Students Not Going To Class At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A dispute over administration of the University of Kansas City has erupted into a campus-wide controversy, including student boycotts and revolt against the school's president.

An estimated 500 of the university's 1,880 students voted at a mass meeting to boycott classes, at least until noon today when another mass meeting was scheduled.

The Law School faculty voted an expression of "no confidence" in Dr. Clarence R. Decker, university president since 1938. Students circulated petitions declaring a "complete lack of confidence in Dr. Decker and university policies."

President Decker said he believed the problem was twofold:

1. A struggle between personalities who have gotten on each other's nerves.

2. A struggle for power within the university.

Resignation of four top school administrators Wednesday brought the dispute into the open.

Decker termed the resignations a "palace revolution" and told a student mass meeting to judge him "with mercy and wisdom."

He characterized the situation as "a family problem that has been tossed into the hands of the public" and added:

"When anyone washes his dirty linen in public such actions are bound to hurt the university."

The four faculty members who resigned contended the president was the greatest single obstacle to sound growth of the school.

They were Dr. Robert Mortvedt, vice president; Dr. Norman N. Royall Jr., dean of the Liberal Arts School; Dr. Theodore T. Dittrich, dean of pharmacy; and Dr. John E. Barnett, registrar and assistant dean of liberal arts.

The resignations of Mortvedt and Royall were accepted immediately by the university trustees, who endorsed Decker's administration. No action has been taken on the other two.

Eight Negroes Burn To Death In Fires

By The Associated Press

Eight Texas Negroes—seven of them children—burned to death as fire destroyed two small frame homes Thursday night.

Five of them, a young woman and four children, died trapped and screaming in a little house on the edge of Palestine. The other three died in Houston.

Two women were critically burned in the Palestine fire, and one received minor burns. A small baby was rescued without injury.

Palestine officers Friday identified the five charred bodies there as those of Margaret Edd, 25, Jimmie Collier, 3, Cardal Wilson, 13, James H. Jackson 4 and Eddie Mae Jackson, 1

Etta Rene Edd and Mary Taylor were critically burned, and Addie Mae Taylor was slightly burned. The baby who escaped unharmed was not identified.

Police Chief Hal Barton said he learned that one of the women was ironing with a gasoline iron. She went out of the room to get a jug of gasoline to refill the iron. As she returned, the jug swung against a chair and broke. The gasoline splashed on the stove and burst into flame.

The dead children were trapped in bed.

Houston police held a man and woman for questioning there after three small Negro children died in a fire that destroyed a three-room house.

The children, police said, were Lillie Pearl Greer, 3; Isaac Smith, 1; and Herece Boudreaux, seven months.

A witness who arrived at the Palestine fire scene soon after the blaze started said what appeared to be three children were seen screaming for help from a window. Flames, the witnesses said, prevented any rescue.

Other witnesses said the Edd and Taylor women were on fire when they ran from the home.

Firemen in Palestine said the fire there apparently started from exploding kerosene or gasoline, but no cause for the Houston fire had been advanced early today.

Meanwhile, an autopsy was ordered Thursday night for two unidentified men found dead after a fire destroyed a South Dallas shack.

Officers said they want to determine if the men were dead before the fire. The sole survivor of the blaze, Tony Clifford Bottles, 53, gave conflicting accounts of the fire. Bottles first told officers his wife was in the fire. This proved false.

Then he told police he had gone to the shack to drink wine with two men whose names he did not know, that the pair had a fight and kicked over a stove. Later he said the men attacked him with clubs in a robery attempt and one of them kicked over the makeshift stove.

Blackmail Of King Comes To Swedish Court

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, (AP) —The Court of Appeals pondered today on whether the public should hear what went on when a boy scout visited the palace of the late King Gustav V in 1912. The boy scout Kurt Haijby, grew up and went to prison for "gross blackmail" of the late King.

The issue was raised yesterday in the retrial of Haijby, now 57, who was sentenced to eight years at hard labor for the alleged blackmail after a secret trial last December.

Haijy's attorney objected to a prosecution request for the testimony about his client's youthful palace visit 40 years ago on the ground that whatever happened "concerned the private and sexual life of a certain person."

The court was told last week that relations between the late King, who died in 1950 at the age of 92, and Haijby had caused the latter's wife to ask for a divorce. She charged Haijby with "unfaithfulness."

Judge Bertil Thursson announced the court would rule Saturday on whether the palace incident will come out in open court.

Testifying for the first time in the open part of the current proceedings, Haijby admitted he had been sentenced to several terms at hard labor between 1915 and 1919 for theft and for killing a policeman in 1923.

10 Saved From Crash At Sea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A crippled Navy patrol plane crash landed in mid-Atlantic this morning but all 10 men aboard were picked up by the Coast Guard Cutter Coos Bay.

The Navy said four of the men were rescued from the water and six from a raft carried by the plane. The navy reported no injuries.

The patrol plane, which was about half way between Bermuda and the Azores, landed in a sea that had been whipped by 30-mile an hour winds.

The Coast Guard cutter had been sent to the area after the plane, a P2-B, reported it was having engine trouble. A patrol plane also was ordered to stand by over the scene.

During the last hour of the crippled plane's flight, its progress was tracked on the radar of the Coos Bay and by other vessels in the Atlantic.

The patrol bomber sent to the scene circled around to give added guidance to the damaged craft in its effort to put down as near as possible to the Coast Guard cutter.

Kefauver Gives Reasons For States Not Getting Tidelands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) was to go before the Senate Interior Committee today to explain his opposition to legislation which would give the states title to the lands under the marginal seas.

Kefauver has proposed that Congress establish a commission to study the problem further, rather than pass a bill—as it has given indication of doing—to give the states control of these lands, rich in oil and often miscalled tidelands.

The Supreme Court has ruled that in the cases of California, Texas and Louisiana the federal government holds dominion over the lands in question. Its decisions, however, did not say specifically that the U. S. holds title to them.

Ralph W. Yarborough, former assistant attorney general of Texas and now an Austin attorney, told the Senate committee yesterday that continuing controversy over the issue is "slowly poisoning the blood stream of federal-state rleations."

Yarborough, who supports state control of the submerged lands, said:

"The people of Texas are stirred by this tidelands issue as they have been by no other issue of federal-state relations since federal occupation troops were withdrawn from the county seats of Texas at the close of Reconstruction."

Texas claims the right to submerged lands extending to her former independent boundaries 10½ miles out in the Gulf of Mexico. Florida claims 10½ miles on her Gulf Coast. In the cases of other states, the dispute centers around a three-mile belt beyond the low tide line.

Atty.-Gen. Brownell, who testified in favor of state control before the House Judiciary Committee this week, will appear before the Senate committee Monday.

Mild Weather Again

The temperature dropped to two degrees below freezing last night but was 37 degrees at 7:30 o'clock this morning, according to Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, official weather observer. The maximum yesterday was 66 degrees, she said.

Wendell H. Furry, Harvard physics professor, testifies in Washington before the House Un-American Activities Committee, refusing to tell whether he had been a member of a Communist cell. Furry said he does not believe the committee has the right to inquire into his political beliefs and associations.

Rembrant Had Better Watch Out In Georgia

ATLANTA (AP)—As things stand now, no nudes is good nudes in the state of Georgia.

Seems that Rembrandt, Renoir and other old and modern masters with a sound knack for portraiture in the nude are in for a rough time.

A member of Georgia's new three-man Literature Commission says there's no difference—to him—between a classic nude painted by Rembrandt and one of those undraped young things you see on calendar art.

Said the Rev. James Wesberry, a Baptist minister here: "I don't differentiate between nude pictures; they are likely to appeal to the baser instincts."

Wesberry expressed his views on art and nudity to reporters soon after the commission was sworn in yesterday by Gov. Herman Talmadge.

The new law allows the commission to act on any photographs, picture or printed material except newspapers, periodicals put out by the government, the Bible, and religious publications.

Editor Hubert L. Dyar and W. R. Boswell, a theater man, are the other two commissioners.

Ike Swinging His Golf Clubs

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower put aside White House cares and golfed in the warm Georgia sunshine today.

Starting the first full day of a week-end vacation, the President was up early and hustled out to the practice tee at the Augusta National Club shortly after breakfast. He planned an 18-hole round later.

Eisenhower flew here from Washington late yesterday, found the Augusta weather warm, sunny and clear of rain for the first time in a week, then lost no time getting out to a practice tee where he whacked away until dusk.

The President, out of Washington for the first time since his inauguration Jan. 20, was accompanied from the capital by Mrs. Eisenhower, her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver, Colo., and a small staff of White House aides. The party will return to Washington Sunday.

Indications were that Eisenhower would play the famed Augusta National Course today with close friends. On hand were the same three who teamed up with him when he spent two weeks here after the election in November.

