

'MACHINE GUN' KELLY CAPTURED

Judge Clifford Braly Is Taken By Death

OUR CONTEMPORARIES

Notwithstanding that recent winds have reminded us of spring, Deskins Wells reminds us in the Wellington Leader that "this is the loveliest season of the year. Our spring is not so enchanting, but autumn in Collingsworth county is as glorious as the weather in any place on earth. . . . There is beauty everywhere if we have the eyes to see it."

A. W. Anderson in the Curry County Times (Clavis) says "many a merchant would be happy to have something like the wheat plan to fit his business. Even the newspaper man would be willing to plow up columns of news matter—and even some advertising—if he could cut production costs, borrow money at low interest, and be paid for the plowing."

Strongly "plowistic" is Jumbo Haines in the Floyd County Hesperian. Declaring war on politicians, he wants sessions of congress and the legislature to plow under, repeal, cancel, and forever destroy nine-tenths of the laws that have been passed.

"Politics," admits R. H. Nichols in the Vernon Record, "enters into almost every activity of state, including inquiry as to whether politics had entered relief fund distribution." And that just about makes it unanimous.

The Shaws in the Higgins News, whose comments range pretty well from babies to battleships to religion to sin, advise us that "we may need a bigger navy to impress the world that we are 'some punkins.' Just at the present time, however, most of us are wondering if we are 'punkins' at all. We may be 'squash'."

"Punishment of crime will never succeed in abolishing crime," asserts Clyde Warwick in the Canyon News, while expressing satisfaction that the Stanton murder trial at Tulsa resulted in a quick verdict of death for the accused.

R. B. Haynes in the Miami Chief remarks with satisfaction that the government in its set-up of fair practices "has turned thumbs down on free circulation newspapers."

John McCarthy in the Daupart Texan sneers at the idea of Jim Ferguson being for the "poor folks," citing that his lobbying is done for pay from interests that are far from poor.

Mrs. Seth B. Holman's Hereford Brand chuckles over Ferguson's demand for refrigeration in the governor's mansion, wondering if Jim intends to serve beer in every room.

Thrilled by Joe Hill's signing up with Byrd for the Antarctic expedition, J. C. Phillips in the Borger Herald sees great possibilities for the exploration. He notes that coal has been found under the ice and that gold and other minerals may be found in this "another Alaska."

George Hill uses the Roswell Dispatch to urge establishment of a state park at the "bottomless lakes." Such a park, he believes, would make the lakes a fine source of tourist interest.

LONG ILLNESS IS FATAL TO NOTED JURIST

WAS JUDGE, DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND A LEGISLATOR

DEATH came to Judge Clifford Braly, widely-known Panhandle jurist, suddenly this morning shortly after 2 o'clock at his home on North Cuyler street. He had been in poor health at times hovering between life and death since October of 1931, when he suffered a stroke while presiding over the 114th district court at Stinnett. He had been critically ill several times since then. His sudden death last night came after he had spent his most active day in weeks. Mrs. Braly, his surviving widow, said that he was active and energetic throughout the day. He transacted business up-town, and made his first visit at The NEWS office in several months. The judge became critically ill about 2 o'clock and death came quickly.

An excellent concert was given in the city park Sunday afternoon. The band has been practicing only two weeks.

CLOVIS MAN IS NEW GOVERNOR OF NEW MEXICO

Dennis Chavez To Be New Senator Is Prediction

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 26. (AP)—A. W. Hockenull, taking the reins of state today following the unexpected death of Governor Arthur Seligman, became New Mexico's 128th governor since 1598.

A few hours after the chief executive died of a sudden heart attack yesterday in Albuquerque, Lieut. Governor Hockenull came to the capital to take the oath of office. His home is in Clovis.

New Mexicans in Washington, and others in the nation's capital familiar with affairs of the state, predicted Dennis Chavez (D., N. M.) will be elevated to the senate to fill the vacancy which followed the recent resignation of Senator Sam G. Bratton of Albuquerque to accept a federal judgeship. Chavez is said to have been aligned with Hockenull in the conservative democratic faction, as opposed to the more liberal group.

Governor Seligman had been expected to name J. D. Atwood, or Ed Swope, both prominent democrats, or possibly himself, to succeed Bratton.

The late governor was born in Santa Fe June 14, 1873. His father was a banker and financier and the first territorial treasurer in New Mexico. Although ill health caused his father to move to Philadelphia, the rest of the family remained in New Mexico.

Governor Seligman served a term as mayor of Santa Fe and held a number of other public offices. He was elected governor for the first time in 1930 and re-elected last November. He was elected democratic national committeeman in May, 1932.

Governor Seligman is survived by his widow and one son, Otis.

"That Guy," Says Wife of 'Machine Gun' — To Defend Parents in Trial.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 26. (AP)—Kathryn Kelly, arrested here today with her husband, George E. "Machine Gun" Kelly, declared from her cell in the city jail, that she had planned to leave the outlaw and surrender to Oklahoma City authorities and defend her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon, on trial in connection with the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, millionaire oil man.

"I was going back to Oklahoma City tomorrow and give myself up," the smartly dressed, auburn haired woman told newspapermen. "Kelly told me he would kill me if I did, but I was going anyway."

"I don't care about myself, I'm thinking about my parents, the Shannons."

Kelly and his wife are the two fugitives who are under indictment in connection with the Urschel kidnaping.

Kathryn described her brother, Armon Shannon, also on trial in the kidnaping, as "a sweet boy—just 18."

"I've got nothing to say about that guy," she told Police Chief Will D. Lee when asked about Kelly.

"I don't want to have anything more to do with him. He got me into this terrible mess."

She wore a smart, black suit, with a shoulder cape trimmed with a fringe of black fur. She rolled her big, brown eyes as she told of the troubles of a life with a gangster.

"Day before yesterday was my third wedding anniversary," she said, "and what a swell anniversary."

She said he had informed "a Mr. Keenan of the department of justice" that "I am going to testify for my parents."

"I came here to see Kelly and tell him that I was going to do this. I was going back to Oklahoma City from here."

She fumbled the red metal buttons on her suit.

Blue Eagle Day's Record Pleasing To Business Men

A gratifying upturn in consumer buying was noted by Pampa merchants yesterday, they told THE NEWS today, in connection with the nation-wide "buy now" campaign of which BLUE EAGLE DAY here was a part.

Renewed confidence and new jobs provided the impetus for buying which has been pushing ahead of seasonal gains in recent weeks. Pampa, and this territory have shared in the creation of new jobs under the NRA program.

The need for more buying has been pointed out by the president, who said that it would be unfair for business men to make sacrifices without receiving something in return. "This nation cannot exist half boom and half broke," President Roosevelt warned in urging both consumer and member compliance to the NRA activities.

For buyers locally, BLUE EAGLE DAY meant extraordinary values in seasonal and regular merchandise.

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (AP)—Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo told the Texas senate today that he believed those trying to defend the state rehabilitation and relief commission, under investigation by the senate, were endeavoring to deflect attention from the real facts. "I believe that they are trying to draw a red herring across the trail and take attention away from the real issues we are trying to get at," Small said.

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (AP)—Charges that the West Texas chamber of commerce had improperly used the disbursement of unemployment relief funds as a weapon to increase the financial subscriptions to that organization were made today as the senate continued its inquiry into past administration of funds to the needy.

Convict Leaves In Chains For Michigan 'Pen'

An agent of the Michigan state prison at Jackson, Mich., left here last night with William Hammell, alias William Wagner, escaped convict who was arrested here by city and county officers on suspicion of burglary.

Mrs. Wagner, arrested at the same time, was released to accompany her husband. Her destination is Detroit.

Wagner, as he gave his name here, admitted being an escaped man when finger-prints sent to Washington were used to connect him with the Michigan prison.

Wagner was sentenced October 23, 1928, at Detroit for car theft. His sentence was 2 to 10 years. He was paroled June 25, 1930, but re-committed August 18 of that year when he violated the parole. He faces trial for walking away from the prison greenhouse.

The penitentiary agent, despite "ho" man's rather mild record, regarded him as dangerous and securely chained him on the train.

