Here For Seminar

Nursing home operators representing the West Texas area will be hearing lectures and class discussions led by these health department leaders in the Health Seminar here today and Thursday. Left to right they are: Lige Fox, Big Spring; John T. Warren, Austin; Dr. R. E. Johnson, Midland; Bill Nichols, Austin; Dr. Helen Campbell, Austin; Miss Ella Patton, Austin.

Nursing Home Operators, Health Workers At Seminar

Nursing home operators and field workers from health units throughout the West Texas area crowded the classroom at the police building this morning as the two-day Health Seminar opened.

Lige Fox, senior sanitarian at the Big Spring-Howard County Health Department, presided at the opening meeting and A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, gave the welcoming address.

John T. Warren, field worker for the Texas State Health Department in Austin, gave the opening lecture.

Warren stated that public health work is the science and art of prolonging life and promoting better mental and physical conditions.

He said that in 1879, when the first health director in Texas was appointed, there were three dreaded diseases in the state which took many lives. Warren named small pox, yellow fever, and cholera as the diseases which killed many middle-aged people. He added that the average life expectancy at that time was 49 years for women and 47 years for men.

"To show the results of the efforts of health people," Warren stated, "the life expectancy has been increased by 21 years for both men and women and the three diseases which at one time were so fatal, are relatively unheard of today."

Warren quoted Herbert Shore, nursing home operator in Dallas, as saying that the main motive for having care and nursing homes in Texas is felt by hearing the nine saddest words in the English language, which are put together in the plea, "I am old, and sick, and lonely, and poor."

Warren mentioned that in the 25,000 nursing homes in the United States, two-thirds of the patients are over 75 and that the average age is 80 years.

He added that less than half of the patients are able to walk alone and that two-thirds of them have a circulatory disorder. Warren noted that there are currently 600 care and nursing homes in Texas.

Warren emphasized that it has not been too long since the rest home was considered the "poor farm," and said that this was definitely a misnomer because people of all classes are housed in the Texas homes.

He issued the challenge to strive toward rehabilitation for the patients, and thus disprove the general attitude that a rest home is the point of no return.

Miss Ella Patton, disease nursing consultant from the State Health Department in Austin, was to have given some ideas on the principals of record - keeping later this morning. Bill Nichols, senior sanitarian for the health department in Austin, was in line to speak at 1:30 p.m. today on the revised minimum standards for nursing and care homes in Texas.

Seminar classes will begin again Thursday at 9 a.m. and continue through 4 p.m. Helen B. Campbell will speak on menu planning and Warren will show films on food preparation. Group discussions will highlight the second day's activities.

About 60 people registered this morning, representing 14 West Texas counties.

State Requests Bids For Road Work In Mitchell

Bids are now being requested by the State Highway Department concerning highway projects which includes about 4½ miles on FM 670 and 1308 in Mitchell County.

These works call for grading, structures, base and surfacing on FM 1229 and on FM 670 and 1308 from 2.7 miles north of Westbrook to .6 mile northwest. Time allowed for completion is set at 100 working days.

Project engineer Joe Smoot, Colorado City, said bids will be received until 9 a.m. June 22.

CRMWD Board Meets Thursday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet here at 10 a.m. Thursday. Among items on the agenda are reorganization of the board, reports on the salt water studies of the Colorado River basin below the Lake J. B. Thomas dam, and the impending hearing on June 20 of the district to impound a new lake in southern Mitchell County. The meeting will be held at the Settles Hotel.

Residents Using More Water Here

The city pumped 6,956,000 gallons of water out of Lake J. B. Thomas Tuesday with 6,727,000 gallons going out of the treatment plant for residents' use.

Last year on the same date 3,988,000 gallons were taken out of the lake with 3,894,000 gallons pumped out of the plant.

Nixon Over Top

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tennessee and Florida Republican delegates joined the Nixon for president parade Tuesday, pushing the vice president well beyond the 666 majority needed for the GOP presidential nomination.

Beauty Contestants Begin Selling Aquatennial Pins

Over 20 contestants in the Miss Big Spring contest will begin selling "Skipper" pins throughout the city today, marking the beginning of the first annual Aquatennial here.

The contestants will be competing for prizes in the sales campaign. The Skipper pins sell for 50 cents each and can be used all three days of the Aquatennial, June 2-4.

Wearers of the pin will be entitled to make special purchases during the Summer Fun Days promotion. Over 50 merchants have agreed to feature special merchandise offerings during the sale.

Skippers will also be entitled to attend matinee movies during the sale at half price. The city swimming pools will be open to Skipper pin wearers at reduced prices.

The cost at the pools will be 10 cents to youngsters and 25 cents to adults, if they are wearing Skipper pins. Regular prices are 25 cents and 50 cents.

Thai Visitors At Webb

Three ranking officials of the Royal Thailand Air Force tour Webb's engine shop on an inspection of the local pilot training program. Listening to Capt. Joseph A. Riley, field maintenance officer, are (left to right) Col. Choey Khamoanonda, education and training officer, RTAF; Col. Singh Siricupta, of the RTAF Air Command and Staff School; and Col. Chanya Chulajata, commandant of the RTAF Air-Ground Operations School. The officers came to Webb Tuesday from Hq. USAF, Washington, D.C., and will leave Thursday for Sheppard AFB, Texas. In addition to Webb's military facilities, the Thailanders visited Cosden's refinery yesterday and took a look at a typical West Texas ranch. They were guests of Col. and Mrs. Donald W. Eisenhart at a dinner at the Officers Club last night.

COAHOMA UP 50 PER CENT

Coahoma has registered more than a 50 per cent gain in population during the past 10 years.

Tentative figures released by the district census office in Lubbock show a total of 1,219 people in Coahoma. This is a gain of 413 over the total 10 years ago, or a robust 51.2 per cent.

New Record High For Living Costs

April Index Largest Rise In A Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose four-tenths of one per cent in April to another record high.

The rise was the largest for any month since last June.

In reporting the increase today, the Labor Department said it was largely due to a raise in food prices. Poor spring growing conditions were a factor in the upward movement of food costs.

The department consumers price index rose to 126.2 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is 1.9 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Nearly a million workers in the auto, farm equipment and related parts industries will get a 2-cent-an-hour pay raise because of the April living cost rise. Their union contracts provide for adjustments based on the consumers price index.

An adjustment of about one-cent an hour will go to an additional 150,000 workers, most of them employed by the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Co.

MORE RAISES

Similar pay raises may be due an additional 100,000 workers, mostly in aircraft plants. Their situation is uncertain because their labor contracts providing for adjustments have either expired or will soon do so.

Arnold Chase, Labor Department price chief, said the sizable living cost rise in April is not viewed as the beginning of a strong upward trend in consumers prices.

Chase said the April increase was particularly influenced by price boosts for fresh meats and vegetables. He said the food price increase was due to supply shortages brought about by adverse weather during the past few months.

Foods as a whole rose by 1½ per cent between March and April. Prices rose for most meats, particularly pork; fresh fruits, eggs, and for potatoes and tomatoes.

Chase said that because of the unusually large increase in food prices in April, he expected little change in the over-all living cost index in May.

FOOD PRICES

But he forecast probable additional living cost increases due to higher food prices — the remainder of the summer.

The only significant price decline in April was for used cars which the Labor Department said are meeting severe competition from new compact cars.

Continuing heavy sales of new cars kept prices up for the new models.

Prices of clothing changed very little in April. And there was no change in costs of public transportation, repairs and home maintenance, or for electricity.

The Labor Department reported that the purchasing power of factory workers dropped by 1½ per cent from March to April — the fourth straight monthly decline.

VOLCANOES ADD TO HORROR

Death, Devastation Grow In Chile Quakes, Tidals

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — New tidal waves lashed the Chilean shore today in the wake of continuing earthquakes in southern Chile and seven erupting volcanoes covered the devastated scene with smoke and ash.

Authorities put the toll from five days of horror at nearly 2,000 dead or missing. Two million were believed homeless.

Smoke from six existing volcanoes and one newly stirred to life rose more than 21,000 feet above the stricken countryside. Landslides rumbled down from mountain slopes.

The erupting volcanoes were Osorno, Puehue, Caulle, Casablanca, Peulla, Carral and a new one formed by the quakes Saturday and Sunday.

The new volcano rose southwest of the Rinihue River in Cautin province. The Interior Ministry reported the earth sank as much as 1,000 feet over an area 25 miles in diameter.

Chile's national police announced two new lakes were formed by the earthquakes in the mountains near Lake Rinihue, in the Valdivia area.

The Interior Ministry said all the 150 inhabitants of an island in the Chiloe Archipelago are missing after a tidal wave. The government had not been able to get news of the other 23 small islands in the group.

The government had not even begun reckoning the property damage caused by the earth convulsions, but the Interior Ministry said it would run to many hundreds of millions of dollars. Reconstruction will take many years, it said.

Tidal waves spawned by the quakes were taking the heaviest toll. One surging wall of water carried 630 of the 800 residents of Quelen to death Sunday, the Interior Ministry said. Another wave killed more than 100 at Aleta Tuesday.

An 18-foot crest broke over the seaside resort of Mejuin Tuesday, drowning 120 persons. Other reports told of whole villages swept away by waves up to 24 feet high. At least 500 persons were missing in three southern provinces.

Two Chilean freighters, the Santiago and El Canelo, went down in mountainous seas off Puerto Corral. All aboard were believed lost.

New quakes spread terror, rocking the mountainous southern provinces. Landslides crashed into the Pacific at Maullin, a town of 1,500 about 600 miles south of Santiago.

At least five volcanoes were brought to life by the earth seizures and a new one was reported born.

Four volcanoes—Osorno, Caulle, Carral and Casablanca — were erupting in Osorno province about 500 miles south of Santiago, officials said. Communities in the area were ordered evacuated.

A pilot reported that 7,350-foot Puyehue, near Osorno, also was belching fire. In Cautin province to the north a new volcano began spitting flame and smoke.

President Jorge Alessandri toured the stricken area and described the destruction as enormous. He ordered every available resource thrown into relief operations.

Fleets of military and civilian planes rushed doctors, nurses and emergency supplies southward.

They were joined by planes and helicopters from the United States, Argentina and Peru.

Pope John XXIII directed that funds be distributed by his nuncio in Santiago.

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and the Western Pacific today reckoned its toll from the Chilean tidal wave at 183 dead or missing and property damage in the millions of dollars.

As Japanese villagers began returning to their shattered homes some of those previously reported missing were turning up.

The alert was canceled in Japan, hardest hit in Asia by the savage onslaught from the sea early Tuesday.

The Philippines reported heavy damage to crops and property but no apparent loss of life.

No further casualties were reported from Formosa or Okinawa, where three persons were killed when a 6-foot wall of water rolled into the east coast. The rice crop was seriously damaged.

Japanese police reported 95 dead, 85 missing and 854 injured, 2,621 ships sunken or washed out to sea, 4,079 homes destroyed, 41,800 flooded, dykes broken at 80 places and 251 bridges wrecked.

At least 150,000 persons were still homeless.

HONOLULU (AP)—Hilo began burying its tidal wave dead today as rescue workers continued searching debris along the city's waterfront.

The toll: 38 dead, 21 missing and 53 injured in the disaster, Hawaii's worst in 14 years.

The shattered city's 26,000 residents are threatened now by other dangers. They have started spraying to combat disease. People have been asked to drink only boiled water. There is a massive sanitation problem.

The havoc brought by the four waves that struck early Monday morning sent unofficial damage estimates soaring to 60 million dollars. One hundred business firms were destroyed or damaged.

The third of the waves, the most destructive, reached a height of 22 feet, Dr. Jerry Eaton, seismologist, said Tuesday.

Smashed By Tidal Waves

Automobiles tossed about like toys amid the debris of broken buildings attest to the fury of four tidal waves that hit Hilo, Hawaii. The waves, generated by earthquakes in Chile, 6,800 miles away, took at least 38 lives, injured scores of others, and caused property damage estimated to run in the millions of dollars.

Doomed Man 'Ready' For Chair

HUNTSVILLE (AP) —Howard Draper Jr., 28, Dallas Negro scheduled to die in the electric chair tonight for the Feb. 18, 1959, rape of a white girl in South Dallas, said today with a tear in his eye, "I'm ready."

In a death row cell, Draper appeared calm. At times he actually smiled.

For his last meal Draper ordered baked chicken, white bread, plain cake and lemonade. This will be served to him this afternoon.

Draper was convicted of beating and assaulting a teen-age white girl after he broke into her home. The girl testified she was raped repeatedly until a neighbor came into the house, beat the Negro with a shovel and held him until officers arrived.

Board Favors Annexation Petition On Sands School

A petition requesting annexation was received by a favorable Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees Tuesday evening.

The petition was signed by six persons and asked that a section be detached from the Sands Independent School District and annexed to the Big Spring district.

Three children will be affected. The petition describes the land as the south half of section 2 and the east half of section 3, both in block 33, township 1 north, TP survey.

It was pointed out that four county boards must approve the transfer and it may be several months before the actual transfer is made. Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper's motion to approve the transfer stipulated that it is agreeable with the Big Spring Board, if the Howard County School Board also approves.

The petition was signed by L. H. Thomas, R. C. Thomas, Betty Thomas, Carl Grant, Lou Grant, and Mrs. C. G. West. These are all the taxpayers living in the affected area.

In other business, the board accepted 12 acres of land for a school site from J. I. Balch. The land is located in the Balch Addition, northeast of the city.

The board approved a motion to name any school built on the site of the Balch school.

A contract was let to the Jones Construction Co. for remodeling two classrooms in the senior high school. Cost is listed at $12,484.

In a discussion of taxes, the board decided that a check stub is not sufficient evidence that a tax has been paid. The question was raised by Elmo Wasson who told Pat Murphy, business manager, he had paid his tax but did not have the canceled check. The school office has no record of the payment. In lieu of more evidence, the board declared the tax is still unpaid.

Dallas Firm To Design New Proposed City Sewage Plant

The firm of Forrest and Cotton, Dallas consulting engineers, was appointed design engineer Tuesday for the city's proposed new sewage plant.

The Dallas firm has prepared the water and sewage section of the Master Plan and has good knowledge of the present system and its needs for expansion, A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, told Big Spring city commissioners.

Steinheimer also pointed out that an engineering firm was needed to assist the city in making application for federal funds in the sewage plant construction. The city has applied for $250,000 in federal aid for this purpose.

Forrest and Cotton will not draw up plans or specifications until authorized by the city.

ENDORSED LAKE

The city commission endorsed the request of the Colorado River Municipal Water District for a permit to impound 403,000 acre feet of water from the Colorado River in Mitchell County.

CRMWD would appropriate 50,000 acre feet of water annually from the total, using 40,000 for municipal purposes, 5,000 for industrial and 5,000 for mining purposes.

The permit is requested from the State Board of Water Engineers.

The commission also re-appointed R. L. Cook and W. R. W. Currie as Big Spring directors to CRMWD to serve two year terms. The other city directors are H. W. Wright and Ward Hall.

AMENDED RESOLUTION

Commissioners approved an amended resolution to the State Highway Department to extend Baylor Blvd. into East 3rd St.

The commissioners noted that the Baylor extension will better serve residents east of Birdwell Lane than the previously requested exit ramp from the east bound lane of Interstate 20, a block east of Birdwell.

Baylor is expected to carry a large volume of traffic from the southeast part of the city and the extension would provide direct access to downtown.

City commissioners will get a look at the city's vehicles tonight as a result of a request for a new truck for the sanitation department.

FURTHER STUDY

Bruce Dunn, director of Public Works, presented his request Tuesday, but action was postponed until the further study of transportation needs is made.

Dunn said that the department has expanded and transportation facilities are lacking. The vehicles on hand, he said, are wearing out and a new pickup is needed.

The commissioners will meet at the warehouse at 6:15 p.m. All vehicles will be lined up for the inspection.

During Summer Fun Days, June 2-4, persons wearing the "Skipper" pins may swim at the municipal pool at reduced rates.

SPECIAL PINS

The pins are being sold for 50 cents through the Chamber of Commerce in connection with the Summer Fun Days Aquatennial, Bill Quimby, Chamber manager, told the city commission.

Quimby requested the reduced swimming rate for pin wearers, along with a request to block off Main between 3rd and 4th Sts., June 3, for a community square dance from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m. He also requested permission to block the parking meters around the court house to park cars for the auto display. The commission approved all the requests.

The commission passed a resolution authorizing the borrowing of $100,000 from the First National Bank to operate the city during the summer months. The loan is at 1.75 per cent interest.

