to get under the age bar.

Stand Was Surprise

His speech came as sort of a surprise to the House which was considering the payment of some $16,000,000 of claims against the U. S. by the Swiss who pointed out that the U. S Air Force and Army had violated the Swiss neutrality. The Swiss wants payment with interest. When Beckworth got through speaking the matter had become such a controversial issue that the party leadership deferred action on the bill until later. The next day, however, when the smoke had cleared, the House came back and defeated a motion to pay the claim without interest, and then passed the bill.

Beckworth asked: "How much freedom would the Swiss be enjoying today if it had not been for the efforts of our soldiers over Europe."

Then Beckworth recalled that the history of claims in this country "is very interesting."

"What did we do or what do we propose to do for those boys who were in the Death March on Bataan?" he asked. "We are altogether too hasty in our efforts to take care of those other countries, countries which have been the great beneficiaries of America's generosity and hospitality before even examining the merits of the claims of our own country and our own citizens How paltry are the pittances we give our own people."

Referring to the Bataan death marchers, Beckworth said: "We propose to give them a dollar a day, 33 1-3 cents a meal, for what they suffered in the way of torture and loss of health. What has happened? We passed that bill almost a year ago but thus far these, our own soldiers have not received even one penny, yet those boys are dying daily because of their sufferings at the hands of our enemies . . .

"If we give the Swiss the amount of money provided by this bill, we shall have been wonderfully free in the taxpayers' money, especially since the claims of our own people, people who suffered literally around the world, have not been adjudicated. Yes, let us be a little more cautious."

The War Claims Commission set up to reveiw the entire war claims picture has not even begun to operate.

Sen. Johnson Keeps Busy

CHAIRMANship of several Senate sub-committees and work on the usual two full committees means busy days now for Senator Lyndon Johnson.

Recently he was named chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce sub-committee on natural gas which has scheduled hearings on May 17 on Rep. John Lyle's bill to put intra-state gas producers outside the scope of the Federal Power Commission. Senator Bob Kerr of Oklahoma is the author of the Senate version of this bill to amend the Natural Gas act.

In the Senate Armed Services committee, he is chairman of a sub-committee of considerable importance to students who may wish to do research in aeronautics.

The sub-committee is studying whether to give federal funds to state universities to do research in air speeds If the funds are provided, they would mean that wind tunnels could be constructed

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

SOME Senator, I don't remember who, and it doesn't matter, proposed that all members of the Senate be limited in the number of words they may use.

A certain number of words may be inserted free in the Congressional Record, he suggested. But so much per word is to be paid out of the Senator's own pocket if he exceeds his verbiage allowance.

BRANDEIS

Nothing will come of the idea, of course.

Attempting to take the oratorical privilege away from a politician would be as successful as trying to dam a Mississippi river flood with your thumb.

It can't be done.

However I wish there could be a self-imposed penalty on the excess use of words.

Words can be very dangerous.

Children like to play with matches.

Grownups like to play with words.

Both are equally inflammable.

Every war, every strike, every domestic fight is preceded by a barrage of inflammatory words.

A bullet hits the mark and is spent.

Words travel on. They spread as they travel. They arouse, incite, inflame.

One of the greatest troubles with words is that often the vilest cowards can do the greatest damage with them.

Words are cheap. Perhaps that is why successful men use them sparingly.

People rich in thoughts and ideas don't have to use cheap words.

We are living in an age of unrest and social changes. Uncertainty and discontent are rampant.

Instead of allaying our fears and doubts, rabble rousers and irresponsible would-be reformers are substituting inflammatory orations for sound reasoning and reassuring logic.

Men and women who themselves have achieved nothing promise to lead us into Utopia.

They try to convince us that the old principles of ability, industry and honestly are out of date. They try to persuade us that laziness, shiftlessness, stupidity and rebellion are the new coins of the realm.

DON'T believe them.

Don't let the spellbinders tell you that milk and honey are to be had for the sitting-down and the day-dreaming.

Cows still have to be milked. Bees still have to hustle for the sweet stuff.