Wagner and his wife were arrested here two weeks ago after the Charlie Todd home in the Cook addition was entered and a sum of money and a watch were taken and an attempt was made to enter the home of John B. Hessey. Mrs. Wagner was also questioned in connection with the theft of a watch from an office in the First National bank building.

After searching their car the couple were released by the city officers but not until Chief John V. Andrews had out a county warrant for their arrest and made arrangements with county officers to follow the car. Chief Andrews had received a tip that companions had left the city. County officers re-arrested the couple before they had joined their companions.

FEAR CHANGE IN AMERICAN CUBAN POLICY

Revolt Rumored As Cubans Hear of Custodianship Plan For Island.

HAVANA, Sept. 26. (AP)—Cuban military forces were strengthened today as rumors reached the government of a change in the American policy toward Cuba and of plans for another revolt.

Simultaneously there were authentic reports that regulations between opposition factions and the Ramon Grau San Marin regime had approached no closer toward a solution of problems which threatened to end the life of the two-week-old government.

A rumor, not confirmed in responsible quarters was circulated that some form of custodianship for Cuba was planned by the Washington administration and created a tense atmosphere here.

DESPERADO AND WIFE ROUSED FROM BED AND ARRESTED BY U. S. OFFICERS IN TENNESSEE

OKLAHOMA WOMAN FRIEND OF KATHRYN KELLY "SQUEALS" WHEN GOVERNMENT GIVES HER SEIGE OF QUESTIONING

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 26. (AP)—George E. "Machine Gun" Kelly, notorious desperado, surrendered without a struggle here today when a detective sergeant pointed a sawed-off shotgun at his heart.

The southwest's "bad man" was asleep in a bungalow this morning when department of justice agents quietly perfected plans for his capture to face trial in connection with the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man.

The house which he and his wife, Kathryn, and two others, J. R. Tichenor, 30, and S. E. Travis, 26, were staying, was surrounded by officers.

Officer Bill Raney entered a front door. As Kelly opened a bed room door, revolver in hand, Raney told him quietly:

"Drop that gun, Kelly."

Kelly's pistol dropped to the floor. His hands pointed to the ceiling.

At the police station to which the four were taken, Kathryn Kelly immediately agreed to waive extradition and return to Oklahoma City to face trial. Kelly was not as communicative as his wife, and not nearly as agreeable to returning to Oklahoma City.

At the police station, Kelly readily admitted his identity, smoked num-

PORT OF TAMPICO IS VIRTUALLY DESTROYED BY STORM—NUMBER OF VICTIMS PLACED AT 5,000

Fifty-Two Bodies Recovered By Noon; Pilot At Brownsville Says City Not Hit As Hard As It First Appeared

BY CLARK G. LEE.
MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 26. (AP)—Military authorities reported to the war ministry today that the Port of Tampico was virtually destroyed in yesterday's hurricane and that numerous persons, neck-deep in the overflooded Panuco and Tamesi rivers had been rescued.

The manager of the Tampico adrome said in a message that 52 bodies had been recovered by noon. Estimates have put the number of dead or injured as high 5,000.

General Anselmo Valenzuela, chief of military operations for the state of Tamaulipas, said in a dispatch to the war ministry that the disaster was of great magnitude.

Some 300 persons were reported to have been rescued from flooded sections of the city today.

The minister of interior was unable to carry out a plan to proceed to Tampico by air because he learned that it was impossible to land there.

Some 300 persons were reported to have been rescued from flooded sections of the city today.

Kenneth B. Beer, a Pan-American pilot, who returned this morning after flying over the storm area, said that Tampico was not hit as hard as it at first appeared. He said the city suffered no worse damage than did Brownsville in the hurricane of September 4 and 5.

Wireless messages received by Pan-American Airways at noon today placed the official death list in the hurricane which struck Tampico Sunday at 52 as the work of removing bodies from wrecked buildings got well under way.

The funds would be distributed within the counties by the county commissioners' courts. The bonds would be retired out of all revenues of the general revenue fund other than the tax on real estate.

A PROPHET IS WANTED

What this country really needs, perhaps, is a system of augurs like those of ancient Rome.

If some authoritative functionary could only get out on the steps of the capitol building at Washington every so often, peer at the internal economy of some luckless pigeon and then tell us which of our ambitious plans were going to work and which were not, life would flow along a lot more smoothly.

It seems to be our fate in these days to do a lot of things that have never been done before and to do them without any definite knowledge whether or not they are going to help us. We know only that to do nothing is to walk straight into complete disaster. Otherwise the sky is blank and no sign is vouchsafed us.

A good example of our perplexities is to be found in the talk about inflation and the commodity dollar.

It is a pretty fair bet that before long we are going to do things to our dollar that have never been done before. No one knows what the outcome will be. The army is going to strike out in the dark, over unknown terrain against a foe of uncalculated strength. It is going to do it simply because the pressure on the rear is too great to be resisted any longer.

And there is this to remember about this motive: An attempt is to be made to gain an end we all desire—the cessation of wild price fluctuation, the attainment of a dollar that is worth when you pay it back exactly what it was worth when you borrowed it, the creation of a monetary system under which trade and industry can operate with some degree of regularity.

Maybe the attempt will work and maybe it won't; but back of it there stands the plain fact that the system we have been using has not worked worth a lead nickel. We may be jumping into the fire, but at least we are jumping out of an unendurably hot frying pan.

Meanwhile—well, it would be handy if we only had an augur who could read the auspices and tell us what's going to happen to us.

Boston professor says the average man could get along nicely by the use of only 500 words. You will notice, however, that he did not include the average woman.

That plan of a Chicago scientist to cure baldness by giving the victim an injection of an extract obtained from a sheep gland sounds very logical—in fact, what could be more appropriate than a sheep gland for growing a crop of wool?

Scientists are so absent-minded. One in Canada reports the discovery of something 100 times sweeter than sugar, but neglects to tell who she is.

Despite all this hot weather we've been having, the average girl is more likely to be sun-struck than sun-struck.

Bourbon is the best base for a mint julep, contends Irvin Cobb. Wouldn't you have supposed that a man with that name would have preferred corn?

Markets

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—A late selling flurry in stocks accompanied a last-minute reaction in grains today and leading equities that had held fairly firm during most of an unusually quiet session closed with moderate losses. There was little enthusiasm for either the previous advances or the subsequent decline. The turnover approximated only 1,350,000 shares.

THURVANT'S HOLD-UP
CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP)—A bank teller shot a robber with his own pistol in the Monroe street offices of the Bank of Nova Scotia today and thwarted a holdup that might have netted $15,000.

-CAPTURE

The agents, headed by W. A. Roper, flew into Memphis by plane and were met at the airport by local police.

Together they went to the house on Rayner street, and surrounded it.

Kelly, police said, was traced here by a telegram sent in code to Tichnor. The message's contents were not revealed, but it presumably was a tip to Tichnor concerning movement of officers.

Tichnor, police said, is not wanted in connection with any of the crimes charged to Kelly, including participation in the slaying of Policeman Miles Cunningham, who attempted to capture five men who robbed a federal reserve bank automobile in Chicago recently and fled behind an exhaust pipe smoke screen.

Police Chief Will D. Lee said there was $10,000 reward for Kelly in connection with the Urschel kidnaping and a $5,000 reward in connection with the bank job. Who is entitled to the rewards has not been determined.

Woman 'Squeals'
CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP)—It was an Oklahoma woman from whom the government learned that George Kelly was in Memphis, Melvin H. Purvis of the investigation unit of the department of justice here, said today.

The woman is Miss Arnold, Purvis said; a close friend of Mrs. Kelly, who had left her Oklahoma home with the Kellys and accompanied them to Memphis after the Urschel kidnaping.

After visiting with them several days, she returned to the southwest and the government, hearing that she knew where Kelly was, gave her a thorough going of questioning. At length, Purvis said, she talked, and the federal agents found Kelly.

Veto Taxes Or See Market Go, Orders Whitney

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, informed Mayor O'Brien today that if he would veto the special taxes on brokers he would recommend abandonment of the plan for moving trading to New Jersey.

Mr. Whitney wrote Mayor O'Brien as follows:

"If you veto the stock transfer and gross income tax bills I will promptly recommend the governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange and also to the governing committee of the New Jersey Stock Exchange which will hold its first meeting today, that the plan for the opening of trading floor in Newark on Oct. 1 be dropped."