Unitarians, Universalists Merge Churches

BOSTON (AP) — The Unitarian and Universalist churches, two leading proponents of liberal religion in America, have united in a new organization to be known as "The Unitarian Universalist Association."

The consolidation, which becomes effective in May 1961, was voted by simultaneous meetings of the governing bodies of the two churches. The required two-thirds majorities were reported by both.

White the consolidation links administrative and other functions of the two churches, it leaves individual local churches and fellowships independent, as in the past.

The plan accepted contains clauses to preserve for each church member complete freedom of belief and conscience. It further affirms the traditional attitudes of the two churches which, while making "affirmations of faith," have never placed such affirmations in creedal form, and have left them free for modification with the discovery of new truth and fresh knowledge.

Berserk Man Is Shot To Death

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A man who ran through North Las Vegas raging, screaming and pounding on doors, was shot to death after attempting to rape a woman, authorities reported.

Mrs. W. J. Bryan, 35, grabbed a rifle and held the man at bay Tuesday until her son returned with a service station attendant, Johnny Lang, who brought a pistol.

Police said the berserk man yelled "you'll have to kill me" and tried to flee. Lang said he fired for the man's legs, but the man stumbled and a bullet hit him in the chest.

He was identified as Richard Melvin Ballard, 28, of Pasadena, Calif.

Lodge Showing A Quieter Side

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Henry Cabot Lodge, hard-hitting spokesman for the Eisenhower administration in the United Nations, is proving he can negotiate with the Soviets as well as exchange verbal blows with them.

This new role has added greatly to his prestige among U.N. diplomats. Now in his eighth year—and perhaps his last—as chief U.S. delegate, the handsome 57-year-old ambassador has impressed his colleagues in recent months by:

1. His special assignments, such as his tour of the United States with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

2. Speculation that Lodge may get the vice presidential nomination on the Republican ticket.

The suave former U.S. senator from Massachusetts enjoys an enviable position at the United Nations for two other reasons: He is the only top diplomat here with Cabinet rank and he is the senior Big Four delegate in length of service.

Besides all this, he undoubtedly is the most colorful public speaker among the big power diplomats. His "give 'em hell" speeches and picturesque language have kept the U. N.'s walls booming ever since his first appearance as chief delegate in February 1953.

Lodge has always regarded the U.N. microphone as the world's most powerful instrument for influencing the public opinion. He doesn't hesitate to use it against the Communists when he thinks the situation warrants it.

When I asked him to list what he regarded as his biggest personal achievements at the U.N., he stressed his role in opposing the Communists in a half-dozen key conflicts. He mentioned particularly his practice of dealing immediately and on the spot with Soviet attacks by the late Andrei Vishinsky and his successors.

But while Lodge lays special emphasis on his word battles with the Soviets he cites other personal achievements not associated with the cold war:

1. Negotiating an agreement which brought the Soviets into a new U.N. committee on the peaceful uses of outer space.

2. Helping to break the East-West deadlock over the admission of new members.

3. Behind-the-scene work in getting the Suez cease-fire in 1956 and in creating the U.N. Emergency Force in the Middle East.

What does Lodge think of the U.N.'s future after seven years as head of the U.S. delegation?

"It will remain," he says, "as one of the great diplomatic facts of the world with which countries will have to cope whether they like it or not."

Just how great its success will be, he feels, depends upon how much support it gets when the going is rough.

Lodge came to the U.N. post after his defeat in the 1952 election by Sen. John F. Kennedy. He had been in politics continuously since 1932 except for military service during World War II. He was first elected to represent his home state of Massachusetts in the Senate in 1936 at the age of 34.

He credits his interest in politics to his famous grandfather, the first Henry Cabot Lodge, who served 31 years in the U.S. Senate. His first love, however, was the newspaper profession which he entered after his graduation from Harvard.

He worked eight years for the Boston Evening Transcript and the New York Herald Tribune as reporter, foreign correspondent and editorial writer. He ran for the Massachusetts Legislature while on leave from the Herald Tribune and says, almost 30 years later, "I'm still on leave of absence."

He is drawing on his experience as a newsman and a politician when he uses the colorful phrases which startle some of the rigid old-line diplomats. It is not uncommon to hear him use such expression as "hornswoggle" and "cock and bull story." Such phrases often baffle the interpreters but they also can snatch a headline away from the Soviets —something Lodge likes to do.

Lodge's U.N. job pays him $27,000 a year. In addition, the government picks up the tab for his 42nd floor suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel where he and Mrs. Lodge, the former Emily Sears, make their home. The Lodges also maintain their family home at Beverly, Mass.

While he has maintained his interest in politics, Lodge has always insisted during the past seven years that he is not a candidate for any elective office. He vigorously denies he is a candidate now for the Republican vice presidential nomination, but his name keeps popping up and the public opinion polls indicate he has some public backing.

Mrs. Doris Holmes sits on the ground, her head buried in her arms, waiting while firemen try to rescue her six-year-old son, Kelly "Randy" Holmes, from a cave-in in a ditch of the Golden State Freeway in Los Angeles. The boy was buried under a four-foot avalanche of dirt and had smothered to death by the time rescuers reached him. He and two companions had been digging in the side of the ditch when the cave-in buried him. The other boys were only partially buried and escaped injury.

Important Step In School Annexation Slated Friday

An important step in litigation over annexation of the Gay Hill Center Point school districts to the Big Spring Independent School District will be taken Friday at 10 a.m. in 118th District Court.

The Howard County School Board and the Big Spring Independent School District, through their attorney, Gil Jones, will seek to show the court has no jurisdiction to try the appeal which the common schools have filed.

Judge Ralph Caton has set 10 a.m. for a hearing on a plea of jurisdiction filed by Jones. Jones, in his petition alleges that the common school districts had given notice of appeal to the Texas Commissioner of Education before they filed their appeal in the 118th District Court.

He contends that the appellants must go by their first action—that they cannot sustain appeals in two courts simultaneously. Since he alleges that the appeal to the commissioner was filed several hours before the petition was lodged in the district court, he insists the districts had already "elected" the course of appeal they intended to follow.

Should the plea be upheld by the court, all further legal action on the annexation disagreement would be in Travis County instead of Howard County.

Outcome of the Texas Commissioner's ruling on the case, if appealed, would go to the District Court in Travis County. And if any further appeal was taken, it would be in the State Court of Civil Appeals.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

Born on this day in 1928 was the Texas town of Forsan, in southern Howard County, and like most other field settlements it came to life with a rush.

A development corporation started selling lots out of a 160-acre tract and residences were thrown up in the very shadow of oil derricks. The tour received its name from the four oil-producing sands which had been discovered in the vicinity, with depths varying from 1,300 to 2,900 feet.

Treasure hunters had probed the Forsan region before but looking for ancient gold rather than petroleum deposits. The legend still persists that a cavalry troop moving up from Fort Concho with a heavy payroll was attacked by Indians, buried the gold in the most approved fashion and then was exterminated by the red men.

Oil was first found in the region in 1925, the Chalk field was discovered in the following year and in October, 1927 the Forsan vicinity was firmly established as a producing area with the completion of Magnolia's Dora Roberts No. 1 well, at almost three thousand feet.

The "four sands" have yielded up most of the 130,066,671 barrels of crude oil produced in Howard County to January 1, 1949.

Leave That Apple On That Tree

LA SIERRA, Calif. (AP)—Students at Seventh-Day Adventist La Sierra College have been granted permission to pick forbidden fruit.

In an old campus commandment students were forbidden "to pick oranges, lemons and grapefruits and eat thereof."

But now, said Dean of Students George Akers, fruit is so abundant on campus trees the order has been suspended.

Rambouillet Ram Sale Date Fixed

The 24th Annual Registered Rambouillet Ram Sale will be held June 14-16 at the San Angelo Fairgrounds. Approximately 350 top quality stud and range rams are expected from several states. The sale is sponsored by the American Rambouillet Sheep Breeders Association.

All rams must be in the barns by 8 a.m. Tuesday, June 14th, when a committee of five breeders will begin selecting the studs from the best two rams of each consignor. The committee also will pass on pens of A-B-C where the buyer has the privilege of taking all or any part of the pen at the winning bid. The sale starts at 10 a.m. on June 16.

Butler Rakes Ike For Russ Dealings

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler accuses the Eisenhower administration of being too soft toward the Soviet Union the past two years.

"I think we have been playing footsie with the Russians under this administration," he said Tuesday.

He said he was not accusing the administration of a deliberate policy of appeasement, but rather of an unwitting reliance on the Soviets.

He said that fallacy of the administration's thinking was tragically exposed in the collapse of the summit meeting.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, asked for comment on Butler's attack, said in Washington: "Tell him I laughed and said Mr. Butler is the best Democratic national chairman the Republicans ever had."

Butler made his charge at a news conference shortly after Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida was selected as permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho was picked for keynote speaker at the convention opening July 11 in Los Angeles.

The two men were chosen at a meeting of the 14-member committee on arrangements. The choices are technically subject to ratification by the delegates at the convention.

Selection of Collins, 51, a Southern moderate on racial issues and civil rights, may help bridge the gap between Northern integrationists and Southern segregationists in the party.

Church, 35, is a civil rights advocate and is the youngest member of the Senate.

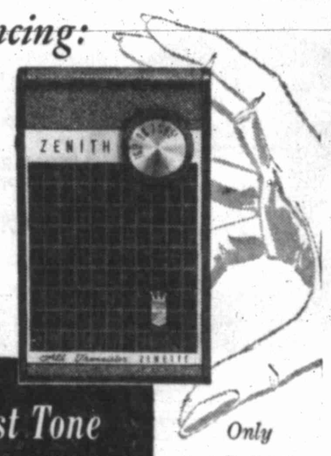

Butler's charge that the Eisenhower administration has been soft toward the Soviet Union came after a suggestion at a news conference that the Democratic party was risking becoming known as the party of appeasement.

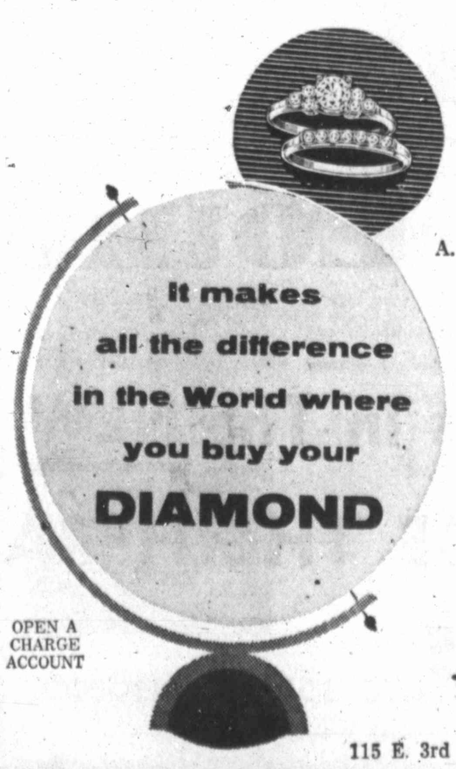

Butler said the softness he alleged consisted of telling the American people that Premier Nikita Khrushchev was changing his attitude, of reducing the size of the U.S. military establishment and of the handling of Khrushchev's visit to this country last year. Butler said the Eisenhower administration trusted Khrushchev too far.

Butler said the United States should negotiate with the Soviets "from a position of strength." He said he agrees with those who have said the American public is entitled to a debate on what caused the summit collapse. He also said he agrees with Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York that political partisanship should have no part in the debate.

DEAR ABBY

TRADE JOBS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I love children and we have eight of them. On Saturday afternoons I go to town to do the week's marketing while my husband stays home and minds the children. I am never gone more than three hours, but when I return I find the children sleeping all over the house. The six-year-old told me that "Daddy gives us sips of his drink." This can be beer, wine or hard liquor. I asked him about it and he said it quieted them down and did them no harm. Will a few sips do them harm, Abby? I am worried.

MOTHER OF EIGHT

DEAR MOTHER: Your husband had better learn a few facts about the effects of alcohol on children AND the penalty for making it available to them. I mean sips, gulps or snootsful. Insist that he stop it. And send HIM to the store while YOU stay home and mind the children if he hasn't any better sense than that.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I was 14 years old on Easter Sunday and my mother and I had a big birthday party planned. Unfortunately, I had the flu on my birthday, so we had to call the party off.

I was hoping we could postpone it for two weeks, but my mother called it off for good. She said it would look like we were giving the party just for the presents if we had the birthday party two weeks later. Do you think this was fair to me?

NO PARTY

DEAR NO PARTY: Your mother was right, honey. The only time to have a "birthday" party is on your birthday. You could have had just a plain party at a later date, however.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 55 who has worked for the government in a civil service job for 25 years. I retired last September and now I think I am going to have to go back to work again in order to get some rest.

The reason is this: I have three daughters and a son. They are all married and are raising families. Since I have "retired" I have been pestered to death to come and take care of this one's children and the other one's baby. They don't realize what they are asking. I get two and three calls a day: "Mom, can you run over and watch the kiddies for a few hours?" How can I say no when they know I am not working? Don't get me wrong, Abby, I love my children and my grandchildren, but I don't want to be a free baby-sitter seven days a week —and that's what I am. If you can think of a solution besides going back to work, please let me have it.

FREE SITTER

DEAR FREE SITTER: It's strange how some people can't say "NO"—but when they're stepped on they certainly can holler "OUCH!" You retired because you wanted to rest. Now stay home and next time you are asked to "sit" — unless it is convenient and you really want to — say "NO!"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "DOG LOVER" who thought more of his dog than he did his relatives. Will you please send me his name and address? I think we are related.

ANOTHER DOG LOVER

Lines Drawn In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Former Democratic Gov. Keen Johnson and Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper raised party standards today as Kentucky's nominees for a six-year term in the U.S. Senate.

Each easily won nomination in Tuesday's primary. The vote was extremely light.

The administration-backed Johnson swept to victory over Lexington attorney John Y. Brown with most returns counted. Brown refused to concede.

He was supported by former Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Cooper, closing out a four-year unexpired term, had an even easier time winning over Thurman J. Hamlin of London.

With 3,006 of the 3,721 precincts counted in the Democratic race, the vote stood:

Johnson, 95,332; Brown, 64,110.

Tabulation of 2,959 precincts in the GOP contest gave:

Cooper, 38,099; Hamlin, 1,541.

All of Kentucky's eight congressmen won renomination. Three without opposition are assured of re-election in November.

The three are Democratic Reps. Frank Stubblefield, 52, of Murray; William H. Natcher, 50, of Bowling Green, and Frank Chelf, 51, of Lebanon, who will be serving his ninth term.

Others, facing opposition in November, are:

Rep. Brent Spence, 85, of Ft. Thomas, dean of the Kentucky delegation in age and service, renominated to a 16th term as a Democratic candidate.

States Righter Wins Florida Demo Primary

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Farris Bryant, Harvard-trained Ocala attorney who urged a firm hand in dealing with Florida's integration problems, has won the Democratic nomination for governor.

The 45-year-old former House speaker captured 55 of the state's 67 counties in a smashing triumph over State Sen. Doyle E. Carlton Jr., who had pledged to continue the moderate course of retiring Gov. Leroy Collins in dealing with racial problems.

Returns from 1,927 of the state's 1,971 precincts gave Bryant 491,172 and Carlton 406,630.

Bryant has to face Republican nominee George Petersen of Fort Lauderdale in November, but Democratic nomination has been tantamount to election in Florida.

Selection of Bryant means the state is headed toward a more conservative form of government during the next four years. Bryant pledged no new taxes and trimming of 25 million dollars a year from the state's spending program.

Bryant, a militant advocate of states' rights, declared Collins was out of step with Floridians on the racial issue. He said Florida needed a governor who had training, experience and the mind to combat efforts to integrate schools, lunch counters and beaches.

While promising to preserve segregation by all "honorable, legal and constitutional means," Bryant said he would never close the public schools.

Carlton, who ran with Collins' active support, conceded defeat shortly before 10 p.m.

Collins said at Tallahassee he was disappointed by the defeat of Carlton but he pledged his full cooperation to Bryant.

Carlton ran with the editorial endorsement of most of the state's daily newspapers, but his organization wasn't nearly as effective as that of Bryant.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon picked up Florida's 26 Republican national convention delegates and Sen. George Smathers as a favorite son got Florida's 29 Democratic delegates votes. Their slates of delegates were unopposed.

The Smathers delegates got 250,245 votes in returns from 1,486 of 1,971 precincts. Nixon delegates polled 46,983 in returns from 1,407 precincts.