State Revenues Called Perilously Low Today By Comptroller Calvert

AUSTIN (AP)—A serious downward turn in state revenue was reported today by State Comptroller R. S. Calvert. He said he might have to revise his estimate of revenue for the next two years down 20 million dollars by next month.

If his fears prove true, the state would go in the red before the end of the 1954-55 biennium at current rates of spending.

Calvart based his pessimistic outlook almost entirely on declining oil production.

He said the 118,000-barrel-a-day cut in Texas' allowable production ordered for March, coupled with failure of the West Texas Spraberry Trend to produce as much as expected, may mean loss of $390,000 a month compared with his January forecast.

Calvert said he thought the Legislature should be informed of the gloomy outlook before the 60-day period for introduction of bills ends March 13.

"We think it's better to inform them now than to come in with an estimate at the end of March that will knock their blocks off," he told reporters.

Calvert said a deficit might materialize by the end of the next biennium even if the Legislature does not spend any more money than is currently being expended.

This means any additional spending by the Legislature, such as the proposed $3,225,000 appropriation for tuberculosis hospitals, and an approximate 3½ million dollars for prison construction, and pay raises for teachers and state employes would increase the potential deficit by that much.

New Cost Of Living Index Is Out, Shows Only Slight Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that living costs dropped two-tenths of one per cent between mid-December and mid-January.

The decline, mainly due to lower retail prices for food and clothing, was reflected in a new consumer price index put out for the first time today by the bureau of Labor Statistics.

The new index is designed to reflect consumer price changes more accurately than did the one used previously. It prices more items, covers more cities and brings the calculations up to date on new consumer buying habits.

The new index for mid-January is 113.9. Government living cost figures always are a month or so late because of time required to compile them.

INVOLVES CONTRACTS

The figure means that in mid-January, living costs were 13.9 per cent above the average for the 1947-49 period, which is used as the index base. It is 0.7 per cent above a year ago.

Many labor unions had contracts under which wage rates were to be adjusted upward or downward according to changes in the old index.

A spokesman for General Motors Corp. said the new living cost figures indicated a one cent-per-hour decrease in wages for about a half million of its employes.

He said, however, that because of government delay in publishing an "old series" index, no adjustment in wage rates would be made for the time being.

OLD INDEX REVIVED

The "old series" index once was abandoned by the government, but was recently revived on orders of President Eisenhower to accommodate employers and unions having "escalator" clauses geared to the "old series" index.

The "old index" standing in mid-January is to be announced in several weeks.

The biggest price drop between mid-December and mid-January came in the meat category, dropping nearly 2 per cent.

The January decline was described as largely seasonal. It left living costs only 0.3 per cent under the all-time high record last November.

Appointments By Eisenhower

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated George V. Allen to be ambassador to India and neighboring Nepal, and Livingston T. Merchant to be assistant secretary of state in charge of European affairs.

He also formally submitted to the Senate the nomination of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as ambassador to Russia. Selection of Bohlen for the post was announced by the White House last week. He has been serving as State Department counselor and is an expert on Soviet affairs.

All three men—Allen, Merchant and Bohlen—are career diplomats. Allen has been ambassador to Yugoslavia since 1949 and Merchant is deputy U. S. special representative in Europe, under William A. Draper.

Eisenhower's announcement of the appointments came during the first full day of a brief vacation the President is spending here at the Augusta National Golf Club. He also nominated three men for U. S. district attorney posts—his first appointments in these fields. They are:

J. Edward Lumbard Jr. of New York City, to be district attorney for the southern district of New York State.

George E. MacKinnon of Maple Plain, Minn., to be district attorney for Minnesota.

Anthony Julian of Watertown, Mass., to be district attorney for Massachusetts.

Thunderjets In Raids On Reds

SEOUL (AP)—Thunderjet fighter-bombers today pounded a huge Communist training center on the Manchurian border and left it in flaming ruins, the Fifth Air Force reported.

Pilots said they destroyed 10 buildings and left the sprawling installation smothered in flames. Screening Sabre jets encountered no Communist fighters.

In front line sweeps, Marine and Air Force fighter-bomber pilots reported destruction of 26 buildings, three personnel shelters, two sections of a rail bridge and other Red installations.

On the ground, Allied infantrymen drove off seven Communist attacks and killed more than 60 Communists—including 35 members of a balky Chinese patrol.

An Allied unit caught 40 snooping but reluctant Reds in an ambush east of The Hook on the Western Front. A Chinese officer roughed up two squad leaders who hesitated to advance into no-man's land. Allied rifle fire cut down all but five of the Reds.

Credit for the ambush went to a clever patrol lead by Lt. Edgar R. Franz of San Antonio, Tex. Franz' unit spotted the Chinese moving toward them in no-man's land and quickly staked out the trap.

Probe Given Nod By Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the State Department needs remedial action from the Republican administration. He added that congressional investigations may help in this respect.

In a formal statement at his news conference, Dulles said it will take months to reorganize the department and get the personnel situation "in satisfactory shape."

Meanwhile, he said, congressional inquiries will be going on and he made clear that he intends to co-operate.

He laid down this policy about defending the department and its people, which he took over little more than a month ago from the Truman administration:

"I am prepared to defend what I know to be sound and defensible. I am not prepared blindly to defend a situation which was created under my predecessors and which I have taken office with a mandate to change."

British Plan Firmer Pound

WASHINGTON (AP)—An informed source said today Britain has laid before the U. S. government proposals aimed at "real progress" toward making the pound sterling a freely convertible currency.

The proposals, understood to be hedged with various protective devices, would need U. S. approval and co-operation to become effective. As outlined, they would include:

A dollar fund to stabilize the pound, a plan for pegging prices of free world raw materials, and plans for tightening up on inflation in the British Commonwealth to give the pound a firmer value.

The proposals were sent here in advance of next week's visit by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, the source said. They were described as the heart of talks in which the British hope to lay a foundation for an enduring solution to their economic troubles.

The British pound may now be exchanged for other currencies—converted, that is—only with the consent of the British government. Free convertibility, strongly urged by present U. S. fiscal leaders, would mean allowing free exchange of the pound, at least in current trade.

Treasury officials tacitly acknowledged advance receipt of the British proposals, but would not discuss them.

One ranking Treasury official said, however:

"We have emphasized, and the British have agreed, that these are exploratory, get-acquainted talks of an informal nature, and that there will be no firm or final commitments made."

SUSPENDED IN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

This automobile went out of control after hitting loose gravel, traveled up the railing at left, background, then was caught and wedged between steel girders of the small county bridge near Ithaca, Mich., as it was turning over. Two lucky young ladies, Carole Joan Methner, of Beaverton, Mich., the driver, and Leajoe Smith, of Winegars, Mich., scrambled from the wreckage, with only minor injuries. Chain showing at left is from a wrecker which is about to pull the car down.

Mystery Witness Appears In Jelke Vice Trial This Morning

NEW YORK (AP)—A missing defense witness suddenly appeared today at the vice trial of Minot (Mickey) Jelke as the judge was about to charge the all-male jury.

Judge Francis L. Valente announced the missing witness, a girl, was in his chambers and ready to testify for either side in the case.

The girl is Grace Appel, a schooldays chum of the state's chief witness, 19-year-old Pat Ward.

Jelke is accused of inducing Miss Ward and two other young women to become prostitutes.

A few minutes later, Jelke's defense lawyers, Sam Segal and Martin Benjamin, went into the judge's chambers to question Miss Appel.

They have tried, to no avail, to find her for two days. It appeared they hoped Miss Appel could cast doubt on the character of Miss Ward long before she met Jelke.

Both sides completed summations yesterday, with the defense hinting that the 23-year-old Jelke was "framed" by politically ambitious prosecutors. Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony J. Liebler hotly denied the allegation.

The defendant, his $50,000 bail revoked by General Sessions Judge Francis L. Valente, spent last night in jail. Before being led to his cell, the stocky Jelke told newsmen: "I still feel very confident."

Lawyers said Valente's revocation of bail and imprisonment order are customary where a trial is halted after summations are complete.

Jelke did not take the witness stand in his own defense.

Valente indicated he would confine his charge to three counts accusing Jelke of inducing into prostitution three young women—including 19-year-old Pat Ward, the prosecution's star witness during the 24-day trial.

If convicted on all three counts Jelke would face a possible maximum of 60 years in prison, 20 years for each count.

Charges involving conspiracy and living off Miss Ward's prostitution earnings are to be dismissed.

Verbal fireworks were touched off in court yesterday when Defense Atty. Samuel Segal, in his summation, said:

"What is the district attorney seeking in this case? . . . This boy to be a scapegoat? . . .

"Everyone else gets freedom, but he goes to jail. Whose political head is behind all this? What political seat is sought by these men, by the district attorney's office?"