The special taxes proposed by the city were a 4 cent per share levy on stock transfers and a 5 per cent tax on gross profits of brokerage firms.

Mr. Whitney's letter to the mayor was made public at the New York Stock Exchange shortly before noon.

RING LARDNER DIES AFTER A 10-YEAR FIGHT AGAINST PLAGUE

Tampico Is In Ruins After A Tropical Storm

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 25. (AP)—Harold Gray, Pan-American Airways pilot who was at Tampico yesterday when the hurricane from the Gulf of Mexico swept inland, reported to the airport here today that the storm had caused untold damage and misery and that martial law had been declared.

Gray went to the city proper, returned to the airport and sent this message:

"Untold damage and misery in Tampico. Martial law has been declared by military authorities. Storm worst catastrophe in history. Tampico. Death toll and injured list incomplete. Advise Mexican relief agencies of much needed aid. Believe many drowned."

Pan-American planes were flying over the storm area today.

SATIRIST WAS RANKING 'STAR' IN LITERATURE

REGARDED AS NATION'S MOST CAUSTIC HUMORIST

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—Ring Lardner, who once noted that there wasn't much difference between his native Niles, Mich., and his adopted New York because both begin with an "N", has lost his long fight against tuberculosis.

The lean, six-foot humorist who made "You Know Me Al," and who became a ranking figure of American literature, died suddenly at his East Hampton, Long Island, home last night in the forty-eighth year of an active, interesting life.

For ten years Ringgold Wilmer Lardner had fought the disease. During those years, with the spectre drawing steadily closer, his humor flowed on, bringing laughter to the faces of those who saw on the stage "Elmer the Great" and then "June Moon," and to other tens of thousands who read his "Story of a Wonder Man," "Love Nest," and other stories.

Heart disease, complicated by other ailments, was given by his doctors as the immediate cause of death.

Played Radios.

Only in the last few years has the Lardner typewriter gone on short hours. His doctors ordered him to the southwest, and he remained there many months. When he returned to New York several months ago he was reported much better.

His days of quantity production, however, were over. He did a column on radio in the weekly "New Yorker"—a humorous, critical column that carried a sting for those artists, those sponsors and those stations which he felt were not serving the public need for entertainment. The sweep of the humor that filled "You Know Me Al," "Gullible's Travels," "Own Your Own Home" and the hilarious "How to Write Short Stories" was gone. Occasionally it flashed on those last published writings, but the spontaneity and wit of "Treat Em Rough," "The Young Immigrants," and "Symptoms of Being 35" were not there.

JUDGE BRALY

Judge Braly had been in public life since he attended the law schools of the University of Texas, Austin, and the University of Virginia. He was born July 12, 1881, near Rockdale in Millam county. Shortly after he finished his law course, he was elected as representative to the state legislature from Millam county and served until 1908.

On a legislative trip to the Panhandle, he became attached to the plains country, and in 1909 moved to Amarillo, where he became a member of the law firm of Turner and Egoice. It was while he was associated with this firm, that he made the acquaintance of many old timers and pioneers in this section, and married Miss Mabel Considine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Considine, prominent Amarillo family.

In 1910, Mr. and Mrs. Braly moved to Dalhart, where Mr. Braly began the practice of law. He was elected district attorney of the 69th judicial district in 1913 and held that office until 1928, when he was appointed district attorney of the 31st judicial district. He and his family lived in Panhandle until the district was re-arranged, and Judge Braly moved to Pampa, continuing to hold the office of district attorney.

He was appointed to the judgeship of the newly-created 114th district court in 1930 by Governor Ross S. Sterling and held that office until it was abolished last year. Judge Braly had the distinction of being district attorney for the longest term of any person who ever held that post in the Panhandle.

The Bralys have made their home in Pampa for five years. Tom Braly, youngest son, was graduated from Pampa high school. When the judge moved here, he found one of his best, and life-long friends, C. Herbert Walker, already a resident of Pampa. They had been intimate friends while both lived at Dalhart, where Mr. Walker published the Dalhart Texan.

Judge Braly is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. T. Braly of Brady, his widow, two sons, Tom, student at the University of Oklahoma, Norman; Clifford, student in the law school of the University of Texas, Austin; three brothers, Eugene and Houston of Brady, and Ernest of Munday. A sister, Mrs. Henry Graves, died five years ago. His father died seven years ago, and Mrs. Braly's father died 10 days later.

The body is at rest at the Malone Funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Hundred Wheat Counties Working On Federal Plan

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 26.—

Texas wheat growers in the major wheat counties are said to be very favorable toward the government's plan to pay premiums on the 54 per cent of the crop which goes into domestic consumption, county agents report to extension service headquarters at Texas A. & M. college. The educational campaign to acquaint wheat growers with the plan is now in full swing in more than 100 counties, in charge of county agents assisted by volunteer committees of farmers.

Texas has been allotted slightly more than 20,000,000 bushels on which the agricultural adjustment administration offers to pay premiums of 30 cents per bushel less administration expense, the extension service says. There is no quota which must be reached in this campaign, it is pointed out. The government wants every grower to be acquainted with the plan and to be given an opportunity to cooperate in administration announcements.

with the government in adjusting supply to demand.

The idea of the wheat plan in a nutshell, county agents are explaining to the producers, is to pay the grower a parity price for the part of the crop that is domestically consumed and in so doing to keep next year's production from increasing by reducing the acreage 15 per cent on the farms that are signed up in contracts. The government cannot make the entire wheat crop for the exchange for wheat it used to before the war, but it can do this on the part used by people in the United States, it is explained. If producers will cooperate with the government in signing contracts the administration believes it can assure growers a good price for 54 per cent of their annual production indefinitely.

Should Texas wheat growers all sign contracts in this campaign, extension service officials say it would bring between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 to Texas farmers during the next 10 months. More than two-thirds of the premiums will be paid this fall, and the remainder soon after June 1 next, according to administration announcements.

Magnolia Testing Expedition To Be Unique Effort

DALLAS, Sept. 26.—Collaborating with other units in the international Socony-Vacuum organization the Magnolia Petroleum company, Dallas, is embarking upon what is believed to be the most extensive automotive testing expedition ever undertaken, Fred M. Lege Jr., Magnolia vice-president, announced here.

Luther Y. Newman, assistant director of sales promotion, and J. A. McClure, manager retail sales, left last week for Notikewin, Alberta, most northerly highway point in Canada, where the expedition will begin its 7,000-mile trek across the North American continent to Southern Mexico.

Ten automobiles of different makes will compose the caravan used to test the qualities of Mobilgas, Mobiloil, Mobilgrease, and other Magnolia and Socony-Vacuum products under every conceivable climatic and highway condition, Mr. Lege said.

The cars will be stock models but equipped with sensitive instruments capable of recording with exactness performance under varying climatic, altitude, temperature, and road conditions to be encountered. In addition to the cars in which Magnolia products will be tested, the caravan will include auxiliary motor vehicles to transport additional testing instruments, emergency medical supplies, and other equipment for the 40 men in the expedition. The personnel will include engineers, mechanics, newspaper and camera men, a doctor, and official observers.

Because of its international aspect the testing caravan will be known as the "Under Three Flags Expedition," Mr. Lege said.

Starting from a Canadian village north of the 57th degree of latitude with a temperature well below zero, the expedition will cross the United States from north to south, enter Mexico and continue south to Acapulco where torrid equatorial temperatures prevail. Entrance to the United States will be made in the vicinity of the Great Lakes. The expedition will then travel eastward to Boston, thence through New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and Kansas City. The Southwest will be entered thru Oklahoma City and the expedition will continue through Dallas, Austin, San Antonio and Laredo into Mexico and on to Monterrey and Mexico City.

SCHOOL BOARD RESOLVES TO RESTORE WAGE LEVEL AS SOON AS FUNDS BECOME AVAILABLE

A suggested NRA code for schools, drafted by a committee appointed by the National Education association, has been approved by the Pampa trustees, who adopted it in the form of resolutions. The code has not yet been presented to General Hugh Johnson.