Justice has been pictured as blind. Justice is not blind. Justice has her eyes wide open and "does to you as you do to them."

There is only one Utopia to which you can be admitted without work, without saving, without ability, without brains.

That Utopia is the poorhouse.

COALITION IS FACED

Red Praises U. S.

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., is facing somewhat the same type of coalition in his battle to win Sol Bloom's old seat in New York's 20th congressional district as the Communists have staged in parts of Europe.

In Rumania, for instance, the Communists teamed up with Fascist Iron Guard and even tried to get exiled King Carol back to rule under the wing of the Soviet.

PEARSON

In New York, likewise, the Communist-dominated American Labor party has made an under-the-table deal with the old guard leaders of Tammany to knife FDR, jr. Under cover, the American labor party is working for Tammany's Judge Shalleck, which is the pay-off for a secret deal last year whereby Tammany knifed its own candidate in favor of Congressman Vito Marchantonio, only labor party member now serving in Congress.

The alliance would make Jimmy Walker turn over in his grave.

But, despite bitter attacks from both the Daily Worker and old guard Tammanyites, FDR, Jr., is making real progress. In fact, he has Tammany in a state of jitters. His chief backers are the Liberal party plus a great many regular Democrats who have bolted Tammany to send another Roosevelt to Washington.

"When Frankie Costello (the big gambler) can tell a Roosevelt that he can't run on the Democratic ticket," says FDR, Jr., "then I thank God for the liberal party."

NOTE—FDR, Jr., is staging a bangup campaign, is drawing enthusiastic crowds, and is showing a lot of his father's political "it."

Communists's View Of U. S. A.

Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party, was talking with Lawrence Spivak the other day prior to a "Meet The Press" radio program.

Spivak asked Browder whether any of the former Communist boss's children have been harmed by their father's political activity. Browder replied that his oldest son is a brilliant mathematician and is now teaching at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Continued Browder:

"You know, this is the only nation in the world where someone like my son could get so far despite his father's political views."

PUBLIC hopes for American money under President Truman's "point four" plan are growing daily in Latin America. This is the plan for aiding underdeveloped areas. However, there are also some mental reservations.

Generally speaking, the scope and intent of the project are well understood in South America. Most people who have heard of it realize clearly that most of the capital must come from private sources. And that is just the reason for certain qualms and skepticism.

To comprehend this skepticism you need only review an obscure but significant chapter in American history.

After the Spanish-speaking peoples of this Hemisphere had fought and won their wars of independence from Spain (1810-25), there was strong sentiment in favor of unifying all the continent. Simon Bolivar, the great soldier-statesman, established the Gran Colombia Federation, including all northern South America, and was striving to form a Central American union.

Four Nations, Not Ten

Farther south, Uruguay and Paraguay were parts of the "River Plata Federation" with Argentina, while the Bolivia of today was then a Chilean province. In other words, four nations were emerging in South America instead of ten, and the plan was to make a single republic of Central American rather than the six into which it is now divided.

But important elements in both the United States and Britain were strongly opposed—for individual but similar reasons. London thought in terms of its traditional balance-of-power; while the fledgling United States frankly feared too much concentration of political or economic power in the same hemisphere.

Both governments acted shabbily to impose their wills on weak neighbors. Britain, arrogant and self-assured, sent an ultimatum to Argentina and Brazil: his majesty's government could not accept domination of South America's entire Atlantic coastline by two large nations. Thus tiny Uruguay was born as a buffer state.

The English also thoughtfully provided arms to bandit groups in Paraguay and Bolivia, who called themselves "patriots." As a result, these two countries were created as "independent" republics — though the degree of true independence since enjoyed by either one is about the same as that of the kingdom of Monaco.

Meanwhile, the U. S. A., which could not afford to be arrogant, blocked Simon Bolivar's plan for Central American unification by encouraging ultra-nationalist, isolationist factions throughout that region.

THEN, with the hemisphere broken up into fourteen separate countries, most of them hopelessly weak and unable to maintain themselves economically, we announced the Monroe Doctrine, designed to prevent any European power from taking advantage of Latin-American weakness.