Controversial Union Movie Is Being Shot Without Its Star

EL PASO (AP)—Cameras continued grinding today on a left-wing-produced movie as the film's female star languished in her hotel under the watchful eye of an immigration Service matron.

Rosaura Revueltas, dark-eyed 42-year-old Mexican actress was held without bond on a charge of illegally entering the U. S.

She was taken from her job at Silver City, N. M., where she is starring in "Salt of the Earth," a movie which has drawn sharp criticism in Congress both for its contents and its backers.

Rep. Jackson (R-Calif) Tuesday called the film "a new weapon being made under Communist auspices."

Producers of the film are the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, which was kicked out of the CIO when its leaders refused to swear they weren't Communists, and a group of Hollywood artists blacklisted by major studios after they declined to tell investigating congressional committees if they were Reds.

Morris Wright, editor of the Mine-Mill newspaper and acting as public relations man for the film, said in Silver City that shooting is continuing on "Salt of the Earth" — which the union has dubbed the story of a miner's life.

"We can go on for a while shooting those scenes in which Miss Revueltas doesn't appear," Wright said. "We have about two weeks of shooting left to finish the picture . . . but we can't finish it without her."

Meanwhile, Rep. Jackson, a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said in Washington that he has written the State and Commerce Departments and the Attorney General asking an investigation of the film.

Jackson said if the three agencies find the picture is designed "to inflame racial hatreds or distort the picture of American life" it should be banned for export.

The movie makers have said they hope to get good distribution of the film in Latin America. Many of the actors are the Spanish-American miners from the Silver City metal mining area.

In Mexico City, the National Association of Actors protested Miss Revueltas' arrest and indicated it might go to her aid. The Association wired for full details from Immigration officials.

The Mexican consul general, Raul Michel, said he has received no official word from his government, but is investigating the incident.

Miss Revueltas will be represented at her hearing Monday by Ben Margolis, Hollywood attorney who Jackson said was identified to the Un-American Activities Committee as a Communist.

Due here today, Margolis said before leaving Los Angeles that arrest of the Mexican star was "flagrant utilization of a technicality for the purpose of stopping production of this picture."

That sentiment was echoed in Denver in a statement from the national headquarters of the Mine-Mill union. The union accused the Immigration Service of acting "as a censor of what movies the American people shall see or not see."

Rep. Jackson, however, has said he is not concerned with domestic distribution of the film. His main interest, he said, is seeing that conditions of Spanish — American groups in this country are not misrepresented abroad.

Teacher Training, Reports Of Meetings In School Yesterday

The school system's board of trustees met last night and reviewed the in-service education workshop conducted for teachers yesterday.

The day-long workshop began with a meeting of the administration staff and a group of visiting consultants at 7 o'clock, followed by registration of teachers from 8 to 8:30, then by a general session in which Dr. L. D. Haskew, dean of the school of education at University of Texas, spoke on "Achieving Maximum Results from Group Activity."

From 9:30 to 10 o'clock, the teachers attended five area meetings, studying reading, arts, and crafts, development of citizenship guidance of youth, and correlation of language. Those attending each of these groups were selected according to their interests, Frank Wilson, director of curriculum, said. "The entire workshop—the first held here—grew out of desires of the teachers to study these subjects," he said.

GROUP WORK

From 10 o'clock until noon, the faculty worked in eight groups with their consultants and discussed problems with them and among themselves. Group work continued throughout the afternoon, the workshop closing with another general session.

Dean Haskew was consultant in citizenship as well as co-ordinator of the workshop. he also spoke to the school board last night, and so did Dr. Otto Neilson, vice president of Texas Christian University, who served yesterday as consultant in youth guidance.

COLLEGE TRAINING

Other consultants were M. Rogers Barton, Texas Education Agency, arts and crafts; Miss Mary Swain, Scott Foresman Publishing Co., reading; and Mrs. Selma Bishop, Abilene High School, language.

In speaking to the board, Neilson and Haskew discussed future in-service training programs and possible plans for encouragement of in-service training by college work. The most used plan in leading school systems is the automatic raising of salaries for teachers according to the amounts of training received from colleges on their own time while on faculties, Haskew said. He advised that a school system offering salary increases according to semester hours of training received by the teachers should not also pay for such training. "This would be double pay," he said, "But most ambitious teachers, interested both in better service to the schools and better salaries for themselves, would continue training at their own expense during the summer months under such a plan."

CUMULATIVE RECORDS

Pat Falls, principal of the North Elementary School and head of a committee on culmulative records of pupils, introduced a new record folder for study by the board. The holder is to be revised if necessary and adopted for use in studying the development of students mentally and physically.

Falls also spoke briefly on the observance of Texas Education Week, starting Sunday. The state is observing the week for the third consecutive year. Various clubs are to offer programs related to education.

ATLANTIC CITY

Wayne Boren and Paul Keaton, trustees, and Dr. Cecil L. Yarbrough, superintendent, reported events of the national convention of the American Association of School Administrators which met in Atlantic City last week.

Boren spoke on emphasis given in the meeting to local school problems throughout the nation. Administrators from various regions discussed their problems with those from other parts of the nation, and particular problems of unusual circumstances were discussed in group meetings. Boren also mentioned the speech of Walter Reuther, president of both the United Auto Workers and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Keaton spoke on the 10 classes conducted for those attending. Each person could select the classes he wished to attend, he said He also told of the trip by special train for the Texas administrators, 150 of them, and the 17,000 who attended the convention.

LI'L ABNER'S PURPOSE

Yarbrough related the speech of Al Capp, cartoonist and creator of "Li'l Abner." Capp was quoted as saying he was thankful for American schools, although he had no real reason, personally, for being thankful for them. Capp, a Jew, told of racial discrimination and his being regarded in school as being peculiar. He said he later used this peculiarity, however, in making a living. He told of going to church on "Stephens Street" in a neighborhood where discrimination between the rich and poor, the black and white, was not known and of later living where such was dominant.

"People are always asking me what purpose I have in Li'l Abner," Capp was quoted. "I guess if I have any main purpose it's to bring the whole world back to Stephens Street," he said.

Two Quizzed In Break-ins Here In Night

A suspect was being questioned this morning by members of the sheriff's department about two buildings entered here last night.

Bill Love, deputy, said that nothing definite had resulted from the questioning, however.

The two breakins were both fruitless because nothing was reported missing, Walter Suttle, chief of police, said.

One of the incidents occurred at the Denson Texaco service Station in the 100 block of Avenue S in North Snyder, and the other was at the Jones Grocery a few blocks north of the service station on the Clairemont road.

At the service station a cigarette machine door was pried off, but no money was left in it by the station operators, and no cigarets were missing, Suttle said.

Love said that the owner of the grocery store also took all money from the building when he closed it last night, and that no merchandise was missing from it.

Entry into the grocery store was made through a back door which was broken open. The vandals entered the service station through a bathroom window, Suttle said.

Howard Gibbons of the sheriff's department was driving past the grocery store about 11:30 o'clock last night when he saw a car drive away. He said he played a hunch that the store might have been broken into, so he took down the license number of the car then went back to check the store, and found that it had been entered, Love said.

Road Bill Put Up By Sadler

AUSTIN — A bill has been introduced in the Senate by Harley Sadler of Abilene to permit the State Highway Department to give back or sell land acquired for highways which are later abandoned.

Sadler's bill, which has the blessing of the highway department and attorney general's department, is Senate Bill No. 175.

The bill would provide that right-of-way for abandoned highways may be returned to the former owners of the land or their heirs if the land were given in the first place. If it had originally been sold to the highway department, then it may be sold back to the former owners when no longer used.

If former owners do not want the land, it may be sold to abutting property owners, or if they do not want it, at auction to the highest bidder.

"It's strictly a non-controversial bill," Sadler said, adding that there are many abandoned roadways in West Texas, some through the oil fields. "But I have drawn this law so that former owners and their neighbors shall have the first opportunity to recover the land. If they don't want it, then others may bid for it."

Sadler said the same provisions would hold true if the land were given by a city or county.

"This will benefit mostly farmers and ranchers whose property is cut by winding strips of abandoned roadway," Sadler said.

Dallas Council In Water Tiff

DALLAS (AP)—A continuing fight between members of the Dallas city council over measures to take concerning the city's short water supply showed no signs of lessening today.

One councilman yesterday said a physician member of the city's governing body was "arousing people needlessly."

The physician, Dr. George Schenewerk, said it would be better to close all Dallas industry rather than provide residents with impure drinking water.

Schenewerk again criticized plans of the city to tap Red River and the contaminated West Fork of the Trinity River for an emergency water supply. Dallas' reservoirs are dangerously low, city officials say, because of the three-year-old Texas drought.