The resolutions follow:

Whereas, public education, as one of the nation's major enterprises, involving approximately one million employees, serving thirty million children, youths and adults, outranking in the number of its employees all except four of the major industries of the country, having more employees than the automobile, electric, and oil industries combined, cannot be ignored in any program of economic recovery;

And whereas, the operation of the program of national recovery, involving as it does the abolition or extensive reduction of child labor, will place upon the public schools additional responsibilities;

And whereas, cooperation, fair dealing, spread of employment and higher wages to keep pace with higher prices are principles of recovery which apply to the policies of public bodies just as well as to private industry and business;

Be it resolved, by the board of education of the Pampa independent school district that this board voluntarily accepts the provisions of the president's reemployment agreement that can be applied to public school systems.

Be it further resolved:

I. That the purchasing agents of the board are directed to secure, as far as possible, all supplies and equipment from the merchants and manufacturers enrolled in the national recovery administration.

II. That if any teacher or other employee of this board is now receiving a wage below the minimum fixed by the president's reemployment agreement, such wage is hereby increased to meet the provisions of the agreement.

III. That reductions (if any) in salaries as a result of adverse economic conditions are regarded by this board as a temporary expedient. The salary schedule for the employees of the board which prevailed before reductions were made will be adjusted and raised to a fair and equitable basis. If funds are not now available to restore this schedule, it is hereby reaffirmed in principle and the responsible school officer is requested to submit to the board plans for returning to the earlier salary schedule at the first practical moment. This step is taken in order that the public education service may continue to secure a satisfactory type of employee.

IV. Additions to the present staff as required for the efficient operation of the schools shall be made at points recommended by the responsible school officer and approved by the board. This step is taken in order to increase employment among the many qualified but unemployed workers in the professions and trades represented by school employees and to improve the educational service.

V. That in order to lessen the grave evils of idleness and unemployment among youths and adults, the educational institutions under this board are urged and directed to make their facilities fully available for the further education of all youths and adults who can profit by such opportunities.

VI. That the educational agencies under this board shall make appropriate provisions for instruction in the meaning of the national recovery act and the work of the national recovery administration so that pupils and students may contribute to the work of economic recovery.

By adopting these resolutions, the board is attempting to do its part in meeting the call of the president of the United States for a "nation-wide plan to raise wages, create employment, and thus increase purchasing power and restore business."

Russia Orders Writers To Quit Treason Trial

BERLIN, Sept. 26. (AP)—The Russian government today ordered four Russian newspaper correspondents, who have been reporting the reichstag arson trial, to leave Germany within three days.

German correspondents in Moscow also were asked to leave the Red capital. The action resulted from the expulsion of two Russian reporters from Leipzig, scene of the trial, four days ago.

The Russian embassy had presented a verbal note protesting sharply against the arrest of two of the correspondents last week in Leipzig and adding that unless assurances were given that Russian correspondents would not be molested, the government would order Russian newspaper people back.

This, the note said, would "naturally result in a similar measure" involving German correspondents in Moscow.

The German government did not reply to the note. Shortly after the detention of the Russians, the incident was officially called a "mistake."

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A STEEPLEJACK

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

NOT MANY OF US have the iron nerves necessary to be a New York steeplejack. But we can all take a tip from these dare-devils whose very lives depend on healthy nerves.

As James J. Dwyer tells it: "I've been climbing for years and smoking cigarettes even longer. I picked Camels because they're milder. And when I say milder

I mean that no matter how many I smoke they never get on my nerves. What do I think about up there in the air? Not much of anything. Worry? Not me, I smoke Camels—and my nerves are OK."

You'll like Camels, too. Their costlier tobaccos certainly make a difference. In taste. In mildness. And they never get on your nerves.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Health Demands Plenty of Sleep

By MARY G. MCCORMICK
Supervisor of Health Teaching,
New York State Department of Education

A great many children fail to get enough sleep and rest to aid them in overcoming the additional strain that study and long hours of confinement in the schoolroom impose.

Lack of sufficient sleep very quickly tells in the school work. If a child's sleep is insufficient he may prove to be dull and sleepy during the day, conditions which reflect upon his grades and also tend to destroy his health.

Insist that your child go to bed at a reasonable hour each night. Up to 10 years old, the child should be in bed at 7 o'clock in the winter and 8 o'clock in the summer. Make sure the bedroom is well ventilated, the air fresh and cool. Open windows both top and bottom for good circulation of air. Protect him from direct noise, light, conversation, and music when he goes to bed.

Make sure he will be comfortable, not disturbed by heat, cold, overly heavy clothing, over-laden stomach, or the need to go to the toilet.

With older children, guard against their carrying their school worries to bed with them; insist on the completion of the home study early enough so their minds will be free by bedtime.

A warm bath before bedtime is a great aid to sleep. Warm milk served just before bedtime helps a child to relax and fall asleep promptly.

The full amount of sleep needed by a child varies according to his age. Most parents do not appear to realize that children need more sleep than adults. At 7 to 8 years of age a child should have 12 hours of sleep. From 9 to 10 years he should have 11 hours; at 12 to 13 years 10 hours; from 14 to 16 years 9 hours of sleep each night.

This is the seventh of a series of articles on the health of school children prepared for this paper. Miss McCormick will write about home work and health in her next article.

Over 850 Students Enroll at Canyon

CANYON, Sept. 26.—Over 850 students have registered in the various departments of the West Texas State Teachers college. The final date for enrolling is September 28. A fine is assessed against late entrants.

Randall hall, the cooperative home for girls, is overflowing, and Coe hall, girls' dormitory, has places for only a few more girls. Living quarters in town are still plentiful, however, for both men and women.

College authorities are more than pleased with the enrollment and with the prospects for the year's work.

Mrs. Felix J. Stalls entered Pampa hospital for a minor operation this morning.

Royal Cousins Wed

Prince and princess, and first cousins, they're also bride and groom. Prince Knud, second son of King Christian of Denmark, and Princess Caroline Mathilde, daughter of Prince Harald, the king's younger brother, are shown here after their marriage in the castle church in Fredensborg. The bride's gown was made by her own hands, but some of the lace in her train was 1000 years old. Sixty royal guests, representing most of the monarchies of Europe, attended the wedding of the "Savior Prince," who is 33, and his 20-year-old relative.

'One-Piece' Meal To Be Introduced In Happy Kitchen

There's less work—more enjoyment in the modern kitchen—it has its face lifted; it has become the "Happy Kitchen," instead of a work-a-day one.

Simple meals are the present-day style; it would be unheard of to serve the mess of food eaten by noble folk in the time of Louis XIV.

Here, for instance, is the daily menu served the 14th-century king: four plates of different soups, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a bowl of salad; two large slices of ham; two of mutton with gravy and garlic, a dish of pastries and several hard-boiled eggs.

And a light dinner for persons of "middling place" in 1790 went like this: centre-piece of beef, herb soup, rice soup, hors-d'oeuvre of radishes, entree of veal with truffles, mutton cutlets cooked with basil, hot-pot of ducks, fowl a la bourgeoise, one hare, four little pigeons, one meat patty, one feed cream, one cauliflower, dish of fruit, compote of apples, compote of pear, dish of wafers, dish of chestnuts, red currant jelly, apricot jam. This for a gathering of twelve!

Nowadays one main dish, combined with soup, a salad, a vegetable and a sweet is more the vogue.

And the mistress of the kitchen and her guests are inclined to be happier, and just as well fed, as a result.

"One-piece" meals, dinner ensembles which go in the oven all together and come out ready for the table, quick breads, all sorts of simple and delicious accessories for the well-dressed meal—these require little except ingenuity and a dash of insight, and the family will like them much better than a steady diet of heavy meat-and-potato dinners.

Left-overs may be combined so happily that not a soul will even suspect they're left-overs.

There's true happiness in this modern kitchen, but in order to get the most out of it with least work no housewife should miss the Pampa Daily News FREE Cooking School, next Oct. 5-7 at 2:30 p. m. in the city auditorium.

The "Happy Kitchen" is coming, and Miss Beulah Mackey Yates, famed home economist, has a distinct and enjoyable message for you every one of the three days.

The kitchen experts will prepare dozens of dishes right before your eyes at the cooking school and will give innumerable such helpful hints as the sample menu above. If you have not already planned to attend, do so now!