Florida has 1,481,455 registered Democratic voters and 265,992 registered Republicans but the state went for President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

VOLUNTEERS PROVIDE SUCCESSFUL ART EXPERIMENT
The encouraged creative expression of youngsters

Experimental Art Program Launched In Marcy School

Community resources have been tapped to provide an experimental program of supplementary art for Marcy School children.

Bill Dawes, principal of the school, is enthusiastic about the results of the program made possible by volunteer instructors. For the success of the plan, he gives credit to Mrs. Leonard Einstein, and Mrs. Lawrence Bassett, who coordinated the activities of the volunteer instructors, and to the regular teaching staff.

The strength of the program, he feels, is that it has been child-centered and has released the pupils for creative activity.

None of the 11 women who participated in the program is a professional artist, although all have had art training and many of them have professional training as teachers. Hence, in setting up the program emphasis was placed not on technique but upon self expression.

Youngsters have worked with finger paint, charcoal, tempra, pastels, and have had experience in crafts and puppetry. However, the vehicle has been unimportant in relation to drawing out the creative talents of the child. Evaluation has been in terms of self-expression rather than by standards of formal art.

Dawes points out that there were some factors which made the supplementary program possible. One was the availability of an extra room at the school, which enabled one reading group to go to the art period while the classroom teacher was working with the other group. Another factor was the availability of volunteers with a background in art instruction.

He emphasized that the plan was supplementary and did not take the place of the regular art program. He also lauded the classroom teachers for their iinterest and cooperation which made the experiment possible.

The idea got started in discussions with Mrs. Einstein and Mrs. Bassett, and a sort of chain reaction was set in motion.

Pictured are Mrs. Einstein, seated left, exhibiting one of the paintings. Mrs. Neil Clark, Mrs. Joe Conover, Mrs. Ronald Ellis, Mrs. C. R. Bergstrom, Mrs. Roger Counts, Mrs. Robert Evans; seated on the floor, Mrs. Forrest Dye, Mrs. Lawrence Bassett and Mrs. Philip J. Brignall. Mrs. Howard E. Katz, another of the volunteers, was not able to be present for the picture. Standing are Sam Anderson, assistant superintendent, and Dawes.

2-State Tax Differential Cited In Natural Gas Suit

AUSTIN (AP)—A pipeline company must pay the tax on gas furnished Louisiana farmers for irrigation but pays no taxes for gas from the same line sold to Texas farmers for watering crops.

William Witmer, senior vice president of Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. of Houston, gave this example Tuesday as one of the alleged inconsistent, discriminatory and unconstitutional features of Texas' new natural gas tax.

The hearing entered its third day today and is expected to end during the day. Final oral arguments in this and a similar test suit by other companies against the tax are set for June 16.

The so-called "severance beneficiary tax" is based on 1½ per cent of the market value of gas purchased under long term, "dedicated," contracts. The "severance beneficiary" is defined as any person or company for whose use and benefit the gas is withdrawn.

Witmer said the company purchases gas from the Refugio-Fox Field in Refugio County and transmits it to Waynesboro, Tenn. He said the company serves as the "producer severance beneficiary" under terms of the act and pays the tax.

But he said under one interpretation of the act the residents in Waynesboro actually are the "persons for whose use and benefit the gas is withdrawn."

He told Dist. Judge Jack Roberts of the 126th District Court that the company "drops off" three million cubic feet a day from its interstate system for irrigation in Texas. It pays no tax on this gas but must do so when it supplies farmers in other states.

Gov. Price Daniel and his supporters in the Legislature openly advocated the tax as a way by which consumers in other states who are furnished Texas gas will indirectly pay the tax.

In cross-examination, the state sought to show that if the company pays these taxes it may apply for a rate increase from the Federal Power Commission on grounds of rising costs.

Witmer agreed the company would have no other choice than to seek a rate increase if the courts uphold the tax. He contends 98 per cent of the company's business should not be subject to the tax.

Arrested Officers Report To Jury

GALVESTON (AP)—The grand jury heard yesterday from three Houston vice squad officers who were arrested recently in Dickinson.

J. M. Fann, J. W. Maddox and John Harmon were accompanied by Houston vice Capt. G. J. Ellisor.

Harmon repeated his claim that the Galveston County deputy who arrested and held him in custody knew him.

Paul Hopkins, Galveston County sheriff who also appeared before the grand jury, denied that he started the probe which resulted in the subpoenaeing of the Houston officers.

He said he talked to Dist. Atty. Jules Damiani Jr. last week after members of his department arrested the three Houston officers, allegedly for suspicious behavior.

Next Session's Cost Estimated

AUSTIN (AP)—State Auditor C. H. Cavness estimates the next 120-day legislative session will cost about $1,866,200.

He based his estimate on expenditures of the 56th Legislature which went a regular session and three special sessions for a total cost of $2,773,140. Cavness made the budgetary estimate in helping set up a new accounting system for the offices of the secretary of the Senate and the chief clerk of the House.

The estimate of "what would probably be about the budgets for a 120-day session" included $724,200 for the Senate and $1,242,000 for the House. Salaries of members take up $450,000, plus $14,000 travel expense, in the House, and $93,000, plus $2,900 travel expense, in the Senate. He estimated representatives will spend $28,000 for telephone and telegraph and $36,000 on postage stamps while senators will spend $13,400 for telephone and telegraph and $13,700 for postage stamps.

Ike To Report To The Nation Tonight On Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reports to the American people tonight on the collapse of the summit conference and its effect on the policies of this and other free world nations.

He speaks out in the midst of political, diplomatic and legislative repercussions over the use of a U.S. spy plane brought down in the Soviet Union just before the summit blowup.

The Kremlin was urged by the White House to let the Soviet people listen to broadcasts on the President's 30-minute talk. James C. Hagerty, making the appeal through American newsmen, said "the Russian people, as well as the free people of the world have a right to hear it."

The President's address, from the White House at 7 p.m. EST will be carried live by CBS and ABC TV networks, and all major radio networks. It will be rebroadcast at 9 p.m. by NBC-TV.

The Voice of America arranged to broadcast the presidential message overseas in English and 38 other languages, including Russian.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called Secretary of State Christian A. Herter for closed-door testimony Friday, starting a major inquiry into the downing of the U2 spy plane and the chain of events which followed it.

The hearings are to continue into next week, with testimony by Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

Two other Senate probes were planned on a lesser scale—one by a special committee which keeps regular check on the Central Intelligence Agency and the other by a subcommittee studying government policy machinery.

Both in and outside the Senate, partisan squabbling continued despite calls by many senators for a bipartisan approach.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler told a news conference in New York the Eisenhower administration pursued "too soft a policy toward Russia in the last two years."

He said the Republican administration was taken in by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, let its defenses down, and tried to play "footsie with the Russians."

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, fired back at a subsequent news conference in Washington that he had hoped Butler, Adlai E. Stevenson and a few other critical Democrats "would have permitted the President to report to the nation in an atmosphere of open-mindedness on the gravest problem of our age: How best to deal with the Soviet Union."

He said Republicans were proud of a "record of peace established and maintained through the most perilous years in history," and welcomed a bipartisan review by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Galveston Loses Some Population

GALVESTON (AP) — Galveston lost population between 1950 and 1960, preliminary census figures released Tuesday showed. The current census was estimated at 65,662, down 906 from 66,568 in 1950.

The Galveston County count was not complete, census officials said.

40 Graduate At Stanton

Commencement exercises for 40 Stanton High School seniors were held Tuesday night in the Stanton Junior High School gymnasium.

School Board President C. M. Hood presented the diplomas to the graduates. Awards were made by Principal Jimmy Bickley. The class was presented by L. M. Hays, superintendent.

Student speeches, taking the place of a single commencement address, were made by the five top ranking students.

Those making speeches were Valedictorian Joetta Franklin, Salutatorian Veronica Sorie, Carl Wright, Glen Reid and Linda Hillger.

City Vehicle Involved In Auto Mishap

Two traffic accidents were investigated by police during the past 24 hours.

Mrs. Maradelle L. Helton, 1301 Barnes Ave., was in a collision with a city street sweeper at the city park entrance on Marcy Dr. Jose Valerio Trevino, 513 N. Johnson, was driving the sweeper at the time of the mishap.

A hit-and-run accident was reported in the 800 block of Runnels when an unknown driver collided with a parked car owned by Ralph Winterrowd Jr., 805 Runnels.

2 Dogs, 2 Cats

Two dead dogs and two dead cats were reported to police for pick-up during the past 24 hours. Dogs were found in the 200 block of Northeast 9th and in the 1600 block on East US-80. The cats were in the 1600 block of Johnson and near the rodeo grounds.

Vocational Teachers Discuss Problems With School Board

Vocational training teachers discussed their enrollment, teaching plans and specific problems with members of the Big Spring Independent School Board Tuesday.

Following a short business meeting, the board sat down for further interviews with the instruction staff in order to become more familiar with teachers and their problems.

In view of former similar discussions, the board remarked they were pleased that the vocational instruction staff did not request more money. As a whole, the teachers indicated their departments were well equipped and had suitable facilities.

The exceptions included the homemaking department at Goliad Junior High School. Mrs. Fern Alexander said if her enrollment continues to increase, she will need more equipment, including machines.

Other homemaking teachers include Mrs. Florence Lenox, Mrs. Nina Rose Walker, Mrs. Frances Pharis, Mrs. Frances Wheat and Miss Rosetta Brown.

Floyd Parsons, superintendent, added that increased enrollment at Lakeview would also place a burden on that facility. Mrs. Lenox, in describing the homemaking work, said the program is designed to help the girls in present family life as well as in their own homes of the future.

Truitt Vines and Ed Seay discussed the vocational agricultural program, pointing out increased enrollment reflects increased interest. The question of a feeding barn was discussed and Vines said it would double the knowledge gained by the youngsters. Cost for the barn is listed at $9,619, and includes five acres of land. Vines said it would accommodate 60 boys.

He described the FFA program and pointed out his instructional part of the program is largely in the sciences with emphasis on botany, physiology, entomology, genetics, etc.

Louis Maneely, coordinator of the Industrial Cooperative Training program, gave an elaborate presentation of his work. He said the program was formerly called Diversified Occupations.

Students in the program are employed in 19 different fields. They work between 20-25 hours per week in addition to regular classes, he said. He pointed out the program is designed to train students to be prepared for an occupation when they are graduated.

The school, at present, has no instructor for the Distributive Education program. This class is similar to Maneely's, however it is concerned with the retail trade.

School Site Gift

Clyde McMahon, (left), president of the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees, accepted the warranty deed Tuesday from J. I. Balch for a school site. The deed is for 12 acres of land in the Balch Addition, northeast of the city. The future school will carry the donor's name.

City Dads Organize Nine Member Traffic Commission

The Big Spring Traffic Commission, a nine member citizens' committee, was created Tuesday with members yet to be appointed.

The traffic commission will advise and assist the Big Spring City Commission in regulating traffic and promoting safety.

Duties of the commission include working with the planning and zoning commission on parts of the Master Plan, and making recommendations on intersections, and parking.

The commission will also work with the traffic division of the police department in studying problems of law enforcement, citywide and around the schools.

TO BE APPOINTED

Five of the first nine members appointed by the mayor will have two-year terms, and four will have one-year terms. After the first terms expire, appointment will be for two years.

Appointment of members to the commission is expected at a special meeting of the city commission next Tuesday. This commission replaces the citizens Traffic Commission which was dropped from the current budget.

One of the first studies to be made by the traffic commission will be that of a special route around Big Spring for trucks carrying explosives and combustibles.

The city commission discussed the possibility of designating FM 700 for this purpose, then decided to hand the problem to the traffic commission for study and recommendations.

AMENDMENT

The city commission approved an amendment to the city traffic code establishing new speed limits on highways passing within city limits.

The changes in the speeds have been okayed by the state highway department which will erect the new signs.

Involved in the change are U. S. 80 east and west, Marcy Dr., U. S. 87, and S. H. 350. Speed through the city on east bound U. S. 80 from San Jacinto to Settles is 30 miles per hour and on west bound U. S. 80, 30 miles per hour from Union to Lancaster.

Marcy Dr. is 30 miles per hour from West U. S. 80 to Lark St. U. S. 87 is 30 miles per hour from 21st to NW 3rd, and S. H. 350 is 30 miles per hour from 3rd to NE 2nd.

Graduated speeds up to 55-60 miles per hour are in effect into and out of the 30 mile zones.

SIGNAL LIGHT

A signal light system will be installed at the intersection of Marcy Dr. and South Gregg in an attempt to reduce accidents and the traffic hazards.

Since September, 1959, there have been 15 accidents at the intersection, involving both heavy property damage and injury, City Manager A. K. Steinheimer told the commission.

The signal system will cost about $4,000 which can be taken out of funds furnished by the state highway department for the construction of right-of-way west of Big Spring, for Interstate 20, Steinheimer said.

A treadle system to regulate the lights with the flow of traffic is planned for Marcy Dr. During normal hours, the heaviest flow of traffic is on U. S. 87.

Installation of the system will require from 90 to 120 days.

He leaves 23 grandchildren and 35 great-grandchildren.

Soviet Charges In U.N. Doomed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Western opposition in the U.N. Security Council today doomed a Soviet resolution asking for condemnation of U.S. spy plane flights.

Diplomats waited to see if the two neutral nations on the council — Ceylon and Tunisia — would line up with the Western majority or would merely abstain on the vote expected Thursday.

Scouts To Attend Rifle Classes

Dr. Cal Guilliams will be in charge of the Boy Scout rifle instructions class which will be held Saturday, May 28.

All scouts in the Lone Star District should make plans to attend the classes which are designed to better indoctrinate the youngsters in matters of hunting and rifle-firing.

The program will be climaxed with each boy being alowed to fire a few rounds. Classes will be held at the Western Sportsman's firing range on the Andrews highway and will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Frankie Starr Plugs For Ship Memorial

Frankie Starr, music publisher and country music impressario, was here Tuesday pushing sales of a recording for the Battleship Arizona Memorial fund.

He took occasion to visit with a friend, Ace Vaughn of KHEM who is playing the Ashley Dees recording of his two lyrics, "Beneath Pearl Harbor Waters" and "Missing in Action." One dollar mailed to the Arizona Memorial Fund at Box 147 in Phoenix, Ariz., brings the recording.

Proceeds go to the establishment of a memorial over the sunken Arizona, which still lies off the southeast tip of Foard Island. Starr said that funds also would be used for scholarships for children of those who lost their lives aboard the Arizona when it was sunk by the Japanese at Pearl Harbor with 1,102 men below decks.

Quimby Talks

Bill Quimby, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce manager, will be commencement speaker at Gail High School. The graduation exercises are being held tonight.

Grandmother Completes Ambition; Receives Degree

A grandmother, who started her collegiate career here, took her bachelor of science degree at Abilene Christian College Monday evening.

She is Mrs. Minnie Aston, 53, who now resides at 1842 Lincoln Drive in Abilene.

After her two sons, Kenneth Aston, Abilene, and Douglas Aston, Corpus Christi, had completed high school, Mrs. Aston enrolled at Howard County Junior College as a 49-year-old freshman.

She was an employe of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here, and at the end of her first semester, the company installed a tuition plan under which employes who wanted to earn a degree could get company assistance. She was among the first to be granted the tuition award.

When Mrs. Aston completed HCJC, she asked for a transfer to Abilene to work toward her degree at ACC.

During her time at Howard County Junior College, Mrs. Aston (who was a Dawson High School graduate) earned 60 semester hours credit and had a 2.00 (B) average. During her last semester she carried 18 semester hours of work and held down a full time job.

College officials said that they did not see how she did it, adding that she had the most indominitable will to succeed that they had ever seen.

She had a life-long ambition to have a degree, and now she is convinced that anyone who wants too badly enough can earn a college degree.

She is convinced that her college education has helped her on the job quite a bit. She has had numerous offers of teaching positions, but she prefers to stay with the telephone company where she has been a clerk, operator, assistant chief operator and supervisor for 23 years.

Commissioners Set Meeting On Equalization

Howard County Commissioners set July 26-27 as the date for the equalization board meeting.

The court took this action at a meeting Wednesday morning. The board representing the Big Spring Independent School District and the City of Big Spring are due to be in session on those same dates.

Oil valuators will be on hand June 7 for a meeting with the court, sitting as a board of equalization for oil and utilities values.