Of the West Fork stream, Schenewerk said, "That is no river. It is a stream serving as a sewage outlet for upstream cities." Fort Worth, Irving, Grapevine and other municipalities dump sewage into the stream.

"If we have to close industries in order to insure pure water for people to drink, then it is better to close the industries," Schenewerk continued. "The health of the people are more important."

Councilman Clarence B. Kloppe, meanwhile, said Schenewerk's suggestion to close industry "is a terrible black eye to Dallas."

Parking Tickets Are Down, Revenue Is Up

Car owners here are co-operating with the city's request that parking meters be paid when motorists park on them, Walter Suttle, police chief, said.

He said that the meter collections made Tuesday for last week were up about 25 per cent over previous weeks, and that the number of parking violation tickets issued the last few days has shown a decrease from the first three days of last week when the stricter enforcement began.

"It is easier for a shopper to find parking space in the downtown area now, too," Suttle added.

Dancer Gets Subpeona To Probe Of Reds

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No sooner had dancer Libby Burke wound up her engagement at the Cocoanut Grove than she received a subpoena yesterday to appear before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Los Angeles next month.

William Wheeler, special investigator for the committee, said the 32-year-old Miss Burke had been an organizer for the Communist party in California.

Wheeler said Miss Burke is a member of the Western Board of the Television Authority, a union of TV writers and actors.

Wheeler's statement said the dancer had been an organizer for the Communists' "special section" in Alameda County, Calif.

Testimony before state and congressional committees by former Communists has declared the special section was for the purpose of conducting espionage work and recruiting staff members of the University of California's radiation laboratory who were engaged in atomic research.

Asked if she would like to comment on Wheeler's statement that she had been an organizer for the Communist party's "special section" in Alameda County Miss Burke said:

"No, I wouldn't. I can't comment on it. You can't give an honest answer these days. When I appear on the 23rd, I'll have my say.

"An atmosphere has been created that makes it impossible for people to speak openly and honestly. If more people realized it, they wouldn't tolerate it."

She said reports of her being served with the subpoena had been "blown up out of proportion to any importance it could have."

She commented: "I'm so tired of hearing about spy scares. I feel people's minds are going up in smoke. It's all quite unbelievable. I thought I was quite a menace dancing at the grove."

J. P. Hoenig, general manager of the hotel, said arrangements were made to terminate Miss Burke's act. Her last performance was Wednesday night.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Elmer Goldsmith of Big Lake, Tex., has returned to her home following a visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Taylor, 1609 Avenue I, and with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Word, 311 Twenty - fourth Street.

John Spears of 2212 Thirtieth Street was taken to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene by Bell ambulance yesterday afternoon. He was entered as a medical patient.

Mrs. Del Hirst places the lid on a pan of sauce to be used over spaghetti. The sauce must simmer about three hours.

EATING WITH SNYDERITES

Italian Dishes Specialties Made In Del Hirst Home

A wedding gift that Mrs. Del Hirst of 202 Birch Street still uses often is a recipe for Italian spaghetti given to her with a casserole dish by an Italian friend.

The recipe is used by the Hirsts at least once every two weeks.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI

2 tablespoons olive oil
2 large onions, chopped
2 cloves garlic chopped
1 bell pepper chopped
1 pound of ground meat
cayenne, to taste
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
oregano, to taste
salt and pepper
2 cans tomato paste
1 small can mushrooms
1 can tomatoes

Fry onions, mushrooms, garlic and bell pepper in olive oil. The use of mushrooms and bell pepper is optional. When tender brown the meat in the mixture. Add Worcestershire sauce and tomato paste. Stir in tomatoes and season. Cover and simmer for three hours. A package of long spaghetti should be cooked and the sauce served over it. Serves four to six people.

"We make our own garlic butter, too, although we're told it isn't correct," Mrs. Hirst said. To make the butter she chops up one to two cloves of garlic and mixes it with 1 stick of melted butter. After browning French loaves of bread she pours the butter into slits made in them.

Wop salad to serve with the spaghetti is a speciality made by the man of the house.

WOP SALAD

1 head of endive lettuce
2 medium onions
1 bell pepper
sharp cheese
celery
parsley
½ box cottage cheese
1 tomato

Tear the lettuce into small pieces. Any kind of lettuce may be used but the more tropical the better, Mr. Hirst said. Remaining ingredients should be cut into smaller pieces, the amount of each will change according to personal taste.

The dressing for the salad, again, is mixed according to personal taste with the amount of ingredients varying. One part of salad or olive oil should be cut with two parts of lemon juice, or wine vinegar or plain vinegar. Shake in cayenne, paprika, salt and pepper. Add ½ teaspoon of sugar, about ½ clove of garlic and a small amount of anchovies. Pickled peach also may be used. Dried parsley or salad herbs may be added to the dressing. It should be made up hours before using so the seasonings can permeate the mixture. Mrs. Hurst usually mixes a tea cup of the dressing and uses only one-half of it saving the other part since ageing improves the flavor, he said. Mr. Hirst also said not to pour the dressing over the salad until just before serving.

With the meal the Hirsts like Burgandy or a sour red wine.

Why is it necessary to use distilled water in steam irons? Mrs. A. T.

The minerals and alkalies in tap water (except in areas where there are fewer than 20 parts of dissolved minerals in a million parts of water) will eventually clog steam passages in the iron and may, in some cases, pass through the steam vents and discolor fabrics being ironed.

I need a recipe for some sort of cookies which do not call for much flour. We have discovered my daughter is allergic to wheat products. Mrs. V. G.

This recipe calls for 1 cup of flour and uses rice as a part of the base. Use the following ingredients:

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1½ cups cooked rice
½ cup grated coconut
2 teaspoons of cinnamon
½ cup chopped pecans

Cream together butter and sugar. Add egg and vanilla and mix thoroughly. Add flour which has been sifted with baking powder. Add the rice and coconut. In another bowl, mix together the cinnamon and nuts. Form the dough into balls and roll in cinnamon and nut mixture. If dough becomes too soft, chill in refrigerator before forming balls. Place the balls about 2 inches apart on an ungreased cooky sheet. The balls become flat as the dough is baked. Bake in a 350 degree oven about 25 minutes. This makes 18 cookies 2½ inches in diameter.

Emily Post's TELEPHONE TIPS

A correspondent writes: "You've told us that long distance calls go through faster when they're placed 'by number.' Will you please explain why this is so?"

Yes. When you don't give the operator the number, she must first call the Information operator in the distant city. Only after the operator has made this "detour," can she put your call through. When you call by number, you eliminate this "detour" and your call goes straight through.

Selected from questions in the mail—some do's and don't's of good telephone manners.

DON'T play the childish game of "Guess Who" when you call a friend.

DON'T make excessive use of the telephone at parties and gatherings. It doesn't make you look important—just ill-organized.

DO call busy housewives after meal hours rather than before or during meals.

Do keep conversations with busy people as brief as possible.

A man asks: "If I call a co-worker or business acquaintance at home and someone else in the family answers, how should I ask for the person I want to reach?"

Ask for "Mr. Jones," not "Walter Jones." Even though you are in the habit of calling him by the first name it isn't correct to do so when you do not know the person who answers his telephone.

AUTO BEAUTY CENTER ADDS GREEN STAMPS

The fast growing Howard's Auto Beauty Shop located on the East Highway has just added S & H Green Stamps for greater economy to their customers. The firm recently doubled the size of its building to add Ming auto polishing to the long established custom seat cover and trim services offered. (Lee Watson photograph).

Shock Proof Seat Covers At Firm Here

A new shock proof plastic seat cover material has arrived and is ready for installation in custom made car seat covers at Howard's Auto Beauty Shop, located on the East Highway in East Snyder.

R. T. Howard, owner, said the new material has all the durability and beauty of the other popular seat cover materials he uses, and also has a fine wire woven into the plastic which grounds static electricity caused by the friction between the plastic material and certain clothing materials.

"You can't get a shock from this new type seat cover," he said.

Another item of news at Howard's Auto Beauty Shop is that they now give S & H Green Stamps with all cash purchases, or when credit accounts are paid in full.

Howard said, "many of our customers receive a full book of stamps worth many valuable pieces of merchandise with one seat cover, upholstery and Ming polish job."

Addition of the Ming auto polishing setup caused the firm to double its size and staff recently, making it one of the most complete businesses for inside and outside automobile beautification in West Texas.

Details Released On New Lockheed Troop Carrier Due Out Soon

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force and Lockheed Aircraft Corp have disclosed first details of the new C130 turbo - prop transport designed to fly troops and supplies on assault and support missions.

The announcement said the craft is designed to fly faster and higher than any such plane now in use.

The statement mentioned specifically the plane's use for dropping parachute troops. Its speed and altitude capabilities are secret, but these details were announced:

The wingspan is 132 feet, length 95 feet, height 38 feet. The fuselage is only 45 inches from the ground. The plane can carry equipment as big as a 155-millimeter howitzer or a high-speed tractor.