PINK-GREEN REVIVED FOR EVENING GOWN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The charming, old-fashioned combination of pink and green was used for an evening costume by Mrs. Edward Keating. Her chiffon frock beflew with roses in varying pinks was worn with a soft green velvet sash and matching crepe slippers.

The regularly scheduled city commission meeting was not held last evening on account of the absence from the city of Commissioners Earl O'Keefe and Clyde Fatheree. The postponed meeting will be held Thursday evening.

Pianists Feature Quartet Numbers In Their Recital

Ensemble numbers featured the program presented by four young pianists, pupils of Mrs. Nina McKimling, in recital at the Presbyterian church last evening.

The quartet played Grand Valse, Mattei; Polonaise, Englemann; and to close these program, the spirited Galop Di Bravura, Schulhoff. In addition, piano solos were played by Misses Marie Tinsley, Leona Hurst, and Pauline Stewart.

The fourth member, Miss Dorothy Dodd, a voice pupil of Mrs. Philip Wolfe, sang two solos with piano accompaniment by Mrs. McKimling.

Families and friends of the pianists were invited guests for the program. Palms and baskets of bright fall flowers decorated the room.

Tough Eating Told Her Daughter To Take CARDUI

"I took Cardui for a weak, run-down condition," writes Mrs. John Behne, of New Madrid, Mo. "My back ached, also my sides. I did not feel good, so did not feel like doing my work, and there is a lot to do on a farm. I read about Cardui and decided to take it. Cardui helped me. It is the best tonic I have found. I told my daughter to take it, too, and it helped her."

the WORLD OF STAMPS

BY QUINTON JAMES.

High spots in the life of Sir Humphrey Gilbert, English explorer, are depicted in the latest issue of stamps from Newfoundland.

Put out in celebration of the 450th anniversary of Sir Humphrey's annexation of Newfoundland to the mother country, England, the issue contains 14 stamps, running from one cent to 32 cents. The one-cent bears the picture of Sir Humphrey, while on the 24-cent is Queen Elizabeth.

On the 20-cent is an old map of Newfoundland, on the three-cent is the Gilbert seal, on the 14-cent is the arms of England, the five-cent pictures the miniature anchor presented to Sir Humphrey by Queen Elizabeth, while on the 32-cent is the statue of the explorer, the original of which is on the Truro cathedral.

The seven other stamps show various episodes in the life of Gilbert, including the annexation in 1583 on the ten-cent, the departure of the Gilbert fleet from Plymouth on the eight-cent and the arrival at John's on the nine-cent.

What's Going On
The recent NRA stamp seems to be calling forth more comment from collectors than any other previous stamp issued by the U. S. in recent years. The latest is based on the fact that of the four figures on the stamp that representing business has the right foot forward instead of the left of the others. Previous references had been made that the figure representing agriculture was "Russian."

The Irish Free State has planned a two-penny and a three-penny stamp in connection with Holy Year. Brazil has joined the Latin-American countries putting out "flag of the race" stamps in commemoration of Christopher Columbus sailing from Spain. Red in color, the value is 200 reis.

Peru has prepared a set of nine postage and six airmail stamps commemorating the death of Atahualpa.

HARVESTERS CONCENTRATE ON WAYS TO STOP HUGE LINE OF REDSKINS

NEW OFFENSE WILL BE USED HERE FRIDAY

OKLAHOMA OUTWEIGHS PAMPA'S 20 POUNDS TO THE MAN

The Harvesters had their pictures taken yesterday afternoon just before a "hefty" workout in which coaches started ironing out the many wrinkles that appeared Friday afternoon in the opening game of the season. The boys looked "mean" in one of the pictures and the photographer declared that if they looked like that against opposing teams they should win a lot of games.

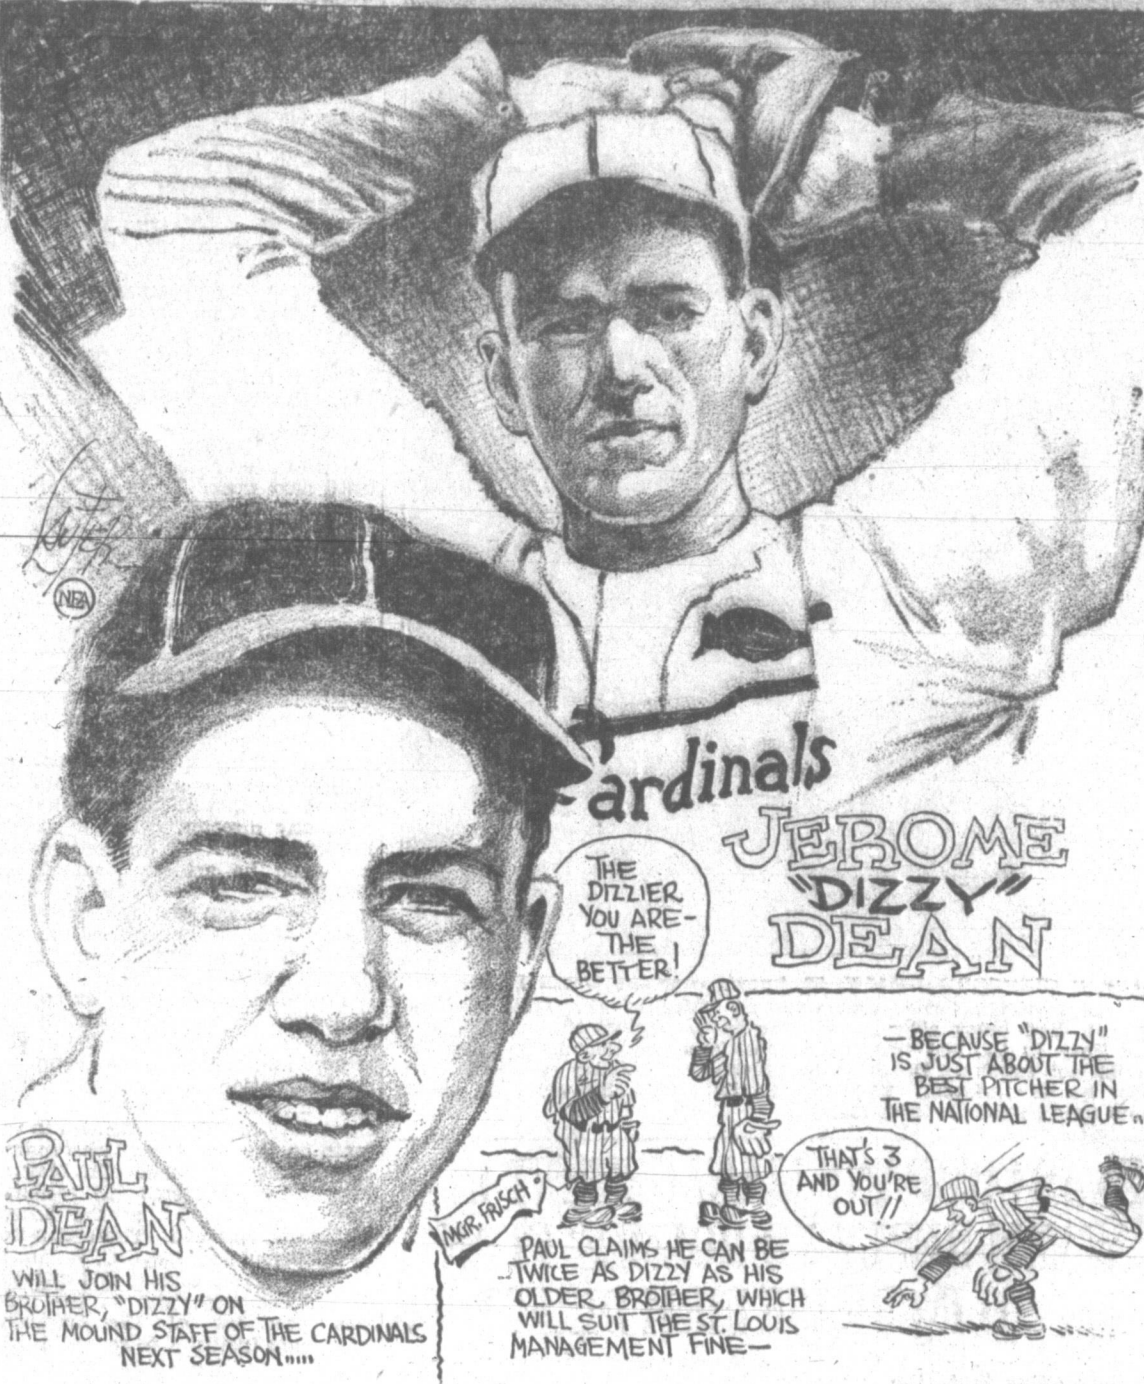

Blocking, one of the most glaring weaknesses which showed up Friday, will come in for much attention during the training period this week. A new offense will be developed and by Friday, when the Harvesters meet the Capitol Hill Indians, they should have a deceptive attack ready. The team used few plays against the Tigers Friday.