The court voted to advertise for bids for a station wagon to replace one now in use by the sheriff's department. The present vehicle has 74,000 miles. Judge Ed Carpenter said the sheriff's department had reported the station wagon was advantageous in hauling prisoners to Huntsville, being able to transport the same number as two cars.

Approval of purchase of acreage from Ralph Proctor for the Hamlin road project was voted by the board. This lateral road will connect the Knott road at U. S. 87 with the Gail road at Luther Gin. This is the second piece of right-of-way that the court has acquired on this road.

Earns Award For Insurance Concern

Jerry E. Mancill, Big Spring, agent for United Fidelity Life Insurance Co. in the West Texas district, has been notified that he has qualified for the National Quality Award. Recipients of this honor must produce a certain volume of business and the persistency or renewal of their business must be at least 90 per cent.

Mancill has been in the insurance business since 1949 and associated with United Fidelity since 1957. He is active in civic affairs and is secretary of the Big Spring Life Underwriters Association. Mr. and Mrs. Mancill reside at 1514 Sycamore with their two daughters.

Thefts Continue To Plague City

Four thefts were reported to police for investigation during the past 24 hours.

Richard Fielder, 1319 Mulberry, told police a jacket, a pair of sunglasses and possibly a tire jack were taken from his truck parked in the 200 block of Owens.

Thomas Brown, 204 Donley, reported the theft of a tool box from his residence.

Nancy Frazier, 3617 Dixon, told police two hubcaps were taken from her car while it was parked near the high school.

E. T. Tucker, 1001 W. 3rd, reported the theft of a tarpaulin from his truck.

Other new officers include Bob Bright, medicine man; Hugo Campbell, longhouse delegate; Al Milch, Indian runner; John Gary, talleykeeper; Charles Neefe, wampum man.

The Indian braves and their families were present at the pow-wow and hot dog supper. The next pow-wow is scheduled Sept. 12, in the teepee of Chief Black Wolf, 1310 Sycamore.

U.S. May Widen Mexican Consuls

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States consular operation in Mexico is the largest in the world, says the U.S. Embassy. It may be enlarged.

The flow of Mexican travelers to the United States is expected to average around 200,000 a year from now on. More than half a million Americans visit Mexico annually. Over 50,000 Americans live and work here, and more and more are moving to Mexico to retire. Trade relations are booming.

Midas Still In Its Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An experimental Midas "spy" satellite today whirled about the earth every 94.34 minutes, ready to test its missile detection equipment on giant flares and friendly rockets.

Midas, weighing 2½ tons, will determine the feasibility of using a series of such satellites to patrol the earth for enemy missiles. These orbiting space stations will use infra-red sensing devices to detect the heat trail of a hostile missile the instant it is fired.

The alarm would be radioed to the United States, which then would have about 30 minutes to activate defense and retaliatory measures.

The Midas test vehicle Tuesday was launched into a near-circular orbit from this missile base. Air Force officials reported its path through space ranged from an apogee of 322 miles to a perigee of 292.1 miles.

Plans In Full Stride For Annual Big Spring Rodeo

Plans for the annual Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion are beginning to swing into full stride.

Seven mounted patrols and sheriff's posses have indicated they will send riders for the big parade on the afternoon of June 9 and prior to the opening of the wild west program.

Nine cities have promised representatives in the girls' contests.

Meanwhile, Buster Morgan of Burkburnett are readying their string of rodeo stock for the show, and within about a week, the vanguard of the calves and bulls will begin to arrive.

Specialty acts this year will include Jay Sisler and his greyhound act, and the Clark Brothers, rodeo comics. Clem McSpadden will be the show announcer.

Rodeo Association officials are anticipating a large field of cowboys to vie for a slice of the $2,450 purse, plus entrance fees, for saddle and bareback bronc riding, bull riding, bulldogging, and calf roping.

The girls will stage their barrel race event, and the winner will receive a gold trophy.

A trophy will be awarded also to the outstanding posse or riding club under the rules of the American Association of Sheriff's Posses and Riding Clubs. Immediately after the parade, visiting posses and the queen candidates will be honored with a barbecue at the rodeo grounds. The rodeo association and the Big Spring Mounted Patrol will be hosts.

Among the queen entries to date are Ada Lee Riggs, Sanderson; Linda Maule, Snyder; Janice Holmers, McCamey; Temple Ann Foster, Sterling City; Nancy Beal, Borden County; Barbara Ballenger, Midland; Katharyn Hart, Odessa; and Carolyn Kelly, Stanton. The Colorado City entry is to be selected.

Riding groups due to be here are Martin County Posse, headed by Dan Saunders; Terry County Posse, headed by Crate Snider; Scurry County Posse, headed by Clyde South; Ector County Posse; Charles L. Ashley; Western Riders of Mitchell County, represented by Rex Felker; Dawson County Posse, headed by E. B. Teaff; ans Tom Green County Posse, headed by Hollis Leddy.

Weather Halts Captive Return

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)— Wind and rain today canceled the flight back to freedom of nine Americans and their C47 from Communist East Germany, the U.S. Army announced.

While the plane is in good condition, an Army statement said the Soviet military command was asked to authorize the return of five of the occupants by motor vehicles.

The Soviets released the Americans and the plane Tuesday.

The pilot, copilot, radio operator and crew chief of the plane, the Army said, will fly the aircraft from East Germany when weather conditions permit.

A Communist police official at Grevesmuehlen, near the meadow where Soviet fighters forced down the lumbering old twin-engine transport Friday, said the East Germans had prepared a takeoff strip. But he said the weather was bad.

Gusty winds and clouds covered North Germany. Tuesday heavy rains softened the ground.

U.S. Air Force men stood by at Wiesbaden to welcome the nine Americans—eight men and a woman—who strayed on a flight from Copenhagen, Denmark, to Hamburg, Germany, and spent four days in Soviet custody.

Fire Sweeps Rural House; Firemen Halt Total Loss

Fire swept a house south of the city Tuesday night completely destroying the roof and gutting the interior. None of the occupants were injured.

The house is owned by Hank McDaniel and occupied by Dee Hernandez. It is about three miles south of the city limits off US-87.

Two trucks were called to extinguish the blaze which apparently started from a short in the electrical system at the corner of the house.

Hernandez said he failed to put the fire out himself when it first ignited. The flames caught the roof and were well under way to taking the entire structure when firemen arrived about 9:40 p.m.

Lack of a water supply at the scene badly hampered the firemen. Both trucks, one with a 750 gallon capacity and the other with a 250 gallon capacity, ran out of water before the fire could be brought under control. They had to return to town for re-fills.

Most of the furnishings were removed from the house but some of the contents were damaged.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker estimated 75 per cent damage to the house and 25 per cent damage to the contents.

Firemen made another run to the house early this morning to extinguish embers still burning.

High-Flying O's Perched At Top

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles, it appears, no longer are pigeons for the other American League clubs.

The Birds, backing southpaw rookie Steve Barber with a five-run fourth-inning, rode back into first place with a 6-1 victory at Chicago Tuesday night, dropping the White Sox to third with their third straight defeat in the opener of a two-game series.

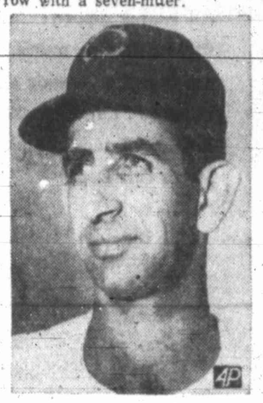

It was the third consecutive victory for the Orioles. They now have a 3-1 season edge over the defending champions and a half-game lead over both Cleveland and the White Sox.

Cleveland moved into second place, five percentage points ahead of Chicago, with a 7-2 victory over Washington. Detroit closed within one game of fourth-place New York as Don Mossi whipped the Yankees 4-0 with a four-hitter. Kansas City sent Boston to a 10th straight defeat, 6-2.

In the National League, San Francisco regained first place by beating Philadelphia 4-0 on a four-hitter by Sam Jones. Pittsburgh slipped eight percentage points behind the Giants with a 4-2 loss to Los Angeles. Milwaukee at St. Louis and Chicago at Cincinnati were rained out.

The Orioles beat southpaw Herb Score (1-3) with two out in the fourth inning. Baltimore collected 13 walks off four White Sox pitchers. Score gave up seven of them, two in the five-run outburst.

Barber, 21, won his third in a row with a seven-hitter.

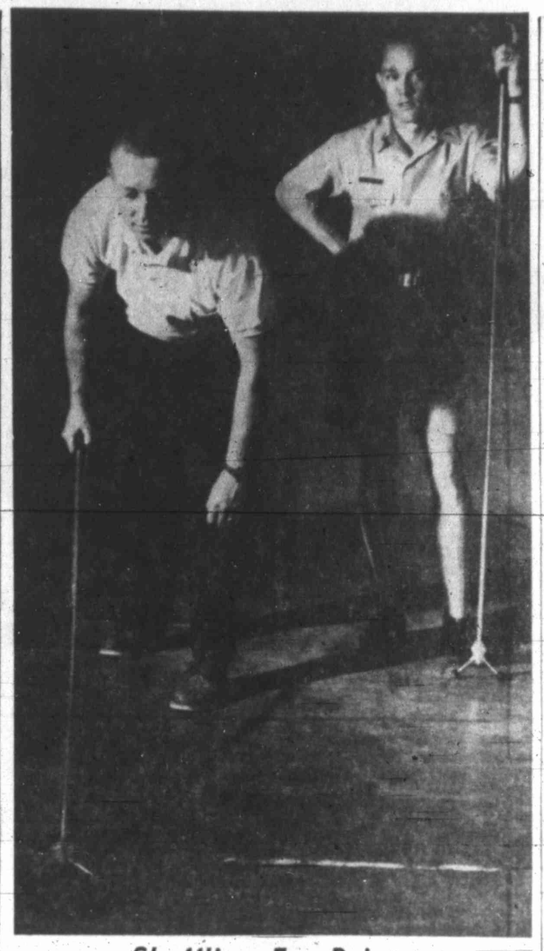

DON MOSSI

Johnny Romano drove in three runs for Cleveland, two with a clinching, seventh-inning homer. The Indians then counted four in the eighth. Bubba Phillips drove in two with a single. Jim (Mudcat) Grant, now 12-0 lifetime against the Senators, won it with a four-hitter for a 2-1 record. Jim Lemon hit a two-run homer in the ninth, his 10th, tops in the majors. Chuck Stobbs (1-1) lost it.

The Tigers, finally back to .500 after that 10-game losing streak, won their third in a row with a first-inning run on a walk, a wild pitch and Al Kaline's two-out single off loser Bill Short (2-3). Charlie Maxwell's second home run in two games got the other three home in the fifth. Mossi, now 2-3, had a two-hitter until the ninth, when he got Roger Maris on a grounder after two-out singles by Bill Skowron and Elston Howard.

Marv Throneberry hit a home run, triple and double for the A's, scoring three runs and driving in three. His two-run double decided it in the fourth off Dave Hillman, who lost his first AL decision. Bud Daley (4-2) won his third in a row.

Shuffling For Points

Shuffle Board Competition became the "Big Decider" as the Webb Commander's Trophy race tightened down the stretch. Last on the sports calendar, Shuffle Board was scheduled just when Wing Headquarters (2,391 points) and Section II of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron (2381½) were almost deadlocked for first place. In tourney action at the base gym Jimmy Ray Smith, Physical training instructor for Pilot Training Group, puts 1st Lt. Michael Ryder of Wing Headquarters in the loser bracket. Rider ended up in third place, picking up 40 points for Wing. (Photo by A-1C Leland Bernard).

Fat Archie Moore Meets Willie Besmanoff In 10

By JERRY LISKA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) —Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, looking as though he trained for a fat man's picnic race, makes his first start in nine months tonight against Germany's Willi Besmanoff in a 10-round heavyweight match.

The nationally televised match (8 p.m., CST ABC-TV) is a replay of a May 2, 1958 bout in which Moore scored a split decision over Besmanoff in Louisville, Ky.

Moore is called a 2½ to 1 favorite even though he'll come into the ring about 200 pounds, 25 over the 175 limit at which he reigns world champion.

Archie, supposedly approaching 46, may even weigh a few pounds more than the sharply trained Besmanoff, who fights out of Milwaukee. Certainly, he has the bulge in age, almost 20 years over the 27-year-old Besmanoff.

This will be a $25,000 payday for Moore in his only start between his last outing, a three-round knockout of Yvon Durelle last Aug. 12, and his next scheduled title defense, against Germany's Erich Schoppner, in July.

Moore has a $25,000 guarantee or 35 per cent of the net, including TV, from the show in the Coliseum which is expected to draw 8,000 and a possible $60,000 gross. Besmanoff has a $6,000 guarantee.

"I've fought at over 200 pounds before," said Moore. "I know I'm against a tough boy, but I'm not going to leave any doubt about who won tonight. Last time, Besmanoff seemed to think I didn't win."

Moore's manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns, also was unconcerned about Archie's leisurely training.

"When you have fought as long, and as much, as Moore, you know how to pace yourself in training," said Kearns. He's heavy, but he's not fat—just solid."

Besmanoff, who has lost his last four fights, sees a good chance for an upset of Moore. "This time, I will make that old man work," the German fighter said.

The venerable Moore has a 177-24-6 ring record, against 41-19-7 for Besmanoff.

Shy Oklahoman Faces Jack In British Amateur Today

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland (AP)—Ralph Morrow, a 25-year-old American airman who started caddying at the age of seven, went into the third round of the British Amateur golf championship today facing the biggest test of his golfing life.

The shy Oklahoma City player meets former champion Reid Jack, a member of the British Walker Cup squad. Morrow faces the toughest match of any of the six American survivors out of the original entry of 26.

Morrow is stationed at an American Air Force base in Scotland. Two other American servicemen are in the third round.

One of them, Maj. Hiram Snowden of Savannah, Ga., found himself in the last 64 without playing a hole. Both his first and second round opponent scratched. He plays Irishman John Duncan.

Lt. Bill Gibson, whose home town is Louisville, Ky., meets John Boston of England.

The man the British regard as the strongest American challenger is Tim Holland, 29-year-old shooter from Rockville Centre, N.Y. He plays B.H.G. Chapman of England.

The other surviving Americans are Bob Cochran of St. Louis and Donald J. Dawson of Detroit.

Last Minute TD Enables Whites To Tie Blacks

Opposing elevens saved the best for the last in their Big Spring High School intra-squad football game at Memorial Stadium here last night, which resulted in a 16-16 deadlock.

The Whites led much of the way, then had to resort to a pass play that carried 65 yards in the final 40 seconds of play to get a tie.

The aerial went from Jerry Tucker to Johnny Freeman and brought a swell of pride from the 1,000 or so patrons who had braved high winds to sit in on the contest.

After Freeman had counted his touchdown, the Whites gave the job of picking up the vital two extra points to Tucker. He snaked across after drifting wide.

The Whites counted in the very first quarter, going into the teeth of a gale, when Jimmy Madry legged it 72 yards right through the Black line and past the opposition's secondary. Jerry Dunlap barrelled across to make it 8-0.

Earlier in the round, the Blacks had powered their way to the Whites' ten, only to bog down and lose the ball on downs.

Shortly before the period ran out, the Blacks, benefiting from a fine run on the part of James Gilbert, chugged to the White 14 but they again yielded the ball.

The Whites threatened seriously just before the half, at which time Madry, Dexter Pate and Tucker led the way. They maneuvered to the Blacks' six, from which point Tucker passed into the end zones to Mike Hughes. The play was called back, however, and the Whites' drew a 15-yard penalty.

The Blacks' offense started percolating in the third, after Emmett Kent Morgan had intercepted a White aerial and returned on the Whites' 45 and boomed to the 16 before being arrested.

From that point, Morgan got the score on a wide sweep around right end. Morgan then added the two extra points on a run.

A fumble down around the Blacks' 25 ended a White scoring drive shortly before the quarter ran out.

The Blacks' blocked a White punt early in the fourth and made recovery on the White 48. An interception at the one blunted that march, however, and the Whites proceeded to pick up two first downs before the ubiquitous Morgan again intercepted an aerial on the White 45 and returned to the 28.

With just one minute showing on the clock, Tommy Rutledge took a 14-yard scoring pass from Tommy Whatley for what apparently was the winning touchdown. Whatley then scooted around end to make it 16-8, setting the stage for the Whites' final caper.

Pate showed running skill in the White secondary, as did Madry and Freeman. The spotlight in the Blacks' secondary stayed on Morgan, a threat every time he got the ball. Ronnie Clanton, Jack Irons, Gilbert and Whatley lent him good assistance.