With a special tricycle gear it can operate off small fields in forward areas and will require "only short takeoff and landing runs." Four Allison turbo - prop engines, which harness jet power to conventional Curtiss-Wright propellers, will be used.

106-Year-Old Veteran Dies At Home In Louisiana Last Night

OLLA, La. (AP) — William Townsend, 106-year-old Confederate veteran who became reconciled with Yankees only two years ago, died at his home here last night. He was Louisiana's last survivor of the Civil War.

The "General," who actually was a private when he wore Confederate gray, was stricken suddenly.

His death left only four Confederate and two Union veterans still living.

Townsend is survived by his fourth wife, whom he married in 1940; one son and two daughters by his first wife, and numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren. One of his daughters had 17 children.

Townsend, who gave up farming several years ago, attributed his long life to the "will of the Lord, three tablespoons of whiskey a day and a pipeful of tobacco every 30 minutes."

The "General" once said he rode with the Ku Klux Klan during Reconstruction days and only recently became reconciled with Yankees.

"I spoke to three of them at Norfolk," he admitted on a rare trip to New Orleans last year. The Confederate veterans held their last reunion in Norfolk, Va., two years ago.

Townsend was 15 years old in 1861 when he packed his one suit and ran away to fight in the Civil War.

Ninety years later, in 1951, he told news reporters about it:

"My daddy didn't want me to go, so I wrapped the only suit of clothes I had in a big handkerchief, put it under my bed and, about midnight, sneaked away and walked all the way to Norwood (La.) to join up."

From Townsend's boyhood home near Ruston, La., to Norwood is almost 200 miles, as the crow flies.

"Many a time after I was in," Townsend recalled, "I wanted out, but I couldn't go back."

Records in the State Capitol at Baton Rouge show Townsend was born April 12, 1846, at Meridian, Miss., and was enlisted Sept. 8, 1861, in Company B, 27th Louisiana Infantry, C. S. A.

The records also show that he was wounded in the siege of Vicksburg, Miss., and was captured when the city surrendered July 4, 1863.

Released as a paroled war captive, he returned home for the rest of the war.

"I do not remember whether I took an oath of allegiance to the U. S. government, but I do not think I did," Townsend wrote in applying for a Confederate pension in 1938. "If I did, it was under duress and while wounded."

GOOD NEIGHBOR CONTEST IS STILL OPEN TO EVERYONE

Get on the ball and send in those letters to the Daily News telling about that neighbor of yours who deserves to win the "Good Neighbor Contest."

The drawer reserved for filing them has plenty of space yet to fill. And if you fill part of it with a letter, not more than 300 words long, you may get in on the $50 in prizes to be awarded.

Pick out the woman who is always ready to visit a sick home and help with the young ones, or the man who is handy with time or cash, and tell us about him or her.

The Daily News is going to pick the best neighbor and introduce him to readers during its "Let's Get Acquainted" event.

Deadline for the letters is midnight March 2.

Pauper's Grave For Well-To-Do Business Man From Long Island

NEW YORK (AP) — A well-to-do Long Island businessman, missing for six weeks, has been found—in a pauper's grave in a New York City potter's field.

Karl Virtanen, 59, of Mineola, N. Y., who owned a floor-refinishing business, a resort hotel at Roscoe, N. Y., and several Long Island apartment houses, was reported missing last Jan. 12 by his bookkeeper.

Yesterday New York City police reported that Virtanen had been found unconscious in a Manhattan apartment house elevator Jan. 8 and died of natural causes an hour later in a hospital.

Police said there was no indication of what he was doing in the apartment house, and that no relatives could be located.

Officers said arrangements have now been made for removal of the body to another cemetery by friends.

For Some Income Tax Time Is Continuous Throughout Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Life is just one income tax form after another for some people.

These are the men and women who are required to file declarations of their estimated federal income tax for the year ahead. These estimates sometimes must be amended every three months.

One big group of such taxpayers includes owners of businesses, professional men, investors and landlords, whose income is not subject to withholding.

The other principal group consists of persons earning high wages or salaries calling for a greater tax than is withheld from their pay checks. Under existing law the maximum that can be withheld is 20 per cent of income after taking into consideration personal exemptions and the standard 10 per cent deduction for nonbusiness expenses.

Specifically, declarations of estimated tax are required of:

1. Anyone who expects to receive 1953 wages exceeding $4,500 plus $600 for each exemption claimed (for example, $5,100 for a single person with no dependents, or $5,700 for a married man with no dependents, whose wife has no income).

2. Anyone who expects to receive this year income of more than $100 from sources other than wages subject to withholding (provided his total income is estimated to be $600 or more.)

If you're in doubt about your own case, check with your nearest internal revenue office.

The declaration must be filed on or before March 15. The estimated tax may be paid in full with the declaration, or in equal installments on or before March 15, June 15 and Sept. 15, 1952, and Jan. 15, 1954. At least the first installment must accompany the declaration. Payment and declaration are sent to the director of internal revenue for your district.

Even if you are not in a category on March 15 which would require you to file a declaration, it is possible your financial position will change during the year, making it necessary for you to file.

This can be done on June 15 if the change occurs after March 1 and before June 2; on Sept. 15 if the change occurs after June 1 and before Sept. 2; and on Jan. 15, 1954, if the change takes place after Sept. 1 this year.

Or, having filed a declaration, you may find that your estimated tax is substantially increased or decreased as a result of changes in your income or exemptions. In this case you should file an amended declaration before the next filing deadline and adjust your quarterly payments accordingly.

Declarations of estimated tax are made on a blue - ink form, 1040-ES. This includes instructions for figuring your probable 1953 tax, unchanged from those governing your 1952 return.

No matter how carefully you calculate your probable tax, it is unlikely you will hit it right on the button. This means that when you make your final return for 1953 next year you may be liable for an extra payment—or the government may owe you a refund.

Automatic Pilot Rams Another Boat At Sea

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Actor Broderick Crawford's 32-foot cabin cruiser smashed in the side of another, smaller cabin cruiser two miles off the harbor jetty yesterday.

Mrs. F. L. Dunlap was dunked in the ocean from the other boat, the 25-foot Twin Oaks, by the impact. She swam around and was pulled aboard the larger craft, the Banshee. Her boat was later towed to shore.

Crawford was not aboard his boat. It was being operated on automatic pilot by his agent, Mortie Guterman, who shares ownership of the boat, the Coast Guard reported. Guterman's father was asleep in the cabin.

Still Arguing About Shrimp Boat Poachers

TUXPAN, Mexico (AP)—The question of whether two Texas shrimp boats invaded Mexican territorial waters still was being argued here today.

Questioning of the fishing boat crews and their Mexican captors got underway yesterday but the hearing was recessed until today.

One of today's witnesses will be the captain of the boat which Mexican infantry men borrowed to board two U. S. boats—the Gulf Ranger and Courage from Brownsville.

The skippers of the two boats claim they had anchored on the lee of Lobos Island, between Tampico and Tuxpan, for shelter from a storm in the Gulf.

Those present at the questioning yesterday said there was agreement on both sides that the shrimp boats were at anchor and did not have their fishing nets out. So far there has been no questioning about where the shrimp found in the boats were caught.

Foreign boats found fishing inside Mexico's claimed 9-mile territorial limit are subject to penalty. However, boats have the right under international law to enter territorial waters of another nation to take refuge from a storm.

U. S. Consul Kennedy M. Crockitt, who came here from Tampico to observe the case, said six of the nine crewmen were being housed in the military barracks here. He said the others are aboard the boats, anchored at the customs wharf under guard.

After the hearing here the port captain will decide whether to send the case to the Navy Ministry or to the federal district attorney.

4 Fire Calls During Sunday

Four fire calls were answered by the fire department over the weekend here, but little damage was caused, Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said.

Gatlin said that a car seat was damaged in a car fire at the Cosy Courts on Avenue S in North Snyder about 3 o'clock this morning, but the fire was put out before the car was severely damaged.

The series of calls started about 3:15 Sunday morning when fire equipment was called to the scene of an overturned car in front of the Frank Montgomery Dirt Contracting Co., on the Lamesa highway in West Snyder. The car was not damaged by the fire, however, Gatlin stated. He said no one was injured when the car overturned. It occurred just outside the city limits.

The other two fires were both caused from trash. One was at noon yesterday at the Texaco Service Station at Thirty - seventh Street and the Big Spring highway. Oil and trash at the rear of the station caught fire, but did no damage, Gatlin stated.

A grass fire was put out at Nineteenth Street and Avenue R about 7 o'clock last night.