It was a brave, noble gesture—but, in practice, had about the same effect as decreeing that a six-week-old child would henceforth have to feed and dress himself without adult aid. For the United States not only told Europe "hands off Latin America" but officially maintained the same policy herself, for more than a century.

Finally, using the same methods by which we had blocked the Central American union, in 1831, our government succeeded in breaking up the Gran Colombia federation into the separate states of Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador.

Latin Americans are much more aware of all this history than we are, and feel that we have a moral responsibility—to do something constructive toward helping the republics whom we devided 100 years ago. The Truman "point four" program may be the answer.

Prolonged good living results in nervous disorders, says a medico. It takes a good man to stand prosperity.

PARODY OF HEADLINE NEWS

"The Big Secret" Is Exciting Tale

"THE BIG SECRET," by Merle Colby; (Viking Press).

MERLE COLBY, who knows his Washington well, reports one engagement in the atomic energy battle in "The Big Secret."

It is the story of the fight of a young, unknown physicist against an executive order which the "interests" are trying to get the President to sign.

Conflict Develops

Young Daniel Upstead, a physicist at a small Maine college, goes to Washington to hear a famous elder scientist read a paper. The scientist appears on the scheduled platform, only to announce angrily that some government bureau has forbidden the reading and that an agent of the "Military Security Commission" has stood over him while he burned the document.

Then the novel launches into a conflict between "pure" or "basic" science and atomic power interests. It's the story of a redheaded, crusading Daniel in the lion's den. Learning quickly that though science knows what makes a dog's saliva flow, it does not know what makes a politician's saliva flow, Daniel figures that if he can just tell the President what it's all about, there'll be no executive order muzzling research workers. So, just like that, he sets out to knock on the White House door.

Use Stronger Methods

The lions can't figure him out. Is he all alone, and as naive as he seems, or is he a front for some big section of voters? They try to bribe him with the gift of a laboratory, but he doesn't want a laboratory. They resort to stronger methods. Gen. Conoy, and Lowdermore of the Committee for Free Private Enterprise, and Skimmerhoff of the Senate Committee on Subversive Associations and Disloyal Thoughts, and others egged on by the great industrial Framm family threaten to get him fired, to run him out of town, to smear him with the charge of radical.

Aside from a few discreet well wishers, he carries on the fight to get the President's ear with little help from anyone except a taxi driver and a pretty government clerk. How the press helps him out, especially The Associated Press, and how he finally wins his victory, makes a most romantic climax.

All Types In Story

All the familiar Washington types enter into the story—presidential secretaries, stupid or self-seeking bureaucrats, lobbyists, publicity-conscious senators, society women and just plain people.

"The Big Secret" is intensely interesting, and at times exciting. It poses a big question in a simple way. And it has the real atmosphere of the capital city. There are numerous people whose counterparts anyone familiar with Washington will recognize, and Colby makes them human and believable. He also brings in some real people by name.

There is some stumbling in the unfolding of the yarn, but there are entertaining improbabilities, and smart takeoffs in hearings and press conferences The opening and close are effectively handled. It is probably significant of something that this parody of what has often been headline news should be destined for mass circulation as the Literary Guild selection for June.

"Pride's Castle"

"PRIDE'S CASTLE," by Frank Yerby; (Dial).

EVERYTHING but sex, power and money are sketched in Frank Yerby's "Pride Castle."

Those three items get the full treatment. Pride Dawson, the main character, is a variant of the Rhett Butler type, although he rises higher in the New York firmament of post-Civil War days than Rhett presumably might have. He makes $5,000,000 and battles with titans named Vanderbilt, Gould, Drew and the like. He is irresistible to women, physically strong and impressive though not handsome, embittered, lustful proud, cynically dedicated to wealth and power.

His mistress is Sharon, who nonetheless is a reverent, loyal "good" woman. His wife is an heiress to $40,000,000 who finally goads him to suicide. Children, real and adopted, contribute to the emotional smash-up at the end. The result is not very convincing, but the costumes should be dazzling in Technicolor.