The Whites seemed to have a slight edge in line play. Young Bobby Pryor of the Whites, who confined his talents to the B team last year, came up with 14 tackles. Bobby Miears, Tommy Roberts, Gary Pickle, Red Schwarzenbach, Mike White, Pate and Eddie Everett were others who showed to advantage defensively for the Whites.

Bill Gillespie, Ricky Hodnett, Chap Smith, Whatley, Morgan, Dean Lee, Clanton and Alf Cobb were among defensive standouts for the Blacks.

The coaches made liberal use of all players who suited out. There were 44 in uniform.

There was more razzle-dazzle to the teams' attack than any Steer team has shown in some time. The pass left a lot to be desired but much of the deficiency there may have been due to the wind.

At any rate, the game ended football activity here until the last week in August, at which time the Longhorns will resume training for the 1960 campaign.

It Seems To Me

Buzzy Brewer, the Stanton lad who recently indicated he'll attend the University of Houston next fall on a football scholarship, says he'll continue his track and field antics for the Cougars.

He says he wants to concentrate on throwing the javelin because "I've always been good at throwing something." Brewer won third in the state class A discus throw this year by heaving the plate near the 150-foot mark. He was also a top shot-putter for the Buffs this past season.

Brewer was by far the district's high point man in the meet here in April as he scored 35 points for the Martin County crew.

Bobby Bryant, the big end and captain for the Texas University Longhorns in 1958, played his high school football in Plainview. One of his coaches there was Joe Leach, physical director for the Big Spring YMCA . . .

Tom Garrison and Harold Henson, the two HCJC basketball stars who have signed intent letters with Baylor University, both stand an excellent chance of winning starting roles for the Bears next winter.

The Bruins lost four of their starting five this year, (three of these four were also junior college transfers) and only five members off the entire 1959-60 squad will return . . .

Those who know him say that John Thomas, the high-jump sophomore sensation from Boston University, gets his kicks in the track game by running the hurdles and throwing the javelin. He gets a bigger thrill from placing third or fourth in one of the sidelights than he does from winning the high-jump with a seven-foot leap.

Vince Best, coach of the New York City Community College's track team, says that most of the meets which his team enters are run indoors and the tracks are banked on the curves. "With the curves the way they are," says Best, "a boy can get beat badly even though he is the best runner."

Best claims that when a boy runs the banked track for the first time, he'll wind up on the outside of the curve before he knows it.

"You just have to learn to run all over again," adds Best. There's a fellow there in New York City that comes and runs with the college boys all the time just for the practice. He's 35 years old and he beats lots of the college performers simply because he knows how to run the banked track. He may not win every race, but he's on the inside lane every time." . . .

Bobby Evans, the Big Springer who was just signed as an HCJC basketballer by Coach Buddy Travis, says he plans to major in business at the junior college.

Temple And First Baptist Triumph

Temple Baptist turned back College Baptist, 9-4, and First Baptist outlasted East Fourth Baptist, 4-3, in YMCA Church Softball league games played here Monday night.

A run by Frank Pollard in the seventh inning provided First Baptist with the run it needed to turn back East Fourth Baptist.

Frick, Shea Fight Anew Over Kefauver's Bill

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick and Bill Shea, the outspoken founder of the Continental League, were in a new squabble today over the Kefauver bill designed to place certain aspects of baseball under the antitrust laws.

Shea Tuesday recommended to Senate Estes Kefauver's subcommittee to substitute in his bill before Congress an unrestricted player draft for a clause that would limit the control to 100 players by each major league.

In Washington, the subcommittee, apparently deadlocked over terms, sent the bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee without recommendation. It included a proposed amendment calling for an unrestricted draft.

In a recent poll, it was determined that the major league clubs control an average of 170 players each.

Shea contended that Frick and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, had testified in Washington last week that an unrestricted draft would be acceptable to them.

Frick vehemently denied this.

"I said I didn't want either the player control clause or the unrestricted draft," he said. "I told the committee I was against any sort of legislation by the government.

"I was asked which one I would prefer, if baseball had to have one or the other. I said neither would be acceptable but we probably could live better with the unrestricted draft. That would be the lesser of two evils."

Kefauver said he had offered an unrestricted draft amendment to the original measure in an effort to settle the dispute over the proposal to limit control to 100 players.

He said the subcommittee ordered the unrestricted draft proposal written into the bill's printed draft merely for the parent committee's information. This did not imply approval by the subcommittee.

Shea said Trautman also testified that arbitration was the only solution to the differences between the Continental League and the minors regarding territorial indemnity.

Said Shea: "I think Frick, if he wants to show good faith, should call a meeting of the two minor leagues (International and American Assn.) and set up the machinery for an arbitrary commission."

Vaughn, Satterwhite Lead Midland Win

By DON RIDDLE

MIDLAND, (SC) — Midland's booming bats, swished mainly by Rodney Satterwhite and Sammy Vaughn, crushed the visiting Monterey Plainsmen from Lubbock, 7-3 here Tuesday afternoon.

The win gave the Bulldogs the inside track to the regional championship and a berth in the state AAA baseball playoffs in Austin.

Sammy Vaughn limited the Plainsmen to five singles, two of them being infield hits, as he whiffed seven and walked only two.

Monterey's Ronnie Arrington legged out an infield grounder to lead off the second inning and after Morris Dudley fanned, Donnie Bumpass and James Ellis both singled, Ellis' ball was bobbled by the Midland left fielder and two runs scored. Ellis later crossed the plate on an infield error and the vistiors held a 3-0 lead.

Midland came back in its half of the inning to score two on Vaughn's two-out single. In the third frame, Midland's Bill Brown was safe on an error, Bob Davis walked and Satterwhite unloaded a line drive over the left field wall and the Dogs led, 5-3.

In the fourth inning, Midland's Tony Dorff walked, took second on a wild pitch and then scored on Davis' second single of the afternoon.

The host's final tally came in the fifth as Tom Arnold led off with a double and slipped into third as the Monterey third sacker bobbled the outfielder's throw. Arnold later scored on an error by the second baseman.

Vaughn twirled flawlessly for the Midland crew after the three-run outbreak in the third, and gave up only two hits the rest of the way.

Midland stroked out eight safeties and left eight men stranded.

The two teams square off again this afternoon in Lubbock for the second game of the three - game series. Should a third game be necessary, it will be played in Lubbock Saturday.

Devils Ease Past Braves, 3-2

Ronnie Anderson stroked a seventh - inning single Tuesday night to drive in teammate Keith Howze and give the Devils a 3-2 National Little League win over the Braves.

Each team scored one run in the second and third innings and were tied at 2-2 at the end of the regulation game.

Howze and David Anderson limited the losers to only two safeties while their mates were banging out eight. Larry Smith and Danny Graham each had a single for the losers. Howze was the winning pitcher.

In minor league play the Aces trimmed the Cubs, 13-7. Ford Farris was the winning pitcher.

Census Blues To Stay In Many Cities

By The Associated Press

Census blues plague many a Texas city, and it appears those most disappointed by the government's head-count probably will stay that way.

There have been angry protests from community leaders in a number of places. In most cases their complaint was that the preliminary census report just couldn't be right—chamber of commerce and other sources were positive their city had a lot more residents.

People in a number of places got busy with supplemental drives to round up all their neighbors the census takers missed. Some of these campaigns are still in progress, but quite a few have given up.

"It looks like the census workers were more accurate than we thought," observed a resident of Paris, one of the complaining cities.

Paris carried out a brisk "Operation Miscount." Mayor Bill Hagan had asserted that with all local indices pointing to a gain, figures showing his city dropped from 21,643 a decade ago to 20,696 were ridiculous.

But Operation Miscount turned up only 136 Paris residents missed by the government enumerators.

MIDLAND LEADS

Surprisingly, the biggest upward revision so far in Texas was in the tally for Midland. That West Texas oil center, already rejoicing at a 175 per cent increase since 1950, got credit for 2,727 more persons than the Census Bureau first listed.

Officials explained that the Midland total jumped to 62,279 because they had credited the extra 2,727 to rural sections of Midland County by mistake, instead of to the county seat.

Temple also gained from a recheck by the Chamber of Commerce in that Central Texas city and neighboring areas of Bell County. It added more than 500 to the preliminary census total of 30,111 for Temple.

In Kilgore, another oil field center in East Texas, civic leaders posted a reward of $1 for word of every person not previously enumerated. They called it "Operation Nose Count."

So far there have been no reports of significant changes from such campaigns in Kilgore or such other cities as Fort Worth, Austin, Athens, Big Spring, Lubbock and Sweetwater.

Newspapers joined in these projects by publishing convenient blanks to be filled in and mailed to the Census Bureau. Special clerks were assigned to answer Chamber of Commerce and other telephones listed for giving information about people missed in the census.

"The response was relatively small," Editor Joe Pickle of the Big Spring Herald reported, "and community leaders took it to mean that work of the enumerators had been thorough."

Simulated Nuclear Blast To Break Hospital Ground

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A simulated atomic bomb explosion will be touched off today to break ground for a 20 million dollar hospital designed to survive an atomic or hydrogen blast.

The bomb, designed to form a mushroom cloud 200 yards high, will be triggered by Lt. Col. Frederick B. St. John of Brooke Army Medical Center as Methodist Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston completes a countdown.

The new facility, the Southwest Texas Methodist Hospital, is financed partly by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. Today's groundbreaking ceremonies on a 25 - acre tract in the northwest part of the city are being staged in conjunction with the Southwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church now in session here.

Supported by foundation piers sunk 70 feet, the hospital will have two floors completely underground.

The underground area, shielded by 26-inch concrete walls, 3-inch steel-encased lead doors and specially reinforced ceilings, will contain surgical, central supply, radiology, pathology and food service areas.

It will be designed to take care of 1,200 people for a minimum of two weeks regardless of conditions above ground. It will have its own deep well water supply, radiation-proof airconditioning system and electric power plant.

The Methodists were told at Tuesday's session that lack of religion can lead to mental illness but that religion can be a force in restoring mental health.

"People are starving for the gospel—that's why we have so many hospital beds filled with the mentally ill, Robert P. Lay of Gilliam, La., a cotton planter and Methodist lay leader, said.

Bishop Arthur J. Moore of Atlanta told delegates Americans must avoid becoming a "secular, flippant and undisciplined people."

Today's sessions will also include a report of mission work, a memorial service and a meeting of the conference council.

Crippled Children Center Moved To Its New Location

The house to be used as the Howard County Society for Crippled Children and Adults treatment center was to be moved into the city today.

The house, formerly used by the section foreman of the T&P Railroad at the Morita siding west of Big Spring, was to be set on the lot at 8th and Owens Monday, according to George Zachariah, society president.

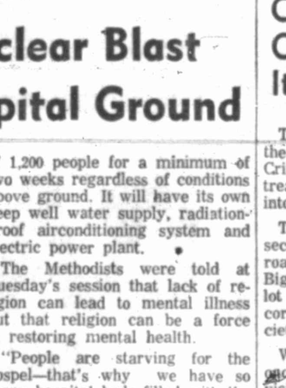

With the local treatment center, once established with a staff or visiting orthopedic physician, will enable patients who formerly had go out of town for treatment to get the same thing here, Zachariah said.

The center is being located near the new YMCA to take advantage of the heated swimming pool, the president said. The local chapter of the National Foundation donated a heating system for the pool for this purpose.

Ex-Mental Patient Sought In Slayings Found Dead

COOPERSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A former mental patient sought in the slayings of his wife and neighbor was captured late Tuesday as he sat propped against a tree trunk, wounded by his own shotgun.

A search party came across Lloyd E. Shuffstall, 51, in a wooded area about a mile from his home near this northwestern Pennsylvania hamlet.

The lower part of Shuffstall's chin was shot off. Weakened by loss of blood, he offered no resistance. His capture ended an intensive 17-hour manhunt.

State police Capt. John Chrin quoted the unemployed foundry worker as saying he shot himself shortly after the slaying of his wife, Vera Rose, 47, mother of 10, and Harold DuPont, 43-year-old machinist.

DuPont was ambushed and shot on a dirt road a mile from the Shuffstall home. Mrs. Shuffstall was killed in the bedroom of her home. Both were shot with a 30-30 rifle.

State police said a son, Derald, 24, told them DuPont had been "keeping company" with Mrs. Shuffstall some time ago.

Shuffstall, released from a mental institution only a week ago, was treated at a hospital and lodged in Venango County jail at Frankliin.

Hail Pounds N.W. Texas

By The Associated Press

Heavy hail and rains pounded Northwest Texas and at least three tornadoes were sighted Tuesday as a line of severe thunderstorms swept the area.

Hailstones as big as golf balls fell at Amarillo, Silverton, McLean, Canadian and Borger. A 3½-inch rain fell at the community of Skillett. Lipscomb had 2.87 inches and Follette .72.

One tornado funnel smashed a farm house, windmill and a number of utility poles about 60 miles northwest of Lubbock. Two tornadoes touched ground near Paducah, disrupting telephone service. An unconfirmed tornado was reported southwest of Childress. There were no injuries reported.

Two areas in Northwest Texas were under severe weather forecasts Tuesday night after the thunderstorms started building up. But the danger periods expired with no major damage reported.

Skies were clear in the western third of the state Wednesday morning but cloudy elsewhere. The only pre-dawn rains were sprinklings ranging from Fort Worth and Dallas northward to the Red River.

Early morning readings ran from 48 at Dalhart to 77 at Corpus Christi. The maximum temperatures Tuesday ranged from 80 at Junction to 101 at Presidio.

Partly cloudy weather with scattered thunderstorms was forecast for the state through Thursday.

MASTER PLAN

Revised Ordinance Planned For Zoning

(This is the third article in a series on the first phase report of the Master Plan as presented by Marvin Springer last week.—Ed.)

Marvin Springer readily admits that adoption of a new zoning ordinance should be considered only after a thorough study has been given the problem. He made several trips to the city to discuss zoning, before offering his final recommendations.

Several weeks ago, he presented city officials with a completed zoning plan and asked that it be discussed at length. Dr. J. E. Hogan, chairman of the Master Plan steering committee, has called for several meetings in June to begin serious study of his plan. Members of the city commission, the planning and zoning commission, and zoning board of adjustment, and the steering committee will work on the proposal before a public hearing is called.

The present Big Spring zoning ordinance was adopted in 1947 and contains nine zoning districts. "The present zoning ordinance has been a effective tool in guiding and protecting the development of the city for 13 years," Springer said. However, he adds, "changes in the city, improved zoning practices and certain inadequacies in the present ordinance make it appropriate that a major revision . . be undertaken."

He lists 10 inadequacies in the present ordinance as support for his recommended changes. They include:

1. One "single-family residence" district is no longer considered adequate to guide and protect the variety of single-family developments occurring in the city.
2. An excessive area of Big Spring is found in the two-family district.
3. No requirements are prescribed for off-street parking in connection with various uses.
4. The apartment districts are not adjusted to present apartment project construction and design and are therefore not adequate.
5. No district or specific standards exist to cover special problems of the central business area.
6. No direct regulation of lot coverage is specified.
7. No provisions exist for handling special shopping center or housing project plans and zoning amendments related to them.
8. The three industrial-type zoning diistricts are complicated and in need of simplification.
9. Adjustments are needed in district boundaries to bring the districts into conformity with the existing and future land use patterns.
10. Height and area regulations for apartment and other uses need study and revision.

In light of these criticisms of the present ordinance, Springer points out the various details of his proposed new ordinance for the city. "The proposed regulations have been drafted as a guide to the finalizing of a revised zoning ordinance—one of the most important planning tools," he said. "After careful study, public hearing and any adjustment determined appropriate, it is recommended that the new regulations be adopted to guide the future development of Big Spring."

Springer explains that his proposed ordinance provides "ample area . for all forms of land use within the area over which the city now has zoning jurisdicition. The existing land use study was used as a guide as was a lot by lot study of the area utilized for each family."

The essential features of each of the proposed zoning districts include:

SINGLE-FAMILY DISTRICTS

The present ordinance has only one single-family type of district. The proposed ordinance has two types of such districts, the difference being in lot sizes.

The first district is proposed to have a lot area requirement of 16,000 square foot minimum. It would include areas where larger homes are being proposed, such as on South Mountain and along Marcy Dr. near Scenic Mountain.

The second district would require a minimum lot size of 7,000 square feet. Springer said most of the one-family residential development conforms to this requirement.

TWO-FAMILY DISTRICT

This district would be similar to the existing ordinance, but minimum lot size requirements would be increased from 5,000 square feet to 6,000 square feet. The area, this district covers, would be reduced to those where duplex development has occurred.