The general fire alarm was sounded for both the trash fires because the parties reporting the fires did not stay on the telephone long enough to explain the type and seriousness of the fires, Gatlin said.

"We would appreciate it if everyone reporting a fire would remain on the line long enough to tell us what kind of fire it is so we could send the right equipment without sending too much equipment," he said.

Mrs. Devers is alleging total and permanent injury was caused her when the Dennis car was struck from behind by one owned by Gannaway.

Plaintiff's testimony has not yet been completed in the case which started Friday morning, and no defense testimony has yet been offered.

Pope Asks American Children To Remember Those Cold And Hungry

WASHINGTON (AP) —Pope Pius XII, in his annual message being read to Catholic school children this week, voices an urgent plea to help the "hungry and cold and homeless."

"You children of America," reads the Pontiff's message, "have been so good and generous these past few years in giving your gifts to help your brothers and sisters in the lands across the sea.

"We know that our dear Lord has blessed you for this many times over, because He acts just as if you gave your gifts of clothes or food or money to him."

The message, made public yesterday by the National Catholic Welfare Conference, is being read in parochial schools instead of being radio broadcast from the Vatican.

The reason: The Pope is recovering from influenza and was advised by his doctors not to speak over the radio this year.

Mrs. Luda Ussery of Wink, Tex., is a guest in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Ussery, 321 Thirty - fifth Street.

Kin Thrilled At Confession Of War Crime

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — If the Communists want to accuse two American Marine officers of participating in germ warfare, their relatives don't care a bit—they're too happy to hear that they apparently are alive.

The accusations were in the familiar propaganda form of a Chinese Communist radio broadcast, heard in Tokyo, saying that the captured officers, Maj. Roy H. Bley of Santa Ana and Col Frank H. Schwable of Arlington, Va., "confessed" taking part in germ warfare.

The State Department and the United Nations Command previously have called Communist germ charges false and the Air Force previously has branded such "confessions" as extortions obtained by force.

Here is some of yesterday's reaction from the families:

In Santa Ana, Maj. Bley's wife Margaret said: "They could say he confessed to dropping atomic bombs or anything else as far as I'm concerned. We're grateful for this word even if they did confess to something we know they didn't do. At least we know they were taken prisoner."

In Arlington, Col. Schwable's wife Beverly said: "That's the same old Communist malarkey. Nobody believes it."

"It's the first word we've had of him since he was shot down last July," she said. "This is a wonderful day. I'm so happy!"

Trolley Crash Cause Found

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Federal and city officials investigated reports today that a brake failure and overloading caused the disastrous head-on trolley crash here Saturday night in which at least 58 persons were killed and 82 others seriously injured.

The accident—described by officials as the worst in the history of the capital's city-owned transit system—occurred after dark on a one-way suburban track. Both trolleys were demolished and the passengers were mangled in the wreckage.

One of the antiquated cars, jammed with 90 picknickers, was moving down a steep grade and was supposed to switch onto a siding to wait for a trolley laboring up the hill.

The downbound car's motorman, whose foot was amputated, said he heard a "dry crack" when he applied his air brakes at the top of the hill, and they failed to take hold. Uncontrolled, the car streaked down the curving grade and past the siding.

All passengers in the front of both cars were crushed.

Middlecoff and Besselink Are Leading Field In Houston Open

HOUSTON (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, a veteran collector of golf prizes, and Al Besselink, who has won only one major tournament, held a two-stroke lead today as the $20,000 Houston Open entered its second round.

Middlecoff played both good and bad golf before climaxing yesterday's opening round with a dramatic 40-foot putt on the 18th green to tie the colorful Besselink with a five-under-par 67.

This put the Memphis dentist and curly-haired Besselink two strokes ahead of Big Jim Ferrier who had finished early with a 69.

The field of 150 players will be cut to 90, plus ties, after today's 18 holes. Sunday's final round over the 7,150-yard, par-72 Memorial Park course will be limited to the 60 low scorers.

Besselink, who plays out of Grossingers, N. Y., was under or even with par on every hole. He was so pleased with his 33-34—67 he could find no fault with the muddy fairways and soggy greens.

"It was a great round," he told everyone. "But I almost wore out my No. 2 and 3 irons because the course is so long."

A professional only three years, Besselink won his first major tournament last year at Sioux City.

Middlecoff reacted to his 35-32—67 very calmly.

"I'm satisfied," he said. "With mud on the ball like it was today you can expect to miss some greens."

One-under scores on the eighth and ninth greens had permitted Middlecoff to overcome early approach shot troubles. On the back nine, his one-under putts were good for 12, 2, 4 and 40 feet.

Four players were grouped at 70, one stroke behind Ferrier, the big San Franciscan. They were Mike Homa, Rye, N. Y., Bill Nary, Los Angeles, Glenn Teal, East Amhurst, N. Y., and Bill Trombley, Dallas.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., making his first winter tour appearance of 1953, missed a short 18th green putt and settled for a one-under 71. He was tied with seven others, including Ed Furgol, St. Louis, Mo.

Jim Turnesa, the PGA champion from Briarcliff, N. Y., was among eight who finished with even par 72.

Instructors Picked For Coaching Clinic

LUBBOCK (AP)—Instructors for the Texas Tech football clinic here March 13-14 will be J. O. (Buddy) Brothers, former University of Tulsa coach, and Pat Pattison, Lubbock High School coach.

The clinic is open to all high school and junior college coaches.

City League Play Tonight

Play in the city basketball league will begin at 7 o'clock tonight in the high school gym when National Guard meets C & S Sporting Goods.

Following up that game will be a match between Chuck Wagon and Wade Pipkin Motors, the two top teams of last year's league.

The league, sponsored by the Quarterback Club, will include two practice rounds by the four teams entered, then it will go into a double-elimination tourney to determine the championship.

Bill Voss leads the National Guard squad, along with George Richardson and Robert Minton. All are top scorers. Heading up the C & S group is Gene Gibson, former Texas Tech star, Bobby Shipley, and James Bowers.

Joe Burney and Bob Blake are offensive leaders of the Chuck Wagon five, while Eddie Hight and Bill Zimmerman lead Wade Pipkin Motors.

All league games will be played on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Fridays, according to Glenn Snyder, league chairman.

Tie Seen In SW Conference

By The Associated Press

All indications are that the Southwest Conference basketball race will end up in a tie but among whom is something to be determined within the next four days.

Rice leads with an 8-3 record while Texas and Texas Christian each has 7-3 as the last five games on the schedule loom.

Tomorrow night Texas Christian and Texas can make it a showdown of championship nature if they win their games — Texas Christian vs Texas A&M at College Station, Texas vs Baylor at Austin. If they do, they will be in a tie with Rice for the top.

Tuesday night the last shots of the campaign will be fired as Texas Christian meets Texas at Fort Worth and Rice battles Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Rice appears destined to tie for the championship regardless, having only weak SMU to play. TCU and Texas will be cutting each other up.

Arkansas, A&M and Baylor wind up the schedule Saturday night. All are out of contention for even a share of the title. Arkansas' final game is against SMU at Fayetteville.

In the event of a tie for the championship, the Southwest Conference rule is that the teams meet in a three-game series to decide the district representative in the NCAA playoffs at Manhattan, Kan. March 13-14.

However, it isn't likely a three-game series could be played if Rice and Texas tied for it. Both gyms are being used next weekend and the teams probably would meet in one game the following Monday or Tuesday.

If Rice and TCU tied, they probably could play three games, opening at Houston Thursday, going to Fort Worth Saturday and playing on a neutral court on Monday.

The reason there isn't time for playoffs as in the past is that the NCAA is a week earlier this year than formerly.

Pennsylvania, led by Ernie Beck's 36 points, beat Princeton, 82-74, Thursday night to tie Columbia for first place in the Ivy League. The game was part of a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia. Larry Hennessey's last-second field goal gave Villanova a 81-79 victory over St. Francis in the other tilt.

Iona surprised Manhattan, 66-59 in the first game of a twin bill at Madison Square Garden. St. Johns of Brooklyn downed NYU, 66-61, in the second game.

In other games Dayton took Bowling Green, 81-56, and George Washington whipped William and Mary 70-63.

Lightweights Meet Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Lauro Salas, a wade-in fighter, and Pat Marcune, a right-hand bomber who likes his opponents to come to him, collide tonight in a Madison Square Garden 10-rounder which promises to provide plenty of fireworks.

Told that the former lightweight champion from Mexico would try to "swarm all over" him, Marcune said, "That's right up my alley.

"Most of the time I've got to go out and chase guys," the 24-year-old Brooklyn featherweight added, "It'll be a pleasure to have someone come after me. That's my meat."

"He doesn't have to worry," promised the Mexican pepperpot. "I'll be easy to find—chasing right after him."