Line Coach Argus Fox will spend most of the week "stopping leaks" in his line, which is anything but heavy. He will train his boys to meet an opposing line averaging nearly 180 pounds, which is the weight of the Capitol Hill line. It will outweigh the Harvester line nearly 20 pounds to the man.

Coach Odus Mitchell's backfield showed some nice defensive work in the opening tilt, and it will be of use from now on for the backfield. Leslie Sartin and Miles Marbaugh were in uniform yesterday but did little work. Jack Benton was out with a steel brace over his knee and he should be used to it by the end of the week. Other members of the team looked good.

The game Friday afternoon will be the last at home until Oct. 21 when the great Cisco Lobos come to Pampa for a game. In the meantime the Harvesters go to Big Spring Oct. 7 and to Shawnee, Okla., either Oct. 13 or 14.

Granite To Box George Williams Wednesday Night

Jet Granite, "Kid" to Pampa folk, has worked his way up from the first preliminary to the semi-final in the Amarillo fight world, and tomorrow night at the Tri-State Fair he will meet George Williams, the "fighting Marine" in the eight-round semi-final match.

Granite won his two previous fights by the knockout route. A win tomorrow night will leave him knocking at the door of a main event.

Howard Scott of San Angelo will meet Chief Parris of Oklahoma City in the 10-round main event. Scott has been winning everything before him in recent matches, but he is scheduled to meet his equal in the Oklahoma Indian, who gave Pete Regal a terrific lacing last week.

GORILLAS TO PLAY MIAMI

Future Harvesters To Have First Game of Season Saturday Afternoon.

Coach Harry Kelley will take his Gorilla football team to Miami Saturday afternoon for their first game of the season. Not much word has been received on the strength of the Miami Warriors, but they have always proved strong competition. Coach Ellis Locke has been working with his boys for several weeks.

The Gorillas go to Wellington for a night game Oct. 6. They meet White Deer in White Deer Oct. 13. Two tentative games have been scheduled with the Amarillo Yankees, one to be played in Amarillo and the other in Pampa. Dates have not been set.

The Gorilla coach has three full teams practicing. His first string has a heavy line with three light weight backs and one heavyweight. They are showing marked improvement and have already scrimmaged the Harvesters a couple of times. The second string is light and fast and should see a lot of service during the season. The third string is composed of little fellows who are anxious to learn football early.

Coach Kelley will name his starting lineup, probably tomorrow. He is not certain about one or two positions but another two practices should settle the argument.

WITH THE HARVESTERS

By HARRY E. HOARE

The Houston CHRONICLE in predicting the outcome of the high school football race, by districts, selected the Pampa Harvesters to win district 1. I agree with whoever made the selection, but I shudder to think how much those Harvesters are going to have to absorb and then put out to get them anywhere. This is the Harvesters' year according to the old dope bucket. Their first year in Class A they lost to Amarillo, the next year they lost to Lubbock and last year they lost to both.

Your guess is as good as mine to determine the district winner this year but the state race looks somewhat easier. I'll take either Greenville, Cisco, or even Masonic Home. Greenville opened the season Friday with a 15 to 7 win over Sunset High of Dallas, reckoned one of the strongest teams in the state. Masonic Home surprised the football world by downing Oak Cliff of Dallas 31 to 19. Even without the great Scott McCall, the Masonic Home boys looked like world beaters. Although Cisco only nosed out Gorman 12 to 0, the team showed a world of stuff. Cisco comes to Pampa for a game October 21. Cisco was out of the conference last year and took advantage of the layoff to develop a team.

The Greenville Team, according to a report of Friday's game in the Greenville BANNER, has the uniforms as well as the football team this year. The story goes: This season's Lions were colorful not only in the execution of their plays, their blocking and all-round performance, but in the matter of regalia. They stepped upon the field attired in brilliantly colored uniforms, red pants with white stripes up the legs at the back, tunnel belt loops, red jerseys with gold insets and large white numbers, white stockings with a red stripe through the middle and black and white striped helmets. It was one of the most "dressed up" teams to ever represent Greenville and the colorful garb made a hit with the 2,500 fans in attendance.

Pampa Sport lovers are going to have to forget football during the world series. They will not be losing anything because the Harvesters will be playing away from home during the big series. Washington has our bet.

Neil Gossett of LeFors underwent a major operation at Worley hospital this morning.

H. S. Patterson of Dallas is here on business for a few days.

Teams Fighting For Second And Third Places

BY ORLO ROBERTSON.

The National League race is over, as far as the pennant winning New York Giants are concerned, but the Pirates, Cubs, and Cardinals are carrying a fight right down to the finish in their battle for second and third places in the final standings.

With only one game remaining on their schedule and that with Cincinnati on the final day of the season, Sunday, the Pirates hold an upper hand in the contest for second place. They can be ousted by Chicago, however, if the Cubs take their two final games with St. Louis and the Reds trim the Corsairs.

The Cardinals, with no chance of finishing in the runner-up position, have their eyes on third place. Two victories over the Cubs will place them in that position and shove the 1932 league champions into fourth place.

Here is how the three teams stand:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Play
Pittsburgh	85	67	.559	1
Chicago	84	68	.553	2
St. Louis	82	69	.543	2

The Pirates lost a chance to clinch second place yesterday when they dropped a 6 to 3 decision to St. Louis in one of the two games played in the major leagues. The defeat left Pittsburgh with a one-game margin over the Cubs.

In the only other game, the Brooklyn Dodgers strengthened their hold on sixth place by defeating the Phillies 6 to 2 behind the seven-hit pitching of Walter Beck.

PELICANS NEED ANOTHER GAME TO WIN TITLE

MISSIONS DEFEATED A SECOND TIME AT NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26 (AP)—Falling back on the strong right arm of Dennis Galehouse at crucial moments has gotten to be a habit with the New Orleans Pelicans.

Today, with a Dixie championship in reaching distance, the Pelis fell back on it again, asking Denny to pitch just one more important win to trip up a scrappy bunch of Texas League title-holders from San Antonio and bring New Orleans its first all-south title.

Following yesterday's 5 to 2 victory, the second straight by the same score at Heinemann park, which sent the Southern Association champs in front for the first time with the series count at three and two, one game was all they needed.

It looked like a tough assignment for Denny, though, for the Missions, having twice held a one-game lead in the series, served notice they were prepared to tie it up in a three-all knot and force a seventh contest.

Abe "Payday" Miller, third best winning pitcher on the San Antonio staff, who set New Orleans down 6-3 in Texas last Friday night with an effective starboard delivery, was nominated for the job of squaring the count. "Payday" is rated a luck-pie. He got his nickname a half dozen years back when, as the most valuable man on the club, he was sold by Shreveport, La., to provide cash for his team-mates' Saturday envelopes.

Galehouse, in starting today, faces the Missions for the third time in six days. He pitched New Orleans' only series win in Texas last Thursday night and stepped into the breach to pull Sunday's game out of the fire when Fred Johnson folded.

OTT STANDS FORTH AS MAN TO DYNAMITE SENS' DEFENSE

Right-Fielder Has Driven in More Runs Than All Other Giants Combined.

BY ALAN GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Such shortcomings as the outfield of the Giants may have by comparison with the slugging picketmen of the Senators are substantially offset by the ability of young Melvin Thomas Ott, the Louisiana larruper, to break up the ball game.

In neither stature nor personality is the short, chunky rightfielder guardian of the Giants to be compared with his elderly predecessor in the world series spotlight, Babe Ruth. Ott will not strike the same terror that the Bambino has handed the opposition on a number of celebrated occasions, yet the 24-year-old Giant cleanup hitter stands forth as the man most likely to dynamite the Washington pitching defense.