APARTMENT DISTRICT

Two apartment districts are specified and they differ considerably. The first would be called a "general residenee" district and would permit apartments, single and two-family residences, and house trailers. Springer suggested it for areas where mixed housing has already flourished and where modest development of housing should be encouraged. Lot area standards he lists at 5,000 square feet for a single-family dwelling, 1,200 square feet for each apartment unit and 2,100 square feet for a house trailer location in a trailer court.

The second district would permit, under specific standards, either two - story or multiple - story apartment construction. A lot area of 1,200 square feet per family unit for two - story construction would be erected where a minimum of 600 square feet of lot area is provided.

PARKING DISTRICT

This part of the proposal has already been attacked in a meeting of the planning and zoning commission. It would provide for off - street parking where strip growth of businesses has developed. Springer has pointed to the fact that a lack of parking can hurt a business district and this is one answer to solving the problem.

RETAIL DISTRICT

Two retail districts are proposed. One is called a neighborhood service district and would destrict drive-in restaurants, bowling alleys, theatres and similar uses. The other is the retail district and would include them.

COMMERCIAL DISTRICT

Two commercial districts are provided. One is for the central business district and the other for warehouse, commercial amusements and for uses for near the downtown area along major arteries.

INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT

A light and a heavy industrial area are provided and they are differentiated by their specific use. Industries that emit smoke, gasses, odors, etc., beyond the property line are restricted from the light industry zone. Heavier industry, such as slaughter houses, acid manufacture and petrochemical plants would require special permission of the city commission.

PLANNED DISTRICTS

This district would allow shopping centers, industrial areas, office and medical centers by amending the ordinance. All of the details of the district would become a part of the ordinance, such as sidewalks, utilities, drainage and standards of ingress and egress.

The new ordinance also calls for the creation of a Board of Adjustment, and sets forth its duties. This board would rule on all cases of non-conforming use.

School Plan To Be Debated

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas' proposed "stair-step" school integration plan will be debated in federal court today by attorneys for the school board and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

The hearing has been scheduled for 10 a.m. before U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

The school board attorneys contend that the plan will comply with the order of the Circuit Court of Appeals to integrate "with deliberate speed."

NAACP attorneys in their petition charge that the plan, which would make the plan subject to a referendum of voters, a "nefarious scheme" to prolong segregation.

Headed by NAACP attorney Thurgood Marshall, they will contend (1) enjoyment of constitutional rights cannot be made dependent on the outcome of any election; (2) that the Court of Appeals decision listed no such pre-requisite; and (3) the school board is powerless to call the election.

School attorneys will contend that under state law Dallas must hold the referendum in order to avoid loss of $2,700,000 in state funds.

The state law requiring a referendum before a school district can integrate has never been tested in the courts. Opponents have charged that it is unconstitutional and that there is no legal precedent for calling an election for the voters to choose if they will or will not obey compliance with a Supreme Court ruling.

Experience And Wisdom Count

Experience and wisdom and sound judgment rest on something more substantial than an enticing way with crowds.

We would feel a lot better and safer if the next President of the United States who faces Khrushchev or whoever succeeds him had some age on him, considerable experience in managing men and affairs, and a solid and well-established reputation for getting things done under demanding conditions.

Mr. Nixon is 46, and the "leading" Democratic contender, Mr. Kennedy only 42. Lyndon Johnson is going on 52.

Mr. Kennedy has bagged another primary contest, this time in Oregon. He has an engaging smile. He has bounce. He has a pocket full of "votes" won in popularity contests here and there. He is afire with ambition to be President.

We live in critical times, and the years ahead are full of danger and doubt. The next President will need more than glamor and a pocket full of popularity votes to face the gaff. The country will need something more than a warmed-over Eisenhower.

The country will need somebody of the caliber of Lyndon Johnson. And we hope the Democratic convention will make him available for larger service.

Hurling The Facts Back At Him

Henry Cabot Lodge replied to Andrei Gromyko's tirade before the Security Council Monday with vigor and candor. He did not dodge the issue raised by the United States' having sent the U-2 plane over Soviet territory; rather he presented charges which the free world at least knows to be true. These were that the Soviet Union is an expansionist power to the nth degree and that it also has had the most formidable system of espionage of any country.

Moreover, Mr. Lodge made it plain—and this is another fact that is well known and appreciated—that the Soviets have not only gone all out for espionage, but they have organized the business in its lowest form, namely that of infiltration under the hypocritical guise of political action.

Since when is the presence of one plane high over a territory so damaging as thousands of agents working like termites within the territory? The issue is not so much one of espionage as it is of propaganda. It is not so much spying as it is portentious for Russia. For if the United States can send a plane flying deep into Soviet territory (and there are indications that this had been done before if not regularly), then what will there be to prevent the U.S. from sending armed craft if the need arose. This would be disconcerting to us, and it certainly is to the Russians, because they have created a domestic myth of invincibility, and it is a pure myth.

SHOCK TREATMENT

Around The Rim

Some Key Ingredients

"I brought to the steel industry the great gift of excellence in Greek and Latin and ignorance in metallurgy."

Thus Clarence Randall, chairman of the board of Inland Steel, described his beginning in a field about which he knew little or nothing. Eventually he headed his company for many years until the time of his retirement.

Mr. Randall was making out a case for the liberal arts college, and some of the things he had to say on the subject are worth repeating.

He used to delight in picking out eight or 10 men each year as prospective vice presidential material for his company. (Incidentally, most of the key spots in his company are held by the men he trained.)

"I USED TO TAKE half technically-trained and half from the liberal arts," he recalled. "I required them to live together, eat together, yak together all the time in order that the knowledge and wisdom, the specific knowledge of the specialist, would rub off on the liberal arts fellow, and the breadth and depth of the liberal arts fellow might penetrate the specifically trained. I always urged the technical men to continue their general education; I always urged the liberal arts men to begin to study a specialty. It has always seemed to me that the man with a general education first can more readily assimilate a specialty later than a man who is first trained in specialty can later acquire a general education."

And that is his case for liberal arts. But, there is more to his observation, and perhaps this fits into his scheme of things. These are some of the qualities he looked for in selecting his young men.

"I WANTED FIRST of all to know whether the man could master a subject. I wanted to know: Did he have intellectual competence.

"I wanted to know whether the man had the intellectual courage to tackle something for which he was not trained. This is the great trick in life—to be willing to face up to an absolutely new problem . . . and tackle it . . . The educated man is a man who can walk with confidence upon some unfamiliar ground.

"I wanted to know whether the young man was articulate. No man can go far today in any walk of life unless he can speak and write the English language with clarity and facility. Today at every point in business you must be able to communicate. An idea is no idea at all until it is communicated.

"I WOULD LIKE TO see (him) speak and read a foreign language of (his) choice . . . We need to have our minds and spirits opened by the thinking of others . . .

"I want the man to have character. I can't even begin to define character, but in a word it is the capacity of not having to be watched. It comes from the cultivation of the spirit. The spiritual values are so needed in the world today. They are so supreme.

"Finally, he will have purpose and objectivity in planning his life. Planning a jectivity in planning his life. Planning a of the making of a living . . . The young man looking into the future will establish certain purposes by which he will judge whether he reached the goal."

These are some things that young men and women graduating from high school and college would do well to meditate upon.

What Is Stevenson's Foreign Policy?

WASHINGTON—Does Nikita Khrushchev want to see Adlai Stevenson elected President of the United States in November so that he can negotiate a deal at the next "summit" conference?

Does Mr. Khrushchev hope that Mr. Stevenson, if not nominated, will be considered for the post of secretary of state in a Democratic administration, as Sen. Kennedy hinted the other day?

Why was Mr. Stevenson, in an interview published in Paris a week ago Sunday, quoted as favoring an Allied retreat on the Berlin problem?

Why did Mr. Stevenson last Thursday night tell a politicial dinner meeting in Chicago that the administration has "helped make successful negotiations with the Russians—negotiations that are vital to our survival—impossible so long as they are in power"?

THESE QUESTIONS are prompted by a strange sequence of circumstances. Thus on March 9 last the "New York Times" printed a United Press International dispatch from Moscow which read:

"Soviet Premier Khrushchev has his own opinions about the United States' Democratic party's presidential possibilities, he revealed tonight. He put Adlai Stevenson at the top of his lisit in comments to Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco at a dinner. Mr. Khrushchev's rating of the Democrats:

"Mr. Stevenson: The best among United States politicians.

"Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts: Able, but some reservations about his youthfulness.

"Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri: He's a 'good' man."

MR. STEVENSON, therefore, apparently is the favorite of Mr. Khrushchev, who has brushed aside the old rule of diplomacy that a foreign government must not interfere in the political campaigns of another country. The Soviet premier evidently thinks that Mr. Stevenson, as the titular head of the Democratic party, speaks for it.

But James A. Farley, former postmaster general in the cabinet of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has just issued a statement urging the Democratic party to repudiate Mr. Stevenson's speech of last Thursday night. Mr. Farley said in part:

"The unwarranted attack of Mr. Adlai E. Stevenson on the President's conduct of the summit negotiations, in my opinion, in a way represents the thinking of the Democratic party . . . In his few remaining weeks as titular head of the Democratic party he has indicated every reason why the Democratic party in convention should select a spokesman who speaks for it in fact. I can think of no more effective way of doing so than by a unanimous resolution of condemnation and repudiation of his absurd speech in Chicago as representing the views of the Democratic party."

THE STRANGEST episode of all, however, is the interview with Mr. Stevenson which Soviet Premier Khrushchev read in "Paris-Press L'Intransigeant" just after his recent arrival in Paris. That interview was written by Robert Boulay after a visit to Mr. Stevenson's home at Libertyville, Ill., where he said he spent an afternoon, together with other guests. The article, with a streamer headline across the page, said that Adlai Stevenson had proposed virtually a retreat from Berlin and American withdrawal from Europe. Evidently Mr. Khrushchev read it carefully, because in Friday he paraphrased one of the points in the interview to charge that Chancellor Adenauer had succeeded "in worming his way to the post of secretary of state of the United States."

Mr. Boulay, in his interview, quotes Mr. Stevenson as having said:

"For 10 years there has not really been a secretary of state for American foreign policy. During that period the real American secretary of state has been German Chancellor Adenauer."

IN OTHER PARTS of the same interview, Mr. Stevenson is quoted as favoring American concessions, such as a substantial decrease in Allied troops in West Berlin. He is reported to have declared also that he could foresee in the future the pulling of American forces out of Europe. When asked whether there would be a change in American foreign policy after the November elections, Mr. Stevenson was quoted as having said: "There will be important changes in American foreign policy."

Mr. Stevenson last Tuesday denied ever having given any interview at all to any Paris newspaper. But he issued a statement to the "Chicago Daily News" the next day admitting that he had talked with Robert Boulay but calling the published interview iincorrect. He said it did not represent his views and that "the most charitable explanation of such irresponsibility, presumption and discourtesy is that his English was poor and my French no better."

IN PARIS, however, Americans who know Mr. Boulay say he writes and talks English very well and is a reliable reporter. Just what did Mr. Stevenson really say to Mr. Boulay? Maybe all this is something for the Democrats in Congress to include in their investigation of recent events. For there is no doubt that an appeasement faction exists today inside the Democratic party, and certainly Mr. Stevenson's speech—just four days before the all-important debate at the United Nations Security Council—helped to wreck bipartisan unity in this country.

Things Are Back To Normal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Togetherness lasted less than a week.

Democrats and Republicans, in a moment of bewildered silence which they called a united front, rallied behind President Eisenhower when Premier Nikita Khrushchev humiliated him and wrecked the summit meeting.

But politics and the upcoming elections got the better of them.

Khrushchev performed on Monday, May 16. The togetherness here lasted until Thursday when it must have become suffocating to Adlai Stevenson. He attacked Eisenhower. Things got back to normal fast.

N O W DEMOCRATS disagree with Democrats, Republicans with Republicans. And Democrats and Republicans are charging each other with being "soft on communism," a phrase not heard much since the days of Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

This a kind of bonus for Khrushchev.

Stevenson, who may once again get the Democratic nomination, said that while Khrushchev smashed the summit, Eisenhower handed the Soviet Premier a "crowbar and sledge hammer" through his administration's handling of the spy plane incident.

He said it was the obligation of the Democrats to expose and criticize any carelessness and mistakes by the Eisenhower administration.

Then a former Democratic national chairman, James A. Farley, lit into Stevenson for saying such a thing. Vice President Richard M. Nixon's press aide got his boss' name into print by saying Stevenson shocked him.

THIRTY HOUSE Democrats in Congress broke their few days' silence with eight questions they want Eisenhower to answer on the "series of tragic blunders' connected with the spy plane and the summit.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, leader of the Senate Republicans, came up with an angle. He said Stevenson himself had helped torpedo the summit before it began.

He said Stevenson in a pre-summit interview with a Paris reporter advocated concessions to the Soviets. After that, Dirksen said, Khrushchev would have been a fool not to postpone the summit until after election day.

Stevenson at first denied the interview. Then he said the reporter "confused discussion with opinion." The French reporter stuck to his story.

Somewhere along the line Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the front-runner among Democratic aspirants, got into the act with a comment in Portland, Ore. He said Eisenhower could have expressed regret to Khrushchev for the spy plane.

This was too much for Sen. Hugh Scott, a Pennsylvania Republican. He sent the Senate into an uproar by declaring Stevenson and Kennedy should be summoned before congressional investigators "to relieve themselves of the gross suspicion of appeasement."

Kennedy strode into the Senate, denied he was an appeaser. Scott said he'd accept Kennedy's say-so. But another Democrat, Sen. John A. Carroll of Colorado went after Scott. He accused him of playing raw politics.

Some Democrats wanted a Senate investigation of the spy plane disaster and the summit debacle. Some Republicans didn't. But some did. A New York Democrat, Rep. Samuel A. Stratton, deplored the action of the 30 Democrats who want Eisenhower to answer eight questions.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said Dirksen insinuated the Democrats, if elected next fall, would be "soft on communism." Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said the Eisenhower administration had "too soft a policy toward Russia" for two years.

Woman's Best Friend

NEW YORK (AP) — The dog, once man's best friend, today has become women's best friend, says Stephen Baker.

"In the cities the dog often takes the place of the old-fashioned marriage arranger. A dog is the best husband-catcher a single girl can find," he says.

Baker, a 6-foot-4 art director for a major advertising firm here, is author of "How to Live With a Neurotic Dog." He is convinced that if America has 25 million dogs, "at least 25 million of them are neurotic—and that's a conservative estimate."

The reason is that living a dog's life in a civilized world is bound to make anybody neurotic.

But he believes the best Leap Year investment a girl in search of matrimony can make is to buy a dog—and take it for a walk.

"If they meet a bachelor out walking his dog, the twosome at once becomes a foursome. It's not a pickup. It's just one dog greeting another dog," he pointed out.

But in using a canine Cupid to help her track down a soulmate, Baker emphasized, it is important that a girl pick a pooch that best suits her own personality.

"A girl who is tall, elegant and aloof should choose a Russian wolfhound or Afghan hound, which gives the same appearance," Baker said.

"If she is friendly and outgoing, she should stroll with a French poodle. It is the friendliest of dogs."

Baker has owned dogs ranging from a Pekinese to a Newfoundland.

"No girl should walk with a cocker spaniel, a bulldog or a police dog," he said.

"The spaniel is the most neurotic of dogs, and raises the suspicion she is a complete neurotic herself.

"The bulldog is aggressiive and masculine and makes her look that way. A shy man will cross the street rather than meet a girl with a police dog. He is afraid this is the kind of girl who would check his every movement if he married her."

What is the best combination of all?

"It is when a girl with a mongrel meets a man walking a mutt," said Baker decisively. "Each then realizes the other is broad-minded, nonconformist and not interested in trying to keep up with the Joneses.

"They should have a perfect marriage."

The Gallup Poll

Nixon Close To Kennedy In Trial Run

PRINCETON, N. J. — Vice President Nixon has pulled up almost even with Sen. John Kennedy among voters across the country.

In the latest Gallup Poll "test run" between these two leading contenders for their respective parties' nominations, Sen. Kennedy polls 51 per cent of the vote, vice president has 49 per cent.

In an early May report, Kennedy had 54 per cent to Nixon's 46 per cent.

INTERVIEWING IN THE latest survey reflects national sentiment before Kennedy's victory in West Virginia. What effect, if any, that state's primary election will have on the senator's national strength is now being measured in a Gallup Poll test.