Starting at 9 p. m., CST, the bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC). A crowd of around 6,000 will pay about $15,000 at $8 tops. With TV money thrown in, the fighters will receive about $5,000 each.

Jr. College Playoffs In State Start Monday

DENTON (AP)—South Texas Junior College of Houston meets Amarillo Junior College here Monday in the opening game of the playoff for the title of the Texas Junior College Basketball Conference.

Six other top-notch teams will see action in other games Monday and Tuesday. The eight contestants represent the champion and runnerup from each of the four zones of the conference.

Umpiring Widens Gap Between Minor, Major League Games

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Young pitchers who come to the big leagues sporting brilliant minor league records and yet have to be sent back down perhaps two or three times before they finally stick under the main tent are in most cases victims of the "diminishing strike zone," says Frank Shellenback, pitching coach of the New York Giants.

Like the average fan, we had been under the impression for many years that the strike zone was a fairly stable article, extending from the arm pits down to the knees and taking in the width of the plate. This, says Shellenback, is true only in theory, and it takes some pitchers longer than it does others to find it out.

"The difference in ball and strike umpiring between the low minors and the big leagues is tremendous," he explained. "It gives us one of our biggest headaches. Yet we understand why it must be that way and are by no means critical of the minor league umpires. We know why they must call a game much more loosely than it is called in the majors, where we expect something close to perfection.

"A young pitcher in the lowest minors expects to get a strike on anything across the shoulders or the knees. The umpire has to give it to him or too many games would develop into farces. The fans don't come out to see bases on balls, and the umpires know it. . . .

"We try to prepare him the best we can in the short time we have, but even so the chances are that he will come back to the bench after the first inning and complain that the umpire is calling balls on what he always was given strikes before. All we can do is remind him again that he's throwing at a smaller target now.

"A few of them catch on quickly, but mainly they don't. Every season you'll see a dozen or more big winners come up from the minors, apparently set to help their parent clubs, but by cutting-down date they are back where the umpires are kinder to them. . . .

"It is not only the pitchers who suffer from the difference in umpiring even in the highest minors. Knowing that a high curve across his shoulders more than likely will be called a strike anyway, the batter gets in the habit of swinging at it.

"This isn't too bad in the minors, because the next pitch might be right across the middle and he can pickle it. The average minor league club doesn't have more than one or two pitchers with good control. But it's different when this batter brings up his .350 average and begins trying to hit men who can throw a dozen straight balls into a spot the size of a catcher's mitt.

"He is immediately spotted for what we call a 'bad hitter,' and he'll very seldom get anything except a bad ball to hit at. He can't break himself of swinging at them. . . ."

Richards Trying To Build Up Pitcher Byrne For White Sox

By The Associated Press

Manager Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox, the patient president of Pitchers Anonymous, has tabbed control-wobbly Tommy Byrne as his No. 1 project for 1953.

Richards, who did an effective job of converting Saul Rogovin and Joe Dobson into front line hurlers, is going about the business of correcting some of the southpaw's mound flaws at the White Sox' camp at El Centro, Calif. If he succeeds, Byrne may well spark the Chisox to their first American League pennant since 1919.

"I've had daily sessions with Byrne since we began training," Richards said yesterday. "We're trying to pick out something that might help him—maybe stiffen his delivery or slip a slider into his repertoire."

Byrne, obtained from the St. Louis Browns last fall, always has been on the threshold of success but his wildness kept him from reaching the heights. He won 15 games for the New York Yankees in 1949 and 1950 but slipped to 6-11 with St. Louis in 1951. Last season he won seven and dropped 14.

While Richards was working with Byrne, Ferris Fain, Chicago's new first baseman, took time out from his first workout to predict the White Sox will "rip apart the pennant monopoly of the Yankees."

"I believe the White Sox have a fine chance to take the pennant," said the American League's 1952 batting champion. "We'll have one of the best defensive teams and our pitching also will be good. As a line-drive hitter Comiskey Park at Chicago is made to order for me and I should do all right there."

Another pitcher, Joe Coleman, was the big news in the Philadelphia A's camp at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Coleman, hampered by a shoulder ailment the past couple of seasons, reported he was in good shape and ready to help Bobby Shantz, Harry Byrd, Alex Kellner and the rest of Jimmy Dykes' mounds corps.

"My shoulder seldom bothers me," he said. "And besides I've learned how to pitch."

Coleman won 14 games in 1948 and 13 the following year. He pitched, without much success, for Ottawa and Savannah in 1952.

Outfielder Archie Wilson of the Boston Red Sox became the first serious casualty of the training season when he pulled a tendon in his left leg while sliding. He will be sidelined for 10 days.

Another medical case was reported by the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa. First sacker, Ted Kluszewski, out for some time last year with an ankle injury, was spiked on the right hand. His injury is not serious, however.

Preacher Roe, Brooklyn's veteran southpaw pitching ace, worked batting practice for the first time and announced his arm is in fine shape. Arm trouble handicapped the Preacher last year.

Keith Little, 23-year-old rookie infielder, walloped five over the fence in the Detroit Tigers' batting drill. Manager Freddie Hutchinson also was impressed by the long-range hitting of catcher Matt Batts.

Hammett Posts 77 In Houston Open Thursday

Running behind but still sticking with the top few contenders, J. T. Hammett, Snyder golf pro, fired a five-over-par 77 in the Houston Open Tourney yesterday.

Hammett went under two earlier this week in the qualifying rounds and won first money for low qualifiers with a score of 70.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis and Al Besselink of Grossingers, N.Y., tied up for the lead in the first round with 67's.

Tied at 70 were Bill Nary of San Francisco, Glenn Teal of East Amhurst, N.Y., Bill Tombley of Dallas, and Mike Homa of Rye, N.Y.

Sammy Snead tied up with seven others with 71.

Radar Protection Of Japan Said Improving

TOKYO (AP)—The commander of the Japan Air Defense Force today said the radar network protecting these islands soon will be even better.

Brig. Gen. Harold W. Grant noted the recent air duel between U. S. jets and Soviet-made fighters over Hokkaido, Japan's northern island. One Red plane was damaged.

"The speed with which our jets were directed to the intruders by radar," said Grant, "proved the defense force's alert ability to deal firmly with illegal overflights."

But, Grant said, improved radar defenses are to come soon.

The general made his remarks in a statement marking the first anniversary of the Air Defense Force as a Far East Air Forces command.

Internal Revenue Is Shy Of Revenue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews said today "steps have been taken to assure that all necessary functions of the revenue service are carried out."

Andrews made the statement after reports from three revenue districts that funds were running so low agents could not carry out duties involving automobile travel or long-distance telephone calls. The reports came from Birmingham, Ala., Greensboro, N. C., and Albany, N. Y.

Andrews added:

"I want to say that the bureau is aware of these situations which result from restrictions placed on all operating revenue officials so as to assure maximum use of existing funds for the balance of this fiscal year."

Pravda Has Comment

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda's comment today on the United Nations General Assembly session: "The United States delegation and its puppets once more drag out the discussion of the question of prevention of the threat of a new world war and the strengthening of peace."

DEFEAT and VICTORY

One hundred sixty-two feet high and one hundred forty-seven feet wide Napoleon built his arch of triumph. Proudly it rises above the Place de l'Etoile reminding the world of an Emperor's early victories—and later defeats.

On the road from Bethphage to Jerusalem centuries before there had been another arch of triumph. Nature had fashioned it of palm trees. Beneath their bowing branches the Prince of Peace rode into the city that was to crucify Him.

Jesus, unlike Napoleon, never had need of a gigantic monument to help the world remember Him. The doors of a million churches bespeak His victory. Men pass through them not to gaze upon the majesty of carved stone, but to worship and serve the Son of God.

Napoleon bought for himself a transient glory at the price of other men's blood.

Jesus bought for All Men eternal life—at the price of His Own Blood!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

MAN-SIZE JOB FOR YOUTH — William Doyle, 10, finishes painting, one of 26 displayed as one-man exhibit at Canadian Repertory Playhouse, Ottawa. Art critics have praised his work for "sense of color and unusual technique."

'Choppers' Loved By Pilots Down At Sea

ABOARD USS VALLEY FORGE Somewhere Off Korea (AP)—It was a scowling day. A flight of Douglas attack bombers catapulted off the deck of this carrier and headed for the snow-whitened hills of Korea.

Suddenly, one faltered, turned and headed back. The motor sputtered as the bomber twisted and plunged into the season its back

The man manning the flight deck bull horn sounded the alarm with the one word "Splash." The Valley Forge's loudspeaker flashed it over the ship: "Plane in the water off the port quarter."

Only the tail fin of the bomber bobbed in the water as the Valley Forge pulled away. After what seemed an eternity a head bobbed up from the sea. It was 40 seconds by stop watch since the bomber hit the water.