Measured by home run production, Ott is the only outright slugger in either championship lineup. This year he is well below his own high mark of 1929, when he collected 42 homers, but Ott is a "pull" hitter who carries a distinct threat on every trip to the plate. He has driven in more runs than any other outfielder in the world series lineups and is second only in this respect to Joe Crotin, the Washington shortstop and manager.

As most everyone knows, the Giants as a whole are not a fence busting crew. Relying mainly on defensive prowess, it is a standing wise-crack to remark that a typical Giant batting rally consists of a grounder off the third baseman's shin, one sacrifice, a misplayed fly and a hit by Manager Bill Terry or Ott.

The outer trio of the National League champions, with Joe Moore in left field, George Davis in center and the redoubtable Ott in right, compares favorably with any group of ball-hawks, but when more hitting is needed it will be necessary to summon "the man in the green suit," Frank (Lefty) O'Doul. Ott

Tennis Fans To Meet Again On Monday Evening

An organization will be completed and final plans for the construction of tennis courts will be made at another tennis meeting in the city hall next Monday night. Preliminary plans were made last night but final action will not be taken until next week.

The delay in perfecting the organization was necessary to allow the membership committees to make a more thorough survey of the territory. The committees reported last night that they had already secured nearly enough promises of membership to assure building the courts. The ground committee had two or three situations located but will work another week.

In contrast with the lighter-hitting Giant outfield, Washington will trot out three real clouters in Heinie Manush in left, Fred Schulte in center and Leon (Goose) Goslin in right. The Senator combination has a 25-point advantage per man in the current batting averages, with Manush well toward the top of the list at .322. The advantage in the runs batted in statistics is not so marked, due to Ott's superiority in this specialty. The latest unofficial figures showed 271 "RBI" for the Senator outfielders and 242 for the Giants.

NOTABLE NOTHINGS

By the Nimble Nit-Wits of P. H. S. Lesson.

I think that I shall never see
A lesson short enough for me.

A lesson that doesn't take all day
And make me work till I'm old and gray.

A lesson that will let me rest
Before the sun sets in the west;

A lesson that won't make me stare,
Yell and rave and pull my hair.

Upon my lessons I work night and day
But never do I get an A.

Lessons are worked by fools like me,
But a grade of A, I'll never see.
—Tri-Hi Journal.

We saw some high school students namely Miles Marbaugh, Sue Dodson, Burton Tolbert, Lloyd Hamilton, Andy Walker, Claudine Jeffries, Martha Jones, Dorothy Brumley, and Claudia Attebury riding the merry-go-round at the carnival and acting very childish.

We are told by one of Mrs. Alexander's biology students that chromosomes in the human body transmit education to the next generation. Then why all this fuss about our going to school?

In spite of the fact that boys compose about half the typing classes, the typewriters are all girls. (They wear ribbons.)—The Tux Hornet.

We wonder why so many girls signed up for dramatics?

Needy Children To Be Supplied With Clothing

A clothing exchange is being organized by the city council of the P. T. A. for the purpose of providing clothing for the needy school children of the city.

The exchange office will be situated in the red building on the high school campus, and a woman from the city council of the P. T. A. will be in charge.

Donations of either new or old clothing will be greatly appreciated, and children may exchange outgrown garments for those which they can wear. The cooperation of all students and patrons is urged.

Football Movie Is Instructive To Harvesters

Members of the Harvester football squad and their coaches were guests of Tom Blair, manager of the La Roca theater, and Harry Hoare, sports editor of the Pampa Daily News, when they saw the picture of the East's All American team in training, and also the feature picture, Will Rogers in "Dr. Bull."

The picture was taken on the campus at Northwestern university where the eastern team trained for its game with the west. The picture, one of the clearest and most instructive that has ever been shown in Pampa, showed the team taking calisthenics, blocking, tackling and scrimmaging.

Line Coach Argus Fox of the Harvesters attended a coaching school at Northwestern university and saw the picture being taken. He said the school was the best he had ever attended and that he hoped to be able to give his Harvester line-men some of the things he learned.

Mr. Blair told the Harvesters that he would admit them free to the theater after every game they won.

Bill Introduced To Abolish State
Relief Commission

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (AP)—A bill to abolish the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission and establish in its stead the Texas emergency relief commission was introduced in the Texas house today by Representative George Hester of Georgetown.

The bill was introduced while the senate was conducting an inquiry into disbursement of relief funds by the rehabilitation and relief commission to ascertain how funds have been spent in the past and to determine if the method should be altered.

Hester's bill provided for a commission composed of the comptroller and chairman of the industrial accident board and one member each appointed by the governor, the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house.

The director of the relief commission would be appointed by the governor with the approval of the commission. All employees appointed by the director would be subject to the commission's approval.

FALL HATS AND CAPES

PARIS (AP)—Fringed ribbon, dyed to resemble hair, is a smart note in hats and capes this fall. The fringe, which is about three inches long, is used to make little shoulder capes and small toques which cup closely to the head. Gray and henna brown are favorite colors.

J. B. Miller of Fort Worth spent the week-end with friends here.

Football Team Vows To Avenge Defeat of 1932

Next Friday afternoon the Harvesters will be after scalps when they clash with Oklahoma City's Capitol Hill Indians, for they are determined to avenge last year's defeat on the Redskins' battle grounds.

Last year the Indians were the state champions of Oklahoma and were one of the most powerful high school teams in the Southwest. The Harvesters were defeated by Capitol Hill last year at Oklahoma City, 19 to 7. The Indians are rumored to have an even better team this year and are out for victory.

Last week the Harvesters had their first game of the season with the McLean Tigers, the score being 6-6. The McLean boys were in fine shape, and the game was as evenly matched as the Pampa fans have seen in a long time. The Pampa boys are expected to show up much better in their game with the Capitol Hill Redskins next Friday.

Friday's game will be the last at home until Oct. 21 when Clisco comes to Pampa. Season reserved seat tickets include this game. Admission charges will be 25c for students and 75c for adults. The game is called for 3:30 o'clock.

Letters complaining of the actions of officials of the West Texas chamber of commerce and other letters containing appeals for memberships in the regional commercial body and mentioning the fact that the chamber was distributing the relief funds were read into the record.

Until last March, when the Texas as rehabilitation and relief commission was created, the funds were distributed through the West Texas, the East Texas and the South Texas chambers of commerce. Senator Will M. Martin of Hillsboro said the purpose of introducing the letters was to show that the administrative expense under the old organization was larger than had been claimed and that the old system gave the three regional chambers of commerce an opportunity to "hold a whip over a suffering people and obtain funds for their perpetuity."

A letter from Charles Ingram, Oldham county judge, said that a small amount of the relief funds apportioned to his county was used for memberships in the West Texas chamber of commerce, that they did so and then received their $2,000 quota for relief for January and February.

Lawrence Westbrook, director of the rehabilitation commission, answered protests against the present relief administration made in letters from three Galveston county citizens introduced yesterday as evidence. He said that after the new Galveston county organization was formed, administrative expenses were reduced from $4,144 to approximately $2,000 per month.

Miss Marjorie Buckler left Sunday for Miss Hockaday school in Dallas. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Buckler, took her to Amarillo.

137 Enrolled In Five 'Ag' Classes Of Prof. Lester

There are 137 students enrolled in J. L. Lester's five agriculture classes, the largest enrollment in this department in any high school in the state. Mr. Lester has received a letter from the state director complimenting him on this fine record.

The agriculture building on the northwest side of the campus has been greatly improved by the addition of new tables and chairs.

Mr. Lester is now working on plans for clothing racks and cabinets to be installed in the new clothing exchange. As soon as the plans are completed, the boys will begin work.

JACK BLAMES MACHINES FOR POOR BOXERS

SAYS DEMPSEY

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 26. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, the barnstorming referee de luxe, wiped heads of perspiration off the forehead which once wore the heavyweight boxing championship of the world, took a look at two fighters who had just left his charge in a ring and attacked the "machine age" for the extinction of boxing's "killers."

"The real champions came," he said, "from the mines, the blacksmith shops or the iron works, where muscles were developed and bodies toughened by old Mother Nature and hard work."