Gallup Poll reporters put this question to a representative cross-section of Republican, Democratic and Independent voters—in effect, a "miniature electorate" of the U. S.:

"Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If John Kennedy were the Democratic candidate and Richard Nixon were the Republican candidate, which would you like to see win?"

This has been the trend of the Kennedy-Nixon vote in reports since the first of the year:

KENNEDY VS. NIXON

Report of:	Kennedy Per cent	Nixon Per cent
Jan., 1960	47	53
March	50	50
April	53	47
Early May	54	46
Latest Test	51	49

(About one voter in 20 in the latest test did not express a preference.)

Because of the fact that Senator Kennedy is a Roman Catholic, some observers of the Wisconsin primary returns have speculated on just how much impact the apparent voting among religious lines in that state might have on Protestant and Catholic voters across the nation.

The evidence is that Nixon has gained some ground among Protestant voters of the nation since the last Gallup Poll report. This has been the trend of the voting among Protestants:

NIXON VS. KENNEDY
—Protestants Only—

	Nixon Per cent	Kennedy Per cent
Latest Test	64	36
Early May	61	39

During this same period, as the following table shows, Kennedy has maintained overwhelming support from the Catholic rank-and-file:

NIXON VS. KENNEDY
—Catholics Only—

	Nixon Per cent	Kennedy Per cent
Early May	19	81
Latest Test	21	79

It should be pointed out that a majority of Catholics normally consider themselves Democratic and most Protestants, outside of the South, think of themselves as Republicans.

In view of this, perhaps a clearer picture of the voting by religious affiliation can be seen in a comparison of the strength of Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson in tests against Nixon. As recently reported, Nixon leads Stevenson by a 53 to 47 per cent margin nationwide. Here is the comparison by religious affiliation:

PROTESTANT VOTERS

	Per cent
Nixon	64
Kennedy	36

Nixon	60
Stevenson	40

CATHOLIC VOTERS

	Per cen
Kennedy	79
Nixon	21

Stevenson	58
Nixon	42

To Your Good Health

Pain Not Always Where You Think It Is

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My arm gets numb. It has been causing me distress for over two months, with pain from the shoulder to the elbow. I've tried massage, heat, and different rubbing medicines but the trouble continues.

"Should I consult my doctor? Or could it be advancing years? I am 46.—Mrs. J. G."

"Numbness" and "pain" are not the same thing. Anyway, here's exactly the sort of trouble that you should take to your doctor.

He'll start out by asking some questions, observing how you move the arm, and so on.

One thing he WON'T do will be to say this is "the result of advancing years," because there's no reason why, from sheer age, you should have this sort of trouble. And certainly not at 46.

The likeliest cause, it occurs to me, is that somewhere the nerve which serves the upper arm has been pinched, damaged, become the subject of infection, or some such interference.

You've heard, I am sure, of people who have lost an arm or a leg and yet have the sensation that the fingers or toes of the missing limb hurt or itch. This is an illustration of the fact that sensations which we "feel" in a toe are not actually felt in the toe itself. The sensation is carried along a nerve train, and when it reaches the brain, we say we "feel it in the toe," because we know that impulses on that particular nerve track indicate something happening in the toe.

Thus it is quite possible for the pain or numbness "in your arm" to be the result of some interference with the nerve elsewhere. This may be occurring at any point at which the nerve branches out from the bundle of nerves in the spine—in this instance at its origin in the neck. It may also be in the shoulder.

I can't obviously, say definitely that this IS the cause in your case. However, your doctor (or, depending on the circumstances, a specialist to whom he might refer you) can trace the trouble down to the point of origin.

In any event, where a whole area (as from your shoulder to elbow) is troubled, with the cause not apparent on the surface, you aren't likely to solve the problem by remedies like heat, massage and liniments.

It may take some time before the exact point of trouble can be determined by your doctor—but the sooner you consult him, the sooner you'll feel better.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has what are called 'spurs' in his heels. What should he do about them?—V. B."

Spurs are deposits of calcium on a tendon under the heel. They may be the result of an old injury, or of inflammation. The calcium was deposited there as part of the healing process. Padding under the heel often gives relief. However, don't overlook the possibility that bursitis, rather than spurs, is causing the pain.

* * *

PUZZLED: "Wheat germ" has absolutely nothing to do with disease germs. The definition you quote, "Germ: Rudimentary form of an organism, a microbe causing disease," is true—but in the botanical sense it refers to the core or seed of the wheat.

* * *

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how, write to me in care of The Big Spring Daily Herald, requesting my pamphlet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," and enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

What You Find In A Paris Drug Store

PARIS—It is too late to save the summit, but I feel the intelligence I am about to impart may succor more frazzled tourists than the American Hospital at Neuilly, the Embassy, the American Express and the Folies combined.

Both the wonder and the pride of Paris at the moment is a new drug store on the Champs Elysee about a block from the Arc de Triomphe. It is a glittering institution of gleaming glass and chrome that the French proudly believe to be American, and that I regard as miraculous.

AH-H-H-H—BUT THIS is the drug store where one sits at a little table and decides between sole au gratin comme en Gironde, paupiettes de Veau provencale, or noisette de porc aux Pruneaux. With a souffle au Grand Marnier to round out the meal.

But it is not of the food that I come to twang my lyre. Or even to sing the praises of that novelty (to the French): A pop-corn machine inside whose glass case the finished product drifts and swirls like snow.

No, the salvation I wish to pinpoint for tourists-to-come are two devices of such excruciating sophistication that they could only be French. I can scarcely wait until some enterprising American entrepreneur introduces them in the drug stores of home sweet home.

NOT TO PROLONG the suspense, the first of these devices, on the left as one enters the drug store, is a machine that massages weary feet.

And whose feet in Paris, after all those cathedrals and cobblestones, aren't collapsed? Here, for one new franc or 20 cents, is surcease for the dogs. All the tourist has to do is step on the machine, which looks like the weighing machines that pepper drug stores at home, drop in the coin, and purr as the automatic massage gets to work on the metatarsals. It is bliss, pure, unadulterated bliss.

But marvelous as is this merciful machine to ease the arches, I have saved the best for the last. The real life-saver for tourists is on the right of the door as one enters this Taj Mahal of drug emporiums. It is an apparatus that also bears a family resemblance to the American weighing machine.

HOWEVER, THERE IS one crucial difference. At head height, there is a round, plastic bowl, just the right size to contain the average physiognomy. There is also the ubiquitous little slot for the new one-franc piece. When it has been deposited, the customer puts his face in the plastic bowl and a half-mask appears. Next, the patient puts his schnoz into the mask and begins to breathe deeply of pure oxygen.

Let me say that when I thrust my face into the oxygen mask, I was so exhausted from (1) the royal wedding and (2) the summit that I feared I might never live to see home again. I was, in two words, dead beat.

However, by the time I had imbibed my 20 cents worth of oxygen, I was floating around about two feet off the ground. I, who had been so full of miseries and simple exhaustion only moments before, now felt no pain. We must import this marvel. It is one of the few enjoyable things in Paris or the modern world that isn't either immoral, illegal or fattening.

Tobacco Shop Restored

WINSTON - SAMEM, N. C. (AP) — The latest addition to the Old Salem Restoration is a pre-Revolutionary War tobacco shop.

The shop was founded in 1771 by Johann Matthew Miksch, a German immigrant. The recent dedication of the 187-year-old building, fore-runner of today's 1½ million tobacco shops in the United States, was another step in the program to restore the early Moravian village of Old Salem.

The restoration is being undertaken by Old Salem, Inc., a non-profit organization established by local citizens in 1950. Chief speaker at the tobacco shop dedication was James P. Richards, president of the Tobacco Institute, Inc.

Mrs. Farley Wins Honor

Mrs. Don Farley was named Clubwoman of the Year Tuesday evening by members of the Spoudazio Fora when they met at the Sands Restaurant for dinner and installation of officers.

Mrs. Farley won the distinction for her outstanding program on conservation dealing with Howard and Borden counties. She included conservation of water, soil and minerals. Her program won first place at the district meeting in the conservation division.

Officers were installed by Mrs. Bill Draper of the Junior Woman's Forum, herself an outstanding clubwoman from her club. Installed were Mrs. Ennis Cochran president; Mrs. Charles Lusk, vice president; Mrs. Bill Lansing, recording secretary; Mrs. Farley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. D. Stewart Jr., treasurer.

In charging the officers with their duties, Mrs. Draper said new officers open doors to opportunity and service and she presented each with a key to the doors of their respective offices.

Mrs. Bill Coleman was received into the club membership.

Secret pals were revealed and new names were distributed by Mrs. John King.

Place cards were fashioned as butterflies and furthered the table decorations of white flowers placed in a miniature spinning wheel.

MRS. DON FARLEY

This was flanked with white candles in brass holders.

Seventeen were present including two guests, Mrs. Draper and Mrs. Bill Bodine.

Westbrook Graduates Students

WESTBROOK — Graduation exercises were held Friday night at 8 for seniors of Westbrook High School.

Brenda Putnam brought the salutatory address. The class will was read by Linda Hart, the class prophecy by Roy Buchanan after the invocation by the Rev. Kenneth Andress.

Lynell Phillips brought the valedictory address.

Speaker of the evening was Soc Walker, principal of Goliad Junior High School in Big Spring. Walker, who served as superintendent of the Westbrook schools for 12 years, urged the graduating class to set a goal for themselves and then live their life everyday so that they might attain that goal.

Presentation of the diplomas was by the president of the school board, Rex McKenney. Charles Rees presented the gift to the school. Benediction was by the Rev. Max Browning.

Former Westbrook Resident Is Wed

WESTBROOK — Joyce Moody of Abilene, a former resident of Westbrook, was married to A.2.C. Raymond Farr Saturday evening in Abilene's Heights Baptist Church. The Rev. Billy Hendrix, pastor, performed the double ring rite.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moody. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farr of Beaumont are parents of the bridegroom. Miss Moody is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hart and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moody of Westbrook.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Marilyn, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Christine Farr of Beaumont, sister of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom's brother, Lawrence Farr, acted as best man. Harold Engstrom was groomsman, while Johnny Cochran and Sandy White were ushers. Candlelighters were Melba Kimmey of Tye and Mary Ann Archer of Abilene.

A reception followed in the church's fellowship hall. The new Mr. and Mrs. Farr will live at 842 Vine in Abilene.

Mu Kappa Box Supper

Mu Kappa chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Monday night in the city park for a box supper.

Most original box belonged to Mrs. G. A. Speaks, while Mrs. Roy Gammons had the prettiest box. Mrs. Gammons also won the door prize.

On June 13 the group will meet with Mrs. Vernon Winchester, 1008 E. 20th. Mrs. Kenneth Williams will be cohostess.

Friends Arrive For CHS Graduation

COAHOMA — Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pierce this week will be her mother, Mrs. Thelma Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Graham of Odessa. They are here to attend the graduation exercises of Bobby Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nelson of Comanche are also here for the graduation of their grandson, Ronny, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wayland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlton DeVaney are visiting with friends in El Paso this week.

The Ernest Garretts were in Alpine Sunday where they attended the graduation exercises of their son, Bob, who received his degree in business administration. He will be leaving soon for two years of service in the armed forces.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Read and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tindol also attended the Sul Ross programs to see their sons graduate. Bill Read received his degree in business administration; he plans to continue his education, working toward his master's degree. Bill Tindol received a bachelor of science degree, and will teach school this fall.

The Rev. G. L. Petmecky, Presbyterian minister, accompanied by Leroy Echols, left Monday for a meeting of the synod to be held in Sherman at Austin College.

Little Guy Mack Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Connie Morrison, in Guyman, Okla., this week visiting with his grandparents. The Morrisons will leave this weekend to join them for a family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvon DeVaney and children of Brownfield, Shannon and Tanya; will visit here Tuesday and attend the graduation of his sister, Rosalie from high school.

Webb Welcome

A welcoming coffee for all newcomers at Webb AFB will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in the main lounge of the Officers Club. Class 61-E will sponsor the monthly affair. Chairman is Mrs. John Houston.

'Husbands' Is Feature Of Club

"Husbands" was the theme of the evening for the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club when they met Tuesday night.

"When Your Husband Is Away" was the subject selected by the toastmistress of the evening, Mrs. Hal Mabry. The theme was carried on by Mrs. Donald Coakley who spoke on "A Time for Expression." Mrs. Coakley used sketches to illustrate her humorous talk of catastrophes that came up while her husband was away—measles and a broken water pipe.

Mrs. Hollis Smith spoke on "My Daddy-o Is Real Gone." She told of the funny antics of her husband.

Under the title of "My Year as Father, Mother, Interior Decorator, Gardener, and Student" Mrs. Gregg Smith told of the year her husband spent in Korea while she lived in Portland, Ore., with her three children.

Trying to always have one job more than she could possibly do in order not to get lonely, Mrs. Smith completely redecorated her house, worked in her garden, and took a course in composition at a local college.

Grammarian for the evening was Mrs. Donald Barr, who gave the group exercises in grammar. Mrs. Betty Ray Clifton led the table topics. Her theme was poetry.

The white elephant gift was won by Mrs. Thomas Seebo, and provided by Mrs. Leland Younkin. In turn, Mrs. Younkin was awarded the boner prize by Mrs. Seebo.

Evaluators were Mrs. Seebo, Mrs. Julian McVay and Mrs. Curtis Westphal. Mrs. Caribel Laughlin was general evaluator. Timekeeper was Mrs. Jesse Click.

Miss Buzbee Is Honoree

Rosemary Buzbee, bride-elect of Bobby J. Edens, was the honoree for a bridal shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Forgus, 312 Mesquite.

Miss Buzbee and Edens will be married on June 3 in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Buzbee.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Zeddie Long, Mrs. Minnie Reeves, Mrs. Charles Napps and Mrs. Forgus.

A theme of pastel green and white was featured in the decorations throughout the entertaining rooms. The table was centered with a punch bowl based with roses and greenery and on either side tapers furthered the theme.

The honoree chose a dress of white corded cotton satin with full pleated skirt. Her corsage was of tiny white rosebuds on pastel green. Her accessories were of matching shade.

Thirty-six registered for the party.

Mrs. Pete Cook New President Of Xi Delta

Mrs. Pete Cook was installed president of the Xi Delta Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi when Mrs. Tip Anderson Jr., entertained in her home Tuesday evening.

Those who will assist Mrs. Cook will be Mrs. Ralph Caton, vice president; Mrs. Ray Dunlap, secretary; Mrs. James Tidwell, treasurer.

Mrs. Dee Thomas is to head the ways and means committee while Mrs. Anderson will be the welfare and service head. Mrs. Cook will represent the chapter at the City Council.

Mrs. Tidwell brought the program which was a discussion of a survey made of the Big Spring school system.

The chapter will dispense with meetings until September.

Home Missions Is Circles' Aim

Visits to shut-in members of Baptist Temple and to a convalescent home provided avenues of community mission work for two circles of the church Tuesday. Another circle completed the second portion of their study "Educating Youth in Missions."

HORACE BUDDIN

Unger's Rest Home on Main Street was the scene of the Tuesday morning meeting of the Horace Buddin Circle. Here the group was led in devotions by Mrs. Sam Bennett who used the text Psa. 23.

Mrs. Rex Edwards explained the prayer calendar, and prayer for missionaries around the world was offered by Mrs. W. S. Warren.

Favorite scriptures were repeated by circle members and people in the home. Mrs. Richard Grimes sang a selection of favorite songs.

A gift of fruit was presented to the home, and the circle members toured the residence. They returned to the church for refreshments.

EVAN HOLMES

During the devotional period Mrs. Jim Leath told members of the Evan Holmes Circle of the way visits should be made. The group, which met in the home of Mrs. L. H. Sims, was led in prayer by Mrs. A. R. Posey and Mrs. Tom Buckner.

After the benediction by Mrs. A. T. Boren and refreshments were served to nine members and Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, the group went to visit members of their church who are shut-ins.

FISHER CIRCLE

Opening the meeting of the Fisher Circle with a reading in Psalms and prayer for war-torn Korea and other countries was Mrs. Robert Hill.

The circle will help with the work in the Vacation Bible School June 5-13, announced Mrs. W. L. Sandridge, chairman.

Mission study chairman, Mrs. Robert Heinze, led the group in the second portion of "Educating Youth in Missions."

The speaker stressed that the WMS has a responsibility in educating youth along with the parents.

Six were served refreshments by Mrs. Otto Couch and Mrs. Sandridge.