"Briton Hadden"

"BRITON HADDEN," by Noel F. Busch; (Farrar, Straus).

THE life of an almost forgotten young man who helped found Time Magazine is chronicled in "Briton Hadden." The book was written by Hadden's cousin, Noel F. Busch.

Hadden died at the age of 31, just six years after he and Henry Luce put out the first issue of Time. During most of those six years, Hadden guided the new magazine editorially while Luce handled the business.

In most readable fashion Busch relates how the young editorial genius created "Time-style" writing, insulted his advertisers and new readers, faked letters to the editor to stir up controversy and made a million dollars before he was 30.

"And One To Grow On"

"AND ONE TO GROW ON," by John Gould; (Morrow).

JOHN GOULD has produced a book full of sweet nostalgia for lost youth and regret that the reader's own boyhood was not spent in a small Maine seaside town.

He calls it "And One to Grow On," and spins it out in the fine style that made his "The House That Jacob Built" notable.

He recreates the Ladies Aid food sales so vividly that the musty mixture of stale dust and rich cakes in a long-closed church basement leaves its tantalizing odor almost literally on the pages of his book. He takes small town characters—the "foolish fellows," the old tale-spinners, the town drunk—that populate every village and gives them reality beyond the printed word He gives schooldays an attraction they seldom have while they are being lived—from the weekly class in "speaking" to the thrill of snuggling in the sticky softness of the annual hayride.

John Gould still lives on the farm cleared by his grandfather 200 years ago. If life there is an approach to what he depicts in his latest work, who can blame him.

Special Studies Held At School

Students of Chris Harwell elementary school currently are bringing to a close a study of varied experiences in community life and democratic living throughout the world.

Students and faculty members of the school this year entered into a special study of social sciences.

Their materials and experiences are to be utilized in the elementary curriculum being compiled in the Lubbock public schools.

All To Contribute

Principal Howard L. Day, of Chris Harwell school, is directing compilation of the material, which will be used by the elementary curriculum committee during the summer. All teachers and all grades of the school will contribute to the work.

Curriculum revision work during the summer will be under the direction of Ishmael Hill, assistant superintendent in charge of elementary education.

Primary grades at Chris Harwell have centered their study around "How We Live and Work Together in Our Communities." Intermediate pupils have concentrated on study of democratic living with other children, both in the United States and in foreign countries.

Special Event Set

As an outgrowth of a study of life in Australia, sixth-grade pupils of Mrs. Dave Foreman this week will be hosts to parents and friends for an "Aussie Round-Up." The event will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday. Visitors will be entertained with a demonstration of visual aids, an electric quiz board of Australian animals drawn by the students, and a puppet show. The puppets, made by the students, will appear in a presentation entitled "Life on the Continent Down Under." It features the experiences of the puppets as they encounter the peculiar animals of Australia.

Third grade students at the school have been studying transportation and communication.

Fourth graders have centered their interest on Australia, and will give a radio quiz show to show what they have learned of the island continent.

Fifth graders have made a study of Canada, Alaska and the Latin American countries. At present, the school show case is filled with handicraft items of the Latin American nations. Fifth-grade students also have given a program illustrating songs, customs and life in Mexico.

IN CHRIS HARWELL PUPPET SHOW—Shown above are featured performers in the "Aussie Round-Up" to be staged at 1:30 p. m. Friday at Chris Harwell elementary school by sixth-grade students. A special act on the program is a puppet show, in which puppets made by students are used. The Round-Up comes as the climax of a study of Australia by students in the room of Mrs. Dave Foreman. Shown above, left to right, are LaVerne Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Perry of Lubbock route 6, mistress of ceremonies; J. W. (Dub) Miers, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. India Plans To Develop Small Industries From Japan Models

NEW DELHI, May 14 (AP) — The government of India plans to develop her cottage and small-scale industries on the Japanese model. An official delegation of two experts will soon leave for Japan to study such industries and select small machines and labor-saving devices.

This delegation also will select a few Japanese technicians to work in India. They will help establish new industries and introduce new methods and techniques in existing ones.

The immediate objective of the mission is to assist rehabilitation of refugees from Pakistan.