Seemingly out of nowhere a helicopter swooped down and hovered over the spot as the Valley Forge plowed on.

Painted on the side of the chopper was one of the most welcome signs known to Navy pilots downed in the Sea of Japan off Korea's east coast: "Last Chance Taxi."

What appeared to be a horse collar tumbled out of the 'copter cabin and landed near the man's head.

The man in the water slipped his arms inside the horse collar and was hoisted out of the water. The rotor blades of the egg beater whirred. The dangling dripping man was rushed to the carrier and let down gently on the flight deck.

It was two minutes by the stop watch since the crash.

The crash survivor was Ens. Dennis B. Poulson of Ontario, Calif. It was his 23rd birthday. He was blue with cold and bleeding from a slight cut on his forehead.

"It was sure dark down there under the water," he mumbled.

Medics stripped the horse collar from him and rushed him to a hot shower. A man freezes fast in these waters. After the shower, Poulson got a shot of medicinal brandy. Then they tucked him under an electric blanket and he slept off the shock.

Ens. Poulson was somewhere near the 500th Navy man saved from the sea or behind Communist lines by the Navy's Helicopter Rescue Squadron No. 1 since the start of the Korean War.

Pilots and Navy men aboard the carriers Valley Forge, Oriskany, Kearsarge, Philippine Sea and Bataan are high in their praise of the rescue whirlbirds and the men and officers who manthem .

In fact, Navy Lt. Willard Frankie, operating exclusively in besieged Wonsan harbor, has picked up so many naval aviators in his chopper that the survivors are thinking of forming an "I Love Frankie Club."

"Out of the approximately 500 men our squadron has tried to save," said Lt. Hahn, a Berkeley grocer when he is at home, "we have lost not more than two or three, maybe not that many."

Nine Men From Scurry Will Be Inducted In March 12th Group

Nine Scurry County men were among seventeen called by the Selective Service Board at Sweetwater for induction into the Armed Forces March 12.

Of those, two men volunteered for induction. They were Joe Dwain Brown, 1611 Twenty-eighth Street, and James William Hazle of Snyder.

Jackie Ames Reames of Wichita Falls, formerly of Snyder, was also called for induction.

Called from Snyder were Richard Dix Null, 2509 Avenue Y; Morris Lynn Chandler, Arah Route; Jimmie Dee Hulsey, Snyder; Robert Doyle Newman, Route No. 3; Perry Thomas Smith, 423 Thirty - first Street; and G. W. Lewis, 1108 Thirty-second Street.

Don Marvin Drum of Fluvanna was also called for induction.

The board said it will call 60 men from its three-county area for pre-induction physical examinations during March.

Accident Injury To Snyder Man On 180

C. D. Qualls of Snyder was taken to a Breckenridge hospital Monday afternoon after suffering a broken collar bone in an auto accident 16 miles east of Breckenridge on U. S. Highway 180.

Qualls was an occupant of a car driven by Burnick S. Patton, also of Snyder, which overturned. Highway patrolmen said damage to the car was heavy.

Pvt. Gene Graham has returned to Fort Sill, Okla., after spending a 21-day medical leave in Snyder visiting relatives.

Farmers Not As Excited About New Program As Some Believe

KANSAS CITY (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson have a greater reservoir of support in the Midwest for their farm policy than Washington alarms over skidding farm prices might indicate.

"The farmers haven't risen up with pitchforks in hand as some would lead you to believe," one farmer commented dryly in referring to outcries against Benson's recent statement that farmers in the future should depend less on government bounty.

And this seems to be the consensus of farmers, cattlemen, farm editors and others who are close to the agricultural world.

Most of them say the farmers' concern over recent price declines does not reflect any growing political coolness towards the Republican adminsitration — yet. But they always add the qualifying "yet."

There is uneasiness over the drop in prices. Farmers don't like the loss of income when the things they buy haven't shown a corresponding drop. They want to see prices stabilized. And they want to know more about the GOP program that will replace the present farm program in 1954.

But there are no runaway alarms ringing through the Midwest to match some of the political furor kicked up in Washington. In fact, there's considerable talk out here that the price decline was inevitable and that government price props aren't the whole answer to farm security.

There are strong pressures in farm groups and in Congress for the administration to continue price supports beyond 1954 at the 90 per cent level. But the major farm organizations favor a flexible price support program ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity. These people think rigid, high price supports encourage huge surpluses, protect inefficient farmers and create a financial burden on the taxpayers which in time will threaten destruction of the farm program.

The thinking of the major farm groups is pretty much in line with the expressed views of Benson on how the farmers should achieve security with less government help.

The question is: Do these farm organizations in the statements of their leaders actually reflect the majority thinking of the membership?

There is no precise yardstick for answering this question. But here is an interesting sidelight in this connection:

Last November the Kansas Farm Bureau adopted a resolution saying in part: "In the legislation of 1948 and 1949, there is ample authority for high government support prices as an incentive to produce added amounts of food and fiber to meet any emergency which may occur.

"However as permanent policy, we oppose government support prices at a level representing a guaranteed profit, and which have the effect of making the federal government a middleman in the marketing of all farm products. We oppose government guarantees at a level which would result in complete government control over the planting of crops, marketing of products, the price at which farm products would sell, and which would result in the farmer receiving payment for his products from the federal Treasury instead of in the market place.

"To that end, we believe the government support price program should be sufficiently flexible to prevent interference with the efficient consumption of farm produce. . . ."

Earlier, the bureau had sent out requests to some 70 county farm bureaus asking the members to meet and draft resolutions on farm policy by majority vote. Each of the county meetings drafted resolutions and forwarded them to the state bureau.

The state bureau took the majority views from the county meetings and used them as the basis for its resolutions. Then the state resolutions were submitted to the counties for ratification.

Roderick Turnbull, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star Farmer, said:

"I think the method used in drafting the resolution was as fair a method as you could find to get the true thinking of majority of farmers on price supports."

At any rate, the majority had given approval to flexible price supports rather than the present rigid level of 90 per cent of parity.

Sentell And Sadler Mild On Pay Hike

AUSTIN — Two legislators representing the Snyder area said this week they are for the $600 across-the-board pay raise for teachers—with strings attached.

Harley Sadler, senator from Abilene, said he would be for the increase if money is available, but he wants to wait until all the department budget requests are studied before deciding how much increase the teachers should be given under present or prospective revenue.

Rep. C. F. Sentell of Snyder said that he is for the best increase that can be justified for teachers by the available state income.

Sentell is for the $600 pay raise "if we can find the money; if not, a reasonable increase."

Out of 19 West Texas legislators polled on their attitudes toward the across-the-board raise only one was for it with no strings attached. The remainder of them were for it, but added an "if."

Rep. Dolph Briscoe, Jr., of Uvalde is the one man for the raise without adding qualifications.

Tax Evasion Sentence

WACO (AP)—Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. yesterday fined two men and gave each a conditional suspended prison sentence of three years on income tax evasion charges.

Fined $10,000 was Dallas F. Garrett, Temple, charged with evading taxes of $7,480.21 in 1945 and 1946.

I. O. Scott, Waco, was fined $7,500. He was charged with evading taxes of $1,585.98 in 1945 and 1946.

The Two Great Commandments

"Fear God and do as you please!" This is the motto one great man followed. But there is more to this motto than strikes the eye! "Fear" means to revere God and His word. One who "fears God" will please to do what God says!

The will of God in our lives can be expressed in two commands. This Jesus did in His answer to the scribe (Mark 12:28-31). Briefly stated these commands are: Love God supremely and your neighbor as yourself.

These commands have a three-fold relationship: To God, to neighbor and to self. Supreme love for God has a four-fold aspect: He loves God with all his heart who loves God's truth and righteousness and hates sin and ungodliness. He love God with al his soul who loves God more than his own life. He loves God with all his mind who employes his intellect for God. He loves God will all his strength who employes all his body powers, sacrifices time, wealth and ease, for the honor and glory of God.

Love thy neighbor as thyself is reflexive. It is positive and negative. On the positive side, love for a neighbor will motivate a Christian to be merciful and render any assistance which he is in position to render the needful neighbor. On the negative side; love for a neighbor will motivate the Christian to "work no ill to his neighbor" (Rom. 13:10).

Such love for a neighbor keeps the Christian from being selfish. A selfish person cannot receive the abundant blessings which a loving Heavenly Father would like to bestow. Love for neighbor is the antidote for selfishness. Those who love their neighbors are that much like God!

Who is my neighbor? Jesus answers this question in the record of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:25-37). Briefly stated the answer to this question is: My neighbor is any person who needs the assistance which I am in position to render. I am not his neighbor until I render that asitance.

The reader is welcome to all services of the church of Christ. The will of God is studied. In such a study one learns how to become a Christian and how to live as a Christian. There is no other source but the New Testament to learn this.