Swimming, Luncheon Featured By Hyperions

Swimming was followed by a salad luncheon Tuesday when 19 members and one new member, Mrs. George Bair, of the 1955 Hyperion Club met at the home of Mrs. Richard Johnson.

Cohostesses for the fun event were Mrs. Jess Coker, Mrs. Frank Matthews, Mrs. James Cape, and Mrs. D. H. McDaniel.

For the program Mrs. Lloyd Curley gave a short summary of the presidential candidates, listing Adlai Stevenson, Lyndon Johnson, John Kennedy, Stuart Symington, and Richard Nixon.

Mrs. Travis Carlton followed with a report on Brazil. She told the group of the new capital city of Brasilia, which has been carved out of a vast empty plateau. The modern architecture of the Palace of the Dawn—Brazil's White House—was described. The speaker told of the rich natural resources of the country.

The federation report was given, and the group voted to donate $10 to the state hospital for therapy work.

Officers for the new year were installed by the out-going president, Mrs. Jimmie Morehead, as she played the game "I've Got a Secret."

Mrs. Wesley Deats will serve as president; Mrs. John Davis, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Curley, recording secretary; Mrs. E. L. Whatley, treasurer; Mrs. Travis Carlton, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Albert Smith, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Sweeney Is Luther Reviewer

Mrs. Charles Sweeney was guest speaker for the Luther Home Demonstration Club when members met at the home of Mrs. Wiley Cunningham Tuesday for a book review and tea.

"Folk Medicine" by Dr. D. C. Jarvins was reviewed by Mrs. Sweeney, who told of the Vermont doctor's guide to good health.

"Mistakes I Have Made" was the roll call which was answered by 12 members. Mrs. Frances Zant gave the devotion. Mrs. J. H. Redman was the recipient of the traveling prize.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. W. D. Anderson, Mrs. E. C. Stewart, Mrs. A. T. Whitaker and Mrs. Ruby Simpson.

During the business session the group voted to work on crafts during the month of June. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Nathan Stalcup at Reef Fields.

Bosses Are Honored

Six bosses were entertained by their secretaries Tuesday at a luncheon at the Desert Sands Restaurant, when the National Secretaries Association had their annual bosses luncheon.

Mrs. Dalton Conway welcomed the employers, and spoke on the necessity of good secretaries.

The requirements for certification as a professional secretary were outlined by Mrs. Harold Kain.

Installation of next year's officers will be Tuesdday night at the Cosden Club Snack Bar at 7:30.

Mrs. McAdams Is Hostess For Class

Mrs. Garner McAdams was hostess for the social of the Bykota Class of First Baptist Church Monday evening.

Mrs. Roscoe Newell Sr. led in prayer. During the meeting Mrs. Armour Long and Mrs. Zelda Rae were appointed co-chairmen of the visitation committee.

Nine attended. The class is taught by Mrs. Ira Thurman.

Luther WMU

Mrs. Hollis Puckett was leader for the Royal Service program on "You Can Tell" when the members of the Bethel Baptist WMU at Luther met Monday.

A donation was made to the WMU building at the Stanton encampment.

The group will not meet during Vacation Bible School.

RS Program At Settles

Mrs. Bob Smith was received as a member of the Settles Baptist WMU when the group met Tuesday evening at the church for the Royal Service program and social.

"You Can Tell" was the theme of the study in charge of the program director, Mrs. H. D. Beck, who led the devotion from 2 Cor. 5. The program was presented in fairy tale form followed by factual information. Mrs. Beck brought the reading on "Pioneer Spirit"; Mrs. G. L. Hughey, "Pioneer Mission Program"; Mrs. Charles Morgan, "The Church That Nearly Died." Factual parts were brought by Mrs. J. T. Grantham who told of "Doing Something About It"; Mrs. J. R. Gould, "A Woman's Witness"; Mrs. D. A. Jones, a reading, "If I Could But Tell All of the Glory."

Mrs. Grantham will be in charge of the next Royal Service meeting. The society voted to have their future socials in conjunction with the business meetings.

Refreshments were served to 15.

Local Show Judges Join Others At Midland Meet

Eight Big Spring women attended the judges council of the southern zone of district one of the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. held in Midland Monday.

From the Spaders Club were Mrs. Zack Gray, Mrs. W. D. Caldwell, Mrs. Bruce Frazier, Mrs. Kyle Cauble and Mrs. Dave Dorchester. Mrs. Schley Riley, Mrs. Obie Bristow and Mrs. J. E. Hogan attended from the Big Spring Club.

Invitation was extended and accepted for the August 15 meeting to be held here at the home of Mrs. Bristow.

Mrs. O. R. Littell of Odessa reported on the state and national conventions. The group discussed new rulings and problems of the district. Judges were told they were to use rules set forth in the Lone Star Gardener, Dec. 1959 issue. Perabolic and abstract arrangements will be used in future shows.

Thirty women attended the meeting.

Dignitaries Attend Lodge Memorial Rites

A visit from lodge dignitaries and memorial services for a past president of the Rebekah Assembly interested members of the John A. Kee and Big Spring Rebekah Lodges at the meetings Tuesday evening.

JOHN A. KEE

Mrs. Inis Greaves, district deputy president from the Berta H. Porter Lodge of Lamesa, was a guest of the John A. Kee group. In her party were Mrs. S. F. Van Kirk, noble grand; Mrs. Billie McNeil, vice grand, and eight other members. Mrs. Greaves gave the president's program and requested the president's song be sung.

Mrs. Odessa Baker and Mrs. Cecil Thixton were received into membership in a formal candlelight ceremony.

Mrs. H. F. Jarrett, funeral marshal, directed charter draping for the late Mrs. Johnnie House, past president of the Rebekah Assembly. She was assisted by Mrs. Jones Lamar, Mrs. O. G. Burns, Mrs. Leon Cole, Mrs. C. L. Lumpkins, Mrs. John Cate, Mrs. C. A. McDonald and Mrs. Irene Dempsey. A trio composed of Mrs. Ruby Billings, Mrs. B. N. Ralph and Mrs. Letha Massie sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Mrs. Charlie Boland accompanied them.

A donation of $15 was made by Ben Robinson to the fund for floor covering which has been ordered.

Forty-two attended and took part in the fellowship at the conclusion of the meeting. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Alma George, Mrs. L. L. Robertson and Mrs. B. E. Winterowd.

Mrs. R. H. Hickman of Cloverleaf Lodge, No. 147, Houston, was also a guest.

BIG SPRING NO. 284

During the Big Spring Rebekah meeting the president, Mrs. Jim Ferguson, announced a salad supper for next Tuesday night that will honor the past noble grands of the lodge. She also asked that each member bring several cup towels to replenish the stock in the lodge kitchen.

The charter was draped for Mrs. Johnnie House who had been a Rebekah for 60 years and at the time of her death was a resident of Fort Worth. She was a past president of the assembly.

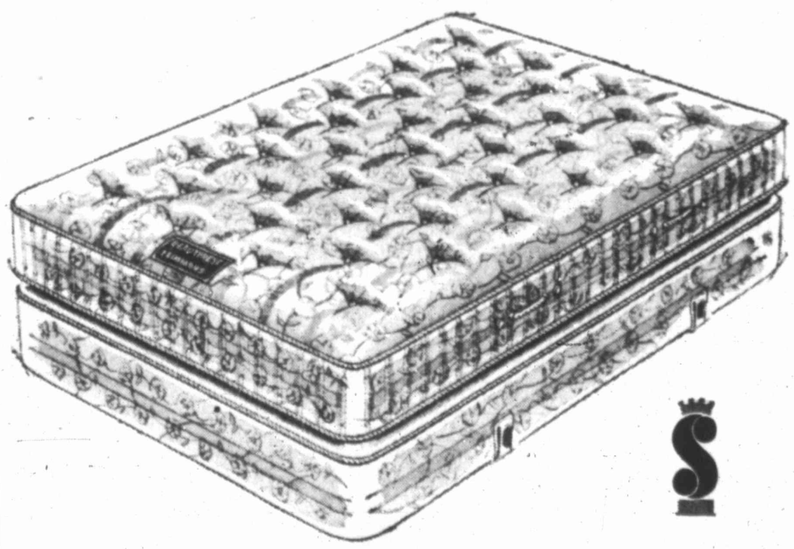

A quilting party is slated for today; Mrs. Pearl Hornbeck received thanks from the lodge for donating two quilt tops.

Parties Are Given For Carolyn Miller

Pre-nuptial courtesies have been extended Carolyn Miller, bride-elect of Lt. Milton Ashton, in Dallas and Fort Worth during the past week. Miss Miller is a teacher in the B. H. Macon School in Dallas and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Miller of Big Spring.

Sunday Bethena Sheffield and Mrs. Harry Ashton entertained at the Sheffield home, 3419 University Dr., with a bridge party and lingerie shower. Guests were Beta Tau Alpha sorority sisters.

Mrs. John A. Coffey of Big Spring and Glenna Coffey were hostesses Saturday for a luncheon at Sammie's Restaurant in Oak Lawn. The bride-elect's colors of yellow and white were used in the table decorations fashioned from large yellow and small white pompon chrysanthemums.

For the affair Miss Miller chose a pale green silk suit with pearl accessories.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a crystal salad bowl on a sterling silver base.

A Friday 13th theme was used by Mrs. Lloyd Clappsadle, 6241 St. Moritz, when she was hostess for a miscellaneous shower at her home.

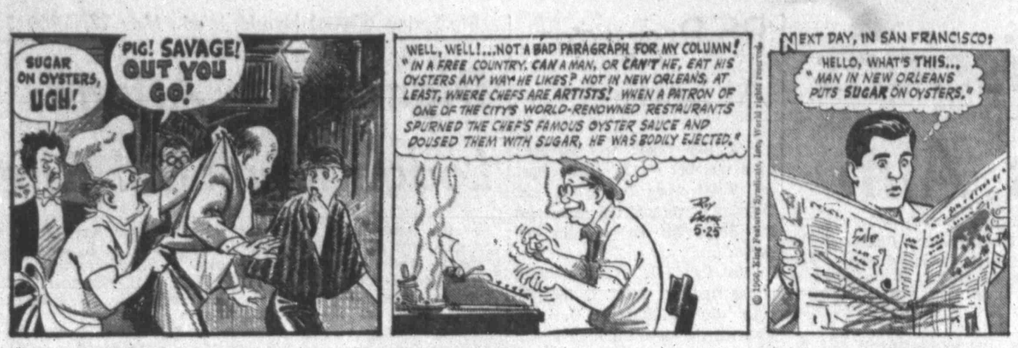

The informal affair was attended by fellow teachers at the B. H. Macon School where Miss Miller teaches the sixth grade.

The wedding of Miss Miller and Lt. Ashton will be an event of June 18 at the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring.

'57 BUICK Special 2-door Riviera. Dynaflow, radio, heater, tinted glass, white wall tires and back-up lights. A beautiful garnet red with custom matching brown and white interior. This one is really sharp and ready to go $1200

'59 BUICK Electra 4-door sedan. Has power steering, power brakes and factory air conditioned. This is one of the Luxury cars of the BUICK line. A beautiful white exterior with matching interior. This is one we're going to sell, so come on down.

'59 OPEL 2-door sedan. Radio, heater, turn indicators, white wall tires, tinted glass, back-up lights. They don't come any nicer than this one. Immaculate inside and out. Has two-tone paint with beautiful custom interior. Test drive this beauty today.

WE have three nice 1958 Cadillac '62' series. Loaded with equipment, PLUS factory air conditioning. These are low-mileage cars that we personally know. They have had the care that only mature people that are looking for service and comfort will give an automobile. You can buy one of these with the assurance of many trouble-FREE miles of service.

'58 BUICK 2-door Riviera. Dynaflow, radio, heater, white wall tires, tinted glass, back-up lights. This is one we sold new and was traded in on a NEW BUICK.

'57 LINCOLN Premiere 2-door hardtop. You name it, this one has it. Power all the way PLUS factory air conditioned. The finest thing in the Lincoln line and we are going to sell it at an unheard-of low price.

'57 BUICK Special 4-door Riviera. Dynaflow, radio, heater, power steering, power brakes, padded dash, tinted glass, white wall tires and back-up lights. They don't come any nicer than this one. Immaculate inside and out. Has two-tone paint with beautiful custom interior. Test drive this beauty today.

'55 BUICK Special 4-door Riviera. Dynaflow, radio, heater, power steering, power brakes, power windows and air conditioned. PLUS a new set of white wall tires.

'57 CHEVROLET Bel-Air 4-door sedan. It has six pistons with standard transmission PLUS all the necessary equipment. It's a one-owner car that has had lots of good treatment. Priced to move.

'54 DODGE Custom V-8 4-door sedan. Radio, heater, automatic transmission, two-tone paint, white wall tires, back-up lights. This one is six years old but you would never know it by looking.

6—'54 BUICKS. Lots of service. One has air conditioning. Drive them and you'll buy them.

Names Of First Beauty Title Seekers Released By Jaycees

Names of the first entries in the Big Spring beauty pageant were released today by Chub Jones, chairman.

The pageant, sponsored by the Jaycees, is a preliminary event of the annual Miss Texas and Miss America contests to be held later this year.

The local pageant comes off June 4 in City Auditorium. So far, there are seven entries in the Miss Big Spring contest and 29 in the Junior Miss Big Spring event. The junior beauty contest is for any girl between ages 16-18, and Jones states it is designed to groom future candidates for the senior contest.

To qualify for the senior division, a girl must be between ages 18 and 28, as of Sept. 1 of this year, must never have been married, divorced, or had a marriage annulled. Further information and entry blanks may be had from Jones at his insurance office in the Ritz Theatre building.

Jones' first listing includes these senior girls:

Malinda Jane Crocker, daughter of Fire Chief and Mrs. H. V. Crocker, of 1707 Benton.

A 1960 graduate of Big Spring High School, Miss Crocker's training includes voice, piano organ, modeling and art, her talent exhibition for the pageant will be whistling.

In event she wins a scholarship in this year's pageant, Miss Crocker would like to continue her education at Texas Tech.

She stands 5 feet 3¼ inches, with measurements of 35½-23-35½, and weight of 118. She has hazel eyes, brown hair and olive complexion. Swartz is her sponsor.

Caroline Jean Wilson, 5 feet 3½ inches, 33-24-36, weight 112, blue eyes, brown hair, fair complexion. Miss Wilson also is a 1960 high school graduate, daughter of Jack C. Wilson, 800 Settles.

She has had about seven years of art lessons, and her talent demonstration will be art. She aims at Texas Tech.

Joan Bratcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bratcher, 1505 Aylford. A 1960 high school graduate, she has plans for Graceland College in Lamoni, Iowa. She has had 11 years on piano, four years of organ training and will present an organ number during her talent show.

Miss Bratcher's statistics are: 5 feet 6½ in., 36-24-37, weight 120, blue eyes, brown hair, olive complexion.

These are entries in the junior division:

Virginia Ruth Morris, 5' 4", 34-24-34½, weight 115, blue eyes, brown hair, olive complexion. Miss Morris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Morris, of 1012 Stadium.

A high school sophomore, she intends to obtain further education at NTSC, and has had training in piano, music and voice.

Sara Manuel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Manuel, 1315 11th Place. Her statistics are 5' 5", 34-24-36, weight 113, brown eyes, brown hair, fair complexion.

Miss Manuel has had training in tap and ballet dancing, and art. She aims at Texas Tech.

Wanda Boatler, 5' 6½", 35-24-35, weight 127, brown eyes, brown hair, olive complexion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Boatler, of 1308 E. 17th. She has had five years of piano lessons.

Jury Probes Long Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Just what happened at the midtown Manhattan hotel where former Louisiana Gov. Earl Long, his bodyguard and a brunette stripper from Baltimore were staying?

Whatever it was, a Manhattan grand jury has been asked to find out.

What involved police with the unpredictable Long was a predawn telephone call Tuesday from Marcia Katz, 24. She said someone took $240 from her room at the Warwick Hotel while she, the ex-governor and his bodyguard, Dick Davis, were out on the town.

Investigators found Davis in her room with her and discovered he was packing a gun.

The girl first told police she was Long's "niece," then later said she was a strip dancer from Baltimore.

"She just calls me uncle," commented Long.

Because of the gun, Davis was arrested but the police soon decided he was on official business and entitled to carry it.

Long said Davis made "severe allegations" against the six officers who came to the hotel.

Cotton Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos opened the International Advisory Committee meeting Tuesday on cotton, promising Mexico wiill do "everything that is possible to avoid the presence of factors and circumstances against the general interest of the world cotton markets."