Underwood To Attend Meet Of Seminary's Trustees

AUSTIN, May 14. (Special) — Arch S. Underwood of the Union Compress and Warehouse, Lubbock, will be in Austin Wednesday, May 18 for the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary.

Underwood is a member of the board's committee on investments.

Highlighting the meeting will be ground-breaking ceremonies for a new library building. Underwood will remain in Austin Wednesday night to attend commencement exercises of the 1949 graduating class.

TO SPEAK HERE THIS WEEK — Youthful John E. Hines, bishop coadjutor of the Diocese of Texas of the Episcopal church of Austin, is to be in Lubbock Tuesday and Wednesday for several appearances before local groups. Tuesday noon he will speak at the luncheon of the Lubbock Lions club at the Hilton hotel and Wednesday night at 7 o'clock at the Hilton he will be principal speaker at a dinner meeting sponsored by Episcopal men. Reservations for the banquet may be made at St. Paul's Episcopal church.

U. S. Urged

on university campuses for students to engage in research.

The University of Texas has long wanted a wind tunnel. The research scientists there who guide young Texans in their study believe they could progress much farther if provided with a wind tunnel. The bill under study now by Johnson's committee would provide just this.

The university, it is understood, would coordinate the wind tunnel with the $8,000,000 surplus magnesium plant which Johnson recently got the government to permit the university to acquire.

Johnson previously in this session had headed a sub-committee which brought forth a cryptographic bill, designed to further protect this nation's codes.

He is a one-man sub-committee to investigate claims of a naval man seeking re-instatement.

In the Interstate and Foreign commerce committee, he is a member of the sub-committee which has been studying whether to amend the Inland Waterways Corporation act. He is also on a group which will investigate all transportation in this country except aviation. Aviation, too, is being considered by his full committee, so before this group is through, they will see the whole transportation picture.

In addition to sub-committee meetings, the full committees have been meeting almost daily lately. Johnson and the other senators are fully occupied.

Another Texan has been taking a leading role in Congress this week. Rep. John Lyle, Corpus Christi, member of the House Rules committee, has been acting for the chairman of that group in calling up the bills for floor consideration and presenting reports from the Rules committee as to the length of time allowed for debates and amendments.

Crops Prospects Boosted

Rep. George Mahon, of Colorado City and Lubbock, returned from the recent Democratic fiesta at Lubbock, highly pleased with the prospects for a high crop yield in his section this year. He said crops looked good and the dry-section farmers have had so much rain they can all look forward to a great year. Mahon was telling all his fellow congressmen about what a great crop year this will be for his district.

Colonel Oveta Culp Hobby of the Houston Post was at the White House for the presentation to Speaker Sam Rayburn of the Collier's Award of $10,000 for doing the best job of any congressman last year. She was one of the judges who chose Rayburn and Senator Vandenberg as representative of the Senate. Every time Colonel Hobby appears in public she looks younger and more glamorous. She is one woman in public life who deserves great credit for maintaining an attractive personal appearance. Sometimes women get too busy to keep up their looks.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, R., Mass., who wrote the bill creating the Women's Army Corps, told me a number of fine things about Colonel Hobby this week. One was she felt Colonel Hobby accomplished something for American women when she kept women in military service feminine. Mrs. Rogers attributes much of the success of the Corps in beating down prejudice to this femininity.

Speaking of the White House, when the group came from President Truman's office that day, Vice President Barkley was the last. Every one else had gone. It was Saturday and things were quiet. The Vice President grabbed both of my hands while telling me that the nicest roses ever came out of Tyler, Texas, (my home town), in his usual charming southern way. About that time, a voice from the back of the White House executive wing sung out, 'Barkley, where are you? Might have known you'd be talking to a woman. Come on here, we're waiting on you." Before I could figure out who would call the Vice President of the United States "Barkley," it dawned on me whose was that familiar voice. President Truman with aides gone off duty temporarily had stuck his head out a side door of his office suite to yell at the vice president. My grandchildren are going to hear about how I kept the President of the United States waiting.