"Now all that hard work which developed a Fitzsimmons or a Jeffries is being done by machines. Our present day fighters are the product of the gymnasium."

There was disgust in his voice. "But times are different. Fights have been shortened to 12 and 15 rounds. I've often wondered how many of our present day champions could stand the gaff of the 40 and 50-round battles of years ago."

Max Baer, the Livermore, Calif., butcher boy, second ranking heavyweight, came into the pictures naturally, of course, for Jack has an interest in him. Jack hopes he will prove an exception.

"He was, you remember, a butcher boy and had none of the old grueling in the mines, nor did he sling a sledge hammer. He's had the test, however. He stood up for two 20-round matches at Reno and showed his stuff."

He added that he hoped Baer, now in Hollywood making a film, would let "this movie stuff spoil him."

"He threw a towel around his thick shoulders and jumped over the ropes. 'What is this world of fighters needs,' he shouted as he ran down an aisle, 'and more than anything else, too, is less machines and more hard work.'"

TEXAS COMPANY MANAGEMENT IN WARM REPLY TO HOLMES' PLAN TO INCREASE FIRM DIRECTORS

Letters citing that the present Texas company management is working in a harmonious and efficient manner and that efforts of former president Holmes to increase the personnel of the board of directors are unwarranted and damaging have been mailed to stockholders.

The letter follows in substantial form:

You have doubtless received a communication dated September 11 from a committee of stockholders of the Texas corporation. In substance, it claims that the present control of your board of directors is in the hands of an employee clique headed by a so-called Lapham interest. It recommends that a special meeting of stockholders be called to increase your board to 25 members.

We genuinely regret the need for the following statement, but the communication from the committee of stockholders is very misleading and Mr. Holmes' statement which accompanied the communication contains many mis-statements. Mr. Holmes' purpose is evidently to secure his own reinstatement. We, therefore, believe it proper to acquaint the stockholders with the actual facts.

Such signatures as are appended to the communication—representing less than 1 per cent of the total outstanding shares—have been secured by Mr. Holmes after months of strenuous personal solicitation. With but one exception, no member of the committee has made any effort to secure first hand information from your present management as to the true facts leading up to Mr. Holmes' resignation. The most important stockholding group of the Texas Corporation have consistently refused to lend their support to Mr. Holmes' campaign for reinstatement. The sincerity of Mr. Holmes' effort to enlarge the board is denied by his record. He was elected president of the company in March, 1926, and remained president until April, 1933. Because of his disagreement with Mr. Holmes, Mr. Baer resigned as chairman in December, 1927, and from that time until April, 1933, Mr. Holmes was the responsible head of the company. During his seven-year term as president, the number of directors has continuously been thirteen, although vacancies have occurred from time to time. When he was elected president, six of the thirteen directors were employees and seven were not. In April, 1933, there were twelve directors, of whom six were employees and six were not. At the annual meeting, these twelve men were re-elected unanimously. During Mr. Holmes' entire seven-year term as president he made no effort or suggestion to enlarge the board and it is difficult to believe that his sole purpose now is the welfare of the company.

In Mr. Holmes' letter to the president May 11, 1933, he stated that his resignation was prompted by a difference of opinion with respect to policies which concerned the nation, the oil industry, and the Texas company. Mr. Holmes' resignation was not due to differences of opinion in respect to these policies but to his intolerant attitude toward his executive staff, members of the board of directors, and the executive committee. His domineering, arrogant and unreasonable methods not only antagonized governmental authorities but also executives of companies with which we have business relations. The board was practically unanimous in opposing this one-man domination. They felt it was not only their right but more important still their duty to oppose such domination. After a long conference with Mr. Holmes,

Since Mr. Holmes' resignation our board, and especially those representing the Lapham interests, have made an earnest effort to secure representation of some of the larger stockholders. This has now been accomplished. At the meeting of your board September 19, its membership was increased to include Lester J. Norris of St. Charles, Ill., a stockholder intimately associated with the John W. Gates estate and its affiliated interests; William H. Mitchell of Chicago, a son of the late John J. Mitchell, long a director and pioneer of the Texas company; and Walter C. Dunnington of New York, representing Mrs. James N. Hill and the estate of the late James N. Hill, another Texas company pioneer. The board now has 15 members. Henry G. Lapham of Boston having resigned. These directors own or control more than two million shares of stock of the corporation. Henry G. Lapham remained on the board the last four months at the request of the chairman pending selection of a suitable successor. His resignation was based on his intention to be absent much of the time and his desire not to remain on the board without being able to give active attention to the business of the company. His family owns more than 250,000 shares and indirectly represents many other shareholders.

Mr. Holmes' letter to the president May 11, 1933, he stated that his resignation was prompted by a difference of opinion with respect to policies which concerned the nation, the oil industry, and the Texas company. Mr. Holmes' resignation was not due to differences of opinion in respect to these policies but to his intolerant attitude toward his executive staff, members of the board of directors, and the executive committee. His domineering, arrogant and unreasonable methods not only antagonized governmental authorities but also executives of companies with which we have business relations. The board was practically unanimous in opposing this one-man domination. They felt it was not only their right but more important still their duty to oppose such domination. After a long conference with Mr. Holmes,

Two other operating executives and directors told Mr. Holmes that they too would resign both as directors and officers of the company on resignation of the seven. The nine directors considered it to be their duty to the stockholders to remain on the board, notwithstanding Mr. Holmes' demand. On May 5, Mr. Holmes tendered his resignation as chairman of the board, which was accepted. Thereupon the board persuaded Judge C. B. Ames, former vice-president and director of the company, who at the time was president of the American Petroleum Institute, to return to the company as director and chairman of the board.

"Most emphatically we disagree with the statement in Mr. Holmes' publicity that his retirement has affected or will adversely affect either the policies or the fortunes of the company. The organization which he attacks and which is now in charge (Mr. Holmes excepted) is the identical one which has functioned for your company since 1928. The successful record of the company is not due to the efforts of any one man but to the intelligent efforts of thousands of loyal employees who are still giving their best efforts to the continued progress of the company. Never has there been so complete accord among your operating executives, within your board and throughout the entire organization as there is at the present time. After two years and a half of unsatisfactory operations, the company is now on a profitable basis and we believe that a stockholders controversy, such as proposed by Mr. Holmes, would be detrimental to the best interests of the company. We, therefore, respectfully request that you decline to execute the proxy and the petition for a special stockholders' meeting forwarded to you by Mr. Holmes' committee. This statement is submitted by the undersigned as they are the objects of Mr. Holmes' attack and those most intimately acquainted with the facts.

Signed: J. H. Lapham, director and chairman of the executive committee; W. S. S. Rodgers, director and president; T. J. Donoghue, director and vice-president; T. Riebert, director and vice-president in charge of export and marine departments; R. Ogario, director and vice-president in charge of production; Harry T. Klein, director, vice-president, and general counsel; Henry G. Lapham, former director; Albert Rockwell, director.

CHICAGO HAS A 'NEW DEAL'

Stagg Successor's Eleven
Looks Like a Gym Class;
Blocking Stressed.

BY PAUL MICKELSON,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP)—A railbird, who has been watching Amos Alonzo Stagg build University of Chicago football teams for almost a quarter of a century, blinked his eyes in astonishment.

"Well, for—" he cried. "They they look like gymnasium a class. They haven't got football suits on even. Well—"

"Aw, that's nothing," one of the senior lettermen put in. "Just stick around and you'll see some more of Coach Shaughnessy's ideas. Say, we haven't worn regulation football suits for three days and won't until next week. We're not going to scrimmage more than an hour a week and later on we're going to cut that to half that time, maybe. Another thing. Know what we're they hoped that a satisfactory compromise had been effected by electing Mr. Holmes chairman of the board, J. H. Lapham chairman of the executive committee, and W. S. S. Rodgers as president.

After accepting his election as chairman of the board on April 25, Mr. Holmes, without consultation with any director, called a special meeting for May 2, one week later, at which he actually talked for hours and resorted to personal abuse of seven of the directors, finally delivering an ultimatum demanding the immediate resignation of these seven members.

Two other operating executives and directors told Mr. Holmes that they too would resign both as directors and officers of the company on resignation of the seven.
